Will an unprecedented field of 11 candidates on Monday's ballot for three seats on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education translate into more voters showing up at the polls?

Over the past five years, an average 2,911 ballots have been recorded for the school board election, which is less than 4 percent of the approximately 73,000 registered voters in the district

"I'm hoping for a good turnout," said Elizabeth Adams, the district's elections clerk "However, it's probably going to be the same as any other school board election?

The highest voter count in the last five years was 3,812 in June 1999, when the Plymouth-Canton Education Association held a phone bank on the weekend prior to the election to help challengers Mark Slavens and Steve Guile defeat two incumbents

In the recent past, approximately 1,500 votes has been enough to capture a seat on the board

This time, there are two open four year seats as incumbentsDarwin 🕻 🙍 Watts and Susan Davis aren't seeking re-election There is also a one year seat for voters to fill as Marcy Staley. who was appointed by the board last December to replace Guile, goes against Debra Madonna

Adams said as of Friday she had approximately 850 absentee ballots turned in which she said is pretty much near normal?

Seeking the four year terms are Richard Ham Kucharski, Clifford Hill Mark Horvath, Joanne Lamar, Robert Nelson, Sailesh Patel, William Pratt. Carol Saunders and Phillip Sugg

The polls will be open Monday from 7 am to 8 pm

"If anyone has questions on where to vote they can call my office," said Adams, whose number is (734) 416-3095 "Voters must have been registered by May 13 to vote in this year's

District eyes interim superintendent possibility

By Tony Bruscato Staff Writer

The search for a superintendent to run Plymouth-Canton Schools to replace Kathleen Booher may be over as quickly as it began

Deputy Superintendent Jim Ryan is expected to be named interim superintendent after Booher officially leaves July 12, and could eventually take over the district permanently

"I don't think we'll do a search pro-cess right away," said Elizabeth

Givens, president of the Board of Education "I think the transition plan will have Jim Ryan stepping in "

Givens said she's discussed the idea informally with board members, who could take action at the June 25 board meeting

"We could vote on a plan that would put Jim as the interim at that meeting," said Givens "By July 12 we could have a contract completed and the plan ın place

Parade is looking for marchers to carry flags

The Good Morning USA Fourth of July parade is looking for a few good men, women and children One hundred, to be exact Fred Hill, organizer of the "first in the state Fourth of July parade" because of its 7 30 am starting time, wants 100 people to march and carry American flags in this year's event "Last year we had a 20-by-30-foot

American flag that was carried, so why not have people carrying their own flags?" said Hill "I think Sept 11 got the patriotic blood boiling Plus, I think it will make a great memory for people and families who participate"

Hill said it will cost participants $29 50, which covers the cost of the flag and pole, which each person will be able to keep Anyone interested can call Hill at (734) 459-3733

Meanwhile, Hill said there are plenty of new parade entries to go with some of the more popular acts returning for the sixth-annual Good Morning USA

"We've got a circus wagon with a live leopard inside coming for the first time," he said "And, we have a group called Fabulous Motown, which will be singing Temptations songs

Some of the old standbys in this year's parade include Mark Randisi singing as Frank Sinatra, the Fifth Michigan Regiment Band, the drum line from Catholic Central, bands from Plymouth-Canton and Ypsilanti Lincoln high schools, plus Hill's own Briefcase Drill Team

There will be approximately 90 entries in the parade "We keep getting requests of groups wanting to be in the parade, but we don't want to

New Plymouth Super Center is one-stop shop for car care

By Brad Kadrich Staff Writer

bkadrich@oe homecomm net

When Drew Wolford was planning just what kind of business he want ed to build when he opened the Plymouth Super Center on Ann Arbor Road, he traveled all over the Unit ed States to look at similar centers

When he opens his Plymouth store this week, Wolford will have just what he envisioned — an upscale, state-of-the art automotive care center

The Plymouth Super Center is set to open its doors early in the week, perhaps as early as Tuesday Work ers were feverishly putting the fin ishing touches on much of the colonial style buildings over the week end as Wolford, the vice president, and general manager Bob Turner got set to see what started in October with the ground breaking final ly come to fruition

"It's been years of planning and a lot of research," said Wolford "We've been to facilities all over the United States to see what works and what doesn't What we have here works"

What they have is broken up into several parts There's your basic convenience store, which will feature the traditional convenience store fare There's a "high-octane" counter which will feature cappuce no and coffee of various kinds and tastes And there's a food court that will feature sandwiches, hot dogs, pizza and other items, including a nine-flavor milk shake machine, a 12-head soda pump and four flavors of frozen drinks

There's also a bakery section that will feature donuts and the center's own cinnamon rolls, muffins cook ies, brownies and Wolford's favorite—fresh-baked bread

'I love that smell," he admitted There's a packaging and shipping center, where mailers can use Fed eral Express UPS or the US

Postal Service There will be mail boxes for rent and, in the future, key-making capability

The car wash is state of-the art, a 180-foot tunnel that will feature high-pressure scrubbing and a half-dozen blow dryers that dry vehicles from all angles. There are 12 gas pump positions, with one diesel pump. There will be a full service unit with four pump positions.

There's also a four bay oil changing station, one of which has a 13-foot door to accommodate mobile homes and school buses, among other large vehicles The center will service regular customers during the day, and fleet vehicles at night

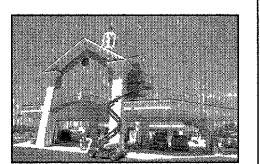

"We re going to do oil changes for fleet accounts at night, and we've already had several inquiries from businesses," said Turner "If we do our fleet business at night, it opens everything for our regular drive-up customers during the day"

There will also be a waiting room where customers waiting for oil changes or interior detailing are going to be treated lavishly Workers will offer them coffee, a complimentary newspaper, and a freshly baked chocolate chip cookie

It'll take a little longer, but Wolford believes it'll be worth the "Statistics show only 30 percent of the time you want your interior cleaned," Wolford said "But when we do the inside we'll do it right"

School district pleased with MEAP results

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe homecomm.net

Plymouth-Canton school officials are generally pleased with the latest MEAP scores, but admit there are some areas where more work needs to be done

Social studies scores were up, however, students both locally and statewide continue to struggle with the test

"Our scores are steadily increasing in social studies, and we're above the state averages," said Lon Rutkofske, director of secondary education "However, at 32 percent, we've still got a long way to go."

For Plymouth-Canton, 32 7 percent of fifthgrade students met or exceeded state standards, as compared to 22 4 percent statewide Last year, Plymouth-Canton was at 24 percent

At the eighth-grade level, 49 2 percent were considered proficient, compared to 44 3 percent last year Statewide, those who exceeded state standards in the eighth-grade was 32 percent "Of all the tests in the MEAP, the social studies test is the most demanding," said Rutkofske "It's problem solving and application based, which uses high-order thinking skills"

Writing scores were down, but Rutkofske said he's "not too concerned"

Fifth-grade writing scores 71 2 percent were proficient, compared to 77 6 percent last year This year's statewide average was 55 7 percent

Seventh-grade writing scores were down slightly, 82 8 percent this year compared to 83 9 percent last year. The statewide level is 66 2 percent.

And, in reading, 89 6 percent of the students taking the test met or exceeded state standards, while statewide it was 80 2 percent Last year, Plymouth-Canton fourth graders scored at 88 6

In the seventh grade, 86 3 percent of the students met or exceeded standards on the reading test, compared to 50 9 percent statewide Last year, 89 1 percent of Plymouth-Canton fifth-graders met or exceeded state standards

"What we want to avoid are huge spikes in the scores," said Rutkofske "Like the stock market, we want to slowly creep up over time

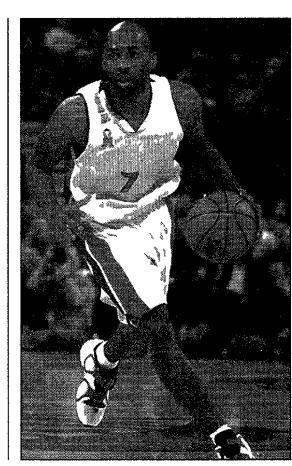

"When scores spike, it's difficult to know why it happened," he said "When the scores go up steadily, or even dip slightly, you know the quality of instruction is stable. No matter what group of students go through the system, you know they're getting a quality education"

Scores for the new math and science tests won't be released until August

Water company not a city service

Plymouth City Manager Paul Sincock is advising residents that a Lansing based group soliciting the sale of water treatment devices in the city is a private company and not a city service

Sincock said Titan Marketing Group, LTD, is leaving empty bottles at the homes of Plymouth residents, requesting the bottles be filled with water, and then set them back out for pickup on another day Sincock noted it's a marketing tool to sell water filters by a company that doesn't have a peddler's permit to do so in the city

"The City of Plymouth water department does not endorse this product or the method of attempting to gain filter customers," said Sincock "Residents should be advised their tap water is constantly tested in compliance with the State of Michigan Department of Public Health Regulations

"Your drinking water and the city water system is safe and secure," he said "It should be noted that the standards for tap water are higher than they are for bottled water'

A woman at Titan Marketing Group, who would only give her name as Barbara, said they will test the water for hardness and iron, and call back with the results "If the customer wants, we will come out and do further testing Yes, we do sell water treatment systems"

Sincock said the city annually produces a written document which provides accurate information on the chemical content of the city's drinking water

"That report, called the Con sumer Confidence Report, 1s scheduled to be mailed to city residents within the next few weeks," he said

Residents with questions about their water quality can contact the city's Department of Municipal Services at (734) 453

Township eyes 2nd waste day

BY BRAD KADRICH STAFF WRITER bkadrich@oe.homecomm net

After watching more than 700 cars make their way through the joint township-city hazardous waste day a few weeks ago, Jım Anulewicz learned a valuable

Plymouth Township needs to sponsor more than one hazardous waste day

With waits of more than an hour due to a lack of space to handle the workload, Anulewicz knew something was going to have to be done The public services department on Port simply didn't allow for enough space to accommodate the unexpectedly high volume of traffic

At a study session conducted by the township board Tuesday, Anulewicz laid out the options

■ Do nothing

■ Sponsor a second day, and include city residents, as was done last month ■ Sponsor a second day, but don't include city residents

■ Sponsor a second day, allow city residents to participate, but find a larger facility

On the first day, 67 percent of the traffic was township residents, with 33 percent coming from the city But city residents generally had much more to dump, since the city hadn't sponsored a day in about 10 years

That meant that lines which lasted 10 or 15 minutes a year ago lasted as long as 70 minutes this year "Unless you were totally environmentally committed," Anulewicz said, "when you pulled up to that line, there's no way you were going to wait "

While treasurer Ron Edwards and clerk Marilyn Massengill appeared to favor not including the city, Anulewicz said he is leaning toward scheduling a second hazardous waste day for Oct 19, and finding a larger facility somewhere in the town ship at which to hold the event

County to help township residents with ash tree problems

Plymouth Township residents who have dying ash trees on their property are about to get some help from Wayne County - as long as the trees are located in the county right-of-way

Wayne County officials are scheduled to conduct a tree survey in Plymouth Township this summer and mark ash trees for removal Actual removal of the trees will come sometime this winter, according to Jim Anulewicz, director of public services for the township

"Within the month, the county will be out in Plymouth Township," Anulewicz told township board members at a study session Tuesday "They'll identify trees and mark them for removal *

Such removal applies only to trees the county decrees are 50 percent dead and six inches or more in diameter, Anulewicz pointed out Removal of trees under six inches in diameter, or that are not in the right-of-way. is the responsibility of the individual homeowner

"It's been a problem we've been trying to keep on top of,' supervisor Steve Mann said "It's a significant problem throughout the township (The trees) make a nice environment, and this has significantly ımpacted that " The township had Dr David Roberts of the Michigan State University Extension Service, come into the community to study what is becoming a statewide problem Roberts said an "astonishing number of ash trees" are currently dead or in various stages of decline around

Michigan, with a high concentration of them in the Plymouth, Canton, Livonia and Dearborn areas

Problem 18, no one can quite figure out why "At this time, we are uncertain of the exact cause of the ash decline," Roberts said

One aspect with which Plymouth Township officials are now wrestling is replacement Mann said a number of residents have asked about help with replanting While Mann favors a 50-50 cost-share program similar to one in Canton

Township, he may have trouble getting support from his board Trustee Chuck Curmi said he doesn't favor the township getting involved in helping residents replace trees, nor does he want the township to pay to have them removed "Plymouth Township isn't paying to cut any trees down," Curmi said "Either the residents pay, or the county pays "

Mann remains undeterred "I think we should start a 50-50 program, and hopefully I can get support for that," Mann

Administrators' union endorses school candidates

TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe homecomm.net

For only the second time in its history, the Plymouth-Canton Administrators union is endorsing candidates for Monday's school board elections

Ellison Franklin, West Middle School principal and union president, said her group is endorsing Joanne Lamar and Carol Saunders, both of Plymouth Township, for the two, four-year seats that are being vacated by board members Susan Davis and Darwin Watts The administrators are also endorsing Marcy Staley of Canton, who was appointed by the board last December and is running against Debra Madonna for the one-year seat "We feel this is a critical time for our community and schools," said Franklin "With our superintendent (Kathleen Booher) leaving, it's time the district reflect on what we've done in the past, where we're at now, and where we'll be in the future There will be a lot of important decisions to be made by the future board, including the selection of a new superintendent "

Last month, the Michigan Education Association 2A Coordinating Council, which represents more than 1,000 Plymouth-Canton teachers, paraprofessionals, and custodial maintenance workers, voted to endorse the same three candidates

The group planned a mailing to 2,000 MEA members who live in the school district, and a phone bank to encourage people to vote Monday for their endorsed candidates

istrators in Lansing, Ryan is expected to be named interim superintendent by the Board of Education later this month

Ryan is no stranger to the position, having spent the previous 11 years as a superintendent in Reed City (four years) and Waverly (seven years) before moving to Plymouth-Canton

Ryan is looking forward to the challenge

"I think the interim label will give the board options," he said "If they evaluate me in Decem ber and I'm not what they want, then they can do a search, and it will be the right to look for a super ıntendent

"If they do like what I do then we can talk about a more permanent relationship "added Ryan

However, Ryan said he's not going to change his style just because he's auditioning for the superintendent's position

"I'm going to do the same things Jim Ryan has been doing all along, for better or for worse," he said "And, that's what I expect to be judged on

"It's really about a good match between the board and superintendent, and that's what the board should be looking at," he said "Plymouth Canton is where careers are completed because it's the big time It's wise for the board to take its Ryan said he'll miss working with Booher "I'm sad to see her go," he said "I'll remember her as a good friend and mentor '

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

■ Supports Horvath

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I support Mark Horvath for the Plymouth-Canton School's Board of Education I served with Mark for three years, two of which he was the board president

You can say that Mark has proven his leadership skills with the Plymouth Canton schools by developing stakeholder (communities/employees) involved vision and mission statement process, initiating the Labor Management Team and earning the respect of the community by effectively communicating the facility needs of the district

But the most important reason to vote for Mark Horvath is the kids I know it sounds funny and a little redundant to say prospective board members are doing it for the kids but Mark has proven himself not only with his words but also by his actions I have seen Mark address the young people who have come before the board in such a wonderful and respectful manner that encourages their input Mark's approach and tone reflect his respect for young people, and it is very obvious that he enjoys and likes being around kids

Mark's zeal to help kids directs his actions and can only be mirrored by the current board's passion in the same direction I trust Mark to work with the current board to do what is best for the safety, welfare and education of all kids in the Plymouth Canton School District Please vote June 10 for Mr Mark Horvath

Carrie F. Blamer

■ Right direction

I write this as an individual board member, and in no way state that I speak for the entire Board of Education But I write as a concerned citizen, mother of three graduates, that wants to see the best education possible given to the children of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools

In recent months there has been a pattern to comments made to the board at meetings With the exception of a large group of teachers addressing a very legitimate concern about testing, almost all comments have been made by the same half-dozen citizens, some of whom are past board presidents or parroting past presidents Past presidents, in fact, who either chose not to run for office when their term ended or who were defeated All their comments have focused on two issues - budget and policy All their comments have been negative

All citizens have a right to make comments What concerns me is that the narrow focus of a few has become the bandwagon of the Observer Claims of how wonderful the past was are ostriches in the sand I know because I was a junior mem ber on some of those past boards The boards that left employee contracts unsettled for long stretches of time, caused the district auditors - Plante Moran - to issue a warning letter on financial accountability, and decimated the ranks of the district administrators

The current board and administration have cleaned up the finances and met and exceeded budget expectations, opened two (soon three) new schools under budget, settled numerous contracts amicably with fiscally responsibility, held scores of eration of top new teachers

On Monday, this community has a clear choice They can choose adult power struggles, squabbling and politics or the future education of our children Every candidate's literature sounds very positive but I urge voters to ask district employees which candidates stand for healthy education in this district and will truly move forward. While the average citizens were happily involved in their local schools with their own kids, a few adults have now chewed up and spit out two highly qualified superıntendents ın seven years

Wake up and vote for the future

Elizabeth M. Givens Plymouth-Canton Board of Education

Live within budget

Walter Kwiatkowski, thanks for your comments regarding John Stewart, (Observer opinion page, May 23)

As a "captive" member of society (72-year-old senior), I get sick every time the schools cry about not having enough money or immediately oppose any idea that they feel might erode their stranglehold on education

I also take issue with most of the seniors in our community for, instead of griping about "fixed income," not rising up as a viable group in our area and helping to get rid of certain individuals who can't live within a budget like a lot of us are forced

Thanks Walt

Ed Smith

■ Bush killing environment

So, we kill of all our rare animals and get left with a few cows and murkey water what happens then? Our ecosystem is where we live, and it directly affects how we live The water, trees, and ground is home to millions of lifeforms, including us What happens if it is gone? The plants and ani mals will perish and so will we

Even though we live life daily without noticing the dangers to our environment so much, others are taking action trying to diffuse what we have so carefuly put up Others are out there polluting our air, water, and land

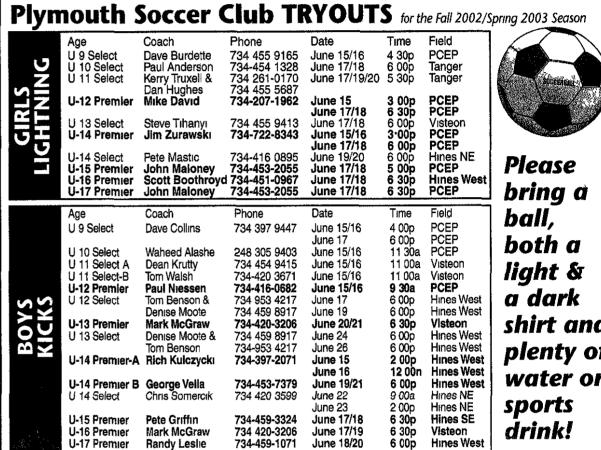

President George W Bush is currently trying to get rid of the Endangered Species Act This act was set years ago in an attempt to save what ani mals we have left on this precious planet Current ly he is attempting to convince our government that if citizens petition to save an animal, it may pass, but the government would not enforce it If the government doesn't enforce it who will? Once this law is weakened, what will happen to our community as a whole? We will be losing some of the beauties of the world

Do not let Bush fool you with his propaganda Remember that someday we will have to face what he leaves us with, whether it be nuclear fields or rain so acidic it eats through your skin

For the sake of our environment, and the future of our children, don't just sit at home Send letters to Bush and Congress Do Not let them kill of our ecosystem just for money

City road project gets 2002 start

Plymouth's 2002 road improvement project officially begins Monday

City Manager Paul Sincock said Consumers Energy will begin installing a new gas main on Harvey Street, between Church and Fleet streets

"The new gas main will provide an upgrade to the natural gas service in the downtown area," said Sincock "There will be some significant traffic delays on Harvey, and a lane closure from time to time We may even need to close a small portion of Harvey at some point '

After the work by Consumers Energy is complete, the city's $2 improvements will begin June 17 on Blanche Street

"That will initially start with prep work, which will include the removal of the existing road surface, and installation of water mains and sewer repairs," he said "After that, full street construction will begin '

Sincock said Blanche Street should be completed by early July, after which construction crews will move to Sunset, between Junction and Penniman "with removal of the street and installation of water mains" Sunset is expected to take a couple of weeks, according to Sin-

Construction crews will wait until after Art in the Park (July 12,13 and 14) to begin work on Penniman, between Sheldon and Harvey

"We hope to have Penniman completed before Fall Festival begins (Sept 5)," said Sincock "Weather, site conditions and other issues will have an impact on the tentative schedule"

Residents will have a second opportunity to discuss the projects with city officials and engineers on Tuesday, June 11, from 7-8 30 pm at the Cultural Cen-

"The purpose of the meeting is to provide more detailed inforcity's road project," said Sincock "If there are any special need considerations, we want to take care of those as well "

Canton planners OK day care center

By JACK GLADDEN STAFF WRITER jgladden@oe.homecomm net

After much discussion and some objections from area homeowners, the Canton Planning Commission on Monday approved a special land use request to build a child care center on Canton Center Road, just south of Joy and across the street from Canton High School

The 14,000-square-foot building would be located on a $2-\frac{1}{2}$ acre parcel on the east side of Canton Center, which was the site of a feed store until it closed three years ago The center would house 20 employees and would provide care for up to 100 children

Residents expressed concerns over the proximity of the playground to their existing homes, traffic congestion on Canton Center Road and the effect the center would have on their property values Mike Wilson, who lives just south of the property, said in addition to traffic and the loca tion of the playground he was concerned about the design of the building "It's supposed to be residential in appearance," he said "This looks more commercial to me " Scott Schmidt, who lives on Canton Center south of the site said he was concerned with the potential increased noise prob lems and the extra traffic added to Canton Center near the high

"We witness an accident probably at least once a week now," he told the commission

Wilson and Schmidt also wrote letters to the commission, in which they cited the existence of six or seven other day care centers in the area on Joy, Canton Center, Warren and Sheldon

And Art Guzman, another neighbor who said he has lived in Canton for about 18 years, was concerned about property values declining

"Having a business next door is like a punch in the kidney," he

Builder Earl Hall and archi tect Al Valentine said they would reconfigure the play area to keep it at least 75 feet from existing residences and would extend a buffer line between it and the residences

Hall said he was "extremely sensitive to their issues" but promised to add more landscape to create more buffer and said that when the new high school opens off of Beck Road it should mean less traffic on Canton Cen

"We want to be good neigh bors "he said

Commissioners listened atten tively and often sympathetically to both sides They finally approved the request condi tioned upon moving the play area as far north of the existing residences as possible and providing a buffer along the south property line The project now has to come back before the commission for site plan approval

At the moment the plans call for building a 79-room Hawthorne Suites Hotel and a National Coney Island A future connection to the existing Fairfield Inn property is planned

■ Approved a request for a 16,800-square foot building to house multiple retail tenants just north of Michigan Avenue and west of Canton Center The Shops at Premier Center would be located on the property with the Home Depot, Standard Federal Bank, Kroger and Bob

- presented by -

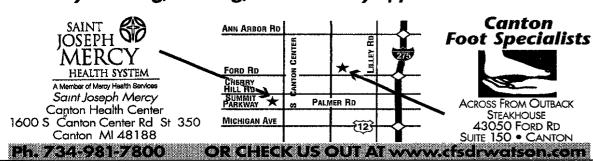

Canton Foot Specialists

Dr Michael Lefkowitz

HEEL PAIN CAN BE SOLVED The most common cause of heel pain is incorrect foot movement during walking or running. This can place too much stress on the heel bone and the soft tissues that attached to it. Muscle and bone problems can be inherited, external causes such as heel injury or bruising, poorly fitted or worn-out shoes, and excessive weight also play a role, the incorrect movement of the foot can be corrected with an orthotic device

We specialize in non-surgical relief of heel pain. Early morning, evening, and Saturday appointments available.

tion and decide if Jim wants the job permanently, and if we would like him to have the position permanently," said Givens

Givens said Ryan would probably be evaluated in December, at which time he could either be given the job or a formal search would begin

When Chuck Little resigned as superintendent in July 1999, the board selected an outsider, Ken Walcott, as the interim until Booher took over in February 2000

Trustee Judy Mardigian said she's enthusiastic about Ryan taking over as interim

"We're very fortunate to have such a strong person with so much experience," she said "This way we can hit the ground running'

As for giving the job to Ryan permanently, Mardigian said, "We're going to take it one step at a time, and move ahead cautiously, but with optimısm "

Board member Tom Wysocki said, "I think Dr Ryan is in a good position to step in as interim superintendent He's a very positive person " As for a superintendent search, Wysocki added, "I think we have to go through a process, whether it's for one candidate, or multiple candidates '

Givens said there are a couple of reasons why Ryan may be the logical choice to take over, at least for the time being "The administrative structure is in place, so we can do without the search Besides, this is a bad time of year to be looking for a superintendent because they have already made their plans for the next school year," she said "And, with the possibility of three new board members, it would be tough to conduct a search" Givens, along with fellow trustees Judy Mardigian and Mark Slavens, will be the only three board members left who were involved in the search that brought Booher to Plymouth-Canton from Berkley Monday's school board election will definitely produce two new board members as Susan Davis and Darwin Watts are not seeking re-election

Ryan has been an educator for 31 years, with 11 of those as superintendent in two districts From 1990 94, Ryan was superintendent in Reed City, and in Waverly from 1994-2001, before moving to Plymouth Canton to become deputy superintend-

"Jim's track record is good,' said Givens "He wanted to be deputy superintendent, the head of the core team, and he has established himself The core team works well with him, and he knows how to build relationships

Givens said if Ryan doesn't become Plymouth-Canton's next superintendent, he will continue as deputy superintendent

coffee house on Penniman, next to the post office It's known as a hangout for young people They host poetry readings there, and open microphone nights, and music Breakfast is available Saturdays, and lunch specials are available daily

There's the Bean Trivia question, and all kinds of newspapers and magazines to read Sandwiches are home-made daily, and they offer freshsqueezed juices Their yogurt is organic and the food is healthy

■ Starbucks, the first tenant to open its doors in the new Mayflower Centre. offers much of the same things lots of different coffees, tables up front where people can sit quietly and talk. You can even get the New York Times there.

The Bean is smaller than Starbucks, and arguably the most popular of the coffee houses There are several small nooks and crannies, and a back room where the poetry readings and musical engagements are held You can play chess or other games there, or you can sit out on the front porch and just hang out, as a number of young people do nightly

Owner/manager Justen Hemme knows none of that is going to change, and has noticed no effect on his business since Starbucks opened a week ago

"There's been no impact that's noticeable," said Hemme "I expect it might for a couple of months, until the novelty (of having Starbucks) wears off But this place has been here 10 years, we've got more food and a bet ter ambiance All of that is a factor'

That's what Abby Case of Plymouth thinks She admits to a certain bias because she used to work at The Coffee Bean, and knows the people who work there now But that aside, she thinks the rea sons people won't leave The Coffee Bean are simple "The coffee is better,' said Case "They're friendly, I like the atmosphere and the people, and the coffee is better '

Unlike the folks at The Coffee Bean, manage ment at The Coffee Studio on Ann Arbor Trail have noticed a dramatic drop in clientele, particularly in the mornings, which attracted a lot of rushing patrons stopping for their early caffeine fix on their way to work

In the week since Starbucks opened however, the flow of patrons has slowed to a trickle

"Morning traffic is so slow now," said Ashley Armbruster of Canton, a barrister at the Studio "We used to get a steady stream of morning people on their way to work, but now it's so slow Now it's just the regulars, and there aren't as many of them'

The Studio is a clean, well organized place with a covered front porch and an upstairs that pro vides a place to get away and sit quietly According to Armbruster, it was a pretty popular place for people studying for finals over the last few weeks

There are a handful of regulars and on at least one recent morning a couple of people conducting Plugging away: Ashley Armbruster. a barrister at the Coffee Studio, said they still get their regulars but morning traffic has slowed since Starbucks opened.

a business meeting over a cup of latte

"It's quiet, more personalized," said Armbruster, who admits she hangs out at the Studio even when she isn't working "I know pretty much everyone who comes in here And we have better coffee We get people who will ask, 'What do you have that tastes like Starbucks,' and I tell them, 'Nothing, because we aren't Starbucks "

Carol Was of Canton is the poetry editor for The MacGuffin, the literary journal at Schoolcraft College, and a regular at The Coffee Studio She likes the chocolate the Studio uses to make her favorite

"I like the atmosphere, the coffee and the chocolate," at the Coffee Studio, Was said "That and the food They offer more food products, whereas Starbucks is limited more to pastries'

Starbucks, the first tenant to open its doors in the new Mayflower Centre, offers much of the same things - lots of different coffees, tables up front where people can sit quietly and talk You can even get the New York Times there Parking is a problem, so Starbucks gets a lot of foot traffic And, while folks at both the Bean and the Studio say business hasn't been affected all that much, there are obviously plenty of people glad the big chain is in town Janeen Foreman of Canton is one of them Addicted to chai latte, a tea she says Starbucks makes to perfection Foreman used to drive into downtown Northville in order to get a cup When she found out Starbucks was coming to town, she couldn't have been happier

"The other places just don't make the tea the same and I ve tried them all," she said "Before they opened, I was like a little kid at the window, yelling 'open open open '

Carol Was the poetry editor from Schoolcraft College has attended poetry nights at the Bean, is a regular at the Studio, and frequents Starbucks, as well

'I think all three have something to offer," she said with a smile I suspect this town is large enough to accommodate three coffee houses

Over 65 group to double in metro area by 2030

BY CHRISTINE BRODA STAFF WRITER

By 2030, all the members of the generation that lived through the Vietnam War, ushered in the first color television and can remember exactly where they were when President Kennedy was shot will be over age 65

These retirement-age baby boomers will account for the almost doubling of the 65 and over age-group population, according to the 2030 Regional Development Forecast recently released by the Southeast Michigan Councal of Governments

Thirty years from now, southeast Michigan will be home to nearly 562,000 more people over age 65 than there were in the 2000 Census Wayne County alone will see a 69 percent increase in population for this age

As baby boomers - those who are now between the ages of 36-55 - pass beyond the childbearing phase of life and prepare to enter their senior years, the entire face of communities and institutions will change drastically, says Jim Rogers, SEMCOG Data Center Manager, who oversaw the compilation of the 2030 forecast report "As people grow older they develop a different set of needs, interests and preferences for spending money," Rogers said These concerns are just now coming to us and they're going to accelerate over the coming years"

Rogers said one of the most significant impacts of this population age-group shift will be on the workforce Baby boomers who are now in their prime working years will be retiring in greater numbers over the next 30 years, taking out a large chunk of the current working population

"This is going to put real strains on the workforce," Rogers said, noting that such labor changes will have a key impact on the economy as well as on consumption patterns

The aging of the baby boomer generation will also shift demand and society patterns in other aspects of community life such as housing, transportation, voting and recreation

Rogers noted that more retirement and senior-living homes are already springing up, an influx he attributes to the combined fact that people are living longer and the overall wealth of society has

Uncorking a wine bottle closure issue

Wine lovers have accepted the tra-ditional cork too long!

We've been frustrated with the standard natural cork closure It has made favorite wines "corky," spoiling them with an off-odor and flavor, imparted to wine by natural corks that are contaminated with the chemical trichloroanisole (TCA) We've cringed as an inexperienced waitperson struggles to open a bottle we've ordered in a restaurant

Corks crumble as a corkscrew is pushed through and some cork pieces float in an otherwise pristine glass of wine Corks break as attempts are made to extract them from the neck of the bottle At such times, a synthetic cork, screwtop or even crown cap seems preferable!

OK, crown caps are a bit radical Yet winemakers such as David Forsyth of Hogue Cellars in Prosser, Wash, said "it's not a question of if, it's when" synthetic corks will be found in more wine bottles than natural corks

Synthetic cork manufacturer Supreme Corq commissioned research into consumer attitudes toward synthetic corks They learned that while consumers may be aghast at premium wine bottles with screwtops, wines that used synthetic corks garnered no negative perceptions

Other research findings

The Portuguese Cork Association (APCOR) cried FOUL Why? Portu gal is the world's leading manufactur er of natural corks

APCOR commissioned an independ ent international research group, to survey wine drinkers in Australia, the UK and the US This survey showed that 75 percent expressed a preference for natural cork, with just 9 percent for plastic stoppers The preference was strongest in the US at 81 percent with 73 and 72 percent respectively for the UK and Australia

A total of 69 percent of those polled believe that a real cork in a wine bottle is viewed as an indication of wine quality, rising as high as 83 percent in the US and 79 percent in Australia Yet, the type of closure ranked as the fourth most important factor in wine choice, with only 26 percent claiming ıt was a very important factor

Ranking at the top of wine choice factors was previous experience with the wine That's great! Brand loyalty If you like it, you'll buy it again Next most important at 53 percent was wine style

So what? Cork is natural, recyclable and biodegradable No manmade substitute replicates these cork properties Although recycled cork is never used again as a wine bottle closure, it has other uses, such as the manufacture of bulletin boards, placemats, coasters, floor tiles or gaskets That's good, but a cork is small compared to our green wine bottles that are not accepted for recycling!

Food experts offer gift ideas for fathers who love to cook

Grilling is year-round for this family

By Norman Prady SPECIAL WRITER

If Memorial Day just past was the start of barbecuing season across America, it was merely another in the endless series of strolls to the grill for the Thomas family of Beverly Hills

"We cook out three or four nights a week," said Susie Thomas, 36, a pre K schoolteacher "Everything tastes better The meat is juicier A steak in the oven is dried out I've got to have it done on a grill

But it isn't just the taste of the food that drives the Thomas family out of the house for more than half of their daily dinners Susie and her husband, Dr Mark, 34, a pediatrician, like the reduced clean-up

"No pans," said Mark "No big mess in the kitchen And, we like being outdoors "

Susie and Mark use a propane grill, but they don't have big issues about the taste of propane cooking versus charcoal cooking

Mark likes to grill salmon filets, strip steaks, marinat ed shrimp, and chicken For Susie, the greatest thrill of the grill is not animal but vegetable

The well-dressed salad sports less fat

FROM THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR CANCER RESEARCH

Salad is often the first thing people think of when they're trying to cut down on calories and eat healthy

It's a good instinct - salads made with leafy greens and other veggies are packed with important nutrients and health protection The problem is when those salads get dressed To put it bluntly - they get fat

There are plenty of ways to get lots of flavor in a dressing without a lot of fat Olive oil is fine for a base when used in moderate amounts Other bases, though, like a fruit or vegetable juice, can replace the oil in many vinaigrette recipes Even creamy dressings don't have to be heavy and fat-laden They can be lightened up with non- or low-fat buttermilk. yogurt, or sour cream

Here's a trio of healthful dressings that are simply made and simply delicious

CREAMY BASIL DRESSING

- 1/2 cup low fat plain yogurt 3 tablespoons low fat cottage cheese
- 2 tablespoons finely minced fresh basil
- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar or to taste

he tones in most photographs range from white to black with a vari ety of tones in between It is the relationship of these tones that give three-dimensional form and depth to a picture And the tonal contrast of an image is usu ally affected by how a subject is

With color, the same principal applies, but adjacent areas may also be differentiated by color rather than brightness A photographer's skill lies in making a two dimensional photograph appear with a third dimension A full tonal range will make this possible For instance, a solid white ball lit directly from the front will have no shadows or highlights It will appear as a solid circle of white in a photograph But move the light to the side in order to create shadows and the differ 'ence will become immediately jobvious The ball will develop a complete range of tones from white on the lit side, gradually darkening grays in the center, to

Thinking of the ball as an example, become aware of tone in everyday life Take a friend outdoors and notice how a hard source of light such as direct sun creates solid tones on the face with clearly defined steps. The soft light on an overcast day pro duces mildly changing tones on the face with barely noticeable

There is a strong connection between the tones in a photo graph and mood it conveys A picture with mostly light tones is called "high-key" and has a deli

Photographs with a full tonal range, bright highlights and crisp shadows, create normal easily accepted images

Contrast is the relationship between the lightest and darkest tones A picture that is dominated by extremely light and dark tones is described as high contrast Where there's only a small difference between the brightest and darkest tones, you have a low contrast image A photo graph with full range of lights and darks is considered to be normal contrast

Contrast is primarily con trolled by lighting Bright sun light will create high contrast subjects while soft lighting an overcast day creates a softer contrast image

Scripts light imagination

BY STACY JENKINS STAFF WRITER

No costumes, fancy lighting, music or elaborate props, just the words and the imagination will take center stage as local playwrights present their works in raw form at Playscape, a festival celebrating original fulllength plays

Presented by Heartlande Theatre Company and Oakland University, the three-day event will feature staged readings of scripts written by local talent and a "Imagery in Playwrighting" workshop conducted by Stephen Svoboda, an assistant professor at the University of Mıamı

The festival, to be held at Oakland University's Lab Theatre in Varner Hall Friday Sunday, June 14 16, will offer an educational forum for local play wrights and audience members who will be invited to offer feed back following each reading

'The Big One," written by Beverly Hills playwright Kim Carney and directed by Mary Locker, is among the theatrical works to be presented at the festival The two-character romantic comedy is set in a Beverly Hills, Calif mansion, where an attractive real estate agent accompanies a handsome prospective buyer The two are trapped in the wine cellar following an earthquake and embark on personal journeys and resurrection

Carney, whose 13th play will be produced late summer in New Jersey, said the staged reading will be nothing more than two people on a stage with two chairs

"It's bare bones, that's for sure 'Carney said "It's about the script '

It will be the first time the script is read for a general audience The staged reading is an integral part of the creative process, said Carney Each of her produced theatrical works stemmed from such readings She sits in the audience and noted

"It's educational, especially for the playwright," she said "Sometimes you lose your perspective on the script, so it's nice to hear it again through somebody who has never heard it before A lot of that is real helpful It's just really invaluable

Other works presented at Playscape include, "Freeman's Grounding," a play set in 1795 that explores the meaning of freedom, written by MV Patton, of Ferndale and directed by Stephanie L Nichols

"Innocence, Peppermint," a story of a couple's feud over "protecting" their daughter, written by Steve Daut, of Chelsea and directed by T Andrew Aston, will also be presented for the first time to a general audience

Svoboda will present his cur rent work Reconstructing Mama in a staged reading An da earned national acclaim for his work, "Thin Blue Curtains," as one of the best plays dealing with the AIDS issue since "Angels ın Amerıca '

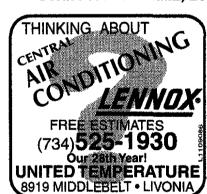

Staged readings are educational and entertaining for the audience as well, said Jan Radcliff, a founding member of Heartlande Theatre Company, which is dedicated to supporting local playwrights Because there are no props, music or choreography, the raw scripts leave much to the imagination of the viewer

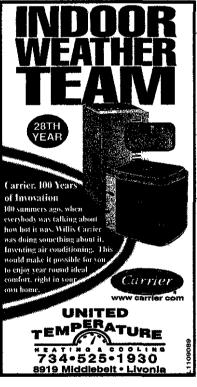

"We're trying to reach an audience who is interested in seeing it all come together," Radcliff said "The audience gets a better understanding of how difficult it is to do and how complex a particular art form can be The more sophisticated an audience becomes, the higher the appreciation of what it takes to create a play'

Golfer's massage relieves muscles

Tamara Spa, 32520 Northwestern Highway in Farmington Hills, is introducing an all new, 70 minute sports massage especially for golfers

Massage is beneficial for lots of reasons, but the most important one is circulation. If a muscle is stiff because of a long day on the golf course, getting oxygenated blood to the area improves the condition rapidly

Spa owner Tamara Friedman said there are also reasons to get a massage before a round of golf "Massage makes the muscles more pliable and may lessen the chance of injury," Friedman said "The pre exercise massage is a little different from the one you would get after playing It is designed to provide more of an energizing feel " Manipulating soft tissues feels good, Friedman

Get away for a relaxing weekend in Indiana's Amish country

BY THREEOLBAGS SPECIAL WRITERS

"Our guests would like to try some garden tea," our gracious hostess said to her daughter "Bring in some peppermint and spearmint"

Without a word the young girl found some scissors and headed out the front door Minutes later the ThreeOlBags sat down to a wonderful cup of freshly brewed "garden tea" Our chance to visit the tidy home of this hospitable Amish family was the highlight of our two day trip to Amish country ın northern Indiana

Our adventure began on Friday morning when we drove the short four hours from Detroit and arrived at Market Street Guest House in Nappanee, Ind It's a beautiful historic home on the main street in town We found our accommodations online, and were very happy with our choice, and our charming innkeeper. Stevenson seizes regional crown

Final 4 bound after 2-1 win

BY GREG MIGLIORE STAFF WRITER gmigliore@oe.homecomm.net

Livonia Stevenson's girls soccer team was in no mood for a letdown

Coming off a 1-0 victory over favored Northville in the regional semifinals 48 hours earlier, the Spartans controlled much of the offensive play and beat Ann Arbor Pioneer, 2-1, to clinch the Division I regional title Friday night at Novi's Meadow Stadium

"I don't think anyone besides myself and our team expected us to do that," said Spartans coach Chris Pinta, whose team is 15-5-1 overall "We're improving each game "

Proneer coach Chris Morgan said his team made mistakes against the Spartans and could not recover

"They would make you pay," he said Junior defender Ashley Aja scored the game-winner with a rising shot into the top of the net over the outstretched hands of leaping Pioneer goal keeper Erica Goethel at 22 05 of the second half

"The second goal was unfortunate," Morgan said "That flighted goal's a killer It was just a well-struck ball"

The Proneers (15-4-1) came back on Joanne Bellfi's breakaway goal at Pinta said he was worried about a letdown following Wednesday's victory over Western Lakes Activities Association rival and No 2-ranked Northville

"This game, I had some concern, but they responded" said the first-year coach

Morgan said his team switched its alignment for a 3-5-2 to a 3-4-3 with about 20 minutes left to try to generate

This should have been a story that, in reality, was just a couple of paragraphs After all, Madonna University's men's soccer program isn't blessed with an abundance of athletic scholarship funds, and what coach Pete Alexander had was already tied up in the players he has returning

Which is everyone

"Recruiting without scholarship money," Alexander said, "well, I am very happy with what we ended up

Make that overgoyed Alexander - whose Crusader team battled through an injury-plagued campaign to post a 12-9-1 record, winning the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Tournament and coming within one win of the NAIA Tournament - has commitments from nine players, three of whom could crack the start-

The Madonna coach didn't have to travel far to pick up two of his top recruits T J Djokic and Jamie Miller both played for Livonia Stevenson, Djokic earning all-Western Lakes Activities Association honors as a standout midfielder and Miller also getting all-WLAA accolades to go with second team all-state honors Miller finished with a team-best 10 goals and 11

"He can play anywhere," said Alexander "I talked to coaches that played against his (Hamtramck) team and they said he was the only guy that kept them in the game He's a very well-rounded player, and one of our most excit ing recruits "

Then there's Shane Smith, a forward from Plymouth Salem who Alexander called "a workhorse He's got a lot of speed, good size and he's very quick I like what Shane gives

"T J , Shane and Bernie are potential starters," said Alexander "Maybe they won't get it right away, but they'll learn I'm very position-specific I call it functional training, making sure they know what they're going to do' Others Alexander figures will make an impact on his team are midfielder Evan Baker, from Plymouth Canmidfielder

Catholic Central, Jeff Luttrell, a Canton resident, Brandon Sullivan, from Dearborn Heights Crestwood, and Garrett Dykes, from Woodhaven

Indeed, both the number and quality of his recruits even surprised Alexander "This is one of our best recruiting classes ever," he insisted "Not just in adding depth, but starters, too what we have coming back, we could have a phenomenal team," he said "This could be our best season" It's certainly off to a promising start

Schoolcraft's Hamilton, Kmet moving on

As good as they were, a pair of Schoolcraft College volleyball standouts will have an opportunity to get even better as they take their talents to other schools

Fran Hamilton, a 5-foot-11 do-everything from South Lyon, and Andrea Kmet, a 5-10 outside hitter from Livo nia Churchill, have been recruited and signed by four-year schools Hamilton will attend Lee University in Tennessee, Kmet has already signed with Northern Michigan University and is already in attendance there Hamilton was SC's team MVP last year, when the Lady Ocelots posted a 40-12 overall record, and was co-MVP as a freshman when SC went 24-13 Last year, she averaged 35 kills per game with a 318 kill percentage, collecting 91 service aces, 389 digs and 46 blocks She was also MVP of the NJCAA Region 12 Tournament

"Fran has played every position for Schoolcraft College," said SC coach Tom Teeters "In most cases this coaching technique is employed to hide a team's weaker player(s) In our case, it was to expose our strongest athlete, Fran, to more responsibility and to match up to the opponent's strength'

Her wide-ranging abilities are something Lee University coach Andrea Hudson savors "Fran is an excellent all-around player," she said "She is versatile on the front and back rows She is very vocal and active on the court, which will blend in well with our team She works hard in the classroom and brings that same work ethic to the volleyball court " Hamilton reportedly discovered Lee

University while surfing the internet, searching for a Christian college that had a solid volleyball program After looking at several other schools, includ ing Hillsdale, she settled on Lee I was able to visit last November and loved it immediately," Hamilton said "The team was really friendly and their level of play impressed me' Kmet shared MVP honors and the team captaincy with Hamilton last season, leading the team with 523 kills

(3 96 per game) with a 247 kill percentage She also had 112 aces, 428 digs and 59 blocks, earning all-Eastern Conference, all-state and all-region honors After spending her first season at SC at middle blocker (she was named the team's top blocker and top passer as a freshman), Kmet moved to left-side attacker last season and, according to Teeters, "blossomed into that position

"Her defense, foot speed and arm quickness contributed to her success Other strengths Andrea possessed were her jump serve and her great passing form This resulted in her serve receiving a majority of the opponents' serves successfully

And it led to SC winning a lot of matches the past two years

MHSAA submits sports plan that is more like comedy show

District Court judge in Kala mazoo. Michigan High School Athletic Association recently submitted a plan that Backed into a corner by a US

BRAD would change the scheduling to its tournaments in three sports The MHSAA also has submitted a plan to start four new postseason girls tournaments before adding any more for boys

Gender equity and the align ment of current sports seasons namely girls volleyball and basketball - have put the MHSAA ın a pıckle

But it just doesn't boil down to switching seasons for girls and boys golf, tennis and swimming It comes down to the old cigarette commercial "Wouldn't you rather fight than switch' The MHSAA's plan to add four more post-season tourneys for girls is curious, even laughable Somebody up in MHSAA office in Lansing must have been in a back room gagging with laughter when they came up with this plan to appease the K'zoo judge Of course, the MHSAA is banking on a favorable decision down the road by the Sixth Cir cuit of the US Court of Appeals. which delayed the District Court's ruling that seasons be realigned in 2003 04

If the MHSAA wins this case, it's business as usual

Or is it?

Two new tournaments would be initiated each year for two years with the MHSAA choosing the four sports that best serves its membership from the follow ing list of 12 sports bowling, crew, equestrian, field hockey, figure skating, ice hockey, indoor track and field, lacrosse, power lifting, synchronized swimming, water polo and wrestling

Which sports have the best chance of advancing in the field of 12?

I thought I'd give Jack Roberts and his staff some odds

It's time to handicap their

Bowling (2-to-1): Despite beer advertisements and ciga rette smoke, most schools could come up with a squad and gain access to plenty of lanes, espe cially during the day

Ice hockey (5-to-2): Most suburban school districts could put a unified squad on the ice The sport is growing in popularity among girls following the last two Olympic Games Doesn't Title IX stipulate if they allow checking for boys, shouldn't they do the same for girls?

Field hockey (8-to-1): Popular among private and preppy schools It's been_a traditional sport for women The big question Do you play it in the fall or the spring?

Lacrosse (10-to-1): An east coast sport that appears to be more popular among boys than girls, although they do have a team at Livonia Ladywood

Water polo (12-to-1): Another sport the Ann Arbor, Birmingham and Grosse Pointe schools could dominate Wrestling (20-to-1): I thought the girls enjoyed competing against the guys?

Crew (30-to-1): The Detroit River is a great place to start a league Hines Parkway could also be considered if the average rainfall is un Equestrian (40-to-1): Not exactly a cheap sport, unlike bowling What about liability? Who grooms the horses? What does the coach do?

we need are more Ken Caminiti and Jose Canseco female-types Indoor track and field (60to-1): Don't tear Cobo Hall down

Powerlifting (50-to-1): All just yet Synchronized swimming (80-to-1): Sure we have the pools, but do we have enough noseplugs and swim caps? Who selects the music?

Figure skating (100-to-1): Crooked French judges, Tonva Harding vs Nancy Kerrigan It's almost as frightening as compet itive cheer What about competi tive pom pon?

It's WLAA realignment

It's official, the Western Lakes Activities Association Board of Directors approved a new league configuration in the 2004 05 school year

With the departure of the three Farmington high schools - Harrison, North and Farmington — the goal of the WLAA was to stabilize its athletic schedule

The new look WLAA for 2002-03 and 2003-04 will feature Plymouth Canton, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Northville and Walled Lake Western in the Western Division, and Westland John Glenn, Plymouth Salem, Livonia Stevenson, Walled Lake Central and newcomer Wayne Memorial in the Lakes Division

The shift comes the following year (2004 05) with two other schools, Plymouth High and Walled Lake Northern, joining the fray

The Western Division will include Canton, Franklin.

Northville, Plymouth, Walled Lake Western and Wayne

The Lakes will feature Churchill, John Glenn, Salem, Stevenson, Walled Lake Central and Northern

The most noteworthy switch in 2004-05 comes when Churchill and Stevenson become divisional

Ironically, I haven't heard one complaint about the new configurations Is that surprising?

No, because the Farmington Schools will be happy as larks in the Oakland Activities Associa-

Shaw's season ends

One of the great athletic careers in Observerland history came to an abrupt end in the Division III track regional May 18 in Almont when Livonia Clarenceville's Tim Shaw pulled out of the 100-meter dash preliminaries with a pulled ham-

The 6-foot-2, 221-pound Shaw, the state's all-time leader in career rushing yards and touchdowns, had qualified for the state meet in the long jump, but did not make the trip Saturday to Comstock Park

"The risk of further injury before going to Penn State (for football) just wasn't worth it."

first-year Clarenceville coach Dean Bergeron "He's been doing better He's jogging a little bit and he's getting physical therapy Shaw was the defending Division III state champion in the 100 and was runner-up in the

He had lost a hotly contested 100-meter race to Division IV state champion Darryl Anglin of Redford Bishop Borgess in the Observerland Relays on May 4 at Livonia Churchill

Shaw never made it either to the Metro Conference meet May 14 at Lutheran Westland

It's no wonder Shaw or any track athlete, for that matter at Clarenceville, didn't come up with a pulled hamstring with the unseasonably cold spring and overloaded schedule

Curiously, Clarenceville competed in some ill-advised backto-back Monday-Tuesday dual meets for three consecutive weeks from April 22 through May 7

There was simply no time for recovery and Shaw unfortunately paid the price

He had been the school's JV coach for the previous 10 years, compiling an overall record of 131-69 at that level

At the end of the last season, Turnguist said he met with Assistant Principal Dennis Noe and requested a meeting with Principal Rande Horn when it became apparent he wasn t going to be retained The meet ing with Horn confirmed that, he said

When asked for his comment Horn said he had a letter of res ignation from Turnouist and referred the matter to Brian Swinehart, the athletic director for Farmington Public Schools

"It became very apparent I was longer wanted as basketball coach," Turnquist said, "so I offered my resignation along with some very constructive issues with regard to sports in general at Harrison"

Harrison has already hired a replacement for Turnquist, however, Horn declined to say who the new coach will be, also referring that issue to Swinehart, who was not available Friday afternoon The new coach apparently will be on the teaching staff at Harrison and will have a school could hire an experienced, qualified coach who is in the building every day, that's what they should do," Turnquist said "The daily interactions between a coach and his players and their teachers is critical to the overall success of any program

"I am disappointed in the way it was handled in the end. The communication between myself and the principal was never what it should have been, and for that I'll take some of the responsibility

"(Horn) and I have had only two serious conversations about basketball over the past eight years The first was two years ago when he said, 'Good luck, I hope you're here a long time The second was two months ago when he said, 'You're fired' and even with that one, he had his assistant tell me that news

many Sunday morning bowling leagues in the area in spite of the fact that some people like to just sleep in on that day

Sundays are also a traditionreligious experience, as others will use that time to attend church and some folks even use bowling as a religious outlet as they seem to always pray for a strike

Among the Jewish bowlers, the usual venue would be Sunday mornings with fresh coffee and fresher bagels as a pre-bowling treat The B'Nai Brith leagues in this area were the largest and most active in the USA for many

One such B'Naı Brith bowler many years ago was Harry Mendelsohn, now retired and a resident of West Bloomfield

He was a pretty good bowler in his day, but was having a bad are year and dropped down to a 130 Haines of Westland average His league duty was to fetch the bagels and bring them to the bowling alley

Often there were times when Harry would run into a priest who was also getting bagels for his league

As Harry recalls, "We would talk bowling, wish each other luck and part

"One Sunday morning as we were about to leave with our bagels, his bag split open and they all fell on the floor I got on my hands and knees and helped him pick up the bagels He then blesses me (a Jewish boy getting blessed by a priest) and I got to the league and opened with four strikes and finished with a 248 game' The guys all asked Harry what happened to him, and he replied

"I got blessed by a priest" The next two games he bowled 116 and 131

The following week as he saw the Priest, he thanked him and said, "I would appreciate it if your blessing was good for all three games instead of just one"

•A couple of weeks ago, our story was about bowler Terry

He rolled 35 of a possible 36 strikes in his three-game series for a Detroit area record tying total of 879, setting a new alltime high series mark in the Western Wayne Metro Bowling Association

Now, Terry has made the most of his talent by turning it into some good hard cash in the Mid-States Masters 215 division competition

His 253-217 victory over Bran don Dale of Warren was good for the top prize of $1,200 in the 2002 Mid-States Masters Rose bowl Classic held at Rosebowl Lanes in Windsor

Row your boat, junior!

A new survey, commissioned by the National Marine Manufacturers Association and conducted by the Impulse Research Corporation, found that kids who boat are healthier physically and psychologically than their non-boating counterparts The online survey was conducted with a random sample of 1,004 parents, half of whom have children who boat regularly, and have who do not

Families who boat reported their children to be healthier than those who don't (71 percent of boaters said their children's health was excellent, as opposed to 61 percent of nonboaters) While it might seem obvious that boating can promote physical fitness, boating can also help children psychologically

Children who boat learn to be more outgoing and less shy or introverted They are better team players (63 percent compared to 53 percent) and tend to be more optimistic (52 percent to 43 percent) and self-confident Boaters' children (75 percent to 65 percent) tended to be the leader more often than their peers are offers low-cost mental health care

By Laura Colvin Special Writer

A potential solution to the high cost and inaccessibility of quality mental health care is available and open to the public at Livonia's Madonna University Opened in early May, the new Psychological Services Clinic offers reduced-fee psychological assessment, treat ment and testing to the general public, as well as to the university's students, staff and facul-

'We wanted to create a place where people could come and receive affordable, high-quality mental health care without the limits often imposed by other facilities, said Robert Cohen, Ph D, director of both the Psychological Services Clinic and the Master's of Science in Clinical Psychology program at Madonna

"Often, insurance companies and community organizations place restrictions on the number of sessions a person can attend, or limits to what kinds of problems a person can be treated for There are no such limits here," he con tinued

In an effort to promote awareness and edu cation, the clinical staff is embarking on a campus-wide campaign to dispel the negative connotations associated with mental health

There are a lot of myths about mental health care but things like depression and anxiety can lead to the deterioration of rela tionships and prevent a person from doing well in school or at work, said Cohen "Years of research show that therapy helps, and helps more than medication alone

Although it is staffed mainly by graduate students working under the supervision of doctoral-level psychologists, the clinic also provides some services from faculty members who are licensed, experienced professionals Cohen is one of several staff members who, in addition to his work at the university, also has an established private practice

Treatment is available at the clinic for a wide range of difficulties, including depression

Alcohol before bed: No Rx for insomnia

ANN ARBOR, Mich - Many people think of alcohol as a substance that can help them relax after a long day at the office or even act as a sleeping aid after a stressful or active day But a drink before bed can have a serious effect on sleep, often aggravating insomnia rather than eliminating it And for those people at risk for alcohol dependence, drinking regularly before bed, over time, could lead to dependency

In fact, ongoing research at the Addiction Research Center at the University of Michigan Health System shows a strong relationship between alcohol dependence and insomnia, defined as trouble falling asleep, staying asleep or feeling dissatisfied with sleep. The study revealed that up to 75 percent of people surveyed who were alcohol dependent had difficulty with insomnia However, alcohol's effect on sleep is not limited to those who are alcohol dependent

Alcohol disrupts sleep,' says Dr Kirk Brower, a U-M addiction psychiatrist who leads the research 'It may help people initially fall asleep, but as it wears off when blood alcohol levels drop during sleep, it will cause a person to wake up or have restless sleep

Alcohol dependence, also affects other areas of a person's life When a person is alcohol dependent, he or she may drink more than intended, even though there may be a desire to stop or cut down Due to an impaired control over alcohol, that will continue to drink despite adverse consequences Alcoholism often refers to a severe, chronic and progressive form of alcohol dependence, which worsens over time without treatment A vicious cycle can develop when people become dependent on alcohol to help them sleep The alcohol may work initially, but over time, it can disrupt sleep, causing a person to feel the need to drink even more before bed to fall asleep Ultimately, Brower says, this cycle leads to an increased use of alcohol

'There's really a spectrum of drinking before bed, says Brower Some people have one drink, the so-called 'nightcap,' while others may drink more heavily, causing an even greater disruption to sleep But sleep laboratory tests have also shown that even one drink before bed can be disruptive to sleep

Sleeping patterns

Taking an even closer look at the effect of alcohol on sleep, Brower and his colleagues at U-M have studied the sleeping patterns of people who had been diagnosed as alcohol dependent The study was based on the patients' self-

Facts on alcohol and sleep

■ For one in ten Americans who are alcohol dependent, a drink before bed can have a serious effect on their sleep, in most cases creating insomnia rather than eliminating it.

A recent study conducted by the Addiction Research Center at the U-M Health System showed that up to 75 percent of people who are alcohol dependent experience insomnia.
■ Drinking before bed can develop into a vicious cycle. When one drink isn't enough to avoid sleep-lessness or restless sleep, most often alcohol con-sumption is increased before bed to aid with sleep.

About two-thirds of people who undergo treatment for alcohol dependency either significantly reduce their drinking or are able to abstain from its use. Often it's necessary to correct other problems, such as sleep disorders, that may result in alcohol. use to treat the dependence successfully.

Because of a young family's overwhelming financial responsi bilities, children are much more likely to go without testing than adults said Jane Alexandra Kessler, administrative director of the Psychological Services

"But if a child is struggling with behavior issues or learning problems, testing can be crucial to really understanding the prob

Kessler, also in private practice, says staff members work hard to make sure clients under stand what the test results actu ally mean

As a result of testing, we are usually able to give parents a down-to-earth understanding of what that child is struggling with, said Kessler "And it's important they receive concrete recommendations about the things we found and the services we feel can make a real differ ence for the child

Psychological testing, a process that takes 4 6 hours over several sessions, is available for both children and adults at the clinic from $10-$60 each

The fee for this service is approximately$150

Typically, a person receiving these tests at a private facility can expect to pay around $1,200, said Kessler, noting that insurance benefits do not usually cover psychological test-

Fees for therapy are based on a sliding scale reflective of the client's income Sessions range

The sliding scale will allow those people who may need more intensive treatment to come in more often, said Lorrie Chopra, one of eight graduate students who work in the clinic 'There arent a lot of people out there who can afford to pay $100-$150 per session if they need to come in three times a week Here, they could pay as little as $10 per visit '

stays at a U-M sleep laboratory The study followed the patients for about five months after they began treatment for alcohol dependence The researchers found that those people who complained the most about sleep, experienced the most insomnia, and had the most disruptive sleep while at the sleep laboratory were more likely to relapse to alcohol use and dependence then those who did not complain of insomnia

Following the study, Brower says he and his colleagues decided to explore ways to help alcohol dependent people with their sleep problems to prevent them from using an alcoholic "nightcap' as a

Alcohol dependence is often a matter of life and death, says Brower In many cases, it can lead to automobile accidents, liver and brain disease and some forms of cancer It can also impair relationships and job performance, taking a toll on a person's entire life

'We are always looking for ways to help people with sleep and other problems without resorting to sleeping pills that have some abuse potential because they are habit forming," says Brower 'There are a variety of other medications out on the market that are not necessarily designed for sleep, but are used to treat other disorders such as depression or epilepsy We've found that some of those medications work quite well in people with alcohol dependence

Recognition

Sometimes, however, the first and most difficult step for a person facing alcohol dependence is to admit they have a problem Often, Brower says, it is the people surrounding that person that initially recognize there is a problem

For people who don't think they have a problem, we may ask them to demonstrate that by abstaining completely from alcohol for several weeks or longer People who can abstain readily at will are unlikely to have alcohol dependence People who >* cannot are candidates for treatment

But there is treatment for alcohol dependence such as various forms of counseling and medications like disulfiram and naltrexone Brower is the executive director of Chelsea Arbor Treatment Center, which provides these treatments

"Treatment works, Brower says 'Studies have shown that about two-thirds of people who undergo treatment for the condition either significantly reduce their drinking or are able to abstain from alcohol completely

Katie Couric wakes up America on colonoscopy screening known as the perky co-host of NBC's "Today Show," and millions of Americans wake up to her every morning And each morning, Katie Couric's faithful only deliver the news but also to keep them informed on the latest in home life, fashion sense, and health care So it's no surprise when Katie does something, much of America

Evidence of this was obvious underwent a live, on-air colonoscopy on the "Today Show", two years after the tragic death of her husband, Jay Monahan, from colon cancer at stone of a week-long series the show ran promoting colon cancer awareness and endorsing colorectal cancer screening

In the months following the viewers depend on her to not broadcast, interest in colon cancer prevention increased dramatically, but the actual effect on colon cancer screening was not quantified Researchers from the University of Michigan Health System at the Society of General Internal Medicine meeting in Atlanta recently in March of 2000, when Couric reported that Couric's campaign did have a substantial effect on the number of cancer screening tests They call this finding the "Couric Effect"

tial increase in colonoscopies performed across the country," says Dr Mark Fendrick, senior author on the paper and codirector of the Consortium for Health Outcomes, Innovation, Cost Effectiveness Studies or CHOICES at UMHS "Not only did Ms Couric's television campaign have an immediate impact, but the significant increase in screening rates remained long after the broadcast "

Using a population-based observational study, the U-M researchers examined colonoscopy rates drawn from a database of 400 endoscopists "Our study found Ms Couric's nationwide, as well as rates

> "Our study shows the number of colonoscopies increased by 19 percent, and was sustained for 40 weeks," says Cram "Colorectal cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death among Americans It is important to point out that a majority of these deaths can be prevented if people underwent the recommended screening So the fact impact on public behavior relatdemonstrated nearly a 20 percent increase in the number of screenings is an exciting find-

The study also revealed that significantly more women and younger individuals underwent colonoscopy following Ms Couric's campaign than before, a finding consistent with the demographics of the "Today Show" viewers, who are 60 percent female with a median age of 475

Fendrick says this study suggests a celebrity spokesperson even one who doesn't suffer from the disease they are promoting - can have a dramatic Fendrick views Couric's campaign as a tremendous success, he says there are many more people at risk for colon cancer that still should undergo colon cancer screening

"There's no question Ms Couric had a direct impact on the increase in colonoscopy screenings across the country," Fendrick says "Despite the overwhelming evidence that colon cancer screening saves lives, half of Americans who could benefit from screening are not getting it We need more celebrity spokespeople like Katie Couric to help get the to risk because much of their businesses success depends on one person or a few key employees Because no business can insulate itself completely from very risk, getting protection and planning ahead is vital to being prepared for the worst-case scenario

As part of this planning, small business owners should consider key employee life and/or disability insurance Key employee life insurance is insurance written on the life of an organization s officer or other key employee, the loss of whom would cause the organization financial hardship In general, a key employee can be anyone who is responsible for management decisions, as highly paid, has a significant effect on sales or has a special

Many small business owners rapport with customers and creditors

If a key employee dies, a business typically suffers in four

- Loss of management skill
- and experience Disruption in sales or busi-
- ness production ■ Credit difficulties
- New expenses as a result of hiring and training a replace ment for the key employee

Key employee life insurance works like individual life insur ance, when the insured dies, the policy pays out a benefit However, instead of an individual insuring him or herself or a family member, the business owns the policy and pays the premium If the insured dies, the business is the beneficiary and will receive the policy payout

Structurally, many key employee life insurance policies are set up as permanent policies that build cash value over time However, a smaller business can choose a term life policy instead, if cash flow is an issue. The term

■ Key employee life insurance is insurance written on the life of an organization's officer or other key employee, the loss of whom would cause the organization financial hardship. In general, a key employee can be anyone who is responsible for management decisions, is highly paid, has a significant effect on sales or has a special rapport with customers and creditors.

policy may be able to be connected to a permanent policy at a later date

In this case, premiums are paid until the employee retires or leaves the company The cash value can then be used to informally fund a deferred compensation pay out if the key employee remains with the company for a certain length of time

How much coverage is necessary? The amount can range from the equivalent of the key employees base salary to as high as 10 or 15 times his or her salary Most small business do best with a payout of two to three times the key employees salary Key employee life insurance policies are not only affordable, but investors and lenders often will insist you purchase a policy to protect their invest-

Typical benefits of key employee life insurance include

- Corporate redemption of stock owned by the key employ-
- Indemnification of lost corporate profits
- Payment of outstanding

■ Increased working capital When the right type and amount of insurance are used, key employee life insurance can also include informal funding of a key employee's death, disability or retirement benefits Premiums are not included in a key employees income and are not deductible The proceeds of a key employee life insurance policy paid to the business are exempt from income tax

When considering key employ ee life insurance, it is also a good idea to put together a business continuation plan, including details of how your business will function without key employees Not only is this helpful, but it is also often required by insurance companies

Because the chance of being disabled is greater than the chance of death before the age of 65, key employee disability insurance may be more impor tant than life insurance in protecting your company Although disability can be a great econom ic loss to a business small busi ness owners are often unsure about using this insurance

One reason business owners may be deterred from disability insurance is the potential cost Expect to pay $3,500 to $4,000 a year to cover a nonsmoking 40year-old male for a benefit of $15,000 a month for two years (after a 90-day waiting period) Disability insurance is also hard to find because the number of providers is diminishing Premiums may be deductible, but if they are not, the benefits are tax-free

As with most safety nets, key employee insurance may seem expensive and can be tough to think about When planning for the unknown, however, there is one thing you can surely count on The price of key employee insurance and the time associated with planning for it will seem like a bargain if you ever need to Physicians often turn to blood studies x rays CT scans and MRis to help in the diagnosis of arthritic conditions. These studies can be as deceptive as they are useful A blood study could show you have a high titer of rheumatoid factor or reveal a positive ANA a finding associated with lupus arthritis. However, the doctor examining you may find no evidence that you have either rheumatoid or lupis arthritis.

In such cases and they happen often you win If the laboratory tests indicate one condition but the experience of your illness and the examination indicate something else then the laboratory results a e set aside Contact with you overrides the results of test tubes and imagining whether by x rays olding talchips. I do not mean to downgrade the use of screening tests. Rolling terrain to anchor upscale homes ums will rise on a rolling 50acre site of a former nine-hole golf course in Independence Township

Oakmont of Clarkston is off Eston Road about a half mile north of Clarkston Road

"Units (lots) average an acre to an acre and a half and there are 18 acres of common area in the center of the property," said Andrew Mılıa, the developer

"No lot backs on to another lot We're careful to design so that all back up to a common area," he said

"We offer kind of a semi-rural lifestyle in an area of good employment base along the I-75 corridor with Chrysler and other major suppliers "The site, itself, is beautiful," Milia said,

"This is one of the highest points in Oakland County We have 100year-old oaks on the property we're saving

"It truly is a custom neighborhood ın terms of home style not production built by one builder where all the homes look the same," he added

Adrian Building has rights to 11 lots in Oakmont of Clark ston

"It's not a big sub where you're going to get a lot of traffic," said Frank Gjokaj of Adrian "Lots are big, homes spread around

"We can work with their (customers') plans or we can design a blueprint from scratch," he said "A lot of trades we've used six, seven years We're very familiar with the work they do and they stand behind their product

"I think they give you excep tional value for the dollar Milia said of Gjokaj and his

Adrian offers six different floor plans

"We give these plans as a rting place," said Mira Sulei

Only 27 detached condomini- man, sales representative "If they want changes, they can sit down with Frank and customize those plans or other plans We're very custom oriented over here"

But folks who visit the sales model, the Oakmont, like what they see, Suleiman said

They're especially impressed with volume ceilings, the large kitchen with all its cabinetry, formal areas like the dining room and living room, and less formal areas like the study and master suite, she said

"They love the floor plan," Sulejman said

Base price of the homes built by Adrian at Oakmont ranges from $494,900 for a colonial of 3,000 square feet with four bedrooms and 2½ baths to $639,900

Thomas Ervin Let's Talk About Real Estate

"A STATE OF READINESS"

When you have your home for sale, you never know when the next showing will occur It could be next week or in the next ten minutes Because of these uncertainties, you must be able to keep your home in a constant state of readiness. This is not always as easy as it sounds Meals must be prepared Clothes have to be washed and people are always coming and going Let's be honest It's a hassle when you have your house for sale

If you are going to get the top dollar, however, your house must be as appealing as possible at all times. How do you accomplish this and still continue to live in your home at the same time? Here are some tips that may help you keep things in showing condition

CLOSETS

Storage and closet space are usually important concerns of most buyers Preparation of the closets can begin far in advance of the first showing In order to make them appear adequate in size, some clothing may need to be removed and stored elsewhere until the home is sold

KITCHEN

Kitchens are constantly in use, take longer to clean, and get the close attention of potential buyers Odors from certain foods can permeate the entire house Although they may be the result of your favorite dish, they may be offensive to interested buyers Don't let dishes pile up You may not have sufficient time to clean them prior to a showing Trash compactors or containers should be emptied before a showing Many people draw conclusions about your housekeeping skills by examining the inside of the oven If you do not have a self cleaning oven, it may be best to clean it before putting the house on the market and keep it at that level during the marketing period

BATHROOMS

Bathroom or shower tile should be cleaned Prior to showings, clean towels should be displayed Showers, tubs and sinks should be towel dried Periodic inspections of bathrooms can prevent them from requiring too much last work if you receive notice of an upcoming showing on short notice

Buick makes its Rendezvous with quality

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures Overheard from the back seat of FRACASSA the 2002 Buick Rendezvous "This car is really cool," said Francesca, who's

ANNE

10 "Yeah, you know what I like? How big the back seat is and there's a lot of room back here," said her sister, Rebecca, 8 "You know what's really cool that we haven't seen in any cars? These foot rests in the back for us to put our feet on," said Francesca "It's even cool-looking on the outside

Even my kids are, becoming critics Or should I say future auto reviewers

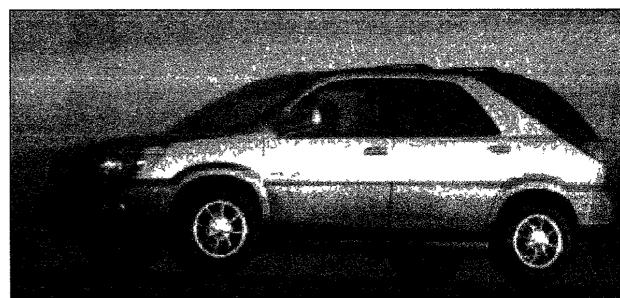

Everyone's got an opinion on a car, but now I have to put up with it from the back seat as well? Great But what's really great is that this Ren dezvous is a comfort to drive on long journeys gets you great gas mileage, has looks that can kill and is a blast to drive

You want a fun commute-you want a Ren dezvous Let's start with it's powerful 3 4 liter V6 engine that's rated at 185 horsepower Mated to a 4-speed automatic with overdrive and torque con verter clutch and you've got power at your toes with a quick flex of your ankle

Never did I have a problem merging on the freeway, passing a slower vehicle or shooting around town Its quick response and nimble handling-usually reserved for a sports car makes it a pleasure to drive

The Rendezvous is available in two trim levels CX and CXL, with the CXL level giving you a bit more luxury and options The Rendezvous is what's now known as a crossover vehicle

Crossovers are creating a benchmark in the automotive industry They cannot be classified into any existing automotive category, which was defined before Buck combined the comforts of a passenger car and sport sedan, the people hauling features of a minivan and the versatility of an SUV, all rolled into a neat package What it gives you is the flexibility to configure your Rendezvous to whatever suits your lifestyle Looks like an SUV, has all points luxury on the inside and the bonus option of carrying lots of people or lots of

An incredible car-truck. 2002 Buick Rendezvous vehicle class Crossover special vehicle Power 3 4 liter V6 Mileage 18 city/24 highway Where built Ramos Arizpe, Mexico Price as tested $34.242

You can actually get about 109 cubic feet of cargo area by moving around the seats Pop the available third row seat out of the floor and you can seat up to seven passengers Parents of quintuplets? No problem

There's an option of adding GM's own VersaTrak all wheel-drive system and you can equip it to tow up to 3,500 pounds. Opt for it if you live where snow is a four letter word (Don't get me wrong, I love snow-just not in the city)

On the inside, Rendezvous is comfortable Stan dard are cloth seats but you can opt for the leather-with-cloth-inserts or fully leather seating surfaces I like the leather More luxurious and easy to clean

There s a large center console that allows you to pass between the rows Interior surfaces are downright pretty with accenting in all the right places Instrumentation is easy to read and sim ple to operate

Safety features do not take a back seat on the Rendezvous The list, it goes on and on Front and side air bags,four-wheel, anti lock braking sys tem, safety-cage construction and OnStar In the rear cargo area, you'll notice a pressure outlet that can be utilized to blow up an inner tube, floating toys for the kids, sports equipment or even a low tire

Relatively new in concept-although a couple of automakers have had this equipment in their vehicles-is the Rear Parking Assist Through the use of four strategically placed sensors in the rear bumper the system can detect objects in the rear of the vehicle that you can't see It gives the driver a warning chime and flashes warning lights to alert you to the danger that can be anything from a bike to a child

The standard equipment list is long, so I'll just give you the highlights Remote keyless entry, power programmable door locks Cruise control, power windows, leather wrapped steering wheel, aluminum wheels, deep tint glass, floor mats, remote liftgate release and cargo security cover and net

The Rendezvous we tested was the CXL trim level and added more than $6,000 in available options, including six-way power seats up front with memory, overhead console, leather heated seats, theft deterrent system, universal garage door opener, rear seat audio controls, head-up display, a premium sound package and trailer-tow package, among others

Gotta tell you, the Buick Rendezvous is an incredible car-truck. It can handle just about any situation you can throw at it The power, the comfort, the fuel economy are all on the mark I'd recommend you take yourself down to your nearest Buick dealer and take your own test drive Then you'll see what I mean
