Add-ons nixed for downtown

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plans to expand Plymouth's Downtown Development Authority (DDA) district were whittled down at last week's City Commission meeting.

More than 20 properties were targeted by the city administration for inclusion in the DDA but the commission voted to add only two.

The DDA was established in 1983 to provide a method for financing the construction of a parking deck in the Central Parking Lot.

Through its tax increment financing plan, the DDA captures increased tax revenues on DDA properties. The property tax increases are brought on by higher state equalized valuations (SEVs) caused by either an increase in the real market value or development of the property, or both.

When the DDA district originally was established there was considerable debate over which downtown properties should be included.

Theoretically, the properties in the district should derive benefit from the parking deck project — although DDA funds can pay for items other than the construction bond debt. Among the other items permissible are DDA administrative costs, beautification projects, snow removal, and the purchase and renovation of housing to rid the district of "urban blight."

IN '83, Graper said the DDA funds would come close to covering the annual cost of the construction bond debt.

Because the DDA revenues most likely will increase in future years, due to rising values, he said DDA revenues over and above the bond costs would be refunded to the other taxing jurisdictions in coming years.

Although the DDA funds are expected to exceed the debt obligation, Graper asked to add the more than 20 properties.

"These properties should have been part of the original district but were omitted," he said. "This was an oversight by my staff and the attorneys involved."

Those properties are on the perimeter of the DDA — along Harvey Street, Ann Arbor Trail, Elizabeth, Wing, and Deer. They included mostly commercial and office property as well as some residential.

"At this point we don't see any more properties to put in the DDA," Graper said.

The commission saw the additional properties differently.

"I'm not sure the original DDA was in error," said Commissioner Mary Ellen McKeercher. She believes adding the properties would be an "encroachment on residential property."

Although Graper said the commission could say no to changing residential property to commercial in the future, McKeercher said she was "saying no to it now."

"I BELIEVE this could send a signal to the residents that their property was getting prepared to be developed," said Commissioner Ron Loiselle.

Likewise, Mayor David Pugh wasn't in favor of including all the targeted properties. He suggested just adding two lots — those used for a new veterinary clinic at the corner of Wing and Deer — which ultimately was approved.

"I guess the advantage to adding all the properties would be in the event of a significant increase in the SEV, it would be dedicated to the DDA," Pugh said.

"Those properties could be developed in the future and there is an administrative advantage in that we would not have to go through this procedure again," he said.

"The disadvantage is that we should be concerned about the perception of intrusion on residential zonings. The adjacent areas don't provide that much of an increase to the DDA anyway," he said.

Commissioner Mary Childs' motion to table the matter was defeated.

That motion was followed by one incorporating Pugh's suggestion — to add just the vet clinic's two lots.

The motion passed in a 4-3 vote with Commissioners William Robinson, Jack Kenyon and Childs voting no.

Subsequent action was taken to amend the DDA's tax increment financing plan to reflect the addition to the district.

Lynch resigns to keep her job

By Gary M. Cates

Three weeks before her term expired, Trustee Barbara Lynch resigned from the Plymouth Township board a day after the group's vote on a computer software contract.

Lynch, an employee of Analysis Planning, a firm that now services the township's computer system, left the board Nov. 8 rather than face a possible conflict of interest situation. Her current term was to end Dec. 1.

Though the board, which voted 4-2 (with Lynch abstaining) in favor of the contract, was aware of Lynch's association with the firm, it specified Lynch be prohibited from performing any township-related work in her full-time job.

"I resigned for two reasons: first, I have to have a job, and, second, I happen to know the computer system inside out," Lynch said last week.

"I had no other choice in order to get the tax bills done. I certainly would have preferred not to," she said.

The contract was put on the agenda by Supervisor Maurice Breen, to ensure that revisions to the township's computer software be completed in time to meet the December deadline for mailing tax bills. He hired Analysis Planning because of its past work with the township.

Breen asked that the contract be retroactive to Oct. 1, because he already authorized work on the township's CATO computer system.

"The county doesn't have the data anymore to print the bills and we needed to be done by the middle of November. The treasurer needs a couple of weeks to sort them and mail them," said Lynch, who already "was working on the system with Analysis."

Barbara Lynch

DURING THE night's discussion, the board bounced around the question of a possible conflict of interest. As a result, a motion to approve the contract made by Trustee Andy Pruner failed for lack of a second.

Trustee Smith Horton then motioned to approve the contract and prohibited Lynch from doing the work. Pruner seconded.

A voice vote on Horton's motion, with Lynch abstaining, appeared to be a three-three split: Horton, Pruner, and Clerk Esther Hulsing in favor, with Breen, Treasurer Joe West and Trustee Lee Fidge against.

In a roll call, the vote appeared to be the same until Breen switched and voted yes. A three-three split would have meant the motion failed.

A fall day in Amish country of Ohio found this farmer out working in his field and our 1984 color photo contest winner Emily Patz caught this fading bit of Americana.

Emily Patz

A penchant for trips to the Amish country in Ohio has reaped a fall harvest of sorts for Birmingham's Emily Patz.

After only four years behind a camera, Patz came out tops among more than 150 entries in this year's Observer & Eccentric color photography contest.

Her efforts have won her a week-end at the Livonia Holiday Inn, $100 in cash and $25 in Holiday money.

Other top finishers in the competition were Gail Yurasek of Farmington Hills, who placed second. Third spot was taken by James Higgins of Grass Lake, Mich. Higgins was visiting the Westland area when he saw the color-photo-contest entry blank in the newspaper.

The second-place finisher will be awarded $50 in cash and the third-place winner will be awarded $25.

THE SECOND- and third-place photographs can be seen on the back of this section.

Judging for this year's competition was done by Observer & Eccentric staff members Randy Borst, staff photographer; Gary Cates, reporter; Marie McGee, Wayne County suburban life editor; Mindy Saunders, staff photographer; and Steve Barnaby, community editor.

Patz enjoys traveling with her friends from the Motor City Camera Club and the Detroit Camera Club Council to take photographs in Ohio to take photographs of this vanishing culture.

"This is the third time I've been to Ohio in the fall with friends. I'm very hesitant to take pictures of them (the Amish). So I stood at the road to take this one," she said.

The Amish are reluctant to have their pictures taken, she said, but they ignore photographers if they stay far enough away and don't interfere with their farming.

F2A with a 200mm lens, ASA 64 film, at 1/2 second exposure.

"I DID use a red enhancing filter to bring out the colors," said Patz, who said the photo was taken on an overcast October day.

The judges particularly liked the mood created by Patz's winning photograph.

"It was obviously spontaneous," said Barnaby. "You just don't go around setting up shots of the Amish at work. It also was a clever interpretation of the competition's theme, 'Autumn Action.'"

Patz says she always wanted to be involved in photography and the hobby mixes well with her desire to be outside.

Although she enjoys photography, she has other interests of an artistic nature — one of which is oil painting. She has taken lessons in that medium, but says she's "not doing any great things."

Holiday trees arrive at area lots

Artificial trees are prepared to offer a sales challenge to the firs

By W. W. Edger
staff writer

When Santa Claus comes down the chimneys on Christmas Eve he'll find plenty of trees decorating the Plymouth community.

In fact, from all indications there will be more to decorate than there have been in the past few years.

And in the decorating you'll find that the new style of electric-trimmed trees will be more plentiful than on his recent trips.

The major portion of the trees, most of which have been grown in the Cadillac area up north, arrived at the Sparr greenhouse and floral shop over the past weekend and the clusters of 600 trees there were all of the favorites — at any size one wanted.

Close on the heels the roadside stand on Joy Road, just east of Main Street, will have its lot filled with the favorite evergreens over the coming weekend.

There will be one change from other years. It won't be the corner of Haggerty Road and Ann Arbor Road where for many years there always has been a large assortment of the jewels of the north country.

This big lot is no more. Due to the increase in the economy, the lot was sold during the past year and there now is a Burger King where once stood the trees that made many a home an interesting place during the holidays.

THERE IS a growth in the demand for the artificial, electric trees this year. And those who design the trimmings have produced many pleasing new designs. The popularity of these decorations is making it a real battle among the sales forces — the battle between the real trees and the artificial newcomers.

While these products are fighting it out for the favorite role, the yuletide flowers are in greater demand than they have been in the past years.

Over at the Sparr's there are rows and rows of poinsettia and these along with the wreaths and evergreen roping are available for all sizes of rooms and decorations.

Across the corner at Graye's Greenhouse there is another long string of rows of the poinsettia that make the color in full keeping with the Christmas tide.

The flower shops, including Heide's on Ann Arbor Trail, expect a demand for home decorations for the tables and this year the array of flowers and potted plants surpasses those of other years.

So Santa will have a busy time of it until all the trees are trimmed, the potted flowers put in their place and the stockings filled.

From a decorative standpoint this promises to be a great Christmas in the Plymouth community.

And, as usual, the city will lead the way with the decorations in Kellogg Park. Folks come from the surrounding communities to see the Three Wise Men as they move a bit each night toward the Nativity scene on Main Street.

Learning summit called

By Kathy Parrish

- Expanded testing of students, with their achievements being measured in more areas and at higher levels.
- More early childhood education with preschool provided two hours twice a week for four-year-olds.
- Extension of the school year, increasing attendance and decreasing the dropout rate.
- Statewide accreditation of schools, with help given to local districts to overcome problem areas.
- Tighter certification of teachers, with special training to teach middle school. Elementary teachers would be certified for grades K-4 and obtain a middle level certificate valid for grades 5-8. A high school level certificate would be valid for grades 9-12. Teachers would be urged to get two of the three certificates.
- Development by the state of model student attendance codes and discipline policies.

ONE OF THE hottest issues statewide is the early childhood proposal, with a lot of concern voiced about who would administer the programs, deliver them and what they would be like.

Task Force member Richard J. Allen told the crowd the state might be best to do some more study before starting a statewide preschool program.

"It will be a tough area to put together a report and recommendation," said Allen, a former state senator.

"And if we can put together a recommendation the governor can support without getting run out of town."

Livonia Principal Richard Gornick was among those objecting to a proposal to lengthen the school year by 10 days. He said his district would rather put the money into upgrading programs and cutting class size.

"Perpetuating or adding or doubling the same thing doesn't help," he suggested.

Cancer dectection

Center does double duty cutting risks, cutting costs

By Story by: Loraine McClish
Photos by: Randy Borst
staff writer

A new center in preventive medicine — a center that is based on statistical facts which show cancer is survivable with early detection — has opened under the auspices of two area surgeons. . . A four-month pilot program run in Southfield out of the offices of Dr. Peter M. Goodman and Dr. Eliezer Basse outgrew itself to become the American Cancer Detection Center at 31400 Northwestern Highway. It is the only center of its kind in the U.S. dedicated exclusively to the detection of that miniscule cell that can eventually cause heartache, mutilation or death. And it's the only center of its kind that holds every known cancer test and treatment under one roof. Goodman and Basse think of the center as a natural part of the explosion of outside-of-hospital care services now happening throughout the country because of the burgeoning costs. Goodman describes the center as "a convenient, efficient state-of-the-art program which is inherently more dedicated, cheaper, and more quality-oriented than the conventional ad-hoc screening provided by individual practitioners in separate offices."

OF THE WEAPONS available in the fight against cancer today, there is no question in the two surgeons' minds that early detection is the most potent. "With early detection there is a dramatic increase in the chances for cure and the treatment itself is often less complicated," Goodman said. "On the other hand, if cancer is detected after it has spread, the chances for five-year survival almost always are less than 50 percent."

The two surgeons also are adamant in their belief that a proposed network of centers throughout the U.S., "all cloned from the one in Farmington Hills," in Goodman's words, will have four major potential impacts on cancer deaths:

- They project the reduction of breast cancer mortality by 30 percent.
- They project a decrease in the incidence of colon cancer by 40 percent and mortality from that by 60 percent.

• They project a decrease in the mortality from cervical, uterine and ovarian by cancer 60-90 percent.

• And they project a reduction in the mortality from cancers of the oral cavity, skin, testicles, prostate and bladder 33-90 percent.

ONE GOING into the center can expect a thorough going-over that begins with the patient filling out a written questionnaire and winds up with a one-to-one consultation with a doctor.

"These kinds of head-to-toe cancer detection programs have long been advocated by the American Cancer Society, but almost never exist in practice, at least in this country," Goodman said. "The unique thing about our program is that this long-recommended approach is offered in a single, self-sufficient facility dedicated to cancer detection."

To perform the tasks the staff consists of four physicians, board-certified surgeons or gastroenterologists and six nurses under an experienced office manager.

The center contains an X-ray suite, an endoscopy suite, ultrasonography equipment and some simple surgical equipment as well as a medium-level computer system for patient medical information storage and retrieval.

An important factor in the surgeons' future plans is that everyone of their proposed centers be reproducible to the last detail. They will look alike, be equipped alike, be staffed alike and function alike for maximal medical function and impact.

Ultimately every center's computer system will communicate to the others. It is through this concept, along with the research capability of a gigantic patient base, that they expect to bring about the biggest impact on cancer mortality of any program in the U.S.

AMONG ALL of the disappointing statistics that pour out of the research laboratories, the surgeons point to the fact that all treatment modalities combined are not increasing cure frequency at any rapid rate.

These include surgery, radiation therapy and chemotherapy.

Further, there is no evidence which clearly identifies a causative agent.

The fight against cancer has for years remained a three-pronged attack consisting of prevention, detection and treatment. Of these Goodman says, "I can't tell you how to prevent cancer, which takes care of that factor. The odds on too-late treatment is not promising, which takes care of that factor. Clearly then, early detection is not only the most potent but the most cost effective of the three prongs."

With a history of each patient spelled out on a better than 100-part questionnaire, combined with a head-to-toe examination, Dr. Peter Goodman says he can assure that patients will never be subjected to or have to pay for any unnecessary tests.

Dr. Eliezer Basse (at left) detects the most miniscule of calcifications in the breast area using a treated paper for the X-ray developed for this purpose by Zerox. At right, Lanelle Brooks, a radiology technologist, works with ultrasound in the search for a tumor in the pancreas and kidney areas. Brooks applied her expertise in the planning of American Cancer Detection Center.

Arrest made in Hines Park shooting

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

One man has been arrested and another is being sought in connection with a shooting incident in Hines Park a week ago Saturday morning. An 18-year-old Livonia man and a 24-year-old Plymouth man were shot at by three men outside the old Wilcox Road Wayne County Road Commission yard shortly after 4 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 17. No one was injured when a bullet, fired from a high-powered rifle, ripped through the complainant's car. The Livonia man ducked as the shot was fired and the bullet reportedly went through the back of his car seat.

Bullet just misses man

Scott Flourre, 22, of Howell in Livonia was arrested by Plymouth Police last week and arraigned in 35th District Court. Flourre stood mute to a charge of transporting a loaded firearm and Judge James Garber entered an innocent plea. As of Friday afternoon, Flourre was being held in the Plymouth jail in lieu of $100 cash bond. Pretrial is set for Dec. 3.

ACCORDING TO police, the incident started at a party and the complainants were supposed to meet the three suspects at the road commission yard to fight.

When the complainants arrived at the yard someone reportedly aimed a rifle at the car and shot. The bullet went through the windshield and seat. Another shot missed the car, according to police reports.

Plymouth Police were called by a nearby resident who heard the shots. When police arrived they chased the suspects into a wooded area.

Michigan State Police and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department were called. Using dogs, police were able to track down one of the men and recovered the rifle.

The man arrested that morning, an 18-year-old Livonia resident, was released. Although he originally was arrested for felonious assault with intent to commit murder, police wouldn't confirm whether charges would be pressed.

Police have a warrant for a third man but hadn't made the arrest as of Friday, according to Lt. Robert Cormire.

Transporting a loaded firearm is a misdemeanor which carries a maximum sentence of 90 days in jail and/or $100 fine upon conviction.

Package service makes mail easier

By Diane Frea
staff writer

If you're interested in mailing a corpse, or cremated remains, or liquor, Larson's Express Package Service won't be the place for you. But minus these exceptions and a few others, the new business in the Pilgrim Village Center on Litley Road, can help you send just about anything else.

Larson's Express Package Service opened Nov. 1, and owner/manager Renie Larson said the opening was carefully timed to take advantage of the Christmas mailing rush. She was quick to explain, however, that it will be a year-round venture and, after Jan. 1, she'll be looking into ways to expand.

Larson said her business "offers Wayne County residents a new option for shipping small packages across the state or across the country."

Larson serves as a shipper's agent, accepting packages from customers and seeing that they are picked up by commercial shippers such as United Parcel Service, Federal Express, Emery Worldwide, Purolator Courier, Greyhound and others.

"This is not a franchise," Larson said. "We're strictly a business that has accounts with the commercial carriers."

The idea originated from 12 years of mailing packages via a parcel delivery service, Larson said. She and her husband, Steve, a Canton Township trustee, are both Kansas natives, and felt that an express package service would be helpful to people like themselves who do lots of package mailing.

Germination began in June, Larson said, and she researched the idea until August. Larson said the concept of a convenience center for small package shipments is relatively new, and it is the only service of its kind in Plymouth or Canton.

Larson, a former school teacher and mother of two, works full time at the business. Her husband helps after work and on Saturdays, and there are two part-time employees. For the Christmas rush, during which some carriers are anticipating a load of 500 to 600 packages per day per carrier at the store, some additional help may be hired, Larson said.

Normal business hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays. Larson said the hours may be extended during the holiday rush season.

Customers are charged according to the rate schedules of the different carriers, plus a $1.50 service charge per package ("essentially what they're going to use in gas," she said) to take it to a parcel delivery service out of town.

In most cases, the rate is determined by the weight of the package, Larson said, and rates vary among carriers. The selection of transportation companies assures the customer of the lowest cost consistent with the delivery schedule meeting the customer needs, she said.

Pick-up and delivery schedules also vary with the carriers; deliveries range from same-day service or next day by 9 a.m. (for which an extra premium is charged), to guaranteed delivery in three days.

All the carriers include insurance in the rates, most up to a declared value of $100, providing that the packages are wrapped well enough to withstand a fall from the waist down without breakage. As part of the service, Larson's will file claims for customers with the carriers if a package is lost or damaged.

For a $3 packaging fee plus the cost of the box, customers can have items wrapped for mailing. Or, if they prefer, they can buy boxes and microfoam and package the items themselves, Larson said. For a fee, customers can have boxes specially made for unusually shaped items.

When preparing something for shipping, Larson said, packages should not be wrapped in brown paper, a practice of many home wrappers. The paper catches on the shippers' conveyor belts and address information may be ripped off, she said.

Strapping tape, any tape which cannot be torn by hand unlike masking tape, should be used to seal packages, Larson said. Especially fragile items should be double boxed. Larson also recommends putting an address label on the inside of a package as well as the outside.

Lynch resigns from board to keep regular job

tract," Breen, who asked for the roll call vote, said later. "I didn't care for the motion the way it was phrased but I was forced to do it in order to get the tax bills out for the treasurer's office."

"If it was going to fail, it would have been quite fatal to the treasurer's office. They could sit back and blame me but that doesn't do the community any good," he said.

"To treat an individual who is a member of the board in that manner is shabby treatment," he added. "I believe there were some political considerations expressed in that vote."

Likewise, Pruner seconded and voted for Horton's motion because he believed the contract was needed.

"I saw no conflict of interest. Analysis had proved itself to me with the redistricting during the primary election — they handled the voter registration program in the clerk's office," Pruner said.

"This gentleman (Mike Tilman, owner of Analysis) came in and gave us good service and did a service for the community. People probably wouldn't have been able to vote without his computer work," Pruner said.

"I think it was an infringement of Barb's rights. Although I seconded the motion, I did it with reservations. We have to get the tax bills out, so I voted my conscience for the township," he said.

Horton said he didn't believe a conflict of interest was involved, even though he made the motion to exclude Lynch from doing the work.

"I offered the motion as a compromise which I thought might possibly fly. In the end the purpose was served in getting the system running and getting the tax bills out on time," Horton said.

"I'm sorry that it turned out to put Mrs. Lynch in an embarrassing situation. I didn't mean for it to turn out that way," he said.

The other member voting for the motion, Hulsing, said she didn't believe there was a conflict of interest.

"It smacks of impropriety. I would personally avoid it but that's a decision she (Lynch) has to make," Hulsing said.

Because Breen had authorized some of the computer program work, Hulsing said she felt obligated to vote in favor of the motion.

"In all honesty, Mr. Breen probably should have told the board about it beforehand but, since he authorized work, I believe the township has an obligation to back that up," she said.

The two who voted against the motion, Fidge and West, claim they did so because Lynch worked for the company.

"I didn't like it from the time I first looked at it," said West. "It should have come up for bids in the first place. . . It's absolutely a conflict of interest; she's still a member of the board," he said.

At the Nov. 7 meeting Breen said there wasn't time to go out for bids.

"No, I don't believe we could have went out for bids — not at that late date. But they still could have done it because they had a couple of days where they didn't do anything," West said.

Fidge based her vote on a September 1980 Attorney General's opinion.

"I voted no because there's a conflict," Fidge said. "She's had a conflict for at least a month and she did not offer that she had a conflict at any of those meetings."

Fidge said she couldn't support Horton's motion to exclude Lynch from the work because the contract was retroactive and Lynch already had performed some of the work.

"The best thing for her to do is to come out before the board, just like it says in the God-blessed opinion and the act, and let everyone know you have a conflict," she said.

LYNCH, WHO RAN unsuccessfully for township treasurer in August, said she never had any intention of voting on the Analysis contract.

"Whenever anything on CATO came up I never voted on that, why would I vote on this?" Lynch said. She went to work for CATO shortly after the township bought a CATO computer system.

"There is a possible conflict that she was employed with CATO and on the township board," Fidge said. "She voted on payment of bills to CATO."

"A person who has a conflict is supposed to let that be known and it is supposed to be properly documented in the minutes," Fidge said. She also claims a two-thirds vote was required to approve the contract.

Name of nurse in Box sought

Family members are trying to locate a nurse who came to their assistance on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 14, when their father had a cardiac arrest.

The cardiac arrest occurred at the Box Bar and Grill on Ann Arbor Trail just east of Main in Plymouth at about 6:30 p.m. Nov. 14. The nurse went along to St. Mary Hospital and stayed with the victim's wife.

The family knew the name of the nurse at the time but has since lost it and wants to make contact to thank her. Either the nurse herself, or anyone knowing her identity, is asked to call the Observer at 459-2700.

Yule seals

The 76th annual Christmas Seals Campaign officially was kicked off recently when Peter M. Pellerito of Plymouth, the organization's president, presented Gov. James Blanchard with a sheet of 1984 Christmas Seals. The American Lung Association of Michigan has set a fund-raising goal of $1.62 million. The association is dedicated to the control and prevention of all lung diseases and their related causes, including smoking, air pollution, and occupational hazards.

BACK PAIN

If back pains are a way of life for you, the reasons can be varied and complex. Some may be pathological, but very often the cause is muscles which are either over or under-exercised which are producing spinal distortion. Vertebrae slip into abnormal positions, resulting in "pinched" and irritated nerves, which cause pain and even loss of function of the affected body part. Poor posture, or even emotional tension, can be the root cause.

MUSCLE ACHES

On occasions you have experienced an ache in the arm or leg which not only lingers but with time brings on sharp pains down the bone. Your impression is that you have an arthritis. It is more likely that you have a form of muscle strain.

These aches are the result of stress at sites where the muscle anchors into bone. In many cases an injury happened days before the pain began and the ache is the result of the initial insult plus accumulated muscle strain.

Such pains can be identified as being muscular rather than arthritic in origin as the location of the ache is near a joint but not within it. In addition, the sharp pain moving down the arm or leg travels a course which parallels the location of the muscle in the limb.

Treatment includes the use of heat, rest and time. Recovery may be slow because the demands of daily living necessitate continuing use of the injured arm or leg muscle. Such activity negates the therapeutic effect of rest. As a result months may pass before you will be free of discomfort. Therefore, no matter what combination of therapy you initiate, include a large amount of patience.

Police stop burglary in progress

A quick response to a break-in call at the Penniman Market resulted in two arrests by Plymouth Police Tuesday night.

A resident called police shortly before midnight to report a break-in in progress at the market, 820 Penniman, said Detective Mike Gardner.

Four officers — Ronald Kaminski, Joseph Kahanec, Craig Schwartz and Jim Jarvis — were at the scene within two minutes and made the arrests, Gardner said.

"The officers had to be there quick in order to apprehend the suspects in progress," Gardner said.

Samuel R. Hogan, 17, of Elmhurst in Plymouth was arraigned on charges of breaking and entering in 35th District Court Wednesday before Judge James Garber. Garber entered an innocent plea for him. Hogan has been released on $5,000 cash bond, pending a Dec. 3 preliminary exam.

Also arrested was a 16-year-old Canton male who will be charged through the juvenile system. The arrests came in the wake of a rash of business break-ins in downtown Plymouth.

"With this apprehension, we believe we will clear seven other break-ins," Gardner said. Police wouldn't comment whether more charges would be pressed.

If convicted on the breaking and entering charge, Hogan faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison.

The hours of Santa's visits, sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, are from 4-8 p.m. Fridays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, and noon to 4 p.m. Sundays. Children can have their pictures taken with Santa for a $3 charge.

HOLIDAY DISPLAYS

A Victorian Christmas is the theme at the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main, Plymouth, now through Jan. 6. Surrounding the museum's wonderful old village, circa 1920s, are trees decorated by Plymouth florists; also on display are antique dolls and trains. Exquisite old dolls from 1873, the 1890s and an unusual doll from the 1880s with a waxed-head and eyes without pupils are among those exhibited. Along with trains of Standard Gauge, H.O., and .027 gauge, a collection of depots is on display. The Plymouth Historical Museum is open from 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. An admission is charged.

SENIOR NUTRITION PROGRAMS

Turner asks bus comfort be shared

By Kathy Parrish staff writer

Some Oakland County bus riders are traveling in style these days.

And that doesn't sit too well with one Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) board member, who'd like to see the comfort spread out.

Tom Turner, who represents Detroit on the SEMTA board, objected to the transportation authority placing all 16 of its new Flexible buses in Oakland County.

The $162,000 buses were put in the same area so they could all be serviced by the Oakland Terminal in Troy, SEMTA staffers said. "I don't think we should use maintenance as a reason to put 16 new buses in one region," Turner said during last week's board meeting. "I ask you to rethink that."

MADE BY FLEXIBLE, a subsidiary of General Automotive Corporation of Ann Arbor, the "futuristic" buses have been on the streets since Nov. 1.

While the same size as standard buses, they are advanced design vehicles that are supposed to meet highest federal standards of passenger comfort and safety as well as emissions.

The 50-passenger buses have 250-horsepower diesel engines made by Detroit Diesel Allison, three-speed automatic transmissions and two-way radios.

They also feature computerized destination signs that allow drivers to change messages by touching buttons. Vultron of Waterford created the new-style signs.

SEMTA ACTING General Manager Albert Martin cited maintenance concerns as the reason for putting them all in the same county.

"This is the first time we've had Flexible coaches, and this can assure proper maintenance," he told Turner.

"Hopefully, we will have vehicles throughout the system in the very near future."

Plymouth Family YMCA to be 23 this year

(Part I)

If you happen to be 23 this year, you have something in common with the Plymouth Community Family YMCA. It, too, was born in 1961.

Recollections of how that birth took place differ. Trying to remember events that happened 23 years ago is not easy.

George Lawton, a member of the Y's first board and John Hoben, the Y's first director, attribute the formation of the local Y to the late Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister, the man who sparked the community.

On the other hand, 35th District Judge James Garber and Marshall North, who also served on the first board, recall that the impetus came from Roger Blood, an executive of the state YMCA, who then lived in Plymouth.

Either Isbister or Blood could clear up the matter. But Russ died in 1968, and Roger, after a serious illness, moved somewhere in the west. There is the possibility, of course, that those two gentlemen had conversations about the Y that none of the other four would know about.

LAWTON, WHO provided office space for the Y in its early years in his Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union Building, says:

"Russ got Mike Hoben and me together. It was Russ who made it possible for Mike, who was then a high school counselor, to work half-time for the Y and half-time for the school. Our basic idea was to help find employment for high school drop-outs and other youth who needed help."

Mike Hoben, who succeeded Russell Isbister as superintendent of schools, says: "It was Russell Isbister and George Lawton who were the prime movers. We tackled the employment problem by making an agreement with a local industrial plant in which we would provide and train youth for factory jobs. We also organized a few activities, such as canoe trips conducted by Tom Workman."

Hoben recalls that they first tried to get a charter from the Metropolitan Detroit YMCA. When that didn't work out, they approached officials at the state level.

JUDGE GARBER recalls that he was first approached about the Y by Roger Blood.

"Roger got me and my father and a number of other people interested,"

past and present

Sam Hudson

says Garber. "That was in the spring of 1961."

Garber was president of the Plymouth Jaycees at the time. His father, the late Ralph Garber, had retired after being assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County. "Dad had been a member of the Downtown Y in Detroit," says Garber. "He used to exercise there."

"We lived in Detroit then, and I played basketball at the Fisher Y. That's where I learned to swim. In high school I was a member of the Hi-Y."

Marshall North, a friend of Roger Blood, met with a group of interested residents at East Middle School. North introduced him to the group and Blood urged them to form a local YMCA.

North recalls that the snag with Detroit, referred to by Hoben, came about because the Metropolitan YMCA wanted to make Plymouth a branch office. Plymouth wanted to be on its own (probably because the Metropolitan Y was funded by the United Foundation and Plymouth had its own Community Fund).

BUD GOULD, the local land developer, also was a member of the Y's first board of directors.

Goold recalls that the group's first meeting was held in May 1961 at the Methodist Church. Bud was on the Methodist board and Blood was active in the church.

The articles of incorporation of the non-profit organization were signed on Aug. 23. The name chosen was "The Plymouth Community Young Men's Christian Association Inc." Jim Garber is listed on the form as the Y's first resident agent. The first registered office was 42269 Hammill Lane, Garber's address.

The first board of directors — in addition to Lawton, North, Gould, Ralph and James Garber — included Urey Arnold, Russell Ash, Robert K. Barbour, George T. Bauer, Robert Baxter, Paul M. Chandler, Donald Chapman, Charles Childs, Gerald E. Elston, Arnold D. Johanson, Russell Kreitsch, Kenneth Leader, Rudolph Nordquist, D.P. Termohlen and Dr. Henry J. Walch.

The articles indicated that the object of the organization was "to promote various activities which will increase, expand and improve intellectual, social, physical and spiritual welfare of the community along those lines harmonious with the policies of the state and national councils of the YMCA."

ALTHOUGH THE YMCA didn't reach Plymouth until 1961, it originated 140 years ago in England.

The founder was George Williams who later was knighted by Queen Victoria. The Y grew out of meetings for prayer and Bible-reading which Williams started in 1844 among his fellow workers in a drygoods business in the City of London.

It soon spread rapidly to France, Holland, Canada, India, Australia and the United States.

Visit to school stirred memories

For a few brief moments the other day, time turned back in its flight and allowed The Stroller to relive some of the experiences of his youth.

It happened without much warning. But the moments carried him back to the time in his life when he had to walk to school and compete day-by-day for the right to sit at the head of the class.

These unusual sights came when he paid a business call to Margaret Kidston, a teacher at Allen School. What happened in those few moments will live with him for a long time.

All the while he was talking with the teacher, the children in the early grades were walking about the room, seemingly with no warning from the teacher. This was a far cry from the days when The Stroller's teachers set their eyes on the pupils every moment they were in the room.

Mrs. Kidston explained that there were three classes going on at the same time and the pupils were walking about the room to do some thinking and asking advice. But it did seem strange.

The big experience was about to come when the teacher asked, "Would you be kind enough to talk to the pupils and tell them of your school days?"

The invitation, unexpected as it was, turned time back in its flight. The Stroller graciously accepted.

HE STARTED BY telling these wide-eyed youth that even the classroom was different when he went to school. He explained that each student had his own desk with benches arranged in a half-moon shape where we went to class.

This brought a smile from the youngsters, especially when they were told that a place on the class bench was determined by a student's grade average in studies.

Some of them leaned forward in great interest when they were told that one day each month we had what we called "trapping" and you took your place that was decided by the marks on your report card.

It so happened that The Stroller was fortunate enough to sit in the No. 1 seat most of the time. Then came a month when the report card showed him in second place. He was so frightened he almost cried.

"What went wrong?" his father had asked. When told that he had been sick and missed two weeks in school, he was asked when they were going to trap? When told it was that afternoon, father said:

"When the new No. 1 takes her place tell her you just loaned it to her and that you would take it back next month."

That's exactly what happened. The young Stroller took over the No. 1 spot and kept it until he left school.

FOR A FEW moments he relived some of his childhood and that is always a treat, especially after a fellow gets along in years.

It was a great day. Schools have changed a good deal since he walked a mile in the snow to get to one on time.

Memories come easily on days like these.

HEART SUPPORT GROUP

A support group for men and women who have suffered a heart attack will be held once a month at Oakwood Hospital's Canton Center, 7300 Canton Center Road. The group will meet 7-9 p.m. the third Thursday of each month. There will be a $2 fee per session.

Group members will have the opportunity to meet with others who have had an experience similar to their own, and who are facing the lifestyle changes necessary after a heart attack. For further information, call 459-7030.

TELE-CARE

Senior citizens in Plymouth-Canton may participate in a "Tele-Care" program in which telephone contact is made daily with senior citizens to check on their well-being. For more information, Canton residents may call 397-1000, Ext. 278, and Plymouth residents may call 453-3840, Ext. 37, or 453-2671 at Plymouth Township Hall.

GREAT BOOKS

The Adult Great Books discussion group of western Wayne County will meet 8-10 p.m. the first and third Thursday of each month in the Carl Sandburg Branch Library, 30100 Seven Mile (next to Livonia Mall), Livonia. For information and a reading list, call Zo Chisnell at 349-3121.

WRITERS UNLIMITED

Writers Unlimited, a creative writers' club, meets on the first and third Tuesday of each month at the Canton Public Library. Members read and critique manuscripts; the focus is on getting published. New members are welcome to attend the next meeting or call 420-0604 for more details.

EMPLOYMENT DYNAMICS

The Growth Works Employment Dynamics Program is enrolling participants through June 1985. Purpose of the program is to help young people find permanent employment. The federally funded program for ages 16-21 offers job search skill training, work experience and job placement assistance. Persons may enroll at Growth Works at 271 S. Main, south of Penniman Avenue in Plymouth.

PLUS PRESCHOOL REGISTRATION

Registration is being taken for parents and children for the PLUS program for fall 1984-85. Children must be age 4 on or before Dec. 1 and live in the attendance areas of Field, Eriksson, Gallimore and Starkweather. The program, which is in its 10th year, offers classes for parents and children in Plymouth-Canton Community School District at Central Middle School from September to June. Registration blanks are available at the schools or applicants may call PLUS at 451-6654. Class day will be determined following an orientation and testing session.

DANCE SLIMNASTICS

Dance, stretch, bop, hop... it's all in the moves with Dance Slimnastics. Aerobic dancing is a rhythmic mixture of simple movements and dance steps set to music, designed to improve and maintain cardiovascular/physical fitness. Participation is not limited by age, sex, or shape. Class meets 7:30-8:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for eight weeks at the Plymouth Cultural Center, Farmer at Theodore. For information, call 455-6820.

AEROBIC FITNESS

Aerobic Fitness classes are offered at St. John Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road in Plymouth in the morning and evening Monday-Saturday. A new six-week session will begin Dec. 10. Beginner and intermediate classes are available and child care is available in the morning on weekdays. For information on scheduling, call 459-9229, Ext. 78.

BODY STRETCH

A total body stretch program to increase flexibility, prevent muscle soreness and muscle injury is 6:30-7:30 p.m. Mondays for eight weeks for all ages in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. The program is aimed at maintaining flexibility as people grow older and for people engaged in sports activities. "Stretch It" is a program to aid posture and to help maintain the flexibility of youth in everyday living.

Health Care ... Naturally

The Importance of Natural Health Care

The human body has a tremendous capacity to heal itself. Given a good nerve supply and sufficient time, the body will produce the maximum health of which it is capable. A doctor of Chiropractic is a specialist in natural health care. He does not "cover up" the symptoms with dangerous drugs. A Chiropractor looks for the cause of your condition and then he works with your body to restore it back to good health and keep it that way through regular chiropractic care.

Warning Signs of Nerve Interference

Every organ, tissue, and cell is controlled by nerve impulses traveling from the brain to various parts of the body. Nerves make possible all movement. Nerves also transmit all sensation to the brain and make possible all sight, smell, taste, touch and hearing. Spinal misalignments and resulting nerve pressure can cause any of

- the following symptoms: Headaches • Dizziness • Blurred Vision • Neck, Shoulder and Arm Pain • Low Back and Leg Pain • Pain between Shoulders • Loss of Sleep • Numbness in Hands and Arms • Difficulty Breathing • Numbness in Legs and Feet • Persistent Pain • Intermittent Pain.

The Chiropractic Approach

The chiropractic natural method of health care works on the premise that good health depends on a normally functioning nervous system. When there is nerve interference through misalignment of the spine, the organs and tissues of the body will not function properly and may begin to malfunction, setting the body up for disease, pain and ill health. By keeping your spine in proper alignment through regular chiropractic adjustments, you are assisting your body's inborn tendency to maintain a state of perfect, natural health.

Solitude teams with fall in color contest

Gail Yurasek

Gail Yurasek, our second-place finalist in the annual color photo contest, is best known around the Farmington area for her three-dimensional window displays in local merchants' stores.

But soft sculpture obviously isn't her only talent. A "dabbler" in photography for the past eight years, she has taken some classes at Oakland Community College and took a photography workshop at Greenfield Village.

A well-rounded artist (pottery is her latest medium) she proudly dedicates most of her time to her two children, Jessica and Leah, as is reflected in her winning entries.

The photo at left, the girl in the leaves, is the second-place winner. Although the judges examined many entries with this same theme, they found this one to be the most spontaneous, colorful and professionally composed.

The judges also enjoyed the way the photo of the girl on the swing was composed. The contrast between the child and the couple-in-love at the picnic table set it off from other entries in the contest.

"The couple in the background was a spur of the moment thing. They were just there at the right time," she said.

Yurasek used an Olympus OM-1 with a telephoto lens as well as Ektachrome 100 film. Both of the photos were taken in the Farmington City Park.

Gail Yurasek

James Higgins

Our third-place winner, James Higgins, an electrical contractor from Grass Lake, Mich., was visting a friend in Westland when he saw the entry blank in the Observer & Eccentric.

His winning entry, below, of the girl standing alone in the woods, was taken around the Traverse City area. The judges found the dramatic impact of this photograph just too much to ignore.

The photograph was taken in the morning with a Minolta XD-5 using Fuji 100 film. He used a 85-200mm zoom lens, with an f/11 exposure.

Besides photography, Higgins enjoys outdoor "thrill" pursuits.

He is a member of the Jackson camera club.

THE TRUE TASTE IS IN THE GIVING

Where do holidays begin? Most often in the home, but more specifically in the warmth of the family kitchen. Looking ahead—cooking ahead—that's the sign of the times. So, it's logical to select from your roster of traditional recipes, those that can be made in advance and stored until serving time—or, giving time. Glance at your gift list; earmark a few homemade goodies to be wrapped with loving care and given with delicious best wishes.

Simple, yet sophisticated glistening glass containers are a glamorous complement to these "sweet successes." Novice or expert, you'll find inspiration in this small treasury of recipes selected from the Baker's chocolate and coconut heritage collection. Among them is a contemporary granola snack recipe to appeal to people "on the go."

Be direct. Get to the heart of holiday greetings with deep, rich chocolate. Bake batches of irresistible nutty Mint-Glazed Brownies—fudgy brownies with a fabulous history. As far back as the early Forties, experienced bakers relied on the basic brownie recipe that appeared on packages of bars of unsweetened chocolate. Then, along came a variation in the Sixties—a butter cream glaze topped with a fancied up "design" of chocolate drizzle.

Pack a tantalizing assortment of coconut macaroons in a sparkling glass container to use long after contents have been savored. Coconut macaroons enjoy a heritage dating back to the early Thirties when "just plain" macaroons and a chocolate variation appeared in Baker's coconut and chocolate recipe books. Most recent of variations—Fruited Macaroons developed in 1980—combines chopped mixed candied fruit in a flaked coconut mixture.

Tote tea bread in a basket to Grandmother's house! Wrap it on a serving dish or colorful breadboard for a gift that goes beyond eating enjoyment. Toasted Coconut-Banana Bread, a recipe developed in 1951, continues to be a favorite, boasting a delicate batter with moist, creamy flaked coconut. Bake several loaves; wrap and store, because the bread grows more mellow over a day or two.

To balance these heritage recipes, a contemporary Coconut Granola Snack will appeal to those who love healthful out-of-hand snacks. You'll work like a whiz preparing this one-bowl mixture which includes flaked coconut, dried fruit, honey and sesame seed. Packed in glass jars, the snack will add excitement to your bevy of gifts.

Of the time-honored heritage chocolate recipes specifying German's sweet chocolate, two deserve to be in this cache of holiday specials. Toffee Squares (not shown), a rich cookie dough glazed with sweet cooking chocolate, and Brownie Drops (not shown), cookies with fudgy centers and glossy tops, hail from the Sixties group of recipes.

Yesterday meets today in a collection of jewel-box recipes designed for celebrating. A gentle reminder: it begins with you in the warmth of the family kitchen.

Coconut Granola Snack

- 2 2/3 cups flaked coconut
- 1 cup quick cooking rolled oats
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/4 cup chopped pitted dried prunes
- 1/4 cup chopped dried apricots
- 2 tablespoons sesame seed
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 cup seedless raisins

In a large bowl, mix coconut with cereal, brown sugar, prunes, apricots and sesame seed. Combine oil and honey in saucepan; bring to a boil over medium heat. Pour over cereal mixture; mix to coat well. Spread evenly in 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 325° for 20 minutes, stirring several times to toast evenly. Sprinkle with raisins; spread out on a tray to cool. Break into small pieces and store in airtight container. Makes 7 cups.

Happy Holidays

Coconut Macaroons

- 1 1/3 cups (about) flaked coconut
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Combine coconut, sugar, flour and salt in mixing bowl. Stir in egg whites and almond extract; mix well. Drop from teaspoon onto lightly greased baking sheets. Garnish with candied cherry halves, maraschino cherries or whole almonds, if desired. Bake at 325° for 20 to 25 minutes, or until edges of cookies are golden brown. Remove from baking sheets immediately. Makes about 1-1/2 dozen cookies.

Chocolate Macaroons. Prepare Coconut Macaroons as directed, folding in 1 square semi-sweet chocolate, melted, before baking.

Fruited Macaroons. Prepare Coconut Macaroons as directed, adding 1/3 cup chopped mixed candied fruit before baking.

Toffee Squares

(NOT SHOWN)

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg yolk*
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate, broken into squares
- 1/2 cup flaked coconut, lightly toasted

*Or use 1 whole egg.

Combine butter, brown sugar, egg yolk and vanilla; blend in flour and salt. Press into bottom of greased 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes, or until edges are golden brown. Remove from oven and immediately place chocolate pieces on top. Let stand 5 minutes, or until chocolate is softened. Spread evenly over entire surface; sprinkle with coconut. Cut into squares while still warm; cool. Makes 32 squares.

Brownie Drops

(NOT SHOWN)

- 2 packages (4 oz. each) sweet cooking chocolate
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon double acting baking powder
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3/4 cup finely chopped pecans*
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

*Or use 2/3 cup flaked coconut.

Melt chocolate and butter in saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Meanwhile, beat eggs until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar. Continue beating until very thick, about 5 minutes. Blend in chocolate mixture. Add flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon; blend well. Stir in nuts and vanilla. Drop from teaspoon onto greased baking sheets. Bake at 350° for 10 to 12 minutes, or until firm when lightly touched. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Note: Pecan half may be placed on each cookie before baking.

Toasted Coconut-Banana Bread

- 2 3/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 teaspoons double acting baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1-1/3 cups (about) flaked coconut, toasted
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1-1/2 cups mashed ripe bananas (3 or 4 bananas)
- 1/3 cup milk

Sift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt; stir in toasted coconut and orange rind. Combine egg, bananas and milk; stir into flour mixture. (Do not beat.) Pour into greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350° for 1 hour and 10 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes; remove from pan and finish cooling on rack.

Note: For easier slicing and mellowing of flavors, store bread overnight, wrapped in waxed paper, plastic wrap or aluminum foil.

Alternate Baking Pans: Two 8x4-inch loaf pans; bake about 1 hour.

Toasted Coconut

Spread flaked coconut thinly in shallow baking pan; toast at 350° for 7 to 12 minutes, or until lightly browned. Stir coconut or shake pan often to toast evenly.

Mint-Glazed Brownies

- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1/3 cup soft butter or other shortening
- 2/3 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts*
- Mint Frosting
- Chocolate Drizzle

*Or use 3/4 cup flaked coconut.

Melt chocolate and butter in saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly. Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs well; then gradually beat in sugar. Blend in chocolate mixture and vanilla. Add flour mixture and mix well. Stir in nuts. Spread in greased 8-inch square pan. Bake at 350° for 25 minutes (for moist chewy brownies) or about 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean (for cake-like brownies). Cool in pan; then spread Mint Frosting thinly over brownies; then add Chocolate Drizzle. Cut into squares or rectangles. Makes about 20 brownies.

Mint Frosting. Cream 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Blend in 3/4 cup sifted confectioners sugar alternately with 2 to 3 teaspoons light cream, beating until smooth. Add 1/4 teaspoon peppermint extract. Makes about 1/2 cup.

Chocolate Drizzle. Melt 1/2 square unsweetened or semi-sweet chocolate and 1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine in saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly. Cool slightly and drizzle from teaspoon over frosting.

Tips for easier menu planning

Editors note: This is the first of a series of four articles on meal/menu planning designed for the novice and the experienced cook alike. The final article will detail how to prepare a holiday dinner from planning the menu to tips on serving. So if you are hosting Christmas dinner for the first time and are about to panic, don't, help is on the way.

By Linda Lee
special writer

How would it be if you never had to worry about what to have for dinner again? In addition, you could save between $5 and $50 per week, be assured of nutritious meals, and spend less time producing these meals?

I know it's possible — I've done it! The formula for my success is an understanding of meal planning, and the good news is it's easier than you think.

In this series of articles, I will detail the plan that has worked for me and my family of seven. We will cover steps in menu preparation; how to transfer your meal plans to a shopping list; adjusting to a budget; working with a minimum amount of time; preparing for company and holiday meals, with no extra cost.

It would be impossible for me to make a menu for you. We each have individual preferences in foods, and with the huge variety available to us, there is no need to be bound by another's ideas. There are two basic rules that are all you need to make correct choices in planning your meals.

First, each day should include foods from each of the four food groups which are: (1) Fruits and Vegetables; (2) Breads and Cereals; (3) Meat, Poultry, Fish and Beans; (4) Milk and Cheese.

Second, you must eat a variety of each food group, prepared in a variety of ways. With these rules firmly in mind, we can begin.

TAKE A standard 8 1/2 x 11 sheet of paper and turn it sideways so you will be writing across the long side. You will be making eight columns. Beginning with the day you plan to grocery shop, write the days of one week across the top. In the eighth column write: "Next week's grocery list." Divide the sheet into three sections. The top for breakfast, middle for lunch and the bottom for dinner.

Next look at your appointment calendar. Meals that will be affected by any special activities you have planned are going to be the first ones you fill in because generally, meals must "cater" to other activities and without proper planning, the nutrition element often goes out the window. By planning these meals first, you can choose nutritious, but time-saving meals for these times.

For example, let's assume Thursday night is a hockey night. You don't have time to find something and cook it so, instead you visit a local fast food restaurant, and eat in the car, or, (I shudder to think) you eat chips and pop at the arena.

No menu should ever have chips and pop scheduled as dinner — but, a fast-food dinner is not out of the question. At this time, in the quiet of your meal-planning area you decide where the family will eat on Thursday. No more asking, "Where would you like to go?" and getting as many suggestions as there are people. You plan the meal.

Let's say you choose Taco's. (Just because Taco Tim prepares them in five minutes doesn't mean they're altogether of no food value.) In Thursday's dinner slot you write, "Taco's from Taco Tim's, milk" and, believe it or not you have represented the four food groups. Check it out . . . the shell is bread, the ground beef is meat, the lettuce is a vegetable/fruit and the cheese and milk are the fourth food group.

ANOTHER ADVANTAGE in preplanning a fast-food dinner is because you saved the decision time, you may be able to eat sitting down in the restaurant, and not on the run in the car.

Before you become too elated about the idea of fast foods satisfying nutrition requirements . . . It's a good time to look at the drawbacks.

Bucks — A family of four could easily spend $10.00 at Tim's for one meal. Multiply that by the 21 meals that are required, and you have a food budget of $210.00. Secondly, the nutrition content is very hard to determine on prepared foods. However, there are statistics available and they are surprisingly complete.

An alternative to fast food could be homemade taco's. You could have the lettuce, cheese and onions in separate containers in the fridge, and the meat cooked earlier and warming in the crock pot or the warming oven while you round up the rest of the family. In this case even home-prepared taco's won't be over a five-minute wait. The key is preplanning and in this case, preparation. Continue to use this method to fill in any meals that will conflict with your appointments.

Next, keeping in mind the two basic rules, fill in the blank spaces on your menu. Think of meals that you and your family have enjoyed in the past. Don't try to imitate magazine meals . . . yet. (If you have a very difficult time coming up with meal ideas, use a menu sheet to record the meals you are eating using your present system for a few weeks. Then you will have all the "idea's" you need to prepare a menu in advance.)

DON'T PLAN the same breakfast, lunch or dinner two days in a row. At first it may seem difficult to come up with seven different breakfasts at one sitting, but you can repeat Monday's on Wednesday, Tuesday's on Friday, etc. so you won't have to think up seven all at once.

It's a good idea to save old menu's so that when you get a "mind-block" you can refer to past weeks and copy a meal you enjoyed. If you're really organized you can date your menu's and keep them in order so when foods are in-season you will be able to refer back to last year's menu and repeat favorite dishes.

As you fill in the meals, remember to schedule foods prepared in a variety of ways. Foods can be eaten raw, baked, poached, steamed, boiled, mashed, broiled or deep, pan or oven fried. A nutritious and appetizing meal is one with a contrast of textures, colors and nutrients. For example, with spaghetti and meat sauce look for something crunchy . . . garlic bread, or a crisp green salad . . . or both.

It's easier for me to fill in dinners before I plan my lunches, which makes no difference in the quality of the menu. The important thing is in any one day you are getting a good representation from each food group. If you had bacon and eggs for breakfast, and you plan a beef roast for dinner, you can have a meatless lunch and still satisfy the meat requirement on that day.

If you have a day planned that seems perfect except for a lack of vegetables . . . add a salad. If you need more of the bread group, add croissants to the salad, or include breadsticks. The fast-food taco dinner mentioned earlier is pretty skimpy on the vegetable, so Thursday's lunch or dinner will include a good amount in the vegetable/fruit group to make up for it.

CONTINUE TO use this kind of reasoning and fill out the remainder of your menu.

After you are finished, double check each day individually for a good representation of the four food groups. Next, check from day to day for a good variety of color, texture, nutrients and preparation techniques. Make changes as needed to comply with these two important rules.

Eventually you will be able to easily plan a weeks meals using beef no more than three days, and poultry no more than two days. Your menu will include a good color variety in the vegetable/fruit area. It will also include a variety of breads . . . and you won't be eating fried foods, or the same kind of cheese all the time.

By having a plan down on paper it's much easier to keep track of what you and your family are eating, and youhat should I make for dinner?" again. Now, don't you feel good?

Beginning with your menu, you will be able to adjust your meals to your budget, your time, your special eating needs, and you will be able to produce company and holiday meals without blinking an eye.

Just trust me, and follow along for the next few weeks.

Elegant salmon, at last

Red salmon in creamy Newburg sauce is an elegant company meal. But it tastes equally wonderful served over toast points as a last-minute main dish to serve the family.

SALMON A LA NEWBURG
1 can (15 1/2 ozs) red salmon
1/4 cup butter
1 cup plus 3 tbsp milk
1/4 tsp salt
Dash cayenne pepper
Dash nutmeg
3 egg yolks
3 tbsp sherry

6 frozen patty shells, baked, or toast points

Drain salmon; remove skin and bones, if desired. Break into bite-size chunks. Melt butter in large skillet. Add salmon to skillet. Saute about 1 minute. Add 1 cup milk and heat until mixture begins to boil. Lower heat and add salt, cayenne and nutmeg. Beat yolks with remaining 3 tbsp milk; add to salmon. Heat, stirring until thickened. Do not boil. Add sherry and heat through. Serve at once in patty shells. Makes 6 servings.

Butter: Favored on almost everything for flavor

Cut into the thin brown skin of a baked potato. Steam rises and tiny mounds, valleys and crevices form as the fork turns the pale yellow inside.

Almost ready to eat, the naked vegetable awaits its favored dressing — butter. The first pat melts, gliding in between the fork-made ridges and cracks, enticing passers-by with its unique, buttery aroma.

Butter has a place on the table and in the cooking. It greases the pan for scrambling eggs or making home-fries; it's also the perfect toast topper. Warm bread, muffins and rolls quickly absorb the sunny-slick spread while flaky croissants and brioches contain butter as a prime ingredient. Vegetables, especially corn-on-the-cob, glisten when touched with butter. Fresh fish broils best in butter. Baking cakes and cookies begins with butter.

When did the story of butter begin? In antiquity, butter was used as a salve for burns and other skin injuries, in addition to as a foodstuff. To make butter, nomads used animal skins as sacks for shaking the milk of mammals such as the ewe or goat. Fat globules coagulated into butterfat, whatever did not come together was drained and rendered into buttermilk. Bedouins' mirjahah and other similar skins are still used by nomadic tribes in North Africa and the Middle East.

Butter was a scarce commodity during Greek and Roman times. Milk collected from goats and sheep was drunk immediately or made into cheese.

IT WAS not until the Middle Ages that butter was used extensively throughout Europe. Scandinavians first used butter, perhaps because it stayed better there due to the cold climate.

When it was introduced throughout Europe, the dairy product turned rancid quickly and was not widely used until the 18th century. Cooking oils are preferred over butter even today.

Because of the lack of refrigeration, people associated butter with disease. Parisian consumers in the mid-17th century were warned by a physician that butter caused leprosy, a disease mistakenly linked with eating spoiled meat or sea-food. Eventually, butter became valuable. The Pilgrims stored several tubs in the Mayflower and brought it to the new country. An earthen pot with a whirling wooden paddle is still used in Indian villages to churn butter. This device is similar to early European devices for butter-making, but, who were the originators?

The principle involved — to separate butterfat from buttermilk by shaking milk to form a solid substance which can be removed, washed and stored — was responsible for the evolution of the butter churn.

The dasher, a wooden stick with a blunt end, churned butter in a conical wooden vessel. The lump that formed was removed, washed and shaped into a ball or placed in a mold. Salt was often added as a preservative, and the butter placed in the family well until needed.

Butter-making industrialized in the mid-19th century. Farmers brought milk to receiving stations and sold it for butter conversion.

ONE POUND of American butter requires nine to 10 quarts of cow's milk. The processing plant weighs and tests the milk for fat content. The cream is then separated from the milk, pasteurized, cooked, cooled and churned. It is graded AA, A or B according to United States government standards for flavor, body, color, salt and packaging.

There are many different types of packaged butter available, including lightly salted butter, sweet cream butter, with no salt added. And whipped butter, sweet cream butter incorporating air or inert gas rendering it easier to spread.

The United States and the Soviet Union are the world's leaders in butter production. Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa may be considered leading butter states with the United States' butter industry consuming 20 percent of all milk produced.

Butter contains vitamins A and D and provides fat necessary for vitamin absorption. Fat also insulates the body against heat and cold and lubricates the skin.

The following recipes provide intriguing ways to enjoy butter in baking. Butter Sugar Cookies from "Judith Huxley's Table for Eight" (William Morrow & Co.) and Hazelnut Cake from "Mother Earth's Vegetarian Feasts" (William Morrow & Co.) by Joel Rapp offer sweet and buttery taste treats.

HAZELNUT CAKE
Butter and flour for pan
3 eggs
1 cup sugar

Unique loaf mix

Pinwheel Loaf Wellington is a unique twist on a traditional dish. Ground beef is seasoned with onion soup mix, rolled with ham and cheese and encased in pastry.

PINWHEEL LOAF WELLINGTON
1 envelope onion soup mix
2 lbs. ground beef
¾ cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup catsup
3 eggs
1 tsp. oregano
6 slices cooked ham
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese (about 6 oz.)
Pastry for double-crust pie

In large bowl, combine onion soup mix, ground beef, bread crumbs, catsup, 2 eggs and oregano. On waxed paper, shape mixture into 10 inch by 12 inch rectangle; top

Grated rind of 1 lemon
8 tablespoons butter (1 stick), cut into small pieces
1 tsp. baking powder

with ham and cheese, leaving a 1-inch border. Roll, starting at 10-inch end, jelly-roll style; seal edges tightly.
Roll pastry into 12 inch by 14 inch rectangle; arrange over loaf. Press pastry around base of filling to seal; trim excess. Prick with fork and brush with remaining beaten egg. Place on rack in baking pan; bake 1 hour or until done. Makes about 8 servings.

1½ cup flour
1¼ cup hazelnuts, ground fine in blender
1 tablespoon olive oil
½ cup milk

Preheat oven to 350.
Butter and flour an 8-inch spring-form baking pan. Beat together eggs and sugar until very thick. Beat in lemon rind and butter, piece by piece. Sift together baking powder and flour. Fold gently into batter. Add hazelnuts, olive oil, and ½ cup of milk mixing well to make a medium-soft batter. If necessary, add another spoonful or two of milk. Turn into springform pan. Bake for 45-60 minutes, or until cake shrinks from sides of pan and tests done.

Makes one 8-inch cake.

BUTTERY SUGAR COOKIES
Makes about 60
½ lb. (2 sticks) butter
5 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract
2 cups all-purpose flour
About ½ cup sugar for rolling the baked cookies

Cream the butter and sugar with an electric mixer until light and fluffy. Beat in the vanilla. Work in the flour with the fingers. Roll into balls about ¾ inch in diameter and place on a cookie sheet, about 1 inch apart. The cookies will swell by one-third as they bake. Place in a preheated 350-degree oven for about 5 minutes, or until the cookies are pale gold. Roll in additional granulated sugar, cool, and store in a tightly covered container.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special)—An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins

The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements. Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan'

Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) Stop excusing your life away.

Everyone has an excuse for not seeing their doctor about colorectal cancer. However, every year 52,000 men and women die of colorectal cancer in this country alone. Two out of three of these people might be saved by early detection and treatment. Two out of three. So what is your excuse? Today you have a new, simple, practical way of providing your doctor with a stool specimen on which he can perform the guaiac test. This can detect signs of colorectal cancer in its early stages before symptoms appear. While two out of three people can be saved. Ask your doctor about a guaiac test, and stop excusing your life away.

DICKENS' "CHRISTMAS Carol" is becoming a tradition at Meadow Brook Theater. The pre-holiday presentations of the two-act play were sell-outs the past two years.

This year's show, with a new cast, opens Nov. 27 and runs through Dec. 23. There are matinee and evening performances every day. Many of the matinees already have been sold out. Box office number is 373-3300 for reservations and information.

Cynthia Betley of Canton Township is our source of information for "The Christmas Carol." Cynthia is in the show. She is a caroler and appears in crowd and party scenes. She says she is happy to get her "foot in the door" at Meadow Brook Theater.

"All the major characters are Equity and we actually get paid for rehearsals," said Cynthia.

"The carolers sing in lobby before the play starts, then go through the house to the stage. It's a nice touch."

She said they will wear period clothing — tweeds, woolsens and shawls.

JOHN OLSTAD, senior geology major at Albion College, has the role of Philip in a workshop theater Dec. 7 and 8 in Herrick Center auditorium.

The public is invited to see two plays, Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo" and Corinne Jacker's "Bits and Pieces," and attend the workshops. Admission is $1.

John, a 1980 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O.N. Olstad of Brookwood, Plymouth.

MICHAEL DATO of Canton Township will be performing in a student chamber ensemble in Kresage Hall, Madonna College, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Michael, a guitarist, is a senior music major at Madonna.

The ensemble will perform Sonata for two flutes and piano by W.F. Bach; a set of little pieces for soprano, flute and guitar; and J.S. Bach's famous Brandenburg Concerto No. 5.

Violinist Kathy Ferris will be guest soloist in the Brandenburg. Linette Popoff of the Madonna faculty will be piano soloist.

The performance will be open to the public.

THE PLYMOUTH Area Citizen's Team (PACT) has elected a new president, Robin R. Mickelson. Michelle Dean, who was unopposed, was elected secretary and Leo Paquette, tech officer. Sharron Majka will continue as vice president.

TWO PLYMOUTH businesses are involved in the Chocolate Lovers Holiday Hyatt fest this weekend. The House of Fudge and The Chocolate Station are taking part in the three-day festival for chocoholics at the Hyatt Regency Dearborn. The event, a fund-raiser for the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan, is sponsored by the Hyatt and "Z" 95.5 FM.

There is a $2 cover charge for Friday's kick-off High Cocoa After Party, for the 21-and-over crowd, in the Hubbard ballroom. The $2 is a direct donation to the Kidney Foundation. The party offers munchies, live entertainment and special chocolate drinks. The first 500 party-goers will receive a Magic Pan Restaurant coupon for a free chocolate mousse dessert. Baskin Robbins will offer samples of its chocolate-flavored ice creams.

Admission is $7 for adults and $5 for children under 13 and senior citizens to Saturday's 10-hour chocomania spree. Guests get to taste all the exhibitors' samples and watch demonstrations.

Larry James will show how to spike chocolate-covered strawberries with Southern Comfort. "Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory" will be shown at noon and 2 p.m. and there will be appearances of Ted E. Bear and Fatti Bear, stars of "The Bear Who Slept Through Christmas."

There will be two seatings for the Chocolate Brunch, Sunday's grand finale. For information, call the Kidney Foundation, toll-free, 1-800-452-1455.

Birthdays celebration

the birthday luncheon is something of an occasion. Daughters Barbara Jean Garber Cato of Wilmington, Del. (left) and Lou Ann Garber Seely of Birmingham attend a DAR meeting with her for the first time since they were children.

Legion gets firsthand report on Boys State

American Legion Passage-Gayde Post observed Veteran's Day by honoring a special group of students. Youths involved in Post programs were guests at a dinner in the Mayflower Hotel.

Those recognized at "Youth Night '84" were Boys Staters Ronald Hall and Adam Wilkinson; Student Troopers Dawn Klempert and Jerry Salme; and Citizens of the Year Kandra Dilts and Robert Budlong of Plymouth Canton High School, and Lisa Maggio, Erik Kleinsmith, Christine Gilles and David Workman of Plymouth Salem.

Post Commander Roger Cloutier introduced the young people and special guests state Sen. Robert Geake, state Rep. Gerald Law, Plymouth Mayor David Pugh and Canton Township Supervisor James Poole.

Guest speaker was Ralph White, acting police chief for the city of Plymouth.

ADAM WILKINSON told his sponsors about his week in Lansing at Boys State:

"What do you get when you take 900 eleventh-grade boys of different backgrounds and interests from all over the state and put them together in one place? Some might answer mass chaos. I answer 1984 Wolverine Boys State.

"But what is Boys State? Before attending, I answered that it is what you get when a bunch of boys get together to learn about government by participating in mock government. Now that I have attended, I would add a few things to that definition.

"Boys State is assemblies. Be they a county meeting under the shady oak or a statewide gathering in the boiling Brody multipurpose room. Be they greetings, farewells, awards, a mock trial.

"Boys State is athletics. Whether it was a city vs. city softball game or a pick-up basketball game on the dorm court, sport abounded. Volleyball, softball, basketball and swimming all were common, as well as clinics in basketball, football, tennis and the like.

"Boys State is competition. Be it between two cities on the playing field or between two candidates in a debate.

"Athletics, quiz bowl and the speech contest were standard activities. But the competition was really fierce when it came to vying for the distinctions of Honor City and Honor County. I am proud to say that I was a member of the team that made Blair County, 1984 Honor County.

"Boys State is also friends — almost 900 of them, in fact.

"He may be a kid from your school, your roommate, someone from the U.P., or an old buddy you once thought you'd never see again. Such was the case with me when I looked across the room to see a name I hadn't heard in years. After finding out where he was staying, I paid Wolfe Jackson a visit and we were reunited after five years.

"Boys State is work, hard but rewarding work.

"Whether you're trying to get your party's nomination, win the election, or become Honor City, you've got to give it all your all.

"Boys State is a parade down Michigan Avenue to the steps of the Capitol Building where you are greeted by Gov. James Blanchard.

"Boys State is politics. The nominating, balloting and vote trading of the state, county and local party conventions took a day and a half. These are followed by a state-wide campaign rally.

"Our dose of politics also included a debate between members of the Democratic and Republican parties, and election of our officials.

"Boys State is speakers on anything and everything.

"Topics were education, Central America, the nuclear freeze, campaigning, financial aid, the military academies, the recall procedure, the job of governor, and many more. Enough in fact to keep everyone very busy.

"Boys State is special moments like seeing an old friend, greeting Mom and Dad in visitor's day, a late night pizza party or watching your candidate sworn in by Chief Justice G. Mennen Williams. Or watching the former Governor Williams almost break into tears as he is honored for his years of service and dedication to Boys State with the creation of a Williams County.

"Boys State is learning — about people, life, politics and government, learning by seeing and doing, learning that will last a lifetime.

"Finally, Boys State is a memorable and worthwhile experience. So much so that I asked to be able to return as a counselor, so that others might be able to have the same experiences that I had.

"I wish to thank the Passage-Gayde Post 391 of the American Legion, and especially Mr. Bill Nicholas, for making my participation in Boys State possible."

They not only can sing, they are good cooks, too

"All Our Best" is hot off the press. The second cookbook published by the Plymouth Community Chorus has more than 400 recipes, tried and tested by chorus members in their home kitchens. The book's title is adapted from the "All Our Best" concert presented by the chorus.

The new cookbook has a washable, hard-cover, three-ring binder with tab inserts and a handy pocket for keeping a list of favorite recipes and page numbers.

"It is truly a grand addition to your recipe book library and would be an ideal Christmas, birthday or bridal shower gift for your family and friends," said Maryanne Kivell, chorus member.

The book, priced at $7.95, is available at Plymouth Book World, Forest Street, Plymouth, and from chorus members. It will be on sale at the Christmas concerts Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 7, 8 and 9, in Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium. For more information, call Mary, 455-5981.

Law-Moore

Simone Leslie Moore of Oahu, Hawaii, and Thomas Roger Law Jr. of Fulda, Germany, exchanged marriage vows Nov. 3 in St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran Church, Plymouth. The Rev. Leonard J. Koeninger officiated.

The couple's parents are Fred and Jo Anne Moore of Aspen, Plymouth, and Thomas and Jean Law of Portland, Conn.

The bride's tafetta gown had a chapel-length train and lace leg-of-mutton sleeves. Her veil was attached to a wreath of a silk pink roses, and she carried a colonial bouquet of baby pink roses and miniature carnations. The bride's sister, Carol Moore of Plymouth, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length dress in a huckleberry shade. Lisa Prell of Bay City, as bridesmaid, and Ashley Prell, as flower girl, wore frost rose dresses.

Thomas Law Sr. was best man for his son.

Dinner was served at the church, and the bride's parents hosted the wedding reception at their home.

The couple traveled to northern Michigan on their wedding trip. They will live in Germany or Hawaii.

CANCER. NOT KNOWING THE RISKS IS YOUR GREATEST RISK.

A lot of people think cancer is unbeatable. That simply isn't true. In fact, over two million people have had cancer and survived to lead happy, normal lives.

And not only can cancer be beaten, it can also be prevented.

There are definite precautions that have been proven to decrease your risk of getting certain cancers.

Ask your local American Cancer Society to send you a free booklet about cancer risks.

Learn the facts about cancer.

And make not knowing the risks, one less risk.

Robert DiNiro is Frank Raftis and Meryl Streep is Molly Gilmore, two Westchester County commuters, who are both married but meet and find romance in Manhattan, in "Falling in Love."

the movies

Dan Greenberg

'Falling in Love' means stereotypes for Streep, DiNiro

A bad movie is no surprise; there are always plenty of them around. It is remarkable, however, to see a bad movie created by talented people who ought to know better.

"Falling in Love" is particularly disheartening for Streep-DeNiro fans, who will be appalled at this hackneyed, dull and mediocre film.

The plot is simplistic. Frank Raftis (Robert DeNiro) and Molly Gilmore (Meryl Streep) ride the same commuter train from well-to-do New York suburbs into the city. They just can't stay away from each other, hence the title. The film creeps slowly through their affair.

Of course, there are problems. Frank is married to Ann (Jane Kaczmarek) and Molly is married to Brian (David Clennon). Further, Frank and Ann have two sons, Mike (Wiley Earl) and Joe (Jesse Bradford).

If this is beginning to sound like a failed TV soap, you've got it. There's not enough dramatic content in "Falling in Love's" 100 minutes to fill a 15-minute daytime slot.

THE OLD Hollywood philosophy, "Money doesn't buy happiness," is all too prevalent, as is the new Hollywood theorem: "Anything's okay, as long as you're in love and it feels good."

Let's lay some of the blame at the scenarist's doorstep. Michael Cristofer won a Tony and the Pulitzer Prize for his play, "The Shadow Box." "Falling in Love," based on his original story, marks an inauspicious debut for a screenwriter.

The film is maudlin, adolescent and stereotypical at every turn. Let's begin with the dialogue:

"How are you?" "Good." "How's the kids?" "Good." "How's the job?" "Good, good." "How are you?" "Good, good, I'm good." "How are you?"

Wuuuuun-der-fuillllllll!

We go to the movies to escape the boredom of mundane, daily events, not to grovel in them.

If that's not enough, try such bewhiskered old lines as: "Keep the change." (You guessed it, to a cab driver). "I'm fine." (Right again, Ann's response when Frank offers to fill her wine glass.)

The scenarist is obviously "falling" in love with cliches.

BANALITY flows through, around and beyond the dialogue to infect the entire production.

Reviewing the credits makes one wonder even more. Marvin Worth, producer of "Where's Poppa?" "Lenny," "The Rose" and "Unfaithfully Yours," and Ulu Grosbard, director of "The Subject Was Roses," "Straight Time" and "True Confessions," have a good deal of successful movie experience.

When Frank and Molly embrace, the camera moves in on their wedding rings. (Film Production 101, "How to Emphasize the Obvious.")

Don't forget your basic Freudian psychology: Molly's good-hearted, wise-cracking, uni-dimensional father dies while Frank and Molly are trying to do some serious adultery in a friend's apartment, as opposed to their usual adolescent mooning on commuter trains and all over midtown Manhattan. All by myself, I figured it out: Molly is going to have some guilt.

Naturally, Frank and Ann each have an adulterous, horny friend in which to confide. Frank's wife, Ann, is an understanding, loving helpmate no matter what (well, almost).

True, there is one exception to the usual stereotypes: Molly's husband, Brian, is a wimpy surgeon instead of a more commonplace bad guy. Naturally, though, you can't love a wimp, so adultery is okay.

Another deadly old technique is running parallel conversations. Molly is talking to Brian or to her girlfriend while Frank is talking to Ann or to his friend. Alternating dialogue from these conversations produces supposedly complete discussions. How cutesy can we be?

The list of the trite, the trivial and the banal is as long as the film. Let me spare you all that boredom.

Too bad "Falling in Love" wasn't as considerate.

Diane West is Isabelle, the best friend whom Molly confides in.

Robert DeNiro is Frank Raftis and Meryl Streep is Molly Gilmore, two Westchester County commuters, who are both married but meet and find romance in Manhattan, in "Falling in Love."

the movies
Dan Greenberg

'Falling in Love' means stereotypes for Streep, DeNiro

A bad movie is no surprise; there are always plenty of them around. It is remarkable, however, to see a bad movie created by talented people who ought to know better.

"Falling in Love" is particularly disheartening for Streep-DeNiro fans, who will be appalled at this hackneyed, dull and mediocre film.

The plot is simplistic. Frank Raftis (Robert DeNiro) and Molly Gilmore (Meryl Streep) ride the same commuter train from well-to-do New York suburbs into the city. They just can't stay away from each other, hence the title. The film creeps slowly through their affair.

Of course, there are problems. Frank is married to Ann (Jane Kaczmarek) and Molly is married to Brian (David Clennon). Further, Frank and Ann have two sons, Mike (Wiley Earl) and Joe (Jesse Bradford).

If this is beginning to sound like a failed TV soap, you've got it. There's not enough dramatic content in "Falling in Love's" 100 minutes to fill a 15-minute daytime slot.

THE OLD Hollywood philosophy, "Money doesn't buy happiness," is all too prevalent, as is the new Hollywood theorem: "Anything's okay, as long as you're in love and it feels good."

Let's lay some of the blame at the scenarist's doorstep.

Michael Cristofer won a Tony and the Pulitzer Prize for his play, "The Shadow Box." "Falling in Love," based on his original story, marks an inauspicious debut for a screenwriter.

The film is maudlin, adolescent and stereotypical at every turn. Let's begin with the dialogue:

"How are you?" "Good." "How's the kids?" "Good." "How's the job?" "Good, good." "How are you?" "Good, good, I'm good." "How are you?"

Wuuun-der-fulllllll!

We go to the movies to escape the boredom of mundane, daily events, not to grovel in them.

Rev up, state title chase is on!

Marlins favored at Bentley

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The favorite to win the state Class A girls district tournament at Livonia Bentley has fallen on some hard times lately.

Things started to go bad for them in the Catholic League semifinals. They lost to Bishop Gallagher, a team they had beaten twice before.

Almost as a punitive measure, they had to endure 2 long weeks without a game. All they could do was to sit idly by and think about the loss.

Then, the coup de grace, they were booted out of their gym by an arts and crafts show.

Tough times for sure for the Farmington Hills Mercy Marlins, the No. 1-ranked team in Observerland and the odds-on favorites to win the Bentley district, which begins Monday.

The loss, the frustration and the inactivity have made the Marlins a fiesty lot — a group of young women chomping at the bit for a game of basketball.

"FOR THE last two weeks, we just declared all positions open, and the kids have really gone at each other. Our last 3 practices have just been outstanding," Mercy coach Larry Baker said.

"The girls can't wait to play. We are really itching to re-establish ourselves in our own eyes. But, it's really hard to look forward to playing a group with the likes of Farmington, North Farmington, Livonia Stevenson and Bentley."

Those aren't token compliments offered by Baker to the rest of the Bentley district competitors. Baker will not allow himself or his team to take any of the opponents lightly.

"One doesn't have to keep a close eye on what's happening to immediately recognize that this is a very strong district. All you have to do is look at the win-loss records."

Let's do that. Mercy is 16-2. Stevenson and North are 14-6. Bentley is 12-8. Farmington is 9-11 and Farmington Harrison is 0-20.

Mercy and Farmington drew first-round byes and will play Wednesday. Harrison and North will play at 7 p.m. Monday, followed by Stevenson vs. Bentley.

"We would have preferred not to draw the bye. But, we're glad Stevenson and Bentley are playing each other right away. At the beginning of the season, you want to play against the best competition you can. When it gets to the state tournament, you don't mind seeing the top teams play each other."

ON WEDNESDAY, Mercy will play the North-Harrison winner at 7 p.m. and Farmington will take on the Bentley-Stevenson survivor at 8:30. The championship game will be 7:30 Friday night.

The Bentley-Stevenson game Monday promises to be a war. The two teams met twice this season. Stevenson won the first one in overtime. Bentley took the rematch, also in OT.

Both teams have been rather enigmatic this season, prone to both brilliance and incompetence. Still, both teams overcame serious mid-season

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Mercy's Annette Ruggiero (10), a native of Plymouth, is one of three potential all-stars who will try to bring home another district title for the Marlins.

slumps and finished the regular season strong.

"The key is whether we can board with them," Bentley coach Tom Lang said. "We are going to press and get after them. But, we have to hold our own on the boards."

"We are going to be running and pressing and having a good time. We'll just see what happens."

BENTLEY IS a small but tremendously quick and aggressive team. Seniors Sheri Wolfe and Lonnie Payne are the team's leaders both offensively and defensively. Amy Weber and Kelly Kowalski are solid players, and Marianne Braigel is the team's big threat inside.

Stevenson, coached by Wayne Henry, has as much athletic ability as any team in the tournament. Lisa Bokovoy and Joan Frysinger, 2 agile 6-footers, create numerous problems at both ends of the court for their opponents. Mary Kay Hussey, an all-state soccer player, is still another Spartan that has the ability to control the flow of a game.

Mercy's first opponent will most likely be North Farmington, the team Mercy defeated in the district championship a year ago.

North Farmington, under coach Greg Grodzicki, has enjoyed some unexpected success this season. The Raiders lost 4 of 5 starters off last year's team, yet were in the running for another Northwest Suburban League title until the last week.

Point guard Lisa Mummert, who averages 14 points, 5 assists and 5 steals per game, is the team's catalyst. Heather McPhillips, Isaly Butters and Patti Kozicki combine to give North good size and aggressiveness in the front court.

"We're very happy with what we've done this season," Grodzicki said. "We put together some combinations that worked well, and we played real good defense. It was the defense that got us this far."

MERCY WILL start 3 potential all-stars in Mary Rosowski, Annette Ruggiero and Terri Ford. Amy DeMatia, a three-year starter, Sue Scott and Bev White give the Marlins a balanced and talented attack.

Farmington not only possesses one of the area's most outstanding individual players in Alyse Fortune, but one of the area's most improved teams as well.

Fortune is averaging near 20 points per game and has shown her capabilities as a defensive player and passer as well.

But, the improved play of Laura Spence, Mary Kay Orrico and Patti Mathews have made Bruce Brown's Falcons a very competitive team within the Western Lakes Activities Association this season.

Farmington Harrison has not won a game in 2 seasons, and that has overshadowed the performances of Jennifer Hughes, Michelle Wise and Janine Whittemore.

Yes, any one of 5 teams could win this tournament. But, it would be a severe upset if Mercy did not emerge as champions.

The winner will advance to the regional tournament also hosted by Bentley and take on the winner of the Southfield District.

Canton succumbs to John Glenn's height

Westland John Glenn ended its regular season Tuesday with a 45-35 non-league girls basketball victory over visiting Plymouth Canton.

Glenn, which opens district play tonight at home against Plymouth Salem, is 18-2 overall. Canton, which plays Northville Wednesday in its district opener, is 11-9 overall.

Glenn, Northwest Suburban League (NSL) co-champions, trailed by five points after one quarter, 11-6, before getting into gear.

The Rockets, who nudged ahead by two at the half, outscored the Chiefs 16-8 in what proved to be the decisive third quarter.

"We battled them as long as we could," said Canton coach John Mulroy. "They don't have anybody smaller than 5-foot-9 — they're huge."

"They just wore us down."

Jenny Okon, a 6-foot sophomore, scored 17 points to lead Glenn. Michele McCullen, a 5-11 senior, added 14.

Point guard Beth Frigge helped keep Canton close with 13 points. Laura Darby and Diana Knickerbocker added seven points each.

FRANKLIN 64, CHURCHILL 43: Livonia Franklin, NSL co-champions, outscored the visiting Chargers in every quarter to increase its overall record to 15-4 in a non-league battle last week.

Carolyn Smith led the way with 19 points. Point-guard Tracy Lectka and center Jill Phillips added 12 and 11, respectively. Donna Wozniak came off the bench to score a season-high nine for the Patriots.

For Livonia Churchill, sophomore Tracy Greenwald pumped in 16 points and Jacki Wozniak added 11.

BENTLEY 52, THURSTON 32: Senior guard Lonnie Payne spurred Livonia Bentley to the non-league triumph last week over Redford Thurston with 16 points, four steals and four assists.

Bentley, which finished the regular season at 12-8, outpointed the visiting Eagles in every quarter.

Center Marianne Braigel came off the bench to score 13 points and junior Kelly Kowalski added 10.

Julie Engel scored 12 for the Eagles, who enter district tournament play with a 4-15 record.

Tonight, Bentley hosts its own district. The Bulldogs face Livonia Stevenson (14-6).

CLARENCEVILLE 35, RIVERSIDE 31: Livonia Clarenceville wiped out a 7-point deficit, outscoring the Rebels 14-3 in the final 5:13 Tuesday to beat Dearborn Heights Riverside in an inter-sectional battle.

Junior center Kelly Watson scored eight of her team-high 16 points in the final quarter. She also added nine rebounds. Teammate Maureen Burke also made a big contribution with 10 points. Gina Carnesecci, a senior guard, came off the bench to score the go-ahead basket.

Riverside, which fell to 10-10 overall, got a game-high 19 points from Tricia Breslin.

Meanwhile, Clarenceville enters district action at Oak Park with a 5-14 record.

Salem-Glenn rivalry heats up anew

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Rivalries make sports exciting and the Observerland girls basketball scene will be without one of its most fierce rivalries after this season. With Livonia Bentley closing its doors in 1985, the Plymouth Salem-Bentley girls basketball series has concluded.

Ah, but sports is self-perpetuating and another, perhaps even more intense, rivalry is in the making.

Plymouth Salem and Westland John Glenn heretofore have met only a handful of times. The two teams have always been in opposite leagues. When they have engaged in battle it has been, as they say, for all the marbles.

Such was the case two years ago when the teams met for the district championship. The Salem team of that season was the last team coached by Bob Blohm and it was a powerhouse. The Rocks came into the game ranked No. 3 in the state.

JOHN GLENN, a team of sophomores, was just four games above .500 and heavy underdogs

In case you've forgotten, Glenn won that game.

Two years and some major league adjustments later, Glenn and Salem are on the verge of becoming serious rivals.

The two teams meet at 7 tonight in the first round of the state Class A district tournament at Glenn.

"You know, maybe with the Bentley-Salem rivalry ending, maybe we have a little something for them," said Glenn head coach George Sommerman. "I think a Salem-Glenn rivalry, now that we will be in their league (Western Lakes), would be super."

Salem head coach Fred Thomann agrees: "It's a good rivalry. You have two programs that have been real successful the past six or seven years. We've had some great tournament games with them, not only in the girls season but in the boys, too."

Tonight's clash, if it were a Broadway play, would be labeled "can't miss." Both teams are highly ranked. Glenn (18-2) is ranked No. 3 in Observerland, Salem (16-4) is ranked No. 4. And plenty is at stake.

THE SURVIVOR of the game will be heavily favored to win the district, although Sommerman would just as soon not hear any of that talk.

"It's wrong to assume that any one team is wired," he said. "The minute you come in thinking you've got it, somebody comes by and kicks your butt. In a state tournament, anyone can up and get you."

The three other teams in the district are Plymouth Canton (11-9), Livonia Churchill (5-15) and Northville (2-17).

Canton and Northville will do battle at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Churchill will play either Salem or Glenn at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The championship game will tipoff at 8 p.m. Friday. Canton and Northville have played each other three times already this season. Canton has won two of the three and two have gone into overtime.

"We've played 20 percent of our season against Northville," said Canton coach John Mulroy. "They are comfortable playing us. They think they know everything we do. They think they can stay with us regardless of what happens. When a team smells that they can compete with you, it makes them play better and makes them harder to beat."

Mulroy has done an outstanding job with a very small Canton team. But, his biggest fear going into Wednesday's game is his team's boredom.

"Some of the kids are just getting tired of playing basketball," he said. "Some of them, not all, some are just bored to death with this. I hope we can get them excited."

MOTIVATION WON'T be a concern for either Thomann or Sommerman.

"The girls are really looking forward to it," Sommerman said. "It's always good to beat Plymouth Salem. The Salem girls have always been a dominant power and you have to be able to beat them."

Oh, yes, another motivation for Salem may be this: Those Glenn sophomores who helped pull off the stunning upset two years ago — namely Michele McCullen and Julie Pucci — are now seniors at Glenn.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Salem's Mary Beth West (12) and her teammates have a tall order in trying to beat John Glenn.

Canton bowler earns respect

Ken Kosick, the Canton southpaw, finally is getting the recognition he has been striving for — and he has earned it the hard way.

The final step to recognition came when he won the Bonanza Majors Tournament at Cherry Hill Lanes and became only the first bowler to win the title in the 17-year history of the event.

He won the title in the step-ladder finish by conquering Harold Sullins, of Roseville 268 to 221. He showed the ability under pressure when he opened the final match with a string of seven strikes. He averaged 228 for the tournament and is now deserving of the rank as the area's top southpaw.

MARY KEEPS GOING — "This is the best week I ever have had," Mary Mahacsi said when she rolled the first perfect game of her career in the scratch trio event at Wonderland Lanes. She had reason to be proud as she won a major championship in Ann Arbor on Sunday, was inducted into the Michigan Amateur Sports Hall of in the pocket by W. W. Edgar

Fame on Tuesday night and then rolled her 300 Wednesday. And she still is not finished. She'd like to be named the Bowling Queen for the eighth time to set another record.

GOAL ATTAINED — Aleta Rzepecki who now is known as Mrs. Aleta Sill, won last week's women's pro tournament and thus became a favorite to be named Woman Bowler of the Year.

To win the tournament last week she had to defeat Cheryl Daniels, her former buddy in the Detroit All-Star leagues, and she did quite handily. The victory was worth $25,000 and now assures her of the money-winning crown for the year.

Lady Ocelot kickers reach NJCAA finals

The Schoolcraft College women's soccer team reached the finals of the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) tournament at Trenton, N.J., with a pair of victories last week.

Results of Saturday's final with Nassau (N.Y.) Community College will appear in Thursday's Observer.

In a first-round game on Wednesday, Farmington Harrison graduate Sue Ferguson, the team's top scorer, gained the hat trick in a 5-2 win over Union Community College of New Jersey.

The Lady Ocelots also got goals by Amy McCauley and Livonia Churchill grad Dorene Dudek.

In the semifinals on Thanksgiving Day, Schoolcraft blanked Morrisville (N.Y.), 2-0, as goalie Jenny Gans posted the shutout.

Schoolcraft sports

The winners dominated play from start to finish, but missed several good scoring chances, hitting the crossbar twice and the goal post twice.

Ferguson had both Schoolcraft goals.

A victory Saturday by the Lady Ocelots could give the school its first national team championship.

Ex-Wolverine star Turner finds happiness beyond ice

Athletes often go through a particularly traumatic period following the end of their professional careers. They have to find a job and learn how to get along without the big bucks, riveted attention and pampering that go with being an athlete in this culture. They go from life in the fast lane to having to jostle for a spot near the curb, where they are just a face in the crowd.

Dean Turner is a definite exception. Shed no tears, waste no sympathy — the son of TV star Marilyn Turner has proven that, for him at least, there is life after sports.

Turner, whose hockey career included an NCAA final, a Stanley Cup final and National Hockey League stops in New York, Colorado and Los Angeles, is doing just fine, thank you. A bad boy on ice, who was paid more to goon it up and intimidate the opposition than for any other facet of the game, is a vice president for Brownstreet Group Inc., a Birmingham firm specializing in oil and gas syndications and estate planning.

"Hey, I'd rather make a living with my brain than my back," says the ebullient Turner.

AND A NICE living it is. He may have played the part of goon on the ice, but off it he is articulate and intelligent. He looks the part of hockey tough guy — his nose has more bends and twists than an undulating green on a golf course — but he talks like someone who double-majoring in accounting and economics at the University of Michigan

(which he did, continuing his schooling even after quitting the hockey team and his scholarship after his sophomore season in order to turn pro in 1978).

Turner's hockey career was fairly typical — more promise than substance, more time in the minors than the majors, more frustration than jubilation and, ultimately, failure. But instead of returning to some hick town in Canada and pumping gas or selling hardware or whatever it is that most failed hockey players do, Turner joined John Mullins in his investment firm.

"My job was playing defense and rocking bodies and I've got the broken bones to show for it," said Turner over a recent lunch around the corner from his Birmingham office on Brown Street. "They wanted me to fight all the time. There are other things in life besides being a clown or playing the role of one. Hockey was losing its excitement. It wasn't fun anymore."

So, he quit following the 1982-83 season. Last year was his first out of hockey since grade school. For the most part, Turner has had no regrets over retiring at 25.

"It (pro hockey) was a lot of fun at first," said Turner, "but one thing it didn't fulfill was mental stimulation. You're well taken care of. You're handed your plane tickets. Here's your meal money. But it didn't do much for the head. That's the thing I love about the investment business: it stimulates the head."

ORDINANCE NO. 84-6
(With Proposed Amendment)

CITY OF PLYMOUTH
MICHIGAN

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 10.26 of Chapter 127, Title X of the Plymouth City Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Central Parking Lot. In the public parking lot known as the "Central Parking Lot" situated within the area bounded by Pennington Avenue, S. Main Street, W. Ann Arbor Trail, and S. Harvey Street, no owner or operator of a motor vehicle or conveyance shall park the same or permit the same to be parked in said parking lot and structure for a continuous period of time in excess of those time restrictions placed on said motor vehicle and duly posted. Said time limitations shall be established by the City Manager. Said time restrictions shall be posted at the entrances and/or designated time zone restriction areas. Said posted time limitations upon parking in said Parking Lot and Structure shall be in force during all days of the week excepting Sunday and legal holidays known as New Year's Day, Memorial or Decoration Day, July the Fourth or Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day, and other days deemed appropriate by the City Commission.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 27th day of November, 1984.

Made, passed, and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 19th day of November, 1984.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE MICHIGAN JOB DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY

ISSUANCE OF LIMITED OBLIGATION REVENUE BONDS ON BEHALF OF THE MAY GROUP, RICHARD E. CRUDELE, RITA C. CRUDELE AND BEVERLY A. TILLMAN

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Michigan Job Development Authority (the "Authority") will hold a public hearing at 1:30 p.m. at the Authority's offices located on the Third Floor of the North Ottawa Tower, 611 W. Ottawa, Lansing, Michigan on the 10th day of December, 1984, on the issuance of bonds by the Authority on behalf of The May Group, Richard E. Crudele, Rita C. Crudele, and Beverly A. Tillman (the "Borrowers") to assist the Borrowers in financing the acquisition of land, a 22,530 sq. ft. building, and additional machinery and equipment, such as drill presses, iron workers, fencing, lift truck, crane, welders, shear, and other similar items all to be located at 35305 Glendale Avenue, Livonia, Michigan (the "Project"). The Project will be leased to Powered Platforms Mig, who will use it as a manufacturing facility to manufacture special equipment used for window cleaning and other building maintenance on high rise structures. The bonds are proposed to be issued in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $850,000. The bonds shall be limited obligations of the Authority, payable solely and only from loan repayments to be made by the Borrowers to the Authority and other collateral pledged by the Borrowers. The bonds will not constitute an indebtedness of the Authority, the State of Michigan or the City of Livonia within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory provision and will not constitute or give rise to a charge against the general credit of the Authority or the general credit or taxing power of the State of Michigan or the City of Livonia. The Authority has no taxing power. The hearing shall provide the fullest opportunity for expression of opinion, for argument on the merits and for introduction of documentary evidence pertinent to the nature and location of the Project and the proposed issuance of bonds. Written comments will be accepted by the Authority but must be received on or before the date of the hearing.
