

Schools losing 9 administrators

Patricia Patton – the first woman to be named a Plymouth Canton high school principal – is among nine administrators accepting district buyouts next spring.

Canton High School Principal Patricia Patton notified her staff Friday that she will be retiring at the end of the school year. She's one of nine administrators who are taking the district's buy-out package at the end of this school year, which calls for $60,000 paid out over the next eight years.

Patton, an educator for 31 years who has spent the last seven as principal at Canton, said the decision to accept the district's retirement package was made in the last couple of months.

"I feel proud of my work in public education, and enjoy being around the kids and teachers," said Patton. "But, I need to spend more time with my family. I've changed directions, and they're a top priority for me now."

In a letter to her staff, Patton said, "Much more difficult will be to walk away from the Canton family — the students and staff who have meant so much to me. P-CEP is a very special place, and I feel proud to have been here twice in my career."

Patton was an assistant principal at Canton in 1980-83, before becoming principal at Lowell Middle School through 1995. In her second stint at Canton, Patton said the biggest change she noticed was the diversity of the

Don't be fooled by the signs

BRAD KADRICH

If you've been walking around downtown Plymouth and you happened by the celebrity carvings in The Gathering, don't be fooled by the sign underneath the cupid sculpture that says, "Brad Kadrach, O&E"

J R Lorentz, the fine carver from Canton who is perennially one of the top performers at the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular, did the bulk of the work, as my professional ice-carving mentor. But I had a lot of fun, just the same.

Especially when they brought out the flame-thrower. But I digress.

I was asked by ice festival organizer Mike Watts to take part in the annual celebrity carving contest. I don't generally consider myself a celebrity, but if Mike wants to, who am I to question him? So I agreed, even though the closest thing to a chainsaw I ever operate is my mustache trimmer.

Watts paired me with Lorentz, who does this sort of thing for a living. As he was pulling out the blades and the saw and the picks and axes, I gave J R his only instruction for the evening: Keep me from bleeding.

He asked me what I wanted to carve and, naturally, I hadn't the slightest idea. I pondered something with the company logo, figuring it never hurts to suck up to the folks who sign your check. But The Lovely Lisa, who had tagged along to cheer the editor on, decided we should do cupid. Since J R had a couple of cupids in his bag of tricks, we settled on that.

The first thing we had to do was

It didn't take young Ryan Frazer long to pick up his first ice festival souvenir.

Five-year-old Ryan, an afternoon student at New Morning School, clutched a big chunk of ice he'd picked up at the feet of some of the carvers on hand for the 20th-annual Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular. He held onto it tightly as he and his dad, Rick Frazer of Livonia, made the rounds of the sculptures already up around Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

"He got himself a piece of ice," Rick Frazer said with a laugh. "We'll probably have it in the freezer until May!"

The Frazers were among the many spectators already taking in the ice festival Thursday morning. Thousands more streamed in over the weekend, watching high school, college and professional carvers compete and viewing the dozens of sculptures scattered around the park, and around the downtown area.

The sculpting competitions actually got started Thursday night, when a half-dozen people took part in the "Celebrity Sculpting" competition. Among the celebrities were 35th District Court Judge Ron Lowe, Judy Coy, the weather personality from WJR radio, and Jerry Millen, who does sports for both UPN-50 and WJBK-62.

Lowe, carving with Tom Morse, won the competition, followed closely by Coy.

"Last year, we carved a figure of Charlie Brown saying 'Goodbye, Chuck,' because Charles Schultz had just died," said Lowe, who this year went with an eagle. "People didn't like it. Maybe it was too deep. So we went with the eagle this year."

City heads back to court for tax payments

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

It's back to court for the city of Plymouth as it tries to collect a $3.4 million settlement from Bathey-A&E Holdings, the Plymouth company that over the last 22 years has paid only two years of property taxes.

City commissioners set a Jan. 15 deadline to collect the money, which represents delinquent taxes, rent and legal fees. However, despite promises by the company it would comply, once again there was no "check in the mail."

"I don't know of any alternatives but to go back to court," said Bob Marzano, the city's attorney from the law firm of Plunkett & Cooney. "The goal is to get the money, and the only way to do that is to go back to court."

City Finance Director Mark Christiansen said the issue has been brewing since 1979.

"The only two years Bathey has paid its taxes was in 1984 and 1985," he said. "Except for that period, the company has not paid its property taxes."

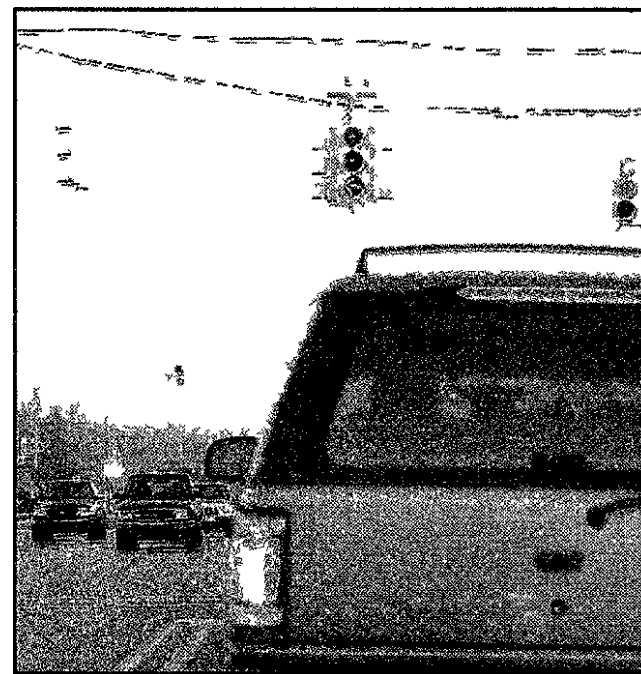

The total represents much needed money for various taxing agencies. Christiansen estimates the city would receive nearly $900,000 of the settlement, and the Plymouth-Canton Schools more than a million dollars.

When asked about his client's failure to pay by the Jan. 15 deadline, attorney Mark Drasman said, "I'm not at liberty to discuss the matter."

The land, commonly known as the Bathey property, sits along Mill Street south of Main, abutting the CSX railroad and the former Daisy Air Rifle

 "And that made it a richer place to be," she said. "A lot has come from our student leadership to help us understand each other. It's a little United Nations around here."
 Patton, the district's first female high school administrator, believes teamwork has helped her become a successful principal.
 "We have a collaborative team effort in making decisions," said Patton. "The way we respond to and manage the size here is through that leadership."
 Joyce Deren, principal at Hoben Elementary the past 11 years, believes it's time for a change for both her and the Hoben staff.
 "I've given what I can to the staff here, and I think it's time for someone else," said Deren, who plans to spend a lot of time with her 12-year-old son, read books and work with various organizations.
 "It's been a wonderful career in Plymouth-Canton," added Deren, who has spent her entire 31-year career in the district. "We have the most fabulous staff anywhere."
 Marcia Porterfield, principal at Central Middle School, plans to spend time with her husband in retirement after a 23-year career in the district.

 "I love Plymouth Canton Schools. I raised my children in the district," said Porterfield. "I will miss the students, parents and staff."
 Other administrators whose retirements are expected to be approved by the Board of Education at Tuesday's board meeting are Dave Farquharson, principal at Field Elementary, Becky Moore, principal at Hulsing Elementary, Jerry Sullivan, assistant principal at East Middle School, Mary Kay Frey, assistant principal at Canton High School, Lynne Longro, assistant principal at Canton, and Mary Uhl, community education and Plus pre-school program.
 Superintendent Kathleen Booher said it will be a challenge to replace that many administrators at one time.
 "I've come to appreciate all of them. We'll be saying good bye to some extraordinary talent," said Booher. "The market is tight, and good candidates for administrative are tough to find."

District departure: Canton High School Principal Pat Patton announced she'd be taking the district's buyout effective at the end of this year.

Statistics show corner safer with new signal

BY BRAD KADRICH
 bkadrich@oehomecomm.net

Drivers have much less of a chance of getting into a turning-related accident at the intersection of Ann Arbor Road and Lilley since a directional signal was installed some two months ago.
 According to Plymouth Township Police, the number of accidents at the corner are down considerably since Wayne County installed the light in November.

 There have been six accidents at the intersection since the installation, and only one was turn-related, according to Sgt. Bob Antal, the department's accident investigator. Five of the accidents involved rear-end collisions, he said.
 Although statistics for the months immediately preceding installation weren't available, Antal said the number of turnrelated accidents has dropped significantly.

 "There have been no accidents where people were turning since the light went in," Antal said. "We've had our fair share of accidents, and our fair share of close calls, but none that involved turning."
 Antal said that safety record could still be in danger if drivers don't continue to pay close attention at the intersection.
 "Before the light went in,

(drivers) waited until traffic cleared before making the turn," he pointed out. "With the light, you figure you have the green arrow, so you don't necessarily see the guy who is rushing through from the other way."
 "Sometimes, the light doesn't always get the result people think it's going to get," Antal added. "This one is doing the job so far, but people still have to be careful."

ADVANCEMENTS IN FOOT CARE

CORNS & CALLUSES

Corns and calluses are accumulations of dead skin that grow to protect foot bones from excessive trauma. Friction can stimulate the skin to grow faster than the body can shed it. Callus forms over diffuse areas such as the ball of the foot or the heel. Corns develop over smaller pressure locations such as on or between toes. Corns and calluses have no roots and they are not contagious. Elective toe surgery is a routine procedure performed under local anesthesia that can correct a problem in one visit. It eliminates repetitive visits to the podiatrist.

Job grant

Plymouth workers are getting the chance to improve their job skills through a $55,000 grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation.
 The grant will be used to upgrade the skills of 52 employees and six new hires at Clips and Clamps Industries' Keel Street plant.
 "Investing in job training programs is one of the best ways to keep Michigan's economy moving in the right direction," said State Rep. John Stewart, R-Plymouth Township, in announcing the grant. "With the current state of the economy, it is especially important to focus on the future of Michigan workers."
 The job training program helps businesses create or retain jobs by improving skills and the competitiveness of Michigan's workforce, Stewart said. Under requirements of the program, employers must provide a 25-percent match for training.
 Funded by the MEDC's Economic Development Job Training Program, the grants are part of a statewide initiative to help companies improve their work forces. Throughout Michigan, $3.8 million in grants will be used to train 6,458 workers.

Senior tax assistance

Free income tax assistance will be available to Plymouth-area seniors beginning Wednesday, Feb. 6 and every Wednesday thereafter until April 10.

Deli celebrates 25th by giving back

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

The Penniman Deli is celebrating its silver anniversary this year, and owner Russ Webster wants to make sure his customers come away with the gold to honor it.

Beginning Friday, Webster, who bought Penniman Deli Nov. 1, 1977, will offer discounts to his customers centered around the number 25, including 25-cent hot dogs, chips and sodas, all on the 25th of every month this year. He'll also offer free lunch to the 25th customer on that day every month.

It's all part of the celebration for

Deli delights:
Just some samples of the cuisine at 25-year-old Penniman Deli.

Webster, who scratched the itch to become self-employed 25 years ago and is still scratching away 25 years later.

"I'm definitely happy," said Webster, who bought the former Penniman Market from John Rogin. "Everyone always thinks, 'If I'd have done this differently or that differently,' but overall it's been very good for me."

Webster was working at the Detroit Plaza hotel and for a meat market in Detroit before hearing through the grapevine that Rogin wanted to retire. He came out and visited with the former owner, discovered the rumor was true, and struck a deal.

"I was intrigued by the idea of being self-employed," said Webster, a native of Detroit's west side. "The conditions seemed right — I didn't have a family of my own then, no real debt."

At the time, Webster said, it was a grocery store. He bought it and ran it as a meat market/deli until the late 1980s, when he eliminated the market part and went to the current restaurant motif. He said the development of Plymouth's industrial base helped shape the demands of the market, causing him to shift to the restaurant only.

"Customers would compare it to the market part of it to Kroger or Farmer Jack," Webster recalled. "In the restaurant, you don't have that comparison. No one is comparing us to McDonald's or Burger King."

Still, the challenges were many, most prominently cash flow. Webster bought the place in the late 1970s, when the economy wasn't exactly flourishing. Vacancies dotted the business landscape, and Burroughs was laying people off.

But Webster fought through it all and kept the deli thriving.

"It seemed the economy went south as soon as I got into business on my own," he says now, with a laugh. "Getting people to take you seriously was a challenge. (But) Plymouth was a smaller community back then, and

(the deli) had a core base of customers. We still have some of those people."

It's that community feeling that prevails now. Penniman Deli's walls, for instance, are dotted with posters promoting local businesses, such as the Plymouth Rock Music Shop and some of the Downtown Development Authority's programs.

Maintaining that community feel is important to Webster, who now has a wife, Rachel, and a 2-1/2-year-old daughter, Natasha.

"I think it's very important," he said. "We all try to help each other out. It's what makes us a community. You can't make money doing each other's laundry, but it doesn't hurt."

Toward that end, Webster wanted to give back to his customers. Hence, the monthly specials. Webster said the ideas came out of brainstorming sessions with staff and some of his older customers.

"Twenty five years seems pretty significant, so we tried to make everything revolve around the number 25," he said. "We wanted to give back to the community, we wanted to celebrate, and we wanted to have a little fun with it."

Townships seek piece of DeHoCo

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

If the folks at K/LB Funding LLC are looking for buyers for any portion of the 869-acre parcel of land they bought from the city of Detroit this week, they won't have to look far.

Officials from both Plymouth and Northville Townships are eager to talk to K/LB, a partnership formed by Kojanian Management Corp. of Bloomfield Hills and New York investment firm Lehman Brothers, about the property, which used to house the Detroit House of Corrections.

The City of Detroit on Wednesday approved the sale of the property to K/LB for $50 million, money city officials say will be used to pare down a deficit expected to grow to nearly $75 million.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Steve Mann, whose 2000 election platform centered heavily on recreation, would like to see the township get some of that land for recreational uses. He and Northville Township manager Chip Snider have already had discussions about the possibility of a joint venture of some sort.

"We've talked about it," Mann said. "We'll explore the possibility of getting a piece of that. If we can get it, we will."

So far, no one at Kojanian Management Corp. is willing to talk about plans for the property. A company spokesperson for vice president of development Anthony Antone said he would not comment.

But Mann figures whatever goes on the property will be industrial-based.

"Most likely, given who they sold it to, it means more industrial growth, which is good," Mann said. "We have a good industrial tax base already, and this will just improve it."

Snider said the Northville Township board also has designs on buying some of the property, of which more than 400 acres is situated within their borders.

"Our township board has had a strong inclination to purchase property whenever it's available," Snider said. "The township board would be investigating that possibility. We're looking at some recreational possibilities out there, and possibly a municipal golf course."

Snider said there are also some environmental concerns that need to be addressed, and meetings have already been scheduled with the developer to talk about Johnson Creek.

"The Johnson Creek Protection Group is adamant they'd like that protected, and that a conservancy be established to protect the brown trout," Snider said. "This board takes that very seriously, and has already scheduled meetings to discuss that very topic with the developer."

Schools recognize, celebrate diversity

BY TONY BRUSCATO
tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

Last year, controversy surrounded Black History Month when a Salem High School senior questioned the validity for the celebration in a letter printed in the school newspaper. Nearly 300 parents and students, most African-American, protested the student's letter, believing it was racist.

This year, Plymouth-Canton school officials want to make amends by showing the community it's taking notice of its diversified community. The district will not have classes tomorrow, Martin Luther King Day. Instead, there will be diversity and sensitivity training for nearly 1,000 teachers and administrators, as well as a community luncheon with author Clifton Taulbert, who tells about growing up in the segregated South.

"We want to send a message that says we have some problems, but we're digging our way out," said Deputy Superintendent Jim Ryan. "We're making some progress."

Along with a luncheon, Taulbert will be the keynote speaker for an early-morning session with educators. Then, there will be 52 sessions for educators to attend in the morning.

"We want to show this community that we value diversity, and we want to celebrate diversity," added Ryan. "To fix the problems, our celebration of diversity needs to be embedded into everything we do."

The district plans to have a number of activities for students to celebrate the life of King in January and February, which is Black History Month.

"There have always been activities surrounding Martin Luther King and Black History Month, but we just weren't as organized. We didn't have the bar high enough to show we value diversity," said Ryan. "I think, now, there's more awareness that we need to do this, and there's more intensity."

The Plymouth-Canton school district is one of the most diverse in the state. While the school community of 16,425 students consists mostly of white students (13,873), there are significant pockets of Asian (1,586), African American (715), Hispanic (341) and American Indian (97) students throughout the district.

Tickets for the luncheon can be purchased for $15 at the Salem High School cafeteria.

manhandle the 350-pound block of ice into position. I let J.R. handle that. Then he started assembling his toys and, as I panicked about tackling something so unfamiliar, I said to him, "You're aware I've never done this, right?"

He patted me on the shoulder, a calming gesture I appreciated right away, and said, "Hey, that's OK. We're here to have fun."

And we did. He scratched out the pattern on the surface of the ice, then dug it out with one of his scrapers. I tried to not get dizzy watching him move in a blur but, most importantly, I tried to stay out of his way. I worried he was doing most of the work while I stood by, until I looked around and saw all the pros doing most of the work. Then I felt better.

Ron Lowe has done this before. The 35th District Court judge felt he had a winner last year, but fell short with a carving of Charlie Brown saying, "Goodbye, Chuck," in honor of the passing of Charles Schultz.

"People didn't like it," Lowe said with a smile. "Maybe it was too deep, so we went with an eagle this year."

I finally got my chance to use some of the tools, and immediately lopped off Cupid's left hand. J.R. said, "Here, let me do that," and fixed it. I used the chainsaw with some success, then got my biggest thrill putting the finishing touches on with a flame thrower. The flames melted the ice dust and gave the sculpture that transparent glow that carried it to a third-place finish.

That was better than Jerry Millen did. The sportscaster for Channels 50 and 62 was, like me, carving for the first time. He also had a ringer — consummate pro Tajana Raukar of Plymouth — helping him carve a seal balancing a football (requisite sports reference).

"It was cool," said Millen, who barely finished out of the money. "Being the non-artistic person I am, I found out there's a lot more to this than you'd think. It would have been a bunch of ice cubes if it hadn't been for Tajana."

When it started, I wanted to carve a square piece of ice. When it was over, I was pretty proud of what J.R. and I had created. Even though he'd done most of the work, I had one big edge.

My name was on the sign.

Millen finished out of the money, but enjoyed his first ice-carving experience. Carving with local pro Tajana Raukar, Millen sculpted a seal balancing a football.

"It was cool," he said. "Being the non-artistic person I am, I found out there's a lot more to it than you'd think. It would have been a bunch of ice cubes without Tajana."

For once, Mother Nature even seemed to cooperate, delivering temperatures in the 20s up to about 30, perfect weather for the carvers.

"The quality of the ice is better when it's this cold," said Jeff Wolf, a culinary arts and ice sculpting teacher at Macomb Community College. "The ice cuts better, things hold together better, and the integrity of the ice is better."

The festival runs through Monday.

YAMAHA PIANO FACTORY SALE

Yamaha Quality 10 Year Warranty

A semi truckload of these American made pianos have been delivered to Hammell Music. They are now available at any of our three showrooms on a first come, first served basis at prices far below those of retail costs.

Each of these fine professional quality pianos has a minor cosmetic blemish that cannot be seen from the outside and will have no affect on performance and warranty. Yamaha has authorized Hammell Music, Michigan's largest piano company, to liquidate these pianos. Wholesale price reductions and factory incentives make this one of the best values in Hammell's 53-year history.

We're growing. Come grow with us.

A Letter to the Community

The response to our recent Job Fair on January 12 was outstanding with over 300 people seeking employment at St. Mary Mercy Hospital. I would like to personally thank those who took the time to stop by and visit the hospital.

While health care facilities nationwide are experiencing a workforce shortage, we at St. Mary Mercy want to assure the community that we are committed to meeting our mission of providing exceptional care and service to each and every one of our patients. Through our recruitment efforts, we continue to attract the most qualified healthcare personnel in the area. The hospital provides:

- a supportive environment for employees
- educational opportunities
- employee recognition programs
- attractive health care benefits and
- an award winning Child Care Center

In addition, our location in Livonia makes us part of a community recognized as one of the safest in the nation and one of the most desirable for raising a family.

St. Mary Mercy Hospital is one of the fastest growing hospitals in Michigan. Some of our recent accomplishments include being named a Top Tier Hospital by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan and becoming the only community hospital in Wayne County whose cancer program is accredited by the American College of Surgeons (ACOS). We've also experienced growth in many services such as Wound Care, Diagnostic Services, Surgery, Cardiovascular Care and the Emergency Center.

We're proud of these accomplishments, but they would not have occurred without the strong commitment of our employees, physicians and volunteer staff. On their behalf, I extend my appreciation for your support as we continue to care for the community into the New Year and beyond.

Sincerely,
David A. Spivey
President and CEO

Gun owners itchy over CCW delays

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER
loconnor@oe.homecomm.net

Gun advocates aired gripes over concealed weapon applications languishing in limbo Wednesday night.

Some report waiting more than six months to receive clearance in Wayne County whereas in other counties, including Oakland, the process only takes a month.

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano maintained his department is not involved in stall tactics.

"There was no malice or attempts to put speed bumps into the road," he said.

Ficano spoke before Michigan Coalition of Responsible Gun Owners, whose members filled the Civic Center Library auditorium.

A number of elected officials also attended, including recently-elected Livonia council members Linda Dolan and Don Knapp, who thanked MCRGO members for their support in the November election.

The county's top cop cited several factors for delays.

■ A lack of Wayne County Sheriff staff, especially depleted with Sept. 11 and Highland Park public safety department's dissolution. Requests for more staffing have been denied by the Wayne County Commission, Ficano said.

■ Confusion over where fingerprints are taken and sent. Livonia police is one of a handful of departments that doesn't process fingerprints.

■ A backlog at the state police, which verifies fingerprints before returning them to county sheriff.

■ A logjam at the county clerk's office, which issues permits once CCW applications are approved.

"I'm not here to make excuses," Ficano said, "but those are things that impact us."

Wayne County has issued more than 2,000 CCW permits since the law passed, Ficano said. The county has received more than 5,000 applications.

For those still waiting, the county is allowing people to apply for temporary CCW permits through the gun board, which next meets 9 a.m. Feb. 12 at Wayne County Community College's downtown campus.

One state senator at the meeting Wednesday backed Ficano's claim about the lack of resources.

"My gut feeling is they (Wayne County Executive Office) don't like the sheriff's department and they're trying to regulate the hell out of it," State Sen. Christopher Dingell, D-Trenton.

Some Livonia residents are dismayed its police department doesn't offer fingerprinting.

Wayne County deputized 28 local departments to handle the task. Detroit, Garden City and Inkster are other police departments who don't provide the service.

"We don't have the manpower available to take anyone from regular duty," Deputy Chief Robert Stevenson said. "We would've done it if we had the manpower."

The department has received about 15 complaints, Stevenson said. The policy isn't likely to change.

About six months ago when the law took effect, the county had 1,500 concealed weapons applications. To process one application takes a half-hour, Stevenson said.

"Should we take a patrol car off the road to fingerprint the gun applicants?" Stevenson asked. "It's a business decision, but it's what is best for the overall majority of Livonia residents."

OBITUARIES

Livonia native flees Argentina's crisis

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER
loconnor@oe.homecomm.net

On the surface, Ken Rakowicz went to Argentina as a pioneer and returned a pauper.

The 1985 Bentley High graduate left the South American country in the grips of a financial crisis, at least richer for the experience.

Rakowicz counts on such an upbeat attitude to see him through an ordeal that includes his pregnant wife stranded on another continent and him not being able to practice his given profession as a chiropractor.

He's living with parents Len and Rita in Livonia and, at this point, weighs taking other work to raise money.

"The less opportunity I have, the more clarity I have," said Rakowicz, 34. "That's the irony of life."

Four years ago, Rakowicz set out to bring "pure" chiropractic health care to Argentina.

After graduating from Sherman College of Straight Chiropractic, Rakowicz wanted to go abroad to South America. He narrowed his sights on Brazil, Chile and Argentina due to their stable economies and burgeoning middle class.

Rakowicz and his partner settled in Mendoza, Argentina. Without knowing Spanish, he rode by bus with a plastic spinal model and portable chiropractic table to share his passion about the philosophy on well being.

Two months later, Rakowicz

Cintia and Ken Rakowicz

opened an office and his practice steadily grew. So did his connections and command of the language.

Integrated into society

"I was rockin'," he said. He worked with the Argentine Chiropractic Association which was trying to set up a chiropractic college in the world's eighth largest country. He began giving lectures in Spanish.

His integration into Argentine society became complete when he met Cintia, who recently became his wife.

Against the backdrop of his idyllic existence, the country was in economic turmoil.

The government devalued the peso which was on par with the U.S. dollar.

That action created a panic and a run at banks as people rushed to convert Argentine money into U.S. currency.

"I thought I could ride the storm out and then I realized I couldn't," Rakowicz said.

"It wasn't like I was an American tourist. I was suffering right along with them. I had trouble paying my rent, buying gas."

He saw signs leading up to the mess.

Teachers, police and public health workers started going unpaid while demonstrations outside the state capitol increased.

Stories surfaced about masked men bursting into birthday parties, holding family members hostage at gunpoint while they looted. There were four bank heists but, mysteriously, no suspects.

Within a three-week span, Rakowicz's practice fell off to 60 percent and then to 10 percent of what it had been. The country's middle class, which paralleled Canada's in the late 1980s, disintegrated before his eyes.

Vanishing fortunes

"I was destroyed," he said. "I lost everything. Four years of work, my friends, my dreams."

He and Cintia married the day before he left. A tearful goodbye with family and friends followed at the airport Dec. 21.

She remained with her family, unable to get a passport amid the bureaucratic confusion. Their separation is compounded by his not being able to wire her money because banks there are in disarray.

They're in contact every day, he said.

"My heart is broken not to be with her," he said. "I'm missing valuable moments in not being with our baby."

Since his return, Rakowicz has sought advice from others in the chiropractic community. Some have offered him a place in their practices.

Without his license, though, he's stuck.

Rakowicz would have to complete 36 hours of continuing education to renew his certificate. That would take time and money, which are both in short supply with his wife due in three months.

Redford chiropractor Dr. Jim Kravis termed Rakowicz's story "compelling."

"I think he's got a job ahead of him," said Kravis, who's spoken to Rakowicz on a couple of occasions since he returned. "I think he's a man capable of taking care of himself up here and being very successful."

In telling his story, Rakowicz doesn't convey defeat. Everything happens for a reason, he believes.

Besides, he said, "I'm a warrior."

plant. Former city manager Dave Rich secured the deed to the property in November 1999, and threatened to foreclose on the property. Several months later the company filed a lawsuit.

Christiansen noted Bathey, at one time, paid the city $100,000 as part of a deal to extend the settlement deadline to give the company time to seek financing. However, that's as close as the settlement has come.

"I'm not surprised this has happened," said Mayor Bill Graham. "I think the city should go back to court and get clear title to the property, which I believe we have a legal claim to have."

Rouge friends looking for help with frog survey

The Friends of the Rouge are looking for help conducting the fifth-annual Rouge River Watershed Frog and Toad Survey, and local residents have a chance to help.

The Friends will conduct several training sessions for people interested in helping conduct the survey. One of the training sessions takes place at the Plymouth District Library from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 16. They're also doing a training session at the Summit on the Park in Canton from 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20. 7-9 p.m. - Summit on the Parkway, 46000 Summit Parkway, Canton.

The workshop is free but registration is required by calling Sally Petrella at (313) 792-9621 or e-mailing picordinator@therouge.org.

Volunteers are needed to survey their neighborhoods for frogs and toads that help assess the health of the Rouge River and identify wildlife habitat that needs to be saved.

The survey is easy, fun and a wonderful excuse to spend time outdoors with friends and family. Surveyors do not need to get wet. They simply go out and listen for the 10 different species of frogs and toads that live in the area. It takes only a few minutes on evenings several times a month from March through July.

To participate in the survey, volunteers are asked to attend one training session where they will be given tapes or CDs and other materials to help them identify the calls of the frogs and toads.

Promoting restoration and stewardship of the Rouge River ecosystem through education, citizen involvement and other collaborative efforts, for the purpose of improving the quality of life for the people, plants, and animals of the watershed.

Friends of the Rouge happy to find stone flies in river

BY CRAIG SULLIVAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Good things come in small packages

For the Rouge River, the proverbial package is a stone fly, an aquatic insect in its larval stage which is no larger than a half-an-inch long - small to be sure, but significant enough to raise the eyebrows of environmentalists and scientists if it's found in unexpected places

On Jan. 12, several dozen people visited various stretches of the Rouge River in search of winter stone flies

Why all the fuss over a bug?

Stone flies are to waterways what canaries are to coal mines

"They are an insect that is extremely susceptible to pollution. If you find one, it's a pretty good indicator of the overall health of the river," said Sally Petrella, public involvement coordinator for Friends of the Rouge, a local non-profit organization that works to restore the urban river through education and citizen involvement

Specific temperature ranges, dissolved oxygen levels, nutrient-rich habitats - these are the kinds of information a biologist can surmise by the presence of stone flies. Sampling the river for aquatic insects is nothing new for Friends of the Rouge, however. Periodically, the organization checks the Rouge for benthic macro-invertebrates, a term which basically means any creature without a backbone that dwells at the bottom of a body of water and is large enough to be seen with the naked eye. Mussels, clams and leeches are a few examples of benthic macro-invertebrates, and they are some of the things the organization has looked for during its searches in the past.

The focus of the samplings, however, zeroed in on stone flies during the summer of last year when the organization confirmed the discovery of stone fly nymph in both Johnson's Creek in Northville Township and Fowler Creek in Superior Township. Both creeks are tributaries of the Rouge River, which is approximately 126 miles long and runs through three counties

Needless to say, Petrella was pleased by the discovery. In fact, in another article she was quoted as being ecstatic because of it.

"My dad made fun of me because of that article. He said, 'Were you really ecstatic?' Yes, dad, I really was," Petrella recalled with amusement.

Because of the discovery, Petrella decided to team up with the Johnson's Creek Protection Group and schedule another search for winter stone flies in January. Petrella had expected a turnout of less than a dozen, but 42 volunteers showed up on Saturday to help out. Equipped with nets, trays, rubber gloves and waders, the group broke up into seven teams which fanned out to 15 different sites in Farmington, Farmington Hills, Northville, Salem Township, Superior Township, Plymouth Township, Plymouth, Birmingham, Franklin, Southfield and Novi

Anglers go fly hunting

The group - which met at Bueter's Outdoors, a fishing and hunting store in Northville - consisted largely of anglers. Of the search, there was little question that stone fly nymphs would be collected from the Johnson's Creek portion of the river. In fact, John Bueter, owner of Bueter's Outdoors and a member of the Johnson's Creek Protection Group, said that in the recent past five different species of stone flies have been collected from the creek

"That's more species than have been identified in the Au Sable River," Bueter added.

At each site, the team leaders of the groups were in charge of collecting rocks and leaf packs from the different sections of the river and placing them in plastic trays. The other volunteers sifted through the debris with tweezers. If any insects were found that looked remotely like a stone fly - which has six legs, two hooked antennae and two hair-like tails - volunteers placed them in small vials of alcohol for safekeeping.

By Monday, after reviewing the samples, Petrella had confirmed that seven of the fifteen sites contained stone fly nymph. Four sites on the Johnson Creek in Northville contained the insect, as expected. Fowler's Creek in Superior Township, Fellows Creek in Plymouth Township and Tonquish Creek in Plymouth were the other sites where the stone flies were found.

Petrella said she hadn't any expectations about the sampling and was pleased overall with the findings, particularly the one at the Tonquish Creek because of the efforts of the volunteers.

"They searched all afternoon and didn't find one (stone fly) until the very end. They were so excited that they named it Kacey," after the volunteer who found it, Petrella said.

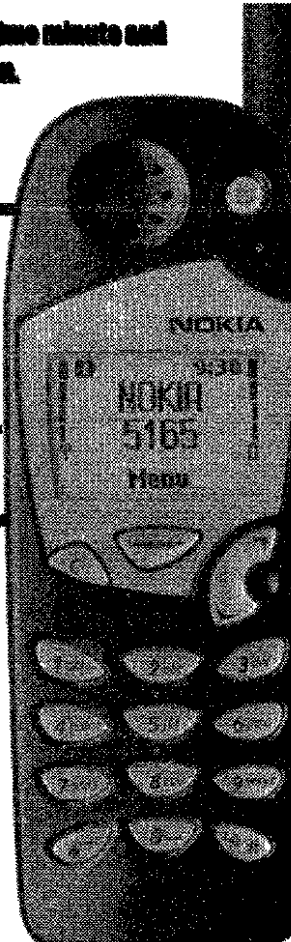

Friends of the Rouge will continue to collect samples to help educate people about the river and the status of its restoration.

For more information about such volunteer programs at the Friends of the Rouge River, contact Sally Petrella at (313) 792-9621 or by e-mail at picoordina@therouge.org

Make chili a family event

Snow, and cold winds chilling us to the bone, are good reasons to make a big pot of chili. Cooking chili should be a family event. The kids can help by washing vegetables and opening cans of beans and broth, and that is about it, unless your kids are like mine.

My 3 year old son Nathan is already trying to tell me what to do in the kitchen.

If your children are a little older, you can have them gather the mise en place (all the ingredients and equipment needed to successfully execute the recipe).

Make it a fun event, turn on the radio and sing along to your favorite songs while you cut vegetables. It doesn't matter who is listening, just sing and cook.

It really does make the food taste better.

Things to remember when making chili

- Stir often to prevent scorching
- Allow plenty of cooking time, the more the chili reduces the better it taste

- Always saute vegetables until translucent before adding broth. This makes a huge difference in flavor.

- If your chili recipe includes meat, evenly brown the meat, and drain off all fat, before adding broth. If you're using fish, add the gently cooked fish to each serving to prevent over-cooking.

- Add spices in moderation, you can always add more but it is impossible to take them out. Always add seasonings and spices at the end so they don't get bitter.

- Use a pinch of sugar at the end of cooking time to help neutralize the acid in the chili.

- Skim the foam that comes to the top of the chili as it cooks. We call this procedure "skimming the skum" in the food service business, and it prevents food from getting an undesirable aftertaste.

- Be creative when making chili. Recipes are only a list of estimates and you can interchange ingredients to fit your own tastes.

I have a good chili recipe that my family and I enjoy, and I hope you and your family will enjoy it as well.

DUCK AND KIDNEY BEAN CHILI

- 1/4 pound ground duck leg meat (turkey or chicken can be substituted)
- 3/4 pound dark kidney beans, cooked
- 1 medium jalapeno, minced
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 large onion, small diced
- 4 stalks celery small diced
- 2 green peppers small diced
- 2 tablespoons fresh garlic minced
- 1 tablespoon fresh oregano chopped fine or 1 teaspoon dry
- 3 tablespoons ground cumin seed
- 1 cup chili powder
- 5 cups chicken broth
- 1 (12 ounce can) peeled seeded and diced tomatoes
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar salt and pepper to taste

Heat olive oil over medium heat, render meat with onions, celery, peppers, jalapenos and garlic. Cook until vegetables are tender.

Add chicken broth, beans and tomatoes, bring to a boil and simmer. Simmer on low heat 25-30 minutes.

Add all sugar and seasonings and simmer an additional 45 minutes or until the liquid is reduced enough to coat a spoon.

Adjust seasoning and enjoy with your favorite bread and fresh grated cheese on top. Serves 12.

Oh so sweet

Local company satisfies appetite for mild onions

BY ELEANOR HEALD
SPECIAL WRITER

Not so long ago, sweet onions were a spring and autumn treat. Now, however, Saven Corporation in Waterford, importers of OSO (oh-so) Sweet Onions, is proud to say they're bringing the first sweet onions of the new year to area markets.

Available through March, sweet onions can be purchased "loose" at area Hiller's markets, Bush's, Spartan stores and at Costco (in five pound bags only).

Sweet onions represent more than 15 percent of all onions consumed in the U.S. That's about 250 million pounds and growing. About a decade ago, in a Troy think tank, produce experts Jim Huston, John Battle and Mark Breimeister pondered how they could satisfy the escalating demand for mild sweet onions and bring the first sweet onions of the year to markets during winter months.

They scoured the globe for the right place to grow an outstanding sweet onion that would ship well and retain a reasonable shelf life. Their search ended in Chile and led to the creation of the corporation name Saven, an acronym for South American Venture. Chile's rich, low-sulfur volcanic soil, arid climate with warm days and cool nights, and pure water, sourced from Andes Mountains snow-melt, proved ideal.

Such conditions help OSO Sweet Onions retain a high sugar content and crisp texture.

Volcanic soil properties promote a mild onion flavor. On average, low in pungency OSO Sweet Onions contain up to one-third more sugar than other sweet onions.

According to Saven, OSO Sweet Onions maintain their texture, shape, and rich onion flavor in cooking better than other sweet onions available later in the year.

In a decade Saven has increased production from one million to 12 million pounds and imports sweet onions to 50 states, 14 European countries, Mexico, Canada and Japan.

Sweet onion advantages

Sweet onions are sometimes referred to as "short day" onions because their growing season occurs during autumn and winter. With harvest usually in spring and summer, they are fresh onions, picked and cured for a short time, then rushed to market. Storage or regular globe onions, are harvested in late summer and autumn, stored in warehouses, and delivered to markets throughout most of the year.

Although there is no official industry standard, it's generally accepted that an onion should contain at least 6 percent sugar to be in the "sweet" category.

Some, like OSO Sweet Onions, have recorded sugar levels of up to 15 percent. Storage onions usually range from 3 to 5 percent sugar content. They also have high levels of sulfur-containing pyruvic acid that causes a person to shed tears while slicing or chopping them.

Guide to seasonal sweet onion choices

- OSO Sweet Onions - First sweet onion of the new year on market shelves. Origin Chile. Availability January through March.

- SpringSweet & 1015 Super-Sweet Onions - SpringSweet Onions are the first spring sweet onions in the market. The 1015 is named for its suggested planting date Oct. 15. Origin Texas. Availability March to mid-June.

- Vidalia - Named for a town in Georgia and grown in 20 specific counties mandated by a Federal Marketing Order. It is the first sweet onion to be promoted and distributed nationally. Origin Georgia. Availability April to late June.

- Walla Walla - Named for Walla Walla County in southeastern Washington state, it comes from a seed originating in Italy that made its way to Washington in the late 1800s. Because this onion does not travel well and has a very short shelf life, it is rarely found in Michigan stores. Origin counties in southeastern Washington state and northeastern Oregon. Availability mid-June to mid-August.

- AmeriSweet - Globe shaped and jumbo sized they have a thicker, deeper colored skin than spring and summer sweets. They are also a specialty of Saven Corporation in Waterford. Origin Grand Rapids area farms. Availability September through October.

- Mauli - They became well known because tourists to Hawaii brought them back by the bag. Akin to Vidalias, they originated from varieties developed in Texas but are the most expensive at $3 per pound. Origin Maui, Hawaii. Availability April to late December.

Storage onions are harsher and may induce indigestion. This is the reason why the best sweet onions are always grown in low sulfur content soils. Typically, sweet onions have pyruvic acid levels that measure below 5 percent. Storage onions usually run 10 to 13 percent. Fresh, sweet onions have high water content, which further dilutes the effect of pyruvic acid and increases mildness.

"The best sweet onions taste like an onion, but are much sweeter and milder," said Fabrizio Casini,

Director of Produce and Floral Operations for Hiller's markets (in Berkley, West Bloomfield, Walled Lake, Northville, Ann Arbor and Plymouth). "They have a thinner, lighter-color skin than storage onions and tend to be more fragile because they are so fresh." He also noted that since OSO Sweet Onions are a premium product, the regular price ranges from $1.29 to $1.69 per pound.

They can be used in any recipe calling for onions. Try them in savory, comfort foods such as chunky chowders. Among hot foods served in bowls, chowders, because they have great texture and flavor, are becoming the American "bowl food" of choice. The pleasant onion taste and crisp texture, similar to a celery stock or apple, make sweet onions the perfect chowder ingredient.

If you're counting calories, here's the skinny: One medium sweet onion weighing about 1/3 pound is the normal serving size. It contains 60 calories, but none from fat.

Storing sweet onions

Because sweet onions have both high water and sugar content, they require more care when storing. Under the proper conditions, they will keep from 4 to 6 weeks. Store them away from potatoes which will absorb water from the onions.

In a refrigerator, they can be stored in a single layer in the vegetable bin on paper towels. For

GOLDEN GOURMET

Creative, simple dishes bring relief from the cold

Fifty years ago, grocery stores offered a limited selection of fresh fruits and vegetables. Getting an orange or tangerine in your Christmas stocking was a luxury. In the winter, families enjoyed the fruits of their labor - foods canned in the spring and summer, and stocked in root cellars.

More choices

Modern trucking and air freight has changed this. Your local supermarket carries products from all over the world. We have year-round access to foods grown in warmer climates.

Florida will soon be sending its crop of goodies which includes oranges, strawberries, avocados, oysters and sea bass.

Clementines, cantaloupes and sweet onions will be coming from South America, and the southern United States will soon be netting shrimp.

Don't forget locally grown and preserved foods like dried cherries, nuts, and apples.

Add these foodstuffs together and we truly have ingredients for creating wonderful winter meals.

One pot supper

One pot dishes are great in the winter. I particularly like Michigan Navy Bean Soup. Meals don't have to be complex to be good.

Sometimes simple things like broiled king crab legs served with a little whole butter can be very satisfying.

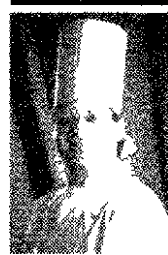

Risotto served with shrimp, crab or duck is a quick, hearty meal this time of year.

European foods such as potato pancakes can be used with many entrees. I like to serve them with pan seared scallops and a red pepper coulis.

Winter is also the perfect time of year for bread pudding with caramel sauce.

Exercise some creativity with your menus, but make them simple, it will help you enjoy Michigan winters.

One pot warmers chase chills away

MICHIGAN NAVY BEAN SOUP

- Serves 12
- 2 pounds dry navy beans (soaked in chicken stock overnight. Use enough stock to cover beans)
 - 1 ounce butter
 - 1 onion sliced
 - 2 ribs celery sliced
 - 2 carrots sliced
 - 1 tablespoon crushed garlic
 - 1 teaspoon marjoram
 - 1 teaspoon ground black pepper
 - Pinch thyme
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1 gallon ham stock
- Garnish
- 1/2 pound ham, diced 1/3 inch
 - 3 carrots, diced 1/3 inch
 - 2 onions, diced 1/3 inch
 - 4 ribs of celery, diced 1/3 inch
- Salt to taste
- Simmer beans in chicken stock until tender (about 50 minutes). Reserve 1/3 of beans for garnish.

In a large, heavy gauge pot, sweat onions, celery and carrots in butter. Add herbs and garlic, allow to foam. Add ham stock, simmer 20 minutes. Strain ham stock into the beans and chicken stock and puree until smooth.

Place back on fire. Sauté garnish until vegetables are tender but not brown and add to soup. Let cook 10 minutes to develop flavor.

Taste and correct seasonings.

Editor's note: Look for ham soup base at your favorite market and mix for soup.

SPAETZLE

- 4 jumbo or 5 small eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 cups flour (1/2 semolina 1/2 all purpose)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- pinch of nutmeg
- 1/3 cups chopped parsley

Hearty soups will warm your winter meals

Winter is the perfect time to make a hearty soup. Following are a few recipes for the cold season.

Lentil and Lemon Soup is a simple, delicious and nutritious soup. Soaking the lentils overnight helps them cook very quickly. The preparation time is under 10 minutes and the cooking time is about 20 minutes.

LENTIL AND LEMON SOUP

- 1 cup lentils soaked overnight in 1 cup water
- 6 cups nonfat chicken broth
- 1 yellow onion thinly sliced
- 2 Tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon dried tarragon
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
- Salt and pepper to taste (optional)
- 1 Tablespoon lemon juice
- 4 thin slices of lemon

Bring the lentils to a boil in the broth. Reduce the heat and simmer until tender, approximately 15 minutes (if you have not pre-soaked the lentils, increase your cooking time by about 15 more minutes). While the lentils are cooking, sauté the onions in oil for 8 minutes or until they are golden brown. Remove from heat and set aside. When the lentils are tender add the onions, herbs, salt and pepper. Cook for 2 minutes. Stir in the lemon juice and garnish with lemon slices.

TASTY CABBAGE AND TOMATO SOUP

- 1 Tablespoon canola oil
- 2 medium onions chopped
- 1 medium carrot, grated
- 1 medium leek white part only chopped
- 1/3 small head cabbage quartered and sliced crosswise into 1/2 inch strips about 6 cups

- 1 15-oz. can diced tomatoes with liquid
- 4 cups vegetable stock or canned broth
- 1/2 cup oatmeal steel cut or old fashioned
- 1 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper

Heat the oil in a large Dutch oven or saucepan over medium-high heat. Add the onion, carrot and leek and stir to coat with the oil. Cover the pot tightly, reduce the heat to medium, and cook the vegetables for 10 minutes. Mix in the cabbage, cover the pot, and cook for another 10 minutes, until the cabbage is wilted.

Stir in the tomatoes, stock, oatmeal, thyme, sugar, bay leaf and salt. Season the soup to taste with pepper and simmer, uncovered, until the oatmeal is cooked and the cabbage is tender. This should take about 30 minutes if using steel cut oats, and 20 minutes if using rolled oats. Serve, or cool and refrigerate overnight. When reheating, to regain a soup-like consistency, you may want to add some vegetable broth.

This is a healthy warm-up Chinese noodle soup.

You can make this soup in less than ten minutes using the packaged cooked chow-main-type noodles, available in supermarkets in supermarkets some Chinese grocery stores. Otherwise, use the Oriental-style instant noodles and discard the seasoning packets because they are very high in salt or use any thin, cooked noodles.

CHINESE MUSHROOM NOODLE SOUP

- 1 Tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 cups sliced mushrooms (6 oz./170g)
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 4 cups chicken or vegetable stock
- 2 cups fresh chow main noodles or 2 packets (3 oz./85g each Ramen noodles)
- 2 Tablespoons sherry or

- rice wine
- 1 Tablespoons sesame oil
- Dash of hot pepper sauce or hot chili oil
- 1/2 cup chopped scallions

In large saucepan, heat oil over medium heat, cook mushrooms and garlic for 2 minutes. Add stock and 2 cups (500 mL) water, bring to boil. Add noodles, sherry, lemon juice or rice vinegar, sesame oil and hot pepper sauce, reduce heat, cover and simmer for 3 minutes. Stir in scallions.

Makes 4 servings, about 1 1/4 cups (300ml) each.

You can find this recipe and other tasty and nutritious soups in Anne Lindsay's cookbook, Lighthearted Everyday Cooking. Source: The American Cancer Institute

This simple but elegant soup incorporates the fresh flavors of the Southwest. And red bell peppers - high in both beta-carotene and vitamin C - are a wonderfully nutritious vegetable.

ROASTED RED PEPPER SOUP

- 2 red bell peppers quartered and seeds and stems removed
- 1 large sweet onion peeled and cut into half inch wedges

- 2 garlic cloves peeled and halved
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 Tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
- 1 can (13 3/4 oz.) reduced sodium chicken broth
- 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) Italian style plum tomatoes with juices
- 1 can (11 oz.) corn kernels, drained
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 1/4 cup fresh cilantro leaves or coarsely chopped basil leaves optional

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Combine peppers, onion, garlic and olive in a large baking dish. Bake 35 to 40 minutes, stirring occasionally until vegetables are tender and lightly browned. Cool slightly. Add chicken broth mixture with tomatoes. Transfer to a large saucepan. Add corn and simmer until heated through. Add pepper to taste, ladle into bowls and, if desired, garnish with fresh cilantro or basil.

Serves 4, with 150 calories and 5 grams fat per serving.

Share recipes that bring comfort, joy

Valentine's Day isn't just for lovers - it's a time for expressing love and affection for everyone - from your best friend to your mom.

CLARIFICATION

In the last issue of Pastimes, the caption for a photo of a Polish wedding that was submitted by the Detroit Historical Guild, should have read that the image was captured in the 1970s.

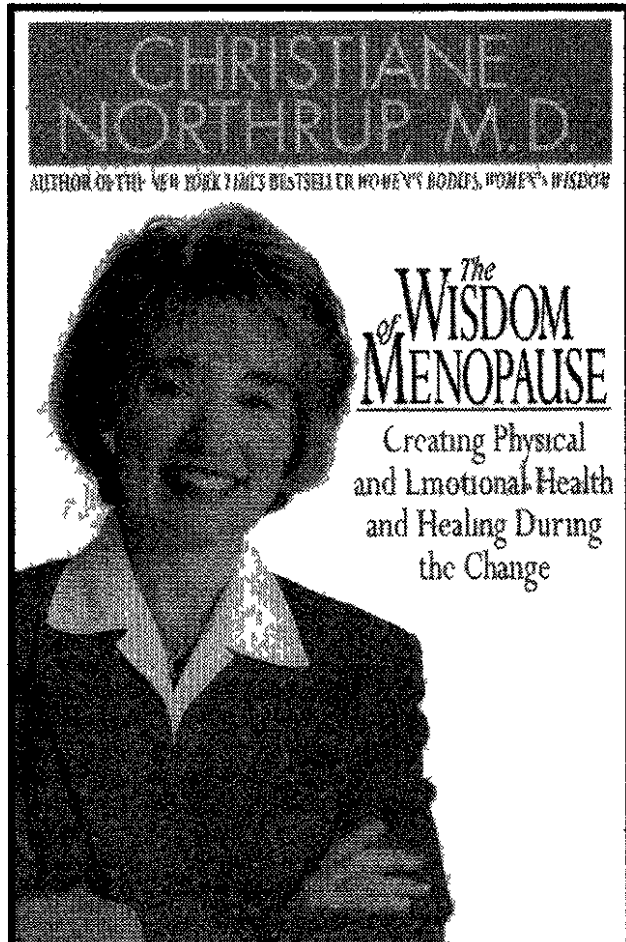

We often say "I love you" to the special people in our life by preparing their favorite foods. We're collecting recipes prepared with love from readers to share in the Sunday, Feb. 10 edition of Pastimes.

Send your recipe, and short story about why this recipe is special, by Friday, Jan. 25, to Lana Mim, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Please include your name and telephone number so that we can contact you. Email information as a text file to lmim@ehomecomm.net or fax (248) 644-1314 or (734) 591-7279.

SWEET ONION FISH CHOWDER

- 2 hot or sweet Italian sausages casings removed
- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- 2 OSO Sweet onions (about 1 1/4 pounds) quartered then thinly sliced
- 1 pound russet potatoes peeled cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 3 bottles (8 ounces each) clam juice
- 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) diced tomatoes with juice
- 2 cups water
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme or 1 teaspoon dried
- 1 1/2 pounds firm white fish such as cod or haddock, boned and skinned cut into 1/2 inch dice
- 1/2 cup (lightly packed) chopped fresh Italian flat leaf parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt or to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper or to taste

In a large soup pot, cook sausage in oil, stirring frequently to break into bite-size pieces, until sausage just begins to brown, about 5 minutes. Stir in the onions, cook until soft, about 5 minutes. Add potatoes, clam juice, diced tomatoes with juice, water, and thyme.

Bring to a boil over high heat, then reduce heat to medium and cook, stirring occasionally, until potatoes are just tender, about 10 minutes. Reduce heat to low, stir in fish. Cook until fish is just firm and opaque, about 5 minutes. Stir in parsley. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Makes about 10 cups

This upscale chowder is simple enough for a weeknight meal, yet elegant enough for entertaining. Serve with crusty bread and mixed greens tossed with a lemony vinaigrette.

SALMON CHOWDER WITH CILANTRO

- 4 slices thick cut bacon (about 4 ounces) cut into 1/8 inch dice
- 2 OSO Sweet onions (about 1 1/4 pounds) quartered then thinly sliced

- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground coriander
- 1 pound sweet potatoes (red skinned yam variety) peeled cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 3 bottles (8 ounces each) clam juice
- 1 1/2 pounds skinless salmon fillet (see note) cut into 1/2 inch dice
- 2 cups half and half or light cream
- 1/2 cup (lightly packed) chopped fresh cilantro
- 1 tablespoon salt or to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper or to taste
- Dash of cayenne pepper

Cook bacon in a large soup pot, stirring frequently, until lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Remove with a slotted spoon, reserve. Stir onions into the bacon fat remaining in pan, cook, stirring, until soft, about 5 minutes.

Stir in potatoes and clam juice, bring to a boil over high heat. Reduce heat to medium and cook until potatoes are just tender, about 5 minutes.

Reduce heat to low, stir in salmon. Cook until salmon is just firm and opaque, about 5 minutes. Add half-and-half, stirring, until heated through.

Stir in reserved bacon and cilantro. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Makes about 10 cups
Note: For variation, substitute coarsely diced shrimp and/or scallops for the salmon, or combine the three for a seafood melange.

MUSHROOM AND SPINACH CHOWDER

- 1 tablespoon canola or vegetable oil
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 pound assorted mushrooms such as crimini shiitake, and oyster coarsely chopped
- 2 OSO Sweet onions (about 1 1/4 pounds) quartered then thinly sliced
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon ground cumin
- Generous dash of ground

This vegetarian soup is high in flavor but considerably lower in calories and fat than most traditional chowders.

- cloves
- 3 medium boiling potatoes (about 1 pound) peeled and cut into 1/4 inch dice
- 4 cups water
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen spinach
- 3 cups nonfat milk
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

Melt butter in oil. Cook mushrooms over high heat, stirring constantly, until they just begin to release their juices, about 5 minutes.

Stir in onion, cook over medium-high heat, stirring frequently, until soft, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle flour, cumin, and cloves over vegetables, cook, stirring, 2 minutes. Add potato and water. Bring to a boil over high heat, then reduce heat to medium. Cook until potato is just tender, about 10 minutes.

Stir in spinach, cover. Cook, stirring occasionally to break up the spinach, until spinach is separated and tender, about 8 minutes.

Add milk and cook, stirring, until heated through. Stir in nutmeg. Stir in lemon juice, a half teaspoon at a time, to blend well. Makes about 10 cups.

Recipes are compliments of Saven Corporation, importers of OSO Sweet Onions.

longer storage, wrap them in foil. Another way is to cut off a leg from a pair of clean, sheer party-hose. Drop an onion into the foot, tie a knot and repeat with remaining onions, tying a knot after each. Hang in a cool, dry, well-ventilated area. Although sweet onions have their seasons, through the use of technology adapted from the apple industry, Vidalia onions can be placed into controlled atmosphere storage for up to six months. That's why they may be available in supermarkets in November and December. Casini believes the process changes the texture of Vidalias. His suggestion is "buy sweet onions in season as they become available."

Bring a large pot of water to boil. Quickly mix all ingredients together until smooth, soft dough forms. Do not over mix. Using a spaetzle machine or a large hole colander, set over the pot with boiling water, push the dough through the holes into the water. Cook rapidly 3 minutes, drain, shock with cold water and drain again. Keep cold and covered until needed.

To serve, quickly saute in a little butter until lightly brown and heated through. Spaetzle can also be used in soups, in which case they are simply added in and not sautéed.

BREAD PUDDING

- Serves 8
- Butter
- Sugar
- 12 pieces of day old white bread (or dried in the oven), crust removed cut into cubes (enough to fill the bottom half of a 9 by 12 inch baking pan)
- 2 pints milk
- 5 eggs
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Pinch of nutmeg

Butter and sugar baking pan. Add bread cubes. Slowly pour mixture of milk, eggs, sugar and vanilla over bread until saturated and let sit for 10 minutes. Bake in 350°F oven for 45-60 minutes covered with aluminum foil.

Allow to cool somewhat. Serve warm, with caramel sauce.

JACK DANIEL'S CARAMEL SAUCE

- 2/3 cups sugar, granulated
- 1/3 cup water
- 1/3 cup heavy cream, room temperature
- 1 ounce Jack Daniel's whiskey, optional

Bring sugar and water to boil in a heavy sauce pan. With a clean brush dipped in water, wash sides of pan to prevent crystallizing. Cook sugar until a deep brown color develops. Remove from heat, stir in cream, a little at a time, to a smooth consistency, (if you add cream too fast, it will harden the sauce). Stir in Jack Daniel's whiskey, if desired.

And May We Recommend...

When the Elephants Dance A Novel, by Tess Urza Holthe (Crown, $24.95.)
"A fabulous novel with wonderful characters in addition to being mesmerizing, the history is fascinating. We were taught about MacArthur 'liberating' the Philippines, but this book takes us right there, searching for food and hiding from the fighting. It's an amazing novel, a winner. I can't wait to start selling it" - Elaine Petrocelli, Book Passage, Corte Madera, CA

Fast Food Nation The Dark Side of the All American Meal, by Eric Schlosser, (Perennial, $13.95 paper)
"This is shocking, comprehensive, and carefully reasoned, and it explains how the fast food industry impacts our health, our culture, our land and the people who work it. It is an important book and has changed me completely" - Kay Marcotte, Page One Books, Albuquerque, NM

Hell's Bottom, Colorado Stories, by Laura Pritchett (Milkweed, $14.95 paper)
"This book exudes the kind of brutal honesty that its title suggests. Pritchett has taken 10 linked stories and created a small masterpiece about a ranching family in the Rocky Mountains. Searingly harsh and beautiful" - Amanda Tobier, Third Place Books, Lake Forest, WA

Journey to the River Sea by Eva Ibbotson, illus by Kevin Hawkes (Dutton, $17.99) For ages 9-12
"A great adventure story set in England and Brazil that includes all the classic elements an orphan heiress, repellent relatives, a stern but good-hearted governess, and friends in unexpected places. Yet they are woven together in fresh and delightful ways" - Rachel King, Little Book House of Stuyvesant Plaza, Albany, NY

The Secrets of Belltown, by T M Murphy (J N Townsend Pub, $9.95 paper)
"The Belltown books are great favorites of ours. They're on the order of The Hardy Boys or The Three Investigators" - Carol Chittenden, Eight

DIVERSIONS

Use a strong center of interest to create impact

Many good pictures you see are not the result of a fortunate accident or taken by change. Most often, they have been planned and created by the photographer.

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

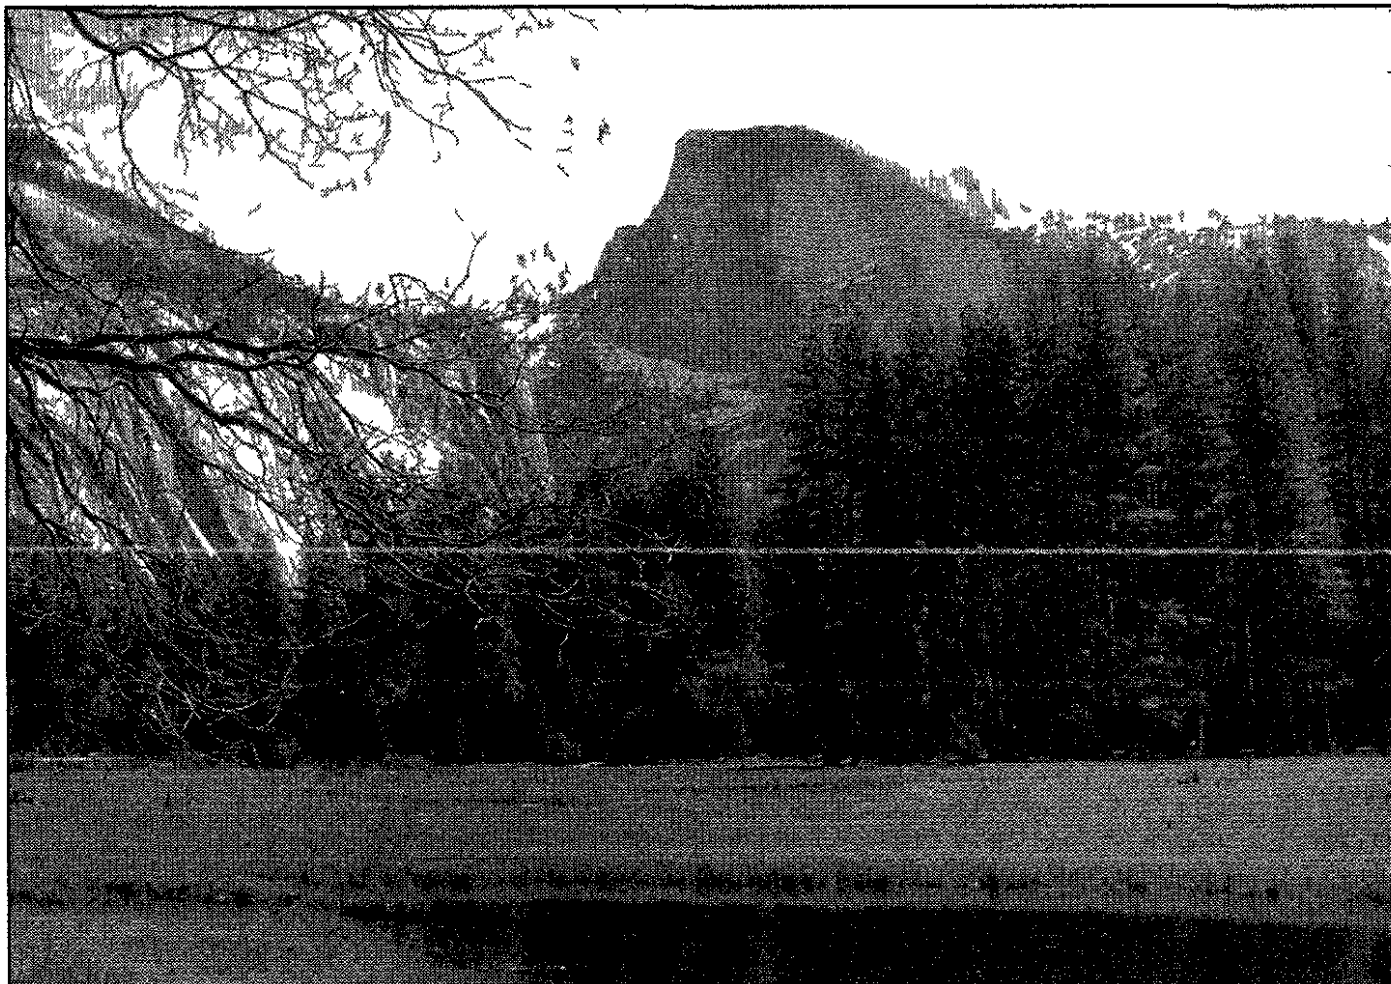

How do you create strong pictures? Begin by learning good composition techniques which include choosing an effective center of interest for your shot. For example, have you ever composed a photograph in the viewfinder only to realize that something just isn't right? There's an element missing that if included will give your shot special impact. Perhaps it's the sunset picture over the lake that just doesn't make it until you include the silhouette of the lighthouse in the viewfinder. Or maybe it's the landscape that lacks impact until you place the dramatic mountain peak in view. You see, including a center of interest can make a weak composition into one that's strong in viewer interest. Avoid placing your center of interest in the center of the picture. In the center, your shot may look static and uninteresting. Use the "rule of thirds." When you divide your scene into thirds both vertically and horizontally, the dividing lines intersect in four places. Any of these intersections provides a pleasing position for your center of interest.

"Framing" techniques and "lead-in lines" that I've discussed in past columns also help to add special impact to your main subject.

What better center of interest in California's Yosemite National Park than the famous Half Dome. There are many angles and views from which to photograph it. The one I selected places Half Dome off-center for a stronger composition. I then used the trees, foreground and small pond to further enhance the picture. The photograph's elements all came together resulting in an image that captures the flavor of one of our great national parks.

Monte Nagler is a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills. You can leave him a message by dialing (734) 953-2047 on a touch tone phone. His fax number is (248) 644-1314.

Memorable image: Half Dome, quite naturally, makes a strong center of interest in this Monte Nagler photograph taken in Yosemite National Park.

Resolve to create your own Drop Everything Day for Family

No words can account for a broken promise to a friend or loved one, particularly if he or she is one of your children. No excuse will make the pain go away or wipe out the disappointment you leave behind you.

CELEBRATING FAMILY

LISA LUCKOW-HEALY

It's time to change your ways — time to turn a bad habit into a good one — by resolving to stop making promises you cannot keep. You might say, "How can I change something that is inherently part of me?" or, "There isn't anything in my schedule I can possibly drop to make more time for others — or is there?" These sound like excuses. The answer to these thought-provoking questions is, "Yes, you can change your ways if you put your mind to it." You can resolve to make more time in your life in the coming year to spend with family and friends. You are the key to your resolution's success. You are the only one who can look at your lifestyle and say, "This activity isn't as important as spending time with my children and watching them grow." You are the only one who can admit that the moments of your children's lives that you miss are the ones you will never recapture, no matter how hard you try to re-create them.

Let go of your task-laden lifestyle in five easy steps:

- 1. Evaluate your calendar. It doesn't bite. It may overwhelm you when you open it, but remember, that's your own doing. Skim the days and weeks of the current month. Ask yourself what you think you might be able to eliminate or move to another day and time. Jot those ideas down on another piece of paper so you can think about what you are resolving to change. Pay particular attention to your after-school and evening time frames when your children will be out of school and in need of your attention.
- 2. Spot-check your activities. Now that you've identified activities you might want to eliminate, conduct a more thorough analysis by determining if they can be rescheduled during school hours when your children will be away, or when your spouse is available to carpool.

Block out one or more days a week from some or all extracurricular activities for your family. Simply pencil an "X" on your calendar for this time.

You don't want your children to feel as if they are the ones getting in the way of your schedule.

- 3. Take baby steps. Vow to start making more time for your family by eliminating what you consider to be one important activity at a time.
- 4. Schedule family time into your calendar. Block out one or more days a week from some or all-extracurricular activities for your family. Simply pencil an "X" on your calendar for this time. When you receive a phone call to make plans on this day of the week, you will know not to do so because you have resolved to make that your family time.

home, you will feel organized and ready to devote time and attention to your family's needs.

5. Make a date. Use the day(s) you've set aside to simply talk to each other, catch up on family projects, go to a movie or exercise together. Call it your Drop Everything Day for Family. Think of it as your family's weekly holiday together (not including the weekend). With a good dose of self-discipline and the patience necessary to change an old habit, you and your family can turn your busy schedules around to succeed in your New Year's resolution to make more time for family and friends. Remember, sometimes you really have to work hard to attain something you really want. One of the greatest rewards is gaining more uninterrupted family time!

TRAVEL

Athens is a jewel despite noise, pollution

BY JUDITH DONER BERNE
SPECIAL WRITER

I was prepared to dislike Athens. A daughter had visited there as a college student and could hardly wait to leave and head for a more tranquil Greek isle.

A son had visited there, and wasn't permitted to ascend the Acropolis because heavy rains had made the marble stairs slick. What was left, he said, was the noise of motorbikes and pollution. He was happy to fly on to Istanbul.

But it seemed ridiculous not to take advantage of the fact that the ship we took through the Turkish and Greek islands (stay tuned) disembarked in Athens.

So rather than "land and run," we spent two days exploring this ancient Greek city - not nearly enough.

We were totally awed by the Acropolis, despite the cranes and scaffolding of reconstruction. Walking up the steps to the Propylaea gate was Art History 101 come true. There, indeed, was the first mixed use of Doric and Ionic columns. Emerging on the other side to see the Erechtheion to the left and the Parthenon to the right was a powerful experience.

The roof of the Erechtheion, the smaller and distinctly more feminine of the two buildings, is supported by those amazing Caryatids (six maiden pillars). What you see are copies, since all but one of the real pillars have been removed to the Acropolis Museum to avoid further deterioration. The missing maiden can be found in the British Museum.

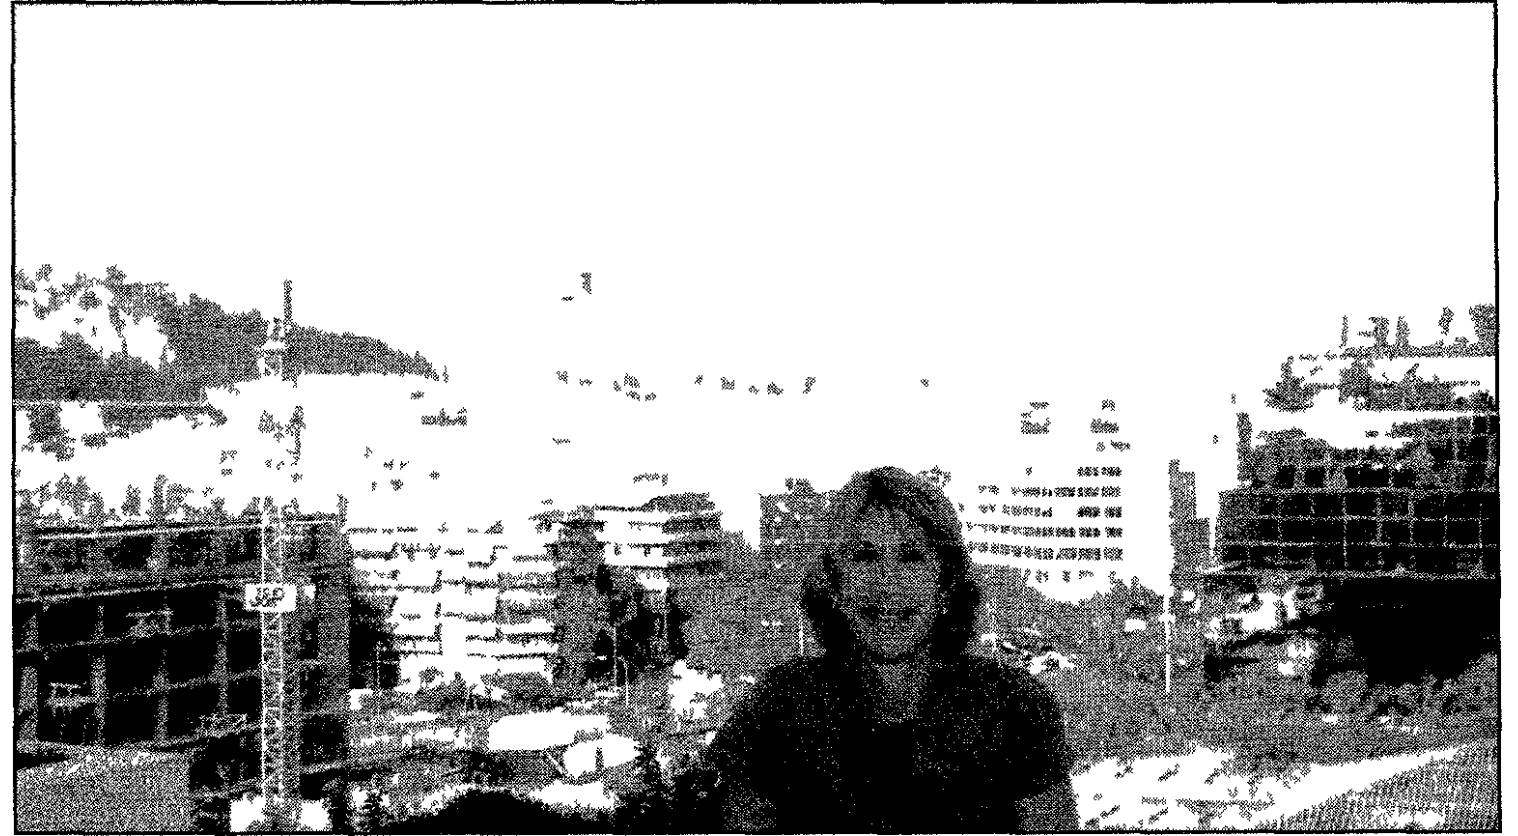

The Parthenon, considered by many to be man's supreme architectural achievement, appears flawless. Its proportions were designed to coincide with the viewer's eye - for example the columns are slightly wider on one end to make them appear perfect. Many of the original friezes and sculpture have been removed for preservation purposes. The Acropolis Museum, neatly tucked into a corner of the complex, fills in some of the blanks - at least those that aren't in the British Museum!

Exploring the neighborhoods, Anafitika and Plaka, that lie in the shadow of the Acropolis is sheer delight. They are a blend of residences, tavernas, and shops that eventually give way to the central city.

Metro-Detroiters know already that Greek food is delicious. So avgolemono (chicken soup with lemon and rice), souvlaki, moussaka and baklava will be very familiar. I was surprised, and my husband delighted, to find they make Greek salad without beets.

Athens has a host of impressive museums, including the National Archaeological Museum that is considered the most important. We had to pick and choose since we also wanted to spend time on the streets and in the National Gardens. Athens' version of New York City's Central Park offers sanctuary from the noise and traffic of the city and includes playgrounds, a duck pond and a small zoo as well as hundreds of species of plants and trees.

We loved the Benaki Museum, the oldest private museum in Athens, housed in a neo-classical building that is the former home of the Benakis family. It displays the historical and cultural development of Hellenism as it unfolded in the course of many centuries. A wonderful roof top garden

Old and new: My husband snapped this photo of me in Athens. A construction crane, juxtaposed against the ancient Acropolis, gives you a picture of what the city looks like as it prepares for the 2004 Olympic Games.

Always on Sunday: Street performers delight young and old on an Athens street that's closed to traffic on Sundays.

The tiny Jewish Museum was worth the time it took to find it in a renovated neoclassical building near the Plaka district. The exhibits, on seven levels, are reached via a winding staircase with natural light emanating from a domed ceiling. (The architecture is obviously influenced by Manhattan's Guggenheim Museum.) They trace the 2,300 years that Jews have lived in Greece. It is somewhat surprising that just a single level is devoted to the Holocaust in which 87 percent of Greek Jews died.

We stayed at the Athenaeum International, which has a great pool, night time views of the Acropolis and Mt. Lycabettus, and a free van to Synagoga (Constitution) Square every hour. The square is where the action is. Mime shows for children on week ends, the constant changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Athenians meeting and greeting over coffee.

Traveling to Athens between now and the Olympics will allow you to see more than we did of the preparations for the 2004 Olympics. We were happy to set foot on the turf of the Panathenaic Stadium, with roots dating back to 330 BC, rebuilt in 1896 for the first modern Olympics. Its 80,000 seats are deemed too few for today's games.

I ended up loving Athens. Yes, it is noisy and polluted. But we found these small annoyances in the scheme of its overall treasures. It's not only worth a visit but a re-visit. If you are tempted to make reservations for the 2004 summer Olympics, I say go for it.

When the two best teams in the league meet, you expect a close game of epic proportions When those teams meet again, the same can be anticipated — only multiply those factors

PREP HOCKEY

In one of the season's earliest hockey games, Livonia Churchill and Plymouth Salem squared off with expectations far different than those at mid-season Churchill had always been good, Salem never had When they skated to a 3-3 tie it was viewed as a victory for the Rocks

In the rematch last Friday at Livonia's Edgar Arena, prospects had shifted dramatically Salem was unbeaten through 13 games, the only blemish on its record that early-season tie with Churchill Churchill was still among the Western Lakes Activities Association's brightest stars, boasting a 7-1-2 league mark

"We won't sneak up on anybody now," said Salem coach Fred Feiler

Not on Churchill, certainly Perhaps the Chargers didn't take Salem as seriously in the teams' first meeting, that mistake would not be repeated

But others would A Charger turnover in their own end with six minutes left in the game allowed the Rocks to do the same thing they'd done in the first meeting this season — pull out a 3-3 tie

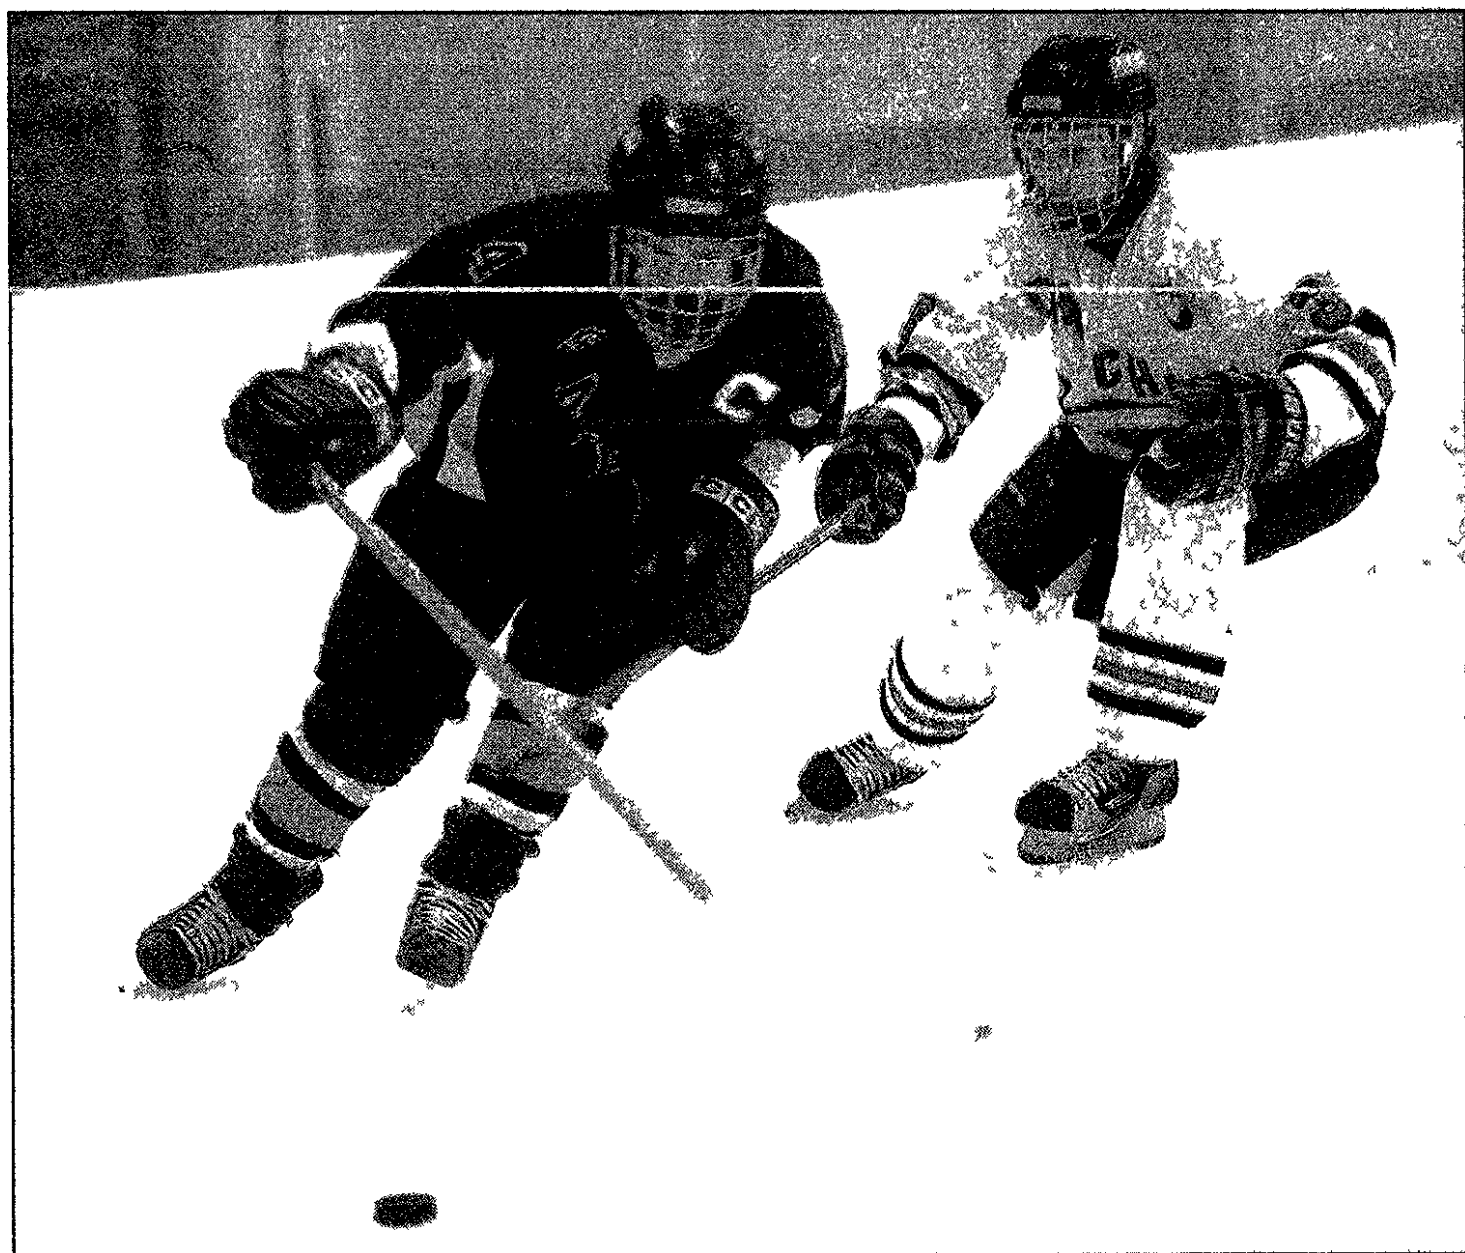

Salem is 12 0-2 overall Churchill is 7-5-4

"It was a great game, up and down," said Churchill coach Pete Mazzoni "But I felt we gave the game away Our mental mistakes killed us

"We had the lead going into the third period both times we played them and gave it up You've got to close it out"

Both goalies, Salem's Scott Stukel and Churchill's Jake Archer, were superb Both made big time stops throughout the game to keep their respective teams in it goal early in the opening period — Kevin Wilson got it, assisted by Mark Nagel and Brad Proodian — Churchill took control The Chargers knotted it with 36 seconds remaining in the first goal coming from Aaron Jakubowski, with Adam Staber and John Maley assisting The second period featured just one goal, poked in by Staber midway through the period when Stukel couldn't find the puck in a pile of players in front of the net Jakubowski and Dan Deuby assisted

"We didn't play our game in the first two periods," said Feiler "We carried the puck too much

"We had a little pep talk between the periods"

Hoskins leads Salem past North

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
SPECIAL WRITER

No matter what you call them — an 'Aircraft Carrier,' a PTP'er or a 'Go-To Guy' — a good team needs a player it can rely on to give it points when they're absolutely needed

So it was Friday night that junior forward Dave Hoskins picked up Plymouth Salem at critical times and, with a game-high 29 points, put the Rocks in position to earn a 67-59 victory over visiting North Farmington

Salem is 3-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and 5-4 overall North is 1-2 and 4-5

Junior Stevland Davis hit a huge triple from the top of the key with 10 seconds to play in regulation to tie the score, 56-56, and cap a comeback from a nine-point deficit that forced overtime

Pat Abraham went 6-for-6 from the line in the fourth quarter and hit a jumper from the wing as the Rocks outscored the Raiders, 13-4, over the last 4:13 of regulation

After Jason Neal sank a pair of free throws for North with 4:42 left to make it 52-43, the Raiders missed four free throws to give the Rocks an opportunity to get back in the game

BASKETBALL

"We made our free throws down the stretch," Salem coach Bob Brodie said "That's always important in a close game, especially when you know they're going to foul you"

"We didn't make our free throws They did," North coach Tom Negoshian said "And that's to their credit"

"I don't think we shot the ball that well, and we made some mental mistakes down the stretch But I told my kids I was satisfied with their effort They played real hard"

Neither team shot the ball particularly well, but a large measure of that was due to the defense played on both sides

North's zone effectively kept Salem to a largely outside shooting game The Rocks dabbled with a zone but 99 percent of the time played an aggressive man-to-man and kept North's Mike Leach from working the baseline

Leach led the Raiders with 16 points but seven came in the first quarter Neal and Brian Johns scored 10 apiece Hoskins entertained scouts from the University of Detroit-Mercy and Central Michigan by hitting a 'quiet' 29

His total included 11 in the third quarter when Salem overcame a 36-29 deficit to close to within a point, 42-41, entering the fourth Abraham hit 16 (eight in the fourth quarter and two in overtime)

Hoskins plays down low along the baseline or on the wing against zones, but he stepped up top in the third period to get more touches

He has a couple of things in common with the great players 1), he knows how to get the ball in the basket and, 2), it looks like he's playing the game at half speed while everybody else is going 120 mph

Hoskins scored Salem's last nine points of the third period — all in the last 64 seconds — to shrink a 38-32 margin to 42-41

"There's no question he's a great player," said Negoshian, who had Leach guarding Hoskins most of the game even though the Raiders were in zone — and guarding him effectively, too Hoskins, in turn, checked Leach a good deal of the time

Salem sweeps past Canton

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisk@oe.homecomm.net

Label this "A Tale of Two Teams"

One is at, or near, the top The other is trying to get there

Last Wednesday at Plymouth Canton, it was readily apparent which was which Canton strung together a few good spurts, but Plymouth Salem had the big guns to carry it to a 15 6, 15 12 volleyball victory

VOLLEYBALL

The Rocks improved to 23-3 overall, 3-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association Canton is 7-9-4 overall, 2-2 in the WLAA

The difference in this match was the domination of Salem's go-to person Katie Good Wherever the Rocks put her, wherever they set her, the Chiefs were unable to compensate

In the opening game, Canton led early on 4-2 Salem strung together five-consecutive points before the Chiefs managed a side out, then the Rocks scored four more — all on kills by Good, making it 11-4 They closed out the game with Good serving an ace and then slamming through the clinching kill

Good's domination was even more evident in the second game Again, the Chiefs had the early advantage, up 3-2

Then Salem setter Jordan Falcusan started setting Good almost exclusively Unlike the first game, in which she had done most of her damage from the left side, Good moved to the middle and was even more devastating

The Rocks scored seven-straight points, Good had kills on five of them and combined with Nicole Genrich for a block and a point on another

"Katie Good hit very well," said Salem coach Tom Teeters when asked the difference in the match "Good hits good"

The Chiefs didn't go quietly, however They kept chipping away at the deficit, eventually making it a one-point game, 13 12, on an ace by Cindy Rotramel But Salem got the serve back and closed it out on a Canton hitting error and an ace by Maggie Tudor

"Our top hitters, we set a lot," said Teeters including Marylou Liebau in the mix

Still, despite their impressive record, he knows more must be done to turn the Rocks into a state power They aren't big — Mandy Bradley, a 5 foot 11 junior, is their tallest player — which means if they have breakdowns in any other part of their game, trouble will follow

Against Canton, Teeters wasn't particularly happy with the Rocks' serving, a key element if they are to succeed

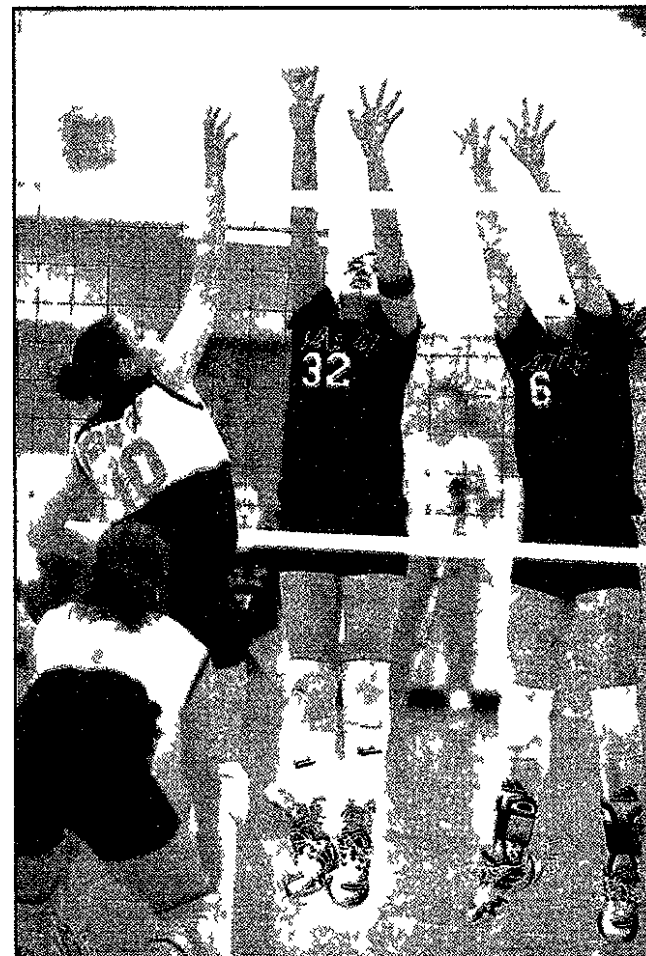

"Not particularly," he said "Jas (Kelly Jaskot) we always serve aggressively I was pleased with Tudor's serve

"Consistency — that's what we need now We have two aggressive servers, and we don't need any more errors"

The Chiefs make their share of errors in all phases, but will also turn in a magnificent point-saving rally

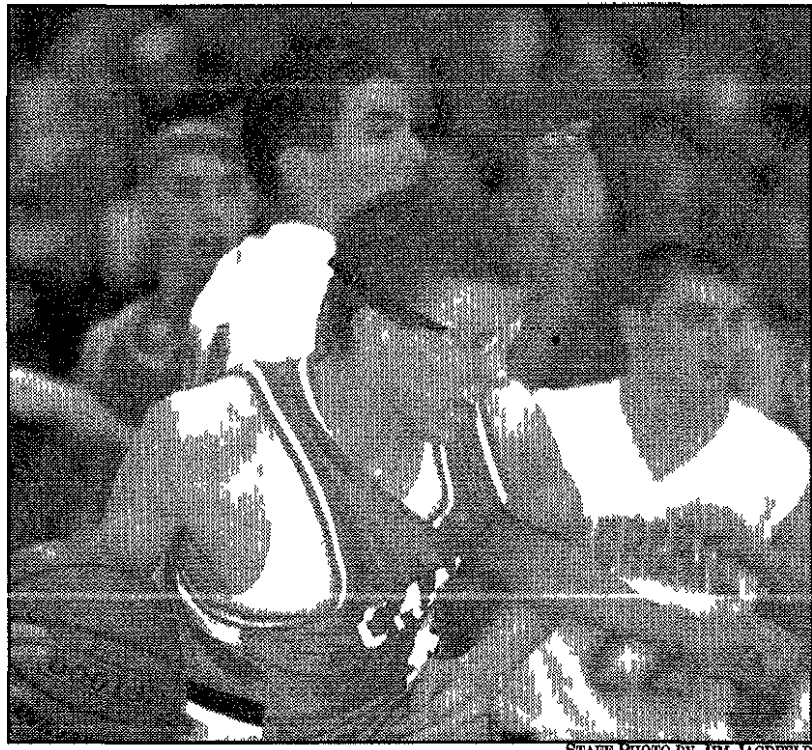

"It's there," said Canton coach Steve Anderson "It's just inexperience They keep making the same mistakes

Tough underneath: Canton's Steve Thornton saw extended duty against Churchill and responded by scoring nine points

Chiefs hold off Chargers

Plymouth Canton earned a methodical 55-42 Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball victory Friday at Livonia Churchill.

Billy Gaszi scored 13 points to lead the Chiefs, now 5-4 overall and 2-1 in the WLAA. Gaszi made four of five free throws in the final quarter as Canton outscored Churchill 18-15.

Canton made 16 of 26 free throws on the night, while Churchill was 5 of 13.

Nick Houdek added 10 points for the victorious Chiefs, hitting a trio of threes in the second period as Canton led 26-22 at intermission. Teammate Steve Thornton finished with nine

Senior guard Kevin Zielinski had a team high 13 for the Chargers, while Shaun Foster added eight

BASKETBALL

Churchill pulled to within three in the third quarter on a triple by Jerry Murray but never got any closer.

'They (Churchill) made runs, they hung around and played hard,' Canton coach Jeremy Rheault said of the Chargers.

Canton's leading scorer, Andrew Meagrow, posted six first quarter points before leaving the game with a reinjured ankle.

Taylor Baptist 60, PCA 57 Plymouth Christian Academy played three quarters of solid basketball Thursday at Taylor Baptist Park.

That other quarter, however, was hideous.

The Eagles let a 10-point halftime lead (35-25) get away in the third quarter as the Wildcats outscored them 17-4 to take a 42-39 lead into the fourth. PCA kept it close the rest of the way but could never overtake Baptist Park, which improved to 3-5 overall, 1-2 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference. PCA is 4-4 overall, 1-2 in the MIAC.

'We were in it down the stretch,' said Eagles coach Doug Taylor. 'We had a shot to tie it at the buzzer but the three pointer went in and out.'

PCA missed several chances to catch the Cats, including blowing three fourth quarter layups. Mark Ericson, who finished with seven points, kept the Eagles close with a pair of three pointers in the fourth.

The difference in the game was Baptist Park's 6-foot-6 center Ron Nelson. Nelson poured in seven third-quarter points and added 11 more in the fourth, finishing with 24 in the game. Levi Brock added 12 and David Watkins and Adam Hoffman scored 11 apiece for the Wildcats.

Clay Welton topped PCA with 20 points but only four of those came in the second half. Aaron Ciborowski added 13 points and 11 rebounds as 10 Eagles scored.

PCA has a busy week ahead. On Tuesday the Eagles play at Southfield Christian. On Thursday they return home to host Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

On Friday, PCA will play its Homecoming game against Pontiac Greater Life at Eastern Michigan University. The junior varsity game is at 5:30 p.m., with the varsity game following.

Canton edges Western in key WLAA dual meet

This just might be a turning point in Plymouth Canton's wrestling season.

After finishing fourth at the Redford Catholic Central Invitational the previous Saturday, Canton came home Thursday to host Walled Lake Western, considered one of the Western Lakes Activities Association's top teams. In a meet that came down to the final match, the Chiefs pulled out a 29-28 victory.

The win raised their dual meet mark to 12-3 overall, they are 3-0 in the WLAA.

'We are not just proud of come-through wins like those of Greg Musser (145 pounds) and Doy Demisick (130), each beating an opponent who placed higher than them at the (CC) tournament, but the whole team,' said Canton coach John Demisick. 'And not just the rest of the guys who had strong wins, but the guys that lost and refused to give up extra points, the guys who refused to get pinned.'

'That was a team effort. They did it for one another. They really hung together.'

Musser provided the game-winning points, just after the Warriors had climbed back into contention with decisions at 135 and 140. Musser, however, clinched it for the Chiefs by edging Western's Jacob Pattenau 3-2.

The closeness of the match was evident in the overall lack of wins by pin. Each side had a win on a void other than that there were just three pins — two by Canton, Shahein Rajae at 189 and Phil Rothwell at 215 — and one technical fall by Western's Ryan Beech at 119.

Whalers' defense enough to topple Otters, 3-1

Defense was the key as the Plymouth Whalers held off the Erie Otters 3-1 in the opening round of a home-and-home meeting between the two Ontario Hockey League division leaders Wednesday at Plymouth's Compuware Arena.

The Whalers, owners of the OHL's best overall record (27-7-8-2) and first in the West Division, got the game's initial goal from Chad LaRose with 2:50 left in the second period. Greg Campbell and Damian Surma assisted.

Plymouth doubled its lead when Cole Jarrett finished a perfect set-up from LaRose 1:26 into the third period. Campbell got his second assist of the game on the play.

The Otters narrowed the gap to 2-1 with a power-play goal from Brian Lee 4:15 into the third, but four minutes later the Whalers had regained their two-goal advantage when George Nistas scored, assisted by Kris Vernarsky and Brad Yeo.

The defense, backstopped by the play of goalie Jason Bacashhwa, did the rest. The Otters, leaders of the OHL's Midwest Division, slipped to 25-15-3-1.

According to Feiler's numbers, Churchill outshot the Rocks 20-17 in the first two periods Salem had a 15-9 advantage in the third.

Still, the Rocks had to battle back twice in the final period to knot the game Mike Chaney tied it at 2 all 3 05 into the third, finishing a pass through the crease from Wilson Andy Thackaberry also assisted.

The tie lasted just 46 seconds The Rocks failed to clear the puck from their zone, Ryan Vandette keeping it in and firing a shot from the point Stukel stopped it but John Maley was there to knock home the rebound, putting Churchill back on top, 3-2.

Another defensive mistake, this time by the Chargers, led to the game-tying goal Archer stopped the puck behind his net and tried to pass it to a teammate in the corner But Nagel, who had been Mazzoni's greatest concern — "He was the guy we wanted to key on" — intercepted the pass and centered it to John Schultz before Archer could get back in goal Schultz scored easily (Mike Maurer also assisted) and the game was tied at 3 all with 5:58 remaining.

Which is the way it stayed, although both sides had great opportunities down the stretch "I'm very pleased with the way Archer played," Mazzoni said "He played phenomenal tonight He put us in a position to win and we let him down" Feiler felt the same way about Stukel "They had chances they couldn't capitalize on and so did we," the Salem coach said, adding, "They're absolutely the best team we've played this year" Maybe they'll meet again If they do, it will be in the state quarterfinals.

Wouldn't that be nice — a best-of-three series

Farmington Unified 7, Canton 2: The Flyers scored the first five goals of the game Thursday at Arctic Edge Arena in Canton and coasted from there Keith Hay torched the Chiefs for three goals and two assists in leading Farmington Unified Brad Heraghty added two goals and three assists, Matt Lee had a goal and an assist, and Jeff Tosoian had three assists Brett Laird also scored for the Flyers, who led 3-0 after one period and 6-1 after two.

"They jumped on us early and we never recovered," said Canton coach Dan Abraham "We outshot them 26-21, it's just that their shots went in"

The Chiefs got goals from Mike Carson and David Comiskey Aaron Allor was in goal for Farmington Unified Charles Kemp started in the net for Canton, but was replaced midway through the third period.

"When they understand what's supposed to happen, they can run balls on one of the state's best teams When we execute, the skill is there"

Certainly there's talent in Stephanie Johnson, Courtney Jarman and Rotramel on the front line Setter Kristen Lillie, just a sophomore, could develop into a top-line talent And when senior Colleen O'Brien is back at full strength — she suffered a broken thumb two weeks ago — the Chiefs may begin to climb in the WLAAs standings.

Last Monday at Farmington Harrison, Canton's inconsistencies were evident once again, the Chiefs lost the opening game of the match 15-13, then rebounded for 15-7, 15-8 victories.

"It's a learning curve," said Anderson "The frustration is because you know it's in there, and you want to pull it out"

When the light bulb goes on, they're awesome to watch" Canton's problem is, there's no telling when that lamp will light Salem has no such issue to address, which is why the Rocks are where they are.

Agape still unbeaten
 Canton Agape Christian improved its record to 5-0 with a 15-9, 15-2 triumph over Taylor Baptist Park Thursday at Garden City United Christian, Agape's home court.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 1-4 Kelly Hayes and Sivilve Moore paced the Wolverines' attack with two service aces apiece.

Salem loses in final
 Last Saturday (Jan 12) at the Comstock Invitational, Salem handled everybody — except Okemos.

The Rocks reached the final with wins over Allegan, 15-5, 15-10, Flint Kearsley, 15-9, 15-2, Hanover Horton, 3-15, 15-13, 15-13, Gull Lake, 15-12, 15-8, and in the semifinals, Horton again, 10-15, 15-13, 15-12 The only loss Salem suffered in pool play was to Okemos, 15-3, 13-15, 15-13.

The Chieftans were again the Rocks' adversary in the final, and the results were much the same — Salem losing in three sets, 13-15, 15-9, 15-6.

The Rocks faced Okemos the second time without Katie Good, who was suffering from back pain. Still, they made a go of it in the final, thanks to 12 kills by MaryLou Liebau, two solo blocks by Jordan Falcaun, three service aces from Kelly Jaskot, eight digs from Maggie Tudor and, in the first game, seven kills by Amanda Bradley.

Lady Ocelots trounce Macomb

Devin Francois scored a game-high 19 points and guard Rachel Eley had 14 points and six assists Wednesday as Schoolcraft College routed visiting Macomb, 73-48, in a women's basketball game.

Schoolcraft, ranked No 8 in the latest NJCAA Division II poll, is 12-4 overall and 4-0 in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association.

Macomb drops to 3-11 and 0-4. Nine different Lady Ocelots scored with Pam Wingate adding eight points and seven rebounds.

Francois, Cameo Brown and Keysa Hamilton each grabbed seven rebounds.

The Lady Ocelots, who led 37-22 at halftime, shot 39 percent from the floor (32 for 82) and 53 percent from the free throw line (8 of 15).

Macomb got 16 points from Theresa Cyr.

Seniors ski at reduced rates on Michigan slopes

As the largest segment of our population the Baby Boomers look ahead toward retirement ski areas across Michigan want senior citizens to include skiing as one of their major recreational activities. Ski areas and resorts recognize seniors as a burgeoning group with disposable income, and more leisure time. More than ever before baby boomers will continue to embrace physical fitness as they age making the term "senior citizen" take on a whole new meaning. "We want them to ski not flee to warmer climates," says Steve Kershner president of the Michigan Ski Industries Association and director of skiing for Shanty Creek in Bellaire. Nearly all facilities welcome senior skiers some as young as 50 with outstanding discounts and exciting programs.

At Alpine Valley in White Lake seniors 65 and up ski for just $15 during midweek daytime sessions holidays excluded. Seniors 80+ who belong to the Over the Hill Gang ski free with membership and I D cards (248 887 2180).

Apple Mountain in Freeland offers $5 off lift tickets to seniors 65+ everyday (989-781 0170). At Big Powderhorn of Bessemer in the Upper Peninsula seniors 65 and over pay $17 per lift ticket (906 932 8100).

Bittersweet of Otsego offers $2 off any rate for seniors 60+ (616 694 2820).

Blackjack Ski Resort of Bessemer lets seniors 65+ pay child rates everyday and seniors 62 and older can purchase a season pass for $165 (906 229 5115).

At Boyne Mountain in Boyne Falls and Boyne Highlands in Harbor Springs lift tickets are discounted 25 percent off regular rates for seniors 65+ (1 800-GO BOYNE).

At Cadillac, Caberfae Peaks Ski and Golf Resort seniors 65+ ski for $20 midweek and $25 on weekends and holidays. Ski rental packages for seniors are $20 everyday (231 862 3000). Cannonsburg Ski Area in Cannonsburg allows anyone 70 years and older to ski free (616 874 6711).

Cross Country Ski Headquarters in Roscommon offers an entire Cross Country and Snowshoe Silver Streak week. For 2002 it's Jan 21 through 25 Monday through Friday. During these dates seniors 55 and older get their cross country skis and snowshoe pass on the house and a free chance to try some cross country skis and boots or snowshoes from their demo program (1 800 832-2663).

At Crystal Mountain in Thompsonville, seniors 55 and older get 50 percent off day lift tickets cross country trail passes rental equipment. Naslar racing and group lessons (800 YOUR-MTN).

At The Homestead in Glen Arbor senior citizens 62+ ski free (231 334-5000).

Indianhead of Wakefield offers seniors 65 and over $22 weekend lift tickets and $19 midweek lift tickets. These seniors can purchase 2 and 3 day passes at a discount. Midweek season passes are $129 and all-day/all area season passes are $189 (906 229 5181).

Mc Brighton in Brighton offers 50 percent discounts off their regular lift ticket prices to skiers 62 plus (810 229 9581).

Norway Mountain of Norway in the Upper Peninsula offers seniors 65 and over half price lift tickets. Skiers 65+ can purchase a season pass for $129 prior to Oct. 31. After that seniors pay $149 for a season pass. (906-563 9700).

If you're 65 69 years of age at Nubs Nob in Harbor Springs you pay a reduced rate for a lift ticket. At 70-plus seniors ski free everyday (231 523 2131).

Seniors get a $3 discount at Pine Knob in Clarkston (248 625 0900).

The Upper Peninsula Pine Mountain at Iron Mountain offers seniors 60 and over a season pass for just $100 or $110 lift tickets (906 774 2747).

Shanty Creek in Bellaire offers free skiing to anyone 55 plus from January 13 17. It's their Silver Streak Week and special lodging rates are also available. Those aged 55 69 can purchase lift tickets at teen prices and anyone 70 years or older ski free all the time (800 678 4111).

Ski Brule in Iron River offers $3 off full price lift tickets to seniors (906 265 4957).

Skyline Ski in Grayling allows skiers 70+ to ski free and during Silver Streak Week, Jan 21 25 seniors 65 and over ski free (989 275-5445).

Snow Snake Mountain in Harrison allows anyone over 70 to ski free (989 639 6588).

At Sugar Loaf in Cedar skiers 65 and older ski free (231 228 5481).

Swiss Valley Ski Area in Jones offers reduced lift and rental fees for persons 65 and up (616 244-5635).

Timber Ridge in Gobles cuts lift ticket prices in half for anyone over 60 (616 694-9449) and at Treetops Resort in Gaylord seniors 65 and over receive a lift ticket for just $2 excluding holidays (989 732 8711).

"With all the discounts offered to senior citizens there is really no excuse for staying indoors," Kershner says. He encourages everyone regardless of age or ability to hit the slopes and trails. "Come out and enjoy Michigan's winter wonderland!"

"We worked hard to get him the ball late in the game," Brodie said "Early in the game, everybody was shooting too quickly (The Raiders) weren't playing defense long enough"

"The zone forces you to take outside shots. We got some good looks, but we weren't shooting a lick."

Abraham was fouled and made two free throws 43 seconds into the overtime to put Salem ahead for good.

Missed shots marked the next two possessions and five straight turnovers brought the clock down to 1:11, when Hoskins made a free throw that made it 59-56.

He missed the second but Salem, for the first of three times in the overtime, got the rebound, and Brad Clark went back up with a shot that made it 61-56.

North missed two shots and Hoskins made two more free throws to effectively seal the win.

"In the third and fourth quarters and in the overtime, they made the free throws, and they made the plays," Negoshian said "That's what it came down to."

"One thing that was important was our poise down the stretch in regulation," Brodie said "When the clock was winding down and winding down, we passed up some shot opportunities to pass the ball and pass the ball until we got a better shot."

"I told the kids to forget about their mistakes and just play. We made a ton of mistakes."

But just enough good plays and free throws

Plymouth Salem graduate Tony Jancevski scored 18 points and grabbed seven rebounds Wednesday to lead host Madonna University to a 79-64 men's basketball victory over Concordia.

MU is now 5-15 overall and 2-3 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. Concordia falls to 3-17 and 1-5.

The Fighting Crusaders overcame a 37-35 halftime deficit, outscoring the Cardinals 44-27 in the second half.

The 6-foot-9 Jancevski, a transfer from Schoolcraft College, had eight points in the final seven minutes.

Noel Emehiser added 16 points. His layup with 15:40 to play gave MU the lead for keeps, 45-44.

Chad Nadolni, Aaron Cox and Jimmy Woodworth each added 10 for MU. Nadolni also had a team-high 11 rebounds, while guard Joe Greene dished out five assists.

The Crusaders shot 50.8 percent from the floor (31 of 61) and 90.9 percent from the free throw line (10 of 11).

Forward DeOndre' Head led Concordia and all scorers with 27 points, hitting 3 of 5 beyond the three-point arc. Freshman guard Matt Mikel (Farmington High) added 11. Ben Horstman had 10.

Delvar Barrett added seven each.

Guard Gary Johnson (Wayne Memorial) came off the bench to add 12 points, hitting all four field goal attempts, including three triples.

Center Yaku Moton-Spruill (Westland John Glenn) and point-guard Rulon Harris each contributed 10 points. Harris also had six assists.

Antoine Wilcox and Damon Lenard scored 12 and 10, respectively, for Macomb.

Schoolcraft shot 36 of 68 from the floor (52.9 percent), while holding Macomb to 18 of 60 (30 percent). The Ocelots outrebounded Macomb, 44-28.

Avoid eye injuries from sports activity

BY DR. PAUL A. EDWARDS
SPECIAL WRITER

Since the invention of the sling shot, parents have warned their children "Be careful You'll poke your eye out!"

But parents have every right to be concerned about eye safety. It is estimated that 1.6 to 2.4 million Americans sustain eye injuries annually. About 40,000 become legally blind in the injured eye.

People who play sports are particularly vulnerable. Although eye injuries occur in every sporting activity, most injuries are associated with baseball, basketball, football, hockey, lacrosse, tennis, racquetball, squash and paint ball.

The nature of injuries ranges from minor bruising to severe injuries such as corneal abrasions and lacerations, bleeding in the eye, cataracts, retinal detachment and fractures of the bone surrounding the eye. Any severe injury can cause blindness or varying degrees of visual impairment. Injuries can even be severe enough to require removal of the affected eye.

The good news is that more than 90 percent of sports-related eye injuries can be prevented by wearing protective eyewear and headgear. This recommendation is for any sports format, including league and competitive play, as well as summer family get-togethers and one-on-one basketball in the backyard.

Last year, I cared for a patient who participated in an after-work softball league. A pitcher, he was struck in his left eye by a line drive. The eyeball ruptured and he had a torn retina, internal eye bleeding and bone fractures. We were able to save the eye, but he lost a significant amount of vision. His injuries would definitely have been prevented if he had been wearing protective eyewear.

Regular eyeglasses do not provide adequate protection for sports. When buying protective eyewear and headgear, make sure it has been tested and certified by an agency such as the American National Standards Institute (ANSI), American Society of Testing and Materials (ASTM), Hockey Equipment Certification Council (HECC) or the Canadian Standards Association (CSA). Or check out the Protective Eyewear Certifying Council at www.protecteyes.org. Most devices need to be impact-resistant up to 90 miles an hour for projectiles such as hockey pucks and baseballs.

Participants of basketball, football and other contact sports should wear protective glasses or goggles with lenses that are at least 3 mm thick. The frames should be made of silicone, polycarbonate or another soft protective material that helps reduce facial trauma. For activities involving hockey pucks, baseballs, softballs or other fast-moving projectiles, face

Warning! Don't ignore the symptoms

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND
rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

Gary Monico, 42, of Farmington, a manager of busy Target store in Livonia, thought he was getting the flu a few weeks ago when the usual trip to the parking lot to retrieve carts proved exhausting. He ignored the symptoms, which included achy joints, and a few days later went to the YMCA to work out.

"I ran a few miles and came back to work. I felt terrible," he said.

When his symptoms didn't subside after a week and his temperature soared to 103 degrees, Monico contacted his doctor. The diagnosis of pneumonia surprised him.

"I've never been sick a day in my life," he said. Last September an elderly patient of Dr. Joan Vangel, a staff physician at Henry Ford West Bloomfield Clinic, was too absorbed watching the events of World Trade Center tragedy unfold on her television to pay attention to her persistent cough and runny nose. However, two weeks later the Farmington Hills senior, desperate for relief, drove herself to Vangel's office without an appointment.

She, too, was diagnosed with pneumonia. Unfortunately pneumonia is an insidious disease. Its beginning is often benign, nothing more than a cold. Even as its symptoms progress — in spite of a regimen of aspirin and over the counter cough products — they are frequently ignored.

Pay attention to symptoms, warns Vangel. A physician needs to make a diagnosis through careful listening of the chest, an overall medical evaluation, and a chest X-ray.

"I always tell my patients they never waste my time by coming in and getting checked," she said.

Causes and symptoms

Pneumonia is a serious infection or inflammation of the lungs, in which the air sacs fill with pus or other fluids. Because oxygen has trouble reaching the blood, body cells are deprived of necessary fuel. Combine oxygen starved cells with a spreading infection throughout the body and the outcome can be lethal.

Until 1936, pneumonia was the number one cause of death in the United States. Since then, the use of antibiotics have brought it under control. In 1997, pneumonia and influenza combined ranked as the sixth leading cause of death, according to the American Lung Association. It ranks even higher in other categories.

"It is the leading cause of death from infectious disease," said Dr. Gregory Neagos, director of Respiratory Care and Medical Intensive Care at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Although children and seniors may be more susceptible to pneumonia, it is really an equal opportunity disease.

For the most part, it is matter of being in the wrong place at the wrong time.

"The truth is that pneumonia can occur with any body. It just happens. It's a matter of bad luck," said Vangel.

There are over 30 different causes of pneumonia, including the five main causes: Bacteria, viruses, mycoplasmas, other infectious agents, such as fungi, including pneumocystis, and various chemicals. Typical pneumonia symptoms include a severe cough, fever, chest pain and shortness of breath.

"People think they have a bad cold, but the symptoms don't clear. The chest becomes more congested, and the patient becomes weaker. They generally feel debilitated," said Vangel.

Symptoms often present differently in the elderly. "It's not so much a cough or a fever, but confusion or failure to thrive. They may become incontinent or fall. Then I'm much more concerned that pneumonia is going on," said Dr. Michael Maddens, director of Health check: Dr. Michael Maddens, director of the Division of Geriatrics, Beaumont Hospital, meets with patient Eileen Zolad. Zolad's visit was not related to pneumonia.

the Division of Geriatrics, Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak

Treatment

According to the ALA, over half the pneumonia diagnosed is viral. A culture of the phlegm or blood determines if the origin is viral or bacterial, which usually produces a more serious form of the disease.

Pneumococcal pneumonia, caused by a bacteria called Streptococcus pneumoniae, or "pneumococcus," is the most common form of bacterial pneumonia. It can infect the upper respiratory tracts of adults and children and can spread to the blood, lungs, middle ear or nervous system. The Centers for Disease Control estimates S. pneumoniae causes 40,000 deaths and 500,000 cases of pneumonia annually in the United States.

Pneumococcus lives in the noses and throats of up to 70 percent of healthy people at any given time. It is spread from person to person by coughing, sneezing or close contact. Why it suddenly invades the lungs and bloodstream to cause the disease remains a mystery. Because it is difficult to determine if pneumonia is viral or bacterial in origin during an initial examination, doctors usually prescribe antibiotics. However, some bacterial pneumonia has come resistant to antibiotics.

"Bacteria seem to be smarter than we are," said Maddens. "We have a resistant strain that has evolved over the last 10 or 15 years. Now, 30 to 40 percent of pneumonia is not sensitive to penicillin."

Additional treatment measures include supportive care, breathing treatments, cough medicines and lots of rest. Although the fever may subside in a week or two, a full recovery often takes two to three months, said Maddens. Fortunately, most pneumonia patients do not require hospitalization.

While relapse is not common, it can be more serious than the first attack, warns the ALA. Doctors emphasize the importance of completing the course of antibiotics. Resuming normal daily activities is subjective.

"I tell them to let their body be their guide," said Neagos. "But if they have a fever that's an indication there's still an infection and they should continue to rest."

Vaccination

Because pneumonia is a common complication of influenza, the ALA recommends getting a flu shot every fall. Vaccine also is available to help fight pneumococcal pneumonia, one type of bacterial pneumonia. Your doctor will help you determine if you're a candidate for the pneumonia vaccine.

The greatest risk of pneumococcal pneumonia exists among people who:

- Have chronic illnesses such as lung disease, heart disease, kidney disorders, sickle cell anemia or diabetes
- Are recovering from severe illness
- Are in a nursing home or other chronic care facility
- Are age 65 or older

While the pneumonia vaccination offers protection against almost 90 percent of the pneumococcal bacteria that cause pneumonia, it is not a guarantee against the disease. Also, it does not protect against viral pneumonia. For most people, one vaccination lasts a lifetime, however, those with certain blood cancers or without a spleen may be eligible for re-vaccination.

Unfortunately, people are not taking advantage of the influenza and pneumonia vaccination, said Maddens. "Both are underutilized."

Keep warm to save your heart

People who are outdoors in cold weather should avoid sudden exertion, like lifting a heavy shovel full of snow. Even walking through heavy, wet snow or snow drifts can strain a person's heart. Winter sports enthusiasts who don't take certain precautions can suffer accidental hypothermia.

Hypothermia means the body temperature has fallen below normal. It occurs when your body can't produce enough energy to keep the internal body temperature warm enough. It can kill you. Heart failure causes most deaths in hypothermia.

Symptoms include lack of coordination, mental confusion, slowed reactions, shivering and sleepiness. Children, the elderly and those with heart disease are at special risk. As people age, their ability to maintain a normal internal body temperature often decreases.

Because elderly people seem to be relatively insensitive to moderately cold conditions, they can suffer hypothermia without knowing they're in danger.

People with coronary heart disease often suffer chest pain or discomfort called angina pectoris.

Besides cold temperatures, high winds, snow and rain also can steal body heat. Wind is especially dangerous, because it removes the layer of heated air from around your body. At 30°F in a 20-mile-per-hour wind, the cooling effect is equal to calm air at four degrees. Similarly, dampness causes the body to lose heat faster than it would at the same temperature in drier conditions.

To keep warm, wear layers of clothing. This traps air between layers, forming a protective insulation. Also, wear a hat or head scarf. Much of your body's heat can be lost through your head. And ears are especially prone to frostbite. Keep your hands and feet warm, too, as they tend to lose heat rapidly.

Don't drink alcoholic beverages before going outdoors or when outside. Alcohol gives an initial feeling of warmth, but this is caused by expanding blood vessels in the skin. Heat is then drawn away from the body's vital organs.

Independent-living seniors helped by Beaumont program

If you are an older adult who needs assistance around the house but can't hire full-time help, you can find a helping hand through Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

"Helping Hands," a non-profit program managed by Beaumont's Department of Older Adult Services, provides companionship and personal assistance to independent-living and homebound senior citizens in the community.

The program serves communities within a 15-mile radius of the hospital.

Services provided by Helping Hands include assistance with bathing, shopping, meal preparation, light housekeeping and transportation.

Please see SENIORS, C7

Program offers non-surgical solution to incontinence Seniors from page C6

Women of all ages are subject to urinary incontinence, the uncontrolled loss of urine that may be caused by weakened muscles in the pelvic floor.

Pregnancy, childbirth, chronic constipation and chronic coughing are among the factors that can weaken this muscle group. However, urinary incontinence in women is most commonly associated with aging. As the American population grows older, more and more women suffer from the disorder.

While incontinence is common, it is not normal and can be treated. Pelvic floor muscles can frequently be treated successfully with physical therapy. Strengthening these muscles can prevent decrease or even stop the leak of urine altogether.

Botsford General Hospital has developed a Pelvic Floor Restoration Program focused on physical therapy as an effective alternative to medication or invasive surgery. Treatment is offered by a highly trained professional staff of physical therapists and a certified athletic trainer.

Treatment techniques include:
 ■ Instruction in strengthening exercises or 'Kegels' for the weakened pelvic floor muscles.

■ Gentle electrical stimulation to help tighten the muscles and help the bladder to be less irritable.

■ Biofeedback training to help the patient learn to correctly tighten and relax the pelvic floor muscles.

Patients must be referred by a physician to the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Department at Botsford General Hospital in order to participate in the Pelvic Floor Restoration Program. A typical treatment program involves two to three treatments per week for four weeks.

For more information, call Botsford's Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Department at (248) 471-8648.

Nonprofit lends home health lifts to needy

Project Freedom, a nonprofit organization that provides home health lifts to disabled persons who could not otherwise afford one, has opened a Web site at www.projectfreedommi.org. Project Freedom was created by the Hospitalers Committee of Detroit Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar, a Masonic organization.

The lifts assist patients with transfers between their bed and wheelchair, commode, bath or any other location in the room where lifting is necessary. The lifts are available on loan to individuals within 75 miles of Detroit and are installed at no cost to the recipient.

Visitors to the Web site can start the referral process online as well as find information about how the lifts operate, eligibility requirements, the referral process, links to other healthcare and Masonic organizations and recent media coverage of Project Freedom. Persons without internet access can reach Project Freedom by calling (313) 961-6644 during business hours Monday-Friday.

The Hospitalers Committee is based in the Detroit Masonic Temple. The group funds a private 501 (c) (3) foundation that makes contributions to qualified organizations in support of charitable, educational and religious activities throughout southeast Michigan.

Project Freedom joins the many philanthropies of the Masonic fraternity across the United States. Masons serve their communities by contributing more than $1.6 billion per day to organizations such as public hospitals, Masonic homes and hospitals, medical research, community support, scholarships, museums, and public buildings.

There are at least 9,000 children in Wayne County right now, who are a part of the foster care system. New children come into care every day.

"Our children need you to become a foster or an adoptive parent."

While Helping Hands workers can provide many types of basic assistance, they do not provide medical care or replace maid service.

"The goal of this program is to help seniors continue to live independently in their own homes as long as possible. It is ideal for older adults who need affordable support," said Christine Nielsen, Beaumont's Older Adult Services director.

Helping Hands services are provided 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Minimum service provided is four hours per week for at least four weeks duration. Clients are billed on an hourly basis.

Beaumont is looking for volunteers for Helping Hands. No prior experience is necessary, but applicants must be 18 year old or older. Access to reliable transportation is needed. Daytime work hours are available seven days a week. The hourly wage for each worker is $9.25, plus mileage paid for transportation while on duty.

For more information about Helping Hands or to order the service, call (248) 551-0776, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

shields with a protective polycarbonate or wire mask protect against bone fractures around the eyes and should be considered mandatory for these activities.

Paint ball injuries also have increased dramatically over the last several years due to the sport's popularity. This sport can and does cause severe blinding injuries. I cannot emphasize enough the importance of wearing a mask. Most organized sites require eye protection, however, sometimes participants break the rule and remove their masks. Injuries also can occur in pick-up games by individuals who own the paint ball guns and do not follow the eye protection rules.

The best prevention of these sports-related eye injuries is to make wearing eye protection a habit, just like putting on a helmet before riding a bike.

More information about sports eye injuries can be obtained at American Academy of Ophthalmology's Web site www.eyenet.org.

Dr. Edwards is interim chairman, Department of Eye Care Services, Henry Ford Health System, and Ophthalmologist, Henry Ford Medical Center Livonia.

DO INJECTIONS WEAKEN JOINTS?

In the care of swollen knees and shoulders, the removal of excess fluid called aspiration and the injection of steroid preparation is a valuable procedure. My experience is that many individuals in need of such therapy shy away from it because of concern that the steroid injection will damage the joint.

This fear is unfounded. The needle used for the procedure is too small to cause injury to cartilage and scraping the joint does not occur as the angle of entrance to the joint is oblique. Also, the removal of joint fluid will not cause a "dry socket." All the joint needs for proper lubrication is a monolayer of fluid and this residual remains after aspiration.

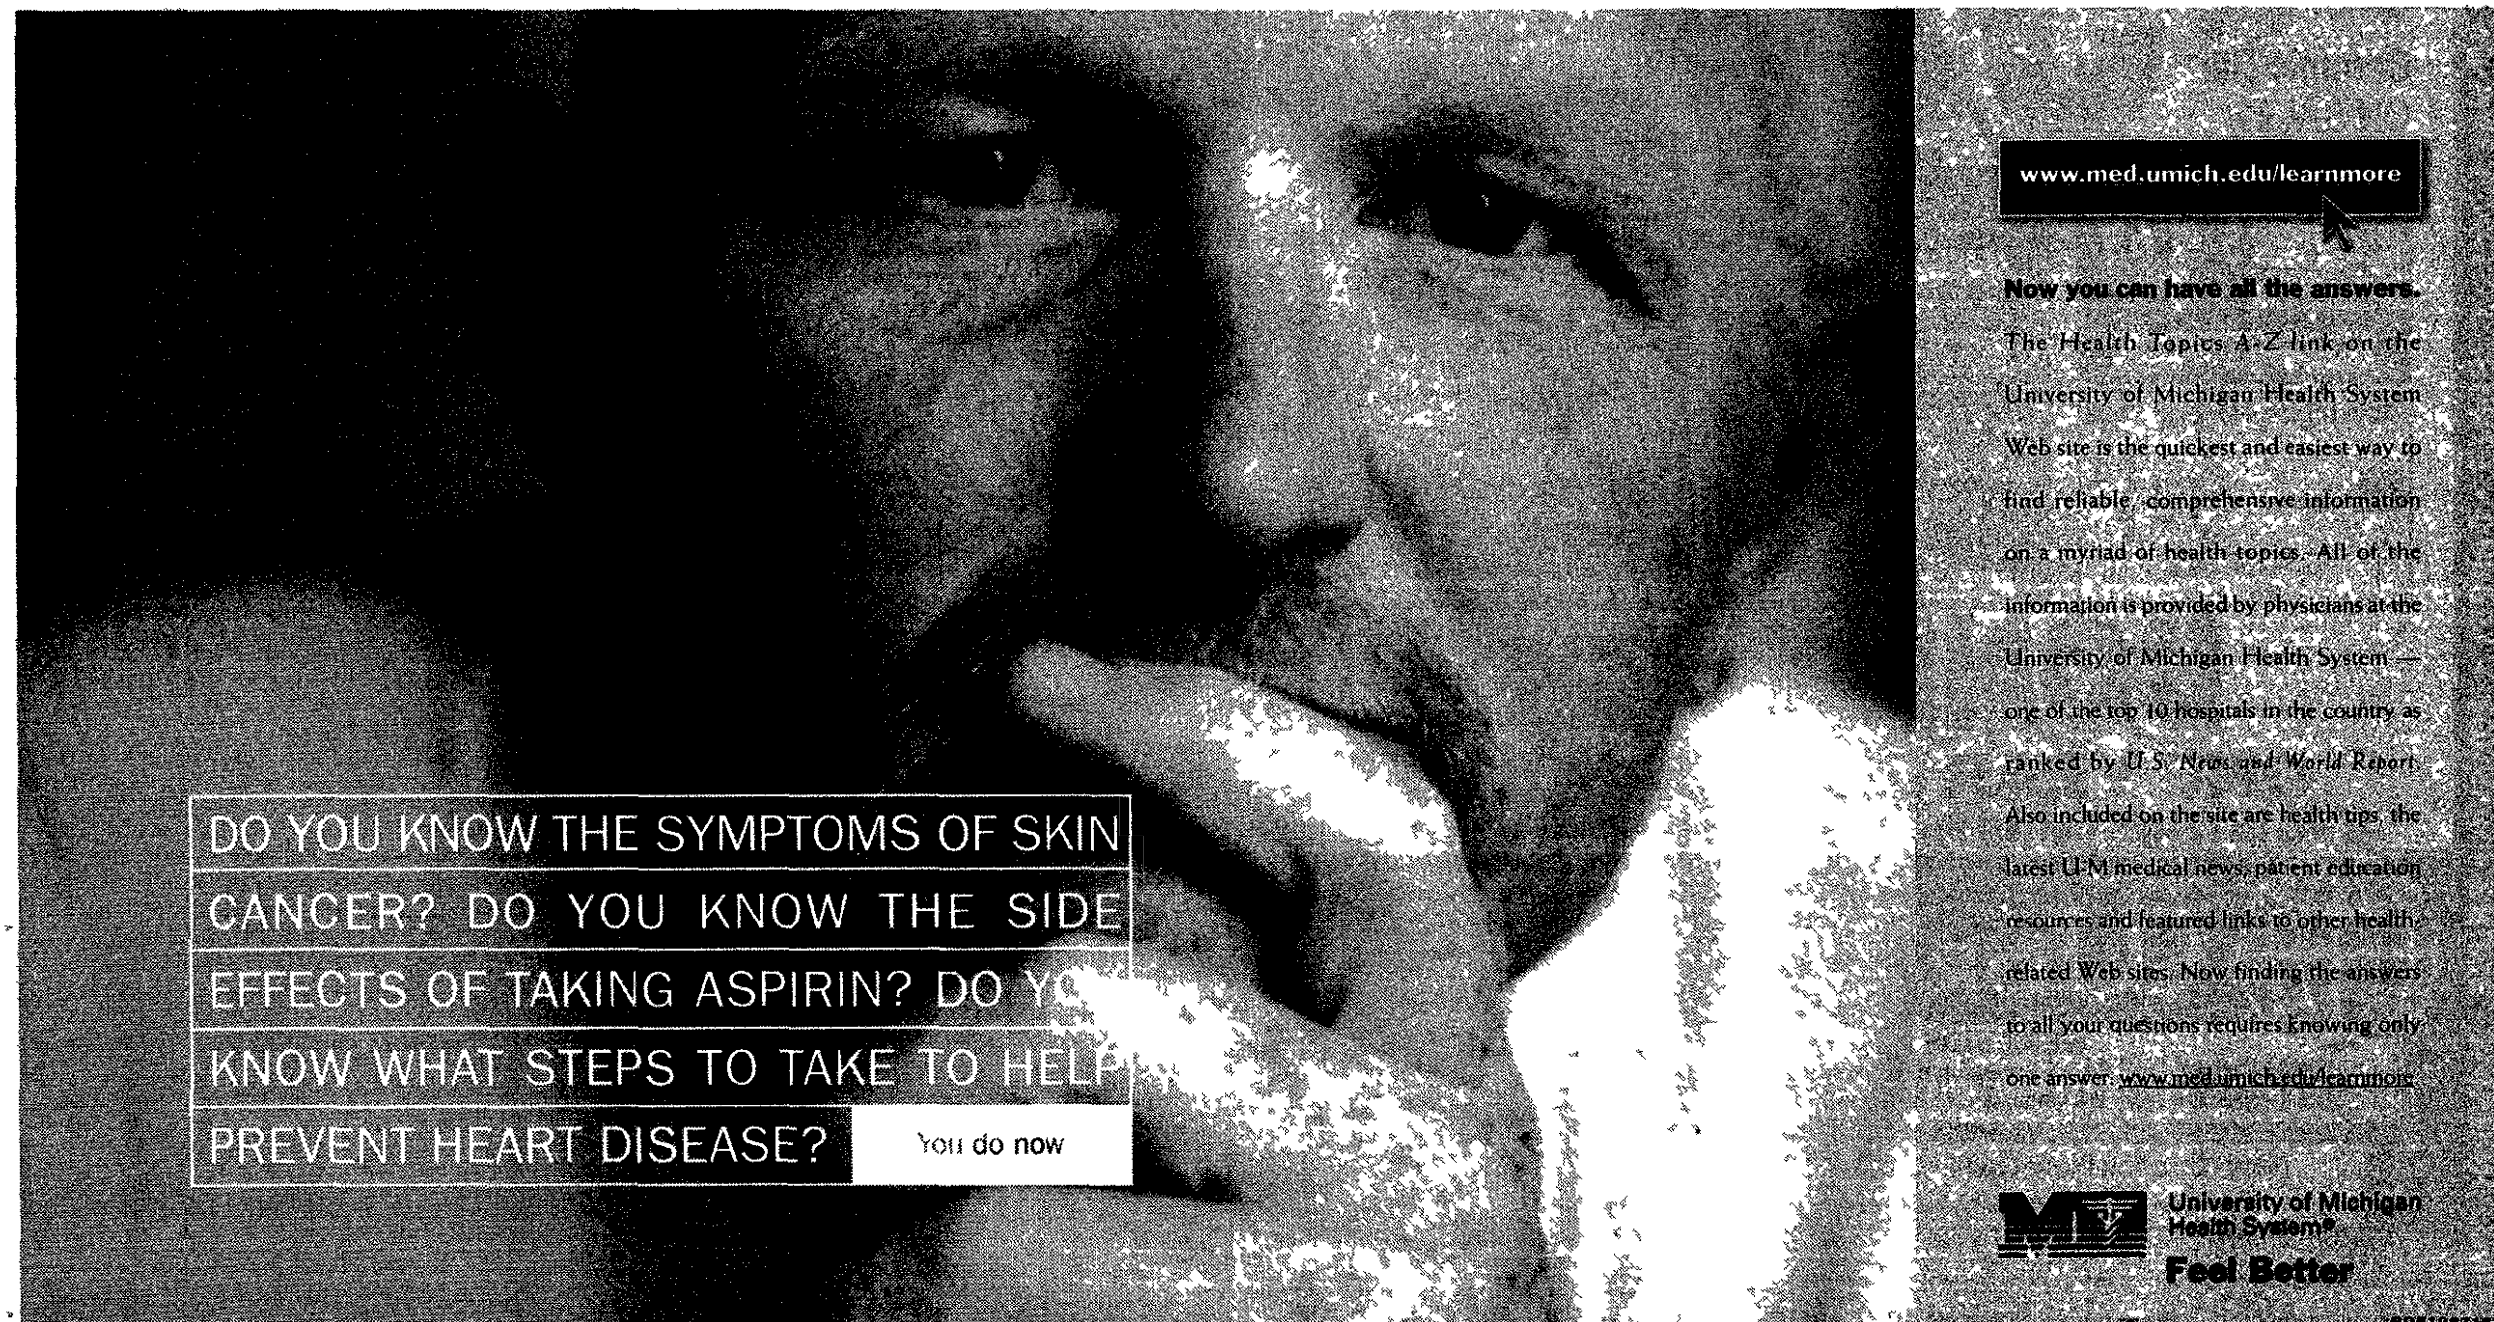

Nor does the steroid itself cause damage. The purpose of the medication is to stop inflammation. Injected steroids accomplish this goal by preventing the lining cells of the joint from secreting inflammatory chemicals. The type of steroid used in a joint differs from the steroids you take by mouth. Injected steroids do not cause hypertension, glaucoma, or high cholesterol.

Nor can the medication act to "soften the joint." Steroids taken by mouth can soften bone, but steroids injected into the knee or shoulder do not have the chemical properties to leach calcium from either bone or cartilage.

The potential problem with a joint injection is introducing infection. Preventing this mishap is a matter of proper and sterile technique by the doctor and requires the same careful preparation that a physician uses for catheterization or undertaking an operation.

Steroid injections have a place in treating painful joints; you should not reject this therapy for reasons that do not hold up to medical scrutiny.

Eliminate unsightly mildew with these tips

(NAPSA) - In certain weather conditions, your home could be a breeding ground for mildew - an unsightly airborne fungus that thrives in damp areas.

Mold and mildew are various forms of fungus that can settle on any surface and, under the right conditions, grow or colonize on that surface. Mildew can cause discoloration and, if left untreated, may even deteriorate certain building materials.

Mildew is part of the environment in which we live. Mildew spores, which are similar to seeds, are microscopic and therefore difficult to detect until the spores colonize.

The spores are transported easily by air currents, insects, animals and water. They will thrive when they have food, moisture, air (oxygen), and temperatures between 40 and 90 degrees Fahrenheit. It is impossible to totally control these four elements in an outdoor environment.

If you have a wood deck or wood siding on your home, you should know that it can be costly to repair wood surfaces affected by mildew that are left untreated for extended periods. Therefore, it's important to take early measures to remove fungal growth. By properly cleaning, treating and coating your wood surfaces, you will protect your real estate investment with periodic maintenance.

Spotting mildew

In early stages, mildew is often transparent. When it is visible, you will see a black, brown or sometimes whitish fungal growth. Outside the home, mildew forms most often on areas that tend to be damp, and receive little or no direct sunlight (walls with a northerly exposure and the underside of eaves are particularly vulnerable). In addition, horizontal surfaces such as decks may become catch-alls for airborne mildew spores. Decks are also susceptible to collect water and the pollen, dirt, tree sap, mulch, fertilizer etc that mildew uses as food sources.

To test for mildew, apply a few drops of fresh household bleach to the discolored area, if the area lightens, the discoloration is probably mildew. If it does not lighten, the discoloration is likely dirt or another contaminant, or the mildew is under the coating.

Mildew removal

■ Clean surface Prior to coating, clean the wood with a solution of one part household bleach to three parts water and a small amount of non-ammoniated, low-sudsing detergent (not more than 1/3 cup detergent in a gallon of solution).

■ Scrub thoroughly with a brush or power washer for large areas.

■ Condition and protect surface Make sure to rinse all surfaces thoroughly with clean water to ensure all chemicals, dirt and mildew are washed away. Allow the surfaces to dry thoroughly.

■ If mildew was present on the original surface or in previous coats, and a new finish coat is applied, the mildew will grow through the coating. At this point all coatings must be removed down to the original substrate and then cleaned as described above before a new coat is applied. To do this, use an appropriate finish remover to cut through the existing coatings.

■ Always follow bleaching solutions and finish removers with a wood cleaner designed to brighten, condition and enhance the wood's appearance.

To help protect your wood against further weathering and fungal problems, select only top quality paints, stains and finishes that contain a mildewicide and ultraviolet protection.

Mildew prevention

The best way to minimize mildew long-term is to keep your deck/siding clean. To help reduce your mildew problem, follow these tips:

■ Direct water away from structures by maintaining roofs, rain gutters and grading, which will control dampness.

■ Improve air circulation by cutting back trees and shrubs to several feet away from structures.

■ Eliminate water contact with wood structures and minimize waste by repairing and adjusting sprinklers to control the amount and direction of water flow.

■ Control excess moisture year-round by installing moisture vapor barriers under decks and other structures, and in walls where required. For interiors, install attic ventilation, bathroom and kitchen exhaust fans.

When using chemical products or machinery like power washers, always follow manufacturers' directions, use appropriate eye, skin and apparel protection, and protect pets and plants from all solutions.

By cleaning and recoating as necessary, you will avoid costly repairs, protecting your real estate investment for years to come.

For more information about deck and siding cleaners, paints, stains and finishes, visit a local home center such as The Home Depot.

Winter tips to protect, improve your home

(NAPSA) - It's "snow" secret that preparing your home for winter can help protect against the damage that can be caused by ice, wind and snowstorms.

Here are a few cold weather tips from HomeAdvisor.com, a Web site that offers expert advice, and services about the home, including improving, finding, selling, financing and moving into homes. By investing a few hours now, you can save yourself a lot of trouble and cash later.

■ Install extra insulation Install plastic sheets on windows requiring extra protection from the wind (kits are widely available at hardware stores or home centers).

■ Prepare for snow In snowy areas of the country, make sure your shovel or snowblower is in good condition. If necessary, stock up on a rock salt-sand mixture to de-ice the driveway.

■ Patch and paint Inspect interior walls and ceilings for holes or cracks. Patch and paint as necessary. Watch for bubbling or cracking, which could indicate water damage.

■ Check smoke and carbon monoxide detectors Test each unit, and replace batteries if needed.

■ Repair indoor woodwork Fill any holes or damaged areas with wood putty, then sand and refinish the surface.

■ Unplug the refrigerator and clean it thoroughly with soap and water. Vacuum the condenser coil in the back or bottom of the refrigerator for better energy efficiency. If the drain pan is removable, clean it in soapy water. Clean the inside of the dishwasher, the stove exhaust fan, the inside of the oven, and the microwave.

■ Inspect bathroom caulking Remove and replace crumbling caulk around the bathtub or shower stall.

■ Protect pipes from freezing Insulate any water pipes that are exposed to extreme cold (check pipes on the north side of the house particularly). Cover outdoor water faucets.

■ Plan home improvements Plan ahead for projects such as painting the exterior of the house, building a patio, or making landscape changes. Check with your local building department to see if your projects require permits. In late winter, call contractors to submit bids.

■ Clean and organize the basement Sweep the floor and clear out cobwebs. Check stored items for moisture damage. Build or purchase storage shelves. Tidy up work areas. Start flower and vegetable seeds in seed trays under lights.

Chestnut Grove is serviced by the Linden well water system, sewers and sidewalks. It's within the Linden school boundaries.

The property tax rate is $34.32 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price for new construction. That means the owners of a $155,000 home there would pay about $2,650 the first year.

Quarterly association dues are $85.

Rob Hamada and Kathleen Kane ordered a walk out ranch at Chestnut Grove.

"My wife likes the open kitchen. The great room is huge. The master with bay window is awesome," Hamada said.

"Affordability, low cost out of pocket initially attracted us," he added. "We're repeat buyers. We're happy with the service we've gotten. It's been a nice experience."

The sales office/models at Chestnut Grove of Linden, (810) 735-7601, are open 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, closed Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

AP WEEKLY FEATURES

When do pegboard and food storage bags go hand-in-hand? In the workshop, they work particularly well together.

Wall-mounted pegboard is good for storing tools. It's also ideal for organizing other things, such as goggles, dust masks and respirators and small hand-held electronic gadgets like stud finders, multimeters, voltage testers and calculators.

Fresh batteries and various small tools and parts that one needs or uses often are other things to store in this fashion. To keep these items dirt-, dust- and moisture-free, seal them in plastic food-storage bags, and put a metal spring-binder clip (from the stationery store) on the top edge of the bags.

Hang them from a pegboard hook. They'll be easy to reach, and you'll be able to see what's inside. Because they're sealed airtight, whatever you store will be clean and dust-free.

Let's Talk About Real Estate

"THE FOUR VITAL STEPS"

Your Realtor can help you jump the four hurdles that every homeowner must overcome on the way to a successful sale Because Realtors deal with these issues every day, their experience and advice can be invaluable Here are the four vital steps

Pricing
 Pricing can be a very precarious undertaking if not approached properly The correct price must be competitive with similar properties also for sale in order to attract showings by serious buyers It also should allow for some negotiation because most buyers want to haggle a little Finally, it must be high enough that it will give you the highest possible profit

Marketing
 There is more to selling a house than putting a sign in the yard Today's Realtors have a large presence in their local newspaper This constant exposure in the media allows listings to be seen by potential buyers Multiple listing membership and participation in national referral firms provide the Realtor with additional ways to market property

Negotiating
 As the saying goes, "You don't get what you deserve, you get what you negotiate" This is especially true when negotiating a big ticket item like real estate Here again, it pays to have the experience of a Realtor who has developed the necessary instincts to guide the seller properly

Closing
 It's not over 'til it's over Many details remain after the sale agreement has been signed by buyer and seller Realtors know what things must be done and the proper vendors to be utilized They also can help solve the problems involved in buyer's remorse so that the closing can take place as scheduled
