Time for a 'super decision' on Supersewer

By Margaret Neubacher and Gary M. Cates staff writers

Trustees in Canton and Plymouth townships will decide their communities' role in the $110 million Son of Supersewer project Tuesday night. The officials must struggle with a decision that will shape the future of their communities. Millions of dollars are at stake and future development and community growth are at risk. The officials must either: ● Vote yes and double or triple water bills by financially committing their community to the project despite several uncertainties — including whether the system will work, whether 75 percent federal funds will be available for construction, and whether the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) disapproves of the system's design and will call for multi-million dollar renovations a few years down the road. ● Vote no and lose a chance for 75 percent federal funding of the project as well as suffering under an immediate sewer ban the DNR has promised to issue, which would restrict all future construction in the community. Both boards meet Tuesday night — one day before the DNR deadline for final service agreements to be signed.

BY AGREEING to the project, the communities in effect sign a blank check because the future costs are unknown and the service agreement is exclusive. All 17 western Wayne County and Oakland County communities involved in the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley wastewater project are asked to commit to a percentage of the total construction costs, rather than a fixed dollar amount. Canton's percentage figure is 27.48 percent while Plymouth Township has been assigned 5.93 percent. Each community will be held responsible for that percent of the construction costs minus the amount of federal grant money they receive. However, no one involved with the project will say what the total cost will be. More uncertainty was added last Wednesday when Canton and Plymouth township officials met with federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) officials in Chicago. Federal money for the project reportedly was to come from the EPA and then be channeled through the state DNR. But EPA officials apparently aren't as confident about grants for the project as DNR officials. "They said they hadn't seen anything, any of the documents, on the new (Son of Supersewer) project," said Mike Gorman, Canton's finance director who attended the Chicago meeting. The EPA officials told Gorman the project would have to meet with EPA approval before dollars would be allocated. They also said there was some uncertainty whether the original Supersewer project would have received grants. Others at the Chicago meeting reportedly interpreted the EPA officials as saying Son of Supersewer may not receive federal funding. Without federal grant money, the local costs would be 100 percent of the total construction — meaning the 17 communities would divide the entire cost according to the agreed to percentages. If this happened, the estimated costs for Canton and Plymouth townships would go from an estimated $8.9 million to $30.2 million for Canton and from $1.9 million to $6.5 million for Plymouth Township. Another concern centers on whether the Detroit wastewater treatment plant can handle the additional sewage from the new system. If it can't, the communities fear being billed for building a treatment plant. Also of concern is the fact that Son of Supersewer is designed to dump raw

'Word of Honor'

Party marks second showing of movie filmed here

Preparations continued last week for the "second premiere" of the made-for-television movie "Word of Honor" filmed in Plymouth. Announcement of the second showing of the film on CBS at 9 p.m. Wednesday touched off plans for a local cast reunion and party for residents of the back-drop town. The movie, which stars Karl Malden as a journalist burdened by his promise to a woman with knowledge of a murder suspect, was partly filmed in Plymouth in 1980. The film features scenes from Plymouth's downtown, as well as glimpses of residents standing in as extras around Kellogg Park. To commemorate the second showing of the film, the Mayflower Hotel and the Observer are sponsoring a Word of Honor party starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Mayflower Meeting House, at Main and Ann Arbor Trail. The highlight of the evening will come at 9 p.m. as party-goers watch the movie on big screen television. Tickets to the party cost $5, with a portion of the proceeds going to benefit a Centennial Educational Park Journalism Scholarship. A limited number of tickets still are available at the Mayflower Hotel or at the Observer office, on the ground level of the Mayflower Meeting House. All are welcome but those considering attending are advised to buy tickets in advance, although tickets will be available at the door. "WORD OF HONOR" was produced by acting couple Alex Karras and Susan Clark. Although it is impossible for Karras and Clark to attend Wednesday's party, arrangements have been made for Karras to contact the party that night. A spokeswoman for Karras said the Detroit area was chosen for the film because of Karras' fondness for the area after playing defensive tackle for the Detroit Lions. Karras and wife Clark currently are involved with the taping of the television series "Webster" as well as a movie being made for ABC. The ABC film, "The Lady and the Gladiator," will feature Karras as a football coach and Clark as a doctor. The spokeswoman described the film as a battle turned love story. Among residents to be seen in the opening scene of "Word of Honor" saluting the American flag were Harry Krumm, an active VFW member in town, and former police chief Tim Ford. One resident who received a fair amount of footage directing a band in the movie was Carl Battishill, director of the Plymouth Community Band. Among the local and area cast who will be coming to Wednesday's party are Jack Fish, who played Malden's neighbor in the film, and Frank Malary of East Detroit who played the role of the jailer in a scene filmed in the Pontiac Jail, and Carl Knisley of Dearborn, who played the role of the father of the bridegroom. Other local and area residents in the movie included: April Richeson of Plymouth and Bonnie Knauss of Canton, both of whom played beauty queen contestants; Jim White, branch manager of First Federal Savings & Loan in Plymouth who sat behind his desk in the background while Malden applied for a loan; Evelyn Orbach, now living in New York, who was a reporter; Joyce Feuring, mother of the bridegroom; Ed Odani of Ann Arbor who played a police detective; Gary Mach, the boyfriend of the girl to whom Malden gave his word of honor; and Whit Vernon, a police officer. Members of the Plymouth Salem Rockettes in 1980 were seen as extras in the park scene in the movie but the group has been unable to confirm their identities. Although Wednesday's party is for the public at-large, residents who made appearances in the movie will be recognized before the movie begins. CBS had the rights to the film for two telecasts. After that, Karras' production company, Georgian Bay Productions, said the film will be distributed worldwide by 20th Century Fox.

Karl Malden as he appeared in a scene from "Word of Honor," which was filmed in Plymouth in 1980. The movie will be shown again Wednesday night on CBS.

Residents recall resignation with realism

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 — Richard Milhous Nixon, the 37th President of the United States, announced tonight that he had given up his long and arduous fight to remain in office and would resign effective at noon tomorrow.

— The New York Times

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Ten years ago last week former President Nixon announced his decision to leave office, ending more than a year of turmoil over the Watergate breakins. Nixon's nationally televised resignation on Aug. 8, 1974 stands clear in the memories of those questioned on the street by the Observer last week. Without prompting, all of those stopped in downtown Plymouth recalled what happened 10 years ago. "Nixon resigned and at 12 noon, Gerald Ford took over," said Jan Scheib of South Lyon. "I was watching it on TV, sitting on the edge of my bed," she said. "It was a very sad day in the history of the United States."

Nixon addressed the nation at 9 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 8. It was during his 15-minute speech from the Oval Office that Nixon called for a time of healing. The next day, shortly before noon, the former president bade his cabinet and staff goodbye. "Always remember, others may hate you, but those who hate you don't win unless you hate them — and then you destroy yourself," he said. He told his staffers to take pride in the administration's record in government, while tears streamed down his cheeks. Those gathered for the farewell responded with applause.

"TEN YEARS ago Richard Nixon took off in his little helicopter and went off into oblivion," said Joan Claeys of Plymouth. "I probably was at home scrubbing a floor at the time," she said.

Like many others, Claeys believes Nixon did the right thing by resigning. "He should have done it a year before."

Michael Holloway of Canton was at work the evening Nixon resigned.

"All the workers came in to watch a TV set," he said. "At that time I thought it was the right thing to do."

"What's interesting about it is that he left in disgrace and now, 10 years later, his opinion is starting to be respected," Holloway said. Likewise Shelly Arbour of Plymouth remembered watching the resignation on television. "I think he did the right thing to make peace," Arbour said. "He did the only thing he could," said Theron Hicks of Canton. "There was too much public opinion against him." Pat Touhey of Plymouth Township recalled watching Nixon "abdicate" on a television set in Ann Arbor. "I was glad he did it at the time," Touhey said. "I was a liberal back then; I didn't know any better."

Plans firmed up for Fall Festival

One of the major changes for the Fall Festival this year will be moving the Fire Department Waterball Fight from Penniman Avenue to Main Street. The waterball fight will be held on Main Street between Ann Arbor Trail and Wing. It is hoped the new location for the one-day event will give additional room which is much needed. At its meeting this month, the Fall Festival Board set the locations for 19 booths on Main Street between Ann Arbor Trail and Frallick. An Information Center (the Fall Festival Gazebo) will be placed at Main and Penniman Avenue. The kiddie rides and "Moon Walk" will be on Main between Frallick and Church, in front of City Hall. WSDP (88.1 FM), the student-operated radio station at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP), will be doing live broadcasts from Kellogg Park near the corner of Main and Penniman. The Plymouth Business and Professional Women's (BPW) club spin art booth will be at the southwest corner of Penniman and Main. Also located on Penniman Avenue will be the Festival Manager's office, the American Red Cross First Aid and informational booth, and the Health Promotion Van from the Catherine McAuley Health Center, St. Joseph Hospital. Groups operating booths this year on Ann Arbor Trail include the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, Mormon Church, Hospice Support Services, Canton Senior Class of '85, Plymouth Optimists, Plymouth Community Chorus, Plymouth Canton Moose, Stepping Stone School, Salem High School Junior Class of '86, Plymouth Theatre Guild, Plymouth Five & Drum Corps, Nativity of Virgin Mary Greek Church, Canton High School Junior Class of '86, Plymouth Family Services, CEP Perspective, and Plymouth Canton Civitans. Booths along Penniman will belong to the Plymouth Family YMCA, Salem High School Seniors '85, Polish National Alliance Centennial Dancers, CEP Executive Forum, Plymouth Figure Skating Club, New Morning School, Plymouth Police Officers Association, CEP National Honor Society, and Henry Ford Hospital.

FOOT HEALTH TODAY

DR. JAMES SCHELBERG, PODIATRIST

THE TEAM APPROACH

QUESTION: Does the podiatrist communicate with, and work with other medical specialists in treating patients?

ANSWER: The answer is an emphatic YES! Cooperation between the podiatrist and other medical specialists is essential, particularly if foot problems are associated with a systemic disease. In the case of circulatory disorders, for example, your family physician or an internist may be treating you. But when your feet and legs are affected, you may also want to benefit from the expertise of the medical specialist in these areas—your podiatrist.

Sometimes your podiatrist is the first medical specialist to notice a serious condition. He can give you helpful treatment and also refer you to another physician so they can work together in giving you relief.

Threshing time.

On a nostalgic afternoon at the Bunyea farm in Plymouth Township, farmers, would-be farmers, former farmers, and their families gathered from as far away as Indianapolis to view an old-fashioned threshing.

For old times' sake, Wilford Bunyea and his clan ch... a mid-summer Saturday to serve a homemade hot lunch before stoking up the steam engines of old-but-not-forgotten tractors and thresh bushels of wheat.

Large belts looped around wheels on a tractor transferred steam power to the separator. Using pitchforks, workers tossed cut and dried wheat stalks onto the conveyor. The separator removed the straw from the wheat, and the baler cubed the hay.

It's a process simplified in the 1940's with the invention of the combine, a machine that now sells for a steep $100,000. (Steam engine tractors, when one can be found, go for $25,000).

Steam engine threshing was commonplace from the late 1800's on, and still is the norm in Canada and elsewhere. It's a job made easier with teamwork. Farmers from miles around used to pitch in, preparing and bundling the wheat and threshing thousands of bushels per day before sitting down to a bountiful supper — usually the product of the ladies' team effort. A typical menu featured roast chicken, beef and pork, potatoes, and vegetables with homemade pies and cookies for dessert.

Bunyeas' wheat, at $3 a bushel, was headed to the Maumee, Ohio's Anderson Elevator. Anderson sells wheat to customers worldwide, including the Soviet Union.

"I used to run one of these things for (Wilford Bunyea)," said Westland's Walter Hartka, on hand for the big day. "I came out just to watch them."

Ray and Sally Alber of Saline also "came out to see the show." It was hardly novel for them, either. The Albers once used three threshing rigs to harvest 150 acres of wheat.

Animal control officer assigned varied roles

An animal wouldn't dare get out of control in Plymouth Township or the city of Plymouth.

At least that's the conclusion anyone would have to draw after checking the monthly report of the Plymouth Community Animal Control Officer, Steve Rapson.

Rapson, 27, only picks up four or five dogs a month in the community, even though he covers an area of 17 square miles.

He has never been bitten, never picked up any exotic wildlife — unless you consider skunks and raccoons exotic.

"This is normally the busiest season," said Rapson. "But we generally get more barking complaints than anything else. We don't have that many pickups."

Stray dogs without tags are taken to the Parkway Veterinary Clinic on Wilcox Road in Plymouth Township.

Dogs with collars are kept six days while dogs without collars are destroyed after four days, if not claimed.

either by their owners or by persons who want to adopt them.

BOTH PLYMOUTH Township and the city of Plymouth have leash laws — ordinances that require owners to have their pets under control, either with a restraint such as a leash, or enclosed in a yard.

Rapson said most of the complaints he has received are for barking dogs, but he indicated he has a tendency toward leniency, even in that case.

"I'm kind of easy going on barking dogs," he admitted. "I count on the fingers of my hands the number of times I've issued a citation for barking dogs."

The fine is not exorbitant. Owners generally are required to pay $15 for a first-offense barking-dog citation.

"Actually, there is more of a demand for me to take care of groundhogs and skunks," Rapson said.

Homeowners call the city, asking that it set traps to capture nuisance animals.

"We only have two or three live traps," said Rapson. "But there is a heavy demand and a waiting list. We suggest to people that they can rent these traps at agencies such as United Rentals."

How slow is the animal-control business? It is so slow that the city, which provides police services for the township as well, does not have a truck to enclose the snared animals. Rapson simply puts them in the back of his standard patrol car.

It is so slow that Rapson has been given other duties to perform — enough to keep him busy seven days a week.

RAPSON ACTUALLY is the Plymouth community ordinance officer, enforcing not only pet ordinances but also sign, parking, zoning, hunting and other ordinances.

He also writes up investigative reports required to obtain warrants and issues subpoenas for the police department.

Around election time, the sign ordinance gets a workout. Candidates either complain about having their signs removed or complain about their competitors signs not being removed.

"We are not picking on any one person," said Rapson. "We enforce the sign ordinance totally. I have talked to 90 percent of the candidates (about offending signs)."

Rapson also works as a dispatcher on weekends, rounding out his seven-day work week. He also attends Schoolcraft College where he is studying criminal justice.

Rapson, a Canton Township resident, has been working for the Plymouth community since 1979.

"I like dogs," he said. "I normally take dogs back to their owners but I don't mess with cats. They're expensive to house (at the animal control shelter). They have a mind of their own."

Local communities fear the DNR may mandate correction of that design somewhere down the road, again handing the construction bill to them.

"This is the most political thing I've ever been involved in," said Canton Township Supervisor James Poole. "I am not about to sign a contract for the citizens of Canton that I wouldn't sign myself."

BY NOT SIGNING Tuesday night, the two townships will fail to meet the DNR's Aug. 15 deadline.

DNR officials said at that point the state wouldn't recommend EPA funding of the project for 1985 grants.

Unless the project receives grant funding in 1985, the best that can be hoped for is 55 percent funding. The EPA will offer 55 percent funding as its maximum after 1985.

It is doubtful most of the 17 Son of Supersewer communities can afford the project even at 55 percent grant funding.

The boards meet at 7:30 p.m. — Canton at the township hall, 1150 Canton Center Road and Plymouth Township its township hall, the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Mill Street.

Driver gets year in jail for Memorial Day fatals

A Plymouth Township man has been sentenced to one year in jail and five years probation for the Memorial Day traffic deaths of a Canton couple.

Floyd Daugherty, 51, was sentenced Friday morning in Wayne County Circuit Court by Judge Robert Brzezinski.

Daugherty pleaded guilty last month to two charges of manslaughter with a motor vehicle. He will serve his sentence at the Detroit House of Correction in Plymouth Township.

Daugherty was charged with the deaths of Richard Cameron, 32, and wife Cynthia, 31.

The fatal collision occurred at the Sheldon Road/Ann Arbor Trail intersection late Sunday night during the three-day holiday weekend. The accident happened just days before the expected arrival of the couple's first child.

wife and the unborn child died before reaching St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

According to witnesses, Daugherty crashed into the Cameron's car after running a red light at the intersection. Police said Daugherty had been drinking.

Judge Brzezinski concurred in the recommendation of the Wayne County prosecutor in sentencing Daugherty.

A spokesman for Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) earlier told the Observer the prosecutor's sentencing recommendation was "the most that can be expected."

Because of the overcrowded conditions in Michigan's jails, the MADD spokesman said his organization approved of the recommended sentence.

Manslaughter with a motor vehicle carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison.

Great-grandmother Root was a "country doctor"

(Part 2)

When Charles A. Root wrote a paper in the late 1960s about the Centennial Farm on Ann Arbor Road, seven miles west of Plymouth, his family had owned the property for 141 years.

His great-grandfather, Augustus Root, born at Springport, Cayuga County, New York, had claimed the property in 1826 when he bought 80 acres from the U.S. Government in Superior Township, Washtenaw County on Feb. 22 of that year.

Neither the township nor the county existed at the time. Michigan still was part of the Northwest Territory. Later, in July 1832, Augustus Root bought an additional 75 acres.

AFTER MAKING the first purchase in 1826, Root and his wife and cousins went back to New York State to get their cattle and other possessions.

"They returned to Michigan," wrote Charles A. Root, "driving their cattle and wagons loaded with household goods on an overland trail to Cleveland, Ohio. Here they boarded a sailing ship, cattle and all, which was bound for Detroit."

"During a stopover at Sandusky, Augustus and Steven Root got off the boat to see the town, the boat sailing without them. Passengers aboard the boat offered the captain ten dollars to turn back and pick them up, but he refused.

"So, the two men had to walk to Detroit, meeting friendly Indians, fording rivers and making their way through dense forests. They arrived at Detroit one day after the ship got there. Loading their goods on ox-drawn wagons, the Roots, driving their cattle, moved

past and present

westward until they arrived at their land purchase between Plymouth and Ann Arbor."

When he was writing, about 1967, Root said the property taken up by his great-grandfather in 1826, and later divided between his two sons, still was owned by Root descendants. One was himself, Charles Augustus Root, Jr., and the other was his uncle, John Curran Root, who has since died.

THE FIRST building put up by Augustus Root was a log cabin.

In the beginning, he had to spend most of his time clearing the land. He burned the timber that he cut down. Meantime, his wife was alone in the cabin with the baby, Curran Root.

"One day, after spending the morning baking bread, she spied Indians coming along the trail, not looking too friendly. Quickly she closed the inside shutters to make the place look like no one was at home.

"In order to keep the baby quiet she gave him his father's watch to play with. He threw it on the floor and began to howl. Although very frightened, my great-grandmother had presence of mind to take all the bread she had been baking and throw it out to the Indians. They picked it up and went away.

"My great-grandmother, Catherine, was also a 'country doctor' who used special saddle bags to carry medicines and other supplies that could help settlers in need of help. She often rode many miles through the woods to a lonely cabin to deliver a baby or heal the sick.

"She was known far and wide for her good deeds for the pioneers in the area. One of her sons, Charles, studied medicine and dentistry at the University of Michigan. I still have the crude iron forceps he used for pulling teeth.

"In those early days, stage coaches travelled along the old Indian Trail that is now Ann Arbor Road. These stages made their way from Detroit through Ann Arbor Jackson to Chicago.

"Along this trail were many taverns in which post offices were located. One of these was at the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Ridge Road. It was called Borough Deno. Another was located on the former William Grammel farm on Ann Arbor Road in Superior Township. It was called Borough Diana."

OF THE SIX children of Augustus and Catherine Root, who founded the farm, one was Curran Root, the grandfather of Charles Root Jr. He was born in 1830 and died in 1916. Of the four children of Curran and Frances Root, one was Charles Root Sr., who died in 1961.

Root continued: "Andrew Voorhies, an old resident of the neighborhood, told my father that he remembered, as a boy, how the neighbor men got bells and noise-makers together to shivaree my grandfather when he brought his bride home from their honeymoon at Niagara Falls.

"My grandfather, Curran Root, surprised them. He joined in the noise by firing a shotgun over their heads, causing a mad scramble in all directions. One of the boys ran into a spring in the dark and had to call for help. The others had to use fence rails to pull him out.

"My grandfather told me a story which was told to him by Mrs. Mertie Chase Fuller who remembered a hot political campaign when she was a little girl. The Republicans had put up a speaker's stand and a flagpole at the southwest corner of Ann Arbor Road and Gotfredson Road. The Democrats put up a taller flagpole on the opposite corner to attract more people to their side.

"Mrs. Fuller said she had been coached by the Democrats to call the Republicans a name while they were having their rally. After she did, she went home and told her father about it. He was very angry and made her go and apologize to the Republican neighbors."

Thorpe had long wait for Olympic gold

Time has a way of curing all wounds.

Sometimes it takes quite awhile — even years. But eventually the wound clears and the past is just about forgotten.

This was the case the other day when the Stroller asked for a sheet of new stamps at the post office and was handed a sheet with a picture of Jim Thorpe, the old Fox and Sac Indian who is ranked as one of America's greatest athletes — the first man to win four medals in the Olympic Games.

When he looked at the stamps and saw the big Indian he couldn't help saying, "at last." The customer in back of him looked a bit surprised until the Stroller told him that Thorpe's medals had been taken away from him because it was learned he had accepted a mere $15 for playing baseball before the 1912 games started.

Plea after plea to have them returned was denied until a few years ago. Thorpe's body had been long in the grave when his family received the cherished medals.

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

The lifting of Thorpe's medals was one of the sore spots in Olympic Game history because the so-called offense was so trivial compared to what has gone on since those days. But the ruling stood and the big Indian became even more famous without them. He was an honored victim.

TIME WENT to work and Thorpe, though deeply hurt, turned to major league baseball and then to professional football to try to forget. He didn't make it in the major leagues, but he was a mighty power in pro football. And it was Thorpe who proved to the nation that the fans were ready for pro football.

He captained a team in Canton, Ohio, and they toured the land as the Canton Bulldogs. At the time their biggest rivals were the Massillon Tigers. They have faded from the picture, but they planted the seeds for the professional game that grips the country in the fall these days.

As the years went by Thorpe waited and waited for the Olympic games' wrong to be righted. But he didn't live to see it. His medals finally were returned and the state of Pennsylvania went so far as to change the name of Mauch Chunk in the coal regions to Jim Thorpe.

But with all of this the nation did not attempt to heal the wound. Thorpe always was remembered as the athlete who lost his Olympic medals because he accepted $15 for playing baseball.

Now, without any fanfare or shouting, the nation has moved to heal the wound. Picking the summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles as the proper time it has published a memorial stamp with the big Indian's picture on it.

It is fitting that Thorpe should be so honored. He is one of the most famous American athletes of all time and really deserved all the honors that can be bestowed upon him.

It took a long time — 72 years — but the wound that was inflicted in Jim Thorpe finally has been healed.

It is further proof that time will cure all wounds. Too bad Thorpe didn't live to see the postage stamps. He sure earned the honor.

The special exhibit of military uniforms 1860-1945 will run through Aug. 29 in the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main. The exhibit includes items used by soldiers of World War I, the Spanish-American War and the Civil War, such as guns, hats, bayonets, knapsacks, a scabbard. Also being exhibited is "Today and Yesterday," a comparison of the period between 1890 and 1984 — items such as bathing suits, telephones, baby bottles and toys. Admission.

Broomfield alone in backing school prayer

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 26 through Aug. 1.

HOUSE

PRAYER — The House rejected, 194 for and 215 against, an education bill amendment denying federal money to any state or public school that prohibits spoken prayer in the classroom. The bill (HR 11) later was sent to the Senate.

After losing on this vote, pro-school prayer lawmakers secured adoption of a largely symbolic amendment permitting silent prayer in public schools.

Supporter Bob McEwen, R-Ohio, said House members must "uphold the traditional values of faith, of work and of family."

Opponent Dan Glickman, D-Kans., said that under the Constitution "what should not happen in public schools is organized religion and prayer."

Members voting yes wanted to return spoken prayer to the classroom.

Voting yes: William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

Voting no: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William D. Ford, D-Taylor, and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

CUT — By a vote of 184 for and 238 against, the House rejected an amendment inflicting a 1 percent across-the-board cut in a bill (HR 6040) providing $5.4 billion in supplemental appropriations this fiscal year for a variety of programs.

The bill drew attention because, in an election year, it contained about $1 billion for lawmaker's pet projects in scores of congressional districts. It was sent to the Senate, where it was expected to pick up still more hometown largesse.

Sponsor Robert Walker, R-Pa., said lawmakers who preach fiscal restraint should view the amendment as "a way of speaking to the deficit."

No member spoke against the amendment.

Members voting no were opposed to cutting about $540 million from the supplemental appropriations bill.

Voting yes: Pursell.
Voting no: Hertel, Ford, Levin, Broomfield.

HANSEN — By a vote of 354 for and 52 against, the House officially reprimanded Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, for his failure to disclose certain personal financial information as required by the 1978 Ethics in Government Act.

The reprimand was the mildest penalty he could have received from his colleagues. It resulted from Hansen's failure to publicly report financial dealings by his wife that benefitted him personally. Suppressing the information also caused Hansen to be indicted and convicted on felony charges in federal court.

Hansen, the fifth member of Congress to be reprimanded, remains in office and is seeking re-election.

Supporter Floyd Spence, R-S.C., said the reprimand was necessary to protect "the integrity of our system of government."

Hansen told his colleagues: "I am no different than a lot of you. All I am is the precedent for some of you, and if I were you, I would be very, very careful about how you vote today."

Members voting yes wanted to reprimand Hansen. Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, Ford, Levin and Broomfield.

BURFORD — The House approved, 363 for and 51 against, a non-binding resolution urging President Reagan to withdraw his nomination of Anne M. Burford as chairwoman of the National Advisory Committee on Oceans and the Atmosphere.

Burford later withdrew on her own. Last year, she was forced to resign as Environmental Protection Agency administrator in the face of charges by some lawmakers that she had mismanaged the toxic waste program and put cronyism ahead of environmental concerns.

Supporter Norman D'Amours, D-N.H., called it "preposterous" for Reagan to have made the appointment.

Opponent Don Young, R-Alaska, praised Burford as "a good EPA director" who started "solving the problems on the environment that were left behind with Fritz and Grits."

Members voting no wanted Burford to assume the environmental leadership post.

Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, Ford, Levin and Broomfield.

SENATE

ELECTRICITY — By a vote of 60 for and 28 against, the Senate silenced

a filibuster by Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, aimed at blocking passage of a bill to continue the sale of Hoover Dam electricity at very low rates to utilities in Southern California, Arizona and Nevada.

The Senate later passed the bill (S 265) and sent it to President Reagan. The bill extends for 30 years a contract under which consumers of Hoover Dam power pay about one-tenth the market rate for their electricity. Critics say this will cost the treasury $3.5 billion during the first ten years and billions more after that.

Supporter Pete Wilson, R-Calif., said the Hoover Dam "has been a self-liquidating facility from the standpoint of federal taxpayers."

Metzenbaum said the taxpayers' subsidy of Hoover electricity "is a giveaway. It's a throwaway. It is illogical. It is absurd."

Senators voting yes wanted to end the filibuster and pass the bill. Michigan Democrats Carl Levin and Donald Riegle voted no.

Jobs up, but jobless rate holds steady

Michigan's unemployment rate held steady at 11.3 percent in July, the third straight month of no change, according to A.R. Jazowski, acting director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Jazowski reported that 506,000 Michigan workers were without jobs in July, an increase of 3,000 from June's level.

But total employment also increased in July, climbing by 26,000 to 3,975,000. Most of the job growth occurred in seasonal construction and tourist-related industries, Jazowski said, and helped employment reach its highest level in the state since November 1979, when it was at 4,006,000.

Michigan's seasonally adjusted July unemployment rate edged down to 11.5 percent from 11.6 percent in June.

WHAT THE FAMILY SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR ARTHRITIS

Arthritis flares in an unpredictable manner. As a result it may be difficult for you to make vacation plans, work specific hours, or undertake responsibilities such as preparing dinner for guests. At times, your inability to fulfill expected obligations not only disappoints you, but leaves others unhappy.

Your limitations and their changing nature are difficult to explain to others. People looking at you can't appreciate the pain and fatigue possible in joints that "look alright." What can you do so they will understand?

You must share with them: your feelings and experience with arthritis. Thus, no matter how tired you are, you must make an effort to explain to the family what hurts you and why. You need knowledge about your condition and should ask your doctor questions, or seek out information from the library or Arthritis Foundation. You should tell the family and interested friends what you have learned and show them information you have found.

Your efforts in these matters must be ongoing as help and understanding by others is essential if you are to prevail.

Wedding Bell Cuisine ... the Intimate Bridal Brunch

Warm weather and weddings always seem to go hand-in-hand. And along with the nuptials come plenty of parties — a chance for future in-laws to meet, a get-together for the bridesmaids or a shower for both bride and groom.

For all these parties, and most especially for the wedding celebration itself, a champagne brunch seems the ideal way to entertain and celebrate. Fortunately, intimate brunches don't necessarily mean you have to serve expensive dishes. Very special foods and beverages like avocados and champagne are reasonably priced and add simple elegance to the meal's festivity.

When planning a wedding brunch or party for the bridesmaids, try to add a few simple touches to turn the event into something really special for the guests of honor. You may wish to incorporate the bride's wedding colors into the table setting. Lots of pretty ribbon, lace and flowers will help tie a color theme together. Weather permitting, you may choose to hold the brunch out of doors, in which case, a few touches from nature may be appropriate . . . centerpieces of fresh cut spring flowers and greenery, or a basket filled with tomatoes, zucchini, cucumbers, squash, carrots, broccoli and other fresh pretty produce from the garden will all help to decorate the brunch table the "natural way." And, if the bride or groom has a favorite dish (luscious fresh strawberries to nibble for dessert, for example), be sure to include that too . . . after all, this is their day!

When choosing a brunch menu, keep "variety" in mind, but watch out for too much "clutter." Sometimes, the simplest dishes are the most elegant . . . and easiest on the host and hostess. Look for foods that will provide a pleasing array of colors as well as compatible flavors and textures.

California avocados, which are in great abundance year-round, turn simple dishes into extra-special edibles with their vibrant golden-green color, sensuously smooth texture and delicious buttery flavor. They're perfect for "lighter fare," the way of dining so popular this time of year. And yes, California avocados will hold up beautifully during leisurely intimate brunches . . . just give them a light sprinkling of lemon or lime juice to preserve the pretty color and delicate flavor.

Here are some brunch ideas that are perfectly suited for those special celebrations. Each dish is aesthetically pleasing to both eye and palate and just about everything can be prepared in advance. To begin the affair, offer refreshing Chilled Avocado Yogurt Soup. Then for the main course, serve an elegant Avocado Paradise salad. The coming together of avocado, papaya and crab will produce a dramatic combination of complimentary colors and flavors for all to enjoy. For a touch of country with California flair, fill a pretty straw basket with lots of fresh breads, rolls, muffins and croissants and serve with rosettes of Herbed Avocado Butter. A simple dessert of fresh sweet strawberries served au naturel or perhaps with a delicately sweetened cream cheese dip will no doubt please everyone. And of course, pretty flute or tulip glasses filled with well-chilled champagne will round out any brunch in the most festive way.

Weddings are a truly joyous occasion but can turn into a very bust time for the bride, groom and families. Now's the perfect time to slow the pace just a bit with a relaxing brunch . . . filled with delightful food and drink in celebration of a very special event for two very special people.

CHILLED AVOCADO YOGURT SOUP

2 California avocados, seeded and peeled
2 cups chicken broth or bouillon
1 carton (16 ounces) plain low-fat yogurt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon onion salt or to taste
1/4 teaspoon celery salt or to taste
Milk, as needed
Additional plain low-fat yogurt
1 tablespoon chopped chives

Place avocados, chicken broth, yogurt, lemon juice and seasonings in blender jar; whirl until smooth. Add milk to thin soup, if necessary. Chill soup thoroughly. Garnish each serving with a dollop of additional stirred yogurt and chopped chives.
Makes 6 servings.

HERBED AVOCADO BUTTER

1 large California avocado, seeded, peeled and puréed (about 1 cup purée)
1/2 pound unsalted margarine
1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
1 tablespoon dried chives
2 teaspoons dried herbs (basil, marjoram, oregano, tarragon or chervil)
4 teaspoons lemon juice
Dash seasoned salt or to taste

Combine all ingredients until smooth and well blended. Fill container; seal well with plastic wrap and cover tightly. Chill spread until ready to serve. Makes about 1-1/2 cups.

NOTE: To make avocado butter rosettes, fill a cookie press or pastry bag with slightly chilled avocado butter. Press out small dollops onto a wax-lined cookie sheet. Place rosettes in freezer; freeze just until firm. Serve with assorted fresh breads, rolls, muffins or croissants.

AVOCADO PARADISE SALAD

2 cups cooked crab pieces or 2 cans (6 ounces each) crab meat, drained, rinsed and flaked (may substitute 2 cups cooked diced chicken)
2 green onions, sliced
2 California avocados
1 papaya, halved and seeded
Leaf lettuce
Creamy Lime Dressing (recipe follows)
Toasted slivered almonds

Combine crab and green onion; set aside. Halve and seed avocados. Cut a thin slice off the under side of each half. Gently scoop out pulp, leaving about 1/4-inch shell. Dice pulp. Peel papaya halves; dice. Combine avocado and papaya cubes with crab mixture. Line 4 salad plates with lettuce; top each with an avocado half shell. Spoon equal amounts of crab/fruit mixture into shells. Garnish each with almonds and serve with Creamy Lime Dressing.
Makes 4 servings.

Creamy Lime Dressing

1 cup sour cream
1-1/2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lime peel
1 tablespoon honey
Dash coriander
Dash cardamom
Salt and pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients; mix well.

NOTE: For another serving suggestion, halve avocados; seed and peel. Place halves cut-side down on cutting board and slice lengthwise. Fan avocado slices slightly. Cut papaya halves in half; peel, slice and fan. Arrange a small lettuce leaf in the center of each of 4 salad plates. Spoon equal amounts of crab/green onion mixture atop lettuce on each plate. Place an avocado fan and papaya fan at opposite ends of crab mixture. Garnish salads with almonds and serve with Creamy Lime Dressing.

CHAMPAGNE TIPS

★ The champagne cork should never be "popped." To open the bottle properly, keep your hand firmly over the cork while twisting off the wire hood. Then gently turn the bottle, not the cork, until the cork eases out with a gentle sigh.

★ Champagne is best served well-chilled. Place it in the refrigerator for an hour or more, or in a bucket of ice and water for 30 minutes.

★ To best appreciate its delightful bubbles, serve champagne in tall flute or tulip glasses. The old-fashioned snifter-shaped glasses cause the bubbles to dissipate too quickly.

Zesty sauces add flair to outdoor barbecues

During the summer, the best meals move off the kitchen range and onto the outdoor grill. Whether it's hot dogs or fancier fare, there's something simply irresistible about foods prepared over glowing coals. This year, keep the appeal of the season's standbys from turning into barbecue boredom by looking to San Antonio's ways with cookout favorites.

In San Antonio, where cooking out-of-doors is nearly a year 'round activity, innovative grilltenders add interest to barbecued entrees with zesty sauces and marinades boasting south-of-the-border flair. Geared to busy, healthful lifestyles, their specialties emphasize exciting flavors with calories kept in line, and easy, streamlined preparation.

When the over-the-coals entree must be elegant but time is at a premium, Picante Grilled Shrimp is an easy menu solution. The impressively skewered jumbo shrimp are grilled to perfection in minutes while the cook bastes occasionally with a flavorful picante sauce, lime juice and garlic mixture.

As with most barbecued foods, best results are achieved with hot coals which cook the shrimp quickly and keep them juicy. If rain threatens to complicate your cookout plans, simply move indoors to the broiler for equally delicious results. Good news for calorie counters: this luxurious, full-flavored main dish provides only about 160 calories per serving.

Boned and skinned chicken breasts, a weight-conscious diner's delight, are one of the most versatile cookout favorites. Their mild flavor complements a wide range of preparations, and their grill time is a plus for cooks in a hurry. As Southwestern Skewered Chicken, supremes are at their best. Marinated in, and basted as they grill, with a lively mixture of picante sauce, catsup and honey, the skewered strips have a tangy-sweet, "hot" flavor that's sure to become the hit of the barbecue season. Don't forget to set out a bowl of picante sauce and chips or veggie dippers to munch as the coals heat!

For additional authentic Mexican Recipes made easy with PACE Picante Sauce, Pace Foods Inc. has created a primer of all-time favorites, available free. To receive your copy, simply send your name, address and zip code to: Free Pace Mexican Food Recipe Offer, P.O. Box NB022, El Paso, TX 79977.

Quantity requests from schools, clubs and other organizations will be honored.

PICANTE GRILLED SHRIMP

1 lb. peeled and deveined raw jumbo shrimp, tails left on (16 to 18 per pound)
1 cup picante sauce
2 tsp. lime juice
2 garlic cloves, minced
¼ tsp. salt

Rinse shrimp in cool running water; dry with paper towels. Thread shrimp onto skewers. For sauce, combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Brush shrimp with sauce. Place skewered shrimp over hot coals or on rack of broiler pan; grill or broil 5 to 8 minutes or until shrimp is cooked through, turning and basting occasionally with sauce. Heat remaining sauce; serve with shrimp. Makes 4 servings.

SOUTHWEST SKEWERED CHICKEN

6 chicken breast halves, boned and skinned
1 cup picante sauce
1 cup catsup
¼ cup honey

Pound chicken breast halves between 2 sheets of plastic wrap to ¼-inch thickness. Cut each piece lengthwise into 1-inch wide strips; place in plastic bag. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour into bag and fasten securely. Place in refrigerator; marinate 2 to 3 hours, turning bag frequently. Drain chicken, reserving marinade. Thread chicken loosely onto skewers, accordion style. Place over hot coals or on rack in broiler pan. Brush generously with marinade. Grill or broil about 9 to 12 minutes or until chicken is cooked through, turning and basting occasionally with sauce. Heat remaining sauce and serve with chicken. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Vinaigrettes are useful sauces

Vinaigrette gets its name from the small, two-wheeled vehicles used by French vineyard merchants that were designed to be drawn or pushed. Naturally, it's made with vinegar or a combination of oil, vinegar and seasonings.

I've cooked Mexican chicken in it. Instead of the whole bird, I like to use cut-up leg and breast quarters. I've used vinaigrette on salads, some as simple as just escarole and mushrooms, tossed with the dressing.

TARRAGON VINAIGRETTE

1 tbsp. wine vinegar
2 tsp. Dijon-style mustard
2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
1 tsp. dried tarragon
¼ tsp. black pepper
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup vegetable oil

In large measuring cup, mix together all ingredients except oil. Gradually add oil, mixing with whisk. Pour into jar with tight-fitting lid. Yields 1½ cups. Five minutes before serving salad greens or raw vegetables, toss with vinaigrette. Or refrigerate, let come to room temperature before using and shake well.

MEXICAN CHICKEN VINAIGRETTE

3 lbs. cut-up chicken
¾ cup water
Salt
1 large bay leaf

6 peppercorns
2 tsp. prepared mustard
¼ cup white vinegar
3 small tomatoes, peeled and sliced
1 medium onion, sliced
Lettuce leaves
2 small boiled potatoes, quartered

Place chicken in Dutch oven, add water, salt to taste, bay leaf and peppercorns, bring to boil, reduce heat to medium low, cover and cook 30 minutes. Blend mustard and vinegar, stir into chicken broth. Top chicken with tomatoes and onion and cook covered 30 minutes. Line platter with lettuce, remove chicken with slotted spoon and arrange on leaves. Top chicken with tomatoes and onion; arrange potatoes on platter. Top with pan juices, strain remainder and serve separately. Can decorate with quartered hard-cooked eggs and heated peas. Serves 4.

Selective Service System

Young men born on or after January 1, 1960 are required to register with Selective Service within a month of their 18th birthday. The registration process takes less than five minutes at the post office. A young man fills out a simple form asking only for his name, date of birth, address, telephone number and Social Security number. Registration helps keep our country prepared with a pool of names to draw from in case of a national emergency - without interfering with people's lives. When you think about it, that's not a lot to ask for a country as great as ours. IT'S QUICK. IT'S EASY. AND IT'S THE LAW.

KATHY STERN has been talking about being an exchange student since her freshman year in high school. She graduated from Plymouth Canton High School in June and left Aug. 1 for Spain where she will attend the University of Madrid. Her year of foreign study is sponsored by the Canton Township Rotary Club.

Kathy was required to list five preferred countries on her application. After four years in Antonio Lonigra's high school Spanish classes, Spain was her first choice. A friend had been disappointed last year, when she didn't get one of her five choices. So there was rejoicing in the Stern household on Westchester Lane in Canton, when Kathy learned she was going to Spain.

She was told that she would live with the De Diego family and commute by bus to the university. Mr. De Diego is an economist with the Spanish government. There are four children in the family — a daughter and three sons.

The De Diegos have hosted five American exchange students and their children have studied in the United States.

When Kathy received her confirmation, the De Diego daughter was a teaching assistant at Hiram College, southeast of Cleveland. The Sterns drove down to meet her and learned that she will be at home this fall, attending the University of Madrid, as will a younger brother. Another brother will be an exchange student in Parma, Ohio.

Kathy was involved in swimming and the production side of drama during her high school years, but there will be no extra-curricular activities at the University of Madrid where she will major in economics.

Her mother, Mary Louise Stern, said they plan to ship winter clothing to Kathy.

"It does snow in Madrid, but they told us it doesn't last very long. She'll need boots, warm clothes, knee-highs and a winter coat. She took her limit of two bags and it was suggested she leave space for purchases she wants to bring home," Mary Louise said.

Kathy's father, Louis Stern, said the De Diegos live either 20 miles or 20 kilometers from the university.

"The daughter had been in the United States for a year when we talked to her. She said 'miles,' but perhaps she meant kilometers."

The Rotary Club's exchange students usually are high-school age. Kathy is their first college student.

TERRY STINSON of Plymouth says she is a mighty happy lady.

For 17 years, she has filled out entry blanks for McLaughlin's Home Furnishings "Heart's Desire" drawing. The Southgate store's Heart's Desire has been an annual event for the past 22 years. As a longtime customer, Terry receives notification of their private summer sale plus an entry blank.

"For years, I chose a grandfather's clock, but I finally went out and bought one. I almost put down grandfather's clock again this year, but thought, what if I finally won? What would I do with two?"

She chose a curio cabinet made by Jasper with a price tag of $900. Five winners were picked from the 4,180 entries and Terry was one of them.

"It is beautiful — made of royal cherry. And one other winner had picked the same cabinet. Another woman won an $1,800 sofa," said Terry.

But she is very content with her curio cabinet, at half the price.

NEWEST MEMBER of the German-American Club of Plymouth is Sarah Nadine Urban, daughter of Phyllis and Gunther Urban of Plymouth. Sarah was born Aug. 4 in Harper-Grace Hospital and brothers Matthew and Brandon say she is just beautiful.

SOO JIN KWON of Plymouth was awarded a scholarship to return to the summer plans program next year at Interlochen.

Something old, something new at antique mart

Just three weeks from Thursday? Members of the Plymouth Symphony League spend more than 10 months of the year preparing for their annual antique mart. Suddenly, it's just three weeks from Thursday.

The 20 dealers will have their wares moved into the Plymouth Cultural Center and their booths arranged by the evening of Thursday, Sept. 6. Maret Garard and Cindy Merrifield, whose task it is to select dealers for the show, predict this 22nd annual mart will be one of the league's finest. They have assembled an elite group of dealers to provide a wide variety quality antiques.

Linda Anderson and Judy Lore are planning Thursday's preview night reception. The gala event will give guests an opportunity to preview items offered for sale and to participate in the Blue Ribbon Auction.

The auction is new this year. Each dealer has agreed to donate an item to be auctioned to the highest bidder. Bidding will begin at 9 p.m.

Reservations for the Blue Ribbon Antique Auction and preview reception must be made in advance by calling 453-3199. Donation is $10 per person.

THE OFFICIAL opening of the antique mart will be noon Friday, Sept. 7. Hours will be noon to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. General admission is $1.50, or 75 cents for senior citizens.

Carol Davis and Elaine Kirchgatter are co-chairing the mart. Joan Claeys heads the set-up/clean-up committee. Lura Hansu is mart treasurer. Jan Crook is in charge of hostesses; Sue Langley, posters; Judy Morgan, costumes and decorations; and Joyce Dorwaldt, publicity.

THE SYMPHONY League provides hostesses to assist the guests and the dealers. Dressed in appropriate old-time skirts and Shaker-type bonnets, the hostesses also supervise booths while dealers take a break.

Dealers say they appreciated the courtesies extended by the league during the show. They enjoy particularly the meals prepared by the members. Carole Hackett, Martha Morrison and Chris Krivick are in charge of food planning for the three-day mart.

The mart is the league's single, largest fund-raiser with proceeds going to the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Maret Garard (left), Carol Davis, Elaine Kirchgatter and Cindy Merrifield meet for a final consultation before the antique mart, which opens during the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Nerds should take revenge on people who made this film

By any standard "Revenge of the Nerds" is an unpleasant movie. It is tasteless and colorless, but unlike the product, not odorless.

The film opens as Lewis (Robert Carradine) and Gilbert (Anthony Edwards) leave for Adams College. As the leading social misfits of the title, they fumble their way to a dorm, only to be evicted by football players who have burned down their frat house with a youthful, drunken prank.

Naturally, this time out, as the title indicates, the inept get revenge. To their credit, it only takes 90 minutes.

Every flat, stereotyped character from every college movie imaginable is present on campus: A short, ineffectual dean (David Wohl) browbeaten by a burly, bell-bent-for-leather football coach, Harris (John Goodman), whose star quarterback, Stan Gable (Ted McGinley), has a hot relationship with the prettiest cheerleader, Betty (Julie Montgomery), Queen of the P1 sorority.

THEY ONLY MISSED librarians and professors because "Revenge of the Nerds" is one college movie that lacks sufficient intelligence to include teachers and books. Apparently Adams U has no classrooms.

Since she doesn't go to class, pretty Betty Cheerleader sits on her sorority porch looking like a pompon ad while making fun of people who aren't all-American quarterbacks.

Therein lies the film's greatest fault. It assumes that poking fun at those who march to a different drummer is automatically humorous. No need to write clever lines or film visual gags.

The film tries to celebrate humanity and the everyday, folksy quality of those who miss the boat on Hollywood's guidelines for physical beauty and athletic prowess. Such a celebration comes at the end of the film and by then, it's too late.

It truly is offensive to see college life portrayed exclusively as a conflict between the violence of the athletic department on the one hand and computer whiz-kid, outsider-intellectuals on the other. One could construct a comedy on that polarity. To do so, however, would require some funny lines, some comic situations and an understanding that farce is a fast-paced comic form.

PRODUCERS TED FIELD and Peter Samuelson and director Jeff Kanew have eschewed such comic basics in favor of a film that presents promiscuity, nudity, drugs, drinking and violence perpetrated by football players as the American college norm.

The film casts its slow-paced eye in an embarrassing way on the worst moments in the lives of the socially ineffectual, foreigners and those who deviate from the norm, for whatever reason.

If the film really were comic, it would have been much faster-paced. If it really were celebrating humanity and its misfits, instead of exploiting them, the camera would not linger on their worst, most embarrassing moments. Rather, it would highlight the times that best express their humanity.

"Revenge of the Nerds" encourages us to laugh at people who are different from the all-American hero standard. If such laughter is in order, then please excuse me from the merriment. I think such laughter is sadistic and simple-minded. We are in trouble if we need to look for humor in others' shortcomings.

"Revenge of the Nerds" is in trouble because it wasn't even funny on its own ground.

Brawls mar MSHL championship game

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Maybe it was because Ted Lindsay was in the stands and they wanted to show him that aggressive hockey was back in Plymouth.

Maybe it was because the two teams just flat-out don't like each other.

Whatever, Thursday night's championship game in the Midwest Summer Hockey League was transformed into an ugly brawl midway through the final period.

The game featured the Wildcats against the Lakers — two teams that had met three times this season. All three times, the games were, to say the least, chippy.

ON THURSDAY, with the championship and a trip to Chicago at stake, the two teams let go all restraints. There were five fights in all, six players booted from the game and one fight continued into the lockerroom.

The unfortunate part of it was that the fights overshadowed what had been, for two periods, a good game.

The Wildcats won 9-3, scoring four goals in the final period.

"I think, basically, we had more scorers than they did," said Wildcat coach Pat Carmichael. "We have seven, eight guys who can put the puck in the net. But, I'll tell you this. These two teams are lot more evenly matched than the score indicates."

True. The shots on goal were even — 37 for the Lakers and 35 for the Wildcats. The score was 3-2 after a period and 5-2 after two. The difference in the game may have been Wildcat goalie Pete Taubkin from New York's Colby College. He was virtually unbeatable.

The Wildcats dominated the play early in the first period. Ken Stelmach and Scott Robins scored within the first five minutes of the game and Stelmach, a Ferris State star, added another before the Lakers could get settled.

WITH 54 seconds left in the period, the Lakers got a short-handed goal from Mike Miller. Forty-six seconds later, Ron Rolston made it 3-2 finishing a pretty play set up by his brother, Greg, and Plymouth native Alan Carne.

The second period started the same as the first with the Wildcats carrying the play. Dan Granowicz scored at 9:18, then Robins scored again with 2:04 left in the period, giving the Wildcats a commanding lead.

The Wildcats buried the Lakers in the third with three goals in less than two minutes. Brad McCaughey, Livonia Churchill's Matt Wiljanen and Tom Budnick got the goals. Budnick added another later on, though the outcome had long since been decided.

The Lakers got their third goal from Sean Flynn.

The game was physical from the outset. Alan Carne, who had been on his best behavior this year after almost being banned from the league for his violent displays on the ice last year, set the tone in the first period. He squared off with the Wildcats Terry Conway.

In the second period, Dave Chiappelli of the Lakers and Stelmach went at it.

"WE'VE HAD bad blood between us all year," Carmichael said. "Both teams are very competitive. These are two of the better teams in the league."

Said Lakers' coach Tom Norton: "I think the boys all want to win. They play real tough and when you play that hard, sometimes the tempers go."

They went for good in the third period. Carne and Robins dropped the gloves and both were ejected from the game.

The nastiest and most costly fight was between Dave Kromm of the Wildcats and Tim Viggiano of the Lakers. Viggiano undercut Kromm at center ice. Kromm retaliated. Both were ejected. They continued the fight in the lockerroom.

Kromm may be ineligible to play in Chicago because of the fight. MSHL rules say that a player who instigates a fight will be suspended for at least one game.

The Lakers' Mike Miller and the Cats Granowicz also got game misconducts for fighting.

Lost in all the penalties were some fine performances. Scott Varga had four assists for the Wildcats. McCaughey had a goal and two assists. Budnick and Stelmach each had two goals.

The Wildcats will embark on Chicago Saturday. They will play the Windy City League champs Saturday and the league all-stars on Sunday. Joining the Wildcats on the trip will be MSHL scoring leader Mike Donnelly who played with the Falcons.

The MSHL enjoyed a most successful season, according to commissioner A.J. Baker. Prior to Thursday's game, Baker presented Wayne County Special Olympics with a $1,000 check from league proceeds.

ting around $300. Still, the Royals weren't winning, and the talk around the league was, "Boy, the Royals sure aren't the same team without Wilson and George Brett (who was injured)." Nobody was talking about the fine job young Pat Sheridan was doing in his first full year in the bigs.

When Wilson returned, Sheridan was moved to rightfield where he would play only against right-handed pitchers.

SUCH SHIFTS have sent other players into tantrums. Sheridan took it all in stride.

About his lack of recognition: "Having never been in the limelight, I don't think you know what it's like. So it doesn't really affect me too much."

"The guys that get in the limelight are the guys that hit a lot of home runs and knock in a lot of runs. My job is to get on base, steal bases and play good outfield. I'll mix in about five to 10 home runs a year, but that's about it."

ABOUT BEING platooned: "Platooning doesn't bother me that much because we have an abundance of good, right-hand hitting outfielders. I played every day in the minors and I didn't want to be there. So if it's a choice between going back there and playing every day or being here and platooning — I'd rather be here and on the bench." He may be quiet, but his head seems to be on straight.

HE BEGAN talking about playing every day, about the double-headers and the drain of the dog days of August.

Then he stopped himself in the middle of the thought.

"But, you know," he said, "I can't make this much money selling cars."

"I really enjoy this game. It's not too often that you can do something you really enjoy in life. I'm very fortunate."

Sheridan began to get restless. He had talked more than he cared to. He was anxious to get out on the field where his talking would be done with his bat and glove.
