Teachers, district nearing deal

After seven long days of contract talks, taking only Sunday off to rest, there are hints that a new contract for the thousand-member Plymouth Canton Education Association may be near. Neither side will comment publicly about what was discussed at the May 1-8 bargaining sessions held with the help of facilitators, however, chief negotiators for both sides appeared confident the talks were headed in the right direction.

"We're very close, and talks were very productive," said Ray Bihun, executive director of human resources for Plymouth Canton Schools. "There were a lot of topics discussed, and we've come to some agreements. I feel comfortable that both sides have a true understanding of the issues.

"We still have to write all the language before we can take it any place (for ratification)," said Bihun.

Chuck Portelli, PCEA president and the union's chief negotiator, concurred with Bihun that talks were productive. "We worked very well together," said Portelli. "It was nice having two facilitators to work with us. It kept personalities out of negotiations, and it was data driven."

Mother Nature cooperated, and records were set.

That's what kind of day it was for the annual Plymouth Dog Jog Saturday.

More than 300 dogs took part in the event, which raises money annually for the Michigan Humane Society and the Plymouth Kiwanis Club. According to Boss Dog Eric Colthurst, that's a record.

Donors also gave from the heart, setting a record for pledges. When all was said and done, the event raised $10,000 for the Humane Society and another $3,000 for the Kiwanis Club.

"That's a very healthy donation that is much needed here," said Ron Blauet, the Humane

Former mayor loses battle with leukemia

By TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe.hometown.com

Former Plymouth Mayor Jack Kenyon was active in the Plymouth community. In fact, it was his main interest in life, next to his family.

"Jack's family always believed in civic work," said Jacqueline Kenyon, his wife of 50 years. "He had a strong belief that you should give back to your community."

Kenyon died at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday at the age of 76 after a 13-month bout with leukemia.

"He was an unbelievable individual," said Plymouth city commissioner Ron Louselle, who also served with Kenyon. "He was a very giving person, and always listened to people. His death is a big loss for the community."

Kenyon served as mayor from March-November of 1991, when he took the position after Dennis Bila resigned. Kenyon was a member of the city commission from 1979-1985, and again from 1988-1991.

Along with his two stints on the city commission, Kenyon was a former president of the Plymouth District Library Board, former chairman of the city's Zoning Board of Appeals, and was inducted to the Plymouth Hall of Fame.

Kenyon, in a two-page biography he wrote before his death, entitled "More than you ever needed to know about Jack Kenyon," lists his induction into the Hall of Fame and becoming a registered engineer as two of his "sources of pride," which also include his long-time marriage, three children and six grandchildren.

Kenyon's birthday was on July 4, and he always celebrated at the Fourth of July parade in downtown

Observer series looks at teens and alcohol

Today we begin a two-part report on teenagers and alcohol.

On Thursday, May 9, eight teenagers from local high schools sat down to discuss teen drinking.

In today's Hometown Life section we present their conversation on the prevalence of teen drinking, its effect on the social life of local teenagers and their views on why drinking is so important for many young people.

Though each of the participants has made a personal decision not to drink, they all say that drinking is common among their peers.

"The sad thing about it is that people do it every weekend," said Patrice Wade, a student at Farmington High School. "A lot of people do it who you wouldn't even think do it."

On the opinion page we offer our view of the situation.

On Sunday we'll present information on resources available to help young people with drinking or drug problems.

Our Health section will examine the health consequences of alcohol abuse by teenagers. Our Taste section will offer some alternatives to serving alcohol at graduation parties.

On college campuses across the United States binge drinking has become a major problem. And the problem begins in high school.

Patrice Flax, a professional social worker who counsels students on drug and alcohol problems and served as moderator for our student forum, said regular and excessive drinking in high school sets a pattern for college.

"Students who drink heavily in high school tend to go into the Greek (fraternity and sorority) system," she said. "It has to do with familiar behavior. They learned at a young age how to handle anxiety. It's a very difficult behavior to change."

We do not expect this series to change behavior, but we hope that it raises questions and stimulates conversation, especially between parents and their teenagers.

Compuware gets prep ice finals

The road to state high school hockey championships will run through Plymouth Township

Compuware Sports Arena in Plymouth Township has been selected as the site for the Michigan High School Athletic Association's hockey semifinals and finals for a three-year period beginning in 2003

The MHSAA's Representative Council made the decision during its annual spring meeting in Gaylord

"We look forward to having the MHSAA Ice Hockey Finals played at Compuware Sports Arena," said John E. "Jack" Roberts, MHSAA Executive Director. "Our schools and fans should have a great experience there"

Opened in 1996, Compuware seats 3,500 spectators for hockey and is located convenient to freeway access in Detroit's western suburbs, just west of I-275 off M-14 on Beck

The 170,000-square-foot facility is home to the Plymouth Whalers and Compuware Ambassadors junior hockey teams. The arena also hosts ice shows, concerts and numerous other events

It would be the first time hockey finals will be in southeastern Michigan since Yost Ice Arena in Ann Arbor hosted the Tier I finals in 1977

For 26 of the 28 years the MHSAA has sponsored a post-season tournament, the finals have been conducted, at least in part, at the Flint IMA Sports Arena. The IMA has hosted all divisions of semifinal and final play since 1989

The MHSAA sought hosting proposals after plans to construct a new IMA Sports Arena and renovate the current arena in Flint were placed on hold indefinitely, and the future of the building's management became uncertain

"For something you don't do very often, it was great," said Fran Toney, the chamber's executive director. "We had 16 past presidents there, and there were six businesses honored because they were on the chamber roster in 1952 and still are."

Sheldon Road project hits snag

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

The Sheldon Road underpass is quickly becoming The Project That Just Won't Get Started

Plymouth Township officials have run into yet another snag in the project that was originally supposed to start nearly two years ago, but now probably won't begin until sometime next year — and again the problem centers around CSX

The railroad is telling the township now that it will need a two track bypass that will take a portion of a lot in Plymouth Oaks Park

The $8.8 million project is also going to need a staging area for storage of equipment and supplies

The owner of the Plymouth Oaks lot, Consolidated Properties Company II, LLC has been negotiating with Wayne County officials and CSX to establish that area

"This has been an ongoing saga," said Jim Anulewicz, the township's director of public services. "We've had meetings with the county, and they know we're serious about getting this project moving. They've had meetings with legislators in an effort to find a way to put pressure on CSX."

Here's the rub for the township: Consolidated Properties already had site plan approval and a building permit

Since those are only good for a year, it was necessary to broker a deal with the property owner. So the township board Tuesday night approved putting the site plan approval and building permit into escrow, an agreement good until eight months after the completion of the underpass

"Those agreements are only valid for a year, and then he'd have to start over," township supervisor Steve Mann said. "This protects him so that, what he has approval to do now, he'll have approval to do when the project is finished"

The bypass/staging area is also expected to raise the cost of the project, although estimates won't really be available until Consolidated

Properties concludes its negotiations with the county and CSX, Anulewicz said

As it stands now, the township is on the hook for $1,021,750 of the total cost

The City of Plymouth has agreed to pay just over $500,000. Federal funds will account for about 80 percent of the project, not to exceed $5.25 million

Even if the cost goes up, Mann said the deal to escrow Consolidated Properties' site plan and building permit is a sound one for the township

"It benefits the township by making the negotiations with Wayne County more desirable to the property owner," Mann said. "This piece of property is very important to the project. If we can't do a bypass during the construction phase, the project can't move forward"

Construction was to have begun this spring, however, it's been pushed back to at least December

Once construction begins, Sheldon is expected to be closed for about 21 months

Physical Therapy UPDATE
 Presented by Hands On Center For Physical Therapy
SLEEPY HEAD

If you suffer from chronic neck pain there are a number of neck (cervical) pillows available that may help ease your discomfort. Because there is no one-size fits all answer you should look for the pillow shape that best fits your needs. Generally speaking a pillow should hold your head in alignment with your spine in such a way that your head does not tip too far to either side fall forward or tilt back. It should be neither too thick and firm nor too thin and soft. To find the shape and thickness that best suits you first try rolling a towel into a cylinder and stuffing it into a pillowcase. Experiment with a thick ness that comfortably supports your neck.

If you are experiencing pain stiffness or a limited range of motion due to accident or overuse ask your physician for a referral to the HANDS ON CENTER FOR PHYSICAL THERAPY. Our experienced staff of physical therapists provide a wide range of treatments including myofascial release strain/counter strain techniques and cranial sacral therapy. To learn more about our many services please call 455-8370. For your convenience we offer early morning and evening appointments. You'll find our center conveniently located in Plymouth at 470 Forest Avenue Suite 20.

PS. It is best to sleep on your side not on your stomach with a pillow between your legs.

Society's director of education "Money is the lifeblood of most charities. You've got a lot of work to do, and it takes money to do it. We're always happy when people do things to help the animals here. The Kiwanis Club has been a very strong supporter of ours over the years." The weather, the enthusiasm of the participants and the sheer numbers made it a successful event.

"We had a great dog jog," Colthurst said. "We are so pleased. We had maybe 75-100 more dogs than last year, and more pledges than ever. The rain held off until about four o'clock, so everything went right for us."

Using the theme, "United We Bark," dog joggers ran to honor police officers, firefighters and their dogs. The two-mile course started and ended in Kellogg Park. Steve Powell, running with his dog, Sadie, finished the two miles in 13 minutes.

"I don't know how he dodged traffic," Colthurst said with a laugh. "We had people on all the corners, but I know nobody in our club could keep up with him."

Prizes also went out to the top pledge-getters. Cathy Hirschauer of Canton brought in $868, followed by Laura Stroyan of Westland ($550) and Annele Richards of Beverly Hills ($530).

"It was cool for the dogs and we had a good time," Colthurst said. "It's a lot more fun with that many people and all those dogs."

Meanwhile Grant said he received a huge groundswell of support throughout the district. And that includes several Plymouth city commissioners and Mayor Bill Graham who last month hosted a fundraiser for Grant in which State Rep Bruce Patterson gave the challenger a $1,000 check.

Grant said he's hearing from people in the district concerning two main issues.

'People are very concerned about the economy and parents want choices in education for their children,' said Grant. 'By and large they want the cap raised on charter schools.'

Grant, who for the most part has focused on his own campaign, did take a swipe at Stewart challenging him for his participation in the Summit on School Funding held at Salem High School in March. The event is sponsored by the Michigan Citizens for Fairness in School Funding, of which Stewart is a board member.

'My opponent serves on the board of an organization whose sole purpose is to increase and make equitable the state's school funding. He also serves on the Appropriations Committee in the State House,' said Grant. 'Having served on these boards and committees for two state budget cycles, it is disappointing that Representative Stewart never once introduced legislation or offered a single amendment to increase school funding.'

Blackwell helps in safety event

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe homecomm.net

Jaime Lee Curtis has been telling people on television about Ford's Commitment to Kids program. Last week, the folks at Blackwell Ford brought the program home.

The Plymouth car dealer sponsored a Ford Commitment to Kids program, and saw about 80 children get their pictures and fingerprints taken in an effort to protect children.

It was Blackwell's first time sponsoring the program.

"I thought it was a successful program," said Jeff Engle, Blackwell's sales manager. "We had about 80 kids come through, and gave out another 60 packets to parents whose children couldn't get here."

The idea is to give parents a photograph and fingerprint record of their children in case something happens, for instance a disappearance or kidnapping. "You'd be surprised, most of the time parents don't seem to have a recent photo, much less the fingerprints," Engle said. "This way, they have those easily available."

Though there was no fingerprint expert available late in the day when Robert Eis brought her two children in, she said the program was a valuable one.

"We got pictures taken of my children, and we just have to go to our local police department to get the fingerprints," said Eis, a Northville resident and mom to Tim, 6, and Kristin, 4. "It's great to have all that information together. The program was great."

Wilcox Foundation hands out annual students scholarships

Seventeen Plymouth/Canton students will be splitting $40,000 in scholarship money thanks to the Wilcox Foundation scholarship program.

The foundation, founded by the late Jack Wilcox just prior to his death in June 2000, will hand out the scholarships May 15-16 to the students, who participated in an essay contest about the history of one of Plymouth's long-time family run businesses or the historical development of one of Plymouth's business districts.

Three Plymouth-Canton educators and three members of the community served on the panel of judges that selected the scholarship recipients. The winners were Katie Lorenz, Vivian Lee, Shaina Smith, Molly LaGrow, Meghan Nisch, Aulhan Teng, Ben Brockschmidt, Kaitlin Hehir, Ryan Williams, Keith Lukasik, Kimberly Hesse, Carrie Vaughn, Rebecca Rourke, Megan Newhouse, Shannon Miller, Eric Varney and Amy Brandt.

Judging determined the recipients of the three first-place scholarships ($4,000 each) and 10 second-place scholarships ($2,000 each). A random drawing determined four $1,500 scholarships.

"Unlike many scholarship programs, this one isn't aimed solely at the top academic students, but rather is interested in promoting broad participation by Plymouth-Canton youth in learning about the history of Plymouth," said Win Schrader, a member of the Wilcox Foundation committee and director of the scholarship program. "Accordingly, the criteria for selecting the participants will be centered around the time and effort put into research, resourcefulness in tracking down sources of information and interest shown by the student."

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the hometowns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers

Township should retrieve overpayments to firemen

In a fair world, people shouldn't be forced to pay for someone else's mistakes. In Plymouth Township, that's exactly what should happen.

Nine Plymouth Community firefighters are about to be asked to give back some $12,000 in overpaid salary they were given two years ago, when payroll records were either miscalculated or altered — depending on whom you believe.

Township treasurer Ron Edwards discovered the mistake while he was figuring out how much retroactive pay he was going to have to give firefighters, who recently settled a contract.

What happened was that firefighters were paid overtime for hours spent serving as an acting lieutenant or captain. Their contract called for one rate, they were paid a higher rate, some to the tune of hundreds of dollars a day.

Edwards says the mistake was made by former finance director Rosemary Harvey when she handled payroll, but how or why it was made is irrelevant.

What matters now is what the township does about rectifying it. There are really only two options, according to Edwards. Convince firefighters to give the money back voluntarily, or take them to court.

Some would argue it's a no-brainer no matter whose side you take. The firefighters should have known they were being overpaid based on their knowledge of the contract, and should have brought it to the township's attention. But doesn't not doing so simply fall in line with human nature?

Others would say the township made the error and therefore should bear the expense. Unfortunately, in the end, it wouldn't be the township bearing the brunt, it would be the taxpayers.

We've heard rumors Supervisor Steve Mann isn't overly enthusiastic about the idea of having to go to court to retrieve the money. While we sympathize with that position in theory, in practice we don't think he's got any other choice. We think he should make it as easy as possible for firefighters to return the money, but we do think it should be returned.

Even though it's money they didn't really earn, maybe it's not fair to ask them to give the money back.

But no one ever said life would always be fair.

Annexation not a good idea

There are lots of things we think Plymouth Township should be doing with the City of Plymouth.

Annexing one of its most important areas isn't one of them.

While we sympathize with the few residents of Old Village who are dissatisfied with their perception of the treatment of their neighborhood by the city commission, being annexed to Plymouth Township rule makes little or no sense — for either side.

Some Old Village residents think the city commission takes the area too lightly, ignoring projects and generally treating it with something less than respect. City officials point to street improvements, lighting upgrades and flower plantings as signs the commission does take Old Village seriously.

It's silly to think planting a few flowers is all it takes to make an area feel vital and vibrant. Old Village has a lot to offer, with unique businesses and a downtown feel all its own. But Old Villagers think the city pays too much attention to its actual downtown, and too little to Old Village.

"I think there's a sense by many in Old Village that it is treated differently than the downtown area," said Matt Cardwell, who lives in Old Village and sits on the Old Village Development Authority. "The city thinks of us as just another neighborhood but we're a development authority appointed by the mayor to develop this area."

But they aren't, not really. While they carry the name "authority," they don't have a whole lot. The OVDA, while serving a vital role in promoting the area, simply doesn't have the juice to actually get things done. Anything the OVDA recommends has to be funneled through the city administration or the commission.

That doesn't mean the city should ignore their requests. Nor should the township consider the idea of annexation. Supervisor Steve Mann, while allowing that he's willing to listen to any suggestion, isn't too enthusiastic about this one, and rightly so.

Old Village is an important area vital to success in the city. And that's where it belongs.

Listen to your children about teen drinking

The kids know. Just ask them. They may not admit to taking a drink themselves, but they'll tell you that a lot of other kids do.

They'll tell you that many Monday mornings other students come to school with hangovers and stories. They'll tell you about parties where alcohol and drugs are a common, and to some necessary, ingredient to having a good time.

"It's very common," said Julie Patterson, a senior from Plymouth Salem High School, who participated in our May 9 forum of teenagers discussing the problem. "It's ridiculous, you come back on a Monday and you hear, 'Oh, I went to this party and everyone was so smashed.'"

They'll tell you about girl friends who found themselves pregnant after a party where they couldn't remember what they'd done. They'll tell you about friends they've picked up from gutters and put to bed.

You may even suspect that your son or daughter is experimenting. They come in late and go right to their rooms. They look a little too tired the next morning. They look glassy-eyed. Their once stellar school grades have plunged.

Experimenting is part of growing up. As adolescents we all want to try things that aren't supposed to be good for us but that we see adults doing all the time. When we're 18 we might wonder what's so magical about being 21 that suddenly makes it OK to have an alcoholic drink. We might wonder what all the fuss is about marijuana.

That's why lecturing the young is so ineffective. They are masters at hair splitting. They are masters at throwing your own behavior back at you.

Even their own experiences don't often convince them. A friend's death in an alcohol-related accident may give them pause. But young people often see themselves as indestructible.

Our young panelists have all made a decision to postpone drinking until they're adults. They've seen adults drink responsibly and they've seen adults and their peers abuse alcohol. As one panelist said, she didn't want to be in a situation where she didn't have control over herself.

Graduation is a particularly tempting time. Young people want to celebrate the way adults often celebrate.

We urge them to consider the dangers of losing control. But most important we urge parents to ask their sons and daughters about these issues, talk with them about what they've seen, heard and done. Be open, honest, fair. Listen.

That's what our forum was about but the real conversation needs to go on in every home of every graduating teenager.

LETTERS

Money should be returned

I read with great interest an article in the Plymouth Observer on May 2.

First of all I would like to commend and thank the Observer for their professional investigative reporting of a very serious matter. The article was entitled "Township overpaid some firefighters." I am amazed that this happened and in almost two years not one penny has been returned.

First of all I want to say that I have always been an advocate of firefighters. My brother Walter was Fire Chief of Detroit and also Southfield. I have great respect and admiration for these men and women who sometimes have a very dangerous job. The majority of them deserve our respect and thanks for a job well done. In fact, I led the charge to pass a millage election in November 1985 to hire three new firefighters — and the millage passed.

Now we are informed that Plymouth Township Treasurer Ron Edwards discovered a payroll error from nearly two years ago that showed the township overpaid nine firefighters a total of about $12,000. And would you believe that not one of the nine firefighters have called the treasurer and said, "you overpaid me, I want to return this money because I did not earn it?" I am personally appalled at their action or really their non-action because these men know or should have known that these nine firefighters are not following in his footsteps.

I agree with Ron Edwards and Larry Groth that restitution should be made. The article further stated that the decision whether to pursue repayment by the firefighters will be up to Supervisor Steve Mann. I sure hope that he makes the right decision because if he doesn't I would suggest that he look up the word malfeasance.

To the nine firefighters I say again pay it all back and do it now. Shame on you men if you equivocate. This is Plymouth Township and City of Plymouth taxpayers' money and not yours. Do what is right and do it right now.

Speed trap

Because of concern for the safety of the increasing number of children living on Penniman Avenue, a number of us residents have called the Plymouth Police Department on several occasions to voice our concern about the speeding on Penniman and a lack of police presence. I was disturbed to learn no one could tell me how many speeding tickets had been issued on Penniman in any given period.

So under the Freedom of Information act, on Aug 16th, 2001, I paid to get a summary copy of the tickets issued by the City of Plymouth Police Department. I hand-tallied the data which spanned the period of 1995 through Aug 16, 2001. Only speeding tickets issued on Penniman between Sheldon and Harvey were counted since this is the residential area of concern. The results:

- 1995 — 13 tickets
- 1996 — 18 tickets (record high year)
- 1997 — 16 tickets
- 1998 — 10 tickets
- 1999 — 11 tickets
- 2000 — 7 tickets (record low year)
- 2001 — 6 tickets through Aug 16, 10 tickets if extrapolated for the full calendar year

In summary, on a busy, residential 25 mph street where two schools with small children are located, there has consistently been less than one ticket per month issued for speeding. And of those tickets that were issued, more than 50 percent were for 35 mph or over, some up to 42 mph.

I commend the police department for recently improving their presence on Penniman (we've noted at least two separate pull-overs in the last three weeks) and hope that the department will take a look at where tickets are being issued vs. where residents have speeding concerns (a ticket for 10 mph over on Ann Arbor Road or Main, for example, does not have the same safety enhancing results as if done on Penniman, Harvey or Farmer, for instance).

If the department does not have the resources to tally where tickets are being issued, perhaps the department could coordinate a civic project with a local school to sift through the data. The department could then re-prioritize enforcement to better utilize the department's limited resources and provide for a safer community.

Cable concerns

Early this morning during a lazy, rainy, Sunday morning, my five-year-old son and I were watching the Cartoon Network on Comcast cable service. I had always considered the Cartoon Network one of the few "safe" stations for children and families.

I was extremely appalled when I saw a commercial for the E Network which featured a man imitating an angry Robert Deniro in Taxi Driver, and went so far as to say, "then who the hell are you talking to?"

What were you thinking? Have you ever considered who it is watching early morning cartoons on the week-ends?

I am extremely upset that this commercial airs on this channel, and I am considering canceling my subscription to your service.

I am not asking that every channel be clean and free of any adult content. As adults both my wife and I watch many other channels, however we do not expose our children to them. However, if the channels that are supposed to be just kid stuff are not, then why should I subscribe to your service? What's next, a commercial for the Playboy Channel slipped in during a broadcast of Mary Poppins on Disney?

I am writing this letter in frustration, because I know the bureaucracy that it faces, and the idiocy of upper management that would allow this commercial to air during programming for children, will never actually see my note.

Please advise whomever you can about my concern. I can assure you that I will be.

Malice in mind

This letter is in response to Dean H. Lenheiser's letter titled Good Times? What is Mr. Lenheiser's motivation here? It seems quite clear that his intentions are to make the teachers look like they have more than they deserve. What timing Mr. Lenheiser has seeing how contract negotiations are coming up for Plymouth-Canton teachers. I would encourage Mr. Lenheiser to at least get one of his facts correct before sending his letter to the editor.

I get the impression Mr. Lenheiser feels that teachers are paid too much, especially in retirement. Many of his teacher clients make over $100,000 a year with retirement, Social Security, and investments. That may be all well and true, but Mr. Lenheiser makes it sound like the state is giving "poor school teachers" a free ride on the thousands of dollars teachers have for retirement.

It is currently not possible for a Plymouth-Canton teacher to make over $31,500 per year on retirement. The only possible way to get even near that figure is with extensive post-graduate college work which is paid for by the teacher and 30 years of service.

Teachers now are collecting Social Security checks, but that will not last long. Many young teachers do not even figure in Social Security as part of retirement because they do not believe it will be there. Investments vary. Teachers are on the same playing ground there and investments are taxed. Mr. Lenheiser didn't mention if those teachers' tax returns were joint returns or not.

I do not understand how Mr. Lenheiser can complain about a 7.5 percent yearly salary increase that never happened. The last three contracts had salary increases of about 2.5 percent, which is less than the rate of inflation. It would take a lot more than a 7.5 percent salary increase for teachers to be on par with other professions with similar schooling.

It seems that Mr. Lenheiser wrote his letter with malice in mind. If he truly wanted to get a new bus fleet, taking money from the teachers is not the answer. Teacher salaries are seldom put into proper perspective. What profession on this planet are the workers so highly trained yet belittled continually with false and ignorant statements? It is a sorry world when the public is outraged at a 3-percent salary increase for teachers then turn around and shed a tear because the car companies only profited a billion dollars for the quarter.

Will Michigan's new leaders have skill to grow economy?

Starting next January, we'll have a whole new leadership team in Michigan. A new set of executive officers — governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, maybe attorney general — and a mostly new legislature in both houses, coupled with a possible change in partisan control of at least one.

That new team is going to have to figure out how to govern the state amid very great budgetary stress — best guess is there is already a built-in imbalance of nearly $1 billion. And they'll face considerable political uncertainty — term limits will have eliminated most experienced lawmakers and the new executive officers will be uncertain how to go about their jobs.

Among the happy things they'll have to deal with is Michigan's remarkably improved business climate. Remember the early 1990s? Michigan was the very definition of a Rust Belt state, with more than 19 percent unemployment and only 4 million (very nervous) jobs. In the year 2000, we boasted a jobless rate of less than 4 percent and a growing economy of 5 million jobs.

That's a terrific record. Gov. John Engler and the Michigan Economic Development Corporation (not to mention a booming national economy) deserve lots of credit for managing such an impressive turnaround.

The big question is what our new leaders are going to do starting next January. Will they keep hammering away at improving the economic climate or will they take the easy way out and let Michigan fall back again?

At a minimum, the policy agenda will have been set out. At the Michigan Competitiveness Conference, sponsored last week in Lansing by the MEDC, a new study by Stanford Research Institute showed that Michigan ranked No. 9 among the 50 states and No. 2 among Midwestern states as a good place to do business. I attended, it was an eye-opening day.

We ranked especially well in our quality of life (No. 4 in the nation), based on "low living costs, good education system, clean air and first rate nature and recreation assets." We came in No. 7 in what SRI calls "innovation resources," the compound result of world-class universities and technology base. Our infrastructure came in No. 22, the middle of the pack, the new terminal at Metro Airport balancing out deficits in roads and Internet and broadband connections.

Michigan rated worst (No. 42) on business costs, mainly because of high taxes on business. According to MEDC President Doug Rothwell, even though the Single Business Tax has been cut by one third since 1990, it's still twice as high as the next highest state that we benchmark ourselves against.

Rothwell argues that instead of gloating about how Michigan fared against the rest of the nation, we should compare ourselves against the 17 states that are our primary competitors for new business investment and high technology. Eight of these ranked above Michigan in the SRI study — Colorado, Texas, Minnesota, Virginia, California, Georgia, Massachusetts and Washington, in order — while our neighbor rivals, Ohio and Illinois, were just behind. So there's plenty of work to do.

The Single Business Tax is a real problem. No other state has a unified business tax structure like it, so it stands out like a sore thumb in the tables of the comparison. Most states tax businesses on their profit plus some other factors, while the Michigan unified SBT taxes a combination of employment and "value added." Worse, as I know from personal experience, the SBT is very complex to calculate.

Among the 300-odd people attending the conference, most felt the SBT needed at minimum an overhaul to include at least some component of business profit. As I remember it, the SBT was written in literally the dead of night in 1975, largely by lobbyists for the automobile industry, General Motors in particular. Virtually none of the lawmakers who voted to adopt the next morning understood the tax, most had not even read the complex legislation.

The conference discussed a large range of suggestions coming from six breakout groups.

If there was consensus, it was that our economic development competitive strategy for the future should be to try to get our business tax and cost climate at about the national average, fix our roads and extend our broadband connections and let our other advantages play out undiminished.

The real question is whether our new leaders have the foresight, guts and skill to do so.

Great Lakes make Michigan a treasure and responsibility

Astronauts in space can see its bold outline on cloudless days. Two peninsulas surrounded by deep blue water. The northern peninsula jagged and elongated, stretching toward Canada. The southern peninsula, a wonder of nature or a cosmic joke, the very image of a mitten formed eons ago by glaciers.

Our Michigan is a special place, a place defined by the Great Lakes that surround it.

When the state sought suggestions for the Michigan quarter it was inevitable that the design would highlight the two peninsulas and the lakes around it. Yes, the automobile has been important to the state's economy and the reason for its growth. But it becomes clearer every day that Michigan's great treasure, and its great responsibility, is the Great Lakes and its inland lakes and rivers. In a world parched for water, Michigan is uniquely blessed.

May 18-27 has been designated Michigan Week, a time to reflect on the special qualities of this state and its people.

Those of us who live in Southeast Michigan often see the state as two very distinct realities. One is the engine that drives the state's economy, a cliché that has a literal resonance in this place that put the world on wheels. This Michigan is an industrial behemoth, auto capital of the world. It is also an emerging high tech center and a life sciences corridor. It is a place of cultural institutions, great centers of learning and an urban center troubled with economic and racial strife that often seems never ending.

The other Michigan is a land of woods and water, a "wonderland." Going "up North" is a ritual part of life for residents of Southeast Michigan. Whether it's boating on the Great Lakes, walking the beaches along Lake Michigan hiking the hardwood forests, fly fishing in numerous streams and rivers, bicycling along scenic shores or through deep woods, or stalking deer in November chill — the other Michigan is an easy escape for some. For downstaters this is paradise!

The reality is more complex. Northern Michigan has its own problems. Its economy once based on mining, timber and fishing is now dependent on tourism. Many of the full time residents live at or near the poverty level.

Yet the region is still rich in natural resources. There is and will continue to be a tension between the two interests.

There is also a tension between those who wish to enjoy Northern Michigan for its simple pleasures and those who see the Great North as a Disney-style theme park. Petoskey's Bay Harbor and the proliferation of Indian casinos could be a frightening vision of things to come.

Gov. Engler had to back away from directional oil drilling along the lakes after an outcry from people who realize that if anything destroys the lakes or the shore, Michigan will lose its specialness. No amount of oil (and the prospects are small) could ever justify that loss.

The reality is more complex. Northern Michigan has its own problems. Its economy once based on mining, timber and fishing, is now dependent on tourism. Many of the full-time residents live at or near the poverty level. Yet the region is still rich in natural resources

We know that the demands on our state for water and other natural resources will be great in the years to come. We will need leaders with a firm resolve to harvest what we have intelligently and protect those assets that define who and what we are. Too often we have allowed short-term business interests to take precedence over long-term planning. Too often we have favored the few at the expense of the many.

We need to learn the limits of growth and development. Not all "progress" is good. Economic needs must be balanced by the needs of the environment. Property rights need to be balanced by public rights.

We have much to think about during this Michigan Week. Our two beautiful peninsulas demand that we be good stewards so that they continue to radiate as special places in the world.

Scene is set for some contentious August primaries

BY KURT KURAN
SPECIAL WRITER

With the passing of Tuesday's filing deadline, the ballots that voters will see for the Aug 6 primary election are set.

Well, almost. The candidates vying to represent their party for Wayne County executive and on the county commission, as well as for a number of important state representative and senate seats, are set in stone.

However, due to a lawsuit filed by a group of Michigan voters over the Republican-endorsed alteration of state voting districts, the filing deadline for congressional elections has been pushed back to June 11.

The lawsuit will be heard May 21, 22, and 23 in the federal district court in Detroit, and a decision is expected by the end of next week. It is possible the court will rule to change the districts.

According to spokesman Brad Whittman, the Michigan Bureau of Elections is taking a wait-and-see approach.

"Right now we have established districts in place, and we've taken a number of filings from candidates who are running in those districts," he said. "However, if the court does modify the district lines to any degree, we will make sure we give the candidates enough notice to deal with the changes. But for now, we've advised candidates to proceed as normal."

County executive

The congressional races notwithstanding, voters in Wayne County will have a lot to think about when they enter the polls Aug 6. And the race for the Democratic nomination for Wayne County executive should be one of the most interesting.

Current Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano and former Detroit Police Chief Benny Napoleon are just two of the candidates with name recognition. Detroit residents Ricardo Solomon, who is currently the chairman of the county commission, and state Sen Joe Young Jr are also vying for the position, as is Bernard Youngblood, the county register of deeds.

The five candidates are vying to replace Ed McNamara, who has led the county since 1987. McNamara, who is not seeking reelection, has yet to endorse a candidate, which leaves the door wide open.

There are also some interesting races for county commissioner.

County commission

In District 9, which encompasses Redford Township, Dearborn Heights and part of Garden City, incumbent Philip Cavanagh is battling five other candidates for the Democratic nomination. State Rep Bob Brown, who must step down because of term limits, and former Redford Township Trustee Mary Haney should make the race competitive.

In District 11, Republicans

Fred Bolden, Kris Schimelpenneg, and Deborah Whyman, all of Canton Township, are seeking the opportunity to face incumbent John Sullivan of Wayne, who is the only Democrat running.

In District 12, which encompasses Westland and part of Garden City, William Steele of Westland is the only Republican on the ticket. He will face long-time incumbent Kay Beard, who is the only Democrat to file, in the November general election.

District 10 incumbent Lyn Bankes of Livonia will run unopposed in both the primary and the general election, as she is the only candidate of either party to file for the seat.

All commission seats are two-year terms.

State House

Among the races for state representative, perhaps the easiest contest will be in the 16th District, where incumbent Jim Plakas of Garden City is the only Democrat running. He will face Republican Eric Homeier of Dearborn Heights in the general election.

In the 17th District, the battle for the Republican nomination should be contentious, with Redford Township Trustee Miles Handy battling former Wayne County Commissioner and Redford resident Kathleen Husk, as well as Jill Parent, also of Redford. For the Democratic nomination, Redford resident Pat McRae is going up against Daniel Paletko of Dearborn Heights.

In the 18th District, old Westland City Council foe Glenn Anderson (the incumbent) and David Cox are vying for the Democratic nomination. The winner of the primary will face either Bhagwan Dashairya or Kip Lipford, Westland residents seeking the Republican nomination. In the 19th District, Livonia residents A Tony Collins and Kerry Lowry are competing for the Democratic nomination, and the opportunity to face John Pastor, of Livonia, who is the only Republican running.

The 20th District race should prove to be a contentious one, with incumbent John Stewart battling Jonathan Grant, both residents of Plymouth, for the Republican nomination. Despite never having held any public office, Grant is politically active and operates the Web site AllPlymouth.com, which he uses to espouse his political opinions and beliefs. Stewart has been a regular target on the Web site.

In the 21st District, which encompasses Canton Township, Canton Trustee Philip LaJoy is attempting to win the Republican nomination, and is up against Canton residents Ruthann Bruce and Herb Scott.

Mark Slavens, a member of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, is seeking the Democratic nomination against Eric LaCruze of Belleville.

State Senate

One of the more interesting state senate races will be in the incumbent-less 7th District, where current state Rep Bruce Patterson of Canton will do battle with Plymouth resident and former state Rep Gerald Law for the Republican nomination.

There is also no incumbent in the 6th District, where current state Rep Laura Toy is battling Thomas O'Connor of Redford and John Dillon of Livonia for the Republican nomination. Former state Rep Eileen DeHart of Westland is seeking the Democratic nomination against Eric Stempfen of Livonia.

The state senate and representative races are all for four-year terms.

Schoolcraft offers scholarships

Almost a quarter of a million dollars in scholarships is available to Schoolcraft College students for the fall and winter 2002-03 terms. The scholarships are awarded through the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

Typical awards for fall and winter terms are $1,000 for full-time students, $750 for three-quarter time students, $500 for half-time students, and $250 for students taking at least three hours.

Criteria for individual scholarships vary, but in general a student should have a 3.0 grade-point average, be able to demonstrate financial need, and furnish copies of high school or college transcripts.

Information and scholarship applications are available in the Office of Financial Aid in the McDowell Building. The Schoolcraft College Foundation alone grants more than 400 scholarships annually, with funds applied to tuition and college fees. The deadline for applying is June 10. For information, call 734-462-4433.

It is a dark, crisp spring night as I lean out the windowsill and onto the rusty, weathered fire escape. Our American flag, attached to the railing with twine and duck tape sways gently on a passing breeze. Our 80-year-old apartment building is in the New York City borough of Queens. We can lean out of our windows onto the fire escape and see the busy New York city skyline. The exquisite profile of the Empire State Building glows in the distance with red white and blue lights as it has since Sept. 11.

The Twin Towers, once in our daily view, would illumine the horizon during certain sunsets that painted the evening sky pink, red and orange. The setting sun reflected off the majestic twins creating a glorious rainbow "color show." Our mild winter was a gift for recovery and clean up crews at Ground Zero.

Local couple balances family life and filmmaking

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
SPECIAL WRITER

Movie making has become a way of life for a local couple with three young boys who don't seem to let Hollywood parties and celebrity awe affect their modest lifestyles.

Todd and Tommy Brunswick live in a Canton townhouse raising their 2, 4 and 6-year-old sons and seem like the average suburban couple until they talk about their jobs, producing, writing and filming horror and psychological thriller movies pushing them into the L.A. spotlight rubbing shoulders with television and movie stars.

Their second film, Lurking Terror, will have its world premiere at 8 p.m. and 10 p.m., Thursday, May 23 in the Maple Art Theatre in Bloomfield Hills. Reminiscent of the old days when double features were the norm, after the 10 p.m. showing the theater will run another Brunswick movie Biker Zombies.

Todd, 32, and Tommy, 31, were thrust into the film making business after Tommy's business selling educational books for Dorling Kindersley Family Learning came to an end. The company was purchased and home sales were eliminated.

Right around the same time, Todd found himself out of work following a vacation from his job as media director at a Livonia family-run business. He planned to take time off to start writing a movie and it turned out his department had been axed.

"That threw us full-time into filmmaking," explained Tommy, short for Thomas. "It was a sink or swim kind of thing."

Before they formed Crossbow 5, the couple came to the job with years of experience working on the commercial end of filmmaking — mostly creating commercials and industry and corporate videos. "We always wanted to make our own movie," explained Todd.

Their first attempt, Biker Zombies, was released April 30 and is available for sale on the Dead Alive Productions label or by going to the Internet site, www.amazon.com.

Todd wrote the film in three days and it took only nine months from conception to the sale of the movie.

More importantly, it marked the beginning of their lifetime goal to be filmmakers.

"Even when we started dating (in June 1994) we said we were going to make a movie," said Tommy adding that they both graduated from Livonia's Churchill High School.

director, 'Lurking Terror'

They now have three films, Biker Zombies, Lurking Terror and Dumping Ground slated for the Cannes Film Market, which runs in conjunction with the Cannes Film Festival. The movies will be made available for distribution worldwide at the market.

Todd and Tommy won't fly to Paris for the event, but their agents are there through May 26.

The Brunswicks have their own special engagement to attend, May 23 with the local release of Lurking Terror, a horrific story about a young woman named Betty (played by Angela Ransdell) who has a multitude of personal troubles, including a slim escape from police after she and her boyfriend held-up a party store.

She tries to hide in a backwater farming community where the townsfolk are prisoners of an evil curse that dates back to 1805. On dark nights, when the fog rises from the forest, a creature known as the Evil appears with an insatiable bloodlust. Over the last 200 years, residents have figured out a gruesome means of satisfying the Evil. The young heroine is forced to battle her captors and escape the Evil.

"Tommy and I grew up with the drive-ins in the late 70s and early 80s and this is an ode to the drive-in movies," explained Todd who wrote the script and directed the filming.

"It is a movie that you go into thinking it's a creature movie and you realize the people are the creatures," he said.

Tommy credits her dad, Dr. Rudy Hatfield, a clinical psychologist, for nurturing her love for movies when she was a child.

"My favorite thing growing up was going to movies," Tommy said. "If my mom was working nights, my dad would take me and my little brother to the drive-in."

Years later, Hatfield is realizing his dream of acting with bit parts in his daughter's movies. He

Landis colors her world with jazz and Brazilian beats

BY CINDI COOK
SPECIAL WRITER

The name Sheila Landis probably rings a bell. That's because Landis is one of the most lauded performers in Michigan. She's won award after award from area organizations, and has played venues from Saugatuck to St. Ignace.

The jazz vocalist has been heard at the Montraux Detroit Jazz Festival, the Michigan Tastefest and the Birmingham Jazz Fest, among many others. Landis is featured on releases in Japan and the UK and has just celebrated the twentieth anniversary of her record label appropriately entitled SheLan Records.

And she has a day job. Landis is also a medical transcriptionist at St. Joseph Mercy in Pontiac, at Woodward Avenue and Square Lake Road (on an extended part-time basis, she adds), a job she has held for 13 years.

It's music that's at the core of Landis' existence though. She and musical partner Rick Matle, their guitarist and producer, are very involved in performing and recording, as well as being fierce Detroiters.

Even a place like New York (which Landis has only visited twice) couldn't pull them away from their home turf. "So hyper you just get tired," as Landis puts it. Landis and Matle prefer doing what they do in their own backyard to anywhere else.

These days, the duo is down to a Latin beat, with Brazilian music taking center stage. The recently issued CD, Colors of Brazil, full of bossa novas and Latin love songs, is a clear winner. Hit play on the stereo and

Musicians reach out

The Musicians Outreach of Michigan (MOM) officially began conducting musical visits to cancer centers, including Karmanos Cancer Institute and the University of Michigan, this month.

The visitation program operates under the sponsorship of the National Bone Marrow Transplant Link, MOM, and the Karmanos and University of Michigan Patient Services.

MOM says that the responses they've received from musicians so far has been very good. They planned to start with 15-20 regional artists and expand from there, having them perform for children as well as adults — an often overlooked plays, Roy, a local in Lurking Terror and a bar bouncer in Biker Zombies

Since the young filmmakers formed Crossbow 5 Entertainment, named for a Canton street the couple lived on and the five members of their family, they swap jobs. One thing they never do together, however, Tommy said, is write. It's not good for their marriage, she said.

"One of the reasons we decided to do this, is that one of us had to stay home with the kids and Todd was jealous," Tommy said. "Now it's pretty even."

They both see the milestones. Take the kids to school and enjoy the times watching them grow.

How do they juggle the demands of making films and the added responsibility of raising three children under six years old? Tommy's answer was quick and to the point. "We just don't ask how. We just do it and our house is not very clean."

Right now their focus is on promoting the release of Lurking Terror and they had to put the sudden and unexpected blockbuster success of Dumping Ground on the back burner.

But, the psychological thriller has gotten a lot of attention

Written by Tommy, the $2 million budget movie will star Michael Madsen, Dennis Hopper, Jeff Goldblum and William Baldwin. Filming is expected to begin this summer.

When Tommy wrote the script it was intended for about $2,000 budget.

They sent the work to Los Angeles for review by their attorney, Peter P. Starson, Jr. who gave it to Michael Madsen who passed it along to a couple of his celebrity friends.

One week later Starson called Todd and Tommy asking who they wanted to star.

Dumping Ground will be their first film where they didn't have to wear all the hats. The budget allowed them to hire professionals for the different roles.

They're learning early on in their careers, that the most important rule of filmmaking is that, "Just when you think you know all the rules, you understand you don't."

"And you realize it's always different," Tommy explained. "You have to be able to roll with the punches no matter what happens."

Karen Nyman, a Fenton resident and executive producer for Lurking Terror, developed investors for the movie and she sensed early on that Tommy and Todd would succeed.

"They're beginning filmmakers, but they're very focused and they understand what it takes to make it in the business," Nyman said. "It's very energizing to work with people like that. It takes a real understanding of what needs to go into the movie, a good sense of people and the ability to overcome obstacles."

The key, she added, is to be able to improvise when something unexpected comes up.

night with our dear friend the wonderful Argentinean guitarist/composer Jorge Morel, who lives in our building Art D'Lu goff, the famous impresario and owner of the world renowned club "The Village Gate," has booked the Ramo & Heidi Duo for various events here and in the U.S. Virgin Islands where we performed a double bill with Morel.

Ramo meets guitarist Bucky Pizzarelli

Bucky played with Benny Goodman for years, and has performed with all the jazz violin greats in the last century including Stephane Grappelli.

Here's what Bucky said about Ramo's jazz violin. "Ramo's the real thing! Stephane Grappelli would have loved him!"

Michele recently finished a new jazz violin recording project with Pizzarelli on guitar and Jerry Bruno (formerly with Frank Sinatra's Orchestra) on bass. The release date for this project is not yet known. Michele is also featured on Pizzarelli's new album, Sonatina. They'll be performing together in June with saxophonist Paquito D'Rivera.

We spent Thanksgiving at the home of the great saxophonist/clarinetist Paquito D'Rivera and his wife Brenda. Paquito defected from Cuba in 1980 and needless to say, it was a beautiful evening of music, and song with these new American citizens from Cuba whose love of and thanks of America was overflowing, especially this particular Thanksgiving year in New York City.

The Blue Note Jazz Club is where we met Michele's guitar idol since his teenage days in Sicily - Brazilian guitarist Baden Powell. Michele played Baden a piece which he had written for him called Talk of the Waves. We also did one of our voice-guitar duets for him. The great Baden Powell invited us to come to Brazil and gave us his personal information to contact him. Sadly, he passed away shortly after our meeting. We are so grateful to have had that time together.

Performing in New York

Our New York performances include - Weill Recital at Carnegie Hall, The Iridium Jazz Club, Ashford and Simpson's "Sugar Bar" Duplex Theater, Nascimento

Brazilian Club, The National Arts Club, Columbia University and a six month engagement at The Grand Ticino in the Village, the Merlot at Rockerfeller Center. We volunteer for "Hearts and Voices" and visit hospitals to perform for AIDS patients.

Michele has performed on jazz violin with Les Paul, and Bucky Pizzarelli at the Iridium Jazz Club, Tony Mottola, soloist and guitarist for Frank Sinatra, Wayne Wright, guitarist for Peggy Lee, Judy Garland and Tony Bennett, Jerry Bruno, bassist with Frank Sinatra, Al Caiola the guitarist of Bonanza theme fame, and for Steve and Edie And, it is here in New York where Michele hooked up with saxophonist James Carter whom he had known in Detroit. He now tours on guitar with Carter's "Chasin'" the Gypsy Band.

Ground Zero

Nino's restaurant located near Ground Zero on Canal street became a resting place 24 hours a day seven days a week for five months beginning Sept. 12. There was free food around the clock for rescue workers and all individuals involved in the recovery efforts at the World Trade Center. It was here where we found the opportunity to become involved in the volunteer efforts. We played regularly at Nino's sharing our music with firemen, Red Cross Workers and volunteers from all over the U.S. It was an honor to be part of this humbling and rewarding experience. We have made friends for life.

We find ourselves veering off into some new horizons. My brother Todd Curtis actor and trumpeter, is currently in L.A. and will be joining us soon here on the East Coast. He is writing and producing a screen play and we collaborating with him, composing the film score for this project.

We've had many adventures. In fact at one of our concerts, we were honored to have the famous rescue dog Bear (first on the scene at The World Trade Center) in the audience. His handler Scott said that Bear loved our music! What more could we ask for? So now all we wonder is there any time to sleep?

instantly the smooth sounds of Landis' voice meld with the air. It doesn't take a trained ear to know that she is good — really good. Landis' range goes up and down and sideways and the delight she takes in her music is ever present. "My mom has been the most influential in formulating my early taste. She had some good records — by Sarah Vaughn, the Getz/Gilberto Collaboration (Stan Getz, an American jazz tenor saxophonist, collaborated with the Brazilian guitarist/composer/vocalist Joao Gilberto) It was Gilberto's then-wife, Astrud Gilberto, who was the singer of Girl From Ipanema, the huge hit from the early 1960s. It was the first instance Landis had heard Brazilian music spiced with American jazz. "I really ended up liking it."

As a lifelong resident of Rochester Hills, (with a little time spent in Royal Oak), Landis sang in vocal class or choir throughout school. "It was my favorite class," she says.

Singing career

She went on to launch SheLan Records in 1981. Oddly enough her early days of vinyl are being revived in Japan Harbor Exports, a company out of Liberty, New York, recently made a request for and sold 4,200 vinyl records there.

Although the duo are working on two other CDs above and beyond Colors of Brazil, Landis says it's nice to focus on this one in particular.

"This is a compilation of different compositions, but all will make you sit up and take notice."

The music could fill up a concert hall, an intimate café, or a living room, such is its comfort level and richness.

There are songs you'll want to listen to again and again. Summertime, based on Summertime and the Livin' is Easy, is easily recognizable, but clearly Landis' own.

"It features a larger group than we usually use in public — a saxophonist, trumpet — about eight people. It's so exciting to hear it, especially with our arranger, Scott Peterson. This is more of an Afro-Cuban arrangement than Gershwin."

Then there are the bossa nova (translated from the Brazilian as "new beat"), intrinsic elements to

A standing concert may also be held on a monthly basis in the main lobby.

A similar program has been successful at New York's Sloan-Kettering Memorial Cancer Center, but is new to Michigan.

Providing comfort and all that that can mean to patients who are very much in need is what MOM hopes to achieve most of all.

The healing power of music, both live and recorded, to the bedsides of cancer patients in southeast Michigan. Their programs may include:

■ Live Performances "Concerts" given by artists who give in-room or waiting area performances for patients undergoing treatment or who are unable to leave their hospital beds.

any collection of Latin music House By the Sea, a cooler than cool bossa nova is an original Matle composition, and at first only an instrumental.

"Later on," reports Landis, "I wrote some lyrics for his melodious song with a winding melody."

Versatile performers

Quite a few of the cuts on the CD are live, performed at the Ford Detroit International Jazz Festival in 2000 as well. Landis and Matle can and do perform as a duo, a trio, or in a larger group, one they've appropriately named Brazilian Love Affair. With six to eight pieces, this group will play for larger engagements such as the Ford Festival.

Pianist Phil Kelly (also a Rochester native) plays an amazing solo. A regular on the piano at Morels on Telegraph Road, in an all-occasion band, Kelly is really one-of-a-kind. The song is based on the samba, and happily lopes along.

Matle is as seasoned a musician as they come. As the guitarist and producer for the duo, he has done it all. The genesis of his career stems from time spent at Oakland University. He admits to having been brought up on classic rock — Santana, Jimi Hendrix — like many a Detroit Rock City youth (he grew up in Bloomfield), but didn't find his passion until at school.

"Without any career plans of any sort, I gravitated toward music there. I was always interested in jazz but didn't really play it until I was there," Matle reports.

Eventually he picked it as his major and received a degree in jazz performance. Seven years later, with much experience and ability under his belt, he was more than ready to expand.

Musical duo

Landis and Matle have worked together for close to ten years.

Nothing, it seems, can put this duo down. In addition to making their own music, Landis and Matle book clients into their studio. Then there is distribution. A few places buy and distribute their CDs nationally, but they are basically on their own. They have a Weblink to their own page on the homepage of HYPERLINK <http://www.art-servemichigan.org/at/members/landis/>

And then there are also the live gigs, where they end up selling a lot of their music.

None of this has gone unnoticed by the public or those in the know. Their awards include "Outstanding Traditional Jazz Group" from the Detroit Music Awards in 1999 and the Spirit of Detroit Award to the Sheila Landis Trio for the 1998 Jazz for Literacy Concert in 2001.

Landis won her fifth "Outstanding Jazz Vocalist" award from the Detroit Music Awards, both Landis and Matle were also nominated for "Outstanding Jazz Composer" and Matle for "Outstanding Jazz Instrumentalist" as well.

Landis and Matle continue to lead the artistic attack on multiple fronts. The duo is awaiting delivery this month of their next CD Riding the Round Pool, which is mostly poetry-based musical improvisations. Landis says it has made for some of their most interesting improvisation.

As if this were not all enough, Landis and Matle have started work on a R&B album and continue "Music and Metaphor" work shops in which they present music programs to the schools.

A recent e-mail brought yet another interesting project into the fold. Musicians Outreach of Michigan (MOM) has contacted Landis and Matle in an effort to bring music to cancer centers, playing for patients and their families. Cancer has touched both Landis' brother and father, so it is a program they wholeheartedly embrace.

Wright design: You can tour this Frank Lloyd Wright home, "Myhaven," in Bloomfield Hills this weekend

Tour Wright home with Paint Creek Center for the Arts

Paint Creek Center for the Arts in Rochester, is sponsoring a tour of a Frank Lloyd Wright-designed home in Bloomfield Hills, 1-4 p.m. Sunday, May 19. Melvyn Maxwell and Sara Smith own the house. Smith first learned about the architecture of Frank Lloyd Wright in 1940 while he was a student at Wayne State University. He and his wife were teachers with a dream to own a Wright home. The Smiths first visited Wright at Taliesin in 1941 to discuss the possibility of him designing a home for them. Their dream came true in 1950 when the home that they called "Myhaven" was completed. The Smiths and Wright developed a deep friendship during the years of planning and construction. When Wright was in Detroit he visited his friends and referred to their home as "My Little Gem." Ticket prices are $35 for art center members and $45 for non-members. Call (248) 651-4110 to reserve a ticket with a credit card. Tour includes refreshments, appetizers and valet parking. Space is limited.

Sholem Aleichem Institute features Yiddish play excerpts

Bernard Mendelovich, a singer and actor from London, England, will present a one-man performance with excerpts from Yiddish plays and literature, at 3 p.m., Sunday, at the Birmingham Temple, 28611 West 12 Mile, Farmington Hills. The Sholem Aleichem Institute is sponsoring the program. Mendelovich was not born into a theatrical family, but with his background — a Yiddish home where love of the language was foremost — it wasn't long before he found his way into Yiddish theater. After finishing military service, he moved to London and joined the Grand Palais Company, where he appeared with many legendary stars of Yiddish theater, including Leo Fuch,

Bernard Mendelovich

Berta Gwersten, Benzon Witler, Shifreh Lerer, Pesach'ke

Burstein and Lillian Lux. He has been a regular performer and lecturer at the Oxford Annual Yiddish Course. His work as a solo artist started in 1995 in Brussels and his first U.S. engagement followed soon afterwards in Miami Beach. At the Birmingham Temple, he will present a light-hearted program with a few Sholem Aleichem stories. Most material will appeal to everyone, with humor and sing alongs. There is no admission charge, but a donation to the organization will help continue its programming. For more information call Sholem Aleichem Institute at (248) 423-4406 or program chairman, Bette Schem, at (248) 932-8320.

Memorial jam session honors trombonist Sanders

BY KEELY KALESKI WYGONIK
kwygonik@oe.homecomm.net

Matt Michaels and other musicians will be "jamming" on Sunday, May 19 to honor the memory of Stewart Sanders, a well-known trombonist who died on April 5. Doors open 2 p.m., at the Monaghan Council of the Knights of Columbus on Farmington Road between Seven and Eight Mile roads in Livonia. The program will start at 3 p.m. Light refreshments will be offered for sale, with a cash bar. All musicians are invited. Proceeds will benefit musical education programs in metro Detroit and Windsor. Musicians can contact Matt Michaels at Wayne State University, (313) 577-2532, Gordon Stamp at the Detroit Federation of Musicians, (519) 254-2915, Bobby Brew, (519) 944-9985, or Bill Knowles (248) 476-2674. Sanders lived in Livonia for over 50 years was known throughout metro Detroit and Windsor for trombone excellence. "It's the proper way — to honor a musician with music," said Knowles, a Farmington resident and director of the Windsor Detroit Jazz Club. "A lot of musicians who knew him and worked him will be there. He was one of the very best trombonists in metro Detroit and Canada. He could play a wide range of music, everything from Dixieland to jazz and bebop." Sanders was primarily a jazz trombonist. He taught music, was an accomplished musical arranger, and played with Neil Hefti's band during the Swing era. "Stu was the best," said Knowles. "I met him 15 years ago. He played every Saturday at Lee's Imperial Tavern in Windsor. Chinese food and Dixieland and there was standing room only. He had a unique style of playing. He could throw in licks that would make you smile. He was a wonderful guy. We went to the same high school in Windsor." The son of English immigrants, Sanders was born in Windsor in 1920. His mother, Emma, was a concert pianist who began teaching her son how to play the piano when he was 3. Sanders was a quick study and quickly learned how to play several instruments. Sanders is survived by his wife Jo, son, Lee and his wife Pat, and grandkids Bret, Stephanie and Ryan, four great grandchildren, and sister Gwen Rock.

No 'trouble' at all with Sweeney

Joey Sweeney wants to make a request. He humbly suggests you Play Karen & Others.

Actually, the Philadelphia-based singer-songwriter named his band's latest mini-album exactly that. And guess what, the first of its seven shimmering pop songs on is the oh-so-appropriately titled Karen. This engaging and shy declaration of a hopeful crush asks "Could anyone up in here detect love?" The Trouble With Sweeney certainly doesn't mince words. But they'll entice you with picturesque, endearing lyrics. They'll dare you not to bob your head and tap your feet in contemplation to this taste of folk-inspired jangle pop. Sweeney, also a writer for Philadelphia Weekly and Salon.com, is again joined by fellow musicians Heyward Hawkins, Joey Mangan, Erik Schmidt and Erica J. Pennella. Each song shows its own stripes. On Most of the Time, Joey Sweeney's breathy vocals drift atop drumbeats that fall like a rainstorm on a tin rooftop and a mix of guitars mingle nearby. The ethereal Waiting for Gary is complemented by quotes read from

The Trouble With Sweeney

The Life and Work of Andre Gide, read in French by Kathleen Carroll. And the CD wraps with a multi-voice whispering version of Paul Simon's The Only Living Boy in New York, which originally appeared on the 1970 Simon & Garfunkel classic Bridge Over Troubled Water. Play Karen & Others is set for release on Basement Life Records in June. But you're lucky. You can see The Trouble With Sweeney at Detroit's Lager House Monday, May 20. Go ahead and give them a hug — it sounds like they deserve it. The Lager House is located at 1254 Michigan Ave. in Detroit. Call (313) 961-4668 for details. — By Stephanie A. Casola

Bacco sets new style for an Italian restaurant

BY ELEANOR HEALD
SPECIAL WRITER

Did metro Detroit need another Italian restaurant? If that question references the new Bacco Ristorante in Southfield, that opened at the end of March the answer is an unequivocal yes. Bacco is unlike all the others.

Chef-proprietor Luciano Del Signore of Fonte d'Amore in Livonia and his wife Monica have taken the concept of modern Italian to new heights in the complete remodeling of the former Ristorante di Modesta. With the aid of personal friend and private designer Carmine Martone, they've created a Manhattan-style, contemporary atmosphere with clean lines and understated elegance.

Warm cherry wood, stainless steel accents, custom designs and paintings from Park West Gallery in Southfield form backdrops for the visual focal point, colorful murals painted by Barney Judge of Ann Arbor. Attention to the smallest details make Bacco unique among its Italian restaurant peers. The mood set is perfect from the decor and fresh flowers to the contemporary Italian music. No Frank Sinatra, no strolling musicians, no operatic arias, and no traditional Italian melodies. Bacco is about the unexpected and it's delightful.

It's our personal interpretation of Bacco, the god of wine," Luciano said. "I'm passionate about Italian culture, food and wine. I consider la dolce vita as a balance of work, play, food and family. Italian lifestyle and regional cuisine is all about simplicity and the use of a few flavorful ingredients."

Complete package

Atmosphere and food do not create an outstanding restaurant. Human factors are essential. Luciano in the kitchen, Monica greeting and seating diners. Then at Bacco, there's Milanese native maitre d' Mar-

Open: Lunch, 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Monday-Friday, Dinner, 5:30-10 p.m. Monday-Thursday and until 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday

Cost: A la carte menu with lunch $9-17 and dinner $20-32. All main courses include appropriate potato and vegetable plate garnishes.

cello Guaffrida who brings Italian five star polish to each table. His European restaurant education is unmistakable and shows in the Bacco waitstaff whom he has trained. Dressed in tuxedo shirts, black vests, and bow ties with long white aprons, the waitstaff adds just the right note of tradition.

In addition to being the most stylishly dressed maitre d' in the area, his knowledge of Italian wines is amazing. If you're not familiar with the extensive Italian wine list (predicted to grow even larger with time), allow Marcello to pair the wine appropriately to your menu choices. You won't be disappointed.

At Fonte d'Amore in Livonia, Luciano concentrates on foods from his family's roots in the Abruzzo region of Italy. With Bacco said Monica, we're using the foods of many regions of Italy on the menu. Luciano renews his chef's skills continually and comes up with new ideas from our annual trips to Italy.

Bacco's lunch menu contains a number of the same items as the dinner menu but has more salads and three panini. At dinner, two cold antipasti, Caprese from the Campania region (imported buffalo mozzarella and red tomatoes with extra virgin olive oil, fresh basil and sea salt) and Carpaccio di Melanzane alla Brace from Abruzzo (grilled eggplant topped with caramelized onions, capra cheese and aged balsamic vinegar) are standouts.

Among warm antipasti, try Capesante Dorate al Profumo di Tartufo (pan roasted diver scallops with porcini mushroom cream sauce), a specialty from Sardegna. Zuppa di Cozze all'Arabiata from the region of Puglia is the classic preparation of mussels, sauteed with garlic, olive oil, chili peppers and tomatoes. Strozzapreti Norcina is an outstanding pasta with Palmiro sauce, Italian sausage, black truffles and wine. Spaghetti allo Scoglio from Puglia features scampi, shrimp, mussels, clams and scallops with fresh tomatoes, white wine and garlic. Try it with 1999 Don Luigi di Mayo Norante, a wine from the region of Molise. From Italy's Piedmont, Cavatelli ai Porcini is a fabulous mix of fresh porcini and wild mushrooms in a white wine cream sauce.

It's outstanding with the buttery, rich 1998 Antinori Cervaro della Sala Chardonnay.

Hands down favorite among Secondi Piatti (principal plates) is a Sicilian specialty Misto di Pesce alla Griglia. Marinated and grilled giant scampi, shrimp, calamari, diver scallops and salmon are served atop sauteed spinach. Try this with 1999 Les Neris, a sauvignon blanc from Friuli.

Other top choices are Pollo al Rosmarino (pan roasted Amish chicken breast), Costoletta di Vitello alla Brace (prime veal chop) and Scaloppine al Limone, a specialty of Lombardy. Portions are reasonably sized or can be shared, leaving the possibility open for dessert.

Clean decks to restore their beauty

Wooden decks in poor condition reduce the value of a house and are just plain unattractive. Many conditions contribute to this deterioration. Proper cleaning will maintain and restore their beauty and value.

There are many opinions as to the best way to clean wood. Here are a few of the more popular ways.

Most of the commercial deck cleaning products work pretty well. They are convenient and readily available but can be somewhat expensive for large areas. Use these as directed.

■ Probably the most popular chemical is good old-fashioned chlorine bleach. About one cup of bleach to every gallon of water is a good starting point for this cleaner.

Probably the most popular chemical is good old-fashioned chlorine bleach. It's good for removing mildew, fungi, and algae and is a reasonably good cleaner when mixed with other cleaning agents. About one cup of bleach to every gallon of water is a good starting point for this cleaner. Add more if necessary.

On the down side, sodium hypochlorite (bleach) is used in the production of paper. It breaks down lignin, which is the natural component that holds wood fiber together. DO NOT mix bleach with any cleaning product containing ammonia.

Trisodium phosphate or TSP substitutes chemically attack dirt. These can be found at hardware stores and in paint departments of home improvement stores. I prefer the substitutes because the phosphate in TSP supplies nutrients for algae in our lakes and streams. Avoid letting this product enter storm sewers. TSP can darken cedar and redwood. Wear protective gloves and eye protection when using TSP.

Oxygen based bleach products such as Oxi Clean are environmental friendly and a great brightener and cleaner. I'm not usually one to use "as seen on TV" products as Oxi Clean. But this one really does work and can be found locally.

Use oxalic acid for removing rust stains.

Before starting, remove items from the deck. Sweep or blow away dirt and leaves including debris from between the deck boards. Cover, or better yet, turn any electric outlets off at the electric panel. Water mixed with electricity can cause injury or death! Hose down plants and shrubs.

Soak the wood surface. This helps keep the chemical near the surface and reduces evaporation. Apply the solution with a garden sprayer. Allow the solution to work for 10 to 20 minutes. Covering the surface with plastic will help reduce evaporation in very hot, dry conditions.

Use a stiff brush on stubborn areas. Rinse with a garden hose or a pressure washer. Use only enough pressure to get the job done. Too much can damage the wood. Pressure washers can cause severe injury. Follow safety precautions and wear eye protection. Dilute the over-spray from plants and shrubs with fresh water.

Allow about 48 hours for the wood to dry before applying sealer.

There are many fine sealers on the market. I like Penofin. It soaks deeply into the surface, dries with a flexible finish and comes in a variety of colors. See <http://www.nuforest.com/Penofin/penofin.htm>.

Designer Stoddard talks about creating happy spaces

Your haven: Above, Personal effects and art depicting favorite scenes and objects bring warmth and intimacy to the home. Top photo, Don't be afraid to use white fabric in the home and just let the dirt show, said Alexandra Stoddard, showing this example of a crisp, white bedroom.

A new coat of paint, a couple of throw pillows, a potted plant - interior design never sounds particularly deep.

But it does have its more profound points. Namely, design choices can affect how people feel in a particular space and transform their mood and general sense of well-being.

For nationally renowned interior designer Alexandra Stoddard, who recently spoke to an audience of 260 at the Michigan Design Center in Troy, that concept is a recipe for happiness.

Author of the newly released book Choosing Happiness: Keys to a Joyful Life and host of the Home and Garden Television network's Homes Across America, Stoddard spoke about her book and how to create "happy rooms," showing slides of her design work as examples.

"Our home is our haven. It's our safe place. It's so important that it reflect our spirit," said Stoddard. "As an interior designer, I have found a lot of people who are homeless in their own houses."

Back to the basics

While Stoddard offered plenty of unique tidbits about interior design, she emphasized many basic design concepts.

For instance, take advantage of natural light with windows, window treatments and mirrors strategically placed to capture light. "No space is too miserable or ugly for you."

Got grass? Mow high!

Make your lawn easier and cheaper to maintain by mowing high—three inches is the rule!

The roots of your lawn grow as deep as the grass grows tall, so taller grass has deeper, healthier roots. Keep your lawn 3" or higher and never cut off more than 1/3 of the blade each time you mow. A healthy lawn tolerates hot, dry weather better—so you won't need to spend your summer watering and fertilizing.

Grab dust with a plan, micro fiber tools

Q: How do I get rid of dust and how often do I need to dust?

A: It will be a continual challenge, but not an impossible task to rid your house of dust. Everything in your house either attracts dust or causes dust. You need to schedule a consistent dusting time and use the right tools to conquer those dust bunnies. Plan to dust once a week. Some areas will need dusting every week and you will be able to quickly identify these areas, which include the top of furniture. Other areas such as baseboards, under furniture, ceiling fans, vents, and high shelves can be dusted monthly or several times a year. You will need a written or mental plan to remember what you need to dust. Dust can accumulate anywhere including in your carpet. Look at the carpet area next to the baseboard. This area will accumulate dust bunnies if you do not use a narrow attachment on your vacuum cleaner to suction the dust. You need to grab the dust before it settles on your furniture. There are many places in your house that are dust culprits. You need to attack these areas first before the dust spreads throughout your house. Make sure you regularly clean the following: Dryer lint screen, window screens, window ledges, the furnace filter, return air vents, and heating/cooling vents. Check for any openings along your dryer vent where lint could escape. Change your vacuum bag regularly before it is completely full. Some furniture shows more dust than others, such as dark furniture and glass tops. You will need to dust these more often than the lighter wood tops. Items such as Knickknacks, pleated lamp shades, frames, silk plants are dust collectors and will require more time dusting. Minimize the number of items you have displayed on furniture so you can dust quickly. Use decorative dresser scarves on some furniture and you will not need to dust as often. You need the right tools to conquer dust bunnies. You can avoid chemicals and grab dust by using a micro fiber cloth of lambswool. Extended lambswool dusters reach high areas like ceiling fans, return air vents, and ceilings. A micro fiber floor duster works well at grabbing dirt and dust on wood floors, linoleum, and ceramic tile. You need to dust the following items in each room: Furniture (include front back and sides), Bed frame, Blinds or shades, Curtains, Lamps, Decorative items, Baseboards, Doors, Window ledges, Walls and ceilings, especially the corners, where dust collects faster, Ceiling fans, Light switches and outlets, Books on bookshelves, Electronics, such as the television and computer. Today's Refrigerator Bulletin: "Dust Bunnies be gone!" to make it beautiful and happy," she said, showing a slide of a tiny bathroom where floral window treatments over a sink distract the eye from the mundane and direct it to the outdoors. Mirrors elsewhere in the bathroom work to draw in extra light and enlarge the space. "The use of mirrors makes so much of a difference in a small space," she said. Stoddard later showed a kitchen where mirror panels on refrigerator doors draw in light from the other side of the room, demonstrating that the reflective material often works well in less obvious places. Color your mood Of course Stoddard also emphasized the effect of color on mood. Shades of blue, for instance, bring solace and comfort, she said. "Blue is good for bedrooms. It's very soothing, calming and restorative." But don't fear working with less pragmatic shades, including white, she said. "I love a white background. Let your fabrics show the dirt. Don't be practical." How about pink in the kitchen? In a slide showing singer and dancer Sandy Duncan's New York penthouse kitchen, soft watermelon walls brighten up the eating space. In addition to the importance of color in interior design, Stoddard urged listeners to incorporate their favorite objects and personal effects into living spaces. "It makes a huge difference," she said, showing several examples of her own rooms, including a closet chock-full of beautiful wrapping paper and spools of colorful ribbons. "An inanimate object becomes animate when we love it," Stoddard quoted her mentor Eleanor McMillen Brown of the design firm McMillen Inc in New York. "We will never be alone or lonely, when we have a space we have created of and for ourselves."

Here comes the sun

"Little darlin,' it's been a long, cold, lonely winter Little darlin,' it seems like years since it's been here "

With Memorial Day weekend just around the corner, I can't help but think of these lyrics from the Beatles classic Here Comes the Sun written by the late George Harrison. Next weekend marks the unofficial start of summer and I, for one, am more than ready for the sights, sounds, smells and mostly the feel of summer.

When I was little, the long, lazy days of summer seemed to stretch on forever. Now I can't believe how incredibly short this wonderful season really is. Summer will be here and gone before you know it, so let's count our blessings.

■ When I was little, the long, lazy days of summer seemed to stretch on forever. Now I can't believe how incredibly short this wonderful season really is. Summer will be here and gone before you know it, so let's count our blessings.

Here is just a short list of why summer is my favorite time of year

- Sun
- Walking barefoot through the grass
- Riding a bike
- Listening to live music at Kellogg Park
- Tasting sweet strawberries and tart lemonade
- Running through the sprinkler wearing shorts and a t-shirt
- Getting my hands in the dirt
- Admiring nature's bright palette of summer annuals and perennials
- The smell of steaks sizzling on the grill
- The smell of fresh-cut grass
- Watching my kids trying to catch fireflies in our front yard just before the sun goes down
- Driving with the windows down
- Sleeping with the windows open
- Sun
- Swimming
- Walking along a beach
- Skipping stones
- The beauty and majesty of northern Michigan
- The magic of Mackinac Island
- Gazing at the grandeur of a starlit night
- Chalk drawings on the sidewalk
- Eating ice cream at the Dairy Go Round
- Roasting marshmallows
- Cuddling by a campfire
- Watching a golf ball soar like a bird down the fairway
- The cracking sound of a bat striking a ball
- The rush from smacking a tennis ball over the net
- Chatting with and smiling at the neighbors
- The joyous sound of children's laughter
- Marching bands, briefcase brigades and enchanting parade floats
- Fireworks
- Not having to put on boots, hats and bulky winter coats
- Not having to think about things like wind chill factors, ice storms and school closings
- Sun

So lather on that sun screen, fire up the grill and get outside and enjoy it while you can. Our lovely summer days may be numbered, but you can bet they will be savored.

A sobering look at teen drinking

BY STACY JENKINS
sjenkins@oe.homecomm.net

Editor's note: Eight high school students recently shared their thoughts and observations about teen drinking. They candidly talked about the allure, the popularity and the consequences of drinking alcohol, as they've witnessed it. The forum was moderated by Patrice Flax, the Alcohol and Other Drugs Campus Initiatives Coordinator at the University of Michigan.

The halls on Monday mornings at area high schools are often buzzing with gossip about who did what at the parties over the weekend. Local high school students say it's not gossip, it's the truth — drinking is commonplace among their peers.

"It's very common," said Julie Patterson, a senior from Plymouth Salem High School. "It's ridiculous, you come back on a Monday and you hear, 'Oh, I went to this party and everyone was so smashed.'"

And the story doesn't end there. The teens who shared their thoughts on alcohol during a recent forum hosted by The Observer Newspapers said their classmates seldom remember what they did while drinking at a weekend party.

"I think it goes too far when you get to school and you hear rumors about people then, you talk to them and they're like, 'Well, it could've happened. I don't remember,'" said Patterson.

There's nothing funny about excessive drinking, according to the students.

"Alcohol, it makes you stupid," said Charlie Pepper, a student at Farmington High School. "You can go out driving and kill yourself, or kill other people. It's so easy to screw up."

Watching drunken behavior and seeing the consequences of drinking alcohol has steered some teenagers away from it.

"I don't drink because I like to know what I've done," said Kate Keim, a student at Plymouth Salem High School. "I've had times when I look back and think, 'What was I thinking?' You just don't use your brain."

Weekend parties

Whether it's a small gathering in the basement of a friend's house, even if the parents are home, or it's a crowded, rowdy party at some unsuspecting, vacationing parents' house, the scene is pretty much the same week after week.

"The sad thing about it is that people do it every weekend," said Patrice Wade, a student at Farmington High School. "A lot of people do it who you wouldn't even think do it."

For students who choose not to drink alcohol, attending parties is an interesting experience.

"I know some people who are convinced they can't have a good time without alcohol," said Patterson. "It's different for us, because you step back and look at that party scene from an outsider's point of view. You realize... look what's going on, why is that fun? What's so cool about that? They can't see that from the inside. They don't see what we're seeing and it's a whole different world."

Hanging out with friends, taking long drives in the car, going to the movies or going bowling are things the teens said they enjoy.

"We don't need alcohol to have fun, there's a lot of better things to do," said Pepper, who admits his outgoing personality has caused people to think he's been drinking.

Jessica Nance, a student at John Glenn High School, said her personality allows her to be herself, without alcohol.

"I have a pretty outgoing attitude," she said. "I'm always laughing and stuff all the time. Everybody is like, 'Whatever you're on, I want to be on it, too.'"

Angela Tablac, a student at Plymouth Canton High School, said the general acceptance of drinking by most teenagers is disturbing.

"I think it's become almost like a bragging thing for some people, where they come to school and it's all about what party they went to, how drunk they got, who they were with and all that stuff," said Tablac. "It's kind of sad that teenagers accept that and allow that to happen and don't step in and say something's wrong."

For Garden City High School student Chuck Nance, alcohol has come between him and his friends.

Familiar Behavior

Drinking during teens sets pattern for adulthood

BY STACY JENKINS
STAFF WRITER
sjenkins@oe.homecomm.net

Social habits that revolve around drinking during the high school years will likely carry on to college.

Patrice Flax, a professional social worker who coordinates the University of Michigan Alcohol and Other Drugs Campus Initiatives program on the Ann Arbor campus said regular and excessive drinking in high school sets a pattern for the college years.

"Students who drink heavily in high school tend to go into the Greek (fraternity and sorority) system," she said. "It has to do with familiar behavior. They learned at a young age how to handle anxiety... it's a very difficult behavior to change."

A survey of 2,824 U-M students, including 2,041 undergraduates, conducted by the U-M Substance Abuse Research Center, shows 45 percent of undergraduates, most of whom are under 21 years of age, binge drink. That's on par with the national average of 43 percent, according to a 1997 Harvard study.

Of those students surveyed, 72 percent said they increased their drinking once they arrived on campus. Eighty-three percent of the students considered themselves to be light to moderate drinkers and 4 percent said they were heavy drinkers. Forty-five percent admitted they had at least one binge drinking episode in the past two weeks, when surveyed via the Internet in 1999.

Flax said the goal isn't to eliminate campus

Livonia church, pastor celebrate anniversaries this weekend

BY CAROL MARSHALL
SPECIAL WRITER

Like many churches Livonia's Memorial Church of Christ had humble beginnings. Sixty years ago, a handful of Christians gathered in a home in Detroit for a church service and Bible school. Six locations and 1,000 members later, the congregation meets and celebrates at its building on Five Mile, and for the last 30 years, has been led by the same minister, Mark McGilvrey.

The congregation will honor Mark and Jeannie McGilvrey at a banquet at noon, May 19 at Burton Manor.

"The congregation has been so good to us," said McGilvrey, who came to southeast Michigan from Cincinnati with his bride, Jeannie. "When we came here, most of the church's leaders were about the same age as my parents. And they treated us like we were their own children."

The McGilvreys have raised their two sons, Ryan, 23, and Rob, 20, while serving the church, which has become like family, according to Mark McGilvrey.

The church has also grown, along with the McGilvrey family. When McGilvrey came to the church in 1972, it had 500 members, and had just moved into its then new location on Five Mile. Since then, the congregation has doubled, as has the size of the building.

The church has expanded and has purchased neighboring plots of land to accommodate growth and additional parking.

McGilvrey was fortunate to land the job right out of seminary, who was hired by the church as a youth minister. Only months after he arrived, the senior minister left the church, and McGilvrey filled in as interim minister, before the church directors hired him to lead on a permanent basis.

"I felt like they gave me a chance. I was only 23 when I became senior minister and that's kind of unusual," he said, and added with a chuckle, "I really think they just got tired of looking for another minister."

Just as unusual is a minister who stays with the same congregation for three decades.

"Most move on to another church after fewer than 10 years. I would say it's not uncommon for a minister to stay only three, or four or five years," McGilvrey said. "I didn't leave because I feel like they took a risk on me and I should stay to repay them."

Like family, the congregation has shown their appreciation and affection for the McGilvreys in some unconventional ways.

One of the Bible School Classes took the McGilvreys on a trip to Hawaii, and the church members sent them on a cruise to the Holy Land, and a trip to Eastern Europe after the fall of the Iron Curtain.

On McGilvrey's 15th anniversary of coming to the church, the congregation surprised him and brought his parents to Livonia.

"I have a sense of family here and a sense of calling. I've felt this is where God wants me to be," McGilvrey said.

"When all your friends are doing it every weekend, it just kind of upsets you, really," said Nance. "When you just want to do something else and they just want to continue doing this. So, you try to find other (friends) to hang with instead. It's bad because you're losing your friendships."

Peer pressure

Peer pressure, more so between guys than girls, is a big factor, said the students. "It's kind of something they do to prove themselves to other guys," said Marcella Coats, a student at John Glenn High School. Parents also play a major role in the decision, said the teens. "I would be scared to death if my parents found out," said Wade. "They wouldn't trust me and I wouldn't be allowed to do anything. By instilling those values in me and placing that trust upon my shoulders, it has kind of made me not want to mess around with that kind of thing."

Jessica Nance, John Glenn High School, Westland.

Peer pressure, more so between guys than girls, is a big factor, said the students.

It's a matter of respect, said Tablac. "My dad has a huge influence on me and I wouldn't want to do anything that would disappoint him or dishonor my family," she said. "Also, I have a little sister and I want to be role model for her."

drinking altogether, but to educate students about healthy, social alternatives to frat parties and such.

The first six weeks of college are the most volatile time for students, she noted. Anxiety, new-found freedom and the cultural expectation that college is a place for heavy partying play into it.

"There's a high-risk period of time and what you want to do is get them through this time safely," Flax said. "There's a lot of risks associated with it. Our focus is on reduction. We want to help them make healthy choices and reduce the risks."

Making teens aware

Education should begin during the middle school years, said a group of high school students who recently participated in a teen alcohol forum hosted by The Observer Newspapers and moderated by Flax.

The alcohol and drug awareness and prevention programs introduced in elementary school are good, they said, but more needs to be done as students prepare to enter high school.

"I think DARE is a very good program, but my problem with it is that they're targeting too young of an age group," said Angela Tablac, a student at Plymouth Canton High School. "I think they should target 7th, 8th and 9th graders because that's when you really start getting into the peer groups and start wanting to be a part of something."

Health classes in high school, which cover topics such as alcohol and drug use, are "a little too late," she added, because students in 11th and 12th grade are "already a part of these activities."

Jessica Nance, a student at John Glenn High School, agreed. She said second and third grade kids really don't understand the issue.

Continual reminders on the dangers of drinking should be a priority for high schools, said Tablac. Compelling stories from young people who have been negatively affected by alcohol can impact teenagers' decisions.

"Aside from having people talk about drug abuse (prevention), we also need (students) who say, 'I'm against alcohol and drug abuse because of this, because of these influences in my life.' We need both ends of the spectrum to come together and say this is why it's bad," said Tablac.

On the college campus, Flax said the first challenge is to make people realize that excessive drinking is a problem. She said the social expectations and cultural mindset that it's OK to drink in college makes prevention and awareness difficult.

"It makes it challenging to really get a consensus that it's a problem," she said. "We need to work with the students to change that culture."

Want the truth about generic drugs?

Generic drugs are proven safe and effective.

Grand Value Pharmacy

Grand Value pharmacist Kevin White agrees. "Generics have to meet certain FDA standards and meet certain chemical equivalency requirements to show they are exactly the same."

Rite Aid Pharmacy

Rite Aid pharmacist Sara Fakhoury agrees. "The FDA approves the medicine after it's tested. When it comes to my shelves, it's tested. It's a 100% proof that I can give it to my customers."

Ask your local pharmacist about generics.

According to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's Center for Drug Evaluation and Research

"Health professionals and consumers can be assured that FDA approved generic drugs have met the same rigid standards as the innovator (brand-name) drug. To gain FDA approval, a generic must:

- contain the same active ingredients as the innovator (brand-name) drug (inactive ingredients may vary)
- be identical in strength, dosage form and route of administration
- have the same use indications
- be bioequivalent
- meet the same batch requirements for identity, strength, purity, and quality
- be manufactured under the same strict standards of FDA's good manufacturing practice regulations required for innovator (brand-name) products."

Pride and Humility

The dictionary defines pride as proper and justified self respect and a proper sense of personal dignity and worth Everyone should take pride in their work, their family, their country and heritag it is also good to take pride in things such as our personal appearance When we take pride in all of the good things that our Lord has given us, we tend to take better care of them However, v must be careful to have pride and self respect without arrogance or superiority Children who are proud of their parents and respect them will try to be better children and do what is pleasing their parents As adults, we should always try to do what is pleasing in God's eyes The Bible tells us that God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the humble (James 4:6) We should try to temp our pride with humility and not have an exaggerated opinion of our selves The best way to be the best we can be People who exalt themselves are usually esteemed less by others and those w humble themselves are often more admired

...do not think of yourself more highly than you ought, but rather think of yourself with sober judgment.
N.I.V. Romans 12:13

Commitment

Livonia resident becomes associate sister

Roberta L. Treppa, Livonia, celebrated her commitment as an Associate with the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary (IHM) last month

Roberta L. Treppa

Treppa, who has been affiliated with the IHM community for several years, held her covenant ceremony in the chapel of St. Mary's Center in Monroe The bell choir from St. Kenneth Parish in Plymouth, her home parish, participated in the ceremony

She prepared for her Associate commitment by spending many months of reflection on areas of spirituality including ministry, community and prayer, by regularly meeting with a vowed IHM companion, and by attending a series of orientation sessions with others in the process of joining the community

Treppa, 34, is actively involved at St. Kenneth, where she volunteers in many capacities, including the worship commission, Stephens Ministry, serving as a lector, Eucharistic minister and working on art and environment As an IHM Associate, Treppa joins with more than 100 other women and men in the Monroe IHM Associates Program, which was initiated in 1978

The IHMs express their mission through their ministries, including the traditional ministry of education as well as pastoral care, justice advocacy, spiritual and psychological counseling, sustainable living and direct service to the poor in the United States and developing nations Through these ministries, they develop structures that promote peace and justice and bring unity to people worldwide

Mothers of 43 U.S. presidents were all committed Christians

BY RICHARD N. OSTLING
AP RELIGION WRITER

They form an exclusive sorority with 43 members. Mothers of the U.S. presidents. Some were impoverished and some rich, some unlettered and some college graduates.

But most shared one trait: Mild to fervent commitment to the Christian religion, often buttressed by daily Bible reading and weekly worship.

Harold I. Gullian tells what we know about the beliefs of the 43 in the popular history Faith of Our Mothers: The Stories of Presidential Mothers from Mary Washington to Barbara Bush (Eerdmans).

Because the record is sometimes thin, Gullian fills out the proceedings with other biographical material, including another trait most of these mothers shared: Unshakable faith in their sons' destinies.

Gullian doesn't come out and say so, but several recent presidents surpassed their mothers in religious zeal, three Bible Believers in particular.

Methodist George W. Bush, who experienced a midlife recommitment to Jesus Christ, expresses more fervor than mother Barbara, an Episcopalian.

Bill Clinton has been a committed Baptist since turning up at a local church at age 10 and informing the preacher he'd be coming to worship regularly, with or without mother Virginia Dell Cassidy Blythe Clinton Dwire Kelley (she was married four times).

Jimmy Carter added "born again" to the political lexicon and has taught Bible classes for decades, while mother "Miss Lillian" seemed a less robust style of Baptist.

Then we have the reverse, mothers whose degree of piety was not passed along with their genes.

These included the only Roman Catholic among the 43, Rose Kennedy. Her 104 years were a regimen of devotionals and Masses (often daily). Mrs. Kennedy was so old-school that she refused to attend the funeral of daughter Kathleen, who had married a Protestant divorcee. By Gullian's account, Catholicism gave Mrs. Kennedy a refuge from her husband's flagrant philandering. But she was able to pass on the faith "to her children only in part."

A Protestant version of the piety gap is seen in Warren G. Harding and mother Phoebe. The mother's "second home" was the Methodist church, Gullian recounts, and she became even more devout as a convert to Seventh-day Adventism.

Son Warren affiliated with the Baptists but displayed little piety and died in moral disgrace in the White House. Upon his mother's death in 1910 he

■ The enigmatic Abraham Lincoln revered his stepmother Sarah (in the book along with Lincoln's birth mother), who could not read but imparted a love of learning and of the Bible. remarked that he could not say this for himself "but dear, dear Mother will wear a crown" of God in eternity.

The enigmatic Abraham Lincoln revered his stepmother Sarah (in the book along with Lincoln's birth mother), who could not read but imparted a love of learning and of the Bible. Yet Lincoln stayed at home when his parents worshiped with the Baptists and he's the only president who never joined a church.

Two of the mothers failed to pass on the most distinctive tenet of their creed.

Hannah Nixon and her husband raised son Richard M. as a Quaker. There was the western evangelical type, quite distinct from the quiet version of the Northeast, but both branches forbade the bearing of arms. Yet Richard fought in World War II and became commander in chief.

So did Dwight D. Eisenhower, whose father and mother Ida were devout followers of a "peace church," the Brethren in Christ (aka "River Brethren"). When Ike was an adult, the elder Eisenhowers converted to the Jehovah's Witnesses, who oppose participation not only in the military but voting or anything else to do with what they see as the wicked worldly system.

Many of the 43 were related to preachers. The most distinguished example was the husband of Woodrow Wilson's mother Janet ("Jessie"), who became a professor at Columbia Theological Seminary and the chief officer of what became the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

Wilson, who wrote in his diary that he "professed Christ's name" at 17, married a fellow preacher's kid.

We know little about the mothers of some early 19th-century presidents. But the way things are going, Gullian remarks, "in the 21st, we will likely know too much about everyone."

For more about the last 11 presidential mothers see the book First Mothers (Morrow, 2000) by Bonnie Angelo.

A Wolverine hit

Volpe's bat carries Michigan to NCAA Regionals

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjriskak@oe.homecomm.net

Stefanie Volpe was on her way into a different ballpark when the question was put to her Has the season been a surprise to you?

One word could have summarized her reply — unexpected. But while that answer was meant to describe the surprising season the University of Michigan softball team has enjoyed, it could have encompassed much more.

It could have included Volpe's season. Indeed, her entire career.

The former Plymouth Salem standout has become one of the best players ever to play for the Wolverines. When she batted .345 as a freshman in 1999, driving in 43 runs (and tying the Big Ten record for RBI with 33), she surprised people.

"Actually, whoever we recruit, we don't know what to expect," said U-M coach Carol Hutchins. "But honestly, Stefanie Volpe was not someone we expected to come in and make an immediate impact."

"She really rose to the occasion. I don't think any coaches throughout the state thought she'd be this good."

'She's a bonafide hitter, a natural. She's the best hitter I've ever seen, let alone coached.'

Carol Hutchins
—U-M softball coach
on Salem grad Stefanie Volpe

But it was no fluke. And throughout her career, Volpe has continued to improve until, this season — as a senior — she surpassed all her previous bests in leading the Wolverines to the Big Ten regular-season and tournament championships.

And yet, when she spoke outside Comerica Park prior to Tuesday's Tigers-vs.-Anaheim game, her answer concerned the team, not her performance in particular.

"I didn't expect us to do as well as we have," Volpe said. "I knew we had the talent, I just didn't expect us to get the championships we have."

The reason for her doubt? The Big Ten is always a difficult road to travel. Players would have to step up, perform even better than they have.

Including Volpe. Sure, she'd been named all-conference in each of her first three seasons, the first two at catcher and in 2001 at third base. Matching those kinds of performances might be the only way U-M could realize its lofty goals.

She did — and then some. Volpe posted career highs in batting average with a team-best .424, and in runs batted in with 44 and runs scored with 51, both team-leading totals. She led the Big Ten in slugging (.717) and on-base (.565) percentage.

Her season totals in home runs — 11 — and stolen bases — 19-of-23 — surpassed her career numbers entering the season. Her 11 home runs is the second-highest season total ever posted by a Wolverine.

Please see VOLPE, D6

One of the best: Salem grad Stefanie Volpe has proven herself as one of Michigan's best players ever. She's listed among the top five in nearly every all-time offensive category.

OHL's best

Erik Reitz, a Plymouth Salem HS graduate (2001) who plays for the Ontario Hockey League's Barrie Colts, has been named the winner of the Max Kaminsky Trophy as the OHL's outstanding defenseman.

The 19-year-old team captain scored 13 goals and added 27 assists in leading the Colts to the OHL finals opposite the Erie Otters. The Otters eliminated the Colts, four games to one.

Reitz was a first-team all-OHL selection and at the Hershey Cup CHL All-Star Series in January. Reitz was named the Eastern Conference's best body checker, best penalty killer and best defensive defenseman in the annual OHL coach's poll.

The Kaminsky Trophy is awarded based on a vote of OHL general managers (they are not allowed to vote for their own nominee). Reitz, a 6-foot-1, 195-pounder who shoots from the right side, easily outdistanced his nearest rival, Mark Popovic of the Toronto St. Michael's Majors, collecting 78 points to 31 for Popovic.

Reitz ranks second on Barrie's all-time playoff scoring list for defense men. He was a fifth-round selection of Minnesota in the 2000 NHL Draft.

Roth earns top prize

Jeff Roth, a Plymouth Salem HS graduate now serving as golf pro at Knollwood Country Club in West Bloomfield, combined with Randy Erskine to collect the top prize in the Michigan PGA Align Golf Senior Junior Championship, which concluded Monday at Lochmoor Country Club in Grosse Pointe.

Roth and Erskine combined in the best ball tournament to card a 17-under-par 66-61/127, six strokes better than the three teams tied for second at 11 under.

The victory earned Roth and Erskine the top prize of $1,000 apiece.

Kicks win title

The under-10 Plymouth Kicks boys soccer team captured the championship in their division at the Jaguar Invitational, beating Vardar and in the finals, Novi along the way.

Weather keeps Bucks from finishing opener

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

Opening game problems were anticipated, considering a rebuilt team with a new coach that had practiced together about 10 days playing their first match on the road.

One additional problem the Mid-Michigan Bucks didn't need was the weather.

In their Premier Development League Great Lakes Division season opener Saturday at the Indiana Invaders, the Bucks didn't generate the kind of offense they thought they would, which led to a 1-1 draw. The game was stopped by inclement weather after 70 minutes.

"This hurts both teams, really," said Bucks' general manager Jim Duggan. "It's the worst thing that can happen to both of us. It puts us in a bad spot."

The reason? The first four matches of the season also count as U.S. Cup qualifiers. A win earns four points, score more than three goals in a match and that's an additional point. A draw is worth one point for each squad.

The Bucks scored first, three minutes into the second half. Tino Scicluna (from Redford/Country Day HS) fed the ball to Pat Noonan in the box and Noonan cut back, curling his shot into the left corner to make it 1-0. The Invaders knotted it in the 65th minute, Federico Suarez scoring on a deflection following his free kick. Bucks' keeper Eric Pogue had no chance on the play.

"We looked very disorganized in the midfield," said Duggan. "And that's somewhat expected in the first

Churchill ace blanks Chiefs

Two perfect games in a row. Livonia Churchill softball ace Meghan Misiak mowed down 21 straight batters Monday in a 2-0 Western Lakes Activities Association-Western Division win over visiting Plymouth Canton.

SOFTBALL

The senior, who struck out 15, was coming off an 18-strikeout perfect 5-0 win Friday over Farmington Hills Harrison.

The Chargers got a run in the first when Kuratko tripled and scored on Ashley Crawley's sacrifice fly.

In the fifth, Alex Robinson doubled and later scored on Sarah Pernak's groundout.

Stevenson 7, Salem 6: A five-run uprising in the sixth inning Monday carried visiting Livonia Stevenson (7-10, 3-4) past WLAA Lakes Division leader Plymouth Salem (13-8, 6-2).

Sarah York had two hits, including a 2-run double in the fifth inning. Winning pitcher Julia Vecchioni added two hits and two RBI, while Lindsay Hollandsworth also chipped in with two hits for the victorious Spartans.

Salem, which rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh, got two hits apiece from Rachel Heid and Kelly Jaskot.

Vecchioni worked five innings before

Not enough: The offense provided by Salem's Amy Szawara wasn't enough to beat Livonia Stevenson Monday.

Amanda Jankowski came on to pitch the final two innings.

Salem's Jill Posler took the loss.

Harrison 7, Canton 3: The Hawks won their sixth game in a row Tuesday, defeating perennial WLAA Western Division power and nemesis Plymouth Canton.

The Chiefs hammered Livonia Stevenson — leader of the WLAA's Lakes Division — 12-2 Tuesday in a make-up of game rained out May 8. The victory pushed Canton's overall record to 15-6, Stevenson is also 15-6.

The Chiefs didn't waste any time, scoring six runs in the first inning and adding three in each of the next two frames as they out-hit the Spartans, 14-6. Matt Staley improved to 5-1, walking two and striking out two in the five-inning mercy.

Chris Pirch led the offense with a 3-for-3 performance that included a double and two runs scored. Staley added two hits (including a double), two runs scored and two runs batted in, Nick Musselman had

Churchill runs past Canton

With some key personnel missing, Plymouth Canton's boys track team couldn't keep pace with Livonia Churchill Tuesday in its final Western Lakes Activities Association dual meet of the season, losing 73-64.

The Chiefs finish third in the division at 3-2, behind Walled Lake Western and Churchill. The WLAA Conference Championships will be Tuesday at Farmington HS.

Missing from the lineup against Churchill was Corey Walser, Canton's top sprinter. Walser is nursing a sore hamstring, his availability for Saturday's state regionals in Dearborn is uncertain.

Still, the Chiefs had a chance to beat the Chargers, until their 4x100-meter relay team was disqualified.

Among the outstanding efforts turned in by Canton was Dane Kobus, who tied the school record (set by Chris Kalis in 2000) in winning the 110 hurdles in 14.8.

Ken Page was Canton's only double winner in individual events, capturing the long jump (21-feet, 1 1/4 inches) and the 200 dash (24.0).

Last Saturday at the Troy Athens Relays, Canton placed third out of 21 teams with 24 points.

Finishing first for the Chiefs was the long jump relay team of Page, Kobus and Dan Driscoll (58-1 1/2) and the shuttle hurdles team of Pawel Paszkowski, Page, Bharminder Singh and Kobus (1:02.9). In the non-scoring thrower's relay, Canton's Brandon Wright, Brad Waidmann, Bryan Frawley and Singh also finished first (1:43.5).

Waidmann, Mike Lanus and Page were second in the high jump relay (17-0), Aaron Schmidt, Singh, Jon Szlomis and Aaron Lanning were fourth in the Athens Relay (6:01.3), runners running an 800, a 400, a 400 and an 800, and Brandon McClellan, Schmidt, Szlomis and Lanning took fifth in the distance medley (11:17.9).

Salem shuts out Harrison, 6-0

Last Wednesday, Plymouth Salem's soccer team couldn't penetrate Plymouth Canton's defense and had to settle for a scoreless tie. On Monday against visiting Farmington Harrison, the Rocks experienced no such problem.

Sara Schupra scored twice and four others added one goal apiece as Salem buried the Hawks 6-0 in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover match. The win pushed the Rocks' record to 6-3-4.

"It was a good game," said Salem coach Joe Nora. "We knocked the ball around pretty well. We possessed it most of the time and we finished our shots."

Jordan Falcusan and Marissa Sarkesian added a goal and an assist each for Salem. Melinda Briones and Natalie Thomas also scored goals, with Nikki Anderson collecting two assists. Macy Lepper and Jenna Foster also had assists.

Heather Jones and Kristen O'Beirne divided time in goal for the shutout.

Franklin 1, Canton 1: Plymouth Salem may have recovered from its scoreless draw with Plymouth Canton last Thursday, but the Chiefs didn't.

The Chiefs' record went to 2-0-2 in the WLAA-Western Division, 7-3-5 overall thanks to a game tying goal from Stephanie Johnson with 12 minutes left. Katie Raker assisted. The Patriots are 9-3-2 overall, 2-1-2 in the division.

"We just couldn't put the ball in the goal," said Canton coach Don Smith. "But they have a nice keeper, too (junior Meagan Farrell)."

"It really didn't make any difference for us. Still, it's a demoralizing thing."

Franklin scored first, getting a goal 10 minutes into the second half from Shannon Powers, who finished off a cross from Jackie Naperola.

The Chiefs had plenty of opportunities, in particular on penalty kicks. They missed two of them, putting both tries (one in each half) over the Franklin goal.

PCA 3, Bethesda Christian 0: Katie Polera scored one goal and assisted on two others as Plymouth Christian Academy solidified its spot as the second best team in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference with a win at Sterling Heights Bethesda Christian Tuesday.

The Eagles improved to 6-2-2 overall, 6-1-1 in the MIAC. Bethesda slipped to 4-8-2 overall.

PCA led 1-0 at the half. Sarah Roberts and Sarah Moriarty also scored goals for the Eagles. Rachel Rudzis was in the net to earn the shutout.

PCA 7, S'field Christian 0: Three first-half goals were all Plymouth Christian Academy would have needed Monday against visiting Southfield Christian, but the Eagles added four more in the second half anyway.

Rachel Rudzis led PCA with three scores. Christine Cleary contributed two goals and Katie Polera and Sarah Roberts each scored one. Val Boruta was in the net for the shutout.

SC can't overtake Mott at regional

In the final round of the NJCAA Region XII Tournament Tuesday at Bedford Valley Golf Course in Battle Creek, Schoolcraft College's golf team tied Flint Mott's for best team total, each with a 305

Unfortunately for the Ocelots, their first two rounds didn't come close to Mott's. The Bears finished first in the tournament with a three-round total of 917, well ahead of second-place St. Clair County CC at 936 and SC and Lakeland CC at 937 (SC won the fifth-man tiebreaker to finish third)

Mott's first two rounds were 309 and 303, while St. Clair County posted totals of 311, 305 and 320. SC followed its opening 318 with a 314, Lakeland, one stroke behind Mott after the first two rounds with a 310 and a 303, finished with a 324 for its 937 total

Muskegon CC was fifth (323-310-308/941), followed by Kalamazoo Valley CC (322-312-308/942), Sinclair CC (322-318-322/962), Lansing CC (333-320-315/968), Henry Ford CC (329-321-330/980) and Oakland

COLLEGE GOLF

CC (342-339-330/1011)
Individually, Tom McCall (from Garden City) finished second overall with a 78-71-75/224 total. First place honors went to Lakeland's Geoff Wood, with a 70-69-76/215

McCall's finish qualifies him for the NJCAA Tournament May 20-24 in Phoenix. SC's Jay Smith (Plymouth Salem) tied with four others for the 10th (and final) individual qualifying berth with a 79-79-77/235. However, Smith bogeyed his first playoff hole and was eliminated

Other SC scorers were Mark Doughty (Plymouth Salem) with an 84-80-79/243, Brian Harnos (Garden City) with an 82-87-74/243, Brian Downing with an 80-84-84/248, and Derek Lineberry (Plymouth Canton) with an 81-87-80/248

The Ocelots got as high as No. 6 in the NJCAA Division II rankings

To nobody's surprise, Farmington Hills Mercy repeated as Catholic League girls' golf champion Monday at St. John's in Plymouth Township

The Marlins, defending Division I state champions, shot 343. Livonia Ladywood, led by individual medalist Rachel Thomas, took second with 362

Rounding out the team standings: Harper Woods Regina, 383; Birmingham Marian, 391; Dearborn Divine Child, 425; Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, 474

Thomas, a junior, shot a 9-over 81 in the gusty winds, to edge Mercy's Jackie Shinney and Christina Cibrano by one stroke

"Even in the wind, Rachel's drive were long and straight and her putter worked well," Ladywood coach Kellhann Nagy said. "St. John's was in good shape. It holds the water well. The greens were fast and there were some tough pin placements"

Other Mercy finishers included Monica Pilzner, fourth, 84; Kim Warzyniec, 10th, 95; Caitlin Kelly, 97, and Sam Talbot, 100

Other Ladywood finishers included freshman Rachel McHenry, sixth, 93, sophomore Lauren Dickerson, seventh, 93, freshman Jenny Kubert, ninth, 95, Erica Jamrog, 101, and Anne Kizer, 103

The top 12 individual finishers make the All-Catholic League team

"This is the first time we've had four make All-Catholic and the first time in 10 years we've finished second," Nagy said. "It's a great accomplishment for a young team because we have two freshmen, a sophomore and a junior"

Ladywood returns to action Friday in the Division II regional hosted by Raisin Valley in Tecumseh

BASEBALL TRYOUTS

The Canton Cardinals 10-and-under travel baseball team, which will play 36 games in the Little Caesars League and various tournaments (including the state tournament), is having tryouts.

For tryout information, call Chris Tidwell at (734) 495-9767.

Heavy hitter: Stefanie Volpe has slugged 11 homers this season, the second-highest total ever recorded by a Wolverine in a single season.

Those numbers are partially responsible for her being honored as the team's co-Most Valuable Player at Monday's team banquet. Thing is, they could still grow. Second-seeded (and 11th-ranked) Michigan hosts Canisius, the fifth seed, in the opening round of the NCAA Region 6 Tournament at 2 p.m. today at Alumni Field.

No. 1-seed Washington plays No. 6 Oakland University at 11:30 a.m. and No. 3 Ohio State goes against No. 4 Central Michigan. The double elimination tournament continues through Sunday.

Volpe's value to the team is easy to see. "She's a bonafide hitter, a natural," was how Hutchins described her. "She's just got a great eye at the plate. 'She's the best hitter I've ever seen, let alone coached'."

Considering some of the great players Hutchins has coached in her 18 seasons at U-M (eight of them earning Big Ten titles), that means a lot. And there's more.

"We always say that with Stefanie, what you see is what you get," Hutchins said. "She's an internal leader, a quiet leader. She tells you exactly what she thinks."

"One year (as a sophomore) she was our designated player, so she was in the dugout when we were in the field, and I learned a lot about hitting from her."

Volpe offers no clear-cut reasons for the incredible numbers she's posted this season. Playing just third base has helped, catcher, her position as a freshman (and at Salem) is more mentally, and physically, demanding. In fact, she felt that was the key reason behind her increase in base stealing (she had 17 in her career entering this season).

"Being a senior, knowing how things will go, knowing what to do and how to act in certain situations," she said when asked why things have gone so well for her this season.

Then she added, "This is the most fun and most together team I've been on in my four years here. We all get along so well."

It's been a major boost for her, to be sure, just as her season has elevated U-M. "I underestimated myself coming in here," she admitted.

"At our banquet last night, I said I never thought I could ever come in here and be a four-year, all-Big Ten player and an All-American. I think I always knew I could do it, but there was some doubt."

Volpe doesn't think that way any longer. There are no doubts concerning her abilities, or her team.

"As well as we've been playing, I think we can go all the way to the (NCAA) World Series," she predicted. "We can definitely win this weekend. We just have to be more mentally tough than the other teams."

That's one thing Volpe has been throughout her softball career — tough. Particularly on opposing pitchers.

Bowling Queens tournament will be televised on ESPN2

Tune in your TV to ESPN 2 at 9 p.m. Tuesday for the finals of the Women's International Bowling Queens Tournament

AL HARRISON

As usual, many of the local women all-star bowlers will vie for the championship in this part of the triple crown events. Chances are pretty good that some of our great local talent will make it to the finals.

We can look for such as Aleta Sill, Lisa Bishop, Cheryl Daniels and Michelle Mullin to have a good chance to advance to the finals.

Sill, women's bowling first $1 million winner has won this event twice and has captured bowling's triple crown two times.

No other bowler, male or female, has ever done that.

On the following Tuesday, same time, same station, viewers can watch the St. Clair Shores Classic in which yet more of the local women all-star and classic league bowlers will compete and have a good shot at the title.

The local media members have bowled there last Friday in a special event called the Ebonite "Media Challenge" in which the area's other bowling writers and myself have accepted the challenge from the ladies of the PWBA tour.

That event is followed by a practice session and pro-am on Sunday, May 12. The pro-am squads start noon and 7:30 p.m.

On Monday, the qualifying rounds will trim the field to 24 followed by match play of eight games each day on Tuesday and Wednesday.

On Thursday the final five vie in the TV finals on ESPN 2, which will be shown 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 21.

The finals will also incorporate a tailgate party for $17, which includes admission to the TV finals. During the party, top pros will be available for autographs and prizes will be given away.

Aleta Sill and Michelle Mullin will be conducting a special summer training camp for present and aspiring high school varsity bowlers.

Team members and those who will be trying out can enter the program.

The camp consists of one hour of coaching per week followed by one hour of practice on the lanes for eight weeks. It is limited to 10 bowlers per session to ensure enough personal attention.

What a great opportunity to learn about bowling. The fee is $125 for the full session (starting June 17).

Choose from four locations in the Detroit area with sessions at noon or 1:30 p.m. Mondays: Troy Lanes, 1950 E. Square Lake Road, Troy, Tuesdays: Bonanza Lanes, 24600 Hoover Road, Warren, Wednesdays: Merri-Bowl Lanes, 30950 Five Mile Road, Livonia, Thursdays: Skore Lanes, 22255 Ecorse Road, Taylor.

Special coaches sessions for the high school coaches will also be offered to make them better prepared to lead their team this fall.

Learn what your team needs and how to coach more effectively.

Sessions included 6-8 p.m. Monday, June 17, at Troy Lanes, and 6-8 p.m. Tuesday, June 18, Skore Lanes.

The cost is only $19.95 per person. For more information, call (313) 274-1227.

The senior men's professional tour returns to the area beginning Sunday and Monday with the qualifying rounds at Lodge Lanes in Belleville.

Match play follows with the top 24 qualifiers on Tuesday, May 14.

The top five advance to the five-man stepladder finals on Wednesday.

Thirty Michiganians are entered with locals John Bennett (Clarkston), Dane Bertram (Oxford), Doug Evans (Southgate), Joe Fitzsimmons (Waterford), Larry Franz (Redford), Aron Lipsky (Roseville), Fred McClain (Lincoln Park), Jack Oliphant (Monroe), Ray Randall (Dearborn), Leo Scantamburlo (Raverview), Lee Snow (Wixom), Joseph Starks (Taylor), John Staricha (Highland), Gene Stus and John Zubor (Allen Park).

Admission is free for the entire event. This is a good chance to watch some great bowlers compete.

For more information, call (734) 697-9178.

There is still time to get into the Hamtramck Singles Tournament at Hazel Park Bowl.

It runs on Saturdays and Sundays through July with two squads each day at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Some evening squads are available also at 7 p.m.

For more information, call Cynthia at (248) 543-7303.

Ohio U. signs Schoolcraft's Barrett

BY BRAD EMONS
SPORTS WRITER
bemons@oe.homecomm.net

RECRUITS

Schoolcraft College's pipeline to the Mid-American Conference continued to branch out last week when 6-foot-7, 285-pound center Delvar Barrett signed with Ohio University.

The Detroit Cooley graduate played a pivotal role as a backup center last season with the 35-1 Ocelots, who finished third in the National Junior College Athletic Association Division I men's basketball tournament in Hutchinson, Kan.

Other former Ocelots to play in the MAC include Rob Brown (University of Buffalo) and Nick Evola (Western Michigan University).

Barrett's teammate this season, first-team NJCAA All-America forward Mike Williams, will also play next year for WMU.

Contingent upon earning an Associate's Degree at Schoolcraft, Barrett will give Ohio a strong inside presence along with soft shooting touch around the basket.

After transferring from the University of Toledo, Barrett joined Schoolcraft's squad in mid-December and made an immediate impact.

In January, he scored 19 points off the bench in a pivotal 108-80 Eastern Conference win against Flint Mott. In four NJCAA games in Hutchinson, Barrett averaged 11 points per outing. His season averages were nine points and five rebounds per game.

"Delvar has great hands, a guy who can bring scoring and rebounding to our program," said Ohio coach Tim O'Shea, who is coming off a 17-11 season, his first with the Bobcats. "We're really looking to pair him up with Brandon Hunter (Ohio's leading returning scorer)."

As a senior at Cooley, Barrett averaged 18 points and 15 rebounds under coach Ben Kelso.

"I was in that gym seven days a week, three to four hours," Barrett said. "I didn't really play organized ball until a friend of mine asked me to play with the JV team."

Barrett went on to play a season at Bridgeton Academy in Maine before signing with Toledo, but returned home to be with his ailing mother Vivian, who is legally blind and suffering from diabetes.

"I'm the primary caregiver and the situation I'm in with my mom made it difficult," Barrett said. "But I'll always put my mother first."

"She's going to go with me down to (Athens) Ohio in a couple of months. We'll get a two-bedroom place and the cost of living is a lot down there. I'm excited. We're going to make it work."

O'Shea, who first spotted Barrett at Bridgeton when he was an assistant at Boston College, likes the attitude of his most recent signee.

"Delvar's also a kid who is trying to help his mom. He's a guy of good character," said the Ohio coach.

Barrett will become the third Michigan player to sign with OU.

Freshmen James Bridgewater (Ann Arbor Pioneer) and Kevin Shorter (Mount Clemens Chipewa Valley) are also back.

Eley chooses Life

Two-time National Junior College Athletic Association Division II All-America Rachel Eley of Schoolcraft College announced last week she will continue her basketball career at Life University in Marietta, Ga.

The 5-foot-3 point-guard from Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher led the 26-5 Lady Ocelots to state and Eastern Conference titles this season.

Eley averaged 11 points, seven assists and five steals as Schoolcraft finished sixth in the final NJCAA Division II poll. She is the school's all-time career leader in assists and steals.

In addition to All-America honors, Eley was named Most Valuable Player in both Michigan Community College Athletic Association Eastern Conference and NJCAA Region 12.

Life University is a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). The Running Eagles (22-10) advanced to the second round of the NAIA Division I National Tournament.

Investigate 'mark' of all principals to development

I am purchasing a conversion condominium and am looking at the disclosure statement of the seller.

It appears that he has done a number of condo projects, but under separate corporations. He claims that there is no litigation involving this project. But I'm wondering how can I find out about past litigation which he may be involved in?

Most developers operate under separate legal entities for each condominium project and that is particularly the case with respect to persons converting condominiums

There are some converters who have had a history of being involved in frequent litigation because of claims against them for misrepresentations and other issues which have come up

You should hire an attorney who can look into whether the developer or, more likely, the principals of the developing entity have been involved in other disputes in the past, particularly in regard to litigation

If the developer or the principals of the developer have had a long series of 'fights' which have resulted in litigation and/or complaints with the state, you would best be advised to go somewhere else to purchase your condominium

That first sale

First transaction provided memories, well-learned lessons

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

You just never know about that very first residential real estate listing, sale or closing

It's like a first love. Some Realtors might remember the experience fondly, some as a nightmare. For still others the memory has dimmed with the years

Here are a few recollections of that very first time when Realtors were part of a transaction that happened

Whether that first ride was smooth or bumpy, that first taste sweet or sour, that first review uplifting or deflating, these pros continue to chase the deal

And for the most part, they just love it

Tim Winter, an associate broker and principal with Red Carpet Keim Carter Reed in Clarkston, said the first three closings of his career all happened on the same day about nine years ago

"It took me probably five months after getting my license to get a closing. It just worked out that way," he said of the trifecta

Two involved buyers who called while Winter was responsible for walk-ins on floor duty. Although they weren't interested in the initial home, they eventually did buy when Winter quickly forwarded them information on other homes available for sale

Then one of those buyers sold their existing house through Winter

"I think I probably learned most was that even though I got three (commission) checks, they weren't as big as I thought they'd be," he said. "I learned maybe it would be a good idea to put some money away for when things got tougher"

Gail M. Hodge, an associate broker with Real Estate One in Westland, made her first sale 34 years ago

"When I got in the business I had four children under (age) 4-1/2. I studied for the test at the encouragement of my mother when I went to the hospital for the fourth one

"In my first year, someone I knew found out I had a license. They had friends from Pennsylvania who were relocating. I took them around blind. A man in the office gave me some assistance, some houses to look at

"They found one they liked and we closed. It went smooth. The fellow who helped me even went to the closing"

Hodge learned a valuable lesson from the experience that has served her well ever since

"I remember how green I felt," she said. "Getting your license doesn't mean that you're qualified to sell real estate. There's a lot more involved. That's when I decided to get more training"

And the real kicker to this story - Hodge still remembers the address of that first sale, 26608 Five Mile, Redford, and has kept in touch with those buyers

Don Krueger, affiliated with Century 21 Town and Country in Rochester, is a little fuzzy about some aspects of his first listing 16 years after the fact

But he remembers the lesson well

"It was West Bloomfield, actually, or Farmington Hills, on Orchard Lake Road or one of those north/south roads," Krueger said

"I was totally inexperienced, overwhelmed. I had zero training. My manager helped me with the paperwork. I was green as grass

"It sold. In dealing with owners, the home wasn't prepared as well as it could have been. When you're inexperienced, you simply don't know or have confidence to get a home ready for a competitive market

"That's one thing I learned," Krueger said. "Absolute neutrality (colors), if possible, squeaky clean, if possible, making available for showing in a reasonable time frame"

Marti Forrer, a Realtor with Prudential Chamberlain Stehl in Birmingham, had such a positive experience - even after a false start - with her first sale 18 years ago that it set the tone for her whole career

"I was holding floor time for the office, was a brand new agent, knew nothing about the business," she said

"I received a call, someone wanted to see a property we had listed. I was all excited. I said, 'I'll meet you there.' I looked the address up on a map, went there and they didn't show up

"I thought it was bizarre, went back to the office. People laughed, gave me funny looks, that knowing-look. I did have their name and number and called them. They said they got lost, couldn't find it but still wanted to see it

"We made another appointment and they really liked the house and said they wanted to buy. It was a ranch home with no basement and had a swimming pool which a lot of people don't want to bother with

"I thought this business is going to be so easy. Then reality set in and it didn't happen on a regular basis"

But the seed had been planted and nourished

"I thought the business was wonderful. I learned you need a positive approach. Keep a positive approach," Forrer said

Nick Kulka, a multi-million dollar producer with Remerica Hometown III in Canton, started working as a real estate agent Feb 27, 1986

"My first one actually was a for sale by owner," he said. "I was told to go out and knock on doors. I did, they let me in and I walked out with a listing. Not only did I list and sell that house, I sold the couple another house

"When you're new in the business, you don't understand what rejection is. I learned that you've got to meet people. You've got to be there. To this day, I still cold call and work for-sale-by-owners"

Kulka credits Larry Martin with training him to hustle

Zero down helps thousands

Renters pay money monthly and actually own nothing. Meanwhile, "zero down" buyers pay nothing down and own their own home. Which makes sense to you?

Whether by design or of necessity, many homebuyers find themselves in search of "nothing down" purchases. They seek to own property with little or none of their own money into the transaction. There are several different ways to get there

My favorite "zero down" mortgage is the VA loan. I used it in 1986 to buy my first home. I had a steady income, but barely a dollar to my name. Two years later, I was transferred and sold the property for a decent profit - all with no down payment

Borrowers without VA privileges can get a "nothing down" deal with a willing seller. Sellers who own their home free and clear may offer worthy buyers a land contract which makes them the "bankers" for the buyers

Depending on the type of loan and the lender, buyers can often use gifted monies to cover closing costs and down payments to affect a "zero down" purchase

Homebuyers sometimes combine FHA mortgages with one of many popular down payment assistance programs. These programs require some degree of seller cooperation, but ultimately help borrowers get very close to a no-cost purchase

Borrowers with good credit scores can often get to 100 percent without gifts or seller assistance. In fact, with exceptional credit they can get such loans without even having to verify their income

Jumbo buyers seeking 100 percent financing sometimes "piggy back" mortgages, putting one loan on top of another. This mortgage structure allows them to pay for the majority of their purchase with one loan at a better interest rate and terms, and the balance with a smaller, higher-rate loan

Need 100 percent financing, but have bruised credit? Do not despair. Even borrowers with credit scores slightly below 600 may qualify for "zero down" mortgages with some non-conforming lenders

Regardless of the means, if you have desire and patience you can usually find a "zero down" deal that suits your needs. A well-seasoned lender can get you started on your way

Several members of the American Institute of Architects Michigan were singled out for recognition during annual award ceremonies.

Robert Ziegelman, FAIA, received the institute's highest award, the Gold Medal, for contributions to the profession.

Ziegelman formed a partnership with longtime friend Carl Luchenback in 1980 after apprenticing with Minoru Yamasaki and Eero Saarinen. Ziegelman gained international attention with pioneering work in pre-fabricated modular construction. He and his firm, headquartered in Birmingham, have received more than 70 design awards and citations.

Ziegelman, a member of AIA's College of Fellows, also is chairman of the fellowship nominating committee. He received a Bachelor of Architecture degree from the University of Michigan and a Master of Architecture from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

John Sheoris, FAIA, of Grosse Pointe won the institute's President's Award for architects who work in corporate or educational settings. Sheoris is professor emeritus of architure at Lawrence Technological University. There, he was chairman of the faculty council, chairman of University Graduate Council and coordinator of the professional design thesis council.

Sheoris is a graduate of the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art, and holds Bachelor and Master degrees in Architecture from Yale University.

He served on advisory boards and executive committees at Texas A&M and the Yale Arts Association, and lectured at Columbia University.

Locally, Sheoris was affiliated with Harley Ellington and Day, and Smith Hinchman & Grylls.

Eugene Hopkins, FAIA, senior vice president, board member and studio leader for the SmithGroup, received the Robert F. Hastings Award for service to the institute and interest in the urban environment.

Hopkins, past president of AIA Michigan and AIA Huron Valley, also has been active in AIA at the national level as a board member.

He has an associate degree in architectural drafting from Ferris State University, and bachelor of science and Master of Architecture degrees from the University of Michigan.

Markku Allison, AIA, won Young Architect of the Year designation.

He's a partner with Schemata Inc. in Grand Rapids and reportedly knew by age six that he wanted to be an architect.

Allison has a Master of Architecture from the University of Michigan.

Robert Washer, executive vice president with Storen & Lewis, a construction management company in Detroit, and Patricia Martinico, an administrative assistant at the University of Detroit School of Architecture, were named honorary affiliate members of the institute.

Office vacancy rates here on the rise

Metro Detroit had more Class A (upscale, full-service) office space available for lease and sublease during the first quarter 2002 than at any time in the last five years.

The Class A vacancy rate of space available for lease directly from landlords climbed to 12.5 percent from 10.1 percent at year-end 2001, according to Paragon Corporate Realty Services in Farmington Hills.

With available sublease space considered, that vacancy rate jumped to 17.6 percent in the first quarter. That's up from 13.7 percent at year end and from 9.1 percent a year ago.

The current figure is the highest overall Class A vacancy rate recorded since the metro Detroit office market slowdown began, says Matthew Fenster, Paragon's executive director.

"The good news is that activity - both in terms of users looking at space and actual signed leases - picked up noticeably in the first quarter," he said.

"I think metro Detroit's market bottomed out early in the year, and the upswing is now beginning," Fenster added.

Much of the activity came from professional and consulting firms, while corporate users and automotive suppliers tended to remain on the sidelines, Fenster said.

Free rent grew common in every submarket during the first quarter, even from landlords traditionally reluctant to offer it.

Increasingly aggressive landlords typically gave several months of free rent on a five-year lease and added more for longer term leases, he said.

Broker incentive programs also became more prevalent, with landlords offering everything from $50 per showing to trips, motorcycles and cars for large leases, Fenster said.

According to Paragon, direct vacancy rates (not including available sub-lease space) of Class A and B buildings combined by submarket as of April 1 were:

- 7.7 percent in Southfield,
- 9.2 percent in Birmingham,

Bloomfield and Bingham Farms,

- 11 percent in Farmington Hills,

- 15.4 percent in Troy,

- 15.8 percent along the I-275 corridor,

- 18.2 percent in Detroit.

Average quoted (asked) rents in Class A offices were $29.21 per square foot in Birmingham/Bloomfield, $24.90 in Southfield, $24.27 in Troy, $23.91 in Detroit, $23.52 in Farmington Hills, and $23.45 along I-275.

"Ultimate price or rental rate is a combination of things - length of lease, lease improvements, credit of tenants," Fenster said. "Some landlords are more flexible."

Skylight brightens atmosphere in home

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Rare is the homeowner who doesn't appreciate a beautiful sunny day, even in extreme temperatures.

Natural light brightens our homes and our moods (even while not-so-subtly revealing a need for dusting), and can sometimes provide energy-efficient benefits.

The best home designs make the most of natural light - no matter how your home is positioned to receive it - while finding creative ways around expensive custom windows.

Not that gorgeous, expansive window arrangements are not desirable, especially for a home with outstanding views. Attractive windows can be a real asset to a home.

But, if you're like many homeowners, you live (or plan to live) among nearby neighbors, so picture windows are less practical.

Skylights allow light to pour into interior spaces from different angles, capturing sunlight throughout the day in a way that warms the space.

An attractive alternative is a skylight.

Although these windows have been more common in contemporary homes, traditional style designs are increasingly incorporating skylights to add light wherever it's needed.

Whether tucked into a vaulted ceiling or set atop a flat roof, skylights allow light to pour into interior spaces from different angles, capturing sunlight throughout the day in a way that warms and brightens the space.

Be careful around bees

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

If you're outdoors a lot - in the yard, on picnics, hiking and camping - it's easy to accidentally disturb a beehive. Such an accident can be serious, especially when bees attack in numbers. You can spot, avoid and survive killer bees the same way you do less-violent common honeybees. At home, fill open cracks with steel wool or caulk, and cover larger holes with window screen. Outdoors, expect to find them in places such as holes in trees or in wood piles or rock piles. Also, under picnic tables, drain pipes, sheds and in water meters. Watch for bee activity and listen for the buzzing that tells a hive is near. Watch children and keep pets on a leash. If you are attacked, don't flail or run. Hide in a dense bush instead.

Big-city attitudes sunny as attacks fade into past

(AP) — While New Yorkers are more concerned than others about future terror attacks, an academic survey released recently shows most people in high-population areas aren't dwelling on the possibility.

In what is billed as the first comprehensive look at urban attitudes in post-Sept. 11 America, 22 percent of New York respondents said they worry a great deal about a future attack there, compared with 14 percent in Chicago and 13 percent in Los Angeles and Houston.

Outside the nation's four largest cities, only 5 percent of respondents are fretting about terror in their areas, according to the survey by the Center for Public Policy at the University of Houston.

This is important because residential and commercial real estate combine to forge lifestyles.

Richard Murray, director of the center, concluded that most Americans, regardless of geography, consider the attacks "a stumbling block, but not something that has really changed the way they live their lives."

Paul Kantor
— professor, Fordham University margin of error is 4 percent.

The survey was backed by millionaire developer and former Houston Mayor Bob Lanier.

While many attitudes measured in the 51-question survey were similar among the four cities, New York tended to stand out on terror-related issues.

For instance, while about two-thirds of respondents in other places believe post-Sept. 11 changes have been good for the country, only half of those in New York thought so.

And where less than 40 percent of respondents elsewhere believed the attacks had changed their communities a great deal, 67 percent of New Yorkers said the city has changed substantially.

Yet nearly nine in 10 of respondents from New York and the rest of the nation agreed their communities are at least somewhat back to normal, though about half said they'd be at least somewhat concerned about working or living in a skyscraper.

Fordham University professor Paul Kantor, in a paper prepared for a conference, said New Yorkers who have serious concerns about their city's future have good reason to worry.

More than a quarter of all money earned in New York just prior to the attacks came from the finance, real estate and insurance sectors, with the securities industry the main source of growth during the 1990s boom years while other sectors such as manufacturing, have dwindled.

"The result New York is dependent more than ever on finance and its predominant location in lower Manhattan," Kantor wrote, referring to the Wall Street district around ground zero. "The city has become more vulnerable to external shocks than at any time in its history."

But Lanier, who watched Houston lose 250,000 jobs during the 1980s oil bust and rebound during the last decade, believes New York can do the same.

"Any great city, any great country that has catastrophes can soldier on," Lanier said.

Roof coating drops temp, saves lives

(AP) — A pilot program to put a white coating on some of Philadelphia's trademark black rooftops in order to reflect summer heat could save lives among the elderly — and become a model for new homes in other cities.

About 80 percent of the row houses in the City of Brotherly Love have flat or slightly pitched black roofs.

"The housing stock in Philadelphia was made for cold weather, not hot," said Lawrence Robinson, deputy Philadelphia medical examiner.

But black absorbs energy and white reflects it, making these urban heat islands dangerous to the elderly and infirm, who often don't have money for air conditioning.

More than 250 Philly residents, most of them elderly, died of heat-related causes during the sweltering summers of the 1990s, most in bedrooms on the top floors — and the blacktop roofs may be to blame.

So, two years ago, the nonprofit Energy Coordinating Agency Inc began putting a thick, white acrylic coating on roofs of homes of older residents in low-income neighborhoods in south and southwest Philadelphia.

About 200 have been done so far, and the first analysis indicates that the coatings are working.

On the hottest days, with mercury soaring coated late last summer, average outdoor air temperature fell about one degree compared with nearby black-roofed areas, researchers found.

"Even when it got moderately hot people were telling us that they noticed a difference at ground level," program manager Neal Resnick said.

A study has shown that heating costs in white-roofed houses are about 3 percent higher, but that cooling costs are 22 percent lower, making them attractive for commercial buildings.

But Philadelphia's residential program aimed primarily at saving lives, appears to be unique, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Chicago next month plans to amend its building code to require lighter colored roofs on new construction. Washington and Boston are looking at Philadelphia's pilot program, Resnick said.

The white coatings cost about $1,200 per roof, but officials say they can extend roof life by 10 years. Grants from foundations and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services allowed program leaders to work on 200 houses, with enough money left to do about 300 more.

While blacktop roofs could rise to 170 degrees on a 95-degree day and remain 150 degrees after dark, a white-coated roof on the same day would not exceed 120 degrees and would cool to near air temperature at sundown, researchers said.

The change can help cool an entire neighborhood, in one block where all 30 roofs were
