McNamara Terminal will open with all the bells and whistles

BY CRAIG SULLIVAN
SPECIAL WRITER

What's so special about the new Edward H. McNamara Midfield Terminal at the Wayne County Detroit Metropolitan Airport?

Well in a nutshell says County Executive Ed McNamara it comes down to four new features that the $1.2 billion project has brought about at the airport. That is -- a new south access road (the John Dingell Drive) that links up with Eureka Road off of I 275, a 10-story garage with 11,500 spaces, an additional runway, bringing the total to four, and, of course, the new 97 gate terminal.

"Any one of those features by itself is a gargantuan but put them all together in one airport and it's just incredible," said McNamara for whom the new terminal is named. Wayne County officials first began making plans in 1986 to update the metro airport. Since then the existing facility has seen passenger volumes more than double --

Mock accident teaches kids lessons of real life

BY TONY BRUSCATO

Students heard the arguments at Plymouth-Canton Schools Starkweather Educational Center on Monday.

Former coordinator Carol Saunders was involved in a shouting match with several other people at the center. As she was leaving, Saunders was the victim of a hit-and-run accident in the parking lot, and found by police motionless on the ground. Emergency medical technicians arrived and transported Saunders to the hospital, where she died en route.

The scenario is made believe. However, students at Starkweather did see police at the mock accident scene and Saunders taken away by ambulance techs. It's all part of a semester-long project to teach students about educational skills and life-long careers. "We have high school completion, English is a Second Language (ESL) and GED programs at Starkweather, and we're working to create school unity on a project that will complement our curriculum," said Debora Carr, interim assistant adult education coordinator. "Each class will help solve the crime and put on a trial at the end."

No matter what class they are in, students will have a chance to help solve the puzzle. Math students help by taking measurements at the crime scene and putting together scale drawings. The health class will study how EMS treated the victim, and look at how alcohol may have played a part in the accident. And, the psychology class will work with a professional psychologist to learn how to question witnesses, as well as how to deal with death.

"It gives the kids a chance to work with community members -- lawyers, judges, police and ambulance crews, a psychologist and even a funeral director," said Carr. "All types of people that will help them examine every facet of a hit-and-run accident, from solving it to the family that has to mourn the death."

In the parking lot, after the mock hit-and-run, Plymouth police officers Tony Angelosanto and Jamie Grabowski collected evidence with students at the crime scene.

"The first thing we have to do is find a white, four-door vehicle with a partial license plate number 297," said Angelosanto to the students. Seconds later, a student found the vehicle parked across the lot.

"We show them the different things you have to do to solve a crime, from evidence collecting, to measuring the crime scene, to processing a warrant, and the prosecution process," said Angelosanto. "We impress upon the students how writing and communication skills are important in solving a crime."

Tatum Liebsch, 17, of Plymouth, helped police collect evidence from the hit-and-run vehicle.

"I collected some of the blood off the car with a Q-tip, and collected hair samples with tweezers. I put them in a bag, wrote the date and case number on it, and then signed my initials," she said. "You have to look very carefully to find the evidence."

"This is fun. It's better than sitting in class," said Liebsch.

"We want the students to work as teams, and learn there are a lot of different people in our community they can go to for information," said Irene Ras, interim adult education coordinator. "We want them to

Airport labels auditor report 'unfair'

BY MIKE MALOTT
HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE
mmalott@homecomm.net

State senators will seek a second opinion on Metro Airport's handling of bond money after a review by the Michigan Auditor General drew sharp criticism from the airport's director

A yearlong review by the Office of the Auditor General, covering 13 revenue bonds and four special facility revenue bond issues, mainly questioned loans made between bond funds to solve cash flow problems

Auditors also questioned whether documentation of the loans was sufficient. The review also claimed expenditures were made from bond money for items not related to the project and noted some projects exceeded estimates at the time of the bond issue.

Asked if such inter-bond loans were common practice, state auditor Beau Hill said he had never seen it done before.

Airport director Lester Robinson, on the other hand, noted that airport attorneys concluded "inter-fund borrowing is a commonly used technique in the management of cash flow."

He criticized news reports about the review.

"To say the auditors concluded the airport mishandled funds is an outright lie. But I can understand why the newspaper concluded that there is something wrong here because of the number of issues raised in here," he said.

Robinson called the auditor's review "a travesty," and said it was "not fair and not objective, and we object to it."

He further argued that the auditor's review was politically motivated.

"The fact we have been reading so many headlines about Jennifer Granholm speaks volumes about why we are here today," he said. Granholm, now state Attorney General and gubernatorial candidate, served as corporation counsel for Wayne County when some of the bonds were issued.

Stating that senators had had little time to review the state report or the airport's response, and admitting that they have little background with large-scale revenue bonds, Sen Glenn Steil (R-Grand Rapids) promised at the conclusion of a hearing on the report Wednesday, Feb. 6, to bring in revenue bond experts to look over the auditor's work.

But Steil indicated he was not satisfied with all of the airport officials' responses.

"There are still some things in here that seem questionable to me," he said. He declined to elaborate.

The review, which is not considered an audit, was requested by the senate's airport review committee a year ago. Steil serves as chair of that committee. Another member, Sen Loren Bennett (R-Canton), indicated he was pleased with Robinson's efforts. He noted that different managers were in charge at the airport when they bonds were issued. He said Robinson was "sincerely attempting to do better at the airport."

Auditors noted that bond issues were described differently in the airport's capital improvement fund than in the Wayne County budget for the 1998-99 year. Auditors said some expenditures were made from bond funds for items not related to the projects for which the bonds were issued, such as the purchase of vehicles for security. And the auditor said documentation of inter-bond fund loans was "not what you would have expected it to be." Rather than detailed statements of amounts loaned and repayments made, the airport was only able to provide summary sheets. In a number of cases, the auditors indicated they did not have adequate information.

Robinson explained that documentation dating back to 1986 could be difficult to find, with the turn over in management.

"If the auditor couldn't reach a conclusion, he should not have said anything at all," Robinson countered.

He said all expenditures were for items allowed for in the bond issue. The timing of the report is critical, Robinson said. With the completion of the new midfield terminal, the airport is getting ready to begin renovations of its two older terminals, and another bond issue will be needed. He worried the audit could have a negative impact on the airport's ability to sell $900 million in bonds needed.

HOW TO RESOLVE HEEL PAIN

It's usually a symptom of Plantar Fasciitis. That first step out of bed in the morning really catches your attention. It feels just like someone poked you in the heel with a knife. But after walking for a few minutes the pain slowly disappears. Heel pain is very irritating but rarely serious. Poor biomechanics, a flat foot, high-arched foot or abnormalities in your gait stresses your plantar fascia. Custom orthotic devices, if you have a foot deformity, a custom shoe insert from a podiatrist can compensate for the deformity and distribute pressure to your foot more evenly. Nonsurgical Care consists of Medications, Ultrasound, Shoe Changes & Orthotics. See your podiatrist if symptoms or other foot problems arise.

causing delayed flights, crowded buildings and congested access roads. But that's all a thing of the past, say Wayne County and Northwest Airlines officials who are promoting the new additions and improvements at the airport as putting it on the map with world class metro airports such as Chicago and Atlanta.

Northwest Airlines, which is the primary tenant for the new terminal, partnered up with Wayne County back in 1996 for the development of the facility, which is scheduled to open for operation on Sunday, Feb. 24. The new facility can be reached by taking I-275 south to Eureka Road and Eureka east to the airport drive. The airport is also accessible from I-94 by taking the airport/Merriman exit.

As its name suggests, the McNamara midfield terminal is sandwiched between two operating airfields. The basic layout of the facility forms an uppercase T-shape with the terminal linking up at the center of concourse A, which stretches southwest to northeast in a straight line for approximately one-mile. It is the primary concourse - one of three - and contains 64 of the total 97 gates for the new facility. The other two concourses run parallel to the first and are connected to it by an underground tunnel.

Keep it simple

A national survey conducted by Northwest and Wayne County late last year corroborated what the project developers for the new terminal already suspected. That, "What people want most from an airport is a simple and straightforward layout that is hassle free and not confusing. That's why we came up with the linear layout," explained Kathleen J. Nelson, Northwest's director of finance for the Midfield Terminal Project.

Besides a simple format, convenience was of equal importance. And according to the survey what passengers said they were looking for were the basics - such as bathrooms, display boards, seats - and a lot of them.

To show off the new complex, Northwest invited media personnel from Michigan and adjoining states for a preview tour late last month. Although construction workers were still onsite at that time, the complex was nearly complete and already outfitted with a generous number of many of the desired amenities. Some 9,000 seats at gate waiting areas, 50 display boards along with 10 large-screen televisions spanning eight by fourteen feet, and, public restrooms with 475 stalls, a number which - Nelson was quick to point out - "is double what the code book said is needed for a facility of this size."

Some other conveniences include 106 ticket counter positions, a mile-and-a-half of moving walkways, an elevated two-car tram that runs inside the length of the primary concourse, and a luggage handling system with 11 domestic and seven international carousels.

In comparison, the James M. Davey terminal's current luggage handling system may seem slight. "I always describe the Davey's luggage clam as looking like it is in someone's basement. There are only five carousels and usually only three of them are working," Nelson remarked, during the tour of the two million square foot mid-field terminal.

Fine touches

Although passengers will appreciate the conveniences of the new facility, it's the many fine touches that visitors will remember, Nelson said. A few of the more outstanding are the handmade tiles of a creamy iridescent color covering the bathroom entrances, a 38-foot black granite water fountain at the center of the main concourse, and a 700-foot-long series of backlit, curved glass panels illuminating the connecting tunnel between the main and commuter concourses with an otherworldly blue glow. Of the facility's total space, approximately 125,000 square feet are dedicated to the concessions program, which will include 80 restaurants and retail shops, although not all of them will be open during the first days of operation.

Wayne County, which retained control of the concessions program, originally intended to have 85 units, however, one of the larger concessionaires unexpectedly withdrew their proposal leaving the terminal with several vacancies. Fear of the economic backlash caused by the 9-11 attack was one of the reasons cited, said Len Singer, a spokesperson for Wayne County Detroit Metro Airport.

"It was an amicable parting," Singer said, "and though their leaving did put us in a position where some of those spots (for concessions) won't be filled," it also gave the county an opportunity to try and attract more locally-owned businesses and businesses with a regional flavor. For instance, one of the things we thought was missing from the concessions program - and we were able to bring in - were a couple of good old fashioned, Michigan, Coney Island restaurants."

Wayne County officials predict the overall economic impact of the new and improved airport on southeast Michigan - as well as the rest of the state - to be enormous. "It's going to be one of the greatest economic generators for Michigan ever. In 10 years, you won't believe what you see going on here," McNamara said.

Economic generator

International businesses dealing in Asian markets, for example, might find southeastern Michigan an attractive area to set-up their headquarters, because the airport is the only one in the U.S. that offers direct flights to China, McNamara said.

In the long run, the airport's success as an economic generator rests on one key feature - its fourth runway, which puts it ahead of most other major airports, McNamara said.

Local flavor

Wayne County officials hope to raise an additional $900 million bond issue in order to totally revamp the older terminals. Construction on those terminals could begin as early as next year.

Terminal called 1st step toward a major 'aerotropolis'

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER
hgallagher@oe.homecomm.net

The opening of Northwest Airlines Edward H. McNamara Terminal is the first phase of what some believe will be a new urban center for Southeast Michigan.

In December Wayne County contracted with John Kasarda, professor of management and director of the Kenan Institute of Private Enterprise at the University of North Carolina, to help define and market development ideas and business strategies around the airports and help target potential developers for the proposed Pinnacle Aeropark development south of Metro Airport. Kasarda is being paid $63,000 for a 4 1/2 month contract.

The expert on airport development nationally and internationally is an advocate for the creation of "aerotropolises." Kasarda argues that all major urban centers have developed around transportation centers: seaports, river towns and rail terminals.

Kasarda sees a major opportunity for this kind of development linking Wayne County's two county-owned airports, Metro and Willow Run, which are separated by only 12 miles along I-94.

Sean Brosnan, director of the Willow Run, said the opening of the new terminal is the first step in what he calls County Executive Ed McNamara's vision for Southeast Michigan development.

"The development of the new McNamara Terminal will be great for aviation in Michigan," said Brosnan. "This is spectacular for this area. Opening up the south end of airport fits in with the private development of property south of the airport. It's like opening a whole new airport. And the more companies in, the more freight which is good for us."

In Kasarda's view presented at a talk to community and business leaders in December, the aerotro-poli will be the site for software companies, food warehousing, high-tech manufacturing, high-end hotels and restaurants and shopping malls.

The proposed Pinnacle Aeropark, an 1,800-acre mixed use project is Romulus and Huron Township, is expected to attract industrial development, hotels and an 18-hole golf course.

"It is not location that is so critical. We used to talk in commercial real estate of the three L's - location, location, location," Kasarda said in December. "The three L's have been replaced by the three A's, accessibility, accessibility, accessibility, where time cost access to the airport is really the driving factor."

Kasarda told his audience that the current recession, including the decline in air traffic, is only a cyclical event and that things will turn around in a short time. For modern business speed is the determining factor of develop-

For years, Dee Schulte's gift and passion for art brought joy to many

Last weekend, the cancer she's been fighting snuffed out Schulte's life, though not her legacy

Dee Schulte circa 1982

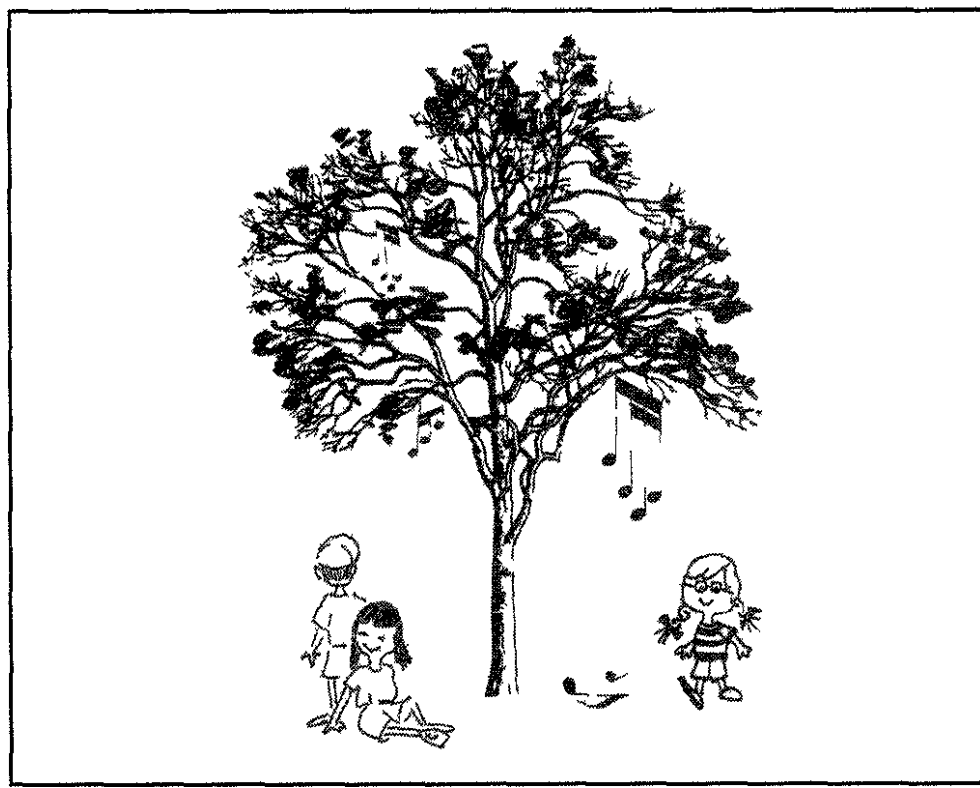

Damaris "Dee" Schulte, 71, died in her home Saturday, Feb 9, leaving behind a husband, two sons, three grandsons and an art community that will miss her greatly

"She was always ready and willing to help, which was a joy for those who worked with her," said Joanne Winkleman Hulce, the founder of the Plymouth Community Arts Council. "Dee Schulte was a very important member in the life of the PCAC from the 1970s on. Her courage and cheerful attitude set a fine example for all who knew her."

Schulte was born July 19, 1930 in Wellsville, N.Y. to Paul and Elva Drake. She supervised K-9 art programs for five rural schools around Syracuse, N.Y. She had a bachelor's degree in art education from Wilham and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va., and a master's from Alfred University in Alfred, N.Y.

An avid artist, she taught many different art classes for the PCAC, and had served as its "artist in residence." She was a PCAC board member for seven years, and was one of the council's earliest members (1972).

"Her contributions in many ways helped to build the diverse and quality programming offered by the arts council," Hulce said. "Her presence was gravely missed when her illness curtailed her activities."

Schulte lived in Plymouth for 40 years. She was a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. She wrote the history of the PCAC, which is available in local libraries and the museum. The "Damaris Student Fine Art Award" is named for Schulte, who judged many art competitions, including two years spent on the panel of judges for the professional ice-carving competition at the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular.

In addition to designing the logo for the Music in the Park concert series, Schulte also hand-made every Christmas card she sent for the last 50 years.

"We offer our condolences to her family," said Jennifer Tobin, executive director of the PCAC. "We will miss her very much."

The PCAC hosts a "Celebration of Life" tea in memory of Schulte at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 10. The PCAC is located at 774 N. Sheldon (at Junction). For more information, call Vermeulen Funeral Home, (734) 459-2250.

Schulte is survived by her husband, Richard, of Plymouth, sons Phillip (Holly) Schulte of Burnt Hills, N.Y., and Michael Schulte of Plymouth, and grandsons Peter, Matthew and Bryan Schulte.

Services were held in New York, with burial in Woodlawn Cemetery in Wellsville, N.Y. Memorial contributions can be made to the St. Joseph Cancer Center, 5301 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor, MI 48106.

Checkpoints to increase speed of security

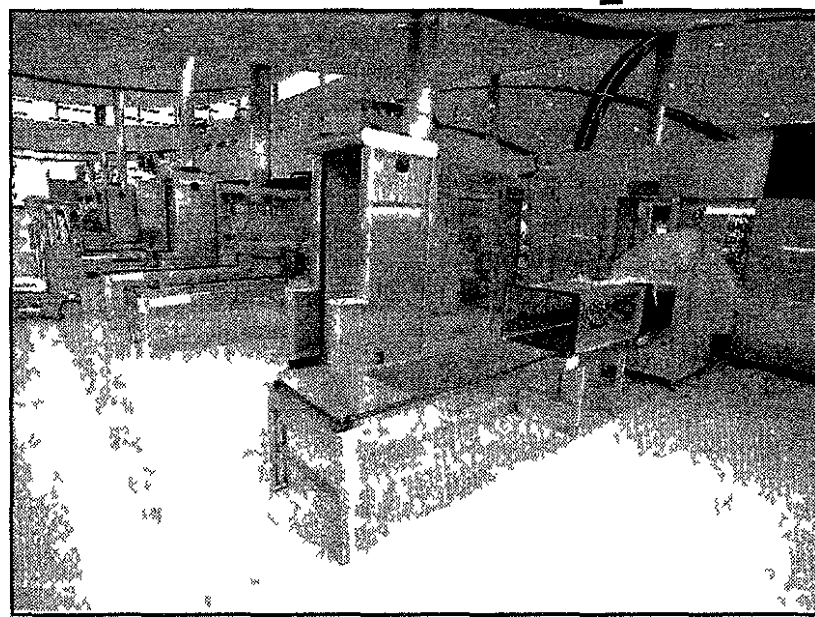

BY MIKE MALOTT
HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE
mmalott@homecomm.net

The new midfield terminal at Detroit Metropolitan Airport was originally designed to move passengers quickly from their cars to the gates and their planes.

Sept. 11 changed all that. Now, with security at heightened levels, passengers will still need time to get to their flights when airport operations are moved to the new terminal later this month. Exactly how much isn't clear, since it typically takes fliers one hour to an hour and 15 minutes to get through the security checkpoints. Of course, it all depends on volume — some waits have been as long as two hours — so Metro Airport spokesman Len Singer still recommends fliers call their airlines to ask how early they should arrive before their flight times.

Nonetheless, the airport is taking steps to speed that process, he said. The new terminal will have 21 security checkpoints in three locations to clear passengers more quickly.

That compares, Singer said, to the 10 checkpoints now handling Metro's entire passenger load at the old terminals, and to the 15 checkpoints the new terminal was originally designed with. "The best advice I can give them is to limit their carry-on luggage to one piece," Singer said. "If they carry more than one piece, it makes them more subject to individual searches."

'Hand-wanding'

Fliers and their carry-ons will face a range of security measures — from x-ray machines and "hand wanding" to bomb sniffing dogs and individual searches of luggage at random. The inconsistency of security measures, a source of complaints from some passengers because they don't know what to expect, is actually a part of the system, Singer explained. Changes in procedures and the use of different methods in different places is intended to keep potential terrorists from being able to predict the security they are likely to face at an airport, Singer said.

For check luggage, the security procedure in place now is the "positive bag match," a system of making sure there is a passenger on board for each piece of luggage in the hold. If a flier doesn't make it on to the plane after checking luggage, that baggage will be removed before takeoff.

That system hasn't caused the problems some feared it would, Singer said. It has caused no significant delays.

Passengers aren't likely to see many changes, at least initially, as the federal government begins its process of taking over the security systems at airports nationwide, FAA spokesman Tony Molinaro said. As the change over begins this week, the only change to start will be a switch in who holds the contract for the security services.

And security concerns about the parking structure at the new terminal have been resolved, Singer said. No parking spaces will be lost due to security.

"I have not heard a lot of grumbling from people about the security measures," Singer said. "They understand the need for this. Right after Christmas when we had some very long lines there were some complaints, but I don't think it was so much that they were disgruntled that they had to go through it, it was more a concern that they were going to miss their plane."

Parking garage offers quick exits

Ground transportation will be as convenient as air travel at the Edward H. McNamara Terminal. Thanks to a comprehensive ground transportation center and a pedestrian bridge connecting both to the new terminal.

The parking garage includes four parking options — valet, hourly, daily and economy — and FastPay devices that let customers pay before they exit the garage, and expedite their departure.

Customers who park and depart from the current terminals before Feb. 24 then return to the new terminal will be able to shuttle to the old terminals. Arriving passengers awaiting taxis, car services and shuttles can also meet these vehicles on Level 4. Information on transportation, lodging and attractions is offered from touch-screen kiosks on Level 4.

The parking facility is connected to the terminal by an enclosed, heated pedestrian bridge. Passengers taking the bridge will enter the terminal on the gate level and can take an escalator up one level to ticketing or down one level to domestic baggage claim.

Departing passengers can check their luggage at one of SkyCap stations or an E-Ticket center located on the bridge level of the garage. Upon their return, they can use the FastPay machines to expedite their departure from the facility.

FASTPAY FACTS

- Customers parking in the garage must take their parking ticket with them when they exit their vehicle.
- When they return from the terminal they insert their ticket into one of the FastPay machines (cashiers are also available) and pay the amount owed with either cash or a credit card. Their ticket is then returned to them and a receipt can be obtained if desired.
- As they exit the parking facility these customers use special prepaid exit lanes, insert their ticket into the automated exit gate and proceed.

Hungry? Restaurants won't take huge bite out of the wallet

BY RENEE SKOGLUND

Unless you're fasting, there's no need to go hungry in between flights at the new Edward H. McNamara Terminal.

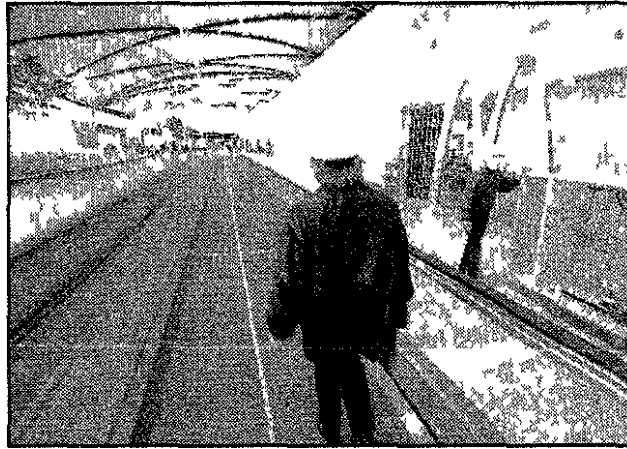

Looking for a quick bite on the run? There's McDonald's, Burger King, Little Caesars, A & W, Taco Bell and Rio Wraps. Cup of coffee? Stop at the Java Coast Cafe or Starbucks. Sushi? Those cute little sticky rice wraps are never better than at Musashi.

Have to work while you eat? Well, then just sit down and plug into the On-Line Cafe, where every counter and table offers a hook up to the Internet.

And if you have enough time to relax and spread a napkin across your lap, try the Mediterranean Grill, Diego's Mexican Village or the Budweiser Brewhouse, real sit-down-and-be-served restaurants.

"The Mediterranean Grill will be reflective of the strong Middle Eastern community in the Detroit area. We feel real fortunate to have that restaurant, with the reputation of The Sheik," said airport spokesman Len Singer. The Sheik Inc. owns the Mediterranean Grill.

A total of 65 restaurants and shops will be ready to serve the traveling public come opening day Feb. 24. By fall, airport officials expect that number to rise to more than 80. Available transportation in the mile-long terminal is the key factor that makes the most of your time between flights, said Singer.

Moving along: If you don't want to take the tram, there are moving walkways to help out. Also, many restaurants like McDonald's line the concourse.

"At the end of each walkway we wanted someplace to eat, shop, get flight information and use the restrooms. You're never more than a moving walkway from another set of options.

The overhead tram takes a mere 2 1/2 minutes to travel from one end of the terminal to the other, making three stops along the way.

We're the only airport in the United States that has an overhead tram that's actually inside the terminal," said Singer. "The ease of movement and the options the passengers have opens up the entire panorama of restaurants and shops. By riding the tram, passengers can see what's below."

Singer said the terminal had no problems filling restaurant spots. Officials started soliciting three years ago and received hundreds of inquiries.

"We wanted national as well as local restaurants. We wanted people who travel a lot to recognize the restaurants and we also wanted a Detroit flavor."

Singer said all the glass in the terminal will provide passengers with some great views from the restaurants and food courts. "It will be visually exciting."

He also promises that eating at the new terminal will be easy on the wallet. "The restaurants are very competitively priced with what you might see in shopping malls. The customers will definitely see value prices."

Cherries are a healthy 'fast food'

When we think of "fast food," our mind pictures grabbing a burger and fries at a drive-through window. Think of fruits, vegetables and their juices as the original fast food. Most are ready to eat after a simple washing. Juices are ready-to-drink or only need water added to concentrate. Dried fruits are ready to eat as purchased. Since February is National Cherry Month, let's look at how the flavor burst of tart cherries can fit into your healthy food choices!

Where can I find them?

Michigan leads the nation by growing the most tart cherries. Tart cherries are harvested in July and are seldom sold fresh. They are frozen, canned, dried or made into juice for year-round use. Dried tart cherries are available on the shelves of your favorite specialty market. Frozen tart cherries are sold in easy-to-store bags. Cherry juice is available as 100 percent juice, blends and concentrate. Tart (Montmorency) cherry juice is sought for its numerous health benefits, which surpass sweet cherries.

What can I do with them?

Dried or frozen tart cherries are great in baked goods, including muffins, pancakes, cookies, and quick breads. You'll find you can perk up grain dishes by adding tart cherries. For example, rice pilaf, brown rice, couscous, orzo pasta and barley are all made more exciting and colorful with dried or frozen tart cherries. Experiment by adding chopped nuts sauteed celery and onion or finely minced citrus peel to these grain dishes.

Don't forget the healthy bowl of oatmeal you should be eating every morning. If it's becoming monotonous (or if you aren't eating oatmeal at all), make it flavorful by spooning in dried tart cherries, walnuts or slivered almonds, cinnamon and a light sprinkle of brown sugar. Starting your day with an iced glass of tart cherry juice is a refreshing change of pace too.

Nutritionally speaking...

Research is continuing to identify the numerous health benefits of eating tart cherries. Tart cherries are rich in antioxidants, which help reduce incidence of heart disease and cancer. Plus, they contain natural pigments called anthocyanins, with the potential to relieve pain caused by arthritis, gout and even headaches. Research has identified melatonin in tart cherries, which may positively affect natural sleep patterns. The key factor in research points to daily consumption of tart cherries or juice. For more information on these exciting research breakthroughs, you can visit the Cherry Marketing Institute Web site at www.cherrymkt.org. Meanwhile, start enjoying Michigan tart cherries by trying one of the recipes that follow.

Go nutty with versatile walnuts

BY ELEANOR HEALD
SPECIAL WRITER

Walnuts are one of the oldest tree foods known to man. Actually, it's believed they've been on earth for millions of years. Globally, California walnuts are considered top quality. Why then are they called English walnuts? England has never grown walnuts commercially. The nickname English walnuts came about because English trading ships carried the walnuts for trade to ports around the world during the 18th and 19th centuries. Historians prefer the name Persian walnuts since earliest history indicates their origin is ancient Persia.

It seems that our hunter-gatherer ancestors feasted on walnuts, oblivious to the fact that they were displaying sophisticated healthy food savvy.

Delicious and nutritious: Walnuts are delicious and full of nutrition.

However, it took centuries for the nutritional value of walnuts to be discovered. In the Medieval era, walnuts were considered medicine. In the 16th and 17th centuries when herbal treatments became common medical practice, the walnut, with its visual likeness to the human brain, was used to treat head ailments, boost intellect and calm emotions.

Depending on the way a walnut is cut, it has a striking resemblance not only to the brain, but also the heart. Recent scientific research indicates that eating a handful of walnuts daily may reduce the risk of heart disease. Consider walnuts as self-contained packages of complete nutrition, packed with protein, fiber, carbohydrates, key vitamins and minerals, and in particular omega-3s that are essential for good health and aid in lowering triglycerides or blood fat.

Easy diet addition

At first eating a handful of walnuts daily as a snack may have appeal.

But our tastebuds get bored easily so I asked Executive Chef Keith Dysarczyk of the Franklin Grill (32760 Franklin Road, Franklin) to give them some gourmet flair.

Chef Keith's dishes always come garnished with healthy fruits and greens and he uses walnuts to accent them. His spin on a traditional Waldorf Salad includes pineapple, coconut, several varieties of apples, and of course, walnuts.

For breakfast, his Banana Split Pancakes are topped with bananas, strawberries, hot fudge, a scoop of ice cream and a dollop of whipped cream topped with walnuts. His Banana Nut Waffles are made with walnuts.

On its first anniversary, this coming Tuesday Feb. 19, Franklin Grill will launch dinner service. During its first year, this charming, restored village building offered only breakfast and lunch. Now, dinner will be 4-10 p.m. Tuesday Thursday and until 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Will there be walnut accents on Chef Keith's new dinner menu?

Absolutely. For one of his specials, he created Walnut Cherry Chicken (see recipe inside) and plans to serve it with steamed asparagus and wild rice with portobello mushrooms.

If you're thinking lean, heart smart or vegetarian, the recipe (inside) for Mini Cheese and Walnut Cabbage Rolls is only 252 calories per serving of two rolls.

More nutty ideas

Since antiquity, simple "first foods" such as nuts, olives and dried fruit, were shared as a ritualistic offering of friendship in a harsh world. Today, hospitality and getting together is more important than ever. We're into bar fare, small plates, shared first courses and tasting courses.

Spiced walnuts are a great snack or bar food. Toast walnut halves on a baking sheet at 375 degrees Fahrenheit for 8 minutes. Then mix them with warmed molasses, butter, cumin, chili powder, cayenne and garlic salt. Spread nuts on parchment paper until they dry.

Use finely chopped walnuts as a coating for baked fish, such as salmon, sea bass or halibut. Toss chopped walnuts into pasta dishes. Or make a pesto to taste by using basil, parsley, sage, walnuts, grated parmesan cheese and garlic. Use a food processor and process ingredients until finely ground. Through the feed tube, add orange juice and olive oil a little at a time, while continuing to process, until the mixture is thick and emulsified. Season with salt to taste. Toss pesto with hot pasta and serve.

Walnuts are heart healthy

Nutritional studies illustrate that walnuts are heart healthy.

■ A landmark study at Loma Linda University in Calif., was published in the prestigious New England Journal of Medicine in March 1993. It showed that when walnuts were substituted for some of the saturated fat in a diet, blood cholesterol levels dropped by more than 12 percent and bad LDL cholesterol dropped by more than 16 percent.

■ Another study conducted at the Hospital Clinic of Barcelona and published in the Annals of Internal Medicine in April 2000 showed that men and women who incorporated walnuts in a Mediterranean diet lowered their LDL cholesterol by nearly 6 percent and heart disease risk by 11 percent beyond what would be expected from the healthy Mediterranean diet alone.

COOKBOOK

Survivor's Famie shows he can cook rice

BY MARY QUINLEY
SPECIAL WRITER

It was just a bowl of rice. Yet, said Keith Famie, chef, author and Survivor II: The Australian Outback television contestant, the rice he cooked was "the shot heard round the world."

"I was devastated," said Famie of West Bloomfield, referring to the Survivor episode when his attempt to cook rice in his paella pan failed to satisfy some of his fellow outbackers. He dreaded the episode because he knew it was misrepresented. The incident, he said, was blown way out of proportion.

So what's a chef to do? "I had a lot of options," said Famie. After the show aired, the USA Rice Federation tried to contact Famie. He first ignored their e-mails. When he did reply, he was delighted to discover that the organization wanted him to go to Chicago to prepare a feast (with rice, naturally).

As a result of that gathering and his television appearance, Famie wrote a cookbook Yes I can cook rice and so can you! (New Echelon, Inc., $6.95).

The book is a good, handy guide with all kinds of information, including recipes from friends and members of the Rice Federation, Famie said.

Appetizers, side dishes and first courses, like the Mim Crab Cakes with Roasted Red Pepper Sauce, and the Parmesan Rice, are grouped together. The rice cake recipe created by Famie while on his Survivor adventure, contains some ingredients that he wished he had had to feed the ravenous Outback tribe.

Risotto

Famie's favorite recipe in the book? The Lobster Risotto with Shitake Mushrooms and Lemongrass Ginger Sauce, he said.

Risotto is a traditional rice dish of Italy. Some people, he said, are intimidated with working with risotto.

"(Cooking risotto) is a work of passion," he explained. "Stay with it and let it be your entertainment with friends or family watching (as you prepare it)."

And, keep in mind that, no two risottos are ever the same.

A potpourri of recipes for paella, pilaf, soups, salads, desserts and more fill the pages.

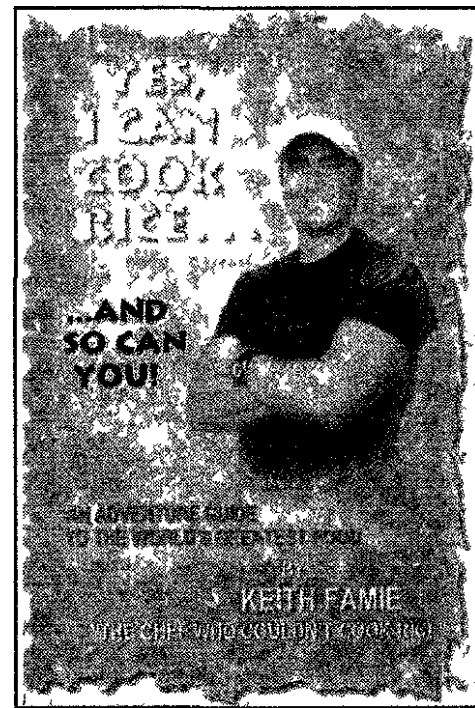

Need to know where to buy fiddlehead ferns? Wondering what dolmades are? Check out the resource guide at the end of the book for answers. You'll also find a glossary of rice terms, helpful Web sites and a list of rice-related cookbooks.

Famie's post-Survivor options have led him once again to the television screen.

"The Food Network contacted me," he said. Now, he hosts a culinary series, Keith Famie Adventures, at 10:30 p.m. on Mondays.

During the half-hour show he samples the food and local adventure in remote and exotic spots across the

Try walnuts with chicken, cabbage rolls

WALNUT CHERRY CHICKEN

- 4 six to eight ounce boneless skinless chicken breasts
 - 2 whole eggs
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 1/4 cups bread crumbs
 - 3/4 cup finely chopped walnuts
 - 1/2 cup olive oil
- For the sauce
- 1 cup chicken stock
 - 1/2 cup white wine (chardonnay suggested)
 - 2 cups dried cherries (one cup pitted)
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts

into heated pan. Sauté chicken about four minutes per side or until instant read thermometer registers 170 F.

Meanwhile prepare sauce by first placing one cup of the cherries into a food processor to make a puree. Place pureed cherries in a sauce pot and add remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil and simmer for five minutes. Serve over sautéed chicken. Serves four.

MINI CHEESE AND WALNUT CABBAGE ROLLS

- 1 head cabbage (about 2 pounds)
- 2/3 cup reduced sodium chicken broth
- 1/3 cup raisins
- 1 Italian plum tomato or other small tomato, chopped
- 2 1/2 cups fresh white bread crumbs

- 1 1/4 cups grated fat free Mozzarella or Cheddar cheese
- 3/4 cup chopped California walnuts
- 1/4 cup low cholesterol egg product
- 1 teaspoon dried rosemary
- Salt and pepper to taste

Bring a large pot of water to a boil. With a small sharp knife, remove and discard the white core from the center of the cabbage. Drop the whole cabbage into the boiling water and cook 10-12 minutes. Remove the cabbage from the water and let stand until cool enough to handle.

Carefully peel away 12 of the outer leaves, keeping them as whole as possible, and set aside to be stuffed. Chop enough of the remaining cabbage to make 1 1/2 cups and place in a large bowl. To the chopped cabbage, add the broth, raisins, tomato, crumbs, cheese, walnuts, egg product and rosemary.

Stir vigorously to combine, then season the mixture with salt and pepper to taste. You will have about 3 cups of stuffing.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Source a 9 inch square baking dish or other dish that will hold the cabbage rolls snugly.

Lay whole cabbage leaves on a work surface. Place about 1/4 cup of stuffing near the base of each leaf. Fold in sides to cover filling, then roll each leaf up to make a neat sausage-shaped package. Place the rolls, seam side down and close together, in the baking dish. Separate the leaves of what remains of the whole cabbage and lay them, overlapping on top of the rolls. Bake for 35 minutes.

Cool about 10 minutes, then remove and discard the leaves from the top. Serve the cabbage rolls warm or at room temperature. Serves six.

Chefs cook up benefit dinner to aid colleague

Master Chef Milos Cihelka will come out of retirement to join with eight other chefs to prepare a benefit dinner for Chef Joseph Yezeik, formerly of the Epic Restaurant Group. Yezeik, who has been diagnosed with an inoperable brain tumor, has undergone extensive chemotherapy treatments to help battle the cancer. Unfortunately, Yezeik is too ill to work and does not have insurance to help cover the costs of the treatments.

Executive Chef Shawn Loving of Loving Spoonful has gathered nine of the most talented chefs in the Metro Detroit area to prepare a Dinner Extraordinary benefit to help raise money for Yezeik and his family. The benefit will be held at Loving Spoonful in Farmington Hills, Monday, Feb. 25 at 6:30 p.m. The all-inclusive menu is $125 per person and includes all courses, wine and tax.

Joining Chefs Milos and Loving are Executive Chef Brian Polcyn, Five Lakes Grill; Master Chef Dan Hugelier, Master Pastry Chef Joe Decker; Executive Chef and Director of Culinary Arts at Schoolcraft College Bruce Konowalow; Master Chef Jeff Gabriel; Master Chef Kevin Gawronski, and Executive Chef Chris Misiak.

"I'm thrilled to be in the company of these masters and to be doing something good for someone," Chef Loving said. "Everyone is donating their time and 100 percent of the profits will go to Joe."

The chefs will mingle with the guests and each couple will receive a menu signed by each chef as a souvenir. Call for reservations at (248) 489-9400. Donations accepted.

Salmon in a package is a simple dinner

In Latin America, fish are baked in banana leaves. In France, they are baked in parchment (en papillote). Home cooks anywhere can easily adapt this technique, which seals in moisture and flavor, using aluminum foil. Salmon is a good choice for this way of cooking.

By adding a few vegetables you have a whole meal in a package - easily put together without messing up the stove top, pretty to look at and delicious to eat. As an added bonus, it's good for you.

Salmon is a particularly good source of omega-3 fat, a polyunsaturated fat with two major benefits - it doesn't raise blood cholesterol, and it seems to have health-promoting powers that lower the risk of heart disease and possibly cancer. Only certain fish are a good source of omega-3 fats: salmon, mackerel, herring, white (albacore) tuna and sardines. Whatever type is selected, fish is always an excellent choice for good nutrition. Of course, the preparation must be healthful too - not deep-fat fried, slathered in butter, or covered in cream sauce.

When buying salmon, there is often a choice between farm-raised and wild, as well as between Pacific and Atlantic varieties. Atlantic salmon is always farm-raised. It is also mostly grain-fed, which produces a fish that is moister and fatter than Pacific salmon. Atlantic salmon is farmed in Chile, Western Canada and Washington State, as well as in the waters of the Atlantic Ocean. Most Pacific salmon is from Alaska and available in a number of varieties.

The following recipe creates a dish special enough for company but easy enough for every-day meals.

OVEN-BAKED SALMON WITH SNOW PEAS

2 small leeks white and pale

- part chopped fine
- 2 large carrots cut into julienne strips (width of matchsticks)
- 1/2 pound snow peas (fresh or frozen)
- 4 salmon steaks or fillets (4-6 ounces each)
- 2 teaspoons grated fresh ginger
- 2 tablespoons rice vinegar
- 1 tablespoon plus 1 table spoon sesame oil divided
- Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
- 1 pound fresh spinach
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Tear four large sheets (18x12 inch) of heavy-duty aluminum foil and lay out on table or counter.

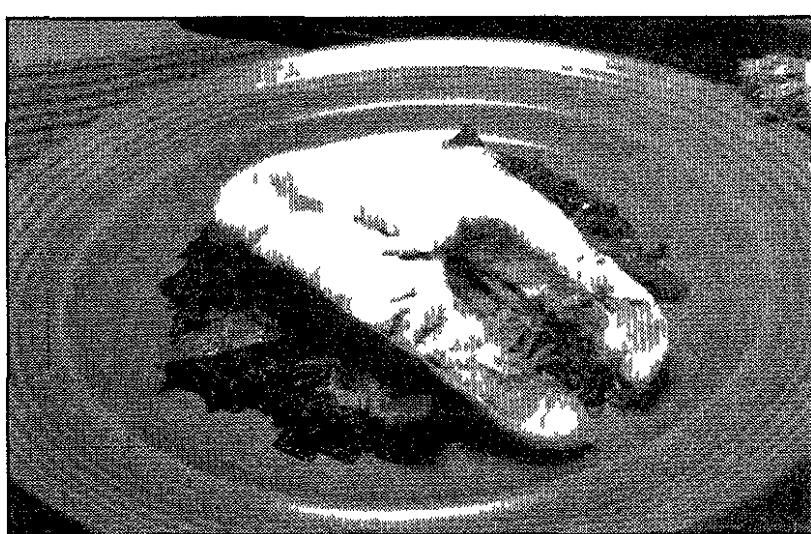

Place one fourth each of leeks, carrots and snow peas on each sheet of foil. Place a piece of salmon on top of each mound of vegetables. Sprinkle one fourth of the ginger and drizzle one fourth of the vinegar and one fourth teaspoon oil over each piece of fish. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Double-fold foil and seal tightly, to form four packets. (Leave enough room in packet for heat to circulate.) Place packets on cookie sheet and bake about 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork.

Meanwhile, rinse spinach leaves and place in large bowl or platter that will fit microwave oven. Drizzle with fresh lemon juice and remaining 1 tablespoon oil. Cook in microwave at high power 3-4 minutes, checking every minute or so to make sure spinach is tender but not over cooked. Place one fourth of spinach in center of each of 4 plates, making a flat bed.

When salmon is cooked, open packets carefully to allow steam to escape without scalding. Transfer contents of each packet to top of bed of spinach on each plate.

LOBSTER RISOTTO WITH SHIITAKE MUSHROOMS AND LEMONGRASS GINGER SAUCE

- 7 cups chicken broth
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh ginger root
- 2 teaspoons chopped fresh lemongrass
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 2 cups diced cooked lobster meat
- 12 shiitake mushrooms quartered
- 2 tablespoons chopped Italian flat leaf parsley
- 1 white onion diced
- 2 cups arborio or medium grain rice
- 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese divided
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Italian flat leaf parsley for garnish

Heat broth in 4-quart saucepan over medium heat until it comes to a simmer. Reduce heat to low and keep warm.

In a small saucepan over medium heat, simmer cream, ginger root, and lemongrass for 5 minutes. Strain through a fine sieve into a small bowl and reserve.

In medium skillet, heat 2 tablespoons of olive oil over medium heat. Add lobster and mushrooms, cook until slightly browned. Stir in parsley, remove from heat and set aside. Heat remaining olive oil in deep saucepan. Add onion and cook over medium heat until onion is translucent.

Add rice and stir 2 to 3 minutes. Increase heat to medium-high, stir in half the chicken broth. Cook uncovered, stirring frequently until broth is absorbed. Continue stirring and adding remaining broth, 1 cup at a time, allowing each cup to be absorbed before adding another

Cook until rice is tender and mixture has a creamy consistency approximately 20 to 25 minutes. Add reserved cream mixture, lobster mixture, and 1/2 cup cheese. Cook and stir 5 minutes. (If needed, add a small amount of stock or water.)

Season with salt and pepper. Serve on a large platter with sprigs of Italian flat leaf parsley and remaining cheese. Serves 4.

APPLE CINNAMON RICE PUDDING

- 3 cups cooked rice
- 3 cups milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 cups seeded peeled and diced Granny Smith apples
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract

Combine rice, milk, sugar and apples in a 2- to 3-quart saucepan. Cook and stir for 30 minutes over medium heat. The rice pudding is done when the rice and milk have formed a thick porridge. Remove from heat and stir in the cinnamon and vanilla. Serves six.

Per serving 320 calories, 7 grams protein, 4 grams fat, 64 grams carbohydrate, 2 grams dietary fiber, 17 milligrams cholesterol, 62 milligrams sodium.

Recipes from Yes I can Cook Rice An So Can You! by Keith Famie, (New Echelon, Inc. in cooperation with PearTree Publishing, Nov 2001, $6.95). The book is available, or can be ordered from local bookstores. For more information, visit www.famie.com.

"It's exciting because everything (about the show) like the editing services and the camera crew, is based out of Detroit," he said.

When asked about any future plans to open an eatery, he answered, "I want too. I've got a vision that involves a lot of the places where I've traveled."

But for now, he's concentrating on the show, working on another book and reaping the benefits of a bowl of rice.

A portion of the sales from the rice book will be donated to the World Emergency Relief fund. For more information about Famie's TV show or his cookbook visit www.famie.com.

BOOKS

Author helps people cope with illness through faith

Faith & Illness: Reflections on God's Sustaining Love by Nancy Groves $9.95 Patient Press 2002

BY KEELY KALESKI WYGONIK STAFF WRITER kwygonik@oe.homecomm.net

"Why?" is a simple, yet difficult question that's often impossible to answer. For instance, why did my husband David die of Acute Myelogenous Leukemia on Dec 17, 2000? Why did he get the disease in the first place? "There is no why," Nancy Groves, author of Faith & Illness Reflections on God's Sustaining Love says in a soothing voice that makes me feel like we're having tea together, not talking on the phone. Some people say bad things happen because it's God's will, but Groves disagrees. "God just promises to be with you," she says. "Life is not logical or fair," Groves writes. "Life simply is."

We have a lot in common. She's a widow too. Her husband Don died 13 years ago. He had a heart defect they knew nothing about, and his death was sudden and unexpected. She wrote Faith & Illness in 1986, but had difficulty finding a publisher. Patient Press, a small independent publishing company, was the answer to her prayers. The book isn't a widow's story, it's about dealing with illness and based on Groves' experience as a medical social worker in home health care. She was inspired by people she's helped like the lady suffering from diabetes. Her vision was failing and both legs were amputated.

"She discovered that she was more than her body, that were gifts within herself," said Groves. "She wanted to stay isolated in her house, but that began to change. She bought a gown and went to her granddaughter's wedding." I began this story with my husband David because I wish we'd met Nancy then. I'll never forget the doctor's phone call on the Saturday of Labor Day weekend 2000. News

New products promote strong nails, soft skin

I've been in Los Angeles scoping things out and during my travels I've attended the International Salon and Spa Expo. This entails a weekend of walking, bumping and pushing your way through aisles of info seekers, bargain hunters and display upon display of new products. I was able to hold my own, so I can bring you a report of the most impressive new grooming accessories that are must-haves to update your grooming regime. In the nail department I was impressed with the natural nail experts known as Nail Tek. Their innovative nail therapy promotes healthy, strong, natural nails with four different nail formulas.

- Formula I, Maintenance Plus, keeps nails strong while conditioning, protecting and improving them.
- Intensive Therapy II helps heal weak, thin, soft and peeling nails. This special protein formulation seals the layers of the nail together while promoting strength and flexibility.
- Protection Plus provides extra conditioning for nails that are hard, dry and brittle. This special formulation replenishes the natural moisture content of the nail.
- Nail Tek Xtra is a highly effective treatment designed for nails resistant to conventional therapies.

They are applied as the base coat of your manicure. Give Rene at Red The Salon a visit and treat yourself to a manicure. Not only is she one of the best manicurists I've ever had the pleasure to be pampered by, she knows and uses some of these products.

Eyes have it

Another great find during this trip was Kiss Me Mascara. Its special formulation forms tiny water-resistant tubes around your lashes rather than painting them like conventional mascaras. The tubes add both volume and length to create a radiant, natural look. Once set, this mascara binds to the lash and won't run, smudge, flake or clump even if you rub your eyes, yet it doesn't require a makeup remover to come off. Lots of warm water along with gentle pressure is all it takes to remove this product. The tubes slide off (it looked like I was loosening my lashes) effortlessly.

It is a great product for an active person, a bride or someone with only skin who has a hard time keeping makeup on.

This leads me to another exciting product discovery called Sticky Stuff. Mixed with your powdered eyeshadows, eyeliner or eyebrow products, this liquid works like glue to keep them in place. It holds up to heat, humidity and tears.

Sticky Stuff is another wonderful product for the woman who has a hard time keeping makeup in place and is tired of constantly reapplying.

Skin care

The most exciting new products in skin care come from the well-known company Dermalogica. Their Daily Microfoliant is just that. Its rice based enzyme powder can be used every day (and you'll want to use it every day), causing the skin to exfoliate gently and instantly while leaving the skin noticeably smoother and brighter.

Couple this up with their Multivitamin Power Firm crème for the eye and lip area and your face has just won the war against premature aging. You may even compare the touch of your skin to that of the smoothness of a baby (you know the rest).

These are my favorite finds and I've tried them all first hand.

Most of the products are easy to find on the Internet, where you can order them direct or locate the spa, skin care boutique or department store that carries these items nearest you. I hope you enjoy them as much as I have.

DIVERSIONS

Lead-in lines lead to more impact in photos

In past columns I've touched on the importance of composition, which I would define as the placement of the elements you view through the camera in a pleasing and harmonious way.

Today, I'd like to concentrate on a very important aspect of good composition, one that will enhance and add extra impact to your photographs lead in lines.

A lead-in line can be a river, pathway, road, fence or any other element in your composition that will lead and direct the viewer's attention to the central subject. Next time you're about to photograph that weathered old barn, stop and take a moment to search for a composition that will include a lead-in line. Perhaps it's the dilapidated fence or the furrows in a recently plowed field that "lead" the way to the barn. By using either, you can imagine how much more exciting your finished picture will be.

How about that lonely tree in the valley you're about to shoot? Can you position yourself so that the winding river leads the way into the picture?

Using lead-in lines causes you to slow down, think more, and plan out the final image in your mind's eye. You're going through the process of making photographs, not taking snapshots, and your pictures will definitely show the difference.

Northern Wales is the home to many unusual castles, including the Conwy Castle shown here. Rather than a shot of just the castle, I thought the sweeping walkway and wall would serve as the perfect lead in.

Of course, you'll have to pay close attention to depth of field. Most likely you'll need a small aperture so that everything in your finished print is sharp and in focus.

Look for abstract lead-in lines, too. Manmade patterns, such as the steel structure in a building under construction, or nature's patterns, such as the ripples in a majestic sand dune, can all serve as effective lead ins.

The important thing is to begin to "see" lead in lines. They'll help you look at the world in new, exciting ways. Your photographs will have added strength and impact that you'll be proud to share with others.

Picturesque Greek Islands are fun to visit

(Last of a two part series)
By JUDITH DONER BERNE
SPECIAL WRITER

Approaching the tiny island of Patmos, we are sure that it has been whitewashed. Its gleaming white houses built along stadium-style streets are a picturesque introduction to the first of the Greek islands we will visit on our cruise of the Aegean Sea. Patmos is where St. John the Evangelist was supposedly exiled for preaching Christianity at Ephesus. The cave, where he lived and wrote the Book of Revelations during the 1st Century AD, and the namesake Monastery from the 11th century that is still functioning, are well worth a visit. The small museum adjacent to the monastery turns out to be a jewel.

We only spend a morning on Patmos, and then it's on to Samos. It boasts the town of Pythagorean, yes after the theorem inventor. On approach, it is a panorama of pastel-colored houses and brown-red-tiled roofs.

After our stops at the Turkish ports where we experienced Pergamum and Ephesus, its fragmented ruins aren't a big draw - though it has a rather famous aqueduct that is in its final stages of restoration. We decide to walk into its countryside, where at one point we had to make way for a shepherd-less herd of goats, and try the local wine that is sweet and good and served over ice.

Sightseeing: Walking about the walled city of Rhodes was one of the best Greek Island experiences. This is my husband Ed.

If you're not going to ascend the Acropolis of Lindos on the island of Rhodes, it's probably not worth driving the 40 minutes to the town itself. It's a moderately strenuous climb to the top, but worth it both for the views and the ruins that include the 4th century BC Doric temple of Athena.

Favorite stop

Better to spend the whole day in Rhodes City, enclosed by walls built in the 14th century. Although no longer presided over by the Colossus of Rhodes, standing 100 feet high and built in 280 BC, it was my favorite of the Greek islands we visited.

The highlight is the Palace of the Grand Masters that has ancient mosaic tile floors imported from the island of Kos, dozens of rooms and an interior courtyard of gigantic proportions. Built by the Knights of St. John, who occupied the island from the 12th to the 16th century, it survived until an explosion of ammunition stored nearby devastated it. It has been magnificently reconstructed.

A tiny Jewish synagogue built in the 1700s, when Rhodes had a significant Jewish population, has been restored and includes a small museum. Almost all died in Nazi concentration camps. Rhodes now has just seven Jewish families.

A good gift from Rhodes is one of the colorful umbrellas made on the island.

It's no wonder the symbol of Mykenos is the windmill. Be prepared to be belted about as you wend your way through its deliberately created maze of streets. It has a sweet harbor where sardine fishermen sell their wares and the island's pelican mascot gets the trimmings, then adds a drink of water from a nearby fountain.

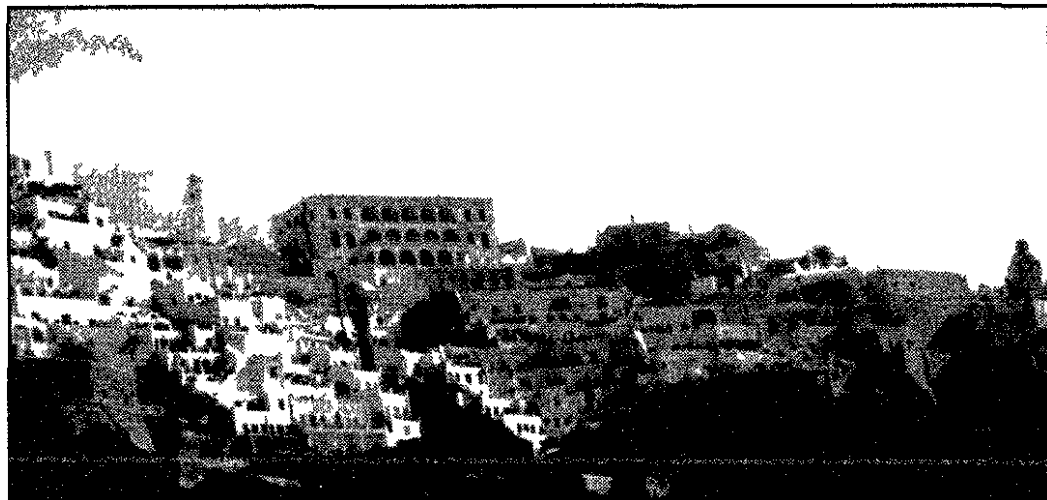

If you go to Mykenos in mid-October, as we did, a sojourn to the island's famous beaches - nude and otherwise - may find them empty and their eateries closed. But you have to experience at least one. Then enjoy meandering in and out of the hundreds of tiny Greek Orthodox chapels that occur almost as frequently as the shops and restaurants. Gold jewelry fashioned after ancient Greek designs and sweaters more varied than just the Greek fisherman style are fun to buy.

Cruising into Santorini, you are at first not quite sure whether the white cliff tops are natural or man-made. The white-washed buildings are so aptly constructed that they fit into the island as if they were puzzle pieces, so perfectly are they interlocked with the land.

At one end of the island is Oia, all white with blue trim. Its outer rim of homes is composed of caves built into the rock. In Santorini itself, which is accessible on foot, by donkey, and more recently by cable car, the individual sights are secondary to the shopping.

Outside the two cities, the land is volcanic ash, its terraced gardens barren and brown in fall although apparently covered by vineyards and wild flowers in spring and summer following the winter rains.

A number of cruise ships have canceled or reduced their routes in this area for 2002, according to area travel agents. All I can say is that those of us who cruised the Aegean a month after 9/11 and in the early days of the bombing of Afghanistan were overjoyed that we had come.

Perfect fit: The architecture of Santorini fits into the land seamlessly.

Rocks rule in WLAA, 69-35

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisk@oe.homecomm.net

BASKETBALL

Friday night was supposed to be the final night of Western Lakes Activities Association pre-tournament basketball. It was supposed to be the night all things, standings-wise, would be decided, with the pairings for the WLAA Tournament solidified.

It fell a bit short of that. Quite a bit. Some things were solidified. Plymouth Salem clinched the league championship with an easy 69-35 romp at Farmington. The Rocks finish their WLAA campaign at 9-2 (11-6 overall), the Falcons are 0-11 in the conference, 1-16 overall.

North Farmington's loss to Walled Lake Central Friday actually helped Salem. The Raiders dropped to 6-5 and were relegated to the No. 8 seed, which means they go against Salem in Tuesday's WLAA Tournament opener.

The absurd conference playoff plan embraced by the WLAA's athletic directors and school administrators awards nothing for finishing first in the regular season. This year, the Western Division teams host the first-round games, with the Lakes Division hosting the second round.

Only if two teams from the same division play each other does the higher seed host.

North's loss to Central ended any possibility of a six-team tie for third place. And since both North and Salem are in the Lakes Division, it means the Rocks get to host Tuesday's game.

"All I know is, we're No. 1," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "We got our championship, so we're happy."

As if further proof was needed of how treacherous any game between WLAA teams can be, regardless of their league standing, Salem's game against last-place Farmington was in doubt at halftime. The Rocks were clinging to a 28-20 lead.

That changed in the third quarter when Salem more than doubled its point total in outscoring the Falcons, 29-6, to carry a 57-26 lead into the final quarter.

"We busted it open in the first four minutes of the third quarter," said Brodie. "We had a lot of players score."

At the top of the list was Dave Hoskins with 24 points. Brad Clark was next with 10.

Farmington got 17 points from Ryan Kosinski. No other Falcon scored more than four.

Canton 62, Franklin 35. Plymouth Canton coach Jeremy Rheault is starting to see the kind of consistent play he's been looking for since the start of the season.

Granted, the last two games of the WLAA season weren't against the best competition. In Friday's game against visiting Franklin, the Chiefs took command quickly, leading 36-15 by halftime.

"You can't really judge us by what we did Tuesday night and tonight," Rheault said, noting the somewhat lackluster competition. Still, he added, "We're playing well right now. We're feeling good."

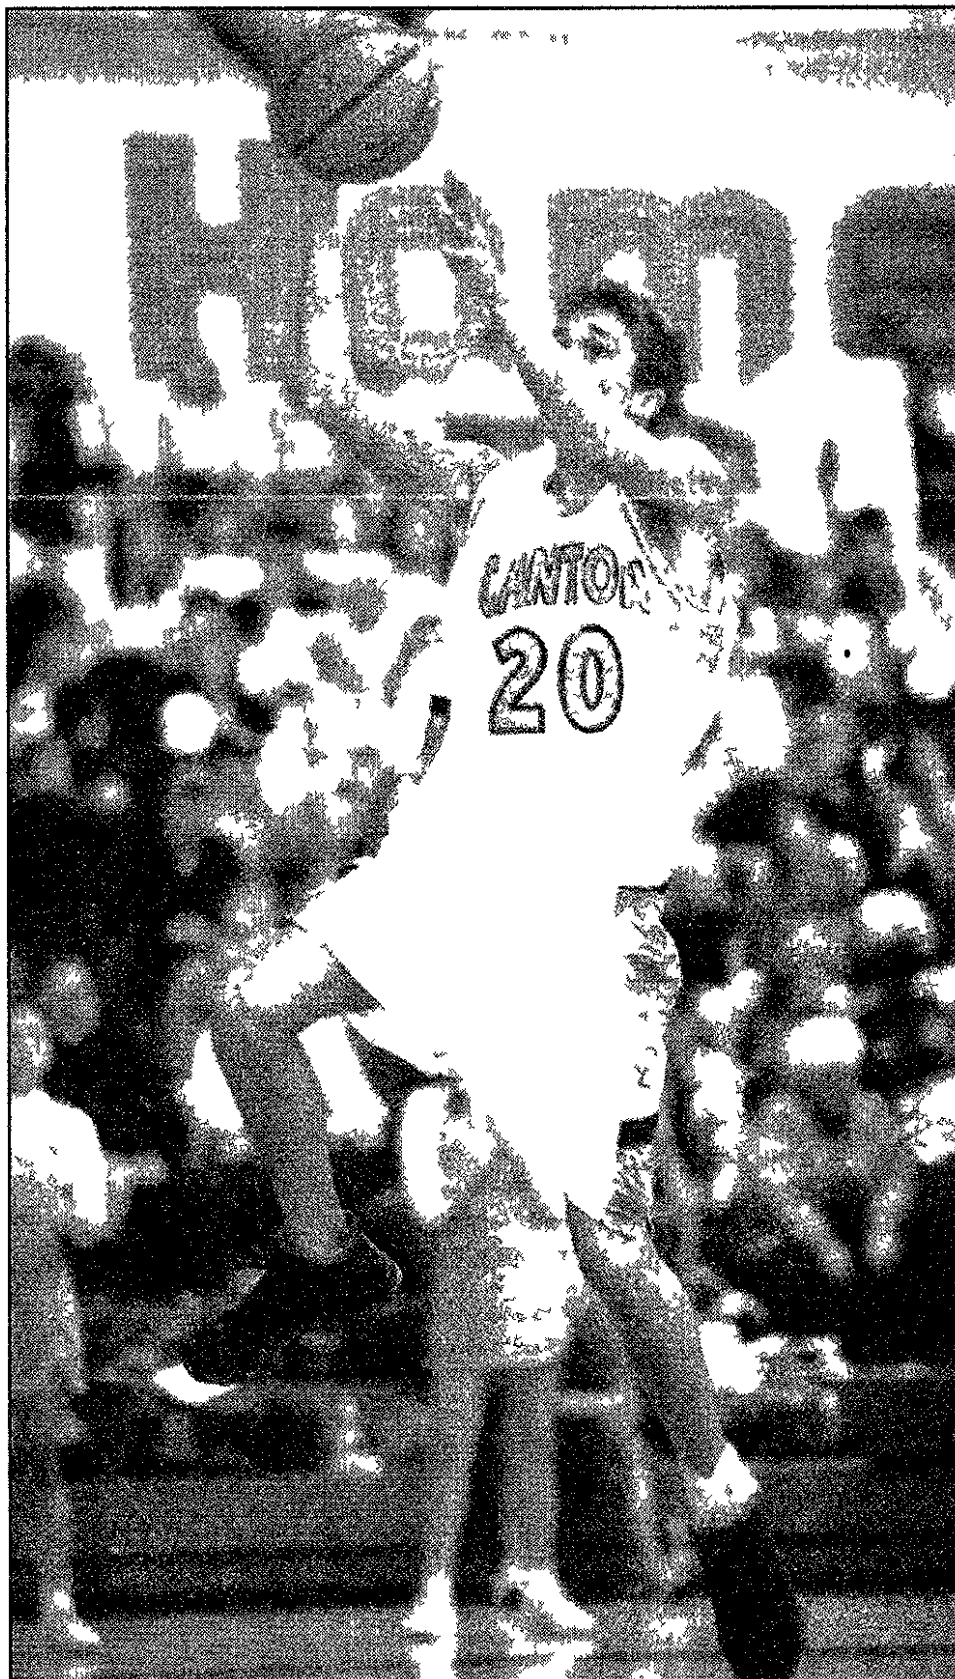

"We're playing well together. The seniors are stepping up and they're taking care of business on the court. We feel good going into the tournament."

With the kind of scoring the Chiefs got against Franklin, they should feel good. Andrew Meagrow led Canton with 16 points. Kyle Lasko added 14. Billy Gazi had nine and Jason Priebe scored eight.

Franklin got nine points from Nick Warra and Hassan Amad.

Canton finishes 7-4 in the WLAA, the Chiefs are 10-7 overall. Franklin is

SWIMMING

Now the real fun begins.

The dual-meet swim season ended Thursday, and Plymouth Salem — as anticipated — dominated in the Western Lakes Activities Association. It showed in how easily the Rocks handled a North Farmington squad that figures to be their best in the league, beating the Raiders 115-70 at Salem.

The result was not surprising to North coach Pat Duthie. Even though his team came into the meet with five wins in the six dual meets it competed in (not including a cancellation against Livonia Stevenson).

"We've been doing to other teams what Salem did to us tonight," Duthie said. "But we're not that good."

Meaning the Raiders are no true match for a Salem team that has won nine straight WLAA championships and last year finished third in the state with virtually the same squad.

If there was a signature event in Thursday's meet, it was the 200 yard freestyle relay. The Rocks teams finished first and second, with Mike Johnson leading off a first place foursome.

WRESTLING

However far Plymouth Salem advances in the state team wrestling tournament, from this point on, is a bonus.

In the state team districts hosted by Salem Thursday, the Rocks knocked off cross-campus rival Plymouth Canton 50-19 in the final to advance to Thursday's team regional at Novi.

Canton, which beat Northville 38-31 Thursday in the district semifinal, finishes the team portion of its season at 15-5, with a Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division co-championship (its first since 1988) to its credit.

"We're just happy to get through tonight," said Salem coach Greg Wochuk.

He had a good reason to feel that way. Two of his more promising

Injury-plagued Chiefs can't stop Farmington

Farmington had a productive night executing its offense in a Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball match against host Plymouth Canton Wednesday.

The Falcons were 47 of 51 on the attack and recorded a team total of 25 kills in defeating the Chiefs, 15-8, 15-7.

Canton enjoyed an early lead in the first game, 6-2, but Farmington made a comeback and maintained the advantage after that.

"They had three pretty tough servers to start the match," Falcons coach Alex Perrin said, adding his team wasn't unprepared to play but "came out a little flat."

"Playing any team coached by (Canton's) Steve Anderson, you're going to be in for a battle. His game management is really strong, he knows how to take advantage of a lot of little things."

What Anderson's coaching couldn't overcome was an injury-plagued lineup. No fewer than five key players are hurt, ranging from Kristen Lake's sprained knee to Colleen O'Brien's broken thumb to Courtney Jarman's sore back. It's forced Anderson to make changes in his lineup.

"With all the injuries we have, I can't complain with the way we're playing," Anderson said. "I'm extremely proud of my players."

Even a healthy lineup might not have made a difference against the Falcons, who are on a roll. Last Saturday (Feb. 9) they beat Plymouth Salem at the Temperance Bedford Tournament. Farmington is 32-14-4 overall, 8-2 in the WLAA, Canton is 5-5 in the conference, 14-14-7 overall.

"They've progressed a ton since the beginning of the season," said Anderson of Farmington. "If you'd told me at the beginning of the season they'd be 8-2, I would have told you no way."

Farmington's significant size advantage eventually made the difference. The Falcons had a lot more weapons and offensive options, Perrin added.

"When we hit the second rotation and they didn't have their best servers in there, we started surging and they didn't have an answer for us," he said.

The Falcons had a hitting percentage around 400, which Perrin said was outstanding.

"That means your setter is playing well and (setter) Randin (Brown) is moving the ball and making good choices and people are putting away the sets," he said.

Brown had 21 assists and four kills for the Falcons, Deanna Gauer was 9-for-9 hitting with seven kills and served eight points with three aces and had one block.

Jocelyn Atkins had four digs, three kills and four blocks, Julie Kimmel had three kills, six digs and four aces, Jessica Janowicz was 9-of-11 hitting with five kills, and Meghan Young had three kills, seven digs and two blocks.

Salem wallops Mott

HOCKEY

Plymouth Salem's unbeaten streak in hockey ended against Livonia Stevenson last Tuesday. The Rocks regrouped and restarted on Friday, routing Waterford Mott 13-4 in a non-league game played at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The Rocks improved to 17-1-3 overall.

Kevin Wilson led the offensive barrage with three goals and two assists. Bryan Young had two goals and two assists, Mike Chaney scored the game's first two goals, Mark Nagel had a goal and five assists, Andy Thackaberry had a goal and three assists, Eric Culp had a goal and two assists, Steve Jacobs and David Gill each had a goal and an assist, and Mike Barr scored a goal.

Jay Evans scored twice for Mott. Shane Breest was in goal for Salem. Orion Durham was in the net for Mott.

Redford CC 3, P.H. Northern 2: Redford Catholic Central now is a game up on the pack in the Michigan Interscholastic Hockey League following Thursday's 3-2 win over host Port Huron Northern at McMorran Arena. The game matched the state's No. 1- and 2-ranked teams in Division I.

CC is now 14-5-2 overall and 8-1 in the MIHL. Northern is 19-3 overall and 9-3.

Forward Justin Guske scored Port Huron's first goal four minutes into the first period.

Things were quickly tied up two minutes before the period change as CC's senior, Steve Nelson snuck one by Huskies goalie Steve Robbins assisted by Eric Giosa and Brandon Naurato. Six minutes into the second period, the Huskies forged ahead on a goal by Matt Laeder off a power play.

But the Shamrocks wasted no time in scoring the equalizer before the end of the period when Bryan Genrich scored from Jeff Prough and John Perkovich making it 2-2.

With just 52 seconds in regulation play, CC's Pat Coldren got the puck on a breakaway and scored a short-handed goal for the win. The Huskies tried unsuccessfully to put one past CC goalie Jim Blanchard in the last few minutes of play, but the Shamrock held his own. Blanchard made 18 saves.

Ladywood 5, G.P. North 2: On Wednesday, host Livonia Ladywood (9-5) moved into third place in the Michigan Metro High School Girls Hockey League by defeating Grosse Pointe North at the Arctic Pond in Plymouth.

Mary Beth O'Dea had two goals and one assist for Ladywood.

Jana Beumel added one goal and two assists.

Katie Karabelski and Jess Blaesser had the other Blazer goals.

Defenseman Aimee O'Malley had two assists, while Tess Castine added one.

Megan Predmesky started in goal for the Blazers and Danni St Onge finished up. The two combined for 12 saves.

Maria Feldpausch and Chelsea Skorupski scored goals for North.

Madonna mauled by Tri-State, 80-63

MEN'S HOOPS

There's two things that doomed Madonna University's men's basketball team Wednesday at Tri-State University: rebounds and free throws.

The Thunder got a lot of both. Madonna was outboarded, 45-27, and outshot at the line in suffering an 80-63 loss. The Crusaders are 6-24 overall, 3-10 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. Tri-State is 11-20 overall, 4-9 in the WHAC.

Madonna trailed 37-25 at halftime and could never catch the Thunder, who converted 23-of-31 free throws (74.2 percent). The Crusaders were 2-of-2.

Aaron Cox and John Bennett (from Livonia Churchill) led Madonna with 16 points apiece. Cox also had six steals and seven rebounds, both team bests. Noel Emehiser added 15 points and four assists.

Nate Hoekje led Tri-State with 22 points. Brandon O'Leary added 11, and Jon Gates and Brandon Appleton each scored 10.

The WHAC Tournament starts Wednesday.

Spitfires blank Plymouth Whalers

OHL HOCKEY

The Plymouth Whalers pelted Windsor Spitfires' goalie Cory Campbell with 38 shots. The Spitfires fired 37 shots at Whalers' goalie Jason

Bacashihua. Campbell withstood the test, stopping all 38 Whaler shots, while Bacashihua was near-perfect, turning back 36 Spitfire shots.

The result was a 1-0 Windsor win, the Spits' second-straight over Plymouth.

The game's only goal was scored by Craig Kennedy, a power play score 12:09 into the second period. Rob Hennigar and Craig Mahon assisted.

The Whalers were 0-for-3 on the power play.

3-14 overall, 2-9 in the conference.

Agape 75, Franklin Road 30: Canton Agape Christian outscored Novi Franklin Road 44-7 in the middle two periods in rolling to an easy victory Friday in a game played at Garden City United.

Four players reached double figures in scoring and another netted nine for the Wolverines, who improved to 11-4. Jordan Napier led with 15 points, Josh Anthony had 13, Rob Hough scored 12 and Paul Chrenko scored 11. Charlie Henry had nine.

Chris Palmer led Franklin Road (7-11 overall) with 12 Josh Angel contributed 11.

The Wolverines collected 10 three-pointers in the game, scored by six different players.

Inter-City 70, PCA 43: Long-distance shooting was the difference in this game Friday, played at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

The Chargers poured in a dozen three-pointers, outpointing Plymouth Christian Academy 15-5 in the second quarter and 23-12 in the third. The Eagles were 0-for-3 on triple tries.

The loss left PCA at 8-8 overall, 4-6 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Clay Welton led the Eagles with 13 points. Daniel Carty scored eight and Xander Younce and Aaron Ciborowski got six apiece.

Four players reached double figures in scoring for Inter-City. Ben Dawson with 16, Josh Claypool and Jeremy Rayburn with 12 apiece, and Brandon Manus with 10.

Spring skiing offers value and fun!

When the weather begins to warm and signs of spring abound, Michigan's ski slopes and shops offer some great programs and discounts. "We really want people to continue to think skiing," says Steve Kershner, president of the Michigan Ski Industries Association and Director of Skiing at Shanty Creek. To keep people in the ski and snowboard frame of mind, Michigan's ski areas offer some wild special events and reduced rate packages. Ski shops get into the picture too by dropping prices on most of their inventory, making it a great time to shop for clothing and equipment. Here is a rundown of spring special offers by some of Michigan's ski areas and shops.

Apple Mountain in Freeland (989) 781-0170 is holding their Spring Fling Festival on March 2 and their Cardboard Classic Race on March 3. During the Cardboard Classic, contestants race down the hill on homemade cardboard vehicles.

A ski package more commonly offered at popular western ski resorts is now available through Boyne 1 800 GO BOYNE and Shanty Creek, in Bellare 1 800 678-4111 in northern Michigan. This season, Boyne USA Resorts and Shanty Creek present the "Fab Five." Five nights of lodging at any combination of the resorts plus daily lift tickets. Prices start at $55 (per person per day based on double occupancy). Skiers and snowboarders can now have that out west winter week experience close to home. *and Stephen Kircher, a Principal of Boyne USA Resorts "We feel Boyne and Shanty Creek are an unbeatable combination for offering fun, value and service." The special deal will also offer an alternative to air travel for those choosing a winter vacation close to home. *Guests will experience their favorite amenities at each Michigan ski resort. From cross-country skiing on Shanty Creek's White Stampede race trail to taking part in a snowboard exhibition at Boyne Mountain in Boyne Falls or even enjoying a snowshoe tour and campfire lunch at Boyne Highlands in Harbor Springs, it's all about getting the most out of each winter sports vacation. In addition, Boyne Highlands is holding its annual Crazy Days and Carnival Weekend March 16 and 17 with costume parties, live bands, ski contests and races. Boyne will continue to offer its "Super Value Ski Week" package of five days/nights. Guests receive a Super Value Pass for the Mountain and Highlands plus 50% off lift tickets at Boyne's non-Michigan resorts. Lodging, meals and group lessons are included each day.

Caberria Peaks in Cadillac (231) 862-3000 will host a Hawaiian Tropic Pageant March 2, 2002. The event features Clubwear and Bikini contests, live music and prizes. Look for contestants on the slopes and in the lodge throughout the weekend. The fun begins at 6:00 pm in the Blackmer Lodge. Lift tickets are required for admission.

that included Matt Vivian, Mike Horgan and Kevin Schopieray in a state-qualifying 22 42

Salem won in 1 34 16, its second-place team of Eric Lynn, Kevin Kilgore, Penn Chou and Bill Clark was clocked at 1 37 03

North had just one first-place finish, and that came in the 400 freestyle relay, with Sermet Alver, Brian Clayson, Mohamad Bachrouche and Jason Bank winning in 3 33 07

The Rocks had two double-winners in individual events Nick Dixon finished first in the 200 free (1 52 82) and the 100 backstroke (57 59), and Ben Dzialo won the 200 individual medley (2 06 64) and the 500 free (4 59 31)

Other individual winners for Salem were Matt Showalter in the 100 breaststroke (1 06 49), Lynn in the 100 free (48 75), Horgan in the 100 butterfly (59 99), Nick England in diving (173 25 points), and Johnson in the 50 free (22 77)

Salem's Lynn, Showalter, Dzialo and Jim Franks also teamed for a first in the 200 medley relay (1 45 88)

So what about what's next? "We need to win the league meet," answered Salem coach Chuck Olson with no hesitation "We had some good scares tonight We just touched some people out"

Salem has already qualified all of its relays and most of its key individuals for state meet The MISCA meet, which was Saturday, and the WLAA meet, which is Thursday (swimming preliminaries), Friday (diving) and Saturday (swim finals) at Salem, will provide the last real chance at qualifying others

Olson is looking for others to qualify in other events — "The more options you have, the better off you are You have a little more flexibility" — but it isn't his greatest concern

"Winning the league meet comes first," he reiterated "Do that and the state meet qualifiers will take care of themselves"

The conference prelims begin at 1 p.m. Thursday, the diving is at 2 30 p.m. Friday, and the finals start at noon Saturday

Canton crushes N'ville

Plymouth Canton won nine of 11 events with Matt Wisniewski gaining two individual firsts, to beat host Northville 122-64 in a WLAA dual meet Thursday

The Chiefs concluded their dual meet season in solid fashion, even if it has been a busy finish Canton had five competitions in a 10-day span that ended yesterday

Which should prepare them for what's ahead the WLAA championships later this week

"We definitely feel we're ready," said Canton coach Ed Weber "We're going to go in there and do what we said we would — look good and swim fast"

"Anything's possible" Wisniewski's wins came in the 200-yard freestyle, in which he outdueled Northville's John Moors (Wisniewski, first in a state-qualifying 1 47 97, Moors, also a state-qualifying 1 49 21), and in the 100 free (51 52) Moors did get one of two Northville firsts, taking the 500 free (5 09 40)

Other individual-event winners for Canton were Brad Herbeck in the 200 individual medley (2 16 35), Joe Le in the 50 free (23 15), Yuhel Uno in the 100 butterfly (56 50), Brad Nilson in the 100 backstroke (57 77), and Dennis Speck in the 100 breaststroke (1 07 92)

The Chiefs also finished first in the 200 free relay, with Ryan wrestlers, Phil Portellos (171) and Quentin Arndt (189), were out of action, Portellos since late December with a knee injury and Arndt by choice, opting to be on the cheerleading team instead

Canton wasn't in any better condition physically Among the missing Greg Musser, a potential state qualifier at 145, injured his elbow in practice and was lost for the season and Mike Bonner (171) suffered a season-ending concussion at the WLAA Tournament last Saturday

Stull, Chiefs' coach John Demicks believed his team would put up a better battle against Salem "It's too bad you have two quality teams like that, with one eliminating the other," he said

"They were deeper than us And I think their guys wanted it more I thought we were within two or three points of each other at the beginning of the year"

They weren't at the end Salem took control of the meet (which started with the 125-pound division) from the start, winning the first three matches (two by pin) to open up a 15-0 lead

Perhaps the biggest surprise came at 130, where Canton's Doy Demicks — a state quarter-finalist last season — squared off against Salem's Mike Goethe, normally a tough 125-pounder Goethe won the match, 5-2

"Mike learned he can move up a class and still win, said Woochuk "He really stepped up tonight"

So did Alan Mylnek at 125 who pinned Canton's Dustin Armer in 56 to get the ball rolling in Salem's direction Goethe's victory was next, followed by Nathan Dillard's pin of Derek Robinson in 1 09 at 135

"Nathan did what we had hoped to see from him all season long," said Woochuk

By the time Salem's Craig Blair pinned Tim Larsen in 1 47 at 171, the Rocks had built a 32 7 lead The Chiefs narrowed the gap to 32-16 when Shahein Rajae pinned Jordan Schaefer in 1 08 at 189 and, in what might have been the most entertaining match of the night, Phil Rothwell (now 37 0) edged Zack Jensen 9-6 at 215

The Rocks clinched the meet victory in the next match, however, when Jeremy Walker pinned an undersized Matt Bennett (only 192 pounds) in 1 45 in the 275 division

"We performed well," said Woochuk "Everybody had to

'Black Widow' Lee eyes tournament

Jeanette Lee, known as The Black Widow, will invade Snookers in Livonia as part of the Canadian Club Sharpshooter Challenge on Friday, Feb 22

Snookers is located at 27630 Schoolcraft (at Inkster Road)

Lee has been named The Black Widow because of her tenacious ability to devour opponents, along with her custom of wearing black

She will play an exhibition match starting at 8 p.m. and take on the tournament winners

Ms Lee turned pro in 1993, and in less than two years, was the No. 1-ranked women's professional in the world

BILLIARDS

Her success, poised and exotic beauty have enabled her to expand beyond the women's pro billiards tour into national recognition

She was diagnosed with scoliosis at age 13, and has undergone numerous operations

Currently ranked third in the world, Ms Lee captured the first-ever gold medal at the World Games in Akita, Japan

A national grass roots billiards tournament, the Canadian Club event gives 32 lucky competitors a shot against the world's No. 3-ranked player in the world

Ms Lee will be challenged at the Livonia stop for a $1,000 prize. For each match she wins, Canadian Club will donate $1,000 to the National Scoliosis Association

Forty players will compete for the regional title, one of 22 being staged nationally through March. The regional winners will earn $1,000, while the runner-ups receive $500

Local regional entries include Tim Taylor (Livonia), Corey Mangan (Redford) and Chris

Flavin (Plymouth)

The 44 regional tournament winners then advance to the 2001-02 National Finals this April in Las Vegas, Nev.

The overall winner will earn the title, $5,000 and a chance to take the Canadian Club Million Dollar Shot by sinking the 8-ball off the break for $1 million

"I wholeheartedly endorse Canadian Club's effort to help grow the sport," Ms Lee said. "I look forward to coming to town, promoting the program, taking on the best local players and winning money for the National Scoliosis Association"

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Triathlon at YMCA

The Team Challenge Tri 2002 and Y-Tri will take place Sunday, March 24, at the Farmington Hills YMCA at 12 Mile and Farmington roads

The two triathlon events are sponsored by the YMCA, Sunrise Runners Club and Ford Athletic Swim and Triathlon (FAST). Participants can do one or both races

The Team Challenge event (three athletes per team) consists of a 1K swim, 30K bike and 5K run, plus three modest-intensity mystery events of endurance, strength and coordination

Each athlete participates in each event. Scores are based on time. Bonus points are awarded for coed, youngest and oldest teams

The Y-Tri consists of swimming, riding a stationary bike and running/walking on a treadmill for 15 minutes each. Scores are based on distance

There will be a mandatory, pre-race meeting and bike setup at 7 a.m. for the Team Challenge. Athletes must provide their own bike, computer and trainer. The event starts at 7:30 a.m. The start time for the Y-Tri will be on a first-come basis between 9 a.m. and noon

The entry fee is $15 per triathlete and should be payable to Farmington Hills YMCA Mail or delivered to Y-Tri, 28100 Farmington Rd., Farmington Hills, MI 48334, attn P.J. Jones. For more information call Jones at (248) 553-4020, ext. 122

Flag football

Total Soccer in Wixom will run 7-vs-7 Flag Football Leagues on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from March 5 through April 25. This fast-paced indoor league is for those 18 years and older. Flags are provided. Team rosters are a maximum of 14

League fee is $799 per team. There's a six-team minimum, 12-team maximum for Tuesdays and a 16-team maximum for Thursdays. For more information, call Total Soccer at (248) 669-9817

Anyone interested in submitting items to Sports Scene or Sports Roundup may send them to sports editor C.J. Risak, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150 or may FAX them to (734) 591-7279

"Everyone played pretty well," Perrin said. "It was the Randin show tonight. Her level of play has really risen over the course of the season."

"It's rare when we don't have an advantage at setter (Brown) has become a strong contender for all-conference at the setter position. It makes life easier when you have a senior setter who's playing that well."

For the Falcons, it's nice everyone's playing so well. For the Chiefs, it would be nice just to have everyone playing

Parkinson's Disease

The Michigan Parkinson Foundation will hold a seven-week education series for people with Parkinson's and their family members 6:30-8:30 p.m. Mondays, March 4 through April 15 at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

The series provides an in-depth look at Parkinson's Disease and how to manage it. Speakers for the series include Dr. Peter A. Le Witt, an internationally known movement disorder specialist, and a multidisciplinary team of healthcare professionals.

Attendance is limited, and pre-registration is required. Contact the Michigan Parkinson Foundation at (248) 433-1001 or (800) 852-9781.

Prostate lectures

The Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute will start a new prostate supper lecture series at its newest location in Farmington Hills, the Lawrence and Idell Weisberg Cancer Treatment Center, 31995 Northwestern Highway (just north of Middlebelt Road), Farmington Hills.

The informational series will discuss treatment options, short- and long-term effects of treatment and the pathology of prostate cancer. The supper lectures are free and open to the public.

Hosting the educational sessions will be Dr. Jeffrey Forman, director of the Weisberg Cancer Treatment Center and professor and chairman of the Department of Radiation Oncology, Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute and Wayne State University.

Coloring contest

February is National Children's Dental Health Month. To celebrate, the Michigan Dental Association, the Michigan Dental Foundation and Crest are sponsoring the ninth annual statewide coloring contest, Don't Let Your Smile Become Extinct. Children in grades kindergarten through sixth are eligible for the contest and prizes will be awarded.

Children are encouraged to be creative by using crayons, pencils, markers, beads, or even paint to color the special coloring sheet. All entries must be received by March 4. Winners will be notified by April 1.

For a copy of the coloring contest picture and entry form, contact a Michigan Dental Association member dentist, visit the MDA Web site at www.smilemichigan.com, or contact April Stopczynski at the Michigan Dental Association, 230 N. Washington Square, Suite 208, Lansing, MI 48933-1392, phone (517) 372-9070, ext. 417, e-mail astop@michigandental.org.

DISORDER

U-M study seeks to help teens with obsessive-compulsive disorder

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

Hand-washing, counting, straightening, checking and rechecking.

Coping with the stresses of adolescence is tough enough. But as many as one in 50 teenagers bears the added burden of a mental illness that causes anxiety-producing obsessions in their minds, or compulsions to perform certain acts over and over again. Sadly, many never get effective help for their condition, known as Obsessive Compulsive Disorder or OCD.

These teens are prisoners of thought and behavior.

Dr. Joseph Himle, a clinical professor in the University of Michigan's Department of Psychiatry, heads up a new study that will try to help teens with OCD cope with their condition and produce much-needed scientific answers about the effectiveness of non-medication therapies.

The study involves teens age 13 to 17 years old who will meet for three months of weekly 90-minute sessions in a vigorous group format. Participants' parents or guardians may attend three sessions. However, interaction between participants is an important factor in the study, Himle said.

Unfortunately, most teens and adults affected by OCD do not seek help.

"The usual experience is that they never tell anyone, and they never get help. It is dismissed as a habit, something you grow out of. Only a small portion of those with OCD are ever correctly diagnosed and treated," Himle said.

The outcome is negative for those whose OCD is ignored, he added.

"If left untreated, the course of Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder tends to be chronic, worsening over life and often affecting ability to perform well in school and at work, as well as to establish good relationships with family and friends."

What is OCD?

The Anxiety Disorders Association of America defines OCD as such:

"Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder is characterized by uncontrollable obsessions and compulsions that the sufferer usually recognizes as being excessive or unreasonable. Obsessions are recurring thoughts or impulses that are intrusive or inappropriate and cause the sufferer anxiety."

Common obsessions include:

■ Thoughts about contamination. An individual may fear coming in contact with dirt, germs or "unclean" objects.

■ Persistent doubts. Have I turned off the iron, locked the door or turned on the answering machine?

■ Extreme need for orderliness.

■ Aggressive impulses or thoughts. Someone may be overcome with the urge to yell "fire" in a crowded theater.

Compulsions are repetitive behaviors or rituals. Rituals like washing, straightening, repeating are often performed to reduce anxiety and obsessive thinking," Himle said.

The ADAA cites these common compulsions:

■ Cleaning. An individual who fears germs and contamination may clean constantly, repeatedly washing their hands and showering, or constantly cleaning their home.

■ Checking. An individual may check several or even hundreds of times to make sure the stoves are turned off and doors are locked.

■ Repeating. Some OCD sufferers repeat a name phrase or action over and over.

■ Slowness. Some people may take an excessively slow and methodical approach to daily activities. They may spend hours organizing and arranging objects.

■ Hoarding. Hoarders are unable to throw away useless items, such as old newspapers, junk mail, even broken appliances. Sometimes the hoarding reaches the point where whole rooms are filled with saved items.

The symptoms range from minor to substantial rituals, Himle said.

"It would be common for someone with OCD to wash their hands according to a certain count. If there were any mistakes they would have to start again. Most of the rituals — checking, straightening, repeating — are usually done to certain rules."

Causes

According to the Anxiety Disorders Association of America, OCD affects 3.3 million adults in the United States, or 2.3 percent of the population. It is equally common among men and women. It is more common than schizophrenia, bi-polar disease or panic attacks, Himle said.

The average age of onset is 18, however, one third of OCD sufferers had their first symptoms in childhood, an indication of a genetic component.

"The earlier the onset the more likely it runs in families," Himle said. "Those who develop it later in life almost always do not have family members with OCD."

Dr. Joseph Himle

Living with OCD

The subject of this story did not want his real name used.

Joe, a 15-year-old Birmingham high school sophomore, noticed his first symptoms of OCD during the beginning of fourth grade.

"I was just real anxious much of the time. I remember we'd have homework, real simple stuff like spelling words, and I'd worry that my paper wasn't neat enough. That was weird because in the past I wouldn't have worried about it."

Joe also worried about getting kidnapped. "I don't know where that came from," he said.

When he went to bed, he became afraid to open his eyes, afraid that someone was there. He thought that people were looking at him through the air vents. He began checking things over and over, and he started washing his hands repeatedly.

"They got kind of dry," he said.

Even at 9 years old, Joe knew something was wrong. He tried to talk to his parents, he said, but "everything to them seemed normal."

That October, he decided to reign in his fears and put an end to his ritualistic behavior.

"I told myself I'd stop by New Year's. That came and went, and I didn't stop."

Please see OCD, C7

The causes of OCD are uncertain, Himle said. Most likely, it is a combination of factors, both inherited and environmental, such as general life stress or a specific traumatic stress: divorce, death of a loved one, or a move to a new area.

"Many have a vulnerability to OCD and given the right circumstances this disorder presents itself," Himle said, adding that "sometimes it presents itself without stresses."

A very small percentage of OCD, especially when associated with body and facial tics, is related to strep infections.

Although Himle is not against medications for treatment of OCD, he advocates for behavioral treatment, such as Exposure and Response Prevention Therapy. With such therapy, the patient confronts a threatening situation where he feels compelled to perform a ritual, then blocks that ritual.

"The reward for the patient comes from finally confronting and preventing the ritual," Himle said.

As with many physical disorders, some symptoms of OCD may persist after treatment, Himle said.

Egg donation extends child-bearing years

BY RHONDA SHAFNER
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

Like most mothers, Judy Bershak is a proud and effusive parent who will tell you not only how remarkable her 5-year-old daughter is — how Sarah knew her full address including her ZIP code at the age of 2, how she tap dances and plays piano — but also how sweet-tempered she is and how beautiful.

"We got the Gerber baby," she says.

What makes Bershak decidedly different from most mothers with a 5-year-old is that Bershak is 55. She gave birth to her daughter at age 50, after she had gone through menopause.

She did it with the help of an assisted reproductive technology called egg donation, using an egg from a younger woman. In Bershak's case, the donor was a 25-year-old art student who was paid $2,500.

Occasionally, someone assumes Bershak is the grandmother, but she says that doesn't bother her.

"I am old enough to be her grandmother," she says spiritedly.

But in 2002 in the United States, she is also young enough to be a first-time mother. And the number of women like her is growing.

The number of births to women aged 45-54 rose to 4,565 in 2000, the last year for which figures are available. Though a small percentage of all births, this is the highest number recorded for that age group in more than three decades, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and that's due at least in part to fertility-enhancing therapies.

The percentage of women having children after age 44 was higher in 1960 than it is now, because more women then continued to have children until they hit menopause. Lacking convenient, reliable contraceptives, they lacked today's choices about when to have children.

Why are women today choosing to have a child later in life?

Judy Bershak says she simply hadn't met anyone she wanted to marry until she turned 44. But because of her age, she and her husband, David Cook, couldn't conceive.

Initially, the couple turned to adoption, but were defrauded of $10,000.

‘However our treatments in adults have shown to be helpful and gains have remained for many years’

He emphasized that the treatment of OCD should not be perceived as being different from that of many physical problems. If treatment for OCD does not ‘cure’ the problem, it is not a failure

“Ongoing maintenance of diabetes or high blood pressure is common place. Ongoing help for mental problems is also commonplace. There should be no disparity”

For more information on the U M OCD/Adolescence study, contact Dr. Himle at (734) 647-8354

His mother contacted a psychiatrist who referred the family to Daniel Fischer, clinical assistant professor, Child Psychiatry, University of Michigan. Fischer worked with Joe to modify his behavior

“If I’d have trouble with germs, like washing my hands, he would limit my washings or he’d tell me not to do it at all. We had a turtle, and I was afraid of germs. He’d tell me to go by it, to touch the cage,” said Joe

At first the behavior-modification therapy stressed Joe, but then things became easier. Joe began to wash his hands less and less “I’d go a lot more days without washing my hands. Then, I basically stopped”

For the most part, Joe’s obsessive-compulsive behavior subsided in fifth grade and all through middle school. If it occasionally popped up, he’d call Fischer

With high school came a growth spurt and a change in brain chemistry. Joe’s OCD returned. He took Paxil, a serotonin re-uptake inhibitor, for a year. It helped

Today, Joe is no longer taking medication and is feeling great “I’m really not troubled with it (OCD) anymore,” he said. “It’s something that’s pretty easy to manage. I have a pretty mild case. None of my friends are aware of it”

“It was a horrendous year and a half out of our lives,” Bershak says

A neighbor told them about egg donation

“Last chance,” says Bershak, a Los Angeles school teacher. She and her husband requested that the donor have light eyes, as they do, and be of medium height. They were able to examine a 27-page dossier on the eventual donor’s background, from schooling to religion to medical history

Sarah has been a joy, and Bershak says her own age has not been any more of an issue in keeping up with her child than it is for any other mother

She continues early-morning workouts that she began 20 years ago, and gets help from her husband, who is 35

Sarah has brought her parents closer to their own families, and Bershak wishes her daughter could also meet the egg donor — though that’s impossible because as in most cases, the records are sealed

Helene Rosenberg, another egg recipient, is perfectly happy not to have the donor’s identity known though, like Bershak, she is open with her children about the fact that there was a donor

Rosenberg, an education professor at Rutgers University, is in her early 50s. She and her husband Yacov Epstein, 60, a psychologist, live in Highland Park, N.J.

As with Bershak, regular exercise keeps Rosenberg’s energy level high. “I get up at 5 and do the treadmill from 5:30 to 6 or so”

Because she looks older, younger mothers sometimes ask her for advice

“People see me as wiser,” she says. “And I’m surprised. My kids are exactly the same age, and I don’t know any more than they do”

Why did Rosenberg put off having children? She, too, didn’t meet Mr. Right until her mid-40s. But there was another reason. She grew up in the generation that was told women could “have it all” — delaying a family until they had established a career

“No one ever talked about a decline in fertility except for menopause, which seemed to be happening well into one’s 50s. If someone had informed me, I might have reconsidered things,” she said

Dr. Richard Paulson, head of the infertility program at the University of Southern California medical school and co-author of Rewinding Your Biological Clock, is a pioneer in helping older women get pregnant with egg donation. He explains the procedure: Eggs are retrieved from a younger woman and combined with sperm in a glass dish. The resulting embryos are transferred into the older woman’s uterus. Often, more than one embryo is transferred in case they don’t all successfully implant

Egg donation has been around since 1983 for younger women, Paulson and his team first reported their success with women over 40 in 1990, and in 1993 for women over 50

Demand is high for donor eggs, and some wait up to a year to receive them

In Paulson’s program, the parents-to-be go through psychological as well as physical screening

“If anything,” Paulson says, “the older couples have an easier time, many of them have waited so long to have this, and the child is such a blessing”

TROCHANTERIC BURSTITIS

In past years, 1986 and again in 1996, I discussed trochanteric bursitis. Then physicians considered the condition as arising from inflammation of a bursa between the gluteus maximus muscle and the underlying bone. The gluteus maximus is a large muscle that begins in the low back and anchors into the middle third of the leg. It is the muscle that forms the buttock area.

Doctors made the diagnosis of trochanteric bursitis on the site of pain lateral to the hip and its radiation usually down the leg to the knee and behind the hip to the lower back. Treatment consisted of heat and massage, medications such as ibuprofen or other nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs or injection. The condition could re-occur despite treatment.

Recent research casts doubt on these ideas of cause and raises questions about the rationale for treatment. Several studies using Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) reveal that the source of irritation is not the gluteus maximus muscle but the gluteus medius muscle. This structure originates on the outside of the pelvis bone and anchors in the back of the head of the femur. The evidence is compelling that the gluteus maximus muscle and the bursa under it are not inflamed.

Massage and/or injection at the bursal site has enjoyed success over the years. Why such therapy worked and what physicians should do differently in light of recent findings is unclear. In the meantime you may see your physician using medication, massage and injection procedures different from what he did in the past. Now the medical community is engaged in the effort to integrate new findings into better therapy.

Southfield apartments convert to condos

The North Park Square Apartments in Southfield, known for premier luxury living when built in 1967-68, is converting to condominiums with the nameplate Legacy Place.

Some 170 two- and three-bedroom residences off Providence Drive south of Nine Mile between Southfield and Greenfield roads will be renovated, then offered for sale.

Prices start at $149,900 for a two-bedroom, two-bathroom home of 1,600 square feet and $167,400 for a three-bedroom, two-bath of 1,870 square feet. Courtyard views, lower-level units and end units are higher. The residences are clustered in 44, two-story buildings.

"The big attraction here is this was developed as a very high-end, exclusive apartment," said Andrew M. Barbas, managing member of the company renovating and selling Legacy Place.

"They're very attractive units, very large units. They're selling at a very fair price," Barbas said.

Dennis P. Dickstein of Ralph Manuel Associates is the broker for Legacy Place.

"I think people will be surprised with the spaciousness of the units," he said. "They have an open feeling and closet space. Almost every woman has commented, 'This has more closet space than I have clothes.'"

"Visitors like the looks of the buildings," Dickstein added. "They say, 'This almost looks new,' and 'It doesn't look like it was built in the late '60s.'"

"They get a garage instead of a carport. That's a big item for a lot of people," Dickstein said. "It's a very well-maintained project. They are impressed with that."

"The location is excellent," Barbas said. "Wherever you work in the city, it's very central. It's not far from Eight Mile, 696. You've got Southfield Road right here and you can jump on Northwestern, Northland shopping mall and Providence Hospital are right around the corner."

"I think we're selling spaciousness, convenience, airness and the fact that it's renovated. People like newness," Dickstein said.

Going condominium: The former North Park Square Apartments in Southfield were considered the cream of the crop when built in the late 1960s.

All roofs at Legacy Place have been replaced within the last five years and a cement siding installed within the past two years, Barbas said. The brick and windows have held up well and won't be replaced.

Each residence has its own air conditioning processor, furnace and water heater which will be replaced on an as-needed basis before sale. All systems will be warranted for one year.

Prior to sale, units will be painted and re-carpeted. Vinyl flooring will be replaced in the kitchen and in the laundry/utility room.

Cabinets, sinks, lighting and plumbing fixtures will be replaced in kitchens and baths. Each unit will be equipped with a new refrigerator, range, microwave and dishwasher unless they had been replaced within the last couple years.

Each residence will have a patio or balcony and space for one car in a brick garage.

Both the three-bedroom and two-bedroom units have a similar layout featuring a kitchen/nook, dining area, living room, a large storage closet and owner's suite with shower and wrap around closet.

Farmhouse features attractive to larger family

Compact, the Jones Farm (D8011) is a farmhouse designed in the old sense of the word.

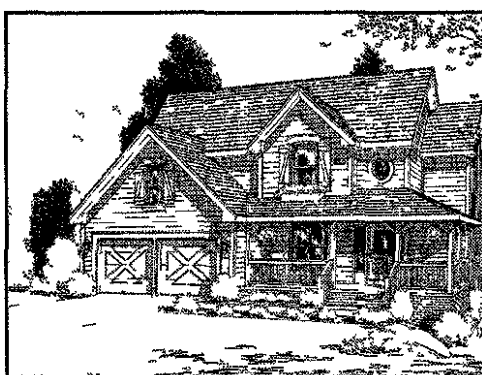

It has shutters around the windows, barn styled doors on the garage, a front covered porch and the simplistic lines of the old farmhouses of our ancestors. The eye appeal is that of warmth and friendly welcome.

Crossing the covered porch, the front door opens into the entry facing the great room.

On the left side is the formal dining room, separated from the great room by a dividing wall. On the left wall is a long built-in hutch, ideal for displaying family heirloom dishes and the crystal of yesteryear.

A half bath is between the dining room and the living room. Backing up to the half bath is the pantry and a storage closet. Opposite is the utility room with a door opening into the garage in-between.

The kitchen is long and open to the living room and nook. The cabinets run down the entire outside wall, ending in a built-in desk. It gives an extreme amount of storage area. The island in the middle ties the kitchen to the living room.

A see-through fireplace from the great room is visible from the kitchen and adds warmth to the rooms. The nook is in its own alcove, with a door opening out to the back yard.

A great room is open and yet cozy with the see-through fireplace bathing the room in a warm glow. There are numerous windows in the back of the room that bathe the room in natural light.

A stairway going upstairs and also to the optional unfinished basement is at the edge of the great room.

All the bedrooms are located on the second floor.

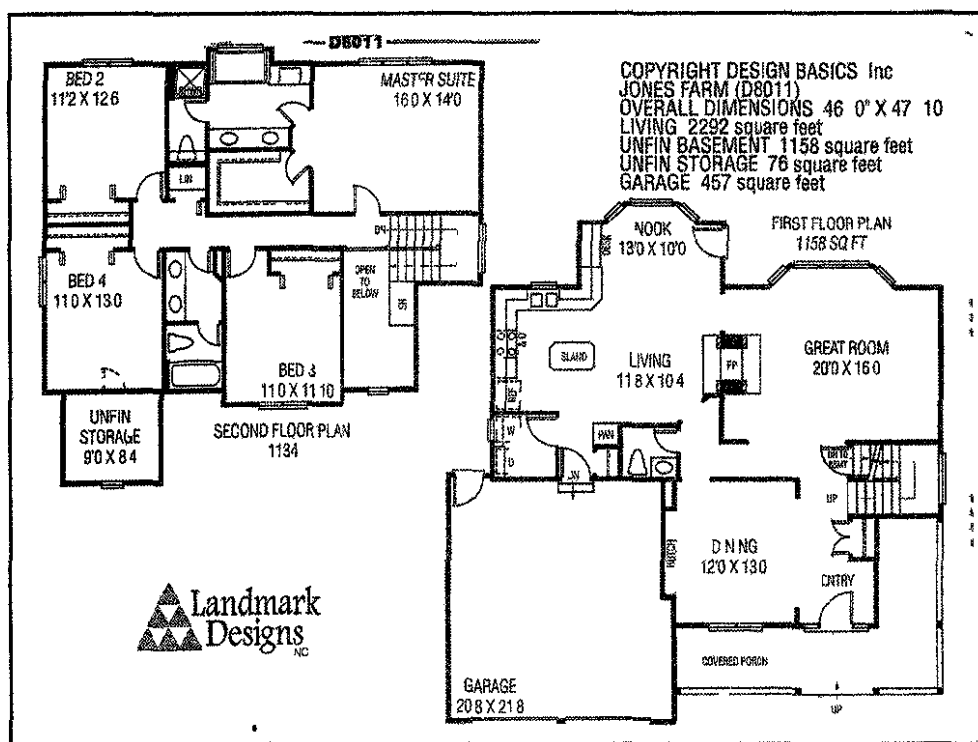

The master suite is in the rear with a master bath. An oversized tub and a shower with dual sinks grace the master bath, with a large walk-in closet adjacent.

Bedrooms 2, 3 and 4 all have wall closets, large windows for extra light and a share a full bath with a tub and dual sinks. Off bedroom 4 is an optional unfinished storage room.

This plan is so traditionally a farmhouse that it stands out in its simplicity. It would be ideal for a large family, and with the basement, more bedrooms, a game room and bathrooms could be added.

For a study plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations and an artist rendering, send $24.95 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Road E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424. Please specify plan name (Jones Farm) and the number (D8011).

A catalog featuring hundreds of home plans is available for $12.95. Or save by ordering both for $29.95. For faster processing, call (800) 562-1151 or visit the Web at www.landmarkdesigns.com.

Save money on winter heating costs with proper furnace

When it's cold outside, you want it to be warm inside, but without breaking the bank.

In the past I have discussed the merits of insulation, sealing air leaks and other basic tips that will help you save money on your energy bill. But there are two big things you can do to keep your bill lower and your house warmer. Install a programmable thermostat and a properly sized furnace for your home.

What most people don't realize is that for every degree lower you set your thermostat you save three percent on your energy bill.

So just by setting your thermostat from 72 to 70 degrees you save six percent on your bill — and programmable thermostats take the work out of that task for you. You can save around $30-$40 annually, which is just about what they cost, so that cost can be recouped within a year of installation.

These thermostats will turn down the heat when you are away from your home or sleeping, whatever pattern and temperatures you choose.

Get the right furnace

The second thing is a bit larger — your furnace. Most people think the furnace they have is the right size for their home, but that isn't always true. The size of a furnace needed for a home shouldn't be determined by square footage or by simply matching the size of the existing furnace.

The only way to know for sure is for the contractor to do a heat loss/heat gain calculation. The calculation takes things like windows, doors, insulation and your basement into consideration and figures out the proper size furnace. And bigger isn't better. If your furnace is too big for your home, it will heat your home too quickly and then shut off too quickly, which leads to hot and cold cycles of 10 minutes. I like to call it the 10 minute on/10 minute off sweater cycle.

It is easy to tell if your furnace is the right size for your house. On a 30-degree day (approximately), your furnace should run in about 15-minute cycles. If it runs less than 15 minutes, it is probably too big. So when it's time to buy a new furnace, make sure your contractor uses a heat loss/heat gain calculation.

One last thing, when you buy a new furnace, buy the most energy efficient model you can afford. The efficiencies will pay for themselves. One thing to keep in mind is that the new, high-efficiency furnaces are designed to run for longer amounts of time and blow less hot air than older, less efficient furnaces. This will increase the comfort level in your house.

Please note that your electric bill may slightly increase, but your gas bill will decrease by a greater amount and is worth it.

Larry Kaufman of DTE Energy's Residential and Small Business Marketing group has conducted more than 50 energy savings workshops for the utility and is an expert advisor on home energy efficiency.

Kitchen island becoming oasis

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

The island kitchen, per se, is not a new concept. But its growing popularity stems from a shift in how home owners view their dining needs.

The formal dining room was once considered a necessity for those rare occasions when one might have a formal dinner gathering.

In hectic — and increasingly casual — modern lifestyles, the formal dining room is little more than a mail room or dumping ground for coats and bags. Why heat and cool space that functions as storage?

The solution to this waste dilemma as many designers have found is to create one spot that is suitable for all forms of dining and to make better use of kitchen islands and snack bars for serving and enjoying meals.

A change in lighting and ceiling heights, plus an upgrade of the kitchen's overall appearance, allows the kitchen dining area to meet many needs as it becomes the new family room.

Dowel can anchor door screws

BY SCOTT GIBSON FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

After a door has been opened and closed thousands of times in that new home, the screws that attach the hinge leaves to the doorjamb can loosen, causing the door to sag and bind.

If this has happened to one of your doors, first make sure these screws are long enough to extend through the jamb into the trimmer stud behind it. The screw should penetrate it by 1-1/2 inches.

You might need to replace screws that have worked loose. One old trick is to fill the screw hole in the jamb with toothpicks or wood match sticks and glue, giving the new screw something to bite into.

But on heavy exterior doors you need something more substantial than that, like a length of hardwood dowel.

You don't even have to remove the door to make the repair. Start with any of the hinges, but work on one at a time. A tapered shim wedged between the floor and outside corner of the opened door will keep the door in place while you make the repair.

To remove a stripped screw that won't back out, work a thin blade beneath the edge of the screwhead and pry gently while you turn it with a screwdriver (wear safety glasses).

With the screws out, flip the hinge leaf out of the way. Drill out the holes with a bit the same size as the dowel, in this case 3/8 inch.

Cut the dowels slightly shorter than the depth of the hole and coat them liberally with yellow carpenter's glue before tapping them into place with a hammer. Although yellow glue sets up quickly, it's best to let the dowels sit for an hour or two before you drill new pilot holes and drive in new screws.

The third bedroom in that plan has a wet-bar sink. A closet can be built into the third bedroom for a $1,000 premium.

Legacy Place also features an outdoor swimming pool and clubhouse.

Pets are allowed.

Legacy Place is serviced by city water, sewers, sidewalks and is within the Oak Park school boundaries.

The property tax rate is $40.95 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price. That means the owners of a $160,000 home there would pay about $3,300 the first year.

The monthly association fee, which includes water, lawn mowing, snowplowing and exterior maintenance, is $165 for a two-bedroom, $185 for three.

Turn sunroom into wintergarden

(NAPSA) — The word wintergarden comes from early Europeans who built lovely glass rooms filled with plants and surrounded by nature for the sole purpose of rest and relaxation.

They believed relaxation to be an important part of life. Indeed, the more time one had to lounge and play, the more sophisticated one was considered to be.

If you have a sunroom in your new home, you can create the nurturing environment of a wintergarden for yourself, even in the dead of winter.

Wintergardens are simply glass rooms that are lavished with plants, rocks, miniature waterfalls and other elements from nature. Their purpose — to rejuvenate the body and the soul in a natural surroundings filled with a healthy dose of sunshine.

Patio Enclosures, a designer, manufacturer and installer of sunrooms and solariums, says that any type of sunroom can be used to create the environment.

"It's easy to picture this setting in a full glass solarium, but a simple, glass-enclosed porch, one of the most popular types of sunrooms, can serve you as well," said Rick Jones, president of Patio Enclosures.

Thomas Ervin Let's Talk About Real Estate

"OVERPRICING CAN BE FATAL"

The most common and costly mistake homeowners make is overpricing their home when putting it on the market...

Today's buyers are much more knowledgeable than ever before. With computers, they know all the houses for sale in each price range...

Test The Market

Some sellers know their asking price is above the market, but they are in no hurry and want to see if they can find a buyer...

Need The Money For The Next House

Many sellers overprice their home because they need a certain sum of money from its sale in order to afford the next house they desire...

ADVICE: The asking price should attract showings, allow for negotiation and provide the seller with the highest possible profit...

Employers seek high quality help

The job market took a turn the middle of last year. Many workers who had felt secure in their positions found themselves laid off and searching for whatever they could find. Employers could be more selective about who they would hire.

A Career Fair, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 19, at the Troy Marriott will be an opportunity for job seekers to get back to work and for employers to match their needs with the right job applicants. The fair is co-sponsored by The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, CFG Inc. and the New Alice 106.7 FM, part of the Radio Group which owns seven metro radio stations.

"We're trying to match people with companies," said Jack Padley, manager of outside classified sales for The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. "Jobs are hard to find, it's difficult for anyone. We're trying to match employers with workers and get this area back working."

Despite the current downturn, employers still need to fill positions. "Sprint is looking for highly qualified candidates to fill open positions in its retail markets," said Mark Elliott, senior public relations manager for Sprint Wireless. "Sprint has, for example, opened seven stores in the Michigan area in the last year. We need to fill those positions."

Elliott said the company, a leader in wireless communications, has openings in a wide number of positions from customer service to technical service.

"There are even management positions that come open," Elliott said.

The high tech companies have taken a hit in recent years but jobs are still plentiful.

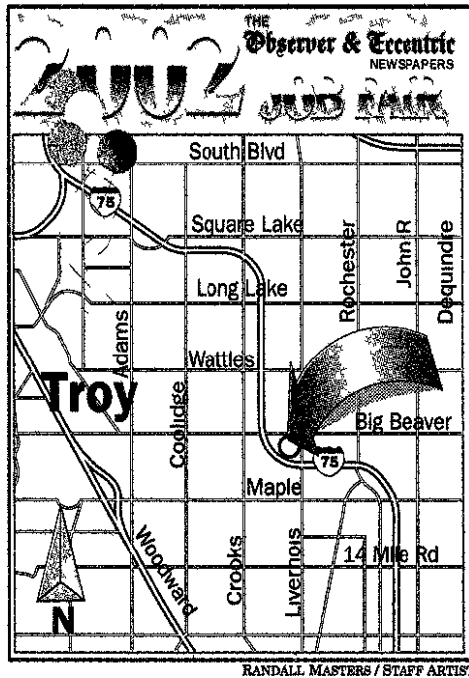

Meera Nair, human resources manager for Soft Labs Inc. of Livonia, said the company is participating in the career fair for the first time in hopes of recruiting some quality employees.

Soft Labs is a software consulting firm that contracts with companies around the country.

"We're looking for software designers, programmers and analysts. They should be willing to work anywhere in the country. It's a very mobile population," Nair said.

The Career Fair is not restricted to one employment field. Among the companies that will be represented are Burlington Coat Factory, Cintas Corp., Clear Channel Detroit, Colonial Life & Accident, Echostar, EDS, Jiffy Lube, Military Sealift Command, Pella Corp., Titan Insurance Co., the U.S. Army and Valvoline Instant Oil Change.

Jobless rate up at year's end

December seasonally unadjusted unemployment rates increased in 11 of the state's 12 major labor market areas, Dr. Barbara Bohn, director of the Michigan Department of Career Development, announced today.

Employment and labor force levels declined in all areas over the month.

"Michigan's major labor market areas recorded typical seasonal employment patterns in December," Dr. Bohn said. "Job gains in the retail sector were offset by declines in construction employment."

Jobless rate increases over the month for the 11 areas ranged from one-tenth to one and six-tenths of a percentage point, with a median increase of only four tenths of a percentage point.

From December 2000 to December 2001, jobless rates advanced in all 12 major labor market areas in Michigan. From November to December, employment levels decreased in each major labor market area, with a median decline of 1.2 percent. Most notable employment level declines were reported in the Northeast Lower Michigan Region (2.6 percent), and in the Upper Peninsula (2.3 percent).

Preliminary annual average data indicate that unemployment rates increased in all 12 of Michigan's major labor market areas from 2000 to 2001. Advances ranged from seven-tenths of a percentage point to one and nine-tenths of a percentage point, with a median gain of one and five tenths of a percentage point. Five areas recorded increases greater than the median gain: the Northeast Lower Michigan Region and the Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids and Jackson MSAs.

Since December 2000, 11 of the state's 12 major areas registered employment losses. The Detroit MSA recorded an employment drop of 66,000 or 2.9 percent over the year.

The monthly survey of employers indicated that seasonally unadjusted Michigan payroll jobs decreased in December by 12,000 to total 4,691,000. Typical seasonal job cuts were recorded in construction (-8,000), government (-4,000), and services (-3,000).

Michigan Humane Society ADOPT-A-PET

This Week's Featured Pet

Harley is a three-year-old bright golden eyed Domestic Shorthair male who is waiting to be adopted after being owner surrendered to the shelter. This orange striped tiger's last home turned him over into shelter care when he was unable to get along with the other cat at home. Although he is not good with other pets he is terrific with people-including kids! He enjoys receiving lots of attention and loves to stretch his mitten like paws towards you! Since he is litterbox trained and is very well mannered he should make an enjoyable pet to have around in a single pet home.

To make Harley your new pet, visit the Michigan Humane Society Westland Shelter, (734) 721-7300
