Dangerous sidewalk repair may soon be the responsibility of Plymouth

Tonight the Plymouth City Commission is to vote on final passage of an ordinance to amend Title IV of the Code of the City of Plymouth. If approved, the amendment would go into

The proposed change provides that: "All sidewalks and driveway approaches between the lot line and the street curb, except crosswalks at intersections, shall be repaired and maintained by the abutting property owner and shall comply with all requirments set

Sidewalk maintenance and repairs will become the sole responsibility of the homeowner upon passage of the amendment.

"The city's defense is this ordinance," said Plymouth City Attorney Ron Lowe, as it will signal to any plantiff exactly who is responsible for sidewalk maintenance.

If there is litigation because of someone falling on a Plymouth sidewalk and suing the city, there is no clause within the amendment which includes the homeowner in any legal proceedings from the beginning of a case. This concern was raised by George Hudson, former city commissioner and Plymouth resident.

Although Hudson believes the amendment will be further changed to include the homeowner from the onset of a legal proceeding, he described a situation that could result in financial loss for an uninformed property owner.

THE CITY might be sued and subsequently pay all damages. A homeowner may only become aware of the legal proceedings when he receives a bill from the city to pay the damages, his responsibility under the proposed amendment.

Hudson explained that when the homeowner receives the bill and then passes it on to his insurance company, it is likely the insurance company may not pay because it "didn't get a chance to defend and they know nothing about it." As a result the expense would be

The emigrees are from the Albany, N.Y., area, transferred employees of Ford Motor Co.'s Green Island plant.

In an effort to ease the transition for more than 50 radiator assemblers, the Welcome to Michigan Program included orientations to Michigan both at Green Island and in Plymouth.

Among events was a July 8 "Welcome to Michigan" seminar at the Plymouth Cultural Center. Employees had a chance to get to know their new area of residence as well as gather information on the Sheldon Road plant, Ford benefits and the Michigan tax structure. Gerry Colaner of Ford's Climate Control Divison (CCD) on Sheldon Road guided the relocation program.

In the final phase of a two-year process, Colaner said, "We've really done a lot for them."

IN GREEN Island, prospective transferees were shown films of Plymouth and Detroit. Representatives of a Plymouth real estate company also traveled to Green Island to offer information on the housing market in Plymouth-Canton and surrounding areas.

Transferred employees were brought to Plymouth after the completion of a $38.6-million facility. The facility houses operations for vacuum-brazing aluminum radiators and has a sophisticated level of automation. Both the process and quality control are highly computerized.

Aluminum radiator components are fused together in electrically heated furnaces in the vacuum-brazing process. Reaching a temperature of 1,100 degrees Fahrenheit, a near-total vacuum is created . The vacuum is equal to the vacuum created 100 miles into

COLONER explained that this new process is not entirely different than the one used in the more conventional housed on Sheldon Road. Employees were given the option of transferring. For many it was a positive decision. The average age of the transferred group is 46.

WIVES of transferred employees were an integral part of the transition process. A luncheon club was founded ast year. A trip to Frankenmuth and a tour of Detroit were part of the process. Women also attended seminars on job opportunities in the area and Ford benefits to which they are entitled.

Jan Nardini and Donna Wubbenhorst, wives of employees who made the move last summmer, have pitched in to help those coming this year. Nardini volunteered to call people, send letters to families still in Green Island and organize activities for families here. Ford arranged for her to have office space.

The one drawback in the transition process has been an unexpected period of unemployment due to the Sheldon Road Plant's inability to integrate a large number of workers into the work force.

Colaner called it, "a last-minute postponement." Unemployment benefits were arranged for affected em-

HE "SPIRIT OF Lawrence Tech" will fly again. At least members of the Detroit Experimental Aircraft Association hope it will.

The experimental racing plane, built by Lawrence Institute of Technology students between 1947 and 1949, has returned to the Southfield college.

The plane has had quite a history in the 38 years since it was designed and constructed for the 1949 Goodyear races in Cleveland.

The plane was conceived by George Martin, head of LIT's aeronautical engineering department, to give students experience in three types of aircraft construction, said Bruce Annett, director of college relations and alumni ser-

The design incorporated wood, steel tube and sheet metal.

"It's an example of early technology that the college was involved in," Annett said. "It also is an example of how our students were involved in, what was then, a new area of academic research.

In 1953, when the aeronautical engineering department was dropped because of declining enrollment, the "Spirit of Lawrence Tech" was sold to Martin who flew the plane down South where it eventually ended up at Mississippi State University.

"IT WAS used for experiments and propeller studies down there," Annett said. "In 1971, a story about the plane appeared in a national aircraft publica-

That article caught the attention of Charles Stephens.

"I had read about the plane years ago and had been told it was in pieces at the Mississippi State University," Stephens said. "I heard it was for sale, so I sent a bid for $101. Soon thereafter, I got a call telling me that I owned an airplane."

The new owner then picked up the pieces of the plane and transported the materials back to Grand Rapids in the back of a trailer, Annett said.

Stephens began to restore the plan but discovered he could not devote enough time to the project and donated the craft to LIT in December 1984, Annett said.

"We went to Grand Rapids and picked it up," Annett said. "It was in large garbage bags."

THAT IS where the Detroit chapter of the Experimental Aircraft Association stepped in.

A club member had expressed interest in working on the plane if LIT ever got its hands on the aircraft, Annett

Individual counseling and support groups are available on an ongoing basis to deal with lifestyle changes, depression, low self-confidence, assertiveness, divorce, job changes and general anxiety. Persons can work with these issues individually or in groups. Major insurance coverages are accepted. Counseling and groups are run by an experienced and state-licensed social worker. Call Plymouth-Canton Mental Health Services at 459-6580 before 5 p.m. and ask for Sandy Prochazka.

• PROBLEMS IN LIVING

Suburban West Community Center, a non-profit community mental health agency, has announced that its Problems in Living Clinic has limited funds available to pay counseling costs for clients based on their ability to pay. Profits generated by client fees or insurance reimbursement are put into this fund to pay for those who cannot afford the full fee.

The Problems in Living Clinic provides outpa-tient counseling to adults and families for a wide variety of problems including: anxiety and depres-sion, marriage conflicts, fertility and adoption, parenting concerns, headaches and pain reduction, sexual functioning, communication, stress managesexual functioning, communication, stress management, spouse and child abuse. The clinic also provides services to adults who have been hospitalised or who are in crisis, based on ability to pay. The center has two locations, the main office at 11677 Beech Daly in Redford (phone 937-9600) or the satellite building in Plymouth at 875 S. Main (phone pay-page).

Beitner observing 33 years in business Many helped at Unhappy with staff writer

Fred Beitner has now been in the jewelry business for 33 years, starting in the building at 540 Main Street in Plymouth.

"One of the great moments I will never forget," he said, "came one afternoon when an elderly lady, who seemed to be about 90 years old, came in with a one-karat diamond ring and asked for help.

"It seemed she couldn't wear it and was fearful that she might lose it or have it stolen.

"I looked at it and decided to place a special shank over it. I told her and she told me to go ahead. I did. And I held my breath while she tried it one. It worked.

"That was the first time she had the ring on her finger in 30 years. She didn't know how to thank me. But she walked out with a big tears coming down her cheeks. And I was well choked up too. It was a great moment in my career.'

BEITNER ONLY was 28 when he started in the jewelry business in 1952. He and brother William Beitner remained on Main Street until 1957 when they moved to their present location on Ann Arbor Trail between Main and Harvey.

Beitner has been crippled since childhood and travels throughout the downtown in a wheelchair. He traverses from the store to the Mayflower Meeting House every Friday to attend Plymouth Rotary meetings.

After he recalled his experience with the elderly lady and the diamond ring, Beitner recalled one of the biggest jobs

"One day a Michigan State Police trooper walked in with a satchel. It was quite a large satchel and I wondered what they wanted or had in mind.

"When we got to a safe place they opened the satchel and it contained jewelry in the amount of $150,000. There were all sorts of of things, rings, bracelets, watches and all highly priced. I was asked to examine them and then report my opinion of what the items were worth, individually and as a

"I did. But I wasn't told anything more about it. So I don't know what happened after that. But it was a thrill and most interesting while we were checking the various items."

ONE OF THE things which has changed greatly since the store has moved to Ann Arbor Trail is the absence of school children during the noon hour, who used to come around when Plymouth High School was located in Central Middle School.

Since the high school was moved to Joy and Canton Center Roads we don't have them at all.

"When the high school was on Main Street the street was filled with students who were all window shoppers. Now we miss them.

"But the 33 years we have been in business things have changed greatly and most of the change has come in watches and clocks, especially since we now have electric clocks.

"But all the years have been most interesting. Especially I will never forget the elderly lady who cried when she left because she was wearing her diamond ring for the first time in years."

Little evidence found in kidnapping of girl

Canton police say they have a "few leads" in the case involving a 4-yearold Plymouth girl who was abducted from Canton's Meijer Thrifty Acres last week.

Leila Warner's mother told her to wait in an aisle of the store near the Barbie doll clothes. When she returned a short time later the little girl was

The man who abducted her is described as being Indian or Arabic, about 40- to-50 years old, with dark hair, a "dark complexion," and a big stomach. Police said the suspect stands about 5 feet 8, weighs between 190-200 pounds, is clean shaven yet with a 5 o'clock shadow. He was said to be a neat dresser and was wearing a brown the department at 397-3000.

balloon festival CEMS trip

The fifth annual Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon FEstival was a result of the efforts of many people. Without their support and cooperation, this event would not have been possible.

Specifically, we would like to thank the Township of Canton, Jim Poole and the Canton Township trustees for their interest in hosting the festival in Canton. Their cooperation with traffic and crowd control, services of the DPW and other assistance was appreciated.

We also would like to thank Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Superintendent Dr. John M. Hoben, Board President Roland Thomas and their staff for their cooperation and the use of the fine facilities of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

In addition, we thank the City of Plymouth, Mayor David Pugh, the City Commission, and City Manager Henry Graper for providing their sponsorship and overall 100 percent cooperation with other governmental units.

The REACT team, Civil Air Patrol, PACT and CSO volunteer groups were responsible for security and crowd control. The school booster organizations and the Canton Soccer Club handled parking and the shuttle bus services. They are all a great group of volunteers who provide the community with many hours of dedicated service and are to be applauded.

Carl Berry and the Plymouth Township police provided escort services for all balloon vehicles to the launch site. Their contribution was appreciated.

We also thank the balloonists, spectators, and most importantly, the sponsors. These are the individuals who contribute year-round for many worthwhile civic activites. They are a special breed of individuals and busi-

The Canton and Plymouth Chambers of Commerce played a vital role in handling the thousands of phone inquiries from the general public and coordinating the activities of local merchants. They are partners in this and many other civic functions.

In closing, this event has shown once again that, with cooperation among governments, organizations, volunteer groups, and businesses, great things a wooded area near Race Road and I- can happen in our community. Thank

To the editor: (An open letter to Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper.)

At about 2 p.m. Sunday, June 2, I was taken to Arbor Health Center, Plymouth, with symptoms of an apparent heart attack. I received immediate and excellent attention there and, at my doctor's request, was to be transported by ambulance to the coronary care unit at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor.

At 3:10 p.m. a call was placed from Arbor Health Center to Community Emergency Medical Service (CEMS), Farmington. We waited; no unit ar-

At 3:38 p.m. (28 minutes later), CEMS called to inform the nurse that there was no unit in the area and suggested that she call Taylor Ambulance or another company. She then proceeded to call Northville CEMS and was informed that their unit would respond. I left for Ann Arbor at 4 p.m.

This is a response time of 50 minutes. When I questioned this via CEMS, I was told that my situation was not considered life-threatening. If a coronary attack is not life-threatening, I would like an explanation of what is!

Fortunately, I was being well cared for and I am grateful to the doctors and nurses at Arbor Health Center. Under different circumstances, however, this may have proven very serious.

In my opinion, one of the worst things to have happened to the residents of Plymouth was the loss of our rescue squad service. We always had immediate response and excellent attention from our firefighters.

I am not criticizing the two attendants from CEMS who transported me to Ann Arbor. They were very efficient and courteous. I am criticizing the total response time. We deserve and must have better service than this in an emergency situation.

USE OF ICE IN TREATING ARTHRITIS

The application of heat to inflammed joints is traditional treatment in arthritis. Heat results in an increased blood flow which in turn sweeps away the chemical irritants causing joint pain and swelling.

if you apply cold to a joint, the blood vessels to the area. will constrict, causing blood flow to decrease markedly. The activators of inflammation which reside in the blood stream are unable to reach the joint, and the site is spared initiation of inflammation. This effect of cold is the reason that you put ice on a fresh bruise or tendon sprain.

Since inflammation in arthritis is recurrent and prolonged, it would seem unlikely that application of cold would have a beneficial effect. However, ice numbs the sore areas around the joint and in doing so, provides immediate pain relief. Furthermore, cooling inhibits chemical reactions in general, and is very effective in stopping the specific products of inflamin treating arthritis, heat is still the first choice for obtaining immediate relief. When it fails, turning to cold is appropriate for the reasons just described.

1916 fire destroyed high school and church

ried an account of the fire that destroyed the Plymouth High School and early hour on Thursday morning, March 30, 1916.

"Not since the fire of 1893 has Plymouth been visited with such a disastrous combustion. conflagration as that of yesterday morning, when the fine, large public school building and the Methodist Church were totally destroyed, involving a loss estimated at approximately $65,000" the Mail reported.

"The fire originated mysteriously in the school building was a seething mass of flames. The alarm was sounded at burned." about four o'clock and the fire department responded quickly; the whole populace also being called out.

The heat of the flames shooting out from the upper windows and roof of the school ignited the spire of the church, the flames gradually creeping down until this structure also succumbed to the fire fiend. Yet had there been sufficient water pressure, this building could have been saved very easily.

"All that could be done under the circumstances by the department was done, the boys working valiantly, climbing up on the roof and making the up the spire."

The Mail probably had in mind the allegations of German espionage in the U.S. after the start of World War I.

This country was not at war with Germany until April 1917, but when the British transatlantic steamer Lusitania was sunk off the Irish coast on May 7, 1915, by a German submarine with the loss of 1,198 lives, including those of 124 Americans, there was a revulsion of public opinion here against Germa-

If the estimate of $65,000 for the combined loss was accurate, the school district and the church congregation had sustained a combined net loss of more than $30,000.

The Mail noted that destruction of the school would undoubtedly revive a proposal previously made by residents of the north end of the village - that is to build two school houses, one on the

But efforts of the northsiders to have a school established in their end of town were unsuccessful until 1927 when Starkweather School was built.

THE FIRE THAT destroyed the two buildings might have been brought under control if the water pressure had been stronger.

"The fire has shown Plymouth that its water pressure is entirely inadequate when a fire of large proportion strikes the village," declared the Mail. "It may do to fight a small fire, but not to cope with a fire of the magnitude that visited us yesterday morning."

Clara Alexander, who was a high school junior when the fire occurred, has vivid memories of the disaster. "I think everybody in town was there watching our school burn to the ground. As each section of the building collapsed, we students would say: there goes the music room, or there goes the library, or there go the school trophies.

"We all thought it was a tragedy. In a few days, classes began again at various locations throughout the village. I spent my entire senior year in the Millard Bugle factory on Amelia Street. We graduated from the old Village Hall that year."

One of Clara's contemporaries was the late Margaret Norgrove, who later married Frank Pierce, manager of the branch bank in the north end of town. It was Margaret Norgrove who wrote a sprightly account of what happened after the fire. It appeared in the 1916

"The day came at last; we were supposed to go to the Grange Hall, but it would never do to have school there on account of its being used as a dance hall. And we might forget we were in school, so we finally found ourselves in the K.P. Hall. Well, think of our going to school in such luxurious apartments

"At last we had found Milton's Paradise Lost; just the things we had wanted so long, — rocking chairs, leather davenports, soft carpets and, best of all, a view of the most important events happening on Main Street (to say nothing of the noise).

But alas! how things had changed the next day; all those luxuries had turned their backs on us. Perhaps they didn't like the looks of their new visitors for even the clock stopped."

History not always at cemeteries

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

The weather man has foiled the historical-minded residents of Plymouth who are eager to find out how old Riverside Cemetery is and whose grave was the first in the area on Plymouth

Some people felt that possibly Chief Tonquish, the Indian warrior who lived

Then, to their surprise, it was learned that his bones are scattered on the east side of Wayne Road, as you enter Westland.

There was a move a few years ago to have the Indian chief's bones brought to Plymouth as the feature of what would be an Indian powwow. But that was ruled out when the state historical said. "Dance me loose."

NEXT IT WAS felt that the cemtery dated back close to 100 years. Then that was ruled out when Ken Vogras, head of the city's Department of Public Works (DPW) which now oversees the cemetery, remarked that he was certain some of the stones, or grave-markers, were there in the 1870s.

For a time that was helpful in finding the oldest grave until Vogras informed them that down through the years, the weatherman had virtually ruined the markers. He pointed out that the first gravestones were made of sandstone and couldn't stand the wash.

Because of the sandstone makeup, the stones broke off at the ground and there was no way to repair them. Next, the constant beating of snow and rain helped break off portions, including names, and they couldn't be identified.

Most of these are on the east side of the cemetery and many of the stones ready have been put to use.

are still lying there — their lettering so weather-beaten that the names are impossible to identify.

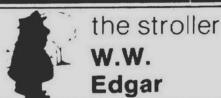

Those that were broken at the ground level couldn't be put back together, so the hunt in that area wasn't worthwhile.

IN THOSE DAYS, the stones were erected differently than those of today. They were tall and slender with the lower part placed deep in the ground. When the weather caused them to break, it was just about impossible to join them again.

The historians certainly would like to learn the names of those whom Vogras thinks were buried in the 1870s. But after a close study, his wish is in vain.

Meanwhile the cemetery is growing. According to the records there is an average of 125 burials a year and recently a larger area was needed.

Anniversary Sali

Call it a fiesta, luau or party, the message is universal... good times! Wherever you go, a gathering of friends and plenty of food add up to a party.

The next time you entertain, why not take an international approach? Borrowing the best recipes from around the world gives your party an instant theme that's adaptable to any season and occasion, from block party to bridal shower to impromptu get-together.

Though these recipes may sound exotic, they rely on a food that's as all-American as apple pie - Virginia-type peanuts - and a cooking method that's responsible for such American favorites as French fries and Southern chicken-deep frying. The combined result is an all-American salute to party food from around the globe.

The ingredients for these recipes are commonly found in most homes and the directions are so easy to follow that even novice entertainers should find preparation a snap. Best of all, these recipes can be prepared either ahead of time or quickly on-the-scene, a real boon to the working host or hostess.

For example, Curried Chicken Squares, a Chinese appetizer, can be made ahead of time, refrigerated or frozen, then deep-fried at serving time for just-cooked goodness.

Another do-ahead dish with a South-of-the-Border flavor, is Chili Cheese Balls. It's a combination of chiles, Parmesan and cream cheeses and peanuts, rolled in bread crumbs. These morsels are light in texture, but zesty in flavor.

A filling snack that can be replenished as your guests' appetites demand is Peanuty Chicken Bites, a pleasing blend of taste and texture that can be prepared in minutes and deep-fried in just minutes more. The key to quick-cooking and perfect results is a good deep fryer.

Besides contributing a unique taste to these party recipes, Virginia-type peanuts are delicious munched right from the bowl. What better way to be prepared for unexpected guests than by keeping roasted peanuts on hand in the bag, can or jar. Though leftovers are rare, you can always turn them into one of these tempting treats to enjoy yourself.

PEANUTS CRISPS

(Java)

- cup all-purpose flour
- 1/8 teaspoon baking soda teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground coriander
- 3/4 cup cold water egg, beaten
 - clove garlic, crushed
 - 1 cup roasted shelled Virginia-type peanuts

Combine flour, soda, sugar and coriander in a bowl. Mix together batter, water, egg and garlic. Blend into flour mixture. Combine 1/3 of batter with 1/3 cup of peanuts. Drop 3 or 4 tablespoons of peanut mixture, one at a time, in deep fryer, turning once, until desired browness is reached (about 2 minutes). Remove from oil and drain on absorbent paper. Continue mixing in thirds until all batter and peanuts are used. Makes about 24

(Hot Hawaiian Hors d'oeuvres)

- 1 (6-ounce) can crab meat (3-ounce) package cream cheese or 1/2 cup crumbled tofu,
- drained
- 1/2 teaspoon soy sauce
- 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder several drops Tabasco
 - pound Won Ton skins
 - 1 egg yolk, beaten

Shred crab meat, removing cartilage. Blend crab with cream cheese, soy sauce, garlic and Tabasco. Put about 1/2 teaspoon of crab into the center of each Won Ton skin. Moisten edges with egg. Pick up the four corners and pinch them together. Cook 3 or 4 at a time, turning once, until desired browness is reached (about 2 minutes). Remove from oil and drain on absorbent paper. Repeat until all Pupus are cooked. May be served with cocktail sauce. Makes about 84.

(Chinese Oriental Appetizer)

- 18 slices soft white bread tablespoons soft bread crumbs
- (5-ounce) can chunk white chicken or 3/4 cup minced 1/4 teaspoon sugar cooked chicken 1/4 cup roasted shelled Virginia
- type peanuts
- 1/4 cup minced green onion
- 1/8 teaspoon 5-spice powder or Allspice
 - teaspoon curry powder dash pepper
 - 1 teaspoon soy sauce 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
 - ? egg yolk, slightly beaten

Remove crusts from bread; cover with a damp towel or plastic wrap to keep soft. Make crumbs from crusts by putting a few at a time into a blender. Combine 3 tablespoons bread crumbs with chicken, peanuts, green onion, 5-spice powder, curry powder, sugar, pepper, soy sauce and parsley; mix well. Roll bread slices very thin with a rolling pin. Cut each square in half, place a teaspoon of chicken mixture on each piece. Brush edges of bread with egg yolk; fold in half to form a square. Pinch to seal, trimming if necessary. NOTE: May be made ahead of time and refrigerated or frozen. Keep squares covered to prevent drying. Cook 3 or 4 at a time, turning once until desired browness is reached (about 2 minutes). Remove from oil and drain on absorbent paper. Repeat until all squares are cooked. May be served with mustard sauce. Makes about 36.

OL' VIRGINIA PEANUTTY CHICKEN BITES

(U.S.A.)

- 1-1/2 cups finely chopped 1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger roasted shelled
 - 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Virginia type peanuts 2 egg whites, lightly beaten 2 whole chicken breasts, skinned and boned

Put chapped peanuts in a 9-inch pie plate. In a small bowl, combine cornstarch, sugar and ginger; blend in lemon juice and egg whites. Cut chicken into thin slices. Dip slices in egg mixture, then roll in peanuts to coat. Cook 3 or 4 Chicken Bites at a time in deep fryer until desired browness is reached (about 2 minutes), turning once. Remove from oil, and drain on absorbent paper. Repeat until all Bites are cooked. May be served with peach sauce. Makes about 30.

(Lithuanian Fried Cookies)

- 6 egg yolks 6 tablespoons dairy
- sour cream 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel dash salt
- 1-1/4 cups all-purpose flour 2 tablespoons flour

Beat egg yolks, sour cream, vanilla, lemon peel and salt together until well mixed. Add 1-1/4 cups flour, stirring to form a soft dough. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon flour on pastry cloth or other surface. Turn dough out onto floured surface. Sprinkle remaining flour over surface. Pat and roll dough to form a 16x15-inch square. Let stand a few minutes before cutting. Make 8 cuts (2-inches apart) across 16-inch sides. Make 5 cuts across the 15-inch side. You will have 42 (2x3-inch) rectangles. Cut these each diagonally to make 84 triangles. Make a slit in the center of the widest end; pull the other end through. Cook 3 or 4 at a time, turning once, until desired browness is reached (about 2 minutes). Remove from oil and drain on absorbent paper. Repeat until all Krustai are cooked. Makes about 84.

CHILI CHEESE BALLS

(Mexican Tidbit)

- 3 tablespoons chopped Jalapeno chilies
- (8-ounce) packaged grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
- 2 egg yolks 1/2 cup chopped roasted shelled Virginia type peanuts

bread crumbs

Mix chilies, cheeses and egg yolks together until well blended; add peanuts. Form into 1-inch balls. Roll in bread crumbs; refrigerate. Cook 3 or 4 at a time, until they float in oil and desired browness is reached (about 2 minutes). Remove from oil and drain on absorbent paper. Repeat until all Cheese Balls are cooked. Makes about 72.

VEGGIE FRITTERS

- 1 cup all-purpose flour 1 tablespoon baking powder 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 5 teaspoons vegetable oil 2/3 cup cold water
- 4 cups asparagus tips, broccoli or cauliflowerettes, carrot sticks, pea pods, zucchini slices,

or mushrooms

Combine flour, baking powder and salt in bowl. Stir in oil and mix until a loose ball is formed. Add water gradually, mixing until a stiff batter is formed. Blanch asparagus, broccoli, cauliflower and carrots (zucchini and mushrooms do not have to be blanched) by dipping them into boiling water for 1 minute; drain and cool under cold running water. Dry on paper towels. Dip vegetables into batter, allowing excess to drip off. Cook 3 or 4 at a time, until they float in oil and desired browness (about 2 minutes). Remove from oil and drain on absorbent paper. Repeat until all vegetables are cooked. Makes about 1-1/3 cups batter.

THAI PEANUT SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onions 3/4 cup roasted shelled
- Virginia type peanuts
 1/4 cup shredded coconut
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder 2 teaspoons brown sugar 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon Cayenne 2 tablespoons soy sauce 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Put onions, peanuts, coconut, water, garlic powder, sugar and Cayenne in a blender container; blend until almost smooth. Pour into a small sauce pan. Cook and stir until mixture boils and thickens. May be served warm or cold. Makes about 1 cup.

Spuds need to be treated with tender, loving care

Recently a consumer wrote to a magazine for potato growers and confessed his ignorance.

As one who "loves potatoes with the skin on," he fired off a series of questions that still remained unanswered in his mind.

For instance

• When I buy potatoes from the grocer, do I put the potatoes in the re-Should the houseperson wash potatoes that are bought at the grocer's?

• How does one stop sprouts developing on stored potatoes?

How long can one store potatoes

• Why doesn't the potato industry do some service for the public in putting out this "info" at the grocer's?

THE ANSWER to the refrigeration question is "no, but . . . " Generally potatoes should be kept out of the refrigerator, but there are instances where the practice can be valuable.

The best temperature for potatoes stored at home is between 45 and 48 degrees Fahrenheit. Temperatures chillier than that will cause the starches in the potatoes to change to sugars, producing a sweet taste.

On the other hand, temperatures that are too warm make potatoes start to sprout. Each potato is capable of devel-

That's fine in the field but not in the home. Sprouts are not harmful, but they tend to deteriorate a potato, so potatoes should be eaten as soon as possible before their quality declines.

OTHER CONDITIONS can also damage potatoes. Excessive exposure to light will make them turn greenish and produce a bitter taste. Green portions should be removed before the potatoes are eaten.

The air should also be moist where the potatoes are stored. Dryness produces moisture loss and causes wrinkling and shriveling.

According to Michigan State University experts, the ideal environment for potatoes is cool, moist and dark, and they recommend putting the potatoes in a black plastic bag in the coolest portion of the basement, if your home is so equipped. Be sure to leave the top of the bag slightly open, so that the po-tatoes get enough air. Without a supply of oxygen they will suffocate, with rapid deterioration occurring.

How long can potatoes be stored at home? A long, long time if conditions are absolutely ideal. Since those conditions are hard to find in most homes

If you do find yourself with more potatoes than you can consume in the near future, that's where the refrigerator can help out. Refrigerated air will stop the sprouting and provide the dues needed moistness. And the sugary taste face. is not permanent.

ABOUT THREE days before you use the potatoes, take them out of the refrigerator and keep them at room temperature. During that period the sugars will get burned off, and by eat-

That step is not necessary. If they are to be baked, washing and scrubbing are a good idea. Most potatoes are washed before packaging, but the potato may get handled before reaching the consumer's kitchen, and fine dirt residues may still be clinging to the sur-

THERE IS MORE high adventure afoot for children 9 and over. Even adults can get in on the treasure hunt if they will drive a The first expedition from

Plymouth set out Tuesday, June 25, for the Antiquities Galleries at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Clues in hand, the 20-member group encircled the famed Rivera

Court. Their mission was to solve the Mystery of the Five Fragments. The Plymouth Community Arts Council had offered a DIA treasure hunt as part of its summer program. The response was terrific, so much so that Barbara Bray, coordinator of fine arts classes for the arts council, has scheduled a second excursion. Anyone 9 years of age or older who would like to visit one of the Detroit area's treasures this summer may join the Tuesday, July 30, venture. The second DIA treasure hunt will be from 9 a.m. to noon. For information and registration, call the PCAC office, 455-5260, Wednesday mornings between 9 a.m and noon. The fee is $1.50 and four adult drivers are

THE SECOND annual Prairie Home Companion Picnic will be at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 20, in the courtyard between King and Goodison halls on the Eastern Michigan University Campus.

"It's not quite Lake Wobegon," admit staff members of WEMU, Eastern's Public Radio station, sponsor of the picnic. But, they say, Prairie Home Companion fans will have the opportunity for a good oldfashioned time.

There will be live entertainment featuring music by Country Pleasure. Games include relay races and a powdered milk biscuiteating contest. There'll be lots of food - chicken, beans, corn on the cob, watermelon and lemonade catered by Haabs Restaurant.

Lake Wobegon, the fictitious town "that time forgot," is the focal point of Garrison Keillor's two-hour radio program. "A Prairie Home Companion" is broadcast live on National Public Radio out of St. Paul, Minn. It is aired locally on WEMU 6-8 p.m. Saturdays and rebroadcast 2-4 p.m. Sundays. During the picnic, the program will be broadcast over loud speakers in the courtyard.

The picnic begins at 4 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children. For more information, call WEMU in Ypsilanti, 487-2229.

CANTON JAYCEES have a fun fund-raiser planned for Saturday, July 20. It's their third annual road rally. The rally begins at 5:30 p.m. at the Plymouth Canton High School parking lot. There will about 15 clues and the rally will take about 41/2 hours to complete. Registration fee is $5 and this includes refreshments.

Proceeds will benefit the Canton Jaycees Scholarship Fund. Everyone is welcome. Call Lana Olson, 397-8063, for more information.

DAVID STOW, 22, of Plymouth received WDIV-TV's "Go 4 IT" award. Anchor Mort Crim presented the award to David for his dedicated work with the Alhambras, a Catholic men's organization. The Alhambras raise scholarship money for and provide special services to the mentally,retarded.

David is a group officer and member of the clown troupe that entertains at special events. He also volunteers with the Knights of Columbus in fund-raisers for the mentally retarded. The "Go 4 It" awards are given each Friday on News at 5:00 to an individual who has made a special contribution to society or has performed a heroic act. To nominate someone for the award, call Deborah Johnson, 222-0522.

Film 'Explorers' needs more than flashy space story

The only limitation to the motion picture is the imagination of

"Explorers" features three adolescents on screen and who knows how many more off screen, all of whom have failed to explore their imaginations and the possibilities of the motion picture.

The result is 105 minutes of expensive-looking footage with lots of glitzy special effects by George Lucas' Industrial Light and Magic, but that is not enough to save this scattered story about three junior high kids wandering around space for no good reason.

Ben Crandall (Ethan Hawke) is a typical daydreaming, sciencefiction-oriented adolescent, with a twist. Ben's dreams enable his precocious friend, Wolfgang Muller (River Phoenix), to wire up an old TV screen and a computer (only 128K) which creates a force field that literally flies you to the moon and beyond.

THE CREW NEEDS a little mechanical know-how to help the visionary and the electronic genius. Along comes Darren Woods (Jason Presson) who builds spaceships out of stolen carny rides and old garbage cans. Darren is also tough enough to save Ben from Steve Jackson (Bobby Fite) and his gang: Bradley Gregg, George

Olden and Chance Schwass. Jackson and the gang terrorize our heroes several times, just one of a series of essentially disconnected elements that serves no real purpose. A sheriff's department helicopter pilot, Charlie Drake (Dick Miller), is alternately driven to distraction and glee that the boys are flying and the Muller family is the biggest bunch of loonies seen in recent years. At first view, it appears that Wolfgang lives in an institution for the retarded and that his father amuses him by imitating elephants. Everything, however, has a reasonable explanation. Father wears a mask to avoid injuring himself with bug poison and Mother Muller is permissive enough to allow her children to eat cereal while wearing Halloween masks.

Honest, folks, I am not making this up, just reporting.

One of the film's problems is the Muller family's German accents, which are not clear. But you can't blame all of it on non native speakers. "Naturalistic" sound is used, with characters distant from the screen having, soft voices. This may be a nifty, artistic technique, but it is impossible to hear what the actors are saying, particularly after laugh lines — and there are some, not

THE MAIN difficulty with "Explorers" is that there is no antagonist against whom our intrepid young friends can pit their dreams, their genius and their practical survival skills. The film is just a long series of vaguely related gags.

Limited stimulus to action in the film turns out to be two young space creatures who wanted to meet Earthlings. Wak/Starkiller (Richard Picardo) and his girlfriend (Karen Mayo-Chandler) stole Daddy Starkiller's (Robert F. Boyle) spaceship. They zipped over to Earth's outer environs to make Ben dream enough circuitry so that Wolfgang could construct a force field that makes space travely nearly search. el possible.

After a long post-landing inspection, our three hereos meet the Starkiller kids but Daddy comes home and breaks up the party. So the guys go home and that's all there is to it.

in "Explorers" the problem is solved by a trivial reason, which just does not support a long movie. Director Joe Dante ("Gremlins") and co-producers Feldman and Bombyk ("Witness," among many other credits) should have known better. Perhaps their biggest mistake was choosing Eric Luke to write his first motionpicture scenario, an original conceived while he was clerking in a Santa Monica science-fiction bookstore.

Experience like that leads to films like "Explorers."

eries (so are winter, spring and fall), a time when tourists are expected and driving is safer.

If you cannot take advantage of the inexpensive air fares to Europe or get to California, what better place than stay at home and visit our own local industries. Michigan ranks fourth in the nation in production, has two distinct regions and, in general, produces some very acceptable wines.

To see the equipment, tour vineyards and meet winemakers is the same the world over. It's a great way to learn at first hand the joys and rigors of vinicul-

This is the first of two articles on touring Michigan wineries. This will report on the older, southwestern part of the state and in the next column, the

Now that the most effective winery in the region, Tabor Hill, has opened a tasting room in beautiful downtown Paw Paw, this community can well be thought of as the center of the wine industry in this part of the state. It provides access to the three wineries worth visiting locally, St. Julian, Warner and Tabor Hill. They line up nicely on the west side of the main thing sweet." This St. Julian can provide from its assortment of labrusca and hybrid wine grapes. But it also has wines for the more serious taster and is generous in pouring anything it makes, except chambourin, which never ever gets to the tasting room.

Making a serious effort to be more than purveyors of sweet, native wines, it is today doing decent things with seyval, vidal and chancellor. Except for its vidal-based sparkling wine, these are to be avoided as a group, however.

Make no mistake, St. Julian is the big producer of the area. It caters to a variety of tastes and shows evidence of moving with the changing tastes of the public. It is marketing hard as well, now having off-premise tasting rooms down the road on I-94, another near Jackson, one in Frankenmuth, Sault Ste. Marie and, most recently, on I-75 at the Grange Hall Road exit near Hol-

A block or two north is troubled Warner, a winery that has been around a long time, focusing chiefly on native American grape varieties (and several blends with peculiar, idiosyncratic names). There are those, a few years ago, who predicted Warner would be the first of the southwest wineries to go under financially (Bronte beat Warner to it), but Warner continues to hang in.

Warner has an attractive, rustic tasting room, with a modest restaurant attached set by the river but seems to be winery wholly out of focus these days. There appears to be no real sense of direction, offering attractions from the past while occasionally showing some quality hybrids.

IT HAS consistently made fairly good sparkling wines and, when I was there recently, had excellent sales on its 1982 vidal brut and its non-vintaged vidal naturel, both most palatable. (But the sales promotion does not look good. Why special prices?)

Tabor Hill, whose origins are in Berrien County down the road, goes back to the very early 1970s and has had a checkered history of ownership. It has never made wine from native grapes, using instead hybrids and some vinifera. It has been most successful with whites (true for all wineries in the state) and is currently marketing a sparkling wine from chardonnay grapes that is most appealing. In general, vidal has been its most consistent space with a shoe store. The hint of leather mixed with wine is unusual.

The tasting room is part of a building just north of Warner's that shares

Two other area wineries, Peterson and Vendramino, are best ignored by anyone serious about wines.

Weary from intense sampling throughout Paw Paw, the tourist would do well to consider the Little River Inn across from St. Julian, a most attractive restaurant. Open for lunch and dinner, a sampling of good local, California and imported wines is offered to complement a most imaginative, moderately priced menu. The still-eager wine sampler should continue on northwest, using Highway 40, to the Fennville area. There, the Fennville Vineyard is focusing on estate-grown viniferas and hybrids to produce some excellent white wines. Farther south, on the Red Arrow Highway, Len Olson has opened the Olson Family Winery in the old Lakeside property. He is the man who made Tabor Hill wines at their best before the turnover, and his early releases of vidal and seyval show a great deal of

Putting for gold in northern Michigan

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Dave Richards is, and always has been, a go-getter.

His hustle is a driving force behind the Northern Michigan Gold Coast program - one of the fastest-growing resort and golf packages in the Midwest. The Gold Coast encompasses eight resorts and 17 championship-caliber golf courses along the Lake Michigan shore line in the northwest part of the

The plan to link these resorts was devised by Lathrup Village resident Doug Paul, who is the president of P.A.R Golf Co. located in Dearborn.

Though Paul is the marketing genius behind the project, much of the energy needed to sell it was supplied by Richards. The Plymouth resident has never been at a loss for energy when it comes to turning a buck.

As a student at Plymouth Salem High School, he traded the typical trappings of high school life - sports, parties, etc. - for a 50-plus-hours-aweek job at McDonald's.

FOLLOWING GRADUATION in 1976, Richards attended college, three of them: Central Michigan, University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan. But the classroom couldn't keep Richards from hustling. At U-M, he took classes on Tuesday and Thursday and worked 50 hours a week at a ski shop in Ann

"My biggest interest, I guess, is making money," the Plymouth native said.

Four classes shy of graduation, Richards bolted EMU to take a sales job with Johnson Wax Co. He became district sales manager faster than anyone had ever done before at the company.

"Then I got bored and quit," the affable Richards said.

He may have quit Johnson Wax, but he didn't quit making money. While "taking a year off of life," as he put it, Richards earned some big profits buying and reselling cars out of his home.

Then came P.A.R. Golf. Last July, Richards traveled up to Traverse City looking for employment at a resort. Through a friend of his family, he met Paul. That's when the Gold Coast plan began to roll.

"Doug Paul is a marketing genius, he really is," Richards said. "He had this fantastic plan laid out. He wrote up this entire seven-part project in about four

'In terms of quality and quantity of golf, we aiready can compete with Hilton Head . . . The Gold Coast is here to stay." — Dave Richards

THE PLAN was to get the eight resorts to link together and allow P.A.R. Golf to sell golf and resort packages for them. A customer comes to P.A.R Golf, pays a fee, and P.A.R. arranges all the tee times and hotel rooms for as long as the customer wants. Not inexpensive, the greens fees are similar to the individual courses' rates, but very Richards job was selling the plan to the resorts. An unenviable task since the eight resorts were virtually staging a competitive war with each other.

"When we first approached the resorts, they laughed at us," Richards said. "Who were we to be telling these owners of million-dollar resorts how to run their business. They said we couldn't do it. But we didn't see why

Finally, after three months of constant meetings with the resort owners, Paul and Richards were able to bring the owners together for an unprecedented meeting.

And the owners bought the plan. They formed the Northern Michigan Golf Council and gave P.A.R. Golf an exclusive three-year contract to market and sell the Northern Michigan

It didn't take long for Paul and Richards, the company's director of advertising and promotion, to sell the

"It's moving incredibly fast," Richards said. "Our goal for the first year was 2,000 golfers. We're about halfway there right now. We have the full support of the Michigan Travel Bureau and of 152 AAA outlets in Michigan, Illinois and Ohio. The state is very interested in promoting golf in northern

Hartman optimistic By C.J. Risak

It's been two years since Paul Hartman took control of Oakland University's athletic department. And while it hasn't been smooth sailing throughout his tenure, there has been enough progress for him to give, "on a scale from one to 10, an eight or a nine."

If that evaluation sounds overly optimistic, remember the source. Hartman is a top-notch optimist. He took over as athletic director after Corey Van Fleet left to assume the AD duties at Long Beach State, and since coming to OU from the University of Wisconsin-Steven's Point Hartman has initiated several major changes.

"The AD," Hartman explained, "wants his whole program to be successful, but that isn't possible. There are restraints built in, and sometimes he just can't get the funding."

FUNDING IS where Hartman's impact has been most noticeable. Before he took command of OU's athletics, the department's operating budget was $99,500 and its scholarship budget was $132,800. Those figures have since grown to a projected $118,000 for operations and $190,000 for scholarship

"Basically, we've received good support from the administration," Hartman said. "We have received the money we need to put into programs."

The administration's committment to increase funding has simplified Hartman's first two years on the job. When he arrived, there had been no increase in the scholarship budget "in five or six years," which, because of inflation, resulted in the department los-

That ground is now being made up. The men's basketball team is near the 12-scholarship limit imposed by the NCAA, an increase from just over nine in 1983-84.

In that same time span, soccer has jumped from seven to 10 scholarships; men's swimming has risen from seven to nine; women's basketball has increased from 6.5 to nine; and women's swimming has doubled, from 3.5 to sev-

AND YET, OU's athletic budgets remain far less than most of its Great Lakes Intecollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) rivals, mainly because OU has no football program.

"The $300,000 scholarship budget we project for 1989-90 is less than many of our conference schools have for just football this year," said Hartman. Upon his arrival at OU, Hartman saw an immediate need for a steadying hand at the helm. "I thought there was a lack of direction," he said. "Goals needed to be emphasized, there was a lack of organization, and there was concern over scholarships because, in essence, we were going backwards. "I wanted to put direction back into the program, to balance the budget and to get back on an even track. Understand, the program wasn't in disarray when I got here - that's one reason I came. But there were some little things that had to be done."

AMONG THOSE "little things" was establishing a community relations group, a Hall of Honor, an athletic banquet, and fund-raisers. All have proved beneficial and successful.

Not that his stay has been all roses. Shortly after his hiring, there was a major overhaul of the coaching staff. Replacements were found in both men's and women's basketball, women's swimming, wrestling, tennis and cross country, and a new sports information director is soon to be hired. Hartman prompted few of the changes, but still outsiders wondered if the new AD was brooming out the old guard.

"No one likes to make staff changes," Hartman said. "I didn't come in with the thought of being a hatchet

HARTMAN PLAYED an active role in only two of the changes: the non-renewal of the contracts for men's basketball coach Lee Frederick and sports information director Stan Blackford.

He points out that several positions have been created during his tenure, including upgrading the men's and women's assistant basketball coaches and the women's swim coach positions to full time, and the addition of a diving

But, as Hartman added, "We still have part-time coaches in sports without much scholarship money, if any at all. As a result, that sport has gone up and down."

Hartman wants to divert more time and money to the lesser sports. The sports of major emphasis remain both mens and womens basketball and swimming, and soccer.

BUT THAT development plan runs headlong into another of Hartman's hopes: expansion. OU currently has 11 sports, but there have been appeals to start varsity programs in baseball, track and women's soccer and cross country.

"We're always looking at (expansion)," Hartman said. "In our projections, we were supposed to start our baseball and a women's program next year, but we won't."

Part of the problem is convincing the current coaches of the necessity, particularly if it means trimming other athletic budgets. Local residents have claimed they can start a baseball program without using any university funds, but Hartman is wary of that

"We want to have a (funding) base to work with," he said, "so if the person in charge of that sport goes, the program doesn't go with him."

HARTMAN'S VIEW - expansion or concentration on programs in existence — is evident. "I'm a generalist," he said. "I like all sports. There are two philosophies: either offer more for our student body — we only have 11 sports for more than 12,000 students - or concentrate on what we have."

For the time being, he'll work on improving those sports OU already has. Volleyball, wrestling and golf, Hart-man said, all should be noticeably improved in the next few years.

And he expects his basketball teams to challenge for GLIAC championships in the next few years. Both swimmin programs remain national powers.

"Overall, I'm kind of bullish on what we've accomplished," he summarised. "There's no indication anywhere of going backwards."

But he was quick to add "we don't always go forward as fast as I'd like."

Last year, you might recall, both O&E tournaments had finishes tighter than Anne White's tennis body suit. Geralyn Repasky of Livonia, now starring for Bowling Green State, nipped 1983 O&E champ Ann Lauer of Birmingham on the first playoff hole to win last year's title. Both had

THE MEN'S crown went to Nunzio Marino of Plymouth, who edged Alex McLuckie of Livonia and Bob Thomas of Westland by a stroke. Marino combined rounds of 73 and 75 for a 36hole total of 148, withstanding a driving rainstorm on the final day that delayed play 90 minutes.

Both champions putted their way to victory. Repasky two-putted from 35 feet on the first playoff hole to claim the women's title, and Marino reduced his putting average from 36-38 per round to 28 in the first round and 30 in the second.

The message is clear - get that putter sharpened up. And start getting ready now.
