Domestic violence spurred First Step chief to shift gears

When First Step, the agency dedicated to helping abused women and children, was getting started around 1980, Judy Ellis decided to volunteer some time.

When she had to watch a battered woman lose her case, her dignity and an ear, Ellis — a teacher and real estate vice president — decided to make a full-time change.

Ellis, now the executive director of First Step, remembers the life-changing decision well. She'd just watched a husband essentially get away with beating his wife, saw members of his church stand behind the husband, and watched a judge slap the husband on the wrist.

The woman — who lost an ear, had her face slashed and the tendons in her fingers sliced because she was filing for divorce — later told Ellis, "I don't think I'm worth much."

Ellis knew she'd found her calling. "She didn't get to say her side of the story, it was before there was any such thing as 'victim's rights,'" Ellis said in her Plymouth Township office. "Her husband pled guilty and got a suspended sentence."

The ride home from court was a quiet one.

"It was so horrific, we couldn't even speak," said Ellis. "She said to

Observer, League set election forum

The Plymouth Observer and the League of Women Voters of Northwest Wayne County will sponsor a Meet the Candidates forum featuring candidates for the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The public forum starts at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 8 at the Canton Public Library, 1200 S. Canton Center Road.

Candidates will participate in a panel discussion, moderated by league members. Audience participation is welcome and the moderator will ask for written questions at the beginning of the event.

As part of our effort to inform readers about election issues, the Observer is running a series of candidate profiles on our front page. The stories will continue over the next few weeks and the paper will endorse candidates for three school board seats (a one-year term and a pair of four-year terms) on Thursday, May 9.

Businesses, drivers face detour around Ann Arbor Road

Al Woods has lived in his Arbor Village subdivision home since 1965, and says the improvements coming with the beginning of Ann Arbor Road reconstruction Monday are a long-time coming.

Despite the fact the only two exits out of the subdivision are onto Ann Arbor Road, Woods thinks the project will be a good thing.

"I'm glad they're doing it, because it'll be good for Plymouth," said Woods, 72. "We're not upset about it, because we'll just have to deal with it. It all depends on whether they let us out those two exits, because that's the only way out onto Ann Arbor Road."

Woods and his fellow residents will at least have that, long as they've headed eastbound. Westbound Ann Arbor Road closes Monday at 5 a.m. as work begins on the $11 million rebuilding of the road from General Drive to just before the Hines Park overpass in Livonia.

The affected area is being closed so crews can replace four lanes of pavement between General Drive to just east of the railroad overpass. Officials expect traffic to return to normal in about four weeks.

But that's not necessarily comforting to businesses affected by both the construction and the closure of Ann Arbor Road.

For instance, Bally's Total Fitness sits east of the affected area, but officials there are concerned about the effect all the construction will have on business.

"It's going to slow down business," said Bob Mason, Bally's general manager. "Several of our other clubs have Plymouth police and the U.S. Secret Service are investigating the manufacturing of counterfeit money that was distributed at Central Middle School.

Plymouth Det. Lt. Ed Ochal said a 13-year-old Canton boy is being investigated for taking $100 in fake $20 bills to school on Wednesday. The teen reportedly asked two students to exchange some of the money into smaller denominations. Police say several students came into possession of the fake bills, which were also used to pay for lunch in the school cafeteria.

A student told the school administration, who then called Plymouth police to investigate.

Police say the boy implicated his 16-year-old brother, and when they went to their home to confiscate a computer and scanner, authorities were told by the older boy the items were stolen.

The two then named an 18-year-old Canton resident as an accomplice. The young adult reportedly consented to

Finances, communication keys for school hopeful

Clifford Hill said he thought about running for the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last year to protect the Talented and Gifted (TAG) program, of which he has a vested interest because his daughter is enrolled in TAG.

However, a year later, Hill, 49, has broadened his scope, and wants a four-year term on the board to financially analyze the decisions that are being made, and to open communication channels to the rest of the school community.

"I started having trouble getting information I wanted from the board and the administration," Hill said. "I noticed that when I went to board meetings, it was fine to stand up and say what I want, but I got no feedback."

"I'd like to see better communication with the community," added Hill. "Instead of a public comment session, I would, really like to see a public dialogue session where someone could ask a direct question and get a direct answer. Of the times I've made public comment the past year, no one has ever responded to me."

Hill said he was also bothered by the financial analysis done for existing projects.

"The administration told the TAG advisory committee it took $600,000 to maintain the program," he said. "But, it was $550,000 to put the kids through the regular program. So, it really cost $50,000 for the TAG program."

"I'd also like to see more financial analysis done for existing projects, future projects and a wish list," he said. "Let's see what's the value to the students of these particular projects and their real costs, and align those into a priority list. Let's come up with what provides the most value, and what costs the least amount."

Richard Ham-Kucharski has a 3-year-old child with autism who is enrolled in the Infant and Preschool Special Education Program at Plymouth-Canton's Tanger Center.

Along with Alex learning speech, behavioral and cognitive development, Ham-Kucharski himself has learned to better work with his son. With that in mind, Ham-Kucharski, 29, would like one of the open seats on the Board of Education to make sure the needs of his son, and other special needs children in the district, are met.

"I have a parent advocate perspective," said Ham-Kucharski. "I've had a lot of activity from a state level with special education to make sure the special education rules weren't changed too drastically, and I'm working on the Wayne County (Aug. 6) special education millage to bring another $15 million back into the district, if it gets approved. The money will go into the general fund, and not just for special education."

Ham-Kucharski would like to see better programs in the district for special needs students, which he believes will bring more students, and foundation grants, back to the district.

"There are a lot of upset parents that love the district, that have a mix of special needs and typical children, that have been forced, in many cases, to move outside the district to get better service," he said. "With

Planners shell out approval for new oyster bar, condominium project

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe homecomm.net

Plymouth planning commissioners have given their approval to plans by a Roseville developer to construct a three-story complex on Penniman Avenue, which will house Tom's Oyster Bar and two floors of condominiums.

The planning board approved the project Wednesday, which will include the restaurant on the first floor, with condominiums on the second and third floors. The project now needs affirmation by city commissioners, who must agree to lease four non-designated parking spaces in the city's parking structure to meet parking space requirements for the condos.

Brad Egan, land development manager for Ferlito Construction, said he hopes to begin demolition of the current structure within a month. Egan said construction of the $1.3 million project could be completed by the end of the year, if there are no delays in getting necessary permits.

The condos will be approximately 1,100 square feet each, with price tags ranging from $200,000 to $240,000 apiece.

Tom Brandel, owner of four Tom's Oyster Bar restaurants, said he expects the "Plymouth restaurant will be my number one location."

Meanwhile, Plymouth Building Official Jim Penn said on Thursday he issued a building permit for construction of another three-story complex to be constructed next to the Ferlito Construction project, on what is currently a parking lot across the street from the Penniman post office.

Tri-Mount Vincenti Companies, co-owners of the Mayflower Centre, which is under construction at the corner of Main and Ann Arbor Trail, is moving ahead with plans to build an office and residential complex on the site.

According to Craig Smith, Tri-Mount architect, there will be office space on the lower level, ground and first floors. The third floor will house two, 4,000-4,500-square-foot penthouse condominiums. The structure will include private garages for the condo units.

Smith said Tri-Mount is still garnering funds for the $2.5-$3 million project, but is hopeful construction will begin "within the next few months."

Last week developers told the Observer Starbucks planned to open its Mayflower Centre coffee shop today. However, Starbucks officials have revised their plans, and said they are now planning for an early June opening to provide more training for its staff.

Panera Bread has given an opening date of May 20 for its Mayflower Centre store.

PLYMOUTH PIPELINE

Correction

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education voted 4-2 Tuesday to lay off 18 teachers, not 5-1 as reported by the Observer in Thursday's editions.

It was properly identified that Trustee Judy Mardigan voted against the layoffs. School board member Mark Slavens also voted not to accept the layoff recommendation by the school administration.

"I wanted to have a budget workshop before determining if we should lay off teachers," said Slavens. "We should see if there are other areas that can be cut. For me, the last resort is to cut teachers."

Fund-raising challenge

Plymouth Canton and Salem High Schools compete against each other in football, baseball and basketball. On Monday and Tuesday, they'll be flipping burgers to see who can raise the most money.

School officials will use cheeseburgers, fries and Big Mac's at the Ann Arbor Road McDonald's restaurant on McEducatore Day. Canton officials will work the dinner shift (5-8 p.m.) Monday, while Salem officials get behind the counter and Tuesday. The winning school will also receive an additional $100 toward their given cause, courtesy of McDonald's.

"McDonald's has always been a strong supporter of education," said Sandy Anderson, the restaurant's supervisor. "We hope to get as many administrators involved in this effort to raise money for our local schools. Besides, what's wrong with a little friendly competition?"

McEducatore's Day is a designated day for high school officials to work a shift at a McDonald's in their area. Each school receives 20 percent of the profit made during the shift.

"This is a great event for the community to come out and support both our schools," said Jeremy Block, a McDonald's crew member and a senior at Salem. "It makes it even better that McDonald's is chipping in an additional $100 to help our schools out."

Summer camps

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has set its schedule for Summer 2002 performing arts weeklong workshops for children 5-15 years old.

Campers work on two main musical numbers and have a part in at least one of three plays. Campers will spend the week preparing for a free family show. No experience is necessary.

The camps are scheduled for June 24-28, July 8-12 and Aug. 19-23 from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Campers should bring a lunch. Cost is $100 for PCAC members (a tax-deductible $25 student membership fee is good for a year).

For more information or to register with a credit card, call (734) 416-4278.

GED testing

GED testing will be offered through the Plymouth-Canton Adult Education Department Monday, May 13 (9 a.m. - 2 p.m. or 5-10 p.m.) and Wednesday, May 15 (8:30 a.m. - 2 p.m. or 4:30-10 p.m.). It is a two-day test.

The test will be held at Starkweather Education Center, 550 N. Holbrook in Plymouth. Testing fee is $125. Call (734) 416-4901 for further information.

Jazz concert

The Plymouth Canton Educational Park Jazz Ensembles I and II perform a free concert at the Penn Theatre in Plymouth at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 6. The community is invited, and a free-will donation will be accepted.

The Jazz Ensembles, under the direction of Clayton Wachholz, are currently seeking club status at the park. The purpose of this free concert is to showcase the Jazz Program at PCEP and at the same time, invite the community to utilize the ensembles as entertainment for local events, according to Lorraine Paffenroth of the Plymouth Canton Music Boosters.

"Ultimately, future concerts will bring in guest jazz artists," she said. "We are grateful to Jim Courtney and John Mazzari of the Penn Theatre Group for allowing us to rent the theater for this event."

For more information contact Clayton Wachholz at 416-2909 or Lorraine Paffenroth at 455-8213.

Showcase Plymouth

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, with major sponsorship from Hines Park Lincoln Mercury, presents Showcase Plymouth 2002, the annual mini-business expo, and Taste of Plymouth, featuring 15 of Plymouth's best eateries and pizzerias.

Showcase Plymouth takes place from 5-7 p.m. May 1 at St. John's Golf and Conference Center, 5 Mile and Sheldon. The event features more than 60 booths, and will see scholarships and the service club's Volunteer of the Year award handed out.

Admission is $4. For more information, call the chamber at (734) 453-1540, or visit the Web site, www.plymouthchamber.org.

Corns and calluses are accumulations of dead skin that grow to protect foot bones from excessive trauma. Friction can stimulate the skin to grow faster than the body can shed it. Callus forms over diffuse areas such as the ball of the foot or the heel. Corns develop over smaller precise locations such as on or between toes. Corns and calluses have no roots and they are not contagious. Elective toe surgery is a routine procedure, performed under local anesthesia, that can correct a problem in one visit. It eliminates repetitive visits to the podiatrist.

Runner hits road for charity in Leukemia Society marathon

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

Jack Wilson has always wanted to run a marathon

Now the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society is giving him the chance

Wilson, a Plymouth resident, will be in Anchorage, Alaska June 22 for a 26.2 mile run to benefit the society's Michigan Chapter. And he's paying a price to do it — $4,500, the amount he has pledged to raise for the charity.

"I've always wanted to do a marathon, and if I'm going to do it, I wanted to go someplace I'd never been," Wilson said. "Alaska makes that list."

Wilson is doing pretty well with the fund-raising efforts, particularly considering he got a late start. Most runners started in January, but Wilson, who lost his job in the auto industry late last year, was waiting on a possible trip to Mexico that never panned out.

Consequently, he didn't even sign up for the run until March 21. With the first $1,500 of his pledge due by April 4, Wilson cut a check for $250 and got another $1,250 from family and friends.

"I thought that was great," he said. "Low-hanging fruit is always the easiest to get."

Wilson, who holds an engineering degree from the University of Illinois and an MBA from the University of Michigan, had been doing account management work in the auto industry the last six years. When he lost his job, he found time to expand his existing volunteer activities.

He does the Meals on Wheels program at Tonquish Creek, and was one of the Santas in the Santa House sponsored in Kellogg Park by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

"That was a great experience," Wilson said of his Santa experience. "I couldn't believe how much fun that was. To see how positive it was with all those kids, it was really impressive."

He'd know about events similar to the leukemia marathon, but hadn't ever trained for one. A semi-avid runner, Wilson used to jog two or three days a week for maybe a half hour.

His training regimen now has him running up to 17 miles at one stretch. On Friday, he did a short six-mile run. This weekend, he ran a half marathon at Potawatomi Trail in Pinckney. Most weekends, he gets involved in group runs at places like Kensington Metropark.

"Now, I think of running half an hour, I think,

"Why would I even bother putting my shoes on?" Wilson said with a smile. "(Friday) was six miles, and that's like one of your cool-down days."

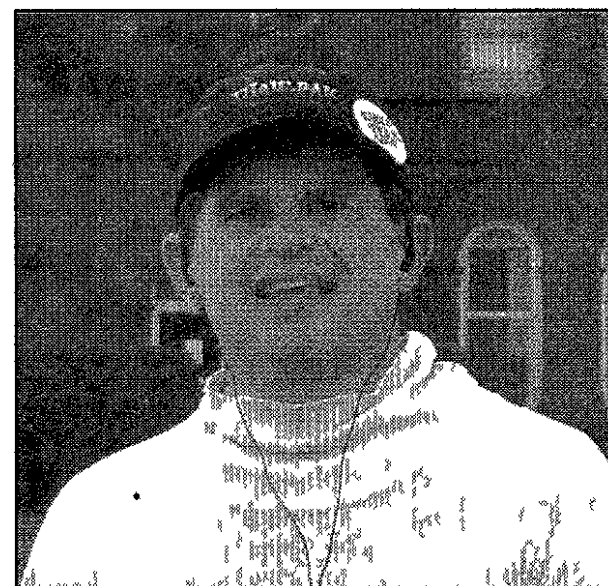

Wilson hasn't ever been affected by leukemia, and didn't personally know anyone who had. That's why he chose this particular charity for which to volunteer.

"I had no connection with it," said Wilson, who has lived in Plymouth 22 years. "No one was going to feel sorry for me. They were going to contribute because it's a good cause."

Though he didn't know anyone affected by the disease when he started, he can't say the same now. He's met many people who have either suffered or known someone who suffered. And not always close to home. On a recent trip to Chicago, he met a woman whose mother had recently died from leukemia. Another woman was from Anchorage, site of the marathon.

"I've run into so many people who have been affected by the disease," Wilson said. "People are doing it for unselfish reasons. It has become a feel-good thing."

Anyone wishing to donate to Jack Wilson can do so by calling him at (734) 451-2807, or on line at his Web page, <http://jackwilsonpledgepage.com>

The first Plymouth Community Youth Advisory Commission is a step closer to becoming reality.

A steering committee made up of Plymouth and Plymouth Township youth designed its own questionnaire, and next month will interview potential candidates for the 11 members of the commission.

"We want to get someone who is active in the community and willing to do better things for Plymouth," said steering committee member Chelsea Darouie, 15 of Plymouth Township. "We want to make Plymouth better for all kids — someone who is outgoing, a good thinker and can give ideas."

The steering committee will sort through all the applications and then conduct interviews, which will include questions and

"The main purpose of the youth commission is to assist the city and township in issues that affect our youth, whether it's something the township board or city commission asks the youth commission to look at, or something the youth commission identifies as an issue they want to look at," said Potter.

"Having the youth involved was pivotal in the whole process," she said. "You can't have an adult dictating what kids want. You have to go to the source to make it something kids want to do and believe in because it's put together by their peers."

While there will be 11 people selected for the youth commission, Potter said all youths and adults can attend the public meetings and give input.

Program seeks validation

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

Officials in the Plymouth arts community know the first year of the Passport to the Arts program was a successful one.

Now they're looking for a little help to find out just how successful it was.

The Passport to the Arts program was designed last year in an effort to make children in the community more aware of its arts programs. It's sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony, Canton's Project ARTS, the Plymouth Community Arts Council and the Plymouth Historical Museum.

We know it was successful, we know children participated at a high level," said Darlene Dreyer, executive director of the Plymouth Symphony. "We just need to get them in here to see just how high it was."

To find that out, arts officials are asking all children holding passports (with six or more stamps) to bring them to one of several sites to have them validated and make the children eligible to receive grand prizes.

Passport "Incentive Prizes" will be given to students who earned six or more stamps by May 1. The awards ceremony will take place at the first PCAC Music in the Park series concert at noon June 19 in Kellogg Park.

"We know we hit most of the children in the school district at least once," Dreyer said. "But to figure out how many used it more than once, we need them to validate. That's what will determine what's appropriate for each child."

Kids can validate their passports

On Wednesdays, between 9:30 a.m. - 8:30 p.m., at the Plymouth Community Arts Council on Sheldon Road at Junction.

On Saturdays from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. at the Plymouth Historical Museum at Church and Main in Plymouth.

On Saturdays May 4, May 11 and May 18, from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. at the front desk at Summit on the Park in Canton.

Johnson Controls revises rezoning request

BY DOUG JOHNSON
STAFF WRITER

The rezoning of 367 acres at Napier and Joy roads for a massive Johnson Controls Inc research campus will be back before the Salem Township Planning Commission May 6.

The rezoning request was reviewed by the planners in January but they took no action following a crowded public hearing where they heard both positive and negative comments.

The application has changed some since January, and now includes six acres of access property bought from township trustee Bill Baxter. JCI reportedly paid more than $1 million for his homestead.

Baxter was also on the planning commission, a post he has since left. Baxter's potential conflict of interest has been a point of contention with the planning commission and the board of trustees.

A review of the proposal documents filed with the township revealed some of the details of JCI's plans for the site, which is roughly bounded by the M-14 freeway, and Godfredson, Napier and Joy roads. High-end single home subdivisions in Plymouth Township are across the street on Napier.

Here is a selected list of details from the submission documents:

- Johnson Controls is a car accessory and car interior company based in Milwaukee. They plan on putting up at least three buildings - a large research, development and testing structure, a day care and staff wellness center, and a prototype/center of excellence building.

- The employee entrance would be off of Godfredson, and would come in on the Baxter property, cross an Detroit Edison easement and go to the middle of the site. Godfredson might have to be widened to accommodate turning cars. A traffic study suggests as much as 80 percent of traffic would come to JCI from that entrance.

- The public entrance would be on Joy down past the golf driving range. About 10 percent of the traffic would go that way according to reports submitted. Joy would likely have to be paved between Ann Arbor Road and Godfredson.

- A back entrance for deliveries would come in off of Napier.

- JCI would build their own waste water treatment plant using oval shaped aeration ponds, chlorine products would not be necessary. The submission report makes it clear JCI would eventually hook to some municipal sewer system. The site for the water plant would be near the (Joy Road) bottom edge of the property.

- Water would likely come from the City of Detroit water junction at Napier and Ann Arbor Road.

- Tax revenues for the project once constructed are estimated at $28 million over 12 years (for schools, community colleges and municipalities).

- Johnson Controls currently has three buildings in Plymouth Township on Halyard, two owned and one leased. Those would be abandoned.

- The rezoning submission has a variety of estimates of how many employees might work at the campus. Initially, there could be as many as 2,000. As many as 5,000 by year 2016 are also projected.

- The site will have a lot of open space (44 acres) and wetlands, roads will follow the topography.

The exact request is for rezoning from agriculture residential/recreation conservation (AR/RC) to research and research applications. The public hearing will be held in the hamlet of Salem at 9620 Six Mile Road in Township Hall starting at 7:30 p.m.

Both Plymouth and Canton townships sent letters to the Salem Planning Commission opposing the initial request and those letters were read into the record at the January hearing.

Plymouth Township supervisor Steve Mann is also on record as opposing the plan. At one time the township hoped the large acreage on Five Mile Road owned by Detroit could be used for JCI's project.

give up his computer which was confiscated by the Secret Service. The three were reportedly allowed to go home instead of being held on bond because they cooperated with police. As of Friday no charges had been filed while the investigation continued.

Administrators at Central Middle School are still investigating as well," said a release issued by Plymouth Canton Schools. After due process students who are determined to be involved will be appropriately disciplined up to and including suspension.

Some students involved have already been suspended although district officials would not release a definite number.

George Vella of Plymouth Township said he'll fight the three day suspension given to his 13 year old son, who he said was duped into exchanging $60 and then told school officials.

Vella admitted his son and another student bought candy with one of the fake $20 bills but then went to the school office after questioning the validity of the money.

I don't know why he was punished," said Vella. "My son lost $60 and he is the one who went to the office to report it. Absolutely not fair."

School officials praised the quick response of Plymouth police in handling the situation.

The Plymouth police came through. They did a whale of a job in helping us work through this unique situation," said Deputy Superintendent Jim Ryan. "We are confident they will handle the criminal end of this very well. We thank them and applaud their efforts."

Secret Service Special Agent Patricia Fantazian confirmed the federal agency is assisting in the investigation.

"We are working with Plymouth police in the investigation," said Fantazian. "We confiscated the computer, and it could be several weeks before our investigation is completed."

Plymouth police said counterfeit five and ten dollar bills were found in Canton, as some were reportedly spent at the Sunoco gas station at the corner of Haggerty and Ford roads. Canton Township police are investigating.

Under federal law, being found guilty of manufacturing fake money is a 15-year felony. Passing counterfeit money also carries a 15 year sentence, if convicted. Fantazian said the two juveniles, if charged, would go through the local court system.

The Secret Service says exact reproductions of U.S. currency are against the law. However, one sided color copies can be made if the reproduction is 15 times larger than authentic money, or less than three-quarters the size of the original currency.

gone through the same thing, and it hurt them a lot. A lot of people come here for the convenience. If it's not convenient, they won't come."

Traffic will be detoured south onto Haggerty to Joy, then west on Joy to General Drive, then back north to Ann Arbor Road.

One eastbound lane of Ann Arbor Road will remain open.

The closure presents traffic problems for Plymouth Township police Lt. Robert Smith, who talked with state officials.

"I want safety on the roadway and I want safety for the construction workers," Smith said. "I hope the state will work with the industries along General Drive."

Other details of the plan for Ann Arbor Road:

■ A temporary light at General Drive will help with traffic. The road bed will be dug down as deep as three feet in some places. That and the narrowness of the road at the railroad tracks made the detour necessary.

■ The contractor for the project is Lanzo Construction Co. of Roseville. A spokesman for the company said the road rebuild would be "on a fast track." Work in some instances will be done around the clock.

■ There will be periods between now and the end of construction season when ramps from I-275 will be closed.

■ The badly damaged concrete deck of the bridge over I-275 will be replaced with new concrete.

■ The work will be done in three phases. The second phase from Haggerty to Joy will take most of the summer. The third phase from Hix to just past Newburgh could take into the fall. The job is supposed to be done by mid-November.

■ The Chesapeake and Ohio overpass bridge will not receive any repairs. The railroad has told the state it isn't in their capital budget at this time.

the growth of population in special needs, with the increase in autism and emotionally impaired children as well, we need to make sure our staff, administrators and facilities are up-to-speed to handle that increase as time goes on."

Ham-Kucharski likes the early intervention program, like the one at Tanger. However, he believes the district needs to improve its programs for older children with special needs.

"As you start to get higher than second grade, we've got some good programs for severe needs, but there is virtually no attention paid to moderate or high functioning children," he said. "In many cases, they get labeled as bad kids because they look like they have behavioral problems. But, perhaps it's just they're not trained correctly because staff is unaware on how to deal with these types of children."

While special needs is high on his list, Ham-Kucharski said he doesn't want to be labeled as a one-issue candidate.

"The second major reason is school funding," he said. "Knowing that Plymouth-Canton Schools are at the low end (of school foundation grant allocations), I'm proud of what the administration and staff have done on a low budget. But, we've got to find ways to get additional funding above and beyond the foundation grant."

Ham-Kucharski has heard about the communication problems the public has expressed with the school board and administration.

"Just about every parent I've talked to it's definitely an issue at least a perceived issue," he said. "The structure of the board meetings makes it difficult to communicate in a formal format with the board and superintendent."

"The district's Web page is also a hot topic," Ham-Kucharski added. "The information on it is old, it's not user friendly, and it's not maintained well. I would like to see the computer labs at the high school develop and maintain it."

Hill

records, Hill is certain the district is in a poor pecuniary situation.

"The district is income-limited. We have a fixed amount of income we can use, and we have to spend within that limit," said Hill. "There's no way from the local level to increase the money we get from the state, so there's always going to be budget problems."

Hill said he believes the school board is doing a good job, but "it's hard to tell what's in the mind of the board for future planning."

As for Superintendent Kathleen Booher, Hill has some concerns.

"I'm concerned that maybe the board needs to take more participation in the way she's running the school system," said Hill. "The board shouldn't be taking part in the day-to-day operations of the district. However, it's possible the board can allow the management to go unsupervised without direction."

"In that case, the administration can go in a direction the community doesn't want," he added. "I think that may be the danger right now. In the private sector, we saw that with Enron, the board didn't watch what was happening with management."

United Way donation helps balance Plymouth Salvation Army's books

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe homecomm net

With the help of its parent organization and the Plymouth Community United Way, the Plymouth Salvation Army Plymouth Corps has erased a $120,000 deficit

Marie Morrow president of the Plymouth Community United Way, said her organization this week issued a one time grant of $30,000 to the local Salvation Army to help pull it out of its budget shortfall

"We're very happy to help the Salvation Army in its time of need That's why we're here," said Morrow "We had a successful campaign this year ($1.3 million) and we want to help whenever we can"

The United Way came through with the money which is in addition to the $47,000 it gives the Salvation Army as part of its annual allocations

"We're delighted to receive the additional funding from the Plymouth Community United Way,"

The United Way came through with the money, which is in addition to the $47,000 it gives the Salvation Army as part of its annual allocations.

said Dan Herriman, finance committee chairman of the Plymouth Corps' advisory board "It's a major source of funding for the Salvation Army, and they came through for us again"

Herriman said he also received word this week that the Salvation Army division headquarters in Southfield will give an additional $20,000

"We asked them for the proceeds of the mail contributions from Belleville, Van Buren Township and Sumpter Township, which the Plymouth Corps serves, and they agreed to immediately forward the money to us," Herriman explained "So, the future looks bright"

The Plymouth Corps, which serves Plymouth, Canton and Northville, found itself facing a $120,000 deficit as the result of the events of Sept 11, and the resulting economic downturn There was a drop in donations from the Christmas mail campaign, and expansion into Belleville, Van Buren and Sumpter put a strain on the $848,000 annual budget

Herriman said the Plymouth Corps also made several reductions in its budget, which he said are short-term fixes

"We cut some capital expenditures, furnishings, equipment and property improvements," he said "We also eliminated overtime, and are delaying filling a couple of open positions It's a short-term fix, and we need to concentrate on bringing up contributions to 2000 levels

"None of the cuts will affect programs or services," Herriman added "The division headquarters will also assist us with prospecting for new donors in the communities we serve"

Talking business: First Step executive director Judy Ellis chats with Children's Program Coordinator Desiree Herrick.

me, 'I don't think I'm worth very much' Shortly after that, (First Step) asked me to come on full-time, and I did"

That was in 1981 Within four years, Ellis was named the executive director, a position she's held since She'd been a teacher in the Clarenceville school district, and was a vice president of a real estate company She gave all that up to join First Step, whose mission is to reduce the incidence of domestic and sexual violence and to offer services to victims of those crimes

When she joined in 1981, First Step operated out of the Nankin Mills Nature Center After starting as a volunteer, First Step officials asked her to become their community service coordinator, handling volunteers and community outreach programs

Back in the day, First Step didn't have a shelter (now they have one) When a woman or child needed help, the agency was forced to try to find hotels/motels for them, at a prohibitive cost It was one of the first problems Ellis tackled

"We needed to look at ways to partner with groups, and to raise enough money to make it happen," Ellis said "Now we have more friends, more partners"

Now, what was a $150,000 budget when she took over has grown to $2.5 million, about 65 percent of which is federal funding First Step partners with hospitals, with police departments, with other agencies, all in an effort to provide as many services as possible for victims of domestic abuse, which Ellis estimates at more than 7,000 a year in this area

First Step offers a 24 hour help line, legal information, individual and children's counseling, support groups and parent education There are prevention programs advocacy teams throughout western Wayne County and legal clinics

Ellis doesn't see many of them directly now but she still gets involved with staff members who are dealing with individual cases

"They call it vicarious traumatization," she said "There's a tremendous need on staff to help one another and keep the healing process going"

It's something to which Ellis is dedicated, a fact that hasn't escaped the people who work with her

Desiree Herrick has been First Step's children's program coordinator a little more than three years, after doing similar work for an agency in Mt Pleasant A witness to domestic violence as a child, Herrick has dedicated her life to helping kids cope with the effects, and says Ellis shares the passion

"She's really good to work for, really good at problem solving," said Herrick "She's committed to breaking the cycle of violence It's certainly more than a job she chose I think it's something she felt called to do"

Ellis firmly believes domestic violence can be prevented, with the right kind of education She thinks society is making progress, with changes in legislation and a stronger emphasis on funding at the federal level

The agency's non-residential, shelter-based and community-based services are aimed at conducting just such a societal education in an effort to reduce the number of victims hurt and killed — Ellis says there's one death every five days from domestic violence

"You can never know for sure if someone is lethal," Ellis said "But there are signs that, if we as a society learn them, will help us prevent it"

Ellis doesn't cry as much as she used to, but the work still gets to her The last good cry she had was about three months after the terrorist attacks Sept 11 In those 90 days, 12 victims in this area alone died in domestic violence incidents

"It's definitely difficult work" Ellis said "(But) once you realize what's happening to women and children it's pretty hard not to get involved I don't cry often but sometimes I do"

Monday is reservation deadline for annual prayer breakfast

Monday is the reservation deadline for the 12th annual Community Prayer Breakfast.

The breakfast, 7:15 a.m. Thursday at the Summit, marks the 51st National Day of Prayer. The theme of this year's celebration is "American United Under God."

Making his second consecutive appearance is Prentice Tipton, president of Challenge Ministry.

Tickets for the Canton/Plymouth event are $10 per person (includes continental breakfast and program) and tables of eight are available. For tickets or more information, contact Sandra Bergeson at (734) 495-0436. The breakfast is sponsored by L.J. Griffin Funeral Home in Canton.

Tipton of New Baltimore is back by popular demand.

His message was so powerful and well-received by the community last the committee invited to speak again this year, explained event chairwoman Sharon Turner.

"Since Sept. 11, many changes have taken place in our country. People are dealing with fear and interruptions to what we thought was a normal life," said Turner.

"We have asked Prentice to speak on God's wake up call to America and us in Canton and Plymouth though the difficulties of the last year."

The Canton/Plymouth breakfast will also feature music by Chris Jones and the Word of Praise.

A segment of the program will be reserved for community prayer.

The National Day of Prayer tradition dates back to Feb. 19, 1795, when President George Washington issued a proclamation setting aside a day of public thanksgiving. An annual day of prayer was established by Congress in 1952 and specifically designated in 1988 as the first Thursday in May.

County commission to vote on ethics ballot proposal

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER
hgallagher@oe.homecomm.net

Lynn Banks George Ward

A proposed ethics amendment to the Wayne County charter that would limit campaign donations from county contractors to $500 a year could be on ballot this fall. The Wayne County Commission Committee of the Whole is expected to vote on the proposal Tuesday.

The ethics proposal was written by George Ward, former chief assistant Wayne County prosecutor and a candidate for the prosecutor's office in 2000.

Ward had lead investigations into complaints about contracts let by Wayne County for operations and construction at Detroit Metro Airport. During the campaign, Ward was critical of his opponent, Michael Duggan, deputy county executive, and his ties with County Executive Edward McNamara. Duggan nie's that made contributions to campaigns."

The proposed amendment, which would need voter approval, is being supported by a group called Taxpayers for Ethics in Wayne County Government. The amendment is modeled on state laws that regulate the awarding of contracts to casino suppliers.

"The state spent two years studying rules to keep the casinos in Michigan clean. Our ethics amendment will implement the same kinds of rules to keep Wayne County clean," said Blair J. McGowan, a member of the group.

Contractors would be prohibited from making "excessive" campaign donations to officeholders or candidates. "Excessive" is defined as more than $500 in a given year. Exceptions would be allowed if there is a competitive bidding process, if there is only one contracting source or if an official disclosed any conflict of interest and took no part in the awarding of the contract. Ward revised his original proposal to include the new airport authority.

The proposal, in effect, would prohibit office holders or their relatives from working for companies that contract with the county.

The amendment provides that the corporation counsel or any three commissioners can bring a civil action against a contractor to recover public money when a contract is declared void under the amendment.

"We have a two-track enforcement policy," Ward said. "It says if contracts are entered into in violation of the charter they are void. That's a good thing to say, but if no one is taking legal action, it's nothing."

He said that current ethics laws did not stop abuses in the letting of contracts.

Need questioned

County Commissioner Lyn Banks, R-Livonia, said she will support the amendment "because the people want it," but she questions whether it's really needed or what effect it will have.

"If people want to circumvent rules, they'll find a way," she said. "To me, this is George Ward getting back at the McNamara machine for the kind of campaign they ran against him last year and it's not going to work."

Commission Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, said the county already has a tough ethics ordinance, but she's not opposed to supporting a ballot proposal to make it tougher.

"I've never had a problem with putting serious issues on the ballot for the people to decide," she said.

Beard said it was too bad that there wasn't a strong ethics amendment when she was trying to get an auditor to review airport contracts. She said that she has "been on McNamara" for the last 10-12 years to have an auditor at the airport.

She said the county commission started the investigation on airport contracts, but it wasn't until the state began its investigations that action was taken.

The airport authority was created through an agreement between McNamara and Gov. John Engler to answer some of the criticism about airport management. State investigations of county contracting practices are continuing.

Ward said the "lack of ethics" has cost the county control of the two airports, Metro and Willow Run.

Facilitating cognac's decadence

Our readers really got into the fifth taste (umami) we wrote about in the March 31, 2002 column. We were prompted to write this column by a reader who phoned our voice mail and inquired, "Can you use the same principles of umami to match food with spirits?"

You can. We learned "how" from New York City spirits expert Steven Olson, with a myriad of food examples prepared by the talented Executive Chef Takashi Yaghashi of Tribute restaurant in Farmington Hills. Hennessy cognacs served as the spirits model, but you can use your favorite. Although the Hennessy was superb!

Hennessy, like all cognacs, has a moderately high alcohol content, yet it is well-balanced with fruit and acidity, creating an elegant full-bodied spirit with structure and complexity. Except for the alcohol, we could be using similar words to talk about a great wine.

The flavor profile of cognac includes pears, melons, apples, and citrus fruits, such as lemon, orange and tangerine. French oak barrels used for aging cognac add complementary vanilla characters along with caramel, butterscotch, and brown spices such as cinnamon, clove or ginger. Because cognac ages in barrels far longer than a wine, floral complexities, dried fruits, nuts and chocolate notes often develop.

Making the match

Like wine, sweet, salty, sour and bitter tastes are present. Because cognac is a spirit with moderately high alcohol, let's use the word "richness" to reference the umami factor we talked about in wine and food pairing in the March 31 column.

Cognac can easily overpower food, but it can also work oppositely. Rich foods, such as duck confit, foie gras, pate, or even pasta with a cream sauce will be the best cognac complements.

Meats that are rich and fatty, with full-bodied texture, tame the alcohol and crisp acidity of cognac, making it elegant, velvety and rounder as the cognac acidity cuts through richer foods.

Roasted root vegetables or wild mushrooms help to downplay the alcohol and enhance an intriguing earthy character of top-of-the-line cognacs.

If you think of cognac as an after-dinner beverage only, here's a new spin. Cognac can be a perfect raw bar accompaniment, matching lightly smoked fish, oysters, lobster, sea urchin and basically any shellfish. It's excellent with sushi, sashimi, Asian flavors and spices and a great foil for fried foods.

A well-crafted cognac, such as those from Hennessy, are perfect flavor vehicles. Think matching textures and softening the alcohol as you endeavor to make matches. However, avoid alcohol enhancers, such as peppers, chilies or other hot spices.

Cognac is the quintessential after-

Baskin-Robbins "Free Scoop Night" is May 1

Customers will be able to receive a free scoop of ice cream and, at the same time, help children receive free books, through Baskin-Robbins' third annual "Free Scoop Night," to be held 6-10 p.m. on Wednesday, May 1. In addition to supplying needy children with books, the event is planned as a way for Baskin-Robbins franchise owners to thank loyal customers. For every free scoop served, Baskin-Robbins will make a donation to First Book, a national nonprofit organization that provides free, new books to children from low-income families. To date, Free Scoop Night donations have enabled First Book to distribute more than half a million new books to children across the country.

It's the season to scream for ice cream

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

Limes are forming all over the area for that frozen confection that brings people out of their houses when the temperatures rise. It's spring time and it's the season for going out for ice cream or one of its close relatives - frozen yogurt, ices, sorbets and sherbets.

"One of our favorite family activities when the kids were young, was going on 'M T's' - mystery trips," says Sue Wood of Beverly Hills. "We'd load the family into the car and head off to some - unknown to the kids - destination. The children knew that no matter where we went, we would end up some place for ice cream."

The Woods did, and still do, have some favorite places, including Dairy Deluxe on Woodward in Birmingham. "Over the years we have visited many ice cream establishments. It all depended on where our trips and the car took us."

Now "mystery trips" have passed down to another generation. The Woods' grandchildren, especially 4-year-old Cooper Peters-Wood, who lives with his parents, Katy and Jeff, and baby brother, Hank, in Franklin, eagerly wants to hear the initials "M T."

According to his grandmother, "he knows this means ice cream!" Cooper and thousands - make that millions - of children and adults with a sweet tooth would be out of luck if it weren't for Emperor Nero of Rome, who is credited with making the first frozen dessert in the 4th century B.C.

It was a mixture of snow, brought back from the mountains by slaves, and fruit pulp, nectar and honey for sweetness.

Others believe that the predecessor to ice cream was invented in China about 200 B.C. when a soft mixture of milk and rice was further solidified by packing it in snow. In the 13th century, Marco Polo learned the Chinese method of making ices, sherbets and ice milks and brought it back to Europe. Eventually, the recipes made their way to the United States and were served by many of the country's first presidents, including George Washington and Thomas Jefferson. In 1812, Dolly Madison created a sensation when she served ice cream as a dessert in the White House at the second inaugural ball.

Ice cream probably wouldn't be as popular today if it weren't for Charles Minches of St. Louis. He is credited with creating the first ice cream cone in 1904 by filling a pastry cone with two scoops of ice cream. The ice cream cone was a sensation that year.

7-layer salad is perfect pick for an outdoor meal

BY DANA JACOBI
FOR THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR CANCER RESEARCH

Summer is almost here, and along with it, the return of casual outdoor meals for a crowd.

For the main course, fire up the grill and you can cook colorful kebabs, meaty but meatless burgers and succulent fish roasted in foil, all with minimal effort.

Speedy, effortless side dishes are more challenging, especially a big salad. Often, my solution when feeding a mob draws from a retro favorite. Do you recall the layered salads popular back in the seventies and eighties? They include so many goodies they can suffice as the only side dish. Designed to be made in advance, these salads are perfect for feeding a dozen or more. They survive on the buffet table without wilting, too. If anything, they taste even better by the time people are back for seconds.

Layered salads are like an archaeological dig of easily assembled ingredients. Shredded lettuce is the classic bedrock of a layered salad. Above it come layers of five or more chunky choices, including canned beans, thawed frozen green peas and other ready-to-eat foods added straight from a can or a package, plus sliced fresh tomatoes and onion.

Often topped with diced cheese, layered salads were usually bathed in a creamy, dense, mayonnaise-based dressing. Applied ahead of time, even the night before, it worked down through the layers while in the dark silence of the fridge, marinating at the St. Louis World's Fair. The development of the cone made ice cream 'portable' and people began going out for this sweet confection beginning in the last century and in record numbers today.

Cindy Savich knows firsthand the popularity of ice cream. She grew up working in her parents' Baskin-Robbins establishment in Orchard Lake and became hooked on ice cream. She bought her own Baskin-Robbins franchise in Livonia three years ago at the age of 21.

"I am the youngest owner/operator in the chain, which has more than 4,700 locations world wide," she says.

According to Savich, one of the favorite parts of her job is being able to taste ice cream whenever she wants. "Others start their day with a cup of coffee. I start mine with a frozen coffee or a small scoop of ice cream, or both."

Another advantage, she says, is being involved in worthwhile community events such as the company's upcoming 'Free Scoop Night' to support children's literacy. "My first year involved in this event, we gave away 1,500 free scoops of ice cream. Last year the event resulted in 4,000 free scoops and I expect this year's event will be even more popular."

Savich has noticed that her customers' tastes have changed over the years (although, at her store, mint chocolate chip ice cream continues to reign) and for a while health conscious customers wanted products with less fat and sugar-free. But her customers and Baskin-Robbins statistics show consumers moving away from the reduced-fat/non fat food trend of the 1980s and returning to full flavored premium ice creams.

Sweet treat: Eddie Elkins, 17, and Amber Oliver, 15, both of Clarkston, enjoy their selections at Dairy Dream in Clarkston with Chassie, their dog.

Rick Davis of Tom Davis & Sons Dairy in Oak Park knows that consumer desires run to premium ice cream. "But our dairy goes 'premium one better!'"

The dairy, which supplies ice cream to restaurants, private clubs and other food service operations, produces a "sterling" brand that is almost twice as rich (defined by fat content) as

"premium" ice cream. "For the last 20 years, since we started selling ice cream, we found that our customers want the best ice cream available. They don't care about calories or fat content. They just want exceptional taste."

The dairy produces its dairy product line in the western part of the state. "There's no dairy farm in Oak Park." It's run by the late founder Tom Davis' five children. "We have met the desire for high quality ice cream with our Ashby's 'sterling' line," says this Davis son, who is vice president of sales for the ice cream division.

In addition to a high butter fat content, the dairy adds almost twice as much condiment (fruit, nuts, chocolate and other natural flavorings) to its ice cream than competitors. The dairy also develops rich new flavors on a regular basis. "Our flavors are considered top-notch. This is not just our opinion. Six times, the latest in 2001 with our 'White Cliffs of Dover,' a white chocolate, chunky cherry swirl and chocolate covered cherries concoction, we have won 'Best New Flavor' by The National Ice Cream & Yogurt Retailers Association."

Developing new flavors is also important to the continuing success of such commercial enterprises as Edy's. This year, the California-based company has added five new "Rookie" flavors to its line: Ultimate Caramel Cup, Vanillaberry Bar, French Vanilla Fudge Pie, Strawberry Cupcake and Blue Ribbon Chocolate Cake.

"If the ice cream-loving public likes one or all of these new flavors, it could become a seasoned veteran just like me," says John Harrison, Edy's official ice cream money to develop new flavors, consumers everywhere continue to make vanilla, one of the first flavors invented, number one. More than 29 percent of the world-wide ice cream aficionados like this is basic flavor, followed by chocolate, butter pecan and strawberry, which tied for the third spot, and Neapolitan. America is the top ice cream consuming country, followed by New Zealand (2), Denmark (3), Australia (4) and Belgium/Luxembourg (5).

Still the search for that "really special" flavor continues as area ice cream lovers visit one or more of the hundreds of ice cream establishments, either family-owned or part of a national chain, that dot metro Detroit. Other consumers look for their favorite ice cream and frozen products in grocery and specialty store freezers.

There's still another group of ice cream lovers. They are the ones who make their own home made frozen desserts, thanks, in part, to a New England housewife who invented the hand-cranked ice cream churn in 1843. Now there are a multitude of such devices, most powered by electricity, available on the market.

Some recipes, however, such as the chunky peanut butter ice cream recipe accompanying this article, require little more than a bit of mixing and a refrigerator's freezer department.

Ice cream can be eaten alone, in a cone, with a topping — chocolate syrup continues to be the world's favorite topping — or used as an ingredient in a recipe. No matter which was consumed, ice cream continues to be the all-time favorite sweet of everyone, everywhere.

dinner beverage, but you can make it a dessert star. Sweets, cream, dairy and eggs all soften the impact of alcohol.

Today's dessert trend is a cheese course. The cream in a cheese softens both cognac's alcohol and acidity again making the spirit round and velvety.

Recommended cheeses washed rinds/cow's milk cheeses such as Taleggio Reblochon, Pont L'Eveque or Epoisses. Triple cream/cow's milk cheeses such as St. Andre, Pierre Robert or Explorateur are the ultimate in decadence with cognac. Sweet fruits and hazelnuts paired with the salty pungency and rich texture of a great blue cheese can be a stunning cognac complement. Cheese uplifts the elements of spice, dried fruits and toasted nut characters.

Remain flexible and experiment using our tips. You'll discover many different yet excellent matches and surprise dinner guests.

them in its tangy flavor. When the salad was tossed, just before serving, it unified all the ingredients and made eating the salad a delicious process of discovery.

Shimming down the dressing. I use fat free buttermilk and low fat mayo. Thick enough to coat the salad nicely. This ranch dressing travels from the top to the bottom of the bowl fast enough that you can serve this salad without starting a day ahead, unless you prefer to. ## Tasty Italian dish is meal in 30 minutes

(AP) - Italian ingredients lend their dash to this colorful and filling entree, which can be ready to eat in about 30 minutes

Not surprisingly, the recipe is among 230 in the cookbook Pillsbury 30 Minute Meals (Potter, 2001, $25.95) They are described as recipes for everyday cooking, but that doesn't mean they are routine fare. In this dish, thick-skinned and meaty Italian plum tomatoes are called for, and the sausage is Italian turkey sausage

RIGATONI WITH SAUSAGE AND VEGETABLES

- 9-ounce package frozen sugar snap peas in a pouch thawed
- 1 medium yellow bell pepper cut into 1 inch pieces
- 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 1 teaspoon dried basil leaves or 1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 4 Italian plum tomatoes coarsely chopped
- 2 tablespoons olive or vegetable oil
- Shredded mozzarella cheese

In Dutch oven or large saucepan cook rigatoni to desired doneness as directed on package. Drain, return to Dutch oven. Cover to keep warm.

Seafood selector web site offers environmentally responsible recipes

Environmental Defense has announced the launch of "Seafood Selector," a unique interactive Web tool for consumers concerned about their diet, their health, and their environment. Filled with delicious fish recipes and important safety and health facts, Seafood Selector can be accessed at www.environmentaldefense.org.

A team of scientists, programmers and editors worked for more than a year to build the database tool, which covers over 150 species of fish. "Seafood Selector is the largest database we know of that is devoted to providing consumer information on the best fish choices," said Joyce Newman, Environmental Defense acting chief Internet officer.

Seafood Selector features dozens of recipes from award winning chefs including Susan Spicer of Bayona in New Orleans (Mahimahi Baked in Grape Leaves), Rick Bayless of Chicago's Frontera Grill (Grilled Wild Alaskan Salmon with Lemon-and Thyme-Scented Salsa Veracruzana), Stan Frankenthaler of Salamander in Boston (Blistered Mussels with Chinese Sausage, Coconut and Lime), and Kevin von Klause of White Dog Cafe in Philadelphia (Oysters Stewed in Thyme Cream with Thyme Crotons).

Visitors to Seafood Selector can learn how to pick and prepare the best, most environmentally sustainable fish. The site also tells how to avoid buying fish that are caught or farmed in ways that harm the environment.

"Americans are concerned about the health of their diet and the health of our oceans. Seafood Selector can help people with both at just the click of a mouse," said Environmental Defense senior scientist Rebecca Goldberg. "More

- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 cup firm cold butter cut into 16 pieces
- 1/2 teaspoon salt optional
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- Dash ground red pepper
- For the Filling

- 1 cup finely chopped fully cooked deli ham (see note)
- 16 medium eggs

To make the Baskets: In large bowl, combine potatoes, 2 eggs, salt and pepper, toss to combine. Spray 16 medium nonstick muffin cups with nonstick cooking spray, coating well. (The spray helps to make potato nests crisp.)

For each muffin cup, spoon rounded 1/4 cup potato mixture into the palm of your hand, squeeze out excess moisture, place in muffin cup. Push potatoes onto bottom and up side of cup to form a "basket." Bake on bottom rack in 350° F oven for 35 minutes. When potato baskets are done, remove from oven.

To make Hollandaise Sauce: In small saucepan, beat together egg yolks, water and lemon juice. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly, until yolk mixture bubbles at edges. Stir in butter, 1 piece at a time, until melted and sauce is thickened. Stir in seasonings. Remove from heat. (Cover and chill if not using immediately.)

To make Filling: Place 1 tablespoon ham into each basket. Crack 1 egg into each, return to 350° F oven on middle rack. Bake an additional 14 to 16 minutes or until egg whites are firm. Run small spatula along edge of baskets to loosen. Place 2 baskets on each of 8 individual plates. Spoon 1 tablespoon sauce into each basket. Pass remaining sauce at the table. Serve immediately.

Makes 8 servings (2 baskets each)

Cook's tips: Serve with steamed asparagus, if desired.

Substitute a 26-ounce package or 4 cups frozen shredded hash brown potatoes, thawed, for fresh potatoes. Squeeze out moisture before continuing with recipe.

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

Make lighthouse photos shine

Everyone loves lighthouses. They possess an almost magical attraction that captivates all of us. Perhaps this is why they've always been a favorite subject for both professional and amateur photographers.

Photographed with thought and care, lighthouses can reward you with strong and satisfying pictures. Good lighthouse photographs begin by carefully studying the lighthouse itself and its surroundings. Is there a photogenic cove you can place in the foreground or perhaps a piece of driftwood or pile of rocks nearby you can use as a foundation in your composition? Can you get into a camera position to include whitecaps in the picture to add a dramatic touch? Or is there a tree or two that can serve to "frame" the lighthouse?

In other words, spend some time thinking and planning out your picture so that you can produce a photograph with strength and stopping-power/ rather than just taking a snapshot.

Time of day

Decide what time of day might be best for your shot: a sunrise, sunset or even a night picture. What kind of weather would work best: a blue sky day with white puffy clouds or a stormy day that will drama and mood your photographs?

I waited for a dramatic, early morning sky to take this photograph of Cape Otway Lighthouse in southern Australia. Careful composition, a wide-angle lens and a red filter all combined to help produce the exciting lighthouse photograph shown here.

As in all good photography, pay close attention to depth of field. It was important in this shot to get everything sharp and in focus from front to back. Most often, all it takes is a small aperture to do the trick.

Lighthouses, over the years, have guided mariners to warmth and safety. Now let them be your guide to making strong additions to your photographic portfolio.

On stage: Dressed in colorful costumes, Irish dancers show off their fancy footwork in a scene from "Riverdance - The Show."

It's like a dream

Local dancer gets a kick out of 'Riverdance'

BY KEELY KALESKI WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER
kwygonik@oe.homecomm.net

Life on the road with Riverdance - The Show is pretty cool. "It's an incredible experience to get paid," said Michael Belvitch, 20, a Plymouth resident who's been touring with the show since June of 2000. "You get a feel for all the different regions of the country, stay in nice places, and make a lot of friends. It's kind of dreamlike."

Belvitch and the rest of the cast will be in town next week to present the show at the Fox Theatre.

"It's like a variety show," said Belvitch. "It's the story of the Irish people and their immigration to America." While high energy Irish dancing remains the focus, there are also tap, tango, and Russian dancers, singers and musicians.

"For the finale we do a number together," he said. "It represents the American melting pot."

To help keep things fresh and interesting, the cast was outfitted in new costumes in January 2001. There's also a new number in the second act. During the show Belvitch will change costumes six times. Because there isn't always time to run back to the dressing room there's a quick change booth on both sides of the stage.

Belvitch said the tour has been going very well, and he's still enjoying it. "Time goes by really quickly." The troupe travels to a new city every week, the most they've stayed in one place is two or three weeks. A highlight was visiting Mexico City this January.

"It's so different there - the language, the people," said Belvitch. "We got to tour around quite a bit."

Life on the road can be lonely. Belvitch got to come home at Christmastime and in July. He spent Thanksgiving and Easter away from his family.

"It's important to have good friends," he said. "The cast becomes like a family."

He's been doing Irish dance since he was eight, and never guessed he'd make it part of his career. After seeing the O'Hare dancers perform at Fall Festival in downtown Plymouth, his mom enrolled him in the school.

"I liked it from the start," said Belvitch. "I liked the kids in class, but what I really liked was going to competition. I'm very competitive and wanted to get better."

Prior to joining Riverdance, Belvitch won seven Midwest, two North American, one All-Ireland, and two back-to-back World Championships for Irish dancing. He has appeared with many symphonies throughout the country.

This fall he'll begin working on his bachelor's degree in liberal arts at the

Show celebrates Irish dance, music, and song

Composed by Bill Whelan, produced by Moya Doherty, and directed by John McCoolgan, Riverdance is a celebration of Irish music, song and dance, which focuses on the evolution of Irish dance, as well as its similarities with, and influences on, other cultures.

Whelan won the 1997 Grammy Award for "Best Musical Show Album" for his original music and lyrics for Riverdance. The show had its world premiere at the Point Theatre, Dublin, in February 1995, where it opened to unanimous critical acclaim.

There are presently two productions of Riverdance touring the world. To date, more than 12 million people worldwide have seen the show, in addition to some 6.5 million people who have purchased the video versions of the show.

Riverdance - The Album, on Celtic Heartbeat/Universal Records, has sold more than two million CDs worldwide and is certified Platinum in the United States. For more information visit www.riverdance.com.

University of Michigan. "It's always been a goal of mine," he said. "I've done this, and I worked hard to be in the show."

His advice to dancers hoping to get cast in Riverdance is simple - "commit yourself, you have to work really hard to achieve your goals. You have to practice everyday, you can't do something half-way and be successful."

If you're one of the few people who hasn't seen Riverdance on TV or live, Belvitch highly recommends it.

"Everyone seems to like it," he said. "I was just absolutely awed by it the first time I saw it. You don't have to know anything about Irish dancing, just come, sit back and enjoy it."

Comedy looks at 'How the Other Half Loves'

BY KEELY KALESKI WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER
kwygonik@oe.homecomm.net

If we are truly still in a recession, which a lot of people believe we are, then you might want to treat yourself to an evening of laughter.

"Your stomach will hurt from laughing," said Barbie Amann of Farmington Hills, executive producer of SRO Productions which is presenting Alan Ayckbourn's How the Other Half Loves. Amann describes the show opening Friday, and playing weekends through Sunday, May 19, as an "over the top farce, a big comedy."

The play takes place in 1971. Three couples are tangled in a web of lies, infidelities and misunderstandings. "It's comical, absurd," said Amann. "It's about how three couples cope with rumors of, or having affairs. There are two different households shown on stage and they're all mixed up. The actors walk all over the stage. If it were a movie the camera would pan back and forth between both households. It's like having a window into each house, or a sliding door that's constantly opening and closing."

In between laughs, the audience watches as events unfold concurrently in the living room of a middle class couple and the drawing room of an affluent couple.

The most famous scene is a dinner party in which two couples arrive at the same time to dinners on the one set representing two dining rooms in two different houses on two different nights.

Baseball musical still a hit

Those Damn Yankees are at it again, playing at the Players Guild of Dearborn, making audiences want to laugh and sing along.

The show based on Douglas Wallop's The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant with music and lyrics by Richard Adler and Jerry Ross, Damn Yankees is about Joe Boyd (Tom Sparow) a middle-aged, happily married, armchair baseball fan who would do anything so his favorite team, the Washington Senators, could whip the invincible New York Yankees, even sell his soul to the devil.

Imagine his surprise when the devil also known as Mr

Applegate (Ron Otulakowski) comes knocking on his door with a proposition his soul for the chance to play for the Senators.

Transformed into a young man, (Dean Vendal) and leaving his wife Meg (Annette Rapper of Westland), his dreams are fulfilled. Boyd finds himself leading the team in both hitting and pitching. But, there's a price to be paid, and the Devil, along with his seductive assistant, Lola (Kim Donovan) are waiting to collect.

Will Boyd's love for Meg draw him back to his former life? or will the Devil with Lola's help, keep his soul forever?

Directed by Lisa Andres of Livonia, with musical direction by Robert Ballard, audiences will recognize many songs including Heart, Whatever Lola Wants, and Who's Got the Pain.

On Mother's Day, Sunday, May 12, you can bring your mom to the show for free. Damn Yankees will be presented Friday-Sunday, through May 19. Curtain 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the theater, 21730 Madison southeast of Monroe and Outer Drive.

In describing the play, Amann said you'll walk away recognizing someone as the Archie Bunker or Columbo character. The play is about people from different economic levels, and the way their lives are linked to each other in jumbled, broken bits. "These are characters that come up and grab you," said Amann. "They're memorable."

Besides hip costumes, the show also features some fun music from the early 1970s and late 1960s. Although they've never worked together before, Amann said the cast is having a lot of fun with this show. They range in age from 30 to 45, and are getting along really well.

"They're going outside the box with their characters," Amann said. She likes working with SRO Productions, short for "Standing Room Only" Productions because they continue to do shows that aren't popular or well known. She also likes the group's open casting policy.

SRO is a civic theater and sponsored by the City of Southfield and Senior Arts League.

"We're simply there to put on a play audiences will enjoy," said Amann. Shows are presented in an air conditioned, renovated church built in 1854 that seats 72 people.

Author sheds light on Lake Michigan treasures

BY KEELY KALESKI WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER
kwygonik@oe homecomm.net

Wayne Sapulski will go to a lot of expense and trouble to get what he wants — the best light-house photograph possible.

His images are captured in Lighthouses of Lake Michigan Past and Present, (Wilderness Adventure Books, Manchester, Mich., $29.95) a newly published book that includes over 250 color pictures, archive prints, antique postcards, and maps.

"I make the effort to get to the site by boat or land to get close," said Sapulski, a graduate of the Great Lakes Maritime Academy in Traverse City. "I'm not interested in a speck. I'll go back three to five times to get a great shot. The weather is very poor all over the Great Lakes. There's reduced visibility because of fog and haze, all the things that make color photography difficult."

Sapulski, a Livonia resident, grew up in Allen Park, and was always fascinated by freighters. He's a U.S. Coast Guard licensed first class pilot on the Great Lakes for ships of unlimited tonnage. After several years of sailing, he changed careers and now works as a respiratory therapist at Mott's Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor, but the Great Lakes are still a very important part of his life. Writing the book allowed him to combine his love of photography, lighthouses, and Maritime history.

"I love getting away," he said. "At many lighthouse locations you can turn your back on the present, it's so comforting, nothing has changed."

His book is an excellent guide for anyone interested in lighthouses and Lake Michigan. Even though the Great Lakes are miles away from any ocean, the area contains the greatest concentration of lighthouses in North America. Sapulski's up close photographs make it easy to picture yourself on the shore, looking at these magnificent structures, and daydreaming about the past. You can almost hear the waves. A tenacious researcher, Sapulski found many historic photos and antique postcards of Lake Michigan lighthouses. Juxtaposed against Sapulski's photographs of what these lighthouses look like today, these elements allow the reader to travel back in time and imagine what some of these lighthouses looked like in the early 1900s. Sapulski started photographing lighthouses in 1989 while vacationing in Door County, Wis., which has a high concentration of lighthouses.

"I'd been all over the Great Lakes on ships, and saw lighthouses, but never up close," he said. "Ships are constantly on the move. The only time you stop is to unload or get fuel. Lighthouses were built to warn you to stay a half to a mile away."

His favorite lighthouses are ones that are hard to reach and often privately owned, like the Squaw Island Lighthouse. Squaw Island is the northwestern most island in the Beaver Island archipelago. Because they were government housing and meant to be functional, most lighthouses are simple. Sapulski said he was fascinated with the architecture of this lighthouse — it's a red brick two-story house with an attached octagonal tower.

The Grosse Pointe Lighthouse near Chicago is "a showplace," he says. It's been restored and is operated by the Evanston Historical Society.

Even though ships now rely on electronic navigation tools, Sapulski said quite a few lighthouses function as a back-up system. "They still serve a very real purpose," he said. "It's reassuring to see what you're looking at and get a fixed location on it."

Tips

would be complete without a visit to a lighthouse. If you're a lighthouse fan and want to learn more, Sapulski suggests you do your homework. Get a good lighthouse guide, and some decent maps. Allow enough time. "It will take you longer than you thought to find some of these lighthouses," he said. His book provides extensive detail about these Lake Michigan treasures, along with information about the status of the lighthouse — active or inactive, open or closed to the public, along with access information. Some lighthouses, like the Waughoshance Light on the northwestern tip of Michigan's lower peninsula, are only accessible by boat.

Sapulski is busy working on his next book, Lighthouses of Lake Superior Past and Present. "Lake Superior is beautiful," he said. "It's wild, and undeveloped. A lot of lighthouse locations are very remote and pristine."

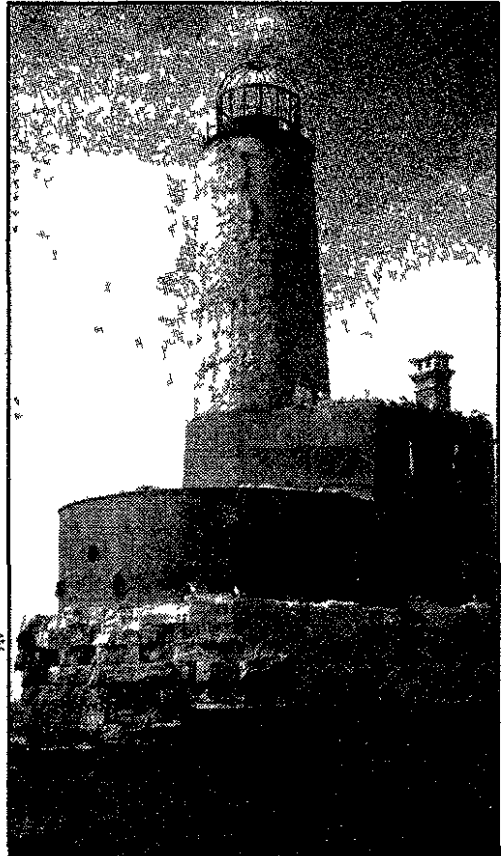

Look for books in the future on the Lighthouses of Lake Huron, Erie and Ontario. If you're interested in learning more about freighters on the Great Lakes, check out one Sapulski's favorite Web sites, www.boatnerd.com.

Lighthouses of Lake Michigan Past and Present is available at your local bookstore, or visit Amazon.com. Sapulski is a member of the Great Lakes Lightkeepers Association, an organization dedicated to preserving lighthouses and the history of the people who kept them by developing a new generation of preservationists. Neglected: Completed in 1851, the Waughoshance Lighthouse marked the turning point for ships traveling between the Straits of Mackinac and ports along the shore of Lake Michigan. Although it was placed on the National Register of Historic Places, it probably won't be restored. The lighthouse, in ruins, and no longer active.

Salem stretches win streak to 4

It took awhile, but Plymouth Salem's softball team found its stroke in the final two innings as it dispatched of host Livonia Stevenson 5-2 in a Western Lakes Activities Association Lakes Division game Friday.

The win, the Rocks' fourth in a row, boosted their record to 6-3 overall, 3-0 in the division. Stevenson is 4-5 overall, 1-2 in the division.

The Spartans got three of their five hits in the game in the first inning, and it resulted in both their runs. Amy Hollandsworth doubled over Salem center-fielder Kelly Jaskot's head and went to third on Julie Vecchioni's single. Amanda Jankowski's fielder's choice put runners on second and third, one run scored on Lindsay Hollandsworth's sacrifice fly and a second came home on Debbie Gafesky's single.

It remained a 2-0 game until the sixth inning, when Salem struck for four runs. The key blow in the rally came from Maggie Tudor, who doubled in two runs. Alicia Murawski, who had two hits in the game, and Janesse Chapman added run-scoring singles in the rally. Chapman knocked in the fifth run with a seventh-inning double.

The Rocks' Mandy Bradley was 3-for-3 at the plate with a double.

Jill Posler got the pitching win, allowing two runs on five hits and two walks, striking out two in seven innings. The loss went to Vecchioni, who surrendered all five runs on nine hits and two walks, with two strike-

"It was a great week," said Salem coach Bonnie Southerland, whose team also got wins over Plymouth Canton and Westland John Glenn, "but next week is going to be a really difficult week with North Farmington, (Walled Lake) Western and (Walled Lake) Central."

Churchill 2, Canton 1: Livonia Churchill scored twice in the first inning off Plymouth Canton starter Michelle Roelofs, and that was all. Chargers' ace Meghan Misiak needed to subdue the Chiefs in a WLA Eastern Division showdown Friday at Canton.

Churchill stayed unbeaten, improving to 9-0 overall, 3-0 in the division. The loss left Canton at 4-3 overall, 2-1 in the division.

The Chargers got their first-inning runs on a double by Sally Kuratko a walk to Sarah Pernak and a passed ball that allowed them to move up to second and third. Sarah Carter's fielder's choice scored one run and Ashley Crawley's sacrifice fly scored the second.

Canton retaliated in the fourth inning with a run, Jonelle Brown doubling in her team's only run.

Canton offense crushes Churchill, 10-3

After a slow start, Plymouth Canton got its bats going, eventually pounding out a 10-3 victory at Livonia Churchill in a Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division baseball game Friday.

The win gave Canton a 9-4 overall record, 2-1 in the division. Churchill is 4-6 overall, 0-3 in the division.

The Chiefs trailed 2-0 entering the fourth inning, but struck for three runs in the fourth and added three more in the fifth. Andy Howald's two-run single was the key blow in the fourth-inning rally. Mark Hanson started things off in the fifth by clubbing a solo home run.

Hanson also had a triple, finishing with three runs batted in. Matt Staley was 3-for-3 at the plate with two doubles and two RBI. Joe Kondratek had two hits (including a double) and an RBI. Nick Musselman had a double and an RBI. Matt Kay and Brent Kwiatkowski each had two hits, and Chris Pirch had two hits and two runs scored.

Brad Proemba led Churchill with two hits, Tim Knight added a single and an RBI.

BASEBALL

Carl McDevitt Musselman pitched 5 1/3 innings, allowing one run on two hits and two walks, striking out seven.

The loss went to Jim Krygowski, in relief of starter Jon Morarty.

Stevenson 7, Salem 5: Pitcher Billy Rabe ran his record to 4-0 with a four-hitter as Livonia Stevenson (6-2 overall, 3-0 in the WLA Eastern Division) downed host Plymouth Salem (7-5 overall, 1-2 in the division) in a WLA Eastern Division game.

Rabe struck out four over seven innings. Salem starter Neil Kowalik, who went four innings, took the loss.

Stevenson built a 4-0 lead, by Salem battled back to tie it with a four-run fourth inning. Andy Thackaberry singled in one run, another scoring when the ball got past the Spartan outfielder Andy Boyer followed with a two-run homer, tying the score.

But Stevenson got one run in the fifth and added two more in the sixth to open up a 7-4 lead. Kowalik and Jon Gordon singled in the sixth, with Thackaberry's sacrifice fly scoring one run, but the Rocks could draw no closer.

Bill Marsack led the Spartans with two hits and an RBI.

Agape 6-11, St. Agatha 0-5: Canton Agape Christian swept a double-header from Redford St. Agatha Friday at Griffin Park. David Donaldson's one-hitter in the opener provided the spark for the Wolverines.

Donaldson walked three and struck out six in earning the victory.

Agape had two-run innings in the fourth, fifth and sixth. Inning Josh Anthony led the attack with three hits (including a double) and one run batted in. Johnny Estrada and Matt Ratcliff each had two hits, Estrada knocking in a run, and Rob Hough hammered a two-run double in the fifth.

In the second game, Agape improved its record to 7-4 behind a 14-hit attack. Mike Bommento got the

Injured knee won't deter Wisniewski

He sat there at the top of the bleachers, somewhat separated from everyone else, watching a game he wished he was playing.

C.J. RISAK

Baseball was the only high school sport James Wisniewski could compete in. And he was very, very good at it — good enough that the Plymouth Canton coach he played for for the previous three seasons, Scott Dickey, thought he could generate "three or four more runs for his team a game." By himself.

And yet, baseball was just a sport Wisniewski played for the heck of it. It wasn't his sport.

His sport is hockey.

Wisniewski signed with the Plymouth Whalers two years ago. He has been considered an outstanding talent ever since, his stock as a 5-foot-11, 187-pound defenseman rising game by game. In his first season, Wisniewski totaled six goals and 23 assists for 29 points, last season, he had 11 goals and 25 assists for 36 points, and his plus-39 rating was best on the team and among the best in the Ontario Hockey League.

But those are just stats. Also consider the Whalers' team Wisniewski played for was the OHL's regular-season champion the past two seasons.

Highly-regarded

Those factors all seemed to point toward a high position for Wisniewski in this June's NHL draft. Even when the Whalers were shocked by the London Knights in the first round of the OHL playoffs, Wisniewski seemed safe. After all, the day after the Whalers' season ended, he was contacted by the coach of the U.S.'s under-18 team.

"Coach (Alex) Roberts told me, 'They want you bad,'" Wisniewski recalled. Two days later he was on a flight to Slovakia, site of the under-18 World Championships.

"I thought I was going to be playing baseball (for Canton)," Wisniewski said. "I was looking forward to it. But this is the most scouted tournament before the NHL draft."

In other words, he had to make the trip. In his third tournament game, against Finland, after U.S. victories against the Ukraine and Belarus, it happened — any athlete's most terrifying nightmare came to pass for Wisniewski.

■ 'It was in the second period. Two guys fell on me and hyperextended it. I knew it was something bad right away.'

*James Wisniewski
Defenseman, Whalers*

"It was in the second period," he recalled. "Two guys fell on me and hyperextended it. I knew it was something bad right away."

Wisniewski had injured the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee. "When I went off the ice, the team doctor told me my ACL could be torn," Wisniewski said.

When he returned home, doctors confirmed those fears. Wisniewski will undergo surgery later this week.

Injured, but determined

What timing. A senior at Canton, Wisniewski was left watching Canton's baseball team battle Salem's from the bleachers instead of the dugout. He sat in the stands calling the pitches — "It'll be a curve" — instead of swinging at them from the batter's box.

"I was going to quit baseball after this season," Wisniewski said. "So it's pretty disappointing."

So is going into what should have been the best part of his high school career — graduation — on crutches. But all that pales by comparison to what

Crusaders split twinbill with Saints

Madonna University's softball team let one get away Thursday

The Lady Crusaders gave up two runs in the top of the seventh inning in Thursday's first game against Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference rival Siena Heights and lost 4-3. They rebounded in Game Two making two first inning runs stand up for a 2-1 victory.

The double header split left Madonna at 20-22 overall, 12-12 in the WHAC. Siena Heights is 15-26 overall, 9-18 in the conference.

A three run fifth inning in the first game gave the Crusaders a 3-2 lead. Arn Fowler had three hits in the game and Emily Cunningham had two (including a double). Jamie Bobrowski had a single and a run batted in.

Missy VanDoorn took the loss for Madonna, allowing four runs (two earned) on nine hits and two walks, striking out four in seven innings as her record slipped to 12-10. Emile Ondrus was the winning pitcher for the Saints, she gave up three runs (one earned) on seven hits and three walks with two strikeouts in seven innings. Her record is 3-8.

In the second game, Jenny Tenyer handcuffed Siena Heights with her second sterling effort in a row, tossing a two-hitter — two days after beating Spring Arbor with a one-hitter. She gave up one unearned run and no walks, striking out four. Her record improved to 8-12.

Jamie Rennert absorbed the defeat for Siena Heights, lasting just one inning and allowing two runs.

Cunningham had a double and an RBI to lead Madonna's offense.

Spring Arbor finishes off Madonna in restart

Finishing it certainly did nothing for Madonna University's baseball team, which trailed 7-3 when its game against Spring Arbor was suspended in the top of the sixth inning by the weather April 12.

The Crusaders managed to add a run to their total in the bottom of the sixth and pull to within 7-4, but three Cougar runs in the top of the seventh made the deficit too large to overcome as Spring Arbor won, 10-4 Thursday at Livonia's Ford Field.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Madonna is 16-19 overall, 9-9 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. Spring Arbor improved to 18-19 overall, 9-11 in the WHAC.

The Crusaders managed just six hits in the game, two of them (one a double) by Sterling Mintzer, who also had a run batted in. Neil Wildfong (from Plymouth Canton) and Joe Pruchnik (Lutheran Westland) each had a single and an RBI.

Cory Parrott and Jason O'Neal were the big guns for the Cougars, collecting three hits and three RBI apiece.

Roy Rabe (Livonia Stevenson) started and took the loss for Madonna, falling to 1-3. He worked five innings and surrendered seven runs (five earned) on nine hits and two walks, striking out five. The win went to Jamie West, he gave up three runs (two earned) on five hits and three walks, fanning three in five innings for Spring Arbor.

Canton scores 1-1 draw with Northville

After getting blanked by Livonia Stevenson two nights earlier, the outlook for Plymouth Canton's soccer team was bleak entering Wednesday's match against second ranked Northville.

But the Chiefs responded, limiting the Mustangs to just one goal and scoring one themselves to earn a 1-1 draw in a key Western Lakes Activities Association match played at Canton.

The result meant Canton and Northville could end up tied for first in the Western Division. The Chiefs are 3-2-2 overall, both teams are 1-0-1 in the division.

Rachel Perry got Canton's goal. Northville responded with a goal by Lindsay Migho.

Salem 0, Farmington 0: Last Monday, Plymouth Salem forced its match against Westland John Glenn to be stopped prematurely after the Rocks had put 10 goals on the board.

On Wednesday at Farmington, they couldn't get anything going in a WLAA Lakes Division scoreless draw.

"It was kind of an ugly one," admitted Salem coach Joe Nora, his team at 2-1-3 overall, 2-0-1 in the Lakes. "Farmington dominated the first half and we dominated the second

We hit three crossbars.

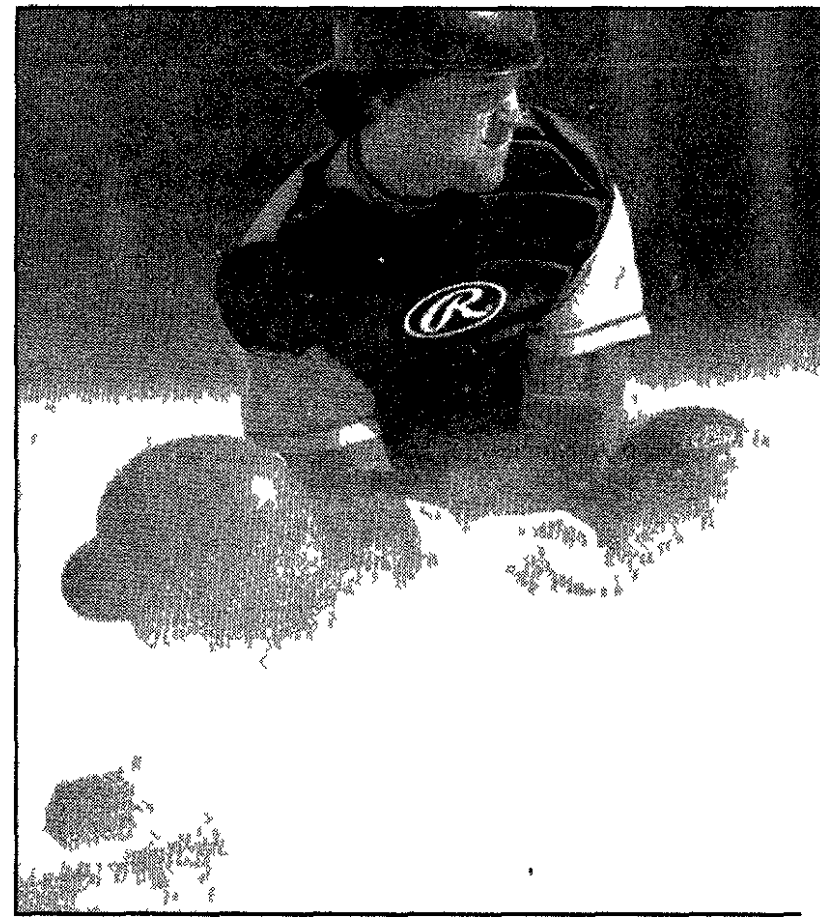

"It was a tough-fought game in the midfield. Farmington played very, very well, and we failed to win a lot of 50-50 balls."

PCA 3, Bethesda 0: Sara Moriarty scored twice in the second half to secure Plymouth Christian Academy's victory over Detroit Bethesda Thursday at PCA.

The win gave the Eagles a 2-1-1 overall record. They are 2-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Sara Roberts got what proved to be the game-winning goal in the first half, on an assist from Katie Polera. Rachel Rudzisz assisted on Moriarty's first goal.

Val Boruta had two saves in goal to earn her first shutout. Christine Cleary's defensive play was a major contributing factor.

pitching win, the first of his prep career, allowing five runs (two earned) on 10 hits and two walks, striking out 10. The loss went to Dan Boulter.

The Wolverines trailed 3-1 entering the bottom of the third, but five runs in that inning followed by four more in the fourth led them to the victory.

Paul Chrenko led the attack with three hits and two runs scored. Anthony added two hits (including a triple), two RBI and two runs scored. Hough had two hits (including a double) and two RBI. Estrada had two hits and two RBI, and Mike Ossana had two hits (including a double).

The Aggies, plagued by five errors in the game, fell to 3-6 with the two losses.

Redford CC 8-5, U-D Jesuit 5-8: The scores were the same in Wednesday's doubleheader, but the winners were not.

Redford Catholic Central split a Catholic League twinbill with University of Detroit Jesuit, winning the first game 8-5 while losing the second by an identical score. The Shamrocks fell out of first place in the league with the split, and now stand at 12-3 overall and 8-2 in league play.

CC sprinted out to an 8-0 lead in the first game, thanks in part to the hitting of infielder Todd Tindle, who went 4-for-4 in the game with 2 RBI.

"Todd can play any infield position and he's a smart player," Salter said. Tindle, who has been hitting second in the order, is batting .318 on the season.

Pitcher Jeff Niemec (5-0) got the win, going six innings while allowing one run through five.

Eric Vojtkofsky went 2-for-3 with a home run and 2 RBI. He has now clubbed five homers on the season.

Vojtkofsky went 3-for-4 in the team's game two loss, clubbing a pair of doubles. Tindle drove in two runs in the game.

Ocelots win at OCC, move up in NJCAA poll

Schoolcraft College continues to climb in the National Junior College Athletic Association's men's golf rankings.

The Ocelots, who captured Friday's Oakland Community College Invitational at Pontiac Country Club, were tied with Tyler (Tex.) for sixth in the latest NJCAA poll.

Schoolcraft finished first at OCC with a total of 305 followed by Flint Mott (311), Muskegon (313), Lansing (319), Wayne State (320), Oakland (321), Henry Ford (325), Wayne County (330) and Kirtland (341).

Mott's Joel Hoffman was included Mark Doughty (Salem), 75-76, 151, Brian Downing, 77-77, 154, Tom McCall (Garden City), 78-78, 156, Brian Harnos (Garden City), 79-79, 158, and Derek Lineberry (Plymouth Canton) 80-80, 160.

Indian Hills (Ia.) is ranked No. 1 in the NJCAA, followed by South Mountain (Ariz.), Shelton State (Ala.) and Temple (Tex.), Tyler (Tex.) and Schoolcraft.

Schoolcraft, coached by Carolyn Steffen, will compete Tuesday at Bay Pointe Country Club in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association's Eastern Conference tournament.

just two hits and no walks in the game striking out 14. The loss went to Roelofs, who allowed two runs on four hits and three walks with four strikeouts in five innings. Renee Ross relieved and pitched the final two scoreless innings.

Kuratko led Churchill with two hits.

Salem 3, Canton 1. Plymouth Salem got two of its three hits in the first inning against Plymouth Canton and it proved to be just enough Wednesday night at Massey Field.

The Rocks scored all three of their runs in the first inning thanks in great part to Mandy Bradley's two-run triple which scored Maggie Tudor (who had walked) and Alicia Murawski (who had singled). Bradley scored the third run on Rachel Heid's groundout.

That proved to be enough for Jill Posler, who throttled the Chiefs with a six-hitter. She gave up one run and two walks striking out three. The loss went to Renee Ross, who allowed three runs (two earned) on three hits and a walk, fanning three.

Canton scored its run on a walk to Maggie O'Connell, a wild pitch that moved her to second and a single by Cathlin McNicholas. The Chiefs had a chance to score a run in the first, but Salem centerfielder Kelly Jaskot threw the runner out at the plate.

"It was a good game," said Salem coach Bonnie Southerland. "It's always a good game (at Massey). We got our hits in a timely manner, and that was the difference."

"It was a good win. It picked this team up."

Wisniewski may lose in draft position.

"They're saying it's going to hurt me, but very little," he said. "Hopefully it won't affect me very much. Two or three years down the road, will I improve? I think that's what they want to know."

The road ahead won't be easy for Wisniewski. He faces a rehabilitation period lasting between four and six months. He won't be mid-year, though, that is, when the NHL conducts its draft.

Late first round or early second? That was all he had to worry about before traveling to Slovakia. Now there's uncertainty.

"With the draft, you never know," Wisniewski admitted. Then he added with a maturity beyond his 18 years: "I just have to keep a good attitude. I can't worry about things I can't control."

Wisniewski's career was dreamlike until March. Two bright seasons at the top of the OHL with the Whalers, with a couple of victories of the OHL title in 2001, three trips abroad to international tournaments with national teams, all of them earning gold medals — including this last one in Slovakia.

"Three tournaments, three golds," Wisniewski said after watching his baseball Chiefs stumble and lose to Salem. "Not bad, eh?"

He smiled as he turned and walked away, limping slightly, wondering about the draft but convinced his hockey career was far from over.

MEDICAL BRIEFS

Organ donation

April is Michigan Donor Awareness Month, and state Rep Laura M Toy is urging local residents to consider signing up as organ donors. Last year, 547 Michigan residents received life-saving organ and tissue implants, including 27 children.

"These people got a second chance because of someone else's generosity," said Toy, R-Livonia. "When you become an organ or tissue donor, you can help spare another family from the tragedy of losing a loved one."

An average of 17 men, women and children die in Michigan each month while awaiting organ transplants. Barely 4.2 percent of Michigan's population has signed up as donors, well short of the 35 to 40 percent achieved in other states. Each donor can help up to 50 different people through life-saving and life-enhancing organ and tissue transplants.

"I'd like to see more Michigan residents become organ donors," said Toy. "Since April is Donor Awareness Month, I encourage anyone who hasn't already signed up to do so. Countless lives could be saved."

For more information, contact the Gift of Life Agency of Michigan at www.tsm-giftoflife.org or call (800) 482-4881.

Clinical trials

good medicine, good business

BY CAROL MARSHALL
SPECIAL WRITER

It's part hope, part science and part big business, and without it, the medical world would still operate in the Dark Ages. It's the practice of clinical trials, and for every new drug or therapy available to patients, there is a trial that proved its effectiveness.

"Our motto is 'Today's clinical trial is tomorrow's standard of care,'" said Veronica Decker, Beaumont Hospital's director of Oncology Support Services. "What we've found in so many areas is the reason your doctor can turn to you and say this is the standard of care because of a clinical trial that worked."

The trials test new drugs, medical devices and treatments and can include just a handful of participants or more than 10,000 patients.

Even before the trial begins, it's closely examined, said Michael Hudson, Henry Ford Health System's director of Cardiac Intensive Care Unit and the co-director of the Henry Ford Clinical Trial Center.

"More and more we're seeing a shift in which pharmaceutical companies sponsor the trials," Hudson said.

Sponsors

Approximately 80 percent of the 1,200 studies Henry Ford Health System conducts each year are sponsored by drug companies. The other 20 percent is funded by the National Institutes of Health. Beaumont's cancer trials are funded largely by the National Institutes of Health, with only 20 percent funded by drug companies. However, 70 percent of Beaumont's general research trials are funded by drug companies and 30 percent by the National Institutes of Health.

"Before a clinical trial can be approved, the hospital typically collaborates with the sponsor to write a protocol, which must then be approved by an institutional review board to be sure it's ethical and protects the patients in the study," Hudson said.

Once the approval is in place, doctors are notified and may offer participation to patients who meet criteria. Patients may either choose to participate in the study or may opt for the hospital's current standard of care. Once the available patients are identified, the selection process begins. Selection is random, and patients have no choice in whether they are part of the group that receives the new treatment or drug, or if they receive standard care.

therapeutic therapy, the care they receive is not always better than what they would have if they didn't participate, and that's important for them to understand," he added.

The nature of clinical trials has the potential, however, to lead to better care even if the treatment or drug tested is not more effective than the current standard of care, said Decker.

"When you participate in a study, your records are being reviewed by

Veronica Decker

Michael Hudson

"It may or may not help them individually if they participate, but it helps in the study," Hudson said.

About half of Henry Ford Health System's eligible patients participate in trials when they are offered, according to Hudson.

Better care

Patients choose to participate for many reasons, but often they believe they will receive better treatment.

"Patients hear the word 'trial' and they automatically assume they are getting superior or novel treatment. That may or may not be the case. The reality is the reason we are conducting the study is to determine whether or not that drug or treatment is really better," Hudson said.

"Even though in all studies patients need to get safe and effective care," she said. "And often, you do get better care. Say the standard would be that you normally would receive one CAT scan, but because you're in the study, you might get two. Or you might get to see another specialist, or an additional doctor or nurse who normally you wouldn't get to see just because they're involved in the study."

The hospital's follow-up is also more diligent with patients in clinical trials, she added.

"We will really hound patients if they are scheduled to come in for a follow-up visit. The study relies on complete information, so we'll call and call to remind patients to come in if they miss appointments. That can lead to better care."

Co-director of the Henry Ford Clinical Trial Center

Deeper motivation

Still other patients participate for altruistic reasons.

"We're so lucky to have this kind of community," Decker said. "Our patients often participate even if they don't believe the study will benefit them because they believe it can benefit the community, or they might help other people or their children's generation."

Such was the case for Sam Reider of West Bloomfield. Reider, a healthy 69-year-old, agreed to participate in the Henry Ford Hospital SELECT trial, which will determine the effectiveness of selenium and vitamin E in preventing prostate cancer.

The study requires a 12-year commitment from participants, and Reider plans to continue to get check-ups every six months for the duration of the study.

"I'll stay in it if I last that long," joked Reider. "It's really no inconvenience at all, and when it comes to finding prevention and cures, sooner is always better than later, so maybe I'm helping someone else by being part of this study. Maybe it'll make a difference for future generations."

Reider recommends involvement in clinical trials. "I feel the same way now as I did when I started with this six months ago. There should be more people coming forward to do this. Every person can help."

Hospital reward

While most patients and participants are involved for personal reasons, it's often a business decision for a hospital to become involved in clinical trials.

Doctors are often eager to participate in order to offer patients cutting-edge treatments, but a hospital's interest in trials ranges from good medicine to notoriety to money.

"We have been finding more and more that patients expect good hospitals to be involved in clinical trials, so the hospital feels the need to

Grief workshops help daughter cope with loss of mother

Arbor Hospice & Home Care will present two free workshops beginning April 28, for women who have lost their mothers.

Titled "The Memory in the Mirror: Daughter Reflecting on Motherloss," these workshops help women who lost their mothers seek a positive, ongoing connection with their mothers beyond death.

Workshop participants are encouraged to bring with them a tangible expression of their mother (a photograph, trinket, or something she created).

"While the loss of a loved-one is unique and its impact immeasurable, we recognize that the loss of a mother forever changes each woman's life, yet the bond remains," said Jacquelin Gathiff, director of Grief Support Services for Arbor Hospice & Home Care. Whether the loss was last year or 25 years ago, this workshop has proven to be a source of great strength and support for women of all ages.

The workshop will be presented at the following locations:

- 2-3:30 p.m. Sunday, April 28, Ward Church, 40000 Six Mile Road, Northville

- 7-8:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 7, Arbor Hospice Residence, 2366 Oak Valley Drive, Ann Arbor

The workshops are open to all members of the community and are free of charge. Space is limited to 60 attendees per location. To register for the series or for further information, please contact Arbor Hospice & Home Care at (734) 662-5999, ext. 117 or register online at www.arborhospice.org.

Women at higher risk during bypass surgery

Women have as much as a three times higher risk of dying during or shortly after coronary artery bypass surgery than men, researchers report in Circulation Journal of the American Heart Association

"The younger the patients, the greater the mortality difference between women and men," says lead author Dr. Viola Vaccarino, associate professor of medicine at Emory University in Atlanta,

"Although the percentage of bypass surgery patients who died at the hospital was relatively all, the difference in both overmortality and the death rate of patients under age 60 was significant between the two sexes," says Vaccarino

Coronary artery bypass surgery reroutes blood vessels to reroute blood flow around arterial blockages to improve the supply of blood and oxygen to the heart. Heart surgeons perform about 71,000 of them annually, including about 182,000 in women

Statistics

Vaccarino and her colleagues were unable to determine why death rates were different between men and women. She says the explanation might be some unknown factor that increases the risk for women who have bypass surgery, or something in the surgical procedure itself that might be subject to change

"Clearly, we need further investigation in order to determine the causes for these mortality differences," she says

Women who suffer heart attacks have a higher in-hospital death rate than men, and the Emory group has shown that women's mortality compared to men's is particularly high among patients younger than 60. The researchers wondered if the same pattern held true for women undergoing bypass surgery

The researchers reviewed records of 51,187 patients in the National Cardiovascular Network database who underwent bypass surgery at 23 medical centers between October 1993 and December 1999. Of these patients, 15,178 (or 29.7 percent) were women. A smaller percentage of women than men were white, and the women were older, an average age of 67.5 compared to 64.1 for the men

The team divided the patients in their study into five age groups: Younger than age 50, 50-59, 60-69, 70-79, and 80 and older. Before determining the risk of death for each age group, they examined the patient's health characteristics, what other illnesses they suffered besides coronary artery disease, and their heart-disease risk factors

Overall, 5.3 percent of the women in the study died in the hospital compared with 2.9 percent of the men. In addition, 3.4 percent of women younger than 50 died compared with 1.1 percent of men. In the 50-59 age group, 2.6 percent of the women died versus 1.1 percent of the men

Age-related

The mortality differences between the sexes declined with older age. Among bypass patients age 80 and older, the risk of death was only slightly greater for women 9.0 percent versus 8.3 percent for men

After correcting for factors that might explain women's higher death rates, the risk remained quite high for younger women. Women younger than age 50 were more than twice as likely to die as men in the same age bracket. In patients ages 50-59, women had an 86 percent higher risk of in-hospital death than men

"Women tended to have more pre-existing illnesses and risk factors in their medical history, but they had less extensive coronary atherosclerosis, and their hearts had better pump function as detected by cardiac catheterization," says Vaccarino. "It seems paradoxical, but that's what the data show." In addition, a smaller percentage of women had suffered a heart attack before their bypass

"We initially anticipated that the higher prevalence of co-existing conditions, particularly diabetes, would be responsible for the higher rates of in-hospital complications and death in younger women," she says. Diabetes was twice as common in women among patients younger than 50, and renal insufficiency was much more common in women than in men in this age group

However, additional ailments and heart-disease risk factors accounted for less than 30 percent of the mortality differences between young men and women offer as many as possible in order to attract patients," Hudson said. "But I also think it's important to know that medical research has become a big business."

On average, it costs drug companies $500 million to get FDA approval for drugs, and the companies pay hospitals anywhere from a few hundred to upwards of $10,000 in on-site payments for their participation in a clinical trial

While a couple of thousand dollars seems innocuous, it adds up quickly. The University of Michigan Medical School received some $246 million from various sources - $176 million from the National Institute of Health - to fund clinical trials in 2000. The University of Michigan General Clinical Research Center is among the nation's largest centers, and more than 2,200 people participate in clinical trials there annually

"There's a double-edged sword in that these companies have an investment in providing profits for shareholders, and that is contingent on them getting drugs approved by the FDA. On the other side, the care providers are interested in providing superior care to patients. Balancing these interests can be tricky," Hudson said

Checks and balances

While there is a potential for abuse when thousands of dollars for thousands of studies is at stake, Hudson noted a strict review process balances the interests of physicians, hospitals and drug companies

Despite the often extensive reviews and red tape, both Decker and Hudson agreed the clinical trials are worth the effort. Hudson reported clinical trials have led to increased survival rates for his hospital's patients, and in just the last decade, death rates for cardiac patients admitted to the hospital have fallen from 25 percent to 15 percent

"We offer programs of excellence," said Decker. "We want to make sure that you can get the same kind of treatment here that you can get anywhere. It's so important that we can offer our patients the cutting-edge trials they can get around the country, but they can get them here in their own backyards."

New cancer drug gives patients renewed hope for survival

A new intravenous drug that uses radiation for treating a type of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma (NHL) is giving patients like Ken Norman, 70, of Troy renewed hope of living longer

Norman was treated with Zevalin at Henry Ford Hospital as part of a national clinical trial to demonstrate the drug's safety and efficacy. Henry Ford was the only hospital in Michigan to participate in the clinical trial

In February, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved Zevalin for use in treating patients with low-grade NHL who have not responded to chemotherapy. It is the first treatment approved to use radioimmunotherapy - combining localized radiation with monoclonal antibodies - to kill cancerous cells

Zevalin works by looking for certain chemicals on certain cells. After it finds them, it attaches itself to them and delivers a dose of radiation to the malignant cells without harming surrounding healthy tissue

Norman's cancer was in remission for nearly three years after he was treated as part of the Zevalin study in 1997. His cancer remains in remission today

"I feel like I won the Lotto," says Norman, a retired wood model maker and avid golfer. "I'm feeling great. I personally feel (cancer) is still there, but I'm living with it no problem. I feel like I'm 20 years old."

About 53,900 Americans are expected to be diagnosed with NHL, a cancer of the lymphatic tissue, this year, according to the American Cancer Society. An estimated 24,400 will die of the disease, the fifth most common cancer in the United States, excluding nonmelanoma skin

cancers

NHL comes in three different grades: Low, intermediate and high. Low-grade is non-life threatening while high-grade is life threatening. The standard care of treatment is chemotherapy

Dr. Nahm Janakiraman, principal investigator in the Zevalin study for Henry Ford, says Zevalin is a major development for treating patients with NHL

"Zevalin holds promise not only as a treatment option for patients but also as a new standard of care for treating relapsed NHL," says Janakiraman. "However, because of the local radiation involved, it may not be applicable for all patients."

The treatment is done on an outpatient basis. The standard chemotherapy treatment takes six to eight months over the years. It is my intention to carry on this work for many years to come," said Irene Gauthier, the institute's founder

The new school will offer a nationally accredited massage program, an expanded community education program, and a retail store. In addition, the school will provide a student clinic where the public can receive a one-hour massage for $30, or $25 for seniors

"We decided to build this new facility when we outgrew our original Southfield location. The public's interest in complementary care has grown dramatically, as people are wanting to take responsibility for their own health," said Kathy Gauthier,

the school's director

"I'm so proud of my mom's accomplishments. To think she started out teaching massage in the basement of our house, and now to have the largest school in the state is really something. Although she tends to be a little modest, she is a very gifted healer. We're lucky to have her."

Maternity massage requires careful, informed approach

BY SAMANTHA CRITCHELL
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

There might be nobody — and no body — whose back aches and feet hurt more than those of a pregnant woman.

But while a heavy-duty massage might seem like the easy solution, pregnant women are limited in the type of body rubs they can receive.

One of the main reasons massage is soothing to muscles is the increase in blood flow that gets oxygen traveling to sore spots, explains Glenn Teyf, founder of the Teyf Wellness Center in New York. It's a lack of oxygen that's usually to blame when muscles are tied up in "knots."

But, he says, during the first trimester of the pregnancy, it isn't desirable to redirect the blood flow from the fetus.

Teyf's advice, especially early on, is "No body massage in the first trimester. Never massage the stomach. Kiss it, hug it and rest your head on it. Do not massage it."

That doesn't leave partners who want to help the uncomfortable moms-to-be with many options.

Foot massages should be safe for all 40 weeks of pregnancy, says Teyf, but even that should be checked with individual doctors.

Teyf's foot massage tips include using massage, vegetable or olive oil instead of baby oil, which clogs pores, elevate the feet above the heart to increase blood flow, start at the heel up to the toes and end by slowly pressing the thumb and third finger over each toe starting with the little toe and working in.

Once a woman passes the three-month mark, there are more options for massage and during the later stages of pregnancy massage can be beneficial beyond offering a little muscle relief, says Teyf.

The last stretch of a pregnancy, when a woman's weight has soared, her proportions change and she walks in a different posture, causes some unique physical ailments that can be helped by massage.

"The healing power of touch is the oldest form of medicine, both on the emotional and physical level," he says. "Massage will help the expectant mother feel wonderful and loved."

Teyf adds, "It's one of the greatest things you can do for someone you love."

Other bonuses, according to Teyf:

■ Massage helps an expectant mother's body to eliminate waste products through the lymphatic and circulatory systems, which helps boost energy levels.

■ By increasing blood circulation, massage eases the load on the expectant mother's heart and might help stabilize her blood pressure.

■ Massage can help relieve depression and anxiety caused by hormonal changes. Reducing stress might help a pregnant woman sleep better and more deeply.

However, Teyf advises, a woman should avoid massage at any stage of pregnancy if she is experiencing vomiting, diarrhea or fever, has excessive swelling around the extremities, is inactive or has been placed on bed rest, or has any bleeding or abnormal discharge.

And while the lower back may be a hot spot for pain, massage there should be kept to a minimum and the touch should be light.

He also says that at-home masseurs should use only the strength of their hands, not their whole body, when applying pressure and no pressure should be put on the spine. Keep the strokes smooth and flowing, and the slower the strokes, the better it feels.

A pregnant woman can't, or at least shouldn't, get into the traditional face-down massage position. Teyf says the best body position is seated with the expectant mother straddling a narrow chair with her arms, shoulders and head leaning upon a pillow placed upon a table or desk.

Teyf, who says he's given more than 20,000 massages in his career, says the following steps result in the ultimate mini-massage.

Place gentle pressure with open hands, fingers facing outward, on the back just above the curve of the buttocks. Slowly move up both sides of the spine inch by inch.

When you reach the neck, don't pinch. Grab it sideways like you are holding a tennis racket. Continue grabbing slowly up the neck.

Very slowly, turn hands and fingers upright. Press thumbs into the spine on both sides and move slowly up the neck to the head. Continue the thumbs into the base of the skull, this can be a great release of tension but be sure to get feedback from your partner about the pressure level.

With one hand holding the head steady, the other hand grabs the total back of the head and gently pulls back, using the fingertips. Gently yet firmly, scatter your hands all through the hair, pulling back.

The woman receiving the massage has two jobs. First, to rate the pressure on a scale up to 10, which would indicate pain and, of course, should be avoided. The second task is easier. To enjoy it.

Mental stress affects blood flow to heart

Mental stress can trigger a lack of blood flow to the heart and increase the risk of death in people with coronary artery disease, researchers report in Circulation Journal of the American Heart Association.

"Patients who had ischemia in response to mental stress had a three-fold increase in the risk of death compared to people without mental stress," says Dr. David S. Sheps, lead author and associate chief of the division of cardiovascular medicine, University of Florida Health Sciences Center, Gainesville. "This adds up to a growing body of evidence that links mental stress and bad outcomes in individuals with coronary artery disease."

Previous studies have shown that reduced blood flow during mental stress tests is linked to significantly higher rates of adverse cardiac events. These studies weren't designed to detect differences in death rates, however.

Researchers used an imaging test called radionuclide angiography to detect "wall motion" abnormalities in the heart's pumping during ischemia, which occurs when there is not enough blood flow in the coronary arteries. Radionuclide angiography involves injecting a dye to label red blood cells. This lets researchers view the working heart.

"Wall motion abnormalities are specific markers of ischemia," Sheps says. "Radionuclide imaging provides us a motion picture of the heart beating. Normally there is a nice symmetrical motion of the heart. With ischemia, certain portions will contract less vigorously or bulge out."

Mental stress increases oxygen demand because blood pressure and heart rate are elevated, he says. Vascular resistance and coronary artery constriction during mental stress also decrease the blood supply.

Psychological factors such as anger or depression didn't increase the patients' incidence of death in this study. They have been shown to be risk factors in other studies.

The 196 patients in this study. Psychophysiological Investigations of Myocardial Ischemia (PIMI) had documented coronary artery disease and exercise-induced ischemia. Patients had a more than 50 percent narrowing in at least one major coronary artery or a previous heart attack

REFERRALS AND CONSULTATIONS
When should your doctor have you see another physician about your arthritis? You may continue with pain and swollen joints and yet not be ready for a consultation or referral. Or you may feel your case is in order, but find your doctor is sending you to a specialist.

As an aside, the medical profession makes a distinction between a consultation and a referral. A consultation means a physician sees you one time. At that meeting the doctor reviews information about your case and examines you. The doctor renders an opinion about your diagnosis and treatment, and makes recommendations about further care. You then return to the doctor who sent you to the consultant.

A referral means that your doctor is sending you to another physician who will take over your care. In arthritis, this means you will see a rheumatologist or orthopedic surgeon who will decide on the need for and undertake further examinations, diagnostic tests, and prescribe new medications.

Before your doctor sends you elsewhere, he wants to gather sufficient data to define why the difficulty in your care exists. Also, the information should direct your doctor into what specialist is appropriate for you. If numbness in your leg is the result of poor blood supply, you should see a vascular specialist. If the leg numbness is the result of a pinched nerve, then the appropriate physician to call upon is a back doctor.

Finally, your doctor likely will include a letter of introduction which will tell the specialist what is wanted of him.

You'll find upscale homes, great terrain, in Birmingham's Riverside

Mommed people who want one luxurious home, a beautiful topography and the Birmingham's ZIP code with all of its amenities will love Riverside, the builders and developer there agree.

Only two spec homes and three lots are still available in the small, single family condominium community just west of Southfield Road just south of Brown Street near downtown.

One spec - about 4,000 square feet - carries a listing price of $1.65 million. The other, about 3,800 square feet and not quite finished, lists for just under $1.7 million.

Two other homes under construction there, as well as a partial demolition and refurbishing of an historic farm house, have owners.

BRG Custom Homes and Brody Homes are collaborating here as they did in Dourdan Park in Bloomfield Hills. They're building on an alternating basis plans designed by architect Victor Saroki.

"A home like this is an indulgence," said Louis M. Beaudet of BRG. "We plan on indulging with amenities and luxury."

"Our role as the builder is to take architectural design, interact with the (interior) designers they (buyers) select and bring to reality their dream home with quality and craftsmanship," said Gerald Brody.

"This is lifestyle here," Beaudet added. "This is a turnkey development."

"The profile is these people own multiple homes in multiple areas of the world. We take care of everything so they can feel comfortable picking up at the spur of the moment and not worrying," Beaudet said.

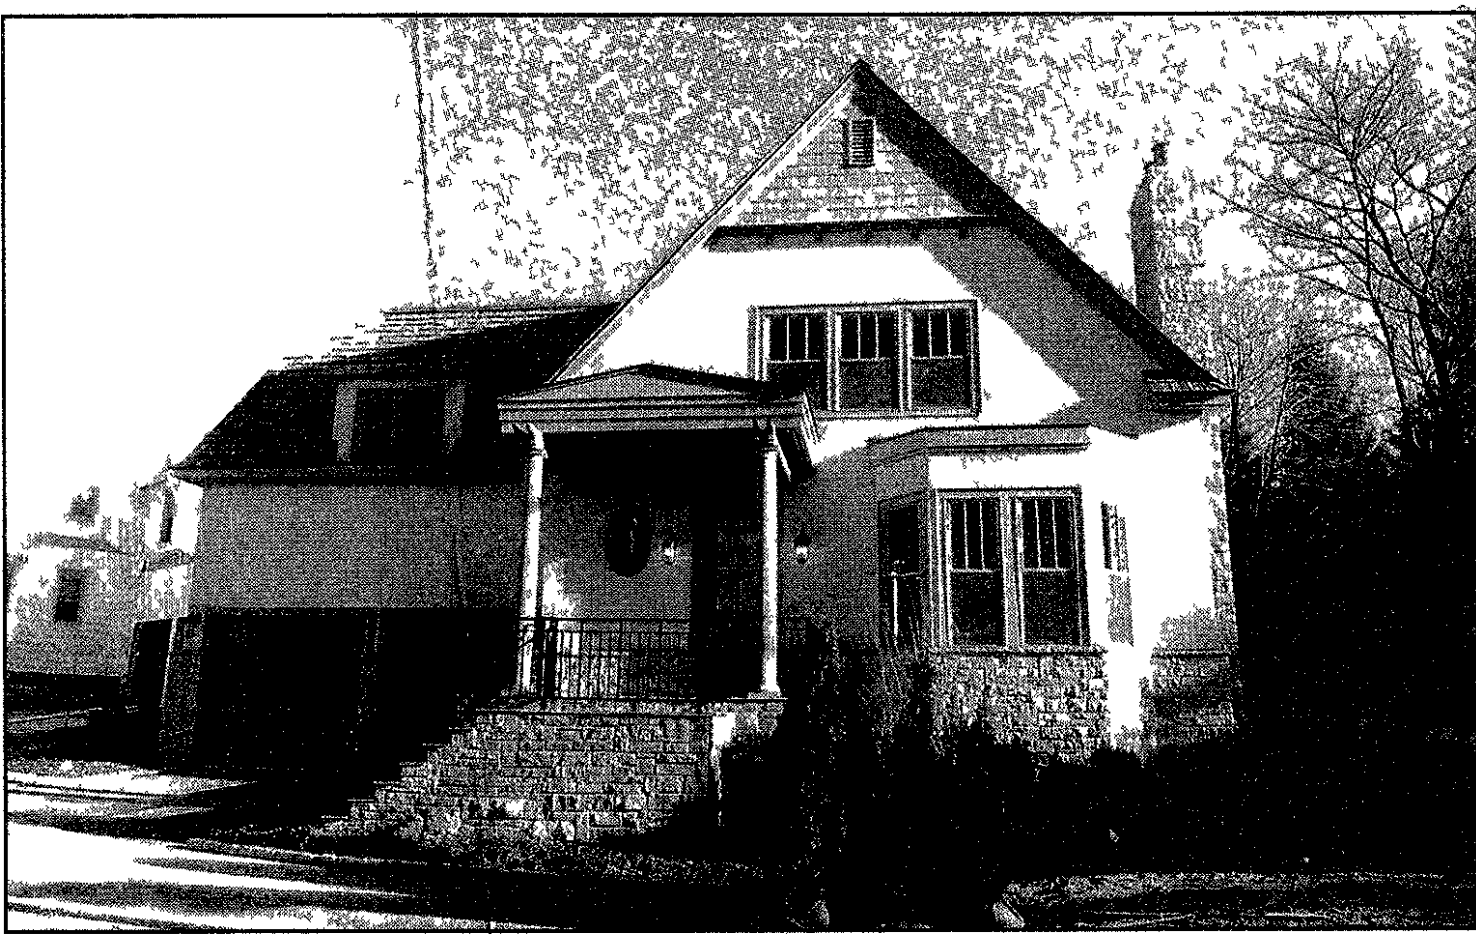

"These people are sophisticated worldly," Brody added. "They want a house to reflect their lifestyle."

"It's very Londonesque here, like long and narrow townhomes," Beaudet said. "This is a new, old house."

Homes at Riverside, although large and close together, don't seem overbearing due to the way they're oriented on the property.

There's a 60-foot drop in grade from Southfield Road to the Rouge River at the west end of the site, Brody said.

Purchasers used to luxury in their homes will get it inside and out at

Birmingham delight: Custom homes designed by Victor Saroki and build by Brody Homes and BRG Custom Homes provide luxury living at Riverside.

Riverside Stone, stucco and cedar siding, cedar shake roofs, copper gutters and downspouts, brick paver or slate porches and wooden garage doors are primary exterior materials.

Inside elevators will be included in homes where all the bedrooms are situated on the upper level.

All first floor ceilings are 10 feet high. Crown molding and wainscoting are everywhere. Floor coverings in entertaining areas of the home are wood, ceramic or stone.

Purchasers get a cabinetry/counter top allowance of $60,000, a light fixture allowance of $15,000, an appliance allowance of $10,000 and a hardware/accessory allowance of $5,000.

Air conditioning, fireplace basement, two-car garage and complete landscaping are standard. Master suites contain a jet tub and separate shower.

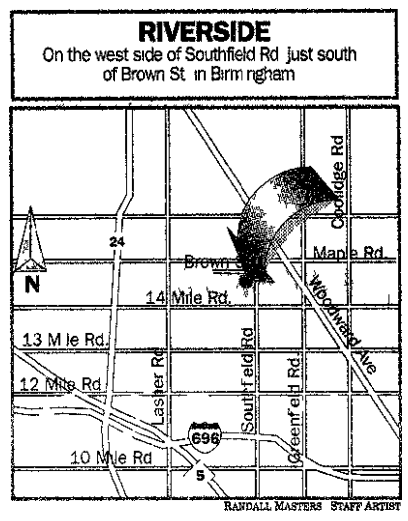

One model is finished, the other nearly so.

The two story of about 3,800 square feet features a living room with fireplace, dining room, large laundry with lots of cabinets, half bath, library and kitchen/nook with island.

All three bedrooms upstairs have their own bath.

The master contains a pair of large, walk-in closets, two vanities and a dressing area. One of the two secondary bedrooms up has a combination tub/shower, the other a shower.

Now is the time to purchase that new home

Whether you want to buy your first home, are considering a larger or smaller house, or are thinking about buying a vacation home, now is a great time to act

Several factors from low mortgage rates to new financing options combine to make this an advantageous time to buy a home

Let's start with market conditions

The inventory of new homes has edged up slightly over the past few months, which translates into more opportunities for home buyers who act now on purchasing a spec home

Next, let's look at the numbers

Interest rates are at an all-time low, and buyers can still lock in a low fixed-rate on a mortgage. Buyers with good credit can expect to shop for a loan in the 6-7 percent range

With lower rates, you can afford a more expensive home without increasing your monthly mortgage payment, and renters may get their first opportunity to enter the market and become home owners

First-time home buyers concerned about being able to save enough money for a down payment - traditionally 20 percent of the mortgage - can withdraw up to $10,000 from an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) without penalty for use as a down payment

Or, buyers can take advantage of new mortgage options that allow them to put 10 percent, 5 percent or even no money down. If you're self-employed, lenders are working to reduce the additional paperwork typically required. Talk to potential lenders about making these new financing options work for you

Buy a new home and you'll be glad when it's time to pay your 2002 taxes. The tax advantages of owning a home are many

First of all, home buyers can usually deduct loan points and origination fees for their mortgage, regardless of whether the buyer or the seller paid them. Since origination fees typically run 1 percent of the mortgage amount or higher, this can amount to huge savings

In addition, mortgage interest is deductible and still one of the greatest ways to reduce your tax burden. For example, if you pay taxes in the 28 percent bracket, this provision may lower your borrowing costs by nearly one third

In fact, you may be surprised to find how favorably owning a home compares to the cost of renting

It's certainly a great time to buy a new house. New home construction is better than ever, offering the latest in energy-saving technology, efficient heating and cooling systems, innovative design and a host of new features from pre-wired, high-speed data lines to high-tech lighting and security systems

Plus, the decisions you make on layout, colors, materials and appliances will make your new home a true reflection of your individual tastes and preferences

Remember, home equity accounts for approximately half of the total net wealth of the typical home-owning family, making homeownership the primary source of a household's net worth and the fundamental first step toward accumulating personal wealth

About 900,000 new homes will be sold in 2002, according to national statistics. Will one of them be yours?

Large ranch features 'specialty' spaces

Looking for a home with a courtyard, or maybe one with a boat parking spot or even one with a greenhouse? The Wood (405 45) has all of these features and many more

A brick wall around the courtyard lends itself to privacy while protecting the entry. A skylight is over the foyer

A large, built-in hutch at the entry is ideal for collectibles to be shared with guests. A coat closet is on the right

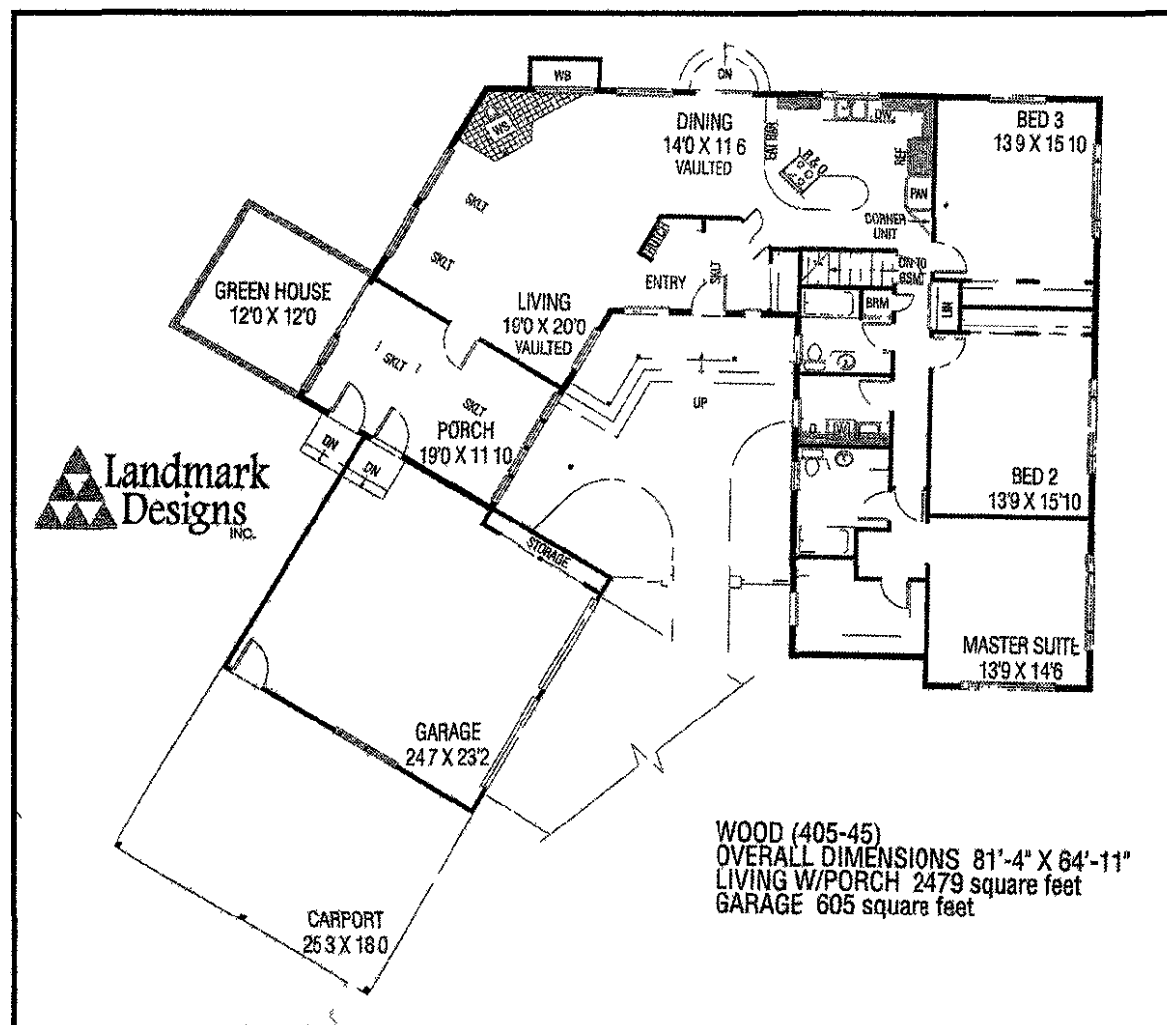

The kitchen is between swing doors. It contains a cabinet pantry, built-in dishwasher and an L-shaped eating bar separating the kitchen from the dining area

The vaulted dining room has sliding doors that open out to the back yard. The dining room also is open to the living room, which also is vaulted

The living room features two skylights and a corner wood stove. A wood box has been placed on the outside wall with access from the living room. Large windows on both sides of the wood stove bathe this area with plenty of natural light

One of the interesting extras of the Wood is the built-in, enclosed porch off the living room. It has sliding glass doors to the greenhouse. It also has doors to the back yard and the two car garage

Both ends of the porch are lined with windows and have skylights overhead. The area is bright with natural light and

WOOD (405-45)
OVERALL DIMENSIONS 81'-4" X 64'-11"
LIVING W/PORCH 2479 square feet
GARAGE 605 square feet

would be an ideal moving spot for the plants started in the greenhouse

The right side of the 2,479-square-foot ranch is dedicated to the bedrooms and baths

The master suite, with huge walk-in closet and bath with tub, is in the front of the home. Bedrooms 2 and 3 each have a wall closet, large windows and share a common linen closet in the hallway

The utility room is between the master bath and the second full bath

Stairs to an unfinished basement are located between the kitchen and the bathroom, as is a broom closet

Riverside

square feet is still under construction. That home will feature a living room, dining room that opens to a patio, kitchen/nook, den and a master with two walk-in closets and two-sink vanity

Two bedrooms sharing a jack-and-jill bath, a third bedroom with its own bath, a bonus room, media room and open computer center are upstairs

Riverside is serviced by city water, sewers and sidewalks. It's within the Birmingham school boundaries

The annual property tax rate is $43.99 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price for new construction. That means the owners of a $1.6 million home there would pay about $35,200 the first year

The monthly association fee is set at $240

The sales model at Riverside is open 1.5 p.m. Sundays and by appointment. Call Kathy Wilson at (248) 283-0365

Dual sinks provide quick start

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Call a truce on bathroom wars. Unless your home has a private bath for every bedroom, traffic jams begin not on the way to work, but when you roll out of bed and stumble into the bathroom.

If this is your morning routine, consider dual sinks. They allow two of you at once, rather than just one, to brush teeth and prepare for the day

Dual-washbowl sinks adjoining a shower stall provide some of the privacy benefits of a split bath, while using less square footage

Thomas Ervin Let's Talk About Real Estate

"BUYER ETIQUETTE"

Homeowners are often given advice on how they can make a prospective buyer feel as comfortable as possible when looking at a home that is for sale...

BE ON TIME

It can be very hard on a seller if showing schedules are not kept. It is not unusual, as an example, for the homeowner to postpone preparing a meal until after the showing...

BE COURTEOUS

Some buyers are rather blatant about criticizing the home or the housekeeping ability of the owner within hearing distance of the seller. Consider expressing your concerns to the real estate agent once you are outside...

BE RESPONSIBLE FOR YOUR CHILDREN

Some buyers bring their children with them on showings. Although the children may be somewhat distracting, buyers may have good reasons for bringing them along...

BE CONSIDERATE

Some buyers like to show their new home to relatives and friends after signing the sales agreement prior to the actual closing. This is understandable and most sellers would be happy to oblige for one such visit...

ADVICE: Remember to treat homeowners as you would want to be treated if you were in their situation.
