Millage explained at public forum tonight

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Plymouth Township residents wondering about the upcoming millage election may have questions answered at tonight's special public forum.

A group of township officials and employees will be on hand for the 7:30 p.m. session, sponsored by a millage committee headed by Trustee Abe Munfakh.

The forum, open to the public, will be held in the meeting room of Township Hall at Ann Arbor Road and Mill Street.

"We will have information about why we are asking for the renewal of millage and explain the purpose of the July 29 millage vote," Munfakh said last week.

"We've let a half mill for fire expire and at the end of the month one mill for police will expire."

"We will have only one mill for fire left, and could possibly levy one more for general operation," Munfakh said.

On July 29 voters will be asked to allow the township to levy up to four mills for operation. The four mills, along with the existing one-mill special tax voted for fire until 2001, will give the township a cap of five mills, exclusive of millage levied for debt retirement.

ALTHOUGH BEING authorized to levy up to five mills, township officials plan to levy between three and four mills in 1985, if the proposal is approved.

In past budget and millage discussions, Township Supervisor Maurice Breen explained that about 3.5 mills was needed for maintaining operations in 1986.

Breen suggested a 1985 rate of slightly more than 3.5, about 3.8 mills, be levied. (The 1985 property tax bill, issued in December, generates revenues for 1986 operations.)

The proposed additional fraction of a mill to be levied would be used to bring the township's fund balance above the projected $160,000 level by year's end.

The township started 1985 with a fund balance (surplus) of more than $400,000. The majority of the surplus will be spent this year for building and equipping the police station — which Breen labels "one time costs."

Township auditors have recommended the fund balance be increased to equal about two months' operating costs — around the $300,000 mark.

Rather than simply seeking millage authorization for what is needed to meet 1986 costs, Breen recommended seeking the five-mill cap (four general plus one fire) to avoid future millage elections.

With a five-mill limit, Breen said the township board can adjust the millage rate each year to match the budget — instead of seeking voter approval each year as costs and property valuations fluctuate.

IN THE past, the township collected one mill for general operation and authorized specially voted mills for police and fire.

Under the current proposal, specially voted millages wouldn't be sought in the future — although the one mill special tax voted for fire would continue to be included in the levy until 2001.

For example: Assuming the July 29 millage vote is approved, and the township decides to levy 3.8 mills, property owners would be billed 2.8 mills for general operation and 1 mill for fire — making a total of 3.8 mills.

No primary yet; 1 pulls out

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

As of last week there weren't enough Plymouth City Commission candidates to force a primary election.

Only eight persons returned nominating petitions as of Thursday, according to City Clerk Gordon Lamburg. Two others have taken petitions out and have until tomorrow to return them.

Those returning petitions are Karl Gansler, H. William Bungey, Robert Jones, William Robinson, Donald Keller Jr., Robert Kroeger, Jean Morrison and Anthony Anason.

If nine or more persons file nominating petitions, the city will hold an Aug. 6 primary. If either of the two with petitions out, Lloyd Daston or Greg Green, file by tomorrow a primary will be scheduled.

At one point there were nine candidates but the ninth — police officer Mel Meek — withdrew after receiving a letter from City Manager Henry Graper.

The letter, citing a state law regarding governmental employees running for their own governing body, outlined three options for Meek: an immediate resignation, immediate leave of employment, or withdrawing his petition.

Government employees are allowed discretion, under the law, in determining whether an employee must resign or leave before being elected.

Meek received the letter the day after he returned his nominating petitions earlier this month.

"I THINK if someone from the front office decided to run, they wouldn't be required to leave," Meek told the Observer last week.

When I worked for the sheriff's department, there were deputies who ran for sheriff and never were required to leave," he said.

Although Graper's letter was written based on the state law, questioned whether it was appropriate surfaced under the circumstances.

As of Thursday, Meek's withdrawal means the difference between holding a primary and not

• In a previous election, officer Jerry Vorva filed petitions for commission and wasn't required to resign or take a leave. Vorva was informed he would have to decide between being a commissioner or officer if elected. He withdrew from the race prior to the election but his name stayed on the ballot, because of the late timing.

• At the point Meek took out nominating petitions, he was being targeted for layoff. He withdrew from the race and his job no longer is being targeted.

"It's a question of when do you face the decision," Mayor David Pugh said Friday.

"Hank Graper made the decision to send the letter and I don't think he consulted the city commission, nor do I think he had to," Pugh said.

Several attempts to contact Graper last week were unsuccessful.

"Hank gave us a memo and asked if we had any questions about what he did," said Pugh, who wasn't certain why the letter was sent when it was.

State now owns DeHoCo

Blanchard cites bipartisan support for moratorium law

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Flanked by state and local dignitaries, Gov. James Blanchard stood in the lobby of the Detroit House of Correction in Plymouth Township Friday morning and bought state felons a new home.

Blanchard signed into law two bills, one authorizing the $6.7-million purchase of DeHoCo and the other placing a moratorium on correctional facilities in Plymouth and Northville townships.

"This is an important day for the State of Michigan," the governor said. "Together with the additional prisons we are building this year, these cells will help us put a lock on Michigan's prison overcrowding problem."

Purchasing and converting DeHoCo into a state prison is "a vital step toward meeting our commitment to provide 3,000 additional prison cells in 1985," Blanchard said.

DEHOCo, RENAMED the Western Wayne County Correctional Facility, temporarily will house 650 medium-security inmates until 1987. After that, the permanent population will be 500.

The $13.3-million renovation of the facility, including increased security and conversion to all single cells, is expected to be completed by the end of July.

The state bought 123 acres of the 1,100-acre site on Five Mile Road, owned by the City of Detroit. The state's parcel includes the prison compound and adjacent trusty dormitories. While signing the bills, Blanchard praised the bipartisan work which made the deal possible.

JOINING THE governor Friday were key legislators who spent the last few months negotiating the purchase.

On the Republican side were Sen. Robert Geake from Northville and Rep. Gerald Law from Plymouth Township.

Geake and Law led the fight for the moratorium bill.

On the Democrat side was Rep. Carolyn Cheeks Kilpatrick of Detroit, chairwoman of the House Corrections Committee. Kilpatrick led the fight for the purchase.

"Strong bipartisan support has given us the will and wherewithal to build new prisons," the governor said.

Although the state could have bought the prison without the moratorium bill, the Republicans threatened to block the purchase and Blanchard agreed to the measure.

THE MORATORIUM limits the state to three facilities in the townships and sets prisoner caps — DeHoCo at 650 temporary and 500 permanent, Phoenix at 311, and Scott at 550. Phoenix and Scott, which is under construction, are on the Northville Township side of Five Mile.

"We think three prisons are a fair share for this area," Blanchard said before signing the first-of-its-kind moratorium.

"Today's signing is made possible by a high degree of cooperation between state and local governments."

MICHIGAN'S prison overcrowding problem has been made worse, in part, by the governor's recent refusal to enact the Emergency Powers Act — which allows for the early release of prisoners.

Although the act has been triggered in the past, Blanchard refused to authorize early releases and demanded that additional prison space be found. "In the past we were cutting our own throat by cutting sentences short — it's a cheap solution for which we paid dearly," he said.

Michigan's correctional system currently is about 700 inmates over capacity with a couple hundred being added every month.

WHIPLASH

Whiplash injuries can result from a sudden backward and forward whipping movement of the neck, caused by an auto collision, a fall, a powerful slap on the back, or even a violent sneeze. The ligaments and muscles controlling the spinal segments are stretched or sprained allowing the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions. Nerves are then "pinched" or irritated, giving rise to headaches, nausea, dizziness and other pain.

Creating their own disguise

BLEARY-EYED first-graders at Gallimore School looked more like recreations of the Incredible Hulk and Emmett Kelly the night after their sleepover. Students in Arlene Wiltse's class were treated to a treasure hunt, stories and movies before spending a night at school earlier this month. First graders also attended a school art fair and ice cream social before darkness fell and flashlight tag began. At 9:30 the following morning, a clown visited the classroom, inspiring boys and girls who were about to be transformed into clowns themselves. Incognito, the young clowns paraded around Gallimore and entertained fellow students.

Township holding forum on tax

Revenues from specially voted millages must be earmarked — police millage revenues for police and fire revenues for fire. Revenues from general millages can be spent on any of the township's operations.

Using the example, revenues from the 2.8 mills levied for general operation would go into the general fund to pay for administration, DPW, police, and all other functions, while revenues from the one mill for fire would be earmarked for fire protection.

But, because the fire operation actually requires more than one mill, part of the 2.8 general levy also would subsidize fire operations.

Under this system, it is hard to break out millage allocations for the different services. In the past, with general, police and fire levies, residents knew how much they were paying for each.

The proposal would lump everything together under a general levy, except for fire (which also depends on a portion of the general levy).

Adding to the difficulty is state-shared revenues, which go directly into the general fund and account for one-third of the total money available.

MUNFAKH SAID the millage authorization must pass to continue township operations.

"There is no other means to provide full-time police and fire, full-time maintenance at the township park, and the library," he said.

"The bottom line is that we still would have the lowest millage in any charter township in western Wayne County that provides full-time police and fire."

That is the fact Munfakh's committee undoubtedly will stress as it campaigns for passage of the proposal.

The committee, which hasn't registered yet with the Wayne County Election Commission, is comprised of Mun-fakh, Breen, Township Clerk Esther Hulsing, planning commission members Don Skinner and Richard Gornick, and firefighter Chuck VanVleck.

Munfakh said Friday that he plans to register the group as a ballot committee as soon as they select a treasurer.

Ballot proposal committees which spend more than $200 are required to register.

None of the committee's money will come from the township, Munfakh said, adding they would like to do some direct mailings and advertising prior to the election.

"All of our work will be funded by contributions," he said.

Blanchard visits DeHoCo Friday

provide some relief, more space is needed.

"We will provide 6,000 new prison cells by 1989 — the cells we need to protect our citizens for now and for the foreseeable future," Blanchard said.

PURCHASING DEHOCO "demonstrates our resolve to never again release serious felons on the streets."

The governor also refused to link recent disturbances at Jackson State Prison to the overcrowding.

"People are trying to allude to a connection but not in this instance," he said. "Jackson is not overcrowded. We are making sure that maximum security prisons are not overcrowded."

Following the press conference, Blanchard also refused to link the DeHoCo purchase to his recent support of a massive sewage project for western Wayne County.

THAT PROJECT, the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley Wastewater Control project (NHV/RV II), will be up for federal funding later this year.

In an unprecedented move last month, Blanchard sent a letter to federal officials outlining the importance of the project and urging their financial support.

NHV/RV II is needed to continue development in western Wayne County.

The governor said his support of the project was not made in exchange for Plymouth Township accepting the prison site.

Instead, Blanchard said he is supporting NHV/RV II because "we don't believe it will be built without our support."

Former State Rep. Bob Law of

Plymouth Township, now with a local law firm which worked on the moratorium bill, agreed with Blanchard.

The prison issue was "too intricate" to be involved with a trade-off, said Bob Law, also Gerald Law's brother and a past member of the William Milliken administration.

"The townships had a good argument. Our job was educating people to the fact that we had done our share," he said.

"Some people in Lansing get involved with horse trading but not on this one."

City primary vote may be averted

"Maybe Hank didn't want to spend the $5,000 on the primary election," the mayor said.

Yet, when asked about the political ramifications of the letter, Pugh later said "$5,000 on a primary is peanuts."

"The bottom line is, I know of no political motivations behind the decision . . . from my standpoint, there was no input either way."

THERE WILL be three commission seats up for grabs in the November general election.

Two of the seats being vacated are held by commissioners Jack Kenyon and Ronald Loiselle, who are prohibited from seeking re-election due to a City Charter clause limiting commissioners to two consecutive terms.

The third seat is held by Mayor Pro Tem William Robinson, who is seeking re-election. If elected, Robinson is expected to make a bid for the mayor's position. He is a Plymouth Kiwanian.

Of the other candidates, Gansler is a past commissioner who has remained involved in city affairs. He is a Plymouth Rotarian and a former Plymouth Jaycee.

Jones is a planning commissioner and has been regularly attending city commission meetings for the past couple of years.

Likewise, Keller is a planning commissioner and has been attending meetings regularly of late. Keller is past president of the Plymouth Jaycees.

Kroeger is a volunteer firefighter, and like Morrow, is seen as a strong supporter of police and fire operations. Both have been attending meetings and regularly speak out on police and fire issues.

Anason is a newcomer to commission meetings and is running because he isn't satisfied with the city's current spending policies. He recently spoke against commission spending priorities during budget discussions.

Anason also is a newcomer to city politics, although he has worked on some school board and congressional campaigns.

Likewise, Bingley is a newcomer. An attempt to contact Bingley was unsuccessful.

Of the two who haven't returned their petitions, one is active in city affairs.

Former State Rep. Bob Law of

Green is a planning commission member and has made previous bids for the commission. He is a strong advocate for the city's Old Village section.

Duston, also a newcomer, couldn't be reached for comment.

JCs seeking 4th backing

The Plymouth Jaycees announce that many donations have been received for the Fourth of July Parade. Individuals and firms which have contributed include:

Mary Childs, Tony Licata, Norma Cassady, C.L. Finlan Insurance, Saxton's Garden Center, Robert Evans, DDS, Daly's Drive-In, Dunbar Davis, NBD No. 39, Little Book Center, Arbor Health Center, Plymouth Office Supply and Maggie & Me.

The Jaycees remind contributors to make their donations early to receive maximum acknowledgment for their community service. The Jaycees fund-raising program for this year's Fourth of July is falling short of the necessary funds to offer the parade being planned.

For further information, call Fred Eagle, parade co-chairman, at 464-6797.

MORNING ACHE AND STIFFNESS

Almost everyone with arthritis is familiar with the joint stiffness that makes arising in the morning a prolonged and painful experience. Why does this stiffness occur and what can be done to minimize it?

The hours of sleep for people without arthritis are full of body activity. This motion during rest makes it possible to awake with joints limber and reasonably ready to undertake the movements associated with daytime activity.

If you have arthritis, your joints can't move in an efficient manner, muscles and ligaments are called upon to put forth extra effort. By day's end these tissues are exhausted and require prolonged rest. On awakening, you are unable to move because these muscles, being still for so long a period, are not in a state of readiness.

A hot shower and the use of paraffin wax for aching hands or shoulders are useful therapies. Or, your doctor may schedule medication so its maximum concentration coincides with your period of greatest discomfort.

Out-of-district students a problem in 1870s

(Part 8)

Tuition charged to "foreign scholars" made up almost 30 percent of the income of Plymouth's Union School District during its 1853-54 year. The district's total income of $815 included: $269.24 from public money, $180 from the spring rate bill, $127 from the fall rate bill, and $239.24 from foreign scholar tuition. Foreign scholars were those who lived outside the school district. In 1854, the price of tuition for these students was set at $3 per 11-week quarter for those who attended the first department, and ranged down to 50 cents a quarter for youngsters in the third department. By 1873, the rate for outside students had been raised to $4 a quarter "payable in advance." It had been necessary to make that stipulation because school authorities had difficulty collecting from some of the foreign students. An effort was made in 1875 to exclude outsiders from the school. The motion was defeated. In 1893, a resolution was passed providing that foreign students pay tuition for the term within two weeks or be suspended. By 1915, $1,538 of the school's income was coming from foreign students. By 1919, the charge was raised to $50 for high school and $40 for the grades. By 1929, it had gone to $90 for high school, $75 for the seventh and eighth grades, and $60 for the lower grades. Livonia sent students to the Plymouth High School in the early days. In June 1932, a resident of Livonia School District No. 8, Fractional, appeared at a Plymouth board meeting to request a reduction in the amount of tuition paid by his district for pupils sent to Plymouth High. At that time outsiders were paying past and present

$84. In 1942, the Plymouth school board began to take measures to restrict the number of foreign students who could attend local schools. In August of that year it was decreed that no new students who lived east of the centerline of Inkster Road would be accepted. The classes were then to be filled to capacity, with many teachers carrying extra loads.

ENTRIES IN THE board minutes refer to sums raised to pay tuition for "indigent scholars" and for those whose parents who were delinquent in paying their taxes. The minutes make no reference to a contingency fund until 1864. The growth of the school district in terms of population is reflected in the funds a two mill tax brought in as time went on. In 1872, two mills resulted in $480; in 1887, it brought in $854; by 1915, a tax of only one mill netted $1,441. First mention of bonding the school treasurer occurs in September 1900 when a $5,000 bond was purchased. First reference to a Workmen's Compensation Law comes in August 1917 when the board adopted a resolution pertaining to it. Down through the years it has been difficult for school board members to keep hands off what should be administrative duties. But, by today's standards, school boards of the past went overboard in voting on trivial matters. Instead of delegating them to superintendents or principals, Plymouth school boards in the early days voted on such things as having a blackboard repaired, having the floors in the school house oiled, choosing between kalsomine or papered walls, having inkwells installed, having wells dug, hiring a man to build school fires, and periodically fumigating the school. Tight control was probably thought necessary during a period when the community was far from affluent, when money was hard to come by, and the value of a school education, as opposed to "practical experience," was often challenged. By 1878, Union School was employing six teachers. On June 24 of that year, their salaries were set by the school board which consisted of R.A. Safford, L.J. Springer, George A. Starkweather and T.C. Sherwood. C.A. Frisbee, who was the principal, was to be paid $1,000. Ella Smith, Della Entrican, Nettie Ailes and Anna Smith taught in four schools in the Plymouth school system for a total of 40 years. At the same meeting, the board received written notice from E.J. Penniman that he had ceased to be a resident of the district. Penniman's seat on the board was declared vacant. I don't know where Penniman went at the time, but he was still living in his home on Sutton Street (later renamed Penniman Avenue) when he died in 1890. Although Frisbee got $1,000 a year in 1878, some of the board members must have thought he was being overpaid. In 1879, on a motion from George Starkweather, the board set the maximum salary for the principal at $800. Another motion, that all salaries paid to teachers be reduced to the basis of just compensation for services rendered, was defeated. In 1880, board members S.J. Springer and T.C. Sherwood (president of the Plymouth Fair Association when it was organized in 1886) wanted get Frisbee's pay back up to $1,000 but the motion lost. Trustee Fuller moved that no one on the staff be paid more than $800 a year "and as much less as we can." Frisbee was eliminated from consideration and a vote was taken on four other candidates. The winner was C.T. Grawn who became principal at $750 a year.

June: the month for champions in mid-'30s

Here we are in the middle of June, the most famous month in boxing history and certainly the most important in the career of Joe Louis — the Golden Glover who fought his way to the world's heavyweight championship. It was in June 1936 when he was supposed to be at his peak that the Brown Bomber was knocked out in 12 rounds by Max Schmeling, the German sent over here by Adolph Hitler. Just one year later — in June — he fought Jimmy Braddock in Chicago and stopped him to become the world champion. Joe wasn't satisfied with the title as he wanted to meet Schmeling again. He did in Yankee Stadium again and this time stopped Max in the first round of the most brutal fight he ever fought. No other fighter ever had such a claim on any month of the year but Louis always was different. THE FIRST fight with Schmeling was one of the biggest upsets of boxing history. Schmeling had studied Louis for more than a year and found weaknesses in his armor and made the most of it. Even at that he had to connect with Joe's jaw 57 times before he dropped him for the count. The next day, with his face swollen, Joe greeted the members of the press. It was thought he would have an alibi. But when asked what happened he simply said, "he fight me sideways." Joe never had met a fighter who fought out of a crouch. It wasn't an alibi, just Joe's honest confession that he had been beaten because of his weakness.

W.W. Edgar

It was a different story when he met Braddock in Chicago and took the title. Sitting on a trunk in his dressing room after the bout had ended, a friend entered, and said, "Congratulations Champ." "I ain't no champ," Louis answered. "A champ is supposed to be the best, isn't he? A man is still walking around who knocked me out." So Joe held the title very lightly until he was matched with Schmeling again. In his entire career Joe never was anxious to meet any one individual. But he did want Schmeling again. HE GOT his chance and the result was one of the most ferocious fights in all boxing history. When the bell rang to start the fight Joe raced from his corner and hit the German just as he raised from the chair. It was a terrific blow and Schmeling went down. His handlers tossed in the towel (to quit) but he got up and Joe hit him again and the fight ended at 2:04 of the opening round. It was the most satisfying fight in Joe's career and then he was ready to retire. He had squared accounts with Schmeling. But he later made a great mistake. He thought he could come back as some of the others did. He accepted a fight with Rocky Marciano and suffered the worst beating of his career. He realized his mistake but much too late. But the records show that he was entitled to ranking as one of the best champions of all time — because of the fights he fought in the month of June in 1936, '37 and '38.

HEADACHES

HEADACHES, THEIR CAUSE AND CORRECTION. A CHIROPRACTIC VIEWPOINT.

So many times people will come to us as a last resort. They have gone through the gamut of tests and pills and sometimes even psychological therapy without results, or at best with only slight results. To cope, they have to take a strong pain killer which does relieve some pain but it has undesirable side effects and the headaches later return.

In short, they still have the problem. We look at the problem in a different way. Experience has shown us that most all headaches, whatever type they may be called, are usually caused by vertebrae out of alignment in the neck, which backs up pressure into the head. Depending how the vertebrae are out of alignment determines the area, type and duration of the headache.

WITH THE PROPER RE-ALIGNMENT OF THE VERTABRAE (WHICH IS NOT PAINFUL), 95 OUT OF 100 HEADACHE CASES ARE CORRECTED WITHIN THREE MONTHS, EVEN IF THE HEADACHES HAVE BEEN PRESENT FOR YEARS.

Please...don't suffer any longer. Read the testimonials and then call for an appointment.

Nine Day Headache

For nine days straight I had a headache that wouldn't stop and nothing helped, not pills, hot packs, nothing.

Friends and relatives had gone to Dr. Mashike, and my daughter Dolores, took me in. I was examined, x-rays were taken, and adjustments started.

I didn't think anything would help because the pain was so bad. At first nothing happened, but slowly after several adjustments the headaches disappeared and within a month I felt much better. It's been three months now and the headaches haven't returned.

If you have headaches, try chiropractic before pills get you down. I did and I'm better.

Anna Przybylo

Both of Us Had Headaches

My son David is 10 years old and has had severe headaches for 6 years. They sometimes made him sick to his stomach and put him out of commission.

My mother was going to Dr. Mashike and she thought he could help. David's upper neck was found to be out of place. After just a few adjustments the headaches were gone. A couple of weeks later David was playing soccer and he hit the ball with his head, the next day his headache was back. After an adjustment to put the vertebrae back in place, David's headache left again. (David's neck will be stronger in a few months, then he can resume normal activities).

When I saw David's results, I also started for my headaches and in one week they were gone. I have recommended this care to others because I generally felt better and don't have to take pills.

Carol and David Honsinger

Healthier Thru Chiropractic

We were referred to Dr. Mashike by a friend after we were involved in an auto accident. Peggy had injured her neck and was having headaches and I had severe neck pain.

It was hard for us to perform our normal daily routines. After approximately 5 adjustments we noticed a healthier, stronger improvement and Peggy's headaches are gone too. She has not had her usual cold and sinus problems either.

CHIROPRACTIC IS GREAT! It has helped us to have a better outlook on things. Dr. Mashike is more than a doctor who adjusts your back. His concern for his patients is extraordinary, his caring is reflected in his practice.

Greg & Peggy Ludwig

Headaches Gone

When my fiance brought me in to see Dr. Mashike, I had chest pains accompanied by shortness of breath and frequent headaches. It was hard for me to do my job well due to the pain.

In approximately one or two weeks, I noticed an overall improvement. I had more energy and a better attitude and no more headaches.

Also, I have a three year old son who was very prone to ear infections, and since he's been coming to Dr. Mashike he has had one minor earache. No more infections and visits to the hospital. Mom's, bring your children.

A 'Monster' of a week!

Craig Stadler, tabbed the "Wairus," blasts out of a bunker to the seventh green during first-round action Thursday. Stadler shot 70-80 for a two-day total of 150 and missed the cut for Saturday and Sunday rounds.

OAKLAND HILLS Country Club in Bloomfield Township was a busy place last week as the course labeled "The Monster" played host to the 85th U.S. Open golf championship.

The story of the tournament developed early and it was written by Taiwan's Tze-Chung Chen, who tied a 36-hole Open record with a two-day total of 134 (six-under par). Chen also tied the 18-hole competitive course record Thursday with a score of 65. He set the tone for the early lead by scoring an albatross (double-eagle) on the par-5, 527-yard second hole. It was the first double-eagle recorded in Open history.

One of the highlights of the early play was turned in by Ben Crenshaw. Thursday, Crenshaw had trouble with his putting game, but he solved that Friday on the ninth hole when he sank a hole-in-one. Thursday, Crenshaw missed his second putt on the ninth green, dropped his putter and made a gesture signaling: "What does it take?"

Crenshaw's ace was the first ever recorded in four previous Opens hosted by Oakland Hills. It was the 17th ace in Open history and the fourth in the last four Open tournaments.

Jack Nicklaus, the "Golden Bear" and the golfer most consider the last of the dominant players in the game, shot a nine-over-par 149 and missed the cut for the first time since 1963.

Earlier in the week, most players agreed the difficulty of the firm and unduating greens at Oakland Hills would make scores soar. Tom Watson, one of the tour's leading money winners, went as far to predict scores in the 90s.

Ironically, an Open record for most sub-par rounds for one day was set Friday when 24 golfers shot under 70. The old record was 22, which was set in the third round of the 1982 Open at Pebble Beach. It also set a record of most second-day sub-par rounds. The old mark was 20 in 1981 at Marion.

A record matched at this year's Open was the 36-hole cut at 146, which equalled the standard set in 1980 at Baltusrol.

For more information on the championship and for complete results, see page 1B.

After sinking a hole-in-one on No. 9 Friday, Ben Crenshaw plants a kiss on the golf ball that found the mark.

Jack Nicklaus, who missed his first U.S. Open cut since 1983, chips to the eighth green in early action.

FABULOUS TASTE

Just One Reason To Try These Nutritious Salads

What could be more appealing for summertime eating and entertaining than light and nutritious salads? On hot summer days, cool, colorful main dish salads offer a refreshing reprieve for patio, picnic and backyard dining. Each of the six distinctive salads listed below keeps the heat down in the kitchen, and time at a minimum when preparing these easy-to-assemble entrees.

All good salads start with fresh ingredients selected with good taste, color and texture. A perfect ingredient for adding crunchy goodness to summertime salads is New Zealand Granny Smith apples. Although we usually think of fresh apples in the fall, thanks to New Zealand's upside down growing season, crispy, GreenRipe Granny Smith apples are available from May through August for summer salads, tart apple pies or out-of-hand snacks.

May to October is also the season for luscious New Zealand kiwifruit. Always good by itself simply cut in half and scooped out with a spoon — New Zealand kiwifruit adds sparkle and good taste to salads with its beautiful color and sweet, elusive flavor.

Great taste is only part of the kiwifruit story. Kiwifruit is nutritious as well. Two average kiwifruit have only 90 skinny calories, yet contribute 230% of the U.S. RDA of Vitamin C, 2500 mg. of crude fiber and more potassium than a 6-inch banana or 7-ounce orange. Team kiwifruit with Granny Smith apples, low in sodium, high in fiber and carbohydrates, and requiring as many calories to digest as they contain — for a real nutrition powerpak.

These two decidedly different fruits with diverse textures and flavors co-star with pork, tuna, chicken, shrimp and beef to create six distinctive main dish salads. Each recipe — which contains its own made-from-scratch dressing — is unique, easy and can be prepared ahead.

And as New Zealanders say — "Kapai," everything is very good!

PORK SLIVER SALAD

Add pork and saute over high heat for 1 1/2 minutes or until cooked. Add Soy-Sesame Dressing to pork and cook 2 minutes longer. Pour pork and hot dressing over salad and sprinkle with sesame seeds. Toss well and serve promptly.

Casseroles save time and food

The casserole is the busy cook's helper because most often the preparations can be completed ahead of time.

What I like about the casserole is that it's a great way to dispose of leftovers.

You've got ham and potatoes left from yesterday's dinner. You're half-way there already. You can make a simple cheese sauce, combine everything and less than an hour later, thanks to the casserole, dinner is ready.

There's a variety of casseroles: meat, poultry, vegetable, shellfish. All you have to do is make up your mind which to cook in a carefree manner.

HAM-CHEESE-POTATO CASSEROLE

1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

pilot light
Greg Melikov

1/2 cup light cream
2 cups diced cooked potatoes
2 cups cubed cook ham
2 tbsps. chopped pimiento

Preheat oven at 350 degrees. Heat cheese and cream in medium saucepan on medium heat, constantly stirring until cheese is melted and sauce is smooth. Remove from heat, stir in rest of ingredients, pour into ungreased 1 1/2-quart casserole, cover with foil and bake 45 minutes. Serves 4-5.

CRAB MEAT-MACARONI CASSEROLE

2 cans (6 oz.) lump crab meat, drained
1/4 cup margarine
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika

1/4 tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. instant minced onion
3 1/4 cups milk
1 1/2 cups macaroni, cooked as directed and drained
1 can (6 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1/2 cup sherry
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

Flake crab meat with fork and set aside. Melt margarine in medium saucepan, remove from heat and stir in flour, salt, paprika and pepper. Add onion and gradually stir in milk. Bring sauce to boil, stirring, reduce heat to medium low, simmer 5 minutes and remove from heat. Preheat oven at 350 degrees. Combine crab meat, macaroni, mushrooms and sherry with sauce, mix well and turn into ungreased 2-quart casserole. Top with cheese. Bake 20 minutes. Serves 6-8.

Anyone can make fine chocolates

For many people, dessert is chocolate — everything from creamy chocolate mousse to gigantic cookies studded with chocolate chips to thin, intensely flavored chocolate tortes.

But, most luscious of all to many a chocoholic are chocolate confections.

Childhood's delights are chocolate bars and chocolate-covered peanuts. Adulthood, however, favors more subtle treats in which the quality of the ingredients is primary, and the flavor of the chocolate — be it bittersweet or milk — comes through loud and clear.

FINE, FRESH chocolate should be shiny (the whitening some chocolate displays, called "bloom," indicates that the chocolate has melted, at least partially, and then resolidified, for a loss of both texture and flavor).

The sheen also indicates high proportion of cocoa butter in the chocolate's make-up — an important point, since inferior chocolates, made with the other fats, simply do not provide the same amount of gustatory pleasure.

The fragrance of chocolate also indicates its quality: The stronger and headier the chocolate aroma, the better the chocolate will be when eaten.

EVERYONE, OF course, has his own favorite chocolates from the myriad of chocolate-producing countries; some of the most important are Switzerland, the Netherlands, Belgium, France, Italy, Great Britain and the United States.

And, of course, you should be guided by your palate when selecting chocolate.

But, it cannot be stressed too strongly that it is just as important, if not more so, to select high-quality chocolate for cooking as for eating out of hand. For, the best recipe will lose savor if made with less than top-quality chocolate.

IF YOU enjoy making chocolate desserts, but prefer your confections out of the box, the recipes below may cause you to reconsider.

They are not terribly difficult or time consuming, although they are somewhat exacting and do require some special equipment.

However, the repayment is chocolate confectionery that is fresher than you could get in any but the finest store with on-the-premises candy-making facilities.

The recipe below for Classic Truffles — perhaps the most quintessentially chocolate of all chocolate confections — is reproduced from "Sweet Seduction" (Harper Colophon Books) by Adrienne Welch, a New York pastry chef and trufferier, whose confections have won her enthusiastic praise.

THE "GANACHE" Welch refers to in her instructions is, in Welch's words, the truffle's "creamy chocolate heart."

Because these truffles are rolled in cocoa powder and not coated with tempered couverture chocolate, a procedure of some difficulty, they are an ideal starting point for the novice truffle-maker, who may then want to go on to the other, more complex truffle recipes in Welch's book.

CLASSIC TRUFFLES

Filling
1/2 cup heavy cream
1 vanilla bean, cut in half
A few grains of salt
8 oz. bittersweet chocolate, in 1-inch pieces
1 oz. milk chocolate, in 1-inch pieces
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 tbsps. dark rum or liqueur

Coating
1 1/2 cups unsweetened cocoa

Combine the heavy cream, vanilla bean, and salt in a small saucepan over medium heat. Bring to a gentle boil.

Remove from the heat and allow to cool 5 minutes.

While the cream is heating, melt the chocolate in a heavy 2-quart saucepan, stirring frequently with a rubber spatula. Set aside.

Strain the hot cream through a fine sieve into a small mixing bowl.

Whisk in the egg yolks and melted chocolate. Add the dark rum or liqueur and blend until smooth.

Place the bowl of ganache in ice water, making sure that the water cannot slosh into the mixture. Stir constantly with a rubber spatula until the ganache is very thick and completely cool — about 5 minutes.

Immediately whip the ganache in an electric mixer, using a paddle attachment if you have one, until it lightens in color and forms soft peaks, about 15 to 30 seconds.

Do not overbeat or the mixture will harden too quickly and the texture of the truffle will be grainy.

Line a baking sheet with foil. Fit a pastry bag with a number 8 round tube.

To shape the truffles, spoon half the ganache into the pastry bag. Pipe 6-inch long cylinders onto the baking sheet. Refill the pastry bag and continue to pipe.

Refrigerate for 10 minutes to harden the truffles.

Slice the cylinders into 1 1/2-inch pieces. Lightly dust the truffles with 1 1/2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa.

With your fingertips, form each piece into an irregularly shaped 1-inch ball. Roll the truffles in cocoa and store.

CHOCOLATE NUT Caramels and Chocolate Divinity are from the recently published volume, "Chocolate Crazy" (Macmillan Publishing Co.) by Sylvia Baiser Hirsch, better known in the culinary world as "Miss Grimble," the purveyor of a wide array of fine desserts through her renowned Manhattan bakery.

CHOCOLATE NUT CAMELS

8-inch square pan, buttered
1 cup sugar
1 cup packed dark brown sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup light cream
1 cup milk
6 squares (6 oz.) bitter chocolate
2 tbsps. butter
2 tsp. vanilla
Pinch salt
1 1/4 cups chopped walnuts or pecans

In a saucepan, combine the sugars, corn syrup, condensed milk, cream, and milk, and cook slowly, stirring constantly, until the sugars are dissolved.

In the top of a double boiler over hot water, melt the chocolate and add to the sugar mixture with the butter. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until the temperature on a candy thermometer reaches 246 degrees.

Remove from heat, and add vanilla, salt and nuts. Blend and pour into prepared pan and cool.

When firm, turn out on a board and cut into squares. Wrap each square in wax paper.

Makes 2 1/2 pounds.

CHOCOLATE DIVINITY

2 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1/4 tsp. salt
2 egg whites
2 squares (2 oz.) bitter chocolate, melted and cooled
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans

In a saucepan, combine the sugar, corn syrup, water and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil.

Reduce the heat and cook without stirring until the temperature on a candy thermometer reaches 248 degrees — the firm-ball stage.

Just one minute before this temperature is reached, beat the egg whites on a large platter until stiff.

Pour half of the syrup mixture over the beaten whites, slowly, beating constantly until blended. Cook the remaining syrup to 272 degrees — the thread stage on the candy thermometer.

Add the hot syrup mixture to the first mixture, 1 teaspoonful at a time, beating well after each addition with an electric beater. After the last addition, beat about 5 minutes.

Add the melted chocolate, vanilla, and nuts. Beat until the mixture loses its gloss and holds its shape when dropped from a spoon — about 5 minutes more. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto wax paper.

Makes 1 1/4 pounds.

JAMES WARREN, former organist at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, will be back at his old stand Sunday, June 30. Jim will play the organ at the 9:15 a.m. service. He loves that organ and the marvelous acoustics of the Methodist chapel. He was organist there for five years, part of the time as a student at the University of Michigan.

Jim was there when the organ was installed and Marilyn Mason, head of the organ department at U-M was advising Sandy Burr on its selection.

Now a San Francisco resident, he is senior manager of management consulting services for Price Waterhouse. On the musical side, he is organist at Park Boulevard Presbyterian Church in Oakland.

A Price Waterhouse seminar in Toronto is bringing him to this part of the country. It gives him an opportunity to visit his parents, Jim and Eleanor Warren of Plymouth Township, and play the organ at the Methodist Church. He also plans to spend a few days at Interlochen.

RUTH BARNEY of Plymouth Towne Apartments has been enjoying a visit from the Springfield, Va. branch of her family.

Her daughter and son-in-law, Phyllis and John Williams, and their children, Kenton, 10, and Alison, 7, have been here. John has completed his appointment to the National War College in Washington, D.C. where he was the recipient of the Department of the Army Award. The family will move to Vienna, Austria in the fall. John will be press attache at the United States Embassy.

He has been in the U.S. Diplomatic Service for 15 years, with postings in Argentina; Spain; Poznan and Warsaw, Poland; Wellington, New Zealand; and Washington, D.C.

BETTIE HORRELL says her 90th birthday is the best she ever had.

Jean Fried of Plymouth Township is putting together a scrapbook of pictures and mementoes of the birthday party for her mother, Jean, an only child, hosted the 90th birthday party in the Woodgate Condos Clubhouse.

Born in Kentucky, Bettie and her husband came to Michigan about 60 years ago. They retired to Kentucky 15 years ago.

More than 50 people attended the party, many of them life-long friends. Jean contacted former neighbors of 40-45 years ago. "It was a reunion as well as a birthday party," she said. She got in touch with old friends from her own grade-school days and they came. Among the birthday cards was one from President Reagan.

Mrs. Horrell has five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

LISA SEAL, 18, appeared in the June issue of Teen Magazine as a finalist in the 1985 great model search. Lisa is a June graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. She plans to attend Western Michigan University in the fall.

Her parents are Ron and Nancy Seal of Embassy Drive, Canton Township.

DONALD VAN LANDINGHAM, commander of Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Post 6695 Veterans of Foreign Wars, will receive the coveted all-state Commander's White Hat. The presentation will be made at the VFW state convention in Southfield Thursday, June 20.

Don has worked diligently to achieve the award, but credits the post and auxiliary members and friends of the post for making it possible.

"Winning the all-state commander's award is an honor to the post as well as to the individual commander. Only by the full support of dedicated, hard-working members can a post commander achieve this distinction," he said.

So, according to Don, the whole post deserves congratulations for the white hat award.

TED DECKARD was winner of the Oral Majority Toastmasters' Tall Tale Contest. He borrowed from his youth in the Mid-West for his topic, "Rural America."

Welcome summer

First band concert of the season in Kellogg Park will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 20. Carl Battishill will direct the Plymouth Community Band. During the intermission, four Kenneth A. Weage Scholarships will be awarded. Lawn chairs may be more comfortable, but the rim of the fountain is a vantage point for a number of concert-goers.

Library Friends chalk up banner year

Friends of Dunning-Hough Library look back on the 1984-85 season as one of change and improvement with increased services, space and a new look.

Dunning-Hough has entered the computer age.

The introduction of four microcomputers provides a useful educational tool for students and adults. The computers are reserved on an hourly basis with more than 30 software programs available for in-library use.

Friends volunteers gave more than 3,000 hours of service to the library. The new lunar globe and audio cassette player and tapes were "purchased" with Campbell soup labels. The labels were contributed by library patrons and Friends and bundled by volunteers.

Friends of the Library hope to "Keep those labels coming."

A $2,000 block grant obtained through the city of Plymouth and another gift from the Plymouth Lions Club will enable the purchase of more large print books and audio cassettes for senior citizens and others needing these materials.

The Friends take large print books to Tonquish Manor and St. David's Gate where the residents eagerly look forward to reading the new selections.

Memorial gifts came from many individuals as well as the Plymouth Woman's Club and Trailwood Garden Club. These and a generous contribution from the Plymouth Newcomers Club luncheon made possible the purchase of additional books, periodicals, tapes and video cassettes.

The 1984-85 Friends of the Library budget provided $2,000 for video cassettes, $1,000 for in-library signage, and $1,700 for reference book shelving.

MARY CHILDS, Friends president, said, "Members should feel proud to see their tax-free membership dues being put to good use in the Plymouth Dunning-Hough Library. We certainly appreciate your continued support."

Serving with her on the Friends board are Lois Santer, vice president; Lorraine Ford, secretary; Stephen Harper, treasurer; Lorna Nitz, publicity; Esther Hulsing and Judy Morgan, programs; Jack Jones, volunteer chairman; Mary Huber, special projects; and Esther Hibler, historian.

More Friends volunteers are needed, according to Childs. "Choose a weekly time that is convenient or volunteer to help out during one of our special events. You are needed. Just give your name to a librarian and become an active member of the Friends," she suggests.

FRIENDS AGAIN will sponsor the popular summer reading program for children 6-14 and registration is open at the library.

More than 400 children were enrolled last summer and an equally enthusiastic response is expected this year.

Aesthetician shares make-up suggestions

If your skin is feeling dryer or looking duller than usual this season, add a little bit of mineral water to your foundation. It will help feed the thirsty skin. The foundation will go on smoother and your skin will take on a bit of a dewy look.

Then, after you complete your makeup, spray your entire face with mineral water. It sets the makeup and keeps it fresh-looking longer.

The suggestion comes from Tamara Friedman of Tamara's Institute de Beaute in Farmington Hills, who passes along another dozen get-ready-for-summer suggestions.

"All of my beauty hints are easy to do, cost from little to nothing, are time savers, they all work, and they all will make a difference in the way you look," the aesthetician said.

She continues by suggesting the use of a small eyeshadow brush to apply translucent powder over concealer underneath the eye. The powder seals the concealer and it keeps makeup from smudging and ending up underneath the eye.

For an extra glow to your skin, use a soft scrub on your face two times a week in the morning. This sloughs off the dead skin cells and lets the new ones come to the surface.

"PUFFY EYES is probably the result of too much salt, too much sugar, not enough sleep, or just plain stress," Tamara said. "Lie with thin cucumber slices on your eyes for 10-15 minutes. This minimizes the puffiness and soothes the eyes at the same time. Elevate your feet while you're lying down, it's great for circulation."

Wet your entire face before applying cleansing lotion. This is not only better for the skin, but saves money by reducing the amount of product you're using.

Women who need a fast turnover in eye makeup should consider using water-based removers for their speed and short reapplication time.

Soften hard eye pencils by holding them under hot running water for a couple of minutes. Then work the lead between your fingertips until it becomes pliable.

Mix two different color blushes together. This makes for a more interesting shade and sometimes gives color a little more depth. Tamara cautions, "Just remember to blend well."

Use more subdued, muted tones for daytime. Save the brighter more iridescent colors for evening.

"Navy mascara worn under fluorescent lights is not quite as harsh as black, yet it frames the eye and is deeper than just plain brown. It's worth a try," Tamara said.

ADD A DUSTING of your blush over the eyes. This brings the whole makeup look together.

Use a soft complexion brush to blend foundation powder or blush. It gives a soft velvety look to makeup.

"A big makeup time-saver for women today is having their eye lashes tinted. But only in a salon, and only by a professional," Tamara said.

The aesthetician holds a nurse's degree and is a licensed cosmetologist, who blends her medical knowledge with her beauty expertise in the Farmington Hills spa.

And while she freely passes along techniques, she says, "Aesthetics have never been just techniques. It is a philosophy of life that carries with it privileges and obligations."

Tamara Friedman

A colossal collision

Plymouth Police and Wayne County Sheriff's deputies were amazed Friday afternoon that no one was seriously injured when a cement truck flipped on top of a car at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Road. John Flower (above), driver of the Ford Escort which the truck landed on, hugs his passenger, Karen Phillippi. In all, three cars and the truck were in-involved. Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers said it appears one of the cars turned in front of the truck. Plymouth and Plymouth Township firefighters were called because of the spilled gas, diesel fuel and cement. "I don't know how they walked away from it," Myers said. "You wouldn't believe the mess."

Ford to expand plant

Ford Motor Co. has announced plans for a 16,500-square-foot office addition to its Sheldon Road Plant in Plymouth Township.

Planned is a two-story addition to the administrative building which will allow the auto maker's Climate Control Division (CCD) to house all its general office staff under the same roof for the first time.

"I am particularly pleased about this building expansion in that it represents a solution to problems raised by our employees," said William H. Fike, CCD general manager.

"The addition in its final form will reflect the thinking and ingenuity of the employees who work here," Fike said at the recent groundbreaking ceremonies attended by company and municipal officials.

The guests wielded the same shovel used 20 years ago when ground was broken for the original plant. Besides adding room for the existing administrative staff, the addition will provide space for transferring 26 members of the division's purchasing office from Dearborn. In total, some 110 employees will work out of the addition.

"The project is the culmination of concerted ideas and goals conceived by employee involvement and participative management committees at the plant," Fike said.

CONSTRUCTION is scheduled to start this month and be completed by spring of 1986. The addition will bring the plant's total square footage of manufacturing and office space to 1.02 million.

The Ford Sheldon Plant already is one of the township's largest property tax payers and the addition will bring the facility's total tax bill to more than $950,000 a year.

Announcement of the office expansion comes just one year after the company completed a $38.6 million retooling for the production of aluminum radiators for Ford vehicles.

Equipping the plant for such production required the installation of state-of-the-art vacuum-brazing units — which weld the metal at a temperature in excess of 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The tube-shaped furnaces fuse the radiator parts together in a near total vacuum, equal to the vacuum reached 100 miles in space.

During a typical work day, the plant produces an average of 18,000 radiators, heaters and air conditioners, and employs about 1,300.

"Sheldon Road is one of the most progressive and safest light-manufacturing plants in the country, dedicated to high quality standards second to none," Fike said.

"This being accomplished through direct employee involvement, engineering advances and a dedication to teamwork."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Helping to break ground recently for the expansion of the Ford Sheldon Plant were Bill Fike and Beth Cameron.

Unbelievable!

North passes Chen to win 2nd U.S. Open crown

By Marty Budner
staff writer

The road to the 1985 U.S. Open championship definitely headed North. But it was a spooky highway filled with strange twists at almost every turn.

Andy North, a 12-year tour veteran from Wisconsin, survived a four-over par round of 74 yesterday in front of 37,300 fans at the demanding Oakland Hills Country Club South Course to log his second U.S. Open championship. North's first Open victory was 1978 at Cherry Hills in Denver.

North carded a 279 for the tournament — the only golfer from the qualifying field of 66 players to break par — and defeated three foreign players by one stroke.

Tze-Chung Chen, who had led the tourney for three days and suddenly became a household name to golf fans across the continent, faltered terribly in the final round and finished with a disappointing 72-hole total of 280. He was tied at even par by Canadian Dave Barr and South African Denis Watson. Watson's score included a two-stroke penalty Friday for standing too long over a hanging putt.

North, 35, earned $103,000 for his efforts to triple his season earnings. Chen, Barr and Watson pocketed $39,185 each.

For North, who had a poor year in 1984, it certainly was a satisfying victory.

"It's hard to compare the two wins because they're both important to me," said North, whose only other tour victory was the 1977 Westchester Classic.

"The win at Cherry Hill was important because it was my first major win. This one was special because it was so long between wins.

"This is the first time in eight or nine years that I haven't had to play in pain. I've felt good about my game all year. And winning this is a step in the right direction for me.

"It's hard to make up for a $20,000 year like I had last year," he said.

"Maybe this will take the monkey off my back."

The monkey may have left North, but the Monster left its impression on the players during final-round action.

CHEN, WHO had never won a tournament in two years as a regular tour player, had built up a seemingly insurmountable lead through the first three rounds of qualifying that started Thursday.

The 26-year-old pro from Taiwan made his presence known early with a sizzling double-eagle on the par-5, 527-yard second hole during the opening round. It was the first time in Open history that a player had registered three shots under par.

Chen assumed the lead at that point and held it until encountering an incredible streak of bad luck in the final round.

Chen's misfortunes began with a quadruple bogey on the par-4 fifth hole.

On his fourth shot of the hole he chipped the ball with a sand wedge, but in his followthrough, Chen accidentally nicked the ball again sending it back into the rough. It was ruled officially as two hits even though he took just one swing. He then two-putted on the green and went from a four-stroke lead to a tie with North.

Chen proceeded to bogey the next three holes and fell from the top of the heap for the first time. In four holes he lost seven strokes which opened the road for North, Barr and Watson.

"I just double-hit the ball coming out of the rough, then on my next shot I tried to chip the ball in the hole," said Chen, who finished the day with a 77.

"But it was a rough day."

"Golf is sometimes funny," he said. "Everything was gone. After I make double chip there, the confidence was just gone."

North, who played the final round with Chen, agreed the unusual fifth-hole double-hit turned the tournament into a wide-open race.

"T.C. opened the door for a lot of us," said North. "It's a freaky thing that sometimes happens to all of us."

"I was watching T.C. at the time but not paying close attention to him. I was lining up my putt. But you could tell by the sound that he double-hit the ball. It's a sickening feeling but you just have to adjust."

"I just told myself to keep playing and not worry about what T.C. was doing," he said.

Despite the calamity for Chen, he remained in contention as the other leaders had almost as much trouble figuring out the course which played a little longer and tighter because of the wet weather.

NORTH BOGEYED the ninth, 10th and 11th holes when he could easily have run away from the contenders.

Barr, whose only tour victory was the 1981 Quad Cities Open, finished with a two-over par 72, including five bogeys. Watson, Payne Stewart and Lanny Wadkins were all in contention but scored even par for the day.

North is now at the top of his class as the champion of America. He will have a year to cherish the feeling.

Tze-Chung Chen, tournament leader after the first three rounds, lost four strokes on the fifth hole when he double hit the ball (above) while playing out of the rough. Chen finished the tournament at even par 280, one stroke behind North.

Andy North, the U.S. Open champion, blasts out of the bunker to save par on the 17th hole Sunday. North shot a one-under-par 279 for the tournament and was the only golfer to break par.

Early birds catch bird's-eye view at 18th green

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

As Andy North hovered over his golf ball before sinking his putt on the 18th green to secure the U.S. Open championship Sunday, he probably had no idea what the surroundings looked like 12 hours earlier.

It wasn't even close to the scene which ABC TV captured and beamed across the world.

At 6:30 a.m., the area around the green was covered with empty potato chip bags, hot dog wrappers and paper cups, along with Michelob and Pepsi cans — ugly reminders of a day gone by.

Rain-soaked newspapers draped the grandstands. The papers, useless now, were purposeful for the optimists who forgot umbrellas Saturday.

A short while later, groundskeepers from the Oakland Hills Country Club swept through the area armed with garbage bags to dispose of the litter. The place was desolate.

Faint sounds of lawn mowers were heard from a distance as fans slowly trickled onto the grounds around 7 a.m., a time when most people are either sleeping, perusing the morning newspaper and drinking coffee or attending a Sunday service.

BUT THE DIEHARD golf fans were beginning to encompass the 18th green. Diehard is an accurate moniker for these people because of the wait they'd endure just to get a glimpse of a golfer. First tee time was 9:47 a.m., which meant the first twosome — Greg Chapman and Curt Byrum — wouldn't get to 18 until sometime after 1 p.m.

But the wait was well worth it for Paul Ehlers and Al Onstad. They were the first fans to stake territory at the 18th. They'd been in Oakland County since the first practice round Monday, and they were within a chip shot of North when he sank the winning putt.

Ehlers and Onstad were rewarded for their patience. They drove 8 1/4 hours from Wisconsin, the homeland of the 1985 Open champ.

"We had to make sure we got a good seat by 18," said Ehlers, who hails from Menasha, near Green Bay. "We did the same thing yesterday (Saturday) at 17. We're driving back tonight, so I hope it doesn't go too long. If there's a playoff, we'll stick around."

"It's worth it because Andy's still in contention. He hasn't done anything since 1978 (when he won the Open), so I'm hoping he comes through for us."

Onstad, from Appleton, Wisc., said he's accustomed to the wait.

"It doesn't bother me. I've been here all week, so I'm used to waiting."

THE SECOND group to arrive to 18 were, ironically, natives of Japan, near the homeland of Taiwan's Tze-Chung Chen, who was paired with North the last round.

Chen ended the tournament at even par, tied for second place.

M. Minamiyama and K. Yamagata, who ordered tickets six months ago, lived in Japan before moving to Ann Arbor two years ago.

"Because the U.S. Open is so famous, it would be very difficult to get a good seat," Minamiyama explained of his early arrival.

But 7 a.m.? That has to be a bother.

"Yeah, yeah," Minamiyama said. "I had to get up at 5 a.m."

Jeffrey Brent, whose brother Sterling is an Oakland Hills member and a Birmingham resident, put the whole thing into perspective.

"To get a good seat, you have to get here early," said Brent, who came from Tennessee with his wife for the tournament. "If you're an avid golfer, you're used to waiting. You have to wait to get on the course, and you have to wait when you're on the course. I'd rather wait here than in traffic."

"If you want to watch golf, you're better off at home watching it on TV. It's more comfortable and the beer's cheaper. But if you want to be part of the excitement, you have to be here. Plus, it makes a good conversation piece saying you were at the U.S. Open. You become the envy of the neighborhood, especially if you're from Tennessee."

ANOTHER COUPLE accustomed to waiting was John and Jill Hoffman of Trenton. Their daughter was a high school volleyball standout at Trenton High and currently is on the squad at Central Michigan University.

"We've sat at volleyball tournaments for 16 hours in a day, so we're used to waiting," Jill said.

"It couldn't be any worse than that," John added. "There's only one place to be, and that's at the finish. You can come later and take a chance at being someplace else, but we got here early to be at the finishing hole."

Don Miller came from Connecticut to watch his fourth straight Open, so he's a veteran of the game.

"I plan my vacations around this," he said. "I really enjoy golf, and this is the best golf to see. If you wait on Sunday, at about 1:30 the place is so mobbed you can't see at all. It's so disappointing to be here all week and not be able to see this all happening."

Carolyn Blackford and Gene Day came from Fort Wayne, Ind., and both had similar reasons for arriving so early.

"I want a good seat on 18 so I can see all those gorgeous pros walk right by me," said Blackford, a true-blue Fuzzy Zoeller fan.

"I'm here because I'm with her," Day explained. For those who did arrive early, they had a close view of the golfers as they finished. It was agreed by all that the wait was well worth the agony of disrupting sleep.

But for Ehler and Onstad, it made heading "North" back to Wisconsin much more enjoyable.

'Super kid' one of 7 area scholar-athletes

By Tom Panzenhagen
staff writer

To say Brian Hood — winner of North Farmington High School's Raider Cup — is your average scholar-athlete would be a contradiction in terms. There's nothing average about the rare breed of high school students who combine athletic prowess and scholastic accomplishment.

But Hood is representative of several area students who earned their schools' scholar-athlete awards. Hood and his colleagues, in fact, typify an even larger body of student athletes who were not among the select few honored in recent graduation ceremonies.

They all have one thing in common, though — dedication.

"BRIAN IS a very dedicated kid," said Jim O'Leary, Hood's former football and wrestling coach. "He's kind of shy but he shows by example, and he has a lot of intensity."

Hood must have a lot of intensity. He played varsity football for three years, ran track for four and for four more years, was an all-league wrestling champion — "the first and only four-time Northwest Suburban League wrestling champ," O'Leary said.

Hood wrestled in the 185-pound division all four years — even as a freshman, when he weighed only 170. He was captain of the football team and an all-league running back and linebacker, all-league in the shot put and a member of the discus and sprint relay squads.

He also finished high school with a 3.4 grade point average, "and he didn't take any Mickey Mouse courses," O'Leary said.

Hood did take a lot of science courses and intends to major in premed at Alma College. Not coincidentally, Hood's mother, Patricia, is a nurse.

In his spare time he is involved in Scouting, and he traces his interest in medicine to the merit badges he once earned. He also does volunteer work at a nursing center and the Farmington Community Center.

RON HOLLAND, athletic director for Farmington high schools, said, "The Raider Cup is given for athletic participation, scholarship and service to the community. Brian has made outstanding contributions in keeping with the tradition of the Raider Cup.

"He's a very well-rounded, versatile, personable, young man who should have a lot of success academically and be a fine representative of North Farmington High School."

O'Leary added, "He's the type of kid every coach wants to coach every once in a while. He's just a super kid."

'He (Hood) is a very well-rounded, versatile, personable young man who should have a lot of success academically and be a fine representative of North Farmington High School.'

Another magnificent 7

Among area students who combined athletics and scholastics are the following seven, each of whom received awards during his or her high school graduation ceremonies.

Patti Kozicki was North Farmington's girls winner of the Raider Cup. She was an all-area volleyball player, an all-league softball player and a starter on the basketball team.

Kozicki, who will attend Schoolcraft College on a volleyball scholarship, will play for the Michigan AAU volleyball team that is touring West Germany this summer. She carried a 3.0 grade point average.

John Miller was the boys winner of the Jack Buller Award at Farmington Harrison. Miller was twice an All-American football player, and he also participated in baseball and basketball.

He maintained a 3.4 grade point average and is headed for Michigan State University in the fall.

Harrison's girls winners of the Buller Award — named for a former Harrison assistant principal — are Laura Runk and Kelly Davidson.

Runk was an all-area distance runner specializing in the 3,200 meters and a member of the gymnastics squad. Her grade point average was 3.8.

Davidson, who will attend the University of Alabama, was three times an all-state singles tennis player. Her grade point average was 2.3.

PLYMOUTH Canton's outstanding male and female athletes were Patrick McGow and Margaret Gilligan.

McGow, who maintained a 3.75 grade point average, ran cross country and played soccer for the Chiefs.

Gilligan, whose grade point average was 3.9, participated in swimming and softball for three years.

Plymouth Salem's Reggie Rojeski was the Rocks' outstanding girls athlete. She was the point guard on the basketball team for two years and also took part in volleyball and track. She graduated with a 3.8 grade point average.

Eric Sovine won the boys award. He captained the basketball team, ran track, played tennis and finished with a 3.6 grade point average.

Walter's keeps rolling

By Robert McElhany
special writer

Timely hitting and aggressive base running are helping Walter's Appliance to a fast start in Livonia Collegiate Baseball League play.

Walter's raised its LCBL-leading record to 7-1 after collecting nine hits, stealing three bases and making the most of four Livonia Adray errors to defeat Adray 5-2 Wednesday at Ford Field, Livonia.

"We've been receiving hits at the right times," manager Mike Keller said. "We hit the ball pretty well tonight (Wednesday), and we were going with the pitch."

"So far there's been good team effort. There's a good chemistry of ball players on our club this year."

ADRAY MANAGER Ron Helher said, "It was one of those nights. There are players from 12 different college programs on our team, and it will take a while to put everything together."

"As soon as we get on track, we'll play well." John Stotsiadis' speed gave Walter's a 1-0 lead in the first. With two outs, he singled to the infield, stole second and raced to third on a high throw by catcher Brian Barney, then came home on a single to right by Leo Lanigan.

Adray — 5-2 overall — tied the game in the bottom of the first without a hit. Deron White walked, Todd Krumm grounded to third but was safe when Stotsiadis threw wildly to first and White scored on the play.

Lanigan helped break the game open in the third when Walter's scored three runs. With Steve Frellick on second and Stotsiadis at first, Lanigan singled to right-center and scored them both. Lanigan later scored on a single by Chuck Morgan.

IN THE FIFTH, Morgan singled to center and moved to second on a ground out. Dave Donigan then doubled down the right field line, scoring Morgan with Walter's fifth run.

Adray added one more run in the seventh on a run-scoring single by Greg Kuzia.

Chris Semik started for Walter's and lasted 4 2/3 innings, allowing two hits and striking out three.

Adray pitcher Rick Rozman went the distance, surrendering nine Walter's hits, walking two and striking out five.

'Golden Bear' arrives early, leaves early

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

Jack Nicklaus may be the last of the "old time" golfers.

The Golden Bear, who comes from a different era than golfers like Corey Pavin and Bernard Langer, was a bit surprised when he hit town June 7 to get his game adjusted to Oakland Hills for the 85th U.S. Open.

Nicklaus, who has won three previous Open titles and was the only man in this year's field who played in 1961 when Oakland hosted its last Open, was the first player to work out on the course Ben Hogan was said to have labeled "The Monster."

"We have a lot more good players than we've ever had, there isn't any question about it," Nicklaus said after his final practice round Wednesday. "There's a lot more players capable of winning the U.S. Open this year than there was the last time the Open was played here — by about 20-fold, 10-fold maybe.

"But the guys today, in some ways, are a little spoiled. They're adding a good tournament every week on a good golf course every week.

"LET ME BACK up for a moment," Nicklaus said, trying to get his point across. "I was the first player here practicing for the Open — Friday and Saturday before the Open — and not another player showed up (until the following Monday or Tuesday). That surprised me; it's the Open."

The reason for the surprise was the fact, Nicklaus believes, that players should be more familiar with the Open course and view the tournament from a different light than the others which take up television time most weekends.

That's not to say today's players don't take the Open as seriously as the players from yesteryear. But with so many more tournaments added to the tour, and the condition of the golf courses they are played on, well, the majors may not be as different as they once were.

"WHEN WE USED to play the U.S. Open," Nicklaus recalled, "we always use to consider it the best conditioned golf course and the best test of golf. The guys used to point toward the U.S. Open. We play 20-25 golf courses a year prepared like the U.S. Open now, and they get used to it. And they don't feel like they have to work to prepare for the U.S. Open like they used to."

Even though there are so many tournaments available, Nicklaus wasn't implying the players don't take the majors as seriously.

Nicklaus misses cut

Jack Nicklaus' early preparation didn't pay off in the 85th U.S. Open. He shot 76-73 for 149 (nine-under par) and missed the cut — the first time he missed a cut in the U.S. Open since 1967.

"They all take it seriously. But some fellas may feel they don't have to because they play so many courses that way (prepared like the majors). Then again, some maybe don't realize the amount of preparation you need if you want to be in there Open after Open after Open and PGA after PGA after PGA. You have to point to those events. "Now you'll probably find somebody who came in on Wednesday and goes out there and wins the tournament."

Notes and quotes from Oakland Hills

The practice green at Oakland Hills, surrounded by a green fence, gave one the image of a zoo-type atmosphere, where those visiting stare into the area which houses the bears.

Tuesday morning, the Golden Bear himself, JACK NICKLAUS, ventured into the cage and began working on his putting game while his son held an umbrella over his head. The crowd quickly made its way to the area, then followed the Bear to the first tee where he joined ANDY BEAN, GREG NORMAN and HALE IRWIN for a practice round. Not a bad foursome to follow, and the crowd did.

• HUBERT GREEN, the 1977 Open champion, played 27 holes in practice one day. His partners were FUZZY ZOELLER, HOWARD TWITTY, Bean and Norman — all long ball hitters. Bean is the 1985 driving distance leader (276.7 yard average) while Norman is right behind (276.1).

"I played pretty good. I'm a little surprised with myself," Green said. "I played with Greg, Fuzzy, Andy and Howard, and they didn't embarrass me with my length. I hit the ball pretty solid."

• Norman, who lost to Zoeller last year in an 18-hole playoff for the Open championship at Winged Foot, said that loss isn't serving as an incentive for winning the 1985 Open championship.

"Last year is dead and gone," he said. "I think about the future. You don't live in the past." When asked what he needs to do to win at Oakland Hills, the White Shark replied, "Shoot the lowest."

• HOWARD TWITTY, at 6-foot-5 and 200 pounds, is one of the biggest golfers on the tour.

The Arizona resident turned professional in 1974 and has won a total of $742,620. His two triumphs were in the 1979 B.C. Open and the 1980 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open.

• Known as the Walrus, CRAIG STADLER showed up at Oakland Hills after what he considered a rather ho-hum effort at the Westchester Classic last weekend.

Stadler, who celebrated his 32nd birthday June 2, finished in a 12th-place tie with seven other golfers at 283 on the par 71, 6,722-yard course in Harrison, New York. He shot consistent rounds of 71-71-71-70 and pocketed $8,937.

Counting that finish, Stadler is seventh overall on the PGA tour's 1985 money list with $273,899. He is also one of the tour's low-average scorers and low putters. He leads the tour with 250 birdies and is tied with Tom Watson with a 224 par-breaker average.

Volleyball at S'craft Friday

Neimi named Chiefs' new basketball coach

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Plymouth Canton's search for a boys basketball coach ended Thursday when Tom Niemi was named to replace Dave Van Wagoner.

Tom Niemi

Niemi is no stranger to the area, having coached the past two seasons at Livonia Bentley, which is closing its doors for good this week.

The announcement of Niemi's hiring was made Friday by Plymouth-Canton Schools assistant athletic director Paul Cummings.

"Tom's had an outstanding record wherever he's gone, and he's the best candidate at this time for Canton basketball," said Cummings.

Niemi, 43, teaches law, home and family courses and business arithmetic at Belleville High School, where he coached varsity basketball for 10 years (1973-83).

Prior to that, Niemi coached junior varsity basketball from 1969 to 1973 at Livonia Franklin. He is a native of Negaunee, Mich. (in the Upper Peninsula).

"I'M LOOKING FORWARD to getting started, but right now I'm kind of scrambling," Niemi told the Observer Friday afternoon. "I know Canton had a lot of people graduate, and they had an excellent team two years ago."

Van Wagoner stepped down after four seasons and a 41-41 career record. The highlight of his brief stint was the 1983-84 season when he guided the Chiefs to a 16-6 record and a Western Lakes Conference title.

Niemi said he plans to launch his summer basketball program for junior varsity and varsity candidates at 7 a.m. Monday, July 7.
