Nearly 300 Discovery Middle School eighth-graders received a slice of Civil War era life as re-enactors showed students what it was like to fire a Civil War-era gun and cannon, how to cook on a campfire, medical procedures to help the injured, and, what people in the 1860s did for fun.

Christy Van Esley loves to sing. "Ever since I could talk I'd sing Twinkle Twinkle Little Star and the alphabet song," said Van Esley, who noted her biggest claim to fame was singing with the Plymouth Community Arts Council's Whistle Stop Players. "I just love to sing." The 12-year-old from Plymouth will get her biggest chance to date on July 4. She's been chosen to sing the Star Spangled Banner to begin the Good Morning USA Parade at Main Street and Penniman in downtown Plymouth. "It's a dream come true," said Van Esley. "I've always wanted to sing in front of a crowd." Van Esley will need to wake up her singing voice early for the parade, which at 7:30 a.m. is billed as Michigan's earliest Fourth of July festivity. The Good Morning USA parade will also feature teen singing sensation Sarah Lenore Wiercioch of Plymouth. Wiercioch, who goes by the name Sarah Lenore, will be on a float. PLEASE SEE PARADE, A4

Cops look at vandalism as potential hate crime

Emerald is the daughter of LaFave's son, who is white, and an African-American woman. LaFave has had legal custody of her biracial granddaughter for some five years, since the child was 22 months old. LaFave intervened in an Ohio courtroom when Ohio courts were going

State panel to decide fate of plan to transfer hospital beds

Bob Feldman, a 77-year-old retiree from West Bloomfield, loves his Henry Ford surgeon. So much so that he defies rush-hour traffic to drive to downtown Detroit to see him. "I go there because he spends time with me, answers all my questions," Feldman said. "I have all the confidence in the world for them." Having the ability to see his doctor in West Bloomfield, especially if he ever needs in-patient care again, "would be the best," Feldman said. Since 1980, 23 hospitals have closed in the city of Detroit, an average of one a year. During that time, as the populations of Detroit and Wayne County have been falling, people have been moving to Oakland County. Hospital battle centers on capacity, money

Patricia Mesquita was closer to a hospital in her native Jamaica than she is now, living in West Bloomfield. With a complicated first pregnancy, Mesquita, 32, endured two trips in labor — one at seven months, when she was sent home, and another in October, when her baby was born — from her home to Henry Ford Hospital in downtown Detroit.

"It was very painful," she said. "Suppose I have the baby in the car. But I wanted to be with Dr. (Richard) Smith because he's such a good guy." Henry Ford Hospital operates a freestanding, 24-hour clinic with operating rooms in West Bloomfield. But it's never been granted permission by the state Certificate of Need Commission to add in-patient beds. So Mesquita couldn't deliver her. PLEASE SEE BATTLE, A6

BATHEY AUCTION

BMC Corp plans on having an auction of machinery and other equipment at its former manufacturing facility on Mill Street in Plymouth

The auction, being handled by the Bank of Birmingham, is set to begin at 9 a.m. Wednesday. Items to be auctioned include presses, fabricating, welding and paint equipment, as well as metal-working and machine tools.

There may be a glitch in the auction. Plymouth City Manager Paul Sincock said no one has yet signed a rental agreement to use the property, which is owned by the city.

The city took ownership after BMC Corp failed to pay nearly $3 million in taxes, interest and penalties over the past 20 years.

"If there is no rental agreement, there won't be an auction," vowed Sincock.

Township crime takes a dip

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

There are good trends (a rise in patriotism) and bad trends (disco music).

Plymouth Township found itself following one of the best trends in 2002, at least from the perspective of police Chief Tom Tiderrington.

Part-one crimes — which include more serious crimes like murder, rape, burglary, assault, arson, larceny, auto theft and robbery — continued a five-year trend downward last year, with 412 such instances reported.

Tiderrington revealed the statistics in a report he gave to the Plymouth Township board Tuesday night. Statistics for those eight crimes have dropped from 661 in 1998.

"There has been a five-year trend in reduction in crime, most notably in the last couple of years," Tiderrington told board members. "It's a pretty significant reduction."

Only three of the eight crimes in the category went up. Robberies went up from six to seven, burglaries were up to 67 from 64, and two arsons were recorded, one more than the previous year.

By contrast, assaults dropped nearly 50 percent, from 304 in 2001 to 187 last year. Larcenies fell from 462 to 278, and auto thefts dropped to 36 after 69 were recorded in 2001.

"This community is seeing what they're seeing nationwide, and that is a reduction in crime," Tiderrington said.

The chief also took a few minutes to expound on some of the things the department accomplished, such as in-car cameras, the community watch broadcast system and school safety programs.

The department also made 20 pre-school safety presentations, had 18 tours of the department, and got 20 students into the department's Teen Academy. Another 25 students took part in the second Citizens Academy.

BEVY OF ARRESTS

While crime as a whole may be down in the township, arrests were at a high level during the Memorial Day weekend.

Township police made nearly 30 arrests between Friday evening and Memorial Day morning, according to Sgt. Bob Antal. Most of the arrests were made — as is frequently the case, according to Antal — after routine traffic stops.

One of those stops, though, wasn't quite as routine as others. Police stopped one woman and, when they ran her name through their computer, discovered she was wanted on a warrant out of Indiana for bank robbery.

The woman was taken into custody, transferred to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, then extradited to Indiana.

The arrests also included one felony drunk driving incident, several other lesser drinking and driving incidences, and other various warrant arrests.

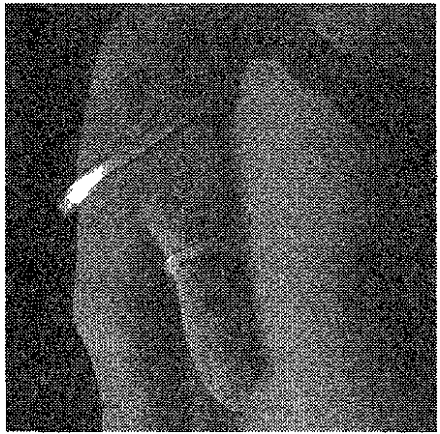

"There was a lot of traffic, and that's where we make a lot of our arrests," Antal said. "It was a long weekend, and somewhat of a nice weekend, so there were a lot more drivers out."

Antal said a lot of law enforcement agencies concentrated on special details over the holiday, but Plymouth Township wasn't one of them.

"It was just a matter of our officers out there doing the work," Antal said.

At Contours Express you will be trained to lift weight at your individual level with a SLOW CONTROLLED MOVEMENT. Strength training programs that utilize fast jerky movements can cause potential injury to your joints and bones.

Q. I am a beginner. I don't think I am ready for weight training.

A. The Contours Express program is designed for women of all fitness levels. That's the benefit of Contours Express — as your fitness level increases you can move the weight up so your muscles and bones continue to benefit!

Q. I don't want to build muscle. I want to lose fat.

A. This is a misconception of weight training and should not be a fear. It is very hard for women to build large bulky muscle. The truth is the more muscle you build the stronger your bones will be and the more fat you will burn!

Absentee ballots run 'on par'

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton Schools elections clerk Elizabeth Adams said absentee balloting for the June 9 school board elections is about on par with last year.

Adams said she's sent out approximately 800 absentee ballots to voters in the district. Absentee ballots can still be obtained at the E J McClendon Educational Center, 454 S Harvey, or by calling Adams at (734) 416-3095.

Voters can turn in ballots, or vote absentee, on Saturday, June 7. Adams' office will be open from 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. Absentee ballots must be turned in by 8 p.m. Monday, when voting ends.

Vying for the two four-year seats on the Board of Education are incumbent Mark Slavens, Richard Ham-Kucharski, Roy McCutcheon and Roland Thomas.

According to Adams, none of the candidates has a perfect school election voting record. Thomas has been registered in the district since 1978, and has voted in every school board election except one.

Slavens has missed four school board elections since being registered in 1987.

Ham-Kucharski, who registered in 1994, has failed to vote in three elections.

And McCutcheon, a registered voter since 1998, voted only in the 2002 school board election.

Dartmoor brings a taste of England

Plymouth's newest restaurant spreads country inn flavor

KIM KOVELLE
STAFF WRITER

When Michael Michaud decided to open a restaurant in the heart of downtown Plymouth, his inspiration was the atmosphere and artistry of rugged Devon, England.

'In spirit we are an English country inn,' explained Michaud from his perch near a rustic wooden fireplace in the intimate corner area of his new eatery. 'At least in the rural part of Devon, when you go to local restaurants like this, you have to cater to the needs of the community, (whether) a romantic dinner, a celebration or a quick lunch. We want to treat people as guests in our home.'

Michael Michaud, restaurant owner, said the restaurant is a celebration of a quick lunch. 'We want to treat people as guests in our home.'

After eight months of renovating the former Dinersty at 447 Forest Ave., Michaud's vision, named for a stark, beautiful National Park in England, is nearly complete.

Opening its doors on May 11, Mother's Day, The Dartmoor enchanted guests with earth-toned, "Victorian" colors exuding from rich hunter green walls with carved walnut wood paneling. Tables currently are dotted with fresh golden daisies, though carnations, lilies and other flora also take turns.

Artwork for the walls is coming, but the process will take time. 'We want original artwork from the area, from local artists as well as things that are unique to Devon, England,' said Michaud, himself a painter with a computer science background whose family hails from Bath, England. 'We're not the kind of place that (would) just throw hockey jerseys on the wall.'

Certainly, especially when you consider that the walnut woodwork was done on-site in an under-renovation upper level that Michaud soon hopes to make into a private dining area.

'At least in the rural part of Devon, when you go to local restaurants like this, you have to cater to the needs of the community ... We want to treat people as guests in our home.'

Michael Michaud, restaurant owner

It's that kind of meticulous attention to detail that makes The Dartmoor a unique addition to the city's dining landscape, particularly in its menu, which ranges from New York Strip Oscar to Pan Seared Whitefish Parmesan.

Standing out are the cuisine creators themselves, all of whom are certified chefs or culinary students.

Leading the kitchen staff is Executive Sous Chef Kamel Sherrod, who teamed with Michaud in a shared focus on combining elements for an artistic presentation.

'We do a lot of English food with a lot of American influence,' said Sherrod, a graduate of the premier four-year Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y. Having helped open other restaurants including the Sweet Georgia Brown, the Rattlesnake Club and Opus One, all in Detroit, Sherrod has extensive experience in giving his signature fried lobster tails and other dishes a "more gourmet look."

'We're kind of casual dining with an upscale cuisine, (and) we are very much into the artistry of the food,' explained Michaud.

And, since the kitchen is comprised of professionals, he added, "We don't have a corporate play book. You're going to see a lot more unconventional cuisine on the menu. We encourage people to come in and give us ideas."

In accordance with the principle of providing for the community's needs, the eatery offers various moods, according to Michaud.

For instance, on Sunday mornings, visitors can select their brunches from omelet stations. Or, on Fridays and Saturdays, night-lifers can enjoy The Dartmoor's "After Hours Appetizers" such as the Girl's Night Out, a chilled large Gulf Shrimp arrangement, or Boys will Be Boys, which includes grilled Choice Game Sausage.

The menu includes salads and pastas as well as practical plates for kids, approved by Michaud's own two children. With a full bar featuring an extensive wine-list-in-progress and a flat screen television, The Dartmoor switches over to a pub from 10 a.m. - midnight Fridays and Saturdays.

And there are plans for many more details, from an original tin ceiling to a possible Victorian garden with outdoor seating.

"Chef and I are here 60 hours per week," said Michaud. "We really want to be a restaurant that's unique, just as Plymouth is unique."

Gazing around, the owner added, "It's going to be amazing when it's done." The Dartmoor is open on Sunday for brunch from 11 a.m. - 5 p.m., closed on Monday for training and open Tuesday-Thursday from 11 a.m. - 10 p.m. and Friday-Saturday from 11 a.m. - 12 a.m. For more information call 734 455 4212 or visit www.thedartmoor.com.

would be a great disservice to our school district and school system (to cut the writing lab)"

Kivell, who next year will be attending Central Michigan University's Honors College, admitted math wasn't her best subject throughout high school "I would have been far worse than I am now (without math lab)," she said Brian Read, an English teacher at The Park for 12 years, said with the increasing class sizes, now isn't the time to cut the additional help for students

"This is the time, more than ever, that we need some kind of resource to help these students," said Read, "because teachers cannot give that kind of one-on-one help (in the classroom)"

Senior Carly Kaloustian of

Canton Township told the school board students collected 519 signatures in one day in support of the writing lab

The Board of Education has been leaning toward saving the math and writing labs in some form or another the past several weeks

"I still feel there are some other areas to look to cut," said Trustee Judy Mardigian I don't want to reduce writing and math labs If it's a matter of someone in curriculum (administration) and someone who is one-on-one with students

School board members left it up to Ryan to come up with a plan on keeping the labs It didn't take him long After the meeting Ryan decided to put the issue to rest by restoring the programs while attempting to find, somewhere, the money to hire back the equivalent of nearly four full-time teachers for the labs and other teacher

advisory positions at the high school park

The board gave a clear message to the central administration to look at returning the math and writing labs in their present form, said Ryan "We'll go and find another way to find other reductions that will equal another $200,000"

Ryan appears to have found it difficult, at times, to make budget cuts in the face of those who complain to the school board, which then restates the recommended cuts, forcing the administration to dig deeper to balance the deficit budget

"When someone comes to the microphone and makes a legitimate point my heart bleeds, too," said Ryan "We're trying to come up with the best recommendations that we can"

"It's difficult to be caught in the crossfire," he said

I've always wanted to be in the parade," said Wiercioch, "with all the red, white and blue I don't usually get to sing in my hometown And, I've never sung on a moving float before"

Wiercioch, at age 14, is well-known throughout the area, having sung at the opening of Ford Field, at a Detroit Lions home game, and in New York City on the Carohne Rhea Show

The theme for this year's parade is Land of the Pilgrim's Pride Organizer Fred Hill said the popularity of the Plymouth Fourth of July parade has grown every year since it began seven years ago

"There's been such an enormous growth in attendance," said Hill

It's been rewarding for everybody who's been involved People call us, now, to be in the parade"

Hill said he hears the most comments about the bands that play along the route

Like Mark Randisi and the Sounds of Sinatra, Al Arturo and the Motown Sound, and Steve King and the Dittiles, who have been here the past five or six years, he said

Those guys are out playing in their bands until 2 a.m., and then they still get up to be involved in the parade So, you've got to know they love it

The parade is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth Hill said it takes more than 150 volunteers on parade day to make the event a success, along with the sponsors that help pick up the $30,000 price tag

For the second year, Hill is looking for participants to carry flags in the parade Last year, 64 people paid $29 for a flag and the opportunity to march

This year, Hill is hoping to get 100 flag bearers

"Last year, they started singing the Pledge of Allegiance as they marched," said Hill

"It was so cool It was goose bumpy"

"We had a couple of guys from the Briefcase Drill Team that helped them out before hand," said Hill, who also organizes and marches with that group in the parade

One former member of Hill's renown drill team Dick Raison

of Plymouth Township, was one of those carrying a flag

I thought it was a great idea, and I'm hoping to get some of my neighbors to go along this year," said Raison

I think it's a good opportunity to display love for your country on an especially patriotic day

Hill said he'd like to see more people participate in the Good Morning USA parade

I always thought it would be nice to have more floats in the parade," said Hill

I think if neighborhood groups, church groups, or youth groups have any interest, they should give a call and we'll help them with an idea or finding materials"

As with each year of the parade, Hill is selling Bleacher Creature seats at Main and Penniman for $10, which includes a front row seat and various patriotic-oriented items such as flags, buttons and hats

Anyone wanting to march with a flag in the parade can contact Cindy at (734) 416-9650 Those wanting Bleacher Creature seats or who want to inquire about placing a float in the parade can contact Hill at (734) 459-3733

HOSPITAL SERVICE AREAS

Health care facilities serving Oakland and western Wayne counties

That means many residents — and ambulances — must travel considerable distances when in-patient hospital care is required. It also means patients may have to face unfamiliar doctors when an emergency forces a hospital admission.

Richard Clark, the mayor of Novi, knows the problem all too well. He tells the story of a friend who lives in South Lyon, in the southwest corner of Oakland County. The friend has serious health problems and has taken an ambulance ride more than once.

"The last time it took the ambulance 50 minutes because he hit rush-hour traffic," Clark said. "He made it, but barely. Next time he may not be so lucky. Time is critical when you have a medical emergency. Minutes translate into lives."

STATE LAW MAY HELP

Proposals to relocate existing hospital beds to western Oakland County are at the heart of a debate going on in Lansing this month. Recent revisions to state law offer a tantalizing, one-time opportunity to shift some beds without going through a procedure that's been in place for three decades.

Since 1972, a state Certificate of Need Commission has held sole authority to decide whether hospital beds can be added or moved. But late last year, the Legislature created an exemption which allows hospitals in cities with a population of 750,000 or more to transfer a limited number of beds to freestanding facilities they own in other communities. Those facilities must already provide 24-hour emergency care and at least four specific clinical services in order to qualify.

Previously, such transfers required a certificate of need from the CON Commission. Under the revisions, seven members of the commission must find that the transfers may cause great harm and detriment to the access and delivery of health care to the public before June 15 or else the transfers can be made without going through the CON process.

Henry Ford and St. John hospitals both hope to transfer the maximum number of beds allowed under the new law. Henry Ford wants to move unused beds in Detroit to West Bloomfield. St. John wants to transfer unneeded beds at Providence Hospital in Southfield to Novi.

The two hospitals argue that not only will the transfers provide better services to residents of western Oakland County, they will help ease the financial crisis they face in Detroit, where fully half the patients are uninsured or underinsured.

Opponents of the revised law, including Beaumont Hospitals, North Oakland Medical Centers in Pontiac and Trinity Health, say the CON law was working just fine as it was. They say new beds aren't needed in Oakland County, where plenty of beds are currently empty, and adding new beds will drive up health care costs for everyone.

They also say the profits that could be realized by the new beds are too small to solve the financial problems in Detroit and will only drain money away from existing Oakland County hospitals, which will then have to cut services.

The same situation exists in Novi, where Providence Hospital, which is owned by St. John, has a freestanding clinic. But for in-patient admissions, the closest hospital in the system is in Southfield, in an aging facility in need of costly renovation. Both hospital groups say they would like to move unused beds from their existing hospitals to these facilities in western Oakland County. Not only would patient access be enhanced, they argue, but the increase in paying clients would allow them to stay in Detroit and better serve the region's neediest residents.

SLIM OPERATING MARGINS

According to testimony at a hearing Wednesday before the state Certificate of Need Commission in Lansing, hospitals can, at best, hope to operate on about a 2.5-percent margin. It's not uncommon for income from one facility to be used to offset losses at another. In Detroit, half of all patients are underinsured or uninsured. In the suburbs, most patients have private health insurance.

"We've paid a high price for our commitment to stay in the city of Detroit," said Bob Riney, Henry Ford senior vice president. While others have left, citing staggering losses, a few have remained to continue to care for those in need, racking up losses in the range of $100 million per year per hospital group in uncompensated care. One company, Trinity Health, closed Detroit Mercy Hospital for just that reason. "We are sympathetic to the plight of health-care providers in Detroit," said Michael

PAUL HURSCHMANN | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Vin Sahney, senior vice president for planning and strategic development for Henry Ford Health System, says the company can't renovate its 75-year-old Detroit facility and therefore would rather build new beds in the suburbs than downtown, where they're not needed.

Slubowski, executive vice president of Trinity. "We advocate for changes in policy. However, building new beds will not provide a return on the investment to compensate for uncompensated care." Hospitals opposed to moving beds to western Oakland County argue there is a cost that is passed on to all consumers, whether it's the price of construction or a loss of services at existing hospitals. "The war is over a limited number of patients," Slubowski said. CON Commissioner Norma Hagenow, however, found that argument to be about profits, not patient care. "You're now back into the black by being in suburbia," she told Slubowski. "As other hospitals try to level the playing field, they will do the same thing."

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

In today's health-care market, pricing and access to services are controlled by insurance companies and government — those who pay the bills. There's little compensation for the cost of capital improvements. Still, during a full day of testimony there was considerable disagreement as to whether more hospital beds translates automatically to increased demand and, therefore, higher health-care costs. "There's an old argument that supply begets demand," said Elliott Joseph, speaking for St. John. "That argument was made when a lot of us were admitted to hospitals because we didn't feel good. The world has dramatically changed since that argument was made."

Representatives of business and labor disagreed. "Someone is going to have to pay for the expansion of hospital capacity," said Tom Smith, director of health care for Troy-based Delphi Corp., the world's largest automotive supplier. Just like in the auto industry, he said, "excess capacity is very, very costly."

Smith argued that no new beds are needed in Oakland County because too many beds are already going unused. "Unless you need more beds somewhere, why would you add new beds?" he asked. "Whether you add them or you move them, there's really no need."

DEADLINE APPROACHES

Whichever way the CON Commission votes June 10 (and due to constitutional questions regarding the revised law, the commission may decide not to vote at all), legal challenges are expected, both by those who want to expand and those who want to see the original CON process preserved. "Beaumont strongly supports the CON program that applies to all hospitals," said Patrick O'Donovan, director of planning for Beaumont Hospitals. "Allowing hospitals to sidestep the process even once sets a bad precedent and severely weakens the CON process."

"CON planning for beds can work and has worked." "There may be people who will file lawsuits," said Assistant Attorney General Ron Styka, legal advisor to the CON Commission, who has rendered an informal opinion that some of the revisions are, in fact, unconstitutional. "Ultimately the Michigan courts and Supreme Court will decide what it says."

Physical Therapy UPDATE
 Hands On Center
 Presented by Hands On Center For Physical Therapy
RECOVERING FROM ANKLE INJURY
 There are a number of strengthening exercises that are designed to help patients who are recovering from ankle injuries. Among them is the "ankle alphabet" exercise which calls for the patient to sit on a chair with one foot flat on the floor. The other raised foot is then used to trace the letters of the alphabet using the big toe as the pencil. There is also a balance exercise that calls for the patient to stand within reach of a wall. Then while bending one knee one foot is lifted off the floor and balance is maintained with the other (straight) leg. These exercises along with toe raises and push outs help in the recovery from an ankle injury. Because ankles and knees must support so much more than one's weight during rigorous exercise they tend to take a beating if one is not careful. At HANDS ON CENTER OF PHYSICAL THERAPY it is our goal to not only assist you in recovery when you are injured but to take the time to educate you about your condition enabling you to prevent future injury. We use many different modes of treatment to complement our manual therapy such as ultrasound, hot packs, cold packs and EMS (electrical muscle stimulation). Call 455-8370 to set up an appointment to speak to professional located in downtown Plymouth at 650 South Main Street. We offer easy access and easy parking.
 PS As do from regaining strength flexibility and balance are two other elements of recovering from an ankle injury.

CON commission has broad powers

The Michigan Certificate of Need program was established in 1972 to balance cost, quality and access issues so that only needed health care services and facilities are developed in the state.

A commission was established in 1988 and became part of the new Department of Community Health in 1996. The current commission has 11 members appointed by the governor.

The CON program covers the increasing or relocating of hospital beds from one site to another, acquisition of an existing health facility, operations of a new health facility and the implementation, replacement or expansion of clinical services.

In addition, capital expenditures also require a CON. The CON Commission has approved certificates of need and reviewed standards for ambulances, computed tomography scanners, magnetic resonance imaging, radiation therapy, open heart surgery, PET scanners and transplantation services as well as hospital beds.

A health facility is defined as a hospital, psychiatric hospital or unit, a nursing home, a free-standing surgical outpatient facility or an HMO (for limited projects).

In late 2002, the state

Legislature approved a law exempting the Detroit Medical Center, Henry Ford Health System and St. John Health from CON compliance. The law was approved after the two health systems had failed on several attempts to win CON commission support for moving beds out to suburban sites in West Bloomfield and Novi.

The law provided that the exemption would be withdrawn if a seven-member majority of the 11-member commission decides that the exemption will harm access to health care. The commission is next scheduled to meet June 10 to discuss and possibly vote on the matter.

homeowner and some of her neighbors thinking it was a hate crime.

"I didn't see it happen, so I don't know 100 percent that it's a hate crime," said LaFave. "I might be a target because she's biracial."

What LaFave does know is that she had company Saturday night, and the last of her company left around 10:30 p.m. LaFave noticed nothing unusual at that point. She went back into her house and fell asleep on the couch, then found the graffiti the next morning.

LaFave said that, if the attack was racially motivated, the timing was odd. LaFave has lived in the house since 1989, and Emerald has lived there with her for five years. LaFave said there's never been any indication of any problems.

"They see (Emerald) riding her bike up and down, they see me working out in the yard," LaFave said. "I've never had a racially motivated problem with any of my neighbors."

Plymouth Township police are investigating the incident as a potential hate crime, although some of the markings are somewhat odd for that kind of investigation.

"We're looking at it as a potential hate crime, and we're in touch with the FBI," said police Chief Tom Tiderington. "(But) there are some markings and words on (LaFave's) home and car that are unusual in most instances of hate crime investigations."

LaFave also wouldn't rule out personal, less racially motivated, reasons for the attack, such as problems with the custody arrangement.

"It's the same answer. I don't know 100 percent for sure," LaFave said. "But even if it is (related to the custody), at least it still makes the community more aware."

Whatever the reason for the attack, LaFave was impressed by the response of her neighbors. One neighbor showed up to help paint over the graffiti even before police had the chance to investigate. One 18-year-old offered to buy the paint and do the painting.

And the Maaco shop on 5 Mile in Redford, after a phone call from LaFave's nephew, removed the graffiti from her car.

"The community response has been fantastic," LaFave said. "They're outraged."

LaFave is hoping that community response will translate into tips from anyone who may have seen the people who scarred her home. And if those people are found, LaFave wants them prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, regardless of age or any other factors.

"If it's a 12- or 13-year-old kid, I don't care," LaFave said. "I'm prosecuting. If he did the crime, he can do the time."

If it was a hate crime, LaFave vows the vandals won't succeed.

"I'm not hiding behind bars," LaFave said. "If it's directly related to a hate crime, they're not going to move me."

Anyone with information about the incident can call Plymouth Township Detective Mark Hoffman at (734) 453-3869.

County warns about West Nile test kits

Urging 'buyer beware,' Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano said Monday that consumers should be on the alert for sales pitches for any new home test kits that promise to detect West Nile Virus infections.

"We had one of the new home test kits evaluated by medical experts, and our suggestion is that people save their money," said Ficano. "In our opinion, it's not worth buying."

This conclusion is based on the discovery of the county's Public Health Department that results are often inaccurate.

"For these kinds of tests, the false 'positive' rate can be as high as 90 percent," said Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, the medical director of the department. "The consequences could be enormous."

A West Nile Virus home test kit is being marketed in the U.S. by a Canadian firm, Medical Services International. However, the kit is not for sale in Canada.

Ficano emphasized that the best approach during mosquito season is to take steps to prevent mosquito bites in the first place. A person can get West Nile Virus from being bitten by a mosquito infected with WNV. In rare cases, infections have occurred from breast-feeding, blood transfusion, and organ transplant.

To date, Wayne County has no confirmed cases of West Nile Virus in animals or humans. On May 7, the state reported the first confirmed Michigan case of the virus in a dead crow in Adrian, located in Lenawee County.

Wayne County officials have issued prevention tips for mosquito bites and West Nile Virus.

■ Empty all sources of standing water such as birdbaths and old tires. Also, turn over buckets, flower pots, wading pools and toys where water can collect.

■ Check window and door screens for tears or holes. Close all gaps and cracks in the screens.

■ As much as possible, stay inside when mosquito activity is heavy - dawn, dusk, and early evening.

■ Whenever possible, wear long sleeves and long pants.

■ Use an insect repellent containing permethrin or DEET and follow manufacturer's directions. An effective repellent will contain 35 percent DEET, and you should wash off the repellent when you come indoors. Repellents with 10 percent or lower DEET is recommended for children. However, parents should not use products with DEET on infants, according to experts. Also, do not use repellent on a child's hands or near a child's mouth.

For more information or to report a dead bird, contact the County's West Nile Virus hotline at 734-727-7445 or visit the Web site at waynecounty.com

Community colleges oppose fund shift

BY KIM KOVELLE
STAFF WRITER

Statewide budget lopping shears may soon snip funding to higher education at home.

This time, community college-bound students who seek aid from the state's Tuition Incentive Program (TIP) are the ones poised to lose.

The Michigan House of Representatives approved a bill May 13 to transfer money from TIP to help fund state university operating budgets.

Gov. Jennifer Granholm has recommended that $4 million be allocated to TIP. Several members of the Michigan College Association (MCCA) appeared before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on May 21 to testify against passage of a similar proposal in the Senate.

"I think that's bad public policy and, quite frankly, bad philosophically," said Dr. Conway Jeffress, president of Schoolcraft College, who was in attendance.

Students who signed up for this are expecting to get dollars and those expectations have to be met.

Created in 1987, this high school completion program is directed at helping economically disadvantaged students gain higher education access eligibility as early as sixth grade. The Michigan Government Student Aid website states that it offers to pay for the first two years of college and beyond for students who graduate from high school or complete their GED before age 20.

These students can then proceed to the participating state, private or community college of their choice, thanks to the merit award trust money from the 1998 tobacco settlement. Last year, the TIP funds were $5.2 million, and an MCCA press release noted that more than 67 percent of these recipients chose community colleges.

TIP is one of those programs I think gives families an ability to plan for an education future," said Jeffress. "Over the years we have seen increases (and) I do expect this to continue to rise for the next several years."

During the 2002-03 academic year, many Schoolcraft students were beneficiaries.

"We had 55 students who received funding from the TIP program," said Marty Heater, the college's director of marketing. "The total was $78,500."

The average cost comes to nearly $1,427 per student which, since average tuition costs for full-time, in-district students comes to $1,532, covers 93 percent.

According to the bill's sponsor, state Rep. Marc Shulman (R-West Bloomfield) the bill maintains current funding levels and provides a favorable alternative to Granholm's plan.

All this bill did was take the additional funding that was there right now and shift it into the base grants for additional schools," Shulman said. "The governor's proposal would have discontinued the TIP and rolled this funding into a Great Lakes, Great Hopes (scholarship) program."

Schulman says this program would have distributed money on a need-basis equally between public and independent universities.

"It would have also taken money from the private schools and colleges and others who play a tremendous role as far as educating our students," added Shulman, stating that various other scholarship funds would have been greatly reduced.

Driving this diversion of funds is the nearly 10 percent cut that has been dealt to higher education institutions by a previous executive order and 2003 budget cut proposals.

Jeffress noted that when the rising cost of doing business is also factored in, collateral damage-type costs to scholarships such as the TIP can compound.

"When you package that together, the net effect is that it gets kind of severe, even though the TIP is not the sole means of providing scholarships," according to Jeffress.

State Rep. John Pastor (R-Livonia) also on the Appropriations Committee, noted that TIP cuts are not ideal.

"It really stinks in this day and age that we have to cut," said Pastor. "It was the compromise that everybody felt was in the best interest of everybody."

A certain amount of funding must be set aside for the TIP, which representatives have maintained will increase with demand.

"No student is going to be left without the money if they have the eligible criteria," said Shulman. "The additional funding would be provided."

Still, Jeffress and other community college leaders aren't planning to scale down their opposition to the bill.

"We have not yet received anything that is concrete," he said. "There have been reassuring words, but that's not the same as legislation."

Willow Run cited for ice control

In recognition for outstanding achievement in airfield snow and ice control, Willow Run Airport received the Colonel Bernt Balchen/Wilfred M. Post Award during the annual International Aviation Snow Symposium in Buffalo, NY.

The award, which is sponsored by the Northeast Chapter of the American Association of Airport Executives is presented annually to outstanding snow removal teams in four commercial airport categories.

Willow Run received more than 42 inches of snowfall during the 2002-03 snow season. With a small crew of just six maintenance personnel and one operations agent, they were able to keep the facility open and operating efficiently.

"Our snow removal team puts forth tireless effort year after year," said Willow Run Airport Director Sean Brosnan. "From two-inch dustings to 30-inch drifts - wet or dry - they were able to ensure that airport operations ran smoothly this past winter season."

The Balchen/Post Award was named for Arctic aviation pioneer and Norwegian explorer Col. Bernt Balchen, who piloted the relief plane for the first Arctic rescue. The award also honors co-founder and former chairman of the International Aviation Snow Symposium, Wilfred "Wiley" M. Post, commonly known for his efforts to recognize airport personnel as part of a team while demonstrating expertise and outstanding efforts in the removal of snow and ice from runways and taxiways.

Grill happily

It's no secret - Americans love to grill. According to the Hearth Patio and Barbecue Association three out of four American households own a barbecue grill and 58 percent of those are used year round. But summer is king when it comes to cooking outdoors.

As 76 percent of grill owners barbecue on the Fourth of July making it the most popular day for grilling followed by Memorial Day (58 percent) and Labor Day (51 percent). Outdoor cooks can make their grilling get together even better with Reynolds Wrap Release Non-Stick aluminum foil.

Reynolds officials say using the foil means even the stickiest foods won't stick to the grill, allowing you to serve up meals that look as good as they taste with little cleanup.

The grill foil is available at grocery stores for the suggested retail price of $1.99. Each carton contains six extra heavy duty perforated grill sheets. Consumers can request the Reynolds Kitchen recipe booklet Making Grilling Dinners Easier by visiting reynoldskitchen.com or by calling toll free (800) 745-4000.

Palandri wines lead Australia's new wine frontier

Palandri, one of Australia's youngest wine companies, is based in Western Australia's premium Margaret River region, a relatively new wine frontier.

Focus on Wine

Its wines are sourced from Western Australia's largest single stand-alone vineyard, established in the cool climate Frankland River area. Located about 170 miles southwest of Perth, the town of Margaret River seems worlds away from America. Yet, surfers know it and bombard the town year-round to experience the astonishing surf breaks on the beaches.

IDEAL GRAPE-GROWING

Precisely because of its "surfers" climate, Margaret River is ideal for grape-growing. Buffeted in winter by strong winds from cold fronts coming in from the ocean, the region receives abundant rainfall, then enjoys sunshine and blue skies for the remainder of the grape-growing year.

Contributing only 1 percent of Australia's total wine production, Margaret River is responsible for more than 10 percent of the highest quality wines from Australia. Yet, most of the wineries there are boutique size, small and experimental. If those wines land on U.S. shores, they're generally high-priced, in limited quantity or both.

That's where Palandri is different. From inception, Palandri has been destined to be more than just a new winery. From its state-of-the-art facility and Cellar Door (Aussie term for tasting and retail sales) in the heart of Margaret River, it is able to produce small-batch, serious wines at a value price.

MARGARET RIVER TASTE

Palandri's CEO Gordon Grant clarified several more points about Western Australia and the Margaret River. "In a cool climate," he said, "grape growing is always more expensive. Much vineyard work is needed to reduce yields and aid the vines in ripening the grapes. Yields are a maximum of 3 to 4 tons/acre and in some parcels only 2 tons/acre."

Because of the cool climate, which is similar to the Bordeaux region of France, but with significantly more sunshine, the wines are not up-front fruit driven. They are tighter when young but offer clarity of varietal definition. Tannins are fine-grained and the wines finish with finesse.

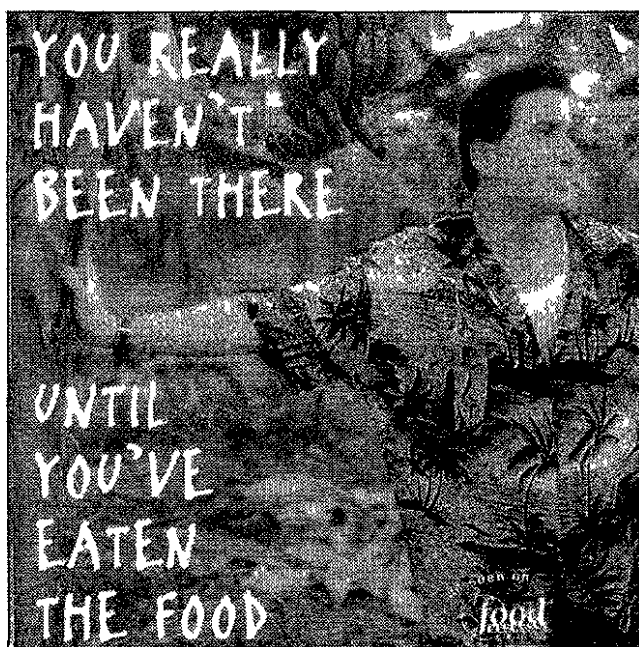

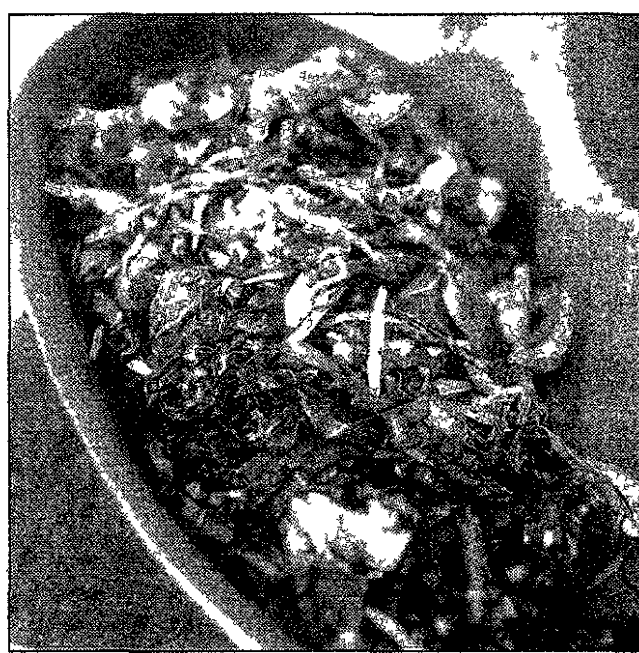

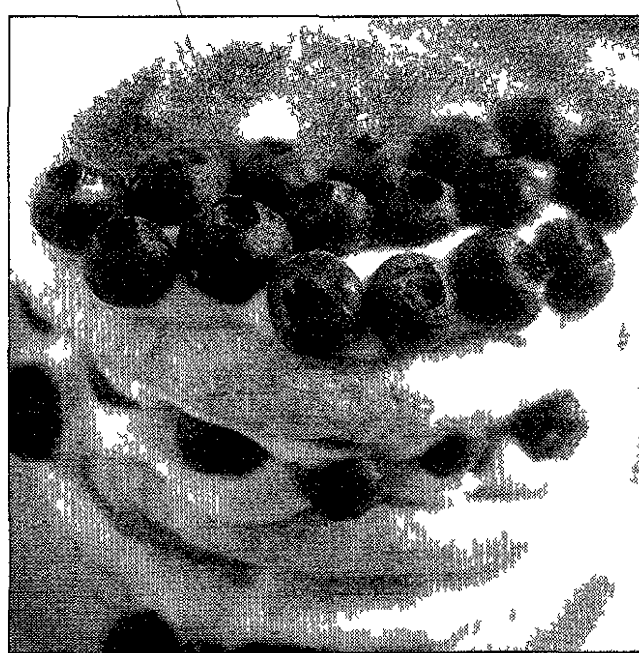

ATTRACTIVE LABEL

As if the quality of the wines was not enough, the Palandri label with an eye-catching gecko is one of the most unique. As Grant explained, it is one of at least 100 species of three- to four-inch long lizards, indigenous to Western Australia.

"The label art represents part of who we are," said Paul Heimcke, Palandri's North American Marketing

Worldly chef

Famie chronicles travels, international foods in new cookbook

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

Americans know him from the Survivor II show about two years ago in the Australian Outback.

Recipes can be found inside Taste, Page B3

Detroit's foodies and culinary aficionados know him from his days at Les Auteurs and Forte, and when he was named one of Food and Wine's Best New Chefs of the Year in 1989.

Today he is a globe-trotting chef and the host of a show on the Food Network, a rolling stone.

PLEASE SEE FAMIE, B2

Clockwise from top left: Pavlova is a meringue-based dessert named after the famous Russian ballerina Anna Pavlova. Famie enjoyed the dish at the home of Piers and Suzanne Akerman near Sydney, Australia. Kachumburi is a colorful dish with cabbage, carrots, onion, tomatoes, red chilies and cilantro. Keith Famie's latest cookbook was released May 13.

who gathers no moss (he uses cilantro instead), and he even has a dog named Basil

Keith Famie, a Farmington Hills native and now a Novi resident, has just completed his second cookbook, You Really Haven't Been There Until You've Eaten The Food, (with Chris Kassel, Clarkson/Potter Publishers, NY, $32.50)

Released on May 13, the 256-page book was researched and written during Famie's travels over the last 18 months to tape his show for the Food Network, Keith Famie's Adventures. The book features international cuisines of six nations and American fare from three large U.S. cities

FOREIGN FOODS

For Famie, the book — and of course the television show — reflect his philosophy of learning about a country by seeing how the locals live and eat locally available foods

"One of the first things I always do is visit a market," Famie said. "A market tells you everything about people, how they grow produce, their lifestyles and how they live. When you visit a market on a Sunday morning, it tells you a story"

And Famie has many to tell. He makes a triumphant return to the Outback to sample Hunter Valley Emu with Red Wine Marinade and Chayote

We sail to Bora-Bora for Polynesian Chicken Drumettes, Florida for Sauce Boss Gumbo and key lime pie, then we fly to Quebec for Lac St. Jean Meat Pie, and Seattle for Crab and Corn Bisque

Of course, there's a chapter devoted to Michigan with Au Sable River Trout in a Pouch and Medallions of Venison with Wild Ramp Risotto and Demi-Glace, and Cousin Jack's Pasties

Famie can't pick a favorite location. "They're all good places," Famie said. Memphis is a blast, Seattle is culturally diverse with its large Pan-Asian population and the seafood is hard to beat

In Key West you'll find the most fantastic pancake recipe with cider vinegar and beer. That recipe is courtesy of Richard Hatch, owner of Blue Heaven

Then there's the Kachumbari from Kenya with the somewhat unusual touch of cilantro to a mix of cabbage, carrots, onions, red chile and tomatoes. "It's just a simple way to make cole slaw," Famie said. "It's just really refreshing"

Famie said he likes to put recipes in the book for dishes he and the television crew enjoy. And at one glance through the cookbook, it appears that the recipes are uncomplicated

"The thing I like to hear from people is that (the recipe) was easy to make," Famie said. "I'm not suggesting that those cookbooks that have recipes that have seven or eight steps aren't good books — they are. These steps are required for those recipes"

But Famie's recipes are not only delicious, they're fun, he added

LOCAL FLAVORS FEATURED

Famie has 20 pages and nine recipes devoted to Michigan. Michigan's morels get national attention for that coveted fungus, but Famie also enlightens us to the world of wild mushrooms and how the fall season is a better time to enjoy them. "There are so many mushrooms that are out there in the fall, but it is important that you are with someone who knows them," Famie said

Then there are ramps, which are wild leeks that also grow in the fall in northern Michigan in wet areas and near river banks. "They're small, but they are really sweet," Famie said

Famie's book isn't without characters, either. There's Captain Tony from Key West, immortalized in Jimmy Buffett's Last Mango in Paris and now in Famie's book

There's mushroom aficionado Royal Olsen and Kenyan chef Joash Omoro, and Quebec chef Jean Soulard, Canada's first master chef and host of a popular television show

The book doesn't pull punches, either, nor gloss over the desperate conditions of other nations. Jamaica has "some of the most friendliest people, but they have a tough life," Famie said. Then there is a sobering trip to Kibera, Kenya's largest ghetto

Famie describes Kibera as "an unfathomably grotesque huddle of squatter shacks with a population density of a half million per square mile. Gargantuan trash heaps are everywhere"

"Time has stopped for them," Famie said. "They are very disconnected from the rest of the world. For them, life starts and life ends here, and life goes on." Much of their lives evolved around their cattle as they carried spears to use on lions to stop them from attacking the cattle, generally all the natives had as a possession

Famie said he was in the Masa Mara region of Kenya on Sept. 11, 2001, when he learned of the terrorist attack and had to tell a crew member that the towers had been hit. The crew member's mother had been in the tower and would never be found. Famie had to break the news to her of the attack

What happened later was touching, Famie said. "When the people of Masa Mara learned of the tragedy, they wanted to give up 40 to 50 cattle (to donate)," Famie said. "They have a ritual of life that is unidentifiable to us"

He and associate producer Matt Prestad, who is also a former sous chef at Les Auteurs, talked about how they were separated and Prestad was led down a dark alley in Nairobi, which was unnerving

"The alley had all kinds of debris, pieces of flesh and bone from animals, and homeless people, and the guide led us down the alley, but then he got a phone call that the others were back where we were, so we turned around," Prestad said

Recipes cross the globe with Famie

INDIVIDUAL PAVLOVAS

Pavlova is a meringue-based dessert named after the famous Russian ballerina Anna Pavlova. It was prepared for Famie at the home of Piers and Suzanne Akerman. There are many different toppings that you can put on your Pavlova. Fruits such as kiwi, oranges, apples, bananas, and apricots can be sliced and used as a topping. Berries also make a wonderful garnish.

- Parchment paper
- 3 egg whites at room temperature
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream whipped
- 2 cups vanilla or lemon pudding
- Fruits and berries of your choice (Famie recommends blueberries and sliced kiwi)

Preheat the oven to 250 degrees F. Line a large baking sheet with parchment paper. With a pencil trace 18 3 1/2-inch circles on the parchment paper. Turn the paper over so the pencil markings show through.

In an electric mixing bowl, using a whip attachment, combine the egg whites, cream of tartar, cornstarch and vanilla. Beat at high speed until soft peaks begin to form.

Add the sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating at high speed until the mixture is thick and glossy. Spread (or pipe using a pastry bag with a straight tip) 1/4 to 1/2 cup of the meringue mixture over each circle on the baking sheet.

Bake for 1 1/2 hours. Turn the oven off and let the meringues stay in the oven for 30 minutes without opening the door.

Remove the meringue disks from the oven and let cool to room temperature. Lift the meringues carefully from the parchment. In a medium mixing bowl, use a rubber spatula to fold the whipped cream into the pudding.

Be careful not to overmix, or the whipped cream will lose its airiness.

Place a meringue disk on each of six plates. Spoon 1/4 cup of the pudding mixture on each meringue disk.

Place some sliced fruits and berries over the pudding layer, then another meringue disk, another layer of pudding, and another layer of fruit.

Repeat to make 3 layers of each. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

KACHUMBARI

Chef Joash Omere calls it a simple but delicious slaw. Its flavors develop because the natural juices of the vegetables are extracted by the salt.

Keith Famie found out that it is ideal to serve with Durban Spiced Shrimp.

- 1/4 head green cabbage shredded
- 2 carrots grated
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro
- 1 red chile seeded and chopped
- 1 white onion thinly sliced
- 3 plum tomatoes sliced into half moons
- salt to taste

In a large mixing bowl, combine all the ingredients and season well with salt.

Cover the bowl with plastic wrap.

Refrigerate for 20 minutes before serving to let the salt draw the moisture from the vegetables to create its own sauce.

Serve as you would a salad or slaw.

Serves 4.

CORNMEAL-CRUSTED LAKE PERCH WITH YOUNG SPINACH AND ROASTED TOMATO-FENNEL MARINARA

Growing up in Michigan surrounded by the Great lakes, Keith Famie has had his share of lake perch dishes over the years, but this has to be his favorite. The roasted tomato-fennel marinara is also ideal as a pasta sauce.

- Marinara
- 1 fennel bulb
- salt and black pepper to taste
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 6 plum tomatoes diced
- 1 white onion diced
- 1 garlic clove peeled and minced
- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons whole grain mustard
- 1/2 teaspoons chopped fresh basil

- Perch
- 2 pounds lake perch fillets trimmed and pinboned
- salt and black pepper to taste
- yellow cornmeal for dusting
- all purpose flour for dredging
- 1 cup canola oil

- Spinach
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 2 garlic cloves peeled and minced
- 2 pounds baby spinach
- salt and black pepper to taste

- Garnish
- 4 fresh basil sprigs

For the marinara: Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F.

Cut the fennel bulb in half. Season with salt and pepper. Place the fennel on a baking sheet, brush lightly with olive oil, and roast until tender, about 30-40 minutes.

Remove from the oven, let cool to room temperature, and dice.

Heat the remaining olive oil in a medium saucepan over medium heat.

Saute the tomatoes, onion and garlic for 3 minutes. Add the fennel, tomato juice, water, and mustard.

Continue to cook for 3 minutes. Stir in the basil. Remove from the heat and puree in a blender.

Return to the saucepan and season with salt and pepper. Keep warm on the back of the stove.

For the perch: Lay out the fillets on paper towels. Season each side with salt and pepper. Dredge the fillets in equal parts of cornmeal and flour.

In a large sauté pan over medium-high heat, heat the canola oil until it is hot enough for frying.

Fry the fillets, skin side up, until golden brown.

Turn over and continue to cook until golden brown. Drain on paper towels.

For the spinach: Heat the olive oil in a large saute pan over medium heat.

Add the garlic and sauté until caramelized.

Add the spinach and sauté just until the spinach is wilted.

Season with salt and pepper.

To assemble: Spoon the roasted tomato-fennel marinara onto 4 plates.

Finish by dividing the perch and spinach among the plates.

Garnish with a sprig of basil. Serve hot.

Serves 4.

vice president

"They're neither pest nor parasite but they love cats. Whatever, they make more than the wine a topic of conversation."

PALANDRI RED WINES

Four Palandri red wines have been introduced in Michigan, aggressively priced at $15 each through the end of July.

■ 2001 Merlot has a plump middle, good structure and satisfying finish. Delicious with chicken, Peking duck, pork or any slightly-sweet Chinese dish.

■ 2001 Cabernet Merlot sports a silky, seductive mid-palate and good length that match it to grilled steak or grilled portabella mushrooms.

■ 2001 Shiraz is a big mouthful, reminiscent of a rich northern-Rhone-style. Great with black bean chili, lamb marinated with garlic, rosemary and olive oil and grilled medium rare.

■ 2001 Cabernet Sauvignon ($15) is generous and lively with juicy fruit and pleasant oak integration. Grill fillet of beef rare and serve with sauteed mushrooms as an outstanding match.

WINE PICKS

The current wine glut has reduced the price of top chardonnays. The following are the best from our recent tasting.

Awesome: 2001 Arrowood Sonoma County ($29). Great with scallops in tarragon cream sauce.

Delicious: 2000 Robert Mondavi Reserve ($38) and 2000 Beringer Private Reserve ($35).

Values under $20: 2001 Clos LaChance Santa Cruz Mountain ($18) and 2002 Wolf Blass ($14).

Wallet pleasers: 2001 Healdsburg Vineyards ($8) (NEW) and 2001 Amberhill ($7).

All wines mentioned are available in the metro Detroit area. If a retailer does not stock a specific wine, ask that it be ordered from the distributor.

Visit the National Amphibian Conservation Center during Sunset at the Zoo

Sunset at the Zoo is the wildest party in town

The polar bears won't be the focus of attention at Sunset at the Zoo this year but that won't stop my sister and I from visiting them in the Arctic Ring of Life. For me, that's the most enjoyable part of the Detroit Zoo's annual fund-raiser. How often do you have the opportunity to enjoy all of the animals living there after hours?

Of course, the strolling dinner featuring tasty treats from dozens of top Detroit area restaurants and businesses has to be mentioned as well. Every year we go from booth to booth sampling specialties from The Whitney, Morel's, The Rattlesnake Club, and Whole Foods Market, to name a few. There's literally something to please everyone's palate at the event billed as the summer's wildest party.

But there's another reason the June 20 event is special this year. "This is our 75th anniversary and throughout the whole year there will be lots and lots of events," said zoo director Ron Kagan. "In honor of our 75th anniversary we have an incredible party planned for June 20, over 30 high-end restaurants presenting their signature dishes for a strolling dinner, and a jazz band from LA and two local bands. And proceeds go to National Amphibian Conservation Center. We continue to expand conservation programs at the center and in 2002 won the American Zoological Association's National Exhibit Award."

The zoo is also expanding other areas. Presently under construction next to the polar bears is the Great Ape Exhibit. Currently the chimps are sharing an outdoor area with the gorillas on alternate days until their new digs open in late summer. On May 28 the zoo broke ground for a major indoor education center which is scheduled to open in about 1 1/2 years.

The most exciting part about Sunset is we're celebrating 75 years of the zoo. That's quite an accomplishment and the zoo isn't done yet, said Jennifer Fischer, co-chair of the event and an Orchard Lake resident. "At Sunset you have the run of the zoo to yourself. When you go to the zoo you're usually dragging along children. This is after-hours so adults get to be children and play themselves."

This year we added a few more restaurants and were selling zoo keys that open boxes holding special prizes. There will be a wine-tasting area and beer garden to sample different varieties of wine and beer, and the Poncho Sanchez Latin Band will be playing. It's a unique event and appeals to someone 28 or 78. That's what makes it so magical. Everyone can have fun."

Strawberries reign at annual festival

BY CHRYSAL LIEBOLD
 STAFF WRITER

Each year The National Strawberry Festival in Belleville draws over 100,000 people and transforms the town into a strawberry wonderland.

If you take a city street of a small town - two miles of Main Street shut down, completely lined with vendors and crafters and things for people to do - that's the city of Belleville for three days over Father's Day weekend," said Ralph Nodwell, president and executive officer of the event.

The festival kicks off its 27th year Friday, June 13, on Main Street in downtown Belleville. Come prepared with a full wallet and lots of energy, because there is no shortage of activities - bungee jumping, rock climbing, the mechanical bull-riding game and helicopter rides around the fair. Live performances include Grandpa Crotchet's Puppet Show and the Acrobatic World Champion performance.

Mouth watering strawberry delights are the main attraction - strawberry shortcake, chocolate-dipped strawberries, strawberry slurpees, slushes and shakes.

"My favorite? That would be strawberry shortcake," Nodwell laughed. "Heavens yes. No doubt about it."

The festival benefits local nonprofit organizations. "If we have money left over, we try to do something nice for the community," said Nodwell. "If we break even, we're happy."

Nodwell, who spends 12 months of the year searching for new ideas to improve the festival, said people should expect this year's event to be better than the last.

He is most excited about the square dancing 4-6 p.m. Saturday and Gospel Day noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

One thing we emphasize every year is doing something different, he said. Gospel Day is always a great big tremendous hit with the families." Dan Martin, vendor and sponsor coordinator, stresses the festival is more than entertainment and fantastic food, it's also reaching out to the community.

"We go out of our way to make it a family festival, he said. "We say it's a weekend of fun for everyone, so we try to look after younger kids as well as older people. That's what I like about it."

The festival's success relies largely on good weather. Although it's been rained on in the past, crowds don't stay away for too long.

"For 27 years, Mother Nature has been very good to us because we've been very good to her," said Nodwell. "Sometimes we'll get a shower here and there, but once it's over, the sun starts to shine and the people come out and we have a fantastic affair."

WHERE CAN I FIND?

On Thursday, June 12, Where Can I Find moves to the At Home section. There will be no column on Sunday, June 8. We are looking forward to hearing from all our readers.

Compose thoughtfully, expose carefully to save film

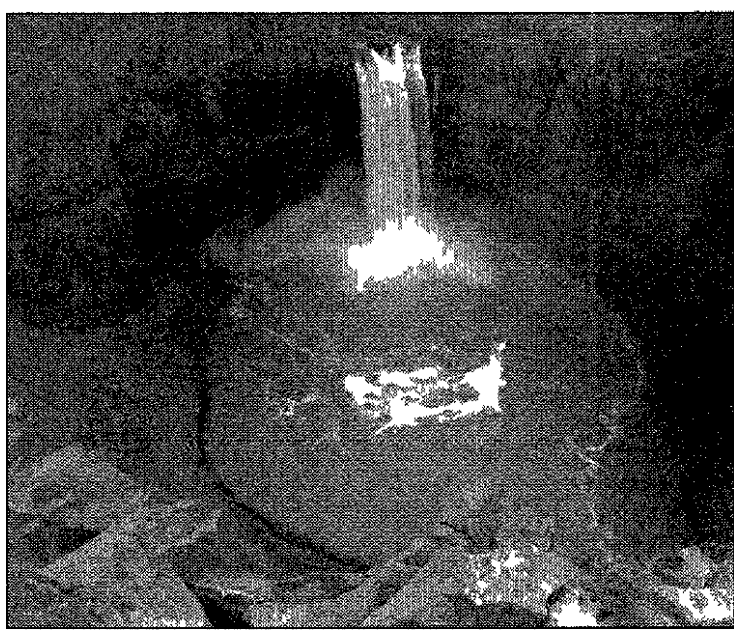

In our unpredictable economy, we are all searching for bargain prices on cameras, lenses and other photographic equipment.

Here are some ideas that will help you save money on film and processing. Use the slowest speed film that lighting conditions will allow.

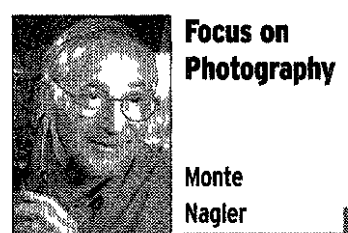

Consider using slide film as your color alternative. The cost of processing a roll of slide film is considerably less than that of a roll of color negative film.

Think about doing some work in black and white. Black and white film and processing is less expensive than color.

Learn to "short load" film. Here's how it works: As soon as the film leader is attached to the take up reel, close the camera back and take up the tension by a couple turns on the rewind knob.

To economize on film, Monte Nagler carefully composed and took just a couple of shots of Palouse Falls near Spokane, Wash.

more frames and you're ready to begin your roll. Doing this will usually give you a couple extra shots on each roll.

Conserve film by not shooting as many pictures as you are used to. Concentrate on quality rather than quantity.

Take note of the expiration dates on your film. If you think you won't use it all up before it expires, place your film in the freezer.

Ted Nugent's wife writes of their life together

MARRIED TO A ROCK STAR
By Shemane Nugent (The Lyons Press $19.95)

It gladdens my heart that the Motor City Madman, Ted Nugent, and his wife, Shemane, seem to have a happy marriage (despite some rocky spots along the way) I'm more than happy that they are "the proud parents of a healthy, smart, and handsome young son."

Victoria Diaz

They live "off the land" at their large rustic retreat in south-central Michigan, and generally pursue the American Dream with marked success. I've certainly no complaints about that, either (although I can't always understand their considerable enthusiasm for guns and hunting).

I do, however, have some problems with this book, which depicts their life together.

Though I'm sure she's an intelligent woman, I'm not altogether certain that Shemane Nugent is the perfect writer. This is not to say that she's incapable of putting a book together. It is to say that Married to a Rock Star could have benefited greatly from more conscientious editorial help.

In the beginning, this "veteran rock wife" proposes to tell us what her "exciting, yet sometimes challenging life is like as Mrs. Ted Nugent."

If this sets your heart racing, hold onto your seats. She will also, she says, "describe the price tag for all this grandeur."

On these pages, we'll catch glimpses of rock icons like Steven Tyler, Kid Rock, and Gene Simmons, usually backstage, or at the Nugent's surprisingly modest home (no dishwasher, and heated mostly by woodburning stoves). We'll watch as actor Don Johnson flirts with Shemane (in her sungle days) on a hot Detroit afternoon, join the Nugents on numerous hunting excursions, read the author's arguments against "animal rights activists" (to begin with, she claims they "waste millions of dollars paying people to pass out misinformation"), and learn the nitty-gritty about what event rocked the couple's marriage, and actually motivated the writing of this book.

There's more - including a few, enlivening words by the Madman himself - and much of it will hold special appeal for area readers and fans. Even with that inherent appeal, though, you may find yourself frustrated with Married to a Rock Star.

For one thing, its structure is more than a little confusing. In telling her story, Shemane Nugent has chosen to move back and forth in time so frequently that it may leave your head spinning. Unfortunately, in the confusion, the momentum of the story is blunted as well. In the beginning, we're at the Louise Mandrell Skeet Shoot near Nashville.

Then, we're sort of in the present and looking back at that day (with the author wondering if she's recalling the day accurately). Then we're told about an interview the rock star once granted during a pheasant hunt.

Then, it's back to the Mandrell Skeet Shoot again. Then, it's the next morning at a posh Nashville hotel where the Nugents are enjoying breakfast in bed. Then, a glimpse of the future (something terrible is about to happen). Then, suddenly, we're back in the past again, and Ted and Shemane are about to meet at radio station WILLZ, where she works as a "traffic girl," and he's a guest deejay for a week. Whew.

Much of the book follows this back-and-forth, hither-and-yon pattern.

In addition to the dizzying chronology, Shemane Nugent's choice of words and phraseology can grow about as muddy as Though I'm sure she's an intelligent woman, I'm not altogether certain that Shemane Nugent is the perfect writer. This is not to say that she's incapable of putting a book together. It is to say that Married to a Rock Star could have benefited greatly from more conscientious editorial help.

Michigan swamp land at times. You might read a comment like "there has never been a time when I have been less in love with him than the day that we were married" several times, and still not feel sure of what the author is saying. Some pages later, you'll encounter, "It is so important for my husband to be able to protect himself and his family, and to live in a country that allows us the freedom to defend ourselves is a predominant right that Ted has steadfastly been a proponent of for many years."

Huh? Finally, the word-pictures she paints about her early meetings with the Madman might not pass muster with second-rate romance writers: "a strange feeling of warmth coursed throughout my body," she writes.

Then, "a dizzying current raced through my body."

Then, "Adrenaline raced through my body."

Then, "Ted took me in his arms and I melted. Absolutely melted."

Then, "Waves of electricity shot through my body."

Train takes guests on awesome journey through Rockies

BY MARY QUINLEY

Passengers bolted from their seats, scrambled to the left-side windows and poised their cameras

Sure enough, a black bear ambled along the grassy floor of the majestic Canadian Rockies, creating an ideal photo-op for travelers aboard the Rocky Mountaineer, a passenger rail service

"Western Canada is full of varying types of wildlife, such as, black bears, moose, grizzly bears, elk, coyotes, eagles and osprey," said Michelle Dunn, manager of communications for Rocky Mountaineer Railtours

There is no guarantee that animals will be sighted during the excursion

However, said Dunn, depending on the time of travel, more often than not wildlife are seen

Passenger Jerry Goetz of Bloomfield Hills was surprised to see so much game close to the train tracks

People tend to get on a plane to travel, he said, and they miss a lot

Riding the rails furnishes an opportunity to experience nature's best

"We saw bears, mountain sheep, a llama and eagles, sometimes in their nests near water," said Goetz, who enjoyed the train ride in June 2002 with his wife, Kunney

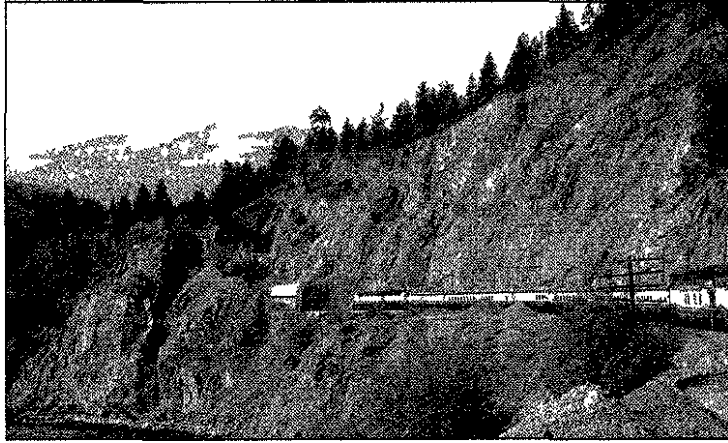

The couple opted for the GoldLeaf Service, one of two choices of travel

Their seats were on the upper level of a glass-domed coach that provided panoramic views of the ever-changing scenery

Within minutes of settling into their reclining dome-level seats, passengers in the GoldLeaf coach are offered champagne and orange juice to "toast" the trip

A spiral staircase descends to the lower level, where a dining room features white linen tablecloths and regional cuisine menu selections

It was first-class and, the food was spectacular," Goetz

The Rocky Mountaineer, a passenger train service that travels through Canada's West and the Canadian Rockies, enters a tunnel said, referring to the "gourmet meals" which were served on the two-day trek.

The RedLeaf Service, more like a traditional train, features a single story coach with reclining seats, plenty of legroom and large picture windows

"Upscale chilled entrees" are served at the seats

The train personnel in both classes provide commentary about the landscape, Canadian history, geography and the railway. All passengers have access to vestibule areas located at the end of the coaches

"It's a train journey with some of the most incredible scenery in the world, where you are not only sitting back and relaxed, you are being pampered and catered to by the onboard staff, who become like family by the end of the trip," Dunn said

A variety of packages are offered, running the gamut from a two-day rail journey and combo rail-and-rental car excursions to a twelve day Trans Canada Rail Adventure

One option is the Yellowhead Route

Passengers board at Vancouver's Pacific Central Station in the province of British Columbia for their two-day luxury ride. The train weaves through fertile fields of the Fraser River Valley, passes near towering crowns of the Coastal Mountains and then snakes along the Thompson River to historic Kamloops for an overnight stay at a hotel

Day two features stunning snapshots of rolling plateaus and snow-covered tips of the

IF YOU GO

■ The cost of the Classic Rail Journey with GoldLeaf Service from June through October is $927 (double) and $977 (single), one way per person from Vancouver to Banff/Jasper or Banff/Jasper to Vancouver

Monashee Mountains Waterfalls, expansive glaciers and breathtaking views of the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, Mount Robson (12,972 feet), supply awesome vistas. The journey ends in Jasper, the largest mountain park in Canada.

Last summer, Kathryn Dngeman booked a two-day, all-daylight tour on the train

She traveled with her mom, Gertrude Dngeman of Redford, and two friends, Nadine Debusk of Redford and Doris Chase of Rochester

"It was a wonderful trip all-around," said Dngeman of Farmington, who, with her traveling companions, chose the GoldLeaf service. It's the only way to go and worth every penny, she said

The track season for Canton HS senior Corey Walsler didn't end with Saturday's state finals. Walsler will join 29 other track and field athletes on June 20 on an 18-day tour of Switzerland, Austria, France and England during which they will compete and have cultural exchanges with athletes their age.

Walsler was one of Canton's top sprinters and was the team captain. He clocked at 10.83 in the 100-meter dash and 22.59 in the 200. He qualified for the state finals in the former.

The 30 athletes who come from 20 states will do a good deal of sightseeing and will also compete at the Youth Invitational in Innsbruck, Austria, among other events.

Award finalist

Anne Roosevelt, a Plymouth resident and Farmington Hills Mercy student-athlete, was named a finalist for the Walt Bazylewicz/Catholic League Athlete of the Year Award at Comerica Park on May 22.

Roosevelt was recognized as one of the top female athletes among the 36 Catholic League high schools. In addition to lettering in volleyball, track and field, and basketball in her high school career, she will also graduate magna cum laude with a grade point average of 3.7.

In volleyball, she's been all-region, all-Observer second team, all-Catholic, all-academic, and all-city (twice the city MVP) in track and field. She's a three-time regional champ and two-year league champ in the discus. She has been a state finalist, a county champion, and twice an all-Observer selection in basketball. She's been all-Catholic and all-academic. Roosevelt will attend St. Francis University (Pa.) on a volleyball scholarship this fall.

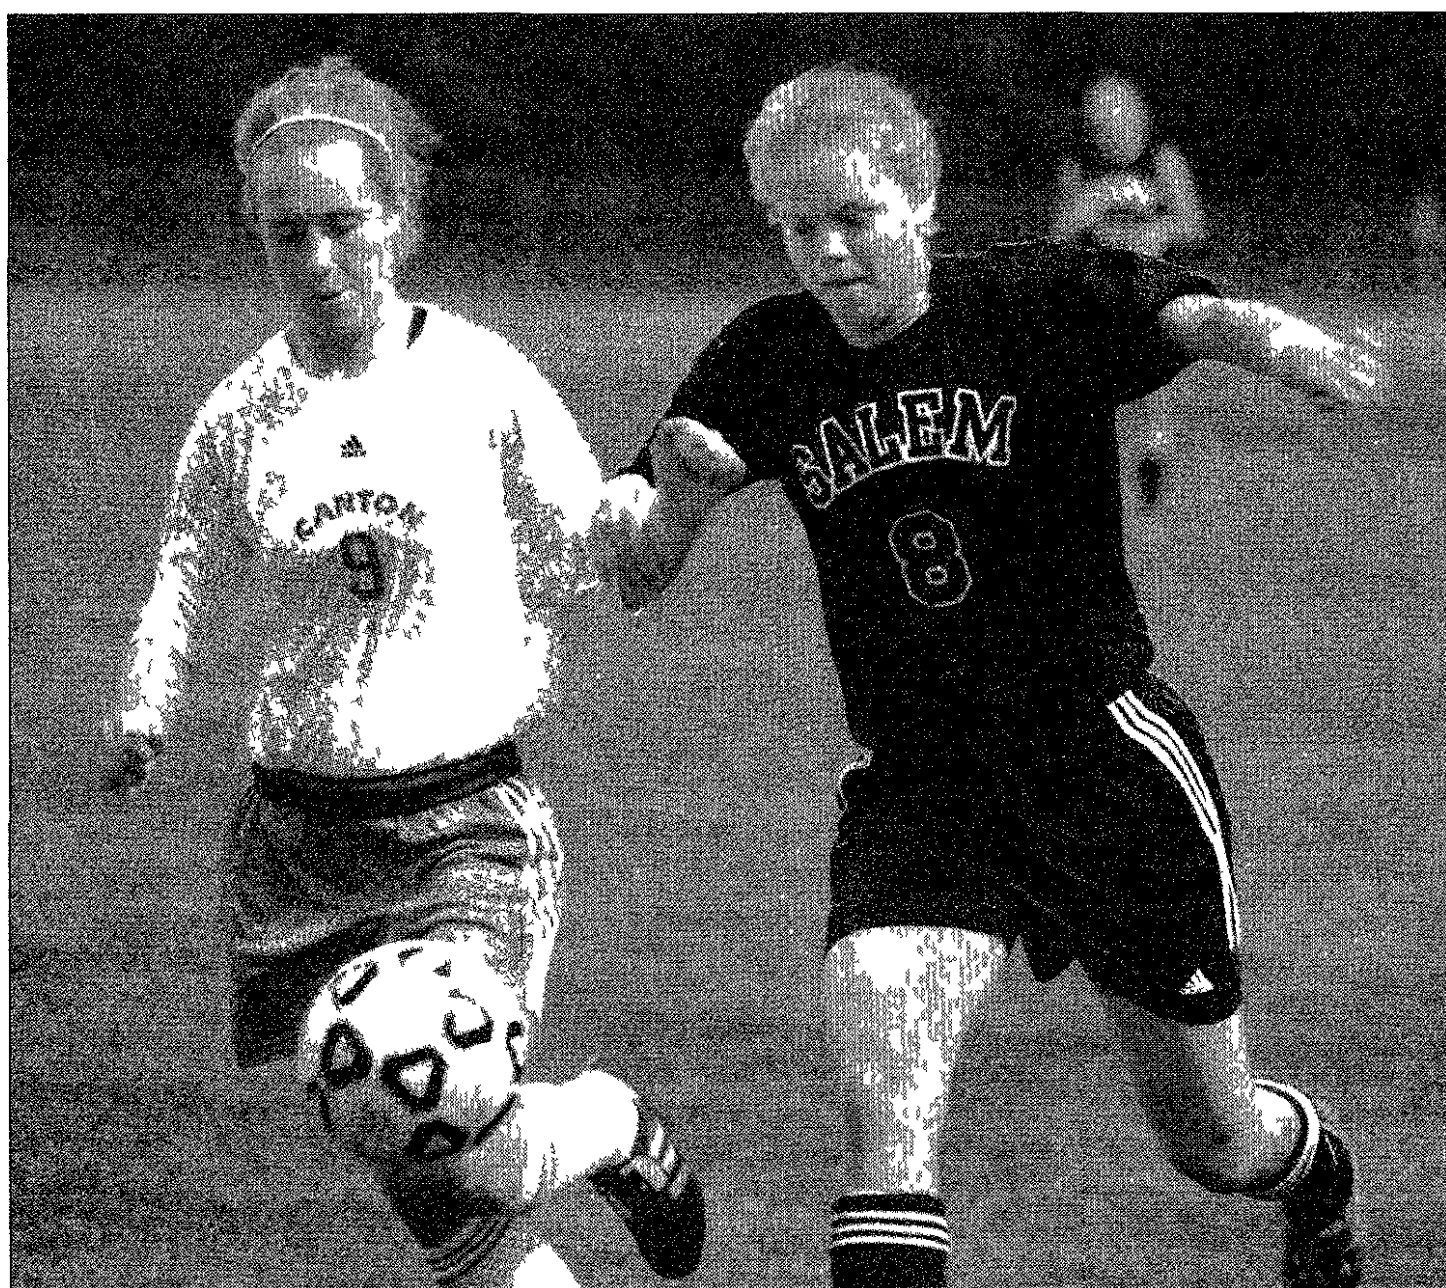

Double turkey

Sometimes an oversight pays dividends.

It did for Don Vleck of Plymouth. It seems Don and his son, 14-year-old Jimmie, were hunting turkey on the first day of the season on state land north of Gaylord. Early that morning, Jimmie got his very first turkey, downing the gobbler with one shot from 17 yards with his father's Remington 1187.

In the excitement, Don forgot to retrieve the empty shell from Jimmie's shot, so he went back to the scene the next week. Hearing gobblers in the distance, he got his gun and sat under the same pine tree that Jimmie scored from. Ten minutes later, Don bagged a jake — same gun, same tree.

Larry Hull, Don's former college roommate, called both strikes in — then 30 minutes later he got himself a gobbler in the same vicinity that Jimmie and Don scored — the location of which one can be sure will remain a Vleck family secret.

Canton stops Salem in district semis

DISTRICT SEMIFINAL

Changes were made. There had to be. And, as it turned out, Cantons worked out better than Salems.

In Thursday's state district soccer semifinal, the two cross-campus rivals met for the third time this season, with the ultimate incentive at stake — an extension to the season, a shot at a district title, a regional title, perhaps even a state title.

Canton, which won the first game and lost the second, went back to what worked in that first match. That meant putting Andrea Johnson, an all-Western Lakes Activities Association all-division defender back at sweeper (she played stopper in the second match).

It helped. The Chiefs, who gave up three goals in a loss to Salem in the WLAA championship match eight days earlier, limited the Rocks' chances in the district semifinal at Wayne Memorial, enough to earn a 2-1 triumph.

The win put Canton into Friday's district title game against Ann Arbor Huron, which handled Livonia Churchill 5-0 in Thursday's other semifinal. Salem, which claimed its first WLAA crown since 1987, ended its season at 14-2-2 — its only losses to Canton.

"We made 'em work harder today, that's for sure," said Canton coach Don Smith of the Chiefs' defense. "We gave up some strange goals last week, some easy ones." Smith had moved Johnson up to stopper.

Bucks get 1st-round bye

The news just keeps getting better for the Mid-Michigan Bucks.

Having qualified for the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup, one of only six Premier Development League teams to do so, the Bucks took another step forward by drawing a first-round bye.

Four of the six PDL qualifiers will play against four United States Amateur Soccer Association teams in opening-round matches that must be completed by June 8. So the Bucks, boasting a 4-0-1 record after a 1-0 defeat of the Toledo Slayers Wednesday at Toledo's Maumee Stadium, won't have to worry about that first round.

They were one of two PDL teams to earn a bye. Their first Open Cup Tournament match will be against the Long Island (N.Y.) Rough Riders, the Division III defending champions.

SOCCER

(the Bucks are Division IV)

There's more good news. Mid-Michigan will host the match, tentatively scheduled for 7:30 p.m. June 25 at either Berkley's Hurley Field or at Canton HS.

Of course, beating a Division III team that in 1995 was home to Tony Meola, a former World Cup keeper and a standout in the pro leagues, is no easy task. But if any team is up to the challenge, it's the Bucks, after all, they have more Open Cup qualifications (five) and tournament victories (six) than any PDL team in history.

Rams split with Panthers

After dropping their Livonia Collegiate Baseball League season opener to the Michigan Panthers Wednesday at Ford Field, the Michigan Rams managed to salvage a split of their doubleheader in a battle of 20-and-under teams.

Alex Martin drove in three runs, including a 2-run homer in the sixth inning, as the Panthers took the first game, 4-1. Martin also had an RBI sacrifice fly.

Gary Rosenberg, Dan Mangan and Phil Radamacher also added hits for the Panthers.

Winning pitcher John Jamison allowed just two hits for the Panthers.

Wayne State's Gary Zielke (Livonia Stevenson) took the loss for the Rams.

Henry Ford Community College's Pete Pinto (Livonia Stevenson) and Mike Pisha (Albion College) collected the only hits for the Rams.

Pinto had the game-winning RBI in the fourth inning and pitcher Mark Lundquist (Central Michigan) struck out six and allowed five hits over five innings as the Rams won the nightcap, 3-2.

Jon Hastings, who pitched two scoreless innings, got the save. He retired all six batters in order.

Bryan Marulli and Brandon Volas had the only other hits for the Rams.

Ryan Rogowski (Redford Catholic Central), Pat O'Connell, Ian Pardonnet (Farmington) and Dan Mangan collected hits for the Panthers.

Early goals push Chiefs past Rats

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

It took less than six minutes for Canton's soccer team to assert itself against Ann Arbor Huron Friday.

In that span, the Chiefs put two goals on the board, adding a third one 18 minutes later — more than enough to carry them to a 3-0 victory and a Division I state district championship in a match played at Wayne Memorial.

Canton improved to 14-3-2 overall. Huron bows out with an 11-2-6 record. The Chiefs move on to meet the Novi-Northville winner in a regional semifinal at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Dearborn HS.

Erica Ahrens did the offensive damage for the Chiefs, scoring all three goals — two of them coming off assists from Rachel Perry.

That pretty much sealed it, said Canton coach Don Smith of the two early goals. "We couldn't really get enthused after that."

The Chiefs didn't really need to, not the way their defense has been performing. In three district matches, Canton's defenders — captained by keeper Briana Wolcott — collected two shutouts and allowed just one goal in the other match. That was against Salem, and it came on a penalty kick.

"We've been playing pretty solid back there, as long as I can keep them fresh," Smith noted.

The Huron match was a concern, to be sure. The River Rats' record (just one previous loss all season) drew attention, although it didn't come against elite competition.

But last Thursday Huron disposed of Livonia Churchill with relative ease, beating the Chargers 5-0.

"They looked extremely fast against Churchill," Smith said of the River Rats. "I didn't know what to expect."

Huron may have been a bit of a puzzle, but Smith knew what his team would deliver. If the River Rats were fast, the Chiefs were faster, constantly.

Warriors' run reaches state championship

Can't do much better than this. The Plymouth-Canton Warriors, a high school club lacrosse team that draws players from all three high schools, have done something most teams only dream of. They reached the state finals in their division, managing that with a 10-4 victory over Hartland in the semifinals Wednesday at Canton's Flodin Park. Unfortunately, that was as much as they could do. In Friday's state final against Zeeland, Plymouth-Canton was outscored 4-1 in the final quarter and that proved to be the difference. Zeeland winning the Division IV championship by a 12-9 margin in a match played at Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook.

beating the Huron defense on counters that resulted in good scoring chances

Ahrens — whose first goal came in the game's first two minutes and the second with 5:22 elapsed — got her third score on just such a play, angling between two defenders to gain possession of the ball and racing in to slip a third one into the net with 16:05 remaining

Ahrens and Perry played less than half of the second half, Ahrens because of a shot she took to the nose, but chances are Smith would have pulled them both anyway, with a tough match against the Novis-Northville winner coming up

Canton is familiar with these teams, having played them both during the regular season. The Chiefs lost to Novi in their opener, 2-1, but beat Northville

Novi "has two good forwards" Smith said, also noting that the Wildcats "hit two off the crossbar that went in" in their victory

As for Northville, he said, "I think we match up pretty well with them. I think we match up pretty well with both teams."

Plymouth, PCA are eliminated

Bloomfield Hills Roeper and Lutheran Westland each advanced to the Division IV district soccer final at Plymouth HS with wins in Thursday's semifinals

Roeper, ranked eighth in the state, got two goals from Sarah Pernick in blanking Plymouth's all-freshmen team. Lutheran Westland took advantage of three goals from Samantha Wiemer in subduing Southfield Christian, 6-1

The two teams were scheduled to meet for the title Saturday afternoon

Pernick's goals both came in the first half in Roeper's win over Plymouth, the second on a penalty kick

The Warriors led Southfield Christian 2-1 at halftime, getting scores from Jenna Bachert and Kristine Alcea (Becky Walter and Kayla Noel had assists). Wiemer's goals all came in the second half, the last on a penalty kick. Walter also had a goal on a penalty kick, with Magon Jones earning an assist. Amanda Poole was in goal for Lutheran Westland. Amanda Miller accounted for Southfield Christian's score (from Mackenzie Mangus)

In first-round action last Tuesday, Roeper advanced with a 5-0 victory over Plymouth Christian Academy. The Roughriders led 2-0 at the half, getting two goals from Alex Sims with Pernick assisting on both

Sims got a third goal and added an assist in the second half. Fiona Ruddy added a goal and an assist, Pernick scored a goal and Mera Keenan collected an assist in the WLAA title match after Katie Raker was lost for the season with a broken leg, but the defense suffered. "She's just too steady back there," he said of Johnson. "The others all did a good job, too. I have a freshman back there, Kelsy Zemanski."

The Chiefs' defense was better, but another move — this one by Salem — ended up helping them as well. The Rocks scored the game's first goal after the official ruled a Canton defender pulled and interfered with a Salem offensive player, awarding a penalty kick. Marissa Sarkesian converted, driving the ball into the right corner past diving Canton keeper Briana Wolcott, and the Rocks led 1-0 with 25:14 left in the first half

The play had been even to that point. After Salem scored, it started going toward Canton

The Chiefs' offensive scoring tandem of Erica Ahrens and Rachel Perry proved to be tough to handle for Salem, especially on the narrower Wayne field. Ahrens and Perry were relentless and, with 3:43 remaining in the half, their perseverance paid off when Perry forced a turnover deep in the Salem end

Perry carried the ball to the right side of the Salem net and crossed it to Ahrens on the left side. She finished and the game was knotted at 1-1

Less than two minutes later, Salem's all-division defender, Kathryn Wheatley, was shaken up and forced out of action. Now Rocks' coach Joe Nora had to make an adjustment in his lineup, he put Jordan Falcusan, an all-conference forward, back at sweeper

The switch helped keep the defense intact, but the Salem offense suffered without Falcusan, who had a goal and an assist in the Rocks' win over the Chiefs. Against a prominent team like Canton, the Rocks had trouble creating chances and, as it turned out, they couldn't finish those they got

If there was a point that Salem could have recaptured the momentum, it came four minutes into the second half. Again, the official ruled a defender had pulled and interfered with an offensive player inside the penalty box — but this time a Salem player was the culprit. Canton's Kara Marsh was awarded a penalty kick

Her attempt with 35:39 left to play, however, was well over the net. The Rocks had escaped with the match still tied

But it was the Chiefs who continued to pressure offensively and, with 17:11 left, the Ahrens-Perry connection clicked once again, this time on a pretty play started by Ahrens. The senior all-conference forward carried the ball down the left wing before serving a superb pass in to Perry, who was well-positioned for a header past keeper Heather Jones

"They finished," said Nora. "They've done that all year. Their plan was to come out physical, and it certainly worked. They're smart like that and they made it work."

"But I think we played pretty well. In past years when we lost games in the (state) playoffs, we lost them because of something we did and I was (upset). I told the girls after the game that wasn't the case today. This was a good, hard-fought game."

Too bad someone had to lose

(Oakland University) sent a high volley over Pogue for the score, with George Kithas (Livonia Churchill/University of Detroit Mercy), in his first match with the Bucks, earning the assist

Mid-Michigan had a wide advantage in shots against the Bucks (1-3-1 overall), 28-18. Peter Dzubay was in goal for the

Bucks, earning his first shutout

"We played some different guys today and had a different look," said Bucks' coach Don Gemmell. "I am happy with the win, but we have a lot to work on"

and forth," said Warriors' coach Mike Costello "There's always that disappointment when you lose, but we did have a great season Plymouth-Canton lost its season-opener and its last game, rolling off 15-consecutive wins in between And for a while, it seemed the Warriors might just do it again they led 7-6 at half-time and 8-6 early in the third quarter

However, Zeeland rallied to tie it at 8-all by the end of the third quarter, then surged ahead with its 4-1 fourth Ty Effenbury and Mike DeJohnge each scored five goals for Zeeland

Plymouth-Canton was paced by John Moylan for the second-straight game, Moylan scored four goals Brandon Swejowski added three scores, with Greg Broda and Dave Commskey getting one apiece The Warriors finished 15-2, Zeeland was 18-2

On Wednesday against Hartland, Moylan led the offense with four goals and three assists Broda and Paul Barnett contributed two goals apiece, with Swejowski getting a goal and an assist and Matt Marsico collecting a goal In this one the Warriors led all the way, building a 4-2 lead after one quarter and a 5-2 advantage by halftime Hartland narrowed it to 5-3 early in the third quarter, but the Warriors answered with man-advantage goals by Swejowski and Broda, the latter after the Hartland goalie took a penalty for slashing and went to the sidelines That made it 7-3 after three quarters

Hartland's last response came early in the final quarter, Paul Schwartz getting the goal to make it 7-4 The Warriors got three more goals after that, however, to seal Hartland's fate "I was convinced that if we played good, solid defense we could win, said Warrior coach Mike Costello "That's been our strong suit the whole year We've averaged three goals given up"

The Warriors certainly rose to the challenge against Hartland "We played very, very well," he said, then added, "we still haven't put it all together, offensively, defensively, specialty teams"

Divisions IV and V, which consist of 35 teams, are for the state's newer programs, the Warriors are in just their second season, making a run to the state finals that much more spectacular Asked if he could have foreseen such a thing, Costello replied, "I kinda did Before the season started I talked to a lot of other coaches, and they all said they were losing so many players

"We lost a couple of guys, but we had so many guys back in key positions I told our players at the beginning of the season I thought we could get to the state championships at Bloomfield Cranbrook"

From that statement was born a team motto, something recited before — and during — every match "Get there!" Even after losing their season-opener, Costello remained convinced

"Definitely after our third game I thought we had a real chance," he said Costello should know, he played lacrosse for two years at Michigan State, in 1979-80 When he saw Steve Oliver and Nick Ogle, the club team's founders, practicing a couple of years ago and started giving them some advice, Ogle said he asked Costello right then if he'd like to coach them Oliver is now

the team's assistant coach, Ogle serves as a team captain

The Warriors' aim is to become a school-affiliated team They are currently self-funded and could remain that way, much like Canton's and Salem's hockey teams The MHSAA is expected to adopt lacrosse as a recognized sport within two years The Warriors want varsity status by then With 40 players on the current team and plenty of community support (or so it seemed at Wednesday's match), such a goal could be attainable

Of course, this year's success has to help "There's nothing like winning a state championship to boost a program," Costello said after beating Hartland

The Warriors may not have won it, but they came within a quarter Who knows what a third season will bring

Camping Rx

A prescription for fun, safe trip to the woods

BY KIMBERLY MORTSON
STAFF WRITER

If camping is on your agenda of things to do this summer, take some time to prepare your family for the adventures that lie ahead — including packing a first aid kit, knowing the area you are traveling and being confident in your camping skills. A little forethought and planning will ensure a more enjoyable vacation for you and your family.

"By taking a few simple health precautions, however, you can protect yourself against disease, insect bites, dangerous wildlife, food and sun poisoning and other physical elements," said Dr. John Jovanovich, senior staff physician in the Division of Infectious Disease at Henry Ford Hospital.

Jovanovich says roughing it, so to speak, can be "fun and daring," but can also pose serious health risks for those who go unprepared.

First and foremost, organize a first aid kit. It's not necessary to spend hundreds of dollars on medical supplies that, in most cases, you aren't likely to need. A small and organized collection of items will go a long way in an emergency situation and can bide your time until you seek further medical treatment, if necessary.

The American Red Cross recommends six basics you should stock for your home in the event of a disaster or emergency situation. Each of the items should be given reasonable consideration for campers as well. Basics include water, food, first aid supplies, clothing/bedding, tools and emergency supplies and special items.

If you don't think you're going to have access to clean water or you're not interested in boiling or filtering, consider stocking water in plastic containers and having enough to consume two quarts per day (at least that much if you plan to be active). The higher the temperatures and the more physical you plan on being, the more water you should take (at least twice that). If someone in your party is pregnant, nursing, elderly or you have young children, you should consider taking even more water.

H2O WOES

When it comes to water, always assume the worst. Experts suggest you presume wilderness creeks and rivers are contaminated water sources due to domestic and wild animals. If in doubt, don't drink it. The simplest way to ensure your safety is to boil it. You can also pack a water filtering system (prices range from $20-$130).

"It might not taste that great, but it's filtered water," Jovanovich says.

The Red Cross recommends two quarts per person for consumption and two quarts for sanitation and food preparation.

The next item that is a necessity is a first aid kit for your car and camper/motorhome if you have a vehicle that trailers one to the other. You might not remember to remove and replace a single kit from one vehicle to another, so it's better to be safe by creating a duplicate.

Items should include (20) adhesive bandages, various sizes, (1) 5-inch x 9-inch sterile dressing, (1) conforming roller gauze bandage, (2) triangular bandages, (2) 3 x 3 sterile gauze pads, (2) 4 x 4 sterile gauze pads, (1) roll 3-inch cohesive bandage, (2) germicidal hand wipes or waterless alcohol-based hand sanitizer, (6) antiseptic wipes, (2) pair large medical grade non-latex gloves, adhesive tape, 2-inch width, anti-bacterial ointment, cold pack, scissors (small, personal), and tweezers.

If you are taking medication, make sure you have

'By taking a few simple health precautions, however, you can protect yourself ...'

Dr. John Jovanovich
senior staff physician, Henry Ford Hospital enough of your prescription to get you through your planned vacation time, in addition to a few extra pills in the event that your plans change. A list of the medications you are currently taking might be a good idea to pack away if you have to take a trip to the hospital unexpectedly.

Non-prescription drugs to include in your kit should be aspirin/nonaspirin pain reliever, anti-diarrhea medication, antacid (upset stomach), Syrup of Ipecac (use to induce vomiting if advised by the Poison Control Center) and a laxative.

MOTHER NATURE

The allure of camping is largely the time you spend outdoors, and being outdoors means being exposed to natural elements such as rain, wind, the heat/cold and the sun. Sun exposure can lead to problems such as blistering and heat stroke, so packing a sunblock with an SPF over 15 is a good idea. Children should wear no less than SPF 45. If you plan on being in the water, you'll need to find a waterproof version or reapply the product before and after you get wet. A hat and the proper cotton clothing can help minimize your susceptibility to the sun.

Other items you might want to think about include a flashlight with extra batteries, waterproof container for matches, needle and thread, rain gear, sunglasses, a manual can opener, a map of the area you are camping, compass, whistle and insect repellent.

The woods are home to a wide variety of bugs (ticks, mosquitoes, bees/wasps) and plants (poison ivy, sumac, poison oak) that have the potential to be harmful as well as cause allergic reactions in individuals more sensitive to a sting, bite or the oil from a plant like poison ivy. Skin that comes in contact with any of these plants should be washed immediately with soap and water, then apply a hydrocortisone cream (1 percent) to the area as needed to minimize itching and blisters.

Jovanovich says DEET-based repellents work "most effectively against mosquitos, bees, wasps and flies. Separate sprays are available for skin and clothing application. And don't be shy when it comes to apply it: use a generous amount," said the Henry Ford infectious disease physician.

According to the Web site kidshealth.org, ticks carry a number of infections, including Lyme disease. It suggests children, adults and pets be checked regularly for the insects, who have a tendency to burrow into the skin in areas such as the groin, behind the ears and under the arms. The Internet has a wealth of information about Lyme disease and color images of what a bite mark looks like a few days after infection.

While spontaneity sounds great, you should be more inclined to put safety first. The suggestions from Jovanovich and the American Red Cross may sound time-consuming, but in the long run using good judgment and common sense should be your first plans of action. Have a happy and safe camping season.

Taking care of some common summer ailments

The American Pharmacists Association (APhA) introduces its summer tips series for consumers. The summer series addresses frequently asked questions regarding poison ivy, oak, and sumac, sunburn and sunscreen, and insect bites.

APhA urges consumers to talk with their pharmacist regarding these common summer ailments. While pharmacists are the health profession's medication experts, they also have knowledge about how to treat everyday problems. Read up on how to identify, treat and prevent poison ivy, sunburn and insect bites. If you have additional questions, ask your pharmacist.

POISON IVY, OAK, SUMAC

This tipsheet helps consumers first learn how to distinguish poison ivy from other green, leafy plants and geographically identifies the target areas of growth among poison ivy, oak and sumac.

The tipsheet also addresses what to do if you think you've come in contact with poison ivy, how poison ivy spreads from one area of the body to another, and how to prevent it from occurring at the start. For more information, go to www.aphanet.org/lead/Poisonivy_QA.pdf.

SUNSCREEN AND SUNBURN

This tipsheet identifies three types of UV radiation consumers should know. In addition, consumers can read up on the difference between sunscreen and sunblock, how to properly apply sunscreen, how to properly treat sunburn, and the facts about SPF. Visit www.aphanet.org/lead/Sunburn_QA.pdf.

INSECT BITES

The tipsheet highlights the symptoms of insect and tick bites and how to distinguish between insect bites and rashes. The tipsheet also addresses the benefits of insect repellent, what active ingredient to look for in repellent products, and when it's time to consult a health professional. Change your oil and you can change your health

We know that vehicles run more smoothly when we change the engine oil. Now scientists are finding that changing the oils we put into our body changes the health of our hearts, arteries, digestive tracts and immune systems. Switching from omega-6 oils like corn oil, safflower oil, peanut oil, soybean oil and sunflower oil to omega-3 oils like canola oil, walnut oil, fish oil (in the form of fatty fish or capsules) and flax oil can dramatically reduce arthritis pain, high cholesterol, triglycerides and blood clots. Omega-3 oils also help fight cancer and soothe digestive disease.

According to Dr. James Maciejko, director of preventive cardiology at St. John Hospital and associate professor of

Healthy Living

Sandy Baumann

internal medicine at Wayne State University, omega-3 oil enhances heart health in three ways:

- By lowering triglycerides in the blood
 - By raising levels of HDL, which is "healthy cholesterol"
 - By reducing risk for blood clots that cause heart attacks and strokes
- Omega-3 oil acts like a natural blood thinner. It makes blood platelets less sticky, so they don't form clots to block narrowed arteries. Omega-3 oil also decreases the production of fibrinogen, which is another material found in clots. Dr. Maciejko indicated that omega-3 oil will also lower total cholesterol in persons who have high triglycerides, but it doesn't lower LDL — often remembered as "lethal cholesterol." Fortunately, olive oil (a monounsaturated oil) lowers LDL, because it contains squalene, whose effects on high cholesterol have been reported in the Journal of Clinical Pharmacology (Vol 36 422-7, 1996).

In his book The Omega Plan, Dr. Artemis Simopoulos indicates that omega-3 oils stabilize the heartbeat to prevent arrhythmia, which is uncontrolled beating that shuts off circulation to the heart and vital organs. These oils also help patients recover from heart attacks. The DART study in England showed that men given omega-3 fat, in the form of fatty fish or omega-3 oil in capsules, had a 29 percent lower death rate after heart attack compared to those given either a high-fiber diet or one high in omega-6 oils. Other benefits of changing your oil to omega-3 include help for cancer, arthritis pain and more.

In a French study, women who had low amounts of omega-3 fat in their breast tissue were five times more likely to have the disease spread to other parts of the body.

Bone marrow forum brings together experts, survivors

BY KIMBERLY MORTSON
STAFF WRITER

The National Bone Marrow Transplant Link is sponsoring their eighth annual "Ask the Experts" educational forum for pre- and post bone marrow transplant patients and their families Saturday, June 21, in Livonia.

Retired teacher and BMT survivor Marla Murphy says she wishes she had the opportunity to attend a program of this nature prior to her transplant 11 years ago. The Livonia resident was diagnosed in 1988 with chronic myelomonocytic leukemia and underwent the transplant in Seattle in 1992.

The 61-year-old says it took more than a year, as it does for most BMT survivors, to "regain" her strength and start to feel healthy again. Today she is the chairperson for the forum of which she has been a participant and volunteer coordinator for the last decade. "The forum brings together many notable physicians from this area who are experts in the field of bone marrow transplants," said Murphy. "They'll be providing the most up-to-date information on transplants and people will have opportunity to ask questions in an informal setting and receive lots of handouts."

Registration for the free forum begins at 9:30 a.m. at the Livonia Civic Center Library. Organizers planned the event for individuals facing the challenge of a bone marrow/stem cell transplant, if you are currently coping with transplant issues, are serving as a caregiver or are a health care professional.

"This program is an invaluable opportunity to talk to people with first-hand experience in all phases of BMT. Physicians, nurses and other health care specialists, as well as BMT survivors and caregivers will share their insights and knowledge about this procedure so you gain a better understanding of its physical, emotional and psychological impact," stated forum sponsors.

ON THE AGENDA

nbmtLINK Executive Director Myra Jacobs will perform the welcome and introduction followed by key-notes by BMT survivor and musician Stewart Franke.

The morning session begins at 10 a.m. concurrent sessions about the medical perspectives before, during and after transplant include:

- Autologous Transplant (patient as donor) by Dr. Adil Akhtar of the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute and an attending physician from Oakwood Hospital and Mary Jane Frey, RN and BMT coordinator, Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute
- Allogeneic Transplant

(related or unrelated donor) by Dr. Joseph Uberti, Ph.D., Clinical director of Adult BMT Program University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center and Margaret Flowers, RN, Clinical Coordinator, BMT, Karmanos Cancer Institute.

During the complimentary lunch you can dine with the experts including transplant survivors, BMT physicians, coordinators, caregivers and other resource people or you can view the video "The New Normal: Life After Bone Marrow/Stem Cell Transplant and interact with some of the families featured in the video including Murphy. The film, produced by Sue Marx Films Inc., features the remarkable story of six transplant survivors. The video was underwritten by the General Motors Corp.

SECOND SESSION

The afternoon session resumes at 1:15 p.m. titled "Caregivers 101: Practical Perspectives for Caregivers." According to Murphy, the role of the caregiver will be the focus of discussion including the responsibilities, concerns and anxieties they face.

"The role is so demanding," said Murphy. "Their duties are so great and even more critical now that hospitals are releasing patients quicker than they had

The interactive panel includes Barbara Ann Perry, BMT social worker University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center, Melanie Goldish, mother of BMT survivor and executive director of SuperSibs, Kristel Ray, nurse practitioner Henry Ford Health System, Laura Schmidt, BMT social worker DeVos Children's Hospital, Lynette and Macklin Smith, caregiver and BMT survivor, and Renee Williamson, oncology case manager Blue Care Network.

Founded in 1992, The National Bone Marrow Transplant Link is a non-profit organization dedicated to helping patients, as well as their caregivers, families and the health care community meet the many challenges of bone marrow/stem cell transplant by providing vital information and support services.

To register for the Saturday, June 21 forum call (800) LINK-BMT (800-546-5268) or (248) 358-1886 or e-mail nbmtlink@aol.com. You will need to provide your name, phone number and number of people attending. Lunch will be available only to pre-registered participants. CEU nursing credits are available and all attendees will receive the new Caregivers Guide book.

The Livonia Civic Center Library is at 32777 Five Mile Road (east of Farmington) in Livonia.

Omega-3 fat can speed recovery from cancer surgery. In a 1996 study, cancer patients received omega-3 supplements after gastrointestinal surgery. Compared to the control group, they had 50 percent less postoperative infections and fewer digestive problems. These fats also appear to prevent the wasting syndrome that occurs in cancer patients. An English study showed that cancer patients given omega-3 fats for three months gained an average of one-half pound per month, compared to losing 6½ pounds per month prior to supplementation.

Omega-3 fats are the building blocks of anti-inflammatory chemicals in the body, whereas the omega-6 fats are used to make inflammatory chemicals. Thus, omega-3 fats can ease the stiffness, pain and fatigue of arthritis.

In a 1995 study, arthritis patients were given omega-3 supplements, along with prescription anti-inflammatory medications. After a few months, placebos replaced the prescription drugs. Many patients were able to stay off prescription drugs without a flareup of arthritis symptoms.

Because of their anti-inflammatory effects, omega-3 fats can help digestive disease. For example, Chron's patients given fish-oil supplements maintained a symptom remission rate of 59 percent at the end of a year compared to 26 percent remission in a control group given placebos. In a study on ulcerative colitis, patients receiving omega-3 fat supplements decreased their steroid medication by half, while a control group receiving placebos had to increase medication.

All About Omega-3 Oils by Clara Felix recommends four to eight grams of omega-3 fat daily. Common sources include 3.5 oz (½ cup) salmon, tuna, sardines, herring, mackerel, trout, whitefish 1.0 g, 3.5 oz lamb, 0.5 g, 12 walnuts, 2.0 g, 1 T ground flaxseed, 2.0 g, 1 cup cooked dry beans, 0.7 g, 1 T flaxseed oil, 7.0 g, 1 T canola oil, 1.5 g, 1 T walnut oil 1.2 g, ½ cup raw spinach, 0.9 g.

Do not take more than 3 T ground flaxseed per day, as it will interfere with thyroid function. Other omega-3 food sources include Brazil nuts, green leafy vegetables, omega-3 enriched eggs (found in local stores), wheat germ, regular (not instant) oatmeal and fish oil capsules.

AVOIDING AVOIDANCE

Although you experience a continuing joint pain or muscle ache you may keep putting off an appointment to see a doctor. There are reasons for that procrastination.

First is hope. Your expectation is that tomorrow will be better, you just need a little more time to recover on your own. Second is disappointment. You are upset with yourself that you are less than completely healthy and you want to keep the problem to yourself. Seeking help not only opens the problem to the doctor and his staff, but often involves explanations to family, friends and employer.

Third is receiving bad news. You may confront what you already know but do not want to hear. Such information includes being told that you must lose weight, that your arthritis is serious and won't go away or that you will need to take a medicine daily for the foreseeable future. You may dread to be told that you need an operation to correct your arthritis and that the operation should come sooner rather than later. At times, delay in seeing a physician is because of expense, not only for the visit, but for the tests and therapy that could follow.

The reasons for waiting are endless and their effects weighty. However, the need to know is more compelling. If you are to relieve your worry and resolve your pain, you must seek medical care.

Remember that fortitude includes knowing what not to ignore.

Oxford community close to lake, village

Wineman & Komer Building have two models under construction in the most recent phase to open up at Oxford Lake Estates

The platted community, off Burdick/Lakeville Road, is about a mile and a half east of Lapeer Road and downtown Oxford Village

Wineman & Komer, in business for 26 years and constructor of some 1,000 homes, has acquired 52 lots in Oxford Lake Estates

A private 115-acre lake, a former excavating operation, is the centerpiece of the development "People who own here can launch boats on the lake," said Richard Komer "It's stocked with fish, swimmable. There's a series of parks, a 6-acre beach-front with tennis court, basketball court

"The main entrance is gated for a little more safety," he said "There's a safety path where kids can walk to the new elementary school and new high school. The same safety path will take you downtown to the village

"Downtown is quaint, historic," Komer said "There's a lot of restaurants, shopping. That's an attraction for people who like that sense of identity"

Oxford Lake Estates is an easy drive from other attractions such as Great Lakes Crossing, the Palace of Auburn Hills, Oakland University/Meadow Brook, Pine Knob/DTE Energy Music Theatre and Bald Mountain State Recreation Area

"We're going to re-do landscaping to get everything pristine," Komer added "There's all sand soil here so everything dries out quickly

"Municipal services are really top-notch," he said

Deb Barnes will be the sales manager at Oxford Lake Estates

The lake community, the fact

This colonial offered by Wineman & Komer, includes four bedrooms, 2½ baths, family room, living room and dining room within nearly 2,700 square feet of living space that it's a gated community is important to people in this day and age. It's kind of a small-town feel - you're escaping the city there - is a big attraction, she said

Three floor plans are available

Base price is $296,900 for a 2,681-square-foot colonial with four bedrooms and 2½ baths, $319,500 for a story-and-a-half of 2,653 square feet with three bedrooms and 2½ baths, and $328,500 for a colonial with 2,961 square feet including four beds and 2½ baths

All include at base price two-car, side-entry garage, first-floor laundry, basement, fireplace and wood or ceramic foyer, ceramic baths vinyl kitchen/laundry and carpeting throughout

A separate tub and shower in the master suite and dishwasher, cooktop, oven and microwave in the kitchen also are standard

Two models are under construction

The Beachwood, the smaller colonial, will feature a living room, dining room, kitchen/nook and family room on the main floor. Two staircases - one off the foyer, the other off the kitchen - go upstairs

The master includes two walk-in closets and a two-sink vanity. Two of the three secondary upstairs bedrooms also have walk-in closets. A second full bath also is up

The Mariner, the larger colonial, will showcase a living room, dining room, butler's pantry, kitchen/nook, family room with volume

ceiling and a library on the main floor

Four bedrooms - including the master - and a second full bath are up. A bridge overlooks the family room and foyer

Oxford Lake Estates is serviced by the village water and sewer systems and sidewalks. It's within the Oxford public school boundaries

The property tax rate is $40.24 per $1,000 of state taxable value, half of sales price for new construction. That means the owners of a $297,000 home there would pay about $6,000 the first year

The annual association fee is $190

Until the models at Oxford Lake Estates are completed, customers are asked to contact sales staff at

Let's Talk About Real Estate

"NOTHING BUT THE FACTS!"

The most important issue you face when putting your house on the market is the correct asking price. The listing price will directly affect the number of showings you will have and the length of time your property remains unsold. If too much time elapses without an offer, your house will become "market weary" and will probably not sell for the best possible price. What source of information is most reliable when establishing the price?

THE AMOUNT YOU HAVE INVESTED?

Many people feel that the logical approach is to take the price you paid for the property and add to that figure the total amount of the improvements you have made. Now that you know your total investment, you could add a figure to allow for inflation during the years you have owned the home and, presto, you have the asking price. Although desirable, this approach is not realistic and should not be used.

THE REPRODUCTION COST?

Sometimes, real estate is appraised by using the reproduction cost method. This approach figures the amount of money that would be required to build the identical home at today's new construction prices. This is the correct method to use when estimating the amount of homeowners insurance you should carry, but not the best choice when deciding upon an asking price.

COMPARABLE SALES & CURRENT LISTINGS?

The source that is most reliable is the multiple listings information provided by a Realtor. Nothing speaks louder about the value of your home than the actual prices sellers have been willing to pay for similar properties recently. Another factor to consider is the asking prices of homes that are for sale and competing for your buyer. Because Realtors gather information from a vast number of sales transactions, their data is the best guide to use.

New home purchase now makes for good cents

It's no surprise that spring and summer are generally busy seasons for the building industry in southeastern Michigan.

This year, Americans have more reason than ever to be optimistic about the future. As the uncertainty that has gripped the country fades, many people who have delayed making a new home purchase are actively searching for their dream home once again.

For a number of reasons, I believe that now is a great time to make that dream of owning a new home a reality.

Homeownership and housing are essential to the strength and vitality of our nation, their value is virtually immeasurable.

They are the cornerstones of family security, stability and prosperity and strengthen our nation's communities, encourage civic responsibility and provide a solid foundation from which Americans can work to support their families and achieve their personal goals.

Housing also is a crucial dollars in wages and tax revenues each year, in addition to being a key component of building personal wealth and financial security.

Homeownership strengthens the social fabric of the nation. By encouraging involvement in schools and communities, and inspiring the upkeep and improvement of the home, home ownership fosters good citizenship.

Safe, decent and comfortable housing in general - and homeownership in particular - are also a positive influence in children's lives. Children of homeowners stay in school longer and are more likely to become productive citizens, component in the nation's economy and in individual financial security. New home construction and remodeling provide millions of jobs and generate billions of according to a study by the University of Chicago. The benefits to children are even more evident among low-income households, the study found.

There are also several major financial reasons to buy a home now.

The first is the current low mortgage interest rates. The rates offered today are the lowest that have been offered in three decades. It's almost unbelievable that the annual average mortgage rate for people who purchased homes in 1982 was 16.04 percent. In March, 2003, the average 30-year, fixed rate loan was being offered for 5.75 percent.

With rates this low, homebuyers can save a considerable amount of money over the life of their loans.

2003 Cadillac Escalade: Shazam!

Advertising Feature

CAReport

Anne Fracassa

BY ANN FRACASSA
AVANTI NEWS FEATURES

Although I only tested the latest version of the Cadillac Escalade for a mere four days, it was the best four days I spent in a vehicle this year so far.

The comfort, the ride and handling, the sheer luxury of this full-sized sport utility vehicle made me smile the way Gomer Pyle smiled when he said, "Shazam!"

My kids were the quietest they've been in a long time during our near-daily trips to the ice rink for their lessons with their coach. Why you say? Well, the rear seat entertainment package made by Panasonic, along with neat and comfortable wireless headphones kept them as quiet as church mice.

One thing that surprised me the most that they could access every thing. Either they're getting used to these systems or Cadillac has a great way to treat kids and their parents.

Nothing makes me more annoyed than a kid asking me to put in the DVD, press play and when nothing happens and they're disappointed, I'm pulling into the nearest side street to try and figure out what's wrong. It never happened in the Escalade. It worked perfectly and they never bothered me.

The system features a flip down screen and remote control. It's seven-inch liquid crystal display and can play audio and video in both CD and DVD formats. The DVD play can play discs that play wide-or standard-screen formats and also have three sets of video inputs for video game systems. The whole system allows the second-row seat passengers to enjoy what they want to listen or watch, while mom and dad can listen to anything from an all-news station or heavy metal rock-and-roll without bothering the kids.

The system is worth every penny of the $1,300 you'll pay for that option. Anything that stems aggravation is worth it! Especially after a long day.

There are a lot of things that are new this year on the Escalade. StabiliTrac has been upgraded to a four channel system and now comes standard on the two-wheel-drive model. There are dual-level and passenger-sensing air bags, which automatically turns off the passenger air bag if nobody's in the seat. A true cost savings in the event of deployment in an accident.

I know a lot of people around town who absolutely hate high intensity discharge headlights. They always flash their brights at me or yell out the window. Sorry, I still think its superb lighting of the road in front of you is worth their annoyance.

Also, the exterior mirrors are a tad larger and now have turn-signal indicators. That's a feature I really appreciate. Optional are second row bucket seats. When you have a family of four and don't have to haul a lot of people, it's a great option to have. All four of you are comfortable. My oldest child commented she wished our SUV had that option.

New this year on Escalade are a driver information center and a steering wheel with eight button controls. The driver information center monitors and reports on more than 30 vehicle functions, which is more than any other SUV on the road today. Because of the addition of the driver information center, the interior instrument panel and cluster had to be redesigned to accommodate it.

The IP and cluster are a lot better laid out and easier to understand. The IP is a joy to look at because of its simplicity. There's nothing you'll be scratching your head over. I mentioned the new steering wheel controls because you can personalize your vehicle and access all the information you would like.

I don't usually comment on stereo systems in the vehicle, but I have to tell you this premium Bose system is crisp and clear no matter how high the sound goes. My girls are practicing for their end-of-the-year school program and it features that great tune, "Proud to be an American." They love to play it at full zap and they did it without a problem.

Another improvement this year is the automatic climate control, which features allowing the driver, front and second-row passengers to adjust the temperature to their liking. It can handle as drastic as a 30-degree difference between the two zones and automatically controls air delivery, fan speed, temperature and recirculating of air for faster cool downs or heating.

The Escalade I tested was in the best color you could have. Escalade in Black. The exterior is very appealing and lends itself to be commanding of the road and even looks a little aggressive. The rear door handle is large and allows you to open and close the rear very easily. The door swings up really high and although an adult doesn't have a lot of trouble closing it, little people did.

The Escalade all wheel drive is powered by the very strong Vortec 6000, which is a 6.0-liter V8 engine rated at 345 horsepower. More than strong. And loud at first idle. Not in a bad way, though. It springs to life and tells you it's ready to take you where you need to go.

We drove the Escalade to Ann Arbor twice in two days for my girls figure skating competition and it was a wonderful treat to be in a comfortable large SUV for those two days. You would be foolish not to consider this vehicle as your next SUV.
