He is risen!

Detail from a stained glass window in the chapel of St. John Seminary at Five Mile and Sheldon in Plymouth Township depicts Christ's resurrection. Plymouth-Canton area Christians began a week of Easter observances yesterday, which lead to the remembrance of Christ's death on the cross and celebration of his victory over the grave three days later.

SIDE EFFECTS OF ARTHRITIS MEDICATION

In the treatment of arthritis, any drug capable of doing great good, is also capable of doing much harm.

For example, medications taken to stop inflammation in the joints can cause stomach irritation and possible gastric ulcers. The reason is, that by some trick of nature, the same chemical the body uses to preserve the stomach lining is the source of joint lining inflammation. Therefore a serious attack on joint pain brings on a risk of stomach pain or ulcer. In rheumatoid arthritis, therapy with gold compounds offers the promise of control of joint pain and swelling and carries the possibility of kidney damage and bone marrow poisoning.

The physician has to explain the possible risks of medications and be certain that the patient understands the measures to be used to safeguard against these risks. The patient should inform the physician of any past reactions to medications, or of any present stomach, liver, kidney or skin problems. This exchange of information will provide a rational basis for initiating drug therapy and undertaking ongoing drug surveillance.

New winery opens on Zug Island

Time for wine news from Michigan where all the women winemakers are strong, the men winemakers good-looking and the wines all above average.

It must be reported that Bronco Nerd has left the Kalkaska Mountain Winery that he founded back in 1981. Thus far there is no news of the status of the new ownership there, the one phone line into Kalkaska having been busy for the last few weeks. It is known, however, that Bronco took the hand wine press with him last summer when he left and that no 1984 releases from KMW have appeared recently.

His newest adventure is now the Zug Island Wineworks which he began last June. He arrived in time to harvest some local, native grapes that grow in profusion on the island and vinified his 1984 crush under the name Green Wine, carrying a 1984 vintage date.

Some of this was released in late March, obviously aimed at the St. Patrick's Day crowd. That he missed by a couple of weeks he attributed to a faulty calendar on his desk as well as mammoth amounts of ice still in the Detroit River at that time.

THAT FIRST cuvee, a particularly attractive green color, was finished in bottles with corks. The next release will have screw tops and his plans call for marketing it in the East Lansing area. "A really good area and market for this wine during final exams," Bronco noted, remembering his time there when he studied fertilization methodology while playing a most violent kind of football.

"Hey, is Daryl still coaching there?" he asked nostalgically. I told him that I didn't know. It was simply bad luck that most of the bottles he had to use were a dark brown. He was dependent on what the repressing plant took in that day.

Bronco's plans at Zug Island are impressive. He took with him some stock of both concord and cabernet franc, which should soon be bearing. He hopes to blend these to reproduce his Cosmopolitan Red from former days, thereby filling out his line nicely. Plans to name it "Rouge" after the city the winery is in were abandoned as too high-toned for both the Irish and the East Lansing crowd. He now hopes to combine a bottle of the green and a bottle of the red into a Christmas gift package in some special boxes he has.

The four vines of Isabella on the island will soon be torn out and grafted over to Niagara. "I plan to take another course at MSU to learn how to do this some time," he reported.

"I aim my wines at two crowds," he revealed to me recently. "The wine

people who drink Ripple will really like my green wine and them that likes Lafite will see that they don't have to pay those big prices to get a really good, fresh wine." At $1.69 a bottle, his wines are fairly priced. Some say appropriately as well.

THE GROWING conditions on Zug Island are, he judges, excellent for about any grape he wants to plant. Tempered by the benevolent breezes of the Detroit River, there will be little danger of summer frost there. "And the chemicals in the water really help, too. When they get to bubbling they let out a lot of hot air that really helps the grapes ripen. It doesn't smell so good sometimes but that don't hurt the grapes none," this wise winemaker said. "I think the French would call this 'gout de mere,' or something like that."

Bronco has had a new label designed specifically for his green wine and it is memorable. It features a gray background ("for the skies above Zug") and soft green ink with a representation of the MSC Chimney belching out smoke. "It kind of reflects our city setting and still brings back memories of my college days," he noted cheerfully.

Plans call for opening a tasting room, perhaps as soon as next winter "when the river freezes over real good and the customers can walk out." The original plans for the winery did not anticipate the public clamor to visit that is hoped for, else Bronco might have chosen a site with a bridge.

I asked him about the challenge of growing grapes on a flatland instead of the mountainous region he had experienced at Kalkaska Mountain. He laughed at my innocence. "Why, growing grapes is growing grapes, wherever you do it. It don't make no difference," he chided. In that Bronco exploded one of the major myths of the world's viticulture.

In case you haven't guessed, April Fool!

Mia Farrow is a Depression-era housewife, who finds herself in the arms of her silver-screen idol, Jeff Daniels, when he steps out of the movie in "The Purple Rose of Cairo."

Housewife's fantasy becomes real lover, in delightful comedy

Woody Allen's "The Purple Rose of Cairo" is a warm, witty, intelligent, happy movie. See it, you'll like it.

Chief among its characteristics, "The Purple Rose of Cairo" presents a complex subject—what is real?—in terms of people, not in terms of ideas. Those people are so alive and appealing that the ideas spring to life and meaning.

Cecilia (Mia Farrow) lives in a run-down, Depression-era factory town. Her husband, Monk (Danny Aiello), is the quintessential slob who abuses his wife to mask his own fear and insecurity. Cecilia and her sister (Stephanie Farrow) are waitresses. Needless to say, their drab lives are brightened by the movies. In particular, Cecilia spends every possible moment escaping into the movies, until the movies escape into her life.

"The Purple Rose of Cairo" (a film within the film with the same title) is playing at the Jewel when "The Purple Rose of Cairo" (the film we're watching) opens. Cecilia sees it five times in a row, and the passion of her attention attracts one of the characters, Tom Baxter (Jeff Daniels), who leaves the film and falls in love with her.

NATURALLY, THAT complicates matters because (1) Cecilia is already married to a jealous slob and (2) the movie on the screen at the Jewel can't go on until Tom Baxter returns to his role. All the other characters have to wait around until Tom returns so they can finish the story.

One thing leads to another and pretty soon the Hollywood moguls are involved trying to avoid scandals and fearing the worst. Every Tom Baxter is going to leave every print of "The Purple Rose of Cairo" and run around the countryside raping and looting, or whatever other evil the moguls recognize in themselves.

Pressure is applied to Gil Shepherd (Jeff Daniels in a dual role) as the actor who played Tom Baxter. Gil must go and convince Tom to return to the film or that's the end of Gil's rising career.

While this piece of the scenario may seem complicated, to writer-director Allen's great credit a philosophic question is handled in such a humane way that the story is very entertaining.

There have been many films dealing with the nature of reality, particularly films about filmmaking, with films within films, but none has been so clear in discussing the issue of whether the movies are more real than life or whether the imaginary worlds of the movies have more meaning.

ALLEN'S SCREENPLAY is simple and direct in language and character. The jobs at human flaws apparently are without malice. The laughter evoked is refreshing.

Allen's direction is also straightforward, at least in its result. No doubt it was difficult to achieve such naturalistic effects.

The cast works so well in confusing situations. Jeff Daniels' dual role and the cast of the film within the film, one moment playing its film roles (a silly white telephone fantasy of the '30s) and the next playing disgruntled, bored actors and actresses who want to get on with it.

Greatest plaudits must be reserved for Mia Farrow and Jeff Daniels, all three of them. Farrow's wide-eyed excitement and enthusiasm for the movies and the movie people is as charming and believable as one could imagine.

With rare sensitivity, Daniels plays the undimensional screen character, Baxter, who learns how to be a real person. At the same time, Daniels must mature as rising Hollywood actor Shepherd and come to grips with a very different, non-Hollywood studio environment.

The entire company does such a marvelous job that "The Purple Rose of Cairo" is the best.

Danny Aiello is her real-life husband, who terrorizes her and makes her want to seek escape into another world.

4th Parade is planned

"Plymouth Celebrates an Old Fashioned Fourth of July" is the theme for the 1985 Fourth of July Parade being organized by the Plymouth Jaycees. It is an appropriate theme, explains Eric Spencer, parade co-chairman, because the parade is one of those activities which exemplifies Plymouth's strong spirit and pride. Fred Eagle, the other parade co-chairman, pointed out that last year the parade drew 4,500 spectators and the fireworks display an additional 25,500 people in attendance. The parade will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday, July 4. Parade entry forms soon will be available at Plymouth City Hall, Plymouth Township Hall, or by calling Eagle at 464-6797. The parade also needs donations from businesses to cover expenses of the parade. Donations may be mailed to: Plymouth Jaycees, in care of 1985 Fourth of July Parade, 14728 Ronnie Lane, Livonia 48154.

Last try at annexation caused uproar in 1974

J.D. McLaren, who became supervisor of Plymouth Township in 1972, was an admitted conservative and ran a conservative administration.

A few days after he was elected, he told a Plymouth Mall and Observer reporter: "I don't think it would be wise to run water and sewer out North Territorial Road to Ridge Road to lure developers. I think it much wiser to wait for a sound development and then — when the risk is gone — to provide the services."

This decision appeared to be at odds with that of the Township Board in 1968. In that year, the board had approved westward extension of sewer service.

In 1973, when McLaren and three others on the board voted to run sewer service only as far west as Beck Road, they ran into opposition from an unlikely source — the Mormon Church. An affiliate of that church, which had acquired property at the northwest corner of Powell and Ridge Roads, filed suit challenging the board's decision.

A majority of the board backed down in face of the lawsuit, but McLaren, Elizabeth Holmes and Helen Richardson voted against rescinding the motion. Holmes, never one to flinch under fire, called the lawsuit "a threat — intimidation."

McLAREN HAD another problem in 1974. That was the year the matter of annexation again reared its ugly head.

The affair began amicably with a movement to consolidate the township and city. Impetus for the idea had come when an ad hoc committee, chaired by Ed Sawusch, and funded by both the city and the township, studied the matter and coordinated a consolidation study done by Michigan State University. This led to an election in May 1974 at which township and city residents were asked to vote on whether to merge the two governments.

Township residents rejected the idea by a vote of 2,706 to 763. Then came news that sent shock waves throughout the township.

On the morning of the election the city, under Mayor Beverley McAninch and City Manager Fred L. Yockey, had filed three annexation petitions. One proposed to annex the Hillside Inn property on Plymouth Road, another was to annex the Burrough's parking lot across from Hillside Inn and a third was to annex the township in its entirety.

past and present

Sam Hudson

The adverse reaction created by this move was evident at a meeting of city and township officials called by the ad hoc committee immediately after the election. The purpose was to discuss future cooperation between the two governments.

MSU researchers who had conducted the consolidation study told those assembled that cooperation could benefit both areas even without consolidation. Possible areas of cooperation, they pointed out, could include fire protection, law enforcement, refuse pickup, recreation and planning.

But the city's precipitous action had dealt cooperation a body blow.

McLaren told the Observer's Ed Wendover that he hadn't seen anything like the city's move since Pearl Harbor. "They're leading you to the peace table while on the other hand they're declaring war. The city really blew the ballgame just when we were getting along."

Sawusch, who headed the ad hoc committee, said members of the committee were alarmed when they learned of the annexation petitions. "It's going to jeopardize all the work that's been done."

Holmes called the city's petitions "an unbelievably callous action." Township board member Frank Millington said,

"The filing of annexation petitions was an outright act of war. Its effect will be felt and remembered in the minds of many for years to come."

Esther Hulsing, a member of the ad hoc committee, said the city's action was bound to alienate support in the township. Wendover, then editor of the Plymouth Observer, declared in his column: "The city exercised bad judgment in its headlong rush to be first in line were consolidation defeated."

NOTHING CAME of the city's annexation petitions, and the township became immune to further attempts at annexation a few years later when a change was made in the state law.

But the incident was another setback in attempts made by citizens on both sides of the fence to foster more cooperation between their respective governmental bodies.

It was during McLaren's first term as supervisor that work began on Plymouth Township Park on Ann Arbor Trail opposite McClumpha Road. Progress on developing the park had been slow since acquisition of the property during John McEwen's administration. But work began in earnest early in 1974.

First, the 140-year old Amrhein farmhouse had to be moved. It was transported across Ann Arbor Trail by Doug Cash who restored the historic home. Then the park was fenced, picnic tables and grills installed and swings and slides provided for the young fry.

In August 1974, McLaren's bid for a second term was challenged in the Republican primary by his predecessor, Maurice Breen. McLaren, who had the support of the Observer, won in the primary and was unopposed in the election.

In the following month, the township's 242-acre Plymouth Industrial Park received media attention when Michigan Bell occupied the first building erected in the park. (To be continued)

You can't fool Mother Nature.

The Stroller found this out again during the past week when he started to do some housecleaning in his lawn and garden plot.

For weeks, he had looked at snow banks, some several feet high, and voiced the opinion that possibly the flowers would be damaged and he'd have to start over again with his favorite beds.

Well, as we enter Easter week, that usually is the time when the ladies of the house start what they call housecleaning. The curtains come down, the wood work is wiped clean and even the wallpaper given what mother used to call the once-over.

In later years, most of the time was spent fussing and worrying about the curtains and the bows that go with them.

So when this task was started inside the house last week, The Stroller took the hint and decided that he would do some housecleaning in the yard.

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

It sure needed it. The strong winds of February had taken a toll and the front lawn was filled with all sorts of limbs and branches. And here and there, there still were piles of leaves.

So off to work he went and what a time he had laying out a plan. Things went as expected until he got to the bed.

Because the little lady who runs our house is confined indoors, her best view of things is out of the kitchen window. There she can see the birds come to the feedbox and she gets irked every time she sees the squirrels moving in and chasing her favorite birds away.

There is a sidewalk from the back door to the garage and on either side there always is a bed of tulips and other colorful flowers.

When he finished his lawn plan, he took a look at this sidewalk and shook his head sort of disgustingly. There still was enough snow left to hinder the tulips. Or so he thought.

With the thought that he'd have to plant a whole new bed, softly he pushed the snow away. He hated to look toward the ground as he expected it to be a blank wasteland.

Then the surprise came. As the snow was removed there stood the leaves of the tulip plants. The leaves were several inches high. They had battled their way through the ice and snow and stood proudly, as if to say "Hello, here I am."

It was a great and pleasing sight. They seemed to be higher this year than they were last spring. And it was a sign that the flower garden again would be a treat for the lady of the house.

As The Stroller stood there looking at them and feeling so good that he would not have to start over, he became filled with ambition. For the next few hours he pulled and tugged all manner of branches and broken limbs from the front lawn. This usually is a real task. But this spring it was a different story.

He knew that he would have to keep the lawn and the sunken garden in the front clean so it would compare with the tulip beds in the rear.

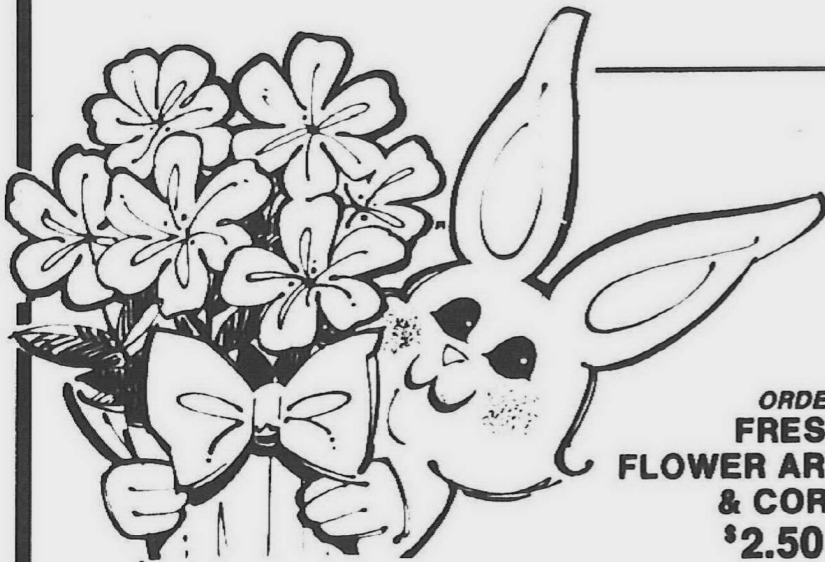

And when the late afternoon came and he decided he had worked enough for the day, he took one more look at those tulip leaves standing so brave and said, "You can't fool Mother Nature."

THE PRECIOUS LEGACY

Judaic Treasures from The Czechoslovak State Collections

The Detroit Institute of Arts

Now - May 5, 1985

The Detroit Institute of Arts is the exclusive Midwestern site of The Precious Legacy, a collection of artwork rescued from the Nazis at the end of the war. This landmark exhibition presents the work of distinguished scholars from Czechoslovakia and the United States. The vitality and creativity of Czech Jewish life is celebrated in objects reflecting a religious and cultural heritage that extends back to the Middle Ages and represents virtually every medium of folk and fine arts. The treasures have become what their owners wanted them to be: links in a chain of continuity, beauty and faith. So long as we treasure these things, the people who loved them can never be extinct.

The Precious Legacy is organized by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (ITES), in cooperation with Project Judaica, the Ministry of Culture of the Czech Socialist Republic, the Federal Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic, the National Committee of the Capital of Prague, and the State Jewish Museum in Prague. The national corporate sponsor of the exhibition is Philip Morris Incorporated.

SUDDEN INFANT DEATH SYNDROME (SIDS)

SIDS is a tragic phenomenon that encompasses the spontaneous death of an infant, for no apparent reason.

The total number of people affected across the world is larger than the 25,000 SIDS cases occurring each year when you consider how many family members are devastated by the shock.

I want you to know that there is research going on, that there is new hope. I wish to pass that information on to you the reader, in hopes that it may save needless tragedy.

The field of science is looking at chiropractic in a new light, because researchers are finding the science of chiropractic is reliable and sensible. Research by Dr. Abraham Towbin of the Harvard School of Medicine showed that seven out of eight infants studied had received trauma to their upper cervical (neck) vertebrae. Autopsies showed infants to have actually died from that trauma. The trauma occurred during the birth process. Further research by Dr. Floyd Gilles of Boston's Children's Hospital also indicated abnormal upper cervical vertebrae leading to neurological problems.

Research from ARCS (Academy for Research in Chiropractic Sciences) further finds that the birth process can place the upper cervical vertebrae drastically out of position, this in turn causes pressure to be applied at the base of the brain. At the brain base is the respiratory center, if pressure is applied long enough and hard enough, it will cause the lungs to cease functioning and death soon follows.

With less pressure applied, serious neurological problems can occur, perhaps years later.

ARCS concludes that it is important that chiropractic spinal examinations be included in the process of infant delivery and care through their life.

If this stirs you, have your children's spines examined. My children have good spines. Allow me to see that your children do to.

For more information on SIDS and other children's diseases call our office...please for your children, the information is free.

Purchase of a hazardous materials and extrication unit for the fire department tops the list for Plymouth's 1985 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) budget.

The City Commission approved the CDBG budget at Monday night's regular meeting. CDBG funds come from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and are administered by the county.

Block Grant money is awarded to the city on a competitive basis with other Wayne County communities, and is used to reimburse the city for qualified expenditures.

For 1985, the city anticipates receiving some $73,000 in CDBG grants, according to Paul Sincok, grant coordinator.

The purchase of a $75,000 multi-purpose fire department vehicle will be spread over three years, with the first $25,000 allocated in 1985.

The vehicle will be used to transport hazardous material supplies, first aid equipment, and extrication (Jaws of Life) equipment.

"It's something we've always needed for carrying our specialized equipment," Acting Fire Chief Al Matthews said.

THE NEW unit will replace a 1972 equipment van and also can be used for fire investigation, rescue, and as a command post for police and fire communications, Matthews said.

A hazardous materials unit is needed in Plymouth because some 80 million tons of hazardous substances pass through the city each year on the railroads, Sincok said.

"The City of Wixom bought one about a year and a half ago and I've been convinced ever since that we need one," Matthews said.

Other items included in the '85 CDBG budget are:

- The senior van transportation program, $17,000.
 - A press at the Cultural Center for publishing senior citizen newsletters, $10,000.
 - Administrative costs for the CDBG program, $7,300.
 - The Neighborhood Watch Program for residential areas, $4,000.
 - A tree-purchasing program for Old Village, $3,200.
 - Handicap recreation program and Safety Town seminar for preschoolers, $2,500.
 - Funds for the Council on Aging, $2,000.
 - Purchasing large print books for senior citizens, $2,000.
- To qualify for Block Grant funding, a project or expenditure must either primarily benefit low to moderate income persons or older residents, reduce or eliminate urban blight, or meet an urgent need in the community.

Easter, A Joyous Family Tradition

Easter, that wonderful time of the year when the crocus, lilies and cherry blossoms salute the arrival of Spring. It is on this joyous day when families around the world celebrate the festivities and customs that surround Easter. The Easter eggs are so closely related to the festival that Easter would not be the same without them.

Around Europe, egg races became popular at Easter time. English children are presented with gifts of chocolate eggs wrapped in colored paper; the Swiss children collect their eggs on Easter Eve by singing carols from farmhouse to farmhouse and Italian families bake a special round cake for the holy day and decorate it with Easter eggs. Empty eggshells are used in several European countries for decorations or as tiny baskets for holding small candies. Even the annual egg rolling party given on the Lawn of the White House came from Norway and Germany.

It doesn't hurt your family's Easter day by filling the Easter basket with colorful decorative eggs and the new Crispy Easter Nests. Watch the children smile when they see the colorful M&M's® Peanut Chocolate Candies as miniature Easter eggs sprinkled throughout the basket. The Crispy Easter Nests are so easy to make that your young sters can join in the fun of helping you make these unique basket treats. The nests are a taste-tempting mixture of multi-colored plain chocolate candies, marshmallow creme, peanut butter and the versatile crunchy chow mein noodles. Then taste the magic of the nests filled with the bright spring colors of the peanut chocolate candies, the perfect selection in making this year's Easter basket the winning choice.

A little creativity goes a long way — especially when baking this delicious Easter medley of Fruit-stuffed Ham, Parslied New Potatoes, Quick Vegetable Hollandaise and the Chocolate Cloud Pie.

The elegant ham, with the center bone removed, is stuffed with a luscious fruit mixture of pineapple, apricots, raisins and toasted almonds. The Parslied New Potatoes and the fresh broccoli topped with a quick creamy hollandaise sauce become the perfect accompaniments to this classic Easter dinner. The finishing touch is the feather-light Chocolate Cloud Pie spectacular. The irresistible coconut meringue crust flavored with those tempting multi-colored chocolate candies adds a crunchy and delicious chocolate flavor to the pie. Wonderfully different, the Chocolate Cloud Pie is the perfect ending to a perfect meal.

Crispy Easter Nests

2 cups chow mein noodles
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup marshmallow creme
1/2 cup M&M's® Peanut Chocolate Candies

2 cups plain chow mein noodles
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup chopped Plain Chocolate Candies
Peanut Chocolate Candies

Combine chow mein noodles, peanut butter and butter, mix until well blended. Add noodles and plain chocolate candies, mix well. Drop by rounded teaspoon into hot oil in a shallow skillet, shape with greased fingers. Fry until golden brown. Let stand until firm. Dust bottom of nests lightly with powdered sugar, if desired. Fill with peanut chocolate candies before serving. Makes 10 to 12 nests.

Fruit-Stuffed Ham

1 1/2 lb. fully cooked ham
1 cup (8 1/4 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained
1/2 cup chopped dried apricots
1/4 cup raisins

1/4 cup chopped toasted almonds
1 cup (10 or 12 oz.) apricot preserves
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons prepared mustard

Remove bone from ham by cutting around bone from the back and front, and bone out from the back side of the ham. Combine pineapple, apricots, raisins and almonds. Stuff into opening in ham. Place ham on rack in shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer, placing tip in the least part of meat. Bake at 325°F. for 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until internal temperature reaches about 120°F. Remove rind, score fat into diamond pattern. Stud with cloves. Combine preserves, rind, juice and mustard, mixing until well blended. Brush scored surface of ham with preserve mixture. Continue to bake, brushing every 10 to 15 minutes with preserve mixture, until internal temperature reaches 140°F. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

NOTE: Bone may be removed from ham by your grocer at time of purchase.

Parslied New Potatoes

24 small new potatoes
Boiling salted water
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 to 4 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
1 tablespoon snipped fresh dill or 1 teaspoon dried dill weed

Remove about 1 inch strip of peel from around center of each potato. Cook potatoes in boiling salted water for 15 to 20 minutes or until tender, drain. Add butter, toss to coat until butter is melted. Add parsley and dill, toss. Makes 8 servings.

Quick Vegetable Hollandaise

2 lb. fresh broccoli or asparagus
Salted water
6 egg yolks
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Dash cayenne pepper
1 cup butter or margarine, melted
Lemon slices

Trim broccoli or asparagus, cut into pieces as desired. Heat 1 1/2 inch salted water to boiling in steamer or large skillet with rack. Arrange broccoli on rack. Cover, steam 8 to 10 minutes or until crisp tender. Drain.

Combine yolks, juice, salt, dry mustard and cayenne pepper in blender container. Cover, blend on low speed until thoroughly mixed. Blend on high speed, slowly adding butter through center opening in cover, continue blending until smooth. Pour into small saucepan, cook over low heat, stirring constantly, for about 3 minutes or until slightly thickened. Serve immediately over broccoli. Garnish with lemon slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Chocolate Cloud Pie

Meringue Crust:

2 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar
3/4 cup chopped Plain Chocolate Candies
1/2 cup flaked coconut

Chocolate Filling:

1 pkg. (6 oz.) chocolate instant pudding and pie filling mix
2 1/3 cups milk
3 to 4 cups whipped cream or topping

For meringue crust, beat together egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold in candies and coconut. Spread onto bottom and sides of greased 9 inch pie plate, building up 1 1/2 inch around rim. Sprinkle edge with additional chopped candies, if desired. Bake at 275°F. for 45 minutes. Turn off oven, cool in closed oven for 45 minutes. Remove from oven, cool thoroughly.

For chocolate filling, prepare pudding and pie filling mix as label directs using 2 1/3 cups milk. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon into meringue crust. Chill 3 to 4 hours or overnight. Makes one 9-inch pie.

VARIATION: Substitute 1 1/2 gallon favorite flavor ice cream, softened, for the chocolate filling. Stir ice cream until thick and of spoonable consistency, spoon into crust. Freeze 4 to 6 hours or overnight. Let stand at room temperature for about 10 minutes for easier cutting.

Enhance Easter feast with festive fruit-filled breads

Easter marks the end of Lenten fasting, and for many, that signals a sumptuous Easter feast, complete with festive sweet breads. In some homes, the practice of serving an Easter bread started with an ethnic tradition, while in others, it is simply an occasion to enjoy good, homemade bread.

Whatever your holiday traditions, you'll want to try these luscious fruit-filled breads for your Easter celebration. Pearadise Braid and Raisin Filled Crown are attractive enough to double as your centerpiece, but they don't require hours in the kitchen. Hot roll mix with fast-acting yeast is the key to speedy preparation in both recipes.

A refreshing, sweet blend of pears and dried fruit, spiced with nutmeg and mace, makes up the filling in Pearadise Braid. The attractive shaping is easy to do following the step-by-step directions in the recipe. After rolling the dough into a rectangle and spreading the filling down the center, make cuts along both sides of the dough and crisscross the strips over the filling.

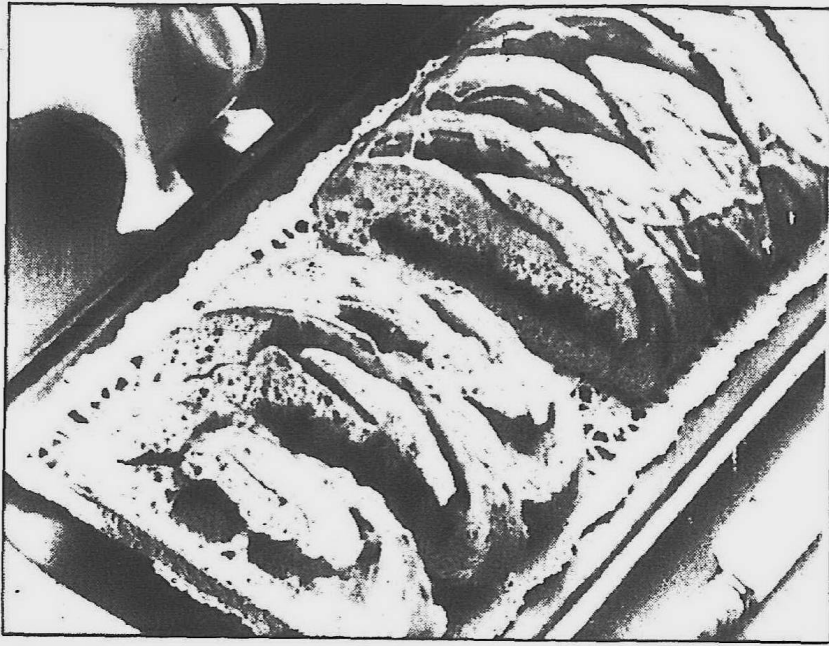

For a whimsical Easter look, add pink and green coloring to the glaze and drizzle it over the braid after it cools.

Moist, plump raisins and a cinnamon-sugar mixture create the swirled filling in Raisin Filled Crown. The golden bread, that starts with hot roll mix, gets its tall, crown-like shape from the Bundt pan in which it bakes. Blanched almonds placed in the bottom of the pan form the bread's decorative topping.

PEARADISE BRAID

- 16-oz. pkg. hot roll mix
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 tsp. margarine or butter, softened
- 1 egg
- Filling:
- 2 tsp. margarine or butter, softened
- 16-oz. can sliced pears, diced and very well drained
- 1/2 cup diced pitted prunes or raisins
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp. mace
- Glaze:
- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- 1 tsp. margarine or butter, softened
- 1 to 2 tsp. milk
- Few drops red or green food color, if desired

Grease large cookie sheet. In small saucepan, heat water, 1/2 cup milk and 2 tablespoons margarine until very warm (110 to 120); margarine does not need to melt. In large bowl, combine yeast from foil packet, flour mixture and 2 tablespoons sugar; mix well. Add warm liquids; stir until dough pulls cleanly away from sides of bowl. Turn dough onto lightly floured surface. With greased or floured hands, shape into ball. Knead dough for 5 minutes until smooth. Cover dough with large bowl; let rest 5 minutes.

Pearadise braid is a fruit-filled, easy-to-make bread that will make your Easter dinner even more special.

On lightly floured surface, shape dough into 14x12-inch rectangle using floured rolling pin or hands. Carefully transfer rectangle of dough to prepared cookie sheet. Spread with 2 tablespoons margarine. In small bowl, combine pears, prunes, 1/4 cup sugar, nutmeg and mace. Spread filling lengthwise down center third of dough. Using sharp knife or scissors, make 2 1/2-inch cuts 1 1/2 inches apart along 14-inch sides. Starting at one end, crisscross strips alternating from side to side, overlapping ends to enclose filling.

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Place wire rack over large pan filled with very hot tap water. Cover dough completely with towel; let rise on wire rack until light, 25 to 30 minutes. Uncover dough. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Cool completely on wire rack.

In small bowl, combine powdered sugar and 1 tablespoon margarine. Stir in milk and few drops food color until desired consistency. Drizzle over braid. Refrigerate leftovers. 1 loaf.

RAISIN FILLED CROWN

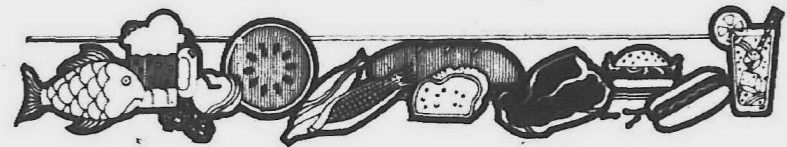

- 2 tsp. margarine or butter, softened
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 14 to 18 whole blanched almonds
- 16-oz. pkg. hot roll mix
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 tsp. margarine or butter
- 1 egg
- Filling:
- 2 tsp. margarine or butter, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 cup raisins

Generously grease 12-cup fluted tube pan using 2 tablespoons margarine; sprinkle with 2 tablespoons sugar. Arrange almonds in clusters of 3 in decorative pattern in bottom of prepared pan.

In large bowl, combine yeast from foil packet, flour mixture and 2 tablespoons sugar; mix well. In small saucepan, heat water, milk and margarine until very warm (110 to 120 degrees); margarine does not need to melt. Add warm liquids and egg; stir until dough pulls cleanly away from sides of bowl. Turn dough onto lightly floured surface. With greased or floured hands, shape dough into ball. Knead dough for 5 minutes until smooth. Cover dough with large bowl; let rest 5 minutes.

On lightly floured surface, shape dough into 14x10-inch rectangle using floured rolling pin or hands; spread with 2 tablespoons margarine. Combine 1/2 cup sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle evenly over dough. Sprinkle raisins evenly over sugar mixture. Starting with 14-inch side, roll up tightly. Pinch seam edge firmly to seal. Form into ring; pinch ends together to seal. Place seam side down over almonds in prepared pan.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Place wire rack over large pan filled with very hot tap water. Cover dough completely with towel; let rise on wire rack until light, about 30 minutes. Uncover dough. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 35 minutes or until golden brown. Invert onto serving plate immediately. Serve warm. 1 coffee cake.

More men take cooking classes

Are men planning a takeover of the home kitchen? A survey by the International Association of Cooking Schools (IACS), the voice of the cooking school industry, tells us that, today, one in four students in cooking class is a man.

This survey revealed that the move toward men wanting to be at home in the kitchen is neither a takeover nor a mere fad. It is a healthy trend leading to new pleasures and greater sharing in today's more relaxed lifestyles.

About 25 percent of all cooking students (in regular classes, not the "professional ones") are men. However, where basic cooking techniques are taught, some IACS teachers reported that men made up half or more of the student body.

These men are serious about learning how foods work and the essentials of food preparation. Men with these attitudes are clearly in the kitchen for the long haul and they really care about food quality and food presentation.

Here's more of what IACS members had to say about many of the men who study cooking:

- They want to finally take the mystery out of the kitchen by trying things themselves.
- They cook as an emotional and creative outlet — and they're zealous.
- They want to develop the palate, to broaden their range of experience.
- They want to acquire mastery over the skills involved in one of life's most important issues — food.
- They want to take control over the questionable ingredients their bodies have been subjected to — salt, sugar, fat, additives.
- They want or have to become the primary person in the kitchen.
- They have designed a fabulous home and kitchen, and want to use them fully and enjoy them.
- They travel a lot and are tired of restaurant fare.
- They want to re-create some of the great dishes they have spent fortunes on in world-class restaurants.
- They want to become familiar with exotic foods.

Stuffing peppers together

My wife wanted to stuff green peppers so she turned to me for a recipe. I dug out one that I've shared with readers and volunteered to assist her.

But I must admit that often we are not compatible in the kitchen. Anita doesn't like to use measuring cups or spoons. I make a mess on occasion. This time we agreed to cooperate under certain conditions.

Instead of briefly blanching the peppers and cutting them in half, we cooked them from scratch with the stems acting as a top like in Jack O'Lanterns. Instead of baking the peppers in the oven, we steamed them on top of the stove.

Since Anita planned to share the fruits of our labor with friends who don't care for spicy foods, we cut back on the chili powder. Otherwise, we stuck pretty closely to the ingredients in the recipe.

Anita prepared the peppers, browned the meat and made the tomato-cornmeal mixture. I took care of measuring the spices and stirring.

She did the stuffing. I watched the clock. The peppers were done in 30 minutes. If you don't have a sturdy frypan, with a sturdy lid, expect to extend the cooking time up to 15 minutes and you might have to replace evaporated water.

MILD MEXICAN STUFFED PEPPERS
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes, crushed
1/4 cup yellow cornmeal
2 tbsp. olive oil
1 cup finely chopped onion
3 garlic cloves, minced
1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
2 tsp. chili powder
1 tsp. ground cumin
1/2 tsp. ground coriander
Salt and black pepper to taste

1 cup canned whole kernel corn, drained
8 green peppers
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese

In small saucepan, cook tomatoes on low heat several minutes; stir in cornmeal and cook 10 minutes, stirring often. In large saucepan, heat oil and saute onion and garlic until onion becomes limp. Brown beef, chopping down with wooden spoon to break up lumps, and drain excess grease. Stir in chili powder, cumin, coriander, salt and pepper. Add tomato-cornmeal mixture and corn, blend well and remove from heat. Remove pepper stems, leaving hole large enough to stuff, seed, stuff with meat mixture, top with cheese and secure stems. Cook peppers standing up in heavy, high-domed frypan, with sturdy lid, in a little water 30 to 45 minutes on low heat.

HOT OFF THE PRESS is "Collecting and Preserving Plants" by former Plymouth resident, Ruth B. (Alford) MacFarlane. Ruth is a prolific writer. She contributes to the Farm Journal, The Michigan Audubon and Farmstead as well as writing a weekly column for the Daily Mining Gazette.

But the publishing of her first full-length book is an exciting event. Add to this her publisher's interest in a second manuscript, a nature book for children.

Ruth studied biology at Eastern Michigan University where she was curator of the herbarium. She has been a research associate at the University of Michigan and the University of Louisville. She is visiting research scholar at the Michigan Technological University herbarium.

"Collecting and Preserving Plants for Science and Pleasure" (Arco Publishing Inc. $8.95) has something for everyone. Students, amateur naturalists, working scientists and plant lovers will enjoy it and learn from it.

She describes methods of identifying, labeling, mounting, storing, preserving and displaying. Drawings are used extensively to aid the reader. She even has two chapters on design — showing how to make Christmas cards, place mats and flower arrangements. She and her husband, novelist Richard MacFarlane, live in the Upper Peninsula.

THE PIANO HONORS recital Sunday at Schoolcraft College featured several young pianists from Plymouth and Canton. They were among 24 students between the ages of 9 and 17 selected in a competition of 64 candidates.

Among the winning elementary age students were Rachel Folland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Folland, Canton, and Amy Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sullivan, Plymouth.

Winning middle school students were Janet Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Turner of Plymouth and Soo Mee Kwon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yong Kwon, Plymouth.

Senior high winner was Carrie Dibble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dibble, Plymouth.

Local piano teachers represented in the recital were Sharon Rea and Elaine Grover.

JENNIFER WALKER, clarinet; Louis Stockwell, alto saxophone; and David Cleveland, euphonium, were in the Chicago area for three days last week performing with the Michigan Youth Band as part of its annual spring tour. The 77-member band, representing 53 Michigan schools, was selected from more than 400 students who auditioned.

The band's final concert of the year will be at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 14 in Ann Arbor Pioneer High School Auditorium. Admission is free. A banquet for the band members after the concert will be in the North Campus Commons on the University of Michigan-North Campus.

ED GOULD will represent Cub Scout Pack 293 in the pinewood derby district finals. Ed, a Wolf Cub, was winner of the Bird School pack's competition last Wednesday at West Middle School.

The races were moved across Ann Arbor Trail to take advantage of the track designed by Bill Faunce, shop instructor at West. The track has an electronic timing device and an electric scoreboard. Guest judges were Gerry Knapp, Elizabeth O'Mara and Bruce Greskowiak.

Speediest of the 19 Wolf den entries were Ed Gould, first; Jeff Poirer, second; and Brian Herc, third. Chris Saline, Brian Milligan and Matt Mosley came in one, two, three in the 12 Bear den competitors. Webelos winners were Carl admaski, Greg Theeko and Mark Barry.

Brian Hatch's car was judged best in the design contest. Matt Huber had most original design and Jeff Poirer, best appearance. Roy and Nancy Adamski, Susan Smith, Bill Clemens, Tom Barry, Joe Perko and Donald and Elaine Bain served on the pinewood derby committee.

Yellow pages links women's network

By Marie McGee
staff writer

THREE ANN ARBOR female entrepreneurs are inviting area women to use their fingers to go walking through a special version of the Yellow Pages.

But they'll have to wait until June for the experience that will can put them in contact with women in business, professions, services and women's organizations.

That's when the Detroit Area Women's Yellow Pages will be off the press.

The directory is the brainchild of Maggie Hostetter, Lorri Sipes and Beth Vermett.

The Detroit directory is a sister publication of the Greater Ann Arbor Women's Yellow Pages which has been successfully published for two years by the trio. It's patterned after similar directories published in many major cities across the U. S.

The Detroit directory will be similar in design and format to the Ann Arbor directory. High-quality graphics and artwork will be included. The Ann Arbor Yellow Pages contained 92 categories and Detroit should have even more, the three women promised.

PURPOSE OF THE Women's Yellow Pages is threefold: to provide an advertising medium for women; to help women network with one another; and, to inform the communities about women's achievements and contribute to the work sphere.

After it is published, 40,000 copies of the directory will be distributed free of charge throughout the tri-county area to women's organizations, bookstores, chambers of commerce, women's centers, libraries, businesses, universities and many other locations.

One special area of distribution will go to procurement officers of government agencies and major corporations to assist them in finding woman-owned businesses and women professionals for their affirmative action requirements.

At the outset, none of the three had any inkling of what publishing the directory entailed. Their jobs certainly didn't help them. Vermett sells real estate; Hostetter is a social worker who counsels the criminally insane; and Sipes is an architect with a firm that specializes in historical restoration.

"WE JUST KNEW there was a need," said Vermett.

It surfaced as the three women kept bumping into each other at various social functions.

"We kept exchanging business cards and we began to talk about what a wonderful idea it would be to formalize the exchange," recalled Vermett. "We knew there were many women hidden out there in the work force, particularly where initials and not first names are used."

While the project was a lot of work that took nearly all their personal time, it has "become a labor of love," they agreed.

They were also fortunate to hook up with another woman, Roseann Hebel Brown, whose expertise is in graphics.

Brown, who is the graphics editor for Monthly Detroit magazine, is credited with the attractive and easy-to-read format of the directory, done primarily in yellow with an eye-catching cover. The first edition showed the Mona Lisa, with a pencil over her ear, holding a collection of items that included a rose, pliers, hammer and paintbrush — to show the diversification of careers between the covers.

The 1984 edition has a modified picture of the Statue of Liberty. Instead of a torch, Liberty is holding a phone and her message is: "It's for You."

An inside page provides the reader with interesting background on the Statue of Liberty and its creator, sculptor Frederick Auguste Bartholdi, and details how Liberty has been a symbol of freedom for women since her birth in 1886.

"WE LEARNED A lot since the publication of the first directory," smiled Hostetter. One thing was never to leave keylined pages — all made up and ready for the printer — in the trunk of car in 91-degree temperatures.

"I had them in a portfolio in the trunk of my car ready to deliver to the printer. It was so hot, the wax used in pasting down the galleys of printed material melted. It was a mess," said Hostetter.

Financially, the project has been fairly successful. "Not enough for us to quit our jobs," smiled Sipes, "but successful enough to tackle Detroit." Most of the profits are plowed back into the business. Their offices are in their homes and the women do all their own proofreading.

"By the time it's ready for the printers, we practically know it by heart," said Sipes.

"It's like having your own Trivial Pursuits game," they grinned.

For more information, the publishers can be reached by calling 662-2957 or by writing them at P.O. Box 2463, Ann Arbor 48106. Listings and display ads for the Detroit directory are being accepted until March 31.

Symphony League presents 'Evening With Jeffrey Bruce'

The Nightingale group of the Plymouth Symphony League has arranged

"An Evening With Jeffrey Bruce" in the ballroom at the Plymouth Hilton.

Tickets for the 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 18, appearance are available at the Little Professor on the Park or by calling 455-0075. Admission is $5.

Viewers of Kelly & Co. are familiar with Bruce's wit, make-up advice and critiques from his appearances as co-host and guest. He also has been a regular guest on the syndicated talk show, Hour Magazine, hosted by Gary Collins.

Bruce began his career as a make-up artist at Kenneth's, toured for Estee Lauder, joined Revlon as director of cosmetics, then went to Los Angeles where he was private make-up man to many of the stars.

He lives in New York City and has his own nationally-distributed line of cosmetics and skin-care products.

A PERSONAL make-over by Bruce, including cosmetics, will be given as a prize at his Symphony League appearance.

He will autograph copies of his latest hard-cover book, "About Face." The paperback edition soon will be available.

Bruce has his own philosophy about make-up:

- There is no such thing as a natural beauty.
 - You need more, not less, make-up as you age.
 - Dermatologists usually are a woman's worst friend.
 - When you buy cheap cosmetics, you get what you pay for.
 - Kitchen cosmetics belong in the refrigerator.
 - "Miracle" wrinkle creams aren't.
- Proceeds from the event will go toward the support of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

GARY RYAN/photographer

Jeffrey Bruce, expert on skin care and cosmetics, will make a personal appearance at the Plymouth Hilton.

Mrs. Michigan-America crowned at pageant

Beverly Sullivan of Canton was a candidate in the Mrs. Michigan-American Pageant.

Johneane Teeter Powers of West Bloomfield is the newly crowned Mrs. Michigan 1985.

Powers, who received the title at the Mrs. Michigan-America Pageant at the Plymouth Hilton Inn, will compete in the Mrs. America Pageant to be televised in July from Reno, Nev.

Runner-up was Marilyn Hirsch, a laid-off Detroit police officer and a candidate for a master's degree in clinical psychology. Among the 28 candidates for the state title was Beverly Sullivan of Canton Township.

The winner is a homemaker, who recently overcame intestinal cancer. She and her husband, Gerald, are the parents of a teen-age son, John.

Mrs. Michigan 1985 told a full house at the Saturday night extravaganza, "I feel I project the image of today's contemporary married woman and her philosophy of 'What you get out of life is the result of what you put into it.' I'm attuned to the interests of the modern woman, her family, her life outside the home, and happiness."

Entertaining the audience of several hundred was the Centennial Educational Park Swing Ensemble, which performed a medley of Broadway songs.

New Japanese 'Super Pill'
Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want,
Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs, whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers
Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

$19.95 30 day supply, or $35.95 60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to DYNALABS, 270 No. Canon Dr., Ste. 1255 (Dept. U-21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. (Enclose your return address). Credit card holders can order by simply dialing toll free: (1-800-367-2400) 24 hrs a day, 7 days a week. Either way your order will be promptly sent. Please don't wait. You really do deserve to be thin.

Power ball Spikers energized by punishing hitters

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

LEE CAGLE broke from the huddle with his chin up. His Livonia Stevenson volleyball team, for the second straight season, had its bid for a state championship derailed by Flint Kearsley. It was a depressing moment for the Spartan players. The tears were unstoppable. Cagle didn't cry. He consoled his players, one by one, then walked over to a reporter.

"We had a great season." There was a fierceness in his voice and he looked the reporter square in the eyes when he said it. Livonia Stevenson was a class team, a quality team, and Cagle was not about to allow a state semifinal loss detract from a season of achievement.

The accomplishments of Cagle's volleyball team go beyond a single season. In the last two seasons, Stevenson has compiled an 82-8 record and was among the state's final four both years.

In his seven years at Stevenson, Cagle has compiled a 169-36 record, won seven league titles and three district titles.

Is it any wonder, then, that Lee Cagle has been named the Observerland coach of the year for the second straight season?

He's at the head of a powerful All-Area Volleyball Team that includes three of his Stevenson players.

Powerful? Listen to this: Lisa Bokovoy, 605 good hits with 334 kills, Joan Frysinger (a setter), 200 good hits with 97 kills, Pam Griffin, 355 spikes with 152 kills; Debbie McDonald, 90 percent effect on all spikes, Carolyn Smith, 389 kills alone, Marie Becker, 90 percent effective on all spikes with 59 kills — the list goes on.

The 1985 Observerland All-Area Volleyball Team is indeed packed with power. It also possesses two of the finest setters in the tri-county area, if not in the state, and some solid back row talent. Let's meet the players:

LISA BOKOVOY, LIVONIA STEVENSON: "She is the most talented all around athlete I've ever coached." That's high praise coming from Cagle and the 6-0 senior is certainly deserving. The state's volleyball coaches association put Bokovoy on their Dream Team for 1985. Aside from her much-publicized hitting prowess, she made 228 blocks with 110 of them kills and she served with an 84 percent efficiency with 55 aces. She is also a solid back row performer. Her talents, in both volleyball and softball, made her one of the most sought-after athletes in the area by college recruiters. Bokovoy, a 3.85 student, will attend the University of Kentucky on a full-ride volleyball scholarship.

JOAN FRYSSINGER, LIVONIA STEVENSON: Last year, this 6-footer was used exclusively as a front-row hitter. Frysinger worked hard over the summer and became a dominating all-around player this season. As Stevenson's No. 1 setter, she made 666 perfect sets (72 percent efficient). She was also an effective server and front row player. She will attend Northwood Institute next year on basketball and volleyball scholarships.

PAM GRIFFIN, LIVONIA STEVENSON: Bokovoy and Frysinger got most of the attention for the Spartans this season, but according to Cagle, Griffin might have been the most skilled volleyball player on his team. She nailed 92 percent of her hits with 152 kills, she made 202 blocks with 80 kills, she served at a 96 percent efficiency with 31 aces and her service reception percentage was 82 percent. She carries an

Board plays politics with random selection

SCHOOL BOARD member Elaine Kirchgatter is wrong when she refers to the random selection controversy as a game.

The way the Plymouth-Canton Community School District is dealing with this issue more resembles a charade.

The school board and district administration had us all believing that something finally would be done to correct the inadequacies that exist in the random selection system — a computer-centered system that distributes eighth-grade students into either Plymouth Canton or Plymouth Salem high schools.

Three proposals were brought before the board last Monday night. These proposals were drafted by newly elected board member Dean Swartzwelder. They were first mentioned over a month ago and formally drafted on March 11.

But when the board gathered Monday, in front of an overflow crowd at the board office on Harvey Street, its members acted as if they were reading the proposals for the first time.

THEY TOOK turns grilling Swartzwelder, as if the man was proposing the death penalty for all students with three or more unexcused absences. The board members, led by Dr. E.J. McClendon and Kirchgatter, pelted Swartzwelder with a barrage of the most ridiculous hypothetical situations imaginable.

"OK, what would happen if we were invaded by Martians. Say, for the sake of argument, that they had junior- and freshman-aged children. Now, under this proposal, which high school would they attend? Would they be exempt from random selection? Would only the older kid draw a chip?"

No, that wasn't one of the hypothetical situations. I'm exaggerating (only a little) to make a point.

Swartzwelder held up impressively under the barrage, but he was miffed by his colleagues' actions.

"I'm a little bit surprised by this sudden concern," he said to the board Monday. "Why all the questions now? Only two people questioned me before tonight. What's the thrust of all this? You've all had these proposals since Tuesday."

I'LL TELL you what the thrust of it all was, Dean. Your fellow board members, specifically McClendon and Kirchgatter, were trying their darndest to make you and your proposal look bad.

It's an old, albeit cheap, ploy in small-time politics. You see, politicians, even school board members, have to appease the public or lose their seat in the next election. When a publicly popular issue is brought forth, one the politician is opposed to, he or she must react in a manner that will not offend the public and will not compromise his or her own belief.

Chris McCosky

It's called save-your-butt politics. And that is what a certain faction of the school board (McClendon and Kirchgatter working in the corner of Superintendent Dr. John Hoben) is deploying on the issue of random selection.

What happened last Monday was predictable. The board threw a smoke screen over the issue. Instead of dealing with the obvious inadequacies of random selection, the board chose to bicker and nit-pick over the proposed solutions to the problems.

WITH AN onslaught of what-ifs, members of the school board did exactly what they intended to do. They have succeeded in confusing the issue and the public — hell, even the administration and members of the school board were confused.

They have bought some time for themselves. The problem is not as complicated as the board would have us believe. We are not dealing with 400 people, as was hypothesized Monday. We are dealing with a very small number, one that would hardly disrupt the population balance in the two high schools.

But even that is not the point. The point is this: One of the Plymouth-Canton Community School District's major sources of pride is its athletic program (the same program several board members boasted about Monday). And that program is deteriorating because of random selection. Families within the district are being split because of random selection. The community is harmfully divided because of random selection.

A divided community, a community with no strong allegiance to one high school or the other, quickly becomes apathetic to such things as millage votes and sporting events.

YOU WANT a solution to these concerns? Drop random selection and go back to a boundary system.

Is random selection really the miracle worker everyone thinks it is? Wouldn't the population at both high schools even out anyway because of the stabilized growth in the Plymouth-Canton area?

Instead of hypothesizing on what would happen if we make changes to random selection, why not hypothesize on what will happen if changes aren't made.

The consequences of the latter are far more severe.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

One year ago Linda Beale competed in gymnastics for the last time for Plymouth Canton High School. Beale placed higher in state competition than any gymnast in the school district's history. She won a sixth-place medal in the balance beam. Linda also placed 11th in the all around scoring with a 33.9. That is also the highest place ever awarded to a Plymouth Canton district gymnast. Beale, a 3.9 grade point student, holds or shares every gymnastic record at Canton.

equally impressive 3.85 grade point average and will attend the University of Michigan next year.

CAROLYN SMITH, LIVONIA FRANKLIN: She stands 5-5, small for volleyball. But, there were few players who were more dominating at the net than Carolyn Smith. She is also one of the area's best defensive players. She notched 389 kills this season, in addition to 85 serve aces and 243 digs. She is a three-year all-Northwest Suburban League and All-Area pick. A tribute to her talent is that opposing coaches often made special adjustments to their defenses to try and slow Smith down.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Salem's Lisa Madis was selected to the All-Area volleyball squad's third unit.

PATTI KOZICKI, NORTH FARMINGTON: If Lee Cagle wanted to select a captain for this All-Area team he would have to look no further than this senior. Patti Kozicki plays volleyball with intelligence and court savvy far beyond her age. She owns many North Farmington records, including 113 career ace serves, 4,025 effective sets, a 98.1 percent setting efficiency and 397 successful tips. She is a crafty setter, often keeping the defense off-balance with her varied passes. In the three years she has been North's No. 1 setter, the Raiders have compiled a 72-24 record. She will play volleyball at Schoolcraft Community College next year.

DEBBIE McDONALD, BISHOP BORGESS: One of only two juniors on this squad, the 6-footer is a punishing hitter. She also plays a smooth back row game, a rarity for one her size. She was 90 percent effective at the net, 80 percent effective serving and 82 percent effective blocking. Like every one of these All-Area players, McDonald has the ability to assume control of a match regardless of where she happens to be in the rotation.

MARIE CERVANTES, BISHOP BORGESS: Opponents of Bishop Borgess had a difficult time on defense largely because of this talented senior. The desire would be to double-team McDonald at the net, but that would free up Cervantes — an equally potent spiker. Cervantes, a three-year stand-out for the Spartans, was 81 percent effective hitting and 96 percent effective serving. She also plays well in the back row, passing 88 percent effective.

MARIE BECKER, REDFORD UNION: When they talk of playing with intensity, they should use this junior as a model. A naturally-gifted athlete, Becker was 90 percent effective or better in every phase of the game, hitting, serving, passing and receiving. Many area coaches feel that RU could be on the verge of most successful volleyball season next year with Becker as the catalyst.

SUE CYRUS, GARDEN CITY: Garden City was the No. 2-ranked team in Observerland this year and won the Northwest Suburban League title. The secret of the Cougars' success was twofold: They had a special blend of talent and hustle instilled by coach Tom Teeters, and they had this multi-talented senior. Cyrus provided the leadership, the bonding element, for the Cougars. She is a tenacious hitter in the front court and a quick, deft-handed digger in the back row.

MHSAA faces critical issues

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Two critical and controversial issues regarding high school athletics will be on the table May 5-8 when the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Representative Council gathers for its annual meeting in Cadillac.

The council, the MHSAA's rule-making body, will decide whether to expand the current 8-game per class (32 teams in all) football playoff system.

Also, the council will decide on whether to impose a rule forbidding high school gymnasts to compete outside their high school schedule during the three-month season. This ruling would have a profound effect on United States Gymnastic Federation (USGF) club gymnasts.

The football playoff issue has been a source of controversy since the inception of the state playoffs in 1975. Last year, the Representative Council voted down a proposal to expand the playoffs to 32 teams per enrollment class, or 128 teams total.

THIS YEAR'S proposal will most likely be for a 16-team per class format or 64 teams in all.

The MHSAA surveyed its 713 member high schools on this issue between Feb. 15 and March 15 — 580 returned the survey with 570 of those schools offering football.

Nearly 69 percent (68.8) of the 570 schools indicated they were in favor of expanding the playoffs to 16 teams per class. Another 27.7 percent wanted to keep the present system and 5.5 percent were in favor of eliminating all post-season playoff games.

The schools were also asked how they would go about scheduling the playoff games if the format was expanded. Nearly 25 percent (24.8) thought it best to use the ninth date on the schedule as the first playoff date, leaving those teams not making the playoffs to schedule the final date on their own.

Another 23.6 percent thought it best to begin the season one week earlier.

"The Representative Council has been asked to make a choice as to expanding the football playoff system," said MHSAA assistant director Warren McKenzie. "They weren't about to make that decision without knowing how the high schools felt. That was the reason for the survey."

BUT, McKenzie added, the survey results are a bit cloudy.

"There are real mixed feelings about this," McKenzie said. "The survey was supposed to be filled out by the principals. We're hearing that many of the principals handed the survey over to the football coaches and let them fill it out. Many superintendents, we understand, are upset with their principals for voting to expand the playoffs."

The gymnastics issue is no less complex.

The MHSAA's gymnastics committee, comprised of state gymnastics coaches, has asked the Representative Council to consider a ruling that would prohibit gymnasts from competing outside the high school schedule during the three-month prep season (which runs from January through March).

Rita Kinnell, gymnastics coach at Adrian High School and the president of the Michigan High School Gymnastics Coaches Association, will speak before the council during the May meeting.

"This all started about 10 years ago with ski teams," Kinnell said. "The skiers asked the state's permission to ski outside of the regular season because of a lack of snow and other things. The state granted permission and thought it fair to grant the same option to all individual sports, like tennis, swimming and gymnastics. It's been with us since."

BUT KINNELL and other coaches feel it's time that rule be changed, at least in gymnastics. The contention of the gymnastics committee is that the influx of "club gymnasts", gymnasts who compete USGF and high school simultaneously, has eroded the team concept of high school gymnastics.

Junior program fetes scholars

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

While bowling authorities across the country are stressing development of junior programs, one of the most unusual of youth competitions is now in its fourth year at Farmington Lanes.

It's unusual because it's the only event for juniors, which links their bowling ability with their standing in the classroom. And to make it even more unusual, the rewards for the top entries are scholarships.

At the close of the season, the top boy and top girl will receive scholarships, worth $1,000. The second place boy and girl receives a $500 grant.

There is one stipulation, however. The scholarship must be used for entrance in an accredited Michigan institution before their high school class graduates.

The event was conceived by De Los Hamblin, the Farmington Lanes owner, along with his son, Fred. Grandson Jim is now in complete charge of the program, which has awarded 19 scholarships over the past four years.

WHAT MAKES the event even more unusual is the fact that students in the the Farmington high schools, who bowl in the telethon, canvass the city in search of sponsors who will reward them at the rate of so much a pin. Often more than $2,000 is raised.

If the $2,000 is raised, it will guarantee the presentations to the top scholarship winners. During the four years of the program, sufficient funds have been raised to meet the scholars' needs.

If it should happen that less than $2,000 is awarded, the funds are equally divided among the top boy and girl.

The bowlers' education comes into it when school officials certify their averages and standing in class. It is the only junior program in the area in which class standing is monitored.

The promotion of this event is in keeping with the type of work that has been done by the Hamblin family throughout the years.

When junior bowling was launched, the Hamblin's were the first to hire a bus driver, pick up the children at school and drive them home after bowling.

Canton's goal to run with the best

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Building a successful boys track program at Plymouth Canton has been a gradual process for coach Mike Spitz.

It began eight years ago when Spitz inherited the last-place Chiefs. This season, Spitz sees his team climbing still another notch.

"We're going to continue our push to improve our standing in the league," Spitz said. "We've gone from a last-place team to the middle of the pack. Now, maybe we can bump up into the top five in the league."

"I hope we can be more competitive with the league's perennial powers — Salem, Livonia Stevenson, Livonia Churchill and Farmington. The other teams I think we can run with. At this stage, I would like for us to be in a position to compete with the best."

Canton placed sixth at the Western Lakes league meet last year, but came away with several individual league championships. Some of those individuals, namely Elijah Rogers, Jin Kim, Brian Bogden and Eric Wines, have graduated.

But, Spitz has more than 70 people out for the team this season, the largest unit ever. Filling holes may not be that difficult.

"We're very enthusiastic about where we are at at this point," Spitz said.

A trio of seniors will captain the Chiefs and will be expected to carry a large share of the scoring load: sprinters Pat McGow and Matt Flower, along with distance runner Bob Tellier.

Spitz is also looking for contributions from distance men Paul Trout and Dave Barger, junior hurdler Dan Houdek, junior shot putter and discus thrower Keith Kesckes, senior field event man Mike Luttrell, sprinter Tom Bowie, high jumper Matt Levesque, middle distance runners Todd and Tim Mueller and pole vaulter Greg Hous-ton.

Canton Track

The Chiefs open the season Tuesday, April 16, at Redford Union.

THE CANTON GIRLS track camp is equally crowded with bodies and equally optimistic.

Coach Bob Richardson, now in his sixth season, has 55 athletes on his roster.

"Numbers-wise, we should be strong in every event," Richardson said. "We lost a lot in hurdles and long jump, but the coaches feel real good about this season."

Leading the cause for optimism is a talented eight-member senior class. Jan Alvarado (distance), Kim Bennett (sprints), Hollie Ivey (shot put and discus), Patty Janiga (hurdles), Ginnie Johnson (middle distance), Carolyn Nagy (middle distance), Debbie Redfern (hurdles) and Cheri Remer (hurdles).

Juniors Marie Jarosz (distance), Jodi Bernd (distance) and Lori Schauder (hurdles, shot put) will also contribute, as will sophomores Tory Barger and Jennifer Gansler.

Canton finished seventh in the Western Lakes last year, but Richardson expects significant improvement this season.

"We should be strong in the field events and middle distance," he said. "The sprinters are young, but Kim Bennett will really help. In distance we're as strong as we've ever been. Now how that compares with other teams we've yet to see."

The Chiefs open the season Wednesday at Livonia Franklin.

DAVE BARGER is one of several athletes Canton coach Mike Spitz will be counting on this season.

Salem runners try to defend title

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Gary Balconi's Plymouth Salem boys track team won't be able to sneak up on anyone this season.

Last year the Rocks were all but pronounced dead in the Western Lakes, but pulled out a dramatic two-point victory at the league meet.

Defending champions, however, seldom get taken lightly.

"Coming off a championship season, we'd like to think we can go after it again," Balconi said. "The key last year was balance. We scored in 15 of 17 events. Can we do that again?"

Some key ingredients are missing. Marc Tindall, Jeff Arnold and Erich Hartnett have graduated. But several other ingredients remain.

Seniors Mike White and Craig Morton will have to carry a heavy load for Salem.

"Those two will score in anything and everything I put them in," Balconi said. "They could go high and low hurdles and every race up to and including the half-mile."

Senior Scott Steiner, who will anchor the distance team, and Brian Neuhardt, last year's freshman phenom, should also score heavily. Neuhardt was an All-Area performer in the 220 last year and a factor in the 100-yard dash.

In the field, Salem is blessed with three talented pole vaulters: Rich Piwko, Ron Piwko and Mike Harwood. Bill Justice will throw the shot and discus, as will Nadar Froozan.

Balconi sees the sprint team, with Morton, White and Neuhardt along with John Nelson and Rob Parm, as the Rocks' strength. The hurdles, with White and Morton, also look strong.

"We'll be strong in any event Morton and White are in," Balconi said, only half-joking.

Question marks include the distance team, high jump, shot put and discus.

Salem Track

The Rocks open at home against Dearborn, April 16.

THE SALEM GIRLS track team, some 65-members strong, is bolstered this season by a strong senior class and a talent-rich group of distance runners.

Seniors Mary Beth Weast, Denise Durrer, Amy Miyazaki, Nancy Smith and Stacy Stojeba should score consistently for Fred Thomann's team. Weast, Smith and Stojeba in the sprint events and Durrer and Miyazaki in distance runs.

Thomann also has a solid 12-member junior group led by Erica Bashor, Trish Donnelly, Heidi Dupret, Amy Johnson and Karen Marciniak.

Brenda Boyd, Kristin Hostynski and Mary Zorney led an eight-member sophomore group.

Obviously, depth won't be a problem for the Rocks this season.

"We've got a fair amount of kids on the roster this year," Thomann said. "And 25 or so contributed in some form last year. But, it's really too early to know how good we'll be. We haven't been on the track that much."

The Rocks, who placed fifth in the Western Lakes last year, may have one of the best distance contingents in the area. Durrer, Miyazaki, Bashor, Donnelly, Dupret, Chris Trapani, Boyd, Denise Buda, Lisa Mickey and Sue Nyquist are experienced distance runners.

Weaknesses, Thomann said, may present themselves in the field event areas.

The Rocks open the season with a scrimmage meet Wednesday against Dearborn Divine Child.

Tough issues face prep board

"Right now, high school coaches are having a tough time getting the talented club gymnasts to practice. There is extreme pressure to allow the more talented gymnasts to practice at the club, and that's not fair to anyone," Kinnell said.

"The concept of team is what high school sports is all about," she added. "The talented gymnasts still need to practice with the team to feel apart of it. Otherwise, it's just a farce."

What will happen, if the rule is invoked, is that many club gymnasts will have to decide between high school and USGF competition. Most of the state's top high school gymnasts, like Walled Lake Western's Barrie Muzbeck, the state's all-around champion, compete at the club level.

"IF THIS rule is put in, the level of high school gymnastics will go down," said Kevin Watson, the head coach at the Farmington Gymnastics Center, one of the area's better USGF teams. "All they will be doing with this rule is cutting their own throats. Fifty percent of the really good high school gymnasts are in clubs."

As far as not attending high school practice, Watson said only the very best gymnasts (like Muzbeck) are asked to practice exclusively at the club.

"With Barrie, we need to work on more specific things like compulsories and things like that — we need to work on higher level skills. Most club gymnasts aren't at Barrie's level and I let them attend their high school practice. It's not a big problem," Watson said.

"I see what the rule is trying to get at and their point is well-taken," Watson said. "But, it's like they are trying to start a car without gasoline."

The Representative Council, which will ultimately decide on these two issues, is a 19-member board comprised primarily of school district superintendents, board members and principals.
