Study to determine shared police future

The study will be part of a threephase project. The second phase will be the design of a revised police services package, while the third will be the implementation of that package.

"Within the past few months, several questions have arisen regarding the quality of police services now being provided by the contracutal arrangement," said Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

"These questions have arisen because of certain factors such as a recent analysis of the contracted police services, a change of administration within the city police department and a potential change of political philoso-phies with regard to the relationship of the city of Plymouth and the Charter Township of Plymouth," Breen said.

Based on those factors, Breen "decided that a comprehensive study of the police services needed for the township would be appropriate at this time."

Performing the study will be an appointed committee, assisted by a police consultant, Breen said.

For that purpose, the services of Robert Parsons have been secured. Parsons is a criminal justice professor at Ferris State University

As of Friday, Breen said members of the committee hadn't been appointed, but "appointments are in the process." Although details for the design and

The first, or study, phase is expected to be completed by Nov. 16. At that time, Parsons and the committee will deliver a final report containing a recommendation for the future of police services in the township.

BREEN'S ANNOUNCEMENT of the study comes at the same time rumors are circulating about the city going to a public safety department - combining the police and fire departments.

City Manager Henry Graper acknowledges having a public safety plan, but says the city commission must vote on the concept before it can be implemented.

Graper said last week the city and Plymouth Police Officers Association made some agreements at informal wage-reopener discussions.

With three vacancies in the department, the possible early settlement of the wage clause may indicate the union has agreed to a lower starting rate. Union president Mike Gardner refuses to comment to the Observer. Graper said it would be premature to discuss what agreements have been reached. The union is entering the final year of a three-year contract. Any changes in the department's structure or township contract could result in layoffs.

Treasurer West looks forward to retirement

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

For a guy who used to sell Edsels, Plymouth Township Treasurer Joe West has come a long way. But his public service trail will end when the 69year-old leaves office Nov. 30.

West has been treasurer 10 years including two four-year and one twoyear term. But even after retirement, West, who has spent most of his life in Plymouth, will remain in the community with his wife, Jane.

"I want to spend more time with my family and do a little traveling," said

West. He plans to spend the rough part of the winters in Arizona, near Phoenix, and the rest of the year in Plym-

"I've got a brother-in-law in Tucson," said West. "I want to get out of the cold.'

But he later operated auto dealerships with three brothers. Called West Brothers, the dealership sold Mercury, Nash and Edsel cars.

"The Edsel didn't break us, but it sure bent us pretty hard," said West. 'But Ford treated us well.'

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

Following Plymouth Township's lead, city residents are banding together to fight crime.

Plymouth Police Chief Ralph White is pleased with the progress of the city's recently begun Neighborhood Watch Program.

The program was started about two months ago, under the guidance of Mike Gardner, a Plymouth police officer. Gardner began by speaking before various community organizations, such as senior citizens, to enlist block leaders and set up community meetings.

White said parts of the city already have Neighborhood Watch signs placed at entry streets, such as those in the New England subdivision, the north Harvey area and the area bounded by Burroughs, Coolidge, Byron and Dewey. "It takes more than just a few phone calls before we set up the signs," said White. "First we have to receive a commitment from the Kindergarten teacher Allison O'Hara checks in to see who's winning a competitive round of "Hi Ho Cherry-O" at Kinder Care day care center in Plymouth Township.

Staff turnover hurting Kinder Care centers

By M.B. Dillon Ward

High staff turnover is plaguing Kinder Care, a day care center serving the Plymouth-Canton community

Kinder Care spokespersons say the problem is industry-wide.

High turnover upset staffs, children's routines and some parents, but Kinder Care administrators say they can't see things changing until society places more value on their work — enabling teachers to earn

However, former staffers and customers blame the mistreatment of employees for high attrition and drop-out rates at Plymouth Township's Kinder Care.

Kinder Care Learning Centers, Inc., a nationwide chain based in Montgomery, Ala., says it pays wages and offers benefits comparable with its competitors. Entry level pay for non-kindergarten teachers (who need not have a degree) is minimum wage - $3.35.

Compensation varies for those with qualifications beyond a high school diploma.

Located on Joy Road west of Canton Center, Kinder Care normally staffs about eight people, who in addition to care giving and teaching share maintenance tasks. Until a cook came aboard a few months ago, they prepared hot meals and snacks as well.

Twelve employees have been fired or quit in the past year.

The problem is something the child care industry as a whole has to direct its attention to," said Leslie May, Kinder Care district manager, whose territory extends from Detroit to Grand Rapids.

'Yes, it's a factor affecting children, but we are taking steps to alleviate it. Kinder Care takes positive steps and does as much as it can to hire and keep qualified people on staff. We do first and second interviews and we like to have new staff fill in as substitutes so we can see and hear them in the classroom. Some people can talk a good well with children.'

Kinder Care offers its teachers on the job training, annual options to purchase stock, reduced child care, a salary saving plan and other benefits. Learning materials and lesson plans are provided so that teachers aren't left on their own, added May.

There are those who differ with May, claiming some managers could operate more professionally.

Former Kinder Care Assistant Director Denise Bedell was fired before she could resign a couple of weeks ago after another Kinder Care employee was given the director's job she wanted. Dismissed on the spot, Bedell was told she could collect her belongings only after school hours.

PAM VAN VALKENBURGH, 19, who taught for eight months at the center, was abruptly fired last week for telling parents about the Bedell incident.

end. I was asked by parents what had happened, and I told them the truth," said Van Valkenburgh, who estimates enrollment dropped by about four or five kids each month of her Kinder Care tenure.

Fifty youngsters currently attend Kinder Care. It is licensed to care for 100.

"When I came to work last Monday (Aug. 27) I was told I was no longer a staffer there. And they had the nerve to tell parents I quit," she added.

May said she couldn't comment on reasons why Kinder Care has lost so many staffers. However, she said, VanValkenburgh was let go because "company procedure was not followed."

"If an employee is dissatisfied with a spe cific policy, there are guidelines to follow. They were not followed in this case. Our parents are our customers, and we want to meet their needs in a professional way. Some of the relationships here were personal ones - not professional," May said

Van Valkenburgh, now employed at a competing day care center, said her toddler class had had six teachers in the eight months before her arrival.

Seven boys and girls have been pulled out of the center since her departure. As an Observer tour of Kinder Care ended Thursday, the father of an eighth stopped by to remove his child from the school's enroll-

MAY SAYS its normal for enrollment to drop as public schools open.

Irene Bakowski, a Canton Township employee and single mother of two, "did some checking, and found out it's not so common.

"I was outraged at what's been happening, because indirectly it's affecting the kids," said Bakowski, who has taken her son and daughter from Kinder Care to another

"The program itself is good, but the turnover of teachers is tremendous.

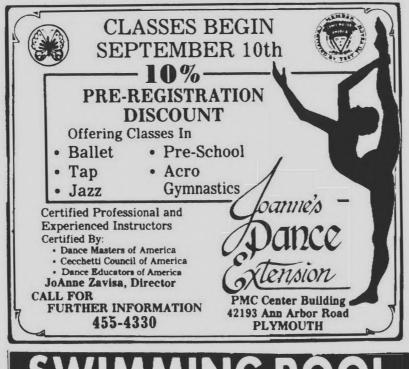

Parent Carol O'Neill, also a former Kinder Care customer, agreed, adding the parade of staffers was traumatic for her 3year-old.

"Brian was there two years. The first six months of the first year he had five new teachers," said O'Neill.

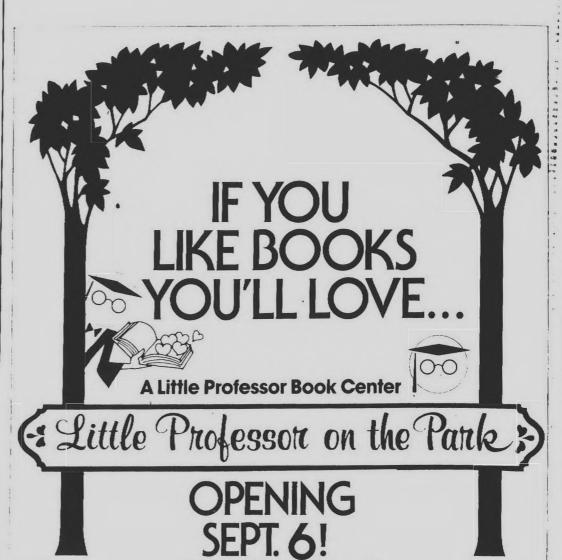

"It was terrible, because he got attached. He didn't want to go to school. He was afraid there'd be a new teacher. He wondered if the kids were going to leave. One day he said he was losing another teacher. I asked him how he knew, and he said it was because his teacher had the flu - and that that's what happened the last time. He'd ask the new teacher, "Are you staying? If you're not staying, I'm leaving."

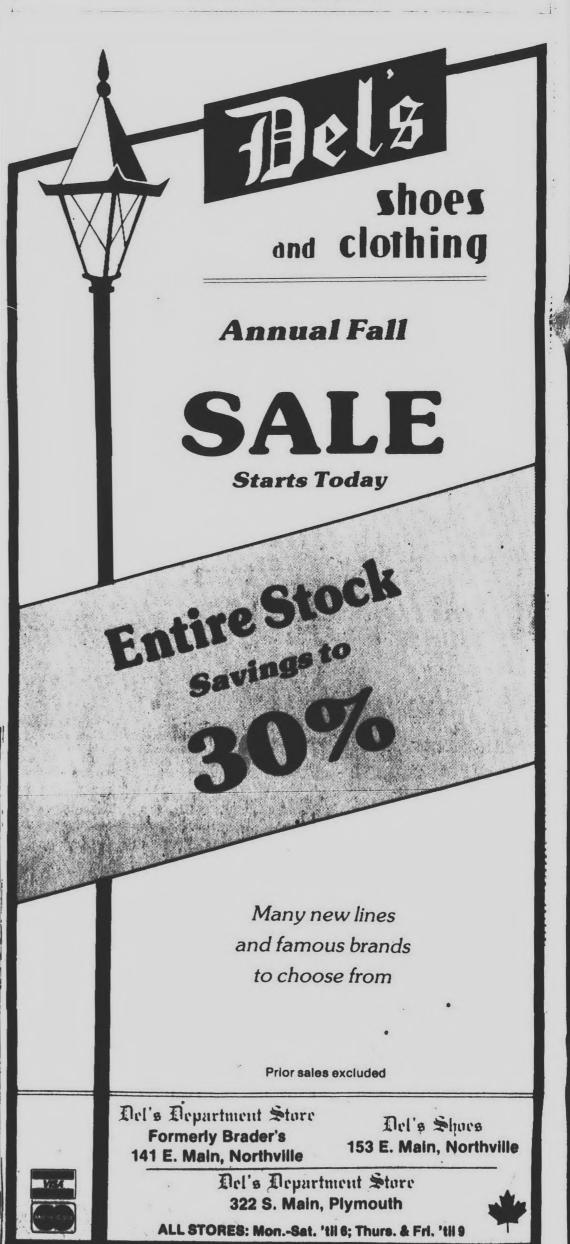

O'Neill since has compared notes with other parents."They've been flabbergasted asking why I didn't take the kids out sooner. I did write the director, asking why there was such a rapid turnover. I go gue letter back that made no mer how they were going to resolve t'

Aimie Seiler, a Canton resident and laboratory supervisor for Oakwood Hospital Canton Center, put in a full day of work Labor Day. "I always work Labor Day," said Seiler, who confessed it's a good day to catch up on a lot of things.

It was Labor Day, all right

Farmers, firefighters, police were on the job

While Labor Day means picnics and a day at the beach for most of us, many people must labor on Labor Day.

We expect that firefighters, policemen and hospital employees are on the job because of the emergency services they provide. But others choose to work on the national holiday which always falls on the first Monday of September.

Restaurants, grocery and party stores can benefit from being open on a holiday, cashing in on being one of a few open.

But others, while not providing emergency services, have no choice when it comes to laboring on Labor

Day.

Funeral palor employees, farmers, park rangers, baseball players, reporters and radio announcers are some of those who have to work on the holiday.

We salute all workers on Labor Day, and extend a special thanks to those who attend to our needs on the holiday.

Treasurer West to end a decade in public office

Plymouth Township Treasurer Joe West is retiring from government in November, bringing to an end more than a decade of public service. Deputy Treasurer Mary Brooks will replace West, as she is running unopposed in November's general election.

The West brothers were in business until 1970. Then West tried real estate, working for Harold Fisher for four years. "I still have my license," said West

"I've been use to dealing with people in a retail way," he said. "In this (treasurer's) business, you meet a lot of people. But I'm looking forward to retiring. My wife already retired from teaching school."

West attended Cherry Hill School in Canton Township, high school in Ypsilanti and Cleary College, where he received a two-year bachelor of commercial science degree.

"I've always been a bookkeeper, an accountant or a treasurer," he said. "I've enjoyed my job with the township very much."

West said there was a noticeable slowdown in the area during the recent recession. "That's when our business in the treasurer's office slows down, too."

West will be replaced by Mary Brooks, who will run unopposed for treasurer in November. "I supported her," said West. "I didn't have much choice. She has been in the office for 13 years. She is well qualified."

Brooks has been serving as deputy treasurer and has run the department when West has been on vacation.

"I expect a smooth transition," said West. "But I didn't tell her all my secrets. Some things she'll have to find out for herself. She has a very good idea of all the work that I do."

One of the items of business that Brooks will inherit will be the resolution of delinquent water and sewer bill payments. The number and amount of delinquencies has been increasing in the last three years. Some are as high as $500.

However, some homeowners have found a way to profit from the delinquent bills, because the township adds the overdue water-sewer bills to property tax bills. Then, after the combined property tax and utility bill is paid, the homeowner deducts the total from taxable income, as part of his home mortgage interest/property tax deduction.

"I have mixed feelings about that," said West. "There is no law that says you can't do it. But the Internal Revenue Service says that (utility bill payments) are a non-deductible item. Although we can add (utility bills to property tax bills), whether they can take it off their income tax, is up to the IRS."

"I know that is being done, but it is not an allowable deduction. Tony Hollis (Plymouth Township DPW director) is working with the township supervisor on the matter," said West.

"Legally, we can add an administrative fee — but not a collection fee. That is illegal. We used to add a 1 percent collection fee. But we can call it an administrative fee," said West.

"Some people in a financial bind are letting their bills go. There's been quite an increase in the last two years, when times were tough, due to unemployment.

"By writing it off their income tax, they're mainly trying to get away with something. But they don't know what they're getting into," said West.

Residents back watch programs

"That's hard to measure," said Berry. "We want to deter crime. We want it to get reported. We want to have good witnesses, commitment. We want to open the neighborhoods up, to have a lot of intercommunication."

By that measurement, the watch program in the township is an apparent success. It began three years ago, when it appeared as though crime statistics were on the way up.

"We wanted more effort toward crime awareness and prevention," said Berry. "We know that the program does have an impact, but measurement is difficult. Breaking and entering offenses are down by 70 percent. We think this is a combination of awareness, reporting, arrests and convictions."

Berry said the apparent reduction in crime depended on all four of those influences. "One is not the total solution." said Berry. "We depend heavily on the citizens to report crime."

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP has had an increase in the amount of "transient traffic," with the addition of an interstate highway through the area.

Crime prevention in the township has been given a big boost through the aid of three volunteer organizations: the Neighborhood Watch, the Plymouth Area Citizen's Team (PACT), and the community service officers.

PACT volunteers are citizen's band radio enthusiasts who patrol the township in their own vehicles, identified with PACT insignia. They are reimbursed for gasoline expenses.

PACT patrols have no contact with the city police department, which provides patrol service to the township under a contract. However, PACT volunteers do maintain contact with volunteer community service officers (CSOs). The township has 10 CSOs, who are in contact with the police department. CSOs can issue citations, are issued uniforms and patrol cars.

But the grassroots movement of crime prevention and enforcement is the Neighborhood Watch.

Bill Nipp, the leader of the Southworth Neighborhood Watch, decided to start the program 14 years ago, after house in the area was houselessed.

a house in the area was burglarized.

About 100 homes belong to the program now.

"We have 100 percent involvement," said Nipp. "I made personal contact with every homeowner on the street and set up the first meeting. It's a very good program, and the neighborhood is much safer. Neighbors are concerned about each other. There is a constant

WATCH MEETINGS generally concentrate on security, but more and more they are being used to evaluate the impact of proposed changes on the community, such as shopping malls.

"The program gives residents a voice in local government," said Nipp.

The area's Neighborhood Watch groups recently were successful in defeating a proposed rezoning at the planning commission level that may lead to the construction of 13-acre shopping center. The township board still must vote on the rezoning request.

Watch meetings also have been an effective way of organizing block parties and other social events that bring neighborhoods together.

The meetings also permit the township government to communicate with specific areas of the township and receive input from those areas.

Neighborhood Watch general meetings are held every four months in Plymouth Township Hall. The next meeting will take place in November.

Stevens, become a member of the church. It was a membership that was to last 87 years and Clarence was to live to the age of

The congregation observed its 50th anniversary on February 23, 1884. Why this date was chosen is not clear. As Nettie Dibble, church member and Plymouth historian in the 1930s observed, this was one year after the date on which the Society first met. Or, if dated from the arrival of the first permanent minister and the building of the first church, it was one year before the proper date.

At any rate, at the celebration in 1884, the Rev. W.W. Wetmore, minister of the church from 1882 to 1885, delivered the historical address. Wetmore had been the Stated Supply at the Ann Arbor Church from 1863 to 1867. During the service, the letter that Ira Bronson's daughter, Mrs. E.M. Stewart, wrote about her recollections of the church in the early 1830s was read to the congregation.

The local church was still being called "The Second Presbyterian Church" although it was the only Presbyterian church in town. The Northville Church had assumed the "First Presbyterian" designation when it was sponsored by the Farmington Church in 1829. That was four years before Presbyterians established a similar society in Plymouth.

Since Northville still was an integral part of Plymouth Township when its church was established, it did not seem out of order to call it "The First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth."

In March 1886, after putting up with the confusion in names for 51 years, the congregation in Plymouth decided to request a change in names of the two churches. An entry in the minutes of the Session for that month reads:

"Resolved to ask the Presbytery to change the name of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth to First Presbyterian Church of Northville, and the Second Presbyterian Church of Plymouth to the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, and that Northville be asked to join in presenting this resolution."

It is not clear what response came from this resolution, either from Northville or the Presbytery, but three years later, on March 4, 1889, the Northville congregation did vote to change its name. For some reason I have been unable to discover, however, the local church did not change its name to The First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth until Sept. 3, 1907.

In May 1886, the year Michigan Presbyterians founded Alma College, the Rev. George W. Wallace of Manchester became pastor of the Plymouth Presbyterian Church at a salary of $1,000 a year. A tribute to the fine ministerial leadership provided by Wallace during his tenure in Plymouth is contained in a manuscript history of the Synod of Michigan written by Theodore Marsh in 1909. Wallace remained here until 1895.

During Wallace's first year, the congregation built a church Manse on Union Street. The house still is there and until recent years it had a block of stone in the foundation which was inscribed "Presbyterian Manse, 1886."

Beginning in 1886 and for the next 17 years, the church raised funds through volunteer work at the "Presbyterian Eating House" at the Plymouth Fairgrounds. More about this activity will be found in a later chapter about the Women's Association.

One of the church's wealthlest supporters, Ebenezer J. Penniman, died at age 86 on April 12, 1890. Penniman, a merchant, banker, and occasional politician, was a member of the Whig assembly that met in Jackson in 1854 to form the Republican Party and to oppose the opening of the west to slavery.

A supervisor of Plymouth Township in the 1840s, he served a term in the U.S. Congress in 1851-53, the first resident of Plymouth to hold that position. Penniman Avenue is named in his memory.

L.H. Bennett, was elected a trustee of the church for three years in 1891. Bennett, part-owner of the Plymouth Fanning Mill factory, chaired the citizen's committee formed in 1891 to locate a good source of water for the village. He was the father of Charles H. Bennett, longtime church member and benefactor, who served as president of the Daisy Manufacturing Co. from 1920 to 1956

Until 1891, the church pews, or "slips" as they were called in the early years, had been rented to raise funds for the pastor's salary and other church expenses. In 1891, the envelope system for church offerings was adopted for the first time.

George Wallace was still the pastor here in the spring of 1893 when the business block on Main Street, facing Kellogg Park, burned for the second time. The fire destroyed all of the buildings from Penniman to within three stores of Ann Arbor Street. (To be continued).

Gar Wood pulled Yankee trick

On his many trips down Memory Lane, The Stroller often has made it a practice to visit the Belle Isle bridge on Labor Day and relive one of the most exciting times the Detroit River ever has known.

It was the afternoon of Labor Day 1931 when Gar Wood, "the Gray Fox of Algonac," pulled what he later called a Yankee trick that kept the famed Harmsworth trophy in America.

It was the most exciting moment the river ever has known and the word spread around the world as Kay Don moaned his defeat and Wood gloried in the fact that the "bit of bronze" remained in America.

It so happened that England has issued a challenge for the trophy and sent over to our shores Kay Don, a noted driver, and a new boat that was supposed to be the last word in a racing machine.

Much to the surprise of the thousands who lined the banks of the river that year, the British boat captured the first heat on Saturday. It was the first time Wood had been beaten. But the big drama was yet to come.

THE STAGE WAS SET for another surprise on Labor Day when the famed trophy was brought to the dock, ready to be given to Don if he won as many expected.

For a few brief moments shortly after noon, Wood visited the dock and looked at the trophy. Then he smiled and said, "So they think it is going to England."

As 5 o'clock — the official starting time — neared, the excitement grew. Then came word that Wood had asked for a half hour postponement, claiming he had discovered a leak in his boat. Don refused and Gar shouted over the phone, loud enough to be heard in the press box, "OK, tell Don we'll be there and on time."

Sure enough, as the seconds ticked off there was a cry, "Here comes Wood and his Miss Ameican 10."

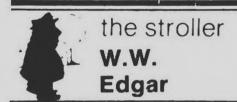

He never came near the dock, but headed for the starting line. He caught Don napping and both were disqualified for beating the starting gun. But neither knew it at the time.

26541 GLENDALE, 534-8010

As they reached the first turn at the Belle Isle bridge with Wood in the lead, he suddenly turned, crossed in front of Don, and the wash in the river upset the British challenger.

That meant that Wood's second boat, driven by his brother George, would be declared the winner and the trophy would remain at the Yacht Club.

FEW REALIZED at the moment that the upset had been planned. It wasn't until the day after the race that Wood said, "It was a Yankee trick."

Later Gar confided that he realized that the British boat could not take a wash — that it would Not valid with other offers Coupon must accompany order upset. So when he realized that he couldn't beat Don on the straightaway, he would have to beat him over the line, then cross him with a big wash at the bridge. The plan worked — but it was a great subject around the speedboat world for months.

This is the memory The Stroller recalls each Labor Day when he pays a visit to the Belle Isle bridge.

Too bad there isn't a bronze marker there to let the public know that that section of the Detroit River was one of the most talked of streams when Gar Wood pulled his Yankee trick.

Where's our sidewalks?

To the editor:

Recently I read in the paper that the Plymouth-Canton School Administration is thinking of asking the city of Livonia to construct sidewalks for Plymouth-Canton students who attend Lowell Middle School and live within walking distance.

There are students who walk to East Middle School and have no sidewalks to use. Rocker and Plymouth Estates subdivisions have repeatedly requested sidewalks but were told that sidewalks are not a safety requirement for middle school students.

Further, we were told that sidewalks would do no good because middle school students don't use them anyway. Are the students who attend Lowell different from ours, Mr. Goby?

I'm sure Lowell parents feel uncomfortable about their children walking along Joy Road. I also feel uncomfortable about my children having to walk on Lilley Road with no sidewalks and having to cross Ann Arbor Road at peak traffic times.

If the school administration does make this request of the city of Livonia, certainly they could do the same in Plymouth Township.

Why do we avoid ugly people?

special writer

Those of us who were not fortunate enough to be born a perfect "10" are taught to take consolation in the old adage that "Beauty is only skin deep." It's a comforting thought — but do we really believe it?

Our attitudes when encountering people who are physically attractive and people who are physically deformed suggest that, down deep, we believe that outer appearance is a good indication of what the inner person is really like.

We have a tendency to assume that beautiful people are virtuous and competent, that deformed individuals are somehow defective and different.

RESEARCHERS from Gettysburg College recently studied the attitudes of 124 college students toward female rape victims. Students consistently indicated that the unattractive women were more responsible for the assault than were the attractive victims.

Students tended to judge the unattractive women's dress and behavior to be provocative. Research participants also were more inclined to see personality flaws in the unattractive victims than in their attractive counterparts.

Although male students were more biased than female students, both sexes displayed the general tendency to attribute innocence to the attractive victims.

In addition to demonstrating a subtle bias against the unattractive, this study also underscores some problems encountered in our legal psychology Dennis Sugrue system when a rape victim presses charges against her assailant.

Is it possible that a jury tends to be less convinced about a rapist's guilt when the victim is unattractive? Will a jury tend to be more in-clined to find a defendant guilty if the victim is attractive because, "how could this beautiful young woman possibly lie about something so hideous?'

HOW WOULD you react if a person with a permanent disfigurement of the face stood next to you at a bus stop? Would your reaction be any different if the person's disfigurement were obviously temporary, perhaps scars and bruises as the result of a recent accident?

Remember, now, beauty - or the lack of it is only skin deep.

Well, if you're similar to the 450 London well, if you're similar to the 450 London pedestrians recently observed by British researchers, you probably would try to keep a distance from the disfigured person, especially if the person were permanently disfigured.

In the British study, pedestrians on a busy street were observed as they stood alongaide one of three people: either a person with a birthmark under the right eye, a person with scarring and bruising under the right eye, or a person with no disfigurement.

The pedestrians stood an average of 39 inches from the person with the birthmark, 31 inches from the scarred and bruised person and 22 inches from the undisfigured person.

The pedestrians tended to stand on the left side of the disfigured persons (the normal side) more often than when standing next to the undisfigured person. Those pedestrians who did stand on the disfigured side maintained an even greater distance than the averages re-

I ASSUME that most of these London pedestrians did not fear that the deformity was contagious. Nevertheless, they stood almost twice as far away from the permanently disfigured person as from the undisfigured person.

It appears that there was an unconscious assumption that something about these disfigured persons should be avoided

Beauty may be only skin deep, but there exists within most of us a subtle prejudice favor-ing the attractive. This quirk of human nature is unfortunate, for it may easily blind us to the true and lasting beauty that may exist within

"PICK 'N CHOOSE" A PERFECT PICNIC

As summer draws to a close, Americans seize every opportunity to celebrate the easygoing, carefree life the season represents. And that usually means a big picnic, with plenty of delicious outdoor foods. This year, make the event even more festive with your own special "pick 'n choose" picnic menu created from these unique recipes.

It's easy to tailor your late summer menu to the exact tastes and preferences of the picnickers. Simply mix and match these deliciously different appetizers, entrees, salads and desserts for just the right combination for the occasion. You can entertain friends in elegant fashion with a meal that adds a touch of class to eating al fresco. Or, you can create an easy-going, casual celebration with more pizzazz than traditional picnic fare. Better yet, combine all of these great foods for a speciacular party that's sure to please every picnicker - however picky!

Best of all, these fun new foods are extra easy to prepare, so the cook spends minimum kitchen time on picnic day. The secret? Using convenient commercially-prepared salad dressings and sauces as recipe ingredients.

Salad dressings and sauces are actually handy pre-made seasoning blends in a bottle! They provide instant flavor without the cost, work and hassle of all the measuring and mixing yourself for the same results. Commercial salad dressings and sauces are made with such a wide variety of fresh herbs, spices and other ingredients, you'd be hardpressed to duplicate them in your own kitchen. Their ease, convenience and economy are always appreciated — but particularly when you're eager to start warm weather festivities.

So, celebrate the end of summer with your own "pick 'n choose" picnic of these exciting new treats. You're sure to find the perfect menu combination for whatever special group is assembling at your house.

N SAN ANTONIO, where cooking out-of-doors is nearly a year 'round activity, innovative grilltenders add interest to barbecued entrees with zesty sauces and marinades boastsouth-of-the-border flair. Geared to busy, healthful lifestyles, their specialties emphasize exciting flavors with calories kept in line, and easy, streamlined preparation.

When the over-the-coals entree must be elegant but time is at a premium, Picante Grilled Shrimp is an easy menu solution. The impressively skewered jumbo shrimp are grilled to perfection in minutes while the cook bastes occasionally with a flavorful Picante Sauce, lime juice and garlic mixture.

As with most barbecued foods, best results are achieved with hot coals which cook the shrimp quickly and keep them juicy. If rain threatens to complicate your cookout plans, simply move in-doors to the broiler for equally delicious results. Good news for calorie counters: this luxurious, fullflavored main dish provides only about 160 calories

Boned and skinned chicken breasts, a weight-conscious diner's delight, are one of the most versatile cookout favorites. Their mild flavor complements a wide range of preparations, and their grill time is a plus for cooks in a hurry. As Southwestern Skewered Chicken, supremes are at their best. Marinated in, and basted as they grill, with a lively mixture of picante sauce, catsup and honey, the skewered strips have a tangy-sweet, "hot" flavor that's sure to become the hit of the barbecue season. Don't forget to set out a bowl of picante sauce and chips or veggie dippers to munch as the coals

For those people who might insist that burgers are a necessary component of any cookout, Mush-room-Stuffed Pork Burgers should be a hit. A mix of fresh mushrooms, green onion, and garlic are stuffed in each pork burger. They can be assembled ahead and stored in the refrigerator till cookout

College students may be munching on too many pretzels with their beer, according to a new study that says collegians are consuming "alarming-ly" high amounts of sodium.

The research, published in a recent issue of the Journal of The American Dietetic Association, shows that students, without even picking up the salt shaker, are either exceeding the amount of sodium they shoul consume, or hovering around the maximum recommended daily intake.

A scientific sample of 139 students at the University of Illinois, Campaign, shows that some male students indulge in more than four times the daily recommendation, taking in 13,956 milligrams a day. Coeds in the sample consume up to 9,374 milli-grams daily. More than 3,000 milligrams of sodium consumed daily is considered unsafe.

AVERAGES FOR the students were 3,904 milligrams for men and 2,628 for women. Those tallies, however, were computed solely on the amount of sodium found in the foods the students say they eat and do not include salt from a shaker, a factor that probably escalates the average sodium intake beyond excessively high amounts, says the study author Mahmood Kahn, a professor at the Students participating in the study completed a 15-page questionnaire detailing the food they eat in an aver-age 24-hour period. Snacks, such as pretzels, popcorn and potato chips contribute to much of the sodium intake, as did the highly salted foods consumed at lunch and dinner.

Because excessive sodium is associated with high blood pressure, students should work on preventive measures to avoid the risk of hyperten-sion, Kahn warns, especially if there is a history of high blood pressure in a student's family.

FALL FESTIVAL weekend is one of the busiest times of the year for the Plymouth Historical Museum. Director Barb Saunders and volunteers at the museum have things in high gear for the fest. They are getting ready for the 24 craftsmen who will be demonstrating their old-time art forms Saturday and Sunday.

And they have a new fund-raiser in conjunction with the festival. For a $1 donation, participants may win a Shaker sewing box hand-crafted. by Bruce Richard. The round box, with its calico and ribbons, retails for $52 in the museum gift shop. The winner, to be announced at 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9, will be notified by telephone to come and pick up the newly-acquired family heirloom.
Ruth Jacobs is enthusiastic about new merchandise in the museum gift shop. Tinsmith Dick Jablonski has made some tin quilt patterns, reproductions of those used by quilt makers years ago. Ruth said the women traced their patterns from the tin forms.

"They are made like cookie cutters and he puts hooks on them for hanging in a kitchen or a window. The cat and heart patterns are new to the museum," Ruth said. She has the shop stocked for early Christmas shoppers.

ANOTHER FALL festival, Plymouth's largest cooperative community endeavor, opens Thursday. For volunteer workers in non-profit organizations, it is a major effort - and in many instances, their group's major money-maker.

It's a real harvest festival with everyone working together - a bit of Americana from another era.

Over the years, the festival grew from a Rotary Club chicken barbecue to a four-day extravaganza. And although its doom has been predicted on more than one occasion, it continues to flourish and maintain its reputation as a major attraction.

The anti-liquor-by-the-glass faction stated the sale of liquor by the glass in the city of Plymouth would put an end to the festival. They painted a dismal picture of hordes of drunks staggering out of the Box Bar, interrupting the festival and driving decent folks

Voters in the city finally passed the liquor-by-the-glass ordinance and the festival continued, unscathed.

The beautification of Kellogg Park posed problems for festival planners. Crowds would ruin the newly-sodded lawns; people who paid for the new brick walks would resent having their name bricks covered by booths. At that time, Main Street was closed.

Only on Sunday of the festival and booths were placed on the sidewalks on the park side of Main. The festival has survived such threats as bees, rain, shish kabobs, too much food, too many rides, dog and cat fights, teen-agers, smoke, smog, taxes, bicycles and politicians.

This year's threat? There are rumors of crime during the festival. I'm sure Plymouth's "finest" will

Local author writes 'Tonquish Tales'

By Elinor Graham staff writer

Helen Gilbert's first column about Chief Tonquish and Indians in the Plymouth-Canton area was published in the Plymouth Observer Nov. 25, 1982. What began as a two-part series has blossomed into a book, "Tonquish Tales," published just in time for the Plymouth Fall Festival.

The author will be autographing first editions from noon to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the Little Professor on the Park, Main Street, Plymouth. She will have autographing sessions from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Each chapter of "Tonquish Tales" deals with a segment of local history beginning with the Potawatomi Chief Tonquish, or "Toga," son of Topenebe. Gilbert gives the backround of the Potawatomi, a division of the Ojibwa, who were a branch of the Algonquin nation. She relates Tonquish's part in the Dearborn massacre and his death in Nankin Township in 1819.

GILBERT REFERS to the Plymouth Mound with its "magnificent Potawatomi altar," which some historians claim was part of the property on which First Presbyterian Church of

Her extensive research of early treaty maps revealed Tonquish's village was on the Rouge River near the present Grand River Avenue. His burial marker is on Wayne Road near Joy. The author concludes that the old chief was fleeing for home when he was shot in the back by Maj. Alexander

The book contains tales of early Detroit, the Indians, the early settlers and Antoine de LaMothe Cadillac, based on

The jacket, a view of Detroit, July 25, 1794, is a watercolor painted by an unknown artist. Vicountess Nancy Astor discovered the original in a shop in Plymouth, England, and presented it to the citizens of Detroit. It was placed in the Burton Historical Collection of the

PROPER FOOT WEAR

The typical woman's dress shoe incorporates most of the undesirable features possible in footwear. The high heel causes all of the body's weight to fall onto a narrow area on the ball of the foot-the 2nd and 3rd metatarsal head. The resulting lines-of-force give an appealing slant to the hip, but place an undue strain on the mid foot. The narrowed top of the shoe, streamlining to a point, cramps the toes in a way ideal for developing bunions.

The best shoe, for men and women, has a heel and sole at least one inch thick. Having a continuous strip from back to front of the shoe is useful, as doing so provides the foot the maximum area on which to land and then initiate the next step. The top part of the shoe should be wide and pliant in order to permit the toes to spread easily. Roots, hushpupples, and wallpapers are examples of shoes that meet these principles.

If you have no back, ankle or foot pain, you likely can disregard this column's advice. However, if you have a problem in any of these areas, it is in your best interest to make proper shoe wear a part of your therapeutic program.

There's a monster in Plymouth

staff writer

"Peanut Butter Syrup," a book written especially for Plymouth children, will be off the press in time for the Plymouth Fall Festival.

The locale of the story and its illustrations is familiar to local youngsters, who will recognize landmarks such as the fountain in Kellogg Park, the railroad crossings and the little red brick building near Wilcox

The tale begins at a breakfast table, when Ben makes a startling announcement to his younger sister, Katie: "There's a monster in Plymouth!"

The statement has its desired effect -Katie's rapt attention. As she questions brother Ben, he elaborates on his story, placing his monster in situations all over

The Rainbow Shop gives it a sticker for a skinned knee; Dale Knab at the drug store gives it big tissues when it has the flu. The monster eats whole wheat pretzels from Healthways and attends Community Band

Once, during the Plymouth Fall Festival, it takes a shower in the fountain in the park and shakes himself dry, all over the people and the chicken dinners.

The monster rides on top of the city's double-decker bus, gets into all kinds of trouble. But, Ben explains, it is a nice young monster and everyone tolerates its esca-

Rocks, Chiefs prime for '84 campaign

By Chris McCosky staff writer

HE 1984 football campaign swings into gear Friday. On Thursday, the Plymouth Observer will publish a special section previewing the upcoming season. As a preview to that preview, let's dissect our two local teams and see what we have to look forward to.

THE COACHES: The teacher and the student are still going at each other. Plymouth Canton coach Rich Barr, now in his fifth year, used to be an assistant with veteran Salem head coach Tom Moshimer. There's a mutual respect between the two, and one vital understanding: "We hope they win all their games except one," Barr has said. "They can beat everyone but us." There's no love lost when Salem and Canton get it on.

Moshimer, entering his 26th season, is 140-71-6 — 80-29 since his Rocks went to the wishbone offense 11 years ago.

Barr is still trying to get his program over the .500 hump. His lifetime record at Canton is 8-28.

Edge: Salem

OFFENSE (skill positions): Some question marks on both sides, and that's unusual. Salem will be going with senior Steve Sobditch at quarterback. He saw only limited service last year behind Marc Tindall. The quarterback is vital to the success of the bone attack.

Sobditch will be joined in the backfield with Kevin Riley and Paul Makara. The fullback spot, vacated by the graduated Scott Jurek, is up for grabs.
Brian Johnson and Gary Kafila could share the job. Brian Tiller and Dom DeBello will also see time in the backfield. Craig Morton will be a major offensive weapon for Salem. The speedy wide receiver was all-league last year.

Canton, most likely, will go with junior Tony Aiken at quarterback. Aiken, a junior, has immense athletic talent. He will get better with every game he plays. Rod Boyd and Matt Flower are experienced and speedy backs. Mike Johnson, a sophomore, looks very promising at fullback. Dave Knapp, who may see action at quarterback, is a dangerous receiver as well.

Edge: Canton, barely

OFFENSE (line): Small and not very deep, on both sides.

Canton lost the likes of Brian Callahan, Paul Fletcher and Jim Burcyk to graduation. The rebuilt line will include Chris Anderson, Dwayne Bennett, Scott Moore, Dan Olsewski and Kirk Bennett — the biggest being Dwayne Bennett at 5-11, 180 and he didn't play at all last year. Canton's inexperienced offensive line could minimize the Chiefs' talent in the backfield.

Salem's line will be anchored by senior strongman Pat Walsh. Marc Cygan, Miles Edick, Craig Hix, Bob Cummings, David Milz and Jamie Woochuck will also see action. Tight end Steve Potoczak may be the best blocker on the line.

Edge: Saler

DEFENSE: On paper, you want to say that this could be Salem's Achilles' heel. But you could've said that every year for the past decade and been stone wrong. Salem always manages to be stingy on defense, regardless of size, depth or experience.

Walsh, Potoczak, Tom Sumner, Milz, Hix and Cygan will see action up front for the Rocks. Randy Blalock, Riley and Johnson will, most likely, be the linebackers. Sobditch, Morton, Makara and DeBello could see action in the sec-

For Canton, the defensive secondary looks very solid with Knapp, Aiken and Ray Hyder. Bob Forreider is the lone returner to the defensive line, and Barr is desparately in need of linebackers. Defense could be a big, big problem for Canton this year.

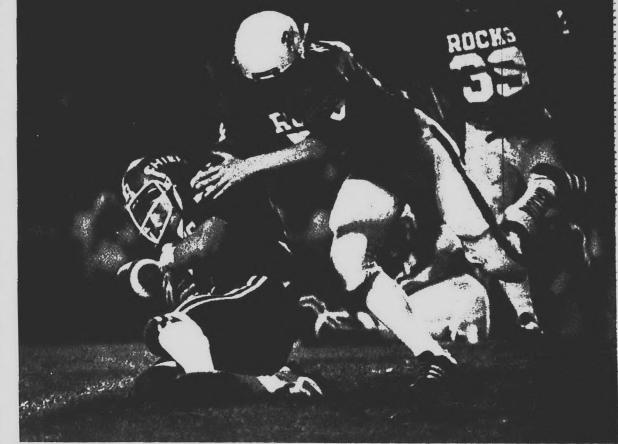

Edge: Salen

KICKING: Dave Liuzzo, a refuge from the soccer team, gives Canton a solid field goal threat. Greg Hodge and Dan Olsewski are battling for punting duty.

Mark Dixon, a consistent performer last year, is back to do the kicking for Salem. Potoczak will do the punting.

Edge: Salem

OUTLOOK: Moshimer takes a pessimistic view of his team at the outset of every year. It's his way of psyching his team up and the opposition out. But this year when he says his team is introuble he may be right. There are only 32 young men on the roster, most of which have no seventh, eighth or ninth grade football experience. (Mercifully, the district administration has reinstated the freshman football programs at both Canton and Salem.)

But Moshimer will find a way to win with this crew. He may have to use the pass more than he likes — Morton is a legitmate threat — but his team will win

Prediction: The Rocks will finish second in the Western Lakes Lakes Division behind Walled Lake Central, again.

OUTLOOK: Some 56 bodies attended the first Canton practice this season the best jurnout Barr has ever had. That could be a sign of better times ahead for the Chief program.

too many holes to fill. The backfield is talented, but that talent is wasted without an offensive line to protect it. Prediction: At best, a four-win season for the Chiefs. Look for them to finish third in the Western Division.

For this year, though, there are just

Area stars drive Lady Ocelots

By C.J. Risak staff writer

What a difference a year - and a change in status - makes.

Canton mentor Rich Barr hopes his rebuilt and inexperienced offensive line will be able give life to the Chief offense.

One year ago, Schoolcraft College was piecing together a women's soccer club-level team. Ed Dudek, who coached the Livonia Churchill girls team, was hired to manage the Lady Ocelots.

As he describes that first year, "We didn't even have a team at this point. Some players were put in a position they weren't used to playing. We didn't have a goalie.

"There were times when four or five players showed up for practice. We didn't have a set schedule at the start of last year."

THAT ALL changed over the winter. The club team was awarded varsity status, Schoolcraft athletic director Mary Gans put together a solid schedule, and Dudek went out and found a bundle of local talent.

Yup, things are looking much better this time around. But while the waters are calmer, the turbulance hasn't subsided completely.

Eight players return from last season's contingent, and eight newcomers will produce immediately — when everyone's healthy. That, at present, is the biggest problem.

"At this stage, we're down to 14 players," said Dudek. Two potential starters — Lori Engle, from Plymouth Canton, and Dorene Dudek, the coach's daughter from Livonia Churchill — are

'There's a lot of quality on this team, five or six all-staters. Injury-wise, we have to stay healthy. That's the key right now. Fortunately, we have depth in that we have players that can play more than one position.'

both sidelined with injuries. Dudek is scheduled for arthroscopic knee surgery Wednesday, which will keep her out until October.

"BASICALLY, we're a pretty good team," the coach said. "But we'll just have to wait it out until both Lori and my daughter get back."

Unlike last season, there's enough talent to make Schoolcraft more than respectable this year. Returning sophomores are Heather and Dawn Brda and Judy Snyder, from Livonia Franklin, Martina Millen, Kris Petit and Angle Butterfield, from Northville; Cindy Gable, from Livonia Stevenson; and Linda Funke, from Livonia Churchill.

Of the newcomers, Sue Ferguson, a 1983 Farmington Harrison graduate, is perhaps the most impressive. A forward, Dudek rates her as an awesome addition. Sue Bartrum, from Farmington, will fill in for Dorene Dudek at center halfback until she recovers, then drop back to fullback. Mary Taylor, from Southfield, will also get playing time at fullback.

AMY McCAULEY, from Sterling Heights Henry Ford, has shown a "good, hard shot" as a halfback-forward. Jenny Gans, daughter of the Schoolcraft athletic director, has transferred from Central Michigan to play goalie, and Paige Ericson, from San Diego, Calif., adds a strong left foot at fullback.

How good does this make Schoolcraft? "There's a lot of quality on this team," said Dudek, "five or six allstaters. Injury-wise, we have to stay healthy. That's the key right how. Fortunately, we have depth in that we have players that can play more than one position."

A better time to ask Dudek just how good his squad is would be the end of October. By then, the Lady Ocelots will have traveled to New York for games against Monroe Community College in Rochester and Alfred State College in Alfred. Monroe CC won the NJCAA title in 1982 and was third last year.

ON OCT. 20-21, Schoolcraft will travel to Columbus, Ohio, for the Buckeye Tournament. The Lady Ocelots will be the only community college team in the 12-team field.

"I'll have a real good indication how good we are after that," said Dudek. "I'll get a good chance to make some changes after that."

His plans include unleashing the offense — "That was our weakness last year. We couldn't score goals."

The schedule also includes a very tough season and home opener against Michigan State Wednesday, Sept. 12. Game time is 5 p.m.

Schoolcraft will play a home-and-away series against MSU, University of Michigan, Oakland University, Central Michigan and Ferris State. All are club-level teams.

Sue Perguson, a 1983 All-Area star from Harrison, is one of the top guns on the new Schoolcraft womens' soccer team.

All her hard work finally paid off when she was able to share the revelry of watching one of the Olympics' newest sports debut in the 1984 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles.

Formerly a coach and still a judge at the high school and college level, Jones was selected to serve as a deck official at the Summer Games.

SHE COULDN'T have enjoyed her-

"It was an extravaganza," she said. "It was the most spectacular thing I've experienced in the last 20 years. I'm still trying to catch my breath."

Likening sychronized swimming to "the free excercise in gymnastics," Jones has watched it grow from an Olympic demonstration sport in 1946 to what it is today - a full-fledged Olympic event.

"It's the first time sychronized swimming has been officially recognized," she said. "We filled the stands. That's what we were hoping for."

Jones' job was to escort the swimmers (from all nations) to the pool just before they were to perform. She was the last person they saw before diving into their routines.

"IT WAS A supportive role," she said. "I tried to think of everything I could to give them (athletes) confidence.

The U.S. got outstanding performances from Tracy Rulz and Candie Costie, taking the gold medal in the duet competition. Ruiz also snatched the gold in the solo event.

Jones believes their effort, coupled with the excellent coverage ABC supplied, will lead to a boom in synchronized swimming in this country.

"The Olympics get so much coverage and they're so patriotic," she said. "It inspires parents to get their children involved. We expect a good growth in synchronized swimming in this country, especially at the grass roots level.

ONE OF SYNCHRO'S earliest leaders, Jones has been promoting the sport internationally since the 1940's.

As founder of the Lansing Sea Sprites, she produced two national champions. She also started the Michigan Aquarius Swim Club.

For eight years (1960-68), she coordinated a worldwide tour to educate countries on the sport, which included stops in England, Egypt and Japan.

The times were a little off, but the conditions were just perfect for the Racquets Unlimited Racing Team last weekend at the eighth annual Bobby Crim 10-Mile Road Race for Special Olympics in

The Livonia-based running contingent finished second in the team competition behind National Team Adidas.

More than 4,700 runners competed in the race won by England's Nick Rose, an Olympic 10,000-meter qualifier. He covered the course in 46:48, six seconds off the Crim record. South African Ashley Johnson was a distant second in 48:15.

Locally, Canton Township's Dave Hinz, who took 12th in the Olympic Marathon Trials, finished third overall in 48:19.

BUT THE BIG story was the strong finish turned in by Racquets Unlimited, which got a 12th place finish from Paul Baldwin (49:39), a 20th by Joe Caruso (50:20) and a 23rd by Orchard Lake's Ed Gra-

RU member Tony Mifsud of Allen Park gained third overall in the Master's division (40-49 years) in 52:07.

"I ran exactly the same (pace) and felt the same as I did last year," said Caruso, a Toledo, Ohio, resident whose best Crim effort is 49:20. "The big thing is the Crim is not what I point toward. It's hard for me to run a good time right now. I try to peak for October and September.

Caruso is aiming for the $10,000 Ultimate Runner test (a 100-meter dash, 400 mile 10K and Marathon all the in the same day) Saturday, Oct. 6. in Jackson.

Clint Eastwood is Detective Wes Block, who is hunting down a psychopathic killer in New Orleans in "Tightrope."

the movies

Greenberg

Fans of the genre will be in suspense with taut 'Tightrope'

"Tightrope" is tightly drawn although it loosens up from time to time and those slack moments detract from what is generally a pretty slick, tense cop-versus-psychopath story.

The film is well-done and exciting for those who like this genre, but viewers should have no illusions about what they're in for - two hours of explicit violence, nudity, obscenity and a wide variety of fairly explicit sexuality.

Clint Eastwood, worldwide box office champ and cynical hero of spaghetti westerns, returns with a Dirty Harry variation, the hardboiled, tough detective with family problems. His professional problems, and the film's quality, also shift, from fast-paced action to psychological tension.

Eastwood is Detective Wes Block, homicide inspector in charge of the New Orleans PD task force searching for a psychopathic sex-strangler who is terrorizing the French Quarter, its sleazy inhabitants and most of the rest of the town.

THE USUAL blast-through-to-victory Dirty Harry character is tempered by Detective Block's family problems. His wife left him with two daughters, Amanda (Alison Eastwood, Clint's 12-year-old daughter) and Penny (Jennifer Beck).

Further complicating the situation, Block becomes involved with the New Orleans Rape Center director, Beryl Thibodeaux (Genevieve Bujold), and entangled in his unusual sexual preferences that have developed since his wife left.

To complete the cast, ever-faithful at his side, Detective Molinari (Dan Hedaya), Block's assistant, follows up on all the unpleasant details of their homicide investigations.

While the sex and violence in "Tightrope" is quite graphic, the haracter and situation development isn't. That murky quality dilutes the impact "Tightrope" might otherwise have had.

Although Detective Molinari begins to doubt his boss, those doubts are never explicit nor do he and Block have personal conversations. Molinari's lines never allow him to develop character beyond the flat, "Yes, sir, No, sir" level.

EASTWOOD'S tight-lipped acting style is overdone to the detriment of his characterization. If he would stop trying to deliver every line as if it had been written by Ernest Hemingway for Humphrey Bogart, he might appear more human. But then the fans pay for heroics not humanity.

The girls in his life do a bit better in character development (excluding the sleazy ones), particularly his daughter Alison whose naturalistic portrayal of a young girl forced by circumstances to cook and care for her father and younger sister is well drawn.

Her younger sister, Penny, is cute, in the best screen tradition, and Genevieve Bujold projects considerable sensitivity as the Rape Center director who becomes personally involved.

Feminists might rightly complain that the delicate question of rape and training women to protect themselves is handled somewhat lightheartedly and in an indifferent manner not commensurate with the gravity of the issue.

"Tightrope" generally looks and sounds like psychological detective thrillers ought to, having been filmed entirely on location in New Orleans, often after dark. Thus, the mood and atmosphere match the murky, psychologically distorted character of subject and principals.

The soundtrack, with music by Lennie Niehaus, features a pleasant combination of New Orleans Dixieland and the old-time, soulful, dirty, barroom-saxophone sound. This completes the atmospheric quality that makes "Tightrope" a successful but violent de-

Early releases sold at winery

Oakland County is the home of Michigan's newest winery, the Seven Lakes Vineyards. Only a hefty stone's throw from Genessee County, the Holly winery opened this summer and is now beginning to market wines in suburban Detroit.

Winemaker and co-owner Chris Guest is also chief grape grower. It is with understandable pride that he walks his vineyard, showing off several acres of vignoles, seyval, aurora and de chaunac grapes that are in their third

"We wanted no part of the native American grape here, and we know we can't grow vinifera," Guest said, "though some neighbors have small plots of riesling and chardonnay." He has settled on growing well those hybrid grapes that tolerate North Oakland's bitter winters and frosty springs.

The early releases have all been whites and roses, of course. An excellent '83 vignoles has been sold out, but there are some small quantities of a fine white wine (aurora and vignoles) still available, as well as some of his early rose and apple wine efforts. The wines are chiefly sold at the winery, but if present plans from the '84 crush hold, there will be enough to send some to market next year.

SOON TO BE released is a most promising de chaunac, a red of some character that Guest (and I) prefer to baco and foch, the more traditional reds from the hybrid group. Tasted recently before final blending, the components were most promising.

Bottle costs are in the $4-$5.50

Here, without flying off to the Loire or Napa Valley, is a chance to see wine made. The size of the operation is part of its charm; it is small and self-contained. Visitors can see every operation in season, from grapes grown through harvest, crush, fermentation, storage, bottling and finishing. The winery is all under one roof adjacent to a pleasant tasting room.

Visitors are welcome 9 a.m. to 5 p.m during the week and on Sunday afternoon with advance notice. A call ahead at any time would be appreciated and would assure the presence of someone to conduct a mini-tour and a tasting or two. Get directions when you call (629-

A LATE JULY announcement was that the Bronte wine operation in southwestern Michigan has closed its doors. Long rumored, the event is significant in that it reflects our changing

The 55-year-old winery has persisted in continuing to market wines made from native grapes. This practice is increasingly in jeopardy as tastes in wine develop.

Bronte and others from the southwestern part of the state have been forced to compete with inexpensive bordeaux at $4 a bottle and California jugs at $6. As tastes develop in our population, and they assuredly have, the choice of a pink catawba vs. a white zinfandel is no contest.

Michigan's newer wineries, Mawby and Good Harbor, both in Leelanau County, have realized this and focus exclusively on hybrids which are very attractive when made well. Tabor Hill is even more diverse in its offerings, but it too eschews the native grapes.

The case is paralleled even clearer in New York and Ohio where, especially in New York, great strides are being made with vinifera whites.

It is also encouraging that bottles from the better Michigan hybrid-oriented wineries are increasingly available on wine shelves in southeastern Michigan.

Lots of food, fun at street booths

Following is a summary of the main booths that may be found along Main Street during the four days of the Plymouth Fall Festival. Included is information on how proceeds from each booth benefit organizations in the Plymouth-Canton community.

• OPTIMIST CLUB

The Plymouth Optimist Club has participated in the Plymouth Fall Festival for many years. The Optimists sell heliumfilled balloons, inflatable toys, and novelties at the festival. The Optimists sponsor the annual Fall Festival pet show on Saturday morning, a Girl Scout Troop, and an oratorical contest for boys and girls of middle school age.

COMMUNITY CHORUS

The Plymouth Community Chorus will begin its 11th year of involvement in the Fall Festival with a taco booth. In addition, the chorus will perform at 7:15 p.m. Friday and 3:30 p.m. Sunday. The Plymouth Community Chorus is made up of a membership of 130 from throughout southeastern Michigan. The chorus is directed by Mike Gross, who is in his seventh year as leader.

• MOOSE LODGE

The Plymouth-Canton Loyal Order of Moose No. 1190 will sell ice slush drinks in five flavors this year - the fourth year the Moose has participated in the festival. The Loyal Order of Moose is an international fraternal lodge, which is non-political and non-sectarian. It will observe its centennial anniversary in 1988. The Plymouth-Canton Moose has given money to the Goodfellows, Plymouth Youth Symphony, Children's Hospital of Michigan as well as Moose national

SALEM JUNIORS

Scrumptious baked potatoes with a variety of toppings will be served by the junior class of Plymouth Salem High School. Toppings include cheese, sour cream and bacon bits. Proceeds will be used to help pay for

• THEATRE GUILD

The Plymouth Theatre Guild has been participating in the Fall Festival for 20 years. This group began with a cotton candy machine. The wind would take the cotton candy through the park, and more would blow away than remain on the sticks. In 1967, the Theatre Guild bought a used con-cession trailer for the cotton candy machine, and that trailer has been in use since. The guild has added popcorn, pop and coffee to its cotton candy sales. The Plymouth Theatre Guild has been performing live theater in the Plymouth community for 29

GREEK ORTHODOX CHURCH

The Nativity of the Virgin Mary Greek Orthodox Church will, for the seventh consecutive year, sponsor a Greek pastries and shish-ke-bob booth at the Plymouth Fall Festival. The church uses money from the booth for its building fund and the Plym-

The junior class of Plymouth Canton High School will continue the tradition set by previous classes by serving Baskin-Robbins '31 Flavors" ice cream at the Fall Festival. While selling many of the 31 flavors, the booth also will sell ice cream bars. Money earned will be used to pay for junior class youth activites.

• PLYMOUTH FAMILY SERVICE

You can eat a pita burger, with or without cheese, again this year at the festival by stopping by the Plymouth Family Service booth. Plymouth Family Service, sponsored by the Plymouth Community Fund, provides individual marital and family counseling to residents. Fees are based on ability to pay. Proceeds from the Fall Festival will be suplement money from the Commu-nity Fund.

• CEP PERSPECTIVE

The CEP Perspective, the student news-paper at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park, will have a cookie booth at this year's festival. The students of this award-winning high school newspaper will bake cookies and sell iced tea and lemonade. The money raised will help pay for some training for students of the newspaper staff.

FAMILY YMCA

The Plymouth Community Family 'Y' has participated in the Fall Festival for a number of years. This year, it expects to sell 1,500 pounds of Italian sausage subs filled with green peppers and onions. The 'Y' also will sell pop, coffee and Y sport bags. Money raised will pay for the community programs offered through the 'Y.'

• SALEM SENIOR CLASS

The senior class of Plymouth Salem High School will sponsor the pizza booth at the festival — a tradition for more than several years. Money from the pizza sale will be used to pay for the youth activities of the class of 1985.

• NEW MORNING SCHOOL

A monster comes to Plymouth in the form of a book called "Peanut Butter Syrup." This book, a children's book written in Plymouth, will be sold by the New Morning School. The book is about growing up. New Morning School is a 12-year-old nonprofit, state certified, parent co-operative school for children in preschool through eighth grade.

The Centennial Educational Park National Honor Society is made up of students from Canton High School and Salem High School who excel in scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Again this year, the students will sell Italian ice during the festival. Last year, more than $1,000 was raised to provide scholarships for two members of the local NHS. The money also was used to provide each NHS member with a gold cord for graduation ceremonies.

Service clubs offer big meal fund-raisers

Each year at the Plymouth Fall Festival, the local service clubs feature a "main meal" for festival-goers.

This year's main meals will begin with the Plymouth Theater Guild's ham dinner on Thursday and will wrap up with Plymouth Rotary's chicken dinner on Sunday.

In between those events will be the Plymouth Lions Friday fish fry, the Plymouth Kiwanis pancake jubilee and the Plymouth Jaycees spaghetti dinner.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S kick-off dinner shold be a big production since it will be arranged by a group of people who are experts at big productions - the Plymouth Theatre Guild

The guild is a relative newcomer to the main meal scene but still has managed to make a name for itself. Taking on a project to feed the many first-night festival-goers is enough to give heartburn to a regimental mess sergeant, but the PTG manages to present a culinary treat with a maximum of

The script at the Thursday evening meal will read: sliced ham, a serving of potatoes, a pickle spear, bread with butter, and coffee or milk. The price is $3.50 per person. The performance will begin at 4:30 p.m. and run

The Friday feast will feature the Plymouth Lions Club Friday fish fry. The Lions will serve 2-9 p.m. The fish-'n-chips-style dinner will feature boneless fillets of orange roughy or ocean perch. Dinner will include fish, French fries and cole slaw at $3 per meal. Tickets are available at the

THE PLYMOUTH KIWANIS annual pancake jubilee will start off the Saturday main meals

Each year, the Plymouth Kiwanis Club sponsors the pancake breakfast and lunch on the Saturday of the festival. The meal will be served from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Price is $3.50 at the door. Children younger than 14 will be measured at the door and charged 50 cents per foot.

On Saturday night, the Plymouth Jaycees will tackle a new venture - a spaghetti dinner. The menu of spaghetti, salad and garlic bread will be served 4-9 p.m. for $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children 8 and younger. In other years, the Jaycees have

THE MEMBERS OF Plymouth Rotary will bring the festival to a close on Sunday,

The Rotarians have been cooking chicken dinners for the past 28 years, ever since the festival started as a community picnic in Hamilton Park. Twenty-eight years ago, Plymouth Rotary raised money for playground equiment for Hamilton Park. Today they raise funds for all kinds of community

The Plymouth Rotary Foundation has provided money to Plymouth Family Service, Easter Seals, Boy Scouts, student exchange programs, the Salvation Army, the Plymouth Symphony, the Rotary Swim Meet and for scholarships. In addition, the club has paid for the fountain in Kellogg Park, the double-decked bus, the pavilion (Gathering Place) and the Rotary School Farm.

This year, the Rotarians expect to serve 13,000 chicken dinners between noon and 6 p.m. Sunday. Price is $4 for the half a chicken, corn on the cob, potato chips, roll and butter, and coffee or milk.

All "main meals" will be served in The Gathering on the north end of Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth. Seat will be in Kellogg Park or under The Gathering on Penniman Avenue halfway between Main and Un-

The motor tourists will be enroute from the R.E. Olds Museum in Lansing to the Old Car Festival at Greenfield Village on Saturday, Sept. 8.

The paintings exhibited will include oils, water colors, acrylics, and pen-and-ink. The crafts include pottery, porcelain, stained glass, metal work, lampshades, hand-crafted furniture, toys and wood-inlay.

An additional room is being opened this year to allow space for 13 more artists, said Rosemarie Kramer, chairwoman of this year's show.

Antique mart benefits local orchestra

For the 22nd time the Plymouth Symphony Society this year will sponsor the Antique Mart for the Plymouth Fall Festival.

The Antique Mart will be from noon to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Sept. 7-8, and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday in the Plymouth Community Cultural Center, 525 Farmer at Theodore.

Admission is a donation of $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for senior citizens.

All proceeds benefit the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, and this is the largest single fundraising project that the Symphony League sponsors each year.

Some 20 dealers will display a wide variety of antiques and collectibles, including primitive furniture, golden oak furniture, caned and rush seat chairs, China, iron-stone, Heisey glass, Doultons, Hummels, American brass and copper, quilts, children's miniatures and toys, baskets, and country antiques accessories.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 6, the Symphony League will feature a special preview night of the Antique Mart. There also will be a blue ribbon antique auction that night. The preview night reception will require reservations and a $10 per person do-nation. For information on the preview call

The auction is new this year. Each dealer has agreed to donate an item to be auctioned to the highest bidder. Bidding will begin at 9 p.m.

Cindy Merrifield and Maret Garard, who select dealers for the show, say they have assembled an elite group of dealers to provide a wide variety of quality antiques.

Fife and fun

Throughout the Fall Festival weekend, various groups are highlighted during performances on Penniman Avenue. Among the favorites is the Plymouth

Fife and Drum Corps, shown here during last year's festivities. A complete listing of the performances can be found in the center of this section.
