In profile

When Jennifer Tobin was a youngster growing up in New Martinsville, W Va , she and her siblings used to put on plays in their basement, with self constructed sets made of any material they could find

And Tobin 49 hasn t stopped acting since The West Virginia University graduate has spent her entire life acting out her interest in the arts, in one form or another She got her first public acting gig in the fourth grade, when she was eligible to try out for parts in a Civic League production

"That was it!" said Tobin, a Canton resident and now the executive director of the Plymouth Community Arts Council "I bet there hasn't been two months since then where I haven't been putting on a play "

The charismatic Tobin wields her passion for the arts like a club, and isn't afraid to hit people over the head with it From potential donors to school district officials, Tobin makes sure everyone within ear shot knows the importance of arts education

"People think I'm nuts, and they know I'm the arts witch with a 'b,'" she said "I've heard people say, 'It's nice you can be so passionate' I want to scream at them, 'You need to be passionate'"

It s a passion Tobin has been building since childhood, from those times in her basement The oldest of five children, she was in charge

"I had to be the director," she laughs now "We would make anything out of cardboard "

It was just the beginning Tobin got her bachelor of fine arts degree from West Virginia in 1976, did her master's work at Southern Illinois University She was on her way then, knowing only that her career needed to be in the arts somehow

She was working in Dallas when her mother died, and decisions had to be made Go home? Keep doing what she was doing? There was a sister still in high school, her baby brother was 12

An $11 million total reconstruction of Ann Arbor Road between General Drive and Newburgh Road is scheduled to begin in about six weeks

Rob Morosi, communications representative from Michigan Department of Transportation, said the first phase of the summer-long project will begin sometime between May 7-15 It will start at General Drive and continue to Gold Arbor Road, just west of Haggerty

"We're pinpointing this small area first because we have a railroad bridge and it's very cramped," said Morosi "What we're going to do is maintain one lane of eastbound traffic while we detour westbound motorists south on Haggerty, to westbound Joy, to General Drive We hope to accomplish this in 4-5 weeks "

Morosi said the second phase of the project will expand, going from General Drive to Hix Road

"Included in that area will be deck replacement work over I-275," he said

Wall honors students who overcome adversity

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe homecomm.net

When Sandra Sagear attended Plymouth High School in the 1960s, it was a daily showing of courage as the teen stricken with polio navigated the halls of what is now Central Middle School

Sagear, afflicted with polio at an early age, couldn't climb stairs with her heavy crutches and braces And, she didn't have the easy task of taking an elevator to the upper floors because there wasn't one in those days

Instead, in order to attend classes, Sandra sat and lifted herself up each step, one-by-one, with her arms and hands, every school day for three years without complaining or asking for help, before graduating in 1969

At 16 years old, Sandra became a spokesperson for the Plymouth Community Fund, the forerunner to the United Way And, after graduation in 1969, Sagear became an office manager and executive secretary

Her motto, "Can't never did anything Can did it all " She lived every day like that until her death nearly 10 years ago

To honor her resolve, the Sandra Sagear Memorial Wall is being constructed in the front hallway of the new Plymouth High School, which will open in the fall

"The 'Wall of Courage' will honor those students who have demonstrated courage and perseverance in the face of extraordinary adversity," said committee member Debra Madonna of Plymouth Township "The theme of the wall is 'Imagine' In order to overcome obstacles, she had to imagine she could And, she did "

The wall is being designed and constructed by Plymouth Township artist Dennis Jones It will be a multi-media presentation which will integrate the names of students honored each year

"We want to incorporate a sculpture with multiple figures, to represent other people who have gone through life with adversity and succeeded," said Jones "The wall will address Sandra's personality, how she related to others, and how she dealt with her handicap

"The alabaster stone will signify her strength and purity, and sense of her agility," he added "The white mural also brings out a calm strength in its overall appearance, and I think that's how she approached life "

Jerry Trumpka, a Plymouth A M Rotary Club member who is a also on the fund-raising committee, can understand the importance of the memorial Trumpka, like Sagear, suffered childhood polio

"After getting to know her story, there were a lot of similarities and ways I could relate to her," Trumpka said "In many ways, it's my story, too, and obviously it's the life story of thousands of people "

Trumpka said the "Wall of Courage" will cost $40,000 Of the total, $10,000 in donations were in-kind contributions So, the committee needs to raise $30,000

"So far, we're at about $8,500 in actual funds," he said "After we finish funding the wall, we'll start a scholarship fund for kids who have overcome adversity, not just physical handicaps "

Plymouth High School Principal Michael Bee said the wall will signify

Township dismayed by Engler veto

BY JACK GLADDEN
jgladden@oe.homecomm.net

A bill that would have allowed townships a voice in setting speed limits on local roads was vetoed by Gov John Engler earlier this month, a move that left Plymouth Township Supervisor Steve Mann frustrated and disappointed

Under current law cities have the right to establish speed limits on most roads in their communities, but in townships those limits are set by county road commissions or departments and the Michigan State Police Township officials have no voice in the process

House Bill 4022 would have allowed township officials to join with the road commission and state police in determining safe speeds on local roads At least two agencies would have to agree on the speed limit

The bill passed in the Michigan House late last year on a vote of 101 to 4 It passed in the Senate in February of this year 33 to 1 and was sent to the governor on March 5

Last week Engler vetoed the bill and sent it back to the House with a letter explaining his action

"I am concerned that, under this legislation, objective facts will be will be ignored in the face of emotional appeals to alter speed limits," Engler wrote "This bill could result in decisions made not on objective fact but by two of the parties in agreement with the third dissenting"

Engler's veto left Mann wondering how townships can get a voice in those decisions

"We were looking forward for once to having a seat at the table when speed limits are set," Mann said "It's currently handled by the state police with MDOT or the county, and the township is left out of it This would have at least given us a seat at the table"

Census data show that nearly 50 percent of the state's population now live in townships And it is local officials who field complaints about traffic safety and speed limits

The bill was supported by the Michigan Townships Association but opposed by the Department of State Police and the County Road Association of Michigan

Kids cruise in search of career choice

BY BRAD KADRICH
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

■ By 2010, Julie Puggini Denhof pointed out, the most-sought-after jobs are going to be in teaching, computers, biotechnology, nanotechnology, government and health care.

Discovery Middle School student Val Miller figured it's never too early to start thinking about a career, so Wednesday night she went "Career Cruising" at career night at Salem High School

Some 50 booths were set up advertising careers ranging from commercial pilot to journalist, along with a keynote address by a pair of Schoolcraft College career counselors

She's only an eighth-grader and isn't sure what she wants to do with her life, but Miller found plenty of information from a variety of sources

"My counselors thought it might be cool to check it out," Miller said of the career night "I'm still not sure what I'm going to do when I grow up, but it helps sort it out"

Which is exactly what the program was designed to do Donna Nordman and Julie Puggini-Denhof of Schoolcraft College tag-teamed the keynote address, telling the hundreds of students in attendance what the work force of the future would look like and what kinds of skills they'd need to be successful in it Technology is going to play a key role, Denhof told them

"It took radio 38 years to reach 50 million listeners, and it took only four years for 50 million people to hit the Internet," she said "Work is becoming untethered by time or travel and replaced by technology"

Of the top 50 highest-paying jobs in this country, Denhof said, 48 require a degree By 2010, she pointed out, the most-sought-after jobs are going to be in teaching, computers, biotechnology, nanotechnology, government and health care

According to the National Association of Colleges and Employers, the top career and life skills workers entering the work force are going to need include communication, creativity, critical thinking, leadership and personal management

While career nights such as the one at Salem don't necessarily help fill openings for companies, they're an excellent vehicle for dispensing information For instance there's a nationwide need for nurses, which was one of the reasons Bonnie Kalous was at Salem High School Wednesday night

"I think it gets the information out," said Kalous, manager of endoscopy and minor surgery for the North Oakland Medical Center in Pontiac "You target kids who may not know what they want to do, and it helps them to talk to someone actually in the field"

Commercial pilot Rod Jenkins, who captains an A320 air bus for Northwest Airlines, knows it's unrealistic to expect his company to gain any pilots from a career fair like this one But they're important because they help draw kids to the field

"They think it's a glamorous job, and it is a lot of fun," said Jenkins, a 35-year veteran and former Air Force pilot "I didn't know what to expect, and I was handing out stuff as fast as I could staple it together

"To talk to high schoolers about coming to Northwest Air lines isn't realistic, but I can talk to them about the career field"

Car damage: Susan Petty's VW Beetle was hit by pieces of debris falling from the parking structure She now parks on the upper level.

City starts process to repair public parking structure

tbruscato@oe homecomm.net

The Plymouth Downtown Development Authority has entered into a contract with Carl Walker Engineering of Kalamazoo to begin an estimated $150,000 in repairs and maintenance to the city's downtown parking garage

However, the work won't come soon enough for Susan Petty, who works downtown and parks her car in the two-story structure Her bright red 2002 Volkswagen Beetle sustained $700 damage when debris fell from the roof while the car was parked on the lower floor of the garage

"I was being careful where to park because I didn't want my new car to get damaged," said Petty "In fact, I used to park in one spot but moved my car because it looked like there could be falling debris Then look what happened

Two pieces of concrete fell on the roof of her car denting the roof and damaging the sunroof

"I came out of work and there was stuff all over," she said "It came all the way from Florida on a car hauler undamaged, and now look what happened"

City officials say it's the second report of damage from falling debris they've had in the past year City Manager Paul Sincock said the city's insurance will take care of the damage But that doesn't console Petty

"This isn't just a car They don't understand the relationship owners of Beetles have," she said

Petty acknowledged the problem doesn't stop with damage to vehicles parked in the structure

"I'm concerned if there was a person down there and something dropped on their head," she said "There looks to be damage that could cause falling debris throughout the whole structure It shouldn't be open until they repair it

Repairs needed: The city has already contracted to begin an estimated $150,000 in repairs in the Plymouth parking structure

Petty still parks in the parking garage, but on the top floor to keep it from being damaged by further falling debris

father had his doctor's practice He was a big medical deal in town, having delivered most of the kids with whom Jennifer had attended school Her other sisters were in college, and talked about giving it up, but Jennifer, thrust into the role of matriarch, said no

Either Jennifer had to come home, or her father would have to give up the practice

'He needed to work, because that was his life, and he'd just lost the love of his life," she recalled "I needed to come home, to make a contribution to my family I was living in an apartment and acting, barely living hand-to-mouth It wasn't a hard decision to leave Dallas, and it was a good reason to come home "

And so she did, and she wound up working as a performing arts specialist for the Oglebay Institute in Wheeling, W Va , and then, in 1985, got a break that broadened her horizons, even though she nearly turned her nose up at it

Grewe Advertising, Inc , in Wheeling, hired her as an advertising executive She nearly gagged at the thought, since advertising was "so commercial " But the one thing it offered she wasn't going to get anywhere else was an education about the arts from a business standpoint

"I needed to learn what business knew about getting the word out," she said "We wrote, acted in and shot TV commercials I learned a lot about advertising It was a great experience "

She's had several great experiences since then She's directed a production of Tom Sawyer with an all-African American cast in East St Louis, Ill , a production she called "the best Tom Sawyer I've ever seen " She even had her own radio show in the mid-1970s

All of that led her to Plymouth, where she came with her engineer husband, Tom, who works at AP Technoglass in Plymouth She hooked up with the Plymouth Community Arts Council as a freelance theater director/developer in 1994 As such, she has developed the Whistle Stop Players, the youth theater group she directs with the same passion she applies to everything else

She was named executive director in 1997, and manages more than 20 programs with 50 major performances, exhibits and presentations a year She serves on the Wayne County Council for the Arts and Humanities and the Arts Alliance of Plymouth-Canton

"She's just a great lady," said Darlene Dreyer, the executive director of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra "She's so passionate about her job That's so important because what we do isn't recognized we have to have that passion and just plug through the day Jennifer is so full of energy, she never tires "

The fund-raising part of the job can get to be a drag, but Tobin knows where the hands are that feed the arts

"I've found it's not hard to sell to many people, and it's most difficult to others," she said "The people who support community support the arts, the symphony, athletics I see the same people everywhere I go, because I know they believe in all the same things I do "

Her tub-thumping lately is directed at getting an arts coordinator into the Plymouth-Canton school district She points to studies that call the arts a core element of education, and wonders vociferously why the schools don't treat it as such

Tobin has been at a couple of school board meetings, trying to convince board members she s right Though they have agreed the arts are important, they decry the district's financial situation Tobin doesn't buy it — "Why can they have three athletic directors but no arts coordinator? she frequently asks — and is desperate to make the arts accessible for more youngsters

'Kids are so smart, smarter than everyone else ' she said 'Nothing is impossible to them It s not the same old excuse for them — no time, no money

She'll turn 50 next year, but she won t be acting any older Since she was a youngster, she steadfastly vowed she would never act her age

I swore when I was young I'd never get old ' she said Adults for get what it s like to be a kid '

She credits her family — Tom and her children 20 year old stepson Chad 15 year old Dylan and 12 year old Spencer — with helping her keep going giving her the ability to seek out her passion rather than settle for working for the almighty dollar

"(Tom) is my best sponsor he never demanded I do anything for the money she said There's not a day I m not excited about going to work I could spend 24 hours a day here, because there's always something exciting going on '

Retirement? Not likely

'I'll never retire Tobin said 'Why would I want to retire from the best thing in my life?"

Easter is the central holiday for Christian believers

BY HUGH GALLAGHER AND KEELY KALESKI WYGONIK
STAFF WRITERS
hgallagher@oe.homecomm.net
kwygonik@oe homecomm net

Without Easter, there is no Christianity

"Without Easter, our faith is nothing," said Lucas Parks, youth and worship pastor at the Solid Rock Bible Church in Plymouth "We celebrate the death and more importantly the resurrection of Jesus Christ

"Without dying on the cross for our sins and rising again, our faith would be nothing The significance of Easter is the foundation of our faith"

The Rev Thomas Balzak of St Valentine's Catholic Church in Redford Township said that without Easter, Jesus would be just another holy man or prophet

"This is the proof that he was the Messiah and the son of God and that we would live beyond the grave, too," Balzak said

Parks said a lot of emphasis is often put on celebrating Christmas, but Christians recognize that as important as that day is, it is not as significant as Easter

Many Christians only attend church on the two major holi days

"My feelings about that are two-fold," Parks said "We're glad that people who don't come to church do come of those days and give us a chance to share our faith with them Church is more a tradition for those people For our church it's not about tradition but about a relationship with God and his son Jesus Christ"

Balzak said that "most people are faith filled" and those who come only on Christmas and Easter are trying to find a con nection to something greater and higher

"I always welcome them and make them feel a part of the community" Balzak said "I try to use a little humor I tell them it's great to see so many here and we'll here next Sunday"

The Catholic Easter Vigil on Saturday night is rich with symbolism, Balzak said The ceremony starts in darkness Balzak said a Pascal candle is lit

"Christ has risen, Christ is the light of the world," Balzak said "Everyone is even a taper and the flame is passed from person to person and the church that was in darkness is brightly glowing"

Balzak said the church is also decorated with spring flowers representing renewal and a new cycle of life

Parks said his church would have special services today to mark Palm Sunday On Easter, the church will invite worshippers to bring in Easter lilies in remembrance of someone who has died

There are many traditions associated with the Easter season, some directly related to the day's religious significance and some predating Christianity and associated with celebrations of spring

Easter bunny

Germans brought us the Christmas tree, and the Easter bunny Easter's origins as a Christian holiday date back to 325 A D but it was not widely celebrated in the U S until after the Civil War

The Anglo Saxons were the first to welcome spring Their pagan festival was called Eastre, and the goddess Eastre was worshipped through her earthly symbol, the rabbit

Easter lily

Lilies were found growing in the Garden of Gethsemane after Jesus was crucified According to tradition, the lilies sprung up where drops of Jesus' sweat fell to the ground in his final hours Churches continue this tradition at Easter time by banking their alters and surrounding their crosses with masses of Easter Lilies, to commemorate the resurrection of Jesus Christ and hope of life everlasting

Easter eggs

Eggs are a symbol of rebirth in many cultures The exchange of colored eggs during the spring is a centuries old custom first celebrated by Christians

Polish traditions

The Polish Easter celebration begins with a procession during mass on Palm Sunday Holy Thursday and Good Friday are solemn days of prayer, in between there is much cleaning and shopping to do On holy Sat-

Passover is celebration of freedom

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
hgallagher@oe homecomm.net

Rabbi Daniel Nevins of Adat Shalom Synagogue in Farmington Hills calls Passover, which begins Wednesday night, a celebration of freedom

"It goes back to the origins of our religion and the exodus from Egypt," Nevins said

The Israelites were enslaved in Egypt during the reign of Pharaoh Ramses II Moses pleaded for the freedom of his people but was ignored by the Pharaoh According to the Bible, God unleashed a series of plagues upon the people of Egypt

The final plague was the slaying of the first born To protect themselves and to have the angel of the lord "pass over," the Israelites marked their doors with the blood of a lamb

The Pharaoh finally relented but, after giving Moses' people their freedom, he sent his army in pursuit According to the Bible, Moses parted the Red Sea to allow his people to pass and then closed the waters on the Pharaoh's army

Nevins said the eight day Passover celebration is marked by many symbolic rituals Matzoh, an unleavened bread, is eaten to mark the fact that the Israelites had no time to prepare bread with yeast when they fled the Pharaoh

On Wednesday and Thursday, Jews will have special meals called seders Nevins said these are home based rituals and every family has their own traditions but that everyone is careful to avoid leavened breads during this time

The meal includes certain foods such as horseradish to reflect the bitter affliction of slavery

"And we dip parsley in salt water to represent the tears of the slaves

"We also drink four cups of wine in the course of the dinner," Nevins said "This commemorates the four phases of Exodus"

These phases are freedom, deliverance, redemption and release

"God said I will take you out and redeem you," Nevins said

In addition to home-based rituals, there are also prayer services at synagogues with special prayers of thanksgiving

Holy week

Good news: The Rev J J. Mech addresses the congregation at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth at a Good Friday service in 2000.

urday, the day before Easter, Poles take baskets of food to church to be blessed The food – traditionally ham, kielbasa, hard boiled eggs, sweet bread, and butter in the shape of a lamb – will be eaten on Easter Sunday after mass

Swedish traditions

In Sweden, as in many other countries, Easter week starts with Palm Sunday, commemorating Jesus' journey to Jerusalem Certain superstitions were attached to Easter People believed witches were active and their black magic especially powerful during this week Even in modern times people have believed that women who practice black magic ("Easter hags") were out practicing their craft On Maundy Thursday they were thought to fly off on brooms to consort with the devil at some place called "blåkulla," returning the following Saturday

On Easter morning people hesitated before starting a fire in the fireplace The one who first got smoke up the chimney was believed to be one of the Easter Hags

This superstition has evolved into something fun On Maunday Thursday or Easter Eve Swedish girls and boys dress up as hags and visit neighbors Some leave an Easter letter hoping for a piece of candy or coin in return

Easter bonfires are customary in the western provinces of Sweden where villages vie to see who can make the biggest one

Eggs are the most common Easter food, and hard boiled eggs are traditionally eaten the evening before Easter Sunday

Bulgarian traditions

The bright red colored egg is the symbol of Easter (or Pascha) for Orthodox Christians all over the world Eggs are colored on Holy Thursday after mass

Easter breads are also a tradition They are big and small and decorated The bread is called "kolache" or "kozunak " One of these Easter breads is specially decorated with one or more (but an odd number) of red eggs This bread is taken to church on Holy Saturday to be blessed

The eggs are cracked after the midnight service and during the next day One egg is cracked on the wall of the church (and this is the first egg eaten after the Lenten fast) The ritual of cracking the eggs takes place before Easter lunch Each person selects his/her egg

Then people take turns tapping their egg against the eggs of others, and the person who ends up with the last unbroken egg is believed to have a year of good luck

The traditional Orthodox Paschal greeting is "Christ is Risen!" The answer is "Indeed He is Risen "

This is the greeting during 40 days after Pascha Also, These greetings are exchanged during the tapping of the eggs, mentioned above They are repeated 3 times and the actual tapping is after that

Our family has adopted this custom

My father-in-law, the oldest in the family, offers a slice of blessed egg to each guest at Easter brunch and says "Christ is risen," to which the person answers, "he is risen "

Finnish traditions

It's still winter in Finland during Easter Children plant ryegrass seeds in little pots as a sign Pussy willows are ancient Easter decorations, and birch twigs are placed in vases, where they soon start budding

Massey owns along Ann Arbor Road at Haggerty — is being bogged down in negotiations over what kind of development the township will approve

According to Mann, the township has asked to see plans for the potential development, being handled by West Bloomfield developer Arkan Jonna Plans were submitted, and Mann said they are being reviewed

"We're hoping to get back to Mr Massey some time next week," he said

Mann said he isn't inclined to wait much longer

"There certain things (Massey) wants to see, and we've told him to submit plans,' Mann said "We're not just going to approve whatever he wants It has to match what we want to see along Ann Arbor Road "

Massey was unavailable for comment, and Jonna refused to comment

The current township complex is generally considered to be decaying and inconvenient to customers and employees, who frequently have to go building to building to conduct business Detractors say it's inefficient and, particularly in inclement weather, unsafe

■ The current township complex is generally considered to be decaying and inconvenient to customers and employees, who frequently have to go building to building to conduct business.

Township officials have considered other options for a new complex, but have found them too expensive or out of the way During his speech at the State of the Community breakfast Tuesday, Mann said he's not interested in waiting much longer

"If we can't find a site, we'll just build where we're at," he said

Mann has said he'd like to see ground broken this year

"This isn't something we're going to sit back and wait on," the supervisor said "We're going to move forward as quickly as we can "

"When you're replacing a deck over a freeway bridge, there will be times there will be lane restrictions on I-275 at Ann Arbor Road

"There will be lane restrictions on the bridge, and traffic shifts It will be down to one lane and there will be times during paving that we'll have to close ramps to I-275

"We'll try to minimize the inconveniences as much as we can," he said

Morosi said the third phase of the reconstruction work will focus between Hix and Newburgh roads The entire Ann Arbor Road project will last until sometime this fall

Plymouth Township Supervisor Steve Mann said he's pleased MDOT will finish the Ann Arbor Road corridor this year

"It will be a short-term inconvenience, but we have to do it," he said "You can't ignore the condition of the road The longer it goes, the worse it gets, and the more complaints there are "

Mann is disappointed the state couldn't coordinate efforts with CSX railroad to make improvements to the train overpass

"It would be nice to have modifications to the rail bridge made at the same time, but the railroad is tough to deal with," he said "It's not the case, and we'll just have to live with it "

A public information meeting with MDOT officials on the Ann Arbor Road project is scheduled for 8 a m , Tuesday, at the Quality Inn

Township officials say they'll communicate with residents and businesses during the course of the project through e-mail and a newly-designed Web site

Compromise reached on bill to standardize election procedures

tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

■ Communities that have a voting system in place which was purchased within the last eight years would not have to comply until their present voting system is at least 10 years old.

The House and Senate have come up with compromise legislation that, at least temporarily, eases the concerns of Plymouth Township election officials about a statewide uniform voting system

The law, headed to Gov John Engler for his signature, still calls for a uniform voting system However, communities that have a voting system in place which was purchased within the last eight years would not have to comply until their present voting system is at least 10 years old

Plymouth Township deputy clerk Sandy Groth, who challenged local legislators and was instrumental in fighting for the compromise, said she's happy the township will be able to keep its Unilect touch screen voting machines, which were purchased in 1996

"I'm happy they didn't pass the legislation as it was," said Groth "By putting the amendment in, it buys time for the state to find out if a uniform voting system is the best way to go And, it will allow clerks in the state to get together to see if uniform voting is best for the state The clerks will be able to band together to help develop legislation, or rescind the bill"

Groth became involved when State Rep Bruce Patterson (R-Canton Township) introduced a bill making it the responsibility of the secretary of state to select and direct the implementation of a uniform voting system Groth was concerned the township would have to scrap its Unilect screens in favor of the Opti-Scan voting system, like the one used in Plymouth, in which voters mark their paper ballot selections with a pencil She believes the computerized touch-screen machines are a better system

"No one has proven to me there is a need for a uniform voting system" said Groth 'Plus nobody has shown what kinds of problems could be caused by this legislation

High speed Internet access gets high speed approval

BY MIKE MALOTT
HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE
mmalott@homecomm.net

In rapid succession, Gov John Engler's proposal for creation of an authority to encourage development of broadband statewide last week was approved by representatives, then senators, then signed by the governor

Engler put a capper on that quick action by appointing William Rosenberg Thursday to be the chairman and president/ CEO of the news Michigan Broadband Development Authority

Critics say the authority is not needed because the state has underestimated the amount of high speed Internet access already available in the state

But there were few critics in the legislature last week

The most controversial portion of the package, the bill to create an authority that will hand out low interest loans for the devel opment of broadband in areas of the state that are currently under served, won approval in the House 98-9

Senators followed suit, concurring 29-7

Engler contends Michigan will be the first state in the nation to encourage development in this way

He said experts estimate the plan will create 500,000 new jobs in Michigan and expand economic output by $440 billion

"The fast lane to new jobs, new investment and new opportunities is now open," he said

The package also creates an authority to oversee the use of public rights of way by telecommunications providers

It sets a fee for use at 2 cents per foot the first year, 5 cents in later years, and the companies will get a tax credit to offset the cost of those fees

Lawmakers also created a fund to encourage small telecommunications providers to participate in development

The state will sell bonds to make the loans available

The three bills — Senate Bills 880, 881 and 999 — were sponsored by Sens Joe Schwarz (R-Battle Creek), Leon Stille (R-Spring Lake) and Valde Garcia (R-St Johns)

Rosenberg is currently the president of E3 Ventures, a consulting firm specializing in environmental and energy issues

He has also served as the chairman of the Public Service Commission in the 1970s and was the first executive director of the Michigan State House Development Authority

Sept.11 spurs work on training center

BY DAN WEST

Oakland Community College is building a premier training center to enhance the skills of police, fire and ambulance per sonnel throughout the Midwest

The $14 5 million Combined Regional Emergency Services Training center (CREST) will provide a simulated city on 22 acres of OCC's Auburn Hills campus This area will have homes, playgrounds, businesses, a gas station, store, school and appropriate infrastructure to provide real life rescue situations and quality training opportunities for thousands of emergency professionals in and around Michigan

OCC is in the midst of a fundraising campaign that enables the CREST project to be completed this year

The project's concept surfaced long before Sept 11, but the terrorist attacks escalated the need for tighter working relationships among all law enforcement, investigative and emergency agencies It also escalated the urgency and scope of the CREST project

"September's tragic events signaled that emergency prepared ness should not be taken for granted and that cooperative training among police fire EMS and other agencies are impera tive," said OCC Chancellor Richard T Thompson

CREST construction, OCC offi cials said, can be complete by December if fund-raising goals are met

Through private, public and corporate donations, OCC needs to raise $7 5 million this year to complete the project An initial $7 million was raised last year, thanks in part to a $2 million state grant

Oakland County Executive L Brooks Patterson has lined up donations from business, political and community leaders, and Farmington Hills Police Chief William Dwyer is working to solicit public and private donations from neighboring police departments

Others can contribute and buy raffle tickets for a 2002 Dodge Ram truck, donated by TAKATA, a global manufacturer of custom automotive safety systems

Up to 1,500 tickets will be sold at $100 each If all tickets are sold, that's $150,000 toward CREST The winning ticket will be pulled Thursday, April 11, at the CREST site

Additional donations can be made by purchasing commemorative bricks that will be placed at the CREST site These bricks include space for engraved tributes to loved ones Depending on size, the bricks sell for $100 or $250 each

Tickets and bricks can be purchased by calling OCC Foundation Director Jill Dunphy at (248) 341 2130

FOCUS ON WINE

RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

Zin odyssey shows passion

It's rare that we devote an entire column to a single newly-published book But we're doing that with A Zinfandel Odyssey by Rhoda Stewart, published by PWV, Inc , 2002, $60, ISBN 0-9715820-0-9

Have you ever developed fondness for a wine because you've met the winemaker at a tasting or visited a winery and learned the story behind passionate winemaking? If you have, then essentially, you don't care what wine critics think about the wine These are your wines, personal finds with which you identify They are treasured each time you pour them into a wine glass

Stewart's book is like that She's not a wine critic, nor does she pretend to be one In her book, you will not find wines rated by numbers There are no lists of "the best" anywhere in the book Stewart uses words to entice you while she tells California s zinfandel story through the passionate eyes of its producers

Over her years living in San Francisco and driving to north coast California wine country, Stewart developed a passion for zinfandel and a personal attachment to the wineries that produce it She has been a professor of English at Napa Valley College since 1978 and along with her love of words, she honed a photographer's eye All photos in her book serve to enhance her "romance with zinfandel, as she calls it A romance, she reveals that began in autumn 1977

A passion unfolds

Inspired by the beauty of the vineyards Stewart writes, 'I began to sample many wines. More and more often I would ask for zinfandel (the red stuff) in tasting rooms Yet the more zinfandels I sampled and zin fandel winemakers I talked to, the more aware I became of symptoms that a deep ambivalence toward zinfandel had developed in the marketplace "

The late 1970s is the time frame for those remarks Wine critics of the era considered most zinfandels to be alcoholic monsters and tannic wines that were very out of balance Critic dislike depressed sales Old vines were saved for today's zin lovers because Sutter Home "invented" white zinfandel

In the last few years, zinfandel has exploded on the wine scene Growers are bent on preserving old vines and a zinfandel that boasts old vines" on the label, literally runs out the door in the arms of zin lovers around the country

Get to know the producers

In case you haven't guessed already, we too, are passionate about zinfandel So rather than tackling Steward's book from beginning to end, we started with the producers we like Since the Amador area is

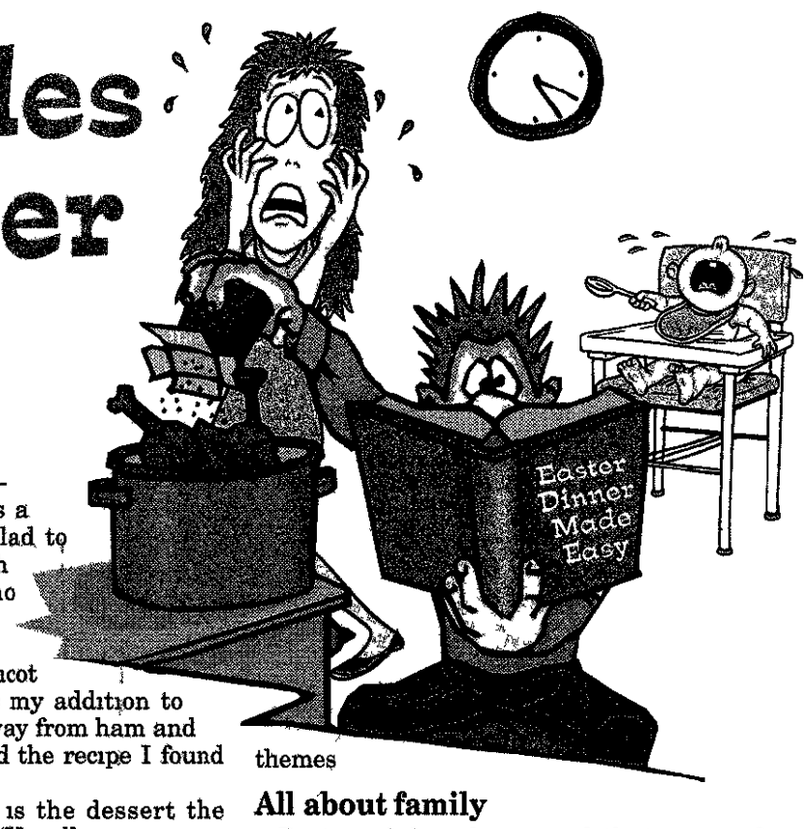
Wine Picks for Passover

Australia's forward wine style has been met with great American enthusiasm. Produced at Norman's Winery in Australia, Teal Lake wines are now available to accompany Passover celebrations, beginning March 27 this year. Wine has long played a part in Jewish ritual. Teal Lake wines, like other kosher foods, are made under strict rabbinical supervision and according to Jewish religious and dietary laws After the grapes were picked, only strictly Sabbath-observed Jews handled the wine and the winemaking equipment. The wine is flash pasteurized making it mevushal.

From Teal Lake, we like: 2000 Chardonnay $13; 2000 Shiraz $13; 2000 Pinot Noir $16; and 2001 Cabernet Merlot $13.

From California, we recommend two Herzog Special Reserve kosher wines, 1999 Russian River Valley Chardonnay $27 and 1998 Napa Valley Cabernet Sauvignon $35.

New mom tackles 1st Easter dinner



BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

Why did we agree to have Easter dinner for the whole family? Karie Pasternak of Rochester Hills has asked herself this question many times these past few weeks as she pours over cookbooks and looks through magazines in search of food recipes and table decorations "I want everything to be perfect!" she says

Married in Hawaii last year, Karie and her husband, Peter, became first-time parents on Christmas Day when 10-pound Nicholas was born

"Christmas wasn't like I had planned," Pasternak said "I was going to decorate a cake and make some new food dishes for the family celebration at my aunt's house Instead, I spent the day giving birth to my son " Because she missed this holiday with family, she offered to have Easter dinner

A Martha Stewart devotee, Pasternak likes to do a multitude of crafts, including painting personalized children chairs, and enjoys cooking and baking The latter two interests are the other reasons that led to Easter invitations to 12 family members

"I'm excited, but I'm also nervous This is my first experience in entertaining such a large group! I want everyone to enjoy the day, especially the food "

New traditions

According to Pasternak, she is especially excited about the fact that since she and her husband are the hosts, they can establish their own Easter food traditions "We can serve whatever we want!"

Pasternak has chosen to serve some Polish dishes to honor her husband's heritage Also on the menu is a colorful, layered gelatin salad to mark the traditional dish that her grandmother, who passed away two years ago, always made for Easter

"But the main dish – apricot glazed pork tenderloin – is my addition to the meal I wanted to get away from ham and try something different And the recipe I found is really easy to make "

Also different this year is the dessert the young mother has planned "Usually someone in the family brings the dessert This year, however, I am going to decorate a cake for Nicholas' first Easter and make this a yearly tradition "

Pasternak is a self-taught cake decorator who has garnished rave reviews for her creations "This hobby, for me, is more fun than work I like turning a plain frosted cake into a work of art "

Bunnies, flowers and other symbols of spring will find their way onto Pasternak's Easter cake

"I like to use candies, colored frostings and other sweets in my cake decorating I like everything to be edible " She admits, however, that there have been times when she had had to used plastic figures to create certain cake themes

All about family

Pasternak has discovered that caring for a baby and preparing for the Eastern celebration may be a little more difficult than she anticipated "I thought I could clean, cook, bake and decorate the cake when Nicholas takes his long naps," she says "But now he's into little catnaps and I can't seem to get anything done "

Pasternak said she's isn't too worried about this "The baby's grandmothers – Pam Pasternak of Sterling Heights, and Kathy Barton of Troy – have agreed to help me make this a great Eastern celebration And, luckily, they both love to baby sit for Nicholas "

Everything will turn out just fine, she keeps telling herself "How could it not? I have a great baby, a helpful husband, and a wonderful family!"

Shoppe's frosted bunnies take the cake

So cake decorating isn't your thing! No problem!

The Cake Shoppe in Westland will do all the work – the baking and the decorating – for you.

According to owner Mary Denning, the sculptured, standout bunny cake is an Easter favorite. "The coconut and frosting-covered bunny, which comes in white, pink, blue, whatever color the customer chooses, makes a great centerpiece for the table. It's surrounded with jelly beans and kids just love it!"

She adds that with a special order, the cake batter flavor can be the customer's choice. Although for most of our customers, it's chocolate."

To satisfy her customers' passion for anything chocolate, Denning has an egg-shaped cake that is coated with butter cream frosting and then dipped in chocolate fudge. "The cake

■ Americans of all ages benefit from making healthful eating, physical activity, and lifestyle choices. This means that there is no one right way to eat or to stay healthy. Each of us has to make choices on a meal-to-meal basis.

Eating is one of life's greatest pleasures National Nutrition Month® is celebrated each year in March to remind us of the link between food and good health This year, start today for a healthy tomorrow

The news stories are full of confusing and conflicting nutrition information Sometimes the scientific studies contradict each other It is often difficult to believe or trust these stories because one never does know when something to the contrary may become in vogue

A few basic truths about food and nutrition have withstood the test of time The most logical advice is to eat a variety of foods, in sensible portions, and get some daily physical activity

Americans of all ages benefit from making healthful eating, physical activity, and lifestyle choices This means that there is no one right way to eat or to stay healthy Each of us has to make choices on a meal-to-meal basis "Diets" with complex or restrictive food choices that lead to frustration, hunger and the feeling of being punished are not healthy for anyone

"It took me some time to find the diet that worked for me," said Jason Klein of Royal Oak "Once I changed some basic bad habits I had, such as eating too late at night, I began to lose weight "

Trying new foods and new physical activities can jump-start your plans for health

Brandy Sereno of Ferndale likes to spend lots of time in the produce section of the grocery store "It seems like I can always find some new or unusual fruit or vegetable to take home to try "

Many restaurants offer "healthy" choices, but also look at their "specials" for items that use lean meats, low fat cooking techniques, or have grains or vegetables as the foundation

Finally, with warmer weather just around the corner, it's time to shed those thick layers of clothes and go outside Enjoy the way it feels to move your body There are dozens of ways to add movement to your day, but they all take time and a commitment to keep it up Remember these simple guidelines regarding exercise it should be –

where and when you can do it

Simple – You don't need fancy equipment, unless you want it, to get daily exercise While it is better to do something than nothing, don't avoid physical activity because you don't have all the accoutrements

Convenient – Joining a health club is a great idea, unless the health club is far away or requires major schedule juggling to get there There is some benefit to exercising with others, but if you must choose a solitary activity because it fits into your schedule, you'll still get the benefits

Personalize the Food Guide Pyramid as your roadmap toward eating a variety of foods, using moderation when selecting portion sizes, and balancing your choices over time Pay attention to how food is affecting you Listen to your body's internal signals rather than eating "by the clock" Be mindful of the wonderful flavors and textures of foods and enjoy every bite Remember that food is not the enemy, make peace with your refrigerator

Taking the first step toward making healthful choices can be easy if you enlist help from friends and family Sometimes we use food to fill up more than our stomachs Food fills in the empty spaces in other parts of our lives The association between food, love and intimacy is inextricable Notice a mother feeding her baby and you can see how powerful food is at nourishing both the body and the soul The people around you play an important role in helping you stay healthy Here are some techniques for including others in your health plans

■ Ask for what you want – praise, feedback, cooperation, rewards, etc

■ Teach family and friends the concepts of eating a variety of foods and enjoying them in moderation

■ Request that affection and sharing not be in terms of food Ask for non-food treats and gifts

In fact, if you get in a rush on Easter morning and don't do anything more than stick a cured, smoked or "city" ham in a 325 F oven for about 1 1/2 hours, you'll still get a moist and tasty meat to slice and serve

Ham can be glazed, sauced or frosted to fit your family's taste preferences and your desire to prepare a dazzling entree for the Easter table

If this is the first time you've bought ham, other than sliced ham at the deli, you are likely to be baffled at the choices you'll find in the supermarket meat case

Not only will you find hams labeled "ham with natural juices," and "ham with water added," you might also see an economically priced ham called a "ham and water product"

There were hams at a local supermarket recently ranging in price from $1 59 per pound to $3 98 per pound, and a similar price range will probably be available in many markets

Which ham should you buy?

Generally, the "ham and water product"' is recommended as a slicing ham for sandwiches The ham is injected with a high percentage of water and brine solution during the curing process, which means that the meat will dry as the water cooks out during baking

This isn't a problem if you keep the ham basted or glazed during the baking so that the meat retains some moisture and doesn't get too tough

I baked a "ham and water product" that was labeled as having 23 percent of its weight in added water and brining ingredients It turned out moist, flavorful and just fine for slicing and serving with vegetables The key was keeping it basted during the cooking so it didn't dry out

You'll also need to decide if you want a boneless or bone-in ham While the boneless ham is easier to slice, the bone-in ham has more flavor

In fact, almost all the "gourmet" hams, the popular spiral-cut and honey-crusted hams sold at specialty shops, are bone-in hams Nutrients in the bone flavor the meat as it cooks

Hams usually come either partially cooked or fully cooked Even the fully cooked ham's taste and texture improves with additional cooking at home _ the additional baking firms the meat

Some hams are closely trimmed, meaning almost all the fat has been removed from the outside surface of the ham The closely trimmed ham can be basted with juices or seasonings or glazed 30 minutes before the end of cooking time, but it shouldn t be scored before baking

Scoring is when you cut diamond-pattern shallow slices through the layer of fat, 3/4 inch to 1 inch wide, all over the ham s surface Scoring enables the fat to melt off the surface of the ham as it bakes and opens up surface areas for the flavors and spices from a glaze to penetrate the meat

If you scored a closely trimmed ham, the juices of the ham would flow out too quickly as the ham cooks, and the meat would dry out

Hams come from the rear leg of the pork carcass, though a small ham, called a picnic ham, is taken from the lower portion of the front leg

Picnic hams are usually boiled to tenderize them The picnic ham has plenty of flavor and is inexpensive, but it doesn't make a pretty Easter ham

Since whole hams are quite large, much too large for most families, you'll often want to buy a half or portioned ham These cuts will be labeled rump or butt half, shank half, rump or butt portion, and shank portion The half size is larger than the portion size

Hams should be refrigerated before cooking and after cooking And, though most cooks claim that freezing a ham affects the texture of the meat, I haven't found that the texture change is that noticeable or objectionable

Trust me If you have a small family, freeze leftover ham after the second day or you ll be sick of it by the third and end up throwing away perfectly good pieces simply because you are tired of the taste Frozen ham will maintain quality for up to two months

There are dozens of recipes for baking hams Following are two favorites

PEACH-GLAZED SMOKED HAM

- 1 half fully cooked smoked bone in ham (7 pounds)
- 1/2 cup peach jam
- 3 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- Rosemary sprigs for garnish

Preheat oven to 325 F Remove skin and trim all but 1/4 inch of the fat from ham Score fat, just through to the meat, into 3/4 to 1-inch diamonds Place ham on rack in medium roasting pan

Insert meat thermometer into center of ham, being careful that pointed end does not touch bone Bake 1 1/2 hours

Meanwhile, prepare glaze In cup, mix jam, mustard and ginger until blended

Brush glaze over ham Bake ham 30 minutes longer, or until thermometer reaches 140 F Place on warm large platter Let stand 15 minutes, keep warm

Slice and serve with vegetables of choice (brussels sprouts and sweet potatoes go well)

Serves 12

Cook s note You may bake the ham ahead of time, store up to 2 days in the refrigerator, then reheat for 1 hour in a 325 F oven

MONTE'S HAM

- One 15 pound smoked (partially cooked) bone-in ham
- 1 1/2 cups orange marmalade
- 1 cup Dijon mustard
- 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon whole cloves

Trim tough outer skin and excess fat from the ham Place ham, meat side down, in a large roasting pan and score, making crosshatch incisions with a sharp knife Insert meat thermometer into center of ham, being careful to not hit the bone

Roast at 300 F for 2 hours Remove ham from oven and increase heat to 350 F

For glaze, combine orange marmalade, Dijon mustard and brown sugar in a medium bowl

Stud ham with cloves, sticking 1 clove at the intersection of each crosshatch, then brush with glaze, and return to oven

Cook ham about another 11/2 hours, or until thermometer reaches 160 F, brushing with glaze at least 3 times

Transfer to a cutting board or platter and allow to rest for about 30 minutes Carve and serve warm or at room temperature

Serves about 30

Tips for baked ham

Read package label instructions to check whether ham is partially or fully cooked This information determines cooking time A partially cooked ham must be baked to reach an internal temperature of 160 F A fully cooked ham can be baked to an internal temperature of 140 to 150 F

If ham has a covering of a layer of fat, score it before baking If the ham does not have a fat covering, do not score it Baste it as it cooks and glaze it during the final 30 minutes of baking

Bake hams uncovered on a rack in a foil-lined pan in the oven at 325 F unless recipe indicates otherwise

As the ham bakes, turn it over in the pan at least once so that the brine in the meat doesn t sink to the bottom and make the bottom quarter of the ham too salty tasting

Easter meal is talk topic at seminary

Why do some churches bless Easter baskets?

That's one of the questions that will be answered during a seminar on "The Easter Meal in the Polish American Home" at 7 p m Monday, March 25, in the Dombrowski Fieldhouse at SS Cyril and Methodius Seminary, 3535 Indian Trail, Orchard Lake Admission is free For more information (248)683-0310

Father Czeslaw Krysa, the seminary's director of liturgy, will also probe other aspects of the holiday custom such as social justice and the Easter basket, ancient creation myths, what's really in an Easter egg, and the Polish roots of swieconka ("blessed Easter meal")

The liturgy as celebrated in the Polish American home is Krysa's area of specialization The Easter Sunday meal was the topic of his doctoral dissertation that he defended last summer at St Anselm Pontifical Liturgical Institute in Rome, Italy, Krysa has also authored a book, A Polish Christmas Eve, dealing with that season's Polish holiday customs and traditions

Another favorite Easter dessert, she says, especially for family celebrations, is a platter of cupcakes decorated with bunnies, chicks, bird nests and other such spring symbols

Early morning is best for taking pictures

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

Ever wonder when is the best time of day to photograph? It's the early morning with out doubt!

Early morning has always been my favorite time of day to get the best shots There's a still ness in the air, a calmness in the lighting and a mood in the sky that is available no other time of the day

Here are some reasons why I recommend photographing early in the morning

To begin with, there's usually an absence of wind and breeze meaning that tall grasses and tree branches will hold still for your camera This means you can take full advantage of depth-of field by placing foliage in the foreground of your composition and know that everything will come out sharp and in focus

Early morning light and wispy clouds combine to help me get the dramatic cactus photograph shown here Another time of day wouldn't have produced the same result

Flowers, often covered with dew, are also very still in the morning and, if you're lucky, you'll find one with a butterfly Because a butterfly's wings are weighted down with moisture in the early morning making it difficult for them to fly away, you should be able to move in close with your camera for an impact-filled shot

Another reason for pho tographing in the morning is that you'll often find fog and mist Low lying mist over the lake or layers of fog in the countryside will give your photos an element of mood no other time of day will offer

And keep on the lookout for cloud patterns Clouds in the early morning will often have a dramatic mood that's easy to capture on film and could turn your picture into a winner

Because of the low angle of the sun, morning light produces shadows, textures and tonal contrasts just not available under a noon sun

So remember the expression 'early to bed, early to rise, makes someone healthy, wealthy and wise and gives them a ter rific opportunity to get early morning shots, too!"

Short stories of infidelity are disturbing, memorable

BY VICTORIA DIAZ

A Multitude of Sins, by Richard Ford (Alfred A Knopf, $25)

VICTORIA DIAZ

Despite its title, this collection of sterling short stories by Pulitzer Prize winner Richard Ford (Independence Day) centers mostly around the transgression of infidelity in the opening days of this fast paced 21st century

In spots as diverse as a Michigan ski resort, a muddy Louisiana duck blind a dark Connecti cut road, and the lip of the Grand Canyon, Ford s characters are painted in colors both familiar and strange

Familiar in that we recognize parts of ourselves in them strange in that they have about them a touch of some thing akin to ghostliness – a kind of removed, shadowy quality

Sometimes they are hard to figure Often, they are "blind" and out of-touch What they 'see isn't really what is there at all They don't really mean anyone harm, but they are seeking rather desperately to come alive, it would seem And, in so doing, pain and suffering can often be the order of the day for those around them

The lead off story, Privacy, offers a brief, but indelible, view of a young married man involved in a kind of dis tant voyeurism, as his wife sleeps nearby ('This was at a time when my marriage was still happy," the story begins) Trouble is, when he encoun ters up close what he has been gazing at from afar, he realizes he hasn't been "seeing" the truth at all

BOOK REVIEW

In Quality Time, a writer named Wales and a married woman named Jena rendezvous at The Drake Hotel in Chicago on a snowy night after he has witnessed the death of a woman in a traffic mishap

When they meet, the couple talk make love, take a walk, have dinner, say good-bye in the "amber light" of the sumptuous Drake (He never tells her of the woman's death)

Somewhere in all this a mysterious fellow named Jim recognizes Wales in the hotel lobby, but Wales fails to rec-ognize him At another time, Jena asks Wales if he would be willing to kill her husband (His answer is " 'No, I guess I wouldn t ")

The only "real' aspect of this world seems to be their strong physical desire for each other But, in the end, even that isn't lasting

Creche is a Christmas tale set in northern Michigan, where a non-nucle ar family has gone to spend a non-tra ditional holiday together at a cheesy little ski resort

The family is made up of Faith (a "motion picture lawyer"), her chubby mother, Esther, Roger ("Faith's sister Daisy s estranged husband"), and Faith's small nieces, Jane and Mar jorie Daisy is "a presence" here, but always an offstage one As the little group "celebrates," it gradually becomes clear that Roger's interest in Faith goes far beyond familial

Ford's characters in this story are probably the most vividly and subtly etched of any in this collection, and therefore, among the most memorable

From the concluding story, Abyss, in which an illicit affair concludes with a death, to a strange tale titled Puppy, in which a New Orleans couple find a strange canine abandoned in their lush garden, to Under the Radar, a story about a young Connecticut couple and the effect of adultery on their "idyllic" relationship, this fiction will prove to be disturbing and unsettling to many readers

But there's not a dull story in the bunch And each tale is enhanced by Ford's dazzling way with words, plus his thought-provoking "take" on our crowded world that leaves us, ironically, so very isolated from one another

Once upon a time, The New York Times Book Review said about Richard Ford, "Nobody now writing looks more like an American classic "

Whalers open playoffs with win over London

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

It took awhile — about a period, to be exact — for the Plymouth Whalers to adjust to the kind of game their first-round opponent in the Ontario Hockey League playoffs, the London Knights, planned on playing

Very chippy

A bit of reorganization between periods did wonders for the Whalers Trailing 1-0 after a period, they tied it a minute into the second and then scored twice more before the period ended, enough to gain a 3-2 victory in the first game of the best-of-seven series which opened at Plymouth's Compuware Arena Friday

Game Two is at 2 p m today in London, with Game Three returning to Compuware at 7 30 p m Tuesday

Stephen Weiss, the Whalers' leading scorer during the season, scored what proved to be the game-winning goal and assisted on another Chad LaRose and John Mitchell also scored for Plymouth

"It got a little bit carried away in the first period," said Weiss "There were too many penalties, both ways If we keep taking penalties, they're going to score "

And even though during the season London had converted on just 1-of-40 power-play chances against them, Plymouth could not afford to keep giving the Knights man-advantage opportunities They did in that opening period, the Whalers had 11 penalties, the Knights had eight

"That's the way they play," said Plymouth coach Mike Vellucci "We have to play more disciplined We talked about it all week long They're the most penalized team in the league "

When LaRose went off with teammate Damian Surma already in the box with 3 45 left in the first, it gave London a two-man advantage for 25 It took the Knights just 13 to capitalize, with Mike Stathopulos jamming the puck past Whaler goalie Jason Bacashihua on the left side of the goal Rick Nash and Bryan Thompson assisted

A penalty to Nash with five seconds left in the first allowed the Whalers to open the second period with a man-advantage, and they pounced on the chance Weiss triggered it, taking a pass from Cole Jarrett near the top of the right circle and threading the puck through to LaRose on the left side for the tap in

By then, the Whalers' dominance was beginning to emerge Their 11-7 shot advantage after one period had grown to 22-9 with 8 00 left in the second, which meant they had outshot London 11-2 in the period

And worse was en route, at least for the Knights

With 2 22 left in the second, John Mitchell got loose down the right wing and beat London goalie Chris Houle with a shot to the far side, giving the Whalers a 2-1 lead Jonas Fiedler and James Wisniewski (from Canton) assisted

The boost to Plymouth — and conversely, the deflating of London — was evident When Weiss dug the puck out of a scramble in front of the net and slapped it past Houle 43 seconds later, the Whalers' lead had grown to 3-1

End of a dream

Title hopes end for SC with loss in semis

BY THE OBSERVER STAFF

There will be no national championship for the Schoolcraft College men's basketball team this year

The top-ranked Ocelots had their 34-game winning streak and title dreams shattered Friday night in the semifinals of the National Junior College Athletic Association Division I tournament in Hutchinson, Kan

Behind a 30-point effort by Jaime Lloreda, No 4-rated Dixie State of St George, Utah, pulled off the upset with a 72-69 win over Schoolcraft

"I give Dixie credit," Ocelots coach Carlos Briggs said "They kept fighting and fighting and eventually won the game

"But I think the officiating took us out of our game They let you play at one end but not at the other end "

The Rebels (33-3) benefited from an advantageous foul situation The Ocelots (34-1) were called for 26 fouls while the Rebels had 16

NJCAA BASKETBALL TOURNEY

With 10 minutes to go in the game, Schoolcraft's five starters were on the bench in foul trouble until six minutes were left Rulon Harris later fouled out with 3 17 remaining

Dixie was 18-of-32 at the line and Schoolcraft, which had a 48-34 rebounding advantage, 12 of-16

"It changed our whole style of play," Briggs said of the officiating "It was a competitive game, but the officiating was not that good

"Early in both halves, we had 10 fouls to their four They were playing man-to-man, we were playing half zone and traps

"Even despite that, we had a chance to win the game "

The Ocelots led at halftime, 31-23 Their biggest lead was 41-29 on a basket by Yaku Moton-Spruill with 15 24 left

Mike Williams, who led Schoolcraft with 18 points, got his fourth foul right after that, and the game began to turn around

Dixie took the lead with 7 26 left Kevin Woodberry's basket with 20 seconds to play gave the Rebels a 71 67 lead

Schoolcraft's Javon Clark hit two free throws to make it a two-point game, and Woodberry hit one of two for Dixie with 9 8 seconds left

The Ocelots rushed the ball down the floor and got it to Clark in the corner for an attempted three with 3 3 seconds remaining

But the shot was blocked by Lloreda, who grabbed the ball in the air and called timeout as he was falling out of bounds The Rebels kept possession, threw a long pass and ran out the clock

"In the second half, we got our press in," Dixie coach Jeff Kidder said "We wanted to get them playing faster, because Schoolcraft did a great job in their half-court sets

"When they got in foul trouble, we wanted to keep pounding it inside, and Jaime did a great job of recognizing the double teams "

Moton-Spruill and Harris had 10 points apiece, Clark and Delvar Barrett eight each Williams also had 15 rebounds, Clark and Barrett five apiece Harris had six assists

John Fenbert took about 10 years off coaching in the 1980s But since he returned to the sidelines, his Redford St Agatha program has seen many more wins than losses

Fenbert was named the 2002 Observerland Coach of the Year after guiding the Aggies to Catholic League C-D Division and district championships as part of a 17-6 campaign in boys basketball

Completing his ninth season with the Aggies, and arguably the most successful, Fenbert said the different parts of his team fit together extremely well in the second half of the season after a tough start that was marked with several close losses

"This team knew it had a lot of heat on them to win, and they responded," Fenbert said "We had to realize that Dan (Boulter) and Chris (Mayers) couldn't do it all themselves, then we had different guys every night stepping up "

Fenbert has racked up eight straight winning seasons at St Agatha, and has captured two straight district championships

Then expand your own knowledge by studying how its taught in other countries

Do all that and, as Mario and Dominic Scicluna have discovered, the next logical step is to provide a place for these kids you've been teaching to hone their skills

Which is what they've done by establishing the Waza F C , a soccer club has made tremendous strides in just two seasons of existence

It was a natural progression

Start by learning to play the game of soccer Next, start teaching it to others, those eager to learn the game

Then expand your own knowledge by studying how its taught in other countries

Do all that and, as Mario and Dominic Scicluna have discovered, the next logical step is to provide a place for these kids you've been teaching to hone their skills

Which is what they've done by establishing the Waza F C , a soccer club has made tremendous strides in just two seasons of existence

"We started last year," said Mario, a Redford Catholic Central grad, like Dominic "And when you start a new club, you start at the bottom with the leftovers "

That's because the players the Scicluna brothers had been working with in their summer Waza camps at Schoolcraft College were already associated with club teams While they may have appreciated what they learned with the Sciclunas, they were still part of another team

When Waza F C (which stands for Flo Club) was formed — it operates out of Schoolcraft, where Dominic coaches the men's squad — a few players left their former teams to join That but we wanted him to take charge more and he did "

Several NCAA Division I schools have shown interest in Hoskins including Central Michigan Eastern Michigan University of Detroit Mercy Michigan State Iowa and Drake

Darnell Wilson, John Glenn: The 6 foot 5 Wilson averaged 20 points 14 rebounds and three blocks per game for the WLAA playoff champion Rockets who finished 15-7

Over the final 12 games the All West ern Lakes selection averaged 22 points per game

"One of Darnell s greatest assets is his work ethic and his attitude Glenn coach Joel Lloyd said "His practice habits and his games don t vary He s a hard worker day in and day out

Darien Bynum, Bishop Borgess The only thing more impressive than senior Darien Bynum s numbers was his consistency

At 6 foot 8 250 lbs Bynum was a load inside for Borgess this season averaging 22 points and 12 rebounds per game His season high in scoring was just 30 showing how often he scored close to his season s average and he had just one game with fewer than 10 rebounds He has all the physi cal tools to someday compete at the Division I college level according to his coach Lloyd Praedel

"He is a very well rounded player " Praedel said "He can play with his back to the basket and he s quick enough to guard players on the perimeter He has the full game "

Chris Mayers, St Agatha When it counted the most senior guard Chris Mayers delivered

Mayers a four year starter for the Aggies turned in a terrific senior sea son averaging 18 2 points 3 4 rebounds 2 9 assists and 2 9 steals per game in leading St Agatha to a 17 6 record He also led the team in field goals made (158) and 3 pointers made (51)

"We struggled early and it was because of the leadership of our seniors that we turned it around said Aggies coach John Fenbert

Andrew Meagrow, Canton: The improvement in Meagrow s game between his junior and senior seasons was phenomenal certainly leaving some college coaches thinking the best is yet to come

An all WLAA selection Meagrow led the Chiefs in scoring (13 0 points a game) and rebounding (6 0) while mak ing 45 percent of his shots Perhaps his most impressive ability was his range left unguarded Meagrow would often hit three pointers from well behind the arc

He really improved from his junior year " said his coach Jeremy Rheault "to come out and lead us in scoring make all-conference and now all Observ er He worked at it and he worked at his inside game too We needed him to pick up his rebounding and he did

SECOND TEAM

Matt Bartnick, Stevenson The 5 9 senior point guard was Mr Clutch for the 14-9 Spartans

The All Lakes Division pick averaged 12 points and six assists per game while shooting 75 percent from the free throw line (45 of 60) and 42 percent from the field (85 of 203)

"Matt has been our leader the last couple of years Stevenson coach Bill Dyer said "He showed a lot of character when the game was on the line He took care of the ball and made free throws down the stretch In big games he made the big basket

Dan Boulter, St Agatha Mr Every thing for St Agatha turned in a senior season that lived up to everyone s high expectations

Senior forward Dan Boulter led the Aggies to the C/D Catholic League championship as well as a district title He averaged 18 points 9 8 rebounds 3 9 assists and 3 9 steals per game and had a season high of 43 points He also shot 45 percent from the field and 76 from the line and provided excellent leadership to the team

"These guys knew with all the expe rience Dan and Chris had that there was a lot of pressure on them to win Fenbert said Once we relaxed things came easier for us "

Mike Leach, N. Farmington Despite being an under sized post player Leach was successful battling and competing against bigger players in the paint

He averaged 15 points per game to lead the Raiders shooting 69 percent on free throws (116-of 168) and almost 45 percent from the field (103 230). The all WLAA player also averaged five rebounds

Coach Tom Negoshian cited "the great effort and attitude he brings to practice every day He leads by exam ple He missed two practices in two years and both of those we had to get him to say home

He consistently was able to demand double teams and score in the post Through hard work and dedication he learned the skills and fundamentals to be able to overcome his lack of size "

Tim Shaw, Clarenceville: The football standout bound for Penn State also made his presence known en route to All Metro Conference honors

Shaw a four year varsity player and three-year starter was his team s lead ing scorer with an average of 18 2 points per game

He is second in career scoring over the last decade with 730 points second only to Scott Wion s 986 Shaw also averaged 9 2 rebounds and 3 5 steals. He was Clarenceville s best defender too

He s just an all around natural ath lete coach Kevin Murphy said "Any time you re 6 2 and can do a 360-degree dunk that s pretty impressive

"He told me when the season was over he wished he had worked harder in the off season because he could have been really good He put most of his time into football and it paid off But his numbers are pretty darn good "

Ryan Clark, Catholic Central On a team full of pinpoint outside shooters and ballhandlers someone had to do the dirty work for Catholic Central and that someone was senior center Ryan Clark

Clark and the Shamrocks came within a few seconds of defeating Class A state semifinalist Detroit Redford in the first round of districts culminating an excellent season for CC Clark averaged 11 3 points and 11 rebounds per game providing the tough interior defense that any successful team needs

"Ryan was our best rebounder and best defensive player " said coach Rick Coratti

Panama who is headed to LSU, had eight rebounds Rob Prater added 14 points and Woodberry 11 for Dixie

"(Lloreda) was more mobile than the big guys we have," Briggs said "He was able to slide through and get to the basket Our help side was just too late"

Dixie played No 2 Coffeyville (36-1), Kan , for the championship Saturday night Schoolcraft faced No 15 Wabash Valley (32-5) from Mount Carmel, Ill , in the consolation game earlier

"We made a nice run," Briggs said "We feel good about what we did at Schoolcraft this season"

S'craft 84, Itawamba CC 72: On Thursday, Schoolcraft College started the second half with a 28-6 run in the first 12 40 to open up a 34-point lead After that, coach Carlos Briggs emptied his bench as Itawamba (from Fulton, Miss) closed the gap with a meaningless run

"We came out lethargic in the first half," said Briggs "We didn't get our legs until the second half We had more intensity defensively (in the second half) We were moving our feet and getting some run-outs"

Which is why the Ocelots converted 35-of-68 floor shots (51 5 percent), despite making just 4-of-20 three-pointers (20 percent) Itawamba hit 24-of-57 from the floor (42 1 percent)

SC led 42-34 at the half After outscoring the Indians 17-6 to start the half, the Ocelots held their foes without a point for 4 43 while putting 15 on the board, making it 74-40 with 7 20 left

Emir Medunjanin (from North Farmington) had an outstanding game for SC, scoring 19 points (14 in the second half) on 8-of-11 shooting, including 2-of-4 threes Mike Williams also scored 19 points — he had the first nine of the game — and grabbed eight rebounds

Javon Clark added 12 points, Delvar Barrett came off the bench to score 11 and grab eight boards, and Rulon Harris dished out eight assists

Itawamba got 19 points from Trent Vaughn and 11 apiece from Shun Jenkins and Jason Pannel

"Emir stepped up tonight," said Briggs "He can score when he wants to be more assertive offensively He can do a lot of things for us He can shoot the ball and he usually guards the best player on the other team"

As for Itawamba, which ended its season at 22-6, coach Marty Cooper could offer only that "we shot the ball well when the game was over

"They're very good — better than I thought Their defense as a team is what makes them so good Offensively we were OK in the first half, but we didn't get after it on the other end

"Our two guys got hurt (Jenkins and Pannel were both injured early in the second half) and went out, and at that point we kind of hung our heads And being the champions they are, they went after us when they saw blood"

It's called taking care of business, which SC did with precision

(Jared Newman assisted) and their shot advantage was 29-9 Indeed, in the second period they outshot the Knights, 18-3

"We were short-handed the whole first period," said Vellucci "The officiating was horrible But we have to (learn to play with that)

"We got some timely goals, and we did score on the power play when we got one I thought their goalie played very well And so did ours"

Entering the final period, the Knights' hopes were hardly promising During the season, they were 3-18-4-5 when trailing after two periods, when trailing after two periods on road games, they were 1-12-2-1

Plymouth, on the other hand, was a perfect 32-0-0-0 when leading after two periods

Still, strong play in goal by Houle (he made 36 saves in the game) allowed London to keep it close And with 6 38 left while playing a man short, the Knights' Patrick Barbieri split the Whaler defense and broke in on Bacashihua, scoring a short-handed goal as the net came off its moorings Dennis Wideman and Charlie Stephens assisted

The Knights continued to press the rest of the way, but could not beat Bacashihua again

The game fit the pattern of the last four regular season games played between the West Division rivals Two ended in ties, with Plymouth winning one by a goal and London winning one by a goal

It could stay that way during the series "We just have to play our game," said Weiss "Stay out of the (penalty) box, play 5-on-5 and keep the flow of the game going Utilize our speed"

Seems like a sound enough strategy Now they just have to implement it

got things rolling, and they haven't stopped

Waza F C , which plays both indoor and outdoor soccer, enjoyed a highly-successful indoor season The club currently sponsors a men's team and male premiere teams in the under-23 and under-16 brackets It also has an under-14 girls premiere squad, an open division co-ed team and, at the select level, teams in under-10 boys, under-11 girls, under-11 boys and under-8 co-ed And there's a developmental level co-ed team (4-7 years)

So what makes the Waza program different? Their mental approach, for one (more on that later) But also a need Mario Scicluna feels has been largely ignored by the current soccer structure, not just in Michigan but around the country

Which is why the Waza program is beginning to take root in other locales, such as Chicago, Philadelphia, New Jersey, Windsor, Boston and San Francisco

Their objective, according to Mario, is to provide a structure that allows players to develop, similar to those in Europe and South America In those areas, players can compete at different levels according to ability, moving up as they progress

In the U S , the current structure generally starts with recreation programs for kids and builds through high school After that, a player's only true option is college — and that season only last three months a year

Pro leagues are starting to take shape, feeder systems for Major League Soccer (such as the Mid-Michigan Bucks), but their's is not a very large presence Neither is the Olympic Development Program, both target only the elite, leaving gaps in the structure, especially after high school and particularly for females

"People don't understand who we are, what we are," said Mario Indeed, other locally-based soccer clubs figured Waza F C and the Sciclunas would use their influence to steal their players

That's not their goal "We're not poaching," Mario insisted "We're just trying to provide the best training for players We're trying to get kids to their highest level That's the ultimate goal

■ Waza F.C., which plays both indoor and outdoor soccer, enjoyed a highly-successful indoor season. The club currently sponsors a men's team and male premiere teams.

"We're professionalizing the structure There's either no upper end or no feeder system"

It seems they're doing what they do pretty well At the National Indoor Soccer Championships March 2-3 at Total Soccer in Wixom, the Waza F C co-ed open division team finished first And at the National Indoor Soccer Championships Feb 16-17 in Kansas City, the under-23 men's team placed first

The Waza F C under-12 boys premiere squad was second at the regional at Total Soccer in Wixom, so was the under-8 boys team The under-11 boys and under-16 boys both qualified for nationals, while the under-14 girls missed making nationals by a single point at the regional competition

Which is great, but as the Sciclunas would say, it's only part of the battle Helping players realize their full potential remains the ultimate goal, including the aforementioned mental approach which the Waza philosophy supplies, through "controlled breathing, focusing your energy and positive thinking"

The Sciclunas, who trace their soccer lineage through their uncle, the late Paul Scicluna, former coach at CC and Eastern Michigan, and Van Dimitriou, former SC coach, would like nothing more than have other clubs mimic their approach, indeed, they'd like to help them build it

After all, making better soccer players is what it's all about

OU edges Madonna

Oakland University's baseball team had won just two of 15 games before hosting Madonna University in Rochester Wednesday But four Grizzlies' pitchers combined to limit Madonna to five hits in a 3-2 win for OU

For the Crusaders, the loss

was their fifth-straight, dropping them to 7-9 They did, however, end their run-scoring drought — they had not scored a run in three-straight games OU improved to 3-13

Devin Cole started for Madonna, surrendering two earned runs on six hits and two walks in three innings Mark Cole relieved and despite a solid performance, giving up just one unearned run on three hits and two walks with three strikeouts in five innings, he took the loss

Steve Kniebbe started for the Grizzlies and got the win, allowing two runs (one earned) on four hits and two walks, fanning three Brent Brown got the save with a perfect ninth Madonna trailed 2-0 after three innings but battled back to tie it with single runs in the fourth and fifth OU won the game with a single, unearned run

Bowling's leaders facing changes in structure

TEN PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

We came, we saw and we did not conquer That's it in a nutshell for last week's journey to the Montana badlands for ABC 2002

The bowlers were greeted with a red carpet everywhere in town, and the people of Billings were congenial and friendly to the bowlers and convention delegates everywhere we went

I would like to say that the three teams from the Greater Detroit Bowling Association were bowling at their very best On the first day in team events we felt like General Custer must have felt at the battle of Little Big Horn, about 50 miles away

The second day was singles and doubles Most of us were getting better adjusted to the lane conditions, but still nothing worth writing about in this newspaper or anywhere else

If you are a bowler, you should also have a good sense of humor, so that you can laugh it off when you are not doing all that great Jack Dahlstrom of Redford did manage a couple of good games back-to-back, Ron Lancaster of Westland and I both struggled but still cranked out a few good scores

In all, about 55,000 bowlers will compete in this event before it concludes in June ABC 2002 in Montana will have had the largest turnout of competitors outside of the National Bowling Stadium in Reno

Thomas F DeChallus served as president of ABC this year, the first African-American to hold this office and an ex-New York City firefighter In the ABC, the office duration of the president is only for one year His successor is Jim Bevins of Knoxville, Tenn , coincidentally the site for next years ABC tournament and convention

In the legislative sessions some issues were adopted and others rejected

The voting ran smoothly and the GDBA delegation voted as a block An item not up for a vote until next year is the idea of a single membership organization (SMO) The purpose of it would be to consolidate operations of ABC, WIBC, YABA and USA Bowling into one organization, to be named later

This would mark a significant change if passed, and according to ABC executive director Roger Dalkin, "It would result in an annual savings of approximately $1 8 million, which would make it feasible to operate more efficiently and without a raise in membership dues for a longer period

This proposal is still under study by an ad hoc committee, which includes GDBA President Marvin Dooley of Southfield

Anyone who has any ideas on the subject can write me at this newspaper or phone the GDBA Your comments and ideas are welcome This decision can affect the future of our sport The ABC and WIBC would no longer exist as such and YABA would also become a part of it Would the projected cost savings (and loss of jobs) offset the advantages of being a self supporting entity?

Would the smaller areas be able to control the larger ones since each would have an equal number of votes regardless of membership numbers?

Membership services would be the same, since that part of the organizations was combined a few years ago to expedite the delivery of national awards

Is it worth the risk of having fewer numbers of volunteer workers who are dedicated to the sport of bowling? That will be the big issue up for a vote next year in Knoxville What do you think?

"We've had great success with our full page advertisements," he told us.

Several types of falcons make Michigan home

NATURE NOTES

TIM NOWICKI

During the winter I periodically spotted a kestrel near some open fields west of the city of Wixom, in the soon to open (May 1) Lyon Oaks County Park The grassy fields are perfect habitat for this small bird of prey

Years ago the kestrel was named the sparrow hawk Kestrel is a better name for this species because its not really a hawk It has a hooked beak like a hawk, it has talons like a hawk, it hunts for mice like a hawk, but to ornithologists its a falcon

Falcons are in the same big family as hawks and eagles, but their are some difference

Wings of falcons are much more tapered and pointed than those of hawks and eagles A tapered wing gives them a better wing/aspect ratio which enables them to fly faster

Though a kestrel does not often attack a flying bird, other members of the falcon family do In order to overcome a flying bird a falcon must fly faster than its prey

All falcons have a "tooth" on their upper mandible It looks like a small protrusion pointing downward from the middle of the bill

No one is sure of its function, but people speculate that it may be used to help kill an animal Birds of prey will bite their prey behind the head at the base of the neck to dispatch the animal they subdued

Michigan is home to three other falcons – the peregrine, merlin and gyrfalcon Both peregrines and gyrfalcons are large birds, 16 and 22 inches long respectively, but are uncommon A merlin (10 inches) is about the size of a kestrel (9 inches), which is about the length of a robin

Small falcons like the kestrel rely on smaller prey During the summer they will capture and eat beetles, grasshoppers, frogs and mice

On a warm day a couple weeks ago I saw one fly away with a worm Voles are the primary prey for kestrels in winter When I walk through the fields in spring, vole tunnels can be seen everywhere

I was not surprised to discover that the bird is a female, since females are larger than males and procure the choice hunting areas

She has black bars up and down her tail and black barring on her wings This is in contract to the male who sports blue wings and a solid red tail with a black tip Both have the characteristic black "sideburn and mustache" on the side of the head

When I spotted her near the fields she was often perched on the top of some tree branches

Her broad head gives a hunched appearance Combine this feature with a long tail and the only bird close in appearance is a mourning dove Doves have a small head

One of the best ways to identify a kestrel is to see one hovering over the field

Not many birds of prey can hover in one place as they search for voles and insects below

In an effort to keep her in the area, I erected two bird boxes suitable for her to nest in

They like to be in open areas, so I put the boxes on trees with easy access and a view of the open fields No sign of nest site selection yet, but I remain hopeful

(Livonia resident Tim Nowicki is a naturalist with Independence Oaks Park north of Clarkston in Oakland County He can be reached at (248) 625 6473)

Guitar, skis and kisses equal healing

As a reporter, I know I am supposed to carry with my notebook a degree of skepticism and a curious professional distance I had neither the morning my assignment brought me to the Center for the Healing Arts in Novi I knew without statistics this program works and from my cheek flicked a tear wept for the girl I was 12 years ago

See I'm no miracle of medicine I figured out long before holistic medicine gained acceptance my survival depended on my old guitar, a pair of skis and kisses

First you crumble

My journey began in a greasy spoon diner from which I could see the International Bridge joining Sault Ste Marie, Michigan to Canada I worked the second shift alone, pouring coffee grilling liver and onions, and baking pies

My only customers that hour were my professor Tom and his wife,Mari anne In the rough and rustic Upper Peninsula you can call your professors by first name and your surgeon phones you himself

When the call came I put down my coffee and cigarette and picked up the kitchen phone

Tom and Marianne grew silent as my voice escalated "Just tell me now I demanded I working until 10 and I won t wait until morning Tell me

My sutures sting in nervous sweat My hands fumbled with the phone chord from which I began to wipe away grill grease Marianne averted her eyes from the telltale surgical tape on my suddenly pale forehead The word I heard next changed my life immediately and permanently Melanoma

The next few months were a blur Surgery Bills To chemo or not to chemo? More surgery Radiation? Tests Needles and vials Very aggressive cells Stage four Research and more research The oncologist told me the best odds he could give me were 50-50

Road to healing

My surgeon came as close as anyone did back then to understanding how to treat this warrior woman as much as the body that had betrayed me He respected me when I was not convinced that chemotherapy was any more effective than surgery and my immune system

He saw me monthly, and accepted my home-grown treatment approach He respectfully wrote in my file that I was cross-country skiing three times a week I practiced guided imagery and meditation I played my guitar daily, and for some reason James Taylor music seemed the most therapeutic, and he scribbled "Sweet Baby James" in my folder

Providence Center bridges gap between healing, curing

BY CAROL MARSHALL
SPECIAL WRITER

Somewhere between the sacred and the scientific the journey to wholeness begins

Cancer patients have for more than two years come to the Providence Center for the Healing Arts not only for help in curing their disease with state of the art medicine, but in healing their lives through a variety of classes, services and celebrations including yoga, reiki, art and music therapy, and therapeutic massage

"A cancer diagnosis brings permanent and meaningful change to your life It s not always for the better, and it s not always for the worse but it will always mean change said Elena Weissman Providence Center for the Healing Arts supervisor

Few patients are prepared for such a change so the hospital built the center to bridge the gap between curing and healing

Of science and soul

It was a doctor radiation oncologist Bill McLaughlin who originally thought of incorporating such a program into Providence's Assarian Cancer Center in Novi and Providence Cancer Center in Southfield

"Dr McLaughlin felt we weren't doing enough for our patients in this healing journey We kind of zapped them with radiation and sent them on their way, but we needed to address the patients' needs from an emotional and spiritual aspect ' said Weissman

Cute cat: A well-equipped ceramic studio is located in the basement Larry Sinelli's figure of a kitten sits on the edge of the kiln, used to fire the students' work

The Novi center built between the radiation therapy and chemotherapy wings of the hospital is a brick and mortar reflection of the hospital's commitment to help patients heal

"This is really a premiere facility in the country People come from all over the United States and Canada to see how we do this A lot of hospitals pay lip service to, or may even want to, have a center like this, but then they convert a broom closet for space Here the center really reflects how we've incorporated this philosophy of healing into everything we do, Weissman said

The philosophy of "holistic" treatment is based upon addressing patients' left brain right brain and 'soul brain " Everyone uses a little of each but most respond to one part of the brain more than the other two, Weissman said

In order to maximize healing you need to address all the parts of ourselves," she said

Left brain patients need data, logic and reason to calm their fears and make sense of their disease To help them the center includes a Science Gallery with educational modules and a library

Right-brain patients work through powerful emotions through creative activities

Activities in the Art Gallery include an art display, which changes monthly, a ceramics studio and art studio, and music and art therapy classes

"Pretty much everyone accepts the right-brain, left brain model The problem is we're not dichotomous people. Those two things leave out your spiritual side, your physical needs and need for love and

Hazards lurk as patients flock to alternative medicine

Nearly three quarters of heart patients surveyed in a new University of Michigan study used some kind of alternative medicine approach to help them heal, but dietary supplements chosen by one third of them could interact with their heart medications to raise their risk of further health problems

Fortunately, the vast majority of those who used alternative medicine techniques told their doctors about it

"Heart patients seem to be turning to alternative therapies even more than the general population, even while they stick to mainstream drugs too ' says Eva Kline-Rogers, the U-M nurse practitioner who coordinated the study 'But they may not know that some of these substances could pose a hazard when taken with certain heart medications and if they don't tell their doctors the risk may go undetected '

The study involved 145 patients who had been hospitalized for heart attack or angina within six months before being surveyed by phone last year It was designed by members of the U-M Cardiovascular Center and the U M Complementary and Alternative Medicine Research Center, one of the first centers of its kind in the nation funded by the National Institutes of Health

The study started after U M cardiologists and nurses noticed that some patients came to their appointments with lists of all the prescription drugs, over the counter medicines vitamins, minerals and food supplements they were taking – wondering which they could cut out to save money or reduce hassle

The physicians would explain that the prescription medications had years of research evidence behind them to show that they worked, while many alternative treatments, even vitamins, had little or no scientific proof to back them up, and could cause side effects

The researchers knew that previous studies by other teams had shown that nearly half of all Americans use alternative techniques – everything from multivitamins to "energy healing" – and that the annual cost totaled an estimated $21 billion Research has also suggested that patients could face a risk of bleeding problems, including gastrointestinal bleeding or surgical complications, if they take certain mainstream medications along with certain alternative substances

Threats

Many heart patients have a prescription to take aspirin, Coumadin (warfarin) or Plavix (clopidogrel), to thin their blood, prevent clotting, and reduce their risk of heart attack, stroke or other problems But dietary supplements like gingko biloba, ginseng, garlic, vitamin E, fish oil or coenzyme Q10 can also cause blood-thinning (anticoagulant) effects, and doses aren't carefully studied and controlled like those for medicines The total anti-clotting effect from taking both at once, or other interactions between drugs and supplements, are what worry experts

Other complementary or alternative medicine (CAM) treatment approaches, from prayer, meditation and yoga to chiropractic and acupuncture sessions, do not pose a specific hazard when combined with conventional heart treatments Many patients find them to be beneficial at reducing stress or increasing body function They were also included in the U-M study

The survey gave some surprising results "Of the 145 patients surveyed, 74 percent reported using some sort of CAM therapy," says Kline-Rogers "Sixty percent of the surveyed patients used supplements, vitamins or herbs, while 43 percent used mind-body or body techniques Many patients used both "

Even when multivitamins and prayer, two widely used and accepted "alternative" approaches, were subtracted, 60 percent of all the patients used at least one remaining CAM technique

Among all the patients who used CAM techniques, 31 8 percent used at least one blood-thinning prescription medication and one diet supplement that could reduce clotting This particular statistic troubles Kline-Rogers and her colleagues most In the study they're now conducting, they're asking heart patients about their use of prescription medications and CAM techniques, their intake of beverages such as green tea and red wine that can also interfere with clotting, and their incidence of minor bleeding symptoms

Informing the doctor

The vast majority – 75 percent – of people who chose food supplements, vitamins or herbs told their doctor what they were taking The rest said they didn't think it was necessary, or didn't care to discuss it, or that their doctor didn't ask Kline-Rogers and her colleagues were pleased by the high percentage of those who told their doctors But they note that both clinicians and patients need more education about the importance of talking to one another about CAM use, due to the potential risks of bad interactions between CAM techniques and conventional ones

When asked about their greatest concerns about CAM techniques, a majority of CAM users said they were worried their chosen approaches wouldn't work, or were a waste of money On average, using prices from local stores and practitioners, patients spent about $10 a month on dietary CAM approaches, and $98 a month on body-based or mind-body approaches performed by practitioners such as chiropractors, acupuncturists, Reiki masters and yoga instructors

I learned to speak up, live in the moment, take a few risks, collect kisses along the way, and always remember that what makes time on Earth so precious is that none of us gets out of here alive, so I had better learn to live

A lot has changed since then I sold my skis The kisses that keep me going are from a gorgeous 4-year old the son I didn t think I d have

And today my surgeon s philosophy may not be so uncommon I would be able to find a network of support, as I learned at the Center I could throw pottery I could attend yoga and nutrition classes, and find support groups There are a host of options and opportunities and help for people who want them

Success isn't always measured in months or years or survival or death The process is as important as the results Still, my trip to wholeness was a success I prove it every time my wee one asks me to pick up that old gui human contact or connection That's your soul brain," Weissman said "We try to address the five parts of the whole self thinking self, the creative self, the physical, loving and spiritual self Unless you can address all, you've missed the boat "

The Reflection Spa, which Weissman said is the soul of the building, addresses patients who respond best with their soul brains The spa serves as a calming refuge to patients

Sculpture and artwork depict the stages and complex emotions of the soul's journey, from wholeness, to loss and sorrow, to redemption, and a return to wholeness

In the center of the spa, a still reflection pool reminds those who gaze into it that whatever else is raging in their lives around them, there is a place of serenity in the center A singe drop of water disturbs the perfect calm in the pool, a reminder that even in the midst of peace, there is always change

The spa serves as a place for patients to meditate, relax or just sit "Some people just come in and read the paper," Weissman said

Every week the spa, with its heated tile floor, is the site for yoga classes, music therapy and support groups

The offerings at the center are so unique, Providence developed a monthly program

known as Boost Camp The camp is an all-day introduction to everything the center offers and is open to all cancer patients, whether they are being treated at Providence or not

"It's kind of like our own version of a Whitman Sampler," said Weissman "Patients come in and we give them an empty wooden toolbox Throughout the day they are introduced to nutrition therapy and meditation and massage therapy And everywhere they go, we give them something to put in the box They are the 'tools' for survival "

Although Weissman and the center's staff know the camp and the center's programs help patients and families, Weissman said the program needs more statistical credibility So Providence sought, and was awarded a $300,000 grant from the National Institute of Health to conduct studies and collect empirical data on the program's effectiveness

"This is the largest grant we have ever won, and it gives this center a lot of credibility A lot of doctors are still hesitant to recommend massage or meditation for their patients," Weissman said "But we're looking to do the research and to meet the same standards as other evidence-based medicine We want our programs to be evidence-based as well so they need to meet the same rigorous standards "

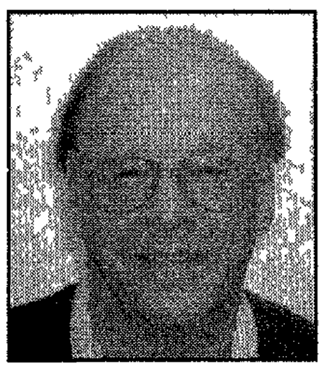
Ask the Orthodontist
"Cosmetic Braces for the Teeth"

Perhaps the most significant esthetic advance in orthodontics over the past decade involves bonding brackets directly onto patient s teeth Brackets are tiny devices that are used to attach the main wire known as the archwire In the past individual stainless steel rings known as bands were wrapped around and cemented to each tooth Although this method was effective it made for a mouth of metal that was often referred to as a "tin grin" Today use of bands is usually limited to the posterior or back teeth where they can sustain greater forces and serve as anchors to the wire The front teeth are treated with tiny brackets which can be available in clear silver gold or even titanium These less visible brackets all but eliminate the self conciousness that used to be associated with the larger metal braces



The small brackets allow for lighter and more comfortable forces to be applied to the teeth in addition to the benefit of easier oral hygiene for the patient Even the brackets can be extra small in size depending upon the orthodontist s selection, usually based on his dexterity and size of his hands

The new bracketing system can make placement of the orthodontic appliance quicker and more comfortable For many it can be made fun with the different color rubber rings that hold the wire to the bracket These colors are changed each month and helps make orthodontics fun!

Parents with any orthodontic concerns for their children should consult an orthodontist concerning the need for orthodontic treatment As dental specialists an orthodontist has elected to limit his practice to this specific area of expertise and has received additional training by an accredited dental school for advanced education Our office is located at 35200 Schoolcraft Rd in Livonia (734 261 8860)

Popular donor-advised funds benefit donors and charities

More than ever, Americans are seeking ways to help others And a growing number of individuals are going beyond the traditional means of supporting charities by establishing their own charitable giving legacy through donor-advised funds

ERIC ZIMMERMAN

Donor-advised funds, which allow individuals to easily establish a charitable giving account, have soared in popularity during the past few years

According to a 2000 survey by The Chronicle of Philanthropy, assets in donor-advised funds jumped from $2 4 billion to $7 5 billion between 1995 and 1999, and individual accounts more than doubled from 16,242 to 36,308 during that time

Unlike trusts and private foundations, donor-advised funds typically cost less to set up, take less time to administer and offer similar tax advantages

'Most donor-advised funds are designed for individuals or fami lies with assets of $250,000 or more who wish to create a charitable legacy without the administrative hassle,' says Craig Brimhall, vice president of American Express Funds 'Once you initially fund the account, your future involvement is as great or as little as you want it to be "

What Is a Donor-Advised Fund?

A donor-advised fund is a charitable giving product through which an individual makes irrevocable contributions to a non-profit organization that administers the program The donor advises the non-profit how to invest the money in designated pools of mutual funds with different levels of risk

The donor can then advise the non-profit to make grants from the account to qualified charities The contributions are tax-deductible in the year the non profit receives the assets, and growth in the account is tax-free

A donor-advised fund is different from a foundation

With a donor-advised fund, donors can immediately deduct contributions of up to 50 percent of their adjusted gross income for cash donations in the year the fund receives the donation and up to 30 percent of adjusted gross income for gifts of appreciated assets By comparison, deductions for cash and appreciated assets given to private foun dations are 30 percent and 20 percent, respectively Unused contribution deductions can be accrued for up to five years

Unlike the requirements for forming a private foundation, creating a donor-advised fund does not entail start-up costs, excise taxes or annual tax-reporting obligations And annual expenses, which are often substantial with a private foundation, typically range from 1 3 percent to 3 percent with a donor-advised fund

Once an account is funded, any potential asset growth in the account is tax-free, enabling the donor to make potentially larger future charitable gifts Donors can make charitable gifts from the account anonymously, if they wish, and can name successors and counselors to the account who would be able to make grants from the account after the original donor(s) death

Choosing a Donor-Advised Fund

Because they require donors to make an irrevocable gift, donor-advised funds typically request that a donor has the demonstrated means to fund an account, with common initial funding requirements set at $10,000 or more However, that amount is typically far less than the assets required to start a private foundation

When comparing donor-advised funds, Brimhall recommends potential donors pay par ticular attention to a fund's

- Investment options Are there multiple investment options and do they seem compatible with your goals for asset growth? Are you able to recommend how your account assets are invested?
- Expenses Do annual administrative expenses and fees seem reasonable?
- Reporting process What type of records will you receive and how often?
- Donation process How simple is it to recommend a charitable donation from your account? Who can assist you?

Funding a Donor-Advised Fund

Donor-advised funds can be ideal for individuals who have recently received a large amount of cash, such as through an inheritance or the sale of a business, or for those with substantial appreciated securities

Individuals who don t have sufficient assets to start a donor-advised fund, but who want to establish a charitable legacy, may wish to pool their funds with family members or friends to create a sufficiently large account

Even with the recent fluctuations in the stock market, millions of Americans hold appreciated securities, making them potential candidates for opening a donor-advised fund And philanthropy continues to grow According to Giving USA, a leading source on national charitable giving, individual Americans gave 5 percent more to charity in 2000 than they did in 1999 An astonishing $152 07 billion

"Americans are very generous in their charitable giving, as evidenced by the outpouring of generosity following the Sept 11 attacks as well as their continual commitment to local and national causes and organizations, Brimhall says "Donor-advised funds are an excellent option for those looking to incorporate charitable giving into their comprehensive financial plan '

To learn more about the tax advantages of donor-advised funds, check with your tax advisor If you'd like to determine if a donor-advised fund is potentially appropriate to your charitable and financial goals, work with a knowledgeable financial advisor

Contributions to the American Express Charitable Giving Program are irrevocable gifts made to the National Philanthropic Trust, a public charity Individuals considering contributions to the Program should consult their legal or tax advisors Information about fees and expenses is available from your American Express financial advisor

ARTHRITIS WITH NO NAME

There are over 100 different types of arthritis The list begins with osteoarthritis rheumatoid arthritis lupus arthritis gouty arthritis psoriatic arthritis etc Textbooks on arthritis often take up two volumes of over a thousand pages each volume A text will fill a CD full with another CD needed for tables and illustrations Revision and additional information of the CD will occur every four to six months

With all this material at hand it would seem impossible that you could see a doctor with your joint pain and have the doctor say I know you have arthritis but I can t determine what it is " But this scenario occurs all the time Moreover you are most likely to hear such words from the arthritis specialist who has read the textbooks reviewed the CD s and passed board examinations in rheumatology

First the complexity of the individual exceeds the vastness of knowledge of med cine Second the specialist is in position to realize when your presentation of joint pain is different or unique Third the specialist usually has enough self-confidence to be able to admit when you present a problem that stumps him Finally if your physician doesn t know what your condition is he has a good idea what it sn't Reassurance tself s excellent therapy

Having an arthrit s that s d fferent does not mean that t cannot be treated Usua ly you doctor can undertake a plan that relieves your pa n and improves your jo nts wh le work ng toward a d agnos s

Sweet books for kids are Easter treats

BY SAMANTHA CRITCHELL
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

Wacky Witzy, the duck from Little Suzy's Zoo, and his pals find Easter eggs, chocolate bunnies and bonnets in Witzy s Backyard Easter Hunt (Scholastic, ages 2-4, $5 99) by Suzy Spafford

Witzy invites young readers to help in their search, asking "Can you find Easter baskets?" and so on He also encourages kids to count clouds in the sky and find the baby bunnies hid- ing under a bush

And Witzy's board-book back- yard is a colorful wonderland chock-full of blooming flowers, plush grasses and plenty of garden friends It's an ideal place to spend Easter morning

Friendly bunny

Bunny, the simply drawn star of Pat the Bunny, is back – and in the bath

The soft white bunny gathers friends Tickle the pig and Squeak the mouse for a good time in the tub in Bunny s Bath Time (Golden Books, up to age 3, $9 99) by Edith Kun- hardt, the daughter of Dorothy Kunhardt who wrote the origi nal Bunny book in 1940

Once Bunny and Squeak find Tickle, who is hiding in the laundry basket, they all enjoy splashing around and playing with enough toys that must make the tub a little crowded

Illustrations are done in the soft colors that fans of this series expect to see

Happy mouse

Little Owen is a happy mouse from the moment he opens his eyes Easter morning to find a basket full of candy in Owen's Marshmallow Chick (HarperFestival, ages 2 and older, $6 95)

The jelly beans are his favorite – until he eats the gumdrops The buttercream eggs are even better than the gumdrops, and a big chocolate bunny is the best But in the end, it's the marshmallow chick that wins Owen over

Owen, in a series of simple but bright drawings by author- illustrator Kevin Henkes, learns that there s more to a "favorite" candy than sugar in this sweet story

Just joking

The natural – and quick – proliferation of rabbits is the punch line to many jokes, but in Leo Lionni s board book Let's Make Rabbits (Knopf, up to age 4, $6 99), two bunnies are born using a little imagination

Scissors, a pencil and some colored paper come together to make the best buddy bunnies

They live out the journey from being two-dimensional characters to real rabbits

A warning to parents, though This book is also a child's first tutorial in how to make rabbit ear shadows

Biblical story

Easter (HarperCollins ages 4-8, $15 95) uses stained-glass illustrations to complement Fiona French's telling of the Easter story, from Jesus' entry into Jerusalem, through the Last Supper, and ending with his ascension into heaven

She uses words from the King James Bible, yet the com- plicated story should be under- standable to children The illustrations also explain the action described in the text

The Easter story is told as just that – a story It is not oversimplified into a kiddie book but it also is not preachy, making it a good introduction for children of all backgrounds in families who use and prac- tice religion differently

The Gabblers, proud-parent geese, invite all their forest dwelling neighbors to see their first egg But amid all the cele- bration which Gabbler calls a 'forest fest " the egg disap- pears

World-class Istanbul ranks high for sights, people, food

BY JUDITH DONER BERNE
SPECIAL WRITER

■ Turkey's Grand Bazaar, originated in the 1450s, made me wonder why it took us until the 1950s to build Northland, the United States' first covered shopping mall. The bazaar's winding streets host 4,000 storefronts, reportedly the most under a single roof in the world. But don't overlook the fine shops along Nuruosmaniye Caddesi, a major street leading to the Grand Bazaar.

Beautiful view: A visit to Hagia Sophia is one of the highlights of a trip to Istanbul

I wonder if we are the only Americans who ever went to Turkey who didn't buy a Turkish rug

We didn't – only because we had no place for one – but it wasn't easy It doesn't matter what kind of shop you enter – jewelry, leather, ceramics – there s a rug connection somewhere Furthermore, you absolutely can't walk down the street in Istanbul without being verbally pummeled by rug salesmen

It's a game yes, but it's also their livelihood And with inflation rising 65 percent per year, what Turkey produces and sells is both a bargain for you and a necessity for them Turks are a naturally hospitable people, as well as born to sell Expect to be offered a glass of apple tea at every turn

Istanbul is an exotic city Virtually hovering on the edge between West and East, it is at once cosmopolitan and Old World

One of my fondest remembrances is three Muslim women heads covered, and wearing baggy harem pants, jogging together along the Bosporus Another is hearing the Muslim call to prayer each morning and evening through the open windows of my hotel room

Sights and shops

You could spend weeks wandering the various neighborhoods, but in five days you can visit most of the major sights and get a real feel for the city

We deliberately chose the Four Seasons Hotel a former Turkish prison, for its reputation – it's often at the pinnacle of the world's top hotels – and its location – in the heart of Istanbul's Sultanahmet area, also known as the Old City

But since it was just a month after the tragedies of Sept 11, it was only a quarter full Friends stayed nearby at the Sari Konak a tiny more reasonably priced alternative with its own charm and good father and son management It too was relatively empty

From both hotels you have close-up views of two of Istanbul's most famous edifices the Blue Mosque and the Hagia Sophia, which face one another across a small park

You are also within easy walking distance of Topkapi Palace and the very interesting Basilica Cistern, part of an underground waterway system from the 4th to 6th century that has been converted into artistic space

Turkey's Grand Bazaar, originated in the 1450s, made me wonder why it took us until the 1950s to build Northland, the United States first covered shopping mall The bazaar s winding streets host 4 000 storefronts reportedly the most under a single roof in the world

But don t overlook the fine shops along Nuruosmaniye Caddesi a major street leading to the Grand Bazaar I got a buttery soft leather jacket at Rima Leder (Leather) at an amazing price from the sweetest Turkish shopkeeper I encountered

You can't really window shop because shopkeepers are on you immediately He was the exception He told me that they send a lot of their coats without labels to Italy which the Italians sell as theirs But even he wanted to take me around the corner to a carpet shop!

The Spice Bazaar is smaller and even more exotic with its bins of spices and nuts, as well as other foods and merchandise They have yards of the confection known as Turkish Delight, which in truth is not a delight, even to a sweet lover like myself It s also where, unlike the Grand Bazaar you'll see more Turks than visitors

Food

The food in Turkey is fantastic The friends we traveled with, Bill and Ellen Sachs of West Bloomfield, agreed So when we came home we gave a Turkish dinner party

The Turks begin the meal with a group of appetizers called mezes We served eggplant puree flavored with garlic and lemon, yogurt salad that combined plain yogurt with cucumbers and shepherd's salad that is chunks of seedless tomato cucumber onion, green pepper radish and parsley in a vinaigrette dressing

Turkish soups are fabulous This one, a cream of vegetable soup contained no cream at all The soup was pureed to acquire its thick texture

Kebaps (Turkish spelling) encompass much more than what we think of meat and/or vegetables on a skewer In fact neither of the kebaps we served was on a skewer at all Ellen made kofte kebaps – meatballs made of minced lamb mixed with rice or bread crumbs

I was able to fashion a resemblance to my favorite Iskander kebap – that usually is sliced lamb (I used grilled chicken strips) awash in tomato sauce yogurt and melted butter – all on a bed of pita bread Fresh Turkish yogurt is incredible, but we made do

We actually never had in Turkey the amazing glazed apricots filled with creme fraiche that Ellen made for dessert straight out of the Turkish cookbook she brought back

■ When to go: Spring and fall.

■ Hotels Four Seasons Hotel, U.S phone (212) 638-8200; Sari Konak, through its Web site or the Turkish Tourist Office in New York, (212) 687-2194

For its place in the world its sights, people and, yes food I'd have to rank Istanbul No 3, just back of New York and Paris among the cities to which I've been Like all world class cities, you see so much and there's so much left to see

Kirklands links other Moceri communities

Kirklands, one of several communities in the Oaklands development in Oakland Township, continues the tradition of luxury living provided by the Moceri Companies

The family-owned firm offers 49 single-family lots off Adams between Dutton and Silver Bell interconnecting with the Claremont, Kings Ridge and Cloisters developments

And that's a big draw – "quality, reputation of the builder/developer and being on the Billion Dollar Mile (the projected aggregate value of homes along that stretch of Adams)," said Joseph Vitale, sales representative

"This is a natural move-up for people on the Adams Road corridor," said Frank Moceri "People who have the notion they can't afford this don't realize how affordable we are"

Base prices range from $650,000 for a story-and-a-half of 3,602 square feet to $700,000 for a colonial of 4,064 square feet

Four floor plans – all with four bedrooms, three full baths and two half baths – are available

"Some people want to add a room, a fireplace, a closet," Moceri said "We have the ability to do that as custom builders"

Luxury personified: Moceri homes in all of its Oakland Township developments, including Kirklands, feature many amenities

Impressive

Visitors like what they see, said Elaine M Pierce, sales rep

"They're impressed with the quality of workmanship, molding, floor plans People are familiar with the Moceri name They expect quality and get it

"Something in every house appeals to everybody," Pierce added "It's custom features that sell these homes

"They love the way (the (Oaklands) communities are put together,' she said "Fountains, flowers and stone work sets the stage for the houses"

Other factors recommend Kirklands

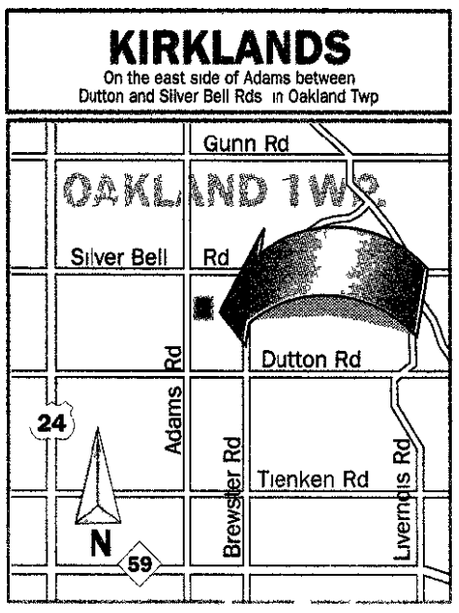
"The site, itself, has three cul-de-sacs" Moceri said "We have walk-out sites, sites that back up to ponds A bike path connects all the (Oaklands) communities There's walking paths, nature preserves, bridges"

"Rochester schools are very highly regarded," Vitale said

"Private schools are close by, too," Moceri said "Notre Dame Prep and Marist Academy are 5-7 miles away and we're not too far from Oakland Christian"

Oakland University Meadowbrook Theater the Palace of Auburn Hills and Great Lakes Crossing also are fairly close he added

A three car garage, basement, first floor laundry fireplace and air conditioning are included at base price in all four plans



So, too, are energy-efficient furnace and water heater, Nelson energy seal package and a 30-year warranty on basement leakage

Wood flooring is in the foyer, hallway, half baths and kitchen/nook, ceramic in the full baths and laundry

An oven, cooktop, microwave and dishwasher are included in the kitchen A separate jet tub and shower are in the master

Brick and wood, cement or shake siding are primary exterior materials

Features

The model, the Britanny, is a colonial of 3,756 square feet It features a traditional style with library, living room, dining room kitchen/nook with island and family room with two story ceiling

One half bath is near the foyer and library the other situated near the

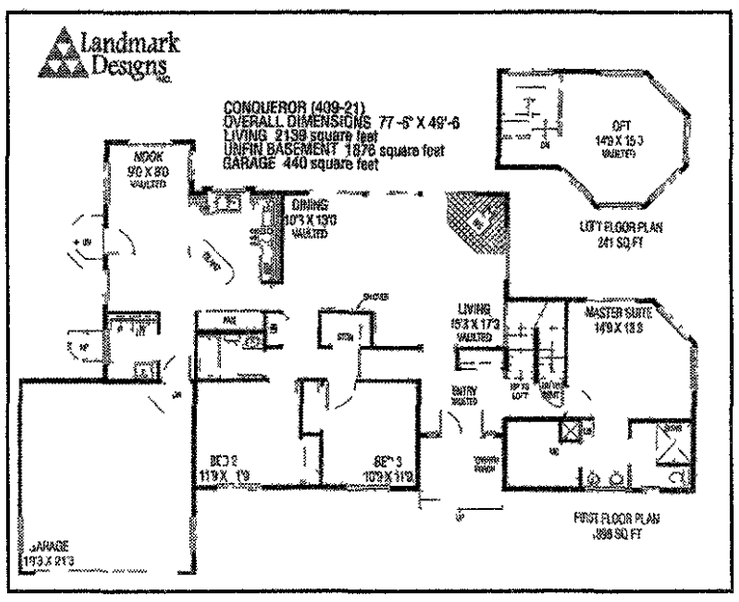
Loft opens door to all kinds of possibilities

The Conqueror (409-21) has a versatile, unique layout

This home could be built on flat land with a regular basement or on a back-sloping lot with a walk-out basement

The exterior is contemporary and has a loft room that sits above the main roofline, adding a great look to this 2,139-square-foot home

Advancing through the covered porch, the entry double doors open into a small foyer To the right is the master suite set off by itself



Stairs, one going up to the loft, the other down to the basement are conveniently tucked out of the way

The master suite has large windows on two sides and sliding patio doors facing the rear The master bath has an oversized shower, dual sinks and a large walk-in closet

The loft is vaulted and could be used for an office, sewing room, den or library It would be great to use as a computer room or study area for the kids, as it is easily accessible from the main part of the home

Two other bedrooms and a second full bath are to the left of the entry A large linen closet and walk-in storage closet are just outside the bath

The living and dining rooms form a large great room, completely open and spacious There is a wood stove in the corner of the vaulted room with three patio doors, side-by-side, opening to the rear of the home

If this were a walk-out basement, a deck over the basement could be formed A deck to the back yard if the basement is underground would make these three doors invaluable

The left rear corner of the Conqueror is dedicated to the kitchen and nook The L-shaped kitchen has a large window over the sink, an island in the center and a Lazy Suzan in the corner Across from the sink is a large wall pantry The nook has three big windows to provide natural light There is a door opening to the side yard The utility between the nook and two-car garage has a sink and folding table

For a study plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations and an artist rendering, send $24 95 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Road E, Cottage Grove, OR 97424 Please specify plan name (Conqueror) and the number (409 21)

A catalog featuring hundreds of home plans is available for $12 95, or save by ordering both for $29 95 For faster processing, call (800) 562 1151 or visit the Web site at www landmarkde signs com

garage and laundry

A dual staircase leads upstairs where a loft overlooks the family room

Two bedrooms share one jack-and-jill bath, while another jack-and-jill bath layout is between the third bedroom and the upstairs hall for access from the loft

The master with pan ceiling contains a couple of walk-in closets, two-sink vanity and compartmentalized toilet

Base price of the Brittany is $665,000 The model, with upgrades, recently sold for $725,000

"One of the keys to our business is spec homes and getting ready for quick occupancy," Moceri said "We want to have one model of each (plan) for people to see"

Kirklands is serviced by Oakland County well water and sewers Sidewalks are along the main interior road

The property tax rate is $27 27 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price for new construction That means the owners of $700,000 home there would pay about $9,550 the first year

The annual association fee is $1,000

Moceri is building a home in Kirklands for Guido and Mary Kay Dinverno and their sons, Bryan and Jeff

"It's just first class – that's the feeling you get," Guido said "Attention to detail and quality of craftsmanship pretty much sold us They worked with us from day one getting issues resolved"

The sales model/office at Kirk lands, (248) 601 4595, is open noon to 6 p m daily

When older parents join household

FROM HOME SERVICE STORE FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Elderly parents sometimes move into that new home as permanent guests

When that kind of reverse relocation happens, adult children become part-time caregivers landlords and companions as well as full-time children

It's not an easy situation, but it can be dealt with

According to a firm that oversees remodeling projects necessary to ready homes for live-in parents, adult children can undertake a number of projects to provide a safe and secure environment while assuring the least interruption to family life

Think safety first

- Install exterior handrails to all steps into the home This includes front and back doors, and garage entries In some cases you might want railings on both sides of steps
- Install bright exterior lights above all entryways
- Make certain interior stairs are well-lighted
- Non-skid steps reduce the chance for slippage Low-cost adhesive strips are available
- Carpet interior stairs and hallways
- Place emergency numbers near a phone installed in the parents room
- Fire and carbon dioxide alarms should be in working order
- Railings are a good idea in showers, bathtubs and along walls
- Install bathroom rugs with rubberized bottoms They lessen falls
- Place non skid strips in tubs and showers
- Add lamps to the parents' room for extra light, but keep cords out of the way
- If possible, locate parent rooms on the first floor to minimize use of stairs

Family dynamics are a significant issue. The schedules of you and your children will differ markedly from those of your parents. Consider adapting your parents' quarters to allow them as much privacy as possible.

Family dynamics are a significant issue The schedules of you and your children will differ markedly from those of your parents Consider adapting your parents' quarters to allow them as much privacy as possible

A small bathroom television set telephone and even small refrigerators offer parents a semblance of self-reliance without excluding them from family life

Of course, every home has unique challenges as it is readied for aging parents Visit with local contractors for advice on heating and cooling spare rooms, insulating rooms against noise and other ideas you might not think about

Consult seniors' agencies that offer insights into your particular situation Visit your local library for books such as The Aging Parent Handbook and How to Care for Aging Parents

Banking jobs making a comeback in state

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
SPECIAL WRITER

The next 12 months should be better than the last couple of years for people looking for jobs in banking and finance, according to local analysts

The need for bank employees in metropolitan Detroit rose at nearly one-fifth the rate of other industries The experts point to three major reasons, which include the purchases of local banks by out of state companies, increased technology and Michigan tax laws

From 1991 to 2000 there was a 3 9 percent increase in the numbers of people employed in finance and banking in the Detroit metropolitan area that includes Wayne, Oakland, Monroe, Macomb, St Clair and Lapeer counties, according to Jim Rhein, Michigan Department of Career Development labor market analyst

However, in Michigan overall, there was a 7 percent increase in banking and finance during that same time period The state has nearly double the employment in banking and finance compared to metropolitan Detroit, because Grand Rapids and communities on the west side of the state have seen an increase in bank jobs dealing with loans as a result of residential growth in those areas, according to David Littmann, senior vice-president and chief economist of Comerica Bank

Nationally, Michigan is lagging in terms of employment growth, because it isn't known to offer comparatively low tax rates for businesses looking to build or relocate, Littmann said

"It's not often the first choice for corporations looking to expand," Littmann said "We used to offset things, like weather and being off the beaten track, by having no income tax to give businesses a chance to compete effectively We're above average for state tax"

Slow growth

The banking and finance industries have grown at a much slower rate than in other occupational fields

Total employment for the Detroit metropolitan area increased 19 5 percent from 1991 to 2000 Littmann explained that the increase was largely driven by the auto industry and its suppliers during a time when auto sales broke all time records

From 2000 to 2001 the employment rate in banking and finance was flat with no significant increase or decline The stable figure is significant, however, considering that from 2000 to 2001 there was a 1 percent decrease in over all employment

"Obviously 2000 to 2001 was a fairly poor year for wage and salary employ ment, while there was fairly strong growth from 1991 to 2000," Rhein said "In the banking category you're seeing less growth, but on a good note, with the downturn during the recession, the banking industry stayed flat and you didn't see the decrease There was no change as opposed to the state decreasing in wage and salary slightly"

Acquisitions

The lower growth rate in finance and banking in the metropolitan area was also caused by acquisitions of local banks by out of state banks, Littmann said These purchases led to cost cutting rounds that trimmed most departments, but significantly in accounting areas, lending functions and data processing to eliminate redundancies

The local banks that were bought out, however, caused an increase in employment for cities, like Chicago, Raleigh and New York, which are the headquarters for many of the purchasing companies

"The winners were headquartered elsewhere," Littmann said "Those cities gained considerably, especially in management employment"

Also, the recession locally affects the financial institutions that are forced to trim staff to correspond to the reduced growth rates of loans and other assets in order to maintain efficiency, Littmann added

Meanwhile, Comerica, the largest bank with headquarters in Michigan, has expanded Comerica has made considerable bank acquisitions in California and is the fourth largest bank in that state These purchases in California have also caused more activity at the Comerica headquarters in Detroit, said Littmann adding that the future employment status in the banking and finance industries will improve, but will come at a slow pace

"I suspect as the economy recovers we will see a 2 percent growth in employment statewide in banking," he explained "I know we'll be expanding in employment, but I don't know how much It reflects the growth in the economy Economic growth, nationally, will be 2 4 percent and the banks should be picking up on that"

Some of the decline in the banking and finance employment can be attributed to a relaxation in interstate banking restrictions in 1994, according to Anjan Thakor, University of Michigan Edward J Frey, professor of banking and finance and chairperson of the finance department at the U-M business school

"Now we can have out of state banks acquiring local banks," Thakor said "The other reason is that financial services in general have been consolidating around the globe"

Increased technology has also lowered the need for employees, he added

"More and more banks are cutting back on how many tellers they have," Thakor said "They're going to ATMs and remote banking and they need fewer people"

Let's Talk About Real Estate

"THE TWO BEDROOM HOME"

Have you considered buying a two bedroom home? In the past, two bedrooms were not very popular nor considered a good financial investment This is not the case today A two bedroom has much greater demand than ever before Here are some of the reasons

More Single Homeowners

There has been a significant trend toward increased home ownership by single people As we all know, it is more difficult to save money. Yet, home ownership provides one of the few tax shelters that remain Coupled with the natural inflation in home values, more and more single people are turning to home ownership Of course, a two bedroom home is usually adequate for the needs of most single buyers

Single Parents

As single parents become an increasing percentage of our population, they too drive the demand for two bedrooms This increase in demand drives the prices of two bedroom homes higher as well as the price of condominiums Remember, real estate values always reflect only one factor, demand

The Elderly

As people are living longer, they are remaining in their two bedroom homes, thus shrinking the number of two bedrooms available With a shrinking supply and increasing demand, it doesn't take a great mathematician to understand why two bedroom homes have become a player

ADVICE

If you are in the market to buy your next home, and you don't need more than two bedrooms, you may want to consider a two bedroom home as a good choice and a good investment

If your message isn't in front of the people who are ready to buy, it's like trying to run a dealership without cars on the lot

What's the best way to reach the people who are ready to buy what you have to sell?

Our network of newspapers:

■ When, without prompting, more than eight in 10 adults choose newspapers as their primary source of local shopping information .

■ When more than three in four adults agree that newspapers are their "most useful" source of shopping information...

■ When more than six in 10 adults say they look at newspaper advertisements before they shop..

■ When we reach more homes in our hometowns combined than any other newspaper

. .it's time for you to make us a big part of your advertising strategy

Folks take time to look for that special item advertised by a neighbor who sold his cottage or the woman who can't have a dog in her new apartment. They spend time shopping our friendly classified marketplace.

So if you have something you're not using or if you're looking for an item and want to buy it close to home pick up your Observer & Eccentric Classifieds.

We're a whole lot closer to home.

Tree-lined streets. Lawn sprinklers making rainbows in the late afternoon sun. The community gathered for its annual festival. Cheering for the home team as they make the winning touchdown. Calls of neighborhood kids playing until dark. The guy next door who quietly shovels your walk. Taking the kids for ice cream.

Hometown.

Our hometown classifieds bring people together in another special way. They're there when you're looking for a bargain. And they're there when you want to sell something you no longer need.

You'll also find our classifieds online, anytime, at our web site: observerandeccentric.com
