The holiday season is here and so is the Plymouth-Canton Observer Cheer Club. In fact, we're opening the club a week or so early this year because the need is always greater during tough times. Please join us by bringing donations of new toys and canned or boxed food to our office at 794 S. Main in Plymouth during business hours. The items will be collected until Friday, Dec. 13, when we will turn them over to the good folks at the Salvation Army. They'll distribute the items to needy people in Plymouth, Canton and Northville. When you bring your donations by our office, we'll ask you to leave your name and hometown. That's because we like to print donor names in the paper while the Cheer Club drive is on. Of course, you may remain anonymous if you prefer. Happy Holidays! Please keep our Cheer Club in mind.

Cooperative effort key to arrests

BY BRAD KADRICH

The trail leading to the suspected chief conspirator in a string of bank robberies that have plagued western Oakland and Wayne counties ended this week in Novi, but it may have gotten its start in Plymouth Township. According to Plymouth Township police, information gathered from Renee

Bailey, the woman who confessed to robbing the Comerica Bank branch on Ann Arbor Road in August, coupled with a cooperative effort between cops in Plymouth, Novi, Farmington Hills and Livonia, helped bust the man police now believe was the mastermind of the bank robberies. Police say the 37-year-old San Diego man, Arthur Peyton, confessed after he was arrested Tuesday night to orchestrating the series of robberies. It was information supplied by Bailey and two other women - including one who allegedly robbed a bank in Novi Tuesday - that eventually led police to Peyton. Peyton and Renee Lowery - who was arrested for allegedly robbing a Bank One branch in Novi Tuesday - were arraigned Thursday. Peyton is being held in federal custody, charged with seven counts of aiding and abetting bank robberies. Lowery is also in federal custody. Both were held without bond. Two other women, Bailey and Karen Carpenter, were already in custody. "Without the efforts of local police agencies sharing immediate information, talking to one another, and the cooperation of citizens getting involved, this arrest wouldn't have been made," said

Opportunity House set to renovate

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Opportunity House, which houses 16 developmentally disabled adults on Deer Street near downtown Plymouth, is planning a $180,000 renovation.

"We want to add four bedrooms so each of the 16 residents will have their own bedrooms," said Denise King, of Plymouth Township, director of Community Opportunity Center. "Currently, we have eight people who have their own bedrooms, and eight who live in doubles."

King said COC has received a grant from the Wilcox Foundation, which will pay two-thirds of the cost.

"They will cover $120,000 and we will pay $60,000," said King. "Our partnership now is fund raising for the addition." Plymouth Opportunity House has been at 593 Deer St. since 1975.

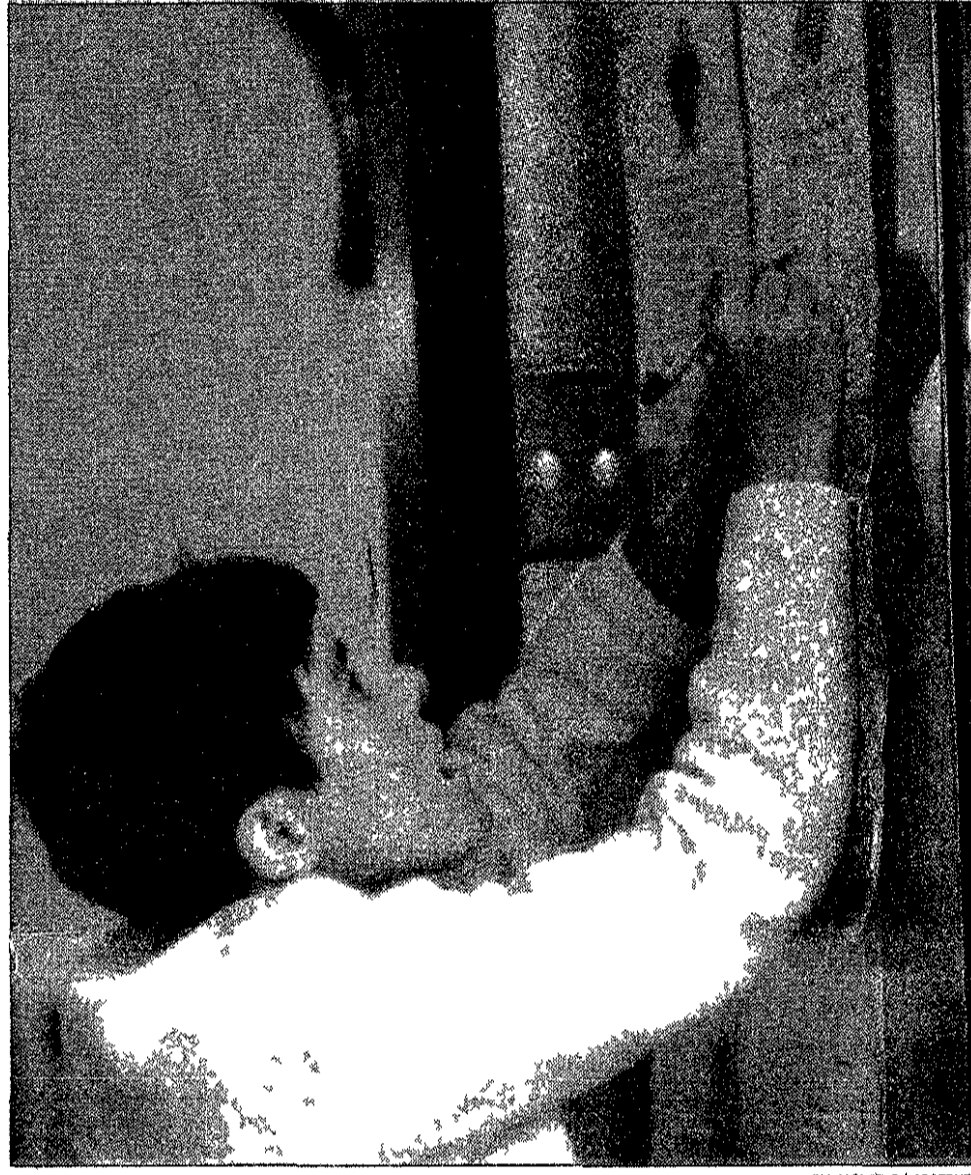

"Our residents have a primary diagnosis of mental retardation, and must be at least 18 years old," said King.

"The emphasis on all our residential programs is to provide some kind of training and education so they can lead a very productive and independent lifestyle. It's not just to maintain people, we want them to progress and move on to something."

In fact, many of the people living at Plymouth Opportunity House are working at jobs in the Plymouth community. "They're working at fast food restaurants, grocery stores, car dealerships places close to home," said King. "Some are working in factory positions with a group of other people with disabilities with a job coach."

Some residents, like Raymond Wells, have been living at Plymouth Opportunity House since it opened.

"I'm a musician, and am looking to go to school and study music," said Wells, who was working at Burger King on Ann Arbor Road. "This is a nice place to live, and I've made many friends here."

While residents of Plymouth Opportunity House live in a group setting, there is a live-in apartment inside the facility.

"It's a transitional training program," said King. "People at Plymouth Opportunity House who do have interest in moving out into the community to live more independently receive some basic training in that apartment, like cooking, shopping and more intense budgeting skills."

Sharing the apartment are Terri Katlein and Mary Beth Murray, who someday hope to live on their own. "We do our cooking in here. I like to cook, but I think Mary Beth is a better cook," said Katlein. "We also go shopping with the staff for groceries and help them out."

King said the average wait to get into the house is about 15 years, and there's a waiting list of nearly 200 people. Community Opportunity Center, which also operates facilities in Livonia, Redford and Garden City, is funded by the state through Community Mental Health. However, King said funding has been cut and community support is needed to help keep the homes operat-

District's vision plan gets started

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

Nearly two-dozen members of the Plymouth-Canton Schools bond steering committee have taken the first step in deciding what direction the district will go in the next five-10 years.

The group held its first session earlier this month, and on Monday will be joined by members of the community who will have an opportunity to tell the steering committee what they would like to see in a possible bond issue, which could be put to voters sometime next year.

The first of three meetings with the public will be 7-9 p.m. at East Middle School.

"We want the community to tell us if they think we need a building program," said Interim Superintendent Jim Ryan. "If so, then what should be in it and what priority should be given to each item."

Last month, Ryan threw out a few suggestions of his own. Along with new elementary and middle schools, he suggested a new central maintenance facility and a heating, ventilation and cooling system at Salem High School, and adding a swimming pool to the newly constructed Plymouth High School.

"We have an increasing enrollment, so we need to look at additions to present schools or new buildings," said Ryan. "But, we don't want to build too much."

Sample MEAP creates believers

Parents, others try scoring on test given to students

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

It was billed as "Take the Test" week.

Plymouth-Canton Schools invited parents, district residents, community leaders, media members and even some of its own administrators to take a sample MEAP test to give them an idea what children in Michigan public schools are expected to know when they take the exam.

MEAP tests have become tools used to compare school districts, school buildings within a district and even by Realtors to compare communities. The better the scores, the more desirable a school district, especially in these days of foundation grants where state aid is decided by the number of students in a district. The more kids that move into the district, and the more you can keep from moving out, the more money in your general fund.

"People think the MEAP test is a very simplistic test, and that it doesn't mean anything for kids who pass it," said Interim Superintendent Jim Ryan.

The test is taken by students in fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth grades, as well as in high school. It covers the core subjects - math, science, social studies, reading and writing.

Salem Rockettes, kids enjoy fall pom pon clinics

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER
STAFF WRITER

When the Salem Rockettes get together a couple of times each fall with some 200 Rockette wannabes it's a win-win situation.

The annual pom and dance clinics staged by the pom-pon squad benefit both the high school students and their young proteges, said Aileen Balatico, Rockette head coach.

"For the girls that do sign up, it's a taste of what high school kids do. And it provides another role model," Balatico said. "We get some girls who come back year after year."

For the Rockettes themselves, it's a chance to work with younger kids, which they might not otherwise have.

The clinics are also a chance for the team to reach out into the community, which Balatico believes is an essential part of their mission. They also participate in the Fall Festival and the Fourth of July Parade.

The team also stages a review in the Salem auditorium each spring.

This year's fund-raising goal is to pay for the team's trip to Orlando in February for the Nationals.

The Nov. 2 pom clinic attracted 186 area children ranging from kindergarten to fifth grade. Participants received instruction on how to warm up, before exercising, cheers, and performing in a kick line during the three-hour clinic.

They then worked on three different routines which they had to master by the end of the day. The routines are geared toward age and skill level, the Plymouth resident said.

A T-shirt and pom pons are included for the $35 registration fee. Balatico, a 1991 Salem graduate in her ninth year as Rockettes coach, said participation is mandatory for everyone on the squad. There are 20 varsity Rockettes and 18 on the JV for 2002.

A second clinic featuring dance instruction is set for Saturday, Dec. 14. There are still some spaces available, Balatico said.

The cost is $35 or $10 if you attended the first clinic.

For more information, e-mail Balatico at rockettecoach@cs.com.

As expected, some of the 5-year-olds had a short attention span and didn't keep up with the beat too well.

NIGHT CRAMPS

Cramps in your legs that come on while you are sleeping are a common problem. You soon learn that the best way to stop the cramps is to get up and move. You may be able to walk off the cramps in five minutes or less, but going back to sleep is no easy feat if you are lucky, you only experience one episode. It is possible to have two or three attacks during the night.

The cause of night cramps is unclear. It is difficult for trained medical investigators to be able to take blood samples and perform muscle and nerve conduction studies when the attacks come. What is known is that these attacks are not the result of low calcium, potassium or sodium. Medications do not seem to set off the cramps. Neither are they related to tension, anxiety or depression.

The most common treatment is quinine sulfate, 300 mg before going to bed. Studies evaluate the effect of this therapy give mixed results. Some investigations show the medication lessens the number and intensity of the cramps. Other studies indicate that quinine sulfate is no better than placebo. Since doctors feel they should do something for the problem, and since no other medicine has proven to be helpful at all, the medical community continues to prescribe quinine sulfate.

Restless legs is a completely different condition. It evokes a crawling sensation in the legs and is accompanied by a burning or sharp pain. Often the condition is hereditary. Treatment includes medicines used for Parkinson's Disease, although restless legs syndrome has nothing to do with Parkinson's Disease.

Habitat work gives people chance to help

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

Wendy Rowland had just left her job, taking a buyout from a large computer company, and she was looking for a way to work with low-income families.

Diedre Denton was looking for something to help her develop leadership skills and still allow her the flexibility to go to school.

Enter Michigan AmeriCorps and Habitat for Humanity.

Rowland has been working with Habitat for Humanity in Plymouth for more than a year now, thanks to a grant from AmeriCorps that allowed Habitat to hire three workers. Rowland, a Canton resident, was hired on as a family support worker.

As such, Rowland works directly with families chosen by Habitat to have a house built for them.

"It gives you exposure in working with low-income families," said Rowland. "That's an area I wanted to broaden my skill sets in."

Michigan's AmeriCorps is a national service program involving members in getting things done in their community, Rowland explained. In exchange for a year of service, members receive a living allowance and an education award to pay for college or repay college loans.

Rowland's grant, about $2,700, will pay off college loans. Denton used her $4,700 to buy a car "so I don't have to hoof it at Michigan State."

More than the money, the experience has been important to both women. As the family support worker, Rowland said she's worked with more than a dozen families who have had homes built for them. In her role, she works with families in developing financial responsibility, how to fix things and even developed a Family Support Manual designed to help families become independent.

"We don't want them to depend on Habitat, Rowland said. "We want them to be independent homeowners."

Denton, who earlier this year took part in a homebuilding in Jacksonville, Fla., was hired as Habitat's volunteer coordinator and charged with building Habitat's legion of volunteer homebuilders, recruiting, organizing and coordinating them. It led to the kind of exposure to people Denton was seeking when she started.

"It allowed me to be around people," said Denton, who is studying medicine in college. "I'm a people person, so this is right down my alley."

According to AmeriCorps' Web site, the group "engages the energy and idealism of the citizens of Michigan, including young people, in meeting the most critical educational, public safety, human services and environmental needs in our communities."

In Plymouth, that transcends directly to Habitat for Humanity, and the western Wayne County organization is thankful for the help. The AmeriCorps grant allowed Habitat to hire three people for positions the group otherwise couldn't have afforded.

"I didn't have a family support person before, and Wendy has been able to work with families," said Sheila Friedrich, Habitat's director. "Because of the way Habitat works, they didn't want to leave people out in the cold (Rowland) is able to stay in touch with them. She's done a fabulous job."

Michigan AmeriCorps has been a good experience for both women.

"It's a wonderful opportunity," Rowland said. "People are looking for ways to help pay for college, and this is a chance to also enrich their lives."

The idea sounded like fun to most, and besides, lunch was being provided. So "why not?" was the consensus of most of the dozen people who showed up. But, as the time neared, the anxiety level moved up a notch.

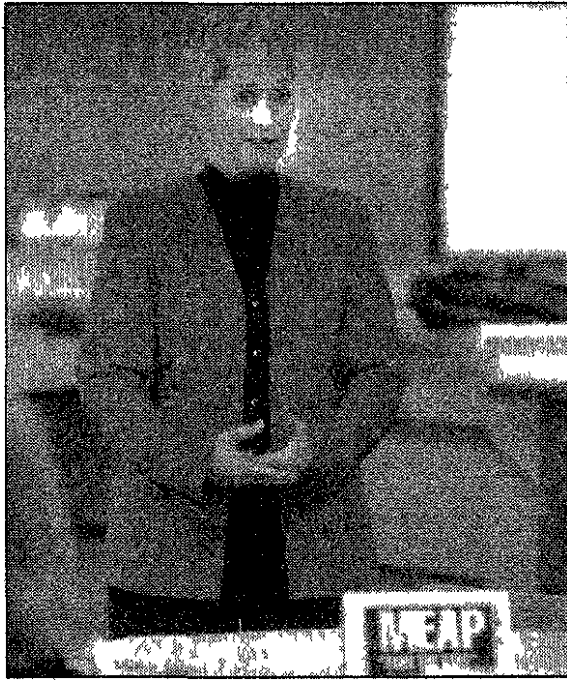

"Students perform better when they are not under high anxiety," said Verna Anible, executive director of educational services. "High anxiety shuts down the brain." Strike one.

By the time introductions were made, and Anible explained the test, it was nearly noon.

"Students don't generally perform well when they are hungry and undernourished," she said. Strike two.

Most of the adults took some kind of assessment tests as kids, so this shouldn't be too tough, the thought was. Just circle A, B, C or D and when in doubt, just guess. Not so easy, said Anible.

"There are multiple-choice questions, but they are pretty complex," she warned. "There are follow-up questions, which are often constructive response, or essay questions. That's very common with the MEAP at all levels. Students are asked to take a stand and support it."

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools administrator Verna Anible explains the MEAP to community members.

At that point, showing up for the free lunch didn't seem like such a good idea. Nobody wanted to be embarrassed by failing the test the kids take. Even the assurance the tests wouldn't be graded wasn't helping.

"OK," said Anible, "go ahead and get started."

It was a nine-question MEAP test, with multiple sections.

■ High school science question. A form of lake succession called eutrophication occurs.

■ Create a graph showing

■ Which of the following best describes followed by a constructed response write a letter and take a stand on Approximately 30 minutes later comes a collective sigh of relief.

"The science and math were more involved than when I grew up," admitted Molly Wildman of Canton, who has three children in the school district. "Kids today have to know how to recall information, to be able to communicate it by constructing sentences. It's certainly harder than just filling in a blank by marking a circle."

Colleen Brown of Plymouth Township called the test an eye-opener.

"The answers weren't difficult to come up with, but explaining the answers with data was more difficult," she said. "I think the test is a much better measure of knowledge than when we were kids, because we could guess. Kids are smarter today."

Lon Rutkofske, director of secondary education, said students taking today's MEAP tests need to learn to take a stand.

"In taking the MEAP, you have to use data to support your stance. Opinion means nothing without data. That's one of the most difficult concepts to teach kids, especially if it hasn't been taught in the curriculum."

By the way, after taking and discussing the "practice" MEAP test, no one volunteered his score. And no one dared to ask.

Plymouth voters favor winners in judicial races

BY MATT JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth voters sided with nearly all of the overall winners in a slew of state and regional judicial races decided last week.

In one race in the Michigan Court of Appeals' 1st District, the Plymouth winner lose overall James Chylinski was outpolled in the five-county district on Nov. 5 by more than 100,000 votes by Karen Fort Hood. However, Chylinski outpolled Hood in Plymouth, 5,305 votes to 3,879. Hood will serve a six-year term.

In the other 1st District state appeals court race, Chris Murray and Michael Talbot won in Plymouth and overall Talbot chalked up 8,274 Plymouth votes, Murray got 7,337. They each won a six-year term on the appeals bench.

The court's 1st District is made up of Wayne, Calhoun, Hillsdale, Lenawee and Monroe counties.

In the race for two Michigan Supreme Court seats, incumbent justices Elizabeth Weaver and Robert Young were tops in Plymouth and statewide. Weaver got 7,675 votes in Plymouth, while Young picked up 7,410. They will return to the court for eight-year terms.

Incumbents also dominated in Michigan's 3rd Judicial Circuit Court, also called Wayne County Circuit Court.

Twenty incumbents whose terms expire at the end of the year were re-elected for six years, and Plymouth voters favored all 20 countywide winners.

The winners, with their Plymouth vote totals in parentheses, were Mary Beth Kelly (6,400), Richard Hathaway (5,774), Susan Neilson (6,297), Susan Borman (5,819), Helen Brown (5,595), Bill Callahan (5,460), Michael Callahan (5,400), Robert Ziolkowski (5,492), John Gillis Jr. (5,415), Pamela Harwood (5,355), Kym Worthy (4,823), William Giovan (5,352), Vera Massey Jones (4,816), Edward Thomas (5,209), Craig Strong (5,115), Daphne Means Curtis (4,907), Arthur Lombard (5,237), Vonda Evans (4,544), Ulysses Boykin (4,244) and Warfield Moore Jr. (4,014).

In another 3rd Judicial Circuit race, Chris Dingell, with 4,739 Plymouth votes, outpolled Lynne Pierce, who got 5,762 votes in Plymouth, countywide to win a six-year term.

GOP carries Plymouth in state and university board races

Just as they favored Republicans in major races on election day, Livonia voters leaned toward Republicans in three statewide university board races as well.

Statewide, voters on Nov. 5 picked a Democrat and a Republican for both the Wayne State University Board of Governors and the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, and two Republicans for the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

Incumbent U-M Regent Andrea Fischer Newman, a Republican, placed first among Plymouth voters with 8,804 votes. Another Republican, Andrew C. Richner, took second place in Plymouth with 7,664 votes. Fischer Newman and Richner also were the statewide winners, each elected to eight-year terms.

In the MSU trustee race, Plymouth voters parted with state voters with one of the candidates. Statewide, voters selected Republican Donald Nugent and Democrat Colleen M. McNamara. In Plymouth, Nugent got the most votes (8,048), but Republican Joanne G. Emmons was second at 7,730. McNamara finished third in Plymouth with 5,659 votes. Nugent and McNamara were each elected to eight-year terms.

For the WSU board, Plymouth voters favored a pair of Republicans - Diane L.

Dunaskiss, who received 8,282 votes and Andrew G. McLemore, Jr., who got 6,959 votes. Statewide, the winners were Dunaskiss and McLemore, who were elected to the eight-year terms.

In the State Board of Education race, Republicans won in Plymouth, but statewide, voters picked one Democrat, Elizabeth W. Bauer, and one Republican, Carolyn L. Curtin.

Locally, the winners were Republican Michael Warren with 7,933 and Curtin, who drew 7,862 votes in Plymouth.

Credit union gives $1,500 donation to foundation

Community Federal Credit Union recently donated $1,500 to the Plymouth-Canton Educational Excellence Foundation from its Community Shares program, an annual campaign tied to growth in savings deposits. Each year Community Federal donates a portion of funds to benefit educational programs in Michigan.

This year's check presentation was made at Hoben Elementary's School Credit Union, one of five student credit unions operated by Community Federal in Plymouth-Canton schools.

Accepting the donation was Steve Harper, board member and treasurer of the Plymouth-Canton Educational Excellence Foundation. Harper said, "These funds will help us to promote financial literacy through our current curriculum."

Since Community Shares was introduced in 2000, Community Federal has donated a total of $15,200 to educational programs including the Plymouth-Canton Educational Excellence Foundation.

Bahama Breeze

Try a Caribbean inspired recipe from Bahama Breeze this Thanksgiving. Bahama Breeze has two local restaurant locations: 19600 Haggerty Livonia and 539 E. Big Beaver Road Troy.

BANANAS SUPREME WITH BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

Serves 2
Butterscotch Sauce makes 1 cup
2 ounces butter
1/2 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon Orange Triple Sec

Place the butter in a sauce pan on medium heat until completely melted. Add the sugar and stir until completely dissolved. Add the cream and bring to a boil while continuously stirring. Remove from heat and add the Triple Sec.

BANANAS SUPREME

1 loaf of banana bread (room temperature)
1 banana
Vanilla ice cream
Whipped cream
1 package of almond slivers toasted
1 fresh mint sprig

Cut banana bread into 1/2 inch slices. Layer 3 slices on a plate. Cut banana into 1/4 inch thick slices and place in sauce pan with heated butterscotch sauce. Sauté the bananas in sauce for about 30 seconds (long enough for them to soak and heat in the butterscotch sauce). Scoop the bananas from the sauce pan and place them on the plate alongside the banana bread. Drizzle warm butterscotch sauce over the banana bread and banana slices. Add one large scoop of vanilla ice cream on top of the banana slices. Add three dollops of whipped cream around the ice cream. Sprinkle toasted almond slivers atop the banana bread, ice cream and banana slices and garnish with a sprig of fresh mint.

Food in the Family

A traditional roasted turkey - ready to carve and enjoy - is the centerpiece of a holiday feast that includes biscuits, pie, green beans, mashed potatoes with garlic, parsley and olive oil.

Recipes honor those we love at Thanksgiving

BY LANA MINI
STAFF WRITER

Elizabeth Crawford felt satisfied when she watched her family devour her famous cranberry salad each Thanksgiving. The walnuts gave it crunch, the apples helped sweeten it. She adored cooking for her family.

This Thanksgiving, her granddaughter Helen Crawford of Westland, said the dish will have a stronger meaning at the dinner table. Elizabeth Crawford passed away from complications of Alzheimer's disease earlier this year.

"With this recipe the memories of her love for cooking will live on," Helen Crawford said. "Of all her recipes, it's the cranberry salad that was the big one, the one that we all remember."

We asked readers to share their traditional holiday recipes and most of the responses honored or remembered loved ones. Breaking bread keeps us close, especially when the food comes from someone close to us.

Most of the responses we received were side dishes that would pair nicely with a Thanksgiving ham or turkey. Margaret Callahan of Livonia makes a corn souffle that has become a "must-have" every Thanksgiving. The corn bread mix adds a flaky texture, the sour cream adds the right amount of tang and the creamed corn makes it creamy.

"I'll have my whole family over this holiday," Callahan said. "Thirty-two to 34 of us. I double the recipe and never have any leftovers."

Callahan said she serves dishes her family loves on Thanksgiving because it's a good day to remember that she's blessed with good fortune.

It's my favorite holiday, she said. "I have so much to be thankful for, 11 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren."

Honoring food of Native Americans, Cheryl Gavel of Farmington Hills, gave her family a creamy, baked corn recipe similar to Margaret Callahan's that they too have been using for years. It's especially good because even children, who can be picky eaters, devour it.

Her daughter, Tracy Kendall of Livonia, often cooks with her and uses the recipe year-round.

"Making a large family meal can be time consuming," Kendall said. "This recipe cuts down on the cooking chaos because it can be made ahead of time and re-heated in the microwave right before dinner - Thanksgiving guests won't know the difference."

Terry Godfroid-Marecki, of Livonia, honors one specific family member with a Russian recipe every holiday. The Mareckis adopted their son, Andrei, eight years ago from Russia.

We decided to incorporate a Russian food at every holiday, not only for our son's sake, but so that our guests would learn to appreciate food from this country," Godfroid-Marecki said.

The Russian Mushroom Caviar dish is one of the family's favorites. Mayonnaise, dill, onion and olive oil help create the interesting taste and texture of the porcini or portobello mushroom combination.

For Anneliese Deising's family, an American dish with a twist, sweet potato balls with corn flakes, has been a family favorite.

"I've made the dish every Thanksgiving for 20 years," Deising, of Plymouth said. "The cornflakes make it a little different and help keep the dish together."

Deising discovered the concoction through a neighbor whom she dined with often.

"We often exchanged recipes and that's how I found this one. It's no-fuss and you can make it the day before Thanksgiving."

TURKEY TIPS

Feldbro Quality Meats of Farmington Hills sells turkeys the old-fashioned way, Alan Feldbro said. He'll sell more than 2,000 turkeys this Thanksgiving.

Once the birds arrive at Feldbro's each one is individually washed, cleaned and re-packaged.

"And every turkey comes with a thermometer," Feldbro said.

Turkeys should be fresh and not frozen, he advises.

"If you buy a frozen turkey you're losing two pounds that you thought was bird. Instead you're getting two pounds of water that was filled in the cavity and pours out once thawed," Feldbro said.

He sells Amish (organic) turkeys and all-natural birds. All-natural birds, meaning they are chemical and preservative-free, can also be found at Byrd's Choice Meats in Livonia.

Feldbro has his own way of cooking the bird. Brush the bird with olive oil, and place breast side down in the pan so the juices drip down into the breast meat. Many people complain of dry turkey breast and this method prevents it, he said. He stuffs his turkey with chopped oranges and apples, and puts fresh garlic around it before placing in the oven.

John Bennett of Byrd's Choice Meats in Livonia offers these tips for choosing a turkey.

Consider a more healthful turkey that wasn't fed antibiotics. All Byrd's turkeys are all natural, he said. Choose a low-fat turkey. Sometimes the fat content is 8-17 percent, others can be as low as 3-4.

Home economists ready to answer your call for help

Use figs and cranberries along with dressing for the turkey. Cook turkey with the breast side down to prevent meat from getting dry.

Here are some of the most frequently asked questions from home economists who staff Butterball's Turkey Talk Line - (800) BUTTERBALL. Call the talk line or visit www.butterball.com for help preparing Thanksgiving dinner and recipes.

What's the best way to thaw a turkey?

Refrigerator thawing is recommended. However, if short on time, submerge the turkey in cold water. Thaw turkey in unopened wrapper, breast-side up, on a tray in the refrigerator. For every four pounds of turkey, allow at least one day of thawing.

Cold water thawing: Place turkey in unopened wrapper, breast down and cover completely with cold tap water. Change water every 30 minutes to keep surface of turkey cold. Estimate minimum thawing time to be 30 minutes per pound for a whole turkey.

How do you recommend safely handling turkey?

Thawed turkey may be kept in the refrigerator up to four days before cooking.

What's the best way to roast a turkey?

Place thawed or fresh turkey, breast up on a flat rack in a shallow pan, 2 to 2 1/2 inches deep. Brush or rub skin with oil to prevent the skin from drying and to enhance the golden color. Insert oven-safe meat thermometer deep into the lower part of the thigh muscle, but not touching the bone. When thigh is up to temperature and if turkey is stuffed, move thermometer to center of stuffing for stuffing temperature.

Place in a preheated 325°F oven. When the turkey is about two-thirds done, loosely cover the breast and top of drumsticks with a piece of lightweight foil to prevent overcooking the breast. Turkey is done when the meat thermometer reaches the following temperatures: 180°F deep in the thigh, also, juices should be clear, not reddish pink when thigh muscle is pierced.

Pass the pumpkin bread, please

BY THE CULINARY INSTITUTE OF AMERICA FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

A mention of quick breads brings to mind the delicious cakelike breads we associate with American comfort foods. Banana, date-nut and pumpkin breads are traditional American favorites.

As the name indicates, quick breads are quick and easy to make. Quick breads differ from traditional bread recipes in that they do not require yeast. They are, by definition, chemically leavened breads. Generally, the chemical leaveners used in quick breads are baking powder or baking soda.

PUMPKIN BREAD

- 1/2 cups all purpose flour
- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon double acting baking powder
- 3/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon finely grated nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/2 cup raisins plumped (to plump cover raisins with boiling water rest for at least 15 minutes and drain)

1 cup pureed cooked pumpkin (fresh, canned or frozen)

3/4 cup sugar

2 eggs

1/2 half cup vegetable oil

Preheat oven to 375° F Grease and flour two 8 1/2-by-4 1/2-inch loaf pans

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves

Combine raisins, pumpkin, sugar, eggs and oil in a large bowl and mix well. Stir dry ingredients into pumpkin mixture all at once and mix just until dry ingredients are blended into a batter

Transfer batter to prepared loaf pans and bake 50-55 minutes. Let breads cool in pans for 10-15 minutes. Ease breads out of pans and continue to cool on a rack. Makes 2 loaves

Chef's Tip: Since the batter is mixed very little once the dry ingredients are added, sift the chemical leaveners (baking powder and baking soda) twice with the flour before incorporating into the wet ingredients. This will ensure a more even distribution of the leaveners, which will give a consistent texture in the final product.

TURKEY

deeply 160°F in the center of the stuffing, if turkey is stuffed. Before removing stuffing and carving, let turkey stand 15 minutes to allow juices to set and stuffing temperature to rise to 165°F.

Where does the meat thermometer go?

When using an oven-safe meat thermometer, insert the thermometer in the thigh prior to placing the turkey in the oven and leave in while the turkey is roasting.

Position the thermometer so it can be read while the turkey is in the oven.

When using an instant-read meat thermometer, do not leave the thermometer in the turkey during roasting. Insert in thigh and/or stuffing to take the temperature.

How can leftover turkey be stored properly?

Within two hours after roasting, remove stuffing from turkey and carve meat off bones.

Then, chill in refrigerator before wrapping for storage. Wrap turkey and stuffing separately and use within three days.

To store in the freezer, wrap turkey and stuffing separately in heavy foil, freezer wrap or place in freezer container or bags.

For optimum flavor, use stuffing within one month and turkey within two months.

What's the proper way to stuff a turkey?

Use only cooked meats and seafood (oysters), and use pasteurized egg products instead of raw eggs. Place prepared stuffing in turkey just before roasting.

Do not stuff the turkey the night before roasting. Stuff both neck and body cavities of completely thawed turkey, allowing 1/2 to 3/4 cup of stuffing per pound of turkey.

Do not pack stuffing tightly in turkey. Return legs to original tucked position, if untucked for rinsing or stuffing.

How much turkey should I buy?

TIPS FOR A STRESS-FREE DINNER

■ Make part buy part
Keep it simple. Buy some of your courses and make the rest from scratch. An appetizer or dessert could be purchased from your favorite restaurant or gourmet market. Save time in the kitchen to mingle with the guests.

■ Remember your guests' needs
Keep in mind that all eating lifestyles are not alike. Perhaps you have guests whose religion restricts them from eating certain foods. Perhaps there's a diabetic, vegetarian or someone in the family allergic to specific foods. Make sure there's food on the table to accommodate everyone.

■ A pinch of good health
Holiday meals are celebrated by feasting – which can lead to overindulging and stomach distress. Offer lighter foods like fruit or vegetables at the beginning and end of the meal to help ease your guests in and out of the heavier turkey and ham main courses. Pumpkin pie with fresh ginger can help ease indigestion.

■ Provide nonalcoholic options
Remember that not everyone drinks alcohol. Keep guests sober by offering options to accompany the champagne and wine. Try sparkling waters and ciders garnished with fresh fruit or spices.

Combine the mushrooms, onions and garlic in a blender or food processor and process until minced and not pureed. # What's for dinner? Easy Bistro Chicken

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Easy bistro chicken is a hearty dish, full of flavor but low in fat. Besides chicken, its ingredients include onions, tomatoes, garlic and green olives. Spooned over a pasta such as macaroni or cavatappi, a serving still has just 8 grams of fat.

The recipe is among a selection of family favorites in "The Best of Cooking Light: What's For Dinner," a fall 2002 special edition of Cooking Light magazine. The choice among about 100 recipes ranges from elegant menus for two to casual and dinner party meals for entertaining larger groups - for which the cook can do some preparation ahead of time.

A tip for this recipe: You can chop the tomatoes in the can using kitchen shears.

EASY BISTRO CHICKEN

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- Four 6 ounce chicken breast halves skinned
- 4 chicken thighs (about 1 pound) skinned
- 4 chicken drumsticks (about 1 pound) skinned
- 2 cups chopped onion
- 4 garlic cloves minced
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh basil
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh flat leaf parsley
- 1/2 cup red wine vinegar
- 1/4 cup sliced green olives
- 1/4 cup capers
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- Dash of ground red pepper
- 2 bay leaves
- 28 ounce can Italian style tomatoes undrained and chopped
- 8 cups hot cooked macaroni or cavatappi
- Parsley sprigs (optional)

Heat 1 1/2 teaspoons oil in a large nonstick skillet over medium high heat. Add chicken breast halves to pan, saute 2 minutes on each side or until lightly browned. Remove from pan. Add 1 1/2 teaspoons oil and remaining chicken pieces, saute 2 minutes on each side or until lightly browned. Remove chicken from pan. Heat 1 tablespoon oil in pan. Add onion and garlic, saute 5 minutes. Add celery, saute 5 minutes. Add basil, parsley, vinegar, olives, capers, sugar, red pepper, bay leaves and tomatoes. Return chicken to pan, bring to a boil. Cover, reduce heat, and simmer 20 minutes. Uncover and simmer 25 minutes or until chicken is tender. Discard bay leaves. Serve with pasta. Garnish with parsley sprigs, if desired.

Makes 8 servings (serving size 1 chicken breast half or 1 thigh and 1 drumstick, 1/2 cup sauce, and 1 cup pasta)

Photos sparkle with star filter

Perhaps it's time to become a photographer of the stars. Not movie stars or constellations, but stars, added to your photographs by means of a star filter.

Focus On Photography

Monte Nagler

A star filter is an inexpensive addition to your photo equipment that can add a burst of excitement to your shots, whether color or black-and-white.

A close inspection of a star filter will reveal a miniature window screen imbedded in the glass.

This screen acts on any light highlight to produce a starburst effect in the finished picture. And because you always see directly through the lens on your single-lens-reflex camera, you'll be able to preview and adjust the star effect before you snap the shutter.

Star filters come in four-, six- and eight-point designs, depending on how much of a burst you want. I prefer the simplicity of the four-point star, which easily adjusts to any angle.

Here are some subject ideas that work well with star filters:

Sparkles in the lake or ocean caused by a descending sun will produce dazzling photos with a star filter, especially if you place a silhouetted subject in the foreground such as a seagull perched on a piling or tree branches framing the seascape. Reflections in shiny objects

A star filter added that special touch to Monte Nagler's photograph of late afternoon sun sparkle in the lake.

such as chrome will give that added flair to your pictures. Street lamps at night combined with a star filter produce effects not attainable in any other way.

And, of course, the sun itself photographed through a star filter will result in a breathtaking shot.

A star filter can be used in combination with other filters if, for example, you want to darken a blue sky with a polarizer or use any of the filters designed for black-and-white film.

Just attach the star filter directly over the other filter being used and you'll be pleasantly surprised with the results.

Always reach for the stars in your photography. And to help along the way, use a star filter.

THE BEST AMERICAN SCIENCE AND NATURE WRITING

Natalie Angier Editor Tim Folger Series Editor
Houghton Mifflin $13 paperback

BY ALICE RHEIN
CORRESPONDENT

One of the unexpected pleasures of switching doctors during my first pregnancy in 1998 was going from a waiting room full of parenting magazines to one that carried current issues of The Atlantic Monthly and Discover.

I wasn't so confident to think that I didn't need parenting advice, but something deeper in me said "fuel your intellect now, they'll be plenty of time to learn '10 Steps to Painless Potty-Training'."

When I was making regular office visits again in 2001, I hoped that the nurse wouldn't call my name before I finished Eric Schlosser's Why McDonald's Fries Taste So Good in the January issue of The Atlantic Monthly.

When she did, I had no choice but to sneak it into the examining room with me, finishing it just before she produced the blue gown.

It was no surprise to me then, that Natalie Angier, the Pulitzer-Prize winning journalist and best-selling author, included Schlosser's article in The Best American Science and Nature Writing 2002, which she edited for Houghton Mifflin along with series editor Tim Folger.

Schlosser's article, which was gleaned from his wildly popular book Fast Food Nation, is both a funny and disturbing tale of what goes into making America's most popular food. His story of the secretive group of scientists, or flavorists, who manufacture the flavors and smells of fries, as well as perfumes, floor wax and TV dinners is riveting, and will forever

ON TOUR

Natalie Angier the Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist and the author of the national bestseller Woman An Intimate Geography will be promoting the collection of works included in The Best American Science and Nature Writing 2002 at Shaman Drum, 313 South State Street, Ann Arbor at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 19. For more information, contact the bookstore at (734) 662-7407 or (800) 490-7023.

change how you think about that burger, fries and shake.

In fact, the contributor's notes mention that after Schlosser's article was published, riots broke out in India and class action lawsuits were filed against McDonald's after the company admitted that the fries contained beef.

Schlosser's story is just one of 27 non-fictional articles included in this 300-page book. And Angier will be at Shaman Drum bookstore in Ann Arbor on Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. to discuss her role as guest editor.

In her introduction, Angier, who attended the University of Michigan for two years before transferring to Barnard College in New York, wrote that the element common to all the stories she chose was clarity.

Clarity is important to every story, but perhaps more so in science writing.

Few scientists can actually write an article that can capture and maintain a lay reader's attention. And when journalists take on the task, they have to be able to comprehend the subject matter well enough to explain it back to the reader in concrete terms rich with anecdotes.

That's no easy task when the subject is, say, an artificial intelligence machine that could someday learn through normal conversation. Clive Thompson's The Know-It-All Machine written for Lingua Franca is about just that, a software called Cyc that will enable its computer to speak, reason, and learn.

Not all the subjects are heady. Joy Williams writes about the acre of land she purchased in Florida and vowed to keep in its natural state even as land subdivided around her. One Acre, first featured in Harper's Magazine is a loving tale of nature's beauty that offers a thoughtful, Thoreau-like image of lagoon life.

Barbara Ehrenreich, who wrote the compelling Nickel and Dimed: On (Not) Getting By in America offers her less-than-rosy take on the marketing of breast cancer in Welcome to Cancerland from Harper's Magazine.

Having been diagnosed with breast cancer, she writes about the oddities that she has encountered, like the tote bag distributed to breast cancer patients that contains — along with perfume and costume jewelry — a small box of crayons and a pink-striped journal.

"Possibly the idea is that regression to a state of childlike dependency puts one in the best frame of mind with which to endure the prolonged and toxic treatments, she ponders, adding later that, "Certainly men diagnosed with prostate cancer do not receive gifts of Matchbox cars."

Garret Keizer also muses in the first-person about his disdain of noise in Sound and Fury from Harper's Magazine And in The Sting of the Assassin, written for Outside, Peter Stark fictionalizes a bit by introducing a honeymooning couple to explain the dramatic impact that the venom of a box jellyfish has on the human body
Sarah Blaffer Hrdy's Mothers and Others from Natural History presents the evolutionary aspects akin to It takes a village And Steve

Mirsky's column Dumb, Dumb, Duh Dumb, which first appeared in Scientific American rings with humor
Strangely absent from this book are stories about 9/11, perhaps because Angier herself wrote one of the best pieces for the New York Times on Sept 18 entitled Altruism, Heroism and Nature's Gifts in the Face of Terror, which is listed in the appendix along with other notable writings of 2001
But the World Trade Center is very much a part of this book In Wall Street Losses, Wall Street Gains by Anne Matthews for Orion, the gleaming twin towers are what beckon migratory songbirds to Manhattan, where they are so mesmerized by the light that they can circle the building until exhaustion sets in Birds plummeting to the ground hardly seem important now, having seen the horrors of our own species crash, but Matthews story is hauntingly bittersweet in retrospect

Before 9/11, it was a story about songbirds and the people who take an interest in them After 9/11 it's a warm eulogy to a place that once teemed with life
The Best American Science and Nature Writing is a fascinating and surprisingly uncomplicated read, which, of course, is the sign of excellent writing "For all their passion and productivity," Angier writes in her introduction, "scientists labor in profound anonymity"
These essays certainly highlight many of the men and women who possess that passion for knowledge and in doing so, their stories inspire us all to unlock the mysteries of science

Children can give thanks for a harvest of good holiday books

BY SAMANTHA CRITCHELL
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

It's not too hard to teach children about thankfulness when parents dangle a reward in front of them. The instructions are easy enough for even a toddler to understand. When you want something say "please," when you get it say "thank you."

It might be more difficult, however, to teach children about the first Thanksgiving, an event that happened centuries ago to people these kids never knew. "Why should we care?" children may ask.

Because it's a good story with a better lesson, that's why. There's drama and interesting characters, and by the end of the tale the children will learn that working together offers great rewards — rewards that might include turkey, stuffing and pumpkin pie.

There are several new picture books about Thanksgiving, the parades that lead up to it and the feast that follows to help tell the story of the holiday in words and pictures that youngsters will understand.

A good place to start is The Very First Thanksgiving Day (Atheneum, $15.95, ages 3-6), featuring a cumulative rhyme text by Rhonda Gowler Greene and painting-style illustrations by Susan Gaber.

The book certainly isn't wordy but it covers all the basics about why the Pilgrims and the American Indians sat down together for a meal back in 1621.

It explains the hardships of the Pilgrims and how they overcame them with hard work, and it gives credit to the Indians as skillful and strong teachers to the Pilgrims.

The last few pages might even ring familiar with 21st-century families. The grown-ups greet each other with handshakes while the kids run off to play with their toys. Surely they'll regroup to sit at a very long table that's decorated with corn, sweet berries and turkey.

In Thanksgiving Day (HarperCollins, $5.99, ages 2-5) by Anne Rockwell, a father tells his children about the holiday play he put on when he was a kid. He recalls his role as the Mayflower, the ship that brought the Pilgrims to the New World. His friends, children of all races outfitted in feathered Indian headdresses and construction-paper Pilgrim hats in illustrations by Lizzie Rockwell, filled out the rest of the cast.

The Pilgrims from England built wood houses and the Wampanoag Indians planted corn. Together, they hunted turkeys for that memorable harvest feast.

The whole animal kingdom cooks the Thanksgiving meal in Turkeys Never Gobble! (HarperFestival, $5.99, ages baby-preschool). In Jennifer Beck Harris' cartoonish pictures, young readers will see alligators sharing their recipes with helpful hippos, and monkeys measuring, mixing and chopping the ingredients for their favorite treats.

But at the table even the well-mannered warthogs become wild beasts as one devilish critter calls out "food fight!"

Leftovers are the big treat in Twas the Day After Thanksgiving (Little Simon, $5.99, ages 3-6) by Mavis Smith.

As young readers lift the flaps, they'll catch glimpses of a family of mice who eventually grow tired of turkey and its trimming. Sound familiar?

Children — and many adults who are unfamiliar with this part of Thanksgiving's history — learn about Sarah Hale's crusade to make the fourth Thursday in November a national holiday in Thank You, Sarah: The Woman

Who Saved Thanksgiving (Simon & Schuster, $16.95, ages 5-10).

Laurie Halse Anderson explains that Hale was a "dainty little lady" who became the superhero of Thanksgiving through her letter-writing campaign. She convinced President Abraham Lincoln, after failing to convince many of his predecessors, that the nation needed a day to come together as one big family.

In return, Hale, at least in Matt Faulkner's illustrations, is honored with what looks an awful lot like a balloon in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. A fictional story with several true historical references brings the famous parade to life in Milly and the Macy's Parade (Scholastic, $16.95, ages 5-8) by Shana Corey, with pictures by Brett Helquist.

Milly can't bear the thought of seeing her Polish immigrant grandfather and his fellow workers at Macy's, who all miss their native lands, so sad during the holiday season, Mr. Macy can't bear the thought of these grumpy workers turning away customers.

When she suggests the store help stage a parade just like in "the old country, Mr. Macy embraces her idea since he, too, remembers what it feels like to be homesick. The result is an American celebration with influences from all over the world. Other kiddie-themed Thanksgiving books include I Know an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Pie (Puffin, $6.99, ages 3-8) by Alison Jackson and illustrated by Judith Byron Schachner. Humming a familiar tune, this particular old lady starts out eating a pie, moves on to a whole turkey and still joins in the holiday parade.

The Little Engine That Could Saves the Thanksgiving Day Parade (Grosset & Dunlap, $3.49, ages 3-6) by Watty Piper and illustrated by Cristina Ong. When the Turkeyland Band gets stuck in Gobbleville, only one Little Blue Engine pulls through.

The Pilgrims and Me (Grosset & Dunlap, $5.99, ages 6-9) by Judy Donnelly and illustrated by Maryann Cocca-Leffler. A little girl shares her class report on her visit to the Plymouth Plantation.

Tricky Turkey Tongue Twisters (HarperFestival, $6.99, ages 4-8) by Quinlan B. Lee and illustrated by Clive Scruton. Catchy phrases that are even harder to say when one's mouth is full of Thanksgiving food — especially mashed potatoes.

A Charlie Brown Thanksgiving (Little Simon, $5.99, 3-8) by Charles M. Schulz. The book adaptation of the TV special in which Peppermint Patty invites the gang over for dinner at Charlie Browns.

Theater patrons say humbug to hunger

Meadow Brook Theatre will sponsor a food drive for the Food Bank of Oakland County during the 21st annual production of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. Patrons can bring non-perishable food items to collection bins at Meadow Brook Theatre and Meadow Brook Hall, from Nov. 29-Dec. 22.

The Food Bank of Oakland County is thrilled to have the opportunity to work with Meadow Brook Theatre once again. The generosity of the theatre patrons is inspiring, food bank director Helen Kozlowski-Hicks said in a written statement. Last year's food drive garnered more than 1,300 pounds of food.

Meadow Brook Theatre, Michigan's largest professional theatre, is located on Oakland University's campus in Rochester. To buy tickets for A Christmas Carol, call Meadow Brook Theatre's box office at (248) 377-3300. Group tickets are available at (248) 370-3316. The Food Bank of Oakland County is one of 197 America's Second Harvest National Food Banks. Last year it distributed 6.3 million pounds of food throughout Oakland County.

Whalers tie

A 3-0 lead after one period wasn't enough for the Plymouth Whalers Thursday at Barrie.

The Colts scored twice in the second period and tied it with just under four minutes left in the third and that's the way it stayed as both teams settled for a 3-3 draw.

The tie gave the Whalers an 11-6-2 record.

John Vigilante scored the game's first goal unassisted at 8:20 of the first period. Tim Sestito made it 2-0 at 10:56, the assist going to Jimmy Gagnon. Martin Cizek's goal at 14:52, assisted by Jonas Fiedler and Sestito, gave the Whalers a three-goal bulge.

But the Colts struck back with second-period power play goals by Luc Chiasson and Mark Langdon. Jeremy Swanson got the tying goal in the third period. Swanson and Chiasson also had assists for Barrie.

Paul Drew had 31 saves in goal for the Whalers. Paulo Colaigoglio had Michael Ouzas combined to make 22 saves for the Colts.

Ocelots roll

The Schoolcraft College men's basketball team improved to 3-0 Wednesday with a lopsided 122-44 victory over visiting Concordia University JV team.

The Ocelots, who jumped out to a 24-0 lead, had eight players score in double figures led by Marcus Bennett's 19 points.

Rounding out the scoring brigade was Dion Sherrell (17), Andre Scott (16), James Holmes (13), Gary Johnson (12), Ronald Dorsey and Aaron Squirewell (11 each) and Torvoris Baker (10).

Bennett had a team-high nine assists while Baker grabbed 10 rebounds and Lamont Arrington added eight.

SC women fall

What was close for one half was a blowout after two.

Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team was within three (35-32) at halftime of its game against Toledo Owens Tech. The Lady Ocelots couldn't keep pace in the second half, however, eventually losing 82-62.

Tech improved to 3-1. SC's record was evened at 1-1.

Pam Wingate led the Ocelots with 24 points, 14 rebounds, five blocks and four assists. Mia Henderson added 10 points and eight boards.

Michelle Vorst scored 28 points for Tech. Stacey Weiland had 22 and Tonia Willis had 13.

Ocelots beat the best, advance to Final Four

BY C.J. RISAK

They're in.

Schoolcraft College's volleyball team got what it was after in its first two days at the 12-team NJCAA Division II Tournament, hosted by Toledo Owens Tech. The Lady Ocelots won their first four matches, getting victories in 11 of 12 games, which is what they wanted. Those wins earned them a berth in the Final Four, played Saturday.

But they weren't through. They capped their pool-play performance with a 17-30, 30-20, 30-22 win over No. 1-ranked Kishwaukee CC (Malta, Ill.) Friday night.

VOLLEYBALL

The Ocelots, seeded fourth going into the tournament, took a 4-3-14 record into the Final Four.

Friday's win over Kishwaukee didn't really mean much, although it did allow SC to play the second-place team in the other pool in the semifinals. As SC coach Tom Teeters pointed out, a win over Kishwaukee on Saturday would mean more — since it would come in the NJCAA Final and be worth a national championship.

offensive play for SC, collecting 14 kills against Kishwaukee (giving her 65 for the tournament). Going into Saturday's play, she had 39 digs, 14 blocks and seven service aces in the tournament.

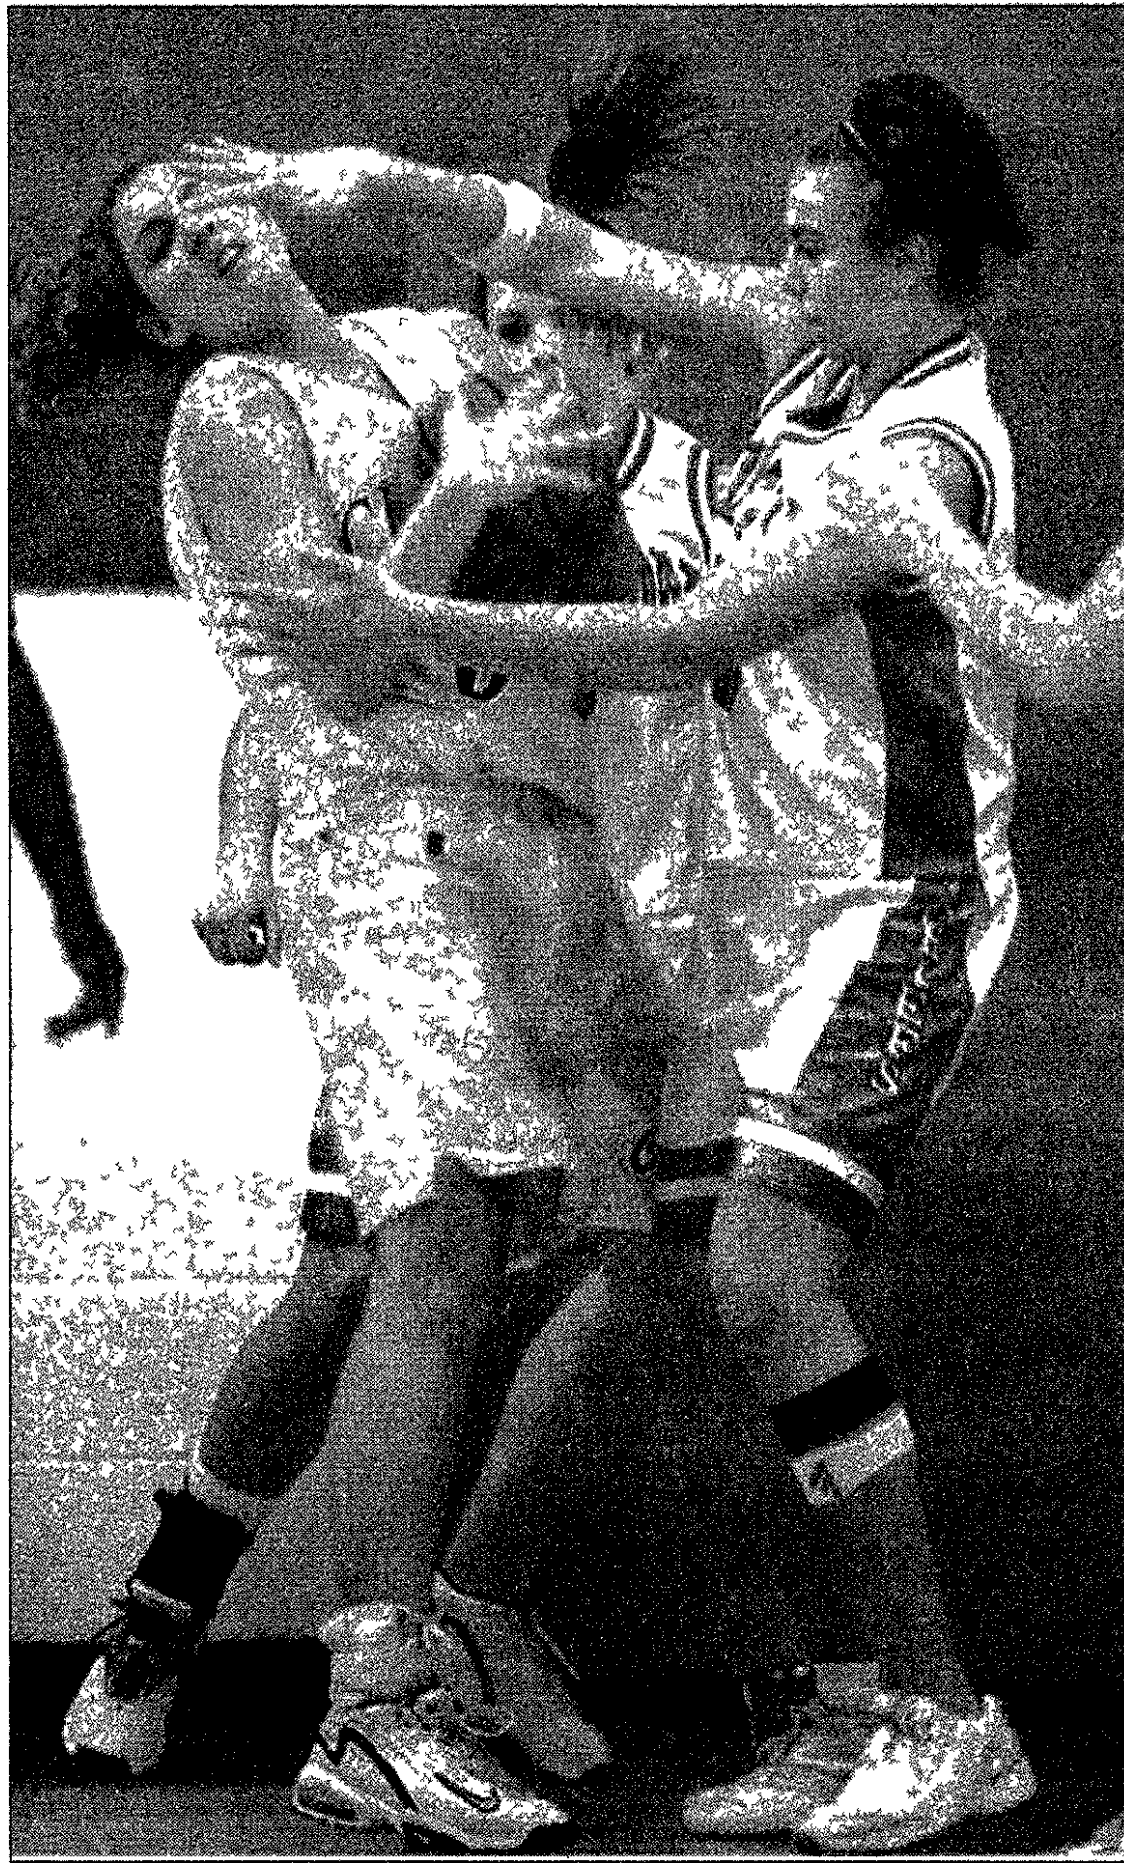

The Ocelots' other tournament stand-outs included Noelle Swartz (from Canton/Westland John Glenn) with 50 kills, 74 digs and nine aces, Katie Drews (Livonia Stevenson) with 34 kills and 15 blocks, Kerstin Marshall (Livonia Franklin) with 19 kills, 18 blocks and 14 aces, Meghan Mitchell with 54 digs, Stephanie Koslowski with 22 kills and five aces, Ioana Vescan with 103 set assists, six aces and 33 digs, and Desiree Betts (Livonia Ladywood) with 78 set assists and five aces.

SC opened its six-team pool play against eight-seeded Northwest Shoals CC (Muscle Shoals, Ala.) on Thursday, and the Ocelots prevailed 30-26, 33-31, 30-16, 30-21 victory over No. 12 Longview CC (Lee's Summit, Mo.) later Thursday, then on Friday they defeated No. 9 Moraine Valley CC (Palos Hills, Ill.) 30-19, 30-15, 30-15 and No. 5 Des Moines Area CC (Boone, Ia.) 30-21, 29-31, 30-27.

This was the Ocelots' ninth trip to the NJCAA Tournament since 1985. They won the Division I NJCAA Title in 1988.

Canton crushes Central to claim WLAA crown

If you want to beat Canton's girls basketball team, there's just two things you have to deal with: The Chiefs' offense and defense.

Well, then there's their rebounding, too.

Okay, so there's three things. Still, it is doable — isn't it?

In 18 of 20 games this season, it hasn't been. The last example came Wednesday night, when Canton hosted the Western Lakes Activities Association championship game against Walled Lake Central.

The two teams tangled Sept. 26 in a regular-season game at Central, and Canton survived the battle, winning 43-42. The Vikings went on to win the WLAA's Lakes Division, setting up Wednesday's title clash at Canton.

Apparently, they didn't learn anything from that first encounter. Instead of a final-shot-wins-the-game kind of thing, Canton took command

Start at the top. When building an organization or program — or, in this case, a basketball team — bring in someone good at the top level and success is sure to follow.

Plymouth HS has done just that, hiring Richelle Reilly to coach its freshmen girls team. Reilly has ample coaching experience, most recently as the head coach at Concordia College the four years before taking the Wildcat job this fall.

Prior to that, Reilly served as an assistant coach under Bob Taylor at Oakland University for two years and was the junior varsity coach at Farmington Harrison for two years. Reilly played both basketball and softball at Albion College through 1992 and was a graduate assistant there for a year.

Reilly, who got her teacher's certificate so that she could be a physical education instructor at the secondary level, came into a Plymouth program that was just starting out. Like all other Wildcat sports teams, it had just freshmen for its first year.

"The opportunity to build a program, in going from the college level to the high school level," was one reason Reilly gave for leaving Concordia for Plymouth. "I welcomed the opportunity to coach here."

Less travel for games and no recruiting trips, which would allow her to stay close to home, were other reasons. Those rea-

Livonia Stevenson saved its best for last during the 2002 girls cross country season.

The Spartans were underdogs going into the Western Lakes Activities Association, but came away with the title. The following week, Stevenson won the regional and went on to post the area's top finish in the Division I state meet by placing sixth.

second-team, relied on depth to make its late-season surge.

Under veteran coach Paul Holmberg, who was named Coach of the Year, Stevenson has been to the state meet 17 times since 1976 (the year the Spartans captured the state Class A crown). The Spartans have been runner-up at the state meet twice (1995-96) and third once (1997).

Under Holmberg, Stevenson has been regional champion five times and regional runners-up five times. The Spartans have won 12 league titles (including the Inter-Lakes).

Holmberg's dual meet record is 127-18.

Livonia Churchill also made a strong showing this season. The Chargers, who placed four on the first team, won the Livonia Public Schools title and was runner-up at both the regional and WLAA meets.

team.

Heather Sirko, Livonia Stevenson, the 10th grader had a breakout season after being the Spartans' No. 8 runner as a freshman.

Sirko was Lakes Division (19-22), Western Lakes (19-07) and regional (19-06) champion at 5,000 meters and made Division All State honors with a 12th place finish (18:47). She also won nationals at South Lyon and Ypsilanti.

The Stevenson MVP and Livonia Public Schools champion, whose average time was 19:39, ranks sixth all time on the Cass Benton Park course and fourth best in school history (18:47).

Last year we called Heather a good prospect for next year. Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg said, "What an understatement. From eighth best on last year's team to 12th best in the state."

She should be an inspiration to anyone who wants to high school cross country.

Nicole Schmidt, Livonia Churchill MVP, was the Chargers' top finisher at the state meet (42nd) with a time of 19:15.

She also finished second at the regional with a personal best 19:12 and added thirds at the South Lyon (19:53), Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard (19:23) and Wayne County (19:35) meets. Schmidt was fourth in the Livonia Public Schools (19:59), Western Division (19:38) and Western Lakes (19:36) meets.

Nicole had an outstanding season. She figured out how to compete this year and wasn't afraid to run with some very talented runners. Churchill coach Sue Tatigian said, "She is a pleasure to coach because of her unending talent, competitive nature and kind disposition."

She sets high standards for herself and runs to achieve them. I was extremely proud of Nicole for the hard work and effort she put into her

Western's 2nd-half surge stops Salem

It was Salem's game in the first half of this Western Lakes Activities Association crossover. But a more-experienced Walled Lake Western squad took command in the second half, outscoring the Rocks 35-22 to roll to a 51-45 basketball triumph Thursday at Western.

Salem finishes its regular season at 12-8 overall, 10-4 against WLAAs opponents. The Warriors take a 14-6 overall mark (11-3 in the conference) into the state district tournament.

Western used full-court pressure in the second half, said Salem coach Fred Thomann, "and we didn't handle it well. Their trapping game we handled a little bit, but then we caved in."

Point production has been a problem for the Rocks all season, and it wasn't much better in this game. Stephanie Philips led Salem with 12 points, next best was Alyssa Guerin with eight and Ellen Canale with seven.

The Warriors got 16 points from Meghan Marhugh and 13 from Tracey Winkler, including three three-pointers. Lauren Talbot and Dianna Houghton chipped in with eight apiece. Western had eight triples in the game.

AA Greenhills 56 PCA 44 Three against one That basically was the difference for Plymouth Christian Academy against Ann Arbor Greenhills Thursday at PCA.

Greenhills had three players combine for 49 of its points converting 7 of 17 three pointers (41 percent). The Eagles had one double digit scorer and made 4 of 13 threes (31 percent).

"They had a few too many good shooters for us to handle," said PCA coach Annie Malcolm. "They actually shot better from three point range than two point."

We could have maybe guarded two of them but not three.

PCA finishes the regular season at 6-14. The Gryphons are 11-9.

The three players referred to all guards were junior Anna Grotberg who scored 17 points (5 of 11 on threes), senior Laurie Baumann who also scored 17 and Carmen Dorris who netted 15.

PCA was paced by Amanda Saagman who scored 17 points and hit 4 of 10 triples. She also had four assists. Melanie Brady scored eight points. Shannon Murray netted seven and Kim Guilfoyle had five points and grabbed eight rebounds. Her rebounds moved her into second place all time in the school's rebounding list.

The Eagles outscored Greenhills in the second half by a point 26-25 but the deficit the Gryphons constructed in the first two quarters (31-18) was too much for PCA to overcome.

On Wednesday PCA traveled to Riverview. Gabriel Richard and despite leading going into the fourth quarter lost 40-37.

Saagman led the Eagles with 11 points. Amy Garbacz added seven points and four assists and Guilfoyle finished with four points and 10 boards. Natalie Brown's 13 points topped Gabriel Richard.

PCA got the early jump leading 12-5 after one quarter but the Pioneers bounced back and knotted it at 21 at the half. The Eagles led 30-27 through three quarters but Gabriel Richard - with Brown scoring six points - took command in the final period outscoring PCA 13-7. We kind of ran out of gas in the fourth quarter, Malcolm said.

PCA opens its Class C state district tournament against Detroit Urban Lutheran the host school at 7 p.m. Monday.

sons all added up to a good place to start for Plymouth.

But remember: When you're starting from scratch, start at the top and work your way down. That's what Reilly did, building her Wildcat team around a pair of 6-foot freshmen post players, Kim Olech and Jeanne Moise.

Olech and Moise have combined to score 35 points a game for Plymouth, providing most of the team's offense. "I got a bit of a sneak preview in the AAU season (last summer)," Reilly said when asked what her pre-season expectations were. "It was easy to recognize there was quite a bit of talent. What that indicated to me was there was an opportunity there (to build something)."

Which Plymouth has done. On Nov. 7, the Wildcats defeated

Livonia Churchill 53-9. Besides the lopsided score, the significance of the victory was that it was their 20th-straight.

That's right — Plymouth has yet to lose, having won all 20 of its games this season.

Now as impressive as that sounds, there is a contributing factor. Reilly knows that other schools with talented 6-footers don't leave them on their freshman team. They'll push them up a level, or even two, to challenge them. Example: Canton has two freshmen on its JV, Salem has four. As an all-freshmen school, Plymouth has no similar option. But that will change this week.

Because on Monday, Plymouth will take on Manchester in a Class C state district basketball game at Clinton HS. Game time is approximately 7:30 p.m. The all-freshmen Wildcats will go up against varsity teams, although at the Class C level (which is determined by school enrollment, Salem and Canton are Class A).

This wasn't expected going into the season. "I didn't even consider it," said Reilly. "We definitely have our work cut out for us."

But they're looking forward to the challenge. We have a unique chance to play at the varsity level and do something special.

The real test will be how Plymouth reacts to playing against veteran teams with players four years older. To succeed, the Wildcats must utilize their interior game — which means get the ball to Olech and Moise. Olech "is very skilled," said Reilly. "Her game has developed very well."

And Moise "is really very athletic. She's a little raw in skill level, but I expect her to develop a lot."

Reilly knows neither player can score if her guards can't get them the ball, and that's something they've done superbly. Janet Hanchett (5-foot-8), Colleen Flaherty (5-8) and Courtney Mack (5-1) are the backcourt starters for Plymouth.

"They're a large part of (our success)," Reilly said of her post tandem. "But they're relying on perimeter players who can pass them the ball. The guards have to work with them to get that done."

Reilly has used some zone pressure, but Plymouth's base defense is a half-court man-to-man. "We take a lot of pride in our defense," she added.

The Wildcats' pride and ability will be tested Monday. Manchester figures to be the best of the varsity teams in the district.

What a challenge it will be.

midway through the second quarter, outscoring Central 12-4 in the final four minutes of the half to build a nine-point edge by the break.

The Chiefs maintained that advantage throughout the second half to post a 47-32 triumph. It was Canton's first title in WLAAs girls basketball since 1997, and it was the first time ever the Chiefs were unbeaten in all conference games (play-offs included).

"Canton's tough," conceded Central coach Rob Schopf. "Canton's real tough. And they're very well coached. They exploited all of our weaknesses. "Second shots killed us. They're a very good rebounding team."

Schopf opted to try and defend Canton the way most teams have — with a zone, daring the Chiefs to win with perimeter shooting.

Unfortunately for the Vikings, it didn't work, thanks to Rachele Guastella and Jessica Johnson. Guastella, a 5-foot-5 junior point guard, hasn't had to do much scoring this season, but she proved Wednesday she could, knocking down four outside jumpers for eight points — all in the first half.

"Gave Guastella all the credit," said Schopf. "She had a great game — what did she score, eight, 10 points? I thought we held (Katie) Cezat and (Kristen) Lake in check pretty well."

Maybe they did for a while, but once the outside shots started falling for Canton, the interior opened up for Cezat and Lake.

"JJ (Johnson) got to the crease in their (zone) defense and caused some problems for them," said Canton coach Bob Blohm. "And we got the ball inside and got some second shots."

"We got great play from a lot of people today. Everybody played well."

Johnson, whose three-pointer with 27 seconds left provided the Chiefs with the game-winning margin in the two teams' first meeting, did it again Wednesday. The Vikings had the early lead, going up 8-4 in the opening quarter thanks to

The Chiefs maintained that advantage throughout the second half to post a 47-32 triumph.

Katie Rademacher's inside play and a triple by Michelle White. Rademacher finished with seven of her team's 10 first-quarter points.

Baskets by Lake and Guastella tied it, then Johnson — with 25 left in the first — nailed a three to give the Chiefs an 11-8 lead. They would never again trail.

Lake got a couple of baskets and two free throws, and Johnson and Cezat each contributed two baskets to propel Canton in its 16-8 second-quarter surge. The closest the Vikings got in the second half was seven, although they missed a couple of chances to get closer.

Trailing 32-23 after three, Brit Coram got the first basket of the fourth period to make the deficit seven. Rademacher — who scored nine of her team-high 13 points in the first half — missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw situation with 6:36 left, then (after a Cezat basket) Sara Stone did the same 15 seconds later.

The gap could have been five. Instead, it was still nine. Canton put the game away with an 11-2 run in a 3:06 span.

Lake and Cezat both scored 14 points to pace the Chiefs, followed by Guastella with eight and Johnson with seven. After Rademacher's 13, next best for Central was White with six.

Next up for Canton is the state district tournament, hosted by Salem. The Chiefs face South Lyon in a first-round game at 5:30 p.m. Monday (Salem plays Livonia Churchill in Monday's second game) and, of course, Blohm is very concerned.

"They're small but very quick," he said. "I'm worried." Seems to me South Lyon has more to worry about. Much more.

The IMMUNE SYSTEM

An ally in the fight against cancer

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
CORRESPONDENT

University of Michigan Health System doctors are studying the power of the body's immune system to fight cancer, and they point to the people involved in trial studies as the real super heroes.

Imagine vaccines that eradicate cancer the same way they fight smallpox, pneumonia and influenza. Or how freezing tumors helps cancer victims destroy bad cells with their own natural defense systems.

U-M Comprehensive Cancer Center doctors are taking their message to the public in community forums, like one held last month at the Livonia West Holiday Inn. They're talking about new developments in immune system therapy and how their research is zeroing in on ways to prevent, delay, stop and reverse cancer growth.

One way I'm studying breast cancer is freezing the tumor and letting the immune system reabsorb the dead tumor cells," said Dr. Michael S. Sabel, U-M Health System assistant professor of surgery. "I'm hoping I can stimulate an immune response. When you freeze and kill cancer, the antigens are still present for the immune system to recognize."

Sabel is conducting a trial at the cancer center with women in early stage breast cancer. The cancer is frozen before it's removed surgically, allowing doctors to study whether the immune system has been stimulated.

There's evidence that (cryosurgery) incites the immune system, and I believe that will make it better than surgery, he said. "I'm hoping that if the immune system can be stimulated, there will be less chance of cancer cells being left behind after surgery and there would be less likelihood of recurrence. The ultimate goal is that women would not need the lumpectomy."

Using vaccines to fight cancer focuses on ways the immune system can eliminate bad cells the same way it fights infection, said Dr. Alfred E. Chang, chief of the U-M Health System Division of Surgical Oncology. Vaccines are being used in cancer trial studies in the same way they have been used for generations to fight smallpox. During the clinical trials, cancer started going away in some patients with advanced cancer.

The immune system works by recognizing proteins on the surface of bacteria or cells infected by viruses that are different than the body's proteins. Tumor cells show similar proteins, and U-M doctors are studying ways to stimulate the immune system to recognize these antigens and kill cancer cells.

Cancer vaccines haven't been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. However, clinical studies are showing good possibilities of their use to fight cancer.

The trials involve collecting circulating cells called dendritic cells, normally present in everyone, and stimulating those cells with tumor antigens. The dendritic cells take up the antigen and jump start the patient's immune system, which hopefully triggers a response against the patient's own tumor.

Another approach is to take the dendritic cells from the patient and inject them into the tumor to stimulate the immune system. These dendritic cell trials are restricted to people who have advanced cancers that have not responded to other treatments. The National Cancer Institute Trials Database provides a list and description of many clinical trials across the country.

On another frontier, a vaccine made from other people's melanoma is being studied in research trials conducted by Dr. Vernon K. Sondak, U-M Health System professor of surgery. "We're using the vaccine to take care of the leftover cells," Sondak said.

PLEASE SEE TRIALS, C5

to be involved is to help their daughters, their nieces, and women they don't even know.

If Sabel's trial shows that cryosurgery is successful, it would probably be another five or 10 years before the procedure is approved and available to the general public.

David Shultz, 50, of Holt, Mich., had surgery to remove melanoma in April 1999. Five months later, he became involved in a clinical trial that lasted about a year. The trial examined whether a course of vaccines would boost his immune system.

Frankly, Shultz said, he got involved in the trial to help his own chances of survival.

Melanoma is a serious type of skin cancer, and while the surgery I had suggested that we caught it in time. I was interested in doing anything I could to improve my chances for full recovery," he said.

As time went on, Shultz began to appreciate the greater good he was achieving.

I got more and more interested in study results and the broader clinical trials and whether this would help more people," he said. "I would encourage people to really consider clinical trials because I do think they're important in advancing what we know about diseases."

IMMUNE SYSTEM AS FIGHTER

Using vaccines to fight cancer focuses on ways the immune system can eliminate bad cells the same way it fights infection, said Dr. Alfred E. Chang, chief of the U-M Health System Division of Surgical Oncology.

Vaccines are being used in cancer trial studies in the same way they have been used for generations to fight smallpox. During the clinical trials, cancer started going away in some patients with advanced cancer.

The immune system works by recognizing proteins on the surface of bacteria or cells infected by viruses that are different than the body's proteins. Tumor cells show similar proteins, and U-M doctors are studying ways to stimulate the immune system to recognize these antigens and kill cancer cells.

Cancer vaccines haven't been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. However, clinical studies are showing good possibilities of their use to fight cancer.

The trials involve collecting circulating cells called dendritic cells, normally present in everyone, and stimulating those cells with tumor antigens. The dendritic cells take up the antigen and jump start the patient's immune system, which hopefully triggers a response against the patient's own tumor.

Another approach is to take the dendritic cells from the patient and inject them into the tumor to stimulate the immune system. These dendritic cell trials are restricted to people who have advanced cancers that have not responded to other treatments. The National Cancer Institute Trials Database provides a list and description of many clinical trials across the country.

On another frontier, a vaccine made from other people's melanoma is being studied in research trials conducted by Dr. Vernon K. Sondak, U-M Health System professor of surgery. "We're using the vaccine to take care of the leftover cells," Sondak said.

Open-heart surgery marks 50th anniversary

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the world's first successful open heart surgery, a procedure that made medical history in 1952.

Dr. Forest Dewey Dodrill captured national headlines when he used a mechanical heart pump to operate on a patient at Wayne State University's Harper Hospital in Detroit.

Paid for in part by the American Heart Association, and billed as a public service by General Motors, the Dodrill-GMR (General Motors Research) mechanical heart looked much like a Cadillac V-12 engine. This historic operation routed blood around the heart, allowing the surgeon to repair a damaged valve.

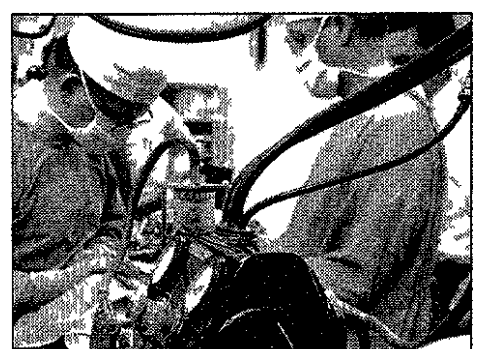

We've come a long way since the first heart operation by Dodrill in 1952. Now it's estimated that worldwide more than one million open heart operations are done using some form of heart-lung machine each year," said Dr. Larry Stephenson, Wayne State University cardiovascular surgeon and medical historian, who documented and researched the historic operation.

Without some form of blood pump of heart-lung machine, many of the heart operations we routinely do would not be possible.

According to the American Heart Association, 753,000 open-heart procedures were performed in 1999, the latest year for which figures are available.

In the early 1950s, there were few surgical options for people with heart ailments. A team of General Motors engineers used Dodrill's conceptual designs to construct a machine that was used not in a vehicle, but in an operating room.

To develop this revolutionary machine, many GM engineers and researchers volunteered their time to support this great medical advancement," said Dr. Joel Bender, General Motors

The first patient to undergo surgery with the mechanical heart was a man who had a mitral valve repair at Wayne State University's Harper Hospital.

In a randomized trial, a few people benefited from a procedure. However, a more important finding was that researchers could identify who would benefit. The vaccine isn't for someone who has never had cancer. However, further research advances could lead to a preventative cancer vaccine years from now, Sondak said. The vaccine Sondak tested has already been approved in Canada as a treatment for patients with advanced stages of cancer. The entire trial process takes more than 25 years from research stages to drugs and procedures being available. That's how time consuming this process can be, Sondak said. Immune therapy is just starting to be approved and come into the mainstream. It's all up to the courageous volunteers who go into the study and how essential that is to the development of the vaccine. The best way to fight melanoma is to prevent it, by avoiding the sun and wearing sun block. Sondak said. The University of Michigan Health System Cancer AnswerLine is (800) 865 1125 or visit the Web site at www.cancer.med.umich.edu. Ask for the melanoma clinic. employees by funding research so medical breakthroughs like the Dodrill-GMR can be possible. One patient who benefited from open heart surgery was a 5-year-old girl. Julie Miller's extreme heart defects restricted her from normal physical activity. Dodrill performed open heart surgery in 1961, making her one of the youngest heart lung machine patients at the time.

Before the surgery, I didn't have any recollection of playing outside, bike-riding, just every day activities you'd think of a little kid doing. And after the surgery, the doctors were amazed how quickly I recovered. I had no limitation, said Miller. The success of Dodrill's heart-lung machine started a wave of research and medical advances that continues today. The Dodrill-GMR heart care created the opportunity for advances in cardiac surgery we have witnessed over the past several decades, including bypass of narrowed coronary arteries, repair or replacement of damaged heart valves, and repair of congenital heart defects, said Dr. Robert Bonow, president of the American Heart Association. Although new technologies continue to be developed to correct heart problems, heart-lung machines are a mainstay for cardiac surgeons. With very high rates of survival and success, open heart surgery is one of the most commonly performed operations in the United States.

Researchers find red flag for lethal prostate cancer

High levels of activity in a gene called EZH2 could be a warning sign of metastatic prostate cancer, according to scientists at the University of Michigan's Comprehensive Cancer Center.

In an article published in the October issue of Nature, U-M scientist Dr. Arul M. Chinnaiyan and his research team used advanced DNA microarray technology to show that EZH2 expression was at "the top of the list" of 55 genes found to be more active in metastatic prostate cancer than in localized prostate cancer. This is the first study linking EZH2 to solid tumors, Chinnaiyan wrote.

When the EZH2 gene is active, the cell uses its coded instructions to produce EZH2 protein. U-M scientists believe a future diagnostic test for high levels of this protein could serve as a red flag for physicians and help save the lives of men with the most dangerous form of the disease.

"We found the greatest EZH2 overexpression in metastatic prostate cancer tissue. At this point, it's unclear whether the gene plays a role in cancer's development or is simply an indicator of lethal progression," said Chinnaiyan, an assistant professor of pathology and urology in the U-M Medical School.

If additional research and human clinical trials confirm the U-M results, a test for EZH2 protein could, for the first time, allow physicians to identify accurately those men who need immediate, aggressive treatment to prevent the cancer from spreading outside the prostate. Once prostate cancer metastasizes (spreads to other organs), it is usually incurable.

"Over the past 50 years, there has been no significant improvement in clinical outcome for men diagnosed with advanced prostate cancer and no way to tell ahead of time which cancers will spread and which cancers will remain localized," said Dr. Mark A. Rubin, a former U-M faculty member who is now an associate professor of pathology at Brigham and Women's Hospital. "It is exciting to think that we may have finally found something to help the 30,000 men who die every year from metastatic prostate cancer."

was the use of a new technique called RNA interference to inhibit production of EZH2 protein in cancer cells. RNA is the messenger molecule that copies DNA's genetic instructions and delivers them to the cell's protein-production factory. In 2001, scientists discovered that short sequences of RNA could be used to shut down the activity of specific genes in mammalian cells.

"We ordered RNA nucleotides specifically targeted for the EZH2 gene and tested them on two different prostate cancer cell lines. The first thing we noticed is the cells stopped growing. After 120 hours, 80-90 percent of the cultured cells containing the RNA nucleotides targeted for EZH2 had stopped dividing. When cells can't divide and grow, they die. This suggests that EZH2 could play an important role in the progression of prostate cancer."

Chinnaiyan and Rubin hope to discover exactly how the EZH2 gene regulates cell division and whether EZH2-targeted RNA interference will have the same effect on cancer cells in living animals.

Rubin and Chinnaiyan emphasized it is unlikely there will be just one biomarker for prostate cancer. In previous research published in the April issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, they described another protein called AMACR, which is overexpressed in several types of cancer. Used in combination with screening tests for AMACR and other biomarkers, they believe a test for EZH2 could help physicians diagnose cases of prostate cancer earlier and determine the most effective and least invasive treatment for each patient.

Research on the genetic and molecular profile of prostate cancer is part of a major initiative under way in the U-M's Comprehensive Cancer Center. Its goal is to link molecular genetics and clinical outcome for all types of cancer.

This research was supported by the National Cancer Institute, CaPCURE and the U-M Prostate Specialized Program of Research Excellence, directed by Dr. Kenneth Pienta, a study co-author and professor of internal medicine and surgery in the U-M Medical School. The U-M has applied for a patent on prostate cancer gene expression profiles for future diagnostic and therapeutic use.

More flu shots available

This season, don't let the flu get you again - get immunized at one of Michigan Visiting Nurses' (MVN) fall immunization clinics in your local community. This year, unlike last, more vaccine will be available.

Clinics will be held November through December and are open to the general public, 18 years and older. Flu shots for children 12 years and older, who are accompanied by a parent or guardian, will also be available at select sites. Flu shots are $17 each. MVN will bill for those with Medicare - Part B (who are not part of an HMO).

In addition, businesses may contact MVN online at www.umvn.com to schedule an on-site flu immunization clinic for their employees.

New colorectal screening may reduce need for colonoscopies

A new DNA-based test that is currently being studied at a small handful of local hospitals may reduce the use of colonoscopies in screening for colon cancer. Sponsored by the Mayo Clinic, preliminary studies indicate this test could be 90 percent accurate in detecting colon cancer and polyps.

The new test, called a multi-target DNA-based assay panel (MTAP), has the potential to catch the cancer at an early stage - and in other areas of the gastrointestinal tract - because it looks for abnormal cells in the stool and blood.

Currently the most effective way to screen for colon cancer is a colonoscopy, a test that is expensive, invasive and not always covered by insurance. Another common screening tool is an occult blood stool test, which checks for blood in the stool. This test is accurate only 25 percent of the time because it looks for blood in the stool, and a tumor would have to be sizable in order for it to bleed and show up in the stool.

MTAP has the potential to catch cancer more accurately, at a much earlier stage and in other areas of the gastrointestinal tract. The concept behind a MTAP is to check stool and blood samples for abnormal DNA. If cancer or polyps exist even at the earliest stage, cancer cells will slough off into the stool. This test will identify those abnormal cells indicating cancer may be present.

"This is truly innovative work," says Dr. Phil Stella, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. "We have the potential to catch cancer at its earliest stages and to possibly reduce the need for colonoscopies."

A clinical study is currently under way to test the effectiveness of MTAP. This study is being done in conjunction with the Mayo Clinic and local hospitals that are members of the Michigan Cancer Research Consortium's Community Clinical Oncology Program (CCOP). Members of the CCOP are St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor (lead site), St. John Hospital and Medical Center of Detroit, St. John Macomb Hospital of Warren, W. Sparrow Hospital Association of Lansing, Genesys Regional Medical Center near Flint, Hurley Medical Center of Flint and Saint Mary's Medical Center of Saginaw. CCOP programs are sponsored by the National Cancer Institute.

In the study, participants will submit stool samples to their local CCOP hospital. The samples are then sent to the Mayo Clinic where they will be tested using both the occult blood stool test and MTAP. Participants will follow up with a colonoscopy and those results will be compared with other tests. Preliminary findings show the MTAP to more accurately identify abnormalities than the occult blood stool test.

One unexpected bonus for study participants is the colonoscopy could come back negative but the MTAP could come back positive, indicating abnormal cells are present elsewhere. While there may be no lesions present in the colon, there could be a lesion higher up in the gastrointestinal tract.

Massage therapy is the manipulation of soft tissue for therapeutic purposes. It can improve circulation, relax tense muscles, calm the nervous system and enhance body awareness.

"The hospital employs a staff of certified massage therapists with credentials that exceed the state of Michigan requirements," said Sarah Gilbert, founder of the Massage Therapy Program and current director of Cancer Services. "Our therapists bring with them a broad range of skills and expertise."

Therapeutic massage at St. Mary Mercy includes such techniques as trigger point therapy, Swedish, deep tissue and reflexology. Prenatal massage is offered for the mother-to-be to help reduce stress as well as prevent varicose veins, swelling in the limbs and to decrease blood pressure. Infant massage and couple's massage classes also are available.

On staff at St. Mary Mercy Hospital are Teresa Doherty and Charles Dougan. Doherty, who is certified through Utah College of Massage Therapy, has special certification in pre-, peri- and post-natal massage therapy. She has a holistic approach to healing, connecting body, mind and spirit through massage.

"I enjoy working with a wide range

Teresa Doherty, massage therapist at St. Mary Mercy Hospital, works with a patient/client

Beaumont issues annual deer hunting alert

Deer hunters, beware! Nearly a million hunters will take to the woods and fields as the rifle season for deer hunting opens in Michigan. The excitement of spotting a deer, combined with strenuous activity and heart-disease risk factors, could place hunters at risk of having a heart attack.

William Beaumont Hospital conducted the first study of its kind to determine whether deer hunters are at elevated risk for heart attack. To test the hypotheses, researchers sent 25 deer hunters into the woods equipped with heart rate monitors. Results determined that just sighting a deer can cause a hunter's heart rate to soar to the peak heart rate achieved during cardiac stress testing.

"The heart rate of some hunters would almost double upon seeing a buck deer, even though they were standing totally still," said exercise physiologist and researcher Susan Haapaniemi of Beaumont's Cardiac Rehabilitation program. Shooting, gutting and dragging a deer pushed hunters' heart rates well above the maximum, she said.

Twenty-one of the 25 hunters who participated in the study had heart rates equal to or higher than 85 percent of their maximum heart rate while merely walking to their blind. "Exceeding the maximum heart rate for a sustained period of time places a hunter with hidden or known heart disease at high risk for heart attack. The hunters were often unaware of what was happening with their hearts during these activities."

Cold weather, bulky hunting equipment, rugged terrain and a hunter's personal lifestyle (smoking, drinking, fitness level) are other factors that may accentuate the cardiac risks of hunting.

Haapaniemi stopped short of recommending that hunters with a history of heart disease avoid deer hunting altogether, but she did recommend some tips:

- Don't drink or smoke the day before hunting

- Don't eat a heavy meal before hunting

- Before participating in a hunt, spend some time raising your fitness level through regular brisk walking or other aerobic exercise

- Never drag a deer if you have heart disease

- If you have high blood pressure, high cholesterol or other risk factors, such as smoking, check with your doctor before hunting

- If you experience any of the warning signs of a heart attack - dizziness, chest pain or heart palpitations - stop what you're doing and get medical help

Researchers find red flag for lethal prostate cancer

High levels of activity in a gene called EZH2 could be a warning sign of metastatic prostate cancer, according to scientists at the University of Michigan's Comprehensive Cancer Center.

In an article published in the October issue of Nature, U-M scientist Dr. Arul M. Chinnaiyan and his research team used advanced DNA microarray technology to show that EZH2 expression was at "the top of the list" of 55 genes found to be more active in metastatic prostate cancer than in localized prostate cancer. This is the first study linking EZH2 to solid tumors, Chinnaiyan wrote.

When the EZH2 gene is active, the cell uses its coded instructions to produce EZH2 protein. U-M scientists believe a future diagnostic test for high levels of this protein could serve as a red flag for physicians and help save the lives of men with the most dangerous form of the disease.

"We found the greatest EZH2 overexpression in metastatic prostate cancer tissue. At this point, it's unclear whether the gene plays a role in cancer's development or is simply an indicator of lethal progression," said Chinnaiyan, an assistant professor of pathology and urology in the U-M Medical School.

If additional research and human clinical trials confirm the U-M results, a test for EZH2 protein could, for the first time, allow physicians to identify accurately those men who need immediate, aggressive treatment to prevent the cancer from spreading outside the prostate. Once prostate cancer metastasizes (spreads to other organs), it is usually incurable.

"Over the past 50 years, there has been no significant improvement in clinical outcome for men diagnosed with advanced prostate cancer and no way to tell ahead of time which cancers will spread and which cancers will remain localized," said Dr. Mark A. Rubin, a former U-M faculty member who is now an associate professor of pathology at Brigham and Women's Hospital. "It is exciting to think that we may have finally found something to help the 30,000 men who die every year from metastatic prostate cancer."

OTHER FINDINGS

Another intriguing finding reported in the Nature paper was the use of a new technique called RNA interference to inhibit production of EZH2 protein in cancer cells. RNA is the messenger molecule that copies DNA's genetic instructions and delivers them to the cell's protein-production factory. In 2001, scientists discovered that short sequences of RNA could be used to shut down the activity of specific genes in mammalian cells.

"We ordered RNA nucleotides specifically targeted for the EZH2 gene and tested them on two different prostate cancer cell lines. The first thing we noticed is the cells stopped growing. After 120 hours, 80-90 percent of the cultured cells containing the RNA nucleotides targeted for EZH2 had stopped dividing. When cells can't divide and grow, they die. This suggests that EZH2 could play an important role in the progression of prostate cancer."

Chinnaiyan and Rubin hope to discover exactly how the EZH2 gene regulates cell division and whether EZH2-targeted RNA interference will have the same effect on cancer cells in living animals.

Rubin and Chinnaiyan emphasized it is unlikely there will be just one biomarker for prostate cancer. In previous research published in the April issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, they described another protein called AMACR, which is overexpressed in several types of cancer. Used in combination with screening tests for AMACR and other biomarkers, they believe a test for EZH2 could help physicians diagnose cases of prostate cancer earlier and determine the most effective and least invasive treatment for each patient.

Research on the genetic and molecular profile of prostate cancer is part of a major initiative under way in the U-M's Comprehensive Cancer Center. Its goal is to link molecular genetics and clinical outcome for all types of cancer.

This research was supported by the National Cancer Institute, CaPCURE and the U-M Prostate Specialized Program of Research Excellence, directed by Dr. Kenneth Pienta, a study co-author and professor of internal medicine and surgery in the U-M Medical School. The U-M has applied for a patent on prostate cancer gene expression profiles for future diagnostic and therapeutic use.

Custom is custom from get-go at Falls of Northville

Gilberto Pietrandrea, owner of Falcon Homes, builds nothing but custom and custom-from-scratch at the Falls of Northville.

The platted community of 39 lots is off Beck between Six and Seven Mile roads in Northville Township.

"It goes from the customer's mouth to the builder's ear with no middleman here. Nothing is lost in the translation," said Dave Mathieu, sales rep.

"One customer here was looking for two years, shopping all around," Pietrandrea said. "They wanted the home they wanted. No one else would do it."

"Here, provided it meets requirements for style and square footage, they can draw any kind of plan they want. They can build their dream house if they wish or kind of step up."

"I'm not interested in having a billion-dollar operation," Pietrandrea said. "I'm a small operator. I don't have the overhead. I want to make a good living and give good value for price."

"We start at around $600,000 and can go to wherever you want to take it," Mathieu said. "The mean (half-above/half-below) will be about $700,000. We're doing complete custom building."

Ranch homes at the Falls of Northville must be at least 3,000 square feet, story-and-a-half a minimum of 3,450 and two story at least 3,800.

Brick and dimensional shingles are standard. No vinyl or aluminum is permitted.

All homes will include a three-car garage, air conditioning, fireplace, separate jet tub and shower in the master, double oven, cooktop, microwave and dishwasher in the kitchen and basement.

Flooring can be ceramic or wood with an additional $5,000 allowance for carpeting. Twelve recessed lights are standard plus a $2,000 allowance for additional light fixtures.

This story-and-a-half of about 4,400 square feet with four bedrooms, three full baths and two half-baths, is an example of what Falcon Homes builds at The Falls of Northville.

Energy-efficient furnaces and water heaters, central vacuuming system, Kohler water fixtures and granite counters in the kitchen and master suite will be installed.

A spec home/model has been constructed, a first-floor master of about 3,450 square feet.

An office with cathedral ceiling and formal dining room with detail ceiling are on either side of the foyer. The great room with volume ceiling and many windows is straight ahead.

A two-way fireplace separates the family room from a hearth room kitchen/nook. The kitchen includes a large walk-in pantry and an island.

The master with pan ceiling contains a pair of walk-in closets and a two-sink vanity.

A guest suite with its own shower is upstairs, as are two other bedrooms which share a Jack-and-Jill bath.

The model as is, including landscaping, carries a price of $711,500.

Other factors including the quality of the Northville public schools, easy freeway access to M-14, the amenities of downtown Northville, Northville Hills Golf Course and Maybury State Park also are expected to draw buyers to the community.

Individual lots average a half-acre in size, and most have walk-out basements.

The Falls of Northville is served by city water, sewers and sidewalks.

The property tax rate is now $30.58 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price for new construction. That means the owners of a $700,000 home there would pay $10,700 the first year.

The annual association fee to maintain common areas hasn't been established but isn't expected to exceed $500, Pietrandrea said.

The sales model/office at the Falls of Northville (248) 348-9150 is open noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday or by appointment through Mathieu at (248) 437-1345.

Clean pans with this method

BY MORRIS AND JAMES CAREY
FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

When you have a dirty frying pan, try this cleaning method

It usually will remove all the black, cruddy buildup from the bottom of a pan or an electric skillet, for that matter

Place the pan or skillet upside-down, inside a plastic garbage bag. Pour ammonia onto the back of the pan but avoid getting ammonia on the cooking surface side.

Lay an absorbent cloth over the ammonia and then add more ammonia until the rag is saturated. Close the plastic bag, making an airtight seal.

Let the pan soak overnight, or for at least eight hours.

Remove the pan from the bag and rinse it off in hot water.

Use a steel wool scrubbing pad to eliminate extra-tough spots.

Versatile ranch design has many appealing features

The Tyndal is a quaint, cottage-style ranch that would be ideal as a vacation, retirement or starter home.

The house has nearly 1,700 square feet of living space with an optional unfinished basement.

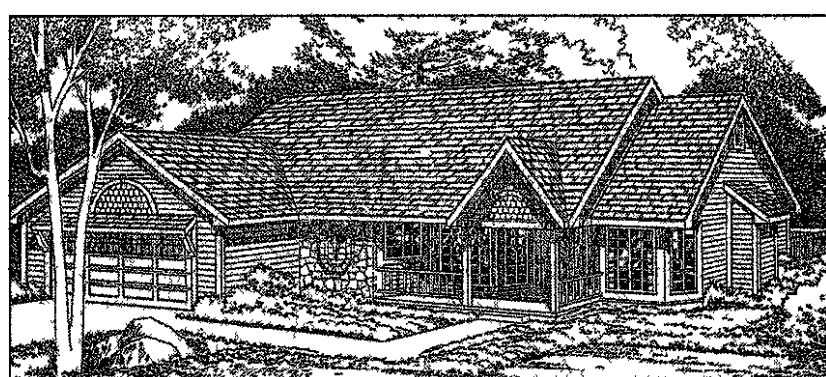

Angled windows and the covered porch provide an unusual facade. The garage has an overhanging roof. Wood-and-rock on the exterior further contributes to eye appeal. The entry acts as a foyer.

The dining room, with decor ceiling and a number of windows, is to the right.

The nook and kitchen, hidden behind a wall, are to the left. The C-shaped kitchen faces the front of the home and is open. A built-in desk and pantry run along the staircase wall. Doors open into the two-car garage and the laundry.

The center of the home is dedicated to a long, vaulted living room with a fireplace on the rear wall surrounded by windows and a door to a deck.

The master suite, also with decor ceiling, is to the right of the living room. Sliding doors here also provide access to the rear deck.

A skylight between the walk-in closet and private shower/toilet area brightens the master bath, which contains a two-sink vanity.

Two other bedrooms and a full bath are on the other side of the living room.

This house is versatile depending on the needs of the homeowner.

For example, retirees could convert one of the secondary bedrooms into a project/ craft/ sewing room and use the other as a guest suite.

2003 Grand AM is a great value

Advertising Feature CAReport

Anne Fracassa

BY ANNE FRACASSA
AVANTI NEWS FEATURES

There's a lot to be said about compact cars. For one thing, the mileage you get on these puppies is phenomenal. Second thing, compact doesn't really mean compact anymore.

Spending the week in the 2003 Pontiac Grand AM SE2 was a lot of fun. Not only because of the nimble handling and strong performance of its V6 engine, but also because it was actually fun to drive around my community.

Then I took it for a jaunt Up North. Just to the north of the middle of Michigan's mitten. Big lake town. And it cost me nine bucks, round trip. If that doesn't sound phenomenal to you, then try taking a GMC Yukon up there for the weekend. You'll spend more like $55 round trip.

One thing I've got to get out of my system right now is the beautiful exterior of the Grand Am. It's a classic Pontiac, the unique "cat's eye" headlamps, the distinctive, familiar twin-port grille, bold, stainless steel exhaust ports and twin-post sport mirrors.

All that makes the Grand Am a true Pontiac with a heritage that's steeped in excitement and the fun-to-drive attributes. Pontiac freshened the Grand Am's exterior this year and got rid of the bodyside cladding and smoothed the front and rear of the vehicle.

It's also equipped to the max. There's more power, more standard equipment and more available options on the SE2 for 2003. That's better for you, no?

Let's start with the performance issues. Powered by a 3.4-liter (3400) V6 engine with sequential fuel injection, the Grand Am SE2 delivers 170 horsepower. The engine is mated to an electronically controlled four-speed automatic transmission.

Standard engine on all Grand Ams is a 2.2-liter dual overhead cam engine that nets 140 horses. There are different versions include the SE sedan, GT coupe and GT sedan.

Back to the SE. Standard equipment includes some snappy 15-inch twin five-spoke aluminum wheels and blackwall tires. That only adds to the sporty features on the Grand Am. Other standard equipment includes air conditioning, a center console with integral arm rest, cruise control, programmable power door locks with keyless entry, leather-wrapped steering wheel with stereo controls, power windows and mirrors, 6-way driver's seat, uplevel seating with map pockets, illuminated entry, split folding rear seat, rear heat ducts and tilt steering wheel.

2003 PONTIAC GRAND AM SE2 | Vehicle class: Compact Sedan; Power: 3400 V-6 engine, Mileage: 20 city mpg city / 29 highway, Where built: Lansing, Mich.; Price as tested: $23,295

All that and more for a base price of $20,790. The base-level of Grand Am-the SE sedan starts with a price of $17,640. Not bad.

The Grand Am SE2 driven had, as an option of course, the "solid value appearance package." It costs $2,345, but adds a great nest of stuff that makes the Grand Am more appealing.

I'm talking about 16-inch cast aluminum wheels with 16-inch tires, a Monsoon eight-speaker sound system that includes a CD player and cassette, power sunroof and leather seats.

The SE2 also has a rear deck spoiler on it, which just completes the picture. All in all, the SE2 we tested came out the door, including destination price, for just a hair over $23,000.

As you know, I hardly ever talk about the stereo systems in the cars and trucks I test. I don't think it's a selling point because most who REALLY care, take it to a shop for further enhancements or replacements.

But this was the first time I was treated to that new-fangled XM satellite radio system. Now this is cool stuff, folks. You can get more than 100 channels of coast-to-coast digital sound. Everything from Disney to Fox Sports to CNN. Right on your radio.

From country to classical to blues to talk to opera to children's programming, it's all there at your fingertips. And get this—more than half of them are commercial-free. Yep, I said commercial-free.

This could almost make a daily commute to the city enjoyable again.

Inside the Grand Am, the cockpit has everything logically placed and within easy reach of the driver. Instrumentation is logical (the tach is really neat) and night instrumentation illumination is unsurpassed and truly Pontiac's finest.

Seating for the driver is comfortable, as it was for the front passenger, but rear seating is a bit tight for an adult. Kids can fit back there fine, though.

The Grand Am is fun-to-drive, easy on your wallet with fuel costs and may provide a little excitement to your everyday life. Check it out. Oh, and it's a good value for your dollar, to boot.
