EXTRA MILER: Helen Shelanskey, a second grade teacher at Field Elementary School, was awarded the "Extra Miler" award at the last meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education. A teacher in the district since 1978, she previously taught in Middletown, Ohio, Niagara Falls, and Miami.

In letters nominating her for the honor, Mrs. Shelanskey was lauded as "an outstanding teacher who is very kind and encouraging," who has done such things as set up a store where the children may buy small things with play money that they earn from doing their school work well. Another letter writer noted that "Mrs. Shelanskey not only teaches the basics, but goes beyond them by creating projects and special field trips to reinforce each newly learned skill or study." Another parent described her as a teacher who always gives 150 percent.

Mrs. Shelanskey graduated from Goucher College in Towson, Md., earning a bachelor's degree in elementary education. She earned her master's degree in May 1982 from Eastern Michigan University.

GREAT DEBATE?

Dean Baker, the Democratic nominee for Congress in the 2nd Congressional District, has challenged U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, to a series of debates on foreign and domestic policy. Baker has asked that the debates begin in late September or early October and that there be one for each major population center in the district — Ann Arbor, Plymouth, Livonia area, and Jackson.

Pursell has repeatedly refused to attend any sort of public event concerning Central America, says Baker, who is an instructor at the University of Michigan, not the regent by the same name. Baker also claims constituents are unhappy with Pursell for voting to cut Social Security, Medicare and student loans, and protecting workers from plant closings and foreign competition. Baker said that if Pursell accepts the challenge, it will be the congressman's first scheduled appearance at an Ann Arbor event open to the general public in the past several years.

Some 25 tour operators from 12 states and Canada were at the Mayflower Hotel last Saturday to investigate local tourist attractions to decide whether to make Plymouth a destination for their bus tour clients. Last year the Mayflower hosted more than 350 bus tours.

The visit to Plymouth was part of an eight-day Michigan "familiarization" tour sponsored by Circle Michigan Inc., a statewide tourism association working to bring more tours to Michigan. Group travel by bus is the fastest growing segment of the tourist industry.

FLAG GIFT: Under the direction of Americanism Chairman Alice Fisher, an American flag recently was presented to the Father Renaud Council of the Knights of Columbus in Plymouth by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Post No. 6695 VFW. Auxiliary members present for the ceremony included Doris Seisser, Caroline Van Gorder and Leona Schomberger. Accepting for the K. of C. was Grand Knight Gene Gurski.

Canton vote jeopardizes sewer

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Canton Township dealt the latest blow in a 20-year struggle to increase sewer capacity for a group of Wayne County communities, including Plymouth Township. Canton's refusal to sign a service agreement could trash the project for all communities involved. The Canton Township Board of Trustees passed a resolution last week refusing to participate in the North Huron Rouge Valley Project, which was revamped from the Huron Valley Project, commonly known as Supersewer.

Canton's cost share in the $110 million project is unfair, according to the resolution signed by the trustees last week. Canton would be charged 31.79 percent of the total project and would receive less than 6 percent of the additional sewer capacity generated, the resolution said.

Plymouth Township's share is 9.9 percent.

Federal grants would pick up 55 percent of the bill. However, the funds could be eliminated at any time during the three-phase project.

INITIALLY 75 PERCENT of the project was to be paid by the federal government. There is an attempt to convince the state to pick up the remaining 20 percent lost by the federal grant cutback.

Canton's cost is estimated at $17 million. But federal funding could be cut again at any stage of the project. If the grant is cut after the first phase, Canton's cost could be about $30 million, without considering cost overruns, according to C. Gerald Hemming, an attorney representing Canton.

The service agreement must be signed by all the communities involved no later than Dec. 1, according to Wayne County.

"If they (Canton Township) don't sign the agreement, it kills the project," said James Hamilton, Wayne County Department of Public Works director.

"They are too major a component in the project."

The service agreement lists the costs to all communities, and if Canton refuses to participate all the allocations are affected.

If a community earmarked to pay a smaller percentage backed out, a new contract could be written real-locating the share among the remaining communities, said Hamilton. He predicted that Canton's denial could set the project back three years.

"Congress has threatened to cut off the grant if they don't get the thing going," Hamilton said.

Hamilton said he believed Canton was the first community to reject the service agreement. He declined to comment about Canton's resolution in great detail because he had not yet read it.

Firefighters battle mock disasters

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

Some of the rumbles and dark clouds that filled the sky last week had nothing to do with the weather.

They accompanied examples of community nightmares — a gas leak here, a chemical fire there.

But these disasters were staged as part of a free training seminar presented by the Olin Corp., a pool chemical manufacturer with a plant at 35750 Industrial Road in Livonia.

The seminar took place last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Livonia fire station on Plymouth Road west of Newburgh.

Participants heard lectures, saw films and underwent "hands-on" drills. The exercises were designed to prepare them to deal with a variety of situations.

"I think it's fabulous," Canton fire Chief Melvin Paulun said, as a crew of firefighters battled a gasoline blaze. "I think that everybody here learned a lot."

ABOUT 125 people from emergency response groups, environmental groups, chemical companies, pharmaceutical firms, hospitals, medical centers and police and fire agencies attended the sessions.

Invited to take part were representatives from 22 communities, including personnel from the fire departments of Livonia, Plymouth, Canton Township, Farmington Hills, Garden City, Redford, Southfield, Westland, Northville Township and Novi.

"I feel that thanks should be extended to the Olin Corp.," Livonia fire Chief Barney Knorp said. "Hazardous material courses and training are in a very infantile stage in fire departments in the United States."

THE SEMINAR was designed by Safety Systems Inc., a Florida company that specializes in practical training.

"What we try to do here is project awareness," said Bill Walters, manager of Safety Systems. "We're here trying to solve problems."

"We're trying to make people aware that if it does happen here, they really do know what to do," said Halcott Foss, Olin plant manager.

The program was a cooperative effort between the city of Livonia and the Olin Corp.

Knorp presented the company with a list of emergency response personnel from surrounding communities, who were then invited to attend.

Work already is under way to prepare for a larger disaster drill in the near future.

THE MOCK disasters last week included incidents both at fixed locations and on vehicles.

Participants learned how to stop a propane gas leak from a cylinder and to carry the cylinder on a makeshift stretcher to keep the plug from falling off.

"This is just like a sick patient in EMS," Walters said.

A smoke bomb was ignited in a hatch, simulating a chlorine gas leak from a railroad car. A team of three firefighters usually all that would have room to work on an actual hatch — donned gas masks and suits to cap the leak.

In a spectacular but horrifying display, a gasoline fire was ignited. Firefighters faced a giant wall of rolling, orange flame, black clouds of smoke and fireworks resembling popping pieces of metal. The group rescued a dummy and put out the fire.

Last week's workshop was the 12th in the country put together by Olin. When it was completed, more than 1,100 people (one-fourth of them Olin employees) had been trained in the sessions, representatives said.

New restaurant, Bennigan's, to join Steak & Ale

By Doug Funke
staff writer

A Bennigan's restaurant, which features appetizers, quick meals and a children's menu, is on the drawing board for Plymouth Township.

The restaurant is expected to provide about 85 jobs when in full operation.

Bennigan's will be built behind the Steak & Ale restaurant on Ann Arbor Road west of I 275. S&A Restaurant Corp., headquartered in Dallas, owns both Bennigan's and Steak & Ale. S&A is a subsidiary of Pillsbury.

A spokeswoman said the company has enjoyed success placing two different restaurants it owns so close to each other.

"We feel if our guests are in a mood for casual food, they'll come to Bennigan's, more sophisticated food, Steak & Ale. But one way or another we feel we'll be able to serve them," said Teresa Henderson.

Steak & Ale, with different lunch and dinner menus, attracts a more upscale crowd than Bennigan's, she said. Both restaurants serve alcoholic beverages.

THE TOWNSHIP planning commission has approved site plans for Bennigan's, which is expected to seat about 250. The Steak & Ale seats about 270.

Building permits can be drawn as soon as the township engineer, water and sewer department, fire department and building department review and approve complete sets of plans.

Construction is expected to begin about Oct. 1, with a projected opening of April 1, Henderson said.

"We've really been concentrating on Detroit as one of our markets to build in this year."

Plymouth will be the site of the eighth Bennigan's in Michigan. There are 200 nationwide. Average sales per restaurant per year is $2.2 million.

A restaurant will provide more property tax revenue for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, the township and the county.

Construction costs weren't available, Henderson said.

However, a restaurant with a market value of $1 million would generate at least $27,750 in property tax revenue, most directed to the school district.

Township buying replacement rig

Plymouth Township is getting a new ambulance, probably within the next few weeks to replace a rusting 1978 model at Fire Station No. 2.

The township board has allocated $44,250 for the purchase.

Fire Chief Larry Groth said he had proposed acquiring an ambulance next year but moved up his request when a demonstration model became available at a good price.

The ambulance, with an aluminum body to retard rust, can transport three people at once. It will contain basic EMS equipment such as oxygen, splints and airways.

The great majority of Plymouth Township fire runs involve rescue service. The township will transport to 10 hospitals within a 17-mile radius.

Residents are charged $70, non-residents $105, plus mileage.

YMCA to sponsor dieting seminar

A diet book written by a former Northville resident was out for less than a month when the authors heard their first success story — a thank you note from a woman who lost 15 pounds to look better for her daughter's wedding.

The second success was reported by a college senior who lost nine pounds in two weeks, while still selecting her food from dormitory cafeteria fare.

"She simply followed our daily 'things to do' guide, without even using our menus and recipes," explained Lenore Bechtel, former Northville resident and behavior counselor who co-authored "The Head-First Diet" with her sister, Marcia Curtis.

The quick weight losses came as no surprise to Bechtel, whose husband shed 28 pounds testing the recipes and behavior modification techniques while the book was in progress.

BECHTEL SAYS her goal is to gather enough success statistics to get the same kind of national attention given other diet books she feels are not as sensible or nutritionally sound. Toward this end she is offering Head-First Dieting seminars for seven area community programs this fall, including for the Plymouth Community Family YMCA.

The Plymouth YMCA will offer the seminar 7-9 p.m. Thursdays, Sept. 25, Oct. 9, 23, at West Middle School at 4401 W. Ann Arbor Trail at Sheldon. To register, call 453-2904. The $30 seminar fee includes all three sessions.

Participants will start the diet after the first session and lose eight to 12 pounds before the last of three sessions, said Bechtel. "They'll lose happily, not hungrily."

The book takes dieters through a series of repetitions of positive habits for 20 times over a period of 28 days. The diet is 1,200 to 1,300 calories a day with about 60 percent of the calories coming from complex carbohydrates and less than 20 percent from fat and 20 percent from protein — the combination recommended by nutritionists for optimum health and to reduce the risk of cholesterol, heart and circulation problems, as well as colon cancer and intestinal diseases.

THE ORIGINAL recipes were concocted by Curtis, an Indiana postmaster and prize-winning cook who vowed to control her husband's pre-diabetic condition with nutrition. When the resulting recipes not only controlled his medical problems but also took off weight, the sisters decided to pool their talents to put out the book.

"People are too smart to believe that eating five grapefruits a day, or existing on rice for two weeks are really good ways to lose weight," said Bechtel. "Our approach is to provide the proper nutrition so you can take your mind off food and focus it on resolving the problems that cause you to overeat."

The book has tear-out shopping lists and staple checklists so dieters can grocery shop without having to think about meal preparation. It is available at Little Book Center of Plymouth or can be purchased for $9.95 on the first night of the seminar.

New Lutheran High serves west suburbs

By Leonard Poger
staff writer

Western Wayne County's newest high school opened its doors three weeks ago with more than the typical opening-of-school problems.

Most of the carpeting and all exterior doors were replaced, roof repairs were made, and some ceiling and floor tiles had to be replaced. Class bells didn't ring for several days and the building's clocks all had different times.

Not complaining is principal Ross Stueber, who is happy to be in his new post as head of Lutheran High School Westland, the newest and largest of the five schools operated by the Lutheran High School Association of Greater Detroit.

It is the newest school and is in Westland's north end, on Cowan Road, a half-mile east of Westland Center. The school is housed in what was the former Nankin Mills Junior High School and Wayne-Westland school district adult education center.

The Lutheran organization bought the building and property from the school district earlier this year.

Students come from 14 Lutheran congregations with the nearest schools in Farmington Hills and northwest Detroit.

With school opening in late August, Stueber came from Our Savior Lutheran School in Lansing to head a staff of seven full-time teachers and four part-time instructors who also teach at other Lutheran schools.

STUEBER, WHO turned 40 the week before school opened, said there are 123 pupils now but expects to have 200 to 250 next fall.

Ultimately, he hopes to have about 700 students, which would make the school the largest Lutheran high school in the region.

The others are in Detroit, Farmington Hills, which will have its school replaced by one in Troy, and Mount Clemens.

Ironically, the new school is just a few feet east of Huron Valley High School, which is operated by a different synod of the Lutheran Church and doesn't represent direct competition for pupils, Stueber said.

Stueber is looking forward to the 3 p.m. Sunday dedication of the school, and the rest of the school year with typical student activities like athletic events and school plays.

The school is housed in what was the former Nankin Mills Junior High School.

speech teacher, for getting a lot of work done during the summer as acting principal before he arrived in late August.

Finzel was also in the first graduating class of a Lutheran high school in the Detroit region. She later taught for many years at Lutheran West in Detroit.

The Westland location was picked after a combination of several factors fell into place, the principal said.

One was that western Wayne County congregations have been asking for a new high school.

A SOLUTION, Stueber said, was buying the former junior high school in Westland, which would draw half its pupils from nearby communities and another half from the northwest high school in Farmington Hills where enrollments have stabilized and prompted a move to a new building to be built in Troy.

Part of the northwest school's problem, Stueber said, was that school officials asked the city to build a gym. The city denied the request and that position was upheld by several court opinions.

The Westland school has the facilities to operate a full-fledged high school program "from day one," he said.

One thing that helped almost as soon as he reached his office was a $3,000 grant from the Aid Association for Lutherans to buy classroom computers and software. The equipment is already in place in the school's computer lab.

The drama department is preparing for the Oct. 17-18 production of a Winnie the Pooh children's story.

Besides the academic classes, students are getting set for the Warriors' athletic schedule.

UNDER ATHLETIC director Dennis Tuomi, the school has teams for boys and girls cross country, varsity and junior varsity football, girls and boys basketball, girls volleyball and cheerleading, wrestling, boys baseball, girls softball and track for both genders.

The school will compete as an independent this school year.

congregations west of Detroit and south of Farmington Hills.

Involved in computers is Cindy Sutton, 15, who gets help from Ed Helka, 16. The new school received a $3,000 grant from a Lutheran organization to buy terminals and software.

Art teacher John Gerlach, who also is the cross country coach and religion instructor, displays designs in his classroom.

No more development, homeowners urge and with a soccer field and baseball diamond. Both Detting, a Willow Creek homeowner, cited possible sewer and traffic problems if homes are built on the land.

But my major concern is to save the park, Detting said. North of Farm Road there is no recreation area sponsored by the township.

When both subdivisions were built the developer and the township agreed the 15 acres would be used as a school site, according to Dave Nicholson, Canton community and economic development director.

The commission, which has six members, is scheduled to vote on the change at its Monday, Oct. 13 meeting.

Canton Township Supervisor James Hoel is in the process of recommending a seventh commission member for approval by the Canton Township Board of Trustees.

Does the P.D. become a contractor now that the developer is gone? Detting said.

Nicholson said residents are not party to the planned unit development.

Carrage Hills and Willow Creek homeowners are planning a "strategy meeting" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Miller Elementary School. The public may attend.

Hoel said he recently received calls from residents disappointed about the proposed sale.

We felt over the long run in looking at the potential school sites in the future we would not need that land, Hoel said.

3 apply for Schoolcraft board

College officials mum on trustee applicants

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Schoolcraft College officials have decided to remain mum over who has applied for two vacancies on the college board of trustees at least until after the Sept. 22 application deadline.

College president Richard McDowell confirmed that three applicants had submitted applications as of Friday but declined to name them. He said he would disclose the names after the deadline.

In all likelihood more will apply, judging from the response to recent announcements that trustees Sharon Sarris and Paul Kadish will be moving out of the district and therefore resigning from the board.

As of Friday, McDowell said the college received 21 requests for information.

"Each day we get three to four calls asking for information about the college, so there has been a high level of interest," McDowell said.

WHEN asked why he wouldn't name the applicants, McDowell said he worried that disclosure now would influence other potential applicants. He also said he didn't want the board members to learn of the applicants through the newspaper.

"It is indeed public service but I don't want to influence someone based on what they read in the paper. I'm not going to make up their minds for them."

He said the list of applicants will be submitted to the board prior to their next meeting date on Sept. 24. The board will then have 30 days after receiving the two trustees' formal resignation letters (expected that day) to name replacements.

The appointees will serve until the next scheduled college election date in June.

When contacted Friday, board President Michael Burley said he couldn't name the formal applicants because he didn't know who they were.

Only one person is known to have openly discussed seeking a spot on the board. Nancy Kitzman of Garden City said she is interested and will submit her application by Monday.

A MICHIGAN assistant attorney general, Susan Ionatti, said there is no clear-cut answer on whether there can be a disclosure of an applicant for an appointment to a public body. She said their names can certainly be withheld under the state Freedom of Information Act, if they request it and until the time that they receive a public interview. However, she said there is currently no state court interpretation or previous attorney general's opinion on the question.

McDowell said none of the three applicants to date requested privacy until their formal board interviews. The trustees, themselves, have yet to discuss the procedure they'll use to select two appointees.

In contrast to the Schoolcraft situation, the Wayne-Westland Public School System has one vacancy on the school board and candidates are being announced as they apply there.

Meanwhile, Kitzman, a 15-year Garden City resident who works as corporate training and education manager for Detroit-Macomb Hospital Corporation, said her interest in an appointment stems from a lengthy background in business and education. Her position involves extensive work in overseeing employee training programs.

She has taught school from preschool to adult education classes and has a master's degree in education. She is active in community organizations including the Garden City Civic Theater, library support group, Business and Professional Women's Organization, and PTA. In education, she is involved in gifted and talented program concerns.

Kitzman, 39, says she has a particular interest in community colleges because they serve "important needs" for those unemployed, changing careers and seeking other career options.

Kitzman said it is important for Garden City to be represented on the college board. "It's a point people in Garden City feel very strongly about."

Though Schoolcraft's main campus is located in Livonia, and it offers some classes in the Plymouth-Canton High School, it has a Garden City satellite campus at the former Radcliff Junior High. Its move into that expanded facility from another Garden City location in 1985 resulted in an expansion in course offerings and was prompted by a need to attract more students.

There are no Garden City residents on the board of trustees, whose current members live in Plymouth, Northville and Livonia.

Appeal is called in drain dispute

Wayne County Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood will appeal a Sept. 4 circuit court ruling that supports county commissioners' plans to ask voters to dismantle the drain office, his attorney said.

Appeals on Friday. Jeffrey Supowit said he had prepared a 45-page document and had planned to file it with the Michigan Court of Appeals on Friday.

In it, Supowit said he argues that Judge Charles S. Farmer "erred in not deciding the case on its merits. I cite a lot of Michigan law for the proposition that the case should be decided before the election (scheduled on Nov. 4)," he said.

Farmer had ruled that dismissing the proposal before voters had a chance to vote on it was "prematuring." He also said he believed, based on interpretations of state statutes and the county charter, that commissioners properly followed the law in placing the issue for a public vote.

Supowit earlier argued that voters did not have the legal right to make such a decision — eliminating this particular elected office — and therefore the proposal slated for Nov. 4 is "deceiving."

He said there was no telling when and if the court of appeals would decide to take up his arguments.

Foster volunteers wanted

Volunteers are being sought to serve on the Wayne County Foster Care Review Boards, which oversee the temporary placement of children into foster homes.

The purpose of the boards is to determine, through representative cases, if the Juvenile Division of the Wayne County Probate Court is properly planning for the placement of children in foster homes.

Volunteers are expected to meet once a month and attend a training program. Expenses are reimbursed.

Those interested are asked to write the Foster Care Review Board, 1012 Lafayette Building, Detroit, MI 48226, or call 256-9080.

Members are selected to reflect a cross-section of the county's population.

Those exempt are employees of child care organizations, the Michigan Department of Social Services or the Juvenile Court.

The review boards were established by public act in 1984 in an effort to improve the state's foster care programs.

Fund-raiser set

The Schoolcraft College Foundation is hosting its fall fund-raiser, "A Night at Ladbroke" Saturday, Sept. 28.

A tax-deductible donation of $25 includes a buffet dinner, admission to the track and clubhouse, reserved tables and racing programs. Dinner will be served 4:30-6:30 p.m. Post time is 6 p.m.

For ticket information, call 591-6400, Ext. 218.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH
 ORDINANCE NO. 90-A

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 90, THE WATER AND SEWER ORDINANCE, BY AMENDING SECTION 5, RATES AND CHARGES TO INCREASE THE INDUSTRIAL WASTE CONTROL (I.W.C.) CHARGE.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS

Section 1. Paragraph K of SECTION 5 of ORDINANCE NO. 90 shall be amended to read as follows:

K Industrial Waste Control (I.W.C) Charge: A monthly charge shall be applied to all nonresidential customers for the purpose of the industrial waste control surveillance program charge. A residential unit shall be defined as any structure designed and used for year round habitation where average occupancy by the same person or persons was longer than two consecutive months during the previous year. Nonresidential units shall include any sewer premises which do not meet the above description. The monthly charge shall not be applied on the basis of any meter which services solely residential users or which are used for fire protection purposes only. The I.W.C. surcharge shall be applied as follows:

Section 2. Severability. If any clause, sentence, section, paragraph or part of this Ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstances, shall be for any reason adjudged by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid, said judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons, firms, corporations, legal entities or circumstances by said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph or part of this Ordinance thereof directly involved in the case and controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered and to the person, firm, corporation and circumstances then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of the body that the Ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provision not been included in this Ordinance.

Section 3. Repeal. All other Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

Section 4. Publication. The Township Clerk shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

Section 5. Effective date. This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication thereof.

This Ordinance was duly adopted by the Township Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth at its regular meeting called and held on the 9th day of September, 1986, and was ordered given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Celebrate With Us

Sisters of Mercy
 Serving our community
 Since 1911

This is St. Joe's

Our nurses have been at the heart of the spirit of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for seventy-five years. It is more true today than ever before.

As professionals, our nurses have more responsibility than ever in providing care to our patients. Their education, experience, and skill are essential in maintaining the consistently high level of healthcare service that this community has come to expect from St. Joe's since 1911.

As people, these nurses play many roles in assuring that excellent care also means compassionate care. Nurses are educators and advocates for patients. They provide comfort and reassurance. They take a special pride in carrying out the hospital's philosophy of caring for the needs of the whole person.

Not surprisingly, although there are more than a thousand nurses at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, they still think of themselves as family. Together with the medical staff and the rest of the Health Center's employees, our nurses represent the values that have made St. Joe's the hospital of choice here for so many years.

At St. Joseph Mercy Hospital our family is here to help yours.

Wills discussed at legal workshop

Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services and the American Progressive Association will sponsor a Community Legal Education Workshop, "How to Prepare a Will," 1-3 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 18, at 35351 Beverly, east of Wayne Road, Romulus.

The workshop will provide instruction on how to prepare and file a will with or without the assistance of an attorney. A copy of the new Michigan Statutory Will form will be given to each workshop participant, along with step-by-step instructions on preparing a will using this form. The workshop also will stress the importance of preparing a will for people of all ages and income levels.

The workshop presenter will be LaRue Davis, a staff attorney in Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services in Inkster.

The workshop is free. For more information, call 721-3684.

UM-Dearborn enrollment leaps

The University of Michigan-Dearborn began its fall semester with a record enrollment of more than 6,900 students, a 6-percent increase from fall 1985. Master's degree programs appeared to account for the bulk of the increase.

"We have not sacrificed quality for quantity," said Eugene Arden, UM-D's vice chancellor of academic affairs. This fall's freshman class has "academic records slightly better than last fall's."

The enrollment increase, in percentage terms, will be among the highest of the 15-public, four-year campuses in Michigan, Arden said.

UM-DEARBORN usually enrolls about 780 first-year freshmen with a mean ACT test score of 24 (the state average is 19) and an academic grade-point average of 3.3 (B-plus).

Arden said it will take a few weeks to determine the reasons for the increase.

Preliminary indications are that graduate enrollment (master's degree level) accounts for a sizeable portion of that increase, he said. UM-D offers master's-degree level programs in engineering, business, education and public administration.

The introduction of 11 undergraduate degree programs in the evening session is another likely source of enrollment increases. UM-D has attracted increasing numbers of part-time adult students to classes starting after 4:30 p.m., said Arden.

GRADUATE students usually account for about 7 percent to 8 percent of UM-D's enrollment.

Arden speculates that increasing numbers of Detroit-area professionals may be taking advantage of company tuition reimbursement plans to complete graduate work in order to expedite career plans.

"With our location and the availability of a U-M degree (granted through the Rackham Graduate School), it is not surprising that Detroit-area residents find UM-D a good buy," Arden said.

Gas bill cut due in October

Consumers Power Co. will make a one-time refund in October of about $27.9 million to its 1.2 million natural gas customers.

The refund was approved this week by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The typical natural gas residential customer will receive a bill credit of approximately $13 in October.

The majority of the refund is due to a rate settlement reached between Trunkline Gas Co., Consumers Power's main supplier, and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission for gas Trunkline sold between December 1983 and February 1985.

Under the settlement Consumers Power received approximately $21 million which, with interest, is being refunded to its customers.

The refund also includes approximately $2.2 million in profits from gas storage, $1.3 million in a Marysville property tax settlement, and other lesser amounts from miscellaneous sources.

Charles F. Brown, vice president for customer services and marketing for Consumers Power, said, "In addition to this one-time refund, we have previously announced that for the winter the natural gas rates of our customers are decreasing about 12 percent.

"This 12 percent reduction, the result of anticipated lower purchase costs from our pipeline suppliers, plus a recent Consumers Power rate settlement with the Michigan Public Service Commission, means an estimated annual savings beginning Sept. 1 of an additional $181 million for our 1.2 million natural gas customers," said Brown.

Consumers Power Co. is Michigan's largest utility, serving almost six million of the state's nine million residents in 67 of the 68 Lower Peninsula counties.

Enter Zoo from 10 Mile

Detroit Zoo visitors will have to use an alternate entrance from 10 Mile Road during construction of a new entrance.

Upon its completion in spring of 1987, visitors will have access to the Zoo from both the southbound Woodward Avenue service drive and the I-696 service road along 10 Mile, the Michigan Department of Transportation said.

MDOT is paying $12 million for zoo improvements, including a brick-walled entrance fronted by a landscaped plaza. The project is part of construction of nearly eight miles of the I-696 freeway across southern Oakland County.

The work includes a three-level, 600-car parking structure, an 11-foot-high brick wall extending 3,600 feet along 10 Mile, administration and security offices, train station and concession building.

The improvements are to compensate the city of Detroit for land given up for the freeway.

Business index softens during July

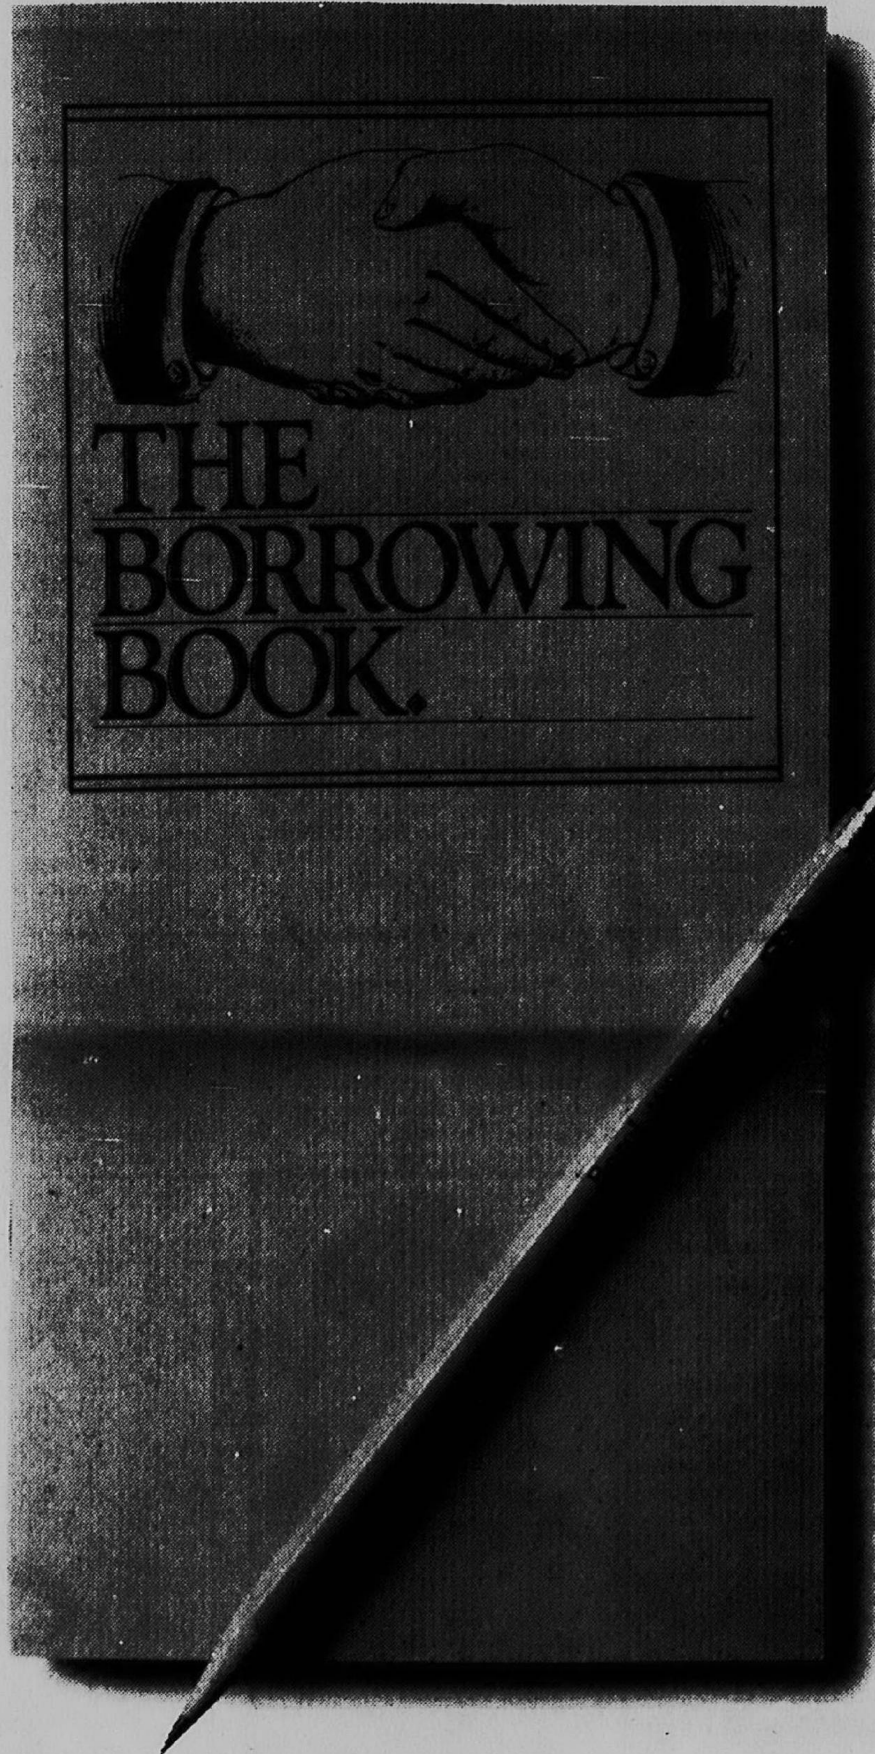

Michigan's Business Activity Index edged upward by one point in July to a level of 124, according to Manufacturers Bank.

This places July 1986 activity 4.6 percent lower than July 1985. But on a year-to-date basis, Michigan's economy is 2.2 percent ahead of the comparable seven months last year, according to bank economist David Littmann.

In July, the steel and automotive sectors gained, but there was a substantial decline in the average hourly work week in manufacturing. This may be a prelude to weakness in what has been the strength in Michigan employment, Littman said.

Confirming this weakness, average hourly earnings in manufacturing also reached their lowest level of the year during July. Both labor-market indicators suggest a slowdown in the state's manufacturing sector.

The MBAI is compiled monthly from 10 different measures of economic activity by the Economics Department of Manufacturers Bank, and is seasonally adjusted and corrected for inflation, and expressed on an index basis with a 1982 base of 100.

The Ultimate Truth In Lending.

To anyone who's never done it before, applying for a loan can be a bewildering experience.

All those questions, calculations and telephone calls make borrowing seem so confusing.

Actually, it's quite simple. Even logical. And to prove that point, First of America Bank is offering The Borrowing Book, a straightforward explanation of how loan officers make up their minds.

In it you'll find the questions bankers ask when you apply for a loan. You'll read about the importance of debt-to-income ratios and credit reports.

And you'll learn about the wealth of loans available from First of America Bank. Everything from car and boat loans to private lines of credit and bank credit cards.

For personal loans and the whole story behind them, come to your nearby First of America Bank office and get The Borrowing Book free.

The plot isn't much, but it could have a very happy ending.

McNamara out-spends opponents in race

Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara spent $417,296 in his bid for the Democratic nomination for Wayne County executive, outdistancing nine other candidates in the race.

McNamara

The nearest challenger in the August primary, Sam Turner, now a lame-duck Detroit commissioner, failed to file a complete report by the deadline. And as of last Friday he continued to be charged $10 a day for late fees, according to a clerk in the elections commission.

Harper Woods commissioner John Hertel, who placed fourth in the field, was second in money spent. His report stated he spent $343,089 while raising nearly $285,000 by Aug. 25.

Included in the report was a $20,000 loan the candidate made to his campaign.

COUNTY sheriff Robert Ficano, of Livonia, placed third in the Aug. 5 primary raising nearly $280,000 and spending $261,001 of that by late August, according to his report.

His report listed a bank debt of $20,000 which was paid. Late in the primary campaign, he received a $10,000 contribution from the Michigan AFL-CIO. Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502 contributed $14,000, the United Steel Workers' Political Action Commission donated $7,800, the Wayne County Bar Association gave $2,600 and the 16th Democratic District Party gave nearly $3,000 late in the campaign.

Frank Wilkerson, an assistant county executive, raised $67,463 in his try for the Democratic nomination. He spent $68,391.

Sumpter Township Treasurer Thomas Gondek was the only other candidate to file a report. His post-primary report claims in-kind contributions totalling $82,879, though he raised only $205 in cash.

When questioned by officials with the Wayne County Election's Bureau, the candidate explained those in-kind contributions as expenses for operating the office of his computer consulting company, Tomston Group, in Belleville. Out of nearly $77,700, his report listed the cost of a security system ($3,000), various office supplies and utilities, the cost of leasing a copy machine, as well as 1,000 hours of computer time valued at $65,000 in all.

McNamara's post-primary expenses listed media bills of nearly $83,000 to his Washington, D.C. consultant, Jill Buckley and Associates.

McNamara also made a personal $12,000 loan on the campaign on Aug. 10.

IN THE RACE for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners only two candidates raised and spent more than $15,000. They are Milton Mack, D-Wayne, whose district includes Canton, and Susan Heintz, the GOP candidate for the 10th District which includes Livonia and Plymouth.

Mack's post-primary report stated that the 11th district incumbent raised $24,110. All but $280 of that was raised in the first half of the campaign, or before July 21, according to reports. He listed expenses at $15,608.

Mack's challenger, Robert Smith, did not raise enough money to warrant legal disclosure, according to campaign finance laws.

In the 10th District, Heintz, Northville Township supervisor, far outspent her toughest opponent, Livonia treasurer Elaine Tuttle. Heintz won a narrow victory in a three-way contest on primary election night. She won by some 700 votes district-wide.

Heintz listed campaign expenses of $14,784. She raised nearly $10,000, according to her report. Tuttle financed her own campaign with a $1,515 loan. She ended the primary reporting period with $4.63.

In the 12th District, which includes Westland and Garden City, incumbent Kay Beard, D-Imperial, spent nearly $7,974 and raised $6,130, according to reports filed in late August.

Challenger John Monge, did not raise enough funds to warrant disclosure.

With the exception of the Livonia-Plymouth-Northville seat, all others are considered Democratic strongholds and the incumbents are expected to win easy victories in November.

House OKs wine cooler bill

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The state House of Representatives voted its own version of a wine cooler deposit law Thursday and sent it back to the state Senate.

The House version, however, was tie-barred to a second bill that allows wine cooler manufacturers to establish distributors' territories. When bills are "tie-barred," both must be passed for either to take effect.

The tie-bar displeased Thomas L. Washington, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, MUCC, the sportsmen's group that spearheaded the drive for wine cooler deposits.

Washington said the distributorship bill was "a separate issue" that shouldn't have been tied to the deposit law. He called it "anti-competitive" for both consumers and retailers because it would reduce competition among distributors.

THE DEPOSIT bill, Senate Bill 761, was passed 101-2 with seven not voting. All area representatives supported it except W.V. Brotherton, R-Farmington, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, both of whom were recorded as not voting.

The distributorship measure, House Bill 4931, was adopted 80-20. Opposing it were Reps. Justine Barns, D-Westland, James Kosteva, D-Canton, and Judith Miller, R-Birmingham; absent was Honigman. All other area representative favored it.

Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, a member of the House Liquor Control Committee, said both deposit measures peg the charge at 10 cents, but one key difference is that the Senate version didn't have the territorial bill tie-barred to it.

If the Senate fails to concur in the House change, the two versions will go to a joint House-Senate conference committee to iron out differences.

And if no compromise is worked out, the bill automatically dies at the end of the year.

MUCC is conducting a petition drive to place a deposit law for wine coolers and mixed drinks on the 1988 ballot. The group has until Nov. 4 to file some 240,000 valid signatures. The effective date of the MUCC proposal is six months after the 1988 election, or approximately June of 1989.

Hearing set on millage rate

The Wayne County Commission will hold a public hearing 10 a.m. Tuesday over its plans to avert the effects of the tax-cutting Headlee Amendment in the coming year.

The hearing will be in Conference Room A on the seventh floor of the City-County Building in Detroit.

The hearing is required to discuss maintaining the county's general operating millage at 7.07 mills ($7.07 per $1,000 in state equalized property value) even though the overall tax base is rising. If left unchanged, the millage rate is expected to bring in an additional $4 million more in tax-generated revenues next year.

FESTIVE FALL DINNER WITH AN ITALIAN ACCENT

According to a recent national restaurant survey, over 75 percent of Americans opt for "Italian" when they eat out. Now that fall is putting most of us in the mood for cooking and entertaining once again, why not delight family and friends with some special meals sta casa that conjure up the luscious, highly varied cuisine of Northern Italy. Columbus Day might be the perfect time to throw a party!

The recipes given here take advantage of a pair of native products, American lamb and almonds and, appropriately enough, a 100% pure Italian olive oil that is both produced and bottled in Italy — your assurance of consistent quality. Like so many proud Italian-Americans, these fine ingredients celebrate the best of two cultures.

What could be more impressive than a Crown Roast of Lamb with Italian Mushroom Stuffing and Chianti Glaze? Naturally tender with a delicate flavor, American lamb is available fresh year-round and is naturally lean, with little or no marbling of fat. Sumptuous as it looks and tastes, there are just 176 calories per 3-ounce serving. Almonds add rich, nutty flavor and a crisp crunch to the savory dressing that makes it really special.

If you've had a leg roast on Sunday, turn it into something sensational — like this Lamb Fettuccine Peperonata — later in the week. And it takes only a few minutes to prepare: simply cook pasta, stir-fry and combine other ingredients, toss together and get ready for the bravas. Clear, golden Bertolli olive oil lends a distinctive yet subtle touch of flavor and light, pleasing fragrance, blending the various foods and enhancing their natural goodness.

In refreshing counterpoint is a sprightly Lamb and New Potato Salad Vinaigrette. It offers solid nutritive value since lamb is an important source of protein, zinc, niacin, iron and the B vitamins; almonds are chock-full of Vitamin E, riboflavin, calcium plus minerals — and they contain no cholesterol. Olive oil, by the way, is not only cholesterol-free but also very high in monounsaturates, which many leading nutritionists now consider preferable to polyunsaturates for general health. It's also the most digestible.

Three additional menu suggestions, not shown, demonstrating the great versatility and adaptability of these very compatible products include Almontolli Lamb Chops — an easy way to dress up a family favorite for company.

Zesty Tuscan Manicotti, sparked with pesto, is a delicious twist on this traditional pasta dish. It's another stylish — and economical — entree you can create using leftover lamb.

What's a festive dinner without — a slightly decadent dessert? Zuppa Inglese (literally "English soup" or trifle) Bertolli is a luxurious grand finale. "Build" it in your prettiest glass bowl — guests will gobble con amore!

Crown Roast of Lamb with Italian Mushroom Stuffing

- 1 4- to 6-pound crown roast
- 1 2-pound hot or mild Italian sausage
- 1 2-cup olive oil
- 1 pound mushrooms, chopped
- 1 1/2 cups chopped onion
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 2-cup water
- 1 package (7 oz.) seasoned cubed stuffing
- 1 cup blanched slivered almonds, toasted
- Chianti Glaze

Place crown roast on rack in shallow pan; set aside. Heat oil in large saucepan; remove sausage from skin and crumble into pan. Cook until brown. Add mushrooms, onions, celery and garlic; cook 5 minutes or until tender. Stir in 1 2-cup water; bring to boil. Add stuffing; toss well. Stir in almonds. Stuff center of crown roast without packing too tightly. Cover center and rib ends with foil to prevent excess browning. Place remainder of stuffing in 1 quart covered baking dish; set aside. Roast lamb at 325° F., 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until meat thermometer inserted into thickest portion of lamb registers 150° F. for medium rare. The last 30 minutes, baste lamb with Chianti Glaze and heat remaining dish of stuffing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

- Chianti Glaze: 1 2-cup Chianti (red wine), 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 2-cup dark brown sugar, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 2-cup ketchup

In medium saucepan, combine all ingredients. Stir over medium heat until smooth.

Lamb Fettuccine Peperonata

- 10-oz. fettuccine noodles
- 2 pounds leg of lamb, cut into julienne strips
- 1 4-cup olive oil
- 1 red pepper, cut into julienne strips
- 1 green pepper, cut into julienne strips
- 1 red onion, chopped
- 1 1/2 cups sliced mushrooms
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1 2-teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 jar (6 oz.) marinated artichoke hearts
- 1 3-cup small, whole pitted ripe olives, drained
- 1 cup blanched slivered almonds, toasted
- 1 cup grated Parmesan Cheese

In large pan, cook fettuccine in boiling salted water until al dente; rinse, drain, remove; set aside. In same pan, stir-fry lamb strips a few at a time in hot olive oil until browned — about 2 minutes. Remove from pan; set aside. Stir-fry peppers, onions, mushrooms and garlic until tender crisp, adding more olive oil if necessary. Stir in oregano, pepper, cream, marinated artichoke hearts with liquid and olives. Add fettuccine, lamb, almonds and cheese; toss to mix well. Heat through. Sprinkle with additional Parmesan cheese, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Lamb and New Potato Salad Vinaigrette

- 4 cups sliced new potatoes
- 1 2-cup olive oil
- 1 medium red pepper, cut into strips
- 1 medium green pepper, cut into strips
- 1 1/2 cups julienne strips of cooked lamb
- 1 medium purple onion, chopped
- 1 4-cup Balsamic or sherry vinegar
- 1 teaspoon Dijon-type mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 4-teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 1 3-cup julienne strips cornichon or dill pickles
- 1 tablespoon capers
- 1 2-cup sliced almonds

In large skillet, cook potatoes in 1/4 cup of olive oil. Toss frequently. Add peppers and cook until just tender. Add lamb and purple onion. Cook several minutes, tossing frequently. Add remaining ingredients. Toss to blend and heat through. Serve warm, or refrigerate and serve chilled on a bed of crisp greens. Sprinkle with sliced almonds to garnish. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Tuscan Manicotti

(NOT SHOWN)

- 1 1 2-cups sour cream
- 1 1 2-cups grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 2-cup ricotta cheese
- 1 4-cup plus 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 container (4 oz.) frozen pesto sauce, thawed
- 1 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 cups chunked cooked lamb
- 1 cup fresh bread crumbs
- 3 4-cup toasted slivered almonds
- 1 4-teaspoon black pepper
- 1 4-teaspoon nutmeg
- 12 manicotti noodles for stuffing

In medium saucepan, combine sour cream, Parmesan cheese, heavy cream, ricotta cheese and 1 4-cup olive oil. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until cheese melts. do not boil. Reserve 1 1/2 cups sauce. Add pesto to remaining sauce; mix well. Pour into a 9 x 13-inch baking dish and set aside. Saute onions, mushrooms and garlic in remaining 1 tablespoon olive oil.

Add lamb, bread crumbs, 1 2-cup almonds, pepper, nutmeg and 1 2-cup reserved white sauce; mix well; set aside. Cook manicotti five minutes in boiling water; drain. Stand manicotti on end and fill with lamb mixture. Arrange on pesto sauce. Cover with foil; bake at 375° F., 45 minutes or until heated through and pasta is tender. Heat remaining 1 cup cheese sauce. Pour over pasta. Garnish with remaining 1 2-cup almonds and sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Almontolli Lamb Chops

(NOT SHOWN)

- 1 4-cup chopped sun-dried tomatoes
- 1 4-cup sliced green onions
- 2 teaspoons tarragon
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- 1 2-cup white wine
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 2-cup olive oil
- 1 2-cup diced roasted almonds
- 6 lamb shoulder chops (about 1 1/2 lbs.)

Combine tomatoes, green onions, tarragon, garlic and wine in saucepan. Cook over medium-high heat until reduced to about 1 tablespoon liquid; cool. Place egg yolks in food processor bowl. Using metal blade, process until thick; about 1 minute. Continue processing, gradually adding oil through feed tube. Remove to small bowl. Stir in cooled wine mixture and diced almonds by hand. Cover and chill. Broil lamb chops 4-inches from heat, about 5 minutes on each side. To serve, spoon vegetable almond sauce onto lamb chops. Makes 6 servings.

Zuppa Inglese Bertolli

(NOT SHOWN)

- 3 4-cup sliced, unblanched almonds
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 cup chopped, minced candied fruit
- 3 4-cup almond flavored liqueur or Marsala wine
- 4 egg yolks
- 1 4-cup all-purpose flour
- 1 4-cup sugar
- 2 2 3-cup scalded milk
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 24 lady fingers, split
- 3 cups sweetened whipped cream
- Chocolate curls
- Candied cherries (Angelica, cut in julienne strips)

In saucepan, brown almonds in olive oil, stirring often. Remove from heat and blend in candied fruit and 1/4 cup liqueur. Set aside.

In large saucepan, combine egg yolks, flour and sugar. Beat with a wire whisk or electric mixer until smooth and light yellow in color. Gradually stir in milk while cooking over medium heat. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and smooth. (Stir in one direction only, to prevent curdling.) Mixture should coat the back of a metal spoon.

Add lemon peel and vanilla. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until mixture is the consistency of pudding. Remove from heat. Place plastic wrap directly on surface to prevent "skin" from forming. Cool to room temperature. (Mixture may be made ahead and stored in refrigerator, but return to room temperature to use.) Fold in 1 cup of whipped cream and almond mixture.

Line sides of a straight-sided large, deep serving bowl with lady fingers, placing several on bottom of bowl. Drizzle with liqueur. Spoon half of pudding mixture into bowl. Top with remaining lady fingers; drizzle with liqueur. Spoon 1 cup whipped cream over all. Top with remaining pudding mixture. Decorate top with remaining whipped cream, chocolate curls, candied cherries and, if desired, julienne strips of angelica. Chill until ready to serve. Makes 8 servings.

Corned beef hash patties get a little saucy with Worcestershire sauce.

Saucy hash patties perk up breakfast

Worcestershire is as good a seasoning for the main dishes at brunch as it is for the popular brunch cocktail Bloody Mary. Eggs, quiche, cheese, meat and poultry recipes all get a flavor "pick-me-up" from this convenient condiment.

Individual Worcestershire hash patties, are festive when topped with scrambled eggs and served on a colorfully garnished platter. The hash mixture can be purchased commercially, is easy to do and may be made ahead and refrigerated. Note that the patties are baked at 350 instead of pan-fried so they don't require any watching. Cooking chicken can be used in place of the corned beef, adding salt if you wish. The flavor secret in either version is the all-in-one seasoning, original Worcestershire sauce.

As a go-along, try a Veggie Mary. It's garnished with a carrot curl after being filled with a mixture of cocktail vegetable juice, vodka (or not), lime juice and Worcestershire to taste.

Croissants or English muffins and a bowl of sliced seasonal fruits are easy companions.

Patty deluxe

Vegetables and herbs top the basic burger

Burgers are an all-American tradition for grilling because of their ease of preparation and versatility. Preparation is easy because the burgers are made with convenient ground meat. They're versatile because a different topping or seasoning can easily change their appearance and flavor.

Create a different burger every time you cook when you prepare Three-Way Pork Burgers. Ground pork makes a nice alternative to the usual ground meat patties. Prepare Pork Burgers for the Grill by adding minced onion, salt, pepper and crushed fennel seeds to ground pork to enhance its flavor.

ONE POUND of ground pork will provide four, 3-ounce cooked pork patties. Carefully press the pork mixture lightly to form the patties. Then grill slowly over medium coals and broil thoroughly for a total of 16 minutes.

Now comes the fun of creating your own unique version of a basic pork burger. Use different buns or breads and unique toppings to make three different pork burger recipes — Red Pepper Relish Topped Burgers, Healthful Vegetable and Walnut Topped Burgers or Curried Chutney Topped Burgers.

A colorful and tasty Red Pepper Relish Topped Burger is created by roasting the red peppers and mixing them with red wine vinegar and dried basil leaves. This step can be done a day ahead if you prefer. Serve your pork burgers on a lettuce leaf and Vienna bread, top with the red pepper relish and sprinkle with crumbled cheese.

Healthful Vegetable and Walnut Topped Burgers contain a grilled burger, stir-fried vegetables and tomato slices stuffed into pita loaf pockets. And Curried Chutney Topped Burgers give an up-to-date Indian flavor to pork burgers. For a unique presentation serve on a pineapple slice and bed of spinach leaves rather than the traditional bread or bun.

Prepare Pork Burgers for the grill and choose one of three different burger recipes such as Red Pepper Topped Burgers, Healthful Vegetable and Walnut Topped Burgers or Curried Chutney Topped Burgers.

PORK BURGERS FOR THE GRILL
1 lb. ground pork (75 percent lean)
1 small onion, minced
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. fennel seed, crushed, and pepper

Combine ground pork, onion, salt, fennel and pepper, mixing lightly but thoroughly. Divide pork mixture into 4 equal portions and form into patties 4 inches in diameter. Place patties on grid over medium coals. Broil 16 minutes, turning once. Prepare recipe desired and assemble as directed. Yield: 4 pork patties.

To check the temperature of the coals, cautiously hold the palm of your hand about 4 inches above the coals. Count the number of seconds you can hold your hand in that position before the heat forces you to pull it away.

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: 16 minutes.

RED PEPPER RELISH TOPPED BURGERS
1 recipe Pork Burgers for the Grill
1 large red pepper
1 tsp. red wine vinegar
1/4 tsp. dried basil leaves
4 leaves Boston or bibb lettuce
4 slices Vienna bread
1 oz. Gorgonzola cheese, crumbled

Place red pepper on rack in broiler pan. Broil 10 to 15 minutes or until skin blisters, turning occasionally.

Place peppers in plastic bag; close and let stand 15 to 20 minutes. Remove loosened skin. Cut the pepper in half and remove seeds and veins; cut into 1/4 inch pieces. Stir in red wine vinegar and basil; reserve. Place one lettuce leaf on each slice of bread and top with a burger. Spoon an equal amount of red pepper relish on each burger; sprinkle with cheese. 4 servings.

One-half 7-oz. jar roasted sweet red peppers may be substituted for the large red pepper. Cut into 1/4-inch pieces.

Preparation time: 25 to 30 minutes
Cooking time: 10 to 15 minutes./

HEALTHFUL VEGETABLE AND WALNUT TOPPED BURGERS
1 recipe Pork Burgers on the Grill
1 medium carrot, cut into julienne strips
1 small zucchini, cut into julienne strips
1 tsp. olive oil
3 tbsp. coarsely chopped walnuts, toasted
2 pita loaves, cut in half crosswise and warmed
1 small tomato, thinly sliced

Stir-fry carrots and zucchini in hot oil in frying pan 1 to 2 minutes or until tender-crisp. Stir in walnuts. Place burgers in pita loaf pockets. Place tomato slices on one side; spoon an equal amount of vegetable mixture on the other side. 4 servings.

Preparation time: 15 minutes
Cooking time: 1 to 2 minutes.

Good cooks start with clean hands

When it comes to the topic of food safety, what you don't know can hurt you.

- Keep food at the proper temperature. Spoilage organisms grow most rapidly between the temperatures of 40 - 140 degrees. Foods should not at this temperature range for more than two to three hours. Prompt refrigeration will keep foods out of the danger zone.

- Keep your preparation area clean. Clean hands and surfaces can stop the spread of food contamination. It's especially important to wash hands and surfaces after contact with raw meat or poultry.

- Don't use food from damaged containers. Always check cans and glass jars for dents, cracks or bulging lids. Paper products should be checked for leaks and stains.

For more information on food safety, call the Food Preservation Hotline at 858-0904 or Teletip at 858-0200; messages 384 and 386.

Learning to let go takes time

By Julie Brown
staff writer

SOMETIMES IT can be tough to let go.

Watching children leave home for college or for a first job can be a difficult time for parents. For young adults, the changes that accompany leaving home can also be difficult to handle.

"It is a transition," said Cheryl Jones, family therapist at Plymouth Family Service. "It is something you have to get used to. That can be a hard thing."

Women in particular can have difficulty when it's time for their young adult children to leave home. The role they have filled for years is suddenly gone, or at least significantly changed. Learning to be an adult parent to an adult child can be difficult.

"I see a lot of depression," said Sandy Prochazka, clinical social worker for Plymouth/Canton Mental Health Services of the Catherine McAuley Health Center.

Women often spend years at home considering only the needs of other family members. They cope by all the while ignoring their own needs.

"That's been her lifelong work, that's been her career," Prochazka said. Women are suddenly told to change that career.

"They no longer feel needed," she said.

HAVING A support network of friends and interests outside of the home can help women make that midlife transition, Prochazka has found.

"Then they already have an enriching, fulfilling life going on outside of the home."

The earlier departure of young children for a full day at school can also create problems for some younger mothers.

"It creates a real vacuum, too," Prochazka said. The changes women must make can be difficult ones, even for those who look forward to increased freedom.

The departure of adult children can also be the time at which marital problems surface.

"Often, the kids are buffers between a couple," Prochazka said. The departure of young adult children removes that buffer and can reveal problems.

David Breeden, social worker and director for Plymouth Family Service, agreed.

"If there are problems, then they're more apt to show up at that point," he said.

SOME COUPLES are so accustomed to thinking of themselves as "mom and dad" that it can be difficult to see themselves any other way.

"Trying to get them to be husband and wife is almost impossible," Plymouth Family Service's Jones said. Having some continuity within the marriage makes that transition much easier.

Parents whose young adult children leave home also generally find themselves with more time on their hands.

"That is one of the big issues right then," said social worker/substance abuse specialist Judith Darlington of Plymouth Family Service. "Lots of couples experience a new freedom and it can be very positive. It presents a whole new range of options."

Travel, classes, community work, hobbies or other activities can help midlife adults adjust. Going back to school is a common way for women to make the adjustment to their new role.

Doing well in that one first class can give women a needed boost in self-confidence.

"That will be what gives them the incentive to go back after that," said Susan Pierson, Plymouth Family Service social worker.

Places such as the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College in Livonia (591-6400, Ext. 430) can help women who are returning to school. A study skills course can also be helpful for those who have been out of school for years.

WOMEN WHO are returning to school after years of homemaking may be afraid they won't be able to do the work. Competing with younger students can be intimidating.

"They come out with As and Bs and they're totally shocked," said Prochazka of Plymouth/Canton Mental Health Services.

Women may also sell themselves short when they decide to return to the workplace after years of homemaking and volunteer work. They may not be aware of the skills they've developed during those years and how those skills can fit into the workplace.

ROB REED/staff photographer

When students begin college, families must make adjustments. Whether students choose a community college close to home, such as Schoolcraft College in Livonia, or a more distant school, parents and their young adult children must adjust to new roles.

"There's not a lot of gratitude in doing housework," Prochazka said. "It just gets dirty again, and it never thanks you." Children and teenagers may also frequently tell mothers of their real or imagined shortcomings.

Some middle-aged women also encounter resistance from potential employers, with the level of that resistance varying from industry to industry. Some employers, however, prefer older workers, believing that they are more reliable.

"I think that the country is getting more accepting of that," Prochazka said.

Midlife transition isn't just a female problem. Watching a wife become more independent can make a man feel threatened.

SOME MEN may fear that women will have extramarital affairs, Prochazka said. Some men can't make the necessary changes on the home front, such as helping out with shopping and housework.

In some families, children meet the woman's need to be close to others. A husband may suddenly be expected to fill that role when children leave home and may be unprepared to do so.

"That's often something we have to deal with," said Plymouth Family Service's Jones.

It's helpful for families to make the transition gradually, by giving children and teenagers increased responsibilities and corresponding privileges.

"You've got to let them do that in increments," Prochazka said.

It's important for teenagers to establish their autonomy, battling over such things as curfews and clothing allows them to do so.

"They simply need to battle with you," Prochazka said. Such battling helps teenagers establish themselves as autonomous people with their own opinions.

Some parents may worry that their children will abandon the family's values when the teenagers leave home. Often, however, the teenagers live the way their parents wanted them to, Prochazka said.

A MESSY room and bed that went unmade for years at home may be followed by a tidy dormitory room — with the bed made promptly every morning.

Some young adults lack the self-discipline needed to make the transition to adult life.

For some young adults, starting out at a community college close to home can make that transition easier, Prochazka said. Others may find a smaller four-year college or university away from home a better choice than a large university.

Charging rent to young adults who remain at home with their parents also helps them adjust.

"I think it teaches them responsibility," Prochazka said. Some young adults, however, expect their parents to support them for years and to do all the housework without any help.

"The kids are not asked to be responsible enough, to do enough," she said.

Some parents may think about their own adjustment to young adulthood and hope that their children will be more successful in making that transition.

"It's an unconscious kind of thing," Plymouth Family Service's Breeden said.

Those fears can lead some parents to shelter their young adult children longer than is necessary or desirable. Parents may resent their children's reluctance to let go — without understanding how the parents contribute to the problem.

BUILDING IN rituals to celebrate the gradual arrival of young adulthood can be helpful, according to Plymouth Family Service's Pierson. Such traditional celebrations as weddings and graduation parties can help. Individual rituals — such as giving each child some furniture as he or she leaves home — can also help.

"And clarify things that way," Pierson said.

Some young adults may worry about how they fit into a family. Breeden's oldest son asked if his room would be rented out when he left home. Breeden later heard that line repeated in a movie by a young adult in a similar situation.

"There have been bumps, dips and valleys," he said of his own family's transition. Talking about the transition with young adult children is the best way to handle the situation, he has found.

"You ask them what they think," he said.

"And giving them some respect for those opinions, even if they're different from ours," Darlington said.

Families should understand that the transition will be a difficult one at times.

"It's a struggle and struggles so often don't feel good," Darlington said.

It's helpful for young adults to realize that their own parents once went through the same struggles, she said.

SEAT LIFT CHAIRS

Seat lift chairs are single person lounge chairs fitted with gears and a motor. This apparatus lifts the chair upward and forward and allows the person who was previously seated to step out of the chair in the standing position.

The purpose of the seat lift chair is to help people with muscle or joint problems so severe that the individual is unable to rise unaided. This problem occurs in patients whose rheumatoid or osteoarthritis severely involves the hips or knees, or in persons with mild knee or hip arthritis who also suffer from shoulder involvement.

The seat lift chair is not for everyone: the cost is $1200 or more, and there are expenses associated with maintenance of the motor and gears. Though the Medicare program and some health insurance companies will pay for its purchase, both the arthritic patient and the doctor should carefully consider need and probable use before prescribing.

Canton rolls by Vikes

When was the last time Plymouth Canton was unbeaten two weeks into the football season?

Never? Well, the Chiefs are this year after trouncing Walled Lake Central 27-0 Friday at Central.

In the past, it always seemed Canton found a way to lose. This year it's just the opposite — the Chiefs have found several ways to win.

Against the Vikings, four different players scored touchdowns. The back-breaker was a 74-yard bust by Roger Trice in the fourth quarter that increased Canton's lead from 14-0 to 21-0, after Mike Gray's third-straight placement.

TRICE WAS the top gainer in a ground assault that accounted for 207 yards on 37 carries. He finished with 82 yards on seven attempts, but everyone got into the act. Tony Boucher, who scored Canton's first TD on a 10-yard run in the second quarter, was next highest with 37 yards on eight tries.

Quarterback Steve Genyk completed two of six passes for 36 yards and rushed eight times for 29 yards, including a one-yard scoring sneak in the third quarter. Neil Hubert capped the Chief scoring with a 25-yard scoring toss to Ron Seal.

As varied and effective as the offense was, the defense was equally impressive. The Chiefs stuffed the Vikings with minus-3 yards rushing. They intercepted a pass and forced eight fumbles, with Glenn Godfrey and Scott Browne making recoveries.

Central quarterback John Chwalibog hit just seven of 20 passes for 113 yards, making the Vikings' total offensive output just 110 yards. And making Canton 2-0.

Salem quarterback Steve Holt looks to escape the Livonia Churchill rush Friday night in the Rocks' hard-fought 7-6 defeat.

Rocks' late rally falls 1 point short

By Chris McCoosy staff writer

Livonia Churchill football coach Herb Osterland wore a worried expression prior to Friday night's game at Plymouth Salem.

"Nothing has ever gone right for us here in my career," Osterland said before the game.

Fear not, Herb Osterland. Something went right for you this night.

Churchill withstood a furious fourth-quarter charge from Salem and held on for a 7-6 win.

"I'm just happy to win," Osterland said. "We worked hard all week trying to convince our guys that (Salem's) 49-0 loss to Trenton last week didn't mean anything. Tom Moshimer (Salem coach) teams always play hard. Whether they're up or down, it doesn't matter. You have to expect to play hard to beat them."

It was a game either team could have won going away.

Salem started strong, taking the ball to the Chargers' 6 on their second possession. The drive stalled on a fourth-and-two play. Normally, Salem would have attempted an easy field goal, but kicker Brian Storm was injured. This would come back to haunt the Rocks in the fourth quarter.

A SALEM fumble led to Churchill's touchdown. Matt Rons recovered the ball on the Churchill 43 on the final play of the first quarter. On the next play, Churchill quarterback John Tracy connected with John Knittel on a 26-yard pass play. Salem defender Garrett Bowie was in position to break up the play but he slipped and fell.

"That big pass play hurt us," Moshimer said. "We had control early, then mistaked ourselves out of it. Then that pass was a pass that should not have been completed. From there, they came and really took it to us."

A 25-yard run by Kyle Percin put the ball on the Salem 3 and Jim Nalf ran it home from there. Nalf also added the eventual game-winning extra point.

Churchill was in control the rest of the first half. They moved the ball to the Salem 10 in the final seconds of the second quarter on the strength of three Tracy pass completions (he completed 5-of-9 passes for 80 yards in the first half).

The drive went for naught as Nalf missed on a 27-yard field goal try.

"I was proud of our kids," Moshimer said. "That goal-line stand was crucial and so was the one at the start of the third quarter. We stayed in the game, then I thought we outplayed them in the fourth quarter."

SALEM OUTGAINED Churchill 130-98 in the second half, an indication of how the tide turned. On the game, Churchill maintained a 234-213 edge in total yards. All but four of Salem's yardage came on the ground.

Nalf missed a 36-yard field goal attempt at the beginning of the third quarter.

Then Salem took over. With Brian Neuhardt dashing outside of the Churchill defense for 40 yards on three plays, Salem got to the Churchill 24. The drive died there.

A David Frigerio interception on the final play of the third quarter set up Salem's lone scoring drive.

WITH CHURCHILL anticipating the sweep, Salem began running the ball inside. Fullback Jerry Sumner gained 32 yards on three successive carries, Leonard Bowe another 14 yards on two carries and finally Joe Jouppi, the last two for the score.

There was 5:31 left to play when Jouppi scored. Moshimer elected to give sophomore Scott Sauter a shot at the extra point kick. It missed wide right.

"Hindsight tells me that maybe I should've tried for two," Moshimer said. "The sophomore kicker was probably shaking in his boots. But with that much time left, I was confident we could stop them and get the ball back."

That much happened. Salem stopped Churchill's next possession after three plays and got the ball back at midfield. But on a fourth-and-two play, Sumner and quarterback Steve Holt got crossed up and the play was stopped.

"Every time Salem started driving the ball, our defense made an adjustment," Osterland said. "We stopped them when we had to."

Osterland was pleased with his team's balanced attack offensively. The Chargers ran the ball for 146 yards (79 gained by Percin and 56 by Nalf) and threw for 88.

Churchill is now 2-0. FOR SALEM (0-2), Neuhardt gained 57 yards in eight carries and Sumner 49 in 11 carries.

"It was 100 percent better than last week," he said. "The kids didn't give up. They battled and proved to themselves that they can play. These first two are non-league games and as far as I'm concerned we're 0-0."

Brian Storm, Salem's injured kicker, wonders how things might have been.

Salem, Canton tip Walled Lake

Karen Boluch got her game together just in time to prevent Plymouth Canton's third loss in four games.

Boluch, blanked in the first half, scored 10 points in the second to help the Chiefs beat Walled Lake Western Thursday 43-39.

Canton trailed by five points with three minutes left to play. Compounding the problem, point guard Michelle Fortier left the game with an ankle injury. She'll be out of the lineup indefinitely.

But with Jennifer Griffith, Vicky Ferko, Tory Barger and Boluch banding together, the Chiefs were able to overcome Western in the final minutes. Ferko hit a left-handed hook shot with 1:40 left to put the Chiefs ahead. Boluch and Griffith hit a pair of free throws each to seal the win.

"We made the plays when we had to tonight," said second-year Canton coach Rob Neu. "We were much more intelligent on offense."

The defense wasn't bad either, keeping Western under 40 points. Diane Hall scored 14 to pace the Warriors.

Fortier, Ferko and Barger scored eight apiece to support Boluch's 10.

The win improves Canton's record to 2-2, 2-0 in Western Lakes play. Western is 0-2 in the conference.

SALEM 59, W.L. CENTRAL 46: This was a pretty fair gauge as to Plymouth Salem's improvement from last season.

Last season the Rocks and Walled girls basketball

Lake Central played two games, each decided by four points. Both teams have their starting lineups back virtually intact. Salem won by 13 Thursday.

Dena Head led the assault with a 25-point, 15-rebound performance, but the difference in the game was Salem's defense.

"The first quarter was fiercely contested, high intensity, but nobody could score," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "Second quarter, both teams started scoring and the tempo increased. In the third quarter, our defense and quickness was more extended than theirs. We forced them into more turnovers."

After maintaining a slim 22-18 lead at half, Salem outscored Central 17-13 in the third quarter.

Jessica Handley contributed 10 points to Salem's cause. Kristen Hostynski added eight points and five assists, Jill Estey six points and four assists and Kerri McBride six points and seven rebounds. Salem's was a team effort.

Pam Fitzgerald led Central with 17 points and Diana Bolln scored 10.

Salem is 3-1, 2-0 in the Western Lakes. Central is 0-2 in league play.

Salem golfers win

Plymouth Salem tuned up for the 16th annual John Sandmann Plymouth Best Ball Golf Tournament Friday by beating Walled Lake Central 210-222 at Brae Burn.

Mike Granger and Chris Braidwood shot 40 to pace the Rocks. Dan Hutko and Doug Soho shot 42 while Dan Kruescher carded a 46. The Rocks (3-1) will be among 25 teams competing in the Plymouth Best Ball Tuesday at Brae Burn — one of the premiere prep golf events in the state.

First off the tee will go at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

North Farmington jolts Salem, 2-1

So look who's currently No. 1 in the Western Lakes soccer race.

Why, it's North Farmington. The Raiders, unbeaten in five matches, jolted Plymouth Salem Wednesday 2-1.

"This has to be our biggest win since our first year when we upset Livonia Bentley," said North coach Cathy Cole.

North fell behind 1-0 in the first half when Salem freshman Jeff Gold scored.

The Raiders drew even before the half ended. Monty Najar scored off a pass from Zac Beim.

The two combined for the game-winning goal 15 minutes into the second half. Again it was Najar scoring with an assist from Beim.

The rest of the game belonged to North's defense. Sweeper Brett Wills played flawlessly as did goalie Craig Nome. Salem enjoyed a 16-11 edge in shots on goal, but Nome was equal to the task.

"He's just been an outstanding goalkeeper," Cole said. "He transferred in from Minnesota where he played on the state championship team."

The loss drops Salem to 2-1-1. Cole, although pleased with her team's fast start, isn't about to let it get out of proportion.

"I don't think any team in the state will go undefeated," she said. "It's just too competitive."

NORTHVILLE 1, CANTON 0: Northville scored the game-winner off a corner kick with 10 minutes left in the match Friday afternoon. Plymouth Canton had dominated the match until that point, outshooting the Mustangs 25-12.

"We should have scored six times," Canton coach Mike Morgan said. "We were just missing the corners, shooting high, shooting wide. The thing is, though, you don't want to peak too early. We have 14 games left to play. The bad thing is, this is a division loss."

Canton beat Walled Lake Western 7-3 on Wednesday. Scott Morgan and Dave Dahlberg each scored twice for the Chiefs. Todd Nichols, Jeff Tutor and Steve Rudelic also scored.

The Chiefs are 1-2-1 on the season, 1-1-1 in the Western Lakes.

HARRISON 6, W.L. CENTRAL 1: Junior striker Craig Bailey was sizzling as Farmington Harrison entertained Walled Lake Central Friday, shredding the Viking defense for five goals to help the Hawks even their record at 2-2-1.

Bailey's outburst lifted his goal total to nine for the season. Stopper Mike Yoerg sparkled defensively and scored Harrison's other goal. The Hawks led 2-1 at the half before pulling away.

A pair of goals from Bailey earned Harrison a 2-2 tie with Livonia Franklin in this Western Lakes match Wednesday.

Harrison was outshot in the game 15-8. Bill Adams scored both Franklin goals.

Schoolcraft women nip Siena Heights

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team, plagued by injuries and absences, picked up a player early last week. And what a player: Amy Weber, the Livonia Churchill grad, pumped in two goals and assisted on a third in the Lady Ocelots' 3-2 win over Siena Heights.

The game seemed more like a Livonia all-star game than a match of two state college teams. Siena Heights just promoted its women's club team to varsity, and coach Doug Mello quickly recruited a team by signing eight Observerland players, six from Stevenson High School.

BUT IT WAS another former all-Observerland player who was the difference in the game — Weber. During pre-season practice, she had told Dudek she had no interest in playing for SC, but former Charger teammate Colleen McQueen urged her to join.

"Good old Colleen talked her into it," said a smiling Dudek. "We needed some players and Amy decided to help us. She really did help us out there, even though she wasn't in shape."

If Dudek was simply searching for help — three Lady Ocelots were missing (one was injured, a second was in Ireland and a third is ineligible for four games) and top-scorer Denise Piwko was hobbling with a pulled muscle — he couldn't have found any better.

WEBER SCORED the game's first goal at the 20-minute mark after putting on a ball-dribbling clinic. After she took possession about 30 yards from the SH goal, Weber hesitated, freezing one defender in her tracks, then juke'd two others before bouncing a shot past the Saints' goalkeeper.

It was not a terribly difficult shot, but the SH keeper is inexperienced — she's never played the position until this season — and it showed.

"She's somewhat inconsistent only because she's never played there before," said Saint coach Doug Mello. "They scored mostly on long shots. I'd rather give up those kind of shots, given a choice, but our keeper misplayed some. With experience, those won't go in."

After Weber's initial goal, the Lady Ocelots got lethargic. They did not have another shot on net the rest of the half.

But the Lady Saints did. They dominated at midfield, and the pressure they exerted paid off when Wendy Propp, who played for SC last year, lofted a shot over Lady Ocelot goalkeeper Doreen Beagle with 10 minutes left in the half.

THE GOAL resulted from careless play by SC's defense, and two minutes later the Lady Ocelots were victimized again. This time Weber, unable to keep pace at midfield, allowed Danielle Montroy (from Livonia Stevenson) to break in free on the SC net.

With no defender to challenge her, Montroy drove a low shot past Beagle to make it 2-1, SH.

The big thing was we weren't shooting," said Dudek. "We were spending too much time trying to set up the perfect play. When you've got an opportunity, you've got to shoot."

"All I told them (at the half) was to go out and shoot."

Dudek's instructions took hold. The Lady Ocelots shook off their lethargy, scoring twice in the first 15 minutes of the second half. Midfielder Jane Moylan got the game-tying goal, scoring on a shot from 20 yards out 10 minutes into the half. Weber's pass back to Moylan set up the score.

FIVE MINUTES later, Elizabeth Peters centered a perfect pass from right wing to Weber, who drilled her shot into the right side of the net so fast the goalkeeper never reacted.

There were other scoring chances, mainly for SH, but Beagle stopped them all. The best were by freshman Abby English, who twice had clean breakaways. The first came with eight minutes left as English streaked toward the SC net, but then suddenly stopped and pulled up.

Her second break came with 40 seconds left. This time English fired, but straight at Beagle, who made an easy save. These wanted opportunities proved costly for SH.

On Wednesday, SC opened its season with a 4-1 win over Oakland University's club team at OU. Piwko scored twice for SC, with Sue Capra and Peters scoring once apiece. SC is now 2-0.

Chiefs girls and Salem boys win

The Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem cross country teams split a pair of dual meets at Cass Benton Thursday.

Overcoming the rain and mud, the Plymouth Canton girls team edged Salem 26-30. The Salem boys avenged an earlier loss to Canton with a 26-31 win.

"This is the first time in my seven years as a coach at Canton (football, track and cross country) that I have beaten Salem in anything," said Canton girls coach George Pryzgodski. "It was a long time coming, but it was worth the wait."

In a three-way meet Tuesday with Ypsilanti, the Salem and Canton girls ran dead even.

In the boys race, Salem grabbed the first three places to secure the win. It was Canton's first loss.

Salem tankers open with an easy victory

It was the kind of season-opening swim meet Plymouth Salem swim coach Chuck Olson likes: Lots of Rocks got a chance to contribute, and nearly all of them showed improvement.

And, of course, it was a win — 120-50 over visiting Ypsilanti Thursday.

"We're not really fast yet, but we're making progress," said Olson. "A lot of the girls who didn't do much last year looked better tonight than they did at the end of last year."

"But we've got a long way to go until the league meet."

The Rocks won eight of 11 events, including both relays. Stacia Bannon, Erin Olson, Sarah Andrews and Cindy Elliot were victors in the 200-yard medley relay (2:06.4) and Tracy Mezaros, JoJo Wiklund, Dawn Sheik and Shannon Murphy took the 400

swimming

freestyle relay (4:11.5).

Six different Salem swimmers won individual events: Murphy in the 200 free (2:16.4), Heather Bunch in the 200 individual medley (2:37.9), Sarah Andrews in the 100 butterfly (1:11.9), Katie Vesnaugh in the 500 free (6:32.1), Bannon in the 100 backstroke (1:15.8) and Olson in the 100 breaststroke (1:17.2).

The Rocks, who hosted the Plymouth and Canton Rotary-sponsored Metro Suburban Activities Association Relays at Salem Saturday, are idle this week. They'll host Dearborn Tuesday, Sept. 23, and swim at Canton Thursday, Sept. 25.

● CANTON HONORS WOMEN GOLF STANDOUTS

Kathie Zelek and Lou Skotzke won first place honors at the annual Canton Parks and Recreation women's golf league banquet at Fellow Creek last week.

Zelek was the league champ through the first half of the season, Skotzke through the second half.

Irene Ras and Olga Fitzpatrick were runners-up. Ras was named the league's most improved golfer.

Galina Burgh and Zelek ended the year with the lowest handicap (14).

● MENS RECREATION NIGHT

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department will again sponsor a 10-week session of men's recreation night (basketball) on Wednesdays beginning Oct. 8.

The sessions are housed at Eriksen Elementary School on Haggerty Road and run from 6:45-9:45 p.m.

The program is restricted to Canton residents only (except those non-residents currently in the program). Call 397-1000 for more information.

● PUNT, PASS, KICK

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring its fifth annual Punt, Pass and Kick contest for boys and girls ages 8-13 at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 4 at Griffin Park (Sheldon Road site).

Sign-up will be at 9:30 a.m. that day. There is no fee.

Football cleats are prohibited. Local winners will represent Canton at the metro Detroit finals Sunday, Oct. 5 in Oak Park.

Viorst realities - learning, losing, letting go

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

Poetess Judith Viorst doesn't look at life through rose-colored glasses at all.

As a commentator on life's pluses and minuses, she views the world through a kaleidoscope of rainbow hues, armed with philosophy, experience and even bruises from encountering life's inevitable bumps and jars.

In the middle of a sunny Tuesday, she chattered with nearly 300 members of the National Council of Jewish Women at Temple Beth El, Birmingham.

The council women, meeting for their annual membership event, reviewed their community services, which keep an office active and buzzing on Southfield Road.

Members keep their volunteer sleeves rolled up while working in programs such as victim's (crime) service, help to handicappers, service to aged, widowed, divorced and separated persons.

YOUTH ARE served through advocacy on juvenile justice, the Orchard's Children's Service, finding good foster homes and building a network with the fostering parents.

Following lunch and a business meeting, the discourse by Viorst was a pleasant, pithy report on an au-

'I make the argument that most losses are necessary losses. We lose by changing and by letting go, by the loss of romantic dreams and of your own self.'

— Judith Viorst,
author, poetess

thor's eye view of the trade-offs of life.

For Viorst, losing, leaving and letting go are realities surely to be endured. Humorous and author, her modulated delivery picked up tempo during poetry readings.

Born and raised in New Jersey, Viorst was educated at Rutgers University, where she made Phi Beta Kappa and earned a bachelor of arts degree, and at the Psychoanalytic Institute in Washington, D.C.

Studying with eight younger men who each had their doctorates, Viorst spent six years at the institute, became a practicing therapist, an aid, wrote a paper and took an oral exam.

"I wanted a reservoir of knowledge to dip into for my writing," she said.

INTO HER RESERVOIR are stored the experiences as wife of Milton Viorst, and mother of three sons, who reside now in Washington. She is also a columnist for Redbook Magazine and a frequent flyer who seeks grist for her writing mill.

Author of eight children's books, she also has written "How Did I Get to Be 40 and Other Atrocities?" and much more.

"Necessary Losses," her latest book, probes the thesis that it is only through our losses that we become fully developed human beings.

Peering over oversized glasses, Viorst, with long, dark hair and straight bangs, was dressed in a black and white, three piece bulky sweater suit.

"I make the argument that most losses are necessary losses," she said. "We lose by changing and by letting go, by the loss of romantic dreams and of your own self."

"So I stand here, wrinkled and mortal."

A QUICK inventory by Viorst put moving away from one's mother physically and emotionally at the top of the chronological "loss order."

"Then there's the loss of a dream that those we love will love only us," she said. "That is sibling rivalry. It's normal, yes. But no matter where we are in the family order of birth, when a new baby comes, we feel we're being gyped."

And don't we all feel the loss of a certain, anything goes moral freedom at some point, not to forget the dreams of perfect friendship, perfect marriage and perfect kids, she asked.

"After the honeymoon, there's the loss caused by the fact that dining by candlelight makes us squint," she said, "because letting the expectations of marriage go, is another necessary loss."

Letting our children go, and letting them be, are probably ranked among the toughest losses to face and follow through on, she contends. "We dream many dreams of the kind of child we want, and we expect a child to be grateful for trips to theater, college and all that."

"WHATEVER their ages, we think our kids would be safer if we held their hands crossing the street," said the poet-author. "Yet we can't protect them from speech impediments, being the shortest in the class, or a lack of athletic prowess."

In the middle years, most of us give up our waistslines as well as our trust in justice, and mark the loss of our younger self when we had no sagging knee caps or low back pain. "We feel shaken, not safe from this," said Viorst, who tallies the gains of become less righteous, wiser, more serene, more compassionate "and less dumb."

Coming of age brings loss of vi-vision, loss of hearing, but also the knowledge there's a lot to do, and "all I have left is my future."

Viorst said her book is about loss but also about growth, vision and future. "It's about a self that accepts itself and leaves room for change."

"Women have found there is no such thing as loss, you simply pay prices for the good things in your life. You have to pick, because there's no such thing as having it all."

Lucas seeks review of county disaster plan

Wayne County Executive William Lucas said that Wayne County's Emergency Preparedness plans will receive a complete reassessment in light of recent findings from the Chernobyl nuclear disaster.

"Scientists at an international symposium in Vienna are discussing topics related to shifting wind speeds and wind direction, radiation exposure standards and evacuation plans, during the incident at the Chernobyl nuclear power plant in Russia," Lucas said.

"We need to evaluate all of the information they have gained and apply it to our own situation here in Wayne County."

Lucas added that he wanted to be sure that the best and most recent possible scientific knowledge would be available for Emergency Preparedness officials for the benefit of Wayne County residents.

Wayne County Emergency Management Director Mark Sparks agreed that such a posture is in the best interests of all citizens. Sparks will travel to Washington, D.C. in two weeks to attend a conference conducted by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and atomic energy scientists. The conference will focus on the Chernobyl findings and their impact on local planning.

"Our drills in Wayne County have always received excellent grades from the federal evaluators," said Sparks. "We will continue to keep abreast of the latest findings."

Jobless rate down with auto callbacks

Michigan's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate fell by 0.7 percent to 8.2 percent in August.

The drop in joblessness was spearheaded by a growth in service jobs and the callback of workers from temporary July model changeover layoffs in automotive and related manufacturing industries, said Richard Simmons Jr., director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Simmons said the number of jobless workers in the state fell by 29,000 in August to 356,000. In July, the rate had been 8.9 percent with 385,000 out of work.

A year ago, August 1985, Michigan's unemployment rate was 10.1 percent with 438,000 jobless.

The two-month decline in Michigan's jobless rate brings it to its lowest August level since 1979, when it was an even 8 percent.

Simmons said employment rose in several of the state's industries during the month, including tourism-related, retail trade, construction and in local government as well as in the auto and related manufacturing industries.

The rate of improvement in Michigan's jobless rate has surpassed that of the nation's, Simmons said. In comparison with the nation's 11 most populous states, Michigan and Ohio both had unemployment rates of 8.2 percent in August ranking them second to Texas with its rate of 9.2 percent.

Schoolcraft hosts luncheon series

The Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College will open its Fall Luncheon Series 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 19, in the LeGastromonique Restaurant on campus.

Claudia Campos, a nationally known travel writer, will speak on "Traveling: What to Know, Where to Go."

Cost for the luncheon is $7. Reservations are required and can be made by calling 591-6400, Ext. 430.

Red Cross drive slated at church

The Red Cross will be operating a blood drive 2-8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 3, at St. Edith Church, 15089 Newburgh, Livonia. Walk-in donors are welcome. For more information, call 464-2027.

Tax bill may curb development

The newly proposed revision of the U.S. tax code, passed by the Senate Finance Committee, will severely affect new real estate development and construction projects, according to a tax expert from the Detroit metropolitan office of Grant Thornton, a leading nationwide accounting and management consulting firm.

"The incentive for investing in real estate development has been removed by the Packwood proposal," said Walter J. Roxey, an accountant and attorney heading Grant Thornton's Metro Detroit tax department.

"Under the present code, a real estate limited partner can claim a deduction on the amount of capital he invests in a new project against income earned from another source.

"THE PROPOSED new tax code will eliminate the preferential deductions on these kinds of investments and do away with the incentive the investor had to invest his money in such a project," said Roxey.

"After all, it would not benefit a person to tie up a significant sum of money in an investment that has no immediate cash flow since taxes would not be reduced under the new Act, and since he has no sure-fire way to get back his principal other than economic upscale. Under the present system, he could normally recover his investment in four years through tax savings."

To compensate for this less attractive investment potential, Roxey indicated that real estate owners and developers will have to sweeten the pot by promising more return on investment to investors and by offering a greater return on equity.

This will leave less capital for expansion in other areas, and force owners to either cut costs in construction or raise rents to tenants, he said.

"COMPOUNDING these problems," Roxey added, "will be the predicament of the building contractor."

"The new code not only eliminates the investment tax credit for new construction equipment, but also substantially does away with the "completed contract" method of accounting for tax deferral purposes."

"Completed contract" indicates a method of accounting that allows a builder to defer a significant portion of his income until the project has been completed.)

"Now a contractor will have to borrow money just to pay his increased tax liability, an additional cost which will have to be passed along. Certainly, the cost of real estate is going to go up, and this will have a negative effect not only on the housing market, but also on business expansion."

Often overlooked by tax reformers is the fact that there will not be a similar rate change at the state and local levels as there will be at the federal level.

"Both the State of Michigan and local municipal governments figure their revenues on the basis of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income on their federal tax forms," he said. "It stands to reason that, if the feds disallow certain deductions, both the state and municipalities levying an income tax will see an increase in revenue, since they probably will not drop their rates and more of the taxpayer's income is exposed to the liability."

"The net result is probably going to be inflationary," cautioned Roxey.

Talented team wasted on trashy film 'Blue Velvet'

the movies
Dan Greenberg

Kyle MacLachlan and Isabella Rossellini share a sado-masochistic relationship in "Blue Velvet."

Tracy Camilla Johns and Tommy Redmond Hicks become lovers in "She's Gotta Have It."

Sometimes Isabella Rossellini looks and acts so much like her mother, Ingrid Bergman, that I could weep nostalgic tears of joy.

Sometimes people who know better, like the DeLaurentis Entertainment Group, make such perfectly awful movies that I could cry out in disgust. "Blue Velvet" (R) is one such film.

Ordinarily a few lines would be sufficient to dismiss another sleaze and slime epic. "Blue Velvet," however, is a major motion picture filled with noted stars, written and directed by David Lynch, director of "Dune," whose earlier film, "Elephant Man," received eight Oscar nominations.

ONE WOULD ASSUME so many talented individuals could produce a decent, coherent film. Such is not the case in this deranged story replete with heavy-handed symbolism that has nothing to do with anything.

Jeffrey Beaumont (Kyle MacLachlan) returns from college to his home in Lumberton, N.C., when his father Mr. Beaumont (Jack Harvey), is injured, becomes ill, or is attacked by some dark monster in the weeds. I'll leave it to you to decide since the movie itself is not clear.

As a matter of fact, I sat there for two unpleasant hours expecting that his father's injury would be explained, along with a host of other things. Boy, was I disappointed.

In any event, Jeffrey gets into a sado-masochistic affair with Dorothy Valens (Rossellini) — she likes to be hit prior to making love. At the same time, our hero falls for sweet innocence, Sandy Williams (Laura Dern), daughter of Detective Williams (George Dickerson) and Mrs. Williams (Hope Lange).

DOROTHY SINGS the title song in a nightclub, after which Jeffrey follows her home and watches from the closet as she is beaten and raped by a psychotic drug dealer, Frank Booth (Dennis Hopper), who has kidnapped her husband and son.

By the way, Jeffrey had found Dorothy's husband's ear in a field. Frank had cut it off to let Dorothy know he meant business.

One more bizarre note: One of Frank's criminal partners, the effete Ben (Dean Stockwell), lip-synchs old songs using a work light for a microphone. His entourage includes a group of rejects from a surrealist nightmare.

Honest, I am not making this up. In addition to its foul language, sadistic rape scene, torture, murder and nudity, the film's plot and continuity is so weak that most of the time you won't know, or care, what's going on.

"Blue Velvet" opens Wednesday. Make every effort to avoid it.

TWO NEW FILMS that focus on the black community in unconventional ways are "Good To Go" and "She's Gotta Have It" (both R). The latter is about an independent young black woman, Nora Darling (Tracy Camilla Johns), and her three lovers.

In addition to its usual viewpoints about black male-female relationships, the film is noteworthy for its production history. At the other end of the spectrum from megabuck disasters like "Blue Velvet," people are making interesting films in short order on low budgets.

One such person is 29-year-old, black, independent filmmaker and New York University film graduate Spike Lee, who shot "She's Gotta Have It" in 12 days, starting with a New York State Council of the Arts grant of $18,000. Ultimately the film cost about $200,000.

Island Pictures was impressed with the movie, which received a standing ovation at the 1986 San Francisco Film Festival. Island invested about a million dollars to complete and distribute the film.

"GOOD TO GO" is a different kind of film. It's obviously a much bigger-budget operation and stars Art Garfunkel as an alcoholic Washington, D.C. reporter pressured by his editor to start writing again.

The other major white character, Lieutenant Harrigan (Harris Yulin) of the Washington Homeicide Department, is such an overdrawn stereotype of the white policeman who hates blacks that the film loses what credibility it might otherwise have.

Main focus of the film is a group of young blacks who get in trouble with drugs, rape and murder, while the younger brother of one of them is trying to make it in the music world. As that young man tells Garfunkel, who suddenly wakes up to what's going on in the inner city, "Man, that's a lot of corny s—."

The same applies to the film, with its trite plot and stereotyped characters. Among other things, it's hard to believe Garfunkel had no idea of life in the black ghetto. Broken-down, alcoholic reporters don't believe homicide detective tips without question and write them as gospel. At least not in my films.

Absolutely Nothing is quite a package

Two Ann Arbor-based entrepreneurs stumbled upon the notion that they could make something out of absolutely nothing.

It's with a mixture of humor, entrepreneurship and a certain amount of shamelessness that Steve Bhaerman and Joshua Pokempner have marketed a colorful box containing nothing. Called, logically enough, Absolutely Nothing, the non-product has hit the shelves of such stores as Silver's in Southfield and Bloomingdale's. According to its creators, if the Pet Rock ever deserved a successor, than Absolutely Nothing is it.

(A salesperson at Silver's said last week that Absolutely Nothing was originally priced at $5 at the store but has been marked down. "We sold a few at the regular price of $5, but they're selling better now at $2.50," she said.)

"Many products are nothing disguised as something. Ours is something disguised as nothing," Bhaerman said.

In case buyers still don't believe there's something to nothing, the box is accompanied by a booklet, "Absolutely Everything You've Always Wanted to Know About Absolutely Nothing." It includes advice from the fictitious and fractious Swami Beyondananda on ways to bring absolutely nothing into your life. Suggestions include listening to bowling on the radio and sitting in your backyard to watch land erode.

BHAERMAN HAS been appearing as Swami Beyondananda, the Yogi from Muskogee. Swami's the sort that would lead some to believe the title mystic should be limited to appearing on rolls of masking tape. The show biz swami will appear at a benefit on Saturday, Oct. 11, for Upland Hills School at its Ecological Awareness Center, Oxford. During the winter, Bhaerman and his wife, Trudy, plan to take the swami on tour through the southern states.

"We're no fools," cracked Bhaerman.

Bhaerman's more serious pursuits include credit for writing with Don McMillan the book, "Friends and Lovers: How to Meet the People You Want to Meet," published by Writers' Digest. But humor has always held a special attraction for him.

"I grew up in Brooklyn, New York," he said. "And it was either that or get into gangs. Humor was a terrific tool for me. Teachers would enjoy my humor — and give me a zero."

After a stint as a teacher in Washington, D.C., Bhaerman moved to Ann Arbor. In 1975-76 and 1978-79 he taught labor history and ethnic studies at Wayne State University's Weekend College. He's also conducted creative writing workshops at the University of Michigan and workshops on how to meet people.

But he seem to keep returning to the swami he invented between teaching jobs when he worked for the city of Ann Arbor, maintaining trees. The swami first emerged as a character in a small newspaper that Bhaerman wrote for his co-workers. Swami was a feature in an Ann-Arbor-based magazine, "Pathways," begun about six years ago by Bhaerman and Pokempner. Swami was employed to poke fun at some of the foibles of people deeply involved in the spirituality and personal growth movement. Absolutely Nothing is in part the culmination of several years of swami watching.

"We had nothing on our minds for a long time," he said. "But it was hard to find investors."
