Board to publish school district's history

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday approved a request for money to allow Plymouth historian Sam Hudson to publish a book on the history of the school district.

By unanimous vote, the board set aside $7,000 from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools general fund for the Hudson book, which is partially written.

"I'm glad to donate the text and photos for the history, if the board will pay for the printing," said Hudson earlier in the board meeting.

He said the book would be a 6-by-9-inch hardcover history, similar to Hudson's history of Plymouth and of Schoolcraft College.

HUDSON ALSO wrote a history of the Plymouth Presbyterian Church for the church's 150th anniversary.

"I intend to write the school district history from the log cabin 1830s to the present," said Hudson. "I'll try to include board meeting minutes going back to the 1830s and other documents and include chronological highlights of the school board and its presidents and superintendents."

Hudson said he would include information about the marching band, athletics, school buses, maps of school locations and classes over the 150-year span.

"I want the public to know that I am in the market for old photos and other materials," said Hudson.

HUDSON PROPOSED that the history book be "self-liquidating."

The amount of money the board provided — $7,000 — would be paid back out of the book sales.

His book on Schoolcraft College, which sells for $9.95, cost $3.50 to $4 per copy to publish, Hudson estimated.

"That is based on a printing of 2,000 books," he said. "The history could be used as a resource book for future teachers and students. It will show how we got where we are and be a record of one of our most important institutions.

This school system has a record to be proud of."

Hudson, who holds a doctorate in English literature, has taught at Wayne State University, Eastern Michigan University and Schoolcraft College. He also has had articles printed in the Detroit Free Press, the Monthly Detroit, the Chronicle of Michigan History and the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

SOME SEGMENTS of the proposed book have run in The Plymouth Observer. "I have done most of the research. I expect the history to be completed by the spring or early summer."

In other business at the Monday meeting, the board designated its Extra Miller for the month — Kio Phillippi, learning specialist at Hulsing Elementary School.

Phillippi was described by board member David Artley as a "shining testimony to educational excellence. To her, it's not a job, it's her life."

Tending to human needs produces highs and lows

Larry Manzella has one of the most frustrating, satisfying, low-paying, high-reward jobs in the Plymouth-Canton community.

The 27-year-old former Chicagoan, now a resident of Plymouth, is commander of the Salvation Army corps community center on Main just north of Joy in Plymouth.

Manzella came here two years ago, after serving as director of the army's City of Warren center which served Warren and Hazel Park — nearly 200,000 people.

"Plymouth is a unique place. Warren has no downtown. We've received odes of support. I inherited a brand new building and I've been adding to programs," said Manzella in his rapid-fire yet gentle delivery.

The range of programs at the center, from the recreational to the religious to charitable relief, would drive a lesser person up the wall. But Manzella has no problems with burnout.

"The founder of the Salvation Army was concerned that the church at the time had been excluding certain people who he felt had a right to worship," said Manzella. "You can't tell someone that God loves him when he doesn't have any shoes on his feet."

It's Manzella's love for people and

people

love for God that keeps him enthusiastic. "This is a neat place to work."

MANZELLA SAID he was astounded at the amount of support the Salvation Army has received from the Plymouth, Canton and Northville communities.

The Army had no problem getting community schools, stores, service clubs and residents to donate food cans this past Christmas season. There are 70,000 stored at the Army center.

"We are up by $10,000 on our mail contributions and up by $6,000 in our kettle donations," said Manzella. "Eighteen thousand dollars of the $25,000 we raised in the kettles was through the support of service clubs, such as the Kiwanis, Jaycees and Rotary."

But the need goes on. "The number of hungry people we served food and medicine last year increased from last year, from 1,600 to 3,600. The number of people we sheltered went up from 16 to 186.

There are no shelters in Plymouth, Canton or Northville. The needy must be sent to Ann Arbor or Detroit, or else given temporary stays at local hotels.

The army provides food directly from its stock of canned goods, or gives out vouchers that can be used at local stores.

Manzella said the Plymouth area might be considered "affluent" but the hundreds of persons in need who qualify for food, clothing and shelter come from the Plymouth-Canton community.

"We've had to grow to keep up with the demand. It takes a lot of time and effort. Our staff has grown from seven to 11, including two caseworkers. Those 70,000 cans of food all will be gone by mid-September. I think that's what people appreciate about us. We don't sit on the food donations. When they're gone, they're gone and we'll go back to the community for more. God will provide."

The community responded in droves to the Army's Christmas drive. Big help came from Omnicom Cablevision, K mart, Burroughs and Ford Motor Co. "There was not a school in Plymouth, Canton or Northville that turned us down," said Manzella.

AS ENCOURAGING as is the effort, so is it discouraging to see the need.

"The people in need come from our own area," said Manzella. "It's mind-boggling and it's getting worse."

Manzella's philosophy is to give people in need the chance to fend for themselves, if at all possible.

If you have any ideas about improving recreation facilities or programs in the City of Plymouth, Recreation Director Chuck Skene wants to hear from you.

Skene and an advisory committee, consisting of representatives from various community organizations with specific recreational interests, are in the process of preparing an updated recreation master plan.

"This includes land, land development, facility development and programming," Skene said. "We just need to upgrade and re-evaluate our master plan — where we're going."

Skene said he prepared the city's only other recreation master plan by himself in 1978. The city commission subsequently authorized action on several of those recommendations, he added.

"It's just time to evaluate," Skene said. "It's been seven years since we did this — where we've gone, where we're coming to and where we're going."

THE COMMITTEE, chaired by City Commissioner Karl Gansler, consists of:

- Skene and his assistant, Thomas Willette.
- Walter Fletcher, senior citizens representative.
- James McLennan, representing adult sports programs.
- Marilyn Young, playgrounds and parks representative.
- Robert Hodge, Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association.
- Sharon Brod, Plymouth Figure Skating Club.
- George Baumley, soccer programs.

A public hearing tentatively has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 6, at city hall.

Prior to that hearing, individual committee members are to submit written recommendations to Skene who will develop recommendations of his own.

"Rather than having one or two interests being the focal point, we tried to include youth to senior citizens," Skene said of the advisory committee. "I think it's better to have someone who knows programming than a person who may be community interested but not know what is involved."

A final report will be sent to the city commission, perhaps by late February. The master plan is just that — a plan, Skene said.

"IT SHOULD be used as a guideline. It is not a Bible. Down the road maybe we can do some of these things, maybe we can't."

Skene said he doesn't know what impact the revised master plan eventually might have.

"If it's the city commission's pleasure to go ahead with projects, we'll have more recreation. If not, it will be the status quo but, in the back of their minds, they'll have ideas of what can be done."

There's another benefit to the exercise as well.

"Some citizens who normally don't come in and talk to me can say this is how I feel," Skene said.

Three more soccer fields, improvements to Massey Field, more equipment in some parks, and improvements to the senior citizen room at the Plymouth Cultural Center resulted from the 1978 master plan report, Skene said.

Pigeon poison plan provokes protests

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Plymouth's plan to poison pigeons is for the birds, say some people who work or live in town.

While no organized opposition has developed, several individuals have contacted city administrators and the Observer to express their displeasure about plans to kill a pigeon flock in the central business district with strychnine corn kernels.

"I think the poisoning is inhumane," said Mark Syper, a Plymouth resident. "I don't advocate killing them at all but there are more humane ways of killing them."

Syper said he and about eight other persons carried signs and distributed leaflets last Sunday during the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular in an effort to rally public opinion against the poisoning.

"Reaction of the people was mixed," he said. "Some were for it, others were against. Most people probably didn't respond."

"WE DON'T have any course of action now," Syper said. "It's a matter of speaking to the right people and getting more leads to lead to public outrage."

Syper suggests that city officials could better eradicate the problem by feeding pigeons a sterility-inducing pellet, placing fake owls in strategic locations around town to scare birds away, or capturing and gassing the pigeons.

Despite concerns by Syper and others, there are no plans to abandon a plan that Rose Exterminator Co. has sold to the City Commission.

Rose proposes to first bait pigeons with untreated corn, then add strychnine poison to kernels to kill them. Rose maintains that there would be little danger to other birds or squirrels and that the kill would be closely supervised.

City Manager Henry Graper has reported that the pigeon flock that roosts in and around the Central Parking Lot deck numbers 500 at times.

"It's a matter that has to be dealt with, and the City Commission voted to eliminate the pigeons," said Paul Sincoc, assistant to the city manager.

"It's being handled by a professional firm licensed by the Department of Natural Resources. They're the professionals and they're handling it in a professional manner."

"I'VE PERSONALLY had no less than a dozen complaints in the last six or eight months," Sincoc said. "Like the mayor said, they're disease-carrying. It's a public health problem. Not only that, it's a problem to buildings in town and automobiles."

About two dozen calls have been received at city hall protesting the pigeon kill plan since the City Commission approved a $2,200 expenditure last week to finance the project.

Sincoc said he expected some complaints.

Several complainants explained why they're opposed to the poisoning in telephone calls to the Observer.

"I just don't believe in poisoning pigeons," said Barbara Wade, a Canton resident who owns Health Ways, a health food store by the parking lot in downtown Plymouth.

"If we do have to rid ourselves of them, there must be a better way," she said. "We enjoy pigeons and most people around here enjoy them. I don't believe it is a problem."

Wade conceded that if the birds ever were to become a problem, she has no alternative solutions — at least for now.

Julie Catterall, a Westland resident who said she visits Plymouth almost daily, termed the proposed poisoning cruel.

"I HAD four cats poisoned when I lived in a mobile home. I watched them suffer. It was terrible," she said.

"There's got to be a better way. Owls and snakes scare bunnies. Something must scare pigeons."

Catterall, who noted that she's provided a foster home for animals for the Humane Society, said she's concerned that other birds and small animals would be killed by strychnine corn kernels.

Leah Maloney, a Canton resident who works at Cloverdale's in Plymouth, also wanted to go on record against the poisoning.

"They're not hurting anything," she said of the pigeons. "They should put a stuffed owl on buildings, and they won't go there. They're afraid of them. Pigeons are a natural part of life."

Sincoc said he's aware of no date when Rose will begin its program. However, a low profile will be maintained when it does, he conceded.

"It will happen, we'll have it cleaned up and that's that," Sincoc said.

Ice show a hit despite thaw

Spectacular draws record-setting crowds

By Dennis Coffman
staff writer

Ted Wakar of Westland is this year's winner of the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular professional carving competition.

Wakar, 23, a chef at Ford Motor Co.'s World Headquarters building in Dearborn, won a trip to London, England from British Airways.

"I hope to be able to go there on my honeymoon," he said. Wakar plans to marry Theresa Bur of Livonia in September.

Wakar, 23, who finished second, second and fourth in the three previous ice sculpture contests, this year carved a flying eagle during the four hours allotted for contestants.

The contest was held 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at The Gathering, downtown Plymouth.

LAST YEAR Wakar received a trip to Florida from Eastern Airlines. He was allowed to go to Arizona instead, to visit people he knew there.

Although the first place winner generally is required to take his vacation within six months, Wakar believes British Airways will allow him to use the flight in September after he marries.

The son of Ted and Gerry Wakar of Westland, he is a graduate of Livonia Franklin High School and has an associate degree from the Schoolcraft College culinary arts department.

"I got the original idea from a sculpting book," said Wakar. "It was a golden pheasant but I made it taller and wider."

His "Bird of Paradise Diving into the Water for Fish" sculpture was carved from a 400-pound block of ice four feet tall and two feet wide.

THE FINISHED sculpture is seven feet by four feet.

"I used an electric chainsaw and carbon dioxide from a fire extinguisher to freeze the wings back together," said Wakar.

Thomas Barlow of Chicago took second place in the carving competition.

Maury Pearson of Chicago came in third and Jim Nadeau, also of Chicago, came in fourth.

Second and third-place winners received two tickets each from Eastern Airlines to Florida, and the fourth-place winner received two tickets to New York, N.Y.

"Next year, we expect to award cash prizes instead," said Scott Lorenz, the co-chairman, with Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper, of the ice show. "We'll probably give out several thousand dollars and we expect to have an even larger number of chefs competing."

ABOUT 50 professional chefs competed. About 100 culinary arts students are expected to compete this Saturday.

But a surprising rise in temperature Friday and Saturday melted most of the sculptures that lined Plymouth streets and melted parts of the larger works displayed in Kellogg Park.

"We expect to get another 150 sculptures in the streets to replace those that were destroyed by the sun," Lorenz said.

Many of the carvings in Kellogg Park last week were created by six Japanese guest carvers, all highly-regarded chefs in Japan.

"The Japanese will be replacing various pieces of sculptures that have melted," said Lorenz. "They'll fill in with water and ice."

Lorenz was undeterred by the big thaw. "There were 300,000 people at the show last year and I know we had more than that last weekend. Based on the downtown square footage, that would be like having a University of Michigan crowd here."

BUT LORENZ was wary of a long-range weather forecast that indicated Plymouth might be in for another weekend of rising temperatures.

Wednesday students from Macomb County Community College were to carve a Statue of Liberty sculpture and students from Schoolcraft College were to carve King Neptune.

"Saturday, we'll have 100 student chefs. Overall, everything looks pretty good," said Lorenz.

A $250-per-plate dinner Monday at The Round Table Club, Plymouth, raised funds to provide scholarships to the winners of the Saturday student competition.

"We'll have another 150 carvings in the streets," said Lorenz.

"The warm weather has been like a double-edged sword. It hurt the statues but it brought in more people."

PAUL SINCOCK, who has been providing coordination of the event for the city, said he expected the total attendance at this year's show to be 350,000. He estimated that 250,000 came out to see the sculptures during the first weekend.

Remaining events include an "Ice Caper" at the Mayflower Meeting House Friday at 8 p.m., with dancing to a 1950s band and a chance to scoop a glassful of diamonds; carving competition on Saturday at 10 a.m. at The Gathering; an ice brunch Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Mayflower Meeting House; an ice caper again Saturday night; and a Sunday Brunch at the Mayflower Meeting House from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The ice show has gained national attention, with must-see status accorded by the American Bus Association and Michigan Auto Club.

And what happens to the statues when the event is over?

The American Legion, Passage-Gayde Post of Plymouth, has been accepting bids on the sculptures (through Jan. 21).

Minimum bid is $2 per sculpture. Proceeds go toward Special Olympics and increased scholarships at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools. To bid on a sculpture, call 453-9494.

Schoolcraft College students work on the major piece of King Neptune surrounded by dolphins which will be ready for viewing this weekend.

Manzellas tackle life's challenges

"We try not to just put a bandage on everything. It's not enough just to give out a box of food. Where do they go when the box is gone? We try to put them in touch with the right people or show them how to budget what money they have. We try to help people to help themselves."

Not all of those who come to the center are jobless. Some need a few days in a shelter so they can scrape up enough to rent a room or apartment.

Manzella's own life has been one of searching. He was raised in Chicago and became involved with drugs. But he started a chimney cleaning business and though the business was successful it was not fulfilling.

He met his wife, Jean, at a Salvation Army camp, where he was waterfront director and she worked in the kitchen.

The couple spent a lot of time traveling back and forth from his home in Chicago to her's in Marquette and finally married in 1978. They have two sons, Peter, 2, and Stephen, 3, and are expecting their third child in June.

Like Larry, Jean also is an ordained minister. "We're a team," said Manzella.

"I earn very little in salary but that's not important. I get a house and food on the table. When your job is important, the rest is secondary. At first, money was important but now that doesn't mean a lot. My priorities have changed."

Manzella said the Plymouth center offers more than some other Army centers do. In Cheboygan, for example, the center commander receives no salary.

"We've been privileged," said Manzella.

BUT IT'S DEALING with people that provides him with his greatest ups and his greatest downs.

"Every place, every day is different. You never know what's in store. Once, a man came in and said he had a gun in his car and said he was considering suicide and asked what I could do for him. I didn't want to make him mad."

"It goes from fun to tears. Once, a mom came in during midwinter. Her kid had on a sweater but no shoes and asked for food. We gave her not only food but gave her child shoes and a coat. It has been a real education for me during the last five years. I think I can handle just about anything, but I know I haven't seen everything yet. You've got to love people and meet their needs. The stress can be a very real thing."

The Army center is used not only by people who need the bare necessities of life. The spacious, squeaky-clean building hosts basketball, floor hockey, volleyball and crafts classes. In addition to the gymnasium, offices and meeting rooms, there also is a chapel, which represents the Salvation Army's spiritual source and its missionary goals.

Manzella has not ruled out the possibility that some day he may travel to one of the 86 countries served by the church. "I'm open. It's not my place to decide. Wherever I am, God can use me."

But for now, Plymouth and Canton suit Manzella just fine. "I like it here. I'd be crazy not to."

Chuhran's lawsuit will include entire board

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Members of the Canton Township Board of Trustees are expected to be added this month as defendants in the lawsuit filed by Clerk Linda Chuhran, who initially charged Supervisor James Poole with interfering with her statutory responsibilities.

Additional charges will be added to the lawsuit, according to Alan Helmkamp, Chuhran's attorney.

Providing compensation for a deputy clerk and buying minimal equipment to allow the deputy clerk to carry out his duties will be added, Helmkamp said. Chuhran named Mark Scanlon as deputy clerk last month.

Providing wages for the deputy clerk is a sensitive issue because the board has a long history of refusing payment for administrative deputies.

CANTON TRUSTEE Stephen Larson previously said he would "take that issue all the way to the Supreme Court of the State of Michigan."

Another addition to the lawsuit will be mention of Chuhran's "free access to records," Helmkamp said.

The lawsuit also will cite Chuhran's loss of a township vehicle. The board passed a resolution in mid-December replacing the township-assigned cars of the clerk and treasurer with a $200-per-month car and gas allowance.

The switch went into effect Jan. 1 and is expected to save the township insurance payments, liability coverage and the cost of providing the cars.

A main issue in the lawsuit is defining the clerk's statutory financial responsibilities. Chuhran sought a restraining order rather than financial reimbursement.

Poole has argued that the board has the ultimate authority concerning the lawsuit charges. Therefore, if Chuhran wanted to pursue the charges, the board should be sued, Poole argued.

Wayne Circuit Court Judge James A. Hathaway agreed and dismissed Poole as sole defendant last month.

Helmkamp is not under a deadline to file an amended complaint naming the entire board. Poole and Chuhran are both board members.

Chuhran, who is not an attorney, filed the lawsuit herself early last summer. She subsequently hired Helmkamp and has paid her own attorney fees. If the case continues, Helmkamp said, he expected Chuhran will seek reimbursement from the board.

The board approved $4,000 worth of expenses for Poole's defense. The board's defense also will be covered from township coffers.

Car kills pedestrian

A 78-year-old Plymouth Township woman was struck by a car and killed Friday while attempting to cross Ann Arbor Trail to retrieve a newspaper from a delivery box, township police reported.

The victim, Edith E. Tibbatts, was struck shortly after 6 p.m. in front of her home about 500 feet west of Beck.

Township police don't plan on bringing charges against the driver, a 21-year-old township man, said Deputy Police Chief Chip Snider.

"We found no cause for action against him," Snider said. "The feeling in this case was that the pedestrian was at fault for walking in the roadway."

Police estimate that the car which struck Tibbatts was moving at a speed of 48 mph or less, Snider said. The speed limit at the accident site is 45 mph.

Tibbatts was wearing dark clothing, police reports indicated. While the road surface was dry, lighting in the area is poor.

A relative of Tibbatts said she was deaf, partially blind and moved slowly, police accounts indicate.

Nuremberg — mecca of German train riders

By Joy Schaleben Lewis
special writer

NUREMBERG, West Germany — Ah, the great German railroad system.

It weaves its rails across mountains, forests and fields, linking hamlets to villages to towns to cities, seeming to connect everybody to everywhere to everything — on time. Comfortable and clean, German trains offer cheery service, compartments adorned with pictures and restaurant tables brightened with flowers.

And then there are the German train stations — the bahnhofs. In many, you could actually live for months.

Yes, at the bahnhof, you can dine, exchange money, get tourist information and make hotel reservations. You can also get your clothes cleaned, take a shower, go to the post office, make long-distance calls, rent bicycles, buy international publications, go souvenir shopping, see a movie, take in a peep show, buy flowers, browse in bookstores, enjoy a beer and gorge on huge sausages at inexpensive stand-up bars. Why, you can even stay the night at a Bahnhof Mission Center. Cots go for just a few marks.

Germany's railroad has earned it veneration. The year 1986 marks 151 years of German rails.

IT BEGAN with a little red, green and black steam locomotive christened the "Adler" — the Eagle. Right on time, it left Nuremberg at exactly 11 a.m. on Dec. 7, 1835. With a cargo of two barrels of Bavarian beer, it chugged six kilometers (3.7 miles) west to Furth.

An Englishman, William Wilson, was the proud engineer of the made-in-England engine. His service was esteemed, he earned more than the first top director of that astonishing new mode of travel — a true milestone for European transportation.

Eight months later, King Ludwig I of Bavaria rode the Adler from Nuremberg to Furth. He enthusiastically endorsed the railroad line — and not only because it bore his name.

Nuremberg is a mecca for train buffs and for anyone wanting to romance the rails. At the German Transport Museum, visitors see two ornate blue and gold carriages of King Ludwig II's royal train.

The king had some set-up: A glittering salon with red velvet throne-like chairs, huge mirrors and gilded ceilings, a gold and green bedroom, a marble restroom and even a terrace for enjoying the lush Bavarian landscape in sunshine — a miniature castle on wheels.

NUREMBERG STREET SCENE — The view along Karolinenstrasse street is of the Lorenzkirche church.

The transport museum in Nuremberg features 15 vintage engines including a 1906 Bavarian State Railways model. Diners enjoy lunch in front of a city landmark — the home from 1509 to 1528 of painter Albrecht Durer.

ALSO AT the museum are the 1906 Bavarian State Railways engine capable of the then-sensational speed of 125 miles per hour and 14 other vintage engines.

One room has hundreds of signal boxes, another has 160 model trains — the largest collection in Europe. A model railway show runs once an hour on the half hour. The setting is a typical Bavarian village tucked in the hills. The 450 tiny cars do much of their maneuvering in a copy of Nuremberg's shunting station.

The Transport Museum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Entrance is 60 cents for adults, 45 cents for students and children.

With so much looking to do, the Germans thought it would be fun to experience the nostalgic past firsthand. So, steam engine rides with vintage coaches run between Nuremberg and Bayreuth and Nuremberg and Amberg, from May through September.

The line to Amberg, about 40 miles east of Nuremberg, is especially popular with outright rail devotees. They love its steep incline between Hartmannsberg and Etzelwang.

THE 80-MINUTE trip leaves Nuremberg at 10:20 a.m. and departs Amberg at 3:10 p.m. That gives you a good four hours to explore Amberg, a pretty medieval town surrounded by a wall and towers. The adult round-trip is $10 first class, $8 second class. For children under 12, corresponding costs are $5 and $4.

Railway fanfare aside, just visiting Nuremberg itself is a treat.

Strolling through the walled, old city center, your delighted senses topple over each other. Dazzling sights, tantalizing smells, the sound of music and charming street scenes capture your attention.

Half-timbered houses, churches adorned with medieval art and a castle with a view to the pine forests beyond compete with tangy gingerbread aromas, jovial organ grinders, flutists and violinists, shops jammed with miniature wooden toys, and an open market crammed with fruits, vegetables, souvenirs and hawkers demonstrating their "indispensable" wares.

WHAT FUN. And how amazing, considering that 41 years ago 90 percent of old Nuremberg was destroyed in 59 air raids in the final five months of the war. All is restored.

Nuremberg's most famous son is the painter Albrecht Durer. His four-story house — built for a rich merchant in 1450 — is a museum. He lived there from 1509 until he died in 1528. The paintings and drawings are Durer replicas, but impressive, especially the charcoal drawing of his 63-year-old mother. She had 18 children; 15 died young.

Streets in old Nuremberg are closed to cars except for taxis and commercial vehicles. So walking is easy. Eventually, everyone ends up at the main market square, world-famous for its Christmas fair. If you happen to be in love, turn the "ring" welded to the lattice work around the square's fountain. Nurembergers say it brings good luck and happiness to lovers.

Famed Nuremberg sights are the Imperial Castle, the Gothic churches of St. Sebaldus, St. Lorenz and the Church of Our Lady, the Toy Museum, the medieval torture prison, and the Germanic National Museum. However, there's only so much sight-seeing anyone can do in a stretch.

A GOOD time-out break is in the old city section known as the Handwerkhof — a medieval artisan's courtyard. It's a little area of half-timbered houses beneath the city's towers and walls. Craftsmen show off their age-old techniques.

In the Handwerkhof Rostbratwurstkeuche. Grilled sausages, a Nuremberg specialty, is its specialty, too. They come six on a plate with red cabbage, saurkraut, homemade rolls and potato salad.

Martin Luther once said, "Nuremberg shines forth throughout Germany like a sun among the moon and stars." Apt words still for Nuremberg.

For more information on Nuremberg or the vintage rail excursions, write the German National Tourist Office, 747 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017 or call (212) 308-3300.

AAA offers new range of trip, travel insurance

A program to provide trip insurance tailored to meet the needs of air, ship, rail, bus and car travelers has been introduced by AAA Michigan starting Jan. 1.

The Travel Related Insurance Policy (TRIP) is a flexible program which allows travelers to select their desired coverage from a range of insurance options for travel, baggage, trip cancellation, or interruption and personal protection during a trip.

"TRIP insurance combines comprehensive travel protection with ease of purchase for AAA Travel Agency clients," said Peter Erickson, AAA Michigan Travel Services director.

"Travelers can purchase TRIP at the time they make arrangements or they can mail in for the insurance."

ONE OF the biggest benefits of the new program is a 24-hour toll-free service line which travelers can use anywhere to obtain coverage information or service.

TRIP is offered on travel up to 180 days in length and provides coverage on a worldwide basis, unlike many programs which exclude "hot spot" trouble areas. Charter coverage also is available.

"We feel there is a strong need for this type of competitively priced travel insurance protection," Erickson added. "TRIP enhances the programs we already offer."

Travelers can choose the amount of coverage they want in one to four key areas:

- Air travel — covers accidental death, dismemberment or loss of sight and covers the policyholder while traveling to and from the airport.

- Baggage — covers loss of luggage and personal possessions, including travel documents and credit cards. All bags are provided easily identified tags to assist in getting lost luggage returned.

- Trip cancellation and interruption — covers traveler if trip is canceled due to injury, illness or other unforeseen circumstances as well as covering lost deposits and other expenses due to the default of airline, cruise line or tour operator.

- Personal protection — covers liability, accidental death, medical expense and emergency assistance.

"Persons can obtain any combination of travel, trip cancellation and personal protection insurance desired," Erickson added. "An important advantage to this program is that a person only buys what is needed. A person doesn't have to buy the whole package."

TRIP information is available to all AAA Michigan travel offices statewide, including locations at Detroit's Renaissance Center and Cobo hall.

AAA Michigan, which is the state's largest travel agency, anticipates that up to 35,000 persons will take advantage of the program during 1986.

The program allows travelers to select their desired coverage from a range of insurance options for travel, baggage, trip cancellation or interruption.

Builders show March 15-23

The 68th annual Builders Home Flower and Furniture Show will be held from March 15-23 at Cobo Hall. Heralding the arrival of spring, it will feature more than 400 exhibitors ranging from gardens, home building and improvement products and accessories and displays of above-ground swimming pools, hot tubs, saunas and equipment.

The show is the largest of its kind in America and last year attracted nearly 500,000 visitors. The House of Nails promotion is one of Detroit's most famous contests. Judges representing show exhibitors will partially fill the clear lucite house — 2 feet wide by 4 feet long by 2 feet tall — with carpenter's nails in various sizes. Every ticket holder to the March show will have a chance to win $20,000 cash by estimating the number of nails in the house.

USE GLYCERIN or vinegar instead of water when mixing plaster of paris. This prevents rapid drying. Need room around the house? Sell a few items in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Ad section of your hometown newspaper.

Sunbird comes home to roost

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

Unlike the travelers who seek out the sun belt, Dr. William Taylor turned his back on the hot weather to return to the Plymouth area and its ice and snow to continue his role as a family physician.

Sitting in his office, once occupied by Dr. Lee Feldkamp, Taylor explained that he was a bit tired of the southern area and had a great desire to return here.

FOR MORE THAN 17 years he had been on the staff of the Family Medical Center on Hix Road at Ann Arbor Road and had built up quite a following.

"I liked it there," he said, "and really hated to leave. We had a home in Charleston, S.C., and a boat and our home was close to the ocean shore."

"Well you know what happened down that way recently when the ocean kicked up and it no longer was a place to live in real safety."

"We had moved there in 1984 and had built up a lot of friends, though the people down there are just a bit different in their thinking on some medical care."

"I got the idea that I would like to go back to the Plymouth area. But I didn't want to start to build up a whole new clientele."

"Then I heard that Dr. Feldkamp, who has served long in Plymouth as a family physician, was considering retiring and might be willing to dispose of his office and patients."

"I contacted him and made a deal. That is what I was hoping I could find. I contacted him, made a deal and here I am in the new office in the Canton Professional Park on Canton Center-Road just ready to get back into action."

DURING HIS STAY in the sun belt Taylor had spent some time in Atlanta. But it wasn't the type of practice he liked.

"It wasn't like my old place on Hix Road when I served there," he said.

"Finally we made up our minds to move away from the sun belt and that is how we got here to this rather new medical center that was built by Bud Gould."

"I had no trouble making a deal with Dr. Feldkamp, but I understand that now that he is retiring he is considering moving to Florida after his long and faithful service up here."

By a peculiarity both doctors are loyal members of the Rotary Club of Plymouth. Feldkamp served as the president of the Plymouth club only two years ago and Taylor was a loyal member before he went south.

Down in the sun belt he also served in Rotary and now has reactivated his membership in the Plymouth club.

While sitting in his new office, Dr. Taylor told of some of his experiences in the southern clubs. He confided that these clubs enjoy visitors but not new members.

"They don't have much room for new homes and they know that a visitor will be there only during the vacation period. So the visitors are always welcome."

Then with a chuckle, he said, "One of the reasons we came back is the fact that we have a new grandchild. We were always coming up to see him. So we decided to move back and be in his company more often."

Pennville CUSTOM CABINETS Presents KITCHEN, BATH & HOME INTERIOR IDEAS

Three Good Answers to Where to Put Microwave
Brought To You By Ed Kepley

Where to put the new microwave oven is a recurring question, and one that demands a little thought. The usual place, on the countertop, usually is the worst place because few kitchens are so rich in work space on the counter that they can give some of it up.

One ingenious solution is the practice of combining microwave with the ventilating hood over the range.

But some question that because it is too high, or it is too warm to work at when the range also is being used, or because it is too busy a place. Many feel the range should be out of the way of the microwave.

The best place is between waist and shoulder level, off the counter. That suggests three possibilities: Hang it from the bottom of a wall cabinet, or put it on a wall, either recessed or on a special shelf constructed for the purpose; or build a shelf to sit on a counter which raised the microwave at least six inches so you still have counter space under it.

Some units are higher than others, so hanging from the wall cabinet is ruled out for the high ones. But some fit very well.

Whatever the problem, we can help you with it. So visit our showroom where we can talk it over.

Smart vote taken on valuable site

THE PLANNING Commission made a wise decision last week in approving the site plan for the condominiums on the Wilcox House site at Union and Penniman Avenue in Plymouth.

The site has been underutilized for years and needed to be put to another use because the land is just too valuable to remain as residential. While most residents just see the large white Victorian dwelling at the apex of Kellogg Park, what many may not realize is that a large tract of land lies fallow behind the portly historic residence.

In fact, the Wilcox House rests on the front corner of a two-acre site, which in the heart of downtown Plymouth is a super-prime piece of property. Once developed the site will add a substantial amount to the taxrolls. All residents will benefit from the added wealth to the tax-base.

The property is within the boundaries of the Downtown Development Authority which means the added property tax revenues will be "captured" for designated use within the downtown. That will provide a significant amount of revenues, however, which could go toward retiring the debt of the Central Parking Lot deck or for identifiable operating costs incurred downtown by police, fire or DPW. That will either result in direct benefit for homeowners or in reducing the risk that the general fund may be hit up for debt retirement for downtown projects.

THE ENTIRE city also will benefit by having more people moving into the city. Plymouth cannot continue as a healthy viable residential community by remaining dormant.

If there is no change, blight will set in and the economic burden of providing services will become too great. The units will be selling for between $170,000 and $200,000 and anyone whose income can support those kind of payments will have money to spend downtown which will add to the economic health of the city.

The proposed Wilcox condos will not provide any parking congestion to the downtown as it provides more spaces than the amount required by city code. In that sense, it's unique as the project is one of the few major developments in recent years which has not sought parking credits.

NEITHER WILL the project generate any significant traffic congestion. The 44 units will generate no more than 100 cars which will not "converge" on the site all at one time. Instead the tenants will be coming and going at various parts of the day and will hardly be noticed by other motorists.

The property presently is zoned for commercial use. If developed for commercial use, the site would generate far more traffic and could place a far greater strain on parking facilities than as a condominium. The only alternative, which is not an alternative, is to leave the site exactly as it is.

THE ISSUE WHICH seems to bother most people is height.

The building will be six stories high or 70 feet tall.

Mayflower II, now that it's up, has not been found to be too tall. The two-story motel unit behind the Meeting House also are "invisible" to the general public as are the Village Green Apartments and Tonquish Creek Manor.

The fact is that the Wilcox condos are being built in the area of town which has the tallest buildings. If there's room any place in town for a 70-foot tall building it's within a two-block diameter of Ann Arbor Trail and Main.

We do understand that the question of height is an aesthetic issue. On matters of aesthetics there can be as many opinions as there are people. The Planning Commission and City Commission a few years ago attempted to apply logic to the problem by suggesting that height is relative to width — a rather obvious principle. And so a guideline was established which provides that the height of a building may be one and a half times its distance from the middle of the roadway to the building's edge. That is a very rational approach to such an emotional issue as aesthetics. The formula allows Wilcox to go eight stories high; instead he has limited height to six stories.

It seems to us that the Planning Commission had little choice but to approve the site plan. Likewise, the City Commission has little choice but to endorse that decision and allow the project to proceed. While individuals certainly have a right to be both opinionated and emotional, government always must seek the rational path.

How he missed out on a Pulitzer prize

LIFE, THEY say, is filled with mistakes.

Which is the worst you ever made? This question was put to The Stroller over lunch the other day, and it didn't take him long to recall a mistake that was made more than a half-century ago — and it still haunts him.

As he began to answer the question, the setting came back in his mind just as clear as crystal. It was the week in 1931 when the American Legion was holding its national convention in Detroit, and plans were made to give the parade of the Legionnaires a big play in the daily papers.

With that in mind, the chief of the Detroit Free Press where The Stroller worked decided to form a complete staff to cover all segments of the confab.

THE EDITOR selected six staff members to cover the parade, which was expected to be the largest and most colorful of the year when it came down Woodward Avenue.

The Stroller was taken from the sports department for the day and assigned to this group.

His orders were to take a segment of the marching units and then use his best efforts to get all the color in his portion of a larger story.

He reported to the reviewing stand at 10 in the morning to get ready for the long day.

It was a colorful affair, and the words came easy.

THEN IN THE afternoon, it became a sort of tiresome job, and The Stroller asked for relief. He had a football game to cover that night. So he was relieved.

Instead of going home to rest, he returned to the office. There he found the editors debating how to present the piece that would be one of the paper's features for the next morning.

The editors figured one writer should the stroller

W.W.
Edgar

not be given credit for writing the entire piece, so they were planning to use all six names of the parade group of writers.

WHEN THE Stroller saw it, he laughed. He complained that no one would be given credit.

"Funniest thing I ever saw," he told the editors. He asked to have his name removed. After all, he'd have a byline in the sports section.

Heeding his request, the editors dropped his name from the list. At the time, The Stroller thought he had scored a victory. But his sort of proud feeling was short-lived.

The parade story was given a fine position in the paper. We all were proud of it.

A few weeks went by, and the news was flashed.

THE STORY had been awarded a Pulitzer prize for reporting.

All the writers whose names appeared at the top of the story were invited to New York to be honored with a Pulitzer prize plaque and cash award.

You can imagine how The Stroller felt. The Stroller's name had been lifted at his own request.

As the group left in a body for New York, The Stroller waved goodbye at the window. Just think: If he hadn't been so bold as to ask his byline be removed, he would have gone through life as a Pulitzer prize winner — the highest honor he could be paid.

It was the biggest mistake he ever made.

Detroit's frown, upside down

ON SLOW news days of late, I've been poring over "Michigan beyond 2000," the Hudson Institute (HI) report for the state Senate. In the sometimes depressing chapter on Detroit, an old song from a Walt Disney movie leaps to mind:

*Everybody's got a laughing place,
A laughing place to go ho-ho.
Take a frown, turn it upside down,
And you'll find yours I know-ho-ho.*

Detroit? A laughing place? Have I been awash in too much holiday punch? Did my brain cells freeze on an ice-fishing trip? Not so. There's genuine hope, says the Hudson Institute, for Detroit to become the capital of black America, and the turnaround could be visible by 2005.

DETROIT COULD have a lot going for it — provided its leaders "take a frown, turn it upside down."

In one generation Detroit has lost more than a million white residents, gained a half-million blacks and on balance lost a half-million. Since the 1950 peak of more than 1.8 million, the population loss has been 40 percent.

On the other hand, the HI report points out, land scarcity is no problem, as it is in many old cities. Just the opposite:

"Owing to abandonments, Detroit now has about 12 square miles of vacant land.

FUTURISTS these days are making big bucks (I love that term. It started out, I suspect, on TV games and became an accepted part of the patois of newspaper reporters, government officials, business persons and clergymen. It signifies an imprecise amount of money but probably more than the average McDonald's burger-server makes in a lifetime.)

Futurists define the future's parameters (another vague word used mostly by professional phonies) so that us normals stuck in our own day-to-day troubles can point ourselves in the right direction. I have decided to get into the futurist racket so that big bucks will come my way.

AS A starter, I predict that the average person will have to come to terms with the following trends:

- Travel time to airports will lengthen so that any airport trip will take at least as long as the time spent in air travel.

- Unions will begin bargaining for legal coverage as well as medical, dental and optical benefits to keep pace with the fact that in the future there will be one lawyer for every 100 residents and an average of three lawsuits per family.

- Testing of employees for new job will include such things as lie detector tests, testing for drugs, urinalysis, TV and sound monitors and drug and contraband-sniffing dogs in the work place. Two-way mirrors are also possible.

Tim Richard

Its central business district is strikingly underdeveloped."

And catch this potentially cheerful note: "The city holds bottom rank among the nation's 33 largest downtowns in the price (per square foot) of office space."

Cheap land! That used to be a rallying cry for pioneers in the 19th century. It could be again.

CAN DETROIT realize its "new redevelopment potential"?

More than half the kids are fatherless and on welfare, taxes on those with jobs are enormous, there has been "a 20-year crime explosion" — but yes, it could be done.

Our older neighbor to the southeast, however, must change its land policies. Instead of "passively marketing" dinky 30-foot lots at the rate of only 1,000 a year — meanwhile adding ever more land to its 27,000-lot inventory — the city should assemble those lots into larger parcels, HI suggests.

Politically, that's more easily said than done. HI recalls the massive resistance to the job-producing General Motors Pole-town project straddling the Detroit-Hamtramck border. HI sees Detroit as politically hostile to middle-class development, whether white or black.

But the supply of cheap land, both downtown and in the neighborhoods, is a genuine ray of hope.

CAN DETROIT do it? Reading between HI's lines, yes:

"Together with rapid growth of the black professional class, a new generation of political leaders is emerging . . . A less abrasive and street-wise political style, and far greater skill at networking and alliance building."

HI suggests, as I noted last week, holding the lid on city wage increases. It also suggests more regionalization of services.

There are other assets: riverfront condos; corporate involvement of Ford, American Natural Resources and Stroh in downtown redevelopment; the successful campaign for tri-county taxation to pay for Cobo Hall expansion.

All of us in the suburbs are paying big federal and state taxes to support Detroit. Some of us who were raised there have a soft spot in our hearts for the old town. Anyone with any humanitarian spark should want to see it succeed.

"Take a frown, turn it upside down . . .

A look ahead — it isn't all roses

and legal papers, another for various civil suits, etc.

For example, if you mailman sues you for having an eyesore frontyard overgrown with vegetation and littered with children's toys — which, he alleges, caused him to feel undue stress and seek early retirement — you want a lawyer who is familiar with such cases.

You certainly don't want the guy you have retained to sue the local police department for harassing you by insisting that you break up a noisy party that a neighbor said caused undue stress to his eardrums at 3 a.m. Each lawyer has his specialty, like some deal only with back injuries, others handle only workers comp claims and others will deal only with suits against markets which have sold unrefresh fish.

EMPLOYEE LITIGATION coverage will mean you will be able to have lawyers on hand instead of picking them out of the yellow pages or from advertisements on TV.

In the area of employee testing, more scrutiny will be the watchword. One company, Capital Cities, which owns ABC, said it will start a program at its Kansas City newspaper of having dogs run through the building at night to sniff out possible drugs. Some companies have installed TV monitoring devices to keep an eye on whether employees are performing adequately, or, perhaps to ensure that employees think someone is watching at all times.

In the novel 1984, it was the government watching citizens. The reality may be that in our brave new world it may be our bosses.

Bob Wisler

AIRPORTS AROUND the world are gearing up for more and more security as terrorists continue to strike. All it will take will be one attack at a U.S. airport and the airports will institute a series of Checkpoint Charlies. Passengers will have to have engraved tickets with as many swirls as dollar bills to pass inspection at scanning devices.

People accompanying passengers will no longer wave goodbye at the plane door — they'll be three miles down the road at a special wave goodbye parking lot where they will drop would-be passengers off for a jitney ride by armed guards to the airplane.

The old waiting areas in airports will converted into dressing stalls, where people can disrobe down to their undies for weapons checks.

Needed is an invention for airplanes which will unlose a stream of gas to put passengers to sleep whenever a sound monitor picks up the word "hijack" in any of 42 languages.

LEGAL COVERAGE is definitely a must. People will have to have different legal specialists for different situations. One for wills

Many bills are introduced but few become law

By Tim Richard
staff writer

With nine strokes of Gov. James J. Blanchard's pen, state Sen. Rudy Nichols became one of the most successful members of the Legislature in getting bills passed.

Blanchard recently signed a package of bills to toughen child support collection procedures.

Nichols, a freshman Republican from Waterford whose district includes greater Rochester, worked on a bipartisan team with Rep. Debbie Stabenow, a Democrat from Lansing, to win passage in both houses. But because the Legislature enacted the Senate versions of the bills, Nichols' name goes on them.

It illustrates one of the quirks of Michigan legislative politics, where only one bill in a hundred ever becomes law.

BLANCHARD'S news office even gave credit to Nichols as prime sponsor of the package.

"Michigan continues to be one of the most successful states in the nation in its effort to collect child support," said Blanchard. The bills and their provisions:

- SB 224 amends the Friend of the Court Act to specify FOC responsibilities in enforcing support orders and to provide for reporting of information to governmental and consumer reporting agencies.

- SB 227 creates the Office of Child Support, replacing the Office of Central Registry for the Location of Absent Parents. The office is to develop a statewide information system and administer the enforcement of an order of income.

- SB 228 amends the Support and Visitation Enforcement Act to allow a court to require a bond or impose a lien to secure payment of child support orders.

- SB 441 provides for the "interception" by the state Department of Treasury of tax refunds to be used to pay taxpayers' liabilities.

- SB 442, 443, 445 and 446 amend three acts — Family Support, Divorce and Child Custody — to require that orders entered under them be enforceable as provided in the Support and Visitation Enforcement Act.

- SB 444 creates the "Interstate Income Withholding Act," providing a mechanism for the withholding of income in other states.

That gave Nichols a record of nine bills passed out of 29 introduced, one of the best in the Legislature.

BUT LEGISLATORS, though they frequently seek publicity on bills they have introduced, are quick to point out that numbers don't tell the story.

Lansing's two most powerful lawmakers — Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mt. Pleasant, and House Speaker Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti — rarely introduce legislation. Engler has introduced one bill; Owen, zero.

Being a member of a minority party hurts. Sen. Jack Faxon, a legislative veteran of 21 years, is a Democrat in a House run by Republicans. The Farmington Hills senator, whose district includes Southfield, is batting zero for 34.

Sometimes members of one party will steal provisions of Sen. A's bill and tack it onto Rep. B's bill. The measure may pass, but Sen. A doesn't get credit.

Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, whose district includes Livonia, Plymouth and Canton, said Democrats in the House did this to his voter registration bill.

LEADERS OF the appropriations committees seem to have high batting averages, until one realizes that the Legislature must pass appropriations bills every year.

So Sens. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, the chairman, and James DeSana, D-Wyandotte, the vice chairman, have 3-for-5 and 9-for-31 records of bill passage, respectively.

Rep. Carolyn Cheeks Kilpatrick, D-Detroit, has 18 stars behind her name. But they are all technical amendments to existing laws to delete references to the now-defunct Detroit House of Correction. Under the Michigan Constitution, a bill may address only one subject, so it took 18 bills to do the job.

Junior members of the Legislature rarely get bills passed and are well advised to concentrate on what is euphemistically known as "constituent service." Translation: Do odd jobs for the folks back home so you can get re-elected, earn seniority and become effective.

analysis

HERE'S HOW bills introduced by other western Wayne County legislators fared as of mid-December, when this compilation was made by the Legislative Service Bureau:

- Sen. William Faust, D-Westland — zero for 14. Faust last year stepped down as Senate minority leader.

- Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville — one for nine. It covers increasing the bonding authority for prisons.

- Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn — two for 11. One covers the Great Lakes basin compact, the other affects the health code for cities under 40,000. A three-term senator, McCollough represents Garden City.

- Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia — zero for one. She is a freshman.

- Rep. Justine Barna, D-Westland — zero for 13. She is in her second term.

- Rep. John Bennett, D-Redford — two for 18. They cover appointment of business referees and county treasurer investments. Bennett is a 20-year veteran whose district includes several square miles of Livonia.

- Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City — two for 18. A six-term member, Keith scored big with his law allowing statewide branch banking and interstate banking. Republicans in the Senate had drafted a similar measure but, in a show of respect, passed Keith's version.

- Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton — two for nine. They cover a property tax credit and school aid allocations. A freshman, Kosteva has cultivated the House Democratic leadership.

- Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth — one for 19, covering limitations on prisons. He is in his second term.

Of every 100 bills introduced in the Legislature, only one eventually becomes a law.

Water meter sucks water down the drain

Call it the "Case of the Missing Water" or "If the Meter Isn't Broken, the Homeowner is Stuck with the Bill."

The Plymouth Township Board Tuesday denied a request from Denise Williams to roll back her summer water bill by $60 when it was determined that the meter which measures water use in her home isn't defective.

Williams, who lives on Schoolcraft, maintained that it wasn't possible that her family used 93,000 gallons of water in a three-month period last summer as indicated by the meter — almost three times as much as the usual metering of 25,000 gallons for that period.

Williams conceded that her toilet leaks but added that the fall water billing returned to normal even though the leak hadn't been repaired.

"This should prove the leak did not cause the ridiculous amount of 93,000 extra gallons of water," Williams informed the township board.

Tom Hollis, township DPW superintendent, couldn't come up with a direct cause for the sudden surge in water use as indicated by the meter but confirmed that the meter isn't defective.

"WE HAVE no way of knowing how much water was used except the meter itself," Hollis said. "In the past, the policy is we've always passed the bill on to the customer."

It was suggested that builders may have somehow gained access to the Williams' water when constructing a house nearby but Williams discounted that possibility.

She proposed another theory. "My husband feels there was a bad storm and a crack of lightning hit the house and somehow moved the meter," Williams said. "I've wracked my brain trying to come up with any way . . ."

The township board, though sympathetic, voted 4-3 to deny Williams' request. Supervisor Maurice Breen and trustees Smith Horton, Abe Munfakh and Andrew Pruner formed the majority.

"If you try to make a judgment on every bill, this township board will be spending most of the time on bills and we'd be guessing," Spreen said. "To me, tap-in during construction is a reasonable explanation."

"I believe you wholeheartedly, but I believe someone can come in here in the future and give us a story and it could be 10 times as much," Munfakh told Williams.

"I'M CONCERNED about the precedent aspect," Horton said. "The mere fact we can't find an explanation doesn't mean one doesn't exist."

"I think it's bad precedent. I suppose any time we have a similar case, we would have to pay the difference."

A couple of board members advocated Williams cause.

"Something is peculiar. You just can't run 25,000 gallons and get a spike of that magnitude causing that to occur and, without anyone doing anything, the spike has gone away," said James Irvine. "Deep in my heart, I don't believe water went through the meter."

"It seems Mrs. Williams is pretty sincere to approach the board and pursue the matter this far," said Treasurer Mary Brooks.

Hollis said his department receives inquiries similar to Williams' on five to 10 water bills per month.

Training for hospices diminishes fear of death

By Richard Lech
staff writer

HOSPICE volunteers find that their training eases their own fears of death.

"When you go through the training, you don't feel depressed, you feel uplifted in a way," said Carol Gerus of Canton, a volunteer in Madonna College's new Angela Hospice Home Care Program.

"I've always been afraid of death, but I just wanted to find out more about hospice," said Helen MacArthur, an Angela Hospice volunteer from Livonia.

"After 10 weeks of training, I'm not worried at all. We got a lot of good information, and the more you discuss it, the less afraid you are of the whole thing. It's certainly something I'd want for myself or my family when the time comes."

Gerus and MacArthur are among 18 volunteers who recently completed the Angela program's first training session. A second session, with 30 volunteers enrolled, begins this week.

The sessions cover such topics as how to communicate and listen better as well as how to care for the physical needs of a terminally ill patient.

"We also have a lot of discussion on death and dying so we volunteers become sensitive to our own death so we can be empathetic with others," said the program's executive director, Sister Mary Giovanni Monge, a registered nurse and member of the Madonna hospice education program.

STARTING this week, the volunteers will go into the homes of a group of terminally ill patients in western Wayne County. There they help the patients — and their families — cope with their physical and emotional problems.

Angela Hospice is an outgrowth of Madonna's hospice education program, Sister Giovanni said. The hospice takes its name from Mother Angela, the founder of the Felician Sisters, the order that runs the college and nearby St. Mary Hospital.

The hospice's staff includes an interdisciplinary team of a physician, Dan Benvenisti, a pharmacist, Walt Siembab, and a social worker, Shirley Zimmerman, plus nurses and the lay volunteers. The staff works closely with St. Mary Hospital.

Benvenisti selects the patients who will be served and comes up with a treatment plan covering the patient's medication, nutritional and other needs. Zimmerman said her role is that of a mediator between the patient and his or her family or between the volunteers and the patient.

THE LAY VOLUNTEERS will help with such tasks as clerical work and the manning of the 24-hour hospice phone line, but they also are trained to help out at the patient's homes.

The volunteers can help the family with whatever tasks need to be done to care for the patient, whether it's changing a bed or serving a meal to a bed-bound patient.

"You do what needs to be done, and sometimes you don't do," volunteer Elaine Friedman of Canton said. "Sometimes you just hold a hand or wipe a tear."

The hospice volunteers come from all walks of life and participate for a variety of reasons, Sister Giovanni said. Some have had a death in their own family. Others just wanted to become involved in a worthwhile volunteer project.

"One gentleman whose brother was dying joined because he wanted to help his brother, but now he's staying on," she said.

FRIEDMAN SAID she joined because she wants to use her own experiences to help others overcome any fears they might have of using a hospice. Her father died in April at the Hospice of Southeastern Michigan, where he received "a lot of comfort" from the staff, she said.

Friedman was so impressed that she volunteered at that hospice, then signed up for the Angela program.

Sometimes other people don't understand why anyone would volunteer for something as "depressing" as hospice work, Friedman said.

"It's like, 'Oh, wow, stay away,'" she said. "But I just feel gratified when I help somebody."

Volunteer Christie Gerus, a high school senior from Canton, gets a similar reaction from others.

"Friends say, 'You're strange,' but this is what I like to do," said Gerus, who is considering a medical career. She joined the Angela program with her mother, Carol, who works for Madonna academic dean Sister Rose Marie. Carol Gerus got interested in the program while doing research on hospices for Sister Rose Marie.

BY GOING into the homes, the volunteers give the patients a choice they might not otherwise have — the opportunity to die at home. Most people would rather die in the familiar surroundings of their own home than in a hospital or nursing home, Sister Giovanni said.

"It gives them a sense of control," she said. "They can't control the fact that they are dying, but they can control things they wouldn't be able to control at a hospital or nursing home."

"If they want to dress up in a jogging suit that day, they can. If they don't want to eat now, they don't have to."

Sister Giovanni said a key part of hospice care is treating the patient and family as "one unit of care." When the patient dies, the hospice volunteers can be there to help the family. They can call the funeral director and police or help arrange the wake.

Angela Hospice is starting out small, to smooth the initial kinks of operation, Sister Giovanni said. In its first year, it will be able to handle only seven patients as a non-licensed hospice.

The hospice will serve patients throughout western Wayne County, Sister Giovanni said. She also works closely with other hospices, such as Hospice Support Services of Westland, to refer patients to the hospice that is closest to their homes.

Sister Giovanni and others involved in the program see Angela Hospice as eventually having its own permanent facility, probably as part of St. Mary Hospital.

Sister Mary Giovanni Monge, executive director of the hospice home-care program, would like the program eventually to have its own hospice facility.

"We'd like to have our own in-patient facility, because that's strongly needed in this area," Sister Giovanni said. "Hopefully, it will be in the not-too-distant future."

The next Angela Hospice training session will be in April. For more information on becoming a volunteer or if you need the hospice services, call Sister Giovanni at 591-5157.

Discussing dealing with death are (from left) Canton residents Christie Gerus, Carol Gerus and Elaine Friedman, and Livonia resident Helen MacArthur. They are among 18 volunteers who attended a hospice training session at the Madonna College Angela Hospice Home Care Program. Many of the volunteers found the session offered them a way of coming to terms with their own mortality.

Canton chatter

Sandy Preblich

981-6354

Here we go again. I hope this week I remind you of something wonderful from your past or perhaps remind you of an event you didn't want to miss this year. So here go some more "memories."

St. John Neumann put in the cornerstone for the addition to the church, and what a wonderful addition it is. In the cornerstone were letters written by children from today's parish to be opened in 100 years by the children of the parish at that time. Well, one year down and only 99 to go.

As June was upon us, it was time to say goodbye and thank you to the officers of the Canton Newcomers, hello to the new officers, and to quickly review all the wonderful projects that the group had undertaken and so successfully completed.

BEFORE WE KNEW what was happening the Canton Country Festival was here. Where did the time go?

Always an exciting week for Canton, one which requires cooperation and teamwork like you have never seen before, and one which was to possibly see the last Canton Country Festival Parade. I was honored last year to co-host the live cablecast presentation of it with J.P. McCarthy.

Even with that, we had a wonderful festival. All the credit goes to the festival committee. It's true they need community cooperation and, yes, they need exhibitors, food vendors, and performers as well as police, firemen and endless help from the D.P.W. — not to mention the cooperation of the Township Board.

But, no matter what help they receive, THEY and only they (with the possible inclusion of their families), are responsible for any and all successes we achieve with our festival.

One last time, I'd like to mention last year's board by name: Deborah O'Connor, president; Larry Bowerman, first vice-president, meals and concessions; Rebecca Havenstein, treasurer, and arts and crafts; Denise Krauser, secretary and parade; Jim Davison, sings; Kay Baldrice, publicity; James Gillig, entertainment; David Gerzewski, traffic and parking; Lorraine Kayes, information and sales; Cindy Owens, special events; Dan Pope, Las Vegas tent; John Schwartz, grounds; Bill Simmerer, vice chairman, grounds; and Terry Chuhran, compliance officer. Thank you so very much.

We reviewed that wonderful week and lamented the loss (once again) of all my pets in the show. We have decided not to put them through the humiliation again this year — you won't have the "Preblich Pets" to kick around anymore. We shall keep them home and sheltered where they are loved and for whom they are... not what they are.

I am really looking forward to all the other wonderful things though, especially the chicken bar-b-que. Oh yes, the watermelon-eating contest, and the pancake breakfast, the steakburger dinner, the entertainment... oh, and the Kitchen Band, the cow-chip fling and how about the shish kebab dinner, the tug-of-war, the rodeo, the rides, the Las Vegas tent, the arts and crafts tent.

Well, I guess I'm looking forward to the whole thing. By the way Larry Bowerman is president of this year's event. Good luck Larry and to all your crew!

IT WAS RIGHT about now we had to say goodbye to Kathy Freece, former writer of this column and all-around enthusiastic Canton Booster.

Kathy had not only gotten married but was moving to Livonia and would soon be, and is now, sorely missed. Finally, it was time to enjoy the hot air balloon festival again.

But this year, surprise, surprise, it was ours! It was large and fun, and fantastic — even if the weather tried to fight us. We had a marvelous turnout as we hosted our neighbors for the first time, as they have done so many times in the past.

We loved it. We look forward to this year's festival, we have had more time to prepare and we have learned a lot. So keep your eyes peeled, the balloons are coming — for everyone!

We took a moment to wish J.P. McCarthy from Omnicom's Single Touch program, a get-well wish. I guess it worked because he is back in full swing and was at the recent Salvation Army Telethon in fine form from beginning to end.

Congratulations were in order to Rose Smith, winner of the "Canton's Best Mom Ever" contest. Nominated by her daughter, Marge White, who just retired from the White Sales and Service on Sheldon, they had a marvelous celebration at the Mr. Steak on Ford Road with Supervisor Jim Poole stopping by to wish her congratulations.

PARTIES WERE in full swing, with the residents of Gloucester leading the way with a block party they have honed to an exact science. They have mastered the block party as no one does a great deal of work, everyone plays, and there is something for everybody. Not bad eh?

The parties continued when the Newcomers slipped over to Independence Lake Park in Washtenaw County for a day of fun in the sun. Members, and prospective members and their families are in attendance at this event which is an excellent opportunity to get to know the members and check out the club's activities.

This is one event the whole family comes to as opposed to many throughout the year that traditionally only the ladies gather for. This activity happened in late July, so mark your calendars and give the Newcomers a call to check out this year's dates. Ann Colwell (453-6552) or Kathi Mei (981-1697) should have the answer for you.

IT WAS LIKE seeing one of our own come into his own as a young man I met at the Substance Abuse Telethon, and coaxed onto television on that day and later into co-hosting my cable program, was to make it in the "big time." Greg Lea was chosen to compete in the first United States Michigan Men's Pageant against some 63 contestants at the Premier Center in Sterling Heights with Marilyn Turner from Channel 7 and her son hosting the event with full coverage.

Well, Greg came through for Canton in his first contest ever as he came in fourth runner-up and took home a huge trophy and loads of prizes.

Greg is the son of Barb and Denny Timmerman of Gloucester and the brother of Jeff and Gina. We were all fortunate enough to be there along with my daughter Tammi and Laurie Karpinski, not to mention Greg's assorted relatives and friends including grandparents, the night of the competition.

It was just the beginning of Greg's career as featured in this newspaper last year. Although he still holds down a full-time job at Galaxy Boring & Joy, he is wasting no time in getting things going as he has had several jobs in modeling since, including fashion shows, and stage performances working with the John Casablanca Modeling agency.

I warn you to keep an eye on him you know there is something to be said about being able to say "I knew him when" — and boy am I proud to be one who can say that about him.

If you want to catch a glimpse of this hunk, just tune in the Sandy Show on Omnicom which he still co-hosts with me when he has the time.

Liz Constantine

Agency to hold seminar

Plymouth Township resident Liz Constantine expects about 200 women to take part in her modeling seminar April 26 and 27 at the Novi Hilton.

Constantine, 21, a graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, began her modeling business about two months ago.

"This is a new concept," she said. "It will be a weekend seminar. Later we'll take it to Detroit and Chicago."

She said the seminar will include modeling exercises, a certificate for girls who complete the seminar, make-up, photography, video, runway and how to promote yourself as a model.

"It's for girls who want to pursue a career in modeling or for those who need a refresher course," said Constantine.

Constantine is a former model. Her company is called New York New York Modeling.

She said she expected women, between the ages of 15 and 24, to come from the western Wayne County area and from Lansing, Grand Rapids and Toledo.

Tuition for the seminar is $180. People who want to register for the seminar should call 459-NYNY.

Girl Scouts to launch cookie sale

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council kicks off its 27th annual cookie sale Friday, Jan. 24, when more than 8,000 girls ages 6-18 begin taking orders for seven varieties of cookies.

Jeanne Wood of Canton is cookie chairwoman for the council.

"Profits from the sale will be used to benefit individual Girl Scout troops and provide services and programs to the 12,000 girls served annually," she said.

"In addition, the cookie sale proceeds are used to maintain and improve the three camps owned by the council and used by the girls on a year-round basis."

Heading the sale in Canton are residents Sandra Reid, Cheryl Toles, Ruby Monk and Peggy Seery.

Leading the sale in Plymouth are residents Beverly Rockwood, Mary Gaffield, Darlene Severson, Cyndy Klotz and Betty Shupe.

There are 47 area cookie chairmen for the 1986 sale. Chairmen train and coordinate the work of the troop cookie chairmen who work with the girls.

When all the cookie areas combine their orders after Feb. 14, the council expects to achieve its goal of 743,000 boxes sold.

Deliveries will take place March 4-16.

The seven varieties of cookies to be offered this year at $1.75 a box include the new chunky chocolate chip and the popular lemon pastry cremes, which debuted last year.

The traditional favorites will also be offered, including thin mints, peanut butter patties, shortbreads, peanut butter sandwiches and caramel delights.

The cookies are baked by ABC, a division of FFV Interbake, in Battle Creek and Richmond, Va. They are made with 100 percent vegetable shortening and contain no artificial preservatives.

Taurialinen-Rowland

Sarah Elaine Taurialinen of Plymouth and Ronald Andrew Rowland of Okemos have announced their engagement.

She is the daughter of Marvin and Zana Taurialinen of Plymouth. He is the son of Eugene and Minnie Rowland of Pewamo.

An August wedding is planned in First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

The bride-to-be is a 1982 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School and is attending Michigan State University, with a major in family and community services. She will graduate in August and work on a master's degree.

Her fiancé is a 1980 graduate of East Lansing High School and a 1984 graduate of Lansing Community College. He is employed as art director at Pearson, Nicholson and Associates, Lansing.

Christofferson-Tull

Judith Lynn Christofferson of Canton and Sean Michael Tull of Canton have announced their engagement.

She is the daughter of Patricia Ano of Canton and Jim Christofferson of Carman, Ill.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tull of Shelbyville, Ill.

A June 14 wedding is planned.

The bride-to-be is a 1983 graduate of Canton High School and is employed by Designer Depot, Livonia.

Her fiancé is a Shelbyville High School graduate and is employed as a systems engineer with PMX Inc., Livonia.

Dance company seeks talent

The Opportunity Company, a non-profit dance group, is looking for knowledgeable dancers for its new troupe.

According to its organizers, the group is "more relaxed" than others and willing to hire dancers who do not fall within strict height and age guidelines.

The company is looking for talent for eight original, full-length classical ballets. Auditions will be held and the company will be operated similar to a conventional New York ballet company. All dancers will be paid salaries and the company will travel throughout the United States.

Auditions will be held Tuesdays and Wednesdays in Keego Harbor. Those interested should call 682-5420.

The company is seeking 20 dancers, between the ages of 13 and 35, but is flexible on the age requirements.

Artistic director and choreographer for the troupe is Doris Rappaport, of Keego Harbor.

No professional experience is necessary. But the troupe is seeking knowledgeable dancers with some training.

In addition to a salary and travel, the company will provide classes for those accepted into the troupe.

There's a world of difference between learning and loving to learn.

That's the Children's World child care difference.

Learning is a roomful of energetic preschoolers trying to sit quietly while a teacher recites a pre-planned lesson from a standardized manual.

Loving to learn is that same group of children exploring the wonders of the world with a teacher who makes the process of learning as fresh and exciting as the lesson itself.

That's the Children's World Concept. And the Children's World difference your child deserves.

The Children's World Concept. A child taught with love loves to learn.

Our teachers teach from the heart to open the mind. They're free to create activities which spark each child's natural eagerness to learn at his own pace. Your child will gain confidence and welcome new experiences.

Submission to terrorism extends tyranny

AS WE REFLECT upon the latest terrorist attacks in the Rome and Vienna airport terminals, perpetrated against innocent travelers at the height of the Christmas seasons, we are outraged by the savage character of the Palestinian Arab terrorist organization.

The targets chosen were defenseless civilians. While there were a few Israeli casualties, most of those killed and wounded were of diverse nationalities — Americans, French, Austrian, Italian and others.

President Reagan has alerted the American people to the gravity of this international crime and has adopted policies intended to punish Libya, the country that provided resources and training for these "Abu Nidal" terrorists. It is important that Americans address the truths that this tragedy has so painfully dramatized.

1) In our time, terrorism has become a new form of tyranny. The tyrant recognizes no other principle but his own power. He rejects the rules of civilization for he feels that his grievances justify the wanton killing of passengers in airline terminals.

Submission to terrorism becomes an extension of tyranny for it condones and thereby confirms the lawlessness of international criminals. Can the civilized order itself long endure if national governments yield to such intimidation, as their horrendous acts are met by silence and passivity.

2) Terrorism respects no boundaries, for its ultimate purpose is the destabilization of Western democracies. The sites chosen this time were Italy and Austria, despite the fact that these two countries have recognized the P.L.O. as a credible organization.

No country is immune to terrorists strikes. Terrorism is part of a continuing war by the radical, fanatic Arab-Moslem world (including the countries of Libya, Syria, Yemen and Iran) against Israel, the United States, and the democracies of Western Europe. It should also be noted that these acts

moral perspectives Rabbi Irwin Groner

have the tacit support of the Soviet Union.

3) Terrorism is evil. So called "Middle East experts" explain that terrorists commit their despicable acts because of grievances arising out of the Palestinian refugee issue or "political concerns," a veiled reference to Israel. Israel is thus blamed for crimes committed by its most blood-thirsty enemies.

In reality, the carnage that erupted at European airports was caused by those who use violence as an end in itself. The followers of Abu Nidal have no ideology, no plan for the Palestinian people, no program. Their violence is an expression of mindless rage. They are the "hit men" of Mafia-like Arab governments.

4) Palestinian terror is indivisible. The P.L.O. that is the source of international terrorism and the originator of attacks against international aviation cannot now evade a major share of its responsibility for the Rome and Vienna airport attacks by the expedient of condemning these attacks.

The record is full of instances (the case of the Achille Lauro is only the latest) where Arafat and his henchmen have vehemently denied any involvement, only to have such involvement clearly demonstrated later. Whether the P.L.O. was directly involved in these two attacks or not, the master terrorists of the Middle East must share the blame.

5) The Western democracies should unite in mounting a concerted effort against terrorism. President Reagan has called upon our Western allies to institute an embargo against Libya on the exchange of goods and services, similar to the American ban; Italy, West Germany, Spain and Austria are major trading partners of Libya.

Their participation in sanctions against Colonel Khadafi and his regime would exercise a deterrent effect on further terrorist plots.

Even though such measures will probably be rejected for economic reasons, western democracies could undertake other actions to declare Libya a "Pariah-state" such as closing Libyan embassies, blacklisting Libyan airports, and scrutinizing those carrying Libyan passports.

6) The peace process should not be impeded. In recent months, Shimon Peres of Israel, King Hussein of Jordan and Hani Mubarak of Egypt have held public and private discussions about advancing the cause of peace in the region. Progress has been made and we may be on the threshold of an important breakthrough. The goal of terrorism is to disrupt this progress toward peace. Arab fanatics have resorted to terror for the last 15 years, everytime peace loomed as even a remote possibility in the Middle East.

Terrorists derive perverse pleasure in "shooting down the dove."

We support those responsible leaders who seek to nurture the fragile growth of peace. We affirm our trust in all the men and women of the Middle East who are resolved to overcome the barbarism of fanaticism with reason, moderation and profound concern for the welfare of their people.

Elie Wiesel recently wrote: "Peace is not God's gift to His creatures. It is our gift — to each other." Let us combine wisdom, prudence and strength as we seek to bestow this gift to a suffering humanity.

Group for women plans mini-retreat

A mini-retreat for women is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 1, at Highland Church of the Nazarene, 1211 W. Livingston, Highland, Mich.

Sponsored by Women Outreaching

Women, the program will feature a luncheon and fashion show. The guest speaker will be Patsy Clairmont.

Tickets, costing $5, are available before Wednesday, Jan. 20, by calling Sandie Coir at 887-5932.

Program teaches being better parent

Northwest Guidance Clinic in Garden City is offering a parenting program for parents of children 18 months to 5 years old.

The Parent-Child Enrichment Program is a five-week class for parents. The program covers how to listen better to what their kids are trying to say, manage their kids' behavior better and solve family problems that might arise.

For more information, call Toni Charles or Denise Tardif at 425-6110.

Participants must live in suburban western Wayne County and meet income eligibility requirements.

ST. MATTHEW METHODIST

St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Livonia recently enrolled in the Stephen Series. The Stephen Series is designed to train and organize lay people to do caring ministry. Ellen Horie, Ken Gordon and the Rev. David Strong will be attending a two-week intensive leaders' training course in Fla. from Sunday, Jan. 26, to Sunday, Feb. 8. They will return to train church members to be Stephen ministers at St. Matthew Church. They will have completed 50 hours of training, developing skills in order to help those who are experiencing many different kinds of crises in their lives. For more information, call the church at 422-6038.

ST. ANDREW EPISCOPAL

St. Andrew Episcopal Church in Livonia will have its third annual confirmation weekend on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 17 and 18. The program enables those who wish to join the church to prepare for it in a single, intensive session with a variety of speakers. The program represents the combined efforts of six Detroit-area Episcopal churches, whose clergyman will be participating throughout the weekend.

Classes cover such subjects as the sacraments, liturgy, stewardship, evangelism, the authority of scripture and other topics. The weekend will begin with a dinner at 6 p.m. Friday, with classes following until 10 p.m. Saturday's session will start with breakfast at 8:30 a.m., with classes continuing until 3:30 p.m., when a reception will take place. The confirmation weekend will conclude with a communion service at 5 p.m., to be celebrated by Bishop Irving Mason and all of the participating clergy.

Reservations for classes and meals may be made by calling the church office at 421-8451. The church is at 16360 Hubbard, between Five Mile and Six Mile.

WARD PRESBYTERIAN

Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia will host Family Week from Friday, Jan. 17, to Sunday, Jan. 19. The featured speakers will be Dr. David Stuart Briscoe and his wife, Jill. The pastor of Kimbrook Church in the Milwaukee area, Briscoe has spoken in more than 80 countries and has written many books. His wife also has spoken throughout the world and written various books.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, he will speak in the fellowship hall on "Do Real Parents Ever Succeed?" while she will speak in the chapel on "Partnership in Marriage." At 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Saturday she will speak on "Love Is . . . Part I" and "Love Is . . . Part II," while he speaks on "What Do Real Men Eat?" and "Do Real Families Stay Together." A lunch will be served at noon Saturday. She also will speak at three morning and one evening worship service Sunday on "Revival or Survival." Tickets are $4.50 and may be purchased at the church office. A nursery will be provided.

DETROIT LAESTADIAN

Olli Arikoski of Finland will be the guest speaker at the Detroit Laestadian Congregation, 290 Fairground, Plymouth. He will speak at the 7:30 p.m. services Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 22 and 23. The sermons will be in Finnish and be translated into English by the church's pastor, Donald Lahti.

FAIRLANE ASSEMBLY

Fairlane Assembly of God will have a united service at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 19, at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn. In addition to the message by senior pastor the Rev. John A. Booher, special music will be offered by the choir and the Weatherfords, a family vocal trio. The church's Rhema/Drama troupe also will present a scriptural drama. At 7 p.m., a service will take place in the church. The choir, which was invited to sing in Bethlehem Square on Christmas Eve, will give a report of their trip. Fairlane Assembly is at 22375 Ann Arbor Trail, one light east of Telegraph and one block south of Warren Avenue, Dearborn Heights.

The church will have its Annual Progress Banquet at 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 24, at Fairlane Manor. The church's eight pastors will show slides of such programs as Christian education, drama and promotion, family life, music, pastoral care and youth. There also will be performances by the choir and drama group. For more information, call the church office at 561-3300.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN OF NORTHVILLE

First Presbyterian Church of Northville will offer a Lay Academy-Winter Series on 7:30-9 p.m. Thursdays, Jan. 16 through Feb. 13. The church is at 200 E. Main. Participants may choose from three topics: pressures on the middle generation, a look at the many pressures on adults ages 35-65 who have both dependent children and older parents to whom they relate, taught by Dolores Heeg, a family therapist at Counseling Concepts in Northville; life transitions, a discussion designed to help those going through the death of a family member, divorce or a forced job change, taught by the Rev. Harold Eilens, a psychologist, counselor and author from Farmington; and Jesus in the Gospels, taught by the Rev. John Castellet, professor of the New Testament at St. John Seminary in Plymouth.

There is no fee for the classes. To register, call the church office at 349-0911 or sign up at the first class meeting. A light supper will be available at 6:30 p.m. for $3, by reservation only. Child care is available at no charge.

Prayer week services planned

Local observance of Week of Prayer for Christian Unity Jan. 20-25 will be marked by three 15-minute public services of praise and prayer in the garden area of the Livonia Mall, Seven Mile and Middlebelt, Livonia.

The services will begin at 12:15 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 20; Wednesday, Jan. 22; and Friday, Jan. 24. Area clergy representing various denominations will lead the services and the public may attend.

For more information, call the Rev. Tom Chelena, 522-3166, or the Rev. Ron Cary, 261-6990.

Mandatory drug test won't halt the abuses

JUST SUPPOSE... It's 1999. Prince is a major attraction on the golden oldies tour. Steven Spielberg is the nation's president. Tina Turner is the country's No. 1 sex symbol — still.

And on the local news front...
A 21-year-old Redford man sues the school district, claiming he made it through 12 years of education and eventually composed a dissertation on nuclear fission on his computer, but never learned how to read it.

A mailman in Birmingham has criminal charges filed against him for allegedly biting a dog he claimed attacked him. The animal was listed in critical condition.

State prison officials and the Southfield city council reach an agreement to turn Northland Center into a state penitentiary. Security measures already in use make the shopping mall a perfect choice, state officials claim. Southfield council members assure store hours will remain the same.

In sports...
Rochester and Troy school board members initiate a Testing for Tots program, which they explain is an expansion of the urinalysis drug testing first started for high school athletes in 1988. Under the new program, all grade school youngsters wishing to participate in recess will have to undergo weekly drug tests, just like high school athletes.

OK, OK — quit supposing. Fairy tale theater is over. Quite ludicrous anyway, isn't it? How could any of those things ever happen?

And yet, that bit of sports news... Last week, when Kirk Gibson signed his million-dollars-a-year pact with the Tigers, it was revealed there was a drug testing clause included. Even though it was in direct conflict with the agreement signed between the baseball players' union and management last summer, there it was.

Random drug testing of athletes competing in international events is already commonplace. Before long, the drug-testing clause written into Gibson's contract will be in the majority of pro athletic contracts.

Soon, colleges will start revoking scholarships of athletes who can't pass urinalysis. Never mind how they do in Biology 101. It's the drugs, those devil-created concoctions ruining their minds and, in particular, their athletic skills that interest these muckrakers.

AND WHO'S GOING to argue with them? It's like going to a doctor for a checkup. You could be in perfect health, but you're worried because of all the negative things you've heard about drinking. So you ask your doctor. You tell him you drink six beers or so a week. Is it too much?

How many doctors would say drinking is all right? Not many, if any.

How many people will go on record saying drugs are good? Even fewer.

This is commonly called the pendulum effect. And personally, I'm more concerned about the ultimate swing of that pendulum than I am about how many Micheal Ray Richardsons ruin lucrative basketball careers through drug abuse.

Let me explain. I spent my formative years (some call them deformative years) in the heyday of drugs. In the decade spanning 1965 to 1975, narcotics were everywhere.

WITH SO many horrible tales associated with drugs, how could they flourish so? That's easily answered — human nature. It was an era of rebellion, remember. Our elders said go, we said no. They said don't, so we did.

You can tell where my argument leads. Young folk haven't changed so much, especially in the U.S. of A., where freedom of expression is a national past time.

But don't believe me. Start clamping down on athletes at all levels. Insist on blood tests. Invoke strict penalties. Try to force the problem to disappear.

It will only get worse, of course. Already, weightlifters — the most common drug abusers (steroids) in international competition — are discovering methods to camouflage their habit.

Don't misunderstand me: I'm not supporting open use of drugs. But these crusaders who insist on strict penalties for those who misbehave will, in the long run, cause greater harm.

Testing athletes' urine isn't necessary. If they abuse drugs long enough, it will become evident. Their skills will diminish quickly, their careers will end prematurely and they'll disappear.

PRO ORGANIZATIONS that insist they need drug testing to protect the capital they've invested are misguided. If that's their only concern — and believe me, it is — they should offer shorter contracts (as the Tigers did with Gibson) with greater performance bonuses. That's how it works in the real world.

The day an athlete gives up his sport, no one cares what drugs he abuses. That's why testing is illogical.

Education, early in life, is the only answer. An honest depiction of what drugs do to an athlete's body, either in classroom education to pre-teens or as part of the sport camps so many youths flock to, will have an impact far greater than any threat imposed by drug testing.

True, people don't always respond logically to logic. It's another quirk of human nature. But forcing them to respond would be like trying to take urinalysis tests into a strong wind.

Futile.

Chiefs win 3rd straight

Three in a row and this time the streak's on the positive side of the ledger.

The Plymouth Canton basketball team, after dropping five straight to start the season, won its third in a row Tuesday, 66-52, against Dearborn.

"When we were losing those two, one- and two-point games early, we were there. We just weren't getting the bounces," Canton coach Tom Niemi said. "We've played real well defensively and now the balls are starting to drop."

The Chiefs led start to finish in this non-league game and employed all 13 players.

Roger Trice (12 points) and Jeff Lyle (10) kept Canton on top in the final quarter, sinking 7-of-8 free throws.

"Those were just crucial, just crucial," Niemi said.

Joel Mies led the Chiefs with 15 points and Tyrone Reeves added 12.

The Chiefs (3-5) will resume its Western Lakes schedule Friday at Farmington Harrison.

YPSILANTI 61, PLYMOUTH SALEM 40: Maybe it's time to take Ypsi off the schedule. After all, the Rocks have never beaten the Braves.

"No way," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "It's good for us to get a dose of reality every now and then."

The Rocks, losers of two straight, came out flat and were never allowed to regroup. Ypsi rolled to a 21-8 first-quarter lead.

"We didn't handle their pressure well," Brodie said. "Our passing wasn't sharp and we weren't catching it well. We didn't get many opportunities to score."

Not when the team commits 24 turnovers. Dwayne Tubbs led the Braves (3-5) with 17 points.

Mike Hale led Salem with 12.

The Rocks, 5-3, begin their most grueling stretch of the Western Lakes schedule Friday. They'll take on, in succession, North Farmington, Farmington Harrison, John Glenn and Canton in the next two weeks.

"This is not the time to be skidding," Brodie said.

PLY. CHRISTIAN 71, BETHESDA 61: The Eagles maintained their roll thanks to a 33-point effort from the McCarthy brothers. Pat McCarthy led the way with 18 and brother Jim tallied 15.

Rod Winkle chipped in 16. Plymouth Christian is 6-0 on the year, 5-0 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Association, Bethesda, 0-5, got 19 from Mike Stoddard.

Pearly lands WSU record

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Is it fair to sum up four years of basketball in the cold, black-and-white type found on a statistical sheet?

If you did, you'd never figure out what kind of player Wayne State's Pearly Cunningham was.

Before her final game as a Tartar, she'll be the career record-holder for points scored. But don't categorize her as a shooter — it would be dead wrong, considering she already holds the all-time WSU mark for assists.

Holding both records makes it more difficult to peg her. Perhaps the answer, if adhering only to the statistical facts, is that the offense revolved around Cunningham. She controlled the ball.

Pearly Cunningham
Miss Consistency at WSU

WRONG AGAIN. The Plymouth Canton graduate, says WSU coach Gary Bryce, was "always a support player her first three years (at WSU), and she always did a good job. She's a great fundamental player."

No single statistic could reveal Cunningham's style, or reason for success. Her career can be divided into two equal halves, with each boasting significant successes.

As Bryce said, "She has better than average speed, a good outside shot and plays good defense. She's just a good, solid, all-around player."

Cunningham played point guard her first two years at WSU under coach Kim Mayden. Her job was to work the ball inside, where the Tartars' offensive strength was anchored.

"She wasn't really a shooter her first two years," said Bryce, who took over last year when Mayden left to coach at Northern Iowa. "In our system we wanted her to shoot more. We've been pushing her to shoot the ball."

IT HASN'T been an easy adjustment. Cunningham admits she still harbors a tendency to look for the pass before the shot.

"I know I do that," she said, after Saturday's 80-60 victory over Oakland University at WSU's Mattheai Building. "Especially lately. My shot's been off the last few games and my confidence is lower, so I automatically resort to looking to pass off."

The ultimate reasons for Cunningham's success won't be found on a stat sheet listing her total-points record, which should come next month, or even the assist mark she set with a pass to Marie Doss with 13:21 left Saturday. Doss' basket gave Cunningham 432 assists for her career.

The OU game, which evened WSU's Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) record at 2-2 (10-5 overall), was typical for the 5-foot-8 wing. She collected 11 points, seven rebounds, four assists and two steals. She's averaging 12.6 points, 6.0 rebounds, 4.4 assists and 2.2 steals a game.

Russell netted all four goals for the Chiefs, bringing her season total to 12. Lori Engel assisted on two of Russell's tallies and Kim Reeves assisted on another.

Pat Phillips stopped six Harrison shots to record her third shutout. Canton fired 16 shots at the Harrison goal. The victory gave the Chiefs a 5-7-2 final season record.

Rock gymnasts top Dearborn

HELLO, Dearborn. Remember me? That's what Plymouth Salem gymnast Becky Talbot might have been saying with her showing Monday night. The sophomore transfer student helped Salem defeat her old school 124.9-118.35 with a superb 32.40 all-around scoring performance.

Talbot placed second in three events — the uneven parallel bars (8.0), vault (8.4) and floor exercise (8.65) — and third on the balance beam (7.35).

Beth Rafail also scored well, winning both the vault (8.5) and floor (8.75) and placing third on bars (7.9) and second on beam (8.15).

Freshman Dana Holda took a fourth on vault

(7.75) and a fifth on bars (7.65). Jenny Syria took a fourth on beam (7.05) and Jenny Breed placed fifth on floor (7.8).

Salem is now 2-1 on the season.

NORTH FARMINGTON won one and lost one Monday night.

The Raiders won the meet, beating Walled Lake Western 125-96.05. But, they lost their fourth best scorer, Lisa Brundle took a fall on bars and injured her knee. She will be lost to the team for at least two weeks.

"Once Lisa went down, I think some of the fight went out of the girls," said North coach Mary Glitz. Eileen Murtaugh led the Raiders, winning the vault with an impressive 9.05 and the floor exercise, 8.85. She also placed third on bars (7.6) and second on beam (7.4).

Lucine Toroyan won the bars event with an 8.65. She was second on vault (8.35), fifth on beam (7.05) and fifth on floor exercise (7.5).

Having a big night for North was Kara Karhu. She placed third on vault (8.1), second on bars (8.4), fourth on beam (7.2) and second on floor (8.3).

Wendy Reimer won beam for Western with a 7.8. North is 3-1 on the season.

Farmington gym club wins at Spartan meet

The Farmington Gymnastics Center club gymnastics teams took a pair of firsts and one second at the Spartan Youth Mens Gymnastics Compulsory Meet at Jenison Field House in East Lansing recently.

Farmington captured team firsts in both the Class III-Division 6 category (13-18 years of age) and in Class III-Division 5 (10-12). It placed second at Class IV-Division 4 (10-12).

Individually, Jeff Juliano, of Farmington Hills, took first all-around in Class III-Division 6 with a 45.0 score. He took firsts in both the vault and horizontal bars.

IN THE same division, Farmington team members Steve Strausberg of Novi and Brian Longstreth of West Bloomfield placed second and third, respectively.

In Class II-Division 7 (13-15 years of age), Farmington's Robby Thomas of West Bloomfield placed second and David Thomas of Bloomfield Hills placed fourth.

In Class III-Division 5, Doug Stibel of Canton placed third and Mike Wdovjak of Canton placed 10th.

The Farmington club is coached by Kevin Watson.

Salem gets 1st victory

The Plymouth Salem volleyball team won its first match of the season Monday night, dropping Northville 15-11, 15-10.

"We weren't hitting the ball real good, which is strange for us," Salem coach Betty Smith said. "But we played steady defense and Northville made a lot of mistakes. They had trouble receiving our serve."

Salem (1-1 in the Western Lakes, 1-3 overall) never trailed in game one. Game two was not so simple.

"We were down by three points twice," Smith said.

After falling behind 10-7, the Rocks scored the final eight points of the match. Lisa Madis served home five of them and Kelli Theard the other three.

Jessica Handley gave the team a boost with solid play both along the net and in the back row. Smith was also encouraged by the defensive play of Karen Marciniak and Theard.

"We're starting to play well as a group," she said. "Even when I substituted, we never never let down or lost the momentum."

Another plus for the Rocks was serving. The team missed only three serves in the match.

The Rocks travel to Walled Lake Central Monday.

PLYMOUTH CANTON remains winless despite a promising start against Farmington Monday.

The Chiefs ripped the Falcons in the first game 15-1. But Farmington came back to take the next two games, 15-12, 15-13, and the match.

"We were very nervous in the first game," said first-year Farmington coach Maureen McNabb, a former Canton assistant. "The girls were tight and unsure. We just came around in the second and third games."

The two teams battled to a 13-13 tie in the third and deciding game before Farmington prevailed.

Farmington is now 1-8 on the season. Canton is 0-2.

CC deflates Brother Rice

With two minutes to go Tuesday, Redford Catholic Central only had to tie the ribbon on.

Otherwise, everything was pretty much wrapped up as the Shamrocks took a 59-55 win over host Birmingham Brother Rice in a Catholic League Central Division basketball game.

CC 6-2 (3-0 Catholic League), boasted a trio of double-figure scorers as the Shamrocks remained unbeaten in division play.

Senior Paul Tavara led the CC trio of scorers with 18 points and a team-high eight rebounds. Brian Dugas canned 14 points while Greg King landed 11.

Lance Vaccarelli provided some defensive spark with four steals and also had a team-high eight assists.

At the half, CC held a 30-26 advantage. The Shamrocks outscored the Warriors three of the four quarters.

GALLAGHER 55, BORGESS 53: In a topsy-turvy game Tuesday, Bernard McGee helped Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher slip past visiting Redford Bishop Borgess in Catholic League action.

McGee sank two free throws with a minute left to lift Gallagher past the Spartans, 4-3 (1-2 Central). Borgess had two opportunities to tie the game, but the Spartans missed two consecutive one-and-one opportunities from the line.

Borgess carried a 41-39 lead into the final quarter but was outscored 16-14 in the final eight minutes.

The Spartans' Cordell Robinson sank a game-high 20 points. Mario Brown scored 11 while Kevin Van Hook added 10.

Gallagher (1-2 Catholic League) got 13 from Steve Maszola.

WAYNE 68, WYANDOTTE 58: The undefeated Zebras used a little line action to capture their ninth-straight win of the season with Tuesday's rout of Wyandotte in Wolverine A action.

Wayne, 9-0 (5-0 Wolverine A), sank 26-of-31 free throws as they pulled out to a 10-point lead in the final eight minutes. Early in the fourth quarter, the Zebras came to within two, 47-45.

Wyandotte, 4-3 (4-2 Wolverine A) trailed 31-23 at intermission.

Mark Robinson finished with a game-high 24 points for the Zebras. Robinson was aided by Rod Simmons, who added 12, and Spencer Williams with 11.

Norm Erickson fired 13 points to lead the Zebras.

CHURCHILL 74, REDFORD UNION 54: On Tuesday, the Chargers poured on the points as they routed Redford Union in a non-conference game.

Ken Gendjar fired in 25 points and headed in 11 rebounds to lead the Livonia Churchill charge. Andy Oliver clipped in with 15 points.

The Chargers (4-4) owned their record by scoring 60 points in the first half. The Panthers (1-6) were outscored 18-0 in the second quarter and trailed 60-23 at intermission.

John Kottel held BU's Dennis Buehart to only 10 points, all in the second half. Gary Walters also posted 10 for the Panthers.

Salem keeps its North Farmington crown

Placing in the top four in all but one weight class, Plymouth Salem ran away from the eight-team field to win the annual North Farmington Invitational Wrestling Tournament Saturday.

Salem amassed 192 1/2 points in winning its second straight North title. Milford placed second with 158 1/2 and Wayne Memorial was third (101 1/2). Farmington was close behind with 100 points. (See statistical summary for complete results.)

"The tournament overall was not as balanced as say the Salem Invitational or the Oakland County meet," said North coach Dick Cook, whose team placed seventh. "But the champions from this meet are all class wrestlers and should place in the state."

Salem, who earlier this season won the John Glenn Invitational and has placed no lower than third through five tournaments, sent three grapplers to the victor's stand.

THE DAMERON brothers led the way. Dennis Dameron, a junior, was the champion at 121 pounds, beating Plymouth Canton's Dave Dunford, 9-0. Brother Dave Dameron, a senior, won at 132 with a pin over Wayne's Scott Lopere.

The Rocks also won at 100. Todd Bourlier decisioned Dearborn Edsel Ford's Cheech Aloisio, 11-2, for the medal.

The Rocks placed six others in the finals: Richard Johnson, second at heavyweight; Fred Calma, second at 107; Sean May, second at 114; Kevin Freeman, second at 128; Kirk Rentz, second at 140; and Lem Yeung, second at 169.

Also for Salem: Jamie Wochuk placed fourth at 185, Chris Rye placed third at 157 and Bryan Wheble fourth at 145.

"Salem walked away with it, just like what was predicted," Cook said. "They did an excellent job."

Farmington produced four champions. Bill Critcher won at heavyweight, John Augustin at 185, Dan Parlio at 200 and Darrell Tharnish at 145.

Wayne produced champions at 114 (Rob Egles) and 128 (Rich Malta). John Kramer (157) and Jack Hughes (169) won titles for Milford.

North's Paul Cook won the title at 140, in a tight 12-9 decision over Salem's Rentz. West Bloomfield's Tony Scagliano won first place at 107.

8 teams battle for Canton-Civitan title

Stevensville Lakeshore will bring its undefeated record to Plymouth Canton Saturday to defend its title in the ninth annual Plymouth Canton Civitan Wrestling Invitational.

Lakeshore pummeled the Canton field last year and is expected to rule the eight-team field this year.

Belleville, Birmingham Seaholm, Oxford, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Stevenson, Southgate Anderson and Canton will challenge the Class B power.

Wrestling will begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, with the finals expected to start close to 6 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults and a $1 for students per session. Adults may purchase an all-day pass for $3. Children under 10 will be admitted free.

The Civitan Invitational also will feature a 10-team junior varsity tournament. The JVs will wrestle simultaneously with the varsity.

THE 1985-86 season has not been a happy one so far for Canton. The Chiefs placed dead last at the North Farmington Invitational Saturday (see related story) and lost its fifth dual meet in six tries Thursday.

Livonia Churchill (5-1) dusted Canton 48-17. Tom Flores (98 pounds) and Jay Pollard (145) posted the only wins for the Chiefs. Churchill was void at 198.

For Plymouth Salem, it's been a near-flawless season. The team not only won the North Farmington title Saturday, but stayed perfect in dual meets with a 71-30 romping over Livonia Stevenson Thursday.

Todd Bourlier (98), Sean May (112), Bill Atwell (119), Dave Dameron (132), Kirk Rentz (138), Chris Rye (155), Marc Gattoni (185), Jamie Wochuk (198) and Richard Johnson (heavyweight) all won on pins for the Rocks.

Fred Calma (105), Bryan Wheble (145) and Kevin Freeman (126) also won.

Salem, 5-0, will compete in the Monroe Invitational this Saturday.

Satellite Bowl hosts Masters field

The most important battle of the season will be fought out this weekend on the lanes of Satellite Bowl when 160 of the area's stars do battle in the Masters Tournament.

Included in the group will be Mike Clemence, who is hoping to repeat and walk away with the top prize of $1,500. The battle will run both Saturday and Sunday, and should prove to be equal to any pin war waged here in several years.

Tom McKay, executive secretary of the Detroit Bowling Association, has made some severe rule changes, which will be followed closely during the two-day event.

The 160-man field will be reduced to 32 for the finals.

WONDERLAND LANES: The pins were flying faster and higher than they had been all season, as four more members were inducted into the 700 club. Leading the way was Mark Hammel with a 298 game in 748 (se-

MERRI-BOWL: Wayne Herman posted a 286 to take high-game honors for the week. Carol Young led the ladies with a 235.

WOODLAND LANES: Linda Simmons showed the way during the week with a 263. Matt Surlock posted a 264 in 640. Also, Mike Travis had a 655 and John Kummer rolled a 645.

WESTLAND BOWL: Jackie Cortez took over the spotlight when she rolled a double pinochle — 4-6-7-10. It was the first conversion of the Big Four this season.

In the Early Risers League, Char White-man was high with a 603, while Nicci Cuzart led the Monday Men's League with a 656.

GARDEN LANES: Joe Churchill scored a 652 to lead the way. He was followed by Glen Baskee with a 645. Bill Bince was the top marksman in his league with a 668.

BEL-AIRE: There was only one new member added to the 700 club and he was Mike Flynn, who rolled a 267 in 785.

SUPER BOWL: Helen Kubinec set the pace during the week for the ladies, scoring a 675 that included games of 225 and 203.

● GROUNDHOGS' CLASSIC

The seventh annual Canton Parks and Recreation Department's Groundhog Day Classic slo-pitch softball tournament is set for Saturday, Jan. 25, at Griffin Park.

The outdoor tournament pits softball teams against each other and the elements — the tourney will be canceled only in the event of sunny, beautiful weather.

A 16-inch orange softball will be used. The cost is $30 per team. Call 397-1000 for registration details.

● CROSS COUNTRY SKI CLINICS

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is offering a cross country ski clinic 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 22, at Mayberry State Park, 8 Mile Road west of Beck.

A fee of $6 includes all equipment and instruction. The cost is $4 for those supplying their own equipment. The clinic is offered to anyone age 15 or older.

Reservation must be made at least two days prior to the clinic. Call the recreation department at 397-1000 for more information.

Another clinic will be offered on Saturday, Feb. 15.

● CRISSEY'S BASEBALL COACHES CLINIC

The second Fred Crissey baseball coaches' clinic will take place from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 2, at Plymouth Canton High School's Phase III facility.

Crissey is the successful head baseball coach at Canton High School.

Applications for the clinic may be obtained at the following locations: Canton Sports, Trading Post, Ed's Sports Shop and many other sports shops in throughout the area. Application can also be obtained by calling Norm Maxwell at 981-4216 or Gary Lyle at 455-3444.

The cost of the clinic, which is sponsored by the Canton Chiefs' Baseball Parents Club, is $10.

● SOCCER SIGNUP

Registration for the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department's spring soccer league will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Jan. 6 through Jan. 31 at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Boys and girls ages 5-18 are eligible to participate (birth certificates required). The cost is $25 per player. League play begins in April. Call 455-6620 for more information.

● GROUP SKATE LESSONS

Registration for winter group skate lessons will take place from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 18, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Classes, 25 minutes long once a week for eight weeks, are taught by a professional staff. Classes are available for all levels of ability (minimum age is four).

Fees for Plymouth-Canton school district residents and Northville residents is $22; others, $24. Call 455-6620 for more information.

● FLOOR HOCKEY CLINIC

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department, in cooperation with the Wayne-Westland YMCA, is sponsoring its seventh annual floor hockey program for boys and girls grades 1-6.

The clinics take place after school at the following times and places:

● 3:55-4:45 p.m. and 4:45-5:50 p.m. Mondays at Field Elementary.

● 3:55-4:45 p.m. and 4:45-5:30 p.m. Tuesdays at Hulsing Elementary.

All Canton elementary school children are welcome. The cost is $17 per child. The six-week clinic begins the week of Jan. 20, 1988.

League games will be played on Saturdays, beginning Feb. 8, at Miller school. Registration began Jan. 2. Call 397-1000.

● LEARN TO SKI

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is offering two sessions of its Learn to Ski program at Riverview Highlands for novice skiers.

Each session consists of two lessons per week for two weeks. The next session will take place the weeks of Jan. 20 and 27.

Each session lasts 45 minutes with free skiing after.

The cost is $34 per person, $24 with own equipment. For more information, call 397-1000.

Wayne's 'Pearl' sets assist mark

STEADY, CONSISTENT, strong fundamentally, able to adapt to any style of play — those are the reasons Cunningham will be WSU's career leader in several categories. Those traits are also why she has started every game since coming to WSU, which has helped her establish the records.

The statistical achievements don't mean much to her. "I didn't even know about the assist record until lately," she said. "I'd rather go to nationals (NCAA Division II tournament) and win the league title. To me, those are more important."

She doesn't spend much time dwelling on her stats, either. "If you play hard every night, the points will come, the assists will come" was her formula for success.

But Cunningham did allow that she "feels pretty good about the assist record. To do something like that shows unselfishness, and that's the kind of player I think I am. I'd rather make a good pass to a teammate and watch them score than anything else. That makes me feel good."

IT HASN'T been an easy four years for Cunningham. A forward at Canton, she switched to point guard and then back to forward again at WSU. The Tartars, too, have had their ups and downs, playing better than onlookers expected last year but struggling this season, when they were the preseason pick to win the GLIAC title.

Through it all, Cunningham has persisted. When this campaign ends, her basketball playing career will be over, with a bundle of records and impressive stats to show for it.

"I'm going to miss it," she said. "But that's OK. I've had enough. I'm just going to hang up my shoes."

But long after her playing days end and others surpass her records, Cunningham's reputation as a model of consistency will endure.

Highland Park cagers knock off Schoolcraft

The Schoolcraft College men's basketball team has dug themselves a hole that may be too deep to climb out of.

The Ocelots dropped their third straight Eastern Conference game Saturday, falling to defending champion Highland Park CC, 87-82.

It was the also the third game in a row that Schoolcraft could have won.

"We had difficulty the game before (a five-point loss to Flint Mott) with ball handling," said SC coach Rocky Watkins, whose team is 12-6 overall. "This time it was shooting. And we've had nothing inside since the conference season started."

Schoolcraft made only 33 of 82 shots from the floor for 40 percent.

Highland Park hit 35 of 71 field goal attempts coupled with 21 of 27 free throw shooting.

from second-year guard Larry Goss. Gregory Hall and Derek Gilliam added 16 and 13, respectively, as Highland Park increased its overall record to 15-5 and 2-1 in the conference.

Forward Derrick Kearney scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in a losing cause. Point-guard Desmond Steele bounced back from a poor showing against Mott to score 20 points. He also had five assists. Les English, making his first start as an Ocelot, scored eight points.

Knowing that the conference title chase may soon be over, Schoolcraft's Watkins is looking for somebody to step in and take charge.

"Obviously we've got to make changes," he said. "Other than shooting, we played head-up with Highland Park. We handled their press well, and we rebounded with them."

But Watkins still knows the name of the game is putting the ball in the basket.

THE PANTHERS got a game-high 30 points

Rates sliding

With Congress still fighting over the tax legislation, everything appears to be uncertain. In this environment, many of us are confused about what to do with our savings now.

Let's examine the recent history of interest rate fluctuations, which might help us answer this question.

The accompanying table indicates that most interest rates have been drifting downward. If this trend continues — and indications are that this would be the case — then it would be prudent to buy CDs if you wish to lock in higher interest rates.

Of course, you should stay liquid if you wish to take advantage of buying opportunities that might arise in the near future.

INCIDENTALLY, IT might pay to shop around "nationally" if you wish to find the best deals.

For instance, in October a New Jersey bank marketed a Can't Lose CD, a three-month CD indexed at 2-percentage points below the prime rate.

Another bank in New York sells a Guaranteed Growth Account. This account pays 8.5 percent, 9.5 percent and 12 percent in the first, second and third years, respectively. This amounts to an average rate of 10 percent per year over the next three years.

As the chart shows, this will be among the highest rates in the nation.

CONSULT YOUR financial planner who will assist you in determining what's best for you.

Spotlight

Russ Parks has the look, sound

This new monthly series, entitled Spotlight, will focus on up and coming talent in the field of popular entertainment, who reside in the Observer & Eccentric communities. If you would like to suggest an area resident to be considered for a story and photo, write to Spotlight in care of the Observer & Eccentric, Entertainment Department, P.O. Box 503, Birmingham 48012.

By Tim Cohan
special writer

In the world of fashion, the most sought-after models are those who have that indefinable quality called "the look." In musical circles, the important thing is to have a good sound. Birmingham resident Russ Parks is making a name for himself in both of these areas.

Parks, a 24-year-old model and musician, makes juggling these two divergent careers look easy. He hasn't found dividing his time to be a problem. Neither modeling nor music is a full-time moneymaker for him, yet. He fills in the gaps by working weekends as a waiter at the Birmingham Country Club.

"Modeling comes and goes," he said.

Ironically, his introduction to modeling came about as the result of an audition as a singer-guitarist.

"I'm not pursuing it 100 percent, and it doesn't pursue me 100 percent."

But, for a part-time model, Parks has racked up some impressive credentials. He's appeared in print in the major Detroit newspapers and monthlies and in Cosmopolitan magazine. His live experiences include work on various television shows, including "Kelly and Company," "Good Afternoon Detroit" and Sonya Freidman's show. He's also done runway work, catalogs, automobile ads, industrial films and TV commercials.

Ironically, his introduction to modeling came about as the result of an audition as a singer-guitarist.

"A few years ago," Parks said, "I went to Gail and Rice (a noted talent agency) and I played some music for them. I messed up. I forgot lyrics and everything. They said, 'Well, you have some talent, but you need to work on this and that. Why don't you talk to our modeling department?'"

SO, PARKS had some photographs taken. But he was hardly an overnight success.

"I didn't work for a year — not one job — and then all of a sudden — boom! Hudson's picked up on me. I worked with a great lady there who taught me so much. And it went from there."

After that early failed audition, Parks tightened up his musical act. He now performs solo all around town, with recent and upcoming appearances at the Back Seat Saloon in Keego Harbor, Mike Kelly's in Dearborn and Mountain Jack's in Bloomfield Hills. He specializes in soft, melodic music of the kind epitomized by such artists as Dan Fogelberg. Parks' pleasant voice and agile playing on six-string and 12-string guitars have started to win him some faithful fans.

But Parks has ambitions that he hopes will soon take him beyond the local circuit of bars and restaurants. He writes his own songs and is making plans to get them heard.

"I hope to end up either selling my songs or performing them myself," he said. "It's kind of a rough road, but I love it."

His material tends to be romantic and slow, but "I'm trying to move my writing in all directions. I've started listening to more jazz lately, and that influence has started to show up in my songs."

Parks believes it's important to set goals for himself, and his main one for 1986 is "to put out a single, or even an EP (extended play record) with about six songs on it. I have all these songs sitting at home in my notebook, but now I'm ready to put them out and see what happens."

His long-term goal is to get involved in entertainment on the national level. "I'd like to work in some sort of production. Music, or maybe television."

Russ Parks can be currently seen in two calendars — "Hunks and Junks" and "Michigan Models." He seems slightly embarrassed by the hunk label, but takes it all in stride. His preference is clearly his music.

"I'm just glad to get a little exposure. I want people to come out and have a good time and enjoy the music I play."

Model and musician Russ Parks of Birmingham currently is performing as a singer-guitarist at the Back Seat Saloon in Keego Harbor.

Solos, trios create absorbing Sunday Musicales

By Neil Galanter
special writer

Trio and solo performances by the Plymouth Symphony's principal oboist Krisy Meretta, guest violist Margaret Lang Van Lunen and guest pianist Anne Gajda were, for the most part, extremely revealing and musically shimmering at the Plymouth Symphony Society's Sunday Musicales at St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth.

Meretta opened the program with a firm and inspiring reading of Italian Baroque composer Benedetto Marcello's Oboe Concerto in C Minor. The sounds were crisp and clean throughout the piece, and she shaped the phrases smoothly and convincingly with a grand power and persuasiveness.

Gajda's accompaniment was most sympathetic and helpful to Meretta, despite some unintentional spots that were rushed and sounded overly loud.

A version of Franz Schubert's Arpeggione Sonata in A Minor for viola and piano followed. The piece is in its original form when played on an arpeggione, which is now an almost extinct instrument. It is most commonly heard performed on the cello. This time we heard it on the viola, and perhaps it would be better to leave it to being performed on just the cello.

THE PIECE did not seem as convincing on the viola. Van Lunen's performance was most technically adroit and was certainly musical. It appeared, however, to often lack a definite sense of projection toward the audience.

I would have liked more dynamic contrast throughout the entire piece. A more vivacious sense of drive also would have brightened her performance.

An appropriate piece for the program was pianist Anne Gajda's playing of the fireside-warm set of Scenes from Childhood Opus 15 by Robert Schumann. Each in the group of 13 pieces depicts an event in a child's early years. Schumann wrote them with his children in mind, when he was a young father.

Gajda's interpretations were friendly and loving all the time. She highlighted the jeweled music in each piece and brought each into a revealing vein, which many pianists seem not to do, or have trouble doing, perhaps due to the piece's lack of virtuosity.

"The Bogeyman's Coming" had a mysterious quality that made you think you were almost turning the corners of a street and peering around hesitantly for fear of a monster.

AND OTHER scenes were played each with their title, purpose or idea kept carefully in mind. I thoroughly enjoyed every moment of Gajda's reading of the pieces. They were a welcome addition to the program.

The group closed things off into a neat little package with Two Rhapsodies by French composer Charles Loeffler. The works, entitled "The Pond" and "The Beggone," are based upon those poems by Maurice Rollinat. The poems, which were listed on the program, seem to hold together better than the music itself.

Meretta, Van Lunen and Gajda all played smoothly, with an excellent sense of ensemble. Each entrance and cue was in fine form, and the trio playing was of the finest caliber. It's just that the piece frequently tends to (well, yes) drag on, and thus it was often (you got it) boring. Not the performers' fault here.

This Sunday musicale was a fine opportunity to hear an afternoon of mostly enjoyable music, played by some very fine musicians. The concert series is a welcome addition to the events sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony Society and is well worth anybody's time.

"The Delicate Delinquent" (1957), 3 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 50. Originally 100 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes.

Jerry Lewis is an acquired taste. You either love him or hate him. He is revered by French film critics as the greatest American comic actor and director since the days of Chaplin-Keaton-Lloyd. They think he offers valuable insights into American culture. This is one of Lewis' better films. It has its moments of solid humor and some believable sentiment and a good supporting performance from the always enjoyable Darren McGavin. But like all Lewis movies, it is totally artificial. Who can believe the grown Lewis as a dim-wit juvenile? The sets, the characters and the situations are Hollywood fantasy. And the noise level will give you an earache.
Rating: $2.

"North by Northwest" (1959), 8 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 50. Originally 136 minutes. TV time slot: 180 minutes.

Alfred Hitchcock was in top form in the 1950s when he made this and several other outstanding suspense films. Style, droll wit, surprise, action and romance are here in abundance. Cary Grant is at his most charming as an innocent drawn into international intrigue. Eva Marie Saint is so good, you wonder why she never fulfilled the promise of her early films. James Mason is a great villain. This is the film noted for an airplane chase and scaling Mount Rushmore.

Rating: $3.75.

"Parallax View" (1974), 3 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 102 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes.

This was director Alan Pakula's first film about politics and journalism. He went on to make "All the President's Men." Here the politics are even more obscure than Watergate and the treatment of journalism is more Hollywood. But the suspense is well handled. Warren Beatty gives a good performance as the rebellious inquisitive reporter. He does wonders with a cliché. Hume Cronyn is there for support as his irascible editor. Yes, all the clichés are here, but they are well blended into something better than the parts. Enjoyable and thought provoking at times.

Rating: $3.

"The Deadliest Season" (1977), 12:30 Wednesday night on Ch. 7. Originally 98 minutes. TV time slot: 125 minutes.

This made-for-TV movie is one of the most honest films ever made about professional sports. Michael Moriarty plays an overly aggressive hockey player who is tried for manslaughter when he kills another player. The hockey scenes are curiously exciting and arousing, making us reflect on our own reactions to and expectations of sporting events. Moriarty, who has a tendency to be weepy, makes it work here as a man forced to confront his darker side. The film ends without a true resolution. It raises questions but doesn't offer easy answers.
Rating: $3.20.

Theater announces 'Enchanted Evening'

An event called "An Enchanted Evening at the Baldwin Theatre" will be presented by the Stagecrafters from Friday, Jan. 17, through Sunday, Feb. 2, at the Stagecrafters-Baldwin Theatre in Royal Oak.

An original play by John Landis will be performed in combination with "Some Enchanted Evening," a Rodgers, Hart and Hammerstein musical revue.

Landis' play uses the music and lyrics of the Rodgers, Hart and Hammerstein musical revue as a time-line that traces the history of the men and their music with the events of the time, as these apply to the history of Royal Oak and the Baldwin Theatre, as seen through the eyes of the caretaker.

Tickets at $7.50 for general admission, $6.50 for seniors and students (Sundays only) are available by calling 541-6430 anytime.

Lowry's is a comfortable scene for dining

Your traveling taster visits area eateries and rates them on a 100-point scale. Up to 30 points are awarded for ambiance, which includes general atmosphere and service; 55 points for food, and 15 points for price/value rating. A total count of 55 points or less indicates a restaurant is not recommended; 56-74 points signify from passing to good; 75-89 points designate very good with some extraordinary features, and 90-100 points show that a very special dining experience awaits you.

LOWRY'S, 1990 Hiller, West Bloomfield (682-1347), offers a casual dining experience with pleasant food in a country-inn setting. The lighting is subdued which adds to the atmosphere, but the ventilation system is not adequate, and the main dining area is both smoky (from patrons' cigarettes) and too warm.

In addition, tables are crowded, making it difficult to walk through.

The blackened whitefish with Cajun spices at $12.95 proved a real surprise.

There is a little waiting room at the entrance of the restaurant, but a comfortable bar area provides a space if fish with green peppers, onion and dill was excellent. Also good was the homemade herb bread. However, for-needed. Our reservation was honored promptly and graciously. GENERAL ATMOSPHERE — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 10.

Service was prompt and pleasant. Our waitress was not intrusive, but she was normally ready, when needed. Although she did not provide much additional information about menu items, seafood is the specialty, and most entrees were easily understood. We did not think it was very classy, however, to leave our used forks at the table from one course to the next. Our meal took about two hours. SERVICE — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 12.

The complimentary cold-carrot negret the extra hors d'oeuvres here. We tried two: fried brie with walnuts and plum sauce ($4.95) and potato skins with guacamole, sour cream and cheese ($3.75). The brie had little flavor and was overpowered by the jelly-like plum sauce. Serving it with toast would have been an improvement over Triscuits. The potato skins were not hot enough and seemed dried out. Drinks were strong. DRINKS, APPETIZERS AND BREAD — 10 points maximum. Points awarded — 6.

A hearty cream of mushroom soup was included with the meal. It had good mushroom taste and was not too creamy or heavy. The house salad with herb dressing was fresh and refreshing. Sadly, the Caesar salad ($3.95) was a real failure. It was not prepared at the table, and the lettuce was wilted and the dressing detracted. Here again, stay with the items included with the meal and don't waste your money on the extras. SALAD — 5 points maximum. Points awarded — 3.

The blackened whitefish with Cajun spices at $12.95 proved a real surprise. The dish itself was delicious, with the spices delicate enough to enhance the flavor of the whitefish, not overwhelm it. It was much milder than the traditional Cajun dish but was, perhaps, better suited for most diners' enjoyment. The pasta with shrimp, scallops and salmon in a basil cream sauce ($11.95) was also very good. It was loaded with seafood, and the pasta was not overcooked. The vegetables and potatoes served with the whitefish were just right also and a real complement to the meal. ENTREE, VEGETABLES AND GARNISHES — 30 points maximum. Points awarded — 27.

Desserts were disappointing. The

a counting for taste by D. Gustibus

fried apple rings with cinnamon and ice cream were a good idea, but had too few apples and too much ice cream. The Jamaican chocolate cheesecake was not bad but not special. The chocolate mousse torte cake was dry and not especially tasty. DESSERT AND COFFEE — 10 points maximum. Points awarded — 6.1.

If you stay with the entree and included items, and don't try to enhance your meal with the less appealing extras, Lowry's is a real value. Even with the extras, our meal was about $43 per couple; ordering just drinks, entrees and dessert should keep the cost at about $35-40 including tip, which is very reasonable for what you receive.

PRICE/VALUE — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 7.

A Counting for Taste — 100 points maximum. Total points awarded: 79. Lowry's provides a nice dining experience that is not a budget breaker. What Lowry's needs to be really first rate is a more definite "personality" leading to a more distinctive and pleasing atmosphere.

D. Gustibus welcomes your reactions, comments and suggestions of favorite restaurants in the Observer & Eccentric communities. Write to D. Gustibus, in care of Observer & Eccentric, Entertainment Department, P.O. Box 503, Birmingham 48012.

Benefit scheduled at Marquis

A champagne benefit performance of the Broadway play "Same Time Next Year" will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 17, at the Marquis Theatre in Northville.

Directed by Arthur Rizzo, the play stars Sandi Martin and Charles Van Hoose. Proceeds from the opening night gala will be donated to the Northville Arts Commission.

Tickets at $8 per person may be purchased at Bookstall on the Main, IV

Seasons Flower and Gifts, and Northville Camera, all in Northville

Tickets also are available by mail. For details call the Northville Arts InfoLine at 349-5099.

Singing group plans guest night

The Greater Detroit Chapter of Sweet Adelines Inc. will hold a guest night at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 21, at the Gabriel Richard Building at the University of Michigan Dearborn Campus. Women who like to sing may attend.

For further information, call Cyndi Peltonen at 288-0848.

Guests may participate in a typical Sweet Adelines rehearsal and learn a song in four-part barbershop harmony. It is not necessary to know how to read music. The chorus also will entertain them with songs from its recent show, which featured music of the 1940s.

Sweet Adelines Inc. is an international singing organization with more than 30,000 members throughout the United States, Canada, England, Sweden, the Netherlands, Japan and Australia.

BY LAURIE KIPP

ARE YOU A LOTTERY EXPERT? Test your knowledge of one of the most exciting departments of state government with this two-minute quiz.

- Michigan voters approved the creation of a state Lottery by a two-to-one margin in:
  - 1972  1977  1983
- From its inception through the fiscal year ending September 30, 1985, the Michigan Lottery has created this number of millionaires:
  - 75  92  114
- During the 1985 fiscal year, the Michigan Lottery presented this number of cash awards to players:
  - 5 million 10 million 16 million
- In the current fiscal year, the Lottery expects to present this total amount of prize money to players:
  - $108 million $259 million $561 million
- In the 1985 fiscal year, the Lottery contributed this amount to the State School Aid Fund:
  - $58 million $112 million $369 million
- If this contribution to K-12 education had come from direct taxes, the amount per Michigan household would equal:
  - $10 $75 $115
- The Lottery provided this percent of the total State School Aid Fund:
  - 4% 10% 23%

SEE ANSWERS BELOW

- Voters approved a constitutional change allowing for a state Lottery in May 1972. Tickets for the first Lottery game went on sale November 13, 1972.
- Through September 30, 1985, the Lottery has created 114 millionaires including 61 added in the past fiscal year.
- Of the more than 16 million cash Lottery prizes won in the last fiscal year, most came in instant games with cash awards ranging from $3 to $1 million. The Daily 3, Daily 4, Lotto and Card Games provided the remainder of the awards.
- Based on sales estimates, the Lottery expects to award $661 million in prizes, including major awards paid in annual installments, to players in the current fiscal year.
- Revenues from all Lottery games are earmarked for the State School Aid Fund, to help support K-12 education. In the last fiscal year, the Lottery's contribution to the fund reached $369 million.
- Without the $369 million Lottery contribution to the State School Aid Fund, it would have cost each Michigan household another $115 in direct taxes to maintain the same level of education.
- The Lottery's $369 million contribution to the State School Aid Fund in the last fiscal year amounted to approximately 23 percent of the total $1.6 billion budget.

Animal art—an intriguing menagerie

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

Animal lovers and art lovers (often they're one and the same) are having a great time at Robert L. Kidd Associates Galleries of Birmingham.

"Animals: Contemporary Visions," a long time in the planning, is providing no end of enjoyment for gallery visitors.

An animal isn't just an animal in the hands of the more than 70 artists represented.

In their paintings, W. Louis Jones and Alberto Magnani catch the soft beauty of cats. Jones' painting, 48 by 66 inches, of a cat sleeping on a table is exquisite in detail, lighting and mood.

Magnani, whose paintings of clothing were featured at Kidd Gallery last fall, did a portrait of a cat with green Mona Lisa eyes that follow the viewer.

Lizabeth Stewart's 37-inch-high porcelain "Standing Cat" is an amazing creature, not only because it is so realistic, but because of the medium and the size of the sculpture.

At the other end of the spectrum are weathervanes by Jonathan Bonner, sleek copper abstract creatures with long tails, Gerome Kamrowski's glittering, beaded sculptural menagerie of strange creatures and Niki De Saint Phalle's vividly painted "Ying and Yang" sculpture.

"Ying and Yang" by Niki De Saint Phalle is painted in a bright, radiating rainbow of fresh colors.

review

AND DOGS, humble to stately, receive some unusual and often humorous treatment at the hands of a variety of artists. Surprising, for fans of Ann Arbor-based papermaker, Ted Ramsey, are his kite dogs or dog kites with the terriers spread-eagled and soaring from their earthly bounds.

Louise Kruger's two, stolid, larger-than-life carved pine dogs, are reminiscent of great granite lions guarding the castle, except that hers have ingeniously articulated parts and obviously spring from humbler roots.

Move the ears forward and open the mouth of Kruger's standing dog and what appeared to be an overweight guard dog becomes a friendly, lovable pooch.

David Bates' jaunty, black and white, 30-inch-high dog, "Louie," oil on wood, is full of vinegar or whatever it is that makes frisky, alert canines. Across from him, in the lower gallery, is Russell Sharon's engaging, large painting of an orange cow with brightly painted wood splints coming out from the surface for a three-dimensional quality.

In the same area is a sensitive painting, "Spring Fever," acrylic on linen by D. Jack Solomon, in shades of red/purple and blue/aqua/green that has the mood and tonal quality of a medieval tapestry.

Andy Warhol's three large screen prints of a big horn ram, a panda and a zebra are skillfully handled, straightforward works. Michele Oka Doner's delicate bird faces have a fragile, shell-like quality that links them tightly to nature.

ROBERT GARCIA'S ceramic piece, "On Watch," a cat sitting in a corner of a vacant house with creatures emerging from between the walls of the shell, is subtle and complete in its presentation of a shuttered environment.

Hunt Slomen's painting, "Eleven," indicating the number of dogs in his 69-by-78-inch painting, lights one whole wall with its portraiture-style presence and message of all's well in the dog world.

Susan Lyman uses wisteria and

The dog sculpture, painted black and white (oil on wood) is by David Bates. The bird painting, encaustic on board, is by Tom Weller. At right is one of the biggest attention-getters of the show, "Sleeping Cat," by W. Louis Jones, acrylic on canvas, 48 by 66 inches. Every hair is clearly defined, every knick in the table is included.

bittersweet vine, black cherry and pine to fashion a bird, "Anhinga," resting and drying its wings on a tree-house-like scaffolding. Lyman is an extremely inventive, imaginative artist.

It is the contrast, variety of viewpoints and approaches, the serious, the humorous and the ingenious that make this animal theme show enjoyable. It continues through January. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 107 Townsend, Birmingham.

Painting, drawing fill life of versatile retiree

Brett Eddy holds his drawing of the Palace Theater in Chicago. He recalls that as a small child he helped his mother make Christmas cards to still. He still lives near Rouge Park where he painted with friends when he was in his late teens.

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

Once Brett Eddy of Detroit retired from his job with General Electric, he went back to his first and lifelong love — art.

Eddy, whose drawings and paintings will be on display at the Congregational Church of Birmingham, 1000 Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills through Wednesday, Jan. 22, has been making art since he was a kid.

His exhibit will include a wide sampling of his work from the intricate drawings of the interiors of many of the famous old theaters of Detroit, New York and Chicago, to his more current, abstract acrylics and collages.

He graduated from Northwestern High School in the depths of the Depression. "I had to go to work," he said, commenting that one teacher suggested he study commercial art, "But, that didn't appeal to me, I wanted to do what I wanted to do."

He did continue with post graduate art classes at night with Joseph Boltz. From those classes there evolved a group of young men artists who banded to hire live models, often meeting in nearby Rouge Park for painting sessions.

EDDY'S INTEREST in theaters started when he was an usher at the Palms Theater after graduating from high school.

For his theater drawings, he works from old photographs, in many cases his own photographs, supplemented by his own memory and any memorabilia available.

preview

He remembered passing the Cass Theater in Detroit and noticing that it was in the process of being torn down.

"I happened to have my camera with me, so I snuck in and took a lot of photographs. You could see the sky through the roof, but there was enough left for me to work with," he said.

He drew the Ethel Barrymore Theater in New York City which was renamed the Helen Hayes Theater before it was torn down, as it was originally designed, as a dinner theater in 1908.

He said the intention in 1908 was to make it like the Folies Bergere of Paris, but that didn't become popular.

Many of Eddy's theater drawings have been printed in the quarterlies published by the Theater Historical Society, a national organization based in Chicago.

The paintings and collages in the exhibit show a completely different side of the same artist. Some are portraits, but the majority which the selection committee chose are abstract or semi-abstract acrylics, some with elements of collage.

Eddy may be a retiree, but when it comes to art, he thinks young. His rejection of commercial art because he didn't want to be told what to do is still reflected in his work. He is definitely on his own wave length.

For instance, when he was running the order processing section at General

Electric, he hated to see the large sections of illustration board with sketches of electrical equipment on them thrown out. (The Depression fostered a great many savers who still can't bear to see good things go to waste.)

Anyway, for a long time, Eddy used the back of these for painting because he liked the way the paint went on the surface.

Then, suddenly he began to use the side with the diagrams and something exciting took place.

THOSE FAINT impressions under the paintings add an interesting kind of perspective to his work becoming grids, after images, sometimes, just the faintest of memories.

He will also have a few works on canvas in the show and these are different in mood from the others, softer, more subtle.

Eddy had works in some of the early Michigan shows at Detroit Institute of Arts. He had work in the 1985 Knickerbocker exhibit in New York City, the 1985 Michigan Fine Arts exhibition at Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association and the art festival at the Congregational Church last year.

He commented that it's difficult to be a full-time artist as well as promoter and business manager.

This is a welcome show by a deserving artist who continues to maintain a high professional quality in his work while keeping it fresh and alive.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Friday, noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Wall graphics require careful planning

By Dave Messing
special writer

I guess you never know somebody until you've lived with them.

Poor Sandy, we were already married for three years when she found out.

We had just moved into our new little starter home. No sooner had I painted a large "W" shape on the wall with the paint roller when I remembered I had to run out for some dog food; so Sandy finished the room.

The next weekend I started the ceiling but instantly got one of those sick headaches . . . so Sandy finished the ceiling.

Soon I began making excuses about why I couldn't paint. I told Sandy, "My mother used to beat me with a paint roller" (smooth nap, they hurt more than the heavy nap). She didn't buy that one.

Then I told her, "I think when I was little my father backed over me with a paint roller. Or maybe I drank paint and the doctor had to pump my stomach."

artifacts

"OK . . . OK . . ." Sandy interrupted, "just say you don't like painting, I really don't mind."

So from that day to this I have rarely touched a paint roller.

ANOTHER reason is simply dollars 'n' cents. I can't paint a window ledge without getting it all over my sleeves, in my hair, under my shoes and straightway onto the carpet. Well with the rising cost of shirts, shoes and carpet it is cheaper for all of us . . . if Sandy does the painting.

But if a wall graphic job comes along and if you have enough money under my nose, the smell of latex isn't so bad. And all those cop-out stories about my childhood go right out the window.

Wall graphics can be, as I mentioned last week, quite lucrative as well as expressive.

When you say "wall graphics," what usually comes to mind is a multicolored stripe or geometric shape on a wall or ceiling. Sometimes the wall graphic "biz" seems to be cornered by wall painters who casually tape off a few areas and paint them different colors.

I would love to see more artists get into this field and consider it a vehicle for their expression. Which walls should be painted? Which walls should be left bare? Usually this decision is best left to an artist.

I was once in a huge office complex where somebody painted stripes on every wall and ceiling, in every office, on every floor. I felt like I was in an "Alice in Wonderland" set. There were even huge circular patterns in all the stairwells. I actually had to think my way a step at a time down the stairs for fear of falling.

WELL BACK to the "how to" part . . . Most wall graphics require careful planning.

A slightly crooked stripe is very annoying. Make it obviously angled or make it perfectly vertical or horizontal.

Choose colors that compliment the decor. I prefer very light or pastel colors, this creates a graphic that your eyes can "discover" rather than one that "knocks your eyes out."

After you accurately measure and mark the width and direction of your graphic, carefully draw fine, light pencil lines. You may choose to "snap" chalk lines.

Now comes the taping of the lines. 3M makes a special low tack flexible tape for curving graphics.

I DO, however, have good luck with just regular masking tape, one quarter to one-half-inch wide. Make sure you don't pull too hard on the tape when trying to tape a straight line. This causes "waves" in your lines.

Remember to always tape just outside your pencil lines so that your paint covers them up, thus eliminating last minute erasing. Burnish, with your finger nail, just the very edge of the tape that will be painted. Careful! Masking tape can pull a layer of plaster board right off the wall, so peel carefully.

I always use outdoor semi-gloss latex paint. It is permanent on all surfaces and makes for easy cleanup. Again, I recommend foam brushes for applying the paint.

If you are taping irregular or bumpy surfaces simply peel the tape immediately after you paint. This will "cut" the paint before it can seep into the texture.

Try fading your graphics or stripes. After you have the stripe taped, use a spray gun or airbrush and fade into or out of the graphic; you'll love the look. If your graphic seems to have an unevenness to the painted surface/area you can go over the whole area with an acrylic clear varnish.

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for 10 years and operates two art stores, Art Store and More, 16338 Middlebelt, Livonia, and 265 N. Main, Plymouth. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may call him at 522-6311, write to him at his store or in care of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 33203 Grand River, Farmington, Mich. 48024.
