It's in the water

The Plymouth Township Police Department has had several visits from the stork in recent weeks with four babies being born to employees or former employees of the department

First came Sidney Nichole Turley born Aug 28 to dispatcher Melina Turley. The next day Tyler Charles Locker was born to former dispatcher Cherr Happner who left the department last fall.

Mary Isabella Lauria was born to Det. Cal and Annette Lauria on Sept 6. Finally Kelsie Michelle O'Connor arrived to parents Nicole and Sean O'Connor. Nicole is a dispatcher with the department.

All four babies and their parents got together with other department members for a post-baby shower Friday.

Attention, voters:

Monday is D Day Deadline that is if you haven't registered to vote in the Nov. 5 election Monday is your last chance. To see if you are a registered voter you can visit the Michigan Secretary of State's Web site. The site also provides local residents information on where to vote and directions to their local polling place. There is a link to the state site on the Canton Township site www.canton.mi.org. Call the township clerk's office (734) 394-5120.

Open house

The Canton Mosque will host an Open House noon 4 p.m. Saturday Oct. 12.

There will be mosque tours, an Islamic art exhibit, complimentary Muslim cuisine, entertainment and children's activities. The event is hosted by the Muslim Community of Western Suburbs Council on American Muslim Relations, PCEP Muslim Students Association and Young Muslims for Faith in Action.

The mosque is on the corner of Palmer and Lotz roads. For information call (734) 340-3388 or e-mail openhouse@mcws.org.

Now that's scary

The Plymouth Canton Breakfast Kiwanis Club will hold its second annual Halloween Costume Drive.

The event supports four Michigan children's hospitals: Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor, Children's Hospital of Michigan (Detroit), Mary Free Bed Hospital (Grand Rapids) and Northern Michigan Hospital (Petoskey).

The Breakfast Club has a goal of at least 100 new Halloween costumes. The costumes will be worn by patients at all four hospitals during Halloween parties held there. The costumes must be newly purchased and never worn to avoid compromising the sterile environment. Call Janice Ott (734) 981-0460 before Oct. 20.

Man hires hitman to maim ex-wife

Suspect also wanted in connection with alleged hit on country star

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

A Nashville man who was arrested this week for hiring a hitman to kill country singer Travis Tritt was caught after attempting to hire a hitman to break the legs of his ex-wife outside her Plymouth home.

In fact, it was with the help of Plymouth police that Perry Drew Hardman was arrested in Nashville earlier this week.

According to Plymouth police, Hardman was still angry over the couple's divorce in Tennessee several years ago. Authorities said the couple split after being married only a couple of months, and Hardman felt he should have received the Pacific Street home in Plymouth, left by the parents of his ex-wife, in the divorce proceedings. The woman, a Plymouth native, returned to Michigan after the divorce and lived in the home.

'He felt he got screwed in the divorce settlement, and he decided to get a hitman,' said Det. Sgt. Al Cox of the Plymouth Police Department, who became instrumental in the arrest of Hardman.

'He met a middle man and asked how

Broe may not need license

BY TONY BRUSCATO

Despite complaints by Farmer Street homeowners concerning inappropriate behavior by patients with closed head injuries who live in their neighborhood, it appears the city's hands are tied because the facilities are not, and don't need to be, licensed by the State of Michigan.

Residents last month told commissioners of family members being accosted, loud noise and open alcoholic drinking by residents who reside at 338, 347 and 378 Farmer, which are all supported living facilities owned by Broe Rehabilitation Services in Farmington Hills. It culminated with an incident Aug. 29, in which a fight broke out between a Broe resident and caregiver, which resulted in the resident being ticketed by police for assault.

Judge hopefuls face off in court candidates' forum

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

With the two top vote-getters from the August primary touting their own experience and qualifications, the race for the newly created third judgeship in the 35th District Court headed down the home stretch Wednesday night.

Primary winner Mike Gerou of Plymouth and former Northville Township supervisor Karen Woodside of Northville spent an hour at the Plymouth Library, answering questions in a candidates' forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Northwest Wayne County and the Observer Newspapers.

Both concentrated on their community involvement, while Gerou highlighted the business experience he's gained by starting his own practice, and Woodside stressing her experience as an assistant Wayne County prosecutor.

Woodside has been an assistant Wayne County prosecutor for 13 years. She was Michigan Prosecutor of the Year in 1996 and serves on various State Bar of Michigan committees. She said she has argued cases at every level of the judicial system, including the State Supreme Court.

In a proven crime fighter, and a proven administrator," Woodside said Wednesday. "I think that's what this court needs."

Gerou pointed out that he's lived in the community since 1963, and has had his private practice for some 16 years now.

"I've been a businessman for 16 years," Gerou said. "I've been very involved in the community."

It began several years ago as a once-in-a-lifetime trip to Russia as part of a mission to help rebuild the struggling Baltic nation.

However, this week Kathryn Juras of Plymouth Township and Janice Podgers of Westland are on their fourth mission to Russia, part of the dozen or so members of the Detroit Annual Conference United Methodist Volunteers in Mission, who will be building relationships through work, worship and socializing.

After two years, the group is returning to School #3 in Blagoveshchensk, Siberia, to continue repairs and renovations on a building for hearing-impaired children.

'The last time we caulked windows, cleaned out caulking and put new weather stripping in,' said

Juras, a member of the First United Methodist Church in Plymouth. "We're planning on doing some more repairs at the school, but we won't really know until we get there. In Russia, when you go on these work projects, you don't really know what you'll be doing until you get there."

MPA honors Observer for writing

The Plymouth Observer has been recognized for its strong editorial voice, one of 42 awards won by its parent company, the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers, in the annual Better Newspaper Contest sponsored by the Michigan Press Association.

The Plymouth paper earned first-place honors in the editorial category, with judges saying editorials submitted by the paper were "the best work in a very competitive category."

C. J. Risak, the sports editor for the Plymouth and Canton Observers, got a pair of first-place awards, earning the top spot for sports columns and for overall sports coverage. Judges said Risak's columns are "thoughtful and easy to read," and his sports coverage had a "very nice variety" of features, people-oriented as well as team stories, great layout of photos.

The Canton Observer took two other awards, a third-place honor for its editorial pages and a fourth-place award for its editorial writing.

"We are pleased to receive this recognition from the Michigan Press Association," managing editor Hugh Gallagher said. "We're proud of the work done by our staff, who are dedicated to putting out excellent community newspapers. The MPA awards are an inspiration to continue striving to do our best."

The awards were announced in conjunction with National Newspaper Week, Oct. 6-12. The 3,600 entries from 147 daily and weekly newspapers in nine circulation classifications were judged by members of the Georgia Press Association.

AROUND TOWN

KELLEY-MCCOTTER DEBATE

The League of Women Voters of Northwest Wayne County brings together the opponents in one of the biggest Congressional battles of the fall.

Candidates for the 11th District U.S. Congressional seat — Republican Thaddeus McCotter, Democrat Kevin Kelley and the Green Party's William Boyd — meet to face the issues and questions from 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 9, at the Canton High School Cafeteria. The school is at the southwest corner of Joy and Canton Center roads.

The public is invited to attend.

HIDDEN HISTORY

The Plymouth Historical Society announces the second program in its "Plymouth's Hidden History Series" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the 35th District Court Building (Plymouth Road near Haggerty).

The topic will be "Plymouth's Legal Eagles," presented by 35th District Court Judge Ron Lowe. Participants will learn about the first woman judge in Michigan, Phoebe Patterson, plus the story of a cow, named Rose 2nd of Aberlone, that gave rise to a legal controversy in the 1880s, which went as high as the Supreme Court of Michigan. Professors at the Harvard Law School still cite the court's decision as the best ruling ever made for teaching a certain point of law to their students.

A tour of the new court building and refreshments are all part of the evening's program.

CREDIT UNION BRANCH

Michigan Educational Credit Union's fourth branch office is scheduled to open in Brighton in November. The new location will be at 123 Brighton Lake Road, Suite 102, in the Pinehollow Place building, just off of Grand River.

The specific opening date for the office will be determined later this month.

The new location was selected following the credit union's field of membership expansion earlier this year. Previously limited to employees of schools located in

Wayne and Washtenaw counties and their families, MECU membership has been extended to include employees of schools located in Livingston, Oakland, Macomb and Jackson counties.

"It's been an exciting year for us here," said MECU President and CEO Bill Brunton. "After the state approved our membership expansion, we knew we'd have to establish a presence to attract new members. Brighton is the perfect location for us to serve thousands of our existing members, as well as employees from a number of schools within our new coverage area."

Michigan Educational Credit Union is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year. In addition to the new Brighton office, MECU has a main office in Plymouth and branch offices in Livonia and Ann Arbor.

USHER ORIENTATION

The Plymouth Symphony needs ushers and concert affairs volunteers to assist with the upcoming events of the Treasures Beyond Measure Season.

The Plymouth Symphony Society will host its First Annual Usher and Concert Affairs Orientation from 7-8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 11 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

This is an important introduction to the concert process and is recommended for all concert volunteers, past and present, who wish to participate as volunteers at any concert event this season, symphony officials said.

Primary usher and concert affairs volunteer responsibilities include greeting audience members, taking tickets, collating and distributing program materials, assisting with Afterglow receptions, and more. Event dates include Oct. 12, Nov. 16, Dec. 7-8, Jan. 11-12, Feb. 8, March 8, and April 11.

The Symphony offers free admission to season subscription concerts for these volunteers in addition to the joy of helping a quality community organization. If you would like to participate in the Orientation, please contact Darlene A. Dreyer, Executive Director, by phone 734-451-2112 or by e-mail at

plymouthsymphony@aol.com

GARDEN CLUB LUNCHEON

The Plymouth branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association holds its casserole luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Oct. 14 at St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon. A crafts auction will follow.

A patriotic yuletide wreath created by Jill Guder, Maureen Armstrong and Linda Coughlin will be on display and donated to the Children's Hospital for their Festival of Trees fundraiser. The festival runs Nov. 24-Dec. 1 at Cobo Convention Center in Detroit.

SPELLING BEE

The Community Literacy Council sponsors its annual spelling bee at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16 at the Yazaki North America Learning Center, 6300 Haggerty in Canton.

There are several sponsoring opportunities: $500 and above includes team entry fee and a full-page ad in the program, $300 includes team entry fee and a one-third page ad in the program, sponsorship between $50 and $299 includes honorable mention in the program, and $25 includes business name and phone number listed in the program.

Team members must be 16 or older. Proceeds benefit the Community Literacy Council, whose mission is "to provide adults with basic reading, writing and math skills so that they may reach their fullest potential in life and participate in their community." For more information, call (734) 416-4906.

CHRISTMAS IN PLYMOUTH

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce sponsors "A Plymouth Christmas," Dec. 7-8 in downtown Plymouth.

Actors in period costumes will roam the streets, Santa Claus will be there, nuts will be roasting, the Little Drummer Boy will make an appearance and carolers will be on the street corners.

For more information on this old-fashioned hometown Christmas, call the chamber, (734) 453-1540.

POLICE LOG

Stealing booze

Loss prevention officers at Kroger observed a man concealing a couple of bottles of liquor beneath his coat.

Having recognized the suspect from a surveillance tape, the loss prevention officers wrestled him to the ground, then called Plymouth Township police.

When police arrived, the suspect, a 30-year-old Detroit man, was in custody in the store's offices.

He faces charges of second-degree retail fraud. The suspect has a previous conviction for a similar incident in Redford.

Tire theft

Sometime between 6:20 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday, someone cut the security fence at Lou LaRiche Chevrolet and stole some $2,000 worth of tires and rims.

The suspects cut the fence on the south wall, then used landscape bricks to put a 1998 Ford Mustang and a 2002 Chevy Impala on blocks, then stole the tires and wheels.

The Mustang belonged to a customer, the Impala to the dealership.

Drs. Pinkney, Greenbaum and MacFarland, DDS.

We're growing to better serve your dental needs. We are pleased to announce the addition of

to our staff. In addition, we will be expanding our office in the coming months to better serve the needs of our patients. We believe that the growth and popularity of our office has been due to our dedication to conservative, comfortable and affordable dental care.

Dr. Edwards is a 1997 Graduate of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry and has spent the last four years as a faculty member at the University of Loyola Medical Center in Chicago. During this time he lectured to students, worked on research projects and treated patients with diverse and special dental needs. He is a caring dentist who is concerned about patient comfort for both children and adults.

Dr. Robin Bernard graduated from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry in 2001 and spent the next year in an advanced general dentistry graduate program at U of M which focused on cosmetic and pediatric dentistry. She looks forward to improving the oral health of those in the community.

Along with a wide range of dental services, we offer the latest advances in cosmetic and implant dentistry and are available 6 days a week to meet your dental needs.

Even unfinished program can't stop band

Fine-tuning P-CEP still manages several trophies at competition

BY DIANE HANSON
CORRESPONDENT

Although their show "Elasticity" isn't yet complete, the 167-member Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Marching Band managed to capture several trophies at the Bands of America Regional Championships at the University of Toledo Saturday.

"We're considered by those in band activities to be an end-of-the-year band because we have so many things in our shows," said Band Director Clayton Wachholz after the performance. "For the effects that we have in the show, there is a lot of mechanical engineering involved. So we feel really comfortable where we're at. We're on the right track.

He added that while the band is not penalized for an incomplete show, it is really hard to win because the judges can't give you full credit, and rightfully so.

Still, the P-CEPers came home with a stash of trophies for their outstanding performance. The band was one of 23 from five states competing in the regionals at the University of Toledo. And Michigan was well-represented with 14 bands including Farmington Hills Harrison and West Bloomfield.

After preliminary competition, Plymouth Canton was awarded the second place trophy in Class AAA (the largest schools by student enrollment - not size of band) and was selected as one of the top 10 bands to compete in the evening finals program.

The P-CEP marchers captured the finals third-place trophy with a score of 77.6 along with the award for Outstanding Visual Performance. Centerville (Ohio) High School took first with a score of 80.0 and Prospect (Ill.) High School edged P-CEP with a 77.9 for second place. Other Michigan bands in the finals show included Muskegon Reeths-Puffer fourth (76.7), Jenison, fifth (73.8), Milford eighth (65.6) and Durand Area ninth (63.4).

The kids did a good job," said Mike Tarr, P-CEP assistant director. "They are gaining more confidence."

That's just what drum major Brittany Summers, a Salem junior, felt.

"This is a major confidence boost for everybody in the band," Summers said. "Our energy was so intense tonight - it was a major build-up. I think the band really grew together. That's one of the greatest things about marching band - so many different people come together for one purpose."

This was percussionist Jenny Natw's first regional competition. "I think it was great," said the Salem freshman. "The band's tone quality and everything, I thought, was perfect."

For Alyssa Cercom, a Salem sophomore and flutist, it was her second regional.

Coming to regionals is like a mini-national, she said. "You get to compete with the top bands in the area and you have the experience of meeting so many people."

In capturing the Outstanding Visual Award, Tarr had nothing but kudos for the color guard and instruc-

P-CEP band fans showed their loyalty by making the trip to Toledo for the regional championships

tors. "They are probably one of the best color guards in the country, arguably the best," said Tarr, "and that is largely due to Alan Spaeth and the instructors under him - again, probably the best in the country. That's not to undermine the winds and percussion. They march really, really well in support of that."

Wachholz had praise for the students handling the huge rolling props in the show as well. "The students who end up manipulating those props in many cases are younger (seventh- and eighth-grades), but are just as important to the production," he said.

Both Wachholz and Tarr said they hoped to have "Elasticity" nearly finished by the band's next performance, which will be at the home stadium on Oct. 12 - the Great Lakes Invitational.

It is an exciting, fun time of the year," said Tarr about putting on the finishing touches.

With those touches may come a few surprises, noted Wachholz. "We've been known to do that even during the week of Nationals," he said.

Salem graduate hits road for ESPN reality show

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

They were given no change of clothing, no transportation and no food. Not only were they given no money, they're not even allowed to handle it. And they had to make it from New York City to San Francisco in 30 days.

Who was up to the challenge for ESPN's new show, "Beg, Borrow or Deal?"

Thousands of people. But only eight were chosen to participate in the sports network's reality show, and Kelli Zink of Plymouth was among them.

Zink, a graduate of Plymouth Salem High School and Michigan State University, is contractually bound to keep mum about the show's outcome (the first two episodes have already aired), but she doesn't have to be quiet about how much she enjoyed the challenge.

A lot. "A lot of the (participants) were from Los Angeles, New York," said Zink, the youngest participant in the show. "It was definitely an experience a girl from Plymouth doesn't get to see too often."

The show's premise had two four-person teams trying to make it cross country. Aside from the aforementioned rules, the participants were given athletic challenges to meet along the way. Each team had to complete 10 of the 40 possible challenges. Among them: get your picture taken with an Olympic medal, wash a college mascot, catch a 35-yard pass from an NFL quarterback, win a game of "Horse" against an NBA player, play a game of basketball in a prison, and run a 26-mile marathon and don't finish last.

"The stuff they gave us (challenges) are obviously difficult, because they're more interesting to watch," beg your way in."

For instance, Zink's team — Team Cobi — made its way to the Meadowlands in New Jersey, convinced a PR person there to let them in, then caught a pass thrown by the New York Giants backup quarterback, Jesse Palmer. The team then hitched a ride back to New York with star defensive back Jason Sehorn.

It was the athletic challenges that had Zink's parents, Mark and Toni, a bit worried at first.

"We were a little concerned with the challenges she might have to do," Toni Zink said. "We thought bungee jumping, sky diving, once we realized the challenges weren't like that, we were OK with it."

So how did Zink, a girl from tiny Plymouth, Michigan, get involved in this nationally televised race? Simple. She was interning at Fox Sports Net in Chicago two years ago when she saw an open casting call for the show. She filled out the application, got called for an audition, sent producers a videotape and made the finals. She was chosen as one of the final eight out of the thousands who answered casting calls in Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

Her participation frightened her parents at first, worried about their daughter being turned loose on the streets of New York without transportation. They quickly learned the teammates had to stick together, and that camera crews and producers and the like were never far away.

Still, it wasn't the easiest thing Zink has ever done.

"It was pretty difficult because you have to remember you can't handle money at all," Zink said. "If you're thirsty, you have to beg for water. If you're hungry, you have to beg for food."

But she made it through it, although she won't give a hint about who won the competition, not even to her parents.

"We told her don't even think about telling us," Toni Zink said. "We wanted to watch the show, and we've loved every minute of it. I thought it was great."

"We're really proud of her. She loves sports, and obviously she wants to do sports broadcasting, and this would just be a boost for her. She loves being with people, loves new adventures and loves challenges. This was right up her alley."

Members of the winning team get two tickets to four championship events of their choice. Zink said if she wins, she'll take tickets to the NBA Finals, the NCAA championship game and the NFL's Pro Bowl in Hawaii. She'll give the other set of tickets to her parents. Though she can't say who won, she can certainly admit she had a great time. "People from Plymouth don't get to be on TV much," Zink said. "It was such a cool experience."

"Beg, Borrow and Deal" can be seen on ESPN at 8 p.m. Tuesdays.

BROE

Sincock said, "Our report indicates what could be termed as a potential loophole in state regulation or laws relating to licensing."

The bottom line: The three homes owned by Broe are not considered licensed rehabilitation facilities, and therefore not regulated by state law.

In reality, they are multi-family homes which happen to house people with closed head injuries.

"We didn't slip through any loopholes," said Gregory Bator, of the Birmingham law firm of Bator and Berlin, which represents Broe. "These individuals have as much right to live in a wonderful community, such as Plymouth, as anyone else. And, they have an obligation to abide by the city's laws and ordinances."

"We aren't asking for special treatment," he said. "We are bothered the neighborhood and city are singling us out. We see it as inappropriate."

The situation came to a head after Broe canceled a meeting scheduled for last Monday with neighborhood residents.

It was set up by Ann Manning, vice president of communications for Broe, after the Sept. 3 commission meeting where Farmer Street residents complained to commissioners.

"The individual privacy rights have to be respected," said Bator. "The residents who live in Plymouth, that we provide support for, took precedence over questions neighbors have."

"Plymouth has wonderful city services, police department, building department and code enforcement officer doing good jobs," Bator added. "If problems arise, they live in an area with excellent services."

In other words, if there are complaints residents should take it to the appropriate city department. Sincock, in his report, basically said the same thing.

Residents who witness inappropriate behavior need to report it to the police department and the appropriate state agencies. Residents must be willing to sign the complaints against an individual or the operator," he said in his report.

Bator backed off from calling the three Broe properties on Farmer Street the "Plymouth Campus," as referred to by Manning in an earlier interview with the Plymouth Observer.

"The most accurate description is a duplex, triplex and apartment building," said Bator. The duplex at 338 Farmer can house up to three people, the apartment complex at 347 Farmer has a capacity of eight, and the triplex at 378 Farmer can house four patients. At last count, Broe has 13 of its closed head injury patients living in Plymouth, two shy of capacity.

"Every individual needs certain levels of support, and we have levels of support," Bator said.

He noted there is a staff member on duty 24 hours, but not at each building.

The city commission, Farmer Street residents and Broe representatives are all expected at Monday's city commission meeting, which begins at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

Kenneth Dixon
Kenneth Dixon, 73, of Canton Township died Sept 28 in Canton. He was born March 13, 1929 in Brooklyn, N.Y. He was a retired Human Resource Director for General Motors Corporation in Auburn Hills. He came to the Canton community in 1978 from Holbrook, N.Y. He loved the New York Yankees. His heart was always in N.Y. where he was born and raised. He was a loving father, brother and friend.

Survivors include sons, Neil Dixon (fiancee, Stacey) of Plymouth and Bryan Dixon of Canton, daughter, Carolyn Dixon of Canton, and brother, Buddy (Ronnie) Dixon of Elmont, N.Y. Arrangements made by Schrader-Howell Funeral Home.

George Andrews
Services for George Andrews, 75, of Plymouth were held Oct 4 at the Schrader-Howell Funeral Home with the Rev. Dean Klump officiating.

Mr. Andrews was born Feb 28, 1927 in Bitola, Yugoslavia and died Sept 29 in Superior Township, after fighting a determined battle against leukemia. Mr. Andrews was known for having a long and dedicated career in the fields of health care and fitness. Most recently he was instrumental in the development of TRACC (Total Rehabilitation and Athletic Conditioning) of Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills. He retired as director in 1994.

George Andrews' career spanned a broad range of experiences in the health industry ranging from crisis management to wellness programming, including serving as Director of Outpatient Rehabilitation Center for the Geriatric Authority of Holyoke, Mass., establishing the curriculum of physical therapy at Wayne State University where he served as Director of Physical Therapy, Rehabilitation Institute, Detroit, developing and initiating a cardiovascular conditioning program for General Motors' top corporate executives, as well as developing the program, Fitness After Fifty, at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

He was actively committed to community and professional involvement, serving on many committees and chairing numerous professional societies, including the state and national chapters of the American Physical Therapy Association. Most recently he served on the boards of the Novi Chamber of Commerce and the Plymouth Housing Commission.

Mr. Andrews was a veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Navy, Pacific Theatre.

Survivors include wife, Elizabeth (Betty) of Plymouth, children, Laurie (Ken) Butman of Ypsilanti, Christine (John) Courtney of Franklin, Tenn., Janis (Bud) Burleson of Plymouth, and Greg (Jamie) Andrews of Seattle, Wash., eight grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and sister, Sophie Murhead of Syracuse, N.Y.

careers as advocates of the system, of the law. When asked whether they'd have any problem moving to the application side, both said no.

"There will be some challenges, anyone who says different isn't being honest with themselves," Gerou said. "But I won't have any problems with it."

Woodside agreed, and said she's done some preparation for the potential transition. "I've talked to friends and mentors, and I know the law," she said. "I have extensive experience, and I know both sides of the law."

Both candidates view drunk driving as one of the scourges of the judicial system, and both say the punishment should fit the crime, although jail time isn't the only option.

"We have an excellent tether program for first-time offenders," Gerou said. "The legislature has implemented serious penalties for habitual offenders. We will enforce those laws to keep our community safe."

Woodside said no matter what the final sentencing might be, offenders must be certain that punishment is on its way.

"Legitimate sentencing goals have to be commensurate with the crime," she said. "There has to be certainty of punishment."

much done," added Podgers, who attends the First United Methodist Church of Wayne. "To finish the project for all the windows would take over a year. That's why they send teams all the time."

The women, like each group member, paid their own way. This year plane fare and lodging totaled $2,550. When asked how long it takes to arrive in Blagoveshchensk, Podgers just said, "forever."

The 11-time zone trip begins with a flight to Chicago, and then on to Seoul, South Korea. "We have to wait two days to get a flight to Vladivostok (Russia), and then a 34-hour train ride to Blagoveshchensk. We'll work for 10 days and then come back."

Juras, who speaks the language as a result of Army reservist training as a Russian linguist, said it's more a mission of love than work.

"They ask us 'Why are you doing this?'" she said. "For me, God has blessed me in my life in so many ways. I have an overabundance of blessings and I want to use what I have to help. I have a special place in my heart for the Russian people."

Podgers said it's hard to turn down a chance at helping children in need.

"It's always a good feeling to know that you accomplish something, especially for the children because they have no other resource other than what somebody will do for them," she said. "They are so cute and friendly, and appreciate so much what we do."

As a result of the social climate in Russia, Juras said it's not unusual for children to live away from their parents.

"The school is for kids who have hearing losses and have been given up by their families," Juras said, "which, unfortunately, is quite common in Russia because of social problems like alcoholism, drug abuse and a high rate of divorce."

"They end up in an orphanage, if they're lucky," she said. "The rest become street children."

Podgers said the Russian Orthodox church doesn't preach the scripture, and in the limited time they have with students those in the mission try to spread the word of God.

"We're taking some children's Bibles in English and Russian," said Podgers. "It's something we try to instill in them."

While the purpose of the trip is to help with various building projects, Juras sees a much broader scope in the 10-day mission.

"The main goal seems to be work projects, but in a way it isn't," she said. "It's building bridges of friendship with people from the other side of the world."

HITMAN

much it would cost to have her killed," said Cox. "When Hardman was told it would be $50,000, he said 'I can't afford that. How much would it cost to break her legs and kill her dog?'"

Cox said the deal was settled at $10,000, with half paid upfront, and the other half when the middle man hired a hitman to finish the job and bring him proof.

The middleman, Marvin Droznek, hired a man identified in court documents only as "the source" to assault the woman in Plymouth. However, "the source" instead notified police and the game was on.

"The ex-husband wanted a piece of jewelry from the woman to prove the job had been completed, and the FBI arranged to get it from her and gave it to the hitman," said Cox.

"To make it look like the attack happened, we made a plan whereby I called the ex-husband, telling him I was investigating an assault and battery. We wanted him to believe it really took place."

"He wanted specifics about how it happened, but I just told him 'she won't be walking for awhile,'" said Cox.

Hardman, in an attempt to make certain the job was completed, called the next day from Nashville to find out if there really was a Plymouth police department and talked again with Cox. "He seemed pretty sure after that the assault took place," said Cox. "The hitman was supposed to attack the woman as she walked her dog outside her home, kill the dog and get a piece of jewelry."

The FBI then went after Droznek in order to get to Hardman. Agents reportedly arranged for Droznek to meet undercover vice agents at a hotel. According to court records, Droznek bought five kilos, or about 11 pounds, of cocaine from the police. The feds arrested Droznek afterward, and he agreed to cooperate with the FBI by wearing a wire to catch Hardman.

"While wearing the wire, the middleman went to collect the final payment," said Cox. "In the process, Hardman said 'Find me someone else, I want Travis Tritt killed. It will take me a couple of months to get the money.'"

According to police, Tritt was having an affair with Hardman's girlfriend, and Hardman wanted Tritt out of the picture.

Hardman was arrested. He and Droznek faced charges in federal court in Nashville on Tuesday. The pair is being held without bond after a detention hearing.

Market guide

The Michigan Department of Agriculture has published a new edition of its popular Michigan Farm Market & U Pick Directory.

The publication is divided into seven regional sections, ranging from the Upper Peninsula to metro Detroit and includes a Michigan Farm Fresh Produce Availability Calendar.

This free directory can be ordered from the Michigan Department of Agriculture in a number of ways.

You can mail in a request to the department at P.O. Box 30017, Lansing, MI 48909, call (517) 373 1104, fax a request to (517) 335 7071.

To get farm market information online, go to www.michigan.gov/mda.

Apples

Originally Michigan had no apple trees. Apples are not native to the North American continent. They were brought here by early European settlers.

The earliest apple trees planted in Michigan were probably at the French settlement of Detroit in the 18th century.

Homesteaders planted apple seeds after clearing their land for crops. Now apples are Michigan's number one fruit crop.

To learn more about apples and where to pick them, check out the Michigan Apple Committee's Web site www.michiganapples.com.

Gail's tips

Silk Soymilk: try it if you may love it, says Gail Posner, a registered dietitian with Healthy Ways Nutrition.

Counseling in West Bloomfield: The silk version is refrigerated and can be easily found in the dairy case and always tastes fresh.

According to the FDA, eating 25 grams of soy protein a day may help lower cholesterol. A diet high in soy protein has been linked to the reduction of some cancers, ease of hot flashes associated with menopause, and an improvement in bone health. Try soymilk with Soy Essence Cereal by Barbara's Bakery. This new whole grain, high fiber product is available at Whole Foods Markets.

Chili Cook-Off

The Brooks Great Lakes Regional Chili Cook Off is 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday Oct. 13 at Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

There's also a salsa contest with red chili, green chili and salsa as categories.

At least 60 chili cooks are expected to vie for cash prizes and the chance to advance to the World Chili & Salsa Championship in Reno. You can sample competition chili at 3 p.m. for $1 per taste.

Northern Indian Cuisine

Your complete guide to the region's intricately spiced dishes

Gajjan Sandhu, owner of Shan-E-Punjab restaurant in Garden City, with his Northern Indian creations: Tandoori Chicken (left) and the chef's special, Vegetable Thali. It consists of three vegetables, raita, dhal, rice, naan.

Two women enjoy a late lunch at Shan-E-Punjab. The restaurant closes after lunch at 2 p.m. and re-opens for dinner. Authentic Indian food is quite complicated and many restaurant owners allow themselves several hours to begin simmering spices for evening meals.

Perhaps you've wanted to visit an Indian grocer, but realized you know little about the cuisine or its exotic spices. Plus, many labels on Indian foods are written in Hindi and that can make a market trip seem even more overwhelming.

Typically though, there's a friendly atmosphere in most local Indian markets where customers and staffers spend relaxing moments chatting about food or life. Grab an item off a shelf and politely ask "how do I cook this?" and chances are more than one person will offer advice.

carry every ingredient imaginable. Past the aisles of upbeat Indian music CDs and celebratory henna tattoo ink are fresh mangos, potatoes and ginger, pre-mixed spices like Chana Masala, dried lentils, rice and chutneys.

Gajjan Sandhu and son Bobby Sandhu of Shan-E-Punjab Restaurant, on Ford Road at Merriman in Garden City, often talk with customers who prefer to order a Northern Indian meal rather than try to make one at home. Heat from the spice can overwhelm the flavor if too much is used by the novice. "Many customers are people who love Indian food, but don't know how to make or don't want to spend the time making it at home," said Sandhu.

Chili powder, coriander, mustard seeds, ginger and garlic are the basic spices in many dishes, Sandhu said. To make traditional Northern Indian cooking even more difficult at home, a Tandoor oven is needed to make authentic fluffy Naan (a flat bread that is much thicker, softer and puffier than pita, spiced Lamb or Chicken Sheekh Kabab). Most people, of course, don't have the ancient, horizontally deep clay oven with the round hole - heated up to 6,000°F with

Discover California's Central Coast wines

Year-round balmy weather in and around Santa Barbara, Calif., about 100 miles north of Los Angeles, marks it as a magnet from which to explore Central Coast wine country. As a vacation spot, Santa Barbara compares well to Spain's Costa Brava. Spanish colonial and Mediterranean-style buildings with red-tiled roofs are accented by colorful flowers in the city's lively downtown shopping and restaurant district.

Consider Santa Barbara as the southern anchor for a wine trip taking you north through the sand havens of Pismo Beach and Avila Beach to San Simeon and the famed Hearst Castle with inland stops in Solvang, a mini Copenhagen, Santa Ynez, Los Olivos, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo, Templeton and Paso Robles.

San Luis Obispo wine country is made up of two valleys: Edna Valley

Focus on Wine

Eleanor & Ray Heald

and Arroyo Grande Valley are the hot spots for great pinot noir at more affordable prices. Other varieties such as cabernet franc are gaining acclaim. Due to the unique geography of the South Central Coast, both valleys have east-west orientations. They are famous for the far-reaching maritime influence on the climate and calcareous soil, both of which promote wine complexity.

Our pick for the top wineries in the Edna Valley are Baileyana (these wines will be available in Michigan and we'll feature them in an upcoming column) and Domaine Alfred with stunning wines from the replanted historic Chamisal Vineyard. Edna Valley Vineyard is a pioneer winery in the region.

Kynsi Winery is a relative newcomer in an old, restored dairy. Stephen Ross produces a mere 2,500 cases annually, but the pinot noir is dynamite.

Winemaker Cathy MacGregor makes wines under her own and the Windemere label.

French 'garagistes' may be all the rage in Bordeaux, but Cathy MacGregor is a California pioneer, making wines in an industrial park in Arroyo Grande Valley, Talley Vineyards pinot noir and Saucelito

Exotic spices key to many Indian dishes

MALAI KOFTA

Minced vegetable croquettes deep fried and left to simmer in a creamy sauce

For the kofta

1 1/2 pounds potatoes
2 tablespoon each of crumbled paneer, khoya and thick cream (fried cheese from Indian grocers)
4-5 cashew nuts chopped
1 tablespoon raisins
2-3 finely chopped green chilies
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon coriander powder
1 teaspoon cumin powder
1 teaspoon red chili powder
1/2 teaspoon cardamom powder
Salt according to taste
3 tablespoon cooking oil or ghee (clarified butter from Indian grocer)

Oil for frying the koftas

For the gravy

2 medium onions chopped
3 garlic pods crushed
1 teaspoon ginger crushed
3 large tomatoes pureed
1 teaspoon red chili powder
1/2 teaspoon garam masala powder (from Indian grocers)
1/2 teaspoon coriander powder
1/2 teaspoon cumin powder
2 tablespoons powdered poppy seeds
1 tablespoons ground peanuts/cashew nuts

Drain and keep aside. Blend onions, ginger, garlic and the poppy seeds and fry in 3 tablespoons of oil until brown. Add the pureed tomatoes, peanuts and masala powders. When the gravy will begin to thicken, add some Malai (cream) to thicken it some more. Mix in some water if necessary. When the gravy comes to a boil, add the koftas. Heat through and serve.

TANDOORI CHICKEN

12 Chicken drumsticks and/or breast pieces (skin removed)
1 cup plain yogurt or 2 cups Buttermilk
1 1/2 tablespoon red chili powder
1 tablespoon ginger powder
2 tablespoon coriander powder
1 tablespoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon cumin
1/2 tablespoon Garam masala
Meat tenderizer (optional)
2 tablespoons salt (use less if tenderizer contains salt)
Lemon juice (optional)

Prick the chicken pieces with a fork all over. Apply the tenderizer to the chicken pieces and let it stand for an hour or so. The marinade. Take a wide and deep bowl deep enough to hold all the chicken pieces.

Add the yogurt plus one-cup water or the buttermilk with no water into the bowl. Add all the spices from nos. three through eight into the bowl and stir. Now add the chicken pieces into the mixture, so that they are all covered with the paste/mixture. Cover the bowl with a lid and let stand for 6 hours. To grill the chicken, apply melted butter to the chicken pieces with a brush or spoon all over and you are ready to grill the chicken on the barbecue in the normal fashion. Turn over the chicken pieces when they look brownish red in color. Lemon juice sprinkled on the cooked pieces also adds to the flavor, if you wish.

MATAR PANEER

Paneer and green peas cooked in onion tomato gravy

1/2 pound cubed paneer pieces
1 cup green peas
1/4 cup curd (plain yogurt)
1 teaspoon coriander powder
1/4 teaspoon red chili powder
1/2 teaspoon Garam Masala
4 tablespoons oil
Salt according to taste
A handful of chopped coriander leaves for garnish

Grounded to paste

2 medium onions
1 small piece ginger
3 tomatoes
1 Big cardamom (a spice found at Indian grocers)
3 cloves

Serve with Hot Chapatis

Fry the paneer pieces to a light brown color. Drain and keep it aside. In a pan heat oil and add the grounded paste and cook till thick and dry. Cook on a slow flame till the oil separates. Add the curd and cook again till the oil separates. Add the red chili powder, coriander powder, green peas, salt and cook for 2-3 minutes. Add enough water to make a thick gravy. Now add the paneer pieces and Garam Masala once the green peas are cooked. Cook on low a flame till the oil separates, then serve garnished with chopped coriander.

SAMBHAR

South Indian preparation to be accompanied with rice dosas or basmati rice. You'll need a pressure cooker for this dish.

1 cup Tovar (yellow lentils) dal (washed and soaked for 30 minutes)
4-5 strips tamarind soaked for 5 minutes (paste or pulp may also be used)
1 tablespoon jaggery (molasses) or sugar
2 tablespoon sambar masala
1/4 teaspoon turmeric powder
1 tablespoon dhania (coriander powder) powder
1 teaspoon red chili powder
1/2 teaspoon each cumin and mustard seeds
3 whole red chilies
1 stalk curry leaves
4 onions
1/2 cup boiled mixed veggies
1 large tomato
1 tablespoon chopped coriander leaves
2-3 cloves garlic
Salt according to taste
2 tablespoons oil

Grind to a paste, one onion, 1/4 tomato, jaggery, garlic, all dry masalas. Chop the remaining onion and tomato to medium pieces. Heat oil, add cumin and mustard seeds, curry leaves and allow to simmer. Add onion, mixed veggies, tomato and stir-fry for two minutes. Add paste, and cook for further two minutes. Add lentils and bring to a boil on high.

Add enough water to get a gravy-like consistency. Check and adjust masala as required. Simmer 12-15 minutes on low, till the aroma exudes. Add chopped coriander leaves before serving.

charcoal. But if you really want an authentic Tandoor oven, the folks at Namaste Plaza in Farmington Hills can help. Sandhu opened Shan-E-Punjab five years ago. It's popular among business folks and families. Often ordered dishes are ones tedious to make. Chicken Masala, and spicy vegetable bowls called Malai Kofta. Those dishes are eaten with Naan or white basmati rice and sweet drinks called Lassi, which consist of mango, yogurt, milk and sugar.

The Lassi balances the spice that isn't as hot as some might expect it to be.

Many Indian dishes are related by spices. All along the northern plain from Punjab through Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, a variety of flours are used to make chapati, Naan and other closely related breads.

In the rain-swept regions of the north-eastern area many varieties of rice are used.

There are authentic ways to prepare meals, and some modern shortcuts. The recipes can be prepared in any standard kitchen.

A Tandoor isn't required.

Try an Indian samosa with a unusual autumn flair

I love Indian food, but until recently, knew little about preparing it. Some of the best local chefs around shared their knowledge with me while I researched this week's Taste cover story.

In the kitchen with
Lana Mini
My favorite local Indian restaurants are the Small World Cafe, 111 E Kirby in Detroit, in the basement of the International Institute near the Detroit Institute of Arts. Small World serves great curries and Indian breads.

cooking. Try the Malai Kofta — little spicy vegetable balls. Mustard seeds, green chili seeds, saffron, cardamom, fennel and cinnamon awaken my senses and comfort me when I have a cold. Here are some of my favorite dishes — they're available at most northern Indian restaurants.

Vegetable samosas, Kachumber salad, Mutter Paneer or Aloo Gobi, a side of rice, Naan, and water, lots of it, please.

Samosa is a flaky turnover stuffed with spicy potatoes and peas and topped with a brown sweet chutney. Kachumber salad is finely chopped lettuce, cucumber and carrots topped with a very spicy dressing. Mutter Paneer is fried cheese and peas simmered in a rich intensely spicy/kind of sweet sauce. Naan is fluffy Indian flat bread made in an open oven.

After interviewing Indian chefs for my story, I decided to try my hand at Indian cooking, and choose a recipe from the book "Yamuna's Table, Healthful Cuisine Inspired by the Flavors of India" written by Yamuna Devi ($23, Dutton Books). Yamuna's Table is not traditional Indian cuisine — it's healthy food with an Indian flair.

The book has a useful glossary and 200 interesting recipes like Eggplant Potato and Chickpea Stew, Mung Bean and Basmati Rice stew with vegetables, Gingered Tomato Sauce, Cilantro Chutney and Blackberry-Filled Baked Apples with Saffron Pastry Cream.

In celebration of autumn I chose to make an appetizer: Winter squash Samosas stuffed with pecans and coconut. Here they were baked rather than traditionally fried. Typically samosas are stuffed with potatoes and peas and I missed that flavor, but the samosas were still wonderfully flaky and spicy.

What's good about this recipe is the samosas freeze nicely.

VEGETABLE SQUASH SAMOSAS
Makes about 24
Pastry
1 cup unbleached all purpose flour
1 to 2 jalapeno chilies seeded and coarsely chopped
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup (1 stick) chilled butter cut into 1/2 inch dice
4 ounces chilled light cream cheese cut into 1/2 inch dice

Filling
two 14 ounce packages frozen squash puree (winter type) or 2 1/2 cups cooked winter squash puree
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground white pepper
1 1/2 jalapeno chilies seeded minced (preferably with a Japanese ginger grater)
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/3 cup freshly grated coconut or grated frozen coconut defrosted
3 tablespoons chopped pecans

To prepare the pastry, combine all of the pastry ingredients in a food processor work bowl fitted with a metal blade and process until the dough forms a ball (usually less than a minute).

Shape into three smooth patties cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate. (Can be made one to two days ahead of use.)

To prepare the filling, defrost the frozen squash in a strainer to allow the excess liquid to drain off.

Place the defrosted or fresh squash puree and one teaspoon of butter in a large non-stick frying pan over moderate heat.

Cook for 15 minutes, stirring frequently until the squash has reduced to a thick paste (1 2/3 cups) that sticks onto an upside-down spoon.

Remove from the heat and stir in the remaining butter, seasonings, coconut and nuts, cool. Cover and refrigerate for up to two days.

To assemble the samosas, preheat the oven to 375°F. On lightly floured surface, roll out one portion of the pastry into an oblong approximately 9/16 inches in length. Using a fluted or plain 3 1/2-inch cutter, cut out eight rounds from the dough. Gather the scraps and set aside. Place one tablespoon of filling on each round, dampen the edges and fold the dough over the filling. Press the edges firmly with your fingertips to seal.

Place the samosas on ungreased baking sheets. Repeat the process with the other two portions of dough to assemble 24 pastries. Roll scraps to make 3 or 4 additional samosas. Bake until puffed and browned, about 20 minutes. Alternately, bake 15 minutes, cool, wrap and freeze for up to one month.

Brown and warm for five minutes at 375°F. Serve hot or at room temperature.

Exhibit shows more than 200 images of gardens

BY ALEX LUNDBERG
STAFF WRITER

Shutterbugs from all over Oakland County can peruse a new collection of photographic art at one of the region's most prestigious malls.

For the second year, Cranbrook Gardens Amateur Photography Contest will showcase the work of hobby photographers. The one-week exhibit opens Monday, Oct. 7 at Somerset Collection, Troy. Unlike a lot of other contests, viewers will get to see a lot of different works.

Well, a lot of different works on the same subject.

The focus of the contest is Cranbrook itself, its grounds, buildings and statuary. Entrants will be judged in six categories: Flowers, landscapes, special effects, sculpture, architecture and — for the first year — children's works. Winners will be announced at a private reception Monday evening.

Public Relations and Marketing Director for the garden auxiliary Jerry Salero said the contest is primarily there to showcase the facility.

"We're a non-profit. We wanted to create an awareness of the gardens," he said. That's why all of the pictures had to be shot on the grounds.

He also said that the contest is a showcase for the work of amateur photographers. Most people, he said, don't get an opportunity to share their hobbies with a wide audience.

"That's also why we're holding the showing at Somerset," Salero said. Before it was in the Bloomfield Library and not many people got to see it.

Judge Linda Solomon said putting kids into the contest was a good step.

"That's a first for this year," she said. "We felt it was important to encourage children to appreciate Cranbrook. It's good for them to

She also said that it would be good for kids to see their work hung up in a place like Somerset. Salero said that quite a few younger photographers participated in the contest last year, some won ribbons for their work.

"We decided to give the kids a better chance to win with their own category," he said.

Detroit commands spotlight at Toronto fest

BY MARTIN BANDYKE AND KIM SILARSKI
CORRESPONDENT

The folks at the chamber of commerce aren't going to be very happy about this.

But audiences worldwide are likely to be thrilled by a high profile feature and three documentaries — with some less than pretty Detroit or Michigan ties that won raves at last month's Toronto

International Film Festival.

The hottest ticket at North America's largest film market was 8 Mile, Detroit rapper Eminem's semi-autobiographical film debut shot entirely in the metro area. Hollywood stars in Toronto to promote their own new films, including Dustin Hoffman, Michael Douglas and Sharon Stone, scrambled to gain entry to the festival's most elegant venue, the vintage Elgin Theatre on Yonge Street.

while scalpers were said to be getting $50 a ticket.

Factory rat Rabbit (Eminem) is a wannabe rap king struggling to succeed while keeping his little sister safe from Moms (a woefully miscast Kim Basinger) bad life choices. Home is a Warren trailer park on the title roadway while Detroit's Michigan Theater

Eminem starts in 8 Mile which was shown at the Toronto Film Festival and opens in Detroit theaters next month.

Capture the game's spirit when shooting sports

Whether it's the family volleyball game in the backyard or the major league baseball game at the stadium, sports photography can reward you with many impact-filled and memorable shots.

Focus On Photography

Monte Nagler

when photographing sports, a telephoto lens is needed. Use one that will bring the action in close. For the little league game down at the corner lot, a moderate 135mm lens will do.

But for the major leagues, you'll need a major league lens of 200mm to 400mm in length.

You'll require an action-stopping shutter speed of at least 1/500 second, so fast film is in order. Use a 400 ASA film in either color or black and white.

The key to good sports photography is to anticipate the action and capture the spontaneity of the game.

In the photograph shown here taken during a major league baseball game, I wanted to capture the peak of the action at home plate. I pre-determined exposure using the 1/1000 second shutter speed and pre-focused my 200mm lens on the batter. By keeping my left eye open, I could follow the action and watch when the pitcher would release the ball.

It all paid off with this action filled shot. Only by pre-focusing, determining the exposure ahead of time and anticipating the action, was I rewarded with the picture. Other sports work similarly. Get to know the game and anticipate the action. Use your concentration and be prepared to take a couple rolls of film to get the shots that will score for you.

Remember that sports photography is not only concerned with freezing the moment of victory or defeat, but also of capturing the spirit of the game.

Monte Nagler is a fine arts photographer based in Farmington Hills. He can be reached at (734) 953-2047.

Pre focusing, pre determining exposure, a fast shutter speed and anticipation all helped Monte Nagler hit a home run with this photo.

Celebrate Hispanic heritage at Detroit Children's Museum

The Children's Museum in Detroit sponsors Second Saturdays on Second with programs for families every second Saturday of the month beginning Oct. 12. Here's what's scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 12:

■ Celebrating Hispanic Heritage Month will be presented at noon and 2 p.m.

■ At 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. families and children age 4 and older can see Discover the Autumn Sky in the Planetarium with demonstrator Virginia Rybinski.

■ Glorina Rosas of Xochis Gift Shop demonstrates how to make fiesta paper flowers at noon. Museum visitors can try their hands at the craft.

■ At 2 p.m. renowned artist, Nora Chapa Mendoza, will share the history of the festivals celebrated throughout the year in Latin America while participants paint a festive mural panel for display at the Museum. They'll also make a mural to take home. Pre registration is required.

Call (313) 873-8100. The Children's Museum is located at 6134 Second Avenue between Amsterdam and Burroughs. Admission is free.

Lively prose, ring-true characters make Middlesex a good read

MIDDLESEX by Jeffrey Eugenides (Farrar Straus and Giroux $27.00)

This novel by former Detroit resident Jeffrey Eugenides is a masterpiece of prose. It follows the life of Calliope, a young girl who grows up in a small village in Greece...

LOCAL FLAVOR

As our story goes, somewhere just past mid-point of the twentieth century, a Detroit couple, Milton and Tessie Stephanides, become the proud parents of a baby girl they name Calliope. At least they think Calliope is a girl. The aging, nearsighted doctor who examines Calliope at birth makes that pronouncement and nobody has any apparent reason to doubt his word...

is a hermaphrodite

What does a nice, middle-class Greek family do when faced with such a dilemma? I'll not go into too much detail here. But suffice it to say that, because of her parent's decisions, Calliope flees the scene, and ends up knocking about with some mighty flashy characters in San Francisco (It's the 70's, so you can imagine)...

Twin Cities' dedication to arts will melt your heart

BY NORMA AND WENDY SCHONWETTER
CORRESPONDENTS

What do you think of when someone mentions the Twin Cities? Bitter cold winters with tons of snow? Although it's true, what most people don't know is how inviting and hospitable the Twin Cities are, and that they are a Mecca for art and architecture.

MINNEAPOLIS

With a vibrant downtown famous for its seven miles of elevated, temperature-controlled, enclosed walkways, called the Skyway, Minneapolis is very impressive and comfortable in all seasons.

The main street, Nicollet Mall, is a pedestrian mall in downtown with heated sidewalks and bus shelters with piped-in classical music. From bus shelters to big buildings and manhole covers to monuments, Minneapolis is dedicated to providing free public art.

The bus shelters are octagonal glass artworks, each etched with a different design style such as prairie school, art deco, and post modern to name a few. Even the manhole covers on Nicollet Mall reflect their emphasis on art with eleven different cast iron designs embedded in the sidewalk, depicting flora and fauna of Minnesota.

Beautiful sculptures and fountains abound. One stunning bronze-sculpted fountain depicts three large Minnesota birds: The great blue heron, the loon and the sage grouse. Then there's the unique ice/water fountain that consists of stainless steel forms set in a basin of water. During the winter, regular misting creates ice formations.

Spoonbridge and Cherry stands in the 11-acre Minneapolis Sculpture Garden.

Recently, an eight-foot bronze statue of Mary Tyler Moore performing her famous hat toss was placed on the corner of 7th and Nicollet to commemorate the Minneapolis-based sitcom.

As a bonus, you can munch on fresh produce from the farmer's market on Nicollet Mall every Thursday and Saturday, May through October.

The IDS Tower, with its eight-story Crystal Court, completed in 1973, became downtown's crossroads and sparked the initial growth of the skyway system, totally changing the landscape of downtown.

Hop a trolley and take a ride through Minneapolis. Trolley service runs May-October.

From the facades down to lobby exhibits, art and beauty call to you from the edifices that make up the bones of the city. Art deco buildings like Forsyth Towers and Rand Tower, built in 1929, intermingle amongst other artistically inspired buildings like the Wells Fargo Center, Piper Jaffrey Tower, Norwest Center, and AT&T Tower (a 34-story green glass building).

IF YOU GO

Call (888) 676-6757 or go to www.minneapolis.org for travel information.

shaped like an artichoke).

There is no shortage of top-notch museums in this ever-artful city. The Walker Art Center is among the best contemporary art museums in the world, displaying 20th century and contemporary art from America.

The adjacent 11-acre Minneapolis Sculpture Garden, is the largest urban sculpture park, with works by internationally acclaimed artists. Don't miss Frank Gehry's Standing Glass Fish in the Palm Court and the Spoonbridge and Cherry in the center of the garden.

The Minneapolis Institute of Arts with more than 85,000 works spanning 4,000 years is one of the outstanding art museums in the country. The Frederick R. Weisman Art Museum, on the campus of the University of Minnesota, is housed in a work of art — a stainless steel contemporary building by Frank Gehry. Sculptured skylights cast natural light throughout its galleries.

The American Swedish Institute, the former 33-room Turnblad mansion, with intricately carved oak, walnut and mahogany interiors, magnificent decorative porcelain tile stoves, plus artifacts and marvelous collections of Swedish glass and fine arts is a must see. Look up to see delicately painted plaster sculpturing on the ceilings of almost every room.

A symbiotic relationship between the artistry of Nature and man makes Minneapolis that much more enchanting. Noted as the City of Lakes, there are several large lakes within the city. A great de-stresser is Loring Lake, just six blocks from downtown. For delicious autumn colors, walk, bike or roller-skate on the paths around any of the lakes.

Lake Harriet also has a magnificent new bandshell. Lake Minnetonka, 20 minutes west of Minneapolis, is huge at 14,000 acres and has a 392-acre Regional Park, visitor center, historical exhibits, a boat launch and fishing pier.

At the north end of the downtown area, The Mississippi River meets St. Anthony Falls. By harnessing the waterpower of the 50-foot falls, Minneapolis became the center of mill activity. The headquarters of Cargill, Pillsbury and General Mills harken back to the days when Minneapolis was the king of the grain industry. This once-neglected waterfront is being redeveloped with plans for the new home of the Guthrie Theater, loft condos, Mill City Museum and more cultural activities. Take a stroll via the Stone Arch Bridge to view a scenic span of the Mississippi, downtown Minneapolis and the river's northernmost lock and dam in action.

Are you on art-overload? Pay a visit to the mega-mall, Mall of America. This mall, easily accessible from downtown by bus, combines 520 retail stores, restaurants, an 18-hole miniature golf course, indoor theme park and a walk-through aquarium. It has to be seen to be believed.

ST. PAUL

Linked to its sister city by a suspension bridge across the Mississippi, St. Paul is the capital of Minnesota. Not to be outdone culturally, St. Paul is home to the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, the Minnesota Opera, and the Ordway Center for the Performing Arts and other theaters.

St. Paul proudly boasts the Water reflects the lights of Minneapolis at night.

State Capitol and the St. Paul Cathedral. The State Capitol reflects the design genius of Cass Gilbert, well known for other state capitals and the U.S. Supreme Court Building. The building incorporates sculpture, murals, and a marble dome. The St. Paul Cathedral is styled after St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome and seats 3,000 people.

The newly opened Science Museum of Minnesota is a six-story building on the Mississippi River with hands-on exhibits that allow visitors to touch a tornado and walk under a two-story dinosaur.

The art deco St. Paul City Hall and Courthouse creates a beautiful space to display a breathtaking sculpture by Carl Milles.

called Vision of Peace. Depicting a group of Native Americans smoking their sacred ceremonial pipes, the 36-foot tall man figure is carved of white onyx and weighs nearly 60 tons.

The James J. Hill House, built in 1891 by the railroad magnate, contains 36,000 square feet on five floors with 22 fireplaces and 16 crystal chandeliers. This National Historic Landmark has very sophisticated plumbing, electrical and security systems more attuned to present times than its own.

In any weather, let the warm ambiance created by the confluence of the abundant art, innovative architecture and natural beauty melt your heart.

Sidelines

■ Ocelots win

Three players reached double figures in kills as Schoolcraft College's volleyball team swept past Oakland CC Wednesday 30-17, 30-6, 30-19 at OCC. Kerstin Marshall (Livonia Franklin) and Katrina Napier were voted co-players of the game by their team mates. Marshall had a team best 14 kills (61 kill percent age) and three service aces. Napier finished with 10 kills (43%). Holly Soldenski also had 10 kills (50%) and Noelle Swartz (Canton/Westland John Glenn) totaled seven kills (50%), three aces and eight digs. Ioana Vescan had 40 set assists, six aces and six digs. Stephanie Koslowski had six kills and six aces, and Desiree Betts (Livonia Ladywood) finished with seven aces. The win pushed SC's record to 25-9 overall, 11-0 in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association's Eastern Conference.

■ Top player

Compuware forward Matt Rutkowski was named the North American Hockey League's player of the month after scoring three goals and adding 13 assists in nine games. A Ferris State University recruit, Rutkowski led Compuware — the defending Junior A Gold Cup national champs — to an 8-1-1 start. Rutkowski is leading the NAHL in scoring (16 points) and assists (13) and is tied for first in game-winning goals (two).

■ WHAC's best

Madonna's Sarah Pack, a Westland John Glenn grad from Canton, was named Wolverine Hoosier Athletic Conference player of the week. A sophomore, Pack helped the Lady Crusaders win three straight matches by scoring two goals in each game. Madonna is 8-1-2 overall, 1-0 in the WHAC. Pack leads the team in scoring with 11 goals and two assists in nine matches.

■ Trainer sought

Redford Thurston is looking for a certified athletic trainer available for hire as full-time position within the district. Qualified applicants may send their resume to athletic director Al Chambo, 26255 Schoolcraft, Redford, MI 48239. For more information call (313) 535-4000 ext. 1166 or e-mail him at chambo@southredford.net.

■ Coaches wanted

Livonia Churchill needs a varsity boys tennis coach for the spring season. Those interested should call athletic director Marc Hage at (734) 523-9217 or fax resume and letter of interest to (734) 523-9255.

Livonia Ladywood has two coaching positions open for the winter season — varsity hockey and freshman volleyball — also one for the spring season — junior varsity soccer. Call (734) 591-2323.

Canton HS is looking for junior varsity and freshmen level softball coaches. Experience is necessary. Resumes and references should be sent to Sue Heinzman, athletic director, Canton HS, 8415 Canton Center Road, Canton, MI 48187. Call (734) 416-2925.

PAUL HURSCHEMANN | OBSERVER

Salem's Joe Pomorski was a good reason the Rocks edged Canton Friday. Pomorski shot a 39.

Salem's golfers surprise Canton

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

That's the beauty of sports, isn't it? You just never know.

Rick Wilson always tried to adhere to a simple policy when it came to making out the Salem golf lineup for the Canton meet: start the seniors.

"I've been rotating nine or 10 guys into the lineup, which is unusual for me," said Wilson. "But I always felt it was important to play the seniors in the Canton match. This match always means a lot to them."

The Chiefs seemed to have the better team going into Friday's confrontation. But that's not the way things turned out — Salem got some big-time help from an unexpected source and upended Canton, 158-160 at Northville Hills.

The win evens the Rocks record in the Western Lakes Activities Association at 4-4, they have one make-up match remaining against Livonia Stevenson Monday, before the WLAA Tournament Tuesday at Hudson Mills. Canton finishes its WLAA dual-meet season at 5-4.

Wilson's seniors-first strategy against Canton gave Dave Stevens a chance to get back into the lineup. Stevens had done fairly well earlier in the season, shooting a 42 against Farmington Harrison and a 45 against Livonia Franklin.

But a freak accident put Stevens out of the lineup. Two weeks ago, after he took his tee shot, Stevens bent down to grab his tee just as freshman Jeremy Henderson was taking a practice swing. Henderson hit Stevens above the eye, opening up a gash that required 13 stitches to close.

Stevens had been a borderline first-stringer before the injury, he was regulated to the junior varsity afterwards. At least until Friday's meeting with Canton.

He ended up posting his best round of the season, shooting a medalist-earning 38 in poor weather conditions.

"He really was the difference today," admitted Wilson. "I wasn't expecting a 38 from Dave, not on this course, not in these conditions."

Salem got several other top-notch scores, including a pair of 39s from Joe Pomorski and Andy Thackaberry. Pat Shaw had a 42, with Charlie Suder and Aaron Cheesman scoring 46s.

Canton hardly struggled. Indeed, the Chiefs turned in a strong performance.

Offense disappears for Salem

BASKETBALL

Here's the problem Salem has: a young basketball team — just two seniors — and an entirely new starting lineup.

The Rocks also have about two quarters' worth of offense, at least when opposed by a quality team.

That lack of offensive firepower showed up again Thursday when Salem hosted Walled Lake Central in a key Western Lakes Activities Association Lakes Division match-up. The Rocks made it a game until halftime, when they trailed 24-16, but they scored just five points in the second half, eventually losing 32-21.

The loss left Salem at 5-5 overall, 1-1 in the division at the midpoint of the regular season. Central is 6-4 overall, 3-0 in the division.

Despite the loss — Salem never led after the first two minutes of the game — Rocks' coach Fred Thomann remained positive. "We're getting there," he said. "We had our shots (in the second half), it's just that not one went down."

That is certainly true. The Rocks trailed 13-12 following a Carly Schwan three-pointer early in the second quarter, but after Stephanie Philips' basket with 5:23 left in the first half, they managed just one more basket.

In the game, it must be noted that for much of the second half, the Vikings spent a lot of time wasting time. They held the ball, daring the Rocks to stretch their zone defense.

Still, the win meant a lot to a lot of them. "This is my fourth year as head coach, and this is my first win against a Salem team," said Central coach Rob Schopf. "It's very, very rare to come into this gym and get a win."

"This is not a typical Salem team. They're young. But I knew it would be dogfight, a battle."

Canton repels dogged Chargers

This was a team with virtually no tradition in girls' basketball. Canton, meanwhile, has one of its best teams in recent memory.

And yet here it was, midway through the fourth quarter, and Livonia Churchill was tied with the Chiefs at 46-all.

Was an upset in the offing? Canton is clearly the favorite to win the Western Lakes Activities Association title, while the Chargers figure to struggle to remain in the upper half in the standings.

Their long-range shooting kept the Chargers in the game until the last couple of minutes, when the

1st-half scoring spree carries Canton past Franklin

The truth of it is, it actually could have been worse.

Not much went right for Livonia Franklin Friday when it traveled to take on Canton on its homecoming. The Patriots couldn't stop the Chiefs, and they made matters worse for themselves by committing six turnovers.

When you're playing one of the better teams in the area, that's a recipe for disaster. Which is just what happened — Canton scored 54 points in the first half and coasted to a 54-8 victory.

Canton improved to 5-1 overall, 4-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. The Patriots fell to 1-5, overall and in the WLA.

If Franklin had anything to boast about, it was doing something the Chiefs' previous two opponents, Walled Lake Western and Livonia Stevenson, could not — score a touchdown. Canton was on the board on its first possession, Reggie Joyner darting in from 36 yards out. Ankat Kachhal's extra-point kick made it 7-0.

A 48-yard punt return by Brandon Wilcox set up the Chiefs' second TD. A 16-yard pass from Dave Nicoloff to Devn Thomas moved the ball to the 5. Corey Rutledge eventually scored on a 1-yard run, making it 14-0.

A Franklin fumble on the ensuing kickoff led to a 22-yard scoring run by Joyner and a 20-0 Canton lead. And the first quarter wasn't over yet.

Another fumbled kickoff, followed by a 25-yard pass from Nicoloff to Andy Howald, set up Travis McKinney's 2-yard touchdown. The two-point conversion failed, leaving it at 26-0.

Devn Thomas' 26-yard scoring jaunt ended the first quarter, the lead for the Chiefs now 33-0.

It didn't get any prettier for Franklin in the second quarter. A 65-yard Nicoloff-to-Shawn Zullo pass made it 40-0 and a 44-yard Nicoloff-to-Thomas pass pushed the lead to 47-0. Canton completed its first-half romp with a 50-yard run by Corey Walsler.

Eagles finish 4th at invite

Plymouth Christian Academy got a strong performance from top runner Mark Varney, good enough to ensure the Eagles a fourth-place finish at the 10th annual Small School Invitational Cross Country Meet, held Tuesday at Cass Benton. PCA finished with 35 points (top three runners scored). Detroit Holy Redeemer won the meet, for the fourth time in five years, with 18 points. Auburn Hills Oakland Christian was second with 23, with Toledo Emmanuel third with 32. A total of nine teams competed. Varney finished second in 18:50, Redeemer's Dave Romero was first in 18:40. PCA's other runners were Mark Burkhart, 12th (20:34), Brian Holychuk, 21st (22:17), Matt Stephens, 28th (23:25), and Scott Brandt, 31st (23:53). Plymouth HS got a school-record performance from Tiffany Burns, whose first-place finish sparked the Wildcats' 21-34 victory over Walled Lake Northern Thursday at the Richardson Center. Burns was clocked at 21:43, breaking her own record. Next best for Plymouth was Nichole McLaughlin, third (22:58), Amy Ostrowski, fourth (23:21), Kat Harrison, sixth (26:02), and Morgan Benson, seventh (26:09). In the boys meet, Northern prevailed over Plymouth's three-man team, 21-37. Jeff Movsesian was the Wildcats top placer, finishing second

(20:12) Nate Kostegan was fifth (21:22) and John Zaccone placed ninth (22:39). Next up for Plymouth is the Western Lakes Activities Association Division Jamboree, Thursday at Willow MetroPark
YOUNG ROCKS 2ND
The younger members of the Salem girls team were fast enough to earn a second at Tuesday's Westland John Glenn Freshmen-Sophomore Invitational, held at Central City Park in Westland. Northville won the meet. Salem's best finisher was Lauren Kane in seventh (21:27), with Amanda Kassem eighth (21:36), Lauren Medley, 12th (22:06), Monica Przebienda, 18th (22:23), Laura Friedman 20th (23:08), Chelsea Baldwin, 26th (23:34), and Alyssa Mastic, 35th (24:17).

Salem survives challenge

In a preview of the Western Lakes Activities Association championship match, Salem got two restart goals from Brian Popeney to edge Northville 3-2 Wednesday at Salem. The win gave the Rocks an 11-4 overall record, 7-0 in the W.L.A.A. Northville is 7-6-1 overall. A foul against Salem's Matt Adst just outside the penalty box resulted in Popeney's first direct kick, which he converted for a 1-0 lead. A minute later, Pat Kelleher tied it for the Mustangs, with an assist from James Hannah. Adst gave the Rocks the lead for good with a goal just before halftime, heading in a throw-in from Steve Cox to make it 2-1. Popeney's second restart goal came early in the second half, thus one from 30 yards out to increase Salem's lead to 3-1. Hannah got another goal for Northville, but the Mustangs could not get the equalizer. Salem plays at Walled Lake Western Monday, then meets Canton at 7 p.m. Wednesday gave Northville the divisional title outright. Northville finishes 3-0 in the division while Churchill is 1-0-2 with one game remaining with Livonia Franklin. Canton is 2-1-1. It was 1-1 at halftime as Churchill's Tim Allen opened the scoring on a corner kick but Canton's Pat Zemanski tied it with an assist from David Mintz. Dutch Morrell put the visiting Chiefs ahead 2-1 (assisted by Ryan Busse) before Billy Sanders left footer to the lower corner on an assist from Tim Sanders with 17 minutes left the score knotted. "We played a great first 20 minutes but the middle 40 minutes we were hanging on we got pounded," said Churchill coach Reid Friedrichs whose team is 5-5-3 overall. "Too bad it took a goal to motivate us. We didn't look like a team that wanted to win the division title. The tie leaves Canton at 7-5 overall.

Gordon gets 200th as Rockets secure state playoff berth

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
CORRESPONDENT

A coach wins 200 high school football games the same way one eats a 32-ounce steak - one bite at a time.

Westland John Glenn defeated Salem, 28-0, on a nasty Friday night to give Coach Chuck Gordon his 200th prep football coaching victory.

"He's a great guy," Salem coach Bob Cummings said. "I've known him for 18 years. I was around when Coach (Tom) Moshumer won his 200th game.

"They're great people, great in the community and it's a positive to be around someone like that."

The Glenn community presented Gordon, who has coached at John Glenn since 1978, with a clock, a plaque and a banner commemorating the milestone.

"It's going to mean more in the years ahead," Gordon said. "You're so busy right now going from game to game."

"But it means I've been here a long time. I've had some great assistants, good players and I've been fortunate to coach at John Glenn."

"A lot of people have had a hand in this. Chuck Gordon didn't do it all by himself."

Flippers, snorkels and motor boats would have been suitable for the game. It started raining hard in late afternoon and by game time the middle of the field was nothing but turf floating in water.

The rain gradually tailed off and by halftime it was done.

but so was the field.

Glenn pounded out a 59-yard drive and took a 7-0 lead on a 5-yard Tony Davis run with 6:53 left in the first quarter. Matt Smitherman scooted 17 yards into the end zone to cap a 63-yard drive with 14 seconds left in the half.

"The last couple of weeks we've been throwing the ball real well," Cummings said. "But on a night like this, it's tough. There was a lot of rain and mud."

"The weather changes everything," said Gordon, whose defense held Salem to 97 yards total offense, most coming on the last possession of the game. Field position becomes a big issue in a game like that. And you've got to take care of the ball."

Quarterback Brian Ceckiewicz took better care of the ball than he did his football jersey. The senior quarterback tossed his jersey in the dryer to get rid of some wrinkles - and got rid of the jersey. The heat melted it.

So Ceckiewicz was wearing No. 6, instead of No. 4 - and will be for the foreseeable future. He lost the ball at the goal line, but fullback Corey Cummins recovered in the end zone to give the Rockets (6-0, 5-0) a 21-0 lead with 3:54 left in the third period.

Ceckiewicz completed 2-of-7 passes for 19 yards with no interceptions. Davis ran 18 times for 111 yards while Smitherman was 13-for-80 and DeAnthony Granberry was 9-for-44.

Quarterback Chris Drabicki, 0-for-3 passing, was the Rocks' (1-5) leading rusher with 22 yards on 9 rushes. Jayson Wurtzbacher was 4-for-18.

Smitherman scored from the 10 with 5:12 left to cap a 3-play, 36-yard drive engineered by backup sophomore quarterback Vinnie DeLuca.

Gordon's players tried to give Gordon a post-game water bath but were unable to due to the general end-of-game confusion. Besides, he was already wet from the rain.

The coach's biggest concerns at the end of the game were making sure the seniors got in and then making sure that everyone who dressed was afforded the opportunity to get some slime on his jersey and pants.

Many Salem players made the class move of congratulating Gordon on coaching his 200th win.

A move is something Gordon, who notched his 14th state playoff berth since 1985, has never really sought.

"Once I got started in the game, he said, 'I just wanted to stay in one spot, try to make my mark.'"

"I've never looked to go someplace else. I've been happy here, so why go anywhere else?"

"I love being around the kids, watching them improve and get better - as people and as players. I like to see them grow and make progress in life."

There's no question Chuck Gordon has made his mark - 200 victories and several times that many lives influenced.

Luther leads Ocelots to pair of wins

A big scoring weekend from Christine Luther enabled Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team to collect two wins on its trip to New York last weekend.

Last Saturday (Sept. 28), Luther scored three times in a 5-0 win over Erie (Buffalo, N.Y.) College.

Her first-half goal, assisted by Sarah Plymale (from Salem HS), proved to be the game-season. The two wins boosted SC's record to 8-2-1. The Ocelots are ranked 14th in the NJCAA.

winner. The Lady Ocelots scored four times in the second half, Luther getting two of them and Liz DiPomo (Livonia Stevenson) and Katie Howell (Garden City) scoring the others.

Assists went to Liz McGonigle, Mandy Marsonck (Salem), Kendall Burt and Shayna Lewis (Stevenson). Pam Dybowski shared the shutout with Karen LeBlanc. SC outshot Erie, 4-4.

Playing a much more difficult foe on Sunday, the Ocelots still came away winners, beating Genesee CC (Batavia, N.Y.) 2-0. Again, Luther was the difference offensively, scoring both goals. The first came on a penalty kick in the first half, SC led 1-0 at the break. McGonigle assisted on the second.

The Ocelots outshot Genesee, 26-17. Dybowski went the distance in goal as SC gained its eighth shutout of the Chiefs supremacy on the boards and a late-game flurry allowed them to escape with a 62-52 victory in a WAAA Western Division game played at Canton. The Chiefs improve to 8-2 overall, 3-0 in the division. Churchill is 3-7 overall, 1-3 in the division.

 "We got some great scoring opportunities, we just weren't making shots," said Canton coach Bob Blohm. "I thought (Churchill) played hard. They were well prepared and they didn't back off. They kept coming at you."
 The Chargers connected on nine three-pointers in the game, five of them in the third quarter when they outscored Canton 19-8 to trim a 34-22 halftime deficit to 42-41. Robyn Johnson and Kelly Verellen each had three triples in the game, with Kathleen O'Connor getting two more.
 It was clearly a superb effort (9-of-22, 40.9 percent from three-point range) when asked if his team usually shoots this well, Churchill coach Rod Windle replied, "Usually is a big word for us right now. We're still learning to believe in ourselves right now."

 "But the kids played great basketball."
 Johnson finished with 16 points, five assists and four steals. Verellen had 13 points. In addition to its boardwork, Canton's offensive balance was certainly a major factor. Katie Cezat scored 19 points and grabbed 15 rebounds, with Jesse Johnson adding 11 points and five boards, Briana Wolcott 10 points and seven rebounds, and Kristen Lake nine points and 15 boards.
 For Blohm, it was nice to see his team weather the storm from a team that came into his gym gunning for the league favorite. But that's a double-edged sword. It figures every WAAA team will approach its game against Canton with the same attitude.
 So get used to it, Chiefs. cjsak@oe.homecomm.net | (734) 953-2108

SALEM

 Central's greatest advantages were its three-point shooting ability — seven of them in the first half — and a pressure defense that harassed Salem throughout the night.
 The Vikings had six three-pointers in the first half, four by Brit Coram. Still, Thomann kept the Rocks in a zone defense.
 "We shoot pretty well," said Schopf. "With (Katie) Rademacher in the middle and Coram and (Michelle) White outside, it comes down to, 'Who you going to guard?' We've tried to build our team around balance."
 The patience Thomann displayed on defense would have worked (Central scored just eight second-half points) if the Rocks could have converted some of their chances. There were only five points scored in the third quarter, and they were all by Central.

Salem was 0-for-12 from the floor before Philips knocked down a three-pointer with 3:30 left in the game. That meant the Rocks went more than two quarters — or half a game — without a basket. In the second half, they were 1-of-18 from the floor.
 The lack of a go-to scorer is part of the problem. Inexperienced players tend to pass first, shoot second. With Salem that's a severe handicap, since no one looks to score as a first option. Or second. Or third.
 Coram finished with 15 points. White had six. Salem got eight points from Schwan.
 "This was a really important game," said Thomann. "The winner has a leg-up in the division."
 It doesn't seem as if any other team will challenge Central for division supremacy. If Salem plans to, it will have to find answers to some glaring problems quickly. cjsak@oe.homecomm.net | (734) 953-2108

Oakland bounces PCA

BASKETBALL

The Plymouth Christian Academy girls basketball team took one on the chin Thursday, losing 63-35 at home to Auburn Hills Oakland Christian.
 PCA falls to 1-3 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference and 3-6 overall. Oakland Christian goes to 8-3 overall, 4-1 in the MIAC.
 The Eagles trailed by three points heading into the fourth quarter. That's when things started to fall apart.
 "We had three turnovers in a row to start the fourth," PCA head coach Annie Malcolm said. "They hit three quick baskets and it steamrolled from there."
 A big part of the Eagles' undoing was Oakland's Becky Quinn. She scored a game-high 32 points, 19 in the final period. She also contributed eight steals in the fourth quarter.

PCA was down by 10 at the half. They stormed out of the gate in the third quarter and outscored Oakland 15-8 to close to within three.
 "We hit three three-pointers in a row to start the third," Malcolm said. "That gave us some confidence in our offense."
 Amanda Saagman led the long-distance shooting for the Eagles, hitting 3-of-4 from three-point land. She led the team in scoring with 11 points. Her long-range partner was Melane Brady, who buried 2-of-4 from behind the arc.
 Kim Guilfoyle provided the boardwork, grabbing 10 rebounds in the losing effort. PCA's efforts at the free-throw line didn't help. The Eagles were 0-of-7 at the stripe.

■ Oakwood reunion

The Halloween fun starts early this year with Oakwood Hospital & Medical Center Dearborn's 19th annual Neonatal Intensive Care Unit Reunion & Halloween Party 2-4 p.m. Sunday Oct. 27.

All past patients of the Oakwood NICU are invited to dress in their Halloween best and bring their parents for a reunion with other NICU graduates, their families and Oakwood NICU staff. The party will feature games, prizes and snacks. The festivities will take place in the hospital's Atrium.

Oakwood's 30-bed NICU provides intensive special care for premature or ill newborns. Last year, over 800 guests attended the party.

It's really a big event for us and the community, said Dr. Derek Bair, director of Oakwood's Neonatology Department. It gives the staff an opportunity to touch base with patients and see them growing up and living happy, healthy lives, and it gives the families a chance to visit the people who cared for their babies here at Oakwood.

Guests should RSVP by calling (313) 593-8750 by Oct. 13.

■ Couples Massage

Want to give your honey a sweet and soothing Sweetest Day gift? Why not a massage for the both of you?

Bostford Center for Health Improvement offers Massage for Couples by appointment. In this class, a couple learns techniques to help relieve stress, tension, sore muscles, headaches, backaches and more. Massage doesn't just feel good; it also provides many physical and psychological benefits.

The center is at 39750 Grand River Ave. between Haggerty and Meadowbrook in Novi. The cost of the class is $100 for a 2-hour session. Call (248) 477-6100.

■ Arthritis course

The Michigan Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation Summit on the Park and the Canton Senior Center will sponsor the Arthritis Self-Help Course, a three-week self-management course designed to give people with arthritis the skills they need to manage their arthritis care. The course will be offered 1-3 p.m. Mondays Oct. 14, 21 and 28 at Summit on the Park, 46000 Summit Place Drive (off Canton Center Road), Canton.

The course has proven to be an effective way for people with arthritis to educate and encourage each other. It is designed to complement, not replace, professional health care services.

The cost is $20 (and $5 for a companion) and includes a copy of 350-page The Arthritis Handbook. To register, call (734) 394-5385.

■ Assisted Living

The Healthcare Association of Michigan has released the first ever Consumer Guide to Michigan Assisted Living Communities, a 200-page book that contains information about assisted living options in Michigan. The guide contains listings of all licensed communities with 18 or more units serving seniors, as well as several communities that do not require licensure, along with the various services they provide.

To order, contact Michigan Center for Assisted Living, P.O. Box 80050, Lansing, MI 48908-0050. An online version is available through the Healthcare Association of Michigan's Web site, www.hcam.org.

Renee Palmer, moderator of Women For Sobriety

A journey to recovery

Women for Sobriety offers hope and healing

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

They're a group of just four women who meet every Wednesday evening in a small conference room off the cafeteria in Providence Hospital in Southfield. Sometimes there are a few more who cycle in and out, said group leader Renee Palmer of Southfield.

However, numbers don't matter. Motivation does. These women come together to celebrate sobriety, stay sober and help those who are struggling. They belong to a fledgling support group of Women for Sobriety, a national organization founded in 1976 for women who are addicted to, or who abuse, alcohol and other substances.

"I knew I had to do something for my recovery, and I just wasn't happy with Alcoholics Anonymous," said Renee, who had no reservations about having her last name used or her picture taken. "So I decided to start my own group."

Renee, 36, the mother of two boys, ages 10 years and 10 months, has been sober for three years. About her youngest son, she says, "He was the product of my recovery. He was my gift."

Mary, 42, and Beth, 45, who do not want their last names used, also are present that evening. The others, they say, have been scared off by the thought of a reporter and a photographer being at one of their meetings. "Scared" may be the wrong word, most likely, the absent women were simply not ready to share their story with world.

That's OK. The philosophy of Women for Sobriety is all about looking ahead, not remaining in the past.

A DIFFERENT APPROACH

Renee and Mary, who has been sober 13 years, initially tried Alcoholics Anonymous. They didn't feel comfortable with AA's emphasis on humility and conformity. Such tenets may work well for more aggressive males, but for women already suffering from low self-esteem, they can be a deterrent to personal growth.

"AA was too large," said Renee. "It doesn't give women everything they need when they're starting off in recovery, and there is not a whole lot of focus on self-esteem and confidence."

"You want to get past that humility," she added. "AA keeps you remembering all the bad things. It's like a pile of lobsters. One tries to get out, but the others keep pulling it back in. If you decided to strike out and do something new, you got a lot of censorship."

The dynamics of alcohol abuse and addiction are different between men and women, said Mary. Men are more arrogant, and women tend to have had their self-esteem knocked out of them.

Healing the woman alcoholic or abuser calls for a different approach.

Instead of AA's belief that humility keeps an alcoholic sober, Women for Sobriety believes that women have enough humility to last a lifetime. Emotional growth for women, says WFS founder Jean Kirkpatrick in much of her literature, comes from putting the past behind and believing your drinking history does not have to be constantly told and retold.

'I knew I had to do something for my recovery, and I just wasn't happy with Alcoholics Anonymous. So I decided to start my own group.'

Renee Palmer
Group leader

Renee, Mary and Beth like the intimacy of the WFS meetings and the fact that the moderator has been trained to keep discussions focused and mitigate disputes. In AA, the moderator is usually the person with the most sobriety.

Beth, a professional woman from Birmingham, has been sober for four months. She attended six meetings before going on vacation and is getting back on schedule. She is not sure if her four glasses of wine a night, every night, qualifies her as an alcoholic. Her husband is not sure if she needs to attend WFS meetings.

But Beth is comfortable coming. She's attracted by the positively stressed by WFS.

"I just like the chance to talk and hear people's stories," she said. "At AA, I never had any bad stories to offer. I never blacked out and had sex with 15 people."

THE PAST

Renee had her first drink at 13 when her brother took a beer at a family Christmas party and passed it around to his siblings. But the real problems came later.

I didn't see problems with my drinking until my late 20s. When I woke up and couldn't remember the night before, I saw all the bottles and said, "Hey, maybe I do have a problem," she said.

However, her epiphany came when her husband asked her to leave. Shortly afterwards, she was arrested for drunk driving. Her twin sister left her in jail overnight.

"She told me to get sober and stay sober. That was the beginning," said Renee, who underwent intensive outpatient therapy for four months followed by five months of after-care.

Mary began drinking in her late teens when the drinking age was 18. She liked going to bars. "It was a big social time for me," she said.

Like Renee, Mary had experienced abuse in her life.

"I think I was drinking to get away from an abusive family and the pressures of going out in the world," she said.

Also, Mary worked in the comput-

Women alcoholics often suffer more than men

Nearly one-third of the 15.1 million alcohol-abusing or alcohol-dependent individuals in the United States are women, according to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. On the whole, women who drink consume less alcohol and have fewer alcohol-related problems and dependence symptoms than men.

But the news is not good among the heaviest drinkers. Women equal or surpass men in the number of problems that result from their drinking.

"Studies of women alcoholics in treatment suggest that they often experience greater physiological impairment earlier in their drinking careers, despite having consumed less alcohol than men," says the NIAAA.

Psychologically, addiction is far more complicated for women than addiction in men because of the interplay of other factors, such as depression or abuse," said Dr. Phil O'Dwyer, director of the Center for Counseling, Garden City Hospital.

Physically, women become intoxicated sooner than men. Because women have less body water than men — and since alcohol diffuses uniformly into all body water — women achieve higher levels of blood alcohol after drinking male-equivalent amounts of alcohol.

Women also have diminished activity of alcohol dehydrogenase (the primary enzyme involved in the metabolism of alcohol) in the stomach. Men tend to have more. The increased activity of alcohol dehydrogenase in men acts as a "first-pass metabolism," decreasing the availability of alcohol to the system. Studies cited by the NIAAA state that, in alcoholic women, this first-pass metabolism was virtually nonexistent.

Flu season coming, time to get a shot

Wayne County Department of Public Health is encouraging senior citizens and those with chronic illnesses to get immunized against influenza before the start of the flu season, which typically runs November through April.

“Maximum protection against influenza occurs when the vaccinations are given early before the flu season begins,” says Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, Medical Director of the Wayne County Department of Public Health. “Persons aged 50 and older, anyone with chronic heart, lung and kidney diseases and those with diabetes and weakened immune systems should get a yearly flu shot.”

In addition to influenza, individuals 50 years and older as well as those at risk for pneumococcal disease, should also consider getting pneumococcal immunization if they have never received this vaccine previously, or if they need of a booster dose.

“A $10 donation for the flu shot and $16 for pneumonia vaccine are being requested, however, no one will be turned away due to inability to pay,” adds Lawrenchuk. “These shots are also covered services under Medicare. County health workers will ask clients to present their Medicare cards so that these services may be billed to Medicare.”

Flu symptoms may include fever, headache, extreme tiredness, dry cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, and muscle aches.

According to Dr. Lawrenchuk, the term “stomach flu” is sometimes used to describe vomiting, nausea, or diarrhea, however, these illnesses are caused by certain other viruses or bacteria and are not related to influenza.

The National Centers for Disease Control and Prevention indicates that 20,000 Americans die yearly from flu and related complications and over 100,000 are hospitalized.

This year’s influenza vaccine protects against the A/New Caledonia/20/99(H1N1)-like, A/Moscow/10/99(H3N2)-like, and the B/Hong Kong/330/2001-like strains. For the A/Moscow/10/99 (H3N2)-like antigen, manufactures will use the antigenically equivalent A/Panama/2007/99 (H3N2) virus.

Individuals seeking flu and pneumococcal shots can get them at Wayne County’s health centers and at the following community locations:

- Civic Park, 15218 Farmington Rd., Livonia, (734) 466-2551 - Thursday and Friday, Oct 17-18, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

PREPATELLAR BURSTITIS

A number of places about the knee may become swollen. If you develop pain and swelling around the knee, it is not a foregone conclusion that you have fluid in the knee. Several sacs called bursa exist in the knee area and can become inflamed.

The one most likely to look and act like knee arthritis is the prepatellar bursa. This bursa sits in front of the kneecap and usually holds a few drops of fluid. When the bursa is normal, you can hardly tell it from other tissue and skin that surrounds the knee.

In the 19th and 20th Century, inflammation of this bursa was called housemaid’s knee. This designation followed the observation that women who spent hours at a time on their knees scrubbing floors were susceptible to this condition.

Few women are subject to such labor today, but often, women or men are on their knees in mines, building or repairing floors or sinks or are involved in prolonged kneeling in tasks such as grooming dogs. Such stress can bring on prepatellar bursitis. Sometimes a blow to the knee as in field hockey, soccer or football can do the same damage.

Physicians can drain synovial fluid in the knee from fluid in the prepatellar bursa by careful examination. Also, the enlarged bursa being close to the surface of the knee gives the joint a red color and a warm feeling on palpation.

Treatment is straightforward. It consists of removal of the excess fluid from the bursa and for a week to ten days foregoing activity that involves kneeling.

ALCOHOLICS

quicker intoxication in women. Although research findings are inconsistent, studies have implied that fluctuating hormone levels during a woman's menstrual cycle may affect her rate of metabolizing alcohol.

The bad news for women drinkers continues. Liver damage, such as alcoholic cirrhosis and hepatitis, is more severe in women than men and manifests itself after a shorter period of time. Lastly, and most indicting, the NIAAA reports that female alcoholics have death rates 50 to 100 percent higher than those of male alcoholics.

"Addiction is usually described as a dependence on a chemical, and abuse is using the chemical but not forming a dependence," said O'Dwyer.

He lists the following signs of addiction:

■ Increased tolerance "You require more and more to get the same effect."

■ Loss of control "There's the inability to predict when you are going to stop (drinking) when you start. There's no way of predicting if it will be two or 12 beers."

'There are the heavy drinkers. Then there is the type who maintains a minimal blood alcohol level. They are seldom intoxicated but always have a nice glow. They can live a lot longer without being identified.'

Dr. Phil O'Dwyer
Garden City Hospital

■ Withdrawal symptoms

■ Social disruption Despite chaos at home, at work or with the law, a person continues to drink.

Regarding loss of control, O'Dwyer said many alcoholics, both men and women, operate under the "Lent" syndrome. "They assume because they stopped for 40 days during Lent, they don't have a problem." They do.

Also, don't think because you drink less than other alcoholics that you don't have a problem, he said. "There are the heavy drinkers. Then there is the type who maintains a minimal blood alcohol level. They are seldom intoxicated but always have a nice glow. They can live a lot longer without being identified."

Usually such alcoholics are discovered during a medical examination when an astute doctor asks, "Just how much do you drink?" said O'Dwyer.

PREDICTORS

Interestingly, the NIAAA says studies have shown that marriage or a marriage-like relationship (presumably happy relationships) may reduce a woman's risk for abusing alcohol. In addition, women who have multiple roles - married women who work outside the home, for example - have fewer alcohol-related problems. Conversely, role deprivation for a woman - loss of role as wife, mother or worker - may increase her risk for abusing alcohol.

Also, the NIAAA cited a study on a select sample of female twins conducted to identify environmental factors that may influence drinking behavior. The study showed that marriage or a marriage-like relationship lessened the effect of genetic factors that influence drinking.

O'Dwyer said some studies have indicated that Attention Deficit Disorder or anxiety disorders in childhood may be a predictor of alcohol abuse in adulthood.

"Alcohol has a calming effect. It feels better to be settled down," he said.

But environmental and cultural influences cannot be ignored, he said. "You can grow up learning that alcohol is the solution to every problem."

For women alcoholics, those problems most often have deep roots, and treatment must focus on the cause of problems as well as the addiction, said O'Dwyer.

"Because if they (women alcoholics) are to be able to stay sober, they have to be more assertive and able to relate to society."

Study: Lifestyle has stronger link to disease

Lifestyle may be a stronger link to disease than aging, according to a study by the University of Michigan Health Management Research Center. But, unlike aging, lifestyle can be controlled.

They study looked at such conditions as heart diseases, cancer, diabetes and past strokes and found that those with a high-risk lifestyle were significantly more likely to suffer from disease than those who were considered low-risk.

HMRC senior research associate Shirley Musich analyzed the self-reported health data of 135,251 people among age group and risk levels.

Risk level was determined by factors such as smoking, lack of exercise, overweight, high blood pressure or cholesterol, high stress and life dissatisfaction.

People with two or fewer health risks are categorized as low risk, while persons with five or more are high-risk.

The correlation between risk levels and presence of disease is dramatic:

■ In the 65-and-older group, disease affects 26 percent of the low-risk individuals and 80 percent of those at high risk.

■ For 45-to-64-year-olds, about 10 percent of those at low risk report a disease, compared to 56 percent of those at high risk.

■ Only 3 percent of the low-risk adults under 45 report a disease. Among high-risk people in that age group, it's 25 percent.

"Living a healthy life does not guarantee you will not get a disease," Musich said. "But it certainly raises the odds against it."

Her findings, reported in Disease Management & Health Outcomes, are based on the health survey data of current and retired employees of General Motors Corp who were also continuously enrolled in traditional or preferred provider organized (PPO) medical plans during the period er field when there weren't many women. She felt isolated and experienced "blatant discrimination." Her drinking increased.

"It was normal to drink a couple of bottles of wine a night or a couple of pints," she said. "I thought I could handle it, that I could drink like the guys. I'm not a shy person."

But society doesn't like a drunk woman as much as a drunk man, said Mary. The aggressive traits that make so many men successful in sales or management - the same traits that often carry over to drinking - are more acceptable in men rather than women. Mary learned to pace her drinking in public.

"Women are different. Most professional women who drank hid it. They hid the extent of their drinking," she said. "We might go out drinking with the guys, but then I'd go home and finish it off."

Beth has quit drinking before.

"It's like lifting weights. I quit for awhile. I've done three months before, then I'd go back. I'd say I'd drink just on weekends or just one drink a night. I finally realized I needed help. A friend once said to me if I didn't have a drinking problem, I could leave some wine in my glass. I could never do that."

It's now been four months since Beth's last drink. It could be forever.

"It's great," she said about Mary's 13 years of sobriety. "But I don't think that far in advance."

THE FUTURE

Renee and her husband have put their lives back together, and Renee is proud of her involvement with WFS. She has become more assertive and more confident. She'd like to recruit more women to join her WFS group.

Mary now has a healthy lifestyle. She takes vitamins (strongly suggested by WFS) and avoids junk food, a pitfall when she drank because it was fast and easy. And she's involved in her community and has better friends.

"When you get sober, you start to value yourself more and you seek more nurturing relationships," she said.

Like Renee and Beth, Mary practices WFS's "New Life" acceptance program, 13 affirmations that promote personal growth.

"It's simple," said Mary about WFS's key to successful sobriety. "But it requires effort. I could drink right now, but I chose not to. Alcoholism is an isolating disease. People tend to stick with a smaller group, their drinking buddies. I had to find out what my interests were."

Beth hopes WFS will help her plant permanent roots of sobriety. Others have done it.

"What can I expect as I go along?" she asked. "People who have gone before me can give me support."

Condo conversion has great location in Plymouth

An apartment-to-condominium conversion eight months in the remodeling has resulted in Midtown of Plymouth, a four-story midrise at the end of Deer Street in the city of Plymouth. "We took this down to the core," said Andrew M. Barbas, managing member of the development/building team. "Aside from buying a great residence, you're buying a heckuva location."

A Village Green Apartments, essentially 43 one-bedroom units built in 1970, has evolved into 20 two-bedroom/two bathroom and three one bed/one bath condos within an easy walk of downtown Plymouth and all its offerings.

"These are just sensational residences," Barbas said. "When you move in here, there's nothing to add. Whether you're older and have a second home somewhere else, or young and travel, you can just lock up and go. This is a very, very secure investment."

Part of that security includes TV monitor as well as a buzzer pager system. Also, the community is tucked away at the end of a street, close to Kellogg Park, but off the beaten path.

"It's quiet," Barbas said. All appliances, fixtures, furnaces, air conditioning processors, carpeting, carports and landscaping are new.

The windows and roof are "a couple to three years old," Barbas said.

The location lures prospective buyers, who then focus on what the residences themselves offer, said Monica Hough, the sales representative.

"Everybody loves the granite (kitchen island countertop), the floor plan, its openness, the main living space, the size of the master with walk-in closet," she said.

"Air conditioning, deck or balcony, individual laundry, range, microwave and dishwasher in the kitchen, carpeting throughout, crown molding, bath heat lamp and sconce light fixtures are standard features in all residences.

The condominiums at Midtown of Plymouth essentially were taken down to the shell during the renovation/remodeling process.

Each condo gets one space in a carport.

"Really, these residences have everything you could ask for," Barbas said.

The two-bed/two bath homes - 1,250 or 1,160 square feet - feature a living room and dining area, kitchen with island, secondary bath with combination tub/shower and a master with walk-in closet and shower.

Base price is $219,900 for the larger residence, $214,900 for the smaller.

The one bed/one bath plan has 850 square feet of living space and goes for $179,900.

Brick and Dry-vit are primary exterior materials. The building has an elevator. Midtown of Plymouth is serviced by city water and sewers and is within the Plymouth-Canton school boundaries.

The property tax rate is $38.17 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price for new construction.

That means the owners of a $220,000 residence there would pay about $4,200 the first year.

The monthly association fee, which includes water, ranges from $131 to $194. Pets are allowed.

The sales office/models at Midtown of Plymouth (734) 455-9025 is open noon to 6 p.m. weekdays, noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, closed Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Lots of windows, 2-way fireplace brighten, warm ranch

The brick facade with cornices and half-moon windows give the Lawrence (D2652) a warm, contemporary look

A three-car garage that faces the left side makes this home ideal for a corner lot or acreage that allows a sweeping driveway to the left

The Lawrence, a ranch, features 2,512 square feet of living space

The covered porch has wood columns that accent the windows behind. The door opens into an entry facing the great room and dining area

The dining area has a coffered 10-foot ceiling separated from the great room by decorative columns

Great rooms usually are open and spacious. This one is no different. It has windows lining the rear wall that allow sunlight to warm the room

A two-sided fireplace separates the nook. An entertainment center is on the nook side. Circular-shaped, the nook is surrounded by windows

The kitchen features an eating bar, island with cooktop, built-in desk and pantry

The laundry with sink, built-in ironing board and freezer is behind a pocket door off the kitchen. Adjacent to the laundry is a half-bath and a door to the garage, as well as storage and linen closets

The right side of the Lawrence is sleeping rooms

Bedroom three can be a den with curio cabinets on the sides and French doors to the main part of the home. Alternately, if needed as a bedroom, the curio cabinets are replaced with a built-in desk and a wall closet

A full bath is between this den/bedroom and the second bedroom

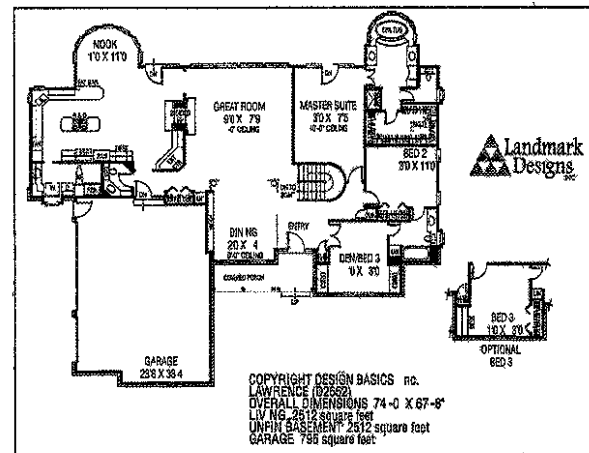

The master suite has a 10-foot ceiling with a door opening to the back yard. French doors give access to the master bath, which includes a raised spa tub, separate shower, two vanities and walk-in closet

For a study plan including scaled floor plans, elevations, sections and an artist rendering, send $24.95 to Landmark Designs, 33127

Committee reviewing Michigan Energy Code

When you purchase a new home, most people don't think about the structural or energy systems. Buyers assume that the builder followed the established standards that were set by state and federal governments.

It's assumed that the electrical system, gas lines, building envelope, insulation, and the heating and cooling will be in good working order.

But there's actually a thick manual that builders, developers, architects, electricians and heating and cooling professionals must follow - the Michigan Energy Code.

Gov. John Engler recently asked the Michigan Department of Consumer and Industry Services to review the energy code and make recommendations for improving energy efficiency.

The department has set up a 12-member special committee to accomplish this task. It was an honor to be asked to serve as the lone utility representative on the panel comprising manufacturers, builders, remodelers, architects, legislators and energy experts.

Our mission statement, besides updating the energy code, is to increase energy efficiency with cost-effective measures. By cost-effective measures, we mean investments in energy efficiency that will result in paybacks to homeowners and building owners within seven years.

We also want to make the code easier to understand and enforce for both builders and building inspectors.

We also want to eliminate loopholes on remodeled homes, which are not under the jurisdiction of the energy code.

In addition, we discussed a "systems approach" to houses so that all the parts work with each other, as well as safety issues such as ice dams and the global benefits of a better energy policy.

New products and developing a procedure to get new products approved through building inspectors also will be on our agenda.

At future meetings, we will discuss whether the code should be changed in insulation, windows, basements, furnaces and air conditioning.

Crawl spaces, duct leakage, ventilation, air quality, mold and mildew, and raised heel-trussed roofs also will be on the agenda.

We will be meeting monthly, so this is your chance to have a say in Lansing.

If you have an issue or a comment that you would like to have discussed, give me a call at (313) 235-8196 and I will make sure it gets communicated.

I will keep you posted on improvements we suggest to the energy code and what effect they will have on your wallet.

Be sure to inspect your roof

BY MORRIS AND JAMES CAREY FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Keep raindrops from falling on your head during rainy seasons by using a little preventive maintenance.

Don't wait to get wet before determining the condition of your roof. Look now for signs of trouble, and make the necessary repairs.

Use binoculars to look for loose shingles or shakes, or, if you have a tile or slate roof, look for missing or cracked pieces. On shingle roofs, look for curling, fraying, and tears at the edges.

Don't forget to check the flashings around chimneys, vents, skylights and other roof penetrations.

They should be tight and in good condition. Leaves, pine needles and other debris should be cleared from the roof, gutters and downspouts for proper drainage.

Thomas Ervin Let's Talk About Real Estate

"SELLERS MUST BE VIGILANT"

Because most homes are not sold immediately, sellers must continually work at keeping the property as appealing as possible throughout the time it is for sale up to and including the day they vacate

This is not commonly done. Most sellers will make some effort at the time the house goes up for sale. These efforts include cleaning, painting and repairing. This flurry of activity is not too much for an owner to do because he or she is excited about getting the house on the market. As the house continues to go unsold for weeks and months, however, the seller will lose enthusiasm for these tasks and the appearance of the property may begin to deteriorate.

What are the things a seller should do continually?

- 1 Walk around the outside of the house to inspect the external condition of the building and the landscaping. Don't, as an example, allow the grass to go untrimmed or burn out.
- 2 Make sure that all kitchen appliances, plumbing and electrical fixtures are working properly. This is necessary not so much to satisfy buyers, but to avoid a negative report from the home inspector who will examine each of these items on behalf of a buyer prior to going ahead with the purchase.
- 3 Make sure that the cleanliness of the house is maintained at a high level and is in showing condition consistently. This may require that family members will have to pick up after themselves and never leave work for someone else just prior to a showing.

Remember, as Yogi Berra once said, "It's not over till it's over"

2003 Mountaineer: American-made luxury at its best

Advertising Feature

CAReport

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti News Features

Anne Fracassa

The very first thing you notice on the 2003 Mercury Mountaineer is its bold and aggressive front. It's got looks that could intimidate many. Under the substantial grill, the air intake looks like it could gobble you up and spit you out without so much as a thought. Its wide stance makes you think twice about cutting it off.

The remaining exterior of the Mountaineer lends to pretty lines and soft curves. The rear treatment looks as if it should and the body cladding that wraps around the rear of this SUV doesn't look out of place.

I usually like black on most cars and trucks. Sometimes I'll even like red. So it surprised me I like the color on the Mountaineer. The test Mountaineer driven sported a color Mercury calls "mineral grey clearcoat metallic." Absolutely beautiful. The interior color matched the exterior perfectly.

There's a few new colors out there this year and one has caught my eye and it's just as gorgeous—true blue. Looks as if it should have its backdrop be the beautiful shores of Hawaii or something. Really pretty.

I've got to mention the rear lift gate. It opens really high, much to the chargin of the height-challenged. But it's very easy to use. There's grip-through door handles that pop out with ease. Getting back down is easy because there's a handle strategically placed where it's easy to pull down. It's not as heavy as you would expect, either.

Let's go inside. Some new options for 2003 will turn your head. Stuff like a rear seat DVD entertainment system and reverse sensing system. When you have a substantial SUV to back out of your driveway, the reverse sensing system can, literally, be a life saver. I think it should be standard equipment. As for the DVD system, it, too, can be a lifesaver—or rather, a parent's sanity-saver.

2003 MERCURY MOUNTAINEER | Vehicle class: Luxury sport utility; Power: 4.6-liter SOHC V-8, Mileage: 14 city/19 highway, Where built: Kentucky and Missouri; Price as tested: $37,090

The leather seating surfaces are very comfortable, as are the seats. No fatigue issues here. The second row seat is split 40/20 and is perfect for when you need to utilize fold-downs for odd-shaped things. The seats also fold down to the floor in case you need additional cargo room. The second seat can also fold forward to allow passengers easy access to the third row of seats.

With the third row of seats back there, however, your cargo space is nearly non-existent. Tear that puppy out and you'll be happier, especially if it's not used very much.

The front seats are very comfy, as I said, and allow you a ton of options for adjustment for both the driver and front passenger. Heating and cooling controls are separate for each and there's climate controls for the rear passengers as well.

Standard engine on the Mountaineer is a 4.0-liter V6 with a 5-speed transmission that nets you 210 horses. The test Mountaineer driven had the more powerful 4.6-liter V8 engine that produced 239 horsepower.

The Mountaineer comes as a 4x2 or an all-wheel-drive model. The difference in price is a measly $2,000.

The standard equipment list is quite extensive on the Mountaineer. Stuff like 16-inch all-season tires, anti-theft alarm system, anti-lock brakes, air conditioning, fingertip speed control, fog lamps, power driver's seat, power windows, locks and mirrors, 2 power points, privacy glass, luggage rack, remote keyless entry, speed control, tilt steering wheel and rear window intermittent washer/wiper/defrost.

Other equipment worth noting includes a battery-saver feature, a 22.5-gallon fuel tank, front bucket seats, 16-inch cast aluminum wheels, speed sensitive wipers and the convenience of 100,000-mile tune-up interval.

And the mileage isn't all that bad either. The sticker promises 14 mpg in the city and 19 mpg on the highway.

The option list is extensive, as well, and encompasses anything from Homelink, to adjustable pedals, to side curtain air bags and a trailer tow package.

By the way, you do need running boards on this one.

The Mountaineer has a host of convenience features to choose from and you can customize your SUV the way you want it, thanks to the many packages you can order. And the more you add, the more the price goes up. The Mountaineer we tested had a standard price of $30,610, but after adding several convenience and safety packages, that price jumped to $37,090.

But, remember, this is a luxury SUV we're talking about here.

Anyway, I enjoyed the week in the Mountaineer. It was comfortable, functional, had a lot of utility and was versatile for my needs. You go take a look.
