City, police union agree to pact talks

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

The city of Plymouth and the Plymouth Police Officers Association (PPOA) finally have decided to reopen negotiations on the third year of the contract between the two parties.

According to Ron Acho, labor attorney for the city of Plymouth, the dates set for renegotiation are Sept. 5 and Sept. 11.

The PPOA has agreed to the reopening of contract talks, although its president (Mike Gardner) had previously insisted the union would not accept wage cuts.

Until the meeting dates were set, it appeared as though the police union might be unwilling to renegotiate its contract with the city.

Gardner said the union had gone along with a wage freeze for 1984-85, the last year of the contract, but would not be willing to accept a rollback in wages which is the city's apparent objective in reopening talks.

The city of Plymouth-PPOA contract contains a reopening clause that allows either party to reopen bargaining talks.

However, the PPOA had indicated it was not interested in getting back into the bargaining act, especially if it involved wage cutbacks. On the contrary, Gardner indicated the union might seek wage increases if talks were reopened rather than settle for wage concessions.

THE CITY and the PPOA tentatively had set aside Aug. 15 for a meeting but that date was changed, according to Acho. The two parties are legally required to reopen bargaining within 60 days of the reopening date which was July 1, 1984. The 60-day rule generally is not enforced, however.

"This is a wage reopener," said Acho, leaving no doubt as to the purpose of the newly scheduled talks. "We will be seeking some concessions. But frequently, as is the case with these kinds of negotiations, they are subject to whatever we agree to get into."

Gardner had claimed that Plymouth Police did not receive wage increases under the existing contract. "But they did receive a wage increase. Those increases were built into the contract," said Acho.

Gardner has stated that officers are required to handle increased workloads and the department is undermanned.

Gardner and Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper disagree on workloads, however. Graper has said that not all officers are putting forth their best effort. Graper also has maintained that Plymouth police are among the best paid in the county.

Acho said that, in the past, the union had understood the city's financial position and had been cooperative. "We've had a good, open relationship," said Acho.

That relationship, however, has been strained in recent weeks with charges by Graper that Gardner had been interfering with matters outside Gardner's authority.

DURING A recent Plymouth City Commission meeting, Graper accused Gardner of interfering with the contract relationship established between the city of Plymouth and the township of Plymouth.

The township pays the city $467,000 a year for police protection. Although the township has a police chief, the chief (Carl Berry) has maintained that he merely administers the contract between the two communities.

Gardner, however, said Berry is in reality the chief of police for both communities, a remark that may have led to the resignation of Plymouth Police Chief Ralph White.

White's official stated reason for resigning was stress, but Gardner claimed the city manager forced White's resignation.

White's resignation, coupled with the fact that Plymouth has an acting, rather than a permanent, fire chief, provides the city with an opportunity to form a public safety department.

As organized in other communities, public safety departments combine the police and fire departments in a single department, under the supervision of a director of public safety.

Acho said the union probably would agree to the implementation of a public safety department. Earlier, Graper had indicated that the city's contract with the township most likely would allow the city to organize such a department.

Groundwork for the public service set-up has been laid by the city, in previous feasibility studies.

Graper also has mentioned the possibility of renegotiating other items, such as health insurance.

The current contract expires June 30, 1985.

'Word of Honor' returns to TV

"Word of Honor," the made-for-TV movie filmed in Plymouth four years ago, will be shown a second time on CBS in August.

The movie contains several scenes of a beauty pageant shot on location in Kellogg Park, a police search through Hines Park, Plymouth Police squad cars on the downtown streets, a scene of Karl Malden inside First Federal, and other downtown views.

Some scenes were filmed in the newsroom of the Royal Oak Tribune and scenes also were taken in West Bloomfield or Bloomfield Township. Originally, the producers approached Birmingham to film the movie there. When Birmingham declined, Plymouth issued a special invitation to film "Word of Honor" here and the invitation was accepted.

THE MOVIE is about a murder in a small town and about a journalist who obtains information the police desire but refuses to disclose his source because he gave his word. The issue of disclosure vs. a journalist's word of honor is a continuing theme in the movie.

A number of residents in 1980 spent a Saturday afternoon standing by to be filmed as "extras" in the film, providing real people for crowd shots and spectators for the beauty pageant.

The film has not been shown since its initial viewing on CBS four years ago. Now the movie will be reshown at 9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 15, on CBS.

To help celebrate the showing, the Observer Newspapers and Mayflower Hotel are sponsoring "The Second Premiere" of "Word of Honor" and the long awaited cast reunion.

After the movie was filmed here in 1980, an attempt was made to have a sneak preview showing in Plymouth and invite local cast members to a special premiere party. That party never came about, and so the Mayflower and Observer are pleased to sponsor the premiere party which never was.

Steps are being taken now to invite local cast members, such as beauty queen contestants Bonnie Knaeus of Canton and April Richeson of Plymouth or those with special "cameo" appearances such as Jim White, branch manager of First Federal Savings and Loan in Plymouth.

The "Second Premiere" will begin with a cocktail hour at 7:30 p.m. in the Mayflower Meeting House followed by a short program preceding the showing of the movie. Large TV screens will be used so party-goers can get a good view of local scenes and faces. Munchies will be served.

TICKETS AT $5 each will go on sale at the Observer office at 489 S. Main, Plymouth, or in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel. Tickets are limited and will be sold on a first-come first-served basis. Besides being staged just to have a good time, the "Second Premiere" also is a benefit to raise funds for a scholarship to journalism students at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

"We really enjoyed filming the movie in Plymouth and it's great you are having a party for the second showing," said Chev Kevorkian, associate producer and a native of Lathrup Village who returned to Plymouth for the filming. "If I can't be there to watch the movie with you all."

Susan Clark was the executive producer while producers were Alex Karas and John Dutton. The cast behind Malden included Rue McLanahan, Ron Silver, Largo Woodruff, Alexa Kenin, Jacqueline Brookes, Jeff DeMunn, Henderson Forsythe, and John Marley, Tom Mahard, and Evelyn Orbach.

The filming of "Word of Honor" was an event in Plymouth the summer of 1980," said Emory Daniels, editor of the Plymouth Observer. "It created so much excitement and fun in town at the time that we think there still might be some excitement left simmering beneath the surface."

"The second showing is a good occasion to revive some of the fun and enthusiasm we all shared then by having a 'Second Premiere' party. By mid-August, anyone in Plymouth who isn't out of town on vacation may be looking for a little excitement so the second showing is coming at a good time."

Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel, hopes all cast members make a special effort to join the party. "We will try and get in touch with as many cast members as we can, but we'll miss some. In fact, it would be fun if everybody who had anything to do with the movie could be at the party."

Lorenz urges people who were in the movie, including cameo appearances, to contact him or the Observer to register their name and role. "But even if you were just part of a crowd in the movie, come on out and have a good time with all of us."

"The city had hoped to have a party with a special showing of the movie before it was first shown," added Lorenz. "That never came off, so this is like the party that never was — the Second Premiere to make up for not having a First Premiere Party."

Further details will be announced soon.

Candidate disputes crackdown on township's sign measure

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

If a Plymouth Township candidate for the Board of Trustees expected to surprise officials when he called the sign ordinance unconstitutional, he may be surprised to find that they agree with him.

James D. Irvine, an attorney, sent a letter to Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, not only questioning the constitutionality of the ordinance, but also the integrity of several township officials, including the police chief, the supervisor and at least one trustee.

The letter, dated July 23, accused Breen of political favoritism. It alleges that the supervisor has been reluctant to enforce the ordinance against Trustee Barbara Lynch, who is running for treasurer, but has showing too much zeal in upholding the ordinance, when other candidates, presumably not favored by Breen, are involved.

Irvine, in his letter, claimed Township Police Chief Carl Berry had been "harassing" Deputy Treasurer Mary Brooks, who is running for the office of township treasurer against Lynch. Irvine is one of Brooks' campaign managers.

DURING the July 24 board meeting, Robert E. Childs, an attorney speaking for Irvine, said a man in a white Cadillac had been setting up signs for Lynch close to the right of way, in violation of the sign ordinance.

Childs said township officials had been "picking and choosing" the signs they wanted up or down. "This business of pick and choose does not go. We are ready to do something about it," said Childs. "We prefer not to."

Irvine has threatened to submit the matter to the United States Circuit Court if his own signs were removed. He claimed to have had the permission of the property owner at the northwest corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty Road.

Breen said he had been contacted several weeks ago by Irvine who claimed the sign ordinance was invalid. "As to picking and choosing, I don't know what you are talking about," Breen told Childs during the board meeting.

"Getting the signs off the right of way and charging the $5 fee are the only forms of enforcement," he said. "There has been no concerted effort to destroy signs, just to place them back on private property. We don't play dirty politics in terms of signs. If Irvine doesn't like the ordinance, he can attack it. The sign ordinance will be enforced," said Breen.

"The facts are that some of the signs have been left on the right of way, and others have not," said Childs.

BREEN SAID there had been "fair and even enforcement" of the ordinance. Lynch said she had been notified by the Township Building Department to remove her signs.

"No one is picking on Irvine's candidate . . . We do not encourage signs, but (we) want them down after the election," said Breen. "I wanted the opportunity to say that nobody out there has been tearing down signs. I only ask that we play by the same rules. I brought the matter up now, otherwise, the election would have been over."

Childs insisted, "I have seen the picking and choosing myself. Some signs have been picked up and taken off, and other signs have been left on the right of way."

Trustee Andrew R. Pruner said he had picked up two of Lynch's signs, placing them off the right of way, onto private property.

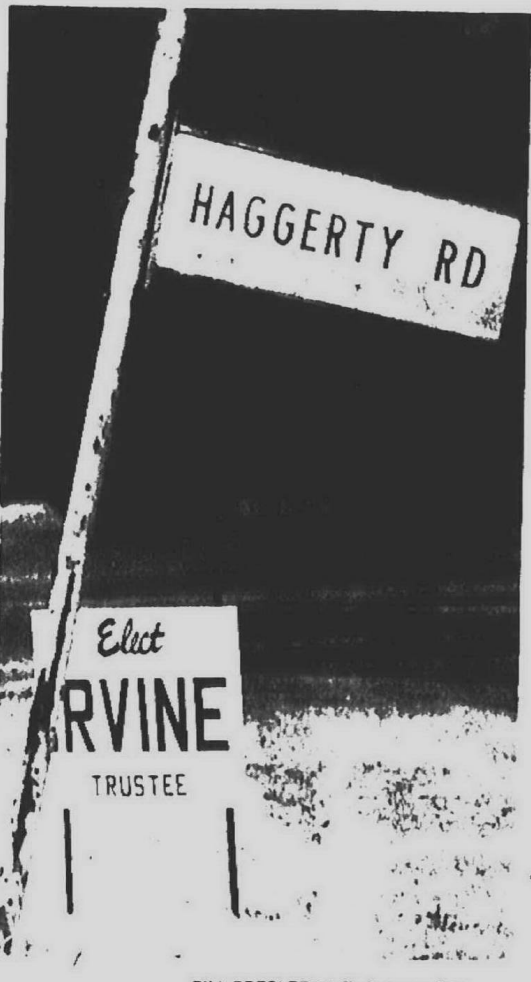

Township Clerk Esther Hulsing said she wanted to forbid the posting of all signs.

Trustee Lee Fidge asked that the township attorney review the ordinance to determine if parts of it are unconstitutional.

C. Brian James, who represented Township Attorney Charles Bokos during the meeting, agreed that the ordinance may not be "state of the art," as sign ordinances go.

"It would be best to get an advisory opinion rather than a lawsuit," said Fidge.

Childs said he thought Irvine might be willing to drop the matter, if the township agreed to drop the $5 fee required to post a sign and the setback requirement only banned signs between the sidewalk and curb.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Jim Irvine placed this sign near the roadway of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty as a direct challenge to Plymouth Township's sign ordinance.

By placing signs near the roadway south of Joy these candidates escape the restrictions of Plymouth Township's sign ordinance and fall under the regulations of Canton Township. These signs belong to Mary Brooks, candidate for Plymouth Township treasurer, and Elaine Tuttle, candidate for Wayne County Commissioner in the 10th District, which does not include Canton.

Judge hopefuls discuss dealing with drunk drivers

More than 100 voters heard 25 local candidates field questions during a League of Women Voters candidates' forum Wednesday night at Canton Township Hall.

In attendance were six hopefuls in the race for 35th District judge — a vacancy being created by the imminent retirement of Judge Dunbar Davis. Candidates include: Alan Davis, 32; Stephen B. Foley, 33; Robert E. Greenstein, 46; Jacqueline George, 39; John E. MacDonald, 49; and Bruce C. Patterson, 37. Biographies and statements in response to an LWV questionnaire appeared July 16 in the Observer.

GREENSTEIN views his greatest strength his background which includes 23 years practicing law and stints as Canton Township supervisor, trustee, police chief, chief probation officer and justice of the peace. In the 1970s, Greenstein fought for farmland preservation.

"I don't want to use the office of district judge as a springboard for future ambitions," he said. "I don't ever want to be a circuit or appellate court judge."

PATTERSON, who attended Plymouth-Canton schools and Wayne State University and has lived in Canton since 1976, practices with a Detroit law firm specializing in general practice and trial work.

"I believe I have something to bring to the district court. I have had exposure to and specific experience at the district court level," said Patterson.

Admitted to the bar in 1972, Patterson said he has some ideas he'd like to bring to fruition in the 35th District Court that would compensate for the experience Judge Davis currently lends to the court.

MacDONALD, supervisor of Northville Township and a "dues-paying member of the League of Women Voters," said he believes judges should all have integrity and operate under set-up guidelines. As district judge he would hear courteously, consider seriously and decide impartially, he said. Married for 26 years, MacDonald has three children. He was the only hopeful to earn the top rating — "preferred and well-qualified" — by Civic Searchlight, a candidate rating service.

GEORGE, a 1976 graduate of Cooley Law School, said she believes she possesses the patience, intelligence, temperament and integrity a judge requires.

"I will bring sensitivity and concern for the community to the bench if elected," she said.

Educated at Rosary High School, the University of Detroit, Wayne State University and Cooley, George has general and civil legal experience, having tried cases in Recorder's, Circuit and Traffic courts. George, also a dental hygienist, said hard work and trust in God are her hallmarks.

FOLEY, a 10-year resident of Canton and a director of his homeowner's association, said experience as assistant township attorney for Redford Township and with the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office lends him the background needed to serve as district judge.

Educated at Catholic Central High School, Eastern Michigan University and the Detroit College of Law, Foley said he has experience in dealing with police and in prosecuting district court cases and felonies. He has tried medical malpractice, products liability, automobile negligence and workers' compensation cases.

"I believe I do possess the needed background and look forward to representing all of you on the bench if elected," he said.

DAVIS, a graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, has experience as a trial attorney having handled personal injury, medical and legal malpractice cases in district and other courts.

A Canton resident, Davis has two small children.

He pledged to work hard if elected. "A district judge is not elected to hold a position. This is a job. The person you elect should show up and work to prevent backlogs. That's why I will work."

ASKED WHAT factors they would examine in sentencing in a drunk drivers, responses were as follows:

Davis: "I would have to consider the repetitiveness of the offense."

"A person who is a repeat offender should receive a more serious sentence than a first-time offender."

Background, age, and criminal background also should be examined, he said. Important is the fact that the court's action will be influencing the rest of the population, added Davis.

Foley: Ideally all drunk drivers should be kept off the roads. Each, however, has specific problems that require attention.

"I would seek a way to best temper his problems and determine whether the person was a problem drinker or whether this was an isolated event," said Foley.

For the first offender in an accident involving no injuries, teaching him that he made a mistake and mandating participation in either an alcohol awareness program or work program — would be advisable, he said.

"Everyone can make a mistake. But when a driver is endangering lives, it's time to crack down," added Foley.

George: "A judge must consider all the circumstances involved. I would look at whether this was a first offense; whether the person was driving at a low rate of speed or driving recklessly. For the repeat offender, the maximum penalty should be considered.

"If there's not a serious problem with substance abuse, that should be reflected."

MacDonald: While groups like Mothers Against Drunk Driving advocate jailing drunk drivers and throwing the key away, that's impractical because jail space is limited.

How we rehabilitate problem drinkers is the question, added MacDonald. The problem should be identified, the individual screened, and repeat offenders put away in jail, he said.

Patterson stressed the importance of recognizing the many recourses open to the court: fines, jail sentences, license revocation, screening by the probation department and community service.

"I would consider whether the driver is a minor, whether he has a drinking problem, whether there was property damage or injury, or mitigating factors involved."

Greenstein said the complete problem has to be considered in the drunk driving case. To say exactly how he would sentence someone would be a violation of the judicial canons of ethics. However, work programs could be used much more than they have been in the past, said Greenstein.

LWV Township Voters Guide

The following voters guide on candidates for Plymouth Township offices has been prepared by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi.

The guide is offered by the LWV as a voter service to inform residents about candidates for clerk, treasurer and trustee. Previously the Observer has printed voter guides prepared by the league for candidates seeking district judge in the 35th District and for county commission in the 10th District.

(The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose main purpose is to encourage voter participation in government. One of its methods is to inform residents about candidates seeking public office and to encourage them to vote in elections. The League does not support or oppose candidates for office but will, at times, take positions on ballot issues.)

Following is biographical information of candidates for Plymouth Township Board of Trustees, Treasurer and Clerk. Elsewhere on this page are questions asked by the league and the candidates' answers. The candidates' answers are not edited but printed exactly as given. The league instructed candidates that the total of all answers should not exceed a 300-word maximum and so an answer will be cut off in the middle of a sentence when that limit is reached.

Treasurer

Q. In what direction do you think Plymouth Township should move in the area of economic development? What qualifications do you have that would aid the township in implementing your suggestions?

Raymond A. Maycock: "I would proceed, orderly, to expand the tax base. I would attempt to lure environmentally sound and financially strong industries."

"I believe my background as a C.P.A. would qualify me eminently to evaluate the cost-benefit factors associated with property tax abatements and other financial inducements as an enticement for attracting industrial relocations."

Barbara J. Lynch: "The Township is encouraging economic development through the use of tax abatements. We have recently adopted an Economic Development Corporation which provides developers a means of financing commercial and industrial projects."

Mary A. Brooks: "Economic development is always a difficult item to define. Plymouth Township should be a Community of homes and people, especially families. Presently, we have enough industrial and commercial sites for industries to select from."

Q. In what ways should county, state and federal funds be used at the local level in Plymouth Township?

Brooks: "The Plymouth Township Board should listen to the residents who have a suggestion for Federal Revenue Sharing. Decide what project would help the most people - come to an agreement and then proceed. State sharing goes into the General Fund and is used for operating."

Lynch: "Funds provided by other governmental agencies should be used for general operations."

Q. Would you make any changes in the way the Township of Plymouth currently provides police protection?

Lynch: "The Township has a unique and cost-effective method of providing police service. The City provides police services under contract. The sheriff handles accidents on secondary roads, and the State covers the expressways. To supplement this, we utilize volunteers as Community Service Officers. P.A.C.T. and R.E.A.C.T. volunteers are also available. This combination of services has worked very well for the Township. Other alternatives are costly and could only be provided through increased millage."

Brooks: "The police service in Plymouth Township is there when you call the department. I would hope, that someday the police would do more patrolling in our subdivisions and the out area."

Maycock: "I believe in providing residents with the best police protection available consistent with the economic circumstances. If residents would be best served from a protective and financial point of view by the establishment of our own department, I would be in favor of that move."

Q. Would you expect to see changes in Plymouth Township's fire department?

Brooks: "Change is good if it is a better change to help our residents. Changes hopefully represents progress. As the need arises for more equipment and personnel, then it will be necessary to provide the fire department with the necessary man power and the tools to help the residents in the time of an emergency."

Lynch: "Plymouth Township's Fire Department has a reputation for providing excellent service with an acceptable response time. Any expansion in this area should be submitted to a vote by the residents as it would require additional millage."

Maycock: "Because of residential development in the western portion of the township, I view as very critical the establishment of a manned fire station to serve residents in that area."

Q. How would you provide for emergency medical services?

Lynch: "Emergency Medical Service is being provided by the Fire Department. Firefighters are trained E.M.T.s, and must be periodically recertified. Again, they provide an excellent service with an acceptable response time."

Maycock: "I do not think the township should enter into the emergency medical service business because of the potential liability exposure. I do believe that the emergency medical technician and transport services currently provided by our fire department is adequate. In the future, should a private emergency medical service prove it can provide a superior service to our residents, I would be willing to entertain the use of our residents as guinea pigs for an unproven emergency medical service for the sake of budgetary considerations."

Brooks: "I would continue with our EMS service, update their equipment, give specialized training when new techniques are developed."

Q. Do you consider the recreational facilities in Plymouth Township to be adequate? Discuss.

Lynch: "The Township has prudently invested in recreational lands over the years, and has a beautiful Township park and an eighteen hole golf course. Also, we have acquired vacant property which is maintained for small parks and free use by the residents. Revenue from the golf course supports our park staff which maintains all Township parks and grounds."

Brooks: "YES! The Plymouth Township Park is a beautiful spot and the every day use of it speak for itself. However with the Township growing there will always be room for improvement."

Maycock: "I believe the township has a beautiful recreation complex in its park. I am for the proposed expansion of the park through the acquisition of the additional seven-acre contiguous acres with or without state funding because the land available for park use within the township is very limited."

Trustee

Q. In what direction do you think Plymouth Township should move in the area of economic development? What qualifications do you have that would aid the Township in implementing your suggestions?

Albert Callile: "Plymouth Township should encourage economic development that is beneficial to its tax base, and aesthetically compatible with a residential community. Examples include retail, service and financial businesses; light industry; and office buildings. The industrial park on Five Mile should be promoted."

"Decisions regarding economic development require that a trustee a) scrutinize relevant facts, b) review reasonable alternatives, c) assess costs, and d) achieve a result in the Township's best interests. My position as an attorney for a major corporation requires everyday use of this same decision making process. This experience combined with my commitment to making Plymouth Township a better place to live and work will ensure that my suggestions for economic development will be implemented."

Dennis B. Campbell: "Less retail, more commercial/industrial, to provide more local jobs and prevent 'bedroom community' atmosphere. My qualifications center on my enthusiasm, knowledge of areas as a lifetime resident, and common sense."

Smith Horton: "My objective is to preserve Plymouth Township as an aesthetically pleasing community while at the same time achieving a balance of non-residential land uses to provide employment opportunities, recreational area, shopping and office facilities to serve the needs of all residents. Thirteen years experience on the Planning Commission and an educational background in local government make me uniquely qualified to assist the Township in attaining these goals."

James D. Irvine: "Economic growth isn't 'directed' by anything the township can do. Plymouth is a good place to live, work and conduct business. If it stays that way, desirable economic development will follow."

Roger L. Kehrler: "The direction that I believe Plymouth Township should go as pertains to economic development would be the seeking of new non-offensive business's (i.e. computer software, warehousing activities, small manufacturing companies/business's) as opposed to such areas as foundries, noise producing business's and business's with a high failure of risk. My qualifications are a sound business background tempered by common sense."

Abe A. Mumfakh: "Plymouth Township should move to attract clean, high-tech industries. But, this effort should not be made at the expense of homeowners. We should take advantage of our geographical location between Ann Arbor, Detroit and the airport to encourage economic development to increase our tax base, thus providing tax relief to our homeowners."

"We should take advantage of legislation already in place for this purpose;

James Irvine

such as, the Industrial Redevelopment Act (P.A. 198 of 1974) and forming a Township Economic Development Corporation to take advantage of low interest bonds for industries."

"I can aid the Township in achieving this objective with my business experience in this field and also my Planning Commission experience. As a co-owner of an engineering-planning firm, I have personally, and successfully, advised many communities in Michigan on the matter of economic development."

Patrick O'Hara: "As a Realtor concerned about stability of Tax Base, I feel, Plymouth Township should continue to strive for a good balance of residential and Industrial/Commercial growth and utilize whatever resources other than taxes to achieve that goal; My Real Estate Background gives me the insight required to properly evaluate such land distributions."

we have not and should not use these funds for general operations."

Q. Would you make any changes in the way the Township of Plymouth currently provides police protection?

Clerk

Q. In what direction do you think Plymouth Township should move in the area of economic development? What qualifications do you have that would aid the Township in implementing your suggestions?

Fisher: "Through the labors of an effective zoning board and a conscientious planning commission, the economic development of Plymouth Township should go forward - replacing any lost industrial tax base on Plymouth Road. Ann Arbor Road can be watched and maintained."

Hulsing: "The Township should move to strengthen and diversify its commercial and light industry base using appropriate locations for them. Every effort should be made to entice business here and help it get established although not at the expense of proven businesses."

"I served on the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation for several years as representative from the Plymouth Township as well as being a charter member of the EDC of Plymouth Township established by Board action this spring."

election '84

Hulsing: "These funds should be used to be of service to the local residents as they now are, using the guidelines laid down for their expenditure or planning their use as it fits into the overall budget."

Fisher: "State and federal funds are usually earmarked for specific areas. Some help for senior citizen housing, programs, and transportation is needed. Safety programs cannot be ignored - personal as well as community safety. A program to place sidewalks should be started; not only as a safety feature but also as a form for encouraging physical fitness throughout our community. Accessibility to shopping areas, doctors, restaurants, etc. has always been a problem in the Plymouth community - this would be a step in the right direction."

"County funds should be used in maintaining our roads - repairing them, scraping them, and keeping the dust level down."

"It looks as if our problems with the Detroit Water Department will increase - the Out County Water Board representatives need to be forthright and may need financial assistance."

Q. Would you make any changes in the way the township of Plymouth currently provides police protection?

Hulsing: "Not currently. Constant evaluation should keep the Board knowledgeable about the strengths and shortcomings of the present method to determine if it still the most cost effective one."

Fisher: "Our Police protection should be coordinated - not divided as it seems to be at the moment - a police chief without a department and another department providing our police protection."

Q. Would you expect to see changes in Plymouth Township's fire department?

Fisher: "As I am not 'on the scene,' I am not able to comment on whether any changes should be made in the Township Fire Department. As far as I am aware, the combination of regulars and volunteers seems to be working."

Hulsing: "An additional fire station and more personnel will have to be provided as the Township growth spreads to the west. Contracted fire protection could be investigated and evaluated thoroughly before any attempt is made to 'sell' it to the public."

Q. How would you provide for emergency medical services?

Hulsing: "Current use of the firemen for EMS seems satisfactory altho some emergency procedures are not available but rarely necessary. The EMS in the City of Plymouth should be monitored to determine its value and cost effectiveness."

Fisher: "We are being surrounded by emergency services. The need that must be served is that of providing immediate response to a medical emergency which a well trained and equipped EMS can do."

Q. Do you consider the recreational facilities in Plymouth Township to be adequate? Discuss.

Fisher: "I feel we have made excellent strides in our recreational facilities; i.e. our township park - there are minor changes which could be made at our golf course - however, I feel"

Hulsing: "Recreational facilities in the Township are quite adequate it seems to me. Recreation should be looked at on a community-wide basis; the municipalities and schools supplementing rather than duplicating the efforts of each other, offering that recreation that is particularly suited to their abilities and resources. Interested volunteers do a great deal to enrich what is offered. Recreation should be tailored to meet specific needs. Our own park could use a water fountain and a few benches for mothers to overlook..."

Township trustee hopefuls answer LWV questions

Q: In what ways should county, state and federal funds be used at the local level in Plymouth Township?

Kehrier: "Federal, State and County funds in Plymouth Township should be utilized toward the goal of improving the quality of life for its residents primarily directed toward the provision of services and maintenance of a low residential tax rate/base."

Piercy: "County, State, and Federal funds received by the Township should only be used for special projects and capital improvements. Because these funds are not constant or dependable, they must not be used for general operations, such as maintaining the police and fire departments."

Pruner: "Funds received from federal and state governments should be used primarily for special projects, not general operating purposes or funding of essential services. These funds are not dependable and are subject to reductions over which the Township has no control."

O'Hara: "Plymouth Township should not utilize outside funds other rightfully due so as to avoid being dependent upon and or submissive to those outside influences that may come with said funds."

Irvine: "Grant program money should benefit the greatest number of people, not enhance developers' property in the hope of attracting new tax base. Instead of paving Helm street, I would pave McClumpha between Ann Arbor and Joy Roads. The hundreds of houses that use McClumpha would benefit directly. Everyone would indirectly benefit from reduced wear and tear on the school buses that must use McClumpha."

Munfakh: "I believe an excellent use of federal and state funds in Plymouth Township is through the Community Development Block Grant program to improve the Township's infrastructure and encourage economic development. I support the use of federal and state funds as long as there are not strings attached to them."

Callile: "State and federal funds (Township receives no county funds) should be used to augment other Township revenues to maintain or reduce property taxes. These funds are generally unrestricted and may be spent on any legitimate Township expense. They can and should be budgeted and used in the same manner as all other Township revenues. Bottom line is to keep taxes as low as possible consistent with efficient Township administration."

Horton: "Federal Block Grants should be used for capital improvements to benefit low and moderate income residents and to generate jobs. Examples include Friendship Station (the senior citizen's facility), paving of Helm Street and replacement of sewer mains in Green Meadows Subdivision."

Campbell: "Available Funds should be used in the following areas: A. Promotion and Advertising to promote and build pride in the area as a place to work and/or live;

"B. Increase communications ease to the homeowner, i.e. cable TV, Ombudsman, Newsletter.

"C. Provide police and fire support and equipment."

Q: Would you make any changes in the way the Township of Plymouth currently provides Police protection?

Piercy: "The Township currently utilizes an effective and prudent program which provides the residents with excellent service. The combined efforts of volunteers (involved in P.A.C.T., R.E.A.C.T., Neighborhood Watch, and the CSO program) supplement the police services we receive through our contract with the City. State police and County sheriffs are funded with residents' tax dollars, and should be utilized as well. Any additional police protection would require increasing the millage, a matter which would be decided by the voters."

Irvine: "Eliminate the position of Police Chief and volunteer Community Service Officers, and buy whatever police coverage the citizens need or want from the City or Sheriff. Auxiliary policeman should be auxiliary to a professional police department, which the township doesn't have."

tional law enforcement service provided by the Township would require additional millage, which can only be approved by the voters. We should continue to contract with established police departments in the Plymouth area to avoid overlapping, duplication of costs. I also think we should continue to work with and utilize the County Sheriff and State police to derive benefits from our State and County tax dollars."

Callile: "Until June, 1985, Plymouth Township is under contract with the City for police services. I support continued joint City - Township police protection, assuming continued cost effectiveness. Cooperation results in more efficient and less costly police protection for both municipalities. The best police protection at the least cost should be the goal."

Campbell: "I currently favor working with the City as long as it is economically feasible; I am comfortable with having an expert as part of our current Administration that gives us an alternative."

Horton: "Each year as the contract with the City of Plymouth comes up for renewal, the Township should evaluate all alternative possibilities such as a contract with the Wayne County Sheriff or establishment of a Township Police Department."

O'Hara: "No change would be recommended to existing services until such a time that ALL alternatives have been reviewed preceded by a study providing those alternatives. Any change would necessitate a long range cost/benefit to the whole community."

Kehrier: "The entire police protection issue needs a careful examination during the next few years. Based on my current knowledge, I feel from a viewpoint of 15 years law enforcement experience, that the township can obtain 'more protection' for its dollars. I would anticipate changes in the future."

Munfakh: "I am satisfied with the way the Township is providing police protection, through the City of Plymouth. However, I feel that we should continue to monitor the cost of this service. If a non-justified cost increase is proposed, then we should look for other options available to us."

Q: Would you expect to see changes in Plymouth Township's fire department?

Campbell: "My own experiences with fire and emergency services convince me that we have the best."

Callile: "Plymouth Township should continually review the effectiveness of its Fire Department. A third fire station has been proposed for western Plymouth Township, but funding has been and continues to be a major concern. Joint City-Township fire protection should be investigated to help control costs."

Pruner: "No major changes are anticipated - fire, emergency medical service, are cost efficient. Additional service would require additional taxes, which would be approved by the voters."

O'Hara: "Until a more extensive study of alternative cost/benefits having been reviewed I would not recommend change in the Fire Department."

Irvine: "The fire department probably will be manned with more full-time fireman and fewer volunteers as the community becomes more urban and less rural, and will cost more to operate. A fire station on the west side is at least as needed as a post township hall."

Piercy: "Plymouth Township's Fire Department is presently providing excellent service to residents. As with police protection, expansion in this department would be subject to consideration by the voters, as it would require an increased millage."

Horton: "The possibility of adopting a Public Service Officer concept, where officers are trained to perform both police and fire functions, is sometimes suggested. However, there is a real concern that this plan would water-down the level of skills in both disciplines with resulting loss of efficiency."

Kehrier: "Rather than changes in the township fire department, I would anticipate some modifications of present fire department policies in the immediate future."

Munfakh: "I do not foresee any changes in the operation of the Fire Department. I believe that the response time is less than 10 minutes, which is adequate."

Q: How would you provide for emergency medical services?

Pruner: "The Township currently operates its own emergency medical service. Our experience has been excellent in terms of cost, response time."

Horton: "The present method of providing emergency medical service through an EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) unit in the Fire Department appears to be satisfactory at this time. As the Township grows, other means of providing this service should be considered."

Irvine: "The fire department's emergency medical units do an excellent job. I would continue this service."

Campbell: "Again, I believe we have the best, for the economic expenditure. This is not to say better isn't available, but nothing is free."

Kehrier: "The issue of emergency medical services, from my own knowledge needs to be closely examined based on my lack of adequate background information. I do feel the area has more than adequate buildings (Oakwood, St. Joseph & Mary) and staff. The issue portion I need to study is the provision of emergency ambulance service (private -vs- the fire department)."

Callile: "Emergency medical service (EMS) is now provided through the Fire Department. I support this procedure. Efficient, readily available, and timely EMS is vitally important."

Piercy: "The Township's Emergency Medical Service is a function of the Fire Department, with firefighters certified as E.M.T.s. The costs are reasonable in light of the excellent service and response time."

Munfakh: "Presently, I will continue to provide emergency medical service through the Fire Department. However, I would like to monitor this service closely for possible cost savings through other arrangements, while continuing the same level of service."

O'Hara: "Emergency Medical Service should continue to be provided by the Fire Department until alternatives indicating a long term cost/benefits indicate otherwise."

Q: Do you consider the recreational facilities in Plymouth Township to be adequate? Discuss.

Kehrier: "With multiple years experience in the PCJFL and PCJBL I feel this area is presently inadequate in the recreational facilities area. Available fields are not maintained to an acceptable standard. This area can and should support a Little League baseball program. The services we provide our youth can influence future decisions as to their staying as future township residents and/or migrating to new areas denying the township of their"

Munfakh: "I believe the recreational"

Piercy: "Our centrally located park and golf course are owned (debt-free) by the Township, and are available to all residents. No recreational millage is necessary, as revenues from the golf course support the park staff. Any expansion in this area should be in terms of capital improvements - projects that do not involve ongoing maintenance costs, such as bike baths or tennis courts."

Campbell: "I would favor two tennis courts and two hand/racquet ball courts (outdoor) be added to the Township park. I also think the natural bowl shape of the pond would allow for an inexpensive stage to be placed there for outdoor concerts and events."

Irvine: "Recreational facilities seem adequate, because we get by with what we have, but inadequate, because of population growth and changing interests. I'm not aware of any citizen desire for more facilities, but would try to accommodate whatever a substantial percentage of the voters really want - and are willing to pay for."

Horton: "Based on feedback from residents, recreational facilities in the Township seem adequate. Land for the Township park, which was purchased years ago at a relatively low price, has proven to be a prudent acquisition and an excellent example of long-range planning for the community."

Pruner: "The Township owns, and maintains, debt free, one of the finest recreational facilities (park, golf course) in Western Wayne County. The Township does not have recreational millage, but relies on revenue from the golf course to support all recreational facilities and activities. In the future, we should attempt to expand our recreational facilities..."

O'Hara: "Yes - until a definite need as generated by Township Resident being apparent, I feel, existing recreation is more than adequate. In fact, the current facilities seem to be favoring only segments of the community as opposed to the whole. Any additional should be directed to the Total community benefit and not certain segments."

NEW YORK AIR INTRODUCES "NO IFS, ANDS, OR BUTS" FARES.

On most airlines, you can actually pay several different fares for the very same flight. The regular fare. Or a 7-day advance purchase fare. Or a 14-day advance purchase fare. And so on.

At New York Air, we think this fare game is confusing. And unfair.

That's why we're introducing our new, simple "No Ifs, Ands, Or Buts" fare policy.

Now, no matter when you call for a ticket, you'll pay one, simple fare: either Peak or Off Peak. With no restrictions. No fine print. No strings attached. And even though we're simplifying our fares, it doesn't mean you'll get less for your dollar. Fact is, you'll still get all the amenities New York Air is famous for.

Like our complimentary fresh breakfast snacks on weekday mornings. Along with a complimentary New York Times.

And complimentary mixed drinks, fine wines and real New York-style food all day, every weekday. Not to mention seat selection. Extra legroom. And 80% window and aisle seating.

And you'll be served by the most accommodating people in the business. People who believe it doesn't cost anything to be friendly.

So there you have it. Simple fares. And simply terrific service.

With all this going for you, we think you'll find New York Air is simply the best airline to fly. No ifs, ands, or buts about it.

Fidge said the appointment was unusual in that Plymouth Township is not a member of SEMCOG.

She will serve on the 27-person board at least until Aug. 1, 1985.

Her reappointment was announced by Don Shelton, SEMCOG chairman.

Oddfellows once owned Mayflower Meeting House

(Part 2)

The Tonquish Temple Association which built the Oddfellows Building (now the Mayflower Meeting House) was capitalized at $80,000. Among the large shareholders were Edgar Cochrane and Fred Rhead, both of whom subscribed for 400 shares.

The officers and directors for the first year of the corporation's existence were Fred Rhead, Russell A. Roe, Edgar Cochrane, William C. Michaels, and Brakle J. Orrer, the attorney. Later, the officers included Jake Streng, Matt Powell, D.A. Joliffe, W.C. Oddy, C.H. Rathburn, Albert Trinkhaus, Oscar C. Matts and Albert F. Williams.

The two-story brick building was completed in 1925. Bonds in the amount of $50,000, bearing an interest rate of 6 1/2 percent per year, payable semiannually, were placed with the Union Trust Company of Detroit which held the first mortgage. A second mortgage of $16,000 was placed with the French Mortgage and Bond Co. of Grosse Pointe Shores, in January 1926.

SUBSEQUENT EVENTS demonstrate that the Oddfellows had bit off more than they could chew.

Earl Gray remembers that when he first saw the plans of the building he asked how they were going to make it pay for itself?

Although the association was able to rent space in the building to a restaurant, a plumber, and other firms, the expense of operating the building, plus payment of principal and interest, was more than could be met.

In April 1927, less than two years after the building went up, the French Mortgage and Bond Co. brought suit for foreclosure of the second mortgage. The Tonquish Temple Association had failed to keep up second mortgage payments of $444.44 per month on the principal, together with interest at 7 percent per annum payable monthly.

During the court proceedings, the association and the local men who had guaranteed the loan asked that the mortgage and the guarantee mentioned in the bill of complaint be declared usurious. But the court found for the plaintiff, and ordered the association to pay up on or before Nov. 1, 1928, or the building and property would be put up for public auction.

In October, the Tonquish Temple Association filed for bankruptcy. The premises were sold at public auction on Dec. 27, 1928, for the sum of $64,621. The building became the property of the first mortgagor, the Union Trust Co.

Earl Gray doubts that the French Mortgage and Bond Co. ever recovered its investment. He recalls that collateral for the second mortgage had been the house of one of the lodge's oldest members. When officials of the mortgage company saw the house and the age and financial situation of its occupants they decided to take no further action.

Gray says the Union Trust Co. also was benevolent in its treatment of the past and present

lodge, making every effort to help the Oddfellows acquire the building under favorable terms. Any hopes in that direction were quashed by the stock market crash of 1929 and the subsequent depression. But the lodge did continue to use the building as its meeting place until Decoration Day, 1932, when it moved to another location.

The Union Trust Co. continued to own the building for some time. Eventually it became the property of the Birnkant family. Until the 1950s it housed Lee Butler's bowling alley.

Ralph and Mabel Lorenz bought the property from the Birnkants in 1966. Lorenz remodeled the building and called it the Mayflower Meeting House. It is used for parties, weddings and other special events, and is the meeting place on Fridays of the Plymouth Rotary Club. The ground floor contains a number of business offices including those of the Plymouth Observer.

AFTER THEY LOST the building, the Oddfellows licked their wounds, paid some debts and rented meeting space until 1951.

Meantime, in 1947, they purchased jointly with the Rebekahs a lot at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Elizabeth Street for the sum of $1,000. There, in 1950, they built the present Oddfellows Building. Earl Gray was a member of the committee elected to construct the building. Most of the work was done by members.

Gray says the Oddfellows have done much to contribute to the sick and needy during the lodge's 137 years in the community. They assisted in establishing the first fraternal home for the aged at Jackson. They sponsored the first visit of the Red Cross Mobile Unit to Plymouth during World War II. They got the cooperation of the city and the old Plymouth Hospital in typing the blood of members and of city employees to form the first blood donating unit in the community.

The lodge has sponsored bowling teams, baseball teams, had a band and a dance orchestra, and joined with the Rebekahs in holding Christmas parties for community children.

Earl Gray has held many official positions in the Oddfellows. He is Past District Deputy Grand Master of District No. 7. He also has been active in the Goodfellows of which he became a charter member in 1936.

Gray was a baseball umpire for 53 years. In 1947, he organized the Suburban Umpires Association and was its secretary-treasurer until 1973. He and wife Edna, married 59 years, live in an attractive, nicely landscaped home on S. Harvey at the corner of Ross.

When Gray joined the Oddfellows in 1917, the lodge had about 100 members. At its peak during an earlier period it had 400. Like other fraternal organizations that bloomed in the days before movies, radio and television, it has seen its membership rolls dwindle. Today there are about 15 members.

Waffles and chicken: great meal

There must be some truth to the old adage that you can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy.

The Stroller keeps thinking of this everytime he takes a leisurely ride into the suburbs. And never a trip passes that he doesn't look for the old-time chicken and waffle signs.

When he was a lad back home in the Pennsylvania Dutch country one of the big treats was to visit any of the country hotels, and each community had a hotel, and enjoy a real Dutch chicken and waffle dinner.

These were specialties and the signs along the highway kept you informed as to the location of the famous dish and the price of it.

It seems the Dutch cooks had a penchant for making chicken gravy and no meal was served without a large pitcher of this delicacy given a place in the center of the table.

There was nothing strange about the waffles. They were the same as one would get at home on a winter morning. But for some reason they tasted better when they were served in the country.

There were at least several occasions each year when the chicken and waffle dinner was the big treat. It was the high point of the old-time hay rides in the summer and the sleigh rides in the winter.

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

THERE WERE at least a half-dozen country hotels within 10 or 15 miles of The Stroller's hometown, so a hay ride on a summer night or huddled up under the blankets in the winter were high points on the way to the chicken and waffle dinner and the old-time square dances after the meals.

And the price was right. The total cost was $1.50 per couple and it was divided into 50 cents apiece for the meal, 25 cents for the sleigh or hay wagon rental, and 25 cents for the music. And there was never any trouble getting a capacity gathering.

We'd leave home about 7:30 in the evening and be back about 1 a.m. so it was a grand time and a great meal for the $1.50.

One of the real treats used to come when we would sit down at the dinner table and the hotel owner's wife would appear and say, "Save some of your appetite for a cake. I baked a dandy today." And she wasn't telling an untruth.

And much as the meal was enjoyable the square dancing afterward always was a gay time. There was no such thing as dancing close in those days, but when you got into the swing of things the old-fashioned square dance was a fun-filled event.

In all the years The Stroller enjoyed these events there was one that stands out above all the others. On this summer night we took a gamble and made reservations at a hotel 15 miles from home. We thought the longer ride would be more fun. Just the opposite happened.

Just as we were leaving the hotel for the journey home it started to rain. You can imagine sitting in a wagon filled with straw and having the rain pelt down on you.

That was bad enough. But just about halfway home one of the four horses suddenly balked, then fell over dead in the middle of the highway.

What a memorable scene as we arrived home, soaked with rain and leading the odd horse at the back of the wagon. That's one of the reasons you will never take the country out of the boy.

Opinions to be shared

Opinions and ideas are most fertile when shared with others.

That's why the Plymouth Observer encourages its readers to share their views with others by making use of the From Our Readers column.

While the Observer expresses its opinions on the editorial page, we always leave space open for our readers to express their ideas.

Submitting a letter to the editor for publication is rather easy. We ask that letters be typewritten or printed legibly, 300 words or less, signed, and include the address of the sender.

Letters may be mailed or hand-delivered to our news office at 489 S. Main, Plymouth 48170.

Let residents decide on police

To the editor:

I am a staunch supporter of our police department, fire department, and the department of public works, and I am of the opinion we have the best.

We have very dedicated City Commissioners who are doing a very good job, but I am surprised that something hasn't been done in the city manager's and the police department disagreement.

As I understand the problem — if the city loses the contract with the township we lose police officers. With costs rising annually do you think one minute the township would let a good deal like they are receiving go? Not if it was on the ballot for the citizens to have their say.

And to say the contract is lost it would be Mike Gardner's fault is an obvious way of blaming someone else.

I might add, in our community, we had police cars visible any hour of the day or night and we had very little known crime. However, since we have the contract with the township, we don't have that luxury and our Neighborhood Watch program is now a necessity.

Before anything is done to our police department let us, the citizens, make the final decision. After all, we pay the bills. Remember?

Mexican Cooking Is "In"

Bean and Sausage Tostadas use tostada shells, refried beans with sausage, lettuce, tomatoes, shredded cheese and taco sauce.

Crisp, folded Quesadillas are tortillas filled with canned whole green chilies and cheese, then fried. These are topped with guacamole and served with taco sauce. For those who would like a zestier flavor, top with sliced jalapenos.

As you probably know, Mexican food is the fastest growing ethnic food in the country. It is now second only to Italian food in grocery store sales. For years Mexican food has been a staple in the Southwest and West, but now it is gaining popularity in the rest of the country. You see this in the growing number of Mexican restaurants and Mexican items on the menu in other eating places.

When you start cooking Mexican dishes at home, you discover that it isn't all hot and spicy. Usually the sauce adds the heat, and you control that with hot, medium or mild varieties. One advantage of Mexican cooking, besides the delicious flavors, is that it is relatively inexpensive and very nutritious. And, you never have the problem of "picky eaters" when you serve tacos or enchiladas.

Adapting Mexican food to family menus isn't difficult with the sauces, tortillas, chilies and other products available in your supermarket. But one question often asked is, "What do you serve with tacos, enchiladas and chimichangas?"

ONE POPULAR item, of course, is guacamole. There is also rice, corn and refried beans. The latter is as popular in Mexico as potatoes are here. To serve refried beans as a side dish, you can simply open a can, heat and serve. Or you might like to add extra seasonings to the beans such as taco sauce, chilies or cheese.

Fresh vegetables also go well with Mexican dishes. Serve tomato wedges with chopped cilantro or parsley, avocado slices, cabbage slaw with chopped green chilies or simply a mixed green salad.

Although you may not immediately think of soups as Mexican, in Mexico a soup is often served at the beginning of a meal — or as a one-dish meal. Light soups such as Gazpacho or Tortilla Soup, below, are excellent starters for a Mexican meal.

And for dessert, you can serve any number of "sweets" such as flan, lime or chocolate pie. Fresh fruits also make an ideal ending to Mexican meals. Try sliced oranges with chopped almonds, melon balls (or wedges), strawberries, fresh pineapple or bananas.

Mexican flavors also add variety to breakfast or brunch. Try Huevos Rancheros, or simply add chopped chilies to scrambled eggs or an omelet and top with taco sauce.

Below are Mexican favorites which your family will enjoy.

Chimichangas

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 can (10 oz) tomatoes and green chilies
- 1 envelope (1 1/4 oz) taco seasoning mix
- 12 flour tortillas, 8-inch
- 3 cups shredded lettuce
- 2 cups (8 oz) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup sliced green onions
- 1/4 cups taco sauce

Brown ground beef in medium skillet. Drain fat. Stir in tomatoes and green chilies and seasoning mix. Simmer 5 minutes. Spoon 1/4 cup of meat mixture along one edge of tortilla. Fold nearest edge over to cover filling. Fold in both sides, envelope fashion. Roll and secure with toothpicks. Fry in 1 inch of hot oil until golden, turning as necessary. Drain on paper towels. Keep warm while preparing others. Before serving, top each chimichanga with 1/2 cup lettuce, 1/4 cup cheese, 1 tsp green onions and 2 tsp taco sauce. Serve immediately. Makes 12 chimichangas.

Burritos

- 12 flour tortillas, 10 inch
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 tbsp butter
- 2 cans (16 oz each) refried beans or refried beans with green chilies or refried beans with sausage
- 2 large tomatoes, chopped
- 3 cups (12 oz) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 2 cups shredded lettuce
- Taco sauce or tomatoes and green chilies

Preheat oven to 350°. Wrap stack of tortillas tightly in foil; heat in oven for 15 minutes. Cook onion in butter until translucent. Add beans; cook and stir until heated through. Spoon about 1/2 cup bean mixture onto each tortilla near one edge. Top with cheese, lettuce, tomato and 2 tsp of taco sauce or tomatoes and green chilies. Fold nearest edge over to cover filling. Fold in both sides envelope fashion. Roll and arrange on baking sheet. Bake for 15 minutes or until heated through. Serve with taco sauce or tomatoes and green chilies. Makes 12 burritos.

Beef and bean enchiladas

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 package (1 1/4 oz) taco seasoning mix
- 1 can (16 oz) refried beans or refried beans with green chilies or refried beans with sausage
- 1 can (10 1/4 oz) beef consommé, divided usage
- 1 can (11 oz) corn tortillas
- 1 can (10 oz) enchilada sauce
- 1 large tomato, chopped
- 1 cup (4 oz) shredded Cheddar cheese

Brown ground beef and onion in large skillet. Drain fat. Stir in seasoning mix, beans and 1/4 cup consommé. Cook over medium heat until thickened, stirring occasionally, about 10 to 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Fry tortillas, one at a time in hot oil for a few seconds on each side, until limp. Drain on paper towels. Preheat oven to 375°. Fill each tortilla with 1/4 cup meat mixture. Roll tightly and place seam-side down in a 13-x-9-inch baking dish. Combine remaining consommé with enchilada sauce. Pour over enchiladas. Sprinkle with tomato and cheese. Bake for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool slightly. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

- Salt
- 1 can (10 oz) tomatoes and green chilies
- 1 tsp lime juice
- 4 large lime slices

Cut tortillas in 2-x-1/4-inch strips. Fry tortillas in small amount of hot oil until brown and crisp. Drain on paper towels. Heat 2 tsp of vegetable oil in a large saucepan. Add onion and saute until translucent. Add green chilies, broth, chicken, salt to taste, and lime juice. To serve, pour into soup bowls and add tortilla strips. Float a lime slice in the center of each bowl. Makes 4 servings.

Huevos rancheros

- 6 corn tortillas or flour tortillas
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tsp vegetable oil
- 1 1/2 cups (14 oz) canned tomatoes

- 1/4 tsp salt, divided usage
- 6 eggs
- 1/2 tsp pepper
- 1 cup (4 oz) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup butter, melted

Fry tortillas in 1 inch of hot oil until crispy. Line a jelly-roll pan with tortillas. Cook onion and garlic in 2 tsp oil until tender. Stir in tomatoes, green chilies and 1/4 tsp salt. Pour over tortillas. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Carefully break eggs, one on top of each tortilla. Sprinkle remaining salt, pepper and cheese over eggs. Dribble butter over; cover. Bake for 15 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Fiesta casserole

Preheat oven to 350°. Combine soup and process cheese spread, mixing until well blended. Add chicken and green chilies. Spread 1/2 cup of chicken mixture over bottom of a 2-quart rectangular baking dish. Layer four of the tortillas, dipping each in enchilada sauce, and one third of the remaining chicken mixture; repeat layers two more times. Cover with foil; bake 20 minutes. Remove foil, continue baking 15 minutes. Top with lettuce and tomatoes. Makes 6 servings.

MICROCOOK uncovered on 70 percent power for 24 to 27 minutes or until heated throughout. Turn twice during cooking time.

Keep the grapefruit the way it is

There's a move afoot among citrus growers that has me worried. They want to sweeten the grapefruit.

The idea has taken root in Florida, but I fear it will shoot across the Sunbelt and grapefruit — down the road — will taste like oranges.

I call it sour grapes. Citrus officials cite consumer resistance to the industry's stepchild. They want grapefruit to appeal to everyone instead of just older, more affluent and educated buyers.

While I'm an educated shopper, I'm neither old enough to collect Social Security nor affluent enough to drink more than my share of grapefruit juice. But I am alert enough to spot the old economic squeeze play.

Americans drank 863-million gallons of orange juice in 1983, 44 percent more than they did in 1973.

They only sipped 90-million gallons of grapefruit juice last year, 7 percent more than a decade ago. Not only do I drink grapefruit juice, I use it in salad dressings and sauces.

If you're willing to stand up and be counted, and consume more grapefruit juice, we can keep it sour.

GRAPEFRUIT FRENCH DRESSING

- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup grapefruit juice
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- Pinch of cayenne pepper

Combine all ingredients in jar with tight lid and shake well before using on salad. Yields 1 cup.

GRAPEFRUIT SAUCE

- 1/4 cup butter, cut up
- 1 small garlic clove, crushed
- 2 tsp. all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup water
- 3 tbsp. grapefruit juice
- 1 1/4 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. black pepper
- 1/4 tsp. poultry seasoning
- 1/4 tsp. bottled hot sauce

Heat butter and garlic in small saucepan over low heat until butter melts, stirring. Blend in flour and cook several minutes until smooth, stirring. Remove from heat and stir in remaining ingredients. Heat just to boiling, constantly stirring, and taste chicken or fish before and while cooking. Yields 1 cup.

Tips to avoid floating fruit

Don't let your fruit float! When making jam at home, a common problem is that the fruit will float to the top of the jar. This can be avoided by following some simple steps:

- Make sure the fruit is fully ripe.
- Thoroughly crush or grind fruit before using in jam.
- Do not over-stir or under-stir. Over-stirring will incorporate excess air into the mixture, while under-stirring will not evenly distribute the fruit.
- Do not overcook jams.

If all else fails and you do find your fruit floating, don't panic. The product is still safe to eat. The problem can be remedied by simply stirring the jam gently before using to evenly distribute the fruit. For additional information, contact the Food Preservation/Food Safety Hotline of The Oakland County Cooperative Extension service at 858-0904.

HAPPY DAY! In straight sets, 15-13, 15-8, and 15-9, Win Schrader defeated Barry Simescuc in a hard-fought racquet ball game. For the record, the feat was accomplished Wednesday, July 25, 1984, at Rose Shores Racquet Ball Court in Canton Township.

ICE CREAM SOCIALS and horseshoe pitching contests have a familiar ring to old-timers in the area. The Canton Historical Society will recapture the flavor of these social events that were summer highlights of rural America.

They'll be pounding the stakes into the ground and setting up the tables for their ice cream social under the shade trees at the Canton Historical Museum, Canton Center and Proctor roads. The dates are Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 18 and 19.

Society members will be dishing up Cloverdale ice cream cones, sundaes and banana splits from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day. In conjunction with the social, there will be an arts and crafts fair with more than 40 craftsmen selling their handmade wares.

Residents are invited to come "set a spell" under the trees, and browse a while through the museum that was once a one-room schoolhouse.

The old school building and the modern township administration building next door depict Canton past and present, as the residents celebrate their sesquicentennial year.

OUR NEIGHBORS at Plymouth Travel still are talking about their progressive dinner the other Saturday night.

To term it a success is an understatement. They started out with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres at Jan and Bill Schieb's in South Lyon. Judy and Dick Sameck of Plymouth served the soup and salad. Then it was out to Canton Township for the main course of steak and baked potatoes at Judy and Roy Carkeek's. Mary and Pat Conner served the sumptuous summer dessert at their Ann Arbor home.

It was back to Plymouth for the grand finale at Harriet Matthews' where she and George Sinnamon served after-dinner drinks and everyone took an unscheduled plunge in her pool.

MARGARET SWARTZ called with an update of Thursday afternoon party bridge scores at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

They had 11 tables in play last Thursday and have had as many as 13 tables. The group had to move to a larger room at the center. Vickie Whipple and Arlene Schroeder came in first and second, July 5; C.L. Cook and Luella Cook, July 12; Carl Peters and C.L. Cook, July 19; and Mary Ellen Kenyon and Elsa Darling, July 26.

During the conversation, I finally pinned down Margaret and found out why she was so busy of late. In some circles, this could be referred to as investigative reporting.

I discovered congratulations will be in order. Margaret and Edward Hall of Redford Township will be married Aug. 4 and they plan to live in Plymouth Township.

IF THE TIGER FANS' singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" reached a new height of excellence at Saturday's ballgame, there is a simple explanation.

Ninety members of the Plymouth Community Chorus were on hand for the Tiger-Red Sox game. Mary Decker, chorus member, said more would have gone, but tickets were at a premium and she could get only 90. The group traveled by bus to Michigan and Trumbull.

JAMES LOGSDON received special recognition at the 120th convention of the Grand Lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, in Houston, Texas. Jim is the newly elected Exalted Ruler of Plymouth Lodge 1780. He was among the convention delegates who unanimously elected Frank O. Garland of Centralia, Wash., national Grand Exalted Ruler for 1984-85.

Music to munch by

The Centennial Brass Quintet from the high schools provide a musical interlude for the regulars who eat their lunch in Plymouth's Kellogg Park. The Wednesday noon performances are arranged by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Dave Cleveland on tuba, Steve Harrington on French horn, Rob Robillard on trumpet, Jeff Armstrong on trumpet and Christopher Lore on trombone played for an hour or so last Wednesday. Some shoppers stopped to listen, too, and Paul Adkins, 4, was inspired to do a little dance step to "The Stars and Stripes Forever." A group from the Detroit Federation of Musicians will entertain from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesdays, Aug. 5 and 15.

Club welcomes newcomers

The Plymouth Newcomers Club was designed especially for new residents who are ready to become socially involved in their new community.

The club is planning a membership tea for Thursday, Aug. 16. Women who have lived in Plymouth two years or less are invited to attend and learn of the club's activities. Reservations may be made by calling the membership chairman, 453-4380. Attendance at the tea is not a commitment to join Newcomers.

The club has approximately 160 members. Everybody meets for lunch at a local restaurant the first Thursday of each month, September through May. After a business meeting, there is an interesting guest speaker or program. A fashion show and a holiday luncheon are annual events.

Spouses are included in group functions such as a dinner dance, cards, bowling and a night at the races. The 20 special-interest groups meet in members' homes. These smaller gatherings offer everything from bridge to crafts to gourmet dining. Over the years, lifetime friendships have been formed at the Newcomers Club. Residents of the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township may become members.

FIBROSITIS

Fibrositis is a condition in which there is irritation involving the body's connective tissue. This tissue holds together the muscles, tendons, and ligaments that surround bones and joints. If small areas of connective tissue become inflamed, these areas, known as trigger points, create a pattern of discomfort and radiating pain called fibrositis.

Because these areas are so close to the neck, shoulders, hips and knees, you may interpret the pain as a potentially crippling arthritis or muscle condition. At times the discomfort associated with fibrositis can bring a halt to your activities and force you to bed, but it does not lead to permanent disability.

The cause of fibrositis is unknown, though once established its presence is perpetuated by tension and fatigue. Treatment is directed toward ending irritation originating from the trigger point areas and decreasing muscle tension. Such therapy requires a different approach for each person as no drug or combination of treatments has proved uniformly successful.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special)—An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins

The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan'

Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) ## FOOT HEALTH TODAY

DR. JAMES SCHELBERG

PODIATRIST

DEVELOPING CORNS

QUESTION: What problem can develop if you have too much pressure on your toes?

ANSWER: You will probably develop corns because of the constant friction and irritation. Unlike a callus, which develops in flat planes, a corn is shaped like a cone, with the tip penetrating deeply into the tissue. Any direct pressure on a corn may cause severe pain. Soft corns are usually found between the toes and often in pairs, with one facing the other. They form when one toe rubs against another at a site of bony prominences. Another kind of corn is called seed corn because it tends to develop in even larger groups. Seed corns are small, sometimes as tiny as a pinhead, and are usually found on the soles of the feet.

Elks aim for Connie Mack district crown

The Canton Elks final regular season game in the Redford Adray Connie Mack Baseball League characterized their season.

They won, using their speed, sacrificing with success and bunting their hits with superb efficiency to eke out a 3-2 win over Redford Union Tuesday.

The win gave the Elks a 19-1 record as they head into the Connie Mack district tournament at Pontiac Jaycee Park. The Elks play the Downriver League entry at 10 a.m. Thursday. If they win, their next game would be at 10 a.m. Friday. Should they lose, they would play their second game at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

"We've had a good season," Elk coach Dave Racer said. "We had a mid-season slump, if you can call it a slump, when we lost to Ypsilanti and had a few one-run games."

THE WIN over RU was another of that one-run variety. John Rogers scattered seven hits and three walks, surrendering to RU only in the fifth inning.

A Rich Williams' single and a Greg Dron double put RU runners at second and third, and a Bill Uille single brought both home.

That cut the Elks' advantage to 3-2, but Rogers stopped RU the rest of the way for the win. Brian Porter, who allowed four hits and a walk over five innings, took the loss for RU.

The Elks scored single runs in each of the first three innings. Jeff Wittner singled in the first, stole second, was

baseball

sacrificed to third and scored on Dan Michaels' infield hit.

Wittner drove in Tim Mihalic, who had singled, with the second run on a ground out to first the next inning. Chris Parsons scored the final run in the third. He reached base on a single, stole second, was sacrificed to third and came home on Porter's balk.

"WE'VE GOT a lot of talent on this team," Racer said, noting a team batting average of .354, with four hitters over the 400 mark (Michaels 454, Jeff Olson 441, Mark Bennett 432 and Tim Collins 410) and two pitchers with unbeaten records (John Nissen 7-0, and Bennett 5-0).

But Racer, who is in his final season as coach of the Elks, knows it will take more than ability to win the Connie Mack district championship.

"You always have to have a little luck in a tournament," he said. "I think we can win the whole thing, but the breaks have to go our way. The kids have to play heads-up ball."

There's no reason to think they won't. The Elks won the Allen Park district title last year, but fell out of the state tournament in the early stages.

This year's state tournament is in the same place — Marshall — and it's a trip the Elks plan on making once again.

Mike Howard's hitting and pitching led Salem to a district win Friday against South Shewassee.

Howard's blasts keep Salem alive

The Plymouth Salem entry into the American Amateur Baseball Congress (AABC) Sandy Koufax Baseball Tournament rebounded from a first-round loss. Its second-round romp behind Mike Howard's stellar play kept them alive entering Saturday's round at Canton Township Hall.

Rain disrupted play both Thursday and Friday. Salem, coached by Mike Michalek, was forced to complete its opening round contest against Riverside, Ontario, Friday morning. Salem eventually lost 8-5.

On Friday, rain washed out both the 3 and 6 p.m. contests. Redford, which routed Detroit PAL 14-6 Thursday, had to play its second game Saturday, against Detroit West-7.

THE SALEM TEAM dropped to the loser's bracket after its loss to Riverside to face South Shewassee. Salem trailed 3-0 before rallying for seven runs in the fourth enroute to a 12-4 victory.

Howard, who earned the pitching win, hit a pair of three-run homers to aid his own cause. The first came in the pivotal fourth, when Salem took the lead for good. Jeff Beagan's two-run single put Salem ahead 4-3, and Howard followed with his homer.

Howard added his second three-run homer in the sixth.

The winner of the eight-team, double-elimination tournament advances to the regionals this weekend in Westland. The regional winner goes to the Sandy Koufax World Series in Knoxville, Tenn., next week.

Complete results of the Canton district tournament will appear in Thursday's Observer.

Hard work earned twin rowers medals

By C.J. Risk staff writer

For a handful of muscular, narrow-minded, intense young men, 1956 was a special year.

The Cold War and Ike's re-election bid intruded only peripherally in their thoughts. Their minds were half a world away — in Melbourne, Australia, the site of the summer Olympic games.

"Nothing interfered with our training," said John McKinlay, now of Bloomfield Hills. "Not school or family or anything. Everything else was secondary."

One of McKinlay's family ties proved important to his Olympic experience: his twin brother Art, who now lives in Birmingham. The brothers pumped their way to Melbourne on the Detroit River, training for four hard, long years at the Detroit Boat Club on Belle Isle.

THE EFFORT paid dividends. The McKinlays joined Jim McIntosh, now of Southfield, and John Welchell of Grosse Pointe to win a silver medal in the four-man boat without coxswain. At the time, it was the best finish ever for an American team in that event (a U.S. team won a gold at Rome in 1960).

Another local rower — Pat Costello of Bloomfield Township — teamed with Jim Gardner to take another silver medal in the two-man race.

It was as good a performance in rowing, a sport now dominated by eastern European countries, as the United States has enjoyed. The reason for the success could be found on the banks of the Detroit River.

It was there that a training camp for the U.S. rowing team took form, under the guidance of Walter Hoover.

"We had a coach who believed in racing all the time," said Art McKinlay, now 53. "We always raced — anywhere, anytime, against anyone. A lot of coaches didn't like racing that much, but it got us in great shape."

THERE WERE 20 athletes at the rowing camp, including 16 from the military. The McKinlays, both sergeants in the Marine Corps, were among those who took advantage of an act of Congress allowing athletes time to train if they were of Olympic or Pan American caliber.

olympics

The twin brothers were. They narrowly missed competing in the 1952 Olympics (John went as an alternate), which hardened them for the task that lay ahead.

"I WAS devastated," said Art of missing in '52. "I was absolutely sure I'd make it. It took me a year to recover from that."

That's when Hoover, now 90, entered the scene. A former prospector, he knew gold when he saw it, and he recognized the talent gathered on Belle Isle.

"He's probably the reason we made it," Art said. "He said, 'I'm going to put you guys in the Olympics.' My brother and I said, 'That sounds good.'"

"That changed the club from just a social gathering. A lot of guys just couldn't take it."

THE MCKINLAYS knew who could.

their most difficult race: at the Olympic Trials.

A FOURSOME from Washington were the favorites. That team seemed bigger and stronger than the Detroit quartet, but it was the Detroiters who won "by a half-second that changed our lives," John said. It was the first time the Washington team had been beaten.

Their victory made the Detroit team feel fortunate just to be in the Olympics. Still, they believed they could win the gold, and they nearly did, losing to a Canadian team they had beaten previously.

Their Olympic memories remain, however: competing in a small town of 25,000 outside of Melbourne and seeing 65,000 fans, including the Australian prime minister, pack the shores to watch the rowing finals; the opening and closing ceremonies and the accompanying pageantry, signing autographs and being treated like celebrities; and the kindness of the Australian people.

THERE WAS more. Politics had their effect on these Olympics, too. As John McKinlay remembered: "The Hungarian and Russian athletes came to Melbourne on the same ship. By the time they arrived, the Hungarian Revolution had started.

"The Hungarian athletes tore down their old flag and put up the free Hungarian flag, and they put tape over the Communist insignia on their uniforms."

But they competed, McKinlay said, which is far different from the current state of Olympic affairs.

"IN ANCIENT Greece, warring nations put down their arms to compete in the Olympics," John said. "In 1952, they had the games during the Korean War, and in 1956 they had them in spite of the Hungarian Revolution."

"I just think things have gotten more political than they should be. Every nation should be invited to compete, whether they're democratic, communist or a dictatorship."

Neither McKinlay is liable to forget his experiences — not with so many of their Olympic comrades close at hand.

"We still see each other, we're very close friends," Art said. "We're lifetime friends" — lifetime friends who saw an Olympic dream reach fruition.

7-Up select stars crush Michigan AAU's again

By Brad Emone staff writer

John Johnson is the smallest member of the 7-Up National Select basketball team.

But the 5-foot-10 point-guard from Brooklyn, N.Y. stood tall Wednesday night at U-D's Callahan Hall, scoring 15 points on 7-of-9 shooting from the floor to go along with seven assists as the 7-Up squad demolished the Michigan AAU squad for the second straight time, 139-81.

Johnson, bound for University of Virginia, patterns his game after Pistons Isiah Thomas. And during one trip down the lane, Johnson put on a magical move that had the crowd buzzing.

"Up until the eighth grade I was used to scoring a lot of points," said the street-wise and personable Johnson. "Then my coach told me I was going to be a point guard. My job was to keep everybody happy."

JOHNSON, of course, kept his 11 talented teammates happy during

basketball

Wednesday's encounter.

Leonard Taylor, a 6-8 forward headed for Cal-Berkeley, led the 7-Up squad with 20 points. He was one of eight 7-Up players in double figures.

Indiana-bound Delray Brooks scored 17, Johnson and Billy King (Duke), 15 each; Troy Lewis (Purdue), 14; Jeff Moe (Iowa), 13; Al Lorenzen (Iowa) and Craig Jackson (UCLA), 10 apiece.

The Michigan squad, which featured All-Observer players John McIntyre (Catholic Central) and Tom Domako (Livonia Stevenson), never really had a chance in what proved to be a rerun of Monday's 148-89 7-Up romp at Schoolcraft College.

The Michigan squad simply was inferior in just about every aspect of the game.

Michigan's Mr. Basketball, Demetrius Gore, led all scorers with 27 points, but hit only 7 of 20 shots from the floor. Chadeay High School teammate Leonard Collins added 10.

BUT JOHNSON was the real story with his nifty moves and charismatic style.

"He makes a lot of good decisions on the floor," said 7-Up coach Bobby Bowman. "Sometimes he has a tendency to put his head down when he's bringing the ball up the floor, but he's going to be a fine college player."

Johnson said he first caught Isiah on TV in 1981 when Indiana won the NCCA championship.

"Isiah is my idol because not only can he pass, but he can score when the opportunity is there," Johnson said. "He can also play defense."

"As long as I can contribute, I'll be happy with that role."

Johnson was recruited by a number of schools, but Virginia won out.

"Everybody knew all along that I was going to Virginia because of the fact that all of their guards had graduated," he said.

Walter's pulls upset in Collegiate playoff opener

Nobody really thought Walter's Appliance would go anywhere in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) playoffs.

Heck, they were the fourth place team with a below-.500 record.

Obviously the Walter's players thought differently, upsetting regular season champion Redford Little Caesars, 3-0, in the first round of the double-elimination playoffs Wednesday at Ford Field. In the other first-round game, defending champ Livonia Adray downed Michigan National Bank, 3-5.

"It was a combination of both good pitching and good defense," said Walter's manager Mike Keller. "It was a big win for the kids. We surprised a few people."

Jim Stoltzadis, with relief help from Dan Nielsen, got the pitching victory.

Stoltzadis held Caesars scoreless for 7½ innings, striking out six, walking five and allowing six hits. Nielsen, who earned the save, got out of a base-loaded jam in the eighth inning

baseball

and fanned four of the five batters he faced.

WALTER'S, which collected 11 hits, scored all three of its runs in the fifth inning.

With one out, John Stoltzadis singled and brother Jim followed with double to put runners on second and third. Dave Longridge then walked to load the bases.

Terry Chlebek hit a sacrifice fly, scoring John Stoltzadis with the first run. Brad Walter then singled to make it 3-0 and Chuck Morgan added another singled to give Walter's its third run of the inning.

Walter, Morgan and John Stoltzadis each had two hits for the winners.

Tyrone Gaines paced Little Caesars, going 3-for-5. Carl Novick added two singles.

In the other first-round game, Livonia Adray jumped out to a 6-0 lead and held on to beat Michigan National Bank, 6-4.

Livonia mounted a 12-hit attack on second baseman Pete Ross went 3-for-4. Teammate Mike MacDonald went 2-for-4 with one RBI.

Dave Rodriguez worked six innings and allowed five hits and two runs to pick up the victory. He struck out eight.

JOHN RECKER pitched the final two innings after a one-inning stint by Rick Roman. Recker allowed two runs and struck out six.

Greg Everson took the loss for MNB. He lasted 1½ innings, allowing three runs on three hits.

Clint Scottard led the six-hit Livonia attack by going 2-for-4 with two RBIs. Teammate Tony DeLore went 2-for-3.

A wrap-up of the tournament will appear in Thursday's Observer.

Umpire's life lived out of a suitcase

By Marty Budner
staff writer

IT WAS ONLY the second time he'd been home since the beginning of the baseball season.

"Don't know about Thursday because we'll just be coming in, and can't say Sunday because we'll have to fly out," he said by telephone during the All-Star break when questioned about setting up an interview. "We're having a birthday party for my son Saturday. So, I think the best day will be Friday."

So it goes in the fast-footed life of professional umpire John Andrew Roe, Rocky for short. Traveling just sometimes seems like one big fist in the air or sweep of the hands.

Rocky Roe, called upon to help officiate the recent four-game series between Detroit and Texas at Tiger Stadium, had few hours to spare as he spent a pleasant — albeit hectic — weekend at his cozy West Bloomfield ranch house.

His time — whether it be accepting ticket requests from friends, honing up the golf game with colleagues Larry Barnett and Dale Ford or simply sharing precious moments with his wife, Jeanne, and year-old son, Christopher — is fleeting.

THE 34-YEAR-OLD Roe figures he logs close to 150,000 air miles during the baseball season while averaging 50-60 flights a year. During his first-ever All-Star assignment earlier this month in San Francisco, Roe hop-scotched across the country on seven different flights. That's enough to leave almost anyone in a time warp.

"The players don't have it as bad as we do," said Roe as he playfully jostled with Christopher along the shoreline of nearby Pine Lake. "They're only away from home for 81 games (out of a 162-game schedule). We're on the road constantly."

"Last time I was in Detroit was for two losses back in May. I get back (to Detroit) maybe three or four times a year. I like the American League because cities like Toronto, Cleveland and Chicago are within driving distance to my home. If I was in the National League I'd be away from home more often."

"It's kind of funny when I do get back because the biggest arguments my wife and I have are that she wants to go somewhere, and I want to stay home and she wants to eat out and I want to eat home," said Roe. "But, that says something about my wife's strength. If I'm considered any type of success in the big leagues it goes back to my wife."

THERE'S BEEN nothing rocky about Roe's showing so far in the big leagues.

The 1988 Southfield High School graduate is in the midst of his sixth year as an umpire. Of the 31 American League umpires, Roe ranks 25th on the seniority list. But his stock as an umpire is rising faster than his right hand.

Being chosen to work this year's All-Star game — he umpired the right field line — is testimony to his burgeoning career.

"He's well respected around the league — especially as a balls-and-strike man," said Ed Katalinas, a semi-retired Tiger scout who influenced Roe to turn pro after seeing him work in the prestigious Adray Metro Detroit sandlot league.

"He's quick on judgment and that's what you really need. He definitely has the ability and talent," he said. "When I saw him umpire in the Adray League he was head-and-shoulders above the rest as far as positioning and calls. He also has the ability to contain himself."

Roe played baseball and football at Southfield High School, then attended Eastern Michigan University where he concentrated on baseball. He graduated from EMU in '72 and got involved in the real estate business in Ohio.

IT PROVED to be a prosperous but unfulfilling venture. He moved back to the Detroit area in 1976 and found a new line of recreation by umpiring in the Adray League where he ultimately met up with Katalinas.

"I was 23 and feeling like I was 63. I was making good money in real estate but it seemed like something was lacking," said Roe. "I was working 8-to-5 and I wasn't happy. I wanted to get back into sports somehow."

"I decided to get back into baseball. Ed Katalinas came to a game one day and asked if I ever thought about umpiring professionally. I said no, but I ended up going to umpire's school in 1977. There were 336 applicants for nine jobs."

"I was fortunate to make it through. I don't know why it happened so fast," he said. "Maybe they thought I was a little more mature because of the fact I was out in business. Whatever it was, I was 26 at the time and somebody like me."

Roe began his pro career in the Florida State League in 1977 and, in the fall of that year, moved on to the Florida Instructional League "where they sent Mark Fidrych to get his arm back into shape."

He moved up the ladder to the Eastern League and "AA" ball in '78, and, in 1979, his big moment arrived. But, it turned out to be bittersweet.

DURING THE 1979 umpire's strike, Roe was asked to "scab" the games. He declined the offer mainly on the advice of his father — who had been a union worker himself — and some other friends.

Roe continued umpiring in "AAA" ball — the next level to the major leagues — until July of '79. Then Roe was hired by the American League to replace veteran Lou DiMuro after his accidental death.

"I won't say I wasn't scared about what to do during the umpire's strike. But, I chose not to take the job although I appreciated the offer," said Roe. "I think they made their decision to take me after Lou's death based on the fact that they wanted the best ump to fill the gap. I decided to try the bigs."

The rest is history. Roe is one of the league's youngest umpires but works on a reputable crew which has a combined total of 34 years of big-league experience. They include crew chief Laffy Barnett, who is fourth on the AL seniority scale, Dale Ford and Ken Kaiser.

"Ernie Harwell once told me that it was the quickest any umpire has gotten to the big leagues," said Roe, who, at 6-foot-1 and 225 pounds, is the smallest member of that four-man crew.

"You have to have the presence of mind as an umpire that 50 percent of the teams will not like what you call," he said. "As an umpire, we're in a situation where we're expected to be perfect the first day out and expected to get better from there. Umpiring is like motherhood: it's not as greatly appreciated as it should be."

Rocky Roe (right), 34 years old and No. 27 on your official roster, is one of the American League's youngest umpires. The Southfield High School graduate recently worked the All-Star game in San Francisco where he umpired the right-field line. He says "any umpire who tells you he's not a baseball fan is lying," but hastily adds "that you have to put all that out of your mind and be objective."

Green drives to Junior golf title

Suzy Green of Franklin and Birmingham Groves fired rounds of 82-84-82 for a 248 total and a five-stroke victory in the 16-17 girls division of the Great Lakes Junior Masters Golf Tournament last week at Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville.

Noel Brisson of Grosse Ile improved each day in the tournament, which started Monday and finished Wednesday, carding rounds of 86, 84 and 83 for a 253, but it wasn't enough to catch Green.

In the 16-17 boys division, Trenton's Bob Papp shot 78-75-76 to claim top honors with a 229. Rick Williams of Big Rapids was second (77-79-75/231) and David Vaclav of Trenton (75-83-74) and Bill O'Connor of Birmingham (80-76-76) tied for third at 232.

OTHER LOCAL golfers to finish among the trophy-winners in the 16-17 group were Mark Radom of Franklin (73-81-80/234), fifth, and Judd Hershiser of Bloomfield Hills (82-74-79/235), tied for sixth.

Mike Roth of Alma was the boys 14-15 winner (79-82-73/234), with Mike Crook of Orchard Lake tied for seventh (242), while David Barsantee won the 11-13 boys division with rounds of 97-88-84 for a 269 total. Birmingham's Scott Zankle was fourth (273).

2 wineries join ranks of the best

The name Sonoma Valley brings readily to mind such prestigious wineries as Chateau St. Jean, St. Francis, Matanzas Creek, Kistler and Hanzell. Quite a group. These all tend to be producers of expensive, high-quality wines of national distribution.

But there are two others that also belong to this elevated group, ones that five years ago would not. They were present then; indeed, one had been there for more than 130 years, but until recently they were not of this caliber.

Both have recently experienced a renaissance, turning around indifferent wineries, making them into two of the finest producers in all of California. And in a very short time.

Buena Vista Winery was founded in the late 1840s by one of the fathers of California wine and has been producing wines off and on since then in a magnificent stone structure east of the city of Sonoma.

It is only recently that it has begun to produce wines of the highest distinction, however. Using a special selection designation for selected issues, it has released three stunning cabernet sauvignons and a pinot noir

The 1978, 1979 and 1980 issues of the former have been of the very best while the 1981 pinot noir is among the finest of recent years from anyone. Buena Vista also has introduced a Heritage series to designate other premium issues that have been partially successful.

Add to these blockbusters a number of more standard issues, priced fairly, that are also fine wines. Its Spiceling, a very successful Traminer-like issue, a regular cabernet, zinfandel, chardonnay and Green Hungarian releases all go together to make a sound line, and each in its own way does very well.

But it is to the special selection wines that the notices go, and deservedly so. The cabernets are ripe and complex, well worth aging and cherishing for several years to come. Of the three, the '79 is perhaps the most successful. The '81 pinot noir evokes associations with some of the finest burgundies, a wine that, when right, is one of the great experiences in tasting.

The other transformation has been the Kenwood Vineyards, just above the city of Sonoma. Lacking Buena Vista's history, it was founded in the late 1960s as a bulk red-wine operation that made, at best, acceptable vin ordinaire.

In the late 1970s the scene began changing dramatically. The new owners dropped the extensive variety of wines made and began to concentrate on a few select varietals and two excellent generics.

wine

THE JACK London Vineyard became the source of excellent pinot noir and cabernet, both of which declare the vineyard designation proudly on their respective labels. The Artist Series of cabernet offerings, begun in 1975, has been a great success.

To these must be added some excellent chardonnay issues (the 1978 was a memorable saignon, however) and now some fine sauvignon blanc. To these must also be added the vintage red (most cabernet) and vintage white issues in the $5-a-bottle range.

Kenwood shows increasing promise of becoming one of California's best, an unheated prospect a half-decade ago.

There is one more element in this renaissance picture from the Sonoma Valley that is not so happy, however. That involves the gigantic Sebastiani Vineyards, long one of California's most dependable producers of sound-value, everyday wines.

The change here seems to be reflected in the series of expensive Proprietor's Reserve issues that are becoming available with increasing regularity, each bearing a big price jump over regular issues. And there is the $80-plus special Eagle Cabernet, recently issued in wooden boxes.

THE BEST that can be said for the special issues is that they are little different from the standard issues and must now be considered as on the expensive side.

Owner Sam Sebastiani seems determined to change Sebastiani's image via pricing. Let us hope, if he continues, the wine quality will follow soon, else Sebastiani's role as an honest, dependable producer will be seriously endangered.

Dudley Moore is an engineer who is unsuccessful at everything in "Best Defense."

There's no defense for offering this kind of sleazy production

The "Best Defense" is offensive.

There's no end to the criticisms justifiably leveled at this film, beginning with gratuitous sexual scenes on opposite sides of the globe, scenes intercut with the credits and with each other.

In Southern California, Laura Cooper (Kate Capshaw) sneezes at the wrong moment, frustrating her husband, unsuccessful engineer Willie Moore (Dudley Moore).

In Kuwait, U.S. Army Lt. Landry (Eddie Murphy) is bedding down a local belly dancer. Apparently Kate's sneeze heralds Moore as a loser while the belly dancer's reactions prove Murphy's a real macho hero. That's more than the rest of his performance does.

So, how are Moore and Murphy, two such disparate comics, linked? Certainly not by their humor this time out. Moore is designing a crucial guidance mechanism for a tank Murphy is testing in Kuwait.

JUST TO MAKE it interesting, director Willard Huyck and producer Gloria Katz threw in a war between Iraq and Kuwait, venal defense contractors and their Pentagon contacts, the KGB and industrial espionage. The screenplay is based on Robert Grossbach's novel, "Easy and Hard Ways Out."

Since Katz and Huyck wrote, produced and directed "Best Defense," they bear the brunt of the criticism for turning out this tasteless trash.

On a Political Awareness Scale of 1 to 10, they get minus-7 for scheduling a war between Kuwait and Iraq when Kuwait is supporting Iraq in its war with Iran. Movies don't have to be true-to-life, but such divergence from reality is silly — as is much of the film, where potentially clever satire of current political events turns to unpleasant, humorless ridicule.

For whatever reason, all the characters are unidimensional and demean their real-life counterparts: The Arab soldiers Murphy is training are buffoons, the former astronaut, Frank Joyner (Peter Michael Goetz), president of Dynatechnics (where Moore engineers) is an utter incompetent whose only talent is entertaining Pentagon officials.

Moore's co-workers are no bargain either — drinking buddy Loparino (George Dzundza) drinks and clowns while project supervisor Claire Lewis (Helen Shaver) looks and acts more like a sex-crazed fashion coordinator than a project engineer.

The comic potential, obviously, is not well served by such characters. It doesn't help much, either, to get your laughs from four-letter words, but that seemed to be the only kind of humor Katz & Huyck could write.

AS IF THIS weren't enough, "Best Defense" is so poorly edited that the time sequence is very unclear, very confusing. Novice filmmakers learn early that cutting from one scene in one locale to another elsewhere gives the impression that the two events are occurring simultaneously. Unfortunately, Katz and Huyck missed that lesson.

Staying home and watching new paint dry would prove more entertaining.

Eddie Murphy co-stars as an army lieutenant in Kuwait who is testing Moore's design, a guidance mechanism for a tank.

what's at the movies

BACHELOR PARTY (R). Wild, rowdy and raunchy bachelor party with Tom Hanks.

BEST DEFENSE (R). Tasteless, humorless, offensive story of an engineer and an army officer. Dudley Moore and Eddie Murphy.

GHOSTBUSTERS (PG). Billy Murray, Dan Aykroyd and Harold Ramis as parapsychology researchers trying to rid New York of menacing ghosts.

GREMLINS (PG). Technically well-done story of exotic pet whose offspring turn mean. Hoyt Axton, Zach Galligan and Phoebe Cates in a Spielberg film too gross for the under-12 set.

INDIANA JONES AND THE TEMPLE OF DOOM (PG). Harrison Ford is back in another Spielberg epic adventure echoing "Raiders." Probably violent enough for an R rating.

THE MUPPETS TAKE MANHATTAN (G). Gonzo, Fozzie, Animal and Scooter star in Kermit's Broadway musical, and Miss Piggy finds romance.

THE NEVERENDING STORY (PG). A 10-year-old boy's odyssey through a fantasy wondeland of fabulous creatures that he alone can save from destruction. Directed and co-written by Wolfgang Peterson, who directed "Das Boot."

STAR TREK III: THE SEARCH FOR SPOCK (PG). Leonard Nimoy directs Willia Shatner, DeForest
