Before the meeting the students met with Heckert to discuss the subject of his speech, "The Crash of '87 A Timely Reminder to Balance the Books.

ON THE MAP: A

concurrent resolution has been introduced in the state House by Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, urging the Michigan Department of Transportation to recognize townships of 14,000 people on state maps and to designate these townships with highway exit Law notes that the highway sign guidelines drawn up in 1980 require expressway exit signs for cities and some villages but not for townships, and that there is no requirement for townships to be designated on state maps by the DOT's map committee rules. In introducing the resolution, Law notes that Michigan has 36 townships of 14,000 or more. If approved, the change would have an effect on both Canton and Plymouth townships, both of which are included in his legislative district.

THE REPORT OF THE PARTY OF THE

PC Schools move toward tax request

By Doug Funke

Voters living in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district can expect to see the board of education ask for more money next spring. Exactly how much and in what form remains to be determined.

The school board tonight is expected to call for a special election March 22. A ballot proposal isn't expected until later.

The board also is expected to review study materials, films and property in the district increases tapes at tonight's meeting. The session is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the board office, 454 Harvey, Plymouth

Money-raising options available to the school board are a simple tax increase, a waiver of Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment requirements, or both

THE HEADLEE Amendment requires school districts to get voter approval to collect its full authorized tax levy whenever the value of faster than the cost of living.

Plymouth-Canton voters twice this year rejected Headlee waiver proposals by 3-2 margins.

We spent more money this year than we incurred in revenue. The board will have to address that problem." said Richard Egli, community relations director for the district.

The difference was made up from previous budget surpluses and some program cuts, he said.

Egli said he'd be more optimistic about a successful Headlee override the third time around.

A recent pay increase for teachers 14 percent over two years wouldn't turn off voters, Egli said.

"I think they recognize the importance of good education and labor peace that ensures that good education," he said. "Based on that, I don't

Schools say administration building to cost $2 million

Plymouth-Canton school administrators project that it would cost $2.1 million to design, build and furnish a 22,500-square-foot administrative office at the Centennial Educational Park.

The facility would contain offices, a data processing center, conference rooms, print shop, mail room, employees lounge, board meeting room and storage rooms.

The school board, however, still hasn't decided whether it wants to renovate and expand its existing facility on Harvey Street or start over from the ground

To keep its options open, the board has requested permission from the state education department to build from scratch if that choice is selected.

ABOUT $925,000 of a $13 million bond issue approved by voters in 1986 was earmarked for expansion of cur-

The school district recently acquired two lots near its administrative office on Harvey to allow for expansion. About 60 people now work in that 10,200-square-foot

School administrators figure that the $925,000 available from the bond issue, plus proceeds from the sale of school properties on Harvey, would provide most if not all of the money needed to build at CEP

A breakdown of the $2.1 million for a new office indicates $1.4 million for construction, $157,000 for construction contingencies, $210,000 for architect fees and $305,000 for furnishings.

PROPONENTS OF renovation cite the advantages of staying near shops, restaurants and other offices in town. Any money spent on improvements would enhance the value of property at a prime location.

Also, traditionalists have concerns about the gradual erosion of Plymouth in the Plymouth Canton school dis-

Proponents of building at CEP say that site is more centrally located. Moving there would enable prime real estate now owned by the district in town to be placed on the tax rolls.

The Japanese solve problems by brainstorming with representatives from all levels of the business. "In the U.S. you'll find that one person will dominate in a meeting."

Citing a low turnover rate, between 3-4 percent, Kotcher says, Yazaki tries at "all costs not to terminate" employees by helping them work out problems like absenteeism and tardiness

HIGH STRESS and pressures also are part of the Japanese system, says Kotcher in a noticeably soothing, low voice.

But then there's a high degree of pride and a strong feeling of togetherness. Business is at the core of Japanese life."

THE DNR RATES K&J Landfill as the eighth most polluted site in Wayne County, said Andrew Buchsbaum, PIRGIM program director.

In 1982, the DNR found contaminated surface and ground water at the closed 18-acre landfill

When it was open, the landfill was cited for accepting waste beyond capacity, capping improperly, and allowing leachate (contaminated liquid) to enter nearby ditches.

Cadmium, chlorides, chromium, lead, phenol and zinc are among the pollutants at K&J

Of course turning 18 isn't a crime at all. However, turning 18 without registering with Selective Service is

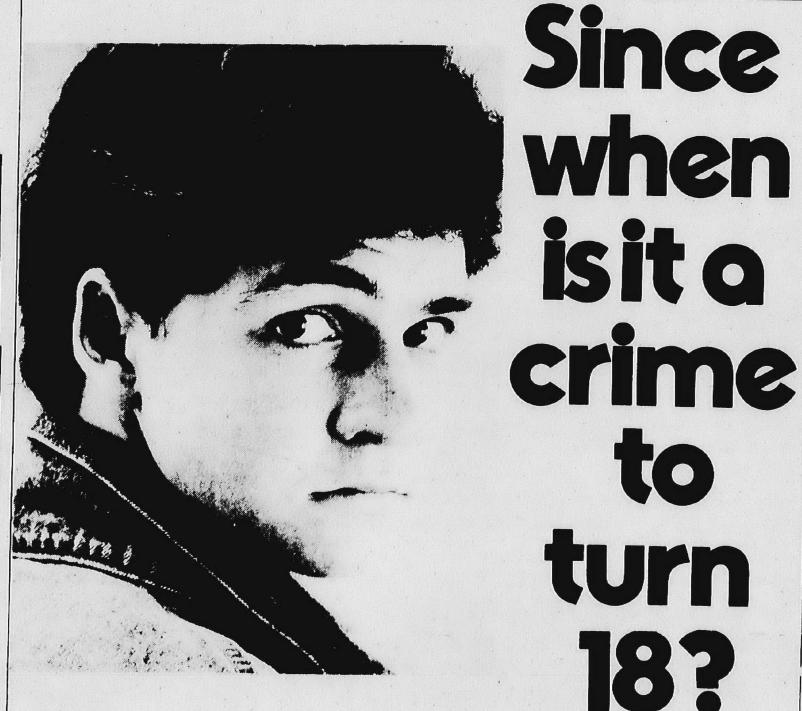

That's why we need your help. We need parents to tell their sons to register with Selective Service within a month of turning 18. And we need teachers, friends, employers and others who can influence these young men to reinforce the message.

Why? Because, for one reason, it's the law. But in addition to risking prosecution by not registering, your son or young friend is disqualifying himself from eligibility for federal student loans, federal employment and job training programs.

America's future security depends upon today's young men registering with Selective Service on time. Having a complete registration list saves our country six vital weeks in mobilizing its manpower should Congress ever declare a national emergency. All of today's 18-year-olds and all of tomorrow's 18-year-olds must be informed about the registration requirement.

You can help. Ask a young man you know if he is registered. Selective Service Registration. It's Quick. It's Easy. And it's the Law.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara is getting ready to cut the county budget as a deadline approaches on a package of bills designed to get the county out of debt.

McNamara said he would announce cuts of up to $10 million if the debt-reduction package isn't approved by Tuesday, Dec. 1, as seems likely.

Last week, McNamara cut his own salary and those of 44 of his appointees. Staff members called it a first step" toward greater budget cuts

FOUR PERCENT cuts were or dered for department heads and other executive appointees with annual salaries of $40,000 or more. The cut reduces McNamara's salary from $81,000 to $78,000 over the next budget year Salary cuts are effective Tuesday, when the new county budget begins.

Following suit, county commissioners announced voluntary four percent pay cuts for themselves at Wednesday's commission meeting

State law says you can't cut the salary of an elected official during their term of office." Commissioner Susan Heintz, R-Northville Twp. said. So, we had to make the cuts voluntary Individual commissioners have until today to announce whether they will accept the voluntary pay cut. Commissioners earn $33,200 a year.

In other action, commissioners budgeted $320,000 of $500,000 in unspent commission holdings to retire the county debt. The remaining $180,000 was awarded to the Wayne

Closing a floor at the county jail and eliminating selected parks department services had been mentioned as potential budget-cutting steps, but Deputy County Executive Michael Duggan declined to detail any options package in the Democratic-con-trolled state House apparently awaits similar approval by the GOP controlled state Senate

We're waiting to see what the Senate Republicans do on the package," Kosteva said.

Last week, two Republican senators reached a compromise on a state cigarette tax increase - the most controversial of three revenue-raising proposals. What's being proposed is a sixcents-a-pack increase," said Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who cosponsored the bill.

Four cents would go toward crimiduced in both houses of the state nal justice programs, as Wayne Legislature but quick approval County had requested Geake said One cent each would go toward local health departments and for statewide AIDS research, as proposed by co-sponsor William Sederberg, R. East Lansing.

> A PROPOSAL that would have given some of the cigarette tax increase to local schools wasn't included in the bill

Wayne County originally proposed a five-cents-a-pack increase, with all money going toward jails and youth camps All counties would receive a share of the tax increase. Wayne County would use money already budgeted for jails and youth camps to retire bonds issued to pay off $130 million debt.

County officials hope to receive as much as $20 million a year from the nickel-a-pack cigarette tax increase. but may have to lower that figure after the Senate revision would rise to 27 cents a pack.

Compromise was necessary Geake said because out-state legis lators resisted the original proposal. IT'S GOING to be a tough enough battle even as it is. Geake said Other proposals would tax Metro Airport parking and raise circuit court filing fees

In addition to ordering salary cuts. McNamara refused a $364.165 state grant because he said the county couldn't come up with $91,042 in a matching amount. The grant, issued through the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund, would have been used for road work on the Middle and Lower Rouge Parkways near Hines Park

There's no chance the county could recover the grant this year, a Michigan Department of Natural Resources spokeswoman said

Fire ends saga of 112-year-old grain elevator ing hours of Oct. 30, the 112-year-old building, a landmark along the railroad tracks at 305 N. Main near Theodore, played a prominent part in the lives of two well-known Plymouth families - the Houghs and the McLarens.

Two generations of Houghs and three of McLarens made their livings there. From 1875 to 1901 the building was owned by the Houghs, from 1901 to 1977 by the McLarens was a reminder of Plymouth's role as an agricultural center during the Hough, with the help of son Ed, ran the business until 1901. By that time the firm had a string of six elevators in communities along the Pere Marquette Railroad from Plymouth to Lansing.

The Houghs sold in 1901 because they were becoming increasingly involved in another local venture, the Daisy Manufacturing Co., which the elder Hough had helped to incorporate (as the Plymouth Iron Windmill Co.) in 1882.

Daisy's annual sale of air rifles had topped $112,000 by 1901 and the Houghs began to see that there was a solid future in that business. Putting With its old tower, the building all of their eggs in one basket, they sold the grain elevators to J.D. McLaren who was farming here on N Territorial Road when he made the purchase

L.C. Hough died prematurely on Jan. 11, 1902. He was age 56. At the time of his death, L.C. Hough was president of the Plymouth School Board He had been a school trustee for the preceding 11 years. President buy seed and fertilizers and sell their of the village in 1892, he was a state senator in 1893. He was father of Ed Hough and grandfather of Cass Hough, both of whom served as presidents of Daisy.

THIRTEEN YEARS later, in May 1915, J.D. McLaren, who had suc-

After his death the McLaren firm was run by his son, J.J., who was born on the family farm three miles west of Plymouth J.J., a graduate of the University of Michigan, had run a Ford automobile agency near the family elevator.

Above the agency he also ran a fish and frog spear factory. After the death of his father, he closed the spear factory and sold the Ford agency to William J. Beyer.

For the remainder of his life, J.J. McLaren ran the family business which gradually changed from one of handling grains to one of selling coal and building supplies

The six elevators the McLaren's had acquired from the Houghs in 1901 had been expanded to 15. In addition to the headquarters location in Plymouth, there were McLaren elevators in Romulus, Wixom, Salem. Olivet, South Lyon, Charlotte, Ionia. Clare, Novi, New Hudson, Oxford, Watrousville, Collins and Colling.

The fire of October 1987 was not the first to hit the grain elevator. In 1922, a fire caused by a spark from a passing steam engine did extensive damage to the McLaren building as well as the nearby building into which Ernie Allison had just moved his Chevrolet dealership. The elevator tower of the McLaren building had to be rebuilt.

During J.J. McLaren's time, the firm also established a transit mix company on Junction Street, later sold to Gene Glynn. In the mid-1920s, J.J. teamed with Bill Pettingill. Frank Rambo and Ed Gayde to form the Plymouth Artificial Ice Co. All four owners were Plymouth Rotarians. The ice company's building stood beside Kinquish Creek in what is now the Central Parking Lot.

J.J. McLaren served on the Plymouth Board of Review and was a member of the Plymouth School Board. When he died in 1988 at 1981. Board. When he died in 1968, at age 81, he had been president of McLaren and Co. for 53 years He was succeeded in the business by his son. John D., who was born in 1916.

LIKE HIS FATHER, J.D. attended University of Michigan, served on the local Board of Review, and was a member of the Plymouth Board of Education He was supervisor of Plymouth Township for two terms (1972 to 1976)

By 1977, the year John D. McLaren sold, or discontinued, the last of its properties, the McLaren firm had become the longest continually owned family business in the Plymouth-Canton area

The ready-mix cement business was sold in 1973. The lumber opera-firm's oil business in 1977. John D. McLaren, the third of his family to head the business, died at age 64 in March 1980

The old elevator building which stood on property the Houghs, followed by the McLaren's had leased from the railroad, was renovated by Gene Glynn in 1981. At the time Glynn said he envisioned a restaurant, a candy store, a flower shop and a boutique would occupy the place where grain coal, building supplies and fuel oil once had been dispensed.

Of Glynn's plans, only the restaurant came to fruition. The Plymouth Grainery Crossing Restaurant occupied the front of the building for a few years. It went out of business a couple of years ago.

John Allman and Craig Jackson of the Starkweather Holding Co. purchased the building in 1983 and had the property up for sale at the

S'craft faces 'slight' budget cuts

By Wayne Peel staff writer

Schoolcraft College is preparing for a cut in state aid, but administrators said its effect would be slight.

The Livonia-based community college stands to lose about $140,000 in state support, college president Richard McDowell said Wednesday.

Depending upon action in the state Legislature, Schoolcraft could lose 2.11 percent of its $7,708,200 million state allocation.

The loss is less than I percent of Schoolcraft's total budget.

A compromise in the state Legislature on insurance company taxes could make the cuts unnecessary, McDowell said. But Schoolcraft administrators say it will be business as usual, even if the money is lost.

Program cuts could be announced to Schoolcraft trustees next month, McDowell said.

WE'RE NOT at the point where it's serious, where this cut will force layoffs," McDowell said. "I doubt whether our students will feel the cuts, either."

But McDowell and other community college presidents are con-cerned about future cuts. A second round of cuts could occur in March, McDowell said.

Back in the early 1980s, we lost about $600,000 in state aid over an 18-month period," McDowell said. "That's something we wouldn't like to see happen again."

nally expected a 3 percent cut. Gov. James J. Blanchard began

Community college officials origitrimming the 1988 budget in mi year, in anticipation of an expected economic downturn

MEANWHILE, Deomcratic and Republican legislators are debating how to tax insurance companies.

The Blanchard Administration and House Democrats want to charge Michigan-based insurers the same premium tax that out-of-state insurers pay. That would raise $80 million in new revenue, Democrats say.

The Republican-led Senate, on the other hand, has voted to remove the premium tax on out-of-state insurance companies and place all insurers under the state's single business tax. That move is expected to be "revenue neutral."

"At this point, we just have to wait and see what develops," McDowell 'We're not at the point where it's serious.'

> Richard McDowell Schoolcraft president said. "Its difficult to begin cutting once you've begun your budget

Schoolcraft's budget year began July 1. The state's budget year began Oct. 1, though legislators haven't yet approved all of the budget

This (Blanchard) administration has been good for education, but we would like to know what's going to be cut up front," McDowell said

Praising Momma's meat pie

The British have a passion for meat pies. Rumor has it that they were invented centuries ago in England, but in all honesty, my mama's meat pies are as hearty and rich as her French-Canadian heritage

Simmered for what seemed to be hours on end, laced with delicate herbs and spices like sage, rosemary and dill, the meat is served in a crust that's so

I suppose in a classic French restaurant, meat pie would be ominously dubbed "pate en croute." In a British pub, a beefsteak and kidney pie would be gobbled up between pints of beer and ale. Not professing to be without something of a hearty stature, the Italians produce their own version, "torta rustica.

WHETHER YOU choose to use a lean lamb, pork or beef shoulder, or, if truly daring, choose a more exotic concoction of sweetbreads, oysters or kidneys, be creative. While researching this article, I spent the afternoon with Mama, peering over her shoulder and yelling "stop" before she added that dash of wine to the simmering pot, so I had a chance to measure

What's my point? If you can prepare a crust (and if you can't, then buy a prepared crust from the frozen food section of the grocery) you can make meat pie. Call it a quiche without eggs and cream. Not into lamb? Try it with hamburger. Fresh out of rosemary? Substitute sage.

Between chasing apron strings and making my measuring spoons sound like castanets, I was able to jot down these easy hints from Mama and a few of the professionals who plied me with samples of extraordinary ramekins filled with meat, potatoes, herbs and crust.

ALL FOUR of my advisers cautioned, "Roll your crust as thin as possible. Because most of the pies contain potatoes, a heavy, thick crust will obscure the delicate taste of the other ingredients.

But after testing one of the recipes with that new frozen puff pastry dough, I must admit that the results were very tasty indeed. Mama's crust was right out of Loretta Lynn's Crisco ad. To this day, my Cuisinart and I will never be able to duplicate it. Another hint that I found helpful: Make sure, when simmering your filling, that it's completely covered with liquid at all times. Stir frequently because the filling has a tendency to sink to the bottom of the pot - stick and burn. This was a tad difficult when preparing Mama's because the mixture simmered for almost three hours before it was ready to place in the crust.

YOU know how mamas are, folks, "Cook that pork, cook that pork and cook it some more.

Last but not least, remember, meat pies aren't just for dinner anymore. They make excellent additions to a holiday buffet. When chilled for picnics and tailgate parties, the herbs seem to blossom

For an unusual appetizer, prepare the pie in those cute little one-inch muffin pans. Roll and fold in phyllo dough.

I don't know about you, but I'm heading to the kitchen, grabbing my rolling pin . . . Bon appetit.

GRANDMA LORYS' MEAT PIE

I'll never understand why Mama makes this only during the holidays. I know what I want for my birthday in

 $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 lbs. pork shoulder, ground once 6 large potatoes, peeled, boiled, then mashed

3 medium onions, chopped Sage, salt and pepper 2 unbaked pie shells, with top crust aside

Place ground pork in a large kettle (Mama uses cast iron) with the chopped onion and cook, over medium heat, stirring constantly until pork is no longer pink. Stir in potatoes and then about 3-4 cups of water to make mixture thick and easy to boil. Cover and keep on low boil for 1 hour; stir frequently. Remove lid, continue boiling for about 11/2 more hours, stirring frequently and adding water, if necessary. (Mama adds a bit of Testing peanut butter requires, time, fortitude and a few good slugs of a favorite soda pop. Identical twins Justin and Sean Touhey of Plymouth do their best to identify the metropolitan area's best peanut butter at the official test site, MacKinnon's in Northville.

Ultimate peanut butter Panelists ponder sticky question

By Larry Janes special writer

HE RECIPE'S simple. Sprinkle nine kids with a passion for peanut butter and combine with a penchant for voicing their opinions. Stir in the support of parents and older siblings who supplied transportation. Fold in the ambiance of one of Detroit's premier gourmet restaurants.

Incorporate the flavors of seven of the area's best-known brands of peanut butter. Mix together for 45 minutes of fun, frolic and the freedom to speak their piece and what do you get?

The Great Peanut Butter Taste Test. And so it happened. On a gorgeous, crisp fall afternoon while the Michigan State Spartans were creaming the Purdue University Boilermakers, nine self-styled peanut butter junkies rated their favorite brands. All sandwiches were precisely prepared and presented on silver platters by the talented kitchen staff at MacKinnon's Restaurant in Northville. Cameras clicked and VCRs whirled while the kids noshed.

BIG NATIONAL brands of peanut butter, Skippy, Jif and Peter Pan, were represented in addition to lesser known brands like Arrowhead All-Natural, Smuckers, Town Pride and Velvet. We even included the U.S.D.A. government-issued sticky stuff that appears on sandwiches and other creations in local school cafeterias.

Who better to act as professional taste testers than a smattering of 8-12-year olds from Rochester, Birmingham, Southfield, Plymouth, Westland and Garden City ?

The job was simple. Sample various peanut butter sandwiches, rate them on a scale of one to five and cleanse your palate with as much Coca-Cola or Seven-Up as needed.

One indicated "ucky" and five denoted this is what I want you to buy next time you go grocery shopping.

from Rochester whose mom reluctantly agreed to attend even though she gets a violent allergic reaction from just smelling the GARDEN CITY'S representatives Jamie Patterson and Dawn Virant offered mutual agreement while Sean and Justin Touhey, twins from Plymouth, tried to beat each other to see who could eat the most.

Stacey Neece, the youngest judge from Westland frequently climbed up on her chair with some bread, a knife and a jar.

Who better to act as taste testers than 8 to 12-year-olds from Rochester, Birmingham, Southfield. Plymouth, Westland and Garden City?

The panel of judges included Matt Amans to voice her opinion while brother and sister combo Katie and Jordan Brinker of Birmingham countered with conflicting judgments as to their personal favorite. As the oldest judge, Suzanne Daines 12, of Southfield, offered a more mature opinion.

One thing for certain, our prestigious panel of judges all agreed that what Tom MacKinnon (chef and owner of MacKinnon's of Northville) conjured up as the "perfect recipe" for peanut butter sandwiches couldn't compare with what they could do at home

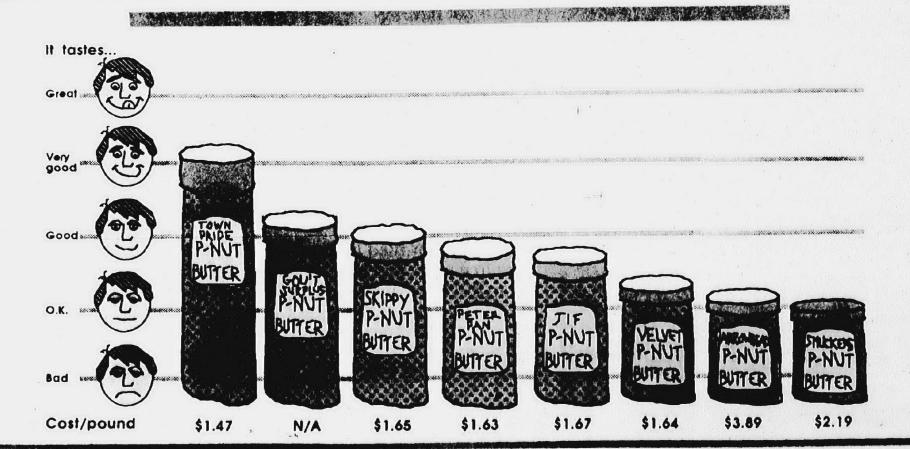

Seems that MacKinnon (and other notable area chefs) feel that the classic peanut butter sandwich should have one slice of the bread lightly slathered with butter before topping the other slice with the sticky stuff. Supposedly, this makes for a richer and smoother creation that lessens the "stick to the roof of your mouth syndrome" which so often accompanies the ritualistic eating of a peanut butter sandwich.

Our judges unanimously disagreed, frequently venting their displeasure over the amount of butter that was used to, as one judge put it, "grease the sandwich." MacKinnon might know the secret to making the world's best Ragout of Wild Boar, but, in our judges' opinion, trust good ol' Betty Crocker when it comes to slinging peanut butter. Ah from the mouth of babes .

All of the brand names remained hidden from the panel via discreetly made cards known only to this writer and the independent verifying and accounting firm of Bela Antal. As the gardemanger at MacKinnon's, Antal supervises the preparation of cold dishes. It was natural he'd be the one to prepare our peanut butter sandwiches.

Peanut butter panelists face sticky dilemma

But alas, even the best-laid plans f mice and men go awry when two of the judges who will remain anonymous for fear of sticky retaliation, noticed two of the brand names. So much for secrecy

THE TASTING BEGAN with samples of the "Big Three" brands of peanut butter — Jif, Skippy and Peter Pan. Katie Brinker thought Jif stuck to the top of the mouth" while Matt Amans agreed and added that t tasted dry.

Dawn Virant and Jamie Patterson both felt that Skippy was too thick and "plain" tasting while our oldest judge Suzanne Daines rated Peter Pan with a bland tasting score of 1. All in all, the Big Three scored an average rating of 22 out of a possible

One of the most interesting results came when our panel tested PB number 4. Arrowhead. A natural food product, it sells locally for more than $3.90 per pound. Justin and Sean Touhey, whose parents advocate natural products, thought this costly variety was "too sweet" for their prized palates. Jordan Brinker piped in his two cents worth and scored this product by slugging down a Coke and issuing an exasperated "too thick" rating of 2.

What turned out to be the most natural and most expensive variety of peanut butter was demoted to an overall score of 18 by our judges who were still hoping to taste something appreciably better. Maybe next time we'll line up some natural food fans with hopes of giving this peanut butter a higher rating.

Granted, with the judges fresh from their negative rating of Arrowhead, it may have been unfair to offer Smuckers next as the sacrificial peanut butter. Slathered with low ratings, Smuckers peanut butter was characterized as "bland" and "tasteless" by judge Dawn Virant. Jordan Brinker was quick to criticize this brand as "the worst of the lot." With a score of 16 points, let's hope Smucker's does better with its jelly.

AFTER REFILLING the goblets with palate cleansers of the their choice, the judges went on to taste a relatively unknown peanut butter, Farmer Jack's house brand, "Town Pride." By far the least expensive of the lot, it was greeted with accolades from the panel. Stacey Neece jumped up from her chair and exclaimed this sandwich to be 'just right." Kinda like Goldilocks testing the Three Bears' porridge. The majority of judges agreed

Matt Amans, one of two dissenters rated it "salty" and gave it a 2. Suzanne Daines disdained its taste altogether and rated it at 1. With an overall rating of 35, the Town Pride brand was leading the peanut butter pack so far.

Next, we offered Velvet peanut butter to the panel. Emerging with an overall score of 19, Velvet should certainly feel proud that they beat out the Big Three. However, our judges thought this brand was too thin and lacked a strong peanut

The final attempt at wooing the judges' taste buds was made with the contents of a five-pound tin stamped with the USDA seal. This peanut butter was secretly accepted as a participant because, although it isn't sold to the general public, it's available to school kitchens. Used to feed the masses, it ends up not only as peanut butter sandwiches but also in school desserts. It fared exceptionally well with our panel, achieving comments like "this is the best" from Justin Touhey while scoring an admirable 261/2 points on our taste

Time to mail baked gifts

Can the calendar be right? The holidays are just around the corner. Sending a homemade baked gift is a generous expression of your love. To avoid a box full of crumbs or indistinguishable pieces of "whatever," be sure that you package the gift of food properly.

Look over recipes and select foods that travel well. Avoid delicate cookies and cakes, foods that require refrigeration or heavily frosted items. Many drop cookies, bar cookies or fruit filled cookies travel better than crispy cookies.

Softer cookies such as chocolate chip or sugar cookies are hard to ship. Expect some crumbling and breakage with them. Home-baked cookies have a shelf life of about one week since they have a higher fat and water content than commercial cookies and of course don't contain any preservatives. Freshness will be assured if your cookies are quickly packed and shipped after they have

When packaging, wrap two cookies together back-to-back in plastic or foil. Bar cookies can be cut and wrapped individually of left in one large piece to be cut later. Wrap all foods in plastic wrap before putting them in a box. If you're sending breads and cakes, bake them in foil pans, remove while cooling, then slip back in the pan for mailing. Don't pack the food product hot because of

Choose a sturdy container that is the right size for the quantity of food being mailed. This will help eliminate extra shifting. Avoid glass containers. Make a habit of saving containers that could be used in giving food gifts, such as fresh vegetable trays, coffee or shortening cans, oatmeal and cornmeal tubes and foil pans. (Don't use meat trays unless brand new and meat has never been moisture condensation.

Decorate the container with colored foil, wrapping paper, felt, ribbon or yarn. Cushion the bottom and top of the gift box with shredded tissue paper or newspaper. This will not be a problem since the food is all snuggly wrapped in plastic or foil.

Continued from Page 2 KID CONCOCTIONS After filling the container with food, fill in extra space with puffed rice. puffed wheat, popcorn or marshmellows. Place a lid on top of the gift

Place the gift container in a strong heavy corrugated box (3-4 inches wider and deeper than gift box). A layer of filler on the bottom of the packing box will act as a cushion. Use additional shredded paper or excelsior for other empty spaces. When sending two (2) or more gift boxes inside one mailing box, be sure to layer packing material between them

Wrap with heavy paper and mark 'Fragile, Handle with Care" or 'Perishable." Mail early Allow enough time for your package to arrive for the holidays.

It isn't recommended to send homemade sausage and cheese through the mail. It's safer to send these products purchased at a speciality shop. The processing of the sausage and cheese enables the commercially made product to be mailed without refrigeration.

Oatmeal and cornmeal tubes make pretty and practical containers for cookies and candy that can be hand delivered. Cookies and candy will stay fresher if the inside is first lined with foil. Extend several inches above the top and turn down over the lip of tube. A plastic bag may be used as a removable inner lining

Consider giving new, useful containers, such as bread on a breadboard or cookies on a cookie sheet or tray. A shiny new cookie sheet would be a welcomed gift for anyone. Cover them with clear plastic wrap and decorate them with a ribbon or bow.

It is always a nice gesture to share your recipe so the recipient can prepare the item. On the card make serving suggestions and storage hints that would be helpful and make the gift complete.

Homemade food gifts, whether sent by mail or given in person, seem to taste especially good because your care and attention haven't been spared. Baking a gift doesn't require knowledge of a proper size or color - just delicious enjoyment for everyone. Special care in wrapping your gift will help assure the food arrives looking good enough to eat. Plan your holiday baking and give your gift of love with pride.

Cheesecake tops holiday meal

ers everywhere to unite and share special variations of their most treasured indulgence. After all, a holiday just wouldn't be a holiday without a cheesecake. James Beard once said that whoever thought up such a fantastically wonderful concoction deserves a statue in his memory. Unfortunately, no one has the slightest idea who he, or she, was. The best guess is that the originator might have been an ancient Greek, since cheesecakes of a very simple kind were offered as treats at that time.

In fact, the cheesecake is a rediscovery. In the 1700s, cheesecakes were a standard item in most family cookbooks. Those were the days when farmers laboriously made their own cheese, and the farm housewife created a variety of "chess pyes," as they were referred to then Around 30 years ago the cheesecake was found mostly in restaurants serving German, Austrian and French cuisine.

Today the popularity of cheese-cake rivals the apple pie as an American favorite, and modern cheesecake lovers need only go to the nearest food store for the makings of their favorite dessert. The recipes offered here feature two cheesecakes for the holiday season. Each is easy-to-prepare, to leave time for the season's numerous duties and delights. Both begin with cream cheese

'Light' neufchatel cheese with 25 percent less fat and 20 fewer calories can be substituted in each of these recipes and will perform the same as regular cream cheese.

Gala Apricot Cheesecake presents an elegant finale to a holiday meal. This no-bake recipe with an unusual oatmeal crust combines the creamy rich texture and dairy fresh flavor of cream cheese with brandy and apricots in an extraordinary cheesecake that is easily made in advance. And a last minute topping of apricot preserves and brandy makes it extra special for holiday guests and family

Chocolate Mint Meringue Cheesecake brings the most indulgent ingredients together for the holiday season. Melted chocolate mint pieces are combined with the cream cheese mixture and set in a chocolate crumb crust. Topped with a light, fluffy meringue, this creation is baked to perfection and presents a rich gift to cheesecake and dessert lovers of all kinds during the holiday

This time of the year is the sweetest time of the year. Good cooks share their finest and embrace the festive tradition of providing an abundant table for friends and family. These new cheesecakes serve well to herald the holiday season in the spirit of making and giving.

Midwest nixes aid for contras

AP — Midwesterners are likely to oppose aid to the Contra rebels in Nicaragua. New Englanders are inclined to favor more farm aid.

Southerners are riled at the thought of higher taxes. And if you work for the government, don't expect a lot of respect from Rocky Mountain residents.

These are among the findings of a survey, conducted by The Gallup Organization for the Times Mirror Co., which turned up sharp differences of opinion from one region of the United States to another.

The survey is billed as the "most exhaustive study of the American electorate ever undertaken." It is based on interviews with 4,244 people last April and May.

NEW ENGLAND — a key region in presidential politics because of its early presidential primaries — tends to be liberal on economic and social issues and concerned about protecting the environment, the survey said.

The region is also characterized by a "general lack of religiousness," it said.

Although the New England economy is less agriculture-dependent than some other parts of the country, residents strongly favor increased aid to farmers, and generally support increased funding for social programs, according to the study.

THE SOUTH was rated the most religious part of the country. The survey generally reported conservative social attitudes and "militant anti-communism" in the region as well.

'Vegas Night' event planned

The National Council on Alcoholism and Other Dependencies, Greater Detroit Area, is holding a "Las Vegas Night" event Friday, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m., at the Engineering Society of Detroit, 100 Farnsworth, south of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Refreshments and musical entertainment will be offered.

Admission is $50 per person. Proceeds will go toward council activi-

Tickets are available by calling 443-1676.

The council is a non-profit agency dedicated to prevention of substance abuse through education. It serves Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

"The Bible Belt is real, not just a political saying," the survey said.

The Southeast states — Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi — were called the least tolerant of differing views.

And the Southwest — Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma — was described as the most opposed to tax increases and to government social programs.

IN THE ROCKY Mountain states

Montana, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico — people hold "extremely strong anti-government attitudes."

They are most likely to favor the death penalty, the survey said.

Forty percent of the people in the region ranked themselves as highest on the scale of anti-government attitudes, compared with a 24 percent national average, the survey said.

Eighty-three percent favor the death penalty, while nationally, 72 percent support capital punishment.

THE WEST CENTRAL region — including the Midwestern states of Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas — is described as low on support for Contra aid, with 65 percent saying it should be decreased.

Generally, the area is characterized by "non-interventionist attitudes" on foreign policy, the survey said.

Interestingly enough, residents of this Farm Belt area do not favor increased government aid to farmers in greater proportions than the national public does, the survey said.

"Although the region is often associated with traditional values, its people seem anything but provincial," the study said.

The Pacific states — California,

Oregon, Washington, Hawaii and Alaska — tend to be more progressive on issues in which they differ from the national average, the survey said.

"The political values differences in the Pacific region are consistent with the popular perception of the laid-back Californians," the survey said. "The population rates low on religiousness and high on tolerance for those with differing points of view."

The CC defense was stubborn again, led by Lou Yeager (No. 89) and Erik Knuth (98), who teamed up to pull down Ann Arbor Pioneer

STEVE FECHT/staff photographer quarterback Rob Ferrari on this play. But Pioneer won the game, 3-0.

Pioneer dashes CC's football bid

By Brad Emons staff writer

Somehow things didn't quite turn out the same as it did in 1979. Gunning for their second state Class A football title, the Shamrocks of Redford Catholic Central High were denied Saturday by nemesis Ann Arbor Pioneer, 3-0, before 20,000 fans at the Pontiac Silver-

It was a offensive yawner for the most part, but a defensive gem, particularly from Pioneer's standpoint.

The game was decided when leftfooter Chris Moore booted 35-yard field goal with 6:46 left to play in the first half, marking the game's only

What went wrong for CC?

Several times the Shamrocks appeared on the verge of making something happen, but Pioneer, as it did earlier in the season in a 7-2 victory over CC, came up with the right play at the right time

AND PIONEER did it using a third-string quarterback, junior Rob Ferrari, who was pressed into service for the playoffs when No. 1 starter Kit Dickenson and backup Brian Bolick were knocked out of the lineup with injuries.

So it wasn't surprising to see Pioneer coach Chuck Lori, who usually employs a wide-open attack, run a conservative ground game.

And his strategy apparently worked because Pioneer had the ball almost twice as long as CC.

'When you have a third-team quarterback you just play to win," Lori said. "It's not the way we like to play. We just wanted a quarterback who would not beat us. And he (Ferrari) played poised and accepted the challenge today."

Pioneer made few mistakes, while CC made several glaring ones.

· CC marched down to the Pioneer 20 on their first possession, but the drive stalled when Pete Elezovic's 37-yard field goal try fell short and wide.

· A personal foul called against CC's outstanding nose guard Erik Knuth, who used his "Bufferin" move on Pioneer long snapper Paul McDowell, resulted in a 15-yard penalty and first down, ultimately leading to Moore's game-winning field goal. "Scott McKee (a linebacker) and I both blow down on the snapper on a double team," explained Knuth, who uses the move to rattle opposing centers on punts. "But the ref said I jammed my helmet into the back of the kids' neck.'

 A pair of costly clipping penalties left CC in poor field position during the third quarter. "It seemed we had a lot of untimely penalties," said CC coach Tom Mach

• Early in the fourth quarter, CC quarterback Scott Hauncher hit Jeff Szajnecki with a 10-yard first down pass at his own 47, but the ball was popped loose by Pioneer's Jason Palmisano and recovered by teammate Curt Large.

· Midway through the final quarter, Hauncher hit tight end Lou Yeager two times in a row, 18 and 13 yards, putting the ball on the Pioneer 36, but a penalty on the very next play (illegal use of hands) shoved the ball all the way back to the 50. Pioneer's defense then stiffened, forcing CC to punt.

• With Pioneer on its own 34, Aaron Bailey sealed the victory for Ann Arbor when he dashed 43 yards with 2:37 left, the longest run of the day by either team. The big gainer put Pioneer in position to run out the clock, but CC got the ball back in the final 31 seconds. The Shamrocks, however, were out of timeouts. They got off three plays, moving up only to their own 27 as Hauncher was sacked to end the game.

"THEY (PIONEER) did a good job of executing and holding the ball at the proper times," said the CC coach. 'It seemed we were always in a hole, particularly in the second half. We had bad field position most of the time and that dictated us notthrowing when we were deep in our own territory.

'We weren't in position to open up our offense, but the credit goes to them. Their defense was very good

CC's offense sputtered to say the least. The Shamrocks had only 94 yards net rushing as Chris Kovath led with 69 yards in 18 carries. Hauncher, a junior, completed five of 10 passes for 52 yards

Pioneer, meanwhile, had 162 yards rushing with Bailey gaining 102 yards in 20 carries. Ferrari attempted only five passes, but completed four for 26 yards, including a 14-yarder to Cortez Paige, giving Pioneer a crucial first down in the third quarter.

This is the greatest bunch of overachievers I've ever been associated with," said Lori, who guided Ann Arbor to the state title in 1984. We came along way and overcame a lot of adversity with all the injuries. We started a different lineup almost every game, but that shows the depth of our football team. We have 34 great seniors and they deserve this state championship.

Nose guard calls 3-0 outcome 'a big letdown'

By Marty Budner staff writer

Erik Knuth was a leader all year on a tenacious Sham-ROCK defense that allowed a mere 26 points - including five shutouts - in nine regular-season games.

In the playoffs, Knuth and his CC defensive mates allowed only three touchdowns in four post-season games. Catholic Central outscored its playoff opponents, 38-25.

CC put forth perhaps its best defensive playoff effort Saturday at the Pontiac Silverdome against Ann Arbor Pioneer in the Class A state championship game. The Shamrocks didn't allow a touchdown. Ironically,

Needless to say it was a great disappointment to Knuth and the Sham-

To come all the way to the 'states' in my senior year and lose is a big letdown," said Knuth, a 6-foot-3, 230-pound All-State nose guard who played a big part in holding the Pioneers to just 180 total yards.

I expected it to be a tough game, it just didn't go our way," he said. "I felt it would be close all the way. I felt we had a chance right up to the end when we got the ball back the reasons CC made it to the state finals was the improved play of junior quarterback Scott Hauncher, especially in the passing department. CC went to the air effectively against playoff foes Sterling Heights and Birmingham Brother Rice.

CC threw only twice in the first half against Pioneer and 10 times in the game. Hauncher completed five passes for 52 yards — the longest 18 yards to tight end Lou Yeager in the fourth quarter.

CC played very conservative offensively. There were no trick plays like they used against Rice and no big plays. The reason for that, explained CC coach Tom Mach, was field position. We're not a throwing team. Last week (against Rice) we were able to get good field position and throw the ball," said Mach. "We just couldn't get out of the hole (against Pioneer). It seemed like we were in our territory a lot. I expected us to throw a little more but we just couldn't get into a position to do that.' GAME STATISICS: The CC-Pioneer state championship game was the lowest scoring Class A game in the tournament's 13-year history. The previous lowest scoring affair was the 1980 final when Birming-CONSERVATIVE PLAN?: One of ham Brother Rice defeated Dearborn Fordson, 6-0.

· CC made only one of nine thirddown conversion attempts, while Pioneer converted four of 12. The most telling statistic was time of possession - 27:04 to 20:56 in favor of the Pioneers. Pioneer ran 47 plays to · Catholic Central lost two fumbles and Pioneer one. CC registered five interceptions last week against Rice. The Shamrocks didn't have one against Pioneer.

 Each team punted five times. CC's Dave Hallway averaged 38.8 yards per punt while Ann Arbor Pioneers' Curt Large averaged 27.6

• The game lasted just one hour and 42 minutes. It was one of the fastest games in state championship

ADVANTAGE, PIONEER? By defeating CC, Ann Arbor Pioneer won its second state Class A title in the past four years. The Pioneers definitely like the Silverdome's artificial surface. We look forward to playing here. We can utilize our speed," said Pioneers coach Chuck Lori. "We practiced (on the artificial surface) this week at the University of Michigan. We felt it would be advantageous for us to play here."

2-LOSS CHAMPS: Ann Arbor Pioneer is the 1987 Class A state champion despite having been defeated twice during the regular season (by East Lansing and Ann Arbor Huron). Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, North Farmington and Livonia Stevenson had an identical 7-2 regular-season record and didn't even make the playoffs. Pioneer coach Chuck Lori wasn't sure his team was the state's best in the postseason press conference. 'The teams that beat us during the season probably wish they were here," said Lori. "We were able to beat the teams we had to at the time we played them this year.' Lori, whose team has qualified for the playoffs the last four years, also said he expected to score more against Catholic Central.

"I thought we could get two touchdowns. I didn't think three would decide it - three points that is, not three touchdowns," he said. "I felt we'd do better than we did (offensively). We had a lot of ball control and that helped. They (CC) don't have the type of offense that we thought could go 85 or 90 yards and

It was long, but jubilant, bus ride back

HE BUS LURCHED and bounced, tossing occupants trying to slither up the narrow aisle from one side to another.

No one seemed to mind.

L.L. Cool J blared from the stereo in deafening rap, made louder by several passengers mimicking the lyrics. No one seemed to mind.

The interior of the bus looked like a war zone and smelled like a garbage zone, not too surprising after countless hours spent traveling in it over the previous six days. No one seemed to mind.

A half an hour into the trip, it was clearly obvious that pilots Ernest and Carl were, once again, lost

"We're in Philadelphia," Nick O'Shea cried to a bewildered Ernest while pointing at a map. "The turnpike was back there 10 miles

Still, none of the other occupants seemed to mind (much). Certainly none were

THESE OCCUPANTS were on their way home. And although each of them knew the fatiguing 12-hour ride facing them would, without doubt, stretch to 15 behind the error-prone navigation of Ernest and Carl, they were happy.

Very happy. These bus riders were the members of the Schoolcraft College womens soccer team, and they were bringing a national championship back to Livonia with

The euphoria inflated and bubbled over like microwave popcorn, growing until it could be contained no longer. A day before, these same women had traveled for two hours in the same bus to spend 150 minutes in Atlantic City

The music was loud, sure; there was singing and talking and joking the whole trip. There was even an impromptu bus tour of the city conducted by Jennifer Flowers as Carl and Ernest (lost again, of course) searched for Caesar's Palace.

But there was something else. On Saturday, the day before they were to meet Nassau (N.Y.) CC for the NJCAA championship, there was tenseness.

Few spoke of the upcoming match, the game they had worked for and pointed to since the season's start, enduring countless "long runs" in practice at the urging of their coaches, O'Shea and Lisa Griffin.

ONLY JENNIFER HUEGLI and Mary Kay Hussey spent much time talking about the next day's game.

'Are you nervous?" Huegli asked Hussey. Both were, knowing that the outcome might depend on them. Huegli, Hussey, Flowers. O'Shea's three aces. From season's start, he knew if he could put those three up front, no team could stop Schoolcraft from scoring. The defense wasn't quite as solid, although it was indeed good. But would it be good enough, particularly against the nation's best teams?

As O'Shea had hoped, the offense came through. His three aces scored nine of their team's 10 tournament goals in their three games. But more impressive was the defense, which matched the offense's proficiency by not allowing a goal.

Three games, three shutouts, three dominating performances. 3-0, 3-0 and, against Nassau, a 4-0 rout

IT WAS A credit to those three superb forwards: Flowers (five goals and an assist), the tournament's most valuable forward. and Huegli and Hussey, two veteran Observerland stars (Huegli at Livonia Churchill, Hussey at Livonia Stevenson) who each ignored injuries in the tournament to return to the fray.

It was a credit to the midfielders: Jamie Kubacki (who scored the game-winning goal against Nassau), Maureen Frampus (whose eye was swollen after getting kicked in the tournament's first game) and Laurie McLachlan (who had two assists). They combined to do just what a good midfield should do - control play. And it was a credit to the defense - in particular, Amy Weber, the forward recruited early in the season to fill the most glaring hole in O'Shea's lineup, in goal. Weber had little experience at the position, but her natural athletic ability got her through. She was named the all-tournament keeper. She should share the award with fullbacks Lisa Hysko, Shari Acitelli and Kelly Churchill, and certainly sweeper Jennifer Belhart, whose performance could have netted tournament most valuable player honors. Belhart's play was of championship caliber.

BUT EVERYONE contributed something. including reserves Kelly Holzwart, Kathy Long, Sue Abdilla and, of course, Kristi Green, a starter in every game at forward as O'Shea rested Hussey, who was nursing a bad knee. During the season, Green played everywhere but goal for SC.

And yet, as much as anything else, the title was a credit to O'Shea. The former Oakland University and Schoolcraft College midfield standout junked the kick-and-run style prevalent in high school soccer for a more controlled passing game.

It was a gamble. Many coaches would like to install a controlled passing game, but the talent has to be there. O'Shea thought he had it, his team proved him right.

"If they can do it without getting caught out of position," O'Shea explained of his passing game, "it can work."

IT DID against Nassau. The Lady Ocelots had a strong wind behind them in the first half; they parlayed that advantage into four NJOYING THEIR FINEST season ever, the Plymouth Canton girls cross country team dominates this year's All-Observer squad.

Area coaches voted three Canton girls onto the first team. Another Canton runner made the second Canton's team led the area this fall, winning the Schoolcraft College Invitational team title and the Western Lakes Activities Association meet championship. The Chiefs qualified for the Class A state meet by finishing second in the tough Gibraltar Carlson behind state champion Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Because of the team's success, the Observer sports staff selects Canton's George Przygodski as Coach of the Year.

Here is a brief look at the first team members:

GINGER ROWLAND, Westland Glenn: The senior captain, Rowland finished 25th in the state Class A individual race.

Other top finishes for Rowland included the WLAA meet (fourth place), Dearborn Invitational (seventh), Schoolcraft Invitational (ninth), RU Invitational (10th) and regional (14th).

"Ginger showed leadership and dedication," said Glenn coach Richard Gordon. "She received our team's MVP Award."

LORI PENLAND, Plymouth Canton: A sophomore, Penland was Canton's Team MVP. She was 52nd overall in the Class A team race.

Penland added a second at the WLAA meet, fourth at Schoolcraft, sixth at RU and was 20th at the regionals.

'Lori is a talented, durable competitor," said Przygodski. "She's at her best when competing on hilly courses. Her strategy is to go out fast, set the pace and then fight to maintain her lead."

CINDY SPESSARD, Plymouth Canton: A junior, Spessard recorded her best time of 20:13 (for 5,000 meters) at the Gibraltar Carlson regional meet, good enough for 16th place.

She was 47th in the state team race with a time of 20:36. In the WLAA meet Pealand was ninth.

"Cindy missed five meets early in the season due to a stress fracture in her foot, but she rebounded to become our No. 1 runner," said the Canton coach. "She is quite an individual who is extremely competitive.

LYNDA SCHENDEL, Plymouth Canton: Also a junior, Schendel's best finish came at the WLAA meet, where she took sixth overall

Schendel also finished eighth at both Schoolcraft and RU

She was 26th at the Carlson regional and 61st in the state team race at Groesbeck Golf Course in Lansing.

'Lynda had a very successful season in her first year of cross country," said "Like the other Canton runners she runs her best on hilly cours- and fifth at the league meet (20:33).

MICHELLE GAYNEY, Redford Bisbop Borgest: Gayney is a two-time All-

Area performer. This season she was the Schoolcraft In vitational, Catholic League and Operation-Frienship meet champion. Gavney took third at the Spartan Invitational and fourth at the Royal Oak Kimbal regional. Her only dual meet defeats were to teammate Michelle Gross. Her best time was 19:53 at the Eastern Michigan Invitation-

"Every year Michelle's performances improve in direct proportion to her confidence," said Borgess coach John McGreevy of the student with a 3.3 grade point average. "She's the most dedicated runner I have ever coached

KAREN KUPHAL, Livonia Stevenson: The junior was Stevenson's top runner all

She finished first in the Livonia City enth in the WLAA and 10th at the Ann the finish line.

CMU's Stebbins goes to Big Apple for honor

By Brad Emone staff writer

Bob Stebbins' football career at Central Michigan University may be over, but his post-season honors have only just begun.

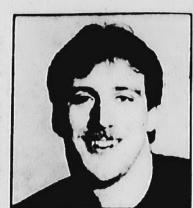

The 6-foot-4, 235-pound tight end, CMU's first Rhodes Scholar candidate, has been named to the National Football Foundation's Academic All-America Team. Stebbins will attend a black tie affair Tuesday, Dec. 8, at the Waldorf Astoria in New York.

Sporting a 3.86 grade-point averige in history and finance, the Livonia Franklin High School product is one of 11 honorees named to the National Football Foundation Team. Also selected was Heisman Trophy candidate Gordie Lockbaum of Holy Cross.

Prior to receiving that honor, Stebbins was awarded a $4,000 NCAA post-graduate scholarship. He will use the grant to attend law

"The $4,000 for grad school is going to help a lot," said Stebbins, CMU's all-time leading receiver at tight end with 79 catches for 1,069 yards. "I was shocked when I found out I was going to New York. I had no idea the (CMU) athletic department had put my name in."

STEBBINS WILL ALSO be speaking at the NFF-Detroit Chapter's of Hall of Fame Banquet, Thursday, Dec. 10 at the Northfield Hilton in Troy, when the Detroit News will honor its top 23 prep football players. He has been Stebbins' only regret was that CMU never won a MAC title and bid to the California Bowl. This year CMU finished with a disappointing 5-5-1 record, including an 18-17 loss in the season finale at Bowling Green.

"I don't know if the academic award makes up for that," Stebbins said, the only player in MAC history to win All-Academic honors four times. "I was here five years and never got a ring. That's the main reason I came to CMU was to win a ring.

Blazers' defense chokes district opponent, 67-21

It wasn't so much that Garden City's shooting was lousy, although it was. Rather, the Cougars' demise in their girls basketball district final at Westland John Glenn Wednesday was more a credit to Livonia Ladywood's defense. In simple terms, Garden City didn't even get many good shots at the basket. Actually, the Cougars didn't get many shots at all - losing

By the end of the first quarter, Ladywood led 18-2. At the half it was 31-6. Had Blazer coach Ed Kavanaugh played his starters the entire way (no one played much more than a half), it's possible they might have blanked the Cougars, holding them without a basket for the entire

Defending champs must replace 5 cage starters

By Dan O'Meara

Plymouth Salem's boys basketball opponents are hoping to find the Rocks a little soft this winter.

Salem graduated all five starters and then some from a team that wonthe Western Lakes championship and finished with a 22-3 record.

While nobody expects Salem to be a pushover, others would like to think they'll have a better'than average chance in the Lakes Division race this year.

Rick Taylor, Mike Hale and Jeff Justice are gone from the post, as is sixth-man Dave Collins. Three are playing college ball - All-Stater Taylor at the University of Detroit, Hale at Ferris State College and Collins at Quincy (Ind.) College.

Bryan Kearis, "the best pure point guard I've ever had," according to coach Bob Brodie, and backcourt mate Tony Moore also have departed the scene

"ALL OF those players had been with me three and four years, and it's tough to replace people like that," said Brodie, who begins his fourth year as the varsity coach.

But the people coming in can offer different things. Granted, we're not as tall, but & think we're a little more physical and, as a team, a little Opponents should beware, because Brodie isn't thinking in terms of rebuilding however And though Salem doesn't have the dominating height it had a year ago in the 6-7 Paylor, 6-5 Hale, 6-6 Justice and 6-8 Collins, it does have plenty of solid football types with a balance of height across the board.

We do have good average height. Brodie said. "Our guards will go 6.2 or 6.3, and we'll range; tallest player with junior Bill Anderfrom 6-2 to 6-5 on the floor at all

basketball

all five positions to take up the slack. but right now we're young at the guards besides being big."

pair of 6-2 juniors, and Ryan Johnson, a 6-2 sophomore, are among the team's top newcomers and are expected to handle a majority of the guard work.

They played in the city and had a lot of preparation against some of the best teams in the state." Brodie said. They handled the heat pretty well this summer. The Rocks will probably try to distribute the workload unlike last year when the small but quick and agile Kearis brought the ball up court most of the time.

We'll try not to put too much pressure on the one point guard. Brodie added

Keith Smith, a 6-4, 210-pound tight end on the football team, is the most experienced basketball player, having lettered since his sophomore year. He will serve as a co-captain with fellow senior Todd Marion, a 6-3 forward, and give the Rocks aplayer to build around in the frontcourt.

MARION SAW a lot of playing time last season, too, A solid 200pounder, he is one of the strongest players and will enable the Rocks to gain position under the boards.

The other returning lettermen are seniors M.J. Ewald, who at 6-5 shares the distinction as the team's son, and Pat Rzepecki, a 6-4 post provement during the 1986-87 season. Brodie said, and the coach looks for Ewald's increased height to be an added benefit this year The varsity roster also includes juniors Craig Marshall, 6-0 guard, Mike Albertson, 6-1 forward, and Jeff Jagacki, 6-2 forward. I look for this team to improve all season." Brodle said, "and, in SCOTT HALE and Jeff Elliott, a doing that, we may rotate 8-9 people until we can find the right mix.

> I HATE TO label it rebuilding because that's an injustice to the seniors, he added. We'll put the best players we can on the floor and try to win as many games as we can

 People with concussions and other forms of mild brain injury have significant cognitive and behavioral problems months after impact. Delayed return to work, a loss of concentration, headaches, dizziness and other problems often surface after the injury, yet seldom are tied to the injury

THE EXPERTS concluded that more research is needed to better diagnose and treat victims injured in the home and workplace, on the street and in athletics.

Initial diagnosis of mild and moderate brain injuries can be difficult, and even with accurate diagnosis, later problems often are not recog-

Getting ready for Christmas

This week Street Scene prepares you for yuletime joiliness with our Getting Ready for Christmas issue. Besides our front-page stories on new games for Christmas and one-day yule trips, we also have stories on personalized Christmas gifts (Page 6D), a Victorian-style Christmas (Page 6D) and a look at what items are hot for the holidays (Page 5D).

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

of Christmas shoppers

While there are no lions or tigers, bears abound for Christmas shoppers, and there's even a new guy in town this year!

Kris Moose, a plush brown, cuddly moose reminiscent of Bullwinkle from the old "Rocky and Bullwinkle" TV show, is Crowley's new PWP — purchase-with-purchase — incentive for buyers. With $50 worth of purchases, Crowley's shoppers can take home a Kris for an additional $10.

"It's also an opportunity to give customers a tremendous value on something for shopping at our stores," said Crowley's sales promotion director Stan Siwula.

The success of their Holly Hound, which sold more than 40,000 last year, led Crowley's to break with the bear brigade and offer Kris in '87.

"We felt that coming up with a fresh new item would keep customers coming back," Siwula said. "How long can you keep offering the same thing?"

Siwula said his only concern was having enough Kris Mooses on hand to last through the traditional day-after-Thanksgiving siege

VARIETY ASIDE, however, Santa Bear still reigns supreme as king of PWP hugables, with more than 160 related gift items this year. Hudson's has solved the problem of keeping him interesting by giving num a new friend, muss near, as well as new cioties at

"We wanted to make him a tradition," said Candace Barker at Hudson's Regional Offices in Southfield. "The reason we chose bears is because they were a hot trend item at the time (1985)."

With the Santa Bears, Hudson's was one of the first stores to offer something other than cosmetics as a PWP extra. Also making the season bear-able this year are J.C. Penney's noname adopt-a-bears, Meijer's Polar Pal musical Bears and Ward's just plain teddys.

SQUEEZE POLAR Pal's paw and he'll serenade you with 18 different songs from his programmable music box. If that's not enough, he also comes with a full line of merchandise — clothing, dishes, glasses and disposable tableware.

Penney's brown bear comes with a winsome face but no name.

According to the tag on his green bow, shoppers can take him home (for $10 with a $40 purchase) and name him themselves.

For those who just want teddy bears to be teddy bears, there's Ward's white bear. A regular purchase item in itself, the Ward's teddy does nothing but wait for someone to take it home and love

Firms offer dial-a-date

By Bill Casper staff writer

Reach out and date someone. That's right, dial-a-date. Right here in the metro area.

You may have seen the ads on late-night TV. You have a choice: You can call either the Adult Party Line or 1-976-MEET. They're among the many dial-a-call or 976 Call programs provided by independent sponsors through the telephone company.

But a service like the Adult Party Line differs from the other dial-acall services that provide information via a tape-recorded message. The Adult Party Line is participatory, with real, live people to talk to or listen to.

Parents, be advised, there's a Teen Party Line, too, and at $3 for each three-minute call for either line, it doesn't take all that many calls to run up a sizable phone bill.

STILL IT can be tempting, especially when you're home alone on a Friday night, and the best thing you have going is yet another cruise on TV's "Love Boat."

You've jotted down the number, never intending to dial it, but who knows, there's still time to line up a date for Saturday night.

Still you're a bit uneasy. The dreaded prospect of rejection still exists. Although for three bucks you'll at least be spared the horror of a face-to-face confrontation. And no one need know that you've resorted to calling perfect strangers for dates.

On the other hand, you do risk a blind date with someone else who has resorted to this seemingly desperate quest for true love.

NONETHELESS, it's intriguing, and if you're frightfully shy, you

Climber hits peak performance

By Marie Chestney staff writer

One day in May, world-roaming adventurer Eric Perlman stood on top of ferocious Jade Dragon Mountain in northwest China and raised his fists in triumph

On that gloomy, snow-fog day, Perlman and his team did what no mountain-climbing team had ever done before. They had conquered the highest peak in a blizzard-seething mountain range along the Sino-Burmese border, a range long revered by the Chinese as a god, a range long pursued by mountainteers from around the world who yearned to climb and conquer it.

On one recent day in November, this same veteran mountain climber stood in front of a roomful of admirers in a Farmington Hills sporting goods store and told what it's like to tackle the fickle storms and steep peaks of an unforgiving mountain And come out the winner

'Clouds swallowed us as we wandered blind up a narrow ridge," said Perlman as a slide flashed on the screen that showed a dark solitary figure inching his way up an immense snowclad ridge.

"We kicked, we groveled our way up because we wanted this thing. Maybe it was a good thing we couldn't see what we were climbing on. Then, finally, everything was below me. This was it. I raised my fists in a salute to the Jade Dragon finally beneath my feet. We broke out the (Chinese and American) flags.

We didn't do it for the view. The view is all inside. We wished our friends could be with us because our victory was their victory too."

PERLMAN, a slight-of-build. curly-topped redhead and college dropout who lives in Truckee, Calif., had brought his slides, his harrowing yarns and his mountaineering props to this special multimedia show.

Benchmark, a sporting goods store at 32715 Grand River, had shelled out $300 to give local mountainclimbing enthusiasts an up-close look at one of the most successful climbers around. By successful, we mean success in both climbing mountains and in making a living once the climb is over Benchmark wasn't disappointed. The back room was jammed with would-be climbers who probably dream of conquering, like Perlman, a summit like the Jade.

Once the slides were shown and the show was over, the questions

HOW DID you get back down?

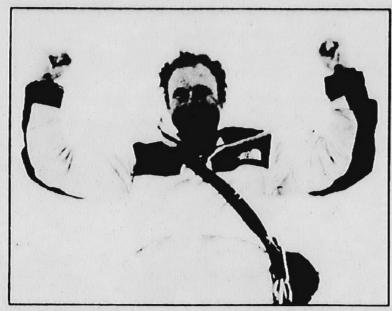

The same way we got up, Perlman said. "It was long, hard, tricky, and harder on the knees, but the snow was firmer than on the way up.'

The one-day summit assault took 15 hours. The team started at daybreak and staggered back into base camp at 11 p.m.

How high is the Jade Dragon's summit?

Eighteen thousand five hundred feet. Compared to Mount Everest, at 29,050 feet, or two monoliths in Pakistan, K2, at 28,250 feet, or Gasherbrum IV, at 26,000 feet, or even the United States' own Mount McKinley, at 20,320 feet, the Jade Dragon might look like a piker.

But what the Jade lacks in height it makes up in ferocity. American, Japanese, British and Chinese climbing teams all had been beaten back over the years by the mountain's blinding blizzards, high winds, sudden storms, avalanches and rock falls. In 1986, the mountain had even beaten back Perlman, who was making his first assault on the snowcapped peaks that look like a dragon's spine.

Perlman firmly believes he triumphed in 1987 because he spurned the less-dangerous, long-way-round route and chose, instead, the more deadly, one-day shoot to the summit. The team had to make the trip in one day because on the steep peaks there was no place to sleep. The route was so sheer that if one team member fell, another would have to jump off the opposite side and pull the rope taut. The team set out knowing there would be no helicopters to rescue them if something went wrong.

WHO CAME down first?

Perlman was the first to the summit and the last to get down. As leader, he had less to carry but had to pick the route and lay the hardware for the others.

When did you start climbing?

In 1966. Since then, the 37-yearold mountaineer has tackled the east face of Mount Everest, Celestial Peak in Tibet, climbed the six great north faces of the Alps in a single season and skied the highest peaks of

HOW DO you make a living?

Aye, that's the Big Question for would-be adventurers. Totally selftaught, Perlman writes, takes pictures and promotes himself. He plans his own adventures, photographs them, writes about them and then travels coast-to-coast to talk

His adventures and photos have appeared in the pages of Sports Illustrated, Adventure Travel, Skiing and Backpacker.

That's not bad for a dropout from the University of California.

"I was interested in science, but I couldn't stand to study," Perlman said. "I had to be outside. My laboratory was the outdoors."

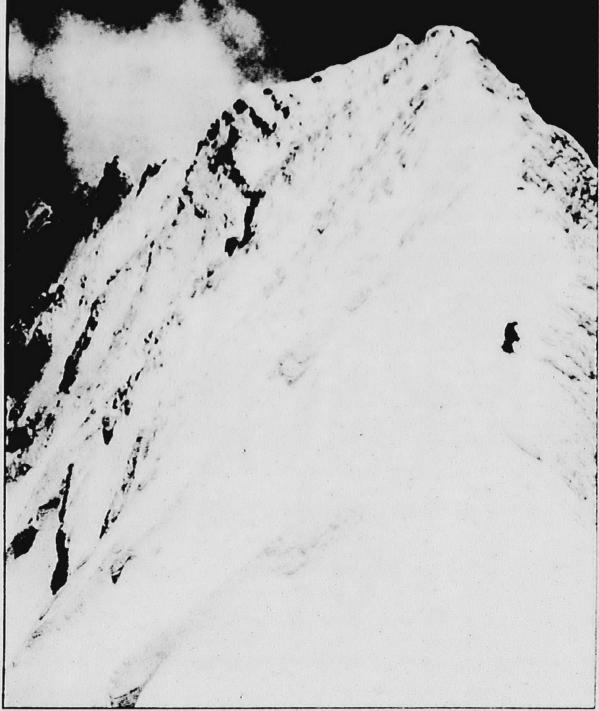

To earn an extra paycheck, Perlman and some friends even recently field-tested longjohns for Backpacker magazine and wrote a story about

There's an early-morning rush at suburban Detroit shopping malls, but it isn't just the Christmas rush - it's the walking rush. The pace is brisk for those who are exercising their hearts and lungs instead of their credit cards. Malls with seemingly endless hall-ways are perfect places for people like Albert Vellucci, 63, of Dearborn Heights, to put in their miles.

The weather is nicer and you don't have to worry about walking in the dirt or on sidewalks. There are also no dogs," said Vellucci, who is walking to recover from bypass heart surgery he underwent Sept. 16 at Henry Ford Hospital.

His rehabilitation program had him walking ¼ mile to start, and he's now up to four miles per day, six davs a week. Vellucci, retired mailroom supervisor of the Detroit Free Press, is one of about 200 people who put themselves through their paces seven days a week at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

The "Wonder Walkers," as they call themselves, range from retirees while pushing their children in

A list of mails that open their doors to walkers is on Page 4D.

BUT THERE'S more to walking than staying healthy, said Sam Coppola, 62, of Livonia, who is retired from Ford Motor Co.

'You meet a lot of nice people," he said, displaying the quick walking pace that has earned him an award for walking 500 miles through the mall. He'll receive a $5 gift certificate from the mall for his accomplishment.

A bout with diabetes persuaded Coppola to walk the 500 miles in 21/2 months, he said. The six-mile-a-day, seven-day-a-week pace helped him drop to 175 pounds from a high of

BUT LISTEN to the voice of experience before stepping out at the malls. Coppola, the 500-miler, says to "stay close to the wall and out of the way of shoppers."

That's probably good advice, according to Sylvia DeFoe, 63, of Livonia, who is the volunteer president of the western Wayne County division of the American Heart Association. because the stores will be opening earlier than usual during the Christmas season and because more walkers will be headed indoors as winter

When there are shoppers in the mall, most malls ask that walkers don't walk more than two abreast and be courteous, said Rodney Harden, Heart Association southeast regional director.

Scrooge loose

When malls start putting up their Christmas fantasylands the week be fore Halloween, it's enough to make anyone cry, "Bah, Humbug!" But for old Mr Scrooge even one day of Christmas merriment was too much. Scrooge returns to the stage of Meadow Brook Theatre this week for the annual presentation of Dickens "A Christmas Carol." Hollywood actor Booth Colman, who was protessor Hector Jerrold on television's "General Hospital," once again will portray Scrooge Charles Nolte, a professor at the University of Minnesota, has adapted the book for the stage and will direct.

The first performance will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, and performances will continue through Sunday, Dec. 27. Call for times and ticket prices. BIG GENERATOR - Yes

Yes sounds like a band that just returned from a shopping spree at a musical instrument store and doesn't know what to do with what it bought.

"Big Generator," on Atlantic Records, is a cornucopia of instrumental versatility. This is the group's second release since reforming with "9125," which was released

There's soaring guitar work on 'Big Generator," the title track off the album. Heavy keyboards dominate "Aim High, Shoot Low," and violins start off "Love Will Find a Way," the hit song off the album. And, yes, all the Yes hallmarks are there: Jon Anderson's high-octive vocals, Trevor Rabin's sonic guitar and Chris Squire's thundering bass. But what this album lacks in areas is continuity.

Some of the numbers, like "Aim High, Shoot Low" for instance, seem bogged down with instrumental overachievement. As a result, "Aim High, Shoot Low" misses the target and goes nowhere.

One reason for this might stem from the fact that some of the songs are particularly long. "I'm Running" for example, runs more than seven minutes. Others, like "Almost Love," could be shortened for better results. Just when you're prepared to listen to the next track. Anderson's voice creeps back in for another round, and the cycle repeats itself. By contrast, "Rhythm of Love" is more compact and shows definite promise of becoming a follow-up hit single to "Love Will Find a Way." Rabin's guitar work on this nugget is excellent.

And the harmonizing on "Rhythm of Love" gives the Tabernacle Choir a run for its money.

"Love Will Find a Way" stands out for the same reason "Rhythm of Love" works - it's concise and has direction. Mainly, though, the guitar work of Rabin and the bass play of Squire give the song an edge that others on the album are devoid of. - Larry O'Connor

EYE OF THE HURRICANE —The Alarm

The Alarm says it's out of the anthem-making business. Geez, wouldn't Francis Scott Key be glad to hear that?

Instead, the Welsh rockers are now just growing up and learning to cope with their world, according to lead singer Mike Peters. But more importantly, the Alarm wants to break from being lumped with the U2s and Simple Minds by trying to make grand statements with their music.

After awhile, people don't take kindly to preachy stances from the rock'n'roll community. They just want to be entertained.

On "Eye of the Hurricane," the band's third album on I.R.S. Records, the Alarm is able to shake the image of trying to change the world. Wel-I-I-I, sort of.

mation. And lyrically, the band still has a penchant for song titles hinting change like "Rescue Me," "Shelter," and "Permanence of Change." Yet musically, the Alarm definitely has carved its own niche with a spirited brand of acoustic-guitar-

Peters still has a tendency to wail like he's reading some sort of procla-dominated rock'n'roll. 'Rain in the Summertime' starts the album off in the right direction.

The nice blend of piano and Peters vocals works really well. No declarative statements here, except the professed like of rain in the summertime.

'Newton Jericho" displays the band's rich guitar-laden sound as does "Hallowed Ground."

On "Shelter," a song which has received considerable air play on college radio, the lyrics get a bit cliched. Raise your hand if this sounds familiar, "I've been branded/ I've been washed up and left for dead/I've been cast out. . . (Yeah, yeah, and it's all right/Jumpin' Jack Flash is a gas, gas, gas.)

On "Presence of Love" and "Only Love Can," obviously, the Alarm embraces the the cause of romance. And actually, the group handles the subject quite nicely.

On "Eye of the Hurricane," The Alarm has been able to get off its high horse for a bit by falling on both of its collective feet.

THE BALLAD OF JIM AND TAMMY — Tammy Faye Bakker

I did so much want to like this record.

After all, from the funniest couple since Laurel and Hardy. I was hop ing for great things. With a title like 'The Ballad of Jim and Tammy." I was expecting nothing less than a comic masterpiece, a goofball "Ballad of Davy Crockett" for the 1980s.

But this record just doesn't cut it It isn't so bad it's good, it's just plain

The ballad is set to the tune of "Harper Valley PTA" with lyrics by Tammy Faye herself You'd think with such a kitsch classic of adultery and other hanky-panky as a base. she'd have given us a litany of Jim's more interesting escapades. Alas, however, it's only a diatribe against Jerry Falwell, and a dull diatribe at that. The lyrics at times resemble a legal brief: "We watched them tear apart the park and sell the assets of the ministry at a loss, saw them file bankruptcy, go to court and kick Kevin out of his house." Snores galore Only once did the lyrics touch me.

They even sold Max's doghouse leaving three little dogs out in the cold." That brought a smile to my face, as I pictured those three little doggies shivering outside their air-conditioned doghouse As to Tammy Faye's performance, it can best be described as Jeannie C. Riley snorting helium at the end of each line. Tammy doesn't ery but she sure does moan a lot.

Hey, but the guitar work is good. The record sleeve might be worth the two-buck purchase price for aficionados, though There's Tammy Fave in full color, looking, as my cohort Wayne Peal suggests, like Belinda Carlisle after a Twinkee binge. The makeup job isn't as industrial strength as usual, but it still looks as though it would smudge if you ran your thumb across it. The clerk at the record store probably summed it up best: "It makes a good coaster.

Trademarks wearing well in fashion

By Philip A. Sherman staff writer

It must be an advertiser's dream come true. Long ago in a galaxy far away, advertisers had to pay people to promote their products. To conspicuously wear the right sunglasses. To be seen on the basketball court in their shoes. At least one cigarette company used to offer a flat fee plus a new paint job, which sometimes included sanding and rustproofing, to any Volkswagen driver willing to turn his or her car into a rolling billboard.

THEN SOMETHING snapped.

No one knows quite how it came about. Probably a junior advertising account executive somewhere, sweating over someone's account, suggested the laughable.

Let's put the product name, big as daylight, on clothes and then sell them. Signature series. It speaks to me, babe. We'll create an identity to go along with it. Something lively and mysterious; ambiguous enough for full-spectrum appeal. It's bigger than the

And so it was. The ticket today is Coca-Cola.

Swatch. Generra. Camp Beverly Hills. Guess. Those cute little singing claymation raisins in the fast-food commercial. Clothes bearing these and other brand names are selling so fast some stores cannot keep them in stock.

WHY DO people pay to wear advertising?

"Because it's a trend, it's status, it's the selling of status for a product that speaks for itself. This is just building in that success," said Candace Barker of Hudson's communications department. She was discussing the Coca-Cola line of clothing, known for being exceptionally well-made. Barker said it sells very well.

"It's very successful. We used to call these types of clothing 'namedroppers' - anything with a name on it," she said. Now Hudson's Northland store groups clothing and accessories according to brand name, including 160 Santa Bear-related products in their own "Fashion watches are the hottest-selling items this year. They're very fashionable at a decent price,' Barker said. She was talking about Swatch, which is into more than watches. But that comes later.

Right now she was watching model Ronnie Blaszszyk troop outside to get her picture taken in a Spuds MacKenzie sweatshirt, a fleece tribute to the party animal and his (or, as we recently have discovered, her) favorite after-hours beverage.

BARKER GENERALLY agrees with the idea that cloaking yourself in a company emblem is a way of sharing in that company's identity and success. Precious few countries don't know about Coca-Cola. Wouldn't you like to be known worldwide?

Back to Swatch. At Jacobson's in Livonia, saleswoman and model Shawne Marie Pickarski is in a mini-skirt, top and socks made by Swatch. She's wearing Swatch watches. Several of them.

"Swatch is very big," she says. "The kids don't think about advertising, they just think Swatch. That's

"But there are some things we've gotten in that won't sell if they're not fashionable," she added, yanking a sweater off the clearance rack. She pointed out that while it is a brand name, it isn't attractive, isn't well-made and pays no attention to detail. A loser.

ANOTHER WINNER, according to Pickarski and Kelley, is Camp Beverly Hills attire, featuring the logos of that clothing manufacturing firm.

AST WEEK I promised I would share some wonderful finds with you. This column and the next will be devoted to just that.

I like to see personal touches in a room — memorabilia, a collection of whatever piques your interest, anything that says something about you. Your home should be an expression of you, not the designer. That is pulled to the control of the contro

There is an old art form, which in the hands of a young artist, David Levin, has taken on new and exciting dimension. I can only say I find his work more interesting than that of any of the well known photographic artists, past or present. At first glance, it is difficult to determine if he has created a photograph or a painting. It's almost as though he has created a new art

To quote Levin: "I grew up with a love of film, comic book art and mystery stories. The elements of lighting and mood of noir films of the 1940s, the dark shapes and outlines of comics and the cryptic development of mystery stories, have led me to these isolated, dark, quiet photographic images."

Levin heads the audio-visual department of Henry Ford Hospital. Collections of his photographs appeared in the Detroit Institute of Arts in 1983. Among other places, his work has been exhibited are Union Street Gallery, New York City; San Francisco Institute Gallery, San Francisco, University of Michigan Rackham Gallery, Ann Arbor, and others. He also is on the board of Michigan Friends of Photography.

There is a very special quality to this young man and it comes through in his work. Meeting him has been most pleasurable and I wish to share this pleasure with you. All this leads to the fact that I am planning an exhibit early next spring, which will include the works of Muriel Jacobs, my own collection of paintings by Richard Jerzy, along with his personal appearance and the work of David Levin. I will keep you informed as we go along as to date and place.

Q. I am running out of space in my office. Any general suggestions?

A. Thanks to the information revolution, everyone is being inundated with the written word. Our reading stacks, file cabinets, desks, book shelves and in-baskets are bulging. We've added credenzas and computers. The sad fact is that more is coming in than is going out.

The dictionary defines the word constipate, "to crowd or pack closely together." I believe it is fair to say that many businesses suffer from office constipation.

We have to learn to be extremely selective in what we allow ourselves to keep, or otherwise our offices become all stopped up

IF ARE behind on reading, you must do one of two things: either increase your reading time or admit you will never get around to it and pass the rest on unread. Remove your name from every subscription and routing slip possible. See if reports can be condensed for easy scanning.

I once saw a cartoon that read, "Before you throw that out, Miss Jones, make a copy." If saving items for reference is a problem, then you must understand that you alone cannot maintain a public or industry library. Attempt an "In today — Out today" philosophy. On the average, if you can pass out an amount equal to what comes into your office daily, you will never suffer from office constipation. If you can't, you may suffer growing pains.

By C. L. Rugenstein special writer

HERE WAS a time when a doorknob was just that — a doorknob, it functioned anonymously.

Now, however, with increased interest in the decorative aspects of hardware, window pulls, hinges, even kitchen sinks! have become high fashion. Or, as one shopper at Russell Hardware in Birmingham put it, "Hardware is like the jewelry on my cabinets — and I want the right accessories."

Supplying these accessories is the business of Jack McBride, president of Russell Hardware, and his brother Bill And despite the fact that they're a specialty hardware — "We really don't carry anything but hardware for doors, or kitchen and bath accessories," McBride said — they're doing turnaway business with homeowners.

"We marvel everyday at the numbers of people who come in here, and where they come from," McBride shook his head. It's not unusual, he says, to have customers come in daily from Windsor, Flint, or as far away as Indiana, which just shows "these things are probably not available locally."

AND WHAT THINGS they are. Doorknobs, in all shapes, sizes and finishes, to mix or match, are some of the items the McBrides' long distance shoppers come in for.

For instance, "People didn't realize they could buy brass doorknobs without a lacquer finish" so they could tarnish for an antique look, McBride explained. Or that lever handles could be backed with round handles on the other side of the door. Or that two different finishes could be mixed: one woman bought a chrome knob to match her chromeframed powder room mirror and backed it with a brass knob to match the rest of her decor.

Russell Hardware is also one of the few places locally to stock Soss hinges — hinges that are invisible when the door is closed. Invented in Detroit by Henry Soss who'd made hinges for car doors, they're hard to find, and "very expensive." McBride Door accoutrements even come custommade. On one hanging display panel (bolted down to discourage theft) are several styles of drawer and door pulls created by Birmingham jewelry designer James Starr.

And greeting customers at the front entrance is an array of door knockers. Traditional lions' heads share space with not-as-common wolves heads. There are also oversized acorns, pineapples, and for the aquatically minded, three different varieties of scallops — Atlantic, Pacific, and bay, custom-made by Colby Smith of Maine.

MCBRIDE BELIEVES this avid interest in fashion hardware is part of a trend toward more homeowner involvement in the building and renovation of homes.

"For many years the pattern was to contract with the builder for the 'For many years, the pattern was to contract with the builder for the house, he built it, and while the homeowner made a lot of selections, hardware wasn't one of them.'

house, he built it, and while the homeowner made a lot of selections, hardware wasn't one of them," Mc-Bride said. Hardware was something the builder generally bought at the lumberyard or general hardware with more thought for function than fashion.

"Now, homeowners have a greater say, and consequently they're spending more money — that much is evident in our sales." McBride added.

But lucrative as the homeowner business is, McBride's first love, as was his father's, is the builder's hardware side of the business.

"Actually we specialize in builder's hardware," he pointed out. "Russell Hardware was built on business from new construction."

FROM THE TIME his grandfather J. Harry McBride (one time mayor of Birmingham, 1922-1923) founded the business in 1917 they've always had a contractors side to the business. As McBride's, as it was known then, moved from place to place in the city they added more builders to their steady customers. At one time McBride's father bid on supplying hardware for new construction at the Fisher building.

When the opportunity came to sell out the old McBride's general hardware, McBride's father took it and opened Russell Hardware, in 1952.

Since then they've supplied the hardware for such diverse projects as pizza king Tom Monaghan's world headquarters in Ann Arbor, the Hotel St. Regis, Jacobson's stores, and Mackinac Island's Grand Hotel.

They've also done a lot of renovation work like the Wheeler Opera House in Aspen, Colo., and the Livingston County Courthouse. A current project is Detroit's Wayne County Courthouse, built in 1902.

"It's a beautiful building," Mc-Bride enthused. "The glass panel at the entrance is the original Tiffany, as are all the transoms along the first floor corridor."

But Russell's job is to restore all the door hardware — five floors worth in three different styles, mostly Italian.

"We've had over 250 pieces of doorknob and escutcheon parts combined to replicate to match existing parts where things are missing, or stolen." McBride paused, chuckling. "Fifty years ago it was just another piece of hardware — now, it gets

WRITEIT AND REAP.

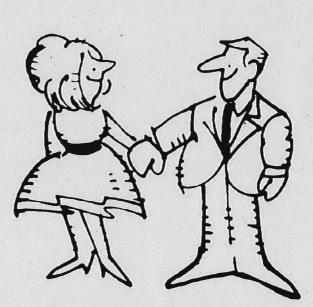

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

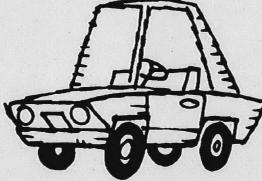

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

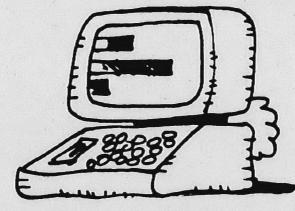

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.
