Township urged to start own police force

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plymouth Township's police consultant and law enforcement committee have called for an end to the shared police contract with the City of Plymouth.

It was their unanimous recommendation that Plymouth Township "form its own police agency to be in position and operational by the expiration of the current police contract on June 30, 1985."

Consultant Robert L. Parsons and the committee also suggest "serious consideration should be given to contracting such services as dispatch, computer records systems and/or lockup facilities," he wrote.

Parsons, criminal justice coordinator for Ferris State University, recently completed a 13-week study and analysis project with the appointed committee. The final report was delivered last week to Supervisor Maurice Breen.

Currently the township contracts police service from Plymouth for $467,000 a year. Parsons was hired to coordinate an evaluation of the present arrangement.

"The current police contract, in this consultant's opinion, has served the needs of a growing community on an emergency basis. However, with the current documented and projected future increase in needs for police services, this contract is no longer feasible nor is it cost effective," he wrote.

The township "has reached the point of cost analysis whereby once initial start-up costs are paid, it can equip and operate its own police department at a cost approximately equal to the cost of contractual services.

"Additionally, it will have direct control over the entire operation of the department and avoid most of the problems now existent with the operation of the current contract," Parsons wrote.

TO STUDY the current service, Parsons looked at information from a variety of sources — interviews with police and municipal officials, comments from a public hearing on police, and police department records.

Most of those interviewed by Parsons expressed confidence members of the police department were capable of performing quality service.

"There was a strong belief by many of those interviewed that ongoing city/township political issues adversely affected the police department," Parsons wrote.

He also observed "a definite breakdown of communication has occurred between the township and city relative to the police service contract."

Comments from the public hearing expressed satisfaction with the "called for service" of the police, and a desire for more protective services.

"Persons representing the Neighborhood Watch associations expressed distinct concerns over their perception of a lack of much-needed traffic enforcement within the township neighborhoods and a lack of preventative police patrol aimed at what they felt to be a high number of B&Es."

TO EXAMINE the statistical data Parsons took several approaches. Those included: a one-year seasonal analysis of resident-called-for services, a 19-month comparison of overall work, and measurement of the contractual obligations.

The analysis of the resident-called-for services was based on in-depth looks at four months — one from each season. Used were August 1984, May 1984, January 1984 and November 1983.

The 19-month comparison was based on departmental records from January 1983 to July 1984. For that period, Parsons tracked trends in certain areas of law enforcement — mostly those considered officer initiated, such as traffic, arrests without warrants and preventive patrol.

"The data suggests that the Plymouth Police Department has met the average call-for-service to the township in a fairly consistent manner throughout the contract," he wrote.

"However, it is most interesting that the two areas that the township residents complained about (traffic enforcement and preventive patrol) were in fact the ones which were statistically borne out to be both problem areas and in need of immediate attention.

"The data strongly suggests that the township is not receiving the necessary service in these two areas as well as others," he wrote.

AS FOR THE contractual obligations — a minimum staffing requirement of 19 officers and an emergency response time of three to seven minutes — Parsons suggests both have been violated.

"The data from personnel records shows clearly that the department has been at least one officer short from February 1984, and two additional positions short in August 1984."

Give them this day ...

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

Give us this day our daily bread. The Rotary Club of Plymouth started its weekly meeting Friday with the invocation, as usual.

Ralph Lorenz approached the speaker's table and began reciting the invocation, the Lord's Prayer.

But the version was not the usual one.

The words spoken, instead, were: Give THEM this day our daily bread.

THE "THEM" referred to in the invocation are the hungry in Ethiopia. The word was changed in the prayer to introduce a proposed Rotary project calling for aid to Ethiopia.

Later in the meeting Lorenz made a proposal to the club that for the next six months members go without their "daily bread" by forfeiting the dinner roll and butter at the weekly Rotary luncheon.

For each meal served weekly the Mayflower Hotel will donate 25 cents for the "Daily Bread" project. The Rotary Club of Plymouth will match a quarter for each weekly meal with a minimum combined grant of $25 a week or $200 a month.

The project was proposed for a six-month trial period. Friday Plymouth Rotarians voted by a show of hands to approve the commitment of club funds as well as going without bread with their Friday meal for six months.

A WEEK before Lorenz had asked that the Plymouth Rotary Foundation use some of its funds to aid the starving in Ethiopia and he followed up with the specific proposal last Friday.

Plymouth Rotary hopes the idea will spread to other clubs in its district, or even farther. With that in mind, Rotary officers last week spoke with District 640 officials about the Daily Bread plan.

Sandy Sandrock of Redford Rotary, the governor-elect of District 640, was in attendance Friday and said he would advance the idea to the other clubs in the district. He also discussed the project with the current district governor who was receptive to the plan.

Some of the spirit behind the plan was expressed in the closing of Lorenz's invocation: "Help us feed the multitudes that are hungry."

"As once the multitudes were fed with five loaves and two fishes, Plymouth Rotary could be the vehicle that would encourage other clubs to do the same and there could be baskets of crumbs left over on the planes of Ethiopia with enough food for all."

THE CLUB intends to make contact with Rotary clubs in Ethiopia so that the money can be handled directly through Rotary International channels to better insure that the money donated is used to feed the hungry.

While Plymouth Rotary cannot do a great deal to relieve hunger, Plymouth Rotarians are hopeful the idea of giving away their Daily Bread will spread to other groups so the project can have a greater impact.

"As an immigrant I never knew what it was like to have a full stomach each day until I arrived in this country," commented Lorenz. "It was an amazing thing for a young man to see such abundance. I think because of that experience I have been sensitive to hunger."

"When I was reading about hunger in Ethiopia and watching TV shows on it, I thought about how fortunate we are to have our daily bread to be full each day — and the idea came to me."

DeHoCo battle nears as state seeks prisons

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plymouth Township is gearing up for a battle over turning the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) into a state prison.

State legislators have turned their attention toward the possible conversion of DeHoCo following last week's calls for more prison space by Wayne County Executive William Lucas and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

"I will be asking the board for $40,000 to support our efforts of opposing multiple prison sites in the Plymouth and Northville communities," Township Supervisor Maurice Breen said Friday.

SPECIFICALLY, Breen will ask trustees Tuesday night to authorize up to $40,000 to retain Karoub Associates, lobbyists, and the law firm of Krandle, Thompson & Mier to represent the suburban township.

"We had hoped we wouldn't have to hire a lobbyist," Breen said. "But unfortunately there are a number of people who are supposed to represent the best interests of Wayne County and the state of Michigan who want easy solutions to hard situations."

"We believe there's been a sense of urgency for the last four weeks," Breen said.

Breen considers converting DeHoCo an "easy solution." He objects to such a move because two other state prisons would be right across the street in Northville — the Phoenix Correctional Center and a regional prison now under construction.

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth Township, believes Karoub Associates is needed. That firm was used when Law and others fought a proposed shift in sites for the regional prison — from Five Mile and Beck to Five and Sheldon. They beat the shift.

"There's no use fooling around. A lobbyist can do things I can't," said Law, whose district includes parts of Canton and Northville.

THE STATE legislature's Joint Capital Outlay Subcommittee voted Thursday to approve a $15 million package to ease prison overcrowding.

Although the package included authorization for an appraisal of DeHoCo, Law said it's not as big a step as published reports made it out.

"To buy DeHoCo is not what it was approved for. It was to keep various correctional projects going without always coming back to the legislature for money," Law said.

"Those are projects or sites which have already been approved — Lapeer and Ionia. DeHoCo is one of the projects they are looking at, a potential site. They just agreed to go out and get an appraisal for about $25,000," he said.

DEHOCO'S CONVERSION still must receive formal site approval from the Capital Outlay Committee before the state could purchase it, according to Law.

Breen, who attended the Thursday legislative meeting, agrees with Law but believes legislators are leaning toward DeHoCo.

"Approval of the appraisal was preliminary, necessary action needed toward the discussion of the purchase of DeHoCo by the state," he said.

"I think it's quite clear that the Democrats are supporting the DeHoCo site as a state prison."

STATE SEN. Robert Geake, R-Northville, whose district includes Plymouth and Northville townships, Livonia, Redford and Canton, is on the capital outlay subcommittee. He unsuccessfully tried to tie the DeHoCo action to a commitment to prison sites in Detroit.

"What my amendment would have done was to say the state would not consider purchase of DeHoCo unless the city of Detroit accepted two prison sites," Geake said.

Although the subcommittee rejected his proposed amendment, Geake voted for the $15 million package but plans to continue fighting a DeHoCo conversion without prison sites in Detroit.

"I have no objections to that vote," Breen said. "He had to vote to keep the other sites going."

LUCAS CALLED for the state to take over DeHoCo on Dec. 1 — the date he said all DeHoCo prisoners would be transferred to county facilities. However, the Dec. 1 date can't be confirmed.

"What you have been reading in the papers hasn't been told to me, and unless I'm the last one to know, we haven't set a date," said Emmett Baylor, DeHoCo director. Baylor recently was appointed by Mayor Young as a liaison to the state to help designate sites for a state prison.

"My job is to find a plausible site within the city of Detroit or on city-owned property, such as this site," Baylor said.

"But I have not moved anyone from here yet. Every three or four months, they ask for a few trustees to come down. That's the only men that have been moved from here, or those who served their sentence and were released. No date for closing has been given to me," he said.

SHERIFF ROBERT Ficano's department also doesn't know of a date for receiving DeHoCo prisoners.

"All transfers are on hold as of right now. If you're talking about a total transfer of DeHoCo, that's not imminent," said Nancy Maradian, a sheriff's spokeswoman.

"We should have a better idea when transfers will resume sometime next week. As for the Dec. 1 date, that's out of the question," Maradian said.

Both consultants call pact outdated

Police Consultant Robert L. Parsons' report to Plymouth Township comes just days after Bartell & Bartell presented a report to the City of Plymouth.

The focus of both reports was the $467,000 a year contract for the city to share police services with the township.

Both consultants believe the contract, as well as the arrangements and conditions it creates, requires immediate attention.

Bartell called the contract "unworkable" and suggested three options: elimination of the response time requirement, having the township pay to guarantee the response time, or termination of the agreement.

PARSONS CALLED for termination of the agreement. In doing so, Parsons cites five reasons:

- "The current contract is certainly outdated, very difficult to monitor and has been violated a significant number of times."

- "The current police dispatch system, radio logs and records system is not efficient and totally unacceptable for the maintenance of any type of contract."

- "The city has, in this consultant's opinion, an expensive contract with its police union. The township will forever be bound to this contract because the city will have to determine costs to the township using its own cost of police service, which seems inordinately high."

- "Under the police services contract the township has no direct control over its police officers, the local union and/or department administration, and may often have to abide by police policies or department management practices over which it has no authority."

- "The township and city currently have a significant communication problem regarding everything from record keeping to monitoring of the police services contract. This situation has aggravated the problem of maintaining the police contract."

Parsons, who suggests the township start its own police department, was retained to perform the police study as part of a three-phased project. While the first phase was the study, subsequent phases include the design of a revised police services package and the implementation of the new system.

After receiving the Bartell study, City Manager Henry Graper has called for a "summit meeting" for city and township officials to discuss the future of police services in both communities.

Bartell recommends an attempt to salvage the contract by revising the method by which services are purchased.

Firefighters unprofessional

To the editor:
 You want a letter to the editor? I'll give you one, but I know you won't print it because you seem to have a pretty one-sided Plymouth paper.
 I'm one of your now famous paramedics from Community EMS. After working every Tuesday and Thursday this whole month in your city I am thoroughly convinced we should get hazard pay when we work here. We have been the "bad guys" ever since we started in Plymouth.
 We are also aware that a couple firemen got laid off when we came, but keep in mind that was the city's decision not ours. I am sick and tired of being treated like dirt on every scene we go to by your "friendly" police force. To top it off we are stationed in your fire hall where the firemen don't talk to us. How professional!

 I'll have you know all of our full-time medics work 72 hours a week for $4.50 an hour. We obviously aren't in this business for the money or the working conditions because they both stink. It's the occasional "thank you" (which I doubt we will ever get in Plymouth) that makes it all worthwhile.
 I'm not asking for miracles, just to be treated like a human being. Also, just a note to the wives of all the police and firemen: For Christmas, how about some proper fitting underwear for hubby; his is apparently about three sizes too small.

Crime labs have new method with latent print-finding device

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Fingerprints taken from cigarettes? Fingerprints from aluminum foil?

Until recently, those were almost impossible tasks for the crime lab experts. But thanks to the laser, prints now can be taken from such evidence.

The technology is relatively new, and the latent fingerprint-finding devices are scarce. Even so, crime scene investigators are sold on the need for lasers in the lab.

THE LASER Printfinder, manufactured by Laser Photonics of Florida, was demonstrated recently at the Flint Police Academy. It is a portable, air-cooled laser.

"This type of laser use was started in 1976," said Paul Maliska, a Laser Photonics salesman.

"Xerox, by accident, had fingerprints on the stuff they were using a laser with and wanted to get rid of the fingerprints," Maliska said.

"They went to a police department and asked how to get rid of the fingerprints, and the police said, 'Hold it, let us see this.'"

The laser, which is relatively easy to use, finds prints that aren't visible using other methods of detection.

Targeted pieces of evidence are exposed to "Superglue" fumes to fix any fingerprints. The evidence then is sprayed with dye and observed under the green light of the laser.

The examiner wears goggles that filter out the green light and allow yellow, orange or red to be seen. The fingerprints absorb the green light and glow orange or red.

In the case of the portable laser, a search of a scene can be made without dye because some of the oils left from skin are naturally fluorescent, as are other types of deposits.

Lasers also can be used to find latent fibers on clothing, in cars, or in buildings. Because laser beams provide the straightest line possible, police use them to trace the path of bullets.

FOR POLICE purposes, there are three types of the lasers: copper lasers, argon ion lasers and Nd:YAG lasers.

The copper and argon ion lasers require water cooling and are built in stationary lab units. The Nd:YAG is air-cooled and considered a portable laser.

Once a print is found with the laser, it is photographed with a camera using a filter just like the goggles. The port-

Sgt. Ed Davis of the Michigan State Police uses goggles to view laser-illuminated fingerprints. The new technology, now being used in a handful of states, enhances law enforcement's ability to identify and use trace evidence in criminal investigations. Michigan is expected to purchase a laser system soon.

Police department technicians peer through goggles at a foam cup. When the laser strikes the object, the fingerprints fluoresce and are easily seen and photographed.

ble Printfinder works with a low-light-level, high-resolution TV detector — said to be 500 times more sensitive than the human eye.

The laser-found prints, in addition to being photographed, can be video filmed.

Fewer than 50 police lasers of all three types exist in the United States, Maliska said.

Attending the Laser Printfinder demonstration were staff members from two Michigan State Police crime labs — Northville and Bridgeport. The State Police plan to buy a laser unit soon.

The prices range between $30,000 and $80,000, which puts them out of range of local police departments, said Redford Patrolman John Jarrell, an identification specialist.

Jarrell was impressed with a recent demonstration at the Northville lab, he said. "The laser will bring it (the print) out sometimes. But you've got to know what you're doing."

Although police in Michigan don't have access to a laser, state police have sought help from nearby states for several cases, including murders in Canton Township and Taylor.

"The Taylor case will be the first laser evidence in the state of Michigan, as far as I'm aware of," said Sgt. Edward Davis from the Northville Crime Lab.

The Taylor case involved a stabbing and suffocation. Police will enter fingerprints from a plastic bag as evidence — fingerprints only obtainable through the laser technique.

Davis doesn't expect a battle over the evidence.

"You don't have to explain the chemistry of dusting powder, just that it is an investigative tool," he said.

In other states, where laser evidence already has been entered, Maliska said the reaction has been great.

"The courts love it. It's putting more people behind bars as well as proving people innocent," he said.

Bill Bresler

Using conventional methods, it's nearly impossible to read fingerprints from crinkled aluminum foil. Laser made these prints show up clearly.

State Police Sgt. Ed Davis takes notes during a laser system demonstration in Flint. The suitcase-sized laser generator and video monitor are behind him.

Museum Christmas

The Plymouth Historical Village will feature a Victorian Christmas through Friday, Jan. 6.

The trees surrounding the museum's circa-1920s village have been decorated by local florists. The museum also has antique dolls and trains on display.

The dolls, some dating as far back as 1873, include an 1880s doll with a waxed head and eyes without pupils and a Shirley Temple doll from the 1930s.

The train exhibit includes a collection of American Flyer engines and a group of train depots.

Located at 155 S. Main, the museum is open 1-4 p.m. Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for youth 11-17, and 25 cents for children 5-10.

Omnicom asks basic rate hike; city to deny

Omnicom Cablevision is hoping to get a rate increase this week in both the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

The Plymouth City Commission will be asked tonight to approve only part of a rate increase asked for by Omnicom Cablevision.

Tomorrow night the Plymouth Township Board will be asked to vote on the increase asked by Omnicom.

Changes in federal law now allow a cable television company to increase its rates by five percent for basic service. That rate change is automatic.

Last July Omnicom asked the City Commission to improve a rate increase representing a total of $2 per user for basic service.

The city administration is recommending that the commission deny the rate increase from last July. The result, says City Manager Henry Graper, will be only the five percent increase or $1.60 per user.

OMNICOM also is seeking a rate increase of $2 per user for basic service in Plymouth Township. The township board will meet beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Township Hall at Mill and Ann Arbor Road.

The Commission meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall at Church and Main. In other action, the Commission will be asked to approve a 6 percent pay hike for non-union employees including the city manager and department heads.

If the commission does not act tonight, says Graper, Omnicom will be allowed not only the five percent allowed by federal law but the other increase asked for last July.

"We only have the next two years to act in this manner," said Graper. "After that, cable television will be totally controlled by federal statutes.

"Our auditors have given us enough material to realize that Omnicom is a profitable organization. We do not feel that anything over the 5 percent increase is justifiable."

Last July Omnicom argued it needed the rate increase to get a return on its investment. Rick Collman, Omnicom General Manager, has given the same assurance to the township. "Even with this increase Omnicom is not in a position to make even a modest return on the investment in this system," he wrote Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

ANOTHER REASON for the city denying the request rate increase seems to be because of the city's unhappiness with Omnicom's governmental channels for the city and Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. The resolution denying the rate request from July reads, in part:

"Omnicom of Michigan has not been able to provide the City of Plymouth and the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools with reliable and dependable use of the local government channel and the local educational channel, as required by Chapter 78 of the Plymouth City Code."

The resolution also expresses the Commission's dissatisfaction that Omnicom does not have a "certified audit" of only Omnicom of Michigan, Inc. as requested by the city's auditors, Post, Smythe, Lutz and Ziel.

As part of its review of the rate increase request, the city administration has looked at problems encountered with the city governmental channel and with continuing technical difficulties the school district has had with its educational channel.

In his letter to Breen, Collman points out that Omnicom was the first cable television company in Michigan to go to 54 channels and there still is not a cablevision firm in the state which has more channels than Omnicom.

Omnicom is planning on mailing a letter to its customers in Plymouth this month informing them of the rate increase. In the letter Collman points out that Omnicom has not had an increase in the charge for basic service for the past four years.

Police study asks end to contract

Response time was measured on 127 calls during the four months selected for the seasonal analysis.

"By allowing the most favorable definition of response time, the data showed that the city responded to 26 out of 127 911(emergency) runs in violation of the three- to seven-minute standard," according to Parsons.

That worked out to 20 percent of the runs measured.

"Also critically significant was the large number of 911 runs (52 or 29 percent) which were unable to be measured because of improper radio log entries," he wrote.

"Regardless of whether a contract is outdated, antiquated and/or difficult to measure, a written contract is still a written contract and enforceable by law," he wrote.

The Plymouth/Plymouth Township contract has two standards for evaluation — staffing and emergency response time.

"Some within the community seem to now want to debate the specific definition of response time and emergency runs. Emergency runs or 911 runs are accepted nationally to mean life threatening or potentially life threatening events," Parsons wrote.

"Response time, it is recognized, could also be defined two different ways."

The difference is when the clock starts — when the call comes in, or when a dispatcher gives the call to a car. Parsons used both ways, with little change in the results.

"Regardless of which definition of response time the reader chooses to adopt, the evidence is overwhelming that Standard #2 (response time) of the contract has been continuously violated throughout the time period being measured by this study," he wrote.

The township board is expected to review Parsons findings sometime this month.

of this year's drive, reported that the campaign exceeded the $365,000 by 5 percent with contributions still coming in. Campaign workers met Wednesday at the Ford-Sheldon Plant dining room to celebrate the end of this year's effort.

BACK PAIN

If back pains are a way of life for you, the reasons can be varied and complex. Some may be pathological, but very often the cause is muscles which are either over- or under-exercised which are producing spinal distortion. Vertebrae slip into abnormal positions, resulting in "pinched" and irritated nerves, which cause pain and even loss of function of the affected body part. Poor posture, or even emotional tension, can be the root cause.

DR. WEISS
THE VICIOUS CYCLE IN ARTHRITIS - INFLAMMATION AND PAIN

A flare of joint inflammation, if severe enough, leads to increased joint pain. In turn this new level results in further inflammation.

First, increased pain causes a reflex constriction of neighboring blood vessels. This decrease in caliber of blood vessels means there is less blood flow to the joint to wash away the toxic by-products of inflammation. The build-up and prolonged stay of these irritants augments the inflammation already present.

Second, joint pain causes strain on surrounding muscles. The body attempts to find a position for the joint which decreases the pressure on its inflamed surface. This change in joint posture places increased stress on other parts of the joint making these surfaces vulnerable to inflammation.

How is this vicious cycle stopped? Joint Injection is an excellent therapy in such cases, as injection permits a concentrated dose of anti-inflammatory medication to reach a targeted area. Furthermore, once the flare is stopped, the medicines that previously provided daily control usually will do so again.

YMCA invented basketball and volleyball

(Part 2)

The first YMCA in this country was established in Boston in 1851, the year Harriet Beecher Stowe published "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Eight years later there were 100 YMCA throughout the United States.

Originally an organization for social and religious work among young men, the YMCA has changed considerably over the years.

A brochure issued this year by the Y's National Council notes that those who go to the YMCA are not necessarily "young" — the Y now serves Americans of all ages from preschool tots to senior citizens.

And they are not necessarily "men" — 44 percent of those served nationally are women.

They also are not necessarily "Christian" — the organization was founded on Christian principles, but the Y opens its doors to all.

Aside from that, says the brochure, "the YMCA is what most Americans think of it — basketball, summer camp, teaching the kids to swim, volleyball, jogging, exercise classes, youth programs, tennis, soccer and child care — all delivered in a wholesome atmosphere."

AS EARLY AS 1885, the Y organized the nation's first learn-to-swim campaign, and devised the water safety rules followed today.

It came as a surprise to me to also learn that basketball, one of the few major sports of wholly-American origin, was introduced by the YMCA. The game was invented in 1891 by Dr. James A. Naismith, a young athletic instructor at the International YMCA training school in Springfield, Mass.

Naismith knocked the bottom out of a peach basket to make the first basketball net. He wanted to fill a need for a vigorous, exciting indoor game to keep his athletes physically fit and entertained between football and baseball seasons.

Another YMCA physical director,

W.G. Morgan, invented volleyball because he found basketball too strenuous for businessmen. The Y also had a hand in popularizing night schools, the beginnings of the junior college movement, and college student services. It assisted in the formation of other voluntary groups such as the Scouts, the Camp Fire girls, and the U.S.O.

The Y now is the largest health and social network in the nation. According to the National Council, it operates 1,332 gyms, 1,389 swimming pools, 1,027 health and fitness centers, 2,615 racquetball and handball courts, 1,036 tennis courts, 286 camps and conference centers, and 251 residences with 35,353 beds, in the United States alone. There also are specialized Y's for college students, railroad men and members of the military.

past and present

Sam Hudson

Although a national board and staff headquartered in Chicago serves the needs of local Ys, all YMCA's operate under local control by local boards. Programs are tailored to meet local needs. All officers and members of the local boards serve on a volunteer basis.

I have been unable to find a list of early presidents of the local YMCA board, but from 1971 to the present these Plymouth residents have been its president: Mark Wehmeyer, John Crago, Mimmi Settles, Dr. James Tsoucaris, Dwight Matthews, Mike Barnes, Smith Horton, Burt Dickinson, and the current president, Russell Hoisington.

THE PLYMOUTH YMCA's first program came in 1962 with the formation of the Indian Guides for fathers and sons, and the introduction of the Hi-Y for high school youth.

Because the organization had no facility of its own, the Indian Guides met at the homes of interested parents, the Hi-Y in the high school. Also begun in 1962 was the out-reach program for school drop-outs and unemployed youth previously mentioned.

When Gene Crosby was a member of the board in 1964, the Y was looking for a part-time executive secretary. His wife, Johnnie (the well-known local artist) took the job, replacing Mike Hoben who was then moving up the administrative ladder in the school system. Johnnie Crosby served on a part-time basis for seven years.

Johnnie recalls that her office still was in the Credit Union building through the courtesy of one of the local Y's founders, George Lawton.

In addition to programs started in 1962 and 1963, she recalls that the Y initiated the Youth Legislature which enabled young students to run the government in Lansing for three days. The Y also sponsored graduation parties in an effort to keep high school students from wilder celebrations of their release from mandatory book-learning.

Johnnie Crosby especially remembers that the Y continued to help unemployed youth to find jobs. "I placed over 3,000 kids in jobs during the seven years I was with the Y," she said: That phase of the Y's service to the community was discontinued in 1973.

One of the fund-raising projects when Johnnie was with the Y was the sale of apples and cider. The apples were donated by Dorothy and David Wood. The labor to pick and sell them also was volunteered.

Lessons not learned at school remembered

One of the most interesting things a fellow finds out as he travels along life's highway is that the lessons he learns were not all taught to him in school.

One of these lessons came to mind the other day when he recalled how his father taught him never to be self-centered, selfish and having little care for even the members of his own family. And he taught the lesson in a most unusual way.

It happened during County Fair time back home when he gave the young Stroller permission to go to the fair alone, provided he would be careful and return home by 7 o'clock in the evening.

After a wonderful day in which he saw all the excitement on the midway, visited the harness horses and even had an old-fashioned sauerkraut dinner, The Stroller arrived home just as the clock struck the hour of seven.

As his father greeted him he was amazed at all the things he brought back — advertisements and gifts from the midway business tents.

When he had finished showing off his collection his father asked, "What did you bring home for your sisters?"

Immediately his chin dropped and he answered, "Nothing."

"SO THAT'S the kind of a boy you are growing up to be — selfish and self-centered with little thought of your sisters," said father.

It was a moment The Stroller never has forgotten. And never did he make a trip after that, even as a sports writer traveling the country, and forget to bring home a gift for his sisters and later in life to his wife.

He had never been taught anything like that in school.

One of the other great lessons he learned while his father was teaching him how to play pocket billiards or pool

the stroller

as they call it today.

We had a small lunch counter at home with a pool table in an adjoining room. It was set up to help the customers pass the time while waiting for their lunch.

Father knew that the young Stroller could be helpful if he was available to play games with the customers. But he taught him the first lesson by allowing him to roll the ball and watch carefully how it turned and curved. And he did that for most of a year.

"You've got to learn the angles," father kept saying. It helped, for in a few years the young Stroller became the junior champion of the entire valley.

And now, years later, he has learned that knowing all the angles is most helpful in any walk of life.

ANOTHER LESSON came when the baseball season opened. There was no such thing as radio or television. To make up for that father arranged a program with the Western Union.

Each evening at 7 o'clock we would get a phone call and be given all the major league scores for the day. Most of the older folks in town and those interested in baseball would walk downtown, see the scores, and then sit at the counter to enjoy a piece of pie and a glass of milk.

One evening when the Stroller took the scores and wrote them on the huge card, he placed the card outside for all to see.

Father stormed. He raced outside and said, "They won't buy pie or milk out here." Then he took the sign indoors. It was The Stroller's first major lesson in public relations and good business.

Funny, how a fellow learns. Today most business and success is built on good public relations.

The Stroller learned the hard way.

Hai Karate
YMCA class kicks its way to trophy

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA's karate class, coached by Richard Curp, has won the trophy for the interclub tournament between American and Korean Tae Kwon Do classes.

The class must win at least two more times to earn the right to keep the trophy. The battle for the trophy is for one year and seven classes in the club are out to get it, says Curp.

Curp, a second-degree Black Belt, has studied Tae Kwon Do for about nine years under Melvin Rose, a fourth-degree Black Belt. He holds the positions of head of form and president of the Black Belt Board.

Curp's class is 7:30-9:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays at the Salvation Army Community Center on Main Street just south of Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth. The YMCA's new session of classes is scheduled to begin the week of Jan. 14.

"Instructor Curp has been so successful because of his good leadership skills, love and patience with teaching," says Janet Luce, executive director of the Plymouth Family YMCA.

"He especially is good with youth. He was elected president for the third time of the Black Belt Board because of his humble, respectful leadership."

The American and Korean Tae Kwon Do Schools were founded about five years ago by Roza who started with one class and now is the director of seven classes throughout lower Michigan. The classes are sponsored through recreation departments and YMCAs.

Register for the classes in the YMCA office on Union just north of Penniman Avenue in Plymouth.

Helen Slater is Supergirl, who meets three villains including would-be witch Selena, played by Faye Dunaway.

the movies
Dan Greenberg

Supergirl replaces tired-out Superman for more adventure

Wisely realizing he'd never get away with a fourth "Superman" flick, Executive Producer Ilya Salkind opted for "Supergirl."

As it turns out, it's not a bad option. "Supergirl" is entertaining enough to win at the box office, even though it lacks intellectual stimulation.

Now, kiddies, you all thought that only the infant Kal-El (Superman) escaped when Krypton was blown to bits. You think that because your minds atrophied in the '30s when Action Comics introduced Superman.

If you had stayed awake until the '50s when DC Comics introduced Supergirl, you'd know that a fragment of Krypton spun away from the explosion and came to rest in inner space.

THE SMALL BAND of surviving Kryptonites (those are people, not food additives) led by artist-visionary Zaltar (Peter O'Toole) built the utopian Argo City with two magic spheres, the Omega-hedrons, as their power source.

One day, Zaltar and his young friend Kara (Helen Slater) lose an Omega-hedron through the city's membrane. Kara follows the sphere to Earth where she becomes Supergirl, alias Linda Lee or vice versa, and able to leap tall buildings in a single bound.

Meanwhile the magic sphere has fallen in the not-really-evil clutches of a would-be witch, Selena (Faye Dunaway); her sidekick Bianca, and her instructor in the black arts, Nigel (Peter Cook).

Now, guess what this evil threesome plans to do with the magic sphere.

Right, take over! The three villains are the most fun in this comic-book film, particularly Faye Dunaway, who always looks slick and lovely, right out of the pages of Vogue or such high-fashion layout.

Dunaway plays the role strictly for laughs as the sensuous and gorgeous megalomaniac bent on world domination. The fact that she doesn't laugh at her own jokes, but lets us know she's playing by the twinkle in her eye, makes the characterization work so well.

Brenda Vaccaro and Peter Cook, to a lesser extent, are of the same mien. Clearly these three mock-evil characters are the best of "Supergirl."

HELEN SLATER in the title role is pleasantly attractive, innocent, naive and tough when she needs to be. But Super-Kara-Linda-Girl has a mildly dopey comic-book part to play and so do her competent supporting cast — boyfriend Ethan (Hart Bochner) and Midvale School roommate Lucy Lane (Maureen Teefy as Lois' cousin).

They all do well with what they have, but that's just not as meaty as the villains' roles.

Another considerable attraction of "Supergirl" is the visual impact it has. The extensive special effects staff provides a wide array of visuals to delight the eye, and that's a good deal of the fun with comic books. The matting of Supergirl in flight is sufficiently well-done so that the often-disturbing fringing effect of poor-quality mattes is eliminated. Whether flying from inner space or fighting various demons, "Supergirl" effectively presents imaginative images.

"Supergirl" is not innovative, but it does do well what it set out to do. Nobody ever said comic books were all bad, and "Supergirl" will amuse the whole family.

Peter O'Toole is Zaltar, founder of Supergirl's home, Argo City, in "Supergirl."

Here are wines to be thankful for

The holiday season is rapidly approaching. To ease its strains, this marks the first of several columns aimed at helping select appropriate wines, both for drinking and giving.

Thanksgiving, the time of turkeys and hams, seems to afford special challenges to those who want to accompany that great meal with a glass or two of fine wine, thereby making it even greater.

For those who prefer turkey, there is no help in the old adage about white wine with fish, red with red meat. Fowl stands somewhere in between and, as such, can be appropriately accompanied by either. There are some considerations, however.

The idea behind certain wines being served with certain foods centers on the balance between the two. It is most undesirable for a soft, delicate wine to be served with spicy or rich or highly flavorful foods. The wines would simply not be tasted any more than water would be.

gundy or its American counterpart, pinot noir, does very well with turkey, as does its cousins, beaujolais or California gamay beaujolais or napa gamay.

A nice feature would be to serve any of the nouveau (1984) beaujolais wines that are released here Nov. 15-20 each year. These are very bright, fruity and charming wines that do very well against the subtle flavors of turkey.

Other considerations are zinfandel, especially a light and fruity one, or one of the many white zinfandels that are currently flooding the market. This latter would be especially good for the white wine drinker. Or, to add a big note of class, use a white burgundy or chardonnay.

Avoid rhone wines, bordeaux (unless very well aged), chenin blanc (vouvray) or generic American chablis. Abhor petite sirah or reisling.

To cut a corner for a very large group, I would suggest California red wine, a Fetzer or Christian Brothers, as being about the right intensity.

BIG FOODS cry out for big wine but not one that will dominate them. Bur-

FROM THE MANY choices available with turkey, there are the very wine

few for ham. Its oiliness and pungency overwhelm most wines, yet big, gutsy ones seem to be in competition with it, rather than complementary to it.

Avoid all white wines with ham, though a heavily oaked, well-aged chardonnay may pass for that person who cannot or will not drink reds.

As to the choice of reds, there seems to be two schools of judgment. One is that the tannin and ripe olive flavors of bordeaux (cabernet, merlot) complement ham flavors. The strength of young cabernets may afford a challenge you may enjoy with your ham. The more mature the wine, of course, the less the intensities.

The other school has it that the gente elegance, the velvety texture of burgundy is best, whether from France or a fine California pinot noir. The tone of this wine seems to neutralize the bright taste of smoked ham and is my personal choice of the two.

There is, however, no dispute about the wine to serve as an aperitif as one awaits the bounty of the holiday table. That is, champagne in any of its many forms. There is something light, festive and cleansing about sparkling wine that alerts one's senses to the anticipation of what is to come.

And sparkling wine is the universal symbol of joy and cheer served, please, in a flute-shaped glass, not one of those flat abominations from the Hollywood movies.

Cheers!

Great Make-Ahead Dishes for the Holidays

Does this resemble your December schedule? There's a "pot luck" office party, a dinner for out-of-town friends, supper the night your folks fly in, the annual tree trimming buffet, not to mention Christmas and New Year's family dinners. All this in addition to buying gifts, sending cards and making cookies with the children.

There's no doubt about it. The busiest time of the year brings the most occasions for entertaining. And there's something special about the season that makes these get-togethers truly special.

For the host or hostess planning menus for these festivities, the best kitchen help is "make-ahead dishes." You can save a lot of last minute bother and have more time to enjoy your guests with food that can be prepared a day or more before the party.

Also keep simplicity in mind. It's the joy of the season you're celebrating, not "how much" you can serve people. Although you may have wonderful memories of your grandmother's holiday tables laden with delicious fare, today's generation of fitness buffs and dieters welcome light and simple foods. An entree, vegetable, salad and dessert with perhaps a simple appetizer served from a festive table is all you need.

For example, an ideal party entree is Seafood Lasagne. This pasta dish features a winning combination of shrimp and crab. And you can make the entire dish in advance.

Another suggestion, Broccoli Brunch Pie, doubles as a buffet vegetable or brunch entree. You can make the crunchy crust, chop the vegetables and grate the cheese anytime. It's ready to assemble for the party.

For a holiday dessert that pleases the eye as well as the sweet tooth, try Blueberry Meringue Clouds. They are simply crisp meringue shells crowned with colorful fruit fillings and whipped cream. You can keep the meringues for several days in plastic bags and the fruit fillings may be made the day ahead. Serve a tray of these goodies for a buffet finale; for a dinner dessert simply arrange three varieties on a plate.

And since few can resist appetizers, here are two that need little last minute attention. A traditional favorite, Chex Party Mix, is a delicious snack you'll want to keep on hand in an attractive container throughout the season. A new idea, Zucchini Dip, is a delicious blend of zucchini and walnuts that's even better with Crispy Bread Sticks dippers.

ZUCCHINI DIP

This zippy dip is even better when made a day ahead.

- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1/4 teaspoon Beau Monde seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup unpeeled grated zucchini

In medium bowl combine cream cheese, mayonnaise, Beau Monde and lemon juice until smooth consistency. Stir in walnuts and zucchini. Cover. Refrigerate 3 hours. Serve with Crispy Bread Sticks. Makes 1-1/2 cups.

CRISPY BREAD STICKS

Fry these crispy dippers 2-3 days ahead, then freeze. Just before serving, heat for 2 minutes in a 250° oven.

- 3 cups Rice Chex cereal OR Wheat Chex cereal, crushed to 1 cup*
- 1-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup water
- Hot oil for frying

Preheated 375° deep fryer. Combine cereal, flour and salt. Stir in water. Knead to work in dry ingredients. (Dough will be stiff.) Roll out on lightly floured surface to 1/4-inch thick. Cut strips of dough 1/3-inch wide and 3-inches long. Fry 1 to 1-1/2 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. *Measure and crush cereal in glass measuring cup. Makes about 8 dozen.

TRADITIONAL CHEX PARTY MIX

You can keep this zesty snack several days at room temperature — or freeze in an airtight container up to a month.

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
- 1-1/4 teaspoons seasoned salt
- 4-1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2-2/3 cups Corn Chex cereal*
- 2-2/3 cups Rice Chex cereal*
- 2-2/3 cups Wheat Chex cereal*
- 1 cup salted mixed nuts

Preheated 250° oven. Melt butter in large shallow roasting pan (about 15 x 10 x 2 inches) in oven. Remove. Stir in seasoned salt and Worcestershire sauce. Add cereal and nuts. Mix until all pieces are coated. Bake 1 hour. Stir every 15 minutes. Spread on absorbent paper to cool. Microwave directions: In large bowl melt butter on High 1 minute. Stir in seasoned salt and Worcestershire sauce. Add Chex and nuts. Mix until all pieces are coated. Microwave on High 6 to 7 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes. *Measure cereal in glass measuring cup. Makes about 9 cups.

HOT & SPICY VARIATION: Follow above recipe using 8-cup combination of your favorite Chex cereals and add 1/2 teaspoon chili powder and 1/4 teaspoon bottled hot pepper sauce. Follow cooking directions as above.

BROCCOLI BRUNCH PIE

Bake the crust the day before. To store, simply cover and refrigerate.

- Crust 5 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 cups Corn Chex cereal, crushed to 1 cup*
- 1 teaspoon ground oregano
- Filling 1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped broccoli, thawed and drained
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup half-and-half
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese

Microwave Directions: Place butter in a 9-inch pie plate. Microwave on High 1 minute or until melted. Add cereal and oregano, stirring to coat evenly. Press mixture into bottom and sides of pie plate. Microwave on High 1-1/2 minutes. Rotate dish 1/4 turn halfway through cooking. Set aside. Meanwhile, in small bowl combine broccoli, flour, onion, eggs, half-and-half, salt, and pepper. Microwave on Medium 5 minutes. Stir after each minute. Slowly pour mixture into pie shell. Microwave on Medium 6 minutes. Rotate dish 1/4 turn halfway through cooking. Sprinkle cheese over top. Microwave on High 5 to 8 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Rotate dish 1/4 turn after each minute. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Conventional Directions: Preheated 350° oven. Butter 9-inch pie plate. Melt butter. Add cereal and oregano, stirring to coat evenly. Press into bottom and sides of pie plate. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Prepare filling as directed above (do not heat). Pour slowly into pie shell. Sprinkle cheese over top. Bake 40 to 50 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

*Measure and crush cereal in glass measuring cup. Makes 6 servings.

SEAFOOD LASAGNA

Prepare and refrigerate the day before. Bake when ready to serve.

- 6 lasagna noodles, cooked and drained
- 1 can (6-1/2 oz.) crab meat, drained
- 1 package (6 oz.) frozen salad shrimp, thawed
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 cups Corn Chex cereal, crushed to 1 cup*
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons sherry
- 1/2 cup (4 oz.) dairy sour cream
- 1/2 teaspoon Italian herb seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/8 teaspoon dry mustard
- 3 cups (12 oz.) sliced or shredded mozzarella cheese

Preheated 350° oven. Grease 2-quart shallow baking dish. In large bowl combine crab meat, shrimp, celery, green pepper, onion and cereal. In small bowl combine milk, sherry, sour cream, Italian seasoning, garlic powder and dry mustard. Pour into cereal mixture. Toss to combine. Layer 1/2 of noodles in bottom of baking dish. Trim noodles to fit dish if necessary. Cover noodles first with 1/2 seafood mixture and then 1-1/2 cups of cheese. Repeat with remaining noodles, seafood and cheese. Bake 30 minutes or until cheese is melted and bubbly. Let stand 10 minutes before serving.

*Measure and crush cereal in glass measuring cup. Makes 8 servings.

BLUEBERRY MERINGUE CLOUDS

The meringues stay crisp in airtight plastic bags for a week. The fillings may be cooked a day ahead. Combine for serving.

- Meringue 2 egg whites (room temperature)
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 2/3 cup sugar
- 2 cups Rice Chex cereal, crushed to 1/2 cup*
- Filling 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 package (12 oz.) fresh frozen blueberries, rinsed, drained and thawed
- Whipped topping

Preheated 275° oven. To prepare Meringue: Beat egg whites and almond extract until foamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Gently fold in cereal. Place a heaping tablespoon on baking sheet, making a depression in center for filling. Bake 20 minutes. Turn off oven. Leave in oven for 1 hour. Gently remove from baking sheet.

To prepare Filling: In small saucepan, combine 1/4 cup water and cornstarch. Cook over medium heat until thickened. Cool slightly. Fold in blueberries. Spoon a heaping teaspoon of blueberries into meringue shells. Top with whipped topping. Garnish with remaining blueberries. Refrigerate several hours before serving.

*Measure and crush cereal in glass measuring cup. Makes 20 meringue shells.

Variation: 1 package (12 oz.) fresh frozen peaches, thawed, drained and chopped, or 1 pint (about 1-1/2 cups) fresh strawberries, sliced, may be substituted for blueberries.

GOOD WEEK OF DEC. 3-DEC. 9, 1984

A weekly trip to market: How to shop successfully

By Linda Lee
special writer

The successful grocery shopper makes only one trip each week, spends a predetermined amount and buys top quality foods. Making a complete weekly meal plan, described in last week's article, is the first step to guarantee these results.

After you are satisfied that your weekly meal plan has a good daily representation from the four good groups and a wide variety of colors, textures, nutrients and preparation techniques, you are ready to make a grocery list.

The day before you plan to shop, divide an 8 1/2 x 11 sheet of paper into three sections. One for grocery store items, the second for meat market items and the third for fresh fruits and vegetables.

Next check the column of last week's menu titled "Next week's grocery list," where you have written throughout the week food and non-food items that you want to buy on your next shopping trip. List these items first.

Then, using your menu as your guide, mentally prepare and serve the meals you have planned, listing every ingredient needed to prepare and serve each dish.

Follow this pattern for each of the twenty-one meals scheduled on the menu. Remember to be thorough. You will not be returning to pick up forgotten items. As your skills improve, there will seldom be overlooked necessities.

Next, mentally go through the bathrooms and laundry area listing anything you need.

If you plan to use coupons, now is the time to look through them. Keep your coupon records current and orderly. To use coupons to your advantage, instead of the manufacturer's, check your coupon file at home, and don't add to your list when you spot an attractive coupon. You won't need any additional foods to prepare your week's meals if you have made a complete list.

WHEN YOU find an item on your list that you have a coupon for, write the brand name from the coupon next to the item on your list. This eliminates flipping through your coupons in the store.

By using these strict rules, I am able to save an average of 5 percent on my weekly grocery bill.

Next, go over your grocery list estimating cost. If the estimated total is acceptable, you're all set. If it's not, I'll tell you what to do later in this article.

With the list complete a day in advance, you have one day to think of anything you missed . . . remember, you will not be shopping again for seven days. If possible, shop alone, when the store is not crowded. Determine before you go not to change your list once you see what the store has to offer.

When you see items that you wish you had included, write them on the back of your list and transfer them to "Next week's grocery list" when you get home. The only exception is an even-exchange item. For instance, new crop Florida oranges just came in at your fruit market, and you have listed grapes. You planned to spend about $1.50 on grapes, so you can spend $1.50 on oranges instead. Your meal plan won't suffer nutritionally or economically.

HOW MUCH DO you spend each week on meals? (Don't forget to include any food items purchased throughout the week including restaurant meals.) How does $13 per person per week sound?

If money is a priority in your home, you can work toward this goal. I stopped telling people my weekly food budget because I get pathetic looks or accusations that I'm starving my family to death. I don't believe in spending any more than necessary to provide nutritious, attractive meals, but more important, I don't believe in spending less than necessary. Poor health can be a much bigger drain on a budget than

CAROB...the Healthful Alternative to Chocolate

It is known as St. John's Bread and the "manna" of the desert, but whatever name you call it, the flat leathery seed pods of the carob tree are a Godsend for those of us who love the taste of chocolate, but don't want the caffeine and calories that go along with it. The carob tree is native to the Mediterranean area, and before chocolate became such a common commodity, it was used by the children of the region as a candy, due to its naturally sweet, rich flavor.

Carob is naturally high in vitamins A & B, and the minerals calcium and magnesium, and contains only 2% fat (as compared to 52% for chocolate). Although you can eat the dried pod as is, it generally is ground into powder and toasted, and made into everything from carob chips to carob candy bars to carob covered pineapple rings. Although nothing can match the taste of real chocolate, most carob confections really are delicious, especially those with milk added to it. And with carob, we don't have the high oxalic acid content that chocolate has, which can also interfere with the body's absorption of calcium.

We think carob is good enough to make you switch for good, or at least to satisfy that chocolate craving most of the time. The Good Food Company has a wide range of carob products, including the whole carob pod, carob chips, carob candy bars, as well as carob SANTAS, carob SNOWMEN, carob CHRISTMAS TREES, carob TEDDY BEARS, and carob CHRISTMAS BELLS. The folks of Good Food Company wish you a safe and healthy holiday season.

GOOD FOOD CO. is the largest natural food store in Michigan offering a complete selection of minimally processed and chemical free foods at substantial discounts. We provide a deli, bulk foods, supplements, body care, organic produce, macrobiotics, distilled water, books, appliances and much more!

Ways to successful budgeting

good eating habits. So, if you're budget minded, be firm when it comes to nutrition requirements. If a choice must be made between cost or nutrition, never neglect nutrition.

What you can do is use as many money-saving tips as you need to trim your list to your budget. Start by estimating your grocery bill. Let's say you find it $15 over what you have to spend. The first thing to check is your menu. Does it include more elaborate meals than you're used to? Are you trying to copy magazine meals? Once you are more experienced at working around your budget, you'll be able to copy any meal you want, but at first, stick to dishes you have been able to afford in the past.

If you find you're still over budget, it's time to get tough. What cuts of meats are on your list? Instead of a beef roast with potatoes, carrots and onions, you can plan a meatball stew using the same foods except for the cut of beef, and you just shaved $4 off your grocery bill without changing the basic meal plan.

My favorite weapon in the budget war is what I call the "1, 2, 3s of saving big bucks." Number one is salads. They are not only economical, but salads can include foods from all of the four food groups, helping to round out nutrition requirements. You can keep a combination of your choice of lettuce, spinach, carrots, celery, cabbages, green pepper and radishes washed and chopped or torn in a plastic bag in your crisper. Use this as your salad base, or on a busy day as your complete salad. These foods will stay crisp up to three days stored this way.

Number two is soup. If you need to stretch dollars, soup is a nutritious aid. It's filling and can be loaded with nutrients. It can be an appetizer, a main dish, or anything in between.

Number three is breads. While adding a special touch to a meal, breads can also be very nutritious. Homemade quick breads like biscuits, muffins and corn bread are especially economical.

Unless your salad, soup and bread contain a good amount of nutrients, don't depend on them as a complete meal. But, using these three tools can give you the advantage of smaller serving sizes of high-priced items.

Another dollar stretcher is learning to cook what your family eats, and no more. This is where one of the benefits of meat and fruit market shopping come in — you can buy the exact quantity you need.

TRY PRICING your garbage — go ahead, dump it right out. You may be surprised at how much you're throwing away. Some of it can probably be eliminated forever right now. I saved $125 a year minimum by making a promise to myself that I would not use paper towels or napkins as an everyday item.

What else is in that bag that can be converted into cash? Be on the lookout for disposable items of any kind. Are you getting enough convenience to make it worth the extra expense? Somehow when we see an item in the trash, it's easier to believe we could do without it than when it's on a grocery shelf or a T.V. commercial. Extra trash costs ten more when we consider that it cost about 5 cents per bag just to throw away!

Making dishes from scratch is a savings. You don't have to be a gourmet either. At the very least, learn to make basic cream sauce, gravy and a few quick breads. If your muffins "never turn out," try this technique my grandmother taught me: make muffins every day until you're satisfied that you have ironed out all the wrinkles. Follow your recipes closely and try, try again.

THOSE RED Salvation Army "Boxes of Love" are handy drop-off points for those residents who wish to extend their holiday bounty. It's an opportunity to get away from the old dilemma, "What do you get for someone who has everything?"

The boxes are donation points for those who have nothing.

Omnicom Cablevision began cooperating with the Salvation Army Nov. 12 in a drive to collect food for the needy. The response could be termed as fantastic and heart-warming.

Could you believe that every can, every box of noodles and cereal is gone? Nothing is left for the Christmas season. Thanksgiving cleaned them out. They packed 95 Thanksgiving baskets for residents of the Canton, Northville and Plymouth communities — the area served by the locally based Salvation Army.

The Boxes of Love are in area supermarkets, Canton Township Hall, Plymouth Township Hall, Northville Township Hall and City Hall in Northville.

They also are in various Omnicom offices.

Contributions for the boxes should be limited to non-perishable food items. Canned goods, noodles, spaghetti, packaged dried soup ingredients, raisins — you can come up many ideas of your own. If you would like to donate a ham, the Salvation Army has a freezer.

Another telethon planned by Omnicom will begin at noon Saturday, Dec. 8. Residents will be asked for donations of non-perishable foods and money to help the Salvation Army with its Christmas commitments.

THE OLD ART of storytelling comes into its own every holiday season at Forest Place Mall in Plymouth. Plymouth Book World again has arranged two sessions especially for pre-schoolers and kindergarten-age children.

Festive decorations add magic to the setting. The storyteller sits in an antique cutter as the children gather 'round, seated on a green carpet to listen to two delightful Christmas stories.

The first is an old one. "Mr. Willoughby's Christmas Tree" has become a tradition at the story hours.

Storyteller Aiden Broderick says adults stop and listen to the tale of the big Christmas tree that is given away, piece by piece, after it is cut down.

The second story is a new one, "Santa's Favorite Story." It was selected because it incorporates the religious aspect of Christmas, with Santa Claus telling the story of the first Christmas.

The storytelling takes about 20 minutes and there is a treat for every child.

Story hours are 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9 with Aiden as story-teller, and 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 15 with Mary Cotter narrating the tales.

The story hours are free.

PARTY BRIDGE players were out in full force last Thursday after the Thanksgiving recess. There were 10 tables in play with Walter Hoops' 6,480 points high for the session. Frances LaCombe was second with 5,640.

RESULTS ARE IN on the Miller School Cub Scout father-son bake-off.

Judges were George Trajkorski of the Canton Bakery, Lilley and Warren roads; Alan Martens, a student in the Culinary Arts Department, Schoolcraft College; and Steven and Barbara Mitchell. Their decisions were based on taste and eye appeal.

Grand prize went to Ben Machner and his dad, Bob, for their apple cake.

First-place winners (son and father), category and entry were: Steven and Ralph Kush, pie category, apple pie; Marc and Ed Levitt, bread, tropical gingerbread; Michael and Dennis Bien, cake, rocky road; Steven and Bob Sedore, cookies, pecan tarts.

Everyone had an opportunity to sample all the entries when they were set out with coffee and McDonald's orange for refreshments.

Cubmaster of the 75 members of Miller Pack 654 is Terry Briggs. The pack's annual fund-raiser is now in full swing. The boys will be selling candybars until Dec. 18.

Artist Okema Lee works in her studio, preparing for the Three Cities Art Club show and sale.

and Friday, Dec. 13 and 14, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 15.

Girl Scouts need leaders, volunteers

Plymouth-Canton Girl Scouts are looking for nine Brownie leaders, four Junior leaders, and three Cadette-Senior leaders. Girl Scouting is well under way in the community, but leadership is needed for the year's activities and events.

Adult volunteers also are being recruited to serve as program consultants, media representatives, committee members, events directors, board members and troop service directors. The time requirements for these positions vary. Some are short-term, some just once a year, and others periodic or on a regular basis.

Volunteers are the central force in bringing Girl Scouting to the girls. Many volunteers start because their daughter needs a troop leader. A good percentage of these continue long after their daughters have moved out of the program.

For information about the volunteer opportunities in this area, call Sally Nitzel at the Girl Scout office, 483-2370.

New coffeehouse series revives Raven folk scene

By B. J. Martin
special writer

TOM RICE IS betting that folks haven't forgotten folk.

The owner-operator of the Gitfiddler music shop in downtown Northville has made a business out of the fact that not all music comes out of an electronic speaker. But now Rice has cooked up another idea: a full-fledged coffeehouse featuring live performances by folk musicians.

The Raven coffeehouse series premiered on a recent Saturday at the Northville Community Center with a two-hour performance by Walkin' Jim Stoltz, an extensively well-traveled guitarist/songwriter.

The next performer isn't scheduled to appear until after the holidays. Ron Coden, a regular at the old Raven Gallery, will be featured 7-11 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 13. The show will include a warm-up act by Matt Watroba.

Rice said Lori Jacobs will be the next attraction, doing four shows, 6-9 p.m. and 9-11 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Feb. 15-16. Footloose is booked for early March. "We're working on Claudia Schmidt for April," Rice said.

When Walkin' Jim strode to the stage for the opening show, Rice took his first step toward a longtime dream — namely, re-establishing the old Raven Gallery coffeehouse in the Northville area.

THE RAVEN Gallery on Greenfield Road in Southfield was for years the place to go to see and hear folk music in the metro area. But following the death of owner Herb Cohen almost 10 years ago, the Raven was nevermore. Until Rice came along.

When it was still open, the Raven was one of my favorite places to go," Rice says. "I've always been interested in folk music, and the atmosphere there was perfect for the performer and the audience."

"One of the big things was, the Raven didn't serve booze. It was a great place to take a first date to make a nice impression. It was a real haven for musicians who'd only played in bars, because people would go there to listen and really get into the performance."

Rice has produced the annual summer folk festival in Northville for eight years. It was seven years ago the festival drew Kitty Cohen, widow of Herb Cohen, as a visitor.

"She introduced herself and congratulated me on the festival," Rice recalls. "I told her how much I had loved going to the Raven and how it was a big dream of mine to operate a place in the same way."

"She said, 'Whenever you're ready I'll help. The name of the place is yours.'"

Now, after years of shoring up plans for the project, Rice is ready to get the Raven flying again.

"I'M VERY confident it'll succeed," he said. "I think folk music never dies... Right now there's no place to go for it except the Ark in Ann Arbor. Now that's a great place, I'd love to get to that point."

"One of the things I think we'll have going for us is that lately there's been more of an effort to keep people who've been drinking off the road.

What we're offering is a chance to go out on a Saturday night, be completely entertained, and have some really good food, all without having to buy a few (alcoholic) drinks like at a restaurant or a lot of drinks like at a bar."

Rice says that if the series goes well, he'll try to move it out of the Community Center. :

"If the market is good, my long-run goal is to move the series out of the rec center after a couple of months. I've been looking around at a couple possible locations downtown (in Northville).

"Ideally a house in a business-zoned area would be perfect. I'm looking for a place that will keep that kind of intimacy, but allow us to serve food and coffee and tea, that sort of thing, on weekends."

To its fullest extent, the Raven is a labor of love for Rice. "I'm not looking to make a million dollars on this," he concedes. "All I'm hoping to do is break even. At our first shows, the cover is going to pay for the performer and the building. If we make anything, it'll be from coffee and snacks."

Aside from the coffee ("good" coffee, Rice emphasizes), the Raven features a menu of soups and sandwiches, ice cream, plus the famous "pizza bagel" once featured at the original Raven.

IF THINGS get rolling as he expects, Rice will snag several other regular features of the original Raven — such folk talents as Josh White Jr., Phil Marcus Esser, Chuck Mitchell and Dean Rutledge, among other longtime luminaries of Detroit's folk music scene.

"Hopefully, we can spur some procrastinators who've been shy or leery about their ability to get up and try performing," Rice said. "I've always thought everybody and anybody could be some kind of performer, and express himself in some way."

Tickets for the opening show with Walkin' Jim were $4 a person, $7.50 per couple. For upcoming shows, Rice has settled on "$5 a head to get in." The capacity in the room is about 150.

"There's a lot of folkies out there," Rice said. For further information and to be placed on the coffeehouse's mailing list, folkies may call Rice at the Gitfiddler at 349-9420.

New coffeehouse series revives Raven folk scene

By B. J. Martin
special writer

TOM RICE IS betting that folks haven't forgotten folk.

The owner-operator of the Gitfiddler music shop in downtown Northville has made a business out of the fact that not all music comes out of an electronic speaker. But now Rice has cooked up another idea: a full-fledged coffeehouse featuring live performances by folk musicians.

The Raven coffeehouse series premiered on a recent Saturday at the Northville Community Center with a two-hour performance by Walkin' Jim Stoltz, an extensively well-traveled guitarist/songwriter.

The next performer isn't scheduled to appear until after the holidays. Ron Coden, a regular at the old Raven Gallery, will be featured 7-11 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 13. The show will include a warm-up act by Matt Watroba.

Rice said Lori Jacobs will be the next attraction, doing four shows, 6-9 p.m. and 9-11 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Feb. 15-16. Footloose is booked for early March. "We're working on Claudia Schmidt for April," Rice said.

When Walkin' Jim strode to the stage

for the opening show, Rice took his first step toward a longtime dream — namely, re-establishing the old Raven Gallery coffeehouse in the Northville area.

'84 All-Area football team packs some awesome offensive wallop

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

BOSTON COLLEGE, Brigham Young, San Diego Chargers — three football teams noted for their explosive offenses.

Harumph! You want to talk explosive offense? Check out the 1984 Observer All-Area football team.

The three running backs have combined for 3,958 yards and 56 touchdowns. The quarterback has completed 62 percent of his passes for more than 1,600 yards and 18 TDs. The two wide receivers have caught 84 passes for 1,653 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Throw in the kicker's offensive production and you have more than 700 points amassed by just seven young men.

And folks, the defense can play a little, too. The line averages 6-foot-1, 200 pounds per man. The linebackers are big and mobile and the secondary is quick and aggressive.

But, the ingredient that sets this team apart from most other All-Area teams is John Miller.

If this team, selected by Observer-land coaches, were to leap off the page and onto the gridiron, Miller, as he did for three seasons at Farmington Harrison, would dominate the action in three phases: offense, defense and special teams.

Offensively, Miller, named All-American after his junior season, gained 4,476 yards rushing in his career and scored 62 times on runs. He caught 37 passes for 900 yards and 6 TDs.

Defensively, from his defensive back position, he is the Hawks' second all-time leading tackler. He has picked off 20 passes in his career.

On the special teams, Miller has maintained a 40-yard or better average on his punts and he has returned 26 punts for 400 yards and 3 TDs.

As Harrison coach John Herrington has often said, "A player like John Miller comes along once in a lifetime."

Indeed.
Let's meet the 1984 All-Area football team.

OFFENSE

Vince Enright, Farmington Harrison, quarterback: This 6-3, 185-pound senior possesses a major college arm. He completed 91 of his 147 passes in 1984 for 1,596 yards and 18 TDs. His passing ability gave the Hawks one of the area's most diverse offensive attacks.

John Miller, Harrison, back: You saw his career numbers. Here are his senior season stats: 1,503 yards rushing, 15 catches for 287 yards and 30 touchdowns.

Don Angel, Redford Union, back: This explosive senior was named the most valuable running back in the Northwest Suburban League this year and for good reason. He gained 1,426 yards on the season (an RU record) and averaged better than 7 yards per carry. He was a two-way starter and returned punts and kicks.

Tony Boles, John Glenn, back: Just a junior, and hampered by an assortment of injuries, Boles still managed to accumulate 1,012 yards and score 12 TDs. "Tony has very good speed and runs extremely hard," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon. "He's also a very hard worker in practice and he gets better and better."

Mark Shapiro, Harrison, center: Anchoring this awfully good offensive line is this 6-1, 195-pound senior. Harrison line coach Bob Sutter calls Shapiro the best center ever to play at Harrison, and that comment should stand alone as testimony to Shapiro's ability. He is quick off the ball and a jarring blocker.

Troy Hiner, N. Farmington, guard: What a pleasant surprise this 5-9, 185-pound senior proved to be for North coach Jim O'Leary. Hiner transferred in from Kokomo, Ind., and was a key two-way player. He was the best blocker on the North line. He is also one of the strongest, benching 325 pounds.

Pat Conway, Livonia Stevenson, guard: "Pat is a great young man to coach" is how Stevenson coach Jack Reardon sums up this 5-10, 210-pound senior. Conway received Stevenson's outstanding blocker award. Most of the Spartan ground attack was run in Conway's direction.

Dave Mize, Livonia Churchill, tackle: This is the second straight All-Area berth for the muscular Mize. At 6-1, 240, the senior was an imposing figure on the front line of Churchill's explosive offense. Mize is considering playing college ball at either Central Michigan University or Michigan State.

Dave Deleka, Harrison, tackle: Deleka could have been an All-Area defensive lineman as easily as he made the offensive unit — he's that versatile. At 6-3, 215, the senior cleared many holes for Miller and Conway.

Ab Hazen, Farmington, tight end: One of the reasons for Farmington's resurgence this season was the all-around athletic ability of this senior. His 40 career receptions is a Falcon record. He caught 16 passes this season good for 3 TDs. He was also offense, defense and special teams. Coaches have called him the area's best player in a decade.

Rocks withstand Canton's fury

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

For 29 minutes of Friday night's district championship girls basketball game at Westland John Glenn, Plymouth Salem sophomore Jessica Handley sat on the bench.

During the other 3 minutes she saved the day for the Rocks, who squeaked by their fired-up backyard rivals, Plymouth Canton, 43-41.

Salem (19-4) was in extreme danger of being run off the court by the Chiefs in the second quarter.

The Chiefs befuddled Salem with a mischievous full-court press and an aggressive zone defense. The Chiefs kept Salem off the scoreboard board for more than 4 minutes at the outset of the second quarter and ran off 11 straight points to assume a 20-14 lead.

The Rocks looked pathetic. They struggled to move the ball up court. Then, once in the frontcourt, they rushed their shots. In one stretch, they put up 3 straight air balls.

THEN SALEM'S point guard Reggie Rojeski picked up her third foul and with just under 3 minutes to go in the half coach Fred Thomann called on his sophomore.

Handley seemed to immediately bring life to the Rocks' offense. She whipped the ball around the perimeter against Canton's zone like a seasoned pro. She forced the Chiefs out of position and as a result, the Rocks started scoring.

Freshman Dena Head converted a 3-point play, Kendra Hostynski scored off an offensive rebound and then at the buzzer, Handley drained a 16-foot jump shot to pull Salem within 2, 23-21.

"Jessie Handley really gave us a spark tonight," Thomann said. "She found the open player, and I thought she controlled the tempo real nice for us."

Handley sat back down at the start of the second half, her job done, and left it up to the upper classmen to finish off the Chiefs.

But the Chiefs weren't that keen on being finished. In fact, had there been one more tick left on the clock, the Chiefs may have been the ones moving ahead into the regional tournament at Salem tomorrow night.

The large and loud crowd at Glenn was treated to fantastic second half. The lead swung back and forth four times in the third quarter and the score was tied four times.

STILL, YOU had the feeling that Salem had taken control of the game away from Canton late in the second quarter.

"We tried to get Dena (Head) to stay at the high post and Kendra (Hostynski) down low. That gave us better offensive flow and opened it up inside and out," Thomann said.

What the adjustment did, perhaps more than anything, was free up Hostynski underneath the offensive basket.

"Kendra has just been invaluable for us this year," Thomann said. "She had to be our premier rebounder tonight."

She was. She scored a big basket following a Salem miss with 3 minutes left in the third quarter to put Salem ahead 31-29.

Then her sister, Kristen, scored the last 4 points of the quarter and Salem led 35-31.

SALEM WENT up 38-31 in the final quarter. That's when the Chiefs made their final run.

Led by point guard Beth Frigge and center Laura Darby, Canton quickly pulled within a point, 38-37, with 3:53 left. But, the Chiefs failed to score in their next 4 possessions.

The last 2 minutes were packed with all the emotion and drama you'd expect from a pair of arch rivals in a crucial contest. And, as in most similar cases, the seniors rose to the forefront down the stretch.

Mary Beth Weast hit a layup with 1:47 left to make it 40-37.

Frigge answered with a 10-footer for Canton, 40-39.

Fran Whittaker forced a Canton turnover and was fouled. She calmly hit both free throws with 18 seconds left, 42-39.

Frigge wasn't done. She raced the length of the floor and buried a jumper, 42-41, 9 ticks left.

Canton fouled Weast with 4 seconds remaining. She made the first, missed the second. Frigge, at 5-foot-3, pulled down the rebound and raced the clock up court. She got just inside the free throw line when the buzzer sounds.

An instant later, she released what could have been the tying bucket.

Weast and Head led the Rocks with 9 points each. Kristen Hostynski added 8.

Diana Knickerbocker came off the bench with a hot hand, leading all scorers with 11 points for Canton (12-10). Frigge notched 10.

When they talk about Canton-Salem games in future years, you can bet that this one won't be forgotten. It'll be remembered how Salem won the game, and how Beth Frigge — with her hustle and determination — won the hearts of nearly everyone in the gym.

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

Canton's Beth Frigge, all 5-foot-3 of her, nearly stole the entire show in Friday's district championship game at Westland John Glenn. Her team came up two points shy against Salem.

Mulroy rages at officiating

The buzzer sounded and Plymouth Canton coach John Mulroy made a bee-line for referees Dave Mattingly and Bob Green.

Mulroy wanted the two men to know that he held them responsible for his team's 43-41 loss to arch rival Plymouth Salem Friday night in the John Glenn district championship.

When Mulroy talked afterward, there was fire in his eyes and rage in his voice.

"We beat them," he said. "In terms of baskets from the floor, we beat them. How did we lose? Pure and simple — the officiating. No way can I be polite about it. We beat the pants off that team tonight."

Mulroy was the recipient of a technical foul in the first half and came very close to ejection in the second half.

His primary complaint was in the referee's ruling on continuation plays. He felt that the refs were awarding Salem 3-point play opportunities and denying similar chances to his team.

"It was 3 for them and 2 for us in the second half. Everytime we fouled them, they gave them the continuation. They wouldn't do the same for us," he said.

THE CONTROVERSY began in the second quarter. Canton's Diana Knickerbocker hit a bucket and was fouled. The refs, however, ruled the foul occurred before the shot and disallowed the basket. It happened again, minutes later, to Lisa Russell.

an outstanding blocker in Farmington's run-oriented offense.

Brian Smolinski, Harrison, split end: A sure-handed, intelligent receiver, this junior rewrote the Harrison record books for pass catchers. He made 50 catches for 989 yards and 10 TDs. His abilities to get open and hang onto the ball in traffic were stunning. Smolinski was also a key man defensively for the Hawks.

Craig Morton, Plymouth Salem, split end: There may not have been a more electrifying performer on the gridiron this season than this senior. He was only thrown to in 6 games, but in those games he caught 34 passes for 664 yards and 9 TDs. He is the most prolific pass catcher in Salem's history and the best open field runner to come out of Plymouth since Rich Hewlett.

DEFENSE

Jeff Meixner, John Glenn, end: At 6-3, 175-pound Meixner is the smallest man on this defensive line. But he is certainly one of the toughest. He was in on 83 tackles (35 first hits) for Glenn and he also picked off 3 passes. He is a very durable player despite his relative thinness. He has 1

all-area football

missed a play going two ways in two years.

Brian Hood, N. Farmington, end: Talk about tough, this 6-0, 200-pound senior is as hard a hitter as a coach could want. He was in on 75 tackles for North, including 40 first hits, 18 tackles for losses and 5 quarterback sacks. He was the leader of a defense that yielded less than 500 yards all season. Enough said.

Tony Beane, Livonia Stevenson, line: Beane, 6-4, 200, was the leader of Stevenson's defense. He was also named the team's MVP. He was in on 103 tackles, 71 first hits, 8 sacks and caused 6 fumbles. He has the kind of attributes college scouts want in a defensive lineman: size, strength and speed. Reardon calls this senior one of the finest defensive tackles ever to play at Stevenson.

George Sarcevic, Harrison, line: Combined with teammate Deleka, this 6-4, 220-pound senior made life very miserable for those across the line from him. Sarcevic, besides his intimidating physical stature, is also very quick off the ball which makes him tough to block.

Marty Altounian, Livonia Bentley, line: At 6-2,

212, senior Altounian is another intimidating force on the defensive line. He is also aggressive and a punishing tackler. He was Bentley's defensive points leader which means he was in on most most stops.

Scott Knoll, N. Farmington, linebacker: He picked off 5 passes and ran 2 back for scores. He was in on 96 tackles, 19 for losses and 4 sacks. He created 6 fumbles and broke up 10 passes. He hits hard. He's always around the ball. He's the defensive field general for the Raiders. He played full-back on offense worth 400 yards. This 6-0, 195-pound senior is an outstanding football player.

Ed Turek, Catholic Central, linebacker: Turek, at 6-1, 200, is another of the many major college prospects on this squad. He was in on 86 tackles for the Shamrocks and he recovered 2 fumbles. He was CC's captain and a solid two-way performer.

Scott Campbell, Plymouth Canton, linebacker: At 6-0, 180, this senior was relatively small in stature. But he was a very big man for the Chiefs. His desire, his quickness and his strength made him one of Canton's leading tacklers. He led the team in tackles despite an assortment of nagging injuries.

Dave Knapp, Plymouth Canton, back: This senior played quarterback, running back, wide receiver and defensive back in his career at Canton — a tribute to his athletic ability. He picked off 3 passes last year and was in on 37 tackles.

Gordie Pacheco, Bishop Borgess, back: This senior, an all-Catholic performer for two straight years, may be the hardest hitter in this secondary. He also reacts very well to the ball. He started at wide receiver for the Spartans also.

John Stoitsiadis, Livonia Churchill, back: In most years, Stoitsiadis would have been the first-team quarterback — he passed for more than 1,500 yards and was more of a threat when he ran the ball. Yet, he's also an outstanding defensive player. And he handled the placekicking chores and returned kicks and punts — a gifted athlete.

Chad Darke, Livonia Bentley, kicker: His kickoffs travel inside the 5-yard line consistently and his field goal range is from 50 yards and in. He kicked a 50-yarder last year and a 44-yarder this year. He made 4 winning kicks this season, 7 in his career.

Dan Olsewski, Plymouth Canton, punter: Despite playing offensive tackle and defensive end for the Chiefs, this junior also found time to punt for a 44.6-yard average in 26 kicks.

Mulroy blames officials for loss

Then, with Canton up 20-14, Salem's Dena Head was fouled while scoring a layup. The refs this time allowed the basket. The 3-point play allowed Salem back into the game.

Mulroy felt the foul occurred well before the shot.

"I've got a room full of girls in there now crying their eyes out. How can I explain to them that they lost because of someone's reputation, not because of anything they did."

"This game was our game. I don't want to take anything away from the Salem kids. But, those refs are from Plymouth, they read the Observer and the Crier, they knew who was supposed to win this game. There was not going to be any upset tonight as far as they were concerned," Mulroy said.

Mattingly is from Plymouth, Green from Canton.

On the other side, Salem coach Fred Thomann felt this way about the refs: "About all I can say about the refs is that they blew the whistle the whole game. I felt there were some calls that went against us and some that went against them.

"IF ANYTHING, I felt there were too many fouls called. Referees call a different game in the state tournament than they do during the regular season. There was some superficial contact on the perimeter that I didn't think needed to be called. These guys are as good as most, better than some. I've certainly seen worse."

The refs called 38 fouls for the night, 19 on each side. In the first half, Salem was whistled on 13 fouls, Canton 8. Canton scored 15 of its 23 first-half points from the free throw line. But, the Chiefs didn't go to the line at all in the second half.

"How do you explain to a room full of high school girls that someone outside of the uniform has control of this game. They outplayed them and they deserved to win. We might as well have not even shown up," he said.

—Chris McCosky

● STILL RUNNING

Jennifer Rioux has had to sit out the year after transferring from University of Michigan to Wake Forest, but the Livonia Ladywood graduate hasn't rested on her laurels.

Rioux, academically a sophomore, earned All-American honors at Michigan last year, but switched schools when coach Franice Goodridge went from U-M to Wake Forest (Goodridge's husband coaches Wake's men's cross country team).

Rioux sacrificed the season but has continued to compete in non-NCAA meets. That's how she earned herself a spot as third alternate on the U.S. National Women's Cross Country Team.

Rioux finished ninth among Americans (10th overall) at the national TAC championships in Boston, Mass., Nov. 24. Rioux could represent the U.S. at the World Championship early next year.

● GLIAC'S BEST

Local gridders landed loads of honors as the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) season concluded.

Dave Luch, a 6-foot-1, 210-pound center from Livonia Churchill, was selected to the GLIAC's first team in a vote of conference coaches. The Michigan Tech senior started three straight seasons and was called a "team leader" and "one of our most consistent performers" by Tech coaches.

The All-GLIAC second team was filled with local standouts. Frank Wedesky, a senior who holds every Northwood passing mark, was the second team quarterback.

A Redford Bishop Borgess grad, Wedesky was also the GLIAC's final Offensive Player of the Week after completing 21 of 41 passes for 331 yards and 2 touchdowns in a 21-0 Northwood win over Ferris State. For the GLIAC season, Wedesky hit 77 of 173 passes for 1,121 yards and 9 TDs, with 10 interceptions.

Also making the GLIAC's second team were Jim Bennett, a 6-2, 230-pound offensive lineman from Redford playing for Ferris State, Jeff Hubert, a 6-0, 190-pound junior defensive back from Plymouth who was third in tackles for Hillsdale (69 solos, 33 assists), had 1 interception and recovered 2 fumbles, and Darrel Bartkowiak, a 5-11, 215-pound junior linebacker from Canton playing at Saginaw Valley.

Rich Popp, Wayne State's sophomore quarterback, earned honorable mention accolades. Popp had the highest completion ratio in the conference (.543), completing 69 of 127 passes for 904 yards and 9 TDs, with 4 interceptions.

● ACADEMIC ATHLETE

Eastern Michigan linebacker Dan Cohen and Central Michigan tight end Bob Stebbins did more than hit opponents this season. They hit the books, too.

Cohen and Stebbins were named to the All-Mid-American Conference (MAC) Academic football team. For Cohen, a senior from Farmington Hills, it was his second-straight time on the team. Cohen is majoring in management and carries a 3.32 grade point average.

Stebbins, from Livonia, is a sophomore and was picked for the first time. He had the second highest grade point on the team (3.83). Stebbins is undecided in his major.

The Catholic game: run and gun

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Where do Redford schools Bishop Borgess and Catholic Central fit in the Catholic League's tough Central Division basketball race?

It's pretty much agreed among the league's coaches that Warren DeLaSalle and Birmingham Brother Rice are the teams to beat, mainly because of size and returning players.

Borgess and CC, however, could crack the playoffs using an "up-tempo" style.

As for Redford St. Agatha, a member of the C-D Division's West Bracket, the Aggies are rebuilding under new coach in Larry Dupke.

Here is a preview of the area's three Catholic League teams.

BISHOP BORGESS

Coach Mike Fusco, now in his third season, fields a dynamite backcourt, led by 5-foot-11 senior Joe Gregory, who averaged 22 points and 10 assists per game.

Borgess was 12-9 last year and 5-5 in the division. Snubbed by some of the area coaches on the All-Observer first team selection ballot last year, Gregory is without a doubt one of the finest players in the Catholic League.

basketball

"Joe have improved his defense off the ball and is one of our top rebounders," said Fusco. "His perimeter game can be matched with anyone."

The other guard could well be 5-5 sophomore Lorenzo Neely, the talk of the MSU Basketball School and High Exposure Summer Camp.

Other Borgess returnees include 6-0 senior guard Jerry Love, 6-1 senior forward Chuck Albright, 6-0 senior center Dave Johnson and 6-4 senior center Paul Newton.

They are joined by promising newcomers Marlo Brown, a 6-1 junior; Tyrone Bennett, a 6-0 sophomore; John Golden, a 6-2 junior; Reggie Randolph, a 6-4 junior; Carl Collins, a 5-10 junior; and R.S. Gutierrez, a 5-9 junior.

"We know what Joe Gregory can do," said Fusco. "If the seniors improve on their contributions, and the underclassmen come through with confidence and poised play, we could do some good things."

CATHOLIC CENTRAL

The Shamrocks (12-11, 4-6) have the experience to make a run at a playoff berth.

Everybody returns including 6-4 John McIntyre, who carried almost too much of a load last season as he averaged 31 points, 11 rebounds and 8 assists per game.

The University of Detroit-bound cager will be flanked by holdovers Paul Tavara, a hard-working 6-2 junior; Chris Keane, a 6-foot senior guard; and Ron Wandzel, a 6-4 senior center.

"I think Paul, Ron and Chris have all improved," said CC coach Bernie Holowicki, now in his 13th season. "They're a year older, a year better and a year wiser."

The other starting spot is up for grabs between 6-2 sophomore Lance Baccarelli, 5-11 junior Bill Otto and 5-10 junior Sean McCloyre. Tom Goodwin, a 6-3 sophomore, will also play. Rounding out the squad is 6-6 junior Kevin Rukat, 6-2 sophomore Sean McLaughlin and 6-3 freshman Greg King.

"We need to get a more balanced effort and a better game from all the guys — and I think we will," said the CC coach. "Rice, DeLaSalle and Notre Dame are all big, so we'll have to make it an up-and-down game."

One thing is for sure, as long as McIntyre is around, CC basketball is an exciting show to watch. Get your tickets early.

Canton Hot Shots fare well

Canton Township was well represented at the Pepsi-NBA Hot Shot Basketball Area Playoffs which took place Saturday, Nov. 10, at Wayne State University.

Three Canton youths sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department qualified for the regional competition by winning their district competitions this summer.

Tracey Ewald competed in the Boys 9-12 age group and finished fifth out of 39 competitors. His three-round total of 82 missed qualifying for the final round by four points.

In Boys 13-15, M.J. Ewald, Tracey's brother, took sixth place with 105 points. M.J. went all the way to the regional finals last year.

Jo Anna Wiklund participated in the Girls 13-15 and placed 12th with 69 points.

Hot Shot competition is a basketball shooting skill test in which contestants get 60 seconds to shoot and make as many baskets as possible from various spots on the court.
