Car windows broken to tune of $5,000

By Doug Funke and Diane Gale staff writers

Vandals on a spree last weekend broke windows on 48 cars in Plymouth Township and 24 vehicles in Canton, police report.

Most windows apparently were shattered with BB pellets.

"It was indiscriminate as far as make or model. They weren't after luxury cars - whatever they could hit," said Plymouth Township Deputy Chief Total damage in Plymouth Township was estimated at $5,000. In Canton damage was estimated at $2,400.

We had 24 separate incidents with no suspects or vehicles seen," said Canton Police Lt. Alex Wilson. "In all 24 incidents there's no lead to follow up on. But if it was kids, they would most likely shoot-off their mouths about it."

THE INCIDENTS were discovered Friday evening and Saturday morning. Several other communities - Farmington Hills, Northville Township, and the cities of Northville and Plymouth experienced similar vandalism last weekend. Snider said.

"The common denominator seemed to be Haggerty Road," he said. "They seem to be working one-half mile either side of Haggerty from Farmington Hills to Canton. They're hitting everya thing on the street.

"I think it's some frustrated juveniles out for a good time," Snider said. "We have reason to believe they started in the north, which leads us to believe they're from Novi or Farmington

THE TIME sequence of reported damage led to that conclusion, he said.

"The weekend prior to Halloween was the last fling we had. It's been relatively quiet," Snider said.

Damage estimates in individual Plymouth incidents ranged from $50 to $200. In Canton the average damage estimate is $100.

Because many auto insurance policies have deductibles that policy holders must pay before insurers reimburse for damage, some victims may be responsible for their entire repair bills.

Among the streets hit in Plymouth were Wolfriver, Russell, Greenview, Hammill and Birchwood. The streets hit in Canton included Tamarack, Addison, Ford Road, Kingsley, Spinning Wheel, Burgandy, Bartlett, Berwick, Roundtable East, Cavalier, Brookfield, Parkway Court and Ardmore.

Snider conceded that it would be difficult for police to catch the vandals in the act because windows broken with BBs make little noise. Detection would further be hampered because most houses are shut tightly during winter.

Police advise that cars be placed in garages or driveways rather than left on the street at night to decrease the potential for vandalism.

Canton and Plymouth township police ask anyone with information about the incidents to call Canton at 397-3000 or Plymouth Township at 453-3869.

have left the area for the season," Weber reported.

"A MONTHLY maintenance utilizing avitrol corn bait will follow the strychnine treatment. This service is designed to disperse incoming pigeons, therefore preventing a recurrence of the present problem," he indicated. Acid in large concentrations of pigeon droppings can tarnish paint on cars and rot roofs, said John Zimmerman, Dearborn branch manager for Rose. Humans and pets also can acquire diseases from droppings.

Rose's extermination program is regulated by both the state Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Environmetal Protection Agency, Zimmerman said.

"We're very careful to put strychnine and avitrol only where pigeons are. The program is very target specific. Strychnine is not out when it's not observed.

"Avitrol is designed to disperse," Zimmerman said. "It sends birds into miner convulsions. They emit a distress call and scare other pigeons

While strychnine is almost always fatal, avitrol will generally kill only older or sick pigeons, Zimmerman said. Smaller birds usually don't ingest the corn kernels to which the pesticides are applied and squirrels usually don't tred around large populations of pigeons, he It hasn't yet been determined when the extermination program will begin.

Paul Sincock, Graper's assistant, said he doubts anything will happen until after the Plymouth Ice Spectacular ends

Time is on the side of the rare coin

In the late 1970s, when the price of gold shot up to $800 an ounce, millions of dollars of rare coins were sold by those who didn't know their face value, to dealers and refiners who were mainly interested in melting them down for their metallic content.

That rush to sell gold and silver, from 1979 to 1981, helped to make what rare coins remained even rarer.

Of the 42 $10 Indian coins struck by the government in 1907, only seven remain. One is in the Smithsonian Institution, one is owned by the State of Iowa and Jarrait was able to find a third, with a value of $50,000.

I-275 rest stop incident results in work transfer

staff writer

A 33-year-old man employed as a bus driver for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools when arrested for alleged homosexual activity at an I-275 rest stop in 1984 has been transferred to the district's garage and is being paid bus drivers' rates part of the time.

On Sept. 24, 1984, Dennis May was arrested for disorderly person/indecent and obscene conduct in a public place at the rest stop on I-275 south of Cherry Hill in Canton. He was among some 31 men arrested during two raids at the rest stop. The school district placed May on leave of absence without pay or benefits beginning Oct. 6, 1984, pending the trial outcome, said Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel. "Based on the circumstances of the incident we didn't feel Mr. May should have contact with students of the district." Kee said.

DURING THE TIME he was off work, the Plymouth-Canton Transportation Employees Association, the union representing bus drivers, filed a grievance charging the district had no right to withhold May's pay.

In January 1985 May pleaded no contest to the charge in 35th District Court.

On March 21, 1985, his sentence was deferred for one year, and he was or-dered by Judge James Garber to pay court costs, report monthly to the court and seek counseling.

May has met each of the these conditions, Judge Garber said. "Technically it's not a sentence, and it's up for review in March," Judge. Garber said. "I could do a number of things, from accepting a plea and imposing a further sentence, or go all the way to dismissing the matter."

Following the ruling, the union filed another grievance requesting May's return as a bus driver and wages for the would receive garage helper wages. time he was on mandatory leave, Kee

The grievance was denied and the association filed for arbitration. In February 1985 May was hired by the district as a garage helper and has worked at that position since. In September 1985 the union withdrew its request for arbitration, pending a negotiation with the district, Kee

BY NOV. 15, 1985, the union and district agreed May would work in the garage as a "garage helper" if he dropped the grievances and arbitration. "He also agreed that as long as he is employed in Plymouth-Canton that he would be employed in the garage."

May was reinstated with full seniority and paid bus driver rates during those hours he would normally have worked on the bus. For instance, during the summer when school is out he

It also was agreed that May would receive payment at bus drivers' rates for Oct. 16 to Feb. 11 for the time he was on leave of absence.

A contract effective Jan. 1, 1985, provides that first-year bus drivers are paid $7.03 hourly and $8.20 an hour each year after. Before 1985 the rate was $8.12 hourly for drivers with two or more years seniority. Garage helpers are paid $4.98 hourly.

IN MOST CASES district employees are paid for leaves of absence, Kee

"In this case we didn't feel justified to pay a nickle," Kee said. "True, he wasn't proven guilty but also he wasn't proven not guilty.

Blanchard: No Westland prison

staff writer

The Blanchard Administration won't push development of a state prison on the former Eloise site in Westland this year. The governor has turned down Wayne County Executive William Lucas' offer to take the land at no cost.

In a letter to Lucas, the governor -said the "excessive" cost of converting "N" Building in the complex at Michigan and Merriman would prohibit its suse as a prison, said Blanchard's press secretary, Rick Cole.

"It's just too expensive, and considerably cheaper to build new," Cole said in Livonia Monday. "And we still don't have a prison in Oakland County."

Cole indicated that Blanchard is setting his sights north of Detroit for the next prison project. New development sites likely would be based in Oakland County, where "they're providing 10 percent of the criminals and none of the space," Cole said.

"OAKLAND County is the real priority for the administration," Cole said during a news conference.

question that has sharply split county officials. County Executive Daniel T. Murphy and the board of commissioners majority favors a Pontiac site adiacent to a state mental hospital. Pontiac officials, the mental health constituency and the Corrections Commission favor a Department of Natural Resources site in rural Orion Township.

The state Department of Corrections recently announced it had reached its goal of adding 3,000 more prison cells to handle state prison overcrowding. Two additional state prison facilities are being added.

LUCAS, AN undeclared candidate for governor this year, offered the "N" Building site in county-owned land on three occasions since last summer, most recently in a letter to Blanchard last month.

The executive encouraged Blanchard to take the building, saying the state had a "serious need" to "get criminals off the streets."

But Cole said pressure from area legislators, who protested the consideration of the Westland site, virtually put the issue to rest.

Canton man named traffic control chief

Robert P. Beatty of Canton has been named manager of the airport traffic control tower at Detroit Willow Run Beatty, a commercial pilot and veteran of civil and military air traffic control, was selected by the Federal Aviation Administration's Great Lakes region.

A native of Liberty Corner, N.J., Beatty entered the Navy as an air traffic controller after graduation from high school. After a year of training in the United States, he was assigned to naval air stations at Iwankuni and Atsugi, Japan.

For two years after release from the Navy, he worked as a credit manager for a paint company. Then, in 1962, became a controller at J.F. Kennedy International Airport, then known as Idlewild Airport.

Beatty learned to fly after becaming a radar controller in 1968 at the New York "Common I," the facility that guides aircraft flying in the New York City area. The next year he became automation specialist at the "Common I" and in 1971 transferred to FAA's technical center at Atlantic City as assistant chief of the headquarters national terminal data branch.

The new Willow Run tower chief in 1974 was sent to Iran as part of a 17-

During the next four years, Beatty was a specialist in the headquarters automation division and in 1978 was selected as manager of the FAA tower at Youngstown, Ohio.

In 1980 he transferred to Detroit Metropolitan Airport as an automation specialist for implementation of the ARTS IIIA automated radar program.

Beatty became an air traffic controller at Detroit Metro after the air traffic controller's strike in 1981, returning to his automation specialist position in 1983. He and wife Mary, a former American Airlines ticket agent, have two sons: Paul, 19, a University of Michigan student who plays five musical instruments; and Lane, 14, who plays three. The boys have formed several rock bands for special events.

Beatty is an amateur radio operator, a hobby which saves much on telephone calls as he talks frequently with a sister in New Jersey and a brother in Arizona, both of whom have licenses. Another hobby is running, 15 miles a week to keep fit.

"We're different from the local coin shop," Jarrait pointed out. "Our business is almost like treasure-hunting. We travel all over the world. A lot of gold pieces are in Europe because they were turned over to other governments by the United States to make up for the balance of payments."

JARRAIT ORIGINALLY began supplying coins to financial planners, the people who provide advice to investors.

But he decided to cut out the middleman, as it were, and deal directly with the individual investor.

"We buy at a good price, based on the wholesale 'Gray Sheet,' and sell at a maximum (wholesale) price," he said. "Unlike the Kruggerand or the Canadian Maple Leaf, which are based on their bullion, or gold content, the coins we provide are different.

"Our coins show an increase in value during periods of low or high inflation because their supply can never increase. For example, there are only 20,000 $3 gold pieces for all dates.'

Jarrait said the demand for rare coins has become incredible. "In the 1950s, there were about a half million rare coin collectors and investors. By the 1960s, there were five million. Today there are 15-18 million. By the 1990s, there are expected to be 30-40 million. That's an ever-increasing demand and an ever-decreasing supply. In the last 33 years, rare coins have increased in value in 32 of those JARRAIT SAID rare coins are easily the best investment in tangible assets, for several reasons: Safety, when compared with the volatile price of gold, silver or stocks.

A high return, historically 20-25 percent.

Tax advantages, because rare coin owners do not pay taxes until they sell.

· Liquidity, because rare coins, according to Jarrait, are easily sold due to their high demand.

Other advantages: paperwork is minimal when coins are transferred from one owner to the next; and the coins can be handed down from generation to generation without inheritance and estate entanglements.

Rare coins, Jarrait said, are not dependent on the state of the economy, inflation, interest rates, the stock market, the deficit or any of the things that keep other investors awake at night.

"The rare coin owner can control a large amount of wealth in a small form as there are no annual taxes and you don't pay until you liquidate," said Jarrait.

However, he said rare coins are not suitable for Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) because there is no point in sheltering them from taxes because no annual taxes are paid anyway and there is no penalty for early withdrawal.

But they are very good for corporate or municipal investment programs. The states of Alaska and New York each has about $10 million in rare coins; Detroit has about $1 million," said Jarrait.

Jarrait furnishes coin purchasers with the coin and a certificate that contains a photograph of the coin and information about it. He recommends a safe deposit box for storage.

He recommends a three-to-five-year holding period. When the holder sells the coins, he pays a tax on long-term capital gains.

HOW MUCH money do you need to invest in rare coins?

"There's no minimum," said Jarrait, "The son of a customer decided to make an investment at the age of 14 with his newspaper route money. He bought a Carson Silver Dollar for $800. It is worth $3,700 this year.

"We can start as small as the customer is comfortable with. Our largest investment is in excess of a half million dollars. We can work in any price range. It's a matter of quality versus quantity. It's better to have one or two quality coins that will appreciate in value than to have a lot of hobby

Although Jarrait may be the new kid on the block in Plymouth, he said his company has concentrated on building a reputation for finding quality pieces.

'We've built a reputation for high quality pieces. When a dealer comes across a rare coin he'll contact us and we'll find a place for them."

Coins are appreciated by Jarrait, not only in value but also for their aesthetic quality.

'They're almost like art. A Rembrandt may contain $15 in canvas and $10 worth of oil paint yet bring $1 million. Gold coins with as little as $5-$6 worth of metal might be worth thousands of dollars as a collectible. They're really pieces of art -American art - and the investor becomes a collec-

He cites the $20 St. Gaudens. "It's considered the prettiest high-relief coin."

The contrast between rare, investment-grade coins and hobby coins can be illustrated with one example Jarrait gave. Carson silver dollars increased in value, even as the price of silver dropped. But Morgan silver dollars, now being heavily advertised, probably never will be worth what they are being sold for today because 650 million were struck.

"They're paying $125 for $50 worth of coin," said Jarrait.

THE BUSINESS that Jarrait calls "a lot of fun"

also supports eight employees.
Unlike Richard Charles Rare Coin Gallery's uncirculated gold and silver pieces, at least part of the profits are recirculated into the Plymouth economy.

Its monthly sales have reached a quarter of a million dollars.

Included in the staff is Jarrait's wife, Debbie. who works as a secretary and receptionist. Most of the employees either have investment backgrounds or knowledge of coins. One had been a teacher. Another was a client who joined the company.

Richard Charles got its name from the first names of its president, Charles Jarrait and vice president, Richard Guyn.

Jarrait has scheduled a seminar this month at the Mayflower Meeting House where he will tell potential investors what to look for in rare coins and the advantages of investing in them. Reservations are required and can be obtained by calling

Richard Charles' offices, despite their stock in trade, contain no inventories of coins. Nevertheless, the office was broken into shortly after it was opened. The burglars escaped with several coins made of chocolate.

Talented author leads winter trek

By Timothy Nowicki special writer

THEN temperatures drop below freezing and the howling wind creates a belowzero chill factor, it becomes difficult to motivate yourself to wander through woods or open fields.

On days like that, the best thing to do is put an extra log in the wood burner and read a good book. And if you want a recommendation, I suggest Edwin Way Teale's "Wandering Through Win-

It is the last of four Teale wrote about his travels through each season across America. He and his wife traveled "North with the Spring," took a "Journey into Summer" and followed "Autumn Across America." After devoting 15 years to their completion, Teale was awarded a Pulitzer Prize.

EACH TRIP was carefully planned. so that they could experience many interesting natural events.

We start our wander through winter on Dec. 21 at San Diego Bay in California. As time passes and pages are turned, we travel 20,000 miles and end on March 20 near Caribou, Maine.

Teale shares his experience searching for hibernating poorwills. We learn the recipe for sumac lemonade. We

College degree's entry for cop job

A college degree is a new requirement for officers hired onto the Canton candidates to have been certified Can-Township police force.

"A college degree doesn't make a better police officer," said Chief John Santomauro. "But when a college decretified as Canton of the will not have to provide the will not have the will not have to provide the will not have to provide the will not have the will not gree is an entry level requirement I think you get a better candidate."

Applicants must have at least an associate degree in law enforcement or a related field. Previously, officers were required to have a high school diploma.

New standards adopted for Canton also require candidates to have graduated from a recognized police academy, which is an 11-week program.

NEW HIRES also must have completed the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council (MLEOTC) reading and writing examination and physical skills performance test. These tests are requirements for all police applicants in Michigan.

Because the department is requiring ton will not have to pay for that train-

In addition, before candidates are certified as Canton officers they must complete a Field Training Officers (FTO) program - a six-week course provided by the Canton Police Depart-

"There's a cost savings to Canton because they are pre-certified and by having the candidate possess police academy credentials when they come in they only have to wait six weeks to be certified as a Canton officer," Santomauro said.

Other benefits Santomaura cited for requiring applicants to have two-year degrees were enhancing the professional image of the police department and providing higher quality applicants who have made professional and financial commitments to their careers.

Blanchard picks Livonia firm as typical of 'rebound'

staff writer

Michigan is once again "a good place to do business." Record numbers of new business start-ups provide evidence that a general recovery is in progress, announced Gov. James Blanchard this week in Livo-

Preliminary figures from the state Commerce Department show that while 3,000 businesses shut their doors in Michigan last year, an estimated 23,600 opened. That was up 12 percent from the previous year, said state officials.

Calling 1985 a "banner year" in new business incorporations, Blanchard said that the high rate of recent years is "one of the best indicators of economic growth we

HE CITED a report from the prestigious Wall Street brokerage house, Dun and Bradstreet, placing Michigan third nationwide in new business start-ups in 1985.

"It's concrete evidence of our rebounding economy, our business climate, where you have more than 23,000 new businesses willing their money in Michigan and take risks in Michigan," he said.

The governor's promotional stop in the heart of Livonia's industrial belt was made

Monday at Indata Corp., a small threemonth-old data processing firm owned by Canton Township residents Greg and Cathryn Lavigne.

Blanchard praised the couple and called them "classic examples of what en-trepreneur activity is all about."

THE LAVIGNES, who employ five data processors, were selected to typify most new start-ups today. Blanchard said that state research indicates that two-thirds of all new jobs in the United States are created by companies with fewer than 20 people. And 80 percent of replacement jobs are produced by businesses with fewer than 100

"(Small businesses) are much more important to our economy than perhaps people who work for Ford or Chrysler can realize," he said.

"Greg and Cathryn Lavigne are classic examples of what entrepreneur activity is all about," Blanchard said.

According to Blanchard, Michigan business is in transition from a "smoke stack" industry to high technology and advanced manufacturing, along with "robotics-powered, computer drive" business.

THOUGH SUCH industries employ fewer workers, they are more recession-proof and jobs are "more secure," he said.

Blanchard praised the city of Livonia for "working very hard" to improve the busi-ness climate in the state, and cited its recent successes in "Project Legacy."

Livonia Chamber of Commerce director John White said the improved business economy is bringing more people into this area. Citing figures supplied by a local real estate firm, White said business people moving into the area are "gobbling up" residential property. Overall, Blanchard said, the state still has "big problems" in addressing the high numbers of displaced auto industry employees. "We still have 9 percent unemployment and a lot of people down and out."

UAW, Teamsters win government workers

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

An odd alliance is taking shape in Michigan between industrial unions and government workers.

Once aligned solely with heavy industry, unions such as the UAW, Teamsters and United Steelworkers are now representing the interests of city, county and state employees.

"It's not a new trend, but it certainly accelerating," said Aldo Vagnozzi, of e AFL-CIO News.

Industrial labor unions are merging ith government workers in other tates, such as Ohio and California, and both are benefitting from the mar-

"THE DROP in membership of industrial unions has been due mainly to deregulation of the trucking industry," said Vagnozzi, of Farmington Hills. Foreign competition and new technology also have been responsible for lost jobs in the manufacturing fields. Realizing power in numbers, industrial unions are courting government groups across Michigan. The state's largest union, the UAW, which represents 390,000 workers across Michigan, now has jurisdiction over 21,000 state employees after winning elections against the Michigan State Employees Association.

In the metro area, the UAW represents lawyers working for the cities of Detroit and Warren, librarians employed by the Detroit Public Library, probation officers of the 36th District Court, and clerical workers of the 38th (Macomb County) and 43rd district courts (southern Oakland County).

ployed by the state Department of Social Services and state Department of Health, primarily in the human service and administrative support units.

"HAVING PUBLIC employees in the union gives us a closer connection with looking at what the problems are and what can be done," said Reg McGee, a spokesman for the UAW.

We are responding to the need in the 1980s to represent public employees and women employees. We will respond to them accordingly in our overall context of organizing.

The UAW will continue its emphasis on representing workers in the manu-facturing fields, McGee said.

Outstate, recent labor elections have put the United Steelworkers in charge of all full- and part-time clerical workers in the city of Alpena. Teamsters now represent regular part-time clerical employees of Lapeer, mental health workers in the Grand Traverse/ Leelanau area, and Berrien County em-

The UAW recently added building, plumbing and heating inspectors for the city of Mount Clemens to the municipal groups it represents.

We did lose membership over the last five years or so as millions of Americans lost assembly-line jobs," McGee said. "But many of the factories that closed had no union representacorded on major roll-call votes before the close of the First Session of the 99th Congress. The Second Session is to begin Jan. 21.

HOUSE

FARM BILL — By a vote of 325 for and 96 against, the House adopted the conference report on legislation (HR 2100) setting government farm policy over the next several years. The Senate sent the bill to President Reagan, who signed it into law.

The bill marks a major turnabout in federal farm policy, beginning the first shrinkage of price and income subsidies in some 50 years.

By setting in motion the long process of turning American agriculture away from federal supports and toward the free market, the bill seeks to cut increasing costs to taxpayers, reduce mounting surpluses and boost farm sales abroad.

Major casualties of the market-oriented approach will be thousands of farmers, most of the with small operations, who may not survive their increased exposure to the laws of supply

Even with its historic new direction, the legislation is consider generous to rural America, providing among other financial benefits, at least $52 billion in crop and income subsidies during its first three years. Overall, the bill is expected to cost $169 bilion over five

HAMILTON JORDON - The House passed, 347 for and 40 against, a bill (HR 3363) to reimburse Hamilton Jordan, the chief of staff to President Jimmy Carter, for $67,533 in legal fees he paid as a result of an allegation that he used cocaine at a New York City night spot in 1978.

The charge was probed by a special federal prosecutor between November 1979 and May 1980 and found to be baseless. Jordan recently announced he will run in Georgia for the U.S. Senate.

There was no debate on the bill, which now is before the Senate.

Members voting yes wanted Jordan to be reimbursed for the legal fees made necessary by the government investigation.

debate on the Senate floor. Supporter Peter Rodino, D-N.J., said: "Policemen and their families all suffer a great deal . . . to protect us, and it is our obligation to do everything that is reasonable to protect the." Opponent Larry Craig, R-Idaho, said the bill "attempts to control criminal behavior by controlling little pieces of metal. That approach is what gun control is all about -- and this bill, like all other forms of gun control, will fail to achieve its stated objective."

Members voting yes wanted to out-law armor-piercing bullets.

Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Levin, Broomfield.

CONTINUING RESOLUTION - By a vote of 261 for and 137 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a $368.2 billion appropriations bill (HJ Res. 465) to fund government operations for the remainder of fiscal 1986, which ends next Sept. 30.

The "continuing resolution" consists of seven 1986 appropriations bills, including those for the departments of Defense, Agriculture, Interior and Transportation. It covers roughly a third of the 1986 federal budget.

Congress uses continuing resolutions to compensate for its failure to enact regular appropriations bills on time. Only six of the 13 appropriations bills for fiscal 1986 were enacted individual-

This year's resolution was especially controversial because its defense and non-defense funding levels will become the starting point for the across-theboard cuts that will be imposed automatically early in 1986 under the new Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit re-

Supporter Leon Panetta, D-Calif., called the measure the best compromise available with respect to military and domestic spending levels.

Opponent John Porter, R-Ill., called continuing resolutions "a terrible, unconscionable, irresponsible way to leg-

Free market best for housing's good

Susan Roslek assistant managing editor

AN ECONOMIC WAR of sorts is surrounding us. The battlefields are yet-tobe-developed, muddy plats where future dream houses will be built.

12A(P)

But how large that dream home will be, and how big the lot on which it will stand, is part of the disagreement that spawned this war.

The dispute is between traditional rivals — the haves and those who wish to have. The flames are fueled by those who hope to profit.

In this case it's suburban homeowners vs. homeowner hopefuls, who have forged an alliance of convenience with the developers.

THE QUARREL is best outlined by Bloomfield Hills developer Paul Robert-

"Communities don't follow demand. Household sizes are down. Consumers want smaller housing," he says.

In short, already established homeowners who bought homes in dreamier, more prosperous times insist that new homeowners pay the price to enter their economic clique — a large home on a correspondingly large lot.

But those communities that zone against smaller housing are living in another time

The homes of the '60s and '70s are just too big — too big to heat, too big for modern families to live in and too big to finance.

NEW-HOME shoppers want houses that fit their lifestyle and allow them more cash to pursue other interests. Fewer children mean fewer bedrooms. A smaller lot means less lawn to mow and fewer shrubs to trim.

Some would just as soon rent rather than buy. That really sends some in the homeowner establishment up the wall.

Steve Barnaby

A grand home has been replaced by travel and other leisure pursuits as a top consumer priority.

But the not-so-old guard is standing tough against these well-meaning intruders who just want to share a piece of the American dream in their own fashion.

OUT WEST Bloomfield way, a developer's plan to build 54 rental, detached cluster homes in the big-ticket neighborhood around Lone Pine and Middlebelt has caused a real stir.

Neighbors have flocked to township hall complaining of transient renters and fear of declining property values.

But wait a second — just one darned second. This complex isn't exactly a low-income housing project. Each unit would be 2,000 square feet and rent for $1,800 a month.

The disgruntled neighbors are beefing because their homes are 3,000 square feet. Now, having a place to live isn't a contest. Neither is a person's right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. And nowhere in that Declaration of Independ-erty and the pursuit of happiness. And nowhere in that Declaration of Independence does it say everybody who lives in the neighborhood has to have a house just as big as the next guy's.

For all those who give lip service to our economic system, let the market determine the size of tomorrow's houses. It's best for the collective economic good.

Be thankful for safer roads

WE OUGHT to start the New Year off by being thankful — especially for everyone who has worked to make driving less of a hazard.

The evidence is beginning to mount. The campaigns by such organizations as Mothers Against Drunk Driving and by local and state police are having an effect.

Drunk driving arrests are up, fatal accidents are down.

The state Legislature stumbled around a bit last year before deciding that it could force people to wear seat belts in a

Such freedom advocates as state Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, and state Sen. Patrick McCullough, D-Dearborn, objected to the so-called infringement on individual liberties.

THE LEGISLATIVE majority felt the issue was too important to leave in the laps of individual drivers. The state mandated that drivers and front-seat passengers shall wear seat belts or be fined accordingly. Most citizens, considering themselves law-abiding, began buckling Already, there is evidence to indicate that this law is saving lives. Traffic accidents in Michigan killed 47 fewer vehicle occupants in the first five months of the state seat-belt law compared to the same period a year earlier, state police say.

"It's clear that safety belts are preventing deaths and serious injury," said Capt. Kenneth Sacperson, commander of the traffic services division.

CAMPAIGNS AGAINST drunk driving are also beginning to pay dividends.

A Michigan State Police study of 44 communities showed drunk-driving arrests rose from 10,065 in 1983 to 18,073 in

In Wayne County there were 171 fatal traffic accidents in the first 10 months of 1984 and 90 in the same period in 1985. It can only be assumed the crackdown on drunk drivers can be thanked for a dramatic saving of lives.

Oakland County was several years ahead of everyone finding that out.

Garden City Police Chief Charles Wilmoth, who heads a federally funded program aimed at curbing drunk driving, said, "I really think more people are seeing the light."

Wilmoth referred to a brochure that claims "More Drunk Drivers Are Seeing the Light," in reference to the flash light on top of a police car.

Wayne County communities, using federal funds for special alcohol enforcement teams, announced a 79-percent increase in drunk-driving arrests last year.

THE FOCUS on drunk drivers and the rise in liability insurance costs are causing bar owners to cut drinkers off quicker.

The Michigan Restaurant Association encourages its members to ensure that restaurateurs participate in a "designated driver" program whereby one person in a party is identified by a designated driver badge and receives free soft drinks for the night

Restaurants, particularly chains, are telling their personnel to ensure that no one who has drunk too much drives away. The restaurant calls a cab or provides a ride home.

The impetus for much of this may have started a few years ago with only one mother, Candy Lightener, whose daughter was killed by a drunk driver in California. She was angry enough to go out and start Mothers Against Drunk Drivers.

The program has caught on nationally. In this area, Lee Landes, a retired Ford Motor Co. executive in Livonia, and his wife, Sue, have done more than their share of work in spreading the word.

They, among many others, give us much to be thankful for.

Kids missing out on free winter fun

THE TIME has come when we should provide more outdoor recreation for the young folks during winter months.

Riding around the area during the holidays, The Stroller observed only one sledding hill, and that was along Hines Drive. And the lone ski slope — a short one — was along the same route.

Sure, we have indoor attractions such as the skating arenas where the ice is limited and there is a charge. But this is not what is needed for today's teen-agers and the young folks.

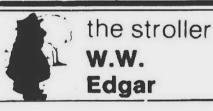

THIS IS TOO bad because back in the area from which The Stroller came, winter was one of the greatest times of the year. This was so because we had all sorts of hills — even in the business sections — of smaller towns. And we would spend most of the autumn months trying our hands at building sleds.

If we weren't building sleds, we were working on what we called "trucks" that would provide space for a dozen riders. In many cases, these were works of art.

Michigan 150 years old

FIRST USE of an automobile in Michigan was not by Henry Ford, although his company was the first enormously successful one. The honor belongs to Charles Brady King, according to Michigan History magazine.

On March 6, 1886, King drove a gasoline-powered car south on St. Antoine toward the Detroit River. King turned right on Jefferson, right again on Woodward, stopped in front of the Russell Hodse Hotel on Cadillac Square and returned to the St. Antoine Street building, which housed his marine engine manufacturing company.

Our little group back home produced the first large sled steered by a wheel instead of dangling ropes. And the manufacturers came to our group and copied our steering apparatus for their commercial sleds. And were we proud.

Today you don't find young folks building their sleds — there are too few places to use them without getting a ride. And because of this, winter has lost a lot of its charm for the young folks in these suburbs.

SOME SECTIONS of Observerland are trying to bring back some of the old-time

In Livonia, for example, there is an attempt being made to build a ski slope in Centennial Park on Seven Mile at Wayne roads in the northwest corner of the city. It will provide some skiing — but not nearly enough.

It is the same with sledding. Very few places are available. Back home we used to use the main streets, even into the business section. But traffic in this area is too heavy to dare sledding in the streets.

. There are skating arenas in Livonia, Plymouth, Redford, Garden City and Westland. Often they are so crowded that you must reserve time.

Frequently arenas are set aside for amateur hockey teams, so there's little time available for young folks to enjoy winter's ice as we did back in Pennsylvania.

A drive along Wilcox Lake in Plymouth reveals the need. There are a dozen or more ice skaters enjoying themselves, but there are few when there could be many. The lakes and ponds could provide plenty of fun and cheap outdoor exercise for young skaters — but little is being done to neovide it.

High auto wages 'spill over'

JOHN ENGLER, the state Senate majority leader, had the undivided attention of the metropolitan news media one morning last week as he unveiled the "Michigan Beyond 2000" report.

Nothing was going on that Monday morning between Christmas and New Year's. Blanchard was off watching football games. Lucas was traveling somewhere. Young was ailing. Congressmen were getting reacquainted with their families. Only Engler, a master of timing, was making news.

The reporters pounced on him and the Hudson Institute think-tank people from Indianapolis — hard — for one particular suggestion that pops up repeatedly in the book-length report.

It suggested wage rates are much too high. It hit all — factory workers, government workers and reporters — in a tender spot.

THE HUDSON Institute found that Michigan can "retain a substantial share of the U.S. auto industry (and) become a major center for new industry, especially robotics . . ." if it does certain correct things.

But at the top of Michigan's — and particularly metropolitan Detroit's — list of liabilities is "high labor costs compared with other states." Those wage rates may be as much as 30 percent higher than national averages.

Tim Richard

It called the wage structure here "inflated," adding: "High wages in the auto industry have spilled over into most other occupations and industries in the state, making the state less competitive with other regions of the country and world."

The lesson seems to be that no longer can auto companies and unions set wage rates in isolation. We're part of a global economy. It's a very filthy word to some in the labor movement, but we have to "compete." Said the Hudson Institute:

"(Auto) production is shifting not only overseas, but also to lower cost U.S. plants outside Michigan. Over the last seven years, six foreign automakers have elected to build assembly facilities in the U.S. Only one has chosen Michigan."

THE ANGRY question from reporters was; Does this mean workers will have to accept a lower standard of living?

No, came the answer. It does mean that wage increases here must be held in line as rates in the other states rise. The process must and should be negotiated, and it needs to be done over 20 years. It drawn't mean anyone is suggesting we all take a 30 percent cut tomorrow.

The high-wage phenomenon occurs statewide but is most pronounced in metro Detroit. Many metro natives are terrified of moving north of M-59 or west of US-23. It's noteworthy that Kalamazoo, one of my old stomping grounds, was a finalist for the GM Saturn plant while metro Detroit was out of the running. Wages here are easily a quarter higher than in Kalamazoo but so are property taxes, auto insurance and other living costs.

WILL A LID be put on metro wage increases? Good question.

Government wages and costs were also addressed in the Hudson Institute report. And in case you didn't notice reporter Mary Rodrique's eye-opening story, such industrial unions as the UAW, Teamsters and Steelworkers are organizing government employees right and left.

In the last year alone, the UAW has picked off 21,000 state employees, more than one-third of the state government workforce. Even suburban court employees are joining the ranks of the high-wage industrial unions.

If you thought the wage-rate hattle ended with the recession, think again. This wage-rate thing could be a 20-year battle. And some of the most aggressive unions in America will be fighting it.

He stumps the state, just as he did 38 years ago when he was "Soapy," a young lawyer running for governor.

Today G. Mennen Williams is chief stice of the Michigan Supreme Court, and his purpose is different. At 74, he cannot seek another eight-year term on He's selling three ideas, not himself. Fiscally, the bottom line is $29 million in state money to take over funding of all courts from the counties, cities and townships.

The other two ideas are 1) to speed un court functions (see related story on below) and 2) to achieve "user friendly ets that ordinary folks aren't afraid when they must perform jury duty stify.

TATE FUNDING is our most chal-Indiging problem," he told the Observer & "Eccentric Newspapers editorial board this week.

"Not only has the state Constitution mandated one court of justice, but in 1980 the Legislature passed an act to start in this direction." The Legislature found $25 million to assume all fiscal responsibility for the Wayne Circuit Court, Detroit Recorders' Court and

Then the bottom dropped out of the The next steps - state fund-In of suburban and outstate courts ere never taken.

Williams, as chief justice of the seven-member court, which has superintending authority over the entire 550judge system, wants that step to be taken. Like the Soapy of old, he's visiting all corners of the state to sell it, not at square dances and union barbecues but to newspaper editorial boards.

"Even if we didn't endorse this," he was asked, "do you think it would help if we asked all legislative candidates that question in the 1986 campaign and persuaded the League of Women Voters to put it in their questionnaire?"

Williams' face broke into a broad grin. "I would warmly appreciate that," he said.

JOURNALISTS love "war stories," specific examples, and Williams provided some.

There was a northern county that disliked the plan because officials don't like the notion of a judge's secretary being paid more than the secretary of the county road commission.

"Some judges have threatened to put local officials in jail for failing to provide court funding," he said, recalling budget fights at the local level that the high court was forced to settle.

"If the state would fund them (courts), it would relieve part of the tension," said Williams, who is bothered by public doubts over the dignity, integrity and image of courts when such political battles erupt.

State government currently provides 60 percent of court costs. The chief justice, pointing to the single-court concept of the constitution, wants the state to pick up 100 percent, standardizing all judicial salaries.

THERE IS a solid argument against statewide equality of pay, and Williams admitted it. Salaries in southeastern Michigan tend to be 20 percent or so higher than outstate. And by his own admission, judges in urban Wayne County get nastier and more difficult cases than rural judges.
He replied: "That's possible. But that decision ought to be made by the state. There are judges in adjoining jurisdictions handling the same kinds of cases with disproportionate salaries.

"That is not to say you don't have a point. But it (the salary-setting decision) ought to be made at a central Williams feels the same way about fees for court-appointed defense lawyers. "Payment of trial counsel is a very difficult question. They (judges and the State Bar) felt trial counsel are underpaid; that their fees are reflective of what's being paid rather than what should be paid."

The $29 million tab that he wants the state to pick up would include $9.1 million for court-appointed lawyers and another $3.2 million for appellate couhsel - a total of $12.3 million for law-

"This is an area that invites supervision," Williams said.

BROKEN DOWN another way, the $29 million would mean about $15 million for circuit courts (major civil cases, divorces, felony cases), $4 million for probate courts (wills, juvenile mat-ters), 48 million for district courts and $2 million for judges' benefits. The so-called 1978 Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution re-quires the state to put 41.6 percent of its budget into aid to local units. Williams said the $25 million currently pumped into the Wayne Circuit, Detroit Recorders and 36th District courts is counted as part of the state aid ratio.

Groups like the Michigan Association of Counties like the state funding idea, said Marilyn Hall, the chief justice's administrative assistant.

Legislators have mixed feelings, and Gov. James J. Blanchard has yet to be sold. Williams approached Blanchard when both were in Detroit Monday for the swearing in of Justice Dennis Archer. As Williams tells it:

When he (Blanchard) pulled out his wallet, he wasn't sure he could pay for

Other agencies such as social services and colleges could feel a pinch if . the Legislature were to try to find $29 million more for courts.

But Williams is persistent. "It's important for the integrity of the judiciary," he said.

Supreme Court Chief Justice G. Mennen Williams is shown speaking to newspaper editors about the revival of a plan to have state government take over financing of the all courts other than federal in the state. This would mean the state would finance the courts of 555 judges including all county; state, municipal and district

Mies on legal panel to study trial delays

named 22 judges, attorneys and court administrators to a committee that will recommend ways to reduce delay in Michigan's 242 trial courts.

"The courts are so clogged with litigation that our standards need to be reviewed," said William Hampton, a Farmington Hills attorney and former Oakland Circuit judge who was named to the committee.

"We have a saying: 'Justice delayed is justice denied.' Our objective will be to establish deadlines to require cases (to be) settled or ready for trial," he said. "A byproduct of that will be to examine alternative ways to resolve problems, such as through mediation."

"The long-range objective of the Supreme Court is to reduce the amount of time it takes for cases to go through the court system," said Wayne County Circuit Judge James E. Mies of Livonia, committee member.

a delay reduction program. Among the criticism of the court system is that it takes too long to complete. Today we're seeing lawsuits we never saw 20 years ago. We must speed the wheels of justice.

"DELAY HAS been the bane of existence of people using the courts," said Chief Justice G. Mennen Williams. "Delays of more than two years, and even three or four years in a few instances, are not at all uncommon in civil cases." Williams said the committee will Williams said the committee, officially known as the Caseflow Management Coordinating Committee, will consider a three-point program aimed at reducing delay in the state's 55 circuit courts, 101 district courts, 79 probate courts, six municipal courts and one recorder's court.

The course will emphasize these basic concepts: each person with arthritis is different; there is no right treatment for everyone; having arthritis is not a hopeless situation — there are many ways a person with arthritis can feel better; and with education, an arthritis sufferer can determine which selfmanagement techniques are best for him or her. The course will cover exercise, joint protection, medication, nutrition and relaxation.

Our home mortgage interest rates are the lowest in six years!

It's a great time to buy a house.

At Standard Federal, we're now offering 15-year and 30-year fixed rate loans at our lowest rates in six years!

The interest rates shown on the chart are based on the payment of a 2% loan discount fee. You can obtain an even lower rate by paying a higher loan discount fee.

15-YEAR FIXED RATE LOAN 10.25% on 10

30-YEAR FIXED RATE LOAN 1113% annual nercentage

By acting now, you can take advantage of our low mortgage interest rates to purchase that new home you've always wanted.

You can apply for a new mortgage loan at any Standard Federal office. Stop by and talk to one of our mortgage counselors about a new mortgage that will be just right for you.

Or it's a great time to refinance your present mortgage.

Even if you already own a home, you can take advantage of our low mortgage interest rates by refinancing your current loan. Chances are that we can save you thousands of dollars in interest and lower your monthly payment!

Here's an example of how much someone who obtained a 30-year loan for $50,000.00 at 12.75% (13.18% APR) interest in March of 1983 could save by refinancing that loan with a new 15-year loan at Standard Federal today.

The homeowners in this example had monthly principal and interest payments of $543.35. If they continue to pay on that loan until it matures, they will pay an additional $127,623.27 in interest. However, by obtaining a 15-year fixed rate loan now at 10.25% (10.78% APR) they will save $80,001.22 in interest. What's more, they will be able to pay off their mortgage 12 years sooner, and their monthly payment on the new 15-year loan will actually be $3.74 less than the payment on their old 30-year loan.

*All of the annual percentage rates in the above example are estimated based on a $50,000 00 loan with a down payment of at least 20%. The term of the loan and all of the normal prepaid finance charges (including a 2% loan discount fee) were taken into consideration in calculating these annual percentage rates.

If these same homeowners wanted to reduce their monthly principal and interest payments even more, they could obtain a 30-year loan from Standard Federal at 10.75% (11.13% APR). In this case, they would reduce their monthly payments by $81.20 and still save $10,758.66 in interest over the remaining term of their new loan.

The interest rates shown above are subject to change. So, now is the time! Stop in at any Standard Federal office and talk to one of our mortgage counselors to see just how much you can save.

Drugs in the work place A blue- and white-collar problem

By Tom Henderson staff writer

How big a problem is drug and alcohol use in the work place? How big is $98 billion? That's the estimated cost of lost productivity nationally because of drug-related problems by workers, according to U.S. Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y.

"It saps American production by more than $98 billion, or 3 percent of our gross national product, and every year adds $37 billion to health-care expenses," D'Amato, former chairman of the congressional Joint Economic Committee, said in a speech to the American Corrections Associa-

That averages out to $450 a year for every man, woman and child in the U.S.

D'Amato isn't alone when it comes to startling statistics. Repeated studies by private industry, health groups and government show that the drug problem is enormous, taking a toll in lost work time, increased health costs to the user, increased health costs to innocent victims of drug-related accidents on the job and shoddy products that must be scrapped or repaired.

The Michigan Substance Abuse Information Center says the drain on the state's economy is about $2 billion annually

"UNTIL RECENTLY, I don't think anybody realized how big a problem it is," said Lt. Michael Robinson of the Michigan State Police. Robinson, based in Livonia, is the commander of the state police narcotics unit ir the eastern half of the state.

"It's a lot more widespread than anyone thought," Robinson said. "I had no idea, and I've been involved in narcotics enforcement since 1972. When I saw the figures, I was just amazed. It seemed incredible. And all the studies are coming up with the same figures."

Dr. Michael Walsh, an assistant director of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, testified last month before a health and safety subcommittee of the House Education and Labor Committee that studies by the United Auto Workers and the auto industry show that about 35 percent of auto workers take drugs or alcohol on the job.

Walsh said that 35-40 percent of the auto industry's health-care costs are drug related, and that such use adds $175 to the cost of the average U.S.-built car in lost productivity and added health-care costs.

That cost does not include other drug-related problems such as worker theft or poor job performance and substandard products.

ACCORDING TO ROBINSON, drug use is rampant throughout American business. "The problem cuts across all strata of the work force," he said. "It's not just the people in the assembly line. That's especially true

He said alcohol and drug abuse are the same problem.

"That's what I teach in my seminars," said Robinson, who conducted a seminar on drug use in the work place at Ma lonna College in November. "Alcohol has to be looked at as a drug."

Robinson said that, depending on the study, 20-38 percent of American workers use drugs on the job. "And that doesn't include how many are using drugs at home and leaving them there when they come to work.'

Robinson said that job performance is affected dramatically by drug and alcohol use. He said that workers who use drugs or alcohol on the

JEANNE KNOPF DeROCHE, a former teacher, formed the Knopf Co. in Plymouth a year ago as a counseling agency focusing on the needs of families affected by chemical dependency of one or more members.

DeRoche has training programs for schools, communities and industry, and runs support groups at nine clinics in Wayne County for children growing up with chemically dependent parents.

"One of the difficulties when dealing with chemical dependency is the myth that it a lower socioeconomic problem. Executives are more protected, and drinking is more accepted. It's easy to drink in the afternoon when the secretary can say you're out for the afternoon. Blue-collar people can't do that."

DeRoche said that alcohol is by far the biggest problem, "but we see fewer old-time alcoholics anymore. Few use just one drug. Among many young people, marijuana is assumed to be a given in their lifestyle. And at a white-collar level, cocaine is assumed, too. It's considered one of the benefits of doing a job well. At parties for young executives, it is often assumed that cocaine will be there, just as you wouldn't have some parties without alcohol."

DeRoche said that despite recent publicity about the dangers of cocaine addiction, "We've just seen the beginning of the problem. As the price continues to go down, it will be more and more available to hourly

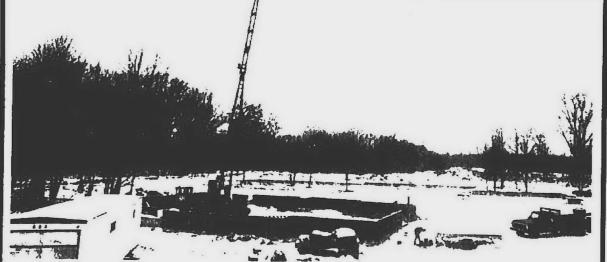

DeRoche said that businesses have begun to address the problem with employee-assistance programs. She said the old way of solving the problem - firing the worker - doesn't work. That worker's drug dependency hasn't been dealt with, and the replacement worker may have a prob-

She said the auto companies and Detroit Edison are examples of companies with progressive programs aimed at treating the worker and keeping him on the job.

"JOBS ARE VERY important to most people," Robinson said. "More important than their marriage, their family, their homes, more important than anything. Drug abusers will ruin their families, their wives will leave them, they'll lose their kids, but they'll still go to work every day. The job is the last thing you give up. People will get in the programs once their jobs are hanging in the balance."

Technique or mystique?

Will the real Lee Iacocca please stand up?

Portrayed as everything from villain to wizard. Iacocca is one of the most talked-about executives this area has seen. But if you read his best-seller, "Iacocca: An Autobiography," it's apparent that there are tales still to be told about the former Ford Motor Co. president who brought Chrysler Corp. from disaster to respectability again.

And that's where Maynard Gordon's "The Iacocca Management Technique" (Dodd, Mead) fits in. Gordon, a Framington Hills resident, chronicles the Chrysler years from the time Walter P. Chrysler founded the company to the post-bailout years. As a former news editor of Automotive News and now publisher of the weekly newsletter, Motor News Analysis, Gordon is well equipped to provide the reader (especially those who don't live and die with every Big Three decision) with the scorecard that identifies the players. But it's the history that sometimes gets in the way of interpreting Iacocca as a manager

The difference between Iacocca's management technique and personal style is fuzzy, and Gordon has a hard Jime distinguishing between the two. But the Iacocca trademark is unmistakable; Gordon tells us he sees the role of the manager as twofold: to decide and to manage. Iacocca's method in-

business books

- Assembly of a staff of loyalists. Good rapport with the media.
- Development of a strong system of financial, instead of accounting, con-

Emphasis on products.

WHAT DISTINGUISHES Gordon's book from the autobiography is Gordon's attempt to tell the other side of the story. For many of Iacocca's techniques, Gordon has found somebody (ofttimes unnamed) willing to criticize Iacocca's quarterly reviews were referred to as management by intimidation; others saw them as discouraging teamwork out of fear that somebody might get a better grade than another; the top-down management style flies in the face of quality work circles; his outspokenness on Reagan's economic policies is portrayed as hurting Chrysler rather than helping it. Iacocca's ego takes a beating in the book, and his firing of Chrysler staffers is described as ruthless by some.

The book also points out a few lacocca failures and foibles: his loading of the K-cars with optional equipment, which placed them out of reach for many buyers following the car's introduction, his attempt at a Chrysler-Ford merger, his inconsistency in opposing the General Motors-Toyota merger for the production of the Nova while loading his products with foreign parts.

It's clear that the Chrysler comeback probably couldn't have happened without the man who pedals his own products in tough-talking messages. And Gordon acknowledges that. But, in keeping with the theme of his book, Gordon rewards his readers with a chapter on Ford AI - after Iacocca. His contrast and comparison of Iacocca and Ford chairman Donald E. Petersen demonstrates that a flamboyant management approach is not necessarlly better. Matching the manager with the situation is more important. And along with Gordon, the reader gets to speculate on Chrysler's future following Iacocca's departure.

One of the strong points of the book is Gordon's restraint — considering the topic, probably not an easy task. He paints Iacocca neither as a total saint nor total sinner. And he pretty much sticks to evaluation of Iacocca as Chryler president and chairman - not as possible presidential candidate or patron saint of the Statue of Liberty. For persons who are interested in the nuts and bolts of the Chrysler rescue without the hype, the Gordon book is one to add to the library.

M-275 expansion pushed

By Tim Richard

Platted land is in short supply as the house-building industry gets ready for a strong 1986. But buyer demand still is strong and mortgage money is available, say industry leaders.

"There is no area with a surplus of lots," said Irving Yackness, general counsel of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, though demand is strong in northern and western Oakland County and western Wayne Coun-BASM PRESIDENT Fred Greenspan, who heads his own Southfieldbased development company, called on governmental leaders to build more suburban sewer's.

The group strongly advocated extending the long-delayed M-275 freeway into Novi and Commerce Township in western Oakland County. Yackness called Haggerty Road which borders Farmington Hills and West Bloomfield on the west, and Novi and Commerce on the east - "hazardous for emergency services" because of its congestion. M-275 would follow roughly the Haggerty corridor across western Oakland County. But the BASM official praised Wayne County for moving ahead on 'super sewer" in the Haggerty Road corridor south of Eight Mile Road.

THE BUILDERS repeated more forcefully than ever their standing complaint that suburban communities are zoning too much land for large to 10,570 units this year, although houses of the larger families of the '50s and not enough for the smaller households and singles who loom larger in today's market.

'Communities don't follow demand," said BASM past president Paul Robertson Jr., a condo developer from Bloomfield Hills. "Household sizes are down. Consumers want smaller housing." Greenspan said communities want to zone for four-bedroom houses, but the demand is for a one-floor, three-bedroom house with attached garage. If buyers want smaller houses, they also want such luxury touches as fancier tile and fireplaces, added Dick-

GREENSPAN OPENED BASM's annual news conference with a prediction that the industry would expand a mild 3 percent this year compared to a 51 percent leap in 1985.

The wildly gyrating market for single-family houses hit a high of more than 19,000 in the region in 1978, plummeted to barely 1,700 in the recession year of 1982 and was back up to 10,262

Because of supply factors, Greenspan predicted the 3 percent increase

Issuing the most building permits will be Rochester Hills, Farmington Hills, Novi, Auburn Hills, West Bloomfield Township, all in Oakland County, and northwestern Wayne County, BASM leaders said. ## Higher interest rate is possible

If you have got savings parked in money-market mutual funds these days, you are probably receiving low

Luckily, there is a cure: Switch to something with a longer maturity to get a higher return.

Most money funds are yielding about 7 percent right now, down from more than 10 percent a year ago. But there are a number of attractive and safe alternatives that pay 9 percent or more annually

For example, three-year U.S. Treasury notes are yielding 9.2 percent, and six-year notes are just under 10.3 percent. Rates on longer-term treasuries don't get much higher, so you have little incentive to move into something with a longer maturity, such as bonds.

Meanwhile, Ginnie Mae certificates, mortgages bundled together by the Government National Mortgage Association, are returning 10.5 to 13.5 per-

Many banks are offering 21/2-year certificates of deposits (CDs) with an effective yield of more than 10 percent after compounding.

Some risks

In order to get a higher return, however, you must give up something. With finances and you Sid a money-market fund, you can get your money out as quickly as you can write a check. The money in a money-market mutual fund may not earn as much, but it is extremely liquid and will not drop in face value.

When you lock up your money for a longer period of time, you sacrifice the instant liquidity of a money-market fund and the assurance that your investment won't drop in value.

If you tie up your money to get higher interest rates, you lose the liquidity and you assume a risk that the value of your investment will decrease. If general interest rates rise, the market value of a fixed Treasury note or Ginnie Mae declines.

In the case of a bank CD, your principal is guaranteed, but you might find yourself stuck with a relatively low return at a time when higher rates are available. And if you cash in your CD before it expires, you will be charged a penalty in the form of lower interest.

Where can you go?

Treasury notes can be bought from the broker, a bank or directly through Federal Reserve Bank office in De-

Treasury bills maturing in less than four years come in $5,000 units or larger. Notes of longer duration can be bought in $1,000 increments.

The minimum for a Ginnie Mae-certificate is $25,000. One pecularity of Ginnie Mae is that your monthly check contains both income and a partial repayment of principal. You are then faced with the task of reinvesting that principal.

A more convenient way to take advantage of these higher-yield opportunities is to buy shares of a fixed-income mutual fund that invests in treasury instruments, Ginnie Maes or a combination of the two. .

Shares of these funds can be bought or sold at any time in small amounts.

For Ginnie Maes, the interest and principal payouts are automatically reinvested

One important point: Mutual funds fluctuate in price when interest rates change, just like the actual instruments. If rates rise, the value of the fund will drop.

But if rates decline, the share price rises and your total return also increases because of capital gains on some of the holdings.

Members FDIC.

I am a small and independent investor. Your last column worried me. You said you expected to see the Dow Industrials at 2,000 before they would get to 1.000.

I've had gains of 20-25 percent on my stocks in the last six months, and I am wondering if I should hold until the Dow reaches 2,000 or sell before it goes to 1,000.

I own shares in Wal-Mart, Zayre, Woolworth and Walgreens. The last one hasn't given me much gain.

I also have Ford! Ford has given me a lot of profit, and I would like to switch that money to AT&T.

I really would like to sell all my present stocks and just buy blue chips. It seems to me like the part of the market that really moves are the 30 stocks in the Dow and that is where I would like to be. I would appreciate your thoughts.

Before I comment on the questions in your letter, I would like to compliment you on the stocks you picked to put your money in. You have done an excellent job of picking companies with good records and paying a sensible price for them.

It was not my intention to suggest that I thought the market was going to 1,000. I was trying to say that to me it looked like the market was much more inclined to go up than to go down.

I believe that individuals who invest in stocks with records that show they are moving ahead and are likely to be worth substantially more five years in today's investor Thomas E. O'Hara of the National Association of Investors Corp.

the future, are better off holding those stocks than trying to switch out of stocks and then buy back into them.

AS INVESTORS, WE buy individual stocks and not the market. Our job is to be satisfied that the stocks we own have the potential to double in five years, rather than to get out because we have a profit of a certain magni-

You are correct in stating that an upward movement in the market is often lead by the blue chips, but it is normal for that leadership to then switch to the secondary stocks.

LET'S LOOK AT the stocks you own. Wal-Mart has been one of the fastestgrowing companies in the retail business, and it has not shown any signs of slowing up. It does sell at a price earnings ratio well above average.

If it has become a major part of your portfolio, you might move about a quarter of it into another stock with a good growth rate but which is smaller.

Zayre and Walgreens have good records but are not growing as fast. They seem likely to do well, but not as spectacularly as Wal-Mart. Woolworth has done a lot of restructuring and seems to be headed in the right direction.

IT WILL TAKE a couple more years to gain confidence in its ability to continue to move ahead. You are heavily in the retail business, and I would favor looking into other industries. Study the model portfolio in Better Investing Magazine for other ideas.

Regarding Ford, the auto industry is very cyclical, but my guess is that stock prices will go higher. I'd hedge and just move half of your Ford money Thomas E. ## State's small businesses may be overlooking U.S. aid

Small Michigan businesses may be missing the boat on paying for their science- and technologybased companies because of ignorance of Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) grants pro-

"One of the major challenges facing entrepreneurs today is obtaining seed capital to get a new business off the ground. The SBIR grants offer a significant source of funding for these new ventures," said Robert Scharff of Peat Marwick's De-

The SBIR grants program is designed to stimulate technological innovation by allocating federal research and development funds to smaller science- and technology-based companies. Grants, contracts and cooperative agreements are used for SBIR awards. Since its beginning in 1983, smaller businesses have received awards totaling $200 million. Through 1987, some $1.3 billion in awards will have been distributed.

A survey of first-year SBIR award winners conducted by Peat Marwick's National High Technology Practice and Small Business High Technology Institute shows that the typical SBIR company is five years old, has fewer than 50 employees, and revenues of less than $5 million a year. Winning firms span the small business spectrum - from design firms (8 percent) and consulting firms (20 percent), to manufacturers (31 percent) and research and development contract houses (61 per-

Nearly 70 percent of the winning companies has already conducted business with the federal gov-- mostly in th form of procurement contracts. One-quarter were winners in the National Science Foundations's predecessor SBIR grants

But companies lacking government experience should not be deterred from applying for the grants," Scharff said. "The grants are a viable capital source for many more would-be entrepreneurs and emerging companies."

THE SURVEY found that most of the winning firms were formed more than three years ago (81 percent). Fifteen percent had been in business from one to two years, and 1 percent less than a year.

The majority (80 percent) expected total revenues for the current year of less than $5 million. • Twenty-eight percent expected $1-5 million; 23 percent $250,000 to $1 million; 21 percent up to $250,000; and 8 percent expected no revenues.

More than half the awards are being used for applied research. Twenty-nine percent are directing awards toward basic research and 20 percent on applied engineering.

"One misconception about the SBIR grants is that research topics are too high-tech oriented. This is not true. Certainly, some grants are being directed toward the development of advanced technologies. But many are being used for service-related projects and applications of technologies," Scharff AWARDS ARE divided into three phases. Phase I generally provides up to $50,000 for six months of feasibility-related experimental or theoretical re-

Phase II, aimed at financing the development of prototype products or services, provides up to $500,000 of two years of related research and development for those Phase I products found most promising. In Phase III, provate sector capital sources (or government contracts) are used to commercialize the new technologies.

SBIR grant proposals must respond to a particular research need of one of the 12 participating federal agencies. There are more than 1,000 research topics for which companies can submit proposals.

Companies interested in participating in the SBIR program should:

• Write to the U.S. Small Business Administration and ask to be put on their mailing list for Pre-Solicitation Announcements (PSA). Contact the SBA's Office of Innovation, Research and Technology, 1441 L Street NW,Room 500, Washington, D.C. 20416.

• Review the PSAs and determine which agency's research needs best match the company's ca-

· Prior to submission, ensure that the proposal conforms to specific agency requirements.

Peat Marwick has two publications on the SBIR grants program: a free eight-page "Executive Summary" and a 60-page guidebook, "Small Business Innovation Research Grants: How to Obtain Them to Finance Your Ideas," at $5 per copy. To order these publications or a summary of the survey results, write S. Thomas Moser, National Director High Technology Practice, Peat Marwick, 345 Park Ave., Box LT, New York, N.Y. 10154.

From St. Paul to Plymouth, winter is to enjoy

IT IS EXACTLY 100 years since a New York City newspaperman visited St. Paul, Minn., in the middle of winter and described it as "another Siberia, unfit for human

That uncharitable comment prompted the first St. Paul Winter Carnival, which celebrates its 100th anniversary Jan. 22 through

The centennial will be highlighted by a majestic 15-story high ice palace, the ultimate in ice sculptures. It may win the prize for the biggest and most ambitious ice sculpture in the land, but it is only one of the hundreds of winter celebrations taking place this winter across the continent.

The theory seems to be: If you must live in a cold, white world, you might as well enjoy it. Some winter lovers also believe that going crazy in a winter carnival setting is the only way to keep your sanity during a long cold winter.

THE THIRD annual Plymouth ice scuplture spectacular, which will take place this weekend and next in Plymouth, Mich., was selected as one of the top 100 events in North America by the American Bus Association. It will dominate the town square and the streets of Plymouth Jan. 11-12 and Jan. 18-The first Sat-trips from British Airways, Eastern Airlines and New York Air. The students will split several thousand dollars in scholarships, ice carving tools and chain saws.

Six professional chefs from Sapporo, Japan, will be there, sponsored by Japan Airlines.

One of the most interesting of the weeklong activities will be multiblock displays, in which construction cranes will lift 125 blocks of ice, weighing more than 400 pounds each, to make a giant sculpture. If you would like to be in on that one, call Paul Sincock at 453-1234.

For more information about the Ice Spectacular itself, contact the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540.

THE 1986 St. Paul Winter Carnival includes everything you ever imagined could be done in winter snow, and some things that never occurred to you. Ice scupitures of every kind will fill the downtown area and some of the outlying frozen lakes, reflecting the lights that the activities that go on around

Carnival goers will do everything possible on ice: launch hot air balloons, play softball, cross-country ski, race cars, hold parades and pageants. The fun and games are built around the legend of King Boreas, who personifies the blustery north wind and the battle between winter and spring.

Boreas pits his powers against Vulcanas the God of Fire. The "Vulcan Krewe," seven costumed pranksters, create as much mis-decorate every city building and chief as possible throughout the city. Everything culminates at the Ice Palace.

There have been 13 ice palaces in St. Paul since that winter-hating New York City newspaperman prompted the first carnival, the last major ice palace in 1941. None will equal this one however. The first block of ice was laid this week. It will take 50,000 blocks of glassy ice to build the 15 levels and

Making work a laughing matter

MILE AND the whole world smiles with you.

Frown and you could be stifling your creativity, hampering your ability to learn and repressing your body's natural pain killers.

The Rehabilitation Institute (RI) in Detroit has found laughter to be one of the best medicines, according to Dan Tomaszewski. He is the director of education for the institute, which treats physically disabled patients.

"People heal faster when they laugh." That's the bottom line," he

WITH THAT in mind, his department set up a Light Brigade of employees, who encourage patients to look on the bright side. It's a difficult task, considering that the patients are being treated for such afflictions as strokes, spinal-cord injuries, amputations and closed-head injuries.

'We let people know it's OK to laugh because a lot of people feel laughter is allowed only at certain times," Tomaszewski said.

"Most of our patients have gone through severe changes in lifestyle. Sometimes people forget how important humor is at a time like this. They only focus on the negative things."

Since humor is contagious, the RI also organizes Staff Laffs in which institute employees are encouraged to enjoy a few good hearty belly laughs.

'There is a ripple effect," said Nancy Schmitt, RI's patient education coordinator. "If the staff feel good, they're going to go back to the patients and help them feel good."

The institute recently put on its second annual Staff Laff, with fun consultant Pat Poole of New York City leading the employees through a session of non-competitive games called New Games.

In one game, Hagoo, two people would try to maintain a stone face while everybody around them tried to make them laugh. In another, Build a Machine, they attempted to make a machine, such as a photocopier, with their bodies. In another, People to People, the staff stood in a circle, looking at each other while they clapped Fun consultant Pat Poole leads Rehabilitation Institute employees through New Games designed to hone their senses of humor.

The Staff Laff gave Rehabiliation institute employees the chance to act silly on the theory that laug good for body and soul.

"When people get inside the circle, they tend to forget they have something else to think about, as long as they can focus on someone else looking silly," Poole said.

LIFE IS not all fun and games for Poole. A native Detroiter, she has a full-time job as data manager of the radiation oncology department at Columbia University in New York.

But she also has been involved in running New Games sessions on the side since 1978. One of the developers of the New Games, Joel Goodman, conducted the institute's first Staff Laff last year.

Poole said she's found that besides giving people a license to laugh, the New Games allow people to open up to their co-workers.

"If something is preventing an office from progressing, it gives people an opportunity to air their frustrations through games. It might loosen people up to the point where they can say, 'Hey, this has been bothering Tomaszewski said games and humor are a great way of "melting down" the negativity that holds people in depression.

"It's impossible for a person to say, 'I'm depressed' and raise their arms in a game at the same time," he said.

RESEARCH HAS shown that laughter brings all kind of benefits to the laugher, he said ..

"The physical act of laughing stimulates the release of endorphins in the body, which are natural pain killers," he said. "It also increases creativity and increases your ability to learn. And it helps you build rela-Schmitt said the institute has used

But, before we do, some good news for one and all. Many of you have been depressed lately because your favorite butcher shop closed its doors. Well, call in the clowns, put on your happy face, and dig out your noise makers . . . guess what? Boy you sure are great guessers! Yes, indeed, John's Butcher Block on Warren and Lilley is open again. Yes, Carol is still there.

The new owners are brothers Bill and Terry Lyon who are real excited about their new "adventure" venture. I have met one of the brothers, and I think he has the Canton Spirit - he is ready and willing to do whatever it takes to keep the customer happy. As a matter of fact, before I ever met him, I was on my way to see if the store was open and saw him carrying out a lady's groceries to her car. In winter, mind you! Now that's the Canton Spirit!

Welcome to Canton, hope you'll be around for a long time! And Canton, what do you say we get on over there and give them a big Canton welcome and let them and every business that opens in Canton know that we're glad

DOING THIS COLUMN I have become very aware of how important it is that we patronize our community

When I first moved here everyone was determined to shop in Plymouth, and support the local stores. We still do that today, but we have several businesses right here in Canton that differ from those in Plymouth, and it would behoove each of us to give them a try when we see one open. Drop in and see what they have to offer. Someday you may need what they have and they will have closed because you never stopped in. Oh how I seem to love putting the pressure on you for social responsibility . . . maybe it's a mean streak in me venting itself at a late age.

NOW BACK TO keeping '85 alive!

I do believe we left off in early May enjoying our great success with the Beautification Committee's seedling give-away. However, and wouldn't you know I'd find a however. The however I refer to is the pitiful response to our blood drive. There in the line at the township hall stood literally hundreds of people waiting to receive their free seedlings, and only 73 people in the entire township tried to donate blood. Only 65 of those 73 were able to donate, for one reason or another (things like a recent illness, a certain medication they may be taking, or even low blood pressure that day can result in them being turned down but they can rest peacefully knowing that they at least

The really terrible part is that the number 73 includes people who had previous appointments set up, and the drop-ins from the long seedling line! The sickening thing is that the line had to pass by the donation area to get to the free seedlings. My hat is off to those who gave, my plea is out to those who missed for whatever reason. Try again this year.

Remember three things: (1) dying, or loosing a loved one, hurts much more than the pain you receive while donating; (2) you cannot get AIDS or anything else by donating; (3) most importatnly, you must try to help out, it really is necessary for everyone who can, to help. I must confess as I stated before, I cannot donate. I have tried, but they don't want my blood. But my son and my husband are both multi-gallon donors and have a whole collection of the beautiful gold "Blood Drops" - the pins they give you to show for it. My son Brian had a full gallon donated before his first year of eligibility was up. One piece of advice I'd like to pass on to you from my veteran donors . . . try to get the eldest lady working to take your blood, they usually have a much better technique. It usually is much less painful, if you get my drift. Now if that doesn't give you the strength . . . I

I tried to challenge the various groups (the Kiwanis, Jaycees and the Lions) to take on a project. Perhaps I was too late; maybe we could try again this year since we have more advance warning. I'll get started nagging now.

As May progressed we saw the re-vowing of Barb and Denny Timmmerman, as they spoke their wedding vows at St. John Neumann Catholic Church returned home to a lovely buffet pre- al racer was about to be rewarded as mention the suite at the Plymouth Hilton with champagne breakfast, a gift from Barb's boss Dr. Ronald Kraynek. Judy Karpinski, another Cantonite extraordinare, was promoted to assistant head nurse at the Samaritan Health Center which is an $86 million facility resulting from the merger of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital of Detroit and Deaconess Hospital, now located on Connor between Shoemaker and Warren.

And we congratulated Michelle Merritt on making the Canton Chiefettes cheerleading squad! Who will, or can, ever forget all the excitement as we host our International Soccer Tournament each year. The same weekend we saw the grand opening of our first movie theater Cinema Six. That was a wonderful night . . . as it turned out all the movies were free.

Cliff Lambert, who never fails to make his parents proud, departed for a one month tour of Great Britain, singing with the Chamber Choir from Liberty College where he was, naturally, on the dean's list.

It was then finally time to start looking forward to the plant and flower sale at the Canton Historical Museum. With spring also came the vocal concert of the Midwest Harmony Chapter of the Sweet Adelines to which many women from Canton belong.

FINALLY, ONE OF the most heartwarming stories I have covered - the long and hard strugle of one of before the Rev. Edward Baldwin, and our Cantonites to become a profession-pared by neighbors and family, not to Jim Hull was to race in the Miller Highlife 400.

He had a car contracted and had fought tooth and nail to get sponsors. We had watched Jim's racing career for three years starting at Waterford. He began his "Vision Quest" after loosing his spot on the Washington Redskins due to brain cancer. Now back in full flower with a bubbly, lovely wife. June, backing him all the way, and sponsors they really call friends paying $12 apiece to be part of the comeback trail, Jim was on his way to Kellogg Park where the names of all his friends and family would be printed on the car while everyone could get a close look at a real race car, and the huge 18wheeler that carried it and the equipment, not to mention talk with the driver, and the members of his pit crew. It was a wonderful day. Even Channel 2 came to cover the happy event.

Well we are halfway through the year and into our second week of January. I'm not rushing this because very little happens around here in January. So I'm taking the time to mention all of you one more time, and perhaps remind you about some annual community projects that we didn't know about until too late last year.

See you next week. Enjoy the snow and keep warm. And, oh yes, keep a good thought for my daughter Tammi, once again going in for knee surgery tomorrow. Good Luck Baby, hope this does it for you. Love and prayers from all the family. Cards can be mailed to 43147 Ironsides Court, Canton MI

It's a sad fact, but some people face

When they're released from a hospital following treatment, there is no one at home to offer emotional and physical support.

'Often we've found that patients return to the hospital sooner than they would if they had someone to assist them," said Carol Munsell of the Michigan Cancer Foundation (MCF).

Even if the patients do have a family at home, it's often impossible for some-one to be there at all times to provide

THE VOLUNTEERS will offer assistance with the activities of daily living, help with shopping or errands and provide respite care so other members of the family can leave home for short periods of time.

Above all, the patient will have someone at home who cares, Munsell

"I've always been interested in home care, and when this came along I thought that this was just the perfect thing."

Potential volunteers will undergo an initial screening with Munsell. The volunteers will need to have adequate transportation - and the ability to empathize with others.

"We're looking for someone who is sensitive and caring. They need to be mature and have good communication skills.

THOSE WHO pass the initial screening will participate in a 10-week training program, beginning in January, at the MCF Oakland Service Center, 2611 N. Woodward, Berkley.

The program will cover how to care for patients at home, communication and listening, spiritual and legal concerns and bereavement.

"They'll also be told about cancer, how it starts and spreads, so they can help out a lot better."

When the training period is completed, the volunteers will be assigned to a cancer patient near where they live. The volunteers will work with only that one patient and be expected to spend a minimum of three hours per week in the patient's home.

For more information on becoming a home-care volunteer, call Munsell at 833-0710, Exts. 206 or 291, or the Regional MCF Service Center at 336-4110.

Miller's fate buoyed by unbeaten attitude

TARTING OVER is never easy. A handful of elite athletes are going to learn that in a few months.

Guys like Southfield's Torin Dorn, Westland's Tony Boles, Farmington's Brian Smolinski, Birmingham's Marc Spencer and Troy's John Locker have labored to establish themselves on the football field at the high school level. Their payoff comes now, as college recruiters coddle egos and magnify abilities.

What these young stallions must remember is that by next fall, what they accomplished in high school won't mean diddly.

They will be college freshmen. As such, they will learn more in one year than they have in their previous 18.

The adjustment is never easy. For freshmen expected to contribute athletically, the pressure is even greater.

ASK JOHN MILLER.

Remember the name? Certainly - it hasn't been that long. Miller was arguably the greatest prep football player ever produced within the confines of the Observer & Eccentric coverage

He was the most sought-after player in the state last year. Speed, size, strength, smarts - he had it all. And he took them with him to Michigan

Such a star is bound for instant success, right? Could it be any other way? By midseason he'll be a starter. By his sophomore year, all-Big Ten. By his junior year, All-American. By his senior year

It doesn't happen like that, except in Gil Thorpe comics. And fortunately, Miller never thought it

"I played a lot more than I expected," Miller said Monday. "I played more than any other freshman, except Andre (Rison, a starting receiver). I got to play against Iowa, I played some in prevent defense situations, and I played on special teams.

"People asked me what I expected when I came to MSU. My goal was to make the travel team, which I did. I didn't want to get redshirted, and I wanted to earn my letter."

SOUNDS LIKE Miller set his sights low, expecting the worst. But in reality, Miller's vision was crystal clear. To be successful in college football takes more than inborn ability. It takes time - time to learn, to gain experience, to develop.

Miller backed up Paul Bobbitt (from Southfield-Lathrup) at strong safety for the Spartans. When Bobbitt sprained an ankle in the second series of the lowa game, Miller took over.

He was slated to start the following week against University of Michigan. But Dean Altobelli "had a really good week of practice, so he got the start," Miller said. Altobelli performed he returned.

How did Miller react to the disappointment? In a fashion typical to him: "I would have loved to get in there, but I was happy for Dean. He's a junior, and he's been working hard for a long Others may have expected more from Miller. but the former Hawk knew what obstacles confronted him. "Looking at my season, I could say things could have been better if I'd knocked down that pass against Iowa or blocked a punt,'

DOES THAT mean Miller isn't as good as he was cracked up to be? Is he another great high school player who couldn't cut it in college?

Such pressures have been layered on Miller's sturdy shoulders for the past three years. He's handled it - outwardly, at least.

Inside it's another story. As the football season drew to a close, Miller couldn't keep food down. The lower end of his esophagus, the tube that carries food to the stomach, was contracting.

Miller's weight dropped from 198 to 174. He consulted an Ann Arbor specialist, who decided surgery was needed. Miller underwent a 31/2 hour operation in which doctors sliced away the muscle causing the problem. "They attributed it to stress," Miller said. "At first I didn't agree with them because I didn't think the pressures had bothered me. But after talking to them, I thought maybe they were right.

They said I held it in." THE OPERATION kept Miller from going to the All-American Bowl. "I got out of the hospital the day before the game," he said. "It was really tepressing. But guys on the team called me, and coach (George) Perles even called me the day of he game. "Every day I was in the hospital, I realized how mportant it was to me that they called. It showed hey did care." Miller is hoping to recover by spring drills. He won't be able to lift weights for two to three months, which could impede his development.

But as always, Miller remains optimistic. "I feel comfortable with what I accomplished this year," he said. "I've got a long way to go, but I'll have to just keep plugging away. I want to make this the best four years of my life."

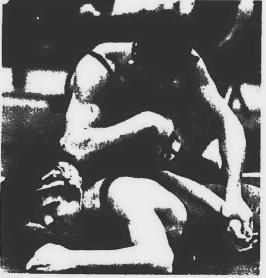

But first, there's a long rehabilitation period. He must regain the strength he lost and more ("I wasn't nearly strong enough this year"). A lot of disappointment and heartache are entrenched between Miller and his goals.

So what's his approach? "I'm glad. I'd hate to think I've reached my peak. I'm looking forward to what's ahead." How can such a person possibly fail? Take note, high school seniors. Your first college lesson is provided courtesy of John Miller, superstar.

'B' champs rule Salem mats

Both Salem's Fred Calma (bottom in white) and Catholic Central's Lee Krueger (top right) took a pounding in their championship matches during the Salem Invitational Wrestling Tournament Saturday. More important, both scored points by getting to the finals. Krueger helped CC place second overall and Calma helped Salem take third. Eaton Rapids won the tourney.

Dameron MVP, Rocks lose battle for 2nd to CC

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Ron Krueger was not surprised after Eaton Rapids won its second consecutive Plymouth Salem Invitational Wrestling Tournament Saturday. He predicted it a week ago. He also predicted that Montrose, Redford Catholic Central and his Salem team would be in the chase.

The man knows a little something about wrestling.

Eaton Rapids, defending Class B state champs, placed first in four weight classes and accumulated 213 points to win the 13th annual Salem mat war with relative ease.

"They pretty much had it wrapped up going into the evening (consolation and final) matches, Krueger said.

But the battle for second and third place raged until the final weight class. Catholic Central won that battle scoring 187½ points to Salem's 172. Montrose placed fourth (103½). See statistical summary for complete results.

"I'm happy, I guess," Krueger said of the outcome. "Although, I feel there were times when we went head up with Catholic Central and should have beaten them. Our kids weren't ready, though I don't want to take anything away from CC. We have some room for

A BIG swing between the two teams, according to Krueger, came in the last two weight classes. At heavyweight, CC's Toby Heaton placed third, beating Salem's Richard Johnson who placed sixth. Salem also lost key points at 200 pounds where the Rocks didn't enter a

'That's about a 34-point swing," Krueger said.

Several other Observerland teams made strong showings in the 16-team meet. Garden City placed in a sixthplace tie with Portage Northern, each amassing 60 1/2 points. Wayne Memorial placed eighth (51 1/2) while North Farmington and Westland John Glenn tied for ninth with 48 points.

"Hey, we even had a celebrity in the stands," Krueger said. "Dale Barr, the University of Michigan wrestling coach was there. That's a first, I think."

Barr had to like what he saw; the weight classes were clustered with allstate talent.

At 134 pounds, two-time Class B state champ Scott Bolan from Eaton Rapids won on a 15-6 decision against Salem's Kevin Freeman. At 157, three; time state champ Mike Murdoch from Montrose decisioned Belleville's Darrel Elder 4-2 for the title. At 187, Montrose's Noel Dean, a state champ; pinned North Farmington's Brian Haack in 1:06 of their final match.

BUT, AS he has in two other tournaments this season, Salem's 128-pound Dave Dameron stole the spotlight from all the state champions. With four consecutive victories, including a pin in 3:44 of the championship match over Wayne's Rich Malta, Dameron was voted the meet's most outstanding wrestler by the 16 coaches.

"With all the people in this tournament, to have your kid chosen as the creme de la creme, well, I feel pretty good about that," Krueger said.

Ironically, Krueger didn't vote for Dave Dameron; he voted for Dave's brother Dennis, champion at 114 pounds. Dennis Dameron scored a 10-7 championship decision over Ann Arbor Pioneer's Ryan Palmisano in one of the event's most dramatic matches.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL, a young team featuring four freshman, produced two champions. Mike Gentile, one of the four freshmen, won at 100 pounds with a 11-3 decision against Eaton Rapids' Jason Matteson. Jason Wiebeck won the 121-pound title with a 4-1 victory against Fenton's Conrad Al-

The Shamrocks, who placed in the top four in all but four events, got a key second place finish from Judd Snyder at 200 pounds. Snyder was pinned in the

Rafail, Huff ignite Rocks in opener

So much for first-meet rustiness. The Plymouth Salem gymnastics team, a serious contender for the Western Lakes championship this season, opened its campaign with a 121.8-113.95 win against Westland John Glenn Monday.

In its first event of the season, the vault - one usually fraught with jittercaused falls - Salem scored an impressive 33.85.

All-Area performers Beth Rafail and Jackie Huff led the Rocks.

Rafail, a senior, won the vault with a 9.05. She also won the balance beam with a 7.85. She placed second on both the uneven parallel bars (7.45) and gymnastics coach Linda Perkins described Tana Burningham after the sophomore led the Hawks to a 119-88 victory against Walled Lake Central Monday night.

"She's just a real treasure to watch," Perkins said. "She's intense, she takes it very seriously and she has a great disposition.'

Burningham, who competed at the club level until this season, took first in all four events Monday. She won the vault with a 9.25 score. She scored an 8.3 on uneven parallel bars, an 8.6 on balance beam and an 8.0 on floor ex-

All-Area performer Tracy Solomon also had a strong meet for the Hawks. She placed second on all four events: 8.75 on vault, 7.8 on bars, 7.95 on beam and 7.7 on floor, which tied her sister, Jody Solomon.

Jody Solomon contributed a fourth on vault (7.45), a fourth on bars (6.6) and a third on beam (7.8).

The 127.35-96.15 victory improves North's record to 1-1.

All-Area performers Eileen Murtaugh, Lucine Toroyan and Kara Karhu paced the victors.

Murtaugh won three of the four events and placed second in the other. She won the vault (8.75), the beam (8.7) and the floor exercise (8.2). Her 8.05 was second in the bars. Toroyan, just getting back in shape after an illness, won the bars with an 8.4. She tied for second with Karhu on vault (8.25) and placed second on beam (8.35).

Karhu, in addition to her second on vault, placed third on bars (7.75), third on beam (7.75) and second on floor (8.0). Lisa Brundle scored a fourth on vault (7.8), a fifth on bars (6.9) and a third on

Henry's tiny Zebras ride tall

But don't bother sending a shovel to Wayne Me-'morial coach Chuck Henry, whose team, despite a lack of size, is unbeaten in its first seven games. The fourth-year coach believes teams are not measured by yardsticks, but by the goals they set and accomplish.

At the beginning of the season Henry set one for his team to be undefeated at this point. In light of small size, plus the losses of Pollis Robertson (19 points per game) and Howard Flowers (20 ppg), the Zebras have met their coach's request head-on.

"A lesser coach may not have been as successful." Wayne Memorial athletic director Bill Hawley said. "They might just say, 'Hey, we don't have any of our players back and we're only six-foot tall' and all that

"That doesn't deter him (Henry). He has a very positive attitude and it's translated to the players. When they go up against a bigger team, they think they can beat them."

BUT TAKING full credit for his team's success is not Henry's style. On that matter, he prefers to pass. "I think coaching is important," said Henry, 36, who's been one for 15 years. "But I think it has more to do with a lot of talent we've had in recent years. Closely connected to that is the chemistry of

The formula for success includes the implentation of an unrelenting man-to-man defense, for which testimonials are endless.

"WAYNE'S ONE of the teams we dislike playing because of the type defense they play," Dearborn Fordson coach John McIntyre said. "They're very fundamentally sound playing man-to-man defense. Added Hawley: "Chuck does as good a job of

At Wayne Memorial things are just fine for Henry, who has his advanced basketball class and the somewhat new Alumni Arena to hold it. In two seasons (1983-85), he's compiled a 36-11 win-loss record, including last year's 21-2 squad, including district and league titles.

For the time being, the collegiate ranks will just have to wait.

"I haven't given it up," said Henry about his col-

Henry, noted by many for the ability to get the most out of his players, believes in striking a balance between friend and disciplinarian.

"I talk a lot about goals, success and what they're going to do after school," he said. "I think they appreciate that. I'm not using these kids to get to (the University of) Michigan."

Salem pummels Churchill

Tom Niemi hopes it's a sign of things to come for his Plymouth Canton baskethall team.

The Chiefs made the shots and upset host Westland John Glenn, 62-59, Tuesday in a Western Lakes game. It was Canton's first win of the season.

"The first one's always the hardest,"

The difference was 20-point outburst by the Chiefs in the second half. The Rockets had taken a 19-12 advantage in the first eight minutes.

Canton stormed back to take a 32-29 lead at the half.

In the second half, it was a question of keeping Glenn at bay. The Rockets, who were led by Steve Hawley's 17 points, closed the deficit to one, 42-41, going into the final eight minutes.

Joel Mies, who finished with a gamehigh 19 points for the Chiefs, turned in a little fourth-quarter magic as he shoved in nine-of-10 free throws. Roger Trice, who finished with 17 points, also scored seven in the final quarter.

"Each time they cut the lead down to two, we kept our poise," noted Niemi, whose team has lost its fair share of close games this season. "We're a real young team. I'm really proud of the way they played. Maybe they're matur-

SALEM 64, CHURCHILL 35: The Rocks allowed only a few shots at the basket for Livonia Churchill Tuesday.

But the Rocks certainly helped themselves to plenty as they routed the Chargers in a Western Lakes game.

All 10 Salem players figured in the win. Three players were in double figures scoring with Bryan Kearis and Mike Hale leading the charge, both with 12 points each. Tony Moore added 10 for the Rocks, who used a tenacious man-to-man defense to keep Churchill

Salem, 5-1 (4-0 WLAA), outscored Churchill 21-6 in the second quarter. Kearis, who was a perfect five-of-five from the floor in the game, scored sev-

"We allowed them only one shot at the basket," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "We did a nice job of blocking out and taking away their second and third

The Rocks led 34-15 at intermission and padded their lead by outscoring Churchill, 30-25, in the second half.

On the boards, Salem dominated as Hale pulled down 13 rebounds and Moore had eight.

WAYNE 67, BELLEVILLE 63: The Zebras ran their unbeaten string to seven games Tuesday but the visiting Tigers had the scissors ready in Wolverine A action.

Wayne Memorial, 7-0 (3-0 Wolverine A), had a scare as Belleville (3-3) outscored the Zebras, 39-35, in the final half. Wayne, with three players in dou-ble figures, led 32-24 at the half.

"We didn't play well at times," said Wayne coach Chuck Henry. "Hopefully we learned a few lessons and get away with a win."

Mark Robinson led the way with a game-high 24 points for the Zebras. Robinson was aided by Ron Sommons' 15 points and Gary Hankerson's 12.

Belleville was led by Ladion Tate, who scored 18 points.

STEVENSON 64, FRANKLIN 52: On Tuesday, the Spartans did what they had to early to knock off Livonia

Franklin in a Western Lakes game. Livonia Stevenson, 2-4 (1-3 WLAA), took an early lead and never let go of it as the Spartans posted three players in double figures. Aided by an eight-point advantage in the first quarter, the Spartans padded it further as they took 34-25 halftime lead.

Franklin, which has yet to win a game this season, stayed close with the help of Chris Parenti, who scored a game-high 21 points for the Patriots. For Stevenson, Jeff Gibbons tossed in 16 points while Chip Finneran and Jim Kimble each had 10.

All in all, a pleasant win for Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre, formerly of Paul Gardner led a parade of Redford St. Agatha scorers with a team-high 16 points. Kevin Rich canned 15 points while Jim Knittel added 14 and Larry Brown chipped in with 11.

"The key for us was good ball movement," said St. Agatha coach Larry Dupke. "We finished off well. Some nights the shots don't go in. (Tuesday), they did."

St. Agatha (5-2) ded 36-30 at intermission and outscored Our Lady of Lakes 30-25 in the second half. From the line, the Aggies were 16 of 21. Waterford was five of 15.

Murphy's Law - the belief that anything that can possibly go wrong, will did double-duty against Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team Saturday.

It wasn't enough that four Ocelots starters Clarence Jones, Brad Turner and Frank Jones and top sub Mike White - were lost due to poor grades prior to the Eastern Conference season-opener against Henry Ford Community College.

Schoolcraft also had to battle questionable officiating, HFCC's red-hot free-throw shooting and finally its own scorer's table. The result was what Murphy would have wanted: a 74-71 HFCC win at Schoolcraft.

"It was really rough," Schoolcraft coach Rocky Watkins said. "If we would have won, we would have been in the driver's seat in the conference. That's why this loss is so upsetting."

bugged Watkins. The Ocelots - 12-4 overall - had HFCC beaten. They led by as many as a dozen in the opening half and were up 36-30 at the intermission. HFCC never led until midway through the second half, and its largest lead was at the final buzzer.

With Delta CC whipping defending conference champ Highland Park CC Saturday, a win over HFCC, a contender with a 12-1 overall record, would have been a gigantic boost for School-craft. Instead, it was deflation.

Despite the loss of four players, the Ocelots stayed in the hunt until the fi-THE DEFEAT wasn't all that nal minute. HFCC's Joe Moon canned two free throws with 58 seconds left to make it 74-71, but there was still time.

But a mixup at the scorer's table robbed Schoolcraft of a critical timeout. "They took one from us and gave it to Henry Ford," explained Watkins. The officials didn't help matters either, according to the Ocelot coach.

SCHOOLCRAFT FAILED to get off a shot in its two possessions in the final minute. Ernie Ziegler was whistled for an offensive foul on a moving pick, and Desmond Steele was called for charg-

Watkins was hopeful Clarence Jones and Frank Jones would regain eligibility, but not optimistic. Both were seeking incompletes in classes which, if granted, would allow them to return.

'We've got some good players left," Watkins said. "We just have to regroup. It's going to take awhile."

U-D's CC connection, John McIntyre and Greg Wendt, has been slow to find its groove this basketball season.

J-D waits for CC connection

Greg Wendt was not happy. The University of Detroit forward had been proclaimed Midwestern Collegiate Conference (MCC) player of the week just one day earlier for a pair of outstanding performances in a loss at University of Dayton and a victory over visiting Iowa State.

But this was Monday night. And Wendt was living proof that a basketball player was only as good as his last game.

'Myself. I was not on track shooting tonight," the 6-foot-6 senior and former Redford Catholic Central standout said after U-D fell to sixth-ranked University of Kansas, 60-51, at Calihan Hall.

"I kind of let the team down" Few of his teammates would agree. True, Wendt's shooting was not up to par - he hit just five of 15 floor shots for 10 points. But he also nabbed seven rebounds and had two steals as the Titans put a scare into the mighty Jayhawks before succumbing late in the game.

'You can't afford to get down against them,"said Wendt of Kansas. "If they get ahead at the end you have to foul them, and they've got great free throw shooters."

U-D LED 42-40 with 9:33 to play, and the game was tied at 44 with 6:11 left before Kansas rattled off eight-straight points during the next 3:35.

The defeat dropped the Titans to 6-8 as they start their MCC schedule. A preseason pick to challenge for league title honors, U-D has been disappointing thus far, and its Catholic Central connection is get-Until Wendt broke loose for 18 points against Dayton (eight of 10 from the 1100 upset of Iowa State, he was hitting just 37.5 percent of his field goal attempts.

'I was putting too much pressure on myself earlier," he explained. Wendt still paces U-D in scoring (13.7 points) and rebounding (7.4) and often draws the toughest defensive assignment.

On Monday he faced Kansas' leading scorer, Ron Kellogg. Kellogg, who has received backing as an All-America candidate, paced the Jayhawks with 13 points, but he hit just two of 11 floor shots. Wendt accomplished this while playing all but two minutes of the game.

THE OTHER half of the CC contingent did not fare as well. Freshman John McIntyre started for the Titans but missed both his field goal attempts and two free throws in the game's first minute. With 11:35 left in the opening half, McIntyre left in favor of sophomore Archie Tullos.

The move proved beneficial to U-D. Tullos was red-hot, leading a Titan comeback that narrowed an eight-point gap to five at the half. Tullos had six points at the half and, after replacing McIntyre again with 17:11 left in the game, he responded with 10 more, all on long-range jumpers.

Tullos' performance left Titan coach Don Sicko in a quandary. Should he stick with his highly touted freshman, who was averaging 7.5 points per game before being held scoreless by Kansas, or go with Tullos (9.5 prior to Monday's game)?

"I don't know," Sicko said. "I'm going to have to re-evaluate that. I'm going to have to consider (making a switch).

"Archie was clearly better - tonight. He was on;

we couldn't wait for John to get going. Archie was there, and he was delivering.

"John had a great game at Minnesota (a seasonhigh 20 points,)' and he's had a couple of good games, a couple of average games and some poor

THERE WASN'T much McIntyre would - or could - say about his season, except that so far it was disappointing and the adjustment from high school to major college ball was even more difficult than he anticipated. But he did have an answer to correct his own troubles.

"Don't miss," he said with a smile.

In a more serious vein, McIntyre's one regret was the team's record. "I wish we were winning more," he said.

Wendt was more optimistic about the future. "This week was important to us," he said. "At the start of the season, we didn't know what we were capable of doing.

"We played real well against Iowa State and again tonight. We showed that if we play within our capabilities, we can play with anyone."

And if the CC connection catches fire, U-D could surpass those preseason predictions for a second-place finish. For now, those hopes are on hold.

Knee injury halts Austin's season

By Chris McCosky staff writer

With one major exception, Amy Austin was very much a part of the University of Detroit Lady Titans 94-76 basketball victory against Saginaw Valley State College Saturday night.

The Titan sophomore from Farmington Hills and North Farmington High School stood, hollered and high-fived with fellow teammates as Cassandra Pack and Daphne Smith poured in 63 of the 94 points. She listened attentively the 94 points. She listened attentively to the wisdoms of U-D coach Dewayne Jones during timeouts.

The difference between Austin and the rest of the team: Austin was in street clothes and unavailable for ac-

"I hurt my knee," said Austin, the first recipient of the Farmington Ob-server Athlete of the Year award, to an inquisitive reporter who happened by the U-D bench. "I don't know how long I'll be out."

Later Saturday night, during half-time of the Iowa State-U-D mens basketball game, which followed the Lady Titan game, Austin was re-examined by the team's doctor.

"HE SAID I ripped the anterior cruciate ligament in my knee," Austin told the reporter. One could sense a trace of relief in her voice. "The doctor said I would have to wear a brace and, if my strength is up, I could start playing in two weeks. But if I reinjure it, I'll be out for the season.'

The news ended an anxious and worrisome two-week waiting period for Austin, who injured her knee during practice prior to a holiday tournament game in Houston.

"I feel a lot better now," she said. "I went for two weeks not knowing what was wrong. At least now I know what I

The injury interrupted what was shaping up to be a promising season for

"Hey, I wish we had her back," Jones said. "She was just beginning to play well for us. She was contributing, her confidence was up and her minutes were increasing."

Jones was employing Austin as his third guard, most often interchanging her and Daphne Smith at the No. 2 (shooting) guard spot.

"True to form, she had just made a great cut to the basket and her leg gave out," Jones said. "I was standing right there; I heard the knee kind of snap.

(Kelly aney pleying bearing in the second feeling hour much enjoyed it until I had to aft out and watch."

THE INJURY did not require a cast; though Austin was in considerable pain and the knee was badly swollen.

"I can run straight ahead with no problem. It hurts when I move left to right," she said Saturday night.

She continued to work out with the team after the injury, following a conditioning program prescribed by the team physician.

"We are still hoping she returns this year," Jones said. "I'm very encour-aged because her attitude has remained positive. She hasn't let this be a downer for her."

Jones said that Austin would be eligible to be red-shirted if her knee didn't . improve in two weeks.

We'd definitely red-shirt her," he said. "She's an engineering student and that takes five years anyway. We'd certainly be glad to have her for three; more years."

Austin, a mechanical engineering student with a 3.39 grade point average, isn't enamored with the red-shirt

"They have changed the (engineering) curriculm so that you can finish in four years," Austin said. "I had planned on getting done in four years. I've got to make some money."

AUSTIN CAME to U-D after a sterling high school career at North where she starred in basketball, volleyball and softball. She was offered college scholarships in all three sports from various schools. Though she saw limited playing time at U-D last year, she has never secondguessed her decisions to attend U-D or play basketball.

"I really enjoy playing baskethall. Inever realized how much I enjoyed it until I had to sit out and watch," she said. "I like U-D, too, I like being close to home. A lot of the girls get home maybe three days the whole year. I can go home whenever I want."

Rice rules

By Marty Budner staff writer

Birmingham Brother Rice picked a great time to play its best basketball game of the season.

The Warriors, sparked by a tenacious man-toman defense, opened Catholic League Central Division action with a well-deserved 49-39 victory over Harper Woods Notre Dame Tuesday in Birmingham.

Brother Rice now has defeated Notre Dame in 25 straight games - its last loss coming in the second game of the 1972-73 season by two points, 52-54.

The game also marked the return of 13-year coaching veteran Bob Shoemaker to the Catholic League. Shoemaker had previously coached at Detroit St. Andrew and Orchard Lake St. Mary's before taking over the Bloomfield Hills Andover program prior to the start of the 1983-84 sea-

Shoemaker left Andover for the Notre Dame post this past summer. It not only was the first time Shoemaker had ever coached against a Brother Rice team, but also marked his debut in the Central Division.

To say the least, it wasn't a game he'll want to remember.

"They're (Brother Rice) just a better basketball team than us," said Shoemaker, who guided Or-chard Lake St. Mary's to the state Class C basketball championship in the 1981-82 season. "Rice did everything better than we did, and I don't think the final score really indicates that we were never in the game.

"I didn't think we would be outplayed this bad," he said. "But they're an experienced team and we are not."

BROTHER RICE played a stellar defensive game, starting with Jenior guard David Plunkett who held Notre Dame's high scoring William Sayles to just eight points over the first three quarters. Sayles, who averaged 17 points coming into the game, finished with 15 points.

Junior guard Bill Fitzpatrick was a hound defensively and junior center Scott Zimos played his best all-around game of the season with 14 rebounds and three blocked shots.

"I felt that, at least in December, a big part of Notre Dame's offense was what they generated off of their press and easy baskets on the fast break," said Rice coach Nick Conti, who is in the midst of his fifth season at the Birmingham-based school. "And if we could handle their press and make them face five people everytime they brought the ball down the court — plus control the boards — those three factors would work in our favor.

After an early 2-2 deadlock, Brother Rice scored the next five points and never trailed the rest of the game.

The Warriors were up 12-8 after the first quarter and took a 21-14 halftime lead with a 9-5 spurt in the second quarter. Mark Henry, Lee Fitzpatrick, Plunkett and Bill Fitzpatrick all scored baskets in the third quarter as Rice took a 30-24 lead.

Unlike their last outing when the Warriors allowed Bloomfield Hills Andover back into the game with a fourth-quarter rally after leading throughout the game, they held on this time. Rice outscored Notre Dame, 19-15, to win their second straight game.

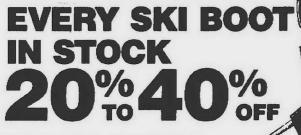

ZIMOS WAS the game's high scorer with 18 points and Lee Fitzpa-trick scored nine. Bill Fitzpatrick finished with points for Rice. which is now 3-3 on the season after losing three of their first five non-

11-year-old model-actress gets big chance on stage

staff writer

ARA PHILLIPS OF Birmingham is just 11, but the bright, blue-eyed youngster has been modeling, dancing and acting for most of her life.

Her newest venture is playing the role of 12-year-old Laurie in Neil Simon's "Brighton Beach Memoirs," which is coming to the Birmingham Theatre.

Cara was chosen from among hundreds of girls in metropolitan Detroit who auditioned recently for the role. She and her mother, Mary, are spending two weeks in New York, where Cara is rehearsing with the rest of the

The Birmingham Theatre production opens Friday, Jan. 24, and continues through Sunday, Feb. 23.

A Christmas tree with a collection of teddy bears underneath was still in the family's living room when Cara gave her first newspaper interview, to the Observer & Eccentric, last week.

Wearing a denim shirt and patterned jeans, along with red stocking and loafers, she might have been dressed like any other fashion-conscious preteen. But a giant red bow behind her sleek, long brown hair was a tip-off that she is someone special.

THE HAIR BOW accented her youth and freshness, making her look younger than 11. Her precocious beauty, her easy, controlled dancer's body, her intelligence and poise all make her seem far older than 11.

"We have a collection of stuffed animals," she said, pointing to the cuddly creatures. "We love teddy bears, especially pink." The family's little dog, a Maltese called Lote (Blossom in the language of The Hobbit), joined in the inspection. "Sometimes we find her sniffing at them."

another corner of the room. Cara has several Cabbage Patch dolls, including an original signed one, a Coleco original and a porcelain original. Her newest doll is a Madame Alexander doll she received this Christmas.

In "Brighton Beach Memoirs" Cara will look unlike the way she did the day she was interviewed, the way she looks in her modeling photos, or even the way she normally looks at school or

"She is a very intellectural bookworm type," Cara said, describing the character of Laurie. The director (Martin Holzer, who was stage manager of the original company still on Broadway) "wants me to look homely, with dirty braids and glasses."

CARA BEGAN her modeling career at 8. A friend of her father's sent her photograph to the Ford agency, New York's top modeling agency, and she was accepted. Her photograph appears in the roster of models for the agency's childen's division.

Each summer for the last three years, Cara and her mother have gone to New York to live and work. Mrs. Phillips said, "Last summer she did 130 print jobs in four months. Ford said it was remarkable." The young model and performer also has done TV commercials and studied acting in New Cara said she has now outgrown the 'big hot size 10" in children's fashions. This means she can still work, but not as much, and can concentrate on her acting and dancing.

Her first commercial was a national one, dancing for Wrangler blue jeans. She also has done a local commercial for Precision Tune, appearing with a group of children playing softball.

The Wranger commercial held an extra surprise, which led to an outtake with Cara being featured in "The

> SHE AND OTHER youngsters in the commercial each had to sit down on a glass seat that would light up. "Mine had a stronger light bulb. On the last

The Ford agency handles Cara's work as a print model. Harry Abrams of Abrams Artists theatrical agency in New York and California is her agent for TV commercials and other profes-

Abrams thinks Cara looks like a young Jacqueline Smith, and he ought to know — he made model-actress Smith a star. Mrs. Phillips said, "He said he's going to make Cara a star. He thinks Cara is as beautiful as Brooke Shield but has Jody Foster's personality and brains."

Although the Ford agency has said, 'We'd love to have you here," hoping that Cara would stay in New York permanently, the family and Abrams think she should continue to live at home until she finishes school.

"He (Abrams) wants her to have a normal childhood and go to school, be with her friends - work on her dancing and acting. When they know she's right for something, they fly us in for an audition," Mrs. Phillips said.

CARA STARTED school at Pembroke elementary and in the fifth grade switched to Roeper City and Country School in Bloomfield Hills. She is in the sixth grade now at Roeper Middle School, which she refers to as "the big campus," in Birmingham.

Her brother Michael, 17, also goes to Roeper. "We are both very academic," she said. His interests lean toward de-acting classes in Roeper's Upper-School theater program and has appeared in productions there.

Both Cara's brother and her father, Leo Phillips, take an active interest in her career. Michael has gone to New York with his mother and sister to lend a hand. Dad is a commercial real estate developer in Birmingham, whose latest project is the Silver Triangle Office Building in Southfield. Busy as he is, he keeps an eye out for Cara's interests and was the first in the family to hear about the audition at the Birmingham Theatre.

Said Mrs. Phillips, "I was there at two minutes after 9 the next day," arriving at the theater to pick up a copy of the script required for the audition.

Cara has a lot of confidence but said, The actual audition was hard because there were so many talented people there." A dance student since she was 3, Cara was rehearsing for performances in "The Nutcracker" with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra the same day she went to audition at the Birmingham

"I WENT ON my lunch break. We had a 1-to-6 break betweeen rehearsals before the performances started. I auditioned at 2:15, and by the time we got home, there was a message they wanted me to come back at 5 to read again."

Afterward, "The director told my mother it was between me and another girl. The next day, at the opening of 'Nutcracker,' I went out to eat and one of the mothers told me I had the part.

At first, it didn't settle in, but later on I was really excited about that."

Cara also got to have her audition shown on television. 'Channel 50 was there for the first time. The girl ahead of me was going to be filmed but said she would be too nervous, so they hooked me up.

It didn't bother Cara because of her about the cameras being there. "For 'Nutcracker' that same night, I was interviewed by Channel 4 on the 5 and 6 o'clock news," she said. Because

Cara was dancing, she didn't get to see the show, and although she has it on tape, she still hasn't had time to look at The young dancer studies classical ballet with Iacob Lascu at the Lascu

"Lady Sings the Blues" (1972), 8 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 50. Originally 144 minutes. TV time slot: 120 min-

Diana Ross lights up the screen in a once-in-a-lifetime performance as the inimitable Billie Holiday. The film is stylish, well-produced but offers little insight into the tragedy of drugs and self-hatred that destroyed Holiday. Still, Ross handles the musical sections superbly and is surprisingly strong in her portrayal of the ravaged, addicted Holiday in her last years. Ross is a good, melodic pop singer who turns the Holiday classics to her style rather than trying to adopt Holiday's style. It was a good decision because Ross could never attain the special quality that made Holiday the finest jazz singer of her time and one of the great masters of phrasing. Richard Pryor is also quite good as the fictional Piano Man, an emotional sidekick. Rating: $2.80.

"King" (1978), 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday on Ch. 50.

This film version of the life of Dr. Martin Luther King did poorly in the ratings when first shown on NBC. It was also criticized by King's former associates who felt they weren't given their due and that white liberals were given too much credit. All that aside, this is good film biography and one of the best of the television miniseries. Paul Winfield is riveting as King. He projects the essential courage and bravura and even arrogance that allowed King to become the focal point of the greatest social movement of the 20th century. Winfield has captured the drama of King's speeches so well that he is ma or king's speeches so well that he is able to produce the same spine chill that King always produced. Cicely Tyson as Coretta King and Al Freeman Jr. as Malcolm X are also excellent. This is a series worth watching despite the leaves (including a confecture of I its lapses (including a caricature of J. Edgar Hoover, who seems to be the new whipping boy for liberals; he deserves it but not this blatantly).

'Angel Street' still has suspense

Performances of the Meadow Brook Theatre production of "Angel Street" continue through Sunday, Jan. 26, on the Oakland University campus near Rochester. For ticket information, call the box office at 377-3300.

By Cathle Breidenbach special writer

Meadow Brook's intriguing production of "Angel Street" by Patrick Hamilton sets up mysterious questions in the first few minutes, and George Guitto's expert portrayal of Mr. Manningham makes us wonder just how bad this dislikeable man really is.

Is he merely an autocratic Victorian husband who enjoys lording it over his distraught young wife, or is he a man who indulges in a more calculating brand of evil? Perhaps a man with a grisly murde in his past?

Director Terence Kilburn succeeds in maintaining tension throughout by using the departures and anticipation of the returns of Mr. Manningham to keep the audience on edge in this mystery thriller that Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer made famous in the 1943 film, "Gaslight."

Bethany Carpenter as the hand-wringing, in-secure Mrs. Manningham convincingly vacillates from start to finish. The Victorians believed women were frail creatures with weak nerves, weaker brains, and who knows what else that was weaker than that of men. Carpenter plays a Victorian wom-an, an easy victim of her husband's campaign to unhinge her sanity.

THE REALITY that her own mother died insane and that Mrs. Manningham is isolated at home by frailty and husbandly decree feeds into her nervousness and furthers her husband's plot.

Enter the breezy, comfortable Inspector Rough who brings a whiff of humor and a welcome lightness into this ponderous household of unhappiness. Richard Easley is a pleasure as the inspector in search of evidence to confirm his suspicions. He's on the trail of a man who years ago murdered an old lady to get nine priceless rubies.

But is the inspector to be trusted, sneaking in the way he does without search warrant or the trappings of authority? He totes a flask and tipples on the job, and he even dares to offer strong drink to

Ratings games add up to zero

LIKED IT. It was a friendly community. Neat and well-cared for. It had a nice shopping area. The rural area surrounding the town seemed to be quite prosperous. It was ranked 329th out of 329 cities in the U.S. as a desirable place to live.

The comparisons were made in several areas. Housing, climate, health care, crime, transportation and economics, to name a few. The purpose was to help people locate desirable places to live.

It is possible that my likes and tastes are quite different from the likes and tastes of others. I might even be unable to recognize mediocrity when I see it. And further, I was not using data like tax bases, housing costs, transportation systems, number of hospitals.

GENERALLY SPEAKING, communities take these kind of ratings in stride. I say generally, because in this case, the community did not ignore their rating. They looked at the community given the coveted first place, and concluded that the people doing the rating had simply reversed the order. So at least, they feel good enough about themselves to laugh at the whole pro-

The problem is that we do the same with people. We construct value areas or standards, and then place people where we think they ought to be. When we're finished with the process we have everyone neatly shelved. Someone will be first and someone will be last, and the rest will be in between.

We claim objectivity in our rating process. We use test scores and performance ratings from standardized forms. Our categories are universally valid and so, we also claim, is our judgment. Perhaps they are, but we still end with someone being first, and someone else being last, with the rest

The Judeo-Christian doctrine of creation is quite clear on this matter. God did not create humanity according to a scale where someone is first and someone else is last, and the rest in between. From one to another, all are equal in the plan and will of God. Trying to rate humanity by whatever scale we choose tells as more about the way we think than about God's way of creation. Perhaps that is why our ratings are so mis-

New homes designed for family living

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

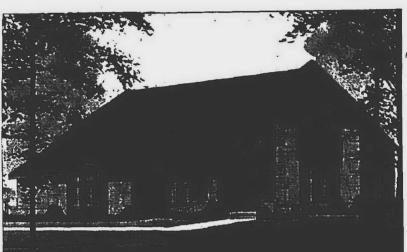

Long live the family. In the midst of a rash of new empty nester condos, Maplewoods II is quickly taking shape in West Bloomfield. It's designed as a family-oriented community with most of the single family homes built through the cooperative effort of building companies, Selective Homes Inc. and Nosan/Cohen Associates

These builder/developers are working in tree phases, the first is 32 homes. Eventually there will be a total of 100. And what makes it a family neighborhood is more than the ample size and design of the four-bedroom houses, but the inclusion of sidewalks and the proximity to schools, shopping centers, churches, synagogs and expressways as well. The sidewalks, it turns out, bring a great deal of favorable comment from visitors.

Long live the affluent family. For these Maplewood II homes, while fairly priced in today's market (they start at trance is on th north side of Maple, one-$194,500), still mean the family have half mile west of Orchard Lake. some substantial resources.

Each of the floor plans can be had in one of three exterior styles. The overall effect of the neighborhood is one of individual, custom designed residences.

"Michigan Masterpieces," which continues at Detroit Institute of Arts through Sunday, Jan. 26, is an in-gathering of some of the fine art in state collections. The watercolor pictured, "Street Vista in Winter" by Charles Burchfield, 1957, la on loan from Kalamazoo institute of Arts, one of 32 museums in the state participating. #### The Detroit Symphony Orchestra preview will host "Images," a festival of music inspired by poetry, literature and painting Friday, Feb. 21, through Saturday, March 1. Through a special grant from Burroughs Corporation, guest artists such as Jessye Norman, soprano, Jorge Bolet, piano, Frederica von Stade, soprano, and ensembles such as the Juilliard Stringh Quartet, Ars Musica, the Boston Museum Trio and the Detroit Symphony Chorale have been invited to perform with the orchestra and in recital during the nine-day festival.

Assistance in the research and compilation of artworks and reproductions to be used in the festival has been provided by the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Created by Herbig, Images is a festival of program music - music written about something specific, a painting, a figure from literature or a scene from nature. The festival is dedicated to Franz Liszt with 1965 marking the 100th anniversary of his death. Liszt was an important composer of program music.

"Even those people who like to come to concerts, but perhaps feel they don't know a great deal about music, will enjoy the Images Festival, where one can easily make a connection between the inspirational source for the music and the sounds themselves. And I am very pleased that Burroughs has agreed to sponsor this festival of 11 concerts.' In addition to concerts at Ford Auditorium, Orchestra Hall, the Recital Hall of Detroit Institute of Arts and Wayne State, Images will include preconcert lectures, receptions with the artists and displays of the extra musical sources which inspired many of the program selections.

The three Detroit Symphony Orchestra concerts will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21 at Ford Auditorium with Jessye Norman; 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 26 at Ford Auditorium, Mikioa Pwewnyi, cello, and Nobuko Imai, viola; and 8:30 p.m., Saturday, March 1, Ford Auditorium, Jorge Bolet. Herbig will conduct all three concerts.

Other concerts which are part of the Images Festival are: 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22, Orchestra Hall, Ars Musica, Lyndon Lawless, conductor; 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23, Orchestra Hall, Juilljard String Quartet; 8 p.m. Sunday,

THE FESTIVAL will continue with more concerts: 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 25, Orchestra Hall, Frederica von Stade, soprano, and Martin Katz, piano; 8 p.m. Thursday, Orchestra Hall, Jorge Bolet, piano; 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 28, Musicians of Swanne Alley, Community Arts Auditorium, Wayne State University; and 3:30 p.m. Saturday, March 1, Orchestra Hall, Detroit Symphony Chorale, Eric Freudigman, conductor.

Highlights of the festival include: Norman's singing of Strauss' "Four Last Songs" with the Detroit Symphony on Feb. 21; Perenyi and Imai performing Strauss' "Don Quixote" on Feb. 26; Bolet's all Liszt program on Feb. 27; and the displays of the art which inspired some of the compositions in the lobbies of Ford Auditorium, Orchestra Hall, the Recital Hall and at Wayne State University.

Wall drawing for profit

special writer

Why do kids write on walls? Come to think of it, why do grown-ups write on walls?

Perhaps it's the combination of a blank wall, the smell of a felt tip and the thought, "they'll never know I did it."

All of my boys have had their turn at drawing on our walls. There is a rather hidden wall in Adam's room. It's just a short little wall bordering the stairway. In the dormer adjacent to this wall is Adam's toy storage and, for fear of life and limb, I never go in that dormer. That could be a whole nother story

One day, however, I was in this little nook playing games with Adam. Then, lo and behold, if I didn't happen onto some of Adam's best wall graffiti. There was a little bit of everything on that wall.

The time I remember most though was when Kevin was about 2 and Scott was 4. I was sitting in the living room when Scott proudly ushered his little brother out of their bedroom and stood him directly in front of me.

Not knowing what I was asking I said, "so what're you guys up to?" With purpose and pride Scott slowly lifted Kevin's little pajama top and there it was . . . a clown's face, drawn in ball point pen, on Kevin's stomach.

Speechless, my mouth dropped open and in that silence Scott critiqued his own work. "See Dad?" he said. "This big blue spot is the clown's nose, the line around his belly button is his mouth . . . look here, don't it look like it's talkin' when ya pinch on both

"...uh huh ...," I gasped, still in shock.
"And these here spots I made into clown eyes. Isn't that neat, Dad?'

"Oh hey, yes. But did you show mommy yet?" I

Needless to say Kevin was wearing that piece of art for a week or so. Oh, well.

IT'S hard to believe that when we grow up a few of us actually get asked to draw again on walls and even get paid for it. Wall graphics are fun and can be quite lucrative. So here's how you do 'em. First of all there are different types of wall graphics painted scenes, cartoons and finally geometric shapes and stripes.

Painting scenery on a wall is not much different than it is on canvas. I would however recommend you use jar acrylics. Jar acrylics are thin and flow on very smoothly. Liquitex has a 20-year head start in the field of acrylics, and you can't beat the smoothness of their jar acrylics. There is, however, a craft acrylic by Grumbacher called Keepsake colors. These acrylics are very thin and much less expense than any jar acrylics. Keepsake acrylic, by the way, is a pigment and not a dye. Many people see how thin Keepsake is, as compared to other craft acrylics, and think that it is less opaque. Actually a pigment is many more times opaque than a dye regardless of it's consist-

NOW CARTOONS are quite difficult because they require clean outlines and smooth flat colors.

By all means do all of your layout and drawing on tracing, layout or poster bond paper. This way you have made all your mistakes on paper, where it doesn't matter, and not on the wall where it does

Then transfer your cartoons, one at a time, to the wall with a sheet of graphite paper taped to the back of your drawing.

Tape your drawing securely to the wall and carefully redraw over your cartoon. This will transfer your perfected cartoon on a perfectly clean wall.

Now you should paint all the colored areas being careful that you not paint over your transferred pencil lines. I recommend you use foam brushes for the base colors. They hold a good amount of paint, apply an even layer of paint and are only 28-50

When all the base colors are painted then the work begins - painting the outlines.

To paint smooth outlines, I recommend a long hair brush, sign painters brush, quille, rigger, script liner or signature brush. They all do the same thing and that is hold a good amount of paint and deliver it at an even, consistent width line.

If the thought of those, or any, outline brush scares you, then there is an alternative - a marker that issues permanent opaque paint. I recommend Higgen's brand called "Painters." They come in basic and craft colors and to my knowledge are the only opaque markers which do not contain xylol, which is a poisonous substance.

Well, I will leave off right here and next week I will discuss painting stripes and geometric shapes.

The Volkswagen Beetle was 50 year old in October. The Beetle became one of the world's most popular cars and helped shape the history of auto manufacturing.

In the United States, the Beetle introduced millions of Americans to German technology, quality and durability while firmly establishing the small car as a mainstay of the American automobile industry. It became the transportation, hobby and pet of more people than any other car in history.

The Beetle would spawn a whole folklore about its feats of endurance. It would be driven in ever corner of the earth from the Australian outback to the South Pole and even float 10 miles across the English Channel. A pilot for Continental Airlines would fly a light plane powered by a VW engine across the ocean and back. A composer would write "Concerto for Yellow Volkswagen and Orchestra." Children would be named so their initials would be 'VW" and Walt Disney would immortalize a Beetles named "Herbie" in a series of box office hits, firmly establishing the Beetle as the world's best-loved car.

IT WOULD inspire what creative directors, art directors and copywriters across the country voted one "the most significant and successful advertising campaigns since World War II." Beetle advertising by Doyle Dane Bernbach won nearly every award the advertising industry offered. It did the unthinkable in terms of traditional automobile advertising and told consumers straight out that the Beetle was ugly, small, never changed its exterior and was very economical to buy and maintain. It was simply a machine that got you from A to B, cheaply and, above all, honestly

While other car ads were heavy on superlatives, the headlines in Beetle ads urged drivers to "think small" (a revolutionary idea); trumpeted in modest, "a $1.02 a pound"; and asked the rhetorical question. "Do you think the Volkswagen in homely?" They stated, "We change the Volkswagen only to improve it, not to make last year's model obsolete." VW ads reflected the Beetle itself; honest, humble,

The origin of the Beetle dates back to Jan. 17, 1934, when Professor Ferdinand Porsche submitted a paper titled "Con- gram. This was the birth of the Beetle as cerning the Manufacture of a German People's Car" to the German government.

Starting in 1935, a variety of experimental and pre-production cars covered millions of miles as part of an arduous testing prowe know it today.

Giant exhibit had modest start in 1907

Garden on East Jefferson Avenue in 1907, the Detroit Auto Show has grown to a giant extravanganza featuring over 500 cars, vans, trucks and specialty vehicles occupying 440,000 square feet of space in gigantic Cobo Hall.

In the beginning, the newly formed Detroit Auto Dealers Association held its 1907 show in an 11,376-square-foot hall at Beller's near the Belle Isle Bridge.

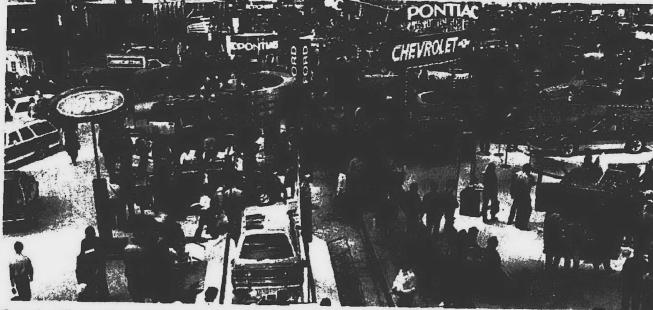

There were 17 exhibitors displaying 33 makes of cars. The 1986 show will have 49 exhibitors and almost limitless choices of vehicles, something to suit everyone's needs.

Detroit's very first display of autos for sale, however, was in 1899 in the Light Guard Armory. At that time, William Metzger joined with Seneca G. Lewis, of the Fletcher Hardware Co., of Detroit, to organize the Tri-State Sportman's and Automobile Association. Two steam-driven Mobiles and two Waverly Electrics were put on display among a variety of fishing rods and reels, hunting equipment and

But many other 1907 exhibitors thrived, becoming leaders of the auto industry. Some sitll hold these leadership positions today. Included in the 1907 show are such stalwarts as Ford, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac.

At the first auto show, local fire officials dangers with the newfangled machines.

Crowds will pour through Cobo Hall to view

Going even further back in history, Detroit's first auto dealer was William E. Metzger, a bicycle merchant who foresaw the future potential of the automobile.

In the years since the first D.A.D.A. Cadillac Motor Car Co. and took an active Auto show, the event has been held in a number of locations.

An early show was held in a lumber plant on West Forest Avenue. Another was held in a dance hall in Riverview Park at the Belle Isle Bridge. During the early 1920's, the show was held at the Billy Sunday Tabernacle and Convention Hall. Auto shows continued until 1940 when World War II and postwar adjustments eliminated the event until 1954.

Resumed that year, the Auto Show was held at the State Fairgrounds. In 1957, it years ago has the Detroit auto sales indus- moved to the Detroit Artillery Armory try grown. Today there are 238 members where it was held until moving to Cobo Hall in 1965.

During this year's spectacular, spectators can watch the Japanese masters and the other ice carvers at work.

Spectators will have two specific opportunities to watch carvers at work. Jan. 11, sociation. there will be an Ice Sculpture Competition with professional chefs at The Gathering, across the street from Kellogg Park and next to the Penn Theatre.

The professionals will carve 100-statues beginning at 10 a.m.

On Jan. 18, student chefs will compete at The Gathering. The students, competing for scholarships to culinary schools, will create more than 150 statues from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"As the event grows, more and more carvers will be interested in competing," said Lorenz. Most of the competing carvers are chefs, who regularly make ice sculptures for special dining occasions. However, designers and artists also are beginning to participate.

"This will give the students a chance to work with the pros," said Lorenz. "And the pros will be able to watch the Japa-

"The show is getting more complicated," said Lorenz. "I think people will be impressed with the quality. There will be lots of local talent, as well as 40 chefs from Chicago arriving by bus, and a Chicago man who was featured in USA Today.

"This is getting to be a major competition in the United States," said Lorenz. "Eventually, we think it will become more international.'

Plymouth to be a fantasy land

Plymouth will be turned into a fantasyland of ice when the fourth annual Ice Sculpture Spectacular is held Jan. 9-19.

More than 300,000 spectators from throughout southeastern Michigan is expected to attend the ice-carving festival. The festival in 1985 was selected as one of the top 100 events in North America by the American Bus Association.

The 1986 Ice Spectacular, sponsored by the Miesel Sysco Co. of Canton, will be the best yet according to R. Scott Lorenz, co-chairman of the festival and general manager of the Mayflower Hotel.

"The first weekend of the event will feature a professional chefs' ice carving competition on Saturday, Jan. 11," says Lorenz, "while the second weekend will host the student chefs' competition the following Saturday."

THE PROFESSIONAL chefs will compete for airline trips from British Airways, Eastern Airlines and New York Air. Students will compete, for several thousand dollars in scholarships to culinary schools, ice-carving tools and several Echo chain saws.

More than 200 professional chefs are expected to participate.

Depending on the weather, some 200 ice sculptures will be transported to Plymouth, with a police escort, beginning about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 8.

This year's version will truly be an international event as six professional chefs from, Saporo, Japan, sponsored by Japanese Airlines (JAL), have been invited to carve major sculptures. "Their work is excellent," says Lorenz who traveled to Saporo in 1985 to view their creations and arrange the visit.

A free seminar by the Japanese chefs will be conducted for professional chefs and students at Schoolcraft College from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 12.

ON MONDAY, Jan. 13, a special Japanese gourmet dinner will be held at the Round Table Club. Tickets are $250 per plater with proceeds going towards culinary scholarships.

Henry E. Graper, co-chairman and Plymouth city manager, adds: "This is the first year souvenirs will be available for purchase at Plymouth's retail stores. Proceeds from the sale of souvenirs will benefit the Ice Foundation."

One of the more interesting parts of the week-long activities is the multiblock displays. These displays often use in excess of 125 blocks of ice with each block weighing more than 400 pounds. Construction cranes are used to lift each piece into position and hundreds of hours of volunteer time and effort go into making a giant sculpture.

Volunteers interested in helping may contact Paul Sincock, assistant city manager, at 453-1234.
