Blood drive

The American Red Cross holds a blood drive at the Plymouth District Library from 17 p.m. Tuesday Sept 3

Donors should register in person on the main floor of the library during normal business hours between now and Sept 3. Walk-ins welcome. Call (734) 453-0750 Ex. 217

Life's laughs

Theatergoers have a chance to eat, drink and be merry and benefit a good cause at the same time. The Star Fairlane Theater in Dearborn is hosting Laughs for Life II to benefit First Step, the western Wayne County and downriver project on domestic and sexual violence. The benefit takes place at 6 p.m. Friday Sept 20 at the Dearborn theater.

Guests will be greeted with champagne, cheeses and a wide variety of desserts. First Step supporters will then have their funny bones tickled with a live performance by the comedic troupe Totally Unrehearsed Theatre. They'll also have a chance to bid on a variety of items during a silent auction. A private movie screening complete with popcorn and pop brings the evening to a close.

Last year's inaugural event raised nearly $38,000. The money raised from this year's event will go toward support of the charity's services and programs. First Step's mission is to reduce the incidence of domestic and sexual violence and to provide services to individuals affected by these crimes. Tickets for Laughs for Life II at the Star Fairlane in Dearborn are $35 and available by calling Meghan Kennedy Riordan at 734-762-7260.

Loan officer

David L. Griffin Jr. has been named assistant vice president and commercial loan officer for New Liberty Bank in Plymouth.

Prior to joining New Liberty Bank, Griffin was a principal partner of NorthPoint Capital Michigan Inc. and NorthPoint Capital LLC, a major Midwest commercial mortgage banking group. The company has offices in Chicago and Detroit and specializes in originating and servicing commercial real estate mortgages.

Earlier positions included working in the commercial real estate lending departments of TCF Bank as well as City Bank. Griffin is a graduate of Michigan State University and holds a bachelor of arts degree in finance. A long-time resident of Southeast Michigan, he currently resides in Plymouth, Mich.

Man charged in Waterford murder harassed 35th District Court employees

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

When workers at 35th District Court in Plymouth learned about the arrest of David McCloy for the murder of a Waterford Township man Tuesday, it sent a chill through each of them. They not only believe the killing could have been avoided, but that any one of them could have been the victim of a McCloy shooting rampage. McCloy, 41 of Waterford, was arraigned Thursday, charged with the murder of John Polish, who was shot multiple times in the living room of his Waterford home in front of his children.

It's the same McCloy who, on Aug. 7, was found guilty by a 35th District Court jury for making a telephone call to the court on Oct. 16, 2001, telling court worker Peggy Donohue, "I am going to shoot the judge" while complaining about a 1999 traffic violation.

Court officer David Hooper told Plymouth police he also took a call from McCloy that same day. Hooper said McCloy used several obscenities and stated he was going to "shoot the judge in 30 days."

According to a report by Plymouth police, when Officer Sam Poules called McCloy about the incidents, McCloy began screaming "we (the police) are all (expletive) stupid and that (expletive) (52nd District Court) Judge (Brian) MacKenzie in Novi is a medical terrorist."

Dr. Jim Skimins is excited about the renovations at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, which will be dedicated in a ceremony Sept. 15.

Church ties past to future with renovation

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

Dr. Jim Skimins, the senior minister at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, knows his congregation is getting younger, dropping in average age by about 10 years over the past several years.

He also knows he heads a church deeply steeped in tradition, the oldest congregation in Plymouth, one that dates back to the 1830s.

That's why it's been so important to him, as he has shepherded First Presbyterian through its current renovation, to keep one eye on the future and the other rooted firmly in the past. It's why, while the new building will have larger nursery and toddler facilities, they also protected a Japanese maple tree donated by a long-time parishioner.

"It's part of the tradition of this congregation," said Skimins, who has been at First Presbyterian for eight years. "We value our heritage, but at the same time, we can see what's happening now."

The church, located on its Church Street site since its inception, has just about reached the end of a $2.8 million renovation project that will add some 8,000 square feet of education space, a new Narthex (gathering area), and what Skimins calls a "Celebration Garden," a beautiful outdoor memorial space. Skimins hopes will be used for small weddings, lemonade outings and other social and religious occasions.

Robbery suspect charged

BY JACK GLADDEN

A man suspected of robbing nine banks and numerous drug stores in western Wayne and Oakland counties was arrested in Canton Thursday afternoon.

The suspect, Kevin Robert Kolb, 37, of Northville Township was arraigned in federal court in Detroit Friday afternoon on one charge of armed bank robbery in connection with a holdup of the Standard Federal Bank in Livonia on May 28.

FBI special agent Terry Booth said the bureau anticipates additional charges will be filed later. The armed bank robbery charge carries a maximum penalty of 25 years in federal prison with no parole.

Kolb was arrested just one day after a gunman robbed a pharmacy clerk at Walgreens on Ford Road in Canton and made off with 169 Vicodin pills.

In that robbery, which was similar to an incident that occurred at a Plymouth Township Kmart store on Aug. 6, a man armed with a handgun jumped the counter in the pharmacy department, held the gun to the shoulder of a clerk and said, "Vicodin ES now. That's all I'm

Principals ready for hectic 1st day

For the first time in the history of Plymouth-Canton Educational Park, three high school principals are scurrying to make their buildings ready for the first day of school tomorrow.

And, for the first time in more than a quarter century, the Park is opening a new building, Plymouth High School.

"Everything that concerns teachers, kids and learning are ready to fly," said Principal Michael Bee, who was hired nearly two years ago to make certain Plymouth High School is ready for opening day.

"There are still a hundred things that need to be done, but it's nothing that will affect the education of students."

Bee said opening the new high school didn't seem real until this summer when he and his staff began working 14-hour days, seven days a week, to get the building ready for occupation.

To get all the technology in the building on line was a major

CORRECTION

An item on the front page of the Thursday, Aug. 22 Plymouth Observer should have said Community Federal Credit Union's new Novi branch is located on Arena Drive in Novi.

HYDRANT PLAN

Plymouth Township residents may notice a temporary discoloration of their water beginning in early September. That's because Plymouth Township starts its fire hydrant winterization program Sept. 3. According to the township's public works manager, Tom Hollis, flushing of the hydrants will continue through the end of October. "Residents may notice this temporary discoloration more than once during that time," Hollis explained. Prolonged problems should be reported to the public works department, (734) 453-8131, Ext. 21.

SHARES PROGRAM

Community Federal Credit

Union is launching its third-annual Community Shares program to benefit educational programs in Michigan. The Community Shares program provides donations tied to growth in savings deposits. This year's campaign includes new certificates of deposit opened through September 2002. "This program offers an excellent opportunity to demonstrate our solid commitment to the schools and communities in which our members live and work," said Roger Ballard, CFCU's CEO. Since Community Shares was introduced in 2000, Community Federal has donated $10,000 to educational programs including the Plymouth-Canton Educational Excellence Foundation, Northville Education Foundation, Gaylord High School's Technology Fund, mentoring programs in Atlanta and Hillman, and the Johannesburg-Lewiston Community Schools. Check presentations will be made in October to the various educational programs. Sue O'Connor, Community Shares coordinator, said the schools select the educational programs to receive the funds. "However, we always promote financial literacy through our School Credit Union Program that will operate in 10 Michigan schools this fall," O'Connor said. For more information about the Community Shares program, visit the Credit Union Web site at www.cfcu.org or call (734) 453-1200 or (877) 437-2328, toll free.

CHARITY DAYS

The Plymouth Symphony League and the Dixboro General Store are teaming up for "Dixboro Charity Days: A Fund-Raising Event for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra." The Dixboro General Store will donate 15 percent of all sales generated by Plymouth Symphony League patrons who present the fund-raising coupon Sept. 13-15. Coupons can be requested through the PSO office by calling (734) 451-2112, or stopping by the symphony office, 18 Forest Place in downtown Plymouth. The Dixboro General Store is located at 5206 Plymouth Road, east of US-23 in Ann Arbor. The store is open Monday-Saturday, 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.; Friday, 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m. - 5 p.m.

CAR WASH

Folks raising money for the Sagar Memorial Wall at Plymouth High School say they're getting close to the goal, and local car owners get the chance Sunday to help get even closer. Youth Leadership Interact Club, Rotary International sponsors a car wash from noon-3 p.m. at Precision Tune, located at the southwest corner of Main and Ann Arbor Road. Proceeds benefit the Sagar Memorial Wall. To date, the foundation has raised more than $25,000, and has just $3,770 left to go to reach its goal.

SHOWCHOIR AUDITION

Children ages 8-14 are invited to audition for the Rising Star Singers Showchoir, sponsored by Village Music of Plymouth. Auditions are set for 7-8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 10 at Village Music, 130 E. Liberty in Old Village. No appointment is necessary. Singers should be prepared to sing and move. Accompanist will be available, or singers can bring an appropriate tape or CD. Tuition is $250 for the nine-month program. The cost includes close to 40 rehearsals, performances, music and basic costume use. Siblings receive a 10-percent discount on their tuition. Rehearsals are weekly on Tuesdays from 7-8:30 p.m. beginning Sept. 17, and run through June 2003. Performances are scheduled in December and June, with special performances given upon request. For more information, call Norma Atwood at Village Music, (734) 354-9825.

Committee formed to review charter

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

The long-awaited Plymouth charter review committee may begin its duties as early as next month. Mayor Bill Graham has appointed seven of the nine members to the committee, and said he expects the remaining two positions to be filled soon. Those named to the committee include former city commissioner Sean FitzGerald, Michael Holmes, Robert Johns, Fred Libbing, Don Morgan, Steven Renaldi and Gerald Sabatini. "The committee will need to work with the city attorney to learn how to make changes in the charter," said Graham. "We want it to remain focused and driven." Graham said one of the first priorities for the committee will be to find out how to remove sections of the charter that are no longer viable, without needing a vote of the people. "If we have a provision that is contrary to state and federal law, how can we simply eliminate them from the charter so there is no confusion?" Graham asked. "State and federal law always supersedes the charter."

There has to be a way to take that language out. "Then we need to make it a document that can easily be read and understood, and meets today's standards," he said. Unlike some estimates by commissioners that a full review of the charter could take a year or longer, Graham envisions the review "shouldn't take more than a few months." The group should look at other city charters and see how ours compares. In the last election, some of those running for city commissioner campaigned with the idea of making the city charter review a priority. Renaldi said now may be a good time to begin the process. "Some people have made an issue out of certain parts of the charter, so it makes sense to take a look at it," he said. "And, maybe it makes sense to do it periodically, whether we need to or not." "I don't think there are any problems with the charter," added Renaldi, "but it could help make the city operate more efficiently, which is rare in government."

Ox Roast scheduled for Sept. 5

It will be the same type of party, but the Wayne County Police Lieutenants, Sergeants and Corporals Association has moved its annual Ox Roast to a new location. The 43rd annual event, which is also a Millionaires Party, will be held noon to 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 5, at the Hungarian American Cultural Center, 26257 Goddard in Taylor. The cultural center, located between Inkster and Beech Daly, is more centrally located and also has improved facilities, organizers said. Tickets are $25 per person in advance and $30 at the gate. The price includes all you can eat and drink from a menu including roast beef, corn on the cob, mussels and clam chowder. There will be raffles, a silent auction, music and various games of chance. "All the suburban Wayne County police departments belong to the association," said Garden City Sgt. David White, third vice president of the group. "The proceeds from the Ox Roast are used for school and advanced training for officers along with charitable causes." When the Ox Roast originated, the event was limited to police officers, White said, but was expanded over the years to include the general public. Area police departments including Garden City, Livonia, Canton, Redford and Westland have tickets available for the event.

School daze

Teachers, administrators get early start on year

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

While students don't report until Monday, school began in earnest Friday for more than 1,000 members of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association.

The day started in a packed Salem High School auditorium as interim Superintendent Jim Ryan welcomed teachers back to work. Ryan made it clear that despite his interim tag, he's the man for the job.

"If you were looking for someone to stand up and fight for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, you've found the right guy," said Ryan, who received a loud round of applause. "My number one personal goal is to make sure we are the number one reason people want to move to Plymouth or Canton."

School board president Elizabeth Givens credited teachers, and other employee groups, with starting the school year on the right track.

"I'd like to thank you for the settlement of great contracts last year that positions this district, and you, for tremendous opportunities for the next couple of years," she said. "We want to thank you for being willing to take on the challenge of a third high school."

Board member Mark Slavens, who has led the charge to increase the district's foundation grant, and made it his top campaign issue as he runs for the state House, let it be known where he stands.

"I hope this year the state of Michigan makes public education its number one goal," said Slavens, as teachers applauded. "We have a great school system here, even with the funding we receive from the State of Michigan."

"The one area I would like to see us improve is doing a better job of informing the public of all the good things going on in this school district," he said. "We should all be taking an opportunity to let people know, and congratulate ourselves."

Plymouth-Canton school officials are hoping the newly constructed Plymouth High School will bring about an easier traffic flow at the educational park, which also houses Canton and Salem high schools.

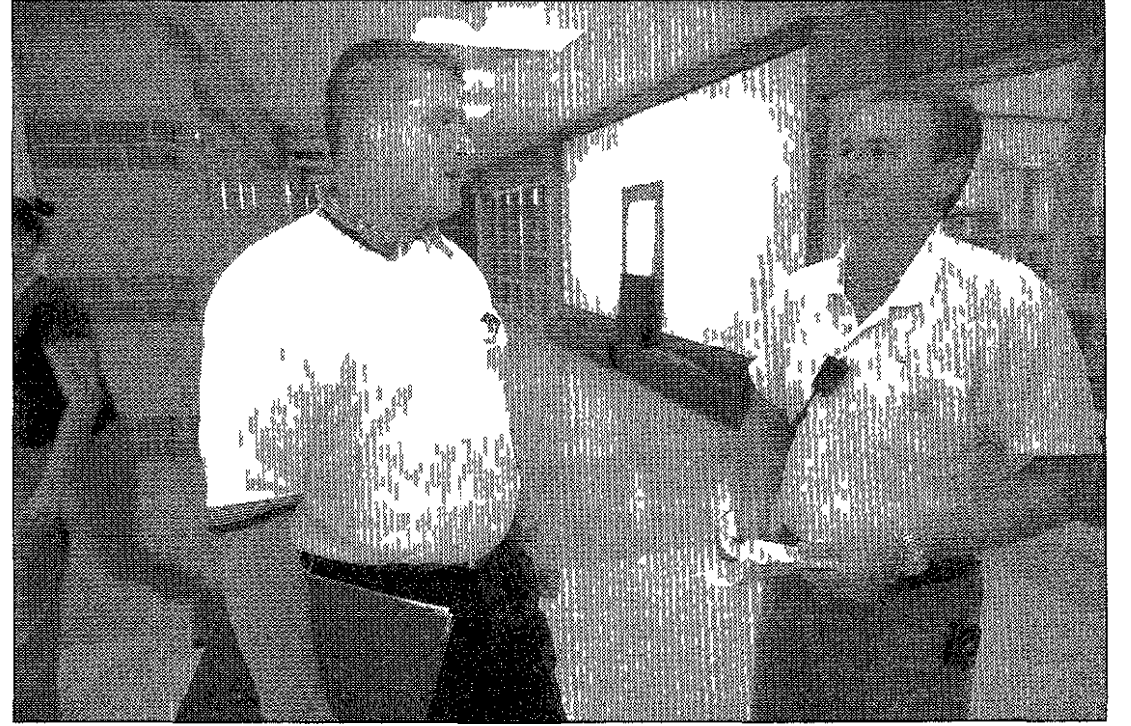

"We're hoping to spread out some of the traffic with the three locations," said Ken Jacobs, executive director of support services. "With the long driveway into the Plymouth High School parking area, we've taken the stacking of cars off the roads and onto the school property."

The district is confident some of the traffic along Canton Center and Joy roads will be alleviated with the Beck Road entrance to Plymouth High School. For traffic heading north on Beck there is a turn lane into the complex, while a passing lane has been added for southbound traffic turning into the new school parking lot.

Jacobs said there will be no more parking on the dirt portion of the Salem parking lot, with most of those nearly 200 cars diverted to parking spaces at Plymouth High School. "That should make for an easier traffic flow into Salem."

Ryan said the district has decided not to charge students an additional fee to participate in sports or other activities. "We just weren't ready to implement it, and the effort to collect it would have outweighed the $25,000 we expected to collect," said Ryan.

"The board gave us the option to reconsider, and we did."

Ryan said the pay-to-participate fee would have been in the range of $8-$10 per student. The move was part of a plan to make financial and program cuts totaling $1.2 million in the 2002-2003 budget.

District residents were concerned when the school administration gave pink slips to 19 teachers last May. As it turned out, all of those given layoff notices were rehired, the district has hired 20 new teachers and Plymouth-Canton has 18 new administrators, according to Ray Bihun, the executive director of human resources.

Ryan said Plymouth-Canton, a growing district, is estimating more than 200 new students will be attending this year. It's a healthy spot for us, Ryan said. "We make our money (state foundation grant) on how many kids show up."

Visitors to Plymouth-Canton's three high schools will find new, electronic message signs outside each building. Laura Hagan, the district's facilities construction manager, said the 8-10-foot signs should be in place by the time school starts Monday.

Hagan also said the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park sign at the corner of Canton Center and Joy roads will be changed to indicate the addition of Plymouth High School.

undertaking," he said. "All in all, I don't think it could have gone better than it has."

Opening a new high school has been both satisfying and a challenge for Bee, both of which have left a lasting impression.

"I don't ever want to do it again," he said with a chuckle. "And, I will never build a house."

Canton High School's new principal, Cassandra Smith, met with staff Thursday and is confident Monday will go well.

"This time of year is always busy, so I'm used to it," said Smith, who was an assistant principal at Mackenzie High School in Detroit last year. "Everybody is excited and we're off to a good start."

Smith said her number one goal is to get to know students.

"My major goal is to get into the classrooms and make myself known to the students," she said.

"It's very important they know who I am so they can connect with me. I plan on having a number of assemblies to introduce myself to them so they know the rules and regulations."

While Plymouth and Canton high schools are flaunting new principals, Jerry Ostoin has been at Salem since 1974. When it comes to preparing for the first day of classes, Ostoin said he looks for ways to improve the school he's been running the past 28 years.

"I've never looked at it as being 'old hat,'" he said.

There are different challenges every year, and every year you try to make improvements.

This year we focused on the incoming ninth-graders, Ostoin said.

"We served doughnuts and pizza, and had some of our honor students show them around the building. We also had meetings with their parents so they know what goes on around here."

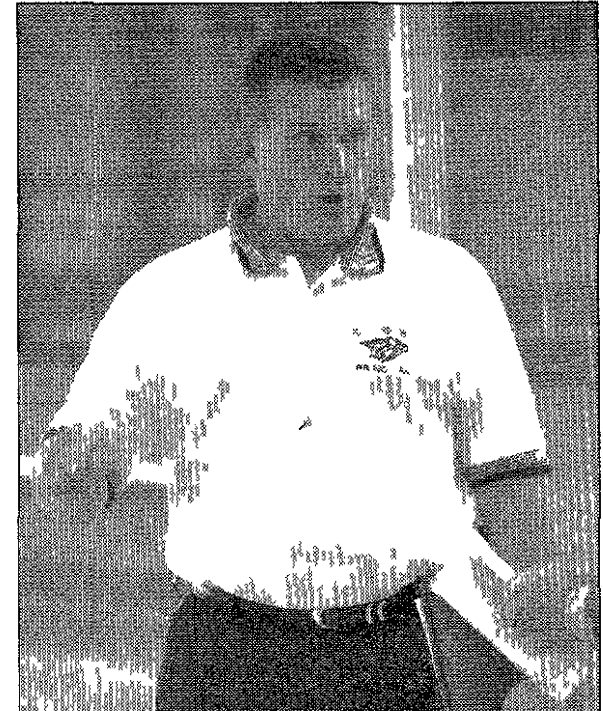

Ostoin said this will be a transition year for students, teachers, and even himself. With the opening of the third high school, we'll go from 2,500 students per building to about 1,700," he said. "I think there will be a more relaxed atmosphere in the hallways. I can't wait to see it. Salem and Canton have been overcrowded since 1980."

Ostoin said the different learning styles of today's students, the new curriculum models, and the expectations of kids all make for a new beginning each year.

"We have a special relationship with kids. It's a special trust their parents instill in us to be fair with them and educate them," he said.

I could have retired years ago, but one of the main reasons I don't is because we have such nice kids.

Plymouth High School Principal Michael Bee said everything that concerns teachers, kids and learning is "ready to fly" at the new high school.

Salem graduate wins Bronze Stars in Afghan war

BY DOUG JOHNSON

A Livonia police officer who is away from city duty fighting with the Marines has been awarded two Bronze Stars for bravery.

An intelligence interrogator in the Marines, Master Sgt John Nichols III, who lives in Livonia, received orders to go to active duty at central command in November 2001.

Nichols is a uniformed patrol officer in Livonia and is a graduate of Plymouth-Salem High School and Eastern Michigan University.

"I wanted to deploy forward, I didn't just want to get activated," Nichols said.

His wish came true in December 2001 when he deployed to Bagram, Afghanistan to serve as the staff noncommissioned officer-in-charge of interrogators for Task Force Bowe. During his four-month deployment, Nichols was awarded two Bronze Star Medals, one with the combat 'V' device.

In plain words, the V Bronze Star is given for valor in combat.

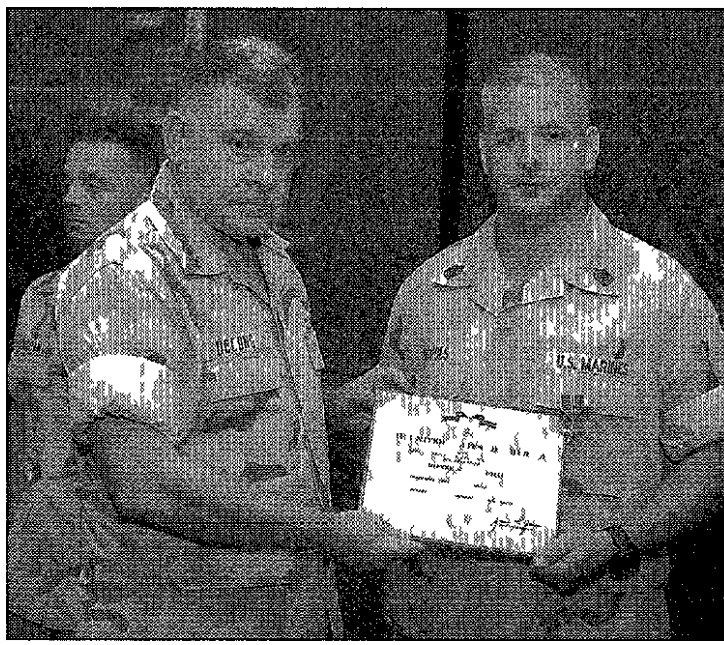

His mom, Nita Hackleman of Bannbridge, Indiana near Indianapolis said he may return at the end of September to Livonia. "I think the Marines want to keep him."

"I have always been proud of my son but this (2 medals) is the frosting on the cake," she said. "He is her only son."

The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Richard Myers, cited Nichols' interrogation facility as the most capable in the theater.

Because of the high-value detainees we were receiving, we were able to obtain information that really saved some American lives and led to some critical, time sensitive special ops (operations) missions," Nichols said.

"We started receiving all of Plymouth-Salem grad Master Sgt John Nichols III has been awarded two Bronze Star Medals for his service in connection with Operation Enduring Freedom. The second medal was presented by U.S. Central Command Deputy Commander-in-Chief Lt. Gen. Michael P. DeLong (left) in July 2002, after Nichols returned from Afghanistan.

the high-value detainees, Nichols said. For his efforts at supervising and directing Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine interrogators, Nichols was presented with his second Bronze Star Medal.

His first medal was awarded for gallantry in action while participating in Operation Anaconda, where he took charge of the U.S. Army unit he was attached to after its platoon commander became incapacitated.

Operation Enduring Freedom and the global war on terrorism is ongoing, and the Marines of the Central Command continue to work closely with all service members and Coalition partners at the headquarters in Tampa, Fla., (MacDill Air Force Base) and at various forward deployed locations.

Story from Marine Corps dispatches and Observer sources

Manufacturing center has solid 1st half

Gearing training and implementation services especially for the needs of Michigan's small and medium-size manufacturers has paid off for the Michigan Manufacturing Technology Center (MMTC).

The organization has a regional office in Plymouth. MMTC announced the first half of 2002 was the best-ever six months for the organization in terms of revenue from providing direct service. The success is largely attributable to MMTC's work assisting manufacturers with LEAN Manufacturing efforts -- helping companies make measurable reductions in waste, not only on the shop floor, but the administrative offices as well.

"Our success is due to three key factors," MMTC President Michael J. Coast said. "In every industry, our LEAN programs can make a difference, and the difference we drive toward is an impact on our client's bottom line."

Over the past 10 years, MMTC has assisted over 4,000 Michigan manufacturers of varied industries such as electronics, machining, tool and die, plastic injection molding and automotive suppliers.

MMTC moved into a state-of-the-art training facility in Plymouth in fall of 2000 in order to enhance service offerings and to be more conveniently located for its customers.

"Our goal is not to become the biggest consulting and training firm in Michigan," said Bruce Knapp, vice president of southeast Michigan operations. "Our goal is to provide the best quality assistance and training to our customers."

CHURCH

It's the first major renovation at the church since the 1950s. The project is being funded by money parishioners themselves raised, and they've raised plenty — $2.1 million so far.

"They've been very enthusiastic," Skumms said. "They've just been very excited to do it. It's been fun to watch them as they've taken ownership."

Dr. Bob Evans has been a member of First Presbyterian since he and his wife, Sally, were married there in 1956. The 71-year-old dentist knows the renovations are necessary, because the church is growing. But he thinks it's a nice problem to have.

"We were out of space, and that's the most wonderful problem you can have," said Evans, whose wife sang at the church as a high schooler. "I think it's exciting. We're fortunate that we've got younger people who are joining with their children, who have found that corner to be a wonderful place for their worship and their belief in God."

BACK TO THE FUTURE

To understand where First Presbyterian is headed, it's helpful to understand where it's been.

The first meeting of what would become First Presbyterian took place in February 1833, according to Sam Hudson's book, 150th Anniversary History First Presbyterian Church, Plymouth, Michigan. According to Hudson's book, fourteen prospective members and two representatives of the Detroit Presbytery attended that first meeting.

The church's first board of trustees was elected in January 1835, and the decision to build the first church was made a few months later, on April 13, 1835. The materials for that first white-frame church were hauled from Detroit by oxen.

With the current church completing a $2.8 million renovation project, it's interesting to note that Elder Ira Bronson, who'd been chosen by trustees to supervise and erect that first building, presented his bill to the board on Nov. 27, 1835. The amount: $386.52, or an average of $11 per member.

By 1847, church members were considering building a new, brick church, and church members began pledging money to the project. According to Hudson's book, Ebenezer Penniman pledged $500, while other pledges ranged from $40 to $150. Work on the new church took part of 1848 and most of 1849, and was built for about $3,000, Hudson wrote. With subscriptions from the church coming in slowly, it took years to pay the final bill. The final debt was paid off in 1856.

And what happened to the old white frame church? Between 1835 and the turn of the century the building — built by Elder Ira Bronson for $386 — was moved four times and had six different owners.

NAME CHANGE

For more than 50 years, Presbyterians in Plymouth Township lived with some level of confusion over church names. At the time, according to Hudson's book, Northville was still "an integral part of Plymouth Township," and had chosen First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth for its church name. The church in Plymouth was called the Second Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. In 1886, the Plymouth congregation petitioned the Presbytery to change names, designating the Northville church as First Presbyterian of Northville, and taking First Presbyterian of Plymouth for itself. On March 4, 1889, the Northville church did just that. However, for the Plymouth congregation waited to change its name to First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth until after the turn of the century, Sept. 3, 1907.

In January 1936, the Rev. Walter Nichol saw smoke seeping through the roof of his church. Despite the best efforts of firemen from Plymouth, Northville and Detroit, the First Presbyterian Church was in ruins.

However, not everything was lost. Sifting through the ruins, Nichol, who escaped injury when first inspecting the fire, found the church lectern and Bible intact. He had also had the minutes of that first meeting, in 1833, at his home, so they weren't lost, either. Those minutes, Hudson admitted, formed the basis for his book about the church's history.

BURIAL GROUNDS

According to Hudson's book,

Plymouth's first cemetery was located just behind the First Presbyterian Church, about where the parking lot sits now. As early as 1888, though, members of the village council pondered whether to stop using it, because it was getting over-crowded. That decision was made in 1915, according to the book.

In December 1936, when workers were excavating for the new church, to be built on the site where the old building had burned, they reportedly dug up 35-40 human skeletons.

Nearly 70 years later, it was deja vu all over again, when contractors uncovered several sets of remains while digging out the site of the church's new Celebration Garden. Five full sets were discovered, though their caskets had carbonized.

According to Skumms, the bones were safely stored until they could be reburied.

"We re-interred them about 12 feet from their original graves," Skumms said. "We'll put a marker down in the fall, when everything is finished."

Though they tried, church officials couldn't find any way of identifying the bodies. That being the case, Skumms conducted a full Presbyterian service for them without names.

"It would have been fun to find out something about them," Skumms said. "We commended them, 'Known only to God'."

LEGACY

As the church looks toward the grand opening and dedication of its renovated structure Sept. 15, there are new things going on. Skumms hopes to add a third minister, preferably one who specializes in education, sometime this fall. They've added a third service — services are now at 8:30, 9:30 and 11 a.m. — to accommodate the growth.

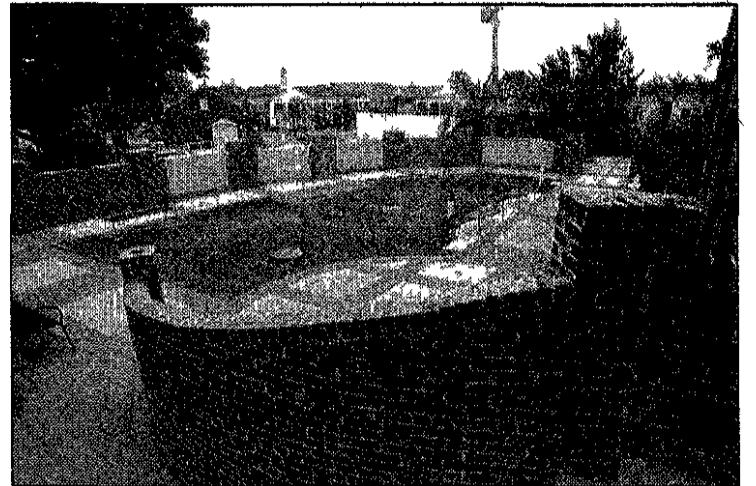

"It's been wonderful to watch it grow over time," Evans said. "I was on the session of the church when we decided to stay in Plymouth. We really felt strongly there should be one mainline church to stay in the city. We wanted to remain the downtown church."

Lake Evans, Skumms knows how important it is to connect the old with the new, past with present — and future.

"There are some families here with fascinating stories to tell," Skumms said. "We have several families that go back two or three generations. That's the interesting part — we have all that history, and we have all these younger families."

Among the additions to First Presbyterian Church is this Celebration Garden, which senior minister Dr. Jim Skumms hopes can be used for small weddings and other functions.

ROBBERY

gonna say," according to Canton Police Sgt. Todd Mutchler.

When the pharmacist hesitated after the clerk asked where the Vicodin was, the man cocked the weapon and said "I'm serious, Mutchler," said.

After being given the Vicodin, a powerful prescription pain suppressant, the man walked out of the store.

TIP FROM PHOTO

Canton police took a copy of the store's surveillance video tape to the Michigan State Police crime lab and had still photos made from the tape, which they distributed to media outlets.

After the picture appeared in print, Mutchler said, police received some tip information.

"From that tip, we were able to put together some intelligence that linked the (Walgreens) robbery to a string of bank robberies," he said.

The suspect fit the description of a man who had robbed two Comerica Banks in Farmington Hills in July and August as well as two banks in Livonia in May and June.

With the information they had put together, Mutchler said, Canton Police called other departments and the FBI and held a joint meeting in Canton on Thursday.

While Canton detectives were meeting with FBI agents and detectives from Farmington Hills, Livonia and Plymouth Township, Canton Detective Mike Steckel was checking area motels.

During the meeting, Mutchler said, Steckel called to say he had located the suspect at the Super 8 Motel on Michigan Avenue at Lotz.

Detectives from the various agencies went directly to the motel where Kolb was arrested without incident. After being questioned and processed at Canton Police Headquarters, he was turned over to the FBI on the bank robbery charges.

Mutchler said Kolb had been living at the Motel since Aug. 9 and had previously stayed at other area hotels.

Booth said the FBI is investigating Kolb in connection with nine bank robberies in South Lyon, Plymouth Township, Brownstown, Taylor, Farmington Hill and Livonia. He said evidence was confiscated at the Super 8 Motel, but would not be more specific.

A red Ford Taurus belonging to Kolb was also confiscated at the motel, according to Mutchler and Booth. A car matching that description had reportedly been used in some of the bank robberies.

PRAISE FOR CANTON

Booth had praise for Canton Police in putting together the information that led to the arrest.

Canton did an outstanding job," he said. Canton PD obtained a tip and put two and two together. Canton and other agencies got together Thursday afternoon. It was an outstanding group effort."

And Canton Public Safety John Santomauro had praise for the detective bureau.

The initiative taken by Sergeant Mutchler and our detectives in pulling these people together and exchanging information was excellent police work," he said. "The initiative by Detective Mike Steckel in calling all those motels and locating the suspect is to be commended."

THREATS

Just ask him about my (expletive) case, it's a simple as 1-2-3, A-B-C"

The jury acquitted McCloy of a second charge of threatening a judge. Sentencing on the misdemeanor conviction was to have been Friday in 35th District Court.

MORE CONTACT

The October incidents weren't the only time a court worker would hear from McCloy. Court Administrator Kerry Erdman said McCloy telephoned him twice on July 23 about a bond refund check. "One time he called and said if I didn't have his check by 1 p.m. he would take his own form of justice," said Erdman. "At three o'clock, he called again and said 'Hunting season begins at 5 p.m.'"

Security at the court was heightened after both incidents. Court workers were given a photo of McCloy and issued memos on what to do in case he showed up at the courthouse. "I'm extremely shocked," said Erdman, when asked about the Waterford killing. "I was concerned for my safety after the threats against me. I took precautions, but I didn't want to let him alter my lifestyle."

"It makes chills go up my spine," added Judge John MacDonald. "We thought the guy was a possible threat, but not to that extent."

"On a weekly basis we see people who get aggravated for getting a ticket for driving five (mph) over. You never know where harm is coming from," said MacDonald.

EXAMS DENIED

As a result of the telephone threats, 35th District Court judges MacDonald and Ron Lowe recused themselves and the case was heard by Judge Carolyn Archbold of the 29th District Court in Wayne. Twice Archbold was asked by Lavonia attorney Greg Demopoulos to have McCloy undergo a psychiatric exam. Demopoulos was ordered to assist McCloy, who represented himself.

The prosecution also asked Archbold for an evaluation due to "the type of behavior involved, and the way he was behaving, as well," said Ray Maguire, assistant Wayne County prosecutor.

Demopoulos, who said he has handled thousands of cases in 35th District Court as an appointed attorney, said this was the "most bizarre guy I've ever run across." Demopoulos said McCloy's defense included taxation without representation, and the right to bear arms in the courtroom. "During the trial, he wanted the judge arrested for treason and the prosecutor arrested for perjury," said Demopoulos.

Demopoulos said he was "shocked" when notified of the murder in Waterford.

"I felt so sorry for that family, and then I realized it could have been me, or anyone else he came across at the court," Demopoulos said.

Police officials and court personnel won't speak publicly, but they believe the murder in Waterford Township could have been avoided if Archbold had ordered a psychiatric evaluation for McCloy.

"She just said that in Wayne they get these kinds of threats all the time and nothing ever happens, said one police official who asked remain anonymous. Archbold declined to comment.

Demopoulos said that despite the requests for an evaluation, he doubts one would have been completed in time to save the life of Polish.

"It takes so long for a psychiatric exam to be scheduled, and to be completed," he said. "I truly think there wouldn't have been a report back before the murder occurred."

Demopoulos said McCloy didn't have a previous criminal record, so he would have probably received only fines and probation for the misdemeanor conviction instead of 90 days in jail. Now, McCloy faces life in prison if convicted of first degree murder.

Kids Can Cook

Here are some tips from the Cherry Marketing Institute for kids who like to cook

- Read the recipe before you begin
  - Wash your hands with soap and water
  - Prepare and measure ingredients then start cooking
  - Ask mom or dad for kitchen permission
  - Clean up when you're done
  - Don't use the stove alone
- Try cherry cream cones

- 1 (10 ounces) jar maraschino cherries
- 3 cups whipped topping
- 1 (4 serving size) packet of any instant flavor pudding - chocolate is good
- 1 3/4 cups cold milk
- 6 flat bottom ice cream cones
- Colored sprinkles optional

Put a strainer in a bowl. Pour cherries into the strainer and drain juice into bowl. You don't need the juice for this recipe - save it to add to some orange juice or to flavor your glasses of drinking water!

Put cherries on a cutting board. With a sharp knife cut each cherry in half. (Make sure an adult supervises.) Prepare pudding according to directions on package using the 1 3/4 cups cold milk. Refrigerate pudding for 10 minutes.

Put cherry halves in a large bowl. With a rubber spatula scoop whipped topping into the bowl and stir gently until the cherries are mixed with the cream.

Fill each cone with 1/4 cup pudding. Top each with 1/2 cup cherry mixture. Decorate with colored sprinkles if desired. Serve instantly and eat with a spoon. Serves 6.

Frozen custard

Ritter's Frozen Custard, a nationwide franchise, has created a special custard for the Muscular Dystrophy Association Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon. The new flavor is Jerry's Kids Krunch and is available through Sept. 2 at all 38 Ritter's locations. The flavor features a mix of vanilla frozen custard laced with Oreo cookie chunks, M&M pieces and multi-colored sprinkles.

It can be purchased in scoops, pints and quarts. Ten percent of the profits go to the MDA.

We are delighted to work with the MDA for our first ever system-wide charitable promotion. With the help of our loyal customers and their healthy appetites for Ritter's ice cream, we are really making a difference, said John Ritter of the Indianapolis-based company.

You'll find Ritter's locally at 31227 Eight Mile in Livonia and 5962 Meridian in Brighton.

Epoch Restaurant leader is generous when it comes to crediting success

Great food, an innovative staff and a fun atmosphere are key ingredients of restaurant success and practiced to perfection at the Epoch Restaurant Group directed by Toni Wisne Sabina.

An employee greets Sabina with a kiss on the cheek as she enters Too Chez Bistro in Novi, one of her five restaurants.

Before she sits down at a table overlooking a cheery atrium area, another employee touches her shoulder in friendship and asks if she'd like a drink. Sabina keeps it simple and asks for an ice tea. All around her, the staff is busy preparing for the eclectic Friday night crowd of business folks, families, and couples who come to Too Chez to kick off their weekend. "The success is great," Sabina, 36, of Northville. "But the restaurants are only successful because I have a staff of people who truly care about food, and who really like and respect each other."

Sabina speaks about her success humbly just minutes before flying off

Mt. Veeder pioneer achieves top reputation

In the 1980s, before the very first grape was crushed at the renowned Hess

Collection Winery in Napa, Calif., Robert Craig had already spent years developing over 300 acres of vineyards on Mt. Veeder. These plantings established Hess reputation for premium-quality. During his tenure as President and General Manager of Hess until 1990, he spearheaded the campaign that resulted in Mt. Veeder being designated as a special appellation district within the Napa Valley.

Mountain grapegrowing pioneer Robert Craig founded his eponymous winery in 1992. We first tasted his wines in 1995 and have been fans ever since.

You may not have heard of Robert Craig Wine Cellars because the wines became available in Michigan only recently.

Wine Picks

Ray and Eleanor Heald

UNIQUE WINE PROGRAM

Craig's long-range program was implemented in 1993. The great regions of the Napa Valley are the basis of the Robert Craig wines, based on the concept of Two Mountains and a Valley, showcasing three cabernet sauvignon-based wines, produced from exceptional vineyards.

The aim of the program is to stylistically convey the unique personality of cabernets grown on Mt. Veeder and Howell Mountain. The third wine, Affinity, is a Bordeaux-style varietal blend of cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc, made from grapes sourced from top viticultural areas on the Napa Valley floor.

Wines with concentrated varietal character are the hallmark of Robert Craig. They are highly approachable upon release, but have structure for extended aging.

Because of the all-too-often tannic nature of Mount Veeder cabernet sauvignon, some producers and consumers have suggested that these wines are designed for collectors. Robert Craig disagrees. "Collectors also want balanced wines without aggressive tannins," he said. "They've learned that a tannic young wine ends up to be a tannic old wine with dried-out fruit. Producers should make the style of wine they want. Yet, if I have a wine that I can't drink for 10 years, I think I'm missing elements only enjoyed in youth. I call this the pretty baby theory of wine.

THEORY IN PRACTICE

As they say, the proof is in the pudding and we believe Craig's words and wines do not have a hollow ring. And if you're still of the opinion that 1998 was a below-par vintage across the board in Napa Valley, the 1998s below will change your mind.

■ 1998 Robert Craig Mt. Veeder Cabernet Sauvignon $44 sports intense black fruit with hints of toasty, roasted coffee, mocha and chocolate. Blackberry, black cherry and hints of cranberry are dominant flavors spiked with vanilla, spice cabinet and coffee. Supple tannins support a multi-dimensional wine with both power and finesse.

its success partially through a tooling company, Progressive Tool and Industries, that was sold several years ago

Today, Sabina, who studied hotel/restaurant and hospitality management in Michigan and Florida, spends her time traveling between all the restaurants and catering facility Her success is widely known in Michigan and she's becoming a local celebrity Her lavish and much-anticipated wedding last year to engineer Steve Sabina included 350 guests, with some arriving on private planes

The wedding was noteworthy for its never-ending meals, 24-piece orchestra, steel drum band, and cherry tree decor In tune with her personality though, the dress code was comfortable, and anything but snooty And that's the philosophy Sabina holds at her restaurants At Tribute, guests aren't required to dress lavishly to enjoy an upscale meal

'IT'S ABOUT FUN'

Merriment, quality meals and an interesting atmosphere are tools used to fill restaurant tables, Sabina said Even at the prestigious Tribute, named one of the 50 Best Restaurants in America by Gourmet Magazine, the focus is on quality food and gaiety

Restaurants are entertainment, she said 'I want mine to be fun and not stuffy I want everyone to feel comfortable at Tribute Sometimes people are intimidated at five-star restaurants Everyone deserves to feel good during their dining experience

For example, guests are greeted warmly upon entering Tribute with a boisterous welcome followed by Maitre d' Mickey Bakst

'Hello Everybody!' Sabina's values of friendliness and visually stunning restaurants were strengthened after Sept 11 To help its victims, Tribute hosted a $1,000 a plate fund-raiser After the attacks, Epoch business suffered initially as people chose to cocoon Tribute experienced losses in the first quarter of 2002 as businesses cut dining and entertainment budgets Within months though, people began to go out again and sought friendly places where they could feel good Businesses regained some confidence and corporate dining gained some momentum

The Bay Harbor restaurants near Petoskey are enjoying an extremely good year which Sabina attributes to more in-state vacations over airline trips

Sabina turns talk of herself into accolades for her staff's talents Compliments for Tribute Chef Takashi Yaghashi, praises for Too Chez Head Chef Michael Schmidt and cheerful dining room manager Achille Bianchi, words of gratitude for Forte Executive Chef Timothy Voss

She also takes a moment to praise Schoolcraft College's Culinary Arts program because many Epoch employees started there, she said Sabina is the honorary chair of this year's Schoolcraft Culinary Extravaganza on Sunday, Sept 22 (See related story)

The event will be a good one to see what's new in the food world, she said

INDUSTRY TRENDS

It's Sabina's job to follow restaurant trends Today, many establishments are afraid to have a unique identity People want comfort, she said, explaining the growing popularity of huge chain restaurants that use identical menus throughout the country

'Family-oriented restaurants are very popular,' Sabina said Most restaurants today are kid-friendly with casual attire

She also notices the rising popularity of Asian and Pacific Rim cuisine, especially sushi While Sabina and her staff need to watch trends to keep menus fresh, each restaurant has its own identity and style For example, Too Chez Bistro is eclectic and Tribute is Japanese/French

A salad at Too Chez includes hearts of palm, spinach, capers and Parmesan cheese Crab cake, lentil, and herb patties are some of the sandwich choices Entrees include langoustine-saffron pasta with fennel and white wine chive sauce or smoke roasted pork loin with horseradish whipped potatoes and barbecued onions

At Tribute, guests might try smoked salmon and foie gras starters, baby octopus and shrimp with soy wasabi sauce, continued courses of Japanese BBQ ribs and entrees of Atlantic fluke or rack of lamb and dessert of butterscotch creme brulee

At Forte appetizers include prosciutto with melon and cracked black pepper or Mexican pizza with chicken, black bean sauce, avocado and mozzarella Entrees include risotto with portobella mushrooms, duck breast or ribeye steak

'Dishes are created with a lot of thought, research and trials,' she said 'We don't change the menu on a whim, but will add or subtract an item here and there based on popularity or demand

'We take the food seriously and a complete menu change here is a very big deal I listen to the ideas and advice of our chefs'

Like she said, success is about teamwork and respect

Indian-style kebabs have great flavor and color

BY DANA JACOBI
CORRESPONDENT

Grilling, that all-American pastime, is an easy way to cook, but unfortunately, it may increase the risk of cancer. The high heat of grilling, along with the typical smoke and flare-ups, creates two types of carcinogens. One of my favorite grilled dishes, the Indian kebabs called tikkas, avoids the health risks posed by grilling with a few simple techniques that also add great flavor and color.

Resembling tandoori chicken on a stick, my tikkas are made with lean, skinless chicken breasts that have barely enough fat to drip and cause smoking. Cut in small pieces, the boneless meat cooks quickly, leaving less time for harmful compounds to form.

Scientists have found that marinades greatly reduce the risk of carcinogens forming, so I developed a spicy yogurt marinade that also makes these kebabs succulent and imbues them with spicy flavor. After marinating the chicken for a few hours (or even overnight), I thread the chicken onto skewers, alternating them with pieces of green pepper, wide crescents of red onion and chunks of fresh pineapple. This makes each kebab a generous serving that uses just three ounces of chicken.

Although unexpected in an Indian barbecue, the fruit's tropical tang nicely complements the curry flavors of this dish. Served over rice, or tucked into a warmed pita bread along with some shredded lettuce, these tikkas make a well-rounded, complete meal.

TIKKA KEBABS

- 1/2 cup low fat plain yogurt
- 1 garlic clove minced
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger or 1/4 teaspoon ground
- 1 teaspoon tomato paste
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 12 oz boneless skinned chicken breast cut in 24 pieces
- 8 1/2 inch cubes fresh or canned

Tikkas are Indian-style kebabs made with chicken, green pepper, wide crescents of red onion, and chunks of fresh pineapple. Served over rice, or tucked into a warmed pita bread along with some shredded lettuce, these tikkas make a well-rounded complete meal.

- pineapple
- 1 medium red onion cut in 20 wedges
- 1 large green bell pepper cut in 20 pieces
- Canola oil cooking spray

In a medium bowl, combine yogurt, garlic, ginger, tomato paste, curry powder, salt and pepper. Mix in chicken to coat on all sides. Cover bowl and refrigerate 2 to 8 hours.

Preheat grill or broiler. Soak skewers in water at least 15 minutes.

Remove chicken from marinade, scraping off and discarding most of marinade. Onto each skewer thread a piece of pineapple, then chicken, onion wedge and green pepper.

Repeat, minus pineapple, until each kebab contains 6 pieces of chicken, 5 onion wedges, 5 pieces of pepper and 2 pineapple cubes, one cube at each end.

To help prevent charring, spray kebabs with cooking oil spray. Cook skewers 4 to 5 minutes, making sure they are far enough from the heat source to avoid charring. Turn and cook until chicken is opaque throughout, about 4 minutes.

Serve kebabs. Kebabs go especially well with freshly-cooked brown rice or tucked inside pita bread lined with lettuce leaves.

Makes 4 servings. Per serving: 161 calories, 2 g total fat (less than 1 g saturated fat), 14 g carbohydrate, 23 g protein, 2 g dietary fiber, 81 mg sodium.

Coleslaw has Tex-Mex flavor

All you know for sure when served cole slaw is that it will have cabbage in it. The name comes from the Dutch word koolsla, which means "cool cabbage." There are as many kinds of cole slaw as there are cooks. But they all start with cabbage.

For many years, cole slaw meant not only cabbage but also mayonnaise. But in these more health-conscious times, cole slaws are often dressed with a vinaigrette instead. (This savvy approach also works well with potato salad.)

Using an oil- instead of mayonnaise-based dressing could cut back some of the fat and calories as well as some of the concerns about spoilage in warm weather.

Scientists believe that cruciferous vegetables like cabbage contain natural phytochemicals that can alter cancer-related enzymes, reducing the damage caused by carcinogens. While broccoli has received most of the publicity for this research, the whole cruciferous family - including cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, kale, chard, bok choy, collards and radishes - contains related substances. These protective phytochemicals exist whether the vegetables are eaten cooked or raw. When served raw, however, cabbage retains more water-soluble nutrients, including vitamin C.

Further studies have shown that cabbage contains the phytochemical group called indoles, which seem to boost enzymes that make estrogen less effective at promoting breast cancer. Another study, of men, suggests that cruciferous vegetables such as cabbage may help prevent bladder cancer.

Cole slaw is an appealing way to serve this multi-talented cruciferous vegetable.

Tex-Mex coleslaw gets its zip from the mild tang of its dressing, but allows the sweet taste of all that good cabbage to come through.

TEX-MEX COLESLAW

- 1 1/4 pounds green cabbage
- 1 small or medium onion sliced
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder (or 2 garlic cloves minced)
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/3 cup red wine vinegar
- 3 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil or canola oil
- Hot pepper sauce to taste (few drops to 1/4 teaspoon)
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Remove outer leaves of the cabbage, then core and shred (by hand or food processor). Transfer cabbage to a large serving bowl. Combine remaining ingredients in a blender or food processor and puree to make the dressing. Adjust seasonings to taste with pepper sauce, salt and pepper.

(Dressing should have a mild, but not overpowering, tang.)

Add to cabbage and toss well.

Coleslaw can be made 2 to 3 days before serving if stored, covered, in refrigerator. Stir well, check seasonings and adjust, if needed, before serving.

Makes 6 cups or 12 servings.

Per serving: 47 calories, 4 g total fat (less than 1 g saturated fat), 4 g carbohydrate, less than 1 g protein, 1 g dietary fiber, 9 mg sodium.

Chefs share tips for cutting salad dressing fat

BY THE CULINARY INSTITUTE OF AMERICA FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Salads are refreshing, lighter fare, popular year-round, not only during the hot summer months. There's an abundance of good greens available nowadays for cooks to make into interesting and satisfying salads.

However, high-calorie, high-fat salad dressings can weigh down an otherwise healthy salad. Fortunately, a variety of easy techniques exists for creating tasty dressings with a lower fat content.

Salad dressings are traditionally high in fat because they are made with oils or dairy products. These can be partially, or completely, replaced with other tasty ingredients - to decrease the calorie content but keep the appealing flavor.

One of the best substitutes for oil in salad dressings is stock or broth. A stock or broth adds flavor while significantly reducing fat content.

Stock and broth also can be thickened with a "slurry" of arrowroot (or cornstarch) before being added to other ingredients in a dressing, which will help keep the dressing's creamy consistency.

To make a slurry, combine 1 1/2 teaspoons of arrowroot with enough hot stock to dissolve the arrowroot. This mixture should coat the back of a spoon. The slurry can then be whisked into the remaining stock.

Citrus or fruit juices are also tasty substitutes for oil, as are vegetable purees, which offer more body.

Vinegars such as rice wine, sherry, cider, red wine, balsamic, malt, and champagne vinegar can be added (or their amounts increased) to a dressing recipe, to replace some or all of the oil and to enrich the flavor.

Citrus or fruit juices are also tasty substitutes for oil, as are vegetable purees, which offer more body. Vegetable purees such as tomato, carrot, or cucumber can be made by processing the vegetable in a food processor until it has a smooth texture.

"Low-fat doesn't need to mean a lack of flavor," says chef Michael Garnero, associate professor at the Culinary Institute of America.

"Try reducing liquid ingredients to intensify the flavor. Rapidly boil a liquid until it becomes thickened. For example, boil citrus juice until one-half the volume evaporates. Another trick is to use a small amount of flavored or infused oils, but remember that very small portions create intense flavor, so use sparingly."

When you remove fat from a dressing recipe, consider other ways of increasing flavor in compensation. Mustard, for example, these days is available in many different intensities and flavors, including Chinese mustard, Dijon mustard, country style mustards and very hot mustards. These can add a "zip" to the dressing's flavor.

Horseradish is another flavor-packed condiment that can be used in small quantities to enhance a dressing. Many prepared sauces, such as steak sauce and hot pepper sauce, can also boost flavor.

A whole range of other flavorful ingredients can add taste and texture to a salad dressing recipe - among them are capers, chopped olives, celery seed, mustard seed, fresh herbs such as chopped chives, cilantro, parsley, basil, tarragon and dill, and pungent ingredients such as chopped shallots, scallions, garlic, leeks, celery and bell peppers.

Creamy dressings can be adjusted to lower the fat content while still keeping the creamy texture and taste. Nonfat or low-fat yogurt (drained), part-skim ricotta cheese (pureed) and nonfat buttermilk are ideal substitutes for the dairy products with higher fat content used in traditional creamy dressings.

The following recipe for ratatouille vinaigrette uses fat-reduction substitutions but still gives you a flavorful dressing. The recipe is among those featured in the Culinary Institute of America's cookbook, The Professional Chef's Techniques of Healthy Cooking (Wiley)

RATATOUILLE VINAIGRETTE

1 1/2 teaspoons arrowroot
1 cup vegetable stock
1/2 cup sherry vinegar
1 1/2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1/2 cup extra virgin olive oil
1 1/2 tablespoons minced garlic
1 tablespoon minced shallots
1/2 cup zucchini, diced small
1/2 cup red pepper, diced small
1/2 cup yellow pepper, diced small
1 tablespoon basil, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon chopped oregano
1 tablespoon chopped chervil
1/4 teaspoon salt

Combine arrowroot with enough cold stock to form a slurry. Bring remaining stock to a boil and stir in slurry. Return to a boil and stir constantly until stock thickens. Remove from heat, stir in vinegar, and cool completely.

Add mustard to thickened stock. Gradually whisk in oil. Stir in remaining ingredients. Refrigerate until needed. Under refrigeration this dressing will keep for several weeks, however, fresh herbs may darken.

Makes 16 servings of 2 tablespoons each.

Give sauces and soups a low-fat adjustment

BY THE CULINARY INSTITUTE OF AMERICA FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

of Healthy Cooking

Most health-conscious Americans are looking for lower-fat alternatives to make sauces and soups healthier while keeping plenty of flavor, texture, and appearance.

Besides being an essential nutrient that the body needs to perform a number of vital functions, fat provides a rich flavor and silky texture to foods.

The downside to fat is that it is a dense source of calories. One teaspoon of oil contains about 40 calories, which is about the calorie content of a medium peach. Therefore, it is easy to consume a lot of calories from fat without eating a lot of food.

Soups, sauces, dressings and gravies can be high in fat because of added oil or dairy products, such as heavy cream. Fat improves texture and viscosity by emulsifying or thickening liquids, reducing the fat content can change the appearance and texture dramatically.

However, lower-fat thickening alternatives can be used to produce excellent results.

Vinaigrette, a classic cold sauce, can be modified by replacing two parts of the oil with a starch-thickened stock or juice. The result is a sauce that actually coats food better than conventional vinaigrette. If the stock or juice is full-flavored, it can be even more flavorful than the original.

Some foods are not suitable for low-fat adjustments. For example, it is difficult to make a hollandaise sauce without butter and egg yolks because there are no acceptable substitutes. In such cases, serve small quantities of the original recipe.

The following salad and vinaigrette recipes show how low-fat flavorful ingredients can be combined to make a healthy, light, and tasty dish.

They are from the Culinary Institute of America's The Professional Chef's Techniques

CHINESE LONG BEAN SALAD WITH TANGERINES AND SHERRY-MUSTARD VINAIGRETTE

For the salad
3 1/4 cups (about 8 ounces) Chinese long beans
4 tangerines
1 1/2 cups (about 3 ounces) Vidalia onion, thinly sliced
1 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons (about 3 ounces) sunflower seeds, toasted
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

For the Sherry Mustard Vinaigrette
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1/2 cup vegetable stock
3 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons sherry vinegar
2 tablespoons tangerine juice
1 tablespoon Dijon style mustard
1 tablespoon light brown sugar
2 teaspoons minced shallots
1 teaspoon minced garlic
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

Trim beans, cut into 1 1/2-inch lengths, and cook in boiling water until barely tender. Drain and cool. Trim peel from tangerines. Working over a bowl to catch juices, cut segments away from membranes. Squeeze juice from leftover membranes and reserve for vinaigrette. Combine beans, tangerine segments, onion and sunflower seeds in a large bowl. Season with salt and pepper.

To make vinaigrette: Combine cornstarch with 1 teaspoon water to form a slurry. Bring vegetable stock to a boil. Add slurry and stir until stock thickens. Cool to room temperature. Combine remaining vinaigrette ingredients and whisk into thickened stock. Toss bean mixture with vinaigrette.

Makes 8 servings.
Nutrition information per serving: 120 cal, 3 g pro, 11 g carbo, 9 g fat, 0 mg chol, 250 mg sodium.

Moroccan party transforms zoo parking deck into 'Casbah'

LANA MINI
STAFF WRITER

There's never been an experience, or an event, like this in Detroit.

Strong words, entrepreneur Dante Di Miro knows. But the public party he's planning is so grand and unique he knows it'll be a conversation piece for quite some time. His events are always big. Di Miro's company Gemini Entertainment, is transforming the Detroit Zoo's rooftop parking structure into a colorful Moroccan Casbah underneath a grand exotic tent on Friday August 30.

Rock the Casbah runs 9 p.m. - 2 a.m. at the zoo, located at Woodward and I-696 service drive. General tickets are $35. Tickets for the VIP reception that starts at 7 p.m. are $75.

Dancing, fire eaters, Moroccan and techno music from a huge 45,000 watt sound system, Egyptian henna tattoo artists, rich velvet lounging furniture, big colorful pillows from exotic fabrics, torch jugglers, Moroccan belly dancers and American dancers, people walking on glass, hors d'oeuvres, stilt walkers and more will fill the parking structure.

'I've fallen in love with events like this.'

Dante Di Miro
Gemini Entertainment

Think North African and Middle Eastern sights, sounds and ambiance.

Rooftop parties are en vogue in Los Angeles but Di Miro, of Livonia, doesn't like to imitate the west coast.

"This is unique. What we're doing is taking people halfway around the world and dropping them at their doorstep."

And just because it's rooftop, do not expect it to look like one. Gemini Entertainment is known for attention to details — last year's MTV party at Tonic nightclub in Pontiac is still being talked about, as is the pool party thrown atop the Ponchatran rooftop this summer. Expect a grand Casbah.

For example, guests at this party will be treated with elegance. No 'Port-A-John' restrooms here. Instead, Di Miro will have executive bathrooms brought to the rooftop on a crane. Tissue-flame style torch lamps and perhaps even giant large video screens will add to the Casbah fortress that will be seen from Woodward and I-696.

"I've fallen in love with events like this," Di Miro said. "I know how to give people what they want and they want something different."

Artists Francis Sims and Cherine Abdalla, who co-owns The Henna Room in Detroit, are excited about Rock the Casbah.

Both women will be there creating temporary, detailed and elaborate henna art on patrons. She calls it body jewelry. Colors range from rust to black cherry.

At Rock the Casbah, each guest pays $7 for painted henna art on their bodies which normally costs $20 or up. The Henna Room is a traveling henna business attending private and corporate parties upon request.

Even The Clash's 1980s hit Rock the Casbah was been re-mixed just for the event. Di Miro said partygoers will also hear a few other 1980s hits remixed as well too — all with danceable beats. The structure floors will be renamed for the evening "Oasis Level" and "Sahara Level."

The reason Di Miro has given his heart to Rock the Casbah is that proceeds will benefit not only the zoo, but also the families of Michigan police officers. His best friend, Kenny Ditmore, who is recently deceased, held a personal concern for Michigan families of law enforcement. In Ditmore's honor, a charity was formed called Kenny's Angels to help those people. Di Miro plays a key role.

Rana Kozouz of the Detroit Zoo said she hopes the event will reintroduce young professionals, between the ages of 25-40 to the zoo.

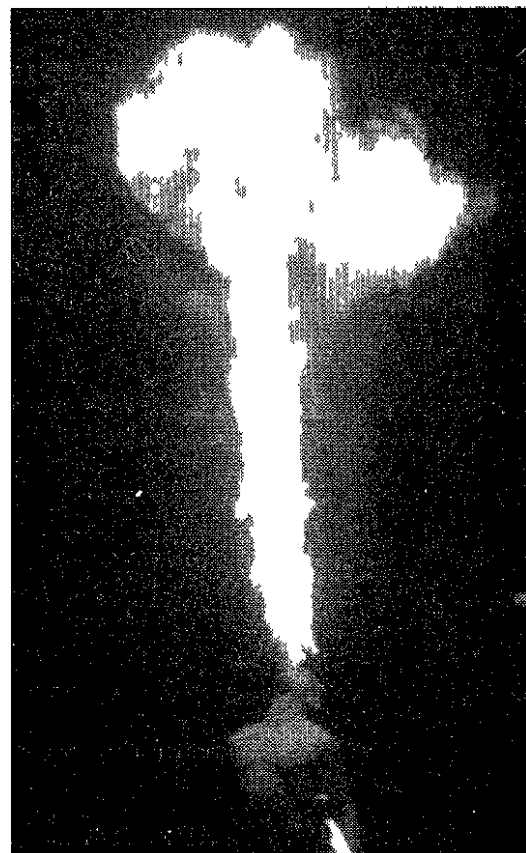

The energetic Di Miro has been hosting parties since his days at Marygrove College where his dorm room parties were attended by students from MSU, U of M, Wayne and more.

"I was the doorman and the security guard back then," he laughed.

For Rock the Casbah, companies like Fox 2, Clear magazine, Verso entertainment, Zodiac Vodka and more have jumped on board to assist.

"The only regret people will have is if they don't come," Di Miro said.

With sultry music and entertainment under Moroccan tent all for a good cause, he may be right.

A fire-eater lights up the night with a cloud of hot, bright flames. Fire-eaters, dancers and more will entertain at Rock the Casbah on Friday, Aug. 30.

OK, begin in Washington D.C. on Inauguration Day 1989. Next, let's switch to London toward the end of the Second World War. Then it's 1998, and we find ourselves near an unknown lake with autumn in the air. Then, a self-help seminar in St. Louis in 1980, then a party at a palatial Michigan mansion eight years earlier, then a family argument over lamb steaks circa 1989.

Jump ahead nine years to a September afternoon in a place called Big Dipper Township. Proceed to 1998, and a dinky furniture store called Living Arrangements. Next, we're on the Internet, visiting a site reached via www.eggcode.com.

In addition to these highly diverse locations and time periods, over the course of this doorstopper-sized novel we drop in on a young dancer's dream, a psychiatric examining room, the Kellogg Corporation in Battle Creek, a strange tower in the middle of a lake. And on spots are enough characters to populate a Russian novel — and most have names that would fit nicely in the funny pages. Kay Tree is a cryptologist. Bartholomew Hasse, a prosperous United States publisher, is a descendant of Johann Gutenberg. Simon Tree-Mould is the young, strange grandson of Kay Tree. Derek Skye is a slavishly admired motivational speaker/author who doesn't believe his own speechifying. Steve Mould is the blithery father of the aforementioned Simon. Olden Field is a handsome loner who fools around with a Reduced Instruction Set Computing Processor, far more elegant than the high-profile Pentium. Scarlet Blessing is a kind of butterfly-brained dancer who catches his eye. Cam Pee, born in Southeast Asia, is the CEO of Living Arrangements. Gray Hollows is an ad man with a "talent for understanding the underlying crassness at the heart of any new marketing campaign." And the list goes on. And on. And on.

Wait—you can't be confused yet. We've not even touched upon plot.

While I'm not totally clear on it myself, it all appears to do with the printed word and the electronic word down through the ages. More specifically here, we're dealing with a router called the Gloria 21169, which is a part of the Gloria Corporation, based in Ann Arbor. Let's just say that Gloria is up to no good, and that its 'intentions' affect, in ways large and small, just about every one of the characters in this novel (which, by the way, might put you in mind of The World According to Garp or 2001, or both or neither).

The Egg Code is so titled for at least three reasons. The term is used by glaciologists (yes, there's one of those in the cast of

Simple steps improve photos

Has your meter ever failed causing you to pack it in for the day because you had no other way to determine exposure? Have you ever shot a roll of film, perhaps of a very important event, only to find out afterwards to your dismay that the film never went through the camera?

Focus On Photography Monte Nagler

Well, fear no more This week, and in my next column, I'm going to share my list of helpful hints for better photographs and pointers to help you keep out of a jam.

Everything worked perfectly for Monte Nagler and his camera in this charming photo of a little girl heading into the woods

Focus On Photography Monte Nagler If your meter fails, all is not lost Use the rule of 'Sunny Sixteen'

Set the camera's aperture at f-16 on a sunny day (hence, sunny sixteen) and the shutter speed at the number closest to the ASA of your film. For example, with Kodachrome 64, proper exposure is yours with an exposure of f-16 at 1/60 second.

read your instruction manual! Not only will you have a more thorough understanding of how your camera works, but also you'll find much useful advice to help you take better pictures.

Shop, eat, boat watch on Harsens Island

BY THREEOLBAGS
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENTS

Gentle breezes and waves lapping the shore of an island paradise are just a hop, skip and jump away when the destination is Harsens Island at the mouth of the St. Clair River.

The island is about an hour from the Livonia area by way of I-94 north to M29. From South Oakland County, take I-696 east to I-94, north to M29. Rochester-area residents, take M-59 to I-94 or Avon to 23 Mile to M29.

Watch for 'Champions Auto Ferry' about sixteen miles from the freeway exit on M29.

Harsens Island offers new experiences and the opportunity to soak in a little of the "up North" feeling, without the long drive.

The five minute, five dollar, auto ferry ride, across the North Channel to the island made the visit exciting for ThreeOlBAGS who stumbled across the island last summer. Because of enthusiastic prompting of people on the island, like Susan Masters and Barbara Persyn, who run Reader's Cove, a volunteer library for island residents, we planned our more in-depth return this year.

We found merchants eager to share the unique history and personality of Harsens Island and we enjoyed the relaxed, retreat type atmosphere that blankets the island. The area's rich history includes a strip of luxury resorts visited by wealthy Detroiters who arrived on luxury liners like The Tashmoo, built by White Star Lines, which also built the Titanic. Tragically all but one of these regal Hotels were destroyed by fires. Photos of most of the resort hotels are displayed in the Sans Souci Landing on the South Channel. Tashmoo Park, once located on Harsens Island, was one of the first amusement parks in Michigan.

Today, visitors enjoy a more natural, easy pace, including a drive through the island's interior, now a nature preserve. We found water lilies in full bloom on an inland marsh area and two fawns enjoying lunch by the roadside.

Foxes, swans, herons, geese and ducks also live in the St. Clair Flats State Game Area, the island's interior. Limited upland game hunting is enjoyed on the island.

A ride around the shoreline

A country store at Walker's Landing on Harsens Island

includes interesting sights like homes on stilts (pilings), and other homes accessible exclusively by boardwalk or boat. A country store, mimicking one from a harbor town you'd expect to see in Maine rather than Michigan, accents Walker's Landing, a picturesque community on the South Channel.

There are plenty of marinas inlets (complete with small fishing boats), and narrow roads made by dredging canals that run along either side. Elegant homes dot the island.

A stop at Minnich's, a boat and tackle store on the middle channel yielded one of Harsens Island's best kept secrets. It seems the island is famous for hard-to-find antique boat parts.

"We had one man come from Florida for parts," said Mary Minnich, owner of the tackle shop.

Her well-stocked fishing shop also offers charter boats that will take you out to fish for perch, bass and walleye all plentiful in the area.

Boat watching is the overall favorite pastime of Harsens Island visitors and residents. Locals can identify the type and size of each one of the huge barges, interesting commercial ships, smaller craft and occasional tall ships that sail by.

We were drawn into the quiet pride and sense of peace as we stopped to watch passing freighters filled with steel, coal or other cargo.

On land we found the organization and operation of the volunteer library to be the epitome of the island's character.

Volunteers pumped hours and dollars into the project to open the library doors in 1998 with a few hundred donated books. Today the library has become the meeting place for the community with its homey atmosphere, living room seating and friendly volunteer staff. The book count has increased to between 7000 and 8000.

Country Scenes Ltd., a gift and clothing shop next door to the library is owned by Lynn Decker, who also runs the only bed and breakfast on the island. We asked Decker when the best time to come to the island for an overnight stay was.

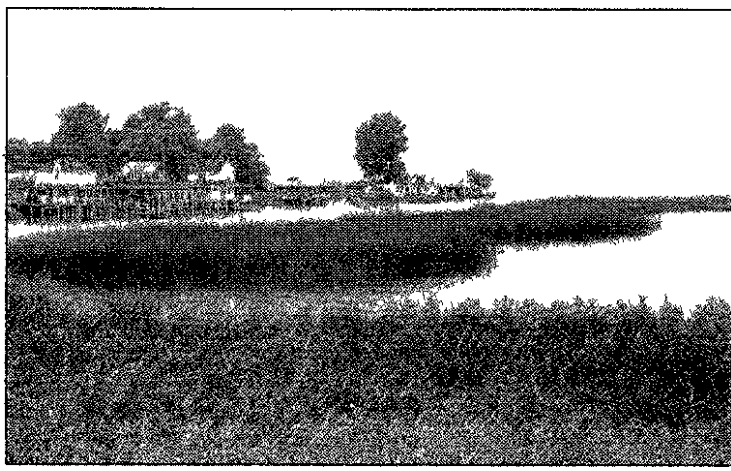

Any time of year is a great time to visit, she said. Spring and summer-time is wonderful, autumn is magnificent color and winter is so quiet.

We also had a chance to visit with George and Barbara Crown, co-owners of the island's newest enterprise on the South Channel, The Sans Souci Landing. It's a bakery, cafe and marketplace all in one, featuring the Landing Café, which serves breakfast, lunch and desserts, including delicious ice cream.

George is a retired art professor who sells watercolor originals that reflect his surroundings from a studio in the Landing. Barbara, a former marketing professional, has owned the Waterfront Shoppe (just across the street) for ten years where you can still buy penny candy.

The island population of about 1500 full-time residents (mostly retirees), swells to about 5000 in the summer months, when part-timers come to relax in their cottages. Locals refer to their fifteen by seven mile island as 'The People's Paradise.' It was easy for us to see why.

A stress fracture caused Kristin Mastic to miss most of last season for Salem She figures to be a factor for the Rocks this season

Stronger Salem team seeks to move up in WLAA

BY C J RISAK
STAFF WRITER

What Salem's girls cross country team has lacked the past couple of years proved costly in its last competition of 2001

The Rocks had managed to pack it in and finish fifth in a very strong Western Lakes Activities Association championship meet That pack-style of running — something Salem had to do since, as coach Dave Gerlach noted, it lacked a true 'frontrunner' to crack the top 10 consistently — wasn't quite good enough at the state regionals

Canton surprised the Rocks and a lot of other teams by finishing third at regionals and qualifying for state That outcome did not sit well with Salem last year, but it's something the Rocks plan to use, motivationally-speaking, this season

"They nudged us," said Gerlach, then added, "But now we've got a very motivated team, which is great to see After the way the season ended last year, they're hungry"

What the Rocks hunger for is not necessarily a Western Lakes Activities Association championship That may be too lofty an ambition, considering the talent and depth of defending champ Livonia Churchill and main contenders Northville and Livonia Stevenson But placing atop the next group of teams, or perhaps even cracking the top three, is not out of reach

Certainly there are lineup holes to plug, with the graduation of No 1 runner Kim Wood and Jill Grey, consistently among Salem's top seven But the components are in place to make this team better than last year's

"The difference with this year and last year is that we have two who will be frontrunners, and that's something we haven't had," said Gerlach

Lauren Kane, a sophomore who placed 27th at the WLAA meet last season, figures to be "our leader," according to Gerlach Two others, both juniors, return to places of prominence after injury-plagued sophomore years Lianne Griffiths had a leg stress fracture, causing her to miss the WLAA meet and regionals Kristin Mastic also had a stress fracture, in her hip Griffiths should run with Kane as one of Salem's best this season, Mastic is starting to return to form, but Gerlach believes she "will figure in the lineup by the end of the year"

Another who should be up there for the Rocks is senior co-captain Stephame Hajduk, who placed 29th at the WLAA's last year Then there's Halle Burton, a junior who was 30th at league a year ago, Monica Przebienka, a sophomore who was 37th, and Erin Jensen, a senior who was 46th Jensen will share the team captaincy with Hajduk

"There are others who will figure in," said Gerlach "There are some freshmen and several seniors who will be in there fighting for spots

"I figure there will be as many as 14 who will challenge"

Canton has stuff to keep momentum

C J RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The momentum gained at the end of last season appears to have carried over to the start of this one for Canton's girls cross country team

For one thing, Chiefs coach John Venning has one of his biggest teams since, well — "I haven't had a group this big in quite a while," was his recollection of how his 40-plus squad stacks up to its predecessors

But that isn't the best news Canton has lost just one key contributor — Rachel Lindman — from a team that put together its best performance at the state regional, finishing third to qualify for state

"We're loaded with seniors," noted Venning, whose

Chiefs were seventh at the WLAA Championships

The lineup is impressive, starting with senior Sarah McCormack Her sixth-place finish at the state regionals provided the impetus to propel the Chiefs to the state finals McCormack was 12th at the WLAA meet

Also returning is senior Mary Maloney, who placed 32nd at the conference finals, junior Sarah Strobbe, who was 51st, junior Carrie Oleszkowicz, who was 45th, senior Tonda Shumbo, junior Allison Schmidt, senior Pam Reasor, senior Jessica Levely, and senior Erica Stoney

And yet, as impressive as all that experience may seem, there's a newcomer who no doubt will crack the lineup and be one of the Chiefs' top runners Becky McCormack, a freshman and Sarah's younger sister

An imposing starting unit, yes And yet Venning has no illusions regarding the upcoming WLAA campaign — he knows the three teams that led by a wide margin at the conference meet last fall will be up there again

Defending champ Livonia Churchill remains the favorite, with Livonia Stevenson and Northville close behind

The Chargers finished first in the league by 31 points last season, Stevenson edged Northville for second by three

The gap between third and fourth-place Walled Lake Central was another 30 points, with Salem a distant fourth, 42 points further behind

With Churchill, Northville and Stevenson all returning most of their best runners, closing the gap won't be easy

"I'm looking at Churchill, Stevenson and Northville" to be atop the leader board, Venning said Northville, which returns everyone, is really "loaded" They'll battle Stevenson for second anyway

As for the rest of the conference — which will be without all three Farmington schools after they transferred to the Oakland Athletic Association — Central, Canton and Salem should remain in the next tier of teams

"We'll be in the middle again with Central and Salem," agreed Venning "But

Council, Project F.I.S.H. form partnership

Outdoor Insights
Bill Parker

The Clinton River Watershed Council has a tall task at hand "to protect, improve and celebrate the Clinton River, its watershed and Lake St Clair"

That's no small mission statement considering the magnitude of the Clinton River

With 80 miles of mainstream waters and over 1,000 miles of feeder streams, the Clinton River Watershed covers 760 square miles of land, including a large portion in eastern Oakland County It flows through 60 communities with a combined population of over 1.6 million, mostly in eastern Oakland and Macomb counties

As Michigan rivers go, the Clinton is a formidable water resource and it's right here in southeastern Michigan No one in the Eccentric coverage area is more than a few minutes away from the Clinton or one of its tributaries

While the Clinton River is not the first thought for most anglers when the conversation turns to wetting a line, it is gaining in popularity

When I was a child, there were no fish to speak of in the Clinton River, from Pontiac all the way to Lake St Clair

Raw sewage, municipal discharges and household rubbish littered the waterway and turned a magnificent resource into a dumping ground

In the early 1970s, as the environmental movement was accelerating, an awareness took hold of residents in southeastern Michigan and the river began to change The Clinton River Watershed Council (CRWC) was formed in 1974 and has been coordinating, protecting and preserving the river ever since

Today, thanks in large part to the efforts of the CRWC, the river is back on its way to good health It's not a pristine trout stream like many of this state's northern jewels, but fish and fishing have returned Steelhead runs attract anglers to the lower stretches of the river each spring An occasional walleye is caught in the river today as well as bass and panfish

Trout are stocked in Paint Creek, which is a tributary of the Clinton Heather Van Den Berg is one-third of the full-time staff at the CRWC, serving as the group's educational director With a background in fisheries biology, she understands the importance of fish, and fishing, to a watershed

"The best way to learn about the ecology of a body of water is from the bottom up, starting with the fish Everything else is connected," she told members of the Fishing Buddies Fishing Club Tuesday night in Rochester

CRWC has become a local sponsor of Project FISH (Friends Involved in Sportfishing Heritage) - an educational program for youths and families

While some may see the partnership as unusual, Van Den Berg sees it as an opportunity to build for the future

"A lot of times, today, families are busy and they can't find time to go fishing," she says "It's a tradition that's being lost"

Project FISH is attempting to maintain and strengthen that tradition by introducing children and families to the sport of fishing People are introduced to fishing through educational workshops covering topics, including aquatic ecology, tackle crafting, and angling skills

"Most of the time, if someone fishes, they care about the water," Van Den Berg explained "By promoting fishing, we're promoting the future of the river by recruiting people who will care about the river down the road"

I couldn't agree more Van Den Berg was on somewhat of a recruiting trip Tuesday at the Fishing Buddies meeting, seeking experienced anglers to volunteer their time at one of the upcoming workshops

Workshops are scheduled for the EE Center in Rochester Hills on Nov 9, 23 and Dec 7, and at the Sterling Heights Nature Center Sept 14, 28 and Oct 5

The CRWC also organizes stewardship programs, including River Day, Adopt-A-Stream, River Clean-Up, and the Student Monitoring Program This year's Clinton River Clean-Up is scheduled for Saturday, Sept 21 River cleaning activities are scheduled at 12 sites along the river, up from just one site last year

If any of the CRWC programs or Project FISH sounds like a worthy cause and you'd like to volunteer your time, contact Heather Van Den Berg at (248) 853-9580

Not only will volunteering be beneficial to the Clinton River, your efforts will also be perpetuating the thrill and enjoyment of fishing to someone whom otherwise might miss out on a whole lot of fun

Salem, Canton turn in stronger outings

No, it wasn't great But it was better

Big thing was, the performance of Salem's golf team at Friday's eight-team Grosse Ile Invitational, played at Riverview Highlands, showed the kind of improvement coach Rick Wilson hopes will continue throughout this season

The Rocks placed fourth, one stroke ahead of Allen Park and two behind Riverview Gabriel Richard Trenton was an easy

PREP GOLF

winner, scoring 288, Grosse Ile's Red Team was second at 297, followed by Gabriel Richard with 316 and Salem with 318

"I thought if we could shoot 320, that'd be OK, said Wilson "And we shot 318 It's going to take some time this season, it'll be a building process"

The Rocks' top scorer was Joe Pomorski, whose 75 tied him for 10th overall and earned him medal recognition (which goes to the top 10 at tournaments) Aaron Cheesman was next best for Salem with a 79, followed by Andy Thackaberry with an 80 and Pat Shaw with an 84

Other Rock golfers were Dave Pawlukiewicz with an 86 and Charley Suder with an 87

Overall tournament medalist honors went to Trenton's Alex Balog with a 68

The Rocks play at the

Brighton Invitational Monday, which besides the premium competition will provide them with a look at the course at which their state regional tournament will be played

NOTE: Salem which played its home meets the past couple of years at St John's in Plymouth will change sites to Northville Hills Wilson expressed no dissatisfaction with St John's but said with the new Plymouth HS team playing its home meets there as well as Redford Catholic Central and some others he thought it might be better to switch Plus he found the new Northville Hills course to be outstanding

CANTON PLACES 4TH

It wasn't necessarily the best lineup Canton coach Tom Alles could have fielded, but it certainly performed up to par at Thursday's Byron Eagle Invitational at the Eastern Michigan University Eagle Crest course

Playing in the nine-team Division 1-2, the Chiefs placed fourth with a 333 score Flint Kearsley was first with a 316, followed by Swartz Creek at 326 and Southgate Anderson at 327

Alles likes to play a lot of golfers in the early-season tournaments, which meant his top stars - Ryan McKendry and Scott Oliver - were absent from Thursday's tournament

That made Canton's performance more impressive "It was for the guys I took to it," said Alles Those were pretty good scores And that's a tough course, that Eagle Crest

I try to spread it around and see who can play in the pre-season

Most impressive was the score posted by junior John Palmer, whose 78 earned him a medal and placed him fourth overall Greg Kubert, a senior, was next best for Canton with an 82, he was followed by three sophomores, Garrett Hyman at 84, Dustin Trospier at 89 and Matthew Haar at 97

Orr scores a winner with the Hearts of Livonia crowd

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

The legend met longevity and came away impressed. Hockey superstar Bobby Orr served as featured speaker at Wednesday's Ben Celani Hearts of Livonia golf outing and banquet. The event raises money for St Mary Mercy Hospital, college scholarships and other charitable causes.

The National Hockey League perennial All-Star defenseman, whose wondrous career was cut short at 12 years after six knee operations, marveled at the Hearts of Livonia fundraiser's endurance.

"I couldn't imagine having a tournament for 25 years. That's outstanding," said Orr, whose trophy case includes numerous Most Valuable Player and best defenseman honors as well as two Stanley Cups with the Boston Bruins in 1970 and '72.

JIM JAGOFELD | OBSERVER

Hockey great Bobby Orr signs an autograph for Ian Davison, 9. Orr was in Livonia Wednesday as part of a big fund-raiser.

"After seeing such great support, I can see why this tournament has lasted 25 years." Orr bore up to unremitting autograph requests, signing everything from scraps of paper to embroidered Boston Bruins jerseys. Orr's on-ice exploits are perhaps only exceeded by his graciousness.

After posing for a photo with one well wisher, Orr gave the woman an emphatic hug well after the flash evaporated. A shared recollection of his storied career was likely to be greeted with a hearty slap on the shoulder. Children, like Tom Celani's son, found themselves in a playful headlock topped off with a "noogie" from the hockey great. Some diminutive signature seekers hadn't even been born when Orr played his last season in 1978 with the Chicago Blackhawks.

"Parents were telling their children, 'Go up and get his autograph' and children were asking why?" said Orr to banquet-goers at Burton Manor. "The parents were saying, 'I'll tell you why later. Now get up there.'" A 9-year-old boy knew Orr was a hockey player, but didn't fully understand the scope of his fame until his mother told him

"My mom and dad said he was a good hockey player," said Ian Davison, whose mother Kim is a chef at the Livonia banquet facility. A Hearts of Livonia volunteer proudly wore Bobby Orr's signature on his T-shirt. As a Windsor native, Stephen Dunn didn't need any biographical primers on the player who revolutionized the game as a rushing defenseman.

"He's my number one guy. I remember watching him when I was 6 or 7 years old," said Dunn who volunteered at the event with wife Kristina from Passageways Travel.

"He's a great person to be around. When I was flipping hot dogs, my heart nearly hit the ground just being around him. Orr didn't disappoint at the podium."

After a half-hour tribute video, Orr gave his take on several hockey related issues. He responded to written questions he solicited from audience members.

- On a possible NHL lockout in 2004: "I think hockey people see what's happening in baseball (Major League players have set Friday as a strike deadline). I think cooler heads will prevail on both sides. (An NHL lock-out) will be a disaster. It will kill the game."
- Hockey's high salaries: "The salaries don't upset me. Players who don't come out and play consistently (does)." "Red Wings chance to repeat as Stanley Cup champions." With Cujo (goaltender Curtis Joseph), that addition doesn't hurt. The big question is Stevie Yzerman coming back. He, in my mind, has to go down as one of the great captains in the game."
- The greatest hockey player of all time: "Without question, it's Mister (Gordie) Howe. When I came into the league, he'd already been playing 21 years. He was still a dangerous, tough player.

"He was a tough player sucker. I was lurking around here expecting an elbow. I haven't received an elbow all day."

Orr wished he played longer than 12 seasons but has no regrets.

He left a larger message to parents and children, reminding them hockey and other sports can teach important values.

Above all else, though, the games should always be fun.

The fact that Orr's two sons, ages 28 and 24, never played hockey or skated only underscored his point.

The Orr boys played football, baseball and soccer, which pleased their dad.

"I'd never force my kids to play a game just because I played it," said the game's greatest defenseman.

Gavie signals start of new year

Ten Pin Alley
Al Harrison

Each year at this time I write the same story, with a little variation. This past Monday, the 66th annual John P. Gavie Tournament was staged at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park. And as always, the event is regarded as the official start of the new bowling season.

With one evening squad of 64 teams, the Gavie is the largest single day, one-squad tournament anywhere.

This year's event was dedicated to Tony Lindemann for the men's division, Cheryl Daniels, women's division, the late Ted Bills for the seniors division.

As a member of the press team, I was privileged to bowl along with Lindemann, Eddie Lubanski, and many other stars who have made their mark over the years in Detroit area bowling.

The winning team in the women's category was Thunderbowl Ladies, which consisted of Kathy King, Dianne Walters, Sabrina Jones, Angie Newly and Crystal Castillo.

Their 3,191 total carried them to the first place finish.

The men's category championship was won by the D B T Awards and Promotions team with a winning total of 3,501.

The senior trophy went to Lock & Load, made up of Robert Kendricks, Nate Armstead, Leonard Bowens, Al Mitchell and Vince Proctor as they banged out a total of 3,241 pins.

■ The Sunday Youth Classic is looking for a fresh crop of aspiring youth bowlers for the 2002-03 season.

The league is a premier traveling league that has bowled in the Detroit area for a great many years.

They have turned outcome great youth bowlers who have gone on to stardom in the greater Detroit bowling area as well as on the national scene.

There is a minimum average of 120 in the SYC, which uses 14 different bowling centers 10 a.m. each Sunday.

The league is seeking both male and female youth bowlers. It is Youth American Bowling Association sanctioned. The YABA also offers some excellent coaching for the youth.

For more information, call the director Ed Wright at (248) 477-5047 or the assistant director Bob Black at (313) 386 2361.

Both Ed and Bob have daughters, Julie and Cyni, who have progressed through this league into becoming some of the very best bowlers in this area.

Both bowl in the ladies all-star leagues.

Al Harrison is a resident of Garden City and director with the Greater Detroit Bowling Assoc. at on. He can be reached at (734) 422 1690.

Mercer (N.J.) CC, 5-4 in overtime, but in their third match they didn't even bother showing up, losing 11-4 to Meridian (Miss.) CC, the defending national champs.

"They showed us what the level is at the nationals," Scicluna said of the opening round loss to Yavapai. "You come out somewhat sleeping and they'll get you."

"It was humbling. Scicluna figures his team peaked a week early, at the NJCAA Regional Tournament. He knows the Ocelots, although talented, weren't the equal of others in the tournament.

"There were teams with more talent last year, he said. But we could have competed better than we did.

That brings us back to a player's philosophy, something Scicluna — preaching his WAZA approach to soccer, which is more mental than physical — believes can be improved. He'll get his chance this season, although he has 13 players back from last season, his top three scorers are gone. Factor into the equation that SC will have players from seven other nations, from the Ivory Coast in Africa to Australia, and Scicluna's based-on-communication approach will make this season a true challenge.

At least it won't be a nightmare, a situation Scicluna was facing just a month ago. Three players he thought would return — Tom Eller, Mike Thomas and Christian Dragon — who led the 2001 team in scoring decided not to, leaving Scicluna with major holes to fill.

Experienced players he does have returning include two from two seasons ago, Andrew Rea (Canton) and Yao Kra (he's from the Ivory Coast). Starters who are back are keeper Eric Stelha (from Lavonia Churchill), Ryan Mallard, Zoran Goljic (from Yugoslavia), Worth Sampson (from Liberia), Antonio Ventura and Walter Watts.

Other returnees are Dickson Mann III, Will Friend, Aaron Steffenhager, Shon Washington (from Canton HS), Charles Noles, Billy Tskaris and Jon Hernandez.

The newcomers will certainly help Salvador Odeukeng (Cameroon) Ryan Montague (from Jamaica), Leonardo Moya (from Costa Rica), Chris Golen and, when he arrives Monday, David Comito (from Australia).

Still blending this international crew into a team may take time. Scicluna will be without Lamarr Peters, a former assistant coach who took a head coaching position at Triton College (Ill.), his replacement is Dommics brother, Mario. Joe Kurta returns to assist, with Chris King also joining the staff.

Scicluna believes he's well on his way toward capturing his team's attention and trust. The best thing with this team is its spirit, he said. That's the stepping stone that leads to which tools to pull out. It's like a carpenter building a house — you can't be pulling out a saw when you need a hammer.

Something else that could help this team's development. The memory of how last season ended. Those guys still have that taste in their mouths, Scicluna said. "We've got hungry guys because of that."

The question now is can those appetites be satisfied.

Imagine posting a 4-2 mark at the NJCAA Tournament in a two-year span, and never finishing better than fifth. That's what SC has managed to do, getting upset in its first-round game at the tournament both times, guaranteeing it a no-better-than fifth-place finish.

Quite frankly, I don't think it's a jinx, said Tolstedt. I don't believe in those things. Besides, there's been a complete team turnover. Matching last season's success — an 18-3-5 record — is doable, Tolstedt believes. In fact, the plan is to surpass it.

Losing Tom Perry (now at Eastern Illinois University) and Katie Weber, Erin Perkovich and Kristen Hart (all at Indiana Tech) was only a temporary setback, considering the newcomers. That begins in an area that was already strong — in goal. Jennifer Kitzman returns but at present the frontrunner to start is freshman Pam Dybowski, an all-stater at Rochester HS who transferred in from Siena Heights after red shirting last year.

"We're in pretty good shape in that area, said Tolstedt. "We're very strong in goal."

Now for the rebuilt defense in front of them. Certainly Tolstedt had questions, if only because they were all inexperienced. Many of those doubts disappeared in Tuesday's 1-0 scrimmage win over Indiana Tech, a match in which SC scored in the final minute to get the victory.

"We played darn near flawless soccer in the second half," said Tolstedt. "Quite honestly, it was (better than I expected)."

Krystyn Freeman scored the game's only goal and that in itself was notable. Freeman led the Ocelots in scoring last season with 24 goals, but few came when it counted most — game winners in big games.

She stepped up her approach to the game, said Tolstedt of Freeman. She's much more confident. She has a wonderful attitude this year, a very strong outlook.

She wants to win nationals.

Her improved attitude is one reason Freeman is one of three team captains. Another is returning starter Katie Howell (from Garden City) at stopper and freshman Michele Kitta, playing defensive midfielder.

Only one other returnee from last season started against Tech outside midfielder Jennif Hewlett. That says something about the incoming talent.

Other starters for Tolstedt against Tech were Dybowski in goal, freshman Kendall Burt at sweeper, Freeman at attacking midfielder, Kitta at defensive midfielder, Shayna Lewis (Lavonia Stevenson) at marking back, Amanda Marsonek (Plymouth Salem) at marking back, Liz McGonigle at marking back, Sarah Plymale (Plymouth Canton) at outside midfielder and Courtney Wilson at forward.

Thing is, almost any of the others could fill in. In fact, Tolstedt believes the talent level is such that nearly all the field players could play any other position with no noticeable dropoff in play.

Don Varley of Livonia looks over an album of childhood photos He contracted polio in 1931 at age 3 and now suffers from Post-Polio Syndrome

BY KATHLEEN M. O'DONOHUE
CORRESPONDENT

Polio a virulent enemy causing crippling disability paralysis and even death in the 1940s and 50s

A virus whose hallmarks were legions of isolated children, crutches, wheelchairs and iron lungs

A cruel, random disease gratefully eradicated by development of the vaccination in 1955

A disease considered by most a thing of the past

Yet for some polio survivors the disease is not completely forgotten as new symptoms have arisen after many years of dormancy They suffer from Post-Polio Syndrome, or PPS

Livonia resident Don Varley developed polio as a husky 3-year-old in 1931 He remembers little about the time, although his older brother told him that he looked like "a tiny baby" when he came home from a 90-day hospital stay at Bergen Pines Hospital in New Jersey

Strapped to a board when he returned home from three months of isolation, Varley graduated to crutches braces, surgery, physical therapy and exercise regimens until he was 17 years old For many years he lived a symptom-free life, attending college, marrying and raising four children, and enjoying a good career

Suddenly in his mid-50s, Varley experienced weakness and extreme fatigue

"I once fell down in a parking lot, and I was too weak to get up," he said At that time, he dragged his exhausted body over to a car and with much difficulty pulled himself up

Alerted by this sudden change, Varley began his research and was eventually diagnosed with PPS He now facilitates a post-polio support group, educating others about the syndrome He has had to learn to make life changes to conserve his energy to deal with Post-Polio Syndrome

"I have to curtail my life," he said Severe fatigue and pain means you just have to lead a much more cautious life, have an awareness of your energy level

SYMPTOMS

Symptoms of Post-Polio Syndrome typically appear 15 or more years after the original illness and most commonly include pain, weakness and fatigue Less commonly reported symptoms are inability to tolerate cold temperatures, difficulties with breathing and/or swallowing, and a decrease in the ability to perform activities of daily living as usual

'I have to curtail my life. Severe fatigue and pain means you just have to lead a much more cautious life, have an awareness of your energy level.'

Don Varley
Polio survivor

Dr. Lisa DiPonio, a specialist in physical medicine and rehabilitation, works with many post-polio patients at the University of Michigan Orthotics and Prosthetics Center in Ann Arbor The center conducts a Post-Polio Program While there is no cure for PPS, DiPonio explained that patients are treated symptomatically Weakness may be treated with braces, canes, or wheelchairs Treatment also includes modification of activities, energy conservation, and work simplification

Something I always say to my post-polio patients is 'Type A personality and Post-Polio Syndrome do not mix' DiPonio said

Though polio epidemics have occurred many times throughout history, the ones most recent in memory occurred in the 1940s and 50s Interestingly, 95 percent of those infected did not have symptoms, and of the 5 percent with symptoms, half had high fevers, pain and diarrhea

Three percent experienced weakness, and most of those had weakness in only a small part of the body, DiPonio said

LEGACY

Grosse Pointe resident Bonnie Levitan, who contracted polio in 1951 at age 11, was one patient among many on crowded wards at (Detroit's) Children's Hospital As her condition worsened, Levitan slipped into a coma, was put in isolation, and suffered paralysis from the neck down She eventually recovered

Levitan was stunned when diagnosed with Post-Polio Syndrome five years ago after experiencing falls, severe weakness, and loss of balance Virtually unable to function, she quit her job and quickly learned to slow down and pace herself

She learned as much as she could about PPS and began attending support group meetings She approached St. John Health System and found an empathetic source for her concerns St. John set up a post-polio clinic, which draws patients not only from Michigan but other states as well Levitan has become program chairwoman for the Southeastern Michigan Post-Polio Support Group and works closely with Don Varley

Area mothers offer workshop for parents of special needs children

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

Two mothers Two children with special needs Lots of frustration and nowhere to turn for support

LeeAnn Lang of West Bloomfield and Michelle Lysocki of Livonia were brought together through the common need of finding help for their children, both of whom had delays in speech and language development

The centers at which they sought help - for Lang's daughter and Lysocki's son - offered professional assistance for the children but no emotional support for parents

You can't have one without the other and expect the equation to work

There's no help for parents out there There's a lot out there for children," said Lysocki "When you cry out

'When you cry out for help, you hear, 'Do you and your husband get out?' As if going out to the movies will take care of everything.'

Michelle Lysocki
Workshop participant

for help, you hear, 'Do you and your husband get out?' As if going out to the movies will take care of everything

In seeking a diagnosis for her son, Lysocki said every doctor told her something different, from cerebral palsy to a genetic disorder Eventually, her son, now almost 4, was diagnosed with apraxia, or the inability to speak

Dealing with that worry in your life is just so overwhelming," said Lysocki Lang, a self-proclaimed "mother who's been there," said her daughter's initial evaluation process was "devastating" The diagnosis of autism "consumed us for many, many months You live with them (your children) and you are used to them, and then you find out what's wrong with them"

Fortunately, that diagnosis was inaccurate and Lang's daughter, now almost 3, is doing well in her speech and language skills However, the scars of frustration and worry have yet to heal for Lang She now wants to share her coping skills with other parents of special needs children

Lang offered her first S.O.S. Workshop in a West Bloomfield church in July It was a success Her second workshop, developed at Lysocki's urging when Lysocki could not attend the first workshop, will be held 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 28, at the Livonia Civic Center Library, 32777 Five Mile Road, Livonia

The S.O.S. simply means seeking and giving help The workshop addresses the following issues

- Identifying emotional traps
- Stop being afraid of the unknown
- Take action against your worries

THE CLINIC

Birmingham physiatrist Dr Daniel Ryan is medical director of St. John Health System's Post-Polio Clinic. "I had probably 50 (post-polio) patients of my own. We developed the clinic and it's really taken off," he said.

Ryan explained that during the natural aging process we all lose nerves, but since we have a large pool of nerves the effect on most of us is negligible. In those with PPS, who lost a significant number of nerves during the initial bout with polio, the effect of nerve loss is more dramatic.

"They are over-using certain nerves and muscles, stressing the already damaged nerves more than the average person," Ryan said. "They are weak enough now that they cannot walk without a brace or not even with an assistive device. They just can't do what they could."

St. John's utilizes a multidisciplinary team approach to treatment, which includes a physician, physical therapist, occupational therapist, social worker, registered nurse, orthotist (a specialist who evaluates for and fits orthopedic appliances), and others.

A CONNECTION

While there has been some recent speculation of a possible connection between mild, undiagnosed cases of polio and syndromes such as chronic

HISTORY OF POLIOMYELITIS

■ The oldest clearly identifiable references to polio appeared on ancient Egyptian stone engravings dating over 3,000 years ago. There were probably severe epidemics of the disease in 17th and 18th centuries.

■ However, the worst polio epidemic in the United States occurred in the 1950s, striking more than 50,000 people in 1952. Nearly one-third of those stricken at that time developed paralytic polio; approximately 3,000 patients with paralytic polio died.

■ All told, up to 250,000 U.S. polio survivors may have PPS.

Source: March of Dimes International Conference pamphlet on Post-Polio Syndrome: Identifying Best Practices in Diagnosis & Care fatigue and fibromyalgia, Dr. John Gilroy, director of Neurology at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, said, "There is no evidence at all (of Post-Polio Syndrome)." Yet, U-M's Dr. DiPonio said although there's no way to prove a correlation, ultimately it doesn't matter. If you have chronic fatigue syndrome or PPS, the treatment is essentially the same.

While polio is mostly eradicated in Western countries because of vaccines, it still exists in third-world countries, and immigrants to the United States pose a risk to the non-vaccinated. Fortunately, "today's vaccines are totally effective," said Gilroy.

Opting out of immunization poses an "amazing risk," he warned. These diseases are not eradicated. They're dormant because they don't get a chance to spread.

DiPonio offers simple but not always easy-to-follow advice for those with PPS.

"The most important thing for people with Post-Polio Syndrome is to listen to their bodies and take care of themselves."

County gets funds for new mental health programs

The Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Agency has received more than $800,000 for 20 new innovative programs to provide support to persons with mental illness.

"This funding is a value-added situation," says Patricia Kukula, the agency's interim director. "It allows us to do ground-breaking work we never would have been able to do in the past."

The money - short-term funding designated for mental health services for people with serious mental illness - comes from a federal mental health services block grant and is awarded by the Michigan Department of Community Health. This new funding allows the agency to initiate pilot community-based services and support expansion of consumer-run programs.

The new funding will address consumer-run initiatives, Case Management Services, Older Adult Services, Jail Diversion, training, and Anti-Stigma Campaigns. The new programs include:

■ Go-Getters, a consumer-run program, has been around for seven years. The program is consumer-driven and consumer-staffed. The funding will enhance the recreational and rehabilitative programming. Go-Getters uses arts and crafts to help people with mental illness increase self-esteem, overcome social isolation, and develop pre-employment skills.

■ A criminal justice diversion program that reduces the criminalization of the mentally ill and evaluates program outcomes.

■ American Indian Services will provide culturally specific and Case Management services for American Indian adults and elders by Native Americans.

■ Deaf Options: Hands Across Town is a program designed to increase access to services and enhance person-centered planning processes for older deaf adults.

■ Four service providers will receive funding to provide anti-stigma campaigns to reduce the stigmatization of persons with mental illness.

■ The ACT Peer Support Advocates are consumers hired to work within Assertive Community Treatment programs. The peer advocates enhance the ACT teams' ability to work with consumers with severe mental illness.

■ The Cass Community Social Services Homeless Outreach provides a safe haven for the homeless mentally ill and helps them secure permanent housing. This grant will employ non-traditional street engagement, allowing Cass Community workers to establish relationships before homeless individuals reach the crisis of hospitalization or incarceration.

Twenty of the Agency's 27 proposals submitted to the State were funded. The State received proposals from 48 Community Mental Health Service offices across Michigan. Approximately $3 million was available for proposals that addressed mental health services for the adult population.

■ Regain the balance in your life.

As the workshop's presenter, Lang draws upon her training in Dale Carnegie methods, from her belief in the Eastern philosophy of inner peace, and from her hard-earned experience as a parent of a special needs child.

Lysocki said the workshop is not a big support group session. It is an opportunity to find solutions. Problem-solving is part of her and Lang's nature.

"All four of us, my husband and LeeAnn's husband included, come from information technology backgrounds. We're the kind of people who believe if there's a problem, there has to be a solution."

We're not used to dealing with variables," said Lysocki.

Lang and Lysocki are realistic in their belief that one workshop won't solve everybody's problems, but it will offer coping strategies from a couple of veterans. Lang knows her workshop has a future.

"I will start lobbying the speech and language centers. I'll ask them to give me a room for one night a week. The biggest challenge is making parents aware this is available."

The fee for the S.O.S. Workshop is $15. To register, contact LeeAnn Lang, 7420 Honeysuckle, West Bloomfield, MI 48324, (248) 360-7108 or Michelle Lysocki at (734) 261-4895. Please include your phone number or e-mail address in case of scheduling changes.

Chronic fatigue or post-polio syndrome?

In his book, The Polio Paradox, Richard Bruno, chairperson of the International Post-Polio Task Force and director of The Post-Polio Institute and the International Centre for Post-Polio Education and Research, describes remarkable similarities between the symptoms and research findings on PPS, chronic fatigue syndrome, myalgic encephalomyelitis and fibromyalgia.

Bruno suggests that as many as half of those now diagnosed with chronic fatigue, the Baby Boomers born prior to the discovery of the polio vaccine, may have had a mild case of polio in childhood and have PPS today, not chronic fatigue syndrome.

THIGH PAIN

The feature of arthritis in the legs is joint pain. If your hip joint is involved you will feel pain down your groin. If your knee joint is inflamed you can expect a discomfort in the front and back of the knee. The ankle joints and small joints of the feet cause you an ache just when the irritation exists.

You can have pain in the thigh that comes from arthritis. What happens is that the thigh is under strain because of loss of function by the hip joint or at the knee. To relieve stress on the joints, the body instinctively moves the leg in an unorthodox way.

More frequently thigh pain results from nerve damage usually a pinched nerve at the level of Lumbar 4. This nerve root is the source of the femoral nerve which supplies the thigh muscles mainly the quadriceps. If the 4th lumbar nerve root is compressed by a herniated vertebral disc or bone buildup in the vertebrae your thigh may feel pain numbness weakness or a combination of all three.

Your doctor will spend time distinguishing if your thigh pain comes from a trapped nerve or hidden arthritis. Your response to drugs like Motrin, Celebrex or Tylenol does not help since these medications often relieve pain no matter what the cause.

You may need x-rays of your joints to access their integrity and nerve conduction tests of the femoral to confirm it is not compromised. You cannot make conclusions from the experience of friends with similar problem. Different cause can give the same thigh pain.

Kids can get pain in spine from overloaded backpacks

A backpack stuffed with textbooks, notebooks and other school supplies could be causing your child's back pain, says Andrew Marsh, a physical therapist at the University of Michigan Health System's Spine Program.

That's because many kids are using backpacks that aren't designed to carry all of the stuff they're putting in them. With the new school year just around the corner, Marsh says it's important to make sure your child has a sturdy backpack and knows the right way to wear it.

In a recent study, we found that most kids carry approximately 20 to 25 percent of their body weight in their bags. That's much more than the 10 to 20 percent recommended by the Occupational Therapy Association,' says Marsh.

Often, kids use backpacks that are only designed to hold 5 to 7 pounds to carry their 15- to 20-pound loads.

They're really overloading the straps because the backpacks aren't designed to hold that much weight, Marsh says. As a result, the structure of the backpack fails, which can cause problems.

To compensate for the extra weight on their backs, Marsh says kids end up leaning forward when they carry their backpacks. This puts more pressure not only on kids' backs, but on their necks, too.

The study also found that over-stuffing backpacks isn't the only problem - kids aren't wearing them properly, either. "Many of the kids wear their backpacks way too low," said Marsh. Instead of sitting on their backs, they end up hanging too low.

The combined result of improper use and wear is a slew of back pain complaints - and those complaining are getting younger and younger.

I once had a 6-year-old patient who complained of back pain. I asked him when he experienced it, and he said he felt it when he ran, carried his backpack or took the stairs, Marsh said.

Concern over poor posture and back problems motivated the backpack study at the U-M Spine Program. The study looked at what happens to kids' backs when they carry their backpacks. Those who participated in the study used a support strap to carry 10 percent, then 20 percent of their body weight in their backpacks. Then, they carried the same loads without extra support.

The study found that kids didn't feel like they were working as hard when they used the strap, regardless of whether they were carrying 10 percent or 20 percent of their weight.

"Using the support across my stomach made the load in the backpack feel lighter," says Michael McCoy, a 14-year-old participant in the study. "It evened it out, so it wasn't as hard on my back."

BACK TO SCHOOL

For those shopping for a new backpack this fall, Marsh says to make sure the size of the backpack fits the size of the child. He says you should also make sure the backpack will offer enough support for the amount of weight your child plans to carry.

Teens should look for backpacks with thick shoulder straps and a support strap, like a waist belt. The belt will give a lot of support and will help alleviate some of the pressure on the back, he said. Younger kids, on the other hand, don't necessarily need the belt, but their bags should have good shoulder straps.

Adjustability is also an important feature, according to Marsh. "A lot of kids don't have

FACTS ABOUT BACKPACKS:

- Nearly 60 percent of young people will experience back pain by the time they are 18 years old.
- Place heavier items in the backpack closer to the child's back than lighter ones.
- Shoulder straps should rest equally on both shoulders.
- A backpack should sit on the child's back. If it hangs below their hips, it's too low. If it rests on their neck, it's too high.
- Backpacks should be comfortable to wear without having to lean forward to maintain balance.

Oakwood offers alternative care at Westland site

When many people think of alternative medicine, they believe it involves getting treatment from someone other than a medical doctor. But, that's definitely not the case at Oakwood's Complementary and Alternative Medicine Center in Westland.

Clinton Greenstone, MD, and Kavita Rao, MD, are American Board Certified Internal medicine doctors who offer primary care services and comprehensive training in natural alternative medicines.

Alternative medicine can be used to treat many medical conditions, including high blood pressure, high cholesterol, cancer and menopause. I may prescribe cholesterol medication for my patients, but I also recommend eating organic fruits, vegetables and cutting out red meat. For menopausal women, I may recommend relaxation techniques like yoga and meditation. The key is that patients are active participants in their healing which includes balancing their spiritual and emotional selves," Dr. Rao said.

Other types of medicine practiced at the center include Chinese medicine, which uses herbs and acupuncture, and Ayurveda, an ancient East Indian treatment that relies on the use of herbs, meditation and yoga. Traditional Chinese acupuncture seeks to balance an individual's 'pattern of disharmony.'

People seeking relief from migraine headaches, back pain, stress and even sports injuries frequently choose acupuncture. Ayurveda is used to maintain health, prevent diseases, promote longevity through the use of consciousness (meditation), exercise programs (yoga), herbal supplements and personalized daily seasonal routines.

"Medicine is much more than looking just at the physical components of disease. A patient who may have a chronic disease and is immersed in a negative outlook on life is not helping the healing process. On the other hand, a patient who has a positive emotional and/or spiritual outlook may actually aid in his or her recovery," said Dr. Greenstone.

Oakwood's Cancer Center has teamed up with Complementary and Alternative Medicine physicians to offer more treatment options to patients.

Together the programs offer mind/body/spirit evaluation, education, therapy, meditation and therapeutic touch. There is also a nutritional plan that recommends the appropriate herbs to patients interested in supplementing their medical treatment. Physicians have found herbal supplements reduce some negative effects, including nausea in radiation patients. However, doctors caution that using herbs without proper medical advice can result in adverse medical conditions.

At Oakwood's Complementary and Alternative Medicine Center, the doctors are always open to consultations with patients about various alternative therapies.

Other treatments available at the center include aromatherapy, herbology, movement therapy, music/sound therapy, Healing Touch, therapeutic massage and Zero balancing. All of the services are provided under the supervision of specially-trained physicians. "We spend extra time with our patients. Their input is vital in bringing the physical, emotional and spiritual self into optimal balance," says Dr. Greenstone.

Patients who visit the center will still receive conventional medical care along with alternative therapies and the office accepts many commercial health insurance plans.

To learn more about Oakwood's Complementary and Alternative Medicine Center, call (734) 414-9003 or visit the Complementary and Alternative Medicine Web link at www.oakwood.org.

Michigan's diabetes higher than national average

About 200,000 Michigan adults may have diabetes and not know it, pushing the state's diabetes rate to more than 10 percent.

That's according to an EPIC-MRA/Midnet survey result released this week by Oakwood Healthcare System, St. John Health System and the Beaumont Hospitals.

It found that 7 percent of Michigan adults have been diagnosed with the disease, higher than the national average of 6 percent. Another 3 percent report having three or more diabetic symptoms, but have not been tested for the disease.

According to the survey, the average reported rate of diabetes in the Detroit region, which includes Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair counties, is 7.7 percent. The region has the highest rate (13 percent) of people who have three or more diabetic symptoms, but have not been tested for the disease, indicating that the number of people with diabetes in the region may be higher.

Macomb County has the region's highest diabetes rate at 9.8 percent, followed by Oakland County at 8.2 percent, St. Clair County at 7.5 percent and Wayne County at 5.5 percent.

The survey also found that 77 percent of Michigan men have been diagnosed with diabetes compared to 61 percent nationally. For women, it's 7.2 percent statewide, compared to 5.9 percent nationally.

Major symptoms of the disease include extreme fatigue, fainting spells, unexplained weight loss or gain, blurred vision, frequent urination, extreme hunger, unusual thirst and swelling of the gums.

Obesity is a well-known risk factor for diabetes. This survey also revealed that 15 percent of obese Michigan residents have been diagnosed with diabetes.

The survey also found obese persons are more than three times as likely to become diabetics. A major contributing factor in obesity is fatty foods. Of those surveyed, 84 percent said they consume high-fat snacks and fast food daily or weekly.

Family history is also an important factor for diabetes and the survey found that 43 percent of the people with diabetic symptoms have a family member with the disease. The survey showed that many of the undiagnosed people are still making lifestyle choices that could aggravate their symptoms. Of those surveyed, 42 percent report drinking alcohol in the past month, 39 percent smoke and 60 percent say they do not exercise.

This statewide survey of 1,800 people has a 2.3 margin of error. Oakwood, St. John and Beaumont co-sponsored the study to learn more about behaviors related to diabetes in order to tailor programs and services for the communities served. More information is available at www.MIDNET.org.

Small condo community has tucked away feel

If you weren't specifically looking for the attached condominiums of Indian Wells in Royal Oak, they would be very easy to miss.

Only 11 residences, six in one building, five in another have been built on an acre-and-a-half site on the north side of 13 Mile Road just west of Crooks.

But the relative isolation within a thriving municipality is part of Indian Wells charm.

"This is what I'd call Smart Growth: higher density, people close and utilizing space to the maximum," said Dan MacLeish, the developer/builder.

All 11 luxury residences at Indian Wells are two-story with about 2,000 square feet of living space, some a bit more, others a tad less, MacLeish said. All 11 have three bedrooms and two baths. A few have an extra half bath.

Other standard features include first-floor master, first-floor laundry, range and dishwasher in the kitchen, single-car garage (some units have a two-car), deck, basement, air conditioning and full landscaping.

Buyers have a choice of wood or ceramic flooring in the foyer, wood in the kitchen, vinyl in the laundry and carpeting throughout. Front doors include decorative glass, and unfinished basements are plumbed for bathroom additions.

Exterior materials include brick, wood siding, stone and dimensional shingles.

Through September, most homes at Indian Wells will carry a special price of $299,900 with a basic package.

People who seem to buy these homes have lived in the Royal Oak area and want to stay here, MacLeish said.

They want updated. They want to downsize and want to be on the first floor, too.

Royal Oak has all the things they need - shops, restaurants. You can almost equate it to Birmingham," MacLeish said. It's easy access to all expressways - 96, Woodward, 75. You're close to Beaumont (Hospital).

"Two things about Indian Wells especially stand out. Individual driveways extend 16 feet from the street so that additional cars may be easily parked even for families with a one-car garage.

Also, a unique bath alignment, almost like a modified Jack-and-Jill bath, allows access from both the master suite as well as the main hall.

The exteriors of all the homes at Indian Wells have been completed, the interiors roughed in with finishing work dependent on the wishes of individual buyers.

All plans are a little different," MacLeish said. "Two or three are somewhat similar. We will customize to their tastes, put anything in they want to. We can deliver within 30-45 days."

The model at Indian Wells includes many upgrades such as marble flooring, fancier cabinets and skylights. It's priced at $363,900.

The model features a kitchen/dining area, great room with volume ceiling, and master with shower walk-in closet and two-sink vanity on the main living area. Two bedrooms, a bath with combination tub/shower and a small sitting area are upstairs.

Other floor plans offer buyers a pass-through-wall between the kitchen and formal dining room, a large upstairs loft and living spaces arranged more symmetrically on the main floor.

"The big draw, I would say, is garages with entry at the main level and first-floor luxury bedroom suites," said Melody Griffin, sales manager and MacLeish's daughter.

Landscaping is top-notch, she added. Another plus is full basements, as well as luxury appointments we're doing - granite, marble in the model, beautiful moldings."

Indian Wells is serviced by city water and sewers and is within the Royal Oak school boundaries. Pets are allowed.

The property tax rate is $37 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price for new construction. That means the owners of a $300,000 condo there would pay about $5,550 the first year.

The monthly association fee is $125. All utilities are individually metered.

The sales model at Indian Wells (248) 524 3244 is open 1 p.m. Thursdays and Fridays noon to 5 p.m. Saturdays and by appointment.

OPEN HOUSES OF THE WEEK

Stylish Detached Condos in Brighton/Howell

Open Saturday - Tuesday • 11-5
(Closed Wednesday, Thursday & Friday)
(517) 546-3535

At the prestigious NorthShore neighborhood you will be proud to be a resident in this celebrated community on scenic Crooked Lake. You will be pleased with the availability of private space and the sense of neighborhood. As a resident you are entitled to access a private beach with gazebo and nature trails.

The Detached Condominiums at the Hills of NorthShore offer the best of both worlds. Imagine the privacy of a single family home with the conveniences of a condominium. This community boasts ample private lots (some walk out) with wooded or lake views. Your yard is completely landscaped and you don't have to mow the grass! You will love the 10 volume ceilings and rooms flooded with light. Included are central air conditioning, fireplace and so much more. It is the perfect "Downsize solution."

The featured home is the popular "Andover" Ranch plan. The spacious 1,784 square foot open layout has been described as the "best Ranch plan around." There is an open customized kitchen with Maple Cabinetry & Golden Oak Hardwood Floors and a cozy breakfast nook. The home offers an additional formal dining and large living room with a modern design entertainment alcove. The First Floor Master Suite plan is truly fit for a king and queen. Look for our newly finished model at the beginning of September - See the decorative possibilities of this fabulous home. Ready to move in for only $268,955!

Thomas Ervin
Let's Talk About Real Estate

"WHY YOU SHOULD USE AN AGENT"

If you have a background in sales, you may feel that you can sell property without the assistance of a Realtor. Of course, there have been situations in which people have successfully sold their home themselves. As a rule, however, real estate agents are a vital part of a real estate transaction. They offer knowledge, experience, and objectivity.

KNOWLEDGE

Real estate sales are becoming increasingly complicated in addition to the traditional challenges, today's sales also include other complications. Financing alternatives have become much more numerous and difficult to understand. Most Realtors know which lenders offer the type of financing best suited to a particular selling situation. More of today's sales are contingent upon a satisfactory home inspection. Realtors know who the reliable home inspectors are in each area.

EXPERIENCE

Nothing can beat experience in any important aspect of our lives. A Realtor's experience, that has been gained from many prior transactions, can be invaluable. Should you panic when you receive a low offer? Should you reject it and make a counter offer? Does it appear likely that the buyer will qualify for the mortgage loan necessary to complete the sale? Is the buyer reasonable or unreasonable in his or her demands? Should I take this offer or hold out for a better one in the future? All of these questions are best answered by someone who has been there before.

OBJECTIVITY

Emotions come to the surface when big dollars are involved. You need a buffer between you and the buyer so that feelings are not overly frayed causing a sale to collapse. It is also helpful to get the advice of someone who is not as personally involved in the sale as much as you are. If you feel that the buyer seems to have a low regard for you or your home, your emotions will greatly affect the decisions you make in the negotiating process.

2002 Honda Odyssey is a different kind of minivan

ANNE FRACASSA

Minivans are minivans. Or so you think.

The 2002 Honda Odyssey EX is a bit different. Sure, it's a minivan. By all accounts. But you've got to think a little bit different here. You want power? You've got it.

I'm talking about 240 horses under the hood. That's close to sports car stuff, here. That's not mom taking the kids to school.

Side airbags added as standard equipment. Leather seats as an option. A rear DVD entertainment system. All stuff you'd expect on a real high-end luxury car.

Buy you know what? It's on a Honda Odyssey minivan.

All these options and more for a little under $30,000. A bit stiff? Maybe. But there's a lot more. This minivan is loaded with a lot more than you would expect and the comfort level is beyond belief.

Take it up north. I'm talking 250 miles straight up there, without a rest stop. No problem. No fatigue. No crawling out of the van. No limping. The comfort level is that on an Acura. No, better. Acura at Honda prices. Exciting.

This is Odyssey's third model year. Most manufacturers don't change very much so early in the game. Honda's different. There are more changes in this model year than I've seen in a long time.

We're talking an increase of power from 210 to 240 horses under the hood. An all new 5-speed automatic transmission that replaces the 4-speed. Side airbags are now standard. Leather is now an option. Also an option is a cool factory-installed DVD rear entertainment system to keep the kiddies entertained.

An added bonus is that the system comes with two infrared wireless headphones. That means the kids can do whatever they want, while the adults up front can listen to whatever they want -- be it the radio, CD, cassette or even if they want, the current Disney movie the kids want to watch. Yeah, get real.

Let's get a little bit more into the power issue. The 3.5-liter single overhead cam V6 that nets you 240 horses mated to the 5-speed automatic transmission will not disappoint you. It's power in a minivan that's worth its weight in iron. The bonus is the fuel economy: 18 in the city and 25 on the highway.

Comfort is the key: 2002 Honda Odyssey Vehicle class Minivan Power VTEC V6 engine Mileage 18 city / 25 highway Where built Alliston, Ontario, Canada Base Price $26,750 Price as tested $27,190

Safety issues are also taken care of. We're talking drive and front passenger dual airbags, anti-lock brakes and rear disc brakes as standard equipment.

This new factory-installed DVD entertainment system is really cool. It features a 7-inch wide LCD display screen that comes down from the ceiling at the push of a button. Rear seat passengers will enjoy audio and video input jacks that can accommodate a bunch of other stuff to keep them busy -- from camcorders to VCRs to game consoles. You can take along that Nintendo game system and keep them outta your hair for hours and hours.

Comfort is the key with the Odyssey, thanks to its improved suspension system and seating. Although this is a minivan, the Odyssey handles like a sedan. No fatigue will be experienced on long drives. Honda's also improved the noise, vibration and harshness of the Odyssey.

The interior has a couple of improvements as well. If you choose to outfit the Odyssey with leather seats, you'll enjoy the added treat of having them heated on those cold mornings that are not that far away.

Helping the cause of moms everywhere, larger cup holders are positioned in strategic areas for rear passengers. Cargo space behind the third row seats has been improved with the installation of eight bag hooks and the addition of a hammock-style cargo net. I have to say, the cargo net is a pain to remove, however.

Let me give you a rundown of some of the standard equipment that may let you understand and be able to swallow the price of this minivan a little easier.

Interior features include front and rear air conditioning that even features a Micron air filter, AM/FM/CD stereo with anti-theft feature, steering wheel audio controls, drive's 8-way adjustable power seat, cruise control, adjustable steering column, power windows, power door locks, power tailgate lock, HomeLink system, variable intermittent windshield wipers, dual illuminated vanity mirrors, front and rear map lights, cargo net, folding center tray table, sunglasses holder and floor mats. There are also a host of hidden storage compartments strategically located throughout the cabin. On the outside, you'll find 16-inch alloy wheels with 16-inch all-season tires, automatic off-head lamps, power door mirrors, dual electric sliding door with safety mechanism, body-colored side molding, roof rails, privacy glass in the rear, rear window and wiper washer and defroster with timer.

And one thing that Honda dealers do that a lot don't, is give you a full tank of gas.

The 2002 Honda Odyssey is a minivan that will surprise you. It's a little expensive, but it's got so many attributes that really makes it worth it. Take a look -- I think you'll be surprised, too.
