Phone program cuts: a political whodunit

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Wayne County Tele-Care Services, a telephone reassurance program for senior citizens, has become a political hot potato.

A recent funding cut forced the program to go begging for money while politicians debate who is responsible for the cut. Among those bickering are supervisors in Plymouth and Canton townships.

To keep the program running, local units of government have been asked to foot the bill.

"They're dumping on the local communities," says Canton Supervisor James Poole.

Plymouth Township supervisor Maurice Breen calls it an "erosion" of the community's control over grant funding.

LATE LAST month a letter was sent to local governments from the Wayne County Office On Aging concerning funding for Tele-Care.

"It has been a very successful program for those citizens in your community who have limited mobility or are isolated in their homes for any number of reasons," wrote Frank Rembisz, Office on Aging director.

"Funding for Tele-Care workers has been provided through a variety of grant programs, one of which is the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program," he wrote.

"Recently we were advised that funding for the Tele-Care program would not be available this year.

"We realize how devastating this would be to the most vulnerable segment of our senior citizen population, the homebound elderly, and are therefore requesting communities to assist us in this matter," Rembisz wrote.

The program provides workers to call senior citizens on a daily basis to check on their health, medical needs, or other problems.

"We make over 100,000 phone calls a year," Rembisz told the Observer.

Besides providing seniors with a chance to discuss needs with someone on the "outside," the calls serve another purpose — signaling trouble in the event no one answers.

"We have had intervention situations where someone remained alive because of these calls — how do you put a value on that?" Rembisz said.

In Plymouth Township 29 people are serviced through the program while 59 Canton residents receive the calls.

IN RESPONSE to Rembisz' call for financial support Breen wrote to Wayne County Executive William Lucas. Rembisz' office falls under Lucas' authority, as does the Wayne County CDBG grant coordinator.

Breen cited a concern about the manner in which the county distributes the federal CDBG funds — namely, funding a county park project while cutting the Tele-Care program.

"These actions seem to be evidence of an effort on the part of Wayne County to pick and choose certain types of activities which garner public relations points but do not necessarily go to the fundamental problems of individual units of government taken as a whole," Breen wrote.

"I believe that there has been a significant erosion of the concept of local unit planning and utilizing these types of funds in the last two years, and it appears to me that it is the intent of those directly involved in the administration of these programs to continue such an erosion," he wrote.

The county park project calls for installing restroom plumbing at Elizabeth Park in Trenton, and will cost about $100,000.

Lucas responded to Breen's letter last week.

"I wish to assure you that no change in policy has been initiated, nor is one contemplated," the county executive wrote.

Lucas explained the park project is being funded through the Emergency Jobs Bill portion of the CDBG program.

"Statutory requirements preclude the county from rebudgeting Emergency Jobs Bill funds to anything but public works projects, as the bill was a 'jobs creation' piece of legislation.

"As the Tele-Care program is a public service program, it is not eligible for jobs bill funding," Lucas wrote.

BUT WHAT about the decision to cut Tele-Care funding?

Here's where the political potato heats up.

Depending on which story is taken is where the blame for the decision ends up.

Rembisz explains the funding cut this way.

"Tele-Care workers use to be funded through the federal CETA program (Comprehensive Employment Training Act)," he says.

"In 1983 we lost our CETA funding and we looked around for another way to fund the program. One possibility was through the CDBG program. That's the way we went and we got our $35,000," Rembisz said.

"Then we were told that the county's CDBG funding had been cut from $500,000 to $200,000 and the innovative programs, which we were under, were being cut," he said.

Assuming a $300,000 cut in the county's CDBG allocation, the resulting decision to cut Tele-Care was made by the Mayor's and Supervisor's Advisory Council, according to Mike Conway, a Lucas spokesman.

"The communities make those decisions," Conway said. "The county just administers the CDBG program, the communities make all the decisions as to what's funded."

The only link to the county administration would be "a recommendation to cut the program by the county staff," Conway said, "but the communities make the final decision."

Yet, Breen and others say the Tele-Care question never was brought before the advisory council.

THE SECOND story goes like this. Tele-Care initially was funded by CETA, according to David Plawecki, Lucas' executive assistant.

When the CETA program was replaced with the JOPTA program (Job Opportunities Partnership Training Act), federal guidelines no longer allowed for funding programs such as Tele-Care.

The burden for the phone call program went to the Out-county Area Agency on Aging, which is under the Conference of Western Wayne run by Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, Plawecki said.

That agency was started several years ago because of western Wayne County's dislike for the way the Wayne County Office on Aging was handling things.

Plawecki said the out-county agency is responsible for cutting the program because it only allocated $7,500 for its operation.

REGARDLESS OF where the funding cut came from, the bottom line is a happy ending for those depending on the service.

Plymouth and Canton townships, along with several other communities, are going to pick up the tab for their calls until another source of funding is secured.

A grant application has been filed with the Service to the Aging office for state money. Terry Carroll, grant coordinator for Canton and Plymouth townships, believes the program will receive funding from that agency at the beginning of next year.

Until then, he said, both townships have agreed to bridge the financial gap.

Police consultant firms make bid for city study

By Gary M. Cates

The search for a firm to conduct the city of Plymouth's police study may be completed sometime this week, officials indicated.

Mayor David Pugh announced earlier this month the city would hire a consultant to evaluate the department. At that time, Pugh said the city would seek "someone who is qualified to prepare the study."

As of Friday, the search was narrowed to three firms, according to City Manager Henry Graper.

"I should have all of the proposals by Department prepares to swear in 3 police officers

Wednesday," Graper said. "I hope to take a recommendation to the City Commission during the first meeting of October."

Of the three firms under consideration, two are major accounting firms with consulting divisions — Arthur Young & Co., and Touche Ross & Co. Both firms have offices in Detroit.

The third firm being considered is Bartell & Bartell of Pennsylvania, a police consulting firm. Bartell & Bartell currently is performing a police study for Canton Township. IN PRELIMINARY discussions with the firms, Graper has learned the study may cost more than expected.

Original estimates pegged costs between $2,500 and $4,000, but Graper now puts the figure between $10,000 and $20,000.

"Between $10,000 and $20,000 is not without reason," he said. "The company is coming in and putting its name on it and its reputation is on the line."

Graper, who worked as a consultant in the 1960s, said he based his original estimate on past figures. "Also, we have not had a study of this nature done since I've been here, so I wasn't aware how much they cost now," he said.

Even at the higher cost, Graper believes the study is a bargain.

"That's only 1 percent of the department's total budget of $1,164,000 — that should be budgeted every year."

Once a company is selected, Graper will ask for the study to be completed in 30 days with results available in November.

Plymouth Township, which contracts for police service from the city, is conducting a similar study and anticipates receiving a report in mid-November.

Both units of government are expected to decide the fate of the $460,000-a-year, shared-service contract after the studies are completed. Among the possibilities are the launching of a township department or a police authority to serve both communities.

IN OTHER police business, the City Commission will be asked to approve the purchase of a computer system for the department.

The administration is preparing a proposal for the next commission meeting.

Besides maintaining police records, Graper said a police computer would assist in future department evaluations.

"Once we get a computer we will be able to generate a lot of statistical data to help in future reports," he said. "Right now we are having to pay for someone to sift through all the records."

County takes on sewer battle

By Gary M. Cates

All hopes of saving a 75 percent federal funding for Son of Supersewer now hinge on Wayne County's attempt to obtain a federal court injunction.

Plymouth and Canton townships have backed away from their attempt to win a Wayne County Circuit Court injunction to prevent the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) from disbursing money to other projects within the state.

Although a show-cause hearing on the townships' motion for an injunction was scheduled for Friday morning, the circuit court proceedings were postponed until Friday, Oct. 5, according to Brian James, Plymouth Township attorney.

In view of the delay, James told the Observer Friday that the townships would back off their effort to obtain the injunction.

EARLIER THIS month the EPA announced 1984 grant funding would be available for the $120 million project, formally titled the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley Wastewater System.

Planners and participants hoped to receive some $31 million this year from the EPA to start the suburban sewer and sewage treatment plant project. Timing is critical because after 1984, all EPA funding drops to a maximum of 55 percent. Projects started this year, however, would be "grandfathered" and can continue receiving 75 percent funding through completion.

A drop in federal funding to 55 percent most likely would shove the local share past the financial reach of the 17 participant communities, which also include Livonia, Redford, Westland and Garden City.

Son of Supersewer is supposed to increase sewer capacity for all 17 communities and, at the same time, correct pollution problems in the existing Rouge Valley system.

EPA officials refused to certify project plans — a required step in obtaining grant money — because the pollution problems aren't addressed, according to Charles Sutfin, regional EPA water director.

Also of concern is the lack of certification that the Detroit Water and Sewerage Treatment Plant can handle the increased sewage, Sutfin said.

PLYMOUTH AND Canton townships sought to stop the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) from sending EPA money to other projects below Son of Supersewer on the state's funding priority list.

The townships believe a lawsuit they filed in regard to the project should be settled before the EPA decides not to fund the project.

Widower dies working in yard

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

Claude Eaton, 72, a well-liked, well-known widower who seldom had an open date on his calendar, died Thursday at his Canton home.

Funeral services were held at 9 a.m. this morning at Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth with burial at Riverside Cemetery.

The Detroit-born Eaton, who lived alone, was doing yard work on his tractor Thursday afternoon when he apparently began experiencing heart pain and walked over to a chair to rest.

A newspaper carrier finishing his route about 5:15 p.m. became concerned after seeing Eaton seated under a tree, his tractor still running a ways off in the field, and a shovel left in the ground. Neighbors he alerted flagged down a passing police officer, who called for emergency help.

Eaton, who in a phone conversation just that morning had told his daughter, Nancy, he felt "pretty good," was pronounced dead at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center of cardiopulmonary failure.

THE MOOD at Canton's senior center — a gathering place for many of Eaton's friends — was somber Friday.

"He was a grand fellow. He liked everyone, and everyone liked him," said Canton's Claude Truesdell, 77, who befriended Eaton and his late wife, Doris, when they were newlyweds.

"He always had something to say to everyone. He always had a big smile. We used to get around to dinners and races quite a bit together with our wives," added Truesdell, one of Eaton's fellow Country Kitchen Band members.

"We're all going to miss him."
Eaton's only surviving child, Nancy, a 1958

Plymouth High School graduate now living in California, said her dad talked Thursday about driving out West to visit her.

"He even had it in his diary," she said Friday in a phone interview from her dad's home.

Nancy Eaton grew up in the two-story farmhouse, once the site of her grandfather's (Perry Campbell) 120-acre Jersey Belle Dairy and farm on Canton Center Road between Joy and Warren roads.

"I shouldn't admit it, but he puts me to shame in housekeeping. I take my hat off to him," said Ms. Eaton.

"He was always a yard lover. He picked up bushes, trees, and flowers and transplanted them into what was originally a cornfield.

"He enjoyed pruning his trees, cutting his grass and playing his banjo.

"HE PURSUED all those things with extreme gusto. He wouldn't take a backseat to anyone," added Ms. Eaton.

That was no secret to her dad's associates. Since retiring from his milkman's job 10 years ago, Eaton filled his days strumming his ukulele and banjo, rehearsing and performing with the Kitchen Band, and playing volleyball, softball and golf.

He was a member and past president of the Pioneers senior citizen club and participated on a township-sponsored senior advisory committee. An avid photographer, Eaton collected milk cans, driftwood, saddles, harnesses, and other artifacts from his early farm and dairy days.

Among his latest acquisitions was an honorary plaque bestowed by the Automobile Club of Michigan recognizing 50 years' membership.

Eaton is survived by his daughter, sisters Maude Masterson of Birmingham, Ella Mae Wray of Ypsilanti, Dora Reeves of Ypsilanti, and a brother, Edward Eaton, of Ypsilanti. A son, Raymond, predeceased him.

The family asks that memorial contributions be made to the Michigan Heart Association.

'The Flossie Fest' — a heartwarming fete

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

WITH THE Detroit Tigers only outs away from clinching the American League East Tuesday, a radiant Flossie Tonda was savoring a triumph all her own at Canton's Roman Forum Restaurant.

And plenty of Tiger fans were present — people who opted not to miss "The Flossie Fest," even if the rest of metro-Detroit was delirious with pennant fever.

Nearly 100 school and governmental officials, school district and municipal employees, librarians, business people, orthodontists, firefighters, homemakers, neighbors and friends turned out to honor Tonda who, after eight years, is retiring from the Plymouth Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

Tonda, Plymouth-Canton's ubiquitous community leader, founded the Plymouth-Canton Community Clothing Bank for needy families and has served as a Canton Township Planning Commissioner and Canton Country Festival board president. Named Canton Business and Professional Outstanding Woman of the Year in 1983, Tonda has chaired the school district's safety committee and served as board secretary. She's been active with the Wayne County Association of School Boards, Michigan Association of Nursing Home Councils, Dion Nursing Home Council, Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation, Canton Community Advisory Committee and Plymouth-Canton Campfire Girls.

ROBERT PADGET, Canton Township trustee and the evening's emcee, said the night actually belonged to Tony Tonda, Flossie's husband.

"He's the one we're here for. He's had to put up with all this stuff. So this is your night, Tony," said Padget, adding that the "Flossie Fest" was an idea spawned by Canton Fire Marshal Art Winkel during the Canton Country Festival.

Dignitaries ranging from Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, to Canton Supervisor James Poole were acknowledged after a seafood/New York strip dinner and before each took a turn at the dais.

A grateful Sen. Geake said, "I just want to tell you how pleased we (in the State Legislature) are that Flossie's never run against us."

"She has worked so hard, volunteered so much time, and knows so many people — there's no doubt she'd be our senator right now had she run," joked Geake.

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, said, "I've learned you have to call Flossie Tonda before 7:30 a.m. if you want to catch her at home. And there's no such thing as going over to Flossie's house for just five minutes. You stay for a couple hours."

Deborah O'Connor — Canton library director who organized the Flossie Fest along with Art and Shirley Winkel, Shirley Slezak, and John and Mary Schwartz — spoke on behalf of Canton's Chamber of Commerce.

"When we have problems that call for a big bad businessman to go to bat for the Chamber, we send Flossie," said O'Connor.

BART BERG, president of Canton's Historical Society, thanked Tonda for "lending her hand and helping virtually every organization that's ever existed in Canton." He presented her with a picture of Tonda's favorite school house, framed with 130-year-old wood from a Canton farm.

Canton library board member Mary Feltz thanked Tonda for "her dedication and contributions to education, which have spilled over into the Canton Public Library." The Flossie Tonda Service Award is being established to recognize those who, like Flossie, give unselfishly to others in their community, she said.

Plymouth Canton Community Schools superintendent Dr. John Hoben figures his nearly 10-year association with Tonda is to blame for "the few grey hairs she has, and for a few I've lost."

Added Hoben: Often, after tediously discussing something for two hours and hearing a seeming consensus, the words "yeah, but" could be heard as trustees turned their heads toward Tonda.

Flossie's cheerful attitude, fair treatment and steadfast dedication "have left an indelible mark on our children," the superintendent said.

CAPT. WINKEL — the man who each year secures the manure spreader upon which the Cow Chip Queen reigns in the Canton Country Festival parade — presented Tonda with a scrapbook of congratulatory letters from state and local officials and well-wishers, newspaper clippings and photographs.

Dr. Jim Gillig credited Tonda with taking an active role as a citizen actor, doer and representative in a sometimes apathetic atmosphere "longer than most of us have been in Canton."

It was Flossie's turn to take the floor.

"Nobody knows what it's like until it happens to you — to have all your friends around you in one room . . . You know it took each one of you to be supportive of me to accomplish what I set out to do and to fulfill my dreams. Dr. Hoben, if you hadn't gotten the money to pay for the lights and heat, and if the people in the community hadn't provided clothing, I couldn't have had my clothing bank."

"I enjoy living in this township so much. I enjoy knowing the people. You'll never forget them, because they won't let you. And I mean that in a good way. Thanks for coming," said Tonda, no longer able to hold back the tears.

A poised Padget closed with a poem. Condensed, it went: "Your task is to build a better world," said God. I answered, 'But how can I? The world is so big, and I am so small and useless. 'God said, 'Just build a better you.'"

Bill Bresler

At the end of the Flossie Fest, the crowd of nearly 100 people gave her a standing ovation. Attorney Larry Schendel gives Flossie a congratulatory hug.

Flossie and her husband Tony listen to one of many presenters, John Schwartz, past president of the Canton Township Chamber of Commerce.

Tom Yack reminiscences with Flossie about their years of service together on the Board of Education for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

New fresh fish venture charts new waters

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

People from the east coast who followed the original Pilgrim's trail west, and left their favorite seafood dishes behind, needn't yearn for their favorite dishes any longer.

Thanks to Alan and Priscilla Toth, Plymouth now has an open fish market with these jewels of the ocean waters shipped in fresh every week.

This unusual market is located at the Farmer's Market which opens each Saturday morning at The Gathering, on the Pennington Avenue side of Kellogg Park.

The Toths moved in a short time ago and plan to have the best that the ocean fishermen can provide, even to the famous fish found off the shores of New Zealand.

Under the plan this fish market is the first to be licensed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture to sell on that basis. Under present plans, the Toths operate at the Farmer's Market and then Saturday afternoon after the market closes move to the lot next to Pennington's Deli (formerly Johnny's Market) on Pennington Avenue west of Main.

THE TOTHs ARE no strangers to ocean-going fishermen. Mrs. Toth's parents live in Maine and know many of the hardy souls who ply the Atlantic in search of lobsters.

Mrs. Toth grew up in that atmosphere and with her husband they have made contact with the fishermen who truck in fresh seafood and sell direct to the public.

The Toths have arranged to have the fish brought in from Boston or Maine each weekend, and each delivery will have the best of the lobsters and other popular ocean fish.

Under the premise that the public in the Plymouth community will be interested in the tasty "jewels" from the Atlantic, the Toths are hopeful that they will dispose of a truckload each Saturday.

The complete listing of the ocean catch will not be known until the trucks arrive. But the order will include the catch of the previous day.

Any one who ever has travelled up the rockbound coast to Massachusetts and Maine no doubt has noticed the countless number of lobster pots bouncing around in the Atlantic. From now on many of these catches will be available in Plymouth.

THE TOTHs ARE busy persons aside from operating the fish market. Toth is a former member and chairman of the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners. He owns and operates his own window-washing company in Ann Arbor.

Aside from cleaning windows, Toth sells fish three times a week in Ann Arbor. He is looking forward to adding to the business with sales from the Farmer's Market in Plymouth Saturday mornings and next to the Pennington Deli Saturday afternoons.

Mrs. Toth is a social worker and is working in that position on a part-time basis. But, with her New England background, she is no stranger to the members of the finny tribe and the lobsters which have been popular throughout the years. With the Plymouth community as an up and coming place the Toths decided to open a market here and are confident they will be able to satisfy those who have had a yearning for ocean seafood but couldn't find it this far removed from the ocean.

Rally for disabled at capitol

"Community Placement: A Decade of Progress" is the theme of a rally to be held in Lansing on Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in front of the state Capitol.

Approximately 2,000 people are expected to attend the event which is being held to mark the first decade of community placement in Michigan for persons with developmental disabilities.

The rally is sponsored by the Awareness Communication Team for the Developmentally Disabled, in conjunction with the Michigan Residential Care Association.

Invited to speak at the rally are Gov. Blanchard,

Supersewer fate in county's hands

"The likelihood of us enjoining the funds would be slim," James said.

"Our chances are 1 in 50,000. The only way you really could enjoin the funds is if the EPA simply refused to fund an otherwise fundable project.

"But because this project is so pathetically under-planned it doesn't look real good at being able to tie up the funds," he said.

Because Wayne County is the grant applicant, James said it would be best for the county to fight the battle. He believes the townships' actions have "bought some time" for the county to prepare its legal battle.

"In the event we went into federal court, first of all I would have to convince the court I am not a crazy man.

"The judge would look at it and say, 'I got a federal agency, a state, a county, and 17 communities and this is the only community complaining.' I don't know if they would even listen to us," James said.

"It makes sense to have the county file since it is the grant applicant," he said.

LAST WEEK Assistant County Executive Jamal Akhtar said the county would seek an injunction in U.S. District Court.

Akhtar said the county executive's office had authorized the lawsuit and plans were to file sometime this week.

"This action comes on the heels of an EPA decision which effectively denies funding for the northern arm of Supersewer, a $139 million project expected to generate approximately 3,000 jobs," he said.

Portraying Plymouth photographers of the past

(Part I)

One of the disappointments of historical research is to arrive at a place to find that material which could have been of value to your work has just been destroyed.

That happened to me in the spring of 1967 when I was collecting photos for the first edition of my pictorial book, "Pictures of Plymouth, Past and Present."

I was visiting Romeo Wood, a photographer in Plymouth for almost 50 years. I had been told that Mr. Wood had a valuable collection of old negatives of photographs taken in the community throughout the years. I asked him if I could see some of them.

"You should have arrived last week," he said, "That's when I rounded up all of my old plates. I took them out to the back yard and broke them all up." Wood had destroyed 50 years accumulation of photos on glass negatives because he "needed the space they were taking up."

Wood, too, had his own share of disappointments.

One of them concerned a motion picture he made about 1908, the year he arrived in Plymouth. The movie showed a parade down Main Street and other scenes of local interest. Embellished with advertisements of commercial establishments, the film was shown at the Opera House in the second story of the Old Village Hall.

Romey said he donated the original print of the film to the village and told the recipient to store it in a dry, cool place. When he visited Village Hall a few weeks later, he discovered the film had been stored in a heated place and was no longer of any use.

WHEN WOOD first came to Plymouth he opened a studio over the E.L. Riggs Store on Main Street next to the ramp that leads to the new parking deck.

Wood also worked in the plant on Hamilton Street when Hamilton .22-caliber rifles were made. "I ran a past and present

swedging press," he told me.

When I talked to Mr. Wood in April 1967, he had his studio in his home, a venerable house on Ann Arbor Trail opposite the present location of the Christian Science Church. "This house is over 100 years old," he said. "The Plymouth Mail had a picture of it not long ago."

Wood, who must have been nearing 80 when I visited him, continued to operate the studio from his home almost to the time of his death. When I arrived, on a warm, misty spring morning 17 years ago, he was taking a portrait of a baby. He used a huge, big-bellows camera the like of which I had never seen.

While Romey adjusted the lens, and the mother tried to get the baby to smile, I talked to Mrs. Wood about Plymouth of the past. Among other things I learned that she was a cousin of Gilbert Brown, Plymouth's first village manager. She told me he left Plymouth to go to Lansing and was succeeded as village manager here by Sidney Strong. Mrs. Wood also brought out a copy of a 1901 issue of the Plymouth Mail which she let me borrow.

To say I was disappointed to learn that Wood's 50-year accumulation had been destroyed would be a great understatement. But I did manage to find five historical photos among his remaining negatives. They included the bank photos on page 27 of my pictorial history, and the picture of the Plymouth band and the bandshell that once stood at the junction of Church Street and Ann Arbor Trail (see page 21). Romey said he took the band photo in 1909. I ordered prints made of each of the photos.

ROMEO WOOD was not, of course, the first photographer in Plymouth.

The earliest I have any information was on Ed Baker. His studio was in a white frame building on Main Street where Church Street was later cut through. The Edison Co. built a brick building on the site.

Baker, who was in business here in the 1890s and for some time before, was the cousin of Chauncey Baker, the postmaster here during Grover Cleveland's administration.

Norma Cassady, Chauncey's daughter, (now approaching 92) recalls that when she was a girl Ed Baker sold prints of photos at one cent each. She has one of the photos, showing four school girls, which Baker took at the turn of the century.

Other local photographers, of whom I know little except that their names appear on the back of photos taken many years ago, include: James R. Hamilton, W.H. Palmer and Mrs. Ruth M. Price.

Hamilton took the photo of the bandsmen shown on page 18 of my pictorial history. Palmer did the one of the three baseball players on page 36. Mrs. Price, whose rubber stamp indicated that she was a "landscape artist," did one of a hotel near the railroad tracks.

Many photos of Plymouth taken right after the turn of the century were by C.G. Draper. Draper, who opened an optical and jewelry store on Main Street in 1893, also sold cameras. He was never a professional photographer but some of his photos of Plymouth as it once looked are priceless. His daughter, Mrs. Winifred Draper Carney, mother of Dr. James Carney, the local optometrist, loaned me a number of Draper's negatives from which I had prints made. Among them are the firemen's water battle pictures on page 32 of my book. I believe he also took the photos at the top of page 6.

The coach of champions recalled

Life can take some very peculiar turns and none was more peculiar than that of the late Clarence Hoffman whose daughter, Lois Hoffman McAllister, has just been honored with a place in the Detroit Bowling Hall of fame.

Years ago, when The Stroller moved to what was then Livonia Township, Hoffman was the operator of a grocery store and meat market on Plymouth Road.

He was popular and had worked up a fine business, but with all of this he was headed for an unusual turn. He spent his evenings as a bowler and competed in a league that bowled in what is now the stroller

W.W. Edgar

the Meeting House in Plymouth.

Came an evening when he didn't bowl too well. And on the way home he and a neighbor got to talking about the poor scores they had registered and blamed it all on the lanes.

Finally, they agreed to have lanes of their own, and in a short time the Livonia Lanes were built with eight lanes. Hoffman gave up his market to take over the operation of the lanes and planned to give instructions out here in the "country."

It was something new for him, but he was a stickler and he left no stone unturned to master the game to the point that he could give lessons.

IT WAS a bold move. But if he were alive today there would be no prouder man than him when he would see his daughter enshrined in the Hall of Fame. He would be proud, too, that she is the third champion that he produced in his private little bowling school.

Most famous of the lot is Mary Mohacs who just won the international singles championships — the first world title she ever has won. She has been the Detroit Bowling Queen seven times, and Hoffman's son, Pal, was a member of the DeLuxe Tool and Die team that won the city and state championships. And with them Lois kept pace as a member of the famed Gears by Enterprise team that brought the first national title to Detroit.

So in his little school Hoffman, the one time butcher, developed three champions. And there are few teachers who can claim such a record.

With this trio of outstanding students he decided he had enough. In failing health he finally sold Livonia Lanes to spend his time in retirement.

But his work carries on. He was one of the starters of the after-school leagues and the junior circuits that now are so popular.

He also started the parks and recreation league in Livonia and that league is prospering.

It is too bad that his life wasn't spared to see the results of his teaching. But when Lois steps to the center stage and accepts her Hall of Fame plaque you can bet that his spirit will be hovering about the room.

It is a fitting honor, too, for the man who gave up a grocery store and turned his attention to operating a bowling center that was then "way out in the country."

Opinions are to be shared

Opinions and ideas are most fertile when shared with others. That's why the Plymouth Observer encourages its readers to share their views with others by making use of the From Our Readers column.

Great Menus For Today's Lifestyles

Whether it's a picnic in the park, luncheon on the terrace, or a backyard barbecue, Americans young and old are in love with eating out-of-doors on the balmy days of summer and early fall. Here are featured distinctive menus for those sunny days or indoor dining year-round.

Barbecued Alaska Salmon† Potatoes Roasted In Coals† Mixed Green Salad Fresh Fruit

A special treat for the barbecue is salmon from Alaska. And there's good news that this premium fish is now in good supply. Whole, dressed salmon, averaging 3 to 5 pounds, will offer a good value for consumers and they will be more widely available fresh or frozen nationwide.

Grilled to perfection over glowing coals, Alaska salmon is a grand selection for your next outdoor festivity. For a larger group, grill a whole fish or have it filleted. You can fillet the fish yourself following the basic directions shown here. For small groups, you may wish to purchase salmon steaks or individual fillets.

Suggested here is a recipe for a buttery basting sauce that is an ideal complement to the moist and tender flesh. Just remember not to let salmon overcook. It is ready to enjoy when the flesh flakes when tested with a fork; a general rule is to cook it 10 minutes per inch of thickness measured at the thickest part.

You can prepare the hot foods on the barbecue when you serve Potatoes Roasted In Coals. Wrapped in foil and roasted, all-purpose Russet potatoes from Washington State are served with a zesty salsa topping, a tasty addition to this alfresco feast. Washington State Russet potatoes cook up moist and fluffy due to their high solids content and are the ideal year-round baking potato.

Barbecued Alaska Salmon

- 2 whole (about 1-1/2 lb. each) Alaska salmon fillets
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 4 teaspoons grated onion
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1/2 teaspoon bottled hot pepper sauce
- Oil

Rinse salmon fillets and pat dry. Sprinkle each fillet with salt and pepper. Combine remaining ingredients except oil; brush fillets with butter mixture. Place each fillet, skin-side down, on a sheet of well-oiled heavy-duty aluminum foil*; place on grill over hot coals. Cover barbecue or make a tent of foil to cover each fillet. Barbecue 10 minutes per inch of thickness measured at its thickest part or until salmon flakes easily when tested with a fork. Baste frequently with butter mixture. Makes about 12 servings. Recipe can be halved.

Potatoes Roasted In Coals

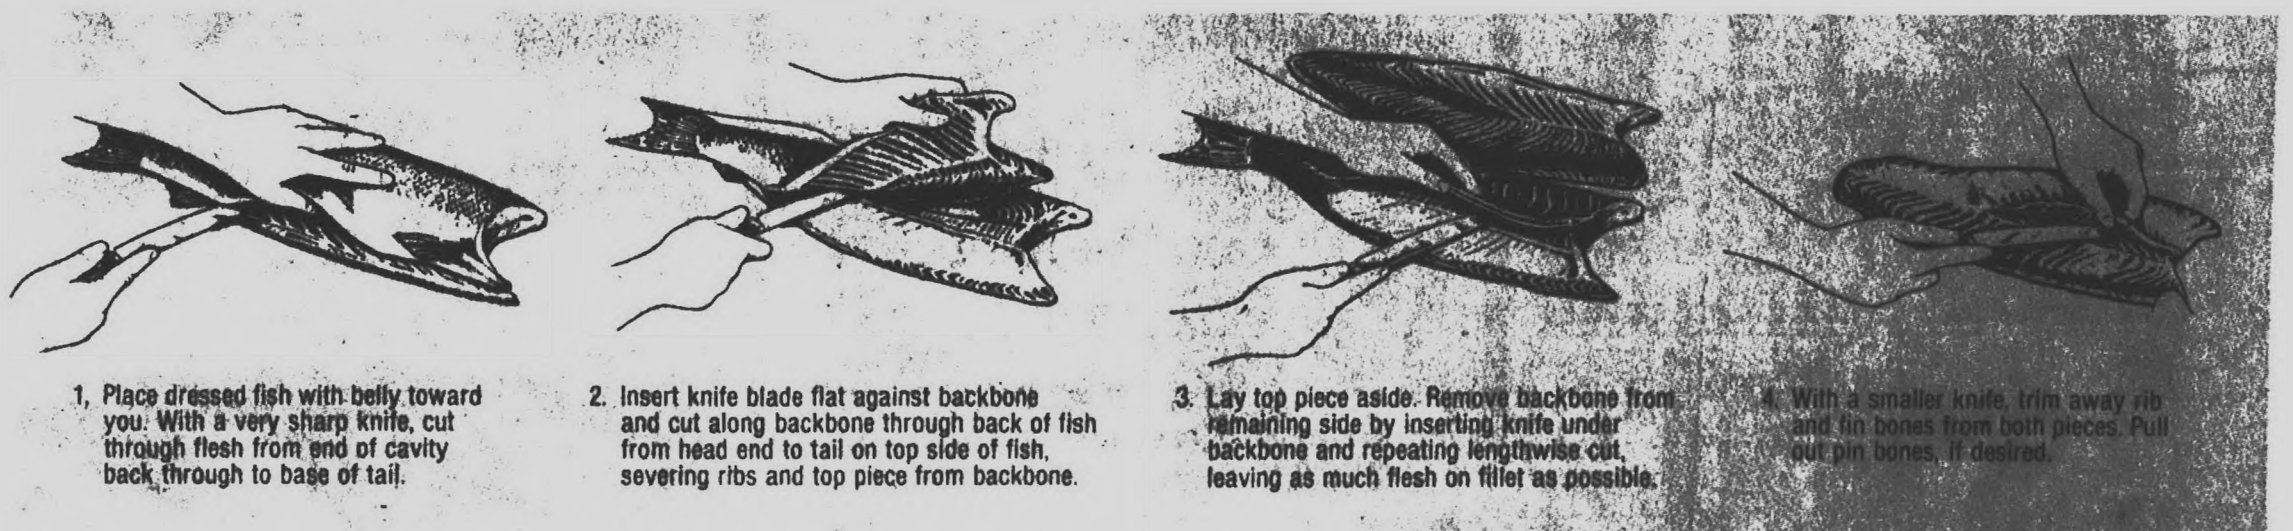

- 6 (about 10 oz. each) Washington Russet potatoes
- Oil
- Salsa

Scrub potatoes; rub with oil. Pierce several times with fork. Individually wrap potatoes in oiled heavy-duty aluminum foil*; seal securely. Place directly on hot coals; cook about 1 hour or until tender, turning every 15 minutes. Remove potatoes from foil. Cut or pierce tops of potatoes lengthwise; squeeze ends and push toward center to open. Spoon about 1/3 cup Salsa into each potato. Makes 6 servings. Recipe can be doubled.

Salsa: Combine 1-1/2 cups chopped tomato, 1/2 cup each chopped onion, chopped cucumber and diced green chilies, 1 tablespoon each chopped green onion and olive oil, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 3/4 teaspoon garlic salt, 1/4 teaspoon crushed oregano and dash pepper. Makes 2-1/4 cups.

Tip: Top Salsa-filled potatoes with dairy sour cream or plain yogurt.

*Double layer of regular aluminum foil can be substituted.

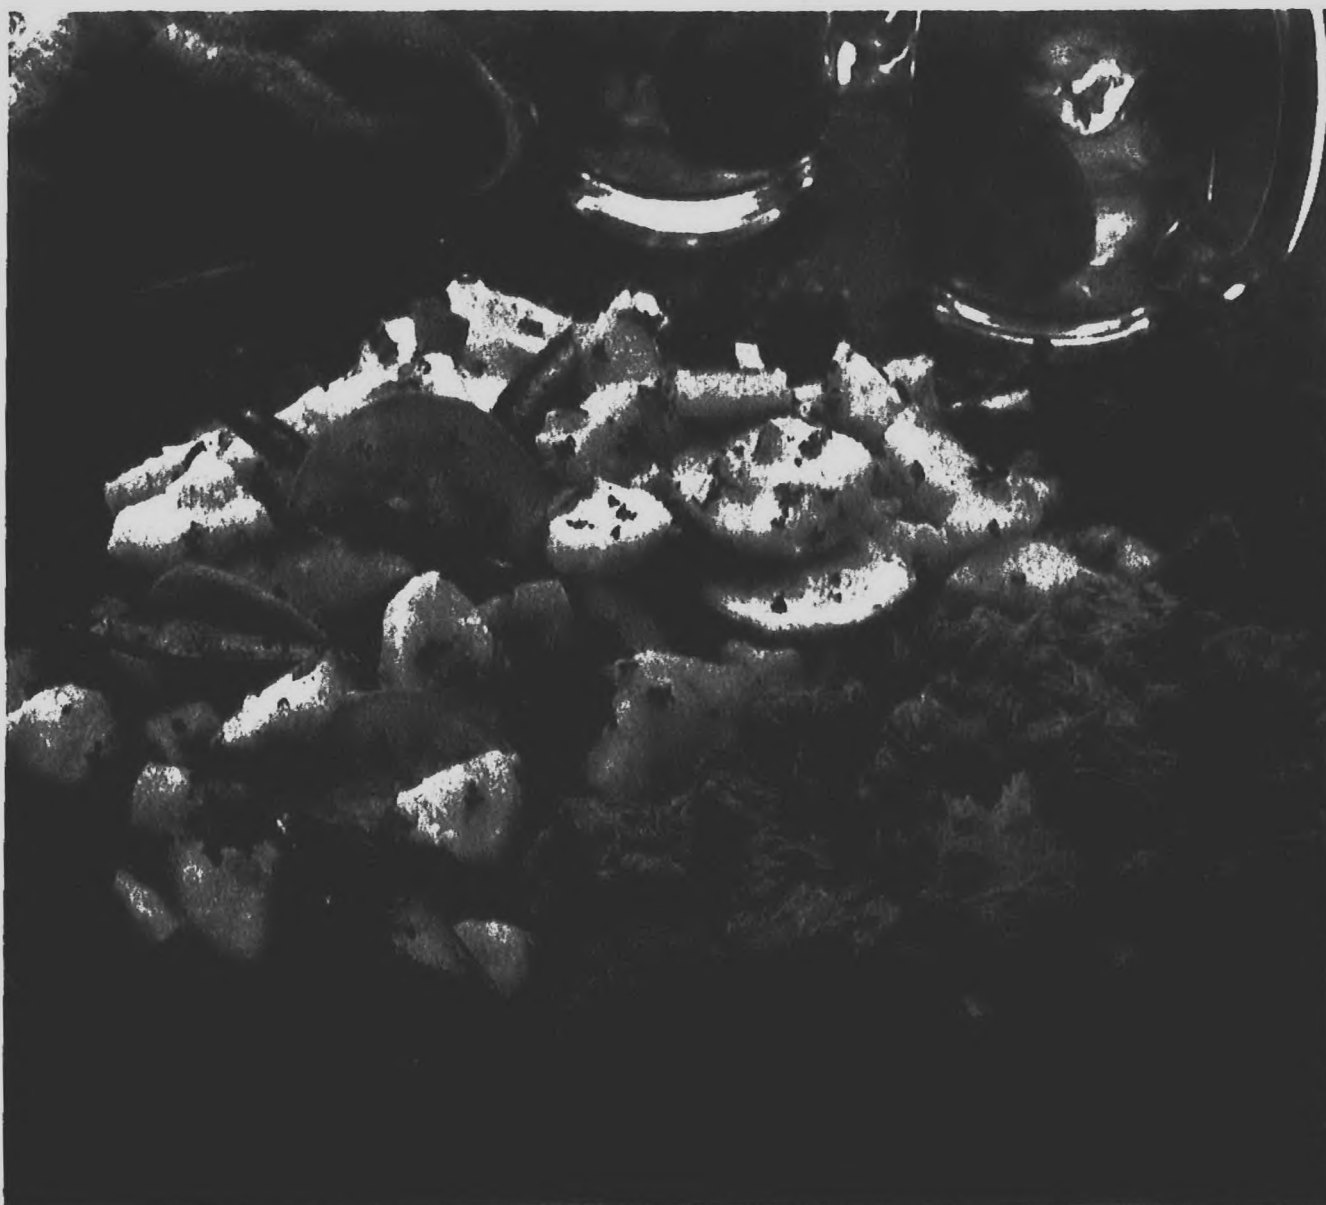

1. Place dressed fish with belly toward you. With a very sharp knife, cut through flesh from end of cavity back through to base of tail.

2. Insert knife blade flat against backbone and cut along backbone through back of fish from head end to tail on top side of fish, severing ribs and top piece from backbone.

3. Lay top piece aside. Remove backbone from remaining side by inserting knife under backbone and repeating lengthwise cut, leaving as much flesh on fillet as possible.

4. With a smaller knife, trim away rib and fin bones from both pieces. Pull out pin bones, if desired.

Salad Supper

This menu is equally at home served to honor the sunset on your own patio or throughout the year indoors as a prime example of today's lighter approach to foods. In Salmon Vegetable Potato Salad, chunks of rich, moist canned salmon accompany a fresh vegetable-laden potato salad marinated in tangy Caraway Dressing. Select the best vegetables from your garden or supermarket. Washington State Russet potatoes offer pleasing contrast in texture and their ability to absorb the dressing intensifies this harmonious blending of flavors.

Salmon Vegetable Potato Salad† French Rolls and Butter

- Ice Cream with Seasonal Fruit
- Chocolate Brownie Fingers
- Iced Tea

Alaska canned salmon is an unbeatable choice for a wide variety of tasteful recipes that can be prepared in minimal time. Wonderful right from the can, Alaska canned salmon combines with other ingredients in appetizers, soups, sandwiches and entrees. It's always ready to serve and may be found in a variety of can sizes to meet every need... 3-3/4 ounce, 7-1/2 ounce, 7-3/4 ounce and 15-1/2 ounce cans.

Salmon Vegetable Potato Salad

- 1 pound warm, cooked Washington Russet potatoes
- Caraway Dressing
- 1 cup each cut sugar snap peas, thinly sliced yellow squash and sliced, quartered cucumber
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons each minced green onion and parsley
- Salt and pepper
- 1 can (15-1/2 oz.) salmon, chilled
- Lettuce

Peel potatoes; slice 1/4-inch thick. Marinate in 1/2 cup Caraway Dressing; cool at room temperature. Add sugar snaps, squash, cucumber, celery, green onion and parsley. Salt and pepper to taste. Chill if desired. Drain salmon; break into chunks. Arrange on lettuce-lined platter with potato mixture. Drizzle remaining Caraway Dressing on salmon. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Caraway Dressing: Combine 1/2 cup olive oil or oil, 1/3 cup white wine vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon each sugar, salt and chopped or crushed caraway seeds and dash pepper; mix well. Makes about 1 cup.

Variation: One cup Chinese pea pods, blanched peas, sliced zucchini, sliced carrots, broccoli flowerets, cherry tomatoes, olives, sliced green beans or green or red pepper strips can be substituted for sugar snap peas, yellow squash and/or cucumber.

To Boil Potatoes: Scrub potatoes. Add potatoes to 1-inch boiling, salted water; return to boil. Simmer, covered, 20 to 30 minutes or until tender. Drain thoroughly.

To Bake Potatoes: Scrub potatoes; rub lightly with oil. Pierce several times with fork. Bake at 400° F. 50 to 60 minutes or until tender.

This BBQ sauce is just 'a little something' for 25

I love picnics, but my favorites are held in back yards, not necessarily mine.

During the summer, Anita and I traveled to Carmel, N.Y., just west of Danbury, Conn., to enjoy a Fourth of July picnic in her son's back yard.

Tony took charge of the barbecue and had two grills going faster than it takes me to get one hot. I prepared the barbecue sauce and was pressed to get it ready before 10 pounds of pork ribs were cooked.

The barbecue sauce was a little something I threw together, sort of a composite of several recipes. We basted the pork just slightly and the ribs turned out juicier than usual. There was enough sauce to go around for about 25 people.

Did we eat. There was chicken, plus hot dogs and hamburgers. My daughter-in-law, Mikie, made macaroni and potato salads, a neighbor prepared another and I came up with the fourth. The neighbor also brought over two pans of baked large shells filled with three Italian cheeses. There was baked beans, too.

We forgot about the corn, but made up for it. The neighbor's husband showed off his electric ice cream maker and we had vanilla. The topper: chilled, sweet watermelon.

That wasn't all. We piled into two cars for a short trip to Lake Carmel and watched the traditional town fireworks display. When we returned, we had coffee and homemade yellow walnut bundt cake, compliments of the neighbor.

I love away-from-home back yard outings, partly because when you're a guest you're not expected to help clean up after the picnic is over. I didn't disappoint.

BARBECUE SAUCE FOR 25

- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 1/2 cups ketchup
- 1 cup chili sauce
- 1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 cup beer
- 1/4 cup deli mustard
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 3 tbsp. brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp. each garlic salt
- 1/2 crushed red pepper
- black pepper and paprika

In medium saucepan, saute onion in hot oil until limp. Off heat, add rest of ingredients, stirring. Cook sauce on medium heat 5 minutes; reduce to medium low and cook 10 minutes, occasionally stirring. Keep warm on low heat.

Taste Sweden at Westin

Tired of hamburgers, quiche and salad for lunch? Try the international Swedish favorite Lax Pudding, a layer of salmon, potatoes, onions and dill baked in egg and cream and served with melted butter.

This salmon dish will be one of several selections from Sweden's finest culinary creations headlining the menu during the third Swedish Foods Festival, in conjunction with Swedish Heritage Week, Friday, Sept. 28 through Tuesday, Oct. 9, at The Summit restaurant in the Westin Hotel.

All dishes will be made from fresh food ingredients flown in from Sweden via SAS airlines.

"This festival has been tremendously successful in the past and its popularity increases each time we host this event," said Uwe Christiansen, director of food and beverage for the Westin. "We will prepare the most popular entrees from past festivals, and we have added several new items to the menu, ranging from appetizers to desserts."

Swedish chef, Per Nilsson, returning as guest chef for the third time, will work with Westin chefs in the preparation of the Swedish dishes. Per Nilsson trained under the celebrated master, Tore Wretman, culinary adviser to the Royal Court of Sweden and founder of the Swedish Gastronomic Society.

Combine yogurt and cucumber for cool and nutritious snack

Cool and nutritious describes this spoonable snack made with yogurt and cucumber.

The beauty of yogurt is that it supplies important vitamins and minerals, protein and calcium.

In addition to having all the nutrients of milk, yogurt contains bacteria that is extremely kind to the digestive tract.

Cucumbers are in fact a fruit, which are widely available and low in calories. Ancients felt that cucumbers had a cosmetic value and incorporated them into facial soaps.

The only cosmetics exhibited here are the decorative cucumber slices in each different garnish. Enjoy this Cool As A Cucumber Yogurt in one of its many styles.

- w-fat vanilla yogurt
- 1 cup shredded cucumber
- 1/4 cup shredded carrot
- 1/4 cup chopped radishes
- Cucumber slices for garnish

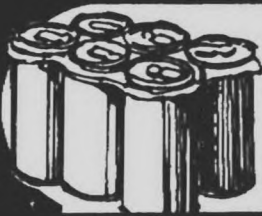

1. In saucepan, sprinkle gelatine over juice to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly until gelatine is dissolved.

2. In medium bowl, gradually stir juice mixture into yogurt; fold in remaining ingredients except cucumber slices.

"Irreconcilable Differences" opens Friday, Sept. 28, at Detroit-area theaters.

Supposedly it is legally possible to divorce one's parents, in six states including California and Indiana. Whether or not that is, in fact, legally sound, it is the premise upon which "Irreconcilable Differences" is successfully based.

The partially autobiographical story was written by Nancy Meyers and Charles Shyer, the writer-producer team of "Private Benjamin" fame. "Differences" is Shyer's directorial debut. He has a deft touch and will delight most audiences with his humorous, emotional depiction of the demise of a presumably happy, contemporary American family.

As the story goes, 10-year-old Casey Brodsky (Drew Barrymore) sues her parents for divorce, telling the judge that she loves them both but "... if I'm not going to be totally nuts when I grow up, I'd better get out of this family while I still have a chance." She's probably wiser than most 10-year-olds (thank goodness) but it makes a good story.

Her touching, emotional line to the judge has humorous overtones, partially because Drew is a cute, accomplished young actress. But her words set the poignant tone for this story.

THE MOVIE IS a series of flashbacks from the courtroom telling how the Brodsky family came to this sorry state. The plot is smoothly constructed and, thankfully for those who've had enough of courtroom dramas, the flashbacks become the film while the courtroom sequences are background signposts to keep things moving along.

The Brodsky tale begins in the early '70s as Albert, the father-to-be (Ryan O'Neal), is hitch-hiking to California to begin teaching film history at UCLA. Lucy Van Patten (Shelley Long), a would-be writer and soon-to-be Brodsky, picks him up. The rest is history.

Albert, the film instructor, meets noted Hollywood producer David Kessler (Sam Wanamaker), who is so impressed with Albert's knowledge that he gives Albert a chance to direct. Naturally, the film is a big hit. Of course, Lucy becomes a best-selling novelist.

You really ought to go see how success spoils the Brodskys because the way the story is told and acted takes the relatively mundane plot and turns it into a touching, enjoyable film with credible characters.

Albert and Lucy's characters develop from young innocents newly arrived in Hollywood to flourishing, typical middle-aged Hollywood types. O'Neal and Long realistically portray four significant stages with sufficient emotion that the audience is convinced and moved.

The film is extremely well-mounted by producers Alex Winitsky and Arlene Sellers ("The Seven Percent Solution," "House Calls," "Scandalous" and "Swing Shift"). Cinematographer is William A. Fraker ("Heaven Can Wait," "Looking for Mr. Goodbar," "1941" and "War Games").

HIGHLY REGARDED French composers Paul de Senneville and Olivier Toussaint have captured the era with the look and sound of the times including songs by Frank Sinatra and James

Tender story tells of family breakup

Taylor, as well as the right images well-photographed. What could be more appropriate for this milieu than a young film instructor wooing his girl in a motel room while they watch an old Cary Grant film with a dubbed Spanish soundtrack. His impassioned translation catches just the right note, and the girl as well.

"Irreconcilable Differences" touched me emotionally in ways that "Kramer vs. Kramer," "Ordinary People" and "Terms of Endearment" did not. The maudlin, self-indulgence of those very popular domestic dramas somehow seemed out of touch with humanity, although the films may very well have been in touch with the self-centered interests of the time.

Ryan O'Neal is Albert Brodsky, and Shelley Long is his wife, Lucy Van Patten Brodsky. Their love is threatened by their successful careers in "Irreconcilable Differences."

WEDNESDAY will be your last chance — for quite some time — to acquire a work of art from the Art Rental Gallery. The Plymouth Community Arts Council gallery on the second floor of Dunning-Hough Library on Main Street will be closed throughout the month of October.

Therese Gall says she hopes it will reopen Wednesday, Nov. 7, but that date is not definite at this time. Normally, the rental gallery is open Wednesdays during library hours. And, normally, arts council members, who work a shift at the gallery, are fairly busy.

Residents and business people regularly take advantage of the originals and reproductions in the gallery collection to spruce up their homes or offices. Therese said business has been slow of late. Most people seemed to think the gallery was closed because of the expansion work going on at the library.

The off-and-on gallery closing schedule has been due to problems that must tax Librarian Pat Thomas' patience. The carpeting arrived — but it was two separate dye lots — things like that. Once the new wing is open, workmen will begin renovating the workroom and the area at the foot of the stairs. With construction going on, it would be dangerous and impractical to try to use the stairway to the gallery.

KAY MICALLEF of Canton Township sent a suggestion to Omnicom Cablevision. In response, Omnicom had a suggestion for Kay — if she thought a crafts show would be of interest to area viewers, how about doing one?

As a result, Kay's first "Come Craft with Me" show will be taped Oct. 6. She admits to some nervousness about her first television appearance, but she thinks it will be of interest.

"I'm going to do the first half-hour show by myself. I'll introduce what's coming, the guest artisans and their crafts, then demonstrate some simple, fun crafts."

She hopes to have something for everyone — Scout leaders, senior citizens, dedicated and would-be crafters. She'll feature a local expert on each program. Demonstrations will include stenciling, basketry, quilting, counted cross stitch, making band boxes and many more.

"Sometimes the viewer may work along on a project, but not always. At least, they'll be able to decide if they they would like to try something and then go on from there, with more instruction."

Kay works for Barb and Chuck Avery at Useful Uniques in Old Village, so she has contacts with the crafts people.

MARY CHILDS performed 182 marriage ceremonies during terms as mayor of the city of Plymouth — sometimes as many as three in a single day. There have been occasions when she has wondered about the longevity of these marriages. Especially after meeting one of her bridegrooms and being informed that he was no longer a married man.

She was quite happy last week when she was invited to meet one of her couples for lunch. The gentleman, who issued the invitation said it was a surprise for his wife on their fourth wedding anniversary.

SAM HUDSON, columnist, author, historian and inveterate golfer, made his first hole-in-one Saturday, Sept. 15.

He was playing the Woodland course at Fox Hills with Chuck Heiney, Duke Morrow and Pete Hjimeyar. Sam used a seven-iron on the 150-foot, third hole. It landed on the green and rolled into the cup.

I was wondering if Sam could be referred to as an inveterate, itinerant golfer. He always walks and pulls his golf cart. If the term is correct, then Dr. Charles Westover would be the inveterate, itinerant golfer of them all. At 80, he still plays 18 holes and walks the entire course.

PARTY BRIDGE players are back in action at the Plymouth Cultural Center after the annual Fall Festival recess. Frances Peters' 6,350 points were high Thursday, Sept. 13. Louella Cook was second with 5,940.

Last Thursday, Dorothy Shaffer came in first and Carl Peters second. There were 10 tables in play. Actually, 41 players showed up. C.E. and Louella Cook took turns playing to even things up.

Kevin Fielman, in tux, with apple, plays the Snake.

Drama group readies dinner-theater show

The drama and culinary arts departments at the Centennial Educational Park will present a dinner-theater, Saturday, Oct. 1, at Plymouth Salem High School.

The drama department will perform "The Apple Tree," the musical that gave Alan Alda and Barbara Harris their big breaks on Broadway.

The culinary arts department will prepare the prime rib dinner, everything "from soup to nuts," with (what else?) apple pie for dessert.

Only 160 tickets, at $10 per person, are available for the dinner and play.

Tickets now are on sale at the general office of Plymouth Salem High School. Deadline for purchase is Monday, Oct. 1. For reservation information, call Gloria Logan, 451-6243.

Admission to the show only is $4. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door.

THE DRAMA department was invited to perform at the Michigan Theatre Association convention. Productions will be presented by Eastern Michigan University, a musical group, a civic theater group, a professional theater group, a dance company and the CEP drama department, the only high school students asked to participate.

They will present "The Apple Tree" at the convention.

The musical has four actors. Eric

Holland is Adam, Jennifer Scott is Eve, Ed Bellaire plays the role of God, and T. Kevin Fielman wears a tuxedo in the part of the serpent.

GLORIA LOGAN will direct and produce the musical.

Vocal director is Laura Wiener. She replaces Betty Weideman, who retired in June.

Pianist Brian Belden is conductor. The drama department lost its long-time conductor when Carl Battishill moved to the position of band director for the West Bloomfield Schools. Belden, who is Gloria Logan's brother, will write the musical arrangements.

Jim Kaiser, veteran of many CEP drama productions, will handle sound.

The dinner-theatre will be a first for the drama department.

DR. WEISS
More On Back Pain - Mid Back Pain
Little has been written on mid-back complaints: the aching you have felt between your shoulder blades. Such discomfort, unlike neck or low back pain, rarely is caused by conditions involving the back bones themselves.
Most mid-back aches are the result of strain on the scapula (shoulder blade) muscles. The scapula is anchored by muscles that connect to the mid-back vertebrae; strain on the scapula places tension on these anchoring muscles. It is this tension that you feel as a mid-back ache.
Another cause for such discomfort is fibrositis. In this instance, "trigger points" — areas of irritation under the skin — cause radiation of pain across the mid-back region and up the neck.
How are mid-back conditions treated? If the cause is muscle strain, the treatment is: improved posture. Standing erect with the ears even with the clavicle (collar bone) throws the scapulae back into proper relationship with the ribs and relieves strain on scapular muscle attachments. If the diagnosis is fibrositis, then medication, heat, and injection of trigger points, usually brings relief.

Salem loses OT field goal and game

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The referee on the goal line signaled that the kick was good.

The Livonia Bentley football players fell to the ground as if a bomb had been dropped. Some began to cry.

It looked for the world as if Plymouth Salem had defeated the home town Bulldogs in the first overtime period Friday night, 10-7.

But wait. The other referee, the one that lined up behind the kicker, signaled that the kick was no good — off to the right.

The Bulldog players leaped to their feet — new life. The Salem players were enraged. Coach Tom Moshimer raced onto the field demanding an explanation.

"The referee at the goal line said he was just signaling that the ball was high enough. How come he signaled with both arms? It looked good from where I was," Moshimer said.

Bentley made good use of its second life.

SALEM GOT the ball first in the second overtime series. (In high school football, each team gets a series of four downs starting at the 10-yard line. They play until a winner is determined.) On fourth down at the six, kicker Mark Dixon came on to try a 22-yard field goal. He missed this one without controversy.

Then Bentley took over. Coach Steve Naumcheff, with one of the best place-kickers in the area on his sidelines, decided not to waste any time. He sent Chad Darke out to win the game, and the senior responded by nailing the 28-yarder dead-center.

Final score — for real this time — Bentley 10, Salem 7.

"We felt we had a chance to outplay them tonight and we did," Naumcheff said. "And let me tell you, it feels so nice."

About the controversy?
"There were flags all over the field

'They just outplayed us. They played well and they deserved to win.'

— Tom Moshimer
Salem coach

tonight. We had two touchdowns called back. I don't think either coach can bitch," he said.

After it was all said and done, Moshimer agreed with Naumcheff on one point: "They just outplayed us," Moshimer said of Bentley. "They played well and they deserved to win."

Yeah, but what about the call on Dixon's first field goal?

"The official said it was no good and that's what we have to live with," he said.

NEITHER TEAM seemed eager to win the game. The first half ended in a 0-0 tie, although Bentley had a 43-yard touchdown pass from Pat Schneider on Al Young called back because of a holding penalty.

Darke also attempted a 60-yard field goal. It wound up 10-yards short.

Salem wasted a golden opportunity in the first minutes of the game. Pat Walsh recovered a fumble at the Bentley 28. The Rock offense gave the ball back three plays later as Dave Quinlivan picked off a Steve Sobditch pass.

Bentley finally broke the drought in its first possession of the second half. Actually, they scored twice in the drive. The first one, a 27-yard TD run by Young, was called back because of a clip.

But, the Bulldogs kept charging. On the first play after the penalty, Schneider hit Young on a 21-yard strike to move the ball to the 16. Next play, Young ran it 12 yards to the 4. Two plays later, Marty Altounian scored from the 1. Darke's point after made it 7-0.

By the way, don't feel too sorry for Young. Although the speedy back got two TDs called back, he still gained 105 yards in 21 carries. Salem gained just 104 yards on the ground total.

SALEM GAINED just four first downs in the second half, three of them in their final drive.

"We mistook ourselves to death," Moshimer said. "Every time we got something going we made a penalty or something."

The Rocks got a big break with 1:41 left in the game. Bentley, in a punt situation, snapped the ball over Darke's head. Salem recovered at the 39.

Sobditch hit Craig Morton, then Steve Potoczak with passes good for 28 yards. A penalty moved the ball to the

8. With 39 seconds left, Morton made a spectacular diving catch in the end zone for the tying score.

"When I turned around, the ball was already coming. I thought he (Sobditch) threw it too soon," Morton said.

Morton, who was single covered most of the game, was open on several occasions, but the ball never got to him. Twice passes were overthrown, and twice Bentley defenders recovered to bat the ball away.

Salem won the coin flip in the first overtime and elected to go on defense. Sobditch intercepted Schneider's pass to end Bentley's first possession — it was Sobditch's second interception. He also made several key tackles from his cornerback position.

Schneider, on the night, completed 8 of 23 passes for 103 yards.

The Bentley win was their second in a row by 10-7 scores.

"If that's a lucky charm, I'll take it," Naumcheff said. "They can all be 10-7 as long as we have the 10."

Bentley is 2-1, Salem 1-2.

Charger rally blunts Chiefs

It took brilliant performances by Chris Phifer and John Stoitsiadis to twice rally Livonia Churchill from two touchdown deficits to a 37-31 triple-overtime victory Friday at Plymouth Canton.

The game-winning play was an 8-yard pass from Stoitsiadis to Scott Papich in the third overtime. Stoitsiadis' fourth TD toss of the night. But the quarterback missed the extra point kick, leaving Canton a chance in its turn with the ball.

The Chiefs offense couldn't convert. Two running plays came up short of the end zone, and Phifer picked off Canton quarterback David Knapp's third-down pass to ensure the win.

Phifer had the best game a Churchill receiver has ever enjoyed. The fleet end latched onto 10 of Stoitsiadis' passes (a school record) for 197 yards (another school record) and 3 touchdowns.

Phifer was at his best in the final minute of regulation. Churchill trailed 28-21 and had the ball at their own 40. A penalty and 2 Phifer receptions on out patterns moved the ball to the Canton 30. With 30 seconds left, Phifer faked an out and ran a post pattern, hauling in Stoitsiadis' pass for the score.

THE EXTRA point kick tied it, forcing the overtimes. Neither team scored in the first extra session. In the second, Dave Liuzzo booted a 33-yard field goal for Canton, but Churchill tied it on football

Stoitsiadis' 26-yard kick.

Canton broke on top quickly in the game, scoring on a 25-yard pass from Knapp to Tony Alken in the first quarter and on Knapp's 69-yard run early in the second. Liuzzo nailed both placements for a 14-0 lead.

But Churchill came right back on Stoitsiadis' 3-yard run and 2-point conversion plunge and his 4-yard scoring pass to Phifer. Stoitsiadis' kick made it 15-14 Churchill at the half.

Canton again stormed ahead with two third-quarter TDs. Knapp hit Alken with another 25-yard scoring strike, and Jeff Rummel pounced on a Stoitsiadis fumble in the end zone, giving the Chiefs a 28-15 lead.

Stoitsiadis set up the dramatic finish by connecting with Phifer on a 39-yard pass play early in the fourth period.

Stoitsiadis hit 18 of 47 passes for 346 yards, with only one interception. Phifer had two interceptions to go with his 10 receptions. Knapp connected on six of 10 passes for 65 yards, but suffered 4 interceptions.

Both teams are now 1-2 for the season.

Salem's Steve Moran (No. 5) and Stevenson's Chris Wiegel entangle in the Rocks' 5-1 loss Thursday.

Spartans' top Rocks, Northville is stunned

The Plymouth Salem soccer team went into Thursday's clash with No. 1-ranked Livonia Stevenson with high hopes.

After all, the Rocks were undefeated and playing solid soccer. Stevenson, on the other hand, had appeared nonchalant, uninspired in winning its first seven matches.

The Spartans, Salem hoped, were ripe for an upset.

Maybe some other time. The Spartans scored three quick first-half goals to dash Salem's high hopes and went on to a 5-1 victory.

Chris Wiegel, Chris Gembsi and Johnny Gelmsi scored early to rev up the Spartan machine. In the second half, Gelmsi and Stefan Mitchov added goals.

Salem got its lone marker in the second half from Dave Dameron.

Stevenson was in total command of the game, outshooting Salem 17-3.

The Rocks are now 4-1, the Spartans, 8-0.

NORTHVILLE 3, LIV. FRANKLIN 3: How's this for a shocker?

Tom Wagnits goal late in the game earned the 1-4-1 Patriots a tie with state-ranked Northville. Gerry McWilliams, who set up the tying goal, and Jeff Hayes scored the other two Franklin goals.

"That was the best 90 minutes a Livonia Franklin soccer team has played since we've been here," said a happy Pat coach Doug Marks.

Northville got goals from Joe MacKle, Rich Gird and Doug May.

Rock swimmers reign supreme

Plymouth Salem swim coach Chuck Olson had a problem prior to the season. He had an overabundance of freestylers. What was he going to do with them all?

He found out Thursday night.

With the score deadlocked going into the final event, the Salem freestylers took first and second in the 400-yard freestyle relay to give the Rocks a thrilling 91-81 win against rival Plymouth Canton.

"We knew it was going to be a very difficult meet," said Olson. "Their (Canton) girls swam a really good meet. They just ran out of freestylers in the last event. I was fortunate to have saved enough freestylers."

Kristal Taylor, Laura Shaffer, Tracy Meszaros and Karen Dalte won the final relay in 4:01.1. Erin Boughtin, Teresa Shaffer, Ellen Foley and Michelle Barr followed them in at 4:23.0.

CANTON TOOK first in nine of 11 events. Margaret Gilligan, Ginnie Johnson and Lynn Massey each won two events for the Chiefs.

Gilligan won the 200 freestyle in 2:06.0 and the 500 free in 5:41.8. Johnson won the 200 individual medley (2:23.2) and the 100 butterfly (1:02.0). Massey captured the 50 free (25.8) and the 100 free (57.5).

The Chiefs also got a first from Michelle Stackpole (1:09.0) in the 100 backstroke, and a first from the 200 medley relay — Kelly Kirk, Sue Schendel, Johnson and Massey — in 2:01.3.

Canton's Megan McGow won the diving competition with 173.4 points. Salem's Cory Silver was second with 168.75.

So, how did the Rocks win? With depth. Salem took second in all but one event and third in eight of 11. Laura Shaffer took seconds in the 200 free (2:06.5) and the 100 butterfly (1:06.3). Meszaros was second in the 200

IM (2:27.8) and the 500 free (5:59.4).

Taylor grabbed a second in the 100 free (57.7) and Cindy Elliott was second in the 50 free (27.2) for Salem. Salem was second in the medley relay (2:06.9) as well.

It was the first meet of the season for Canton. Salem is now 2-0.

Young Rock golf team begins to find groove

Buoyed by a strong performance in the 13th annual Plymouth Best Ball Tournament at Brae Burn last Tuesday, the Plymouth Salem golf team captured its first two dual meets of the season.

The Rocks finished in a tie for fourth place with Ann Arbor Huron in the prestigious 28-team tournament — its best finish in recent memory.

Salem's A team, Mike Granger and Jeff Speaks, combined on a third-best round of 60.

Walled Lake Central, led by the record-setting performance of Dave Smith and Greg Davies, won the tournament. Smith and Davies shot a six-under 64. Defending champ Livonia Stevenson finished a disappointing 19th. Plymouth Canton placed eighth.

Macomb runners outleg Schoolcraft

It wasn't all that surprising, the winning Schoolcraft College's cross country teams took Thursday at the hands of Macomb Community College.
Schoolcraft is just starting to build its program. Macomb is built as solidly as an Egyptian pyramid.

The Lady Ocelots did not crack the top five finishers, losing by a 15-48 count. The Schoolcraft men fared a bit better, falling by a 21-34 margin. Both meets were run at Schoolcraft.

"They went 1-5 on us, which I kind of expected," said Schoolcraft coach Mike Krafchuk of Macomb's women's team, ranked second in the NJCAA. "We've got a ways to go, but we're coming. We're headed in the right direction. We're showing some good times."

ANGIE MOGIELSKI, a Redford Union graduate, led the Macomb women across the finish line in 18:36. Schoolcraft's top female finisher was Carol Kuptz in sixth (20:16). Janell Sheets was ninth (20:56), Kristin Olenzek (from Livonia Stevenson) was 10th (21:36), Cathy Koski (from Redford Union) took 12th (23:40) and Kathie Stephens placed 13th (25:30).

Speaks (40) again paced the Rocks.

Pete Mormon (42) and Carl Mitroff (43) led the Chiefs.

"I was not real pleased with our performance," said Salem golf coach Rick Wilson. "But I was real pleased with our showing at the Best Ball tourney. The kids played outstanding."

Salem returned to Brae Burn on Wednesday and nipped Northville 212-214 to raise its record to 2-4 overall, 2-2 in the Western Lakes.

Dan Hutko and Bob Schwandner each shot 41s to pace the Rocks. Speaks shot 42, Granger and Doug Soho carded 44s.

"The thing I'm most pleased with," Wilson said, "is that we are playing all young kids. I don't have a senior. I've got one junior (Speaks), four sophomores and a freshman. Our future, you might say, looks good."

The Rocks will take on Livonia Churchill Monday at Hilltop.
