Spirit of teamwork key to talks on saving police jobs

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

A spirit of cooperation has enveloped discussions aimed at restructuring the Plymouth Police Department.

"Right now there's no friction, no animosity between myself and the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM, the bargaining agent for the Plymouth officers)," said City Manager Henry Graper.

"It's not like a normal bargaining situation — it's a team effort to save a vital part of the city," he said.

The talks are taking place in meetings of a Blue Ribbon Study Committee, appointed to look into the city's finances and its ability to fund the police operation.

Mayor David Pugh established the committee following Plymouth Township's decision to terminate a $467,000 a year contract for shared services. The contract expires July 1, and the township plans to have its own department in place by then.

Committee members, including Plymouth POAM president Mike Gardner and POAM representative William Birdseye, are searching for alternatives to layoffs in making up the lost revenue.

The committee reportedly has developed a way to save some $250,000 a year, based on recommendations from Gardner and Birdseye. Birdseye could not be reached for comment Friday.

Gardner confirmed that the talks are going well but declined to comment on the specific progress until the committee chairman makes a report.

"WE'RE APPROACHING a situation where we can operate at the 15 to 16 man level, and we're shooting for saving the balance of the operation," Graper said.

Still needed is another $180,000 to $190,000 savings a year if the department is to remain at its 20-man level

Savings proposed would come from elimination of overtime, using fewer squad cars, not calling officers in to cover for vacation time, holidays and sick days, and switching from eight-hour shifts to 12-hour shifts.

The 12-hour shift was proposed by police consultant Rod Bartell, who recently recommended a reconfiguration plan. Bartell's plan calls for one officer to be laid off, while letting manpower decrease to 15 men through attrition over a three-year period.

He also proposed a matrix system that would provide incentives for officers to continue in career development.

Bartell also suggested the city might consider a millage increase to support the police operation. Based on results from a survey he conducted, Bartell said 31 percent of residents are willing to pay more for police services — 35 percent said no to more money, while 34 percent were uncertain.

A one-mill increase (one dollar for every $1,000 of assessed valuation) in city property taxes would net some $150,000, according to Graper.

ANOTHER ALTERNATIVE included extensive layoffs that would cut the department to 10 men.

Graper wants to avoid layoffs if at all possible.

"Every one of the policemen, up to number 15, are veteran police officers with five years or more. They cost us about $50,000 each a year, with fringes," he said.

"With that group of employees (the veteran policemen) there is no economy of scale. Ten veteran officers would be our entire budget if there were no concessions and no savings," he said.

"The new officers cost us about $23,000 to $24,000 a year with fringes. Ideally we would like to have a department with 10-12 veteran officers and 4-5 of the new guys.

Top cop candidates look promising

The number of applicants for the Plymouth Police Chief's position has been narrowed to four.

"We were very impressed with the applicants (police consultant) Rod Bartell screened down to. We started with a field of 68 candidates," City Manager Henry Graper said last week.

Three of the four finalists were interviewed Wednesday, with the fourth scheduled for March 5. The job is expected to be offered to one of the four sometime in mid-March.

Graper said the final decision will be made after there's a better idea of which way the department will be restructured.

"Two of the three applicants are extremely desirous of the position. The third one was a bit concerned about the possibility of going to a 10-man department," Graper said.

"The people we are looking at are very, very well-educated people. Two of them already have or are working toward their master's degree and one is starting a doctoral program. They all have a lot of experience.

"One man is well experienced in going through a downsizing of a department," Graper said.

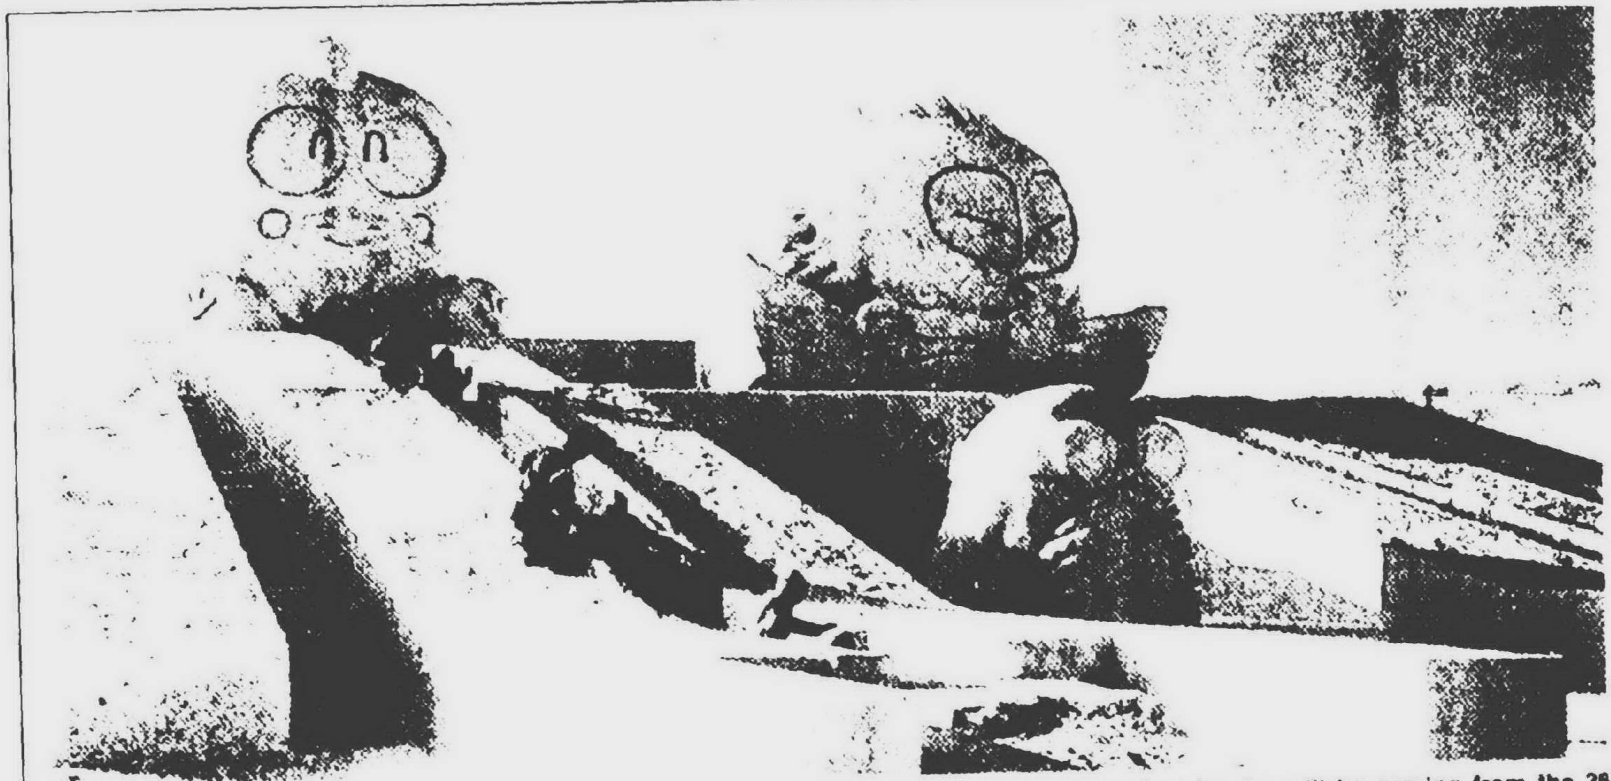

The ages of the four finalists range between 30 and 42. All of them hold law enforcement positions in Michigan. Two also hold teaching positions — one at a college and one at a police academy.

Two work as police chiefs and two work as shift or operations directors.

Interviews of the final four candidates are being conducted by a committee consisting of: city commissioners Mary Childs, Jack Kenyon and Mary Ellen McKecher, resident Robert Jones, Bartell and Graper.

Although the committee will recommend who should be hired, the final decision will be made by Graper as the position of police chief is an appointed one.

A giant slide made this snow sculpture a children's favorite at the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular will be coming from the 36-recent Sapporo Snow Festival in Japan. Some ideas for next year's year-old Japanese event, which attracted some 1.9-million visitors.

Japanese ice talent imported

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

In these days of increasing imports from Japan, what would be more fitting than borrowing a few ideas from the Japanese when it comes to ice sculptures?

Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel and the driving force behind the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular, recently visited Japan to view several of their winter events.

"We want to make our festival better. Lord knows we don't want to make it bigger," Lorenz said Friday.

In Japan, Lorenz visited two winter events: the Sapporo Snow Festival and the Asahikawa Winter Festival. Sapporo's event centers on mammoth sculptures made from snow, while the Asahikawa event features ice.

The Sapporo event, although done with snow, was a source of many ideas for Lorenz. The Sapporo festival, now in its 36th year, attracted some 1.9 million people.

"We were able to find out what makes the thing tick and find out how it works," he said.

"Most ice carving books are written in Japanese — that's where the art originated.

"The kids over there have grown up seeing this thing and the carvings and festival have become a part of their culture," he said.

BESIDES THE large size of the Sapporo carvings, some rising as high as three stories, they feature intricate detail.

The carvings, many centering on ethnic folklore, are reinforced with scaffolding and lit at night by internal lights.

"What I'd like to try next year is this, we have arranged to have six of their ice carving chefs to come to our event.

"We will have them carve 10 statues, each of 20 blocks of ice or more," Lorenz said.

"Also, we will sponsor a seminar in conjunction with Schoolcraft College for the local chefs so they can learn some of their techniques.

"I hope to go to the airlines that serve the Orient to help in getting them over here. They are just super people in terms of ice carving.

"Then the winner of our event will go to Sapporo to compete in the Japanese event. In effect, it would be the United States' best chef going over to compete with some of the world's best chefs because they have chefs from many different nations there," he said.

"The Japanese were very excited about having us participate in their event and, of course we are very excited about having them participate in our event.

"WHAT I'M going to be doing is getting every one from our ice festival together to view videotapes and slides of what I saw over there."

Even though the snow sculptures are interesting, Lorenz said the Plymouth festival will stick to ice.

"Our idea is to stay with ice and stay with chefs carving snow is a whole other medium."

But he would like to attempt a large-scale carving like the snow carvings in Sapporo.

"If we could do one sculpture of the magnitude of the snow sculptures, that would be big," he said.

"Basically, now all I have to do is nail down the details."

Next year's Plymouth event most likely will be larger, as Lorenz plans to expand the time for the festival and move into Old Village with some of the carvings.

He also wants to look into having Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular souvenirs manufactured and marketed in local stores — just as they do in Sapporo.

"We want to make this the top ice carving festival in North America," he said.

McAllisters hit their 40th year

By W.W. Edgar

There will be a merry old time in the McAllister grocery store on Northville Road on Saturday, March 1.

At that time, Bill (Pod) McAllister, a well-known businessman in the Plymouth area, will be reliving some of the memories of the gamble he and Jack took when he was discharged from the U.S. Navy at the end of World War II.

McAllister served as a fighter pilot in the war, and after being discharged, he and brother Jack decided to open a grocery store.

"There were no jobs to be had," he recalled, "and it is a bit difficult to realize that it was just 40 years ago from March 1 that we took a gamble and opened the store."

"It was only a little 25 by 50 foot but it was the only grocery in the area outside of the C.F. Smith store on Starkweather in the city."

IT WAS a gamble but with strict devotion to business it has been a success and in this 40th anniversary "Pod" can't help recalling the start.

"We tried everything. Nothing was too much trouble. We even delivered cold beer just as the milkman delivers milk these days. The beer was $2.99 a case and it now sells for $10. We sold Coca-Cola at six bottles for a quarter and cigars were only 15 cents."

As he helps celebrate the birthday of the store, he tells of the strange things that he did to keep the store running while the population kept growing.

"Would you believe it, we used to skin bear and deer for the hunters to keep in their ice boxes at home. It was a lot of work, but it helped build the foundation for the 40 years we have been here at the same spot."

"Of course, we've enlarged it three times and we have taken on more articles but it is still the same McAllister store."

RECALLING his memories, while wife Lois, who recently was honored with a place in the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame, looked on, McAllister admitted that the first 10 years were tough.

"But we weathered the storm. Then Jack left, and Lois and I are running the store now. It still is a different type of market. We gave up selling meat quite a long time ago, but today we even sell bait for the fishermen. We keep it refrigerated and it is quite saleable during the fishing season."

Looking back over the years, McAllister is proud of the fact he has from time to time hired more than 100 young people from the community. Two of them, Earl Harrison and Ted Byers, have been with him from the start. Several of the others have become bank presidents and two others wound up as college professors, while many of the football players got their first business experience in the store.

While it still is a popular marketplace with the right to sell liquor, and is a station for the state lottery, the market has taken on the popular belief that it is a branch station for the University of Michigan athletic program.

"WE BECAME interested in Michigan when our daughter was a freshman, the year Bo Schembechler became head coach."

"We haven't missed a home game of football since then, and I once had the privilege of riding with the team to the Pacific Coast for a game. We also started the custom of having the paintings of the quarterback and a speedy halfback on the windows of the market."

"It sure is a great change from the little market we opened 40 years ago on a gamble. But it has been a lot of fun and hard work. But, now looking back, it was worth every minute we put into it."

SEMTA chairman sides with Lucas appointment

By Tim Richard
staff writer

SEMTA Chairman Thomas Turner announced Friday he would accept Wayne County Executive William Lucas' three appointments to the SEMTA board of directors, throwing off three directors chosen by suburban county commissioners.

Turner, of Detroit, apparently acted alone, without consulting other SEMTA board members and without waiting for an opinion from the transportation agency's attorney, Walter Clements. That opinion was due at the March 5 board meeting.

A two-sentence announcement was sent out on the public relations news wire Friday. It said Turner "has accepted the appointment of Fred Todd, Cameron Priebe and Robert Pacciocco to the SEMTA board, it was announced today by Acting General Manager Albert Martin. The appointments were approved Jan. 24 by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners."

TURNER'S ACTION threw SEMTA itself onto Lucas' side in what had been a dispute between the executive and suburban county commissioners over who has authority to appoint suburban Wayne County members of the SEMTA board.

Caught by surprise was Richard Manning, D-Redford, a county commissioner whom fellow commissioners appointed to the SEMTA board Jan. 3. Manning said he would have to consult with fellow appointees Vincent Fordell, mayor of Garden City, and Chester Jurewicz, a retiree from Hamtramck, before deciding whether to go to court against Turner and Lucas.

In disbelief, Manning said, "I don't think Turner would make a statement binding on the full board without board approval."

"I'll tell you it's very confusing. It (SEMTA) is hardly the job one lusts after. The system is in deep, deep trouble. No one wants to go out and sell a tax increase," Manning said.

THE SEVEN-COUNTY authority may have to close up shop Oct. 1 if President Reagan is successful in eliminating transit operating subsidies from the federal budget. Martin said recently SEMTA officials have approached the Michigan Legislature about putting a one-cent increase in the sales tax earmarked for public transit on the ballot, either statewide or in SEMTA's service area.

A newsman's call was Manning's first notice that Turner was throwing him off the SEMTA board. "I would have thought they would have sent a nice letter to each one of us saying 'thanks for your services, but you're no longer on.'"

Manning recalled that at the last SEMTA board meeting Tuesday, a letter from Frank Wilkerson, an assistant to Lucas, was read saying that Lucas had vetoed the commission's appointments, made his own appointments and received confirmation from the commission.

"There was kind of a pause," Manning said. "Clements (the SEMTA attorney) said, 'I will give you an opinion on the 5th of March.'"

Manning said he had recently received a copy of the resignation of SEMTA board member DeWitt Henry. The letter "made the statement that under the statute, the board of commissioners is to make an appointment. That was signed by the secretary, citing the SEMTA statute," he said.

TURNER WAS in a meeting, according to SEMTA public information officer Michael Niemann, and unavailable for comment.

Niemann was asked 1) by what authority Turner made the decision, 2) whose advice he had accepted and 3) why he decided not to wait for Clements' opinion.

"I can't answer those questions," Niemann replied. He said he was called in by Turner and Martin and handed the announcement, which he revised only for style.

Two weeks ago Clements told this newspaper that state law clearly gave appointment authority to the County Commission. Asked what made him change his mind, Clements replied:

"Let me duck the question. Working on the agency such as SEMTA, I have no real authority to make a decision such as that."

"Since that time (Tuesday), the decision has been made by the SEMTA board. I'm staff, and I have to abide by the policy. When they make policy, I'm not at liberty to comment," Clements said.

"They just decided to recognize these persons. It won't be necessary for me to give an opinion. . . No, it wasn't a matter of changing my view."

TWO STATE laws are in apparent conflict.

The 1976 SEMTA law details the methods of appointment of 15 board members. The mayor of Detroit appoints four Detroiters, subject to confirmation by the city council. Four out-county members are appointed by suburban Wayne County commissioners. Manning, Fordell and Jurewicz were chosen under this procedure.

The 1980 charter county act sets up limits to the power of a county charter. The Wayne County home-rule charter gives the executive power to make all appointments "where permitted by law." Priebe of Taylor, Todd and Pacciocco, both of the Plymouth area, were chosen under this procedure.

Politically, suburban commissioners are galled by the fact that under the executive procedure, suburban SEMTA members would be chosen by a Detroit resident (Lucas) and confirmed by Detroit members of the County Commission.

Chinese welcome Year of Ox

AMONG CHINESE-Americans on Wednesday there were a lot of "Shen Yen Quae La's" in the air. That's Chinese for "Happy New Year." On Tuesday night, the Year of the Rat ended.

On Wednesday morning, the year of the Ox began. Using the ancient Chinese lunar calendar, China is now in its 4,683rd year. According to Chinese lore, children born this year will grow up to be bright and cheerful.

Some 70 students at the Wayne County Chinese Language School helped usher in the new year Saturday night in Westland with traditional songs and dances. On stage during the celebration, held at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on North Dix, three students took turns donning a colorful lion's head and prancing about while looking for something to eat.

Also on stage, eight young girls reenacted the centuries-old ribbon dance. Both dances are traditionally performed at New Year's festivals, said Lucy Lee, program chairwoman.

"NO CELEBRATION would be complete without the lion's dance," Lee said. "The dance is also performed at the opening of a new business, to help bring it good luck and to chase away evil."

The lion, alternately played by James Sung of Farmington Hills,

Evan Yeung of Plymouth and Hong Chou of Canton because the costume is heavy, pranced about, growled, slept and went hunting for food.

"Teasers," played by Marcella Lee of West Bloomfield and Cathy Young of Plymouth, poked the hungry lion and then offered him a stick with greens on it.

"When he plucks the greens, there is great joy because the plucking brings good luck," Lee said. "The pockets hanging from the red flag are filled with money and money is the reward for warding off evil spirits."

Legend has it that the graceful and beautiful ribbon dance began when an ancient emperor needed to escape from an assassin.

"So he ordered the ladies to dance so he could escape," Lee said.

Waving the ribbons over their heads and around their bodies to music were Kathy Wang of Westland, Lisa Wei of Canton, Alice Tsay of Ann Arbor, Becky Wu of Canton, Joslyn Lin of Canton, Michelle Yun of Livonia, Marcella Lee of West Bloomfield and Lee Ann Fu of Brighton.

The Chinese language school was established in 1978 by less than 20 families. Now, more than 70 students from nearly 50 Chinese families meet each Saturday afternoon at Schoolcraft College. The school began, Lee said, because the families wanted to keep alive among their children ancient Chinese customs and traditions.

Andrew Song, 6, of Westland gets a hand tying his head band for the mountain folk dance.

Emily Tsou, 5, of Canton shares a secret with Jackson Lin, 5, also of Canton while the pair were performing on stage.

Some 50 Chinese families from throughout the metropolitan area gathered in Westland to celebrate the Chinese New Year last weekend with a dinner and performance by youngsters enrolled in the Wayne County Chinese Language School.

Unusual buildings in city

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

The lack of parking in some areas of the City of Plymouth, which has both residents and visitors, now is considered beneficial in another way.

It has become the means of helping make the city one of the most interesting cities in the state from an architectural point of view.

"The lack of parking space," said architect Erick Carne "can force us to get away from the old-fashioned designs and come up with buildings that make the best use of the land."

"That's why we see buildings built sideways like the 35th District Court building and the Ford Hospital clinic on Main Street, and the fact that the city library now has the entrance on the rear instead of on Main Street. This is done because there is parking in the rear."

There are many other unusual things about the city. The high school is outside the city limits while the funeral home is in the center of the business section.

PLYMOUTH HAS two hospital clinics within two city blocks, has a historical museum downtown, and a city park which is the envy of all areas around it.

It has a restaurant which once was a machine shop. The restaurant, dressed up with stained glass windows is a real attraction even though it is on a road siding.

To keep up with the unusualness of the city, there is a store on Forest Avenue called "Sideways" which fronts on the street.

Even the Mayflower Hotel is part of the interesting picture in that it is built on the site of the first home ever built in what is now the city.

Another unusual feature is that the city has a historical section known as Old Village which centers its action on older things along with stores in what once were residences.

And across from City Hall is an ice cream parlor with the appearance of an old castle.

Trace these things back and for many you will find that the lack of parking had a great deal to do with the present appearance of the city.

And just imagine none of this would be possible if the Tonquish Creek had not been covered. Even the double-decked parking facility owes its place to those who thought of covering the Tonquish Creek years ago.

Cooperation in talks

"That would give us a blended rate and the experience you need, along with the younger guys who are so active — they're not specialized."

"That's not to say the specialized cops aren't good workers — they just enjoy activities other than writing tickets," he said.

"The POAM has done everything in the world with us to try to save money. Our first and foremost objective is to come up with a plan that will save those jobs."

"IF EVERYTHING works the way we are planning it, I think it can be accomplished," Graper said.

The City Commission will make a final decision on the department's fate in mid-March, he said.

More meetings with the POAM are scheduled in early March with Bartell as the facilitator.

Bartell also suggested the City Commission hold a public hearing to find out what residents want done.

"We will hold a public hearing only if we go for a millage increase and that's the City Commission's decision — if they want a public hearing. But we do have to make a decision soon," Graper said.

"I'm right in the middle of the budget process right now. The police department is the biggest department in my budget and I can't have it sitting out there unexplained," he said.

MX missile could be halted

To the editor:

The MX missile program could be stopped, hopefully forever, these next few weeks in Congress.

As early as the second week in March and likely in the last week of March voting on funding for the expensive, vulnerable, and unnecessary MX missile program will take place in Congress.

Your readers' letters and phone calls to their representatives do matter and I urge them to write or call their congressmen as soon as they can on this issue.

Looking at the progress of arms control negotiations over the past few years leads one to conclude that production of the MX will not encourage the Soviets to negotiate. In 1983 when Congress approved production funds for the first 21 MX missiles the Soviets left both the Strategic Arms Reduction Talks and the Intermediate Nuclear Force talks.

When Congress delayed the decision on additional MX production in 1984 the Soviets agreed to return to the negotiating table. The development of space weapons, not the MX, may have convinced the Soviets to resume arms control negotiations.

The MX is unnecessary. The U.S. arsenal contains 11,000 strategic nuclear warheads, and the Soviet arsenal contains about 9,000. Each side has more than enough. U.S. weapons are spread over sea, air, and land so that even if U.S. land-based weapons were rendered unusable, we could retaliate with air and sea-based missiles. Soviet weapons are potentially more vulnerable, with 75 percent of them based on land.

Congressman Carl Pursell of the 2nd District particularly needs to hear from your readers to encourage him to vote against further funding of the MX missile program. His Washington office is 1414 Longworth Building, Washington D.C. 20515. Phone number is (202)225-4401. One of Rep. Pursell's local phone numbers is (313)761-7727 in Ann Arbor.

Storm spotters to be trained

To the editor:

Thanks to the fine cooperation of the community volunteers, the business and industrial community, and the emergency service personnel, along with the continual updating and additions to our warning capabilities, Plymouth Township is nearing completion of its emergency information and warning system.

The outdoors sirens can signal a tornado warning and other emergencies. There are two voice radio paging systems now in place which can be activated by the Plymouth Township Fire Department. One system simultaneously warns every school in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. The other initiates the phone fanout system in use by the participating businesses and industries.

Thanks to the cooperation of Omnicom Cablevision, emergency information and warnings can be broadcast by voice announcement on every cable channel.

The emergency information and warnings come from police teletype, the National Weather Service, and from a team of community volunteers who are trained by the Plymouth Township Office of Emergency Preparedness to assist during a local emergency or disaster.

To join this team, plan on attending the training meetings which are held on the fourth Saturday of each month from 9 a.m. to noon in the Plymouth Township Hall on Ann Arbor Road at Mill.

Many of these volunteers, along with others, become severe weather spotters and are an important part of the area's early warning system.

This very important arm of the community's early warning system needs more volunteers to help cover the spotting posts during all hours when severe weather threatens our community. The next severe storm spotters class will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 27, at Plymouth Township Hall.

Land seminars

Billie Massaro has been appointed Florida sales specialist for the Plymouth office of Schweitzer Better Homes & Gardens Real Estate, 218 S. Main. Schweitzer is the sole selling agent in the Detroit region for Trafalgar Communities, from condos to single family homes, developed by General Electric in nine different locations in Florida. Seminars are presented and inspection tours offered on the development — the next seminar is March 8. For information on the seminar or tour, call Massaro at 453-8800. Massaro is a member of the Million Dollar Club and of Better Homes & Gardens Medallion Club.

Manoogian honored by engineering group

John Manoogian of Plymouth recently was honored by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) by being elected to the group's Fellow grade of membership.

His election will formally be recognized at the Honors Convocation during the 1985 SAE International Congress and Exposition Feb. 28 to March 1 in Cobo Hall.

Manoogian, executive director of product assurance for Ford Motor Co., was cited for lifelong, dedicated contributions to produce excellence in design, development, testing, manufacturing, and service of automotive, agricultural, and construction products.

HE DEVELOPED procedures to bring together product engineering, manufacturing and service. Under his direction, the foundation was established for implementing a quality operating system at Ford.

The Fellow grade of membership provides a way of recognizing the outstanding engineering accomplishments of members. Only those who have been voting members for at least 10 years are eligible for consideration. The Fellow grade is awarded to only a limited number each year.

Manoogian has been executive director of product assurance for Ford North American Automotive Operations (NAAO) since Jan. 10, 1979. He is responsible for directing NAAO strategy with respect to quality, durability and reliability, directing the identification and resolution of product problems, and coordinating quality improvement programs.

Born in Detroit on Aug. 16, 1921, Manoogian holds a degree in mechanical engineering from Detroit Institute of Technology. He is a member of the SAE, of the American Society of Quality Control, the Engineering Society of Detroit, and of the Detroit Economic Club.

City tries to salvage benefit marathons

Despite an earlier recommendation to deny approval, Plymouth city commissioners decided to table requests to hold marathon runs this year.

The city administration had urged commissioners to deny two requests to hold marathons due to the strain on the police department. Acting police chief Ralph White pointed to manpower and safety problems in holding the benefit runs.

At Tuesday night's meeting, the administration changed its recommendation and asked that the items be tabled to allow time to try and solve the problem.

"We would like to determine if all four groups can hold their runs in one day," City Manager Henry Graper said. "We would like time to negotiate with those folks."

During 1984, four organizations sponsored runs in Plymouth: the Plymouth Salem Track and Cross Country Alumni Association, the Plymouth Jaycees, Growth Works, and the Plymouth Family Community YMCA. All four want to hold 1985 runs.

Workers will hear Fishman

Michigan Injured Workers, a new organization which gives peer support to disabled workers, will meet at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26, in Stevenson High School, 32600 Six Mile west of Farmington Road, Livonia.
 Guest speaker will be Sam Fishman, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO. He will discuss workers' compensation issues. This is the group's third meeting, according to vice president Richard Fournier. He can be contacted for information about the group at 697-8900.
 The group addresses problems of medical care, emotional treatment, and financial assistance. It is open to workers and their families with either a past, current or pending claim, Fournier said.
 The non-profit corporation has other chapters in Lansing, Grand Rapids, Flint, Pontiac and Kalamazoo.

Christian 'show biz' examined

The Christian concert industry will be the topic of this week's "Christians Cable Talk," a live call-in show on Omnicon Cable Channel 15. Guests on the program will include Dong Ling of Cornerstone and Art Grace. These promoters are responsible for setting up appearances in the Detroit area of most of the big name Christian entertainers. Their bookings include Debbie Boone, David Meece, Petra, Steve Taylor and Mylon LeFevre.

Christians Cable Talk will air 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and be replayed at 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The show also will give viewers a sample of Christian music videos and a chance to call in with questions or comments.
 The program is being produced by the same group of teen-agers in Plymouth and Canton who present "Youth View" each week at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and 4:30 p.m. Thursday. This week's Youth View has a discussion with Dr. Ted Jungkuntz of Ann Arbor with music by Michael Card.

ROLE OF INJECTIONS IN TREATING ARTHRITIS

If you have arthritis, it is likely that you have heard about joint injections and have questions about their use and indications.
 The purpose of joint injections is to stop a flare of arthritis, and permit your usual therapy to control joint inflammation. Today, the medicine injected is not cortisone but a related medication. As compared with cortisone, this medicine stays in the joint longer, has a greater ability to stop joint inflammation, and a lesser effect on the body.
 The number of joints that are injected at one time depends on the severity of your arthritis. Usually an injection in one or two joints suffices to stop a flare, occasionally the inflammation is of such intensity that further joint injections are in order.
 In the early days of injection therapy, physicians were concerned that such injections might injure joints or prove deleterious to the whole body. With experience and refinements in the medication used, these possibilities are no longer a concern, and injections can be repeated as need indicates.

Back Talk... Headache Cause May be Pinched Nerve

According to a report issued by the N.Y. Journal of Medicine, the cause of headaches in over 90% of 2,000 patients studied was a mechanical irritation of the nerves that exist between the bones of the neck. The report states that "direct injury to the neck may be caused by a blow or fall" that could easily irritate delicate spinal nerves.
 American Weekly Magazine informed readers that 18,000,000 Americans on a regular basis each day consume aspirin in the attempt to gain relief.
 Modern chiropractic treatment seeks to eliminate this irritation of spinal nerves and produce effective relief of neck tension and headaches.

Roy Lindsay brought Detroit water to township

(Part 3)

In the 1950s and '60s when Plymouth Township was holding a series of elections in what was ostensibly an attempt to establish a city form of government but in reality was only a stratagem to prevent the City of Plymouth from annexing parts of its terrain, the question inevitably came up: How many times can the electorate vote to form a city and reject the proposed charter?

The answer came on April 14, 1964, in a letter from Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

In a letter addressed to Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney Samuel H. Olson, Kelley gave his opinion that "a new charter commission may be elected as often as desired if a valid petition is filed within the 10-day period from the canvass and determination of the vote on any proposed charter."

Kelley went on to say that "the elector receiving the highest number of votes cast for the office of mayor becomes mayor de facto of the proposed city until a mayor for such proposed city is elected and qualified pursuant to a charter which shall have been approved by the electorate."
"For the first 10 days following the election at which the proposed charter was rejected, the electors of the proposed city may petition the de facto mayor for the election of a new charter commission."

The man perennially elected mayor de facto of the City of Plymouth Heights from 1961 on was John D. McEwen who eventually was to become supervisor of Plymouth Township.

Before discussing McEwen's five-year tenure as supervisor, a few words about the man he followed — Roy R. Lindsay. Lindsay, who had been in real estate, became township supervisor in June 1953, following the sudden death of Supervisor Charles A. Rathburn.

IT IS DIFFICULT to say when Plymouth Township began to shed the Cinderella image evoked by its relationship with the City of Plymouth but the process probably began when Lindsay was Supervisor (1953-1965).

Unlike the heroine of the old European fairy tale, the township had no fairy godmother to wave a magic wand and bring it out of the shadow of its acquisitive neighbor.

No one who knew Roy Lindsay would cast him in the role of a fairy godmother but it probably was under his administration that the township began to catch up with, and in some respects even surpass, the City of Plymouth.

It was during Lindsay's regime, for example, that township population began to exceed that of the city. It was during his time that the tactic of preventing annexation was established. It was while he headed the township, in 1957, that a new zoning ordinance was adopted providing increased protection for various land uses and serving as a guide for social development.

Farming was on its way out (by 1966 it was almost non-existent) but its departure was coincident with the development of oil and gas wells. In 1962, Plymouth Township produced 1,012,768 million cubic feet of natural gas, about 36.5 percent of the state's total production.

New housing was being developed and the township's median family income achieved top rank in the area, surpassing that of families in City of Plymouth as well as those in Northville, Canton and Livonia. In 1966, it reached $8,005 compared with $7,755 in the city.

THE TOWNSHIP'S MAJOR achievement during Lindsay's administration was bringing Detroit water to its most populated areas.

As early as 1953, the Township

Board had hired a consulting geophysicist to find a potential source of water. Five test wells were drilled two years later.

Then, in 1955, the Township formed a Sewer and Water Authority with Canton Township, only to have Canton back out of it the following year. Finally, in 1956, Plymouth Township voters approved a millage increase of four mills for the purpose of constructing a sewer and water system.

While waiting for Detroit water, wells were brought in on Schoolcraft Road to serve the new housing development called Lake Pointe Village. Then, in October 1961, a connection made to Detroit water through Livonia enabled the township to provide water to all except its western area.

A photo in my pictorial history of Plymouth shows Supervisor Lindsay with Township Engineer Herald Hamill, township treasurer Elizabeth Holmes and Gerald Remus of the Detroit Water Commission observing the event.

The day of private wells and septic tanks was coming to an end for many township residents and the day of the large real estate developer was rapidly approaching.

It was when Lindsay died in April 1965 that John D. McEwen, whom Lindsay had brought into township government a few years before, became supervisor.

McEwen, a resident of the township since 1966, was a native of Detroit and a graduate of the University of Detroit College of Commerce and Finance. At age 13, he sold newspapers at Clark and West Fort Streets. Among other newspapers he handled were the Detroit Journal and the Detroit Times, both out of existence for many years.

Eventually, McEwen had five other boys working for him and was selling from 1,500 to 2,000 papers a day. His sales territory included the Studebaker, Graham-Paige and Timken Arle plants. By age 20, he was making $25 to $100 a week, more than many of the men who worked in the factories he served.

How to enjoy retirement

By W.W. Edger
Staff writer

If you are one of those persons who has reached retirement age, turned in your working badge and now find that life has become a bit boring and would like to find something interesting, you should call on men like Mel Blunk, the retired school official.

Blunk was one of those dedicated workers in all his years with Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and he, too, feared the retired life. But just for a spell.

Now he is well on his way and is enjoying every minute of his retirement.

"I got started doing things around the house and find that is a part of life that is really enjoyable. Prior to that, when I was a bit fearful of the retired life, I did some moonlighting — odd jobs around the area. But I tired of that, too. And now life is really enjoyable."

TO BREAK THE spell of doing odd jobs around the house, Blunk makes a trip downtown occasionally just to catch up on what is going on.

Blunk has another hobby. He is a leading automobile racing follower. If there is a race any place within reach, he'll be there. And he'll stay to the finish.

At the moment, he is looking forward to a trip to Daytona Beach for the 500-mile race in that Florida city.

Over the years he has missed very few Indy 500s. When he did miss, it was for a good reason and he is always on hand at the Michigan International Speedway in Jackson.

That's why if you are a victim of boring times in your retired life, you should get a chance to visit with Mel Blunk.

Is it a desire for a good education or to gamble on attracting the attention of the sports world and get a chance at the fabulous salaries being offered by the football and basketball teams in the pro leagues?

This is the question that has become the major topic of discussion at the luncheon table these days when the newspapers are filled with stories of the choices the young high school athletes have made.

During the past few weeks it has been stated that some of the high school lads have visited a half dozen schools, some as far west as the Pacific Coast, and haven't made up their minds to accept an offer.

It must be an offer because the colleges and universities are making all kinds of offers with scholarships. But in many cases it has been said there is a lot more. This is far different now than it was in the old days.

BACK THEN a young football star often voiced a desire to play under a certain coach. It was the personality and ability of Fielding H. "Hurry Up" Yost that got the boys to Michigan. And there were others like Zupke at Illinois and Rockne at Notre Dame or Woody Hayes at Ohio State.

the stroller

W.W. Edger

These personalities didn't always work. One of the best cases is that of Gus Dorais, former University of Detroit coach and the man who popularized the forward pass.

Gus had settled on attending the University of Minnesota. In fact he had enrolled there and reported for the team. But after a few days he was told that he was too small for college football. So he left and found his way to Notre education in the background. Each year is getting more and more a "buying" of the young athlete.

THE YOUNG star quarterback at Boston College accepted a bid of $7 million and a four-year contract.

There was no thought of higher education there.

In the old days the best offers were scholarships and maybe room and board. But there was little more. Some of the schools went wild and "hired" full teams. This was the case with one school in the East that had the same squad for four seasons. But that was an exception.

Now the bidding is becoming more important and the question arises — does the young high school athlete want a good education or a chance to attract attention of the pro leagues where millions are being made in a few years?

It is a good question and now it is the proper gossip at many luncheon tables. Higher learning, in many cases, seems to be taking a back seat.

BACK PATIN

Back Problems and Chiropractic

Three quarters of all Americans have some sort of back problems at one time or another during their life.

DO YOU SUFFER WITH BACK PROBLEMS? If you do, if you have tried other means to rid yourself of the pain and failed, try chiropractic.

Dr. Mashike is a spinal specialist. He has devoted all of his training and background to the spine. He is certified by the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners. He has been certified by the American Disability Evaluation Research Institute and has qualified for membership in the National Association of Disability Evaluating Physicians. DR. MASHIKE HAS HELPED THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE JUST LIKE YOU, people who had given up, people who were told there was no hope, people who had suffered alot and spent alot.

At Dr. Mashike's office, you receive the very best of care and personal individual attention. Dr. Mashike would appreciate the opportunity to care for you.

"I Achieved the Impossible"

I found out about Chiropractic through a very dear friend of mine. She was a patient of Dr. Mashike's. I suffered with backaches for many years. I was hospitalized, put in traction, but nothing helped. My friend had had gotten good results and she told me I should go.

This problem certainly interfered with my daily routine. I felt useless. I was afraid to bend or anything. I never thought I was going to make it to the doctors office. I was so discouraged.

Dr. Mashike told me he found some vertebrae out of alignment that were pinching nerves in my low back. Well in about three weeks I began noticing improvement.

I noticed many changes in my health. I am no longer depressed, I am able to go for long walks. I now do exercises when I wake up. I feel like a new person.

I have written this testimonial from my own experience with the hope that I will help others, so not to suffer needlessly, when you can seek chiropractic help.

Mary Casha

I regret very much that I didn't take my wife to see Dr. Mashike sooner. All that needless suffering could have been avoided.

I was so pleased with Mary's results that I had Dr. Mashike examine my spine for a circulation problem. I also had a bad back but nothing like Mary's.

After three months I feel much better and I feel the circulation is normal. Mary and I thank Dr. Mashike very much.

Joseph Casha

Tidball Family Health Improved

We first started with chiropractic care because of severe headaches I was having. My husband had pain between the shoulder blades which was a constant nag.

Myself, I lived on aspirin (12-16 per day) for a long time without help until friends told us we should have chiropractic care.

My husband and I progressed and in about a month we noticed a lot of improvement. I felt better in general, I also felt good because I wasn't taking any drugs, no side effects, sleepiness or a buzzy feeling that I got from the drugs.

Our children also have their spines checked. We want them to grow up without health problems. We definitely recommend chiropractic. It's the way to go.

Pastor & Mrs. Tidball & Family

An Overall Improvement

I found out about chiropractic through a friend who was a patient of Dr. Mashike's. I was on vacation when I injured my lower back. By the time we got home, I could hardly walk and it was painful to sit or bend in any way.

I didn't think I would ever be better. On my first visit I was in so much pain I could hardly lay on Dr. Mashike's adjusting table. It took several adjustments before I noticed a difference, but now I'm so much better. After 4 weeks I noticed an overall improvement not only with my low back, but with my total health, I can even rest better.

I'm not completely better but thank God I feel much better. Dr. Mashike has helped me a lot. I am so glad I came to see him.

SAVORY BROILED HALIBUT WITH CURRIED VEGETABLES

- | | |
|---|--------------------------------------|
| 1/3 cup Bertolli olive oil, divided | 1/4 teaspoon curry powder |
| 1/4 cup dry white wine | 1-1/2 cups each thin |
| 1 tablespoon finely minced parsley | diagonally sliced |
| Salt and pepper | carrots and sliced |
| 4 (about 6 oz. each) Alaska halibut steaks, thawed if necessary | cauliflower |
| | 1 cup diagonally sliced green onions |
| | Plain yogurt (optional) |

Combine 3 tablespoons olive oil, wine, parsley, 1/4 teaspoon salt and dash pepper. Place halibut steaks on broiler pan, brush generously with olive oil mixture. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat 4 to 6 minutes on each side or until fish flakes when tested with a fork. Brush occasionally with basting sauce during broiling. Heat curry powder in 2 tablespoons olive oil in skillet for 1 minute. Add carrots and cauliflower, saute until crisp-tender. Add green onions, season to taste with salt and pepper. Arrange on serving platter with halibut. Serve with yogurt. Makes 4 servings.

ALASKA-STYLE CIOPPINO

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 pound Alaska Snow or King crab, thawed if necessary | 1 teaspoon basil, crushed |
| 1 large onion, chopped | 1/4 teaspoon thyme, crushed |
| 1 cup each sliced celery and chopped green pepper | 1 bay leaf |
| 2 large cloves garlic, minced | 1 pound Alaska cod, pollock or rockfish fillets, thawed if necessary and cut into |
| 2 to 4 tablespoons Bertolli olive oil | 1 1/2-inch cubes |
| 1 can (29 oz.) whole tomatoes, diced with liquid | 2 dozen small clams (optional) |
| 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce | Bottled hot pepper sauce |
| 1 cup each bottled clam juice and dry white wine | 1/4 cup chopped parsley |
| | Cheese Croutons |

Rinse crab under cool water. Cut crab into serving-sized pieces, score backs of leg sections using large heavy knife or slit with kitchen shears. Saute onion, celery, green pepper and garlic in olive oil until tender. Add remaining ingredients except seafood, hot pepper sauce, parsley and Cheese Croutons, simmer, covered, 30 minutes. Add cod, crab and clams, cook about 5 minutes or until clam shells open and fish flakes when tested with fork. Season to taste with hot pepper sauce. Garnish with parsley. Serve with Cheese Croutons. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Cheese Croutons: Heat 2 to 3 tablespoons Bertolli olive oil in skillet. Add 2 cups Italian bread cubes; saute until evenly browned. Cool slightly. Toss with 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese. Makes 2 cups.

The new look in American cuisine calls upon a heritage that spans the globe and applies it to a bounty of fine ingredients that are increasingly available throughout all regions of the United States.

The new look derives its freshness not only from bright, lively combinations of colors and flavors but also an insistence that the combinations of quality ingredients make sense nutritionally and economically.

As a result, versatile seafood and vegetable pairings that take advantage of our natural abundance are growing in popularity.

Zesty, light and simple to prepare, all of the colorful main dishes here offer a welcome change from heavy winter fare and look toward spring. And each owes important parts of its special appeal to key ingredients — Alaska seafood and Bertolli Imported Italian Olive Oil.

Bertolli, the only nationally available olive oil, is both produced and bottled in Italy's Tuscan region, the traditionally superior source.

Species of Alaska seafood — halibut, salmon, canned salmon, Snow and King crab and whitefish — bring excellent flavor and high quality protein to international recipes that now seem an integral part of American culinary practice.

Equally adaptable to a company luncheon or family dinner, Savory Broiled Halibut with Curried Vegetables highlights the unique flavor that clear, golden olive oil and halibut lend to quickly prepared meals.

Alaska Style Cioppino, ideal for entertaining, celebrates a variety of favorite seafood tastes and textures. Cheese Croutons, fragrant with olive oil, add a flavorful crunch to this all American version of the classic Italian fish stew that economically makes the most of Snow or King crab in the shell and whitefish.

Everyone loves pasta! And Creamy Salmon Pasta blends convenient canned salmon and spinach with a decadent dollop of pure cream. A great emergency brunch or supper dish when unexpected guests drop by, this recipe goes together in just a few minutes. Pure olive oil which, contrary to myth, contains no cholesterol, complements and enhances the flavor of canned salmon and helps to ensure smooth consistency.

Finally, Zesty Marinated Salmon and Vegetable Salad (not shown) is an ideal choice that makes even a diet meal delicious. Chunks of poached Alaska salmon, leeks, pea pods and red pepper are a visual and taste delight. The olive oil based Herb Dressing provides the finishing touch in a salad offering sound nutrition and culinary appeal.

CREAMY SALMON AND PASTA

- 1 can (15-1/2 oz.) salmon
- 2 tablespoons minced shallots or onion
- 2 tablespoons Bertolli olive oil
- Heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon tarragon, crushed
- 8 ounces large pasta twists, cooked and drained
- 4 cups lightly packed sliced fresh spinach or 1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and squeezed dry
- Grated Parmesan cheese
- Salt and pepper

Drain salmon, reserving liquid, break into large chunks. In large skillet, saute shallots in olive oil until tender. Add cream to reserved salmon liquid to equal 1 cup. Add to skillet with mustard and tarragon, cook over medium heat 2 minutes or until slightly thickened. Add pasta, spinach and 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese, toss gently. Stir in salmon. Season with salt and pepper to taste, heat thoroughly. Serve with additional Parmesan cheese if desired. Makes 6 servings.

ZESTY MARINATED SALMON AND VEGETABLE SALAD (NOT SHOWN)

- 1-1/4 pounds (1 1/2-inch thick slices) Alaska salmon, thawed if necessary and cut into bite-sized pieces and poached*
- 1 large or 2 small leeks, trimmed, cut in half lengthwise and cooked until tender
- Herb Dressing
- 2 cups Chinese pea pods, cooked until crisp-tender or 1 package (10 oz.) frozen pea pods, thawed
- 1 cup red pepper strips

Marinate hot salmon and hot leeks in Herb Dressing at least 1 hour. Remove salmon and leeks, toss pea pods and pepper with Herb Dressing. Drain and reserve Herb Dressing. Gently toss together salmon, leeks, pea pods and pepper. Serve with reserved Herb Dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Herb Dressing: Combine 1/2 cup Bertolli olive oil, 1/4 cup white wine vinegar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon each crushed basil and salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper, mix well. Makes about 3/4 cup.

Poached Salmon: Cover salmon pieces with boiling salted water, add 2 slices lemon, 2 slices onion, 1 sprig parsley and several peppercorns. Return to boil; reduce heat and simmer, covered, 5 minutes or until salmon flakes when tested with a fork.

You can microwave pork safely, using these tips

Oriental have long been familiar with the art of quick-cooking food in their utilitarian and versatile wok. Westerners have discovered that this method of cooking fits perfectly into their busy lifestyles. But there is another modern-day invention that has perfected quick-cooking even further — the microwave oven.

The first microwave countertop ovens were introduced to consumers in 1967. It has taken a few years for them to "catch on," but forecasts indicate that by 1990 as many as 60 percent of U.S. households will have this revolutionary kitchen appliance in their homes. What makes them so popular?

According to Marlys Bielunski, president of the International Microwave Power Institute/Cooking Appliance Section (IMPI/CAS), "More women are in the work force today. So families have less time to plan and prepare week-day meals. The microwave oven is the answer to their need for preparing a quick, nutritious meal."

Many first-time microwave owners, however, have to learn a new way to cook. Microwave ovens operate under different heating principles than conventional ovens. To help consumers become more confident and proficient when using their ovens, professional home economists have developed easy-to-follow cooking procedures.

One food group consumers have been hesitant about preparing in the microwave oven is meat. Bielunski, who is also the manager and coordinator of the Test Kitchens and Editorial Services at the Meat Board, has spearheaded the development of new consumer cooking procedures for meat.

The newest procedures are for a wide variety of pork products — from pork chops to pork roasts. These procedures are based on the concept of cooking pork in a closed container, such as a loosely sealed cooking bag or a covered microwave-safe container, to produce a vaporous atmosphere. This allows pork to cook to a safe, uniform internal temperature of 170 degrees.

"By using these new cooking procedures, consumers will be able to cook tender, juicy and flavorful pork in the microwave oven with confidence," said Bielunski. "It doesn't matter if you cook a roast for company, pork chops for four or family-pleasing ribs. All of these pork cuts cook safely and successfully using the new procedures."

To try out these procedures in your own oven, prepare Oriental Pork Ribs. Use meaty country-style ribs which are normally prepared by slow, moist cooking methods. The cooking time can be cut by using the microwave oven, while still providing the same great-tasting results.

The first step is to marinate the ribs for one to two hours in an oriental-flavored sauce. Place the ribs into a loosely tied oven cooking bag. This produces the necessary vaporous atmosphere during cooking. The ribs are cooked at a MEDIUM setting, or 50 percent power (approximately 325 watts). Wattage output on microwave ovens may vary. Check the microwave oven literature provided by the manufacturer or the name plate on the oven for the wattage output. The Meat Board finds that a lower power setting produces a better quality, and more juicy, product.

Another technique to promote even heating during the cooking process is to invert and rearrange the ribs midway through the cooking period. During the last 10 minutes of cooking, coat the ribs with the reserved oriental-flavored sauce.

Even Oriental cooks will be delighted to discover this quicker version of cooking meaty country-style ribs. For an up-to-date approach, garnish the oriental-flavored ribs with fancy lemon slices and thin, curled slices of green onion stalks.

ORIENTAL PORK RIBS

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: 50 minutes
Marinating time: 1 to 2 hours
3 to 3 1/2 lbs. pork country-style ribs, cut into single serving pieces
1/4 cup soy sauce
3 tbsp. honey
2 tbsp. dry sherry

2 large cloves garlic, minced
1 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
1 tsp. balsam vinegar
1/4 tsp. Chinese five-spice powder
1/4 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1 cup water
Green onion curls
Lemon slices, halved
Combine soy sauce, honey, dry sherry, garlic, lemon juice, balsam vinegar, Chinese five-spice and hot pepper sauce. Place ribs in plastic bag, pour marinade over ribs, turning to coat. Tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 1 to 2 hours, turning once. Drain marinade into 1-cup microwave-safe measure; reserve. Place ribs in 14 x 20-inch oven cooking bag and place in microwave-safe baking dish. Add water and tie bag loosely. Microwave at MEDIUM or 50 percent power (approximately 325 watts). Cook ribs 40 minutes, inverting and rearranging ribs after 20 minutes. (Use hot pads when handling bag and cooking dish.) Remove ribs from cooking bag and place in microwave-safe dish. Pour reserved marinade over ribs, turning to coat. Cover dish with lid or vent one corner of plastic wrap and continue cooking at MEDIUM power 10 minutes, rearranging ribs after 5 minutes. Garnish with green onion curls and lemon slices, if desired. (4 to 6 servings.)

*Wattage output on microwave ovens may vary. Check the microwave oven literature provided by the manufacturer or the name plate on the oven for the wattage output. Note: Cooking times are based upon a full power output of approximately 650 watts.

LEO MARIOM moved to Plymouth Township recently from Detroit. Leo is a violinist. He started to play the violin when he was 9 and he's still playing at almost 85.

"I've played with all the orchestras around," he said. "I even played with the Plymouth Symphony. I can't remember the director's name. It was a long time ago."

He would like to establish a violin quartet in this area.

"I had one in Detroit for years — a violin quartet with piano. I have all violin music, just violin, nothing for viola, cello or bass. Once we got the four violinists, maybe we could find a pianist," he said.

When the quartet is organized, he'd like to make it available for performances in schools and for other groups.

Any interested violinists may call Leo, 455-0731. His telephone was installed last week and he hopes to have a telephone directory next week.

LIONS CLUB of Plymouth celebrated its 37th birthday with a charter anniversary party at the Mayflower.

Three of the four charter members still active in the club attended the party. They were Bill Fehlig, Bruce Richard and Roland Widmayer. Ken Failing missed it because he was in Florida.

GINNY KOCH of Canton Township is a registered nurse, working at Oakwood Hospital, Dearborn. She is one of 12 labor and delivery nurses and nurses assistants who decided to brighten up the walls of the patients' rooms. They started an off-duty stitchery project, embroidering and framing pictures for the rooms. They worked on their own time and after nine months, their colorful art work is appreciated by both the staff and patients.

Ginny Koch

KRISTINA NIMAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Niman of Canton Township, is a finalist in the Michigan Homecoming Queen competition. Kristina is homecoming queen at John Glenn High School.

The state high school homecoming queen will be named March 30 and 31 at the Airport Hilton. The winner will receive a cash scholarship and an expense-paid trip to Honolulu, Hawaii for national competition in July.

"PHERESIS DONORS are a special breed. Many critically-ill patients depend on these very special donors and this unusual type of blood donation," said the medical director of Southeastern Michigan Region Blood Services. He was speaking at the annual Pheresis Recognition Reception. A number of Plymouth residents were among the special donors honored at the reception.

They were: Orlean Baker, Louis Bidoli, Sheila Briggs, Gregory Bristol, William Clark, Roger Erickson, Thomas Hinks, James Hobbly, Donald Keller, Mark Kramp, David McClary, Joseph Mehal, Robert Parks, Elaine Pops, Gloria Ramirez, Ray Roberts Jr., Dale Schotts, Cynthia Shaw, Terry Wasalaski and Rebecca Yosker.

These residents deserve all-star billing.

Pheresis is a procedure in which blood is drawn from a donor and passed through a machine that removes a certain component — either plasma, platelets or white cells. The remaining components are then returned to the donor's blood system. The process takes between 90 minutes and 2 1/2 hours.

A variety of patients benefit from pheresis donations. Plasma, which contains infection-fighting proteins, is used to treat children born with a deficiency of these proteins.

Platelets, a crucial factor for blood clotting, are used in the treatment of leukemia and other cancers. White cells are used to treat patients who are unable to produce enough of these infection-fighting cells.

Anyone interested in information may call the Red Cross Pheresis Recruitment office, 494-2787 or 494-2788.

Little romance in writing love stories

By Louise Okrutsky
staff writer

From the day the mail carrier handed her an envelope with $25 in it, Julia Grice was hooked.

Her favorite soap operas went unwatched. She began to plan for the hour during which her baby napped. Later, she would wait for Sesame Street to give her some free time.

From the day the diaper service magazine paid $25 for her story about the transition into motherhood, Grice was hooked on writing. Almost two decades later, Grice has gone from being the mother of two toddlers to a romance author with a string of novels that began with "Lovefire."

BUT AS she told a Town Hall audience last week, becoming a published writer is far from romantic.

For the 10 books that she's seen published, she's written an equal amount that were rejected. "It takes an enormous amount of emotional strength to withstand rejection."

Even without the prospect of rejection, writers need to make a firm commitment to their craft.

"I've written when I've been sick, when I was depressed, when I was pregnant, when my marriage was breaking up and when I had a broken ankle," she said. "You have to stick to it. Over 18 years, I've become a writer."

After writing several stories about motherhood for the diaper service, she turned her developing writing skills and burgeoning imagination to another genre. In February 1968, Personal Romance magazine gave over its cover to her story about a gang of high school girls who bootlegged birth control pills.

GRICE FOLLOWED that success with "Highway Pick-up Strip — Once I found it I couldn't stay away."

That was followed by a story about a couple who find themselves in a haunted bed. "We listened in on their love-ins from the past," the blurb touted.

For a change of pace she wrote tear-jerkers like "Little Runaway — he filled my heart with love."

'I've written when I've been sick, when I was pregnant, when my marriage was breaking up and when I had a broken ankle. You have to stick to it.'

— Julia Rice
romance author

"I was learning how to plot, how to hold the reader's attention and how to write for a woman with a high school education or less."

When she was 39, she decided that she wasn't getting any younger and she ought to start a novel. She wrote a book called "Phoenix Dream," which didn't get beyond her agent's desk. But in attempting to market the book she felt compelled to find an agent.

SHE BOUGHT a copy of Writer's Market, which lists the addresses of agents and publishers and sent a letter to several agents. Two answered her. One letter snootily informed her she had contacted the wrong agent. The second letter at least made an attempt to be polite. That was the agent to whom she sent her book.

Her second book, a mother's-eye view of child rearing was accepted by a publisher who sent her a $2,000 advance. She was ecstatic. "I called my friends and told them. I called my enemies and told them."

However, another publishing firm bought the firm that had so thrilled Grice by promising to market her book. The second firm decided the book didn't fit its needs. "They let me keep the advance."

THROUGHOUT HER initial brush with the publishing world, Grice just kept on writing. She tried her hand at gothics and mysteries, writing six books that weren't published.

"A television reporter asked me once why I kept on writing. I didn't know what to say. I just laughed and finally said, 'I guess I was crazy.' But I know now why I kept on writing. I was hopeful."

Her agent began suggesting to her ways in which she could improve. Finally, it was suggested that Grice try a historical romance novel.

After balking at the idea, she began to shop around for a time and a locale. One day she spotted a story about pirates and thought it'd be fun to write about them. She ended up picking a romantic locale, New Orleans and the year, 1813, when piracy flourished. And her first success, "Lovefire," was on its way.

"I HAD an enormous amount of fun writing the book. I was caught up in the fantasy. I was a romance writer and I loved it."

At the time she was ready to market the book, she attended the Oakland University Writers Conference where she met an executive with Avon Books. They talked. She casually mentioned her book. "He was 38, with curly hair shot with grey. One hunk of a man," she recalled.

She stepped aside to make room for the aspiring writers who had arrived at the conference carting their manuscripts in shoe boxes.

Grice, by now had moved beyond that point in her career. She had her agent send him the manuscript. Avon accepted it and Grice discovered that she was considered a professional writer.

"A PROFESSIONAL regards writing as a fulltime job. A professional makes enough money to support himself or herself." Juggling a plot isn't the professional's only task. Making a living from writing also means deftly handling twice-yearly royalty checks to make them cover one-year's living expenses. "You never know how much money you'll get from a book or even if a book will sell," she said.

Julia Grice, romance author, advises aspiring writers to brace themselves for rejection, even before they submit their first manuscript.

"You have to decide if you have enough skills and talents so you can go to work if writing goes down the tubes."

But what really separates the Sunday scribblers who wait for inspiration and the professional is a driving to become a published writer.

"A professional sets realistic goals, asks a lot of questions and won't give up. A professional has a drive that pushes you to go on."

Opening an IRA

The Hard Way

The Easy Way

At Michigan National, we realize a lot of people can't afford to pull together $2,000 to invest in an IRA - even when the tax incentive is so great. That's why Michigan National created a new EASY IRA. It's for those of us who can't afford $2,000 in one big bite, but would like to reduce taxes and plan for the future.

EASY IRA is automatic

Every week or month, we'll automatically deposit the amount you choose into your EASY IRA from your checking or savings account. Your deposit has to be at least $5 a week, or $20 a month. This way, you save a little at a time all year long.

EASY IRA is painless

You won't feel it, but at year-end you'll see it. A little investment all year long can grow up to $2,000, the maximum annual IRA contribution allowed for an individual. The interest earned is tax-deferred. And the total annual deposit amount is tax-deductible.

EASY IRA earns .25% more

Your EASY IRA investment in our 18-month statement savings account earns competitive interest rates (fixed or variable) that compound monthly for effective annual yields higher than those found at almost any other financial institution.

And just for opening an EASY IRA, you earn an extra .25%!

EASY IRA is so easy

Once you tell us how much to deposit and how often, you don't have to call, visit or mail in anything. Your IRA deposits are made for you. And when tax time arrives, you'll have saved enough to get the tax break you deserve.

Stop in or call your nearest Michigan National branch for more information on our new EASY IRA.

IRA's have never been so easy.

Michigan National Bank-West Metro

No EASY IRA transfer will occur without sufficient funds in the designated checking or savings account. Interest and tax penalties apply for early withdrawal prior to age 59 1/2. Members FDIC.

Chargers bounce Rocks from playoff chase again

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Send Livonia Churchill's basketball team to Las Vegas because they're on a roll.

The Chargers trumped Plymouth Salem in their own gym Friday night, 54-51, in a first-round Western Lakes Conference playoff game.

It was the second year in a row in which Churchill has ousted the Rocks. The Chargers will take an 8-10 record into Tuesday's semifinal battle with Livonia Stevenson (16-2).

The right numbers came up for Churchill on several occasions with the clincher being Ken Gendjar's free throw with four seconds left.

"We've been talking about composure at Churchill this season, and I thought we showed it tonight," said the Chargers' coach Don Albertson.

Salem coach Bob Brodie, whose team fell to 10-8 overall, had this assessment: "I think our problem was that too many times we had a lack of intensity. There were loose balls and rebounds to get, but Churchill got them."

THE LEAD changed hands throughout the final quarter.

Churchill's pencil-thin center Mike Hermanson scored 2 of his game-high 19 points with 1:41 to go, putting the Chargers ahead 50-47.

But only 16 seconds later, Bryan Waldron came cold off the bench to hit a short baseline jumper, cutting the margin to 1.

The Rocks then stole the ball and took a short-lived 51-50 lead when LeSean Haygood scored with 51 seconds remaining.

Waldron then fouled Andy Oliver 10 seconds later. The Churchill guard made his first free throw, but missed the second. Hermanson, using all of his lanky 6-foot-5 frame, tipped the rebound to Gendjar, who found himself with an open shot in the lane — bingo — 2 more points for the Chargers.

Salem came down and missed with 29 seconds to play but got the ball right back when Scott Hille was called for an offensive foul after grabbing a missed Oliver foul shot.

THE ROCKS called timeout with 14 seconds to play, but never got a shot off, turning the ball over with 6 seconds remaining.

Churchill was able to get the inbound pass to Gendjar, who was immediately fouled. He made the all-important first shot as Churchill hit the jackpot.

WESTERN LAKES PLAYOFF SCHEDULE

OPENING GAMES
Livonia Churchill (8-10) at Livonia Stevenson (16-2)
Walled Lake Central (10-8) at Farmington Salem (10-8)

CONSOLATION GAMES

Plymouth Salem (10-8) at Plymouth Canton (7-11)
Livonia Bentley (7-10) at Northville (7-11)
Walled Lake Western (2-10) at Farmington (5-10)

"We got good shots, but we have to have those second and third chances," said Brodie. "We had breakdowns and Churchill capitalized."

There were several other key points in the game:

- Guard Mickey Katschor made a shot and was fouled at the buzzer to end of the first quarter, pulling Churchill to within 4 points.

- Hermanson scored with 3 seconds left in the half to give the Chargers a 31-29 advantage at intermission.

- Gendjar dealt Salem another blow at the end of the third quarter when he hit a shot with 3 seconds left, pulling his team to within 2.

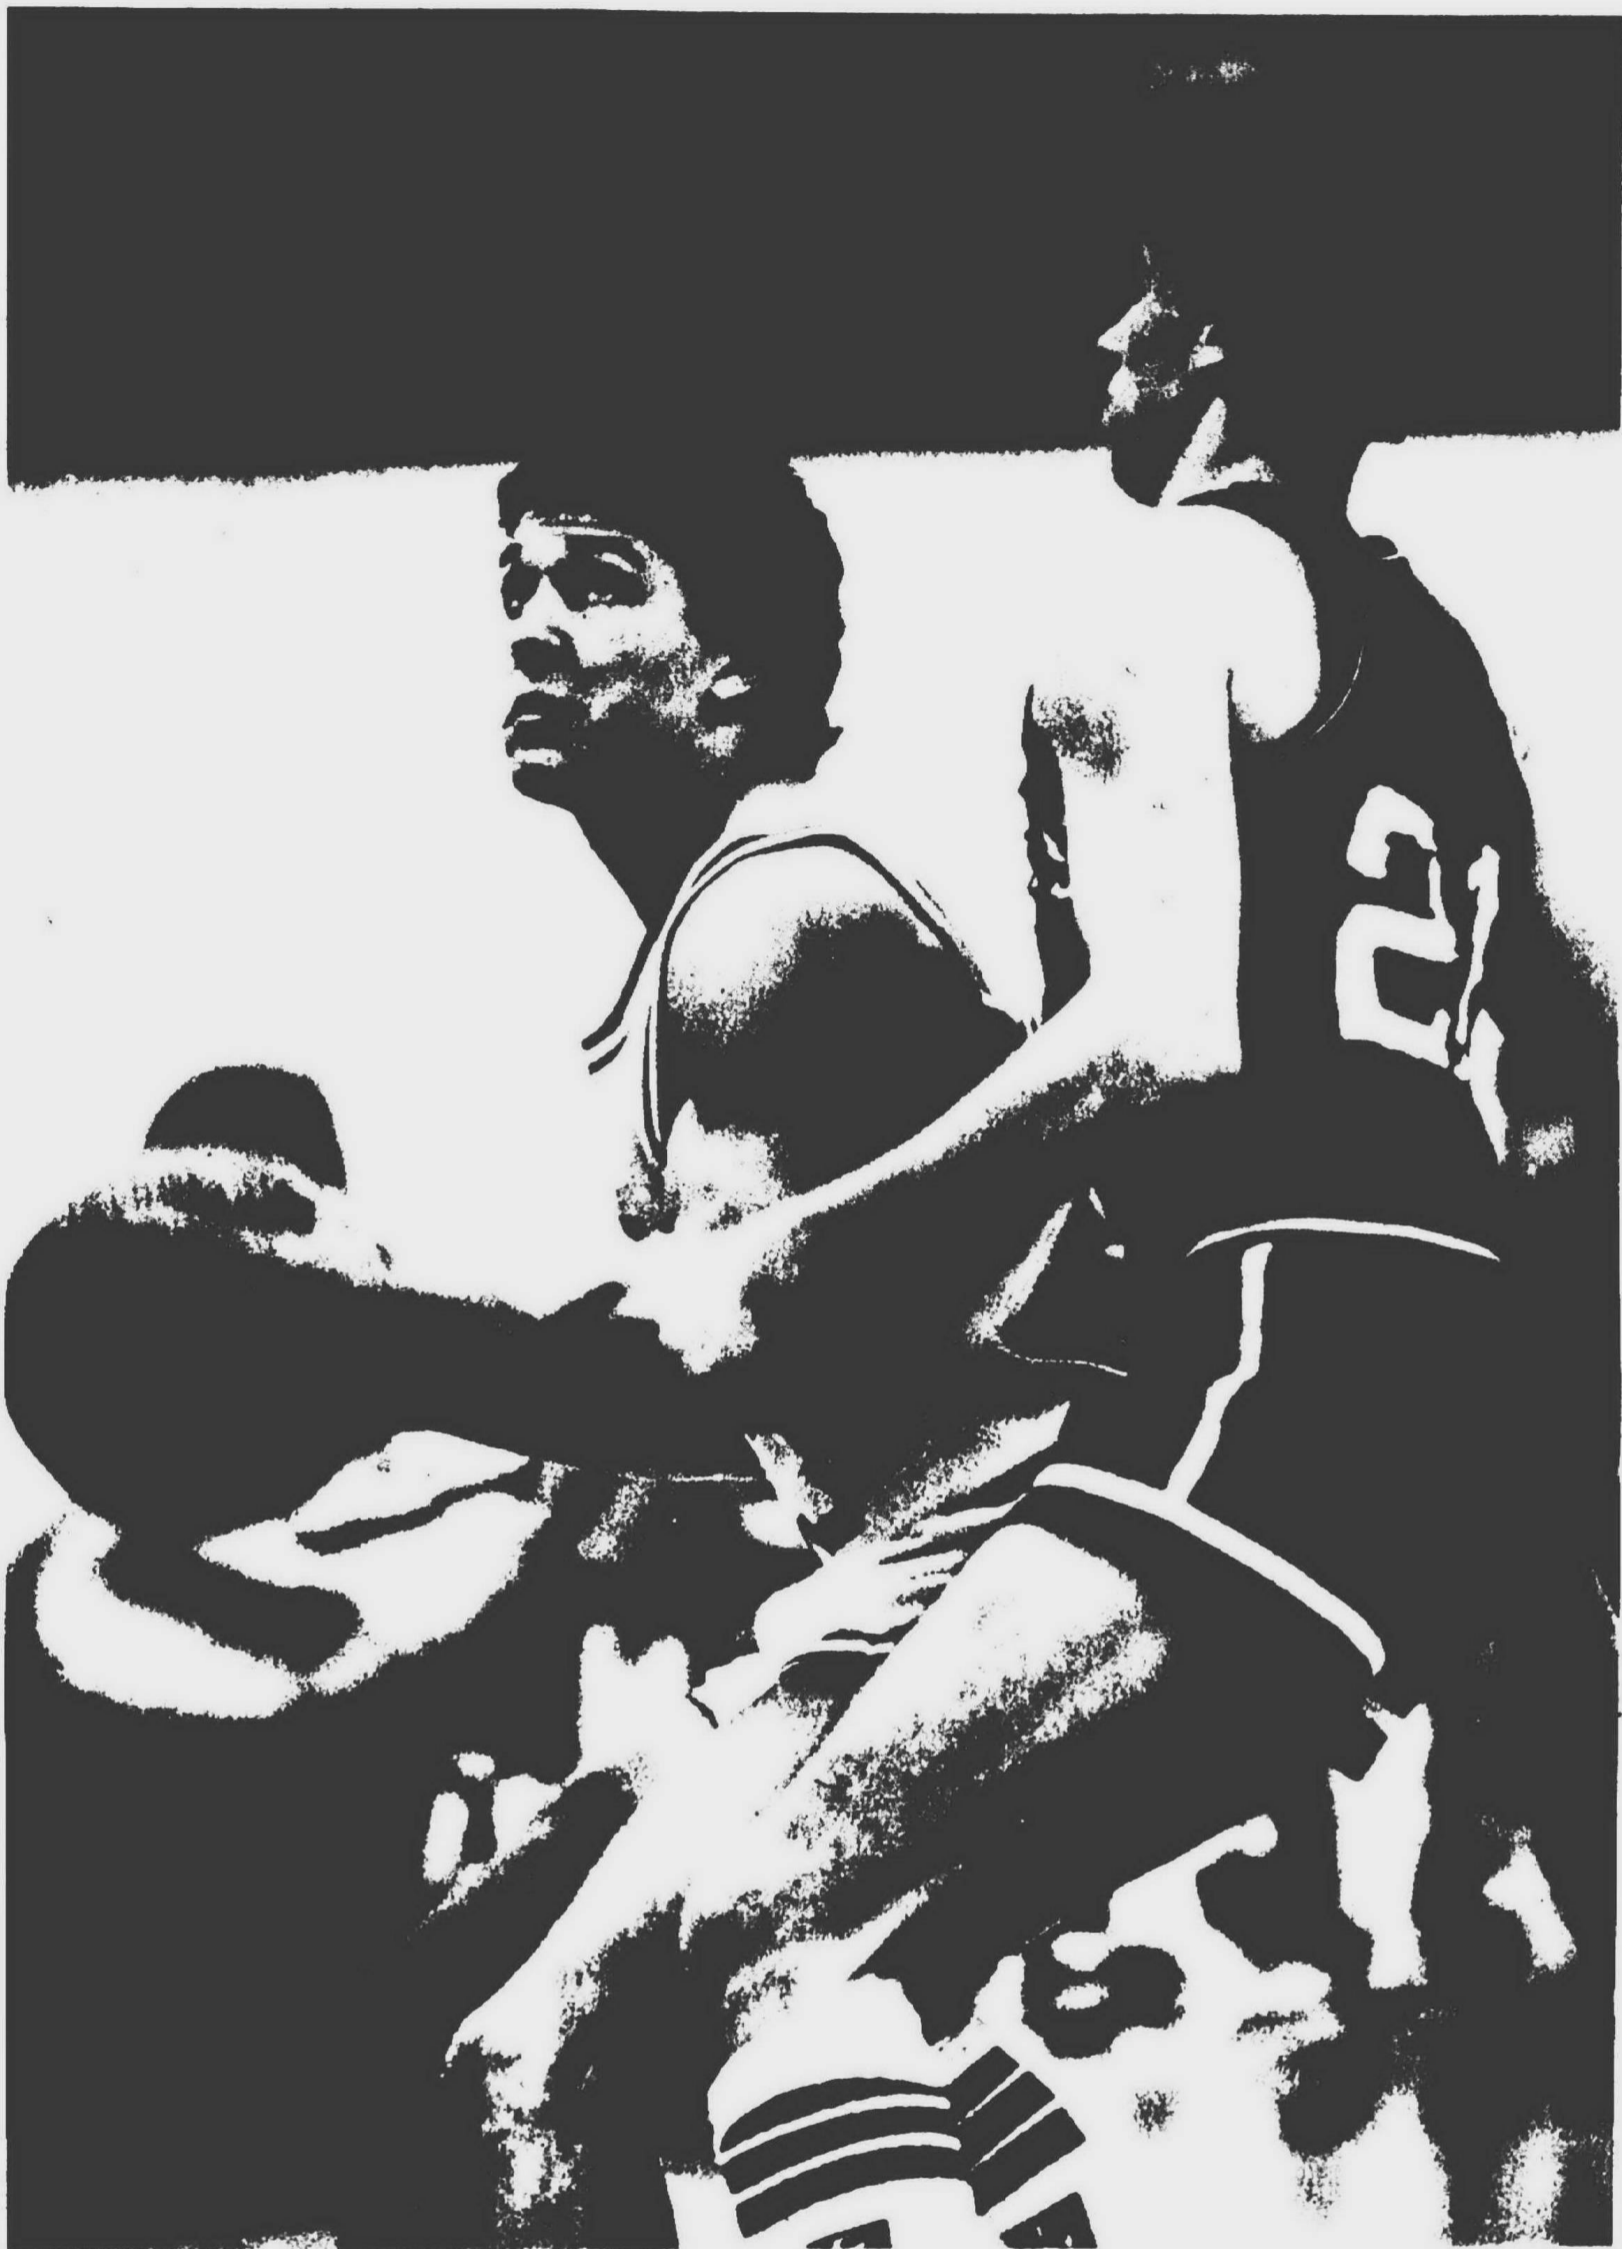

- He also scored a layup to open the fourth quarter and Salem's Mike White was called for a technical foul (slapping the backboard). It turned out to be a 5-point play as Hermanson made good on the foul shot and Hille followed with a basket.

"WE FELT Hermanson could beat LeSean Haygood (Salem's center) speedwise, but we couldn't outmuscle him," Albertson said. "Mike played a whale of a game. When he's one step off the low block, he's deadly with that turnaround jumper."

Hille finished with 12 points and 8 rebounds, while Katschor, the key to running Churchill's offense, finished with 7 points and 10 assists.

White, who got into early foul trouble and sat out a good portion of the second quarter, led Salem with 14 points. Eric Sovine and Haygood added 10 and 9, respectively.

"I'm happy with the way we played," Albertson said. "Winning at Salem is difficult. It was a lot more difficult winning here than it was at Churchill."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Salem junior Paul Makara braces for his jump shot against Churchill Friday night. Unfortunately for the Rocks, not enough of the shots fell.

Central outlasts ex-champ Chiefs

Walled Lake Central knocked off defending Western Lakes League basketball champion Plymouth Canton Friday, 56-45 in a well-played game in Walled Lake.

The visiting Chiefs (5-8 in the league and 7-11 overall) held a slim 13-12 advantage after one period of play, but that was the last time they headed the game. Once again, Canton's shooting was not up to par.

"Both teams played very well," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said. "We got good shots and played good defense. They shot excellently and we didn't. That's what it came down to."

On the defensive end, David Knapp held Central's top scorer Tom Cummings to only 8 points despite playing on a sprained ankle. Chris Owens led the Vikings with 18 points.

Joel Mies paced the Chiefs offensively with 15 points and 7 assists while Jim Schlicker added 12.

Canton was 14 for 21 from the free throw line and Central was 20 for 25.

The Chiefs are slated to host Plymouth Salem Tuesday in a Western Lakes consolation round game. It will be the second meeting between the neighboring rivals. Salem won round one.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN 81, PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN 60: Oakland Christian jumped out to a big first quarter lead and never looked back, sending Plymouth Christian home with a loss.

The Eagles fell behind 23-14 after one period and 48-29 at intermission.

"We couldn't match up with them," Plymouth Christian coach Jeff Cook said. "We didn't get the job done on defense. We couldn't stop them."

Rod Windle topped the Eagles (7-5, 11-7) with 17 points and Pat McCarthy added 15.

Mike Keel led Oakland with 16 points.

The Hawks punished Farmington (8-10) with an aspect of their offense that had been lacking lately — outside shooting. Harrison hit 28 of 47 shots from the field.

"They shot the ball very well," Farmington coach Rich Roy said. "We tried to zone them and (Ken) George and (John) Miller were hitting from the outside. We went to a man and (Vince) Enright and (Mike) Dempsey killed us on the inside."

Western champ Hawks move on in tournament

Farmington Harrison began its quest for the Western Lakes Conference championship in grand fashion Friday night with an impressive 62-49 win over Farmington on the Falcons' home court.

Harrison was crowned champion of the Western Division of the Western Lakes Conference with a 10-3 record. The Hawks are 13-5 overall.

battle this time around.

"I'm a little disappointed," he said. "I thought it would be closer, even though we're not a great scoring team. We haven't been all year."

Dempsey's 15 points paced four Harrison players in double figures. Miller and Enright each added 14 and George chipped in 13 for the winners.

Kyle Mutz topped the Falcons with 13 points and Tony Racka added 11.

Roy said he was pleased with the play of Racka, who started his first game for Farmington.

If the Hawks are to reach their pre-season goal of playing in the WLAA, they will have to survive a stiff semifinal game with Walled Lake Central Tuesday. The last time Central invaded Harrison's gym, the game went into overtime before the Hawks escaped with a win.

Balanced scoring attack guides Lady Ocelot win

The Schoolcraft College women's basketball team whipped Delta College last week 78-56 in the Ocelots' gym.

Prior to the start of the game, it was rumored that Eastern Conference champion Highland Park CC had some ineligible players, putting the Ocelots in the running for first place instead of second.

"It's not the way we wanted to win it, but fair is fair," assistant coach Jack Grennan said. "The girls were really fired up playing for first."

Although Highland Park did have three ineligible players, the Parkers forfeited just three games as Schoolcraft ended up settling for second anyway.

The Lady Ocelots (8-4 in the league and 14-11 overall) played like champs throughout, jumping out to a 19-point halftime advantage, 43-24, and never looking back.

"It was a matter of personal pride, if nothing else," Grennan said of the win. "We played very well as a team." Missy Aiken paced five Schoolcraft players in double figures with 19 points. Kim Chandler scored 17, Caryn Lamb had 16 and Sherry Evans added 10.

Schoolcraft sports

The Lady Ocelots return to action at 6 p.m. Tuesday against Grand Rapids JC in a state tournament game at Glen Oaks.

DELTA 88, SCHOOLCRAFT MEN 79: The Ocelot men's squad didn't fare as well last week, losing at home to Delta.

Delta (8-8, 18-9) led by 10 at intermission, 42-32. Schoolcraft (3-11, 10-19) was never in control.

James Orr led Schoolcraft with 17 points. Teammate Tony Randle pumped in 16 and had 5 steals. Harold Martin (11), Curt Ullstrom (10) and Clarence Jones (10) were also in double figures for the Ocelots.

Canton's swimmers dunked at Northville

Don't expect the Livonia Churchill swim team to send roses to Plymouth Canton any time soon.

Churchill was hoping the Chiefs could upset Northville Thursday which would have given Churchill a share of the Western Lakes Western Division title.

Instead, Northville, in its 5-lane pool, whipped the Chiefs 52-28 and clinched the Western title outright.

Canton could muster just two firsts in the meet. Andy Flower won the diving competition with 244.6 points and Jim Casler took the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:09.1.

The Chiefs end their dual meet season with a 6-7 record.

Temple reaches end of line

By Scott Adler
staff writer

Unlike some who enjoy wonderful feasts at dinnertime, Kathy Temple knows when she's had her fill.

After three sterling years of gymnastics at North Farmington High School and four more years of outstanding achievements at Ohio State University, Temple is ready to hang up her performing tights and leave the world of celebrity behind her.

"It's going to feel great to graduate," said Temple, who turns 22 in March. "I am definitely ready."

With such enthusiasm for leaving you'd think she didn't enjoy the four-hour practices and the pressure of big-time college athletics.

"It was kind of rough my freshman year," she said. "The workouts were very time consuming, but I think it helped me do my homework. I didn't have much time to waste."

So were the years of hard work not worthwhile? No way, says Temple. Now that her tremendous gymnastics achievements are almost over, it's nice to relax and reflect while the taste of success is still sweet.

Even though Temple may not go on to the Olympics or open her own club, Mary Glitz, Temple's high school coach, still sees the 1981 graduate as the finest gymnast she's ever coached.

people in sports

And Glitz has coached her share of outstanding gymnasts in her tenure at North Farmington including Dona Kebrle, Sharon Shiffra and Kim Edwards.

"She was the best I've ever coached," Glitz said. "Kathy was very easy to coach. She was always all for the team. She was a real pleasure."

TEMPLE LED her North Farmington team to the state tournament during her senior year. In fact, it was her final vault that clinched the championship for the Raiders.

To make the event even more special to Temple, it was her 18th birthday.

"Kathy just wrote me recently and in her letter she talked about winning the championship," said Glitz. "She said it was the best day of her life."

That may have been the best day of her life, but there have certainly been some other outstanding days for Temple.

As a freshman she was the first OSU female gymnast ever named to the All-American team. She missed that honor by one point her sophomore year.

Like the finest cream, Temple rises to the top among her competitors. She is quick to point out, however, that her collegiate competition has been tough but educational.

"The level of competition is much higher," she said. "The team concept is a lot the same, but the pressures and the practices are more intense. I also think there are more personal goals involved."

"But the discipline is the biggest thing. I learned a lot from that, and I learned a lot from my teammates."

Temple also enjoyed traveling around the country and dealing with the many people a college athlete has to deal with.

"It made me grow up a lot faster," she said.

What could Temple do in the future that could compare with such a stellar past?

"My ultimate dream would be to write for a gymnastics magazine," the journalism major said. "I don't think I'll coach, but if I did it would have to be at the college level because I don't think I could work with anyone who wasn't really serious about this, because that's the way I am."

As for Temple's accomplishments, she is very proud of her academics as well as her athletics.

"I'm proud that I'll graduate on time and that I've kept my grades up," she said. "I'm also proud that I've improved every year in my performances."

The 'Oakland' Raiders revisited

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

IF EVER THERE was a man qualified to start a semiprofessional football team, it's Chuck Van Robays. He's spent enough time doing battle on minor league gridirons to draw veteran's pay.

Van Robays, a former assistant football coach at Rochester Adams and minor league player from 1968-1976, is spearheading a venture for adventure which he hopes will result in exciting football in Oakland County. He is managing partner of the Oakland County Raiders, a semipro team which will make its debut in the Northern States Football League (NSFL) this August.

His excitement is manifested in the team's motto: "We Play for Adventure."

There's still some wrinkles to be worked out, but come August, Oakland County will be represented in the league along with Grand Rapids, Racine, Wis., Lincolnwood, Ill.; Janesville, Wis., Indianapolis, Ind., and Gary, Ind. There's a possibility the league will approve more new franchises in addition to the Raiders.

THE OAKLAND County Raiders, whose decor will bear a striking resemblance to the Los Angeles Raiders of the NFL, have their office based in Rochester, although the team will play in Pontiac. Van Robays announced last week the team will play five home games at Wisner Stadium and one at the Pontiac Silverdome. A practice site has yet to be determined.

Van Robays also announced Robert "Turf" Kauffman will be the head coach of the Raiders. A coaching staff of three assistants has yet to be appointed. One possible candidate is Joe Zelmanski, former head coach at Adams.

The groundwork has been set, but there's still plenty to keep Van Robays busy. He's managing partner with Dr. Richard Klein and Dr. Thomas Chwierut, but putting the operation together is Van Robays' department.

"I've always been interested in putting a team together, it's just that the climate wasn't right," said the former Adams assistant, who played minor league football with the defunct Pontiac Arrows and Pontiac Firebirds. "When the Michigan Panthers left (and merged with the Oakland Invaders in the United States Football League), I thought the timing was perfect. We applied to the NSFL and our franchise was voted in."

Van Robays received the formal nod of approval Jan. 6 at the monthly league meeting in Chicago. Now, everything is full speed ahead, which is the only rate possible in order to field a team for the fall schedule.

"We've had 70-80 calls already from possible players," Van Robays said. "We have 8-10 people with the right credentials who have signed letters of intent."

THE RAIDERS will have a free agent-type camp in the spring. Van Robays also talked about "hospitality houses" at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University, where prospective players can see what the Raiders are all about.

"We plan to put out a good team. We have to if we want to compete in this league," he said, adding the NSFL is the best minor league around. "If we don't, we'll be on the short end of a lot of big scores."

With the Panthers moving to Oakland, Calif., Van Robays would like to get some of the players left behind. There won't be a Doug Flutie among them, but Van Robays hopes to find some name players. "Maybe we can pick up some of the backlash (from the Panthers)," he said. "We won't be of that caliber, but we won't be that far off. There won't be any $7 million players, though, that's for sure."

No, the salaries are more like $2,000-3,000. He calls it a "working man's league," certainly because players need other work to support themselves. So, why would anyone be interested in playing semipro football when the chance of making the big league is about as likely as hitting the Lotto when you only play five numbers?

"We'll get the kids who only played high school football and haven't yet got football out of their system," Van Robays said. "Some will make it. A majority of the players will be those who haven't quite made it in the NFL or USFL. The players who need more seasoning. We're going to need those types of players to compete."

FOR A FEW - albeit very few - the NSFL can be a step toward the big time. That player would have to be a longshot, not unlike Hall of Famer Johnny Unitas, who was cut by the Pittsburgh Steelers, played sandlot ball and eventually latched on with the Baltimore Colts where he rewrote the NFL passing records.

"We (NSFL) have a contract with the NFL and the USFL," Van Robays said. "They can bring one of our players up at anytime. We have very close ties with both leagues."

Van Robays knows what he's up against the first year. The Panthers' brief history is enough for a quick education in the study of selling a football team. Even during a championship season, the Silverdome wasn't packed with spectators.

"We're not fools," he said. "We know there's not a million people out there who want to see minor league football. We're working with corporate sponsors with hopes of selling blocks of tickets for distribution. Hopefully, we can break even the first year, and next year, maybe make a profit."

Promotions will have to play a part if the Raiders expect to draw big crowds. The game at the Silverdome - either Sept. 21 or 28 - will feature an automobile giveaway to the spectator who is credited with breaking the league attendance record for one game, which, Van Robays said, is "22,000 something."

ALL THE home games will be followed by a concert afterward. After the game at the Silverdome, the concert performers will be headliners, depending on who's in the area at the time.

Van Robays said tickets for games at Wisner will be $5 (adults) and $3 (children). Season tickets are $25.

There's still plenty of time to latch on to season tickets. "We've sold two already," Van Robays said with a smile.

Rafail scores 9s but Rocks tumble

Beth Rafail had perhaps the finest moment of her brief gymnastics career Thursday night, but couldn't prevent Plymouth Salem's third consecutive loss, a 126.8-121.45 setback to Walled Lake Western.

Salem lost to Dearborn Edsel Ford and North Farmington the previous week.

Rafail established three Salem records Thursday night, breaking her own mark each time. She scored 9.0 on balance beam, a new mark, which tied Western's Barrie Muzbeck, a world-class gymnast, for first place. She also notched a 9.05 on her floor exercise, which placed second to Muzbeck's 9.65.

Those two scores, plus Rafail's 34.50 all-around score, are Salem records. "It was Beth's night all the way," said Salem coach Kathi Kinsella. "I'm really proud. Two 9s in one meet, we've never done that before."

And Rafail's performance came during a crisis point in the Rocks' season. After 9 straight victories, the Rocks have suddenly misplaced their winning formula. To make matters worse, their top scorer, Jackie Huff, had to withdraw from competition after two events Thursday because of a bad ankle.

"I DON'T think the girls are too upset about losing," Kinsella said. "We just can't compete with Western without Jackie. And Jackie feels terrible about it. She really wanted to compete against Barrie (Muzbeck)."

To illustrate how valuable Huff is to the Rocks, Western led by just .06 when Huff withdrew. Without Huff on the balance beam and floor exercise, Western outscored Salem by 5 points.

Muzbeck, who is a strong contender to make the U.S. Olympic team in 1988, earned first-place points in every event. She scored 9.4 on vault, 9.65 on uneven bars, 9.0 on beam and 9.65 on floor. Her all-around score was a 37.5.

Rafail, besides the 9.0 beam and 9.05 floor, scored an 8.65 on vault (second place) and a 7.8 on bars (second).

Before leaving, Huff placed third on vault (8.3) and fifth on bars (7.3).

Sara Michalik placed third on bars (7.7) and Sharon Way clipped in a fifth on beam (6.9) for the Rocks. Dede Flynn garnered sixth on floor (7.4).

"We really have a lot of work to do before the league meet (set for March 2 at North Farmington)," Kinsella said. "Right now, we've lost to Western and to North and we barely got by Farmington Harrison. So, we could finish fourth in the league and that's where we were last year. I'd like to think we are a much better team than we were last year."

Salem is 9-3.

CEP spikers in Ypsi district

The goal is to play volleyball on Saturday, March 16, at East Kentwood High School.

To do that, area high school volleyball teams have to survive pre-district, district and regional tournaments. It's volleyball's own version of March Madness.

It's no easy road, but several Observerland teams, namely Livonia Stevenson, Bishop Borgess, Garden City and North Farmington, have a good chance to survive.

The pre-district matches will be played throughout the state this week with the districts taking place Saturday, March 2. Here's a look at where the Observerland teams will be stationed.

CLASS A

AT YPSILANTE: Plymouth Salem, Plymouth Canton, Wayne Memorial

and Westland John Glenn. Others: Adrian, Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Belleville, Romulus and Ypsilanti. (Winner advances to regional tournament at Wayne Memorial vs. winner of Dearborn Fordson district.)

AT DEARBORN FORDSON: Garden City. Others: Dearborn, Edsel Ford, Fordson, Detroit Chadsey, Detroit Cody, Detroit Mackenzie, Detroit Northwestern, Detroit Southwestern and Detroit Western. (Winner advances to regional tournament at Wayne Memorial vs. winner of Ypsilanti district.)

AT BISHOP BORGESS: Farmington, Farmington Hills Mercy, Livonia Bentley, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Stevenson, Bishop Borgess and Redford Union. Others: Detroit Cooley, Detroit Henry Ford, Detroit Redford and Southfield.

AT BIRMINGHAM GROVES: Farmington Harrison. Others: Berkeley, Birmingham Groves, Birmingham Marian, Birmingham Seaholm, Bloomfield Hills Andover, Bloomfield Hills Lahser, Southfield-Lathrup, Royal Oak Dondero, Royal Oak Kimball, Troy Athens and Troy. (Winner advances to regional tournament at Flint Carman vs. winner of Carman district.)

AT MILFORD LAKELAND: North Farmington. Others: Brighton,

CLASS B

AT BISHOP FOLEY: Clarenceville, Livonia Ladywood and Redford Thurston. Others: Avondale, Bloomfield Hills Kingswood, Clawson, Detroit Benedictine, Detroit Renaissance, Bishop Foley, Madison Heights Lamphere and Royal Oak Shrine. (Winner advances to regional tournament at Allen Park vs. winner of Monroe Jefferson district.)

Semifinal and championship matches for Class A winners will take place at East Kentwood. Kellogg High School will host the Class B semifinals and championship.

Teeters gets S'craft job

Tom Teeters, head volleyball coach at Garden City High School for the last three years, was recently named the varsity volleyball coach at Schoolcraft College.

He will retain his coaching position at Garden City. The Cougars are Northwest Suburban League champs and sport a 35-6 overall mark this season.

This marks the second time around for Teeters, who coached the Ocelots during the 1977-78 campaigns.

Schoolcraft won the conference championship last year and has three returning lettermen.

"I'M HOPING to pick up some Garden City and North Farmington players," Teeters said. "Livonia Franklin has some good players, too."

Teeters said his goal is to take the Ocelots to the national tournament in Florida and recruiting is the key.

"Each year has to be a good year recruiting," he said. "It's more important for a two-year school than four-year schools. Every year is important for recruiting because there are no rebuilding years with a community college."

Teeters also coached at Wayne State University for two years, Livonia Clarenceville (seven years and a state Class B championship), Farmington Hills Mercy (one year).

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH
OF PUBLIC HEARING

TO CONSIDER APPROVAL OF A PROJECT PLAN AND THE ISSUANCE OF THE BONDS PROPOSED THEREIN AS SUBMITTED TO THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH BY THE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH FOR MASSULLO PROJECT

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Act 338 of the Public Acts of Michigan of 1974, as amended, The Economic Development Corporation of the City of Plymouth has submitted a project plan to the City Commission for its approval. Said project plan deals with the renovation, rehabilitation and equipping of 21,000 square feet of an approximately 34,000 square foot office and light industrial building to be owned and used by Edmund A. Massullo and Ann Marie Massullo and to be located on a project area or site described as follows:

Land is the City of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, described as: That part of the West half of Section 25, Town 1 South, Range 8 East, City of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, described as beginning at a point, said point being South 88 degrees 21 minutes 00 seconds East, 80.00 feet and North 01 degree 39 minutes 00 seconds East, 172.77 feet from the West quarter corner of said Section 25; thence North 01 degree 39 minutes 00 seconds East, 442.12 feet; thence South 73 degrees 17 minutes 40 seconds East, 414.23 feet; thence South 01 degree 39 minutes 00 seconds West, 334.73 feet; thence North 88 degrees 21 minutes 00 seconds West, 400.00 feet to the point of beginning. Subject to the rights of the public and of any governmental unit in any part thereof taken, used or dedicated for street, road or highway purposes.

The street address of the facility is 800 Plymouth Road.

Said project plan details all information required by law relative to said project and its impact on the community. No persons will be displaced from the project area as a result of this project. Said project plan also proposes the issuance of revenue bonds by said Economic Development Corporation in a maximum principal amount not to exceed $750,000 to assist in the financing of said project.

The City Commission will meet at 7:00 o'clock, p.m., Monday, the 18th day of March, 1985, at the City Hall located at 201 South Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan, and will conduct a public hearing.

The public hearing shall consider the advisability of the City Commission approving, modifying or rejecting by resolution said project plan and the issuance of bonds as proposed therein.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Sections 10 and 17 of Act 338, Public Acts of Michigan, 1974, as amended. The project plan and relevant maps or plats are available for inspection at the City Clerk's office.

All interested citizens are encouraged and will be offered an opportunity at said hearing to address the City Commission concerning said project, said project plan, and the bonds proposed to be issued. Written comments may also be submitted to the City Clerk prior to said hearing.

GORDON G. LIMBURG,
City Clerk

Edna Spaulding (Sally Field) is a young widow who tries to harvest a cotton crop on the family farm in "Places in the Heart."

the movies

Dan Greenberg

1 of '84's best is up-for-7-Oscars film about farmlands

"Places in the Heart" premiered last fall and is currently playing in a number of neighborhood houses for good reason — it has seven Oscar nominations and a lot of good qualities.

Nominations include Best Picture, Director, Actress, Original Screenplay, Supporting Actress, Supporting Actor and Costume Design.

That ties "Places" for second place in the nomination sweepstakes with "The Killing Fields." First place was also a tie at 11 for "Passage to India" and "Amadeus."

It may make it difficult for balloting, but it's the viewers' good fortune that 1984 premiered so many fine films.

"Places in the Heart" stars Sally Field as Edna Spaulding, a spunky woman with two truly charming children, Frank (Yankton Hatten) and Possum (Gennie James). Her husband is Sheriff of Waxahachie, Texas.

THE TIME IS 1935 A drunken black youth accidentally kills Sheriff Spaulding shortly after the film opens. To the movie's credit, it deals realistically but sensitively with the implications of that situation, Southern attitudes in the '30s and Ku Klux Klan activities.

The film's realism extends to its music and decor, in fact to every facet, and quite appropriately "Places" received the Oscar nomination for Best Costume Design. The clothes, hats and hairstyles all carry distilled essence of the Depression. The cars, faces and even facial expressions (obviously that goes well beyond costume and make-up design) carry the exact flavor of the '30s.

Faced with her catastrophic early widowhood, Edna determines to keep her family and farm in spite of the quick moves of banker Albert Denby (Lane Smith) to force her sale of the property.

Almost endless complications ensue, and to the film's credit potentially soapy and maudlin melodrama is avoided. The characters are sufficiently real and restrained so that we get interested in their tribulations, which are the trials of real people who mean something. For good reason, then, the nominations for Best Director and Screenplay.

Edna's sister Margaret Lomax (Lindsay Crouse — Best Supporting Actress nominee) is married to a handsome but unfaithful fellow, Wayne (Ed Harris). Viola Kelsey (Amy Madigan) and her husband, Bud (Terry O'Quinn), are good friends of Marge and Wayne which creates tension in their relationships and an effective counterpoint to Edna Spaulding's struggle.

MEANWHILE, BACK at the farm where, even though it may not seem like it, the major action of the film is under way. Banker Denby forces his blind brother-in-law, Mr. Will (Best Supporting Actor nominee John Malkovich) on Edna as a roomer. That turns out to be one of Edna's lesser problems as she struggles to save the farm.

Her agricultural and survival inspiration come from a kindly and clever black drifter, Moze (Danny Glover), who takes on a pretty heroic stature, exceeded only by Edna. They strive to save the farm by harvesting cotton and selling it to Mr. Simmons (Jay Patterson), a pretty nasty fellow in his own right, down at the cotton gin.

All this may sound pretty trite and soapy on the surface. What saves the whole enterprise from maudlin sentimentality is the good grace, restraint and effective realism of the production.

At film's end, the director slips from his 90 minutes of carefully constructed emotional and physical realism, but by then a fine film is under the belt, and it's hard to spoil "Places in the Heart" at that late date.

Wayne Lomax (Ed Harris) and Viola Kelsey (Amy Madigan), who are both married to other spouses, have an affair.

Tasters test fine French wines

Of all the world's greatest winegrowing regions (the two Cotes, Tuscany, the Rheingau, Napa County and the Champagne region among them) none can lay claim to being the home of three of the five First Growths of Bordeaux except Pauillac.

For that reason alone it must be considered as at least one of the very finest of all. It not only claims its three Premier Crus in its Mouton, Lafite and Latour, it also has two excellent Pichon Second Growths, a Fourth and a string of esteemed Fifth Growths, some of them considered the equal of many more highly classified wines.

All of this classification system is the one established in 1855, one that is with few exceptions still in place even today some 130 years later. That is tradition!

Surrounded by St. Estephe and St. Julien, the three regions produce an abundance of some of the world's greatest red wines from the cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc grapes grown there. While other close-by regions claim their stars (St. Emilion its Chateau Ausone, Graves its Haut Brion, Pomerol its Petrus and Margaux its Chateau Margaux) only in Pauillac is the density of prestigious producers so great. This is the Home of the First Growths.

A LOCAL GROUP of 44 people, winetasters all, recently gathered to sample a cross-section of the wines of Pauillac. The selection was based not only on the strength of the wineries (chateaus) but also on different vintages. Availability also played a part in the choices, the older vintages of these wines rarely leave the private cellars in which they rest so splendidly.

Older vintages of First Growths easily cost in excess of $100 a bottle, sometimes much more. More recent vintages can cost $50, while recent issues of Fifth Growths rarely exceed $20 the bottle. Clearly some judgment had to be exercised if the assembly was to sample both age and prestige.

The evening was rather a bended-knee affair.

Selected for the evening were four wines representing the three First Growths of the region: 1955 and 1971 Latour, 1970 Lafite and 1975 Mouton; one of both of the Second Growths, the 1980 Pichon Lalande and the 1979 Pichon Longueville.

The 1978 Duhart-Milon-Rothschild, the only Fourth Growth from Pauillac, was served, and the rest of the wines were Fifth Growths: 1981 Haut Batailley, 1970 Grand Puy Lacoste and 1976 Haut Bages Liberal. The wines were wine

drunk blind and were evaluated by the collective assembly using a 9-point scale.

The results were interesting. Tradition, price, vintages and more were there to be seen and judged. If the 1855 Classification system were to hold, the Fifth Growths should be clearly exceeded by the Firsts, all of them, and the mid-Growths should end up somewhere in the middle of the pack.

TO A GREAT extent, with two exceptions, form held. Following is a ranked listing, with mean score values for each wine:

- 1970 Lafite (7.18)
- 1976 Haut Bages (7.03)
- 1955 Latour (6.85)
- 1975 Mouton (6.78)
- 1980 Pichon Lalande (6.75)
- 1971 Latour (6.70)

- 1981 Haut Batailley (6.58)
- 1970 Puy Lacoste (6.23)
- 1979 Pichon Longueville (6.18)
- 1978 Duhart-Milon (6.00)

First comments must be on the scores themselves. On a 9-point scale and using 10 wines, it is most unusual for a last-place wine to have a mean score as high as a 6. That can easily be a winning score in some competitions. And 7.18 as a winner is almost unprecedented. The evening was clearly a tribute to Pauillac.

Only the Haut Bages and the Pichon Longueville were out of expected order, and it was amazing that the 1955 Latour fared as well as it did: Its durability and grace earned several first-place votes. It's too bad people don't age that gracefully in a like number of years.

what's at the movies

AMADEUS (PG). Superb rendition of Mozart's life with Tom Hulce and F. Murray Abraham. Directed by Milos Forman.

BEVERLY HILLS COP (R). Eddie Murphy is funny, but Detroit comes off second best in this cop show.

BIZET'S CARMEN (PG). Lush, sensuous rendition of Bizet's opera. Stars Placido Domingo and Julia Migenes-Johnson. Visually rewarding experience.

BROTHER FROM ANOTHER PLANET (Unrated but probably PG-13). Humorous and clever, as black extraterrestrial slave escapes and lands in Harlem. Marred by murky conclusion.

FANTASIA (G). Walt Disney's animated classic featuring a new digitally re-recorded Dolby stereophonic soundtrack.

FLAMINGO KID (PG-13). High school graduate's summer vacation before college. A very busy summer, with Matt Dillon, Richard Crenna and Jessica Walter.

HEAVEN HELP US (R). Rebellious students in strict Catholic High School, starring Kevin Dillon, Andrew McCarthy and Donald Sutherland.

THE KILLING FIELDS (R). Must-see, intense story of brotherhood amidst the horrors of war in Cambodia, based on Pulitzer-Prize-winning article by New York Times correspondent Sydney Schanberg.

Win 2 Red Wing tickets

Just send your name and address, including your zip code, on a post card addressed to:

RED WING TICKETS
Observer & Eccentric

3625 1 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, MI 48150

We'll pick names for winners from your entries. Catch exciting Detroit Red Wings Hockey at Joe Louis Arena and watch your hometown newspaper Classified section, because that's where the winners' names will appear.

If you find your name, call 591-2300, extension 244, and claim your tickets. It's as easy as that! Monday winners must call by 5 p.m. Tuesday. Thursday winners must call by 5 p.m. Friday.

Tickets will be sent to winners through the mail well in advance of the game. (Sorry, no date substitutions)
