Approval for public restroom comes with conditions of alternate funding

It appears the construction of a downtown public restroom in Plymouth hasn't been totally flushed down the drain. The Plymouth City Commission voted Monday night to move ahead with the project, on the condition that funding from contributions is in place by March 2004.

Commissioners, on Aug. 18, voted 3-2 against moving ahead with the $160,000 project, despite the fact money is available from a previously approved capital improvement bond issue. Some commissioners were concerned that other capital improvement projects have been on hold because of the city's budget crisis, and putting a public

Trash collection to be tested

Residents in two areas of the city of Plymouth have been selected to participate in a pilot program that will test some new trash collection equipment and technology. Neighborhood Services Coordinator Scott Cabauatan stated that the new equipment will not only increase the productivity and efficiency of the waste hauling contractor, but it will also decrease the amount of injuries to workers outside the truck.

"With this new method known as 'Automated Trash Collection' the driver stays inside the truck and operates a mechanical arm to grab the trash cans."

Residents who are part of the program will receive a trash can to use during the pilot program, only the special pilot program trash cans will be permitted during the test period. The use of loose trash bags will not be allowed. The pilot program will be for residents living in the New England subdivision and residents living within the area bounded by the streets of South Harvey, Penniman, North Sheldon and West Ann Arbor Trail in the city.

The program will run from Oct. 6-20. The affected residents will receive a notice regarding the pilot program and an informational meeting to answer any questions that they may have.

"I am very excited about this program," said Cabauatan. "This program is not only more efficient and cost effective but it is a safer means of performing strenuous and sometimes dangerous work. Keeping the drivers in the truck is beneficial for everyone."

Questions regarding this program may be directed to Scott Cabauatan (734) 453-7737, Ext. 108, or via e-mail scabauatan@ci.plymouth.mi.us

Witness: Driver jumped tracks

Driver of car that killed police officer heads to trial

BY JACK GLADDEN
STAFF WRITER

A front seat passenger in the car that plowed into a Canton patrol vehicle in July, killing Officer Lew Stevens, testified on Thursday that he and the driver, Kurtis Bragg, had been drinking at two bars a few hours before the accident occurred.

Jeremiah McClure, 25, of Kentucky said he and Bragg were in Michigan working temporarily at a Ford plant, although they were not working on July 23, the day of the crash.

At the second phase of the preliminary hearing in 35th District Court, McClure testified that they, along with another worker, arrived at the Yacht Club on Newburgh Lake about 11 a.m. that day where they had lunch and drank three beers.

Later, he said, they went to the Silver Cricket on Michigan Avenue where they had three-four beers and three shots.

On cross examination by defense attorney Joseph A. Simon, McClure said he saw Bragg consume two beers at the Yacht Club. He said he couldn't say exactly how many beers Bragg actually consumed at the Silver Cricket, but he did know he drank three shots of liquor.

"I drank shots with him," he said. "We all three drank three shots at the same time. We weren't trying to get drunk. I wouldn't have gotten in the car with him if I thought that he was drunk."

Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Robert Moran stipulated that after the accident, Bragg's blood alcohol level was tested at 0.04 - less than the 0.10 considered to be legally drunk.

After visiting the two bars, McClure said the trio, with Bragg driving a rented 2002 Pontiac Grand Prix, drove to the Holiday Inn on Michigan Avenue at Lotz Road where they pulled into the parking lot.

In the parking lot, he testified, Bragg asked him "You ever jumped any train tracks?" I said, hell, no. I didn't think he was for real."

McClure said Bragg then pulled out of the parking lot, drove down Lotz Road at over 50 miles an hour and approached the railroad tracks.

"We jumped the train tracks," he said. "We started coming down and there was a car right in front of us."

After the crash, he said their car kept going and hit a tree. He said Bragg was knocked out.

"He woke up and said 'What happened?' I said you hit a police car," McClure testified.

Both McClure and Bragg received broken legs in the crash.

Bragg has been charged with second-degree murder and has been held without bond in Wayne County Jail.

After the testimony from McClure, Simon asked the court to reduce the charge against his client to involuntary manslaughter. Earlier he had asked for a $200,000/10-percent cash bond.

After listening to a brief debate between the two attorneys over the definition and question of 'malice' in relation to the charges, Judge John E. MacDonald rejected Simon's request and ordered Bragg to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on the second-degree murder charge.

He also remanded him to the Wayne County Jail without bond.

A circuit court arraignment has been scheduled for Sept. 18 in the Frank Murray Hall of Justice.

Aging park fencing replaced to eliminate safety concerns

In an ongoing effort to improve the aesthetics and the quality of Plymouth Township Park, improvements were recently made to create a safer recreational area for users.

According to Ron Edwards, township treasurer, aging fences that surround the four baseball diamonds were starting to show their age. Of most concern to Edwards, who raised the issue with the township board after a recent visit to the park, was the exposed concrete footings that supported each of the metal fence posts.

"I was afraid someone might hit their heads on the unprotected concrete," said Edwards. "It was time to restore the fencing with a more suitable and safe replacement."

At a cost of less than $15,000, the new four-foot fencing no longer has points on the fencepost caps and park visitors will notice new four poles.

Now that the new fence is in, which took approximately four days to install, the treasurer hopes park visitors and athletes will notice less baseballs slipping under the fence - possibly costing a team a win in the past.

"The new fence should eliminate any stray balls from rolling under the fence," added Edwards, who promises to make more park improvements in the months and years to come.

"We want to keep it as attractive and appealing as possible. A lot of people use the park and the baseball fields for both recreation and competition. We took the safety concerns very seriously and resolved the problem."

bathroom ahead of those was improper. There were also concerns the city would be "on the hook" to fund the project if contributions didn't materialize.

However, City Manager Paul Sincock devised a plan to seek out contributions from private, public and community sources through March 31 of next year.

If the commitments for funding don't match the $160,000 needed to pay for the project, the city will put the plan on hold and use the bond money for other capital improvement projects.

"The community has always had a long history, when there was a determined need, of stepping up to the plate and taking care of it," said Sincock. "Like improvements to Kellogg - the original brick walkways, the fountain in the park, The Gathering pavilion was the same thing. And, the neighborhood parks adopted by various service clubs

To those who visit Kellogg Park, the construction of a public restroom just outside The Gathering - next to the Penn Theatre - is a long time coming. Melissa Michael of Canton Township was playing with her three children - 4-year-old twins and a 7-month-old - on a sunny afternoon in the park, as was her friend, Heather Cunnien, also from Canton. Cunnien brought her 4-year-old and an 11-month-old.

"The porta potties are disgusting," said Michael. "It's nice to take kids to a clean rest area and wash their hands and be sanitary. I'm surprised it's taken this long with all the Music in the Park programs that have been going on for years."

The blankets spread on the grass served as the changing tables for babies.

"We just lay them on the ground and change them," said Cunnien, who noted there wasn't anywhere else to change diapers. The older ones, we go to Panera's or Starbucks.

"I usually buy something when we go in, she said.

Unless it was an emergency, I wouldn't go in just to go to the bathroom.

Commissioners Stella Greene, Ron Loisel and Colleen Pobur voted for the bathroom project, just two weeks after voting against it.

"I've always been in favor of the bathroom, but I wanted to be assured the city wasn't making a financial commitment without a clearly defined source of revenue to reimburse the city. We need those who said they would get involved to step up before we go forward," Greene said.

Commissioner Dan Dwyer, who has made the bathroom a personal project since being elected four years ago, said Art in the Park coordinator Dianne Quinn has committed $2,500.

"I'm looking for the DDA (Downtown Development Authority) to give a lot of money, I'm looking for the Chamber of Commerce (to give money) he said. "We moved the location to accommodate the Kiwanis (Fall Festival) pancake breakfast and the

According to the Waterfowl Club these geese are suitable as watchdogs because they are the chattiest of the breed with a curiosity unrivaled by other breeds. "I think it's someone's domestic goose that got lost," said Ernzen who has been watching the bird for the past four five days. "It's been making a lot of honking noises which is another reason why I think it's trying to find its home."

Although the goose isn't disrupting the other birds and geese who occasionally dwell in the pond, she would like to reunite it with its owner if in fact it's lost.

The Chinese goose is of the brown/gray variety featuring orange legs and brown body feathers that are lighter on the under side.

It's really unique looking and pretty exotic from what I read," said Ernzen. It has this enormous bump on its bill and a very long and dramatic neck.

1st attacks in Plymouth's Kellogg Park. It's titled "Remember Our Heroes."

We want to remember what happened on Sept. 11, and honor the fallen heroes and families, Valui said. "We want to say we still care for you, and were here to celebrate our freedom."

"We will continue to celebrate freedom, and will continue to live our lives as we have always lived," he added. "What happened here affects people all around the world. I want to bring that message to the community."

The Rev. Michael Bryan, the senior minister of First Baptist Church, said the community service will take the opportunity to remember those in law enforcement and public safety, not only those who gave their lives on 9/11, but those who give of themselves to help in all kinds of emergency situations.

"It's not only to remember those from 9/11, but also tie it in with the recent power outage and how the community pitched in to help each other," Bryan said. "Anybody can be a hero when the chips are down, or the timing is right."

"You can make yourself a hero whenever the situation arises," he added. "We all feel a lot less vulnerable when people are pitching in."

Carl Battushill, director of the Plymouth Community Band, said the program will consist of four musical parts: "The Star-Spangled Banner" to begin the program, Bombs Bursting in Air to remember Sept. 11 and allow us to grieve, In God We Trust, which will dwell on some of the response after the event, and a patriotic conclusion.

The community event will begin at 7 p.m. in Kellogg Park.

Stewart said it was no secret the property was contaminated at the time of the purchase agreement with Grand/Sakwa.

"There are several underground storage tanks and a small oil well," Stewart said. "I'm also aware of all the asbestos there. It's astronomically expensive to clean leaking underground storage tanks."

"We had hoped the dollar amount for cleaning the property would not have been prohibitive, but obviously it was," he added. "There is a significant amount of cleanup to be done."

The state worked out plans to sell the property in February 2002. In addition, 70 acres of the site were to be given to the Northville community for a possible fire station or elementary school, and to extend Winchester Drive between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads. In exchange, the communities were expected to give consideration to a future developer by contemplating a zoning change from residential to commercial so the land could be sold by the state for $65 million.

"We wanted the $65 million to balance the state budget, but now we may have to find another source of revenue to plug the hole," Stewart said, "or we'll have to find another buyer, at a lower price, that will be willing to do all the cleanup."

Manufacturer lowers our cost and we've lowered prices to save you hundreds of dollars Innovations, compassion distinguish Hearing Aid Centers, Inc.

You don't have to suffer anymore. At George Iwanow Hearing Aid Centers, Inc., you'll discover the latest in hearing aid technology at the lowest prices ever. The "new" digital hearing aids that list for more than $5,000, are sold for less than $2,000 at George Iwanow Hearing Aid Centers.

"More than 28 million Americans suffer from hearing loss, and only 20 percent of the population is wearing hearing aids, because of the cost," said owner George Iwanow. "We have the best prices on all of our hearing aids, including our top-of-the-line digital products."

"Digital technology has revolutionized the industry. It makes the hearing aid more comfortable for the user to wear," he added. "Digital hearing aids compress loud sounds and amplify soft sounds automatically. Whereas with analog hearing aids, the user has to adjust the volume control up and down manually."

Iwanow's hearing aid offices are the only place that offer the high-tech Silflex.

Silflex is a soft shell that fits comfortably in the patient's ear. Silflex improves feedback, protects the electronics against moisture and flexes

George Iwanow Hearing Aid Centers also offers all styles of hearing aid devices.

"Some hearing aids are smaller than a contact lens," Iwanow added.

Furthermore, you will benefit from the latest technologies at George Iwanow Hearing Aid Centers, Inc. The Centers' No. 1 priority is caring for their patients, giving them the best service, quality and the best price.

"We have been a family owned and operated business for more than 49 years," he said. "We've helped thousands of people hear more clearly and understand words in noise. One local woman has been a patient of ours for more than 45 years."

Licensed hearing aid specialists and audiologists are on staff at George Iwanow Hearing Aid Centers, Inc. They offer hearing tests and hearing aid evaluations, and make recommendations for the appropriate hearing aid to meet the patient's particular needs.

Follow-up appointments are set up to make sure patients are completely satisfied.

"We dare anyone to compare prices with us," Iwanow said. "Come in and listen to how great our 100 percent digital hearing aids sound."

George Iwanow Hearing Aid Centers, Inc. offers a five-year factory warranty with a five-year loss and damage policy. They also provide every purchaser with a five-year battery supply with the purchase of their top-of-the-line hearing instruments, recommended only by staff.

barbecue," said Tim Joy, chairman of Sunday's Rotary Club barbecue chicken dinner

Last year, the Rotary collected $50,000 in advertising and ticket sales for its foundation, which is spent on a number of community activities and scholarships throughout the year. Sunday tickets are $9 each. Organizers encourage festival-goers to arrive early because the line gets long.

A Rotary chicken barbecue dinner includes one chicken quarter, corn on the cob, dinner roll, bag of potato chips and one soft drink.

Takeout chicken dinners are also available at East and West Middle Schools from 11 a.m. until sold out. East Middle School (Mill Street between Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail) West Middle School (southwest corner of Sheldon Road and Ann Arbor Trail).

When you're not eating, don't miss the Antique and Classic Car Show (1975 and older) from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. An awards show will be held for Top 10 vehicles at 4 p.m. You can still register your car the day of the show (Sunday, Sept. 7) from 8-11 a.m. for $15 (cash only).

You'll find these retro beauties parked on Ann Arbor Trail at Forest

SHOPPING

If you have an interest in crafts or are looking to start your holiday shopping early, don't miss the craft show at Veterans Park (in front of Central Middle School, across from City Hall). Approximately 50 booths will open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The seventh annual Treasure Chest Craft Show will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 7 at Central Middle School (Church and Main Streets) in Plymouth. Admission $1. The event is sponsored by the Village Painters, a local decorative painting chapter of The Society of Decorative Painters. The show will feature a large variety of hand-painted items such as furniture, glassware, watercolor and oil paintings, seasonal themes on wood and tin accessories, jewelry, baskets and more.

The Village Painters are also sponsoring a free "Learn to Paint" booth outside the school where members will teach anyone stopping by to paint a project.

If games of chance and carnival rides are more your speed, stop by the mid-way area, located on Main Street, Penniman and Ann Arbor Trail between Union and Main Streets, where you can ride a Ferris wheel or try and win your child or sweetheart a stuffed animal at one of the many game booths. You have until 6 p.m. to ride or play in the carnival areas.

IN TUNE

Power surge

Continuing their offseason pattern of adding size to the roster the Plymouth Whalers acquired 6 foot 1 defense man Richard Power from the Kingston Frontenacs for a 5th round draft pick in 2004. All of Whalers General Manager/head coach Mike Yellucci's pick ups this off season have helped improve the team's size at all positions on the ice.

Power a 19 year old from Scarborough Ontario scored two goals with 15 assists last season for Kingston after spending two years with the Owen Sound Attack. Power was a first round draft pick of the Attack in 2000.

Richard has played 190 games in the OHL which gives us added experience Yellucci said. His leadership skills should help develop our younger defensesmen.

Whalers win

The Whalers opened their 2003-04 exhibition season with a 6-2 win over the Saginaw Spirit at Compuware Arena.

Dan Collins scored two goals and assisted on two others and Nick Vernelli added a pair of goals for the Whalers.

Booster meeting

The next meeting for the Plymouth Wildcat Football Boosters will take place at 7 p.m. Tuesday Sept. 9 in room 401 at Plymouth High School. All parents of current football players are asked to attend this meeting.

Financial reports fund raising activities and updates from the coaches will be among the items up for discussion at the meeting.

RU seeks coaches

Redford Union is looking for qualified coaches for the following sports for the 2003-04 school year: Girls varsity volleyball, girls JV volleyball, boys JV basketball and JV baseball.

Interested candidates should send a letter of interest and resume to athletic director Brett Steele 17711 Kinloch Redford MI 48240 or call the department at (313) 242-4270.

Rec classes

The city of Plymouth is now accepting registrations for its Fall 2003 Recreation Classes.

Youth programs range from gymnastics to ceramics and cooking. Adult and senior programs are also available and include activities like scrapbooking and gardening among others.

Plymouth's David Snyder (15) and Robby Emerson (17) of Plymouth Christian Academy battle for the ball in Thursday's soccer match. PCA used a big second half to pull away with a 2-0 victory over the Wildcats.

PCA keeps up hot soccer start with win over Plymouth

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
STAFF WRITER

Six games, five wins and no losses. Not a bad start for a team that states it doesn't concern itself with wins and losses.

Plymouth Christian Academy won its fifth game against zero losses with a 2-0 win over Plymouth High School Wednesday at PHS.

Coach Terry Bixler says his team plays as if wins and losses are meaningless. The formula must be working successfully, at least based on the record so far.

"We focus on team play and don't worry about getting the ball to one player," Bixler said. "We don't emphasize whether we win the games or not, we just celebrate the gifts we've been given to play this game."

PCA's first goal of the game might not be considered a "gift" but it was certainly unexpected. Steve Gallagher scored directly on a corner kick that bent into the far upper corner of the net to give his team a 1-0 lead early in the second half.

Tom Oswald scored the second goal of the game for PCA, with Dan Carty picking up the assist. PCA outshot Plymouth 12-7 in the game, with Matt

It's not your classic league rivalry yet. But the Canton and Westland John Glenn football programs are working on it.

It isn't a classic rivalry yet because the Chiefs haven't been a league power long enough. But Coach Tim Baechler's squad is working on that.

Canton showed Friday night why it's emerging as a league power and a state playoff contender with a 20-7 victory over longtime league and state power John Glenn.

CANTON FOOTBALL

"That," said Rockets coach Chuck Gordon, "is a good football team. A very good football team."

Runs of 57, 48 and 4 yards by fullback Chuck Schumacher accounted for all of undefeated (2-0).

Canton's scoring. John Glenn (1-1) was denied the feel of the end zone until Matt Smitherman slipped in from the 1-yard line with 1:41 to play.

The Chiefs did it with a "Three Yards and a Cloud of Rubber" offense on its own brand-new artificial surface, which is the latest version of phony grass but with a generous sprinkling of ground up rubber that typically sprays up when players are sprinting and cutting.

The Rockets went with that time-tested offense, too. It's just that the Chiefs executed theirs a little better.

It was a lot more than the new power trying to usurp the throne of the old. At stake was the early edge in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"When I first came here," Baechler said, "Walled Lake Western, John Glenn and Farmington Harrison were the bulks on the block. That's where we

Salem cagers clamp down on Mustangs

BY BRAD MONASTIERE

After facing perhaps the state's top team (West Bloomfield) and certainly the state's top player (Samantha Mahoney) in its previous game, the Salem girls basketball team emphatically got into the win column Thursday night.

The Rocks used a suffocating defensive effort to blow out Northville 40-15 in the first game of the Novi High School Tournament. Salem advanced to the finals of the early season tourney Saturday night against the host Wildcats.

Salem's defense was the story, holding the Mustangs to just two points in the first, third and fourth quarters, an amazing effort regardless of the opponent.

"We started with a full-court press and did a good job with our transition offense," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "We played very good defense on the ball in the game."

Last Thursday, the Rocks lost a 48-46 heartbreaker to West Bloomfield in its season opener. Mahoney, a favorite for the Miss Basketball Award, sank two free throws with 0.8 seconds left to win the game for the Lakers.

Salem's second game of the season had no such drama at the end. Although Northville outscored the Rocks 9-6 in the second quarter, the Mustangs managed a total of four points in the second half.

Junior Alyssa Guerin led a balanced offensive attack with 13 points and 12 rebounds for Salem. Jamie Siedlaczack added seven while Becky Ward tossed in five. Every player on Salem's roster scored in the game.

"We got a little sloppy in that second quarter, but in the second half we did a real good job of pressuring the ball," Thomann said.

Novi edged Ann Arbor Huron in the other game in the tournament, 38-37.

Cezak dominates

It's not often an individual player outscore an entire team in a basketball game. Then again, it's not often you see players the caliber of Katie Cezak.

Turnovers tumble the Rocks in 28-21 loss

BY BRAD MONASTIERE

There's a reason football coaches like to say turnovers are one of the biggest factors in determining the winner of a game. That reason was on display Friday night at Churchill High School.

The host Chargers held a 4-0 edge in turnover differential and played a huge part in the team's 28-21 win over the visiting Salem Rocks. Churchill is now 2-0.

SALEM FOOTBALL

for the second straight season, while Salem falls to 1-1 overall.

The Chargers forced four turnovers — three of them in the second half — to hold off the pesky Rocks. Thanks to the turnovers and effective offense by both teams, there was just one punt in the game, and that didn't happen until 9:08 remained in the fourth quarter.

Churchill coach John Filatraut said two of the four turnovers were big, because they stopped threatening drives by Salem.

"If we don't come up with those fumbles, it could be a whole different game," Filatraut said. "It's good we got those tonight because it's something we spend a lot of time on in practice."

After cruising to an easy dual-meet win on Wednesday over Warren De La Salle at Cattails, top-ranked Catholic Central had a tougher time on Thursday

Oh, the Shamrocks still won the quad meet at Baypointe Country Club in West Bloomfield over Novi, Milford and Walled Lake Western. But it was far from the 20-stroke win that CC rung up on the Pilots

"We had guys do different things in different matches, which is good this time of year," said CC coach Bill Hayes "We did what we had to do to win" CC scored 149 on Thursday, helped in no small part by Adam Hogue birdieing the last two holes, en route to a meet-best 34. Milford scored 150, Novi shot 152 and Western had a 160

Chris Ehason scored 37 for the Shamrocks and Jimmy Burns and Dave Denyer both had 39

"Hogue shot a 44 against De La Salle, so I guess he's out of his slump now," said Hayes "It was cold and the wind kicked up and it got a little rough. But there were four pretty good schools out there"

As for being ranked No. 1, Hayes felt the strength of CC's schedule has paid off in the team's getting the attention it deserves

"We won two major tournaments to start the year, so I think it was a no brainer for the coaches panel," said Hayes "We've played well. Playing from the tips this year makes the difference and has really helped us"

Ehason and Brian King led Catholic Central on Wednesday to an easy 154-171 win over Warren De La Salle at Cattails. The two shot 38 to take medalist honors, while Mike King, Dave Denyer and Jimmy Burns all shot 39

Canton improves to 3-0 on the season with the win, while Dearborn is 2-1 overall

Despite playing fewer than 3 1/2 quarters, Cezak dominated the smaller frontline of the Pioneers. She finished many of her field goal attempts, and those she didn't she was very active on the offensive boards

"Her teammates did a great job of getting her the ball," said Canton coach Bob Blohm "She's more of a 4-player (power forward) instead of a center, so she can score from different places"

The Pioneers came out using a quick-moving zone defense

The Chiefs held a 21-10 scoring edge in the quarter to go into halftime holding a 37-24 lead. Dearborn managed just 12 points in the second half as Canton's killer instinct took over

LaSalle Sandwich can't cut the mustard vs. CC in rout

BY PAUL BEAUDRY
STAFF WRITER

LaSalle Sandwich didn't really live up to its name on Friday night against Catholic Central.

Actually, the visitors from Ontario proved to be more of a Lunchable than a whole sandwich.

The host Shamrocks scored four touchdowns in the first quarter alone en route to a 56-0 win over the Sabres.

How bad was it? The second half was a running clock as the Shamrocks held a 35-0 lead. And CC, the consensus No. 1 team in the state at 2-0, outgamed the Sabres (0-1) on the ground - 420 to minus 47.

On the bright side for Sandwich, it did outgain the Shamrocks in the air, 102-0. So they had that going for them.

Derek Brooks wound up gaining 93 yards on seven carries - with first-quarter TD runs of 29, 27 and 10 yards. Darnell Tyson added a 34-yard TD run on his only carry of the game and Drew Ambles' 8-yard scoring run closed out the first-half scoring. Jason Gingell kicked all eight extra points.

CC scored again in the third quarter as reserve quarterback

FOOTBALL

Anthony Sabo went in on a 9-yard run, while Brendan English had an 18-yard scoring run and Ryan McKee closed out the scoring with another 18-yard TD.

Eddie Moore had nine carries for 70 yards. Robert Fragosa had 59 yards on nine carries, Eric Vojtkofsky had 53 yards on four carries, Dave Thomas had 38 yards on four carries and English had eight carries for 35 yards.

Defensively, Tyson and Kyle Smith had three sacks each, while Dominique Fischer and Dave Herberholz both had interceptions.

The Shamrocks take to the road next week as the play Detroit DePorres on Saturday, Sept. 13 at Hamtramcks Kenworth Stadium.

Aggies win 1st

St. Katharine/Bishop Borgess coach Werner Blakely knew his team was still banged up from last weekend's game with Cranbrook.

So he ran the one sure play that he knew would work - give the ball to running back Kenny Smith.

And the move paid off as Smith rushed for 224 yards on 31 carries - all but five offensive plays - and added a pair of touchdowns as the Aggies beat host Wyandotte Mt. Carmel/Ecorse, 14-8.

"We pretty much just gave him the ball," said Blakely as his team moved to 1-1 on the year. "(Fullback) Brandon Lee got hurt against Cranbrook, so we just played ball control."

Smith scored both touchdowns in the second quarter, on runs of 3 and 8 yards and added a conversion run. The Aggies' lone pass completion came in the second quarter as quarterback Greg Crooms hit Calvin Brown on a 38-yard gain, setting up the Aggies' first score.

As for stopping the Comets, Blakely had a simple philosophy.

"They had a mobile quarterback, so we played zone and kept everything in front of us," said Blakely. "They had three receivers in a one-back set and so we zoned them. They had a chance to tie it on fourth-and-goal from the 1, but they jumped offside and that was that."

wanted to be. Well, now that we're one of the bullies, I'm not so sure.

"We do feel that hopefully tradition is coming for us. Our freshmen team and our junior varsity team both win. So our kids are expecting to win when they come here to us. Our freshmen coming in are excited to play football."

John Glenn missed starting junior quarterback Vinnie DeLuca, who is out with a broken foot. Junior Jon McCahill did a nice job filling in, but Canton relied on its backs to cover Glenn's receivers - and they did. This allowed the Chiefs to load up on the line and keep Smitherman under some measure of control.

Smitherman gained a game-best 171 yards - but it took him 31 rushes to do it. Schumacher gained 161, but on 16 carries.

The way he can cut is amazing, Baechler said of Smitherman. "We knew he had a sore ankle coming in. Our kids did a good job of not giving up any long runs."

The Rockets loaded up in front of the line, too, but sophomore quarterback Shawn Little was able to connect on 4-of-7 passes for 69 yards, three resulting in first downs.

Loading up to stop the run worked - except for Schumacher's two long touchdown runs. Both times he went through the middle, broke a tackle or two and burst past defenders into the clear.

I thought we played really hard, Gordon said. But we've got to play better and get better. But we'll get back at it. That's what we'll have to do.

Both teams played like the entire field was four-down territory. There were only three punts total and both teams gave up the ball on downs three times.

Canton's third possession resulted in Schumacher's 57-yard TD run, giving the team a 7-0 halftime lead.

John Glenn missed a 30-yard field goal try on the first possession of the second half and Schumacher reeled off his second long run two Canton possessions later.

The Chiefs put the game out of reach on their next possession on a 68-yard drive that made it 20-0 with 4:16 left.

And a good rivalry took another step toward becoming a classic one.

Salem coach Bob Cummings agreed saying the turnovers hurt his team's chances of winning.

"We made a lot of mental mistakes and Churchill is too good of a team to have turnovers and commit bad penalties on," Cummings said. "But I thought our intensity was not what it should be in the first half. Our defense didn't show up to play in that first half."

Led by senior QB Chris Drabicki, the Rocks tied the game 21-21 in the third quarter and appeared to carry the momentum.

Churchill regained the lead 28-21 but the Rocks were moving the ball well and had three chances in the fourth quarter to tie the game. But all three times, the Chargers forced turnovers, two of those coming inside their own 25-yard line.

We put the onus on our defensive line to be more competitive in the second half, and they were, particularly in the fourth quarter, Filatraut said. Drabicki made us look bad a few times, so we need to do a better job of tackling."

Churchill appeared to be the more aggressive team to start the game, led by senior QB Justin Grohoski who played a smart, controlled game for the Chargers.

He hit senior WR Larry McDonald with a 43-yard pass on a key 3rd-and-11 play on the games opening drive that ended when he scored on a quarterback sneak, giving Churchill a 7-0 lead. Grohoski passed 94 yards in the game on just three completions.

The Chargers forced the first turnover of the game when senior lineman Shane Vine recovered a fumble on the Churchill 36-yard line.

The team took advantage of the big play with a methodical 64-yard drive to jump ahead 14-0.

Senior Jonathan Bunzeluk scored from 13 yards out to give the Chargers the two-touchdown lead. Bunzeluk also played a big part in closing out the win, ripping off good runs late in the fourth quarter when the Chargers were trying to preserve the win. He finished with 113 yards rushing on 13 carries.

Drabicki led all players with 148 yards rushing on 15 carries. He tied the game at 21 with a 52-yard touchdown scamper up the left sidelines early in the third quarter. He also completed 6 of 10 passes for 84 yards with two interceptions. Senior RB Mike Kerul added 66 yards on the ground with a touchdown for Salem.

Churchill senior Patrick McFalls was also a playmaker in the game, rushing for 88 yards and two touchdowns and had a 52-yard kickoff return to help set up his second score of the night.

Cummings, who saw his Salem team start the season with a 41-0 win, said he saw some holes in his team's play he intends to try to fill in the coming week.

"We played a much stronger team tonight so we found some definite things to work on," he said. "We started to get better with our intensity in the third quarter but the turnovers really hurt us."

Churchill travels to Walled Lake Central next week, while the Rocks host the Northville Mustangs.

Ocelots win conference opener, 2-1

BY JOSE CARRILLO
STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College men's head coach Dominic Scicluna was only slightly pleased with Wednesday's 2-1 home opening conference victory over Kellogg CC.

He said SC (1-2-1, 1-0 MCCA) dominated most of the game against a tough opponent, but winning on a penalty kick by freshman Rod Asllam in the second half does not give him the satisfaction of where his team needs to be.

"We played some good soccer, but are missing the finishing touches that I would like to see," said the two-time Region 12 Coach of the Year Scicluna compared the Ocelots to a finished model airplane without a motor.

"It's not going to get off the ground, he said. It might look nice, but it has to fly. We need pieces for the finished product to enjoy the beauty."

The next time the team tests its wings is Wednesday when it travels to face off with conference foe Delta.

Scicluna said Delta is one of SC's biggest rivals and this year they look to be an even stronger team. Also, because of finishing third in the nation last season, it gives Delta a stronger motive.

"When you're on top of the mountain everybody wants to remove you and their can only be one," he said.

Three of the top returning players are William Friend, Leonardo Moya and Shon Washington.

Friend scored 15 goals to lead SC last season, but is off to a slow start, according to Scicluna. Moya, from Costa Rica, is the team's most creative offensive player, but lacks a bit on the defensive side. Meanwhile, Washington is a defensive strong point, who usually marks the opponent's top offensive player.

First-year players Asllam, Mike Bennett and Liam Curran will be looking to replace some of the firepower lost from last season.

Asllam, Alabama, is already considered one of the team's top threats and scoring game-winning goals already will not hurt his chances for playing time.

Bennett served in the U.S. military and Scicluna said he fits in as the team's disciplined soldier.

Curran should be the team's goalkeeper, replacing Eric Sieha (Livonia Churchill), now playing for Scicluna's brother, Tino, who is the head coach at Madonna University.

Also at MU this season from SC is Worth Sampson, who is one of six Ocelots to have gone on to play for MU.

Scicluna said he is most pleased with his squad because they are alert and aware of the purpose to serve, both as a family and as a group.

He is also banking on a return trip to the NJCAA Nationals. And that can be realized if the Ocelots peak toward the end of the year.

Schoolcraft ran into trouble in the beginning of the season against a couple of ranked opponents at the Missouri Tournament on Aug. 27-31.

The Ocelots' best result was in their first outing, tying St. Louis (Mo.) CC-Florissant Valley, 2-2. SC then fell to Springfield (Ill.) College, 4-3, before losing its final game to East Central (Mo.) CC, 2-1.

MU women manage tie

It was an even battle between the unranked Madonna

University women's soccer team and the third-ranked (NAIA) Lindenwood University in St. Charles (Mo.) that ended in a 2-2 tie on Friday.

The Crusaders (0-0-1) enjoyed a 2-0 lead in the first half, but let it slip as Lindenwood snuck back into the game with two goals in the second.

Both teams were unable to score in two overtime periods.

Scoring for the Crusaders was forward Emily Jackson and freshman forward Kelly Japowicz, who got her first career goal.

MU men fall, 1-0

Sometimes happiness is not winning.

Madonna men's soccer head coach Tino Scicluna was somewhat satisfied after his 22nd-ranked team fell 1-0 to third-ranked Rio Grande, in Tiffin, Ohio, on Friday.

"You never want to be happy with losses, but this is as close to happy it gets after a loss," the first-year head coach said. "We played extremely well, had our chances and competed with one of the best teams in the nation."

The Crusaders (1-1) gave up the goal 20 minutes into the first half.

Holding on for dear life

It should be a federal holiday. The first day of school, a day that as parents lives in our hearts and our minds

I used to love having the kids home for the summer. We would spend days as a family. At the lake, taking field trips to the zoo, we would organize play dates and our afternoons would be structured around sporting activities.

We would go to baseball games. We would have picnics in the park and our household would be "up and moving" first thing in the morning. Those were the times we would ride the merry-go-round with the kids, holding onto them for dear life.

Summers used to fly by. It seemed there was never enough time to do everything we wanted to do.

Then, before we knew it, the kids were becoming teens. That is when the rules for the summer seemed to change. Somehow, in our middle age, my husband and I had forgotten what it was to be a teenager.

We didn't seem to remember that teens sleep until the crack of noon, that days consist of lying on the couch, it completely slipped our mind that being a teen means more about friends and less about family.

chatting on the telephone or computer. We had forgotten about the summers spent driving to this friend's house or that friend's house.

It completely slipped our mind that being a teen means more about friends and less about family.

Long dismissed was the exercise of standing in front of the open refrigerator door peering into it for hours on end. Dreams of having a magic food fairy hand out a specially prepared ham sandwich long since faded. It slipped our minds of the effort it took to ceremoniously slam the door shut while we grumbled that there is "never anything to eat in this house."

We forgot spending a day with family at the zoo, museum or park was "lame" and that activity of choice for the teen of yesterday and today was the ghastly expensive amusement park.

We just didn't remember that optimal family fun meant letting go of your child as they got off the merry-go-round to instead standing helplessly by as your child rode roller coasters that not only defied death, but also gravity.

How our memories of those days seem to fade as the years slip away.

As a teen, I never thought I would be the mother. My mother, that clueless creature who woke me up in the morning, that woman who fed me, taught me, and consoled me when hormones were high and times were

The Rev. George Williams started at St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton on July 1. He has asked parishioners to meet with him individually so he can get to know them and their ideas about the parish.

Priest wants to help make sense of this life

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

The priesthood wasn't something George Williams considered as a younger man. Armed with a degree from the University of Michigan, he became a mechanical engineer.

But God and his desire to work with people always remained with him. During college and after graduation, Williams was involved in the campus ministry. "I'm pretty good at Frisbee. By the time he was 30 though, he realized he was perhaps a bit too old to remain in the college environment."

It was time for a change. "I decided to do it long term," said Williams.

It just felt right. He was ordained in 1996 with a master's degree in divinity from Sacred Heart Major Seminary in Detroit.

I love serving the church and telling people about God in their lives.

It's not that easy to become a priest. Williams' studies included one year to make up for his non-liberal arts engineering degree, four in the seminary and one year as an intern.

His career took him along a few different roads until it led to St. John Neumann in Canton July 1. His first parish was St. Paul's in Grosse Pointe as an associate pastor. Then one day Cardinal Adam Maida asked him a question: "Did he want to study canon law?" That came as a surprise, Williams said.

Off to Rome he went to face quite a challenge. He had to study in Italian, a language he just didn't know. But living and studying in the historic center of Rome and meeting other priests softened the uneasiness.

When he returned to Detroit, he was a canon lawyer and practiced at the Marriage and Family Tribunal, which involved facets of Catholic married life.

Williams' other career roads took him for one year to St. John's Center for Youth and Family in Plymouth Township. At that time he also spent weekends working at St. Vincent and St. Michael's. His next stop was St. Suzanne's and Our Lady Gate of Heaven in Detroit as administrator and temporary pastor.

Then, at long last, he was asked to serve St. John Neumann's.

"I was very happy to have stability," said the Virginia native, who came to Michigan to attend college.

The Rev. George Williams chats with Gene Kijek, pastoral associate.

He brings worldly experience to the Canton church.

The fact that I went to the U-M and I have been out in the world. I have life experience and work experience. His greatest joy is serving God and people. I enjoy preaching and making the Christian life real and doable for people. I like working with people and Saturday walk to benefit work of Gilda's Club

BY JONI HUBRED
STAFF WRITER

Jacqueline Grekin still remembers the phone call that changed her life 10 years ago.

The Farmington Hills clinical psychologist, in the practice of counseling cancer patients at the time, was asked to join a support group forming for people living with cancer. That group of about a half-dozen women formed a Detroit chapter of Gilda's Club, an organization that provides support for men, women and children who have been touched in some way by cancer.

Grekin is still active today, a member of the club's board of directors. The two women who founded the club, Ina Kadish and Berniece Gadon, have both since passed away.

"These two ladies were able to put together a group that was so right," Grekin said. "Most of them didn't know one another. We just had the common goal of forming a Gilda's Club."

Founded in New York in 1995, the club was founded in memory of comedienne Gilda Radner, a Detroit native who died of ovarian cancer in 1989. According to the Gilda's Club Web site (www.gildasclub.org), Radner received so much support during her illness, she wanted to see places made available where everyone touched by cancer could receive that kind of help.

Today, the Detroit chapter serves thousands of people and is undergoing a 3,500-square foot expansion to provide more space for standing-room-only programs. The club's biggest fund-raiser of the year, a two-mile walk, will be held Saturday, Sept. 13, at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills.

THE RED DOOR

This year marks the walk's 10th anniversary, even though the Gilda's Club house in Royal Oak has been open only five years. Gilda's brother, Michael, a Southfield resident, said the first walk was organized to provide resources to purchase and renovate the house.

The walk was one of the first major events to let the community know about it and start raising funds, he said. That walk and the following ones helped us to open

Gilda's Club

The social and emotional support provided by a host of programs, seen as a complement to medical care, comes free of charge. Although people often assume the club focuses on women with ovarian cancer — which is what Gilda had — Michael said it's open to anyone whose life has been touched by cancer in any way, shape or form.

Funds from the community are essential to keep that red door open, he said, referring to the club's trademark. "None of us has to look very far to find someone who is affected by cancer."

Williams describes himself as a regular guy who enjoys friends, family, tennis, golf and reading. "We are real people and priests have interests. I maintain the friendships I have always had."

Now two months into his new role as pastor at St. Johns, Williams says he is working hard to get to know his parishioners. He has asked them to meet with him and to let him know who they are, are they happy with the parish, why and why not, what would they change and what wouldn't they change.

"I am still getting accustomed. St. John's is a very busy parish with a very enthusiastic staff. I am learning."

bad. Am I am becoming her? I listen to the pounding hip hop beat and holler "turn it down!"

I interrogate my kids of the who, what and why of their whereabouts. I refuse to go to bed until everyone is safely home and accounted for.

Yet my mother has told me, sometimes, she wants it all back.

It should be a federal holiday, that first day of school. I sit alone in my study, the kids all gone, and I remember those summers that live in my heart and my mind.

Slowly it comes me. The realization that I am having now truly become my mother.

Like her, sometimes, I just want it all back.

Canton resident earns Nurse Scholar Award

The shortage of nurses continues to present one of the greatest challenges to health care. Federal, state and local governments are creating programs and providing financial support to help alleviate the shortage of nurses. Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills has developed a successful strategy for workforce development.

For two years, Botsford has been offering an unrestricted nursing scholarship to employees who are enrolled in an RV program. One of this year's Botsford Nurse Scholar Award recipients is nurse technician Brandon Buchta of Canton.

Buchta, a student at Washtenaw Community College, likes the job security that a nursing career offers. "I'll never have to tell my wife that I've been laid off." With a two-year degree, the job pays well enough that I'll be able to support my family. Of course, a person couldn't be a nurse without real compassion for patients. I'd like to say thanks for this scholarship, it lets me reduce my work schedule so that I can finish my education."

The Nurse Scholar Award program continues to be supported from the proceeds of a golf outing sponsored by Botsford physicians. Marge Hasler, RN, administrator of nursing services at Botsford, said, "Our Nurse Scholar Award program is a delightful and effective tool for recruiting and retaining RNs in direct patient care positions. I thank our physicians for their generosity and continued support of this fund."

The public may help to support Botsford's effort to ensure access to high-quality care at their community hospital by donating to the Nurse Scholar Award fund. For further information, contact The Botsford Foundation at (248) 442-5045.

The club's 3,300 members see that red door as the key to a warm and welcoming space where people are living with cancer — not "suffering" from it. The three-part program includes support groups for people living with cancer, their family members and friends, workshops and lectures on cancer-related issues and topics like yoga, guided imagery, tai chi and quilting, and social events and parties, program director Joe Perry said.

"We put on a lot of parties that give us a chance to celebrate each and every moment of every day," he said, adding about 250-300 members show up for large events.

The expansion will provide larger meeting rooms and an art room, as well as a lecture room that will hold 150 people.

Perry came aboard six months before the house opened. He started as a student but, like most people associated with Gilda's Club, stayed associated with what volunteers call "a labor of love."

"I love the sense of community here," he said. "I love it so much because the members love it. You're kind of walking through their cancer with them. There's a tremendous sense of community and support."

While there are some sad times — including the deaths of five of the eight founding members — Perry said even those have moments of brightness, created by the way members support one another.

Grekin said anyone who sees what goes on at the club on a day-to-day basis will understand why it's so important, and why the upcoming fundraiser is critical to maintain free services to the men, women and children who need them the most.

"When you go into the Noogieland room and see a mother with her head wrapped in a turban, a child with no hair at all or a mother and child sitting and playing together, you know what it's all about," Grekin said.

"It's the one place associated with cancer look forward to going to," Michael Radner said. "People stop me all the time and say, 'I don't know what I would do without this.' They come and they come back because it's having a positive influence on their lives."

THE WALK

Saturday's fund-raising walk will go on, rain or shine. Onsite registration begins at 8:30 a.m., followed by the walk at 10:30 a.m. The entry fee is $30, there is no charge for children under 10.

"We look forward to another exciting walk," said Lynne Merrill Aldrich, executive director of the local Gilda's Club. "Each year, this event has been very successful and very enjoyable for participants. Everyone has a good time and leaves with the wonderful feeling that they have helped to support cancer patients with a variety of programs."

The walk will follow a beautiful landscaped route on the campus and will feature food and entertainment. Participants do not have to walk the entire route.

Participants are asked to seek pledges of at least $100 from relatives and friends. Those raising more than $250 will be eligible for awards and will be invited to a special celebration party at Gilda's Clubhouse.

Water breaks are an essential part of fall sports

BY JENNIFER KENNEDY
CORRESPONDENT

Believe it or not, there was a time when water breaks were considered punishment for kids at their sports practice, or the time taken to get a drink was too much time away from drills and plays.

Although times have changed and we have learned that kids of all ages need more than three seconds at the water fountain, it is vital to recognize dehydration, heat-related illnesses and the preventative measures parents, coaches and kids can take to stay in the game.

"Most often, heat-related illnesses are preventable," said Dr. Stephen Knazik, medical director of the Emergency Center at Children's Hospital in Detroit. According to Knazik, there are three types of heat-related illness: heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

Some symptoms of all three can overlap, but exist on a continuum of severity. Kids may experience heat or muscle cramps, either at rest or during exercise, which tends to be the first stage of the illness, however, the least severe. Heat exhaustion is the second phase and includes such symptoms as thirst, elevated heart rate, lightheadedness, confusion or fainting, said Knazik.

Joe Cimino, certified athletic trainer and coordinator of the Sports Medicine Department at Bon Secours Cottage Hospital, Grosse Pointe, added that kids may experience more-than-normal fatigue with heat exhaustion, a headache, heavy sweating, and the inability to keep up.

"The higher temperatures and humidity this time of year can cause kids to experience heat exhaustion, especially football players," said Cimino. He is also the athletic trainer for sports teams at Grosse Pointe South High School.

Football players are largely at risk due to the time of the year and the equipment they wear, which holds the heat close to their bodies.

The plastic pads on their bodies and helmets on their heads enclose the heat. The kids are already set up not to cool, said Knazik.

Heat exhaustion can rapidly progress to heat stroke, the most severe case of heat-related illness. Heat stroke includes more acute symptoms such as extreme dehydration, nausea, cardiac irregularities, body temperatures above 104 degrees, hallucination and inability to continue playing. The child's skin may appear pale and clammy, they are lethargic and too disoriented to drink water.

At this level, the body is unable to overcome the illness and the child should be transported to the hospital.

PREVENTION

To avoid the onset of heat-related illness, young athletes should drink plenty of water before, during and after exercise.

"Kids should have sufficient water breaks every 20 minutes during exercise, and should have unlimited access to water," said Cimino. "With the younger elementary-aged kids playing football or soccer at a field, water may not be as accessible, so parents should be sure their kids go to practice or a game with at least one full water bottle. Otherwise, they may not be drinking any fluids."

According to the Sports Science Institute, young athletes should consume two glasses of water or sports drink two to three hours before practice, and eight to 12 ounces of water immediately before practice to be adequately hydrated, said Knazik. He also added kids should drink eight to 12 ounces of water every 20-30 minutes during exercise.

TOM HAWLEY | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Sports drinks can be a good source of minerals and potassium to replenish fluids kids lose from sweating during exercise, but water is still the most important to consume because of the high sugar content in sports drinks, said Cimino. Coaches or parents can dilute the sports drink with water, he said.

The sugar content varies in each sports drink, so check the label before you buy it. The sports drinks that contain glucose or sucrose are recommended because the intestines can absorb the sugars, said Knazik. The sports drinks with fructose, cornstarch or corn syrup are not as effective because they are not absorbed well.

"The body has to expend too much energy to absorb those types of sugars, and when the body is stressed during exercise, especially in the heat, the sugars just sit in the intestines," said Knazik. The sugar can draw water into the intestines and away from the rest of the body, increasing the risk of dehydration.

WATER IS BEST

Water is still the best source of hydration. If a child is thirsty, he or she has waited too long to drink.

"The best way to tell if kids are getting enough water is the color of their urine. It should be the color of light or weak lemonade," said Knazik. "If the urine is dark yellow or brown, they are dehydrated."

To be more aware of the individual child's water loss during sports, Knazik suggests kids get weighed before and after practice. For every one and a half pounds lost during practice, they should consume 40-48 ounces of water to adequately replace fluids they have lost.

Heat-related muscle cramps can be treated by simply having the child drink water or sports drink to re-hydrate, and rest.

"With heat exhaustion, get the kids out of the sun, have them sip on liquids and take their wet gear off. They may feel nauseous, but as long as they are sweating and able to hold water down—that is good," said Cimino. He also noted to keep them stable for 25 minutes and have them stop activity for the remainder of the day. They should be evaluated and monitored each day after because they are more susceptible to the heat-related illness once they have experienced it.

With heat stroke, the child may stop sweating and have chills. The extremely high body temperatures are dangerous and it is suggested the child be transported by ambulance to the hospital, said Cimino.

Heat stroke is more common in the older, high school-aged kids because they tend to push themselves harder due to peer pressure, expectations of themselves, or expectations from the coach or parents, whether real or implied, said Knazik.

WHAT TO AVOID

"Kids should avoid drinking beverages with caffeine, especially energy drinks with ginseng. These types of drinks are diuretics which increase output of fluids through urination and attribute to dehydration," said Cimino. High school athletes tend to drink the energy drinks thinking they will get them geared up for competition when they are actually doing themselves harm.

Taking stimulants to lose weight, more common among high school students wanting to shed a few pounds for the season, is also harmful to kids because they impair the body's ability to accommodate stress, said Knazik. Blood circulation helps perspiration, but stimulants don't allow the body to get the same blood circulation or perspire, which can also attribute to heat-related incidents.

Cimino suggests educating kids on the importance of hydration and proper nutrition by inviting a health or medical professional to speak to them before the season begins.

"You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink," said Knazik. If kids don't replace the fluids they lose, let them know they are compromising their athletic performance, as well as their health. It can be a challenge getting kids to drink water because most of them would rather drink something that tastes better, but it doesn't hurt to keep reminding them.

LEG PAIN BUT NOT ARTHRITIS

Knowing what something isn't may be just as important as identifying what it is. For example, not all leg pain comes from arthritis. The most common cause from another source is sciatica. In most instances, this condition announces itself with a numbness and tingling that starts in your low back and runs to your foot.

However, sciatica does not always begin this way. Instead, you may experience a sharp pain that shoots into your knee or ankle, or to both joints. In such a case, the similarity to arthritis is close.

Another instance of leg pain imitating joint pain is in anserina bursitis. That pain resides just below that knee joint on the inside of the leg. The bursitis is worse on walking and relieved by rest, similar to what happens in knee arthritis.

Trochanteric bursitis is another example where your pain could lead you to believe you have a joint problem. In this case, hip arthritis. However, hip disease causes groin pain, while a trochanteric bursitis pain comes from the outside of your hip area and radiates to the low back or down to, but not below, the knee.

These conditions that look like joint pain have features that allow your doctor to distinguish them from a joint problem. That is why he listens carefully to what you tell him about your discomfort and watches closely how you walk when the pain is present. Correct diagnosis is important since each condition has its own treatment.

2003 Lincoln LS is better than world class

Advertising Feature

CAReport

Anne Fracassa

BY ANNE FRACASSA
AVANTI NEWS FEATURES

The comfort built into the 2003 Lincoln LS makes this luxury sedan a prime option to consider when choosing a vehicle that will make you a very happy camper. Even a "world class" label doesn't do the LS justice.

From its air conditioned and heated adjustable seats to its comfortable ride and handling, the $45,000 Lincoln LS can turn any hard-nosed buyer to putty.

First introduced in 1999 as a 2000 model, this is the first time I slipped inside of the LS. And even though it's a fairly new model to the Lincoln nameplate, there are more than 500 parts that have been redesigned for this year's model.

Let's take a look on the outside first. The curves, the lines, the new front and rear treatments lend itself to a fresher outlook and a friendlier look. There's a bit of aggression in the headlamps and front grille, but it doesn't tend to scare you. It's an inviting look, kinda like, "hey, come on in and take a spin, you won't be disappointed." The windshield washer jets have been moved to below and out of the line of sight of the driver. The front air dam is stylishly renovated to bring out further accenting of the front of the LS.

Go inside the LS yourself and you'll find total functionality and wooden accenting that's very, very tasteful. It doesn't detract from the leather seating in any way and everything flows around the driver with little effort. The instrumentation, although centered in a half-moon style, looks and feels good to the touch. Nothing here is cheap or out of style of what a Lincoln should really be.

I don't often gush much about the stereo systems in vehicles, but this system operates and sounds much like a system you'll find in the finest audiophiles home or personal theater. Slip in a CD and it's pure heaven. You can play this system really, really loud and there won't be a complaint in the house, er, car.

Although I couldn't test it because the data was missing from the vehicle, there is an on-board navigational system that Lincoln promises is the best of the best on the market. Maybe next time.

As for the rest of what's a treat on the inside, I can't forget the great use of cupholders, tons of map pockets all the way around, nooks and crannies for everything you'd ever need in your vehicle, an overhead console and a huge center console that could probably hold, oh, say 100 CDs.

Ride and handling characteristics are classic Lincoln. You could go around the world in this thing and not feel fatigued. There's speed-sensitive rack-and-pinion steering that provides a stiffer, yet more-controlled feel. Standard engine on the LS is a 3.0 liter V6 that promises 232 horses under the hood to get you where you have to go. Also available is a 280-horse 3.9 liter V8 that's even improved on the fuel economy—something we're all thinking a lot about right now.

I also have to mention how very quiet the LS is on the highways and byways. The engine is barely audible at low- and high-speeds.

The trunk capacity is a respectable 13.5 cubic feet—more than enough for a lengthy trip.

Seating is for five, but four would be a lot more comfy. Fracassa, my 12-year-old, thinks it should have a larger rear seat area, but she fell asleep back there easily enough anyway.

Safety assists for our peace of mind are all there, like anti-lock brakes and brake assist to help maintain control, side curtain air bags, standard dual front and side impact air bags, and child seat anchors in the rear. Added safety features include windshield wipers that automatically turn on when moisture is detected on the windshield and an anti-theft system and perimeter alarm is also standard.

The Lincoln LS is a superior luxury sedan that's well worth a look if you're in the market for one.

Celiac disease affects millions

BY M B DILLON
CORRESPONDENT

As a child, Julie Trescott of Redford was thin and constantly tired. Our doctor said I had an underactive thyroid," she said. "My Dad would give me Ovatine for extra energy."

It wasn't until she was 38 that Trescott, now 44, was diagnosed with celiac disease, an auto-immune disorder that makes it impossible to digest gluten. Found in wheat, barley and rye, gluten is a protein that gives dough its tough, elastic quality.

"My Dad meant well, but now I know that Ovatine contains malt, and that malt is made from barley," said Trescott, mother of four and a medical technologist.

Gordon Glidden, 47, began showing celiac symptoms at age 20.

"I had unexplained pains in my bowels. I wasn't able to leave the house sometimes."

Services: Monthly meetings information on restaurants serving gluten-free meals stores carrying gluten-free foods and gluten-free shopping guides and recipes. The annual food fair attracts vendors from across the country.

When: The first meeting of the season is set for 7 p.m. Friday Sept. 12.

Where: First Presbyterian Church of Farmington on the northwest corner of Farmington and 11 Mile at 26165 Farmington Road in Farmington Hills.

The only relief was to sit in the hot shower," said the home inspector from Huntington Woods. But that would take hours. Nobody could figure out what it was until a gastroenterologist diagnosed it seven years ago.

Celiac disease tends to run in families. Symptoms can range from horrific diarrhea and constipation to anemia, osteoporosis and malnutrition.

Some gluten intolerant patients develop dermatitis herpetiformis, a skin disorder characterized by an itchy rash.

In a person with a celiac disease, gluten wears down the villi, or finger-like projections lining the small intestine, and food isn't properly absorbed.

There is no cure for celiac other than adhering to a life-long, strict diet. The good news is that villi regenerate in the absence of gluten.

It's come to light recently that as many as 1 in 133 Americans suffers from celiac disease, far more than previously thought. That means there's five million of us in the U.S., said Glidden.

Unfortunately, medical students are still taught that celiac is rare, say Trescott and Glidden.

"The word needs to get out. Proper labeling and better labeling of food products would help us and people with allergies too," said Trescott. Ingredients as seemingly harmless as modified food starch and caramel color can contain gluten and cause incredible pain, she said.

Symptoms can range from horrific diarrhea and constipation to anemia, osteoporosis and malnutrition.

Trescott turned a malady into a learning opportunity for her children. Using rice, potato starch and tapioca starch, she makes her own gluten-free flour.

I sometimes have the kids help me measure up large amounts of different mixtures so that I have ingredients ready to go, much as someone else would use all-purpose flour, said Trescott. "We use it as an opportunity for them to learn math."

Trescott and Glidden speak highly of the 1,000-member Tri County Celiac Support Group formed to assist and support those with celiac disease adjust to a gluten free life.

Live the golfing life - in a condominium

BY BARRY JENSEN
 CORRESPONDENT

The Ponds at Gateway condominiums in Romulus are all about the golfing lifestyle. "Not everybody here plays golf, but it's a nice lifestyle," said builder Ron Benivegna.

The price is nice, too. The least-expensive condo goes for $150,000.

The public Gateway Golf Club sets the theme for the condominium development. The 18-hole course is nearly 330 acres in size. The course wraps around the development so that some condos are along the fairways.

Having the lush green backdrop of a golf course, this place has a resort atmosphere. Coming here is like being on vacation," Benivegna said. "The best thing about these condos is we have homes at $150,000 that are right on the golf course. You can't buy anything like it anywhere else. You can have a whole home here on a golf course for what you might pay for just a lot elsewhere."

All the condominiums are pairs. One condo is a ranch-style. The other is a story-and-a-half. That means you share just one wall with another condominium.

Benivegna said his company decided to build around a golf course because of his longtime friend, Salvatore Cottone. "He's developed a number of golf courses."

"The golf course opened its first nine holes a couple years ago," said Jill Gallagher, sales manager at the Ponds at Gateway. "Now it's a full 18-hole course."

Seventy-six sites will be built in the first phase of the Ponds at Gateway. So far, eight of the first 24 condos have been sold. The entire project will entail 186 condos.

The ranch style condominium is called The Club.

The Ponds at Gateway condominiums are pairs. That means you share just one wall with another condominium.

The story-and-one-half condo is called The Crest. Models of each are open and have been decorated, showing what each floor plan might look like.

The Club has two bedrooms and two full bathrooms totaling 1,215 square feet. The base unit sells for $149,900.

The Crest has three bedrooms and three full bathrooms totaling 1,450 square feet. The base unit sells for $162,900. Lot premiums will apply.

STANDARD FEATURES

Among the standard features are vaulted ceilings, a marble surround on the fireplace, fiberglass tub and shower surrounds in the bathrooms, no-wash vinyl flooring in the foyer, kitchen, nook, baths and laundry room, wall-to-wall carpeting throughout and polished brass hardware.

Each condo contains a snack bar off the kitchen, a stainless steel double bowl kitchen sink, mirrors that run the full length of all bathroom vanities, a master suite with a walk-in closet and full bath.

Each unit contains a first-floor laundry room, dishwasher, and electric range, two built-in telephone jacks, two built-in cable jacks, and a choice of oak or maple cabinets in the kitchen and bathrooms. Other standard features are a two-car attached garage, vinyl siding, two weatherproof electrical outlets, two outside hose bibs and a sump pump.

Included as standard are a full basement of poured-concrete, with a white spray-coat finish, copper water lines, vinyl windows and doorwalls, a gas outlet for a clothes dryer and 100-amp electrical service.

All homes are fully landscaped with sod and sprinkler system. Utilities will be brought into the condos underground.

Options include bay windows in the kitchen/nook and master bedroom, window well in basements, air conditioning, a home security system and upgraded appliances.

Students who live in the condominiums will attend in the Romulus Community Schools. Cory Elementary School is just south of the condominiums.

All the streets are concrete, and all have been completed. Each condo will have concrete sidewalks, but the sidewalks are not yet installed in front of the unbuilt condos. "We've only been open three months," Gallagher explained.

The association fee will run about $100 per month. This fee will cover lawn maintenance, snow removal, and insurance on the structure.

Last year, property taxes on a condominium costing $150,000 would have been $3,600.

The Benivegna Building Co. is a second-generation builder. Some of the developments going up are The Fairways at Gateway in Romulus, Green Hills Pines in Farmington Hills and Mystic Forest in Commerce Township.

Tony Benivegna founded the company in 1940. His son, Ron, is president of Benivegna Building Co. Inc. of West Bloomfield.

NEW RESIDENT

Norma Holt will be one of the first people moving into a condominium at the Ponds at Gateway. Holt hopes to be in her new condo by the end of September.

Holt will be moving from a house into a story-and-one-half condo. "I'm single and I work a lot, and the upkeep of a house was too much," she said.

"I decided to move down into that area to be near my family and friends. A lot of them are moving there. I like the area."

"When I heard about those condos, I did some research and decided I liked it," Holt said. "I like the idea of only two condos in a unit - whatever condo you buy, you've got an end condo. It was a great price, too."

For more information, call Benivegna Builders (734) 727-0840, 1-6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Friday or noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sunday.

Rising rates push existing home sales to record high

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rising mortgage rates pushed buyers off the fence and into the housing market, sending sales of previously owned homes in July to a record high.

The National Association of Realtors said Monday that sales of previously owned homes soared to a seasonally adjusted rate of 6.12 million in July. The previous record was a rate of 5.94 million, set in December 2002 and matched in January.

Last month's record rate was a 5 percent increase over the June rate of 5.83 million. Economists said that lookers turned into buyers over fears that rising mortgage rates would go even higher.

"When mortgage interest rates first began to rise from record lows, it appears some buyers jumped into the market to take advantage of good affordability conditions before interest rates moved even higher," said David Lereah, chief economist for the National Association of Realtors.

The national average rate for a 30-year conventional, fixed-rate mortgage was 5.63 percent in July, up from a record low of 5.23 percent in June, according to Freddie Mac, the mortgage giant.

Last week, rates on 30-year mortgages rose again - the seventh increase in the past eight weeks - to 6.28 percent.

Most economists think that rates on 30-year mortgages, which are more than a full percentage point above their four-decade low, will climb even higher as investors see further indications that the economy is beginning a sustained rebound.

That compelled many home buyers to act quickly to get the best possible rate. July's sales of previously owned homes was almost 14 percent above the 5.38 million pace logged a year ago.

The national median existing home price - where half sell for more and half sell for less - was $182,100 in July, a 4 percent increase from $175,000 in June, and up 12 percent from $162,400 a year ago.

"This is the strongest national price increase since November 1980, a reflection of tight inventories in a record market," Lereah said.

Previously owned homes are the biggest chunk of the housing market. Sales jumped 77 percent in the Northeast to a rate of 700,000 in July. In the South, existing-home sales were up 7 percent to a rate of 2.45 million. In the Midwest, sales also rose 3.9 percent to a pace of 1.34 million, and in the West, sales climbed 1.9 percent to a rate of 1.63 million.

Home prices are affordable and the economy is starting to improve, good indicators of a strong real estate market through early next year, said Van Davis, president and chief executive of Century 21 Real Estate Corp.

"People can own for the price of renting, and they're doing just that," he said.

The easiest way to fix a hole in the wall

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fixing a small hole in a wall can be a challenge, especially if the wall has a textured finish. It's not so much the hole repair that gives most folks trouble, it's matching the texture. For that reason, most patches are obvious or are hidden by a strategically placed picture.

Previously it took an experienced dry-wall contractor to make a texture match

No more. Wall texture now is available in a spray can that offers do-it-yourselfer professional results. The secret to a successful patch is simple: When filling a hole with spackle, dip the putty knife in water to prevent the spackle from sticking to the knife. Remove the excess spackle surrounding the hole with a damp sponge. A bit of spackle, a shot of texture and a touch of paint will leave your wall looking like new.

Let's Talk About Real Estate

SELLERS SHOULD NOT LOOK AT PAST WHILE BUYERS LOOK AT TODAY!

Traditionally, sellers use information about past sales to guide them when choosing an asking price for their home. This is an understandable approach to pricing. Past sale prices are actual fact and not merely conjecture about the future.

Past sale prices, however, do not necessarily dictate what a buyer may pay now or in the future. As a matter of fact, sellers may be making a big mistake if they rely entirely on previous sale prices when setting their asking price. If an identical home to yours sold for $100,000 three months ago, does it necessarily mean that your home will sell for $100,000 or more today? The answer is no. Here are some of the things that may have changed:

- 1 Your home will have to compete against a different inventory of homes for sale
- 2 Buyer demand may be greater or less
- 3 Mortgage interest rates may be higher or lower
- 4 Local economic news may be better or worse

Because any combination of the above-listed changes can have a big impact on your eventual sales price, you should look more closely at homes for sale today which are similar to your property. These, after all, are the very same homes that buyers are considering when deciding which homes to visit.

ADVICE: Ask your Realtor to market your home and set the asking price so that it will attract buyer showings when compared with the asking price of competing homes.

Visit www.tomervin.com for copies of previously published articles and homes for sale in newspapers elsewhere

Heitzman has pool room, along with other surprises

The Heitzman has a deceptive contemporary exterior that hides a glamorous interior. Outside, the home has many windows, a narrow covered porch, and a two-car garage. Inside, there are many amenities that make this home different from other homes of its style.

Entry into the Heitzman brings a visitor into a large foyer facing the great room. To the left of the entry is the master suite. It is a large open room with a full master bath to the left. Access to the bath is through two pocket doors. This area contains the sinks with the walk-in closet to the left and a shower to the right.

A door opens into a very large pool room that is designed to contain a lap pool. Another shower is in the corner for swimmers to use. Two built-in benches surround a water heater in the opposite corner. Patio doors on the right side of the pool open onto the large deck in the rear running parallel to the great room.

The great room has two large sets of windows on each side of a patio door. In the corner is a fireplace surrounded by bookshelves. The room is open and has the kitchen in front corner. A walk-in pantry separates the kitchen from the entry. The C-shaped kitchen has a work island in the center and a considerable amount of counter space along the wall. Two Lazy Susans have been added in the corners for ease of reaching dishes and spices. An eating bar runs along the counter facing the

In the rear corner is a guest suite with a long wall closet, large windows, and a full bath just outside the door. A linen closet is also in the hall adjacent to the guest room door. At the end of the hall next to the garage is a large utility room with a washer/dryer sink, range/over (for canning or use by someone in the guest suite) with a garden window over, a lazy Susan in the corner, and a built-in ironing board. The garage has an attic overhead as a bonus area with pull down stairs. A forced air unit and a water heater are inside while the heat pump is outside on a concrete slab.

Textured coatings provide alternatives to house paint

BY DAVID BRADLEY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Homeowners trapped in an endless cycle of house painting should put down their brushes and sprayers long enough to check out an alternative known as textured coatings.

Textured coatings look like paint when applied to siding but the similarity ends there. Residential versions of commercial coatings last indefinitely, offer UV ray protection, resist fading and can span small cracks.

According to a firm that manufactures home-use coatings, most homeowners aren't aware the coatings are an option. "People paint and repaint their homes every few years because paint doesn't last very long," said Jay Haines of Textured Coatings of America, the provider of textured coatings to The Home Service Store's network of pre-qualified contractors. "Coatings are their way out of this labor-intensive cycle."

Textured coatings contain far less water than latex paints and once applied are five to 10 times thicker when dry. Haines says typical latex exterior paints are two to four millimeters thick and up to 70 percent water. In contrast, textured coatings are 17 millimeters thick and contain 60 percent to 70 percent solids.

This high concentration of solids is key to the durability of textured coatings. "It's the amount of solids that matters because the greater the solid volume, the longer results last," said Haines. Consumers don't recognize the high amount of water and low solid ratio in off-the-shelf paint.

According to Haines, most consumers are attracted to the emphasis paint companies place on color choices and ease of application. Many homeowners don't consider the labor-intensive surface preparation and the need for frequent repainting. The very nature of thin high water volume latex paints means that it is easily applied by do-it-yourselfers.

In contrast, the thicker nature of the resins and solids in the textured coating make for a product consumers cannot apply with a brush, roller or standard sprayer. Haines says the heavy coatings require the higher-powered sprayers used by professionals. Such sprayers jet the liquid on at a pressure of 2,600 pounds-per-square inch, nearly double the pressure of sprayers available to homeowners.

Consumers can pick from the same array of color choices made available in paint products but pigments are custom mixed at the plant rather than at a local store.

The cost of textured coatings applied to a home is about one-third more than paint. Specialized material and labor account for most of the increase, but reduced homeowner labor over the long term is a trade-off many consumers see as worth the difference. Textured coatings seldom need reapplication, won't flake, peel or fade, are impervious to UV rays and are warranted while most paints are not. Some coatings also provide your home with additional insulation.

"For the homeowner who doesn't want to scrape and paint every couple of years, textured coatings are the way to go," said Haines. "These coatings have been around a long time in both the residential and commercial markets."

Habitat home seen as friendly to earth

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It has a solar roof, low-flush toilets and showers, an organic garden and it will be the first of its kind in Mississippi. It's an environmentally friendly home.

Mississippi State University's School of Architecture, Habitat for Humanity and the Mississippi 2020 environmental group have teamed up to build the new house in Jackson. The price tag is $59,000, which is about $19,000 more than the typical Habitat home.

A federal grant is providing startup funding. Habitat homeowners pay a typical mortgage for their home's construction.

While such green homes may remain a rarity in Mississippi, Kim Quinn can't wait to move into the three-bedroom Habitat house with her three children.

It's a new adventure, said Quinn, a 33-year-old cosmetologist. "I like nature and watching God's creations grow and change. I'm a front-porch type girl."

The Jackson native is asking relatives and friends to volunteer to help build her home on weekends.

Quinn said she hopes to see an eventual reduction in her utility bills of up to 40 percent.

The house is expected to be completed later this year.

Christopher Dorn, 28, a Mississippi State architecture graduate who helped design the home, hopes the green home changes the way future houses are built. So do leaders with Mississippi 2020.

"The construction materials will be chosen for their lowest negative effect on the environment and for longevity and low maintenance," said Mississippi 2020 director Bob Kochitzky.
