At the crossroads I-275 spurs growth, change

By Marie Chestney staff writer

HE I-275 CORRIDOR — 38 of the hottest miles of freeway in Michigan - starts just north of Monroe and ends abruptly in Novi

It opened in 1977, when a motorist could drive the stretch and see little but farms, trees and an occasional home.

Today, nine years later, farm land gives way to a steady stream of motels and hotels, restaurants, business complexes, office buildings, condominiums, luxury subdivisions, shopping centers and banks — from Canton Township to Novi.

And on the drawing boards are scores of build ing projects that are destined to add handsomely to the tax base of Canton and Plymouth townships, Livonia and Farmington Hills.

No wonder the word gold so often comes to mind in describing the area, which has been called "the golden corridor," "a road paved with gold" and "the golden triangle."

"I DON'T KNOW if you can call it 'golden' or not," said Livonia city planner John Nagy.

There's certainly a lot of pressure for building there. I-275 is going like gangbusters. Builders are waiting in line to acquire land and develop it.

There's no question they could develop every piece of land they could get their hands on. Values have gone so high - in one recent auction of state land along Haggerty, the actual bid price was twice the estimated value," Nagy said.

But why the sudden interest in a freeway that bypasses metropolitan Detroit?

"ONE OF THE most important reasons that I-275 has had such growth is because it has such excellent access to Metropolitan Airport," said David Nicholson, economic development director for Canton Township.

I-275 also connects with I-94, I-96 and M-14 roads that lead to Detroit.

"I-275 has tremendous assets," Nicholson said "It allows people who work in various communities to get to their places of employment almost completely by expressway. They can leave their homes in Canton and be on the expressway in five minutes.

Aaron Machnik, Canton's building director, said. "It offers easy access to all areas for moving products around.

I-275 IS THE western edge of an imaginery triangle that starts at the airport, runs north to Farmington Hills, east to Detroit and back to the airport

The corridor also offers an easy tie-in to the university research centers of Ann Arbor and the halls of government in Lansing. Some even suggest the corridor will be the new center of Detroit by the year 2000

Among recent developments in the corridor

- In Canton Township American Yazaki opened last year, Wallside Windows will be building near Yazaki, and an inn will be built at I-275 and Ford Road. A 12-theater complex is under construction and a new industrial park shortly will connect to the corridor.
- In Plymouth Township two office buildings opened in 1985. There are 18 site plans awaiting review. A new industrial park is on the horizon and the township is considering rezoning 90 acres for office or commercial.

 In Livonia, which has just about run out of vacant land along the corridor - CBS/Fox Video Co., Republic Airlines, Manufacturers National Bank and Cambridge Square office building are new. Victor International is awaiting a land re-, zoning for a $200 million to $300 million corporate office park

COMMUNITIES with the welcome mat out for corporate headquarters and high-technology types of business along the corridor must grapple with the following concerns

 Insuring a good mix of residential/commercial development

· Forging good relationships between businesses and homeowners.

Setting building height limits.

· Solving traffic problems.

 Safeguarding the rural "quality of life" in each community.

It's a list of concerns which will occupy the minds of city planners, city officals, businessy leaders and homeowners for many years to come.

City 'comes out winner'

staff writer

The development boom that follows I-275 into Plymouth Township does not leave Plymouth city fathers feeling left out.

Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper said planned development along the I-275 corridor in the township has not drawn away from potential development in the city.

'We don't have any land in the city of Plymouth to develop," Graper said. But, he added, the city favors township development because it helps boost the housing market and retail business in Plymouth.

"Our realtors tell us our housing market is probably less than 60 days - when housing is put on the market it sells very quickly," said Graper, adding that township development encourages

"THEY CONSIDER us to be their downtown," Graper said, adding, "We're ecstatic over development in Plymouth Township. The city of Plymouth comes out a winner.

So far, development has just begun in the township. An office complex at Ann Arbor Road and I-275 opened last year, as more developers advance plans to build housing and high-tech industry near I-275 and M-14, said James Anulewicz, Plymouth Township planning director.

From a Plymouth standpoint, I wouldn't necessarily look at it as taking away," Anulewicz said. "This is an ideal area — a good place to work and place to live.

Garber accepts circuit court challenge

By Diane Gale staff writer

Judge James Garber has chosen to accept what could turn out to be a mission impossible

Tapping on a desk in his office at 35th District Court, he makes a convincing argument that if there's any chance of clearing away about 1,600 backlogged Wayne Circuit Court cases he's the man to organize the pro-

"The worst thing that could happen is that it will fall flat on its face. There's nothing to lose but time. What we have to gain is to put the docket of the Third Circuit Court of Michigan in the condition that it should be in

GARBER was asked to head the first phase of the massive undertaking by Herbert Levitt, Wayne circuit regional court administrator, "an old friend" who happened to be in 35th district on another matter recently.

Although the crash clean-up program officially begins April 7, Garber already has started wading through cases at the Out Wayne County office on Henry Ruff and Michigan in Westland.

Along with the role, Garber has been given a temporary circuit judge appointment that will renew itself on a monthly basis for the length of the program. During the first phase of the pro-

William Crump's Piper lies on its back after a forced landing in a Plymouth Township field.

Pilot defies danger

By Doug Funke staff writer

William Crump, a veteran pilot, said everything just seemed to fall into place last weekend when he successfully landed his single-prop Piper in a Plymouth Township field after the aircraft lost power.

The plane flipped over on its back when the front-wheel landing gear caught in a field north of the Burroughs Corp. parking lot near Plymouth Road and Haggerty.

Crump. 49, a Garden City resident, wasn't injured. He was flying alone. Crump's craft lost power shortly after taking off from Mettetal Airport in Canton at about 2 p.m. Satur-

I just barely cleared trees. Crump said of the experience. "Any less momentum. I wouldn't have have gone into power lines.

Any little hit one way or another I would have been dead. I don't think it's luck so much as Providence. I've been flying 16 years. I have single, multiple and instrument ratings. I don't think you experience any concern, fear or shock at all. You go through the routine you're

CRUMP SAID he has a theory on what may have gone wrong but declined to elaborate until he met with the Federal Aviation Administration, which is investigating the inci-

"The engine quit," he said. The incident was the first of its kind for Crump. He said he's spent several thousand dollars recently refurbishing the airplane he's owned

"It's not really totalled but it's in pretty bad shape. It was beautiful."

While he seemed collected recalling the experience Monday, Crump conceded that he experienced a few rough moments over the weekend.

I ran on nervous energy until yesterday. I woke up four times during the night

Crump said a desire to get in some air work and sightseeing prompted him to take the plane up last Saturday. He had invited a daughter home from college to accompany him but she had previous plans.

My wife said, 'From now on, I'm going with you. You're not going to get away from me that easily," he Crump, who also owns a twin-engine aircraft, said he plans to continue flying.

Joan Barber is fighting to protect her house on Haggerty Road in Farmington Hills from the encroachment of I-275. The freeway passes a stone's throw from the house.

two stories of I-275 Two women,

By Diane Gale staff writer

OAN BARBER'S 19th century, Greek Revival home on Haggerty Road in Farmington Hills stands as a glimpse of history in the midst of residential development. The I-275 expressway passes a stone's throw away

Noise from the eight-lane expressway sent Barber on a crusade for a barrier to

The house was there first anyway, she

State highway officials "think if people don't like it, they can move away," Barber said. "Well, hell's bells. We've been here all these years. They can't just write people's lives and homes off like that."

DOWN THE ROAD in Canton Township, Flora Thorman's family home on Haggerty Road was built in the late 1800s. Now 73, Thorman lived in the home all her life until five years ago when she moved to a Plymouth Township condominium.

Barber's face becomes flushed and her voice is pitched with anger when she talks about the noise caused by I-275. Thorman shrugs her shoulders and says the expressway was inevitable.

You have to have progress and, as far as I'm concerned, it don't bother me much," Thorman said. "The noise grew on you. It was worse when they were building it, but you even got used to that. It didn't inconvenience us too much

"IT'S PROGRESS," Thorman said. "Where would all these people be going if it weren't for that road? We have to have it with all the way things have progressed."

What's best for the majority often leaves the minority out of luck, said Barber.

"I have an historical home that has been in the family and passed down since 1834," she said. "To destroy it is destroying part of our history.

When Barber sold the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportations 30 feet of her land, apple trees had to be cut and a septic tank moved. Barber said she received $10,000 and a promise noise would not be a problem.

"They do what's best for them or a large number of people and to hell with the little guy," she said. "They could have put berms up but they didn't, and they didn't because there was only one house and we're still only one family.'

LEO DEFRAIN, MDOT engineer, said it's unlikely a barrier will be constructed because the Barber house doesn't meet federal criteria that states four homes must be af-

A wall about 1,000 feet long would be needed to block the noise from the Barber home and could cost as much as $250,000, he

Blanchard blasts Senate leaders over tax reform

By Teri Banas staff writer

Gov. James Blanchard accused Republican state Senate leadership yesterday of "avoiding the tough issues" by stalling efforts to approve his year-old "tax fairness" proposal.

The Democratic governor was in Royal Oak to promote the Homestead Property Tax Credit program, which he would see expanded to include 33 percent more households.

He would pay for it in part by closing up tax "loopholes" used by business.

Blanchard told reporters he planned to get tough with Senate Republicans over the issue of property tax reform

The issue was highlighted earlier this week when Senate Majority Leader John Engler announced he will form a partisan committee to study and draft a plan to "reform" property taxes.

THE REPUBLICAN plan is expected to advocate an increase to the state's 4 percent sales tax, possibly up to 5 or 6 percent, to reduce school district property taxes.

Of the GOP proposal, Blanchard said: "It's a way of avoiding the tough issues that we raised standing up to the banks and insurance companies. Over half the insurance companies in this state pay little or no tax." he said.

State Treasurer Robert Bowman, who joined Blanchard before members of the Royal Oak Senior Citizens Center, added: "I don't think people want to raise one tax in order to cut another. We're entirely optimistic (toward passage of the fairness proposal."

THE GOVERNOR'S plan, somewhat modified, was adopted 88-20 in the state House but has yet to be addressed in the state Senate. The Senate passed a GOP version, which the House hasn't touched.

Blanchard's plan would pay out more income tax rebate money to state households. He would increase the number of eligible households from the current 1.5 million to two million.

It's designed to benefit households which pay more than 3.5 percent of their income in property taxes. It also applies to renters. Senior citizens, in particular, benefit.

THOUGH REBATES have been in existence for about 15 years, Blanch-the elderly," Blanchard said.

ard said "there are still seniors who don't know of it." The average rebate to a senior citizen is $542 a year.

Filing deadline is April 15. Those who haven't filed claims in the past have up to four years to do so.

A senior citizen advocate from the center said tax counseling is offered almost daily at the center, and "we find a few every day, both young and old, who are unaware of it. The people who don't know of this program are ususually the poor people."

AMONG THOSE in attendance yesterday were Clyde and Velma Vickery of Royal Oak, who collect $500-$600 annually under the rebate plan. Clyde Vickery said he felt raising the sales tax would "hurt the poor man the worst," though "I'm sure it would be good to reduce property taxes."

Said another resident, Lyla Bodine, also of retirement age and a humanities instructor there, "I own my own condo in Royal Oak and get between $900 and $1,200 each year. I think it's great."

"Property taxes are the single most onerous burden on homeowners and renters in this state, particularly the elderly," Blanchard said.

Property tax reform in '87, Engler says

By Tim Richard staff writer

Property tax reform will be the Michigan Legislature's top 1987 priority, says Senate Majority Leader John Engler

This state's property tax burden is on the high side," Engler told a news conference in Detroit.

The Mount Pleasant Republican discussed lowering farm assessments, giving voters a chance to substitute sales taxes for property taxes, and easing the property tax burden on small business.

AT LEAST five ballot proposals have failed in the past eight years. But Engler hopes to succeed next

Because of the Legislature's attention to liability insurance and the fall election, Engler doubted both parties could agree on a property tax plan this sping.

The Senate leader and state GOP Chairman Spencer Abraham called the news conference to declare March 31 "Victory over Taxes" day it was the date the lower 4.6 percent personal income tax went into effect - but wound up fielding dozens of questions on property taxes. "There's a good property tax plan in the House," Engler said, referring to a Senate-passed Republican bill to taxes for school operations. BUT HE noted that Democratic Gov. James J. Blanchard's rival plan

phase out senior citizen homestead tax rebates, in part through higher taxes on banks and insurance companies. The business taxes are unacceptable to Engler's caucus

Engler also said that Republicans want to give voters a chance to make school funding rely on sales taxes as well as property taxes. Schools now take up 80 percent of the $5 billion raised state wide by *property taxes. The GOP would give voters a chance to approve raising the sales tax one or two cents from the present four cents a dollar to reduce the property tax.

"THE LEGISLATURE can't raise the sales tax itself," Engler said. "But the voters will want clear guarantees that property taxes won't creep back up.

The Senate leader wants the 1987 Legislature to write into law clear guarantees that if voters raise the sales tax, school property taxes will come down - possibly through rate ceilings for schools.

The sales tax has the advantages of growing with consumer spending and tapping tourists and business visitors from out-of-state, he said.

Michigan's sales tax is 4 percent on consumer items excluding groceries and prescription drugs. Many other states have sales tax rates of 5

A 1980 ballot plan, supported by then-Lt. Gov. James Brickley, would have raised the sales tax to 5 percent is to increase homestead property while lowering property taxes.

Engler plan: tax reform in 3 areas

State Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mt. Pleasant, said at a news conference in Detroit (see adjoining story) that he will soon announce the appointment of a panel of academics and tax experts to address possibility of tax reforms in three major areas. They of agricultural lands. "The bottom tax as the chief tax complaint of has fallen out of the agricultural tax small business, he said. market," he said.

 Business property taxes — a halt to the "almost random" local granting of tax breaks for large corporations; an easing of the burden on small firms. Property taxes have replaced the single business

• Funding schools - which consume about 80 percent of the $5. billion-plus in property taxes levied statewide. Republicans would give voters a chance to raise the sales tax one or two cents to reduce property taxes.

I-275: The interstate that isn't

By Tim Richard staff writer

HEN THE I-275 freeway was born on the state's drawing boards, it was supposed to be the main north-south freeway on the route from Sault Ste. Marie to Key West, Instead, it is a 38-mile, partial bypass around Detroit. I-275 starts north of Monroe and halts abruptly in Novi - much to the consternation of Oakland County officials.

It is far from being an "interstate" freeway, as the "I" implies. "About 95 percent of all I-275 trips originate and end in the seven-county area," said Carmine Palombo, manager of transportation programs for the Southeast Michigan Council of Gov-

And while it has generated a flurry of economic development, the freeway in the Haggerty Road corridor carries only half the traffic capacity designed for it by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

"IT SHOWED up at the beginning of the Golden Age, in the '50s," said William D. Swanson, of MDOT's highway project planning unit in Lansing.

"This," he said pointing to the Haggerty corridor, "would have been I-75. And this," he added, pointing to the road that runs through the middle of Detroit as the Chrysler freeway, "would have been the I-275 penetrator."

In U.S. road planning, a two-digit freeway like I-75 or I-96 is the main freeway and avoids downtown areas. Penetrators into downtowns are supposed to carry three-digit numbers - such as I-475 into Flint and I-675

What happened?

"I-275 never got built," Swanson said Instead, the penetrator through Detroit was constructed in the 1960s and carries the main I-75 number.

The southern portion of what we know as I-275, from Monroe to Novi, was opened in 1977 at a construction cost of $145 million.

The northern portion, from Novi to I-75 at Davisburg, was held up by political-economic muscle from Detroit and environmental opposition from the lakes area of western Oakland County. It's known as the M-275

BIG TRAFFIC gainers from the existing I-275 are the western suburbs, Palombo said.

"In 1985 SEMCOG did a travel forecast from models based on the 1980 census," he said. "One-third of all I-275 traffic is going to or from the top five communities. Only about 5 percent of trips start outside the seven-county region.'

The percentages show the share of all I-275 traffic - pleasure as well a work - generated by each commu-

• Livonia - 8.8 percent. • Farmington Hills - 8.7 per-

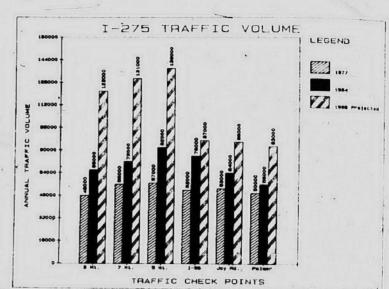

- Southfield 6.8 percent.
- Canton Township 5.4 per-
- External (people coming from outside the seven-county region) 5.1 percent.
- Ann Arbor 4.7 percent.
- Northville Township 3.8 per-• Plymouth Township - 3.3 per-
- cent.
- Pontiac 3.8 percent.
- Novi and Farmington each

DRIVERS WERE a little slow to discover I-275.

"In 1977 it looked like an airport runway," Swanson said. Average daily trips numbered only 48,100 at the Nine Mile Road check point, 56.200 at the point between Six and Seven Mile roads and 51,600 at the I-

96 intersection. By 1984 trips numbers had grown by about half to 66,400, 73,400 and

76,100, respectively. But that's only about half the freeway's design capacity, Swanson said

The chart reflects traffic volume on I-275 from its opening in 1977 through the projected rate in 1988. Today the freeway carries about half the traffic it was designed to handle.

Sales go through the roof in area

By Kevin Brown staff writer

While construction on I-275 was completed in the early 1970s, it's taken a while for the office and housing market to gear up. But the boom is on, and some areas are even nearing a saturation point.

'It took a while for the natural workings of the marketplace to show that western Wayne County was a viable area for development," said John Nagy, Livonia planning direc-

OF THE FOUR western Wavne County and southern Oakland County communities touching I-275 - Canton Township, Plymouth Township, Livonia and Farmington Hills - development is most pronounced in Farmington Hills.

"We started planning back in the early '60s," said Richard Lampi, Farmington Hills community development director. "The intention was that the city be developed primarily as a residential community but that it also be a balanced community . . . with enough retail to service the needs of the residents and industrial

AND BOTH residential and office development are flourishing:

- More than 1 million square feet of office space went up last year, Lampi said.
- In housing, permits for 646 new homes and 1,700 multi-resident units were processed.

• In July, construction will begin on a new world headquarters for Little Caeser Enterprises Inc.

"1986 looks like it's going to be very similar to last year," Lampi added.

Vice president Charles Jones said the 38-acre site of the Little Caeser development, acquired for $3.5 million, "is as dramatic a piece as you could have" for good freeway access. The site not only is close to I-275 but also adjacent to I-696 and 12 Mile - another development cor-

WHILE DEVELOPMENT means expansion of a local government's tax base it doesn't neccessarily mean a tax bonanza. "Development generates new tax revenue but at the same time, it requires new services," Lampi said.

The tax boost Livonia gets from new I-275-related development will only offset inflation and cuts in federal grant programs to cities, Nagy said.

But he does see a further benefit: "When you have good-quality corporate offices, it makes our housing more attractive and we see greater demand. . . . There's more people to support our stores and shops.

Livonia reported $124 million in construction in 1985 - about half of that near the I-275 corridor, Nagy

"We're seeing a lot of growth. The only thing that hampers us is we don't have land. We're just running out of available space."

"WE'RE CERTAINLY seeing an awful lot of movement along that (I-275) corridor," said Joann Bryngelson, president of the Western Wayne-Oakland Board of Realtors. "It seems to be very popular. People like it because it's close to work and has easy access to Detroit, Lansing, Ann Arbor and Metro Airport."

Lower interest rates - around 10 percent for a 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage - have sparked a domino effect in which people already owning homes in the $40,000 to $50,000 range are selling those homes while seeking mortgages on more expensive homes, she said.

"Homes are selling very rapidly in the northwest suburbs, in Plymouth, Livonia, Canton, Farmington Hills and Novi. They're selling just as fast as they are built," Bryngelson said.

"One condominium in Plymouth didn't have a model finished, and they sold the whole complex; it was just amazing," she added.

BRYNGELSON SAID the main reason for the construction boom in the corridor is lower interest rates.

But Donald Converse, general manager of the Dunbarton Building Co., disagrees. "If it wasn't for I-275, I really don't believe this area would have the number of developments," he said. Dunbarton, part of the Sheldon-Korn group, is building housing all along the corridor.

Dunbarton is selling new homes and condo units in the $80,000 to $100,000 range in the Canton-Plymouth Township area. Generally, prices rise as one heads north along I-275, with new housing starting in $130,000 range in Dunbarton housing in Farmington Hills and Novi.

Lampi said Farmington Hills is 75 to 85 percent developed. "We're still a few years away" from saturation, he said. "But if we have a few good years like last year, it won't take

IN THE Canton-Plymouth area, the market will be saturated in the next five years as available land for housing runs out, Converse said. • Most open land in Canton

Township is zoned for light industrial or manufacturing uses, said Aaron Machnik, township building director. · The township has just received a tentative proposal for 500 units of multiple housing on Haggerty just south of Ford Road, Machnik said. · Seven-hundred apartment units on three township sites are scheduled for completion this summer, munity planning and economic development director.

· Wallside Windows and MacLaren Engines Inc. are planning developments just north of American Yazaki.

In Plymouth Township, the planning commission is studying nearly 20 site plans.

Police, fire scramble to keep pace

By Mary Klemic staff writer

Municipal officials in the area are confident that local services - police, fire, sewer and trash collection will fare well in the wake of new development, which will bring more traffic and more people into the

"The dollars that this will generate will certainly provide any services . . . that we will need," Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara said.

Police expect some increase in crime when an area changes from open land to a developed site. It will involve larcenies, auto thefts and other crimes from parking lots, said Marvin Snider, Plymouth Township deputy police chief.

"INCREASED business increases targets available," Snider said.

Livonia Police Chief William Crayk has said, "Any development of the area, be it residential or commercial, will increase the crime statistics and need for police service. We do not anticipate any unique problems that would be generated by a project of this nature that cannot be absorbed and controlled by the city of Livonia division of police," Crayk said.

Union representatives of one Livonia department are concerned that unless its staffing is increased and its equipment improved, the city is literally playing with fire.

"THAT TYPE of building project is going to mean a lot of extra services needed in the city," said Vern Beach, president of the Livonia firefighters union.

We feel that we're operating with an unsafe level of manpower," he said. "We're endangering our own people with the limited manpower that we have. There are days we have 18 people, and we have 36 square miles to cover. We don't feel that that's safe at all.' McNamara said, "For some time now we've known that we need a fire station site in that area." According to Fire Chief Barney Knorp, "It won't be a sudden impact overnight. The alarms will increase just at a normal rate.

"We have enough equipment and manpower at the present time. Everything will be done to update these buildings going in there to make them as fire-safe as possible."

A SEWER IS being built north of Seven Mile Road that will have the capacity to accommodate the additional flow, Livonia city engineer Gary Clark said. The sewer is 18 inches in diameter near Bicentennial Park, and narrows as it travels west to a minimum 12 inches near I-275.

TRASH COLLECTION, handled within Livonia by a contractor, will be extended to the new development. "It will mean an additional area to be served," said Russ Gronevelt, director of public works.

Many of the commercial and industrial properties in Livonia must provide their own trash collection, Gronevelt said.

Location, access spur growth in Novi, Northville

By Susan Rosiek staff writer

Easy access to freeways, in particular I-275, has resulted in boom times for Novi and Northville Township.

Although primarily residential in charac-

illustration by RENEE ENRIGHT / staff photos

ter, they are among the fastest-growing areas in southeast Michigan. Retail properties are hot in Novi, an Oakland County community with a population of about 26,000. Several projects that have been proposed or recently approved include:

• Farmington Hills-based Ramco-Geron Inc. will build West Oaks II, a 350,000-square-foot mail on 12 Mile and tailers and services. It is expected to create Novi roads adjacent to West Oaks I and across from Twelve-Oaks Mall. Major tenants include Mainstreet, a retailer from Chicago, Toys R Us and its subsidiary, Kids R Us, Marshall's, a discount department store, and Builder's Square, a do-it-yourself department store. Construction is expected to start in the next month.

• Trammel Crow Co. of Dallas has been given preliminary approval to build a 400,000 square foot development known as Towne Center at Grand River and Novi roads. The estimated $40 million to $50 million development will include an eight-screen theater, a department store, health club and dozens of speciality reabout 500 new jobs in the area. In a campaign organized by Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, also a candidate for county executive, the volunteers will be stationed at these shopping center sites on the county's westside:

Kemp to be at rally Saturday

Presidential contender Jack Kemp will speak at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at a rally in Livonia. The congressman from upstate New York will appear at a rally sponsored by the Michigan Opportunity Society (MOS) in the Waterman Center of Schoolcraft College, Haggerty south of Seven Mile, Livonia.

The free rally is open to the public. Visitors should use the north parking lot. The college is just west of the I-275/I-96 freeway. There will be music and refreshments.

MOS, chaired by Clark Durant III, is affiliated with the American Opportunity Society, a political action committee founded by Kemp.

A California native, Kemp was a quarterback with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League in 1962-69 and was president of the players' union for five years. Elected to the U.S. House in 1970, Kemp has made economic policy his specialty. He was co-author of the Kemp-Ross tax plan, much of which was enacted in the 1981 tax cuts. He has championed "free enterprise zones" - areas of special tax and regulatory incentives to stimulate business in inner cities.

Republican insiders say Kemp and Vice President George Bush are far ahead of the rest of the pack, at least in Michigan, in stirring up interest in their 1988 presidential bids.

Livonia attorneys seek Wayne judgeships

By Teri Banas staff writer

Livonia's city attorney for 23 years, Harry Tatigian, and Gregory Stempien, a trial lawyer from Livonia, are seeking spots on the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Both are collecting petition signatures to place their names on the Aug. 4 non-partisan primary ballot. Deadline for filing petitions is June 3

KNOWINGLY NEVER UNDERSOLD

Sometimes there is more to family resemblance than meets the eye. In this family, Dad has high blood pressure and a serious heart problem.

His father had the same trouble. So the kids have a much greater than average risk of developing some form of cardiovascular impairment when they grow up.

Someday it may be possible to alter a family's inborn risk factors. Such dreams' are the work of Harper Hospital. As a universityaffiliated research hospital, Harper is able to sustain major commitments to serious, longterm cardiovascular research and treatment programs. Leading physicians and scientists from around the world are working here at Harper, contributing innovative treatment and prevention ideas for today's patients, even while they work on tomorrow's heart miracles. In genetics. Medication. Stress control. Non-invasive diagnostic techniques, and more.

Modern surgery is also important. Open-heart operations for bypass and reconstructive procedures are saving lives every day. And here at Harper, more of these operations are performed each year than at any other hospital in Michigan.

But today's miracles can do only a small part of the job. Most patients need more. Much more. That's why Harper's Cardiology Program goes beyond surgery. Beyond generations. Call for help today.

Park flap looms large in primary

FOR THE FIRST time in a lot of years, a civil rights demonstration could determine the outcome of elections in our area.

Wayne County executive hopeful Ed McNamara knows it. So does the present holder of that seat, Republican gübernatorial hopeful Bill Lucas. Both of their dreams for higher political office could be dashed.

And that would be a shame. However you may feel about one or another of these politicos, the room for racism should remain vacant in today's political suite.

But reality points in another direc-

Very simply, race is going to be an issue - not the only issue but a bigger one than many political-watchers realize or want

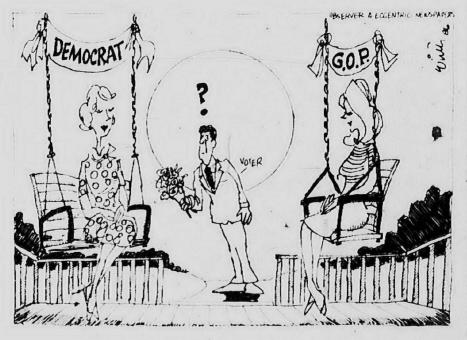

The entire scenario will be played out in this year's primary.

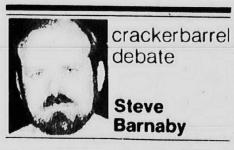

In Wayne County, black voters have a hard choice to make:

- Follow Lucas to the Republican column, hope for a big November tally, and the first black governor since Reconstruction.
- Stick with their power base in Wayne County, vote in the Democratic primary and elect another black as Wayne County executive.

An easy bet would be that Detroit Mayor Coleman Young certainly won't be going out to urge any of his friends to vote in a Republican primary for, of all people, Lucas.

And Detroit's mayor is known to have some sway with black voters in Wayne County.

Livonia Mayor McNamara, although a competent and popular executive in the western suburbs, has a tough row to hoe when leaving his bailiwick. Few blacks are familiar with his abilities and would probably throw their votes_for one of the two black candidate s anyway.

ON THE OTHER SIDE is the reaction to the contemplated demonstrations in the Dearborn parks. A faction of the black community, led by Rev. Jim Holley, is organizing to protest the much-heralded residentsonly park ordinance recently adopted by Dearborn.

Many. blacks feel the ordinance is aimed at them. Many also believe the boycott of Dearborn stores has been ineffective in convincing Dearborn to open its parks to residents. The specter of black/white confrontations spread across television sets and the front pages of newspapers looms large in the mind. No matter how hard the good people try to keep matters under control, there are bound to be the loonies who will spit and snarl hatred.

Reactions to such conduct could very well racially polarize our area. If demonstrations happen before the primary, voters most certainly will be more prone to voting along racial

While most folks would just as soon get along with the next guy, actual racial harmony is a ways off and it would take very little to ignite fears and resentments.

An outbreak of violence could be the fatal blow for both McNamara and Lucas. It could also set back our area in ways we've been dreading since that hot summer in 1967.

Tax break is not the strongest lure

TAX ABATEMENT.

In researching this series of news articles, feature stories and editorial opinions, we found that location, accessibility to freeways and utilities, roads, good schools and good city and/or township services are stronger incentives than tax abatement in attracting new business.

Many of those same conditions were repeated in a survey done last year by Michigan Bell, the Livonia Chamber of Commerce and the city of Livonia.

Good location and accessibility to markets, local government, availability of materials and a low crime rate were the most frequently mentioned reasons for the positive endorsement of some 230 manufacturing firms in Livonia.

The purpose of the survey was to develop an industrial profile of the city, identify its strengths and weaknesses, retain existing business and encourage business expansion here. (A similar survey was done in Westland and now is being done in the Plymouth communi-

THOSE RESPONDING to the survey cited state taxes, workers compensation and unemployment compensation and the single business tax as areas of concern. But those are issues that need to be addressed by state policy, not by tax abatements at the local level.

Community leaders need to be fair with business, but they also must show a little more courage when businesses threaten to locate elsewhere without local tax abatement. Residents and other civic leaders also need to keep a watchful eye on governmental bodies in charge of granting tax breaks.

Economic growth, as we've noted elsewhere on this page, has a price. Part of the price is the movement of industry and commerce into our former cornfields. Granting tax abatements too casually, willy-nilly, will shift the price tag to small businesses and homeowners. That's not fair.

The debate goes on over tax abatement and the proponents for each side make some convincing arguments.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen: "You get a homestead exemption, exemptions for having kids and other deductions. Tax abatements for business should be regarded in the same light."

Farmington Hills Planner Edward Gardiner: "Who's to say business wouldn't locate out there anyway and pay their fair share of taxes?"

THE STATE Legislature authorized tax abatement in 1974 to provide incentives to rebuild aging plants and to draw new business to Michigan. Local governments may grant a property tax break of up to 50 percent on new or renovated buildings and equipment for a period not to exceed 12 years.

To date, Livonia has granted 34 abatements, Garden City 22, Canton Township 18, Westland 14, Plymouth Township 12, Redford Township and Farmington Hills two each and Novi

What criteria is used to determine the length of the tax break? Is the act creating competition for jobs between cities and township and a supermarket shopper's attitude among businesses? Are too many local companies receiving breaks under the act? In giving the tax breaks, are local units creating future tax problems for themselves?

Given the healthy state of our economy, and the "gold rush" mentality along I-275, maybe it's time we receive full tax benefits to offset some of the added demand that growth places on our roads and services. Arguments for abatement may be more historical than real, particularly along the golden corridor. - Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

When kite-flying fun was all in the making

KITE SEASON began Christmas morning when I was a kid. The shirts and pajamas that came in the Hudson's boxes were wrapped in a strong grade of tissue paper that was splendid kite material.

Sure, we could buy kites at the dime store for 10 cents and a ball of twine for 19 cents. But it was a lot more fun to design, build and fly

Store-bought kites were of one standard design: the two-sticker. But if you made your own, they could be

MY FAVORITE was the star kite. You arranged three sticks like a snowflake and connected alternate points with string. That gave you two, overlapping, equilateral triangles. When you added the wrapping tissue from the Hudson's box, you had a six-pointed star.

It caught a lot of wind and was a strong-flying kite.

Another favorite was the grand-daddy three-sticker. It had two vertical sticks and one horizontal, basically a variation on the standard two-sticker kite.

One of the best fliers was the box kite, but it had two important disadvantages: It took a lot of work and craftsmanship to build, and a strong wind would grab it and bust your string in a harry.

The one box kite our household produced was almost immediately gobbled by the kite-eating tree on Pierson Avenue next to the farmer's field south of Seven Mile.

THE POST-WAR era when I was a kid was a great time for kite-building. Earlier, my dad's generation made theirs of newspaper and used flour and water for paste. We had it

I've already mentioned the wrapping tissue. A lot of our dads were craftsmen and used power saws to cut up scrap lumber we picked up at the new housing sites of northwest Detroit. In a few minutes; my dad could produce a couple of season's worth of kite sticks. And-we could afford better glue.

Our home-made kites were bigger, too - 36 to 40 inches high.

Today's kids probably have as much fun flying kites as we did, but I don't see any homemade kites in the kite-eating trees of the western sub-

I work on computer terminals, both in the office and in Lansing, and the dads in my neighborhood are mostly salesmen. Most of us would have trouble cutting kite sticks for made out of light plastic. I even own one. It's from San Francisco's Chinatown and has a dragon face with a lot of flapping tails. It's so pretty that I'm a little afraid to fly it. So we use it as a front door decoration.

TODAY THERE are some pretty exotic store-bought kites, I'll admit,

But I'm glad to report that one institution - Oakland County parks is keeping alive the artistic-science of kite building. At 1 p.m. Saturday, April 12, they're having a kite-flying clinic at Independence Oaks County Park, Sashabaw Road 21/2 miles north of I-75, near Clarkston, in case you're interested.

Fee is $2 (for materials) plus vehicle admission at the park gate. When you're done, you'll have your own kite. I guarantee you'll enjoy it, and you know a newsman can't print a DOWN THROUGH the years, major league baseball has offered many a thrill, but none to equal the one the Stroller experienced on the Tigers', opening day in 1924.

It was his first major league opener and one that he never will forget for a very good reason

The magic of yesteryear reborn in 'Born Yesterday'

In my humble opinion, if everyone who happens to be in their late 30s or early 40s would just go out and buy the Everly Brothers new "Born Yesterday," there album, would be peace and harmony throughout the land. Especially harmony!

It's a real feel-good when you hear the Everlys sing with the same magic that they had 20 or 30 years

This morning I got in my car a housewife verging on middle-age prepared to run my multitude of mundane Monday errands. I flipped my new Everly cassette into the tape deck and, "Voila!" I was transformed into a rock 'n' rol-

From those first down home funky bars of "Amanda Ruth" to the last plaintive melody of "You Send Me" I was caught up in what's known as Real Rock 'N' Roll.

The sun was shining, the music was loud, and I was bopping all over Canton with a smile on my face and spring in my heart. I boogied on over to the dry cleaners; I played a mean beat on my steering wheel all the way to the drugstore. My eyes misted over listening to the lyrics of "Always Drive A Cadillac" while on my way to the pharmacy. I was "young and in love" on the way to the bank.

What more can I say? Buy the album and you'll see for yourself. If you used to be an Everly fan you'll be glad to know you still are. It's invigorating and contagious.

The Everly Brothers haven't lost it. And neither have we.

Timbering aids wildlife - Mead

There is no real conflict between Upper Peninsula timber cutting and recreation, according to Dr. Ronald Woessner, manager of forest productivity for the Mead Paper Corp.

Woessner recently spent two hours defending the timber management practices his company uses in the UP. He spoke at the University of Michigan School of Natural Resources in Ann Arbor following a hearing in which southeastern Michigan environmentalists objected to federal plans for UP forests.

Woessner said the conflict between Mead's timber cutting methods and the area's recreational attractions was only "perceived."

"I think the press has tried to build anxieties about what is happening," siad Woessner who holds an advanced degree in plant genetics. "We must have an educational process about our activi-

MEAD PAPER Corp., with headquarters in Dayton, Ohio, owns two forest tracts in the U.P. 254,000 acres near Houghton and 43,500 acres near Escanaba. Timber from these plots is used mainly for paper products. The company employs 1,500 people in its milling operation near Escanaba. The mill produces an estimated 1,000 tons of paper pulp daily from some 5,000 tons of Mead's timber harvesting method of "clear cutting" - removing the entire tree and surrounding brush - reduces wildlife habitat. Many people view the practice as a threat to the area's recreational opportunities, particularly hunt-

Woessner holds an opposite view: "Clear cuts are beneficial. We aren't creating a biological desert. Plants come back. It's a direct benefit to deer, a species that prefers open grazing areas."

WOESSNER SAID his company is interested in wildlife manage-

In response to Michigan Department of Natural Resources concern about hemlock (an important thermal cover for wintering deer) removal in two U.P. counties, Mead agreed to cooperative action. The company joined a task force to help develop a long-term integrated timber-wildlife plan.

Woessner said more of the Mead forest is being converted to conifers - jack and red pines yet "the entire penisula will not be pine. The affected acreage represents only 2.4 percent of the 8.3 million acres of commercial forest in the U.P."

Cooper's hawk visits suburbia

By Timothy Nowicki special writer

SOME THINGS occur in groups - like phone calls, unexpected company or occurrences of bad luck. A thing doesn't happen for a long time, and then all of a sudden you recognize it two or three times in close succession.

Well, I hadn't seen a Cooper's hawk in a couple of years until one day recently. I was driving in a Dearborn residential area and happened to look up at just the right time.

A Cooper's hawk was flying low overhead with a small group of other birds close behind - probably serving as an escort while it left the area. Two days later, I spotted another Cooper's hawk as it flew over my car on I-275 near Seven Mile Road in Livonia. I was really looking for the pair of red-tailed hawks that seem to frequent the area, but I was pleasantly surprised to see the

A COOPER'S hawk is a representative of the deep woods hawks called "accipiters."

They frequently feed on small birds. They have short, rounded wings and long tails which help them maneuver quickly through the woods.

People who feed birds have probably had an accipte hawk looking over their menu at one time a O&E Sportsor another. A couple of years ago, one came to our

I had just sat down to eat lunch when suddenly all the birds flew to cover. Even the squirrels ran up the trees.

I didn't know what caused this evacuation until a few moments later when I saw a Cooper's hawk alight on a branch of our maple tree.

Evidently one member of the bird community had sounded the alarm soon enough for all the small birds to reach cover safely. Unsuccessful, the hawk soon flew off in search of better hunting

With woodlots decreasing in the suburbs and feeding stations increasing, woodland hawks must adapt in order to survive.

Building boom puts people to work

By Richard Lech

staff writer

OME FOLKS spent last summer reading the latest best-seller

Susan Tucker spent much of it reading resume after resume after resume

Tucker in charge of personnel at the Novi Hilton, said she read each and every resume and application that came in — all 4,000 of them. —There were 250 job openings.

"We were looking for experience in the hotel or hospitality business, mainly." Tucker said "With that number of applicants, we really didn't hire too many people without some kind of background."

THE HOTEL has a staff 252, working in such jobs as bellhops, chefs, security, stewards, sales building engineering, room attendants and switchboard operators. About half of the staff comes from the western Wayne County communities of Livoma, Redford, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth and Canton, Tucker said.

Tucker is herself a former Livonia resident and a graduate of Stevenson High School.

"When I came here, there was nothing but steel beams and concrete slabs," she said

Now that the hotel is in full operation. Tucker still finds herself putting in the 60-hour weeks that she says are common to hotel industry managers.

One of her future projects will be selecting the 50 employees the hotel expects to add when its 140-room expansion is completed within the next year.

TWO OF THE staff members Tucker hired are bellhops Dave Welling of Canton and Lynn Cahill of Highland

"Our job is taking care of the guests." Welling said. "Most people think it's just carrying luggage."

But the bellhops' job takes in a wide range of services designed to keep the customer satisfied. Welling said

One time he even put to good use some of the Spanish he had learned at Plymouth Salem High School. A visitor from Puerto Rico needed some medication, but the visitor knew no English The man wrote down the prescription he needed, and Welling translated it for the pharmacist.

Welling said the best part of the job is meeting different kinds of people, some from all over the world, such as a recent contingent of Japanese businessmen.

"I was bowing all morning, and my back was sore," he said with a smile.

AS A WOMAN bellhop, Cahill gets some surprised looks, especially since she is not very big to begin with "Men are always saying, 'No. I'll take that You just open the door,' she said. 'Or they say, 'You can't take my bag. It's too heavy.' So you just kid back and forth. I say, 'Hey, this is just my Jane Fonda workout.'"

Cahill said her favorite part of her job at the Hilton is driving the limousine shades of the recent movie, "My Chaffeur," which focuses on a woman limo driver.

MOST OF THE staff was hired locally, but a handful of key staff members transferred to the hotel from other Hiltons across the country. One of them is executive chef Shaiq Husain, who came from the Capitol Hilton in Washington, D.C.

A native of India, Husain originally started working in restaurants in Canada to support himself while pursuing a master's degree in Middle Eastern studies.

"I went to Washington, D.C., to get a doctorate, and I decided I liked this better, so here I am," he said.

Husain moved to an apartment in Westland after joining the Novi Hilton staff last June.

Although much of the menu was set by the time he arrived, Husain has added menu items of his own, such as samosas, turnovers made of beef, chicken and vegetables.

Husain said the Hilton's opening was problem-free, without any of the horror stories he had heard about other hotel openings. Still, Husain said the day-to-day operation of a hotel is not without its rocky spots, and that's the way he likes it.

"There's nothing smooth about a hotel operation. That's what makes it challenging. If it is a very smooth operation, I'll get bored."

AT THE CROSSROADS

Personnel director Susan Tucker has been busy filling 250 openings at the new Novi Hilton.

Staff photos by Bill Bresler and Art Emanuele

Working (clockwise from above): Bellhops Lynn Cahill and Dave Welling are recent additions to the staff of the Novi Hilton Hotel. Diane Leech works part-time in the mens and boys department at the new Meijer store in Northville. Shaiq Husain, executive chef at the Novi Hilton, looks over Bud Saley's shoulder in the hotel kitchen. Ken Dewhirst, a student at Oakland Community College, is another part-time Meijer employee.

By Julie Brown

HE BUILDING boom along the I-275 corridor has created job opportunities for many area residents.

The Meijer store at 20401 Haggerty Road in Northville is one such new business. It opened in July 1985. The store has 96 full-time employees, or "associates," as Meijer calls them, including management personnel.

The Northville Meijer store also has 441 part-time employees, ac-has 441 part-time employees, according to Dave Lukens, public and consumer affairs coordinator for Meijer.

"We have all sorts of positions there," Lukens said. The store hires baggers, cashiers, clerks, courtesy desk service personnel, stock room employees, meat cutters and others.

DIANE LEECH of Redford Township enjoys her part-time work at the Meijer store. Leech works in the mens and boys department.

"I like it real well," she said while marking prices for sales tickets. "It's just about eight miles away from here, so it takes me about 15 minutes."

Ken Dewhirst, also of Redford Township, finds his part-time job at Meijer convenient. Dewhirst, a student at Oakland Community College, plans to become an electrical engineer. "It helps a lot," he said of his hours working in the store's produce department. "It's hard to work fulltime if you're a full-time student." Dewhirst can have his work hours arranged to accommodate such things as exams.

"That's where it's really convenient," he said.

Variety is something that Julie Kennedy, a Livonia resident, enjoys about working at Meijer.

"Everyday it's different," she said of her part-time position, which includes stocking shelves and assisting customers. "I just like working with all the different people that come in."

WHEN HIRING personnel, Meijer works "very closely" with the Michigan Employment Security Commission, Lukens said.

Elizabeth Barker, job placement coordinator for Plymouth-Canton Community Education, sends a number of people to the Meijer store in Northville and to the company's store on Ford Road in Canton Township.

Barker also sends job seekers to the Novi Hilton and to other businesses along the I-275 corridor

"It's neat to see everything growing and changing," Barker said. "A lot of the companies can use our services, which is great."

The Michigan Employment Security Commission office in Canton Township helped place a number of employees at the Meijer store.

"We participated heavily in that," said Bill Rafferty, assistant manager for that MESC office.

"There's all kinds of growth along the corridor. It has generated quite a bit compared to the past," Rafferty said.

That growth has created light assembly jobs along with clerical and sales positions, he said. The area's growth has also created a number of service-type jobs, such as positions at fast-food restaurants.

Not all of the people working at corridor businesses are permanent employees. The growth along the corridor has also created new opportunities for temporary personnel.

A NUMBER of temporary employees are sent into that area, according to Susan Zahn, senior account representative for Kelly Services

Zahn said the light-industrial and clerical jobs are among those most frequently filled.

frequently filled.

What about future employment patterns?

"I think the traditional jobs are still going to be there," Rafferty said. Assembly-type jobs will remain, but "not nearly as many as there were."

"The service jobs are going to be there." The growth will also create a demand for engineers and those in the skilled trades, Rafferty said.

Employment patterns will depend in large part on the state's ability to attract, and to keep, high-tech businesses

"I'm fairly confident it will continue," he said. "It just depends on how competitive we stay."

you on the subject of "quality time." specifically as it relates to the parent/child relationship.

Let's go back to last week's column, which covered the fun activities planned for Canton on Saturday, April 26. It's possible that you may be feeling a bit guilty because you're going to have all the fun on that Sat-

There you'll be, chatting all morning as you wait in line for your seedlings. Then there's getting the seedlings and having the opportunity to plant them anywhere you want in your yard.

All this will be topped off by the Founders Day Ball, and you may be left feeling as if you owe your kids a little treat. Have I got an idea for

These days, many of us don't spend as much time with our children as we would like to. We can't. However, being reasonable people, we know how important it is. Perhaps we just push it back in our minds because we can't find a way to fit it in with everything else.

Think back to your childhood and the letters YMCA. They were always there with fun family activities and they still are. The particular activity I bring to your attention is Indian Guides/Maidens.

That team can be a father with daughter or son or a mother with daughter or son, but it must be a twosome.

I'm not going to pretend to have some startling news about the importance of spending time with your children. I am going to explain how this system works and makes it possible for busy parents to find time to build a good parent/child relation-ship in today's hectic times. This requires only one or two nights a month for 90 minutes to two hours each. That's not a lot of time, but it can make a big difference in the "generation gap," particularly when young people approach the teen years.

If you have established a good bond in the early years, your children will be more likely to seek your advice when they need help.

I know many of you have no problem finding the time to spend with your children. You probably have no

A quick game of catch is probably the most rewarding and quite possibly the only time you can share with your child. I know you'd like more, and I know how impossible it is for

Well, consider this one or two nights per month, and only 90 minutes to two hours at a time.

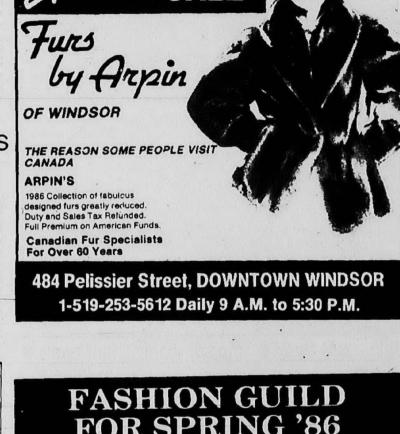

There are times when they have a camp-out, which is actually inside, but that's only three times a year and for only one night at a time. You see, it's still manageable.

In May, they will have a "track and field day." That's one activity where the child will earn a patch for participating in an activity and not just for winning.

In June, they will offer their spring/summer camp-out. The camp-out will include such activities as relay races, canoeing and horseback riding. This also will be the time for induction of the new chiefs for each tribe.

In July, they participate in the parades in Plymouth and Northville with their own float. The activity continues all year long with such things as a train ride in October, possibly horeseback riding or a hayride in November, and a Christmas party in December

OC Counseling Concepts.

Did You Grow Up With An Alcoholic Parent?

you did, you're not alone. Those childhood experiences may have left you feeling anxious, confused and isolated. Perhaps you are worrying about yourself and maybe still worrying about your drinking (or substance abusing) parent. As a child you learned certain survival skills. They helped then but may be causing problems for you now.

If this is the case for you, Counseling Concepts has something that can Perhaps King David realized that Absalom's death could have been avoided. Perhaps King David realized that he could have changed the course of events by a change of his own attitude.

For five years, he refused to be re-conciled to his son, even though he had great feelings for him. For whatever reason, he could not bring himself to reach out and forgive. Instead, he chose to be harsh and rigid -- almost to the expression of ven-

KHADAFY MAY be all the things that media has told us about him, but we are not the only ones being threatened by his actions. Our unilateral actions may be highly successful military excursions, but they are painful examples of a mindset determined on repudiation.

White House officials may privately "have expressed glee" and the president may not have been "unhappy over" the reprisal attacks on Libyan patrol boats, but we will not be the only ones to judge our course in the unfolding of life.

Conference is for those 'single again'

An Archdiocesan Conference Day for the Separated and Divorced will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at Sacred Heart Seminary.

The seminary is at 2701 W. Chicago, at Linwood, in Detroit. The conference is sponsored by the Detroit Roman Catholic Archdiocese's Family Life Office through the Bethany support groups.

For more information, call the Family Life Office at 237-5892, Bill Stefani at 478-2620 or Bobbie Webber at 591-0426.

The keynote address will be by the Rev. John West of the Vocations Office of the Archdiocese, who has worked with various support groups for the separated and divorced.

There will be workshops on topics of interest to those who are single again, a book display by Catholic Book Store, and literature from support groups and organizations.

The day will conclude with Mass at 4 p.m. with the Rev. Syl Taube, associate director of the Family Life Office, as the main celebrant.

The registration fee is $15.

COVENANT COMMUNITY

Covenant Community Church, 25800 Student, Redford, will have its Annual Spring Missionary Confer-ence, "Til the Whole World Knows," from Sunday, April 6, to Sunday, April 13. The conference will feature "Sights, Sounds and Tastes of Missions," a family missionary journey, at 7 p.m. Monday, April 7. The Rev. Larry Fehl, U.S. director of SIM International, will speak at the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services Sunday, April 13. For more information about the conference schedule, call the church at

• ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN

St. Paul Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia, will begin a series of historical services at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services on Sundays, beginning April 6. The series is intended to give an apprecia-tion of how those of the Judeo-Christian, Reformed-Presbyterian faith have worshipped over the centuries. Each week the church will look at a different era of history, and the services will be conducted in a manner similar to that time, with appropriate music.

The series themes will be: April 6, "The Synagogue;" April 13, "The Catacombs;" April 20, "The Age of Reformation;" April 27, "Our Colonial Heritage;" May 4, "Old-Time Religion;" and June 1 (after a three-week breek for Femilia Week President States and St break for Family Week, Pentecost and Memorial Day celebrations), "A Look to the Future," worship as it may be 100 years from now.

UNITED ASSEMBLY

One Accord, a musical and drama group from North Central Bible College in Minneapolis, Minn., will perform in concert at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, April 6, at United Assembly of God. The church is at 46500 N. Territorial, one mile west of Sheldon, Plym-

• TRI-CITY ASSEMBLY

The Rev. Mike and Marsha French of Okmulgee, Okla., will conduct services at Tri-City Assembly of God, 2100 Hannan, between Michigan Avenue and Palmer, from Sunday, April 6, through Wednesday, April 9. Sunday services will be at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m., and weekday services will be at 7 p.m. The Frenches have conducted their spiritual-renewal ministry on national television, in camp meetings, youth conferences and citywide crusades in the United States and abroad. In the last five years, they have traveled more than 250,000 miles, conducting more than 1,100 services in such places as the Philippines, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Singapore and India.

• REDFORD CHURCH OF GOD

The Rev. Edward Chandler, evangelist from Grand Ledge, Mich., will conduct revival services at Redford Church of God, 26119 Southwestern. The revival will begin at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, April 6, continue at 7 12, and conclude at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, April 13. Chandler began his ministry as a youth minister, later served as a youth and Christian education minister and youth and associate pastor.

. ST. GENEVIEVE

Tax abatement pro and con

By Doug Funke staff writer

Thursday April 3, 1986 O&E

Tax abatement. It's been called a blessing for the development of business and industry and a drain on a community's tax base. It all depends on who's doing the talking.

not have attracted Republic Airlines or CBS Fox Video," said John Nagy, planning director for the city of Livonia.

"We have developers knocking at our door," responds Edward Gardiner, Farmington Hills planner. He and other government officials there and in neighboring Novi look with disfavor on the concept

"Who's to say business wouldn't locate out there anyway and pay their fair share of taxes?" Gardiner asks.

The state Legislature authorized tax abatement in 1974 to provide incentives to rebuild aging plants and to draw new business to Michigan. City and township governments are empowered to grant an abatement - a property tax break - of up to 50 percent on new or renovated buildings and equipment for a period not to exceed 12 years.

TO DATE, Livonia has approved 34 abatements, Garden City 22, Canton Township 18, Westland 14, Plymouth Township 12, Redford Township and Farmington Hills two each and

Tax abatement isn't loved by evervone

Obsolete factories generally aren't restored in depressed central city areas, critics charge. Developers instead are looking to suburban locations like the I-275 corridor.

Second, relatively few out-of-state businesses appear to be drawn to Michigan by abatement. Rather, existing companies seem to shop around the metro area for the best deals they can get.

Third, if residential property owners make improvements, their assessments go up. Why should business - big business, in some instances - get a break for essentially doing the same thing when they, too, avail themselves of municipal ser-

Plymouth Township Supervisor "Without tax abatement, we would Maurice Breen takes up the last point first.

> 'Tax policy is set by the state," he said. "You get a homestead exemption, exemptions for having kids and other deductions."

TAX ABATEMENT for businesses. Breen said, should be regarded in the same light.

A report prepared and released in November by the Michigan Department of Commerce addresses the need for abatement to, if nothing

What does tax abatement actual-

Let's take a theoretical company

— GIMME — which erects a new building with a market value of $4 million and acquires new high-tech equipment with a market value of $4 million.

GIMME requests a tax abate-

Assume that the normal tax rate for numicipal, county and school operations in the community where GIMME is located is $50 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. SEV is one half of market value.

Now for the calculations.

The normal tix on the building would be $100,000. That's derived by taking its SEV — $2 million — else, keep business here.

Without the tax abatement . the surrounding Great Lakes states (except Minnesota) have advantages in total business taxes that can be as low as 45 percent of Michigan's total tax liability.

"Repeal or severe restrictions would put Michigan at a severe disadvantage," the report concludes.

As for growth outside of central city locations, pioneers and others on the move always have used available transportation routes - rivers, trails, railroads and now freeways to get to more open surroundings, notes James Anulewicz, planning director for Plymouth Township. The 1974 law allowing tax abatement contains a mechanism that addresses the pirating question.

Before a business can move from one community to another and obtain tax breaks in the new community, it must obtain a release from the community it's leaving. Most suburban governments play the game and give their blessings to relocation, perhaps so they won't be stymied later themselves.

A PROMISE of growth in local jobs also proves alluring when tax breaks are considered. In fact, jobs are specifically addressed in abatement applications.

"We've checked with enough applicants to find they produced and exceeded the jobs they've forecast," said Nagy. Anulewicz confirmed the same situation for Plymouth Town-Still, Gardiner believes tax abatement is bad policy. His biggest concern is erosion of the tax base with residential taxpayers shouldering an unfair share of the burden.

It's up to residential taxpayers to speak up more forcefully if they disagree with abatement, Gardiner suggested.

James Wahl, planning and community development director in Novi, said local officials could probably show a little more courage when businesses threaten to locate elsewhere without local abatement.

"WE'LL SAY fine, don't come," he said. "I don't know if other communities are willing to take that risk." Canton Supervisor James Poole makes the point that not every community develops at an equal pace.

"If we get some seed companies in here, we don't need it," he said of abatement. "It's appealing to us because it gets people in here, and we have a tax base we wouldn't have

Anulewicz suggests that municipal leaders are taking a harder look at abatement now. "They're starting to sharpen pencils and say let's make sure the pros outweigh the cons."

High times for hotels

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

OOM FOR ROOMS is fast diminishing along the I-275

The recent boom in hotels along the strip on I-275 between Haggerty and Newburgh roads is the main reason. Several lodging establishments are either being constructed or in the process of development.

And even the established hotels in the area, like the Novi Hilton, are adding rooms.

The new hotels will either be of the full-service variety with restaurants and lounges included, or limited service, which provide quality rooms minus the lounges and meet-

Budget hotels, which cater to the cost-conscience individual, are also in the works.

ONE THING all of them have in common, though, is they're after the business traveler's dollar.

Here's the result:

· A 12-story, full-service hotel to be built on Seven Mile Road between Haggerty and Newburgh roads in Livonia by Victor International Corp. Manny Kniahynycky, vice president of Victor International, said his company is negotiating with one hotel chain but refused to name it. He added that the deal should be completed in two weeks.

 On Six Mile Road, where a Jacobson's department store is being built, there's strong possibility of a hotel being constructed also. David Schostak, of Schostak Bros. developers, said is firm has been approach by a number of hotels but is still in the preliminary stage of negotia-

"We've had constant inquiries," said Schostak. "We're looking at our options in all areas."

· Another hotel site in the negotiation stages is on the Chestnut Hills development in the Haggerty, Eight Mile and I-275 area. Janet Jonna, of Jonna Reality Ventures, said two hotel chains are in the bidding and a deal should be closed within 30 days.

"We want something of a differen concept than what's already out there," said Jonna. "One has all the amenities, one does not. They're quite different from each other.

UNDER CONSIDERATION are several possible hotels:

• The Hampton Inn, despite having its original proposal shot down by the Northville Township Planning Commission, intends to build a limited-service hotel on the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty roads, which is near the Chesnut Hills site.

"We do a market feasibility study to determine if a hotel would do well in a particular area," said Jane Innes, director of marketing for Hampton Inn (a division of Holiday Inn). Northville "has met our crite-

The hotel, which would have between 100 and 130 rooms, wouldn't be finished until 1987, depending on home."

'I hope that all these new hotels, no matter what size or name brand, have active sales and marketing people. If we just sit around and wait to have office buildings built, we'd be making a big mistake.'

approval from the Township Planning Commission.

· A Budgetel Hotel is under construction at the Ford Road and I-275 area in Canton. It will be finished in early fall and will have 102 rooms, according to Budgetel spokesman Mike Lepkowski.

 A Skylight Inn is expected to be completed this summer on Haggerty Road, directly across from the Novi Hilton. It will be a limited-service hotel with 140 rooms.

NOVI HILTON general manager Gerhard Seibert isn't too concerned about the competition. In fact, he even offers some advice to the burgeoning hotel community.

"I hope that all these new hotels, no matter what size or name brand, have active sales and marketing people," said Seibert. "If we just sit around and wait to have office buildings built, we'd be making a big mis-

The Novi Hilton is doing some building of its own. Plans include adding 140 guest rooms to push its total to 376 rooms with construction starting this summer.

Holiday Inn West in Livonia had an expansion plan of an additional 96 rooms put on hold, according to sales director Carla Conner.

"IT'S VERY challenging," said Diane Maloney, saleswoman at the Plymouth Hilton. "I'm not going to tell you it's not going to take away from business. A lot of hotels around here are spoiled."

Added Kenneth Pias, general manager of the Quality Inn in Livonia. "If anything, it's going to increase business because there will be more convention business coming in."

"It seems to me the people are looking for the lowest rates without all the frills," said Kathy Simmons, general manager of the Red Roof Inn in Plymouth. "The ones with the highest rates are going to have the most trouble."

Conner said, "A full-service hotel is going to be more in demand simply because of the clientele, which is corporate people. They have expense accounts and are going to want to live like they do when they're at

Developing 'the heartland of industrial America'

By Joanne Maliszewski staff writer

Over the next decade, the I-275 corridor will take on an entirely new look.

High-class hotels and eateries, plush office centers and light-industrial parks, surrounded by wooded landscaping, will line

"We think it is definitely the future location. It's considered the future center of the hub - Ann Arbor, Lansing, Detroit," said developer David Johnson, president of Southfield-based Victor International Corp. Johnson is one of three major developers with plans for the corridor. James Jonna, president of Jonna Construction Co. in Farmington Hills, and Robert DeMattia, president of R.A. DeMattia Corp. in Plymouth Township, are others

JOHNSON IS planning a $200 million to $300 million, privately financed hotel-restaurant-office complex east of I-275, west of betting on the corridor's future.

Newburg Road in Livonia. Jonna, is working on a $40 million, privately financed hotel and office complex bordered by I-275, Haggerty and Eight Mile roads in Livonia.

DeMattia is developing three light-industrial parks attracting big-name international firms in Plymouth Township and Van Buren Township, east of Ypsilanti.

"We're at the heartland of industrial America," DeMattia said. "You can be at the airport, Ann Arbor or Detroit within 20 minutes. We are on a straight line to Chicago and a straight line south down I-75."

JOHNSON'S complex, between Seven and Eight Mile roads, will sit on 104-acres with 4,500 feet of frontage on I-275. The corporate campus will be catty corner from the new Novi Hilton on Haggerty Road, north of Eight Mile Road, and across the freeway from Jonna's planned hotel.

The park will boast an eight-to-12-story hotel, complete with a fine-dining restaurant. Although Johnson is still unsure which hotel chain will come into his park, rates will be about $125 a night. The hotel will feature an executive-suite concept in which every unit will have a separate living room.

The growing number of women business travelers is the reason for the executivesuite concept. Today, women constitute 35 percent of business travelers with expected growth to 60 percent. "They don't want to have business meetings in their bedrooms,"

Johnson said.

The rest of the corporate park will feature seven high- and mid-rise luxury office buildings, four free-standing restaurants and five parking decks that will be tiered into the surrounding hills. Office rents, depending on size will range between $16 and $20 a square foot. Headquarters for Johnson's company will be in the park.

The taller, 12-story office buildings will be on I-275 away from residential areas while providing greater freeway exposure for firms that will locate in the buildings. Closer to residential areas to the east along Newburg, the office buildings in the park will drop to four stories, said Manny Kniahynycky, Victor International vice presi-

SIXTY PERCENT of the 104-acre site will remain heavily wooded; jogging trails, ponds, landscaping and art sculptures will be added. A four-lane boulevard, extending through the park from Seven to Eight Mile roads, is also planned.

Estimated tax revenues from the proposed corporate park range from $8 million to $10 million. When complete, the park is expected to provide 5,000 new jobs, Kniahynycky said.

Construction is expected to begin in June. Targeted completion is within 10 years.

Jonna's office and hotel complex will be across the freeway from Johnson's develop-

Jonna's family and partners, Michael George, president of Melody Farms Dairy Co. of Livonia, and Timothy Busch of the Timothy Busch Firm, a financial consulting company in Farmington Hills, are involved in the project.

Christened Chestnut Hills, Jonna's complex will sit on 42 acres. It will consist of an upscale, 200- to 40-room hotel, three restaurants (one in the hotel), twin, 180,000square-foot office towers and a 42,000square-foot medical building and a low-rise office building.

THE TOTAL complex will contain approximately 500,000 square feet of office and hotel space, Jonna said. The hotel will range from 125,000 to 130,000 square feet.

Like Johnson, Jonna is still negotiating with several national hotel chains. The front of Jonna's complex will face I-275 to capture the much-sought-after public exposure for corporations that choose to locate in the luxury offices.

Estimated tax revenue figures from Jon-na's proposed complex were unavailable. But the complex is expected to provide At the southern end of the corridor are DeMattia's industrial parks.

The 250-acre Metro West Industrial Park is at M-14 and Sheldon Road, east of I-275 in Plymouth Township. Two Japanese corporations have joined DeMattia's firm in settling in the park. Some of the other firms located in the park are involved in printing, aerospace and high-tech machinery.

WHEN COMPLETE, the entire industrial park is expected to be worth $500 million, DeMattia said.

Metro West Industrial is considered a high-tech business park that combines both office and industry within the same build-

"This enables the corporate people and the engineers to have a highly prestigious office area, plus there's a place for the scientists," DeMattia said.

The other two parks are south of Metro West Industrial.

Although employment estimates for his parks were unavailable, DeMattia guessed that by the time all three are fully occupied, "thousands of jobs" will be created.

• Clearing real estate jointly held. The clearance of real estate jointly held is more complicated. In many instances, it will be necessary to go into court in the state in which the real property is situated and obtain a court decree. However, compared with the administration of the same property not held jointly, the procedure is far easier, much less expensive, and takes only a few days.

• Establishing credit. It is imperative that you establish a credit in your own name as soon as possible. You may do so by obtaining a bank loan even if you really don't need it. The reason is that it takes time to establish credit and in this credit-oriented society that is a valuable asset.

 Constructing a budget. Now that you are on your own, it is a good idea to construct a budget and live within, rather than up to and beyond, your means. In this budget, make room for contingencies as well as occasional luxuries, provided you can afford them.

• Finding a financial planner. Finally, find a financial planner you can trust. The financial planner you select should be an expert in solving problems faced by widows, be reasonable and sufficiently enlightened to put your financial welfare before her or his financial interests.

Cost of not doing business is steep, will become even steeper

It will be tougher and tougher for dichigan pension funds to avoid buying stocks of companies doing busing stocks of companies doing stocks of companies Michigan pension funds to avoid buying stocks of companies doing business in South Africa.

The larger the fund, the more you get pushed toward large issues (big companies)," said Arthur C. Hodges, a Boston financial consultant to Michigan's two pension funds.

And the bigger a corporation, the more likely it is to have investments in South Africa.

Africa, you eliminate some major

THAT PANEL, chaired by Sen. Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, is weighing two bills that would require state employees' and teachers' pension funds gradually to sell off all stocks of firms doing business in South Africa because of its racial policies.

State Treasurer Robert Bowman, "If you take a hard line on South a former Wall Street banker, said the market value of assets in the two (stock) issues," Hodges told the state funds has soared from $6.3 billion in

The funds are invested in about 85 stocks, and Bowman warned, "We don't have the staff to manage $20 billion. We don't have staff to investigate 400 companies to find the 80 we should own."

So big are Michigan's pension funds that their market value can gyrate $100 million in a few hours,

A MAJOR question from DeMaso was what it would cost the state to divest. Four expert witnesses couldn't agree.

Bowman said the costs of divestiture were 1) transaction costs, 2) administration costs and 3) the difference between what the fund earned on a stock with South African connections and a stock with no South African contacts.

Calculating transaction costs will be tricky because a pension fund normally would turn over part of its portfolio each year anyway, the treasurer said.

business in South Africa. He raised the question of whether divestiture would have the opposite impact of what was intended because: "You are theoretically selling a stock to someone who has less (social) interest in South Africa than

An alternative, he suggested, would be to invest only in companies rated as having good records of adherence to the so-called "Sullivan principles," guidelines for providing integrated workforces and minority

GARY ZELTER, of Wertheim Asset Management Services in New 223 York City, told DeMaso, "To the extent you limit the number of securities (a fund can hold), you limit the income of the portfolio.

Zelter said "very few" clients have told his firm to divest their portfolios of South African securi-

He added, "If a company has too much exposure in a politically turbulent situation, we probably would not say it's a good investment."

This led Sen. John Kelly, D-Detroit, to remark, "I don't see the South African government as lasting. that long."

"You may have a self-fulfilling prophecy," said Paula Gazarek, of First of America, Kalamazoo. Gazarek said the nationwide movement to divest may depress market prices' of those stocks. Investors who dump firms in South Africa the quickest may have the best results because they get out before the decline.

Pension funds' influence widens

By Tim Richard staff writer

American pension funds could put great pressure on South Africa change apartheid, two Michigan university professors agree.

A state Senate panel is considering two House bills that would require the state's pension funds to sell off $3 billion worth of stocks of firms doing business in that racially torn and segregated-country.

"Firms rely on institutional support in the market," said Ron Horwitz, dean of Oakland University's School of Business Administration and professor of finance.

THE PRESSURE works at two levels, said Horwitz.

"All kinds of studies" show that stocks of major companies won't do as well in the market if big instituholding them.

And if a company wished to float a new issue of securities, it would have trouble if institutional investors course on South African politics. The weren't buying, added Horwitz, a seven-year veteran of the OU facul-

The question of whether divestiture really would work is one of many facing the Legislature. One doubt is whether a state pension fund's selling of a stock would really "send a message" to the government of President P.W. Botha.

Some companies resist the divestiture idea, contending more can be accomplished by applying the socalled "Sullivan principles" of corporate treatment and training of racial minorities.

RON STOCKTON, professor of political science at University of Michigan-Dearborn, says it's important to distinguish between "divestiture," the selling of stocks of companies doing business in South Africa, and "disinvestment," a company's deciding to pull out of South Africa.

"One thing that's overlooked is tional investors aren't interested in that, even without divestiture, American companies are pulling out of South Africa," said Stockton, who teaches comparative politics and a saying goes that "the smart money is running" before there is internal disChrysler, PepsiCo, International Harvester and Pan American Airways have pulled out, he said, while Ford, General Electric and Coca-Cola are "readjusting" their posi-

State Treasurer Robert Bowman told a Senate panel recently that last year 11 companies - "almost one a month" - discontinued operations in South Africa.

THERE ARE three ways private companies can be pressured to send a message to the regime, Stockton Manufacturing firms can cease making new investments there. That can hurt, even if a company like Ford doesn't shut down existing plants entirely.

· Pension funds like the state's can avoid investing in such South African firms as DeBeers, weakening the market for that firm's stock.

• Banks can refuse to make loans to the South African government or South African companies. "Twentysix banks won't make loans to the South African government - including Chase Manhattan, a big hitter," said Stockton. Chase stopped loans to the government seven years ago and last year announced plans to stop making loans to private borrowers.

JIM BURCHELL, an aide to state Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, said the South African government is so concerned that "it's a crime to advocate divestment."

Burchell referred to South Africa's 1982 Internal Security Act which defined support of divestment as "subversion" punishable by five years to life in prison.

Bullard is sponsor of House Bills 4770 and 4771, which would require state pension funds to divest. About one-fourth of the $13 billion owned by two major state pension funds is invested in stocks of companies doing business in South Africa. The House passed both bills last year.

As of 1984, American corporations had direct investments worth $2.3 billion in South Africa, and U.S. banks had loaned more than $4.5 billion to South Africa, according to House sources.

Down through the years, it has been the custom to teach the young folks to grow old gracefully. The teaching came in the lyrics of old songs such as "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

This pleading still is going on and the best example of the truth of the lesson is Norma Cassady, who reached her 93rd birthday on Good Friday.

She was born at the corner of North Territorial and Beck in Plymouth Township and is best remembered by the old-time residents as the woman who operated the women's apparel store at Main and Penniman Avenue.

She operated the store for 33 years from 1933 until she retired from business to take over as curator of the then-new Plymouth Historical Museum on Main Street.

The broad exposure of playing on national TV is speeding up the career Ewing began five years ago while still at Southfield High School. He used to complain about missing his senior class trip and doing his homework at 35,000 feet while flying back and forth to jobs, but Ewing isn't complaining now that his career seems to be on a roll and that he's "finally making a respectable

"Thank God for dimples," he said when asked about his secret formula for success, as if dimples alone explain the steady rise in his career. When pressed, he admits that being a competent actor helps his chances once he gets an opportunity to audition. His agents in Detroit, Los Angeles and New York make sure he has frequent opportunities by keeping their ears open for jobs calling for a personable young fellow between the ages of 15 and 23.

THE REAL-LIFE Chris Ewing just turned 22. He's an articulate, thoughtful young man, a native to the Detroit area who attended Roeper and Gesu schools and graduated from Southfield High. He has played assorted roles including online factory workers, store clerks, college students and supermarket bag boys. Ewing keeps his own prop wardrobe so he can dress for the part when he auditions. He has everything from the hefty boots faored by factory workers to the little black bow ties that bag boys wear in posh grocery stores.

Ewing belongs to the major entertainment unions including the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, the Screen Actors Guild and the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. Professionals he meets on jobs and through these affiliations help spread the word about his talents in an industry where networking is not just one of many ways to get ahead, but the main way.

To coordinate his "jackrabbit" life commuting between jobs in Detroit, New York and occasionally Chicago, Ewing recently hired a manager.

In the Detroit market, Ewing has

Telephone, ar ' h small roles in the feature . · Town" that Walt Disney Produces filmed in Detroit and in "Tough Enough," which he calls "another 'Rocky' filmed in Detroit." Media watchers may recognize his dimpled smile in fashion spreads for Hughes & Hatcher, Benetton and Sears and in print ads for Ford, Chrysler, Dodge, and Faygo Pop.

Ewing spends half of every month working the Detroit market and the other half in New York. When he's in town, he lives in Southfield with his two junior-high-age brothers and his mother, a psychologist. Ewing keeps an apartment on Manhattan's upper west side so he has a home when he's in New York. Recently his work in the Big Apple has been taping episodes for "One Life to Live" which, like most soaps, is made in New

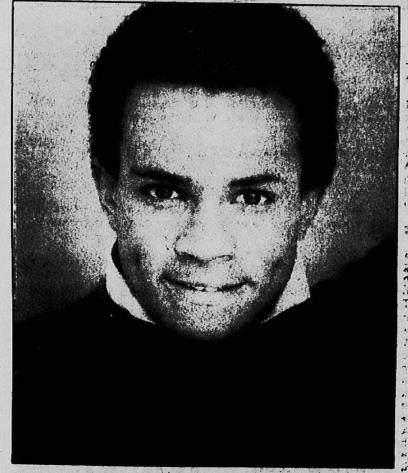

Soap operas tape each day's episode about 10 days ahead of air time. A typical day on a soap set begins sometime after 8:30 in the morning with dry runs and blocking. After lunch the cast runs through a dress rehearsal before starting to tape at 4 p.m. The actors often work until 7 or 8 p.m. and frequently on Saturdays as well as week days. On such a tight schedule, Ewing claims he doesn't have much free time to explore New

WHEN HE'S HOME in Detroit, he likes to go to movies with his friends, go dancing at Dillon's, or play with his Bouvier puppy, and he regularly heads for Haverhill Farms to exercise his horses. He owns two, J.R. Ewing, named after the Ewing of TV fame, and Ta Cin Ca Fawn, a champion Appaloosa jumper which he's been showing professionally since he was 14. Ewing said he bought Ta Cin Ca "cheap" from earnings he saved up delivering the two Detroit daily

In 1979, Ewing rode Cin Ca to second place in the U.S. Appaloosa Indoor Jumping Competition and they placed sixth at the Appaloosa World Championships. At the 1982 National Appaloosa Championships held in Louisville, Ky., Cin Ca placed second in the nation.

Local-Kid-Makes-It-Big stories followed Ewing's equestrian success-es and gave him his first taste of the limelight. It also gave him an idea that has become his long-term goal of what he'd like to do in the entertainment business — produce chil-dren's TV shows. Right now he's trying to market a regular short feature for and about kids. The feature would air on local newscasts or magazine format shows. He's already produced one promo segment about a young man from Madison Heights.

Christopher Ewing of Southfield has been playing a collstudent on the ABC-TV soap opera, "One Life to Live," but the actor is also recognized by television viewers for the many commercials he's done, as well as print ads. And he's only 22.

Ewing gives tips for aspiring talent

To those who year to model or act and want to know how to break into the business, Chris offers these suggestions. He calls them "The Way I Should Have Done It."

pictures - Have a professional photographer take pictures for publicity stills. They should be 8x10-inch black-and-white glossies, head shots if your goal is acting, a composite if you'd like to model.

2. Have 500-1,000 lithographed reproductions made of the best

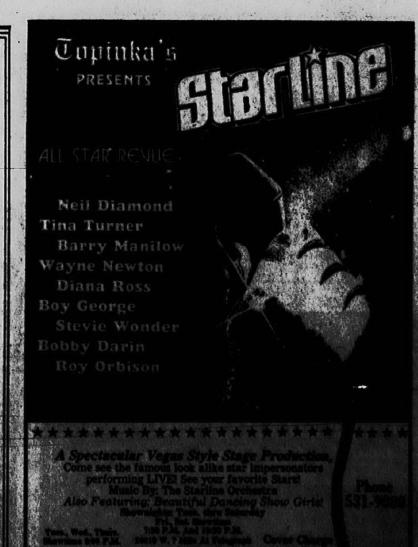

3. Contact the Screen Actors Guild or the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists to get names of franchised agents. Send them pictures and a resume listing relevant experience.

4. Follow up the mailings with phone calls asking if the agents received the information. Ask for an interview. Don't be intimidated by pushy secretaries.

Do not pay anyone up front to be your agent. It's a union rule that agents don't charge to take on clients. Expect to pay agents 10 percent of earnings on bookings they arrange and to pay a manager 15 percent. Those are standard industry rates.

Conference features Irish events

awaits metro-Detroiters as the Fourth Annual International Conference of Comhaltas Ceoltoiri Eireann (Musicians Association of Ireland) comes to the Livonia Quality Inn at Six Mile and I-275 April 4-6.

This marks the first time the Motor City has hosted the event, which draws hundreds of delegates, artists and cultural enthusiasts from all over the world.

Free and open to the public will be workshops given by world-class musicians and dancers in genres from the waltz to set dancing. Schoolcraft College in Livonia will be the setting p.m. Saturday, April 5.

Southfield's Divine Providence Cultural Center, 25335 Nine Mile at Beech Daly, will host the Comhaltas dinner dance at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 5. The charge for the threecourse dinner, open to non-members, is $18 per person or $35 per couple. Ireland's Labhras O'Murchu, Comhaltas national director, will be the keynote speaker, while the popular Dysert-Tola Ceili Band and Martin Hayes and Celtic Airs will entertain. For dinner reservations, call 534-3663 or 464-4119. Those attending the dance only at 9 p.m. will be charged $8.

"The gathering will be the greatest ever of international traditional musicians in the Detroit area," said Livonia's Dan O'Kennedy, conference chairman and chairman of the association's Detroit branch. The local chapter is one of 400 that dot the globe from Great Britain to the U.S., Canada, New Zealand and Australia. Founded in 1951, the cultural organization is non-profit, non-sectarian and non-political.

The conference will be the first one to be held exclusively at Livonia's newly opened Quality Inn.

More information is available by calling 464-4119.

Among those assisting O'Kennedy on transportation, admission, food and hospitality committees are are Comhaltas branch vice president Teresa Misener of Redford, John McInerney of Plymouth, Madge Stockdale of Southfield, Teresa Hasson of Livonia, Joyce and Des De-vine of Westland, John Fallon of Plymouth, Julia Demery of Beverly Hills and Ann Kerwin of Detroit.

Tickets are available at Irish Imports, 584-1404, the Dublin Inn, 581-9641, and the Tipperary Pub, 271-

Island for the birds is also great for visitors

Discovery Island, Fla.: A natural kingdom for birds in the middle of Walt Disney World.

4C**(Ro,S,F,R,W,G-6D,8C*)

There are no Mickey Mouse ears and no roller coasters here on Discovery Island. We are within sight of the Magic Kingdom, but this is another kind of wonderland, the kind where you find a Red Macaw perched on a post, a Patagonian Cavy walking like Alice-in-Wonderland across your path and rare Red Ibis scattered like splotches of red blood through a forest glade.

Iris Jones

rain it is a wonderful island for pirates, kids and people who like to walk among exotic birds in a tropical setting.

Discovery Island is an 11-acre speck of land in Bay Lake, the only natural body of water in Walt Disney World here in central Flor-

According to Charlie Cook, the island Curator, Walt Disney envisioned some kind of animal sanctuary in this beautiful natural setting when he first surveyed the land for Walt Disney World. He may not have imagined the wildlife concervation and breeding programs that have developed here.

TO PUT Discovery Island in its geographical perspective, imagine Bay Lake, around which much of Walt Disney World is built. When you drive into the World, you park near one end of the lake to make connections with either the monorail of the ferry boat.

Either will take you to the Magic Kingdom at the other end of the lake to the Contemporary or Polynesion Village resort hotels; the ferry also takes you to the campgrounds at Fort Wilderness and on to nearby Discovery Island.

Curator Charlie Cook has been here for 14 years, so he was in on the beginning of the island's development and today celebrates its 12th anniversary as tropical hideaway for birdlovers.

We may go south to Florida for the winter, but most of these birds, as well as the Giant Galapagos Tortoises came north out of warmer climes.

Look up into the nearby trees and you will see that most of the macaws on the island are quite wild, and are watching you.

DON WILL point you around ally no way to prepare myself for the corner past the caged Hornbills, batting their long eyelashes, and the caged Kookaburras. I once lived in Australia once so I have heard the Kooks laughing wildly

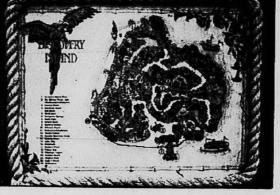

Here they stared silently at us until we tried a little high pitched laughter of our own. As soon as we gave up and turned away they went into their act, screaming their crazy bird calls across the island until we were reduced to hysterical laughter too

The island is explored like that, following small natural experiences across rope bridges and around small gleaming ponds with red brush turkeys roaming regularly in and out of view.

This is sandy soil, so they brought in the turkeys from Australia to create a natural correction: each one creates a nest of leaves that later decomposes and creates two yards of potting soil! Eleven pairs of such birds make very efficient gardeners.

THE BRUSH turkeys are part of an extensive conservation and breeding program on Discovery Island, which has been designated a zoological park by the American

The rare Roseate Spoonbills, native to North America, wander like walking pink flowers around the waters edge below.

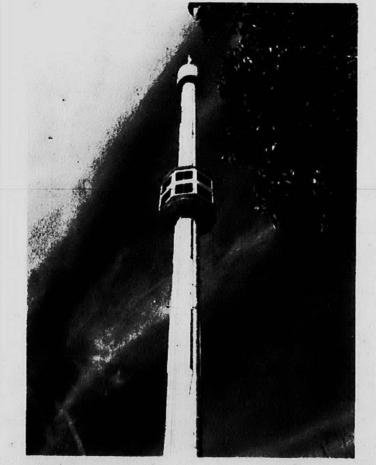

There are many tall tales told about this island. Charlie Cook's favorite may be the story of the Rhea, an ostrich-like bird who stole a ring from a lady's finger and swallowed it.

She wanted her ring back, so the long drama began. First they isolated all the Rhea's on the island and dosed them with mineral oil. No results.

Next they used a metal detector, found the culprit and called in a team of surgeons; they had never operated on a bird before and thought it was hilarious. They finally extracted the ring and renamed the bird Ringo.

Soccer refs try to improve their sport

HE HEADLINE screamed across the page: "Attack on soccer ref ends sea-

According to the Miami Herald (Wednesday, March 19), two adults attacked a referee during a 14-under boys soccer match in southern Florida. The adults (presumably parents of players) kicked, punched and chased the referee off the field, causing the game, and eventually the entire league, to be canceled.

Tom Montroy looked at the headline and laughed.

It was not the response one would expect from a soccer official, one who controls the scheduling of officials for high school soccer matches throughout the Observer coverage area.

"It happens all the time, unfortunately," he said.

Could something like that happen in places like Troy, Livonia or Plymouth-Canton, where the popularity of soccer is forever increas-

"Sure. It already has," Montroy said. "During a mens league game in Southfield, a referee's car was reduced to a pile of rubble. That was about five years ago - they banned all senior soccer there."

DON'T THINK for a minute that Montroy takes such incidents lightly. He may laugh on the outside, but he smolders within. He is a man who cares about the sport of soccer, especially as it pertains to the high school game in this area. Last year, a year Montroy called the roughest I've ever seen in my eight years of officiating," the high school soccer community took its

A headline in the Observer screamed: "Poor officiating dilutes

Chris Sisler is one of the many experienced players returning to the Plymouth Canton lineup this spring. The question, though, is whether the pitching will hold up.

Chiefs arm up on foes?

By Chris McCosky staff writer

'We'll win if the pitching holds out" is a oft-used phrase by baseball managers. It has become cliche.

But for to the 1986 Western Lakes baseball season, the phrase is more profound.

The Western Lakes season will cram 20 games into 16 dates over a span of five weeks. League baseball games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, with double-headers thrown in for good measure.

"I'll tell you what this schedule does," said Plymouth Canton baseball coach Fred Crissey. "It means that teams won't be able to get by with just one pitcher. It forces you to develop some more pitchers. Secondly, it's going to make your rotation

"Ideally, you want your best pitcher to work Monday and Friday, your No. 2 to go Wednesday and Monday. But sometimes that doesn't match up. You don't want a certain pitcher to face a certain team. It'll make for an interesting variable.

THE GRUELING schedule also creates a Catch-22 for managers. You have to develop new pitchers to handle the load, but the schedule doesn't allow for many exhibition games to experiment with new

"We used to use weekend games to break in new pitchers," Crissey said. "Now we have to break them in during league play. It's an unfair thing but it's just the way it is."

Crissey's Chiefs, who have been honing their skills at the Show Me Baseball Camp in Missouri all week, have plenty of arms on the roster six of them. But will six be enough?

What you would like is to come into this season returning your No. 2 and No. 3 pitchers from last year," Crissey said. "We have our Nos. 4, 5 and 6 who've got to be 1-2-3. That's a hell of a jump."

The top three are seniors - righthanders Paul Swartzinski and Jeff Lyle and lefty Adam Kocik - and for that Crissey is grateful.

"Those three seniors have worked very, very hard over the summer,'

The fence busters are back. The Plymouth Salem softball team features a powerful lineup greatly feared by opposing pitchers

All-Area slugger Leslie Plichta hit 481 last year and played a solid center field. She's back. Denice Tackett, All-Area as a frehman, second team last year, hit .429. She's back. Shortstop Jessica Handley (.303) and third baseman Marci Walker (.290) are back. Sandy Oberleisen (.300 as a

THE ROCKS posted a fine 19-5 record with slow-balling hurler Sue Carlson on the hill. But the accurate right-hander has graduated, leaving the Rocks with a major problem.

Willette is giving four players a crack at the job: senior Maggie Meissner, Tackett, junior Kristen Sobditch and sophomore Kim Berrie.

"Right now, I would say Meissner is ahead of the pack," Willette said. "Tackett is the hardest thrower, but if she can't find the plate, she doesn't do me any good. Sobditch pitched some last year, she was 1-0.

There are three other questions marks on the team: first base, second base and one outfield spot.

If Meissner pitches, then first base is open to juniors Bonnie Waller or Liz Smithson or freshman Darlene Gagleard. Gagleard would catch if Tackett pitches.

At second base, Willette has handed the job to freshman Ann Mundinger. Usually, starting a freshman at such a key position worries coaches. "No problem," said Wil-

OBERLEISEN AND Plichta will be two-thirds of the Rock outfield. The other position is being fought for by senior Kris Bronk, junior Mary Jo Callan and sophomore Sheryll Gildo.

Willette, whose teams have fin-ished second to Livonia Stevenson in the Western Lakes the past two seasons, likes both Livonia Franklin (with all-state pitcher Tracy Lectka back) and newcomer Westland John Glenn as favorites in the league. He also has his eye on Stevenson.

"Hopefully, we'll be in the hunt," he said. "There's no reason we can't be. If someone takes charge on the

Two juniors are battling for the catchers' job - Steve Johnson and Jav Buelow. The infield, with the exception of a major battle at shortstop, is set and looks strong. Hard-hitting Chris Sisler will play first. Danny Young will play third and slick-fielding Tom Kenyon is the second baseman - all are seniors.

At shortstop, Waite and Steve Rudelic are causing Crissey some pleasant problems. Both are outstanding players. Crissey was touting Rudelic as his future No. 1 shortstop last year before an injury set him back. Waite stepped in and played very well throughout the later part of the season (after senior shortstop David Knapp was lost for the season following an automobile accident): Regardless who plays, shortstop should not be a problem for Canton.

THE OUTFIELD also appears in place. Seniors Tony Aiken (center field) and Mark Stevens were both starters last season. Junior Tony

BILL BRESLER/staff photographe

"We will hit the ball, I'm pretty sure of that," Crissey said. "We have six players back who hit over .300 a year ago. And we should be a good fielding team. If we throw strikes, our guys will catch the ball."

Crissey said he thinks Westland John Glenn and Northville should be considered the preseason favorites in the two divisions.

'We'll be competitive," he said. "I'm not one for prognostication, but I'll say this: I don't think anyone will finish with less than two losses in the division. It's totally up for grabs."

Every time there was a question to be answered in Albion's starting lineup, Plymouth's Mike McBride had his hand raised.

The 6-2 Plymouth Salem basketball standout patiently waited and never got the call - until this sea-

"It was a rude awakening," said McBride, who started in both his junior and senior year on Salem's three Suburban Eight championship teams

Finally, in his senior season, Mc-Bride got the call. It took the Brits' top player, Jim Soloman, to go down due to academics before McBride started. And that only came after Albion coach Mike Turner's experi-

McBride made the most of it, too. He averaged 12 points per game down the stretch, including a 19point outing against Calvin College. In his first game as a starter, he led the team in rebounds against Adrian.

Yet, despite being overlooked a good portion of his collegiate career. McBride's not the type to fire a big 'I told you so" at Turner.

That's not to say he accepted his role passively, either.

"I was disappointed more than anything," said McBride, who also is a tricaptain on Albion's track team. "I talked with the coach and I told him, 'I think there's some spots where you could be using me.' He mostly agreed."

THE DISAPPOINTMENT was especially heightened at the start of the season. Albion lost some players to graduation and McBride figured he had a shot at the openings.

Much to his chagrin, they were filled by other applicants and Mc-Bride found himself on the bench with his hand raised again.

Though a bit miffed, McBride never thought of leaving.

"I've been playing basketball all my life," he said. "To end it on a bad note by quitting just wasn't the way to go. I don't believe in quitting." For that philosophy, along with the ability to play defense, McBride credits his former high school coach,

Fred Thomann. Thomann, in turn, credits McBride for being the symbol of the Salem teams which won two district titles, in addition to three league cham-

The leadership role McBride had at Salem provided a calming influence this season after the Brits lost

Bentley infusion bolsters Churchill

staff writer

Some coaches may envy Livonia Churchill girls soccer coach Ed Dudek. Then again, others may not want to be in his shoes this season.

Most area high school teams won't start the regular season until the second week in April. That's good because it gives Dudek at least three weeks to sort out his deep and talented squad of 20 players.

Dudek is in a unique situation this spring. He welcomed back 14 returning players off his state-ranked Churchill team, along with six starters from Bentley High, a school which closed its doors last summer.

Bentley was also rated in the top 10. Dudek, in effect, has a pair of state-ranked teams merging for

"Right now everybody is fighting for a position," said Dudek. "We're strong all the way around. It's kind of exciting, but it could be difficult because not everybody will be play-

THE CHURCHILL coach is trying to give his team individual attention, employing four assistant coaches pro soccer player Nick O'Shea, Schoolcraft College goalie Sam Matovski, Raul Galindo and Michael St. Orpthe.

"We have a good coaching staff, and we're able to break them into groups," Dudek said. "There's going to be a lot of competition. There already is."

But the Chargers may be shortstaffed during the next two weeks when some of their players skip practice in favor of family vacations

"We had a lot of seniors leaving more goalie: seven freshmearly, and that's kind of disappoint." (28 goals and 17 assists) to more goalie: seven freshmearly, and Sharlene Sudek ing." Dudek said. "But the people we have here are working extremely hard. The ones that are going away are just going to come back and fight for their positions."

ON THE NORTH end of town, defending state Class A champion Livonia Stevenson was riddled by graduation, losing four All-Staters and two other key performers.

But don't be crying the blues for coach Norene Divens. The cupboard is not bare. Seven freshmen figure to have an impact. And if they come through, you may be seeing the Spartans in the state final for the fourth straight year.

"We do have talent, but it's a question whether it will jell," said

IN OTHER NEWS, Plymouth Salem suffered a jolt when All-Area sophomore Dena Head announced that she'll compete on the track team this spring instead of soccer.

Speaking of losses, Farmington Hills Mercy will have to do without the services of two-time All-Stater Annette Ruggiero, who graduated.

Former Borgess coach enjoying spring holiday

Life is a bit different for Jim Brisky these days, but the former Redford Bishop Borgess baseball coach doesn't mind one bit.

Instead of hitting ground balls or preparing for a Saturday double-header, Brisky now is fixing his lawnmower and planning to go on a camping trip with his daughter's Brownie troop.

Brisky spent 17 years coaching the Borgess varsity, compiling a record of 230-179. He's held the distinction of being the school's only baseball coach until this year when Mike George, his assistant the past nine seasons, took over.

"This is my first Easter vacation in 19 years," Brisky said. "This is the first time I've been able to spend time with my family.

"I miss the kids (the players), but I don't miss the time I spent coaching. I feel like a new man. I can spend time with my kids and watch them grow up."

BRISKY RESIGNED as Borgess baseball coach shortly after last season. However, he still remains a fixture at the school. Brisky is the assistant principal, attendance officer and intramural director.

"The highlight of my career was the fact that I worked with 18 to 20 kids every year and we communicated with each other," he said. "And teaching the fundamentals of baseball was something special to me."

A Brisky team never captured a state championship or a regional, but Borgess was highly-competitive.

"I can point to the fact that we competed in one of the toughest divisions there is in baseball," said Brisky of the Catholic League's Central Division. "It was tough winning a title back-to-back."

HIS BEST TEAM, however, never got out of the district.

Led by fireballing pitcher Greg Brake (currently a member of the Oakland A's farm system), Borgess posted a 20-5 record and captured the Central Division in 1980. The Spartans, however, were derailed by Livonia Franklin in the district semifinals after Brisky opted to save Brake for a potential district final.

Brisky, however, never regretted that move and hasn't regretted his decision to get out of baseball.

"I felt comfortable turning the Bernie Carbo, a World Series hero in 1975, stays close to baseball by teaching the game to youngsters.

"I should have been a movie star. Too many English courses, though. Too many big words to learn. Actually I'm going to be a hair dresser. I'm going to get a shop in Boston and I'm gonna have all these women comin' through the door and they say 'I remember you were a hardball player.' And I'll have a big pot belly and I'll be bald."

Bernie Carbo (excerpt from the Boston Globe -

By Brad Emons staff writer

Bernie Carbo was a prophet of

He's a hair dresser, but the shop is in Wyandotte instead of Beantown. The sign reads: "We Are Family Hair Stylists" in front of the neat brick building on Fort Steet.

The upstairs of the "We Are Family Hair Stylists" has been converted to office space.

"We don't get enough business anymore to use the upstairs," said Carbo, who retains a full head of curly black locks. "I rent it out to a local construction firm."

Carbo's baseball career is well documented, even to this day. He was known as a free spirit, an offbeat personality who often rubbed management types the wrong way:

Baseball paraphernailia is littered about the shop. His prized possessions, his black bats, are mounted on the walls upstairs. They include the two bats he used during the 1975 World Series. That year, Carbo set a Series record by hitting a pair of pinch hit homers for Boston against Cincinnati.

CARBO'S LOVE for the game may have been questioned when he held out for more money in 1971. The Cincinnati Reds' brass was not receptive to his demands even though he was voted National League Rookie of the Year by the Sporting News in 1970.

"The Reds tried to ruin my career," says Carbo. "I was in camp only five days (after he settled) and then they started platooning me."

Carbo, whose long hair was a symbol of his itinerant lifestyle, went on to play for St. Louis, Boston, land, St. Louis (again) and Pittsburgh before retiring in 1980. He also played a spell in Mexico.

Carbo retired five years ago. The pros could no longer use a left-handed hitting outfielder with above-average speed and a strong right arm.

Today, Carbo remains relatively slim and trim, but he's not quite the spring chicken that the Reds drafted No. 1 out of Livonia Franklin High School in 1965. (Johnny Bench was the Reds' second-round pick that

The wear and tear of traveling through the bushes and the big leagues for 18 years shows on Carbo's face. His hair care shop billows with smoke.

AS CARBO lights up another cigarette, he begins to talk freely about his baseball days and his second ca-

Carbo, who often challenged authority, is now part of the establishment.

He runs baseball camps, including one coming up this month in his native Westland, sponsored by the Wayne-Ford Civic League. (See attached box).

He'll run the camps alongside his father, Joe, who ironically is a pro scout for the Reds.

When Milt Wilcox left for Seattle (he signed as a free agent), Carbo became the Wayne-Ford Civic League's new camp director.

"I ran some camps in Portland, Maine, in 1981," Carbo recalls. "I said to myself, 'Hey, I know a lot about baseball and I can teach those

"I realized what kind of teacher I could be and I was good at it. I get irritated when I'm watching kids do the wrong thing. I went to a (youth league) game and I saw 10 throws where they didn't hit the cut-off man. I couldn't stand it."

Carbo branched out in his new role of teaching the fundamentals. He's traveled from Muskegon to Atlanta and down to Florida.

A couple of years ago he ran a camp for an American company in Saudi Arabia, schooling 476 American kids on the game.

"THEY DIDN'T understand how to hold a bat over there," Carbo said. "They held their hands apart. Some BERNIE CARBO

When I tell 8-, 10- and 12-yearolds to try something, they'll do it," explains Carbo. "They're eager to

"With older kids you have to break bad habits."

Carbo stresses the basics - proper throwing and batting technique. "Pitching and hitting are exactly alike," Carbo said. "I'm not trying to make them major leaguers. I just want to make the game easier and

Virtually a self-made player who, as a youth, scuffed around the dia-monds of Edward Hines Park, Carbo believes he is giving some valuable more fun."

"When I grew up we didn't have baseball in Westland," Carbo said. "I had to go to Garden City for instruction. I basically got by on natural ability. I had no real instruction in baseball."

CARBO ADMITTED "I wish I had been more studious about the game when I was playing.

"By teaching and talking baseball I learned a lot more," he said. "When I was playing all I was worried about whether I was one-for-four or two-for-four. I was not taught what makes a good hitter. Today they have hitting and pitching instructors for every minor league team. We didn't have that when I was playing. I was pretty much on my own."

But Carbo picked up some valuable tips by talking to such people as Ted Williams, Stan Musial and the late Charlie Lau. "When Charlie was with Kansas

City I used to meet him for breakfast and we'd talk about hitting," recalls Carbo. "He wrote books about it.

"He wasn't supposed to meet with players from the opposing team, but he did. If Kansas City had ever found out, he would have been fired."

Carbo also recalls an encounter with Ted Williams: "I had always squeezed the bat, but he told me to hold the bat with a loose grip."

Then was the time Carbo was in Cleveland when he met Willie Mays and Bobby Bonds afterwards in a

"THEY ASKED me a question about what kind of pitches I looked for," Carbo recalls. "They said: 'If a pitcher gets you out three straight times on a breaking ball, what kind of pitch is he going to throw you the fourth time?'

"I answered: 'Fastball.' They said, 'no, you'll get a curveball again because we know you can't hit a curve."

Carbo admitted: "I always looked for the fastball and hoped I could hit the curveball. Carbo then went to Williams for more advice. "He taught me how to look for the pitch once it's released," Carbo said. I never hit a homer off a curve ball, but that year I hit seven." Carbo can tell endless stories about his experiences in the big leagues. Last month Carbo attended a Boston Red Sox Fantasy Camp. "A lot of the guys were there -Dom DiMaggio, Jim Lonborg and Ted Williams," Carbo beams. "We sat around and traded old stories. It was a lot of fun. I loved Boston. It was a great place to play." Those old stories are becoming valuable. Carbo now can apply those experiences and hopefully steer a youngster or two in the right direc-

Carbo's life is somewhat different than what he projected 10 years ago. He's not bald or fat. He's married and the father of three daughters.

Some of Carbo's old teammates, however, won't believe what he's doing these days.

Of course, then again, Bernie was always unpredictable.

IF ONLY THE GOVERNMENT SPENT OUR TAX DOLLARS AS SCRUPULOUSLY

Last year, the federal government collected over $300 billion in personal income taxes. Money that was used

Stone carving lives!

Sculptor Peter Rockwell works on a new project

By Martha M. Lostrom staff writer

Thursday April 3, 1986 O&E

Bit by bit, stone chip by stone chip, sculptor Peter Rockwell is leaving his mark in Michigan.

The internationally acclaimed sculptor is chipping away in Plymouth Township Park, creating three separate play sculptures while area residents watch the stone carvings take shape.

Just how the son of famous painter Norman Rockwell came to be in Michigan is best explained by Plymouth Community Arts Council member Gay McCord, who is coordinating the sculpture project.

"I was in Rome with a group of art students in the summer of 1983 and we were at Peter's studio. We were very impressed with his work and many of the students pressed him to come do a show for us.

"Peter came for a show in May 1985 at the Snowflake House and as it came to an end the idea of a township project came up. Actually, Joanne Hulce thought of it. By the end of June we had a small model which was approved and the Play Sculpture in the Township Park Foundation was born," she said.

PETER ROCKWELL is very pleased to be doing the project, his since he moved his studio to Italy in the 1960s

"I originally went to Italy because of the foundries there for my bronze friendly. Some one once told me I'm sculptures. Although bronze has become too expensive to work with ture. My father could never paint now, the stone quarries there provide me with a ready supply of raw material to create from," he said.

Rockwell and an assistant, Gilham Erickson of Washington, D.C., arrived in early March to work on the three sculptures. They anticipate the stone carving of the two sculptures and one fountain will be completed by early June, in time for a gala

But an unveiling it really won't be. Rockwell encourages folks to come by and watch him at his work and at given times, will answer their questions and take such advice as how big the ears on his monsters will be. Monsters, you say? That's a specialty that Rockwell has. Since a commission some years ago to do gar-goyles for the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C., Rockwell became fascinated with (friendly) monster

When Rockwell takes his carving tools to the Roman travertine quarried limestone, he will be shaping some playful monsters to entice area children to play on and with. He prefers to make sculptures that can be part of a child's world, creations that bring a youngster's imagination to life.

The fountain design is planned with a deep bowl to hold about one inch of water for the kids to play in. Rockwell anticipates that there will be monsters to spout the water risfirst sculpture in the United States ing about 15 feet from the ground. There will be a triple head, but nothing that will frighten small children.

'My monsters always seem to be incapable of creating a nasty creaanything unpleasant," he added.

FOR MANY YEARS, Norman Rockwell could not accept the path his son had taken. As an illustrator who slaved just about seven days a week to produce the famous Saturday Evening Post covers he is most famous for, he couldn't accept the fact of sculpting as a real career for

Peter grew up in New Rochelle, N.Y., and lived much of his life in the Vermont woods. He went through college as an English major and then went to the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts for three years while his father, Norman Rockwell, bitterly complained against his pursuing a career in art.

"Art wasn't an acceptable career in the '50s and '60s," Peter said. "One of the major changes over the years has been the acceptance of the artist as a true professional.

"Italians, however, thought it was OK and that made it very comfortable for me to work in Italy. There were a group of 15 or 20 sculptors there, partly because the bronze factories were good and inexpensive, but partly because Italy was a very pleasant place to be."

Rockwell has returned to the United States annually to hold a show and sell his work. He centers his efforts on art for the average man, that is, the type of art that can fit comfortably in home decor. Sometimes he'll have requests for a specific sculpture, but most who buy his work are pleased with what it is.

"MY SCULPTURE to be fairly tactile. I really enjoy just the physical art of carving. Different tools give you different textures," he add-

Rockwell has become such an expert in stone carving over the last 20 years that he is often called on to advise in restorations. The stone being carved in the Plymouth Township park was picked for its resistance to modern pollution. Although he'd rather work in marble where he could get more interesting colors, it is a bad stone for the outdoors, he

The park project is a special dream come true. Rockwell finds it one way to make a statement in a mechanized and industrialized soci-

Although stone carving has not brought him the fame his father had as an illustrator, Rockwell has no wishes to do any more extravagant work than he is now doing. He is comfortable with a life that at times requires the bartering of his art to buy, perhaps, a car or service. He has enjoyed raising four children and having holidays that fit the life of an

AS AN ARTIST in residence, Rockwell will also be teaching in the Plymouth-Canton schools during his three-month stay. He taught high school for nine years and enjoys

The "carving on the spot" he does has shown him a hidden actor in himself. He notes that sculptors over the centuries have worked with the support of townspeople who would donate time and effort in such ways as moving the stones and doing cleanup work.

phia, it is an example of Rockwell's early works.

Freeform sculptures such as this are among the works Peter Rockwell accomplishes in his studio in Italy and brings to shows in the United States. He prefers to sell to individuals who want to make his sculptures an integral part of their living Sculptor Peter Rockwell, right, helps his assistant Gilham Erickson unload the raw material for three stone carvings that are being done in Plymouth Township's park on Ann Arbor Trail at McClumpha near the Sheldon Road exit. He invites people to come out and watch him work and talk to him from II:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays and II a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturdays. Handouts on his sculpture work will be available at the site.

Gargoyles are a favorite sculpture subject of Peter Rockwell, standing here beside his courtyard art in the Philadelphia area. He was commissioned to sculpt gargoyles for the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C., some years ago, but his most recent monster creations are happening in Plymouth Township

Estleman's new thriller has finely crafted plot

special writer

"Every Brilliant Eye," Loren D. Estleman, Houghton Mifflin Company,

"Every Brilliant Eye" (the title comes from a poem by W. B. Yeats) continues the vision of Detroit that author Loren Estleman began with the first Amos Walker novel, "Motor City Blue," back in

It's still a throbbing, brawling town that only Walker can love. And in this novel, not only does Estleman show us the real city, but this time he concentrates on a newspaper columnist. The result is a rousing good story about the search for Barry Stackpole, said newspaper columnist and Walker's good friend.

And in this latest adventure, Walker is teamed again with Louise Starr, the sultry editor, who made her initial appearance in "Sugartown," the fifth novel about Walker's adventure.

THIS TIME Starr is determined to acquire Stackpole's book on Vietnam, which she hopes will be a blockbuster. But is Stackpole's book really about Vietnam, or does the manuscript contain secrets that certain Detroiters want and will pay for, no questions asked? Or are there two manuscripts?

There are twists and turns in the plot, and Walker's life often is in jeopardy, but he never loses his subtle sense of humor.

Here's an example: "With a fresh shave and a suit just back from the cleaners I felt good enough to be seen in the lobby of the Book Cadillac, though I might not have before they'd covered the Petoskey stone facings on the walls with washable paneling and dropped the cupolaed ceiling. Little by little they are bringing Detroit down to the level of the people who are running it hasn't dimmed Estleman's energy or his mastery of the intricacies of plotting. Walker follows the trail left by his missing friend, Stackpole, into Detroit's world of organized crime, the car-theft racket, the city morgue and police headquarters encountering enemies and friends.

Yes, this sixth novel shows that success

AMOS WALKER, private eye, is taking his place among America's irreverent private eyes and Estleman has put Detroit on the map, so to speak

"All this is tough, side-of-the mouth stuff, well written, positively guaranteed to keep you awake," said the New York Times Book Review of the Walker earlier novels. The Times also has honored several of them as Best Mysteries of the

A seasoned suspense writer, Estleman is the author of 21 books. In addition to Houghton Mifflin publishing his Amos Doubleday for his westerns and The Mysterious Press, which last month released "Roses are Dead," the second installment in a series about a Detroit hit man.

Although Estleman dislikes the word prolific when used to describe his work, that's what he is - and a craftsman. He has created in Amos Walker a fine-tuned machine with a sense of humor and the street smarts that takes one back to Hammett's Sam Spade and Chandler's Philip Marlowe.

Estleman, a real pro, continues to deliver the goods in this department. In real life, he is soft spoken, unassuming and quite different from Walker, the private INTELLIGENT, MILD mannered, of stocky build and sporting a neatly trimmed mustache, Estleman, a Whitmore Lake resident, admits to leading an unexciting life.

He was born in Ann Arbor in 1952 and in 1974 he received a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University. He began his writing career as a reporter for a newspaper in Dexter and the Ypsilanti Press and spent a number of years on the

"I spent so much time with cops that I started thinking more like a cop than a reporter, and I decided it was time to get out of newspapering," he said.

The author, nominated last year for a Pulitzer Prize for his western, "This Old Bill," provides the reader with good entertainment and perfect therapy for otherwise boring evenings.

Once again Estleman works his special magic and makes Amos Walker a unique individual spouting "punched-out verbs" and "stop-short metaphors." So sit back. relax and take a trip to Detroit. Your ticket is "Every Brilliant Eye," and your host is Amos Walker, private eye. You'll enjoy the journey, take my word.

At Coldwell Banker Real Estate. we know it can take a while to settle into your new house.

Because first you have to make it feel like home.

We can help. Because only Coldwell Banker can give you the Sears Home Buyer's Savings Book.* It has money-saving coupons good for 15 to 30% off regular prices on over 100 selected items. Paint to planters. Washers to windows. And almost everything in between. After all, no one knows more about turning your house into a home than Sears.

Besides the Sears Home Buyer's Savings Book, Coldwell Banker also gives you something else:

People you can trust to do the job right.

We've grown to become America's largest full-service real estate company because we have different and better ways to help people find and buy the right home.

So if you're in the market for a new home, talk to Coldwell Banker.

Not only will we help you find the right home, we'll help you furnish it.
