Vets' park step closer to reality

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

It appears plans for a Plymouth Community Veterans Memorial Park on city-owned property in front of Central Middle School will get started after more than 10 years in the making

Committee chairman Bob Zaetta received approval from the city com-

fundraising could begin "within a month or two

We're looking at a year of fundraising and a completion date of July 4, 2004," said Zaetta "If we get lucky, maybe Memorial Day 2004

Zaetta said the cost to complete the veterans park is about $550,000 He's hoping to sell 5,000 brick pavers at

of the project

"Anyone who was a veteran will be eligible to have an etched gray paver on the plaza, which will be part of our fundraising effort," said Zaetta "There will be 143 pink granite pavers etched with the names of casualties from the Plymouth area from past wars "

Those killed in action include 89 mission Monday night, and said $100 and $250 apiece to cover the cost from the Civil War, nine from World War I, two from World War II, one from the Korean War, and seven in Vietnam

Zaetta said there will be 10 granite blocks to commemorate the wars, and other encounters such as Grenada and Desert Storm The center block will be

Old Village maintains charm with businesses, residents

BY CHRISTINE BRODA STAFF WRITER cbroda@oe.homecomm.net

When Celeste Hamilton moved her massage therapy business, the Healing Arts Clinic, from its previous location above what is now Jack Dunleavy's Grill to its new home at 383 Starkweather in Old Village, she immediately fell in love with the atmosphere of her new location

"For a massage therapy place it was perfect," she said of the charming turn-of-the-century, Victorianstyle home that now houses her small practice "It's quiet, peaceful, close to downtown '

Hamilton — who has been serving the community with personal therapeutic massage for over 15 years says she has gained a new appreciation for Old Village, noting numer ous changes that have taken place during the six years her business has operated in Plymouth's historic northern sector

"It's like it's (Old Village) getting a facelift," she said "It looks a lot more professional, but it's still really creative and artsy It has charm and appeal yet professionalism I really like how it's growing and develop

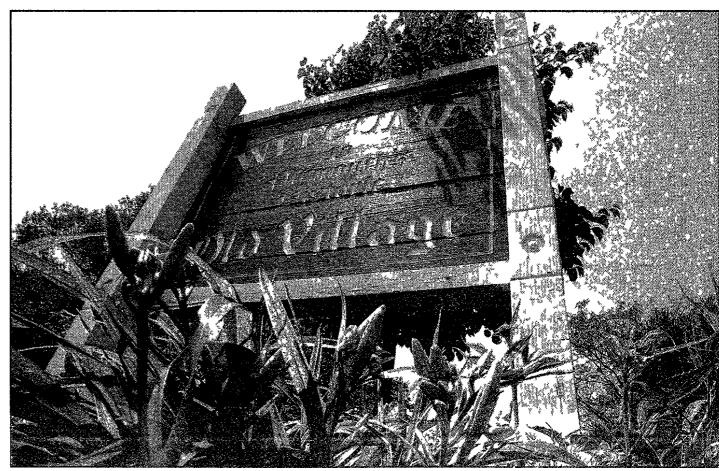

Old Village, new changes

The face of Old Village has been changing over the past 20 years as new businesses find their niche among older retail shops The revival of the commercial district, which now boasts some 100 mer chants and professionals, parallels the renovation of historic homes in the area, some of which have existed for over 100 years

"There are a lot of healthy, vital things going on there (Old Village)," said Plymouth City Commissioner Stella Greene, who serves as the Old Village Development Authority haison on behalf of the city "It's evolving into more defined residential and commercial areas

Greene said it takes "a little bit of everything" to attain the healthy demographic mix that makes Old

The story of Old Village has its beginnings in 1825, when William Starkweather bought 80 acres of land under the Land Act of 1820 The settlement he established became what is now the city of Plymouth Approximately three years after his initial acquisition, Starkweather purchased another 80acre tract of land just north of his original 80 acres and Old Village acquired its first residential owner By 1870, William's son George would own most of the property where Old Village stands today

That's according to the Old Village Historic District Study Report from Fall 1996, compiled by Betts Chisholm and MaryGrace York of HP Associates

According to the report, George Anson Starkweather, son of William and Keziah Starkweather, was born Feb 20, 1826, two years before the Starkweather family would make a permanent home on their northern acreage Although

The board at its June 11 meeting voted 4-3 in favor of opening the ethics probe on Munfakh, choosing to look into his involvement with helping Salem Township get hooked into the Detroit water system Critics say such involvement is a conflict of interest because Plymouth Township already suffers from low water pressure, and adding another customer would make matters worse

Convicted killer seeks verdict appeal

By Tony Bruscato Staff Writer

Convicted killer Azizul Islam of Plymouth, who is spending the rest of his life behind bars for the mutilation and murder of his estranged wife, has filed an appeal of his conviction by a Wayne County Circuit Court

Islam was convicted on Oct 3, 2000 of killing his wife, Tracy, in their Roe Street home in December 1999 Police testified Islam mutilated her body, dumped her limbs in a restaurant dumpster in Dearborn, and placed her torso in a field in northeast Ohio

In briefs filed with the Michi gan Court of Appeals, attorney David Cripps of Detroit listed seven arguments why the appellate court should order a new trial, or at the very least remand the case to the trial court for the imposition of a parolable life sentence

According to Islam's attorney The prosecuting attorney violated the equal protection clause of the US Constitution when he used peremptory challenges to excuse minorities from

■ In briefs filed with the Michigan Court of Appeals, attorney David Cripps of Detroit listed seven arguments why the appellate court should order a new trial, or at the very least remand the case to the trial court for the imposition of a parolable life sentence.

■ The trial court erred in admitting statements attributed to Tracy Islam that she feared her husband was going to "put something in her tea '

■ The trial court violated Islam's due process rights by admitting gruesome photographs of Tracy Islam's body parts and dismembered torso

■ The judge refused to instruct the jury that the death of Tracy Islam must be the result of the defendant's act

■ Islam was denied his right to due process when the prosecutor stated during closing arguments that the defendant failed to deny his involvement in the murder when he was interrogated by police

FELEGANCE

■ The introduction of an 11th hour witness, a trace evidence analyst for the Michigan State Police, was allowed despite objections by the defense

Islam's non-parolable mandatory life sentence for first degree murder violates Michigan's Constitution because it is an indeterminate sentence, and because it constitutes cruel or unusual punishment

Wayne County assistant prosecutor Jason Williams said it will be about a year before the Court of Appeals will hear the case and make a decision

"Mr Islam has a right to appeal, and he's exercising that right," said Williams "Our position is there are no merits to the arguments and the court should affirm his conviction "

seven feet high, with the height of the other blocks determined by the number of casualties in the war it represents There will also be emblems of all the military services etched on

"The images etched on these will be of both men and women," he said "We feel it's important that we integrate women because they've been for so long forgotten for their contributions "

Zaetta says names of those killed in action will include names of soldiers from Canton and Northville

"The first casualties from the community were from the Civil War At that time there was no Northville or Canton," said Zaetta "If you look at the record, they're from Plymouth "

Commissioner Ron Loiselle, who as mayor in 1996 tried to get the veterans park off the ground, thinks this time the project will get done

"I'm glad to see it going, it's a terrific project," said Loiselle "I think this one will get going

■ Commissioner Ron Loiselle, who as mayor in 1996 tried to get the veterans park off the ground, thinks this time the project will get done.

because there's a great group of people ushering it through ' Commissioner Michele Potter called it a fantastic project

"It has obviously had a lot of time, energy and thought put into it to make sure all groups are represented I think it will be a great place to visit," said Potter "I hope that all of the veterans groups will come together and move their monuments to the park so we have one spot in the city for people to go and pay their respects '

Thus far, only one of the war monuments spread throughout the city, the Civil War monument at Riverside Cemetery known as "The Lady," will be moved to the new veterans park

While all the veterans organizations are on record in support of the park, several groups are objecting to moving their monuments to the new location There is some resistance to moving the Korean/Vietnam Veteran's Memorial from in front of the Wilcox House, known as Veteran's Memorial Park And, many World War II veterans don't want the memorial rock moved because of anticipation it will crumble because of deterioration

"We're going to go to those groups and ask if they want to move those over," said Zaetta "If they want to, we'll roll the costs into our budget and pay for it "

A monument to World War I veterans is also located in front of the Wilcox House There is also a cannon located in Cannon Park, which is a Spanish-American War monument

A World War I monument

already located in front of Central Middle School will remain

Getting the project started has been a real challenge for veterans groups Former Mayor Dave McDonald unveiled the project Nov 11, 2000, announcing it would cost $300,000 Some veterans privately lay blame at the feet of McDonald for the delay, indicating he failed to prepare the necessary paperwork for nonprofit organization status, and appeared to lose interest in the

Smoker tax failure leaves local programs at risk for fund cuts

The Plymouth area arts community and municipal governments will wait on pins and needles as the state legislature is expected to take another stab at passing a 50-cent per pack cigarette tax this coming week Lawmakers negotiated until the early morning hours of Thursday, but fell two votes short of imposing the tax

Without the additional money to help bail the state out of a budget crunch, half of the $235 million in state arts grants will be cut The Plymouth Symphony, which annually receives $22,900 in state grants, was hoping for an increase to $30,000 The Plymouth Community Arts Council's $20,000 in state grants could also be in jeopardy

The arts community isn't the only one watching which way the cigarette tax increase will go Without the tax hike, the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township face additional cuts in state revenue sharing money

Rep John Stewart (R-Plymouth Township) said there will be at least a 2-percent cut in revenue sharing money if the cigarette tax isn't passed The city of Plymouth, over the past several years, has already lost nearly $500,000 in state revenue sharing money

Stewart is confident the tax increase will be passed next week with votes from Rep Laura Toy (R-Livonia) and Rep Gary Woronchak (R-Dearborn), both absent from Wednesday's ses-

"We have a shortfall for this year, and a $1 billion shortfall for next year," said Stewart of the state budget "Gov (John) Engler is wanting to fully fund all the programs he's put into place during his 12 years as governor, which amounts to a lot of spending

"This is also insurance and security for funding education," added Stewart "Gov Engler has very wisely linked this to securing the K-12 budget and higher education budgets They will be fully funded "

More than $300 million is expected to be generated from the increase in the cigarette tax, and businesses like Smokers Only on Main Street in Plymouth wish the burden would be spread around

"Of course this will hurt my sales More people will quit smoking," said owner Andy Kory "It's bad now because people are buying cigarettes off the Internet so they don't have to pay taxes"

Kory said cigarettes by the carton cost about $25 on the Internet, while, because of taxes, he charges $39

"Some people blame me, they think I'm raising my prices," added Kory "There's nothing I can do but keep raising my prices because of the taxes I only make a dollar a carton, so I need to sell in volume "

Kory said cigarette manufacturers recently increased prices $1 25 a carton, which means a pack of major brand cigarettes currently sell for $4 25

For some people, like the woman who walked out of Smokers Only with several cartons and packs of cigarettes, an increase in taxes just means she'll have to pay more to support her habit

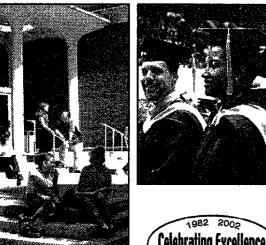

"They're going to keep doing it, they do it all the time," said the woman, who didn't want to give her name "What's there to do but just go in, crab about what you pay and light one up "

A letter recently sent home to the parents of some high school students indicates that while their children may eventually become Canton or Salem high school graduates, most of their classes will take place at the newly constructed Plymouth High School, which opens in August

The move comes, according to the letter, because the district is moving students to the same building as their counselor's

"He's a Canton student, but he won't attend classes at Canton, said Debbie Cortellini of Plvmouth, a teacher and parent. whose son Andy, a sophomore, is being transferred to Plymouth High School even though he plays basketball and soccer for Canton "I truly believe my son, if he's a Canton student, should stay based at Canton and not necessarily be based where his counselor is, that he will see once a year

"There has to be a better way." she added "There might have been some kids who would have voluntarily gone and been based at Plymouth who don't have the ties, don't have the links, aren't playing for sports teams "

Such kids could include band members, who may be happier being at Plymouth High School because that's were the band will be based, and where the new music facilities will be

executive director of educational services, said no matter where the students are based, if their class needs are benefited by walking to one of the other buildings, that still will take place

This district has a history of random assignment, so that our high schools have an equal division and equity of population, and diversity of population," added Anible "By selecting one particular group of students and moving those, we would be upsetting the random assignment that is now in place at the high schools

The other goals were to relieve the congestion at the other buildings," she said "Just because ninth graders only would be assigned as a graduating class from Plymouth, that certainly didn't mean that only ninth graders would be attending classes '

Anible also said the move was necessitated to meet the district's goal of keeping younger students in a home building, instead of having them travel to classes in all three buildings

"Whatever ninth- and tenthgraders that are based at Plymouth, we are going to attempt to keep most of their classes, when possible, at Plymouth, so they are not traveling between the buildings," she said

Village unique The combination of private homes and commercial buildings set amidst the historic backdrop of the area give Old Village a distinctive appeal

"A lot of communities are trying to synthetically create what we have as a natural environment down here," Greene said

A shift in business

According to Greene, Plymouth's changing business district is indicative of the national market

"Old Village is a microcosm of the economy as a whole," she saıd

Greene perceives "a real healthy mix" in Old Village, referring to the attorneys, investors, small businesses and restaurants that have made their way into Plymouth and joined ranks with some of the older businesses she says have been "good anchors" in the area for many years

Paul Kalık's business is one of those "anchors" He has owned and operated Kalık's Antiques for 15 years at three different locations in Old Village, during which time he has witnessed firsthand the changing atmosphere of the area

"The city has done a lot in the last five or six years," said Kalık, making reference to new pavement, lighting and flowers that have been added to the area as part of an ongoing process of renovation and beautification "It's an improvement from what it used to be This is by no means a poor neighborhood anymore It used to be the cheaper end of town, but now you can't buy a home down here for under

Kalık, who recently became a member of the OVDA, said Old Village is becoming "more diversified " According to him, the area used to be an antique center boasting more than 15 antique shops Now he says his antique store, located on West Liberty Street, is the only main one still open - the other two shops on the street are only open for business part-time

When asked what he thinks about the changes going on in Old Village, Kalık said it depends on how one looks at it He said property values are going up, which is good, but his particular line of business is going down, a consequence he attributes to the fact that many people shopping for antiques now choose to go to big malls with hundreds of dealers

"I don't think it's (Old Village) overlooked," he said "It's just getting discovered

Residential rehab

Chuck Avis, who recently rejoined the OVDA after having served as the organization's chairman when it first formed in 1994, has lived in Old Village since 1980, when he bought and restored a home there The office of his CPA firm, Avis & Associates, is located on Starkweather Having lived and worked in the heart of Old Village for over two decades. Avis has been privy to changes that have taken place over the years

"I think there have been very positive steps in the last 20 years," he said, noting individual investment in both residential

in the total area " As a member of the OVDA, Avis said he expects the board to continue to take "solid steps forward " He perceives an increase in the tax base, a benefit he says usually occurs with an influx of new businesses and a rise in property investment

City Manager Paul Sincock said one of the biggest differences to Old Village in the last five years is the conversion of multi-family homes to single-

According to him, "there is a real pride and commitment" to property levels when a person owns the home he occupies, compared with persons living and working in rented housing Sincock added that Old Village "is one of the areas with higher property rate increases" in Plymouth

Future commitment

Sincock expressed the city's desire to continue to work with the OVDA as well as merchants and residents to further efforts aimed at enhancing the overall image and environment of Old Village He said the city has put a lot of money into the infrastructure, noting the paving of city streets as one of many recent improvements

"Once the city steps up to the plate and makes infrastructure a commitment, it spills over into the residential and business sector," Sincock said

Not everyone in Old Village agrees with him Two OVDA members were recently removed from the board at least in part because of their continued disenchantment with what they per ceived as shoddy treatment of the area

And although Larry Perkovich, owner of Big J's TV on Starkweather, thinks changes to the area are "good in some ways," he doesn't think Old Village is something the city cares to show

"I don't think the city cares to showcase it," said Perkovich, who has been in business in Old Village since December 1979 "They're trying to bring in bars and trendy might spots It's a lit tle less blue collar than it used to personally, I don't think it's changed all that much Some people still see it with the 'over the tracks' mentality It's going to take some time for that to go away'

Working with city officials, members of the OVDA have recently set some goals consistent with the board's mission "to preserve, promote and enhance the unique historical character of the Old Village as an integral part of the city of Plymouth " Sincock said one of these goals is to continue additions to the

Starkweather streetscape project that began in 1999

'Old Village has got a very unique, eclectic mix you typically don't see in a city setting," he said Sincock used Station 885 as an example of a business that has capitalized on the individual elements of the area, noting how the restaurant has made effective use of the train theme

As for the future, Sincock said Old Village is headed in a "very positive direction " In addition to continued advancements in current projects, Sincock said he looks forward to seeing more events in the area, with everyone pulling together to make new things possible

"There's a real pride you see that was not there 15 years ago,"

Greene agrees the mentality toward Old Village has shifted to the more positive side in recent

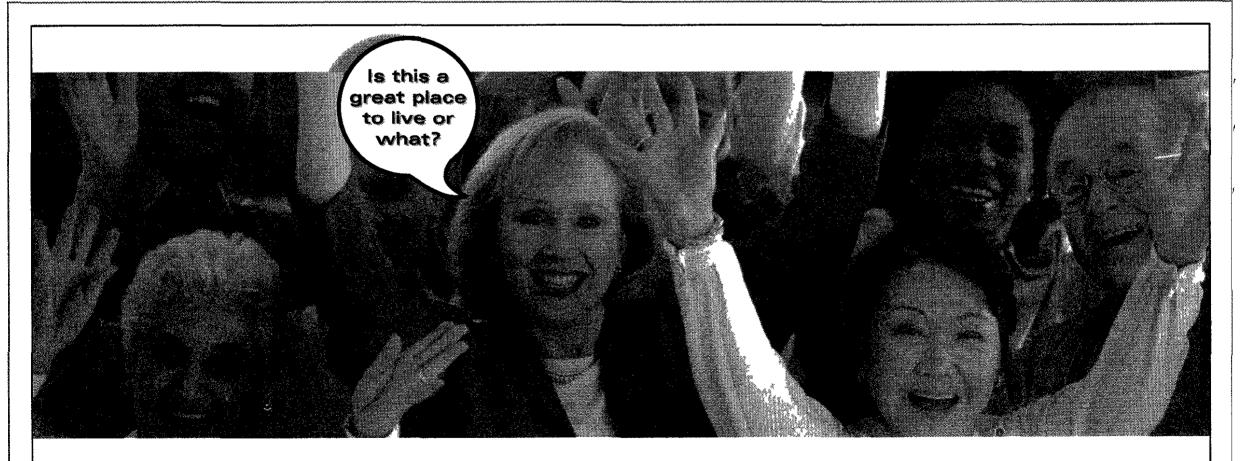

"You started to see real change in the early to mid-90s," she said "People began recognizing the historical merit of buildings They were seen as not just old but historic Character, which used to be bad, is taking on a whole new meaning"

Today Old Village is viewed in a new light The 'over the tracks' mentality has given way to a new appreciation for the historical distinction of Plymouth's northern village "Now people think of it (Old. Village) as a quaint, unique jewel and rightly so - that's what it is," Greene said "When people mention it, they do so fondly, with a positive sort of known today as Old Village, this area of land was recorded in legal documents as North Village when the Village of Plymouth was incorporated in 1867

After brief stints at the University of Michigan and in New York City to study law, George returned to Plymouth and farmed the north 80 acres of his family land while he also taught school and continued to study law on his own

Following his marriage to Amelia Heywood on August 19, 1861, George went into business with RG Hall and operated a general store facing Kellogg Park When the business partnership dissolved in 1870, George built a new brick store in North Village and relocated his business to the southeast corner of Liberty and Oak streets, where he operated for the next 30 years

At the same time he built his new store in North Village, George cut a road through his farm so people could access his business Originally called Oak Street, the road was renamed Starkweather Avenue by the village council after George's death

Four years after the incorporation of Plymouth, the railroads were laying tracks a block north of Starkweather's new store in North Village George hoped the advent of railways through North Village would help transform the once rural farmland into an active commercial center, but the optimistic forecast never materialized to his full expectations, according to the report

However, the railroad did contribute to a more bustling, exciting life in North Village and the surrounding Plymouth area By May 1871, railway service to Detroit from Northville ran through Plymouth to Wayne, where the Michigan Central Railroad had the right of way into Detroit Demands for expanded service at one time had 18 passenger trains passing through Plymouth

Three structures originally constructed for freight and passenger usage have been adapted for other uses One of these buildings, the freight house originally situated at 885 Starkweather, was relocated to 904 Starkweather and is now the popular restaurant Station 885

As railways hauling passengers and cargo to, from and through Plymouth continued to expand, so did the demographics of North Village, accord ing to the report Retail businesses were built along the Liberty Street corridor and industrial centers were concentrated closer to the railroad tracks The area evolved into an integrated mix of résidential, commercial and industrial uses operating side by side, the healthy blend of which Old Village still enjoys today

After World War II, more modern structures and multiple complexes such as apartments and condo miniums replaced former single houses Common in Old Village today are the number of commercial businesses that have set up shop in existing houses along the most traveled roads of the area -Starkweather and Mill

In addition to the advent of the railroad, other key industrial components of Old Village's growth were the success of Markham Air Rifle Works in 1885 and the village industry tap plant that Henry Ford established in 1923

Of overwhelming importance to the industrial and architectural history of Old Village was the three-story, red-brick building Markham Company constructed in 1886, with additions in 1891, 1895 and 1901 Phil Markham's novel "BB" guns were manufactured at his Main Street plant, which originally made tanks and cisterns

When Clarence Hamilton invented a completely metal air rifle, the Plymouth Windmill Company decided to manufacture this version after declining sales in windmills forced the company to seek alternative business ventures The firm changed its name from Plymouth Windmill to Daisy Manufacturing Company in 1895 and bought out other competition, including the Markham Air Rifle Works, in 1912

Daisy continued to use the 340 N Main facility for some time and, until the company relocated to Arkansas in 1958, Plymouth was known as the air rifle capital of the world

At the north boundary of Old Village, Henry Ford purchased the old Plymouth Grist Mill from the Wilcox brothers Ford demolished the mill in 1922 and built a modern facility that produced plant taps used by the Rouge Ford Plant In later years the plant manufactured small engines parts for the War, but after the War the plant was aban doned and the Wayne County Road Commission occupied the building

In its early days, Old Village provided a self-contained environment for its residents. Local businesses and factories supplied employment for the people who lived here, while shops along Liberty Street provided the main source of goods and serv-Today remnants of Old Village's former lifestyle are preserved in the historic character that still distinguishes the area

Music, pies and movie get Liberty Fest started

After the mercury rose well above the 85-degree mark during the day, temperatures cooled off just enough to make the evening weather pleasantly tolerable for the hundreds of people who converged on Heritage Park Thursday for the opening night of Canton's Liberty Fest

"We couldn't have asked for more beautiful weather," said Hillary Usher, a Canton resident who was one of over 100 volunteers scheduled to help out over the course of the weekend Usher, who works at the Summit, spent the early part of the evening recruiting children for a pie eating contest sponsored by the Observer Newspapers

As the 7 p m start time approached, more than 25 kids made their way from the "Fun Zone" and "Sports Den" - popular highlights of the Fest that feature inflatable attractions and athleticthemed games - to the long tables set up near the amphitheater

Michael Haar, 13, of Canton is a veteran pie eater He finished second in the contest two years ago and said he was looking to capture the championship this year

According to Haar, the secret to success is "to get it (pie) all over your face and have a taste of the dessert

Although Haar's strategy did not win him one of the three skateboard prizes awarded to the winners, the method proved fruitful for fellow contestant Kayla Zabowski, 11, of Canton

Zabowski gulped her way to victory as mom Suzanne cheered from across the

"You're doing it, keep going, scoop it up," shouted mom as Zabowski repeatedly plunged her face into one of the lemon cream pies donated by Mary Dennings Cake Shoppe in Westland "Go, girlfriend - you are jammin' Don't stop, don't stop!"

After two minutes of trying to cram as much pie into her mouth as humanly possible, Zabowski emerged victorious and a little full

"It was cool," she said of her pie-eating experience "I couldn't swallow just enough time to secure a good view-'cause I had so much in my mouth I got it in my nose at first

Thirteen-year-old Plymouth resident John Phillips was just as composed after the contest as he had been prior to the start His simple approach helped him capture a top-three finish

"Just slurp it up, slurp it up," he said, explaining his strategy, adding that occasional pauses for a drink of water helped him consume more pie

But 11-year-old Varun Bharadway of Canton had perhaps the most straightforward approach to the contest

"I just put my face in the pie and tried to lick the plate," he said It worked - Bharadwaj was the third winner of the contest

Shortly after the mass consumption of the cream pies was complete, Guy Lewis and his fast-paced, musical show - the Chautauqua Express - took the stage before a sea of delighted families and interested spectators packed onto the sloping hill that faces the amphitheater Some of the children darting in between blankets before the start of the show sported designs on their hands and

ing spot as well as set up the picnic dinner she had brought for her children Six-year-old Miranda, 4 year-old Madeline and 8 month-old Matthew lounged on a blanket before the start of the

"Momma made the sandwiches," exclaimed Madeline, who was celebrating her birthday that night

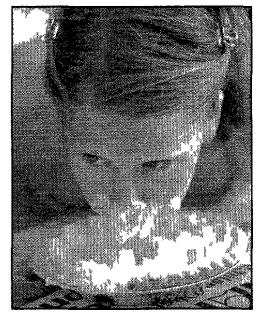

Canton residents Lori and Steve Plate, along with their 5 year old son Connor, have been coming to the Liber ty Fest for years Steve described the event as a chance for 'a bunch of neighborhood friends to get together" Lori said she was looking forward to the show, as she has seen Lewis and Chautauqua Express perform at other venues in the community

"Kıds definitely enjoy it (the show)," she said "He (Lewis) gets them real involved - he's just a silly guy "

Canton Recreation Supervisor Bob Dates was pleased with the crowd turnout for the first night of the Fest

"It's awesome - they filled the hill," he said "We have a great crowd for the movie " Following the Chautauqua Express show, the popular 2001 animated film "Shrek" was shown on the grant amphitheater screen

"It was a nice first night." Dates said

Canton Foot Specialists

HOW TO CARE FOR A PAINFUL BUNION

A bunion is an elonged bone on the side of the big toe that is analed outward. Depending on the severity of the bunion, the big toe may be angled mildly or sharply toward the other toes. Bunions often develop along with other foot problems, including hammer toes, corns and calluses. Bunions can become very painful, and are treated conservatively with wider shoes, orthotics and medications. If unresponsive to conservative care, surgery can be performed to remove the painful bump and realign the toe Nonsurgical Care consists of Medications, Ultrasound, Shoe Changes & Arthotics. See your podiatrist if symptoms persist or other foot problems arise.

Voters face a variety of state and county ballot issues

BY ALEX LUNDBERG STAFF WRITER

alundberg@oe homecomm net When voters go to the polls for the Aug 6 primary they'll have a chance to sign off on local, county and state initiatives while they choose which candidates will appear on the Nov 5 ballot

At the county level, three different proposals dealing with jails, public transportation and education are up for considera-

Wayne County Commission Counsel Ben Washburn said Proposal J is a continuation of the jail operations millage that expires this year

"It paid for the construction of the jail in Hamtramck 14 years ago," he said "It was originally 1 mill, but it was rolled back to 9 mills because of Headlee "

Under the state's Headlee Amendment, the taxable value of a home cannot rise more than the rate of inflation or 5 percent ın a given year — whichever is less The millage was originally approved for 10 years Voters gave the millage a four-year extension in 1998 Proposal J would extend it for another 10 years

Since the building of the jail, the millage money has been used for maintenance and operations there Last year, some of the approximately $32 million brought in yearly by the millage

paid for a new roof

SMART proposal

Proposal S, if passed, would provide funds for Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation through a threesided agreement between Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties It's a county ballot issue, but the county is just the collecting agent for SMART

"If it passes, the money goes directly through us to SMART," Washburn said

The millage request is both a renewal and an increase of the standing SMART millage Previously set at 33 mills, the new request would raise the amount to 6 mills — a 90 percent increase Passage or failure of the proposal will mean different things to different communities

"If one of the counties does not pass the millage, SMART service will end there," Washburn said "It won't change anything for those communities that have already opted out of the system '

Currently, only half of the communities in Wayne County are part of the SMART system Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Wayne and Westland will consider this issue Plymouth and Canton have opted out of

Proposal S isn't the only coun-only vaguely involved with Proposal K, put forward by Wayne County Regional Educational Services Agency, would arrange funds for severely impaired students all around the county

tywide issue that the county is

"It's the right thing to do," said RESA Superintendent Marlene Davis "Special education is underfunded and this is an opportunity to take care of the problem "

In 1974, the federal government mandated that schools must offer special education services, which they would pick up 40 percent of the bill That never happened

"They never went higher than 13 percent," she said "The costs of the rules and regulations have gone forward every year but the funds haven't Local districts have to keep up with the mandate and pay for the difference There's some state money, some federal money, but not enough'

As a result, districts have had to dip into their general funds to cover special education, stripping other programs in the process As time goes by and more and more research goes into the study of learning disabilities, more and more children are classified as having special education needs Proposal K would lessen the monetary burden on districts by adding 1.5 charter mills to the tax rolls A charter millage is permanent

Compensation

State proposal 02-1 would change the way the State Officers Compensation Commission operates If approved, the commission would add the attorney general and secretary of state positions to the list of officials the SOCC regulates They currently have jurisdiction over the salaries of the legislature, governor, lieutenant governor and Supreme Court

It would also change the way the SOCC's recommendations are dealt with in the legislature Currently, the house and senate must approve salary changes by a supermajority (two-thirds) vote If the issue is passed, a simple majority would be required The proposal would also give the legislature the opportunity to lower the amount of a salary change and provide that any changes would take place after the next general elec-

Parks money

The other state proposal, 02-2, would change the way the state's parks system handles its money If approved, the Natural Resources Trust Fund, the Parks Endowment Fund and the Veteran's Trust Fund would be able to invest in stocks, which is proscribed now

It would also raise the Natural Resources Fund cap to $500 million and allow that fund to expend a third of its revenues to reach that new cap It would also allow the State Parks endowment Fund to increase spending to include up to 50 percent of what it receives from the Natural Resources Trust Fund

Vineyard has deep roots in Napa Valley

■ive generations of Napa Valley excellence Only a few wineries can make this claim The Raymond family sunk its roots in Napa Valley in the 1870s

That's almost like ancient history for Napa Valley winemaking that only began to boom 100 years later Walter and Roy Raymond Jr, are the great-grandsons of Jacob Beringer, who founded Beringer Vineyards with his brother Frederick So, you might say winemaking is in the family blood

Prohibition had just been repealed when Roy Raymond, Sr came to the Napa Valley in 1933 Beringer was one of the few surviving wineries and Roy was hired as a cellar worker and eventually, over 37 years, did nearly every job in the winery, from grapegrowing to making the wine

Skills perfected at Beringer by Roy Raymond, Sr, were advanced by his sons Walter and Roy, Jr, who with formal college training, successfully launched the Raymond label in 1974 Fifth generation Napa Valley vintners, Kristi and Craig Raymond, are committed to the future of the winery

Local connection

Much of the future has been guar anteed for nearly two decades by winemaker Kenn Vigoda He grew up in Oak Park, Mich and graduated from Oak Park High School before going on to college and formal wine education

It s this connection that has kept us in touch with Vigoda over most of his tenure at Raymond Vineyard He was in town recently and we met and tast ed his latest wine over lunch at Forte ın Bırmıngham

Vigoda is a scientific winemaker Not flashy No ego, no flambovance He offers straightforward and honest answers to questions about his wines, this time about the Reserve wines, which are made from Napa Valley sourced grapes exclusively

Raymond Reserve Wines

■ 2000 Raymond Reserve Sauvignon Blanc $14 is 100 percent vari etal in a ripe fruit style, mellow and accessible Because some sauvignons have high acidity, they need food to be enjoyed This one is a nice quaff with a broad palate expression and appealing finish

■ 2000 Raymond Reserve Chardonnay $17 sports appley and tropical fruit, nicely accented by oak characters In the mouth, it's rich and broad with gobs of ripe fruit A nice kick of balanced oak returns in the finish

■ 1998 Raymond Reserve Zinfandel $20 is a lighter, very berry, fruit-focused, accessible style Not a blockbuster with high alcohol, it delivers delicious flavors, is very enjoyable and easy to drink

■ 1998 Raymond Merlot Reserve $21 is also a very fruity, generous wine that's likeable, approachable, rich and generous ■ 1999 Raymond Cabernet

Sauvignon Reserve $40 is a rich concentrated, layered wine with an excellent finish and good length

2 tablespoons non fat plain yogurt or sour cream 1 tablespoon mayonnaise

1 teaspoon Dijon style mustard 1/2 teaspoon minced or fresh grated ginger

1/4 teaspoon honey or suga 1 1/2 pounds salmon fillet minced fresh chives or parley

In a small bowl combine the yogurt/sour cream, mayonnaise, mustard, ginger and honey Set aside Rinse the salmon in cold water and pat dry with paper towel Cut salmon into serving-size pieces. Lay the fish in 🦼 a single layer in a pan at least two inches deep Add cold water to cover the fish Lift out fish and bring the water to a boil

Return fish to pan and reduce heat to keep water just barely simmering (a bubble every five to 10 seconds) Simmer until the fish is just slightly translucent in the center — about eight minutes for a fish that's one-inch thick Take the fish from the pan, let drain and pat dry gently with paper towels again

Set the fish on plates and spoon sauce over the top Garnish with chives or parsley

Picnic salad goes with the grain

With summer officially here on June 21, it's time to get the picnic basket out of storage and pack it with tasty, portable foods

Picnics originally meant potlucks gatherings to which each guest brought food The word later became affiliated excursion where food with an was taken along to be eaten outside

Picnics always mean simplicity, good food and good times A hearty salad made with rice, beans and corn is a per-picnic dish and a wonderful high-fiber addition to your diet

Dietary fiber - what used to be called roughage - was for years thought primarily to benefit digestion Recently, however, fiber has been recognized as a key component of a healthful, plant-based diet Research that links cancer prevention to consumption of whole grains, vegetables and fruits is well document-

To reduce the risk of chronic diseases, experts recommend eating 20 to 35 grams of dietary fiber a day That fiber should come from vegetables, fruits and beans as well as whole-grain products

A salad of rice, beans and corn is a good place to start These foods are rich in the nutrients and protective phytochemicals that ward off chronic diseases, like cancer, and many health problems, including osteoporosis

When it comes to rice, brown is the best nutrition choice Its bran layer is intact, providing more fiber, riboflavin, iron and magnesium than white rice Enriched long-grain rice is fortified with thiamin, niacin and iron after milling to replace nutrients lost in processing

Rice-Bean-Corn Salad is delicious main course for a picnic meal All you need to include is a variety of cut-up fresh vegetables and fruits Then grab a blanket and head outside on the next nice day

RICE-BEAN-CORN SALAD

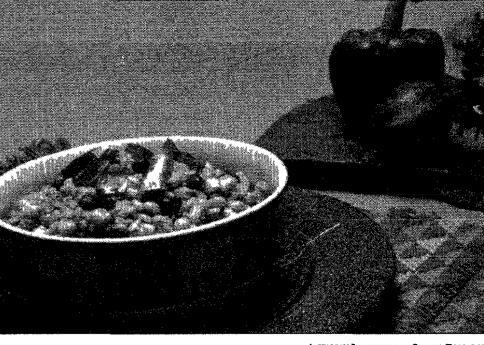

- 2 cups water 2 garlic cloves, minced

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon ground coriander
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup brown rice
- 1 can (15-oz) black beans rinsed and 1 cup corn kernels fresh
- frozen or canned (drained) 6 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro
- 2 tablespoons fresh lime juice Salt and freshly ground black pepper 1 red bell pepper, chopped, drained

In a medium saucepan, bring water, garlic, onion, cumin, coriander and salt to boil Stir in rice, reduce heat to simmer, cover and cook about 40 minutes, or until liquid is absorbed Transfer rice into a large bowl to cool

When rice is completely cooled, stir in beans, corn, cilantro and lime juice Season to taste with salt and pepper Transfer to a large serving bowl Garnish with red bell pepper

Makes 8 servings

Gather a bunch for a fresh produce summer brunch

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spring and early summer are not only packed with specialoccasion celebrations, but they also mark the beginning of a bounty of fresh produce

Take advantage of what s available by using seasonal fruits and vegetables, from fresh herbs to new potatoes they're specially appealing in brunch or lunch dishes Following are a couple of recipes in which they're combined with other ingredients, including milk, cheese and yogurt, to add nutrition along with good taste

Brunch tips:

Serve a variety of foods that everyone can enjoy, perhaps a selection of roasted or grilled vegetables with yogurt dipping sauces, for a refreshing flavor contrast These foods will fill you up _ but won t fill you out

Serve a smoothie made with milk, seasonal fruits and oatmeal Oatmeal not only will give your guests a fiber boost but it also will give your smoothie a creamy shake like consistency

Enhance recipes flavor without adding fat, calories or sodium, by using fresh herbs, like rosemary or thyme, which also make great garmshes

For a simple springtime side salad Drizzle olive oil over fresh mozzarella cubes, finely chopped basil and cherry toma-

A frittata is great for entertaining because it's easy to make on the spur of the moment using ingredients you probably have on hand, like eggs and milk, which add to the flavor and nutrient profile You can make it the day before, refrigerate overnight, then bring to room temperature before serving If you can't find fresh mozzarella in your area. substitute 2 cups of shredded mozzarella from your cheese

HERB FRITTATA WITH FRESH MOZZARELLA AND NEW POTATOES

- 2 tablespoons extra virgin
- alive ail 1 large onion diced
- 6 small new potatoes quar tered or 1 medium pota
- to cut n 1/2 nch cubes 1/3 cup fresh herbs minced or 3 tablespoons dried (try
- rosemary thyme and 12 eggs slightly beaten

1/4 cup fresh bread crumbs 8 ounces fresh mozzarella cheese (about 2 balls) thinly sliced

Salt and pepper to taste

Heat oven to 400° F Heat a 10inch nonstick skillet over medium high heat Add olive oil, onion and new potatoes Cook until potatoes are browned, about 5 minutes Reduce heat to medium and add herbs, stirring just until incorporated

While onions and potatoes are cooking, beat the eggs with the milk and bread crumbs in a large mixing bowl Pour into skillet and stir lightly to mix with the other ingredients Cook until bottom is set, about 2 minutes Place moz zarella cheese rounds in a circle near the rim of the frittata Transfer to oven and bake until top is golden and eggs are firm, about 25 to 30 minutes

remaining batter for later use

- 2 cups fat free milk
- 1 cup polenta
- 4 tablespoons butter cut into 1 tablespoon pieces
- 1 cup flour

rosemary

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder 3 eggs
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 6 green onions sliced thinly 2 tablespoons minced fresh
- Oil to coat skillet or griddle 2 cups chive yogurt (recipe follows)

12 ounces smoked salmon thinly sliced and cut into 2 inch

In a small saucepan, bring cakes a dollop of yogurt and a curl of milk to a simmer and pour over polenta and butter in a large mixing bowl Stir mixture until butter is melted

Set aside to cool In a small mixing bowl, whisk together flour, salt and baking powder and set aside When polenta mixture is cool, whisk eggs and sugar into polenta mixture Add flour mixture and stir to combine Add and combine green onions and rosemary Preheat skillet or griddle until a drop of water dances on the surface Brush with oil and ladle on about 11/2 tablespoons of the mixture to make 3-inch pancakes

Griddle pancakes until their surfaces become dry and bubbly Flip and griddle for a further 30 seconds Transfer finished pancakes onto a cooling rack (if making a day ahead, crisp in the oven before serving, by baking at 200 F for about 45 minutes to an hour)

To serve, arrange pancakes on large serving platter Top with about 1 tablespoon chive yogurt and 1 strip of smoked salmon Experiment with salmon curls and rosettes for an attractive presentation

Makes about 36, 3-inch pan-

CHIVE YOGURT FOR POLENTA PANCAKES

2 cups strained nonfat yogurt (see note)

2 tablespoons finely snipped

Salt and white pepper to taste Stir the chives in the strained yogurt Season with salt and pepper Note Straining yogurt removes some of the liquid, resulting in a thicker consistency similar to sour cream

Line colander or large strainer with a coffee filter or paper tow els and set over a large mixing bowl Pour in two 16-ounce containers plain yogurt and let set until about 2 cups of liquid drain, about an hour or so If you strain the yogurt overnight, the result is yogurt cheese, a lower fat version

- 1 can fine bulgur
- 1/3 cup dried cranberries
- 1 tablespoon grated orange

Marinade

- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 2 /12 tablespoons Tamarı or soy sauce
- 2 1/2 tablespoons maple 1 teaspoon sesame oil (Tahını
- sauce) 1 1/2 tablespoons fresh
- minced ginger

Salmon

- 4 boneless salmon fillets, 6
- oz each 2 leeks trimmed washed and cut into 2 inch long julienne
- 2 carrots peeled and cut into 2 inch long julienne strips
- 1/4 pound Shiitake mush rooms, stemmed and thinly sliced

In a small bowl combine the bul gur cranberries and orange zest

Set aside To make the marinade whisk all the ingredients together in a measuring cup or other con tainer with a pour spout Set aside

To assemble the packets Tear off four 24-inch lengths heavy duty foil, fold each in half to form a 12x18" rectangle and spray with nonstick cooking spray Dividing evenly, place the bulghur mixture in the center of each rectangle Top with the salmon fillets and then scatter the vegetables equally over the fish Begin folding the edges of the foil up and inward to make a bowl around the contents Re-whisk the marinade and pour equal amounts over the vegetables and fish in each packet Seal the packets by continuing to roll the edges tightly inward into the cen ter to completely enclose the fish

- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 6 tablespoons vinegar such as a rich red wine vinegar or balsamic
- 2 teaspoons salt plus a little more for each vegetable
- 1/2 teaspoon pure ground chile powder or cayenne
- 2 small sweet potatoes peeled and each cut into 4 long slices
- 4 medium zucchini each cut into 4 long slices
- 2 small chayote peeled and

- 1 medium eggplant cut into 4 long slices then each slice cut in half widthwise
- 3 bunches green onions trimmed
- 1 pint small ripe cherry toma toes tossed in a bowl with a little oil
- 1 2 tablespoons chopped fresh herbs such as thyme cilantro basil or parslev
- 4 limes cut into wedges

Combine the oil, vinegar 2 teaspoons of salt and the Chile powder in a blender Process until smooth Lightly coat cut veggies with this mix ture Set the remaining vinaigrette beside the grill along with a basting brush and the salt

One by one lay the veggie slices and green onions on the cooking grate (Do this in batches if neces sary so the grill is not crowded) Sprinkle lightly with salt and cook about 5 minutes Turn the veggies over and baste with seasoned vinai grette Cook 3 or 4 minutes longer as soon veggies are done remove from grill and transfer (in a decorative manner) to a platter. The zucchi ni chayote and green onions should be just about tender (but still have good texture) the eggplant will cooked be the center in a couple of minutes the sweet potatoes will be the last to cook through

When all the other veggies are done plane the tomatoes onto the cooking grate to mark and warm through about two minutes Place onto the platter with the other veg gies Sprinkle with chopped herbs decorate with lime wedges and serve hot or at room temperature

Serves 6 as a side dish (styled like an antipasto platter)

Fish is a good grilling meat because its oils prevent dryness even if the edges get a little black It can be grilled in foil to prevent sticking, but keep the foil open a bit so the fish absorbs the grill's flavors

Salmon is the fish of the moment for its supposed health benefits and light-flavor

Recently chefs at Big Buck Brewery in Auburn Hills, known for it's hardy burgers and steaks, added pecan encrusted salmon and grilled salmon to its menu It also added a full bar and other foods too It's goal with the fish is to attract a larger share of adult women and young families

Executive Chef Duane McPherson spent several weeks working with a consultant to develop the new menu at Big Buck Brewery

"Our goal was to develop menus that would appear to a variety of tastes Guests will find their favorite sandwiches and also a variety of fresh fish," McPherson said

Benefit shows 'That's What Friends Are For'

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER lchomin@oe homecomm.net

It's 9 o clock on a Thursday morning and Dionne Warwick is already doing interviews for her upcoming concert at Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts

After 40-years on the pop music charts the voice is unmis takable Always the lady, Warwick is delighted about singing with composer Burt Bacharach Friday, June 28 in a fundraiser for the nonprofit venue that brings in internationally-known performers

Even though they've been friends since the 1950s, it's been more than a year since Warwick and Bacharach have worked together - and the first time they ve appeared on the same Detroit stage on the same night - with a 23-piece orchestra Some time ago, they decided to go their separate ways

Warwick, Bacharach, and composer Hal David were a dynamic hit making team from the early 1960s to early 1970s As part of the Music Hall Cars and Stars fundraiser they will perform some of the songs from their 30 hit singles and 20 best selling albums from those years

"We've known each other a long time," said Warwick 'I've toured with him on and off through the years until realizing we had individual careers We haven t done anything in a while so it will be fun

From Don t Make Me Over the first song recorded in 1962 to winning her first of five Gram mys in 1968 for Do You Know the Way to San Jose Warwick has made a lot of friends in the business who she can call on whenever the need arises In 1985 she and Bacharach united with Elton John Gladys Knight and Stevie Wonder to record That's What Friends Are For as a way to raise millions of dollars for the American Foundation for AIDS Research But she shares the happy times as well To com memorate her 40th year in music, Warwick will release My Friends and Me in November She's in the studio now working on the duet project with James Ingram Kenny Rogers Julio Inglesis Gladys Knight and Elton John

'I asked them to choose their favorite Dionne Warwick song I feel very honored to have them as friends "

This may be the last time for a while that Detroit audiences will be able to see Warwick who divides her time between homes in New Jersey and Brazil She

plans to travel less for concert

I'm going to slow down from the road said Warwick but Ill continue to record as long as peo ple want to hear songs by me

Randy Lee has been listening to Warwick's music for the last three decades Recently she and Music Hall president Sandy Duncan tried to pick their favorites I can t pick just one song when they were doing all those songs in the 70s I loved them all said Lee special events

Deciding to invite Warwick and Bacharach to perform at Music Halls annual major fundraiser was easy for Lee and Duncan They knew this year's event would need to draw as

My Fair Lady worth a trip to Stratford Festival in Canada

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER hgallagher@oe homecomm net

The Stratford Festival is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year with a stunning renovation of the Avon Theatre a broad cross section of Shakespearean fare including a performance by one of the festivals most distinguished alums, an innovative studio theater and a 'loverly" and sexy production of My Fair

The Stratford Festival was officially incorporated in October 1952 On July 13 1953 Alec

Guinness opened the festival in a production of Richard III in a tent theater That season under the bigtop also featured a per formance of All s Well That Ends Well Both plays are being pre sented this season

Shakespeare has always been central to the Stratford Festival and this year the Bard is well represented with both familiar works such as Romeo and Juliet and some less familiar works such as the Henry VI plays In August international star Christopher Plummer will take on the difficult role of King I ear

Corpe Berrul Shaw lated the idea that his irascible Henry Higgins and the lovely Eliza Doolittle would ever get togeth er His play Pygmalion ends with Eliza walking out He later wrote that he thought Eliza and Freddy Eynsford Hill would marry and open a flower shop

That would never do for an American musical so librettist Alan Jay Lerner had Eliza returning to Higgins in My Fair

t seems as soon as sum rolls mer around I feel a need to peruse the outdoor concert listings to see how the next months might progress Growing up, the old Pine Knob Music Theatre

in the Clarkston

area was as much a summer destination as going to the beach

I attended my first-ever con cert there at age 7 It wasn't something classic like The Eagles, they hadn't reunited yet And it wasn't something cool, like The Who It was none other than Rick Springfield supported by, the boy who wore sunglasses at night, Corey Hart It must've made an impression

Some essence of summer is still trapped there, between the concrete pavilion and grassy lawn Memories of meeting Soundgarden just weeks after my high school graduation, of dodging the flying sod during

Pearl Jam's 1992 Lollapalooza set and of the time Soul Asylum's Dave Pirner took the stage barefooted – they all return

I still can't get myself to call the place by its new name, DTE Energy Music Theatre

Times do change So why haven't the concert listings at this summer hot spot? Shows return year after year, as if these bands are still chart toppers Hall & Oates, REO Speedwagon, Foreigner, The Allman Brothers - all sound awfully familiar

Im looking forward to some of the newer fare on the DTE list this season In particular the not-to-be-missed category includes

■ Weezer's Enlightenment Tour with Dashboard Confessional and Sparta on July 12 will satisfy punk-pop, geek-rock and emo fans alıke

■ Moby's traveling electronic party Area:2 comes to town August 6 and includes the legendary David Bowie and superstar DJs like John Digweed and Carl Cox Think of it as a chance to catch up with everyone you met at the Detroit Electronic Music Fest

■ Down From the Mountain, a concert featuring bluegrass music from the film O' Brother Where Art Thou, will feature brilliant artists like Allison Krause and Union Station and Emmylou Harris For the benefit of the Soggy Bottom Boys, let's hope it doesn't rain on June 26

■ Sporto's beware, the Jeep World Outside Festival rivals the Warped Tour by bringing in a bevy of extreme sports for the taking on August 10 Get tips from star athletes while rockclimbing, scuba-diving, mountain-biking and kayaking - all on the grounds at DTE Energy Music Theatre (there, I said it) And get into the groove with performances by Sheryl Crowe, Train, Ziggy Marley, Rubyhorse and Five For Fighting

If you're not exactly ready to scale a climbing wall or you're fresh out of neon toys to flash while dancing to South Side, there are plenty of choices for Detroit rockers to unite

How often can you re-live 1989? With so many glam-metal bands on the roster this is the summer to do it

Tesla, will return July 13 with former Motley Crue frontman Vince Neil, Skid Row and Jackyl Dokken and Ratt co headline July 28 with LA Guns, Firehouse and Warrant I guess we can thank WRIF for making sure Detroit still has a market for this stuff

Riding the nu-metal wave, Ozzfest 2002 won't hold back on August 7, boasting such artists as founder Ozzy Osbourne, and newcomers System of a Down, Drowning Pool - and a raucous performance assured to make vou Party Hard - by Ann Arbor's own Andrew W K

Whatever you choose, it's bound to sound better under the tree branches 'framing" the distant mountain will definitely add extra impact to your picture

Yes, backgrounds can be crucial in the effectiveness of a photograph Backgrounds add to the composition and help set the mood of a picture or they can detract and spoil what could have been a great shot

In addition to careful composi tion a thorough understanding of depth of field is a must Using large apertures especially with a telephoto lens will reduce depth of field and blur out an unwanted background in an out door portrait

Just the opposite a small lens

opening on a normal or wide angle lens will increase depth-offield so that everything in your finished picture will be sharp and in focus

In close-up photography, particularly flowers, a plain, blurred background is important A busy, distracting background will pull attention away from the beauty of the flower

Backgrounds are very important in environmental portraits Effective use of props or locale will make an important difference You say your daughter is into horseback riding? Than take a portrait of her wearing a riding outfit, at the stables, with her horse, and with riding accessories in view Can you visualize the strength such a photograph can have?

Yes backgrounds can make the difference between a strong photograph and an ordinary snapshot That second hard look will reward you with many impact filled shots large a crowd as the Grand Prix Ball did for the last 23 years

"There's no Grand Prix race this summer so we brainstormed with a focus group on what do," said Duncan "The event raised $500,000 to $600,000 every year We decided to make it more music focused. The concert is the centerpiece We hope to sell 500 to 600 of the $300 tickets that include a sit down dinner, cocktails and an afterglow in a party tent along with the stage concert "

The money raised will enable Music Hall to produce another successful season by bringing in performers like Pete Fountain, Smokey Robinson, Ray Charles, and a new show as yet unnamed Since opening its doors in 1928, the venue has presented dance and Broadway style musicals and plays from September to May, and the Ford Detroit International Jazz Festival labor day weekend in Hart Plaza

"New is an auction," added Lee, "with tickets to Hob Nobble Gobble plus the opportuni ty to be on a float in the Thanksgiving Day parade courtesy of The Parade Company, use of a New York apartment for a week, a party for 10 on Music Hall's stage, race packages for the Indy 500 and NASCAR, a Walt Dis ney World package for four, and dinner for eight with the curator of Degas (and the Dance opening Oct 20 at the Detroit Institute of Arts)" taking the lead in the big musical productions but also out standing in dramatic and comic roles She handles the transformation from slum flower girl ("Ahm a gud gurl Ah em") to radiant lady beautifully She sings expressively, handling the rich emotions from the dreamv Wouldn't It Be Loverly to the romantically intoxicated I Could Have Danced All Night to the fiercely angry Just You Wait Henry Higgins

But the real difference in this production is the casting of Colm Feore as Higgins Feore, who has moved from Stratford leading man to international film star, brings relative youth (mid 40s rather than late 50s), good looks, giddy athleticism and a real singing voice to the querulous bachelor He leaps when he's excited, his eyes blaze with emotion He has all of Higgins' irritating self-centeredness but he also has tons of charisma

When Higgins and Eliza celebrate The Rain in Spain, there is definitely some serious chemistry going on, even as Higgins tries to find other words for it in I've Grown Accustomed to Her

Barry MacGregor is amusing and effusive as the kindly Pick ering Laird Macintosh does a fine job singing On the Street Where You Live as Freddy Veteran James Blendick has a good time as Eliza's father Alfred P Doolittle, though he isn't quite vulgar enough in the Stanley Holloway tradition

Director Richard Monette has created a fluid production that suggests rather than shows the Edwardian London setting and that properly plays to the unfulfilled romantic possibilities between his leads Choreographer Donna Feore has done an excellent job in creating movement and style from ball room waltzes to bar room romps Berthold Carriere and orchestra perform Frederick Loewe's great music superbly Feore is one of three Higgins this summer His run ends July 13 Geraint Wyn Davies plays the part July 14 to Sept 14 and director Monette takes over Sept 18 to Nov 10 They have a tough act to follow

The Three Penny Opera

Playwright Bertolt Brecht and composer Kurt Weill created a different kind of musical in The Three Penny Opera It is part polemic, part satire, part music

The musical is set among the denizens of London's criminal community on the eve of Queen Victoria's coronation The dastardly but darkly charming Macheath (Mark the Knife) is courting Polly Peachum, daughter of JJ Peachum, the king of the beggars Peachum doesn't like the dangerous Macheath hanging around his daughter and wants him arrested by police constable Tiger Brown, Mack's friend and admirer

All of this is played for laughs but also as an opportunity for the far left-leaning Brecht to make comment on poverty, government and morality His lyrics and Weill's imaginative score still have a fair share of wit and wisdom Mack the Knife and Pirate Jenny are perhaps the best known songs

A peachy pair: Sheila McCarthy as Mrs Peachum and Feter Donaldson as J.J. Peachum organize the beggars in "The Three Penny Ope ra"

The Stratford production has some good moments though it fails in crucial ways Tom McCa mus isn't quite roguish enough as Mack the Knife Diana Coatsworth's voice doesn't carry as Polly Parts that are meant to be funny instead play flatly

Donaldson and real life wife Sheila McCarthy as the terrible Peachums and they deliver McCarthy is especially amusing as the protective and scheming

Also notable is Blythe Wilson as the leather-wearing Lucy

The comic duties fall to Peter Brown, another of Mack's conquests

The Three Penny Opera continues through Nov 2 at the Avon

Visit Cuba for the music, art and dance

BY JUDITH DONER BERNE SPECIAL WRITER

(Last of a two part series)

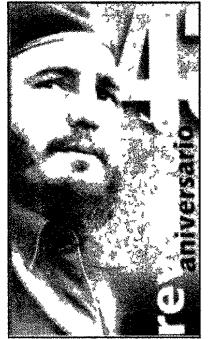

A week in Havana turned out to be one of the most exciting and educational trips I have taken

One thing I learned is that despite its problems, Cuba has a leg up on us Sunday is not the most segregated day of the week

Religion is on the rise in Cuba, and services both in synagogues and churches are attended by Cubans of all colors and ethnicities Cuba, once an atheist country, has been secular since the fall of the Communist bloc

We attended Friday night services at the Patronato Synagogue and Sunday church services at the Luvano Presbyterian Church Both were followed by meals with the leadership and members of the congregations

Restoration of both the synagogue and church was accomplished through donations from congregations in the United States Kirk of the Hills, in Bloomfield Hills, financed the

Poster: Propaganda on billboards, like this one of Che Guevara, is the only advertising allowed in Cuba

wiring, according to our tour managers, Bob and Myrtle Everett of St Clair Shores The Everetts have been conducting group exchanges to Cuba since 1996

Ours was an exchange cosponsored by the Jewish Com munity Center of Metropolitan Detroit and Central United Methodist Church of Detroit

It was at the lunch at Luyano Presbyterian that I saw the first Diet Coke I had spied in Cuba Since nothing can be imported from the United States, it had been bottled and brought in from Mexico As a Diet Coke addict, I had reconciled myself to drinking tea even though you can get traditional Coke (also from Mexico) rather easily But, two days into the trip, I found that the Nacional Hotel, where we stayed, had a product called Tu Cola Dietetic that, when spiced with a lemon or lime, was palat

Of course the drink of hard choice in Cuba is the mojito, made with sugar, lime juice, light Cuban rum, soda water and a sprig or two of mint

You don't go to Cuba to eat, the Everetts warned us in our pre-trip documents So every decent meal was a bonus

We enjoyed family-style dining at El AlJibe, featuring a typical Cuban meal of the dark meat of chicken, rice and beans and the slivered cabbage, cucumber and carrot salad that we ran into everywhere We had another sat isfying dinner at Dr s Cafe, one of the privately-owned restau rants called "paladors" the state allows to operate in an individu al's home And one night we splurged and went to La Torre, which serves pretty good conti nental fare, at the top of FOCSA, Havana s tallest (35 sto ries) building

The huge building is all but empty with a dollar market occupying a tiny section of its first floor and the restaurant at the top Otherw so the former luxury apartment building is

Luyano church's electrical supposedly awaiting renovation although we were told that the last few residents won't move out The heralded view from the top is of a dimly-lit city, hard hit by electrical shortages

> Of course, ordinary Cubans don't have the means to eat out They are on a rationing system that allots them, for example, eight eggs, five pounds of rice, a quarter of a chicken, and milk for children up to age eight, on a per person monthly basis at a subsidized rate

Everyone here is poor, but nobody here has hunger,' Dr Jose Miller, the president of the Patronato Synagogue told us

That was seconded by Dora Arce, the first female pastor of Luyano Presbyterian 'When you talk about starving, I don't know what you're talking about," she said 'It's not a social problem in Cuba We don't think about it

But what they must think about is the absolute scarcity of product — whether it be the lack of variety in food on their tables, the shortage of books, pencils and paper in the schools, and the lack of prescription medicines for their highly-touted medical sys-

Just consume what you need,' is one of the socialist slogans you see on the only signage in Cuba government billboards They, very frankly, have no choice

Still, the Cubans we met were a wistful, but not unhappy people As they wait for things to change, a main outlet appears to be their art, dance and music

The street art on display in the flea markets was among the best I ve seen in any country And the finest museum that we visited is the new, first-class Museum of Contemporary Cuban Art We werent lucky enough to see a ballet performance, but the Ballet de Nacional de Cuba is world renown Then, of course there's the music popularized through the film and recording of The Buena Vista Social Club

We couldn't believe our good

Mural: Renowned Cuban painter Salvador Gonzalez painted this block-long mural as a tribute to the Afro-Cuban culture He makes occasional visits the United States where he sells his work for five times what it costs in Cuba

Offense carries Bucks to easy win over Edge

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS EDITOR cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

The opponent changes So does the location of every other "home" game for the Mid-Michigan Bucks

But the results stay pretty much the

On Thursday at Plymouth Canton HS - one of four sites the Bucks will use for their home matches this season four players found the back of the net to lead the Bucks past the West Michigan Edge, 4-1, in a Premier Development League Great Lakes Division soccer

The win boosted Mid-Michigan's record to 8-2-1, solidifying their secondplace status in the division. The Edge shpped to 4-6

While the victory was a convincing one, the Bucks' performance did not particularly please their coach, Dario Brose

"Even if you look at today's game, (the Edge) had the first great chance," he said "If they score, we'd have to chase them and things could have been much different'

It was a typical start for the Bucks The Edge looked quicker to the ball for the first 15 minutes, dominating for the most part in the midfield Unfortunately for the West Michigan side, Eric Pogue (from Troy Athens) was in goal for the Bucks

Mid-Michigan survived its shaky start - something that's become a habit for them - and managed to get on the board first in the 28th minute, thanks to some rather sloppy play by the Edge Ryan Mack (Birmingham Seaholm) penetrated down the left wing and crossed the ball to Pat Noonan, positioned 18 yards out directly in front

Noonan placed his shot past a diving Gabe Hall keeper for the Edge to put the Bucks up 1-0

Thirteen minutes later, Noonan who plays with Mack at Indiana University and was named Big Ten player of the year — got into the scoring act again, breaking loose down the left side and then looping the ball over the Edge defender marking Paul Snape It was a perfect set Snape volleyed the pass into the goal and the Bucks were up 2-0

In the second half, the Edge seemed to fade in the 80-degree heat It didn't help that two starters were lost earlier in the match

In the 72nd minute, Mike White (Livonia Stevenson) — who had subbed in just a few minutes earlier — went on a run right down the middle of the field, and teammate Tino Scicluna (Redford/Detroit Country Day) found him, springing him on a breakaway

Hall tried to reach the ball first, but White beat him to it, popping his shot over the charging keeper and into the net to make it 3 0

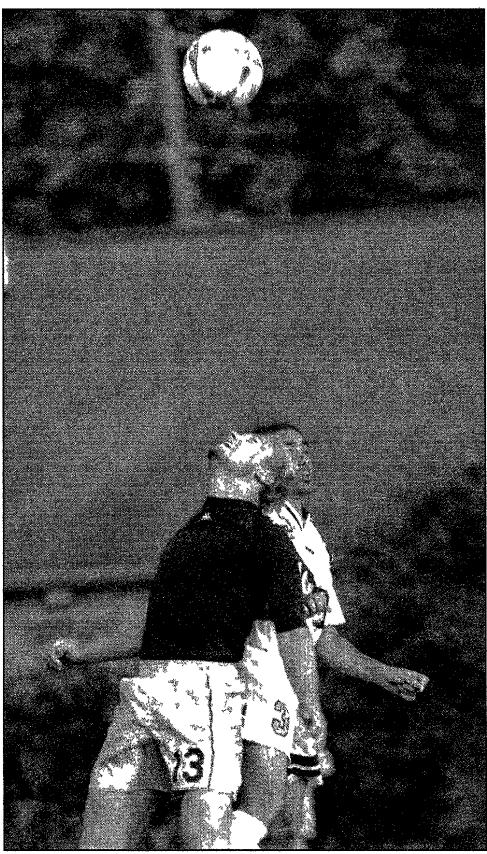

It took just six minutes for the Bucks to put another on the board as the Edge put more emphasis on their attack Mychal Turpin (University of Michigan) took a pass from Kyle Veris and beat three defenders — including the keeper - to boost Mid-Michigan's lead to 4-0

With just 12 25 left, the lead was safe The only remaining question was if the Bucks' defense could hold up

It couldn't Although they boast one of the divison's best records, defensive breakdowns occur all too often

With just over four minutes left in the match, an Edge player who was quite familiar with the Canton field — Scott Duhl, a Plymouth Salem grad now at Western Michigan University — took advantage of a Bucks' defense that could not clear the ball from in front of their goal, scoring out of a scramble to make ıt 4 1 has seemingly little to offer but cheap prod-

Both Dan and his brother, Jim, have been soccer fans since attending Redford Catholic Central Now they're co-owners of the Mid-Michigan Bucks, the local Premier Development League franchise that plays its home games at Birmingham Seaholm and Plymouth Canton

While Jim serves as the team's general manager, Dan provides financial and, well, vocal support He is the voice of the Bucks, the one you hear over the loudspeaker at home games

Dan wouldn't miss a Bucks' game unless it was absolutely imperative — which it was when he traveled to Seoul for the World Cup soccer tournament Making a trip to France four years ago would have offered similar attractions not the Eiffel Tower or Louvre, but the same world-renowned tournament

It wasn't easy getting tickets, not in a city of 14 million people, most of them crazy about the sport Duggan saw eight games while he was there, including the first four US team games He couldn't stay for the American's match against Germany

"I've been gone two weeks I had some work to do," he said with a smile prior to the Bucks' game Thursday against the West Michigan

Getting a chance to see the best the US has to offer in soccer, on the world's greatest stage, was certainly something special, especially when reaching that level is the goal of all the players on the team you operate

But the stage itself also provided an educa tion of sorts The stadiums where games were played ranged in size from 40,000 to 68,000, tickets went from $100 to $150 per game in the opening round to between $175 and $250 for the US second-round game against Mexi-

There were a lot more people in Korea who wanted to watch the games than available seats, but accommodations were made for

"When the Korean team played, there were three million people watching the game in the street," Duggan noted "They had these 40foot high TVs all over town, in 250 locations outdoors

"It was crazy "

It was also a bit crazy hanging with the US team players, who rode an emotional rollercoaster throughout their stay

"It was fun to see how their attitudes changed after each game," Duggan said "After the first game (a win over Portugal),

Under a blazing hot June sun, the elite baseball players of the Class of 2002 gathered for one last game before their careers and lives take them on widely divergent paths Thursday, the best senior baseball players took part in their last high school-related event, the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association All Star Game at Comerica Park in Detroit A looping single by Farmington Harrison's Drew Stanton in the 10th inning gave the East team a 7-6 win over the West Players from the Observer and ALL-STARS

Eccentric areas dominated the East squad, filling out six of the nine positions in the starting lineup, including starting pitcher Randy Frye from Lake Orion and shortstop Stanton Area players in the game also included Stan Cieslak from Auburn Hills Avondale, Mark Hanson from Plymouth Canton, Mike Hudson from Detroit Country Day, Michael Markey from Orchard Lake St Mary's, Ryan Rogowski from Redford Catholic Central and Gary Rosenberg from West Bloomfield

Several of those players are heading out to college careers, while Frye signed his first pro contract a few hours after the game, with the Seattle Mariners, the team that drafted him in the fourth round of the amateur draft earlier this month

Frye said he purposely waited to sign his contract in order to play in the game Two years ago, his thenteammate Ryan Goleski was named MVP of the game Goleski has gone on to break several offensive records at Eastern Michigan University

Frye pitched the first two innings of the game, striking out two while allowing one run and one hit, walking three

Pats' coach Barker earns her keeps

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER bemons@oe.homecomm.net

Jenny Barker has the pedigree to run a successful girls soccer

Though she is only 22 years of age, the second-year coach from Livonia Franklin played on a pair of state championship teams at Livonia Stevenson High and was an NAIA All-America goalkeeper at Madonna University

Those experiences and knowledge proved to be invaluable for Barker, who led the Patriots to a remarkable turnaround this season

Franklin finished 2-10-3 in Barker's first season as head coach, but this year the Patriots proved to be more than formidable with an 11-6-2 record Franklin, which started as many as four freshman, also beat rival Churchill for the first time ever and tied Plymouth

It was only the second winning season in school history for girls soccer at Franklin

For her efforts, Barker was named Observerland Coach of the Year

"A lot of it was the talent of the freshmen, who brought up everyone's level of play," said Barker, an All State keeper who helped Stevenson win the 1997 and 1998 state crowns "The girls worked hard and they never would give in They would persevere night in and night out because they wanted to do something special "

Barker spent two years as an assistant before taking the varsity coaching reins at Franklin The three-time All-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference selection is currently attending Madonna where she is majoring in math and secondary educa-

"We've had a couple of significant classes come in," Barker said "And we have a good crop of players coming back, not only with our freshmen, but also some of our JV players look promising"

That bodes well for the Patri ots, who hope to move up the ladder again next season in the Western Lakes Activities Associ

This year's All Observer squad is dominated by the WLAA, which gobbled up nine of the 11 first-team spots

Katie Rozum, MF, Liv Ladywood Scored the game winning goal in Lady wood s first ever district championship victory against North Farmington in the Division I final

Rozum one of the teams only two seniors made both All-Catholic and sec ond team All State in Division II She was one of the big reasons why Ladywood finished the year 9 5-5 overall losing to Division II state runner up and Catholic League champion Birmingham Marian in the regional semifinals at Fen

Erica Rose, MF, Farmington Rose was named to the Division II all state first team after playing a key role for the Fal cons during an 863 season in which they tied Salem for second place in the WLAA Lakes Division

The junior midfielder is a three year starter who scored 11 goals and assist ed on seven others this year. She was first team all conference and all region

She's basically our playmaker and the one who controls the midfield for us " coach Steve Montgomery said She's a good distributor of the ball and obvious ly a good shooter

"She s just a good all round player She can play any position on the field She's also a very durable player and a very intelligent player

Jordan Falcusan, MF Ply Salem Fal cusan is part of Salem's promising future. Just a sophomore, she has elevated her game enough to earn all confer ence all district all region and third team all state. She s established herself enough to be selected as one of the team s captains next year

Falcusan filled many roles for the Rocks this season. She scored three goals and assisted on five others while concentrating mainly on defense

Jordan's job if we were worried about a player on another team she d mark them out of the game " said Rocks coach Joe Nora Wherever we needed to upgrade - outside midfield center mid field --- we d put her there

Her No 1 skills are her speed and toughness She has great fitness Marissa Sarkeslan, MF, Ply Salem Sarkesian combined with Falcusan to give Salem the best one two midfield punch in the conference And like Falcu san Sarkesian is just a sophomore who has already been named a team co-captain for next season

Sarkesian however was more an offensive threat in fact she was Salem's offense much of the time She scored 12 goals and asisted on five others gathering all-conference all-district all region and third team all state honors

She brings an outstanding scoring threat said Salem coach Joe Nora For other teams she was their main con cern She had a hand in most of our goals this year

"We asked a lot of her and she didn t complain She just did it "

As for her play with Falcusan Nora said "They work really well together And they don t take the credit they don t take anything away from the team

The 2002 Dream Team All State select tion is only a sophomore who led the Spartans to the state semifinals She finished with 20 goals and 12

game she plays in Pinta said She drew attention against every team we played this year which created opportuni ties for others Melissa is a student of the game

She loves to practice and get better She II take more of a leadership role as she enters her junior season next Stephanie Johnson, F, Ply Canton

Perhaps the best news for Johnson is that her soccer career is anything but over A senior she will play at Western Michigan University in the fall

An all conference selection Johnson led the Chiefs in scoring with 16 goals and seven assists. Thirteen of her goals were scored in conference play. A team co-captain she was also all district all region and honorable mention all state

"She was definitely our main go-to per son this year said Canton coach Don Smith "She was our main scorer we looked forward to going to

"In big ball games she played 80 min utes She never even had a chance to

She also carried a 3 8 grade point

Kyle LaPorte, F, Liv Churchill The sophomore finished the year with 15 goals and seven assists scoring against nine of 11 WLAA opponents

LaPorte made both All WLAA and Divi sion I All Region

Kyle was always dangerous she was the focal point of our offense Churchill coach Dave Hebestreit said. She has both speed and abity yet she's a very unself sh player little high It was quite an experience to step out here and play on the same field that some of the great play ers in the game have played

Rogowski, who has a list of high school awards and accomplishments as long as his arm, also has baseball in his future

He will play next year at either the University of Michigan, or John Logan Community College in Illinois While he was autographing baseballs for young fans after the game, he said every moment of the all star game was a thrill

"This is such a talented group of ballplayers, it was great to play in the same game as they did," he said "I didn't have the year I expected out of myself, but one of my goals was to play in this game, because it recognizes the best players in center field and pitched for the Shamrocks, started the game in right field and went 0-for 2 with a walk at the plate, hitting in the No 4 slot in the order

Hanson, who played first base in the game and pitched for the Chiefs, will also be heading to Michigan State next season, playing

He earned his spot in the game with a season that saw him hit 460 with six home runs and five wins as a pitcher

The atmosphere of playing at a professional ballpark was amazing," Hanson said "I didn't have a clue I'd get picked for this game until they called last week It feels special to be placed with these great players" Hanson went 0-for-2 at the plate

Rosenberg and Markey picked up back-to-back hits in the bottom of the second Rogowski, who played inning, helping the East to get on the scoreboard after the West took a 1-0 lead Both players scored on a two-run single by Evey to make it a 2-1 game after two innings Rosenberg later walked in the eighth inning to load the bases, only to see the East's twoout rally fall short

Hudson, a standout for the Yellow Jackets in his career, pitched the third and fourth innings and was very effective, allowing just one baserunner and striking out one batter

Cieslak, who led Avondale to an excellent season that included a district championship, singled home a run in the fifth inning to tie the game 3-3, and later flew out in the seventh

He said some players that carried a quiet confidence into the game turned into giddy grade school players once they entered the ballpark, realizing what an opportunity this was

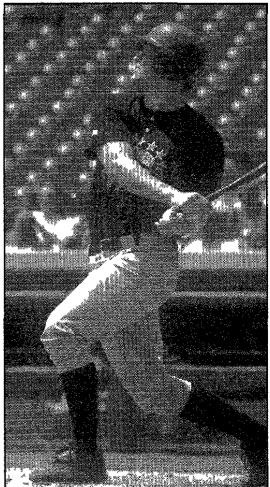

"You could tell there were a few guys who were quiet, but once they got out here, we were all like Little Leaguers again," Cieslak said

"When you're at bat, you just try to focus on the job you have in front of you, but it's hard to forget about where you are In the dugout, a bunch of us were trying to sit in the same spot we saw Derek Jeter sitting in a couple weeks ago "

Jeter played in this game 10 years ago, and has gone on to a storybook Major League career with the New York Yankees

Maybe none of the players in this year's game will get the experience of playing in the major leagues, or winning four World Series rings like Jeter has

But for many of them, just by playing in this game, their baseball careers have already become the stuff fairy tales are made of

Although the win was assured, the late score meant that the Bucks have yet to record a shutout in 11 matches The 19 goals they've given up is the sec ond highest total in the division (although through Thursday they had played more matches than any other divisional rival)

If we re going to make a run this year we can't give up goals like that said Brose of the late goal by the Edge And Pogue is playing great (in goal) We lost last weekend 4 1 to Chicago, but it could have been 15 1

"We re making quite a few indi vidual mistakes, but mainly two things are lacking We're not clearing (the ball) out of the back, chose not to leave instead staying to and we're not getting consistent play at center midfield I think I've used 10 different players

"We make average midfielders look like stars No one's stepped up in that spot

Its a concern, to be sure But as Brose pointed out, "I'd rather be firing on all cylinders at the end of the year

NOTE The e were two rather engthy nury delays in the first half both to Edge players. The second to Andrew Schonley was particularly disturbing. Schonley stayed down on the field for quite a while then was taken off on a stretcher. It was learned he had a heart condition, he had that At halftime police and two ambu lances arrived at the field but Schonley watch the remainder of the match

'After the third game (a loss to Poland), they were saying, 'Boy, did we screw up' But then when they qualified (for the second round) anyway, they were saying 'What the heck We did what we had to do We got a win and a tie and moved ahead

"Then after the Mexico win, they were crazy again " After the Bucks' victory over the Edge Thursday, Duggan — a Livonia native who now lives out, side Cleveland — stayed in town until Friday morning, when the Bucks hosted a breakfast party to watch the US quarterfinal match against Germany Had the Americans pulled off the miracle and upset the Germans, Duggart said he would have returned to Korea for their Cup semifinal

He won't be making the trip now, although no doubt he wishes he could have

MEDICAL BRIEFS

Drug costs

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan is providing cost-comparison information on 25 of the most common brand name drugs with generic counterparts on its Web site at www bcbsm com/generic/

The information was originally developed as a handy reference card for physicians. To reach more consumers, the Blues has posted the card on its. Web site. The card lists the average wholesale price for the brand name drugs and the price the Blues pay for the generic form of the drugs.

The cards can help consumers without health insurance as well Prices of individual drugs can vary, sometimes dramatically, depending on the pharmacy It is recommended that consumers use a single pharmacy to obtain all of their medications if possible, which helps in tracking the use of multiple prescriptions and avoiding drug interactions

Generics are less expensive than brand-name drugs and must meet the Food and Drug Administration's standards for safety and quality Manufacturers must prove their products have the same effect as brand-name drugs

Medical study

A Wayne State University School of Medicine study shows that American physicians are more likely than their Canadian counterparts to administer a drug to stroke patients that has been proven ineffective and potentially dangerous

Dr Seemant Chaturvedi, WSU associate professor of neurology, surveyed 290 US and 283 Canadian neurologists about their reactions to patients in five different scenarios as well as their attitudes about the legal implications of their actions US neurologists were significantly more likely to administer intravenous heparin, a blood thinner that has been proven ineffective and potentially dangerous in about 2 percent of cases where bleeding in the brain develops as the result of heparin use

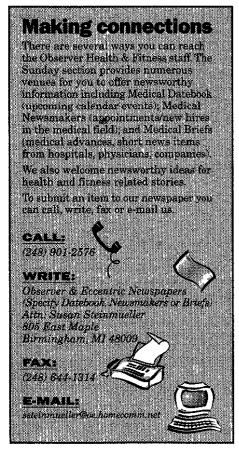

Thirty three percent of American doctors versus 11 percent of Canadi an doctors cited medico legal factors as a potential influence on the decision-making involved in administering IV heparin

Breast cancer

An experimental internal radiation therapy for early-stage breast cancer patients studied at Beaumont Hospital has been approved by the Food and Drug Administration Beaumont was among the first in the world to treat patients using the MammoSite Radiation Therapy System

The treatment delivers radiation directly to the site of the removed tumor and the area immediately surrounding it, where the vast majority of tumors recur The treatment decreases the duration of radiation therapy from seven weeks to five days, and avoids treatment to healthy breast tissue and reactions to external beam radiation such as skin irritation.

Only 40 percent of eligible breast cancer patients are treated with a lumpectomy compared with mastectomy, or removal of the breast Another benefit to MammoSite's shorter treatment time is preventing the delay of chemotherapy, if that treatment is necessary

Rob Ritter, pool supervisor for Westland Parks and Recreation, says he and other lifeguards battle a double dose of the sun—once from above and a second time when the rays reflect back up from the water to the stand where they keep watch

He wears sunscreen with a Sun Protective Factor of 45

"I make sure to drink a lot of water and to take breaks out of the sun, because we are open from 12-7 p m and from 12 to 4 are the peak sun hours," he said "It can get pretty hot out there"

Ritter recommends that his lifeguards wear sunscreen with at least 15 SPF and tries to make sure they drink enough water to stay hydrated

"We close the pool from 3-4 p m They can do what they want, and they're not constantly in the sun," he said

Michelle DuMars, Livonia recre ation supervisor, worked as a lifeguard for six years and always made sure she wore sunglasses and a hat or visor, applied sunscreen twice a day and made sure the umbrella was up over her stand

"It became routine' she said

Ritter and DuMars follow many of the doctor recommended suggestions to avoid the negative effects of the sun

Applying sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15 about 20 minutes before exposure with spe cial attention to ear rims, back of the neck and tops of the feet,

■ Limiting exposure during mid day when the sun's rays are the most direct, and ■ Conducting self-exams, looking for cancerous spots and going to a dermatologist to have

suspicious-looking spots checked

Doctors aren't saying to avoid the sun altogether, but too much exposure to solar rays is linked to wrinkles and skin cancer

Researchers say the sun's rays are more deadly than ever before because the depleted ozone layer – which acts as a protective screen – has been thinning Last year 9,800 people in the United States died from skin cancer, according to the American Academy of Dermatology More than 1 million new cases of skin cancer will be diagnosed this year

"I've been seeing more people with melanoma," said Dr Arthur Gulick who has a dermatology practice in Plymouth

Children who get sunburns before 18 have a three fold chance of getting cancer, said Dr Ali Moiin of A Comprehensive Dermatology Center in Livonia and Troy

Cancer

"We seem to be sun worshippers not reflecting on the dangers of sun exposure, said Dr Michelle Hardaway a Southfield plastic surgeon "Two main categories of people are gen erally at risk of contracting skin cancer Those that sun bathe and people who work outdoors such as highway construction workers landsca pers and others

The three most common kinds of skin cancer are basal cell carcinoma, which accounts for about 80 percent of all skin cancers in the United States, squamous cell carcinoma, and melanoma, the most dangerous form of skin cancer

The basal type is "quite treatable," said Gulick, adding that this type of cancer tends to have a reddish look

"Melanoma is the most aggressive and most deadly," he said, explaining that the cancerous cells have a great propensity to break off and go to distant parts of the body "That's why it's so important to detect it and treat it early on"

M Gulick recommends checking the skin of your entire body with a full-length mirror three or four times a year and to look for new spots and changes in old ones.

Gulick recommends checking the skin of your entire body with a full-length mirror three or four times a year and to look for new spots and changes in old ones. Use a smaller mirror, to reflect in the larger one, to view your back. If the job seems too cumbersome ask someone for help, he added.

Melanoma is characteristically black or dark brown When checking your body you might use the acronym, ABCD, to help you remember what to look for Asymmetric shapes Borders that are irregular Color that is dark, but can also be pink, whitish or bluish Diameter that is wider than a pencil eraser

There are some exceptions to the rules, said Moiin For instance, dark-skinned people aren't risk free and the cancer isn't always dark in color However, fair skinned people are at the highest risk

A few months ago Gulick treated a man with a large pink area on his

"It looked strange to me and we took a biopsy," he said "Sure enough it was (cancerous) We've been able to prove that sunscreens have been able to prevent certain kinds of skin cancer, but some folks are worried that sunscreens will encourage some people to stay out in the sun longer and they will get more sun than they normally would"

Protecting against risks

Sun exposure can be risky for skin appear ance, causing premature wrinkling Chronic sun exposure causes an accumulation of elastin under the skin which can cause wrinkles

According to Fnviionmental Health & Safety Online Avoid sunlamps and tanning parlors Sun beds damage the skin and unprotected eyes and are best avoided entirely At the very least, they age your skin by breaking down the colla gen in your skin, making it lose the youthful elastic appearance"

There are also people who get rashes when exposed to the sun They may be allergic to the rays and should avoid the sun altogether Only between 5-10 percent of the US population has this problem, and many don't even know that's why they're getting the rashes, Moin said

Basically, the goal is to avoid suntans and especially sunburns, said Moiin, who also works out of Harper Hospital in Detroit

Another precaution is to wear clothing and sunglasses with ultraviolet protection labels, like those provided by Solar Zone Sunware, which claims to provide 98 percent or more protection of UV

Some clothing dyes, like those offered by RIT, also offer added filters from the sun

After protecting yourself from the risks, consider that the sun also provides a lot of benefits, like giving our bodies Vitamin D and by having a dramatic affect on our moods. Some people are influenced more than others by the sun. They are considered to have seasonal affective disorder, SAD.

"Going outside in the sun and doing everything outside is good for us, especially for Michigan people," Moiin said "How much time do we have to do it?"

Heart attack

Knowing the warning signs can save your life

Father's Day is over, but it's not too late to give Dad the gift of a lifetime. It won't cost you a cent, just your time. Take your dad out to lunch and talk about the warning signs of a heart attack and stroke. It may just save his life.

Ron Young of Plymouth is a 57-year-old man with two grown children and two grandchildren Except for high blood pressure, he never had any health problems Lucky for him, however, he recognized the warning signs of a heart attack and got the help he needed

Ron began having chest pains one day When they continued, he went to his doctor, who sent him directly to the emergency room Ron was in the process of having a heart attack A few days later, he was in the operating room undergoing an angioplasty procedure to clear out several blocked arteries. If Ron had not gone to his doctor when he did, he may not be here to tell about his experience

"I encourage all men to learn the warning signs of a heart attack and take action," he said

Ron's action also saved the life of his twin brother, Bob, who lives in Florida When Bob found out what happened to Ron, he went straight to his doctor and requested a stress test. He was told he had a potentially fatal blockage in the left main artery. Bob is lucky. The blockage was corrected by a double coronary bypass. His surgery was in March, and Bob is now back to work.

"My brother had no symptoms, so I am glad he saw his doctor when he did," said Ron s doctor when he did," said Ron Bob's doctor predicted he probably would have died

Minds of Medicine on 'Living with Diabetes' Heart from page C6

A presentation of Minds of Medicine Living with Diabetes will air at 8 30 pm Thursday, June 27, on WXYZ-TV/Channel

The program is part of a series locally produced in cooperation with WXYZ-TV/Channel 7 and Henry Ford Health System The series provides an inside look at the doctors and nurses at one of the nation's top-rated hospitals as they make critical decisions that extend and even save lives

Minds of Medicine Living with Diabetes will feature how diabetics, such as former Miss America 1999 Nicole Johnson, struggle to keep their disease under control Johnson, 28, was diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes when she was 19 Today, she uses a pump that injects insulin directly into her bloodstream instead of having to give herself shots four times a

Fred Hammond, an internationally known gospel recording artist from Detroit and Michael Squires, 22, who was diagnosed with diabetes at the age of 17, talk about living with Type 2 diabetes

Diabetes facts

The statistics on diabetes, the sixth leading cause of death in the United States, are alarming 16 million Americans have diabetes and 5 million Americans suffering from diabetes don't know they have

Warning signs/symptoms

- Increased thirst ■ Increased hunger, especially after eating
- Frequent urination
- Unexplained weight loss Tiredness
- Blurred vision

Risk factors

- Family history
- Race or ethnic background, risks are greater in African Americans, Hispanics, Native Americans and Asians
- Being overweight ■ Hypertension (high blood pressure)
- Abnormal cholesterol lev-
- Age, risk increases as one gets older
- Smoking
- Heavy alcohol use

from a massive heart attack if he had not gone to the doctor when

The American Heart Association encourages all men and their families to learn the warning signs for heart attack and stroke and what to do when the warning signs occur

Some heart attacks are sudden and intense – the typical "movie" heart attack, where no one doubts what's happening But most heart attacks start slowly, with mild pain or discomfort Often the person affected isn't sure what's wrong and waits too long before getting help

Here are some of the signs that may mean a heart attack is happening

■ Chest discomfort Most heart attacks involve discomfort in the center of the chest that lasts for more than a few minutes, or that goes away and comes back It can feel like uncomfortable pressure, squeezing, fullness or pain

Discomfort in other areas of the upper body. Symptoms can include pain or discomfort in one or both arms, the back, neck, jaw or stomach

■ Shortness of breath. This feeling often comes along with chest discomfort But it can occur before the chest discom-

Other signs. These may include breaking out in a cold sweat, nausea or lightheaded-The warning signs for stroke ınclude

■ Sudden numbness or weakness of the face, arm or leg, especially on one side of the body ■ Sudden confusion, or trouble speaking or understanding ■ Sudden trouble seeing in one or both eyes

■ Sudden trouble walking, dizziness, loss of balance or coordination

Sudden severe headache with no known cause

If your dad notices any of these signs, tell him to call 9-1-1 immediately And instruct other family members what to do in case of a cardiac emergency There are many treatments available

Wear good shoes and take a friend walking

Here are some Weight Watchers tips for successful walking routines

■ Be sure the shoe fits. It's unlikely that at the first sign of blisters or chaffing, you'll pack up your walking routine for good So invest in a good, well-fitting walking shoe with a durable sole and supportive arches, along with a comfortable sock that doesn't rub Once you've found the right shoe, break it in slowlytoo much, too soon can also leave you with blister-covered

■ Invest in all-weather gear. Don't let bad weather be your excuse not to get out Select clothing that will pro tect you from the elements For winter this means layer ing fabrics that will wick sweat away from the skin while insulating you against the frigid temperatures For summer choose comfortable shorts that won't ride up and tons that can keep you cool If you're walking at night, be sure to wear reflective cloth

■ Buddy up. The surest way to stick to your walking routine is to do it with a partner You'll feel obligated to show up when someone else is counting on you[†] Besides, it's a great way to catch up with your best friend or relative

■ Stick to your schedule. If you're a morning person, get up and go as soon as you hop out of bed Or if strolls after dinner are more your speed, clear the dishes and get moving It doesn't matter when you walk, as long as you do it when you're likely to stick with it If you hate getting up when the alarm rings, chances are, your morning walks will soon be a distant memory

■ Add mileage gradually and keep track of your improvements. Gradually increase your time or distance each week As you add more time and mileage, keep a daily log to note all of your progress It's a great way to stay motivated and see how far you've come

■ Stay in alignment. Bad posture is a frequent culprit that can lead to inefficient walking, so prevent droopy shoulders by imaging that a string is pulling your head straight up, with your eyes focused about 10 to 20 feet ahead of you And don't forget to keep your abdominal mus cles tight which will help to tone your stomach muscles and support your back

■ Don't leave home without the essentials. Tote a bottle of water so you won t get thirsty And why not lis ten to some tunes while you walk? Music can inspire you to keep moving and can make the minutes pass in no time at all Finally, consider carrying a pedometer, which will track not only how far you've gone, but also how much time it took to do so You can challenge yourself to go further or do your workout in less time

■ Know when to take a break. Sure, walking and exercise are great for you, but taking a day off can be equally as healthful If you're injured or sick, don't push yourself, as your body needs time to recover from its ailments Doing too much can be just as detrimental as doing nothing at all And in giving yourself a day off, you'll find that you'll enthusiastically look forward to getting back to your daily walks

Fibromyalgia pain isn't all in patients' heads firms scientifically what fibromyalgıa patients have been telling a skeptical medical com munity for years They're really ın paın

In fact, the study finds, people with fibromyalgia say they feel severe pain and have measura ble pain signals in their brains, from a gentle finger squeeze that barely feels unpleasant to people without the disease The squeeze's force must be doubled to cause healthy people to feel the same level of pain, and their pain signals show up in different brain areas

The results, published in the current issue of Arthritis & Rheumatism, the journal of the American College of Rheumatol ogy (ACR), may offer the proof of fibromyalgia's physical roots that many doubtful physicians have sought It may also open doors for further research on the still unknown causes of the dis ease which affects more than 2 percent of Americans mainly

Lead authors Richard Gracely Ph D and Dr Dariel Clauw who did the study at Georgetown University Medical Center and the National Institutes of Health, are now continuing the work at the University of Michi gan Health System In an edito rial in the same issue, Clauw and U-M rheumatologist Dr Leslie Crofford stress the impor tance of fibromyalgia research and care

Connecting

To correlate subjective pain sensation with objective views of brain signals, the researchers used a super fast form of MRI brain imaging, called functional MRI or fMRI, on 16 fibromyalgıa patients and 16 people without the disease As a result, they say, the study offers the first objective method for corroborat ing what fibromyalgia patients

A new brain scan study con-report they feel, and what's going on in their brains at the precise moment they feel it And, it gives researchers a road map of the areas of the brain that are most – and least – active when patients feel pain

'The fMRI technology gave us a unique opportunity to look at the neurobiology underlying tenderness, which is a hallmark of fibromyalgia," says Clauw "These results, combined with other work done by our group and others, have convinced us that some pathologic process is making these patients more sensitive For some reason, still unknown, there's a neurobiologi cal amplification of their pain signals

History

For decades patients and physicians have built a case that fibromyalgıa ıs a specific diag nosable chronic disease charac terized by tenderness and stiff ness all over the body as well as fatigue headaches gastrointesti nal problems and depression Many patients with the disease find it interferes with their work family and personal life Statis tics show that far more women than men are affected, and that it occurs mostly during the child bearing years

The ACR released classifica tion criteria for fibromyalgia in 1990, to help doctors diagnose it and rule out other chronic pain conditions Clauw and Crofford's editorial looks at the current state of research, and calls for rheumatologists to take the lead in fibromyalgia care and science

But many skeptics have debated the very existence of fibromyalgıa as a clearly distinct disorder, saying it seemed to be rooted more in psychological and social factors than in physical, biological causes Their argu ment has been bolstered by the failure of research to find a clear cause, an effective treatment, or a non subjective way of assess ing patients

While the debate has raged. neuroscientists have begun to use brain scan technology to identify the areas of the normal human brain that become most active during pain A few studies have even assessed the blood flow in those areas in fibromyalgia patients during baseline

brain scans New study

In the study, fibromyalgia patients and healthy control sub jects had their brains scanned for more than 10 minutes while a small, piston-controlled device applied precisely calibrated, rapidly pulsing pressure to the base of their left thumbnail The pressures were varied over time, using painful and non-painful levels that had been set for each patient prior to the scan

The researchers found that it only took a mild pressure to pro duce self reported feelings of the areas were the same as those pain in the fibromyalgia in patients brains patients, while the control subjects tolerated the same pressure with little pain

"In the patients, that same mild pressure also produced measurable brain responses in areas that process the sensation of pain," says Clauw "But the same kind of brain responses weren't seen in control subjects until the pressure on their thumb was more than doubled"

Though brain activity increased in many of the same areas in both patients and control subjects, there were striking differences too

Patients feeling pain from mild pressure had increased activity in 12 areas of their brains, while the control subjects feeling the same pressure had activation in only two areas When the pressure on the control subjects thumbs was increased, so did their pain rating and the number of brain areas activated But only eight of

Unequivocal hip pain is groin pain. This pain is associated with the inability to cross the leg of the hip of the involved leg. The person with a bad hip walks with a fimp with the involved leg in a rotated and abducted

However there are variations First is the patient Many come to the doctor announcing that they have hip pain Only after an interview and beginning to examine the patient does the doctor find that what the patient considered hip pain was really in the back or in the trochanteric bursa or came from straned adductors or hamstring muscles. My own experience led me to start the appointment with persons announcing they have hip pain by asking even before they begin their narrative Show me where it hurts

The second problem comes from the cause of the hip pain if you have osteoarthritis of the hip you will experience the features of hip pain as discussed above if you have another condition such as aseptic necrosis of the femoral head you often present differently You may be able to walk without groin pain but ache in your public area while siting or hurt in the low back and buttocks when arising from a chair or getting in or out of your car Your hip muscles splint the joint While that spares your hip it also puts strain on the hamstring and adductor muscles

Hip disorders can be different and at times, difficult to diagnose If hip pain is your complaint be prepared for time and testing

County accepts walk-ins for AIDS testing

The Wayne County Department of Public Health is making it easier for people to be tested for AIDS

During HIV-Awareness Week, Monday, June 24, through Friday, June 28, the Public Health Department's Wayne Health Center will accept all walk-ins between 8 am to 330 pm for counseling and testing services The services are free, confidential and anonymous The Wayne Health Center is at 33030 Van Born Road near Merriman in Wayne June 27 is also HIV National Testing Day

Studies have shown that the virus that causes HIV-AIDS can be transmitted by the following risk behaviors

■ Having sex with an infected partner

Having unprotected sexual contact with a high-risk partner Sharing needles and syringes in drug injection

Being exposed to blood, semen, vaginal fluids and possibly other body fluids

Testing is a critical part of increasing the awareness of HIV/AIDS," says Donald Lawrenchuk, Medical Director for the Wayne County Depart-

Many features recommend Garden Grove

It's a simple concept

One floor plan Four condominium residences in each of two buildings for a total of eight Plenty of standard features so buyers can move right in, yet upgraded flooring and cabinetry options, if they're so inclined

It's all at Garden Grove, an acre infill site, off Five Mile Road between Middlebelt and Inkster roads in Livonia

"I try to build the same, as I do with single family homes except these are attached and maintenance free exteriors," said Michael Soave, the developer/builder and president of Soave Homes

"I purchased the land, developed it, then I built and I did pass savings along to potential buyers," Soave said "We look for land in Livonia Buyers already live here and they're looking for something newer, either upgrade or downsize

"Livonia's school system, I think, is in the top 10 in the country, and Livonia is one of the top 10 cities in the coun try to raise a family," Soave saıd

Livonia maintains three municipal golf courses, numerous parks and a historical village A recreation cen-

Soave tout the community's affordability All units contain 1880 square feet three bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths End units carry a price of $239,900, middle units $229,900

"We're trying to present an affordable package here,' Maceri said "Our standard package, you don't really need to add anything You can be perfectly happy without adding a nickel, which is rare in the construction industry"

All homes at Garden Grove come with two-car garage, first-floor laundry, basement, deck, air conditioning and landscaping

A microwave and dishwasher are included in the kitchen Wood flooring is standard in hallway, foyer kitchen/nook, half bath and The carpeting laundry allowance is $1 500 lighting allowance $750 w

A butler's pantry and half bath are tucked between the stairs to the unfinished basement and the kitchen

The L-shaped kitchen includes an island, walk-in pantry and built-in oven with cooktop The utility room opens into the two-car garage Another door from the kitchen opens to a rear patio

An alternate option for the kitchen/utility adds a breakfast bar and eliminates the ısland

The rear of the Pondella has a nook with large windows and a vaulted family room A two-way fireplace stands between the family room and the hving room, with storage and a closet on each side

All of the bedrooms are upstairs The master suite behind French doors is vaulted with an enormous bath and walkin closet The bath features his-and-her sinks, a spa tub, shower and closet Next to the master suite is Bedroom 4 with a wall closet An option is available converting Bedroom 4 into a retreat (den)

with an archway between the two rooms The closet would then become built in cabinets for books

A full bath is between bedrooms 3 and 4 Bedroom 2 is the largest of the secondary beds and includes a walk-in closet with shelves This could be used as a guest room Linen closets are in the hallway and master suite

Laundry list of features

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

What do you look for in a laundry room? Probably plenty of space You need counter space for sorting and folding clean clothes

Windows would be nice - to brighten the room and cheer you up during a monotonous chore Windows also make it easier to sort clothes, since subtle differences in color are easier to detect

Convenience features, such as sinks and a fold-down ironing board, might also be on your wish list You'll want to remember to plan for ample cupboard space, as well, for supplies and general storage

Greater overall energy efficiency Homes built today are 100 percent more energy efficient

Builders and manufacturers routinely provide consumers with insulated doors and windows

The use of insulated glass windows jumped from nearly 68 percent in 1978 to 87 percent in than homes built in the 1970s

Green building appeals to residential constructors, too

Did you know that your new home, apartment, condominium or townhome may be packed with energy and environmental features? The "green building" movement taking place in the housing industry represents a kind of quiet revolution, but one that, nonetheless, is bringing decades of environmentally friendly construction techniques and materials to new home construction

Green building, the buzzword for eco-friendly residential construction, can take many forms

It can include land use, development and community design techniques that preserve natural features such as trees, wetlands and open space

It can mean water conservation and energy efficiency in heating and cooling systems, appliances and lighting

Common building materials such as lumber used in the home construction industry are greener now as well since many of these materials have been recycled

Chances are, if you recently bought a home, it was built using a number of energy and environmental advances or environmentally-friendly materials including

■ Wood products known as oriented strand board that uses smaller trees and parts of the tree not previously used These products have replaced plywood for roof sheathing

■ Windows with insulating glass that keep homes more comfortable and energy efficient

■ Durable vinyl siding that has reduced the need for cedar, redwood and other other wood products for exterior walls ■ Increased insulation levels in walls and attics which make homes less drafty and lowers energy bills, combined with more efficient ventilation installations such as ridge vents

■ Passive solar design that cap tures the sun's rays and gives homeowners "free" heat

■ Tree preservation around residences that provide shade, reduces energy costs and creates residential communities of last-

Planting native plants that require little or no watering and reduce water bills

These are just some of the advances discussed in a new sixpage publication, Building Green er, Building Better The Quiet Rev olution The piece was published by the National Association of Home Builders and the NAHB Research Center

Featuring a four-color cutaway drawing of a typical new residence, the publication provides details on just how far the housing industry has come in providing greener choices to the American home-buying public

In fact, many new homes feature Appliances such as washing machines that use 45 percent less energy and dishwashers that use 40 percent less energy than models manufactured in 1972

■ Plastic lumber in decks that has helped reduce the units of redwood in decks to 63 percent in remove regulations that make building environmentally-friendly homes and communities difficult to achieve Builders are breaking down regulatory barriers so they can create more tree-laden bike paths, put in water-purifying ponds and lakes, and ensure that communities are pedestrian

Builders also are working to friendly and have ample open smove regulations that make spaces With the help and cooperation of local government officials and the interested public, we can make green building a staple of new homes, townhouses, apartments and condominiums Richard Komer received Builder of the Year honors from the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan in

He has more than 30 years experience in the building indus try and is president and chief executive officer of Wineman & Komer Building in Southfield

He also serves on the board of directors of BIA, the Michigan Association of Homes Builders and the National Association of Home Builders

As the pace of life has quickened, the master suite has become more pampering and luxurious

Though we have less time to enjoy the amenities, we feel somehow more deserving of them, and want to have them close at hand when a quiet moment comes along

There might not be time for a full-fledged vacation, but you can steal away from your laptop and cell phone long enough to soak away stress

Tubs don't have to be fancy, only comfortable Current designs run the price and luxury gamut

Jacuzzis, Whirlpools and jetted tubs offer massage-like experi-

A tub at the top of a raised platform with a fireplace flush with the back wall adds warmth and ambiance A baldichino-like canopy supported by columns displaying candle wall torchieres adds even more ambience

A separate shower, an enclosed toilet and dual sinks complete the bath Go ahead, you deserve a getaway Light some candles, slip into a steaming tub and let the voicemail pick up your calls for the next

"IS SELLING A HOUSE AS EASY AS IT LOOKS?"

It sure doesn't seem difficult Run an ad in the paper Put a sign in the front yard, and presto, you have a buyer Have you ever watched a professional athlete make a great play and think to yourself that it looked easy? Well, like many other things that appear easy at first glance, selling a home in today's world is actually more complicated than it used to be Here is a short list

- 1. Will you make the necessary improvements in your home so that it will show at its best?
- 2. Will you be knowledgeable and objective enough to price your home correctly in accordance with present
- 4. Will you make your home available at the times
- 5. Will you handle showings to interested parties with the right touch so that prospective buyers will not be
- 6. How will you be able to identify a qualified buyer and not waste your time with curious lookers?
- will you deal with the delicate give and take of the negotiating process?
- mortgage lenders to be assured that your buyer works with a capable firm that will successfully close the sale?
- market realities?

2002 Saturn Wagon An Impressive Specimen

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures

ANNE FRACASSA

Over the past several years, I have been impressed with the quality I've seen in Saturn vehicles The new 2002 LW300 wagon is no exception

This midsized wagon has a lot of heart and is as quiet as a mouse The doors sound solid when you slam them And there' comfort in there, too

The only thing that freaked me out was the price $26,200 For a Saturn Granted, the standard equipment list is huge, but still, you could pick up a Mercedes for that price

Yet the price is the only complaint I had about this vehicle I traveled to the upper part of Michigan in this Saturn and never felt fatigued. The seats are comfy and the ride is very, very nice

Power is provided by a 3 0 liter 24-valve dual overhead cam V6 mated to a 4-speed automatic transmission that has the get up and go to get you there quickly Like I said before, the engine is quiet With the windows rolled up, you've got to strain to hear if it's turned over and running

The LW300 rests on 16-inch performance tires mounted on chrome clad wheels and an enhanced sport tuned suspension The ride is definitely smooth

Make your kids happy and quiet on even the shortest of trips with the optional DVD entertainment package This integrated video entertainment system has a console-mounted DVD system that can play video or audio compact discs

The system, however, cannot be accessed by the back seat passengers I don't know if that's a good thing or not It was annoying to pass discs back and forth And the placement of the buttons to operate it are right where you can knock into them if you place a drink in the cup holder

What happens if you knock into the button is that it ejects the disc-which means the video has to start from the beginning That really annoyed my kids, especially when the movie was more than halfway through

But the system is really great because the screen is located in the headliner directly in back of the front seat The 7 inch screen folds down and wireless headphones allow passengers to listen to CDs or

A Quality Mid-Sized Wagon 2002 Saturn LW300; Vehicle class: Mid-sized station wagon. Power. 3.0-liter DOHC 24-value V6 engine. Mileage: 21 city/29 highway Where built: Wilmington, Del. Price as tested: $26,200

watch a movie and the folks don't have to hear it

It also allows the front seat passenger and driver to listen to the car's stereo at the same time And if you really want to, you can also listen to the video or audio through the car's speakers strategically mounted throughout the cabin

This DVD entertainment package can only be ordered on black special-edition LW300 and Saturn will only build 1,000 of them The special edition also has fog lamps, gray leather interior, power driver's seat and premium audio systems Saturn also is planning to offer the same system on L200 and L300 sedans and on LW200 and LW300 wagons

Gotta tell you this system is really cool for the kids and the parents, but it's quite pricey at $3,350 The sheer convenience of the unit may be worth the cost It sure can make a back seat with kids quiet -that's for sure I had to turn around a couple of times to make sure they were awake

Safety and security are all built in nicely in the LW300 and all of it comes as standard equipment It's got head curtain air bags, which are designed to reduce the severity of head and neck injuries in sideimpact crashes

With electronic sensors, the car can sense when a collision has occurred and inflates the air bag, providing a cushion to protect the head and neck Couple that with dual front air bags and you're even

Other safety features include antilock brakes, traction control, automatic headlamps side impact door beams and pats, 3-point outboard front and rear safety belts, child-proof rear door locks, child seat anchors and tethers in all three back seat positions, immobilizer theft deterrent system, 4-way adjustable front head restraints, dual heated power mirrors, 5 mph impact bumpers and rear wiper and washer

Here I go again It's also got that annoying safety feature that locks your door as soon as you get in Problem with that is when you're dropping off or picking up kids and you're still in gear, it's locked Then fiddling around trying to unlock the door and it's monsooning out there Annoying to me, but more safety for your family

Worried about nicks and dents at the local mall or shopping center? Don't have to with the LW300 All of the doors and fenders are dent resistant Another nice touch usually reserved for the luxury cars-but it's on this Saturn-is a stainless steel exhaust

Other standard equipment includes air conditioning, power locks and windows, cruise control Leather wrapped tilt steering wheel, driver's seat height adjuster, cargo cover and convenience net, front and rear floor mats and 60/40 fold-down rear

Did I mention the exterior? Nice lines and curves all over, making it a pleasure to gaze at It's unmistakably Saturn

This mid-sized wagon was fun to drive and would be fun to own Not to mention the kids will love it Write Anne Fracassa at avanti 1054@aol com

This Week's Featured Pet

Charlie is a two year old Domestic medium hair male who is looking for a new home This friendly guy is loving and sweet and loves to give kitty headbutts When he was brought to the shelter his hair was badly matted and he had to be given a harrcut But not to worry he should soon grow back the hair he had trimmed! Since he is already neutered he can go to his new home today!

To welcome Charlie to his new home, visit the Michigan Humane Society Westland Shelter, (734) 721-7300
