FOR OLYMPICS: The Plymouth-Canton Junior Civitan Club is sponsoring a Dance-A-Thon July 11-12 to raise money for Special Olympics. The Dance-A-Thon, open to teenagers grades 7-12, will last 18 hours from 8 p.m. Friday, July 11, to 2 p.m. Saturday. Check-in is between 7-8 p.m. Friday at St. John Neumann Catholic Church at 44800 Warren between Sheldon and Canton Center Roads. There is no fee to participate in the Dance-A-Thon but a minimum $25 must be raised. For information, contact Laura Bodell of Plymouth at 455-1998.

HONORED: Elaine Kirchgatter was honored at the last Plymouth-Canton Board of Education meeting when trustees passed a resolution commending her eight years of service on the school board. Trustees noted that she "always had a 'can do' attitude" and had "put forth countless hours of unwavering involvement at all levels of our educational community." Fellow trustees recognized Kirchgatter's "constant dedication to the principle that the education of today's youth is the promise for tomorrows yet to come."

TO BOYS STATE: Five area students who attended American Legion Boys State this month are: From Plymouth Salem High School, John Flower and Timothy Ott; from Plymouth Canton High School, Steve Bennett, Michael Krammer and David Liller. These students spent a week at Michigan State University participating in a mock government program, which ended with a march to the Capitol Building. The students were sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club, Colonial Kiwanis Club, and American Legion Passage-Gayde Post 391 of Plymouth.

ANOTHER COUNTER: Holly Quick of Plymouth, a sixth grader at Central Middle School, also was among those who were honored recently by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education for being a winner in

Home schooling battle heats up

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Two Canton families have joined a lawsuit in U.S. District Court in an effort to continue home-schooling their children.

John and Sandra Bennett of Ayrshire and Leonard and Julie Kuhar of Oakbrook Court are awaiting a response from Plymouth-Canton Community School officials to the lawsuit, filed June 20 in Detroit.

Named as defendants in the suit are Plymouth-Canton Superintendent of Schools John Hoben and schools attendance Supervisor Shirley Waters. Among others named as defendants are the state Department of Education, state Board of Education and state Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel.

Pat Montgomery, head of Clonara School of Ann Arbor, which helps coordinate both Canton families' home study programs, said the lawsuit was a response to court action started by local school systems against home-schooling parents. Clonara School is one of the plaintiffs joining the suit.

THE BENNETTS face a Sept. 9 trial date in 35th District Court in Plymouth on four counts of failure to send a child to a public school.

Waters is listed as complaining witness on the complaint against the Bennetts.

Julie Kuhar said she and her husband are awaiting a pre-trial hearing in district court on similar charges brought against them by the school system.

At a recent public hearing on a proposed Michigan House of Representatives bill allowing for some what regulated home schooling, Hoben said that while he did not oppose the concept of home school, he objected to the lack of controls.

"I feel there is a great deal of educational quackery going on."

Both Hoben and Waters were unavailable for further comment on the court actions.

Sue Eisenberg, a Birmingham attorney representing home-schoolers, said the lawsuit was filed "to do two things: To declare what the Department of Education and their agents are doing are just not OK, and to stop what they're doing until we get a clear reading from the legislature."

Eisenberg maintained that by bringing home-schooling parents to court, public education officials are assuming power not prescribed by Michigan law, which doesn't specifically prohibit home schooling.

A Milford home-schooling family also is listed as plaintiffs, Eisenberg said, in an effort to head off similar charges brought against them by area school district officials.

MONTGOMERY, who organizes home study programs for 650 families in Michigan and out of state, estimated that seven Canton families instruct a total of 20 children in the home.

She estimated the number of Michigan families teaching children in the home at 1,000-4,000.

The Clonara program requires 180 days of instruction annually, comparable to the public schools. But, Montgomery adds, "I must say that most of our students get a lot more than that."

Tutors regularly visit homes to assist both parent-teachers and students.

Sandra Bennett said she began teaching her four children at home last August for varied reasons.

"My 10-year-old was approached to use drugs," she said, also claiming that "a teacher had made some ethnic slurs" to one of her sons. Bennett said her family is of Italian descent.

"We weren't getting any cooperation, at least from our eyes," she said.

Of home schooling, Bennett said, "I was a little skeptical at first." But after that first year teaching at home, she says, "It's something to see. They're enthused with learning now."

While her school-age children — ages 7, 12, 13 and 14 — have been removed from the social interaction possible in a typical school setting, Bennett said they have friends in the neighborhood, in church youth groups and home-schooling friends.

Home-schooling advocates challenge public school administrators' contention that they do not have sufficient access to educational materials. Bennett said materials are available through the public libraries or by mail, adding her family has a home computer for computer instruction.

Defendants named in the lawsuit have 20 days to respond, once notified, Eisenberg said.

Summer parks program given another chance

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Hey, kids, a summer playground program will be reinstated in the city of Plymouth next week after an absence of at least five years.

Trained play leaders will supervise activities at four locations — Colonial Kiwanis Park at Auburn and Junction, Garden Club Park at Sutherland and Forest, Jaycee Park at Harding and Wing, and Firehouse No. 2 on Holbrook in Old Village.

Those parks will be staffed 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The program runs for six weeks from July 7 through Aug. 15.

There is no charge to participate. "It's not a day camp. Kids can come and go as they please," said Chuck Skene, city recreation director. "We ask kids who do come to register."

City budget cuts killed the program earlier in the '80s.

"There is a need out there," Skene said. "We've been getting phone calls wondering about the program. I think the community is changing somewhat so we have more children than we did, young families.

"WE'RE GOING to keep track of attendance. If it's successful, it will be easy to get it through the city commission every year."

The commission has budgeted $12,000 to pay for the playground program this summer.

Organized play opportunities will be provided as well as board games, croquet sets, utility balls and athletic equipment. Art and crafts will be offered twice a week at each park on a rotating basis.

"Each site will have two leaders," Skene said. "Hopefully, we'll have two things going on at the same time to entertain different ages and interests. We want to stress to parents it's not a baby-sitting service."

'There is a need out there.'

There are no restroom facilities at any of the four sites.

There will be no charge for arts and crafts activities unless materials of a special nature are required, Skene said. The instructor has been advised to keep activities interesting but low in cost so that participants can work on projects at home.

WEEKLY swimming and bowling field trips will be offered on a user-fee basis.

Three special field trips, including a Detroit Tigers baseball game, also are planned.

"It's a worthwhile program," Skene said. "For six weeks, it gives kids something to do. I'm hoping it will be a success. I'm sure it will be."

Resurrection of the playground program was one of nine specific action programs recommended over the next five years by a recreation master plan committee.

A report has been filed with the city commission.

The committee, consisting of people involved in various recreational activities in the community and city officials, recommends:

• Replacing existing playground equipment and fencing some city parks. Estimated cost: $25,000. Funding sources: Service clubs and the city treasury on a 50-50 basis.

• Acquiring land for soccer and softball fields. Estimated cost:

Balloon festival picture contest has a new twist

A new area of competition has been included in the Observer Newspapers' photo contest for the 1986 Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival.

The standard feature of the contest will remain a color print contest for photographs taken during the three-day festival.

An optional division to enter this year, though, is a special black and white promotional category that will feature as a prize a free hot air balloon ride for two.

As in past years, the winning color entry will be published in full color on Page 1A of the Canton Observer and Plymouth Observer this fall.

The contest is sponsored by the Canton and Plymouth Observer Newspapers with co-sponsors being Quicksilver One Hour Photo, 1313 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, and the Mayflower Hotel.

1986 IS THE second year in a row that the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival Photo Contest has been a color-print-only competition. In earlier years slides were the only medium accepted.

Prints entered will become the property of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and will not be returned. Anyone wanting to retain a personal copy should have an extra print made before submitting their entry for the contest.

All entries should have the name, address and phone number of the photographer placed on the back of the print. Entrants are asked to keep the negative of their entry on file so it can be submitted to the Observer if necessary if they are chosen a winner.

Photographs entered must be taken in the Plymouth-Canton community during the three-day festival, Friday through Sunday, July 11-13.

The deadline to submit entries is 5 p.m. Friday, July 25.

Entries may be mailed or delivered in person to the Observer Newspapers at 489 S. Main. Questions may be asked by calling 459-2700.

THE SPECIAL black and white category involves taking photos of the Mayflower Hotel hot air balloon to be used in promoting the 1987 festival. The winning entry will be mailed along with press releases to media throughout the nation next year.

In return for allowing the winning photo to be used for promotion, the winner will be awarded a free hot air balloon ride for two as scheduled with Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel. The same rules and deadlines also apply to this special category.

In the black and white category, second-place winner will receive free Norwegian scrod dinners for four in the newly renovated Steakhouse of the Mayflower Hotel and third place will receive Sunday dinner for four in the Mayflower Hotel.

The first-place winner in the color print contest, in addition to having his/her photo printed on Page 1A of the Canton and Plymouth Observers, will receive a 16-by-20-inch framed copy of their entry, $50 cash, two rolls of film with free processing from Quicksilver.

The second-place winner will receive a framed 11-by-14-inch enlargement of their entry, $25 cash, a roll of film with free processing from Quicksilver, and free Norwegian scrod dinners for four in the Steakhouse.

The third-place winner will receive an 8-by-10-inch framed enlargement of their entry, Sunday brunch for four in the Mayflower Meeting House, and a roll of film with free processing from Quicksilver.

Honorable mentions will receive free processing for one roll of film from Quicksilver and a meal pass for two from the Mayflower.

Only three entries per person will be accepted.

AT&T strikers back on the job

Striking operators and technicians at the AT&T Operator Services Center in Plymouth began returning to their jobs last Friday after tentative agreement was announced on a new labor contract.

About 275 union employees here represented by Communications Workers of America had been picketing since June 1 at the Ann Arbor Road site.

Supervisors who had been working 12-hour shifts went back to their regular duties as the strikers returned, said Ana Gabriel, a public relations manager for AT&T.

Non-union AT&T employees brought into the Detroit area from Chicago and New Jersey to assist during the strike were on their way home or making arrangements to do so, she added.

Union ratification is expected by AT&T. Voting is to be completed by Aug. 4.

Key provisions of the contract from AT&T's perspective are implementation of a $40-million job security program, a tax-deferred savings program and an 8-percent pay increase over three years.

Local union leaders couldn't be reached for comment.

Township organizes violations bureau

Plymouth Township residents probably will be able to pay local parking violations at township hall starting in late August.

However, a plan to allow residents to pay other tickets there — such as ordinance violations — probably won't materialize.

The township board last week approved the first reading of an ordinance establishing a local parking violations bureau. Final approval at second reading is expected Aug. 12 after Police Chief Carl Berry and Treasurer Mary Brooks iron out administrative details.

As the ordinance is now written, only parking-related notices could be paid at the violations bureau — most likely, the treasurer's office — and only by people who plead responsible.

People wanting to contest parking notices or plead guilty to any moving violation would be referred to the 35th District Court.

THE TOWNSHIP would keep all revenue from parking tickets paid at a local violations bureau. Revenue from all tickets paid in the district court is divided between the court and communities within the court's jurisdiction.

The violations bureau, theoretically, also would reduce the docket and cut paperwork in the district court.

State law specifically gives communities the ability to establish parking violations bureaus, said Jud Hemming, a lawyer who prosecutes cases in district court for the township.

"We would have to take a liberalized view to get to other violations," he said of the state enabling legislation. Other communities do it, Hemming conceded, adding that he knows of no authority for them to do so.

Supervisor Maurice Breen said he doubts he would recommend that the township board expand the authority of the parking violations bureau.

"I'm not inclined to include something you normally can't do," he said.

Most parking violations in the township involve illegal parking by students near the Centennial Educational Park and people displaying cars for sale at shopping centers or at other private businesses.

Regional roller skating special coming to area

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Top roller skaters from five states will compete at Canton's Skatin' Station next month.

About 1,200 skaters from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin will take part in the 1986 Great Lakes Regional Roller Skating Championships July 3-11.

The United States Amateur Confederation of Roller Skating, the national governing body of the sport, chose Skatin' Station to host the event among four other skating centers in Michigan.

"It's a very prestigious honor to be awarded because they try to put it in the nicest house to show roller skating at its best," said Mike Dunn, Skatin' Station general manager in charge of the event.

Skatin' Station is 30,000 square feet with a 190 foot by 85 foot maple wood floor. It opened in December 1981. "It's one of the best floors in the region to skate on because of the size and good condition."

ALTHOUGH PUBLIC skating will not be offered during the event, spectators are invited to watch the skaters for a $3 admission fee.

"People would be able to see the competition part of the sport," said Dunn who is the president of the Michigan chapter of USAC/RS. "There's probably a lot of people who don't know this kind of thing exists if they just go to open skating. This is the best competition they can see other than the nationals and it's right here in their community."

Artistic skating competitions including figure, dancing, singles and pairs will be held July 3-7. Gold medal achievement tests — to allow skaters to measure their ability — will be held July 8. Individual and relay speed skating competitions will be held July 9-11.

Winners from nine regional meets will qualify for the national competition, which will take place during August in Indianapolis. World competitions will be held later in the year.

"One of the big goals for roller skaters is to get into the Olympics," Dunn said. "Roller skating is a Class A Olympic sport so it enjoys all the rights and privileges of the Olympics except participation in the games. The big drawback is that there aren't enough countries in the world that participate in roller skating that send competitors to the world competitions."

$100,000. Funding sources: State and local money on an even split.

A joint venture between the city and Canton Township involving purchase of land owned by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is under study, Skene said.

● Reinstating the playground program. Estimated cost: $12,000 annually. Funding source: Local money.

● Improving Massey Field by installing restrooms, a concession stand, storage area and press box. Estimated cost: $18,000. Funding source: Private donations.

● Putting together a comprehensive study of who uses local recreational facilities when and for what purposes. Estimated cost: $5,000. Funding source: Local money.

● Renovating and improving a softball facility on Ford Motor Co. property. Estimated cost: $20,000. Funding sources: State and local money on 50-50 split.

Skene said he hesitates to go ahead unless a long-term agreement on using the property can be reached with the automaker.

● Enhancing senior citizen programs. No funding source indicated,

Skene said, because some new activities would entail little, if any cost.

● Improving the Cultural Center with a yearly preventive maintenance allowance. Estimated cost: $5,000 annually. Funding source: Local money.

● Improving kitchen facilities, tables and chairs in the senior center part of the Cultural Center. Estimated cost: $14,000. Funding source: State money.

The master plan, Skene said, represents guidelines only and isn't carved in stone. The City Commission is expected to adopt the master plan next month, he added.

Report finds need to expand public transit

By Teri Banas
staff writer

A new SEMCOG study into the public transportation needs of southeast Michigan has documented the growth of suburban Detroit communities as major employment centers in their own right, heightening an urgent need to increase bus services in the region by 1990.

SEMCOG transportation programs manager Carmine Palombo discussed that conclusion following the announcement in Detroit last week of the governmental group's one-year transit report.

That report made a strong case for increasing area bus service by 37 percent, constructing the much-discussed Woodward light rail line between downtown Detroit and Royal Oak, and reinstating the Ann Arbor to Detroit commuter rail service.

ANYTHING SHORT OF THAT would certainly threaten "the social and economic health" of the Detroit region, which already is listed "dead last" among the nation's 20 top metropolitan areas in local financial support of transportation, said SEMCOG executive director John Amberger, in making the announcement.

"Our report finds that existing transit systems do not serve our regional growth patterns. Clearly it is frustrating to find a way, via public transportation, to travel from Avon Township to Warren, for example, or from Southfield to Troy, or Farmington Hills to Dearborn," Amberger told the press.

In discussing the region's growth, he said new, emerging employment centers will need transportation links, critical to "economic development and combating unemployment

'Our report finds that existing transit systems do not serve our general growth patterns.'

—John Amberger,
SEMCOG director

ment. It would also mean access to retail shopping areas, educational institutions, health care facilities and recreational facilities."

SEMCOG's Palombo, a Livonia resident who coincidentally studied that city's future transportation needs in Livonia's Project 2000, outlined 39 separate express bus corridors needed in the Detroit suburban region.

"While the (Detroit) central business district is still strong (in providing bus service through D-DOT) there is a distinction. A number of suburban communities have now generated sufficient high employment to support this express bus service," Palombo said. "And this suburb to suburb movement is a phenomenon happening nationwide."

IN LIVONIA, for instance, Palombo said there's enough user need to justify a route from western Livonia to Southfield as well as a second route from Livonia to Dearborn.

Likewise, in northern Oakland County an express bus route is needed between Pontiac and Southfield as well as one from the Oakland Mall in Troy and the developing Auburn Hills High Tech center.

The SEMCOG officials made particular note of the handicapped and elderly. They said suburban populations are rapidly aging and their reliance on public transportation will become acute in the near future.

"We have more and more elderly people and the number of people becoming transit dependent is increasing not decreasing," said another SEMCOG official, Edward J. Hustoles, deputy executive director of planning.

According to the report, 12 percent of households in the seven-county region do not own a car; that figure is 25 percent of Detroit households. In addition, one-third of the region's households have only one car.

ON FINANCING public transportation, Amberger said as federal dollars diminish more local support will be likely, suggesting the need for a regional or area tax. He said simply raising fair-box prices "is not the answer."

The government's subsidy to public transportation for even minimum service is needed at $180 million here, he said, which is $53 million more than what's currently subsidized.

"The state is doing a reasonable job of supporting public transportation and Detroit is putting in $47 million (principally through its D-DOT program) but the rest of the region is not putting the money in. That worked for a long time when there was federal money," Amberger said.

He said SEMCOG has initiated a follow-up study to examine funding alternatives for these public transportation problems. Its results would be available sometime in the fall.

ACCORDING to Hustoles, the question of government subsidy could be answered in several ways. Besides a direct transit tax, as is levied in several major U.S. cities, money could be raised through so-called "sin taxes."

"In Birmingham, Ala., they fund public transportation with a beer tax," Hustoles said.

In Michigan the state Legislature has been considering ways to reorganize public transportation service. SEMTA is the subject of one reorganization plan in proposed Senate Bill 363. The proposal would eliminate the current 15-member SEMTA board and put public transportation into the hands of the so-called "Big Four," which in turn would draft two separate transit commissions, one for Detroit and one for the suburbs. That bill is stalled in a House subcommittee.

Park-and-ride leases run out

SEMTA builds new lot in Plymouth Township

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Two SEMTA-operated Park-and-Ride lots in Livonia will be closing and SEMTA staff are seeking alternate sites for bus travelers heading to downtown Detroit work places.

SEMTA is losing its parking lease at the Livonia Mall, Seven Mile at Middlebelt, on July 15 due to the mall's $6 million expansion project. The other location — the Forest City parking lot at Middlebelt and Schoolcraft — is being lost because of shopping traffic that has been increasing since the F & M Store located there, said SEMTA's director of planning and marketing, John Sajovec.

The closures, ironically, come at a time when last week in Detroit officials from SEMCOG (the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments) announced the results of a one-year transit-need study that cites a critical shortage of public transportation in the region.

ON THE bright side, SEMTA officials said last week they received SEMTA Board approval to construct a Park-and-Ride lot for 100 spaces near Ann Arbor Road and I-275 in Plymouth Township. The lot will be shared with car-poolers with the Michigan Department of Transportation. The lot will be on the northeast corner of Tavistock Circle and Ann Arbor Road behind the Denny's Restaurant.

At the Livonia Mall, Sajovec said 75-80 parking sites were being used by downtown Detroit travelers.

"We're desperately trying to find a substitute lot," he said, adding no other agreements have been reached yet. He said that even after the construction is done, the mall management has informed SEMTA that the new stores created there will likely increase mall traffic so that no likely return for SEMTA is possible.

At the Forest City site 125 cars park daily, which is much more than the 75 sites they had anticipated when the lot was first located there.

'We're desperately trying to find a substitute lot (for users of the Park-and-Ride lot at the Livonia Mall).'

"It's just too popular," he said. The SEMTA staff is negotiating with officials at Ladbroke DRC, on the southeast corner of the same intersection as Forest City, for relocation. The race track is opened three days a week and for half the year.

House votes on tough S. African sanctions

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll-call votes during the week ending June 20.

HOUSE

SOUTH AFRICA — By a vote of 150-268, the House rejected an amendment to soften proposed U.S. economic sanctions against the white-minority government of South Africa.

The amendment sought to exempt from the sanctions any South African-based company, American or foreign, that abides by the fair employment code developed by Philadelphia minister Leon Sullivan.

Employers under the Sullivan principles must provide non-discriminatory working and housing conditions. About 75 percent of the approximately 280 U.S. companies doing business in South Africa are Sullivan signatories.

The vote occurred just before the House repudiated the administration and passed, on a non-record vote, a far-reaching bill to penalize Pretoria for its official policy of racial segregation known as apartheid.

The bill (HR 4868) cuts virtually all economic U.S. ties with South Africa, requiring American companies to cease operating there within 180 days. Also, it bans all imports from South Africa except for certain strategic metals, and bars South African airliners from landing in the U.S.

The bill was sent to the Republican-controlled Senate where its future appears dim.

Dan Burton, R-Ind., who sponsored this amendment, said strengthening compliance with the Sullivan principles was preferable to economic sanctions that would diminish U.S. influence over the South African government.

Opponent Howard Wolpe, D-Mich., said "the struggle against apartheid is no longer a struggle for desegregated workplaces or improved working conditions — it is a struggle for political rights."

Members voting yes wanted to soften the sanctions bill. Voting yes: William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

Voting no: Carl Persell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

THE SALT TREATY — By a vote of 187-222, the House rejected a Republican-sponsored amendment reinforcing President Reagan's plan to disregard certain limits to the SALT II arms control treaty with the Soviet Union.

Reagan recently announced the

Roll Call Report

U.S. no longer is bound by the 1979 pact, which the Senate has not ratified but which has been respected by U.S. administrators.

Accusing the Soviets of repeatedly violating the treaty, Reagan said the U.S. likely will exceed SALT limits later this year when it deploys another B-52 bomber equipped with Cruise missiles.

Democrats have made Reagan's announcement into an issue, and this vote occurred during debate on their non-binding resolution (H Con Res 350) urging Reagan to continue abiding by SALT II, a resolution later sent to the Senate.

Echoing Reagan's views, the rejected GOP amendment stated the U.S. should abide by SALT II only to the extent that the Soviets obey it.

Members voting no wanted Reagan to continue adhering to the SALT II treaty. Voting no were Democrats Hertel, Ford and Levin.

Voting yes were Republicans Persell and Broomfield.

SENATE

TAX RATES — By a vote of 71 for and 29 against, the Senate tabled an amendment to add a third tax rate, aimed at well-off individuals, to the two rates set forth in the Finance Committee's sweeping tax reform bill.

Under the committee bill, individuals would pay at the rate of either 15 percent or 27 percent, and capital gains would lose their current preferential treatment and be taxed at the same rate as other income.

Under this amendment, a rate of 35 percent would have been added to apply to incomes of at least $79,000, the 15 percent bottom rate would have been lowered to 14 percent, and capital gains would have continued to receive preferential tax treatment.

The vote occurred as the historic legislation (HR 3838) neared final Senate passage and conference with the House.

Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said the amendment should be killed because high taxation of the rich "will encourage us to start to put back in the deductions, exemptions and privileges for the very rich that we have gotten rid of in this bill."

George Mitchell, D-Maine, who sponsored the amendment, said middle-income taxpayers were treated shabbily by the bill, but that his amendment "will more than double the amount of tax relief going to those American families who earn between $30,000 and $40,000."

Senators voting no favored the amendment. Michigan Democrats Carl Levin and Donald Riegle voted no.

GOVERNMENT PENSIONS — By a vote of 57-43, the Senate tabled an amendment to retain a pension tax benefit primarily for federal workers and certain other government employees nationwide who contribute to their retirement funds.

The vote left intact a plan to end the tax break as part of the pending tax reform legislation (above).

Under the disputed provision, a federal civil servant, for example, upon retirement can recover certain pre-taxed contributions to his pension plan without having to pay additional taxes on the money. He has three years after retirement to take advantage of the provision.

Bill Bradley, D-N.J., who voted to kill the amendment, said "the effect of this proposal is to raise taxes on 20 million Americans... in order to pay for the benefit that will be enjoyed by one million Americans." Amendment sponsor Paul Trible, R-Va., said "it is simply unfair to change the rules of the game" that federal retirees had used for 30 years.

Senators voting yes wanted to end the tax break that primarily benefits government pensioners. Michigan's Levin and Riegle voted yes.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT — By a vote of 18-80, the Senate failed to table an amendment to retain the U.S. tax on foreigner's capital gains from the sale of U.S. property.

The vote occurred during debate on the tax overhaul bill (above), which had proposed eliminating the tax in keeping with the way other countries treat similar gains made within their boundaries by American investors.

It marked one of the few setbacks for sponsors of the legislation, who had feared that too many successful amendments would collapse the bill.

The tax, which generates $1.7 billion annually, was enacted in the late 1970s in response to concern that foreigners were buying too much American farmland.

Senators voting no wanted to retain the tax on real estate gains by foreigners. Levin and Riegle voted no.

State ballot issue nears for part-time legislators

Supporters of a drive for a part-time state Legislature say they're coming close in their efforts to put the issue on the Nov. 6 ballot.

They have 255,000 of the 304,000 petition signatures they must file by July 7, state Rep. Tim Walberg, R-Tipton, told a Lansing news conference last week.

If adopted, their proposal would amend several sections of the Michigan Constitution to limit sessions to four months, prohibit benefits such as pensions and cut salaries in half (to about $15,000).

SUPPORTERS are mostly conservative outstate Republicans. Chief spokesmen, besides Walberg, were Rep. Margaret O'Connor of Ann Arbor and Tom Power of Traverse City. Brighton industrialist Richard Chrysler also was involved until he became a gubernatorial candidate.

"Cost-cutting isn't the main point," said Walberg. Rather it's the kinds of people and occupational groups who are elected, he said.

Asked to be specific about which occupations might be better represented in a part-time Legislature, Walberg cited farmers. "It may be valuable to get people in the real world (to become legislators)," he said.

O'Connor said full-time legislators "want to keep their jobs so badly that they say 'yes' to every special interest group."

"Their interest and outlook are essentially those of the state bureaucracy," added Power.

A STUDY by Observer & Eccentric Newspapers of occupational groups showed:

• The part-time 1953-54 Legislature had 83 percent of its members making a living in the private sector of the economy. There were 24 attorneys, 24 farmers and many small-business operators.

• The full-time 1982-3 Legislature got 61 percent of its members from government or non-profit occupations, or else members listed no occupation at all. The number of persons in teaching and government had risen to 42 from 10; the number of attorneys and farmers fell by half.

County contract expires for teen jobs program

By Teri Seneas staff writer

A Wayne County Extension program that trained and counseled western Wayne County youths 16-21 for the workplace has been shut down effective today, a media spokesman said.

"It was a decision on the part of Wayne County to move out of this area. Our current contract with them ends Monday (today)," said Douglas J. Mason, director of media relations for the Extension Job Training Program, as he was packing his office last Friday. "The county has chosen to omit this program."

Mason said the latest contract with the county served 200 youths since mid-September 1985.

He said 15 full- and part-time employees will now be looking for other employment. Mason said he will return to college.

The county's involvement with the program, operated on the grounds of the Wayne County Extension Center in the city of Wayne, ran for five years.

HE SAID he could not elaborate further on the decision. In a letter he sent the media last week, he wrote that the closing was due to "an administrative decision by the county extension director."

Acting extension director Dr. June Sears was on leave last Friday and unavailable for comment, an office worker said.

According to Mason, the training program received funding from the federal Job Training Partnership Act through Wayne County. The county works in cooperation with the Wayne County Extension and Education Center, run jointly through Michigan State.

"The funds are still there from the federal government," Mason said. "It'll probably be distributed to an existing job training program in the area."

He said he could not elaborate further on which other, if any, institution would sponsor the program.

MASON DESCRIBED the work that was done there as: "We took somebody off the street, did a needs assessment on them and (provided) placement assessment."

Besides direct job training, the program also taught youngsters about developing resumes, filling out job applications and handling job interviews.

Bill Johnson, spokesman for Wayne County Executive William Lucas, did not respond to a telephone inquiry Friday.

Moped instruction offered

Schoolcraft College will offer moped safety courses in July, August and September for beginning students.

The courses, offered evenings and days, will cover controlling the vehicle, balancing, starting, stopping, turning and obstacle avoidance.

The courses will teach information needed to take the state of Michigan's moped test.

More information is available by calling 591-6400, ext. 409. The college is located at 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile.

WWII 'Flying Fortress' is shown

The last Boeing B-17G Flying Fortress of World War II which is still in operation has been bought by the Yankee Air Force, Inc. and will be relocated at the group's Detroit Willow Run Airport headquarters.

The non-profit Yankee group, consisting of 2,000 history enthusiasts, is planning to spend 18 months on the restoration project.

The group is asking for public donations for the project, listing an additional cost of $100,000. The group can be reached by calling 483-4030 or by writing to Yankee Air Force, Inc., P.O. Box 1100, Ypsilanti, Mich. 48197 to the attention of "Operation B-17."

See The Light At The End Of The Tunnel.

A few years back, the roof practically caved in on the people of this small mining community.

The mine had been shut down. Putting half the town out of work. And taking away a livelihood that had been a way of life here for decades.

Considering that miners all across America were struggling with all the same kind of problems, there did not seem to be even the slightest ray of hope left to the town.

Problem was, just like the miners could not afford to go much longer without work, the company could not afford to reopen the mine. Much less run it profitably enough to keep it up and running, as it had before.

But when the state of Michigan got the miners and the mining company together, people saw things in an entirely different light.

So when they figured out a way to reopen the mine, we pitched in to help figure out a way to finance it.

Today, the mine is open again. The miners have gone back and reclaimed their jobs.

And even though there's still some hard work ahead for everyone concerned, the entire town is beginning to see a much brighter future for itself.

At First of America Bank, we take special pride in what this one small community achieved just by digging deep inside themselves for answers.

Not just because we're bankers. But because, more importantly, we're part of the community, too.

When Eddie was the czar of Detroit bowling

(Part 3)

Although Eddie Edgar was no golfer, he had great skill with a billiard cue.

As a child, his father stood him on a box and taught him how to get the feel of the ball by rolling it on the table, using only his hands. Later, he let him use a pool cue. As indicated earlier, Eddie was only 12 when he won the Lehigh Valley pool championship in Pennsylvania.

One day, Ralph Greenleaf, age 15, visited Catasauqua. Someone matched the future billiard champion against 10-year old Eddie, the pride of Lehigh Valley. Eddie almost beat him. "I left the winning ball on the lip of the pocket," Eddie told me. "I went home and cried."

ABOUT 25 YEARS later, they met again in Detroit.

Greenleaf, world champion at pocket billiards in 1930-32, and again in 1937, asked Eddie to practice with him for his upcoming defense of the title. He also asked him to help perform a stunt Fox Movietone News had dreamed up. They wanted Greenleaf to play billiards for the newsreel in a Ford Tri-Motor airplane, the old "Tin Goose," while it circled the city of Detroit.

"I can't get anyone to go up in the plane and play billiards with me," said Greenleaf. "Will you do it?"

Eddie agreed. The Ford plane was outfitted with a miniature pool table and kleig lights. The object was to demonstrate the plane's stability.

"We boarded the plane at Ford Field, where Dearborn Inn is now," Eddie told me. "For an hour and half we circled over Detroit, playing pool. Ralph was scheduled to defend his championship the same night. He should have been in his hotel room relaxing, not performing up in the sky for the movies. But that night he beat Frank Taberski in the title match, setting a new world's record of 126 high runs for a tournament."

"Do you still play pool," I asked Eddie about 15 years ago. "No, I gave it up when I got my first pair of bifocals," he said.

EDDIE EDGAR was one of the past and present

Sam Hudson

first sports announcers in Detroit.

In 1924, he was drafted to read the sports news by the station manager of Free Press radio station WCX (now WJR). For at least 20 years, he was heard every Friday on Bob Reynolds' evening broadcast on WJR. Eddie gave the bowling news.

Eddie started writing bowling articles for the Free Press in 1928, the year Willie Hoppe established a high run record of 25 at three-cushion billiards. In 1938, Eddie was named bowling editor of the paper.

In 1940, he inaugurated the Captain-Sponsor tournament — the first of its kind in the country. It drew 1,500 contestants and was the first bowling tournament on television.

By the 1950s, it had been copied in 268 cities.

IN 1942, Eddie started Free Press mixed doubles bowling — still running and attracting thousands. In the following year, he was named Michigan's first bowling coordinator. His instructions were to boost the prestige of bowling. Or, as Eddie put it: "I helped to bring bowling out of the saloons, and on to the main corner."

In 1943, he set up an in-school work program with the state labor commissioner to provide pin boys for bowling alleys at a time when they were scarce and it was thought that the game was endangered.

As Michigan's first bowling coordinator (Eddie always said he was the "Judge Landis of bowling in Michigan"), Edgar set up an office in the Fort Shelby Hotel in Detroit. It was the first bowling office paid for by bowling proprietors outside of those in their bowling establishments.

In 1945, Eddie negotiated with the pinboys union, and wrote what became the first cost-of-living agreement in a workman's contract. Eddie's COLA plan was later copied by General Motors.

EDDIE LEFT the Free Press in 1948 to become full-time secretary of the Bowling Proprietors of Greater Detroit. That was the year he started the practice of naming Detroit's king and queen of bowling, and conducted the first Champion of Champions tournament.

By 1957, it was awarding $44,000 in prize money. It still is being run, with an annual entry of more than 5,000 teams. This was another idea of Eddie's that was copied all over the nation.

In 1940, Eddie Edgar organized the first bowling parade in Detroit. It went down one of the main avenues to City Hall where the mayor read a proclamation to open the bowling season.

In 1951, Eddie set up the first legislative bowling tournament featuring members of the House of Representatives in Michigan competing against members of the Senate. He also arranged, through Michigan members of the U.S. Congress, to have national representatives meet members of the U.S. Senate in a bowling tournament in Washington.

In 1951, Eddie organized the first official junior association of bowlers. He arranged for the first national junior bowling tournament in Washington, and had the late U.S. Sen. Phil Hart speak at the banquet.

In 1963, Eddie got the Detroit Historical Commission to agree to the establishment of the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame in the Cultural Center, making Detroit the first city to have a Bowling Hall of Fame in a city-owned building.

Eddie used to speak with fondness of the great bowlers he interviewed. One of them, Joe Scribner, was national match game singles champion in the late 20s. Others included Joe Norris, captain of the famous Stroh's team, Thurman Gibson, Joe Wilman, Billy Sixty, Andy Varipapa, and the great woman bowler, Marian Ladewig of Grand Rapids.

Fresh and Nutritious Salads for Sensational Summertime Meals

Salads are achieving main meal status at a greater rate than ever before. An obvious reason for this is the dual advantage of consuming very few calories while yielding all the benefits of a fresh nutritious meal.

Warm summertime weather lends itself to lights and easy nutritional meals. Salads, one of the most versatile and economical meals around, keep time in the kitchen to a minimum and can be prepared in advance without compromising taste for convenience. Creating salads with Granny Smith apples and iceberg lettuce is the freshest way to take the heat off on warm summer evenings.

The fresher the ingredients, the more nutritional the salad. This is because increased exposure to temperature and light can degrade the vitamin content in fruits and vegetables. It is essential that the freshest ingredients be used to obtain the maximum nutritional value.

Iceberg lettuce, a year-round commodity, is also a very fresh salad ingredient this time of the year.

Guaranteed freshness and nutritional value are only a portion of the benefits consumers receive when combining iceberg lettuce with Granny Smith apples. There are only 80 calories in a Granny Smith apple and 25 calories in a single serving of iceberg lettuce (based on four servings per head of lettuce), and together they contain almost 20 percent of the daily requirement for Vitamin C.

Despite the benefits, in the final analysis calories and nutrition don't count. The bottom line is satisfaction — and that, of course, is something you have to savor for yourself.

Chicken is added to a basic Waldorf to make this a nutritious main dish. Add a touch of Mexican flair with salsa, avocado and sour cream.

MEXICAN CHICKEN WALDORF

- 1 head Iceberg Lettuce
- 2 Granny Smith apples,
- 2 whole chicken breasts, boned, skinned, cooked and diced
- 1/2 cup sliced celery
- 1/4 cup dark seedless raisins
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 cup salsa
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 avocado cut into wedges

Core lettuce. With core-side down, cut a hollow in opposite side of head and pull open to make a bowl. Get a nice green, loose head for best results. Use 2 hands to open up gently so head remains leafy and attractive. Dice 1 apple and combine with chicken, celery, raisins and walnuts. Combine sour cream, salsa and cayenne. Pour over chicken mixture and toss gently. Spoon chicken mixture into lettuce head. Garnish with avocado and remaining apple. If desired, dollop extra sour cream and salsa on top. Serve with tortilla chips. Makes 4 servings.

This apple-turkey combination looks like a chef's salad but tastes better! A choice of dressings enables you to cater to your personal tastes.

APPLE AND TURKEY JULIENNE SALAD

- 1 to 2 heads of Iceberg Lettuce
- 2 Granny Smith apples, cut into narrow wedges
- 1/2 lb. roast turkey breast, cut into julienne strips
- 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
- 8 slices of bacon cooked, drained and crumbled
- 3 green onions sliced diagonally
- Mustard French Dressing or Caraway Vinaigrette.

Remove outer frilly leaves of lettuce and use to line salad bowl. Tear up enough lettuce to measure 1-1/2 quarts and place in salad bowl. Top with apples, turkey, blue cheese, bacon and green onions in an attractive manner. Serve with Mustard French Dressing or Caraway Vinaigrette.

Mustard French Dressing:

Combine 1/4 cup cider vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon water and 3 teaspoons whole mustard seeds in an electric blender; whirl until smooth. Slowly whirl in 1/2 cup olive oil until thick and well blended. Stir in an additional 1 teaspoon whole mustard seeds. Makes about 1 cup.

Caraway Vinaigrette:

Combine 1/4 cup vegetable oil, 1-1/2 tablespoons red wine vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon tarragon, crumbled, 3/4 teaspoon caraway seed, 1/4 teaspoon sugar and few dashes white pepper; mix well. Makes 4 servings.

Enjoy this colorful shrimp salad with its unique Pacific Island look and taste. The prawns, glossy in appearance, are very flavorful with dressing.

PALACE SHRIMP SALAD

- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 lb. medium prawns, shelled and deveined
- 1 medium onion cut into thin wedges
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup white wine vinegar
- 2 medium cloves garlic, minced (1 teaspoon)
- 2 tablespoons peanut butter
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Iceberg Lettuce leaves
- 2 Granny Smith apples
- 1/2 lb. pea pods, steamed

Heat oil in skillet. Sauté prawns and onion for 2 to 3 minutes or until prawns turn pink. Combine oil, vinegar, garlic, peanut butter, sugar and salt; mix well. Pour dressing over prawns and chill. To serve, line salad plates with several lettuce leaves. Slice apples and toss with dressing and prawns; divide prawn and apple mixture among salad plates. Garnish with pea pods and extra apple wedges. Makes 4 servings.

This salad has a zesty combination of flavors. Roasted walnuts, apples, cheese and the smoky flavor of prosciutto offer a welcome taste variety.

CAFE APPLE-CHEESE SALAD WITH WALNUT DRESSING

- 1 head Iceberg Lettuce
- 2 Granny Smith apples cut into wedges
- 8 oz. goat cheese or cream cheese* sliced into 8 pieces
- 4 oz. prosciutto, thinly sliced
- 1 teaspoon coarse black pepper
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 3 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 1/4 cup coarsely chopped and roasted walnuts
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon each: thyme, rosemary and marjoram

Cover 4 individual salad plates generously with lettuce leaves. Arrange apples, cheese and prosciutto in lettuce. Sprinkle each with pepper. Combine oil, vinegar, walnuts, sugar, thyme, rosemary and marjoram; mix well. Drizzle dressing over salad before serving.

*If desired, heat cheese slices in 350 degree oven for 2 to 3 minutes or until warmed through. Makes 4 servings.

An unusual taste experience is created by combining Iceberg Lettuce, Granny Smith apples, peanuts, lime and chicken. The spicy dressing which accompanies this dish is simply outstanding.

THAI SALAD WITH SPICY DRESSING

- 1-1/2 quarts shredded Iceberg Lettuce

- 1 whole chicken breast, boned, skinned, cooked and shredded
- 2 Granny Smith apples, thinly sliced
- 1 cup bean sprouts, softened*
- 2 tablespoons green onion, cut into long shreds, green part only
- 1/4 cup peanuts
- 1 teaspoon grated lime peel
- 1/3 cup rice wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 to 3 teaspoons Tabasco
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 large clove garlic, minced (1 teaspoon)
- 1/2 cup olive oil

Place lettuce in large serving bowl. Top with chicken, apples, bean sprouts, green onion, peanuts, and lime peel in an attractive fashion. For dressing, combine vinegar, soy sauce, Tabasco, sugar and garlic in electric blender; whirl until smooth. Whirl in olive oil a little at a time until thick and well blended. Drizzle dressing over salad; toss before serving.

*To soften bean sprouts, place in colander and pour boiling water over. Makes 4 servings.

In a Mandarin Chinese approach to salad making, apples add mellow flavor and nice texture to a moist, spicy-sweet meat mixture.

IMPERIAL PORK SALAD

- 4 pork chops, boned (about 1 lb. boneless meat)
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 cup minced water chestnuts
- 1 cup minced Granny Smith apples
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh ginger root
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onion
- 2 tablespoons hoisin sauce
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch dissolved in 1/4 cup water
- 1 large head Iceberg Lettuce
- 2 Granny Smith apples, cut into wedges

Finely mince pork. Heat oil in skillet and stir-fry pork in batches over high heat, turning batch onto plate when golden. After meat is cooked, add water chestnuts, minced apples, ginger root and onion to empty skillet. Stir-fry 1 to 2 minutes. Add hoisin, soy sauce and cornstarch-water mixture; stir into skillet until all is blended. Return pork to skillet and heat through. Meanwhile, cut lettuce into wedges; separate wedges into layers to make lettuce "dippers." Line platter with dippers. Pack pork mixture into dippers and garnish with apple wedges. Makes 4 servings.

PROPER CARE AND STORAGE TIPS FOR EXCEPTIONAL FRESHNESS

- Cleanliness is one of the most important rules to follow when caring for iceberg lettuce. Rinsing is recommended before refrigeration. After stripping off any leaves that are coarse or undesirable, remove the core. Hold core end under cold running water. Spread leaves apart with thumbs and rinse.

- Always refrigerate produce. Fruits and vegetables breathe and continue to ripen; refrigeration slows down respiration, keeping them fresh longer. The optimum temperature for the refrigerated storage of Granny Smith apples and iceberg lettuce is between 32 and 36 degrees F. Do not freeze.

- Store Granny Smith apples and iceberg lettuce in sealed plastic bags in the refrigerator. Do not store together in the same bag. Fruit emits an ethylene gas that turns vegetables brown. Most refrigerators come with two storage drawers — one for fruit and one for vegetables — to avoid this problem.

- Avoid packing all fruits and vegetables tightly with other foods. Allow for good air circulation.

- With proper care and storage, your fruits and vegetables will keep fresh for weeks.

Pork steaks: great on the grill

Outdoor chefs across the country are taking to their grills as America's favorite alfresco cuisine — barbecue — stars during the summer months.

Pork is often a favorite meat for the grill, as it "marries" well with marinades; and flavors are highlighted when grilled over smoldering charcoal or wood.

If your tastebuds are becoming bored with burgers, or you want a break from your favorite chops and ribs, try Caribbean Barbecue. Pork steaks, cut from either shoulder or loin, are marinated in tangy lime juice with a kick from cayenne pepper. Broiled quickly over hot coals, these pork steaks make a quick and satisfying summer supper.

And weight-watchers take note: Caribbean Barbecue features lean pork, at only 276 calories per serving. Served with flour tortillas, sliced red onion, and tossed greens, these pork steaks make a low-calorie yet flavorful meal-from-the-grill.

Break away from your usual grill fare soon by preparing Caribbean Barbecue.

CARIBBEAN BARBECUE

2 lbs. boneless pork steak, about 1/2-inch thick
1 large red onion
1/2 cup fresh lime juice
1 tsp. salt
1/4-1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper

Trim fat from pork as needed. Thinly slice red onion. Place pork and onions in a glass or enamel 12 x 9-inch baking dish. Combine lime juice, salt and cayenne, pour over pork; cover and refrigerate for several hours. Lift pork steaks out of marinade, brushing off onions. Broil or cook over hot coals, 3 inches from heat, for 10-15 minutes, turning once. Heat onions and lime juice to boiling. Serve onions with cooked pork. Serve with tortillas, if desired. Serves 6. Calories per serving: 276.

Lively with lime and cayenne, Caribbean Barbecue is a tangy, low-calorie grill delight.

Outdoor cooking juices up turkey

Attention all outdoor chefs . . . or those who aspire to discover the thrill of outdoor cookery. Turkey — either that whole bird you have savored just on special occasions or one of the many parts available through your local store — may be the secret for an appetizing summertime meal.

Cooking time on an outdoor covered grill is easy to calculate, and little additional preparation is necessary for a juicy, golden brown, ready-to-carve meal . . . plus, the possibility of "planned-overs" means many more trouble-free meals ahead for you!

Just follow these easy step-by-step directions:

- Defrost the turkey according to package instructions.

- Remove giblets from inside turkey.

- Rinse turkey inside and out and pat dry.

- It is not advisable to stuff a turkey when barbecuing.

- Completely brush skin with oil. As the chef, it is up to you whether you wish to sprinkle with poultry seasoning, lemon juice, salt and pepper, or other seasonings.

- If you have chosen a whole turkey — skewer the neck skin, tuck drums into the "hock lock" or band of skin behind tail, and tuck wings behind bird. Other cuts — turkey breast, wings or drumsticks — need no additional preparation.

- Build fire for indirect heat according to your covered grill manufacturer's directions. Wood chips may be added for a new smoky flavor.

- Place turkey on grill and replace cover. Allow 11-13 minutes per pound roasting time. Eleven minutes per pound is recommended, but more time may be required if it is a damp or windy day. It's best to rely on your meat thermometer or "pop-up timer" to determine doneness. When thermometer is placed in turkey, it is done when temperature reaches 180 degrees in the inside thigh.

There's no need to baste during cooking — unless you are using a special recipe for flavoring.

Want an alternative to the whole bird? Savory marinated turkey wings and drums will let your outdoor chef shine!

LEMON-HERB TURKEY DRUMS

3-4 turkey drumsticks (2 1/2 to 4 lbs.)
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 Tbsp. oil
1/4 cup finely chopped onions
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper

Generously pierce turkey drumsticks with a fork. Place in a plastic bag which has been set in a bowl or pan to catch spillovers. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over drums and secure bag pressing out air. Refrigerate overnight. If meat is not completely immersed in marinade, turn occasionally. Wrap each drumstick in foil, adding 4 tablespoons of marinade; secure well. Place on grill over direct heat. Cook for 40 to 45 minutes, turning packages every 10 to 15 minutes. Remove foil and continue cooking, basting with the marinade until drums are brown and meat gives when pierced with a fork. Serves 5-9.

BOURBON BARBECUED TURKEY WINGS

3-4 turkey wings (2 1/2 to 4 lbs.)
1/2 cup bourbon
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup oil
1/4 cup soy sauce
1 Tbsp. ground ginger or 3 Tbsp. finely minced fresh ginger
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1/2 cup brown sugar

Remove wing tips. Cut remaining part at joint. Place in plastic bag which has been set in a bowl or pan to catch spillovers. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over wings and secure bag, pressing out the air. Refrigerate overnight. If meat is not completely immersed in marinade, turn occasionally. Using direct heat, cook for approximately 45 to 60 minutes turning and basting frequently. Serves 5-8.

Calcium — crucial for teen bones

The teen years are very active ones, and adolescents require the proper nutrition in order to keep up with their growing bodies and busy lives.

Calcium is one mineral that teens need large amounts of every day — 1,200 milligrams. That's four to five servings daily from the dairy group.

One serving is equal to one cup of milk or buttermilk, a container of yogurt or an ounce of cheese. Teens who are concerned with calories can opt for lowfat cheese, yogurt and lowfat or skim milk.

Other foods that are also good sources of calcium are salmon and sardines (both with edible bones) and cooked greens such as kale or collards.

Teenage boys usually meet the Recommended Dietary Allowance for calcium since they tend to consume large amounts of milk and other dairy foods. Teenage girls, however, consume far below the recommended amount of calcium.

INCREASED CALCIUM intake during adolescence is essential. During this period, bone development increases. At this time, the body forms about 45 percent of its bone mass and approximately 15 percent of its adult height. Even though bones no longer grow in length once final adult height is reached, they continue to grow in strength and thickness. Calcium is necessary in the diet every day in order to ensure that those bones are able to grow strong and dense.

If calcium intake during the teenage years is low, the unsuspecting teen may be predisposing her bones to decreased bone density. Decreased bone density may result in bones that fracture easily from normal, everyday stresses in later life. The condition is known as osteoporosis, and it affects as many as 15 to 10 million people in this country.

Osteoporosis cannot be cured, but research indicates that the risk can be reduced by including adequate calcium in your diet throughout life and exercising regularly to make sure the calcium you do get is most efficiently used by the body. (Weightbearing exercise such as walking, running and working out on exercise machines are best for bone-building since they pull and stress the longer bones of the body.)

Teens who are pregnant are recommended to consume even more calcium each day — 1,600 milligrams. The pregnant teen needs extra calcium for her own growing body's needs in addition to the new life forming inside her.

Those who are nursing are advised to meet the calcium RDA of 1,600 milligrams to ensure calcium-rich mother's milk for the baby and to replace the mother's calcium supply that is lost via daily feeding. If the mother's intake of calcium is inadequate, her body will draw the needed mineral for her body for her own bones.

Dijon mustard adds zesty flavor to shrimp

Whether serving friends an elegant meal or simple appetizers, most cooks want to create something different, delicious, yet simple to prepare.

There are a variety of tricks of the trade, but one of them is varying ingredient combinations so that whatever is served delivers an exceptional flavor, one not easily copied.

Mustard, especially Dijon mustard, is increasingly associated with gourmet cooking. It is easy to use, blends well with other flavors, and deliver a mild or strong flavor, and is appropriate with a variety of foods.

The recipes that follow are good examples. Shrimp Cocktail Dijonnaise is a spicy and elegant appetizer alternative, replacing the usual tomato cocktail sauce for shrimp.

As a main course, the Mediterranean Lamb Chops use a mustard stuffing to create an especially savory entree.

As another alternative, Dijon Herb Sauce can be prepared quickly in a blender and served with meats, including chicken, fish or veal.

SHRIMP COCKTAIL DIJONNAISE

- 3/4 cup mayonnaise
- 3 Tbsp. Dijon mustard
- 1 Tbsp. prepared horseradish
- 1 Tbsp. chopped parsley

- 2 tsp. fresh lemon juice
- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 lb. medium shrimp, peeled and deveined

Combine mayonnaise, mustard, horseradish, parsley, lemon juice and garlic powder. Chill. Cook or steam shrimp in lightly salted boiling water until pink. Cool and chill. Serve shrimp with sauce for dipping. Makes six servings.

MEDITERRANEAN LAMB CHOPS

- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 1 medium onion, chopped

- 1/2 cup mushrooms, finely chopped
- 1/4 cup Dijon mustard
- 2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. thyme
- 1/4 tsp. rosemary
- 1 cup fresh whole wheat bread crumbs
- 10 to 12 lamb chops, 1-inch thick, cut with pocket for stuffing
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 2 Tbsp. oil
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

wine, oil and pepper. Coat lamb chops with mixture. Place on broiling pan and cook for five minutes on each side or until cooked as desired. Makes six servings.

DIJON HERB SAUCE

- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1/4 cup Dijon mustard
- 2 Tbsp. red wine vinegar
- 1 Tbsp. water
- 1/4 tsp. tarragon, thyme or dill weed
- 1/4 tsp. salt

Combine ingredients in blender container. Cover and blend on high until smooth, about 30 seconds. Serve with meats, including chicken, fish and veal. Makes approximately 1 cup.

Team pasta with veggies

For green thumb gardeners, roadside-stand stopper and supermarket shoppers alike, the time is ripe for making the most of the season's bounty of vegetables. One fresh idea is to team a colorful variety of veggies with pasta, cheese and a lively sauce for a light and healthful main dish.

Summer Garden Spaghetti is a super summer recipe that's ideal for in-a-hurry meals. Begin this easy entree with spaghetti cooked just to the al dente stage. Toss the pasta with a creamy sauce teaming salad dressing and milk with grated parmesan cheese.

Top the spaghetti mixture with a bright blend of vegetables, quickly cooked in Italian dressing. Add a simple salad and a crusty loaf of bread for a satisfying, fast-to-fix feast.

SUMMER GARDEN SPAGHETTI

- 1 cup broccoli flowerets
- 1 cup 1-inch zucchini sticks
- 1/4 cup Italian dressing
- 2 cups chopped tomato
- 1 cup mushroom halves
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise-type dressing
- 7 oz. spaghetti, cooked, drained
- 1/2 cup (2 oz.) grated parmesan cheese
- 2 Tbsp. slivered almonds, toasted

Cook broccoli and zucchini in

For a light and healthful main dish, combine a colorful variety of veggies with pasta, cheese and a lively sauce.

dressing over low heat 5 minutes. Add tomato, mushrooms and parsley; continue cooking until vegetables are tender. Drain. Gradually add milk to salad dressing in saucepan; heat thoroughly. Pour over hot spaghetti. Add cheese; mix well. Serve vegetables over spaghetti mixture; top with almonds. 6 to 8 servings.

Microwave with imagination

Picture yourself wearily walking in the door after a busy day, hungry and no meal planned. You swing open the refrigerator door hoping for inspiration — but no luck.

That picture can change in a flash if you use your microwave with imagination; try Honey Lemon Carrots as one example.

HONEY LEMON CARROTS

- 4 carrots, peeled and slice (about 2 cups)
- 2 Tbsp. water
- 1 Tbsp. honey
- 1 Tbsp. butter or margarine

- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 2 Tbsp. raisins
- 1/4 tsp. parsley flakes

In 1-quart microwave-safe bowl, place carrots and water. Heat, covered, on HIGH 5-7 minutes or until tender-crisp, stirring once. Drain and set aside. In small microwave-safe bowl, place honey, lemon juice and butter. Heat, uncovered, 30 seconds to 1 minute, or until butter is melted. Stir in raisins and parsley. Pour honey mixture over carrots. Toss to coat evenly. Makes 4 servings.

Microwave made easy

Some answer to commonly asked questions about microwave ovens:

Q: How can I keep my microwave oven smelling clean and fresh?

A: Boil one-half cup of lemon juice and cup of water in a four-cup measure for two to three minutes for a fresh-smelling oven.

Q: Can paper products be used when cooking in the microwave oven?

A: Paper products can be used in the microwave oven, but they should be watched closely and used only for foods that require no longer than four minutes of cooking time. Paper products placed in the microwave oven for longer than this period can become hazardous with certain types of foods.

Q: Does the nutritional value of foods deteriorate when cooked in a microwave oven?

A: Because of shorter cooking time, most foods prepared in a microwave oven will retain more nutrients than when prepared conventionally.

Musician keeps kids entertained

By Julie Brown
staff writer

TOES WERE tapping last Thursday afternoon when a group of local youngsters met with Ann Arbor musician Peter "Madcat" Ruth.

Ruth took some time Thursday to entertain a group of Summer Reading Club youngsters from the Canton Public Library. The youngsters in the first floor meeting room of the township's Municipal Building listened to such favorites as "Oh, Susanna" and "Froggie Went A-Courting."

All eyes were on Ruth as he got things started by playing his harmonica.

"This is the instrument I like to play the most," he told the attentive youngsters.

The Ann Arbor musician demonstrated the different sounds harmonicas can produce. Harmonicas vary both in size and in sound, he said, and are easy to take along when traveling.

"Cowboys used to have harmonicas because it's such an easy instrument to carry around," Ruth told the youngsters just before playing an appropriate tune, "The Streets of Laredo."

RUTH USED a guitar and harmonica combination in playing "I've Been Working on the Railroad." He also showed the youngsters another instrument of his, the kalimba, which is made from a gourd.

"They're found all over Africa," he said of the instrument.

An African song — in Swahili — accompanied Ruth's use of the kalimba. The musician encouraged the youngsters to sing along.

"I bet you can sing louder than that," he said. The children quickly — and loudly — responded to his challenge.

Ruth also played his penny whistle and bird whistle — including one tune in which he played both, putting one on each side of his mouth.

MORE COMMON household items can also be used as musical instruments, Ruth told his young audience. A shampoo bottle, for example, can create musical sounds — although it's important to avoid swallowing the shampoo in the process.

"You can make music on a regular old shampoo bottle," Ruth said just before putting the bottle to his mouth to demonstrate his point. "People throw these away and don't realize they're valuable instruments."

The musician's performance was interrupted regularly by abundant applause. Ruth also thanked his young audience before finishing for the day.

"Thanks for being a nice audience. I had a great time playing here."

Ann Arbor musician Peter "Madcat" Ruth answers questions about his work from Canton Public Library Summer Reading Club participants.

Canton Township's Brad and Cheryl Polk-Inghorne enjoy the music created by Peter "Madcat" Ruth. Brad, 8, and Cheryl, 5, were among those attending the Summer Reading Club program Thursday afternoon.

By plucking the metal prongs of the kalimba with his thumb, the musician was able to create melodious sounds.

Memories

Reunion brings class together

By Julie Brown
staff writer

IT WASN'T the easiest of times in which to be a teenager. Even so, members of Plymouth High School's class of 1931 had plenty of fun.

The Great Depression meant hard times for many, but there were also good times.

"We didn't think there was a Depression," said class member Arbutus "Boots" (Williams) Munch, a Plymouth resident. "We didn't think so at that time."

"And we didn't have welfare either." Getting such assistance just wasn't the thing to do at the time, Munch said.

Classmate Kathryn (Pennell) Hansen, a Dearborn resident, agreed.

"That was the worst thing that could happen to you."

"I think it's much worse for the kids now," Hansen said. "Everything is so expensive. My husband says he's really sorry for the kids now."

"I guess it was rough, but we didn't know it."

The two women were among members of the Plymouth High School class of 1931 who gathered Thursday night for a reunion at the Elks Lodge in Plymouth. For the classmates, the 55-year reunion was a time for remembering.

AMONG THE 75 members of the class of 1931, 56 attended the reunion, according to Viola (Lattermoser) Pedersen. Pedersen, a Plymouth resident, served as the class vice president, with John Randall as president.

"We have lost 23 over the years," Pedersen said. Among the class members, only "four or five at the most" couldn't be tracked down.

"The previous committees had done all of this," she said. "It wasn't that hard this year."

With spouses included, attendance at the reunion last Thursday climbed to approximately 42. Most were from Michigan, although travelers from Wisconsin and from Cleveland, Ohio, also made the trip to Plymouth for the reunion.

The reunion included showing of slides by class member Arthur Gordon from the 25th reunion. Classmates also spent some time at a table covered with class memorabilia.

The memorabilia included class photos, both formal and candid, showing the styles of hair and clothing that were popular in those days. A page from the commencement program, dated Thursday, June 18, 1931, was also available for viewing.

THE YELLOWED page reminded class members that the commencement address that day was given by Judge G.I. Webster of the Circuit Court in Detroit. Diplomas were presented to the graduates by Superintendent George A. Smith.

'It's great. It's hard to believe that it's 55 years ago.'

— Larry Rudick
class of 1931

The 25th reunion was the first one members of the class of 1931 had, Pedersen said.

"Oh, that was a wonderful reunion." Reunions for the 35th, 40th, 45th and 50th years followed.

Reminiscing about the earlier days was part of the discussion Thursday at the Elks Lodge.

"It was the Depression and it was hard," class vice president Pedersen said. "It was a difficult time, but they were all young and optimistic."

Pedersen went on to attend the Detroit Business Institute.

"I was a secretary then for many years until I had my family." After she and her husband, Niels, had raised their two daughters, Pedersen returned to work outside of the home.

Classmate Larry Rudick, a Plymouth resident and Elks member, remembers the tough times of the Great Depression.

"It was difficult even for part-time jobs. They just didn't exist."

Plymouth High School classmates Kathryn (Pennell) Hansen (left) and Arbutus "Boots" (Williams) Munch enjoy looking at class photos.

The memories are good ones

THE TOUGH times made the teenagers feel challenged, he said. "We were a closely knit class, I think."

Many members of the class of 1931 have stayed in the area throughout their adult years.

"I think we were a very active class. We were very well-represented in sports."

Dramatics and other school activities also included members of the class of 1931.

Rudick went on to attend teacher's college in Ypsilanti at what is now known as Eastern Michigan University. His tuition was $21.67 per quarter.

In addition to getting his bachelor's degree, Rudick earned a master's degree in speech at the University of Michigan. He taught communication arts, speech and theater for a number of years at such schools as the University of Detroit, Schoolcraft College and Macomb Community College before retiring several years ago.

Rudick had been looking forward to seeing fellow members of the high school's class of 1931.

"I have, yes, very much. It's great. It's hard to believe that it's 55 years ago."

CLASS-MEMBER Kathryn Hansen agreed that attending the reunion and seeing her former Plymouth High School classmates was fun.

"Exciting," she said, with a chuckle. "I'm just glad to be alive."

The class of 1931 from Plymouth High School was well represented at last Thursday's reunion. Class members who served on the reunion committee were Norma (Savery) Schmeman, Arbutus "Boots" (Williams) Munch, Don Dunn, Jewell (Rengert) Casselman, Larry Rudick and Viola (Luttermoser) Pedersen.

League event planned

The League of Catholic Women will host a bundle tea Wednesday, July 16, at Mill Race Historical Village in Northville. Hours will be 1-4 p.m.

A donation of $5 or a bundle of resalable items will help the league open its new resale shop at 598 Mill St. in Plymouth.

The historical village is located on Griswold just north of Northville Road (Main Street) in Northville. Refreshments will be served in the New School Church, built in 1845.

The village was created in 1972 by the Northville Historical Society.

On Wednesday, July 16, tours will be run concurrently throughout the village. The tours will include:

- the Hunter House, built in 1851, now a museum housing several historical pieces on loan from the Detroit Historical Museum;
- the Wash Oak School, built in 1873, one of the few remaining one-room schoolhouses in Michigan;
- the Yerkes House, built in 1868, featuring Victorian carpentry in traditional Gothic style;
- Cottage House, built in the 1890s and now used as a studio by the Mill Race Eavers Guild;
- the Hirsch Stone Blacksmith Shop, complete with a "smithy." This replica also houses a separate museum.

In conjunction with its 80th anniversary, the League of Catholic Women is opening a new "Bargain Boutique" in Plymouth. Services assisted by the organization include Barat Human Services, the Casa Maria Family Center, Peter Claver Neighborhood Services, Project Transition and Vistas Nuevas-Head Start.

Donations are tax-deductible and may be sent to: League of Catholic Women, 120 Parsons St., Detroit 48201.

FEELING TIRED?

Often patients with arthritis will tell their doctor: "I don't know what is wrong with me, I feel tired all the time." Patients believe the fatigue is their own fault, that if they had a better attitude or exercised more they wouldn't feel so weary.

The truth is that fatigue in arthritis is the first unwanted guest to arrive, and the last to leave. When physicians consider inflammation, they talk about swelling, pain, and loss of movement of a joint - aspects of arthritis that they can measure. Fatigue is difficult to gauge and therefore is not given the attention it deserves.

No medicine or exercise hastens fatigue's departure. The most successful strategy is articular rest: alternating the activities of the day with respite that includes lying down, sleeping if possible, but definitely stopping the mental and physical movement of daily life. Like other therapies in arthritis, the effect is slow and requires persistence in the face of setbacks and flares of joint pain.

Prearrangement— It's time well spent.

By arranging the details of a funeral in advance you can take care of many of the decisions concerning your funeral.

Prearrangement will give your family the guidance they need concerning the type of service and costs you feel are appropriate. Very simply, Prearrangement is just part of putting your affairs in order.

A.J. Baker: Mr. Hockey

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Just who is this A.J. Baker character?

You see his name in the paper a lot. You see him at seemingly every high school and junior hockey game you attend. He seems omnipresent in hockey circles.

If you are true follower of amateur and college hockey, you might remember him from his playing days. He played college hockey at both Ohio State and Eastern Michigan before spending two years in Sweden playing on a semi-pro circuit.

Now he's more or less known as Mr. Amateur Hockey in these parts — although the title will embarrass him severely.

A.J. Baker, 27, heads up a company called Midwest Hockey Schools headquartered in Ann Arbor. Midwest Hockey is an off-shoot of Dave McGuigan's Michigan Community Report project. McGuigan used to be the director of amateur hockey development for the Detroit Red Wings in the Ted Lindsay era.

He was Baker's mentor. "McGuigan was a genius," Baker said. "He created the position of amateur hockey director and sold it to Ted Lindsay. That position is what Danny Belisle Jr. (who works closely with Midwest Hockey) does with the Wings now."

MIDWEST HOCKEY, a fledgling but forever growing company, acts as a clearing house for amateur hockey in Michigan. It sponsors hockey clinics all across the state, it organizes and promotes high school hockey through an all-state game and the U.S. High School Invitational Tournament and it lends able assistance to midget, bantam and junior hockey throughout the state.

Also, Midwest Hockey is the sponsor of the Midwest Summer Hockey League, soon to begin its fourth season at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

"What we are trying to establish is a supporting body to professional hockey," Baker said. "We want to be a facility whereby young players can gain the proper fundamental training and the proper exposure. So many parents and players are in the dark about what junior hockey is all about. They may have a boy who is a star at the midget level but they have no idea about the next step. We can answer those types of questions." Baker's role with Midwest Hockey? He is a coach, a scout, a promoter and an administrator.

"I'm definitely trying to make a career out of hockey," Baker said. "I've recently obtained my marketing degree from Eastern Michigan University and I hope now to make Midwest Hockey a year-round, financially stable business. We want to make a few dollars, but at the same time we don't want to gouge the public. I realize that's a very fine line, but it can be done."

THE MIDWEST Summer Hockey League is a perfect example of what Baker's aims are. After three successful seasons, the MSHL has established itself as superb off-season training and conditioning league for high school, junior, college and even professional players.

Mark Hamway and Richard Kromm of the Islanders both spent time in the MSHL. But the NHL will no longer allow its contracted players to compete in summer leagues.

Baker isn't fretting over it. He has 140 players ready to take the ice on eight teams. The MSHL has gotten so big, an MSHL II has been created for the younger players. It will play its season at the Ice Box in Brownstown Township. There are another 148 players in the MSHL II.

"The (Plymouth) league this year is as good, if not better, than the last three," Baker said. "We've lost a couple of players off the top, but the bottom-level players have moved way up. There's a real nice balance of talent throughout the league."

AND JUST because the league is basically for conditioning and special training, don't think it lacks for competitiveness. The teams play for the chance to travel to Chicago to compete against the champions of a similar summer hockey league.

The 11-game regular-season schedule will begin Monday, July 7, at the Plymouth Cultural Center. Admission to the games, which are played Sunday through Thursday nights, is $1. And the money taken in goes to the Michigan Special Olympics.

So where is all this going to take Baker?

"If some NHL team wants to offer me $60,000 a year to be their marketing assistant, I'll talk to them," he said, jokingly. "But I know how much hard work and how much time I've put into Midwest Hockey. I'm not trying to boast or anything, but if I were to leave, Midwest Hockey would go right down the drain. I want very much to see Midwest Hockey succeed."

Curtain closing on Hawk hoops?

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The Farmington Harrison girls basketball program is on the ropes, its future dim.

Ron Holland, athletic director of the Farmington Public School District, said Thursday that a decision will be made in August whether or not to continue sponsorship of a girls basketball program at Harrison.

"Chris Lessnau (the head coach of the program) held a summer mini-camp, like all the other schools in the Western Lakes do. He sent out letters to the middle schools and made about 80 phone calls to see what kind of interest there would be. He had a commitment from about 40 kids to attend the camp. But only about 12 or 13 showed up," Holland said.

The camp was cancelled. "We are going to start practice Aug. 11 and wait about a week to see what type of numbers we get," Holland said. "We'll make a decision at that time."

The final decision to cancel the program would be made by the school's superintendent and the school board. If an insufficient number of players show up in August, Holland said he will recommend that the program be terminated.

"We ARE very concerned about not being able to field a junior varsity and varsity program for safety factors," Holland said. "You have seven or eight kids not exceeding themselves too far. And you have a situation where freshmen and sophomores are competing on the varsity level before they are ready. They are playing basketball, but what are they really getting out of it?"

The Harrison girls basketball team currently holds the longest losing streak in the state. Over the course of the last three seasons, Harrison has lost 61 consecutive games.

The constant losing has forced the better Harrison players away from the game. Last year, Jennifer Hughes was the only senior on the team and the only player on the team to have ever experienced victory in a Hawk uniform.

There has not been enough players to field a junior varsity team the past two seasons. Several times the team has begun games with only six players and finished with less than five.

IT'S AN ironic situation, considering Farmington Harrison's proud athletic tradition. The school has had consistent success in football, boys basketball and baseball throughout the 1980s.

"It's like I told the girls," Lessnau said. "First it's basketball, then it's soccer, then tennis, then track — they all have problems getting girls out. I don't know why it is, but the best girl athletes are not playing sports. They're into pom poms and cheerleading. I don't know why that is."

Lessnau does not expect things to change by Aug. 11. "It's really disappointing," he said. "I've done all that I could do. And I don't think, come August, we'll have anymore kids show up."

Caesars walks to LCBL top

West Bloomfield jolts Adray 9

Redford Little Caesars took a walk on the wild side Wednesday to keep its first-place lead in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League.

Taking advantage of nine base-on-balls, Caesars ran its league record to 10-4-1 with an easy 9-2 victory over Walter's Appliance at Ford Field.

Although outhit 6-4, Caesars scored once in the first and six in the second inning to put the game away early.

Walter's starter Kirk Boyd lasted only 1 1/2 innings, giving up seven runs on six walks and two hits.

Brian Ronny's bases-loaded single off Boyd in the second sparked the six-run uprising.

Chris Semik finished up for Walter's, allowing only two runs on two hits over the final 5 1/2 innings, but it was too little, too late.

Caesars tallied two more runs in the fifth on Chris Looney's RBI triple and Don Taylor's RBI sacrifice fly.

Tom Liss was the winning pitcher, holding Walter's scoreless over the first four innings. Looney finished up.

Ed Shepler went 2-for-3 for Walter's, which dipped to 8-7-1 in LCBL play.

LIVONIA ADRAY dug a hole it couldn't get out of Wednesday, falling to upstart West Bloomfield in an LCBL game at Capitol Park, 8-5.

Two passed balls and a two-run single by Craig Mathews led to a big West Bloomfield uprising in the first.

Jim Robinson, the winning pitcher, allowed only one run over four innings, a solo homer by Jeff DePorter, one of his two hits.

Rob Ogden, the Livonia starter, went 3 1/2 innings, yielding all eight RB runs. He was relieved in the sixth by Pat McAllinden, who finished up.

West Bloomfield is 6-3 in league play, while Livonia fell to 3-4-1.

TOM HOLZER FORD of Northville, meanwhile, stayed one game behind Caesars with a 7-4 victory Wednesday over Wendy's of Ann Arbor in a battle at Ford Field.

Holzer, now 3-1, scored the winning in the bottom of the sixth when Eric Engel was safe on an error, went to second on a passed ball and scored on a two-out single by Troy Conners.

Greg Ryba, the last of three Holzer pitchers, held Wendy's scoreless over the final 3 1/2 innings to pick up the victory. He struck out four, walked one and allowed only one hit.

Holzer starter Chris Willwer, who hurled 3 1/2 innings, was tagged for five runs, three of which were unearned. He was relieved by Mark Peralta, who allowed the sixth Wendy's run on a pair of walks and a hit batsman.

Northville scored twice in the first on RBI singles by Martin Eddy and Scott Draper.

In the second, Rob Cannon drew a two-out walk, took second on a passed ball, swiped third base and raced home on a Wendy's infield error.

In the fourth, Scott Peterson singled, stole two bases and scored on a passed ball.

Holzer took the lead in the fifth on a sacrifice fly and another Wendy's error, one of four on the night.

Canton undefeated on Connie Mack circuit

Fred Crissey's return to Connie Mack baseball has been, well, successful.

After a four-year sabbatical, the long-time Plymouth Canton coach has his Canton summer team off to a 3-0 start in the Redford-Adray Connie Mack (11-under) Baseball League.

"I've just been very impressed with the strength of this league,"

Crissey said. "You got an Ypsilanti team that was third in the national tournament last year, a Livonia team that's a combination Church-III and Franklin, Redford Union, Livonia Evens and Plymouth Salem. There are no cripples in this league."

Canton extended its first-place lead over Ypsilanti by winning a 10-6, 3-1 game Wednesday. The dropped Ypsilanti to 4-3, two games back of Canton.

Canton grad Dwayne Jones singled home Chris Steier, who had blown a lead in the first inning.

Livonia hosts 200 kick teams

The World Cup may be over, but soccer is still going strong, particularly at Schoolcraft College where the Wolverine VII tournament will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

An estimated 200 youth teams and 3,800 players from the midwest and Canada will compete for age-group titles this weekend. Over 20,000 participants and spectators are expected.

Tournament play begins Friday at three different sites: 8:10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Dickinson School and Bicentennial Park; and 8 a.m. to 7:20 p.m.

Matches will continue Saturday at two sites: 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Bicentennial and 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Schoolcraft.

All finals will be held Sunday at Schoolcraft. Play begins at 9 a.m.

Admission is free, but parking is $1 per car, per day.

AGE-GROUP TITLES for boys are as follows: under-10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 18 and 19. The five girls divisions include under-10, 12, 14, 16 and 19.

Games will be played simultaneously on 13 different fields at Schoolcraft, nine at Bicentennial and four at Dickinson.

Last year, the tournament generated an estimated $1 million for the local economy. This year, according to Schoolcraft College athletic director Marv Gans, approximately 1,800 motel and hotel rooms will be booked.

Last year's Wolverine VI tourney produced six champions from the Observer and Eccentric coverage area: (boys) Vardar III, under-13; Troy United, under-15; Troy Michigan Metros, under-16; Vardar III, under-18; (girls) Plymouth Western Suburban Soccer League Stingers, under-14; and Livonia Florist Hawks, under-16.

Makara among locals at All-Star clash

Ten players and three coaches will represent the Observer & Eccentric coverage area at the sixth annual Michigan High School East-West All-Star Football Game Saturday, Aug. 2, at Michigan State University.

Joe D'Angelo of Detroit Country Day will be the head coach of the East team this year, with assistance from Frank Buford of Bloomfield Hills Andover and Robert Dowd of Country Day.

Headlining the East's offensive attack will be halfbacks Tony Boles of Westland John Glenn and Torin Dorn of Southfield. Chris Sullivan of Birmingham Brother Rice will be one of the quarterbacks and Brian Smolinski of Farmington Harrison a wide receiver.

Dan Nash of Redford Catholic Central and Craig Petersmark of Farmington will strong-arm the East's offensive line.

ON DEFENSE, Paul Makara of Plymouth Salem, Marc Spencer of Birmingham Seaholm, Bruce Work of Andover and Jeff Jones of Country Day will represent the area.

The East team holds a 3-2 edge over the West in the series, although the West pounded the East 14-0 last year.

Tickets are $5 and can be ordered through Jim Clawson, 24490 Crescent, Woodhaven, 48183, or call 676-4486.

Game time is 1:30 p.m.

WWMBBA honors its perfect bowlers

Bowlers posting outstanding achievements during the 1985-86 season were honored recently by the Wayne-Westland Mens Bowling Association at the 20th annual awards dinner-dance.

Eight perfect scores — 300 games — were rolled at Super Bowl in Canton. The high rollers were Gary Asher, Lynn Carter, John Chataway, Kevin Engler, Steve Londeau, Mark Scheffer, Gary Sinveck and Leonard Wegryzn.

At Wayne Bowl, perfect games were recorded by Gene Combs, Joe Emery Sr., Mack Ivory and Leon Smith Jr. Smith carried the highest average in the WWMBBA with a 221.

bowling

At Fiesta Lanes, Jack Johnson and Steve Schwartz rolled perfect games, while at Town 'N Country, Gary Brudna and Jim Daniels each tallied 300's.

Among the bowlers posting 299's were: Bob Hanneberg, Dan Harrison, John Moore, Dave Proffitt, Alvin Thornberry and James Warner. Meanwhile, Randy Birdwell and Randy Gazdag each rolled a 298.

LONDREAU took high series honors for the WWMBBA, scoring an 812 at Super Bowl on games of 300, 268 and 244. He was followed by Thomas Brudzinski and George Fineran with 805 and 804, respectively.

Other high series awards went to Dave Thomas, 786, Westland Bowl; Arnie O'Brien, 783, Town 'N Country; Charles West, 780, Wayne; and Robert Harris, 778, Fiesta.

The WWMBBA honored its 39th City Tournament champions at Colonial Lanes.

The winning team consisted of Lester Griffin, Alfred Price, Anthony Price, Robert White and Tony Woods.

Allen Campbell was the singles champion, while Bill Meister and Bob Pniewski took the doubles crown. Meister was also the all-events winner, and Hanneberg took the special event award with a 299.

In the mixed doubles tourney, Mike Simonds and Mary Baterson took first. Larry Kilgore's high game of 278 took single honors, while Terry McDermid won high game (handicap) with a 310 score.

Winners of the third annual Youth Scholarship Tournament were: (Girls) Kellie Flanigan, 754 series, $1,000; Charlene Jaskolski, 685, $500; (Boys) Robbie Cook, 686, $1,000; and David Turner, 668, $500.

MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY BENEFIT: Employees from Westland, Garden City, Plymouth and Canton will meet Sunday at Town 'N Country Lanes in Westland to compete in a Strike Force Bowl.

Each employee will be recruiting pledges for the number of pins they knock down in a three-game bowling series. Competition between stores is based on the amount the store raises for MDA.

Legion 9 on streak

The Farmington American Legion baseball team is 11-3 — easily the best start in the club's history — and has won eight of its last nine games.

So why isn't coach Randy Meier smiling?

He's pleased with his team's start, but he can't get the Wednesday nightmare out of his mind.

"I don't even want to talk about it," he said.

Farmington took an 8-0 lead into the top of the seventh against Milford Wednesday, and lost 9-8. Four Farmington pitchers walked 10 batters in the inning. The final seven Milford runs came after two were out.

The loss spoiled a strong pitching performance by Chris Alexander. The Brother Rice product fanned eight of the first nine outs he recorded and finished with nine strikeouts. He tired in the seventh, walking five straight batters.

Tom Giroux, Steve Cody and Paul Newitt each had two hits.

BUT TO Farmington's credit, they shook off the defeat and embarked on a five-game win streak.

On Friday, Mike Gabriele tossed a four-hitter in Farmington's 5-0 win against Auburn Hills. Newitt's three hits paced the attack. Gabriele and Denny Atwell each had two hits.

Farmington took a pair from Troy-Birmingham on Saturday, 14-7 and 6-0. Paul Sprainitis keyed the opener with a grand slam home run and two singles. Cody collected three more hits and Gabriele blasted a two-run homer. Art Eastman earned the victory.

In the second game, Brent Daniels tossed a three-hit shutout. Atwell and Dave Mote rapped out a pair of hits.

The winning ways continued on Sunday. Farmington swept Redford 4-3 and 7-4.

Joe Bob Wenson, normally an infielder, pitched four innings of scoreless relief to record the win in game one. Giroux, Alexander and Newitt knocked in the runs.

ALEXANDER, with relief help from Gabriele, picked up the win in game two. Dave Bartone had three hits and Giroux hit a two-run homer. Newitt had two hits, also.

Farmington will play at Troy-Birmingham Friday night. The American Legion All-Star Game will take place at 7 p.m. Sunday at Berkley. Farmington's Dave Bartone, Steve Cody, Mike Gabriele, Paul Newitt and Denny Atwell are expected to be on the team.

'Ruthless People' are delightful characters

If you enjoy wacko characters in a nutty romp, you'll love "Ruthless People" (R), a highly improbable, very funny film.

Sam Stone (Danny DeVito) married his wife, Barbara (Bette Midler), for her money — she was the boss's daughter — and Sam hates Barbara.

If she was responsible for decorating their home, he has good reason. That set is a riot of color and perverted modern design which, in itself, is a clever satire of excessive trends in modernity and provides a fitting backdrop for much of the action.

Even if Barbara didn't decorate, Sam hates her — she's fat, petulant, demanding and a few other unpleasant characteristics.

BUT THEN Sam's no bargain either, a cut-throat businessman who, as the film opens, describes to his mistress, Carol (Anita Morris), how he plans to murder Barbara for her money and his freedom.

Carol's boyfriend, Earl (Bill Pullman), is simple-minded and rather vacant but he does things with a vibrator that keep Carol happy. His deadpan stupidity is worth a few good laughs.

With Earl at the camera and blackmail in her heart, Carol videotapes what she thinks is Sam murdering Barbara.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, as they say, while Sam is preparing to murder Barbara, two highly unlikely kidnapers, Ken (Judge Reinhold) and Sandy Kessler (Helen Slater), snatch Barbara to settle a grudge they have with Sam.

Well, Barbara is one tough cookie, played as only Bette Midler can, and she drives her abductors around the bend with her antics. One can see why Sam had blood in his eye!

IF YOU THINK this summary gives it all away, you're wrong, it just sets the scene. Much of the film is devoted to working out all the plot complications and following the characters as they discover what's really going on.

Much comedy turns on mistaken identity and "Ruthless People" is no exception. In fact, the substitutions — wrong people in the wrong places at the right times — come fast and the movies

Bette Midler is the spoiled wealthy wife whose husband, a nasty-tempered businessman, would like to murder her. He's thrilled when she gets kidnapped.

furious and the audience benefits watching the characters discover what's happening.

Who was videotaped when Carol thought Earl recorded Sam murdering Barbara? Will the Bedroom Killer strike again? Can Sandy and Ken endure another day with Barbara?

The principals are just plain good comics, but DeVito and Reinhold are on the threshold of stereotyping themselves — always enjoyable, but repetitive roles nonetheless. DeVito always seems to play the fast-talking, wisecracking and irreverent guy from New Jersey out to make a buck or two more at any cost. He is from New Jersey.

Reinhold plays the same character consistently, a latter-day Buster Keaton deadpanning along. While the world swirls around him, he goes about his business with a detached air of wonderment. It is an excellent comic role, but after "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" and "Off-Beat," in particular, it's enough of the same routine.

THE GIRLS ARE another matter. Midler is fine as the tough, unpleasant and decadent lady whose every whim must be met. The character may be a stereotype but Midler isn't. Slater is soft and appealing and functions as a foil for the comedy rather than a motivator of laughs.

These "Ruthless People" really aren't vindictive. They're just a bunch of loveable and nutty comic characters. The movie projects a sense of humor and safety throughout. Even when the Bedroom Killer attacks, there is no real threat.

Touchstone Films is marketing "Ruthless People" with the vengeance concept. For example, the "Golden Screw Award," which I think is misplaced and not very effective. It's a dumb gag that doesn't play.

But the film, "Ruthless People," plays very well and ought to leave 'em laughing all summer.

IT IS AMAZING the "Manhattan Project" (PG-13) is still at area theaters. It's a simple-minded story of a high-school kid who steals enough plutonium from a well-guarded government facility to make an atomic bomb, which he does, setting in motion hostile government forces.

The movie might better be titled, "Attack of the Killer Adults." But if you can believe that nice looking young people can solve the world's most complex problems by turning up the volume on their Walkmans, "Manhattan Project" is your ticket to fun.

"AMERICAN ANTHEM" (PG-13) is a music-video exercise in hi-tech youth on the parallel bars. It features the bodies of Mitch Gaylord and Janet Jones competing for places on the U.S. Gymnastics Team. While they are both very attractive, neither their acting nor the story and dialogue with which they are forced to deal offers any hope.

Much of the film is in music-video style. That probably was a blessing for it would have been unendurable to spend 90 minutes listening to their toneless rendition of such unremarkable dialogue as, "Whad-da-ya want from me?" and, "Go, Steve, go get 'em."

River House is nice value

Your traveling taster visits area eateries and rates them on a 100-point scale. Up to 30 points are awarded for ambiance, which includes general atmosphere and service; 55 points for food; and 15 points for price/value rating. A total count of 59 points or less indicates a restaurant is not recommended; 60-74 points signify from passing to good; 75-89 points designate very good with some extraordinary features; and 90-100 points show that a very special dining experience awaits you.

and flavorful. The drinks were a bit on the weak side. Drinks, Appetizers and Bread — 10 points maximum. Points awarded — 8.

The salad, which was overloaded with croutons, was crisp but standard; the limited assortment of vegetables was not exciting. The creamy garlic dressing was a little sweet and again lacked enough garlic flavor for us. Salad — 5 points maximum. Points awarded — 3.

Our entrees were nicely prepared. The shrimp stuffed with crabmeat and topped with Monterey jack cheese ($9.95) had plenty of crab. The cheese made this dish very rich but enjoyable. The yellowfin tuna, a special of the day at $8.95, came in a large and fresh portion. It had been slightly burned when grilled but remained tasty. The prime rib ($12.95) was the beef choice suggested by the waiter. It was a large cut, with a bone as requested. There was too much juice, served over it, but it was better flavored than in some other restaurants. The vegetables and potatoes were ample and satisfying. Entree, Vegetables and Garnishes — 30 points maximum. Points awarded — 26.

The limited selection of desserts was disappointing. The carrot cake ($1.75) was OK but nothing special. The mocha swirl cheesecake ($2.25) was surprisingly light and a nice combination of flavors. A few more choices could have improved this important (to me) category. Dessert — 10 points maximum. Points awarded — 6.

At $40 per couple including tip, this was plenty to eat, and the atmosphere was much nicer than we had expected from the outside of the restaurant. For couples or families, this is a welcoming place to eat. Price/Value — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 13.

RIVER HOUSE, 25241 Grand River, Redford (592-4646) makes a conscious — and successful — effort to provide good food, very pleasant surroundings and reasonable prices. The restaurant, about six months old, has a clean and updated decor, with attractive prints hanging on gray and mauve walls. There are fresh flowers on the tables and lemon in the water glasses, but the plastic tablecloths remind the diners that this is not the Ritz. A mixed group of neighborhood people, casually attired, seem to make up the normal crowd. There is a nice bar area, and reservations are available. Dinner took about an hour and 15 minutes. The restaurant is closed Mondays. General atmosphere — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 13.

The waiters and waitresses are enthusiastic and very nice. Our waiter was quite helpful in making dinner recommendations. Unfortunately, his service — especially in not clearing the table completely and in leaving crumbs on it — was a bit uneven. The meal was too fast paced, and at times we had barely finished one course when the next arrived. Nonetheless the overall impression was that our waiter was trying very hard and was very anxious to please. Service — 15 points maximum. Points awarded — 12.

The hot platter of mixed hors d'oeuvres ($8.95) was quite good. The mushroom caps stuffed with crabmeat and the clams in shells were tasty and fresh. The escargot was mild and could have had more garlic taste. A delicious loaf of warm rye bread added considerably to our appetizers. The entrees include soup as well as salad, and the potato and leek soup was thick

A Counting for Taste — 100 points maximum. Total points awarded: 81. River House is a still-undiscovered eatery which deserves a try if you are near Grand River and Seven Mile. The food is not extra-fancy, but there are special touches that make this a very enjoyable dining experience.
