School board puts off bond issue vote

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday decided to place a $4 to $7 million bond issue on the ballot either in December 1984 or January 1985. The exact amount has not been decided.

The board had flirted with the idea of putting the issue to a vote in October but dropped it because it felt there was insufficient time to adequately prepare for a fall bond election.

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, said the district would be able to meet construction deadlines, even if the election were held later this year or early next year.

THE BOND ISSUE funds, if approved by school district voters, would be used for renovation of buildings and the purchase of equipment, such as microcomputers.

Board members had indicated they needed additional information from the school administration before they could go to the voters with a firm list of needs.

"I'm concerned about the amount of input," said Trustee Nancy A. Quinn. "There has not been a whole lot of staff input. I'm against an October vote. I would feel it was very rushed and I would be reluctant if we were unprepared."

Even without the bond issue vote there still will be a special election this fall. The board has scheduled an election for Oct. 2, at which time school district voters will be asked to approve an additional 1.74 operational millage levy.

IN JUNE, voters turned down the same request by margin 500 votes out of 5,000 votes cast.

Voters will be asked to vote on money a third time, in June 1985, when the annual election will include a millage renewal request.

"There will be a lot of work involved," Richard Egl, administrative assistant for community relations, told the board Monday. "We're looking at three elections. The renewal millage will be more easily passed than the other requests. But we will need additional support from the voters. We will have to get people excited about the elections," said Egl.

"The problem is going to be getting them excited in October and then coming back in January," said Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter.

"It will be our job to identify needs," said Trustee Tom Yack. "I have confidence in the voters."

MOST OF THE board agreed that the millage vote in October could provide a test case for the district.

Depending on the outcome, the district could develop a comprehensive plan for the following bond issue vote.

The biggest task for the board and the school administration will be to convince voters that the bond issue is necessary.

The message that must be conveyed, according to Yack, is: "We're on the razor's edge of making it."

With the bond issue vote moved back to December or January, the board will concentrate on the Oct. 2 millage vote.

"The millage request must be reasonable and saleable," suggested Egl, during a prepared presentation to the board.

"WE HAVE a problem in registering male heads of households," said Egl. "We need to do some hard work, getting people registered. I don't know why they're not registered. I'm baffled. It is a sad comment — the number not voting."

Egl said the district must identify the voters it is trying to reach. One of the segments undoubtedly will be senior citizens living in the city of Plymouth.

A member of the audience commented that the senior citizens of Plymouth represented a "built-in no" vote.

"We have to indicate what the millage is going to affect," said Trustee David P. Artley. "If it fails, what does it mean to you?"

Egl suggested that the district show the kinds of improvements that would be made at each school building if the new funds are made available to the district.

Group home opinions vary

One issue that provoked different responses from candidates for the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees was group homes in residential areas.

Most candidates expressed opinions against group homes, but for different reasons. Most assumed the question asked concerned single-family neighborhoods, although the more general "residential" description was used.

The Observer asked each candidate for trustee: "Are you in favor of group homes for mentally retarded and/or emotionally impaired adults being located in residential areas? Why or why not?"

HORTON ADDED that state law does not allow local governments any voice as to location of group homes.

"This amounts to confiscation of property and should be corrected through legislation granting local control."

James Irvine said he has no objection to group homes for mentally retarded in residential areas. "Such people are different, need assistance and supervision, but are not a threat to anyone, and need understanding and sympathy instead of isolation."

"I object to such homes for emotionally impaired adults. Psychiatrists, psychologists, and social workers do not yet know enough about emotional disturbances to predict with sufficient accuracy which of their patients and wards will or will not explode dangerously."

KERRY A. PIERCY answered that she cannot support placement in residential areas until state law allows communities to participate in the planning of the location, size, and number of group homes.

"Currently, local communities are not allowed to do routine construction and fire inspections, which are required of all other residential homes."

Al Calille, an attorney, commented: "Group homes should not be placed in residential neighborhoods, regardless of the location, size, and number of group homes."

election '84

by whom they are occupied. Residential homes and neighborhoods are not designed or intended for habitation by groups of unrelated individuals.

"MY POSITION would be the same if a subdivision residential home was proposed for conversion to multi-unit rental. The unique character of our neighborhoods should not be destroyed by placing the board's position on the issue, without an explanation. "The Township Board has consistently supported Plymouth Township residents who have objected to the placement of group homes in residential subdivisions. Group homes which have been located outside of subdivisions have not met with resistance."

ROGER KEHRRIER believes they should be placed in the country, rather than in subdivisions. "I am not in favor of group homes for the mentally retarded and/or emotionally impaired adults in residential neighborhoods."

"Experience has dictated that residential neighborhoods as a whole do not welcome this type of either public or private-run enterprise thrust into their midst. Rather than residential neighborhoods, I believe the well-being of the group home would be served via a rural-type home location."

Dennis Campbell added his views: "I am not as concerned with residential area location as much as I am with access to commercial/retail areas . . . and more than likely by foot."

"THESE CITIZENS need to shop, work, etc., and have special transportation needs that need consideration as to operating costs."

Patrick O'Hara said he would not object to group homes for the mentally retarded or emotionally impaired being located in residential areas provided that:

"The anticipated use complies with current zoning and building codes and that public hearings for each request be held so as to acquire neighborhood approval. These residents in the area should have a voice in what direction their specific area will take. Success of these homes require neighborhood approval."

Wrap-up of primary election '84

On Tuesday, residents will go to the polls to participate in the primary election to nominate partisan candidates for public office. In today's edition, the Observer endorses candidates for Plymouth Township offices, 35th District Court, 10th District

Wayne County Commissioners and 2nd District U.S. Congress. The Observer also expresses its views on county ballot proposals seeking a millage renewal and changing the charter. See our editorial endorsements on Page 8A. Biographical information on township candidates may be found on Page 3A while information on the 2nd Congressional is on 9B and the 35th District Court on Pages 6-7A.

Candidates favor police pact

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

Judging by the responses of candidates for the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees, it is unlikely that the township will soon abandon having police services contracted out to the city of Plymouth.

All incumbents — and most challengers — advocate the continuation of a contract under which the Plymouth Police Department provides protection for the township.

Only one candidate, Roger Kehrier, advocates the outright dissolution of the city-township police services agreement.

"THE BEST method of providing police protection is to provide the service yourself rather than via contract," said Kehrier. "The city of Plymouth currently is having problems in serving itself."

"Presently, the sheriff and state police are on an 'on call' emergency status to the township. Township police protection-service is best described as 'sketchy.'"

The candidates were asked by the Observer to evaluate police, fire, and ambulance service in the township.

Trustee candidate Abe A. Munfakh, though not opposed to the existing arrangement, suggested that alternatives

election '84

be considered.

"CONCERNING PROVIDING police, fire and Emergency Medical Service (EMS) to the township, I believe we have to continue to monitor these services to insure that the township is receiving the best service for the cost."

"In the police area, as soon as the board draft a stringent specification for providing police services to the community and then using the specification to evaluate all options, such as continuing with a new contract with the city, providing police protection through the sheriff, or starting the township's own police force. An objective evaluation can only be made after strict specifications and standards are made."

MOST OF THE candidates said the township ought to continue to let the city provide police services as it is now doing.

Under the present arrangement, the city handles all police calls, dispatching, police reports and record-keeping. However, the township has a police chief, Carl Berry, whose job it is to administer the contract between the two communities.

Trustee candidate James D. Irvine questioned Berry's function. "A chief of police with no police department baffles me," said Irvine in answering his questionnaire. "I would eliminate the position."

BUT IRVINE apparently is satisfied with the existing relationship between the city and the township in terms of police cooperation. "Purchase of police services is practical and should be cost effective," said Irvine. "The agreement should describe their scope thoroughly."

Candidate Al Calille favors continuation of the contract. "Police, fire and ambulance service should be provided jointly with the city if it is cost-effective and provides the most efficient service," said Calille.

"Until June 1985, police service is under contract with the city. I support continued contracting with the city if cost-effective."

TREASURER CANDIDATE Mary A. Brooks strongly favors the contractual services arrangement. "At the present we are not ready to have our own police department. I can see the advantages of contracting with the city of Plymouth for a 10-year period. The city would then have the money available to hire extra men and buy the necessary equipment for taking care of the township."

Her opponent, Trustee Barbara J. Lynch, also favors the present contract. "At this time, the township is already providing police, fire and rescue services through the best, most cost-efficient methods. Several resources provide police protection, including contracting with the city, sheriff response to accidents and utilization of volunteers."

"AN INCREASE in any of these activities can only occur through increased taxes, a decision which can only be made by the voters," said Lynch.

Ether Hulsing, seeking re-election as township clerk, favored the existing system, with certain qualifications. "Given the present political situation, the best method is the one now in use."

"However, the cost-effectiveness of the method should be monitored on a regular continuing basis. Would 'public service' units serve us better? Is there merit in further contracting or independent contracting for services? Should the service areas be expanded? Are the three (police, fire, emergency medical) unions with their contracts

Should drain boss be appointed?

The Wayne County Commission shied away from debating a proposal to make the drain commissioner — an elective office since the 19th century — an appointee of the county executive.

Only Commissioner Mary Dumas, R-Livonia whose 10th District includes Plymouth, dissented when the commission last week tabled a charter amendment proposal which Dumas offered for the Nov. 6 ballot.

Tabling is a parliamentary move which has the effect of killing a proposal without making a clear yes-or-no decision.

Dumas, lone Republican on the 15-member Commission, advocated a plan similar to one pushed by County Executive William Lucas.

BUT DEMOCRATIC leaders in six congressional districts reportedly oppose making the drain commissioner appointive, Dumas said, as it would mean one less Democrat could be elected to office.

Moreover, the Democratic establishment in Wayne County has been angry with Democrat Lucas for the bipartisan nature of some of his appointments and because of his battles with employees unions.

Dumas argues that "the drain commissioner performs a public service which is closely linked with the work of the Road Commission and the Department of Public Works.

"The overall management of these three entities could be made better and more economical by merging them all into one department" under the county executive.

Although the three public works agencies still are distinct, Lucas has been trying to make them work together by locating them all in the same downtown Detroit building.

AT PRESENT, the executive has full authority over the DPW.

The executive appoints all three members of the Road Commission, though the governmental structure is still legally separate. Proposal B on the Aug. 7 ballot would abolish the Road Commission as a separate entity and make it a part of general county government.

Proposal B, placed on the ballot by the County Commission, would give Lucas administrative powers held by the Road Commission with the County Commission assuming the road panel's legislative powers.

The Dumas proposal to abolish the drain commissioner as an elective post was a companion measure to Proposal B.

LUCAS HAS been pushing two charter amendment proposals of his own, both of which would assign all Road Commission and drain commissioner powers to his office.

Two other Lucas proposals would strip the County Commission of its powers to ratify his appointments and approve contracts.

The County Commission unanimously refuses to put any of Lucas' proposals on the ballot. Lucas is in the process of getting petition signatures to force them on the ballot. Again, however, county Democratic and union organizations are opposed.

Candidates want police pact to continue

and civil service insurmountable barriers or can they be the basis for better service with some innovative practices?"

CLERK CANDIDATE Alice Fisher questioned the possible expense involved in setting up a separate Plymouth Township Police Department.

"Because police and fire departments never operate completely on their own, I feel cooperation is the key word. The expense in setting up a new police department encourages the establishment of a community department," said Fisher.

Raymond A. Maycock, candidate for treasurer, suggested studying the current city-township relationship.

"Since the township already has a police chief in place, I would evaluate the current contract for service to determine whether residents would be better served by establishment of our own department or by contracting with another agency," said Maycock.

TRUSTEE CANDIDATE Kerry A. Piercy said current services are "adequate and cost-efficient," but suggested the township keep an eye on the quality of police protection provided by the city.

"We should continue to monitor our police contract with the city as to its effectiveness and cost," said Piercy.

Trustee candidate Dennis B. Campbell favored the police contract, with qualifications. "I think the contract with the city for police services is working. Having the flexibility to establish our own service is very wise, however," said Campbell.

TRUSTEE CANDIDATES emphasized, in addition to contractual police protection, two other areas involving public safety.

One was the installation of a fire station or substation in the western part of the township; the other was the formation of a public safety department that would include police, fire and emergency medical services.

"Police, fire and ambulance service should be provided jointly with the city if it is cost-effective and provides the most efficient service," said Calille. "If joint township-city fire and ambulance service does not occur, these vitally important services to the community's well-being deserve the township's continued strong support. Although a third fire station has been proposed, funding has been and continues to be a major problem. Ambulance service should not be contracted out to a private sector third party."

MAYCOCK CALLED for a third fire station. "I believe the fire and ambulance (EMT) service as currently provided is adequate except for the addition of a third fire station in the western portion of the township," said Maycock.

Brooks, too, called for a new station. "Our own fire department is excellent. A third station on the west side of town is necessary," she said. "Having our own EMS units is a feeling of confidence to our citizens. Giving the fire department the necessary equipment and classes in new techniques to help the citizens is a must."

LYNCH SAID fire protection is adequate. "Our fire and rescue services are staffed 24 hours a day. Response time is immediate," she said.

Fisher said cooperation with other agencies would allow the township to avoid costly outlays for additional protection. "Our fire department with its extra station covered by its regulars and volunteers seems to be operating well," said Fisher. "Because we are being surrounded by emergency medical services, all we need is a well-trained, quick response unit available at all times."

Munfakh called for additional protection. "I am in favor of continuing the fire service at its present level, even though I would like to see more assistance to the western part of the township and would like to maintain EMS and emergency services through the fire department as is presently done," said Munfakh.

KEHRER ALSO wants the western fire station.

"The best method of providing fire and ambulance service is what's presently in force," he said.

Munfakh said additional manpower and facilities (i.e., the western firehouse) should be examined as to immediate need.

Irvine said, "The fire department presently does a good job handling fire and medical emergencies. This should be continued."

Piercy urged the use of more volunteers. "To hold down costs, we should continue to increase the number of volunteers in the fire department," she said. "The EMS should continue to be provided by the fire department."

CAMPBELL APPROVES of the present fire protection. "Having availed myself of all of them (police, fire, EMS), I support the status quo, particularly the fire department-EMS operations," said Campbell.

Trustee Andrew R. Fruner also suggested the use of volunteers. "Plymouth Township has been working with other governmental units to supplement our own full-paid fire department," said Fruner, "as well as utilizing volunteers to supplement the full-pay personnel."

"I believe Plymouth Township has led the way toward providing services by utilizing all available resources at the most effective cost, which translates into a relatively low tax rate for our residents."

TRUSTEE SMITH Horton was another who called for the increased use of volunteers and cooperation with other agencies.

"The most efficient way of providing police, fire and ambulance services in a township of our size is through a combination of intergovernmental cooperation, volunteers and citizen organizations to supplement full-time staff."

"Community service officers and formed volunteers assist the police at special events. REACT and FACT provide weather watch, an emergency preparedness service and work with Neighborhood Watch," said Horton.

Trustee candidate Patrick J. O'Hara said, "The best method is that method which simply provides the best quality service at the lowest possible cost amortized over a long-range period. To achieve that goal, access to studies providing sufficient information to all alternatives is a prerequisite to any decision in that regard."

Bond vote end of year

Board President Roland J. Thomas, Jr. announced a meeting schedule that includes coffee get-togethers Aug. 7 and 22 and a meeting of the Citizens Election Committee Aug. 9.

Egli prepared a schedule of telephone contacts with the voters and dissemination of printed materials for the millage campaign.

THE PROPOSED bond issue legally can be used to finance new buildings, renovations, equipment, library books, band instruments and school buses. It cannot be used to finance the purchase of textbooks, supplies, band uniforms, vehicles or in-service training.

Every school in the district would benefit, if the bond issue is approved in December or January, according to the "needs" list drawn up by the administration.

The largest segment of the proposed bond issue funds would be allocated to the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) — $1.154 million for computers, business education, industrial education, library and audio-visual, asphalt and other areas.

Another large portion of the bond issue funds would go toward the construction of classrooms at Eriksson Elementary School ($525,000), Field Elementary School ($525,000), and Hulsing Elementary School ($525,000).

ERIKSSON, FIELD and Hulsing each would be provided with an additional $175,000 for renovations. Central Middle School would receive $500,000 for renovations.

About $1 million would be used for bus replacements. The district expects to come up with a bond issue figure ranging from $4 to $7 million, with $5 million being a likely figure.

Taxpayers in the district would be assessed millage, if the bond issue passes, ranging from 0.5 mills if the amount of bonds sold at 11 percent is $4 million, up to 0.88 mill if the amount is $7 million. The possible debt retirement levy the first year then would range from 50 cents to 88 cents per $1,000 in state equalized valuation (SEV).

The millage needed to support the bond issue, principal and interest would be in effect for 15 years with the millage assessment at its highest around the year 1994.

A summer child

CAMILE McCLOY/staff photographer

Benjamin, 9 months, obviously thinks summer is the best time of year as he wears a big smile while enjoying the warmth this week in Kellogg Park. Helping the summer's child catch a few rays of sunlight is his mother, Joyce Tecmire, a brand new resident who just moved to Plymouth two weeks ago.

In that year, millage needed would be 0.63 for $4 million in bonds, 0.77 for $5 million, 0.89 for $6 million; and 1.05 mills for $7 million.

School officials point out that debt millage levies, in reality, often do not reach the maximum because communities grow in wealth (SEV) and population, thereby spreading the taxation over a greater number of businesses and residences.

Senior homes replace poor houses

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

Growing old no longer is a painful experience thanks to the great advances made by the medical profession and the development of nursing homes, convalescent centers and senior citizen homes across the country.

It doesn't seem so long ago when a person grew old and was sort of in the way in his or her home so that they were sent off to what the generation of those days called the Poor House.

It mattered little that the elderly had done a fine job of raising their family and providing for them — they were now in the way and the sentence to the "poor house" was one way of having a home.

But things are different and no one knows it better than John Hendry, owner and operator of the Hendry Convalescent Center on Haggerty overlooking Hines Park.

"The medical profession has come a long way in helping the elderly," he explained, "and these folks now in their so-called "golden years" no longer are in the way.

"FORTUNATELY, THAT'S where the convalescent centers come into the picture. The great advances made by them have taken the "sting" out of such places as the "poor house." And what's more these elderly folks enjoy it much better — just in the knowledge that they are not being pushed around and, in many cases, told that they are not wanted."

In the modern convalescent centers these elderly folks have companions of their own age. They eat together, play cards together, and just have a nice time every day — all day. It is the same way with the nursing homes like West Trail in Plymouth and the Tongish Manor for Plymouth's senior citizens.

"In the old days," Hendry explained, "the doctors didn't have the tools and medicines with which to work and many lives were lost with this ignorance. Today, the medicines on the market are such that the elderly enter into their golden years in good health in most cases."

"It is surprising," Hendry went on, "to see the smiles on these elderly citizens' faces when they realize that someone really cares for them and to know that they are wanted in these modern facilities."

Municipal governments also have taken a hand making life more pleasant for the elderly. One of the finest examples is the Cultural Center in the city of Plymouth where the elderly engage in many exciting card games during the week or join in watching the younger folks on ice skates — even the middle of summer.

Hendry received his baptism in caring for the elderly when he still was attending the Henry Ford Trade School from which he graduated as an engineer.

"It was about 20 years ago," he said, "when I was asked to take over two old buildings behind the Fisher Building in Detroit. They needed a lot of work. But it was done and I then saw the need for convalescent homes.

"I found the right location on the banks of Hines Park and just seeing these elderly folks — day in and day out — enjoying themselves convinced me that growing old no longer is as painful as it used to be.

"With their private rooms, 24-hour medical attention and the companionship, the convalescent homes and the nursing homes and the senior citizens buildings have done a major job in making life easier for those who in many cases were no longer wanted, or couldn't be cared for, at home."

Theme picked for Fall Fest

The Plymouth Fall Festival Board has selected the theme of "On A Sunday Afternoon (turn of the century)" for the 1984 Fall Festival.

Each year during the Fall Festival, a window display contest is run by the Fall Festival Board.

"Throughout the city, service clubs, community groups and individuals are being encouraged to enter this annual contest," window decoration chairwoman Sue McElroy said.

"This is a great event that thousands of people will be able to view, and it helps generate even more interest in the festival."

Any groups interested in entering this competition should contact McElroy at 435-2046 as soon as possible as the deadline for applications is Monday, Aug. 6.

The festival will be held downtown Plymouth Sept. 6-9.

Judicial candidates express views

Candidates for 35th District Court, at the request of the Observer Newspapers of Plymouth and Canton, submitted the following biographical information and answered the questions which follow. The information is reprinted here as a service to our readers:

Question 1: What makes you qualified to serve as district judge? (50 words or less).

Question 2: How much, and what kind, of legal experience do you have? (75 words).

Question 3: Who would you describe the judicial temperament you would exercise? (50 words).

Question 4: Should the court review its fine structure in the event the user communities subsidize its operation? Why or why not? (50 words)

Question 5: Do you agree with the court's current practice of allowing a magistrate to conduct informal traffic hearings? Why or why not? (50 words).

ALAN DAVIS

1. My practice has been in the preparation and trial of law suits. This has given me the opportunity to view many courtrooms and judges. I am a good listener and have a good sense of justice. I believe I have the honesty, impartiality and dedication to making our court work properly.

2. I started out handling all of the various cases in the district court, such as traffic cases, misdemeanor crimes, landlord-tenant, and litigation involving smaller amounts. Since then I have been able to allocate most of my practice to personal injury work. I have tried cases in the various Circuit and District Courts throughout this area, as well as appearing for numerous motions, pretrial, mediations, etc.

3. I would expect attorneys and clients to come to court prepared and on time. Each person would be given a fair opportunity to be heard uninterrupted. Disregard of court procedure and orders would not be tolerated.

The safety of the people and businesses would be strongly considered in sentencing criminals.

election '84

4. The court must deal with those cases brought before it under the statutes and court rules. It must not be required to modify its operation or decisions based on who is paying for its operational expense, or it will stop being a "Hall of Justice" and become just another political tool.

5. When necessary, magistrates can be helpful to a busy court and save the expense of hiring an additional judge. Because the charged traffic offender has an absolute right, if he chooses to use it, to a new trial before a judge, the Defendants rights are protected.

STEPHEN FOLEY

1. My education, law enforcement background, and experience as a Trial Attorney, in jury and bench trials, qualifies me for the position. As a Prosecuting Attorney and Defense Attorney, I can bring a balancing factor other attorneys have not experienced. My experience includes Federal, Circuit, District, Juvenile, and Appellate Courts.

2. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, Wayne County — two years. Assistant Township Attorney, Redford — Past five years. Prosecution and Defense — Felony, Misdemeanor and Ordinance Violations. Consultation on police practice and procedures.

Civil and criminal appellate experience, Prosecutor's Office and State Appellate Defender Office.

Civil Trial Attorney — experience in malpractice, products liability, personal injury, governmental liability, automobile negligence, workers compensation, landlord/tenant, real estate, bankruptcy, and arbitration.

Criminal Trial Attorney — murder, robbery, arson, drunk driving.

3. A Judge is no better than his fellow man, but in his position he must assist all individuals in understanding our laws and legal system. One must be strict, compassionate and understanding of the problems that people intentionally or inadvertently find themselves in during the course of their lifetime.

4. The duty of accountability is always present. With or without subsidy, there should be periodic review of the District Court system to eliminate waste and to obtain more effective and less costly ways of promoting justice. If and when the user community subsidizes operations, the Court must be accountable.

5. The use of a Magistrate allows for the more effective use of a Judge's time and experience. Informal traffic hearings can help resolve matters before further congesting a Court's docket. Informal traffic hearings can further open lines of communication between opposing parties to resolve disputes. It is a valuable practice.

JACQUELINE GEORGE

1. As a trial lawyer, I handle major felony cases in Detroit's Recorder's Court. Daily I interact with judges, prosecutors, defendants, witnesses, probation officers, reporters and court watchers. I work as a part of a team effort for the efficient administration of justice and would continue to cooperate and work hard if elected judge.

2. I have been a practicing attorney for eight years. During the last four years, I have been assigned by the various judges in Recorder's Court, Circuit Court and Traffic Court to represent indigent people who are charged with major felonies or traffic offenses. I have worked for the misdemeanor and felony defender offices, and during my early years of practice, I was a suburban lawyer, handling civil and district court matters.

3. As judge, I will be strong, patient and fair. I will listen to both sides, before deciding the case, without bias or favoritism. I share the community's concern on the issues of drunk driving, drug selling, child, spouse and animal abuse and will impose an appropriate sentence upon conviction.

Candidates for the 35th District Court

4. As of October, 1983, the 35th District Court has been totally autonomous and completely self supporting. Further, it expects to distribute back to its five units according to use approximately $184,000 in 1984 in gifts. As to fines levied, the 35th district court is in the top one-third. If elected, I hope to continue the present administration's success through co-operation and hard work.

5. The current magistrate should continue to hear the numerous, informal, civil citations, thereby freeing the judge to set bonds on the felony arraignments, handle the preliminary examinations on the felony cases, carefully and sensitively adjudicate the trials on the drunk driving, abuse, and civil matters under $10,000. Use of the magistrate is authorized by law and is encouraged by the Michigan Supreme Court. Any citizen who is unsatisfied with the magistrate's decision may have his case heard over again by the judge.

ROBERT E. GREENSTEIN

1. My experience as a trial attorney of 23 years and the many elective offices I have had the honor of holding, as well as being the only candidate with prior Judicial and Police experience make me, I believe, uniquely qualified for a community oriented District Court Judgeship.

2. I have enjoyed 23 years of active private law practice which has matured with the years from an intense trial practice in the first 10 years into a community and family oriented practice to this date. I have had extensive experience with every type of case which comes before a District Judge. My experience as a Police Officer, Chief of Police and Chief Court Probation Officer lends unique balance to my outlook and background.

3. Calmness, courteousness and attentiveness must be the hallmark of proper and effective judicial temperament if our jurisprudential system is to survive. Litigants must be made to feel that their hearing was fair and courteous and not AN EXERCISE OF POMPOSITY OR EGO ON THE PART OF THE JUDGE.

4. Courts are to be strictly instruments of justice, for the victim and the offender, and everyone must have faith, from the conduct of the Judge, that any fine or charge levied is the result of the severity of the crime and NOT related in any way to making money for anyone.

5. Judges are excellent answers to spreading workloads and streamlining Court process (informal traffic hearings). However, the magistrate must be specifically trained for that position and NOT be possessed with what might be inherent conflicts of interest such as being responsible for the Court budget (and setting fines upon offenders).

JOHN E. MacDONALD

1. I feel that I am qualified to serve as District Judge because I have had more than 23 years of private law experience representing clients both as Plaintiffs and Defendants at all levels of the Court system in Michigan including several appearances before the Supreme Court of Michigan. I have served on the 35th District Court Advisory Board and thus am familiar with various personnel problems, budgets of the Court and the other day to day operation of the Court.

2. I have 23 years of legal experience at all levels of the Court system in the private practice of law. Approximately 30 percent of my practice has been dealing with the criminal type case, 30 percent with general matters, i.e., probate, divorce and real estate. The balance of my practice is representing school districts and motor vehicle offenders.

election '84

1. I believe that I would have an excellent judicial temperament, as I have had experience arbitrating cases, headed numerous organizations wherein I had to make decisions to have people work together for the betterment of the organization, specifically the Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, and Wayne County Economic Development Corporation. In addition I have been an Elder and Deacon of the Presbyterian Church wherein we had to help people solve their problems.

4. I believe the Court should review its fine structure and increase the fines if necessary. There has been according to the current Judges no subsidizing of the Court since 1983 by the communities. The Court does review its fine structure periodically.

5. I agree with the Courts current practice of allowing a magistrate to conduct informal traffic hearings because it permits the Court to hear more complex civil matters. In fact this current practice is based on the recommendation of the Michigan Supreme Court.

BRUCE C. PATTERSON

1. I have practiced extensively in the District Courts representing both plaintiffs and defendants. During that period I have handled nearly all manner of proceedings within the Court's jurisdiction.

I have specific experience to bring to office with which to continue the Court's efficient administration of Justice.

2. Attended Wayne University Law School 1969-1972, graduated; during period served as a law clerk. Admission to State Bar Association 1972; joined Law Firm of McCabe and Middleton as an associate.

1974 appointed to American Arbitration Association.

By 1974 receiving most of Firm's District Court hearings.

1979 became a Principal in Firm.

1980 appointed to Canton Merit Commission.

Presently, senior trial attorney/managing principal with McCabe, Middleton, Patterson, Parks and Muma handling all manner of legal proceedings.

3. I have traditional notions of fair play, impartiality; am patient, understanding, respectful towards litigants, employees, jurors, attorneys; will insist upon prompt, thorough and organized presentation; firm and unsympathetic of stall tactics.

Judge must listen and hear cases presented, then deliberate and decide them.

Following decision would impose appropriate sanctions/awards.

4. Fine structure is established primarily as a type of punishment intended to be imposed in manner and degree in accordance with offense(s) committed.

While I am fiscally responsible, I would neither increase fines imposed when Court needed money, nor decrease amount of punishment by fine when Court fiscally sound.

5. Agree because it permits the Court to get involved sooner, when details are fresh in witnesses' minds. Occurrence-Court hearing proximity tends to serve ends of Justice.

Informality permits people less anxious day in Court, without expense of lawyer if so chooses.

Informal hearings lessen cost of Court's operation.

In Plymouth Township, primary decides it all

ON TUESDAY, Aug. 7, Plymouth Township residents will go to the party primary polls and, in theory, nominate partisan candidates for a final run-off in November.

But that's only theory. In practice, in 1984, the township election will be decided in Tuesday's primary because only the names of Republican candidates will appear on the ballot. For some reason, not a single Democrat has filed for any township office this year, and so the Republicans nominated Tuesday will hold office for the next four years.

Unfortunately, a low turnout is expected, and so the future of the township will rest in the hands of very few voters.

Hopefully, those few voting Tuesday will be an informed electorate.

To assist in informing voters, the Plymouth Observer has been publishing Voter Guides, stories on the background of candidates and their stands on local issues. Today we offer our endorsements of those we believe best qualified to serve our readers in the township.

Besides examining questionnaires, the Observer also bases its endorsements on personal knowledge of the candidates and incumbents and on our perceptions and impressions gained from covering township government year round.

We make no endorsement for supervisor because the incumbent is not being challenged by anyone. We also make no endorsement for constable — because only two candidates have filed for two jobs, and because the job should be appointive rather than elective. Following are our choices for the other offices:

FOR CLERK: Challenger Alice Fisher has an impressive list of community involvement but is short on experience in government. Volunteer work on township government committees would be valuable learning experience before seeking a paid staff position as clerk. Incumbent Esther Hulsing, on the other hand, has years of experience in government in addition to her broad involvement in community affairs. Hulsing has performed well as clerk for the past six years and as a member of the township board. She also serves as chairman on the Rouge River Watershed Council and vice president of the Wayne County Clerk's Association. The Observer endorses Esther Hulsing as Plymouth Township clerk.

FOR TREASURER: Probably the most closely contested race in this year's primary is for township treasurer. Deputy Treasurer Mary Brooks, with 12 years experience on the treasurer's staff, faces Barbara Lynch, who has been a township trustee for six years.

The other candidate is political newcomer Raymond Maycock, a local CPA active in civic affairs. While Maycock has a strong accounting background with valuable experience in taxation, he lacks involvement in local government and lacks the knowledge and insight of Brooks and Lynch in how township government functions. While recognizing Maycock as a legitimate candidate, we believe the choice is between Lynch and Brooks.

Both Brooks and Lynch, to their credit, have been actively involved in the community. Both have lived in the township for about the same time — Brooks for 19 years, Lynch for 17 years. Both work hard in township government — Brooks as an assistant administrator, Lynch as a trustee — and understand the nuances of the system and its people.

Brooks has the edge in years of service — 12 years in the treasurer's office working first for Elizabeth Holmes and then for Joseph West. Lynch has been a trustee for six years.

From this point on, the Observer believes the comparisons favor Lynch. Besides serving as trustee, Lynch has served on the township planning commission, zoning board of appeals, negotiating committee, employee evaluation and compensation committee, and as chairperson of the township cable task force and of the housing and rehabilitation program. Thus, Lynch has a much broader experience in township government.

Lynch also has recent employment experience in private industry — a former bookkeeper and credit union employee; currently supervises software installation in financial institutions, and directs training programs for financial software users. She has earned an associates degree in accounting, and is a candidate for a bachelor's degree in public administration from Madonna College.

After closely examining the records of both, and watching both in action, the Observer endorses Barbara Lynch as best qualified for township treasurer.

FOR TRUSTEE: Two new faces will appear on the board of trustees this year. Lee Fidge has decided against seeking reelection (a real loss for the township), and Lynch is vying for treasurer.

The incumbents are Andrew Pruner, elected in 1980, and Smith Horton, appointed to fill the vacancy of Gerald Law when he was elected to the Michigan House two years ago. Neither is an outstanding member of the board, but then neither has done any harm. Both need to spend more time studying the agenda packets to be better informed of the business coming before the board.

Looking at the field of challengers, the Observer finds two we believe should perform well as replacements for Lynch or Fidge. Of the remaining challengers, however, we do not find anyone we feel assured will do better than Pruner or Horton. We, therefore, endorse for re-election Andrew Pruner and Smith Horton.

For one of the two vacancies on the board the Observer recommends Abe Munfakh. A professional engineer, Munfakh is vice president of an engineering and planning firm in Ann Arbor. He is a member of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission and is president of Trailwood Homeowners Association Board of Directors. Articulate, intelligent, and well informed on the issues, Munfakh will become a valuable contributor to the board.

For the other vacancy the Observer endorses Al Calille. Calille is a staff attorney for Michigan Bell and an instructor in business law at University of Michigan-Dearborn. He is vice president of the Plymouth Community Family YMCA Board of Directors and is chairman of the search committee for a new building site. Calille also is on the board of the Michigan Self-Insured Association, and of the Michigan Employers Unemployment Compensation.

If Calille is elected, we expect him to realize that most of the township's business is to be conducted in public and not kept under wraps until convenient to announce a final decision — a tendency he has shown as YMCA site committee chairman.

IN SUMMARY, the Observer endorses as most qualified Esther Hulsing for clerk, Barbara Lynch for treasurer, Andrew Pruner, Smith Horton, Abe Munfakh, and Albert Calille for trustee.

Dumas gets GOP nod for 10th county seat

ALTHOUGH REPUBLICAN party allegiance appears to be growing stronger in Livonia and Plymouth, voters in the 10th District race for Wayne County Commission should remember that most issues the board deals with clearly can be labeled non-partisan.

As November approaches and voters select one person to represent them at the county level, it should be a choice based on a candidate's knowledge of and position on the issues, knowledge of the governmental process and ability to work in conjunction with other commissions and the county's chief executive officer.

Livonian Laura Toy, a member of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination from the 10th District which includes Plymouth, Livonia and Northville.

In Tuesday's Republican primary, three candidates are seeking the nomination. They include incumbent Mary Dumas, Livonia City Treasurer Elaine Tuttle and Livonia businessman Hugh Patrick O'Neill.

Our choice on the Republican side is Mary Dumas. We endorse Dumas, however, with some reservations. Although she has been a progressive voice on the commission and understands the issues, we believe she needs to cooperate more with other board members and the county executive.

O'Neill, a longtime Livonia resident and businessman, has campaigned hard for the nomination. If elected, he would be a hardworking representative for residents in the 10th District.

Tuttle's idea of holding two public offices if elected to the county commission is puzzling. We believe it would be difficult to serve as treasurer and county commissioner and that one constituency inevitably would be cheated. Tuttle has a very distinct purpose to serve as the "watchdog" of the city administration in Livonia, and we'd like to see her remain.

— Observer Newspapers

Cleaning up the charter

COUNTY ROAD commissions were set up a half-century ago to shield road matters from "politics." The result, in Wayne and some other counties, was the opposite of what was intended. County road commissions became rife with personal patronage, empire-building and politics.

Wayne County voters have a chance to break fresh ground in the state Aug. 7 if they will approve Proposal B. An amendment to the county's home-rule charter, it would abolish the three-member Road Commission, bringing it into general county government. Here's what will happen:

- Administratively, the road commission would come under the Public Services Department, reporting to County Executive William Lucas. We all will know who is in charge, whom to blame when things go wrong, whom to pat on the back if things get better.

- Legislatively, the road system will be under the County Commission, which will approve major appointments and major contracts. That will give us a good checks-and-balances system.

- Financially, gasoline and weight tax revenues will still be earmarked for roads.

For all the fights that have occurred between the executive and the county commission, this charter amendment is one on which they agree.

PUBLIC WORKS in Wayne County have been a three-headed monster, under the Department of Public Works, the road commission and the drain commissioner. If we approve this charter amendment, the number of heads will be reduced to two.

We urge voters to say yes to this charter amendment.

We would also urge the County Commission to place on the Nov. 6 ballot a similar proposal to bring the drain commissioner's department under general county government, too.

For years, Wayne County government has been the laughing stock of the state. Now Wayne County is within inches of developing the best governmental structure of the 83 counties.

By adopting such charter amendments, voters will give elected officials the tools to do the jobs we want done.

Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

Renew county millage

WAYNE COUNTY government is beginning to get its financial house in order. Labor contracts have been renegotiated, a deal has been made to get the hospital deficits off our collective backs, and accounts with the state have been settled.

This is no time to cut the legs off County Executive William Lucas and the County Commission. We urge voters to approve Proposal A, the one-mill property tax renewal on the Aug. 7 ballot.

In effect since 1964, the one-mill levy provides almost one-seventh of all county government property tax revenues and about 10 percent of the entire general fund.

BECAUSE OF legal wording, it may seem the tax is an "increase." In reality, it is a renewal of a levy responsible voters have renewed in 1965, 1972 and 1978. It would last five years, appearing in Dec. 1 tax bills from 1985 to 1989.

County government, both under the old Board of Commissioners and the new Executive-Commission system in effect since 1983, has scaled back employment from 10,000 in the 1960s to 4,000 currently. Payrolls aren't being fattened. They are being cut.

Now would be a particularly bad time, however, to hold back on the tax renewal. Sheriff Robert A. Ficino has a new jail to operate. Prosecutor John O'Hair intends to fight more lawsuits against the county instead of paying off out of court.

TO THE owner of a home with a market value of $50,000 and assessed for half that amount, the county special millage costs $25 a year.

We hope Wayne County voters will do the responsible thing in the Aug. 7 primary and say yes to the one-mill county operating tax renewal.

Observer Newspapers

Judicial pick a key race

ONE OF THE important decisions to be made by Plymouth-Canton voters in the August primary is the nomination of two candidates for 35th District judge.

November's winner will succeed the retiring Dunbar Davis, the first judge to serve the 35th District. Davis was elected in 1968 when judicial districts were created by virtue of changes in the Michigan Constitution. The state since has established a second judgeship for the Plymouth-Canton-Northville area, a post now held by Judge James Garber.

The names of six qualified attorneys will appear on the non-partisan, judicial portion of the ballot Aug. 7.

Choosing from among them isn't an easy task, as it is difficult to determine and quantify aspects of a person's character, experience and background that best qualify him or her to serve as judge.

Nonetheless, three candidates have much to offer voters.

John MacDonald, 49, of Northville has amassed valuable experience as a practicing attorney for 23 years; as a member of the Advisory Board for 35th District Court and the American Trial Lawyers Association, and as Northville Township's current supervisor.

MacDonald is the only candidate who earned the top rating of "preferred and well-qualified" by Civic Searchlight, a voters' service. He has represented both plaintiffs and defendants at all levels of

election '84

Michigan's court system, including the Supreme Court. As a member of the 35th District Court's Advisory Board, MacDonald has become familiar with personnel problems, budgets and day-to-day court operations.

There's every indication John MacDonald would exercise good judicial temperament on the bench. He is congenial, personable and intelligent — and clearly the frontrunner in the Observer's opinion.

Voters will be asked to select only one judicial candidate. But because the two top vote-getters will survive the primary to run in November's general election, the Observer is making a second choice — albeit a difficult one.

Both Stephen Foley and Bruce Patterson would make good judges.

A 33-year-old Canton resident, Foley has seven years of experience in criminal and civil law, having successfully represented both defendants and plaintiffs. He has served as Redford Township assistant attorney and as assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County.

Foley has a good grasp of what it takes to be district judge and of the qualities an effective judge should possess. Many of them match his own. Foley is sincere, energetic and has workable ideas about improving the judicial system for victims, repeat offenders and society.

VOTERS would be even better served, we feel, by our second choice — Detroit trial attorney Bruce Patterson.

A Canton resident, Patterson has practiced law extensively at the district court level, representing both plaintiffs and defendants for the past 12 years. Since his appointment in 1974 to the American Arbitration Association, Patterson, 37, has never been reversed. His background as an arbiter and as Canton Merit Commission chairman would serve him well on the bench.

We perceive as Patterson's assets: good listening skills and ideas, patience, the ability to reason and communicate, decisiveness, level-headedness and pleasant demeanor. We feel Patterson would aptly handle drunk driving cases. We like the open courtroom policy he outlines. Patterson as district judge would protect the interests of defendants, plaintiffs, victims and the community as district judge.

Whomever you choose, be sure to vote! The judge elected in November will serve residents of this community for six years. Help make a choice that counts.

— Observer Newspapers

Grimes best for Dems in 2nd

ONE CONGRESSIONAL race that has stirred little excitement is the Democratic contest in the 2nd District between Don Grimes of Ann Arbor and Mike McCauley of Salem Township.

The 2nd Congressional District includes most of Livonia, all of Plymouth and Northville in western Wayne County; Ann Arbor and surrounding townships in Washtenaw County; and Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties. Incumbent U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, faces no challenge on the GOP side of this Tuesday's primary ballot.

BOTH MCCAULEY and Grimes seem anxious to run against Pursell. Much of their primary campaign rhetoric is aimed at the congressman. But they actually are running against each other to become the Democratic nominee.

And the choice is not obvious — both say many of the same things on the issues. They are both Democrats and, to their credit, talk like Democrats. McCauley, lined with endorsements from the UAW and AFL-CIO, certainly expects to attract Democratic votes from labor's ranks.

GRIMES, A research economist at the University of Michigan Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations, should be able to draw votes from the professionals and management-types of the diverse 2nd District.

Residents might be tempted to choose the "favorite son" — McCauley — who teaches social studies at Plymouth-Canton High and is a graduate of Livonia Bentley. McCauley has no deep faults that would automatically disqualify him as a candidate. He does, however, seem to "recite" answers to issue questions, and his answers are too pat.

GRIMES, ON the other hand, seems more reflective and thoughtful. He paused before answering and "thinks out" the response. His manner suggests Grimes does not have a collection of stock answers lined up to use as responses to different issues.

Both candidates have a lot of work to do to get ready to take on incumbent Pursell in November. On balance, the Observer believes Grimes stands the better chance of putting it all together and presenting himself as a balanced candidate to challenge Pursell in the fall.

We believe Democrats would do well to nominate Don Grimes on Tuesday, Aug. 7, and recommend his candidacy.

roll call report

House nixes attempt to cut public broadcasting

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 23-25.

HOUSE

PUBLIC BROADCASTING — By a vote of 176 for and 217 against, the House defeated an amendment to limit budget hikes for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

After rejecting this attempt to hold spending increases to 15 percent annually during fiscal 1987-89, the House approved hikes averaging 80 percent during the period.

The upshot was to reverse the Reagan Administration's deep cuts in federal support of public television and radio. More generous private contributions had been anticipated to take up the slack, but they fell far short of expectations and several programs have been scrapped or slated to die.

As later sent to the Senate, the bill

(HR 5441) raises federal payments to $238 million in 1987, $263 million in 1988 and $270 million in 1989.

Amendment sponsor Michael Oxley, R-Ohio, said "there is no reason to believe that public broadcasters need such massive increases."

Opponent John Bryant, D-Texas, noted that the higher federal payments will provide "only 20 percent" of public broadcasting's revenue.

Members voting no favored annual spending hikes of about 80 percent over three years for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. Voting no: Dennis Hertz, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Voting for the cuts: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

AFTER SCHOOL RELIGION — The House voted, 337 for and 77 against, to permit student groups to conduct voluntary religious meetings in public high school facilities before or after the regular school day.

This was a victory for advocates of returning some degree of religious practice to public schools.

The "equal access" provision approved by this vote denies federal funding to any school that fails to give religious groups the same extracurricular access to its facilities that it gives to other student groups. It was attached to an education bill (HR 1310) that was sent to conference with the Senate. Because there is no disagreement over the equal access language, the provision is expected to become law.

Supporter Marge Roukema, R-N.J., said the measure permits free speech and assembly to religious groups "and is therefore both legally acceptable and necessary in a free society under our Constitution."

Opponent Charles Schumer, D-N.Y.,

said the provision "reverses a 200-year tradition in this country that many of our forefathers died for... the separation of church and state and no state establishment of a religion."

Members voting yes favored the equal access provision. Voting yes: Pursell, Hertz and Broomfield.

Voting no: Ford and Levin.

COLUMBUS CELEBRATION — By a vote of 279 for and 130 against, the House gave final approval of a bill (HR 1492) establishing a federal commission to plan a national celebration in 1992 of the 500th anniversary of Christopher Columbus's discovery of the New World. Senate approval and President Reagan's signature were to follow.

About $2 million is budgeted initially for the Christopher Columbus Quincentenary Jubilee Commission, whose staff members are to be paid up to $66,400 annually and be eligible for federal retirement payments of up to $9,500 annually. Most employees are to be appointed through political channels.

Supporter Robert Garcia, D-N.Y., said the commission budget "is not an excessive amount" given the need to appropriately celebrate Columbus's historic act.

Opponent William Dannemeyer, R-Calif., noted that the commission that planned and built the Vietnam Veterans Memorial did so "with not a dime of taxpayers' money."

Members voting yes wanted to create the Christopher Columbus commission with an initial budget of $2 million. Voting yes: Hertz, Ford and Levin.

Voting no: Pursell and Broomfield.

SENATE

ANNE BURFORD — The Senate adopted, 74 for and 19 against, a resolution urging President Reagan to cancel his selection of Anne M. Burford as chairwoman of the National Advisory Committee on Oceans and Atmosphere.

Burford last year resigned under fire as administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. Because her appointment to head the environmental advisory committee for three years is not subject to Senate confirmation, the resolution was non-binding.

Senators voting yes wanted to condemn Burford's return to an environmental leadership post. Michigan Democrats Carl Levin and Donald Riegle voted yes.

Supporter George Mitchell, D-Maine, called the appointment "a step backward not only for the cause of environmental protection but also for (President) Reagan's own credibility on this issue."

Opponent John East, R-N.C., said "Once again, the political atmosphere (surrounding Burford) has the smell of blood, and the sharks come running... They cut her down and they chew her up and they eat her."

Feed birds in summer? Sure, it's fun

By Timothy Nowicki special writer

Feeding birds during winter has become a popular source of entertainment in recent years. Many people enjoy seeing the red cardinal come for a snack of sunflower seeds or the American goldfinch nibbling on a niger seed.

Providing a nutritious source of food for birds during the winter, when food is scarce, serves both birds and birdwatcher, but some people have asked me, "Do I need to feed birds during summer, too?"

The direct answer is no. Birds can find sufficient food during summer when insects and other food sources abound.

THERE ARE, however, reasons you may want to consider feeding birds in summer.

First of all, even seed-eating birds like cardinals feed their young nestlings insects. They provide a more nutritious source of food for growing bodies than seeds.

So if you provide a constant source of food for the adults, you free up their time to search out hard-to-find insects for their young. Even if the adults just supplement their own diet, it will still save them time.

The second advantage is that you can see the young birds as they come to the feeder.

Any way of increasing your opportunities to view wildlife and to observe their unique ways is worth considering.

Lucas, commission agree on need for 1 mill

By Tim Richard
staff writer

They have argued about other matters, but Executive William Lucas and the Wayne County Commission agree they need passage of Proposal A, a one-mill property tax renewal, on the Aug. 7 ballot.

"To pull $18 million out of the budget this year — particularly when we're opening the new jail — would be devastating," said Fred Todd, the county's chief financial officer.

In a nutshell, loss of the millage would cost county operations about 10 percent of their revenue. It would result in the layoff of 300 to 400 employees, about 10 percent of the remaining 3,400 county workers, Todd said in an interview.

FIRST APPROVED in 1964, the special voted mill was renewed for five-year periods in 1968, 1972 and 1978. If renewed Aug. 7, it will be levied in December property tax bills from 1985 to 1989.

The renewal is being asked this year because there is no general election in 1985, Todd said, and it would be too costly to hold a special election.

To the owner of a house with a market value of $60,000 and an assessment of $30,000, the levy will cost $30 a year. The county charter authorizes 6.07 mills. The special one-mill levy raises the total to 7.07 mills.

The one mill in Proposal A raises about $18 million in direct property tax revenue and brings in another $1.5 million in state matching funds for a total of $19.5 million. That amounts to 1/10 of the total $191-million operating budget, Todd said.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT has about 4,200 employees, minus 860 at the hospital, which is being leased this month to a private firm. That leaves about 3,340 employees to be paid out of the general operating fund, Todd said.

The chief financial officer, who heads Lucas' Department of Management and Budget, said Wayne County has a particularly good record this year in putting its affairs in order. Achievements:

- Debt accounts with the state government have been straightened out and are being settled.

- The hospital, "a major thorn in our side," is being transferred to a private firm under a lease-purchase arrangement. The hospital had been run at annual deficits of $15 million or more for several years.

- The county is closing the M Building jail annex in Westland and will no longer have to pay the city of Detroit for bunking prisoners in the Detroit House of Correction.

- County officials persuaded the Michigan Legislature to allow double bunking in some jail cells, increasing the new jail's capacity.

MEANWHILE, Todd said, the new Andrew C. Baird Detention Facility — the formal name for the new jail — is being opened currently.

He said Lucas wants to maintain the staff strength of corporation counsel John O'Hair (who doubles as prosecutor) in order to fight lawsuits against the county. Previously the county often paid off out of court.

With a staff of 39 attorneys and a budget of $2.5 million, the corporation counsel's office wants to pay competitive salaries and retain good attorneys. "We're trying to pay as close to the market wage as possible so the good ones don't jump the fence," Todd said.

WHAT MIGHT be cut if the millage fails? "It has never been defeated," Todd replied, but he went on to answer the question anyway.

The sheriff's road patrol in Hines

Park in the western suburbs could be jeopardized. The park patrol is a $2.5-million item. Another $3 million for Hines Park improvements could be given the ax.

Crisis centers for substance abuse, an appropriation to the drain commissioner for maintaining drains and the Cooperative Extension Service also could be jeopardized.

"We'd be required to look at all county programs, decide what is mandatory and decide what is discretionary," Todd said, adding: "There are not that many that are discretionary."

COMMISSIONER Samuel Turner, appearing at a news conference with Lucas, said:

"In the past several months, the county has taken some important steps toward fiscal order and relief of a troubled situation. To keep this momentum going, the county ought to be allowed to keep its current level of financial support."

Turner, D-Detroit, is chairman of the commissioner's committee of the whole. Commissioners said juvenile court, public health, job training and senior citizens services also might be threatened by the millage's loss.

Blood donors needed

A blood shortage that has plagued the community since mid-July is expected to continue throughout August, the American Red Cross of Southeastern Michigan said.

Blood can be donated by anyone in good health who is between the ages of 17 and 65 and weighs at least 110 pounds, a Red Cross spokeswoman said. Donors are encouraged to bring a friend or relative along to donate with them.

THE UPCOMING party for the second showing of "Word of Honor" promises to be a wonderful cast reunion for all those who appeared in the made-for-television movie. It also will be fun for friends and neighbors to watch it on a large screen and get a good look at the local people and scenes.

For those who have moved to this area in the past three years, "Word of Honor" was filmed here and for a few weeks, the whole town "went Hollywood." We had Alex Karras and Susan Clark strolling around town. Karl Malden, who had the lead, spent hours in Kellogg Park where the opening scenes were filmed. Carl Battishill, who conducts the Plymouth Community Band, directed the music. Our cheerleaders performed, and our residents were extras. A police chase went right through Russ Webster's Penniman Delicatessen.

When it was shown on television, everyone tried to pick out every familiar face and location. This time, at the "second world premiere," we'll have the benefit of large screens and, hopefully, lots of the extras who will be identified.

The first world premiere of "Word of Honor" would have been here, but some TV industry restrictions prevented a private advance showing.

Everyone is invited to join the fun beginning at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 15, in the Mayflower Meeting House. Tickets at $5 per person will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

Dress can be termed optional. There will be some in typical Hollywood first nighter garb while others are opting for the usual conservative.

Any profits from the venture will go to a journalism scholarship for a graduating high school senior at the Centennial Educational Park. Come alone or get a group together. It's going to be a first for the community.

CONTRARY TO the cutlines on a picture of new officers, the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women does have a president. The group has one treasurer, not two. Nancy Vernon is president and Ann Neiswander is treasurer. And many thanks to the many readers who noted the error.

NILES BEAUGRAND has completed his first year as president of the Plymouth Community Council on Aging. It has been a busy and productive year with many existing programs improved and streamlined. Niles said, "It has been a lot of hard work by many individuals. I hope we can increase our volunteer efforts in the months ahead."

He has established more Photo ID sessions, expanded the Skill Bank Program, and is working on a new and larger merchant discount directory for senior residents. He is one of the busiest retirees around. As well as heading the Council on Aging, he serves on the Plymouth City Planning Commission, is a member of the Plymouth Lions Club, Toastmasters, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Wolverine Post 171, Detroit.

LESLYN RANK has a painting on display in the U.S. Capitol Building in Washington, D.C.

Her entry in the 1984 Congressional Arts Competition received first-place honors. U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell notified Leslyn of the honor and sent along a gift and a certificate of merit.

He said they would like to keep her large pastel painting of a cat in the capitol until March 1985.

Leslyn is the daughter of Paul and Joan Rank of Maple Street, Plymouth. Her dad checked out the location of the painting on a recent trip to Washington. He said he had a great urge to proclaim, "My daughter did that," to everyone who walked by.

Leslyn always liked to draw and has won contests, according to her mother. Richard Saunders, her art teacher at Plymouth Canton High School, encouraged her to enter the congressional competition.

Sarah Deasy, quilt expert, shows a silk fan quilt dating back to the mid-1800s. In one of her seminars, she talked about repairing antique quilts. The cotton fan quilt in the background was made in the 1930s or early '40s.

3-day quilt fest shows quilting is big business

By Ellie Graham

Plymouth hosted its first quilt fest last weekend. Wholesalers of quilting and soft sculpture materials came from all over the country to show the latest in fabrics and patterns. Owners of fabric and crafts shops came to see what was new, to attend seminars, and place orders. The majority of the retailers were expert quilters before they got into the business, but they picked up many tips for their customers at the fest.

The weekend began with an old-fashioned, get-acquainted quilting bee. Sunday was a full day with seminars, talks and workshops at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The groups traveled to the center on the city's double-decker bus and bus lunches were provided by the Meeting House for the Sunday evening awards banquet. Quilts, quilted clothing and other handmade items were judged and prizes presented.

Al and Dian Smith of Plymouth were responsible for the show coming to Plymouth.

Last year's fest was in Perrysburg, Ohio. Both wholesalers and retailers said they want to come back next year. The Smiths enlisted the help of their friends and clientele of Dian's shop on Main Street for registration, hostesses and sources of information.

Staff photos by Camille McCoy

SARAH DEASY of Salem, one of the country's experts in the quilting field, conducted a series of seminars on Monday.

Deasy brought along a collection of antique quilts to illustrate her talks. She told how to repair old quilts.

"If a patch is worn out, applique another one on top of it and replace the quilting. Always make the replacement block out of used material. If you have to use new fabric, wash, wash, wash and wash it before you put it in," Deasy said.

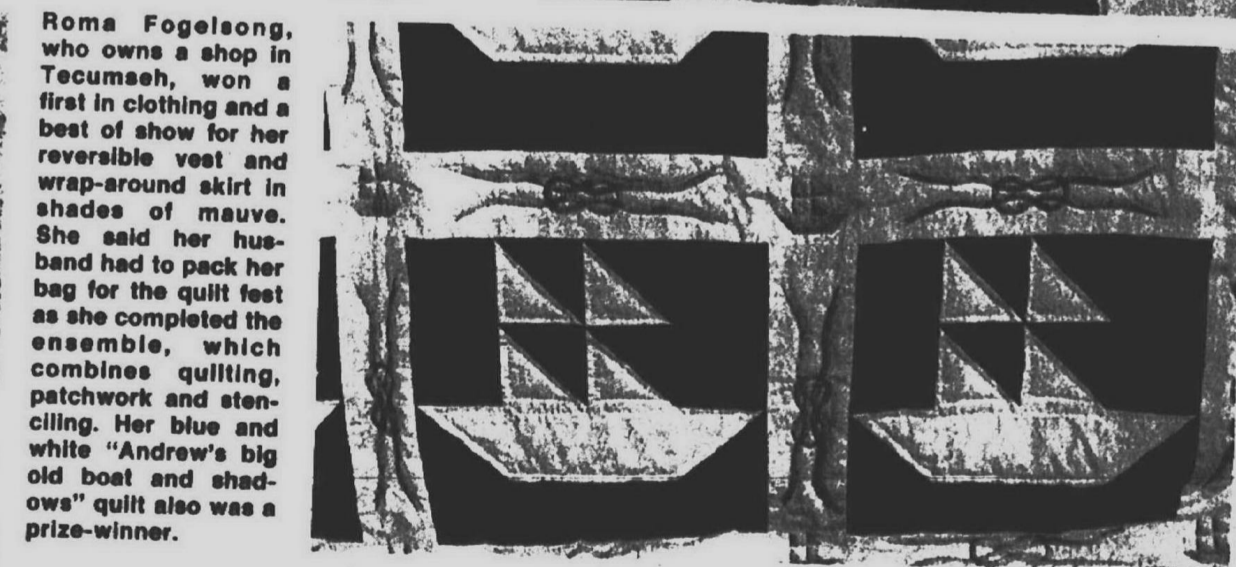

"Don't throw away old quilts." "How do you date a quilt?" she was asked.

Jeanette Smith of Plymouth made Mr. T, one of the newest soft sculpture dolls.

Roma Fogelsong, who owns a shop in Tecumseh, won a first in clothing and a best of show for her reversible vest and wrap-around skirt in shades of mauve. She said her husband had to pack her bag for the quilt fest as she completed the ensemble, which combines quilting, patchwork and stenciling. Her blue and white "Andrew's big old boat and shadows" quilt also was a prize-winner.

Dian Smith says the quilted patchwork and applique wall hanging can be done in Christmas colors for gift giving.

Jan's bridge club celebrates her birthday

Well, they are at it again. One of the liveliest groups of Cantonites I know are off and running again. Actually, I don't think they ever stop, they just forget to call in the details. This time, they remembered.

What fun they had as Jan Brawn celebrated her 40th birthday. And believe it or not folks, I think she may try to celebrate it again next year!

The whole thing started simply enough — just the bridge club getting together for a nice lunch at Steak and Ale. They were helping Jan through the tough day, showing her how alive she is, and loved. You understand, to support her, just be together and welcome the big four-O with a smile. Show it you're not afraid!

What friendship, what kindness, what compassion, what understanding... what sneaks!

The afternoon was to begin with a short stop at the home of Carol Pata for a little punch with, perhaps, some light hors d'oeuvres and such. As you might expect, the punch had the usual orange flavoring with that little something extra that gives it the name "punch." The hors d'oeuvres were lovely and her bridge club was there. But that is where the plan started to vary a little and the sneaky part began.

NUMBER ONE surprise was the attendance of more than the bridge club. The guest list had grown to include some close friends and relatives, Mary Ellen Magaldi, Mary Moore, Marilyn Orthner, Denise Edson, Mary Thomas, Shannon Munro, Marlene Bruner, Sue Lawrence, Kathy Spencer, Helen Wesner, Jan's sister-in-law, Linda Weis, and her sisters, Denise and Judy. And there were those there in spirit only, Carol Shaw and Terri Cohen, who were unable to attend.

On with the fun, as number two surprise came roaring in. It seems that some of Jan's sneaky friends got together and hired, (how do I say this delicately?) a live, in-person, male stripper.

Once the laughter settled down, everyone had a great time. Actually, I'm told, they were late for their luncheon reservations because the young man was very nice and stayed to talk to everyone. He passed out his business cards and, from what I hear, many of them have decided to turn 40 real soon, whether they need it or not. And they

Canton chatter

Sandy Preblich

981-6354

have agreed on the perfect "surprise?" gift for each other. I guess Canton will be alive and kicking this year.

Some members of the group, and I'm not mentioning names, will be turning 40 for a second time. We'll sure have our fair share of Linda-Evans-of-Dynasty-type women here in Canton.

Off they went to the beautiful lunch, where everyone shared the fun and excitement of the recent shenanigans of these 40-year-olds, soon to be 40 (or 40 again). I'm told that the staff at the Steak and Ale was exceptionally nice. They joined the party as the birthday cake was presented and Jan had her picture taken. May I add my congratulations on your birthday, Jan, and to your ability to attract such a happy group of friends and relatives to help you join the "Linda Evans Set." Remember, life may begin at 80, but you sure can have a lot of fun practicing for the next 40 years.

HERE'S SOME some terrific news for all of you true-blue, broasted chicken lovers. After too long an absence, good ol' C & W Broasted Chicken on Lilley and Warren is back! For owners Jan and Joe, the long wait is over.

Since the unfortunate fire which closed their establishment, things have been depressing. Not only were they closed all these months, but they were unable to open until after their big season of graduations, communions, confirmations, bridal showers and a major portion of the picnic season. Not to mention the confirmed broasted-chicken lovers who were beginning to experience withdrawal symptoms.

For those of you who may not live near a broasted-chicken place, this may not seem too tragic. However, C&W Chicken was the first meal I taught my daughter Tammi to cook. She can dial that number faster than anyone east, or west of here. Since then, I have taught her some other kitchen tricks, but C&W Chicken remains a great old standby for those what-are-we-gonna-eat blues. If you haven't tried broasted chicken, or if you forgot to thaw anything for dinner tonight (one of my favorite excuses until my husband bought me a microwave,) go on over and support this Canton business. They are Cantonites through and through, as a matter of fact they live just a few blocks away from me, or so I have just learned from a friend of mine. Anyway, they are local people, who have their business locally, and they've had a bit of nasty luck (like so many of us). So why not go over and give it a try? Actually, it's one of the best things I cook!

REMEMBER, this weekend is the great Super Subdivisions Garage Sale! As I tried to explain before, my subdivision is north of Ford, both east and west of Sheldon, south of Warren, and almost to Lilley. Somewhere in there, will be loads of garage sales. You'll recognize the homes, they look like yours just as your mother-in-law arrives for a surprise visit. So just get close and start walking around.

Remember too, all kids from middle school right on through high school including '84 grads, the Interdenominational Olympics will be Sunday, Aug. 6, at St. John Neumann Parish on Warren between Sheldon and Canton Center. Don't worry if you haven't registered yet, you can call today, or even register on Sunday. Cost is $3.50 and that includes refreshments, hot dogs and such. Awards will be given at the end of the day and all teens are welcome! Call St. John Neumann at 455-5986 for information.

Next week, some information on the BEST ice cream social around. Please give me a call, I love to hear from you! For those of you who are concerned — yes, I'm still tiling my tub.

Quilt fest attracts retailers, suppliers

Among her old quilts was a patched cotton fan quilt. "The fabrics are from the 1930s or '40s. It's difficult to go by the colors, the shades of pinks and reds varied over the years. Look at these small fans. Now they are enlarging the patterns and they are lost, you just see color, not pattern."

She said that old-time quilters used leftover fabrics. "They didn't have the money to buy materials and it might take years to finish a quilt. Different fabric dates show a quilt took years to make."

A SILK PATCHED and appliqued fan quilt was displayed.

"The woman who made this one died in 1910 when she was 92. She made it when she was a young girl living in Flint. So it can be dated at 1850 or before that."

She said it was difficult to find old silks to replace worn-out patches and noted the silk thread used for the embroidery.

A member of the audience suggested old ties as a source of silk fabric and also suggested that Sarah Deasy write a book.

"I'm going to," was the response. "And it will be a big one."

A stroll around the Meeting House showed the many modern uses of quilting. There were quilted skirts and vests, Christmas tree skirts, framed pictures, wall hangings and toys.

Stenciling and quilting were combined in many decorator ways.

Newest of the soft sculpture dolls is Mr. T with bulging muscles and lots of rings and chains. Jeanette Smith of Plymouth, who works for Meskin and Davis, a wholesale supplier from Detroit, had worked half the night completing a Mr. T. She said he is a Miss Martha original and an instructional booklet is available. She predicts he will be a big favorite for Christmas giving.

Smith estimated that it took her 12 hours to complete the doll.

Symphony organizes round robin bridge

The Plymouth Symphony League is organizing its 1984-85 round robin bridge schedules. Registration for the new season ends Aug. 14. Anyone interested in playing bridge and meeting new people may join.

Play usually begins in mid-September and games should be concluded by June 1. Participants have their choice of singles groups, ladies evening and daytime groups, and couples mixed evening groups. Bridge players may sign up individuals or as partners. They may choose to play five or 10 times during the season. They also may decide whether to play 16 or 20 hands at a seating.

Games are played in the players' homes and everyone receives a group schedule. The hostess is responsible for setting the time and date of the game. Donation to join the round robin is $12 for the season. Winners of the series get their money back. The rest goes to support the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

WINNERS LAST season were: Jean Sigmon and Fran Lang, Lillian Banta and Nancy Clauer, Sally Rowland and Carol Davis, Cartia Rick and Betty Laird, Harriet Randall and Bert O'Day, Joyce Upton and Carolyn Simons, Florence and Bill Von Glahn, Manhar and Sarla Nandini, Frank and Fran Lang, and Al and Martha Bentley.

More than 150 players were involved in the round robin. Those bridge players, who do not wish to be committed to full-time play, may ask to be listed as substitutes.

For more information or to register, call Joyce Kelly, 453-3888, before Aug. 14.

Study links low wages, job crowding

American workers remain sharply segregated into "women's jobs" and "men's jobs," despite laws intended to eliminate bias in hiring, education and training programs, says a University of Michigan sociologist.

"One quarter of all employed women are crowded into just 22 of the 500 occupations distinguished by the U.S. census while men are distributed across most of the remaining occupations," said professor Barbara F. Reskin.

"Viewed another way, 33 million people work in the 187 occupations in which at least 90 percent of their co-workers are of the same sex."

The extent of segregation has remained high and remarkably stable throughout this century, despite dramatic changes in the occupational structure, the economy and the composition of the work force, according to Reskin, who is also professor of women's studies at U-M.

"A modest decline between 1960 and 1970 stemmed primarily from men's entry into predominantly female professions such as social worker and librarian. During 1970-80, the extent of occupational sex segregation declined by about 10 percent as women made particular gains into a few growing occupations such as accountant, bank officer and janitor, and also into such 'male' occupations as pharmacist, public relations specialist, insurance adjuster and bartender. Non-white women moved into such jobs as electrician and storekeeper."

BUT SEX segregation remains pervasive in most occupations, and as more women enter the labor force, more women are adversely affected, Reskin says.

The chief consequence is low wages. If a large number of workers is crowded into a small number of occupations, either as a result of their own preferences or because of biased hiring practices, the wages in these occupations fall.

Research has shown that the more female-oriented a profession, the less its workers of sexes earn, she states. Segregation also contributes to women's lower wages because it limits women's chances for on-the-job training and promotion.

In 1981, white women employed full-time earned about 60 percent of the salaries of their male counterparts. Black and Hispanic women made about 70 percent of the salaries of men of the same race and 50 percent of the median salaries of white males, the U-M sociologist reports.

"Female-headed households are six times more likely than married-couple households to be below the poverty line. One scholar said that it was not the lack of a father's presence that was most detrimental to families, but the lack of a male income.

Actually, it is the lack of the level of income that a 'male' job provides," Reskin said.

"A 1977 Department of Labor study calculated that half of all families then living in poverty would not be poor if wives and female heads of households earned the same wages as similarly qualified men."

THE ECONOMIC consequences of sex segregation follow women into old age, she points out. Low wages mean lower social security benefits. Fewer women receive pensions, and the median for those who do is less than half of what men receive. The combined social security and pension allotments of women yield a sex-pension ratio that is almost identical to the sex-earnings ratio: 58 cents for every dollar received by men.

Why do women remain concentrated in a small set of occupations? Old cultural notions about sex differences in aptitudes and interests still color the attitudes of parents, educators and others who influence young people's career choices, Reskin believes.

For example, the stereotype of mathematics as a masculine endeavor has long discouraged women from pursuing math courses in high school and college. This in turn disqualifies them from the better-paying, male-dominated professions such as engineering and science. However, such cultural notions are changing, and women's enrollments in mathematics, science and other traditionally male fields have climbed sharply during the past decade, Reskin says.

During the 1970s, Reskin notes, the women's liberation movement challenged the stereotypical divisions of men's work and women's work, and the mass media began showing women in non-traditional roles. Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act and affirmative action have had some impact in diminishing hiring bias. Employers successfully expanded women's opportunities in several ways, including modifying their recruiting practices, restructuring their seniority systems and creating special training programs.

BUT IF occupational integration is to improve women's economic position, it must involve more than nominal gains, Reskin insists. For example, women now comprise almost half of all bus drivers — but the majority drive school buses; often part-time, rather than working for municipal transportation systems.

"Another concern is that predominantly male jobs may decline in content, wages or status when women enter them in large numbers," she continues. "For example, the increase in women bank and financial managers, from 17 to 34 percent between 1970 and 1980, did not reduce the wages gap in this occupation." A final issue is whether predominantly male occupations that women enter will "tip" and become female-dominated, Reskin said.

Historically, "resegregation" occurred among teachers, bank tellers and many clerical occupations. In the past decade, women have moved from minority to the majority in such occupations as bill collector, insurance adjuster, window dresser and real estate agent. But, if resegregation occurs and is accompanied by declining wages, women will have made no economic gain, said.

THE MAJORITY of emerging jobs are in heavily segregated, mostly female occupations, so only small declines in occupational segregation are predicted through 1990, she said. Training programs, particularly those aimed at preparing young women for technical and computer-related occupations, are likely to reduce segregation, Reskin says. Flexible work schedules and accessible, good child-care facilities will help open to women jobs that require occasional travel, shiftwork and overtime. Reducing sex discrimination will require designing new strategies as well as vigilantly enforcing existing ones, such as goals and timetables, Reskin concludes/130

They are planning a September wedding in Ypsilanti Free Methodist Church, Ypsilanti.

How to submit news items to newspaper

News of clubs, service organizations, engagements, weddings and wedding anniversaries are printed without cost in the Suburban Life Section of the Plymouth Observer and Canton Observer newspapers. News items may be dropped off or mailed to the office at 489 S. Main St., Plymouth 48170. Special forms are available for club news, engagements, weddings and 50th wedding anniversary announcements. Black and white pictures are preferred as they reproduce more clearly than color photos. A self-addressed, stamped envelope assures return of the pictures, or, they can be picked up at the office a week after they have been published. Mail should be addressed to the attention of Elinor Graham, Suburban Life editor. Activities of more major scope than regular club meetings may warrant more extensive coverage and a photograph. Call the newspaper, 459-2700, well in advance of the event to permit scheduling a photograph. Breaking news stories (and we appreciate telephone calls on these) like fires, accidents, etc., receive on-the-spot coverage. Other events, planned for in advance, should be announced a week or so before the actual date.

'Marriage' unites church neighbors

A MARRIAGE was celebrated last Sunday at the 10 a.m. eucharist at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Livonia.

This was not your everyday marriage, however. This was the coming together of two Lutheran congregations which have been living down the street from each other for nearly a quarter century.

Ephiphany, the Lutheran Church of America (LCA) congregation at 41390 Five Mile, Plymouth, brought its membership, history and resources and became part of Holy Trinity, the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches (AELC) congregation at 39020 Five Mile, on the other side of I-275 in Livonia.

Pastor James Spilos of Holy Trinity served as celebrant of the first communion of the new Holy Trinity. Assisting minister was the Rev. Richard Hofmann, who has been serving as interim minister of Epiphany. Holy Trinity pastor Robert Seltz was preacher.

BANNERS FROM each congregation came into the nave as part of the processional, carried by teens from each church. On hand to affirm their approval and blessing on the "marriage" were Bishop Raymond Heine of the Michigan Synod, Lutheran Church of America, and Bishop Harold L. Hecht of the English Synod, Association of the Evangelical Lutheran Churches.

Seltz, speaking on the months of meetings and exchanges and negotiating that preceded the July 29 celebration, noted that "a good marriage takes careful preparation before it happens. But then the work really begins."

Following the sermon and preceding the eucharist, Hofmann gave a brief statement of thanksgiving and purpose, and then led the congregation in an affirmation of baptism and unity in Christ on the occasion of the consolidation of the two churches.

Both Heine and Hecht spoke of the consolidation as a preview of the union of three Lutheran bodies that will bring 5.5 million Lutherans into one new church on Jan. 1, 1988. The American Lutheran Church, plus the LCA and the AELC will come together on that date.

HECHT DECLARED, "This is a first step; 1988 will be second; then comes

'A good marriage takes careful preparation before it happens. But then the work really begins.'

— Pastor Robert Seltz
Holy Trinity Lutheran

the more important one, unity among all Christians."

Richard Stahley chaired the Epiphany congregation through the decision to approach Holy Trinity and the months of meetings that followed.

Church council president Rob Hoernschemeyer and immediate past president Gary Schellhase were key committee people from Holy Trinity. Peter Sapienza from Epiphany assumes a seat on the Holy Trinity Church Council in August and will serve until the next election of officers in 1985.

Early this year, a similar "marriage" occurred when AELC congregation All Saints, at Joy and Newburgh roads in Livonia, and Holy Cross, an LCA congregation in Westland, each surrendered their names and identities to become Resurrection Lutheran Church. That new congregation is affiliated with LCA.

Holy Trinity Pastor Robert Seltz introduces Bob Synod, Association of Evangelical Lutheran and Eileen Vale to Bishop Harold Hecht, English Churches (AELC).

vacation bible school

- THE LORD'S HOUSE
 "Jesus Is the Answer" is the vacation Bible school theme for ages 2 through adult at the Lord's House, 36924 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia. The school will run from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Aug. 6-10. The adult class will be centered on the parables of Jesus. For children, there will be Bible stories, crafts, songs, and puppets. For more information, call the church office at 522-8463.
- COVENANT COMMUNITY
 Covenant Community Church of Redford will have vacation Bible school from 9 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday, Aug. 6-10. The school is for children 4 years old through sixth grade. The theme is "A Story of Love," with the emphasis on the personal application of Christ's finished work at Calvary. The closing program will be at the church at 8 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 12. During the program, slides of the week's activities will be shown, and the children's songs and handcrafts will be presented.
- The church is located one block north of the intersection of Five Mile and Beech Daly. For more information, or if bus transportation is required, call the church office at 535-3100.
- FIRST METHODIST OF GARDEN CITY

There will be crafts, recreation, Bible study, music and special events. Children 4 years old through sixth grade are welcome. There is a $1 registration fee. A program at 7 p.m. Friday will conclude the week's activities.
- For more information or if transportation is needed, call the church office at 421-8628.

church bulletin

- LIVONIA BAPTIST
 Livonia Baptist Church is one of 29 Southern Baptist congregations that will help inaugurate the denomination-wide observance of the Day of Prayer for World Peace. The churches, each representing a different Baptist state convention, will focus on peace with justice at worship services Sunday, Aug. 5.
- The Day of Prayer for World Peace was approved by the Southern Baptist Convention meeting in Pittsburgh and was placed on the official convention calendar. The Christian Life Commission, which recommended the special observance, is providing resources at cost for churches that choose to participate.
- UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD
 The Carolinians, a male quartet that sings a variety of southern Gospel music, will sing at the 6:30 p.m. service Sunday, Aug. 5, at United Assembly of God, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. Baby sitting will be provided for preschoolers. For more information, call 453-4530.
- BETHANY BAPTIST
 The Antone Indian Family will present an hour of Gospel music at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 8, at Bethany Baptist Church, 34841 Five Mile, Livonia. The Antones are representatives of American Indian Crusade and have made frequent guest appearances at the Grand Ol' Opry as well as performing at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.
- ST. THEODORE
 The Rev. Robert A. Goodrow will be officially installed as the new pastor of St. Theodore Catholic Church, Westland, at the 12:45 p.m. liturgy Sunday, Aug. 5. Joining in the Mass will be the Most Rev. Walter Schoenher, assistant bishop, south region, Archdiocese of Detroit, and the Rev. Frederick Klettner, vicar, western Wayne vicariate. A community gathering/reception will follow the Mass until 3:30 p.m. in the parish education center.
- The installation is part of a parish rededication the weekend of Saturday, Aug. 4, and Sunday, Aug. 5. This week- end of ministry, mission and renewal will be celebrated at all liturgies. St. Theodore is located at 5300 Wayne Road.
- WOMEN FOR JESUS
 The music ministry of Happiness is will be featured at the next meeting of Women for Jesus, at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 6, at Roma's of Garden City, on Cherry Hill between Vandy and Merriman roads. For more information, call Clara at 722-4224, Rita at 591-0941, or Mary at 722-5106 or 453-8218.

Jackson has the power to heal wounds he inflicted

NOW THAT the Democratic Convention has ended, we can view with greater objectivity and less emotionalism an issue which troubled many Americans during the intense campaign that preceded the nomination.

During recent months, Rev. Jesse Jackson, an eloquent orator and passionate spokesman for Black people and for a significant number of other groups in the "Rainbow Coalition" made ethnic slurs offensive to Jews, was reluctant to disavow the support of Louis Farrakhan, whose religious bigotry was obvious, and in the week prior to the convention attacked American Jews and blamed them for his failure to be offered the vice-presidency on a Monday ticket.

This last outburst of Rev. Jackson is singularly characteristic of the anti-Semitic attitude, which is to vent one's frustration and anger on Jews.

Until Jesse Jackson came on the scene, there has never been a major candidate for national office who had openly expressed anti-Semitic views. Indeed, in recent years, candidates to which both are Equal. We need to learn again how to express differences while respecting the dignity and humanity of those with whom we may profoundly differ.

Rev. Jackson has the power to initiate and greatly advance this dialogue. He has a large following that will respond to his direction. He can influence religious, civic, and political leaders to create a new coalition of conscience. We hope that he will address this urgent need.

RELIGIOUS and racial bigotry injures every American. It has recently been reported that anti-Catholic literature and slogans have been widely dispersed in the Detroit area. All of us are vulnerable to the irrational and cruel outbursts of group prejudice which draw strength from the anger of the frustrated, the poor, and the desperate.

The time has come for Jews and Blacks to recall our shared history as natural allies in the struggle for social justice in America. Each side has a perspective to give to the other. As we talk and listen to each other with sincerity and respect, we can interpret our differences in an atmosphere of friendship. We can become a mighty force on behalf of freedom and justice and opportunity for all Americans.

We hope that Rev. Jackson will respond with determination and commitment to the challenge of this time.

have been extremely sensitive to the feelings of all minorities — Blacks, Hispanics, the foreign born and Jews as well. Those who have violated this fundamental principle of American Democracy have been driven off the national stage.

IN HIS stirring address to the convention, Rev. Jackson acknowledged the injury he had caused and expressed regret for those errors of the "heart, not the head," which had offended many.

We are encouraged that Rev. Jackson has recognized that he has, on occasion, appealed to religious prejudice and renewed slurs and stereotypes, and are unworthy of any approach to a crucial first step in healing the wounds that have been sustained.

But additional measures are in order. We need to renew the dialogue between the Black and Jewish communities. Of course, there are issues on which Blacks and Jews disagree as well as fundamental

(P.08)

As part of its voter service program, the League of Women Voters has requested candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives to provide background information and answer questions relating to the duties of office.

The league is a non-partisan organization which promotes political responsibility through informed and active participation in government. It does not endorse candidates.

Following are answers and biographical information supplied by candidates for U.S. Congress from the 2nd District which includes parts of Livonia, Plymouth and Plymouth, and Northville in western Wayne County.

Two candidates — Don Grimes and Mike McCauley — are seeking the Democratic nomination. Carl Pursell, the incumbent, is opposed for the Republican nomination. Pursell's material was unavailable at the league's deadline. The winners will face off in the November general election. The primary is Tuesday, Aug. 7.

The questions were composed by the League of Women Voters and the answers are presented here in an effort to inform the electorate.

Don Grimes Democrat

Mike McCauley, a teacher at Plymouth Canton High School since 1971 is a candidate for U.S. Congress in the 2nd District on the Democratic ticket.

McCauley, a resident of Salem Township, graduated from Livonia Bentley High School. He has a bachelor of arts degree in political science from Michigan State University and a master's in special education from Eastern Michigan University. He is a doctoral candidate at the University of Michigan. He has spent 11 years coaching.

Besides teaching, McCauley has been a painting contractor for the past 14 years in the Plymouth and Ann Arbor area.

1. How would you reduce the federal deficit?

The huge deficits are caused by Pentagon spending, tax cuts for the wealthy and interest payments on the national debt. We must 1) reduce Pentagon inefficiencies, 2) have a fair tax system and 3) seek full employment for all able-bodied people.

2. What can Congress do to improve the foreign trade balance of payments?

U.S. corporations need incentives to invest in America, not foreign markets. Short-term economic restrictions must be established, but a long-term labor/management/government economic training board is in order to create a productive America.

3. What provisions should be included in a national water policy?

Writer explores the wonders of Ontario

By Iris Jones
contributing travel writer

IT IS ALWAYS great fun to travel through old haunts with a friend, especially a friend who shows you things you never noticed before.

That's why I enjoyed following my friend and neighbor Doris Scharfenberg around "The Long Blue Edge of Ontario" in her book of that title published this summer by William B. Eerdmans of Grand Rapids.

Iris Jones

Scharfenberg is an expert on Great Lakes coastlines, as you know if you have read "The Long Blue Edge of Summer: Vacation Guide to the Shorelines of Michigan," which won her Michigan's Ambassador of Tourism Award in 1983.

SHE LOVES to show you just how great the Great Lakes are by quoting this example: Michigan has a 3,117-mile lakeshore on four of the five Great Lakes, and Ontario faces the water for 4,700 miles; that total is further than the distance from Detroit to Shanghai, China.

Doris follows the lake line of Ontario into every village, city, bay, park and beach from the Quebec border on the St. Lawrence River to Thunder Bay on the western reaches of Lake Superior.

The route goes through English-tinted towns, the gleaming towers of Toronto, 40 provincial parks, a dozen restored forts and trading posts. It includes addresses and phone numbers that would help you enjoy some of the parties that are being thrown in Canada this year.

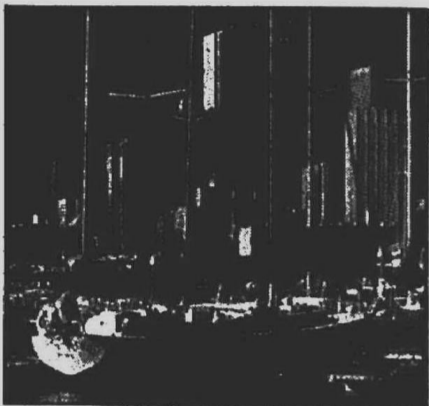

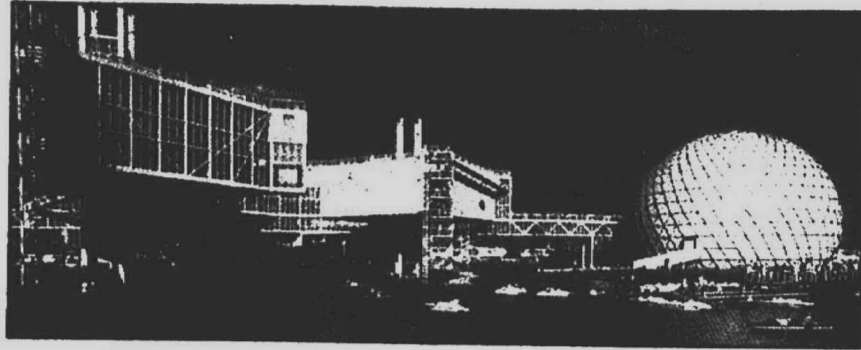

CANADA IS celebrating 450 years since explorer Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence River. Ontario celebrates a bicentennial this year, 200 years since the Loyalists who fled the American Revolution established their own political entity in Canada. Toronto celebrates its 150th birthday.

Toronto — The jewel of Ontario on the shores of Lake Erie boasts many attractions: Ontario Place (right), boats for hire and Casa Loma (below) an old castle which is a longtime draw.

Whether you participate in any of the hundreeds of events being held across the border, or you just want to do a little traveling, follow "The Long Blue Edge of Ontario" with us a moment.

Follow the St. Lawrence and you find places to book a cruise, or rent a houseboat, in the Thousand Islands. See Loyalist farmers and townfolk recreate the 1700s at Upper Canada Village. Watch the military pageant at Fort Henry in Kingston, a name derived of course from "King's Town."

LAKE ONTARIO has the most populated of Canada's Great Lake coasts, with Toronto as the metropolis and capital of the province. Scharfenberg points out dozens of inexpensive pleasures in Toronto, including the ferry to Center Island and ways to wander through Harbourfront.

That wonder of falling water, Niagara Falls, is listed with what Doris calls "all its man-made attachments." Also, tranquil spots like the Niagara Gorge Trail and the floral gardens along the Niagara Parkway.

Her tour continues along Lake Erie, up the Detroit River, around Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River to Sarnia, visiting fishing sites, museums and picnic spots, places rarely mentioned in print.

MAGNIFICENT BEACHES are the main show along Lake Huron, but the author suggests going directly to the Goderich jail (gaol) and not missing the Saturday evening bagpipe parade in Kincardine.

Between Lake Huron and Georgian Bay, the Bruce peninsula has cliffs and sandy bays on opposite sides, plus a graveyard of ships. Georgian Bay's southern shores, fruit farms and towns are a sharp contrast to the rugged north coast.

The book moves toward Sudbury, along the North Channel and Manitoulin Island, finally hitting the last stretch north of Lake Superior. Forget your "nothing but wilderness" image. There are plenty of accommodations, good restaurants and golf courses in all of these remote areas.

"The Long Blue Edge of Ontario" was written from Doris Scharfenberg's personal experience. She lives now in Farmington, but her grandparents lived in Canada and Doris traveled the Great Lakes region many times with her four children. She repeated the entire circuit for this volume.

The book is available for $9.95 from bookstores.

March of Peabody ducks delights Memphis visitors

A lot of celebrities have been to Memphis. The Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto crossed the Mississippi near the Chickasaw Bluff in the 16th century. President Andrew Jackson bought 5,000 acres on the bluff for $500 in 1818. W.C. Handy gave birth to the blues here. Elvis Presley lived and died here.

They all had their fans, but if you want to see the flashbulbs popping now you must be in the lobby of the historic Peabody Hotel at 11 o'clock every morning when the most famous Memphians of all enter the lobby.

The fresh flowers are in place above the huge marble fountain. The red carpet has been rolled out for 50 feet between the fountain and the elevator. Fans line up, cameras ready, the adults elbowing for room and the kids on the floor.

All eyes are on the lighted elevator marker, fixed now on the top floor. There is a rumble of voices as the light descends.

The band starts playing the King Cotton March. The elevator doors open and out come the Peabody ducks, oblivious to the adoring crowd as they waddle down the red carpet, up the steps and into the fountain.

THERE IS wild applause but the ducks ignore it. They swim round and round the fountain, climbing out on the edge occasionally to ruffle their feathers, until the next show.

That's exactly at five p.m. when they go back down the red carpet, into the elevator and are whisked away to their cage on the roof for the night.

The tradition of the Peabody ducks began in the 1930s when the hotel manager and a friend, both avid duck hunters, sipped a little too much Tennessee whiskey one night and decided to put three live duck decoys in the elegant hotel fountain.

The ducks were a sensation. Peabody duck-keeper Edward D. Pembroke has trained and chaperoned generations of Peabody ducks since then. He and his ducks stayed around for the six years that the Peabody was closed and threatened with demolition.

When the hotel was restored to its grand style and reopened in 1981, he and the ducks picked up the tradition where it had left off.

There are other things to do in Memphis of course: Mud Island, the restored cafes and clubs of Beale Street, Elvis Presley's Graceland. Lots of famous people still come to Memphis, some attracting large crowds.

If you want to see real stars however, be at the Peabody at 11 o'clock in the morning or at five in the afternoon when the King Cotton March begins, the flash bulbs pop and the ducks march one by one down the red carpet between their adoring fans.

Every morning at 11 in the Peabody Hotel in Memphis the Peabody ducks take their march to the lobby's fountain.

2 Dems vie in 2nd District

I oppose the "Dirty Water" bill (HR 3282), which has been weakened and does not allow for improved water quality. We need to cut annual sulfur dioxide emissions by 50 percent and producers of hazardous waste should be taxed on the amount of waste produced. This revenue would go into "Super Fund."

4. What specific changes would you propose in the income tax system?

The Bradley-Gephardt Fair Tax plan would reduce taxes for 70 percent of the American people. This is a simple, progressive tax with a limited number of tax rates. Two thousand pages of tax code loopholes would be eliminated. The present tax code contains loopholes that lost nearly $250 billion last year.

5. What do you see as the major goals of the U.S. foreign policy, and what means should be used to obtain them?

America must bring peace and stability to the world. We must: 1) establish a bilateral freeze on nuclear weapons, testing and biological weapons, 2) insure economic policies that improve quality of lives for all nations, 3) send medical and educational corps, not Marine Corps, to underdeveloped nations.

Don Grimes, research economist at the University of Michigan, is seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. Congress in the 2nd District which includes parts of Livonia and Plymouth.

Grimes, an Ann Arbor resident, has been employed at the U-M Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations since 1978 where he has performed extensive research on labor market conditions at the national, state and local level.

He has a bachelor's degree in economics from Kalamazoo College and a master's from the U-M. He is a doctoral candidate in economics at the U-M.

plify the tax code and close tax loopholes.

2. What can Congress do to improve the foreign trade balance of payments? The federal budget deficit keeps interest rates high and dollar overvalued — foreign products are priced too low and American products too high. Congress must reduce the deficit and support fair trade by extending trade agreements to cover agriculture and services and by prohibiting foreign manufacturers from selling below cost.

3. What provisions should be included in a national water policy?

A national water policy should acknowledge Michigan's water as a valuable and limited resource. It should discourage pollution by strictly enforcing the Clean Water Act and use fines collected from polluters to clean lakes and rivers. We must not give up our Great Lakes water to the southwest.

election '84

4. What specific changes would you propose in the income tax system?

We should immediately simplify the tax code, close tax loopholes, and impose a minimum tax so that all pay their fair share. Eventually we should replace the current income tax system with a simpler "cash-flow" based tax system, which would exempt savings and productive investments from tax.

5. What do you see as the major goals of the U.S. foreign policy, and what means should be used to obtain them?

Major goals: security for the U.S. and its allies, stability and economic growth throughout the world. How? 1) By strengthening conventional forces while negotiating a mutual and verifiable nuclear freeze. 2) By countering the U.S.S.R.'s exploitation of economic misery in developing nations with the weapons of economic and educational progress.

Wayne County show debuts

Wayne County residents will be able to keep up with county services and issues through a new television show.

"Wayne County: A New Perspective" will air at 11:30 a.m. Saturdays on WGPR-TV 62. The show also can be seen almost every day of the week on cable television throughout Wayne County and parts of Washtenaw and Macomb counties.

The program is jointly produced by the Wayne County office of public information and Group W Cable Corp. in the city of Wayne.

Road bids awarded

Low bids have been awarded on projects involving area roads. Included are:

• Modifications at the interchange of M-153 (Ford) and M-39 (Southfield Freeway) to provide drives into proposed new shopping center and hotel in the northwest quadrant of the interchange in Dearborn and Detroit. Peter A. Basile Sons, Inc., Livonia is to complete the $257,476 project.

• Removal of railroad approaches and replacement with concrete pavement on M-53 at the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing north of Davison, Detroit. Keldris Corporation, Farmington is to complete the $138,746 project by August.

1. How would you reduce the federal deficit?

I would reduce spending, after adjustment for inflation, by eliminating waste and reallocating resources toward areas that stimulate economic growth, like education and job retraining, and encourage provisions to ensure that federal programs do not continue indefinitely. I would also work to sim-

Blow your horn

Do you know how to blow your own horn?

You'd better if you are a boater with a vessel longer than 16 feet. Federal regulations require owners of such boats to carry a horn or whistle audible for at least a half mile, and the skipper must know and use the proper signals for passing overtaking another boat.

To brush up on your nautical knowhow, the Coast Guard Auxiliary offers public courses in boat handling and seamanship.

In defense of the onion honor

To the editor:
In defense of the program initiated by the Plymouth Beautification Committee, I should like to respond to Mary VanDyke's letter about the "Onion Award."

It definitely is not "snobbery" to endeavor to improve the beauty of a great city such as Plymouth. Names of the "Onion Award" are never made public.

Let me assure you that many recipients of the beautification award are not financially affluent. Some of us live on Social Security. Many have children. We pay our taxes, water bills and sewage disposal rates. Often it isn't easy to buy flats of flowers and seeds when clothing, medication and food are involved. But we manage and we sacrifice because we have a degree of pride in our homes and Plymouth.

Recently and before your letter appeared, Mary VanDyke, a group of us drove all around Plymouth. We were horrified when we saw the environment in which some small businesses exist. Their economic circumstances are no worse than those of the individual property owners. If we can do it, why can't they eradicate their junkyard appearance?

One factory in the center of town has a dilapidated building with obscene words printed on it that should have been destroyed years ago. Other businesses look like a ghetto. I am positive the owners laugh all the way to the bank.

Drive down Ann Arbor Trail, cross the railroad tracks just before Mill Street. Look to the left to see if a train is on the tracks. Should a signal fail, there would be no warning as the trees and wild growth obstruct the view. Hearts and flowers to the C&O since they cannot afford to extirpate such a safety hazard.

Before you return to Plymouth, make sure you have made a proper selection for your home. Otherwise, you may be a lonely little petunia in an onion patch.

While you live in Canton, please let the Plymouth Beautification Commission and individuals improve the appearance of our city. Members of the commission spend countless hours of their time without pay in their endeavor to make this a beautiful community.

Fans or no fans, grid game is on

By Chris McCoosky
staff writer

Quite a paradox this annual Michigan High School Football Coaches Association All-Star game has become.

There have been three of these games now, matching the very best of the previous year's high school senior players from the east part of the state against those from the west. Each game has been closely contested, the squads evenly matched each time. The games have been exciting with equal parts explosive offense and stingy defense. The games, in short, have been everything the coaches had thought such a gathering of talent would and should be.

With one major exception. While the football games themselves have been hot, fan support of the annual classic has been cool. In only the third year of fan support, the stadium threatened the future of the game.

LAST YEAR, the game attracted just 5,706 fans to Spartan Stadium on the campus of Michigan

Eastern defies MAC bullies

THE BULLY approached, intense and deliberate, sweat forming on his brow as he trudged across the scorching sand.

He wasn't the biggest bully on the beach, but he was a bully all the same, and as he neared the little guy knew what was coming.

"Lis'n," the bully slurred. "I don't wanna do this, but I gotta. If I don't have a nice girl, like da one you got sittin' here wit ya, they won't let me in da gang. Sorry, but I gotta take your gal."

The little guy offered alternatives. "They won't dump you. There are lots of bullies that'll still be your friends," he said.

But the bully would have none of it. "Either ya give me your girl, or I'll have ta throw da both of ya off the beach and knock your teeth out, too. Dat's da way it's got to be."

"Ya got 14 minutes to decide."

NOT MUCH to choose from — lose your girl or lose your teeth. Most people treasure both.

Ah, but there's more at stake than a girl friend and a mouthful of loose chompers. Honor, dignity, what's right and what's wrong; intangibles worth fighting for and clinging to. The little guy's going to get more than sand kicked in his face, but, like most humans, he'd rather fight than meekly surrender.

Try to push people around, try to force them to do something, then watch how resourceful they become.

Only among society's upper echelon it's more civilized. They don't resort — heaven forbid! — to bare knuckles.

They take their case to court. The threats among these folks are every bit as terrible. It's just that these high society types opt for legal action instead of fist impaction.

THE MID-AMERICAN Conference (MAC) presidents are finding out how tough a battle ganging up on a little guy can be. See, the MAC has treasured nothing more than being recognized among the bullies of the NCAA. The Big Ten, the Big Eight, and the MAC — all equal, all mentioned in the same breath.

That bombshell was delivered at the MAC president's meeting July 16, after the presidents learned the MAC was in danger of losing its NCAA Division 1A football ranking because of failure to meet attendance requirements. They figured the

Adray grabs Collegiate title

Redford Little Caesar's won the opening battle, but Livonia Adray reaped the ultimate reward.

It was Little Caesar's, remember, that defeated Adray to win the regular season title in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League 10 days ago.

But it was Adray that earned a trip to Johnstown, Pa., for the All-American Amateur Baseball Association (AAABA) World Series Aug. 13-19 with a 6-3 win over Little Caesar's in Sunday's league playoff final at Ford Field.

Jay Bobel fired 4 1/2 innings of one-hit, shutout relief pitching to claim the win for Adray. Bobel went to the mound in relief of Dave Rodriguez, who allowed three runs on nine hits and two walks over the first 4 1/2 innings.

The score was knotted at 3-all when Bobel took over. He struck out four and didn't walk a batter. John Recker relieved in the ninth and got the final out.

ADRAY TOOK the lead for good in the fifth. Little Caesar's pitcher Gary Lizanich was relieved by Todd Wallace with two down in the fifth. Mike Johnson greeted Wallace with a two-run single to give Adray a 3-3 advantage. Lizanich was tagged with the loss.

Adray added another run in the eighth on a double-steal, with Randy Baringer clearing second and John DePillo swiping home.

Johnson had a big day at the plate for Adray. He belted a solo homer in the fourth and added another single for three hits and three RBI. Greg Kusia also contributed heavily, slashing run-scoring singles in both the first and third innings.

The win was the third straight for Adray in the double-elimination playoff, clinching their fifth trip to Johnstown in the last six years. On Friday Adray rallied to edge Walter's Home Appliance 5-4.

"WE'VE BEEN there a few years, and with the same club basically," said Adray coach Ron Hellier. "How well we do really depends on what division we're in."

"There are some really fine teams, remember. If we win one more than we lose, I'll be happy."

A rotation between champions of the state's three collegiate leagues allow two to go directly to Johnstown, while the other must play in the regionals to earn a berth. The Livonia Collegiate and Detroit Adray playoff champions had the byes for this season.

The double-elimination AAABA regional will be Aug. 8-10 at Livonia's Ford Field. Teams from Lansing Adray; Buffalo, N.Y.; Zanesville, Ohio; and Youngstown, Ohio will compete.

IN FRIDAY'S win over Walter's, Adray scored one run in the seventh, one in the eighth and two in the ninth to win a squeaker. Recker pitched the final inning, striking out two, for the win.

Adray scored the winning runs in the ninth when Pete Rose singled and Don Dombey tripled, tying the score. After Jim Peterson walked the bases full, Larry Patrowski came out of the bullpen for Walter's.

The strategy backfired, however, when Patrowski walked in the winning run. Dombey finished with two hits and two RBI, Kusia knocked in one run and collected two hits, and Rose collected a pair of hits.

State University in East Lansing. That figure was depressingly less than the 7,200 that showed up in 1982, and the 7,800 that came in 1981. All three attendance figures were far below what the coaches association had expected and needed to break even financially.

Luckily, corporate and non-profit sponsors rushed in to rescue the game last year when it appeared the coaches association would be dealt a devastating financial blow.

"With donations we managed to just about break even last year," said Don Lessner, the secretary and treasurer for the coaches association. "It costs between $52,000 and $53,000 to put this game on. A lot of people find that hard to believe, but it's true. You've got publicity, room and board for the players and coaches for a week, there's the band and the cheerleaders, the insurance for both the players and the stadium, the plaques — all those things cost money."

If you figure an average of 7,000 fans at $3 a ticket, you've got a grand total of $21,000 of revenue generated. It doesn't take a math whiz to calculate the potential loss. In 1982, with some donations, the game left the coaches association some $8,000 in the hole.

SPONSORS AND DONATIONS have kept the game alive for this its fourth year. The game will be played at 1:30 p.m. Saturday again at Spartan Stadium. The game promises to be as exciting as its three predecessors.

By the way, the East team, which will feature 13

football

Observer & Eccentric area players plus three area coaches, holds a 2-1 edge in the series. Last year, the East won 24-10. In 1982, it was the West winning 25-22. In 1981, the East nipped the West 6-3.

Birmingham Seaholm head coach Chuck Skinner has the honor of coaching the East this year. His staff includes Dominic Livedoti from West Bloomfield and Ken Wright from Seaholm.

Skinner said his team will be ready to play Saturday, despite having just one week to prepare.

"None of these kids got here because they couldn't play or because they weren't good kids," he said. "It's really amazing how much you can accomplish in a short time when everyone is willing to work hard and learn the program."

Both Skinner and West head coach Bill Tucker from Flint Powers Catholic said they plan to put the ball in the air "a bunch" Saturday.

TUCKER MAY not be showing all his cards, however. In his backfield happens to be the young man most consider the finest half back in the land — All-American Eric Ball from Ypsilanti. Ball is heading to UCLA next fall. One has to believe he'll get the ball some Saturday.

The West has other weapons, namely Eric Smith a rifle-arm quarterback from Alma and kicker Roger Mojsiejko from Bridgeman, brother of MSU kicker Ralf Mojsiejko.

Skinner has his weapons also. Terry Andrylak, for one, an all-state quarterback from Allen Park Cabrini. Marysville fullback Steve Palmateer, a Class B all-stater, is a powerful runner.

But, the major components of the East attack will be the O&E area players. They are: Bob Wasczenski from Farmington Harrison who will be attending MSU next fall, Brian Tauber from Birmingham Groves (University of Pennsylvania), Chuck Gregory from Bishop Borgess (University of Boston), Tim Jemal from Birmingham Seaholm (MSU), Tom Spahn from North Farmington (Western Michigan), Todd Krumm from West Bloomfield (MSU), Andy Martin from Orchard Lake St. Mary (Holy Cross), Steve McAnelly from Troy Athens (Central Michigan), Bill Kupp from Bloomfield Hills Lahser (Eastern Michigan), Chuck Adams from Detroit Country Day (University of Michigan), Mark Messner from Catholic Central (University of Michigan) and Matt Dingens from Birmingham Brother Rice (Notre Dame).

SOUTHFIELD -Lathrup's John Slazinski was named to the team as a late replacement for Don Durant of Warren Fitzgerald. Plymouth Salem all-stater Scott Jurek was selected to the East team but had to withdraw because of a scheduling conflict.

So, fans or no fans, the High School Coaches Association Annual All-Star Football game will go on. As Matt Dingens said, that's the way it should be.

"You know, the fans are nice," he said. "But really, the game is kind of for us. It's designed as a showcase for the players. We plan to put on a good show."

EMU stands behind football program

only way out was to dump a school with low attendance.

They picked EMU, generously allowing administrators two weeks — until Aug. 1 — to decide whether to remain in the MAC in other sports but drop football, or to be expelled altogether.

On Monday, EMU's Board of Regents gave their answer: Whatever happens, the Hurons will play football this season. They'll play it against MAC opponents, since contracts have already been signed. And there's a solid chance they will remain members of the MAC.

WHY THEY WOULD want to, I'm not certain. There's little distinction being associated with a bunch of bunglers too incompetent to examine all their options before deciding to take the most radical path available.

Inexplicably, what the MAC presidents failed to do was examine what other possibilities existed. They figured they had to meet the NCAA standard (which states a majority of MAC schools must attain attendance requirements) or drop down to 1AA.

But, as EMU provost Ronald W. Collins explained Monday:

"I believe the MAC council of presidents acted with the belief that they had to act before the football season started, and if they didn't (and the season attendance figures were too low to remain in the NCAA's Division 1A), they would automatically be dropped to Division 1AA."

That is not the case. The earliest the MAC could be designated to 1AA is Sept. 1, 1985. And, according to Stephen Morgan, director for legislative services for the NCAA, there is an appeal process available, which includes applying to the NCAA for an exception to the rule.

THE MAC presidents apparently were unaware of all this. For some reason, as yet unexplained (MAC commissioner Jim Lessig still refuses to comment), their collective minds were set on ousting Eastern. Even when Western president John Bernhard, who started the ordeal at a May 18 meeting by saying he was unsure WMU could meet attendance requirements, reversed himself and said the school could almost guarantee it would, the MAC presidents refused to alter course.

They saw just two choices — banish Eastern or face demotion. Demotion was unacceptable.

Now the MAC must pay the penalty. Abuse will be heaped upon it, however the controversy is resolved. Indeed, attendance figures may dip dramatically at many MAC schools because of their folly.

Certainly, unless the MAC presidents agree to rescind their July 16 decision, litigation will follow.

Eastern has a strong case; about the worst the Hurons could do is an out-of-court megabucks settlement.

BUT THAT'S not what Eastern's administration wants. They want to remain in the MAC. They want their 85 football players — including a dozen from the Observer & Eccentric coverage area — to have a conference to win, with a bowl game at stake.

The fate of 21 other Huron varsity programs are also at stake here. It was gratifying to see the coaches of these sports vote to keep football and leave the MAC, if necessary.

That final option — leaving the MAC — is what Eastern is fighting to avoid. Indeed, the entire NCAA ranking system is ludicrous. The separate divisions were devised for football only, with TV revenue the reason for their creation.

With the NCAA's TV contracts voided, it seems likely that the separate divisions could also be junked. But that was never considered by the MAC presidents. Nothing else was considered — just expelling Eastern.

It's created a pathetic situation, for all MAC schools. There is nothing of value to be gained in this kind of struggle.

Repent now, MAC presidents, and save what little face you have left.

MSHL playoffs commence

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

It's playoff time in the Midwest Summer Hockey League and that, like in any other athletic event, means excitement.

There was plenty of it Monday at the Plymouth Cultural Center, as the first round of the playoffs commenced.

The MSHL has devised an interesting playoff format. All eight teams compete. The first-place team in the Eagle Conference plays the last-place team in the Bakes. Second-place Eagle finishes plays the third-place team in the Bakes, and so on.

The teams continue to go at it until the top eight places are determined.

ON MONDAY, the Wolverines, the top team in the Eagle Conference, battled the Spartans, cellar-dwellers of the Bakes Conference. Without a scorecard, however, you would have been hard-pressed to know which was the league leader. The Wolves prevailed 4-3.

The score was dead even, 2-2, after two periods. Darryl Moise and Mike Neff scoring for the Wolves and Troy Thrun and Frank Damico for the Spartans.

Robert Moise put the Wolves on top at the start of the third period. With three minutes left in the game, Thrun, a standout at Western Michigan and one of the MSHL's top scorers, notched his second goal to tie the game.

The game-winner was netted with just 40 seconds remaining by Phil Kaske. The goal followed more than two minutes of end-to-end action.

THE CROWD could barely catch its breath before they were treated to another thriller. The Lakers, third in the Bakes, defeated the Falcons, second in the Eagle, 13-6.

What's so thrilling about a 12-6 game? Check this out. The score was 2-2 after one period and 5-5 after two.

MIDWEST SUMMER HOCKEY STANDINGS

Huskies	8	2	0
Wildcats	6	4	0
Lakers	4	5	1
Spartans	4	6	0

Eight minutes into the final period, the Falcons scored to take the lead.

But, in the next 10 minutes, the Lakers went wild. They scored seven goals and left the Falcons, one of the league's best defensive teams, in the state of shock.

Dave Chiappelli, a Michigan State star, scored six goals and added two assists to lead the assault. He scored three during the seven-goal-in-10-minute span. Plymouth's Alan Carnes had six assists and Greg Ralston scored a pair of goals.

The Falcons were led by Phil Mitter's three goals.

The Lakers and the Wolves will meet in second-round action at 8 p.m. Monday.

MSHL NOTES: Eje Johannson, the super hockey scout from Sweden who has been keeping his trained eye glued to the MSHL in recent weeks, may have found his men.

Johannson has been looking for players to take back to his semi-pro team in Sweden.

According to MSHL commissioner A.J. Baker, Johannson has expressed an interest in Dennis Smith from Livonia and Scott Robins from Northville — both play for the MSHL's Wildcats. He is also reportedly interested in the Huskies' Rich Hutchinson.

Salem edged from Koufax tourney

No heroics saved Plymouth Salem last Saturday in the American Amateur Baseball Congress Sandy Koufax district tournament at the Canton Township Hall fields.

Salem had staved off a quick elimination from the eight-team tourney last week with heroics provided by pitcher-slugger Mike Howard in a 12-4 triumph over South Shewasee.

Salem had dropped to the losers' bracket after the round losing to Riverside, Ontario 8-5.

baseball

They needed a win against Redford Saturday to stay alive, but no win was forthcoming. Redford escaped with an 8-5 victory.

"WE THREATENED to score in every inning but capitalized in just three," said Salem coach Mike Michalek. "We just couldn't get the key hit. But, I'm real proud of the boys. They were down twice and came back."

Redford jumped ahead 3-0 after two innings, but a three-run third tied the contest. Billy Preskin's two-run double ignited the comeback.

Salem went ahead with a run in the fourth, but Redford tallied four times in the sixth. Salem still fought back. They loaded the bases in the seventh with just one out, but managed to push just one run across.

Fidell Cashero was the losing pitcher for Salem.

Redford made it all the way to the championship game. They fell to Sterling Heights A's 10-8. Sterling Heights advances to the Koufax regional tourney in Westland.

Westland hosts Koufax regional

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Russ Lampinen's Westland Federation Sandy Koufax baseball team has rather enjoyed hosting the 14-and-under league's regional tournament.

The last two years, Westland has won the tourney and with it a berth in the national Koufax get-together in Knoxville, Tenn. Last year, Westland finished third in the nation.

They're gunning for their third-straight regional title this week at Westland's Jaycee Park. Unlike past years, there lies between them and Knoxville a couple huge barriers.

The biggest barrier is the North Farmington-West Bloomfield contingent coached by Jerry DiPaola and Erwin Lieberman. NFWB is the tourney's No. 1 seed and with good reason. They are 23-9 this season, NFWB handed Westland its only loss of the season, 4-3, two weeks ago.

The second barrier is the two Sterling Heights teams, the A's and Berk's.

"IT'S ALWAYS been that a Detroit-area team has won this tournament," said Lampinen. "NFWB, Sterling Heights and us have been the traditional tough teams. I certainly don't want to count any of the other teams out, but if someone said that either us, NFWB or Sterling Heights were to win, I don't think they'd be lying."

The other teams competing will be Battle Creek, Jackson County, Waterford and Coldwater.

The double-elimination tourney actually began yesterday. Games will be played today beginning at noon, 2:45, 5:30 and 8:15. On Friday, the games will begin at 10 a.m. and run through 8:15 p.m.

In the pocket

by W.W. Edgar

When the professional women's tournament opens next week at Satellite Bowl in Dearborn Heights, the ladies will be answering a lot of the critics who have challenged Detroit's claim to being the bowling capital of the world.

These critics have based their argument on the claim that the area may have the most bowlers but they are not known beyond the city limits.

Since this charge was made a year ago a lot of things have happened. First, Bob Chamberlain won the men's national pro title. Then Bob Golke captured the all-even crown at the ABC Tournament and became the tournament's highest money winner.

Now the women have two Detroiters — Aleta Rzepecki Sill and Cheryl Daniels — who have been doing well on the pro tour. Aleta is the top money winner of the year and now is being looked on as one of the nation's all-time greats. From all appearances, the Detroit area is now becoming a major spot on the pro tour and the old claim of being the bowling capital of the world is justified.

AN OFFICIAL CALL: Both the men's and women's associations have issued a call for all league secretaries to attend the schools that have been arranged to start the season. The men will meet at Satellite Bowl on Aug. 7, at Thunderbird in Troy on Aug. 9, Airway Lanes in Pontiac on Aug. 13, Ark Lanes in Sterling Heights on Aug. 22 and Thunderbowl on Aug. 27.

The women will hold their meetings at Sunnyside Lanes, Aug. 13, Ark West in Southfield on Aug. 15 and Satellite in Dearborn Heights on Aug. 23.

WONDERLAND: Bob Hanson set the pace in the weekly trio league with an 877 series that included a 246 opener. Other high games were Fred Funke's 227 and Greg Cohn's 222.

MERRI-BOWL: Tim Townsend used a 233 opener to pace the doubles with a 626. This was only two pins more than John Hopper, who fashioned a 215 middle game in his 624.

Host Lampinen said the championship game will be played on Saturday. Game time will either be 12:30 or 3:30 p.m., depending on how many losses the two remaining teams have.

A $1 admission will be charged to adults and children under 12 will pay 50 cents.

Jaycee Park is on Wildwood Road at Hunter. Wildwood is between Wayne and Venoy and the field is just north of Ford Road.

Roadrunners race-party wows runners

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Bill Stewart set a world record, but lost the race.

Tobin Jones of Westland won the race, then freaked out.

Gary Reffitt finished second, blaming his own bad tactics.

All three of them then danced the night away as the inaugural Roadrunner Classic in Livonia Saturday night proved to be a first-class run as well as a first-class party.

The race, a five-miler, was flat, fast and accurate, as advertised. The party afterwards, in the parking lot of the Livonia YMCA, was loud, long and anything but flat. There was none of the agony of defeat. From the smiles on the dancers, the drinkers and the eaters, you couldn't tell winners from losers.

"I didn't expect to win," said Jones, 24, whose time of 24:33 was good for a 10-second win over Reffitt. "It freaked me out, I'll tell you that. I ran a hard 10 this morning. I only ran tonight because of Doug (Kurtis, one of the race's organizers and a world-class marathoner) and the Redford Road Runners.

"Reffitt must be doing a lot of training. That's what I told him after the race: 'You must be training real hard.' Otherwise, I'm sure he could have had me no problem.

"During the long straightaway, I tried not to look back. The last mile, I was paranoid. I kept expecting Reffitt to come on."

Reffitt, 30, a former member of the track team at Eastern Michigan, is known for his kick. He relied on it, but didn't have it when he needed it.

"I didn't know I was going to run till half an hour before the race, when Stewart called me," said Reffitt, not by way of apology. "Call it an error in tactics. I should have reeled him in sooner, before the last turn. I kept thinking I'd catch him but I couldn't outkick him."

STEWART IS 41 but runs like 21. He holds the master's world record for the mile with a time of 4:11, which, were he 23 years younger, would make him a high school All-American.

Stewart, of Ann Arbor, actually led the field of about 400 more than two miles into the race and finished third in 24:54, an average of 4:59 a mile and an unofficial world record.

The Athletic Congress, which certifies road courses for record purposes, doesn't often sanction races in their first year and so Stewart's mark will remain unofficial.

"We're confident the course is accurate, and we tried to get it certified," said Randy Step of Livonia, the race's co-director. "But TAC's got a long list of applications from races and they just didn't get to ours in time. But we measured it the way TAC measures it, with a (bicycle) wheel and 12 inches from the curb. We measured it three times that way and we only had a one-foot difference each time."

ELLA WILLIS, the remarkable runner from Detroit, won another in a long series of first-place trophies this summer with a 48-second win over Karen Hubbard of Ann Arbor, who ran earlier this summer in the U.S. Olympic marathon trials. Willis, 26, clocked a 28:32, finishing 29th overall and first among women. It was Willis' second five-mile win of the day; she won that morning in a race in downtown Detroit.

The morning race, the Motor City 5-Miler, was a complete contrast to the Livonia race in terms of co-ordination and competence by the organizers. The morning race, in its second year and not likely for a third if the opinions of the runners who ran it mean anything, went off an hour and 20 minutes late. The Roadrunner Race went off five minutes late, only because of the lengthy introduction of some of the area's best runners.

The morning fiasco was four-tenths of a mile too long — "I don't know what happened," said the organizer, "the course was supposed to be short" — and didn't even have water at the finish line.

The Classic had plenty of water, of course, as well as all the pizza you could eat, courtesy of Domino's, and all of the beer you could drink. Top 40 tunes blasted away and many of the 400 stayed around to dance till the liquor permit expired at 10 p.m., which was about four minutes after the beer ran out.

Talk about organization.

HAGERMAN'S WINS

Hagerman's Warehouse Sports, a group of 12- and 13-year-old boys from Plymouth-Canton, swept all four games to win the Southgate Invitational Baseball Tournament last weekend.

Hagerman's defeated in succession, Canton Craiger 3-2, Riverview 13-0, Southgate 11-4 and Southgate again 11-5 for the title.

The squad, coached by Jim Gee, is comprised of Peter Bidolli, Dan Boyle, Mike Culver, Bob Files, Andy Gee, Mike Gee, Mike Gray, Tom Hill, Chris Johnston, Lee Krueger, Marc Martinkowski, Brian Paupore and Kenny Plonka.

CANTON SENIORS 2ND

With four games remaining in the regular season, the Canton Senior Sluggers remain in second place in the Oldsters Softball League. Canton (4-2) is a game behind league-leading Allen Park (5-1).

Livonia is third (3-1), Garden City fourth (3-2), followed by Dearborn (1-5) and Lincoln Park (0-5).

LETS GET PHYSICALS

Physical examinations for athletes at Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem will take place on the following dates: Monday Aug. 20 and Tuesday Aug. 21 — both at 5:30 p.m. at Plymouth Salem's second floor commons.

The Monday session is for male athletes, except for football players. The Tuesday session is for all female athletes.

There is a $6 fee. The physicals are for athletes competing in fall, winter and spring sports.

EAGLES DROP FINALE

The American Eagles, a mens soccer team from the Plymouth-Canton area, dropped its Great Lakes Soccer League season finale Sunday 7-1 to the University of Michigan.

Ric Anger scored the Eagles' only goal.

The team finished its inaugural season with a 3-9-1 record.

Ford runners shine

Doug and Dennis Kurtis proved to be a formidable running team, speeding to a win in the two-man 10-kilometer team race in the National Corporate Cup, Relays July 21-22 at San Jose, Calif.

Dennis, of Livonia, and Doug were clocked at 31:03 and 30:13, respectively. Doug, from Novi, also ran a 13:57 three-mile race to help Ford take a third in the distance relay and was clocked at 3:11 in a three-quarter mile run on the team's eighth-place pyramid relay.

Bill Boyd of Canton and Dave Emery of Farmington Hills also sparked for Ford, teaming for a third in the two-man masters 10-kilometer race. Boyd ran a 33:24 and Emery a 33:35, which also earned them fourth and fifth place finishes in the individual masters run.

In addition, Boyd earned points with a 4:21 clocking in the masters 1,500-meter run.

Ford finished with 77 points, good for seventh place. Sixty teams were entered in the finals.

Emily's run for Tiger ducats

Last year, the Emily-Pooh five-mile fall race included all the pop or beer you could drink and all the pizza you could eat. This year, in addition to the usual drinks and the thousands of hot pizzas, the race will include discounted reserved grandstand tickets to a Tiger-Blue Jay game.

Sellouts are expected for the mid-September series, which may be Toronto's last gasp in a dying pennant race, and which features the teams with the two best records in baseball.

The road race will begin at 10 a.m., Sept. 16, on the roof of Cobo Hall and includes a lap on the warning track through Tiger Stadium just before batting practice. The post-race party — music, dancing, beer and pizza — will be at a vacant lot near Tiger Stadium.

The cost of the race and party only is $9.50. The cost of the race, party and ball game is $13.50. The normal price of a reserved seat is $5, when they are available. Except for obstructed view, there are no seats left for the Sunday game.

According to team officials, the 2,000 tickets represents the largest group sale in the Tigers' history. Entry forms are available at local Domino's stores, or at Emily's downtown, 171 W. Congress. For information, call 963-7044.

Rowdies not discouraged by fast defeat in St. Louis

The FLIP Rowdies can "chalk one up for experience" after losing twice in the U.S. Youth Soccer Association's (USYSA) Girls Under 19 national tournament last week in St. Louis, Mo.

"We lost both games, but we're not as bad as that," said Dave Lussier, who coaches the Farmington, Livonia and Plymouth team. "Three teams were really outstanding and we really haven't experienced this level of competition. Every team had three to five All-Americans."

The Rowdies, midwest regional champions, fell 5-1 to the Union Bay Flyers of Seattle, Wash. in the tournament opener. In the other semifinal, the Virginia Bluebellies nipped the Dallas D'Feeters, 1-0.

The Bluebellies went on to capture the championship against Seattle, 2-1.

Missy Akers scored one goal and set up three others to lead Union Bay, a finalist a year ago, past the Rowdies.

"She's considered one of the top high school players in the country," said Lussier. "She's just a marvelous athlete to watch."

SUE FERGUSON was the Rowdies' top scorer during the tournament with three goals.

She scored the only goal against Seattle and added two more against the D'Feeters in a 4-3 consolation loss.

Trailing 3-0 at halftime in the consolation game, the Rowdies rallied behind the scoring of Ferguson (two goals) and Annette Ruggiero (one).

Ferguson's header from Dorene Dudek with 1 1/2 minutes to play tied the match at 3-3. But the D'Feeters came back and scored the game-winner with only five seconds to play in regulation time.

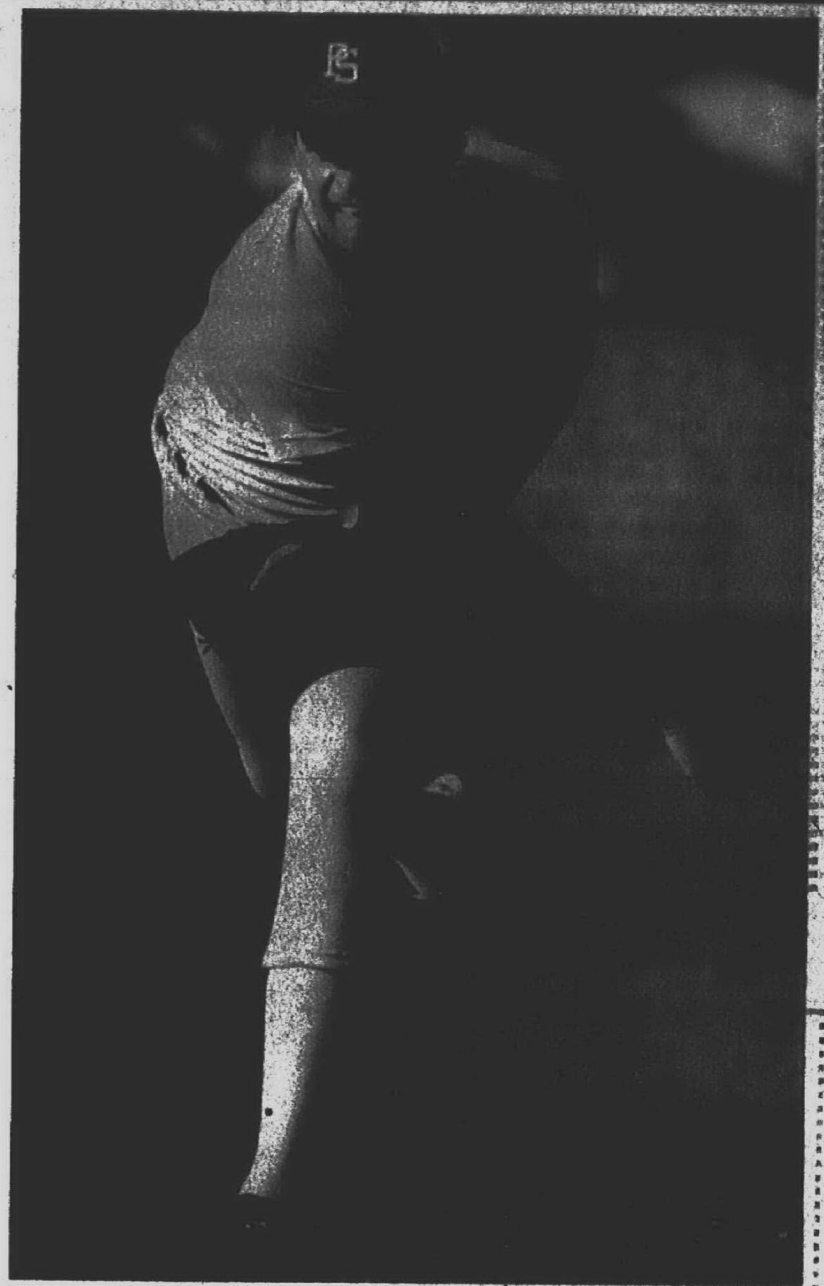

"We were already looking ahead to overtime and it cost us," said the Rowdies' coach. "But it was a good one. I think a lot of people took notice when we came back. We showed that we had the biggest heart and determination level."

The Rowdies' season, by no means, is over. They will compete Aug. 10-12 in an international tournament in Smithtown, N.Y.

"We lost (in St. Louis), but we grew a lot," Lussier said. "We lost the experience of a lifetime. We were the first team ever from the midwest regional to score a goal."

Dream come true

For four years now, Rick Berberet has been saying he would love to pitch for Michigan State University. It has been the 1984 Plymouth Salem grad's mission since he started playing baseball for Spartan grad (and ex-Salem coach) Brian Gilles. Well, Berberet has the chance to make his dream a reality. He has signed a letter of intent to attend MSU. He, reportedly, has been given a partial baseball scholarship. "Coach (Tom) Smith told me I would have to work real hard and if I pitched well in the fall, I might be able to go on their spring trip," Berberet said. "He said he was pleased to have me. After this past year, I was really pleased to find out that a Big 10 school would still be interested in me." Berberet was the ace of Salem's Class A runner-up team in 1983, but he and the Rocks slumped badly this past season. "They have a new assistant coach at MSU who is going to work with me. I'm already on a weight program so I'm going to be a lot stronger. Hopefully by next year I'll be throwing the ball 90-94 mph and when the season comes I'll make the spring trip," Berberet said. Berberet was a basketball as well as a baseball standout at Salem.

Look for more than just a high interest rate

One of our clients, Betty B. Smith, just heard of a jumbo certificate of deposit (CD) being offered in Phoenix. She wondered if the one-half-percent difference in interest rate warranted further consideration.

Another client, John Jones was petrified by the Continental Illinois fiasco. He wondered if he should withdraw all his CD money, pay substantial penalties, and put it into savings account for safety.

Because we are inundated by the media with wild interest rate stories as well as with stories of doom and gloom in the financial markets, everyone is wondering about what to do with their liquid funds.

Predicting Interest Rate Is Risky

No one has a crystal ball for predicting interest rates. The reason is that there are too many imponderables, chief among them being the national elections, the budget deficit, war in the Middle East, the resolve of the Federal Reserve to keep inflation down, and the performance of the economy.

Such uncertainties lead to the development of two opposite scenarios. If one believes that interest rates have peaked and are likely to drop in the near future, then it would be wise to lock in high, long-term interest rates.

If, on the other hand, you believe that interest rates are about to start on their long upward climb, then for maximum safety you would prefer short-term, money-market investments so you would be able to capitalize on higher interest rates at a future date.

The accompanying table presents a sample of short- and long-term yields on different types of investment.

THE CURRENT YIELDS:

Money-market deposit accounts	8.9%
Money-market mutual funds	9.6%
Tax-exempt money funds	5.3%

Certificates of Deposit:

6 months	10.1 percent
2 1/4 years	10.9 percent
1 year	10.5 percent
5 years	11.3 percent

Treasuries:

6 months	11.1 percent
2 years	12.7 percent
1 year	11.7 percent
10 years	13.2 percent

Bonds:

AAA utilities, 4-10 years	13.8%
GNMA est. 12 years	14.0%

finances and you

AAA tax-exempts, 5 years 7.7%
AAA tax-exempts, 10 years 8.9%

Money Market Mutual Funds

Most money-market mutual funds now pay more for your cash than you would get from the average money-market deposit account at banks and S&L's. If you are a cautious investor, you might prefer money funds that invest only in securities guaranteed by the U.S. Government. Those funds pay about the same as you would get at banks and S&L's.

Certificates of Deposit

Some big banks are starting to advertise for depositors from out of state. They do it by offering higher interest rates than you can get from your local bank.

It is fairly simple to buy CDs from an out-of-state bank. It is done by mail or, until Oct. 1, through stock brokers. But you need a sizable deposit, or a sizable difference in interest rates to make it worthwhile.

If you do invest your money in an out-of-state CD, you may wish to leave at least some savings in your home bank to qualify yourself for a free checking account or lower interest rates on loans.

Treasury Securities

You pay federal income tax on interest from treasuries but no state or local taxes, which means they can net you more than meets the eye. But they net you less if you buy through most banks, or brokers, because of their fees. Discount brokers may charge $25 to $35; full-service brokers, $25 to $50; banks, $35 to $60. A $50 fee on a two-year, 12.7 percent, $10,000 treasury could drop the yield to roughly 12.4 percent. Treasuries can be bought at no fee through a Federal Reserve Bank, such as the Federal Reserve Bank in Detroit.

Zero Coupon Bonds

Stock brokers frequently suggest investing in zero-coupon bonds (corporate, municipals and a form of treasuries) as a way of guaranteeing yields. They work very much like savings bonds.

You put up a fraction of the face value and receive the full face value at maturity. An investment of $2,299 for example, can get you $10,000 after 11 years. That is a yield-to-maturity of 13.3 percent with your reinvested interest payments built right in.

There are three drawbacks to zero-coupon bonds.

First, you have to report the interest earned each year as taxable income, even though you do not get it until the bond matures. Consequently, zeros are best for tax-deferred investments like IRAs or as gifts to children who pay low or no taxes.

Second, zero-coupon bonds fluctuate widely in price, so you risk larger losses if you have to sell before maturity.

Third, the treasury zero isn't a true treasury. It is a broker-created hybrid, one step away from a treasury guarantee.

Summing up:

If you have liquid funds to invest, shop around for the best deal. Remember: High interest rate is not all that counts.

EDUCATIONAL SEMINAR: The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and the Coordinated Financial Planning staff will conduct a seminar 7:30-10 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 18, at the Kingsley Inn, 1475 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills. This seminar will address the following questions: Taxes — how to defer or eliminate them. Investments — how to invest in stocks for growth, income or stability. Real estate — how to find partnerships with excellent prospects. IRAs — where to invest now. Financial plan — for whom and what it offers. Two out-of-town guest speakers will discuss two attractive tax shelters. The seminar is free, but registration is required. For more details, call 643-8888.

Sid Mittra is president of Coordinated Financial Planning Inc. in Troy and a professor of economics and management at Oakland University, Rochester.

Uncle Louie

New Redford restaurant is fondly named after him.

UNCLE LOUIE must be smiling.

His sons, George and Nick Smith, recently opened Uncle Louie's Dining Saloon at 25641 Plymouth Road, just east of Beech Daly in Redford Township.

The Smith brothers' restaurant is named in honor of their late father, who for almost 30 years operated a colorful and well-known bar, the Adams Bar, on West Lafayette in downtown Detroit.

Bright and polished, and decorated in a Roaring Twenties motif, Uncle Louie's is far more elegant than the Adams ever was.

Nevertheless, with its shiny brass bar railing and memorabilia on the walls, it evokes memories of the old Adams, where Louie Smith lent a sympathetic ear — and often a few dollars — to many newspaper reporters down on their luck. His bar was across the street from the Detroit News and near the Detroit Free Press.

WHEN LOUIS Smith died at 81 in May 1972, his obituary was headlined: "A generation of reporters mourn friend Louis Smith."

The obituary noted Smith was "pacifying and almost always smiling. He listened to the troubles of a generation of reporters, most of whose bylines are almost forgotten."

"He also heard the talk of relaxing politicians, sports figures and business leaders" who regularly came to his establishment.

"So inviting was the old-fashioned barroom, with its dark wood, high ceilings, and cooling fans, that it became an informal annex of the newspaper and the WWJ studios next door, long before there was a Detroit Press Club."

Indeed, his son George recalls that a Detroit News city editor, having sent a reporter out of town on a big story during a weekend when the paper's business office was closed, called the Adams and said: "Give Harris a thousand dollars. We'll reimburse you Monday."

ANECDOTES ABOUT the Adams could fill a book.

"At least one reporter used the Adams as his mailing address," the News obituary noted. "And there are some pretty clear recollections of a certain character riding a race horse into the place, minus the excuse of so much as a bet."

Louie Smith retired when the Adams was torn down in 1963 as part of an urban renewal program. The new WDIV-TV, Channel 4, building now covers the site.

Uncle Louie's Dining Saloon is the result of extensive remodeling during the last several weeks at the former Harrow's bar and restaurant.

The new restaurant seats 138; a separate banquet room will accommodate another 100.

"OUR GOAL always has been to serve gourmet food and drinks at working man's prices," said George Smith.

The restaurant features appetizers such as batter-dipped zucchini, nachos and potato skins, salads, omeletes, burgers and entrees such as bar-b-que ribs, Boston scrod, sauteed shrimp, New York strip steak and a variety of sandwiches. There are also some Italian dishes such as veal parmesan, lasagna and round or deep-dish pizza.

The Smith brothers also operate Sneaky Pete's in Livonia, at Five Mile and Farmington roads, which opened three years ago.

The largest of their restaurants, Smith Bros. & Co., opened two years ago on West Maple near Crooks Road in Troy.

Hosting at Uncle Louie's Dining Saloon on Plymouth Road in Redford Township is George Smith (right) a co-owner. He is helping serve Nick Francis and Susan Viangos. She is the granddaughter of the late Louis Smith for whom the restaurant was named.

Mangione, fans enjoy concert

By James Windell
special writer

There's apparently a lot of things the enthusiastic flugelhornist Chuck Mangione loves to do. Certainly he loves performing in front of an audience. That's clear at any Chuck Mangione concert.

All it takes to discover this is to watch him hug his horn as a fellow musician solos or watch him nearly bounce out of his shoes while beating a tattoo on a tambourine.

But, there's more. Any one who attended his concert Saturday night at Meadow Brook Music Festival could see and hear that.

Besides just honking his horn for a crowd, as he would say, there's the joys of his family and relatives, to whom he dedicated songs, and the sheer love of composing.

IN ADDITION to being treated to a handful of new tunes that will appear on his album "Disguise" (which is due out in mid-August), there were some older songs dedicated to various family members. And for a while, it was a horse race to see if he would run out of relatives before he ran out of time.

Mangione's fans may like the personal information and the many dedications to family members, but I thought his raps could be pared considerably. Nonetheless, he dedicated and then played his compositions to his daughter ("Lullaby for Nancy Carol"), his sister ("Josephine"), his father and his youngest daughter and his sister's son.

And the music? Well, a lot of new Mangione sounds a lot like old Mangione. Which is not to say that it isn't melodic or that his audience doesn't love it. It is and they do.

His "London and Davis in New York," a love theme for a television pilot, sounded like it was music for a TV series. It's an appealing but slight piece that seemed to win favor with this huge crowd.

Another theme, for his new album, and entitled "Love Wears No Disguises," is a rather delightful melody that featured Kathryn Moses on bass flute. Moses, a veteran musician originally from Toronto, was a surprise hit of this concert.

ROBOTIC SHOW

Dodge's robot supersalesmen, who were introduced at the January 1984 Detroit Auto Show, return to the Detroit area for appearances including a stay Thursday, Aug. 2, to Thursday, Aug. 9, at the Livonia Mall. Eleven robots who move, talk and sing will be featured in the robotic show, in the automaker's "Caravan Across the U.S.A." Also part of the promotion is "Main Street U.S.A.," with a museum about the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island.

ADULT COMEDY

"Bad Habits," an adult comedy by Terrence McNally, will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday-Sunday, Aug. 3-5, at Aday Auditorium of the MacKenzie Fine Arts Center on campus in Dearborn. The first act stars Dan Taylor of Livonia, George Buchanan of Livonia and Ann Marie Furie of Westland. Also in the show are Elizabeth Erdoy of Livonia and John Oleksiak of Taylor.

AREA CONCERTS

Musical Youth International band and chorus will give two free concerts this weekend after returning from a five-week tour of Australia. One concert will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 3, at St. Valentine's Church in Redford. Final post-tour concert will be given at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 5, at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor. Livonia residents appearing in the concerts will be Vida Duoba, Robert Gibson and John Perry.

PERFORMING HORSES

The Lipizzan Stallions will perform at 6 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 11, and 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 12, at the Carleton Equestrian Center, 2903 W. Newburg Road in Carleton. Tickets are $6, or $5 in advance; children under 6 are free. Eighteen stallions will perform. Tickets are available at Scott Colburn's Western store in Livonia.

MEDIAEVAL FESTIVAL

A benefit for the Ann Arbor Medieval Festival will be from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 5, at Joe's Star Lounge in Ann Arbor. A feast of roast beef and a night of comic interludes and bawdy highlights of the festival is scheduled. Admission is $5. For more information, call 663-0681.

NECTARINE BALLROOM

After 10 years of rock 'n' roll, Ann Arbor's Second Chance is making way for the '80s, with the unveiling of the Nectarine Ballroom, a New-York-style dance club opening to the public at 10 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 2. The ballroom will be open seven days a week, offering happy hour, ballroom dancing, record release parties, master mixers and national acts, for the 21-and-over crowd.

DINNER CABARET

Lelli's Dinner Cabaret is offered Tuesdays-Thursdays for the summer season, at Lelli's restaurant in Detroit. Musical comedy nights are Tuesday and Wednesday, with "An Evening of Cole Porter," directed by Pamela Cleeland. Opera Night is every Thursday, with "La Traviata" by Verdi and highlights from other operas, directed by Commendatore Dino Valle. Prelude is 7 p.m., dinner 7:30 and show at 8 p.m. The dinner cabaret is produced by Florence Larline of Larline Promotions in Franklin. Seven-course dinner and show is $24.95 per person. Show only is $10. For reservations, call 571-1590.

JAZZ FESTIVAL

The fifth anniversary Motown Detroit Jazz Festival will be Wednesday, Aug. 29 through Monday, Sept. 3, with 25 featured events scheduled for nine performance sites. Stars will include Dizzy Gillespie, Art Blakey, Betty Carter, the Modern Jazz Quartet, Blue Belton and Ramsey Lewis. Tickets ranging $2-$15 are on sale at the festival's Renaissance Center Ticket Office and at all Hudson's and Ticket World outlets. Seventy-nine free concerts by jazz ensembles featuring Detroit-area artists, award-winning U.S. and Canadian high school and college bands and four international groups are scheduled at Hart Plaza, Grand Circus Park and New Center Park in Detroit.

CONTESTS OPEN

Offbeat contests are being planned throughout the 11-day annual Michigan State Fair, which runs Friday, Aug. 24, through Monday, Sept. 3, at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit. Just a few of the competitions are a Doughnut Eating Contest on Saturday, Aug. 25; a Clown Contest on Sunday, Aug. 26 (all Clowns Day contestants will be admitted free into the fairgrounds until 12:30 p.m. when registered and wearing their costumes and make-up); and a Most Freckles Contest, Saturday, Sept. 1. Applications must be returned by Wednesday, Aug. 15. For more information, call 368-1000.

SOUPY STARS

"An Evening with Soupy Sales" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 11, at the Royal Oak Theater. Uncensored footage, out-takes and bloopers from the comedian's TV shows will be featured, plus a live concert by Sales himself. Tickets are $10.50 in advance, or $12 the day of the show, at all Ticket World outlets.

REVUE AUDITIONS

Michigan Opera Theatre will hold auditions Friday, Aug. 3, for singers interested in performing in Michigan Opera's new Broadway revue production. Interested singers must submit a resume of musical theater experience and a photograph and should call Mary Pratt at 963-3717 for an audition appointment no later than Thursday, Aug. 2.

AT LAFFREY'S

Phil Marcus Esser's "Bob Dylan Revue" has moved from Alden's Alley in Royal Oak to Laffrey's on the River, on Franklin Street just east of the Renaissance Center, in downtown Detroit. The revue originally was presented at a Roseedale Park community center and later was a two-hour special on WTVS, Channel 56. Esser, who is a Livonia resident; Barbara Bredius, and Charlie Latimer will appear in the revue opening Friday, Aug. 3. Two shows are presented Fridays-Saturdays through Sept. 1. The early show offers dinner at 7 p.m., show at 8:30. Second show is at 11 p.m. Cover charge is $5. For reservations call 289-8302.

ATTIC BENEFIT

Another event featuring Phil Marcus Esser and Barbara Bredius is a benefit for Detroit's Attic Theatre, a champagne brunch starting at 11:30 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 12, at the home of Beverly Clark at 9214 Dwight, two doors from Mayor Coleman Young's Manoojian Mansion. The $25 donation is tax deductible. The benefit was planned before fire struck the Attic Theatre last Sunday morning. Storage and dressing room space was destroyed.

ETHNIC FESTIVAL

The dances, food and customs of the Far East and India will share the spotlight during the weekend of Friday-Sunday, Aug. 3-5, at Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit. An Indian folk-dancing competition, featuring groups from the Midwest and Canada, is planned 9-5 p.m. and 7:30-10 p.m. Sunday. For Eastern entertainment includes a performance by the Sao Jose Korean School and a demonstration of Korean tea. Kwan Do from noon to 2 p.m. Saturday.

New magazine covers art action in Michigan

Comedies and musicals dominate August theatrical fare at playhouses in metropolitan Detroit.

Summertime traditionally calls for productions that are light. The heaviest subject many people want to consider during the sun-soaked vacation season is whether orange or lime-colored golf balls are easier to find in the rough and whether sun lotion with paba potency of six prevents peeling.

Although many professional and community theater groups take a break from production during the summer, there's an assortment of comedies, musicals and one-acts in August for those addicted to live theater no matter what the season.

At Wayne State University's Hilberly Theater in Detroit, many student thespians are vacationing. The Hilberly stages summer productions with smaller casts and less elaborate sets and costumes than the full-scale classical theater it favors during the regular season.

UPSTAIRS ON the Hilberly stage, "Cole," a musical revue of Cole Porter tunes, alternates with an English mystery thriller, "A Murder Has Been Arranged" by Emyln Williams. "A Murder Has Been Arranged" runs through Friday and "Cole" runs through Saturday, during the Summer Theatre Festival.

Downstairs in the studio theater the fare is two one-acts about contemporary black life, "The Prodigals" and "Orrin," both by Don Evans, which rotate in repertory with "Relatively Speaking" by Alan Ayckbourn. "The Prodigals" and "Orrin" run through Friday. "Relatively Speaking" runs through Saturday.

For ticket information, call the box office at 577-2972. At Oakland University near Rochester the theater department closed its production season in the spring with "Mary Mary," and in July it offered an Arts for Youth camp.

This is the second successful season for the on-campus day camp for young people 8-15 who are interested in studying music, art, mime and dance. During August, OU will offer art and theater workshops for adults. Call 377-3014 for information.

THE THEATRE Guild of Livonia-Redford will produce two one-act Fridays-Saturdays, Aug. 17-18 and 24-25, for its Summer Studio Productions. The workshop presentations, featuring directors and players new to the guild, are "Impromptu" by Pulitzer-Prize-winning playwright Tad Mosel and

Cathie Breidenbach

"Whiskey," a Western spoof by Terrence McNally. For ticket information, call 522-9057.

At Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre in Bloomfield Township, the music of Stephen Sondheim rings out for the summer production, "Anyone Can Whistle." The musical comedy about a wacky woman politician runs through the middle of September. Call 644-4418 for ticket information.

A lawyer and complications with his several mistresses is the subject of "The Button" at Somerset Dinner Theatre in the Somerset Mall, Troy. The comedy by Ben Starr will run through Saturday, Aug. 25. For ticket information, call 844-8885.

Zany humor wins out over sophisticated wit and satire in this summer's comic offerings. "Brewster's Millions" opens Friday and continues through Saturday, Sept. 8, at the Henry Ford Museum Theater at Greenfield Village in Dearborn. It's a tale, set in the 1920s, of a million-dollar inheritance, with dizzying twists in the comic plot. Call 271-1620 for ticket information.

Most community theater groups take a break from production during the summer and concentrate on readying the upcoming season of plays. The Birmingham Village Players unique old building is deep in sawdust as the lobby is reconstructed and the sound booth enlarged during the summer. The village players is the third oldest theater group in the country, going into its 63rd continuous season.

THE FARMINGTON Players is rehearsing workshops that will be presented at the September meeting and is planning the diabolical details for "Frankenstein," which will open the season in October.

Auditions for "Arsenic and Old Lace" begin in August for the Spotlight Players. "Arsenic" will open the production

James Harbour as Sir Charles Jasper and Sheri Nichols is his secretary, Miss Groze, in "A Murder Has Been Arranged."

Katie Sikorski and Richard Klautsch portray one of two couples who become involved in intrigue in "Relatively Speaking."

season after a members party Saturday, Sept. 8, to celebrate the group's 25th anniversary. Through the years Spotlight Players has also been known as the Wayne Summer Theater and the Wayne-Westland Theater Guild.

Thespians from the Plymouth Theatre Guild won't be on stage until fall, but members are planning next season's productions and will tend a cotton-candy wagon at the annual Plymouth Fall Festival.

second runs Tom Panzenhagen

"The Fortune Cookie" (1966), 1 to night on Ch. 50. Originally 125 minutes. TV time slot: 143 minutes.

"The Fortune Cookie" was directed by Billy Wilder and written by Wilder and I.A.L. Diamond. They collaborated on eight films, including "Some Like It Hot" and "The Apartment," and won Oscars for the latter and nominations for the former and for "The Fortune Cookie." Jack Lemmon alone has worked with Wilder a half-dozen times and Lemmon and Walter Matthau, who co-star in "The Fortune Cookie," together have co-starred in four Wilder films. So "The Fortune Cookie" is a "family" picture, and it benefits from that it's essentially a one-joke film, but Lemmon, Matthau, Diamond and Wilder make the most of it. Matthau also won an Oscar for best supporting actor for the film. Ron Rich and Judi West co-star.

Rating: $3.20.

"The Desert Fox" (1951), 11:30 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 4. Originally 88 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes.

The late James Mason stars as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the quirky genius of North African desert warfare during World War II. He ruled the Sahara during the early years of the war but met his match at El Alamein in 1942, and eventually committed suicide in 1944. He's memorialized on film, though, primarily for his anti-Third Reich inclinations and his alleged participation in the internal, Nazi plot to kill Hitler. Cedric Hardwicke, Jessica Tandy and Luther Adler co-star.
Rating: $3.10.

"Time After Time" (1979), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 112 minutes. TV time slot: 150 minutes.

"Time After Time" is one of those rare, few sci-fi films that manages to fly without benefit of a sound superstructure of credibility. This film's full of flaws yet it's fanciful enough and stylish enough to overcome its limitations. Malcolm McDowell stars as utopian H.G. Wells, whose hopes for the future are dashed when he pursues Jack the Ripper via time machine to contemporary America. David Warner is marvelously ghoulish as Jack, and Mary Steenburgen co-stars.
Rating: $3.10.

"Barefoot in the Park" (1967), 8 p.m. Tuesday on Ch. 50. Originally 105 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes.

Jane Fonda and Robert Redford have worked together only once since co-starring in Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park" — in "The Electric Horseman" (1979) — and it's interesting to note how far they've come in the interim. They were newlyweds in "Barefoot in the Park" and relative newcomers to movies. Both were absolutely perky and boasted the well-scrubbed look, which was fine for a Neil Simon sitcom. In "The Electric Horseman" they still looked good, to be sure, but with layers of character etched into their faces that all the scrubbing in the world couldn't remove. Their roles changed, too, from optimistic newlyweds to pessimistic, jaundiced TV reporter and tired cowboy star.

"The Electric Horseman" is a far better film than "Barefoot in the Park," but if you're looking for a few laughs, you can't go wrong with the latter.

Charles Boyer, Mildred Natwick and Herb Edelman co-star.

Cranbrook light show continues

A light show highlighting the music of Motley Crue, Quiet Riot and Led Zepplin continues Friday and Saturday nights at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

"Heavy Metal Lasers," a multi-colored laser light show projected on the Cranbrook Planetarium dome, is sponsored by WRIF radio and the institute. Tickets are $4.25 for adults, $3.25 for persons 8-17. A discount card available from WRIF radio is good for $1 off the price of admission for Friday night shows.

The car shifts from functional to fine art

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

IT SEEMS NATURAL that an exhibition of paintings with the automobile as the theme should be a part of the sixth annual Concours d'Elegance to be held Sunday at Meadow Brook Hall.

In this event, literally a competition of elegance, the 160 cars featured represent the epitome of automotive design — international beauties which embodied as many dreams and aspirations as they did moving parts. The competition is based on design and quality, not necessarily performance.

The cars will be on exhibit 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There are 11 car classes beginning with antiques through 1915 and continuing through vintage American classics, European classics, classic and contemporary sports cars to the featured Chryslers, which will occupy this year's spotlight.

Chrysler chairman Lee A. Iacocca and Group Promotions Inc. president, Robert E. Larivee, Sr. are Concours co-chairmen.

The art show, organized by Tom Hale of Farmington Hills who designed this year's Concours poster and program cover, brings a dozen of the country's top artists who use the automobile as a subject for fine art together.

The five from Michigan including Hale are Glen Abbott of Ann Arbor, Jack Juratovic of Lake Orion, John Krieger of Plymouth and John McCormick of Linden.

All but McCormick, associate professor of art at Delta College, have been or still are involved in automobile styling for the major companies.

But, their appreciation of the automobile, in all instances, goes far beyond technical. Their works are portraits of an element of our society, so deeply ingrained that it has become an extension of the human psyche.

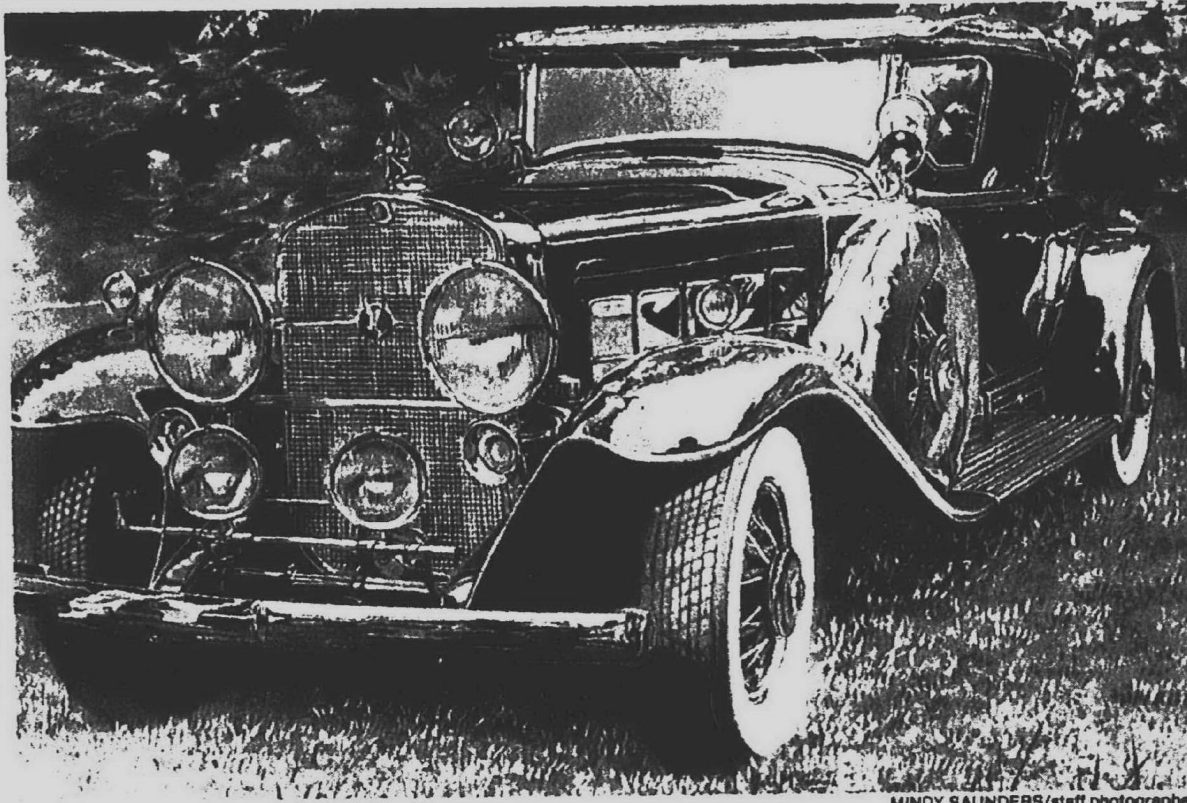

And each of the artists strives to stir the emotions of the viewer — to think, to dream, to remember, to smile and even to regret.

The other seven artists in the show are: Dennis Brown, Covina, Calif.; Ken Eberts, Tenecula, Calif.; Phyllis Krim, New York City; David Lord, Indianapolis; Bill Motta, Newport Beach, Calif.; Bob Rector, Laguna Beach, Calif.; and Stanley Wanlass, Astoria, Ore.

Hale said each artist agreed to be present for this one day show, so the commitment (particularly for the West Coast artists) is substantial. The $7,000 in purchase awards, the $1,500 in cash awards, plus the prestige of the show and the people who will see the art is, of course, enticing.

Each artist is contributing one original work for an auction to be held before a dinner party Saturday. Hale's original framed painting (34 by 48 inches) from which the poster was made, will be in the auction.

Proceeds from the auction as well as from the Concours d'Elegance itself, go toward the preservation and maintenance of Meadow Brook Hall. Admission charge.

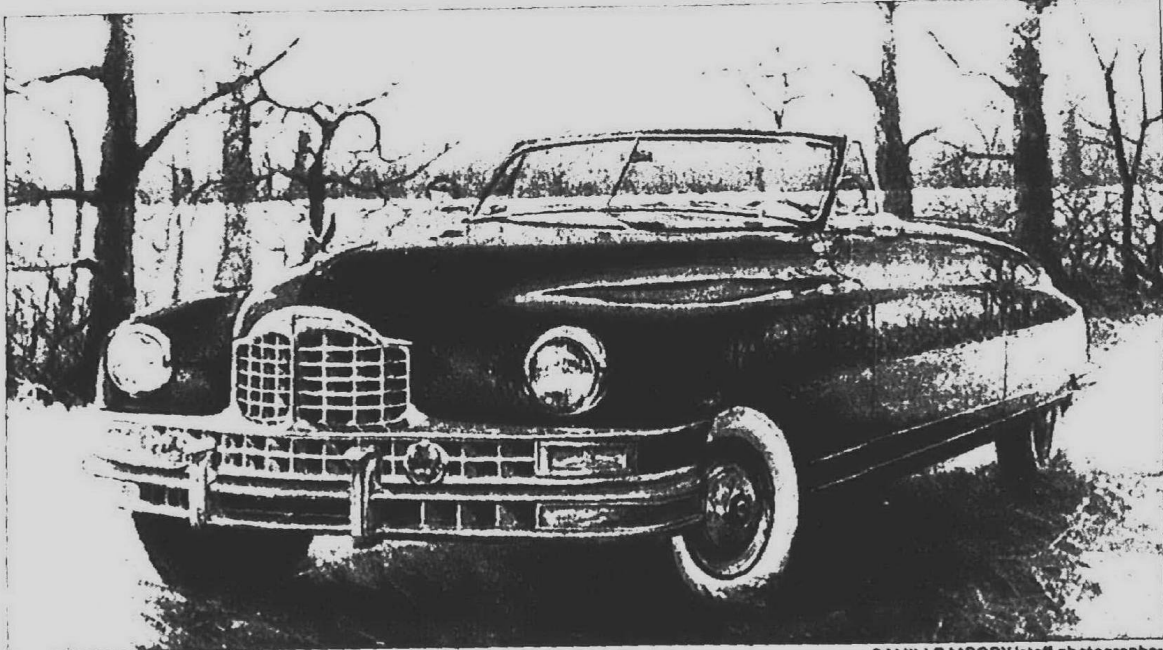

MINDY SAUNDERS/staff photographer

John William McCormick of Linden, assistant professor of art at Delta College and full-time artist, is a consistent prize winner in regional shows. He said he's trying to go "more abstract" — to move beyond the photo image. He particularly likes to paint (in acrylics) the cars of the '30s and '40s because he likes the feelings of nostalgia they evoke. McCormick worked on the assembly lines while going to college. He has a bachelor's and master's of fine arts from Michigan State.

John McCormick

CAMILLE MCCOY/staff photographer

John Krieger

John Krieger of Plymouth, product of Center for Creative Studies in Industrial Design, left a career in automotive styling five years ago to pursue fine art fulltime. Since then, he has been in many national and regional exhibitions. He labels his watercolors and acrylics "more impressionist than photo-realist" and says he tries to show the paint strokes. He likes to portray "nature's timeless forces and man's interactions" through common images such as roads, bridges and cars. Notice the optical illusion in this painting with the reflection of the woods in the car's surface.

Glen Abbot

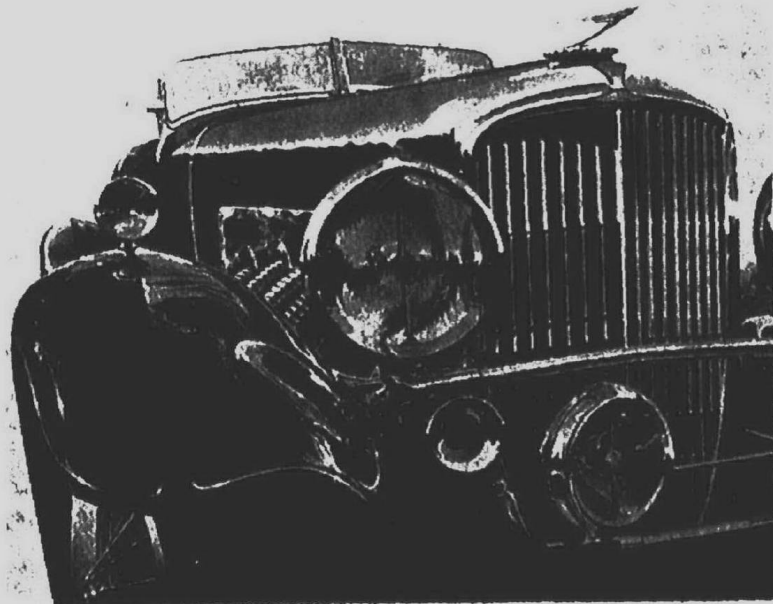

Glen Abbot of Ann Arbor came to Detroit from West Chester, Pa., to study industrial design at what was then Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts. He worked at the Ford Motor Co. Design Center and is designing for American Motors. In his fine art work, he combines elements of photography, drawing and painting. "Duesenberg III," 22 by 33 inches is one of several works he will have in the Concours show. He said he chooses subjects that "mean something to more people than me." He has done a Formula One series as well as one on Duesenbergs.

Tom Hale

Tom Hale of Farmington Hills, graduate of the Art Center of Design in Los Angeles, continues to balance two careers: designer for American Motors and fine arts painter. The automobile as a subject gives him an "opportunity to explore color, reflectivity and quality of abstract patterns."

DAVID FRANK/staff photographer

What happens on these reflective surfaces in terms of light, color and pattern intrigues Hale. There was a major show of his paintings at Meadow Brook Art Gallery last year, and he won the gold medal of honor at the American Watercolor Society in New York in 1983.

John Juratovic

John Juratovic of Lake Orion, born in Pittsburg, graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Art in industrial design. He designed for Ford and Chrysler before founding BORT Inc. in 1970. Juratovic has influenced with some of the contemporary classics such as the Ford Mustang Cobra II, the Chevrolet Monza Mirage and the Phillips Motors Berlina Coupe. A former SCCA racer, he also restores for vintage racing. With a touch of fantasy, he said he likes to put himself back in time when he paints — "pretend I'm a stylist designing those old classic cars."
