CANNONEER NEEDED: An official cannoneer is needed for the Fourth of July celebration in Plymouth Township Park. The Plymouth Symphony is making some special plans which call for the firing of a cannon and want to make sure it gets the right person for the job. Symphony personnel have a cannoneer in mind but only knows that his first name is Jack. "Jack" is encouraged to call Creon Smith at the Mayflower Hotel, 453-1620, to volunteer his services.

WIND OF FORTUNE: The "Winds of Fortune" are blowing well for Leigh A. Langkable, Plymouth resident of Famous Chicken fame, who is among 144 semi-finalists among the 3.6 million who redeemed "free ticket" entries. As a semi-finalist in the Michigan Lottery Winds of Fortune game, Langkable has a chance of winning a $1,000 a week for life, or other prizes ranging from $25,000 to $100,000. The final drawing will be on television July 12 from Traverse City.

KEY PERSON: Dr. William C. Ferman, an optometrist with a practice in Plymouth and Detroit, has been named a winner of the "Key-person" award of the Michigan Optometric Association. Ferman, who served as president of the association in 1983-84, is a 1947 graduate of the Detroit Northwestern High School and a 1951 graduate of Northern Illinois College of Optometry, Chicago. He also is a past board member and president of the Wayne County Society of Optometrists. Ferman has served on the board of the Rotary Club of Plymouth, been a bell ringer for the Plymouth Salvation Army, served as worshipful master of Masonic Lodge No. 536 F & A. M. in Berkley, and has been a Boy Scout leader. The Key-person award is in recognition of outstanding service to the association and profession of optometry.

Fall census may attract more money

Plymouth Township will spend some of its own money this fall in an effort to attract more state revenue sharing funds in future years.

Township officials, who suspect that the local population has increased substantially since the 1980 census, have authorized another count to be taken by the U.S. Census Bureau or the Michigan Secretary of State.

State revenue sharing and some other state and federal disbursements, including community development block grants, are partially based on population counts.

"We will spend upwards of $20,000 to do the census," said Supervisor Maurice Breen. "For every 60 cents spent, we should get four times that back."

THE TOWNSHIP expects to receive about $1 million in state revenue sharing funds this budget year, Breen said.

To obtain a bonus payment next year and each succeeding year until 1990 census figures are available, the township must demonstrate at least a 15 percent gain from its count of 23,028 during the 1980 census.

That would mean an increase of just over 3,450. Results are expected next spring.

Breen said he believes that a gain has occurred based on an increase in housing units in the township.

The census is one way for growing communities to more equitably share in state funds, Breen said. Cities like Detroit continue to share in state revenue based on 1980 census figures even though their populations have since decreased.

Without the special census, growing communities would be penalized, Breen said.

"You're getting increased service demands but not the amount of dollars. It means there's more equity in the system if you follow up on it."

Also, Breen agreed, more state money could offset the need to ask voters to authorize local property tax increases to pay for municipal services.

Wildlife artist gaining notice

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

You could say a stuffed owl taught Cal Kempainen a lot about painting wildlife.

Kempainen laughs when he recalls the owl, the first of his wildlife paintings that now win praise in state competitions. He had the detail right — the gray feathers tinged in black, the dark eyes, the body shape.

There's just one problem with the work, showing the bird in its habitat: "I painted a perfect stuffed owl," said Kempainen of the lifeless-looking bird. "You have to get the gesture of the animal, the way it would sit naturally."

Since then, the Canton sign painter and part-time artist has gone on to place in the final 10 entries in the 1986 Michigan State Duck Stamp Competition.

It's a significant achievement, considering he placed above several artists who paint wildlife full time.

Kempainen was also invited to join Michigan's top wildlife artists in displaying his work at the Michigan Great Lakes Wildlife Festival during Memorial Day weekend in Claire.

ORIGINALLY A landscape painter, Kempainen, 36, got into wildlife painting about five years ago.

The Westland native's interest in birds led him to collected prints of Robert Bateman, a renowned Canadian wildlife artist.

"I thought, 'What a fantastic artist,' and on top of that, he did wildlife."

In the upstairs studio of his Canton home, Kempainen keeps several books depicting in detail the anatomy of various birds.

Cal Kempainen

"Once you decide you're going to do one, you have to have it accurate," he said. "In these competitions, especially the duck-stamp competition, they count feathers. They'll know if the bill is not angled properly. You need to really research your subject extensively."

While painting a Kool cigarette billboard ad in Belleville, Kempainen got the idea to do a painting of a red-tail hawk, with the viewer looking over the shoulder of the bird perched high in a tree.

"I thought it would be kind of neat to do a portrait from the bird's perspective," he said.

Jim Tuman, a dynamic speaker, motivates young people to discover their self-worth and get involved with life.

Morale booster Yearn to live, speaker urges

By Christine Rizk
special writer

He's a man who's touched hundreds with his personal crusade to convince teenagers that they need not turn to suicide as an answer to their problems.

Earlier this month, Canton resident Jim Tuman spoke before a substantially smaller audience. It was plain to see, though, that his words work wonders even in smaller circles.

Tuman, an advocate of developing self-esteem in teens as a method of reducing the increasing suicide rate among high school students, spoke before a crowd of 23 parents and teens June 5 in the Canton Public Library.

THE EFFECT was typical for Tuman's forums.

"Who's the most important person you know?" Tuman asked the crowd.

The crowd hedged. Few raised their hands. Even fewer wanted to say what they knew Tuman was expecting.

"Why is that so difficult to say?" he asked, responding to one audience member's answer that she was most important. "We are so busy working off of other people's standards that we can't see our own value."

As a promoter of three national programs aimed at women, children and Vietnam veterans, and as a nationwide speaker on teens, Tuman says he has had a lot of time to examine his own values.

He told the audience of a personal experience which led to his renewed conviction that adults and teens must set priorities in their lives and stick with them.

"I met this man in a restaurant when he sat down beside me. At first I acted disinterested but he kept talking to me. He told me he had leukemia and that he had sold everything he owned, including his business, and was traveling the country before he died.

"I had this sudden sense of urgency to see and talk to him, he affected me that much."

"Everyone of you in the room has the power to influence thousands."

TUMAN IS NOT new to the realm of influencing people.

In what has become a typical reaction to his speeches, teens routinely gather around each other, confessing their problems, embracing or simply crying.

Emotions were equally high in the smaller crowd as parents and teenagers wiped their eyes. Two teenagers, veterans of Tuman's earlier talks, testified to his effective approach to teen problems.

Mark Hackett and Tracy Reardon, both 15 and students at Lowell Middle School in Westland, are victims of increasing peer pressure and loss of self-esteem.

Both have attempted suicide. Both admit now that it was Tuman who helped them gain back the confidence they had lost to continue living.

Tuman's talks have "a big effect on everybody," said Hackett. "Students really get into it."

"It lasts long after he leaves," Reardon agreed, adding that she has much closer friends now than before.

"He just senses things," Hackett said, describing Tuman as succinctly as he could.

"Kids today are overwhelmed by everything," said Tuman. "We have to realize that put-downs hurt. It means that we've stopped looking at each other's needs."

Tuman said that school curriculums are "... so curriculum centered that teachers don't look at feelings issues." He advocated instituting support programs from "the time we begin to see the pain" in teenagers. "Somehow we've missed the boat ... nobody can really identify where they fit in."

AT ONE POINT, in an effort to emphasize the misplaced importance of money in today's society, he reached out into the audience and tore up a dollar bill offered by a young girl.

"I know people who have compromised themselves for this," Tuman said, pointing to the ripped bill on the floor. "If this is the only reason you get up everyday then there will never be enough of it."

"How do you know you don't have only six months to live? There are no guarantees. So if you're waiting for time to put priorities on the people in your life, then there may not be enough time."

Looking to the adults in the audience, Tuman said that the problems don't stop in school. "The older we get, it's just a different set of toys."

Tuman, whose talks have been captured on local television stations, showed video tapes of recent school meetings. Audience members witnessed a roller coaster of emotions as hundreds of teens at a local high school clung to each other as Tuman admonished parents and teachers for failing to reach students.

How does Tuman know he's reaching kids? He pointed to the videotape and to the look on the faces of his audience.

In what perhaps could be considered the best testimonial to his success in reaching out were Hackett's final remarks.

"I just don't feel like I have to take my own life to feel better now."

Charge filed after molestation near school

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A Dearborn man has been charged with molesting an 11-year-old Canton girl near Hulsing Elementary School after allegedly confessing to two incidents involving school children in Livonia.

Livonia Police said they suspected Paul Brian Hurin, 21, was involved in the Livonia cases and linked him as a possible suspect in Canton. Hurin voluntarily turned himself into Livonia Police and admitted to the Canton and two Livonia cases, said Canton Police Detective Robert Sidor.

Hurin said he had a problem and wanted professional help, Sidor wrote in a police report.

The Canton girl told police she was walking with two friends to school on a wooded footpath to Hulsing Elementary School. A man ran out, held out his arms and blocked the pathway. She said he grabbed her from behind and fondled her.

Police are still investigating the Livonia cases that took place in May and June near Washington Elementary School and Hoover Elementary School, according to Livonia Police Sgt. Ann Dempsey.

A PARENT whose child attends Washington said a composite of the Canton attacker that ran in the Observer fit the description a Livonia victim gave, Dempsey said.

Police said Hurin admitted to the two Livonia incidents under questioning from Livonia Officer James Pardo. He also told officers he developed "this problem about six months ago," according to a Canton Police report.

"Livonia police played a really big part in this, as well as the use of the identification kit," Sidor said. "When you've got a face instead of just a description it's a lot better. We also got a lot of tips and help from people in the public."

Hurin was arraigned last week in 35th District Court before Judge John MacDonald on one count of second-degree criminal sexual conduct in connection with the Canton case. Second-degree CSC is a felony and carries a maximum 15 years in prison.

A plea of not guilty was entered.

Hurin's father posted 10 percent of a $15,000 bond. He is scheduled to appear Monday, June 23, in 35th District Court for a preliminary examination to determine if there is enough evidence to hold a trial.

As a result of the Canton incident parents raised concerns about the wooded pathway near Hulsing.

"The Canton DPW will still clear the path back not only at Hulsing but they will check all school areas and take similar measures to remove brush," said Canton Police Chief John Santomauro.

Bob Evans is robbed
 An armed robber stole about $100 from Bob Evans restaurant in Canton Saturday.
 At about 3:36 p.m. a man approached the cash register counter and asked for a pack of fruit-flavored candy. When the hostess opened the drawer the man leaned over the counter and said "I have a gun. Give me the money." He also warned her not to "alarm anyone."
 The 15-year-old hostess said she thought she saw a gun in the man's pocket.
 The man left the restaurant and ran across the parking lot to a blue 1985 or 1986 Ford Escort where another man waited.
 The hostess immediately notified her manager who watched the subject run through the parking lot. The men were last seen driving east on Ford Road.
 The manager copied a license plate number, which is one of several leads being followed by Canton Police.

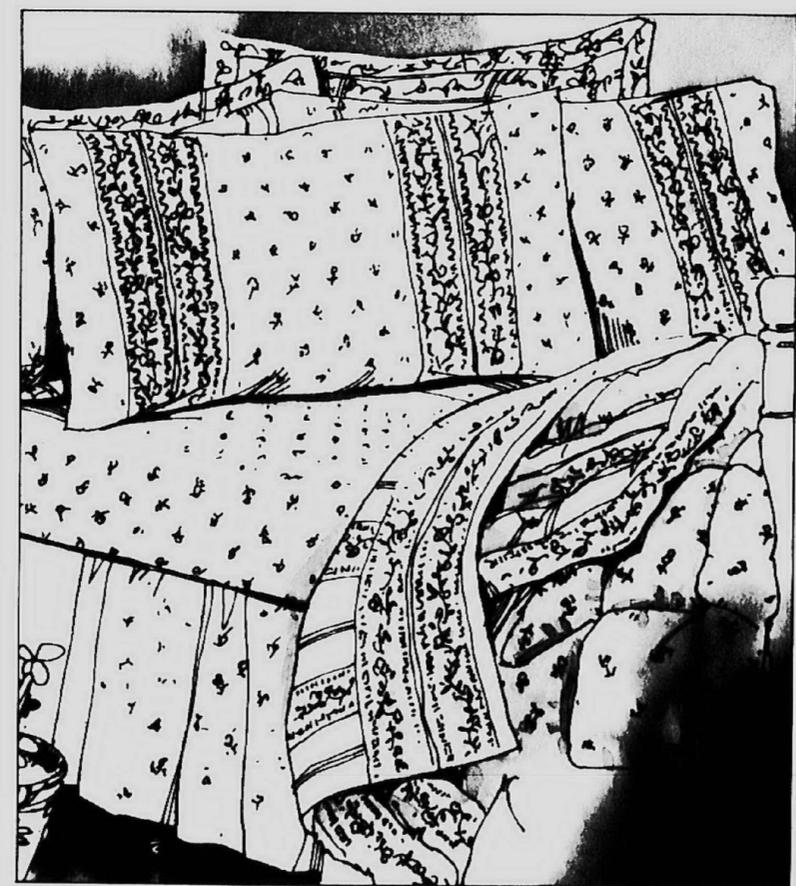

Report given on Allen virus
 Investigators trying to determine the cause of the viral outbreak at Allen Elementary School April 21 that affected more than 150 students and staff say that while the virus has been identified, "we will probably never know" the exact source of the contamination.
 Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, medical director of the Wayne County Department of Health, reported that following tests and a "tack-rate" studies, investigators believe "that water or food items prepared using water may have contributed to the outbreak."
 However, Lawrenchuk said this can't be confirmed because when his department first gathered samples April 23 at the school, both water and food were found free of contamination.
 Investigators report they are satisfied that the virus was a Norwalk-type virus, which typically causes stomach ailments and diarrhea — symptoms reported by those becoming ill at Allen School following contamination.

Insects won't kill trees, horticulturist says

Are your trees losing their leaves this spring?

It's probably not cause for major alarm, says a horticulturist with the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service.

Two types of insects — aphids and leaf-stock borers — apparently have made their marks on trees of all kinds during the last couple of weeks, said Vera Sullivan. Communities throughout the metropolitan area have been affected.

"They're not fatal to trees," she said. "It's early enough in the season to re-leaf. Trees, if well-fertilized and cared for, will leaf out."

BORERS AREN'T visible and feed at lower canopy levels, Sullivan said. "You would see their entry point, but you would not see the insect. It literally bores into plant tissue."

It's too late to spray for borers now, Sullivan said. If homeowners choose to use pesticides, she said, their best bets are Malathion or Methoxychlor in early May.

"Aphids are sucking insects that come in assorted colors and feed at the top end of plant material," Sullivan said. They are visible. Leaves attacked by aphids may feel sticky and appear gnarled.

Tree owners can spray against aphids at any time with Malathion, Sullivan said.

Ed Skicki, who lives on Pinetree in Plymouth Township, said a maple in his front yard recently lost leaves for the first time ever this early in the year.

"I've lived here 22 years, and I can never remember in early spring, summer something like this happening," he said. "The insects hang like from a web. Whatever they do, they caused leaves to drop."

Several neighbors experienced the same problem, he said.

Skicki said the situation seemed to resolve itself after he had raked one bag full of leaves.

Ironically, Skicki said the maple in his backyard wasn't affected.

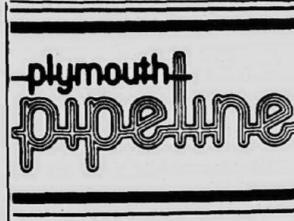

THE FORESTRY Division of the Wayne County Office of Public Services (522-7370) advised that he spray with the pesticide Sevin, Skicki said.

"I never got to it. I really didn't have time to climb ladders and spray trees," he said.

Gene Hood, park director in Plymouth Township, said trees are sprayed in Township Park with Sevin in about every three weeks for tent worms, a common problem in recent years.

That insect also has web or tent-like characteristics, a maintenance employee said.

People with questions about insects, trees or gardening in general are asked to contact the extension service at 721-6550.

ANTIQUES AUCTIONED:

Angelo DiPonio, prominent contractor and longtime Plymouth resident, will hold a public auction June 22 to liquidate a portion of his vast collection of horse-drawn vehicles and farm machinery. Among the items to go on the block will be a fully-restored Borden milk wagon, an oak open buggy, a reconditioned grain wagon, and a hotel wagon. Many of the conveyances once belonged to Greenfield Village and were later used at the Saddle Ridge Club, founded by the late Harry Bennett of Ford Motor Company. DiPonio also will sell a large quantity of antique horse-drawn farm implements, all in working condition, plows, planters, hay rakes, and a pair of Belgium draft horses. The auction will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 22, at 5697 Curtis Road between N. Territorial and Ann Arbor Road in Salem Township. The Whalen Auction Service of Plymouth will conduct the auction.

VIDEO GRANT:

Kevin Schuessler, a Plymouth Canton High graduating senior, has been named this year's recipient of a grant from Christeens Video. He was part of a volunteer production team creating TV shows with an emphasis on local Christian activities.

Kevin has worked for more than four years with Christeens, using remote cameras and the public access studios in Canton and Ann Arbor. "He has been the person I could always depend on, whether operating a camera or taking full charge and directing a show," said Ron Priggee, Christeens producer. Kevin plans on attending Eastern Michigan University in the fall.

Christeens has produced more than 200 programs on Omnicom's channel 15. Youth View is the weekly series featuring interviews and activities nearby. Another weekly series, Off The Wall, makes use of Christian music videos. Anyone interested in joining Christeens may call Priggee at 455-3999.

FREE FOOD:

Gordon Spence, manager of the Danny's Foods supermarket at 250 N. Main, Plymouth, announces that his store is participating in an American Cancer Society campaign which will result in a winner getting a free five-minute shopping spree. Starting June 22 persons may purchase tickets at Danny's Foods locations. Each store will draw a two minute mini-shopping spree with the grand prize of a five-minute spree being drawn at the Dearborn store. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the Cancer Society.

Scout attains Eagle rank

Kevin Kennedy, a young man on the move, has become the first member of his Boy Scout troop to attain the rank of Eagle Scout.

Kennedy, 16, lives in Plymouth Township and belongs to Troop 781 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. He's a sophomore at Redford Catholic Central High School.

Kennedy earned 21 skill merit badges and completed a community service project to gain the Eagle designation. His scoutmaster is Richard McGuire.

Kennedy helped launch Neighborhood Watch programs in Woodlore and Rocker Estates subdivisions for his service project.

That involved surveying residents about their views on crime and whether they wanted such a program, working with the police department to set up an organizational meeting, then publicizing the meeting.

Even though Kennedy has gone as far as a scout can go, he said he continues to stay involved — "to teach younger scouts and bring them up on the trail behind me." He started in the scouting movement at age 12.

Kennedy's parents, Thomas and Janice, have provided encouragement along the way. His siblings — David, Colleen and Kathleen — also were active in scouting.

Painter gains recognition

The finished work, one of the artist's favorites, focuses on the back of the hawk — its head tilted sideways. The reddish light from a setting sun illuminates a field and distant line of trees below, complementing the red-tailed bird.

TO RESEARCH the hawk, Kempainen said, "I read about a veterinarian in Royal Oak who rehabilitates birds. I saved the clip, and called about three months later and asked if he had a red-tail hawk."

The vet did, and agreed to let Kempainen take a photograph from which to paint it.

Months later at a showing of Bateman's work in Hamilton, Ontario, Kempainen got a chance to talk with the artist for a half-hour. He had brought along the red-tail hawk painting, and Bateman critiqued the work, suggesting minor changes.

"I promptly came home and made some of the corrections," he said.

Kempainen was also chosen to join a workshop led by Bateman later this month in Wausau, Wis.

Often, Kempainen's studies begin on Canton's back roads, where he searches out interesting landscapes. Overlooking those landscapes, he often begins paintings — in acrylics or oils — from the back of his van.

"I always have my camera and my binoculars," he said.

While some passersby are just curious, Kempainen recalls an exception. "I had one guy; I was photographing his barn — he chased me off."

THE artist has depicted several Canton barns that have since been razed or burned down.

Displayed in Kempainen's home are some of his portrait paintings, two of his wife and one of a Santa the artist spotted in an Avon catalogue.

"It looked like the perfect Santa Claus," he said.

Because his business, Cal's Sign Co., is busiest in the summer, Kempainen has more time to create art in the winter. This explains why snow patches often turn up in his paintings. He also likes the snow because "it's tough to beat the abstract shapes that are out there."

Kempainen said he's contemplating a move to Northport near Traverse City when the youngest of his three children leaves school, possibly to work full time on his art. One idea he has is to do a series of paintings depicting the Great Lakes.

Senators urge JOA gets public hearing

By Teri Banas
staff writer

A former Detroit Free Press executive editor, speaking before a state Senate panel in Detroit last week, compared a merger between his former employer and the Detroit News to a media monopoly not unlike "a 600-pound gorilla — free of almost any restraint."

Birmingham resident Kurt Luedtke, who's been an outspoken critic of the proposed Joint Operating Agreement between The Detroit Free Press and the Detroit News, predicted the papers could become a "formidable adversary" to suburban newspapers competing for advertising dollars.

"The public hasn't been told enough of what the policies (of the dailies) would be under a JOA," he said when asked to assess a merger's effect on suburban newspaper business.

ROYAL OAK Tribune publisher Jeanne Towar testified Thursday about concerns of "predatory practices" by the Detroit papers if the merger is approved.

When asked by Sen. John Kelly, D-Detroit, if she feared practices might "wipe all independents out of business," she responded: "I do see that as a possibility."

Kelly said the combined dailies could offer a Sunday circulation of 1.3 million based on current circulation figures, providing a more attractive market for regional advertisers.

Towar said that while regional advertising makes up just 15 percent of her local paper's advertising revenue, with "mom and pop-type" businesses accounting for the majority, loss of regional advertising could "very well put us in a downward spiral."

TOWAR, THE only newspaper publisher to testify last week, was among eight witnesses who appeared before the state Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering a bill, offered by Kelly, to ask for federal public hearings on the JOA.

Kelly said he planned this week to introduce a resolution that would have the state Legislature request federal hearings on the merger. Approval of the JOA rests with U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese.

Kelly's proposed legislation originally set up veto powers to be used by the Michigan Attorney General's Office over the JOA. But last week a Wayne State University law professor, Stephen Calkins, dissuaded him from pursuing that course when he testified that would be unconstitutional.

Detroit-area retailer Norman Rosenfeld, owner of the 37-store Sibley shoe chain, said he was concerned that "advertising prices will go up" under a merger. Noting that 85 percent of his advertising expense is in newspapers, he laid out a scenario that, starting with excessive advertising costs, could cause his business to stop expanding and "adding jobs to the state of Michigan."

"Competition is great, and we should try and keep it," he said.

METROPOLITAN DETROIT Magazine editor Kirk Cheyfitz, another former Free Press employee, echoed Luedtke's comments by calling The Detroit Free Press "the most successful failing newspaper in America."

Under the Newspaper Preservation Act of 1970, two papers cannot merge unless one is shown to be

"failing." The dailies have reported that since 1980 they have lost a combined $63 million.

Luedtke said he doesn't believe that criterion is being met in the Free Press' case, however, pointing to its decisions to add 70 editorial positions in recent years, building a riverfront printing plant in Detroit, opening national and international bureaus "as if it's a thriving, money-making newspaper."

He further criticized both papers for keeping their newsstand prices far below national standards. (The Detroit Free Press sells at 20 cents and The Detroit News at 20 cents.)

"A simple five-cent hike would equal $6 million. That's not any small amount of money," he said.

Area reps vote to keep urban grant funds

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll-call votes during the week ending June 6.

HOUSE

UDAG MONEY — By a vote of 93 for and 289 against, the House rejected an amendment to kill the Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) program by denying it fiscal 1987 funding.

This rebuffed President Reagan, who wants to eliminate the politically popular program. UDAG grants, the majority of which have benefited depressed areas of northern cities, provide federal seed money for private projects such as hotels and shopping centers.

Fiscal 1987's UDAG funding level is estimated at $280 million, down from this year's $316 million.

The vote came during debate on a multi-year authorization measure (HR 1) that extends some 50 major housing and community development programs. The bill, carrying a fiscal 1986 price tag of $14.3 billion, remained under debate.

Roll Call Report

Amendment sponsor John Hiler, R-Ind., said UDAG was not "in the national interest" because it has a regional bias that favors a limited number of states and congressional districts.

Nancy Johnson, R-Conn., who opposed the amendment, praised UDAG for uniting government and private sectors in a constructive effort against urban blight.

Members voting yes wanted to kill the UDAG program.

Voting no: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

PUBLIC HOUSING — The House

passed, 223 for and 180 against, an amendment to block virtually all new public housing construction, by diverting money for that purpose to the repair of existing units.

The vote occurred during debate on HR 1 (above), which had earmarked about $860 million for new projects in fiscal 1986. It marked a major shift in House policy toward public housing, because in previous years it almost always voted money for new units. The Senate also is moving to block an enlargement of the public housing stock.

Sponsors said America's public housing inventory is dilapidated, with more than a third of the 1.2 million units needing repairs of $5.000 or more. They said the $860 million would fix 64,000 units but build only 4,600 new units.

Members voting yes supported a policy shift that emphasizes the repair of existing public housing rather than the construction of new units.

Voting yes: Republicans Pursell, Broomfield.

Voting no: Democrats Hertel, Ford and Levin.

HOMELESS SHELTER — By a vote of 242 for and 116 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill in behalf of community activist Mitch Snyder's shelter for homeless people in the District of Columbia.

Snyder, the subject of a recent television movie, has become prominent by fasting to persuade President Reagan to release federal money to shelter Washington's homeless.

The measure (HR 4784) speeds up the planned renovation of a three-story federal property near Capitol Hill that Snyder's group operates for several hundred street people. It gives the D.C. government jurisdiction over the shelter, a precondition of the $5 million renovation, which the city wants to complete before cold weather returns.

Members voting yes wanted to expedite the renovation of the homeless shelter near Capitol Hill.

Voting yes: Hertel, Ford, Levin.
Not voting: Pursell, Broomfield.

THE 'DRY SOCKET' AS A CAUSE OF JOINT PAIN

You may have heard someone complain that their hip or knee pain felt like "dry socket," and express the opinion that the best treatment was to "put a little lubrication into the joint."

What is really happening in such cases is that the cartilage that covers the bones has worn down, and the bones that form the joint are rubbing against each other.

Usually when bone is grinding against bone, debris is released which acts as an irritant to cells lining the joint capsule. The lining cells react by producing increased amounts of joint fluid. The presence of extra fluid, while making walking difficult, acts like a liquid wedge between bones and slows the process of bone rubbing against bone.

At other times, for reasons that are not clear, the lining cells do not produce any extra joint fluid. The result is the feeling of having "a dry socket."

Treatment in such cases focuses on providing pain relief, and keeping the individual active until surgery is necessary. Aspirin is useful because of its effect in stopping pain, and injections are undertaken to dampen the intensity of local inflammation.

GOP seeks to gain McCollough seat

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Republicans intend to add two more state Senate seats to their 20-18 majority Nov. 4.

Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, said GOP targets are the seat being vacated by Democrat Patrick McCollough of Dearborn and Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw.

State Rep. William Runco, R-Dearborn, who is seeking McCollough's slot, served notice last week he'll make senior citizen property tax relief a key issue. Tackling the House leadership, Runco tried unsuccessfully to force a Republican bill out of committee for a floor vote.

ENGLER, in a news conference, called Runco, 32, "outstanding," noting that McCollough, 44, "chose to retire rather than face Runco. He's well organized and off to a good start," Engler said.

Other possible targets, the GOP leader said, are Democratic Sens. Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills, Lana Pollack of Ann Arbor and Mitch Irwin of Sault Ste. Marie.

(Democratic State Chairman Rick Wiener earlier laughed at the suggestion Faxon could be beaten. Wiener said his party would target Republican Sens. Rudy Nichols of Waterford and Kirby Holmes of Utica.

(Nichols and Holmes won special 1984 elections after Democratic senators were recalled over the 1983 income tax increase.)

MINUTES AFTER Engler's news conference, Runco took the House floor to ask that the Taxation Committee be forced to report out a Senate-passed bill cutting senior citizens' homestead property taxes.

His motion failed in a 29-66 vote. Supporting Runco were all area Republicans except Judith Miller of Birmingham, who voted no, and Lyn Bankes of Livonia, who didn't vote. All Democrats voted against him.

"The bill had strong bipartisan support in the Senate," said Runco. "Seniors are especially hurt by the property tax. While they live on fixed incomes, their property taxes keep rising with their valuations."

The bill would apply to persons age 65 or older with homesteads assessed for $65,000 or less. The state would pay the school operating portions of their property taxes, a cost Runco put at $13 million a year.

"It can be paid out of the state surplus," he added.

HOUSE SPEAKER Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, in a rare floor speech, attacked Runco as a politician "who votes yes on spending, no on raising revenue, and hopes more responsible members will figure out how to balance the budget."

"Runco will add his yes votes to the K-12 school aid and community college appropriations, and he'll go back to Dearborn and tell what a great job he's doing," Owen said.

Runco won his House seat in a 1982 upset when he ended the long career of Rep. Lucille McCollough, the senator's mother.

Legg cancels county bid

Michael Legg, the Republican chairman of the 2nd Congressional District, has had the shortest run for county executive, yet.

Proclaiming that he would not be a "sacrificial lamb" for the party, but rather a viable candidate, Legg, a Northville resident, signed up to become a candidate for county executive on the filing deadline recently. Then, three days later he apparently had a change of heart and withdrew from the race on Friday.

The only other GOP on the ballot will be Bob Murphy, a Detroit businessman who is not considered a serious candidate.

Hertel wins Tiger's vote

County exec candidate John Hertel received a well-publicized endorsement recently — this one from Tiger right-fielder Kirk Gibson, now returned from the injured list. Gibson, it seems, lives in county commissioner Hertel's eastside district. His mug can be seen in two larger-than-life billboards located on the eastside and downriver. In this area, the Hertel campaign has fixed its political advertising on area bus stop benches in recent weeks.

Local groups pick Ficano

A Livonia city employees group has announced its backing of Sheriff Robert Ficano in the Wayne County executive's race.

The Livonia Firefighters Association will be supporting Ficano's candidacy, and plans to lobby other Wayne County firefighters' associations behind the sheriff, said Livonia firefighters president Vern Beach.

Beach said "ground work" has been made in other county locals and "the response has been excellent."

Ficano has other labor support, including the Westland Police Officers Association, the American Postal Worker's Union, the Seafarer's International Union, an AFSME local and two UAW locals. Major union groups in the Detroit area have decided among themselves to withhold endorsements in this race.

Other recent endorsements have included Garden City School Board members Timothy Sutton, Ronald Tyskiewicz and Charles Neslund.

A number of downriver Democratic clubs pledged their support, including clubs in Lincoln Park, Allen Park, Riverview and Trenton, and the 16th Congressional Democratic District.

mission last week denied circuit court candidate John A. Murphy's request to print the title of judge before his name on the Aug. 5 county ballot. The other 16 candidates had protested that using the designation would be an unfair advantage.

John Murphy, it seems, wanted to ensure that his name was distinguished from fellow candidate Michael Murphy from Taylor. John Murphy is a Detroit resident and currently serves as a judge in the 35th District Court.

Name mix-up is his concern

Training is offered for punch card voting

Demonstrations of the new punch card system of voting will be held by the Canton Township clerk's office.

The Aug. 5, 1986, primary election will be the first time Canton voters will use the new voting system.

"Canton voters may not be aware of the differences in the Shoup Machine method and the punch card system," said Clerk Linda Chuhran. "Even though a demo unit and an extra election worker will be provided for educational purposes at each precinct on the days of both the primary and general election, classes may still prove to be of great assistance to our residents."

Following are the demonstration sites, dates and times:

- Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, 3-5 p.m. Thursday, July 10, 2-5 p.m. Wednesday, July 16, and 1-3 p.m. Saturday, July 26.
- Fire Station Number Two, 4500 Warren, 1-3 p.m. Saturday, July 26.
- Fire Station Number One, 128 S. Canton Center, 6-9 p.m. Thursday, July 24.

The election will be handled generally the same in all other aspects, Chuhran said. However, some of the precinct boundaries and polling places have been changed, which has affected 6,000 voters.

Voters who have been sent letters explaining that their signature is illegible should try to visit the clerk's office to correct the problem, she said. The signature is important for identifying signatures on petitions and qualifying voters.

Applications are being accepted from residents who are interested in becoming precinct workers in the primary and general elections.

Workers will be needed before the election to help prepare absentee ballots for mailing and to work in the clerk's office the night of the election.

"Because of this and the additional need in the precinct we need to expand our list of workers," Chuhran said. "We anticipate the actual hours spent in the precincts following the polls closing will be significantly shortened by the punch card system."

People who wish to work on the election must be willing to spend a full day at the precinct, be registered voters and residents of Canton unless an exception is made by the clerk.

Additional questions may be answered by calling the election hotline at 397-8151.

Also, seniors 60 years and older will be receiving a letter of application for an absentee ballot.

How Eddie Edgar happened to come to Michigan

(Part I)

The Stroller, whose column used to run on the same page as mine, is no longer with us. He strolled off to greener pastures one day last month. I miss him, especially on Fridays.

Friday is the day the Plymouth Rotary Club meets. I would drop in at the Observer office on that day to chat with Eddie before we both went upstairs in the Mayflower Meeting House for the weekly Rotary meeting.

Eddie would be at his desk, typing with two fingers, under the framed picture of the turtle with the punchline "Consider the turtle; he makes no progress until he sticks his neck out." When I entered he would say, "Sit down a minute, I have something to tell you."

Eddie had a never-ending fund of stories of his experiences with great sports figures of the past; of the years he spent in Detroit trying to gain prestige for bowling; of his early days as a reporter in Pennsylvania. I enjoyed every one of them, and may well have been one of Eddie's best listeners.

I learned that he was born Wilson William Edgar in Catsauqua, Pa., in 1897. He was of Pennsylvania-Dutch and Scotch-Irish descent. His father, William Edgar, managed the town's baseball team and owned Catsauqua's only pool room. Baseball averages were posted on the wall. There was an adjoining six-stool seafood bar. Every morning, young Eddie had to sweep the floor, sluck the oysters, and wash the clams needed for the day's business. His mother did the cooking. I learned about the pies she used to bake, and that you could buy a whole pie from her for less than a little sliver costs today.

HIS FATHER TAUGHT him how to use a pool cue.

At the tender age of 9, Eddie, who had to stand on a box to reach the table, was taking on all comers at pool. At 12, he won the Lehigh Valley pool championship.

Then, when Eddie was 13, his father died of TB. His mother tried to carry on the business but had to give up after two years. Eddie had to quit school after three months of his past and present

freshman year to help support his mother and sisters.

His mother told him he should learn a trade. He became an apprentice machinist in the Atlas Portland Cement Co. at Northampton, Pa., at 55 cents a day, of which he had to pay 10 cents for carfare. After finishing four years apprenticeship, he became a master mechanic at Bethlehem Steel Works during World War I.

Later, he became night superintendent at the Lehigh Car Wheel and Axle Works. But he was not happy in his work. After one particularly trying day, he wrote out his resignation, packed his tool chest, opened a plant window and pitched it into the Lehigh River. He said he never stepped into a machine shop again.

the Golden Age of Sports.

He got his first big story in 1919 with an impromptu interview with William Jennings Bryan. Eddie met the silver-tongued orator on a railroad platform. Bryan said he never gave interviews because he was too often misquoted. Always persistent, Eddie said he might lose his job if he didn't get a story. Bryan took pity on the young man and wrote a three-page statement in long hand for him, saying that it had to be printed verbatim. Eddie rushed back to the paper and the story covered the front page.

EDDIE GOT HIS second break a few weeks later during the 1920 presidential campaign.

Sent to interview Boise Penrose, the Mr. GOP of his time, Eddie was alone with the powerful politician in an Allentown Hospital room when Penrose placed the phone call that made Warren Harding president of the United States. "Better hurry back to your office," Penrose told Eddie. "Harding will be nominated before your paper goes to press."

Eddie's move to Michigan from the Allentown Record came about because he happened to meet Edgar Guest. The poet of the Detroit Free Press was booked to lecture in Allentown. Eddie attended and spoke to Guest afterward. Guest was impressed and told him a metropolitan daily would be interested in his services. Encouraged, Eddie applied to the Free Press for a job.

When his mother heard that her son was contemplating a move to the big city she exacted a promise from him. He was never to drink hard liquor. He made the promise — and kept it for the rest of his life.

On Guest's recommendation, Harry Bullion, the paper's sports editor, gave Eddie a job as sportswriter at what Eddie thought was a huge salary, $2,500 a year. But it was on a two-weeks trial basis. A quarter of a century later when Eddie was leaving the Free Press, John S. Knight asked him why he was quitting. Eddie quipped: "I've been waiting for someone to tell me my two weeks are up." His real reason will come out later.

Little demons invading sanctity of the home

"They're ba-ack . . ."
No, not those demons from "Poltergeist." I'm referring to those little demons who go to school five days a week. Their daily departures give those of us left at home time for blessed peace and enables us to regroup our sanity.

Ah, but not for long — once again summer vacation is breathing down our necks and I, for one, am not at all thrilled about it.

Ever since my two sons, ages 10 and 11, have taken up their relatively new hobby of despising each other, they're not exactly a joy to be around.

They walk in the door from school arguing and seldom stop until slumber mercifully shuts them up late into the evening. They argue over friends, possessions, territories — you name it! One says, "It's black!" The other says, "It's white," and then kicks him.

It must be a phase. They used to get along so well. But, as with most of their juvenile phases, I'm finding this one particularly hard to survive.

SOMEWHERE STAMPED on my forehead must be the word "mediator," or perhaps "referee." Why else would they feel so obliged to demand that I make the decisions as to who is right or who has been woefully wronged about every 10 or 15 minutes.

Aside from the fact that the debates make relatively little sense to me in the first place, I have also explained to them both quite plainly that I just don't care.

I don't care whose Matchbox car that is, or if they did trade it back in December of '85. I don't care if he wrinkled your paper or called you a name.

I don't need these news updates on their sibling tragedies.

I have my own problems to worry about. Like the fact that summer has arrived and I've just put on a pair of shorts, looked down at myself, and saw two white whales. They are my legs. Now that's something to get upset about.

STALE BREAD will clean greasy fingerprints from wallpaper. Use soft stale bread and rub in even vertical strokes. If you are going to have a garage or basement sale, use an Observer & Eccentric Classified ad for maximum results.

TO RESTORE rancid butter, melt butter and skim it. Put a piece of fresh toast in it to absorb odor. Works great! Have something you no longer use? Sell it with an Observer & Eccentric Classified Ad.

SWEETS FOR THE HEART

Safflower Oil Helps Cut Cholesterol, Calories In Favorite Desserts

Luscious ice cream, cakes and pies don't have to be off limits if you're on a heart-healthy diet. A variety of sweet treats that are truly rich and delicious tasting can be made simply by substituting healthful ingredients for harmful ones.

Eliminating butter, heavy cream, whole eggs and milk from desserts can virtually remove cholesterol and saturated fat while cutting calories significantly. The use of safflower oil is another stratagem. Its high polyunsaturated content helps reduce cholesterol and in comparison to shortening, it reduces calories in the chocolate-orange cake and in the pie crust. For body and flavor the cake uses egg whites and cocoa instead of fat-filled butter and chocolate. The "creaminess" in the strawberry pie and vanilla ice cream comes from nonfat dry milk rather than heavy cream.

Next time you're aching for a sweet that's rich and forbidden, try one of these ideas. It will do your heart good!

CHOCOLATE-ORANGE CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup safflower oil
- 4 egg whites
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup water

Orange Whipped Topping (recipe follows)

Preheat oven to 350°F. Oil two 9-inch round cake pans; line with wax paper and oil again; set aside.

In a large bowl combine sugar, safflower oil, egg whites and orange peel; mix well; set aside. In a medium bowl mix together flour, cocoa, baking powder, baking soda and salt. In a measuring cup combine orange juice and water. Alternately add dry ingredients with orange juice and water to egg mixture; beat until blended. Pour into prepared pans. Bake until a cake tester inserted in the center of the cakes comes out clean, 25 to 30 minutes. Cool for 5 minutes in pans. Turn out of pans onto wire racks. Cool completely. Spread one layer with half of the Orange Whipped Topping. Top with second layer; spread with remaining topping. Garnish with small fresh leaves and an orange twist, if desired.

YIELD: 12 portions
Per portion (Chocolate-Orange Cake with Orange Whipped Topping): 293 calories, less than 1 mg cholesterol.

ORANGE WHIPPED TOPPING

- 3/4 cup chilled orange juice, divided
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
- 1/8 teaspoon almond extract
- 3 tablespoons safflower oil

Chill the small bowl and beaters of an electric mixer. Meanwhile, in a small saucepan combine 1/4 cup of the orange juice and sugar; sprinkle with gelatin. Soften for 1 minute. Stir over medium heat until sugar and gelatin are dissolved. Cool to room temperature. Place nonfat dry milk, almond extract and remaining 1/2 cup orange juice in the chilled bowl. Beat at high speed until soft peaks form. Slowly add gelatin mixture; beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Slowly beat in safflower oil. Cover and refrigerate until ready to use, stirring just before using.

YIELD: 3 cups
Per 1/4 cup portion: 56 calories, less than 1 mg cholesterol.

STRAWBERRY "CREAM" PIE

- Whole Wheat Pastry (recipe follows)
- 1 pint fresh strawberries, divided
- 1 1/4 cups chilled orange juice, divided
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 3 tablespoons safflower oil

Roll Whole Wheat Pastry between 2 sheets of wax paper into an 11- or 12-inch circle. Peel off top sheet of paper; invert pastry into an 8- or 9-inch pie pan; peel off remaining paper. Fit into pan. Flute edges and prick with fork tines. Refrigerate for 1 hour. Preheat oven to 400°F. Place a 12-inch square of aluminum foil on pastry; fill with dried beans or rice. Bake for 10 minutes. Remove foil and beans. Bake until firm, about 5 minutes. Set aside to cool. Hull strawberries. Place in the container of an electric blender. Whirl until smooth, stopping and scraping down sides of container if needed (makes 1-1/4 cups); set aside. Chill the small bowl and beaters of an electric mixer. Meanwhile, in a small saucepan combine 3/4 cup of the orange juice and sugar; sprinkle with gelatin. Soften for 1 minute. Stir over medium heat until sugar and gelatin are dissolved. Cool to room temperature. Place nonfat dry milk and remaining 1/2 cup orange juice in the chilled bowl. Beat at high speed until soft peaks form.

Slowly add gelatin mixture and orange peel; beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Slowly beat in safflower oil. Fold in pureed strawberries. Refrigerate until mixture mounds on a spoon. Turn into baked pie shell. Refrigerate until firm. Garnish with strawberry halves and mint leaves, if desired. (Strawberry "Cream" filling can be spooned into dessert glasses instead of a pie shell.)

YIELD: 8 portions
Per portion (Strawberry "Cream" with Whole Wheat Pastry): 202 calories, less than 1 mg cholesterol.
Per portion (Strawberry "Cream" without Whole Wheat Pastry): 103 calories, less than 1 mg cholesterol.

WHOLE WHEAT PASTRY

- 1/2 cup unsifted whole wheat flour
- 1/2 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons safflower oil
- 3 1/2 tablespoons warm water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

In a medium bowl mix whole wheat and all-purpose flours and salt. Make a well. Combine safflower oil, water and lemon juice. Pour into well. Stir just until flour is moistened, adding more water if needed. Form into a ball. YIELD: Pastry for 8- or 9-inch pie shell
Per portion (one-eighth recipe): 99 calories, 0 cholesterol.

VANILLA ICE "CREAM"

- 1 cup water
- 3/4 cup nonfat dry milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup safflower oil
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1/16 teaspoon salt (optional)

In a large bowl combine water, nonfat dry milk, sugar, safflower oil, vanilla and salt. Beat with an electric mixer at medium speed until milk dissolves and mixture is thick and foamy. Pour into a shallow baking pan; freeze until almost firm, stirring occasionally. Spoon into a medium bowl; beat with an electric mixer until smooth. Pack into a plastic container. Cover and freeze until firm. Serve garnished with fruit such as sliced kiwi, grapes and orange sections, if desired. YIELD: 8 portions
1 quart

Variation: To make Chocolate Swirl Ice "Cream" combine in a small saucepan 3 tablespoons each unsweetened cocoa and sugar, 2 tablespoons water and 1 tablespoon safflower oil. Cook and stir until sugar dissolves, about 2 minutes. Cool. Stir into firm Vanilla Ice "Cream"; swirl with a spoon to marleize. Freeze until firm. Vanilla Ice "Cream"
Per 1/2 cup portion: 109 calories, 1 mg cholesterol.
Chocolate Swirl Ice "Cream"
Per 1/2 cup portion: 147 calories, 1 mg cholesterol.

Upside down cake gets thumbs up for flavor

Traditional upside down cake is a homestyle dessert prepared by arranging fruit in the bottom of a pan then spooning cake batter over the top before baking. As soon as the cake is removed from the oven and cooled, it is turned upside down so the moist sweet filling becomes the top of the dessert.

The fruit mixture and juice in the filling form a glaze with the other ingredients and keep the cake especially moist.

The first mention of upside down cake in print appeared in the 1930s, although culinary authorities suggest versions of the recipe have been around much longer.

According to food history books tracing the earliest cake crumbs of this tasty dessert, the very first upside down cakes were probably prepared by the early settlers. Called "skillet" cakes, these upside down cakes or desserts were "baked" in covered skillets over the open fire since many homes did not have ovens.

SUPPOSEDLY, THE cooking technique used for making upside down cakes resembled the method for preparing main dish "cakes" ground beef mixtures prepared in a skillet with a cornbread filling.

A simplified version of the traditional upside down dessert is Pineapple Upside Down Coffeecake. Since the recipe calls for refrigerated biscuits and just three other ingredients, you can enjoy the taste of upside down cake without all the work.

This attractive coffeecake is a perfect way to add warmth to a leisurely weekend breakfast or brunch. To prepare this lovely coffeecake, pineapple slices and cherries are attractively arranged in the bottom of a cake pan, then covered with separated refrigerated biscuits. A heated brown sugar and pineapple juice mixture is then spooned over the biscuit layer before baking.

This fruit topped coffeecake is inverted before serving to show off the lovely pinwheel pattern created by the pineapple slices and cherries. Pineapple Upside Down Coffee Cake is delightful served either warm or cold.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN COFFEECAKE

- 8 1/2 oz. can pineapple slices, well-drained and halved (reserve liquid)
- 8 maraschino cherries
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 Tbsp. reserved pineapple liquid
- 7.5 oz. can refrigerated buttermilk biscuits

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Arrange pineapple slices and cherries in ungreased 8- or 9-inch round pan. In small saucepan, heat brown sugar and pineapple liquid to boiling, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

Separate dough into 10 biscuits, place over pineapple slices. Pour brown sugar mixture over biscuits in pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 17 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 10 minutes in pan. Invert onto serving plate. Serve warm or cool. 8 servings.

Tip: To reheat, wrap loosely in foil, heat at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

Snap up cookouts

Some grill side go alongs are so much a part of the cookout scene that they'd be sorely missed if they weren't among the offerings. One of the favorite is bean salad, with nearly every cook's recipe boasting a special "secret" ingredient addition.

Snappy Bean Salad will complement all your cookout fare.

SNAPPY BEAN SALAD

1 16-oz. can kidney beans, drained, rinsed

- 1 16-oz. can great Northern or pinto beans, drained, rinsed
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise-type salad dressing
- 1/2 cup celery slices
- 1/2 cup onion rings
- 4 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
- 2 Tbsp. chopped pimiento
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- Dash of pepper
- Few drops hot pepper sauce

Combine ingredients, mix lightly. Chill. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Salmon fixes in less than 30 minutes

Skillet entrees that are quick to prepare are a popular choice with couples when both work outside the home. Designed for two, Salmon Skillet Supper is a great all-in-one entree that is table-ready in less than 30 minutes.

For this tasty and nourishing main meal entree, the vegetables and Alaska salmon steak are cooked in the same skillet. The salmon should be ready to serve after cooking about 10 minutes per inch of thickness, measured at the thickest part.

The icy waters off the coast of Alaska produce an excellent supply of salmon and it is now readily available throughout the country. Individual steaks or fillets are ideal for one- and two-member households. For large gatherings, Alaska salmon can also be purchased whole or cut into roasts.

This succulent seafood is an excellent choice for today's busy generation because it cooks quickly by baking, broiling, poaching, frying, steaming, barbecuing or microwaving.

SALMON SKILLET SUPPER

- 2 boiling potatoes, sliced
- 1 onion, thinly sliced
- 3 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- Salt and pepper
- 1 1/2 cups French-cut green beans or zucchini strips
- 2 (about 6 oz. each) Alaska salmon steaks, thawed if necessary
- 1/4 tsp. dill weed
- 2 Tbsp. dry white wine or water
- Lemon or lime wedges

Saute potatoes and onion in oil 2 minutes. Add 1/2 teaspoon each salt and pepper. Cover and cook over medium heat 5 minutes; add green beans and cook 5 minutes longer or until potatoes are partially tender. Season salmon with salt and pepper; add to skillet with dill weed and wine. Cover and cook 10 minutes per inch of thickness of salmon or until salmon flakes when tested with a fork and vegetables are tender. Squeeze lemon juice over salmon before serving. Makes 2 servings.

Seafood for sandwiches

Sandwiches certainly can be mundane and dull... but they needn't be.

For a change of pace and variety in your sandwich planning, try Pierside Sandwiches. This unique recipe lets you choose the seafood you desire and the bread base you like best. This recipe can be different each time you make it.

A simple but savory mixture of seafood of your choice, sharp Cheddar cheese, creamy mayonnaise flavored with dill and accented with sliced black olives tops mellow avocado slices.

This flavorful combination can be stuffed into pita bread rounds or spread on thick slices of buttered French bread before popping in the oven to heat and melt the cheese.

PIERSIDE SANDWICHES

- 1/2 lb. crab meat, shrimp or tuna
- 1/2 lb. grated Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 tsp. dill weed
- 1 cup pitted black olives, sliced
- 1 avocado, thinly sliced
- Pita bread halves or French bread slices

Combine seafood, cheese, mayonnaise, dill weed and olives; spoon into pita bread halves or top thick slices of buttered French bread along with avocado slices. Wrap pita bread in foil, bake until hot. Broil French bread sandwiches until bubbly. Makes 8 servings.

Festival of Light barbecue heralds summer

Few of us need an excuse for a party, but summer provides the perfect reason to invite friends and family for a backyard barbecue bash.

Just as Memorial Day heralds the beginning of summer in this country, the Festival of Light was a celebration of summer's lengthening days in ancient China. The holiday was observed with fireworks, brightly lit lanterns paraded through the streets, and, of course, good food.

For your Festival of Light celebration, try Special Teriyaki Ribs marinated in a mixture of teriyaki sauce, sherry, ginger and sesame oil with a touch of sugar. The marinade also is used as a basting sauce as the ribs grill to perfection.

Barbecued chicken takes on the flavor of Peking duck when brushed with a blend of plum sauce, soy sauce, butter and a touch of garlic. The same sauce should be passed at the table to serve with the Plum Good BBQ Chicken.

Round out your menu with Patio Rice Salad, a side dish befitting an emperor. Rice, bean sprouts and other vegetables are tossed in a rice vinegar dressing flavored with soy sauce and Chinese hot mustard.

PATIO RICE SALAD

- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
 - 1/2 cup rice vinegar
 - 2 Tbsp. soy sauce
 - 1 Tbsp. sugar
 - 1 Tbsp. Chinese hot mustard
 - 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
 - 1/2 tsp. pepper
 - 4 cups cooked rice, chilled
 - 1 (14-oz.) can bean sprouts, drained
 - 1 cup sliced celery
 - 1 cup sliced radishes
 - 1/2 cup chopped green onions
- In large bowl, whisk together oil, vinegar, soy sauce, sugar, mustard, garlic and pepper. Add remaining ingredients to dressing and toss to coat. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Top with additional soy sauce if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PLUM GOOD BBQ CHICKEN

- 1 cup plum sauce
 - 1/2 cup butter, melted
 - 2 Tbsp. soy sauce
 - 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
 - 1 (2 to 3 lb.) chicken, cut into pieces
- In small bowl, blend together plum sauce, butter, soy sauce and garlic, remove 1/4 cup sauce; set aside. Cook chicken pieces on grill over medium-low heat 30 to 40 minutes, turning occasionally. Continue cooking chicken 30 minutes longer, basting frequently with remaining 1/4 cup sauce. Adjust heat as needed to prevent flaming or burning. When chicken is done, top with reserved 1/4 cup sauce, remove from heat and serve immediately. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SPECIAL TERIYAKI RIBS

3/4 cup teriyaki sauce

3 Tbsp. sherry wine or water
2 Tbsp. oil
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tsp. brown sugar
1/4 tsp. minced ginger root
1/4 tsp. sesame oil
3 to 4 lbs. pork ribs

In large baking pan, combine all ingredients except ribs, mix well. Add ribs to marinade and coat thoroughly. Refrigerate 2 to 4 hours, spooning marinade over occasionally. Barbecue ribs over medium-low heat 1 hour. Turn frequently and baste with remaining marinade. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Heart's delight Chinese appetizers are pleasing

Appetizer parties are one of the more popular forms of entertaining, particularly in summer when eating light is preferred. Whatever the setting — city parlor, the garden, at poolside, or on a terrace — as long as there's a choice of cool, refreshing drinks and an array of palate-provoking appetizers, this style of entertaining is perfect for friends and business associates.

Try a dim sum party in honor of the Festival of Light, an ancient holiday celebrating the longer days of spring and summer. Dim sum means "heart's delight" or "touch the heart" because, say the Chinese, these treats are meant to be enjoyed "whenever your heart desires."

Traditionally, dim sum dumplings and other snack treats are served in Canton tea houses as a light lunch. Bite-size, they're the perfect pick-up food choice for an appetizer party.

Tea house choices which adapt well to a Festival of Light appetizer party are Turkey Shao Mai and Fried Dumplings. Adapted for American kitchens, these dim sum tidbits should be kept warm in a chafing dish or on a warming tray, though guests will probably gobble them up before they have a chance to get cold.

FRIED DUMPLINGS

- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 lb. ground pork
- 1 (8-oz.) can bamboo shoots, drained and chopped
- 1/4 cup each chopped mushrooms and green onions
- 2 Tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 Tbsp. sesame oil
- 1 tsp. minced ginger root

Place flour in large bowl; add boiling water and mix well. Add cold water and knead dough with hand until thoroughly mixed. Cover and let stand 15 minutes. In large bowl, mix together remaining ingredients until thoroughly blended. Turn dough onto floured board and knead again until smooth (approximately 10 times). Using your hands roll dough into cylinder about 1 1/4 inches wide. Cut into about 30 pieces 1/2-inch thick. Roll each piece out then to a 3-inch pancake. Place 1 tablespoon filling in center of each pancake and fold into half circle to enclose. Pinch edges of dumpling together to seal. Heat 2 tablespoons oil in large fry pan. Arrange dumplings in single layer on bottom. Fry over medium-high heat until golden brown on bottom. Add 1/2 cup water, cover pan, and cook until water has been absorbed, about 15 minutes. Serve hot with sauces. Makes 30 dumplings.

TURKEY SHAO MAI

- 1 lb. ground turkey or other ground meat
 - 1 (8-oz.) can sliced water chestnuts, drained and chopped
 - 1/4 cup each chopped mushrooms and green onions
 - 2 Tbsp. soy sauce
 - 1 Tbsp. sesame oil
 - 1/2 tsp. Chinese hot mustard
 - 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
 - 1/2 tsp. black pepper
 - 1 (12-oz.) pkg. won ton wrappers
- In medium bowl, mix all ingredients, except won ton wrappers, until well blended. Cover won ton wrappers with damp towel to keep moist. Place about 1 tablespoon filling in center of each won ton wrapper. Press and pleat sides of skin up around filling. Wrap your finger and thumb around dumpling just below pleats and flatten top and bottom to secure. Keep moist if not cooking immediately. Brush steamer with a little oil. Place Shao Mai in steamer allowing enough room around sides for steam to circulate. Cover and steam 10 minutes or until meat is cooked. Serve hot with plum sauce, sweet & sour sauce, soy sauce or hot mustard. Makes approximately 40.

Salsa perks up burgers

One of the most popular regional cooking styles is the cooking of the American Southwest. In fact, it sometimes appears that we are having a love affair with the chili pepper.

But not everyone enjoys extremely spicy foods. Some of us prefer just a hint of hotness gentled by other flavors. The Hamburgers with Salsa suggested here are a quick, easy way to savor Southwestern-style cooking. And because they are made with a salt alternative, they are low in sodium.

HAMBURGERS WITH SALSA

- 6 plum tomatoes, peeled (about 12 oz.)
- 1 can (16 oz.) plum tomatoes, halved and well drained

- 4 sprigs fresh cilantro or flat leaf parsley
 - 3 scallions, chopped
 - 1 1/2 Tbsp. fresh lemon or lime juice
 - 1/4 tsp. salt alternative
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - 4 dashes hot pepper sauce, optional
- Chili Burgers (directions follow)

In food processor, combine first 7 ingredients. Process until chunky, not smooth, set aside. Cook burgers as desired, about 5 minutes per side for rare. Serve salsa with burgers. Makes 4 servings.

CHILI BURGERS Thoroughly combine 1 1/2 pounds ground beef, 1/2 teaspoon chili powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt alternative and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Shape into burgers and cook as desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pie has Southern charm

Southern hospitality begins at breakfast. The region is justly known for its fine food, served with style.

To give your table a bit of Dixie charm, make an Orange-Oatmeal Breakfast Pie and watch the appreciative smiles.

Orange juice, oatmeal, milk and eggs combine to make a pie that is light in texture while robust enough to see you through the morning.

This Southern charmer rates four stars for taste, nutrition and attractiveness. For family and friends, it's a breakfast treat.

ORANGE-OATMEAL BREAKFAST PIE

- 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry crust
- 3 large eggs, lightly beaten
- 3/4 cup evaporated milk
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup uncooked oatmeal, quick-cooking or old-fashioned
- 6 Tbsp. sugar

Schooldays good for laughs this summer

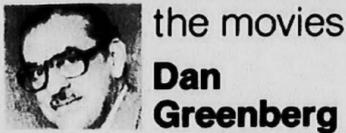

Ferris Bueller (Matthew Broderick) connives to escape while Thornton Melon (Rodney Dangerfield) buys his way "Back to School" (PG-13). "Ferris Bueller's Day Off" (also PG-13) wouldn't have been necessary if only Ferris enjoyed school a la Dangerfield.

If Dangerfield "U" were open to all undergraduates, there would be no drop-outs. On the other hand, if skipping school were as much fun as Ferris and his friends had, truancy would be the nation's number one problem.

In both cases, audiences benefit as Hollywood's vacation films turn their attention back to school days, with two well done vehicles packed with good humor and pleasant characters.

"Ferris Bueller's Day Off" opens as he fools his parents, Katie (Cindy Pickett) and Tom Bueller (Lyman Ward). They fall for his fake illness. Not only is Ferris a great con artist, but they're both preoccupied with their own affairs — Katie is about to close a real-estate deal while Tom is selling a major ad campaign. Only sister Jeanie (Jennifer Grey) realizes Ferris is malingering.

High school dean of students Ed Rooney (Jeffrey Jones) suspects, but can't prove, Ferris is skipping school. Jones screws up his face to the movies

Dan Greenberg

propel his determined but whacky chase of Ferris the Truant.

The dean is aided and abetted by his nutty secretary (Eddie McClurg) whose innocent, round pixie face belies the devilish glee that lurks in her heart. Her softly muttered comments, in counterpoint to Rooney's resolute air and firm attitude, are extremely funny.

MCCLURG ALSO appears as Rodney Dangerfield's secretary, although in a much abbreviated role. In "Ferris Bueller" she shines with seemingly innocent comments about Ed Rooney's attempts to catch Ferris. Excellent supporting roles by McClurg, and others, greatly enrich both films.

While Rooney is self-destructing in his obsessive and very funny pursuit of Ferris, our hero cons his hypochondriacal buddy, Cameron Frye (Alan Ruck), into a madcap day driving the classic Ferrari that Cameron's dad had lovingly restored.

Ferris and Cameron finesse Rooney who excuses Ferris' girl, Sloane Peterson (Mia Sara), to attend her grandmother's funeral. She joins the boys in an exciting day on the town.

As they tour the city, we're treated to interesting aerial views of Chicago's Loop, a viewpoint seldom seen. The upper levels of skyscrapers are hidden from the streets but those buildings have intriguing architectural features. Panoramic views of the contrasts between old and new buildings reinforce the film's age/youth theme and the film's quality is enhanced by this expensive footage of unusual scenery.

Ferris, Sloane and Cameron have an exciting day, certainly more enjoyable than boring classes. The film works well and amuses us all because the satire of adults/teachers/authority so common in "youth films" today is done realistically and pleasantly.

Let's face it, there are boring teachers and preoccupied, overly indulgent parents, as well as indifferent ones. The best satire makes us laugh and helps us understand our foibles. In other words, have a good laugh at your own expense and learn what it means to be human.

The satire is cleverly drawn without ridicule and focuses on teenagers as well as adults. Sister Jeanie is as obsessed with her brother and his high jinks as is Dean Rooney. With great comic style, the dean is defeated and Jeanie meets a druggie, neatly portrayed by Charlie Sheen, who "cures" her addictive brother-hate.

"BACK TO SCHOOL" features Rodney Dangerfield as millionaire entrepreneur Thornton Melon, who never went to college, is widowed, divorced and faced with a troubled son, Jason (Keith Gordon). Jason attends college but is not a great athlete, has no social life, is doing poorly in class but writes great "Freshman-Fiction" letters.

Thornton decides to attend college and buoy up his son's spirits and records. Thornton has no high school transcript, just lots of money, so the dean (Ned Beatty) figures a new Bus-Ad School is the appropriate price of admission.

The business school dean, Philip Barbay (Paxton Whitehead), a gentleman with a marvelous sneer, a facial expression fixed in place from smelling sour fruit, has other ideas. His discomfiture is heightened when his paramour, literature professor Diane Turner (Sally Kellerman), takes a liking to Thornton.

Jason is also uncomfortable as his father spends money left and right, thus making college an entirely new experience. Jason's only friend is a clever satire of freshman Marxism, Derek (Robert Downey Jr.), complete with punk hair and a firm belief that Karl Marx wrote "Communist Chicks in Bondage."

Burt Young plays Thornton's chauffeur/bodyguard, Lou, with the same uncouth appeal that characterized his role as Rocky's brother-in-law. In fact, "Back to School" is filled with a number of nifty characterizations that offset the Rodney Dangerfield persona, which only occasionally overwhelms the good-spirited proceedings. As long as Dangerfield plays Melon, he gets my respect. Only when Dangerfield surfaces do things get sticky.

There's a little bit of kid in every adult, and vice versa, so these two well-done, realistic satires ought to please every audience with their good humor, pleasant entertainment and mild swipes at all our foibles.

Matthew Broderick (at wheel) as Ferris Bueller, Mia Sara as Sloan Peterson and Alan Ruck as Cameron Frye tool around town in his dad's Ferrari in "Ferris Bueller's Day Off," when they skip high school classes.

Sally Kellerman as Lit. Prof. Diane Turner and Rodney Dangerfield as millionaire Thornton Melon become friends on the college campus in "Back to School."

Talent, work are honored

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has awarded several scholarships to outstanding students.

The winner of this year's Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship for the Performing Arts was Andrew Dahlke, a Plymouth Canton High School senior who was honored for his saxophone performance. Dahlke has been accepted at the University of Michigan where he will study music.

The Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship was established in 1983 by her friends in honor of her contributions to the community. The $500 award is given to an individual who wishes to pursue a career in the performing arts.

Applicants were judged on the basis of talent rather than need. Members of the Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship committee were: Carol Davis, chairwoman, Joanne Hulce, Gae McCord and Judy Slade.

The Joanne Winkelman Hulce Award, which was established to honor the founder of the Plymouth Community Arts Council, also went to Andrew Dahlke.

Competition for the $750 award was open to graduating seniors who have displayed exceptional ability in an artistic field.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS for the Joanne Winkelman Hulce Award were Brenda Krachenberg, chairwoman, and Mary E. Smith, co-chairwoman.

The Jeanet M. Allison Memorial Scholarship for Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp had a total of $1,000 available this year. The money is for the use of students in grades seven through 12 who will attend the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

The scholarship fund was established in memory of Jeanet M. Allison, a member and patron of the Plymouth Community Arts Council. A total of $500 was contributed by the Plymouth Community Arts Council and was matched by Blue Lake.

The scholarships were offered in art, dance, music and theater. Applicants were judged on the basis of talent, interest and neatness.

Winners of the award were: Lán Riley, Jim Gross, Nina Riley, Eileen Weath, Lawrence Gibert, Danielle Malquist, Ann Underwood and Jennifer Harris. Honorable mention went to Holly Ciofani and Christina Trout.

Dotis Chatterley was chairwoman for the Jeanet M. Allison Memorial Scholarship. Judges for the Hulce and Allison awards were: Barbara Bray, Chris Hoeprich, Brenda Krachenberg, Mark Thrasher, Michelle Wolf, Joan Claeys and Mary E. Smith.

Fathers

They deserve their own day

By Julie Brown
staff writer

AT LEAST one group of local dads can count on a special Father's Day celebration this year.

The preschoolers in the Kreatives class, offered by the Plymouth Community Family YMCA, agreed that their dads deserve a special day of their own.

The youngsters took some time Friday morning to discuss their plans for Father's Day. Bonnie Graham, the preschool teacher, got things started during the session at the First United Methodist Church in Plymouth.

"Sunday is what day? Does anybody know what day it is?" The teacher's questions drew a quick response from the youngsters gathered around the piano bench.

The preschoolers pointed out that dads sometimes have to be tough guys in handing out disciplinary measures. Graham reminded them that those measures aren't always unreasonable ones.

"Sometimes you children deserve for your dads to be mad, right?"

ON A MORE upbeat note, the gifts the youngsters thought would be right for Father's Day were varied. Brandon Callop, 3, thought his dad could use some wheels.

"I'd buy a car for Father's Day," Brandon told the others. "A little one."

Although the car would be a small one, it would nevertheless run just fine.

"A real one," Brandon said of the car. "My dad's got a real one already."

Allison Mills, who is 3½, said she had bought a hammock for her dad. She wasn't sure whether he should share the hammock with the rest of the family or keep it all to himself.

Clothing was also one possible gift item for Father's Day.

"I think I should get him some pajamas, cause he never has none," said C.J. Hill, who is 4.

Kimberly Burns, 3, wasn't quite sure what her dad would like. She opted for the kitchen items she was using while working with Play Dough — a toy mixer and a rolling pin.

During the Friday session at the First United Methodist Church, youngsters in the YMCA class also made Father's Day cards for their dads.

The cards, with a balloon design all set for coloring, carried the message "Thank you bunches."

THE CHILDREN cut out appropriate pictures and printed messages from catalogs and magazines, and then glued them to the cards to add a special touch.

A handmade card is also a super gift for Father's Day.

Becky Schneider, who is 3½, concentrated on making her colorful card just perfect for Father's Day. She signed the card with her first name, and then copied the word "love," following the teacher's printed example from a newspaper covering the work table.

"That spells love," Graham, the teacher, told Becky. "And your dad's going to know you wrote the whole thing yourself."

Becky hadn't made any major plans for Father's Day.

"No, because I'm going on vacation today, to my grandma's."

Becky was, however, looking forward to giving her "Thank you bunches" card to her dad.

"I'm going to give it to him when he comes home from work."

A hammock's the ideal Father's Day gift, according to Allison Mills.

Kimberly Burns makes sure her card is a colorful one. Kimberly and the other youngsters in the Plymouth Community Family YMCA program spent part of Friday morning preparing for Father's Day.

Musicians win scholarships

Winners of the 1986 String Scholarships were announced at the annual potluck dinner meeting of the Plymouth Symphony Society. The total amount awarded was $725.

The Rotary Foundation of Plymouth joined in by contributing $100 to the fund, which was split between the top two winners.

Eligible students are in grades six through 12. They must be from the Plymouth-Canton Community School district or the Plymouth-Canton community. Those who play in or have parents who play in the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra also are eligible.

Violinist Debby Butler received

$100 for the Russell Isbister Scholarship and $50 from the Plymouth Rotary Club. Butler is a seventh grader at Novi Middle School South.

Cellist Alicia Rowe received $100 for the Frances Lang Scholarship and $50 from the Plymouth Rotary Club. Rowe is an eighth grader at Southfield Christian School.

Other students who were honored were: Matthew Butler, cellist, $75; Pamela Butler, violinist, $75; Teresa Min, violinist, $75; Leslie Capozzoli, violinist, $75; and Daniel Stacey, violinist, $50; Danielle Walquist, violinist, $25; Jim Gross, violinist, $25; and Frances Chang, violinist, $25.

Winners selected

Winners have been chosen in the "monster egg" treasure hunt, held recently to promote the Peter Rockwell play sculpture project in local schools.

The activity was sponsored by the Play Sculpture Foundation. Names of the winners were chosen from among those of finalists during a "Family Day" program Saturday, May 31, at Plymouth Township Park.

Jane Darby won the first prize, a monster egg created by Peter Rockwell. The runners-up were Jason Secord, Andy Newland, Patrick Newland, Heather Pelley and John Murray.

In the treasure hunt, Plymouth-Canton children looked for "monster eggs" hidden in local store windows.

DR. DESMOND JOHNSON OF SLOAN KETTERING CANCER INSTITUTE REPORTS: "Vertebral Subluxations cause changes in normal body function."

A Vertebral Subluxation is a spinal vertebrae that is twisted out of alignment. This then pinches spinal nerve bundles which exit between the vertebrae (see picture below). Because of this, nerve signals from the brain are blocked; this blockage causes abnormal function of cells, tissues and organs. Abnormal function eventually leads to disease, sickness and many other symptoms.

Vertebral Subluxations are eliminated by chiropractic adjustments. Modern diagnosis, instrumentation & light adjusting methods are always used to eliminate the cause (the vertebral subluxation) of the problem as quickly as possible.

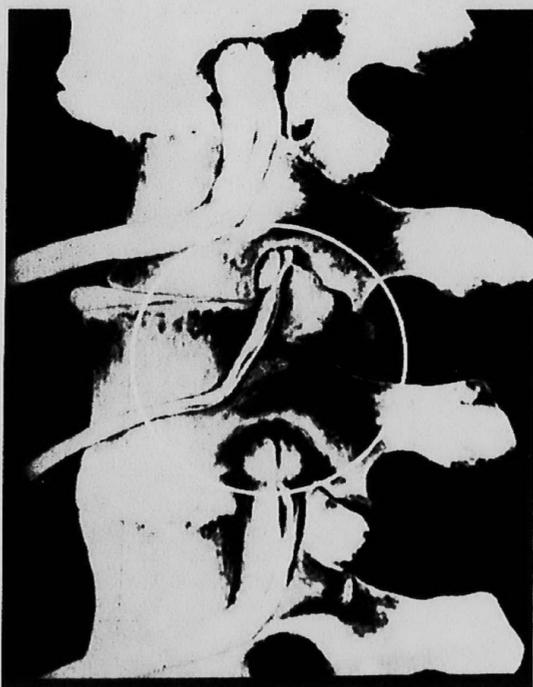

It's important to take care of cause not symptom. Treatment of symptoms mask disease & sickness, allowing them to continue undetected until surgery is required or death ensues.

Chiropractic uses no drugs, when our people are well, there has been a true correction and a return to natural health. Everyday the world is realizing the negative impact of chemical pollution. On our planet, the environment is in a delicate balance. We must follow the laws of nature if we are to survive. Don't be another victim of pollution, if medications really cured, instead of covering pain and sickness, no one would die of any disease because there is a medication for almost everything known to man.

The correction of vertebral subluxations has given millions just like you the chance to live a normal, healthy long life.

Do you really think after 91 years Chiropractic would still be around if it didn't work?

If you have the ability to accept factual new ideas call for an Appointment Now.

'I love it'

Lectka's no-hitter wins title for Franklin

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

It's time to update the big sign that stands above the entrance to Livonia Franklin High School — you know, the one that proclaims Franklin as the winner of the 1975 state Class A football championship.

The new sign should say: "Livonia Franklin: Home of the 1986 Class A girls softball champions." And somewhere on the sign should be a picture of Tracy Lectka.

The Patriots earned the new distinction Saturday at Lansing's Ranney Park, beating Waterford Kettering 1-0. Earlier Saturday, the Pats closed out a 20-inning marathon semifinal session with South Lyon, winning 2-0.

It took 'em 27 innings, but the title belongs to the Pats.

Now, what's all this about Tracy Lectka? Was she a one-girl show, or what?

Not entirely — the Franklin squad played superlative defense — but close.

HERE'S WHAT Lectka accomplished in the state tournament. She tossed a no-hitter at Kettering. The only Kettering runner reached base on a sixth inning error. This was just hours after wrapping up 20 scoreless innings against South Lyon. In that game, she allowed just eight hits, six of which came between the 11th and 17th innings Friday night. Only two runners reached third base, she struck out nine, walked only one, and made 14 assists on ground balls back to the mound.

Impressed?

There's more. Going back to the district tournament, Lectka tossed 44 consecutive scoreless innings. The last run scored off the senior came in the fourth inning of the district finale against Farmington Hills Mercy.

Her performance in the state championship game provided a story-book ending to Lectka's softball career. Next year, Lectka will play basketball at Wayne State, not softball.

"We just played awesome," said a teary-eyed Lectka. "I love it. This is it."

SAID FRANKLIN coach Joe Epstein: "The girls were just something else. But it's like I've said all year, if we can score three runs, Tracy will win it. She got fired up early this morning when I told the news that she made first team all-state. And we fielded very well behind her."

The only run Franklin needed against Kettering came in the first inning. Kris Roman led off with a single. Lectka sacrificed her to second and Cherie Mascarello moved her to third with a ground out.

Maria Vasselou, a very much unsung hero for the Patriots, slapped a single to center to score what would become the winning run.

Vasselou hit the ball hard throughout the tournament and was near-perfect at shortstop. She handled seven of her eight chances in the title game, most of which were balls solidly hit.

"I always felt this team had the talent," Epstein said. "I had a great shortstop, a great pitcher and a great outfield. I always believed in them. I think they finally started believing in themselves. There was a feeling on this team from day one that we'd be back here (state finals) this year."

Franklin, which finishes with a 31-5 record, lost in the state finals last year.

IT WAS Vasselou's red-hot bat that finally brought an end to the historic semifinal game with South Lyon.

After 20 innings, after more than four hours of intense play over two days, that game was decided by, of all things, a misplayed fly ball.

History isn't always pretty. But the Pats aren't complaining.

According to tournament officials, Franklin's 2-0 win was the longest game ever played in the state softball tournament.

The game began innocently enough at 5:30 p.m. Friday. At 8:30 p.m., in the 17th inning of a scoreless game, the umpires decided to suspend the game until Saturday morning.

At 11 a.m. Saturday, in the top of the 20th inning, Vasselou lofted what seemed to be a routine two-out fly ball to center field.

While teammates Kim Godfrey and Cherie Mascarello circled the bases, South Lyon's center fielder misjudged the fly ball. When the ball landed, Vasselou was standing on third, two runs were in and Franklin was in the state finals.

DESPITE THE run shortage, the game produced high drama. South Lyon loaded the bases with two outs in the bottom of the 12th. The Lions put together back-to-back hits in the 13th, but the lead runner was thrown out at third. They put a runner on third with two out in the 19th — but the plate remained untouched.

Franklin had its chances, too. The Pats put together three hits in the fifth, but a potential run was tagged out at third. They put runners on first and third in both the fifth and 17th and came away empty.

"When a game gets to that point, you know it's going to take a break to decide it," Epstein said.

All the breaks went the way of the Patriots Saturday.

Now, do something about that sign.

Rice ousts Glenn, 1-0

By Brad Emons
staff writer

The old baseball adage "it only takes one" was enough for Birmingham Brother Rice Friday in the state Class A baseball semifinals at Western Michigan University's Hyames Field.

The Warriors scratched together a double by Tom Groux, who moved to third on a Steve Irwin wild pitch. That set the stage for Chris Alexander's game-winning single, a bleeder through the left side of the infield.

The run came in the second inning and it was all Warriors needed to beat Westland John Glenn in a tense pitchers duel, 1-0.

Rice right-hander Steve Schutz outduelled Irwin, the Glenn ace, who suffered his first loss of the year.

Schutz, who raised his record to 11-2, allowed only four hits and walked four. He was able to survive a last-ditch Glenn rally in the seventh, getting Chuck Hammontree on a bounce-out to short with two runners aboard to end the game.

"I TRY TO KEEP the ball outside and when the better hitters are up I want to jam them inside," said Schutz, the gritty Rice junior. "This game ranks right up there as one of my best."

"I'm basically a fastball pitcher. When I get behind, I like battling by throwing strikes."

It's Ypsi

Ypsilanti, who swiped six bases and took advantage of four costly Birmingham Brother Rice errors, captured their first ever Class A title with a 6-5 triumph late Saturday evening at Western Michigan University.

Ypsilanti overcame a 4-0 first inning deficit to beat the Warriors, who finished the season with a 23-14 record.

Rice outhit Ypsilanti eight to six.

When Glenn's Jim Kenyon opened the seventh with an infield single and Mike Wells walked, Schutz was paid a visit to the mound by Rice coach Ron Kalczyński.

"I had no real instructions for Steve other than to settle him down," Kalczyński said. "He's just a great competitor and had the adrenaline flowing. He was just overthrowing a bit. He was a little too pumped up."

SCHUTZ, despite being behind on the count to Tom Rogala, made the Glenn left fielder whiff on a swinging third strike before getting the dangerous Hammontree on a ground out.

"I thought that with our pitcher that the score would be the other way around," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes, whose team bowed out with a 26-3 record. "But their kid (Schutz) did a great job. When he got behind he kept coming back."

"I'm pretty disappointed, but we played well. We just didn't hit the ball. We might have swung at a few bad pitches. That may have hurt us."

Irwin, the hard-throwing righthander with a sweeping curve ball and a deadly slider, allowed just four hits, two walks and fanned 10. (As a batter, he collected two of Glenn's four hits. Kenyon had the other two.)

"WE WENT 26-3 and had a great season," said Hoenes. "I can't complain. We were one base hit away from winning it."

Not only was Schutz tough when he had to be, the Rice defense was equal to the task.

The Warriors turned a double play in the third after thwarting Glenn earlier in the inning on a sacrifice bunt attempt.

"Before the end of the season, we had 73 errors (as a team)," Kalczyński said. "But in the last 10 games, we've been playing the way I know we can. Today we went head to head with one of the best pitchers in the state and won. But we have one of the best around, too."

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

When the laughter died Friday night, as it did soon after Tom Walker (left), Kurt Golemo, and Pat Pettit cheered a short-lived seventh inning rally, Glenn bowed out of the state title chase.

Observer kick stars hope to keep streak alive

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Think depth isn't important when all-star teams meet?

Think again. Both the Observer girls soccer stars and their counterparts from the Eccentric area will be without key performers for the fourth annual O&E All-Star Classic. The game will be at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at West Bloomfield High School.

That's where depth comes in. The deeper the talent runs, the better a team will be able to overcome the loss of a key player.

As it's shaping up right now, it's the Observer team's depth that will be tested the most. Three first-team all-Observer players — Jenny Huegli, Amy Weber and Jenny Sawicki, all from Livonia Churchill — will miss the game because Wednesday is Churchill's graduation.

FOR THE ECCENTRIC team, first-team selection Carrie Bree of Bloomfield Hills Andover will not be available because she'll be out of town.

That favors the Eccentrics. So does another very important factor: incentive.

The Eccentrics have never won this game. They tied the Observers 4-4 last year after losing the first two meetings, 7-1 (1983) and 5-2 (1984).

On paper, the Observers still rate as the favorite, a designation Eccentric coach Terry Dilworth of Birmingham Marian is only too happy to heap upon them.

"They're obviously the favorites," said Dilworth of the Observers. "We have a lot to worry about with them. But we match up really well. It could come down to who wants it more."

That could aid the Eccentrics immensely.

"Katie Andreae would sure like to win this game," said Dilworth. "She's really pumped up for it." She should be. This will be Andreae's third appearance in the O&E Classic, without a win.

BOTH TEAMS are planning to utilize an aggressive, attacking style of play, which should make the game that much more interesting.

"We plan on going offensively against them," said Ed Dudek, the Observer coach from state Class A champion Churchill. "People enjoy a wide open offensive attack, with a lot of goals."

But there was another reason for Dudek's strategy. "We only have three fullbacks," he said, "so we want to play as much offense as possible."

"Of course," he added, "I'm saying this now, but we could change."

The Eccentrics' strength should be its scoring ability. Forwards Cindy Wass (of Troy Athens) and Kate Ferguson (Birmingham Marian) totaled more than 95 goals this season between them, and Andreae (Birmingham Seaholm) has demonstrated her ability to put the ball in the net from her midfield post.

game and holds the record for most goals scored in the series' history by one player with five in the second game, Churchill's Jennifer Flowers scored two goals to pace the Observer offense. Last year the Eccentric team roared to a 3-0 halftime lead on goals by Cindy Wass of Athens, Liz Suttie of Troy and Betsy Clement of Marian. However, the Observer team scored three straight goals to tie the game. Suttie scored another goal to give the Eccentric a 4-3 lead, but Annette Ruggiero scored the eventual game-tying goal.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS: 1983: Mary Kay Hussey (Stevenson); 1984: Annette Ruggiero (Farmington Mercy); 1985: (tie) Katy Andreae (Seaholm), Lisa Broccardo (Stevenson)

"WE'RE GOING to try to put a little more pressure on the Observer defense than they're used to," said Dilworth. "I know we're a lot quicker than I thought we were. (Wings) Dana Nessel (West Bloomfield), Emily Riemer (Troy) and Kara Denyer (Rochester) are all extremely quick."

"I'm hoping their skill and speed will open things up in the middle." Patty Boyle (Marian) adds more speed and depth to an already well-stocked area for the Eccentrics.

The Observers, too, are skilled on the forward line, despite the loss of Huegli (35 goals) and Weber (20). Jill Estey at Julie Tortora of Plymouth Salem, Lori Green and Mary Pelloni of Livonia Stevenson, and Laurie Dingle of Farmington will alternate.

"We'll try to put a line of Stevenson players together up front as a group, then a line of Salem players, to let them play with people they're used to," Dudek said.

BUT THE KEY battle could be waged at midfield. Both coaches think that is the area where they are strongest.

"Our defense is strong," said Dilworth, "but our midfield is just fabulous. With Andreae, Jacqie Silagyi (Athens) and Betsy Clement (Marian) we have some really talented players there. I've got an idea we'll control the midfield."

Dilworth will have Kathleen Guzinski (Athens) and Margaret Koppmeyer (Bloomfield Hills Lahser) to strengthen his claim to midfield superiority.

Dudek merely said, "We are very strong at midfield" with players like Kim Paterson (Stevenson), Jamie Kubacki (Churchill), Leslie Martin (Farmington), Kristi McMinn (North Farmington) and Amy Stock (Farmington Hills Mercy).

A MISCUE at midfield will result in a difficult task for the defense, considering the offensive talents each team possesses. Both coaches figure their defenses will be severely tested.

Dudek will call on Margaret DeMattia (Mercy), Jean Anzlovar (North Farmington), Marcie Jamrog (Stevenson) and Shari Acitelli (Churchill) on the Observers' defense. On the back line for the Eccentrics will be Heather Lawler (Troy), Kelly Fitzgerald (Athens), Michelle House (Troy), Caroline Johnston (Seaholm) and Angel Capaldi (Marian).

Liz Monroe (Churchill) will start in goal for the Observers. Lynn Eckhout (Athens) and Brooke Gillespie (Troy) are the Eccentric goalkeepers.

"I'm kind of worried about them," admitted Dudek of the Eccentric team. "I know they have some good offensive players, so I know they can score goals. I think it'll be a pretty competitive game."

It's certainly shaping up that way, anyhow.

6 All-Staters featured on talented soccer squad

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Six all-state players headline yet another talented all-Observer girls soccer team for 1986.

State champion Livonia Churchill leads the way with four first-team all-area selections.

Players from state-ranked Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem are also represented.

Many of the players listed below will also play for the Observer all-stars in the annual O&E Girls Soccer Classic Wednesday June 18, at West Bloomfield High School.

This year's all-area squad, covering a 12-school area, may be unmatched.

Presenting the 1986 all-Observer team

FIRST TEAM

Liz Monroe, goalie, Livonia Churchill: A junior transfer from Livonia Bentley, Monroe yielded a total of seven goals all season for the state champion Chargers.

She recorded 13 shutouts en route to all-Western Division honors in the Western Lakes Soccer League (WLSL).

"Liz has very good coordination," said Churchill coach Ed Dudek. "She is an excellent athlete and had a willingness to learn more about goaltending. She should be a standout again next year."

Margaret DeMattia, defense, Farmington Mercy: A first-team all-state choice, DeMattia, a junior, scored 12 goals and added 18 assists from her backline position.

The all-Catholic League pick "was our strongest and most accurate kicker on our team," according to coach Gene Fogel.

"Margaret is a strong defender with the speed and stamina necessary to go an entire game at full throttle," said the Mercy coach.

Jean Anzlov, defense, North Farmington: A junior who made second team all-state, Anzlov scored 20 goals and added 20 assists for the Raiders. She has 47 career goals.

The three-year team MVP was also voted to the all-Western Lakes squad.

"Jean has speed, endurance and is hard to beat in a sprint situation," said North coach Cathy Cole. "She always played with a flair and the intelligence needed to be an excellent athlete and leader."

Livonia Ladywood: Jennifer Gatt, Ange Carozzo, Lisa Ydstad, Katie Fargas and Julie Stabnick. Garden City: Lisa Larson, Kathy Kasza and Denise Taggart.

Marci Jamrog, defense, Livonia Stevenson: The Spartans' co-captain claimed a series of honors this season including first-team all-state, first-team all-WLSL and team MVP.

Stevenson coach Norene Divens said of her talented senior "Great speed, very quick, extremely consistent, excellent ball control, hard worker, tough, coachable and smart."

"Marci knows her ability and the right time to pass, send and clear the ball," said the Stevenson coach. "She has a 3.8 grade-point average and will definitely play college soccer."

Jenny Sawicky, defense, Livonia Churchill: The stingy fullback was a four-year player, capping her senior by gaining all-Western Lakes and all-area honors.

Sawicky spearheaded a Churchill defense that allowed only two goals in league play and blanked such strong teams as Northville (twice), Salem and Stevenson.

"Jenny fights forwards extremely well in the air," said the Churchill coach. "She will give you a 100 percent effort at all times."

Kim Paterson, midfield, Livonia Stevenson: Another Bentley transfer, Paterson helped stabilize the Spartans' midfield and forward line.

She scored 14 goals and added 11 assists en route to first-team all-state honors.

The all-league pick tallied 90 goals and added 14 assists during her outstanding four-year career.

"Kim was a definite asset to our team," said the Stevenson coach. "She had excellent skills and control the middle of the field."

"She also had a very strong foot and was good at heading the ball into the net."

Paterson is headed for Kalamazoo College.

Jamie Kubacki, midfield, Livonia Churchill: Made first-team all-state as a junior, Kubacki turned out to be a pleasant surprise for the state champion Chargers after transferring from Bentley.

She scored a pair of goals in a 3-2 state championship win over Troy Athens. For the season, Kubacki scored 13 goals and added 11 assists.

Said coach Ed Dudek of the all-Western Lakes pick "Jamie works very hard at practices and wants to do well. She has an excellent attitude and is a coaches delight. She uses the whole field very well."

Leslie Martin, midfield, Farmington: A three-year starter, the Falcon junior scored seven goals and notched 24 assists from her center-halfback spot.

A two-team all-Western Lakes choice, Martin was the Falcons' co-captain was the team sparkplug.

"Leslie is the hardest working player on the team," said Farmington coach Ed Bartram. "She always gives 110 percent and has great ball control — a real asset to anyone's team."

Jennifer Huegli, forward, Livonia Churchill: One of Observerland's all-time best, Huegli tallied a school record 35 goals and 25 assists for the state Class A champions.

She also holds the Churchill school record with 87 career goals.

The two-time all-stater was dangerous any time she touched the ball.

"Jennifer is great on the wing because of her strong foot," Dudek said. "She possesses great skills and is a fierce competitor — giving her all to win."

"Her records at Churchill will be hard to beat."

Amy Weber, forward, Livonia Churchill: Another two-time all-area pick, Weber came over from Bentley last season and helped form one of the state's most dangerous 1-2 scoring punches along with Huegli.

This season, Weber scored 20 goals and added 15 assists en route to all-Western Lakes honors. She was an honorable mention all-stater.

"Amy is a fierce competitor and will give whatever it takes to win," said the Churchill coach. "She has great speed and endurance. She scored key goals in games leading to the state finals. She has the determination necessary in a forward."

Laurie Dingle, forward, Farmington: A four-year starter, Dingle led the Falcons with 33 goals and seven assists this season. Her career totals are 51 and 14, respectively.

Dingle was an all-Western Lakes and honorable mention all-stater. She was also the team's MVP two straight seasons.

She has also claimed numerous academic honors: National Honor Society, Madame Curie Award, Academic Hall of Fame and Class Valedictorian.

"Laurie has a great desire to do well in everything she tries," said the Farmington coach. "She's the quickest girl on breakaways we've seen this year. Laurie's a real team leader and we'll miss her."

Julie Tortora, forward, Plymouth Salem: The senior striker scored 15 goals and 10 assists this season, bringing her career totals to 61 goals and 37 assists.

Tortora was named all-Western Lakes twice and was voted team MVP this year.

Tortora will continue her soccer career at Kalamazoo College.

"Julie has great leadership qualities and is very dedicated to fitness," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "She was like a second coach on the field. Her leadership will be missed at Salem."

MHSAA director named

The representative council of the Michigan High School Athletic Association announced the selection Wednesday of Jack Roberts to the post of executive director of the MHSAA.

Roberts begins his new duties Aug. 1. He is replacing Vern Norris, who retired in June.

The 37-year-old Roberts attended Dartmouth College and is currently executive vice president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes in Kansas City, Mo.

He formerly served as chief executive officer for the Ruedlinger Companies (1980-81) and was assistant director to the National Federation of State High School Associations (1973-80).

Roberts has also taught and been a coach at the secondary school level. HE HAS BEEN a frequent speaker before athletes, coaches, school administrators and civic organizations throughout the country.

He is the editor of Sharing the Victory magazine and former editor of the Interscholastic Athletic Administration and National Federation Press publications.

Roberts, who is married and has two sons, ages 10 and 7, was selected by the search and executive committees of the 19-member representative council of the MHSAA.
