3 nab seats in close school race

BY TONY BRUSCATO

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton school district, with a push from the Plymouth Canton Education Association, turned to the polls in unprecedented numbers Monday in deciding who will represent them on the Board of Education.

In the end, Joanne Lamar of Plymouth Township was the top vote-getter among 11 candidates, receiving 1,939 votes to capture one of the two four-year seats. Carol Saunders of Plymouth Township was second with 1,854 votes to win the other four-year term. They'll succeed Susan Davis and Darwin Watts, both of whom decided not to seek re-election.

In the race for the one-year unexpired term, Marcy Staley of Canton Township retained the seat she's held since being appointed by the board last December. Staley beat Debra Madonna 1,936 votes to 1,805.

"Finance is the biggest issue," said

Lamar. "We need to work at the state level, but we also need to enhance the good things we're doing to make a little money for the district. We're not going to make a lot of money, but at least maybe we won't have to cut as much."

"We could open up the TAG (Talented and Gifted) program to the outside, and I've talked about an arts academy for kids to take their talents and put them to good use," she said. "And, if you open it up to the outside we could make a little money."

"Education should be the top priority, but because of the way the state funds us, we have to have the money to provide education," added Lamar.

Former school board president Mark Horvath battled Lamar and Saunders to the end, even capturing the highest number of absentee ballots, but finished third with 1,736 votes. The next closest vote-getter was Robert Nelson with 653 votes.

The 4,117 ballots cast in the election were by far the most in recent memory.

Township board OKs trustee ethics probe

BY BRAD KADRICH

Arlene Karell is getting a sense of deja vu as controversy continues to swirl around Plymouth Township Trustee Abe Munfakh.

After watching for months as accusations of wrong doing on the part of former finance director Rosemary Harvey come out piece meal, Karell senses the same thing happening with Munfakh besieged by allegations he violated the township's ethics policy because his firm Ayres Inc. & M helped Salem Township solve its water problems.

Critics have said Munfakh's involvement in negotiations for Salem Township with Detroit Water and Sewer ran against Plymouth Township interests because Plymouth already suffers from water pressure problems.

On Tuesday, those critics got their wish when a divided township board voted in favor of convening the township's ethics board to conduct an investigation.

Karell, for one, is glad it will happen. "I watched all of that with Rosemary Harvey come out bit by bit, and I didn't like it," Karell said. "I think there should be an investigation (into Munfakh) and if it comes out that he didn't do anything wrong we owe him an apology."

But it comes out that he did do something wrong then the truth will be out there.

Board OKs 20 percent hike to pass on rising water costs

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

Plymouth Township residents will see about a $32 hike in their quarterly water bills after township trustees Tuesday decided to pass on rising water costs to homeowners.

A split township board approved the measure raising township water rates by 20 percent rather than dip into its water/sewer fund to cover increase in rates by the Detroit Water and Sewer Department.

Township supervisor Steve Mann, clerk Marilyn Massengill and trustees Chuck Curm and Kay Arnold voted for the measure, which passes on the Detroit increase, plus catches the township up for covering past hikes from the general fund.

Treasurer Ron Edwards and trustees Ron Griffith and Abe Munfakh voted against the 20-percent increase because they favored a 15-percent hike.

"We raised the rates to bring them in line with what it actually costs us to provide the service," Mann said. "The audit report shows the losses to the water and sewer fund the last three years based on the fact we've been providing water and sewer at rates lower than what it costs us to provide those services."

According to Mann, the township spent $829,364 to cover increases by Detroit Water and Sewer in 2000, the township spent another $790,254 in 2001. Mann also said Detroit Water and Sewer has already announced it plans on double-digit increases over the next two to four years.

Although the water/sewer fund still has a balance of some $12 million,

Pay-to-play among items to slash school budget

Plymouth Canton students will start paying a fee to participate in athletics and extra-curricular activities to offset higher operation costs.

The Board of Education decided on a pay-to-participate program as part of another $319,500 in cuts to balance the 2002-2003 budget. Among the newest cuts reorganization of the transportation department, $44,000, and cutting the administrative intern program, $70,000.

Trustees were mostly in agreement in deciding to charge approximately $13 per student to participate in athletics, or extra curricular activities such as debate and the quiz bowl team.

"That's a trip to McDonald's. I'm fine with this," said Trustee Judy Mardigan.

"As a parent, I spend a ton on extra-curriculars."

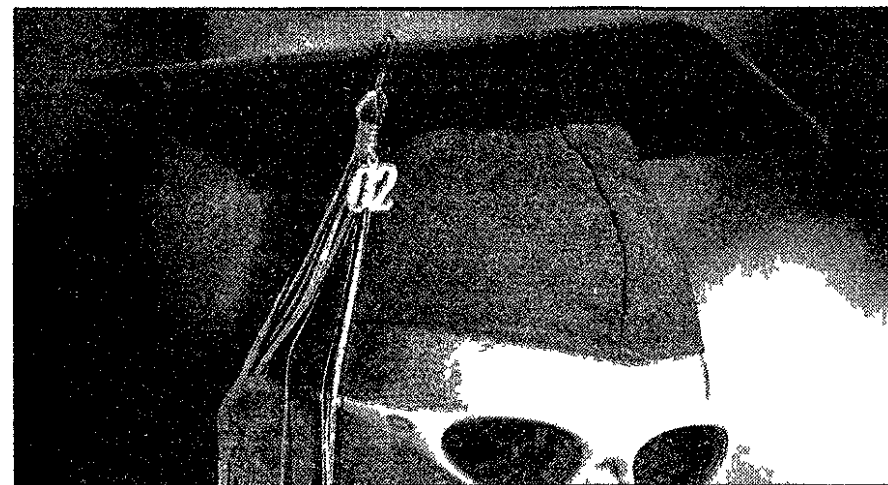

However, trustee Marcy Staley stood out as the lone opponent to the pay-to-participate fee.

"I look at those programs as a return on our investment," she said. "When we look at the marching band, the radio station, the culinary arts program and athletics, these are the reasons people come to Plymouth-Canton schools."

The latest cuts are added to the $950,000 in personnel, program and equipment cuts presented to the board by the administration last month. Among those Tier 1 cuts: reduction of four elementary teaching positions, $200,000; elimination of a middle school teacher, $50,000; field trip transportation, $90,000; athletic department

Plymouth officials get good, bad financial news

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe homecomm.net

Plymouth officials found out this week the city's bond rating has been raised from "A" to "A+" in the latest report from Standard & Poor's.

At the same time the community's financial position is in jeopardy with word from Lansing that more state revenue sharing cuts may be on the horizon.

According to S&P, the A+ rating on new debt reflects the city's steady tax base growth, above average wealth and income levels, improved financial operations with good reserves, and moderate debt burden.

"A targeted fund balance of 15 percent in the combined general and budget stabilization fund, however provides assurance that the financial position will not dramatically decline due to capital expenditures," stated the S&P report.

"The outlook from Standard & Poor's is stable, and it reflects the firm's expectations of the city's continued financial stability and manageable debt," said City Manager Paul Sincock.

"The higher rating means we will be paying a lower interest rate when we go to sell bonds, which obviously saves us money."

And, while that was good news, city administrators and commissioners are dealing with the possible bad news. After being hit with $400,000 in state revenue sharing fund losses by the state legislature during the past two fiscal years, more may be on the way.

Sincock said that despite assurances earlier this year that Lansing would keep the status quo in respect to revenue sharing money, there's another $67.2 million in state revenue sharing cuts to communities across Michigan.

"We've already been at the table with $400,000 in cutbacks over the past two fiscal years, so additional cuts are significant," said Sincock. "I've heard between 7 and 10 percent, which would mean another $100,000 to us."

The city currently receives $1.1 million in state revenue sharing money, according to Sincock.

Mayor Bill Graham said further funding reductions would affect the 2003-2004 budget cycle.

"Would it affect the level of city services, such as leaf pickup, snow plowing, police or fire? No," said Graham. "However, we would probably undertake fewer capital improvement projects, like the renovation of City Hall or the Cultural Center. It could eventually affect equipment purchases and staffing levels."

"Growth in the community has helped the tax base, but if the state takes away revenue sharing funds, we're still behind the eight ball," he said.

"Every time the state passes these types of cuts, it affects the quality of life in our community," said Commissioner Stella Greene. "Because the money is such a major part of our budget, we're at the will of our legislators. It's important they're responsive to our needs and put us first."

Sincock said both state Rep John Stewart (R-Plymouth Township) and Sen Thaddeus McCotter (R-Livonia) have assured him they will vote against any measure dealing with revenue sharing cuts.

Special fund-raiser

When the Plymouth-Canton Special Olympics were in need of funds a year ago, the Plymouth Elks came to the rescue with a softball fund-raiser.

It worked so well, they're doing it again. The second-annual softball game between the Elks and the Special Olympians takes place at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 30 at Allen Elementary School on Haggerty in Plymouth. The Elks are looking for folks to help out as players, base runners and to fill out a special cheering section.

There's also a chance for you to sponsor the players through pledges. Last year, donations raised more than $3,000 in the form of small contributions per player.

The Elks hope to do better this year. After the game, the players will return to the Plymouth Elks Lodge, where a check will be turned over to the Special Olympics. You can sign up to pledge for players by calling Frank Zsalako of the Michigan Elks Association, (734) 464-4241, or by e-mail to fczsalako@aol.com. A sign-up sheet is also available in the Plymouth Observer office, 794 S. Main.

School committees

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is seeking community members for two district committees: the Housing and Facilities Committee and the Long Range Planning Committee. The Board of Education will select the committee members at the Organizational Board of Education meeting in July, by a random draw.

Committee members can be parents of students at the elementary, middle and high school levels, residents without children in school, business people, and individuals interested in serving.

The committees meet regularly throughout the school year and bring special reports to the Board of Education on pertinent topics and issues. Individuals interested in serving on one or more of these two committees should contact the District Community Relations Office on or before Friday, June 30. Send your name, address, phone number and committee you wish to serve on to the Community Relations Office, c/o DISTRICT COMMITTEES, 454 S. Harvey St., Plymouth, MI 48170.

Arts workshops

The Whistle Stop Players, sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council, sponsors performing arts workshops over three different weeks this summer for potential actors ages 5-15.

The workshops are offered June 24-28, July 8-12 and Aug. 19-23. They run from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Monday through Friday. Campers are required to bring a sack lunch and a good attitude, and will spend the week singing, acting and dancing.

Each camper gets a part in a play, and will perform for an audience of family and friends Friday at 1 p.m. Cost is $100 for members (a student membership is $25, tax-deductible). The workshops are limited to 36 students and 10 staff. Call Jennifer Tobin at (734) 416-4278.

Pizza party

Community Federal Credit Union and radio station 99.5 WYCD, will host a pizza party for local students from 4-6 p.m. Friday, June 21, at the Plymouth branch, 500 S. Harvey. Mike Scott, WYCD radio celebrity, will make a special appearance. To attend the party, students need to bring this year's report card that includes a passing grade.

"We believe this is a great way to recognize students for a job well done," said Sarah Cousineau, CFCU's marketing manager. "There will be pizza from Hungry Howies along with games, prizes, face painting and much more."

East students learn life lesson working with autistic children

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER
bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

When East Middle School Skills for Adolescence students were trying to come up with a service project, they decided they wanted to help children with special needs.

On Monday, they did just that, treating students at the Burger School for Autistic Students in Garden City to a day of activities and picnicking at Garden City Park.

And, while the idea was to help the special needs students, the consensus was that East's kids got just as much out of the experience.

"I used to be scared to go around people like that because I didn't know how to act around them," said 14-year-old eighth grader Sarah Hudson. "I worked with a little boy named Tony and he was awesome. I realize now I can help people."

■ And, while the idea was to help the special needs students, the consensus was that East's kids got just as much out of the experience.

That was exactly the idea of the day. The 25 East students set up an array of stations, set up for blowing bubbles, painting clay pots and planting seeds, finger-painting, throwing a Frisbee, decorating cupcakes — all designed to help East students work with about a dozen Burger students.

"It was totally awesome," said Diane Pitt, a classroom teacher at Burger. "It was a beautiful day, and the kids from East were so organized. It was a wonderful experience for our kids to have the older kids to do things with, and the middle school students learned how to deal with a few behavioral problems. It was a great experience for everyone all the way around."

Skills for Adolescence teacher Kayline Shureb said the Burger project was one of two things her students wanted to tackle, the other being raising money for the Sagar Wall at the new Plymouth High School.

She said her students really benefited from working with the Burger students.

"I think they learned to appreciate other people's differences," Shureb said. "They learned how to feel comfortable around people who aren't maybe exactly the same as you. This was a hands-on experience for them, so it built their own self-confidence so they may be more apt to go out into the community themselves."

As many community service projects do, this one wound up with the people providing the help getting the most out of the experience.

"We got time to talk to the kids, get to know them, and do some projects with them," said Lexy Shim-Morrison, 14 of Canton. "It was great to help make their day, and seeing the smiles on their faces really cheered us up."

While there are no statistics to prove it, the Plymouth-Canton Education Association can probably take some credit for the election of Lamar and Saunders. The PCEA held a phone bank last weekend to push support for the pair, who the union supported.

The last time the PCEA held a phone bank on the weekend prior to the election was in 1999, when union-endorsed candidates Mark Slavens and Steve Guile defeated two incumbents, Mike Maloney and Carrie Blamer. At that time, there were 3,812 votes cast, the highest in the past five years before Monday's vote.

Saunders said the issues the next board will face are tough ones — the budget, funding, retaining teachers and finding a superintendent.

"There are always going to be issues," said Saunders. "We'll meet them, we'll address them, we'll solve them."

"We're going to need to talk to community members and see where they want to go," she said. "We need to keep them included in committees, and discussion at board meetings is a very healthy thing to do."

Staley, who has been on the board for six months since replacing Guile, is looking forward to the next year.

"I think the voters showed they wanted stability on the board," she said of her victory. "We've got some challenges with the budget and the resignation of the superintendent, and we'll face them the best we can."

"Most districts would face only one of those challenges in the course of a year, but we've always rallied," she said.

School board president Elizabeth Givens, along with trustees Judy Mardigan and Mark Slavens, will be working with a board that has little experience in Lamar, Saunders, Staley and Tom Wysocki, who was elected last year.

"We're going to do some really intense orientation in June and July," said Givens. "It's important they get up to speed on terminology, issues, finance and other things. The summer is a good time for them to learn, think and ask questions without having to make a lot of decisions."

Givens, who was elected school board president for this school year, is hoping to be re-elected to the position at the July 9 reorganizational meeting.

expenditures, $65,000, and general budget reductions, $50,000.

The bottom line is the board will cut more than $12 million, and use another $11 million in fund equity, to balance next year's budget. Trustees will vote on the document, which according to state law must be passed by the end of the month, at its June 25 meeting.

"Before, this board has been faced with decisions of cutting out the fat," said trustee Mark Slavens. "I think tonight, and with the earlier recommendation to cut teachers, we are now cutting into the meat and into the bone."

"It's a whole new era in Plymouth-Canton schools," added Slavens. "And, unfortunately, we're going to continue down that road."

Tuesday night, the administration presented the board with a total of $700,000 in cuts to peruse in an effort to cut another $500,000 from the budget. Superintendent Kathleen Booher made it known upfront she wasn't recommending what was being labeled the Tier 2 cuts.

"The administration is recommending the $950,000 in reductions," said Booher. "We believe those are wise, and they will help us balance the budget with the least impact on students."

Concerning the $700,000 presented Tuesday night, Booher said "they're not recommended, but they are there for the board to have substance for their discussion."

As noticeable as the cuts were the items the board decided to save from the chopping block. Among those, high school radio station WSDP, which would have saved the district $75,000. However, impassioned pleas by both station personnel and alumni convinced the board to keep the station on the air.

Other items left unscathed: a Talented and Gifted teaching position, $50,000, and the extended phase-in of a language arts program, which would have saved the district $200,000.

The cuts came after the district settled four labor contracts, the largest being the one with the Plymouth Canton Education Association, which according to district administrators will cost the district $1.9 million.

The school board decided to use some of its fund equity after learning from Patricia Brand, executive director of business services, the district will still have more than $10 million in fund equity, which doesn't include approximately $6 million in Durant funds.

Trustee Susan Davis said she believes there will be tougher times down the road for future board members.

"These cuts were fairly easy, the ones to come will be more difficult," she said. "There were very few that impacted student learning, but the future ones could. It could come down to cutting between extra-curricular activities or social studies. That kind of choice is that?"

Physical Therapy UPDATE

GETTING BACK IN THE GROOVE

If you are a runner whose foot rolls inward during your stride, you are a candidate for chondromalacia patella (runner's knee). As your foot rolls in (pronates), the knee scrapes along one side of the V-shaped groove through which it normally glides smoothly. As a result, the cartilage in the groove becomes abraded and the kneecap begins to weep fluid, which in turn produces a feeling of stiffness. Treating runner's knee rests with being fitted with orthotics. These custom fitted shoe inserts will prevent the foot roll that caused the kneecap to scrape. After that, it is important to strengthen the muscle in the front of the thigh (medial quad) that is the kneecap in the center of the groove. Good for everything, at least to those who take the long view in terms of health and the ability to enjoy a wide range of activities in the years to come. If you are experiencing pain or decreased range of motion, don't ignore these warning signs. The belief that they will eventually go away. Instead, ask your physician for a referral to the HANDS ON CENTER FOR PHYSICAL THERAPY, located in Plymouth at 470 Forest Avenue, Suite 20. Schedule a tour of our modern, well-equipped facilities. Please call 453-8370.

PS Because the leg extensions normally used to strengthen the quads also pull the kneecap back down the groove, irritated runner's knee terminal extensions are preferred (limit motion to the last six inches of extension).

fakh, will act as the ethics board Plymouth Township Supervisor Steve Mann said he hopes to convene the ethics board in the next couple of weeks. Mann had the item placed on Tuesday's agenda after fielding what he said was "at least a dozen" inquiries and phone calls from concerned residents.

But he denied he was turning this into a personal issue.

"My position is I'm the one who brought the information to the board, the board had lengthy discussion on it and we heard from several residents, as well," Mann said. "There was a vote in favor of turning the issue over to the ethics board to look into the matter. It'll be a fact-finding process."

The vote was split, with Mann, clerk Marilyn Massengill, treasurer Ron Edwards and trustee Chuck Curm in favor. Munfakh and trustees Ron Griffith and Kay Arnold voted against the inquiry.

Munfakh, who has denied any conflict of interest or ethics violation, has repeatedly said that while his firm does work for Salem Township, he personally has not been involved in any negotiations to bring water to Salem. Salem's planning commission recently approved a zoning change to accommodate Johnson Controls, the Plymouth Township-based automotive supplier who recently bought property in Salem Township.

Munfakh did not return phone calls to the Observer, but has in the past said the whole thing is nothing more than a political ploy.

Mann denies the charge. "I'm not on a political witch hunt, I have no reason to be on a political witch hunt," Mann said. "They accused me of bringing this forward and recommending this, but on the other hand they expect me to investigate it more and bring it back to them.

They're hypocritical in their own statements.

"I'm clearly responding to inquiries and demands from residents wanting me to look into this issue," he added. "This is a cloud hanging over not only Mr. Munfakh, but the whole board, and this is the process put in place by Mr. Munfakh himself to handle these kinds of issues."

Munfakh was on the township board in the late 1980s when the ethics policy was voted into existence. He voted in favor of the policy then.

Mann said, though the territory is new the ethics board will try to make it as efficient and time-sensitive as possible.

"Obviously we haven't traveled down this path before," Mann said. "I would hope we'd initially convene within the next two or three weeks. The township board has a busy agenda, we're meeting every Tuesday this month."

There is some question about what, if anything, the ethics board will be able to do even if they find allegations against Munfakh are accurate. Since Munfakh is an elected official, there is no remedy for removing him from the board, save a voter-driven recall petition.

Township resident Carol Levitte has repeatedly offered up articles in the state constitution she says lay a foundation for forwarding the matter to the governor's office. The governor could Levitte has said, remove Munfakh if he found evidence of wrong doing.

However, Mann said he and township attorney Tim Cronin have read over the articles quoted by Levitte and don't agree with her interpretation of them.

"Nothing Mr. Cronin and I have seen tells us there's an avenue to turn it over to the state," Mann said. "If there is a method in place to get it turned over to the state, we'd be happy to do that."

Water

Mann said, the township's share of capital improvement projects such as the expansion of the Western Township Utilities Authority plant in Ypsilanti could eat up much of that fund balance.

The township's share of the WTUA expansion, expected to start construction early next year, is expected to be about $27 million. Mann said the township is going to have to bond later this year for its share.

"That's going to result in either an increase in water/sewer rates or levying a debt millage," Mann said. "If we can use eight or nine million of what we have in the fund balance, that would be almost a third of our cost, and it would save us from raising the rates that much more in the future."

Obviously, with a 4-3 vote, not all of the trustees agreed.

"I don't believe it's necessary," Edwards said. "When we had a huge cash flow coming in, other people want to defer it to something else. Detroit raised its rate 15 percent, and I believed we should have gone the 15 percent. It's a difference of views here."

Teachers OK 4-year deal with schools

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

By an overwhelming margin, the more than 1,000 members of the Plymouth Canton Education Association voted to approve a four-year contract agreement with the state's seventh-largest school district.

"It was a very large margin, 7-1 in favor of the contract," said Chuck Portelli, PCEA president and chief union negotiator. "I think people liked the four-year agreement, and the fact that each person gets three personal business days (to use as they wish)."

While the majority of teachers liked the incentive-laden contract, there was one group which still is unhappy with the agreement.

"None of the Starkweather teachers or ESL (English as a Second Language) teachers voted in favor of the contract," said Karen Abraham, union representative for the approximate 50 teachers at Starkweather. "We're second-class citizens."

The reason Starkweather educators will continue to make $12,500 less than other high school teachers in the district. According to Abraham, the 2.75 percent raise will give a starting teacher at Starkweather an annual salary of $24,000, while a high school teacher at Salem or Canton makes a first-level salary of $36,500.

The contract calls for the difference to be cut in half in the third year of the contract, with the fourth year resulting in Starkweather teachers receiving full salary and benefits.

"What's still uncomfortable is that no matter how many years teaching they have, they will come in at step one," added Portelli. "We have some teachers at Starkweather who have 20 or more years."

Abraham said to further the frustration, Starkweather teachers get only half the number of sick days than other teachers, and receive health benefits that cover the teacher, not a spouse and family like the rest of the district.

"We're angry because we should have had representation on the bargaining team," said Abraham. "We keep losing quality teachers because of the pay and benefits."

Meanwhile, negotiators from both sides agree the contract is unparalleled, containing incentives that could boost the annual pay increases each year of the agreement. It calls for base pay hikes of 2.75 percent the first year and 2 percent each of the next two years, with a wage reopener the fourth year.

"It's a unique contract because some of the numbers are based on contingencies," said Ray Bihun, executive director of human resources. "If we get a certain number of students in the district, the education association gets an additional quarter percent. If we hold health care costs down, they get an extra quarter percent."

The PCEA voted Monday and Tuesday on the new contract. Balloting began Friday, but had to be suspended when someone noticed the contract contained an additional half-day of work. Voting resumed after the error was corrected.

The Board of Education approved the contract, and three others, at Tuesday's board meeting. "In six weeks' time we have four contracts settled," said Trustee Susan Davis. "It was a team effort and is a wonderful thing for this district."

Trustee Judy Mardigan said, "I'm especially appreciative about the labor peace these contracts will bring, and look forward to some years ahead that we can plan and predict."

The other contracts approved by the Board of Education, after being ratified by union members, include:

■ Food service workers — a three-year contract which includes a 2.5-percent wage hike the first year, plus a quarter-percent increase if 27,000 additional meals are served. The second and third years have a base wage hike of 2 percent, plus the quarter percent incentive, and includes an additional quarter percent if 54,000 additional meals are served.

■ Licensed technicians — an increase of 2.76 percent, based on the state foundation grant, retroactive to the 2001-2002 school year. The remaining three years have wage increases of 2 percent, plus an additional quarter percent based on increased enrollment, plus another quarter percent predicated on reductions in health care costs.

■ Administrators — overwhelmingly ratified a three-year contract comparable to the teachers. It includes a 2.75 percent increase the first year, plus a quarter percent for increases in enrollment.

According to Bihun, the administrators didn't get the quarter percent increase based on medical cost reductions, however, union members did get improvements in vision and dental insurance, as well as long term disability.

OBITUARIES

BENJAMIN J. REULAND

A wake is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, June 15 in Westland for Benjamin J. Reuland, 50, of Northville who died suddenly June 8 while working in Wayne.

Mr. Reuland, a former employee at the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, was a 1969 graduate of Stevenson High School in Livonia. He received two degrees from Schoolcraft College. He also attended Eastern Michigan University. He worked in the mailroom at the O&E for 21 years from 1974 to 1995.

He was born July 12, 1951 in Aurora, Ill. to Karl and Mary Reuland. The family moved from Kansas to Livonia in 1969.

Toledo Botanical Gardens," said longtime friend Annette Taylor, a journalism professor at the University of Dayton.

"He loved Michigan State University basketball, books, and music, and had a vast eclectic album collection. He had a poet's heart and sweet, mischievous smile."

"He said his greatest gifts were his children — Aaron, 26, of Ypsilanti, Erik, 24 of Detroit and Rebecca, 19, of Livonia and a student at Columbia College in Chicago. He adored his new daughter-in-law, Connie, Erik's wife," said Taylor.

Township, city relations not what they should be

When it comes to relationships with the City of Plymouth, officials in Plymouth Township remind us of the big brother who's always brushing away the clutching hands of his baby brother so he can go off and do things by himself.

Greg and Bobby Brady got along better than this.

The relationship between the two entities has been tense for a long time. There was some division when the dispatchers were conjoined. There's always been some friction over the budgetary responsibility the township maintains over the fire department, even though the city kicks in 25 percent of the department's funds.

There is still some lingering resentment from the fact the city didn't leap into the township's Downtown Development Authority project. City officials still claim they were never given all the information — or correct information, for that matter — about how and how much the township expected to capture with the DDA. Township officials, obviously, believe their numbers are right, and the city had more than ample opportunity to get in on the deal.

The latest flap, for lack of a better word, came over the purchase of three new rescue vehicles. At their May 28 meeting, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees approved spending more than $400,000 to replace aging, maintenance-sucking rescue vehicles. The action came at around 8 p.m.

The problem? The first that City Manager Paul Sincock heard about the purchase was at 4:30 that afternoon.

Now it would be fair to point out the township board by virtue of paying 75 percent of the department's funding gets to make the final decisions on how the fire department's budget is spent. It's a right they earn by shouldering the bulk of the financial burden, but more than that, it's part of the joint operating agreement.

Obviously, though, the city thinks it has the right to consultation before $400,000 is spent, even if it is a necessary expenditure. Sincock as much as said so. "I knew this was a discussion item, but I didn't know they were in a purchase mode," he said the next day. "The fire chief hasn't even discussed the matter with me, so it's hard to make a determination as to whether the purchase is necessary or not."

He's got a point. Even though the city doesn't really get a say in how the money is spent, there's no harm in making the good-will gesture of talking it over with city management first, particularly when it's a large amount of money.

But it's a sign of how the township and city get along, despite repeated public claims they want to work together.

Here's another one. At the joint township/city hazardous waste day last month, lines got long and the wait was an interminable 70 minutes for some, prompting many drivers to pull away without taking advantage of the opportunity. Since last year's lines only lasted

The latest flap, for lack of a better word, came over the purchase of three new rescue vehicles ... The Plymouth Township Board of trustees approved spending more than $400,000 to replace aging, maintenance-sucking rescue vehicles. The action came at around 8 p.m. The problem? The first City Manager Paul Sincock heard about the purchase was 4:30 that afternoon.

about 15 minutes, treasurer Ron Edwards was quick to blame the city's participation and claims having city residents in line deprived township residents of the chance to take advantage of a township program.

There's probably a nugget of truth in that, but Edwards' suggested fix — banning city residents — seems reactionary, not to mention silly. Jim Anulewicz, the township's fine director of municipal services, has a simpler, much better plan: find a larger facility that works for us.

But Edwards' attitude, while roundly poooh-pooed by most board members (only clerk Marilyn Massengill supported Edwards' stance at a recent study session), signals an attitude that probably hinders city-township relations.

Sincock and township Supervisor Steve Mann both profess to work well together, though we haven't seen tons of results that would indicate such a working relationship. When the city went looking for partners in the mobile skateboard park, it hooked up with Northville, not Plymouth. To date, there's still no sign of a joint recreation program.

Everyone agrees there needs to be a good working relationship between the city and township. It's time we started seeing evidence of one.

Take time to reflect on our flag's meaning Friday

Our nation has come a long way from the simple beginnings of the U.S. Flag and Betsy Ross. It has become a national symbol of pride and a call to patriotic fervor, marked this week on Friday as a national holiday. And no where was that more evident than during those frantic days following our horrific national tragedy.

It was then that rescue workers, battling to save people from the Pentagon where terrorists had crashed a plane, killing all in it, unfurled Old Glory over the edge of the building.

Once again, there was nothing old about our flag.

Call it nationalism, if you will. But the events of Sept. 11, 2001 did serve to call attention to that national symbol and what it represents, namely, that we are one nation and, together, we will defend our right to be a whole and sovereign nation.

Many of us may have known victims of the dive bomb crashes at the Pentagon and the World Trade Center, or the plane crash in Pennsylvania. That, however, was no criterion for mourning the loss of those souls, the loss of an innocence born out of having what we once thought were secure borders.

Not since the memorable raising of our flag over Iwo Jima in World War II, have we been so moved, so determined. Now few of those who fought beyond our borders are left to remember.

Our flag, whether standing tall outside a building, or waving simply from the porch of a house, is a way to keep those memories alive.

The way to help with that effort is to take a moment Friday to honor our flag, from Canton to Oxford, with a salute or just a pause to reflect.

It is a tradition rooted in the 1800s. The idea of a day celebrating our flag can be traced back to 1885 in Fredonia, Wisconsin, where a schoolteacher by the name of B.J. Cigrand had his students observe June 14 as the flag's birthday.

The celebration spread to New York, and soon thereafter, it moved to the Philadelphia home of Betsy Ross where the Sons of the Revolution celebrated the day. The movement then took hold in Pennsylvania, where the superintendent of public education moved Flag Day ceremonies into Independence Square. Then the observance moved on to Chicago with school children there.

In 1914, Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane gave a Flag Day address. As a culmination to the groundswell of support, President Woodrow Wilson established Flag Day on May 30, 1916.

But it wasn't until Aug. 3, 1949 that President Harry Truman designated June 14 as National Flag Day.

Started by children and their teacher, it is appropriate for today's children to reflect on the meaning behind the flag, and to bring their lessons home to parents and siblings.

Some would have us do more. The National Flag Day Foundation hopes we'll all stop at 7 p.m. Friday for the 23rd annual pause for the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

May we all be flag bearers in spirit, if not in actuality. And may our flag continue as the standard for the liberty and justice we so treasure.

FLAG DAY 2002

■ Thanks to voters

A huge "thank you" to all of the 4,117 people who made the effort and took the time to vote in the June 10 school board election. Thank you!

I am honored and elated that so many of you expressed enough confidence in me to elect me to the school board. I will do my best to ensure that your confidence is not misplaced! I look forward to the challenges ahead and know that with the community, the district staff and the other board members working together, we will focus on providing the best educational opportunities available for all of our students. Thank you!

My biggest "debt of gratitude" goes to all of those who assisted me during this campaign. Whether you were a caller, a talker, a pamphlet distributor, one who allowed me to decorate your lawn with my signs, a letter writer, an endorser, an advisor, one who supported the campaign financially or a voter — without all of you, the results would have been different. Thank you!

■ Proud moment

At 7 a.m. on Monday morning, I met with my fellow American Legion veterans from WWII and the Korean War in the parking lot next to the railroad tracks for the annual Memorial Day parade. Also there were the members of the VFW and the Vietnam Veterans and other veterans groups.

As we were waiting around, standing in the parking lot before the parade, I was lucky enough to have a few words with Lt. Gov. Posthumous and also with Michigan Air National Guard Brig. Gen. Carol Ann Fausone, whom, as it turned out, was the guest speaker and delivered an inspirational address from the stage at Kellogg Park after the high school band played the National Anthem.

The general, whose civilian job is at St. Mary's Hospital, walked in the parade with our American Legion group. As I walked down Main Street with our color guard, the continuous loud applause of the spectators as they paid tribute to the fallen Americans of all wars and the living war veterans on this day never abated until we stopped to disband our group for the ceremony at Kellogg Park.

I really couldn't focus on any person as we moved along. I was just aware of the crowds and the applause in my ears as I concentrated on keeping in place and in step, but I did notice that most of the onlookers were young families, probably with parents or grandparents who served in one of our wars.

Looking around the park during the ceremony, I was so moved as I saw these hundreds of people who made it downtown at this early hour to take part in this patriotic event. My wife Kay was on the sidelines but I never spotted her. My two daughters, who had arrived home from the north late the night before, located me in front of the stage so we were able to be together to hear the general's stirring address before we moved to the monument for the laying of wreaths, the three-round rifle salute by the Vietnam Veterans group and the bugle sounding of Taps.

I was impressed with the P-C Educational Park Marching Band in their handsome uniforms. The music was so professional and the conduct of the band members was exemplary during the parade and afterward as they stood in place during the general's address.

■ Veterans thanks

On behalf of the membership of Plymouth-Canton Vietnam Veterans of America, Chapter 528, I want to express our thanks to Phil Pursell once again for donating the use of your facility (Main Street Car Wash, Main St., Plymouth) on Sunday, May 19.

The proceeds ($2,073.51) from this fundraiser will be used toward chapter projects in 2002, e.g. defraying the cost of chapter scholarships totaling $1,000 to be awarded this summer sponsorship in the Plymouth YMCA run in June, the seventh annual Children's Fishing Derby already held in Hines Park on May 18 plus contributions to other worthwhile projects of veterans' groups and civic organizations.

It is always a pleasure to be associated with an individual such as yourself, not for your generosity alone, but for your community concern. Many a business owner would brag about being community-minded, but very few would sacrifice a day's receipts to make such a point.

Thank you again for your kindness, generosity and friendship to the Vietnam Veterans of Chapter 528 and to the Plymouth community.

Don Dignan, Vice President
Vietnam Veterans of America
Plymouth-Canton Chapter 528

■ Candidate thanks

As a candidate in the recent Plymouth-Canton school board election, I would like to congratulate Joann LaMar, Carol Saunders, and Marcy Staley for being selected to fulfill this important responsibility.

I have come to know all of the candidates over the last few months. In addition to an abiding interest in children and their education, each brings unique talents, which can prove valuable assets in the governance of our district.

I would also like to take this opportunity to say thank you to several groups of people. Several thousand people voted in this election. Each of them took time from a busy schedule to do their part in selecting those who will direct our schools.

I would particularly like to thank those who voted for me, as well as all of the people who donated their efforts to my campaign. The wide range of support and trust I received from many friends, acquaintances and erstwhile strangers, makes me feel like a winner — even given the results. I would especially like to thank my wife, Nancy, who organized much of my grassroots support and supported me in the expense, time and energy spent in this campaign, although she knew that it would take time from other duties if I won.

I congratulate the community on the selection of three new school board members, and encourage everyone to join me in working with them and the rest of our school system to provide the best possible education for our kids.

Bob Nelson

■ Walker thanks

As a participant in the Avon 3-Day and as a Redford Township resident, I would like to thank the many people in the Plymouth and Livonia communities who made this unforgettable experience even better.

A special thank-you goes to the many residents who came out to cheer us on who left their hoses on for us to help ourselves who allowed their kids to mist us down, who provided Kool-aid stops, ice stops, and clapped and cheered us on as we walked through their neighborhood. They may feel they didn't do much, but they cannot know how wonderful it was for the walkers. We were so hot and tired and those "small" things they did helped to keep us going.

I would also like to personally thank every one of my friends and acquaintances who made donations to help wipe out breast cancer in our lifetime. Much of the $2 million dollars (net that goes directly to the cause) raised by our walk will stay in our community with the largest focus on helping those women who do not have insurance and cannot afford breast cancer screening and/or treatment.

These organizations include the Karmanos Cancer Center, ACCESS in Dearborn, the YWCA of Western Wayne County (Inkster) and the Inter-Tribal Council of Michigan (Sault Ste. Marie).

Because there are so many uninsured women, there are many who have breast cancer and don't even know it! I find that appalling.

Finally, I would like to thank the young children who wrote us those notes of encouragement that we found at one of our "pit stops." They had all lost their mothers from breast cancer. It was an especially heartwrenching and inspirational moment in the walk and it boosted us and strengthened our purpose.

Simple things would address state deficit

The state budget situation is worse than you can possibly imagine

According to the latest estimates by the Senate Fiscal Agency, and assuming spending stays at the current level, Michigan's general fund budget will be more than $1 billion in the red for the fiscal year that begins Oct 1, 2003, while the school aid fund will be $200 million in deficit for the same period. And, of course, Lansing has yet to finish work getting the budget balanced for the current fiscal year.

Phil Power

Dominated by a coalition of cut-the-budget-and-damn-the-consequences lawmakers and gun shy political careerists running for higher office, the Legislature has no clue what to do. The Engler administration, having used up all the little accounting tricks and pots of money, was reduced last week to proposing a 25-cent tax increase on cigarettes, this got exactly eight votes on the Senate floor.

And the candidates for governor, who will have to face a billion-dollar budget problem the moment they take office, are by and large spending a lot of effort not talking about the problem.

Any category you mention, it looks bad. Really bad. Roads. Federal highway funds are down and the interest payments on the bonds that paid for the Build Michigan program are going to start soon. If nothing is done, state spending on fixing our admittedly bad roads will be slashed from $2 billion to $1 billion, and next winter you're going to see staged photo ops with politicians standing waist deep in pot holes.

Medicaid. There are 100,000 more people on Medicaid than there were 18 months ago, a consequence of the recession. Reimbursement rates to doctors and hospitals don't cover their costs, as a result, lots are refusing to accept Medicaid patients.

There is plenty of fraud in the system, especially in southeastern Michigan, but it's hard to catch. A federal entitlement, the Medicaid program is in financial and managerial chaos but it's never going to go away.

Medicaid money comes out of the general fund. Where are you going to find $1 billion in a $10 billion fund that has already been stretched out of shape? Cut appropriations for higher education? Sure, but college tuition rates are sure to go up. Slash the Department of Corrections budget for prisons? Fine idea, but the system that warehoused 18,000 inmates in 1982 has 48,000 today, and you can't just dump them out in the street.

Wherever you look, the situation is dire. Those who are competing for the (increasingly dubious) honor of leading our state are staying as far away from the subject as they can.

Let Gov. Dick Posthumus, who saw the situation develop on his watch, wants to talk about how nice the weather is. Attorney General Jennifer Granholm is talking about how much she dislikes bureaucracies, while former governor Jim Blanchard is talking about his experience (which, for the record, includes his decision to increase the state income tax when we faced a recession in his first term). David Bonior, to his credit, is saying the situation is serious.

The only candidate I can find who is prepared to deliver detailed straight talk about the budget is State Sen. Joe Schwarz, who wowed 'em a couple weeks ago at the Mackinac Island conference. "With the cuts we've made this year and the cuts we're making for next year and with the early retirement for state employees, we are in the process of eviscerating state government," says Schwarz, a physician.

"All the pots of money and accounting gimmicks are gone, and people who think we don't have to find some revenue to fix the problem are either eating funny mushrooms or smoking something illegal," Schwarz adds.

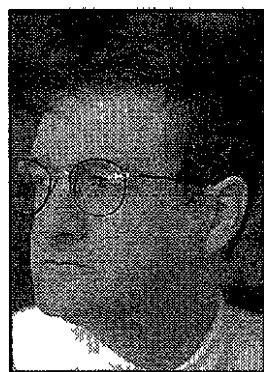

Schwarz wants to delay for two years both the scheduled 1 percent rollback in the Single Business Tax (gets $110 million per year) and the 1 percent reduced rate in the state income tax (gets around $100 million per year).

"By doing a couple of simple things that are easy to do, we can get through the rest of this year and next without drastic cuts and start confronting the $1 billion deficit for 2004."

He's right. The Citizens Research Council report validates it. People who have been studying state finances for years know it. Those legislators who are neither clueless nor running for higher office know it. And all the candidates for governor know it.

Too bad most of 'em are completely unwilling to face facts.

Keep our grand old flag flying as symbol of freedom

*You're a grand old flag,
You're a high flying flag,
For ever in peace may*

George M. Cohan

*you wave
You're the emblem of the land I love
Home of the free and the brave*

When my sons were in high school they knew a kid. They called him Flag Boy.

His car was painted Red, White and Blue and was festooned with flags. He wore flags wherever he went.

It was hard to say whether he did this to attract attention, as he was the classic "loner," or whether he did it because of some deep and mysterious patriotism.

It was a gaudy display but not disrespectful. But you could look at it from completely different perspectives. You could see it as a pure expression of national pride or as a tongue-in-cheek parody of that same patriotism. Flag Boy wouldn't say.

Sometimes it isn't easy to read what people are saying when they fly the flag.

Friday is Flag Day, a day to take special pride in displaying the Stars and Stripes. The day was first celebrated in 1885 on the 108th anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the flag design in 1777 by the Continental Congress. This year marks the 225th anniversary of the Stars and Stripes as the national flag.

Since the horrible events of Sept. 11, we've experienced a wave of flagmania. Stores couldn't stock enough and flag makers couldn't print or sew enough because everyone wanted to show their colors. Some wanted to show national unity and a love for a country under attack. Some Arab-Americans in addition to real feelings of patriotism also wanted to raise a flag as self protection against self proclaimed superpatriots.

We've gone through several heated arguments about flag burning. Politicians looking for a cheap and quick way to win favor have sponsored bills to amend the Constitution to outlaw flag burning. Civil libertarians have howled that any such ordinance, law or amendment is an unconstitutional attack on free speech.

Veterans are especially sensitive about the flag. They've seen their comrades die or be maimed in defense of their country, of their flag. Any attack on the flag is an attack on them and their memories. Their flag isn't just about country, it's about personal sacrifice. Flags stir emotions.

They have a power that transcends their original meaning. The battle flag of the Confederacy, the Stars and Bars, is a lightning rod in our ongoing racial drama. Some Southern whites claim with open faced sincerity that the flag as used in several Southern states is a reminder of their ancestry, a tribute to their heritage.

Southern blacks point out that heritage includes slavery and that the Stars and Bars only began appearing on state flags with the beginning of the modern civil rights movement in the late 1950s. They also point out that many openly racist groups have used the flag as a symbol of their resistance to civil rights for years.

To radicals of the 1960s and '70s the American flag was a symbol for what they perceived as American imperialism, racial injustice and a war they did not support. Burning that flag was less an act of anti-patriotism than an act of defiance against a government that in their view was violating American ideals.

As disrespectful, obnoxious and shortsighted as flag burning is, some of the worst desecrations of the flag are by those who claim to honor it. Commercial interests are always attaching the flag to their products, everything from halter tops to beer cans, that only insult the flag's meaning. Businesses and homes fly the flag in all kinds of weather, their flags are often tattered and dirty, treated with indifference.

The American flag is a beautiful sight waving in a breeze against a deep blue sky. It does not represent the current administration, the sitting Congress, the capitalist economic system or any set of narrow ideas about America.

It does represent the unity of the 50 states under a written Constitution and Bill of Rights. It represents a long and sometimes bloody history of trying to expand and defend the principles of that Constitution. It represents the freedom to disagree, the freedom to speak out, the freedom to hold contrary opinions because someday those contrary opinions may become accepted truth. It represents speaking truth to power without fear of reprisal.

It represents not only those brave men and women who gave their lives on a battle field but also those who proclaimed their opposition to slavery, those who stood up for their rights as workers to organize, those who proclaimed that women were the equal of men and should have the right to vote and those who marched against the lie of separate but equal.

It is and always should be a flag of freedom, not a flag of oppression.

For all those reasons it is a grand old flag. Hugh Gallagher is the managing editor of the Observer Newspapers. He can be reached by phone at (734)953-2149, by e-mail at hgallagher@e.homecomm.net or by fax at (734)591-7279.

Polar Blast is the coolest party in town

The crowd cringed and let out a gasp as the polar bear sat on top of the see-through tunnel at the Detroit Zoo. What would happen if the acrylic gave way and he fell through? Would we all be lunch?

Not to worry when the Arctic Ring of Life was in the planning stages several years ago, director Ron Kagan made sure visitors would enjoy plenty of up close experiences without any personal risk.

POLAR BLAST

What: The Detroit Zoological Society's annual Sun set at the Zoo fund raiser features a strolling supper from many of the area's finest restaurants and a raffle.

When: 7-11 p.m. Friday, June 21

Where: 8450 West 10 Mile at I-696 and Woodward, Royal Oak

Tickets: $75-$500 per person, raffle tickets $100. Proceeds will support education and conservation programs for the Arctic Ring of Life the zoo's polar bear exhibit. Call (248) 541-5717.

Still it's one thrill after another as polar bears and seals swim within inches of visitors. Since the $14-million habitat opened in October, I've been there several times. Each visit was more exciting than the last as the bears became used to their new environment which includes three swimming pools.

Next to running at the park with my Irish Wolfhound Shamrock, the world's largest polar bear den is my favorite place to be.

Linda Wasserman Aviv knows exactly how I feel. The West Bloomfield resident frequently takes her children to the zoo and admits she's "knocked out" by the Arctic Ring of Life. In fact, she loves the zoo so much she's co-chairing the Detroit Zoological Society's annual fund-raiser Sun set at the Zoo 7-11 p.m. Friday, June 21, in Royal Oak.

It's a wonderful event that allows guests to have the animals all to themselves while tasting food from 35 restaurants including Fishbone's Rhythm Kitchen Cafe, Pronto, Mario's, The Whitney, Ritz-Carlton, Gail's Chocolates, Traffic Jam, Whistle Stop Cafe in Birmingham, and P.F. Chang's China Bistro in Somerset, Troy, to name a few.

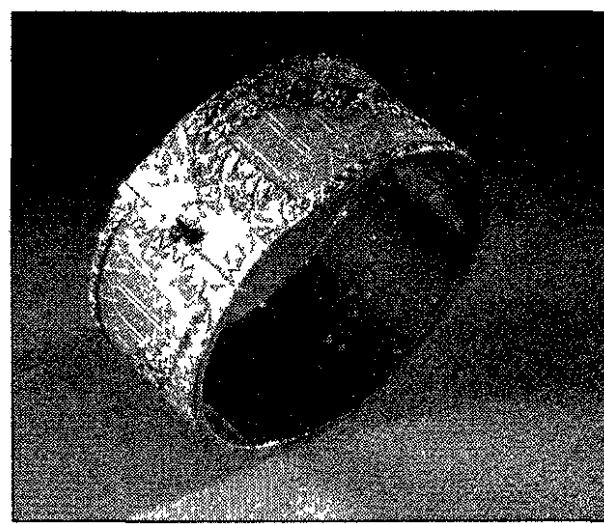

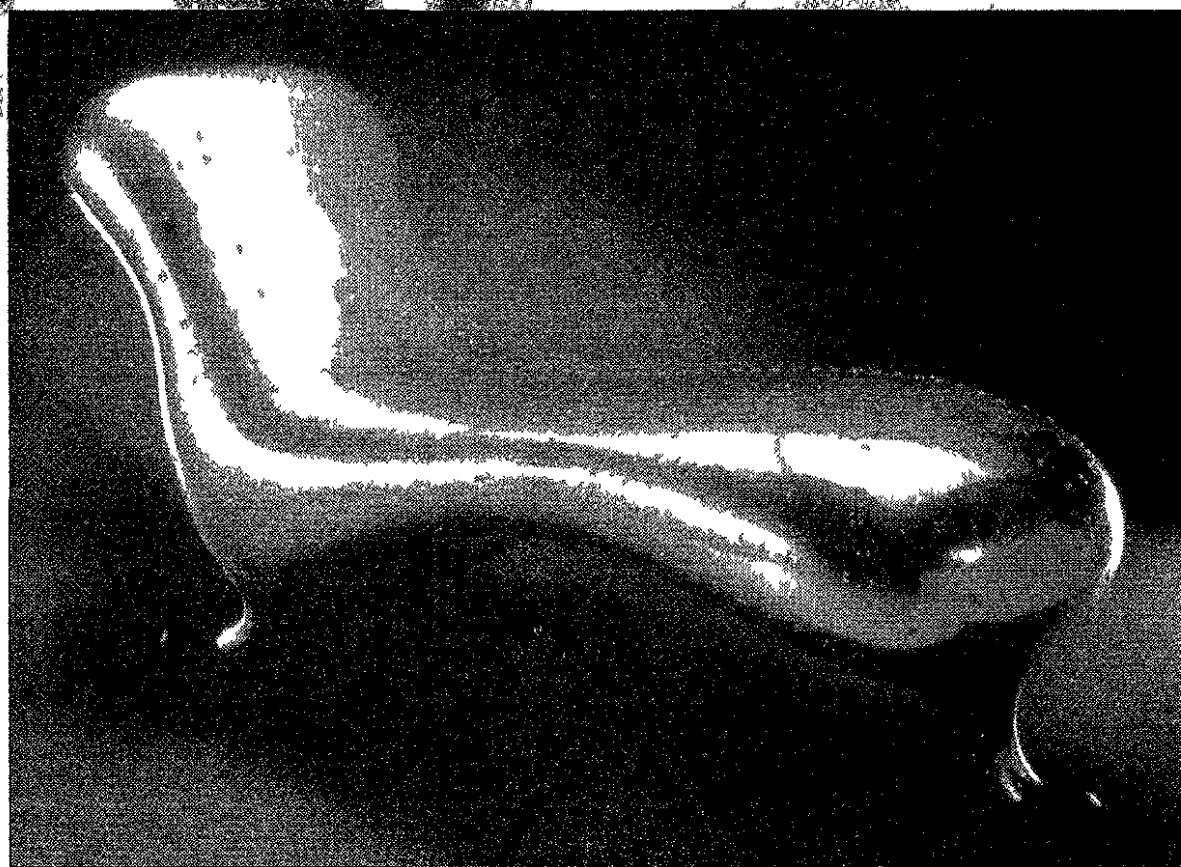

Last year my sister and I went from tent to tent trying the treats then walked around to see the animals. Docents were there to answer our questions about a wounded seal the zoo rescued. Mac would be kept apart from the rest of the harbor and harp.

ALUMINUM BY DESIGN

Exhibition documents material's history

Joe Houston wonders aloud about suspending the frame of an Audi A8 from the wall in one of the galleries at Cranbrook Art Museum in Bloomfield Hills. It is the largest of 200 objects in the exhibition Aluminum by Design: Jewelry to Jets - and even though lighter than a steel automobile frame the installation presents a problem.

Preparators from the Carnegie Museum of Art, Pittsburgh began unpacking the jewelry, sculpture and furniture two weeks before the exhibition opened but it's Houston's job as Cranbrook's curator to display the work, in this case, dramatically.

Organized by the Carnegie Museum of Art and sponsored at Cranbrook by Audi of America, Inc., Aluminum by Design is the first major exhibition to document the impact of the material on design and technology. The frame for the 2000 Audi A8 tells the latter part of a story about how aluminum inspired designers, architects and artists since the discovery of the lightweight, malleable metal in the mid 19th century.

"There are lots of history lessons in this show," said Houston who recently left his curator position at the Rockford Art Museum in Illinois to come to Cranbrook. "The exhibition starts the history of aluminum with a replica of the cap to the Washington Monument (1884), the first object of any great size. It served as a lightning rod."

Outdoor gates from 1929 were made for the Alcoa research lab which led the way for design and manufacture of aluminum," continued Houston.

"The lesson of the show is this infusion of art into life, design meant to be used. I think visitors will begin thinking about design differently and about art being in their daily lives. I know, I see aluminum everywhere now."

Houston moves from object to object relating the extensive knowledge he's acquired over the last few months. Decorative objects from the 1860s greet visitors to the first gallery. Arranged chronologically, the exhibition continues through several spaces designed by Houston.

Lalique prototype boxes show influences of Art Nouveau, Arts and Crafts and Art Deco movements are also represented. A 1913 Boeing propeller blade came from the first aluminum airplane.

Advances in technology over the years made it possible for Audi to introduce the all-aluminum frame that reduced vehicle weight by 40 percent and made for a more fuel efficient vehicle.

"The biggest revolution was in transportation with aviation probably the biggest evolution because of the malleability of the material," said Houston.

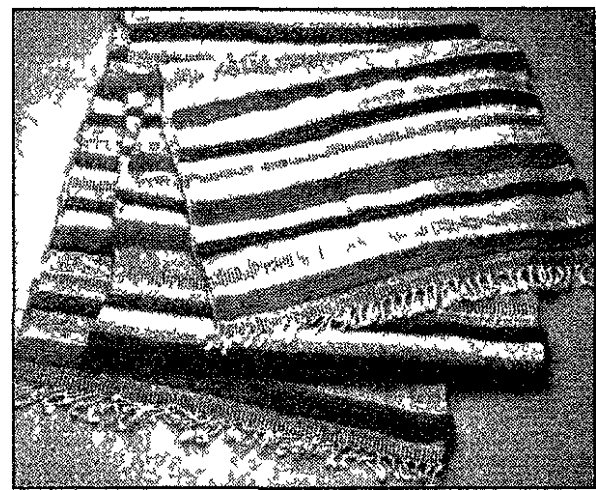

Inside the home, designers like Russel Wright began creating spun aluminum serving ware. A 1930 upright Kenmore vacuum made chores less taxing.

Furniture by Isamu Noguchi, fashion by Paco Rabanne and Salvatore Ferragamo, a 1994 chair by Donald Judd, and the highlight of the exhibition, Marc Newson's limited edition Lockheed Lounge from the mid-1980s, resulted from a dramatic increase in the production and promotion of aluminum. Visitors may recognize the Australian designer's streamlined chaise from Madonna's 1988 Rain video.

Preparators, wearing surgical gloves, handle it with care. The shiny lounge, its riveted surface reminiscent of an airliner's body, was a limited edition of 10 by Newson.

"Production during World War II grew as new uses were being discovered out of necessity," said

Please see DESIGN, B2

Colorful creation: This rug, woven from wood and aluminum thread by Marianne Strengell (1956), was part of Alcoa's Forecast Program for artists and designers to create prototypes out of aluminum. The exhibition was made possible by the generous sponsorship of Alcoa Foundation.

ALUMINUM BY DESIGN: JEWELRY TO JETS

What: The first major exhibition to explore how aluminum inspired art, architecture and design.

When: Through Aug. 25

Where: Cranbrook Art Museum, 39221 Woodward, Bloomfield Hills

Admission: $5-$3 seniors, students and children ages 6-17. Call (877) 462-7262 or visit the Web site at www.cranbrook.edu

SUMMER FESTIVAL

Ann Arbor turns up the heat with summer events

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

lchomin@oe.homecomm.net

If Eve Warshawski had to choose just one of the events taking place during the Ann Arbor Summer Festival, she couldn't. From the Flying Karamazov Brothers' humorous new show to a concert by Corn Daddy at Top of the Park, the 19th season promises to be a hit with classical guitar aficionados, fans of the late Harry Chapin, and Shakespeare lovers.

The Raver City Brass Band, pianist-composer Ahmad Jamal, Rennie Harris Puremovement (hip-hop), Rockapella, and Manhattan Transfer are just a few of the acts that will take to the stage of the Power Center for the Performing Arts and the Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre for paid events.

But the entertainment doesn't stop there. At Top of the Park, audiences will enjoy a variety of sounds including The Raisin Pickers (folk), Gemmi (children's music), The Couriers (big band), Sheila Landis Trio (jazz) and Jeremy Kittel (Celtic fiddling) as well as movies such as Shrek, Alfred Hitchcock's The Birds, Chocolat, Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone, and Snow Dogs.

"I love them equally," said Warshawski, festival executive director. "I have two daughters and if I had to pick just one, I couldn't. The festival has such wonderful artistry. It's eclectic. Twenty-two shows in 24 days. The Top of the Park is outside with 24-nights of bands, and movies that run Sunday to Thursday, and it's free."

seals until he healed and could be slowly introduced

"It's going to be a great party. It's creative black tie and people should feel free to go wild. We'd just love to have everyone who cares about the zoo to be there. It's a really exciting place to be. We'll have a strolling supper, dancing and starting at 9 p.m. a concert by Buckwheat Zydeco who play a New Orleans type of jazz. They're sure to be a huge draw. Their music is so much fun," said Aviv who's served on the Detroit Zoological Society board four years.

"We have four ticket levels including a new $75 ticket that includes cocktails, coney and the concert by Buckwheat Zydeco so everyone can participate. We want to reach out to everyone who loves the zoo."

Aviv and co-chairs Jennifer Fischer of Orchard Lake and Diane Platt, Grosse Pointe, have thought of everything.

Not able to attend the event? Zoo lovers can buy raffle tickets to win a Hummer H2 donated by Jennifer and David Fischer of The Suburban Collection, a trip to Kenya or a gold polar bear pin from Jules R. Schubott Jewelers in Troy. Only 2,500 $100 tickets will be sold.

"We raised $165,000 last year and hope to do better this year. The money will be used to benefit education programs," said Aviv. "I like animals and am very proud of our zoo and the education function the zoo provides for school. It's a real treasure for our city - Detroit. We are so lucky to have such a spectacular place for our children and all of us."

Scott Carter knows the zoo is a great place. He works there as curator of mammals, and each day is a new adventure. He's especially enjoyed watching the seven bears investigate their new 4.2-acre den complete with piped-in live trout.

"They all differ in their personalities and dislikes," said Carter. "Some like the water. Others get in it only to eat. The bears are definitely in better shape. They've never had a pool this deep before. When they first tried out the water they had so much fun they had to struggle to the bottom."

The bears just concluded their first breeding season.

No cubs this year but visitors don't seem to mind. When I was there in February, a little boy and his dad got the thrill of their lives when one of the bears pressed his nose against theirs in the Exploration Station.

"It's incredible the crowds we're seeing," said Carter. "Last week end we had 13,000. Even in the tunnel when there are no bears and then they see a bear, people are mesmerized and it's quiet, and someone goes 'there's a bear!'"

But don't take Carter's or my word about the fun you can have while visiting the new polar bear digs, get an up close and personal look at the bears as they playfully wrestle or swim overhead as you walk through the 70-foot tunnel.

Houston "By 1944, manufacturers were producing 800,000 tons a year, a 500 percent increase from before the war."

"By the 1940s aluminum was being used in fabric. A rug woven from wood and aluminum thread by Marianne Strengell (1956) was part of Alcoa's Forecast Program for artists and designers to create prototypes. Noguchi's 1957 tables were a result of the program and after all these years they're now being produced."

Strengell is one of the designers in the exhibition who lived, studied and taught at Cranbrook.

Charles and Ray Eames and Eero Saarinen, son of Cranbrook architect Eiel Saarinen, created several of the functional, fashionable chairs on display.

"Our design department has been one of the strongest," said Gregory Wittkopp, Cranbrook Art Museum director. "Internationally, Cranbrook has a reputation as a design center. Carnegie was looking for a select group of museums to host this. They approached Cranbrook."

"We've always looked at not only fine arts but applied arts of architecture and design. We're honored to be part of presenting the exhibition that's traveling to the Cooper Hewitt National Design Museum in Manhattan and the Musee des Beaux-Arts de Montreal. We're the last venue in North America before traveling overseas to London's Design Museum."

"This is the largest traveling exhibition ever brought to Cranbrook. From the 220 pieces originally shown, we've edited to 200 to fit the story line. Cranbrook's addition is a lamp created for Kingswood dining hall by Walter von Nessen."

Wittkopp urges everyone to view the exhibition spotlighting decorative arts from Scotland, a Sony robotic pet dog, the ribs from R. Buckminster Fuller's Dymaxion house at Greenfield Village, and chairs designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, Marcel Breuer, Frank Gehry, and Gio Ponti.

Aluminum's recyclable properties assure the metal a bright future in the design world.

Not to be missed are Clare Graham's Serpentine Chaise Lounge made from beverage cans and Boris Bally's chair of reused traffic signs.

"The exhibition's unique and shows the whole range of design from big name designers to objects that extend into daily life - baseball bats, tennis racquets," said Wittkopp. "One of our goals is to educate people about good design, function and form. Design can enhance our daily life."

"All three of our shows this year were pinnacles. We saw record attendance with the exhibition of the Shuey collection, 16-pieces of which remain on exhibit. The acquisition of the Dr. John and Mrs. Rose M. Shuey collection positioned us as a museum of contemporary art. It raised the bar of what people's expectations are of the Cranbrook Art Museum. We're currently formulating a plan for a substantial addition to the art

Smooth JazzFest spotlights national and local acts

Let it rain, says Suzanne Belanger. Jazz lovers will still turn out for the two day festival presented by V 98.7 (WVMV-FM) at Freedom Hill Amphitheatre in Sterling Heights once they hear who's playing.

The fourth annual Smooth JazzFest features not one, but two headliners. Saxophonist Boney James takes to the stage Saturday, June 15. Five-time Grammy Award winner Al Jarreau brings his mellow voice to the festival Sunday, June 16. Rick Braun, Down to the Bone, Guitar & Saxes, Alexander Zonjic's Detroit Smooth Jazz All-Stars, Fourplay (featuring Bob James and Larry Carlton), Jonathan Butler, Alfonzo Blackwell, and Gerald Veasley round out the lineup.

"I'm so excited about this

All-stars: Alexander Zonjic forms a super-group for the Smooth JazzFest year's festival, the national artists and Alexander Zonjic's all stars," said Belanger, promotions/marketing director for the Farmington Hills-based radio station. Belanger began planning the festival a year ago. "Detroit loves Boney James. And on Sunday night Al Jarreau is back by popular demand."

"We have a new location that offers listeners permanent seats as well as lawn. We had torrential downpours last year but we still had thousands and thousands of people."

Alexander Zonjic attributes that phenomena to Detroit's dedicated jazz fans. He's had plenty of opportunity to learn about audiences across the country during his more than 20-year career as a flutist. Zonjic plays several jazz festivals every summer including The Community House's JazzFest in Birmingham (July 18-20) for which he serves as artistic director.

Zonjic's Detroit Smooth Jazz All-Stars play music from his latest CD Reach for the Sky 2 p.m. Saturday.

"It's the caliber of talent that comes into the festival," said Zonjic, the morning show host on Smooth Jazz radio. "It can be pouring rain and these folks stay."

"There's a camaraderie that happens performing on the same stage with so many musicians you have respect for, Rick Braun and Boney James. I'll be there the whole weekend meeting listeners, people who listen to me every morning. I'm putting together a super group with my existing band. There are so many great musicians who live in this area, to be able to showcase other musicians who have their own careers, Dave McMurray, Tim Bowman. We'll have nine people up there. It's going to be exciting.

"Every time they told me who they chose for the festival I said great, such an amazing lineup, so many different kinds of jazz and they're all viable and smooth jazz gets showcased."

Mention the Taxi Theme and everyone knows Bob James's name. The pianist along with Larry Carlton, Nathan East and Harvey Mason perform as Fourplay on Sunday. The group kicked off their tour June 6 in Raleigh, North Carolina. By the end of the year they'll have played in most of the major cities in the country.

At the Smooth JazzFest the audience will hear music from earlier albums as well as from their new CD Heartfelt on the reactivated Bluebird label. Fourplay, which previously had been with Warner Brothers, recorded Heartfelt earlier this year in Los Angeles.

"I'm especially excited about Let's Make Love, which Nathan East wrote and sings, to see what Detroit audiences think of it," said James.

"My close friend Alexander Zonjic has invited me a number of times to Detroit. The University of Michigan is my alma mater. Even though I wasn't born there, I live in Traverse City. I'm a Michigander in heart."

Saturday headliner: Boney James is one of two headliners at the Smooth JazzFest this weekend. Five-time Grammy Award winner Al Jarreau performs Sunday night.

Berkoff will bring Shakespeare's villains to life. The New York Times gave him fabulous reviews. And the festival commissioned Peter Sparling to create a work about a dancing man at age 50.

Sparling danced with the Martha Graham company for eight years before moving back home to Michigan. He is a professor of dance at the University of Michigan and founder of the Peter Sparling Dance Company which opened the Treetown Festival at the Performance Network in Ann Arbor in late May. Bodytalk: A Vaudeville for Dancing Man at Middle Age premieres at Power Center for the Performing Arts Tuesday, July 2.

"It follows the tradition of a one man Vaudeville show and is strung together by a script, anecdotes, stories about my life, the way I see the world. I use a video background, text and music brought together on DVD and I dance to keep up with it," said Sparling who created all of the choreography and video editing for the show.

Dossin Variations, part of an installation at the Detroit Institute of Arts last year, illustrates his elementary school days. Sparling spent his teen years in Plymouth before becoming a professional dancer. He's been in the festival as a dancer or as choreographer for members of his company every year but one since 1992. In fact, the Peter Sparling Dance Company debuted at the festival in 1994.

In addition to rehearsing every day for the Ann Arbor Summer Festival premiere, Sparling is creating two new works for a concert at the Performance Network in fall and a dance set to Chopin's Nocturnes with video highlights of six areas of Michigan. The work premieres Dec 27 at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

There are 11 acts or short episodes, dance poems, with poetry by myself, Charles Baxter and Linda Gregerson," said Sparling. "A duet with Janet Lilly is a dialogue between a man and woman in a long term relationship. It shows the subtleties of the balancing act. Stu dio 54 shows my brief fling in the celebrity set. There's everything from light humorous skits to deep reflection like that found in The Man and the Mirror. It illustrates the idea we as human beings are unique."

"If you like the art shows in Ann Arbor, you are going to LOVE this one." Susan P.

Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival

Area series showcases notable and emerging artists

New York violinist Ani Kavafian the phone as if she'd known the caller for years. Even though the Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival is one of 11 she performs in this summer, the two-week series holds a special place in her heart. She's eager to talk about the role of Detroit in her career. It seems many of the festival musicians, internationally-recognized as well as emerging, look forward to performing in one or more of the 20 concerts presented in the southeast region and East Lansing the last two weeks in June. A member of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, Kavafian took her first violin lessons in Detroit after moving to the U.S. in 1956 with her family. Born in Istanbul of Armenian heritage, Kavafian began her studies with Ara Zerouanian on a $15 scholarship for five lessons. He gave her the enthusiasm for the instrument. Five years later studies with Misha Mishakoff deepened her interest in the instrument. At age 16, she won first prize in piano and violin competitions at Interlochen Arts Camp, and by 18 decided to drop piano and began studying violin at The Juilliard School where she eventually received a master's degree with top honors. Kavafian now teaches at Yale University. Kavafian is one of the artists on the opening program for the Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival Saturday, June 15, at the Seligman Performing Arts Center in Beverly Hills. She and sister Ida Kavafian, a violinist with the Beaux Arts Trio for six years and a member of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, will perform Mozart's Duo for Violin and Viola in B flat and Ravel's Trio in A minor with pianist Ruth Laredo Tuesday-Wednesday, June 18-19, at St. Hugo of the Hills in Bloomfield Hills. On Saturday, June 15, Ani Kavafian joins Laredo, festival artistic director James Tocco, and the Elements Quartet for Beethoven's Sonata in F, Op. 4 at the Seligman Performing Arts Center.

at Kerrytown Concert House in Ann Arbor along with Frederic Rzewski's Pocket Symphony written in 2000. On June 22 at the Seligman center, they play Roshanne Etezady's Damaged Goods (2000).

"The music's beautiful with intense sounds, a wonderful palette of colors," said Albert. "We play things you don't usually hear on a chamber music concert. We have percussion by Matthew Duvall. I grew up playing in string quartets. It changes your sound."

"We perform all by memory. Those of us who can stand up and move around in a way that complements what the music is saying."

Maury Okun couldn't be more delighted to have eighth blackbird back. He feels the sextet is one of several highlights at this summer's festival. He especially enjoys the choreography and fact they play without music.

"This group came to us and we played a part in furthering their career. The festival considers itself to have a responsibility to the art form," said Okun, festival executive director. "Part of that is passing it on to the next generation of performers and to cultivate those performers. This is the sixth year for Shouse which was funded for the first five years by the Catherine Filene Shouse Foundation. This is the first year it's not and we're looking for funding sources."

Ensembles apply to the Shouse Institute by sending unedited video or audio tapes to festival organizers. Once accepted, the musicians, who must be age 30 or under, receive two-weeks of intensive coaching by Paul Katz and Henry Meyer, and perform in the festival. This year's emerging ensembles are Jupiter String Quartet from Cleveland, Biava String Quartet, Boston, Zoroastran Trio, New York, and the Lee/Zhu Duo, Philadelphia.

"For audiences it's interesting," said Okun. "The Shouse concerts are always one of our best selling events. eighth blackbird managed to find a way to introduce contemporary music to the audience. That's a tremendous challenge for all of us in music."

Okun is just as enthusiastic about the rest of the festival, a stellar lineup of internationally recognized artists.

"What a jewel this festival is! It's two weeks every year of fantastic music we're lucky to have access to," said Okun, who also serves as executive director of Detroit Chamber Winds & Strings who perform concerts at the Seligman center (June 29), and Detroit Zoo (3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. June 23). "Our composer-in-residence John Harbison is one of the great contemporary composers. He's won a Pulitzer and we have players coming to us for the first time - Shmuel Ashkenazi, the Elements Quartet and they're terrific."

"We have Ruth Laredo at the Detroit Zoo playing Prokofiev's Peter and the Wolf. We've added the Seligman center as a venue. Our long term goal is to extend throughout the region. That's the reason we picked the name Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival. Right now we're starting to talk with Interlochen."

Sandi Reitelman believes it's only a matter of time before she and co-chairs from St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church and Kirk in the Hills work even closer together. Sponsored by the two churches, Temple Beth El, which Reitelman represents, and Detroit Chamber Winds & Strings, the festival continues to gain a reputation for spotlighting the brightest talent.

"Most of us involved feel grateful to have chamber music here, and affect it," said Reitelman of Birmingham. "There's a great deal of intimacy associated with the art form. It's always played with ensembles without a leader in a smaller setting so there's a communication between artists when they're playing. An audience feels they're a part of that."

"I like playing in Detroit. There are so many wonderful musicians to come out of Detroit," said Kavafian who recently returned from Armenia where she and younger sister Ida performed with orchestra and as chamber musicians. "My sister and I have performed the Mozart many times. I'm looking forward to coming back. I have so many family and friends. I'm performing in an environment I know so well. It makes me feel like home."

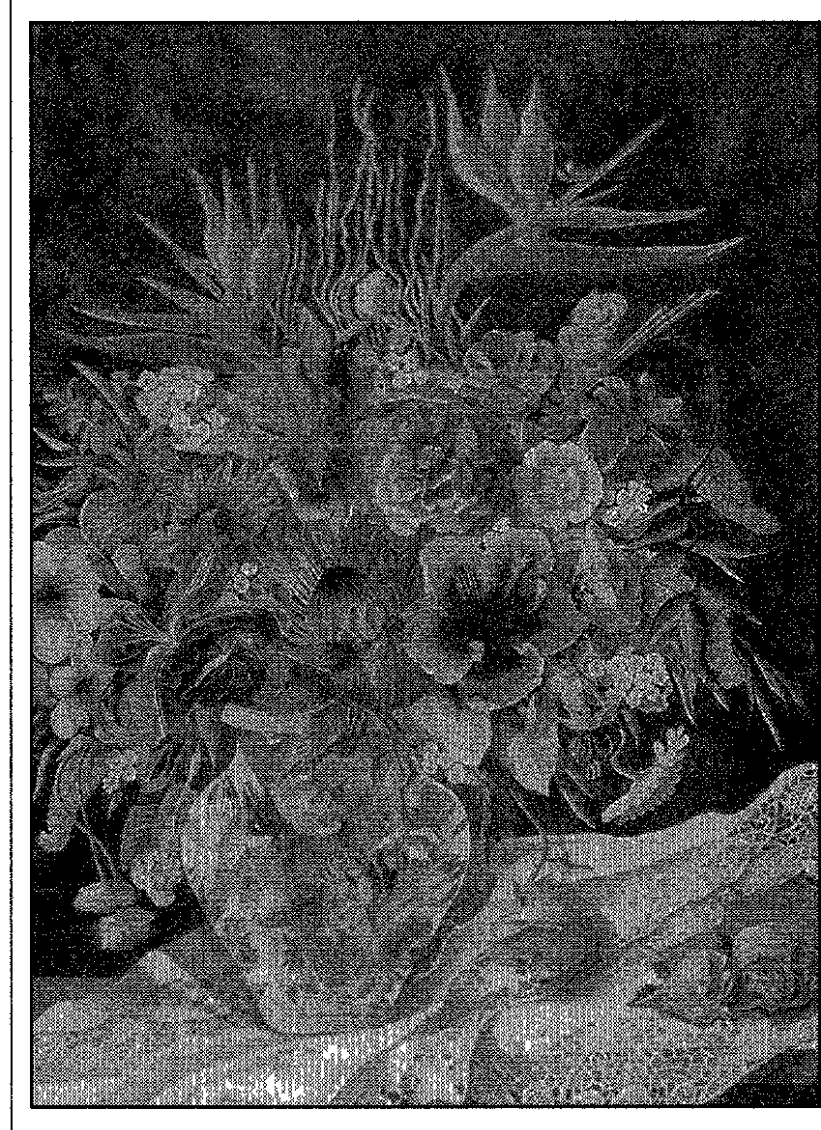

Matt Albert knows exactly how Kavafian feels. Unlike Kavafian who's been playing professionally since 1972, he first tasted the bright lights of success as part of the festival's Shouse Institute, a training and performing program for emerging artists. In 1997, he and the five other members of eighth blackbird submitted a tape of their contemporary music and were invited to the festival. Since then their career soared. In 1999, they released their first CD Round Nur Tool. The award-winning sextet plays more than a half dozen performances a month in the Midwest and along the east coast in addition to serving as ensemble-in residence at Northwestern University and the University of Chicago. It is there they work with student composers and premiere their work.

"Great Lakes showed us how much people could appreciate what we do," said Albert. It gave us an opportunity. They were the biggest audiences we ever played for - 1,000 - in St. Hugo. People came up to us after and said we thought we weren't going to like it and you changed our mind. They made us feel our career was worth it. We get to show them we've grown."

eight blackbird plays music written only within the last five years. The members, originally from New York, Connecticut and Virginia, met in 1996 at the Oberlin Conservatory where they were all students active in the contemporary music ensemble.

On June 18-19, they perform Thomas Albert's (Matt's father) Thirteen Ways, at St. Hugo's Chapel, and repeat it on the 21st Incarcerated in the electronic bracelet program, Zoe repeatedly tries to escape her apartment. Each attempt brings another visit from her parole officer, Daly. Ironically, this relationship allows both of them to grow as they fall in love. Zoe sheds her rose colored glasses and becomes her own superhero after she discovers the real cause of the accident. A success story in dance?

Dance isn't a lucrative business. Times are difficult. The economy is down. Arts organizations are struggling. Doom and gloom. As artistic director of a dance company, I recognize that my art form is usually on the lowest rung of the financial support ladder. So how has Eisenhower Dance Ensemble achieved success despite the odds?

Laurie Eisenhower

EDE, now nearing completion of its eleventh season, has a full schedule of performances and touring, pays its dancers better than any company in the state, has a strong board of directors and administrative staff, and artistically one-ups itself with every performance.

The company has traveled throughout the Midwest and to Arizona, Missouri, Virginia, Washington D.C., St. Petersburg, Russia, and in 1999 made its New York City debut. The dancers rehearse five days a week and boast a 38-40 week contract.

The company, which started with an annual budget of approximately $50,000, will have revenue of nearly $350,000 this year.

How did we achieve this success? I asked our executive director, Maury Okun, what he thought was the key to the company's success. He said it had to do with me having both right-brain and left-brain capabilities. Since I couldn't find my keys this morning, maybe I shouldn't comment on this, but organizing and planning is a vital part of what I do as an artistic director. Finding the balance between this and the artistic side is tough. It's one reason that many choreographers free-lance instead of running their own companies.

Maury Okun also attributes our success to EDE's artistic product, which is considered accessible, visual, and even entertaining for the 21st century audience. We pride ourselves on our versatile repertoire, which includes works by local and internationally known choreographers. We spend time working with theaters and arts councils in developing programs appropriate to each community we visit.

As a repertory dance company, we strive for exciting and provocative programs, yet, product alone cannot generate success. EDE has a strong board of directors and some additional key supporters. These people have seen us through good times and bad with their energy, their intelligence and their resources. The administrative staff at EDE is smart and efficient. Our company manager, Anne Bak Marne, does the work that it would take three "normal people" to do.

The director of our EDE Center for Dance, Francesca Pileci, has built our Rochester Hills facility into an important component of our operation. Opened by EDE in 1995, the Center serves as our base for community outreach and education programs. Enrollment has increased steadily, contributing to the operating budget of the company.

Of course, you can't talk about a successful dance company without talking about the dancers. Regional companies often suffer from an ever-changing roster continually losing good dancers to "brand name" or big city companies. The talented dancers of EDE have committed themselves to our company, showing a devotion that goes beyond the dance studio. The artistic growth of the company could not have been achieved without this loyalty.

Success? Someone once told me that you need at least two of three ingredients to achieve it — talent, hard work and luck. Luck hasn't played too much part in this organization, but hard work and talent have. Diligence combined with some excellent business and public relations savvy has helped the company to maximize its limited resources.

As for the future, I'm certainly optimistic. After 11 years, our success has given me confidence in our artistic and administrative abilities. I've learned to stay focused on the positive and keep the big picture in mind. Nevertheless, I think it's important that Eisenhower Dance Ensemble does not rest on its laurels. We must continually search for new ideas, new partnerships and new trends.

Laurie Eisenhower is artistic director of the Eisenhower Dance Ensemble and professor of dance at Oakland University in Rochester. She is one of the guest columnists appearing in a series that introduces Observer & Eccentric readers to the people behind the institutions and organizations in the arts community. On June 20, Eisenhower writes about choosing a dance school.

Everest Express climbs to the top of the mountain

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND

Some restaurants are worth a second story Everest Express, perhaps the only restaurant serving Nepali cuisine in Michigan, is such a place. First featured on the Observer & Eccentric dining pages in May 2001, this small, storefront eatery in Farmington has managed to gain accolades from several notable publications, including Hour magazine.

Nepali delights: Pradip "Rocky" Poudel displays two house specialties: Nilgiri Tarakari (lamb sautéed with mushrooms and potatoes) and the popular Everest Momo (dumplings stuffed with ground chicken breast and topped with tomato sauce). Both dishes are delicious.

This July 3-7, Everest Express has been invited to participate in the 14th annual Comerica Tastefest in Detroit's New Center Area. The event, billed as "Michigan's premier outdoor culinary festival," attracts hundreds of thousands of visitors eager to try some of the best cuisine in the area.

They won't be disappointed with the likes of the Everest Express's famous "momo's," tender steamed dumplings stuffed with chicken or lamb and topped with roasted tomato sauce.

"Lots of American people love my food," says Pradip "Rocky" Poudel, who owns Everest Express with partner Nidhal Gorges.

Trying to explain the overall taste of Nepali cuisine is difficult. "If you haven't had chocolate ever in your life, how would you be able to describe it?" says Gorges, offering an analogy. Who doesn't love chocolate?

Actually, Nepali food tastes a bit like Middle Eastern, Asian, Indian and Mexican. Cilantro is a dominant ingredient, as are beans, chick peas, rice, lentils and lamb. Poudel, the main chef, relies on a repertoire of spices (ginger, garlic and cumin) and fresh vegetables rather than salt to flavor his food. The result is both foreign and familiar. Most of all, it's just plain delicious.

The Kawati Tarakari - a hearty,

Where: 23331 Orchard Lake Road (between Grand River and Ten Mile), Farmington

Phone: (248) 474 8024, fax (248) 474-2770

Hours: 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. (lunch) and 5-10 p.m. (dinner) Tuesday-Sunday, closed Monday

Menu: Nepali appetizers, salads, soups and entrées (vegetarian, chicken, lamb and shrimp). Tandoori oven specialties.

Prices: Very reasonable

Extras: Carry out and catering. Can accommodate private parties on site up to 50. Participate in the Delivery Butler (call (248) 482-1100 or order online www.deliverybutler.com) stew-like mixture of 11 sprouted beans sautéed with onions, tomatoes and fresh herbs - is especially tasty. Surely, this is Nepali comfort food at its best. The Sakahari Chow Chow, a plate of mixed vegetables with flat wheat noodles and herbs also rates high with taste buds.

"It takes three and a half days to prepare the beans," said Poudel of the tarakari. "It has so much protein. It's so hearty it tastes like it has meat." Both the tarakari and the chow chow can be made with lamb.

Kathmandu Tarakari - made with cubed chicken breast, mushrooms, and broccoli - is another popular menu item. "It's a very hot seller," said Poudel. "When people taste it, they go crazy."

I particularly love Poudel's vegetable soup, which is so thick and rich, you would think it had a meat base. It doesn't. The lentil soup also is a must, similar to the Middle Eastern version, but still uniquely Nepali.

Gorges, whose background is Iraqi, has become a convert to Nepali cuisine. When she and Poudel first opened Everest Express, she included some Middle Eastern dishes on the menu. Not anymore. Their customers have fallen in love with Poudel's momo's.

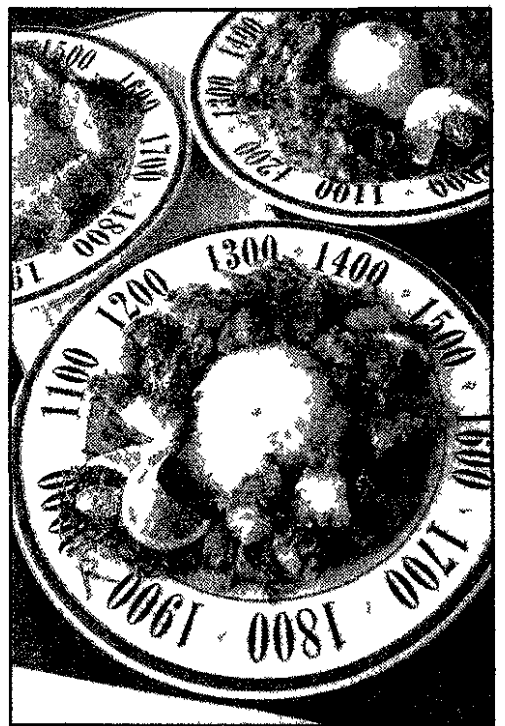

Cindy Trimmer of Farmington, a nurse at Botsford Hospital, is on her fourth visit. This time she brought her friend Shambho, an astrologer from Hawaii.

"I love the love the flavor of the food, and it's very good for you. They have a very good choice, a big selection," she said.

Business is good for the Everest Express. An extra table has been added, for a total of seven, and Poudel and Gorges have hired another Nepali chef, Kumar Lama, whose favorite dishes are the Everest Momo and the Nilgiri Tarakari, boneless lamb sautéed with mushrooms, potatoes, and onions.

Quarters are close, but Poudel and Gorges' charming hospitality make dining at Everest Express a genuine experience. If they have time, they both like to chat with their customers and make sure their food is just right. Ask Poudel who taught him to cook and he's likely to say, "God."

Few people find reason to argue.

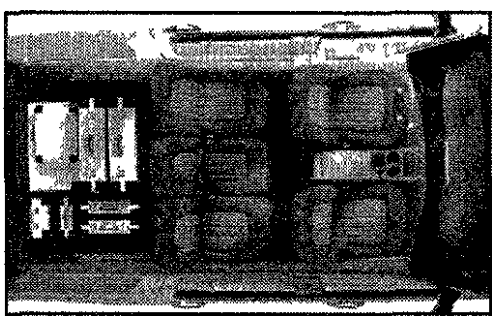

Tasty and healthy: Counterclockwise: Nilgiri Tarakari (boneless lamb stew with potatoes and mushrooms), Kawati Tarakari (a hearty stew made with 11 different beans, onions and tomatoes), and Everest Momo (a customer favorite dumpling dish made with ground chicken or lamb topped with tomato sauce).

Take a cue from these Father's Day gift ideas

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

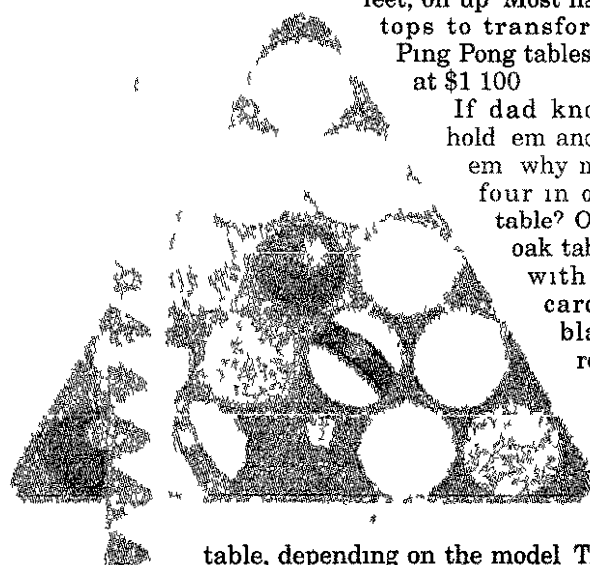

For some people, Father's Day presents a gift-giving challenge. Mom is easy — flowers, jewelry, perfume — but what to get dad?

Here's a hint: Make a list, check it twice, and get dad something really nice. Look at it this way: If you had raised you, wouldn't you expect to be rewarded? Another hint: Not socks or pajamas.

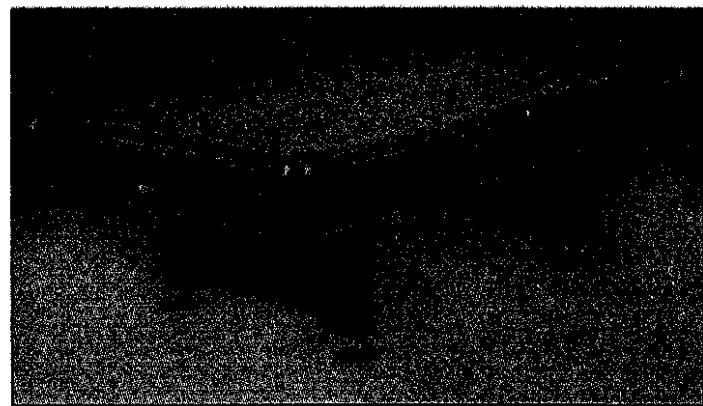

At Billy Bob's stores in Westland and West Bloomfield, "The No. 1 Father's Day gift is a furniture-grade residential-size pool table," said Paul Green, manager of the Westland store.

"They come in a variety of sizes that accommodate almost any family room or basement rec room, starting at 3 by 7 feet, on up. Most have conversion tops to transform them into Ping Pong tables." Prices begin at $1,100.

If dad knows when to hold 'em and when to fold 'em, why not give him a four-in-one gaming table? One style is an oak table that comes with layouts for cards (poker, blackjack), a roulette wheel and craps, and can be converted to either a cocktail or a console table, depending on the model. The game table is $450, also at Billy Bob's.

table, depending on the model. The game table is $450, also at Billy Bob's.

Pool time: A pool table is a popular Father's Day gift at Billy Bob's. Features of this model include all-wood top rails and metal corner caps.

The wonderful advantage of a pool or gaming table is that the whole family can enjoy it. The same can be said for quality exercise equipment. Everyone benefits.

The Roadrunner treadmill, available at Exercise Warehouse stores in Livonia and Troy, is an example.

"The Roadrunner features an analog dial, gear shift levers to change speed and elevation, a six-disc CD changer, a program that raises or lowers speed and elevation according to the user's profile, and more," said Jeff Janower, co-owner with Danny Sherbin.

"Gadget freaks love it, and it comes with a lifetime warranty on all parts." Prices on the Roadrunner start at $2,495.

For the cost of a year's membership in a health club, family members can stay home and use a multi-station gym. The Body Solid gym only takes up an 8 by 8-foot space but it provides a lat pull down station, a chest press, leg extensions and a pec/fly station just for starters.

"It comes with an instructional panel for 20 different exercises," said Janower. But that's just the beginning. There's almost no limit to the variety of exercises you can do. The Body Solid begins at $700.

Lots of dads play golf, but have you ever met one who was truly satisfied with his swing? Like so many other things in life, golf is what you put into it. Almost any golfer would be delighted to receive a gift certificate for lessons from a pro to help him improve his swing and his stance.

Oasis Golf Center in Plymouth is open all year, thanks to a dome that allows dad to whack those balls no matter what the season.

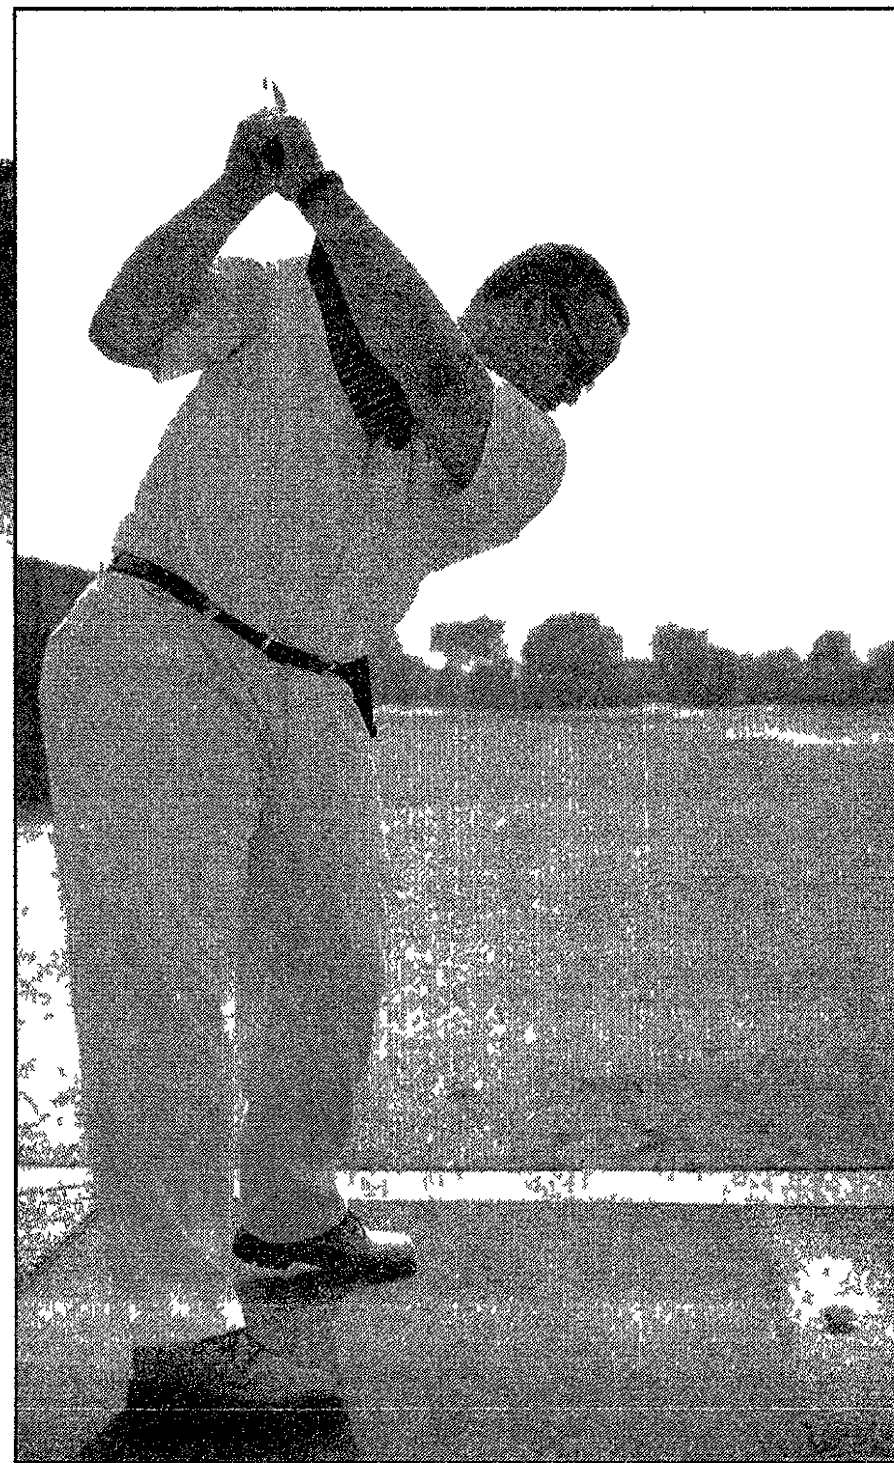

"We offer golfers the Swingcam, which digitally records your swing, and provides an instant replay," said Mike Schuer of Oasis. "Instructors use it to critique a person's swing, and the student can select two swings to be instantly transferred to his web site at home."

Give dad a gift certificate towards lessons. Oasis provides both private and group lessons in a variety of packages. Or, you can give dad a VIP pass, a discounted card to use on a ball machine. A $20 pass is good for $24 on the machine, a $500 pass is good for $1,100.

At Carl's Golfland in Plymouth, dad can pick out a club and try it out at the in-house practice facility.

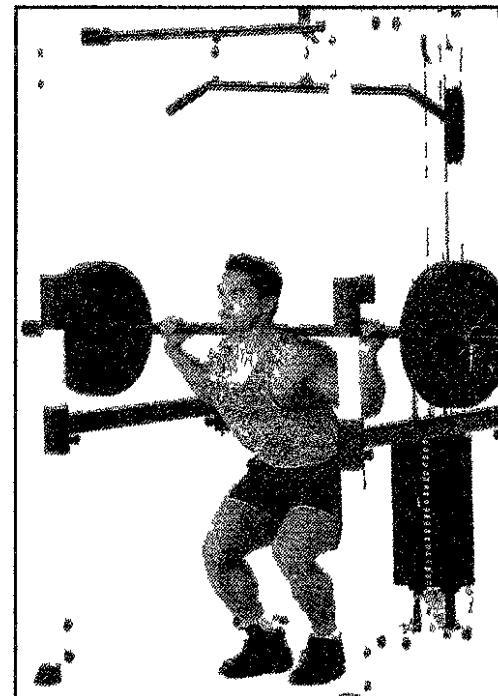

"We have a knowledgeable sales staff and the largest selection," said Neal Feldman, store manager. "Golfers want to see the club, try it, and take it with them that day."

Taking a swing: John Krapohl was told by his wife to check out what he might want for his birthday and Father's Day at Carl's Golfland in Bloomfield Hills.

Shaping up: This Body Solid exercise equipment from Exercise Warehouse, with a selectorized lat attachment that can turn a rack into a multi-station machine, would make a great gift for the dad who likes to work out.

Hanging baskets add color, interest

Hanging baskets of bright flowers can add interest and color to many patios and gardens.

Whether it is filled with purple lantana gracing an old-time porch, ivy geranium swinging from a lamppost or shepherd's hook, or a lovely pink fuchsia suspended from a tree branch, hanging planters are always a focal point.

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

Containers for hanging baskets can be most anything you wish to use, they all need drainage holes. Wire, plastic, redwood, clay, wicker, an old iron kettle are all candidates.

Hangers need to be securely fastened to hold the container securely. You won't want all your planning and hard work to fall to the ground and be destroyed just because of its weight! It's surprising how much weight water can add.

Use care when removing the plants from their pots. Place the crown between your middle and index fingers, tip up the pot and strike the base with the heel of your other hand. Gently pull the container off the root ball. This will assure that the roots aren't damaged.

Potting soil

Use a good potting soil for your plants. Many have slow-release fertilizer pellets in them.

An excellent one is Pro-Mix Hanging Basket & Planter Mix. It contains water-absorbing crystals that release stored water to the roots when they need it, consequently you'll need to water about half as much. Fertilizer granules will need to be added.

Lightly moisten the mix with just enough water to make it loose and fluffy and fill the container one-third full. Place one plant in the center and several around it, leaving 4 to 6 inches between plants.

Settle the mix around the plants with water, and then gently press the plants in position. Don't compact the tiny air spaces.

The following stores carry this product: The Plant Station in Birmingham, Lucas Nursery & Landscape Inc. in Canton, Clyde Smith & Son Greenhouse in Westland, and Wojo's in Ortonville.

After midseason, especially with large baskets, if foliage starts to yellow, feed every two weeks with a water-soluble product. Wire basket forms need to be lined with coir or moss.

Luster Leaf products now have compressed long fiber sphagnum moss that is great for containers. Visit www.lusterleaf.com for a store near you. Moss retains 20 times its weight in water for a long time so the plants need less care.

For trailing plants, cut slits at varying levels in the sides of the liner and fill the basket with soil mix to just below the level of the lowest cut. Moisten the root ball of the chosen plant, squeeze it gently to form a sausage shape and carefully push it through the slit. Add additional soil to the next slit, etc. Top the basket with additional soil.

Hard-won law to help stop appliance repair fraud

The heading on the bill states, "A bill to regulate the servicing, repair, and maintenance of certain appliances and the compensation received by certain persons for those activities. To provide for certain disclosures and warranties regarding those activities, to limit certain representations by service dealers, and to provide for certain remedies." On Tuesday June 4, I think history was created when the full house passed Bill 217. After 17 years of constant prodding and pushing, and several different government leaders sponsoring this bill Michigan Senators Bill Bollard Jr and Thaddeus McCotter achieved what I thought might be impossible. I am so excited by this happening that I am having difficulty writing about it. This new law will allow homeowners to be able to figure out whether or not they are being ripped off by an appliance repair company. For many years, a repair person could write a simple statement saying they fixed your product. They would put a dollar figure on it,

APPLIANCE DOCTOR

■ This new law will allow homeowners to be able to figure out whether or not they are being ripped off by an appliance repair company. For many years, a repair person could write a simple statement saying they fixed your product. They would put a dollar figure on it, and that was it.

and that was it. I have called this thievery with a pen and that is putting it mildly. Consumers receiving repairs on major appliances will receive detailed information such as part numbers of components changed, the cost of such parts and applied warranties. Parts that are removed from your products, which are not deemed hazardous, will be left with you for disposal. This will give you the advantage of being able to see if the part is defective or not. For many years some people in the service industry would not leave the part, and they did it for a reason. It's not hard to figure out, is it?

I must tell you that the majority of reputable service companies don't mind this new bill becoming law. They know, and have suffered from, the tainted image created by just a few people. They have seen consumers grossly overcharged for appliance repairs, and could only direct them to small claims court for help getting restitution. Many of the good guys have been afraid to get involved and I can't blame them for feeling that way. I have accomplished what I set out to do. I'm proud of it and hope the service industry takes over to create something good for themselves and their customers. In closing this column I want to address the crooks in the appliance repair business. They fought against this new law every step of the way and they wrote and printed and sent some very cruel things to every state representative in Lansing. To those people I say, What goes around comes around. There is one addendum to Senate Bill 217 which was passed on June 5. I'm proud to tell you they put my name on the law. Stay tuned.

Control stuff by sorting, giving away what you don't need

Q: I have so much stuff in my house that I do not know what I have anymore. It is hard for me to part with things. How do I get rid of stuff?

A: While it is difficult to say good-bye to household treasures, having the pack rat syndrome is worse. A regular household purge will cleanse your house from too much clutter. Clutter usually causes house chaos. How do you decide what to keep and what to get rid of? Ask yourself the following questions: Do I need it? Do I use it? Do I love it? If you answer no to each of these three questions you can certainly say good-bye to those items. Some items that people save are keepsakes and have sentimental value. These are the items we love and cherish. There are other items we need such as a toothbrush or a can opener. Items like these can be replaced if they break or wear out. There are a lot of items that we have an abundance of. On one occasion I was helping someone organize her kitchen. We were removing items from one cabinet that contained cookie trays, pie pans, cake pans, and cooling racks. The items were crammed beyond capacity making it difficult to remove or replace them. I counted at least eight cookie trays. She said she rarely baked and did not realize she had so many cookie trays. I asked her how many she used and she replied one or two. We kept four of the best ones and donated the other four. I informed her if she ever needed more, it was an inexpensive item to buy. This gave her more space in the cabinet that made it more convenient to access the items she used on a regular basis. Another way we accumulate 'stuff' is through our goal to be thrifty. I used to make crafts such as cross stitch, quilting and sewing projects, painted sweat-shirts, floral arrangements, and woodcrafts. I collected supplies from store sales and garage sales. I had an abundance of patterns, paints, material, batting, buttons, silk flowers, ribbons, thread, yarn, etc. Many years ago, I traded craft hobbies for photo scrapbooking. For over seven years I had not used most of these items, but kept them in case I needed them in the future. I finally packed most items in a box and gave them to a friend who makes a living selling crafts. I contributed to her business and cleared a shelf in my storage area. Furniture that you are not using but have kept will rapidly invade your storage space. If you do not have a plan for furniture, donate it to an organization. We saved our children's baby bed and dresser. The dresser was used by each of our children when they were babies. Now it is used in the basement to store off-season clothing. We are saving the baby bed for grandchildren, so this item has a future purpose. Occasionally, you may end up the proud owner of a family heirloom that does not fit with your taste or décor. It may also require more repair work than you are willing to invest. Do not donate this item until you have offered it to other family members first. You may need help deciding on what to keep and what to save. Invite a friend to help you with the purging process. As you purge, organize the remaining items by putting like things together in labeled containers. When the job is complete have a cup of tea and relax as you assume the role of 'Organized Queen' instead of 'Pack Rat'. Today's Refrigerator Bulletin: "Most items are replaceable, so share your stuff with someone else!"

Got grass? Mow high!

Make your lawn easier and cheaper to maintain by mowing high—three inches is the rule!

The roots of your lawn grow as deep as the grass grows tall, so taller grass has deeper, healthier roots. Keep your lawn 3" or higher and never cut off more than 1/3 of the blade each time you mow. A healthy lawn tolerates hot, dry weather better—so you won't need to spend your summer watering and fertilizing.

Environmentalists offers tips to clean up naturally

BY LANA MINI
STAFF WRITER
lmini@oe.com

Harsh bleach and ammonia scents, be gone. Abrasive, pungent powders and scrubs that dry skin and penetrate noses can be a thing of the past, according to environmentalists.

Natural cleaning supplies can be concocted at home or purchased at natural food stores.

Clean a window with vinegar, mix it with lemon essential oil to make it smell nice too. Baking soda mixed with a few drops of tea tree oil or peppermint can stabilize a stale-smelling carpet after a 15-minute sprinkle.

And pre-packaged items like naturally scented Grass Laundry Fragrance, available at natural food stores, give clothes the aroma of air-dried laundry.

At the People's Food Co-Op in Ann Arbor, dedicated workers are also environmentalists who would rather use organic, natural items the co op carries over cheaper bleach. A large section of the co op is dedicated to essential oils that can be used in the home to energize or relax.

Gloria Boyajian is on a mission to fill homes with calming scents of lavender and energizing scents of citrus. If everyone did so we might all feel happier.

The Birmingham woman is trying to help people reduce the amount of chemicals inside homes that she says assault our senses and can aggravate allergies.

And what better time to clean our homes naturally than during summer?

Boyajian is the owner of Aetheria, on Woodward Avenue north of Nine Mile Road in Ferndale. The small shop's air is subtly filled with natural flower and fruit scents and mixed with items that can actually make cleaning fun.

Boyajian sells books and ingredients so homeowners can create their own cleaning supplies and Natural cleaning products can be made with baking soda, lavender oil, white vinegar, lemon grass oil, and other natural ingredients. Look for natural cleaning products and ingredients at:

- Zerbo's natural food store in Livonia
- Whole Foods Market in Ann Arbor
- The Good Food Co in Canton
- Vitamin Outlet in Livonia get rid of the bleach and ammonia.

"There's so many stress factors today. We're also assaulted with chemicals in our homes. Why add to it that stress?" Boyajian said. "It's so easy to get back to basics and use clean ingredients like vinegar, baking soda and Borax."

What makes Aetheria interesting is that the light-hearted Boyajian blends natural cleaning concepts with feng shui philosophy. The right scents, she says, improves moods.

Then she adds a dash of fun into her store with artistically packaged products with silly names like Dirty Girl. Plus she carries boldly colored jewelry crafted in Paris, natural skin products with masculine packaging for men, exotic soaps from around the world, and bath and skin products with ingredients that sound tempting enough to eat.

The store has a sophisticated, stylish but natural feel — and the scent inside is anything but overbearing.

But Boyajian's main focus right now is cleaning.

For example, mix 15 drops of lemon grass essential oil with six drops of lavender and five drops of the Italian herb Bergamot and liquid Castile soap for a nice detergent. Aetheria's oils are all naturally derived, not chemically manufactured. Boyajian emphasizes.

Chemicals do have a place in the world but not in the house, on skin or on pets," she said.

To kill germs, use Borax and citrus oil. For mold, white vinegar mixed with 12 drops of essential oil and water. To freshen carpet and kill germs, mix baking soda with a few drops of sweet orange, peppermint or lime and vacuum after 15 minutes. Or use corn starch.

Keep windows clean with white vinegar which is highly antiseptic, infuse it with 15 drops of lavender oil and 1 cup of water.

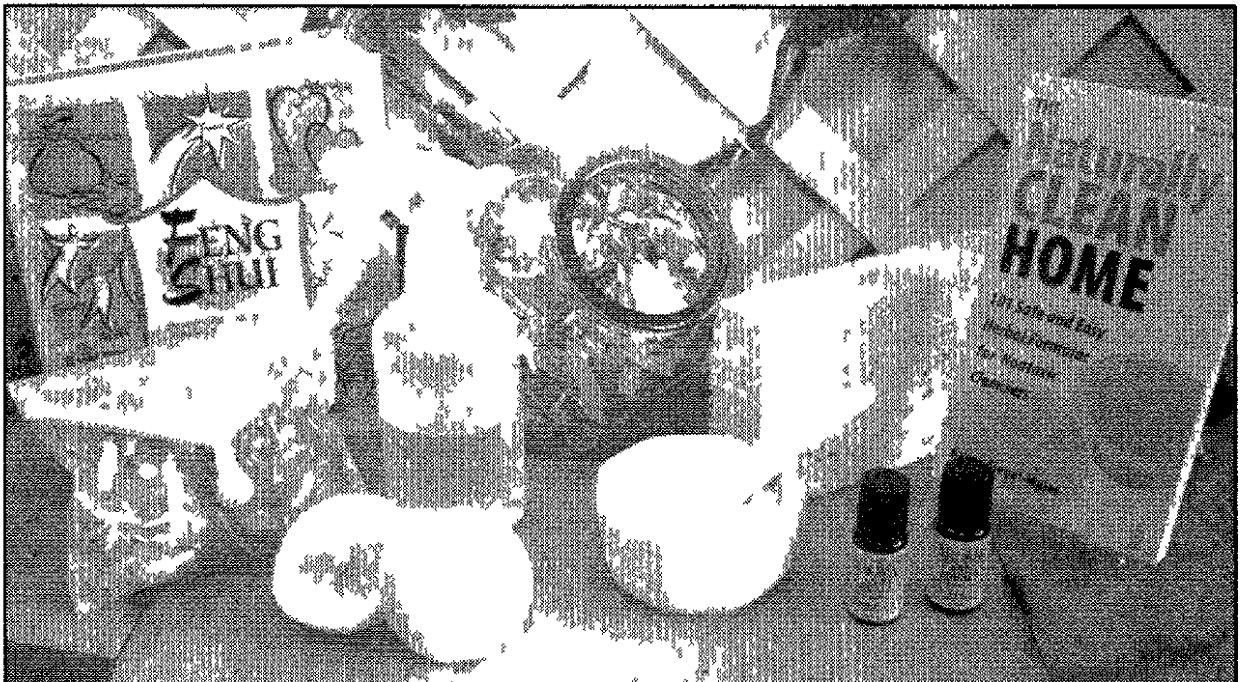

To keep the flow positive, mix lavender petals with cedar chips. Boyajian said, "It's a good moth ball concoction and adds a nice scent in the air."

Ammonia may cut grease but it can also strip floors. Instead use baking soda. Bleach may whiten practically anything but it's a toxin. Borax is a bleach alternative and boosts the cleaning ability of soap. Ketchup cleans copper pans and olive oil is a decent furniture polish (test it in a safe area of the wood first).

Feng shui

As important as natural cleaning products are in the home, so is the idea of natural scents. Boyajian said that citrus oils can energize and uplift, so can peppermint and ginger. The Good Home Co brand has created a luxury item of laundry fragrance that is scented with grass or lavender.

Feng shui is the ancient Chinese practice of creating harmony in an environment in order to enhance well-being. It's based upon the ancient theory of design and placement of objects. At Aetheria, private sessions are also available to teach customers about feng shui and scents that might be best for individual homes and lifestyles.

Tip of the week: Cleaning tubs, showers

BY MORRIS AND JAMES CAREY
FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

You were about to take a shower but after closer observation of the fiberglass pan, decided it needed cleaning more than you did. You scrubbed and rubbed but nothing would clean it. Here's a concoction that should help: Mix 2 tablespoons of turpentine into a half cup of table salt scrub with a nylon bristle brush and be prepared for a shine. Don't rinse this solution down the drain. Instead wipe it up with a paper towel. That way you don't introduce dangerous chemicals into the waste system. And the paper towels have air-dried, they're safe to discard in the normal fashion.

and plants to fill the top of the container

Choices

The fun begins when you choose plants to use for this project. Be aware that some flowers like shade others prefer sun. Some are trailing others upright there are many choices.

As you stroll through the nursery and see the flowers up close and personal let your imagination run rampant.

Perhaps you'll want a riot of color. Bright, bold colors are all the rage now. Maybe one special plant will be your choice. Choose the color that you like best. match the shutters of your house or door or plant something that contrasts well with "your colors" for a striking display. Perhaps the flowers in several hanging containers could be the same color. A patriotic theme of red, white and blue is a happy and appropriate combination.

Hanging flower displays are an easy way to add some pizzazz to landscapes. They don't require a lot of time, the flowers should be deadheaded on a regular basis to keep them blooming.

If possible, set the newly planted beauties in a slightly shady place for a day or so as they settle in to their new growing medium.

Watering

Check out the many products available for watering the con tainers. You'll find systems that apply water directly to the container through individual tubes. Dramm water wands are adjustable and supply a gentle spray of water without disturbing the soil.

A clever trick is to use an inexpensive sponge. Cut small ones in half, larger ones in quarters. Soak them well and lay them on top of the soil. You can also pour water directly on the sponges.

I hope you enjoy your creations. Marty Figley is an advanced master gardener based in Birmingham. You can leave her a message by dialing (734) 953-2047 or a touch tone phone. Her fax number is (248) 644-1314.

Cheers to Tara and Wayne

On June 2, Tara Eddington and her boyfriend, Wayne Wright, trekked into the William Costick Activities Center in Farmington Hills with their fists raised in triumph and arms ready to encircle waiting family and friends. They had lots of company. They were among the nearly 3,500 participants in the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day walk, an annual nationwide event that this year netted at least $525 million for breast cancer causes.

Locally, the Avon Foundation announced a $500,000 grant to the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute.

Tara, a Madonna University student who works for the Observer in classified ads, and Wayne began their 60-mile journey May 31 in Ann Arbor. They had trained for months, walking through Northville and around Belle Isle in Detroit, building up their endurance as fast as they wore down the soles of their shoes.

They had lots of will to walk the Avon 3 Day, however, they almost didn't have a way.

Participants had to raise $1,900 to walk, the amount set by Pallota TeamWorks, the creators and producers of the event. A lot of money? Sure, especially for a full-time college student with a full-time job and a young man just beginning his career as a loan officer with a mortgage company. But as one walker said, 'It takes big money to make big money.'

Participants had to raise $1,900 to walk, the amount set by Pallota TeamWorks, the creators and producers of the event. A lot of money? Sure, especially for a full-time college student with a full-time job and a young man just beginning his career as a loan officer with a mortgage company. But as one walker said, "It takes big money to make big money."

Perhaps I don't know. I'm not a professional fund-raiser. But according to the fine print, 40 percent of the $1,900 went to a variety of administrative costs - including supplying participants with two-person tents, hot showers, mobile kitchens and medical staff, as well as ensuring their safety. That's a $760 tab for each walker.

Tara started her fundraising efforts in January. She sold pens and pencils, pizza and candy. As crunch time neared, she went into high gear.

"I had to get more zealous about my fundraising. A lady at school yelled at me and told me to stop asking for money," she said.

But Tara didn't stop. She was determined to nickel-and-dime her way towards her goal. Besides, she wasn't going to let Wayne down. His mother, Erlene Wright, died of breast cancer almost two years ago. Tara was determined he would walk even if she couldn't.

"If he doesn't raise enough money, I'll give him mine. After all, I didn't have a mother who died," she said just weeks before the event.

Fortunately, Tara's pledges came through. Also, the nickels and dimes began to add up, and by deadline she had raised $2,400. Wayne had raised $1,445, so Tara transferred $500 to him.

Demands on her time made raising the $1,900 difficult, said Tara. Besides school and work, both she and Wayne are very involved in their church, Detroit Church of Christ in Royal Oak. She also

June 14 marks the 225th birthday of the U.S. Flag

Roy Neal, owner of the Insurance House in Redford Township, displays his patriotism in a big way. The American flag he flies in front of his business measures 15 by 25 feet. It towers over neighborhood rooftops and often can be heard snapping against the wind. At night, it is lit like some venerable landmark.

Why such a big flag?
"Because I like it. Because I went to war for it," said the 62-year-old former U.S. Army Ranger.

Neal has been flying his flag for the last 15 years. Sometimes a veteran will stop by and tell Neal how much he admires it. Neal welcomes such visits.

"The lives of a lot of people were given for that flag. I get a bit irritated when I see people wearing the flag on their butt or burning it. Those are the people the flag protects. I'm sort of patriotic."

Neal spends more than $1,000 a year maintaining his flag, which is replaced four times a year. It is always new, he says. It deserves respect, and he intends to keep it flying for many years.

For as long as I'm here.

Who was Betsy Ross?

We can trace our love for the red, white and blue back to Betsy Ross, the deft seamstress who gave us the first American flag.

When three representatives from the Continental Congress - George Washington, Robert Morris and George Ross - came to call on Betsy in late May of 1776, she had an idea. Her visit had something to do with her sewing skills. At that time, she was a young widow struggling to make ends meet from her upholstery business.

Big, bold and brave: Roy Neal, a former U.S. Army Ranger, flies one of the biggest flags in Redford Township over his business, Insurance House, on the corner of Kinloch and Five Mile Road.

Folding the flag: Garden City High School ROTC members Bryan McKinney and Jeremy Fry carefully fold the American flag that flies outside of their school. Chris Kauffman is in the foreground.

Besides, she already knew George Ross (she had eloped with his nephew John) and she was well acquainted with Washington. She had sewn ruffles on the esteemed general's shirt fronts and cuffs and on Sundays she sat in the opposite pew from him in Christ Church in Philadelphia.

Although history suggests Washington wanted a six-sided star on the rough design of the first American flag, he handed Betsy Ross, she quickly demonstrated how to cut a five-pointed star in a single snip. He was impressed, and Betsy made the flag.

On June 14, 1777, just one year and 10 days after the Declaration of Independence was read aloud in Independence Hall, the Continental Congress adopted the national flag. "Resolved that the flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be 13 stars, white in a blue field representing a new constellation."

Have flag, will travel

Surely Betsy Ross would have admired the spunky Carrie Sarb, who careers around the corners of the Plymouth sandwich shop she owns with husband Dan. Harvey's Old Village Deli in her wheelchair. Marking her whereabouts at all times is the American flag attached to the back of the chair. Sometimes both Carrie and her flag are just a blur of color.

"I'm proud to wear my flag. I'm proud to be an American," she said. She has that one, and we fly one at home all the time, said Dan. There's also a flag in each one of the back windows of our van. Dan also displays the flag on the back of his Harley motorcycle.

Carrie's flag came compliments of the deli staff.

They wanted to give me an orange flag so they would know where I was. I said I wouldn't wear an orange thing on my chair. They brought me an American flag, and I said I would wear that one with pride. I also wear it to church, but I don't wear it into movie theaters or plays. I don't want to block someone's view.

Flag Talk

"Our flag is red, white and blue, but our nation is a rainbow - red, yellow, brown, black and white - and we're all precious in God's sight."
- Jesse Jackson

"Our flag is our national ensign, pure and simple, behold it! Listen to it! Every star has a tongue, every stripe is articulate."
- Robert C. Winthrop (1809-1894), Massachusetts senator

We do not consecrate the flag by punishing its desecration, for in doing so we dilute the freedom that this cherished emblem represents.
- Supreme Court decision, Texas v. Johnson

"You can't appreciate home till you've left it, money till it's spent, your wife until she's joined a women's club, nor Old Glory till you see it hanging on a broomstick on a shanty of a consul in a foreign town."
- O. Henry (1862-1919)

"If anyone attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot."
- John A. Dix in a telegram from Washington, Jan. 29, 1861

Flags, flags, and more flags

Old Glory Flags in Livonia, which sells a variety of flags and flag-related items, was a busy place after Sept. 11.

It was more than we could actually handle," said employee Elnor Wensley. "We couldn't get supplies in. We're still selling a lot of flags and poles. People who bought flags after Sept. 11 are starting to replace them.

The store's most popular flag measures 4-by-6 feet and sells for $44.95. Flag poles can top 60 feet.

"At this time we sell a lot of Betsy Ross flags and the Bennington Flag."

STOP THE MUSIC!

In his column titled Music Therapy Promotes Health (HomeTown Life, April 7), Len McCulloch stated that Wayne State University offered a music therapy program. They do not offer such a program at this time. Their phones have been ringing off the hook for the last two months, and it hasn't been music to their ears.

Program gives kids with special needs a boost on their bikes

ANN ARBOR, Mich. - This summer, a new program is giving Southeast Michigan children and young adults with special needs a chance to get a little extra help learning to ride their bikes.

The Special Needs Cycling Program starts Wednesday, June 26. The program, a joint effort between C S Mott Children's Hospital and The Arc of Western Wayne County, will teach kids about different aspects of bicycle and tricycle riding. The U-M Dance Marathon, Mott Rock-N-Roll Party and the Ann Arbor Community Foundation are funding the sessions.

"It's a great opportunity for children with special needs to learn to ride so they can play with their friends," says Lexandra Creitz, physical therapy supervisor at Mott Hospital. "In addition, it gives them a chance to develop their strength, balance and coordination."

Trained instructors will teach participants about fitness and safety in addition to basic riding and mechanical skills during the one-hour sessions. Children also can learn specific riding skills based on their individual needs, all while interacting with their peers in a fun, recreational environment.

The program is open to all children who are having trouble learning to ride, such as those with disabilities or those looking to improve their endurance. While participants will be supervised, parents are encouraged to stay and support their children.

"By staying, parents will be able to understand their children's abilities," says Creitz. "We encourage them to bring their bikes and ride with us."

Sessions will take place 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the University of Michigan parking lot at Glazier Way and Huron Parkway in Ann Arbor. From the parking lot, children can take advantage of a bike trail that leads to Gallup Park.

Participants should bring their bike helmets. All participants who do not have a helmet will be provided with one that is theirs to keep at the end of the program. Special needs bicycles and tricycles will be provided.

If you are interested in this free program, contact The Arc at (734) 729-9100 to register. Space is limited to a maximum of 35 participants.

First Flag Day
 Flag Day was first celebrated in 1877, the centennial of the U.S. flag's existence. After that, many citizens and organizations advocated the adoption of a national day of commemoration. It was not until 1949 that President Harry Truman signed legislation making Flag Day a day of national observance.

said Wensley (The Bennington Flag, an inverted "U" over the number "76," flew during the Battle of Bennington in Vermont in August 1777. This battle, an assault on an American weapons storehouse by the British, resulted in more than 200 British soldiers dead and some 700 taken prisoner. Only 40 Americans died and 30 were wounded.)

"I had a lady come in who bought one (a Bennington) who was proposed to on the Fourth of July and married on the Fourth of July," she added.

Wensley has a personal stake in patriotism. Under the glass counter displaying flag merchandise is a framed picture of her brother, George Edward Smith, who died in Belgium Feb. 12, 1945, of wounds received on the battlefield. Also displayed is the letter Wensley's sister received from the U.S. Army informing her of her brother's death. The letter arrived May 2, 1945, just six days before VE Day, which marked the end of the war in Europe.

Like Roy Neal and Carrie and Dan Sarb, Wensley proudly displays her flag on the home front.

"It means freedom and liberty, and it stands for all the people who gave their lives for that cause," she said.

Pride and Humility

The dictionary defines pride as proper and justified self respect and a proper sense of personal dignity and worth. Everyone should take pride in their work, their family their country and heritage. It is also good to take pride in things such as our personal appearance. When we take pride in all of the good things that our Lord has given us, we tend to take better care of them. However, we must be careful to have pride and self respect without arrogance or superiority. Children who are proud of their parents and respect them will try to be better children and do what is pleasing to their parents. As adults, we should always try to do what is pleasing in God's eyes. The Bible tells us that God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the humble (James 4:6). We should try to temper our pride with humility and not have an exaggerated opinion of our selves. The best way to be the best we can be. People who exalt themselves are usually esteemed less by others and those who humble themselves are often more admired.

...do not think of yourself more highly than you ought, but rather think of yourself with sober judgment.
 N.I.V. Romans 12:13

Annual fee of $100 will be due annually after the expiration of twenty-four (24) months from the date of the agreement. The Annual Fee shall be waived for each year that it is due if for the immediately preceding 12 months the average outstanding balance on the credit line account during such 12 months is 20% or more of the Line of Credit. After four-month introductory period, fully indexed APR can change monthly based on Prime plus 1.75% margin, currently 6.50%. Annual fee of $125 will be due annually after the expiration of twelve (12) months from the date of the agreement. The Annual Fee shall be waived for each year that it is due if, for the immediately preceding 12 months, the average outstanding balance on the credit line account during such 12 months is 40% or more of the Line of Credit. Maximum APR on both products is 18%. Monthly payments of interest only will result in balloon payment at maturity. Offers are good on new Line of Credit relationships only and are subject to change without notice. Consult a tax advisor regarding deductibility of interest. APRs as of May 20, 2002.

Finding the right companion requires trust

Ah, love is in the air. It's June and the start of a popular season for weddings.

PRACTICAL SPIRITUALITY

NANCY SEBRING

Soon after high school I became engaged to marry a young man I had dated about four years. When I went to college, this engagement was temporarily postponed for various reasons. Then I became interested in other men, and I became confused and unsure of whether to stay with the first man and marry him or not. So I did what I usually do when I'm troubled: I turned to my spiritual guidebooks, the Bible and Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.

In Matthew (6:33) Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." And Science and Health has a whole chapter about marriage that I found to contain invaluable guides, way too many gems to share here.

I thought about what it meant to seek the kingdom of God and His righteousness. Since God is not a physical person and His kingdom not a physical place, I decided it must mean to gain a better understanding of Him and His creation.

I started with the Ten Commandments and made an effort to live them more fully and consistently. For example, the commandment not to commit adultery, I believed, not only meant that I should be faithful to God and my friends, but that I should not even think about a man with any lustful desires or fantasies. This last part was more difficult. Watching my thinking about men - with all the images that TV and romantic movies portrayed and suggested - wasn't always easy, but it was worth the effort.

As I grew in my understanding of God and watched my thoughts to keep them pure, I strengthened my relationship with God and became confident that God is always sending guiding thoughts to all of us. One might call it a gentle voice within, or the still, small voice of Truth and Love.

In any case, I soon heard one of these clear messages. I remember exactly where I was and what I was doing when I heard it. The voice said, "End the relationship with this man."

Yes there were tears, but there was no hesitation to be obedient because with my increased understanding of God I knew that He, being divine Love, had only a good plan for me, as He does for each individual. I knew I could trust Him to guide me rightly and bring me peace and joy even though I didn't yet know how.

So I ended the relationship with this man, even though at that very moment it was still my strong desire to marry him. Much later he told a mutual friend that I was right to have ended the relationship, as he was now sure it would have ended in early divorce. I had to agree.

Strengthening my relationship to God resulted in protecting us from a likely divorce and guided me into a wonderful marriage of 17 years and counting.

Loved ones come and go from our experience - often at times and in ways we don't understand or wish for. But I find that as I strengthen and purify my relationship to God, all my relationships become better and longer lasting. I learned from a hymn to "know in God The perfect Friend" (the Christian Science Hymnal).

So when friendships end, even very dear ones, I know I still have my perfect Friend who guides me to rich companionships. He will do the same for everyone.

Stevenson ousted in double OT

Brighton advances with 2-1 victory in semifinals

BY GREG MIGLIORE

Livonia Stevenson's soccer team had its Division I state semifinal game against Brighton, 2-1, in double overtime Tuesday at Okemos High School.

But it was the Bulldogs who got early graduation presents as they defeated the Spartans, 2-1, in double overtime Tuesday at Okemos High School.

Senior Andrea Tyler, the Bulldogs' leading scorer, got the game-winner with a shot into the far side of the net from 35 yards out with 7:38 left in the second overtime.

"It means a ton," said Tyler, who was visibly excited. "It felt good. I couldn't breathe."

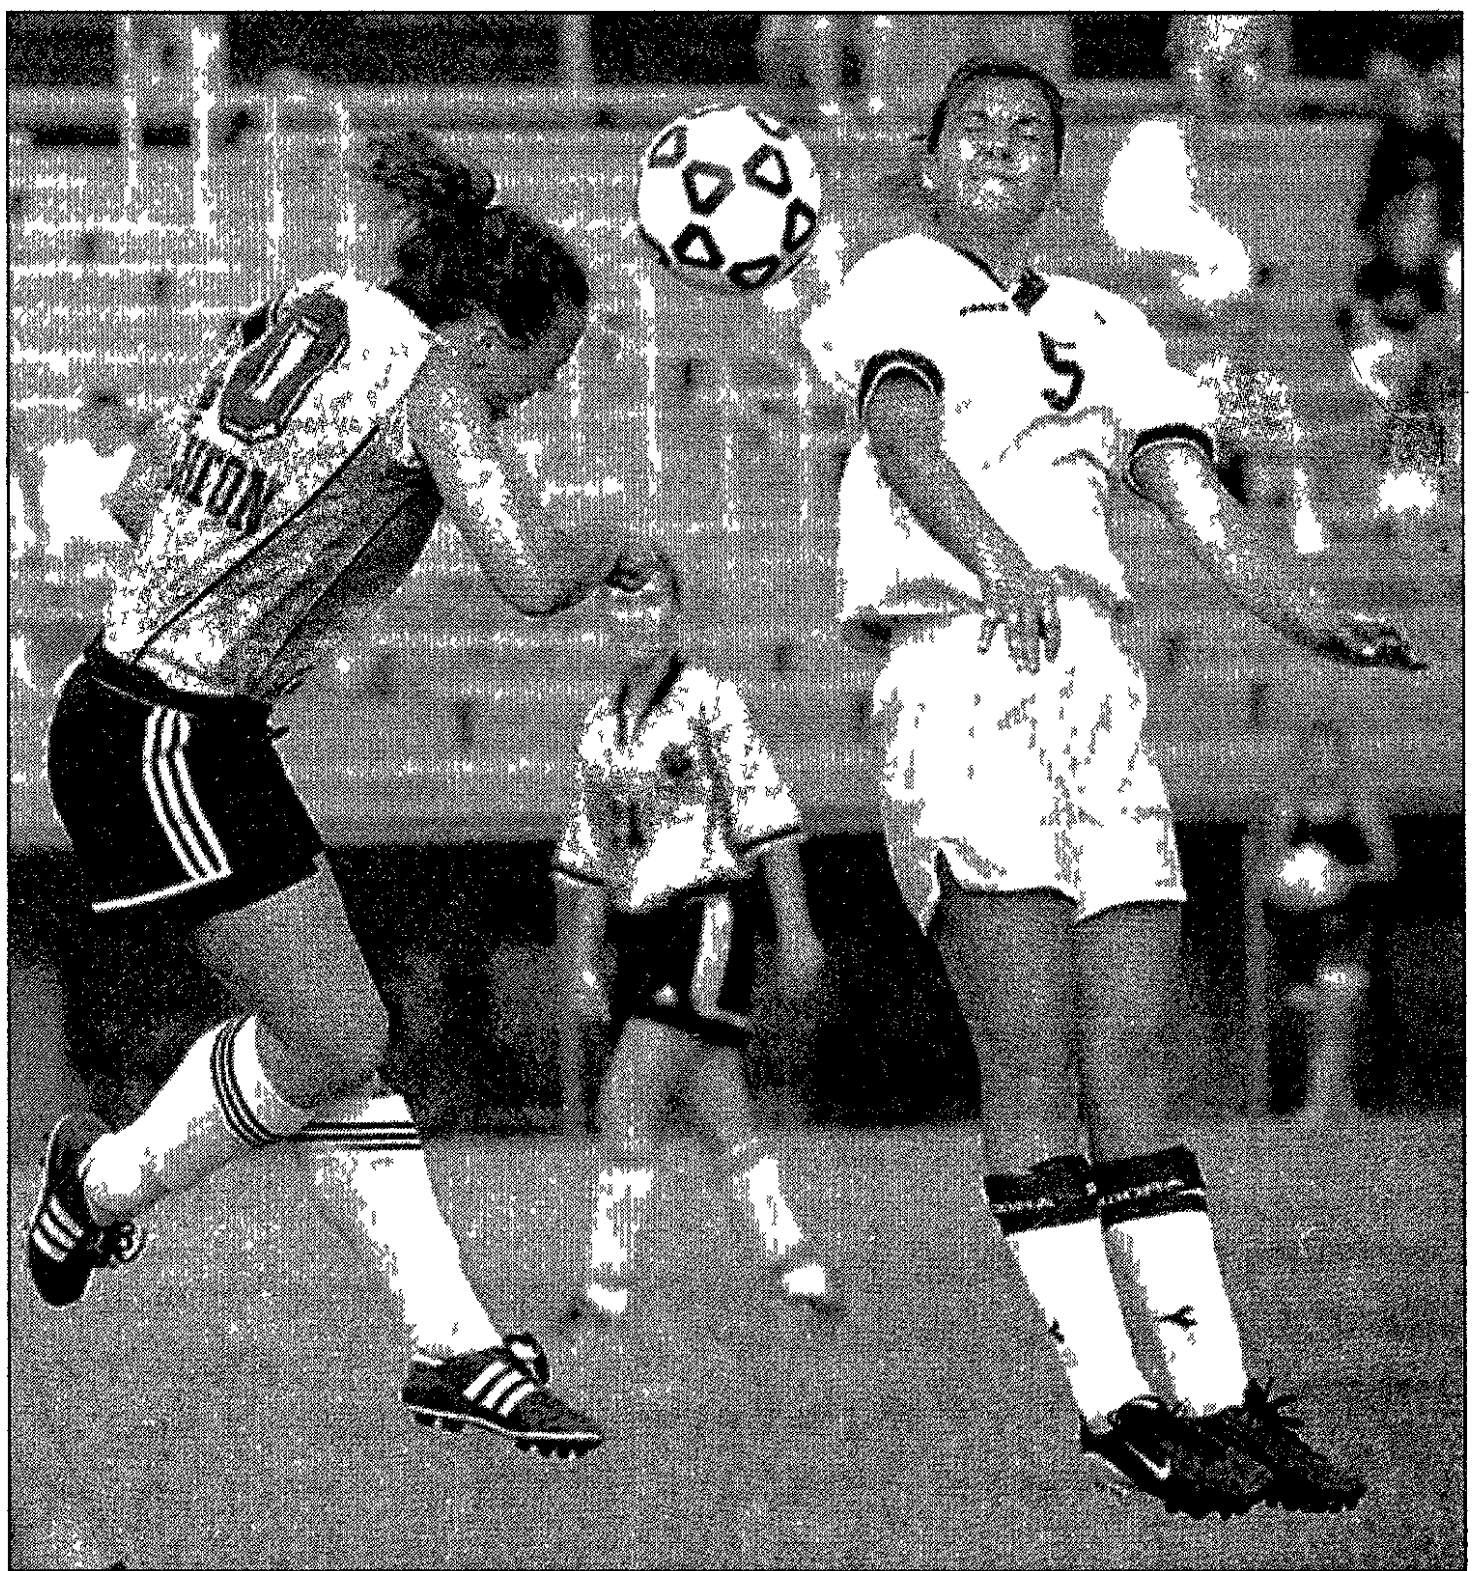

The Spartans finished 15-6-1. "I think our girls played well," Stevenson coach Chris Pinta said. "I was proud of them. Very few expected us to get this far."

Stevenson was without forward Melissa Dobbyn for the second overtime because of an ankle injury. She scored the first goal of the game 2:26 into the first period.

"She's very skilled and confident with her shot," said Brighton coach Deepak Shivraman, who said he made adjustments at halftime to try to open up passing lanes. "In the first half, things were a little scrappy and we're not a scrappy team. We feel we have one of the best midfields in the state."

The Bulldogs tied the game at 28:04 of the second period on a low shot from the right side by Jessie Jandasek.

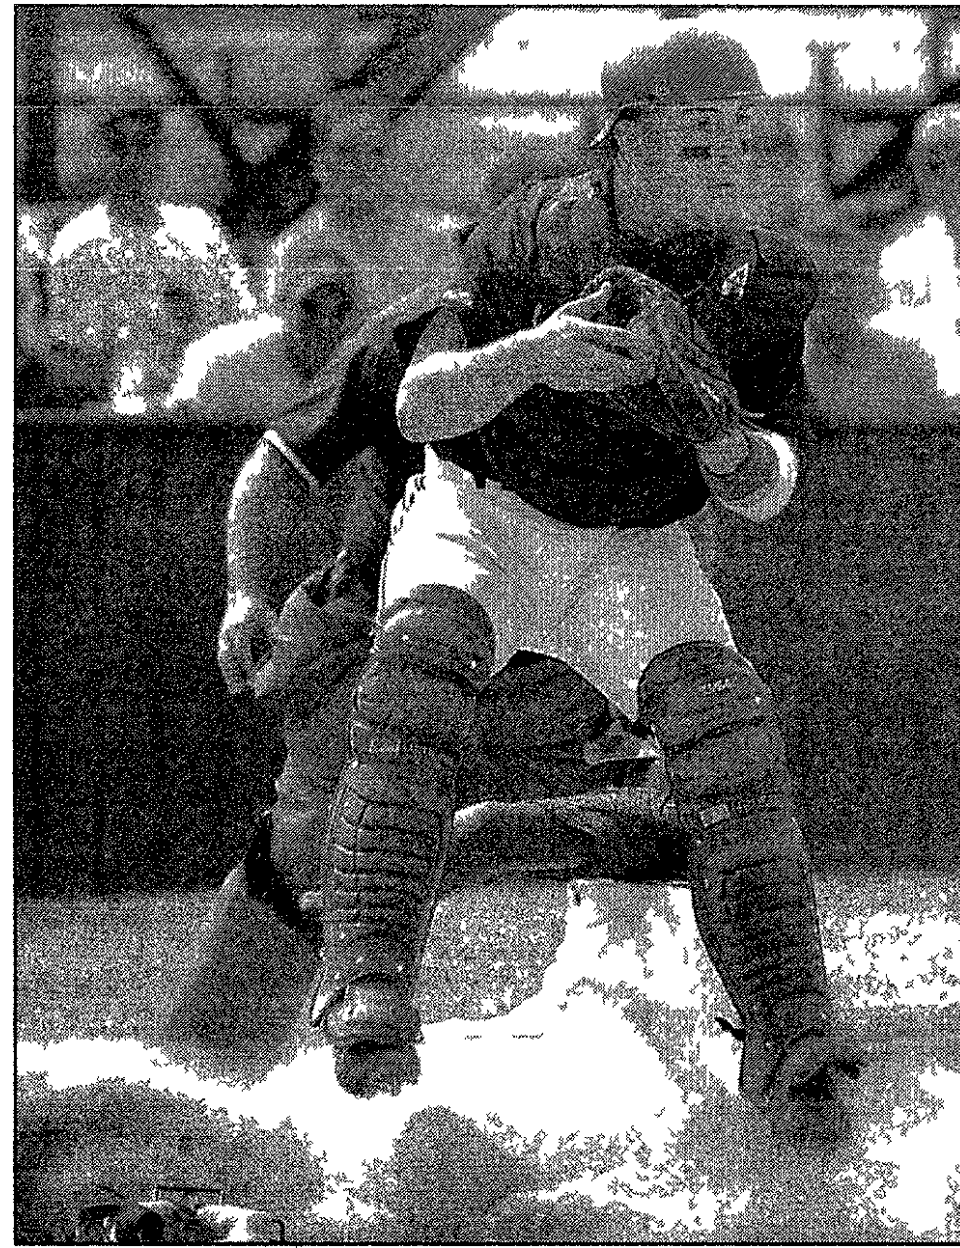

"They put us under a lot more pressure," Pinta said. "They've got a lot of good skilled players."

Spartans see state tourney run fall short

BY BRAD EMONS
SPORTS WRITER

bemons@oe.homecomm.net

The rug was finally pulled underneath Livonia Stevenson's magic carpet ride through the Division I state baseball tournament — compliments of Warren Mott.

■ QUARTERFINALS

In the state quarterfinals Tuesday at windy Carleton Airport, Mott rallied from a 5-2 deficit to end the Spartans' banner season with a 7-5 triumph.

Stevenson, coming off its first regional title in school history, wound up 23-10 on the season. Mott, meanwhile, advances Friday to Battle Creek to face Mount Pleasant with a 20-14 record. The Marauders have been to the quarterfinals five times, but never to a semifinal until now.

Catcher Darryl Sage's 2-run double in the bottom of the sixth inning provided the game-tying and game-winning run for the Marauders.

Sage hit an 0-2 Billy Rabe pitch and deposited it into the left field gap, scoring Linares Ford and Nick Thurman.

Relief pitcher Scott Schlaff, the team's ace with a 10-2 record, shut down the Spartans over the final five innings on one hit after Stevenson opened the game with a pair of homers in the first.

Stevenson, however, tried to pull off another trademark come-from-behind win by loading the bases in the top of the seventh.

With one out, Aaron Marx drew a walk off the junior right-hander. Both Greg Dumont and Billy Rabe then reached base on successive bobbles by the Mott third baseman.

But Schlaff closed out the victory with a strikeout and a groundout back to the mound against a pair of Spartan pinch hitters.

Schlaff, 10-2 on the season with a 1.59 earned run average, came on for starter Matt Stauch after the 6-foot-4 lefty couldn't get an out in third inning.

"The kid (Schlaff) came in and threw hard, we couldn't get anything going against him," Stevenson coach Harv Weingarden said. "But in the seventh we were in the same exact position we had been all year. We were able to get a rally going and the kids believed they could still win the game because we've been 19-2 in games decided by two runs or less."

The Spartans started out hot with the bat appeared to be well on their way to Battle Creek when outfielder Bill Marsack cleared the center field wall for a lead-off homer.

Dumont, the designated hitter, then cracked a two-run homer following a walk to Marx to make it 3-0.

Mott answered in the bottom half of the inning an RBI double from Thurman, the powerful left-handed first baseman.

The Marauders cut the lead to 3-2 in the second on Riche Koch's solo homer. "We knew it was a launching pad."

Early surge worth a win to the Bucks

■ SOCCER

They haven't been perfect, but the Mid-Michigan Bucks are getting closer to it.

On Saturday, they traveled to play the Dayton (Ohio) Gemini, and while they got off to a great start, it appears they left a bit early, too. No matter. The Bucks still got the victory, by a 5-3 margin.

The win keeps them in second place in the United Soccer League's Great Lakes Division with a 6-1-1 record, the Chicago Fire Reserves are first at 6-0-1. The Gemini remain winless at 0-6-1.

"We got a little sloppy at the end, but overall it was a good effort," said Bucks' coach Daro Brose. Indeed, the Bucks scored three times in the first half and led 3-0 at the break. They increased that to 5-1 before surrendering two goals in the final five minutes — just to make things a bit interesting.

Kyle Veris and Ryan Mack (from Birmingham Sea-holm) provided most of the Bucks' offense, accounting for three goals between them. Veris opened the scoring just two minutes into the match, taking a pass from Mack and beating the Dayton defense to make it 1-0. At the 10-minute mark, Mack nailed a penalty kick to make it 2-0.

Adam Heinemann (Oakland University) increased the Bucks' lead to 3-0 a minute before halftime, one-timing a pass from Veris. Veris' second goal, again set up by Mack, nine minutes into the second half pushed the Bucks' advantage to four.

The Gemini got on the board three minutes later before Will Kletzen scored for the Bucks 19 minutes into the second half, with an assist from Tino Scicluna (Redford/Detroit Country Day), making it 5-1.

The Gemini got two goals in the last five minutes, one on a penalty kick, but it didn't change the outcome.

Mercy zaps Chargers in 9th inning for regional

BY BRAD EMONS
SPORTS WRITER
bemons@oe homecomm.net

It was unconventional move, but it resulted in a third straight regional girls softball title Saturday for Farmington Hills Mercy and coach Jack Falvo.

Carly Tracey's successful bunt, dropped just in front of home plate with two outs in the top of the ninth inning, brought home Lindsay Fedruk from third base with the game-winning run.

The Marlins added an insurance run to outlast Livonia Churchill for the Division I championship at Lincoln Park, 2-0.

"We just wanted to put the ball in play and hope something would happen," said Falvo, who also watched Tammy Karagosian race all the way around from second base on the same play to put the game away against Churchill and ace Meghan Misiak. "On a play like that all you're worried about is making the out. You focus on the play at first base and the play just broke down for them. I thought they did the right thing."

Churchill catcher Ashley Crawley, who had played a flawless game behind the plate by throwing out four Mercy base stealers, picked up the bunt by Tracey, and hesitated for a split second.

With Fedruk just steps away from being tagged out, Crawley fired the ball toward teammate Natahe Krieger at first base.

But the ball glanced away into right field as the Mercy runner simultaneously hit the bag.

"We didn't expect the suicide squeeze bunt with two outs," admitted Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge. "It caused some confusion. We called first (base) from the bench. I thought the ball got there ahead of the runner."

Mercy pitcher Meghan Fedruk, who allowed just two hits and struck out 15, then closed out the game in the bottom of the ninth with a pair of strikeouts and a game-ending come-backer to the mound.

With the victory Mercy, 33-7 overall, moved on to Tuesday's quarterfinal against Catholic League rival Harper Woods Regina.

Churchill bowed out with a 26-5 record.

"Mercy is solid throughout the whole lineup, they're a skilled team," Hardwidge said. "They're solid defensively and they have good hitters. She (Fedruk) kept the ball on the outside edge of the plate and it was tough to hit. They've been there before and they knew what to expect. But I'm proud of the way we played."

Misiak, who came into the game with 18 shutouts, closed out sterling her career with a four-hitter. She walked only one and struck out 12.

"Misiak is one quality, top-notch pitcher," Falvo said. "We knew we were in for a dogfight. We tried to prepare our girls to hit against her, but despite all the preparation, she dominated us."

But Churchill had only one base runner through five innings against Fedruk.

The Chargers' best scoring chance came in the bottom of the sixth when Sallie Kuratko singled up the middle with two outs.

With Kuratko running on the pitch, Crawley then sent a screeching line drive to right fielder Molly O'Malley, who momentarily seemed to be hand-cuffed on the play.

But the Mercy senior recovered to snag the ball for the third out.

"That was a game-saving play for us," Falvo said. "Molly said she had told the umpire to move out of the way. She reacted to the ping of the ball and was caught a little off-balance, but I told her she saved the game for us."

Mercy got runners on in four of the first five innings, but were thwarted by the throws of Crawley behind the plate.

"We had to resort to the running game to get something on the board," Falvo said. "Runners were at a premium. And it seemed we'd only get them on with two outs. It never seemed to be the right situation for us."

After Misiak walked O'Malley in the fifth, she retired the next 12 batters in order, including a deep fly to left off the bat of Tracey that freshman Alex Robinson grabbed near the fence in left field.

In the top of the ninth, Lindsay Fedruk made it to first on a bunt single and Karagosian followed with a clean single, sending Fedruk to third with two outs.

The double-play was eliminated when Karagosian stole second.

With the dangerous Anna

Schneider waiting on deck, Hardwidge decided to pitch to Tracey with first base open.

"It never considered walking her (Tracey)," the Churchill coach said. "With Meghan (Misiak), you're going to have to get a hit off her or get on by an error."

The fielder's choice — the bunt by Tracey — was ruled an error, and it brought the Marlins a hard-earned regional crown.

"Churchill played a great game, especially Meghan (Misiak)," Falvo said. "Our Meghan was also ready to play. There have been numerous times when she's put this team on her back and played her heart out."

"I think the two Meghans have had a growing respect for each other, and it's because of the competitiveness."

For Churchill, it marked the end of an era for not only Misiak, but seniors Sarah Carter, Jenny Long, Kuratko and Crawley.

"I'll miss them because they've been a part of the program for so long," Hardwidge said. "The seniors have shown leadership and dedication."

MERCY 13, DET. REDFORD 0 In the first semifinal game Saturday at Lincoln Park, Mercy invoked the 10-run mercy rule as freshman Dana Frantz no hit Detroit Redford (9-7) in five innings.

Frantz struck out nine and did not walk, a batter. Redford starter Octavia Harris took the loss.

Anna Schneider had two hits and two RBI for the victorious Marlins. Molly O'Malley also collected two hits while Rachel Del Corvo hit a two-run single. Tammy Karagosian contributed an RBI double and Lindsay Fedruk tripled.

CHURCHILL 8, LINCOLN PARK 0 A five-run sixth inning broke a scoreless deadlock Saturday as the Chargers, downed the host Railsplitters (15-11) to win the other semifinal. Meghan Misiak pitched a no-hitter while striking out 14. The only Lincoln Park runner to reach first was Samantha Thacker on an error in the fifth inning. Churchill sent 11 batters to the plate in the sixth as freshman Sarah Pernak hit a two-run single. Sarah Carter and Misiak also had RBI during the surge to chase Lincoln Park starter Shannon Noder, a left-hander who had given up just two hits through five innings.

Rabe carries Spartans to regional crown

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

cjriskak@oe.homecomm.net

It was Bill Rabe's day. He had his focus, as well as some pretty good breaking stuff, and it was enough to carry his Livonia Stevenson baseball team to a Division I baseball regional championship last Saturday at Lincoln Park HS.

Rabe started the Spartans' regional opener against Detroit Henry Ford, and was near-perfect. He tossed a no-hitter as Stevenson beat the Trojans 2-0. Then in the final against Wayne Memorial, Rabe — who pitched seven of his 10 allotted innings in the opener — came on in relief and tossed three scoreless innings to earn a save in Stevenson's 6-4 triumph.

"Yeah, well, this was a key game," Rabe said of his second-game relief job. "And we got a lot of key hits. Everyone did their job."

"At the beginning of the year, no one thought we'd get this far. We're just taking it one step at a time."

In the opener against Henry Ford, Rabe had a bit of trouble with his control — he walked two in the first inning and five for the game — but he never appeared to be weakening. In fact, three of the walks he issued came in the first two innings. In the regional championship against Wayne Memorial, the Spartans scored two runs in the second and got four more in the third to build a 6-0 lead for Dan Hostetter, who started for Stevenson.

It stayed that way until the fourth, when the Zebras manufactured four runs (on two hits and three walks) against Hostetter and Josh Smith, who relieved him with the bases loaded and one out and retired the next two batters, with two runs scoring.

However, Wayne would get no closer, mainly due to Rabe's reappearance on the mound. The senior righthander allowed two hits without surrendering a walk, striking out three in his three innings.

"Bill Rabe's our best pitcher," said Stevenson coach Harvey Weingarden. "Dan Hostetter put us in position and Josh Smith did what he had to do."

"This team is unbelievable. This is the first-ever regional championship for Stevenson."

Against a very strong Wayne team, it was the hitters as much as the pitchers who came up big for Stevenson, and they did it with the long ball. The Spartans scored twice in the second against Wayne starter Bob Bailey, a lead off double by Aaron Marx, followed by a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly by Brett Rosbury scored the first run.

Two-out singles by Hostetter and Chris Severson, with a stolen base by Bill Williams (running for Hostetter) in between, produced the second.

In the third they scored four more, on four hits — including two triples and a double — and a walk. Jason Christopoulos one-out triple scored Bill Marsack who had walked with the first run. Ryan Ybarra relieved Bailey and struck out the first batter he faced, but then gave up an RBI double to Greg Dumont, a single to Rabe and a two-run triple to Hostetter all after two were out.

The Zebras rallied for four runs in the fourth that started with a single by Jim Barter, a walk to Dave Cicotte and a single by Tom Collop, loading the bases with none out. A walk to Sean Mont forced in one run and a force out at second by Tom Tyler scored another, a walk to Joel Doyen re-loaded the bases and brought in Smith to relieve Hostetter with one out. A force out at second on a grounder by Marc Townsend delivered another run for Wayne and left runners at first and third with two out. Townsend was picked off first, but the ensuing rundown allowed Mont to score the fourth run.

Four runs on just two singles — not a bad rally for the Zebras. But it left those three innings available for Rabe, and he made the most of them, holding them scoreless.

"They had that one big inning," said Wayne coach Tom Wakefield, his team finishing at 23-10. "Ryan (Ybarra) did shut the door on them, but my hat's off to (Stevenson). You have one good pitcher like that, and it proves you can go a long way."

Brian Shekell had three of the Spartans' 11 hits in the game. Marx had two hits (one a double) and scored two runs, while Hostetter had two hits, including a triple, and two RBIs.

Tom Collop had two singles to lead the Zebras, Mont had one hit and an RBI.

"I'll say this: This team did not quit," said Wakefield of his Wayne team. "They were down 6-0 — most teams would give up. They didn't."

The loss, charged to Bailey, ended a 14-game winning streak for the Zebras. Ybarra pitched 4 2/3 innings and was charged with two runs on five hits, striking out two.

The pitching win went to Hostetter, although he gave up four earned runs in 3 1/3 innings on three hits and four walks.

Against Henry Ford, after Rabe overcame his early control problems there was little trouble. He struck out 11, twice fanning the side.

Henry Ford wasn't expected to be the caliber of the region's other teams, but that expectation proved incorrect — and made Weingarden's decision to go with his ace seem a good one. "They threw a nice pitcher at us," the Stevenson coach said. "He kept us off balance."

"Bill Rabe threw real well. Had we hit the ball a little more, we might have been in a position of pulling him with a no-hitter going (to save him for Wayne)."

For good or bad, Rabe went the distance. Stevenson's only runs came on a two-out, run-scoring single by Shekell off the glove of leaping Trojan shortstop Lance Jackson in the fifth inning and an unearned run by Matt Courtright, who was running for Marx, on an errant throw by Andre Chilsom trying to get Courtright stealing on third.

The Spartans had just four hits in the game. Jimmy Walker started and took the loss for Henry Ford, allowing one earned run on four hits and three walks, with one strikeout.

Wayne 3, Dearborn 1: The Zebras struck for three runs in the third inning, overcoming an early lead by Dearborn and sending the Pioneers home with a 19-9-1 record Saturday at Lincoln Park.

"Our defense has won us some games this year," said Wayne coach Tom Wakefield. "You saw the play our center-fielder (Marc Townsend) made. That's nothing new. He runs like a deer."

Asked if his defense was the difference, Wakefield replied, "I think so. Defensively, we're very sound (Dearborn) puts the ball in play, and against a team like that if your defense doesn't field it, you're in trouble."

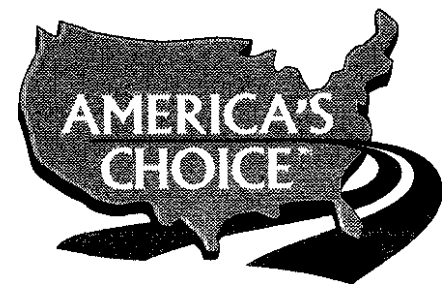

Dearborn coach Clark Plasters wouldn't argue the point. "Give the credit to their team," he said. "They got great pitching and played fantastic defense."

In the pivotal third inning, Wayne got a leadoff double by Chris Judd, a single by Dave Cicotte and a run-scoring double by Tom Collop that tied the score at 1-1. One out later, with baserunners at second and third, Sean Mont delivered a two-run single to give the Zebras the lead for good.

Jim Barter started and got the pitching win for Wayne, allowing a first-inning, run-scoring triple by Ethan Wilkinson but nothing else. The Pioneers got five hits and one walk, striking out four times against Barter.

The pitching loss went to Kyle Pruzdzal. Townsend and Judd each had two hits in the game for Wayne.

Lutheran Westland baseball coach Ted Younglas said his team did not lose its Division IV baseball regional semifinal as much as Southfield Christian took it.

The Warriors led 4-1 after two innings, but the Eagles came back with six runs in the fourth and five more in the fifth to win 12-4 Saturday at Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

BASEBALL

"I'm really proud of our guys," Younglas said. "We jumped on them 4-1 early. (Then) they showed why they are one of the top five to six teams in the state. They took it."

Rob Sinclair singled in a pair of runs in the first for the Warriors (15-14) to help them to their early lead.

"He gets clutch hits for us all year long," Younglas said. "You feel good about your chances because he's going to deliver more times than not."

Then things began to fall apart for Lutheran Westland as it made five errors and the Eagles (23-5) rallied.

"Defensively, we were a little tight," Younglas said. "I thought we were very nervous. It got a little out of hand there."

Southfield Christian's Neil Sternberg broke open the game with a bases-loaded double that rolled to the fence in left center and scored three in the fourth. "We've been down and come back," Eagles coach Len Guerra said. "We've had a history of having big innings."

Sternberg also got the complete-game victory and struck out five.

"He's such a competitor," Guerra said. "He's been in a lot of big games. He's been our most consistent guy all year."

Brian Sternberg was 3-for-4 and scored twice.

The Eagles have made three trips to regionals. "We've got a lot of experience," Guerra said.

Pete Daniels and Brent Habitz each went 2-for-3 and scored runs for the Warriors. Matt Nollar was 2-for-4 with a run batted in. Habitz lost, giving up seven earned runs in five innings.

"He was having trouble locating his breaking ball for strikes," said Younglas who called Habitz one of the best players he has ever coached. "He was being too fine with his fastball."

Bulls lead LCBL, Rams win pair

LCBL BASEBALL

The Michigan Bulls sit atop the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League standings at 6-2.

The Michigan Lake Area Rams and defending champion Decision Consultants, Inc. are next at 5-4 and 5-3, respectively.

The Rams, getting a game-winning RBI triple from Chris Trott in the eighth inning to score Charhe Anderson, beat DCI in a game Monday at Ford Field, 3-2.

The Rams will play the first-place Bulls at 5:45 p.m. Friday at Ford Field.

Mark Lundquist, who has not given up a run in 16 innings, was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Steve Knebbe.

Lundquist went the final two innings, working out of a bases loaded jam in the seventh by getting a infield ground out and a fly to center.

Ross Winiemko, who went all the way for DCI, took the loss.

Anderson had two of the Rams' six hits. Tom Schneeman sent 3-for-3 for DCI. Brandon Hadley knocked in both DCI runs.

RAMS 23, WARRIORS 01. The Michigan Lake Area Rams swept a doubleheader Saturday at Ford Field, beating the Warriors 2-0 and 3-1.

In the first game, Mark Lundquist threw a two-hitter and struck out four. He has not given up a run this season.

He's throwing strikes." Rams coach Rick Berryman said.

The Rams took the lead in the fifth on Trott's suicide bunt that scored Rob Hudson.

Ryan Freiburger went 2 for 3 for the Rams in the second game, winning pitcher Gary Zielke took a no-hitter into the sixth. Mike Hayes got the last four outs for the save.

Brent Scheffer was 2 for 3 with two RBI for the Rams.

BULLS 2, RAMS 1 (8). On Friday the Michigan Bulls tallied a run in the eighth to edge the Rams Friday at Oakland University.

Charlie Anderson homered in the sixth and Brian Campbell went 2 for 3 for the Rams. Chris Hilton and Steve Abro each had two hits for the Bulls.

T.J. Smith pitched six innings for the Rams, Kniebbe lost in relief.

It was a tough loss after a very good pitching performance. Berryman said.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH
PLANNING COMMISSION

TO AMEND TEXT: AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND PLYMOUTH CHARTER TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE NO. 88 BY AMENDING ARTICLE XIX PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT OPTION AND ARTICLE XXXII DEFINITIONS TO ADD PROVISIONS FOR THE ARC ANN ARBOR ROAD CORRIDOR DISTRICT AND OS ARC OFFICE SERVICE ANN ARBOR ROAD CORRIDOR DISTRICT AND CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS TO SAID ORDINANCE.

DATE OF HEARING: June 19 2002

TIME OF HEARING: 7:00 P.M.

PLACE OF HEARING: PLYMOUTH CHARTER TOWNSHIP HALL
42350 ANN ARBOR ROAD

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Commission of Plymouth Charter Township proposes on its own motion to amend Article XIX PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT OPTION as follows:

ARTICLE XIX
PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT OPTION

A. The PURPOSE section is hereby proposed to be amended to add the ARC and OS ARC Districts to read as follows:

PURPOSE

It is intended by the Community that uses of high intensity shall be located in areas which will not adversely impact the orderly development of existing or future residential areas. Commercial office, research, testing and residential uses in structures beyond two (2) and two and one-half (2½) stories in height are more than urban in nature and therefore, could be in conflict with a specific development area and the general character of the Township of Plymouth if not properly regulated in regard to location, relationship to adjacent land uses and development requirements. The Community has provided a MR Mid Rise District to provide for locations for these higher intensity uses, separately or in combination in areas which will not impact the existing or future land uses of adjacent properties and the Community as a whole. The Community however recognizes that within the C-2 District, IND, Industrial District, OS Office Service District, OR Office Research District and TAR, Technology and Research Districts there may be sites which, because of certain existing and specific factors, could be developed as a Planned Unit Development (PUD) beyond the 2 to 2½ stories without negatively impacting adjacent properties and the community as a whole.

It is understood that said developments may be consistent with the planning goals of the community only in specific locations under specific conditions related to height, bulk and location of buildings in accordance with sound planning and site plan principles. It is further the intent that any uses permitted by this option be compatible and consistent with the availability of utilities, both existing and planned for the area in which the PUD is proposed. It is therefore, intended that the PUD option permit flexibility in the regulation of land development, encourage innovation in land use and variety in design, layout and type of structures constructed, achieve economy and efficiency in the use of land, natural resources, energy and the provisions of public services and utilities, encourage useful open space, and provide better housing, employment and shopping opportunities particularly suited to the needs of the residents of the Township of Plymouth in the C-2 Commercial District, IND, Industrial District, OS Office Service District, OR, Office Research District and TAR, Technology and Research Districts on parcels of five (5) acres or greater where the basic principles set forth in this article are met.

Further the PUD option shall also be available in the ARC Ann Arbor Road Corridor District, and OS ARC Office Service Ann Arbor Road Corridor District, subject to certain conditions applicable only to properties located within those districts. The purpose of allowing this flexibility within the Ann Arbor Road Corridor is to:

- Achieve a higher quality of development than would otherwise be achieved.
- Encourage assembly of lots and redevelopment of outdated commercial properties.
- Encourage in-fill developments on sites that would be difficult to develop according to conventional standards because of lot shape or size abutting, development, accessibility, or other site features.
- Ensure compatibility of design and function between neighboring properties.
- Encourage developments in the ARC and OS ARC Districts on parcels of one (1) acre or greater that are consistent with the Township's Master Plan, the Ann Arbor Road Corridor Plan, the basic principles set forth in this Article and the conditions of Section 19.12B General Conditions for Sites in the ARC and OS ARC Districts.

However, it is not intended that the use of the PUD option in the ARC and OS ARC Districts should detract from the primary function and use of the Ann Arbor Road Corridor as a commercial area, but rather it is intended only to provide some flexibility for limited uses within the Corridor.

B. SECTION 19.1, STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES, is hereby proposed to be amended to add the TAR ARC and OS ARC Districts.

C. SECTION 19.12, GENERAL CONDITIONS is hereby proposed to be amended to incorporate the existing language of this section under a new sub section A entitled SITES IN THE C-2 IND, OS, OR and TAR ZONING DISTRICTS and amend Section 19.12 A 1 b 4 to add:

- Facilities such as a licensed restaurant or bar may be permitted in an IND, C-2 OR, TAR and OS District when said facilities are attached to or occupy an integral part of a main structure within the Planned Unit Development. In reviewing this aspect the Commission and the Board shall find that the proposed restaurant or bar is consistent with the Purpose and Statement of Principles Sections of this Article.
 - Research, testing and training uses including industrial or scientific research, development and testing laboratories and offices.
 - Residential uses.

D. SECTION 19.12, GENERAL CONDITIONS is hereby proposed to be amended to add a new sub section B', entitled SITES IN THE ARC AND OS ARC DISTRICTS and provide subsections B 1 B 15 as follows:

B SITES IN THE ARC AND OS ARC ZONING DISTRICTS

- Permitted Uses for Sites in the ARC District
- Permitted Uses for Sites in the OS ARC District
- Site Area and Density Standards
- Maximum Building Height
- Building Setbacks
- Perimeter Yard Setbacks
- Open Space and Green Area
- Circulation, Parking, Loading and Access Management
- Utilities
- Landscaping
- Signs
- Streetscape Improvements
- Outdoor Lighting
- Sidewalks
- Elevators

E. SECTION 19.14, CONFLICTING ORDINANCES, and SECTION 19.15 VALIDITY are hereby proposed to be deleted in their entirety.

F. SECTION 19.14 CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS is hereby proposed to be added as a new section as follows:

SEC 19.14 CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS

For any condominium proposed as a PUD the applicant shall provide a copy of the Master Deed and Condominium Association Bylaws for approval by the Township Board of Trustees. The condominium documents shall provide limits on use of common areas or open space for accessory structures such as swimming pools, decks, playground equipment and buildings. A plan shall be provided indicating the limits of such accessory structures within a defined envelope.

Prior to approval of the Final Development Plan the applicant shall submit the necessary documents to the Township Attorney for review and approval by the Board of Trustees. The Association documentation shall include provisions for the following at a minimum:

- The conditions upon which the approval is based with reference to the approved Final Development Plan.
- When open space or common areas are indicated in the development plan for use by the residents the open space or common areas shall be conveyed in fee or otherwise committed by dedication to an association of the residents and the use shall be irrevocably dedicated for the useful life of the residences and retained as open space for park, recreation or other common uses.
- A program and financing for maintaining common areas and features, such as walkways, signs, lighting and landscaping.
- Assure that trees, waterways and woodlands will be preserved as shown on the Final Development Plan.
- Assure the construction and maintenance of all streets and necessary utilities (including public water, wastewater collection and treatment) through bonds or other satisfactory means, for any and all phases of the PUD. In the case of a phased PUD, this requirement shall be reviewed at the time of any final development plan approval.
- Address any other concerns of the Township regarding construction and maintenance.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Commission of Plymouth Charter Township proposes on its own motion to amend Article XXXII, DEFINITIONS by adding definitions for "Apartment, Accessory," "Dwellings, Stacked Flats," as follows:

8A. APARTMENT, ACCESSORY. A dwelling for one (1) family located above a permitted non-residential use in the same building. Each dwelling shall have separate and individual kitchen, bath and toilet facilities and a separate and distinct private entrance.

32A. DWELLING, STACKED FLATS. Each dwelling unit is capable of individual use and maintenance without trespassing upon adjoining properties and utilities and service facilities are independent for each property.

CONFLICTING ORDINANCES:

All parts of the Zoning Ordinance No. 88 and Subdivision Ordinance No. 32 conflicting or inconsistent with this article are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this Article full force and effect.

VALIDITY

Should any section, clause or provision of this Article be declared invalid the same shall not affect the validity of the whole of this Article or of Ordinance No. 88 as a whole or any part thereof, other than the part so declared to be invalid.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the proposed amendment to the text as printing may be examined at the Plymouth Township Clerk's Office, 42350 Ann Arbor Road and at the Community Development Office, 46555 Port Street during regular business hours 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., until the date of the Public Hearing. Baseball Eagles swoops past Lutheran Westland in regional here with the wind blowing out," said Mott coach Shawn Maloney, brother of recently named University of Michigan coach Rich Maloney. "With our lineup, we felt we were never out of it."

"We have a lot of home run hitters. Thurman alone has nine homers and 52 RBI, and he's drawn 35 walks."

But singles by Brian Shekell and Jason Christopoulos to open the third, followed by a Mott error, resulted in two more runs for the Spartans off Stauch in the third to increase their lead to 5-2.

But Stevenson left Marx stranded at third with no outs as Schlaff came on to get a pair of groundouts and a strikeout to end the inning.

"We need to get that run, we missed a lot of opportunities today," Weingarden said.

Mott then began to chip away at Rabe, Stevenson's workhorse and tournament hero who led the Spartans with 10 innings pitched in their district and regional conquests.

After the right-hander gave up an RBI single to Ryan Laskowski in the third, Mott scored again in the fifth when Laskowski walked, advanced to second on a fielders choice and scored on an infield error to make it 5-4.

With one out in the bottom of the sixth, Ford doubled for the second time with one out. Thurman, considered one of the top juniors in the state, was intentionally walked after doubling twice himself.

That set the stage for Sage, who ripped the two-strike Rabe pitch into left field, scoring two runs. Laskowski followed with an RBI single to give the Marauders a two-run cushion.

"It was a good 0-2 pitch, the kid (Sage) chased a good pitch," Weingarden said.

Rabe, a senior right-hander, finished the year with a remarkable 12-3 record, an earned run average under 2.00 to go along with 97 strikeouts in nearly 98 innings.

Lutheran Westland softball coach Ron Gentz said his team needed to play an air-tight game to beat Southfield Christian.

He was right.

The Warriors made five errors and lost 9-0 to the Eagles in the Division IV regional semifinals Saturday at Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

"Defensively we did not play our most solid game," said

SOFTBALL

Gentz, whose team finished 18-10. "We had to play flawlessly and we didn't."

Eagles pitcher Joy Janigan (24-9) did not allow a hit until the fifth inning. She pitched a complete game and struck out six.

"I think it's placement and movement on the ball," Southfield Christian coach Ken Brown said. "She uses corners. I thought that their hitters had some good cuts."

"She mixes up her pitches quite well," Gentz said. "She's got a good supporting cast."

Senior Heather Rose also pitched a complete game for the Warriors. She gave up three earned runs and finished with a 2.73 earned run average, a school record. The previous record 2.76 was set in 1995 by Amy Gentz.

Brown said the Eagles (29-10), which had nine hits, were able to use Rose's velocity against her.

"We hit better against real fast pitching," he said.

Jenna Hess, Amy Nuoffer and Sam Matyas got the Warriors' hits.

Leanne Long went 2 for 3, stole five bases and scored four runs for Southfield Christian. The fourth run was her 70th of the season, just seven shy of the state record.

Ashley Ronchetto also had a hit and two RBI.

"They've got tremendous team speed," Gentz said.

Brown said he moved Ronchetto to shortstop and Amy McDowell to third base in the last two weeks to improve the Eagles' defense.

"We've been strong defensively," he said.

Gentz said he was pleased the Warriors' attitude this season.

"The kids played some good teams well but they weren't as consistent as they needed to be," he said.

The Bucks outshot Dayton 16-11, with keeper Eric Pogue (Troy Athens) making three saves in goal.

"I thought that first half was our best 45 minutes of the season," said Brose. "We moved the ball and stayed organized. The boys are really starting to play as a team."

The Bucks have a couple of key divisional matches on the road this weekend, playing the first-place Fire Reserves on Friday and the Chicago Eagles Select on Saturday. They return home to play the West Michigan Edge next Thursday (June 20) at 7:30 p.m. at Plymouth Canton HS.

Discounted tickets are available through the Livonia Family YMCA (734-262-2161), the Trading Post in Plymouth or the Soccer Post in Livonia. For further information, call (734) 483-4625.

Both teams had scoring chances in the first overtime. Dobblyn hooked a shot just over the net in the first minute.

In the last minute, Brighton's Katelyn Spencer had a high shot tipped just barely over the net.

"We had some opportunities in overtime and in the game," Panta said.

The Spartans, who won their regional and the Western Lakes Activities Association, gained confidence as they advanced in the postseason.

"I knew the team had the potential all season long," the first-year coach said. "My defense has played solid all year."

The Bulldogs have made the semifinal game three times.

"We said 'No fear,' we've been here before and we're used to it," Shvrman said. "So they were pretty calm. They've had a lot of confidence."

Brighton will face Wednesday's semifinal victor, either Saginaw Heritage or Troy, in Saturday's state final.

Game time is 1:30 p.m. at Plymouth Canton.

Conservancy safeguards environment

I have heard the terms "conservation easement" and am wondering if you can give me a brief description of what it is?

Conservation easements are agreements which allow landowners to perpetuate the biological or scenic amenities of their land by granting a recorded easement of the development rights to a land conservancy or government entity.

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

The easement grantee is charged with enforcing the provisions of the easement in perpetuity. In turn, the grantor of the easement may receive significant tax benefits while still maintaining private ownership of the land.

The grantor retains ownership rights to sell, lease or bequeath the land at some future date.

However, the transfer would be based on the diminished value with out developmental potential, but presumably with the peace of mind that the land will be forever preserved.

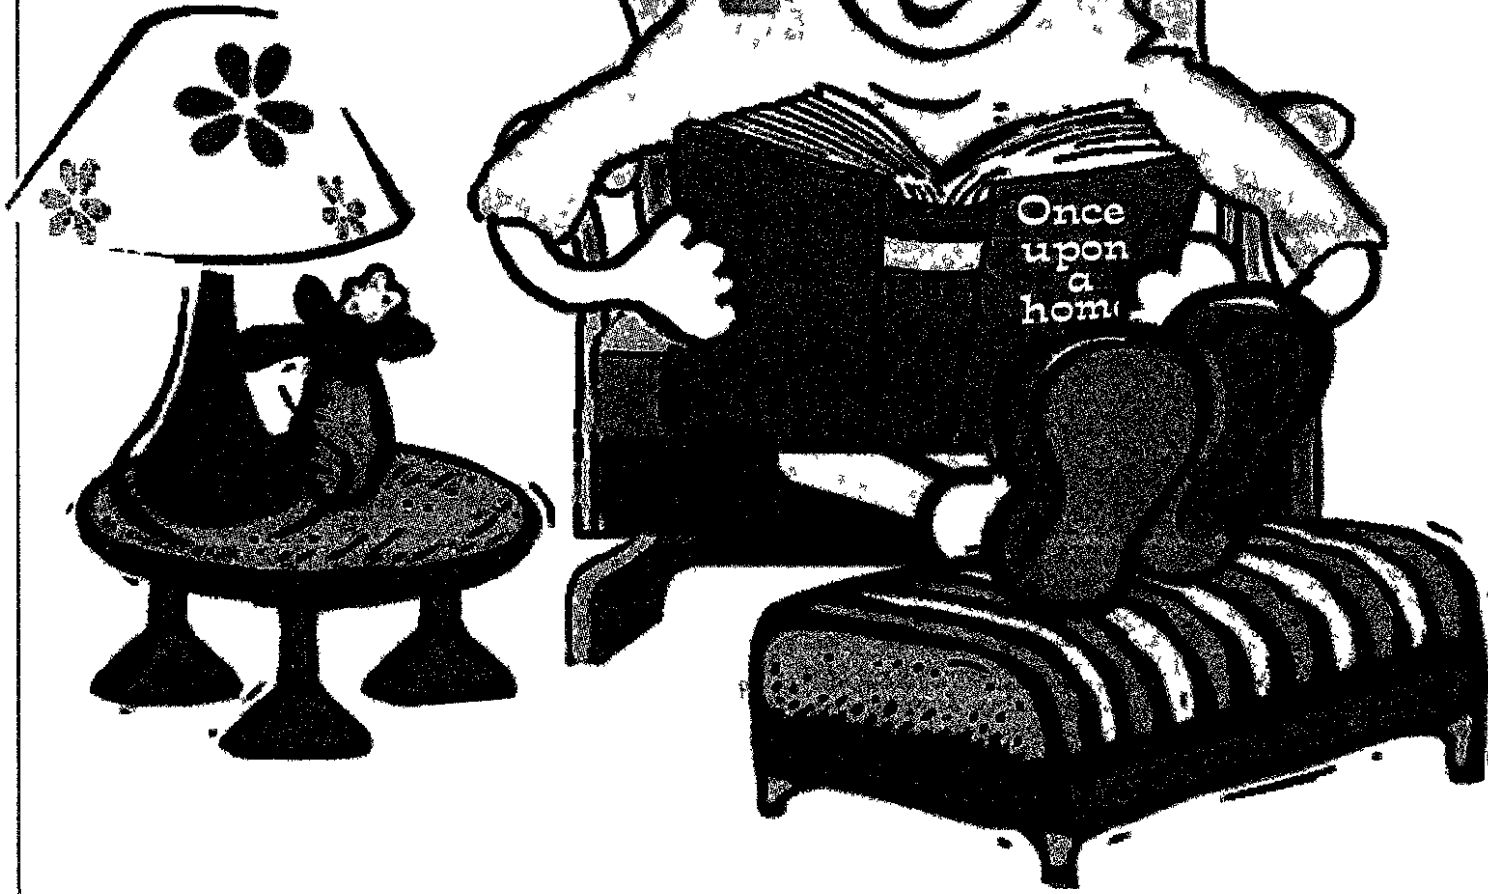

Michigan has a statute that deals with this entitled The Conservation and Historic Preservation Easement Act adopted in 1995.

Robert M. Meisner, a lawyer, concentrates his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate, corporate law and litigation.

This column provides general information and shouldn't be construed as legal advice.

Once upon a home Ownership roots go deep, far

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

If you ever doubted the importance of home, property and real estate to our culture, consider the role they play in fairy tales and children's stories of old.

The Three Little Pigs built houses of straw sticks and brick, and the Big Bad Wolf tried to blow all three down. Almost did, but not quite.

Hansel and Gretel had a terrifying experience in the witch's gingerbread house deep in the woods. Some resourceful thinking and teamwork got them out of danger and back home safely.

Cinderella immediately stepped up to an upscale address after stepping into a slipper retrieved by a prince.

Home has been glamorized for good reasons. "The home is the most comforting part of your life," said Claire Williams, manager/partner of Remerica Home-town One in Plymouth, and president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors.

"It's the place you spend most of your time with your family, your friends," she said. "It's a place you make your own. It has your personality."

"I've owned four homes in my life," she said. "I could tell you a little bit about each. Memories are still there special occasions in the home."

That's why ownership endures over the generations, Williams added.

"Working with first-time buyers, their excitement," she said. "I have a closing Friday and they (purchasers) call me every day and say, 'We went out and bought this and bought that.' It's an accomplishment in life. It's pride."

According to US Housing Markets, a statistical tracking service, nearly seven out of 10 householders in the US owned their home as opposed to renting at the end of last year.

Builders acquired permits for some 76,300 new single family homes in Oakland and Wayne counties combined during the 10-year period 1992-2001, according to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, a statistical tracking, planning agency.

"Buyers have come to realize with home ownership in the US, it's the best investment they could have made over the last 75 years and can make," said Dan MacLeish.

He's president of the Building

Buyers now focus on usable spaces

Folks shopping for a different existing house, real estate experts say, now want open rooms that can accommodate daily family activities and extended family when entertaining.

And a house or condominium in excellent repair, too.

"There's less emphasis on (large) bedrooms and formal areas and more on usable living spaces - family rooms, great rooms, living rooms," said Bob Sakuta, president of the North Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"Families are growing and looking for more space," said Claire Williams, president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors. "Empty-nesters are downsizing."

"In both scenarios, they want to do very little work," she added. "They're looking for move-in condition."

Better efficiencies with utilities - furnaces, air conditioning, programmable thermostats, more telephone and cable jacks - are coveted by purchasers of existing homes, said Gary Arini, president-elect of the Metropolitan Consolidated Association of Realtors.

"People look for value today," he said. "People are always looking for good condition."

Buyers of brand new residential also seem to focus on daily functionality rather than formal specialty uses, said Dan MacLeish, president of the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan.

"Lifestyles are more casual than they used to be," he said. "We're using an awful lot of angles, arches. We're doing home theaters."

"One of the hottest things we're putting in is an office closet," he added. "It's not just a desk and it's right in the kitchen. You can just shut the doors when company comes."

MacLeish, a custom builder, also sees more demand for porte-cocheres, covered gateways/courtyards, basements under the garage, and lifts in a garage to store vehicles and boats above cars used on a daily basis.

- by Doug Funke

Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan and president of a Troy building company.

"We see value in a home," MacLeish said. "It's kept our economy going. You saw what happened in the stock market. The bubble burst. You didn't lose anything in a house."

MacLeish told the story of people he knows who put $5,000 down to buy a starter home in 1977 and have moved up several times since on price appreciation alone without any additional financial outlay.

"Now they live in a million dollar home," he said.

In addition to appreciation in value, homeowners get tax breaks for mortgage interest and property taxes paid, MacLeish added.

Independence and security are big parts of the equation, said Bob Sakuta, president of the North Oakland County Board of Realtors and an account executive with Metropolitan Title in Troy.

"It goes back, I guess, to the American Dream - owning and being able to live on and enjoy land that surrounds us," he said.

"You may be bound by certain association bylaws and township ordinances, but overall you have the opportunity to enjoy and use the property the way you see fit. People absolutely aspire to it," Sakuta said.

Gary Arini, broker/owner of Century 21 AAA in Eastpointe and president-elect of the Metropolitan Consolidated Association of Realtors, agrees.

(Metropolitan Consolidated resulted from a merger between the Birmingham Bloomfield Rochester South Oakland Association of Realtors and the Macomb County Board of Realtors.)

"Home ownership is one of America's values," Arini said. "It's everyone's dream to own their own piece of land, real estate, their own home. It's been like that a long time."

A real long time, according to other fables.

Snow White enjoyed a charmed life, first in a starter home with a merry band of little men, then with a prince - presumably not the same guy who took up with Cinderella - in his castle.

Interest rates are hard to predict

Those TV psychics are a real hoot. I should hire one to field my borrower queries about climbing or falling mortgage interest rates. I have not phoned any of their toll-free numbers because I figure that if they are truly psychics, they will be phoning me for a job before long.

I don't know what borrowers are thinking when they ask me about future interest rates. If I could predict the future, I would be retired. I normally offer my predictions based on the borrowers' ability to tell me the Dow-

Jones Industrial Average's closing figure a week from now.

Though it's impossible to precisely predict the direction of mortgage interest rates - even Wall Street's "experts" fail regularly - some indicators can help you make your own decisions. Most prognosticators look to the markets to forecast how mortgage interest rates will move.

Generally, a sustained stock market rally or a huge bond market sell off will lead to rising rates. Unfortunately, by the time we get news of such movements, it is often too late to make use of them. I find it more useful to take a step back and look at monthly trends (and investor reactions to those trends) rather than daily activity.

Mortgage interest rates change daily. You will make yourself crazy trying to actively shop rates over a span of more than a day or two, especially if you chase the bait and switch rates often posted in many newspapers and on the Internet. Your best bet is to use an overview of the interest rate picture (from credible lenders) to observe trends over time.

There is really only one thing for certain in today's market. The rates are about the best they have been in decades and unless the economy totally tanks you probably will not see them this low again for a while. As we continue to dig out of this recession, the next few months may well be the "last call" for some great deals. If you are going to refinance or make a purchase, sooner may be better than later.

Remove mildew, then prevent it

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Do you have a mildew problem on the ceiling above the shower? No window in the bathroom? You want to paint, but are worried you might just be covering a problem instead of repairing it?

Mildew in your home is easy to remove. Just mix one-third of a cup of powdered laundry detergent (less if concentrated) and one quart of liquid chlorine bleach with three quarts of warm water.

Add the bleach to the water first and then the detergent. Scrub with a bristle brush. In minutes the mildew will disappear. Rinse the area thoroughly and towel-dry.

Although this reasonably mild solution can be used for most painted surfaces, rubber gloves, eye protection and plenty of ventilation are necessary.

In the future, don't spend time removing mildew when you can prevent it. Mildew can't grow without a food source, and the food source that mildew thrives on is moisture.

Mildew spores are in the air everywhere. They look for moist places to settle, feed and grow.

How do you prevent mildew from growing first? Reduce or eliminate the food source by cutting down on the amount of moisture, usually condensation, which settles on walls, floors and ceilings.

This might not be as simple for someone who lives in Florida as for a family in West Texas, but, given varying degrees of attention, eradication is possible even in relatively humid climates.

Ventilation might be poor if you don't have a window in the bathroom. Moreover, the lack of natural light provides optimal conditions for mildew growth.

A bathroom without a window should have an exhaust fan to remove moisture and odors. Unfortunately, bath fans are often undersized, broken or simply not used.

If you have an exhaust fan, make sure that it's cleaned periodically, that the duct is properly connected and in good shape, and that it is always used during showering and allowed to run for 10 to 15 minutes after the shower.

Suburban monolith eroding, author maintains

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe homecomm.net

Suburban communities aren't the same. They face different problems. Regional planning offers the best strategy for solving those problems.

That's the view of Myron Orfield, in Southfield recently to promote his book, American Metropolitanism, the New Suburban Reality.

Orfield is executive director of Metropolitan Area Research Corp in Minneapolis, a Minnesota state senator, a lawyer and a champion of regional governance.

"Suburbs are diverse," he said. "All suburbs are hurt by a lack of cooperation. The lack of regional planning hurts everyone."

It's not about the big central city against the suburbs any more, Orfield maintains. Suburban communities often are at odds with each other.

His analysis: At risk suburbs and townships have a shrinking population base (on which state revenue sharing money is allocated here), older roads/sidewalks and sewers/water systems, and essentially no room for new residential and commercial construction.

Bedroom developing suburbs have lots of houses and kids, but not enough wealth or commercial/industrial base to adequately fund capital needs and municipal services.

Affluent job center suburbs offer expensive homes, upscale retail and office jobs to handful of people, but often at the price of congested roads and loss of open spaces.

"The old city-versus-suburb view is outdated," said Bruce Katz, director of the Center on Urban and Metropolitan Policy at the Brookings Institution in Washington, D.C.

Brookings, a think tank, published American Metropolitanism, the New Suburban Reality.

"Cities and suburbs have a common enemy - namely sprawl," Katz said. "Sprawl isn't inevitable. Public policies play a significant role in shaping patterns of development."

Tax revenue sharing, land use policies and governance all shape a metropolitan landscape, Orfield writes in his book. That's why regional, rather than community-by-community decision-making is so important.

"This is orderly development where there's certainty about the rules of the game - a streamlined approval process," Orfield said.

"Builders want market stability long term," Katz said. "Part of what this is about is how to create markets so they can be sustained over time."

"I think what the real estate community wants is certainty, predictability and timeliness," he added.

"A strong, accountable regional governing body is an essential part of a comprehensive regional reform plan," Orfield concludes.

"I'm a proponent of federated regionalism," said Bill O'Brien, executive director of the Metropolitan Organizing Strategy Enabling Strength, an activist group consisting largely of church congregations here.

O'Brien defined that situation as "a compromise between regionalism that's desperately needed and what we have now - everybody having a certain amount of local control."

"I think a regional transportation authority makes sense," O'Brien said. "There's got to be some (regional) effort at land use."

"There's a major problem ready to happen here, 220,000 septic tanks causing massive destruction of Lake St. Clair," O'Brien said. "Who's going to pay for that?"

The Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan has touted Smart Growth in recent years.

"When you strip everything else away, what Smart Growth boils down to is peoples' freedom of choice where they have their homes, where they send their children to school," said Irvin H. Yackness, BIA executive vice president.

"That's the essence of what America is all about. That's what we need to be talking about instead of regional planning versus local."

BIA has been in the forefront in calling for individual municipalities to allow for smaller lots, more density and supposedly more affordable housing in their land use codes.

"How do we address the best plan to manage growth?" Yackness said. "The type of government we have today was put together in horse and buggy days. Today, with extensive use of the automobile, distances have shrunk."

"Certainly there are aspects of regional planning that could be helpful," Yackness said, citing water and sewer lines and road construction that don't stop at city limits.

Mitigate wildfire damage

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are some measures recommended by the National Interagency Fire Center to protect homes from wildfires.

These are especially applicable to isolated vacation homes and cabins in the woods.

Use fire resistant material, such as tile, slate, sheet iron, aluminum, brick or stone when building a house.

Treat existing materials, such as wood siding, cedar shakes, exterior wood paneling, or other highly combustible materials, with fire retardant chemicals.

Regularly clean roof surfaces and gutters of pine needles, leaves and branches to avoid the accumulation of flammable materials.

Remove portions of any tree extending within 10 feet of the opening of any stove or chimney.

Space landscape vegetation so that fire cannot be carried to the house on surrounding vegetation.

Keep tree branches 15 feet above the ground.

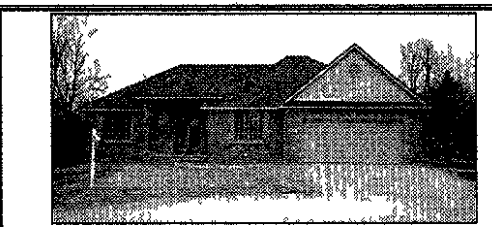

Dispose of stove or fireplace ashes and charcoal briquettes only after soaking them in a metal pail of water.

Store gasoline in an approved safety can away from the house.

All combustibles such as firewood, picnic tables, boats, etc., should be kept away from the house.

Keep a garden hose connected at all times.

Guidebook provides suggestions for safety in high-rise buildings

(AP) — A nonprofit group is urging people to learn about the tall buildings where they live and work, offering a handbook of tips on how to make sure structures are safe.

The Council on Tall Buildings and Urban Habitat, a group of architects, engineers and city planners, created the guide after the Sept. 11 attacks brought down the World Trade Center's twin towers, killing 2,823 people.

"We're not saying that building codes are somehow deficient or that buildings aren't safe," said David Maola, the council's executive director. "But the impact that an informed consumer could have could force the building management to make changes."

The 29-page Building Safety Assessment Guidebook advises tenants to ask about evacuation plans, security measures, emergency power systems, ventilation and communication systems.

It also urges tenants to find out if there are flammable materials in the building, the council said.

Nearby structures must be considered when assessing the safety of a building. Structures around the World Trade Center were vulnerable because of their proximity to a target, council chairman Ron Klemencic said.

Klemencic recommended that communication systems be located away from vulnerable areas and urged people to be more aware of their surroundings and to practice fire safety drills.

He stressed, however, that the trade center collapse shouldn't dictate building codes.

"It's not feasible to design every building to deal with that magnitude of an event," he said.

The council created a similar booklet,

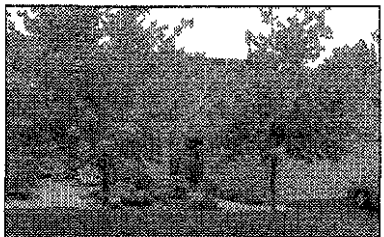

Building Safety Enhancement Guidebook, advising building owners and managers on how they can improve safety measures beyond what building codes require.

The booklets are available for $30 apiece or $50 for both.

Know exactly what job bids include

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

So, you're ready to solicit bids for your home project. You have the names of three contractors. That's all there is to getting the best price, isn't it?

The answer is "maybe."

In many cases, according to Mike Turner of The Home Service Store, the low bid might end up costing you more — possibly much more — by the time the final nail is driven or the last brushstroke of paint dries.

"Most homeowners visualize how the project should end up," says Turner, "but they don't understand all the details it takes to get the job done."

Most homeowners are fixated on low price. In reality, a bottom-dollar bid is just one element of the total overall cost of your job.

Bids are contractors' educated guesses of the cost of materials, their labor and their profit. Bids are affected by factors such as a contractor's experience and workload, competition from other contractors, labor, availability of materials — and your own expertise.

Rounding up bids should be last on a homeowner's to-do list. Turner suggests you first interview a lengthy list of contractors rather than simply ask for a low bid.

"Do as many interviews as it takes to find a contractor you trust and are comfortable with," he said. "Boil a list of candidates down to two or three, and you'll find reputable contractors capable of giving you a price to fit the budget for your project, or help you to understand what the budget should be for your project."

Turner recommends that homeowners take 30 minutes to write down job specifications. In all cases, give each potential bidder the same set of specs. This assures an apples-to-apples basis for comparison.

Err on the side of more rather than less information. For example, a spec list for a new kitchen should include materials, hardware, and surfaces — even products by brand name.

Accurate spec sheets might weed out contractors who low-ball the price just to get the job — contractors who then make up the price difference through change orders. Change orders are price corrections during the project. Turner advises homeowners to be wary of any bids that are 5-10 percent lower than competing ones.

Good contractors will try to earn your business with a fair assessment of the work involved. They might even offer options and alternatives that could save you money or make the job go smoother and easier. Their knowledge of local codes will be valuable.

If there is little difference between bids, the tiebreaker should be your confidence in the contractor.

"Choose the contractor you feel communicates the best and that ultimately you have the most trust in," Turner says. "Go with the contractor who has the best understanding of what you want."

The Home Service Store manages home maintenance, repair and improvement tasks in more than 130 markets nationwide.

Owning home adds up as investment

According to the Consumer Federation of America, buying a house is the best way for most people to accumulate wealth.

A recent study by that organization indicated that home equity represents 34 percent of the wealth in affluent households.

By comparison, retirement accounts represent 17 percent, while stocks, bonds and mutual funds account for just 11 percent.

"Many homeowners know that their home is their single greatest investment, but renters may not even realize that they're missing out on this opportunity," said Robb Sutton, Livonia regional manager for Wells Fargo Home Mortgage.

"When considering the vast array of investment options available, consumers should definitely consider real estate," he said.

Sutton said homeownership creates wealth through a combination of the following factors:

■ Equity As owners make monthly payments on their mortgages, they accumulate equity in the home. Over the past 10 years, the average homeowner earned $44,000 in home equity, according to Fannie Mae.

■ Appreciation The Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight reported that home prices appreciated at a rate of 8.4 percent during the last year. As home values increase, homeowners accumulate more wealth.

■ Tax deductions While homeowners must pay property taxes and interest on their mortgages, these expenses may be tax deductible. That reduces taxable income and, consequently, taxes owed.

■ Fixed housing costs Mortgage payments can be fixed, which means a homeowner's monthly payment of principal and interest could stay the same for up to 30 years. Rent may increase as often as each year.

"Beyond helping homeowners accumulate wealth, there are many other benefits to homeownership," Sutton said. "Owning a home can also be a great source of pride and contribute to a better quality of living."

"The best part about ownership is that you get to enjoy these benefits and accumulate wealth at the same time," he said.
