Cruise-in gets notice

Plymouth police said they're ready for a downtown Saturday cruise-in planned by area youths.

Cruise-in organizers said they passed out thousands of fliers advertising the event around metro Detroit. The event was planned amid a continuing local controversy this summer, which has pitted teenagers, who swarm downtown by the hundreds, against business owners, who have complained of teens loitering and littering near their stores.

"We hope they'll come to town and drive safely," Richard Myers said.

Since July 1, city police have issued 159 vehicle-related citations, many to young drivers cruising Kellogg Park as hundreds of teens gather there during evenings.

Visit of GOP buoys hopes of hoteliers

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Area hotel executives will cross their fingers and hope for the best following a visit to Detroit last week by the Republican Party's 1988 national convention site selection committee.

Gary Seibert, general manager of the Novi Hilton, said he was optimistic after a couple of committee members visited his 240-room facility on Haggerty Road for about 20 minutes Thursday morning.

"I would say it looks good," he said. "The challenge is to show them we have enough hotel rooms."

The Novi Hilton served beverages and elephant-shaped cookies to the scouts, Seibert said, but he conceded they were more interested in the facilities.

"They're non-committed at this point. I think with our size and meeting rooms, we could probably host two delegations or one large one."

THE NOVI Hilton can now offer a 9,000-square-foot ballroom, a 100-seat lecture hall and nine smaller meeting rooms. About 150 more guest rooms and five meeting rooms are expected to be added prior to the convention.

Seibert estimated that he could commit 85 percent of his hotel space to conventioners if Detroit were to get the nod.

Members of the site selection committee were also to visit the Plymouth Hilton Inn on Northville Road last week, said Diane Maloney, director of sales. Time limitations, though, necessitated a cancellation.

"It's probably just as well they didn't come because we're renovating here and we have a lot of dust," she said. "The lobby, banquet facilities, lounge — the whole hotel is being done."

The Massachusetts delegation stayed in the Plymouth Hilton Inn during the 1980 convention.

About 150 of the hotel's 195 rooms would be held for the convention, Maloney projected. The facility also includes a ballroom of 11,000 square feet and four smaller meeting rooms.

THE HILTON has been working with the Metropolitan Detroit Convention & Visitors Bureau to woo the Republicans, Maloney said. "I believe they're very optimistic."

The Mayflower Hotel, which didn't get involved in lodging guests to the 1980 convention due to space limitations, would be more willing to participate in 1988, said Scott Lorenz, general manager.

Construction of the Mayflower II has since added 39 rooms bringing the total for the hotel, annex and motor inn to about 100, he said.

Additionally, the complex could make available the Mayflower Meeting House, which seats up to 450, and the Miles Standish and Governor Bradford rooms, each seating about 100, for caucuses or entertainment.

The Mayflower wasn't on the selection committee's itinerary last week.

Lorenz speculated that the Mayflower could host a small delegation or perhaps a news organization.

Lorenz isn't as optimistic as some others about Detroit landing the convention. "The problem . . . is most people want to stay near the convention center," he said. Most of the hotel rooms are in the suburbs.

"WE'D LOVE to have them," Lorenz added. "It (convention) focuses so much attention on the Detroit area — and it would be positive."

The Red Roof Inn, with 109 rooms in Plymouth Township, and the Knights Inn, 107 rooms in Canton, hosted people involved in the 1980 convention with ancillary roles — technicians and media representatives.

With no meeting facilities, both would likely serve the same function this time around.

"We're very optimistic," said Colleen Reeves, a spokeswoman for the visitors and convention bureau. "They (selection committee members) were very impressed with Detroit, especially convention facilities."

Hotel space is the big drawback, she said.

A final decision is expected in January. The committee has now visited five of the 10 cities bidding for the convention. Others are Atlanta, Houston, Seattle, New Orleans, Kansas City, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, St. Louis and Philadelphia.

Holding 2 offices at once ruled out

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Elaine Tuttle could not serve "simultaneously" as treasurer of Livonia and county commissioner from the 10th District — if her bid for the county post is successful — because the jobs are legally "incompatible," said an assistant Michigan Attorney General last week.

Attorney Richard Gartner, of the office's Elections Division, based his "informal opinion" on two rulings made in the last 13 months by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

If Tuttle wins the Republican nomination on Aug. 5 and prevails in November, Gartner said she could be met with a legal challenge to force a choice between the two public posts.

Tuttle currently earns $38,000 a year as city treasurer. The job of county commissioner pays $27,000. Tuttle said that if she is elected county commissioner she will keep her job as treasurer and do both jobs. She said she would only accept $20,000 of the county's salary. See story inside.

"THOSE POSITIONS are incompatible and should not simultaneously be occupied by the same person," said Gartner. He said his opinion was not a formal opinion and these are made only at the request of state legislators, agency chiefs, county prosecutors and city attorneys.

Because of the relationship between the county and the city of Livonia, she should not be in a position of wearing two hats, serving two masters," Gartner said. "That's where the incompatibility problem lies — where are his her loyalties and which takes precedent, county or city business?"

Tuttle, an accountant, disputed Gartner's interpretation. She said she doesn't believe the attorney general's previous rulings apply in her case, and said she researched the issue, herself.

"I sat and read through the election laws, state law, Constitution and city charter," she said.

"I don't have a vote in our city (council)," she said. "I do collect the county taxes but I wouldn't receive them at the other end. Those are different instances."

GARTNER BASED his interpretation on an opinion handed down by Kelley on June 1985. Kelley ruled that a village councilman could not serve on the township's board of trustees and the county commission because of conflicts that could arise from contractual agreements between the separate governmental units. His opinion noted both Michigan Common Law and state statute in his probe into the incompatibility question.

Included in the body of that opinion was a reference to another Kelley ruling (Jan. 16, 1980), this one involving a conflict question between the offices of a village trustee and township clerk. Kelley said they were compatible so long as no contracts existed between the two units of government.

"The existence of contracts between the governmental entities involved requires a contrary conclusion," Kelley then wrote.

IN ADDITION, Kelley wrote that a public official's "dilemma" could only be resolved when he/she vacated one of those offices.

Explained Gartner: "The problem is that the official is performing duties where the offices are either supervisory to the other, or subordinate to the other. She would in essence be in a position of (choosing) which interests is she going to represent in those circumstances."

In a related Kelley ruling, Gartner cited the case of a Macomb County assistant prosecutor, Carl Marlinga, who sought election to the East Detroit City Council.

In that opinion, decided on March 21, Kelley ruled that the offices were incompatible. He noted that the U.S. Constitution designed separation of powers among the three main branches of government — legislative, executive and judiciary.

It could be argued, said Gartner, that a city treasurer's position represents the executive branch of city government. The county commission, meanwhile, is a Legislative arm of government.

"I'm not saying that he (she) isn't capable of holding two positions but that as a matter of law, an individual shouldn't be in that position," said Gartner, a nine-year staff veteran.

IN LIVONIA, there are a few examples of the interrelationship between the city and Wayne County.

As treasurer, Tuttle's main responsibility is as a tax collector, and that includes collecting taxes for a number of governmental units including Wayne County, local school districts and Schoolcraft College.

In addition, there are special assessment collections for projects ranging from installing street lights to roadwork, performed by city and county government.

Wayne County also assists the city treasurer in assessing industrial and commercial property, and will collect those taxes when they become delinquent on real property found there.

Tuttle, though, is not the first Livonian or Wayne County public official who sought a seat on the 15-member commission.

Livonia assessor Ronald Mardiros tried to unseat commissioner Richard Manning, D-Redford Township, in the 9th District when it still included a part of Livonia more than a dozen years ago.

"NOBODY STOPS you from run-

Elaine Tuttle

ning, but they won't let you take the oath of office," he said. "We all knew we had to choose at the time."

Wayne County Commissioner Freddie Burton Jr., D-Detroit, served as a city of Detroit assessor when he sought a county commission seat.

Burton was unavailable to comment last week, but Mardiros recalled that Burton also was forced to select.

Tuttle, 45, has asserted all along that if elected she would have no

School bond plans proceed

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Voters approved a $13-million bond issue last June for school construction, renovations and equipment purchases.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is now mapping a strategy to spend that money.

The board last week accepted an offer from a group of underwriters headed by Prescott, Ball & Turben to buy the bonds at an interest rate of 7.249 percent.

Checks totaling $13 million are expected to arrive in the board offices some time in August, said Richard Egli, administrative assistant for community relations for the school district.

The board last week also interviewed executives from three firms that expressed interest in managing construction projects to be funded by the bonds. Those firms are Turner Construction Co. of Detroit, Barton-Malow, Co. of Oak Park and True Management Inc. of Utica.

The construction manager would help develop projects, select contractors and keep tabs on progress.

"THE CONSTRUCTION manager is someone knowledgeable who holds the schools' interest at heart," Egli said. "This is the person we're looking at to get things done. All three companies look like they could do the job."

The construction manager would monitor the following projects with estimated cost in parenthesis:

- A new elementary school in Canton ($4.5 million).
- Renovations at Central Middle School ($1.7 million).
- Improvements at Pioneer Middle School ($1.1 million).
- Addition and renovations to board offices ($925,000).
- A six-classroom addition at Gallimore Elementary School ($700,000).

• A new storage-maintenance building ($200,000).

Each of the would-be managers has been asked to submit a bid on the project. The board probably will make a selection next month, Egli said.

The board has already authorized the first purchases with the bond money approved by voters.

Desks, chairs, and storage cabinets totaling about $100,000 were approved earlier this month. Paving work valued at $70,890 was charged to the bond issue, as was carpeting work — the specific dollar amount to be determined.

BOARD MEMBERS told administrators they want specific cost breakdowns of purchases charged to the bond issue. There were some questions with the initial purchase proposals.

Eight buses and four vans ordered earlier this year will be charged to the bond issue since voters gave their approval, Egli said. If voters hadn't, the buses would have been charged to general operations.

That cost is $380,000.

School officials are hoping the buses arrive before classes resume in late August, Egli said. If they don't, some drivers may have to make double runs early in the year. Further bus purchases are planned over the next two years.

New computers — $600,000 worth — probably won't arrive until the school year begins, Egli said. "We don't want to buy computers just to buy computers. We'd rather have them on a plan."

Superintendent John Hoben has projected that.

- The new elementary school will open in the fall of 1988.
- The Gallimore addition will be finished by the fall of 1987.
- The heating elements will be replaced at Pioneer in the spring or summer of 1987.

Touring BMX bike pro Dave Nourie greets spectators lined up to watch stunts performed by Nourie and other pros in Plymouth.

Kids wowed by bike pros

By Susan Buck
staff writer

Nearly 500 aspiring and admiring young people jammed the parking lot of Jerry's Bicycles Store in Plymouth Wednesday afternoon to watch a demonstration of BMX freestyle by three biking pros from the national biking circuit.

The touring pros, sponsored by Haro Designs of California, were invited to demonstrate and stress the importance of safety when learning popular stunts and tricks.

Participants in the Haro Designs 86 Rampage World Tour were pros Ron Wilkerson, a national champion in freestyle competition, Brian Blyther, well-known bicycle aerialist, and Dave Nourie, flatland specialist.

According to Larry Loiselle, general manager of the store, Wilkerson and Blyther are featured in a current Mountain Dew commercial.

BMX freestyle has many devotees among young people ages 10 and up and general manager Loiselle was determined to promote the safety concept.

"They (the pros) get wild and crazy, but they do it safely," he said. "They are one of the few freestyle teams that encourages safety — long-sleeved shirts, kneepads, helmets, etc. It's all controlled."

"They each have their specialties — one-handers, one-footers, balancing handstands, spins, one-eighties."

LOISELLE WILL not reveal the amount of money the store paid to lure the bicycle team but admits it was expensive. Arrangements for the event were made when he attended the National Bicycle Dealers Show in Reno, Nev., last October.

"You have to fit in their tour. They gave me what I wanted (a safety demonstration). They do it safely. These kids (who attended the event) are my customers. I thought, if only they had somebody to tell them to be careful."

No admission was charged and little local advertising was done for the event except for a sign placed in the windows of the Plymouth store and three other branch stores owned in Livonia and Dearborn Heights, Loiselle said. The event was advertised in some national freestyle magazines.

"It was a word-of-mouth type thing. I didn't put out a lot of advertising. I wasn't after a big write-up."

Young enthusiasts came from the metropolitan area, Kalamazoo and Windsor, Loiselle said.

Resignation follows explosion

(Part I)

Forty-seven years ago in March the treasurer of the Plymouth Board of Education informed the board he would have to resign because he couldn't sign checks. The circumstances leading to that decision are nothing less than dramatic — involving an explosion, the rescue of a colleague, and seven months in a hospital.

The treasurer was George A. Burr. Burr, a civil engineer, graduated from the University of Michigan in 1921. His roommate at the university, Herald Hamill, another civil engineer well-known in Plymouth. After graduation, Burr became an engineer with the Wayne County Road Commission.

During his work with the commission, from 1921 to 1957, he engineered most of the road that runs through the Hines Parkway.

Burr's office was in Wayne. All new sewer installations in Wayne County had to be inspected by him before being accepted. On March 14, 1939, Burr and another engineer, a Mr. Benjamin, climbed down into a new sewer on an inspection tour. Burr sensed that something was wrong. He made a quick dash for the exit just as accumulated gas in the sewer exploded. Although he was badly burned, Burr turned back to rescue Benjamin, whose life he saved.

BURR WAS in the hospital seven months. His face required much skin grafting and was never quite the same again. He had to manipulate his badly-burned hands for many years before he recovered full use of them, which explains his inability to sign checks. In recognition of his courageous rescue, the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth, of which Burr had been president in 1938, presented him with a plaque.

Both before and after the explosion that almost took his life, George Burr, who died nine years ago, did his share to make Plymouth a good place in which to live and raise children. He served eight years on the Plymouth Board of Education, was a charter member of the City Planning Commission, and actively promoted the Plymouth Historical Society and served as president.

past and present

Sam Hudson

Burr married into a family, the Bennetts, a family with a tradition of public service. His wife was Mildred, who preceded him as president of the Historical Society.

The Burr children, Sanford and Margaret, have continued the family practice by volunteering at Historical Society and church work in Plymouth.

Oddly enough, George Burr's original name was George A. Sanford. One of the early Sanfords was secretary to Gov. John Winthrop, the Puritan leader and first governor of Massachusetts.

BURR WAS born in 1896 in Palmyra, N.Y. Many of the early settlers in Plymouth came from the same city. Located on the Erie Canal, it was a good place to start from if you wanted to head West.

George's mother died in childbirth. Since his father did much traveling in his work, young George came under the care of an aunt, Anna Sanford. Anna married a Plymouth native, E.J. Burr. Their first home was on Ann Arbor Trail at the corner of Harvey, where Dr. Charles Westover later had his medical offices and where the Arbor Health Building is now located.

Later, the Burrs moved to a farm on Ann Arbor Road on the site now occupied by Vic Tanny. Anna Burr, who lived to be 95, taught at Bartlett School and Plymouth High School at about the turn of the century.

George Sanford, brought here when he was a baby, was adopted by the Burrs and took the Burr name. He attended Plymouth High School, where he was a member of the track team. He graduated in 1915 and, as indicated, earned his civil engineering degree at U-M.

Burr was the first civilian employee of the draft board here in 1917. Later, he served as a second lieutenant during World War I. After the war, he helped to form the Ex-Servicemen's Club in Plymouth.

He served on the Plymouth Board of Education for eight years, beginning in 1934, and was its president in 1937. He followed his wife, Mildred, as president of the Plymouth Historical Society, serving from 1971 to 1973. During his term, in the spring of 1972, ground was broken for the new building which is now the Plymouth Historical Museum.

IN THE 1970s, when I was writing my book, "The Story of Plymouth," George Burr was one of the longtime residents I interviewed. He told me that his adopted father, E.J. Burr, was born on Ann Arbor Trail in 1845 and lived to be 87. The elder Burr told George that during the Civil War, whenever big battles were being fought, anxious residents met in Kellogg Park to hear reports brought from Detroit or Ann Arbor.

George Burr also gave me details of Plymouth's disastrous fire of 1893. He said his Aunt Anna went to the railroad station in Detroit to buy a ticket back to Plymouth. She was told: "No use going to Plymouth. The whole town burned down last night."

Needless to say, the report was exaggerated, but the entire business block on Main Street facing Kellogg Park did go up in flames.

The Burr family, George, his wife Mildred, and their two children, Sanford and Margaret, lived on Sheridan for many years. In the 1950s, Sanford and his wife, Ruth, moved to the old E.J. Burr farmhouse on Ann Arbor Road. In 1966, his father and mother built a brick house nearby.

Mildred Burr died in 1975, George in 1977. They had done their part, not only in raising a family, but in devoting much time to civic affairs, including aiding the school system and helping to preserve local history.

I'll return pay — Tuttle

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Livonia treasurer Elaine Tuttle announced last week she would return $7,000 of her income as a county commissioner if elected to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners this year.

But at least one other candidate in the race for the Republican nomination on Aug. 5 said the gesture is a campaign ploy.

"I really want the job more for the political connections for the future than the money," Tuttle said last week. Tuttle has said she plans to seek a U.S. Congressional seat someday, and probably in the 15th Congressional District, which is heavily Democratic.

The treasurer, who maintains she could hold both public offices if elected to the county board, said she would settle for $20,000 of the $27,000 county wage, and donate $7,000 to senior citizens programs in the district.

As treasurer of Livonia, she is paid $38,000 a year.

idea of the time involved and there is no question in my mind that $27,000 a year is excessive," Tuttle said. "The commissioners' pay is indicative of the other high wages at Wayne County that they approve."

Besides Tuttle, others running in the Republican primary include Livonian Lawrence Schweiger and Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz. The winner of the Republican primary will face sole Democratic challenger John Kopka of Livonia in November.

"Seven thousand dollars isn't going to make or break the county, or solve any problems," said Schweiger last week. "I don't think salaries are an issue at this point. It's not a valid reason for running."

Schweiger added: "That's just a ploy to get some recognition."

Heintz said that commissioners willing to work full time at the commission job, thereby giving up another livelihood and income, "ought to be compensated."

"If I'm elected, I'm going to give up my position over here and my salary," said Heintz.

Unlike Tuttle, who says she will retain her job as Livonia treasurer if elected, Heintz said she would leave her township position and its $19,000 a year salary.

"WHENEVER I'VE devoted myself to public service, it's been full time," Heintz added.

The Democratic challenger, Kopka, said earlier he also thought the county commissioners were "paid too much" and planned to make the salary an issue in his campaign.

The 10th commission district, made up of Livonia (about 70 percent) and the communities of Northville and Plymouth, is largely considered a Republican seat. Longtime incumbent Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, decided not to run again. During her long tenure, however, Dumas did not have other employment.

On top of their salary, county commissioners receive $100 a month for parking, and money to hire an aide and secretary. Their offices are in the City-County Building in Detroit.

Cruise-in draws notice

"The amount and type of violations may indicate to some that perhaps some drivers are forgetting that driving an automobile is a privilege and not a right," Paul Sincock said. He's an assistant to the Plymouth city manager.

The violations include 14 for alcohol-related offenses, 14 for careless driving, 16 for disregarding traffic signals, 19 for illegal parking, such as blocking driveways, and 12 for unnecessary noise — loud radios and/or squealing tires, Myers said.

SINCOCK SAID although having hundreds of teens flocking downtown is still causing problems for nearby merchants, there has been a positive side.

After meeting with several teens "some (teens) have a better understanding," of what merchants are concerned about, Sincock said.

"Cruising up and down Main Street, that isn't a problem; walking up and down Main Street, that is the problem," he said. "Broken bottles, loitering and littering, this is the problem."

Some parents, who along with youths met with city officials on Monday, said nearby township parks should remain open later in the evening so teens could gather there, Sincock said.

"That's not something we control," Sincock said, adding city officials are willing to meet with township officials to discuss that solution.

A check last week of teens ticketed, 11 percent of violators are from Plymouth, while 20 percent live in Livonia, 20 percent in Plymouth Township, 27 percent in Canton Township and 6 percent in Northville Township.

"We're not there to hassle the kids," Sincock said. "Some people are acting out of line and our residents and merchants are concerned about it."

Some teens have said although many gather downtown, only a few cause problems for merchants or police.

Nothing is taken in home break-in

An intruder, who must have had something other than larceny in mind, broke into a house on Five Mile last week and left without taking anything, the homeowner told Plymouth Township police.

A kitchen screen had been cut and pried, then the interior window lifted to allow entry. A tennis shoe print was observed in the sink.

The break-in occurred between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Wednesday.

A silver Chevrolet stolen from a driveway on Baywood was later recovered in Detroit missing a wheel, tire and wheel cover. There was also some body damage, the owner reported.

The owner told local police the car turned up missing between about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday and shortly after midnight Thursday. He added he was sure the vehicle was locked.

A rock was thrown through a 2-by-5-foot window at the Plymouth post office by an unknown person. Damage was estimated at $75.

problem performing the functions of both elective offices because her treasurer's job has "flexible hours" and she has a deputy treasurer who is empowered to act in her absence.

She also has maintained that the commission job is over-rated in the commissioners' assessments of the amount of time that's required. Nearly all regularly scheduled commission meetings are held during business hours, however. Besides full commission meetings held bi-weekly, there are committee meetings scheduled during the weekdays.

Besides Tuttle, the other challengers seeking the Republican nomination on Aug. 5 include Susan Heintz, supervisor of Northville Township, and Lawrence Schweiger, a Ford Motor Co. accountant from Livonia.

Heintz, on the other hand, has said she will leave her $19,000-a-year township post if she is successful.

Joseph N. Baltimore

Joseph Baltimore

Joseph N. Baltimore, 19455 Burlington, Detroit, is the supervising assistant corporation counsel for the city of Detroit Law Department. Baltimore is responsible for supervising work of the property and ordinance sections. He also is responsible for monitoring and advising major litigation handled by a number of special corporation counsel for the city.

A graduate of the University of Detroit Law School, Baltimore received a bachelor's degree from Howard University in Washington, D.C.

Baltimore is a former partner in the law firm of Conyers, Anderson, Brown, Wahls & Baltimore and Brown & Baltimore.

He is a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Dad's Club at the University of Detroit.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

Attorney for 17 years; general practice for 10 years and an assistant corporation counsel for seven years; extensive civil and criminal litigation experience in both federal and state courts; municipal law land use issues, condemnation, zoning and ordinance enforcement.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in courtroom. Why?

I have never compared judges. It is important that a judge be prompt, efficient and exercise judicial temperament; maintain courtroom decorum and guard against the appearance of partiality.

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

Young v. Klutznick, 652 F. 2d, 617 (1981); declaratory relief to compel the Census Bureau to include the estimated undercount of minorities for establishment of congressional districts and population figures on which federal funds are allocated. United States Supreme Court denied application for leave.

4. George Roumell, president of the Michigan Bar Association, in a recent bar journal, advocated setting up a separate family court to handle divorce matters before the circuit court. He argued that such cases clog up the system and that they should be left to the specialists (similar to the arrangement of probate matters in probate court.) Do you agree? Please explain.

I disagree with this approach. Currently there exists sufficient investigative and administrative agencies to address the issues in family law. The general over crowding of court dockets need to be examined by the public, the judiciary and members of the bar.

Paul L. Bricker

Paul Bricker

Paul L. Bricker, 282 Fisher Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, is an assistant attorney general.

A graduate of Wayne State University Law School, Bricker has a bachelor's degree in math from the University of Detroit and a master's in physics from U-D.

Before being named an assistant attorney general, Bricker worked in private practice, was a special assistant to U.S. Rep. William Brodhead, a corporate attorney with Heritier, Abbott, Nicholson and Quilter and law clerk with Butzel, Long, Gust, Klein & Van Zile.

He has been active in Scouting and served as a volunteer attorney for WJR radio's Call for Action program.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

In 1980, Frank Kelley, the attorney general, appointed me as an assistant attorney general to establish a program of tax evasion prosecution for the state from investigation to trial to appellate conclusion.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in a courtroom? Why?

Judge Paul S. Teranes is outstanding because of his ability to rapidly grasp issues, his willingness to listen to both sides, his insights into people and his firm control of procedure in the courtroom.

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

Many cases are interesting, but the case of People v. Stuart Crane stands out because of the complex legal issues and the character of the defendant. Mr. Crane was convicted by jury of 15 counts of tax evasion.

4. George Roumell, president of the Michigan Bar Association, in a recent bar journal advocated setting up a separate family court to handle divorce matters before the circuit court. He argued that such cases clog up the system and that they should be left to the specialists (similar to the arrangement of probate matters in probate court.) Do you agree? Please explain.

Yes on principle, but with reservations. The bulk of the docket is domestic relations and every circuit judge becomes a specialist from necessity. The proliferation of courts would lead to other problems if not carefully thought out.

David J. Szymanski

David Szymanski

David J. Szymanski, 20467 Old Homestead, Harper Woods, is an attorney in private practice. For the last 3 1/2 years, he has handled a variety of cases ranging from domestic relations to criminal matters and has represented the Detroit Police Officers Association.

He has a bachelor of arts degree in English and education from Notre Dame University and has held jobs as a teacher, laborer, production line worker and maintenance man.

He served as judicial assistant to Judge Gus Cifelli of Michigan's 48th District Court. He is a member of the Americana Trial Lawyers Association and Michigan Trial Lawyers Association. He is active in Big Brothers and the Grosse Pointe Theater.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

Litigation, the trial of cases, has been the mainstay of my private practice of law. In many various courts, I have handled criminal, civil, divorce, and administrative law. My experience covers all fields.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in a courtroom? Why?

To say one judge is the best would be to say others are not. I have appeared before many judges who excel in vastly different ways

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

In the federal district court, I conducted a seven-week criminal jury trial involving nine defendants charged with improperly taking money from a health insurance company. The defendants were found guilty.

4. George Roumell, president of the Michigan Bar Association, in a recent bar journal, advocated setting up a separate family court to handle divorce matters before the circuit court. He argued that such cases clog up the system and that they should be left to the specialists (similar to the arrangement of probate matters in probate court.) Do you agree? Please explain.

Divorce touches people in a unique way. It is best handled by specialists. Circuit judges are specialists. However, a separate court would be beneficial to focus upon the people's needs.

Ada S. Kerwin

Ada S. Kerwin

Ada S. Kerwin, 18975 Muirland, Detroit, has a law degree from Wayne State University Law School. She has a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Michigan and a master's degree in clinical psychology from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

She was a teacher and a clinical psychologist and family therapist for the Wayne County Juvenile Court, Southwest Detroit Community Mental Health, Six Area Coalition Community Mental Health and The Behavior Center.

Kerwin, a trial lawyer, is a member of the Women Lawyer's Association the Women's Justice Center and Michigan Women's Campaign Fund. She joined a volunteer lawyers program sponsored by the Detroit Bar Association and is a member of the board of directors of Dearborn Heights Human Service Center, a drug and alcohol treatment program.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

I am in private practice. I have had my own law practice since 1983. I specialize in domestic relations and criminal defense work. However, I have handled personal injury, probate, traffic and other types of cases. I consider myself a trial lawyer who is comfortable in a courtroom handling any type of case.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in a courtroom? Why?

The best judge I have appeared in front of is the Honorable Robert Evans. I have appeared in his courtroom many times. I have found him to be a consistently hard worker who understands the law and applies it fairly and intelligently. Judge Evans gives everyone a fair hearing yet runs an efficient courtroom. He treats all parties with respect and has a temperament which is calm, quiet and firm.

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

The most interesting case I have handled is a civil rights case in Wayne County Circuit Court which is now four years old. It is now coming up for trial so there has not yet been any outcome.

4. George Roumell, president of the Michigan Bar Association, in a recent bar journal advocated setting up a separate family court to handle divorce matters before the circuit court. He argued that such cases clog up the system and that they should be left to the specialists (similar to the arrangement of probate matters in probate court.) Do you agree? Please explain.

I agree that a family court should be established. A family court would enable all family matters to be litigated in the same court without duplication of services. The judges would have expertise in family matters and, ideally, would have an interest in these issues. One of the problems in Wayne County Circuit Court now is that domestic matters are viewed by many judges as a nuisance and are dealt with in a cursory fashion.

Harry Tatigian

Harry Tatigian

Harry Tatigian, 17226 Westbrook, Livonia, is the attorney for the city of Livonia.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, where he earned his bachelor's and law degrees, Tatigian formerly worked as the assistant corporation counsel for the city of Dearborn.

He has worked as part-time faculty member at Wayne State University Law School and a guest lecturer at Schoolcraft and Madonna colleges.

He is the former chairman of the Michigan Bar Association, public corporation law section.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

As the Livonia city attorney and chief prosecutor in the 16th District Court, my practice includes the trial of both criminal and civil suits, as well as appeals to the Michigan Court of Appeals (35 cases) and the Michigan Supreme Court (5 cases). I am also the legal adviser to the mayor, city council and all other city departments and agencies.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in a courtroom? Why?

The best judge that I have ever had the honor of appearing before is the Honorable Ralph B. Guy Jr., recently appointed to the United States Court of Appeals (6th Circuit). Judge Guy is not only scholarly and well-prepared at all times, but I have found him to be fair and courteous. Above all, his integrity is above reproach.

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

My most difficult and complicated case involved a suit brought by the Coalition for Block Grant Compliance against HUD and the city. While Judge DeMascio decided this case in favor of the plaintiffs against HUD, the city was not faulted and the plaintiffs' civil rights claims were not established. Several years later this case was settled on a negotiated basis and the city did thereat.

Our Compliments To The Chef. And All The Staff Who Keep Meals On Wheels Rolling.

About two decades ago, a group of some very enterprising people first opened the doors to what has ever since been a favorite local eatery.

In that time, not a whole lot has changed in the way they run things.

The menu's simple. But the food is always hot, fresh and wholesome.

A lot of the staff works for free. And most provide their own cars and gasoline so the operators can still offer home delivery.

And, as it's always been over the years, they've never once made a red cent to show for it all.

But they did manage to make firm believers out of us.

They're Meals on Wheels, after all. So while it is not surprising that they are not in business to make a profit, they still have to pay their bills like everyone else to stay in business.

Otherwise, hundreds of homebound senior citizens and hundreds more less-fortunate people might go hungry every day.

So when they fed us the facts on their cash-flow problem, we gave them the line of credit they needed to keep things rolling.

Not just because we're bankers. But because, more importantly, we're part of the community.

You see, at First of America Bank we think non-profit organizations like Meals on Wheels, who make sure that those in need do not go hungry, are something everyone will eventually profit from some day.

Although the event was free, Loiselle passed the hat for Growth Works, a local counseling and intervention center, at both the 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. shows. About $75 was raised.

"It was an out-of-the-pocket kind of thing."

Inmate nabbed by local police

A prison inmate who escaped April 30 is currently in the Wayne County Jail, after he was apprehended by Canton Township police Tuesday.

Lt. Larry Stewart of the Canton Police Department said that the escapee, Francis Floyd Carpenter, was captured at a residence at 41666 Ford Road when police observed three vehicles parked near the home. The vehicles were previously believed to have been abandoned.

Carpenter, 35, was wanted on charges of armed robbery, larceny from a vehicle, and escape from the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson. Carpenter had been sentenced to prison terms ranging as high as 5-10 years on charges of armed robbery, burglary, using a weapon in the commission of a felony, larceny from a building, and another larceny charge.

Carpenter, who eventually came to the front door of the Ford Road residence when police knocked, showed identification listing six different aliases, Stewart said.

Carpenter had escaped from a parole camp, a prison official said.

A separate family court should be set up which would require those judges to receive additional and continuing education in the fields of psychology, sociology, economics, family relations and counseling so family members can best be protected.

A graduate of the Detroit College of Law, Monaghan received his bachelor's degree from Wayne State University.

He is a member of the family law section, general practice and probate and trust sections of the Michigan Bar Association.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

I am engaged in the general practice of law. The areas that primarily govern my practice are: real estate, divorce, contracts and probate. I average about three jury trials a year and about four bench trials per year.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in a courtroom? Why?

The best judge that I have appeared in front of is former Wayne County Circuit Court Judge John D. O'Hair. He was knowledgeable in the law as well as courtroom procedures. He managed his court with dignity. His judicial temperament was excellent and his integrity was communicated to all who appeared before him.

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

The most interesting case that I have handled involved the exploitation of a senior citizen by parties whom she trusted. The culprits were eventually brought to court, a hearing was held and a judgment was entered in favor of the senior citizen.

4. George Roumell, president of the Michigan Bar Association, in a recent bar journal advocated setting up a separate family court to handle divorce matters before the circuit court. He argued that such cases clog up the system and that they should be left to the specialists (similar to the arrangement of probate matters in probate court). Do you agree? Please explain.

I wholeheartedly agree with George Roumell's proposal that a separate family court should be established to handle divorce matters. The divorce process is extremely difficult for the parties involved and the minor children, if any. Specialists in the Wayne County Friend of the Court are well capable of handling the divorce proceedings and sometimes are often more capable of rendering a decision consistent with applicable divorce law governing the particular dispute before them.

Robert K. Costello

Robert Costello

Robert K. Costello, 13100 E. Outer Drive, Detroit, is a trial attorney in private practice. He is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law and holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Detroit and a master's degree in education from Wayne State University.

Before practicing law, Costello held jobs as a UAW assembly line and foundry worker, a teacher and employment and training counselor with the state of Michigan.

He is a member of the Italian-American Bar Association and the Catholic Lawyers Society, Adoption Option, an organization of Michigan citizens committed to encouraging adoption of children, Detroit Goodfellows and Michigan Thanksgiving Parade Foundation.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

I am a trial and appellate attorney in private practice in downtown Detroit. My experience includes personal injury, domestic relations, criminal, and other areas of the law. Also, I do legal research and writing in representing persons before the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals in Michigan.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in a courtroom? Why?

The best judge is one who is fair, is well prepared (knows the law and the issues involved), is courteous to jurors and to attorneys, and is consistent and firm in sentencing.

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

A very interesting case concerned a person who was being sued and who claimed to be insured. After much investigation, testimony of witnesses, and presentation of difficult-to-locate documents, it was determined that this person actually obtained insurance after he learned of the lawsuit and was trying to defraud the insurance company.

4. George Roumell, president of the Michigan Bar Association, in a recent bar journal advocated setting up a separate family court to handle divorce matters before the circuit court. He argued that such cases clog up the system and that they should be left to the specialists (similar to the arrangement of probate matters in probate court). Do you agree? Please explain.

Divorce and child custody cases constitute almost 50 percent of the cases in the Circuit Court; however, only about 5 percent of each judge's time is spent on these cases. Since these cases have a great impact on many, many people's lives, more time and attention must be given by the judge and a specialized court is a good idea.

Patrick J. McDonald

Patrick McDonald

Patrick J. McDonald, 18243 Mayfield, Livonia is a graduate of the University of Detroit Law School. He holds a bachelor's degree in political science and philosophy from the U-D. He is an attorney in private practice in Livonia.

McDonald is the former supervisor of Redford Township. He was a first lieutenant with the U.S. Army Reserves.

He is a member of the American Arbitrators Association and a Little League coach.

1. Describe what you do in the field of law. (Private practice, corporate law, etc.)

I am currently in private practice; my private practice includes, but is not limited to, the area of real estate, probate, negligence, small business transactions, criminal law, domestic relations and a wide variety of other cases.

2. Who is the best judge you have appeared in front of in a courtroom? Why?

Judge Joseph B. Sullivan because of the way he handles his courtroom and because of his judicial temperament.

3. What is the most interesting case you have handled and what was the outcome?

The most interesting case I have handled would probably be malicious prosecution — a civil rights case which after a two week trial, was settled for $50,000.

4. George Roumell, president of the Michigan Bar Association, in a recent bar journal advocated setting up a separate family court to handle divorce matters before the circuit court. He argued that such cases clog up the system and that they should be left to the specialists (similar to the arrangement of probate matters in probate court). Do you agree? Please explain.

I am not sure that I agree with Mr. Roumell's suggestion for the simple reason that the cost of setting up a separate court at a separate location may be unreasonably costly. Secondly, there currently exists a referee system in which a number of domestic relation matters are handled short of going to trial in the Circuit Court. I believe I would advocate enhancing the powers of the referee and perhaps adding some referees to handle those particular types of cases.

Survey gives Chrysler lead

A new Channel 2 TV news poll has Brighton businessman Richard Chrysler significantly expanding his lead over GOP gubernatorial challenger William Lucas, the station announced last week.

Results of the "Eyewitness" news poll were culled from interviews with 400 likely GOP primary voters during the week of July 18-20.

The results noted Chrysler's lead at 40 percent to Lucas' 27 percent.

Oakland County executive Dan Murphy received 10 percent and state Rep. Colleen Engler received 4 percent of the vote.

Undecided voters totaled 19 percent. The margin of error for the total sample is plus or minus 4.8 percent.

The poll was conducted for Channel 2 by a Massachusetts firm, Barry Kaplovitz Associates, Inc. of Boston.

Panelists play musical chairs

At a forum last week sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Detroit for candidates for County Executive, one of the program organizers noted the rotating nature of the panelists.

campaign notebook

First, Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara was 45 minutes late (the program lasted 90 minutes) because of a previous commitment at the Grosse Isle home of Heinz Prechter, downriver industrialist and newspaper publisher. The commitment: a fundraiser which generated $20,000 for the McNamara campaign.

McNamara was silent for some 10 minutes after he arrived. Then he apparently realized, as he said during a round of questioning, "You have to raise your hand first to answer a question." He laughed; the audience of about 100 laughed, too.

Then 15 minutes before the close of the program, Gerald Berg, a LaRouche candidate running for county executive, announced he had a classical piano lesson and needed to "consult with Beethoven." So, Berg abruptly left the stage, with cameras running.

BACK PAIN

If back pains are a way of life for you, the reasons can be varied and complex. Some may be pathological, but very often the cause is muscles which are either over or under exercised which are producing spinal distortion. Vertebrae slip into abnormal positions, resulting in "pinched" and irritated nerves, which cause pain and even loss of function of the affected body part. Poor posture, or even emotional tension, can be the root cause.

From the microwave...

Fresh Veggies You Can Sauce Up In a Minute!

Summer vegetables—fresh from the garden, roadside farm stand or supermarket—are a feast for the eyes as well as the taste buds. In a glorious array of colors, shapes and succulent flavors, the abundance of nature's best fresh vegetables are just waiting to be enjoyed. The perfect "recipe" for preparing tempting vegetables that stand out in any crowd calls for a microwave and easy as one-two-three pourable pasteurized process cheese spread, hot from the microwave.

Fresh vegetables especially are a natural for the microwave:

- Preparation is fast and easy.
- Vegetables retain more color, flavor and nutrients because they require little or no water for cooking. Water beads left on after washing can be enough for some vegetables.
- You can serve several different vegetables at the same meal because each can be cooked quickly in separate containers.
- The microwave is especially appropriate for cooking vegetables in the summer since it doesn't add extra heat to the kitchen and shortens clean-up time.

The marriage of the microwave and fresh veggies provide the perfect setting for adding pasteurized process cheese spread to complement your favorite garden dish. Now you can "sauce it up in a minute" quickly and conveniently with this heat-and-serve, savory hot cheese sauce.

HOT CHEESY SAUCE IN A MINUTE

A super special instant cheese sauce calls for only a glass jar of pasteurized process cheese spread. To prepare, for best results start with cheese spread at room temperature. Remove lid and microwave jar on high 1 to 1½ minutes for an 8 oz. jar, rotating jar ½ turn every 30 seconds; 2 to 2½ minutes for a 16 oz. jar, stirring every 30 seconds. Remove jar from microwave, stir and pour hot sauce over vegetables.

Vegetables can star in their own right as the main attraction of meals or as an interesting side dish. Part of the fun is mixing and matching veggies to create new dishes like these.

Crunchy Vegetable Medley

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|---|
| 1½ cups diagonally-cut celery slices | 1 cup mushroom slices |
| 1 cup Chinese pea pods | 1 8-oz. jar pasteurized process cheese spread |
| 1 cup cauliflowerets | ½ cup cashews |
| 1 tablespoon margarine | |
| 1 cup red or green pepper strips | |

Combine celery, pea pods, cauliflowerets and margarine in 1½-quart casserole; cover. Microwave on High 3 to 4 minutes or until pea pods are crisp-tender. Add peppers and mushrooms; mix lightly. Microwave uncovered 2 minutes; drain. Place on serving plate. Microwave process cheese spread according to label directions. Pour over vegetables. Sprinkle with cashews.

4 to 6 servings

Summer Green Beans

- | | |
|----------------------------------|---|
| 1 lb. fresh green beans | 1 8-oz. jar pasteurized process cheese spread |
| ½ cup water | ½ cup French fried onions |
| 1 cup red or green pepper strips | |

Combine beans and water in 1½ quart casserole; cover. Microwave on High 9 minutes. Add peppers; mix lightly. Microwave uncovered 4 minutes; drain. Place on serving plate. Microwave process cheese spread according to label directions. Pour over vegetables. Sprinkle with onions.

4 to 6 servings

Vegetables can be cooked to fit your personal taste: al dente, tender or soft. Keep these hints in mind when microwaving fresh vegetables.

- Cooking time: Time depends on quantity, piece size and type of vegetable being prepared. Check your user's manual for specific instructions.
- Piece size: Cut vegetables in uniform pieces for more even cooking in the microwave. Large or thick pieces take longer to cook than small ones.
- Quantity: As the quantity or volume of food increases, so does cooking time.
- Arrange: Vegetables not uniform in shape should be arranged with the firm, meaty parts, such as stalks, to the outer edge and tender parts (asparagus buds and broccoli flowerets) to the center of the dish.
- Whole Unpeeled Vegetables: Pierce vegetables like potatoes or squash to let steam escape.
- Dishes: Do not use metal or dishes decorated with metal in the microwave. Most glass, plastic and some ceramic dishes are microwave safe. Some products, like cheese spread, come in their own glass jar that can be used in the microwave. Keep in mind, though, that heat may transfer from the heated food to the container, so remember to use a hot pad. Some foods will not need dishes if they're microwaved in their own skins or natural "container" (except corn on the cob and acorn squash).
- Liquid: Tomatoes, onions and baking potatoes have a high moisture content and require no additional water for cooking. Broccoli, cauliflower and carrots require up to ¼ cup water per 2 to 2½ cups vegetables; green beans require more—about ½ cup water per 2 cups of beans.
- Cover: To prevent drying, spattering and promote even heating, cover vegetables with a glass or ceramic lid or use vented plastic wrap.
- Stir: By stirring from the outer edge of the dish toward the center, the heat will be more uniform. Stir vegetables once or twice during cooking time.
- Salt: Sprinkling salt directly on vegetables causes brown "freckles." For best results, salt vegetables after cooking or dissolve salt in a small amount of cooking liquid before adding vegetables.
- Standing Time: After removing vegetables from the microwave, let dish stand covered for several minutes to equalize the temperature.
- Serve: Check to make sure dish isn't hot to the touch. Drain any excess liquid from vegetables before topping them with hot pasteurized process cheese spread.

Salad cool down

Texas meal is a seasonal relief

On steamy days when cooking is out of the question, main dish salads come to the fore. Quick and easy to prepare, these nearly cook-free favorites whet warm weather appetites and relieve mealtime monotony.

Well versed in sultry day cooking, creative Texans often look to summer salads with south-of-the-border inspiration and a bit of jalapeno pepper heat. To achieve the desired flavor without tedious chile preparation, they use a San Antonio original, picante sauce, to add fresh appeal to their salad creations. A natural for well-dressed salads, it adds garden-fresh flavor and only 6 calories per tablespoon. Used "solo" as a dressing or blended into favorite creamy or vinaigrette dressing, its lively taste makes any salad special.

With an eye on the current trend toward spicier foods, home economists in San Antonio have created two new zesty salads that keep the cook and the kitchen cool. Both boast lively appeal and streamlined, summer-easy preparation.

Mexicali Beef Salad is a colorful complete-meal salad with hearty flavor appeal. Get quickly to the meat of the matter with deli-sliced roast beef, then team it temptingly with cheese, avocado, tomato, and red onion. Top with a lively dressing combining the cook's choice of mild, medium or hot picante sauce, mayonnaise and cumin for a super meal in minutes.

Make-ahead San Diego Chicken Salad begins with boneless skinned chicken breast cooked briefly in picante sauce. Toss it with avocado and celery and "dress up" the combo with a mix of picante sauce and sour cream. Sprinkle with crisply cooked bacon to complete the sure-to-please luncheon or dinner entree.

MEXICALI BEEF SALAD

Leaf lettuce or Bibb lettuce leaves
 1/2 lb. sliced roast beef, cut into thin strips (about 1 1/2 cups)
 1/2 cup picante sauce
 1 tbsp. vegetable oil
 1/2 lb. Monterey Jack cheese, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
 1 ripe avocado, peeled and sliced
 1 medium tomato, cut into thin wedges
 1/3 cup small red onion rings
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1/4 tsp. ground cumin

Line large platter or 4 individual dinner plates with lettuce. Toss meat with combined 1/4 cup picante sauce and oil. Arrange in center of lettuce. Arrange cheese, avocado, and tomato around meat, top meat with onion. For dressing, combine remaining 1/4 cup picante sauce, mayonnaise and cumin, mix well. Serve dressing and additional picante sauce with salad. Makes 4 servings.

SAN DIEGO CHICKEN SALAD

2 large whole chicken breasts, boned, split and skinned (about 1 1/2 lbs.)
 1/2 cup picante sauce
 1/2 tsp. ground cumin
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1 ripe avocado
 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
 2 tbsp. mayonnaise
 1 cup sliced celery
 Bibb or leaf lettuce leaves
 4 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled

Cut chicken into 1/2-inch cubes. Combine picante sauce, cumin and salt in 10-inch skillet. Cook chicken in picante sauce mixture, stirring frequently, until chicken is cooked, about 4 minutes. Transfer contents of skillet to mixing bowl, cover and chill thoroughly. To serve, combine chicken mixture, sour cream and mayonnaise, mix well. Peel, seed and coarsely chop avocado. Add avocado and celery to chicken mixture, mix lightly. Spoon onto lettuce-lined salad plates; sprinkle with bacon. Serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Cool salad is a Texas-size meal.

Summer is cookout time

Summertime means barbecue time. There is nothing like an all-American cookout to bring good friends and good food together.

Try these tangy ribs and rodeo salad, sided with cookout classics like grilled corn and roasted potatoes.

Next time your gang gets together, rope 'em in with these new barbecue favorites.

TANGY BBQ RIBS

1 cup prepared barbecue sauce

1/2 cup Drambuie
 1 Tbsp. butter
 1 rack spareribs, partially cooked

Heat barbecue sauce, Drambuie and butter in a medium-size saucepan until butter is melted. Brush on ribs the last 30 minutes of cooking time. Turn after 15 minutes and brush sauce on second side, basting occasionally, until done. Makes 4 servings.

Note: May be cooked in 350 degree oven, under broiler or over charcoal.

RODEO SALAD

1 head leafy lettuce
 2 oranges, peeled and sliced
 1 avocado, peeled, pitted and cubed
 1 red onion, peeled, sliced
 Rodeo dressing (below)

Line individual plates with lettuce leaves. Arrange orange slices, avocado, and red onion rings over lettuce and drizzle with dressing. May be done in salad bowl and tossed.

RODEO SALAD DRESSING

2 tsp. wine vinegar
 1 clove garlic minced
 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
 2 Tbsp. Drambuie
 1/4 cup vegetable or olive oil
 salt and pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients adding oil last. Blend until mixture is well combined; pour over salad. Makes 4 servings.

Old English meal easy picnic treat

A royal picnic in olden England required many cooks and servants to prepare an on-site lavish banquet — probably featuring a heavy meat roasted on a spit — for the lords and ladies.

Today we want simpler, lighter fare that can be prepared easily and packed conveniently so that we can spend our time relaxing and enjoying the outing. A quick, delicious idea is a salmon Pita Pouch, filled with a tasty salad made from pink skinless and boneless salmon chunks.

The appealing salmon, which already has unappetizing skin and bones removed for you, is combined with crunchy pea pods and thin radish slices, then quickly seasoned with a salad dressing. Cover the sandwiches with plastic film or slip into a sandwich bag for easy toting to the picnic grounds. Bring along fruit, cheese and a favorite beverage for the perfect outdoor meal.

SALMON PITA PICNIC SANDWICH

1 can (6 1/2 oz.) skinless and boneless salmon, drained and chunked
 1/2 cup Chinese pea pods, blanched,

chilled
 1/4 cup thin radish slices
 1/4 cup Italian salad dressing
 2 pita bread rounds (pocket bread)

Toss together salmon, pea pods, radish slices and salad dressing. Cut each pita round in half. Fill with lettuce and salmon salad. Makes 2 servings.

Blueberries

Summer's special

Everybody loves blueberries. You and me and he and she and grandparents and little boys and construction workers and teachers, and girls, big and little. And everybody.

They — we — like blueberries alone, by the handful out of big bowls. Or with all kinds of cream — sweet, sour, heavy or ice. The big bright blues make smiling people out of solemn ones, doting uncles from dour ones, happy children out of squirmy kids.

Now is that time again to enjoy the fruits of the blueberry growers' labors. Everybody can indulge his or her favorite way with the sweet juicy blues. Beloved, of course, when they go into pancakes or muffins or ice cream or cakes or pies. Much, much loved when they go into pies.

To start the season on a happy blue note, add this new blueberry pie recipe to your repertory. It's a dramatic do-ahead dessert that tastes divine and looks exceptionally pretty. When the fresh blueberries are "in," show them "off." This is a lovely showcase for blueberries that will make everybody more loving.

BLUEBERRY LEMON CHIFFON PIE

- 2 cups fresh blueberries
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) lemon gelatin
- 3 cups water
- 2 cups heavy cream, whipped
- ¼ cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 tsp. vanilla
- 1 baked 10 inch pie shell with a fluted edge

Rinse blueberries and dry well. Dissolve gelatin in 1 cup of the water heated to boiling. Stir in remaining water. Chill until syrupy. Whip cream with sugar and vanilla. Fold ½ of the cream into the gelatin. Fold in half of the blueberries. Spoon filling into baked and cooled pie shell. Chill pie until firm. Chill remaining cream and blueberries. With a toothpick lightly mark top of pie into 6 equal wedges. Fill 3 alternate wedges with remaining whipped cream pressed out of the pastry bag with a rosette tip. Fill remaining wedges, with remaining blueberries. Chill. Cut wedges of pie so that each piece is topped with half blueberries and half whipped cream. Yield: 1-10 inch pie.

Blueberries are an easy pickin', natural treat.

Fiber-rich foods essential part for nutritional, wholesome diet

Here's some good news — increasing fiber in the diet is healthy, easy and can taste great.

According to the National Cancer Institute, the average American ingests only 10 to 20 grams of dietary fiber daily. The NCI recommends a daily individual intake of 25 to 35 grams of dietary fiber to help reduce the risk of certain cancers, especially colorectal.

Bran cereal is a good source of fiber. It's easy to add fiber to the diet, by spooning bran cereal over other fiber-rich foods such as vegetables, vegetable casseroles, salad and other cereals.

The fiber content of favorite baking recipes can be enhanced, too, by adding approximately 2 to 3 tablespoons of bran cereal. In certain recipes, even more bran cereal can be added. Here are some suggestions:

- Quick breads: Stir ½ cup bran cereal into prepared batter for a standard size (10-12) muffin recipe, banana bread or other quick bread.

- Yeast breads: Add bran cereal with the first addition of flour. Use about ½ cup cereal for one loaf. You may need to reduce the flour slightly.

- Pancakes: Add about 1 cup bran cereal for each cup of pancake mix. Increase the liquid by 2 or more tablespoons.

- Meatballs, meatloaf, burgers: Add up to ½ cup bran cereal for each 1 pound of ground meat. Increase the liquid ingredients by 2 or more tablespoons and soften the cereal in the liquid before adding the ground meat.

- Pie crusts: Substitute finely crushed bran cereal for part or all of the crumbs in a typical crumb crust recipe.

- Cookies: Use bran cereal in place of nuts or add up to an equal amount of cereal as flour called for in the recipe. Just mix the cereal into the prepared cookie dough.

Chicken mixes sweet and sour

SWEET & SOUR CHICKEN

- 1 can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained; reserve juice
- 2 tbsp. brown sugar
- 2 tbsp. vinegar

- 1 tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 tbsp. cornstarch
- ¾ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 1 pkg. (12 oz.) frozen prepared chicken sticks

In medium microwave-safe bowl, combine reserved pineapple juice, brown sugar, vinegar, soy sauce and cornstarch. Heat, uncovered, on HIGH 2 to 3 minutes or until mixture is thick and bubbly, stirring once. Prepare chicken sticks according to package instructions. Serve sauce over chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Park games turn kids on to library fun

By Susan Buck
staff writer

Approximately 75 kids with an urge for adventure spent a warm summer afternoon Thursday outwitting a "Mission: Possible" obstacle course in Plymouth's Kellogg Park.

The students, participants in the Dunning-Hough Public Library six-week summer reading program, welcomed the opportunity to romp in the sunshine.

The summer reading program concentrates on various areas of interest — science, entertainment and adventure. The adventure portion, which includes sports, provided the incentive for the obstacle course designed and laid out by children's librarians Pam Rawlinson and Mary Lou Curtin.

"You can't try a lot of the sports you read about," said Rawlinson. So the librarians decided to give their students a taste, in small fashion.

CONQUERING THE obstacle course was no easy matter. Students stepped one by one across the balance beam, ran through laid out tires, through a cardboard box with holes, jumped on and off the trampoline, across a park bench, through a sprinkler and to the Kellogg Park fountain.

At the fountain, they were given a cup of water and instructed to follow the same course back again, holding the cup of water, trying valiantly not to spill its contents.

Christine Hilken and Linda Ragan were the winners on the obstacle course.

Participants were also asked to compete in bubble gum blowing, bean bag throwing and jump rope contests.

Parents like Toni Zink whose daughter, Kellie, was also a participant had the honor of measuring bubbles. She whipped out her ruler every time a bubble grew from a youngster's mouth.

"They're too nervous and can't pucker and blow," she said as students beside her grew red-faced in their efforts.

Oops, no cheating, she told one

Bicycle riding caution to curb injury, death margins

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A carefree ride on a bicycle invites tragedy if safety rules are ignored.

During the last couple of decades bicycles have gained ground in popularity on the car.

In a recent year there were more bicycles than cars sold in Michigan, according to Sgt. Marvin Gier, Michigan State Police Northville post. The rising gas prices, at the time, made bicycles especially attractive.

It's not unusual for alcohol to be a factor in accidents involving bicycles, Gier said. Last year a Garden City man, who was intoxicated while riding his bicycle, was killed in an accident with a car, Gier said. The driver of the car was also intoxicated.

Riding a bicycle isn't as safe as many people think and statewide statistics show the dangers.

There's an 85 percent chance of being killed or seriously injured if you're on a bicycle and get into an accident with a car.

If two cars crash, the passengers have a three times better chance of walking away without injuries, Gier said.

So far this year, four bicyclists, all under 14, have been killed on Wayne County roads.

In 1984, the last year complete statistics are available, there were 4,177 accidents involving bicycles and cars in Michigan, Gier said. Of those accidents, 47 people were killed and 3,543 bicyclists were injured.

These kinds of statewide statistics prompted Canton police officers to promote bicycle safety.

The problem is "people aren't following good bicycle rules," said Eddie Tanner, Canton's police information officer.

THE FOLLOWING are bicycle safety tips:

- Ride with traffic on the right side.
- Apply rear, front, fender and wheel reflectors.
- Follow motor vehicle rules such as stopping at traffic and stop lights and signaling for turns. Bicyclists who fail to follow these rules may be ticketed, Tanner said.
- Affix a light to the bicycle for night riding.
- Yield to pedestrians.
- Ride the bike path — not the road — when one is available.
- Wear light-colored clothing during night riding.
- Keep the bicycle in good repair.
- Purchase a bicycle that fits the size of the rider.

- Ride one person on a bicycle. It is illegal to carry passengers.

Bicyclists should be especially careful when riding by parked cars making sure they clear extended objects, like rear view mirrors, Tanner said bicyclists are sometimes knocked down by motorists getting out of parked cars.

Although there haven't been any major accidents involving bicyclists in Canton this year.

Streep, Nicholson etch sharp images

"Heartburn" (R) is a major motion picture deserving the numerous awards for which it will undoubtedly be nominated. As one would expect of such a film, it is well polished at every turn.

Director and co-producer Mike Nichols assembled an award-winning cast and production team who represent the very best in motion picture arts and crafts.

Based on Nora Ephron's novel — she also wrote the screenplay — "Heartburn" is the story of a modern marriage in America where, as Mike Nichols puts it, "Most people I know are getting divorced."

Contrary to conventional Hollywood wisdom that only teenage rock movies prosper, "Heartburn" succeeds in appealing to all. It depicts a problem more than half the country faces — divorce and the great physical and psychic damage to everyone when a marriage self-destructs.

RACHEL SAMSTAT (Meryl Streep) is a New York food writer. She and Mark Forman (Jack Nicholson), a Washington correspondent, meet and, just like in the movies, it's love at first sight. However corny that concept may sound, Nichols directs the scene with class, tact and restraint.

Naturally, Nicholson and Streep have the talent to carry it off. That understatement will have to suffice, for space does not allow for all the plaudits their performances deserve.

Their relationship is characterized by warmth, wit and a realistic romanticism, unlike so many idealized film situations. After some last-minute hesitancy on the bride's part — her father's marriage as well as her first have left a bad taste — the ceremonies follow.

The scene preceding the ceremony is quietly comic, as Rachel lies on her bed debating whether or not to marry Mark. One after another, the principals discuss the issue with her while guests wait for the ceremony.

Children and old folks doze, the bartenders drink and exchange recipes while the groom kibitzes with the pianist. What might have been clichéd is executed with finesse and great attention to detail.

NESTER ALMENDROS' cinematography — he won an Oscar for "Days of Heaven" and his credits include nine Truffaut films — is softened ever so slightly to project a romantic, comic atmosphere and avoid the harsh, acerbic quality normally associated with divorce. Warm earth tones color the scene in support of a pleasant atmosphere.

Ann Roth, whose costume credits include "Silkwood" and "Places in the Heart," continues the warm earth tones in her costume concept, particularly for Streep. While a goodly portion of the clothing reflects the New York-Washington business/political scene (dark suits and formal wear), the social/home situations are costumed in browns, oranges and other warm hues.

Specifically, when Rachel is pregnant, her clothes have a high-fashion earthy-crunchy aura in celebration of maternal joy.

During the wedding scene, the camera's vision encompasses not only the breadth of the room but its depth as well, and a smiling, nodding guest at the rear of the room adds immeasurably to the sense of the ceremony's propriety.

As a matter of fact, Almendros composes a number of shots in that manner, with minor characters in the background sufficiently well-focused and well-distanced so that we can see and agree with their approval of the principals' foreground action. That richness of detail adds considerably to the positive emotional air and draws the audience into the film's point of view.

RACHEL'S MATERNAL joy is not without pain, but the scenes of daughter Annie's (Natalie Stern) difficult birth are filmed in a sensitive, but realistic manner, conveying the fear and danger of an emergency Cesarean section. It speaks well for the entire production that realism does not involve offensive closeups.

Rachel and Mark are surrounded by a large and very competent cast of friends, relatives and acquaintances, among them Milos Foreman in his acting debut as Dimitri, friend of gossip reporter Betty (Catherine O'Hara). These finely drawn portrayals are characters who, for the most part, provide Rachel with considerable support as her marriage flounders because of Mark's infidelity.

the movies
Dan Greenberg

These roles are also well-written, with Ephron providing numerous clever, revealing and humorous lines. "You want monogamy, marry a swan" intones Rachel's fast-talking, smart-aleck father Harry (Steven Hill), whose showbiz background, unfortunately, is developed obscurely and too late in the game to be meaningful.

Two of Mark/Rachel's closest friends are the Siegels — Julie (Stockard Channing) and Arthur (Richard Masur). Since the novel and screenplay are autobiographical, a product of Nora Ephron's marriage/divorce to/from Carl Bernstein, it's quite clear Siegel is Bob Woodward. "Heartburn" is to be credited for avoiding Watergate overtones and concentrating on its main theme.

Meryl Streep and Jack Nicholson play with their baby in the comedy drama "Heartburn," with screenplay by Nora Ephron, who also wrote the bestseller.
