Township meetings to hit the airwaves

BY SUE BUCK STAFF WRITER

Whether it's road paving or tax abatements, rezoning or site plans, residents can relax in their homes while watching Plymouth Township governmental meetings beginning early next year.

"Right now they are talking about both regular township board meetings and planning commission meetings, said Kevin Brown, an administrative aide in the supervisor's department.

Brown, who has done the research for the startup, is also expected to be the person who staffs the control room. The township board will seek bids for the sound and video system. Cablecasting board meetings was an issue often brought up by candidates who ran in the August primary.

The project is expected to cost $82,000 and will be paid for almost completely by Media One through franchise fees, Brown said.

Ann Arbor-based Thainer Electronics Laboratories was chosen as the consultants, based on their work to improve the sound in the Plymouth City Commission Chamber, and they were also recommended by other municipalities, Brown said.

"All video and sound equipment can be moved to another facility if a new township hall is built," Brown said

The video system features one operator running three wall-mounted video cameras from a control panel. One camera shows the whole board in what is called an "establishing shot." The Defense attorney Michael Schwartz was on the offensive Tuesday, charging Plymouth police didn't properly investigate the murder of former Plymouth resident Tracy Islam.

In fact, Schwartz went on the attack while cross-examining Plymouth police Commander Wayne Carroll, claiming Carroll arrested Azizul Islam in the death of Tracy, his estranged wife, before the body was identified.

"You arrested Dr. Islam for murdering his wife, even though you didn't know his wife was dead because there was no positive I.D. of the body," Schwartz shouted at Carroll. Schwartz also criticized Carroll for ignoring evidence he said could lead to the real killers.

Azizul Islam is charged with murdering his wife Dec. 20. then dismembering the body. The limbs, with mutilated fingertips, were found in a dumpster at an A&W Restaurant in Dearborn. The torso was found in a field northeast of Toledo. Investigators have yet to find the head

During questioning by the prosecution, Carroll testified he had information that the limbs found in Dearborn matched the torso found in Ohio, However, Carroll said he didn't know the body was that of Tracy Islam when he arrested Asisul Islam.

"We had probable cause to believe she was the same person," said Carroll.

When asked by Schwarts if there were any fingerprints on the body of Tracy Islam, or on the bags her body was wrapped in, Carroll testified "no."

When questioned if he had any real evidence of where Tracy died, Carroll said, "I believe we do have evidence where she died." Carroll was referring to the basement of the Islam residence on Roe Street, where a death investigation dog turned up blood and other evidence.

Schwartz asked if Carroll knew who cut up the body. He replied, "I believe Dr. Islam did."

Earlier, Carroll testified that when he first asked Asisul if he did something to Tracy "he denied it."

"I asked if he hired someone and he said, 'check my record, how do I hire somebody if I don't take any money other two cameras can pan and focus by remote control.

This type of video system is what local municipal governments are going to," Brown said. "Canton, Plymouth, Farmington Hills, Novi, and Schoolcraft College are among those that already use this format. People who know video production of government meetings in several neighboring towns agree that remote cameras operated in a booth by a single operator is the way to go."

Livonia is switching to this system, he said. Berkley, which, like Livonia, uses a system where volunteers operate tripod-mounted cameras, also plans to go this way.

However Berkley officials told Brown that finding dependable volunteers is a problem. They plan eventually to go to a system like the one being proposed for Plymouth Township.

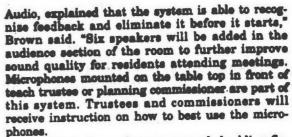

Livonia, which televises meetings with volunteers using hand-operating cameras, will also go out for bids for one like planned for Plymouth Township because officials there also said volunteers are hard to find, Brown said.

The audio system is controlled by a personal computer. Pre-sets for each televised recorded

Contractor bags size problems in township trash hauler contract

BY SUE BUCK STAFF WRITER

Tagging oversized trash and compost containers will resume Oct. 9 as Plymouth Township officials smooth out snags with Republic Waste Services of Michigan, the new trash hauler who began work in July.

A final notice will be placed on containers the week of Oct. 16. Larger containers will not be serviced effective Oct. 23.

The township will tag containers placed curbside which exceed a 35 gallon capacity or weigh more than 50 pounds when filled. Containers should be constructed of plastic, metal, or fiberglass with sturdy handles.

"The transition that was proposed to be seamless had seams and needed the seamstress te come in and button them up." Plymouth Township Director of Public Services Jim Anulewicz said.

Each customer will receive a postcard about the program next week. Residents will also receive a newsletter during the week of Oct. 9-13.

Both township and Republic officials had predicted a seamless transition at the beginning of the contract. Republic was the low bidder and won out over Waste Management, the previous trash hauler.

Though there was a cease-anddesist period for container tagging, Anulewicz said the hauler will again tag. The problem with oversized containers was noticed by Waste Management but because they were nearing the end of their contract, the township decided to wait to enforce weight limits.

In the meantime, Stephanie Glysson, Republic's director of

I 'The transition that vas proposed to be stress to come in and button them up.'

Jim Anulewicz -Director of Public Services

governmental affairs said the company is picking up everything regardless of size. "We had ceased tagging containers because the township didn't want us to tag," Glysson said. "Over 60 percent of the residents whose containers were tagged were brought into compliance," she said.

Anulewicz said during his Sept. 20 meeting with Republic Waste Services, they indicated substantial compliance with the container size program except for the Wednesday pickup day, which had not been notified.

Safety problems.

He has also asked that Republic take extreme care in making sure that the tags are attached so they don't blow away and so they will be quickly recognized as a message when the container is retrieved by the owner.

Oversized garbage cans pose a safety hazard for the workers who empty them, according to Gregory Custer, general manager for Republic Services of Michigan in a Sept. 22 letter to Anulewicz.

"With an increased use of the larger cans throughout the state, all waste haulers have found an increased rate of injuries to employees from lifting them," Custer said. "When fully loaded, they can be too heavy for work-ers to lift over the tailgates of the trucks. The average trash loader lifts between 1,000 and 1,200 trash containers a day. Employees aren't permitted to reach into the cans to dislod or remove materials because the chance for cuts or puncture woods is much greater.

The company has always intended to enforce the 35-gallon limit as stated in the township contract, he said. This enforcement was accelerated when one of the employees pulled his back muscles after lifting an oversized container.

"After discussions with the township DPW staff, it was agreed we should provide residents with at least two weeks notice prior to tagging with a final notice tag," Custer said.

Though Republic uses Teamsters workers, the contract doesn't stipulate how much a worker can lift, Glysson said.

Within range

The enforcement is consistent with the 30-33 gallon size restrictions which are common throughout southeast Michigan, Custer said. "This concept is not new to the township as your previous service provider had made the same request back in the beginning of the year but was asked to refrain enforcement due to the pending conclusion of their contract," Custer said. "It is also important to note that over 50 percent of the communities in southeast Michigan have imposed similar bans in the past year including Livonia, Sterling Heights and Farmington Hills."

Earlier this month, Anulewicz called the collection containers issue "a total disaster in its

Filtering legislation catches rest of state up with Plymouth library

Come Oct. 1, minors will no longer freely navigate public library computers.

Recent legislation dictates that all Michigan public libraries will use filters, either human or software-based, to restrict minors' access to the something. The law, signed by Gov. John Engler in June, mandates that if a public library offers computers with access to the Internet, the library's governing body must enforce a policy restricting access to minors.

Internet.

While most Michigan libraries scramble to enact policies and buy software, Plymouth District Library has done nothing. The library enacted an Internet access policy when it first went online three years ago, and it's sticking with it.

"I don't think this act will change anything here in the short run," said director Patricia Thomas.

The current policy stipulates that no user can display or transmit sexually explicit or suggestive materials. Before users log on to the Internet, they must agree to the policy.

"We've had no problems with enforcement," Thomas said.

She said most on-line users are adults, many of them senior citizens.

"The legislation says we have to do something to ensure safety," Thomas said. "We can do a number of things, and we're comfortable with that, as long as the legislation allows us to do it in a community setting." She said the act is not a big deal, but it's an issue of ongoing concern.

On Wednesday, the library board voted to use a filtering device, which is software that limits access to certain Web sites. The library's only freeaccess area will be the adultsonly Internet Lab, which is under construction. It should open by the first of the year, with 22 adult stations.

"This is the most difficult issue I'll ever face," said Jean Tabor, director of the Canton Public Library.

When construction is complete, the Canton library will have 100 computers online.

The problem with filters, Tabor recognizes, is they don't always work. The goal is to heep out cyber predators and ques tionable content, but m filters proscribe material th shouldn't and den't fil al they should.

"No one was really

Use systems or methods designed to prevent minors from viewing obscene or sexually explicit matter.

Provide one or more restricted terminals for people of any age and reserve - for people 18 or older, or minors who are accompanied by their parent or guardian - one or more unrestricted terminals.

The law immunizes public libraries and their boards from liability in a civil action. The law doesn't apply to libraries at colleges, universities or private libraries.

Librarians across the state are concerned this law may provide a slippery slope, leading to restricted Internet access for everyone.

Lawyer Cynthia Faulhaber said the real question is the level to which minors enjoy First Amendment rights. The attorney, who works for Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, represents the Canton and Plymouth libraries.

She said the Supreme Court has regularly determined you can distinguish free-speech rights between adults and children. "But we've never had a law for children that hasn't affected adults," she added.

"The Constitution presumes all speech is protected, so a library must prove that any speech, in this case a Web at is obscame (or unprotected)," a said. "A public library w need a great deal of th tionable site on the end, it may be ly deay they methodology and procedures." Haas received more than 700 complaints, he said.

"My experience with the residents is that they will, in fact, cooperate in programs of this nature; however, they must feel part of the program and must be communicated within a logical manner and approach," he said. "This has not been the case. As with any new contract transition, there is a learning curve for all involved at the commencement."

Pump up the volume

Fie added that volumes are greater than those reported last year. "Waste volumes are up 44-48 percent, compost volumes up 70-84 percent, with recycling volumes up slightly," he said.

Republic added two additional trucks last week to accommodate this unexpected volume increase, he said.

"Most days, routes have been

🔳 'These times will only continue to improve with the cooperation of all residents."

completed in a reasonable time," Custer said. "These times will only continue to improve with the cooperation of all the residents. Even though we spent weeks observing the previous contractors' service to determine existing routes and times of service, it was impossible to pin down any specifics about each route. The township was also unable to provide use with such routing specifics."

The same route days have been followed by Republic Waste. However, the specific pickup time that residents had become accustomed to may not be the sane.

It's important that the 7 a.m. ordinance must be complied with. For example, trash previously collected by Waste Management at 8 or 9 a.m. may not be picked up until 2 or 3 p.m. which sometimes gave residents the impression that they had been missed.

Times may vary occasionally due to unusual circumstances such as landfill delays, weather conditions, road construction, light or heavy volumes for solid waste, recycling and compost, occasional breakdowns, or a variety of other reasons, he said. Republic Waste Services has always gone back to service those residents who have been classified as "late set-outs," Custer said.

of the testimony? Her children. It's an ugly truth that prosecutors do whatever it takes to secure a conviction. As Mike Lehto points out in the Islam case, Joseph and Anna were the only other people in the Roe Street home they shared with their parents. It's incumbent upon the prosecution to find out whatever they know. Unfortunately, it's also unpleasant, and it has been from the start.

Joseph Islam was 16 when his mother disappeared; his sister, Anna, just 14. Her disappearance Dec. 20 didn't really surprise them; Mom had left the previous August, hoping for bigger paychecks and fewer marital problems in her native England. The children talked her into returning to Plymouth for a holiday visit, and she arrived Dec. 16, with a return ticket for Christmas Eve. As everyone knows now, she never made it back. But when she disappeared Dec. 20, sadly, no one took much notice.

When she'd gone to England in August, she'd left notes for everyone. This time, nothing.

Not a word, not a peep, not a slip of paper saying good-bye. Two days earlier, she'd told the family she wanted to go back earlier than her expected Dec. 24 departure. So, on Dec. 20, when she was gone, the children took no real notice. On the stand Wednesday, Anna Islam said, "We just treated it like a regular day.

How sad is it when a mother leaves, and her own children barely acknowledge it?

In testimony Tuesday, Joseph Islam said the family had argued Saturday, Dec. 18, and his mother admitted she "didn't want the house, didn't want the marriage and didn't want the kids." He admitted he believed his mother was cheating on his father with another man in England.

Why should a son have to say anything like that about his mother at all, much less on a tiny witness stand in a small courtroom in front of press and spectators? Because the truth must come out, no matter the consequence. Sacrifice the feelings of a mother's children if you must, but get it on the record.

So there was Lehto, hammering away at Joseph for hours about details great and small. Some of them were germane to his case; others, not so much. He kept Anna on the stand for 90 minutes Wednesday and learned nothing new. Still, they were questions that had to be asked.

Was he worried about being viewed as badgering the children?

"It's always delicate," Lehto said. "(But) They were the only other people in the house that night. You have to find out what they know."

Maybe so. But haven't the children suffered enough, their mother dead, their father accused of her murder? Do wounds only now perhaps beginning to heal need to be ripped open in the pursuit of a conviction? Lehto and Kelly Gleason say yes, regrettable as that may be. But I wonder.

When the trial is over, Azizul Islam will either be acquitted or imprisoned, and the system will say, "Justice is done."

Ask the Islam children then whether that's true.

Ethylene glycol, a common ingredient in most brands of antifreeze, is extremely toxic to dogs and cats. When ethylene glycol is metabolized, substances are produced that can damage the kidneys and central nervous system. The animal may exhibit depression, signs of alcohol intoxication, or vomiting. When kidney slamage occurs, urine output decreases and is eventually nonexistent. Vomiting, mouth sores, increasingly bad breath, and severe depression may occur. Coma and death often follow ethylene glycol poisoning. Poisoning often occurs when antifreeze leaks from the car's cooling system or when antifreeze is changed. If summer home plumbing systems hold antifreeze in the colder months, systems should be flushed out completely before pets are allowed inside.

Carroll said Azizul later asked if he could get protection if he made bail. When Carroll asked protection from whom, Azizul reportedly said "bad people."

"He (Azizul) looked me right in the eye and said 'I want you to know you were right, I didn't mean to do anything to harm Tracy," testified Carroll. "I said Azizul talked to him while on

'did you hire someone to harm Tracy? and he said 'yes.' I said 'did you hire someone to harm Tracy and they went too far?' and he said 'yes.' I said 'were they supposed to kill Tracy? He said 'no.

Carroll said the next day he went to question Azizul in the jail cell and could hear Azizul crying.

"He was huddled in a far corner and looked up and said, 'Don't look at me. I'm a criminal. I disgraced my family. I did a bad thing," Carroll testified.

Carroll said that during the February preliminary exam the way back to the jail.

"He said he wanted me to know that he wasn't the one who actually killed Tracy," said Carroll. "He said 'Now that you've identified her, I with her buried in a mosque."

Carroll testified that Azizul Islam was the only suspect police investigated.

Meanwhile, Schwartz used various witnesses in an attempt to discover how Tracy Islam's body had a .05 alcohol level. Everyone who has testified, including Joseph, daughter Anna, sister Anita Ross and Tracy's boyfriend from England have all said Tracy never drank at home, but would have a drink socially.

Schwartz appears to be laying the groundwork that Tracy me someone for a drink early on Monday, Dec. 20, and was never seen again.

Earlier'this week, John and Dawn Bassett from Curtis, Ohid, testified they saw a man of Middle Eastern or Italian descett standing next to a white van in a field where the torso was found."

Azizul Islam, who is from Bangladesh, rented a white val from Dick Scott Dodge that same day. Police theorize Azizul use the van to transport the torse the field in northeast Ohio.

Barbara Hastings doesn't care how many out-of-state technicians Ameritech brings to Michigan - she just hopes one of them buries her telephone cable. She's only been waiting since around Easter.

"I would like to have the line buried before it snows," the Livonia resident said Monday in discussing her long-running problem with the local telephone service provider.

Hastings' complaint and those of many others statewide - plus pressure from Public Service Commission hearings - prompt-ed Ameritech and its parent company, SBC Communications Inc. of Dallas, Texas, to bring in 124 technicians and managers to try to correct things.

324 "experienced and qualified" personnel on the backlog.

are focused in the Livonia, Ply-

Plymouth-Canton sports editor. It was Easter weekend late in April when a big rainstorm hit and Hastings' phone went out. Ameritech replaced the cable promptly, but left it above ground, telling her it would get buried "in two months."

In July, they promised again, but still no results. So last week she sent a complaint to Ameritech, with a copy to the PSC.

Along sidewalk

The cable runs along a side-walk beside her house. "I go out that way a lot of times to walk the dog" in the evenings and must remember it's there to uvoid tripping, Hastings said.

It's the first such problem she's had since moving to Michigan in 1961.

Maggie Lin of Canton, 2 1/2, serves herself some plastic pizza as she plays house in her Head Start class at the Historic Sheldon School one-room schoolhouse on Michigan Avenue in Canton.

Home, sweet home

Head Start sets up shop in new digs

BY TRACEY BIRKENHAUER STAFF WRITER

Sheldon School inched one step closer to its roots on Friday.

The one-room schoolhouse built with children in mind now houses Starfish Family Services Plymouth-Canton Head Start, a federally funded program for disadvantaged 3- and 4-yearolds.

During Friday's open house, participating children and their parents rushed into the 1868 schoolhouse for a few hours of fun, learning and interaction.

Children played in soapy water and sand, painted pictures and moved blocks. Parents watched, played and asked questions.

"I was very impressed when I came in," said Kristin Cooper, mother of Madalyn (Molly) Rose, a 4 1/2-year-old Head Starter. "I really love this place. Molly just loves coming. She was so excited, she couldn't sleep last night." II 'I really love this place. Molly just loves coming. She was so excited, she couldn't sleep last night.'

> Kristin Cooper —Head Start parent

Cooper said her daughter has learned social, relationship and play skills. She even learned how to brush her teeth.

Since 1965, Head Start has offered children and their families a free child development program that promotes school readiness.

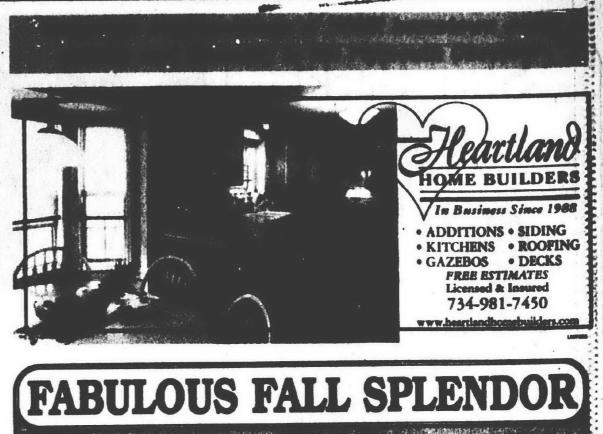

For families to enroll children in Head Start, they must live in the school district and have an income below poverty level. Some exceptions are made for foster children and children with physical or developmental disabilities. Teacher Patty Donnarumma credits the Head Start program with many of her own successes. She and teaching assistant Danielle Pusilo head the Sheldon School program, with 17 children in the morning and 17 in the afternoon. Classes meet four days a week.

"I was a Head Start parent myself," Donnarumma said. "If not for Head Start, I wouldn't be where I am today and neither would my daughter."

On Sept. 12, the Canton Township Board of Trustees approved a five-year lease to Starfish Family Services, the organization hired by Wayne County to administer the local Head Start program. Until last year, Wayne Regional Educational Service Agency administered Head Start and classes were held at Central Middle School.

For Proposal 2: Scott Schrager, left, of the Michigan Municipal league argues in favor of the home rule amendment. Farmington Hills Council Member Vicki Barnett and Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey offered their support.

Against Proposal 2: Rich Studley of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce makes a point against the home rule proposal. Maxine McClelland of Big Rapids Township also opposes the plan.

2 sides debate home rule proposal

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE malotte

A string of decisions by state lawmakers to override decisions made at the local level is what led to the petition drive to place the proposed "Let Local Votes Count" constitutional amendment on the ballot, according to Scott Schrager of the Michigan Municipal League.

"It came about because a group of our members believed that the years 1999 and 1998 the last legislative session, had reached really a culmination of the history of too much interference in the prerogatives of local decision-making," he explained. "In the aftermath of what I call the legislative triple-header the pre-emption of local construction codes, the pre-emption of local residency requirements; and the pre-emption of local zoning as it regarded large manufacture farming operations these mayors concluded it was necessary to proceed with an initiative to make a change.

But the amendment, now known as Proposal 2 on the Nov. 7 ballot, is like "killing a fly with ley of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

"The primary impact of this proposal on local government is to lock in place, to freeze in place today, virtually all of the current laws regarding local government. That will benefit some cities at the expense of others. It will benefit cities at the expense of townships and cities at the expense of counties," Studley concluded.

Schrager and Studley met with reporters and editors of the HomeTown Communications a shotgun," countered Rich Stud- Network recently to talk about the pros and cons of the amendment. They were joined by several local officials who offered their own views on the issue, including Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey and Farmington Hills City Council Member Vicki Barnett, who are proponents of the proposal, and Maxine McClelland, supervisor of Big Rapids Township in Mecosta County. On the board of the Michigan Townships Association, McClelland is opposed to the amendment.

Residency rule

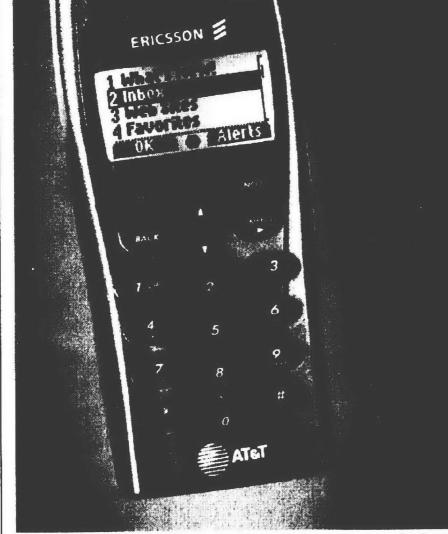

This past spring, shortly after the Legislature voted to end residency requirements for city employees across the state, municipal officials working with the Municipal League launched the petition drive. The amendment placed on the ballot would require a two-thirds vote of the state House of Representatives and Senate whenever they attempt to pass a bill that "intervenes, or increases the scope of the Legislature's intervention, in the municipal concerns, property or government of a city, village, county, township or municipal authority." The effective date of the amendment is retroactive to March 1, 2000.

While the Municipal League formed a ballot campaign committee known as "Let Local Votes Count" to push for passage, the Michigan Chamber of Commerce put together a coalition of organizations to oppose it known as Citizens for Common Sense Government.

"What will happen, if this ballot proposal is approved, is that anytime the legislature approves a bill that someone doesn't like, one of the 30,000 attorneys in this state will pull Black's Law Dictionary or Webster's Dictionary off the shelf and look up the definition of 'intervene," Studley predicted. Kirksey sees it differently. "If this fails, I would think you would have a green light in Lansing with the Legislature saying that the population doesn't see anything inherently sacred about local control," he predicted. "And they are going to have a field day. What was put on the back burner, to take away local povers, will now become the agenda."

Strong tradition

Michigan has a long and strong tradition of local control. Home rule is supported in the state Constitution. But local control has been a frequent issue in the legislature over the past two years. The battle over residency requirements was only the latest. After numerous attempts by lawmakers over the past 30 years to outlaw rules in some communities that municipal employees must live inside the city limits, the Republican majority was successful in passing the bill this spring. Among the most vocal opponents was Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer, who said he feared the end of that requirement could lead to an exodus from the city by Detroit employees

Also this spring, local officials faced off with legislators over House Bill 4777, a proposal by Rep. Robert Gosselin, R-Troy, which would pre-empt local ordinances in 14 areas of law. The most controversial of those were pre-emptions of local minimum wage laws and smoking bans in restaurants. The Michigan Chamber of Commerce supported 4777, on the grounds that businesses shouldn't have to worry about the rules changing in each community they do business in. Local officials opposed it, arguing such laws are an expression of the will of local voters. House Bill 4777 never left committee

Local officials should have control, Kirksey argued. Municipal officials "believe it is essential to preserve their ability to be empowered to do what they have been elected to do by their local constituents," he said. Failure of the amendment would shift power upward, to the Legislature, where it is often difficult for residents to have an impact on proposals, or even to track bills as they proceed through the Legislature.

Close to the people

"Local government is the government that is closest to the people," Barnett said. "It is the government that is most respected by citizens because they see us at in the grocery store. They see us at high school events. They see us in the community. And they know when they come to us, we intervene and we get the job done."

Studley argues that the state is supposed to serve a check on the powers of local government.

"There is no groundswell of support across the state of Michigan for unlimited local government," he said.

McClelland argued that while some local governments would benefit from the amendment, others would not. While cities may have home rule authority, townships rely on state legislation for enabling authority. They can't act except in areas where the state says they can, a difference from the authority of city charters.

She also said it would lock into place rules about the distribution of road funding and revenue sharing. At present, Detroit gets $285.96 per person in revenue sharing, but most other communities get much less, McClelland said. For example, Farmington Hills gets $35.70 per person and Livonia gets only $51.78 in revenue sharing.

"This is excellent legislation for the city of Detroit," she said. "If I were Dennis Archer, mayor of the city of Detroit, I would want to lock in the status quo." Revenue sharing and read funding wouldn't be affected, Schrager argued. The wording of the amendment would require the two-thirds majority only when the Legislature is preempting local communities in areas of law where the municipality could act "by charter provisions, ordinances, resolutions or contracts." Local governments cannot act to change revenue sharing or road funding. So when addressing those issues, lawmakers would need only a simply majority, 51 percent, to approve bills, Schrager explained.

Retroactive

Studley contended the effective date of the bill, retroactive back to March 1, is intended to allow municipalities to challenge both the residency bill and the Right to Farm Act. He noted that the March 1 date is nine days before the effective date of both those bills.

Schrager contended those two bills would not be affected because they were "enacted" earlier. The March 1 date was not an attempt to overturn residency, he said.

Asked about specific bills, and whether the amendment would require a two-thirds vote by lawmakers - bills such as electric deregulation and the rewrite of Michigan's telecommunications law - Schrager and Studley disagreed on whether the amendment would even apply.

Studley said that is because the amendment is "vague and broadly worded."

Schrager countered that in fact the amendment is quite well "focused." He said "erms like "intervene" and "municipal concerns" are well defined elseAmeritech from page A7

He told them that was "unacceptable." We have children here and we're working off of cell phones' in portable classrooms, he told them. What if we have an emergency and these cell phones go dead because we're using them so much?"

Ameritech? "They're a mess," he said disgustedly.

Three days

Risak has been without a working phone in his Farmington Hills home since the end of July. The lone repair lasted three days, "then there was a lot of static on the line and it went out again," he said. Now he's been told to wait until Oct. 18. He's thankful for his cellular phone - but it's become expensive: "I get the run-around" from Ameritech, he said. And he's paying by the minute for cellular.

When he calls, he said, he gets put on hold, then gats switched to the billing department, which asks him, "Why did they switch you here?" and sends him back to repair.

Then repair says, "Wait, I'll run a check," and comes back to tell him, "There's no dial tone."

"I know that," the frustrated Risak responds.

He then is asked some highly technical question, such as what model transformer is in his back yard. But that's as far as things get.

Sisters take sides when it comes to their football favorites

BY ALICE ASHMORE STAFF WRITER

Casual passersby might deem the Paris household to be a just little conflicted in the college loyalty department.

A blue and maize University of Michigan flag keeps company with a green and white Eastern Michigan University banner on the front of the Canton Township house.

In truth, the Paris family has a cheerleader at each university. "Someone came down the other day and asked what was going on," said Linda Paris. "Some people are kind of taken aback when we say we have two cheerleaders in the family.

Her husband Gary said, "(Recently) we were taking people to the University of Michigan game. They pulled up to our house and did a double take."

"I try to be separate but equal, but there is just not as much EMU stuff out there as U of M," said Linda, who works as a secretary for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Stephanie Thompson, 20, Paris' daughter, has cheered for three years for U-M. She is a junior in the School of Nursing. Rachel Paris, 20, is the daughter of Gary and is Linda's stepdaughter. She has been a cheerleader at EMU for the past two years and is a junior majoring in business. The family does a weekly juggling act in an effort to attend both games. "Sometimes they overlap," Gary said.

Plans for last weekend included taking in three-quarters of the U-M game before leaving for the Eastern Michigan game. "So I can catch one-half to threequarters of the EMU game," Gary said.

He feels a sense of pride at both football games. "It makes you proud that they are out there.

Though related by marriage for only two years, the girls have known each other since they were in kindergarten, and were best friends for a time in elementary school.

"They were both cheerleaders together in high school at John Glenn in Westland," Linda said. They share a common bond through cheering.

"I can go home and talk to her about things in 'cheerleading language' - things only other cheerleaders would understand. I think that's really good," Rachel said.

"We get along really well. I've helped her with her tumbling," Stephanie said.

Everyone in the family agrees on one aspect of the situation ... "Cheerleading is not considered." a sport. It is not given any. respect," Linda said.

She said it is not uncommon for both girls to lift weights at 6 a.m. three times a week. "Theyare constantly practicing.'

Thompson said her squad: works out three times a week, and practices for several hours. twice a week.

Besides games, the cheerleaders must attend pep rallies,assemblies, public appearances. and fund-raisers, Linda said.

"There are no cheerleading. scholarships in Michigan," she: said.

She said schools in other states do offer scholarships to cheerleaders. "More in the Southern states," she said.

"At Eastern cheerleading is not considered a sport," said Rachel.

She said cheerleaders receive none of the benefits of other athletes such as pre-registration for classes and varsity jackets.

"We work just as hard as the other sports," Rachel said.

What Thompson loves the most about the sport is, "going to the games. They are so exciting and awesome. It is an opportunity that not many people get inlife.'

Her mother gets the same sense of excitement. "I get goosebumps. No matter what, you are there at the games and you are proud of them," Linda said.

VP/COO

Dick Agnien PRESIDENT Philip Power CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the hometowns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

Law is quandary — not just for library directors

The Plymouth and Canton libraries are taking different approaches in dealing with a new state law governing Internet use by children. That there is so little agreement on how to best implement Public Act 212- which calls for Michigan public libraries to adopt and enforce a policy that restricts minors' access to the Internet - is indicative of the questions it leaves unanswered.

Are all Web sites – even those carrying explicitly violent or sexual content – protected under the First Amendment? Do minors have the same free-speech rights as adults? Is filtering software reliable? Do public libraries have an obligation to parents to ensure a suitable environment for children? What is a suitable environment for children?

We could go on and on. But that's usually the case when legislators get on the morality bandwagon.

The law, signed by Gov. John Engler in June, takes effect Sunday. It requires libraries to do one of the following: Use systems or methods designed to prevent minors from viewing obscene or sexually explicitly matter.

Provide one or more restricted terminals for people of any age – and reserve – for people 18 or older, or minors who are accompanied by their parent or guardian – one or more unrestricted terminals.

The law immunized public libraries and their boards from liability in a civil action and it doesn't apply to private libraries or libraries at colleges and universities.

In Canton, the Library Board of Trustees voted Wednesday to install filtering software on a majority of the 100 computers that will be online at the Canton Public Library. That represents a change from previous library policy of having minors sign a pledge not to visit inappropriate Web sites.

Because the library is in the midst of an expansion project, installation probably won't be finished until later this year, said Jean Tabor, library director. An adults-only Internet lab with 22 stations will be the only free-access area.

"No one was really happy about making this decision. But we had to do something," Tabor said.

Even the best filtering software can make it difficult for people to do legitimate research over the Web. Librarians will tell you they are available to assist when problems arise. But some children may be uneasy or embarrassed about calling in any adult – parent or otherwise – for help.

The Plymouth District Library, meanwhile, has decided to stand pat with the Internet access policy it first adopted three years ago, which says that no user can display or transmit sexually explicit or suggestive materials. It, too, requires users of all ages to agree to the policy before logging onto the Internet.

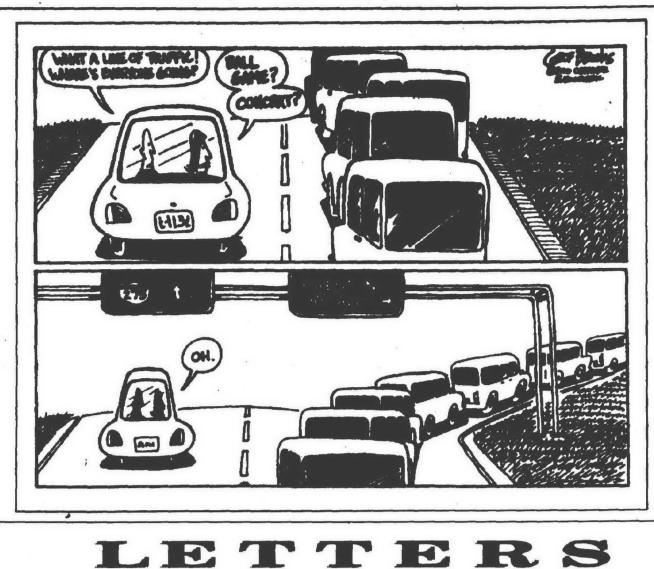

"We've had no problems with enforcement," said library Director Patricia Thomas.

Some libraries are requiring parents to monitor their own children on library computers in order to comply with the law, Tabor noted. The Observer believes that kind of oversight is counterproductive to the opportunities for unhindered learning which should be part of every public library's mission statement. And we wonder what kind of society we are creating when it's OK to drop our children off unattended at the local shopping mall – but not the library.

No one can argue that taxpayer supported institutions such as schools and libraries don't have a responsibility to ensure the physical and emotional safety of children passing through their portals. Nor is it unreasonable for such institutions to require certain rules of behavior for the good of all students, patrons and staff.

The difficulty comes when we ask strangers – or computer software – to become the Value Police. That kind of one-size-fits-all decision-making doesn't seem conducive to what libraries are all about.

Columnist confused

After reading Hugh Gallagher's column "Special interest groups drive 'citizen' ballot initiatives" (Sept. 21 Observer), I wonder whether he himself is confused, or is trying to confuse the Observer readers.

Instead he should be writing a column titled "Special interest groups oppose 'citizen' ballot initiatives". I wonder whether those who oppose the citizen ballot initiatives are aware of the fact that it was in the dictatorial former Soviet Union (now defunct), where a small clique of Marxists ruled, the people had no say whatsoever how they were ruled; were not allowed to have ballot initiatives.

Mr. Gallagher quotes David Broder's arguments to support his own biased point of view. Broder's arguments regarding initiatives are conspicuously slanted, apparently to serve his and his favored faction purpose.

It seems that according to him, the initiative process was good and desirable for the advancement of liberal, often unworthy causes, but is not good for decent, traditional, conservative causes no matter how worthy.

Broder says that "our democracy is actually the triumph of special interests with big money over the best interest of the country." I agree with him on that, but I believe that he speaks for these special interests. Fortunately, there are still many of us who believe that in this country democratic processes still work. If a government by "special interests with big money" governs contrary to the best interest of the public and country the government by initiative is the most desirable alternative in a democratic system, despite the Broder's present assertion that it is a wrong idea.

real choice to parents who should be free to select the best school they can find. This is precisely what our president and governor did when they selected a private school to prepare their children. They know what small class sizes, discipline, and the benefits of moral guidance can achieve. Proposal 1 offers these same qualities for the rest of us. Give it you consideration.

> Anna Jennings Plymouth

Thanks, Plymouth

I have lived and worked in the Plymouth community for 20 plus years and it never ceases to amaze me how there is so much for all of us to be thankful for. We are living in a fastpaced era, we are running to schools, church, work, etc. We get tired, complaints fly all around us. There is road rage and on and on, but when push comes to shove I believe we are all very lucky to live and raise our families in this wonderful community.

We have heard complaints about our post office. Not from me! The men and women who work at the old post office on Penniman are all great, honest, and hard-working people.

The other day I lost a very precious about sending their children to the school. As educators, we all understand that there is not one best method for educating a child. Our school simply provides a public alternative to parents that are interested in such an alternative.

Claudia Williamson Principal, Canton Charter Academy

Lessons learned

We recently bought and moved into a used house in an area which does not require a home inspection prior to occupancy. In the process we made an unfortunate error. In our ignorance, we neglected due diligence.

We should have hired a private home inspector to examine the house. We listened to bad advice and are paying a dear price for repairs on our "new" home. This purchase should have been a pleasant and fruitful experience, but instead has become a nightmare.

Consequently, we had to hire a carpenter, a plumber, an electrician, and a handyman to perform hundreds of dollars in repairs. In addition, the last months have been spent, in part, cleaning, sometimes with a screwdriver to scrape embedded muck from window runners, and painting inside and out. Moral of the story: if you plan to buy a house, hire a reputable private inspector to thoroughly examine the place for any defects. The price of the house may be adjusted downward or the current owner may order repairs at his or her own expense. Sure there is Small Claims Court, but there is no guarantee of ever receiving ordered monies. The consciences of the past owners perceive that 10 cents on the dollar is sufficient compensation for us after they signed an affidavit that there were no problems with the house. It seems that society has produced a generation of people who trust too much, on the one hand, and, on the other, a generation which refuses to accept responsibility for its obligations and fabrications.

Ameritech woes point out need to bolster state PSC

It's time Ameritech Michigan got a wakeup call of its own as the number of complaints about its service or lack of it continue. Waiting an average 38 days – as has been reported by complaining consumers – to have telephone service repaired or installed is totally unacceptable even for a monopoly.

Continuing statewide hearings hosted by the Michigan Public Service Commission have only put the public utility's problems under further scrutiny following the receipt of almost 2,000 complaints of slow service in August alone. Setting up his own Website for the purpose, state Sen. Mike Rogers (R-Howell), who recently introduced legislation to demand some accountability, himself hand-delivered 155 similar complaints.

Deregulation was intended to promote competition, which in an ideal world perhaps would have helped lessen the stranglehold Ameritech's problems have on consumers. Short of immediate vigorous competition that would force the monopoly to improve its response time, consumers only have the PSC and the state Legislature to force Ameritech to fulfill its duties as a responsible and effective public utility.

The numbers of consumers who have attended the PSC's hearings lately only illustrates that they indeed are demanding the three-member panel to act. The PSC must stand as a sentinel and vigilantly use its greater authority, granted by the state Legislature earlier this year, to bring not only undeniable pressure to bear, but to hit Ameritech where it hurts - in the pocketbook.

We are encouraged that the PSC did just that with this week's $1.5 million fine against Ameritech over the alleged mishandling of a customer's account, despite an administrative judge's recommended $40,000 judgment. The PSC claims Ameritech violated the Michigan Telecommunications Act, which bans a phone company from making a false or misleading statement on rates, terms or charging for services customers did not request.

It is, however, equally, incumbent on the PSC to ensure that response times be brought back to the state standard of three days, not 118 hours, as reported by Ameritech representatives, or an average month, as reported by Michigan consumers.

In fact, Sen. Rogers recently introduced legislation that would amend the state telecommunications act to require that a provider of basic local exchange service – such as Ameritech – file a report with the PSC by the fifth day of each month on the average response time to a service outage request from residential customers. A provider's response time could not exceed 36 hours for any given month. Non-compliance would allow the PSC to assess a $1 million fine against the provider.

The discrepancy between what Ameritech reports and what consumers say they are experiencing under the telephone company's monopoly illustrates yet another need: a mandatory audit of the telephone company. Currently, the PSC has no means by which to double check Ameritech's claims. If claims cannot be verified, what good is the PSC's new found authority to address consumer complaints?

The state Legislature must arm the PSC's authority with weapons that can ensure action from Ameritech. A mandatory audit, not only for response times, but for the number of employees Ameritech has and of training requirements, would be effective.

Ameritech has apologized and blames its troubles on four major factors: Loss of network service employees because of voluntary retirements and resignations in 1999; unprecedented economic growth making it difficult to hire new technical employees; bad weather; and unprecedented growth and increased demand for new services.

On face value, Ameritech's claims for cause don't seem unreasonable. However, Ameritech's purchase by SBC of San Antonio, Texas, in the late 1990s, seems a more likely bet. The Michigan PSC is having trouble verifying just how many employees Ameritech has. The utility says it hasn't cut back on its workforce. Critics say that in 10 years, the employee pool declined from 16,000 in 1988 to about 12,000 in 1998. Again, this is information that the PSC cannot confirm and cannot force Ameritech to prove. Supports Proposal 1

Parents have listened for years to catchy phrases like all kids can learn, but in the end too many don't. Do you remember the disappointing 28th place finish for our eighth graders in international math tests?

When one looks at the structure of the public schools, it can be seen that when parents must use a nearby school no matter how well it is doing, there is not the needed incentive to improve. A ballot proposal will be available in November to change all this.

If it passes, parents in the lowest performing districts will have the option to move their children to a school of choice, even if it is private. Later, local elections will be possible to let the majority in Plymouth decide if school choice makes sense.

Parents making this move will receive half of normal funding to help them. Another feature in this proposal is a mandatory teacher test for competency, something that all the local control in the world can't seem to make happen.

There are more reasons to help poor areas with their schooling. Statistics show that 85 percent of high school dropouts are imprisoned by the time they reach the age of 25. The cost for the whole voucher program is less than one-half of one percent of the state education budget. Saving students surely makes sense. Keep these costs in mind, opponents are distorting them.

diamond necklace. I tried to re-trace my steps from a very busy day and when I called the post office to see if they had a lost and found department, for a diamond necklace the clerk said, "yes, it is in my desk, we were waiting for your call." She told me a woman found it lying on the ground between the doors. Now we have two wonderful, honest people.

The woman did not leave her name or ask to be notified if no owner was found. This is truly amazing, but does not surprise me. It just reaffirms there are wonderful people all around us. I have always believed, "what goes around comes around." I only hope if this great woman ever is in need of help, myself or some other thoughtful person will be there for her.

I thank you for being the special person you are.

Clarifying the issues

Recently, there has been much publicity surrounding the opening of Canton Charter Academy. I am pleased that many people have taken an interest in our schools and look forward to educating children for many, many years.

For the most part, the articles have been balanced, generating excellent discussions. However, a letter to the editor by Januez M. SzyskoCanton Observer; Sept. 14, 2000) compels me to clarify several issues about our charter school. Here are a few important facts about Canton Charter Academy.

Canton Charter Academy is a public/non-sectarian school open to all students, regardless of income, ethnicity, race or religion. Canton Charter Academy does not promote or endorse any religion, or religions Canton Charter Academy does promote universal values through its fully integrated moral development program. As a public charter school, we adhere and comply with the same laws that apply to all public schools.

Almost 300 students are attending Canton Charter Academy. The parents of these students have made a choice Beatrice Scalise Plymouth

Giant telephone companies refuse to serve or compete

Local phone markets in Michigan are dominated by two of the largest telephone companies in the country, SBC/Ameritech and Verizon/GTE.

In recent weeks, much has been made of the long service and repair delays experienced by SBC/Ameritech customers. In August, for example, the Public Service Commission received more than 2,000 complaints about poor service. And last week the PSC held hearings designed to detail the extent of the problem and put the heat on Ameritech to improve its performance. That's fine. It's an outrage when an individual phone customer or, worse, an entire neighborhood loses an essen tial service and it takes weeks to get the telephones hooked back up. Maybe the PSC hearings and whatever new regulation or legislation results from them will build a fire under the phone companies to straighten out their repair operations.

But the standard governmental response to outrages - promulgate new regulations or pass a law - does not address the real cause for poor local phone service in Michigan. The fundamental issue is that SBC/Ameritech and Verizon/GTE do not and will not compete against each other.

After three attempts by the legislature to engender competition in the Michigan local phone market - in 1991, 1995 and again this past spring - Ameritech and GTE still follow the old anticompetitive practice of carving up the state into local markets in which each maintains a monopoly. And as long as phone companies operate as essentially unregulated monopolies within their own area franchises, there is no competitive pressure on them to improve service.

Here's the detail. I asked Mike Malott, the head of the news service that provides statewide stories to this newspaper, to check into persistent reports that Ameritech/SBC wouldn't compete against GTE/Verizon and vice versa. SBC/Ameritech's traditional service area includes the vast majority of communities in Wayne and Oakland counties. One of Verizon/GTE's franchise areas is in north Oakland County.

So Mike called SBC/Ameritech, seeking to order a new fax line for our company's offices in Milford, located in the Verizon/GTE franchise area. The SBC/Ameritech customer service representative told him they are "prohibited by law" from going into another company's franchise ares

Mike said he thought the deregulation legislation passed last spring was supposed to encourage such competition. Ameritech customer service responded that, despite deregulation, Ameritech still cannot go into another company's service area by order of the Federal Communications Commission.

According to Marc Shulman, the West Bloomfield-based state rep whose pressure led to passage of deregulation legislation last year, that's only partially true. Yes, the FCC is blocking Ameritech from going into other companies' service areas at present, but that's because

It's an outrage when an individual phone customer or, worse, an entire neighborhood loses an essential service and it takes weeks to get the telephone hooked back up

Ameritech has failed to meet FCC requirements for opening up its own service areas to competition.

Mike then called Verizon/GTE, asking for phone service for his home in Commerce Township, just outside its franchise area but in a locale serviced by Ameritech. Verizon said this was possible, but such service is called a "foreign exchange" or an "out of franchise line," which has to be handled by a different company, known as Verizon Select Services.

When Mike called Verizon Select Services, he was told the company does not operate in Michigan and has "no plans to right now."

So Michigan's two dominant - dare I say 'monopolistic'? - phone companies will not cross into each other's service areas and compete against each other in the ways the legislature and the governor have intended for years.

History shows that when large, monopolistic organizations persistently resist reasonable demands for change, market forces almost always wind up obliterating the recalcitrant monopolist. I hope the management and shareholders of SBC/Ameritech and GTE/Verizon remember their history.

Proposal 2 is one way to deal with sacred cow

"If this fails," Livonia mayor Jack Kirksey said last week of the Let Local Votes Count constitutional amendment on this November's election ballot (Proposal 2), "I would think you would have a green light in Lansing with the Legislature saying that the population doesn't see anything inherently sacred about local control. And they are going to have a field day ... to take away local powers.

That, of course, implies that there is something "sacred" about "local control."

I think he's right. And that's the problem, The term "local control" has become a sacred cow.

I say that because while most of us would eager ly raise our hands to say we support the concept of local control, few of us could define what the term actually means. Local control of what?

Case in point: The difficulty libraries face as they add Internet access is the quintessential example of the tussle between local control and state and federal control. Whether elected or appointed, library boards run most libraries in Michigan. And among the challenges they face today is how to protect children from pornographic, violent, even predatory sites on the World Wide Web. As a parent myself, I support their efforts and want them to exert their local control to keep my children from being exposed to such Web sites.

On the other hand, I'm an adult. And I have a right under the First Amendment to view those very same Web sites if I so desire. Even if I choose not to, I ain't givin' up the right. Neither should you.

Local control? Certainly. Absolute local control? Certainly not. I don't want my First Amendment rights to change when I step across the city limits. How about in the area of environmental law?

Pollution knows nothing of municipal boundaries. Dirty air and water cross city lines with ease.

We are learning that a number of communities have put off repairs to their sewer systems, even though they may be malfunctioning. If it's a matter of local control, then delaying those repairs is a good way to hold down the local tax rate. On the other hand, when that community's pollution comes flowing into my community, I'm likely to take another view.

The second states and the second states in the second

The Michigan Constitution doesn't give us much guidance. The phrase "local control" neve appears anywhere in that document. Nor does the term "home rule," which is just another name for this secred cow.

The farthest that the framers of Michigan's Constitution would go was: "The provisions of this constitution and law concerning counties, townships, cities and villages shall be liberally construed in their favor. Powers ... shall include those fairly implied and not prohibited."

The state Constitution does give the Legislature marching orders to enact laws authorizing local governments, but it also makes it clear lawmakers are supposed to restrict their powers.

The Michigan Constitution doesn't give us much guidance. The phrase local control never appears any where in that documen

There are areas of law where communities ought to be able to act without interference. This all began when business interests, the Michigan Chamber included, began pushing for the elimin tion of local regulations on business activities. Local governments are justified in putting many of the regulations they do on business operations.

Unfortunately, Proposal 2 asks the wrong ques-tion. By proposing that the legislature be required. to pass laws affecting local governments with a two-thirds majority, the proposition asks voters whether they support local control.

The debate we need to have in this state is in what areas there should be local control. When is it appropriate for local government to call its own shots and when is it appropriate for the state gov ernment to step in?

hand, there seemed to be little doubt that the ultimate authority should reside in the people. The electoral system, as a consequence, was created to compromise the interests of those who were advocating direct democracy and those who were expressing their apprehensions regarding such a revolutionary idea.

When the American voters go to the polls in November, they will not in fact be voting for the president and vice president. Rather, the voters will be voting for "electors" who, in turn, will be voting for them thereafter. The electors then vote, their votes are counted and certified and sent to the President of the Senate (the vice president of the United States) where the votes of the "electors" will be opened and counted in the presence of both Houses of Congress. Presto, the president and vice president are elected, maybe. This last event occurs in January, well after the American voters assumed that they had voted for "their candidates."

In the Electoral College, there is one vote for each member of the House of Representatives (435) plus one vote for each U.S. Senator (100) and finally, three (3) votes for the District of Columbia. The total of 538 is an important number to remember. The candidates for each party must get an absolute majority of the whole number of electoral votes. The minimum number for election is 270. This number is even more important to remember.

The electors who are elected are those electors in each state who receive more popular votes than any other group of electors for other candidates for those offices. The winning candidates anticipate that they will get other "winner take all" results in other states as well as the District of Columbia to a total of at least 270 electoral votes.

The "winner takes all" system does not mean that it is applicable to the country as a whole. Thus, it is conceivable that your candidate could win in the Electoral College but fail to win the majority or even a plurality of the popular vote cast nationwide. In effect, there are 50 such elections (or 51 if you count the District of Columbia) rather than one big election.

What happens if the Electoral College fails; that is, no one gets the necessary votes to win? The Constitution, as amended by the 12th Amendment, gives us direction as to what then occurs. The House of Representatives ... "from the persons having the highest number not exceeding three...shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president." Presumably, Messrs. Gore and Bush will be there. There could even be a third candidate if just one rogue elector casts a vote for another person.

The House of Representatives then votes, but not the way the voters might expect. Again, do not assume that this is a democratic process. Each Congressman does not get to cast a vote. Rather, each state gets one vote. That is to say, each state's congressional delegation shall caucus to decide how each state's single vote will be cast. The winner here needs to get 26 votes.

Since the Electoral College, rather than the voters, actually elects the president and vice president it is not a totally democratic system. But, it was never intended to be. The Electoral College system is not based upon the people if that is defined to mean "one - man, one - vote."

Is it time for American Democracy to evolve further and begin to elect the president and the vice president by a more democratic process? This obviously would require the Electoral College to be discarded. It cannot be salvaged. Most of the Founding Fathers would probably agree.

Have faith in their wiedom. After all, many of them did a similar thing themselves at the Constitutional Convention of 1787. They had spec instructions to revise the "Articles of Confede tion" and decided it could not be salvaged. There fore, they ignored their authority and th us a fresh start and drafted a new Co

Let go of grudges, grief, guilt

Tom sat in the therapist's office with a look of disgust on his face that could have sunk a ship. When asked why he couldn't let go of his anger, he said, "Because they are such selfish, inconsiderate people I have no use for them and I never will.'

"But," said the therapist. "Won't that prelude you from ever forgiving them?

"It sure will," he answered definitely. "And I don't care either."

To say Tom was "stuck" in his anger was an understatement. And attempting to share with him the benefit of forgiving, was a useless proposition. He viewed his anger as justified. So why try to get rid of a grudge? People mistakenly think that holding onto resentment gives them power, when actually it gives the power to the other person. You lose much of your freedom holding that grudge because the other people hold a place in your head. In fact, you will spend 99 percent more time thinking about them than they do about you.

Baggage

Too often, we human types carry excessive baggage with us. Brad Powell of NorthRidge Church in Plymouth would call it relational impurities that need to be eliminated if we want to have healthy relationships with families and friends.

Brad calls these gremlins the 3 G's: grudges, grief and guilt. As described above, grudges can be easily maintained when the 'grudger' will not stop begrudging the 'grudgee.' Grudges are held out of pride and hinder no one more than the one holding onto the grudge. They can lead to lifelong bitterness, addictions, broken relationships or even to physical illness. More often than not, this unforgiving anger unconsciously contaminates other relationships which the person had no intention of harming.

Pampered pets never had it so good

BY STRPHANIE ANGELYN CASOLA STAFF WRITER scasola@oe.homecomm.net

a a pet owner, I know what it means to care for an animal: the kind that runs to the door to greet you every evening, the kind that cuddles on your lap the moment you sit down, the pet that loves you right back, for no particular reason. So we spoil them, and rightfully so. If you haven't occasionally sprung for the really expensive kitty litter or picked up a pet's favorite treat while at the supermarket, you haven't owned a pet. For pets have one purpose - they are all meant to be pampered.

These days, a dog's life isn't looking so bad.

Between the super-sized pet marts like Pet Supplies Plus, the bakeries that specialize in puppy treats, like Three Dog Bakery, and regular trips to a groomer, it would seem pets have never had it so good.

No one knows that better than Shirley Keller, owner of Perfect Paws in Plymouth. Open for more than five months, the pet groomer caters to the nearby pooch and kitty cat community. Like a hairdresser to the family pet, she knows what it takes to keep dogs and cats happy and healthy.

"Every day is different and every dog is different," said Keller. "We've gotten to know so many new people." An experienced groomer, she has instructed others in the field. It's obvious that the Canton resident possesses the most important quality for a groomer to have, she's a true pet-lover.

friendly black dog trots in for a good wash and trim once a month and always comes out with a close cut, and a long beard and eyebrows, said Dennis, with pride.

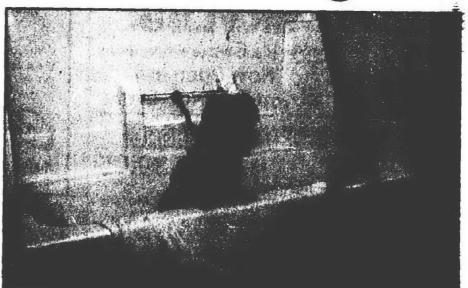

Visiting Perfect Paws is a family event for the Dennis' pets. "He has a Great Dane for a sister," said Dennis, who admits that all of his pets are quite pampered. "He's not spoiled at all," joked Dennis, "as long as we do what he wants."

Little extras

With all the designer beds, interactive pet toys and gourmet treats flooding the niche market, it seems pet owners often pamper their dogs and cats the old-fashioned way - letting the animals have the run of the house, giving them the occasional people-food treat and showering them with affection.

Dennis buys chicken thighs by the bulk for his dogs. "We bread 'em and cook 'em. It's part of his main staple." Simon also feasts on dry dog food and even macaroni and cheese. He sleeps wherever he wants: beds, couches, the floor. When he's locked out of a room, he knows how to knock on a door with his front paw.

"He's a very very loyal dog, highly intelligent," said Dennis, who was preparing for a family trip along with the dogs to Central Lake. "He also loves water. At home, we usually buy him a kid's wading pool. He just loves the hose. He's a happy dog."

Paws are a plethora of cleansing regimens: medicated and plum scented shampoos and hot oil treatments. The pets go from a state-of-the-art hydraulic table and leash where they are brushed and trimmed, to a bath

You bet.

Grief

Another relational impurity that destroys relationships is grief. This kind of loss can take place by being betrayed by someone close to you. divorce or through unfulfilled expectations. Sally wanted to be a doctor, but her father said that she should be a school teacher. Though she pursued teaching, it was never her favorite career and she always felt that she had missed out on what she really wanted in her life. Powell goes on to say that "when our life is focused on our loss, we miss out on the present."

Refusing to focus on what is will never allow you to enjoy today. All of your energies are spent on yesterday, of what if. Healthy people get past their grief by attending grief support groups, divorce recovery or seek out counseling for it. Why waste one more day in the past? It's passed.

Guilt

The third impurity, guilt, can eat at you like a fast-growing cancer. Chris doesn't realize it consciously, but he still feels remorse about the way his divorce came about. He thought he was being so clever and secretive until his wife discovered his affair.

Today, five years later, the guilt is thinly veiled under his grudge against his wife and his grief because he doean't see his two children. But instead of ignoring it, blaming it on others, feeling blue or condemning himself, Chris needs to share it out loud and wipe the slate clean. Taking responsibility for situations you caused or getting someone to help you let go of undeserved guilt goes a long way towards alleviating guilt.

It cannot be said too strongly. Relationships with our children improve exponentially when we no longer carry the burden of the 3 G's. As Brad Powell says, evaluate yourself for relational impurities and then take the appropriate steps to eliminate what's eating you. Magnificent rewards will follow.

Jacque Martin-Downs can be reached at downsy mail.resa.net or write to her at 36251 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, MI 48150.

Her furry clients seem to return the sentiment. Simon, for example, is a 5year-old Giant Schnauzer. According to his owner, Paul Dennis of Canton, "he just loves it, he loves them." The

That's the main reward for people like Shirley Keller and her co-worker Joy Erickson. They strive for happy dogs and happy owners.

Just for the dog

Vickie Stobbe of Plymouth feels confident when she leaves Oscar, the shitzu, at the groomer that he will be well taken care of and happy. While other groomers left little Oscar frightened, he's taken to visiting Perfect Paws. "He loves it, he comes right out," she said. Stobbe brings her dog in every 5 weeks, for a bath and trim. "They do stick bows in his hair," she said. "He thinks he's a baby."

When he's really being spoiled, Oscar gets treats like cheese or ham. And he deserves treats, his owner said. Though he's a quiet dog he does tend to bark when her kids come home late at night. They can forget about sneaking

Plymouth elementary to mark 50th anniversary

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON STAFF WRITER

Current and former students and staff from Smith Elementary School in Plymouth will gather Saturday, Oct. 7, to remember and celebrate the 50th anniversary of the school.

"Everyone is so involved in this event," said Smith Elementary School Principal Cheryl Clason. "It's almost taken on a life of its own."

Presently the only operating elementary school within the city limits of Plymouth. Smith was named after George A. Smith, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton schools from 1918-1945. Constructed in 1950, the school was last enlarged and renovated, along with most other Plymouth-Canton schools, as a result of a 1991 millage. Some improvements included additional classrooms, an enlarged media center and hallway updates.

"This is a very exciting time for everyone at the school," said Susan Stoney, parent and member of the publicity committee. The anniversary celebration will be a lot of fun and we are looking forward to seeing old and new friends from the school's past.

Last spring garents and staff began to address ways to acknowledge the anniversary by reuniting past students, administrators, teachers and parents with the current study body and staff. Under the direction of Clason, who has served as principal of Smith since 1990, several activities began in the spring including relandscaping the school grounds, fundraising and obtaining new signage for the building.

Gorman, two grants were secured that enabled the school to purchase trees and plants for the project. One was for $483 through the Detroit Edison Tree Grant program and the other from the City of Plymouth who provided a mini-grant to purchase two Service Berry trees planted by a third grade class. Approximately fifty volunteer parents including, John Powers of Powers Landscaping, helped prepare the grounds earlier this year.

"It was a two-weekend project that included relocating some existing trees and plants and preparing the ground with an earth mover. It was a large crew that really got things done in a short amount of time. The end result is really flattering to the school," said Stoney.

Another unique feature to the anniversary project was a fundraiser to install a brick sidewalk. Eighty-six families in all purchased a commemorative landscape brick with a special message engraved on the face that was installed on Thursday, Sept. 28.

Upcoming activities

In preparation for the Oct. 7 open house, students and staff have been planning for much of the last year. Approximately 20 volunteers make up an anniversary committee who have been well supported by the staff, parents and Parent Faculty Organization of Smith School.

Between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. activities will include games, viewing of memorabilia collected from former students and staff and a special dedication ceremony of the new Smith Elementary School sign at 12:30 p.m.

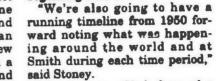

Principal Cheryl Clason said students will bury a time cap-

Clason said what has made the planning for the event so special has been communications and inquiries they've received from former students and staff. We received an interesting phone call from a woman who was a student in the first kindergarten class at Smith. She lives in Thunderbay and someone told her about the anniversary," said Clason. "We're really looking forward to the celebration and want to encourage everyone to attend."

The Saturday, Oct. 7, open house at Smith Elementary School (1298 McKinley Street) in Plymouth will begin at 11 a.m. A brief unveiling of the new school sign will take place outdoors at 12:30 (weather permitting). If you would like more information call Smith Elementary School at (734) 416-4850.

> CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON BOARD PROCEEDINGS - SEPTEMBER 19, 2000

A regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Canton was held on Tuesday, September 19, 2000 at Pheasant Run Golf Course, 46500 Summit Parkway, Canton, Michigan.

ROLL CALL

Members Present: Bennett, Burdziak, Kirchgatter, LaJoy, McLaughlin, Shefferly, Yack

Members Absent: None

- Director Conklin, Debbie Bilbrey-Honsowetz, Mary Staff Present: Kahanec, Director Machnik, Director Durack, Tim Cronin, Renee Woitowicz, Paige Moore
- Others Present: Frank Brace, DTE Energy Representative; Wally Phillips, Phillips Engineering; Steve Tate. Turf Drain; Ken Williams, Arthur Hills

ADOPTION OF AGENDA

Motion by Bennett, supported by Kirchgatter to adopt the agenda as Presented. Motion carried unanimously.

A tour was given to the Board of Trustees of the new nine holes under construction at the Pheasant Run Golf Course. A representative of the Architect and the Contractor were in attendance to present the layout of the course. Explanations were related to the diversity of the holes, construction methods related to greens, bunkers, etc. The tour began at 5:30 p.m. and concluded at 7:20 p.m. The course is expected to be almost complete by October 15, 2000, (weather permitting). The anticipated opening of the new nine holes is August, 2001.

Mr. Timothy Cronin presented background information for the Electric Utility Franchise and Retail License Ordinance by indicating that the Electric industry is changing. Deregulation has separated the industry to components that serve to create Global Generation facilities, Distribution Centers and Transmission Facilities. The intent of Deregulation was to provide venture capital to build additional power plants that will add energy to the nationwide grid. The ordinance also provides for a retailer license for any group or individual wishing to sell power. This item will return to the Board of Trustees at at future date.

ADJOURN

Motion by Bennett, supported by Shefferly to adjourn at 9 17 p.m. Motion carried unanimously.

The above is a synopsis of the actions taken at the regular board meeting of September 19, 2000. The full text of the approved minutes will be available following the next regular board meeting of September 26, 2000

Jenny Young continues to be a major factor for Central Michigan University's volleyball team.

The Livonia Ladywood HS graduate from Plymouth had a team-best 16 kills with a .357 kill percentage in the Chippewas 15-4, 15-6, 15-9 win over Oakland University Tuesday in Rochester. The non-conference win improved CMU's overall record to 6-7.

A 6-foot-1 outside hitter, Young had 18 kills in a three-game sweep of Buffalo and collected 20 kills and 10 digs in a loss to Kent State. Young leads the Chips in kills with 166; in the last Mid-American Conference rankings, she was ninth in kills per game (3.75)and 15th in kill percentage (.259).

PP&K champions

Canton Parks and Recreation Services hosted its annual Punt, Pass and Kick program last Saturday at Griffin Park, with six champions advancing to regional competition in Saline Oct. 15.

For the 8-9 year-olds, Chelsea Osburn of Plymouth was first with a 128-feet, 5-inch total in the three events. Nicholas Dexter of Canton was the boys winner with a 156-6 total.

In the 10-11 division, Tayler Bristol-Langham of Canton won the girls division with a 159-6 total. Caleb larner of Canton was first for the boys with a 219-7 total.

In the 12-13 division, the boys' winner was Josh LeDuc of Plymouth with a 265-8 total. In the 14-15 division, Alex Enright of Canton finished first for the boys with a 342-10 total.

Allen leads WSU

A better off-season has led Nick Allen, a Plymouth Salem graduate who's now a sophomore at Wayne State University, to much-improved performances for the Warriors' cross country team.

Allen finished 22nd overall and led WSU to a fifth place in the 34-team Midwest Collegiate Championships last weekend in Kenosha, Wisc. Allen was clocked at 25:49 for the eightkilometer race, earning Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference runner of the week honors,

Failing short

The early lead was Oakland University's, but the Grizzlies couldn't match the firepower of Ohio State, which rolled to a 4-1 victory in the second day of the Bowling Green Tournament Sunday. Ron Mashni, a Plymouth Salem graduate, scored the game's first goal off a corner kick by Gunnar Halvorsen at the 16:03 mark of the first half. The Buckeyes' Brian Feldhaus tied it at 1-all. Two minutes into the second half, Mashni received his second yellow card and was ejected, forcing the Grizzlies to play with 10 men. OSU scored three times in a 14-minute span to win easily.

Even-up: Rocks, Chargers end in tie

True, the final score of Monday's match -Salem 1, Churchill 1 - may indicate nothing was settled, particularly since the two teams were in opposite divisions. But it might mean something more down the line.

who reaches the WLAA championship match should be minimal. Or will it?

Monday's 1-1 draw in a match played at Churchill left Salem with an 11-2-1 overall record and a 5-0-1 WLAA mark. Churchill is 4-3-3 overall and 3-0-3 in the WLAA.

With the conference season now more than half over, the division races are starting to sort out - sort of. As usual, either Salem or Livonia Stevenson will emerge from the Lakes Division. Those two meet to decide who it will be at 7 p.m. Monday at Stevenson. The Western Division is more muddled. Any one of four teams could be the division representative: Churchill, Plymouth Canton, Northville or Livonia Franklin.

Churchill and Franklin have already met, playing to a scoreless tie. Last Wednesday, Canton and Northville finished in a 1-1 draw. The Chargers host Northville at 7 p.m. Monday and entertain Canton Oct. 11.

Barring upsets en route, those two matches should decide the Wester Division race. But if they don't and tw teams tie for first (a definite possibil ty), how well they've played again Lakes teams, from best to worst, c become a factor.

And that makes Monday's mat more important. Should Salem win Lakes title, Churchill would beau since they tied the Rocks and be Canton and Northville lost to them.

Monday's game didn't seem to favor the Chargers, at least not in the early going. Indeed, Salem dominated

The value of a proven scorer: Tues-day's Plymouth Canton-at-Plymouth Salem basketball game defined that perfectly.

Canton was forced to play the first three weeks of this season without the services of Janine Guastella, it's all-conference player and leading scorer of a year ago, while Guastella recovered from a knee injury suffered last spring.

At the same time Guastella returned to the Chiefs' lineup (Sept. 15), Salem lost the services of its leading scorer, Mary Lou Liebau, to a stress fracture in her foot. The injury was suffered in a win over Dexter Sept. 15; she could return to action next Thursday. Liebau was averaging 19 points a game.

That turnaround in fortunes was a major factor in the lopsided result of Tuesday's game, which Canton controlled from the start in rolling to a 42-28 triumph.

The win boosted the Chiefs' record to 5-3 overall, 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Salem is 5-3 overall, 1-1 in the WLAA.

"We beat a real good basketball team," said Canton coach Bob Blohm of the relatively easy victory. "They've got a lot of good players. Dawn Allen is one of the most improved players around. Getting her in foul trouble was big."

Having Liebau in the lineup would have made a difference, too. "She was playing very well for them." Blohm said. "Put her out there with Dawn and (Jenna) Van Wagoner and it makes a big difference."

Those three supply the Rocks with in the second quarter, thanks to E Jaskot, the team's only secring the in this contest. The junior guard scored seven-straight points for Salem, narrowing Canton's load to 12-9. It remained a three-point gen at the half, the Chiefs shead 16-11.

"It is hard (to recover)," Salem coach Fred Thomann said after the scoreless opening quarter. "But w did get back in the ball game. Tm not disappointed with (the slow start). I just wish we had been awarded those three baskets in the first quarter. But give Canton credit they played well."

The first 4 1/2 minutes of the second half were much the same as the first few minutes of the first half. A 7-2 Canton run (five by Guastella) pushed its lead to 21-13. The Rocks did managed to recover and trim that deficit to 25-20 entering the last quar-

Brent Habitz (Lutheran Westland), Kris Mackmiller and Dave Shumaker (Canton) combined to hold the Orioles to three hits in two games Saturday to pitch the division-leading Michigan Braves (8-1-1) to 14-1 and 11-0 mercy victories in a Total Baseball-Wixom league doubleheader.

Habitz pitched four innings in the opener, struck out eight including six in a row, walked two and gave up a hit. He also went 2-for-3 with a double and three RBI.

Shumaker worked three innings in the second game without allowing a hit, walking two and striking out four. He went 2-for-2 with a double and RBI. Mackmiller pitched in relief in both mercy-shortened games.

Shumaker went 2-for-3 in the first game, doubling and driving in three runs while leadoff hitter Will Wojcik Shook (Plymouth/AA Gabriel Richard) walked three times and singled in his fourth at-bat.

Mike Markey (OLSM) went 3-for-3 in the second game with a double and RBI, Matt Nollar (Lutheran Westland) was 2-for-2 with an RBI and Brian Carnevale (Plymouth Christian) was 2-for-3 with two RBI.

their size. One area in which Liebau surpasses the other two is quickness; without that element on the floor, Salem's inside game suffered against the experienced Chiefs.

The opening quarter allowed Blohm to dictate how the game would be played, and for the most part the Chiefs executed the plan to perfection. Canton led 8-0 after one period, during which three Salem baskets were disallowed by officials who ruled all three were scored after the foul was committed.

Two-step shuffle: Canton's Meghan Meier (left) and Salem's Jenna Van Wagoner go after a loose ball. Van Wagoner won The Rocks' offense finally appeared this time, but the Chiefs were winners of the game.

As for the Rocks' fortunes - the loss was their second-straight those, too, will be altered in the near future, when Liebau returns.

"That'll change things," noted Thomason.

Whalers chase and erase Erie to open the season

BY NICK GISMONDI SPECIAL WRITER

If the Plymouth Whalers had any pressure on them to perform this season, they didn't reveal it in their season-opener Saturday night in front of 3,153 fans at Compuware Sports Arena.

The Whalers opened their quest for a third-straight Ontario Hockey League regular-season title with a 4-0 blanking of the Erie Otters.

Although several key players were still absent from the Whalers' lineup - Jared Newman (injury), James Ramsay (injury), Damian Surma (injury), Justin Williams (NHL training camp, Philadelphia) - Plymouth appeared strong and well-prepared to make a run for the title.

Key rookies stepped up their games to help fill the voids of the absent veterans. Canton native James Wisniewski, who was selected in the first round of the OHL draft by Plymouth (20th overall), scored his first OHL goal in the victory.

Toronto Maple Leaf draftee Kris Vernarsky opened the scoring with a power play goal when he got his stick on a Wisniewski slap shot and re-directed it past Otter goaltender Adam Munro just 2:22 into the opening period. Stephen Weiss also assisted.

Cole Jarrett finished the night with a goal and two assists, tallying his first goal of the season also on the power play when he one-timed a pass from Bryan

Thompson, who was fed along the boards by Tomas Kurka.

The Whalers increased their firstperiod lead to 3-0 at 18:41 on a broken play by the Otters in their own sone, which led to an interception by Weiss. He fired it towards the Erie net and the puck ricocheted off the skate of Erie defenseman Sean Dixon, past a sprawling Munro. Jarrett got the assist.

Atlanta Thrashers draft choice Rob Zepp faced only five shots in the opening period while Plymouth fired 13 at Munro.

The Whaler defense was the highlight of the second period, with the host team turning aside two power-play opportunities - including a 5-on-3 - without the Otters registering a shot on goal.

Wisniewski's first OHL goal, a rocket from just inside the blue line that found its way through Munro's legs, finalised the score at 4-0. Vernarsky and Jarrett ssisted.

The Otters nearly spoiled Zepp's shutout late in the second period, but a goal was called back when referee Scott Hoberg ruled the puck had been kicked in to the net.

Zepp, who had three shutouts last season, faced 16 shots. The Whalers, meanwhile, peppered Muare

Rice dominates CC

BY PAUL BRAUDRY STAFF WRITER pheaudry@os.hom non m. net

It was fitting that the final play of Saturday's game was Birmingham Brother Rice's defense sacking Redford Catholic Central quarterback Mike Sgroi. That's far from a knock against the senior quarterback, but testimony to the top-ranked Warriors - who totally shut down the Shamrocks, 24-0, before a packed house at Birmingham Groves.

"(Rice) deserves a lot of credit," said CC coach Tom Mach after his team fell to 4-1 overall and 1-1 in the Catholic League's Central Division. "I can't remember the last time we lost like this. We just have to make this a learning experience and go from there."

Learning experience was an understatement. Rice (5-0, 3-0) brought a lesson plan of solid defense and a dominant offensive line to control the tempo, flow, stats and final score of the game.

Consider: • The Warriors had 19 first downs to CC's four.

· The Shamrocks got into Brother Rice territory just once in the game - the first possession of the second half, where they got the ball down to the Rice 5, only to fumble it away. CC committed four turnovers to none for Rice. • And in the most telling statistic besides the final score, Rice rolled up 296 yards in total offense - 129 in the air and 167 on the ground - while CC mustered only 38 yards passing and 46 rushing.

"We controlled the ball," said Rice coach Al Fracassa. "They usually control the ball on us, this time we controlled it on them. Hey, it's our turn. They've beaten us so many times, it's nice to have a turn once in a while. We might have to play them again (in the Prep Bowl) because they're a good team and have a lot of pride.

Rice controlled the game from the start by mixing up the offense and marching from its own 25 on an 18-play, 9:33 drive that resulted in 29-yard field goal from Ross Ryan.

CC struggled on its opening drive - managing its only first down of the half when quarterback Tom Jakacki ran for two yards on a 3rd-and-1 play from the CC 35, but three plays later was picked off by linebacker Eric Hackem.

"We made a lot of mistakes," said Mach. "Hopefully, we'll use this as a learning experience and we'll start fresh next week."

The Shamrock defense did play well during the first half, putting some pressure on Rice quarterback Matt Baker as well as a fine play by defensive back Mark Willoughby to break up a sure TD pass.

But toward the end of the second quarter, Rice sealed the game. First, the Warriors went 61 yards in seven plays for Baker to hit Matt Studenski on a 7-yard TD pass.

On CC's first offensive play, the Shamrocks fumbled on the CC 21 and Rice recovered then scored on Kalian Stewart's 3-yard run five plays later for a 17-0 halftime lead.

"That turnover at the end of the half was very big," said Fracassa. "Then we capitalized and got a touchdown. We were a little lucky that we got that touchdown. You have to have a little luck to beat these guys too."

It looked like CC was going to change its luck to start the second half as Sgroi came in atquarterback and quickly moved CC from its own 27 to the Rice 5. But that drive was snuffed when the Shamrocks fumbled again and Rice recovered.

"I was hoping that Mike would give us a lift," said Mach. "He's a great leader. We got good momentum right away in the second half and thought if we could score, it would be a new game. But we lost momentum. It was probably the theme of the game.

Rice put together a long, time consuming drive early in the fourth quarter, ending when. Aaron Jackson caught a deflected pass in the back of the end zone from 14-yards out for a 24-0 lead.

Baker was 12-for-19 passing for 129 yards and two TDs, while Jakacki and Sgroi combined for 3-for-10 for 38 yards and two. interceptions. Willoughby caught two passes for all 38 yards. Mike Banaszak led the ground game with 30 yards on seven carries, but Rice's Tony Gioutos led all. rushers with 22 carries for 106 yards - with most of his yardage coming from Rice's ability to open huge holes in the CC defensive front.

"There were no surprises, they just beat us up front," said Mach. The did a good job on the line. Our line played well, but we were out-pounded, if that's a term. They were bigger than us and we couldn't move the ball on them.'

Harrison, C'ville shoot for 6 thinking about that before the first game now, but only a select few teams from Observerland will make the cut.

Two, in fact, can qualify by winning a sixth game this week - Farmington Harrison, the defending Division 3 state champion, and Livonia Clarenceville, a first-time qualifier in Division 6 last year.

Both are 5-0 and every team with a 6-3 record will be part of the 256-team, eight-division field when the playoffs start late next month.

Barring great upsets, that will happen this week for the Hawks, who face 1-4 Livonia Franklin, and the Trojans, who play winless Harper Woods Lutheran East.

Taking into consideration the remaining four weeks of the regular season, other teams with a good chance to qualify are Redford Catholic Central and Garden City.

Teams on the bubble include Westland John Glenn, Livonia Stevenson, Plymouth Canton and Redford St. Agatha.

Canton has only one loss, but it has big games with Walled Lake Western and Northville the next two weeks, a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover and the finale with rival Plymouth Salem. All four could be considered toss-up games.

Farmington High is a longshot. The Falcons already have three losses and can't afford another one.

On the prediction scorecard, yours truly and colleague Paul Beaudry were 11-3 last week; Brad Emons was 10-4, C.J. Risak 8-6 and the youngsters who made their daring picks a week ago were 7-7.

Overall, yours truly holds a one-game lead over Emons. 61-10 to 60-11. Beaudry has a 58-13 record and Risak 53-18. THURSDAY GAMES

(all times 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

John Glenn at Farmington, 7: The Falcons (2-3, 2-1) own a two-game winning streak following their 32-14 victory over North Farmington. After a slow start, Farmington can prove it has turned the corner this week by defeating Westland John Glenn. The Rockets (3-2, 2-1) stumbled last week when Walled Lake Central ended their three-game winning streak, 22-13. PICKS: John Glonn -O'Meara, Emons, Risak: Familation -Beaudry.

Harrison at Franklin; The Patricts (1-4, 0-3) haven't won since the first week when they defeated Lincoln Park, but they've had a tough run while facing four good teams in consecutive order. Now, Franklin faces mighty Farmington Harrison, which is quite possibly the best of the bunch. The Hawks (5-0, 3-0) are not only undefeated but looking pretty awesome after their 49-14 trouncing of Northville. Harrison has outscored its first five opponents, 224-41. PICKS: Harrison - O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry, Risak.

N. Farmington at Stevenson: The Spartans (3-2, 2-1) have been involved in a pair of shootouts the last two weeks, losing to Walled Lake Central, 34-32, before outscoring Plymouth Salem, 54-48. The Raiders (0-5, 0-3) have their work cut out for them as they try to contain Stevenson's Dan Wilson, who scored four touchdowns, including two on kickoff returns of more than 80 yards, last week. PICKS: Stevenson -O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry, Risak, Ply. Canton at W.L. Western: The Chiefs (4-1, 2-1) rebounded from their loss to Harrison with consecutive wins over Franklin and Churchill, but the going gets tougher this week when they play the Warriors (4-1, 3-0). Western has won four straight since its opening loss to No. 1-ranked Brother Rice, and it needs a win to stay on track for a Western Division showdown next week with Harrison. PICKS: Western - O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry; Canton -- Risak.

W.L. Central at Ply. Salem: The Vikings (4-1, 3-0) are now the favorites to win the WLAA Lakes Division title after rallying from a 13-0 deficit to beat preseason favorite John Glenn, 22-13. The Rocks (1-4, 0-3) have lost four in a row since beating Ann Arbor Pioneer. Salem lost to Central in overtime last year, 12-6. That was the last of five straight losses before the Rocks finished with four wins. Maybe Salem can get it turned around in Week 6 again. PICKS: Central - O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry; Salem - Risak.

(all times 7 p.m. unless acts

Lineals Park at Wasse: One of these teams will be a first-time winner this week. Both are 0-4 in the Mega Conference Red Division and 0-5 overall. The Railspitters are coming off a 28-14 loss to unbesten Dearborn Fordson, while the Zebras came up short against undefeated Belleville, 27-20. PICKS: Lincoln Park - Beaudry ; Wayne - O'Meara, Emons, Risak.

Gordon City at Wyandothe: A big battle is browing this week in the Mega White Division. Both teams are 3-1 in the division and 4-1 overall, Garden City hopes to spring All-Observer running back Mike Sparks loose for another big game. He has rushed for 686 yards and 11 touchdowns in the last two, including 284 yards and five scores last week in a 37-20 win over Taylor Truman. The Bears were 34-19 winners over Redford Union. PICKS: Bardon City - Emons, Risak; Wyandotte - O'Meara, Beaudry.

Allen Park at Redford Union: After playing Belleville, Garden City and Wyandotte the last three weeks, the Panthers (0-5, 0-3) face yet another formidable foe. This week it's first-place Allen Park, the Mega White leader. The Jaguars weren't overly impressive in their last game but managed to get,past Woodhaven, 14-0. PICKS: Allen Park -O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

Litheren Westland at Latheren Hoth-The Warriors (1-4) have another tough assignment here. Metro Conference leader and preseason favorite Clarenceville defeated Lutheran Westland last week, 43-0, and the Warriors take on the Mustangs this week. Lutheran North (3-2), which was picked to finished second in the league, routed Liggett in a Metro game Friday, 41-0. PICKS: Lutheran North - O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry, Risak, Bishop Borgess vs. O.L. Lakes at Waterlend Mett: It'll be interesting to see if the Spartans (1-4, 1-0) can do it again this week. Borgess upset heavilyfavored Bishop Gallagher last week, 20-0, and has a chance to pull off another stunner against perennial power Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes. Gallagher was picked to win the Catholic League Tri-Sectional, and the Lakers were slated for second place. Lakes (5-0, 1-0) had a close call with Harper Woods last week, winning 28-26. PICKS: Lakes --O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry, Risak.

an Reat at Cia A few years ago this might have been a good game. The East Siders from Harper Noods might even have been favored. But that was then: this is now. Now, Clarenceville (5-0, 4-0) is clearly the better team. The first-place Trojans have been rolling over their Metro Conference opponents and living up to their presee." son favorites role. Cranbrook clobbered-Lutheran East (0-4, 0-5) on Saturday, 48-0. PICKS: Clarenceville - O'Mears, Emons, Beaudry, Risak, Churchill at Northville, 7:30: After starting out 3-0, the host Mustangs (3-2, 1-2) have suffered back-to-back loss-. es to Walled Lake Western and Harrison. Northville will try to pick up the, nieces in the wake of a 49-14 loss to the Hawks and try to get back on track as it focuses on a possible playoff t enth. Churchill (1-4, 0-3) hopes to score an unset and end a four-game winless streak. PICKS: Northville - O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry, Risak.

Molvindale at Thurston, 7:30: The Cardinals (0-5, 0-3) visit Thurston for a Mega-Blue contest with a winless record, but the last two defeats were to Mega-Blue leaders Romulus and Tren- ton. The host Eagles (1-4, 0-2) haven't won since beating Willow Run in the ... opener and lost a cliffhanger to Annapolis last week, 10-9. PICKS: Melvindale - O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry; Thurston - Risak

SATURDAY'S GAME St. Agaths vs. Mount Cannol at RU's Kraft Field, 7:30: The Comets (4-1, 3-1) have their program back to where they were some years ago. Picked to finish sixth in the Catholic League D-Section. Mount Carmel is coming off a 38-7 rout of St. Alphonsus and is doing better than expected. The Aggies (3-2, 3-1) are tied with the Comets for second place behind Cardinal Mooney. St. Agatha beat Holy Redeemer Saturday. 20-12. PICKS: St. Agethe - O'Meara. Risak; Mount Carmel - Emons. Beaudry.

SUNDAY GAME

nd CC vs. U-D Jesuit at Pontiac Winner Stadhun, 1: The Shamrocks, who played De La Salle last year and Brother Rice for many years before that, have a new opponent in the Boys Bowl, CC (4-1, 1-1) will try to rebound from its 24-0 loss to top-ranked Rice. The Cubs (2-3, 1-2) earned a 17-7 win over DeLaSalle and will try to catch the Shamrocks when they're down. PICKS: CC -O'Meara, Emons, Beaudry, Risak.

Madonna sweeps past Aquinas

Three players notched double figures in kills Tuesday as Madonna University swept host Aquinas in three games, 15-12, 15-6, 15-10, in a Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference match

The win improved MU's record to 17-3 overall and 5-0 in the WHAC. Aquinas dropped to 10-8 and 3-2.

Redford Thurston's Brandy Malewski led the way for MU with 14 kills, while Kelly Artymovich and Donna Birkenhier contributed 12 and 11, respectively.

Birkenhier attacked at a .733 clip.

Five players notched double figures in digs - Artymovich (18), Livonia Ladywood's Marylu Hemme (15), Jennie Wind (13), Malewski (12) and Erin Cunningham (10). Plymouth Salem's Amanda Suder had nine.

Wind, the setter, led with 30 assists, while Natalie Sayre added nine.

Tamara Harnden and Terra Miller combined for 29 kills for Aquinas. Setter Shannon Hickman had 33 assists.

Palm Beach Tourney

Palm Beach Atlantic got to meet the team that eliminated it from its own volleyball tournament a year ago, and it was a happy occurance for the Sailfish.

It wasn't the same for Madonna University. Because it was the Lady Crusaders that jolted PBA a year ago in the 1999 Sailfish Classic tournament semifinals.

Vengeance was on the minds of the Sailfish, ranked sixth in the NAIA, and it was realized when they topped Madonna 15-13, 10-15, 15-11, 15-10 in the championship game played Saturday at Rubin Arena in West Palm Beach, Fla.

The Crusaders, now 16-3, defeated Michigan-Dearborn 15-2, 15-11, 15-12 in the semifinals. They advanced through pool play without losing a game, defeating Wingate (N.C.) 15-11, 15-3, 15-8; Nova Southeastern 15-2, 15-10, 15-9; and Birmingham-Southern (Ala.) 15-5, 15-6, 15-5.

Malewski and Cunningham were both named to the all-tournament team.

In the championship match against PBA, Malewski totaled 26 kills with a .658 kill percentage. She also had 13 digs and 10 blocks (three of them solos). Artymovich added 22 kills (.500), two service aces and 17 digs, while Cunningham had seven kills and 27 digs. Wind finished with 52 assists to kills, 12 digs and five blocks.

For the tournament, Malewski had 81 kills, 56 digs and 34 blocks. Cunningham contributed 39 kills and 56 digs; Artymovich had 56 kills, 13 aces and 55 digs; and Wind got 13 kills, 123 assists to kills, 13 blocks and 31 digs.

This Saturday, Madonna hosts Alma (10 a.m.) and Windsor (2 p.m.) in a round-robin. Alma and Windsor square off at noon.

Lady Crusaders shut out Saints, thump Cougars

Madonna University's women's soccer team managed just one goal against Siena Heights Tuesday in Adrian. Fortunately for the Lady Crusaders, that's all they needed.

A Kelly Delaney indirect kick was driven at the net by Melissa Jacobs (from Livonia Stevenson).

Saints' keeper Jennifer Wycihowski made the stop but couldn't prevent the rebound, which was knocked home by Susannah Bryant with just 7:10 left in reg-

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

ON THE ADOPTION OF A BROWNFIELD PLAN IN ACCORDANCE WITH ACT 381 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN OF 1996, AS AMENDED

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT a Public Hearing shall be held before the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth on October 24, 2000, at 7:30 P.M. in the Township Hall at 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, Michigan 48170, on the adoption of a brownfield plan for property located north of Plymouth Road and west of Eckles Road in the Charter Township of Plymouth pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of the Brownfield Redevelopment Financing Act, being Act 381 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan of 1996, as amended. Maps, plats and a description of the brownfield plan are available for public inspection at the Office of the Township Clerk, 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, Michigan 48170. All aspects of the brownfield plan are open for discussion

Jenny Barker (Stevenson) made six saves in earning the shutout, which raised the Crusaders' record to 7-1-1 overall, 6-0 (and in first place) in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. Siena Heights is 7-3 overall, 5-1 in the WHAC.

On Saturday, Emily Jackson had two goals and two assists to lead Madonna to a 6-1 swamping of host Spring Arbor.

The score was 3-1 after the first half of play when Jackson (Farmington Harrison) scored her first goal, after assisting on a tally by Brianna Sleek earlier. Jackson's second goal made it

5-1. Paula Shureb and Jamie Scott, respectively, assisted on Jackson's two goals.

Jackson then set up Delaney to close out the scoring.

Scott opened the scoring for the Crusaders. Megan Thiry assisted. Bryant scored the Crusaders' second goal off an assist by Delaney.

Jennifer Dumm and Barker split time in goal for Madonna. The Cougars (2-5, 1-4) got an unassisted goal from Randi Siedzik. The Crusaders had a 10-3 edge in shots on goal and a 5-1 advantage in corner kicks.

through the first 10 minutes with the ball rarely leaving Churchill's some.

But when it did, the Chargers made the most of the situation. A counterattack left the Rocks' defenders chasing Churchill's speedier forwards. The result was a shot from the right side by Eric Scott that got past Salem keeper Tavio Palazzolo and rolled into the far corner, giving the Chargers a 1-0 lead with 10:43 elapsed.

Panos Grivakis assisted.

"Those are two of the best forwards we've seen," said Salem coach Ed McCarthy of Churchill's Scott and Jamie Shooks. "They gave us fits up top.

"When you own the play and you keep it in their end the whole time, you're always susceptible to counterattacks. And they're so good at it."

The goal shifted momentum, with play evening out. Salem, however, did benefit with its constant pressure reaping dividends with 10:06 left in the opening half. Brian Popeney served the ball into the box, and Dan Longpre headed it into the corner to even it at 1-all.

"We lost focus for about 15 minutes," said Churchill coach Reid Friedrichs. "We had (Salem) men floating around unmarked at the 18 (yards out)."

Focus was not a problem over the final 40 minutes. Nor was intensity. However, neither team could find the not in the second half. Salem's Palazzolo and Churchill keeper Eric Sicilia both turned in strong performances in goal.

"It could have been anyone's game," said Friedrichs. "Salem's ranked eighth in the state, so we came in here to win. We had our chances, that's for sure."

Salem's McCarthy had a similar read on the match, adding, "It was not one of our better games."

They could very well meet again — on Oct. 18 in the WLAA title match.

Canton 4, North Farmington 0: Canton's goal-scoring problems might be entirely in the past.

The Chiefs got a pair of goals from John Kacsmarek on Monday night plus two more elsehere to knock off a tough North Farmington team at Canton.

T. J. Tomasso notched his sixth shutout in his last seven games.

"We're playing very well right now," coach Don Smith said of his team, which played a 1-1 tie with Northville in very measy weather in its previous league out-

The Chiefs (8-4-1) held a 2-0 halftime lead over the Raiders.

"We're doing a very nice job," he said. "Defenses are a little tougher early in the year.

"I don't mean that they're weaker now, it's just that it takes a while for (offenses) to start working together, doing things better offensively.

"North Farmington (6-3, 1-2) has a nice team. They did a nice job."

In addition to Kacsmarch's two goals, Mike Zemanski and Evan Malone each scored a goal and had one assist. Jimmy Steinert and Brent Kwiatkowski each registered one assist.

Lest Saturday at Saline, Brent Coldgio converted a pass from Evan Malone into the game's only goal as the Chiefs edged the Hornets 1-0.

Coldgio's goal came with two minutes left in the first half. Tomasso was in goal for the shutout.

Oakland Christian 3, PCA 2: Auburn Hills Oakland Christian stayed just one step ahead of Plymouth Christian Academy on Tuesday in earning the victory.

Oakland Christian (2-1-1 in the MIAA) protected its No. 2 Division IV secon rating by building on a 1-0 halftime lead. Once the Lancers got the lead, they never surrendered it, always staying a goal ahead of the Engles. John Sink and Chad Beruta secred the John Sink and Chad Beruts second the PCA goals. The Eagles are 5-3-3 everall, 1-2-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Association.

Pote Boyse scored the eventual game; winner for Oakland Christian, which also got goals from Mike Garsa and Adams Hallett.

Stovenson 10, Hardson 0: The Spartan began building for a key week of games with the shutout victory Monday over the visiting Hawks.

J. T. Katikos and Marco Allen scored two goals apiece for Livenia Stevenson (6-1-1, 3-1-1) while Ryan Drolet scored one goal and had three assists.

Mike Thomas scored a goal and had two assists while Brian Braun and Elisha Sage each had a goal and an assist. Paul Johnson and Brady Crosby scored a goal apiece.

All three Steelers Junior Football League squads improved to 3-0 with victories last Sunday. Steelers alumni are encouraged to attend Saturday's Steeler Homecoming. First game starts at 5:00 p.m. and the action continues "under the lights" at Central Middle School.

The Varsity squad enjoyed a 26-6 victory. Dylan Tobin scored the Steelers' first touchdown, set up by a Jake Powers-to-Tim Storch pass play. In the second quarter, Steve Cambell hit Tobin in the end zone for another TD and Storch completed a TD pass to Joe Crist for another six points.

Chuck Schumacher also scored for the Steelers. On defense, Ron Opdyke caused a safety against the Eagles.

The Steelers' junior varsity team shut out the Eagles 35-0. Touchdowns were scored by Matt Czajkowski, Kyle Gendron the ground and Ben Craig on and by Deshon McClendon, who returned an Eagle kickoff for another score. James Judge recovered an Eagle fumble early in the first quarter to set the tone for the game and Romee Young picked up a safety for the Steelers' defense. For the Steelers' freshman, the offensive line carried the day against the Eagles in an 18-0 victory. Dana Baltazar, Zach Faust, James Kaptur, Sean Mauldin and James Rebidas controlled the line of scrimmage, enabling Dalton Walser to break free for three touchdowns.

Lions win 2, tie 1

The Canton Lions' varsity recorded a lopsided 30-7 victory over the Lincoln Park Railsplitters Sunday, with Richard Ratcliff scoring the first and last touchdowns of the game for Lions. In between, Canton get TDs from Jensen Kilgrove on the ground and a 20-yard scoring pass from Eric Northrup to Erik Fishwick.

Julian Smith converted three extra-point kicks.

The Lions' junior varsity had similar success, blanking the Railsplitters' JV 14-0. Konrad Konsitzke tossed a 30-yard scering pass to Josh LaDuc to open the scoring; another 30-yard pass play (to Ryan Kilgore) set up Konitzke's 1-yard TD dive. Joe Sander and Matt Farmer were strong defensively. The Lions freehmen fought the

Ocelot standout makes choice: DePaul

BY BRAD ENONS BYORTS WRITER

Make room Mr. Sosa, another beavy hitter is on his way to the Windy City.

"Slammin" Sam Hoskin, a 6-Boot-8, 270-pound center who will play this year at Schoolcraft Community College, has made a verbal commitment to play basketball at DePaul University.

He is expected to sign early next month.

Hoskin, who led Eastern Kenfucky University as a red-shirt freshman in scoring and rebounding last season, is a graduate of Redford Bishop Borgess High where he teamed up with Aaron Jessup (Wisconsin-Green Bay) 'to lead the Spartans to the 1997 state Class C championship.

Hoskin, who transferred to Schoolcraft from EKU after averaging 15.9 points and eight rebounds per game, turned down an official recruiting visit this weekend to Michigan to commit to coach Pat Kennedy and the Blue Demons.

"The whole visit last weekend (to Chicago) just blew my mind," said Hoskin, who was also being courted by Purdue, Seton Hall, Wisconsin and Tulsa. "The thing I liked most is the family atmosphere and the fact the DePaul is a great program and a great institution. I believe it's a great situation for me.

"Coach Kennedy is also a down-to-earth guy. He's a 'whatyou-see, what-you-get' type of guy."

DePaul, members of Conference USA, finished 21-13 last year and earned its first NCAA Fournament bid since 1992. The Blue Demons, a ninth seed, lost in the first round to Kansas, 81-77, in overtime.

Two returning starters, forward Quentin Richardson and Paul McPherson, opted for the NBA Draft, but three other starters return for the 2000-01 season along with several other veterans and two highly prised recruits.

Hoskin, who will play this year for Schoolcraft, will have two years of NCAA Division I eligibility remaining. He red-shirted his first year at

He red-shirted his first year at Bastern Kentucky under coach Scott Perry, who was fired at the end of last season after going 4-24.

"At first I was upset about being red-shirted, but it helped me grow and mature both as a student and player," Hoskin said. "A lot of freshman aren't ready to be thrown into the battlefield, but I was able to study, do my homework, see how it had to be done and it got me into shape."

DePaul is 46-48 in three seasons under Kennedy, who has this year have twe Iona and Florida State. The Blue Demons play some of their home games at the United Center st year at (home of the Bulls).

"I'm going from small town (Richmond, Ky.) to big city," Hoskin said. "We toured downtown, there's a lot of shops and stores. They have two campuses. There are a lot of things to do and see in Chicago."

With a highly-touted player like Hoskin aboard for coach Carlos Briggs at Schoolcraft, expectations are high for the coming season.

"I'm very excited," Heskin said. "We have to win the state tournament, the Region (12) and go to nationals (NJCAA Division I)."

Hoskin, who can beng insidit, but also face the basket and score, turned heads this summer at a junior college showcase camp in Tules.

But DePaul was on him since June and soon he'll we get a chance to throw his weight around in the Windy City.

For 3 1/2 quarters, this was a ball game.

Then, as Plymouth Christian Academy coach Rod Windle described it, "The wheels fell off." The Eagles scored the first four points of the second half to trim Auburn Hills Oakland Christian's lead to 19-18. After that, however, the game belonged to unbeaten Oakland Christian, ranked second in the state in Class D.

The Lancers outscored PCA 37-6 the rest of the way to win easily, improving their record to 8-0 overall and 2-0 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference. The loss dropped the Eagles to 5-3 overall, 1-1 in the MIAC.

"They struggled for a while "offensively," said 'Vindle. "We struggled offensively throughout the game. Their press was very effective. It overwhelmed us in the third quarter, and they got a lot of easy baskets off their "press."

Laura Clark's nine points was best for PCA. Amy Garbacz contributed seven; Amy Brandt had a team-high seven rebounds to go with three points.

Michelle Jackson topped Oakland Christian with 19 points, with Denise Smith adding 14.

PCA 54, Zoe Christian 34: On Sataurday at PCA, the Eagles took control early and never relented in subduing Warren Zoe Christian.

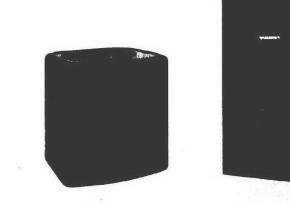

The point production was the most by a PCA team this season. "A lot of people contributed in this game," said PCA coach Rod Windle.

Laura Clark was the top pointgetter, scoring 17 points and dishing out three assists. Amy Brandt had nine points and eight rebounds, and Kallie Gross netted eight points and four steals.

Shannon Myree's 11 points topped Zoe Christian (3-4 overall, 0-1 in the MIAC). Highest Quality Equipment Available the everyday grind of their jobs. Whether they are woodworking beginners or accomplished professionals with skills honed as sharp as their carving knives, they will find a literal buzzsaw of activity at the American Woodworker Show in Novi, starting Friday, Sept. 29 through Sunday, Oct. 1.

"The show is an opportunity for people to learn more about woodworking," Rigstad said. "It has hundreds of exhibits, and it is a good place to see tools."

The show is coordinated by American Woodworker magazine and sponsored by Minwax. Recent studies show that nearly 20.4 million Americans are woodworkers, 20 percent of those are women.

Locally, groups such as the 250-member Michigan Woodworkers Guild and Michigan Violinmakers Association, will have representatives sitting at booths or members sharpening skills at seminars and workshops.

The Guild includes residents from Wayne, Oakland and other counties and highlights wood turning techniques, furniture finishing, furniture design, veneer techniques, making dovetails and mortise-and-tenon joints.

Joseph Hoover of Ann Arbor, who runs his own shop, The Furniture Maker in Dexter, will be conducting hands-on workshops and seminars at the show. One involves the creation of a small blanket chest or dowry. Hoover said media information on woodworking in books, videos and magazines has boomed in the last 10 years, contributing to its popularity.

Hoover agrees that woodworking allows people the same stress release that gardening, pottery or painting bring and allows them to get their hands into their work.

"For the hobbyist or the casual woodworker, it's therapeutic manual labor," Hoover said. "You're involved in working with your hands and your mind, and you're given immediate gratification for your work.

"(Woodworking) takes you away from the more technical tasks of the day."

It's not just the basic vendors or suppliers or even demonstrators who always draw attention. Greg Young of Pleasant Ridge will be assisting with the booth of the Michigan Violinmakers Association. Creating violins is a form of woodworking the average hobbyist may not even have considered as a craft.

"(Violinmaking) is pretty meticulous and concise compared to building a garage or cabinetmaking," Young said. "There's a lot of precision and variations to it." David Brownell, editor of MVA's quarterly journal quarterly journal and owner of his own studio in Ann Arbor, said violin makers get a sense of "creation and creating beauty."

"We're creating a fairly elaborate shape," Brownill esti. The so of violinmaking is enjoyable because it involves the working of to by hand to create a "serious instrument."

"Yes, we do get double-takes at the show," However, and the booth will display information on the visits-making process from a piece of white spruce or maple to its finished product. "We do (the booth) as an educational display, to give a sease of

Elegant Tiffany lamps displayed

Brose Electrical Construction of Livonia will show off a truckload of Tiffany lamps from the Quoisel Co. Thursday-Saturday, Sept. 28-30.

A truck will be parked in the lot of Brose at 37400 Seven Mile as part of Quosiel's Tour de Tiffany.

Quoizel Inc., one of the country's largest manufacturers of lighting fixtures and portable lamps, is presenting a national sales event "Tour de Tiffany." Headlining the sale will be authentic reproduction stained glass tiffany's from the handcrafted "Quoizel Collectible" collection.

Comfort Tiffany Louis searched for multi-colored glass without the addition of paint simply baked onto the glass like the stained glass windows he had seen in Europe.

Tiffany's creative efforts finally paid off with a patent on his favrile glass in 1894. This polychromatic glass enabled him to transform paintings into glass pictures.

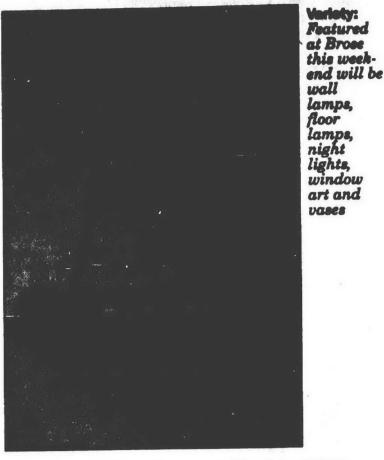

Now Tiffany could show the world that no painting could convey the brilliance of color and the radiance of light which endowed his stain-glassed works of art with the semblance of life. The glass used to make each individ-ual leaf, flower or background piece requires only a small serment of glass.

The arrangement of this glass is coordinated in terms of type. tone, and density to lend the true dimensional appearance of the botanical world. Louis developed glass adhering to glass with copper-foiling, soldering the pieces together to make his artwork strong and capable of withstanding the test of time.

The Quoisel Collectible tiffany reproductions are made with the same care to quality of glass and craftsmanship born in the studios of Louis Comfort Tiffany. Quoizel has increased the categories of lighting that tiffany style lamps are made in, such as: flush mounts, semi-flush mounts, inverted pieces, torchiers, complemented by hanging fixtures, floor lamps and table lamps all done with the special care to detail historically notable in Quoizel products.

One of these beautiful Tiffany lamps will be raffled off at Brose. Featured there will be wall lamps, floor lamps, night lights, window art and vases. A Tiffany favrile glass and bronze crocus lamp, created 1899-1920, will be displayed.

Brose is open 9:30 a.m.-6 p.m. p.m. Thursday and Friday. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday, and 9:30 a.m.- 8

Furniture Medic presents tips for simple refinishing

Grandma's antique table doesn't have to strip your patience.

Refinishing techniques can easily turn any piece of furniture into a prized possession. The needed products often are available at the local paint store.

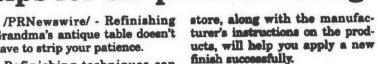

Along with some creativity, a little experimentation and the following tips from Furniture Medic experts, you can be on your way to fabulous furniture.

Before you refinish, be sure you won't devalue the piece.

Remember not to mix oil or solvent-based products with water-based products. Stick to using products from the same family.

Keep in mind that water based or acrylic products dry very quickly, without odors associated with oil and solvents products.

Cleaner home means healthier family

If you or your family suffers from allergies, you aren't alone.

According to the Centers for Disease Control, 50 million Americans suffer from allergies, and an estimated 17.3 million suffer from asthma.

"Simple changes in your routine house cleaning can reduce allergies and help your family live more comfortably. Removing dust and soil often from all surfaces is a key element in maintaining good indoor air quality," says Dr. Mary Lasley, a pediatric allergist.

Here's some tips:

Carpet and Flooring -Vacuum carpet regularly, usually once a week (twice in hightraffic areas) using a high-efficiency air filter. When choosing a vacuum, look for the CRI green label, which indicates that the model has been evalu-

Bed linens - Wash sheets in hot water, at least 130 degrees. each week to kill dust mites. Comforters, blankets and curtains should be washed often.

Accessories - Limit the books on shelves, decorative accessories on table tops, clutter on the floor and the children's stuffed animals to reduce dust accumulation.

Kitchen - Mop floors at least weekly with a clean mop, using a disinfectant. Store the mop in a clean condition to avoid bacterial growth. Clean around cabinets, and keep food in closed containers.

Bathroom - Clean shower stalls and bathtubs weekly, using a disinfectant. Areas under and around sinks and toilets should be cleaned and kept dry. Bath mats, towels and washcloths should be washed often.

Additionally, be sure to keep your home's relative humidity level below 65 percent; use a dehumidifier where necessary. This creates an environment that discourages the dust mite population and minimizes mold and mildew.

Remodeling, furniture show scheduled for October in Novi

The eighth-annual Fall Remodeling & Furniture Show will be open Thursday-Sunday, Oct. 12-15, at the Novi Expo Center, sponsored by the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan (BIA).

With more emphasis on home furnishings, organizers added "Furniture" to the title.

"We have renamed the show from the 'Fall Remodeling Show' to reflect a much larger selection of home furnishings and accessories than ever before," said Dave Kellett Sr., president of BIA and of Kellett Construction Co. in Bloomfield Hills.

"Whether your decorating style is formal, casual or eclectic, there is something here for you.'

For a special highlight of the show, chocolatier Chef Warren will create masterpieces and desserts during his Joy of Chocolate presentation as seen on Good Morning America. The Today Show and NBC News.

Additional show features include model rooms created to provide ideas and education about the newest color, furnishings and home accessories trends, and the National Kitchen and Bath Association members' sale of cabinets, counters and other discontinued items to benefit Habitat for Humanity.

Making guest appearances are Joe Gagnon, "The Appliance Doctor" for WJR and Observer & Eccentric columnist, and Dean Krauskopf from WJR's The Garden Show. WXYT is also represented by Glenn Haege (Ask the Handyman), Rick Bloom (Money Talk) and Mike Wendland (PC Talk). Wendland also writes a column for the Observer & Eccentric.

Other highlights include the pictorial display of the sixth annual Showcase of Distinctive Homes sponsored by BIA, Standard Federal Bank; the Detroit News and Free Press Classified Marketplace; Detroit Edison safety experts' demonstration of electrical safety and the need to play it safe around power lines; and a http://www.builders.org.

Treasure Chest contest with daily prizes.

More than 200 exhibitors will have advice, ideas and innovations for kitchens, baths, doors, windows, remodeling, interior design, furniture, arts and crafts, spas, decorative accessories, electronics, pet accessories, heating, cooling and appliances.

BIA also sponsors the GMC Builders Home & Detroit Flower Show at Cobo Center, the Macomb Home Improvement Show at Macomb Sports & Expo Center, the Home Improvement Show and the Spring Home & Garden Show at Novi Expo Center.

Novi Expo Center is at I-96 and Novi Road. Show hours are 2-10 p.m. Oct. 12-13; 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Oct. 14; and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Oct. 15.

even though it appears to be functioning properly. Doing so will make sure you never get stuck in a remote area unable to buy a new battery.

Remember, many cameras require a battery to not only work the meter but to operate the camera itself. Select an easy day to remember, such as Jan. 1 or your birthday.

When is it safe to hand-hold your camera? Shoot at the shutter speed that comes closest to the focal length of your lens not slower.

For example, with a 135mm telephoto lens, shoot at 1/125 second or faster. With a normal 50mm lens, a shutter speed of 1/60 will do. When you're not able to because your meter is calling for a slower shutter speed, use a tripod.

Don't always use "fast" films. The colors won't be as vivid, the films will be grainier and they'll cost you more when you buy them. The same is true for black and white films.

Guidelines

Remember to always use the guidelines of good composition to add impact to your shots. Move in close, simplify, watch your backgrounds and learn to use depth-of-field effectively.

Look at photographs! Go to museums, galleries and exhibits. Invest in photography books. Not just "how to" books, but photography picture books. Study closely and carefully the works of other photographers. Doing this will improve your own pictures as well as enhance your personal enjoyment of photography.

Finally, always remember that it is you making the photograph, not the camera. The true lens of the camera is in the mind and heart of the photographer.

Sharpen your visual awareness and perception of the world. Get in the frame of mind that you are making photographs, not taking snapshots.

LIVINING WELL

Indulge in a little instant gratification[[]

INVITING IDEAS

another (or at least most

of us) have experienced opening a chocolate bar while waiting in the grocery line (to be paid for, of course), ripping open a bag of cookies just purchased (some bags may not even make it home), or having a big warehouse-size bag of candy -- removing it from the cart, and placing on the passenger seat of the car (not the trunk or back seat) just to have a few morsels on the way home.

This is something I can definitely relate to - I have done all of the above!

Well, take that "weak little moment" and transform it into a fun evening for friends.

Have selected recipes and ingredients on hand - team up your guests and go to it...have each duo, trio, etc., put together one quick gratification recipe (use recipes that will finish at the same time, or as close as you can get).

Lauren Chattman, former pastry chef, can definitely relate to a little instant gratification this concept - she has just done a book titled Instant Gratification - No Hassle Desserts In Just About No Time, published by Harper-Collins Publishers, 2000 (hardcover $22).

While Lauren's claim is that all the desserts in the book take only 15 minutes of "hands on," the reality is the timing does not always include baking and cooling time - nonetheless, the recipes are good, and 15 minutes, by any standard is almost a nonreality for desserts.

My suggestion, allow guests more than 15 minutes, easy to solve!

At the designated time, all desserts are presented with plates and forks aplenty.

Let guests not only indulge, but participate in the fun.

Be sure to have a copy of Lauren's book on hand and offer the option of your guests coming up with their own original "instant gratifications."

If offering the option of original recipes, make sue that happens at the time of the invitation, giving guests adequate time to come up with their own quick ideas.

Here are several of Lauren Chattman's instant recipes for you to try:

CROISSANT PUDDING

An effortless way to elevate basic bread pudding is to substitute croissants for day-old bread. To keep down the cost of this luxurious-tasting dessert, check the better bakeries in your area. Many sell day-old croissants at half-Drice

Yield: 6 servings Equipment: Measuring cups Large roasting pan 7 by 11-inch glass or porcelain baking dish Cutting board Bread knife Paring knife Zippered-top plastic bag Electric mixer fitted with paddle attachment Wooden spoon

Ingredients:

Wire rack

3/4 cup golden raisins 3 to 4 day-old croissants

(about 12 ounces total) 3 cups whole milk

3 large eggs 2 large egg yolks 3/4 cup sugar

1 vanilla bean Directions:

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Place the roasting pan in the oven and pour 1/2 inch of hot water into it. Scatter the raisins across the bottom of the glass baking dish. Cut the croissants into 1/2-inchthick slices and place on top of the raisins in the dish.

Combine the milk, whole eggs, egg yolks, and sugar in the bowl of an electric mixer fitted with a paddle. With the paring knife, split the vanilla bean in half lengthwise. Place one half in the plastic bag and reserve for another use.

Scrape the seeds from the other half into the bowl. Discard the scraped bean half. Beat on medium-low speed with the mixer until well blended and a little frothy, 1 to 2 minutes. Pour the egg mixture over the croissants and press the bread with the back of the spoon to make sure everything is submerged. Let stand a minute or two, pressing with the spoon once or twice, to allow the bread to absorb the egg mixture.

Carefully place the dish in the pan of hot water and bake until golden and just set, about 50 minutes. Carefully remove the roasting pan from the oven, then remove the baking dish from the pan and let cool on the wire rack.

Serve slightly warm or let cool completely, refrigerate covered with plastic wrap up to 24 hours, and serve chilled.

Ruth's Cook's Note:

"I never discard scrapped vanilla beans, I bury them in my stored sugar - great flavor! Just keep adding sugar on top of them - they last indefinitely ... or change them from time to time.

"I like bread pudding warm -if I'm feeling like real instant gratification, I eat it almost right out of the oven - do let it cool long enough so guests don't burn their mouths!"

SPICED MEXICAN CHOCOLATE PUDDING

This is the perfect quick dessert. Rich, warm pudding satisfies the fundamental need for chocolate; cinnamon gives it a twist. The beautiful part is that you don't even have to wait for the pudding to cool off - stirring in the chocolate at the end lowers the temperature so it is perfect for eating just as soon as the chocolate is melted."

Armitage's Garden Perennials, Allan M. Armitage ($49.95, Timber Press) is the most inclusive book on the subject that I have seen. This color encyclopedia contains nearly 1,500 pho-tographs of hundreds of plants that the author considers choice plants; some are shown in different sessons.

His descriptions flow as he shares his thoughts on each plant that is depicted. Ideal growing conditions and hardiness zones are helpful. More

HISTORIC RENOVATION

Donations to help fund Blue House renovations

T FUELY PROCEED

Alexander Blue's house a Livonia landmark. Maybe you remember driv-ing past it on Middlebelt north of Schoolcraft before it was moved to Greenmend Historical Park in 1987

The stately white house - one of the first you'll see as you drive up the dusty road to the park -is scheduled for renovation.

Two groups dedicated to pre-serving Livonia's past - The Friends of Greenmead and the Livonia Historical Society recently donated money to help the Blue House play a role in the city's future.

"We hope to use the house for meetings, small wedding receptions of up to 200 people because the church (at the park) is so close, have a small warming kitchen, let civic groups use it and hold classes there," said Linda McCann, director of the Department of Community Resources for the city of Livonia. "We'd also like to move the offices from the building they are in now to the upstairs of the Judge Blue House."

Donations

The Friends of Greenmead recently donated $25,000, and the Livonia Historical Society gave $20,000 to help pay for the renovations.

"The city council is allowing us to get the requests for the proposals for architectural services," said McCann. "We really chose what we wanted to do by looking at an expansion that wouldn't ruin the building or that wouldn't be too big or inappropriate for our needs and for the current structure," McCann said. "We really want this to happen and didn't want to bite off more than we could chew, so to speak. We are hoping to start renovations in the spring."

"The renovations will give the extra beauty to those group of buildings that are already there," said Jane Soltesz, Livonia Historical Commission member and Livonia Historical Society

"This is an ongoing fund-raising project because there's not enough money in the coffers yet," said Soltess, who praised everyone from the Friends of Greenmead, Livonia Historical Society, Livonia Historical Commission, Alexander Blue Questers, the city of Livonia, and other people who continue to support the project. "This is just going to be gorgeous."

Focal point

Marian Renaud, program supervisor at Greenmead, sees the house becoming a focal point of the park.

"There's a lot of interest in the Blue House," she said. Alexander Friends: The Friends of Greenmead gather for a group photograph at Greenmead Historical Park. The group recently donated $25,000 toward the renovation of the Alexander Blue House at Greenmead.

Blue was a farmer, and elected justice of the peace in 1846. He held that position for 28 consecutive years.

The house is ready to be finished. It's structurally sound, and the roof and gingerbread trim have been replaced.

"It's a grand house," said Renaud. "We're so grateful for the continued support of the Friends of Greenmead and the competitive, 128-member drum corps into a theatrical show called the Brass Theatre and then into Blast!, which opened to rave revues at the London Apollo last December. Local audiences first caught a glimpse of the production when PBS aired a special on Blast! in August.

Hester began working his way down the long road to marching band and eventually Blast! after hearing his mother Susan play piano when he was a child. By fifth grade he'd picked up the trumpet and just a few years later joined the Plymouth-Canton High School Marching Band. After graduation, Hester went on to earn a bachelor's of music degree from the University of Michigan School of Music. But he never imagined that one day he'd be using the choreographic skills he learned in the award-winning Plymouth-Canton band on stage, or for that matter, the training he received with the University of Michigan Symphony and Philharmonia orchestras and the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. This production ties all the experie together including the years he marched with the Cavaliers Drum & Bugie Corps in Resement, Illinois. That's when Hester first began touring natio ally. Boy George gets band back together for reunion

BY STEPHANIE ANGELYN CASOLA

STAFF WEITER scasola@oe.homecomm.net

Chances are, if you were old enough to dance in the early '80s, you can still recite the chorus to hits like Karma Chameleon and Do You Really Want To Hurt Me. That's how pervasive the British pop sensation Culture Club was in those days, and the red, gold and green revolution was led by lead vocalist and songwriter Boy George.

Internal struggles and drug use took their toll on the band for more than six years before Culture Club called it quits. Brought back into the limelight, and revived by radio's "flashback" format, Boy George, Mikey Craig, Jon Moss and Roy Hay are ready to

BG: "We always play them anyway. It's part of my legacy. As you get older, maybe it's a therapy. I'm not sure. Actually, I think it's really very good. "That's a difference between Americane and British. I'm looking at the Olympics and the Americans are really very confi-dent. There's this English swimmer ... (who's asking the swimmers as they finish) 'aren't you disappointed in yourself?' The negativity in this city (London) is unbelievable. In America, you really celebrate success. We're at the opposite end of that.

"As I get older, I can say, "that was great.' I'm proud of that as a band, particularly in America. (fans will) tell me 'you made it easier for me to come out of the closet.

O&E: Tell me about the new material. What does Culture Club sound like today, nearly 20 years after you started out? BG: "We've always written quality songs. As a songwriter, the most important thing is the story. They're very personal. I write about things that are very everyday. If I write about love, I sort of write about it at a left-ofcenter angle. My misery, my heartbreak, my problems. Whether you're straight, queer, young or old, it's applicable."

O&E: How much of the show will feature new music and how much classic Culture Club can the audience expect to hear?

BG: "It's a mixture, things peo ple know and things people don't know. The things they know, about what I've done, it's indescribable. That's the luxury of being around for 20 years. If they're into the band, those kids know everything about me."

O&E: That sounds a little

BG: "It's fantastic. They're like kind of detectives." O&E: We seem to be in the midst of an '80s revival. How do you feel about it personally, ing such an icon of the decade?

BG: "I don't think of myself as a nostalgia freak. I think there is always good music being made." O&E: Describe the typical Culture Chub fan in the '80e and the typical Culture Club fan today. BG: "On the last tour we did in America, the Big '80s Tour with Human League and Howard Jones, we always had the young girls, their mothers and homosexuals. I noticed a lot more guys. I think definitely the culture has lightened up a lot.

"I was anti-fashion and that was made fashionable. There was no possibility I was going to turn up at the same function wearing what George Michael or Madonna was wearing. I don't even know what I'm going to be wearing on tour. If you want to stay fashionable, stop worrying

O&E: Tell me about your career as a DJ.

BG: "I've been a DJ for seven years in the UK. It was sert of an accident. I always had decks. I was sort of a gadget hound. I did a couple of parties for a friend and was asked will you play at my club? "In the UK most kids know me as a DJ. They come and say 'my mom loves you.' It's an interesting thing; I was able to transcend."

O&E: So what can we expect to ee at the upcoming show?

BG: "Our show is very danceoriented. There's more grooving than the last show. We mix in a lot more technology without obliterating what's good about a hand."

Laughter habit-forming on the Gem Theatre stage

BY ALICE RHEIN STAFT WRITER ARHEINBOR BOMBCOMMANET

When the story about the prophetic third letter of Fatima made international headlines earlier this year, Lisa Buscani, who plays Sister in the Gem Theatre Century Club's production of Late Night Catechism, was all over it.

"I pay attention to the cable news and log onto the Vatican Web site, vatican.com, just as a matter of habit," she said. "You know people are going to ask you."

The people the Sylvania, Ohio native is referring to are her audience, who, for an evening. are students in Sister's adult catechiam class.

Wild antics

Those familiar with the wild antics of the seven-year-old show, which originated at the Live Bait in Chicago, often come prepared to stump the nun.

On opening night, earlier this month, there wasn't one person who came close to challenging Sister's knowledge of Catholicism, but there were plenty who gave her grief.

"Hats off. You know better you would hardly recognize the than that," she barked to a gen-that confused, what-am-I-goingto-do-with-my-life anxiety that John Cusak's Lloyd expressed so dearly in Say Anything. I've been that sister-type who's frequently shoveling out romantic advice, whether the person is taking it or not, just like Bonnie Hunt's character in Jerry Maquire. But this time, he's really got me.

With his latest cinematic effort, Almost Famous, Crowe conquers something as near and dear to the former rock journalist as it is to myself - the ultimate rock 'n' roll fantasy. Sure, he's toyed with the rock 'n' roll contingent before on film. He's introduced us to characters like the dim-witted grunged-out frontman, Cliff, in Singles and the scheming Damone in Fast Times at Ridgemont High who scalped concert tickets for cash.

This time around the record player, Crowe shows off his expertise in rock culture. This time he takes us behind the curtain, in back of the tour bus, into the hotel room, to tell a story of aspiring fame and those closest to it. It's all set to a stellar soundtrack with tell-tale songs like Elton John's Tiny Dancer and River by Joni Mitchell.

When 15-year-old William (Patrick Fugit) gets an assignment from Rolling Stone Magazine to write about a band he admires, Crowe gives us a glimpse at rock life that's almost autobiographical for him. And I could fit myself comfortably into any scene.

The film is bound to hit close to home for many music fans. While I hate to admit it, in the late '80s, I was one of those kids standing outside the stadium, outside the hotel, in line at the record store, waiting for my own brush with fame. It drove my parents crazy. Concerts were not just one night of entertainment, far from it. They were the sole focus of my social calendar for much of middle and high school.

I scoured the newspaper for upcoming shows every weekend. When tickets were going on sale for a concert I had to attend, my friends and I would set our alarm clocks for 4 a.m. just to make it down to the Rochester Harmony House store to be first tially another world, a fantasy in line when the doors opened at world. I never wanted to give it 10.

The ritual continued on the day of the show, when we would traipse around town seeking out a tour bus in some mad chase to meet our favorite musician-ofthe-moment.

We had it down to a science by age 16. We could venture a good guess as to which hotels contained which performers, depending on where the concert was held. The overriding rule was, find the band before about 3 p.m., when they would most likely leave to do a sound check at the venue.

It was a game, really. The object was to get as many autographs and photos in the scrapbook as possible. Be the envy of your classmates. It was essenUD.

As a writer, it's part of my job to slip into that fantasy world, have a look around every once in a while and tell everyone else what's going on. And yes, every now and then I get that butterfly tingle in my stomach when I'm about to meet or speak to someone I've admired. You can't really help that. But it's become even more about the music. Welcome to my fantasy world.

As the character Lester Bangs - editor of Creem Magazine spouts in Almost Famous, "music chooses you."

Jamie Foxx takes the 'Bait,' leaves us laughing

BY JON KATZ SPECIAL WRITER

One thing that separates stars from actors is what they give you that's not on the printed page. That look, that gesture, that line no writer can write. That's the story. Mostly, though, Bait is about Jamie jivetalking his way out of jams with the cops, his old girlfriend and the bad guys. You won't remember any of the wisecracks but you'll get a kick out of them and come away conceding that Foxx is a funny guy.

Like most newer comedians who get big-screen time, however Foxx wants more than the kind of gags that got him there. He sees himself as a romantic lead, too, but his scenes with Kimberly Elise are just filler between the chases, the shooting and the yelling. There's a lot of f you think vegetarian food is nothing but sticks and twigs, you haven't dined at Seva, one of Ann Arbor's most enduring restaurants. In fact, plenty of meat-eaters find themselves parked in one Seva's cozy wooden booths feasting on the likes of chargrilled vegetables and polenta, spinach lasagna or eggplant with cilantro-peanut sauce. And loving every bite.

Seva serves up hearty vegetarian fare

BY RENIE SECOLUND STAFF WRITER

"We do really good food, and we don't rely on vegetarians. We have non-vegetarians say, What am I going to eat, broccoli?' I say just look at our menu," said Jeff Jackson, who owns the restaurant with his wife, Maren.

So what's on the menu? Lots from appetizers, salads and sandwiches to pastas, chargrilled entrees and Mexican and curry specialties.

There's Ravioli Cardinale, a spinach-filled ravioli tossed with broccoli and mushrooms in a tomato-sherry-cream sauce; a veggie Reuben with smoked mozzarella cheeses, and garlic dressing; and the house-favorite Enchiladas Calabas, corn tortillas stuffed Atmosphere: Warm, inviting. Lots of wood and stained glass. Menu: Vegetarian. Appetizers $3.95-$7.95; Salads $2.95 to $8.25; Sandwiches $5.95 to $7.95; Entrees $7.95 to $9.95. Great chill and fabulous soups every day.

Appetizers range from baked brie with apple-pear puree to housemade nachos. The yam fries, which also accompany some of the sandwiches, are served with a spicy dipping sauce and are a house best-sell-

There's a large selection of vegan items (no eggs, dairy or honey) or items that can be ordered vegan. And if you have food allergies, the waitstaff has access to a book that lists the ingredients of every item on the menu.

William Sichon and Susan Jaranowski of Wayne dine at Seva at least three times a week. "I like the mushroom dishes. If you don't eat meat, this is the best place to come. We love it. The service is outstanding. Never bad," said Sichon.

Jaranowski, a vegan who always orders two desserts, likes the tempeh wrap. "The combination of the tempeh and the guacamole and sprouts is delicious," she said.

Longevity

Seva's longevity may be attributed to two facts: Everything is made in-house, and Maren Jackson, the chef, was born a "super-taster."

"She has twice as many taste buds on her tongue," said Jeff. "She can take any dish and tell you what's in it and how much. She's the reason the restaurant is the way it is. I just fix things."

Maren, who once thought of becoming an engineer, has worked at Seva since 1979. She is modest about her culinary accomplishments. "I decided I like cooking better than engineering school," she said.

Most likely it was Maren's double-duty taste buds that accounted for the restaurant's "Best Chile in Michigan" award from AAA of Michigan in 1998. Her kitchen also produces some (straight marscapone whippedwith butter, egg yolks and sugar and layered over Kaluadrenched ladyfingers), and Key Lime pie, Seva offers a wide variety of wines at excellent prices, starting at $2.95 a glass and $12 a bottle. Special wines (priced at just a few dollars over wholesale, said Jeff) also are available.

Now's the time to point your car west and head to Ann Arbor. Vegetarian, vegan, meateaters and the just plain adventurous all come away from Seva planning their next visit.

Great sushi: Nori rolls, a vegetarian sushi, are served only on Wednesday nights. The wasabi, a Japanese horseradish, is disguised as a fish.

Stop your neighbor now

My dide yard m it reaches the street, it's actually in front of our neighbor's house.

From an appearance standpoint, our neighbor's lawn service mows perpendicular to the street, which includes a triangle of our land. This week the neighbor had a sprinkler system installed where the pipes cross well onto our property.

Are we placing ourselves at risk for adverse possession down the line if we do nothing? Who is responsible for damage to the sprinkler pipe should any digging or trenching done on our proper-ty sever the plastic piping either before or after we might sell the property?

Any time anyone encroaches upon your property, that is arguably a trespass if you haven't given permission and they don't have an easement. This is obviously a potentially serious legal question, and if you allow it to persist for 15 years, you may well be deemed to have lost title to the property.

More important, however, there may be liability suffered by you by allowing someone to trespass on your property, thereby undermining your property in terms of exposure and liability.

You must address this issue now and notify your neighbor of your objection to what amounts to a taking of your property. If you cannot resolve it amicably with the benefit of counsel, you must consider your legal alternatives, which may be a suit to require him to remove the sprinkler system and any other encroachments on your property.

Disappearing Act

Homeowners should vanish before prospective buyer's arrive

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFT WRITER

Memories are priceless to a seller. But they don't mean much to a buyer.

That's why when you hire a Realtow to represent you in a home sale - and pay upwards of a 6-percent commist sion for that service - you should let the Realtor do the work. No interference.

Don't greet prospective buyers at the door with a monologue about all of the wonderful features of your fantastic home.

Don't follow prospective buyers during their walk through like a buzzard circling a wounded animal. Don't try to contact folks who visit an open house to see if they have any questions or there's anything you can do.

E 'Sharing memories doesn't increase the value of property. Purchasers are nervous enough about making decisions to buy. They don't want to go for a trip down memory lane.'

Jim Doran associate broker with RE / MAX Professional in Rochester Hills

Sellers who try to become major actors in the production actually can be their own worst enemies. Doran said.

ARM may be bad news

The most insidi financial mistake a person can make is spending "if-come" instead of income. Spending your bonus before you get it or buying on credit with the promise of a future pay raise are both precursors of financial problems. These ideas are as foolhardy as buying a home with an adjustable-rate mortgage without cause. An ARM is a mortgage whose interest rate varies over time. While ARMs have their place, they are usually misused. ARMs are best suited for borrowers who are moving into a property with specific knowledge that they will either be moving or refinancing before the ARM adjusts significantly.

ARMs can be a good choice when interest rates are stable or declining. Inthe wake of Alan Greenspan's seven interest rate increases over the past 14 months, the current market does not really qualify as an ARM market.

Some buyers - and misinformed loan officers - wrongly believe that ARMs are better than fixed-rate mortgages because ARM buyers can buy more home with a lower starting interest rate. This is generally incorrect: Most lenders require borrowers to qualify for ARMs at a interest rate higher than the starting rate. Most ARMs do have periodic and lifetime "caps" that limit how much the ARM may adjust over a certain time period. A one-year ARM with a cap of 5 percent may start at an interest rate of 6 percent, for instance, but can be as high as 11 percent in five years. That nearly doubles the monthly payments and can be financially treacherous.

If your lender is pushing ARMs, be wary. He may simply be looking for your return business a few years down the road when your increased pay-ments get too difficult to manage. Con-sider discussing your alternatives with other lenders or your financial adviser. If you do decide to use an ARM for your purchase, make sure you read th fine print, especially with respect to any "exit fees" associated with the loan. The last thing you need is to be forced into deciding between staying in your high-interest ARM or paying a pre-payment penalty to get out of it.

In short, don't be a buttinski.

"Sharing memories doesn't increase the value of property," said Jim Doran, an associate broker with RE/ MAX Professional in Rochester Hills. "Purchasers are nervous enough about making decisions to buy. They don't want to go for a trip down memory lane."

Especially when the memories mean nothing to them.

Barb Schaefer, affiliated with Real Estate One in Clarkston, shares a cartoon with the owners of all her listings early in the process.

"It shows a picture of a house and what the seller thinks (real nice), the appraiser (dumpy), the buyer (decent) and the assessor (mansion)," Schaefer said. "They get the idea."

Don't create stress

Hovering and babbling just won't cut it.

"Selling is stressful," said Shannon Morgan, a Realtor with Century 21

Gold House in Canton. "Even Realtors realize selling our own homes can be stressful."

"It's very emotional," Schaefer said. "They (sellers) start thinking that's where they brought the kid home from the hospital. All that goes through their mind. They don't realize their house is built with the same wood and nails as next door."

Schaefer meets with sellers beforehand and "tactfully" them to share memories or thoughts on special features of the house with her, which she then will share with prospective buyers if she feels the information will help lead to a sale.

"I've had sellers when they signed the listing agreement shed tears, when I brought them a purchase offer," said Neil McCloskey, a Realtor with Coldwell Banker Schweitzer in Livonia.

Strictly business

"It should be a business thing, but for buyers and sellers, these are emotional times," he added. "You have to have empathy, but at the same time, you have to keep things on a business level."

"They're emotionally attached to the home, excited, they want to go. They may make negotiations a little tougher. The purchaser senses they're in a hurry to get out. They may make a lower offer. The seller then gets offended and they actually caused the problem," he said.

Buyers vs. sellers

get out of the house."

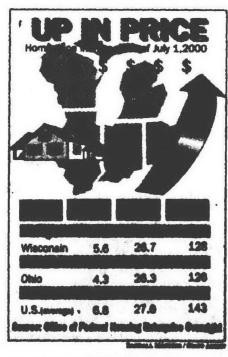

McCloskey said buyers he's represented have specifically requested that the sellers aren't home when they go back for a second or third visit.

"So they can take their time looking at a house," he said. "A purchaser will look into closets, open kitchen cabinets. They'll feel inhibited if a seller is there watching them."

Some Realtors today prefer to take a lower profile, too, rather than conduct a grand tour when showing a house, Morgan said.

"They stand aside, turn on the lights and are available to answer questions," she said.

Prospects can then walk through at their own pace and concentrate on what's important to them.

State, Fannie Mae help homebuyers

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority will help more than 2,200 Michigan families become homeowners with new, low-cost mortgage loans. MSHDA will sell $136.6 million in bonds to private investors to finance the loans, which will carry an interest rate of 7.25 percent. The authority also will offer 30-year fixed rate loans at 7.00 percent interest with 2 discount points (2 percent of the mortgage amount) charged at closing.

"Michigan has led the way nationally in making housing affordable for low and moderate income families," Gov. John Engler said. "Through this program, even more hard-working families in Michigan will be able to realize the American dream of homeownership.

"The Housing Authority and Fannie Mae have teamed up to give homebuyers in Detroit an exceptional opportunity for even lower mortgage interest rates," Engler said. "The initiative is one of the most unique in the nation and reflects Michigan's leadership and expertise in the low-income housing arena."

Of the bonds issued by MSHDA, Fannie Mae will buy $12 million designated for Detroit area homebuyers at an interest rate of 6.95 percent. A lower interest rate of 6.70 percent also will be offered but with 2 discount points charged at loan closing.

Potential homebuyers with household incomes of up to $43,575 may qualify for the 30year loans to buy new or existing houses. "Our work with Fannie Mae has been very productive in providing affordable housing to deserving Detroit homebuyers, and this program will be no exception," said MSHDA Executive Director James L. Logue III.

Logue also cited reasons why the effects of the bond sale will help residents throughout the state.

"This bond issue will allow us to offer mortgage interest rates well below the going market rate," Logue said. "And with the wide variety of mortgage lending programs available through MSHDA, we are certain to have one that fits the budgets of many lower income families in Michigan."

Applications for MSHDA loans are taken by hundreds of branch offices of lending institutions participating in the MSHDA program.

For more information, homebuyers may call (800) 327-9158.

Try to avoid chaos for your home office

Are papers piling up on the kitchen table? Want to get the computer out of the family room and away from the kids? You need a separate home office.

"The advantages of working at home are hard to ignore, but so are the distractions," says Richard Roll, president of American Homeowners Association. "Try to avoid household clutter and chaos in setting up your home office."

The home office experience can be eithe your new work area. In order to be comfortable, you may have to add a window air conditioner and insulation to the attic and a space heater to the basement.

If you need a meeting space for clients, you need a more private, formal space than a bedroom can provide. Obviously, sitting on the bed or taking your client past bedrooms and bathrooms isn't the impression you want to make.

The basement is still the ideal choice, blissful or awful, depending on how your home office is set up, or set off from the rest of the house.

It's critical to pick the right location in your home, or food, noise, and foot traffic will distract you.

Make it work by taking into account all your personal and professional needs.

If you need privacy and quiet, the best locations for your home office are a spare bedroom or the basement.

First, take inventory of the space you'll need for office equipment, including personal computer, printer, fax machine or copier. You may want to remove the bed and replace it with a pullout sofa.

A finished basement or attic is the ideal location for a home office. Both can be easily converted and devoted exclusively to Association.

especially if it has a separate outside entrance.

If you're not a work-at-home person and space is at a premium, a desk or cubby in the kitchen or family room might suffice for keeping track of bills or working on the computer.

The most attractive, practical option is to build a home office onto your existing home, but it's also the most costly. You'll probably need a home improvement loan. Your property value will go up, but your property taxes and insurance will go up while you still own your home, too.

"Forecast of Changes into the Next Century," homeowners are living in their homes 11.4 years on average, making home remodeling more likely.

A recent report by the Center for Housing Studies at Harvard University also indicates that:

During the first two years after purchase, homeowners spend an average of $2,000 more remodeling their home.

Within two years of having a child, over 75 percent of homeowners improve their homes

Experienced buyers trading up spend three times as much on remodeling than first-time buyers.

Whether you're a longtime homeowner, a new buyer, or a growing family, it's never too late to give your old address a new look. Exterior improvements increase your home's beauty, efficiency and curb appeal.

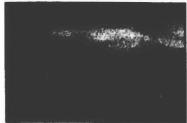

Today's vinyl siding offers an authentic cedar look without the maintenance hassle. In fact, the low maintenance appeal of vinyl siding is one of its highest selling points, according to Alcoa.

Gleichman joined the design/ construction services firm headquartered in Southfield in 1967 and has served in his present capacity since 1989.

He's active in numerous safety professional associations including American National Standards Institute, National Safety Council and American Society of Safety Engineers, and the Michigan Safety Conference.

News from Realtors Existing home sales jump in August homes rose to the second highest level this year, according to the National Association of Realtors.

Existing-homes jumped 9.3 percent in August to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 5.27 million units from a level of 4.82 million units in July.

Last month's sales activity was 0.6 percent below the 5.30-million unit pace in August 1999.

Home sales are tracking interest rates, NAR President Dennis R. Cronk said. "When you look at the housing market compared to a year ago, the movement in both sales and interest rates are fairly even ... mortgage interest rates are only slightly higher than August 1999, and existing home sales are only slightly lower.'

Sales of existing single-family II Existing homes jumped 9.3 percent in August to a seasonally adju ted annual rate of 5.27 miltion units from a level of 4.82 million units in July.

> economist, said mortgage interest rates have been on a steady decline since peaking in May. "Clearly, affordable interest rates are the biggest key to the strength in this year's housing market," he said. According to Freddie Mac, the national average commitment rate for a 30year, conventional, fixed-rate mortgage was 8.03 percent in August, down from 8.15 percent in July; it was 7.94 percent in August 1999.

This month's sales increase is David Lereah, NAR's chief in sync with recent increases in other housing activity. "Some of the boost in this month's report comes from people selling their existing-homes to trade-up to larger existing homes as well as newly built houses," Lereah said.

The national median existinghome price was $142,200 in August, up 3.5 percent from August 1999 when the median price was $137,400. The median is the midpoint - half the homes sell for less, while half sell for more.

Housing inventory levels slipped 5.3 percent at the end of August with 1.62 million existing homes available for sale, which represents a 3.7-month supply at the current sales pace. Inventory levels remain 19.4. percent below the 2.01 million homes available in August 1999.

Plymouth District Library 223 S. Maia Suree

> Housing inventory levels showed a strong increase at the end of July, rising 14.3 percent from June to a total of 1.68 million existing homes available for sale; this represents a 4.2-month supply at the current sales pace. Inventory levels have recovered dramatically - up 78.7 percent from the record low of only 940,000 homes on the market at the end of January," Lereah said. The inventory at the end of July remains 14.3 percent below a year ago.

Here are a few tips on financing your home

Buying a home can be exciting. but the prospect of obtaining a mortgage can be confusing to someone unfamiliar with the process.

Quicken Loans, an online mortgage lender, developed a Top Tips" list to abolish the more common worries borrowers have when financing a home online.

Here are a few "Top Tips" you should consider before getting a mortgage online:

Know how much you can afford to spend on your new home.

It's important to know not only what the home itself will cost but also to understand the additional costs associated with the loan process - closing fees, for example.

Closing fees vary, but typically include appraisal, credit report. flood certification, title insurance, processing, settlement or closing and survey fees.

Know you don't need to put 20 percent down on a home.

Fear of making large down payments shouldn't discourage potential home owners from fulfilling their dreams. There are plenty of options available, such as zero down or low down programs, that make the home buying process affordable.

Know all the different loan options available.

Depending on a borrower's status (purchasing a home for the first time, refinancing, consolidating debt, home improvement, etc.), there are various programs available to consider, ranging from loans for individuals with imperfect credit to zero-down, federally subsidized (FHA) loans.

Adjusted rate mortgages (ARMs) have an interest rate and monthly payment that will change periodically and are ideal for short-term home ownership. Borrowers should consider their future plans and explore all options with their loan officer in order to find a loan that is best for their situation.

Know if buying points is good or bad for your situation. Buying points is a way to lower your interest rate. The more points bought up front, the lower your rate.

Here are three situations when borrowers should consider paying points.

Buying vs. refinancing a home. Points paid when you buy a home are tax-deductible in the year in which the house is bought. Points paid when you refinance your home must be amortized and deducted over the life of the loan.

Relocating. Some companies will offer a relocation benefit and pay up to three points on your behalf.

Planning on staying in the home. You need to feel confident that you will be staying in the home long enough to save enough money to cover the initial cost of the points.

Know what happens to the loan once the application has been filled out.

Sometimes, prospective borrowers fill out all the paperwork and then are forced to wait. They have no idea where the application is, who's working on it, and what stage it's in. If possible, borrowers should find out when they will be updated on the status of their loan.

Know what other factors might affect the mortgage.

It is crucial for borrowers to understand what types of things will affect the amount and type of loan they apply for. There may be restrictions due to credit record, debt-to-income ratio, employment status, type or size of home, or a wide array of other variables. Be sure that your loan officer explains these factors to you in detail.

Know and trust the company you're dealing with.

Just as your lending company trusts that you will be able to pay the monthly mortgage, you also need to trust the lending company to fulfill its responsibilities.
