1st-degree murder verdict in Faber trial

By Margaret Neubacher staff writer

A Washtenaw County jury Friday found Ricardo Hart of Ypsilanti guilty as charged on three counts - first-degree murder, armed robbery and possession of a firearm — in the fatal shooting of Nancy Faber, a former Plymouth-Canton schoolteacher.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated a full day before returning the guilty verdicts in the three-week murder trial.

Hart, 21, was remanded without bond to Washtenaw County jail to await sentencing before Washtenaw Circuit Judge Ross Campbell July 13.

When the verdict was returned late Friday afternoon, Hart displayed no visible reaction, according to witnesses. "He had a blank expression throughout most of the trial . . . ," said Prosecuting Attorney Brian Mackie of Washtenaw County.

Hart's alleged accomplice, Machelle Pearson, 17, also of Ypsilanti, was found guilty June 1 of identical charges and will be sentenced July 6.

IN HER TRIAL, Pearson claimed she was forced by Hart, her live-in boyfriend, to rob Faber. Pearson testified that a .38 caliber revolver Hart gave her went off accidentally in Faber's car Nov. 22. Pearson had talked Faber into giving her a ride to a nearby apartment complex from an Ann Arbor grocery store parking lot.

A first-degree murder conviction carries a mandatory life sentence. All sentences carrying a jail term automatically are appealed, according to Mackie. Appellate proceedings can be initiated by the defendant or the court after sentencing.

The prosecution took four days to present its testimony.

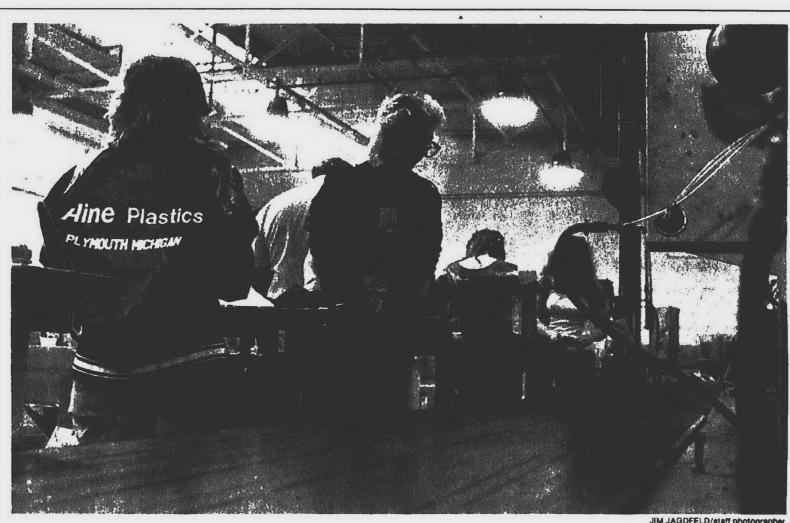

Defense attorney Thomas Quarterman rested his case after calling one witness to the stand Thursday morning. Opening arguments in the case had been heard June 14 following 10 days of jury selection.

APPROXIMATELY 80 potential jurors were screened before the 14-person jury was seated. Disqualified jurors included those who had read or heard about the related Pearson trial.

In preliminary motions, the prosecution asked that Don Faber, Nancy's husband and chief editorial writer for the Ann Arbor News, be excused from the trial. Faber is vacationing in the Soviet Union.

Judge Campbell denied the request, and Faber's testimony was heard over the phone in the judge's chambers. A court stenographer and both attorneys were present during the call.

After more than a year of silence, presses and assembly lines began running again this month at the old Associated Spring plant on Plymouth Road. The new owners are A-Line Plastics, a company which plans to add 50 new local workers to its ranks within the next few months.

Machines hum again on hilltop

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Out on a hilltop overlooking Plymouth Road in Plymouth Township, three shifts of factory workers are busy turning out door handles, grills and other assorted plastic parts for the auto industry.

Just a couple of months ago, the same workers were assembling the same parts in two plants located in Walled Lake and Farmington Hills.

For more than a year, the old Associated Spring plant at 40300 Plymouth Road had stood idle. Then, this spring, the plant got a new owner. And in June, A-Line Plastics, a division of Key International Manufacturing Co., moved into the mammoth building.

A-Line's move to the township, and the resumed hum of machines on the hilltop, are prime examples of what happens when a community makes up its mind to reopen an empty, silent factory and fill it with

BUT TOWNSHIP officials didn't settle for just getting an idle plant running again through financial help from their Economic Development Corporation (EDC).

They also helped arrange a pilot agreement between the township, the Wayne County Private Industry Council (PIC) and Plymouth-based Growth Works Inc. which guarantees that in the months ahead, close to 50 unemployed local workers will get jobs at the plastics plant.

"We never had a program like this before," said James Rose, vice president of Key International's plastics group. "We've asked for this kind of help (getting workers knowledgeable about plastics) in the past, but didn't get it. The township is not only selling bonds for us, they're also providing job training and job applicants."

Added Township Supervisor Maurice Breen: "We told them as part of the inducement to get EDC help, we wanted them to work with Growth Works to aid in getting job applicants jobs. We tied both of them together - EDC help and jobs for the locally unemployed.'

EDCs are nothing new, either to communities or to businesses looking for a new home.

Most communities now offer some kind of tax break or special financing to get companies to build or relocate inside their boundaries. As Rose put it, "If we don't get it, we can just go elsewhere."

With EDC help, both sides end up satisfied. The community gets a shot in its economic arm and a new corporate taxpayer. The business gets to save some dollars over a specified period of time, usually 10 or 12

Through the township's EDC, A-Line got a 12-year tax break on the machinery it buys and puts in the plant. The company will pay taxes on only 50 percent of the value of its equipment for the next 12 years.

The EDC also will issue revenue bonds to fund $3 million worth of planned improvements to the hilltop Breen estimated A-Line will pay $45,000 a year in taxes to the township. Associated Spring, he said, paid $95,000 a year in taxes.

IN RETURN, A-line agreed to interview and hire job applicants screened and trained in plastics terminology and plant safety by Growth Works, a Plymouth-based social services agency.

Joggers start July 4th fun

Plymouth has more than a parade to help celebrate the Fourth of July.

In fact, next week's celebrations will include more than the Fourth of July. But Independence Day is first on the community's agenda with the morning five-mile run, the parade and evening fireworks. Wednesday will begin with a fivemile run starting at Ann Arbor trail and Harvey with runners winding their way through the streets of Plymouth. Race day registration fee is $7. All race participants will receive a free T-shirt and the first man and first woman to cross the finish line will be awarded trophies.

Next will be the "Plymouth Rock Ceremony" at 12:30 p.m. in front of Plymouth City Hall. A representative will give a public address concerning the acquisition and history of the rock and how it came from Plymouth, England, to rest at its spot outside City

THEN COMES the event of the afternoon - the Plymouth Fourth of July Parade.

Grand Marshall Eldon "Bud" Martin will lead the parade starting at 1 p.m.

Martin, a 1942 graduate of Plymouth High, is a Plymouth City Commissioner who served as mayor 1979-81. He is past president of the Plymouth Lions and Plymouth Fall Festival Board and is chairman of Region III of the Michigan Municipal League. He moved to Plymouth in 1928, has been employed with Ford Motor Co. for 34 years, and served in World War II with the U.S. Army, being awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

The parade route will be from Theodore and Main, down Main Street south of Hartsough, east on Hartsough to East Middle School.

Commentary for the parade will be provided by Dennis Campbell, master of ceremonies.

Entries for the parade include: Windsor Lions Club Youth Band, Plymouth Community Band, the Michigan Scottish Pipes and Drums Limited, the Military Color Guard units from Selfridge Air National Guard Base in Mount

Also included will be floats, antique cars, clowns, elephants, marching units, and officers from the Jaycees, city, township, county, state and na-tional officials, district, circuit court, police and fire department representa-

Judges for the parade will be Bill Ventola of Central Distributors (Budweiser), Ellie Graham of the Plymouth Observer, the Rev. Francis Byrne of Our Lady of Good Counsel and Katherine Perry of Plymouth Community Council on Aging.

Members of the Mayflower Lt. Gamble VFW Post and Auxiliary will be having their annual Chicken Barbecue from noon to 5 p.m. on Wednesday at the Post Home at 1426 S. Mill (Lilley) just north of Ann Arbor Road.

The menu consists of barbecued chicken, baked potato, cole slaw, roll and coffee for $3.75 per person.

THE NEXT and final highlight for Independence Day will be the fireworks display.

This year's display, sponsored by Central Distributors and community merchants, will start at dusk at Massey Field on Plymouth Road at Haggerty.

Parking for the event is available at the Burroughs Corp. parking lot on the north side of Plymouth Road at Haggerty and at other locations throughout Starting at 8 p.m. Benny and the Jets will be at the Mayflower Meeting House with music from the '50s and '60s. Tickets at the door are $3.

On Thursday, July 5, the city will celebrate the completion of Central Parking Lot deck from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. followed at 8 p.m. by the Concert in the Park by Plymouth Community Band.

On Friday, July 6, the Peace Resource Center of Western Wayne County will hold a "Peace Day in the Park" 3-7 p.m. in Kellogg Park with musical entertainment, clowns, speakers, balloons and ice cream.

Friday night, beginning at 7:30 p.m., activities will continue with the weekly Dancing in the Streets series on Penniman Avenue between Union and Main

The Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival will begin at dusk Friday and run through dusk Sunday with a full weekend of activities, helping insure a full range of activities from Wednesday through Sunday.

The fireworks donors include: Central Distributors, Paul's Concessions, Mayflower Hotel, J.B. Gibbons & Associates, Dr. Clifton McLellan, chiropractor; Dr. Greg Gingell, chiropractor; Coiffures by Joseph and Rex Umney's Auto Repair.

The parade donors included: Caviston Agency, C.L. Finlan & Son, Henry Salla, Drs. William and Greg Ferman, Dr. Gary Krueger, Draugelis, Ashton, Scully & Haynes, Pugh-Cannon Properties, Catherine McAuley Health Center, Mary and Eric Childs, Dunbar Davis, Plymouth Professional Modeling & Finishing Academy, city of Plymouth, township of Plymouth, Sutherland Yoe, Esther and Kenneth Hulsing, Plymouth Lions Club.

Donors for the five-mile run include: First of America-Plymouth, Northwest Blue Print of Livonia, Kroger, McDonald's and Vic Tanny's.

New filing date set in House race

Candidates for the Michigan House of Representatives have until 4 p.m. Wednesday, June 27, to file nominating petitions or $100 fees with the Wayne County clerk's office in Detroit. They will have until noon Friday, June 29, to Those changes were made by the state Supreme Court last week after alarmed county clerks complained they would unable to get ballots printed in time for the Aug. 7 primary if the filing deadline were moved to July 11, as the court originally ordered.

Wayne County Clerk James Killeen also is seeking a modification of the court order to eliminate the requirement that candidates' names be rotated on the ballot. With the alphabetical rotation requirement, we have to stop the presses 1,850 times while printing the ballots," Killeen said. "Without the rotation requirement, we can save two weeks in printing time."

THE CHANGES will allow election officials to conduct the Aug. 7 primary on schedule rather than delay it a month, as some officials had feared.

All House candidates will have to file anew, the clerk said — even those whose districts were little changed by last week's ruling.

For this area, the 37th District now includes the south portion of Canton and extends south. The 36th now consists of the balance of Canton and the city and township in Plymouth.

In the 36th, Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, did not have any Republicans file against him and only one Democrat. That Democrat, a Novi resident, now is ineligible to run against Law as the Supreme Court ruling removed Novi from the 36th. Unless a Democrat files by Wednesday, Law automatically will return to office without ballot opposition.

The candidates may get on the ballot either by filing nominating petitions signed by registered voters or by paying a $100 fee. About 80 percent pay the fee, Killeen said.

The clerk must return those fees and collect new ones.

Candidates who finish first and second in the Democratic or Republican primaries will have their fees returned. (Minor parties nominate their candidates at conventions.)

THE SUPREME Court ruled early last week that the Michigan Legislature made an unconstitutional procedural step in 1983 when it redistricted itself. The ruling reinstated the so-called "Apol plan" used in the 1982

The Apol plan contains larger population differences but created geographically more compact districts than the legislature's plan. The Apol plan delighted most Republicans and dismayed many Democrats.

Unaffected are candidates for U.S. Congress, Wayne County Commission, township offices, judicial posts and Wayne County Community College. Their districts were not challenged in the reapportionment suit.

Student writers, actors sample life off Broadway

Behind every good production are some hard-working mothers. Stage manager Jackie McDonald, a Field School mother, coaxed the young thespians to strong performances, prompting lines and keeping track of the cast.

"Oh My Goodness," an original musical comedy, made its long-awaited de-but at Field Elementary this week.

Written by fourth and fifth graders, the play explores the ups and downs of life at Camp Blue Waters, a typical summer camp.

Under the direction of producer-principal Larry Miller, the cast of 44 students, grades one-five, hammed it up to the delight of audiences that turned out in number for three evening perfor-

"It's been fun," said first-grader Brian Gustin, who plays Ronnie Fox. Michelle Romano, who plays Carol Carr, wasn't sure at first.

"I was a little nervous at the beginning when we had to practice without the choir. I hoped I wouldn't goof up,' said Romano, a fourth-grader.

Eight student authors who began writing in February developed a cast of characters both parents and kids could laugh at.

The play opens with Mother Zappa telling her daughters, Moon and Venus, they are going to Camp Blue Water. The girls' reaction is typical-of the Valley girls they portray. "Oh, Mother, gag me with a spoon," they chant.

Music director-teacher Michael Moore leads the play's choir, fifty voices strong, through "Kids Are People Too," "New Beginnings," "It's Alright To Cry" and "Just A Happy Song" to name a few of the 20 songs performed.

Field's school play is a tradition which began in 1978.

"It's a good outlet for kids," Miller said. "They have an opportunity to act out behavior that would otherwise be unacceptable."

For example, fourth-grader Mike Bodley plays the part of "Larry," one of Blue Water Camp's counselors. Onstage Bodley is a cold, detail-minded disciplinarian who is always shouting at the campers,

"He's really a nice intelligent all-American kid," fifth-grader Michael Evans explains. "In the play he is expressing himself another way. Fourth-grader Nick Birstow, who plays Violet's father, talked about the demands of acting. "You have to have a real loud voice," Birstow said. "Basically it's having the right attitude. It's different for everyone, but for me its a mean father atti-

Birstow admitted he didn't know any mean fathers, but used his imagination

'Blue Water Campers" are fed up with Messy Marvin, and let him know it. Messy is played here

To the great joy of homeowners on Judson and Marlin in Plymouth Township, a party planned for June 30 will take place after all.

The party was to say goodbye to William Bauman, a 35-year veteran of the postal service who has delivered mail to homeowners and businesses along Ann Arbor Road for the last 17 years. On June 30, his retirement day, Bauman was set to walk his route for the last time.

Plans were well under way for the party; that is, until June 13. That's the day Bauman, in his 60s, Plymouth Post Office because the air conditioning system had broken down, the building's temperature was hovering near 86 degrees and Bauman told his supervisor he was feeling ill.

What happened next embarrassed Bauman, shocked and angered customers on his route, led the National Association of Letter Carriers to consider filing an unfair labor charge against the post office and caused local postal officials to shout "insubordination" and subsequently suspend Bauman from his

DETAILS of the story are pieced together through comments made by numerous upset postal customers who called the Plymouth Observer offices and by Richard Adams, president of Western Wayne County Branch 2184 of the National Association of Letter Car-

Bauman declined to answer a reporter's questions.

Plymouth Postmaster John Mulligan said he was "not going to talk about it because an employee's right to privacy prohibits me from talking about it."

But apparently what happened next is that a supervisor told Bauman he needed a doctor's order to get sick time off. Bauman told the supervisor his doctor's office was closed that day. The supervisor told Bauman to get back on the job. Bauman then walked off the job and went home.

ment only 11 days away, Bauman was slapped with a 14-day suspension from his job. The suspension was effective

According to Adams, Bauman was cited for insubordination and told to report back to work July 5.

"He was an exceptional, ideal employee," Adams said. "He had 2,250 hours of accumulated sick leave on the books and they gave him a 14-day suspension as a going-away gift after 35 years of service. Just because he asked for five hours off from work because he

On Tuesday, an angry Ann Burns called the Observer offices to report the suspension of her longtime mail carrier.

"We are in a state of shock," the Judson resident said.

Protesting the suspension, customers on Bauman's route started circulating a "vote of confidence" petition. They planned to send copies of the petition to Mulligan, the postmaster in Detroit and the postmaster general in Washington,

The petition read: "We consider Bill Bauman to be an outstanding mail carrier and wish to thank him for his years of service."

"We were not condemning anyone; it was strictly to show how we felt about Bill Bauman," Burns said.

Calling Bauman "our friend," Burns praised the carrier for the way he "handed important mail to us," for selling stamps to customers, for his handling of packages from customers who couldn't make it to the post office and for the friendly way he treated youngsters and adults alike on his route.

Another customer, who called the paper but asked to stay anonymous. praised Bauman as an "exemplary, conscientious" postal carrier.

ON THURSDAY, the day Bauman's suspension was set to begin, the postman and his customers got some good

The dispute had been settled, the suspension had been lifted and Bauman was back on his route.

Burns and neighbors are now back to planning the big June 30 farewell.

Plans are made to celebrate completion of parking deck

All employees of Plymouth businesses who took part in the city's parking plan while the Central Parking Lot deck was under construction are invited to a "Party on the Deck" July 5. The party, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., is to dedicate the parking structure, which represents a portion of the nearly $5 million worth of construction going on in the two square miles of the

The completion of the deck was a combined effort on behalf of downtown

Plymouth merchants and employees, building contractors, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and the city of Plymouth.

In order to keep all available parking spaces in the existing Central Parking Lot open for customers, the city set. up a parking plan during the construc-tion period. The plan gave some 400 full- and part-time employees free parking in designated lots while construction was under way.

"It was a massive effort on the part of employees and city, in cooperation with the local chamber," said Paul Sincock, assistant to city manager Henry Graper Jr.

The party will be part of the Fourth of July celebration in Plymouth. On July 4, the Plymouth Jaycees will conduct a parade and fireworks display, as well as other events. On July 5, there will be the party and a Plymouth Community Band concert in Kellogg Park. On July 6, the Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival will begin.

Township helps with jobs

When its seven new injection molding presses arrive, or when present employees leave for jobs closer to home, some 50 new workers will be hired from this pool, Rose said.

"We want the program to serve as a model to show the close relationship that can exist between an expanding firm and the community," said Paul Chamberlain of Growth Works.

Breen, who serves on the evaluation committee of PIC, said A-Line's desire to move into the township occurred at the same time that the council was setting up the pilot program and was looking for a company to work with. It was a natural linkage, Breen said.

"Some federally funded programs are kind of dippy, but I think this is one that is useful and will work," he

GROWTH WORKS will use some $90,000 of federal funds, gotten through PIC, to screen, pre-place and train job applicants.

According to Chamberlain, once the applicant gets hired at A-Line, 50 percent of his or her pay for four weeks will be subsidized through the federal grant.

'He'll be a part employee, part enrollee at Growth Works," Chamberlain said. "We've never had an employment program on this large a scale here before."

Applicants should apply at Plymouth Township Department of Public Works Hall, 13333 Lilley Road. Office hours are from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. Applicants must apply in person, be age 18 or older and live in Wayne County.

Chamberlain said preference will be given to unemployed and low income applicants. About 275 applicants have already been pres-creened, Chamberlain said.

What type of employee is A-Line looking for?

'We want someone who will be happy with the job and will still be here a year from now," said Rose.

EPA sets hearings on dirty air sanctions

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will hold two public hearings Wednesday, July 11, on its proposed sanctions against Michigan for having dirty air.

EPA charges the state with failure to establish a vehicle inspection and maintenance (I/M) program for the tri-county region — Wayne, Oakland and Macomb.

"All federal highway funds will be withheld, with limited exceptions for projects that are for the purpose of safety, mass transit, or air quality improvement or maintenance," according to Shirley Mitchell, EPA's regional chief of air planning in Chicago.

"Previously proposed restrictions would affect the construction of plants that would add significantly to ozone and carbon monoxide pollution in the Detroit areas.

"U.S EPA is also reproposing disapproval of the state's 1982 implementation plan for ozone and carbon monoxide," Mitchell said.

THE JULY 11 hearings are set for: • 10 a.m. in the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building, 2 Woodward, Detroit.

• 7 p.m. in the auditorium of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac.

A third hearing will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, July 12, in the head-quarters of Macomb Intermediate School District, 44001 Garfield, Mt.

Written comments can be sent to: Gary Gulezian, Chief; Regulatory Analysis Section; Air and Radiation Branch; U.S. EPA Region V; 230 S. Dearborn; Chicago, IL. 60604.

THE MICHIGAN Legislature has deadlocked on a proposal to set up a vehicle inspection program that would require fees of $10.

While Michigan in 1979 submitted a plan for meeting federal air standards set in the Clean Air Act, state government has never implemented a program to meet the standards.

So last Aug. 3, EPA proposed restricting air quality program funds to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and to prohibit construction or modification of industrial plants which contribute to carbon monoxide and ozone pollution in the tri-county re-

"It's an economic development issue," said Donald E. Shelton, chair of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments as he recently underlined SEMCOG's concern over the issue.

THE AUTOMOBILE Club of Michigan said it believes the inspection program is unnecessary but supports state action by deadline time.

"The state has no choice but to respond to this economic blackmail and adopt an inspection program," said William Cilluffo, Auto Club's director of governmental affairs, citing the possible loss of $200 million in U.S. highway funds, as well as millions more in lost construction and jobs.

Cilluffo estimated the cost to the state at less than $2 million but the cost to 2.6 million motorists could be as much as $52 million the first year. He based this on an estimate of a $10 inspection fee per car, a 20 percent failure rate and a $50 average repair bill.

"I/M PROGRAMS are part of EPA's overall strategy for meeting air quality standards," Mitchell said.

"These programs lower air pollution levels by requiring periodic inspection of the emissions systems of cars and light trucks, which contribute significantly to the ozone and carbon monoxide pollution.

"In urbanized areas with I/M programs, automotive emissions can be reduced by as much as 25 percent for hydrocarbons and 33 percent for car-bon monoxide. Hydrocarbons are a major component in the formation of "Public health is adversely affected by high levels of ozone and carbon

"Ozone can cause difficulty in breathing, chest pain, chest and nasal congestion, coughing, eye irritation, nausea and headaches.

"Carbon monoxide can cause dizziness, headaches, nausea and loss of ap-

"The people most susceptible to high carbon monoxide and ozone levels in the atmosphere are infants and small children, the elderly, those with respiratory and heart ailments, and very ac-tive people such as joggers."

"In most I/M programs, the vehicle is taken to an inspection station operat-ed by the state, or to a garage licensed the state to conduct inspections," Mitchell said.

"While the vehicle is running, a probe is placed in the tailpipe. This probe checks the amount of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons in the ex-

And if one's car flunks the test?

"In most cases, all a car needs is a low emissions tuneup which reduces air pollution and improves the vehicle's performance and gas mileage," Mitch-

Other states programs show only about 15 to 30 percent of cars require repairs. Typical costs range from $18 to $35. Most common are carbureted adjutments, spark plug replacement; choke adjustments, air filter replace-ment and idle speed adjustment.

I/M programs are operated in 21 areas of the country, including California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Kentucky, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Oregon and Rhode Island. Another seven programs are scheduled to begin within the next

A bursa is a sac which contains a thin layer of fluid. In humans, bursas lie in a fashion that permits muscles to slide over each other with a minimum of friction.

The anserine bursa is located just below the knee joint on the inner side of the leg. The function of the bursa is to keep three muscles anchoring at that location, from rubbing against each other. At times, for unclear reasons, this bursa becomes inflamed and gives rise to pain at the level of the knee.

It is important to distinguish between anserine bursitis and knee arthritis, anserine bursitis often can be treated with a single injection into the bursa, while knee arthritis usually requires a long period of

Presbyterians built new church in 1848

(Part 9)

A movement among Plymouth Presbyterians to build a church began in 1847 when the Rev. E.S. Shepard was pastor.

The preamble of the subscription list, dated Jan. 13, 1847, proclaimed: "Whereas, the Second Presbyterian Society of Plymouth in the County of Wayne, and State of Michigan, have in contemplation the building of a suitable and commodious church for the accomodation of the public.

"Now, therefore, we the undersigned do hereby severally promise and agree to pay to the trustees of the said Society, the several sums set opposite each our names, in consideration of the trustees of said Society building or causing said church to be built and of its being subject to the control of said trustees without restriction as to the religious (word not decipherable) of the preacher to be employed by them."

THOSE LAST FEW words are a reminder of the Presbyterian belief that control always should be in the hands of the people, a throwback to the days when they revolted against the authority of bishops.

Ebenezer J. Penniman, one of the town's wealthiest citizens, headed the list of those who subscribed to the construction of the church. He pledged $500

Other large subscribers were Henry Fralick with $150 and Thomas P. May, Jr. with $100. Pastor Shepard pledged $50 and the extension fund of the Presbyterian General Assembly in Philadelphia pledged $150.

Jonathan Shearer, supervisor of Plymouth Township, was elected secretary and treasurer of the society in April 1848. Shearer and Henry Fralick, who was to succeed him as supervisor the following year, were placed in charge of the building project. Fralick kept the record of income and expenses.

Trustee minutes indicate that Shearer advanced money and subscribed $40 toward the cost of the church. He also spent 152 days time obtaining subscriptions and collecting money and materials. The total subscribed in 1847 was $2,297.

THE BUILDING was estimated at $2,700, but the actual cost seems to have been about $3,000. Money came in slowly

Fralick's report showed income from subscriptions in 1848 totalled $1,340. Payments made to the contractor and others during the same period came to $1,222

By July 1849 unpaid pledges stood at $722, of which $150 still was due from the Church Extension Fund. By 1850, $230 still was unpaid. The debt finally was paid off in 1856.

Work on the new church took the remainder of 1848 and most of 1849, the year Tennyson wrote the hymn beginning "Ring Out The Old, Ring In The New." It reflected the anticipation of those waiting to worship in the new building

The structure was made of local bricks made by church member Jehial Davis on his farm west of Plymouth. The contractor's bill, dated July 10, 1849, shows that 119,910 bricks were laid at a cost of $299.

Among the items on the bill were $8 for building two chimneys and another $3 for pointing the stone work. An earlier bill, dated March 22, 1849, includes an item of $84.32 for "extra story on steeple."

A sealed bottle was placed inside the cornerstone when it was laid in the summer of 1848. It contained the subscription list compiled by Henry Fralick. Also found in the bottle when the cornerstone was breached in 1904 was a paper written by E.J. Penniman. It read:

"This day commenced the brick work of the Second Presbyterian Society church. Mason work by Adolphus

Sam Hudson

Brigham and George Peters. Wood work by Christopher G. Cramer. Jonathan Shearer and Henry Fralick, building committee. E.S. Shepard, pastor. Erastus G. Landon, Luther Safford, Jonathan Shearer, Henry Fralick, trustees. "The Town of Plymouth in 1845, 1846, 1847 and 1848 voted by majority from 66 to 165 against license for sale of intoxicating drinks. Population of township by census of 1845 was 2,502. Plymouth division of No. 7 of Sons of Temperance numbers about 90 members. Ebenezer J. Penniman writes above paper July 24, 1848."

WHEN THE CORNERSTONE was breached again after the fire of 1936, the editor of the Plymouth Mail noted that Northville still was part of Plymouth Township in 1848 thus accounting for "the big population of 2,602 in 1845."

The church was occupied in November or December of 1849. It was dedicated in January 1850. Thereafter it was usually referred to as the Brick Church.

The Rev. William C. Kniffen was pastor in 1850, the year an estimated 20,000 slaves were brought north by way of the "Underground Railroad." That was two years before "Uncle Tom's Cabin" made its appearance. Kniffen, a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, had been pastor in Northville from 1839 to 1844.

To pay the debt which remained after the church was opened, someone proposed the sale of pews, but this idea was not adopted. Instead, the usual practice of renting the pews to raise the minister's salary was continued.

Why we roar with the Tigers

Tigermania — what is it? At this writing, the Tigers are 51-18, and southeastern Michigan is going crazy over this ball team.

I myself am hardly a baseball fanatic, but the Tigers' West Coast road trip recently nearly spelled my ruin. Despite a 6 a.m. rising time on working days, I found myself each night glued to the radio until 1 a.m., hoping to hear yet another Tiger victory.

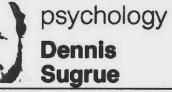

In no way do the team's victories demonstrate anything complimentary about any of us as individuals except that we have had the good fortune to be living in geographic proximity to a winning ball club.

Yet, this group of men playing a game captures our imagination, deminates our conversations, and makes our chests swell with pride.

TIGERMANIA is a good example of an important psychological mechanism that has been a part of each of our psyches since early infancy. We call this mechanism "identification."

As infants, we were totally dependent on our parents for nurture and security. We gradually made the transition to increasingly independent, self-sufficient individuals by identifying with or imitating more powerful figures in our lives.

From our parents we adopted values, beliefs, and patterns of responding to life's challenges.

This process of identification also helped to shape our own sense of self-worth. By identifying with a parent who in our childish eyes was the strongest, prettiest, smartest person alive, we also began to feel strong, pretty and smart.

Identification does not stop when a person grows up. It continues to be a significant part of our adult lives.

When our spouse or child does something tha makes us proud, we are proud because psychologically our loved ones have become a part of us. We therefore feel that their victory is our victory, that their pain is our pain.

IDENTIFICATION also serves as defense during certain types of crisis.

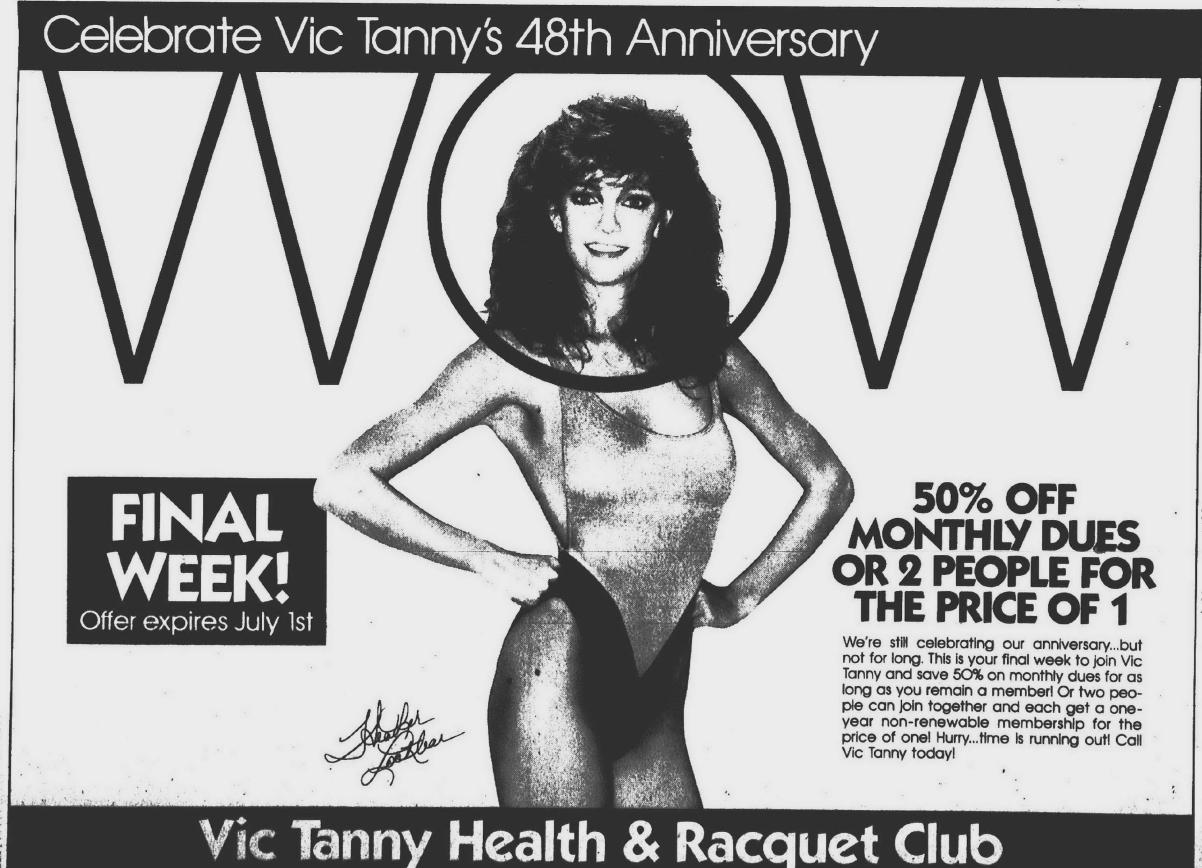

Psychoanalysts have suggested that people tend to "identify" with their aggressor. The agressor therefore becomes less frightening because of some manufactured kinship.

This defense has been particularly obvious in many hostage situations during which hostages have been reported to become sympathetic and even loyal to their captors.

When a person or a group of people feels downtrodden or threatened, identification with someone more powerful provides a renewed sense of hope and self-worth. This type of identification helps explain there worship during wartime and our national reaction to the U.S. Olympic hockey team during the Iranian hostage crisis.

The Tigers are finally giving us something to cheer about, and it feels nice to identify for a few moments with someone else's greatness.

If you love strawberries and can't resist chocolate in any of its wonderful forms, this new dessert — destined to become a classic - was created especially for you. The tempting two-layer extravaganza features strawberries - sliced and sweetened layered with luscious whipped topping on home-baked chocolate shortcake.

Our "from scratch" shortcake recipe contains all the familiar shortcake ingredients - plus 1/3 cup cocoa . . . and has all the tender, melt-in-your-mouth flavor of a traditional shortcake. Step-by-step recipe directions make preparation of the shortcake easy . . . and whipped topping makes last-minute assembly and service a snap.

To assure picture-pretty strawberries (for shortcake or any time they're served), wash, hull and slice as close to serving time as possible. Remember, strawberries are very perishable and need to be handled gently. So whether you select the berries at your local supermarket or pick them yourself at a nearby "U-Pick" farm, it's always a good idea to take them straight home. Store immediately in the refrigerator . . . in shallow containers to prevent crushing.

To freeze, combine 1/2 cup sugar with 2 pints strawberries; let stand 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Spoon into container and place in freezer. Thaw at toom temperature and serve - with a dollop of whipped topping - on ice cream, angel food cake, waffles or pancakes.

Frozen berries, thawed, are excellent as an ingredient in a "shake" or used in place of fresh berries for desserts such as Strawberry Romanoff Crepes (see recipe below). Both the crepes and the Bavarian Aux Strawberry — an almond flavored, cream cheese, whipped topping and strawberries molded dessert — are elegant spring and summer party fare.

Asparagus, ham are rolled up in easy crepes

Weekday meals just aren't what they used to be. Quick casseroles and main dish salads now replace long-cooking stews, frozen vegetables take the place of fresh, and the a la mode is served without the apple pie. For the family of the '80s, speed is essential. Thus, an organized kitchen and timesaving convenience food products are a must.

For most families, the task of keeping the kitchen organized falls to one person. If that person is you, you've got to think ahead to stay ahead. Plan menus for a week at a time to minimize time-guzzling trips to the supermarket. Keep weekday menus simple with just a main dish, salad or vegetable and maybe dessert. Utilize a prepared food for at least one course - ice cream or frozen yogurt for dessert. A supply of staple foods such as tuna, canned soup, frozen vegetables, pasta, rice and pancake mix takes care of the inevitable emer-

Organize your cabinets and drawers. You'll be amazed at how this speeds up actual food preparation. And, everyone who helps in the kitchen can take advantage of timesaving appliances. The blender, for example, does more than just make milkshakes. It can grate cheese, make bread crumbs, puree fruits and vegetables and blend soups and sauces. The old-fashioned pressure cooker currently enjoying renewed popularity cooks less tender cuts of meat in one-third the

CONVENIENCE FOOD products are timesavers, too. And if convenience products are selected carefully, they won't dent the food budget. Quick cooking rice instead of regular, bottled lemon juice instead of fresh, packaged seasoning mixes instead of individual spices, and pancake mix instead of a scratch recipe can save considerable time and effort for little or no extra cost.

Take pancake mix for example. Because original pancake mix already contains flour and leavening, a variety of breakfast foods, main dishes, even desserts are just minutes away. And most are simple enough for a beginning cook.

To prepare the crepes needed for Spring Asparagus Roll-Ups, all you need to add are eggs, milk and vegetable oil. The batter bakes up into thin, delicate pancakes which can be prepared months in advance and frozen. The delectable filling pairs now affordable fresh asparagus with cooked ham. (Ham "planned over" from another meal is an economical idea.) Canned soup thinned with a little milk makes the rich and creamy cheese sauce extra easy. While the roll-ups bake, there's plenty of time to toss a salad and fix a fresh fruit cup for dessert.

SPRING ASPARAGUS ROLL-UPS I cup milk

2 tbsp. milk Combine milk, pancake mix, eggs and oil, mixing until smooth. Let stand 5 minutes. Grease lightly a 6-to 7-inch crepe pan or skillet; heat over medium-high heat. For each crepe, pour about 2 tablespoons batter (one half of a ¼ cup dry measure) into hot pan; immediately tilt pan to coat bottom evenly with thin layer. Cook 45 seconds or until top looks dry. Turn; cook about 20 seconds. Stack between sheets of wax paper.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease 13 x 9-inch glass baking dish. Place 2 asparagus spears and 1 slice ham on each crepe; roll up. Place in prepared baking dish. Combine soup, cheese and milk; pour over crepes. Cover with foll; bake 25 to 30 minutes or until heated through. 30 minutes or until heated through.,

Note: Crepes can be made ahead and frozen up to 2 to 3 months. Stack cooled crepes with sheet of wax paper between each crepe. Wrap securely in foil; freeze. Thaw overnight in refrigerator.

A 1980s pancake supper features old-fashioned pancakes with a new twist. Instead of the usual syrup or fruit topping, these light and tender cakes come to the table stacked with chili and shredded cheddar cheese. Packaged seasoning mix and canned tomato sauce take most of the effort out of preparing the satisfying filling. Crisp raw vegeta-bles and glasses of milk quickly round out the meal.

Heat griddle over high heat (400 degrees electric griddle), grease lightly. Combine pancake mix, milk, egg and oil; mix just until large lumps disappear. (Batter will have small lumps which will disappear during baking.) Let batter stand 1 to 2 minute to thicken. Pour 1/2 cup batter for each of 4 pancakes onto prepared griddle. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

To serve, place on pancake on serving plate. Top with about % cup chili; sprinkle with 1/2 of the cheese. Repeat twice more; top with remaining pancake. Dollop with sour cream; cut into wedges. 4 servings. Encourage each cook to simplify the next day's meal preparation by double batching. Chop onion and green pepper in large quantities and freeze in recipe-size portions. Ditto for nuts, bread crumbs and shredded cheese. Ground beef can be shaped into meatballs or patties before freezing, while budget-stretching casseroles and soups thaw more quickly when frozen in individual servings.

Last but not least, encourage everyone to use as few utensils as pos-sible to minimize dishwashing chores. Casseroles often can be mixed in their baking dishes while the same saucpen can be used for mixing and cooking.

Don't throw the rice at a wedding, give it with an appliance as gift

Tamales from scratch are great if you like work

When one of my wife's sisters flew in from Texas for a visit, she brought two bags of masa in her suitcase.

'We're going to make tamales," Linda said.

'What do you mean, WE?" I asked. "You don't make them that often when we come to Texas. It's too much like work."

Masa is stoneground corn mixed with lime that Mexicans use for tamales, tortillas and many dishes. It is dried corn kernels cooked until the skins loosen. When the skins are removed, the corn is called nixtamal, which is to make regular masa.

Anita and her sister weren't discouraged by my lack of spirit and proceeded. They prepared a pork filling, but there are several cuts of beef and poultry that will appeal to taste buds as well as the pocketbook: rump or chuck roast, turkey parts or chicken.

They couldn't find any packages of dry corn husks for tamale wrappers so foil was substituted.

I must admit I don't have the patience to prepare the masa, wrappers scratch. But I must warn you that I

For example, I use the tamales broken up after I dispose of the wrappers - when I fix the Mexican variation of an Italian favorite, Eggplant Parmigiana.

The other bag of masa still sits in the

If some of you out there insisted, I'd try my hand at making tamales from have a lazy man's recipe up my sleeve.

Salt and black pepper 1 cup fine dry plain bread crumbs

2 eggs, beaten

1/2 cup cooking oil 2 cups tamale sauce

1 pkg. (8 oz.) Monterey Jack cheese, cut

Season eggplant on both sides with salt and pepper to taste, coat with bread crumbs, dip in egg, dredge again in bread crumbs, place in large plate and refrigerate 30 minutes. In large skillet, fry eggplant on both sides in hot oil on medium heat to golden brown and drain on paper toweling. Spoon one-third tamale sauce into greased 2quart casserole; layer in six eggplant slices, top with one-third sauce and 6 cheese slices. Repeat layering. Bake in 350-degree oven 25 minutes, when bub-

One of the pleasures of growing up is knowing that carrots are good for us and enjoying eating them anyway.

Here, carrots come into their own co-starring with potatoes in a creamy golden soup. Loaded with vitamin A and potassium they're a nutritional plus for meals. These days there are so many interesting ways of using carrots: Grated or sliced with other ingredients in salads, cooked and spiced in a variety of pretty side dishes, as a naturally sweet flavorer in soups and stews.

In our photo recipe the carrots are cooked with potatoes till tender, then blended with chicken broth and pureed in the blender. White pepper, allspice and lemon peel create the seasonings, whisked along with half and half. The soup teases the appetite as a first course, or becomes a main dish with cooked chicken chunks or hardcooked eggs added. It's also lovely served cold.

Glazed Carrots are a natural complement to chicken, pork or ham. The sunny seasonings are honey, lemon peel, ginger and garlic.

1/2 tsp. ground allspice 1/2 tsp. ground white pepper

31/2 cups sliced carrots 4 cup diced peeled potatoes 1 cup half and half cream

In a medium saucepan melt butter. Add onion; saute until transparent, about 5 minutes. Add chicken broth, sugar, salt, lemon peel, allspice and white pepper. Bring to a boil. Add carrots and potatoes. Simmer covered until vegetables are tender, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Pour half of the vegetable mixture at a time into the container of an electric blender; blend until smooth. Repeat with remaining vegetable mixture. Return pureed vegetables to saucepan. Add cream; heat until hot. Stir in lemon juice.

GLAZED CARROTS

2 cups sliced carrots 2 tbsp. butter or margarine

1 garlic clove, crushed 4 tsp. ground ginger ¼ tsp. grated lemon peel 1 thsp. honey 2 tsp. lemon juice

Cook carrots in 1/4-inch boiling salted water until tender, about 8 minutes. Meanwhile in a medium saucepan melt butter. Add garlic, saute for 1 minute. Add ginger, lemon peel, honey and lemon juice; mix well. Stir over low heat for 1 minute; remove from heat. Drain carrots; add to butter mixutre. Toss gently to coat well.

been actively involved in summer visits of traveling Japanese students. For the past 20 years, the tours were arranged by MBC-TV of Japan. The Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth has worked with the program, finding homes for the Japanese students, while they are in the Plymouth-Ann Arbor area.

DORIS SAID, "We have had Japanese teen-agers stay at our home for the past three summers. But Val's parents have been even more involved in the program." The Andres family always hosts a visiting Japanese - students and chaperones

This is the first year American teen-agers have gone to Japan. After World War II, Suetaka Hatanaka came up with the idea that exposure to the American people and their way of life could be a deterrent to war. As chairman of the board of the Minaminihon Broadcasting Co., he set his plan in operation, funding the tours of carefully screened Japanese high school students. Various groups in the United States cooperated in the program, finding host families for the visitors. The Colonial Kiwanis Club participated over the years and is endorsing the girls' visits.

After 20 years of East-West tours, the program has been changed to West-East one year and East-West the next. Doris and Val are in the first group going to Japan. They had to pass the same rigid regulations set for Japanese students coming to the U.S.

VAL AND DORIS are assembling presents for their host families. The Colonial Kiwanians are sending along a special club gift.

And there are Kiwanis clubs in Japan.

They have been warned that the weather will be hot and humid in the Kagoshima Prefecture in southern Japan, almost like Florida in summer. They are planning their wardrobes accordingly — dresses, slacks, blouses, T-shirts and shorts, but no short shorts.

They will keep journals of their travels and make presentations to the Colonial Kiwanis Club.

LOCAL ARTISTS Johnnie Crosby and Doreen Lawton have works in the Fifth Michigan Artists Competition. The statewide fine arts Competition. The statewide fine arts exhibition will continue until the end of June at the Art Center of Battle Creek. Kathy Kelsey Foley, director of Mary and Leigh Block Gallery at Northwestern University, was juror. Johnnie's water color, "Holstein Cove," is in the exhibit.

Hyperactivity — myths still persist

By Richard Lech staff writer

"That kid is hyperactive. You've been feeding him too much candy."

Mothers of active - and sometimes overactive — children are always hearing that line. But how much truth does it contain?

Not much, according to the health and medical professionals who spoke at a recent hyperactivity seminar spon-sored by Out-Wayne County Head

They said hyperactivity is not as prevalent as common wisdom might suggest. And blaming sugar for hyperactivity is comparable to blaming a Detroit Tiger losing streak on the hot dogs the fans consume.

"This (hyperactivity) seems to be a term that is frequently misunderstood and sometimes used incorrectly," Head Start nutritionist Dorothy Vaughan said. "When this happens the result sometimes is needless confusion for the

EVEN non-hyperactive youngsters can seem hyper when they're tired, nervous, or hungry, seminar participants said.

You can have a perfectly normal child who in some instances acts like a hyperactive child," said Kitty Walsh, a pediatric nurse practitioner at Wayne County General Hospital (WCGH). Usually such behavior is caused by some form of stress, such as illness, divorce, or a new baby in the family, she said."

Parents, teachers and others also often mistake behavior that is normal for a child that age for hyperactivity,

It is normal, for instance, for a 2vear-old who has always slept well in the past to suddenly develop some trou-ble sleeping, she said.

A short attention span does not necessarily mean the child is hyperactive.

'This (hyperactivity) seems to be a term that is frequently misunderstood and sometimes used incorrectly. When this happens the result sometimes is needless confusion for the child.'

> - Dorothy Vaughan Head Start nutritionist

Attention spans increase with the age of the child, ranging from 10 minutes for a normal 2-year-old to a half-hour for a 5-year-old.

Parents often assume their child is hyperactive based on what a relative says or after listening to an "expert" on television, Vaughan said. But hyperactivity is a medical diagnosis and has to be made by a medical professional, according to Dr. John Board, chief of child development services at Wayne County General Hospital.

HYPERACTIVITY is not a disease, but a symptom, Board said. True hyperactivity can have various causes, including hormonal imbalances and problems with the central nervous sys-

"The most common reason for it is that they have not learned to attend to anything for an appropriate period of time," Board said. "In other words, their attention span is so short, and they have not learned to focus their attention on any one item."

A diagnosis and evaluation is required to determine whether a child really is hyperactive, he said. The "d and e" includes a detailed history of the child's behavior, a neurological and physical examination, and the doctor's observation of the child under several different "stressful" situations - in other words, seeing how well the child does what the doctor tells him to do.

Hyperactive kids impulsively make noises, can't wait their turn, move about execessively during sleep and are frequently bed wetters. They can't even sit still while watching their favorite television show.

Most children diagnosed as hyperactive can be treated without medication. Board said. They need to be put in an environment without a lot of stimulation and where they can get lots of one-

"The key is to teach that child how to postpone an immediate gratification of an appetite or desire for a greater reward down the road," Board said.

ONLY IN extreme cases is medication, such as the drug Ritalin, required.

"There's a small group of these kids who need medication, but that's the group you hear about," Board said.
Drugs such as Ritalin do not treat or cure anything, he said. "They bring things under control so the child can learn how to keep those things under control himself," Board said. One way not to control the problem is to cut down on sweets, said nutritionist Alethia Carr of the Downriver Prescad Clinic.

"One thing I hear often is that sugar is the culprit for sending my kid up the wall," Carr said.

"Three years ago I may have be-lieved people when they said that, but now I have a 3-year-old and can look at what parents tell me more objectively. The tests I've looked at never show that sugar causes hyperactivity."

Carr said other factors other than the type of food the child eats may be causing behavior that seems hyperac-

Some children, for instance, don't eat breakfast or eat just a presweetened cereal, she said.

"This child is going to be hungry and is not going to be able to listen in class or sit still in the classroom," Carr said. Some children actually throw a tantrum after eating a candy bar because they know mom expects them to have wild behavior after eating sweets, she said. Weather conditions - whether the child can go outside or not — also can cause problems.

- Alethia Carr nutrionist

CARR CRITICIZED a hyperactivity diet, the Feingold diet, formulated by the late Dr. Ben F. Feingold, who was chief of allergy at the Kaiser Per-manente Medical Center in San Francisco. The diet bans aspirin and foods containing artificial colors and flavors, the preservatives BHA, BHT and TBHQ, and natural salicylates which occur in such fruits and vegetables as apples, cucumbers and pickles, grapes, green peppers, oranges, and to-

Carr said the diet might be an extreme and questionable step nutrition-

"Many fruits are missing," Carr said. "I really question whether a child can use that diet for an extended period of time and still meet the nutritional needs of a growing child."

She said the diet is costly, since parents end up having to prepare all their own food. And there is some question about whether it actually works. Most tests have been inconclusive, and tests that have show hyperactive children improving under the diet seemingly have been done without proper scientific controls, Carr said.

But Pat Butowick of Livonia, editor of the Feingold Association of Michigan, Inc. newsletter, said the cost fig-ure for Feingold diet Carr gave — $300 - was far too high.

"I would say your food costs would go up slightly, depending upon how much you want to rely on convenience foods," said Butowick, whose entire family is on the diet. "You end up doing a little more cooking from scratch."

BUTOWICK also noted that the diet does not totally ban foods containing natural salicylates. Those foods are reintroduced, one at a time, four to six weeks after the child starts the diet. The parent-watches the child's reaction closely and decides whether that particular food can be reintroduced per-

Butowick said researchers "haven't come up with anything clear cut on a large scale" that proves conclusively that the diet is effective. But she said parents have reported marked improvements, ranging from gradual to spectacular, in their hyperactive children after they were switched to the

"There are some dramatic stories," Butowick said. "One child simply wouldn't sleep. The child barely slept an hour a night. The parents went to 15 pediatricians. The tried the diet as lastditch thing. Within few days, the child was sleeping six hours a night. And the child kept on improving greatly from

Hyperactivity has specific symptoms

To be diagnosed as hyperactive, Dr. John Board said, a child must show a certain number of symptoms in each of the following three areas:

 Inattention (at least three of the following): often fails to finish things; often doesn't seem to listen; easily distracted; has difficulty concentrating on tasks requiring sustained concentration, such as schoolwork; and has difficulty sticking to a play activi-

· Impulsivity (at least three of the following): often acts before thinking; shifts excessively from one activity to another; has difficulty organizing work; needs a lot of supervision; frequently calls out in class; and has difficulty awaiting turn in games or group situations. · Hyperactivity (at least two of the following): runs about or climbs on things excessively; has difficulty sitting still or fidgets excessively; has difficulty staying seated; moves about excessively during sleep; and is always "on the go."

ine symptoms must start before the age of 7 and last at least six months. And they must not be due to a more servere problem such as schizophrenia or mental retardation.

Dr. John Board of Wayne County General Hospital stresses that hyperactivity is not a disease but a symptom and can have various causes.

T WAS A Camelot-type of season for Emil Majeski and his Redford Thurston baseball team.

When the state tournament began, Majeski's Eagles were nowhere to be found in the Observerland rankings. They had a 10-9-1 record although they had gained a share of the Northwest Suburban League (NSL) crown with Garden City.

Redford Catholic Central, Livonia Churchill, Garden City, Plymouth Canton and Livonia Stevenson were all ahead of Thurston.

But underdog Thurston saved the best for last, winning seven consecutive tournament games and beating four state-ranked teams in the process en route to the Class B championship, the first state crown in the school's 28-year

Majeski, a veteran of 19 seasons, is to be saluted for the job he did this season - thus, he is the 1984 Observerland .Coach of the Year.

NOT TO be overlooked were the efforts of Garden City coach Bob Dropp, whose team posted a 19-7 record with an inexperienced lineup, or Churchill coach Herb Osterland, whose team claimed a share of the tough Western Lakes Conference crown with Northville and beat Class A state champion Walled Lake Western twice.

Thurston and Catholic Central landed two players on the All-Observer first team. Garden City and Churchill

Andy Robertson, Redford St. Agatha:

What a season for Robertson, who was drafted in the sixth round by the Cleveland Indians and signed a pro contract Foust (Churchill), and Brian Porter (Stevenson).

He also batted .360 and hit three homers as the Aggles posted a 20-10

Careerwise, Robertson was 31-9 with five no-hitters. He was an All-Catholic pick three times.

John Nissen, Catholic Central: The hard-throwing senior righthander posted a 10-2 record with a 1.52 ERA this Nissen struck out 102 batters in 73% innings pitched this season. He gave up only 35 walks.

The three-year varsity performer was 18-4 and was "an excellent strikeout pitcher with a good curve ball to compliment his fastball," according to CC coach John Salter.

CATCHER

Bob Rousseau, Rédford Thurston: Last year Rousseau made second team and this year he became the area's top catcher, batting .383 (prior to the state semifinals) with 31 hits and 20 RBI.

The 5-foot-10, 150-pound receiver captained the Eagles and possessed a strong arm.

He was an All-NSL and All-Region (Class B) choice this year.

"Bob's a great team player with an excellent arm," said the Thurston coach.

INFIELDERS

Mark Bennett, Plymouth Canton: The senior was a versatile performer for the always-potent Chiefs.

He grabbed the first base slot with a .371 average with 23 hits and 20 RBI. He led the team in runs scored (25) and home runs (5).

When he wasn't playing first, Bennett pitched and compiled a 7-5 record with four saves.

Coach Fred Crissey said Bennett was "Canton's clutch player for '84." "Mark's a fine competitor and fielder," said the Canton coach.

All-Stars put on 'Classic' show

By Jim Hug staff writer

It's called a classic - the Observer & Eccentric Girls High School Soccer Classic to be exact. But now, with good

The 336 soccer fans who gathered at Livonia Stevenson Friday were treated to a thrilling game, which featured some of the top high school players in the state. The final 5-2 score went in favor of the Observer team, but it was closer than some may have expected.

In last year's inaugural event, the Observer team posted a 7-1 victory, and the Eccentric squad wanted nothing more than to redeem itself. That play in the game, the Eccentric scored back-to-back goals from Troy's Carol Grenn and Birmingham Seaholm's Katy Andreae, to turn a would-be rout into a barn-burner. "I think the girls may have let up a bit," said Stevenson coach Norene Divens, who directed the Observer squad. "There was an injury which stopped play for about 3-4 minutes, and we relaxed a bit. That stoppage of play can stop the momentum of a team."

QUICKLY, THE momentum shifted in the Eccentric's favor. The Observer lead, built on goals from Stevenson's Mary Kay Hussey, Plymouth Canton's Lisa Russell and Livonia Churchill's

Game MVP Annette Ruggiero of Mercy uses some nifty footwork to get past Marian's Debbie Wojtaszek in Friday's all-star soccer

Down, 3-0, with about 13 minutes to Jennifer Flowers, diminished in a short Grenn - who played most of the game as sweeper but was shifted to center-forward late in the game - had a scoring chance, but was tripped by goalie Betsy Eads of Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy. Grenn, on a penalty kick, blasted the ball to the upper left corner to cut the gap to 3-1.

Andreae made it a one-goal game when she headed in a pass from Birmingham Marian's Shannon Bessette, and there was a scent of an upset brew-

However, killer instinct from Mercy's Annette Ruggiero took care of the outcome. Ruggiero, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, assisted on Flowers' second goal of the game, and added an insurance marker with less than a minute to play. "She certainly deserved the MVP award." Divens said. "She's an excellent bail-handler and a very hard player. She has good soccer sense. She stands out wherever she plays."

RUGGIERO'S PLAY stole a little of the thunder from the Eccentric's valiant comeback, but it couldn't totally overshadow the effort. These players weren't going to give up in that situation," said Marian coach Terry Dilworth, who ran the show for the Eccentric. "They're just too experienced for that. I thought if we could tie it up, whoever would score the next goal would have it. "They (Observer) just had too much energy at the end. That last push took energy at the end. That last push took everything out of us."

Although Ruggiero was brilliant from start to finish, picking an MVP is difficult. As expected when the state's best gather on one field, it was coast-

The Observer had Hussey, last year's MVP. She excited the crowd every time the ball touched her MVF (most valuable foot). Stevenson's Cheryl Galindo was a stalwart on defense, Števenson goalie Doreen Beagle shut out the Eccentric during her stay in goal, and Flowers led the offense with her twogoal performance.

Had the victory gone to the Eccen-ic, Grenn no doubt would be toting tric, Grenn no doubt would be toti the MVP award. Her role as sweet kept the Observer from racking up more goals, and when she moved to Mercy standout Annette Ruggiero scored one goal and added two assists to earn MVP honors in the Observer & Eccentric Soccer Classic.

forward, the attack was fierce.

"I've seen her play before, but to have her on your team, well, it was fantastic," Dilworth said. "She was incredible. She was all over the field. If she played one position, I didn't notice it. She was all over the place.

"I've never seen an effort like that. She played outstanding is what she

Another Eccentric standout was goalle Sue Lormin of Athens, who came out of the net several times to close off Observer threats.

HUSSEY OPENED the game's scoring early in the first half when she scored on an unassisted goal. Her shot was right on center and through the outstretched hands of Lormin.

To that point, the play was controlled by the Observer team.

The momentum shifted in favor of the Eccentric when Troy's Liz Suttie took a shot, which was handled by Beagle. Shortly thereafter, Troy's Joanna Marquardt rifled a shot which looked like it would find the range, but Beagle leaped and snared the ball from flight.

The most dangerous threat came when Marquardt busted loose and was tripped. Andreae took the penalty kick, and her blistering shot hit the inside of the right post, and bounced to the left side of the field before Athens' Lori Nicley overshot the goal. The 1-0 score stood at the half.

Russell made it a 2-0 game when she fired a shot from 25 yards, which Lormin couldn't control, and the ball trickled across the goal line. Flowers' first goal, which gave the Observer a 3-0 lead, was the result of some nifty teammwork. Churchill's Dorene Dudel passed to Ruggiero, who in turn fed Flowers with a short cross-field pass. The pre-game buildup drew an anal-

A who's who of state amateur bockey will be on display this summer at the Plymouth Cultural Center in the second annual Midwest Summer Hockey League.

Though it is in just its second year, don't underestimate the talent in this eight-team league. Assembled are many of the best players in the state culled from the midget, prep, junior and college ranks.

"We had 60 applicants we had to turn down," said Lou Issel, an assistant coach on the Wolverine team by night and a partner in Jay Marketing Associates of Plymouth by day.

One player, Tony Nillson, has even come from as far away as Glimakra, Sweden, to play in the program, and there is another, Gordie MacDougall, from Scotland.

"Tony's not very big and he was worried about playing well," said Issel, who is boarding Nillson for the summer. "So what does he do in his first game? He scores two goals."

THE OTHER players may not come from such exotic locations as Sweden, hockey but there backgrounds are no less im-

Among the college players repre-sented are Mike Donnelly, Rick Fernandez, Dave Chiappelli and Jeff Eisley of Michigan State; Mike Neff, Jim McCauley, Paul Kobylarz, Greg Hudas. Tom Dolan and Steve Norton of the University of Michigan; Tom Viggiano of Kent State; and Frank Damico. Judd Green and Dennis Garbarz of Ferris

"The main goal of the program is to promote college hockey," said Issel. That, and college scholarships for the talented juniors and prep stars in the

Some local kids who will be hoping to attract the college scouts in attendance at the games will be Keith Walk of Livonia Churchill, John Smith of the Plymouth Royals, John Moore of the Livonia Knights, Phil Bryant of Livonia Stevenson, Matt Wilhanen of Livonia Churchill, Craig Eisley of the Plymouth Royals, Dan Phelps of Livonia Franklin, Todd Beyer of the Plymouth Royals, Dave Lerg of the Redford Royals, Eric Socia of Catholic Central and Bill Trisch of the Redford Royals.

Serving as a particularly impressive role model for them will be Rich Kromm, who played in the league last year, then went on to play for Calgary in the National Hockey League.

This year, Kromm will serve as an assistant coach of the Wildcats team. Playing for him will be his older brother, Dave. They are the sons of Bobby Kromm, the National Hockey League's coach of the year when the Detroit Red Wings made the playoffs in ANOTHER MAJOR success from last year involved most of the Ann Arbor Pioneer High School team. Twelve of them played in the summer league last year, and Pioneer later went on to win the state Class A championship.

The teams play a 13-game schedule, which began last week and which ends Aug. 8. Games are Sunday through Thursday evenings at the Cultural Center. There will be a $1 admission charge for all games, with the proceeds going to the Special Olympics in Wayne

The cost for the summer session per player is $75, "which is not-quite break even," according to Issel. The difference is made up by selling advertising in programs and holding 50-50 raffles.

The league has strict rules against rowdy play. Players are disqualified from the league for fighting, spearing and butt-ending, and they are given five-minute penalties instead of the normal two minutes for such offenses as roughing, high sticking, slashing, charging and boarding.

Games are 90 minutes of stop-action shortstop, headed for the University of Detroit, is on the first team for the second consecutive year.

As a senior. Krol batted .407 with 35 hits and 24 RBI.

Careerwise, Krol hit over .400 and collected eight homers in three years of varsity ball. He also played on three district and two league championship teams.

"Paul is a good contact hitter good wrists - who stings the ball," said GC coach Bob Dropp. "He was very instrumental in the success of Garden City baseball for the past three years.

Bob Foust, Livonia Churchill: Hitting was Foust's forte.

The senior shortstop batted .370 this year with 27 hits, three homers and 16 RBI. He also scored 19 runs.

Foust, a three-year starter, sported a career batting average of .379. "Bob was a real field leader." said Herb Osterland, whose team won the Westen Lakes Conference this year.

Brian Porter, Livonia Stevenson Porter was Stevenson's top pitcher, but he could also hit.

The senior, who also played shortstop and third, batted .369 with 24 hits in 65 at-bats. His pitching record was 6-2 with a 1.36 ERA and 48 strikeouts in 39 innings pitched.

"Brian played every inning of every game," said Stevenson coach Jim George. "He's a very coachable young man. Brian was a great person and athlete for our underclassmen to emulate." Porter, hurt all of last season, has accepted a baseball scholarship to Eastern Michigan.

OUTFIELDERS

Tim DeMarco, Redford Thurston: The 6-foot, 210-pound DeMarco was Thurston's power source.

Batting left-handed, the senior center fielder posted a .377 average with 29 hits, 24 RBI and five homers. He also scored 17 runs and collected eight other extra base hits.

Size wasn't a problem for DeMarco defensively. He covered his position in a Dave Winfield-like manner en route to All-NSL honors. "Tim had great power and excellent speed for a big man," said Majeski of the two-year starter.

Mike Cindrich, Plymouth Salem: Like Krol, Cindrich is making his second straight appearance on the first starter, Cindrich batted .470 this season with 31 hits, two homers and 17 RBI. He led the Rocks in seven offensive categories. Was the team's MVP and was first team All-Western Lakes and All-

"Mike has a major college bat and major college speed," said Salem coach John Gravlin. "He struck out only three times." Cindrich is considering Central Michigan or U-D, according to Grav-

He was second on the team in RBI with 22 and collected 43 hits, seven of which were doubles.

SECOND TEAM

Pitchers: Greg Somerville, Redford Thurston; Mike Roffi, Garden City. Catcher: Scott Anderson, Plymouth

First base: Mike Harte, Redford

Infielders: Don Taylor, Redford Union, Cass Simpson, Westland John Glenn; Kevin Diaz, Redford Bishop Borgess.

Outfielders: Jim Dillon, Plymouth Canton; Bob Wasczenski, Farmington Harrison; Dave DeMay, Livonia

DON'T DIE EMBARRASSMENT.

It starts quite innocently: you convince yourself the symptoms aren't serious. So if you sought medical help you'd just look foolish. And later it's too late.

Each year 350,000 Americans die from heart attacks before reaching the hospital. Often after a deadly, unnecessary delay. In fact, the average victim waits over three hours before consulting a doctor. Because he doesn't realize what his symptoms mean. And he doesn't want to seem silly.

Please, learn the warning signals of a heart attack. And, if you experience any of them, get help. Call a paramedic at once. Or, if you can get to an emergency room faster another way, do so. Without a second thought.

After all, saving face means nothing compared to saving your life.

WARNING SIGNALS OF A HEART ATTACK

- 1. An uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest behind the breastbone.
- 2. The sensation may spread to your shoulders, neck or arms. If it lasts for two minutes or more, you could be having a heart attack.
- 2. Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath may also occur, but are not always present.

Sylvester Stallone is Nick, a New York cab driver, and Dolly Parton is country singer Jake, who wants to turn him into a country singer, too, in "Rhinestone."

the movies

Greenberg

'Rhinestone' teams wacky comedy duo Parton and Stallone

Sylvester Stallone and Dolly Parton together in a film? Ridiculous, right? Wrong! "Rhinestone," co-starring that unlikely couple, is one of the funniest movies around, and whoever thought up the idea deserves a special award.

Dolly plays (what else?) a county singer, Jake Ferris, who is a big hit in front of a tough crowd at the Rhinestone, a countrywestern saloon in New York City.

The problem is that the Rhinestone's lecherous owner-manager Freddie Ugo, hilariously caricatured by Ron Leibman, holds a three-year contract on Dolly's services. His electroncially controlled bachelor pad has everything except girls. Dolly wants her contract and Freddie wants Dolly.

The solution is a really big bet. The stakes: Dolly puts up a fiveyear contract extension with extracurricular time in Freddie's pad while Freddie agrees to surrender her contract and pay all expenses if she can "turn anybody into a country-western singer in

THE SEARCH for a candidate is on, and guess what crazy Italian cab driver just happens to pull up? Nick Martinelli (Stallone) has just wrecked his cab and is looking for new opportunities.

Reluctantly Nick agrees to the two-week training period, which includes hilarious sequences in his home as well as hers. Papa Martinelli (Steven Apostle Pec) is a very Italian funeral director. Mother Martinelli (Penny Santon) is thick with tomato sauce, oregano and maternal concern. These stereotypical portraits are warmly drawn, with none of the bitterness that often accompanies ethnic film characters.

Pec and Santon's acting and Bob Clark's direction help us laugh with Mother and Father Martinelli, both so set in their ways.

Similarly, the Ferris family's down-home ways in Tennessee -week transfe and pleasant, with no malice and lots of laughs. Her father, Noah (Richard Farnsworth), is pleasant, low-keyed and never loses the understanding twinkle in his eye.

Dolly's ex-fiance and singing partner Barnett Cole (Tim Thomerson) can do no right, but he keeps on trying.

With such an excellent supporting cast, who needs good leads? But "Rhinestone" has them. Dolly is Dolly and what more can be said? Attractive, warm, personable, a big smile that communciates the fun she's having - all that and a terrific voice with a great deal of power. The film's one technical fault is that Stallone cannot sing, and Parton's voice overwhelms him in their duets. But the whole idea is so funny and everything else is so well done that it doesn't

ALTHOUGH STALLONE will never make it at the Met or the Grand Old Opry, he sure can act, as he demonstrates in "Rhinestone." Long accused as incapable of anything more than the Brando mumble, Stallone emerges here as a proficient actor.

True, the character, a New York cabbie, lends itself to the sturred mumble and Stalione uses that technique, but his wide range of facial expressions and body movements add great dimension to a loser from the city about to become a hero in the country

The unlikely but very funny story of Nick the Cabbie and Jake the Singer was written by Phil Alden Robinson, who co-authored "Rhinestone's" screenplay with Sylvester Stallone. The only com-plaint is that they wrote so many funny lines audience laughter obliterated numerous jokes. All screenwriters should have such

San Luis Obispo has good wines

Mention the name San Luis Obispo to the typical tourist or California native for that matter and the most probable association will be the Madonna Inn.

Certainly that gaudy, opulent, esoteric hostelry represents something that is very real in the central California region: a curious mixture of southern California hype and garishness and a middle American dream of elegance, charm and originality.

But there is much more that can and should be associated with this region. For our purposes it is a rapidly growing (both in esteem and volume) wine region, one of complex microclimates and diversified wineries.

There is the cool region south of the capital city, the Edna Valley, supplier to much of California for chardonnay and pinot noir grapes. There is also, farther north, a land of some of the finest zinfandel wines to be made in California, and it has been since the beginnings of the century.

GREAT VARIANCE in wineries ranges between the select Edna Valley Vineyard and the rapidly growing and nationally distributed Estella River Winery to the prestigious Mastantuono Winery and old-time establishments like Las Tablas Winery, Pesenti Winery and York Mountain Winery.

In between these extremes are some middle-ground places, most of them very new and some of them now producing wines of estimable distinction.

A selective day's tour can illustrate this nicely.

The Caparone Winery, run almost alone by Dave Caparone, is in a remarkably isolated region of low mountains and lovely terrain north of Paso Robles. Caparone is growing and producing excellent issues of merlot and cabernet sauvignon and is one of two area winemakers trying his hand at

His '81 merlot is a superbly warm, lush, full wine, one worth the drive to find. Its companion cabernet sauvignon, while pleasant, is not as distinc-

Southeast of San Miguel, the Bergstroms produce chardonnay, zin-fandel, cabernet sauvignon and some petite sirah at their Ranchita Oaks Winery. Unlike most of the small producers in this area, they are open without appointment on weekends for informal tours and tastings.

JUST EAST of Paso Robles is the exciting enterprise of the Martin Brothers. Its attractive label carries such issues as chardonnay, sauvignon blanc, chenin blanc and zinfandel and it will soon release California's first nebbiolo.

Sampled recently, the nebbiolo was an immensely approachable wine, full of good earthy flavors. It is not, to me, reminiscent of Italian issues of this grape, many of them being austere and overly made. A real find!

I also was very pleased with the Martin Brothers '81 zinfandel, full of lovely fruit, and with a complex, yet clean '82 sauvignon blanc. The '82 chenin blanc is extremely dry with only hints of fruit. :

To the west of Highway 101 on Willow Creek Road, a region that is home to many grapes and wines, is the jewel of the area — Mastantuono Winery. Pat Mastan makes some of the finest zinfandels south of Ridge and is now branching into the making of some whites as well.

Good as his issues are, one wonders about the $20 pricetag for a special issue of zinfandel he now has.

AROUND PASO Robles there are the two modest giants of the area, Estrella and HMR. HMR has been on hard times for a while and is now under new ownership. What the impact of that will be can only be answered in time, but HMR has stood long for high-quality wines at very fair prices.

The Eberles out at Estrella are an ambitious group, providing sound wines, some superior, and marketing them all. (Had Stanely Hoffman had the Eberles' marketing expertise he would still be treating wines rather than patients today.)

To the south of San Luis, in a dramatically cool and isolated region of Tehachapi Mountain foothills, Edna Valley produces large amounts of burgundian grapes for its own use as well as its affiliate Chalone and other wineries as well.

Its wines are made in a manner not unlike Chalone's, though the intensity may not be there as yet, but the French-worship abounds in its production and description of goals. Chamisal, below Chalone, is now expanding its varietals and is no longer associated only with chardonnay.

There are others, most hard to find and not yet ready to accommodate visitors. Perhaps most puzzling of all is Lawrence, one of the most promoted and self-aggrandized wineries in the state, a huge facility hidden in the hills and almost totally unmarked by sign or advertisement of any kind. The usual reward for finding a winery, a friendly glass of wine, was clearly not a fair payoff in this case.

Back to the Madonna for abalone. chardonnay, delightful hospitality and one of the strangest places to wake up in you'll ever have. Well worth the fun
