The Plymouth Observer is getting into the pie business at the 46th annual Plymouth Fall Festival.

The Observer will sponsor a pie-eating contest for youngsters 7 through 15 years old, as well as a special category for Observer carriers.

The contest will take place in Kenlogg Park Saturday, Sept. 8. Registration begins at 1 p.m.

Age groups include 7-9, 10-12 and 13-15, along with a category for youngsters who are carriers for any of the seven Wayne County Observer newspapers. Prizes will be awarded in each contest group.

For more information, call the Plymouth Observer, (734) 459-2700, or email the editor at bkadrch@ce.homecomm.net.

Underpass project pushed back

In an effort to disrupt services such as water to the city, Wayne County road officials have delayed the Sheldon Road underpass project until June 2002.

It appears Sheldon Road motorists are going to have to wait a bit longer and endure a few more train delays before a major underpass project begins.

Because of design problems, Wayne County has delayed its plans to build an $8.8 million underpass at the railroad tracks just south of M-14. Initially the project was scheduled to begin in December, but that has now been pushed back to June 2002.

Once construction begins, Sheldon will be closed both ways at the tracks, which are the dividing line between Plymouth and Plymouth Township. The closure is expected to last nearly two years.

The main reason for delay is how the county will relocate a water main that runs under the tracks, said Wayne County Road Commission spokesman John Roach.

If the project had moved forward under the original design, water would have been cut off from the city of Plymouth for as much as three weeks, which was not acceptable to either city or township officials.

"There have been a number of challenges during the course of the project. Initially our biggest concern was how we were going to construct by-pass lanes so motorists could still use Sheldon during the construction period. Unfortunately there is no land available for us to build the lanes," Roach said.

"Our current challenge is relocating the water main. We are now looking at a design that will only call for very

The first day of school is like a renewal. Whether you're a principal, teacher, student or parent, every school year begins with a clean slate and mounting anticipation.

"It feels good to be back," said Tyler Dean, a fifth grader at Farrand Elementary in Plymouth Township. "I've gone here all my life, and I've gotten used to it and all the things that happen here. It's kind of fun to learn, and they make you have a great time."

Principal Ann Kuhn believes that kind of student attitude is the result of ushering in new school years for more than a decade.

"We've almost perfected the first day over that period of time, making a number of minor changes," Kuhn said as she prepared to visit several classrooms on the first day of school. "I've got a wonderful secretary who gets everything organized, a great staff, parents that help, and a veteran group of para-professionals who know exactly how to handle things."

Chain decides to close local eatery

BY KURT KUBAN

Bill Knapp's, a popular restaurant chain with senior citizens, shuttered 16 of its locations Saturday morning, including stores in Plymouth Township and Westland.

According to company spokesman Nick Tholey, the closings are part of a natural business cycle and not a sign the Battle Creek-based chain is in dire financial straits. The chain, which dates from 1948, still operates 31 restaurants in Michigan and Ohio, including two in Livonia and another in Farmington Hills. Those stores escaped last week's ax.

"We consistently look at our properties, to see the profitability of each. This is just the natural process we go through, especially when leases come up," he said.

The Bill Knapp's in Plymouth, on the corner of Ann Arbor and Haggerty roads, opened its doors in 1973 and was the chain's first Detroit-area location. The Westland location at 36601 Warren had been open since the early 1990s.

Out of business: The Bill Knapp's restaurant at Ann Arbor Road and Haggerty in Plymouth is now permanently closed.

Tholey said the company's first concern is to find other employment for its displaced employees, who didn't find out they were out of a job until a mandatory meeting Saturday morning. The Plymouth location had 27 employees, Westland had 25. "We don't expect any of our employees will be without jobs for long. Many of the employees have already agreed Plymouth Township trustees appear ready to move forward with an Ann Arbor Road improvement plan even if Plymouth city commissioners aren't.

Members of a city subcommittee have called off a Sept. 5 meeting with township representatives to finalize an inter-governmental agreement creating a downtown development authority, intended to finance $12 million in streetscape improvements along Ann Arbor Road. Part of the plan calls for the city and township to pool taxes collected from businesses along Ann Arbor Road to pay for the improvements.

Also in doubt is a Sept. 11 joint city-township board meeting, to transfer to one of our other locations. For the rest, we are working on referrals so they can find work at other restaurants," he said.

The news that Westland's Bill Knapp's had closed didn't surprise Scott Veldhuis, economic development director for the city of Westland, because it was perceived as too senior-oriented.

"They weren't catering, at least in my mind, to the needs of a younger population," said Veldhuis, noting the restaurant in Westland was a good one.

Pointing to its other closings throughout Michigan and Ohio, Veldhuis believes the closing doesn't indicate there is anything wrong with the local economy.

"They're all over the place. It's not just a Westland phenomenon," he said.

Although Tholey said Bill Knapp's has been trying to alter the image of its restaurants to "family dining," he admits they are quite popular with seniors. One of the reasons for this popularity is Bill Knapp's offers birthday specials where age equates the percentage off the price of a meal.

"We strive to be a family dining restaurant, but we tend to get a lot of seniors around their birthdays," he said.

Lori Brist, Senior Resources director for the city of Westland, hadn't heard of the closing on Tuesday morning. "What a shame I'm surprised that's really sad."

She said seniors at the Friendship Center like to go out to eat.

"It's too bad they didn't call on the chamber or even us. A lot of seniors eat there," said Brist, former executive director/president of the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

The chain owns the Westland property and leases the Plymouth property.

"I can't say what the plans are for the Westland property," Tholey said.

cials hope to use for a new municipal complex. Jabara was somewhat surprised when the chain announced it was closing the Plymouth location because the lease runs through April 2005. He said it is too soon to make any decisions about the property's future.

"I had an indication they were going to close some stores, but I didn't know this was going to be one of them. At this point, it is too premature to make any decisions about the property," he said.

POLICE BLOTTER

Plymouth Township police officers arrested two Northville men in the early morning hours Aug. 21 after a brawl broke out at Plaza Lanes.

Witnesses told officers at least 15 people were involved in the fight, which began inside the bowling alley, located at 42001 Ann Arbor Road. Several people were injured, including a Plymouth Township man who was transported to Oakwood Medical Center in Canton Township and received 10 staples in the back of the head after being hit with a chair.

Police officers received conflicting testimony from the two groups involved in the altercation that began about 12:45 a.m. One witness said the fight began when someone threw a bowling ball through the air.

STRIKING A NERVE

Sciatica is the painful condition involving the sciatic nerve which is actually a group of nerves running from the lower back through the buttock and thigh to the knee where it branches on down to the feet. Besides pain deep in the buttock, irritation of the sciatic nerve may also cause pain in the thigh that radiates down to the feet as well as weakness and numbness in the legs. Diagnosis may reveal an injury to a spinal disc or inflammation and/or spasm of the piriformis muscle (the muscle in the buttocks that maintains hip stability and allows you to lift your leg sideways). The first line of treatment after the acute pain has subsided is usually physical therapy. Keep in mind, nearly every condition responds well to the correct form of exercise and adopting a sedentary or inactive way of life will generally result in a loss of strength and mobility, and an increase in pain and stiffness. To retain or boost your current level of physical ability, ask your physician to refer you to the HANDS ON CENTER FOR PHYSICAL THERAPY located in Plymouth at 470 Forest Avenue, Suite 20. We'll work closely with you to develop a workable, enjoyable plan of therapy and exercise. For more information please call 455-8370.

First day from page A1

However, Kuhn knows the only constant each year is change. And this year there is plenty of it at Farrand to help improve the atmosphere.

"The district has put a crossing guard out front," said Kuhn. "We have all the special education vans and buses, so there's a lot of traffic. There's always a concern for safety."

The inside is a bit brighter with skylights adding to the ambience.

"The old metal roof was taken off and the skylights were uncovered. It's nice to have natural light in the rooms," Kuhn added.

A new gym floor and murals painted by parents and former students on the hallway walls, are other improvements. Kuhn points to making her school a more fun place to attend.

Much of the fun is in the lunchroom. The upper level students know they must spend the first 15 minutes eating lunch after which they can spend the remaining 35 minutes playing.

"The first day is mostly helping the first graders who have never eaten lunch at school, and haven't gone a full day. Many of them think they get to go home after lunch," said Rose Stemmermann, who on the first day has done what she has for the past nine years as a para-professional, supervising lunch and helping in the classrooms.

Kuhn encourages parents to visit during lunch and eat with students. "It gives parents some time to spend with their children, and you can never have too much help in the lunch room," she chuckled.

Sherry and Darren Vickery of Plymouth have done that with three of their children, and were on hand for the first day of school once again, this time for Jesse, 6, a first grader.

"When I had lunch for the first time at school as a child, I was nervous. I didn't know where anything was, or what to do."

But, my mom helped me and I never forgot that," said Sherry Vickery, as she helped Jesse with his lunch.

On the other end of the spectrum, the year will be one of responsibility for the fifth graders, as they plan to move on to middle school next year.

"I'm the oldest boy in the class, so I get to help out the younger kids," said Matt Haslam, 9, of Plymouth Township, as he left for recess before heading back to his multi-age classroom. "You have to help them learn things. That's my number one priority."

Our Lady of Good Counsel

Monday also marked the first day of school at Our Lady of Good Counsel School. For the first time in the school's 52-year history, kindergartners were among the students to walk through the door.

Principal Ted Behn said adding kindergarten has been a goal of his since his first day on the job.

"We've been talking about bringing them in here since I started here as principal 16 years ago. It was so exciting to finally see them here. They are so adorable," he said.

OLGCS, which is just west of downtown Plymouth, is in the process of major renovations, including converting an old church into a number of classrooms. According to Behn, adding the kindergartners was major reason for the renovations, because they needed more space. In all, there are 48 kindergartners. Half attend in the morning, and half in the afternoon.

"We had to redo everything and reconfigure all the classrooms to accommodate them. But it was all worth it," he said.

Bank thief makes off with cash

BY KURT KUBAN

A man claiming to have been robbed of the Michigan National Bank on Ann Arbor and Sheldon roads Monday afternoon and got away with an undisclosed amount of money.

The man walked into the bank around 4 p.m. and handed a female teller a note that read, "I have a bomb, give me 20s, 50s and 100s," according to Plymouth Township police reports. The robber then told her to hurry up.

The teller told police investigators the man had what appeared to be a tire gauge in his hand and was referring to it as a bomb. She gave him an undisclosed number of bills, as well as "bait" money, which can be recorded and tracked.

Several police officers arrived shortly after the man left the bank's south door. A customer sitting in his car saw the man run south across the bank's parking lot. With the exception of the teller, he was the only witness that could provide police with a description of the thief.

"The majority of the people in the bank didn't even know what happened, because most had their backs to it. It was very quiet. There was no hysteria. The man was in and out," said Plymouth Township Police spokeswoman Jame Senkbeil.

Based on the descriptions given by the teller and witness, police investigators are looking for a white man in his early 30s, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighing 200 pounds. He was wearing a bright blue ball cap, blue polo shirt and brown khaki shorts during the incident.

Be on the lookout: Police say the suspect in the Michigan National Bank robbery is a white man in his early 30s, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighing 200 pounds.

Senkbeil said the department's K-9 tracked the man's scent to an empty parking space near the strip mall behind the bank, indicating he probably fled in a car. There were no witnesses to confirm the theory, however.

Because armed robbery is a federal crime, the case was turned over to the FBI, though Detective Cal Laura said Plymouth Township will continue to work on the case and aid the FBI.

"We are actively and aggressively pursuing the case and utilizing all of our resources to apprehend the responsible party," he said.

Anyone with information about the incident can call the Plymouth Township Police Department at (734) 453-3869.

Senator is 2nd politician to deny support of city candidate

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

For the second time in a month, a prominent political figure has accused Tom Prose of misusing literature to indicate support for Prose in the upcoming city commission election.

State Sen Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, isn't pleased with an alleged letter to the editor printed in the Aug. 3 issue of the Crier newspaper, which Prose owns and publishes. McCotter said the letter, printed just four days before the Aug. 7 primary, implied McCotter supported Prose for city commission. McCotter said the letter in the Crier was only part of an original letter and was used out of context.

"In 1993, after Tom lost in the city commission race, I sent a letter thanking him for taking time to become part of the political process," said McCotter. "It's a standard letter I send out to local constituents who run in government and school board elections."

"What Tom did is take a portion of that 1993 letter and portray that I support him in the upcoming city commission race," McCotter added. "I certainly do not support (Tom Prose), no way am I going to endorse him. I can't support anyone who portrays Plymouth in such a bad light (through his articles in the Crier)."

In response to the letter-to-the-editor complaint by McCotter, Prose said, "The letter speaks for itself. It's much ado about nothing."

When asked whether the letter to the editor printed in the news magazine was an actual letter sent by McCotter to the Crier for publication, Prose said, "What's your next question?"

The printed letter, with McCotter's signature attached, read:

"The seemingly simple, inherently courageous act of one citizen standing up before his peers and expressing his convictions is often-times as important — if not more important — than an election's ultimate outcome. I congratulate you for standing up for principle and bettering our shared community."

McCotter's chief of staff, Valerie Tillstrom, wrote a response, explaining McCotter's concerns. Only two of seven lines of the single-paragraph letter were printed in the Aug. 24 news magazine. Under Tillstrom's letter was an editor's note, which in part stated: "The letter in question was a letter of appreciation written to Tom Prose. We were not aware that there was an expiration date attached."

McCotter said he's received complaints from constituents, wanting to know why he is supporting Prose.

"Tom has a personal agenda, and I don't want to be associated with it," said McCotter. "I've received several phone calls from constituents asking me why I'm supporting Prose, and I'm not. I haven't talked to Tom since 1993. I wouldn't know him if he passed me walking down the street."

Less than two weeks before the Aug. 7 primary, former U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell of Plymouth Township insisted that a Prose campaign letter that suggested Pursell endorsed Prose for the city commission wasn't written by him.

"I never wrote that letter. The endorsement isn't mine," said Pursell.

Prose denied any wrongdoing in that instance, and said it's time for the letter issues to go away, and move forward with the city commission campaign.

"The letter issues are done and over. That part of the campaign is over," he said. "It's time to move on."

For Prose, that means running as a write-in candidate in the November general election. Despite finishing last in the primary's 11-candidate field, Prose believes he still has a chance to win one of the four available seats on the city commission.

"The results of the absentee ballots showed I did better than some of those candidates who got through the primary," said Prose, who finished ninth of 11 candidates in absentee balloting. "Based on messages and e-mail after the primary, I still have plenty of support."

brief water shut-offs to the city when we relocate the lines."

Township and city officials met with Wayne County officials last week, voicing their concerns about both the water main problem and the possibility that the delay would jeopardize federal financing for the project, said Plymouth Township Supervisor Steve Mann. A federal grant is paying 80 percent of the project's cost. Wayne County is paying 7.5 percent. The township and city will pay a combined 7.5 percent, and CSX will contribute the remaining 5 percent.

"Our main concern was for the project to cause as little disruption as possible to the residents of both the township and city. Although it wasn't really going to affect the township, we didn't want the city to lose its water. Our second concern was losing the federal funding, but the county has assured us that isn't going to happen," Mann said.

An average of 25,000 motorists drive that stretch of Sheldon every day, said Roach. The underpass project has been a big priority for the county, he said, because the CSX tracks are also busy, causing an average of 25 train delays for motorists daily.

In addition to the underpass, the county is scheduling a number of other Sheldon projects during the closure. The county is expected to begin repaving Sheldon from Ann Arbor Trail north to the tracks next summer. Also next summer, the county will be working on a project from Five Mile north about a half-mile. In the summer of 2003, Sheldon will be repaved from Joy north to Ann Arbor Trail.

Once the underpass design is completed, Roach said, the project will go out for bid, probably sometime in April. Roach said the county plans on having a number of public meetings about the project, so residents are aware of the final plans. The meetings should be held sometime between March and May.

OBITUARIES

FRANCES MARY KUSZYNSKI

Services for Frances Kuszynski, 95, of Westland were held Aug 27 at St Richard Catholic Church with the Rev Terence Treppa officiating. Burial was at St Hedwig Cemetery in Dearborn Heights.

Mrs Kuszynski was born

April 13, 1906, in Chicago and died Aug 24 in Westland. She was a homemaker.

Survivors include son, Robert L (Theresa) Kuszynski of Canton, sister, Josephine Silhan of Highland Park, grandson, Robert M (Cynthia) Kuszynski of Plymouth, grandson, Timothy P Kuszynski, great-grandson, Brian Kuszynski, and great-granddaughter, Karen Kuszynski.

JAMES E. MONTEITH

Services for James Monteith, 82, of Plymouth were held at the McCabe Funeral Home Canton Chapel.

Mr Monteith was born Sept 9 1918, in Detroit and died Aug 25 in Farmington Hills. He was a retired architect from Eberle-Smith in 1985. He was a former resident of Lake Ann, Mich. He was a graduate of Wayne State University in 1954. He was a member of First Church of Christ Scientist, Traverse City and former member of First Church of Christ Scientist, Plymouth. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II from 1940-1945 in Europe and in the South Pacific.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Shirley Monteith.

Survivors include sons, Clifton (Nancy) Monteith of Lake Ann, and David (Patricia) Monteith of Plymouth, brother, Richard Monteith, sister, Marie Sturmer, and three grandchildren.

SAMUEL "SAM" FALVO

Services for Sam Falvo, 87 of Redford were held Aug 27 at St Valentine Catholic Church with the Rev Thomas A Belczak officiating. Burial was at St Hedwig Cemetery in Dearborn Heights.

Mr Falvo was born Feb 19, 1914, in Heilwood, Pa., and died Aug 26 in Garden City. He moved to the Detroit area as a young man. He proudly served his country as a Sea Bee in the Navy during World War II and saw much of the world.

He was a business owner of the Gulf (later Marathon) Service Station. He was active in the Boys and Girls Club of Detroit and loved the game of baseball, coaching Little League, RTJAA, Barney McCloskey, and Westside Seven teams over the years. While coaching he would, at various times during the baseball season, load up as many kids as his Scout would hold and take them to a special Detroit Tigers game, where they would receive a ball, pin or small token from the game.

He also belonged to the VFW Romanowski Post. During his years of retirement, you could always find him in attendance at one of his grandchildren's events, whether it be baseball, hockey, soccer, basketball, football, school plays or dance recitals, he loved "his kids."

Survivors include wife, Dorothy Falvo of Redford, daughter, Denise (Thomas) Atkins, son, Mark (Jean) Falvo, and daughter, Sandy Falvo (Ron Walters), grandchildren, T J Atkins, Jeremy, Justin, Danny, and Cody Jagosz, and Sam, Ted, Sean, Gabriella, and Catherine Falvo, sister, Katje, and many nieces and nephews.

A WELCOMING SIGHT

Greet visitors in the entryway of your home with a well placed bouquet that does not have to be large to make a big impression. For a welcoming bouquet try combining white alstroemeria, Sprenger asparagus fern, and limonium with delphinium, juniper and gerbera daisies. Make an expanded version of a handheld arrangement and bind the stems together with ribbon. Then cut the thick cluster of stems level across the bottom so that the arrangement will stand in a shallow vase. Aside from its cheerfulness the arrangement conveys special thoughts. According to the Victorian language of flowers delphinium stands for the desired return of a friend, juniper conveys welcome to a new home and gerbera daisies translate to friendship.

Nature has a way of conveying what we cannot so let your flowers speak for you! At HEIDE'S FLOWERS & GIFTS located at 995 W Ann Arbor Trail Plymouth we would be glad to help you pick the perfect flowers for any occasion. We are celebrating over 100 years in business and 25 years in our current location so you know you're in good hands when you come to us. designed to have both governments approve the agreement.

"It's a disappointing turn of events," said Steve Mann, township supervisor. "We've got a tight timeline. We haven't completely closed the door, but we're not waiting for the city to create the DDA."

Mann is attempting to complete details of the DDA by the end of the year, which would allow the authority to capture increases in business property taxes from a base year of 1999. A delay, according to Mann, would mean a loss of a significant amount of money for the DDA and the project.

However, city commissioners on the joint services committee said they aren't ready to approve an agreement that hasn't been reviewed by city attorneys, and not discussed by the city commission as a whole.

"I understand Plymouth Township is on a fast track," said Commissioner Colleen Pobur, a member of the joint services committee which meets with township representatives. "However, it's important for our attorneys to review the agreement, give us comment, and for our colleagues to be equally comfortable with it."

"We're supporting this in principle, but there's a lot of money at stake and we want to be sure that any agreement with the township is beneficial to both parties," said Pobur. "We don't happen to share the township's belief that a significant amount of money will be lost if we don't do this now."

Commissioner Bill Graham shared some of the same philosophy in holding up the joint agree-

'We're making plans to move forward on our own. When the city is ready ... we'll be ready to discuss it.'

Steve Mann
—Township supervisor

ment. "It's a wonderful opportunity to do something nice along Ann Arbor Road," said Graham, also a member of the joint services committee. "However, I won't rush into it. I won't vote for any agreement without full understanding of the implications."

While commissioners won't speak publicly, some are being cautious in hopes the DDA accord is better than the joint fire department and joint police dispatch agreements with the township. Some city officials have been critical of the fire agreement, claiming the city doesn't get a fair say in how the department is run. Commissioners have been critical of the joint dispatch service, believing the city doesn't receive as quick police response time compared to when the city ran its own dispatch.

Still, Mann is perplexed by the delay, noting the city has had the six-page agreement since July 17, and "now we're down to the last minute and we have an excuse that their attorneys have been busy on other city matters. We're making plans to move forward on our own. When the city is ready to join in, we'll be ready to discuss it."

A family affair

Trip gives daughter 1st look at car her father invented

BY BRAD KADRICH
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

For years, Nancy Corwin has been searching the internet, looking for tangible evidence of one of her grandfather's accomplishments—the development of the Alter car.

Periodically, Corwin would type "Alter car" into the search engine on her computer, and scan the globe electronically for a glimpse of the car. With no luck.

Until recently, when she found it on the Plymouth Historical Museum's Web site, setting in motion a family excursion to Plymouth to view a bit of family history.

"It was my grandfather's car, and it was something I always wanted to see," Corwin said. "Every so often I'd do a search on the internet, and the Plymouth museum finally had its Web site up."

The car was developed by Clarence Alter of Manitowoc, Wis., Corwin's grandfather, and built in Plymouth starting in 1914. Founders of the Alter Motor Car Company liked Plymouth because of its accessibility via the railroad.

The company factory was built on Farmer Street, across from the Cultural Center. Initially, according to historic records provided by the Plymouth Historical Museum, the factory was in a one-story, 200 x 400 foot building. Later, an additional 192 x 60 foot building was added.

At its peak, the company employed 100 people and produced 25 cars a week. The 1916 model sold for $685, had a 27-horsepower motor and a 12-gallon fuel tank. By the end of 1916, the company couldn't keep up with orders and went out of business.

That was the last anyone saw of the car until 1959 when, according to museum records, a Sandusky, Ohio, man drove into Plymouth in an Alter car. He displayed the car at Greenfield Village before Clarence Moore, a charter member of the Plymouth Historical Society, bought it. That's the car on display at the museum now.

"Before Nancy found it on the internet, we hadn't known there was still one in existence," said Audrey Schmidt, Clarence Alter's daughter. "We had some pictures at home, and I had tried to find a car, but hadn't had any luck."

Once Corwin found the car on the Plymouth museum Web site, the Montreal, Canada, resident decided the family should come and see it. Having changed planes in Detroit during flights from Montreal to Schmidt's Verona, Wis., home, she knew it wouldn't be that far a drive.

"I thought it would make a nice family experience," Corwin said. Clarence Alter was 35 when his daughter Audrey was born, so the car was a thing of the past. Schmidt doesn't remember him talking much about it. A military career and other accomplishments had pushed the car to the back burner of Alter's life.

But last week, mother and daughter, with husbands in tow, made the 400-mile trek from Wisconsin to Plymouth and got their first hands-on look at the Alter car.

"Just seeing something I'd wanted to see for so long was wonderful," Audrey Schmidt said. "It made his accomplishment more real for me. It was worth the drive to fill in some blanks in my father's history, and to see the car."

Corwin, Alter's granddaughter, had some of the same feelings Alter died when Corwin was still in high school, so seeing the car brought back some memories.

"It was really exciting to see it," she said of the car. "It brought back memories of my grandfather. He died when I was in high school, but I still remember him. It was a very exciting family experience."

Sen. Levin concentrates on gas prices, defense

BY MIKE MALOTT
HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE
mmalott@homecomm.net

Sen Carl Levin is confident he'll eventually find the "mechanism" that causes gasoline prices to occasionally spike in Michigan, and then lawmakers will be able to decide whether they want to address it and what they will do about it.

The Federal Trade Commission has been unable to find any evidence of price fixing, collusion or even "leader-follower" pricing, Michigan's senior Democrat said he believes there must be some trigger for the sudden price movements.

Stations 20 miles apart will adjust prices upward simultaneously, Levin noted.

Levin

"It is not as if they all got deliveries yesterday," he said. "There is something, there is some mechanism that causes prices to move about the same distance at the same time."

Gas prices have been one of the main issues Levin has had to confront since Democrats took over control of the U.S. Senate in June. That takeover, spurred when Sen. James M. Jeffords, R-Vermont, left the Republican party, gave Levin the chairmanships of two of the most powerful committees in the Senate - Armed Services and the Permanent Investigations Subcommittee of Government Affairs.

Back in Michigan while Congress is on summer recess, Levin talked of his increased responsibilities in an interview with HomeTown Communications editors in Howell Friday, Aug. 17.

As chairman of the Investigations Subcommittee, that makes Levin the only chair of a standing committee with subpoena power. He said he will use it if he has to get answers about gas price spikes.

Promising to conduct further hearings in October, Levin has already received hundreds of documents from the FTC and taken testimony from oil company executives.

Gas prices have been closely watched in Michigan as prices rose to nearly $2 per gallon early this summer. That spurred calls from state legislators to investigate possible price fixing or collusion. Michigan Attorney General Jennifer Granholm said she'd already been looking into the problem, in conjunction with the FTC, and could not find evidence.

Eventually, State Sen. Bill Bullard, R-Highland, and Rep. Nancy Cassis, R-Novi, introduced bills this spring to outlaw zone pricing. Zone pricing is among the issues Levin will study.

Levin said other issues that have taken his attention include his Armed Services Committee's review of the proposed $320 billion defense budget. While Bush has already submitted his spending plan, Levin said he has been working on his own proposal for that budget.

Debate about President George W. Bush's proposals for a missile defense system before the armed services committee.

Levin opposes the development of such a system. He said it would be expensive, other countries could quickly develop counter measures and would not address low-tech delivery systems, "like a truck."

Levin has announced he'll run for re-election next year. Although he does not yet have an opponent, he anticipates he will have a challenge. And he is already fund-raising in anticipation. But with his new responsibilities, he said he won't focus on the election until the turn of the year.

Longtime Schoolcraft counselors retire from their 2nd 'family'

It's a good bet that over the last 30-plus years, tens of thousands of students have received advice from a trio of Schoolcraft College counselors who are retiring this summer.

Sylvia Vukmirovich and John Witten came to Schoolcraft in 1967, with Ron Rogowski joining them in 1970. The three Livonia residents' careers span the time from the Vietnam War era, when they occasionally helped draft-age men carry enough hours to qualify for draft exemptions, to the electronic revolution that allows instantaneous access to student information.

"I will miss the eagerness in the eyes of the students," said Witten, from his new home in De Tour Village at the eastern tip of the Upper Peninsula.

"I also will miss the terror in the eyes of some of the women who said they drove into the parking lot three times before they found the courage to get out of the car and their excitement and joy two or three years later when they sat down to apply for graduation."

Like family

As the three mused over their life's work, they described growing up together professionally, like a family of brothers and sisters who have intense philosophical disputes, but always help each other and always respect each other.

Vukmirovich came to Schoolcraft after six years as an English teacher. When she earned her counseling degree, someone mentioned the college had an opening, she applied and got the job. "I took a pay cut to come here," she said. "But once I was on campus, I knew it was the place to be."

Witten, an undergraduate music major, spent five years in the military, but kept up contacts with former fraternity brothers, several of whom were counselors. When he resigned his Army commission, he investigated various civilian careers, talked to his friends about counseling and earned a master's in guidance and counseling.

Rogowski specifically targeted Schoolcraft. After his military service, he worked at the University of Michigan and visited area community colleges recruiting transfer students.

"I liked the atmosphere at Schoolcraft," he said.

Changing role

When the three started their careers, there were fewer students on campus, more full-time faculty and 12 counselors. Now there will be three full-time counselors for more students and more part-time faculty. But the nature of counseling itself has changed.

"Counseling is more rewarding when you help someone explore their human potential," said Rogowski. "I love working in the career planning field where you use a combination of information, communication and personal growth skills."

Rogowski cites a recent counselee, a woman wanting to come to college after raising three children.

"She is a homemaker and mother and said she hadn't done what she wanted to do with her life. I told her she had done what she wanted to do which was to raise a magnificent family. It would be her turn to go to college when she chose to do it. She beamed. Sometimes people need to feel good about themselves and their previous choices in life before they can make new choices."

These three totally dispel the notion that counselors set a certain path for students.

"It's such a big event for a person to come to college and sit in front of us for the first time," said Vukmirovich. "We give them options, if anything we open their eyes, not prescribe a certain path."

Students without enthusiasm present another challenge. They really haven't chosen to go to college on their own, said Rogowski, but are responding to pressure from parents, peers, a boss or girl or boyfriend.

"First we have to deal with these other issues, then with school," he said.

These three counselors have aided countless numbers of Schoolcraft students on their journeys to maturity. As they retire, they have rich memories and plans for the future.

Future plans

Witten was the "fantastic systems" guy, with a scheme devised and illustrated on big posters, whenever any problem came up.

Now he plans to create stained glass, do woodworking and gardening, travel and walk on the beach chasing his dog. He and wife Dottie, also retired from Schoolcraft this year, will welcome visitors, travel to the southwest in the winters and take power naps when the mood strikes them.

Vukmirovich plans to spend more time with her grandchildren, read, travel, perfect her golf game, and, once in a while, work part time in counseling when the student rush is on.

Rogowski plans to continue working part time in career counseling, "make my wife my girlfriend," and spend time at his vacation home in Tucson.

"The students didn't know it, but they were giving me the opportunity to share in their lives," Rogowski said.

Violinist comes to Plymouth

Violinist Shelby Latin, the 20-year-old laureate of the Texaco-Sphinx Competition for young Black and Latino string players, will perform at the Plymouth District Library on Sept. 18.

Latin is being featured through the Sphinx Classical Connections Program sponsored by the Ameritech Foundation, which works to increase awareness of talented minority musicians and build appreciation of classical music in communities throughout the state of Michigan.

Latin will perform at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 18 during storytime at the Plymouth District Library, 223 S Main St. She will perform a diverse repertoire, including pieces by Bach, Kreisler and Ysaye. Latin has been a semifinalist of the Texaco-Sphinx Competition for three years and is also a laureate. She comes to Detroit from her hometown of Westchester, Ohio, near Cincinnati and is currently attending Indiana University in pursuit of a bachelor's degree in Music in Viola Performance.

The Sphinx Classical Connections program is being made possible through a grant from the Ameritech/SBC Global Network.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON OBJECTIONS TO FIRE AND POLICE PROTECTION SPECIAL ASSESSMENT LEVY

Notice is hereby given that the Charter Township of Canton Board of Trustees will hold a Public Hearing pursuant to Public Acts 33 and 181 of 1951 as amended for the purpose of hearing objections to defraying the expenses of the Fire and Police Protection Districts by a Special Assessment to be imposed on the tax rolls effective December 1, 2001.

DATE: Tuesday September 11, 2001
TIME: 7:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M.
PLACE: Canton Township Administration Building Board Meeting Room 1150 S. Canton Center Road Canton Michigan 48188

On May 18, 1976 a Fire Protection Special Assessment Levy was approved by the voters and at the June 22, 1976 Public Hearing the Board of Trustees for the Charter Township of Canton unanimously approved the creation of a Fire Protection Special Assessment District for the entire Township.

On August 27, 1977 a Police Protection Special Assessment Levy was approved by the voters and at the September 13, 1977 Public Hearing the Board of Trustees for the Charter Township of Canton approved the creation of a Police Protection Special Assessment District for the entire Township.

The 2002 estimated Fire and Police budgets submitted by the Public Safety Director and the Administration are as follows:

FIRE DEPARTMENT		POLICE DEPARTMENT
Salaries & OT	$3,566,095	Salaries & OT	$6,027,910
Fringe Benefits	1,503,475	Fringe Benefits	2,569,775
Capital Outlay	831,250	Capital Outlay	384,740
Operations	904,045	Operations	1,941,365
Bond Debt Service	386,145	Bond Debt Service	57,982
Total	$7,171,010	Total	$10,981,772

The proposed millage rates are as follows:

	2000	PA 5 Limit	2001	Increase (Decrease) over 2000
Fire Millage	2.9400	N/A	2.9400	0.0000
Police Millage	4.8000	N/A	4.4000	(0.4000)
Charter Millage	1.1100	1.0644	1.5100	0.4000
Total	8.8500	8.8500	8.8500	0.0000

The Charter Millage is more than what the Township could levy under PA 5-1982 (Truth in Taxation). The property tax Charter Millage rate proposed to be levied to support the proposed 2002 General Fund budget will be a subject of this hearing.

County cops fire up coals for annual ox roast

They'll be firing up the coals Thursday, Sept. 6, for the annual Ox Roast and Millionaire's Party sponsored by the Wayne County Police Lieutenants, Sergeants and Corporals Association.

This is the 42nd annual fund-raiser for the group with members from suburban police departments across Wayne County. Held at the Waltz Club in Sumpter Township, the Ox Roast runs from noon to 7 p.m.

There isn't actually a roast but top rounds of beef cooked in a huge barbecue pit.

We have nice rolls for sandwiches and nice Hamtramck horseradish," said Jay Newcomb, a Garden City Police sergeant who as association third vice president is chairing the event.

The ticket price is $20 in advance and $25 at the gate. Tickets include all you can eat on the menu that also includes corn on the cob, kielbasa, clam chowder and mussels, beer and non-alcoholic beverages.

"We went through 5,000 pounds of mussels last year. We do all the cooking ourselves," said Newcomb. "You could eat and drink from noon to 7 p.m. People come and go, others stay all day."

Besides eating and drinking, the Ox Roast is also a millionaire's party featuring various games of chance such as blackjack.

Last year about 1,500 people attended the event which is the major fund-raiser for the association which has 320 members.

"The funds are used to make donations to charitable causes and to support our monthly meetings," said Newcomb.

Tickets are available at the gate during the event or in advance from Newcomb by calling 525-8088 after 3 p.m.

Here's a chance to tell us what you think

Have you ever wondered why newspapers do what they do?

Ever asked yourself, "Now why did they print that?" or question how we could have missed covering a story or an event that seems monumentally important to you?

Have you ever read an editorial and wondered what the heck we were thinking?

Do you question where stories are placed, why some end up on the front page and others farther back?

Think you've got some ideas that might improve the newspaper? (C'mon, admit it. You've often thought you could do better.)

Here's your chance to tell us what you really think, not in 400 words or less, not in a letter that may be edited for publication, but in a forum with the Plymouth Observer's editorial staff. We're putting together a community advisory board, and we're looking for at least 12 volunteers from Plymouth and Plymouth Township who are willing to give us a few hours of their time and pieces of their minds.

We want to know what you like about the Plymouth Observer, what features interest you most and what you think we need to do to better serve our communities. We'll ask your opinions, but we'll also solicit suggestions and story ideas.

Everyone who lives in Plymouth and Plymouth Township sees their community a little differently. About 20 percent of Plymouth households and 25 percent of Plymouth Township households, for example, have children under age 18. Those folks will likely be more concerned about school activities and recreation programming than the households in both communities without children in schools.

This is your chance to tell us how you see your community. Your insights and suggestions will be taken into account as we develop our editorial goals and story ideas.

What's more, we plan to convene our Advisory Board on a regular basis, so that you can help monitor our progress.

We know you're busy, too busy to attend even one more meeting. We understand the value of your time and won't waste a minute of it.

Heck, we'll even spring for the cookies.

If you're willing to help, please contact Plymouth editor Brad Kadrich by mail at 794 S. Main, Plymouth, MI 48170, by phone, (734) 459-2700, by FAX (734) 459-4224, or by e-mail, bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net.

College tuition sticker shock warrants relief

While politicians at the state and federal level have spent the past year focusing on K-12 school reforms, another education concern has quietly reared its ugly head for the first time in years — rising tuition at public colleges and universities across the state. For Michigan students and their families, the premise that state universities offer an affordable path to higher education is apparently going the way of the compact car.

Stunning tuition increases unveiled by the state's 15 public universities this summer are enough to put a chill in any checkbook. They average 10.7 percent and range from 6.5 percent at the University of Michigan ($7,376 for 2001-2002) to 18.4 percent at Eastern Michigan University ($4,601).

That's not just bad news for parents of last June's high school graduates. When quality learning opportunities move out of reach for middle class families, we all suffer. The brain drain that occurs when hometown talent is shut out — or forced to turn elsewhere — for college creates long-term negative consequences for the state's economy, technological edge and quality of life.

The Observer urges state legislators to make finding relief for in-state university students a priority when it reconvenes this fall. The issue also needs to be addressed seriously in next year's gubernatorial campaign. (We're encouraged to see a few of the leading "undeclared" candidates are already speaking out.)

Neither are we unsympathetic to the reasons university officials cite for dramatic tuition increases, primarily cuts in state funding and the burden the tuition tax credit has imposed on schools as they deal with their own rising costs. (The credit, introduced in the early 1990s after similar tuition hikes, is available to students attending schools where increases are kept in line with inflation.)

Donald Nugent, an MSU trustee who voted for the 8.9 percent increase there, told the Associated Press it was the only way to make up for the decrease in state funding and continue to boost university salaries, which he said lag behind most Big Ten schools. Trustee Dorothy Gonzales opposed the increase and said MSU needed to focus more on cutting costs. "We really need to take a good look at what is there and what we could do without," she said. "We need to look at everything from A to Z."

That may be. But we strongly believe the highest priority for MSU and other state universities must remain providing affordable opportunities for Michigan residents from the broadest possible background.

This educating-our-own philosophy is not a new idea. In fact, it was a founding principle at most of Michigan's public universities — from the land-grant status and agricultural bent at Michigan State University, to the teacher's college goal of EMU and Wayne State University's opportunities for urban students. It's the reason why schools offer lower tuition for in-state students than those coming from outside Michigan.

It's a mission worthy of pursuit and one that university officials and state elected leaders need to move to the front burner.

Higher standards

If Ed McNamara wants to end the politics, then he should sell the airport. All Wayne County employees and citizens could get shares and tax refunds from the proceeds.

Of course no private airline would put up money for a new terminal they wouldn't own, their taxes are way too high already. I wonder if Mr. McNamara will give taxpayers the same standard he wishes — if I pay my taxes 99 percent of the time can I not pay him this year?

I followed procedures to the last detail, can I have the same exceptions for mistakes or technical deviations? I think not. Then he should be held to the same standard as he holds us to — even higher.

Walter Kwiatkowski

policy choice for the long-term. I would advocate this no matter which political party was in control. It is simplistic to view this as a Democrat vs. Republican thing. Minneapolis-St. Paul Airport is run by an independent airport authority, and that would provide an excellent model for us to use as a starting point for designing our own comparable airport authority.

Furthermore, labeling a review of the airport as "just another political battle" strikes me as an attempt to obscure the true issues. To have a journalist pretend that there's nothing wrong with Detroit Metro is comparable to the FBI telling us that organized crime does not exist. In my eyes, it reflected poorly on the Observer that such a piece was published.

Christopher M. Cummins

down, stock price is ridiculous ($24 a share). Nowhere in the world can you buy into a 100-year-old billion-dollar company for $24 a share. Bye bye, Jack Nasser. Wake up, Bill!

Honesty counts

We took our 1929 Ford roadster in for work on the transmission due to the reverse not working. We also wanted a tune up.

The Arden's Auto Service owner, Chris, and mechanic, Steve, called and said "Come and get your car, there was nothing wrong with it." This could have cost a lot of money but for their honesty.

Fighting back

U.S. Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Md., has sponsored House Resolution 31, a bill that would help protect citizens who are forced to shoot in self-defense, giving them a recourse in court if they are wronged by local anti-gun laws and "rogue prosecutors."

The Bartlett Self-Defense Bill would allow aggrieved gun owners to bring an action against local officials "for damages, injunctive relief, and such other relief as the court deems appropriate." Should the gun owner win, he or she would be eligible to be reimbursed for his or her attorney's fees.

Rep. Bartlett says that his bill would restrain local prosecutors who impose their anti-gun politics on law-abiding citizens and put an end to local gun control laws that target those citizens instead of criminals. He said that the bill would "overrule state and local laws that force homeowners to run away rather than defend their homes."

At press time, 21 U.S. representatives had co-sponsored the bill. Call your representative and tell them to support H.R. 31. You have a right to defend your family and yourself. Don't let uninformed officials decide your rights.

Keep U.S. strong

Americans are addicted to peace. Scott Heinzman's Aug. 2 editorial is — just like many liberals' world view — paved with good intentions that would lead us to ruin. Heinzman writes that our nation is addicted to warfare.

It's my duty to attack most of the arguments made by Heinzman. He writes:

■ It's misleading to call U.S. military expenditures "defense spending," since there is no single nation on the planet that would attack us.

If there is no nation on Earth willing to attack the United States (and I believe there is), then it very well could be because of our defense spending. Of course, many regional alliances exist that have combined strengths greater than that of the U.S. armed forces.

■ China is not a serious threat to the United States.

China has the largest population — and the largest army — in the world. The United States would have to mobilize every man, woman and child in America to fight a conventional war against China. Because our nuclear forces are so massive, China would never consider nuclear conflict.

■ We are at peace. Historically, peacetime means cutting (military) spending.

The standing army of the United States is literally half of what it was during the war with Iraq.

■ We see ourselves as the guys in white hats. In many cases, we are the global bullies.

I recently returned from Bosnia where I deployed with my Army Reserve unit. Before the United States Army arrived, "ethnic cleansing" was honed to a science.

■ Our priorities need to be recalibrated. As Nobel Peace Prize winner Oscar Arias suggests, "Our priorities must be reoriented from national security to human security."

The United States of America protects more people around the world every day than any other republic in the history of mankind.

A little advice

(Someone should) tell Mike Malott to take a second look at the reality of Detroit Metro Airport.

It seems that every other week either The Detroit News or Free Press runs a front-page article detailing the cronyism, corruption and incompetence that goes on at an airport that all of us rely on. Unfortunately Mr. Malott chose to write a column that reads like a press release from the Michigan Democratic Party. Any frequent traveler can tell you that there is something very wrong with DTW, but your writer would rather have our fellow citizens act like ostriches on this vital transportation issue.

I've had the opportunity to travel through a number of different airports in my life, and I can safely say that Detroit Metro compares favorably to most third-world airports. The best solution that I can think of is to take control of the airport away from Wayne County. That is a good public

GUEST OPINION

Return to Civility

When Stella Greene noted the need for more civility toward, and among, the city commission, she hit on a spreading illness that is affecting our community. It's an illness that comes from inflated egos and hurt feelings, jealousy and envy, immaturity and narrow-mindedness.

I suggest that to be civil to the city commission, the community must first be civil to itself. I'm asking for the citizens of Plymouth to look to the issues that affect our fine city, and to disregard the pabulum that has been emitted from various public sources. Please consider:

■ Calling up your favorite candidates and offer to help them address the issues of the city.

■ Writing to the editors of the various media to express those issues that you would like to see debated by the candidates.

■ Attending candidate forums to hear direct views from all the candidates.

■ Voting. Push for a 100-percent voter turnout this fall. Your vote does count. David Murphy missed the opportunity to run in the general election by just one vote.

Let's not stoop to "Dearborn-esque" politics. We, as the business owners and residents of our great community, can bring civility to the commission, only when we practice civility among ourselves.

The tastiest treats are those we grow ourselves

In England, where they don't have much of it, these days at the end of August are called "high summer."

The Brits are right. Now is the height of the summer, especially here in Michigan.

Maybe because the sun is lower, the light has turned to golden, bringing out the strong colors of the black-eyed Susans and cardinal flowers that brighten the late-summer gardens. The nights are getting cooler, so the sleeping is better, certainly better than it was just a few weeks ago.

The farmers' markets are jam-packed with the bounty of the season — corn, peppers, eggplant, cantaloupe and watermelon, tomatoes, peaches, the first of the fall raspberries.

When I was a kid, my parents used to pack me off to summer camp, all seven weeks of it. Once I got over being homesick, I liked it OK. But to me, the high point of the summer was coming home in August. My father would grill steak in the back yard, my mother would make peach pie, and I would eat corn on the cob to my heart's content. What a homecoming in high summer, especially after having to endure seven weeks of Mystery Meat, so beloved of so many camp cooks.

I've been thinking about all this in recent days because my wife, Kathy, and I have been experimenting with our vegetable garden this year.

Sure, we grow the standards: Rhubarb to greet the first warm days of spring in pies or stewed (my grandmother insisted it was the best spring tonic), fresh-dug potatoes, beets and carrots, sweet peas and green beans (what a lot of work for such a small yield of deliciousness), raspberries (ours bear in June and again in August and September).

Early this spring, Kathy pulled out the garden catalog, smiled happily and announced "This year we're going to grow heirloom tomatoes. I'm sick and tired of those miserable excuses for tomatoes we get in the supermarkets." So, heirloom tomatoes it was. And when the young plants arrived in April, they looked so miserable and slight in their black plastic pots!

We planted them with limited expectations. And for a while they just sat there looking grumpily at us. Then the weather warmed, we got a little rain and they just took off. Today, they've grown far beyond their cages, and we've got heirloom tomatoes all over the place. And what tomatoes! Little cherry tomatoes, bright orange and so sweet as to remind me the tomato is a fruit, not a vegetable. Pinkish ones that look unripe at first but taste sensational when paired with a little olive oil and a couple of basil leaves. Bright golden little globes that burst with flavor, served alone or with a few grains of salt.

The intensity of flavor of these old varieties has been a revelation to us as the summer has come into its height.

All this has led me to reflect on what's happened to our eating over my 60-odd years.

Back when I was a little boy, our family diet varied with the season. In winter, when you couldn't get anything fresh at the store, we'd eat potatoes, brussels sprouts and apples, things that would keep in the fruit cellar. And we'd eat all the vegetables from the garden that my mother canned the previous summer.

Come spring, we'd rejoice in the first fresh rhubarb. As summer came on, we'd eat all kinds of fresh fruits and vegetables, some fresh from my grandparents' garden, some from the store. In the fall, we'd have squash, cauliflower, turnips, plums and maybe some game (my father liked to hunt).

Today's supermarkets are crammed with all kinds of what might be called "industrial food." The freezers are filled with packages of frozen foods of all kinds, regardless of the season. "Fresh" produce is trucked in from California, or even flown in from South America or Israel.

Thanks to our modern food-growing and distribution system, we can eat what we want when we want, regardless of the season. I can get "fresh" tomatoes in the winter, but the varieties are selected for mass production, to be picked green and shipped long distance around the country in ethylene-filled containers. And I'll gladly trade a bite of a peach, sweet and juicy, picked fresh off the tree to the ones you see in the supermarkets off-season.

Kathy's heirloom tomatoes were bred when the idea of picking stuff before it was ripe and shipping it around the country was considered nonsense. That was a simpler time, certainly, but it also was a time of more vivid flavors and a family diet that seemed to fit the feel of the seasons as they turned.

I'm delighted some of the older varieties are coming back on the market.

Growing them and eating them subject to the discipline of the season and the uncertainties of the weather help keep us rooted in simple reality.

And they sure taste great!

Dems need party leadership to get back into the game

Michigan Republicans have in their arsenal for the 2002 elections one very potent weapon in Gov. John Engler.

Yes, it's true that neither can he run again due to term limits nor does he have his eye on any other elective office. But he most assuredly will still have a major effect on the outcome of the vote.

For one, Engler can anoint an heir apparent, which, of course, he has done in supporting Lt. Gov. Dick Posthumus.

But, more important, he can warn off potential challengers. Yes, Sen. Joe Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, is in the race for now, but he's well behind, and Engler is likely to keep out any others.

That's a definite advantage in the contest for the GOP. Democrats, on the other hand, appear to be headed toward an August bloodletting.

Of the three top candidates — former Governor Jim Blanchard, Attorney General Jennifer Granholm and U.S. Rep. David Bonior — Lansing insider's say they don't see any reason why any of the three would back away from the race.

Two other contenders, Sens. Gary Peters and Alma Wheeler Smith, would cut up the vote even further.

While the Dem contenders are spending campaign bucks shooting at each other, a primary-less GOP would leave Republican voters free to crossover and cause mischief.

Still, Democrats don't have a party leader comparable to Engler, in a position to sit the contenders down and settle the question of who the party flag-bearer will be without a primary clash.

It can't come from the state party organization itself. The party keeps its hands off the primary, by policy and tradition.

Perhaps the job would fall to Michigan's most powerful and senior Democrat, Sen. Carl Levin. Levin politely declines.

"Governor Engler is able to do that because he has real carrots and sticks," Levin said.

Engler's influence comes from the fact he is governor, not because he's the head of the party, Levin said. The governor has plenty of time to hand out rewards and punishments, through support of legislation or by the naming of appointees to state positions.

Levin, despite the influence he now holds as a senior member of the U.S. Senate and as the chairman of two of its most powerful committees, does not have a way to hand out prizes or discipline in the same way.

Besides, Levin said, that kind of thing can backfire on the party.

"Voters don't like that, when the candidate is chosen for them," he said.

That may be, but Democrats need to get back in the game in a state where Republicans have effectively seized control of all three branches of government. Partisans in Lansing say their best shot for quickly taking back a piece of the state apparatus and bringing back a little balance in the Capitol is the governor's race.

So that lack of leadership could well prove costly.

Many in the party worry that Blanchard could do very well in the primary, if for no other reason than that he has good name recognition, but that he would not do well the general.

And there is justification for the fear. A Blanchard-Posthumus runoff would quickly turn into a referendum on the Engler years versus the Blanchard years. It would essentially be a replay of the 1990 Blanchard-Engler contest.

Blanchard's service from 1982-1990 were not happy years. While it is true that you can't attribute that all to Blanchard — the economy was bad, he was saddled with huge budget deficits coming into office, and he had to raise the income tax — he still gets the blame.

Engler's margin in 1990 may have been small, but he and his policies have proven popular with voters ever since. Starting with the school-financing Proposal A in 1994 and continuing with 30 tax cuts, Engler's has played the issue of tax reform to good effect.

Without party leadership that is willing to send a message to Blanchard, telling him that he has already had his day in the gubernatorial sun, he's not likely to get such a message.

Even if no Democrat has a position in which real "carrots and sticks" can be handed out, it might serve the party well if one of its elder statesmen stepped forward in an attempt to direct where the August primary is headed.

Couple proves, in life and in politics, no learning curve is too large

When Jim Karell showed up on the political scene last summer, he was about as green as they come.

He'd lived in Plymouth Township for just four years, since marrying Arlene July 4, 1997. He'd never been involved in politics but, after reading an editorial on getting involved in your community, decided to run for the township board of trustees.

He'd wanted to start another way, with a seat on the planning commission. But his involvement in trying to stop the expansion of Sunshine Honda into his subdivision gave former supervisor Kathleen Keen McCarthy a reason not to appoint him.

Foiled in that regard, Karell began campaigning for one of the four trustee seats. Thus began his education.

"It was pretty hard, especially in the beginning," Karell says now, a wide smile creasing his face. "I was pretty naive about it all, and it took awhile. But Arlene was there, and her dad was a big help. Between his knowledge and her tenacity, I was able to catch up."

He came from nowhere, with no name recognition and only he and Arlene stumping, to finish a respectable sixth. Throughout the campaign, Karell worked hard to overcome his biggest drawback — a lack of political savvy — by attending every meeting imaginable, talking to people who know politics and talking to people in general about the things that concerned them.

Karell has shown enough zeal for the job — and for the township — to convince new Supervisor Steve Mann to appoint him to the planning commission.

He had no bigger booster than Arlene, who sees in him someone with vision and a creative process that can't be anything but a help in his new endeavor.

"Jim sees a lot of the future, what's going to be a great thing, and he brings new ideas to the board," said Arlene. "Jim tries to nudge them along in the thought process."

Such support isn't any surprise. The pair met in 1996, on a cross-state bike ride, "The Michigan-der," sponsored by Rails to Trails and the Detroit Free Press. Jim worked for GM in Chicago at the time but came back for the ride. Shortly after that, Jim came back for a week, and he and Arlene went out every night, getting to know each other, finding themselves in that week.

Before his return, Jim had put in for a transfer back to Michigan. When he got back from that magical first week, he found an omen waiting.

"When I got back to Chicago, I found a telegram waiting for me, telling me to go to Michigan," Karell said. "Timing-wise, it worked out well."

He inched his way back, working and living in Lansing, then in Birmingham. Jim and Arlene got engaged in February 1997, then married in July that year. The ceremony was at the fountain in Kellogg Park on the Fourth of July.

"I told Arlene her anniversary would always come in with a bang," Jim says now, laughing. The reception was a catered picnic in Maybury State Park, and the weather was cold. Arlene's dad had suggested serving coffee, but the Karells resisted, claiming you don't serve coffee at a picnic.

"I told him, this is going to be a picnic, we're going to have some soda and maybe a couple of beers." He brought this big thing of coffee, and he was the most popular guy there."

The couple, both of whom had been married before, included a note in the invitations for guests not to bring gifts. Those who felt compelled to give a gift, Arlene said, were urged to bring something "they'd been thinking of throwing away but hadn't been able to."

The Karells are still having a blast, four years later. They don't have any kids, so they spend a lot of time together. Frequently seen together at township meetings, Arlene will drape an arm behind Jim's head, fingers playfully twirling through his close-cropped hair. Occasionally, they lean close in and talk. Whispering sweet nothings?

Arlene giggles again. "Not usually," she said. "Usually we're making little comments about what's going on."

Jim smiles. "Occasionally, though, it's a sweet nothing," he said.

Jim Karell is no longer as naive as he was a year ago. He and Arlene have been learning, about life and about politics, about their community and about themselves. And they're doing it the same way they do everything: Together.

cult to reject anyone," said Lisa Konikow, fair coordinator.

Jurors scored applicants based on slides of their works. Fair organizers chose 185 of the top-scoring artists for the extended weekend show, now in its fourth year. Another 75 became alternates. And a whopping 500-600 applicants didn't make the cut.

Even if they had, they'd have to push geographic boundaries to make room. Show attendance and participation have soared since the art fair's inception. Everybody wants in.

"The first year we had 100 spaces and we got 100 applications," Konikow said.

"The second year we had 150 spaces and 500 applications. Each year it has climbed. Now we're up to about 700-800 applications."

"By the second year we had grown astronomically. We've also grown by national standards. Sunshine Artists, the top magazine for arts festivals, rated us one of the top 30 shows in the country in terms of sales, promotion and great food."

That means no "waffle cones and hot dogs on a stick."

"We have some of the top restaurants in the area," Konikow said.

FESTIVAL

Hart Plaza hosts home-grown jazz fest

BY MIKE MURPHY
SPECIAL WRITER

It's homecoming time this weekend at Hart Plaza, where some of the finest jazz artists from Detroit and other artists of world renown will convene for four days of free music.

In honor of Detroit's 300th birthday, organizers of the 22nd Annual Ford Detroit International Jazz Festival have packed the festival's four stages with local talent

Also along for the celebration will be a host of national and international artists, who'll know at least one thing coming into the festival - Detroit remains a great jazz town.

"It's a great thing, to be able to recycle and give back to the community," James Carter said. "And to let folks know that a cat doesn't leave here and that's it. At least this one doesn't."

The eclectic saxophonist lived in Detroit until 1990, at which time he took up residence in New York City and became one of the hottest names in jazz.

He hasn't performed at the jazz festival since 1995, but he hasn't been a stranger to the Motor City either.

In the spring of this year, Carter set up with a recording crew for three days at Baker's Keyboard Lounge, where four generations of Detroit jazz artists and Motor City luminaries like Aretha Franklin pitched in to help Carter record a live album.

Carter said the album, tentatively called Live at Baker's JC and Friends, is slated for January release and he's still glowing from the reception he received at the sold-out dates.

"We had Kid Rock, Natalie Cole and Anita Baker in the audience, plus family and friends and all that good stuff from Detroit," Carter said.

The 31-year old jazz artist was also in Detroit weeks ahead of his scheduled performances at the festival to celebrate his mother's 75th birthday. She was the one who got him into jazz in the first place by playing and singing along to records by the likes of Sarah Vaughan, Billie Holiday and Ella Fitzgerald.

"There was always a sense of joy in her voice, and there was always a horn involved to take up the slack afterwards," Carter said.

Since Carter took up his own horn, he hasn't limited himself to mom's music. On Saturday, Carter will be playing acoustic jazz culled from his Chasin' the Gypsy, a work released last year that was inspired in part by the music of Django Reinhardt and Stephane Grappelli.

The group will include Leonard King, drums and percussion, Marlene Rice on violin, Steve Kirby on bass, Peter Soave on accordion and Michele Ramo on guitar.

Ramo, a former Livonia resident who is now living in New York, also plays jazz violin and will be playing violin Monday with the National Jazz Orchestra of Detroit, when it pays tribute to Detroit jazz master Harold McKinney, who died earlier this year.

Carter will also be back again on Monday when he wheels out the James Carter Electric Project. Carter said the funky, free-jazz group, which will include Ornette Coleman sidemen G

Calvin Weston on drums and bassist Jamaaladeen Tacuma as well as Kelvyn Bell on guitar and Craig Taborn on keyboards, tends to hit on a pocket and take off.

"Once a groove gets started, it's hard to do a 45 minute set," Carter said. "Sometimes we feel like we played an hour and it winds up being double that."

Trumpeter Wallace Roney played the Detroit Jazz Fest three years ago with his wife, pianist Geri Allen, and he said from his home in New York that he's eager to return.

"In all my travels, that's the best audience I've seen and that's a town that really loves jazz," Roney said. "It seems like it's the only one from the old days that really appreciates pure music."

Roney's band will include saxophonist Gary Bartz, Detroit's own Bennie Maupin on tenor saxophone and bass clarinet, Clarence Seay on bass, Billy Drummond on drums and Adam Holzman on keyboards.

Informed that his performance at the Jazz Fest is being billed as a tribute to Miles Davis, Roney bristled a bit, but didn't take much offense.

"We're going to be doing my music," Roney said. "But I guess in reality every time I pick up my horn it's a tribute to Miles."

Escaping comparisons to Miles isn't easy for the 41-year old horn player whose break-

'An American Rhapsody' paints portrait of belonging

BY MALCOLM RITTER
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

An American Rhapsody is a riveting and powerful drama about a 15-year-old girl torn by a simple question: Where is her home?

Is it with her mother, a strong-willed Hungarian immigrant who keeps a tight rein on young Suzanne's life in 1960s California? Or is it with the kindly, loving peasant woman who reared young Suzanne from infancy to age 6 behind the Iron Curtain, in the Hungarian countryside?

Both women love Suzanne deeply, and both felt betrayed when Suzanne was snatched from them. It's not until she returns to Hungary on her own that she finally realizes where — and with whom — she belongs. And this movie keeps you with her all the way.

The tale has nothing to do with last year's best seller, American Rhapsody, by Joe Eszterhas. Rather, it's based on the life of Eva Gardos, who makes her debut as screenwriter-director.

Gardos focuses not on historical accuracy but the characters' emotional turmoils. The result is fascinating.

Because of a mix-up, the infant Suzanne is left behind when her parents and older sister slip out of Hungary to the West during the Cold War. Her mother Margaret (played by Nastassja Kinski) is devastated, but her father Peter (Tony Goldwyn) persuades her to move on to America. Settling into the land of Elvis, Margaret writes letter after letter to get her little girl back.

Suzanne is placed with a peasant family in Hungary by Margaret's mother. When Suzanne is 6, Grandma appears at the farm, supposedly to take her on a trip to Budapest. But the real plan is quite different — a trip to California and Margaret.

Suzanne explores such Western wonders as hamburgers, bubble gum, television and blue jeans, and later grows into a teen-ager (played by Scarlett room, and Suzanne shoots her way out.

It's time, Suzanne says, for her to go back to Hungary and sort out where she belongs.

The movie features terrific acting all around, especially by Johansson, who makes Suzanne a compelling heroine, and Kinski, who provides a fine edge of desperation as Suzanne's biological mother.

Hungarian actors Balazs Galko and Zsuzsa Czinkóczi bring warmth to their roles as Suzanne's foster parents in Hungary, with faces that seem to belong in faded portraits from the old country.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Scheduled to open Friday Aug 31

AN AMERICAN RHAPSODY

In the darkest days of the Cold War, a Hungarian family sacrifices wealth and privilege to escape to the West and gain freedom from Communist repression. Amid the chaos of their late night border crossing, their youngest child is left behind. They go on to build a new life in America while in the old country a peasant family raises Suzanne as if she were her own. Stars Nastassja Kinski, Scarlett Johansson, Tony Goldwyn and Lisa Jane Persky.

Moving the classic tale of Othello onto the basketball courts of a high school, the story focuses on a young black man named Odin (Mekhi Phifer) who is convinced by a conniving best friend (Hugo Stiles) is cheating on him. Of course what Odin doesn't know is that Hugo is in fact motivated by his own jealousy of Odin's good fortune. Things turn nasty. The cast also includes John Heard, Elden Henson, Andrew Keegan, Rain Phoenix, Martin Sheen, AJ Johnson, Christopher Jones and Rachel Shumate.

BREAD AND TULIPS

A housewife's unexpected trip to Venice ends in companionship and love. Showing exclusively at the Detroit Film Theatre.

OUR LADY OF THE ASSASSINS

The story tells of a city in ruins and one man's desperate journey to make sense of his life. The semi autobiographical tale by Fernando Vallejo centers around the writer's return to his birthplace of Medellin, Colombia, which four decades later has degenerated into the drug capital of the world. Though he has come to die, he begins a relationship with Alexis, a young man caught in the continuous gun warfare that touches every life in Medellin. Making their feature film debut are German Jaramillo, Anderson Ballesteros and Juann David Restrepo.

ROCK STAR

Inspired by the story of salesman Tim Ripper, Owens the front man of a Judas Priest cover band who wound up becoming the new lead singer in the actual group, this heavy metal fable features Mark Wahlberg as Chris "Izzy" Coles, a supply salesman who performs in a tribute band, Blood Pollution, before getting a part in Steel Dragon. Featured among Blood Pollution are musicians Blas Elias (Slaughter), Nick Catanese (Brian Vander Ark (Verve Pipe) and actor Timothy Olyphant. Numbering among Steel Dragon are actors Dominic West and Jason Flemyng and musicians Jason Bonham (Bonham), Zack Wylde (Ozzy Osborne) and Jeff Pilson. Lending femme support throughout is Friends Jennifer Aniston as Wahlberg's love interest.

SOUL SURVIVORS

The story tells of Cassie, a college student who finds herself plagued by hallucinations of her boyfriend coming back to life after he is killed in an auto collision. Tormented by guilt and unable to distinguish what is real and not real, she begins having nightmarish experiences that grow in intensity. Cassie's

Set in 19th century China, when corrupt village leaders find themselves repeatedly robbed by a masked bandit, Iron Monkey, named after a local deity they force a traveling physician into investigating the mystery and stopping him. Stars Donnie Yen, Rongguang Yu, Sze Man Tsang, Fai Li, Sai Kun Yam, Jean Wang, James Wong, Yee Kwan Yan, Shun Yee Yuen.

TOGETHER

This comedy tells the story of an idealistic hippie commune in mid-1970s Sweden. Stars Lisa Lindgren, Michael Nyqvist, Gustav Hammarsten, Anja Lundkvist, Jessica Liedberg, Ola Norell and Shanti Roney.

DIVIDED WE FALL

This comedic drama deals with the struggle for survival for those hiding in German occupied Europe during WWII. Showing exclusively at the Detroit Film Theatre.

DEUCES WILD

Set in the summer of 1958, the story tells of a Brooklyn street gang, the Deuces, as they learn that loyalty and midnight rumbles can no longer protect them from the turbulent times ahead. Gunfights and honor quickly become a thing of the past as a new breed of wiseguys threaten to take control of their neighborhood. Featured among the ensemble are Fairuza Balk, Matt Dillon, Stephen Dorff, Balhazar Getty and Brad Renfro.

HARDBALL

Keanu Reeves stars as Connor, a ticket scalper gambler and a Little League coach for a rag tag team of kids in one of the toughest parts of Chicago. He's no role model, but his buddy Jimmy won't help him pay off his gambling debts unless Connor coaches Jimmy's corporate-sponsored team. Surprising even himself, Connor becomes attached to his players and to their attractive schoolteacher. It's an experience that changes his life while giving his young streetwise players new hope and pride. Featured players include Dane Lane, John Hawkes and D.B. Sweeney.

KILL ME LATER

A suicidal bank teller agrees to help the escape plan of a thief whose heist has gone wrong if he agrees to kill her later. Featured players include Selma Blair, Max Beesley, Brendan Fehr, O'Neal Compton, T.W. Moffet and Lochlyn Munro.

Scheduled to open Friday Sept 21

GLITTER

A love story set in 1982, the story tells of Billie Frank, whose drug and alcohol addicted mother loses custody of her when she's 10 years old. Billie grows up in a foster home in one of the toughest neighborhoods in New York City, where she meets an influential young DJ with whom she pursues her dream of becoming a singer. Featured players include Max Beesley, Lia Texada, recording artist Eric Benet and singer Mariah Carey.

TRAINING DAY

This movie tracks the events of the first day on the job of a rookie cop (Hawke) working in the Los Angeles Police Department's undercover narcotics unit. His partner is Alonzo, a corrupt veteran cop (Washington). Stars Denzel Washington, Ethan Hawke, Tom Berenger, Snoop Dogg, Dre Scott, Glenn Macy, Gray Chaffotte, Ayanna Raymond, J. Barry, Sarah Madison, Eva Mendes, Will Foster, Stewart and Harris Yulin.

THE VERTICAL RAY OF THE SUN

The story takes place over the course of a month and deals with the close relationship of three sisters, each keeping her own dark and paralyzing secret. Showing exclusively at the Detroit Film Theatre.

HALLOWEEN: THE HOMECOMING

A group of six teenagers stage a live Internet chat from the house Michael Myers grew up in, and sure enough, he soon shows up to do some nostalgic slicing and dicing. Featured players include Jamie Lee Curtis, Tyra Banks, Brad Loree, Busta Rhymes and Sean Patrick Thomas. Rick Rosenthal helms the thriller.

Ann Arbor-based band finds its 'home'

STEPHANIE A. CASOLA

With a name like The Original Brothers and Sisters of Love, it's no surprise that the Ann Arbor-based sextet dabbles in themes of nostalgia and tones of its home. On the band's latest release, titled HOMES Vol 1 after the acronym we learned in elementary school to remember all of Michigan's Great Lakes, the band takes a folk-inspired sense of familiarity to new heights. Founding member Timothy Monger took some time to tell me about this sophomore release. New York-based label The Telegraph Company and shared his own thoughts of growing up in the Midwest.

Redefining the family

Brothers Timothy and Jamie Monger set out five years ago, as the Original Brothers of Love, laying in coffeehouses and recording music on a four-track in their parents' Brighton home. They took quickly to the road, recording what Timothy described as "Ween-esque" songs in hotel rooms across northern Michigan.

"We had absolutely no specific goal," admits Timothy Monger, guitarist, songwriter and accordion player in the band. "It took a very long time to get where it is now. The current line up is only about two years old."

That line-up includes Greg McIntosh, Fido Kennington, Scott McClintock, and the band's only "sister," Liz Auchinvole. "It grew naturally out of friends we grew up with that were musicians," said Monger.

Growing up in a home that echoed the sounds of Neil Diamond, The Beach Boys and John Denver, the Monger brothers took to the tradition of songwriting, with a flair for the unconventional. In work as in life, they remain close. "He's been my roommate all my life," said Timothy of his brother. "We're very close with our parents. Our parents are very involved with our band." TOBASOL gives off a feeling that it is more than a band, it is a family as well. Perhaps that's what makes this music sound so familiar.

Songwriting is split three ways. Timothy Monger tends to fall into nostalgic patterns, like painting a picture of old Tiger Stadium on Michigan and Trumbull. Meanwhile, his brother, Jamie, is "definitely the myth-maker." He is also the band's primary songwriter. "Greg's stuff is all over the place," said Timothy Monger. "He's the quirky one. He uses a lot of chord changes, unique tempos. He's really becoming an amazing writer."

Celebrating roots

With HOMES, the first of two volumes of work, TOBASOL has begun to find its true niche — honing a sound specific to its home state and universal enough to be embraced without boundaries. Instead of moving away in pursuit of musical dreams, TOBASOL chooses to stay put. This record is a dedication of sorts to what Monger calls the "Third Coast," the Great Lakes region. "It doesn't get written about enough," he said.

One of the most surprising aspects associated with TOBASOL, is the band's tendency to experiment with new sound and venture into unusual musical territory with instruments like mandolin, violin, trumpet, cello, organ and saxophone. The diversity was intended from the start. All six bandmates are musicians in the true sense of the word.

Monger has been playing guitar since age 9, but also lends his expertise on accordion, mandolin and banjo in this band. TOBASOL has even worked with found sounds, like the crash of fireworks. While rehearsing in Flint, the band was interrupted by kids lighting fireworks and decided to incorporate it into Beautiful Night, a song they recorded in upstate New York. Most of the record was completed in Ann Arbor, at Big Sky Studios with engineer Geoff Michael (Robert Bradley's Blackwater Surprise, the Atomic Numbers).

Monger is more than pleased with the result. From the drifting sensation of riding a Vintage Schwinn on a summer day to falling under the spell of a Michigan winter in Winter Coat Romancing, TOBASOL finds truth and beauty in daydreams.

"(On) our first record, we didn't have time to be a band first," he said. "This is a more even record." Ann Arbor's Brothers and Sisters are already hard at work on the second volume of HOMES, which will be more directly related to the Great Lakes. Amid the engaging images set forth by this record is a past we can all relate to if we just listen.

Arts, Beats and Eats

Restaurants add flavor to festival

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

For most of his tenure as owner of Southfield's Beans and Cornbread, Patrick Coleman wasn't a big fan of restaurant festivals. Participating in those events, he said, seemed like a step down.

But the annual Chrysler Arts, Beats and Eats changed his mind.

"We think of our restaurant as a sort of boutique restaurant. I've always thought that that was unboutique-like to be involved in one of these food fests," Coleman said.

"I just like how well Arts, Beats and Eats is run. Plus, our clientele is attending this festival so I just feel that it's important to be there."

The local patrons at his soul food eatery have attracted the likes of Mike Tyson, Keith Richards, Queen Latifah and various sports stars.

Beans and Cornbread is one of about 50 restaurants that will serve up samples of its food at this year's Arts, Beats and Eats, which takes place Friday through Monday in downtown Pontiac.

ABE producer Jon Witz explained that variety is the key to choosing the restaurants that participate in the festival, now in its fourth year.

"Our overall goal is to have a unique presence with a lot of different restaurants. We target restaurants that can bring different cuisines to the table."

Who's cooking?

Each year, Witz said, the Chrysler Arts, Beats and Eats organizers mail applications to potential participants. Once the applications are returned, they sift through the pile and choose between 45 and 50. Special consideration is given to cultural and ethnic diversity, he added.

"We approach probably 200 restaurants and 25 percent will accept our invitation," he said. "In the process, an additional 20 or 30 restaurants will call us. Out of the ones that call us, we select some of them as well."

This year's list includes BD's Mongolian Barbeque of Royal Oak, Ann Arbor, Novi and Rochester, Benihana, Hunter

House Hamburgers in Birmingham and Detroit, Kerby's Koney Island, Mesquite Creek Steakhouse of Clarkston, Picano's of Troy, Shula's Steak House of Troy, Rainforest Cafe in Auburn Hills, and others.

Witz described his event as "unique" because, unlike other food festivals, Chrysler Arts, Beats and Eats features "100 percent restaurants and caterers as opposed to food vendors that have their own trailers and food carts and so forth."

Although festival admission and the concerts are free, there is a small price for the food. According to Witz, items will cost between $1 and $4.50.

Beans and Cornbread is going to feature its Baby Sister's Backyard-Style Rib Tips.

"Baby Sister" is actually a term of endearment for the youngest sister in an African-American family. When I was growing up, a woman rented from my grandmother and we called her 'Baby Sister.' She made awesome ribs," Coleman explained.

"A lot of the food items at the restaurant we had named after women whom we have cooked in our lives — Mam's Meatloaf, and a couple of other items there were made by women."

Although choosing which dishes to offer is a tough decision, Coleman explained that participating in Chrysler Arts, Beats and Eats should be well worth the effort.

"I've attended the festival in past years and it seems to be pretty well run. There's always been a huge amount of participation. It's a nice vehicle for us to showcase the restaurant to some individuals who have never been to this restaurant."

Decorative Painting

Homeowners escape the ordinary with the help of talented artists

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK • STAFF WRITER
kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

Fooling the eye: This master bathroom and suite of a home in Bloomfield Township (above) were painted beautifully by Kate Paul to give the illusion of a dramatic view (Right) Paul painted a door in a home in Plymouth that seems to open on an art gallery. This trompe l'oeil painting gives a real feeling of depth. In a Northville home, Paul painted this master bedroom ceiling to create the feeling of open skies and a view to the heavens.

Sometimes today's homeowners paint with tedious colors of off-white, cream or the infamous "builder's beige."

While some homeowners occasionally boldly venture into reds and blues and greens on their walls, most don't. But decorative artists can help homeowners escape the routine colors and the everyday world with everything from fantasy paintings to simple rag-rolls.

It all depends on what you want, but an artist's perception and interpretation always helps.

A homeowner may see a small bedroom as nothing more than storage space for an old bench or dresser. For Francine Frappier Koluch, she sees that old furniture as yet another opportunity to decorate.

"To me everything is paintable," Koluch says, pointing to a bench she's painted flowers on in an apartment in Garden City.

Under the illusion

Then there's Kate Paul, an artist who creates murals and trompe l'oeil, a French word that means "to deceive the eye." She speaks from a ladder of a Plymouth home where she paints a conservatory on the kitchen ceiling under skylights.

Paul may paint a child's room like a castle, while a bedroom ceiling may feature a mural of orchids. Her work is featured inside homes in Bloomfield Township, West Bloomfield, Plymouth and Northville.

"It's like the commissioning of an artist, but the painting really fits the environment of the house," Paul said.

Koluch and Paul will go to clients' homes and get a feel for what they might want. "They have that boring room and they don't want wallpaper," Koluch said. "They just want to create an environment and have their own castle at home."

"A lot of people like the creativity, but they have no idea what they want. It's the element of surprise. They want someone to be creative and have something that is beautiful. And they want something that is unique."

Walk into a duplex in Garden City rented out by Koluch and her husband, and you will see Francine's creativity in her faux art "showroom."

The walk-in landing creates an inviting tone of mixed greens. The front room contains painted columns and features a painted plant. There's vines in the bathroom with grapes.

"I like to use natural colors. It all depends on where I'm painting," Koluch said. Koluch said she likes to paint everything, and she means it. "People have old pieces they may like to have painted." In this house, an old bench decorates one room with floral patterns.

Many of the floral patterns aren't real flowers, Koluch just makes them up, but you can find roses and wisteria, too.

She doesn't hesitate to paint old cupboards. "These cupboards were in the worst shape," Koluch said. "But I created some new colors and a little more pleasant area." Her colors feature a mix of brown, green and grey.

Koluch paints children's rooms with constellations and spaceships on the ceiling to re-create the night time sky. Turn off the lights and the glow-in-the-dark paint lights up stars. Down stairs an old rec room has billiard balls on the wall with the black 8 ball holding a cue stick. On another wall a football is painted. On another door, she paints a window inside the door to add a little more character.

She painted stairs in a home in Northville to make it look like carpeting. "I created a trail of roses going up the stairs," she said. "The roses going up was appropriate because in those days (the home was built) they had floral carpeting."

At another home, Koluch used actual cracks in the walls to accent newly painted walls to create vines.

Koluch once painted a bachelor's apartment black in Plymouth. On the kitchen wall she painted a butler with an actual towel over one arm and a real candle in his other hand.

Koluch's art work is featured near a banquet room at Leon's Restaurant in Livonia and at Providence Hospital near an instructional room.

Paul painted a mural at Gilda's Club in Royal Oak several years ago. The club assists cancer patients, including children, so Paul painted animals, such as a kangaroo, painting a picture. She also donated a mural to Angela Hospice in Livonia, which raised $3,000 for the charity.

A variety of decors

Homeowners use decor ranging from traditional to Gothic, Paul said. "It's all mixed up, so people should just try what they like," Paul said.

She pays close attention to detail. Her work takes on a life of its own and truly is a fantasy world.

For wine aficionados, she paints oil on linen to create a vineyard mural in a sitting room in West Bloomfield. A builder in Plymouth has an art gallery on his fourth floor, so she paints a trompe l'oeil of an art gallery in a bathroom. A homeowner in Northville collects orchids, so she paints a mural of them for her.

More oil-on-linen paintings create overdoor urn panels that appear to blend right in with the adjacent moldings.

Paul also incorporates the loves or occupations of homeowners into her works. For a Bloomfield Township couple of an engineer and gardener, she creates a mural of plantings with ruins and buildings to signify engineering.

Colors also vary according to taste. "Crems and beige still rule, unfortunately," Paul said. "But you should have what you like. Everything goes here. This is the richest country in the world, and anything goes."

Cast dramatic shadows with your silhouette photos

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

Silhouette pictures can be among the most impact-filled and dramatic of all photographs. How do you make them? Easy! Effectively using an early morning or late afternoon sun will do the trick. Compose carefully and place a strong subject in the foreground, the sun behind. The sun can be just outside the viewfinder or directly behind the subject. You can even wait until just before sunrise or just after sunset to get the same effect. Take your meter reading off the sky. Because it is so bright, the sky will "call for" a minimum exposure, that is, a small aperture and/or a fast shutter speed. The foreground subject will then be underexposed to the point where it will appear in the finished print as a silhouette. What subjects are good to use? Some of my favorites are stark trees, flying birds, interesting architectural forms, even people (you can produce interesting profiles). Try including the sun directly in your picture. Use slow speed film, an aperture of f-16 and a shutter speed of 1/1000 second, paying no attention at all to your camera's meter. The result: Your foreground subject will reproduce as a black silhouette and the sun will appear as a shining "star." Be careful not to look directly at the sun through the viewfinder because eye damage can occur.

For slide shooters, here's an idea that will result in truly exciting results.

On overcast days, shoot pictures of trees, birds, airplanes, lighthouses, etc. with the bald sky in the background. Then remount these slides with other slides of sunsets, clouds or any other subject your imagination can produce. The densities of both layers of film will darken the "sandwich" sufficiently so that the subject will appear as a silhouette.

Producing silhouettes is fun, easy and exciting. It's an area of photography where your imagination and creativity will truly excel!

Monte Nagler is a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills. You can leave him a message by dialing (734)953 2047 on a touch tone phone. His fax number is (248)644 1314.

Shadow without doubt: Early morning backlighting was what it took for Monte Nagler to produce this dramatic barn and tree silhouette in northern Michigan.

Bill aims to protect consumers

APPLIANCE DOCTOR

JOE GAGNON

State Sen Bill Bullard, R-Milford, issued a press release the day after Michigan Attorney General Jennifer Granholm announced a criminal investigation was in effect against a Farmington Hills company Bullard said he was applying pressure to get Senate Bill 217 passed that will help consumers and provide oversight of an appliance repair industry that often "operates too loosely in Michigan."

"Consumers will have some tools to fight back once the Appliance Repair Act is established," Bullard said.

In February Bullard introduced the bill, which requires that the company and customer agree to a written estimate of the repair before the repair company begins work. The actual service fee cannot exceed 110 percent of the estimate cost,

The repair company and the customer must agree to a written estimate of the repair before the repair company begins work.

unless the customer agrees upon notice, and repair work would be under warranty for at least 30 days.

The bill also requires a full listing of work performed and requires that the customer receive all replaced parts unless a core charge or materials exchange is applicable. Repairs to warranted items must be completed within 10 days of notice.

Senate Bill 217 awaits action in the Senate Committee on Local, Urban and State Affairs. Bullard anticipates quick review of Senate Bill 217 when the Legislature convenes in September.

"We need to send a message out now, that Michigan consumers won't be had by con-men disguised as appliance repairmen," Bullard said. "Too many people have lost too much money already."

For the past 15 years, this white-haired old man who writes this column has been in Lansing standing before committees that listen to what he has to say and yet have failed to bring this Appliance Repair Act to a positive conclusion. Certain lobbying groups have proven how strong they are by making sure this has never passed.

It has been a very discouraging lesson for me on how government works and all this while I have witnessed continually the wrongs done by some in the service industry and the gross amount of money spent by consumers. I feel that if Bullard can get this bill passed, it will be like a miracle to this writer.

The many honest repair companies are in favor of cleaning up their industry and I would hope that you the reader might lend a show of support by calling Bullard's office and urging him to keep up the good fight. His number in Lansing is 517-373-1758.

Joe Gagnon can be heard Saturday and Sunday on 760 WJR. He is a member and past president of the Society of Consumer Affairs Professionals. His phone number is (313) 873-9789.

Check windows before winter

Windows just won't budge? Window maintenance is a relatively simple matter, and late summer is a good time for doing it.

Begin with a routine cleaning of the window frames and sills, as well as the tracks of sliding windows.

"Windows that don't get opened and closed much tend to attract dirt, bugs and nests," said Stanford Blanck, co-owner of Wallside Windows. "That sort of buildup can cause windows to stick and eventually, not operate properly."

Scrape any residue and dirt from the window frames and then vacuum them out, Blanck said.

If necessary, wash any finger prints or smudges from the frames with an appropriate household cleaner. If the tracks on sliding windows are grimy or sticky with dirt, wash them with a spray cleaner and rag, getting as little moisture as possible on the frames.

After washing frames or tracks, dry them completely with paper towels.

Blanck, who has more than 30 years of window replacement experience, offers these additional maintenance tips:

■ About once a year, lubricate all moving parts of your windows—the tracks, slides, crank mechanisms and metal brackets. Teflon spray is best, as silicone has been found to yellow certain vinyl windows. Don't use WD-40, or any oil- or petroleum-based products—they make a gummy mess that attracts even more dirt.

■ Metal frame windows—particularly those painted bronze or black—tend to oxidize in the sun, losing some of their color. A little car wax, used according to directions, will often restore the frames' luster.

■ Windows that "sweat" on the inside aren't defective. The moisture is simply a product of too much humidity in the house, which condenses on the inner windows in winter. There's not much you can do about it, other than reducing humidity in the house or perhaps setting up a fan near the windows.

Plan for the pet care long before you leave home

ASK THE VETS

DRS MICHAEL AND AND

Dear Doctors, We travel a lot, especially during the holidays. How can we find someone reliable able to take care of our dog and cats while we are away?

It's never easy to leave your pets behind when you are out of town

Some people are so worried about leaving their pets that they arrange their travel accommodations so their furry friends can accompany them

You'd be amazed at how many hotels, motels and bed and breakfast inns permit you to keep a well-behaved pet in your room. Contact your travel agent or check out the Internet, a library or a bookstore for sources of animal-friendly lodgings

If you can't take your pet along, look for pet care well in advance

This is especially important if you will be traveling over a major holiday or during school vacations. Boarding kennels tend to be booked up during these times, so reserve a space well in advance

You have three options for pet care when you are away. You can leave your pet in your home, someone else's home or a boarding kennel/veterinary office

In home

Our best recommendation is to hire a friend, neighbor or pet sitter to care for your pet in your own home. Remember, "There's no place like home." A pet is most comfortable and least stressed in familiar surroundings. He will be able to keep his old routine and sleep in his own bed (or on your bed or couch when you're not watching!)

You also avoid having to drive your pet to a kennel, which can be an anxiety-provoking experience for animals unaccustomed to being a car passenger

Another advantage to in-home pet care is that your sitter can collect the mail, feed the fish, water the plants, pick up the newspaper and turn the lights on and off so it appears someone is home. This "lived in" look will deter would-be burglars

How do you find a reliable pet sitter? Word of mouth works best. Ask your friends, relatives, neighbors, pet groomer or vet

Many animal hospital employees pet sit part time as a second income. Individuals who work at animal hospitals are usually experienced at recognizing signs of illness and giving medications. They will take notice if your pet isn't eating well, looks lethargic, has an upset stomach or isn't going to the bathroom

You can also check the business section of your phone book, or contact the National Association of Professional Pet Sitters at (717)691-5565 to find a sitter in your part of town

Request references and check them. If the sitter is a professional, ask if she is licensed, bonded and insured

After the initial phone contact, interview the prospective sitter in your home and watch how she interacts with your pets. Does she seem to genuinely care for your pets? Is she gentle and affectionate with them? If you feel comfortable with this person your pets probably will, too

Instructions

When you have finally selected a sitter, make certain you write down and discuss any important instructions regarding the care of your pet and home. Keep a copy with you, give one to your sitter, and leave an additional copy mounted on the refrigerator

Write down the terms of the services in advance. This should include the specific duties requested and the pet sitter's fee

Specify the number and length of visits you want the sitter to make each day. Designate the times of day at which you expect her to visit

Should the dogs be walked or just turned out into the yard? How often should the litter box be completely emptied and washed? Where is the cat litter stored? Where should it be disposed?

Write down specific feeding instructions (such as amount and frequency of feeding) and where food is kept

List the names, dosage and route of administration of any medications that need to be given. Write down the exact date and time of day these need to be administered

Be explicit in your directions. If "Benji" only swallows his pill if it is hidden in cheese, make certain your sitter knows! What should the sitter do if "Rover"

(with jaws of steel) spits out part of his heartworm preventative? Is it safe to give him another whole one?

Make certain you let your sitter know your pet's habits, favorite hiding places, likes and dislikes. Does Brutus go berserk during thunderstorms? Does Morris hide under the guest-room bed upstairs when someone visits? Do Fred and Ethel occasionally wolf down their tuna and then spit it back? Does Angel bite?

Write down any pertinent information regarding your pet's medical history and whom to contact if he becomes ill. Leave the phone numbers and driving directions to your veterinarian's office and after-hours emergency hospital

Make certain you determine in advance how any veterinary bills will be paid. Do you expect the sitter to pay the bill and then you will reimburse her? Will your regular veterinarian or emergency hospital doctor send a bill instead? Will you tell the sitter to have the hospital call you to get your credit card number?

Leave your emergency contact numbers and the phone number(s) of where you will be staying. Also list the name and phone number of a close friend, relative or neighbor in case you are unreachable in an emergency

It's also wise to leave a house key with your neighbor and ask him to watch for the sitter and call you if he doesn't see the sitter arrive at the designated times

Pet proof your home and yard before you leave, especially if your pet will be unsupervised most of the day. Pick up any sharp objects, bones, or ribbons or strings that pose a hazard. Consider keeping some doors to rooms closed to keep your pet confined in a smaller, safer area

Keep the thermostat set at a comfortable temperature. Leave out plenty of fresh food and water

If your beloved buddy has a long list of medical problems and requires a lot of medications, is very old or very young, or is quite mischievous, your pet might be better off with a pet sitter who actually stays in your house

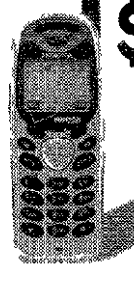

If your sitter can't stay in the house or visit several times each day, perhaps you should consider leaving your pet in a boarding kennel instead of home alone

Dates set for DSO Showhouse

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra Volunteer Council has announced the new dates for the 2001 Designer Showhouse

The showhouse will be open to the public Nov 17 to Dec 9, closed Thanksgiving Day. This will be the only opportunity for the general public to view David Johnson's prestigious Turtle Lake development in Bloomfield Township and to tour a spectacular home built by John Richards

The DSO Volunteer Council will continue its tradition of Bare Bones Tours, a chance to see the showhouse before the designers begin their work. These tours will take place Oct 20 and 21 this year. Cost is $5, payable at the door

Showhouse hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov 17 through Dec 9. For more information about the showhouse, call the Designer Showhouse Information Line at (313)576-5155

Adoptees give homes to more than 300 pets

More than 300 animals were adopted into homes Saturday and Sunday at the Michigan Humane Society's 10th annual Animal Care Fair

Since the fair began in 1991, over 1,500 animals have been placed into new homes

Potential adopters from as far as Toledo, Ohio, lined up early on Saturday and Sunday, ready to find their new best friend from among the hundreds of adoptable cats, dogs, rabbits and other small pets from the MHS, Michigan Animal Adoption Network and Michigan Rabbit Rescue

Fairgoers enjoyed special offers on pet foods and supplies and saw a variety of demonstrations by dog training teams, the Southfield Police Department K-9 Unit and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Mounted Unit. Winning dogs and their owners in the K9 Kapers contest received gift certificates from Pet Supplies Plus and free vouchers for obedience classes from the MHS Pet Education Center

Proceeds from this event will benefit the nearly 47,000 homeless, abandoned, and injured animals the MHS cares for each year

The Michigan Humane Society is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to serving the animals since 1877. The MHS operates three full-service shelters and charitable animal hospitals in the Detroit area

GARDENING

Books share advice, special memories

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

Once in a while a book comes across my desk that is outstanding. The Lawn & Garden Owner's Manual: What to do and When to do it, Lewis and Nancy Hill ($21.95, soft, Storey Books), is one that will be kept close by for quick reference.

If you're starting a new landscape or you have one that isn't quite "up to snuff," this book can help remedy any situation.

It's divided into three sections. The first is organized by seasons with tasks that need doing at a particular time. The second is full of detailed information about the how's and why's of the chores, i.e., specific pruning and/or in-ground division. The third is about good gardening habits.

This excellent advice will assure that everything is done on time in the proper way.

Memories

"Somewhere in everyone's past is a moment when you stood by your mother's side and blew dandelions to see how far the parachutes would float." That's a quote from the book A Time to Blossom: Mothers, Daughters and Flowers ($40, Houghton Mifflin).

The book is suitable for the young and young at heart. Author Tovah Martin, in her own voice, recalls happy memories of her childhood during each season from forcing bulbs and growing marigolds to making scented geranium cake.

Profiles of treasured flowers such as lilacs and roses, time spent learning about plants, and the excitement of gardening and sharing memories may help recall similar episodes in your life. I especially enjoyed the chapter about Joy Logee Martin

MARTY FIGLEY

Planning's the thing: Beautiful landscapes are the result of careful planning and diligent care.

(Logee's greenhouse)

Richard Brown's exquisite photographs illustrate the text beautifully. A keepsake. The publication date is Oct. 11, 2001.

Shatoiya and Richard de la Tour, owners of Dry Creek Herb Farm in northern California, share their love of gardening in the book The Herbalist's Garden: A Guided Tour of 10 Exceptional Herb Gardens, the People Who Grow Them and the Plants That Inspire Them ($27.50, Storey Books).

Visit, via the book, Caprilands (the late Adelmia Simmons), Plimouth Plantation (a recreation of historical gardens of pilgrims), Dr. James Duke's Green Pharmacy Garden, and others that will inspire.

These master herbalists share their visions, successes and fail ures, as well as recipes that make this an exceptional book. Photos by Saxon Holt enhance the telling.

ZEN in Your Garden: Creating Sacred Spaces, Jenny Hendy ($18.95, Tuttle Publishing), relates the simple steps to make a special retreat.

We learn the philosophy behind Zen gardening and then how to proceed. Hendy tells how to use local materials, build ponds and waterfalls, use appropriate seating and furniture, and create a focus.

Exact drawings assure success, lovely photographs illustrate the beauty and serenity of these gardens.

Memorable

The Monk in the Garden. Robin Marantz Henig ($14 soft, Mariner Books), is the story of Gregor Mendel, the Moravian monk, the "father of genetics."

He spent years growing peas until he could prove his theory and was never recognized for his work. He died penniless and lonely.

Thirty-five years later, in the spring of 1900, when three scientists "rediscovered" Mendel's paper about the subject, he was recognized for his genius. Quite an interesting story of schemes and jealousies.

Sleeping with a Sunflower: A Treasury of Old Time Gardening Lore, Louise Riotte ($12.95, Storey), is delightful, as the author shares monthly projects—such as fishing by the moon—and American Indian lore.

Our forefathers had time for fun and special projects even though the work was hard. Relive some experiences and perhaps try a few recipes, all the while learning some interesting facts. Published in 1987, it's still worth a mention.

GOODGARDEN TIPS

■ If you grow hot peppers, dry them by pulling the whole plant out and hanging it upside down in a dry, airy spot. When dry, remove the peppers and store in a bag.

■ Dry freshly picked flowers in kitty litter. Just set the flowers in the litter, stem side up, sprinkle generously on top, and soon they will be dry for fall bouquets.

■ Give your mums a weekly drink of fish emulsion or manure tea until color starts appearing in the buds.

■ First-time garlic harvesters: There won't be a papery skin around the bulb when you first pull it out of the soil. The skin forms later, after the bulbs have been set out to dry in a shady place for about a week.

Marty Figley is an advanced master gardener based in Birmingham. You can leave her a message by dialing (734) 953-2047 on a touch tone phone. Her fax number is (248) 644-1314.

An abundance of Bundons

Family reunion is social event of the year

STORY BY KIMBERLY MORTSON • PHOTOS BY PAUL HURSCHMANN

The first year Elnora Bundon rallied 30 members of her family together (including her 10 children) for a reunion, she probably never expected to be reuniting every August for the next 36 years. On Saturday, Aug. 11, 142 members who attended this year's event started to gather at Elnora's eldest daughter's home in Canton.

According to Dixie Kingsbury, Elnora's youngest child, the reunion lasts a minimum of four days and has even stretched out over a week some years.

"This year we started on Saturday," said Lenore Walker, Elnora's oldest child. "The last of the bunch left the following Sunday."

Family tree

Mary Elnora Zada Davis and her husband, Lennon Washington Bundon, married Dec. 18, 1931, after meeting in church. Their marriage lasted more than six decades. Lennon died two days after their 67th wedding anniversary in 1998. Together they had 10 children: Lenore, Georgann, Mary Rose, Rena, Nema, Lincoln, Jane, Bill, Rick and Dixie.

Elnora's family continues to grow. To date she has 32 grandchildren, more than 65 great grandchildren and 15 great great grandchildren.

"I just love being with my family," said Elnora, 86, who lives in Canton. "We're family people."

Two of Elnora's children live in Tennessee, where the family hails from, but the remainder of her brood reside less than 30 minutes from her Canton home. In addition to the annual reunion, the family has been meeting every Tuesday evening, for the past six years, at Heritage Park in Canton for a potluck dinner.

"Some Tuesdays there are six of us, some 30," said Dixie. "Buster, Lenore's husband, always says 'We have to eat so we might as well eat together.'"

"We're like bananas," added James "Buster" Walker, Lenore's son.

With 10 children in the main Bundon family, it's not hard to calculate why the reunion draws such a large crowd. Attendance was down a little this year, but in the past upwards of 170 people participated, some coming from as far away as California, Tennessee and Florida.

"Most of the people come from Michigan," said Sherry Willoughby, Lenore's daughter from Ft. Myers, Florida. "It's always fun and there are more and more new faces every year."

Lenore's small house is situated on seven acres of property off Denton Road in Canton. Lenore and her husband James once farmed much of the property and sold produce at a stand on Ford Road.

"Buster quit planting a large garden and mowed down the grass on one side of the house where we all park," said Dixie. "The reunion is always held the third week of August because that's when families have the most fresh produce to bring from their gardens."

While the main part of the four-day reunion is held at Lenore's home, family members participate in a host of activities from golfing and shopping to knapsack races and egg toss. The Tuesday of the reunion, the large family spent the day at Heritage Park.

"We want people to know there are still traditional families out there who like to have fun and spend time together," said Dixie. "We do lots of things people might find old-fashioned but to us it's a good time."

While the focus of the reunion hasn't changed, there have been many things added into the planning. Lenore said in 1985 the 10 main children started choosing a color theme for the family portrait they've been taking of themselves since 1965. Each year one of the Bundon children chooses the color.

"We wore red, white and blue the year of Desert Storm. We've had a nautical theme, wore polka dots one year and we had a 'Survivor' theme in 2000. Our shirts read 'Four days, 100 people. We will survive,'" said Dixie.

In 1988 the family buried two time capsules, the first of which they opened in 2000. The second they plan to unearth in 2013.

"We buried letters, cassettes and pictures. Whatever anybody wanted to include. There was a letter in there from momma to us kids in case she wasn't here when we opened it. That was hard," said Lenore.

Not only did everyone get a chance to include something in the bucket — everyone was also given the opportunity to shovel away some dirt from the hole.

"We all stood around in a big line waiting to scoop up some dirt," said Sherry.

For the Bundon family — who are particularly proud of their Baptist faith — time for prayer, song and giving thanks is an important part of the reunion. On Sunday, the day after the festivities begin, any family who wishes to attend church joins Elnora for the 11 a.m. service at First Freewill Baptist Church in Ypsilanti. "One year

New science program takes hands-on approach

BY STEPHANIE ANGELYN CASOLA

scasola@oe.homecomm.net

Walking along South Wayne Road this summer, residents might have noticed a strange new addition — a storefront glowing with lava lamps, plasma balls and a glow in the dark hanging solar system complete with constellations to mimic the night sky.

Al Shuryan opened the doors to this "scientific laboratory" this summer in an effort to reach, teach and inspire children of elementary and middle school age across Wayne County.

Mad Science of Wayne County is an organization dedicated to enriching scientific studies and education through programs and experiments in and outside the classroom. "I think it's going to keep me young," he said, sitting in the laboratory near his pet gecko — Specks.

Learn by doing

Using a hands-on approach, Shuryan brings the magic of science to schools in the form of workshops and after-school programs, and specializes in social events, camps and even birthday parties.

"I'm hoping the public and especially the educational system (will) realize the value of what we have to offer," said Shuryan, a Canton resident. "There are 800 experiments here ready to go."

But this Canton man's life didn't always include test tubes, a hovercraft and a crisp white lab coat.

Making the life-altering decision to leave his career after 25 years as a data base systems engineer last year left Shuryan searching for a new way to earn a living — one he would be more passionate about. The self-confessed "workaholic" discovered his job — where he often spent 20 hours a day — was actually making him sick.

A disabled Vietnam veteran, Shuryan took a leave of absence last year after a disc in his neck ruptured. Though he originally thought he would recover and return, his health remained a concern. "I wanted to explore the possibility of doing something else," he said. "The

Read the Instructions....
 Whenever we purchase a new appliance or piece of equipment we should always carefully read the instructions or manual that accompanies it. It is a good idea to file this information away for future use, in case the item breaks or doesn't work properly. God has given us the Bible, which has wonderful instructions for our life. However, unlike these instruction manuals, the Bible is not something that we should put away and read only when something in our lives is not working right. Just as we should keep a good relationship with repairman and mechanics who can help us when something breaks down, we should also maintain a good relationship with our Lord. We should be aware that we will always need our Heavenly Father's help, and remember that God's loving kindness is always there for His people. The Bible tells us that if we draw near to God, He will draw near to us, and if we seek the Lord, He will answer us and deliver us from all of our fears.
Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose trust is in the Lord.

stress in the job was a great deal."

In searching for change, he discovered Mad Science on the Internet. What really drew Shuryan to the organization was its connection to young people in the community. He and his wife, Cheryl, have two children of their own, Lisa, 15, and Michael, 21. The Shuryan family has lived in Canton for 17 years and both Lisa and Michael attended Wayne-Westland schools. Looking back, Al Shuryan found the most important moments in his life have revolved around his children.

"He realized working with children would be just the path he needed. He calls it "vocational rehabilitation."

Adopting the moniker "professor techie," he opened Mad Science of Wayne County in July. Shuryan hopes to foster a successful program, the first of its kind in Michigan. Mad Science was developed 10 years ago and has established 128 locations in the United States. Based on experiments that stress safety, Mad Science of Wayne County offers a way to enrich what children learn in school. It promotes involvement outside of the classroom and parental involvement within.

"It's educational, but everyone is more entertained and involved," said Shuryan.

Expanding education

While he doesn't downplay the importance of teachers, and is not a teacher himself, Shuryan is able to expand on the concepts taught in a classroom with demonstrations. From casting your own dinosaur tooth to creating Mad Science putty or slime, children learn by doing. Experiments demonstrate electricity and lightning with a Van de Graaff generator that makes hair stand on end. Birthday parties blast into high gear with a Mad Science rocket launch. Cook up a dry ice storm or dig for dinosaur bones, it's all part of Mad Science.

Shuryan said his main "competitors" are clowns and magicians, but Mad Science is more educational than such programs. Experiments and lessons meet programming requirements set forth by the Michigan Department of Education Content Standards.

Shuryan ran his first workshop this month to a class of 40 youngsters at Ypsilanti's Surround Care. "I felt that you did an excellent job with keeping the children's attention and choosing age appropriate projects," wrote Gail P. Burwell, director at Surround Care. "I look forward to having you back again."

The focus now lies with hiring teachers to work part-time with Mad Science, so Shuryan can build a team of instructors who are also trained experts in several fields of science. "There is freedom and flexibility in our program," he said.

A Mad Science production is traveling the country and will be a featured part of this year's Michigan State Fair, five times daily through Sept. 3 at the State Fairgrounds (Eight Mile and Woodward) in Detroit. You can also check out Mad Science on the World of Wonders Stage at the Novi Expo Center Sept. 15.

For more information e-mail madsci1@provide.net visit www.MadScience.org/waynecounty or call Al Shuryan (734) 722-2748.

any family news including births, weddings, graduations and job promotions.

"We have at least four new babies every year," said Dixie. "One year there were seven. It's not hard to figure out how the reunion has grown so much over the years."

In the afternoon families are invited to take the microphone to sing gospel songs, tell jokes or perform skits. Last year Elnora stood up and sang Amazing Grace.

It's all about planning

"We start talking about next year's reunion this year," said Sherry.

What may seem like a logistics nightmare to some comes natural to the Bundon family. Everyone is asked to bring two dishes as well as pop and ice. Everyone agrees a family favorite is Lenore's chicken and dressing casserole.

Besides food the Bundons have to coordinate sleeping arrangements. Many large families with young children choose to stay at local hotels where they can enjoy swimming in the evening. The remainder of the family stays with each other, sleep on Lenore's floor or camp.

"One thing you learn though if you stay at Lenore's is never get up at night without a flashlight because you never know how many people are going to be sleeping on her floor," said Sherry.

The Bundon's plan on preserving the tradition of the reunion for years to come — rain or shine.

"It's all about family," said Dixie. "What else is there?"

NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS COUNTIES OF WAYNE AND WASHTENAW, MICHIGAN FOR THE SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2001

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT
PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a special election for Van Buren Public Schools will be held in the School District on Monday, October 1, 2001.

Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, as amended, provides in part that the inspectors of election at an annual or special election shall not receive the vote of a person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which the person resides.

The last day for receiving registrations for the special election will be Tuesday September 4, 2001. Persons registering after the Clerk's office closes on Tuesday September 4, 2001 will not be eligible to vote at the special election. Persons planning to register must determine when the Clerk's office will be open for registration.

Under the provisions of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan 1976, as amended registrations will not be taken by school officials and only persons who have registered as general electors with the appropriate Clerk of the City or Township in which they reside or through registration at a Secretary or State driver's license bureau are registered school electors.

The following proposal will be submitted to the electors at the election on Monday, October 1, 2001.

NON-HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX OPERATING MILLAGE PROPOSITION

This millage will renew the District's levy of operating millage, which expires with the 2001 levy as reduced by statute to the rate of 17.8884 mills ($0.178884 on each $1,000 of taxable value) against non-homestead property and restore the District's statutorily reduced operating millage to 18 mills by 0.1116 mills ($0.1116 on each $1,000 of taxable value) such that the District may continue to levy no more than the statutory maximum of 18 mills against non-homestead property required for the school district to receive its revenue per pupil foundation guarantee.

Shall the millage previously approved by the electors as an assessment against all property in Van Buren Public Schools Counties of Wayne and Washtenaw, except homestead property and qualified agricultural property as defined by law as statutorily reduced to 17.8884 mills ($0.178884 on each $1,000 of taxable value) be continued for five (5) years, 2002 to 2006, inclusive, and be increased by 0.1116 mills ($0.1116 on each $1,000 of taxable value) for a period of five (5) years, 2002 through 2006, inclusive, to provide in part the funds to operate and maintain the school system? This is a renewal of the school's operating millage and a restoration of the Headlee Reduction for 2002 through 2006 inclusive. It is estimated that the revenue the school district will collect if the millage is approved and levied in the 2002 calendar year shall be approximately $10,452,000 from the local taxes authorized in this proposal.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education of Van Buren Public Schools, Counties of Wayne and Washtenaw, Michigan.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON PUBLIC NOTICE NOTICE OF PROPOSED REVISION TO THE FELLOWS CREEK DRAIN EFFECTING THE FLOOD INSURANCE RATE MAP (FIRM) AND FLOOD BOUNDARY AND FLOOD WAY MAP (FBFM)

The residents of Canton Township are hereby notified that the firm of Warner, Cantrell and Padmos of Farmington, Michigan has submitted plans to the Federal Emergency Administrative Administration (FEMA) proposing changes to the National Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) panel 260219, Number 0009B, dated September 2, 1981.

A Letter of Map Revision (LOMR) request is currently under review by the FEMA, and if approved, could result in a shift of the FEMA designated flood way. If approved, the revision could cause the detailed 1% chance floodplain denoted as A5 on the aforementioned FIRM to shift approximately 10 to 60' eastward along the Fellows Creek Drain commencing 500' downstream of the Lotz Road bridge and continuing 250'. Additionally, the revision is expected to cause the Base Flood Elevation shown on the FIRM to decrease by a maximum of 0.2 ft.

A location map of the area is shown below. A complete copy of the application for floodplain revisions for the Fellows Creek Drain is on file for public scrutiny. For further information contact the Canton Public Works Division.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON - BOARD PROCEEDINGS - AUGUST 21, 2001

A joint study session of the Board of Trustees and the Planning Commission held Tuesday, August 21, 2001. Supervisor Yack at 7:00 p.m. called the meeting to order.

Members Present: Bennett, Burdzyak, Kirchgatter, LaJoy, McLaughlin, Shefferly, Yack, Dodson, Gustafson, Johnson, Lieberman, McLaughlin, Zarbo

Members Absent: None

Staff Present: Director Machnik, Director Santomauro, Jeff Goulet, Kathleen Salla

DDA Board: Ralph Schufeldt, Greg Greene

Chamber Members: Debbie Greene, Bob Boyer, Tom Cassidy

The sign ordinance changes were discussed and are summarized by the following:

Type of Sign	Current Ordinance Requirements	Proposed Ordinance Changes
Ground Signs	50 square feet 8 feet maximum height No masonry base required Additional signs permitted on corner and larger sites	24 square feet 6 feet maximum height Minimum 18 masonry base No additional ground signs permitted
Wall Signs	Multi-tenant buildings may have 2 square feet/1 foot of building 200 square foot maximum per tenant or building	Tenant signs reduced to 1 square foot 1 foot of building frontage per tenant Must use individual channel letters No change to maximum per tenant or building
Window Signs	Maximum coverage of 50% of the window area	Reduced to 25% coverage of the window area and no more than 2 signs per window
Change in Business or Tenant	Change of face in existing sign frame permitted Abandoned signs are technically illegal	Any change in wall or ground signs must conform to new size limits Any sign relating to vacant space must be removed within 30 days

The proposed changes were discussed for any possible changes/additions or deletions. This is an item that will seek formal board approval at a future regular board meeting.

Director Santomauro gave the Board of Trustees a presentation regarding the third Fire Station with actual response times and response time recommendations. A discussion regarding location followed. Public Safety's recommendation based on present needs, is that the third Fire Station be placed in southeast Canton Township. Based on future needs, a fourth Fire Station should be placed in the western corridor of the township, consistent with area development.

The Board of Trustees will further discuss the station location and a decision will be made at a future regular board meeting.

Adjourn

Motion by Bennett, supported by LaJoy at 9:40 p.m. to adjourn. Motion carried unanimously.

The above is a synopsis of the joint study session of the Canton Township Board of Trustees and Planning Commission. The full text of the approved minutes will be available following the next regular meeting of August 28, 2001.

Twisters fall

The Michigan Twisters had handled most of their opposition in this season's Lake Shore Football League with relative ease, rolling to four-straight wins. But last Saturday's game against the Central Ohio Lions, in Columbus, Ohio, wasn't against an easy opponent.

The Lions were winners of the last two LSFL championships, and against the Twisters they played like it, rolling to a 22-15 victory. The Lions are 5-0 and in first place in the LSFL's Southern Division, the Twisters are 4-1 and still in first place in the LSFL's Northern Division.

Twisters quarterback Rob Elswick was ineffective in this game, completing just 9-of-31 passes for 125 yards and one touchdown while throwing four interceptions. Elswick, playing behind an offensive line missing four key players, was pressured throughout the game, suffering two sacks.

The loss ended the Twisters' string of 14-straight regular-season victories. They are now idle until Sept. 8, when they host the Glass City Grizzlies out of Toledo at Willow Run's Devin Stadium. Admission is $5 for adults, $2 for students under 18 years-old, seniors over 60 and children 10-and-under (accompanied by an adult) are free.

Compuware favored

The Compuware Ambassadors were the pick to win the East Division in the North American Hockey League's pre-season Coaches' Poll, narrowly edging the Soo Kewadin Casino Indians.

The Ambassadors garnered six first-place votes and 46 points. The Indians got four first-place votes and 45 points, followed by the Capital Centre Pride with 35 points (one first-place vote), the Cleveland Barons, the USA NAHL Team and the Pittsburgh Forge.

In the West, the Texas Tornado — the defending Robertson Cup champions — were chosen to defend their division crown with seven first-place votes and 50 points. The Danville Wings were second with 39 points (two firsts), followed by the Chicago Freeze, the Springfield Jr. Blues and the St. Louis Sting.

The season opens with the Faceoff at the Summit Tournament, hosted by the Capital Centre Pride in East Lansing Sept. 7-9. All 11 NAHL teams and the U.S. Under-18 Team will each play three 60-minute games.

Compuware goes against Springfield at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 7, the U.S. Under-18 Team at 9:45 a.m. Sept. 8 and St. Louis at 2 p.m. Sept. 9.

Hole-in-one club

■ Terry Jabour of Livonia aced the 99-yard sixth hole at the Classic Hills course at Fox Hills on Aug. 21. Jabour used a 7-iron.

■ Bruce Randolph of Plymouth used a 9-iron for his ace on the 91-yard eighth hole at the Strategic Fox on Saturday.

■ Ralph McSorley of Redford used an 8-iron to ace the 137-yard ninth hole at the Strategic Fox on July 22.

■ Robert Almas of Canton used a 7-wood to ace the 177-yard 13th hole on the Strategic Fox on Aug. 12.

■ John Warner of Plymouth used a 7-iron to ace the ninth hole at the Strategic Fox, which played 151 yards on July 31.

Tryouts

• The Plymouth-Canton Thunderbirds girls softball teams will hold tryouts for the 2002 fastpitch season Sept. 8-9 at Heritage Park in Canton.

Tryouts for 10-and-unders is 9 a.m., tryouts for 12-and-unders and 14-and-unders is 10 a.m., and tryouts for 16-and-unders is noon. Ages are as of Jan. 1. All skill levels will be included.

Canton starts strong, wins Balconi

A field featuring several of the state's best soccer teams resulted in a bunch of games that went to an overtime shootout to determine a winner. Ultimately, the team that emerged on top was Plymouth Canton.

So what did Plymouth Salem get out of its season-opening soccer tournament, the Gary Balconi Invitational, which the Rocks and Plymouth Canton co-hosted Saturday?

The Rocks got to play a few of the state's best teams, including defending state co-champ Birmingham Brother Rice.

But Canton got to the championship game and ended up with the tournament title, beating Troy Athens 3-0 in the final.

"They looked like a college team, they're so big," was Canton coach Don Smith's assessment of the Athens' squad. "But we're pretty quick. I don't think they could keep up with us."

Athens had a tough road to the final, edging Salem in a shootout but then again, who didn't? Each of the Chiefs' first two matches went to a shootout — they won both — while the Rocks had three games end in shootouts.

Salem defeated Rice on the ninth shooter, then lost to Athens in a game that drained both teams. The Red Hawks couldn't stay with the Chiefs, who got goals from Nick Houdek, Nick Rolfe and Alex Popescu.

Greg Musser was in goal for Canton during all three matches, earning two shutouts. The Chiefs and Ann Arbor Pioneer were scoreless through regulation, against Midland Dow. Canton had a 1-0 lead on a goal by Johnny Kaczmarek, but the Chargers tied it with seven minutes left in regulation, forcing the shootout.

"It's a good thing we practiced those penalty kicks," said Smith.

Salem didn't fare as well, but coach Ed McCarthy was hardly displeased. "We're happy," he said. "We've played four of the state's top 10-ranked teams

Fast start carries Chiefs to a victory over Lakers

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

Pam Mahoney described the play of her West Bloomfield girls basketball team as "first-game jitters" — and it was quite accurate. But it wasn't just something her team experienced.

The Lakers dished out as much as they suffered through. And if they continue to play that way, they're going to make a lot of opponents awfully nervous.

As it was, host Plymouth Canton got off to a fast start, then withstood the Lakers' pressure and the third-quarter loss of starting guard Rachele Guastella to avenge the defeat that ended its season in the regionals last year with a 45-36 victory Tuesday.

"This was all nerves," said Mahoney. "We finally got things put together. It wasn't a bad showing in the second half. But it's going to be an uphill battle for Sam (Mahoney) all year long. They wore her down."

Canton coach Bob Blohm knew what he had to do to beat West Bloomfield, which returned just three seniors from last year's standout team. Canton's Sam Mahoney, a sophomore whose ability to drive to the hoop decimated Canton in last year's regional. Mahoney led all scorers in that game with 16 points.

Blohm's strategy was effective. Although Mahoney scored a game-high 18 points, it came at a high price — the Lakers were 1-of-19 from the field in the first half and made just 14-of-51 (27.5 percent) for the game. Canton was 15-of-44 (34.1 percent).

"We came out with some purpose and I thought we had a great first half," Blohm said. "In the second half we took a couple of shots (down the stretch) I didn't like. And we didn't get to 42 (Amelia Araiza) on defense too well."

"But I thought we defended 11 (Mahoney) real well. That the Chiefs did swarming over Mahoney when she drove to the basket to prevent either a shot or a pass."

"And we anticipated that," said the West Bloomfield coach. "What we have to do is get very efficient."

The Lakers were anything but that in the first half. They made just 1-of-11 from the floor and 3-of-6 from the free-throw line in the first quarter, trailing 12-5 after one period.

Turnovers ruled the second quarter, and the Lakers had most of them — 10 to be exact. But their pressure began causing problems for Canton, which had seven second-quarter mishandles.

Still, with West Bloomfield missing eight-straight shots, the Chiefs were able to push their lead to 20-7 at the half.

That scenario changed in the second half. The Lakers were more aggressive and caused even more Canton mistakes — eight in the third quarter, while committing just four. The tragic loss of Guastella, a sophomore, caused a 20-minute delay that further upset the Chiefs.

She had played extremely well, scoring eight points before twisting her ankle diving out of bounds for a loose ball with 5:25 left in the third. She dislocated it and, a later examination proved, broke it. Her season is finished.

West Bloomfield outscored Canton 10-2 in the last 4:35 of the third period to trim the deficit to 26-21 entering the fourth. The Lakers followed that by scoring the first five points of the final quarter, knotting it at 26 all.

But they would never gain the lead. "I thought the key was we came right down and got a score (from Christina Redd)," said Blohm. "And the girls did a good job on the glass."

That they did. Three times in the last four minutes the Chiefs rebounded a teammate's missed free throw and converted it into points, disrupting the Lakers' frenetic pace.

After West Bloomfield tied the score,

Agape rips Aggies

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Redford St. Agatha struggled in the first quarter of its girls basketball opener with Canton Agape Christian.

When Kim Dennis went down with a bad ankle, the Aggies' fortunes went from bad to worse.

The Aggies scored just three points in the last 24 minutes and wound up losing to the Wolverines, 51-9, in the opening round of the Eagle Kickoff Classic, hosted by Plymouth Christian Academy.

"We didn't play well before that," said Aggies coach Trish Rich after her team trailed, 19-6 after the first quarter with all six points coming from Dennis. "I have been telling our freshmen that they're not in CYO ball any more. So I hope it was a wake-up call. I know we're young. I looked out and saw four freshmen and a junior on the floor at one time."

Agape's Amy Henry led all scorers with 26 points, she also had 10 steals. Lisa Ther added eight points for the Wolverines.

Agape meets PCA in the championship game at 7 p.m. tonight. St. Agatha and Westland Huron Valley Lutheran play in the consolation final at 5:30 p.m.

PCA 37, Huron Valley 27: Plymouth Christian Academy's Eagles flew away from the Hawks in the fourth quarter of the second game of Monday's Eagle Kickoff Classic.

Host PCA led 27-23, entering the fourth period but held Westland Huron Valley Lutheran to just four points in recording the victory. The Eagles led, 20-13, at the half.

"We got tired," Huron Valley coach Kris Springstroh said. "We got sloppy, too. They beat us down the court. Our transition wasn't very good."

Junior Lauren Merian led the Hawks with 17 points, while sophomore Amanda Saagman paced the Eagles with 10.

"Defensively we played well," Springstroh said. "Transition hurt us. Still, I saw a lot of good things from our team in this game."

Country Day 54, Ladywood 30: It was no contest Tuesday as Beverly Hills-Detroit Country Day rolled over Livonia Ladywood in the first round of the Eccentric Tip-Off Classic at Troy Athens.

Carrie Moore led a balanced Country Day attack with 14 points. Brittney Dixon and Elise Morrison added nine apiece. Guard Kim Wilburn had eight points, eight assists and 12 steals.

Ladywood, which fell behind 20-4 after one quarter, got 10 points from senior center Liz Obrecht and seven from senior forward Jana Beumel.

Strong defense helps Ocelots roll to victory in opening matches

To Bill Tolstedt, the first weekend of the women's soccer season was an impressive one for Schoolcraft College.

And Tolstedt is a good one to impress. After all, he is SC's head coach.

The Lady Ocelots traveled to Indiana Tech on Saturday and returned home to host Michigan State on Sunday. Both games ended the same — with 4-0 wins for SC.

"We did quite well," said Tolstedt. "Our defense definitely was solid, and our offense is coming around. This is the best-skilled team we've ever had here."

The Ocelots dominated both games, outshooting Tech 19-9 and MSU 17-6. In the win over Tech, SC scored three times in the second half to pull away. Krystin Freeman accounted for two Ocelot goals, the first assisted by Sarah McMasters and the second on a penalty kick after the Tech keeper took down an SC player in the box.

SC's other goals came from Aubrey Karavas, on a rebound of a McMasters' shot, and from Erin Perkovich, assisted by

PCA could be a force in tough MIAC race

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisk@oe homecomm net

What better way to rectify a problem on your team than to bring in one of the best players on a team that was the best in the state at just the position you need?

It was never something Plymouth Christian Academy soccer coach Rick Ericson planned, but he won't argue with the results, either.

PCA finished with a 7-7-5 record last fall and was unable to match such conference foes as Allen Park Inter-City Baptist, which finished first in the state in Division IV, and Auburn Hills Oakland Christian, which lost 2-1 to Inter-City in the state semifinals.

"We had trouble scoring goals last year," said Ericson. With the loss of six starters from that team, including the team's high scorer in midfielder John Sink, that problem didn't appear to be improved.

Until Ericson found out that Matt Gallagher, who scored more than 20 goals last season for Inter-City, had transferred to PCA. A senior, Gallagher put his talents on display during PCA's season opening trip to the Macomb Christian Invitational last Saturday.

The Eagles won all three of their games (only two counted) and Gallagher scored eight goals. In the 6-1 victory over Warren Zoe Christian in the title game, Gallagher had three goals others went to Rob Treadwell Dan Carty and Tim Oswalt.

In an earlier 5-0 win over Sterling Heights Christian Gallagher netted two goals while Oswalt, James Bauslaugh and Carty added a goal apiece.

"He's helped pick us up," said Ericson of Gallagher. "The competition wasn't the greatest, but it was a good opening three games for us."

Gallagher may provide PCA with the spark it needs to challenge Inter-City and Oakland Christian, as well as Southfield Christian, in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Also missing from last year's lineup, besides Sink, are keeper Travis Yonkman, midfielder Nick Conti and striker Jason Zajac, all having graduated. In addition, midfielder Clay Welton a junior has opted to play fall baseball.

And senior Tyler Williams who has played stopper the past couple of seasons is out of action until at least mid-October while he rehabilitates his knee. Williams suffered a torn anterior cruciate ligament playing soccer last spring.

The graduations have caused Ericson to juggle his lineup a bit. For one he's moved his son Mark from sweeper (where he started at last year) to keeper.

A couple of other new additions will help fill the holes. James Delos Reyes a junior will probably be the starter at sweeper. Delos Reyes is a transfer from Redford Catholic Central where he played for the junior varsity last season.

Also new to the team at least this season is senior Matt Immertal. Immertal played for PCA two years ago but not last fall, concentrating on golf instead. He'll be at stopper this season.

"I think we'll be really strong on the defensive side of the field," said Ericson, also noting the return of senior marking backs Bauslaugh and Nick Oswalt. Bauslaugh was third team Division IV all state last year.

"And with Matt and Dan (Carty), our offense will be much better. Our midfield right now is average."

Joining Gallagher and Carty, who is a sophomore up top will be freshman Jacob Williams.

The midfield consists of sophomore Tim Oswalt who was at forward but was moved to strengthen the center midfield spot. Treadwell a senior, also at center midfield. Chad Boruta, a senior at outside midfield, and Nate Buxler a freshman.

The MIAC is not conducive to sympathetic stretches. Surviving conference play with a winning record would be a major accomplishment.

The Eagles have a chance to put together a special kind of season but as Ericson noted, there are certain essentials. Just staying healthy is a key," the PCA coach said. "We've got a lot of seniors, but our depth is unproven."

It won't stay that way for long.

PCA 3, Luth Westland 2: Three second half goals enabled Plymouth Christian to shock visiting Lutheran Westland Tuesday.

The Warriors led 1-0 at the half but Eagle goals by Matt Immerfall and Matt Gallagher made it a 2-2 match. Justin Combs and Brandon Noble scored for Lutheran Westland.

Gallagher got the game-winner on a penalty kick with three minutes left, giving him 10 goals thus far this season.

PCA is 3-0 Lutheran Westland is 0-1.

GOLF

Redford Catholic Central's golfers broke through on Monday, coming up with a win in a tight 24-team Brighton Invitational field at the Links of Whitmore Lake.

"I think we got the attention of a few people," said CC coach Bill Hayes. "I think the kids let their abilities take over and they had fun. And they realized how good they can be. When we do that, we can pretty much play with anybody."

CC eked out the win by shooting 301, followed by Bloomfield Hills Lahser with 302 and Ann Arbor Huron with 303. Both Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem finished back in the pack. Canton shot 327, Salem had a 338.

"Which is off (for us)," said Salem coach Rick Wilson. "We've been doing better than that."

"These were not good scores," Tristan Lester, a Plymouth

Shamrocks by shooting 323-38/70 and finishing second in overall low score, thanks to bogies on the 17th and 18th holes.

Mike King carded a 75, Andy Mitchell shot 76, while Nick Kolderman and Andy Soley both shot 80.

Canton was led by Ryan McKendry and Scott Oliver, each with a 79. Michael Baracy was next for the Chiefs with an 80, with Andrew Wagner the final scorer with an 89. Jason Brand followed with a 95.

Salem was paced by Bobby Jones with an 82. Dave Wallen was next best for the Rocks with an 83, followed by Andy Thackberry at 85, Jon Gordon at 88 and Ryan Williams at 91.

At the Grosse Ile Invitational last Friday, Salem turned in a solid performance against some tough competition in finishing third with a 314 total.

Trenton won with a 304 led by Alex Balog's medalist earnings 73. Grosse Ile, which fielded a Red and White team, took second with the Reds and fourth with the Whites with a 314 (edging Riverview Gabriel Richard in the tiebreaker, best fifth golfer).

Ann Arbor Pioneer was sixth at 322, with Ann Arbor Huron seventh (325) and Riverview eighth (351).

Salem's best performances came from Ryan Williams and Dave Wallen, each with a 77 that tied them for fifth overall.

Bobby Jones was next best for the Rocks with a 79, followed by Jon Gordon with an 81. Andy Thackberry added an 82 and Brady Pastalano shot an 83.

Salem is now idle until Sept. 10, when it travels to the Ari-an Invitational. Canton is idle until it opens Western Lakes Activities Association play against Livonia Franklin on Sept. 12 at Franklin's course.

Agape seeking greater returns

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisk@oe homecomm net

Canton Agape Christian girls basketball coach Chuck Henry can see the progress the program is making. And he knows this season will provide a further test.

Can the Wolvernes withstand some key losses and match last year's 16-6 mark? Work constantly can they become more prominent at state tournament time?

These are objectives Henry has clung to through his four years as coach. We're probably further ahead than any of my other teams mainly because of the continuity in coaching now that I've been here four years," he said.

Then the long time Wayne Memorial boys coach added. For us to develop as a team, we have to have a couple of kids develop, kids who can come off the bench and give us an eight player rotation.

That's one of the challenges facing Agape this year. "I think everybody coming back has really improved. He said, 'We're not loaded with depth but we have six girls who could all start.'

Where it will all start for Agape this season will be with Henry's daughter 5-foot-3 junior point guard Amy Henry, who has been starting for the Wolvernes since she was in the eighth grade averaged 15 points five assists and four steals a game last year, all of them team bests.

In Monday's season-opening trouncing of Redford St Agatha, Amy totaled 25 points and 10 steals. Agape meets rival Plymouth Christian Academy in the title game of the Eagle Kickoff Classic, which PCA hosts, at 7 p.m. tonight.

The Wolvernes lost three key players from last year's team. Marge Henry their second-leading scorer and Amy's older sister Amber Cross the top rebounder and a force inside and Alcee Muench, one of the first players off the bench.

Three seniors who did play extensively last year return. Kelly Blackney, a 5-7 forward/post player, Kandace Bedmark, a 5-8 forward/post player, and Kelly Hayes, a 5-5 perimeter player.

Other key returnees are junior Lisa Ther, a 5-7 perimeter player who divided time between the junior varsity and varsity last season, and sophomore Ely Tong, a 5-3 perimeter player who started all last season.

Three newcomers to the varsity that Henry is hoping will provide the aforementioned needed depth are juniors Rha Swilley, a 5-5 perimeter player and Dana Hames a 5-7 post player and freshman A.J. Cross a 5-8 post player who has bit of potential. Henry said Steve and Hames played junior varsity last season.

Agape is still a team with a scheduling difficult. But Henry is confident the program is making progress.

"I actually think we're a little better than last year," he said, allowing this team lacks one. "We probably had the strongest summer we've ever had."

Although its schedule isn't filled with top-quality opponents, there's enough to keep Agape motivated. Tonight's game against PCA, one of perhaps three meetings (depending on the state district tournament draw and results) between the two rivals, ranks as one of the

Soccer -D1

(including Monday's 1-1 draw against Warren DeLaSalle and really didn't lose to any of them).

"It shows we can play with anybody and if we bring our 'A' game, we can beat them."

Against Brother Rice the game was knotted 1-1 at the half, Salem getting its goal from Brian Popeney. Tavio Palazzolo was in goal for the Rocks.

The Athens' match was more dramatic, Salem trailing 2-1 when Kevin Savitskie got the game-tying goal in the final minute. Ryan Fazio assisted. Steve Shull scored the Rocks' first goal, with an assist from Popeney.

Shull also accounted for Salem's goal in the shootout loss to U-D Jesuit, with Popeney again getting the assist.

DeLaSalle 1, Salem 1: The Rocks overcame a bad start Monday at Warren DeLaSalle and, thanks to the strong play in goal by Tavio Palazzolo, managed to escape with a draw.

"I'd say DeLaSalle earned the play tonight, but Tavio kept us in it," said McCarthy. "They took it to us in the first 15 minutes."

Trailing 1-0 in the final minutes of the opening half, Salem pulled even on a goal by Jared Lamborn. Shane Smith assisted.

Which is just the way it ended, leaving Salem with a 1-2-1 overall record.

"Tavio had a terrific game," said McCarthy. "He made a number of key saves."

GRID PICKS

DAN O'MEARA

It's times such as this I recall some advice Mr Motz gave me many years ago
A man of average height with a thin build, glasses, crew cut and serious demeanor, Mr Motz was one of the coaches when I played eighth-grade football
So one day the team is lined up to do an agility drill I'm at the left end of the second row, paying little attention to what is happening on my right

The next thing Mr Motz is blowing his whistle, bringing the entire exercise to a halt, and now he's shouting my name

"O'Meara! O'Meara!"
Uh, oh I'm in trouble now, I thought But what did I do?

"Are you too good for the rest of us?" he yelled "Are you so good that you don't have to do this with us?"

Ooops! The problem was I didn't do anything

While my teammates became more aware I stood there as Ernie Harwell says, like the house by the side of the road

"Uh, no, coach," I replied "I thought we were doing this one row at a time"

"That's the problem with you, O'Meara," he fired back "You think too much!"

And now it's time to do Grid Picks and Mr Motz comes to mind, because I'm thinking real hard about my picks
I'm poring over stats, comparing scores and checking to see what teams did last week, last year, heck, even last century!

It's a case of analysis paralysis, brain drain Yes, I know, I'm thinking too much about making all the right calls

I should do as a running back does when he sees the hole and just cut to the chase

As a hnebacker does when he knows where the play is going, I should just react to the matchup

So I've given it enough thought (thank you, Mr Motz) It's time to make my picks but, first, here's the Observer tally heading into Week 2

Paul Beaudry takes the early lead at 14-3, while Brad Emons and I are tied at 13-4 with C J Risak trailing in the four spot at 12 5 Why? Romulus used an ineligible player and had to forfeit its win over Wayne So Beaudry and Risak picked up a win and Emons and myself added a loss

Dearborn at Wayne, 7 p m Both teams are in the Mega White this year after being demoted from the Red Division The Pioneers (1 0) eked out a 7 0 win over Livonia Stevenson Wayne (1 0) lost a close one 20 14 to Romulus but the Eagles used an ineligible player and the Zebras were awarded the victory PICKS Dearborn — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

Farmington at W L Western The Falcons (0 1) will try to rebound from their loss to Nov against another Oakland County powerhouse Farmington hopes Western (1 0) which beat Belleville is looking ahead to next week's big matchup with Harrison PICKS Western — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

Harper Woods at Clarencville It's an early season showdown in the Metro Conference as the defending champion Trojans play host to the Pioneers who were the top team until Clarencville got better Both are 1 0 A good ballgame? Maybe But Harper Woods is still no match for the likes of Tim Shaw and Steve Mead ows PICKS Clarencville — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

FRIDAY GAMES

(all games 7 30 p m unless noted)
Redford Union at D H Robichaud, 4 p m Both teams were 0 9 last year but RU has dropped from the Mega White to the Blue while Robichaud remains in the Gold Churchill spoiled the debut of RU coach Miles Tomasaitis but the Panthers have a better chance this week PICKS RU — O Meara Emons Robichaud — Beaudry Risak

Adrian Madison at Borgess, 4 30 p m The Spartans knocked off the No 2 team in the Metro Conference (preseason prediction) in Class B Cranbrook 20-3 Bishop Borgess has a little tougher task this week with the Trojans who are always pretty good and opened with a 22 0 win over Waldron PICKS Madison — O Meara Risak Borgess — Beaudry Emons

Dbn Fordson at Garden City, 7 p m The Cougars (1 0) are in the Mega Red this year and they begin the murderer's row part of their schedule against the Tractors who play their opener this week The Garden City schedule is also referred to as the Playoff Parade since seven of its nine foes made the playoffs last year PICKS Fordson — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

Ply Salem at Farm Harrison, 7 p m It only gets tougher for the Rocks too After losing to Ann Arbor Pioneer they get the No 1 team in the state net For opponents the scary part of Harrison s 55 14 pasting of Oxford is the Wild cats will probably make the playoffs For the Hawks the parade of points continues PICKS Harrison — O Meara Risak Emons Beaudry

Southgate at Thurston The Eagles (1 0) try to make it two in a row in their Mega Blue opener after a win over Willow Run The Titans (0 1) weren't standing too tall following a 39 0 shellacking from Allen Park It's a tough call but PICKS Thurston — O Meara Beaudry Southgate — Emons Risak

Redford CC at East Lansing This will be the Trojans first action since being trounced by Harrison in last year's Division 3 state championship game They were idle last week but had won 10 in a row until getting ripped by Harrison 42 0 CC (1 0) will take its shot at East Lansing and it's another knockout punch by an Observerland team PICKS CC — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

W L Central at Liv Churchhill It was a stunner when the Vikings (0 1) — everybody's preseason favorite to repeat as WLAA Lakes Division cham

ption — lost to Milford But the word is the Redskins are much improved this year under coach Pat Fox The Chargers (1 0) meanwhile have more reason to boast after winning their opener over RU PICKS Central — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

Liv Stevenson at Liv Franklin You might have thought the records would be reversed on this one too The Spartans (0 1) lost a close game to Dearborn after a blocked punt led to the only TD late in the fourth quarter The Patriots (1 0) came from behind to beat Lincoln Park in coach Chris Kelbert's debut PICKS Stevenson — O Meara Emons Risak Franklin — Beaudry

Westland Glenn at Northville Question for my compadre Beaudry Rocket Boy Chuckie? Maybe Coach Gordon will give you the benefit of the doubt and assume your fingers just sorta slipped on the keyboard The Rockets (1 0) deserve a little more respect following their win over Detroit Kettering And they had it from everyone but Paul who was the only one to pick Kettering Glenn has another tough game this week against 1 0 Northville PICKS John Glenn — O Meara BEAUDRY! Emons Northville — Risak

N Farmington at Ply Canton We had the right call this year on the Chiefs (1 0) who rolled over Ypsilanti again The Raiders (0 1) weren't as fortunate losing their opener to Northville PICKS Canton — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

SATURDAY GAME

St Agatha vs St Alphonsus-Urban Lutheran, 1 p m at RU's Kraft Field It gets better for the Aggies (0 1) who are back home after losing at Battle Creek St Philip to play that new interdenominational combo team we'll continue to call St Als (0 1) for short And who says Catholics and Lutherans can't see eye to eye? PICKS St Agatha — O Meara Beaudry Emons Risak

Madonna bounces back from rough start

Madonna University's volleyball team rebounded from a shaky start on Friday in the University of Michigan-Dearborn Early Bird Tournament, which Madonna hosts, by winning twice on Saturday

Friday's results weren't nearly as promising The Lady Crusaders lost in four games to both Mercyhurst (Pa) 30-23, 30-27, 19-30, 30-28 and Hillsdale 30-21, 24-30, 30-23, 30-17

On Saturday, however, Madonna beat both Rochester College and Ohio Dominican in straight sets The scores against Rochester were 30 6, 30-11, 30 7, against Dominican, they were 30-9, 30-21, 30-15

Hillsdale completed the tournament with the best overall record going 4 0 Mercyhurst was 2 0 Madonna was 2 2 and Rochester UM Dearborn and

VOLLEYBALL

Dominican were all 0-2
In the victory over Rochester, the Crusaders were paced offensively by Jennifer Frost with 11 kills and a .846 kill percentage Frost also had five service aces and a team-best 14 digs

Hayley Myers and Laura Lesko each contributed six kills, Myers with a .750 kill percentage and Lesko at .667 Other strong performances were turned in by Natalie Sayre with four kills and 27 set assists and Amanda Suder (from Plymouth Salem) with a team-high nine service aces and 11 digs

Madonna had 25 service aces in the match by far its best total in the tournament

In the win over Dominican, Frost again had 11 kills (.643) with five aces, seven digs and two blocks Donna Birkenhner added nine kills (.667) and two blocks, Tera Morrill (Livonia Franklin) had six kills (.312), five aces and 14 digs, Kate LeBlanc (Livonia Stevenson) had six kills (.455) and three blocks, Myers had six kills (.500) and four blocks, Jennie Wind had 33 set assists, five digs and three blocks, and Suder totaled three aces and 14 digs

Against Mercyhurst, Madonna had some impressive totals but it wasn't enough to deliver a win Birkenhner had 10 kills (.308) and 13 blocks, Myers had 15 kills (.520) and 10 blocks LeBlanc contributed 14 kills (.267) and five blocks Morrill had 11 kills eight digs and five blocks Wind had five kills (.556), 41 set assists, three aces, seven digs and nine blocks, Frost had five kills seven digs and seven blocks Suder had two aces and 19 digs, and Marylu Hemme (Plymouth/Livonia Ladywood) had two aces and 11 digs

Morrill led Madonna in the loss to Hillsdale with 21 kills (.333) she also had five digs and three blocks LeBlanc added 11 kills Birkenhner had nine kills (.438) and five blocks, Frost had eight kills (.500), 19 digs and three blocks

Wind contributed 36 set assists and five digs Hemme had three aces and 16 digs Suder finished with 14 digs, and Elizabeth Fresco had 10 digs

Madonna travels this weekend to the Point Loma Nazarene University Tourney in San Diego Calif

Rogowski's TD run lifts CC to season-opening win over Traverse City West

Redford Catholic Central held off a second-half rally from Traverse City West at the Silverdome on Saturday to come away with a 37-17 win in the season opener for both schools

The Titans pulled to within 24-17 with 5:15 left in the quarter after Kevin Kipke had a 7-yard TD run and Brad Vance added a 36-yard field goal

But CC came back as Ryan Rogowski ran 37 yards for the touchdown and added a 2 yard TD run on the next drive — set up by the second of two Tom Jakacki interceptions — to close out the scoring

The Shamrocks took the lead on their second play from scrimmage as Derrick Brooks went 36 yards for the TD West tied the score at 7-7 with Adam Totter's 2-yard TD run

But CC took the lead for good on the next drive as Jakacki scored on a 14-yard

FOOTBALL

TD run for a 14-7 lead Jakacki picked off a pass to set up the next score — a 34-yard field goal by Rogowski West turned the ball over again as Blair Naysmith recovered a fumble — which led to Jakacki hitting Ryan Wroblewski with a 26-yard TD pass for a 24-7 CC lead at half

In all, CC racked up 340 yards in total offense, to 213 for the Titans Brooks led the Shamrocks on the ground with 123 yards on 17 carries, while Rogowski added 53 yards and Mike Banaszak had 25 Jakacki was 4-for-12 passing for 98 yards

Mike Clary led the defense by figuring in 10 tackles, while Rogowski was in on nine and Jarzembowski and Jeff Globish were in on eight

CC is at East Lansing on Friday night

Chiefs — D1

The Chiefs scored eight straight points to regain the lead, one they would not relinquish. Consecutive baskets by Mahoney and Veronica White narrowed the gap to 40-36 and a forced turnover gave the Lakers possession with a minute left. But they could not cash in on the opportunity.

Briana Wolcott was the steady hand for the Chiefs, scoring a team high 12 points. Jessica Johnson added 11, six of those coming in the fourth quarter. Araiza was next highest scorer for West Bloomfield with nine, all in the second half.

"All in all, I'm happy," said Pam Mahoney. "We got the jitters out."

Toni Perry, Jennifer Kitzman was in goal for both shutouts, replacing the injured Amy Dorogi (from Plymouth Canton).

"We controlled the tempo of that game," said Tolstedt. "They only had two real scoring chances, and Jennifer handled both of them."

Of the MSU match Sunday, Tolstedt said, "We were very, very good that game." Again, it was a 1-0 score at halftime on a goal by Freeman, assisted by McMasters and Perkovich. Karavas made it 2-0 early in the second half, with Katie Weber and Maria Wissman assisting.

Freeman made it 3-0 midway through the second half. Chelsea Rustin got the final marker for the Ocelots, Wissman and Weber assisting.

SC, ranked fifth in the NJCAA and seventh in the National Soccer Coaches Association of America poll, has a big weekend planned. The Ocelots go against 15th-ranked Iowa Central Saturday, then take on Bethany Lutheran (Minn.) Sunday — both games part of the College of Lake County Tournament in Grays Lake, Ill.

Madonna men win opener

Madonna University's men's soccer team opened its season with a 1-0 victory over Saginaw Valley State at Farmington's Founder's Park.

The only goal of the match was scored by senior forward Salvatore Piraine with four minutes left in the first half. Zach Wilkes, a freshman, got the assist.

Sophomore Doug Koontz (from Plymouth Canton) was outstanding in goal, making seven saves to earn the shutout.

The Crusaders travel to the Tri-State University Tournament in Angola, Ind., Friday.

Landlord will pay if dog bites

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

If a dog that belongs to a tenant bites a child in a common playground, is the landlord liable? One of our co-owners lets her dog wander the common area. She cleans up after him, but he's a crotchety dog. I'm afraid of the dog, and I'm afraid of what it might do to

Based on a recent decision of the Iowa Supreme Court, the dog may have been a "dangerous condition" for which the landlord could be sued under Section 360 of the Restatement (Second) Torts

The landlord argued in that case that she was not liable for the attack because she did not have control over the dog, but the court rejected the argument. The court said the landlord could be sued because she knew the dog was vicious but allowed it to roam freely on the common backyard.

The court suggested that although she may not have had control over the dog, the landlord knew or had reason to know that the dog posed a danger to those in the common area.

The landlord, therefore, had the duty to take reasonable precautions to protect those lawfully in the common area. The court cited various decisions supporting this theory in other jurisdictions. Landlords must take caution to be sure that all tenants properly take care of their animals. This is particularly true in Michigan. We have a strict liability statute that imposes liability on the dog owner. In addition liability will likely be imposed on the landlord.

Why they love their jobs

BY DOUG FUNKE
 dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

The hours can be long and erratic, the pay unpredictable. Clients might be disloyal, rude or confused. The work process may be derailed at any number of points along the way.

So who needs this? Lots of folks, apparently. Why else would thousands of people in Observerland and Eccentricville go through 40 hours of classroom training, pass a state licensing exam, join a professional board and try to make a living selling residential real estate?

Well, for exactly the same reasons others would be turned off by the whole experience.

Bob Sakuta, a Realtor with Century 21 Hallmark West in Clarkston, got into the business about 14 years ago after working as a restaurant manager. "I couldn't imagine doing anything different," he said of his real estate career.

People people

"Probably the biggest thing I get a kick out of is the different people, the diversity of people, you get to work with on a day-to-day basis," Sakuta said.

"I've met a lot of decent people and in a lot of ways stayed in touch with them. It's neat to see what happens with a family," he said.

"Add to that pretty much the variety of things that happen each day - new challenges, new experiences," he said.

One of Sakuta's fondest memories was finding a house for a couple who relocated to the Pontiac area knowing no one after the man was laid off from a mushroom farm and the woman had just delivered a baby.

"The house was $29,000, $30,000 at the time," Sakuta recalled. "In dollar volume, the big sale it was not. We were able to find financing. Being at the closing, seeing the look on their face, handing the keys over. They're still there, today, added another baby."

Mary McLeod, an associate broker with RE/MAX Classic in Livonia, also

'It's exciting when you match clients with the perfect house.'

Mary McLeod
 RE/MAX Classic, Livonia

enjoys the human contact aspect of the job.

"The challenge of dealing with all kinds of personalities," the 17-year veteran said. "It's exciting when you match clients with the perfect house."

Positive strokes

"The other thing I love is the positive feedback I get from clients when I do a good job for them," McLeod added.

A relationship with one couple - and the positive feedback - directly led to seven different transactions over a seven-year period, McLeod said.

"They sold their house (1) when they built new, then they got a divorce," McLeod explained. "I sold the new house (2), then sold each of them a house (3, 4). Then he got remarried and sold his house (5) and they got another (6). Then they decided to build new, so I sold the old house (7)."

McLeod, unimpressed with the salary paid beginning accountants, got into real estate on the advice of a friend.

"The revenue potential is wonderful," McLeod said. "Income is directly related to the time and energy you put into it."

Larry Horn, an associate broker with Keller Williams Realty in Farmington Hills, sold commercial real estate and operated a moving business before switching to residential sales in 1993.

Flexible schedule

"I love being my own boss, making my own hours, showing up at school for all my daughters' functions, soccer games," he said. "No one telling me what to do, when to do it."

Horn fondly recalls a school field trip to a food store where the youngsters got the grand tour on its inner workings. "All the mothers showed up and me," he said. "I think my kids appreciate I'm there."

A real estate career offers other perks, Horn added.

"I like the high of finding people the right home. Actually, some of my best friends today are people I met buying or selling a home. Now, they've become very close social friends."

It's financially lucrative, also. Horn said.

"There's nothing else I could be doing making the living I'm making now," he said. "I know the Tigers aren't going to pay me to play baseball."

Sue Nelsen, a Realtor with Max Brook in Birmingham, relishes self-employment in general, real estate in particular, for a couple of reasons.

"I like the freedom you have to arrange your own time schedule," she said. "We're not confined. We're kind of all over the place. We're not stuck in an office five hours at a time. I think that's a huge factor."

Folks who work for themselves need to be go-getters and focused to succeed, Nelsen added.

"If you look across the board at the personality of agents, they're very self-motivated people," she said. "There's no guaranteed income, no 401(k), no health insurance."

Nelsen, who trained as a teacher, got into real estate 17 years ago.

"A friend said I would be good - that you meet strangers on an elevator - and I said it wouldn't hurt," recalled Nelsen.

It hasn't. Lori Marshuck, a Realtor with Prudential Chamberlain Stehl in Walled Lake, traded a career on the mortgage side for residential sales about nine years ago.

"I decided to get away from 7 (a.m.) to 7 (p.m.) workdays and the 5 percent (pay) increase a year," she said. "I got into real estate to have a little more handle on income."

"Also, the flexibility I'm able to achieve with working and a host of things I can do with my family," Marshuck added.

These little things can save a lot

MORTGAGE BITS

TIM TIMBO PHILLIPS

Home buyers are often surprised to find that their credit scores are different than they had initially thought.

Their bewilderment may be caused, in part, by the elusive criteria used to score credit. It is tough - if not impossible - to forecast the results of an equation of which you have no knowledge. Thankfully, borrowers can do some keep their credit scores fine-tuned even in the dark.

We all know to avoid taking huge credit hits such as foreclosures, bankruptcies and civil judgments. Borrowers can recover from these major setbacks over time, but their short-term credit scores will obviously suffer. You should be aware, however, that it is not good enough to avoid just the major pitfalls. A barrage of small and recent credit blemishes can degrade your credit scores almost as quickly as a major blow.

With credit scoring, small things make a big difference. Recent late payments, especially on major credit lines such as automobiles and mortgages, can take a borrower from a conventional loan product into a non-conforming (expensive) mortgage in a heartbeat.

You can raise your credit scores by never (I mean NEVER) missing a monthly payment on a debt obligation. Please note that I did not say to close all of your credit accounts. The credit repositories cannot score events that do not occur. Thus, if you do not actively maintain credit accounts, you may not score well.

A simple way to build your credit is to develop and maintain three to five lines of credit and regularly make at least the minimum monthly payments on those accounts. You do not have to maintain a balance on those trade lines, but do keep these accounts active. You may charge a pair of pants and pay it off when the bill comes due. It shows that you can manage debt responsibly.

Mortgage lenders will loan you the big money once you have proven you can handle the small money. Take care of the small things and the small things will take care of you.

Fundamentals continue in housing market

With historically low mortgage interest rates, low unemployment and high consumer confidence, housing markets are expected to stay near historic highs, according to the National Association of Realtors

The favorable economic backdrop for housing activity will continue, said David Lereah, NAR's chief economist "We expect the economy to gradually pick up steam during the second half of the year, yet inflation will remain tame This should boost consumer confidence and keep the housing market rolling along at strong levels

"Thirty-year fixed mortgage interest rates will rise and hover in the 7.3 range during the second half of the year, a little higher than we've seen but not enough to deter overall sales"

NAR forecasts existing-home sales to rise 0.7 percent in 2001 to a total of 5.15 million, still the second highest on record New-home sales will rise 4.6 percent to a total of 918,000 units this year, a new record, and housing starts are forecast to rise 2.7 percent to a total of 1.61 million units in 2001

The association expects the national median existing-home price this year to be $145,300, an increase of 4.6 percent over 2000, while the typical new home price is expected to be $174,300 in 2001, up 3.1 percent from last year

NAR projects U.S. economic growth, as measured by the Gross Domestic Product, to be 1.7 percent for 2001, rising from a projected rate of 0.7 percent in the second quarter to 3.2 percent by the end of the year Consumer price inflation for this year should be 3.3 percent

The association projects the unemployment rate to rise to 4.8 percent by the end of 2001, still low in historic terms Inflation-adjusted disposable personal income is forecast to grow 2.4 percent this year

Rates edge lower

Mortgage rates fell further this week with the rate on a 30-year mortgage remaining below the 7 percent threshold for a second consecutive week

The average interest rate on 30-year fixed-rate mortgages dipped to 6.91 percent, down slightly from 6.92 percent last week, according to the nationwide survey released by Freddie Mac, the mortgage company

It marked the lowest level for 30-year mortgages since last March when they dropped below 7 percent for four weeks Analysts expect this level, which has been seen for only brief periods over the last 25 years, is likely to spur another burst of home refinancing and help support home sales, which have held up surprisingly well this year despite the sharp economic slowdown

Fifteen-year mortgages, a popular option for refinancing, also declined this week to 6.47 percent from 6.48 percent the previous week

A year ago, rates for 30-year mortgages were more than a percentage point higher 7.99 percent and rates for 15-year mortgages averaged 7.72 percent

Metro Detroit investment is slowing at midyear

While demand still exceeded the supply of investment real estate available in metropolitan Detroit at midyear 2001, unrealistic asking prices in a slowing economy were tempering transaction volume, a new report from Colliers International found

Deal volume dropped in recent months as the "bid/ask" spread on suburban Detroit commercial real estate widened, said Len Tosto, senior vice president of Colliers International's investment brokerage group

"Sellers continue to demand prices that don't reflect the growing vacancies and softening rents in most of southeast Michigan's office, industrial and retail real estate markets," Tosto said "Sellers focused on real estate's continued strength when pricing the assets for sale, while buyers pointed to a crumbling economy when making a bid The resulting gap made it tougher to close investment transactions by the end of second quarter"

Private partnerships, real estate operating companies and real estate investment trusts remained the market's most active buyers and sellers in the first half of 2001, Colliers' midyear 2001 investment market review noted

Apartments were the most popular asset type among investors at midyear, as apartment vacancy rates were low and rents continued to climb Although investment in this sector slowed slightly in the first half of 2001, a lack of available apartment assets existed at the end of second quarter

In the retail sector, grocery anchored strip shopping centers were popular with investors at midyear, Tosto said, noting, "Consumers need food and other basic necessities regardless of the economy"

Metro Detroit office properties traded at average cap rates of 9.5 percent at midyear, while class-B properties went for 10-10.5 percent for and class-C buildings offered rates of 11.5 percent and higher

Helpful Hints:

For the best results when writing your classified ad, put yourself in the reader's/buyer's shoes. Describe the items for sale or job opening by including details that would attract your friends. Avoid abbreviations. Include a phone number and best times to call. Include price/salary range and benefits. Include an e-mail address if possible, because your ad also appears on our internet site. Use key wording for easy searching and reading. List age, brand, style and condition of items. Don't be afraid to ask our friendly, professional staff for help. Remember you want results, so the more you tell and the more people your ad reaches, the more responses you will receive. Call us today, we can help you!

RUN IT UNTIL IT SELLS!
1-800-579-SELL
Give your Observer & Eccentric Classifieds a call today and we'll tell you how to "Run It Until It Sells!"

2001 Grand Caravan is one great value!

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti News Features
avanti1054@aol.com

The world's best-selling minivan just got better

A lot better

Hands down, this 2001 Dodge Grand Caravan has everything you want in a passenger vehicle, truck and minivan I tried to find something to complain about I just couldn't Dodge says it sells almost 350,000 minivans every year, giving it almost a 25 percent market share. When the Caravan, the base van for the Grand Caravan, was introduced in 1983, the concept was very new. The first of its kind.

Well, Dodge has a lot of firsts in this 2001 Grand Caravan. Ten, to be exact! Take a look. In the industry-first department, you'll find a power up and power down liftgate, removable, powered center console and a power sliding door obstacle system for opening and closing.

On the minivan-first side, there is a pop-up rear cargo organizer, three-zone automatic temperature control system, split rear 50/50 easy-out roller seats, an engine with power over 210 horsepower (including a 3.8-liter with 215 horsepower), power dual sliding doors with manual override, 6.4-inch liquid crystal display screen entertainment and wireless headphones for the entertainment system.

A couple of other things deserve a mention: the exclusive 17-inch wheels and tires and an AutoStack transaxle. Although the AutoStack is not new to the Dodge moniker, it's a bit strange to see it on a steering column, rather than floor-mounted.

The styling of this new minivan is really appealing, with rounded corners and strategically placed lines all around. The rear has a striking look, making it unique as all get-out. The center high-mounted stop lamp has been moved from the top of the rear to the center of the liftgate, making it more visible and giving it a cleaner appearance.

On the inside, you'll find many amenities not normally found in a minivan, making it more appealing. Getting in is not a problem. And when you're in, you'll be surprised to see just how high you are above the traffic.

I mentioned that new removable powered center console that can be moved between the front- and middle-row seats. The advertisements work, by the way—it was the first thing my daughter, Rebecca, mentioned when she jumped in the minivan. "Mom, move the thing down to my spot. I want to use it."

The best thing about the removable console is that it's so easy to manipulate. The brackets are all there and when the console is absent in either area, it becomes a storage tray, complete with rubber liner, that can be used to store your purse (and it won't slip-slide away).

Open up the top of the center console and you'll find two separate storage compartments. Both can be locked up tight for anything you would like secure. In the front of the unit, there's a bracket to hold your car phone and a handy power outlet right underneath that can provide power to recharge your failing phones battery or any other battery-powered equipment you carry with you on your daily jaunts around town.

In the front-row seats, the power point is only activated with the ignition on.

The rear of the console is illuminated and has a removable bin. Next to the car phone holder is a little cubby hole to store a pen or pencil. On the underside of the lid is a molded compartment to hold a small box of tissues and maybe a small city map for those garage-sale outings.

Still available are the standard-and extended-wheelbase models, front and all-wheel-drive versions, several powertrain choices and a host of seating arrangements you can choose from.

The Grand Caravan I drove was the SE model and it topped out at just a hair under $35,000. Sorry, but that's a lot of money for a minivan, in my opinion. I'd rather opt for a luxury sedan at that price, but as a mom at my kids' school pointed out during a quick look-see of the van, "How many options do you really have when you have to haul a crowd?"

When you have to haul six or more, I guess she's got a point.

In any case, if you choose the really stripped-down version of the Caravan family, you can get it for just a hair under $20,000, and that's an excellent value.

There are six versions of the Caravan offered for the 2001 model year. You've got the Caravan SE, Caravan Sport, Grand Caravan Sport, Grand Caravan ES, Grand Caravan Sport AWD (all-wheel drive) and Grand Caravan ES AWD.

There are also a couple of new colors offered this year: Dark garnet red, steel blue and stone white. On the inside, new colors are navy and sandstone. The navy is really pretty. I don't know about you, but I loathe the plastic grocery bags. The first words out of my mouth in line are "all paper, please."

But if you're the type who saves those plastic horrors for whatever reason—or if your grocery store offers no other choices—you'll be glad to know that Dodge engineers have given you a hand. The rear pop-up organizers, mounted on the floor right behind the rear seat, have a neat little storage bin with two folding dividers that can accommodate six paper grocery bags.

On the seat back, there are hooks mounted so you can carry your plastic grocery bags, without all the contents spilling out every time you make a right-or-left hand turn.

And, before I forget, look out all the seats and you've got a full load floor, free of obstacles, that will let you transport 4x8 sheets of plywood, drywall or Sheetrock.

This new Grand Caravan has a lot to offer a busy mom or dad who wants a different level of comfort and convenience to haul your busy family to the ice rink or swimming pool.
