TOP CRITIC: Minal Hajratwala, a sophomore at Plymouth Canton High, recently won second prize of $500 in the junior division of the Detroit Free Press movie review contest. She reviewed "The Journey of Natty Gann." There were some 90 entries from throughout the state.

LOOKIN' FOR A HOME: A giant poinsettia plant at Sir Speedy Printing Center, 41739 Joy, Canton, is looking for a home for the holidays. From now through Dec. 20 Sir Speedy will be accepting donations for the Plymouth-Canton-Northville Salvation Army "Baskets Filled With Love" food drive. With each donation of canned goods, you may enter your name in a drawing for the poinsettia which now is on display at the store lobby.

EXTRA-MILERS: Two Plymouth-Canton school district employees were given Extra-Miler awards during the last meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education. Paul Cummings, director of athletics and health education and employee for 22 years, and teacher Norma Foster received the awards. Cummings was cited for "leadership in coaching and his efforts to bring about summer swim lessons and a sixth grade camp program."

The Extra-Miler award given to Cummings noted that he was one of those dedicated people who work quietly behind the scenes without getting extra credit. Foster was praised for her "positive approach. Parents have been asking for her to teach their children. She helps struggling children and has been involved in an instructional skills program. She is a model for the staff and relates her summer workshop information to her fellow staff. She is a professional — patient, caring and sensitive."

K MART PARTY: Young and old alike are recipients of holiday cheer at the K mart store at Ann Arbor Road and Haggerty in Plymouth. On the morning of Saturday, Dec. 7, K mart opened its doors early for a special shopping spree for senior citizens. Employees were there to give personal service to the special shoppers before the doors opened for regular buyers. This past Saturday the doors opened early again for to allow some 20 needy youngsters from Plymouth to go on a shopping spree for family members.

Chiefs seek OK for Enhanced 911

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees will be asked Tuesday night to approve recommendations of Police Chief Carl Berry and Fire Chief Larry Groth to move forward with the implementation of an Enhanced 911 system for the township.

The system would provide features not available under the present 911 system, such as locating the exact address of a caller in trouble.

Plymouth Township has been meeting with other western Wayne County local governments to study the feasibility and costs of such a system.

Through the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW), an organization of 17 western Wayne communities, local representatives have been discussing the system — primarily through meetings of local police and fire chiefs.

THE CWW LAST met Nov. 21 and will continue to provide presentations to community leaders on the advantages of Enhanced 911 over 911, to coordinate efforts among the CWW members, and discuss costs, financing methods and an implementation plan.

The presentations will be completed by Jan. 31, 1986.

Ann Wagner, executive director of the CWW, has recommended that each CWW member community designate a representative to work with other communities to develop the implementation plan, disseminate information in the community, and present resolutions to governing bodies each step of the way.

"A keen interest has been expressed by conference members to begin implementing plans for the Enhanced 911 service," said Wagner. "It is our hope that all CWW communities will have signed letters of intent by spring 1986 so that the project plans can begin."

Berry is chairman of the CWW committee working out details of the implementation. Plymouth Township recently hosted a presentation to CWW members which showed how the system works.

The most important feature of Enhanced 911 is its ability to transmit the address of the caller, even though the caller is unable to speak. The system also discourages crank calls.

CHIEFS BERRY and Groth said the present 911 system has limitations "that can prove costly and ineffective." The chiefs said they found Enhanced 911 to "be a beneficial system to have installed in Plymouth Township. Having reached that conclusion we must move the process to a conclusion."

In a letter to the township board, the chiefs have asked for a letter of intent from the township to the telephone company, requesting cost information. "Second, we need to further identify the dialing area involved. Finally, we need to identify a representative from the township to work on a committee with the Conference of Western Wayne to continue the work."

The chiefs have asked the board to proceed with the three steps.

The CWW includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Livonia, Garden City, Westland, Sumpter Township, Northville, Northville Township, Redford Township, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Inkster, Romulus, Wayne, Canton Township, Huron Township and Van Buren Township.

ALSO DURING Tuesday's meeting, the board will consider a resolution supporting a house bill to allow the State Liquor Control Commission to revoke the license of a business selling package liquor to minors for consumption off premises.

The board will consider a request for an entertainment permit to be attached to the liquor license of S&G Properties 1492 Sheldon — Auntie Pasta's restaurant. Approval has been recommended by the police chief.

The board meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. at Plymouth Township Hall, Ann Arbor Road at Lilley.

Woman killed crossing ramp

A 28-year-old Belleville woman was killed Thursday night when she was struck by a car on the I-275 exit ramp at Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township.

According to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the woman's car ran out of gas on southbound I-275. The woman got out and walked up the ramp, apparently to reach a gasoline station on Ann Arbor Road.

She was struck while walking on the ramp by a car driven by a 24-year-old Westland woman.

According to the Sheriff's Department report, the woman whose car hit the pedestrian had her lights on and was not speeding.

The victim, whose name has been withheld pending notification of next of kin, left her car near the I-275 Ann Arbor exit ramp with its emergency flashers operating.

Although the accident still is under investigation, deputies say indications are that the woman stepped in front of the oncoming car.

No charges have been brought against the Westland woman driving the car which struck the victim.

The accident occurred at 7:55 p.m. on the exit ramp about 300 feet away from Ann Arbor Road.

The victim suffered massive head injuries and was transported to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia by the Plymouth Township rescue squad.

Youth to face trial on break-in charges

A 17-year-old Plymouth youth is scheduled to appear in 35th District Court this morning on breaking and entering and safe-cracking charges.

Brian K. McMullen was arrested — following a police chase — in connection with crimes committed in Canton, Plymouth and Northville Township.

McMullen is charged with breaking into Cabaron, an auto refurbishing shop, at 929 Holbrook in Plymouth, at 10 p.m. Dec. 6 and stealing a 1982 BMW, according to Plymouth Police Lt. Bob Commier.

From about 12:30 to 1 a.m. the same night, the Canton Calvary Assembly of God at 7933 Sheldon Road in Canton was broken into.

ENTRY WAS GAINED by prying open a church window. The thief entered the main office and found a key to a metal cabinet that held a safe containing from $150 to $200. The money was stolen.

Police said they suspect McMullen spent the day Saturday driving the BMW.

"Saturday night he was cruising around Northville Township and Northville Township Police attempted to make a stop on the vehicle," said Canton Police Detective Rene LeBlanc.

"They got into a car chase, which resulted in him rolling the BMW over," LeBlanc said.

The car was heavily damaged but not totaled, Commier said. No one was injured.

McMullen was arrested by Northville Township Police and charged with three traffic violations — never obtaining a valid license, fleeing and eluding police officers, and speeding. LeBlanc said.

IN PLYMOUTH McMullen was charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile (UDAA) and breaking and entering (B&E). Felony warrants were obtained for both crimes.

Canton Township Police received felony warrants for B&E and safe cracking charges.

The safe-cracking charge, "from an old case law," carries a possible life in prison sentence. LeBlanc said. The UDAA charge carries a possible five-year prison sentence.

McMullen was arraigned in 35th District Court before Judge John MacDonald Tuesday on both the Plymouth and Canton charges. Judge MacDonald entered a plea of not guilty.

MacDonald set a $15,000 cash bond, and disallowed a 10 percent surety. McMullen failed to post the bond and was jailed until the preliminary examination.

A preliminary examination — to determine if there is enough evidence to link McMullen to the crimes — was to be 10:30 a.m. today in 35th District Court.

Sue Visser addresses packages at the new Shipping Depot on Main Street in Plymouth.

Mail firms ease yule crunch

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

Plymouth and Canton residents who want to avoid the holiday crowds at local post offices might want to try one of the two private services in the area.

One such business is Express Package Service at Lilley and Warren in Canton, and the other is The Shipping Depot in the City of Plymouth.

At The Shipping Depot Inc., 631 S. Main, Plymouth, the customer can drop off an item for mailing, and the store will do the rest: packaging, stamping and delivery to the Plymouth Post Office.

The Shipping Depot has the advantage of owner Jeff Flotkoetter's years of experience in the trucking business.

Flotkoetter can mail anything, large or small, anywhere the sender wants to ship it. He said United Parcel Service makes a daily stop at the store. Or, if the customer prefers, he will contact Federal Express and have them pick up the package at the Main Street store.

The Shipping Depot, Flotkoetter said, also ships by Purolator Courier and all common carriers.

THE SHIPPING DEPOT, which opened for business Nov. 23, makes it possible for customers to bypass the public post office completely, if they wish.

The store rents private mail boxes but allows customers to use the store's street address because some prefer not to use a post office box as a mailing address.

"The boxes are used by lawyers or professionals who prefer that their mail not be delivered to their office," said Flotkoetter.

Flotkoetter visits the post office every morning to get his customer's mail, which they can pick up at their private boxes at 9 a.m. He also takes their mail to the post office daily.

Private mailbox customers don't have to worry about packages being delivered to a vacant house because The Shipping Depot accepts all deliveries to their boxes and holds the parcels until they are picked up.

Having a private box is especially useful during the gift-giving season. The cost of leasing a private mailbox is $10 per month, $15 for businesses. The store will throw in one free month of box rental with a six-month lease and two free months with a 12-month lease. Minimum rental period is three months.

EXPRESS PACKAGE SERVICE, 7365 Lilley, Canton, offers about the same type of service that The Shipping Depot does.

Express Package will send or receive packages, by United Parcel Service, Federal Express or Purolator Courier.

It, too, provides packaging materials and services and mailbox "suites."

But both companies supplement their mailing-packaging-mailbox services with an array of other services.

Express Package offers word processing and sends telegrams or mailgrams.

The Shipping Depot makes keys (in addition to the ones that fit its mailboxes) and does photocopying.

The Shipping Depot also provides a telephone message service; messages are placed in customers' boxes if they rent a box.

The message service costs $18 per month if the customer has a box; or $22 for non-boxholders for 30 messages or less.

For people who don't stay in one place for very long, or who don't like to stand in line, private mailboxes could be the answer.

City to act on crime prevention grant

The Plymouth City Commission tonight will consider a resolution adopting the state-approved grant budget and matching funds for the city's police department crime prevention program.

If the commission approves, the crime prevention program would begin Jan. 1. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in commission chambers upstairs at Plymouth City Hall, Church at Main.

The state will provide $12,500 for the program, to be matched by $12,500 from the city. The city's share will come from money already in the police department budget.

THE PREVENTION program will allow the city to do the following:

- Develop a volunteer auxiliary police program with six volunteers.
- Increase Neighborhood Watch programs from five to at least eight.
- Expose at least half of all adults in Plymouth to some type of crime prevention program or information at least once during the course of the project.
- Develop citizen surveys and evaluate crime prevention programs.
- Offer training opportunities to volunteer citizen patrol groups, with a minimum of five offerings.

- Develop at least two multimedia presentations on crime prevention and the police department.
- Conduct home security surveys.
- Develop at least one crime prevention specialist on each shift of the police department.
- Make additional Operation Identification marking equipment available.

The grant project director is Paul Sincoc, assistant to the city manager.

The department will buy materials needed for the program locally. Personnel costs will be $10,990; consultant and contractual services, $8,040; travel, $250; supplies and operating costs, $5,000; and equipment, $3,700.

ALSO DURING tonight's commission meeting, organizers of the fourth annual Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular will seek approval to hold the event Jan. 9-19.

Competition is scheduled, pending commission approval, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Jan. 11. Student competition will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Jan. 18.

All activities for the ice spectacular will be held at the Gathering, Kellogg Park and on the sidewalks of Plymouth.

Scott Lorenz and Henry Graper Jr. are chairmen of the ice spectacular.

The commission also will be asked to approve a school fund raising for the Seventh-day Adventist Church, from noon to 6 p.m. Dec. 22, Jan. 19, Feb. 16, March 16 and April 13 at the Gathering.

Neighbor thwarts break-in attempt

A Plymouth-Canton school custodian foiled an attempted break-in at his apartment house shortly after midnight Friday.

Victor Davis, custodian at Field Elementary School in Canton, opened his apartment door and saw two young men trying to pick the deadbolt lock on the door of the apartment across the hall.

The two men were bent over, working on the lock, according to the police report. When Davis confronted them and asked them what they were doing, they yelled an obscenity and ran out the door of the building.

The residents of the apartment where the attempted break-in occurred apparently were on vacation. The complex is on Heritage at North Territorial.

The men were described as about 25 years old and 6 feet tall. No damage was done to the lock.

Give AIDS check to all prisoners?

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, is co-sponsoring legislation to require the Michigan Department of Corrections to test all incoming inmates for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS).

Law said the measure was prompted by reports that an inmate in Oakland County Jail is infected with AIDS. Currently there are no guidelines for corrections officials to follow regarding AIDS, said Law which creates problems between prison guard unions and the department.

"It is clear that our prison system must test each incoming inmate for the disease," said Law and place those who are afflicted, or who carry the virus, in isolation to prevent widespread contamination of other inmates.

Law added that the prison guards union claims there are four inmates with AIDS in the prison system while the department claims there are none. "The two sides are in the process of ironing out their differences but I think legislation is needed to protect the public health of both inmates and the guards who come in contact with them."

"and in the morning we have a sight to see when the mail is being distributed to the carriers."

All avenues for the handling of the mail are busier than ever and the sales at the windows are way above other years.

"The letters we are handling at this office," the postmaster said, "are up 100 percent over the last year, and we thought last year was a great year."

What he is proud of, and he praised his staff for it, is the speed with which parcels are handled.

"We have parcels delivered in four to five days, so no one should be disappointed at Christmas Day."

HE TOOK time to check and reveal that just that morning a parcel was received from Florida in three days.

"When you receive a package from that distance in so short a time, you know the mail is traveling at a great rate and we should be proud of it."

As he spoke of the rush of business, Postmaster Mulligan repeated that the real work is done at the office about 8 a.m.

"You never saw anything like it. It is the best teamwork over the holiday since the time when we also handled the Canton Township mail from this office."

While he spoke there were long lines at the windows in the office, a line at the mail boxes on Penniman Avenue, and people coming in with packages of various sizes.

"This is a fine Christmas," Mulligan repeated, "and there is just no telling how great it will be until Christmas is here. We just hope that all the mail from other sections comes here on time. We will get it out."

In addition to spending money, each youngster also received a gift. A professional clown, some six other clowns, Santa Claus and an array of animals were on hand Saturday morning to entertain the children. The needy children were identified with the assistance of some local churches, schools, and with the help of the Mayflower VFW of Plymouth.

SPREADING CHEER:

Denny's restaurant at Ann Arbor Road and I-275 in Plymouth invites the community to join them in giving Christmas cheer. Tomorrow and on Thursday, Dec. 19, Santa Claus will be at Denny's from 1-4 p.m. to help raise funds and food for Focus HOPE's "Share With A Senior" program for senior citizens. Each person is asked to donate four canned or dried goods.

GETS 32ND DEGREE:

Dennis J. Lorenz of Wolfriver,

Plymouth, was among 80 Masons from 11 southeastern Michigan counties who received Scottish Rite Freemasonry's 32nd Degree at the 299th semi-annual reunion of the Detroit Scottish Rite Bodies held last month in the Detroit Masonic Temple. The class was named in memory of the late Harry A. Etienne of Southfield, a 33rd Degree and retired Chrysler executive. Guest speaker was U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan's 9th District, also a 33rd Degree Mason.

Help Michigan National say "thanks" to the generations of older Americans who have enriched all our lives.

Our country owes a great deal to older Americans. Starting with Benjamin Franklin, who at the age of 70 helped create our Declaration of Independence, older Americans have enriched our lives in immeasurable ways. As inventors, politicians, scientists, artists, philosophers, writers and more, they have helped shape the character and independent spirit of America.

At Michigan National, we salute that independent spirit among older Americans. And we're working to make sure that every person has an opportunity to pursue a dream, at any age.

Our new Independence for Life Program will support educational and recreational opportunities and community service programs — all to help us live longer, healthier, more independent and productive lives.

How can you help? By banking at Michigan National locations all across Michigan. For every new checking account opened and every automatic teller machine transaction, Michigan National will make a contribution to the Independence for Life Program.

Please join us in supporting Independence for Life. It's our way of saying "thanks" to the countless generations of older Americans who have enriched all our lives.

YOU'VE GOT A PROBLEM - PAIN

RELIEF IN A SHORT TIME

I injured my back in early January. I was rushed to emergency, given a pain killer, told to stay off my feet and that I should see an orthopedic surgeon. I guess you could say that the possibility of surgery scared me.

A dear friend of mine made an appointment and brought me to the Chase Chiropractic Office. I was x-rayed. I saw my x-rays and everything was thoroughly explained to me. I had my first adjustment and when I left Dr. Chase's office much of the pain was gone. I felt much better.

Pinched nerves caused the numbness in my hands and to my surprise, I was three quarters of an inch shorter on my right side. That was causing most of my lower back and leg pain.

Now I'm in my seventh week of adjustments and I feel like a new person. My imbalance is almost corrected and it was done without surgery.

I am most grateful and appreciative to Dr. Chase and his staff for the kindness and understanding they have shown me, and especially for alleviating my pain.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Delores Palfalvi

Chiropractic Care, Don't Ever Underestimate It!

I had taken Darvon and Percadon for 2 months and was completely laid up prior to coming into the Chase Chiropractic Office.

I started at the Chase Chiropractic Office in Nov. of 1984. I had pain in my lower back and arthritis in both knees. After only two months, the pain in both of my knees had almost completely disappeared. I can do things I could not do for several years. All back pain had disappeared.

My medical doctor was surprised when I went back to him after my Chiropractic Adjustments, to see how healthy I was compared to previous visits.

I came in to a Chiropractor because I had friends and relatives that had been helped and they all recommended not only Chiropractic care, but Dr. Richard Chase. I'm so glad I listened to them.

Headaches Gone, Eyesight Improved

I gradually developed some weakness in my eyes and many bad headaches over a three year period. I fatigued more than normal and seemed to lack energy. After receiving negative results from an ophthalmologist, a neurologist, and several hospital tests, I asked my doctor about Chiropractic care. He said it couldn't hurt.

After a Chase Chiropractic examination and x-rays were taken, a plan was developed for treatment. Some minor back aches developed from the regular adjustments. However, the change and improvement was very noticeable.

My headaches are now very few and far between. I very seldom feel fatigued. My energy is back to its normal level, and my eyes are much better. Overall I feel a considerable improvement, and recommend chiropractic care to all my friends.

Hunter's first try nets 500-pound

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

Seasoned hunters rightfully ought to be more than a little jealous of Cindy Smiatacz of Plymouth Township.

The young mother of two, who never hunted anything in her life, shot a 500-pound bull elk on her first try Tuesday.

She and husband Mark moved into their Plymouth home on Terry only a month ago. Now they'll have to make room on their basement wall for the mounted head and "five-by-five" rack of antlers of the big beast.

"This has got to be a joke," Cindy Smiatacz said when her husband submitted her name on an application for an elk permit.

Mark Smiatacz, a veteran hunter, helped his wife learn to shoot a .30-06 rifle at a shooting range. When she became the only woman in Plymouth and one of the few in the state to get an elk permit, Mark joined her on her first hunting expedition, to Atlanta, Mich., near Gaylord. "I was her assistant."

HIS COMMENT after he saw his wife down the big elk was, "This is unreal."

"The hardest thing was getting through the snow with my gun," said Cindy. There were 18 inches on the ground that day.

She had followed her guide for about 10 minutes when she saw five bull elks. "I looked through the scope and aimed through two trees," she said. There was another, larger elk next to the one she was aiming at but she fired and hit the smaller one — from 125 yards.

"I told my guide, 'I think I hit it' and he said he didn't think so because he was looking at the other elk. Mine was on the ground. I hit it on the first shot," said Cindy.

Her shot hit the elk in the shoulder area, in the lungs. She fired two more shots into the elk's head before it finally died.

"The men at the DNR (Department of Natural Resources) said, 'Did you really shoot that elk?' They couldn't believe it."

The elk then had to be hauled about three-quarters of a mile out of the woods, with the help of a farmer and his horse.

IT MEASURED five feet from its hooves to shoulders, eight feet from rump to nose.

The Smiataczes kept it in their garage until Wednesday because the weather stayed cold, then began butchering it into steaks and ribs. Elk is said to taste more like beef than deer venison.

More than 52,000 people applied for elk permits in Michigan but only 120 were awarded, with Cindy being only the second woman in the state to receive one.

"One woman saw a 17-point elk and froze up," said Cindy. "I guess she just couldn't believe it, and she missed the shot."

But in Cindy's case, seeing the elk didn't make her uptight. "Getting used to the kickback of the rifle was hard. But when I saw the elk and fired, I didn't even notice it. Getting up the ridges was more exciting, catching my breath."

The elk was taken on state land.

Cindy's guide, who was paid $100 for his services, suggested the area, about 35 miles east of Gaylord. Some guides charge $100 a day, plus $500 for a kill.

FARMERS IN the area also have been known to charge for the use of their land, even though hunters do them a favor by getting rid of the elks which eat their crops.

"These elk are tame compared to those out west," said Cindy. "They spend more money to shoot western elk, too."

The most dangerous part of the hunt, for the Smiataczes, was driving home as other motorists nearly cut them off the road as they rubbernecked to get a look at the animal.

Mark Smiatacz said it would take him three or four hours to remove the elk's hide and a day to butcher and put the meat in a freezer for storage.

But if his wife can do this well on her first hunting try, he may need an extra freezer to store what she shoots on her second try.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Cindy Smiatacz holds the five-pointed (5-by-5) antlers of the 500-pound bull elk she shot during her first hunting attempt ever last week.

Plymouth's Wright house drew many visitors

(Part 3)

As a direct result of building a Frank Lloyd Wright house on their Beck Road property in 1941, Carl and Margaret Wall of Plymouth began to meet people who shared their interest in architecture and other forms of art.

Among them were other Michigan owners of Wright houses. They became friends, for example, with the late Gregg and Betty Affleck who built their home in Bloomfield Hills one year before the Walls built theirs.

Affleck, who was brought up in Spring Green (Wright's hometown in Wisconsin), built his house on Woodward Avenue just north of Long Lake Road. In 1976, the house was given to Lawrence Institute of Technology by the Affleck's children and is now used as a facility for Frank Lloyd Wright studies.

THE WALLS ALSO got to know Melvin Maxwell Smith who built his house in Bloomfield Hills in 1954.

As a school teacher Smith didn't have much money but he wanted a Frank Lloyd Wright house. He wrote to Wright saying he could afford to pay only $5,400 for his home. Carl says Wright accepted Smith as a client because he was always been more concerned about a client's enthusiasm than his net worth.

By acting as general contractor, at Wright's suggestion, Smith was able to have the house built for the figure he had named. When he wrote in 1979, Wall said Smith had placed his house in trust with a banking institution which has put an evaluation on it and the property in the amount of $250,000. Apparently having a Frank Lloyd Wright house is akin to owning a Picasso.

An interesting sidelight is that Wright usually charged only 10 percent of the total cost of the house as his fee.

This means that he must have earned only $540 for designing the Smith house.

The Walls also visited with Alma Goetsch and Katherine Winkler, instructors at Michigan State University for many years. Their Wright House was built in Okemos in 1939 at a cost of $6,300. Carl says that he was told that the house was on the market in the mid-1970s for $95,000.

Through Frank Lloyd Wright, the Walls also met the famous Detroit architect, Albert Kahn. He was the man who designed, among other well-known structures: the Fisher Building, the General Motors Building, The News, Free Press and Times buildings; the Detroit Athletic Club and the William Clements Library at the University of Michigan.

Kahn took the Walls to visit Cranbrook Academy in Bloomfield Hills where they met Carl Miles, the famous Swedish sculptor, resident there at the time.

They met Alden Dow and his wife at the Wright's School, Tahlesin West, in Arizona where Dow was one of Wright's architectural students. Dow, whose father founded the Dow Chemical Co., later opened his own architectural firm in Midland.

The Walls also met Henry Russell Hitchcock, author of a book on Frank Lloyd Wright's works, who spent the night at their Snowflake home. While in Sweden, they also met and talked with the director of the office of city planning in Stockholm, who had a great interest in Wright's works.

PHOTOS OF THE Wall home began to appear in articles about Wright published in national magazines and newspapers.

An example was the February 1948 issue of Architectural Forum, devoted entirely to Wright and his designs. As a past and present

result of this and similar publicity, the Walls met a multitude of architects and architectural students from various parts of the world who came to Plymouth to see the Wright house.

Soon after the house was completed, professors of architecture from the University of Michigan and Wayne State University began to bring their classes to the Beck Road house for study and visitation.

In his 1979 paper, Wall wrote, "We have come to accept the fact that we really do not have a private home like most citizens, but we do have a beautiful work of art, which we are willing to share with interested persons."

He added, "This means, of course, at times convenient to us."

Carl says, "We always thought it was our house, but Mr. Wright always thought it would be his." Once, when visiting the Beck Road house after its completion, Wright spotted a chair that he had designed. "Carl," he said, "get me a saw. There's something wrong with that chair." Carl hesitated but Wright insisted. When Carl produced a saw, Wright immediately sawed an inch off the bottom of the chair. Carl was amazed, but had to admit that the piece looked better after the operation.

Another Wright house owner told Carl that the architect had done the same with a table he owned.

"Wright liked to use the shock treatment, whether in architecture or on the lecture platform," Carl says. "And there was no doubt in his mind that the house and the furniture were still his, not yours."

Wall says Wright designed not only buildings but also furniture, carpets, drapes and other small items. Wright would do the same if clients requested. Also designed his own clothes and (To be continued)

Homemade sled fails trial run

Each year when the white flakes of snow come drifting down out of the sky, we meet them with mixed emotions.

We hope that the flakes won't pile up too much so that we would have to shovel them to clear the driveways and the entrance to the streets.

At the same time, we look around and when we can't find bobsled hills, we feel sorry for the younger generation. Without these hills, they are missing a good part of the young lives.

THERE IS NOTHING more exciting than building your own bobsled and trying it out on the steepest hill in the area.

These days leave lasting memories. And there was one opening of the bobsled season that never will be forgotten. The memory of it has been lodged deep in our minds and even at these late dates we can visualize one of the most exciting nights of the entire year.

It had been a great summer. Our baseball games had been exciting and our football games, especially with the high school team, aroused the entire community. But all the while in the back of our young minds, we had a plan.

the stroller

A group of us discussed an idea to become king of the bobsled hill. We planned to build our own sled — in secret. This was to be a new sort of sled and we worked on it behind closed doors at a neighbor's home.

Up to that time, the captain and the driver of the sled were forced to bend forward and steer it by pulling on ropes. We youngsters had a better idea. We envisioned a bobsled that could be steered like you would steer an automobile.

AFTER WHAT SEEMED like a long summer, the sled was finished and we longed for a snow heavy enough to take it to the hill for a tryout.

Finally, after a long wait, the snow came. We welcomed it in no uncertain terms.

Then came the evening of a day when the snow fell. This was what we had been waiting for. So off to the hill we went. We had a sled that steered with the use of a steering wheel.

Everyone marveled and every person at the top of the hill wanted to be a passenger on the initial trip.

Then we got our first shock. The sled was built so low that each passenger had to hold up the legs of the rider in back of him. It was odd. But this made it more exciting.

We could hardly wait to get started. We wanted to see just how far and fast we could go. If we had any luck, we could get across the bridge that crossed the Lehigh River and take us to the railroad station. What a thrill we hoped that would be.

Our hearts were beating as we started down hill. It was a ride we had hoped would be remembered. It was but not in the manner in which we had hoped.

WE WERE only about halfway down the hill in the center of the business section when something went wrong. The sled took a sharp turn to the right. There was a loud scream. When the sled came to a stop and many of the riders were turned into spectators, there was one person still on the ground.

It was a girl. She lay there moaning. We were almost afraid to try to lift her. But we finally did. Then we raced to a nearby doctor's office. We begged him to come over and take a look. He did and ruled that the girl's leg had been broken and quite badly.

That concerned us. But not as much as we were concerned when we saw our "modern" bobsled, lying on its side, a candidate for the work shop.

You see, it is spills like that one that causes a fellow to turn back the pages to his young life and get a thrill out of a snowfall just because it brings back memories.

Geake named to task force

State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, has been appointed to a special Senate task force studying Michigan's organ transplant policy.

The task force will research action other states have taken in developing policy, the availability of organs for transplantation, and the system in which transplant decisions are made.

"With the technological advances made in recent years," said Geake, whose district includes Plymouth, Canton, Livonia and Redford, "we are heading into an area that the state's current laws do not cover. We need to address this issue before we are faced with a situation we can't handle.

"It's not a matter of being able to cross the bridge when we get to it. We need to develop a policy before we are forced into action. A transplanted organ often is the difference between life and death. For the sake of both the recipients and the donors, we need to develop policy before we face a crisis situation."

DRESSING FOR A WARM RECEPTION

Port of Spain Salad Dressing

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1/3 cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon aromatic bitters
- 1 tablespoon each of minced onion, minced green pepper, minced celery

Combine salt, sugar and paprika. Add salad oil and blend. Add lemon juice, aromatic bitters, onion, green pepper and celery; beat well. Toss with a salad of not only greens, but radish roses, tomato slices, sweet onions, carrots, cauliflowerrets and cucumber slices.

CELEBRATING IN STYLE

Rock Lobster Star Casserole

- 6 (4 oz. ea.) frozen rock lobster tails
- 3 cups cooked potatoes, diced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt (or to taste)
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon aromatic bitters
- 1/4 cup drained capers
- 1 tablespoon onion, finely chopped
- 1/2 lb. grated mild cheddar cheese
- Parsley sprig garnish, optional

Parboil frozen rock lobster tails by dropping into boiling salted water; when water reboils boil for 4 minutes. Drain immediately and drench with cold water. Cut underside membrane and insert fingers between shell and meat at heavy end of tail. Work meat loose from shell and remove in one piece. Slice meat from three tails into medallions; slice the remaining three tails in half lengthwise and reserve. Combine diced potatoes and rock lobster medallions in greased 2-quart oven dish. In saucepan, melt butter or margarine; stir in flour and add milk gradually. Cook over low flame stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add salt, pepper, aromatic bitters, capers and onions; stir cheese into hot sauce and continue cooking until cheese is melted. Pour sauce over rock lobster and potato mixture. Bake at 375°F. for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and arrange reserved 6 halves on top in star fashion. Bake an additional 5 minutes. Yield: 6 servings. NOTE: This recipe can be doubled or tripled for larger parties. The rock lobster and potatoes can be prepared ahead of time.

MAKING MERRY WITH A BERRY

Blueberry "Mince-meat" Pie

- Unbaked pastry for one 2-crust 10-inch pie
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 3 green apples, unpeeled, cored and finely chopped
- 4 cups dry-pack frozen blueberries
- 2 medium zucchini squash, trimmed and finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons minced orange peel
- 1 tablespoon aromatic bitters
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
- 1/2 cup water

In a large saucepan, mix water, lemon juice, bouillon cube, apples, blueberries, squash, orange peel, aromatic bitters, sugar and nutmeg. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir gelatine into cold water. Add gelatine mixture to hot mincemeat and stir to dissolve. Cover and chill until set, about 5 hours or overnight. Preheat oven to 425 degree F. Divide pastry dough in half. Roll out one piece and fit into pie pan. Roll out second piece and cut into 1/4-inch wide strips. Pour 5 cups of mincemeat into pie shell. Brush edge of pie rim with beaten egg. Place strips of pie dough on top of pie in a lattice. Trim pastry to one inch from edge of pie and fold pastry inward to seal edge. Make a decorative edge on rim. Brush pastry with beaten egg if desired and bake on rack below center of oven for approximately 40 minutes or until crust is golden brown. NOTE: Keep any leftover mincemeat in refrigerator. It is delicious served as a relish with meat or poultry. This mixture cannot be frozen, since freezing would break down the jelling action of the gelatine.

It's no fun to be away from family and/or old and good friends during the holidays.

But it happens to a lot of people, and you probably know some of them. Maybe you just might be one of them yourself.

There are certainly a lot of career-oriented singles who face the prospect of being far from "home" at the festive season. Many are too recently arrived in new locations to have made more than passing acquaintances.

Then there are the recently divorced or widowed of both sexes who moved back into town because "the suburbs are for couples," only to discover that cities can be pretty solitary, too. As in lonely.

If you're serious about expanding your circle, as everybody should be, look around. Find those others whose lifestyles are stuck just now in an alone-at-the-holidays scenario. These who you gather together might be people who work where you do, live in the same apartment complex, shop in your supermarket — or even cashier there. Talk and ask. Ask them to share a holiday get-together with you at your place.

Now having gotten a crowd together, get the act together. This is going to be an easy and relaxed holiday feast, one that can be put together in the most challenging small-space kitchen.

When guests arrive at whatever is the appointed time, a festive way to greet them is with a delicious sangria — this one different because it has a tea base. Tea and white wine seem to have a particular affinity, and if you've never tried the idea before you'll feel a thrill of discovery. If it's a seasonably chilly day or evening, a hot mulled tea may be part of the welcome. Teetotalers (no pun intended) and designated drivers will appreciate this nice touch. The hot tea drink tastes so good it's hard to believe that alcohol is missing.

Whether the affair takes place at midday, early or late evening, or brunch, the main event will be worth celebrating. The star casserole of rock lobster is festive to look at, luscious to taste, elegant and very easy to make. The rock lobster meat and the potatoes can be prepared ahead of time and assembled in the sauce just before being put into the oven for a cooking time of less than half an hour.

Since this succulent seafood is everybody's favorite when eating out, the person who is hosting this party will know he or she has a winner in this dish. Nice, also, is that the potatoes stretch the rock lobster meat. Six four-ounce tails in this dish serve six people very generously.

There's a thread of good flavor that binds everything together in this holiday repast. It's used in the sangria, as a flavoring in the main dish, as an ingredient in the salad dressing. It's aromatic bitters, a blend of all the exciting and exotic spices we all associate with the holidays. There's nothing like it. This versatile seasoning and flavoring agent does different things for everything it's used in, since it has the unique quality of marrying other flavors in the dish or the drink, while adding a subtle touch of its own.

The dessert for this holiday party is a "mincemeat" pie. It seems that many people actually don't like mincemeat, seemingly tolerating a small slice of pie only in deference to the holiday spirit. Well, this "mincemeat" pie is made from blueberries, so it's guaranteed to please everybody! It's got all the holiday taste without the dried fruits and suet. You've never tasted a blueberry pie like this one. It's different, delicious and is about to build a holiday tradition of its own.

When you do make this pie, go to the little extra effort to put on the lattice top, rather than a solid top crust. The tradition of lattice-topped pies at holiday time originated in England centuries ago. The lattice represents the hay rack in the stable where the Christ Child was born. It's an interesting conversation piece.

Good conversation, good food and good fellowship will make your guests feel warm and belonging. After all, you provided an interesting bright spot in their holiday season.

And in your own.

The trick's in the seasoning

Carolina and Rose don't know each other, but their fathers have an all-purpose Italian seasoning in common. "My father made it all the time," said Rose, a librarian whose dad isn't Italian.

"My father likes to make it for salads," said Carolina, my new daughter-in-law from Montreal. Her dad is Italian.

Carolina prepared a batch one afternoon. The most difficult task is peeling and cutting up a head of garlic. The key ingredient is leftover dry red wine, which can be refilled. You just let the stuff sit and age.

You'll have to use a funnel to get the ingredients into wine bottles with skinny necks. When you pass by the bottle, placed in a dark corner, just shake it a few times.

I let the seasoning sit for two weeks before using it on a green salad, mixed with a little oil. It was fine, I thought, but nothing spectacular. I returned it to the kitchen counter.

But the seasoning is versatile. You can saute onions and mushrooms in it or baste barbecue.

Two weeks later, I braised a roast in it. It really flavored the eye of round.

Naturally, I invited Carolina for dinner. She and Tony made a meal of the roast. Lucky I'm a faster eater.

ALL-PURPOSE ITALIAN SEASONING

Head of garlic, chopped
1-1/2 Tbsp. dried parsley flakes
1 Tbsp. dried oregano leaves pilot light

Greg Melikov

1/2 Tbsp. dried basil leaves
1 tsp. dill weed
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1/4 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 bottle (1.5 liters) dry Italian red wine

Add garlic, herbs and seasonings to wine, screw on cap, shake and let stand in dark place until ready to use. Secure cheese cloth over mouth of bottle before pouring.

BRASIED EYE OF ROUND

1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
pinch of black pepper
4 lb. beef eye of round roast, excess fat trimmed
2 Tbsp. vegetable shortening
3 Tbsp. prepared horseradish
1 cup all-purpose Italian seasoning

Combine flour, salt and pepper, rub over meat. In Dutch oven, melt shortening and brown meat on medium heat. Spread horseradish over top half of meat, return to pot, add seasoning, reduce heat to medium low, cover and cook 3 hours, occasionally turning and basting. Slice thin. Top with juices. Serves 6-8.

Croissant-wiches make light supper

Too much to do and too little time need not be deterrents to holiday entertaining. Save elaborate meals until January and invite a few friends to share a festive fireside supper.

Supper describes the evening meal when the main meal is served earlier in the day. So, by its very nature, supper calls for the light, casual fare that makes a soup and sandwich just right.

The supermarket provides all the fixings. A soup to fit every sandwich, for example, can be purchased already prepared or in convenient condensed and dried forms. Serve steaming mugs in front of the fire as an appetizer.

Since every sandwich requires a foundation, make the deli/bakery your next stop. There you'll find a variety of breads and rolls from fat loaves of pumpernickel to buttery croissants.

At the deli, pick up the meats, poultry and cheeses which can be mixed and matched to create delectable and different sandwich fillings. At the deli, you'll also find the quality, convenience and personalized service especially appreciated during this hectic time of year. Special requests are never a problem since meats and poultry are sliced to order.

Then, store in the coldest part of the refrigerator and use within three days.

Smoked turkey breast from the deli adds sophisticated flavor to East Meets West Turkey Croissant-Wiches. For the filling, cubes of juicy smoked turkey breast are combined with a mixture of crunchy veggies and toasted sesame seeds. A soy and sesame oil-flavored mayonnaise moistens and adds richness.

As the sandwich heats, the flavors intensify, and the exterior of the croissant becomes crisp and light. Save time by assembling the filling ahead. Refrigerate tightly covered until ready to use.

EAST MEETS WEST TURKEY CROISSANTS-WICHES

1/2 lb. smoked turkey breast
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 Tbsp. soy sauce sesame oil, to taste (optional)

1/4 cup thinly sliced water chestnuts
1/4 cup diced green pepper
1/4 cup shredded carrot
3 Tbsp. sesame seeds, toasted
2 Tbsp. sliced green onion
4 large croissants

Cut turkey into 1/4-inch cubes; set aside. Combine mayonnaise, soy sauce and sesame oil in large bowl. Add water chestnuts, green pepper, carrot, sesame seeds, onion and turkey; mix well. Split croissants in half lengthwise. Arrange bottom halves on cookie sheet. Top with turkey mixture. Close sandwiches with croissant tops. Bake at 350 degrees F. until heated through, about 12 to 15 minutes. Cover loosely with foil if tops of croissants brown too quickly. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Holiday entertaining tips

When trying to get everything ready for your holiday, it always seems you could use a few more hours to prepare. This is especially true for working couples.

Make things easy for yourself, serve foods that can be prepared ahead of time and frozen or refrigerated. Serve an hors d'oeuvre such as miniature meatballs that can be prepared and frozen days before the party and simply reheated before guests arrive.

The day before the big party do as much of the cleaning, decorating and set-up as you can. And collect serving utensils and dishes so that you know where they are.

Lastly, make a schedule for the day of the party and include everything. Be sure to schedule yourself 15 or 20 minutes to relax before the guests are due to arrive.

Enjoy the holiday season and parties this year. Try these suggestions and be a guest at your party instead of a slave to it.

Elegant dining

Pork scallops give New Year's glamour

By the time New Year's arrives, many holiday revelers are partied out. Instead of big crowds and lots of noise, celebrating the arrival of a new year can feature a relaxed dinner for two or four.

A quiet dinner with a few loved ones can bring renewed meaning to the tradition of reviewing the old year and making resolutions for the new. Plan ahead to break in a new tradition by bringing together a few special people in your life for an elegant New Year's dinner, featuring Pork Scallops Supreme.

Pork scallops, or boneless pork cutlets, are extremely versatile. Cut from the tenderloin, they can be pan-fried, cut into strips for stir-fry, or cubed for kabobs. The following recipe features pork scallops at their most elegant — simply sauteed and beautifully sauced for a company-special presentation. Accompanied by a tossed salad and warm dinner rolls, these pork scallops can be the star of an intimate elegant dinner.

PORK SCALLOPS SUPREME

1 1/2 lbs. pork scallops or cutlets
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup diced carrots
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced onion
2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
2 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
2 1/2 cups chicken broth

1 egg yolk, lightly beaten
1/2 cup dry red wine
1 1/2 tsp all-purpose flour
1 lb. fresh asparagus spears, cleaned and cooked
1 carrot, thinly sliced and cooked
4 mushrooms, sliced and sauted

Heat 1/4 cup butter in a 1 1/2 quart saucepan, add carrots, celery, onion and parsley. Cook and stir until tender. Stir in 2 Tbsp. flour, then chicken broth. Bring to a boil and simmer 30 minutes. Strain, there should be 2 cups. Stir 1 cup into the beaten egg yolk, return to heat for a few seconds. Keep warm. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a frypan. Saute pork, turning a couple of times until browned, adding butter as needed. Keep warm. When all pork is browned, pour off extra fat; add remaining chicken broth. To thicken sauce, mix a little wine with 1 1/2 tsp. flour, add remaining wine, stirring until mixture boils and thickens. Return meat to sauce and heat. Heat vegetables if necessary. To serve, spoon wine sauce over bottom half of 4 plates; spoon sauce over top half. Quickly drizzle 3 thin lines of wine sauce in half circles over egg sauce. Using a knife draw radiating lines from plate center through egg sauce to outer edges — arrange pork scallops in wine sauce, asparagus in egg sauce, carrot slices where sauces meet. Garnish with mushroom slices. Makes 4 serving.

Ring in the new year with a special dinner of elegant pork scallops.

Sour cream gives flavor to muffins

Some of the world's most time-tested recipes, dating back as far as the 17th century, include sour cream as a basic ingredient. Many Old World dishes, such as schnitzels and beef stroganoffs, owe a large measure of their popularity to the rich, tangy flavor of sour cream.

As its name implies, sour cream is made through a fermentation process with cream. The result is a thick, smooth product with a rich, robust flavor. In spite of its name, sour cream has become an extremely popular dairy product with American consumers.

Until the early 1900s, however, virtually all the sour cream produced in the United States was homemade — mostly by chefs preparing their favorite recipes. The way it was made was rather primitive by today's standards. After being separated from milk, the cream was set aside on the back of the stove. In two or three days' time it gradually soured. Although its texture was somewhat unpredictable, it did provide the unique flavor chefs found appealing.

The invention of the sour cream separator late in the 19th century changed the way sour cream and other popular dairy products were made. The separator, along with other advances in processing, brought the consistent, smooth texture that is a trademark of sour cream today.

The arrival of the refrigerator in most households in the 1900s also opened America's homes and imaginative appetites to sour cream. While chefs of the 1700s valued sour cream for its full-bodied flavor, Americans today have learned to appreciate it for its versatility as well as its taste. Today consumers use sour cream in their desserts, appetizers, entrees, soups and salad dressings.

BLUEBERRY N' CREAM MUFFINS

1 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup (8 oz.) sour cream
1/2 cup skim milk
1 egg, beaten
1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries
2 Tbsp. all-purpose flour

Heat oven to 400 degrees. In medium bowl stir together flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt; set aside. In small bowl stir together sour cream, egg and milk. Add sour cream mixture to flour mixture; stir just enough to moisten. In medium bowl toss together blueberries and 2 Tbsp. flour; fold into batter. Spoon into greased 12-cup muffin pan. Bake for 20-25 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 12 muffins

These delicious muffins get their flavor from sour cream.

The Tots-in-Transit program reinforces the Michigan seatbelt law by warning drivers to execute caution while driving near the stickered vehicle.

How does Santa Claus deliver presents to homes that have no fireplace? To get the answer to these and other perplexing questions about St. Nick, Observer reporter Richard Lech interviewed a panel of experts at New Morning School in Plymouth. Giving Lech the lowdown are (from top left) Justin Cleply, Christian Dueweke, Dante DelPizzo, Aaron Heaven, Laura Bucrek, Elizabeth Bucrek, Noah Allor, Robyn Ellison, Erika Wilson and Michael Clark.

Ho-ho-how?

Kids explain how Santa gets the job done

By Richard Lech
staff writer

EVERY CHILD knows Santa Claus comes down the chimney on Christmas Eve.

But how does he cope with a house without a fireplace? It's kind of hard to make a grand entrance from a furnace or a wood-burning stove.

To get the answer to this and other perplexing questions about St. Nicholas, the Observer went straight to the experts — kids.

A group of children at New Morning School, a private cooperative school in Plymouth, offered their observations on how their favorite elf does the things he does.

BRENDEN HOLMES, 6, of Westland said a film he once saw offers an interesting hypothesis as to how Santa really enters a house.

"I saw this in a movie, and I don't know if it's true," he cautioned, "but he presses some buttons on the sleigh, disappears and appears in your house."

Robyn Ellison, 5, of Plymouth figures some sort of mystical powers are involved.

"He's magic, and he can vanish and be right in the house," she said.

Aaron Heaven, 7, of Chelsea had a more prosaic explanation for Santa's entrance. He said Santa merely will "go through your door."

But what if it's locked?

"I never lock my door," Aaron said.

DANTE DELPIZZO, 7, of Northville and Laura Bucrek, 7, of Novi both said Santa uses a window to get in.

Noah Allor, 5, of Plymouth said his house has a chimney and fireplace, so Santa has a handy access. Nonetheless, certain precautions have to be taken, Noah stressed.

"We have stockings on our chimney, and we leave the chimney door open so he can get out, 'cause we got a lock on it," Noah said.

Christian Dueweke, 6, of Plymouth said his new house has a fireplace so Santa won't have to come in through the window anymore.

"It's kind of fat," Chris said of the chimney. "Santa Claus can shrink down and go through it."

SO ONE way or another, the kids pointed out, Santa Claus is going to get in. But what do you do for him once he's inside? The youngsters offered plenty of useful tips on the right type of hors d'oeuvres to leave.

Justin Cleply, 6, of Northville, formerly of Westland, said he would give him plenty of chocolate chip cookies and milk. Laura Bucrek and her sister, Elizabeth, 4, would leave the milk and cookies and add a carrot for each reindeer.

"If we don't have carrots we'll leave him celery or apples, same as our gerbils eat," she said. But she pointed out that while gerbils — and people — will eat pretzels and oranges, it is not a good idea to leave those two snacks for him there. "I just went there myself."

Noah said he also saw Santa at Cobo Hall, where St. Nick wore glasses. That sparked a debate, as some of the other kids laughed and said, "he doesn't wear glasses."

But others pointed out that Santa needs spectacles, but just to read those Christmas lists he has to check twice in order to determine who has been naughty or nice.

WITH A MEAL at every stop, doesn't Santa reach the point where he just can't eat another bite? Aaron Heaven said that just doesn't happen because Santa's stomach is a magical, bottomless pit.

"I don't think Santa gets full," he said. "Me either," agreed several other kids.

Since they spoke so authoritatively about Santa Claus, it was reasonable to assume that the children had some direct personal contact with him. Most of them had indeed.

Noah Allor maintained he had actually visited the North Pole to visit Santa.

"He gave me three presents," said Noah, who said his parents didn't drive him there. "I just went there myself."

Noah said he also saw Santa at Cobo Hall, where St. Nick wore glasses. That sparked a debate, as some of the other kids laughed and said, "he doesn't wear glasses."

But others pointed out that Santa needs spectacles, but just to read those Christmas lists he has to check twice in order to determine who has been naughty or nice.

LAURA BUCREK recalled seeing Santa Claus from a distance one Christmas Eve.

"Me and my mom looked up and saw a red light in the sky," she said. "It was probably Rudolph."

Dante DelPizzo saw Santa at the New Morning School, where he passed out suckers. But Dante warned everyone not to try to sneak a peek at Santa while he makes his rounds on Christmas Eve.

"I always stay asleep in the middle of the night," Dante said. "If you see him the magic goes away, and he'll have to walk to all the places."

Cubs, dads cook up a storm in bakeoff

Father-son pairs competed in the Cub Scout Pack 854 bakeoff at Miller Elementary School. The annual contest stirs keen rivalry resulting in tables laden with baked goods stirred up by the Cubs, Webelos and their dads.

Contestants had their choice of four categories in which to display their culinary skills — pies, breads, cakes and cookies.

Judges for the event were Dave Lengel of Bakers Square, George Trajkowski, Canton Bakery, Chris Smith, Mr. Steak, Gunther Esser, pack and troop resident gourmet cook, and from Schoolcraft College's Culinary Arts Department, students Chris Marano and Chris Misiak.

THE JUDGES considered taste, texture and appearance.

While the judges were at work, Cub Scouts and their families were entertained by a "Kids on the Block" puppet show, presented by Chris Jerchen and Barb Gusfa.

Trophies were awarded to Daniel Hodge and his dad, Chuck, for their cherry pie; William and Bill Strait for cinnamon rolls; Adam and Rick Bourque for walnut rum raisin cake; and Nathan and Gerald Piowar for pumpkin bars.

Grand prize went to Andrew and Bob Detting for a cherry pie supreme.

Ronald Briggs is cubmaster of Pack 854.

Forks in hand, the judges sample the bakeoff entries.

Winning combinations are (first and second rows from left) Daniel and Chuck Hodge, William and Bill Strait, Andrew and Bob Detting, Adam and Sue Bourque

QUACKERY IN ARTHRITIS

Only in rare instances are physicians able to cure arthritis. Thus, unscrupulous individuals have ample opportunity to foist false cures upon a public seeking relief from continuing pain and impaired mobility.

Present day quackery falls into three categories: 1) special diets, 2) unconventional antibiotics, and, 3) secret medicines.

Special diets for which there are no medical basis include intake of large amounts of zinc, or selenium, or sulfur. Other diets with no scientific foundation include eating seafood only, or exclusive use of grains. The variations are endless, but the result is the same: no lasting benefit.

Hawkers for the antibiotic cure start from the unproved assumption that rheumatoid arthritis is the result of an infection. These people claim that their antibiotic, overlooked by the medical community, will effect a cure.

Those confidence men who specialise in secret medicines inevitably are pushing a concoction laced with dangerously high amounts of cortisone.

Quack cures are more than harmless. At the least they cost you money, taking funds away from personal care or legitimate research. At worse these cures are poisonous and can do serious body harm.

How to submit news items to newspaper

News of clubs, service organizations, engagements, weddings and wedding anniversaries are printed without cost in the Suburban Life Section of the Plymouth Observer and Canton Observer newspapers.

News items may be dropped off or mailed to the office at 489 S. Main St., Plymouth 48170. Special forms are available for club news, engagements, weddings and 50th wedding anniversary announcements.

Black and white pictures are preferred as they reproduce more clearly than color photographs. A self-addressed, stamped envelope assures return of the pictures, or, they can be picked up at the office a week after they have been published. Mail should be addressed to the attention of Elinor Graham, Suburban Life editor.

Activities of more major scope than regular club meetings may warrant more extensive coverage and a photograph. Call the newspaper, 459-2700, well in advance of the event to permit scheduling a photograph.

Breaking news stories (and we appreciate telephone calls on these) like fires, accidents, etc., receive on-the-spot coverage.

Other events, planned in advance, should be announced a week or so before the actual date.

OLD FORGOTTEN ACCIDENT

Research shows that most sufferers of backache are victims of conditions often resulting from some old forgotten injury. Strain on the skeletal or musculature systems of the spine can allow the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions, "pinching" or irritating nerves, thus impairing their function and causing pain. Left untreated, the spinal disc can degenerate and calcify, causing even more interference and pain.

Power and finesse: Observer's elite

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

WHAT DO YOU make of the state of girls basketball in Observerland?

Sure, the level of individual talent continues to climb to new heights. Girls are doing things on the basketball courts these days that would have surpassed coaches' wildest dreams 10 years ago.

You only have to look at the skill levels of the likes of Dena Head and Yvette Maison to find proof of that claim — and those two will return to the prep scene next year.

But there's a problem.

There seems to be no middle ground in terms of team strength. For every powerhouse, for every Livonia Ladywood, Farmington Hills Mercy or Plymouth Salem, there's a Farmington Harrison, a Bishop Borgess or a Farmington.

The margin of victory for the elite teams for most of the season was vast — an unproductive situation for both the winner and loser.

What conclusions can be drawn? Is there a lack of concerned and capable coaches? Is there a shortage of quality players? Do some schools place a higher priority on girls basketball than others?

Perhaps it's a combination of all those factors. Perhaps it's the nature of athletic competition.

Whatever, when the Observerland girls basketball coaches gathered to select the 1985 All-Area squad, there was no problem filling out the three seven-member teams.

Here's a look at the first team choices:

FIRST TEAM

Sue Laliberte, Livonia Ladywood, senior: A three-year starter for the Blazers, the 6-foot post player has helped her team to a state Class B championship in 1983, a state runner-up spot last year and a berth in the final four again this year. She is a strong inside player with a soft shooting touch. She averaged 15.5 points and nearly 10 rebounds per game for Ladywood this season. She's a diligent worker and a highly recruited major college prospect.

Missy Duczynski, Mercy, senior: After seeing limited duty as a junior, Duczynski made the most of her opportunity this season. She has already signed a letter of intent with Central Michigan University. Midway through the season, Mercy coach Larry Baker decided to make Duczynski the focal point of his offensive attack. She responded with 20-point performances against Divine Child and Cass Tech, and an 18-point night against Flint Northwestern in the quarterfinals last Wednesday. She averaged 11 points and seven rebounds on the season. Her best weapon is her fluid outside shooting touch. She can also be a force inside.

Dena Head, Plymouth Salem, sophomore: In terms of pure basketball and athletic skills, she is the cream of the All-Area crop. Because of her abundant skills, she can and has played every position for the Rocks. She was primarily a post player last year (5th team all-state) and primarily a guard this season. She runs the floor extremely well, jumps even better. She averaged 15.5 points per game, 14.4 rebounds and 4.6 assists this year. Salem is 40-8 with her on the court. "She has the opportunity to become one of the best players this area has ever had," said coach Fred Thomann, who doesn't often make those kinds of statements about his players.

Denise Kokowicz, Garden City, junior: She may have possessed the best perimeter jump shot of anyone in the area. She averaged 13.5 points per game on a very balanced, very good Garden City basketball team this season. She owns four school scoring records. A 5-10 forward, she also pulled in better than nine rebounds per game. "She excels at both ends of the floor for us," GC coach Marshall Henry said. The best thing about her game, from a Garden City perspective, is that it is still getting better.

Diana Knickerbocker, Plymouth Canton, senior: Plymouth Canton was ranked No. 2 in the area for much of this season. A major contributor to the team's success was this multi-faceted talent. She scored (10.3), she rebounded (8.2), she made steals (7.0 of them in 21 games), she had assists (6.8) and she played defense. But her biggest role on the team was as its leader. A three-year player, she served as a role model for the team with her tireless work habits and her hustle and determination on the court. Her leadership abilities didn't go unnoticed. She was named co-captain of the all-Western Lakes team.

Marie Becker, Redford Union, senior: A player with many of the same all-around skills that Knickerbocker possesses — only Becker played more of a scorer's role with RU. She averaged 19.2 points per game and grabbed 13.5 rebounds. She also averaged 4.1 assists and 4.6 steals. She also showed a good deal of grit playing the last nine games of the season with a fractured knuckle and broken left hand. Her efforts have earned her a full-ride with Saginaw Valley State College.

Yvette Maison, Mercy, junior: After a rocky emotional start — she transferred from Bishop Gallagher, was initially ruled ineligible, then ruled eligible by the Michigan High School Athletic Association — Maison became Mercy's floor general. She averaged close to 11 points per game, 4.5 assists and four steals. She had three games in which she scored more than 20 points, including 25 against Salem, the toughest defensive team in the area. Mercy coach Larry Baker, who has coached several outstanding point guards, has high praise for Maison. "She's an exceptional ball handler, not real flashy, but (has) super control of the ball and she sees the whole court. She sees the court better than anyone I've coached and better than anyone I've seen in quite a while."

Ed Kavanaugh, Livonia Ladywood, coach: Many basketball experts thought this would be a down year for Ladywood after losing four starters from last year's state-finalist team. Kavanaugh had to replace Michigan's Miss Basketball, Emily Wagner (Stanford), and consensus All-Stater Char Govan (Illinois State).

But Kavanaugh molded a cohesive, balanced all-senior attack, setting a school record for most wins in a season (25) after Wednesday's quarterfinal victory over Flint Beecher.

Kavanaugh is a veteran of the coaching ranks, concurrently serving as the Schoolcraft College women's coach.

Robert Khoenle gets Canton post

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Robert Khoenle knows a good deal about winning football — it's in his blood. He was born and bred in Massillon, Ohio, where winning football is more than a common occurrence, it's a way of life. Just ask the legion of fired high school football coaches, who have passed through the town.

Khoenle has been assigned to bring that winning feeling to the Plymouth Canton football program — the losingest football program in Observerland over the past five seasons.

Athletic director Paul Cummings announced Thursday that Khoenle (pronounced Cahn-lee) would replace Richard Barr, who resigned the head football post after the fall season.

"We feel Bob is the best qualified of a number of well-qualified candidates," Cummings said in a prepared statement. "His experience with Canton football and his being in the building (he's a physical education teacher at Canton) . . . both were pluses in our consideration."

"We know he has a sound knowledge of football, but we are also pleased to know he has an excellent ability to work with young people and bring out the best they have to offer."

KHOENLE, WHO has been an assistant under two football coaches at Canton the past eight years, knows the magnitude of his task.

"We've lost a lot in the past but I think we have the talent here to win," Khoenle said. "I wouldn't have taken the job if I didn't think so. The problem has been the attitude and the effort of the kids. They have lost so much that they believe they can't win. We have to work on improving the attitude and the effort."

Khoenle has an impressive football background. After a sterling All-American high school career, he took a football scholarship to Purdue where, in his junior season, he was the leading pass catcher in the Big 10 and earned honorable mention All-American honors. He played in both the North-South and Senior Bowl games before his pro plans were dashed by injuries in his senior season.

He also played basketball and baseball at Purdue. He holds a bachelor's degree and a master's in administration and guidance from the university.

For 13 years Khoenle held various coaching posts in Ohio, including a six-year stint as head coach at Toronto High School.

IN THE LAST three seasons at Canton, he has helped build the most positive aspect of the team — its defense.

"I've been around here long enough to know what has to be done," he said. "I'm used to winning from my background, and it gets real frustrating losing for so long here. The feeling has even trickled down into the elementary schools. The kids ask me where I coach and when I tell them Canton there's an immediate negative response — that attitude has to change."

Khoenle is also aware that the prevailing desire of the community was to see Cummings hire a coach from outside the district so that the program could be given a completely fresh start.

"That's a natural reaction," he said. "They may perceive this as keeping the same people and that things will be done as they had been in the past. But anyone who knows anything about it knows that things were done here in the past by one person. We'll be bringing in a totally different picture on all sides of the spectrum."

He said the defensive structure of the team would remain virtually intact, but on offense, wholesale changes will be made.

"We have to completely overhaul our offense," he said. "We would have had to do that in any case. There's just no confidence in it."

Khoenle plans to keep former Canton assistants Craig Bell and Dan Riggs on his staff.

"I'm excited," he said. "We have the talent. Hopefully we can change the attitude and the concentration levels and get some consistent effort."

Ladywood battles back to win second 'B' title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Twelve months ago Livonia Ladywood dreamed what appeared to be the impossible dream.

But the impossible dream came true as Ladywood captured the state Class B girls basketball title with a 45-41 victory Saturday night over Catholic League nemesis Dearborn Divine Child before 1,843 fans at Western Michigan's Read Fieldhouse in Kalamazoo.

The Blazers, who lost a one-point heartbreaker in last year's state final to River Rouge, was given little chance of returning after losing four starters, including Miss Basketball Emily Wagner.

"As the summer progressed and we won some tournaments, the girls started to believe in themselves and I thought we would be here again," said Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh, who carried off his second state championship trophy. "The first one (championship) is good, but the second one is better."

LADYWOOD gained a measure of revenge in the final, atoning for their only defeat (in 28 games) of the season to Divine Child in the Catholic League championship game. It was a bitter loss after Ladywood had beaten DC handily in the second game of the season.

"The fact that we had played them twice and this was the rubber game was a big motive," Kavanaugh said. "But it's funny, it seems whoever loses in the Catholic League playoffs does better in the state tournament."

LADYWOOD WAS SLUGGISH for nearly three quarters in the nip-and-tuck affair.

But down the stretch the Blazers had the right stuff, especially guard Jenny Nadeau, who made four straight free throws and came up with a key steal in the final minute of play.

"This is special because nobody thought we'd be here," said Nadeau, who contributed 11 points. "Because the dynamic duo (Wagner and Char Govan) were gone, nobody thought we'd be any good. But we just didn't get a chance to show our stuff last year."

Divine Child, bolstered by the inside scoring of 5-foot-11 junior Sue Laliberte's timely opposite-hand hook shot. That gave Ladywood a 37-35 lead with 4:36 remaining.

The Blazers fought back, going ahead for keeps on senior center Sue Laliberte's timely opposite-hand hook shot. That gave Ladywood a 37-35 lead with 4:36 remaining.

Mary Joy Konczal then followed with a medium-range shot to put the Blazers up by four.

Kavanaugh then had his team work the clock, drawing fouls, which ultimately led to DC's demise.

"FROM OUR REGIONAL games on, we've won it from the line," Kavanaugh said. "Free throws were definitely a big part of the tournament."

Ladywood made 19 of 29 from the line, while DC hit just 9 of 16.

Rebounding was also a big factor with Ladywood enjoying a 31-22 edge.

AFTER LOSING last year's final, Kavanaugh said he did a lot of thinking.

"We stayed up that night and talked a lot," he recalled. "We started talking about next year, believe it or not."

When asked if he would start visualizing next season, he responded, "Why not?"

That makes the 1985 season "the possible dream."

Slow pace suits Salem fine

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Canton's Dan Young applies pressure to Western's Brent Kish during Friday's Western Lakes opener.

In the first eight minutes Friday, it looked as if somebody put the Plymouth Salem/Walled Lake Central game in slow motion.

But the Rocks were able to overcome their inability to hit a basket and downed the Vikings, 46-35, in a Western Lakes game.

Salem (2-1) connected on only one field goal out of 12 attempts in the first quarter as Walled Lake Central took a 6-3 lead. Paul Makara led the Rocks with 15 points while Bryan Kears had 10.

"There was no slowdown (in the first quarter)," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "It was a very deliberate game. It was a combination of us not scoring and them trying to get the ball inside to their big guy (Daron Edmonds)."

Edmonds, who was guarded closely by Salem's Tom D'Angelo, finished the game with 13 points.

W.L. WESTERN 61, CANTON 58: The Chiefs missed their chances at the line as Walled Lake Western took the win Friday in a Western Lakes game.

Plymouth Canton (0-3) shot an abysmal eight of 19 from the line and missed a crucial front end of a free throw with 33 seconds left which could've won the game.

"We played real good the last four minutes of the game," said Canton coach Tom Nemi. "We missed a ton of shots from the inside."

The Warriors didn't, however, as they connected on 17 of 32 from the line and had two players in double figures, Mark Heiber with 17 and Jack Uhaize with 11.

The Canton loss overshadowed a 23-point performance by Joel Mies. Roger Trice added 11 for the Chiefs, who were down 32-22 at the half. Canton outscored Western 22-16 in the final eight minutes and 36-29 in the second half.

PLY. CHRISTIAN 71, FAIRLANE 61: The Eagles won their season opener Thursday night, using a balanced scoring attack to beat host Fairlane Christian in Dearborn.

Senior guard Rod Windle led the way with 17 points. Pat McCarthy and Andy Stephens chipped in 14 apiece, while Dave Cadaret and Jim McCarthy contributed 10 each.

Plymouth Christian, capitalizing on a 1-2-2 zone press, broke a 14-all first quarter deadlock by outscoring Dearborn 20-8 in the second period and 19-6 in the third quarter.

"We held them to a half-point per possession," said Plymouth coach Jeff Cook. "And we scored at 8-10ths of a point per possession."

"Fairlane turned the ball over 46 percent of the time and we converted 36 points off their turnovers. Windle and Pat McCarthy, our quickest players, were very effective on the press. I'm pretty pleased."

Plymouth Christian returns to action Friday at Pioneer Middle School to face Troy Zion. Game time is 8 p.m.

HOLY ROSARY 62, ST. AGATHA 45: The Aggies couldn't deal with Flint Holy Rosary's zone and lost in a home game Friday.

Redford St. Agatha (1-1) coughed up the ball in the third quarter as visiting Holy Rosary took advantage and outscored the Aggies 13-4. Holy Rosary led 33-29 at the half.

Kevin Rich scored a game-high 16 points for St. Agatha while Jim Knittel added 13. Rosary was led by Scotty Fray, who tossed in 15.

GARDEN CITY 64, EDESEL FORD 59: The Cougars had their press rolling with four minutes left in Garden City's Northwest Suburban win Friday over Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The Cougars (2-1) were down by five with four minutes left, but stormed back with 11-unanswered points off the press. Garden City also came back in the second quarter to tie the game 29-29 at half-time.

"I was very pleased with the win considering we were on the road," said Garden City coach Bob Dropp. "They just beat Melvindale and John Glenn, so they were a pretty confident team."

Joe Mukavetz led a trio of Cougars in double figures with 16 points. Skip Barnett and John Sheridan both had 14.

SOUTH LYON 69, CLARENCEVILLE 39: The Trojans found themselves behind 20-0 in the first quarter and never recovered in Friday's loss to visiting South Lyon.

Livonia Clarenceville (2-1) suffered its first loss of the season as South Lyon led 42-19 at intermission. The Lions (3-0) had two players in double figures, Brad Heppner and Don Doaugard both with 14 points.

Rick Larson had nine for the Trojans.

N. FARMINGTON 64, STEVENSON 54: Both teams got 27-point performances from key players but the Raiders blew away host Livonia Stevenson Friday in Western Lakes action.

Paul Wahrman had 27 points to go along with 10 rebounds for North Farmington (3-0) while Rick Anderson supplied 12 points and 22 rebounds. The Raiders outscored the Spartans 20-9 in the third quarter after they trailed 27-25 at the half.

"We adjusted to their box-and-one zone," said North coach Tom Negoshian. "They put one man on Anderson and the other four played a zone."

Eric Johnson also sank 27 points for Stevenson, which mounted a rally in the fourth quarter. The third quarter, though, did the damage.

"We had a little intensity breakdown," said Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre. "In the fourth quarter, with our backs against the wall, we decided to play hard."

Johnson was 11 of 15 from the line.

Hawks dunk Thurston

The Farmington Harrison boys swim team evened its dual meet record at 1-1 Thursday night with a convincing 115-47 drubbing of Redford Thurston.

Jeff Bolla, Phil Auzas and Scott Farabee each captured a pair of firsts for the Hawks.

Bolla won the 200-yard freestyle (1:56.7) and the 100 freestyle (54.7). Auzas took both the 200 individual medley (2:20.5) and the 100 butterfly (1:05.5). Farabee, a sophomore, won the 50 free (24.6) and the 500 freestyle (5:17.3).

Other winners for the Hawks were Brian Fitzgerald in the 100 backstroke (1:07.2) and Tom Sayles in the 100 breaststroke 1:05.7, a state qualifying time.

Fitzgerald, Sayles, Joe Lichtenberger and Marc Frosch teamed to win the 200 medley relay in 1:57.7.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL remained unbeaten in dual meet action as the Shamrocks downed host Detroit Mumford, 60-23, Thursday.

Redford Catholic Central (3-0) collected firsts in 10 events, including both relays, to seal the win. John Kovach, Jim Surowiec, Sean McDermott and Jon Teal won the 200-yard medley relay in 1:00.43. Khoenle is right choice

SO, BOB KHOENLE is the new head football coach at Plymouth Canton.

Man, I can hear the Canton not-so-faithful howling right now.

People in the community, the many that I talked to, wanted a complete change. They wanted athletic director Paul Cummings to search outside the district for someone to guide the program. (This led to some pretty bizarre speculations. More later.)

Cummings would have gone outside, too, if he couldn't find anyone outside who was qualified.

Bob Khoenle, folks, is qualified. Cummings would have been silly not to give him a shot.

He comes from Massillon, Ohio — where better to learn winning football than in a town where winning football is a matter of life and death? He was an All-Big Ten standout at Purdue and he has 21 years of coaching experience under his belt.

ADMITTEDLY, my first reaction when Richard Barr resigned was "let's start over, fresh, from scratch." I wanted to see four or five brand new faces in here next year.

But then I thought about Khoenle's background. I thought about what he had achieved in his eight years with Canton.

I also thought about how much the man has had to endure in those eight years.

The best thing about the Canton football program the past four years has been its defense. Khoenle built that defense. Khoenle has enjoyed a strong rapport with the players, as well — which is of critical importance if he is to rebuild the team's shattered morale.

Being an assistant football coach at Canton has been drudgery in recent years. Two of Barr's assistants quit in a huff two years ago. The complaint: Barr ran the show his way and didn't often follow the advice offered by his assistants.

KHOENLE, NO doubt, ran into the same stubbornness. But he persevered, didn't complain, and was rewarded with an opportunity to run the show himself.

His appointment to the job ends about two months worth of wild speculation and rumor. Here are some of the more bizarre theories on who would get the job:

• Tom Moshimer was going to take the Canton job, after a lifetime at Salem, and Salem assistant Jim Jarvey would move into the Salem job. A popular choice with district administrators.

• Harvey Heitman, former Redford Union coach and longtime buddy of Moshimer's, was going to get the job. He might have, too, had Cummings gone outside.

• Gary Cook, the head coach at Bishop Borgess, was set to leave the parochial school ranks for the Canton job.

• Mark LaPointe, former Redford Thurston coach and a teacher within the Canton district, was in the running for the job. This rumor was absolutely true. He went after the job with all guns blazing.

• Steve Naumcheff, former Livonia Bentley coach, was also rumored to be interested in the job.

I wonder if deposed Notre Dame coach Gerry Faust heard about the opening?

"Thank goodness, all the speculation was for naught. The right man got the job."

Fast start not enough, Chiefs fall to Falcons

Farmington won its second consecutive Farmington city wrestling tournament Thursday, coming from behind in all three of its matches.

The Falcons bested Plymouth Canton in a thrilling match 36-27, then trimmed Farmington Harrison 36-29 and North Farmington 39-33.

"It was tough. We give up 12 points right off the bat in every match (because of voids in the 98- and 105-pound weight classes)," said Farmington coach Barry Walsh. "We really rely on our last three weight classes. They're almost in a situation where they have to win on pins all the time." John Augustin (185), Dan Parilo (198) and Bill Critcher (heavyweight) came through impressively for the Falcons.

Farmington fell behind to Canton 24-0 before Mike Cody decisioned Jay Polard 9-6 at 138 and Darrell Tharnish pinned Lee Moss in 3:37 at 145.

CANTON'S TROY McCall edged Mike Merem 4-3 at 155 and Canton needed just one more victory to clinch the match.

Andy Holiday provided the Falcons with a pleasant surprise at 167, pinning Against Harrison, Steve Lee (119), Cody and Tharnish posted falls to help Farmington win. Harrison was void in the last two classes.

The Hawks dropped a 34-22 decision to North. Harrison winners were Steve Palajac (98), Alcantara (105), Bruce Heinzen (119) and Dugas (167). Palajac, Alcantara and Dugas each won on pins.

AUGUSTIN SCORED the pivotal win for Farmington in its victory against North. At 185, he pinned tough Brian Haack in 3:40. Parilo, Armstrong, Lee, and Bob Woodbeck (126) also scored pins for Farmington. Tharnish won an 8-3 decision against Pat Gallina.

For North (1-4), Paul Cook (138) and Corey Bartsch (155) posted undefeated days. Mark Seyburn, in his first-ever appearance on the mats, pinned Farmington's Andy Holiday in 3:05. Tom Enright (132) also earned a pin against the Falcons, sticking Gary Blair in 1:25.

"For as young as we are, I thought we had a real nice meet," said North coach Dick Cook.

Farmington is 5-0 on the season.

Salem nails Pats to mat

The Plymouth Salem wrestling team pinned a 72-6 loss on Livonia Franklin Thursday — literally.

The Rocks won 12 of the 13 weight classes, pinning the Patriots in all 12.

The first three bouts were settled in under two minutes. Todd Bourlier (98 pounds) stuck his opponent in 41 seconds, Fred Calma (105) pinned his in 39 seconds and Dennis Dameron (112) stopped his match in 43 seconds.

Other Rocks victors were Tim Ott (119), Kevin Freeman (126), Dave Dameron (132), Kirk Rentz (138), Eric Schnackel (145), Rod Golovoy (155), Lem Yeung (167), Chuck Graczyk (198) and Jamie Wochuk (heavyweight).

Franklin's six points were earned by Glen Ploch at 185.

The Rocks are 3-0 in dual meets.

'Jewel of the Nile' returns twosome for more excitement

There is a pretty thin line between satiric romance and ridiculous tomfoolery, but producer-star Michael Douglas and director Lewis Teague have drawn it nicely in "Jewel of the Nile" (PG).

The film is romantic, adventurous, entertaining and may even prove to be one of those rare sequels that outdoes the original.

If you remember "Romancing the Stone," then the scene is set. World-renowned romance novelist Joan Wilder (Kathleen Turner) and adventurer Jack Colton (Michael Douglas) have spent the past six months cruising the Mediterranean aboard the Angelina.

For Jack and Joan, life is one big Mediterranean party. Joan, missing her New York study, however, is having problems with her latest novel. Jack wants to sail for Greece. They bicker.

LATER THAT day they go to a cocktail party where Joan meets the mysterious desert sheik, Omar (Spiros Focas), who's rather like Khaddafi with charm. What more do you need to set things rolling all over the Middle East?

And roll they do, as Omar engages Joan to write the story of his sweep to power. For Joan, this is an opportunity to break her writer's block and do some "important" journalism. For Jack, it's just a silly interruption of their cruise. He really wants to sail for Greece. They quarrel but part amicably.

Just as Jack is about to board his boat, the Angelina, he's greeted by Ralph (Danny DeVito), who has spent the last six months in a Colombian jail. Boy, is he ticked off. He wants revenge and attacks Jack, who is saved by a wild knife thrower just as the Angelina explodes.

Got all that? Good, because that's just the beginning. The wild knife thrower is one of a band of Sufis (the Flying Karamazov Brothers) who want Jack's help to save Joan from danger she doesn't yet know she's in. Jack's help is also needed to recover the Jewel of the Nile. That interests greedy Ralph, who wants his share.

LITTLE DOES Ralph know that the Jewel of the Nile is the Holy Man, Al Jihara (Avner Eisenberg), whose presence and approval give any government credibility. Naturally, Omar wants the jewel.

The complications are endless and great fun in every respect. Each preposterous situation leads to another more outlandish and funnier than the last. But each has just the right touch of believability.

The film's secret lies in its lighthearted attitude. Since the plot is totally incredible, they decided to play it for laughs. Jack and Joan's adventures are as absurd as her romance novels. Underplaying actions and reactions, while adding occasional tense moments when Omar threatens, makes it work.

The principals strike just the right note, with Michael Douglas' eye-rolling and deadpan disgust conveying the weariness of a middle-aged husband trying to cope with his flighty-flakey wife. Kathleen Turner balances to perfection the shy, reclusive romance writer emerging as a world-class blonde.

All three supporting roles — Ralph, Omar and the Holy Man — are terrific. DeVito's sardonic wisecracking counterpoints Eisenberg's relaxed Holy Man. In the background is big, bad, blustery Omar looking and playing it like a larger-than-life Omar Sharif. Eisenberg is a very funny man who probably was thinking how a taller would play Woody Allen in this role.

The film has no great philosophy nor any particular message. Just enjoy.

Danny DeVito is back again as a would-be master criminal in the sequel to "Romancing the Stone."

HOW HEALTHY ARE YOU?

People under chiropractic care know the answer. They know that health is when all systems of the body are functioning all the time.

They also know that the function of the brain and nerve system is to coordinate and control all body function. That's why they come in for spinal adjustments. The adjustment they receive is to realign vertebrae which are out of place, which, in turn, interfere with the function of the nerve system.

Scientific research indicated that interference to the nerve system caused cells of the body to work improperly. This sets up disease, which leads to sickness and early death.

Chiropractic care focuses on the removal of the cause of poor health by removing interference to the nerve system.

If you are tired of being sick, we suggest you call us and ask for an opportunity to regain your health.

Life is God's gift to you, what you do with that life is your gift to God.

Join the millions who enjoy a good life with good health through chiropractic care.
