City to act on block grants

The Plymouth City Commission is expected to adopt the 1985 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) budget at tonight's regular meeting.

The commission recently held a public hearing on the budget proposed by Paul Sinecock, assistant to the city manager and grant coordinator.

"As you are aware, the city of Plymouth is a part of the Wayne County CDBG program," Sinecock wrote to the commission recently.

Early reports show that we should receive $70,000 to $73,000 under the 1985 program," he wrote.

CONSEQUENTLY, SINECOCK prepared and presented a $73,000 budget. The budget includes the following programs:

- Fire department extrication and hazardous materials unit, plus equipment $25,000
- Senior van transportation program, excluding fuel and maintenance costs, $17,000
- New printing press for the Cultural Center, $10,000
- Administration of the CDBG program, $7,300
- Neighborhood Watch program donation, $4,000
- Tree planting program, $3,200
- Handicapped recreation and Safety Town programs, $2,500
- Council on Aging donation, $2,000
- Large-print books for the library, $2,000

THE LARGEST item for the fire department is a special project.

The extrication and hazardous materials unit is a three-year program that will buy a unit and some additional equipment to handle this type of emergency," Sinecock said.

Because CDBG money reimburses communities after they have already spent on a project, the city will buy the unit and be reimbursed over the next three years.

The new unit will enable the fire department to handle hazardous situations, as well as serving as a "remote" command post for police and fire operations in the event of a disaster.

THE UPTURN in the economy of the state has led to an increase in train traffic through Plymouth. This increased train traffic results in increased danger of a transportation emergency in the city of Plymouth and the Old Village area," according to Sinecock.

Without the hazard unit, the fire department's ability to contain or handle a rail or even truck cargo fire could be hampered. Plymouth will be the first community in the area to have equipment capable of handling such situations.

"Our fire department should be able to control an emergency situation until such time as an emergency response team from Chemtree can arrive. That takes about four hours," Sinecock said.

THE PROGRAMS for the Council on Aging, the handicapped recreation program, senior van transportation and administration are all projects that are currently funded by block grants," according to Sinecock.

"The large-print books for the library are a part of our long-range plans that were set three years ago," he said.

The commission is expected to approve the budget without changes. The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor auditorium at City Hall, the corner of Main and Church streets.

Street repaving, dances on agenda

Plymouth residents may be dancing on newly repaved streets, depending on how the City Commission votes at tonight's regular meeting.

Street paving and street dancing top the agenda for tonight's session, which starts at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor auditorium at City Hall at Main and Church. A pre-commission meeting starts at 7 p.m. in the city manager's conference room.

Commissioners will be asked to approve a special event permit for the 1985 Street Dances sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and will act on acceptance of a special assessment roll for the 1985 paving program.

The street dances are proposed for Penniman Avenue, between Union and Farmer, every Friday night in June, July and August. The dances serve as a community promotion activity sponsored by the Chamber.

"We anticipate operating the series of dances just the same as last year," according to Michael Ball, promotion committee chairman.

The events, which are expected to draw about 500 people each Friday, are 7:30-10:30 p.m.

Commissioners are expected to approve the request, with the stipulation that the sponsors ensure a 20-foot fire lane is maintained.

CITY ASSESSOR Ken Way has prepared the special assessment roll for the proposed 1985 street paving program.

To proceed with the program, commissioners must accept the roll and order that it be placed on file.

The roll must be available in the city clerk's office for public inspection prior to approving it so that property owners can confirm their assessed footage.

Besides accepting the roll tonight, commissioners are expected to establish a May 21 public hearing on the roll.

Homeowners living on streets targeted for repaving will be assessed based on their front footage. The special assessments will cover 75 percent of the program's total costs, while the remaining 25 percent comes from the city's general fund.

At an earlier meeting, commissioners decided to exclude Evergreen Street, between Junction and Penniman. The decision was based on objections from residents living on the street.

Residents from two other streets, Hartsough and Roosevelt, also asked that their streets be eliminated from the program and presented petitions to that effect.

The Commission decided to leave those streets in the program, with the understanding they could be removed before confirming the special assessment roll.

OTHER ITEMS on tonight's agenda include action on amendments to the Economic Development Corp (EDC) bylaws.

The city's EDC was established to offer financial inducements to encourage development in the city. Most of the inducements come in the form of EDC bonds, which provide developers with a method to raise capital at lower interest rates than conventional methods.

The change in bylaws must be done to reflect the latest changes in Public Act 338 of 1974, which is the EDC enabling act, according to City Manager Henry Graper.

"We are presenting these changes to you for your consideration and this must be done in order for us to stay in line with the act," he said.

Commissioners also will be asked to approve a special event permit for the Plymouth Church of God to hold a walkathon on April 27.

The church plans to sponsor the event to raise money for missions, according to the Rev. Floyd R. Henderson.

Although the city is being asked to approve a permit, the majority of the event will be held in Hines Park. The course will run from the church, on Mill, to Starkweather to Hines Drive to Newburgh.

Graper has recommended approval of the event, which will start at 10 a.m.

Japanese firm locates in area

Groundbreaking ceremonies announcing the start of construction happen everyday around the country, but not like the one in Canton Township Thursday.

Sake replaced champagne, sand dubbed for dirt and bamboo decorated the area — each symbolizing good luck — during the Japanese tradition called Jichin-Sai. Township officials beamed as management from the American Yazaki Corp. staged the ritual proclaiming the start of construction on a $10 million manufacturing and research center in Canton.

SHINJI YAZAKI, chairman of American Yazaki, flew in from Tokyo to take part in the event, which derives from Shinto religious beliefs and has developed into a national Japanese custom.

"When we first started talking about having this we thought about 15 to 20 people would be there," said David Nicholson, director of economic growth, who was instrumental in landing the deal with Yazaki. As it turned out more than 60 people showed including Gov. James Blanchard, county and local politicians as well as masses of media teams.

"According to the Japanese, April 11 is a good day for groundbreakings," said Nicholson after the event. With a chuckle he added that he kept an umbrella in his car as a good luck charm to ward off rain.

"Everything worked out just fine," Nicholson said.

An altar at the front of the ceremony area held wooden bowls with sake, raw fruit, vegetables and fish. The purpose of the ritual is to call for blessings to ensure safety of the workmen, successful construction of the building and the future prosperity of the owner, according to a pamphlet circulated at the ceremony.

Bamboo trees — pointed in four directions were connected by a white rope, and encompassed an area considered sacred. White sand symbolized purified earth. Sake and salt were poured near each bamboo tree calling for the power of KAMI, a group of deities from heaven and earth, to bless and protect the entire site.

"Because the Japanese people believe bamboo trees live for at least 1,000 years, once blessed, the area will be held sacred and protected from outside evil forces for as long as the trees live," the pamphlet said.

Prison crowding started in '70s

Joint committee reports on need for inmate beds

analysis

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Michigan's inmate population has swelled to levels requiring additional prison space due to a number of related factors.

An increase in serious violent crimes, longer prison sentences and the governor's refusal to implement the Emergency Powers Act (EPA) are the reasons cited for additional prison capacity in a legislative report.

The recently released document is an interim report of the special joint committee on state prison construction and financing.

The committee is scheduled to make its final report at the end of this month.

The special committee started its hearings in February, the same time negotiations started for a state takeover of the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo).

The state is expected to buy the compound portion of DeHoCo, on Five Mile Road between Beck and Ridge roads, from Detroit for $6.3 million.

Between 750 and 500 state inmates will be transferred to the Plymouth Township facility.

"PRISON OVERCROWDING is not a new problem," according to members of the special committee, which includes Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

"During the mid-1970s the state had as many as 2,000 more prisoners than rated beds in the system," the report states.

"At that time, prisoners were housed in recreation facilities, garages, modular units, bulkheads and county jails."

In 1980, Public Act 519 was passed. The act, called the Emergency Powers Act, enabled the governor to authorize the early release of eligible prisoners to reduce the state's prison population.

Since becoming law, the EPA has been triggered nine times in efforts to keep the number of prisoners within the system's capacity.

"Recently, however, intake has outstripped the ability of the EPA to reduce population below capacity. Furthermore, the governor has declined to approve the early release of prisoners in a 10th triggering of the act to protect the public from the premature release of prisoners.

"A resulting surge in prison population growth has caused the number of prisoners to swell to 13,422 (343 above capacity). Population has been growing since January at a rate of 90-95 per month," the report states.

The Department of Corrections forecasts a need for an additional 5,100 prison beds within the next five years if the trend continues.

WHAT IS behind the trend?

"Prison populations have grown primarily due to the lengthening of the average minimum sentence and the increase in prison intake.

"Minimum sentence length has increased partly because of the large increase during the '70s of serious violent crime rates," the report states.

"The crime rate is just now beginning to decline, but the prisoners remain. Recent trends toward a 'get tough on crime' philosophy places additional pressure upon courts to convict and give longer sentences."

The special committee has considered several options to meet the growing needs, besides prison construction.

"Various sentencing options including intensive supervision in probation and parole could be used for inmates deemed to be appropriate risks."

One of the methods for assessing risk, which the committee reportedly has looked at, is used by the state of Iowa. Iowa's method is believed to lead to reduced parolee recidivism — which reduces the prison population.

The Phoenix Correctional Facility in Northville Township, on Five Mile across from DeHoCo, is one of Michigan's centers for parole violators. Phoenix currently houses 311 inmates.

"Various community corrections programs are in the process of evaluation and may increase the state's knowledge regarding what sorts of pro-

Applications are being accepted for the 1985-86 Schoolcraft College Presidential Scholarships. Recipients receive $500 their first year at Schoolcraft, and the awards are renewed for the second year if the student completes 26 credit hours with a minimum of a 2.5 grade point average. For applications or information, call the Schoolcraft College Financial Aid Office at 591-6400, Ext. 350.

● VETERANS PROGRAM EXTENDED

Area Vietnam era and disabled veterans should be aware of recent changes affecting the Veterans Readjustment Appointments (VRA) program. VRA is a federal hiring program providing special, non-competitive hiring of these veterans. Originally scheduled to expire Sept. 30, 1984, the program has been extended through Sept. 30, 1986, through passage of the Veterans Benefits Improvement Act (PL 98-543). It is not expected that the VRA program will be extended beyond that date.

In addition to extending the program, PL 98-543 raised the entry grade level maximum from GS/WG-7 to GS/WG-9 and also provided limited appeal rights during the first year of appointment. A Vietnam era or disabled veteran who has completed no more than 14 years of education may qualify for a VRA. (This restriction may be waived for disabled veterans.) For further information, interested veterans may call the local American Legion hotline at 453-9494 and leave a message regarding information desired.

● COMPUTERS IN LIBRARY

Four Apple IIe computers are available for public use in the Dunning-Hough Library, 223 S. Main, Plymouth. Children younger than age 14 will be required to attend a training workshop or pass a users test. Children younger than age 8 must be accompanied by a parent while using the computer. All patrons must have a library card and must sign a responsibility card also signed by a parent or guardian. Once the responsibility card is on file at the library, patrons may reserve computer time and software. Rules and instructions for using the computers, the responsibility card, and a list of software are available at the library. For more information, call 453-0750.

● MINOR HOME REPAIRS

The Conference of Western Wayne Minor Home Repair Program has been funded through Senior Alliance Inc., for fiscal year 1985. The program assists persons 60 and older and owning their home with minor home repair tasks. For information, call 525-8690.

● DIABETIC SUPPORT

A Diabetic Support Group will begin meeting 7-8 p.m. the third Monday of each month at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center at Warren and Canton Center Roads in Canton.

Turning Point is a non-profit community service of Growth Works Inc. which offers crisis intervention and counseling.

Auto theft: toughest to prove

By Dave Varga
staff writer

ONE SCENARIO involves a car thief going to a shopping mall and copying down the license number and vehicle identification number (VIN) from a dashboard of a car. Then he gets access to a state computer to find the car owner's name and address. The thief says he changed his address, lost the title for the car he wants to sell and applies to the state for a new one, under the real owner's name.

He goes out and steals a car with the same year and make as the one he saw in the shopping mall. Six weeks later he is mailed a title for the car. He adjusts the (VIN), drives the car out of state and sells the car to an unsuspecting buyer.

That may be one of the more elaborate scams. Some thieves go for the quicker buck by delivering their hot cars to "chop shops." But either way the stolen car business has grown and grown into a massive profitmaking venture.

"SURE IT'S increasing," said Sgt. Bruce Saller of the Michigan State Police's auto theft bureau. "What's the penalty — a slap on the wrist?" "Auto theft is the toughest crime to prove. You catch a guy in a stolen car and what've you got. Nothing. It's tough to prove knowledge."

Saller, who recently ran a series of seminars to let the police know what the thieves know, said the Detroit area ranks second nationally in stolen cars. Only Boston — where a car is stolen every 45 seconds — has a higher auto theft rate.

Saller talked about the tools of the trade. There are special tools thieves use to get in your car, everything from a "slim jim" which is what most police departments use if you lock your keys in the car, to a small wire that allows thieves to get in a 1979 or older Ford "within five seconds," Saller said.

There are rubber keys which also cause little damage and cost about $36 for a set of six, and there are vice grips that grab a door lock — a "crude way to get in," Saller commented.

ONCE INSIDE, the thief uses other tools to start the car. They have "slam-pullers," which are designed to rip through an ignition into the steering column. Then, the tool can be turned with a wrench to start the car. If that doesn't work, the thief removes the device and jams in a screwdriver, which he can twist to start the car.

There is also a turnbuckle used on the ignition, an ignition-puller that is somewhat obsolete and a standard long-handle screwdriver that can be employed, Saller said. Either way, the steering column is virtually ruined, needing about $300 in repairs.

General Motors and Chrysler cars get the columns broken out, while Fords are slam-pulled, Saller said.

For professionals, getting a car started takes 20-30 seconds, Saller said.

Once the car is stolen, the thief can remove the screwdriver or whatever was used to start the car and insert a fake ignition with a key to make things look normal.

THE HOT CAR is taken directly to a garage where it is dismantled so the parts can be sold. Saller said he has seen a film of a group of three men who took apart the major parts of a 1981 Cutlass trunk, doors, front and rear sections — in 12 minutes, 17 seconds, without power tools.

The parts are then moved in pickup trucks, vans, and U-Haul-type rental trucks to parts brokers. The entire process can be completed within one hour. So officers have to be aware of what to look for to stop car thefts before they happen, Saller said.

"Look in the car. If you see a screwdriver on the floor, but it doesn't have a tip on it, or you find an ignition butterfly or a slam-puller you might have something," Saller said. "Why would a guy have a turnbuckle in his car, or why would somebody have a dummy ignition on the floor of a car?"

He cautioned police that just one or two items would be tough to prove as burglary tools. But a series of little things, such as a single key in the ignition, should trigger suspicion.

AS FOR PARTS movers, Saller told police. "Look for pickups with tarps over the back ends. Look at vans, rental vans and look at the people driving them. Look at whether they can afford the $45-a-day rental price. Then look at how you can get in to see what they're hauling," he added.

Saller stressed that officers should check with the state computer for title information on any suspicious cars. If there is no title information, check on the vehicle identification number with the state, he added.

Michigan has more than 40,000 retagged cars, those with new or altered identification numbers.

Among the methods thieves use are taking the VIN plate, federal registration sticker and title from a totaled out, old car. They steal a car just like it and install the identification. Then they buy plates for the car and it's almost impossible to detect.

Saller said officers might be able to detect whether a registration sticker has been removed by looking at the edges.

THIEVES ALSO change VIN numbers to fit a registration. They use compounds used by dentists or bondo to build up the metal plate, often interchanging a G and a 6, a 5 and an S, a 2 and a Z, or a B and an 8. Then they file them and paint over them.

With vehicles from 1979 or earlier, thieves can remove six screws and switch a dashboard from a legitimately owned rust-bucket, into a stolen, "cherry" car. "It takes about five minutes," Saller said.

Even though an altered VIN might match the registration when an officer runs a computer check, Saller said the car could be stolen unless the officer is aware what to look for. "They have a bunch of tickets in the glove box. They're looking at us guys and saying, 'I got away and that copper didn't even look,'" Saller said.

Saller also warned officers to be aware of "the gray market" for Mercedes Benzes, Porches and other imported cars not made for America, which have no federal registration stickers or VINs. Thieves ship stolen foreign cars from this area overseas, where the local VIN is removed and a foreign VIN, that is not traceable, is applied.

Although there are only about 200 of these cars in Michigan, Saller said, "Gray market cars are really going to be a problem in the future."

Polio vaccine has helped ease the suffering

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

While the medical world is quietly celebrating the 30th anniversary of the discovery of Salk Vaccine that curbed the spread of infantile paralysis, Dr. Lee Feldkamp, the Plymouth family physician, took time out to declare that the discovery is one of the greatest things that ever happened for the benefit of sufferers.

Now in practice for 35 years, Dr. Feldkamp recalled the days before the vaccine came on the scene and the horrible suffering of the young people in this entire area.

"It was so bad," he said, "that I hated to see the warm months of May, June, July and August coming. I knew we always were headed for trouble."

Before going into details, he praised the way residents cooperated to make the task a bit easier and through that cooperation, saved many lives.

FELDKAMP, who still makes house calls, recalled that he set up two clinics in the city — the largest being at Starkweather School — and they proved to be the answer.

"Everyone who could spare the time," he said, "gladly joined in the battle to save the limbs of the youngsters who were stricken with polio."

"We worked days and nights to help wherever help was needed and the manner in which the people joined in was something one never forgets."

"The best part of this discovery is that success was noted as soon as the vaccine was handed down."

"Dr. Jonas Salk worked on it for a long time and even now, 30 years later, it still ranks as one of the greatest of all contributions made to medicine."

WHILE WORKING on developing the vaccine, Salk was given plenty of help in the way of cash. It was at the height of his work that the March of Dimes organization was formed and went to work immediately to help the cause.

At the start, the bowlers in the state of Michigan joined hands in organizing a statewide tournament and set a goal of $100,000.

The call for help was answered and the goal was narrowly missed the first year. But the second year and all the following ones, the goal was passed.

What helped was that the Michigan plan was copied across the nation and because of the bowlers' generosity, the goal was reached.

When that happened, Dr. Salk set up his headquarters in San Diego which still is the center of all official (organizational) activity.

BUT AS FELDKAMP explained the actions of Plymouth residents, especially the Visiting Nurses Association, he vowed that it was one of the most successful efforts ever seen in the Plymouth area.

"There is no telling how many children were spared the agony of the dreaded polio," Dr. Feldkamp continued, "but it was the cooperation of the residents and several major groups that brought the smiles of joy to the homes of the stricken."

"Nothing like it ever happened before, or since, and Dr. Salk is entitled to all the praise that has been given to him."

"And this 30th anniversary is a great time to call attention to the cooperation of the Plymouth people in time of need."

Volunteers ready for cancer drive

More than 340 volunteers will go door-to-door April 27 through May 6 in Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth to distribute information about cancer and to raise funds to battle the disease.

Dorothy Keefe will coordinate the campaign in the Plymouth area. April is Cancer Control Month. The American Cancer Society is asking volunteers to call on neighbors and friends to give them life-saving information about cancer.

Last year some 5,800 pieces of educational literature were distributed to Plymouth residents and more than $9,200 was raised during the residential drive.

For 1985 the education focus is cancer of the colon and rectum.

According to the American Cancer Society colorectal cancer is one of the most curable forms of cancer and also one of the most misunderstood.

MOST PEOPLE believe colorectal cancer is uncommon but, in fact, about 134,000 cases will be diagnosed in the U.S. this year. About 1,225 of these cases will be in Wayne County.

The American Cancer Society reports that almost three of four colorectal patients can be saved if the disease is discovered early and treated promptly.

Information on cancer detection and prevention are available from the Wayne County office of the American Cancer Society at 6227 Inkster, Garden City 48135, phone 425-6830.

Committee reports on prison needs

grams are most effective and how others might be improved."

The philosophy behind community corrections, commonly called half-way houses, is to help the convict successfully re-enter society.

Such programs provide a step between prison and society and work with the inmate in refining social behavior and finding employment.

By providing rehabilitation and training, corrections officials believe the chances of having repeat offenders is diminished. But use of the EPA has circumvented such programs and, in part, leads to increased prison populations as early-release inmates are convicted of repeat offenses.

"Community corrections centers have recently experienced a population decline due in part to the effects of repeated triggering of the EPA on the eligible pool for pre-release placement centers."

IN 1980, two acts were passed which established Michigan's regional prison plan.

The first, Public Act 485, set the geographical boundaries for nine prison regions. The second, Public Act 303, established a process for selection of specific sites for regional prisons, including community correction centers for pre-parole release.

The regional system will take a different approach to corrections. By constructing the proposed $35 million, 550-bed prisons within certain areas, offenders will be incarcerated closer to their homes — providing their families the opportunity for frequent visits.

Also, the multiple-story prisons are designed to house different levels of prisoners ranging from maximum to minimum security. Currently state prisons are built to house only one category of prisoners — maximum, medium or minimum security.

Because the regional prison would provide all levels of security, inmates stay at the same facility as they move through the security levels leading to release — instead of being transferred.

This enables inmates to continue working with the same rehabilitation staff while serving their sentence. Corrections officials believe such a system would increase the effectiveness of rehabilitation efforts and decrease the number of repeat offenders.

The first regional prison, the Scott Correctional Facility, is under construction in Northville Township, adjacent to the Phoenix site.

"Based upon current population projections, six to nine regional prisons will be needed by 1990, with a potential need of an additional 4,000 to 5,000 beds or eight to 10 regional prisons by the mid-1990s," the committee reports.

"Locating this number of sites over the next 10 years will be difficult given the usually negative reaction of people to location of a correctional facility in their community or neighborhood."

The cost of operating the increased number of prisons is projected to increase the corrections department budget to $500 million by 1988, a 50 percent increase over the 1985 budget.

IN THE next two weeks, the special committee is expected to review its findings and make a recommendation to the Legislature.

Among the items which will be considered is financing prison operations, and exactly how many prison beds the state must prepare for.

As is the case with DeHoCo, the committee plans to determine where temporary beds can be placed, the maximum size for temporary sites, and how to ensure when a temporary facility will be closed.

The committee also plans to consider building prisons, leasing them, or contracting for corrections from the private sector. They also will discuss modular construction and conversion of existing facilities.

According to the report, the committee has assembled all the facts on these questions and now faces the task of deciding the future for Michigan's correctional system.

YMCA serves up spring classes

Classes and activities for preschoolers and older youth are being offered in the spring program offered by the Plymouth Community Family YMCA.

Most spring classes begin the week of April 22.

Registration, required before the first class session, may be handled at the YMCA's office at 248 Union in Plymouth. Specific information on fees and course description may be obtained by calling the Y at 453-2904.

PRESCHOOL FITNESS is for ages 3-5 from 10:30-11 a.m. Saturdays in the gymnasium of Bird Elementary School. The class will teach gross motor skills, coordination, balance, rhythm and explore space.

Kreatives is a group experience in arts, crafts, music, games and forms of creative expression. Bonnie Graham, who has a master's degree in early elementary education, teaches Kreatives which meets from 10 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth on North Territorial Road.

Preschool pre-ballet is 4:45-5:15 p.m. Mondays and 10:30 a.m. Saturdays in the Bird gym. Preschoolers will learn movements and dances, preparing them for ballet.

A beginning preschool group piano class will be from 1:15-2:15 p.m. Thursday and 1-2 p.m. Friday at Charlotte Moore Viculin Music Studio. The class will feature introduction to music with emphasis on piano, and group musical games to teach rhythms and notes. The class will help a child discover musical aptitude.

Preschool tumbling will be 10:30-11:15 a.m. Mondays and Wednesdays, and 4-4:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays in the gym of the Salvation Army Community Center on South Main south of Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth. Class will cover the basics of floor gymnastics, front forward roll, backward roll, cartwheels, walk-overs, and floor exercises.

Preschool pre-tap will be 4:15-4:45 p.m. on Mondays in the Bird School gym and will teach the basics in tap dancing and various dance routines.

A preschool "Hugs and Tugs gym-buree," featuring parent/child exercise, will begin the week of April 22 and run six weeks at various times for tots, babies and toddlers in the Bird gym on Saturdays.

Attention will be given to development of gross motor, sensory, emotional and cognitive skills. Parachute and other equipment will be used for physical development.

YOUTH AND TEEN activities include soccer skills on Saturdays at Allen School, Saturday Baseball Skills at Allen, Saturday Track Skills at Allen, and tennis classes on Saturday and Sunday at the Plymouth Canton High tennis courts.

The After School Y World of Sports will be 4-5:30 p.m. Mondays at Hulsing and Smith, Tuesdays and Bird and Galimore, Wednesdays at Field and Isbister, and Thursdays at Miller and Allen school playgrounds.

Break dancing will be taught from 5:15-6 p.m. on Mondays in the Bird gym. Learn the safe way to do street dancing by doing warm-up exercises, basic skills walk. For ages 12 and older.

A spring youth golf class will be held at Oasis Golf Course with Bob Kuhn as instructor from 9-10 a.m. Saturdays.

Driver's education will run three weeks beginning April 23 for ages 15-18 from 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays at West Middle School taught by Accurate Driving School.

A teen tap dancing class will be 3:15-4 p.m. Mondays at West Middle School. After school tumbling will be offered from 4:45-5:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays for ages 6-9 in the Salvation Army gym.

OTHER YMCA activities for youth and adult include:

English and Western horseback riding lessons at Windshire Equestrian Academy, 2552 Wixom Road, Milford.

Dog obedience classes at Oddfellows Hall from 7-8 p.m. for basic and 8-9 p.m. for intermediate on Mondays.

Computer systems applications and programming from 3:30-5:30 p.m. for 12 years and older with Commodore 64 in the Computer Time shop at 770 Penman Avenue next to the Penn Theatre in Plymouth.

Adult guitar will be taught from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Wednesdays at the YMCA office, creative photography from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays at West Middle School, and summer door decoration (silk and dried flower hat) from 7-9 p.m. Thursdays at the YMCA office.

Larry Janes will lead two cooking classes, an introduction to microwave cooking from 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays in the YMCA office and a specialty micro cooking class from 7-9 p.m. Mondays at the Y office.

Lighting cited in fire at house

A thunderstorm April 6 is being blamed for a Plymouth house fire.

Lighting knocked out a feedline to the house at 838 Harding, according to Acting Fire Chief Al Matthews.

Detroit Edison repair crews were called to restore power to the home. Shortly before 4 p.m. April 6, the crew turned the power on, Matthews said.

"When they hooked the lines back up, there was a short either in the dishwasher or the panel, we don't know which," he said. "When the power came on, fire shot out of the panel."

The sparks and flames ignited the basement ceiling and a pile of clothing. Firefighters were called almost immediately.

"The guys made a quick attack and contained the fire; otherwise there would have been more damage," Matthews said.

Although no one was injured, the brief fire caused an estimated $10,000 damages. Matthews said most of the damage was smoke-related, as well as actual flame damage and water damage from a broken water line.

Design student earns $10,000 grant for art

Mathew Papa of Canton has earned a $10,000 tuition grant for his artistic ability.

Papa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Papa of Willow Creek, Canton, is a student in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Last week the School of Art and Design of Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N.Y., announced that Papa had been awarded a four-year partial scholarship to Pratt for the excellent quality of art work he entered in the institute's Fashion National Talent Search.

Papa's work will be on exhibition in the Institute Gallery now through April 16 and will be represented in the National Talent Search exhibition catalog to be sent to high school art departments throughout the country.

Papa, who is enrolled in the vocational design class taught by Richard Saunders at Plymouth Canton High, plans on attending Pratt Institute in the fall of 1985.

Saunders and Cathy Laiho, vocational technician, helped Papa in preparing his portfolio for presentation to the institute by offering support and encouragement.

Papa also is a cosmetology student at the Plymouth-Canton College of Hair Design. He recently earned a first place in hair cutting in state competition.

Lucas lauds, union

Wayne County's $800,000 surplus last year might have been larger if county commissioners had agreed sooner to dispose of Wayne County General Hospital, Executive William Lucas said.

Meanwhile, the president of the county's largest employee union charged Lucas with improperly using the appeals court system to impede workers' benefits.

AN AUDIT for the fiscal year which ended last Nov. 30 showed the surplus. Lucas said the results included a $13 million operating loss at the hospital, located in Westland, and $12 million in additional costs for indigent health care.

The county facility was leased to Southwest Detroit Hospital, which operates it as Westland Medical Center with an option to purchase. Commissioners approved the deal in mid-summer.

Chief financial officer Fred Todd called the year "a significant turning point for Wayne County as the beginning of a new era of fiscal responsibility. It is truly remarkable that this administration has been able to achieve a balanced operating budget despite all the major obstacles encountered during the first two years."

Todd said $12 million was saved by cutting contributions to the retirement system in half.

JAMES GLASS, president of the Michigan Council of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, chided Lucas' remarks on the decision of the Michigan Employment Relations Commission. MERC awarded millions of dollars of back pay and interest, saying Lucas improperly cut benefits.

"Lucas has been ruled wrong by impartial Michigan courts and by the Employment Relations Commission," Glass said. "He and his administration have been told to make county employees whole again and to pay 5 percent in interest penalty on all monies owed to the employees... although this will cost the county over $1 million in interest."

Lowell NHS inducts 45

At the first convocation of the Lowell Middle School National Honor Society, 45 ninth graders were inducted into the organization.

Pledging themselves to be "loyal to their school" and "to maintain and encourage high standards of scholarship, service, leadership, character and citizenship," they were inducted in a candle-lighting service.

Conducting the service were teachers Curt Perry, Ann Massey and Bonnie Goodrich, assistant principal Maureen Murphy and principal Patricia Patton.

Students inducted were: Veenu Aulakh, Scott Bahnke, Shannon Beeding, Maria Blendea, Trevor Boyd, Tonya Bullard, Danielle Busick, Bradley Carey, Angela Cieslick, David Colasinski.

Lisa Conner, Jennifer Cordon, Kara Cummings, Wendy Duren, Erica Eicher, Martin Ewald, Deborah Finlay, Margaret Foley, Aimee Hayden, Johathan Hobgood, Jodi Houdek, Christine Hughey, Susan Hulsebus, Brian Juchartz.

Kristin Kangas, Vicki Klaf, Pamela Klei, Julie McCann, Kimberly McClanahan, Scott Mueller, Daniel Nowicki, Tracey Power, Brian Riddering, Amy Solak, James Swiecki, Virginia Swiecki, Jacqueline Waiter, Cherie Weaver, Jacqueline Woucik and Lori Worrall.

This is the first year of the Lowell Middle School Junior National Honor Society. Seventh and eighth graders who are elected to the service group will be inducted near the end of the school year.

Parent advisers for the group are Sue Krieger, Joyce Young and Barbara Schendel.

Whether using veal or apples, French cuisine entices

From the cafe-riddled streets of Paris to the spectacular countryside of Bordeaux and Alsace, France is an American's version of paradise.

Those who have traveled across the Atlantic, or have just imagined the picturesque scenery and the smells and sounds of France, have learned to appreciate the longstanding customs and traditions of this country, and its people's painstaking striving for perfection which illuminates everything that is French, from fashion to food and wine.

On the subject of food, who can match the Parisians with their flair for taking the simplest of ingredients and bringing forth dishes which delight the eye and the senses.

The presentation of these dishes is magnificent, befitting the people and the culture of this country, unique in all the world.

It is an accurate tribute then, to these people, their homes and their cuisine, that a book be put together that mirrors their attention to detail and love of harmony, which is evident in every facet of their lifestyles.

IT IS a book which highlights more than the food offered in restaurants and inns but, through beautiful photos, enticing descriptions of the restaurants themselves, both interior and exterior, and the surrounding sights as well, bring to life the glorious country.

"The Gourmet's Tour de France" (Little, Brown and Co.) is written by Henry Viard, a highly regarded French food critic. Viard takes his readers on an enchanting trip through 27 of the most famous and picturesque restaurants in France.

For the fortunate who have visited France, this book is sure to rejuvenate memories of places visited, and embellish the experiences which make France such an extraordinary place to visit.

And for those who have postponed their visit, this book will provide the necessary impetus. For anyone with a spirit of adventure, "The Gourmet's Tour de France" offers a tantalizing view of another culture, another lifestyle. Add to this an inherent interest in food and its preparation, and you will probably find yourself dangerously close to finally making the trip.

RESTAURANTS FEATURED in "The Gourmet's Tour de France" include the most popular (Maxim's and La Tour D'Argent) as well as ones which are less well-known, and which may perhaps be considered treasured finds. The restaurants are classified by region, with nine located in and around Paris, and the other 18 scattered throughout the countryside.

If a picture is worth a thousand words, then this text is virtually endless. The photography is splendid, better able to convey the mood and spirit of these restaurants and their people than the most gifted writer ever could.

Brought forth from these pages are detailed accounts of each restaurant, its staff, proprietor and food specialties. Each detail better brings home to the reader, the restaurant's own individuality.

Ingredients and preparations are as varied as the restaurants' actual locations, from the L'Hostellerie du Chateau set in ruins of the Chateau de Fere en Tardenois, to Fouquet's in the heart of Paris, on the bustling Champs Elysees.

INCLUDED BELOW are two recipes which enticingly evoke the culinary delights synonymous with the words, "French Cuisine."

The recipe for Veal Steaks with Mustard Sauce and Mushrooms (Mignon de Veau a la graine de Moutarde) comes from La Vieille Fontaine located near Saint-Germain-en-Laye. The recipe for Apples in Pastry with Raspberry Sauce (Douillon aux Pommes) is from the Chateau d'Audrieu, located about 100 miles outside of Paris.

More than just another pretty picture book, "The Gourmet's Tour de France" whets the appetite for all of the beauty which exists in France awakening the senses, and enriching our lives.

VEAL STEAKS WITH MUSTARD SAUCE AND MUSHROOMS (Mignon de Veau a la graine de Moutarde)

Serves 4
16 veal loin steaks (filet mignon) about 1 1/2 oz. (40 g) each
1 tsp. mustard seed
2 tsp. Meaux mustard (whole grain mustard)

1 cup and 1 tablespoon (25cl) heavy cream
5 tbsp. (70g) butter, softened
Chives or chervil
Lemon juice
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 lb. (400 g) wild mushrooms (chanterelle, boletus or oyster mushrooms, etc.)
Oil — salt and pepper

Clean the mushrooms and cook over moderate heat in a frying pan with a tablespoon of butter and chopped garlic. Once they have given out their water, remove them from the pan with a slotted spoon. Keep warm.

Add the cream and the mustard seed to the pan and boil for 3 to 4 minutes to reduce the sauce. Add the mustard and 3 1/2 tablespoons of butter broken into little pieces. Whisk to combine. Do not boil the sauce. Add salt and pepper as needed and a little lemon juice.

Salt and pepper the veal. Cook it in an oiled frying pan about 2 minutes on a side so it will not dry out.

To serve, place the mushrooms on the center of each dinner plate, place four pieces of veal around them and spoon over the sauce. Garnish each piece of veal with a little chervil or sprinkle over some chopped chives and serve.

APPLES IN PASTRY WITH RASPBERRY SAUCE (Douillon aux Pommes)

Try a lo-cal pasta

Are you counting calories? These days your waistline knows for sure. With so many people taking fitness and food to heart, light eating has become part-and-parcel of the good life, with exciting and satisfying recipes to match.

One method for creating dishes which cross the calorie barrier is to use a favorite low-calorie food in a new way. This recipe for example, uses a vitamin-packed vegetable juice as the vital ingredient. Calorie count? A mere 352 per serving with spaghetti and 253 per serving with spaghetti squash.

SPAGHETTI VIA VENITO
1/2 lb. ground beef
Salt
Pepper
2 cups vegetable juice
1 1/2 cups eggplant cut in strips
1 cup green pepper squares
1 large clove garlic, minced
1/2 tsp. Italian seasoning, crushed
2 tbsp. water
1 tbsp. cornstarch
4 cups hot cooked spaghetti

1. In large bowl, season ground beef with salt and pepper to taste, shape into 16 small meatballs (1 inch).

2. In 2-quart saucepan over medium heat, brown meatballs; spoon off fat.

3. Add V-8 vegetable juice, eggplant, green pepper, garlic and Italian seasoning; heat to boiling.

4. Reduce heat to low. Cover and simmer 10 minutes or until meatballs are done, stirring occasionally.

5. Meanwhile, in cup combine water and cornstarch until blended. Gradually stir cornstarch mixture into sauce. Cook, stirring until thickened. Serve over hot spaghetti. Makes 3 1/2 cups or 4 servings.

352 calories per serving. Variation: Substitute 4 cups cooked spaghetti squash for spaghetti. 253 calories per serving.

the view

Ellie Graham

FIFTEEN YEARS ago, a Plymouth, Michigan, contingent accepted an invitation from the people of Plymouth, England, to help them celebrate the 350th anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower. Among the local residents who made the trip were Mabel and Ralph Lorenz and their youngest sons, Scott and Randy.

The Lorenzes visited St. Andrew Church in Plymouth and became involved in the New World Tapestry project, a plan to make a set of 22 panels, each 11x4 feet in size. The panels were to be hand-embroidered by volunteers and eventually joined together to form a panorama. It was estimated that the project would be completed in 150 years.

Ralph and Mabel were especially interested in the 1620 Pilgrim Fathers panel and as patrons of the work, took the first embroidery stitches in the panel. Ralph also got a commitment that when the panel went on tour, its first showing in the United States would be in Plymouth, Michigan.

The above is a little background from a letter he received last fall from Tom Mor, who is in charge of the project. Mor wrote (in part): "You will no doubt be interested to learn that the 1620 Pilgrim Fathers panel of the New World Tapestry looks like being finished by April 1985. I thought therefore that you'd like to know in case you had any plans for a visit this side of the pond around that time, in which case we can reserve you one of the last stitches to be made, as you did the first."

Because of Mabel's death, Ralph was not going to go. After some time, he decided he and his daughter, Sheila Osan, would make the trip. The response from Tom Mor was enthusiastic:

"It was a most welcome surprise to hear of your intention to come over for the last stitch on the 1620 panel. I have, therefore, great pleasure in confirming the date as being Monday, April 15, and inviting you, as our Patron, to be our Guest of Honour on that occasion and to make, with me, the very last stitch in the panel. Also, as we are starting the 1584 Roanoke panel immediately afterwards, we would be delighted for your daughter to make the first stitch on that one too and both be our guests the evening of the 15th for dinner. We will be picking you up at your hotel at 11 a.m., if you confirm where you will be staying. We will return you there after dinner."

So today, in Plymouth, Devon, the circle will be completed.

THE NIGHTINGALE group of the Plymouth Symphony League has 20 tickets left for its "Evening With Jeffrey Bruce" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 18, at the Plymouth Hilton. The make-up artist of the stars will be in town Wednesday evening and Thursday afternoon to help with the Channel 56 auction.

They will join Jeffrey before his appearance at the Hilton for a dinner hosted by K.C. Mueller. Tickets at $5 per person are available at the Little Professor on the Park, Main Street.

It promises to be a highly entertaining evening with Jeffrey doing a make-up as he discusses Hollywood celebrities. Those who have seen him say he's much more "revealing" in a personal appearance than when he's a guest co-host of the "Kelly & Co." TV show.

HELEN KRUPA, with 6,830 points, had high score at Thursday's party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center. Arlene Schroeder, with 6,780 points, was second. She made a flying finish with a grand slam in no trump on the last hand. There were nine table in play.

SOME OF OUR local craftsmen will be involved in the Country Folk Art Show Sunday, May 5.

Canton residents and their specialties are: Marje Altobello, hand-painted sweatsuits; Pat Dennington, hand-painted duck decoys; George Durham, hand-sculptured clay characters; and Letia Woods, country and scented candles.

Plymouth will be represented by Jean Burbank and Nancy Bessey with country applique, and Jill Lazarus with country stenciling.

Donor match only chance

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

He can say "baby" and "up" and even a few words in Polish. "Help me" is not yet in Brandon Weiss' vocabulary.

But parents of the 21-month-old Southfield toddler, victim of aplastic anemia, Arthur and Gayle Weiss, are voicing an appeal for their young son whose only chance for life is a bone marrow transplant.

And Brandon's physicians at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak and in Ann Arbor are searching meticulously all around the world for a donor to help the small boy.

Chances of finding a suitable donor match are about one in 10,000, according to Dr. Charles Main, pediatric hematologist at Beaumont Hospital.

The necessary surgery between non-family members is rated "dangerous, complicated, and highly experimental for the marrow recipient," by Main, who says it's a simple, overnight procedure for the donor.

For Brandon, it's his only chance since testing has already ruled out family members. His immune system is impaired and he has recently begun to ooze blood from his gums and into his stomach.

"Anybody that's out there is a potential donor," said Arthur Weiss, the boy's father, "and time is of the essence." Potential donors are not being charged any costs for the testing.

APLATIC ANEMIA occurs when the bone marrow which makes red blood cells, white blood cells and platelets shuts down. "It can be caused from exposure to drugs, from illness, or can be congenital," Main said. "We see a case every four or five years."

Brandon was born July 2, 1983. According to Main, who examined the newborn after a request from his pediatrician, Dr. Ruben Kurnetz of Birmingham, his aplastic anemia was present at birth.

"He's also been seen by Dr. Larry Boxer, pediatric hematology department head at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor," Main said. "Dr. Boxer has been making arrangements for a possible bone marrow transplant."

Brandon's had five bone marrow tests and many transfusions since his first hospitalization when he was six months old. A definite diagnosis of aplastic anemia was made in January, according to his parents.

His friends are a menagerie of dolls and animals and his sister, Layne, 3. The special pal who taught him Polish is Basha, the woman from Poland who helps Gayle Weiss with housework and seems to know what Brandon wants almost before he does.

Since his immune system is out of kilter, and as his father says "Brandon's a crawling time bomb," the tot must be kept away from crowds and chances of infection.

"Someone's small cold is his 104 degree fever," his father said.

RECENTLY transfusions of white cells haven't been working well for Brandon who had been getting transfusions three times a week. "His body is building up a resistance and that makes finding a donor even more imperative," his father said.

While the father has appeared on local television asking for help, doctors at Mott's Children's Hospital and Beaumont are conducting tests daily on volunteers who have come forward.

In a few minutes, blood is drawn and then subjected to hours of testing in the laboratory for the tissue typing.

"We've been in touch with centers around the world," Main said.

Recently, a woman donor whose tissue typing indicated a match was found for Brandon in Iowa. Later the parents learned she has been diagnosed as having breast cancer and the chance was lost.

Anyone who wants to help should call 288-8270 (Beaumont) or 1-764-2220 (U-M Mott) from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Brandon Weiss of Southfield, holds his doll friend, Lisa, while his mother, Gayle, holds him. The 21-month-old boy is a victim of aplastic anemia. His only chance for life is a bone marrow transplant.

Papay-Sarowski

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard G. Papay of Carriage Hills Drive, Canton Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Daniel T. Sarowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Sarowski of Provincial Road, Canton.

The bride-elect is a 1980 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. She will receive a degree in art education from Eastern Michigan University upon completion of her student-teaching in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. She also teaches art for the City of Plymouth Department of Recreation, the City of Ann Arbor Department of Recreation, and the Plymouth Community Arts Council. She is employed by Tillotson's Greenhouse and Meijer Inc.

Her fiancé is a 1977 graduate of Catholic Central High School and received his degree in business administration from Eastern Michigan University in 1982. He is employed as asstant manager of the self service department for Service Merchandise Corp. of Roseville.

They plan a June wedding in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Plymouth.

Kuhlmeier-King

Nancy Ann King and Robert Wayne Kuhlmeier exchanged marriage vows April 13 in Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church, Baton Rouge, La., with Monsignor Frey officiating. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Warner King of Sheldon Road, Plymouth. Betty Kuhlmeier of Sioux City, Iowa, and Glen Kuhlmeier of Bossier City, La., are the bridegroom's parents. The bride wore an off-the-shoulder white gown of embroidered organza with ruffle sleeves and hemline. Her fingertip veil fell from a wreath of silk flowers and she carried a bouquet of coquette roses, stephanotis and aetromeria. Kay Lynn Waguespack, matron of honor, and Cindi Cozens, bridesmaid, wore tea-length cotton candy pink and white embroidered organza gowns. They carried fireside baskets of springflowers.

After the wedding reception at the Oak Manor in Windsor House, the couple left for a skiing trip in the Canadian Rockies. They will live in Baton Rouge.

Basket workshops begin Wednesday

The Plymouth Community Arts Council is offering spring classes in basket making. Both afternoon and evening sessions are scheduled. The five-week series begins Wednesday, April 17, with classes 1-3 p.m. or 7-9 p.m. through May 15.

Instructor Theresa Ohno will teach participants to make a variety of interesting baskets. Tuition is $15 and materials are extra.

To register call the PCAC office, 455-5280, between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon, Monday through Friday.

VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION COMPLEX (V.S.C.)

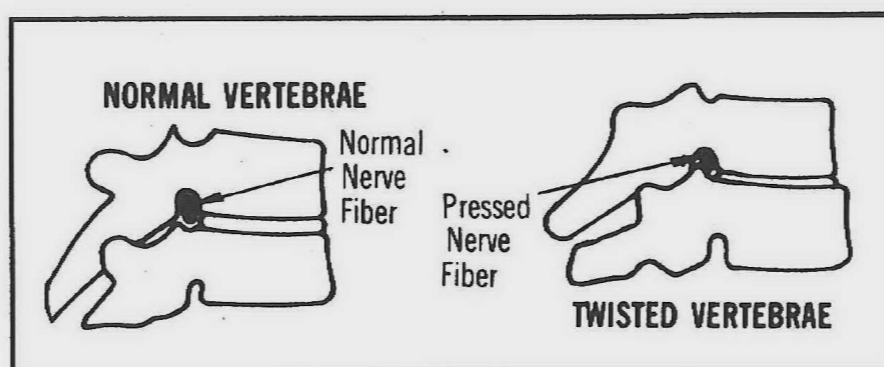

Noted scientist Carl Sagan writes in his book, The Dragons of Eden, that each cell in the body receives a nerve supply from an average of twelve different nerve fibers. When one considers that there are forty quadrillion (40,000,000,000,000) cells in the average human at birth and the entire body only weighs 8 to 10 pounds and by age 20 years, body weight is 15 times its original weight that there are a lot of nerve fibers. There are so many nerves that if everything were removed from the body except the nerves there would be, so great a mass of nerve fibers that the body would retain its exact form and you could not see through it.

Why so many nerves? Science tells us that each cell of the body functions in unison and that unison needs communication. It is the job of nerve fibers to carry communication from brain to cell and cell back to brain. The brain makes the decisions for proper function.

DORLAND'S MEDICAL DICTIONARY, which uses the same definition of health as the World Health Organization, tells us health is a condition of optimum physical, mental and social well being and not merely the absence of diseases and infirmities. By that definition, health is not just the lack of symptoms.

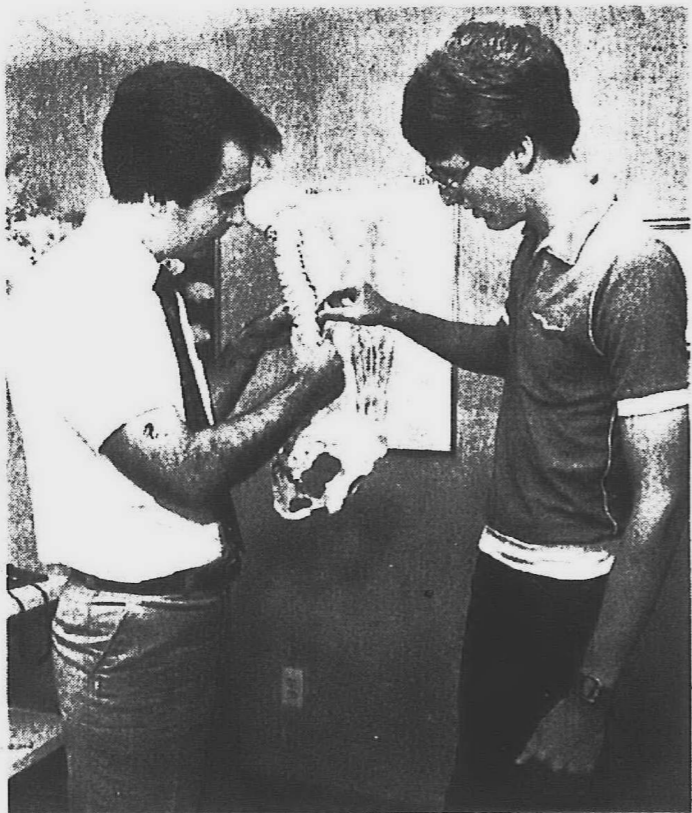

Symptoms are signals from the body which usually appear at the end of a disease process long after the start of the condition.

William Boyd, M.D., author of Boyd's Pathology, which is widely used in medical schools states that all disease first begins with dysfunction. Function is controlled by the nervous system. The main cause of interference to the nervous system is from the vertebral subluxation.

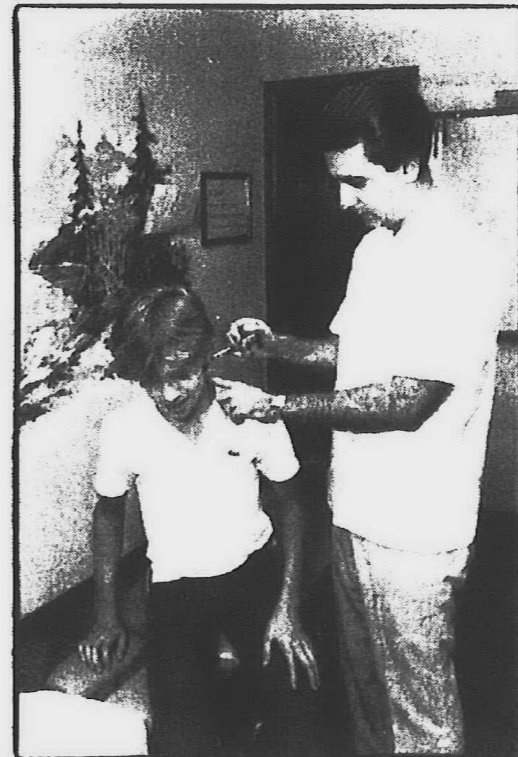

Vertebral subluxation is caused by trauma to the spine causing a vertebrae to slide out of its normal position and to be "locked" there. This in turn caused either compression or stretch on the nerve fiber bundles. When nerve fibers receive pressure, communication is altered.

Altered communication leads to loss of cell function and, as Dr. Boyd said, lost function leads to disease.

DR. MASHIKE SHOWING A VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION TO A PATIENT.

DR. MASHIKE ADMINISTERING A LOW FORCE ADJUSTMENT, THIS TYPE IS GIVEN TO YOUNG PEOPLE AND INFANTS.

Chiropractic is the science of finding and removing vertebral subluxations. I personally do not give spinal manipulations. A manipulation is a gross non specific racking of bones and does more harm than good. A chiropractic spinal adjustment such as I use is a precise scientific predetermined movement of one vertebrae back into its original intended position.

Usually adjustments don't hurt. On large adults the pressure used is more and on Infants the pressure is so light it would not crack an egg.

I urge you to ask questions about the vertebral subluxation and ask for proof to the answers you receive; don't be brushed off or told you wouldn't understand.

I have found thousands of subluxations in thousands of spines and have removed them. My patients have gotten well when they thought there was no hope. If you want to be healthy, I would be pleased to examine your spine and give you an honest evaluation of your subluxations.

"WHERE THE SICK GET WELL"

DR. MASHIKE, B.S.D.C.

Gallo Empire guards its privacy

Regular readers of this column know that the Gallo Empire holds a great fascination for me, as it does most people interested in wine. Its size, its consistent quality, its marketing strategies, its adherence to technical details — but, above all, its size. A holding tank of 1.1-million gallons in Modesto. And its secrecy.

As a private company, Gallo records are not in the public domain. This is the world of successful entrepreneurs Ernest and Julio, winemakers and wine-marketers extraordinaire.

As a winewriter I am "exempted" from visiting its home base Modesto. "Prohibited" is the better word. All wine writers are, as writers. The wine business is, after all, a highly competitive one.

A compromise of sorts was recently worked out to help me learn more about Gallo's operations by its communications director, Dan Solomon. He agreed to meet with me and spend a half day talking wine and visiting Gallo's huge installation in Sonoma County, the former Frei Brothers Winery.

HE WOULD BE able to tell me most of what I wanted to know — about the phase of the operation — and, to help further, he brought along Paul Osteraas who for 40 years has been chief viticulturalist for all of Gallo's grapes.

The former Frei Winery has had a working relationship with Gallo since the 1940s and has been owned by it since the mid-1970s. Here 7-million gallons are processed each year using Sonoma grapes. There is a smaller quality wine producer in Napa but Sonoma is the chief for Gallo's premium varietals.

The whites are grown at Laguna Ranch west of Santa Rosa, the reds in the Dry Creek area. Of all the grapes grown in Sonoma 31 percent go to Gallo (20 percent of all Napa grapes and 40 percent of all Monterey and San Luis Obispo grapes go to it as well).

Its five processing centers (Sonoma, Napa, Livingston, Modesto and Lodi) do only that, press and ferment grape juice. From that point on, all wine is shipped for aging, bottling and finishing to Modesto. (Gallo, of course, is its own bottle maker.) It is estimated by some wine people that Gallo's total annual production is in the range of 50-million cases a year. Others say it is even more.

While at the Sonoma plant my focus centered on the two top varietals it has been producing for the last couple of years, cabernet Sauvignon and chardonnay. Both are made exclusively from North Coast grapes. The chardonnay is a blend of 66-percent Sonoma grapes, 20-percent from Napa, the rest from Mendocino. All see some oak, though the intent is to produce a fresh, crisp wine of only modest complexity, with the intent that it should be drunk now. Hence no vintage dating.

ONE CAN ONLY speculate about the dynamics involved when Gallo decided to vintage-date a cabernet release, the 1978. All the tradition, the marketing philosophy, its image — after all, what is Gallo?

The first issue of cabernet, non-vintage, was sold out in three months, all 40,000 cases of it. This was followed by the 1978, of which a like amount was made. Both are now essentially gone from local shelves. The first was made from Sonoma grapes and had two years in oak. The vintage-dated issue was from Alexander Valley and Dry Creek grapes and had an additional year in Yugoslavian oak.

The third issue, the one we now have locally, is 80 percent from the 1978 vintage and 20 percent from 1981. To my palate it is quite different from its predecessors, but all have been sound.

Contrary to the practice of many of the best winemakers in California, none of Gallo's wines is permitted to undergo malo-lactic fermentation, a kind of secondary fermentation that tends to soften and temper. "Ernest and Julio don't like it," was the simple explanation given.

Touring Paul's cabernet vineyards surrounding the winery was a delight. No weeds, and beautifully cordon-pruned vines, it all had an air of a farmer's land turned into a sculptured jewel. Neither would any deer nor bird attack these grapes. E and J wouldn't let them.

Gallo is perhaps the ultimate in turning the mystique of winemaking into a business operation. Through long-term contracts with growers, through quality control on intense proportion and through fair pricing, the Gallos have helped the entire industry grow into what it is today. California winemaking owes them a lot for helping to bring us out of the dark ages when wine drinking was considered sinful. They have helped teach a nation what we should have known all along.

"Ladyhawke" stars Dutch actor Rutger Hauer as the knight Etienne of Navarre, whom an evil spell has turned into a wolf at night.

the movies

Romantic legend sweeps the screen in tale 'Ladyhawke'

As a successful medieval fantasy, "Ladyhawke" combines top popular interests. First, there's transfiguration — the word's not popular but everybody loves a good werewolf. Then there's romance seemingly impossible of consummation, a lovable smart-aleck, knights in armor, an evil bishop, crack swordsmen and terrific old castles, to say nothing of an over-the-hill monk too fond of the wrong kind of spirits.

"Why, I hear you asking, 'can't the romance be consummated?' After all," you correctly note, "Hollywood can do anything!"

Well, they can, and they do, but it takes about an entertaining hour-and-a-half to work it out.

With haughty reserve, John Wood (Salieri in "Amadeus" on Broadway) plays the evil Bishop of Aquila, consumed by his jealousy of the young lovers: the beautiful lady, Isabeau of Anjou (Michelle Pfeiffer), and the handsome knight, Etienne of Navarre (noted Dutch film star Rutger Hauer).

HOW DID THE bishop discover the lovers' secret? The monk, Imperius (John Wood), Isabeau's confessor, was hitting the wineskin too heavily one night.

Summoning up forces of evil, the Bishop of Aquila condemns Isabeau to being a lady by night and a hawk by day, hence the title. Navarre, on the other hand, is a knight by day and a wolf by night. (No puns, please.)

That looks pretty unromantic: the good knight Navarre, by day riding around the countryside on his big black stallion with a hawk on his wrist, at night out howling at the moon while poor Lady Isabeau shivers alone in the dark.

Enter dramatic change in the person of a condemned young pickpocket, Phillip Gaston "The Mouse" (Matthew Broderick), who shakes things up enough so that the hawk, the wolf, the monk, the knight, the lady and he ride back to Aquila to make sure the bishop doesn't rook the lovers.

"Ladyhawke" is based on a number of medieval legends. To the film's credit, its production effectively creates the atmosphere of heroic fantasy generally associated with that historical epoch.

EXTENSIVE LOCATION shooting was completed in and around three castles near Parma, Italy, castles owned and restored to their 13th century splendor by the late Italian filmmaker, Luchino Visconti, who traced his ancestry to the eighth-century king, Charlemagne. Cinematography was purposefully softened in focus and color temperature to provide a warm, nostalgic mood appropriate to historical fantasy.

Costuming is generally simple and effective in creating the atmosphere of the period. Young Phillippe, the monk Imperius, most of the peasants and Lady Isabeau are garbed in relatively simple outfits, large, smocklike gowns characteristic of a pre-zipper, Velcro and button era. A major exception to simple garb is the bishop's household cavalry, colorfully bedecked in armor and weaponry.

An interesting costume reversal, from the usual black hats vs. the white hats, is the hero clad in black, the Knight Navarre, while the evil villain is in white, Bishop Aquila. Obviously black is a more practical garb for a fighting man (white gets dirty too easily and makes a good target). Black also represents Navarre's temporary imprisonment by forces of evil and matches his horse. The white of the bishop's gown hides the impurity within and represents his hypocrisy.

The cast, with the exception of Michelle Pfeiffer and Matthew Broderick, represents classic European acting, primarily British although Navarre is played by Hauer. I don't know whether it was the print I viewed or the British pronunciation, but the soundtrack is difficult to comprehend at some points.

Acting, however, is sufficiently accomplished to overcome that problem and the general sense of medieval forces of good and evil struggling against one another is quite clear.

Matthew Broderick is particularly good at straddling the thin line between unpleasant, wisecracking remarks and clever observation about the human condition. It is always good fun when the observer has a positive sense of humor about life and its vicissitudes.

Michelle Pfeiffer is the knight's true love who, also victimized by a spell, becomes a hawk at dawn.

Canton hurler Bucky Blake, showing no signs of the arm trouble that ailed him last season, pitched effectively in both Canton victories Wednesday.

Moore's HR helps Rocks earn a split

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

They lost the game they should have won and won the one they shouldn't have.

Nevertheless, Plymouth Salem baseball coach John Gravlin was pleased that his team was able to open the season by splitting a pair of games on a cold, windy Wednesday afternoon.

Defending Class B state champion Redford Thurston came from behind to beat Salem 9-5 in the first game. Salem rallied from a 5-2 deficit to defeat Wayne Memorial in the second game, 6-5.

"Defensively, I was very pleased with the way we played," Gravlin said. "We had only one bad defensive inning the entire day."

But that one bad inning cost the Rocks a victory against Thurston. A solo home run by Rob Adams (in his first varsity at bat) in the second inning and a towering 2-run homer by Darryl Brees put Salem ahead 4-2. And after reliever Dan Knapp retired the Eagles 1-2-3 in the fourth, it looked like Salem was home free.

BUT AN error on a cinch double play ball opened the flood gates for a 4-run Thurston outburst in the fifth, and Salem couldn't catch up.

"The error shook us up," Gravlin said. "Danny (Knapp) started missing the plate, and they got some handle hits. But at this time last year we couldn't even pick up the ball. We're going to be tough this year."

Dave Dziobak wore out both Salem hurlers, starter Brian Tiller and Knapp. Dziobak went 3-for-4 with two screaming doubles off the left-center field fence.

Salem could muster just 5 hits off winning pitcher Dziobak and reliever Greg George.

Salem got just 6 hits off Wayne in the game two, but senior Tom Moore, who had a pair of them, made sure the hits counted.

Wayne erupted for 5 runs in the fifth off reliever Dom DeBello to take a 5-2 lead and had their ace Richard Way working on the mound. But the Rocks went to scrapping. A pair of bunt singles set the table for Moore in the bottom of the sixth.

With two outs, Moore hit a line drive down the left field line that not only cleared the fence but cleared the creek behind the fence as well.

"TOMMY WAS our hero today," Gravlin said. "I was real happy happy for him. He didn't have what you would call a great season last year. He's off to a good start."

Reliever John Storm blanked Wayne over the last 2 1/2 innings on just 3 hits.

Salem won the game for Storm in the bottom of the seventh. Mike Kesson and Scott Dawson singled, and Tim Robinson walked. With 1 out, Brees hit a shot to second base. The second basemen threw home and had Kesson out, but the catcher didn't touch the plate.

"Hey, I'll take it," Gravlin said. "The first game was ours to win. I didn't think we had it in the second one."

Quick start Chiefs strong in double victory

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

If opening day was any indication, the Plymouth Canton baseball team looks every bit as good as the pre-season reviews said it would be.

The Chiefs with strong pitching, hitting and defense, beat Wayne Memorial 10-3 and defending Class B state champs Redford Thurston 6-3 Wednesday.

"This was as good an opening day game as we've had," veteran Canton coach Fred Crissey said. "The first game we hit the ball good and played super defense. We won ugly in the second game, but I was pleased that we were able to come back."

Canton unveiled its new weapon against Wayne. Left-hander Mike Coburn, a transfer from Bishop Borgess, was nearly unhittable through the first 4 innings. He gave up 3 hits and a pair of runs. He fanned 8.

Bucky Blake finished the game. He struck out 6 in the final 3 innings, walked 1 and allowed 2 hits.

MEANWHILE, THE Chief hitters were ringing out 9 hits and circling the bases regularly. Pete Morman, senior first baseman, had a huge day knocking in 5 runs with 3 doubles. Catcher Dwayne Bennett also banged out a pair of hits including a 3-run home run in the fifth.

Dave Knapp knocked in a pair of runs with a long, opposite-field triple that was ruled a single. Knapp was tagged out for missing second base.

Canton played opportunist against Thurston.

With 1 out and down 3-1 in the sixth, the Chiefs were given life when a routine ground ball escaped the Thurston first baseman. The Chiefs went on to score 5 times in the inning.

Jeff Rummel had a 2-run single, Dan Young and Tony Aiken each knocked in runs and Mike Clark had a run scoring single in the inning.

The rally spoiled an otherwise fine pitching performance from Thurston's Chris Kloc, who struck out 4 and walked only 2 going the distance.

Clark got the win for the Chiefs, throwing 2 1/2 innings of scoreless ball. Blake started and pitched the first 2 innings. John Lenders came on and worked 2 1/2. He yielded the 3 runs in the fifth.

THURSTON'S DAVE Dziobak was the main nemesis for the Chief hurlers, banging out 3 more hits. He also had 3 hits against Salem.

Canton, seeking to regain the Western Lakes title it last won in 1982, made only 1 error in the two games, scored 16 runs and banded out 16 hits.

The Chiefs will travel to Walled Lake Western, the defending Class A state champs, on Wednesday.

U-M hopes rest with local stars

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

A 20-5 start for University of Michigan's baseball team and coach Bud Middaugh feels

"Very disappointed. But I'm never pleased, unless we were 4-0 in the (Big Ten) conference, and then I'd still be concerned."

The Wolverines aren't 4-0 in the Big Ten. They're 2-2 after splitting a 4-game set with Indiana at Michigan last week.

Inconsistent pitching hampered them, but Michigan has been getting solid contributions from a pair of regulars: senior tri-captain C.J. Beshke and junior Kurt Zimmerman.

BESHKE, A SECOND baseman from Birmingham Seabolt, has sparked both in the field and at the plate. He's batting .455, second highest on the team. He has 20 hits in 44 trips and has scored 14 runs, hit 4 doubles, 2 triples and 2 homers, stolen 2 bases (in 3 tries) and driven in 11 runs.

"I don't ever anticipate anyone batting 400 for a season," Middaugh said. "I'm real happy with the start he's had."

But of greater importance to Middaugh is Beshke's play in the field. "The position he plays is crucial. Anything he does offensively is a bonus, and he's doing it both ways right now."

Beshke certainly hasn't disappointed with his glove. He's committed just 1 college sports

error in 49 chances for a .980 fielding percentage.

ZIMMERMAN, A JUNIOR who graduated from Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook, has picked up where he left off last year. Zimmerman was Michigan's key performer in the Big Ten Tournament, driving in a record 9 runs to earn tourney Most Valuable Player honors.

"He started really swinging the bat at tournament time. He really got hot. We wouldn't have done what we did without him, I'll tell you that."

What the Wolverines did was qualify for their second-straight College World Series, thanks largely to Zimmerman's bat. The outfielder is batting .353 this season, with 18 hits in 51 at-bats. He's scored 14 runs and collected 3 doubles, a triple, 2 homers, 3 steals (in 5 attempts) and 9 RBI.

"He's playing with a lot more confidence now, and he's playing a lot more at this point of the season than he was last year."

Zimmerman has played left field, center field, first base, third base and filled in as designated hitter. His offensive prowess is his biggest asset, but Middaugh added, "He's not going to Leslie Plichta is one of several reasons why the experts feel Salem will contend for the WLAA softball crown this season.

Rock softball has look of a winner

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Last year, the Plymouth Salem softball team shared the Lakes Division title and finished with a 16-5 record. That team featured one all-conference player and three all-division players. It also featured a trio of outfielders that committed one error between them.

Those players are back, and coach Rob Willette, now in his fifth season, also has a couple of young players ready to step in and contribute.

But before anyone hands the Western Lakes title over to the Rocks, remember that Livonia Stevenson, complete with fireballing all-state hurler Lisa Bokovoy, is still in the league.

"Stevenson is the team to beat," Willette said. "We really need a fast start."

SALEM SPLIT a pair of games with Stevenson last season which enabled the Rocks to gain a share of the division title. And this season, at least on paper, the Rocks appear to have enough firepower to mount a serious challenge to the Spartans and the rest of the Western Lakes.

The Rocks are experienced on the mound with senior Sue Carlson returning. The outfield of Leslie Plichta, Cindy Runge and Patti Maslak may be Observerland's best all-around unit. And Willette has plenty of depth at every outfield position.

The Achilles' heel for Salem could be a group of young infielders. Junior Maggie Meissner, second base, is the only expected starter with experience.

One of the promising newcomers is sophomore shortstop Jessica Handley. Sophomores Marci Walker and Denise Tackett are slated to see duty at third base.

TACKETT IS a valuable player for the Rocks. As a freshman last year she was named all-division and second team All-Area. She can pitch and play third, but she'll be used primarily as a designated hitter.

Juniors Debbie Starr and Lisa Kisabeth are battling for first base duties. Seniors Kim Vesnaugh and Lynnette Poole are competing for the catching chores along with sophomore Bonnie Waller.

Others vying for infield jobs are junior Lisa Perkey, sophomore Jenny Belhart and sophomore Kristin Sobditch (a pitcher).

Adding depth to the outfield are promising freshman Sandy Oberleson, and juniors Kris Bronk and Cheryl Stahley.

The Rocks will open the season Wednesday at Walled Lake Central.

PLYMOUTH CANTON

Max Sommerville's Chiefs began last season by losing their first six games.

Then they stunned heavily-favored Salem and went on to win eight of their last 13 games to finish at 8-11.

Leslee Fidge heads up a strong group of returning players for Plymouth Canton.

Chiefs boast tough 1st unit

A young team, they improved with every game. The nucleus of last year's team is back, making the Chiefs a more competitive unit.

Pitcher Monika Benedict is back along with catcher Leslee Fidge giving the Chiefs an experienced battery.

Others returning from last year include Kristina Wines, Margaret Gilligan, Laura Darby, Diana Knickerbocker and Laura Flaschcamp. Newcomers expected to help out on the varsity level are Laura Bowerman, Jeneen Hill, Elaine Hotchkiss, Dawn Klempert and Laura Matthias. "I think they should be a good team," Rich Barr, Canton junior varsity coach, said. "They have a decent first team. They could be in trouble if anyone should get hurt, though. They aren't that deep, obviously, with only 15 players." The Chiefs open the season at home against Walled Lake Western on Wednesday. (Somerville was out of town over Easter break and couldn't be reached for this article. Information was gathered with the assistance of Barr.)

Wolves' Middaugh grabs the top area baseball talent

hurt you defensively, either." Four young members of the pitching staff have contributed to the Wolverines inconsistency. Each has enjoyed sparkling successes and bitter disappointments.

MIKE IGNASIAK, a freshman from Orchard Lake St. Mary's, has been the most impressive. Ignasiak was slated as Michigan's No. 2 starter on last weekend's trip to Ohio State. "He did very well on our trip south. He's only had 2 bad outings, both against Indiana."

Ignasiak has a 2-1 record and has 2 saves. He has appeared in 6 games, starting 3 and finishing 1. His complete game was a 3-hit, 2-0 victory over Pan American. In 18 2/3 innings, he has surrendered 11 hits, 10 walks and 4 earned runs for a 1.93 earned run average, lowest in the league. He has 13 strikeouts.

"He competes very well. He usually has pretty good control, although he had some problems last week."

"He's got a good command of 3 pitches, although you only really need 2. That's quite unique for a freshman. Any pitcher can win with 2 pitches."

"He's a key to what we are going to do. He throws hard and has good breaking stuff."

PAUL KASPER, another St. Mary's grad and a sophomore, was throwing well until experiencing arm troubles last week.

"I was very disappointed when his shoulder tightened up. The times he's thrown, he's thrown very well. He would have been in position for a starting spot if he'd been able to throw Wednesday (against University of Detroit)."

"He just hasn't had much of a chance."

In the chances Kasper's had, he's produced a 2-0 record without surrendering a run. He was the winning pitcher in a 12-9 victory over Pan American and a 7-1 triumph against Grand Valley State. In 12 innings, he's allowed 7 hits and 6 walks while striking out 8.

WHEN KASPER couldn't go against Detroit, Paul Wenson filled in and did an admirable job. Wenson, a sophomore from Farmington, was credited with the win in the 8-2 game. He pitched 5 innings and allowed 4 hits, 4 walks and 2 earned runs while striking out 4 to earn his first victory.

Middaugh hopes Wenson's performance is an indication of good things to come. In previous appearances, he was clobbered by Western Michigan (5 earned runs in 1 1/2 innings) and Pan American (3 earned runs in 1 1/2 innings). He has allowed 13 hits, 12 walks and 10 earned runs in 10 1/2 innings, compiling an 8.74 ERA.

"Paul's got a little better breaking stuff than most of our pitchers. Control is his biggest problem right now."

A PITCHER MIDDAGH is hoping might develop into a relief stopper is Greg Everson, a junior and a Livonia Bentley grad. Everson transferred to Michigan this year from University of Michigan-Dearborn. Everson is a walk-on who's been hot and cold thus far.

He leads the Wolverines in appearances with 8 and has a 1-1 record and 1 save. In 10 1/2 innings, he's allowed 9 hits, 4 walks and 4 earned runs. He's also surrendered 2 home runs, including a game-winning 3-run homer in a 6-3 loss to Indiana. Everson has struck out 9 and has a 3.50 ERA.

"He's kind of mystifying. When he's good, he's good. When he's bad, he's bad."

"But he does throw strikes. He'll get the ball around the plate for you."

Middaugh called Everson a "situation-type pitcher. He's like our Hernandez or Lopez," comparing him to the two Detroit Tiger relievers.

The pitching will have to jell for Michigan to entertain hopes of repeating as Big Ten champs, Middaugh said. Just how far the Wolverines go this season just might depend on the continued steady play of Beshke and Zimmerman and consistent mound performances from Ignasiak, Kasper, Wenson and Everson.
