Swartzwelter tapped for school board seat

Dean Swartzwelter

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has appointed Dean Swartzwelter of Plymouth Township to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Treasurer Thomas Yack of Canton.

The board, in a special meeting held Thursday at 5 p.m., also elected trustee E.J. McClendon to fill the post of treasurer of the board.

Swartzwelter was appointed by a vote of 4-2. He was among five persons under consideration for the position.

Others considered included Stephen Harper of Plymouth Township, Joan Kotcher of Canton, Richard Sumpter of Canton and David Kennedy of Plymouth Township.

Sumpter ran for the board this past June while Kotcher is past president of the Plymouth-Canton Association for the Academically Talented. Swartzwelter also is an active member of the PCAAT.

HARPER'S NAME was placed in nomination first but his appointment was voted down, 3-2 with one abstention. Harper is a former trustee and board treasurer.

Swartzwelter will fill out Yack's term until the next board election in June 1985.

Several trustees said they sought a person who had run for election to the board and who had experience.

Following his appointment, Swartzwelter told the board, "I will work with you and cooperate in every way I can." He indicated that he would seek election to his appointed seat in June.

Swartzwelter ran for the school board last June when he collected 1,241 votes, finishing third behind winners Nancy Quinn and Les Walker. He also was a candidate in 1979.

A resident since 1977, Swartzwelter is married with three children — two graduates of Plymouth Canton High and one still a student here.

He earned a bachelor of science degree in accounting from Drake University, entered the U.S. Army and graduated from the U.S. Army Finance School before serving overseas. He served on the school district budget committee in 1981.

The book's not closed on library budget battle

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

If you can't judge a book by its cover, then you shouldn't judge a library by its building — especially Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library.

Simply judging by the 6,000-square-foot addition to the Plymouth library, everything appears to be going well for the literary landmark. But such is not the case.

Plaguing this institution is a budget battle between the supporting governments of Plymouth and Plymouth Township which could lead to the formation of a library authority.

Librarian Pat Thomas' recent trip to the township for 1985 funding brought the bitterness to the surface — once again.

"I guess my problem with the budgetary process is that the budget is always drawn up and we're asked to match some figure," said Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

"That budget is presented to the supervisor before it is given to me," said City Manager Henry Graper.

"I think it's a matter of the township reviewing and understanding what the library does. We'll have no problem when they do that," said Graper.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE Smith Horton has asked for discussion of a library authority at the next board meeting. Breen expects the matter to be referred to the township administration for a recommendation.

Such discussions have taken place before, and the township was reluctant to put an authority on the ballot, Graper said.

"We've already gone on record saying we would go ahead with an authority. We can do it by resolution," Graper said. "We're very much in favor of it."

"A library district must be looked at because it gives the township representation on the library board."

The two communities currently share the costs for the library. Both units have agreed to split the debt obligations for the 6,000-square-foot addition, while there is an informal agreement to split the operational costs.

A library district would fund costs on a per capita basis, Graper said.

CURRENTLY THE library's budget is drawn up by the city-elected library board, not to be confused with the appointed library commission consisting of representatives from the city and township. The commission is an advisory body to the board.

One of the problems with the shared library arrangement is that the governments have different fiscal years — the city from July to June and the township from January to December.

Thomas came to the township board last week with a request for $158,000 for 1985. Supposedly, the city already had agreed to that level of funding during the summer.

Breen recommended the township agree to $147,000 instead, which was approved after attempts to meet the library board's request failed.

"The library budget has just about doubled since 1983," Breen said. "I just thought you might as well start low and work your way up."

Of the $147,000 approved, some $26,700 goes for the addition and $120,300 for operating costs — almost $12,000 below the requested amount.

BREEN CLAIMS the budget troubles are a reflection of a philosophical con-flikt between the township and city.

"You have to define the mission of the library, and the mission defines the financing," he said.

"There is the idea that the library is an extension of the schools and therefore should buy books for the tutorial subjects.

"The other idea is that the library is for the general public since the schools have their own mission. This is the idea I subscribe to because I don't need someone at the library to teach children to read — that's the schools' job."

"I believe we should use general fund money to support a library for the general public. It's not an issue of right and wrong, but there are differences of opinion and that's why I'm not going to just turn over money without saying anything about it."

A winning witch

Kids aren't the only ones who find Halloween fun. Some parents, like Carole Maltzman, enjoy dressing up too. For 13 years, Maltzman's been greeting trick-or-treaters at her door as a witch, catering her costume every year to the current trend. This year, she's a 1984 World Series Champion Detroit Tigers witch. In years past, she's been an exercise witch wearing a leotard and tights and a modern witch with an electric broom. "To me, it's fun," she said. "It's a part of my life now." Maltzman started dressing up to encourage older trick-or-treaters to wear costumes.

Second round of arrests at rest stop

Two Canton residents were among seven persons arrested Oct. 18 in an undercover crackdown on homosexual activities at a freeway rest stop in Canton Township.

This was the second wave of arrests by Michigan State Police. In a similar operation, 24 persons were arrested Sept. 20 and 24 at the rest stop at I-275 south of Cherry Hill Road.

Among the seven arrested Oct. 18 were retired superintendent of schools Bates Landis, 59, of Canton and salesman Anthony Campagna, 43, also of Canton.

Also arrested were: Glen Walker, 28, a typesetter from Garden City; Frederick Miller, 38, a Wayne factory worker; John Radtke, 46, of Detroit, employed in urban revitalization; and Peter Deane, 37, a retired teacher and lab technician from Wayne.

A state police spokesman said his department still had not verified and was unwilling to release the name of the seventh person arrested.

ALL HAVE been charged with disorderly conduct and engaging in obscene and indecent conduct in a public place, both misdemeanors.

The suspects are being arraigned by Judge Dunbar Davis and Judge James Garber in 35th District Court in Plymouth.

The first pretrial began today at 9 a.m. for those suspects who were arrested in the September operations.

Of the 24 arrested at Cherry Hill and I-275, five men were employed in the field of education.

They included: Richard G. Buerk, 41, principal of Stevenson Junior High School, Westland; Richard Arnold Goode, 50, principal of Wick Elementary School, Romulus; Phillip T. Jenkins, 36, of Bloomfield Hills, vice president of the Center for Creative Studies, Detroit; Gene L. Myers, 47, a media specialist with Livonia Public Schools; and Dennis A. May, 32, a school bus driver for Plymouth-Canton schools.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools suspended May without pay. Goode resigned as principal in Romulus, and Buerk has been suspended with pay.

Others arrested in September, from western Wayne County, include: Bobby Joe Thomas, 39, of Canton, director of Uniserve for the Michigan Education Association; Tommy Moore Jr., 33, of Canton; Daniel N. Dunn, 36, of Westland; William A. Luallen, 55, of Livonia; and Ronald C. Rice, 43, of Westland.

If found guilty of offenses charged, the men could receive a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

Pregnancy reported at group home

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

The mother of a pregnant 29-year-old developmentally disabled woman has removed her daughter from a City of Plymouth group home.

The woman was a resident of the Beech Court Group Home and is 20 weeks into the pregnancy, according to Plymouth Lt. Robert Commire.

"The woman has been declared mentally incompetent, and her mother is her legal guardian," Commire said.

"Under the law, a person who is mentally retarded can't consent to sexual relations so it automatically constitutes a rape," he said.

The mother, who lives in Saline, has decided to let the woman carry the baby full term, according to police.

Although police currently have no suspects, Commire said they will continue to investigate the incident and take blood samples once the baby is born.

"We will develop suspects and get blood samples from them. We can determine the father's race after the baby is born by a certain blood test," he said.

Police planned to take a blood sample from the fetus but, because of the risks involved, decided to wait until the baby is born, he said.

"We will look for a witness, or continue questioning until someone comes forward and confesses, or go through the blood work."

POLICE PLAN to compare the blood results with that of males who had contact with the woman.

Commire said the Beech Court group home has male and female residents, as well as three or four male staff members.

"People who live in homes we service do attend a day care center away from the home," according to Virginia Harmon, a Wayne County Living Services, a division of the State Department of Mental Health.

Police also believe a staff member at the Detroit-based day care center could be responsible for the pregnancy.

Harmon, whose agency supervises the operation of group homes in Wayne County, was the person who filed the report with police and refused further comment. A spokesman from the Department of Mental Health couldn't be reached Friday.

The state license for the Beech Court home lists A.R. Home Inc. of Farmington as the licensee.

Commire said the Beech Court incident is the second pregnancy reported in the past year at a state-licensed group home.

The other case is being investigated by officers at the Ypsilanti State Police Post and involves a 21-year-old severely retarded woman who gave birth in March.

That woman died earlier this month of heart failure caused by congestion. She was a resident of the Hull Road Community Living Facility in Belleville.

Commire said the Plymouth case could be turned over to state police if they have reason to believe the crime occurred at the day care center.

The Beech Court home is one of five community placement facilities in the Plymouth area.

How small U.S. grants cut energy costs

First of two articles.
By Penny Wright
special writer

Community leaders in southeastern Michigan are mourning the end of a federal program which produced several energy-saving ideas.

"We were sorry to see the program end. Our project was very successful," said Genevieve Rakocy of Wayne County Catholic Social Services. Her one-year, $12,000 project cut energy bills for Detroit homeowners and netted several jobs.

"People around here look more kindly toward financing solar retrofits, thanks to that program," added Cynthia Conklin of the Ann Arbor community development department.

THEY SPOKE fondly of the U.S. Department of Energy's Appropriate Technology Small Grants Program.

Hatched in 1978 by the Carter Administration, Appropriate Technology (called "AT") was a strategy of funding small-scale energy projects aimed at making the nation energy independent.

The grant-giving stage ended in 1981. Congress currently is funding only technical assistance and information activities.

What actually was accomplished?

In four years, the Department of Energy funneled $25.7 million in AT grants in amounts up to $50,000 to individuals and groups with energy-saving ideas. The theory was that local groups were best able to solve local problems.

The aim was to encourage more "elegant" and "appropriate" solutions to conserving energy by using technologies and materials that meshed well with local needs and resources.

ACCORDING TO Rakocy, Catholic Social Services managed to solve two local problems with its federal grant.

"We were able to provide job training to 25 unemployed men and women volunteers for work in low-income neighborhood conservation," she said. Volunteers from Hamtramck and Highland Park helped Detroit homeowners install insulation, weatherstripping and furnace flue dampers.

our land

A second result was that some of the trained volunteers were able to step into full-time jobs.

AT grants to Ann Arbor totaled nearly $50,000. They helped fund solar and conservation retrofits for five low-income housing units.

"We showed that solar technology can work in rehab projects," Conklin said. "Over all, the program helped local people try out ideas in their own communities."

ELSEWHERE in the nation, 2,058

AT grants were awarded in several basic categories: conservation, solar biomass, geothermal, hydropower, integrated systems and information-education. They went not only to local government and non-profit groups but to individuals and small businesses as well.

Among 25 Michigan projects were an advanced greenhouse with water ceiling, a shower waste heat recuperator, an electric producing wind turbine demonstration, and a method to produce wood briquets for commercial fuel.

How many will ever hit the commercial market?

It's hard to tell, answered Tom Stanton, director of the Michigan Energy Administration clearinghouse. "Some projects are coming out of the market right now. Of course, not all of the projects were successful," he said.

"I believe the program money was well spent. We saw that there are so many opportunities to switch technology to small appropriate uses."

Figures on actual dollars saved by AT grants are unavailable. But the Department of Energy calculated that every $2 of federal assistance attracted $1 from non-federal sources between fiscal 1978 and 1983.

A FREQUENT criticism is that the AT program ended too soon.

Ann Arbor administrator Conklin said an influx of government funds is necessary to encourage a national movement toward energy independence. "Before, we had a combined strategy on national and state levels to encourage energy innovation and commercialization," she said. "Now that has all ended."

The state has a series of 13 free self-help publications describing the experiences of, and lessons learned by, AT grantees. The pamphlets describe methods of dealing with insulation and moisture in the home, heat recovery techniques and alternative heating options such as sunspaces.

A limited number of these publications may be requested from the Michigan Energy Administration at 1-800-292-4704.

In addition, a databank on all projects in the AT program is maintained by the National Appropriate Technology Assistance Service (NATAS) in Butte, Montana. Information on individual AT projects, along with energy engineering, scientific and technical assistance, may be obtained by calling 1-800-428-2525.

Next: The Michigan energy development grant program awarded $200,000 to three Michigan inventors in 1982.

'C' would hurt school's quality — Runkel

Public schools in the tri-county area would lose nearly $200 million in revenue if Proposal C is approved Nov. 6, the state's top school official contends.

Phillip E. Runkel, state superintendent of public instruction, said the 86 school districts in this area could lose $197.7 million in state school aid and local tax revenues this year and next if "Voter's Choice" passes.

"Those revenue cuts would have a significant impact on the quality of education in our state," Runkel said.

At news conferences Monday and Tuesday at the intermediate school district offices in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties, Runkel estimated the negative impact on all state districts would be nearly $500 million in the 1984-85 and 1985-86 school years.

"I'm not telling people how to vote, but I think they should know what the facts are," said Runkel, who was supported at the press conferences by representatives of the Michigan Education Association and Michigan Federation of Teachers.

PROPOSAL C WOULD amend the state constitution to roll back all taxes passed since the end of 1981 but not approved by the voters. It would require voter approval for new taxes, increases and shifts; limit city non-resident income taxes to 0.5 percent; and require a four-fifths vote of a legislative body to increase such fees as tuition.

Its backers say Proposal C would help schools by requiring that funds raised for education go for education.

They contend the Michigan Legislature's appropriations for education have declined as a share of the state budget.

The twin results, according to C's backers: higher property taxes at the local level and higher tuitions for college students.

But Runkel said passage of the amendment would result in the layoff of more than 10,000 classroom teachers. He said in the period 1974-85, the state has reduced its number of teachers from 94,000 to 74,000.

The educator said Michigan is now third in the nation in pupil-teacher ratio. "If this is passed, we would have the worst pupil-teacher ratio in the nation because we'd be laying off teachers to balance the budget."

RUNKEL SAID proposal would cut sales tax revenue earmarked for school aid. It also would affect school districts' ability to provide education by rolling back all Truth in Taxation property-tax millages approved by school boards since 1981, he explained.

He predicted a "greater shift to property tax and less support for equity. The poorer districts will get poorer and there will be less opportunities for young people."

"Anyone who thinks Proposal C would be good for the public education doesn't know what they're talking about," said Runkel. "Proposal C would cause terrible cuts in education."

The state school superintendent said reductions in both state school aid and property tax revenue for area schools would be the following if Proposal C passes:

- Oakland — $10,821,700 in 1984-85, $53,602,900 in 1985-86.
- Macomb — $7,305,400 in 1984-85, $30,851,200.
- Wayne — $23,141,600 in 1984-85, $71,964,700.

ALSO CONCERNED about a shift to more reliance on the property tax is William Keane, superintendent of Oakland Schools. As head of the Oakland Intermediate School District, he works with 28 districts in the county — some of which rely on state aid to operate their schools.

"We don't want the burden of supporting schools placed on property tax," he said.

"We would revert back to primordial times when districts that are poor were discriminated against. Citizens can give it back at the polls, but I don't see how that would happen."

WAYNE COUNTY Intermediate District Superintendent William Simmons said the proposal would affect all services — from schools to libraries. And he's concerned about that.

"Our schools don't function well without good municipal services. This is a total turnabout in our way of providing services," he added.

Wayne County enters Vista overcharge lawsuit

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Splitting along racial lines, the Wayne County Commission last week took the first step toward joining Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn's federal court suit to recover triple damages against Detroit's Water and Sewer Department.

"This suit ought to be pursued for the benefit of all users, including those in the city of Detroit — not just western Wayne customers," said Commissioner Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, who proposed joining the suit.

But the suburbanite was unable to convince black commissioners from Detroit. One, Arthur Carter, denounced the suit as "just another attempt to usurp the responsibilities of the city of Detroit," likening the Oakland suit to "invading Saudi Arabia to take its oil."

DUMAS' RESOLUTION was passed 9-4 by the commission sitting as a committee of the whole. One member was absent and one abstained.

Seven suburban commissioners — including Richard Manning, D-Redford, Kay Beard, D-Inkster, Milton Mack, D-Wayne, and Dumas — were joined by John Hertel, D-Harper Woods, whose district is two-thirds in Detroit, and Stanley Rozycski, whose district is entirely in Detroit.

Kuhn, who did not attend the meeting, said in a telephone interview he was "tremendously pleased" that Wayne County was joining the effort. "We now have 98 percent (of suburban

— Mary Dumas,
county commissioner

customers) lined up to join the suit."

Detroit has made 17 contracts to treat wastewater of communities in three counties. As Oakland drain commissioner, Kuhn administers four of them, with 39 percent of the wastewater flow.

Wayne County has two contracts on behalf of suburban communities on the Middle Rouge River and the northeast suburbs. They provide more than 33 percent of the flow. A few individual communities, including Redford Township, have their own contracts and are expected to join the suit.

Philip G. Tannian, heading a battery of five attorneys for the plaintiffs, said the U.S. District Court would prefer to see all customers of Detroit join a single suit. "There are 17 contracts out there. Should you try to litigate this 17 times or just once?" Tannian asked rhetorically, indicating the court would rather try it once.

THE CASE grew out of the celebrated Vista Disposal case, in which Detroit Water and Sewer Department Director Charles Beckham and several disposal company figures were convicted under federal bribery and racketeering laws.

Without citing an exact dollar figure, Kuhn seeks to recover the amount of Vista's overcharges for sludge hauling under conditions of no competitive bidding. Kuhn charges Beckham and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young passed the overcharges onto suburban customers.

Involved are 3,000 tons daily of sewage treatment plant wastes known as "sludge," Tannian said. With 365 days in a year, that amounts to nearly 1.1 million tons annually. The alleged abuses occurred over 5 1/2 years, according to Tannian's court complaint. That multiplies to out more than six million tons.

If Vista overcharged by $38 per ton, as alleged by Commissioner Hertel, something like $230 million in overcharges could be involved.

Suing under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, Kuhn is asking triple damages be paid to all the plaintiff customers — up to $690 million.

BLACK COMMISSIONERS asked that a decision on joining the suit be delayed until Detroit officials have had a chance to respond.

Plymouth-Canton drops from top 10

Two Wayne County suburbs — Livonia and Melvindale — were among the 10 hottest spots for new housing construction in southeastern Michigan during the first half of 1984.

It was the first time since the middle 1970s that Livonia had been in the top 10. Such previous leaders as Canton and Plymouth townships showed some activity but weren't among the regional leaders.

Combined, the local governments of seven metropolitan counties issued permits for 5,971 housing units — a 57 percent increase over the first half of 1983.

But it was still only half the peak of 13,560 permits in the first half of 1978, after which the bottom dropped out of the housing market.

FIGURES ON building permits for single-family and multiple residences, offset by demolitions, were compiled by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments from reports of local building authorities.

Detroit continued to be a big loser, with 10 new permits and 1,515 demolitions for a net loss of 1,505 housing units.

Top 10 communities in southeastern Michigan in terms of issuance of building permits were:

- Rochester Hills (formerly Avon Township), 538;
- Sterling Heights, 455;
- Wixom, 443; Farmington Hills, 350;
- Waterford Township, 321.
- Novi, 246;
- Clinton Township, 243;
- Troy, 230;
- Livonia, 203;
- and Melvindale, 200.

The top 10 issued more than 54 percent of all the building permits in the region. Of the communities, six are in Oakland County, two in Macomb and two in Wayne.

WAYNE COUNTY suburbs reported:

Canton Township — 102 single-family units, two multiples, two demolitions, net of 102 units.

Garden City — one single-family unit, one demolition, net of zero.

Livonia — 167 single-family units, 36 multiples, four demolitions, net of 199 new units.

City of Plymouth — three single-family units, six multiples, one demolition, net of nine units.

Plymouth Township — 50 single-family units.

Redford Township — four single-family units.

City of Westland — 16 single-family units, eight multiples, net of 24 units.

Gasoline price drop seen here

from our readers

Letters must be original copies and contain the signature and address of the sender. Limit letters to 300 words.

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

While there has been no ringing of bells, singing of carols or welcoming the Three Wise Men into Kellogg Park, the gasoline dealers in Plymouth are expecting an early Christmas for motorists.

Unless they have misread the signs, the price of gasoline will be lowered and nothing would please them more. While no exact cut has been promised, it is expected, according to the dealers in the downtown business section, that the price of gasoline will drop by two or three cents a gallon. Some expect the drop to be as much as five cents.

It has been reported to local dealers that the price already has been lowered in the City of Detroit. That is nothing new, they said, as Detroit is always lower than in the Plymouth area.

If it comes as the dealers expect it will not be as large a cut as they would like. The real cut will come with the drop in the price of crude oil expected in three or four months.

Regardless of the timing of the cut Doug Swatosh, proprietor of the Amoco station opposite Kellogg Park, says the biggest problem is margin. According to him, and his choice location, he is working on a two-cent margin. Around the country the margin is five and six cents a gallon. "That's the big difference in this business."

According to this Plymouth dealer the money that is being made is in the repair shop. People are holding onto their cars longer with the result that repairs are on the upgrade as far as business is concerned.

Swatosh said that his station handles an average of 75,000 gallons a month but taxes are heavy. These include sales tax and property tax. By the end of a year his tax expense runs close to $100,000.

"That's why we are looking with some hope that the price of gasoline is dropped. It has been high enough for a long period and the time has come when both the station manager and the public is due for relief."

If the price of crude oil is dropped more than is anticipated at the moment the gift will be so much greater — especially if the price is lower again before Christmas which is likely.

Who cut off the telephone?

To the editor:
This letter is in response to an article entitled, "Phone program cuts: A political whodunit" written by Gary M. Cates in which I was quoted.

It is totally inaccurate to conclude that Mayor Edward McNamara, or the Out-County Area Agency on Aging, is responsible for cutting the telephone reassurance program.

While most of the facts surrounding the funding for this program were accurately stated (i.e., the change in CETA to JTPA by the federal government disallowed such programs and federal cuts which reduced the monies available for innovative funds in the Community Development Block Grants from $500,000 to $200,000, cut the number of programs which could be funded) to conclude the Out-County Area Agency on Aging cut the program is not accurate.

Rather, I stated that the only current source of funding the telephone reassurance program had was the small grant of $7,500 from the Out-County Area Agency. And, because of other federal program cuts the most logical way to work for continuous funding for this program for senior citizen programs. Thus, we hope to convince the state to allocate funds to local agencies for this important lifetime program for senior citizens.

I ask that you print this letter to clear up any misunderstandings which may have occurred.

Library budget

GRAPER AND Thomas see things differently. "I would just like to remind you that last spring you made a commitment to a 100 percent increase in square footage over there . . . and there are additional costs that go along with that commitment," Thomas said.

"I think Mr. Breen has a personal philosophical difference," Graper said. "Under the state library act you have an obligation to serve all people, including the children."

"I don't know how you get around not servicing the children. How do you have a total library program without servicing those kids?"

"I agree and think the schools should provide the service, but state law says we have to serve all the people."

"You have to remember that there are a large number of private schools in our area and they probably do not have as large a reference section as we have."

"I don't know how you can say there is a philosophical difference. We're just use to servicing everybody."

County dedicates retirement village

Five years of work by Wayne County began to pay off last week with the groundbreaking for the Jerome P. Cavanaugh Retirement Village on the site of the county's former Child Development Center in Northville Township.

"This has been an effort of great perseverance," said Robert E. FitzPatrick, executive director of the Economic Development Corp. of Wayne County.

The site has been almost unused for a dozen years. It is located at the northeastern corner of Five Mile and Sheldon roads.

On hand for the event was State Supreme Court Justice Michael F. Cavanaugh, a brother of the late Detroit mayor for whom the retirement village was named. Also on hand were County Executive William Lucas and the Rev. Malcolm Carron, S.J., former president of the University of Detroit.

Located on 101 rolling, wooded acres, the retirement village will provide housing, nursing home care, intermediate care facilities and congregate elderly housing.

FitzPatrick said it is designed to maximize re-use of existing structures, many of them sturdily constructed in the 1920s. At least 1,200 units of housing will generate $1 million in school, local, community college and county property taxes. It will generate 1,000 construction jobs and 600 permanent jobs when completed.

Betting charges lowered

The city of Plymouth's law enforcement coffers are $1,000 richer thanks to the misfortune of a would-be bookie.

A 47-year-old Romulus man charged with possession of pool (betting) tickets has been convicted of a lesser crime.

Glenn W. Rosandic pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct Thursday before 35th District Court Judge James Garber and was fined $55.

Rosandic was arrested earlier this month for a traffic violation and taken to the Plymouth police station for booking, police said.

At the station, he surrendered an envelope containing 35 betting tickets for various sporting events, $1,822, and a note pad. Rosandic agreed to forfeit $1,000 of the cash to the city of Plymouth as part of the plea bargain, Lt. Robert Commire said.

The forfeited money will go into a fund for future crime investigations, Commire said.

Running betting pools in Michigan is considered a high misdemeanor. If convicted on the original charge, Rosandic faced a maximum sentence of one year in jail and/or a $500 fine.

NECK STRAIN

Most neck pains are the result of muscle strain. Because these muscles must hold up and turn the head, the neck area has developed a complex array of interweaving muscle fibers. Any of these muscle groups can develop a strain, which you feel as a neck ache.

Since the cause of such pain is from strain, not inflammation, blood tests are of little value in determining the reason for neck discomfort. X-rays can be deceptive. Findings in the neck vertebrae such as extra bone and loss of disc spaces, often are called "Arthritis". However these changes may be found in people of similar age, background, and occupation who have no neck complaints.

Initial therapy for neck pain consists of heat, traction and proper posture. Posture is of particular importance as a correct relationship between head and neck puts the least strain on neck muscles. These measures are not dramatic, but persistence in their use generally brings relief.

Patterson says donation didn't play in fraud decision

By Kathy Parrish
staff writer

It's hard to raise campaign funds. But Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson wishes he'd never attracted one large donation.

On the afternoon of a fund-raiser in his honor, Patterson's office Thursday spent two hours explaining $640 given to his re-election campaign.

The donation came June 18 from Farmington Hills auto dealer Bob Saks, who had been questioned earlier by the prosecutor's office during a utility fraud investigation.

Patterson's chief assistant on May 10 decided against charging the dealer. (See text of documents on this page.)

WHILE ADMITTING he got the June donation, Patterson denied he was aware of it until last week when a television report linked the money to his office's decision not to pursue the utility fraud case.

The prosecutor has threatened to sue WXYZ-TV and reporter Vince Wade for slandering his reputation. Pontiac attorney Elbert Hatchett is representing the Patterson.

"Politicians don't have much, but what they do have and earn are their reputations," Patterson said, flanked by his wife and several staff members.

"I built a reputation, and in one night an irresponsible reporter impugned that reputation," he said.

The station said it stood by its story.

PATTERSON'S ANGER was prompted by a television report shown at 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. Wednesday. It dealt with an investigation by the Michigan State Police and Detroit Edison Co. into charges that some area auto dealers allowed their electric meters to be "fixed" to save on energy costs.

Several newspapers have covered the utility fraud investigation of 81 state businesses. Of 32 located in Oakland County, nine of those being investigated were auto dealerships.

"Of 44 target suspects, two were charged in Wayne County," said Richard Thompson, Patterson's chief assistant. One (Robert Gillow) has the case against himself dismissed in return for being allowed to plead his corporation (Action Olds) guilty. The other (against Saks) is pending trial.

After a year and a half investigation, the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office decided in May not to proceed with its cases.

The television story said auto dealer Mechigan in June contributed $640 to Patterson's re-election campaign, and eight weeks later the case was dropped by the prosecutor's office.

Using the business name Bob Saks, Mechigan bought eight $80 tickets to a Hearn-Duran fight June 15 in the Silverdome's Main Event. The event was a Patterson fund-raiser.

THE TELEVISION report also cited a $5,000 contribution from the Detroit Auto Dealers Association (DADA) to Patterson's campaign for state attorney general. DADA treasurer is Marvin Tamaroff, a Southfield Buick dealer and also a subject of the investigation.

Thompson replied:

• The DADA contribution was "in the works a long time" before it was actually received in November of 1982.

• In November of 1982 the State Police sought a warrant against William H. Jones, 35, of Taylor, but the focus of the investigation didn't shift to auto dealers until later.

• "Both the State Police and the prosecutor's office came to the same conclusion: that the individual (Tamaroff) was not guilty."

• The $5,000 gift came from an association, not individuals under investigation. "I don't think being part of an association which happens to support your candidacy is grounds for an apparent conflict of interest," he said.

"The official side of an office does not know what the political side is doing. That is by design. What typically happens is that by accident someone spots a name (on a list of contributors) and says, 'Hey, we're investigating that person.'"

Thompson said Jones pleaded guilty to a charge of fraud brought by an auto dealer. Circuit Judge George LaPlata placed Jones on probation for two years.

Patterson's assistant said Patterson played no part in the decision not to prosecute.

Thompson said he and Michael A. Izzo, chief of warrants, decided there was insufficient evidence to prove utility fraud. He said that they based their decision on the fact that informant Jones had flunked a polygraph test and that he had pleaded guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses. Jones later passed another polygraph test.

Another factor was a state law which grants amnesty to people involved in utility fraud if they make arrangements to pay their bills.

"At no time during this investigation did Patterson have any part in the decision-making process," he said.

THOMPSON SAID he asked Wade to meet with him and examine the case file and the reporter "reluctantly agreed to hold the story."

Wade denied agreeing to wait on the story. "I called weeks ago to talk to you people," he said after Thompson accused him of lying about the television conversation.

"I don't think there is any question at

Auto dealers hit Patterson gift story

Daniel Hayes, executive vice president of the Detroit Auto Dealers Association, said there was nothing illegal in its $5,000 contribution to L. Brooks Patterson's 1982 campaign for attorney general.

The contribution, made in November of 1982, became the subject of controversy with the revelation that Patterson, as Oakland County prosecutor, has declined to prosecute several auto dealers for electricity theft.

"This association never, absolutely never, condones anything illegal," Hayes said from the DADA office in Troy. It attacked the reporting of WXYZ-TV (channel 7) on Oct. 10.

NOTING THAT the broadcaster reported the $5,000 contribution "from the auto dealers to Brooks Patterson came 15 days after he had already lost the election," Hayes said the contribution was approved on Sept. 21, 1982 — six weeks before the election.

Hayes said, and Patterson's office verified, that the Patterson campaign was aware of the pledge well before the election. The date is important because the investigation didn't begin focusing on auto dealers until November of 1982, according to a Patterson assistant.

"Channel 7 conveniently neglected to make the observation that, had Patterson been successful in his campaign for attorney general, he would not have been in the Oakland County prosecutor's office, and the matter in question would not have come before him. Therefore, the implication that we were trying to buy protection from Brooks Patterson is misleading and scurrilous."

HAYES ALSO defended the conduct of Marv Tamaroff, Southfield auto dealer who was investigated but never charged by the prosecutor in the electricity theft matter. Tamaroff was treasurer of DADA's Political Action Committee in 1982.

"Of even more concern is the character assassination done on one of our dealers, Marv Tamaroff," Hayes said. "Contrary to the impression left by Channel 7, Tamaroff neither signed the campaign report, signed the contribution check, nor participated in the September meeting when the contribution to Brooks Patterson was approved."

"Marv Tamaroff had nothing to do with the contribution to Brooks Patterson, and Channel 7 owes him an apology."

The station and its reporter said they stand by their story.

Police to review car-chase policies

With the arraignment of Oakland County Deputy Roger Geistler on charges of negligent homicide, law enforcement officers across Michigan must question the advisability of high-speed chases, according to Carl Parsell of the Michigan Association of Police (MAP).

Michigan law enforcement officers are angered at the recent trend of prosecuting police officers for legitimate actions taken in the line of duty, Parsell added.

MAP will sponsor a one-day seminar for law enforcement representatives across the state entitled, "To Chase or Not To Chase?" It is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Nov. 14 in the Southfield Civic Center auditorium.

AMONG THE topics will be department chase policies, liability of becoming involved in chases, how to decide whether or not to chase and the consequences of a decision not to chase.

Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and the Wayne and Macomb county prosecutors will be invited to explain their positions on police chases and how they expect them to be handled.

Recent cases will have far-reaching effects on how police officers handle their jobs, he said. "We're telling criminals, 'Put the pedal to the metal' and you have a good chance of getting away."

During the past week, the MAP has been deluged with calls from members seeking assistance and guidance in getting involved in high-speed pursuits.

WHAT DISTURBS the officers, Parsell said, is that two courts refused to issue a warrant against Geistler, saying that he had used due care and caution during the chase.

"Now the deputy must not only live with the knowledge of the accident but must contend with the criminal as well as the civil suits," Parsell said.

Officers also say that department policies are being rewritten to protect municipalities from liability — not to protect police officers or to offer them guidance in making the decision of whether or not to chase.

The policies are as long as 10 pages, and officers are confused as to what exactly is expected of them. Parsell called the revised policies "absurd."

Did gifts sway fraud prosecution?

all that the meters were tampered with," said Thompson, questioning whether the prosecutor's office could prove the case.

"It would have been dereliction of duty and unethical for us to proceed in the case."

PATTERSON SAID he overlooked the campaign contribution from Saks but would have returned it immediately if he'd known the money had come in. The prosecutor said donations from people investigated by his office or other agencies are returned to the donors.

"To suggest that I would risk 12 years in the prosecutor's office and my personal reputation — which up to last night was impeccable — and then suggest I would take a bribe and then document it for all to know," said Patterson, adding that he "wouldn't know him (Saks) if he walked into this room."

"I did absolutely nothing wrong or improper in this case, nor did my staff."

The prosecutor offered to take a lie detector test if Wade would publicly retract the news story and publicly apologize to him, his family and staff.

When the reporter said he would report the polygraph results, Patterson said he intends to sue.

Asked if he would return the camaign contribution, the prosecutor said he won't because that would admit guilt.

"We will take our lumps on that but don't suggest that had input into any decisions by this office."

Patterson's auto case documents

Here is the text of a memo dated May 10 from Michael A. Izzo, chief of the warrants division in the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, to Richard Thompson, chief assistant prosecutor, suggesting they drop action against two auto dealers on utility fraud charges:

At your request, I have re-examined the pending utility fraud cases.

Having attended the statement of Robert Gillow of Action Oldsmobile, I do not see how his testimony could assist the prosecutions in Oakland County.

Further, Public Act 37 of 1984 grants any person who has violated Sec. 750-282 a 90-day amnesty period which began to run as of April 12, 1984 (date when House Bill 4975 was signed by the governor).

In light of all the factors surrounding these cases and the fact that Robert Mechigan is being prosecuted in Wayne County, I would not proceed with any cases in Oakland County.

Oakland Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson provided six examples of campaign contributions he refunded to avoid the appearance of conflict of interest. Almost identical, the letters are signed by Jacquelyn A. Stewart, treasurer of the Citizens Supporting L. Brooks Patterson Committee. The examples were dated between Jan. 7, 1980, and March 9, 1981. One sample:

Thank you for your contribution of May 22, 1980, in the amount of $100.

It is the policy of this committee to return all contributions to persons who have been investigated by this office or criminally charged by any agency, regardless of the outcome. The purpose of this policy is to avoid any appearance of a conflict of interest in accordance with Standard 1.3 of the American Bar Association Standards, relating to the prosecution function.

Enclosed please find your check in the amount of $100. We feel sure you will understand the necessity for this action.

Patterson said it was "unfortunate" the Bob Saks contribution of $640 wasn't caught. Patterson said he would "take our lumps over that, but not over allegations of a bribe," adding he would not return it.

Presbyterians built a new manse in 1911

(Part 17)

When the Rev. Hugh Ronald left the Plymouth Presbyterian Church in 1910 he was succeeded by the Rev. Benjamin F. Farber.

Farber, who was born in Indiana, was another alumnus of Princeton Theological Seminary. After his graduation in 1909 he became assistant pastor at a church in Philadelphia before arriving in Plymouth.

After Farber had been here six years, the editor of the Plymouth Mail described him as "a man of personality, genial in manner, a splendid orator, as well as a natural executive, hence the church has flourished and prospered substantially under his leadership."

Rosewell Tanger recalls that Rev. Farber organized the first Boy Scout Troop in Plymouth about 1912. Tanger was a member of that troop which the church still sponsors.

THE CHURCH'S Sunday School report for 1911 showed income of $142 and expenses of $118. It was signed by Myron H. Beals whose name later was associated with the local American Legion.

A year after Rev. Farber arrived, the congregation decided to build a manse. On March 11, 1911, the trustees accepted the bid of church member J. E. Patterson to construct the house on Main Street, opposite today's Plymouth City Hall.

Patterson's estimate for the nine-room house, including plumbing, heating and wiring, came to $2,280. The actual cost, including sewer and sidewalk, was $3,226. Lot 192, on which the house was built at 178 North Main, had been purchased from church members William H. Hoyt and his wife Luella for $750.

The old manse on Union Street was sold to a Mr. Poole for $2,000. The new manse, to which Rev. Farber took his bride that year, stood amidst a strand of beautiful evergreen trees next to what later became an office building for Detroit Edison, and now is occupied by the Mayflower Mortgage Company.

1911 also was the year in which F. M. Sheffield, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Trustees, wrote a comment in the minutes that remind one what a no-

past and present

vely the automobile and the airplane were in that era. Noting that the board members had met at the home of O. H. Loomis, Sheffield wrote in the rather ornate language of the period: "After the meeting, we adjourned to partake hospitality of Mrs. Loomis. The trustees left expressing the wish that kind fate might guide them frequently to the door of their hospitable presiding officer and his charming wife. The transportation was furnished by Fred Schrader who carried us over the road at a speed that only allowed us to hit the high spots. Mr. Wilcox feels that after the ride he had enjoyed all the sensations of an airplane trip."

Sheffield was writing at a period when few people had ridden in an airplane. The Wright brothers had made their first successful flight only eight years before. As for automobiles, the Chevrolet Motor Company and the Studebaker Corporation were just being formed. Edward N. Hines had just originated painted center lines on highways in Wayne County.

ARTHUR D. STEVENS, who had been clerk of the Session at the church for 30 years, decided that was enough. He relinquished the position on Sept. 9, 1912.

Stevens, who lived to be almost 100, was a church member for 78 years and an elder for 57. In 1919, he was made a life member of the Session by a rising vote of the congregation.

Stevens, who took part in three battles in the Civil War, taught at Geer School on Ann Arbor Road west of Plymouth. He was a charter member of the Plymouth Grange and was its first secretary. He died in 1935.

Church longevity records also were established by his son, Clarence, as will be covered later.

Church member C.F. Rees was named superintendent of schools in 1914. He served in the post until succeeded by George A. Smith in 1918.

1914 was the year Penniman Avenue was paved from Main to Harvey. It was the year Louis Hillmer, and other Presbyterians, invested in the Alter Motor Car Company, formed to manufacture automobiles in Plymouth.

Hillmer, who was the village president at the time, had offered the company free title to property he owned on Farmer Street if the venture proved successful. When production reached 25 cars a week, Hillmer conveyed the title to the property but the firm was undercapitalized and went into receivership in 1917. Some Plymouth families still have Alter stock certificates, worthless except for historical interest.

Early in 1915, the church trustees heard that H. E. Newhouse was planning to build a store on the property next to the manse on Main Street. On March 15, they voted to buy the lot from Newhouse to forestall the building of the shop. They paid him $1,200 for the property.

Clear choice in 2nd District

To the editor:

The people of the 2nd Congressional District have a clear choice this year.

While Carl Pursell, the Republican incumbent, has spent his time sponsoring legislation such as "The Year of the Secretary" and "St. Lawrence Seaway Day," Mike McCauley addresses the important issues.

He wonders why Federal Urban Action Grants have gone to 40 communities in Michigan but none to the 2nd District. He wonders why appropriations for higher education in our state have declined 15 percent in real dollars, ranking Michigan 50th out of 50 states.

Mike McCauley really wonders what Rep. Pursell has been doing in Congress since 1978. McCauley has outlined his plans and positions. Pursell seems content to coast on his incumbency without telling the people of his intentions or ideas.

We need a Congressman who wants Michigan and the Nation to progress towards prosperity and peace. We need Mike McCauley.

Daniel Burnett

After traveling any great distance along life's highway there comes a time when one would like to turn back and enjoy again some of the thrills he had along the way.

This desire to turn back the pages came the other evening while The Stroller was sitting in his easy chair trying to get interested in the second of the presidential candidates debate.

As he sat there listening to them throwing one barb after another he couldn't help feeling that he'd like to go back to what they call the good old days and for a good reason.

When he was a young lad it was always a thrill to see and oftentimes meet the presidential candidates when they appeared on the railroad siding in the Pennsylvania Dutch country to try to sell their ideas and, if successful, to land in the White House.

There was no running down of the opposing candidate. Instead they were like auctioneers trying to sell a bill of goods. And more often than not they were interesting and put on quite a show.

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

AS PRESIDENT Reagan and Walter Mondale were throwing barbs at each other on the screen one had to wonder about the fun Franklin D. Roosevelt would have with either one of them.

FDR was a past master in using the English language to boost his own ranking and he would have had a lot of fun with either of them.

Perhaps the Stroller is old-fashioned, but he would much prefer seeing the candidates in person trying to sell themselves to the voters than to engage in debates that do nothing but try to show a weakness in the opponent.

Well The Stroller remembers when he was a young lad going to school back home. It was a day that Teddy Roosevelt was due to stop at the railroad yard and we were dismissed from school so we could hear him. It was a thrill that never will be forgotten. It was made more so when The Stroller ambled up to the platform and managed to shake Teddy's hand.

Later he was in the company of Warren Harding when he made the race to the White House. And after him came Calvin Coolidge when he took over and seemed a bit strange to the high office.

On another occasion, while visiting the White House with a football team — the University of Detroit — came the thrill of entering the East Room of the White House to shake hands with Herbert Hoover.

But they all paled when FDR came along with his fireside chats. He took the country by storm with his wit in face of trouble. That's why he was elected four times.

The closest to him was John F. Kennedy who also had a way of charming the voters over the air. There was no mudslinging — just good heart to heart talks and they paid off.

That's why The Stroller got the urge the other evening to turn back pages and enjoy the thrills again of the candidates meeting the voters in person and trying to sell themselves.

BACK PAIN

If back pains are a way of life for you, the reasons can be varied and complex. Some may be pathological, but very often the cause is muscles which are either over or under-exercised which are producing spinal distortion. Vertebrae slip into abnormal positions, resulting in "pinched" and irritated nerves, which cause pain and even loss of function of the affected body part. Poor posture, or even emotional tension, can be the root cause.

Create A Special Cake This HALLOWEEN

Every Halloween, adults and kids get ready for a day of fun and fantasy. From the first flickerings of a costume idea until the last piece of candy is eaten, Halloween surely ranks as one of the year's most enjoyable celebrations.

In Celtic mythology, the spirits of the departed were said to visit their former homes on this night. Villagers donned costumes to deceive the spirits and feasted on the harvest to forget their fears.

Today, too, a favorite way to celebrate is by "disappearing" into a disguise and then joining friends and family for Halloween "Meet 'n Treat" festivities. For over ten years, the National Confectioners Association has supported the "Meet 'n Treat" program, the purpose of which is to encourage parents and children to observe Halloween safety rules and preserve wholesome Halloween traditions.

One of the best-loved activities for youngsters is the traditional door-to-door candy collecting rounds. Parents should make sure children wear reflector tape on light-colored clothing short enough to prevent tripping, and that they can see well through face masks. They should accompany young children, and warn their older youngsters to stay within the neighborhood, watch for traffic and carry a flashlight in case they return after dusk.

When the treating rounds are completed, adults should examine candy before allowing children to eat it, and make sure everything collected is wrapped. Then the fun can continue at home with a neighborhood Halloween party. In addition to such popular games as bobbing for apples and a "best costume" contest, start a new tradition with a do-it-yourself Halloween Candy Cake. This tasty three-tiered centerpiece is deliciously chocolatey inside, with a zesty orange tang from the crushed orange candies baked right in. Outside, iced with a flavorful orange buttercream frosting, there's plenty of room for decoration with everyone's favorite confections.

Add to the excitement by choosing three children and having each decorate one layer. Give each child an assortment of candy, and let their imaginations be their guide. Serve the cake with refreshing apple juice or a simple fruit punch.

Remember that the National Safety Council urges all pedestrian "meet 'n treaters" to cross streets only at corners and never between cars or diagonally across intersections, to look in all directions before crossing the street and to obey all traffic signals. Always walk — don't run — across streets, walk on sidewalks and not in the road, stay on the sidewalk when waiting to cross and watch for cars that may be backing out of driveways.

Keep this Halloween safe and add to the fun by celebrating with family friends.

HALLOWEEN CANDY CAKE

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 5 cups all-purpose flour                    | 3 cups sugar  |
| 1 1/2 cups unsweetened cocoa                | 1 1/2 tablespoons orange extract                          |
| 1 tablespoon plus 2 teaspoons baking powder | 9 large eggs, at room temperature                         |
| 3/4 teaspoon baking soda                    | 2 2/3 cups milk   |
| 3/4 teaspoon salt                           | 1 1/4 cups finely crushed orange hard candies (10 ounces) |
| 2 1/4 cups butter or margarine, softened    |   |

Grease and line bottoms of 11-inch, 8-inch and 5-inch round cake pans (2 inches high) with waxed paper. Grease paper and sides of pans. Sprinkle pans lightly with flour or cocoa, tapping pans to distribute evenly; remove excess. In a large bowl (at least 2 quart capacity) stir together flour, cocoa, baking powder, baking soda and salt. In a very large bowl (at least 5 quart capacity) cream butter and sugar together until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add orange extract. Alternately add milk with dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Blend well. Stir in crushed candies. Heat oven to 350°F. Spoon batter into prepared pans to within 1 inch from top of pan. Bake 5-inch cake 50 to 55 minutes, 8-inch cake 60 to 65 minutes and 11-inch cake 70 to 75 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center of each cake comes out clean. Cool cakes 15 minutes in pans. Turn out onto cooling racks. Cool completely. With a sharp knife trim tops of cakes so they are flat. Layer cakes together with Orange Frosting*; frost top and sides of cake. Decorate with Halloween candies and your favorite Halloween characters.

*ORANGE FROSTING

- |                              |                              |
|------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup vegetable shortening | 2 teaspoons orange extract   |
| 10 cups confectioners' sugar | 4-6 tablespoons milk         |
| 3 egg whites                 | Yellow and red food coloring |

In a large bowl cream shortening and confectioners' sugar. Blend in egg white, orange extract and milk. Add more or less milk as needed for suitable spreading consistency. Stir in yellow and red food coloring to tint frosting orange. Use to frost Halloween Cake.

NOTE:

If desired, a square version of this tiered cake can be made using one 9 x 13-inch cake pan and one 8-inch square cake pan. Prepare pans and batter as above. Bake square cake 60 to 65 minutes and 9 x 13-inch cake 70 to 75 minutes. When cakes are cool, trim 1 inch from two sides of 8-inch cake to create a 7-inch square. Cut a 9-inch section from the 9 x 13-inch cake to form a 9-inch square. Cut a 4-inch section from remaining piece to form a 4-inch square. Assemble layers and decorate as above. (There will be a 4 x 5-inch piece of cake left over. Set aside for another use.)

YIELD: 40 servings.

More than 1 way to coat a fish

If you're among the millions of Americans limiting sodium intake, there is an array of low-sodium seafood recipes that will satisfy even the most discriminating diner.

Certain fresh fruits and vegetables that are low in sodium, such as pineapple and green pepper, will enhance the flavor of a favorite fish variety. Unsalted nuts add a unique taste and provide necessary fiber, vitamins and nutrients, while keeping down the sodium content of the dish.

Unsalted cashews, combined with cracker crumbs, Parmesan cheese, margarine and sherry make a crunchy nut stuffing for shrimp, topped with lemon sauce.

A cashew sauce made with unsalted cashews, pineapple and tomato paste enhances that fresh-from-the-sea flavor of scrod.

FILLETS IN CASHEW SAUCE

Makes 4 servings

- 3 tsp. peanut oil
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 (8-oz.) can pineapple tidbits in juice
- 2 tsp. tomato paste
- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- 2 tsp. white vinegar
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 1 lb. scrod fillets
- 1/4 cup dry roasted unsalted cashews

Heat 2 tablespoons peanut oil in saucepan over medium heat. Add pepper and onion; saute until tender. Stir in undrained pineapple and tomato paste. Mix cornstarch and vinegar until smooth; add to saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Stir in white wine. Keep sauce warm.

Place scrod fillets in a greased baking dish; brush with remaining peanut oil. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes, or until easily flaked. Mix cashews into prepared sauce and serve with fillets.

Microwave Preparation:
In a 1-quart microwave-proof bowl, combine 2 tablespoons oil, pepper and onion; cook on high (100 percent power) 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in undrained pineapple and tomato paste. Mix cornstarch and vinegar until smooth; add to bowl. Cover bowl with wax paper. Cook on high (100 percent power) 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 minutes, stirring twice during cooking time, until mixture boils. Stir in wine. Leave sauce covered and set aside.

Arrange scrod in a shallow microwave-proof baking dish; brush with remaining oil. Cover with wax paper and cook on high (100 percent power) 5 to 7 minutes, giving dish 1/4 turn halfway through cooking time, or until fish flakes easily. Mix cashews into prepared sauce and serve with fillets.

CASHEW STUFFED SHRIMP

Makes 4 servings

- 12 jumbo shrimp
- 22 soda crackers, unsalted tops, finely rolled (about 1/4 cup crumbs)
- 1/2 cup dry roasted unsalted cashews, coarsely chopped
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 3 tsp. margarine, melted

- 2 tsp. dry sherry
  - 1/2 tsp. paprika
  - 1/4 cup water
- Lemon Sauce (recipe below)

Shell shrimp, leaving tail attached; wash thoroughly and drain. Butterfly shrimp by splitting almost completely through center. Lay, cut side up, in large shallow baking dish.

Mix together cracker crumbs, cashews, cheese, margarine and sherry. Mound 1 tablespoon mixture on top of each shrimp. Pour water into bottom of dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes, or until shrimp are tender. Transfer shrimp to platter and drizzle with lemon sauce (recipe below).

Lemon Sauce:
In a saucepan combine 1/4 cup margarine, juice from 1 lemon, 1 1/2 teaspoons white vinegar and 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Heat until margarine melts. Stir with a wire whisk until blended.

Microwave Preparation:
Butterfly shrimp as directed above. Arrange in a circular fashion on a large round microwave-proof plate, tails to the inside of circle. Prepare cracker stuffing and use to top shrimp as directed above. Pour water into dish and cover with wax paper. Cook on medium-high (70 percent power) 4 to 6 minutes, or until shrimp are done. Leave shrimp covered and set aside.

Prepare lemon sauce as directed above, cooking on high (100 percent power) 2 to 3 minutes, or until margarine melts. Drizzle over shrimp to serve.

Create magic the French way

The French have a definitive eye on the potato ... as well as on cheese. No other country can match the variety available in France, over 400 distinct and delicious fromages.

When the French combine both favorites, the results are sheer culinary magic. Either of the following recipes will make a big hit at your next dinner party. Or surprise your youngsters with some fancy potatoes plus French cheese just for the family supper.

Baked scrubbed potatoes in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour or until easily pierced. Slice off tops and scoop out potatoes. Reserve shells. Mash potatoes and beat in Roquefort. Gradually beat in cream until potatoes are light and fluffy; season with salt and pepper. Spoon mixture into reserved potato shells. In bowl, mix crumbs, garlic and butter; sprinkle over potatoes. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until brown and crusty.

Beaumont, Doux de Montagne or St. Paulin cheese In large saucepan or Dutch oven heat butter and saute cabbage and onions until wilted. Place cabbage, onions and potatoes into shallow 3-quart casserole. Stir flour into pan juices. Gradually stir in chicken broth. Stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Pour sauce over vegetables. Sprinkle top of casserole with grated cheese. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 to 45 minutes or until brown and bubbly.

2 for 1 cooking saves time, money, energy

Finding new ways to save time has become a national pastime. Saving time in the kitchen, however, doesn't mean you have to sacrifice quality, nutrition or the weekly food budget. Today's cooks can streamline meal preparation by simply taking advantage of timesaving cooking methods.

"Two-for-one" cooking gets you in and out of the kitchen in a hurry with extra dividends in the form of energy and money savings. The principle is simple. You select one versatile, easy-on-the-budget main dish for a weekend meal, then use the "extras" to get a head start on one or more super-quick, super-delicious weekday meals.

Start by selecting the meat. Large cuts of meat generally are more economical than smaller cuts. But for greatest savings, check the weekly supermarket specials. Whole chickens, blade pork roast, beef brisket, beef chuck roast and whole turkeys and hams often are "best buys."

As a general rule of thumb when selecting meat and poultry, figure 2 to 3 servings per pound for ready-to-cook poultry; 3 to 4 servings per pound for meat with little bone or fat; and 2 to 3 servings per pound for bone-in roasts and steaks. Using these guidelines, a six-pound bone-in beef chuck roast will yield approximately 12 servings — enough for three meals for a family of four.

Stretch food dollars even further by pairing meat or poultry with a whole-grain cereal. Because they contain the bran and germ, whole-grain cereals provide nutritional bonuses in the form of dietary fiber, protein, iron and several B vitamins.

Barley is a whole-grain cereal with a pleasantly chewy texture and full, hearty flavor. Pair it with meat or poultry in soups, stews, casseroles, salads and skillet dishes. Cook the barley in chicken or beef bouillon and serve instead of pasta, potatoes or rice. Add sliced green onion, shredded carrot, chopped green pepper or thawed frozen peas for delicious variety.

For quick-cooking dishes such as pilafs, salads and skillet suppers, use quick pearled barley which cooks in 10 to 12 minutes. Regular barley is a good choice for longer cooking soups, stews and casseroles. However, both types of barley can be used in many recipes by adjusting the cooking times and the proportions of water and barley. Use package directions as a guide.

Here's a delicious "two-for-one" cooking idea that will save you money and time in the kitchen. For your first meal, Chicken Barley Soup teams regular barley with a family-size roasting chicken. The chicken and barley simmer together until tender, then the chicken is removed from the bones. (A 3½- to 4-lb. roasting chicken will yield about 4 cups cooked chicken.) Part of the chicken is returned to the soup pot.

The "extra" chicken is refrigerated for a quick casserole a night or two later or frozen for later use. Wrapped in moisture-vapor-proof wrap, cooked chicken can be frozen up to six months.

CHICKEN BARLEY SOUP

- 1 3½ to 4-lb. roasting chicken, cup up
- 1 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery with leaves
- ½ cup pearled barley*
- 2 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley or 2 tsp. dried parsley flakes
- 1 whole garlic clove
- 1 bay leaf
- 1½ to 2 qts. water
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- 1 cup julienned carrots

Combine chicken, onion, celery, barley, parsley, garlic and bay leaf. Add enough water to just cover chicken. Bring to a boil; reduce heat. Cover; simmer about 1 hour or until chicken and barley are tender. Skim foam from surface; remove chicken, garlic clove and bay leaf from broth. Cool chicken. Remove meat from bones; cut enough meat into bite-size pieces to make 1 cup. Wrap remaining chicken in moisture-vapor proof wrap; freeze for future use. Add 1 cup cooked chicken, salt and pepper to broth. Return soup to simmer. Add carrots; simmer 5 minutes. Adjust seasonings. Five 1-cup servings.

*Note: Substitute ½ cup quick pearled barley for regular barley, if desired. Add barley after 30 minutes of simmering.

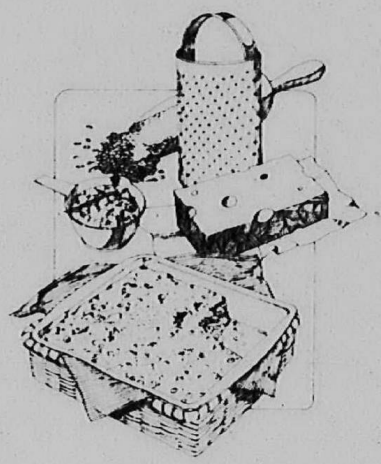

Easy-on-the-clock Chicken Barley Casserole comes to the rescue a night or two later. This satisfying one-dish meal goes from oven to table in 30 minutes because the cooked chicken is paired with quick cooking barley. ## Rediscover pasta in this macaroni salad

Good cooks everywhere are rediscovering pasta. Shops specializing in "homemade" varieties are opening, grocery and department stores have special sections for homemade pasta devotees, and many dedicated lovers are experimenting with their own combinations at home.

While pasta has been enjoyed for years in a variety of red and white sauces served hot with meat, fish, or vegetables, cooks are now serving it cold in delicious salad combinations. One of these is Macaroni and Vegetable Salad, which uses spiral macaroni in a mixture of cheese, broccoli, tomato and cucumber slices. To lend an Italian flavor to this salad, the recipe uses Italian dressing. The salad ingredients are tossed with the dressing and chilled overnight to marinate them in the savery blend of Italian herbs and spices. Start with Macaroni and vegetable salad and discover the many ways cold pasta salads can add new flair to your menus.

MACARONI AND VEGETABLE SALAD

- 2 cups (7 ozs) spiral or shell macaroni, cooked, drained
- 1½ cups (6 ozs) cubed natural Monterey jack cheese
- 2 cups 1-inch broccoli pieces
- 1 cup cherry tomato halves
- 1 cup cucumber slices, cut in half
- ¼ cup Italian dressing

Combine ingredients; toss lightly. Chill several hours or overnight. Toss before serving. 10 servings.

IT'S NOT JUST the music, it's the dancers.

The big band music takes you back — a nostalgic trip in sound and time. The dancers never miss a step, a move. It's as if they had danced together forever.

That's the way it is the first Sunday evening of the month at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Al Townsend and the Ambassadors, a 20-member band, will be back 7-10:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 4 with Doug Kerr, vocalist.

They are quite a group. Take Doug, for instance. He is an accountant for Ford Motor Co. at the Sheldon Road Plant. He and his wife, Fran, live in Plymouth Township. Doug would rather sing than eat. He can belt out a song or keep a ballad sweet and true.

It is evident that they all have a wonderful time making music. There's Frank Tinker, a retired dentist. Maurice Lamey, on trombone, is a professor of music at Eastern Michigan University. Skip Homer, on sax, is a retired geology professor.

And there's young Dave Cavender — Dr. Dave, that is. He plays a mean trumpet and a mighty fine harmonica. Dave takes time out from his medical practice to give harmonica lessons. His father's name may ring a bell. He is George Cavender, former director of the University of Michigan Marching Band.

Al and the Ambassadors may have to give up the Sunday evening dances at the Hilton. The turnout has not been large enough to compensate their time. They do have a following, couples who never miss a dance. One pair — he must have been in his 70s — danced every set at the October party.

Their following is not limited just to oldtimers and the band's repertoire goes from the '40s to the '80s. But that magnificent big band sound is there.

Admission is $6 per person and there is a cash bar. The baskets of popcorn are free. Groups of 20 or more will be admitted for $4 per person. Call Fran, 459-2016, for information. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

PARTY BRIDGE players at the Thursday afternoon games at the Plymouth Cultural Center have been averaging 10 tables in play. Al Weiss had high score Oct. 18 with 6,010 points. Dorothy Shaffer was second.

Peter Zack's 5,900 score took the honors last Thursday with Pete Suchanski coming in second.

THE CANTON Township Beautification Committee is alive and well. Former president Donna Belzer moved away and Arlene Woods has replaced her. Meeting date has been changed to the second Thursday of the month.

The committee will assume the responsibility of naming recipients of beautification awards, a duty handled formerly by the township board.

They plan to order twice as many holiday luminaries as last year, 10,000 instead of 5,000. Christmas Eve has been designated as official light-up time. Families who have bought them in the past, know they can be used again and again throughout the holiday season.

So far, Carolyn O'Keefe and Judy Bloomquist will take orders for Sunflower Village and Maureen Jehanke in Pickwick. More contacts will be announced later.

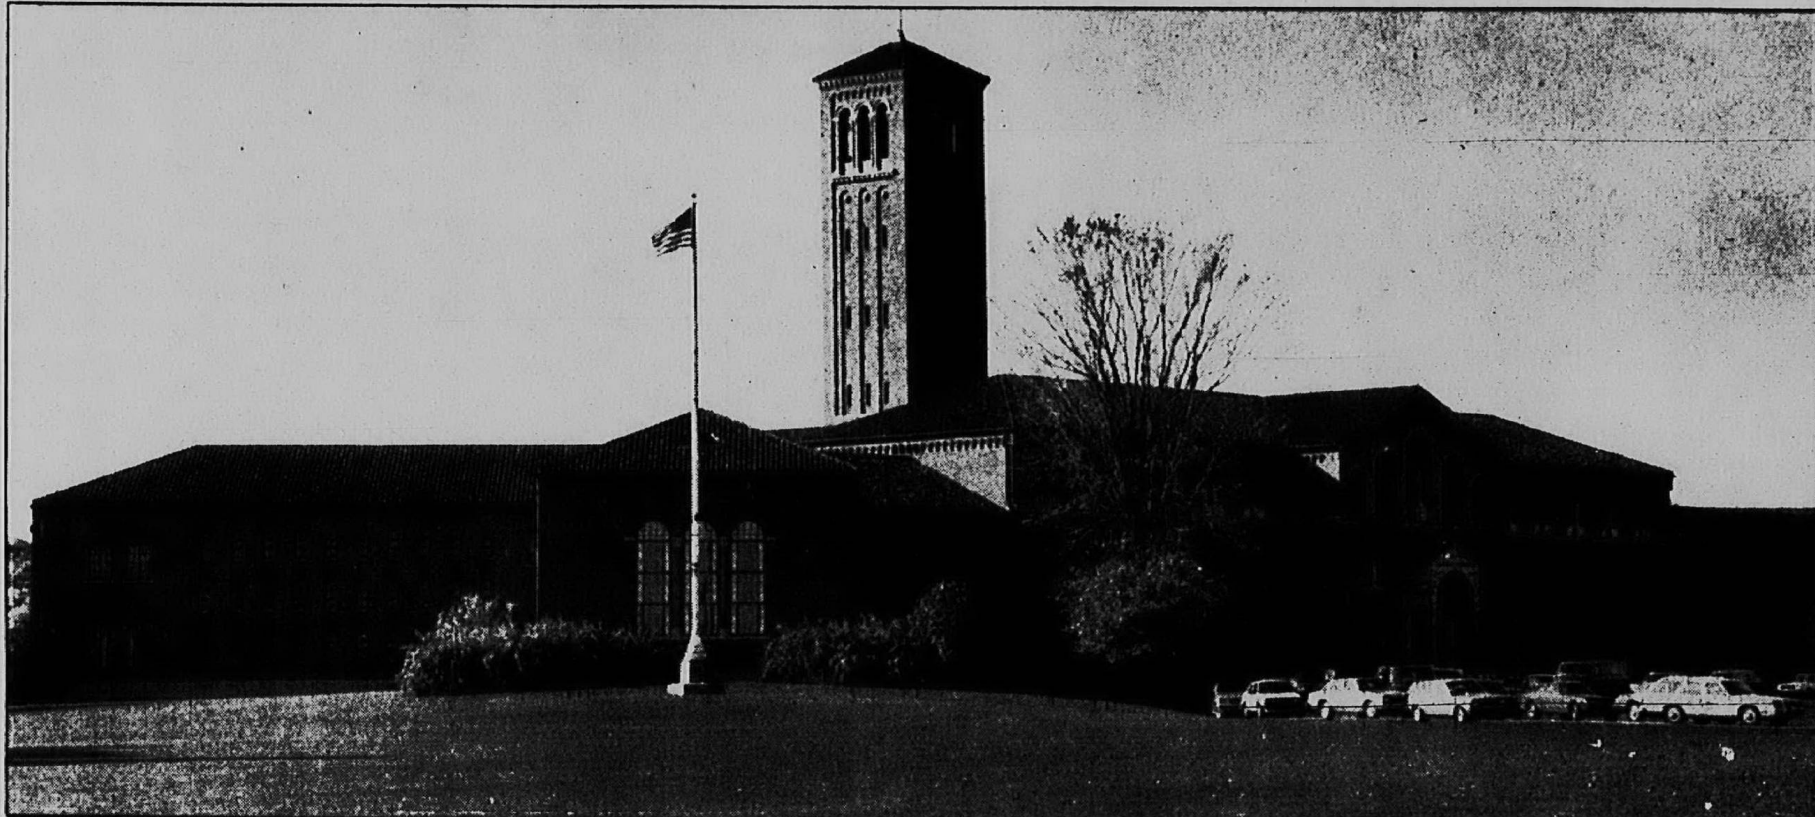

Members of the committee are considering an award for the best-decorated home at Christmas time.

What they need right now is more participation. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 8 in the Township Hall Meeting Room. If you can't make it yourself, delegate someone from your block to represent you and your neighbors.

WEEKENDS are becoming so busy around here it's difficult to keep up with things.

The Plymouth Theatre Guild will present William Inge's "Bus Stop" Saturday in the auditorium of Central Middle School, Main at Church. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. for the romantic comedy. Admission is $4 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and persons 18 and under.

The play opens Friday night but it is a sell-out. "Bus Stop" also is scheduled for the following weekend, Nov. 9 and 10. Tickets may be purchased at the door. For information about group rates, call 455-2632.

The first of the season's musicale series presented by the Plymouth Symphony Society will be in St. John's Seminary, the red brick building on Five Mile at Sheldon in Plymouth Township. The concert at 4 p.m. Sunday will be in the chapel, which is noted for its acoustics.

Enid Sutherland (left) and Penelope Crawford will perform in Sunday's concert.

Musicale series premieres

The first in a series of three Plymouth Musicale concerts will be Sunday afternoon in the chapel of St. John's Seminary. Penelope Crawford and Enid Sutherland, critically acclaimed concert artists, will perform a program of chamber music at 4 p.m.

Members of the audience are invited to meet the artists at a wine and cheese reception after the mini-concert.

The concert is co-sponsored by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and the Plymouth Symphony Society.

Tickets are available in advance at Beitner Jewelry, Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, or at the door the afternoon of the concert. Admission is $5 for adults and $3.50 for senior citizens and students.

CRAWFORD and Sutherland have planned a program featuring music by Beethoven, Bach, Haydn, Boccherini and Beethoven. During the concert, they will provide discussions of the music and their instruments, which are authentic to the period.

Crawford will perform on both fortepiano and harpsichord, Sutherland on cello.

Sutherland specializes in the six suites by Bach. The Milwaukee Sentinel described her performance as "Better Baroque playing, more stylish and luminous, and expressively compelling, doesn't happen anywhere in the world."

She has been guest lecturer in workshops and classes. In the summers, she teaches at the Oberlin Baroque Performance Institute.

SUTHERLAND is a member of the Ars Musica Baroque Orchestra, directs Ann Arbor consort of viols, and gives frequent solo recitals. She teaches viol at the University of Michigan and at various workshops and conferences.

Crawford has received performance degrees from the Eastman School of Music and the U-M, where she is member of the faculty. She has studied at the Akademie Mozarteum in Salzburg and the Accademia di Santa Cecilia in Rome.

She has been keyboard soloist with the Ars Musica Baroque Orchestra since 1974.

THE PLYMOUTH Symphony Society initiated the musicale series last season with two "mini-concerts," one in the Plymouth Historical Museum and another at the seminary. Perfect acoustics at St. John's prompted the decision to have all the 1984-85 series in the chapel.

St. John's Seminary is on Five Mile east of Sheldon in Plymouth Township. The building, completed Oct. 13, 1949, is situated on rolling countryside with a golf course on three sides. It was established under the direction Cardinal Edward Mooney, who is buried in the seminary.

Potent Stevenson repeats as champs

John Gelmisi (middle) of Livonia Stevenson gets a congratulatory handshake from teammate Joe Novak (left) as the Spartans made the count 5-0 early in the second half. Plymouth Salem's Eldon Nash (right) slumps over in disappointment. Stevenson won the Class A regional championship with a 5-1 victory Saturday over Salem at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist. Stevenson advances to state semifinals Wednesday.

Rocks thwarted in regional, 5-1

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Livonia Stevenson scored another potent soccer win Saturday afternoon with a convincing 5-1 victory over Plymouth Salem in the Class A regional boys final at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

The Spartans (19-0-1) are just one step away from reaching the state championship game for the third consecutive year. They'll play Wednesday afternoon in the semifinals on the home field of the Warren DeLaSalle-Northville winner.

"They came here healthy and with a great attitude," said Stevenson coach Pete Scerri, who collected the regional trophy for the third straight year. "They believe in me and they believe in themselves."

The Spartans struck fast and quickly against the Cinderella Rocks.

A Chris Gembis throw-in resulted in a Joe Novak header just 2:50 into the match to give the Spartans a 1-0 lead.

IT WAS LESS than a minute later that Novak (goal) and John Gelmisi (assist) worked a beautiful give-and-go play to make it 2-0 Stevenson.

"Two goals in the first five minutes — that's our trademark," Scerri said. "That's how we usually do it."

At 17:41 of the half, sophomore Lars Ritters scored unassisted to increase the lead to 3-0. That was followed by the clincher, a Gelmisi goal on a throw-in from Jim Kimble, giving the Spartans a 4-0 halftime bulge.

Adding a 13-2 Stevenson margin in shots, the game was over for all intents and purposes at halftime.

soccer

"We ran into a meat grinder," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "It was the same old story. If you want to beat Stevenson, you've got to score first."

"They're powerful when they're on. They're quick, skillful and excellent at every position. And if they score early, you're in trouble."

THE LOSS ended Salem's marvelous late season run.

The Rocks (13-5-1) beat Ann Arbor Huron a week ago Friday in overtime. That was followed by an impressive 5-0 win Tuesday over a formidable Livonia Churchill team and an 4-2 overtime upset victory Thursday over highly regarded Redford Catholic Central.

"I think we were a little drained from Thursday," Johnson said. "It was a hard week. I knew today would be tough. It would almost have taken a miracle."

Early in the second half, Gelmisi notched his second goal on a rebound shot from Novak.

Salem then averted the shutout with three minutes remaining on Mark Flower's school record 17th goal of the year from Dave Dameron.

The Rocks never mounted much of an offensive attack until Scerri sent the reserves in. One of the reasons Salem was limited to a total of six shots on net was junior defender Steve Karfis.

"He's a brick wall," said the Stevenson coach. "You can't penetrate in there against him."

JOHNSON, meanwhile, knew his young Rocks were beaten by a "powerful team."

"I don't know who is going to beat them," he said. "Success breeds success. They have that mystique about them. They're on an entirely different level it seems."

The Spartans even have a copyright on victories — it seems.

Lady Ocelots trip U-M

Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team built up a 2-0 lead and staved off a late University of Michigan charge to post a 2-1 win Wednesday in Ann Arbor.

Sue Ferguson and Amy McCauley scored for Schoolcraft, which raised its record to 13-3-2. Ferguson scored in the opening half, her 30th of the season, with Kris Petit assisting. McCauley scored early in the second half on an assist from Ferguson.

The Ocelots have a three-week layoff before advancing to the NJCAA tournament. Schoolcraft gets an automatic berth because it is the only junior college in the region with a varsity women's soccer program.

Surprise: Salem boots CC

Phil Adzima (18) of Plymouth Salem and CC's Jeff Kuzma battle for possession of the ball in Friday's state regional battle. Adzima won the battle and Salem won the game, 4-2.

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Ken Johnson, Plymouth Salem's soccer coach, had his strategy all mapped out for his team's state regional tournament game against Redford Catholic Central and scoring whiz Andy Rama.

His plan: Don't do anything different. Success is hard to argue against, and success is what the Rocks enjoyed in Thursday's 4-2 overtime victory over CC at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

"That's the old English style," said Johnson. "We play strong defense, kick the long ball into the corner and cross it back into the middle."

And what about Rama, whose 62 goals this season shattered the state record? Any special defensive measures aimed at containing him?

"WE TALKED about it," said Johnson. "But I never believed in man-to-man marking. If you put one man on him, it confuses your defense. The other defenders don't know where to play."

"We were zone marking. If he's in your zone, mark him."

Again, that adjustment — or lack of one — paid off for Salem. Rama was limited to one goal, which he scored on a breakaway after neatly evading one defender and faking Rock goalkeeper Joe Knoerl.

Rama's goal got CC's comeback started. Although the Shamrocks dominated the early stages of the game, it was Salem that scored first on Kevin Sultana's goal after just one minute. Ebon Nash assisted.

Salem made it 2-0 on the first of two scores by Dave Dameron. This one came early in the second half, with Mark Flower assisting.

But Rama got CC's offense on track, and John Rehm knotted the game with three minutes to play on a shot from the right side, forcing the overtime.

Dameron's lightning-quick offensive bursts, which kept CC off-balance throughout the game, proved to be the difference. The pint-sized striker bounced home the game-winning goal seven minutes into the first overtime. Sultana drew the assist.

The deciding goal wasn't the result of a blistering shot unleashed by Dameron, but it was enough. CC goalkeeper Pat Stocker, who had made a brilliant diving save on Flower's point-blank rocket with three minutes left in regulation, wasn't as sharp this time. Dameron's shot from the left side bounced right under the goalkeeper.

IF THERE was a marked difference between the two squads in the overtime, it was steam. Salem had it, while the Shamrocks looked gassed. Still, CC had its chances, the best when Rama wriggled open directly in front of the Salem goal but deflected the centering pass high over the net.

That happened with eight minutes to go in the second 10-minute overtime. A minute later, Dan Jakubowski rolled a shot just wide of the target.

That proved to be CC's last gasp. After fighting back from that two-goal deficit, the Shamrocks ran out of rallies.

CC coach Paul Scicluna argued with officials throughout Friday's contest — until he was red-carded in the game's closing minutes.

With 7:30 to go, CC defender Brent Wasik tried to clear the ball back to Stocker. His kick was weak, and Salem midfielder Mike Messina pounced on the ball and fired it into the net to make it 4-2.

Any hopes for a comeback were dashed when Wasik was red-carded, forcing CC to play the final 4:30 short a man. CC coach Paul Scicluna also got his red card, with two minutes left.

THREE FACTORS gave Salem the advantage heading into the overtime. As Johnson pointed out, "Of the 55 goals we've scored this season, 35 have come in the second half. That's stamina."

Second, according to Johnson, was team personality. "We knew CC was a fiery, volatile bunch," he said. "Ours are the calmest bunch of kids. Very even-tempered. It's just the way they are."

The third factor Johnson hinted at. "They're a good team," he said in appraising CC. "They might be third or fourth in our league."

Which comes as no surprise. The Western Lakes Soccer League is tops in the state. That meant Salem faced tough competition every time out, while CC was the best of a mediocre Catholic League.

The Shamrocks bowed out of the state tournament with an 18-3 record, the loss snapping a 12-game win streak.

Canton defense stones Vikings, Rocks tumble

The Plymouth Canton football team, albeit a bit too late, has put its act together.

The Chiefs took the opening kickoff Friday night and proceeded to run Walled Lake Central out of the CEP facility, 28-0.

Dennis Harvey took the opening kickoff 58 yards. That set up the first score — a 2-yard run by quarterback Dave Knapp.

In the second quarter, Harvey took it in himself from the 1.

Meanwhile, the Canton defense had the normally-potent Viking offense in a stranglehold. On the night, Central had a minus-4 yards rushing. The Vikings completed just eight of 24 passes for 97 yards. The Chiefs allowed just six first downs.

The Chiefs buried the Vikings in the fourth quarter. Sophomore Mike Johnson scored from the 1 and junior Dave Lambert ran in the final score from the 22.

Dave Liuzzo kicked all four extra points.

Harvey was the main weapon in the Chiefs' arsenal. In addition to his punt and kickoff returns, he gained 76 yards in 15 carries. Matt Flower gained 63 yards in just six carries and Johnson rambled for 41.

Canton gained 244 yards on the ground and 41 through the air.

The Western Lakes Activities Association crossover win ups the Chiefs' record to 3-5, the same as Central.

The Chiefs will wrap up the 1984 season at home Friday night against Belleville.

In a perverse sort of way, it's a fitting conclusion to a hideous WLAA season for Tom Moshimer's Plymouth Salem team.

In fact, the Rocks' 2-6 record is the worst since Moshimer's first season back in 1967.

"It's just one of those years, you know, when everything turns to stone," Moshimer said.

"But, we've had our share of good years. We've not been on the other side of the coin too many times," he added. Friday night's affair symbolized Salem's frustration in 1984.

Salem led lowly Walled Lake West-ern 29-15 after three quarters. Quarter-back Steve Sobditch and wide receiver Craig Morton had hooked up on three scintillating scoring passes of 50, 38 and 41 yards.

Back Kevin Riley added another on a 63-yard run.

The Rocks were looking like winners. Then the roof caved in. Western scored a pair of TDs to pull within two, 29-27. With 1:03 left in the game, Salem faced a third-down-and-5 situation at its own 6.

In a similar situation against North Farmington on the first night of the season, Salem elected to punt on third down. The punter however, stepped out of the end zone for a safety and North rallied to win.

This time, Moshimer elected to pass for the first down. Sobditch was sacked in the end zone for a safety which tied the game.

"I know we'll be criticized for passing on that play," Moshimer said. "But, what the heck. If we punt out of there, the way they had been moving the ball on us, who's to say they don't take it in. A least we had overtime."

Salem got the ball first in overtime and scored on a 4-yard pass from Sobditch to Brian Beals. Mark Dixon added the point after.

Western came back to score on its possession, a 1-yard run by quarterback John Dora. Western elected to go for the two-point conversion and the win. Dora took it in from the 2.

It was the Rocks' third overtime loss of the season.

"That's got to be some kind of record," Moshimer said.

The loss wasted another brilliant performance by receiver Morton. He caught eight passes for 159 yards and the three TDs.

"If he's not an all-state receiver then I don't know who is," said Moshimer.

Western pounded the Rock defensive line for 281 yards rushing. The Warriors amassed another 50 through the air.

"It's the same old story. We just don't stop anyone," said the Salem coach.

The Rocks gained 163 yards passing and 91 rushing. Riley picked up 85 yards in 10 carries.

The Rocks will close out the season at Redford Union.

Mulroy lights fire under Chiefs after win

Falcons frighten Rocks again

One thing has been consistent about the Plymouth Canton girls basketball team: It won't play two "good" games in a row.

"It was in keeping with our constant — the only thing consistent about our basketball team — we can't play two good games in back-to-back," Canton coach John Mulroy said.

Don't get the wrong idea. Mulroy wasn't totally displeased. The Chiefs did beat Livonia Churchill Thursday 38-34. It just wasn't very pretty.

girls basketball

"We played well enough to win, and I'm very happy about that," he said. "And we played a team that is tough to beat in their own gym. But, we can play much better."

"Our goal was to play four good quarters. And I'm very disappointed that we weren't able to."

Canton carried an eight-point lead into the later stages of the fourth quarter. But Churchill made a strong run, closing the gap to four points. Fortunately for Canton, time ran out.

"It was as if we were playing not to lose. We'd go up by six and eight points then go into cruise control, and Churchill would come back."

Mulroy was also disappointed in his team's defensive execution.

"We used to play a serious man-to-man defense. If last night was any indication, we have completely lost our ability to play it."

Mulroy's remarks aren't thrown off the cuff. It is time, he said, for the Chiefs to get down to business.

"We have yet to play up to our potential. We haven't played two good games in a row yet, and it's getting to the time of year when we are going to have to play two, three and four good games in a row if we want to keep playing," he said, referring to the state tournament.

Laura Darby paced the Chiefs Thursday with 12 points. Beth Frigge added 10 and Diana Knickerbocker eight.

Terri Schmidt scored 10 for Churchill.

Canton is now 7-7 on the season.

SALEM 43, FARMINGTON 40: One more victory will clinch a Lakes Division title for Plymouth Salem, and mercifully, that victory will not have to come against Farmington.

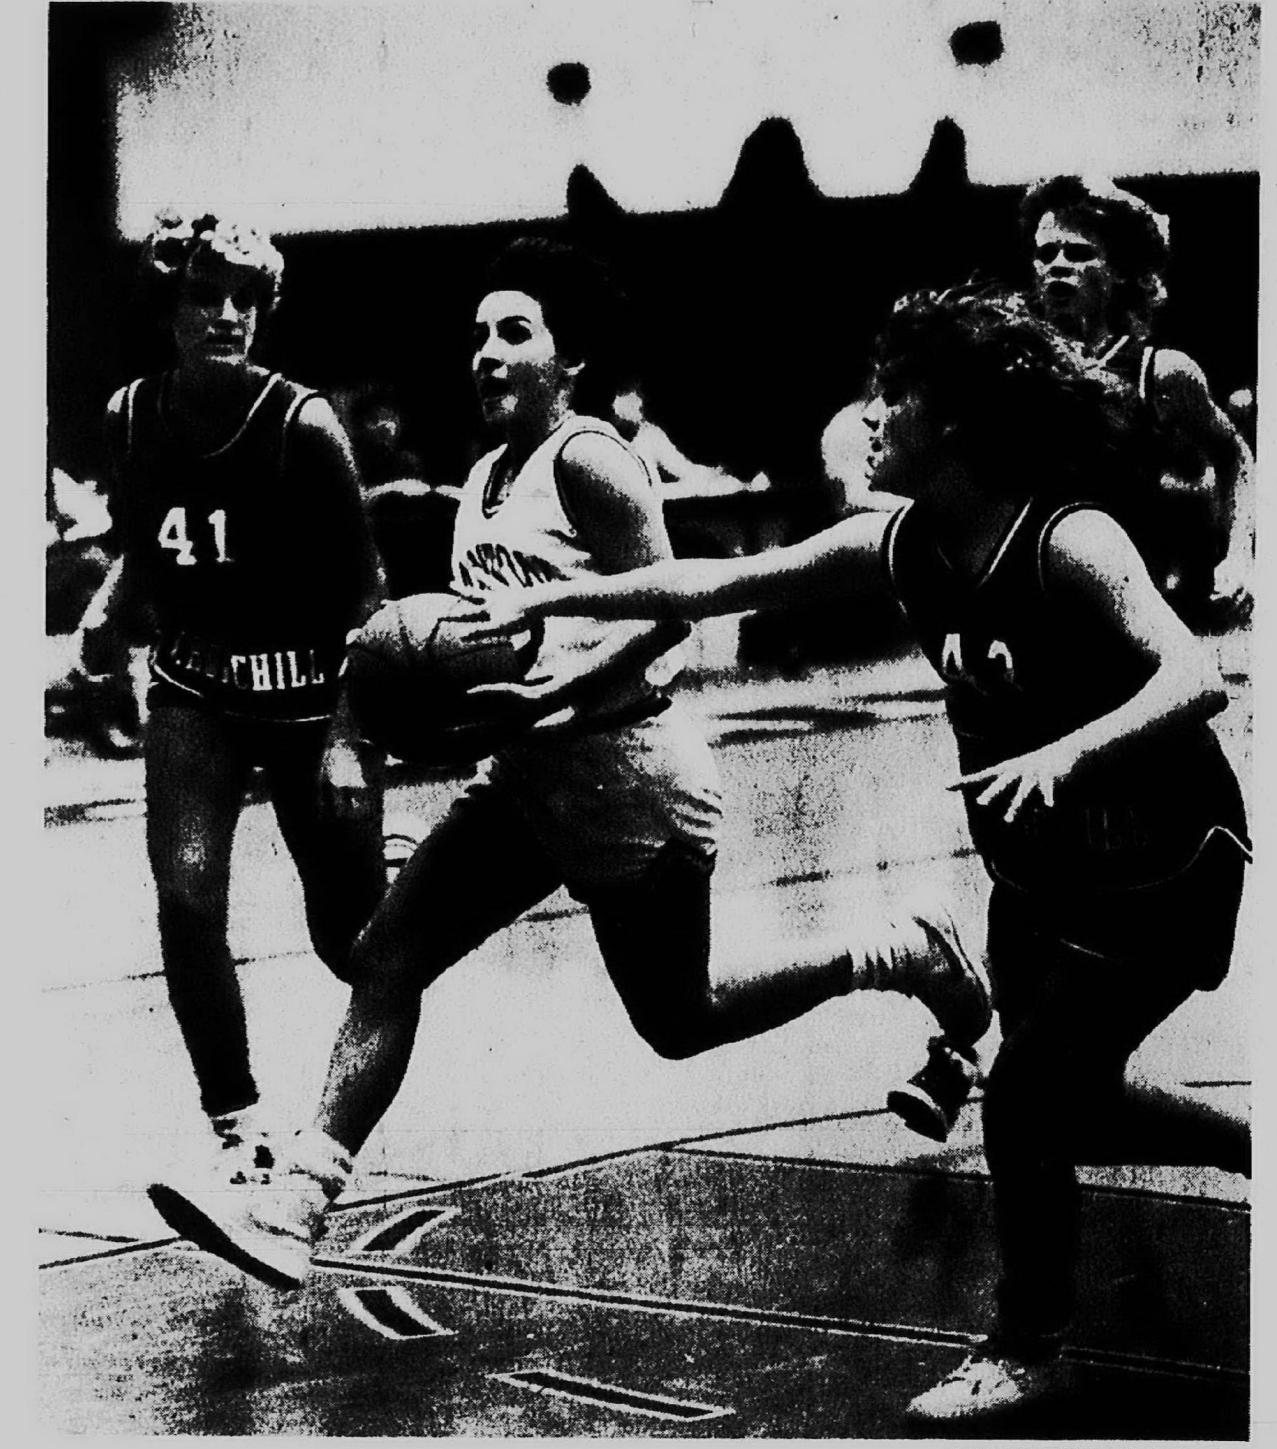

For the second time this season, Farmington gave the Rocks fits. In the first meeting, the Falcons stunned the Rocks in their own gym. On Thursday, the Falcons took Salem to the wire before bowing out.

"It's not a jinx," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "At least, I don't think it is. We just match up funny."

Salem led 31-24 entering the final quarter. But, charged by a seven-point spurt from Patti Mathews, Farmington got within a point, 41-40, with less than a minute to play.

Fran Whittaker made one free throw. Then the Rocks forced a turnover, and Dena Head iced the win with another free throw with 15 seconds left.

"We have a hard time maintaining the intensity factor from game to game, but no, we weren't flat," Thomann said. "We knew they could beat us."

CAMILLE McCOY/staff photographer

Canton's Beth Frigge (pictured in the Churchill game played earlier this season) scored 10 points to help the Chiefs get by Churchill in Thursday's rematch.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Dena Head, a freshman, had a huge night for Plymouth Salem. She scored 17 points and grabbed 12 rebounds in a victory against Farmington.

Equestrian shines

Jeff Wilson, a senior at Plymouth Canton High School, was the driving force behind Team Michigan's strong showing at the Area VII Team Challenge Horse Trials Oct. 20-21.

Team Michigan placed third out of five teams in the senior training division of the equestrian competition which took place at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, Ky.

Wilson led Michigan in scoring and placed fourth in a field of 20 riders in his division. Wilson, officially a junior (under 18 years of age) competed in the senior division.

Wilson, coached by Sue Hughes of Plymouth, Rosemary Gordon and Fritz Weiss, has been riding for eight years. He is a member of the United States Combined Training Association, the Michigan Combined Training Association, and the Midwest Dressage Association.

He is a contender for the position of top junior training level rider in Michigan.

Rocks whip division co-champ

The Plymouth Salem swim team flashed both its talented individuals and overall team depth in sinking Western Division co-champs Farmington Harrison Thursday night, 110-62.

The Rocks took seven of 11 firsts and seven of 11 seconds in the meet.

Laura Shaffer won two events and anchored a winning relay for Salem. She won the 200-yard individual medley in 2:25.5 and the 100 butterfly in 1:06.9.

She and teammates Kristal Taylor, Karen Dalpe and Tracy Meszaros brought home the 400 freestyle relay in 3:59.2.

Other winners for Salem were: Cindy Elliott in the 50 free (27.2), Taylor in the 100 free (58.3), Lindsay Olson in the 100 backstroke (1:13.8) and the 200 medley relay (Olson, Sue Bonnett, Shannon Murphy and Elliott in 2:07.3).

Melissa Joy won two events for the Hawks. She just edged Taylor in the 200 free, swimming a 2:04.72 to Taylor's 2:04.76. And she won the 500 free in 5:41.2.

Catherine Tucker won the 100 breaststroke for the Hawks in 1:17.7. Diver Charleen Willson took first with 164.85 points.

The win leaves Salem at 9-3 on the season, Harrison is 6-3-1.

PLYMOUTH CANTON didn't come close to beating the state's and the

swimming area's No. 1 ranked team, Livonia Stevenson, but they had a lot of fun.

"It really is fun to swim against a team of that caliber," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman after his club took a 116-56 thumping from the Spartans.

"They (Stevenson) are so loose and have such a good time, it's a good experience for my girls to see."

Lyn Massey captured the only Canton first, winning the 50 freestyle in 25.8. Massey also swam her best time of the year in the 100 free (57.24) but placed second to Stevenson's Sherrie Sudek (54.9).

But the race of the day was in the 100 butterfly. Stevenson's Sheila Taormina (59.44) nipped Ginnie Johnson (1:00.28), the best times for both swimmers.

"What you had there was two of the top six butterflyers in the state," Wellman said.

Stevenson is 9-0 on the season. Canton, the Western Division co-champs, are 5-3-1.

college sports

● POPP IS TOPS

Rich Popp, Wayne State's sophomore quarterback from Livonia Franklin, guided the Tartars to their third-straight win, a 23-7 victory over Ferris State on Oct. 20 by completing 22 of 31 passes for 263 yards and a touchdown.

Popp's showing earned him Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) Offensive Player of the Week honors.

For the season, Popp has connected on 121 of 231 passes (.524 percent) for 1,588 yards and 10 touchdowns, with 13 intercepted. Wayne State is 4-4 overall and 3-1 in the GLIAC.

Keith Percin, a Livonia Bentley grad now a sophomore at Wayne State, also had an interception against Ferris. For Percin, a free safety, it was his second of the season.

Also earning a nomination for GLIAC Defensive Player of the Week honors was Saginaw Valley linebacker Darrel Bartkowiak, a Plymouth Salem alum. Saginaw Valley edged Northern Michigan 28-23.

● MIAA'S BEST

Ed Ewald personally manhandled Olivet last Saturday (Oct. 20), making nine tackles, including two quarterback sacks, causing one fumble and breaking up a pass in Albion's 20-7 triumph. His performance earned him Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) Defensive Player of the Week accolades.

Ewald, a sophomore linebacker from Redford and a Redford Catholic Central grad, has 41 tackles, eight for losses and six quarterback sacks, on the season.

● KELLEY KILLS RECORD

Karen Kelley has been playing for Georgia's volleyball team for just a year and a half, and already she's established herself as the best "killer" in school history.

Kelley, a Livonia Stevenson grad who spent two years at Schoolcraft College before earning a scholarship to Georgia, eclipsed the former mark of 745 set by Jane Lembke in 1982.

The record fell in Georgia's four-game match loss to Louisiana State Oct. 21. For the season, Kelley is second in the Southeastern Conference (SEC) in blocks (1.22 per game) and is third in both kills (3.58 per game) and hitting percentage (.310 average). She had 755 career kills through the LSU match.

● LEADING RUNNER

Mike Nugent led Hillsdale College to a third-place finish in the GLIAC cross country meet last Saturday (Oct. 20) at Saginaw Valley State.

Nugent, a senior from Farmington Hills and a NAIA All-American, paced the Chargers with a fourth-place finish overall (31:59). Saginaw Valley won the team competition.

● SPIKING SUCCESS

Lake Superior State's volleyball team came up with consecutive wins over GLIAC foes and Deb Soule, a senior from Garden City, spurred the victories.

Soule pounded in 13 kills in the Lakers 15-9, 9-15, 15-13, 15-7 win over Saginaw Valley Oct. 20, then followed that with 15 kills in a 15-10, 15-12, 15-11 home-court win over Michigan Tech Oct. 21.

The wins gave Lake Superior a 10-14 overall record, 2-5 in the GLIAC.

● CHIP UPSET

Central Michigan's soccer squad upset Miami of Ohio 1-0 behind the play of Livonia's Marty Caves and Farmington Hills Dan Myers. Caves scored the game's only goal, putting a loose ball into the net following a corner kick in overtime. Myers, the Chippewa goalkeeper, made it stand up, blanking Miami for 110 playing minutes.

Pro Bowlers hit Satellite Lanes

bowling

When the nation's foremost male bowlers step out on the lanes at Satellite Bowl in neighboring Dearborn Heights this week to compete in the Detroit Open, they will add further proof to the old saying that great oaks from little acorns grow.

They will be bidding for a share of the $125,000 prize money in the event that is sponsored by the Professional Bowlers Association and add another touch to the dream that professional bowlers could take their place with the leaders in any other sport.

And standing with them will be Earl Anthony, the left hander who is considered the best of them all because he was the first bowler to earn more than $1 million in his career.

TO SHOW their pride in Anthony, he was the honored guest at a special luncheon on Thursday at the Fairlane Club, and was highly praised for his part in helping pro bowling gain acceptance around the world.

It was back in 1958 that Eddie Elias, a youthful Akron attorney, conceived the idea that there was a place in bowling for the pro. And he set about to prove it.

The idea was quickly approved by the bowlers and it wasn't long until the first schedule was arranged. It consisted of only three events, but they were successful and paved the way for the giant organization it is today.

One of the first things Elias did was study the strength of the Detroit all-star classics, then reputed to be the best in the land, and picked several of its stars for the inaugural. Among them were Ed Lubanski, Harry Smith, Buzz Fazio, Don Carter and Tom Hennessey.

From that meager start, his Professional Bowlers Association has grown to one with 2,800 members and a giant prize money fund annually.

FROM THE START, the pro programs proved popular on the TV airwaves each Saturday afternoon and today the ratings are high even in competition with other sports.

And much of the credit should go to Anthony, who helped to take the curse off left hand bowlers by winning more than $1 million before he retiring a year ago.

Until Anthony came along, it always was felt that a southpaw had no chance because the lanes always were "tough" on his side. But the cool-headed Westerner soon dispelled that idea.

As he moved along collecting one purse after another, he gave the southpaws consideration where they never had it before. And now he is back in the fold — not as bowler, but as a broadcaster in nationally televised tournaments.

Only a Beatle fan could suffer through McCartney's folly

Paul McCartney fans will probably flock to his current release, "Give My Regards to Broadstreet," but only the faithful will know why they have come.

Although good-spirited, the film is simple-minded to a painful degree and for nearly two hours the alleged plot meanders from one McCartney number to another as Paul tries to recover the master tape for his new album.

We never learn, until the end, what evil has befallen tape delivery man, trusted employee and ex-con Harry. (That's all one guy, folks!) By the end of the film, who cares?

Meanwhile, as midnight nears and the evil character threatens to take over the McCartney music empire, Paul searches for Harry and the tapes.

THE SEARCH is rather lackadaisical and performed, as time permits, in between musical numbers. It obviously doesn't matter all that much. If they don't care, why should we? For all practical purposes, a "Paul McCartney in Concert" film would have served the same purpose to better advantage.

The musical numbers are numerous, varied and OK, I guess, if you like that sort of stuff. Even within the framework of romantic musical comedy and that genre's lack of realism, it strains the imagination to see McCartney involved in so many rehearsals and productions in one day.

The musical style varies extensively from one number to the next, some mellow, a couple of mainstream rock and one elaborate dance sequence that looks like a 1940s MGM musical set attacked by the kids from "Fame" and "Footloose."

Much of the alleged story is told via flashbacks, flashforwards and sequences in McCartney's imagination. All these episodes are pretty thin. Their only substance is an excuse for another McCartney number.

The one exception, and the film's only moment of tension, is an extended 19th-century sequence that might have been designed by Edgar Allan Poe on one of his better days. It comes off as a somber, macabre music-video but it is entertaining and visually exciting. Not enough, however, to warrant the trip to your local Bijou.

MC CARTNEY'S SEARCH for Harry and the tapes is aided weakly by wife Linda, drummer Ringo Starr and by Barbara Bach as a semi-character supposedly interviewing Ringo for the book she's writing. Mainly she and Ringo make eyes at each other in very childish style, not even PG.

The best thing about the film program is an animated cartoon, "Rupert and the Frog Song," which opens the show. This curtain-raiser, conceived and produced by the McCartneys, is based on a Winnie-the-Pooh-style cartoon character, popular in British newspapers. Hopefully Rupert will be available for your viewing pleasure without the "Broadstreet" encumbrance.

If listening and watching McCartney is worth four bucks, go see "Give My Regards to Broadstreet." If you expect a sensible story or anything more than McCartney, stay home.

Trend may be to drier wines

It is easy to take Gallo for granted. Available nearly everywhere, it seems to go on and on, always selling the same wine at fair prices. Its strength is its consistency, stability and predictability. Gallo not only dominates, it endures.

But it also changes and, watched closely, is a good barometer of public consumption. Gallo was there to capture the pop wine field for a few years, it avoided the disaster of "light" wines and broadened dramatically into cork-finished varietals when it was sure the public was ready for them.

Now two new releases have hit local shelves, both carrying the word "dry" prominently on their labels. They are a chablis and burgundy and carry the word "reserve" as well, a meaningless term but one that allows it to charge a higher price.

Presumably, Gallo believes the public is ready for drier wines than have been marketed under the Chablis Blanc and Hearty Burgundy designations. These latter will not be replaced, of course, but even the hint of drier wines suggests a trend. Don't forget Gallo's marketing sense!

THE DRY CHABLIS is dry, truly dry, even tart. Not lacking in some humble fruit flavors, it is by a bunch drier than anything that bulk producers have offered thus far. Excellent for delicate fish and oysters at about $3.50 the bottle.

To evaluate the Dry Burgundy, I assembled a taste panel to compare it with the established Hearty Burgundy. There was easily developed a consensus that the Dry Burgundy was the better food accompaniment, it being less full and rich. But all agreed both were pleasing wines that could readily be enjoyed at any time. A close vote for the new kid was earned unanimously.

Finally available locally, though it has been in national distribution for a couple of years, is another Gallo offering. Under its Andre label, there is now a champagne with a brut designation. Priced about a dollar above the regular issues, this is well worth the added money. The cloying sweetness of its extra dry is replaced with a fairly crisp, almost yeasty sparkler. Local cost ranges between $3.99 and $4.99 the bottle.

Lastly, there seems to be a new cu-

wine

vee of Gallo's non-vintaged Cabernet Sauvignon (Limited Release) that is now available. This one is either clearly superior to its predecessor or has taken well to its additional bottle aging.

Bottles procured by your merchant this fall will come under this category; there is no other way to distinguish it from its predecessor. At $6.50 the bottle, it has very nice varietal character.

MICHIGAN HAS finally made it the big time in California wine issues. We have to date lacked but one winery to be able to boast a full complement of national wines available to us. Now the last has finally come in, Trefethen Vineyards of Napa.

Trefethen, long considered among the finest producers at affordable prices, has at last reached terms with a local distributor to handle its wines. The first consignment brought chardonnay, cabernet, riesling, pinot noir and its two proprietals, Eshcol Red and White.

The varietals are decently priced, while the last two are a bit high for blends, but the quality is there to support the $5.50-$6.50 price. This white, incidentally, carries the names and percentages of the grapes used in the blend. The red does not.

Best release lately department: The new 1983 Duxoup Gamay Noir is now out and is its best release to date. Rich, full, earthy, this is not the same clone responsible for the simple gamay beajolais and pinot noir wine we too often see. Compare it to the Charles Shaw. Both are excellent in their own manner.
