Clerks hope ruling gets overturned

STAFF WRITER

Local municipal clerks are hopeful state election officials can overturn a federal court ruling that allows voters to cast ballots in precincts where they don't

With less than two weeks before the Nov 2 presidential election, US District Judge David Lawson in Bay City ruled that voters who go to the wrong precinct can cast ballots for president or

Congress, as long as they vote in the city, township or village where they live

Lawson's ruling excludes voting for state and local offices because voters could be casting ballots for people who don't represent the districts where they

The lawsuit was filed by the Michigan Democratic Party, which claimed people were being turned away from the polls because they showed up at the wrong precinct to vote The state has taken the case to the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of

"Î m not in favor of it because in essence what the judge has said is we're going to disenfranchise voters, said Terry Bennett, Canton Township clerk 'We'll allow people to vote a provisional ballot if they re in the wrong location, but it will take away their right to vote a full ballot

"People really need to take the time to find out where they re registered to vote, especially if they've moved,' she added

District hosts summit on partnerships

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER

Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township have at least one thing in common They're all a part of the Plymouth-Canton school district

And, because of that, P-CCS Superintendent Jim Ryan said the district might be the right entity to help forge alliances that could save each entity muchneeded cash

We re the one thing they have in common," said Ryan I ve always wondered if we could be the catalyst to have some kind of partnerships Ryan just may get his chance as Plymouth-Canton ? Schools has decided to be a co-host of an area-wide summit to find partners that could result in saving Π money for goods and services Earlier this month Plymouth city commissioners decided to hold a summ + to fine potential partners to help save money at a time when the city is project ing deficit budgets while state shared revenues are being reduced and expenses are going up. The summit takes place 4-8 p m Wednesday, Nov 17, at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park With the schools taking mid year funding cuts, and the cities and townships taking budget cuts, I don't think you can stand alone anymore," said Ryan 'What are the potential partnerships that could possibly be in our future? The city currently pays to use the school district's fuel depot at the bus yard, and the school district buys road salt in conjunction with the city's favorable bulk-buy contract We can no longer afford to do all of it ourselves," said City Manager Paul Sincock "It doesn't matter what entity you are, you have to partner with other folks to hold down overhead. It's nothing new to the private sector, but relatively new to the government

Among those expected to have representatives at the summit are the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth-Canton Schools, Northville Schools, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and Gov Jennifer Granholm's office 'From very early on, the governor has been very supportive of regional collaboration," said Maxine Berman, director of special projects for Granholm "In her state of the state address, she called on communities to work together regionally, to form better alliances, because of the financial crunch and to ensure that our communities continue to get the services whether it's something as small as volume purchasing, or the larger issues of police, fire and dis-

Berman said the issue of collaboration goes even deeper, to include urban sprawl

MEAP scores above national averages

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton high school juniors continue to do better than their statewide counterparts in the latest MEAP test results

Scores in reading and social studies jumped significantly, while those in math, science and writing remained consistent

The number of students who exceeded state standards in reading went from 72 percent to 89 percent That compares to a

on K-12 reading," said Mike Bender, director of secondary education 'I do believe we're reaping the benefits of that work

Social studies jumped from 35 percent to 48 percent, and Bender believes with the recent $807,000 American history grant scores will continue to improve

We expect the scores to go up in the future as the grant influences work being done at both the middle and high school levels, he said to 76 percent, but still above the statewide average of 59 percent Science scores were up 2 percentage points from last year, reaching 80 percent That was well above the statewide score of 64 percent

And, writing scores at 76 percent were consistent with last years 77 percent and much better than the statewide average of 58 percent

MDOT green-lights traffic study

STAFF WRITER

Help may be on the way for township drivers frustrated by traffic problems along Ann Arbor Road

Officials from the Michigan Department of Transportation said this week they will ask staffers in their Taylor office to conduct a traffic study along the corndor to determine whether a new traffic signal is needed at the intersection of McClumpha and Ann Arbor Road

That intersection is frequently the site of minor accidents, a track record that has local government officials worried about the potential of a major tragedy there

Greg Johnson, metro region engineer for MDOT, said Wednesday the traffic study could come in the "next six months Results of the last traffic study on the area, done in 1999, showed no need for a signal according to Johnson

A signal was not warranted at that time, Johnson said 'We looked at other ways of mitigating the accidents there

Plymouth Township Supervisor Steve Mann said hed also like to see MDOT come through with promises they made when Ann Arbor Road was resurfaced several years ago

Mann said MDOT promised three things Speed reductions through the stretch of Ann Arbor Road that includes McClumpha and Canton Center, turn-lane changes at both McClumpha and Canton Center, and a flashing light at Ridge

To date, only the turn-lane changes have been accomplished

German shepherd leads way in training program

BY HEATHER NEEDHAM STAFF WRITER

Plymouths first registered leader dog in training has turned the city of Plymouth into her classroom - and her foster parent says shes winning everyone over with her good looks and brains

Vista, a seven month old German shepherd, is being trained by foster parent Jack Wilson of Plymouth as part of Leader Dogs for the Blinds puppy training program She was so named because the Spanish word vista means exactly what she will help a visually impaired person with

This isn't the first time Wilson has stepped up to help a charitable organization He helps the Salvation Army as a bell ringer and helps other local charities throughout the year In 2002, he Wilson also gave a boost to the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society by running ın an Alaska marathon where he helped raise money for the organization

Getting involved with Rochester-based Leader Dogs for the Blind was about as easy as getting a hungry puppy to

I was looking for a new vol unteer project when I met Lisa Jesswein (WDVD 96 3 DJ) she couldn't stop talking about Leader Dogs, Wilson said

After that, all the leash tugging (which isn't allowed when training Leader Dogs) in the world couldn't stop Wilson from learning more Through the organizations fostering program, foster parents help train and socialize the dogs by bringing them into public places and having the dogs interact with people

You basically try and take them out to as many places as you can, Wilson said of the training

Vista has visited most businesses around Plymouth and Wilson said though business

Jack Wilson of Plymouth is training Vista a seven month old German shepherd as part of Leader Dogs for the Blind's puppy training program owners are not required to admit guide dogs in training, most of them are happy to see

Though Vistas well behaved for seven months old, she s had her moments Wilson said

We took her to see the Plymouth Symphony at Our Lady of Good Counsel Wilson said She got a little restless toward the end and we went into the crying room he added, referring to the room parents use to calm crying babies

Wilson has enlisted some helpers with Vista's training Team Vista includes three neighborhood boys who let Vista out of her crate after school and help look after her while Wilson travels on busi-

The helpers are Tyler, Scott and John Deal

Nearly 78 percent of dogs working with foster parents wind up becoming official Leader Dogs, said Erin Dunn, public relations manager for Leader Dogs for the Blind, which is in its 65th year

Those who don't become guide dogs undergo a 'career change' and are either adopted, used by other charitable organizations or in some cases, stay with their original foster parent

"(Foster parents) are an invaluable part of our volun-teer corps," Dunn said The training really does give (the dogs) a wonderful stepping

"We could renovate the pool and gym at Central Middle School and our kids could use it during the day, but a partnership with the city could allow them to operate it through the recreation department' said Ryan "We have a need for a third swimming pool Does Canton have the need for a pool, other than the one at the Summit? Plymouth Township might be interested in Miller Woods, owned by the district, for a recreation area

(Canton Township Supervisor) Tom Yack, Paul Sincock and (Plymouth Township Supervisor) Steve Mann do a great job of providing services to their communities," said Ryan The quality of life is good, and we want to be a part of that '

GREAT DOCTORS AND NURSES IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD

We couldn't find any suitable (existing) buildings, so we decided to build

After looking at several options, the company settled on Plymouth Township, and in 1998 moved into its new center in the Plymouth Oaks park Plymouth appealed to the owners because of similarities between this community and the quaint village in which it resides in the UK.

We wanted it to be someplace nice, just as the village in the UK is nice, said Ray 'And the township has been very good to us from the minute we showed up

Ilmor engines carried the Chevrolet nameplate from 1986 to 1993, winning 86 Indy Car races, five Indy Car drivers' championships and half-adozen Indy 500's In 1994, Mercedes-Benz purchased GM's common stock, and the Mercedes-Benz name appeared on through 2000 During that span, Ilmor won another 30 races against significantly stiffer competition. including another Indy 500 win in 1994

Even with the Indy Car success. Ilmor executives wanted to broaden the company's horizons into Busch series NASCAR engines Unfortunately, the opportunity never presented itself

Until this year, when an opportunity with racing's Mike Wallace came along Ilmor jumped at it

'It's the biggest motor sport in America, but the timing was never right," Ray said This year we had an opportunity We d like to expand our NASCAR program in the Busch series, then get into the Nextel Cup'

EXPERIENCE MATTERS

They've certainly got the bona fides, with some 362 engine rebuilds, each taking some 100 hours, this year alone, in addition to a lot of service work Ilmor uses stateof-the-art technology, creating computer models from which the actual engines are built

Two years ago, Ilmor got a new partner when Honda approached the firm to form an alliance to manufacture the Honda engine That agreement runs through 2006

After the governing bodies running the Indy Car series split, Ilmor didn't race at the Indy 500 from 1996-99 After Mercedes decided to end its Indy Car participation at the end of 2000, Ilmor didn't manufacture its own engine for the next two years Ilmor is now designing, developing and manufacturing the highly successful Honda IRL engine Due to the firm's late start with Honda, Ilmor won just two races in 2003 However, 2004 was a better year, with Ilmor/Honda-powered engines winning 14 of the first 15 races

That's a lot of success, and Ray said it's because of the partnerships the company has been able to forge

'We've been very fortunate to work with great manufacturers," Ray said "We ve always been left alone to do our own work, absent of any bureaucracy As a result, these guys have been able to get on with what they do best We don't race cars, we build good race engines" It also takes a staff of employees dedicated to the craft and, perhaps just as importantly, the industry According to Ilmor vice president Julie Bernard, everyone at-

Ilmor is a racing nut 'Everyone associated with the company has a passion for the sport, Bernard said They wouldn't put the dedication in otherwise You have to have that

There's a saying in racing, The green flag doesn't wait for anyone, she added "You have to be ready

EXPANDING THE FIELD

Ilmor has also expanded into boat racing, manufacturing hydroplane engines for Chrysler In the first year, Ilmor sold some 50 boat engines The company anticipates doubling that total in the second year

"We're in the business of high-performance engines, so it was a natural fit for us," Ray said 'It's a very good industry for engines"

The marine division and the Indy Car engines are still a stronghold for Ilmor, but as the company eyes the future, Ray sees it in NASCAR

"NASCAR is where we want to grow the business," he said "It's hard to imagine being more successful when you win all but one race I guess you could win all the races All you can do is hope to continue that success"

Choirs take to different stage

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday October 24 2004

LAUREL THOMAS GNAGEY CORRESPONDENT

The sounds of students singing and the smell of coffee will fill the Salem cafeteria this week for the annual fall per formances of the PCEP choirs Instead of one night for all five choirs to share the stage with the orchestra, as in the past, the groups this year will enter tain during four coffeehouse style concerts

The Oct 26-29 events that will feature songs about love are teacher Jennifer Kopps idea for showcasing a number of individuals and small groups in addition to the choirs

"There is so much talent in all the choirs, Kopp says This format gives the students a chance to demonstrate their

In addition to mass numbers by the choirs, students have auditioned to perform solos, duets and various other combinations The only other time they have this kind of opportunity is during the spring Singsation concert when some 80 students audition for about 25 slots in the program

Kopp says the nice thing about the four different concerts is that the choirs each have their own night to perform, with the exception of the top boys and girls singing groups, the Chamber and Madrigal choirs, whose members will perform together as they often do throughout the community and during school performances

The students are very excited about it because they are competing with students in their own choirs This way they all are on equal footing, auditioning against students with essentially the same level of experience," she says

The concerts will take place in the Salem cafeteria beginning at 7 30 p m The cost is $4 per person or $8 per family, which includes coffee and dessert The coffeehouse schedule is as follows

- Tuesday, October 26 -Madrigal Singers/Chamber Choir
- Wednesday, October 27 -Dulcissima
- Thursday, October 28 -Allegro
- Friday, October 29 Park

Kopp says proceeds from the concerts will help pay for such things as music and transportation to competitions and music festivals

Theater 'nice community space'

Becky Copenhaver of Canton is exciting about being an usher at the new Village Theater at Cherry Hill and Ridge

Its absolutely gorgeous, she said while standing in the lobby The acoustics are wonderful It sounds like the music is com ing from all around you

Gerry Dugan of Canton also signed up for ushering "Its terrific and its warm and it's friendly, she said of the 400-seat facility

The women were among members of the Plymouth-Canton Branch, American Association of University Women, who toured the theater Thursday The tour was led by Jennifer Tobin, Canton arts coordinator and former director of the Plymouth Community Arts Council

'Jennifer is just so appreciative of us as volunteers," Dugan said

The theater also has eight wheelchair spaces, Tobin said, and seating can be expanded through use of orchestra space This weekend, performances of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat by the Spotlight Players were wrapping up, and

"selling out big time Thursday evening AAUW members and guests watched a bit of rehearsal by 94 East, an improv troupe performing later that evening A Community Band and children's theater rehearsals were also under way The tour gave participants a chance to admire the lobby mural as well as artwork on display Tobin took participants through all theater areas, including backstage

Everybody wants the ultimate space, the stage The goal is to get performers on the stage the week before performance to rehearse, Tobin said adding the nearby Cherry Hill School is used, too

Construction started in May 2003 on the $11 5 million project, with $4 million coming from Canton Township and the rest raised by the Partnership for the Arts and Humanities

'It's a nice community space, Tobin said

State certifies Plymouth library

The Library of Michigan recently awarded the Plymouth District Library a certificate of completion for meeting the Essential Level requirements of the Quality Services Audit Checklist

To earn certification, the Plymouth Library demonstrated its competence in seven categories of achievement including collection development, services, technology, facilities and equipment, human resources, governance/ administration and public relations/marketing

"We are proud to have done such good work in providing services deemed essential by the Library of Michigan,' said, Deborah Taracuk, Library board president "By focusing efforts on these key areas, our library has shown a strong commitment to customer service"

QSAC has defined essential services" - the basics of all library service as relatively low-cost standards that every library can and should achieve

'Two years in the making, QSAC represents the work of more than 100 library directors, trustees and staff members who together created measures of quality for our state's public libraries, said Christie Pearson Brandau, State Librarian "The staff, trustees and Friends in Plymouth should be commended for achieving a vital milestone in library service"

Recent program achievements at the Plymouth District Library include service and collection expansion for the sightimpaired, national designation as a Project Vote Smart library and a successful cooperative library card promotion with the Canton Public Library

Jury quick to convict Hill of embezzlement

BY JACK GLADDEN STAFF WRITER

Harry Hill Jr, former president of the Canton Community Junior Baseball/Softball Association, was convicted Thursday in Wayne County's Third Circuit Court of embezzling funds in excess of $20,000, a 10-year felony

It was the second trial for Hıll, who was arrested in February of this year and accused of embezzling about $169,000 from the league

The three-month long investigation began in November 2003 when Canton police received a tip that Hill might have been taking money from which had about 3,700 participants ın summer and fall leagues last vear He was accused of writing checks to himself out of association funds and using the money for gambling In a circurt court trial in September, representatives of Greektown Casino and Casino Windsor testified that records showed that Hill had lost money at their casinos in 2003

At a 35th District Court hearing in Plymouth in March, in which Hill waived his right to a preliminary examination, Judge John MacDonald ordered Hill to resign from the leagues board

In September a four-day trial in Circuit Court ended in a hung jury After four days of testimony and four days of deliberation, the five-man, seven-woman jury deadlocked and Judge Brian Sullivan declared a mistrial

They failed to reach a ver dict, Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Doug Baker said at that time "We were disappointed that that didn't happen From time to time we get that result so we just have to redo it '

Hills attorney at the time,

Paul J Dillon, argued that his client was innocent of the charges, saying that they strug gled with some procedural problems relating to reimbursements from the league coffers to Hill After last weeks three-day trial, the jury deliberated less than an hour before coming back with a guilty verdict Hill was represented by a court-appointed attorney at that trial Neither he nor Baker could be reached for comment Friday afternoon

A sentencing hearing is set for Nov 23 before Sullivan at the circuit court

St. Damian students pledge to keep their school safe

Students at St Damian School signed the dotted line Monday to respect others and their school as part of the statewide Safe Schools initia-

Kım Rourke, fourth-grade teacher and coordinator of the Safe and Drug Free Program, said its about the students taking the golden rule seriously

The first line (of the pledge) is that we want the school to be a place that is safe and where we treat others with respect,' she said They pledge to respect others and respect school property'

Moreover, they promise not to bully, tease or hurt other people or allow things to come into the school that could hurt other people and to tell a parent or school official when they see activities like that going on

The Catholic school teaches children from pre-kindergarten through eighth-grade Seventh- and eighth-graders, naturally, take a pledge that's a little more involved and specific with wording about weapons and physical violence The school acknowledges that teasing and bullying is the nature of the beast when dealing with adolescent and preadolescent children, but the point is not to succumb to

'The challenge for the stu dents is to make the right choices, Rourke said

WHEN SHOULD YOU DECIDE?

Witten you see a doctor about your knee shoulder or other joint pain you expect that after his examination he will recommend treatment. That is not always the case You should be prepared for his question "What do you want to do?

In most instances the doctor will tell you his recommendation. Occasionally the doctor with good reason will be more emphatical pursuing a line of therapy in the case of arthritis is forceful approach is in orderafithe evidence indicates you are in great need of a knee or hip replacement, but you are reluctant to see an orthopedic surgeon However in many instances the appropriate treatment is in doubt, such as having a knee replacement to end the pain or having a joint injection to obtain temporary relief. Then, the choice is yours. Another example sin medication for rheumatoid arthritis if you are a woman considering a family you should make the choice between gold injections which are safe for a fetus out slow acting versus methet exate which works faster but poses the threat of miscarriage

Court's ruling leaves state open to election disaster

his was supposed to be a good news column about voting in Michigan, and there is indeed something to be proud and happy about The state has been widely praised for having perhaps the cleanest, best and most reliable election system in the nation

Two-thirds of the state's voters now cast their ballots via the optical scan system, although punch cards, the old lever machines and even paper ballots are used in a few places The state's Qualified Voter File' system of registration was singled out for praise by former Presidents Jimmy Carter's and Gerald Fords National Commission on Election Reform, which looked at how to improve the way America

aftermath of

mess four years ago Yet now a last-minute lawsuit and a court ruling have thrown what amounts to an enormous hanging chad into the process Suddenly, on the brink of what is expected to be a very close national election, a federal judge has ruled that in Michigan, you can show up at the wrong polling place - but if you are in the right city or township, the authorities still have to count your votes for president and Congress

Your address and registration need to be verified first, of course, and all that may mean we'll need to wait six days before we know who won the state Chris Thomas, Michigan bureau of elections director since 1981, is an understated, non-partisan political scientist with a law degree And he is simply hornfied

"Concerns about voter security and possible fraud are going to be much higher, unless we get a speedy court ruling to resolve all of this," he said late last week. What happened is this

Michigan Democrats and the NAACP last month sued Thomas and his boss, Secretary of State Terri Lynn Land, after Thomas told the state's local election clerks that Michigan didn't have any law allowing them to count any so-called "provisional' bal-

Thats not because we don't want them to vote," said Kelly Chesney, the spokesman for the secretary of state "We want their votes for all offices to count, and we want to make every effort to send them to the right precinct."

But Democrats, who want the highest possible turnout for the presidential election, argued that not counting provisional ballots would violate federal law and take the right to vote away from thousands who wander into the wrong polling place

And to state election officials' surprise, U.S. District Judge David Lawson agreed with them Tuesday, he ordered the state to collect and count such votes, though only for federal offices and only if the voter turns out to actually live in the same city, village or township The public interest is served when citizens can look with confidence at an elections process that insures that all votes cast by qualified voters are counted," said the judge, a Clinton appointee

Immediately, the state filed an emergency motion with the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, saying, frankly, that messing with the system at the last minute would create a mess that would "harm the fundamental rights of individuals to vote and participate in an orderly and fair election

What finally will happen is unclear, but what is clear is that Michigan is no Florida, but instead has in place a rational system that is easy to use and easy to understand That's partly because Michigan had its Florida experience long ago

That came in 1952, when the state had a cliff-hanger of a race for governor between the incumbent, G Mennen Soapy' Williams, and his GOP chal lenger, Harry Kelly Unofficial returns indicated Kelly had won but the final numbers said Williams - and the result was recount after recount

Soapy Williams won in the end, 'and Michigan started reforming their election laws as a result, Thomas said Back then, the dogfight was over "incomplete Xs made on paper ballots, rather than hanging

State lawmakers decided the standard should be whether the voter's ballot accords with the rules rather than one in which officials tried to decipher what the "voter intent' might have been That has worked so well that election workers from other states often come to study Michigans model

The only major problem Michigan has had since occurred in 1970, when Detroit tried a punch card system that was not ready for prime time and the state waited three days to learn who was governor

Now, something potentially worse is at hand There is not enough time to put controls in place against potential fraud there is not enough time to train officials on how to process and tabulate the partial ballots," the secretary of state's emergency appeal fairly moaned

How the courts will finally decide is anyone's guess. But it is hard to see why learning where you are supposed to vote is an undue hardship, or why we would want to encourage such illinformed voters to cast impulsive votes for president and ignore the rest of the ticket. This much is clear, however If on Nov 3, the nation has to wait days to know who the next president is while thousands of provisional votes in Ohio and Michigan are examined, nobody will make "Florid-duh! jokes ever again

For the last 15 years, Pope John Paul II and American Catholic bishops have been addressing the ecological crisıs In 1990 Pope John Paul II in The Ecological Crisis A Common Responsibility there is an order that must be respected, and the human person endowed with the capability of choosing freely has a grave respon sibility to preserve this order for the well being of future generations I wish to repeat that the ecological crisis is a moral issue

Translating a theology of ecology into effective public policy is difficult and necessary In 'Faithful Citizenship A Catholic Call to Political Responsibility", the US bishops in 2003 said "Our stewardship of the Earth is a form of participation in Gods act of creating and sustaining the world In our use of creation, we must be guided by our concern for generations to come We show our respect for the Creator by our care for creation

Since by its very nature everything in creation is connected to everything else, protecting creation must be coordinated both nationally and internationally Global warming affects the entire planet, and the US has unfortunately not been instrumental in international discussions to remedy this problem

Despite the fact that the US, as 4 percent of the world's population emits 25 percent of the carbon dioxide that causes global warming, we were unable to pass the McCain Lieberman bill in the US Senate to curb our own emissions Higher automobile fuel efficiency standards and the development of alternative sources of energy around the world will slow; down global warming

As creatures sharing Creation with others creatures, as followers of Jesus Christ, and as citizens of a democracy what are we to do? Reverencing what God creates, reading the signs of the times and studying the teachings of the church prepare us to step out into the political arena as informed voters and activists We will work to pro tect all that lives, for ALL LIFE has been given to us as an expression of Gods love for us

Live donor best chance for kidney patient

With her kidneys failing and the prospect of dialysis to cleanse her blood loomıng, Thea Cohen is seeking a kıdney

A new, live kidney would give her a better chance of living a normal life, Cohen said, than would a cadaver kidney And, nationwide, there are 80,000 people on a warting list for a cadaver kidney, she said "I must be eighty thousand and one, Cohen said

Potential donors should be between the ages of 18 and 55 or so, have a blood type of A or O, and be healthy enough to undergo the operation They also need to have blood antigens that are compatible with Cohen's blood antigens

Cohen said the surgery, for the donor is less invasive than it used to be It requires four surgical punctures and a 2-inch incision, she said Barring complications, the donor can go home the next day, she said

A donor's remaining kidney enlarges to take over the function of the missing one, Cohen said

Her surgeon at St John Hospital in Detroit, she said, specializes in kidney transplants A recipient can make a full recovery in about six months, she said

Cohen has had five potential donors, but three backed away from donating and two proved incompatible, she said

A sixth person - a 25-yearold former student - is now being tested But the time it takes Cohen to find potential donors and get them screened and tested has her concerned

Friends or former students who are interested in contacting Cohen about kidney donation can reach her through the Observer at (734) 953 2115

Just-retired teacher now facing kidney failure

BY MATT JACHMAN STAFF WRITER

After a career of more than 30 years at Redford Union High School, where she taught French and Spanish and maintained passion for the job year ın and year out, Thea Cohen was looking forward to retirement last spring

But weeks before the end of the school year, Cohen was diagnosed with kidney failure Retirement plans took a back seat to her health

"It was devastating to me when I first found out," said Cohen, of Southfield, during a visit to the high school on Monday She didn't tell anyone at RU, even people with whom she had worked for decades, about her condition "I didn't want to make people sad," she said

Now, Cohen is sharing her story in hopes of finding someone to donate a kidney and help her get her health, and back on track "It would have to be, obviously, a gift of love," Cohen said

She's trying to reach out to former students, some of whom she's lost track of "I've always had good relationships with my students," she said

Cohen said high blood pressure that went untreated for years has scarred her kidneys

Doctors noted the high blood pressure, but didn't do anything to correct it, she and her husband said "She didn't know how dangerous it was," Allen Cohen said

Now, the blood pressure is under control, but her kidneys aren't functioning well, she said She said she's noticed some changes in her body recently, but still feels pretty good She and Allen swim every day

But the more time that passes - Cohen is being tested once a month and monitors her symptoms - the closer she comes to having to rely on

'It would have to be. obviously, a gift of love."

blood-cleansing dialysis, she and her husband say

"It's not a normal life, by any means," Allen Cohen said Thea Cohen says it's not easy to talk about her condition, nor to approach people about considering kidney donation 'It's not something you can ask for," she said

But a donation, she said, would mean life, and I could do what I want to do," she said

That includes trips abroad She had planned two trips that she's had to cancel, she said, and people who don't know

she's ill are probably expecting postcards

As a French teacher, Cohen often took RU students on trips to France that she planned herself, which cut down on costs The first trip

Learning about the French culture was an aspect of the trips that consistently resonated with students, she said was in 1971

Also, "I think the Louvre, the art museum, was a big surprise and delight to a lot of them," she added Paris was on the itinerary of every trip, she said

"She (liked) to show France because there's so much negative publicity about it," said her husband, who often accompamed her

Canton gridders grind down Rocks, 42-14

Canton prepared for the post-season Friday night by reminding cross-campus rıval Salem how wide the gap has grown between the two schools' programs

The Chiefs rolled to a 42-14 victory to finish the regular season 9-0 for the second consecutive year Salem (3-6) lost for the sixth-consecutive time after reeling off three-straight wins to open the

'We see a different defense every week, so we have to prepare for everything," said Canton coach Tim Baechler 'Our backs made some big plays for us

"Now we have to stop listening to people say how good we are and work at getting better

Salem coach Bob Cummings said his team was done in by ill-timed errors

We had some fumbles and penalties that really hurt us tonight, Cummings said "You can't make mistakes like that against a good team like Canton

"I was proud of our team this year, especially our seniors They brought it every week and gave an excellent effort"

The Chiefs' defense struck first Friday night, scoring 20 seconds into the game when linebacker Jeff Hudson jarred the ball loose from Salem quarterback Jeff Lake Jeff Piper scooped up the ball on the 13 and sprinted into the end zone The extra point was missed, but Canton led 6-0

Salem countered with an impressive 17-play, 94-yard scoring drive, which was capped off with Lake's one-yard quarterback sneak Jon Pomorski's extra point

made it 7-6

The drive took 9 23 off the clock, so Canton ran just three offensive plays in the entire first quarter

Canton took the lead for good on its next possession when Julian Smith dove into the end zone from 1 yard out The Chiefs upped their cushion to 14-7 when Smith followed an Andy Rossow block into the end zone for the two-point con-

Chuck Schumacher's 13-yard burst up the middle and Collin O'Shaughnessy's first of four successful extra points with 3 49 left in the first half extended the Chiefs' lead to 21-7

Smith's second TD of the evening from 22 yards out made it 28-7 with 1 20 left in the half The score was set up by Smith's interception and 24-yard return to the Rock 42

Canton quarterback Shawn Little completed a 23-yard scoring strike to Rossow on the first drive of the second half to make it 35-7

Salem drove to the Chief 22 on its next drive, but couldn't convert a fourth-andfour pass

Canton's final tally came with 3 24 left in the third quarter when Smith cut back against the grain and out-raced the Rock secondary on a 71-yard touchdown

Salems scored with 37 seconds remaining when Lake hooked up with Joe Crist from eight yards out

Canton out-gained Salem, 284-214, in total yards The Rocks won the firstdown battle, 13-10 Smith picked up 144 yards on 11 car-

Turnovers doom Wildcats

A two-and-a-half hour bus ride didn't faze Plymouth Friday afternoon as much as a 24-minute stretch of turnover-laden football Friday night

The Wildcats had a season-high five give-aways in their 19-13 loss at West Branch Ogemaw Heights The setback left Plymouth with a 2-7 mark The Falcons finished at 4-5

'Our defense played its best game of the year by far tonight," said Plymouth coach Jay Blaylock, 'but our offense and special teams were out of rhythm "The kids seemed focused Any time you have a long bus ride like we did, there's going to be some effect on the players But we had plenty of time to get mentally ready, plus we made two long trips last year, so we knew what

Plymouth took the opening kick-off and marched down the field, scoring on quarterback Brent Jones' 1-yard sneak

The Falcons responded by scoring on their first possession, but they missed the extra point, leaving the score at 7-6

After Ogemaw Heights scored on a fake punt to jump ahead 13-7, Kevin Minor cut the Wildcats' deficit in half with a 32-yard field goal to make it 13-10 at the half

The Falcons flew out of the halftime intermission by returning the secondhalf kick-off for a TD to increase their advantage to 19-10

Minor boomed a 42-yard field with six minutes left to play to make it a one-score game, 19-13 However, Plymouths final drive stalled when it failed to make a first down

"The kids are disappointed that we only won two games," Blaylock said "But we reminded them that we're the only team in the school's history that will have everybody back again the following year'

Ineligible player costs Schoolcraft kickers

Canton freshman Maddy McDuff finished fourth in the 200-yard individual medley Wednesday Canton defeated Plymouth, 115-71 to improve its record to 9-

As a result of using an ineligible player, the Schoolcraft College mens soccer team will have to forfeit seven victories

An internal school probe determined that goalkeeper Anthony Santilli played three games last month for the Windsor Border Cats of the Canadian Professional Soccer League, a violation of National Junior College Athletic Association rules Interim Schoolcraft athletic director Bill Tolstedt has notified the NJCAA and the Michigan Community College Athletic Association of the findings, which included Santilli's participation in NJCAA rules state that during the regular season, student-athletes cannot participate in the same sport for any other team.

participate in the same sport for any other team Santilli played in nine Schoolcraft games, including seven wins and two losses

As a result of forfeiting each of the seven wins, Schoolcraft's record falls from 13-2 overall to 6-9 heading into today's MCCAA game at Kellogg

Community College Santilli, who appeared in 13 games during the 2001 season for the University of Detroit Mercy, has been suspended for the remainder of the season, and is awaiting a ruling from the NJCAA on the rule violation and any additional actions taken by the college in regards to the rule violation

"I don't really have much to say other than that Anthony has apologized,' Schoolcraft coach Dominic Scicluna said "The only thing we can focus on is our three hours of training tomorrow (Saturday) and our next game It's already affected the team and there shouldn't be any other penalty

"I live, eat and breathe soccer It's part of my whole life and I would not jeopardize myself, or the school, for somebody's individual desires. The truth is the only way to do things and its time to move forward"

Salem advances on Harris' heroics

Just call Salem's Thiago Harris "Captain Clutch" The senior captain's latest pressure-packed exploit unfolded Wednesday night in the Rocks' tensionfilled 2-1 double-overtime victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer in a Division 1 district semifinal match at

With just over six minutes remaining in the second OT, Harris took a pass from teammate Jake Bennett a few yards beyond mid-field and surged past a pair of Pioneer defenders One step outside the 18-yard box, Harris was brought down by a Pioneer, setting up a direct kick from 20 yards out

Harris drilled a hard, curling shot that whizzed through the Pioneers' defense, past goalie Alex Haas and into the back of the net to set off a delirious post-game Rock celebration The shot also sent the Rocks' into yesterday's district final tilt against Saline (due to deadline restrictions, results will appear in Thursday's edition of the Observer) The win improved Salem's record to 13-4-6 while

Pioneer slipped to 14-6-3 "Thiago is the player who takes all of our re-starts," Salem coach Ed McCarthy said "He's had a number of key goals for us this season He's a senior captain

Balanced attack leads Canton to comfortable win

BY ED WRIGHT STAFF WRITER

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday October 24 2004

Plymouth slapped a triangle-and-two defense on Canton Thursday night in an effort to contain Chief top guns Katie Cezat and Lisa Ealy

The "two' part of the defense worked against Cezat and Ealy, limiting them to a combined eight points, but the Chiefs shot holes in the triangle' in their 40-16 victory over the visiting Wildcats

In the triangle-and-two, three players play a zone defense while the other two play man-to-man against the opposing teams' top two scoring threats With the defense concentrating on Cezat and Ealy, Canton's Molly Conlon, Becci Houdek and Kelsey Zemanski took advantage of open looks at the basket to combine for 21 points

Conlon, who drilled three straight jumpers early in the second quarter, finished with eight, Houdek twined seven and Zemanski had six Houdek had an exceptional defensive game, recording six

Cezat scored six and hauled down 14 rebounds, and Ealy had 11 boards Freshman Marie Martin chipped in with six and Lisa Olech pumped in

Neither team had a player score in double figures

"Plymouth did a great job against Cezat and Ealy, but we had other players who got open shots and hit them, Canton coach Bob Blohm said

The Chiefs, who are 10-5 overall, clinched first place in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division with the win At 8-1, they are tied for first in the WLAA conference standings with Walled Lake Northern Plymouth slipped to 8-6 overall and 6-3 in the WLAA

Canton did a great job with their pressure, man-to-man defense against us,' Plymouth coach Richelle Reilly said "We didn't execute well offensively

Defensively, we played a triangle-and-two to stop Cezat and Ealy, but a few of their kids stepped up and made shots'

Defensively, Cezat blanketed Wıldcat leadıng scorer Jeanine Moise, holding the talented, 5-foot-10 post player to a season-low three points Kım Olech led Plymouth with four points and 11 rebounds Colleen Flaherty had three

Canton raced to a 10-0 lead in the first quarter as the Wildcats missed all seven of their field goals and four free throws Flaherty brought Plymouth to within 10-3 two seconds into the second quarter when she converted a three-point play

But the Chiefs countered with a 17-0 run to put the game on ice Zemanski and Conlon both had six points in the pivotal streak

Canton out-rebounded Plymouth, 29-24 The Wildcats committed 22 turnovers — 13 in the decisive first half - compared to the Chiefs 11 miscues

The Chiefs shots 32 percent from the field (17-of-52) and 60 percent from the charity stripe (three-of-five) The Wildcats connected on just seven-of-30 shots from the field (23 percent) and two-of-13 free throws (15 percent)

Canton visits Livonia Stevenson Tuesday while Plymouth makes the short, cross-campus trek to Salem's gymnasium

Tip-off for both games is slated for 7 p m

NORTHVILLE 44, SALEM 37: The Mustangs figured out a defensive scheme that cooled off the red-hot Rock shooters, holding Salem to 27percent shooting (14-of-51) from the field

They played a zone and we didn't attack their gaps very well, said Salem coach Fred Thomann 'They're quickness took us out of our game"

The loss dropped Salem (11-4 overall) out of first place in the WLAA The Rocks are now 7-2 in the conference, one game behind co-leaders Canton and Walled Lake Northern Northville is also 7-2 in the league and 10-5 over-

Northville led 7-6 after one quarter and 19-17 at the intermission The key quarter was the third when the Mustangs outscored the Rocks, 14-7, to secure a 33-24 advantage "We played a nice first half,"

Thomann said "They hit a shot right at the end of the half to take the lead It's a disappointing loss because we felt we had an opportunity to control our own destiny and win the league championship, and now we don't control it'

Ellen Canale paced the Rocks with 12 points Allysa Guerin scored nine and Keiyana Arnold twined seven

Shamrock kickers capture district crown

BY TIM SMITH STAFF WRITER

Back-to-back 1-0 victories were enough to send Redford Catholic Central into the Division 1 state boys soccer regionals The Shamrocks blanked Grosse Pointe South Friday night to win the Berkley district

Head coach Joe Nora said he wasn't yet sure who or when _ his team would play, only that

Utica district at the regional hosted by Macomb Dakota

A goal by Josh Smith on a penalty kick, about 25 minutes into the district final, was enough to cap the clincher

'It was a tough game back and forth," said Nora, whose team did not allow a goal in three district matches, improving to 9-7-6 'We kept playing hard and we kept it down in their end'

Catholic Central junior goal

his solid play, making eight stops for the shutout

STONEWALLING MOTT

The Shamrocks qualified for the final with an impressive 1-O victory Wednesday over Warren Mott

Senior forward Dade DiMaggios goal with 15 minutes to play — on an assist from junior midfielder Skylar Dum — provided all the offense the Shamrocks required to earn the semifinal triumph

Earning the shutout with a six-save performance was Walsh

We kind of went back and forth and took it to them here and there," Nora said "We wanted to keep taking chances and we knew wed get one eventually Dade came through for us

Nora said outstanding defense set the tone for the win He cited seniors Smith

Bret Fortuna, Andy Well, Gary Klump and junior Matt Duprie for not allowing the Marauders many good scoring chances

"And Brian was there when they did get through," Nora said 'It was a great win for us" Catholic Central's 10-0 rout

of Detroit Western International in Monday's district opener started what turned out to be a very good week for Nora and the Shamrocks tsmith@oe homecomm net | (734) 953 2106

Churchill harriers rule WLAA meet

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Livonia Churchill has won numerous division titles in boys cross country over the years, but the Chargers were able to take it a step further Friday afternoon at Willow

Metropark in New Boston Churchill, the pre-meet favorite, ended a 28 year drought by winning the Western Lakes Activities Association championship with a team-low 42 points Defending champion Salem was a close second with 52, while Livonia Stevenson placed third in the 12-school field with 115 See complete results on page BPlacing five in the top 21, Churchill was led by senior Connor Schultz, who finished runner-up to individual winner Sean Maxwell of Walled Lake Central

Maxwell covered the 5,000 meter course in 16 minutes, 3 seconds, while Schultz was clocked in 16 08

Other Churchill finishers ıncluded freshman Brandon Grysko, eighth, junior Tim Howse, ninth, senior Adam Lumley, 17th, and senior Joe Horka, 21st

"I don't think we've ever won in the Western Lakes, Churchill coach John McGreevy said "There were no surprises at this competition I just told our guys to run hard, know who they were running against, and try and kick it up a notch And if you get beat by a better runner, you ve just got to give them credit

"Most of our times I believe were P R.s (personal records) and Joe Horka had a cold He made a gutsy effort just finish-

Salem's Dan Kapadia finished third overall in Friday's Western Lakes Activities Association conference meet at Willow Metropark Led by Kapadia, the Rocks finished second in the meet

Walled Lake Central placed three in the top 10 and four in the top 15, but did not place in the team standings because its fifth and only other runner dropped out

Schultz and Maxwell dueled for much of the race until the Central junior made a late surge for the win

'The big hill here, which is rare, is the one thing that makes the entire race painful, Schultz said 'With 800 (meters) to go he (Maxwell) started to accelerate and I tried to keep up with him, but he just kept accelerating Salem was led by third-place finisher Dan Kapadia, a junior who was clocked in 16 15 He was followed by teammates Scott Fysh (10th), Adam Kosteva (14th), Joe Rothert (26th) and John Israel (27th)

"We ran very well today and I'm happy, Salem coach Geoff Baker said 'The whole team stepped up and ran well

But first is first and second is nothing in this meet. Next week third or better means everything (at the regional) and we hope get another crack at them (Churchill) next week

'This is what we shoot for and work for the whole season is for is this meet and next week And hopefully we'll be fortunate to get into the state meet This course is flat and fast just like the state meet course We just hope to race a little bit better next week"

Spartans harriers' depth wins WLAA

STAFF WR TER

Livonia Stevensons pre meet preparations for Friday's Western Lakes Activities Association conference meet couldnt have been bumpier

However, the Spartans performance in the 12-team meet at Willow Metropark in New Boston couldn t have gone any smoother

Led by a 1-2 finish from Heather Sirko and Kristen Frey, Stevenson defended its WLAA title in one of closest finishes in memory The Spartans compiled 60 points to edge runner-up Livonia Churchill (66), Northville (69) and Salem (70)

It was an awesome perform ance by the girls, especially considering that everything that could have gone wrong before the meet did, said Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg, who has led the Spartans since 1976 "There was a homecoming pep rally today, so the girls sat outside for a couple of hours Then the bus was late, so we didn t have a second to waste getting out here Although they weren't relaxed and confident when they got out here, they stepped up and ran great

Sometimes I take our top two runners for granted because they finish 1-2 in just about every meet we go to Most coaches have to worry where five of their runners are going to finish, I only have to worry about three

Stevenson has now captured nine WLAA titles since 1994 Sirko finished in 18 07, 25 seconds ahead of Frey

The Spartans also received strong showings from 14thplace Marinna Plinka, 16thplace Stephanie Perez and 27th-place Amber Cicala

Churchill had seven runners place in the top 21, although only its top five times counted Nicole Schmidt led the Chargers, finishing 10th, just

Salem's Lauren Kane passed Livonia Churchill's Nicole Schmidt early in Friday's Western Lakes Activities Association conference meet at Willow Metropark Kane finished sixth overall to help lead the Rocks to a fourth-place finish ahead of 11th place teammate Kylen Cieslak.

"Overall the girls ran well," said Churchill coach Sue Tatigian Tatro Its one of the most competitive conferences in the state The top 10 girls ran 19 18 or better and the top 16 were under 20 00

Salem coach Dave Gerlach said he was happy with his runners effort, but disappoint ed that the Rocks didn't place higher than fourth

The girls ran hard," he said "Im disappointed though because the opportunity was there for us today, the door was open You don't get an opportunity to win a meet of this magnitude very often 'At the one-mile marker, we had seven of the top 20 runners, so it was looking good Our top three runners ran good races today In fact, all three broke the old school record Rock runners Hannah Cavicchio, Laura Friedman and Lauren Kane finished fourth through sixth, respectively

Kindell's game ignites Belleville gridders

Cbserver & Eccentric | Sunday October 24 2004

Senior running back Isaac Kındell ran Belleville right into the post-season playoffs Friday night against Romulus

Kindell churned out 200 yards on 11 carries and scored three touchdowns in the Tigers' 36-0 romp over the Eagles The win improved Belleville to 6-3, guaranteeing the Tigers a berth in the playoffs Romulus slipped to 6-3

Kındell got the Tigers rolling early with a 35-yard punt return for a TD mid-way through the first quarter Cory Phillips' extra point made it 7-

With three minutes remaining in the half, Phillips extended the Tigers' lead to 10-0 with a 30-yard field goal

Belleville sealed the deal in the third quarter scoring on 75-yard and 20-yard bursts by Kindell, and a 5-yard run by Greg Rochen Ali Allen closed out the scoring in the fourth quarter with a 3-yard TD run

Belleville picked up 329 on the ground, but did not complete a pass Assisting Kindell were Wassem El Awadı, who had six carries for 56 yards, and Rochen, who picked up 14 yards on five attempts who has tremendous poise He always seems to come through for us when we need him

The match was scoreless for the first 54 minutes and 25 seconds before Harris broke the goal drought with a direct kick just outside the 18 yard box

Proneer scored an apparent goal two minutes later, but it was disallowed when the referee ruled it committed a dangerous play' infraction

The Pioneers scored a goal that counted with 12 56 left in regulation when Allen Anderson took a pass from Peter Vasher and sızzled a shot past Rock goal-keeper Brian

Salem dominated play over the final 10 minutes of regulation and came close to ending the game twice when Jake Bennett's shot hit the crossbar with 7 15 left and when Steve Zelmanski's header was tipped just over the bar by Haas with 20 ticks of the clock remaining

Neither team came close to scoring in the first overtime and a shoot-out appeared likely until Harris' heroics won it for the Rocks

"Their front-runner (Harris) is a real good player, said Pioneer coach Chris Morgan 'Salem is a good team They play hard and they play with discipline They know what they want to do

Wednesday's match was the third showdown of the year between the Rocks and Pioneers Pioneer beat Salem, 1-0, in late August, and the two teams tied, 0-O two weeks ago

Division The defeat dropped Plymouth to 6-3

"The girls are real excited about having accomplished something that a Canton team hasn't done in a while, said Chief first-year coach Mollie Raines 'All of the girls worked hard and contributed We had a good freshmen class and a good, overall competitive group It wasn t just the firstplaces that got us the division championship, it was the extraone and two points we got in every meet

Plymouth coach Doug Schade was satisfied with his teams effort despite the set-

We had 31 personal bests m the meet, so the girls swam well," Schade said "We swam as well as we could, Canton was just a little better than us They're the conference's Western Division champs and one of the top 20 teams in the state, so losing to a team like that is nothing to be embarrassed about'

Plymouth jumped out to an early lead by winning two of the first three events Canton's quartet of Allison Schmitt, Alyssa Johnson, Monica Blaesser and Susie Patrick won the 200-yard medley relay, but the Wildcats Elaine Lafayette and Sarah Palczynski finished first in the 200 freestyle and 200 individual medley, respec tively

Canton took charge of the « meet by winning the next four... events diving (Mina Pirzaden), the 100 butterfly (Blaesser), the 100 freestyle (Izabela Paszkowska) and the 500 freestyle (Schmitt)

'Since it was the last meet, we only swam our seniors in the relays," Raines said "We wanted to give the other girls a chance to see how we can do against Plymouth next year Everyone came through and game us some really good swims"

lifts MU to WHAC title

The Madonna University mens soccer team wrapped up its fifth consecutive Wolverine Hoosier Athletic Conference regular season title Wednesday with a 2-0 win over Cornerstone University at Livonia's Greenmead Field

Will Friend, a junior transfer from Schoolcraft College, scored both goals for the victo rious Crusaders, who improved to 7-4-1 overall and 6-0-1 in the WHAC

It was also the second WHAC title in as many years for coach Tino Scicluna

Friend, an Ann Arbor native (Quest Academy), scored at 16 33 of the match on a blind header off a cross from senior defender Matt Koontz (Livonia Stevenson)

Less than 14 minutes later, Friend scored again off a cross from freshman Peter Bierzynski (Redford Catholic Central)

MU freshman goalkeeper Kristofer Lyons (Walled Lake Central) made four saves to post his fourth straight shutout and the seventh this season

Cornerstone, which fell to 8 6 1 overall and 5 3 in the WHAC got seven saves from goalkeeper Luke Owens

Friend's 2-goal effort Lady Ocelots eye rematch with St. Clair spikers

Schoolcraft College racked up two more Eastern Conference womens volleyball victories last week to set up a rematch for first place with leader St Clair CC

On Thursday, the Lady Ocelots improved to 25-6 overall and 14-1 in the conference with a 30 22, 30-28, 30-15 win over host Delta CC following a 20-30, 30-21, 28-30, 30-17, 15 13 victory over host Mott CC in Flint Schoolcraft travels Tuesday to face unbeaten St Clair which is 52 2 overall and 15-0 in the conference (Game time is 7 p m)

Meghan McAuliffe led Schoolcraft with 15 kills in the win over Delta (23-20, 5-8) Kathleen Knutson (Westland John Glenn) added nine, while Mayssa Bazzı and Gıllıan Brooks contributed eight

Naoko Ninomiya had a team-high 23 digs, while Bazzi had 16 and Carthn O Hara 11 Schoolcraft setter Kelly Sines finished with 44 assists

Knutson had 29 kills in the marathon win over Mott (30-17, 11-5) Teneika Fellows added 11, while McAuliffe had nine and Angie Wangler eight Once again, Ninomiya led the defense with 29 digs

Sines had 60 assists and four aces serves

Crusaders win 30th

Madonna University hit the 30-win plateau for the fifth straight season with pair of wins Friday in the Big Guns Classic hosted by St Francis (Ind)

The Crusaders beat Tiffin (Ohio) University in the opener, 30-28, 30-16, 30-18, as Sharyse Bush and Natalja Tinina finished with 17 and 16 kills, respectively

Caryn Inman added 12 kills, while setter Ashley Frost had 39 assist-to-kills and a teamhigh nine blocks (tied with Bush) Tera Morrill (Livonia Franklin) and Tinina each added eight digs while Refanie DeNardin and Jacqui Gatt (Livonia Churchill) served three aces apiece

The loss dropped Tiffin to 13-

Madonna, coming off a fourgame loss Tuesday to Cornerstone improved to 30-2 overall with a 30 21 30 15 30-15 win over the University of Michigan Dearborn as Tinina had a team-high 21 kills

Inman and Bush added 12 and 11 kills respectively while Frost racked up 34 assists DeNardin finished with 15 digs, while Tinina added 13

UM Dearborn falls to 17 133.

Because he earns the income, I think he has all the control and power in our relationship I would like our relationship to be more balanced, but how do I do that?

A Studies suggest that there are many ways that power is displayed in a relationship We typically think that money is a good predictor of power in a relationship - the partner who brings home the money has the power in a relationship But studies show that it is not always the deciding factor Money does matter, but so do other things Power is usually not all one way in any relationship There are several questions you can ask yourself to see where the power resides in different areas of your relationship Ask yourself the following

1 Who successfully interrupts the other partner?
Research shows that if one partner consistently and successfully can interrupt the other person, the one who interrupts is the more powerful partner

2 Who has an extensive network of friends or family to turn to in times of trouble? The partner who has more people to turn to, has more power because they are less dependent on the relationship

3 Who is more invested in the relationship? Studies show that when one partner is more invested in the relationship than the other, a severe power imbalance results. The more that both partners are interdependent on each other, socially emotionally and financially the harder it is for either to leave and the greater the incentive to stay together.

4 Who decides what television programs to watch? Sometimes this is a subtle form of power because one partner has control over what the couple watches on televi-

In general, when a relationship is unbalanced, this causes feelings of resentment in the partner without the power But, remember that perception is very important If you think someone has more power than you do, you probably "give in" sooner, which of course makes your perception reality In addition, couples do not necessarily have to be equal in every aspect of life, but the closer they get to that sense of equality, the happier they tend to be Further, studies consistently show that what is most important for relationship happiness is that both partners think the division of power is fair (regardless of how it is displayed) More specifically, if you have the power in your relatronship and would like it to be more balanced, try to consult your partner more in decisions concerning the relationship (for example, seeking input on where to go out on Saturday night or suggestions for how to invest your money) Use your power wisely and make sure your partner gets to shine, too If your partner has the power, and you would like it to be more balanced, try to focus on areas where you sense an imbalance and see if there is room for change Trying to create a few small changes can go a long way toward making your relationship feel more balanced

Discovery of grandmother's book leads to Recovery

BY STACY JENKINS STAFF WRITER

David Crandall strives to be average That may seem strange but its a real achievement for the 49 year old Farmington Hills man who has struggled with mental dis orders for most of his life

Moving his muscles and getting out of bed was once a major feat Leaving the house was not an option and the thought of driving a car or being around people evoked feelings of panic Hes come a long way since then

Sitting outside of a Borders Books store in a bustling shopping plaza, being interviewed by a newspaper reporter, no less, was not something David would have imagined doing in the past Not to mention mustering the courage to drive on Orchard Lake Road to get there

But, there he was He was ready to tell of his journey toward averageness

Selecting his words like picking the perfect apple off a tree, David pored through his painful past, his steady progress and ended with a smile, knowing he's accomplished much

And, he owes much of it to Recovery, Inc, a long-established self-help program for people with stress, anxiety, depression, anger and other emotional problems David was diagnosed with numerous illnesses throughout his life, but settled on chronic depression and anxiety disorder

'I was diagnosed with all kinds of things," he said "I was put on every medication in the book and had every diagnosis I had pretty much given up"

As a young man in his 20s, he literally stopped talking to people and experienced nervous breakdowns. He was afraid of people because he thought everyone knew something was wrong with him

Dwelling basically in solitude in his parents basement, the young man noticed an old, dusty book sitting on a shelf Inscribed in gold letters on the navy blue, hard-cover book was

David Crandall keeps his grandmother's 1950 copy of 'Mental Health Through Will Training' close at hand It has helped in his journey

a title that would change his life - Mental Health Through Will Training, by Dr Abraham A Low

"I read a chapter and I said to myself, "This is me," he said

It was his grandmother's book Inside, he found an old piece of paper, listing dates for

Recovery, Inc meetings
She went to these meetings and she was helped, so I figured I would try it, he said Established in 1937 by Low in Chicago, Recovery, Inc is the result of a once profound theory that people can help themselves out of the mental illness storm David reluctantly attended his first meeting in Southfield

I probably sat in back and didn't say a word for about six months,' he said 'I was scared
But, the more I listened, the more I found out that these people are like me"

That was 18 years ago Taking small steps, David learned how to retrain his brain to think positively and to recognize every ounce of progress he was making through his studies of Lows theories

It was the minuscule battles he faced every day – like getting out of bed – that made the difference. He learned how to feel proud of himself and how to challenge himself. He also learned how to deal with circumstances beyond his control and realize that everything that doesn't go as planned isn't his fault.

My illness is fate-appointed, not selfappointed, he said

RECOVERY

Now, David has friends, he s involved in a watch and clock collectors group, he travels, he visits flea markets as a pastime and he's getting ready to move into his own apartment

His faith in Recovery, Inc. has brought him far. He now leads his own Recovery group at 1 p.m. on Fridays at the Southfield Civic Center, in the parks and recreation building, on Evergreen, south of 11 Mile. He welcomes newcomers to the group. He's also an assistant leader at Monday meetings at St. Coleman's church on Middlebelt and 14 Mile in Farmington Hills and on Wednesdays at Prince of Peace Church on Walnut Lake Road in West Bloomfield.

The meetings are not focused on diagnosis or medications, but on the person's experiences and how they deal with them

Carolyn Dirker, who has been involved in Recovery, Inc for 30 years, and is an area leader, said David is an excellent example of how Dr Low's program works

"In my opinion, David was non-functional before He spent most of his time in bed," she said "But, he started with one meeting and he kept going He just improved so much"

She said group leaders who watched David improve are also impressed 'They're just so amazed by him,' she said David admits he still has challenging days.

David admits he still has challenging days, but at least he's able to recognize it's just part of life

'I feel I'm no better and no worse than anyone else," he said 'I feel I have done a lot for a person in my situation, with my limits

He smiles at the notion of just being an average guy

Tiffany Pao a 15-year old Churchill High School student, performs Beethoven's Concerto No 1 with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra Saturday Oct 30

Soprano Oleksandra Hrabova is a graduate of Lutsk Institute of Music and Lysenko Conservatory of Music in Lysy Ukraine

Young pianist sure to draw crowd

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

Tiffany Paos performance
Saturday, Oct 30, of a Beethoven concerto with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra should draw quite a crowd to Churchill High School Friends, classmates and even the Churchill girls track coach plan to attend the concert featuring the 15-year old sopho more, one of two guest soloists

Pao has her feet firmly planted in two worlds. She admires girls track coach Sue Tatigian-Tatro as much as her piano teacher Mary Sichano, who she began studying with at age 5 Both are extremely proud of her Tatigian-Tatro first saw Pao perform in May with the Dearborn Symphony Orchestra. Its quite a feat for a young pianist to be featured as a guest soloist with an orchestra.

I d never been in the presence of such talent before," Tatigian-Tatro said

Pao puts her heart and soul into whatever she does, but especially piano and sports Five days a week, she and members of the Churchill girls track team run around Newburgh Lake after school Pao says it helps her build endurance to tackle pieces such as Beethoven's Piano Concerto No 1 in C Mayor

'Cross country gives me more energy overall," Pao said "Its very tough I think it helps me because of endurance and gives me confidence"

Pao equally loves the Beethoven she will play Oct

ARIES (March 21-April 20)

You seem to be caught in a crosscurrent at the moment and are almost beginning to panic—which ain t your style Ram Chill kiddo This week's Solar Eclipse gives you both the freedom and the power to do what you deem to be just and right and bring a costly cycle to a close

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)

You II push ahead with great enthusiasm over the next few days both in your personal life and at work. You li also be aware that there s money to be made if you ocus your energy in a single direct on and don't allow yourself to be sidetracked Start figuring out where your priorities lie

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)
What lies ahead is not as important as what is taking place all around you. This week's Solar Eclipse signi fies that you have come to the end of the line either personally or professionally in every respect realize that destiny is not a matter of chance it is a matter

CANCER (June 22-July 23)

The astro interpretation of planetary activity over the next few weeks is that any changes taking place at ome or with family are for the best. Emotions have been too close to the surface since summer dissolved but you are about to find your way ahead clearly signposted and experience relief

LEO (July 24-Aug 23)

VIRGO (Aug 24-Sept 23)

This may be a rather cranky unsettling week as events over which you have no control force you to confront an financial or family issue that you've been evading Deep down you knew that it would come to this sooner or later Learn to speak up or learn first

LIBRA (Sept 24-Oct 23)

The keyword over the next few weeks is confidence and you will be offered every opportunity to show what you can do Above all walk away from people or situations that upset you Don't be miserly expressing your feelings or desires. You II be amazed at the results - and profits

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)

You ve come so far and endured so much- don t give up now! It won t take you long to understand y life has been so tough recently or to make the most of your change in fortune Responsibilities begin to relax now- and you should too After all It's birthday time!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21)

Oy once again you are reminded that the only dif ference between a flower and a weed is a judg ment If you have this thought in mind as the Moon goes Full you will suddenly find yourself in a unique position to turn what others consider a setback into something sensational and of lasting

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 21)

The moment has come to accept the fact that things will only go from weird to worse if you continue to defy the winds of change or put off things. No matter how disillusioned you feel right now the best solution to all current prob lems is to live and let live and roll up your sleeves

AQUARIUS (Jan 22-Feb 19)

Handing over control and letting go of people places or situations does not come easy to the ever , fa thful constant WaterBearer However the approaching Solar Eclipse is about to give you the courage and determination to cut loose and bring a long drawn out and decidedly uncomfy chapter of your life to a close

PISCES (Feb 20-March 20)

Cooperation or confrontation? Only you can decide Fish But current aspects indicate that the time has come to be less forgiving and more protective of your own interests. Money re grooving takes up a great deal of your time now and you cannot afford to leave anything to chance

Ukrainian Bandurist Chorus preserves history in song

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

Ask any current or past member of the Ukrainian Bandurist Chorus and they ll tell you the group is about preserving heritage and memories of the homeland

Anatolı Murhas father Wally started teaching him how to play the bandura, a 60stringed instrument at age 9 At age 26, he's given concerts all over North America and Europe

Murha does not travel from town to town like the blind bandurists did for centuries in Ukraine, but hes nevertheless keeping the culture alive by retelling their stories through

On Saturday, Oct 30, Murha and the rest of the 45-member chorus bring the ancient tradition to life in an 8 p m concert at Ward Evangelical Presbyterian Church 40000 Six Mile, west of Haggerty, Northville

Tickets are $15 adults, $10 seniors and students and available by calling the church at (248) 374-5928 or the chorus at (734) 953-0305

"I ve had the opportunity to meet people around the world and share my culture, said Anatoli Murha, a Livonia resident who joined the chorus at age 14 'In more ways than I can say there's a sense of accomplishment and pride in representing Ukraine

Murha is among four generations performing with the chorus While other classical

The Ukrainian Bandurist Chorus has performed throughout Europe and North America, preserving the musical culture of Ukraine

art forms struggle to attract youth, the chorus has to turn prospective members away, selecting only the most accomplished musicians and singers

"There's a real romantic pull to something with a tragic past, said Borys Potapenko, a past member and current director of the Ukrainian Cultural Center in Warren 'Blind storytellers known as Kobzars traveled from village to village, serving as sort of an archivist of Ukrainian history for common folk They were faced with extinction during Czarist and Communist times and in the 1930s were called to a convention and shot"

The chorus continues on their tradition Formed in Kiev in 1918, the chorus established itself in America after several of its members immigrated to the United States in 1949 and settled in Detroit In 1991, they celebrated the 10th anniversarv of freedom from Soviet rule in Ukraine with a tour of major cities there

Today members from ages 16 to 75 travel from as far away as British Columbia, Alberta, Toronto, Connecticut, New York and Ohio to rehearse and perform

'It goes to our hearts when we hear bandura," said Potapenko 'It hearkens back to a fairy tale land of home, family and God The chorus is a little bit of Ukraine in Michigan

Whenever we play a CD by the chorus or hear a performance we are in our Ukrainian home

Did you know?

We've done some remarkable things at Saint Joseph Mercy Health System ...

- We have one of only 50 Community Clinical Oncology Programs in the United States designated by the National Cancer Institute.
- Money Magazine named us one of the best. hospitals for total knee replacement. In a recent Hour Detroit Magazine survey, area doctors ranked Saint Joseph Mercy's

- doctors best in ten categories including cardiology, general surgery, urology, and respiratory/pubnonary care We have the third largest cardiovascular and
- joint replacement programs in Michigan. > In 2003, we delivered 4,600 babies in southeastern Michigan.

There are many reasons to choose us. Our doctors and nurses provide compassionate care that's as comforting as it is rare.

Trust your family's health to our family of physicians at Saint Joseph Mercy Health System.

Its very Beethoven, not too fast, not too slow, she said At first it looks easy, but takes a lot of technique and organization

LSO President Tom Bjorklund is hoping students of Churchill High School will learn to love classical music as much as Pao once they've heard it Since taking the helm a few months ago, hes tried to heighten awareness of the LSO in the community in order to expand audiences, especially young listeners One of the challenges classical music continues to face is aging audiences

Bjorklund knows Ukraman soprano Oleksandra Hrabova is sure to draw members of the Ukrainian community, but Pao will attract youth

I met with the Churchill High School principal to let students know about one of their own, Bjorklund said Both soloists are going to be exciting Having a Livonia Churchill prodigy will be great

Yın-Fen Pao humbly acknowledges her daughter's talents She believes the performance is not only an opportunity for the orchestra to showcase Paos gift, but is rewarding for the young planist as well

Tiffany loves performing, said Yin-Fen Pao, a librarian at Madonna University in Livonia

Tourism industry battles false perceptions of storm damage

ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

NEW YORK (AP) _ Talk about an exclusive vacation

When Ken and Linda Jordan of Rochester Hills, Mich, landed their single-engine plane on Cayman Brac on Oct 1 for a week-long trip they d planned months before, they were the first tourists to visit since Hurricane Ivan

And as the sole guests at the Divi Tiara Beach Hotel, they enjoyed being spoiled by the staff and having use of a 40-foot dive boat all to themselves

It's been wonderful, and the dıvıng ıs excellent," saıd Ken Jordan as he and his wife sipped cocktails

Cayman Brac and Little Cayman _ the sister islands of Grand Cayman _ were relatively unscathed by the storms that hit the Caribbean, Florida and other coastal areas in August and September

But what the tourism industry throughout the region fears is that the vacationing public will have a hard time distinguishing between places that took direct hits from the storms _ like Grand Cayman, where 70 per cent of buildings were damaged or Pensacola Fla. _ and places that are up and running, like Cayman Brac or Miami

In the Cambbean, Grand Cayman and Grenada were hit hardest by the storms, but Grand Bahama, Jamaica, the Dominican Republic, St Vincent and the Grenadines and Cuba also sustained dam age of varying degrees (Haiti suffered the worst effects but is not considered a major tourism destination)

Elsewhere in the Caribbean, the vast majority of destinations are ready today to welcome and pamper guests, said Karen Ford Warner of the Caribbean Tourism Organization

Even in some places hit by storms, damage was spotty For example, Hurricane Ivan damaged thousands of homes on the Jamaica's south coast but largely spared the northern tourist hubs of Montego Bay and Ocho Rios A smattering of hotels in the resort towns of Negril and Treasure Beach received severe damage but are expected to reopen in a few months, said Godfrey Dyer, president of the Jamaica Hotel and Tourist Association

Andy Newman, who handles public relations for the Florida Keys, says he is fighting a huge misperception around the country that the Florida Keys were devastated when they are not We have absolutely no lingering damage

Many TV viewers saw footage of the Keys being evacuated, but they may not realize that the hurricanes ended up missing Key Largo, Key West and the rest of the primary island chain

With both the Caribbean and Florida, the way the news has reported it, it seems like, 'Stay away from the entire Caribbean and the entire state of Florida,' said Francesca Bonavita, vice president for product and brand development at American

Orlando, Miami, Fort Lauderdale, the Keys, Tampa, St Pete, Clearwater, Amelia Island _ those are all fine People can book with confidence,' she added

'Our tourism is the industry that was most damaged, and not because of structural dam age but because of perceptual damage said Nicki Grossman president of the Greater Fort Lauderdale Convention & Visitors Bureau No hotels are closed No businesses were lost. We are absolutely unblemished: The beach had minimal ero-

Because so many Americans have friends and family who have retired to Florida, some travelers may be basing their perceptions on reports from homeowners struggling to get repairs "The reason you re hearing conflicting reports is that there were residential areas that were severely damaged,' said Danielle Courtenay with the Orlando area convention and visitors bureau But while individuals may have to wait for contractors and insurance money, hotels and theme parks are 'built to withstand the winds and they do have the crews to get things up and operating,' Courtenay said

'The theme parks _ Disney, Universal Sea World, Discovery _ were all open within a day of every storm, she added 'Are people still trying to get their roofs fixed in residential areas? Yes But most of the areas where tourists are going, you could not tell there was a storm'

The St Petersburg/Clearwater Convention & Visitors Bureau is so concerned about false impressions that it posted post-hurricane photos on the Web to prove its beaches were unaffected. (Press 'Click here' at www.floridasbeach com/news/StormInfo aspx to see the pictures) The tourism industry's concerns about misperceptions are justified One in five vacationers said they were less likely to visit. Florida this year following the battering the state took from Charley Frances, Ivan and Jeanne, according to a survey by Yesawich, Pepperdine, Brown & Russell Asked to rate their perception of the damage, 38 percent of those surveyed said they believed the Florida Keys suffered "extreme damage," with 34 percent saying the Tampa/St Petersburg area was hit hard and 27 percent saying so for Miami Yet those areas received, at worst, minimal damage_ barely anything compared to places that were truly hard-hit, such as Pensacola and other parts of the Panhandle, or the Punta Gorda-Port Charlotte region

Saving a marriage is hard work

Trevor and Shelby sat in the counselor's office with a look of hopelessness and desperation on their faces They both stated on their intake forms that the last three years of their marriage were miserable Trevor wrote that he is running from the marriage at this point, and Shelby stated that she is completely depressed Both looked at the counselor expectantly, hoping he would have the magic bullet

Dr Timothy Clinton, in his book, Before a Bad Goodbye says, 'Pain closes the spirit" He refers to the pain caused by a rocky relationship that the spirit closes up At that point, it is very hard to be objective about the partner Anger erupts when we are in pain and, "nursed (anger) can turn quickly turn into resentment or bitterness 'Repressed or suppressed, it leads to negative expressions like being impatient, overly critical or domineering It can even cause deep depression

Jacque

Martin-Downs

Trevor admitted that he had been through every emotion And now, the feeling of bitterness overwhelmed him Shelby reported that she was tired of working on the relationship and had no more to give Clinton points out in his book that the partner becomes the villain and their actions feel purposeful and hurtful to the relationship Both Trevor and Shelby concurred I am so unhappy with her criticizing every little thing that I do, I find myself wanting to stay at work longer,' said Trevor "I have also found friend at work I can talk to, because she is having marital problems, too"

Outside influences creep into marriages where needs are unmet Trevor was drifting in to two zones that would be very detrimental First, the zone of workaholism could become an addiction (a form of self-medicating) that he might have trouble getting out from underneath Secondly, the potential escalation of his relationship with the woman at work would definitely impact the marriage You must not turn to the other woman at work for solace,' the counselor commented 'It could turn into a problem while you are trying to work through the various issues with your wife Can you stop talking to her?' Trevor nodded, but not before Shelby chimed in with, "I haven t been happy about him talking to that woman since he told me But I ve given up arguing

Clinton emphasizes that relationships can't be healed when there is a third party involved He writes, "This doesn't mean the third party waits on the sidelines, preparing to jump into the ring at the end of the marriage's final round It means the third party is history - no contact, no remembrances, no pictures, no old notes to read a spouse doesn't stand a chance against such a person" He goes on to say, The offended partner must realize The third party is also a symptom of the problems in the marriage - it is the offending partner's attempt to have needs met that were not being met in the marriage"

Clinton's book goes on to give practical solutions to couples in floundering relationships After he makes sure that both people are certain they want to work on the relationship, he asks them to call a truce and stop "lobbing shells at each other" He then asks them to reflect on what exactly sets each one off Do you act out in anger? Shut down? Use sarcasm when your buttons are pushed? Belittle your partner? Manipulate the other person? Both parties must commit to changing their responses After the 'holes are plugged, Clinton has couples define the problem When they get to the root cause, the couple may discover that they are both are experiencing loneliness, a lack of ten derness, abandonment, fear and worry, lack of respect and pride issues that the other person may not even know about Reconciliation can only come about when both partners are honestly involved in improving the relationship As Dr James Dobson said, Married life offers no panacea - if it is going to reach its potential, it will require an all-out investment by both husband and wife

Is it worth working on? You be the judge, but from the voice of experience, I'd

Many mental health pros can help

Under the title of mental health professional' or psychotherapist, there are, sometimes confusingly, many different types of professionals in the field They differ in educational background, certification and licensure, and by title

The following guide is offered to help clarify this

Psychologists In Michigan one must be licensed to practice psychology Some clinical psychologists have earned a doctorate degree Len and some have studied through

McCulloch graduate school and hold a masters degree Either may have professional experience beyond the classroom to be very competent as psychotherapists Social Workers In Michigan, there is certification for social

Typically, a social worker-psychotherapist has attained a masters degree from a graduate school of social work and has had experience in the specialty prac tice of psychotherapy Rehabilitation Specialists This category is relatively new and includes people who have gradu ated from a school of rehabilitation counseling They typically work with persons with disabilities such as traumatic brain injuries and occupational injuries

Psychiatrists These are medical physicians who have specialized in the treatment of mental illness, typically with medications Some go beyond the biological treatment of patients and also get further training in psychotherapy

Psychoanalysts These have much advanced training in psy chotherapy and psychoanalysis This course of study and practice used to be limited to medical physicians only Now mental health professionals from psychology, social work, and counseling can also undertake psychoanalytic

Certified Counselors These may specialize in substance abuse counseling, gambling counseling, grief counseling, and school counseling

In Michigan we now have certification in each of these disciplines This certification conveys to the public that these individuals have achieved standards of competency to offer service within their scope of practice

Finally, there is Diplomate Status

A diplomat is a professional from any of the above fields who has been evaluated by an objective board of their peers and has attained significant distinction in training, education, professionalism and contribution to their field, as compared to the general population of practitioners

HOW TO CHOOSE

A good place to start is with your family doctor or clergy They should know competent mental health practitioners with experience in your type of problem When this is not available, a referral from a trusted friend who has had a good experience with a therapist is a way to go

Finally, the resources below provide good starting points Individuals listed with these referral services have typically demonstrated competency within the field so as to be included in the agency s membership

Keep in mind that it is not necessarily the academic background or the professional title that identifies a competent psychotherapist that will be a good match for you I advise people to make an initial consultation appointment only Use this session as an opportunity to present your concern, ask about the therapist's experience with your type of problem, ask what treatment method he/she would consider Ask if he/she has an orientation or theory that explains how they practice Ask how long they have been practicing psychotherapy Be more concerned with the personto-person understanding you feel during the consultation Do you feel you re being listened to? Does the therapist convey optimism, patience and a genuine attempt to try to understand your situation? Has he/she been in educational or personal therapy themselves?

When Freud was asked what mental health was, his answer was more or less a relatively healthy balance in the areas of work and

EMOTIONAL MATURITY

Meninger, another pioneer in the field of mental health, lists these criteria of emotional maturity the capacity to adapt to change, a relative freedom from the symptoms of anxiety and depression, the capacity to find more satisfaction in giving than receiving, the capacity to relate to other people with mutual satisfaction and helpfulness and the capacity to love

Mental health is never complete In reality, it seems to be a relative experience that exists on a 🤹 continuum

Cars top a long list of dangers for trick or treaters

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

Excited kids and moving cars can be a deadly combination any time of year but especially on Halloween, a holiday when numbers of both increase on the streets

While Dr Marie Lozon's sons Aidan, 11, and Sean, 14, are collecting candy from door to door, she will be waiting to treat little and big goblins in the emergency room at University of Michigan Hospital She doesn't look forward to seeing children who ve tangled with cars Even children accompanied by parents are at risk because they can dart into a roadway in an

'Every family needs to have a little pre-Halloween talk about traffic rules, said Dr Marie Lozon, director of pediatrıc emergency services at U M Hospital in Ann Arbor School age kids 6 to 9 can run fast but turn off their brains sometimes and dart out in traffic They do not follow the rules of the road, dart out between parked cars, do not pay attention to traffic patterns Remind them to look both ways Motor vehicle hazards are probably one of the more deadly outcomes

The worst thing is when theres an accident involving a little pedestrian that darted out into the street and gets hit by a car That's a horrible thing to happen If you're driving on Halloween, drive extra slow If your teenagers leaving for a party, he's excited, say take that extra bit of cau tion tonight In my neighborhood vans drive children from house to house Be aware of other traffic If you're stop ping make sure kids aren t running around the car'

Good advice for little and big trick or treaters is to wear a costume that can be seen in the dark by a driver Add reflective tape or elements to darker materials Older children should carry a flashlight, younger ones can hang a glow-in-the dark chemical stick on a bracelet or chain

Kids want to wear costumes that look cool," said Lozon They might make them (capes or pants) too long Check how they're able to walk because they frequently break out into a run when they get excited

'If wearing a mask, check the ability to see Lots of people are switching over to wigs and safe paint For those who insist on masks, check on visual obstruction Can it be modified? Sometimes you have to can the mask even if it means being seen as a mean

Face paint is not a safe alternative for all children Some can have color additives that cause rashes or an allergic reaction Read the label to make sure it's FDA approved For more information on additives and safety tips for Halloween, visit www fda gov 'It's usually OK but for kids with eczema they might want to be careful using face paint, said Lozon Don t put it near their eyes, and remove it with what package instructions say to remove it before they go to bed

Lozon says most parents use common sense to prepare their kids for trick or treating by making sure there are no loose strings around their necks before they go out the door During trick or treating they avoid especially scary decorations because they realize it's hard for a preschool child to deci pher between fantasy and reality when confronted by loud ghosts and goblins

Most of the injuries we see are from running around, said Lozon "You fall and break your teeth, lacerate your face, fall and bonk your head Another danger is slippery leaves on people's lawns Be a good neighbor Trim back low hanging branches, rake up leaves I make sure there's no lawn equipment, baseball bats, soccer balls on my lawn Many people place solar powered lights along the walkway and fluorescent items to light up their path

Be aware of pet safety If a pet is kind of a big excitable dog, think how he will react with these little kids coming to the door Its as much for the kids safety as the dogs Lozon offers a long list of tips for parents to make sure their kids stay safe this Halloween Proper footwear insures they won't fall and end up in the ER with lacerations, bumps, bruises, and broken bones Limit the number of items they carry An older kid can handle a pillow case, not a 2-3 year old Provide them with a lightweight bucket Make sure they have one hand free

As a physician, Lozon is less concerned with tampered candy than a child choking on candy Go through your child's candy Do not give toddlers or pre schoolers jaw breakers and hard candies At her house Lozon keeps candy in separate bowls – one to pass out to big kids, one for little kids that includes Teddy Grahams or little fish crackers While trick or treating don t allow kids to unwrap candy and a then run around with it in their

The only thing that is going to make them sick is if they eat too much chocolate because it can irritate the lining of the stomach, and it has a little bit of caffeine but most kids stop before they get sick

While Lozon says tampered candy is an unusual occurrence and shes much more likely to be sewing up somebody's chin," check to see if it looks homemade She istill thinks there are nice grandmothers out there making nice treats but they should only be consumed if made by a neighbor parents know well If uncertain, throw it away For fresh fruit look to

Physicians discuss bioterrorism

The Annual Scientific Meeting of the Michigan Occupational and Environmental Medicine Association (MOEMA) was held Sept 23-25 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn This event was co-sponsored by the American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine (ACOEM), the national body representing this specialty of medicine

The conference covered a variety of topics with an emphasis on Emergency Preparedness among the Healthcare and Public Health community in the State of Michigan, with speakers from the Michigan Department of Community Health, the Federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and Region 2 South of the Biodefense Network. Region 2 South represents 4 counties -Livingston, Washtenaw, Wayne and Monroe, representing 2 6 million people The Medical B10-Defense Network is a statewide group representing all public health departments and all hospitals in the State of Michigan with a number of Bioterrorism Coordinators, Medical Directors, Emergency Preparedness Coordinators, Epidemiologists, and a Strategic National Stockpile Planner assigned to each region Dr George Metropoulos, MOEMA president 2003-04, who chaired this year's conference, also serves as chairman of the Education Committee of Region 2 South's Bio-Defense Network. He said that "training our doctors to detect early signs and symptoms, or sentinel events, of bioterrorism the patients they see is invaluable in protecting the rest of the community and in informing authorities of possible terrorist activities or emerging diseases in our community

Further conferences will continue to train this specialty group of physicians in medical bio-defense and other related topics

The next MOEMA Annual Scientific Meeting will be held at the James B Henry Center for Executive Development, Michigan State University Campus in Lansing Sept 22 and 23, 2005 Dr Cheryl Sulisz, MOEMA's newly elected president for 2004-05, will chair the 2005 Annual Conference For further information about attending the 2005 Conference and about membership in MOEMA and  ACOEM, call the MOEMA Specialty Group at (313) 874-1360 or visit the Web site at www moema org

Tips from experts prevent damage to teeth, health

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

While candy might not top the list of dangers on Halloween, it still can wreak havoc with health and teeth Sheryl Gentner, a registered dietitian at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, recommends parents set guidelines for kids no more than two full-size candy bars per day for middle school-age children, younger children, one to two miniature pieces - in addition to eating a healthy diet of fruits, vegetables, whole grains and dairy

"Miniatures are a good idea so portion sizes are controlled," said Gentner, a Westland resident 'Candy can be part of a healthy diet Parents should set good examples by not overeating the candy either We know kids are going to have an excess amount of candy at this time but a couple days or a week of candy isn t going to cause problems

Gentner suggests passing out nontraditional foods such as trail mix, nuts, raisins, dried fruits, apples, juice boxes, snack-size graham or peanut butter crackers, and nonfood items such as pencils, stickers, and pens for writing

If your kids do receive candy, encourage them to brush their teeth with fluoride toothpaste after eating

'What happens is when people eat candy it's the sugar that mixes with the plaque that causes cavities The longer sugar stays on the teeth the more acid it causes," said Dr Jay Nıtzkın, a dentist at Livonia Dental Care "Candies like caramel, anything sticky like $100,000 bars, tend to stick in the grooves of teeth and linger on the teeth Regular chocolates are a lot better because they melt in the mouth Even something as healthy as raisins tend to be bad for teeth It's sticky, sugary foods that are a real danger So what can kids and adults do if they don t have a toothbrush available to clean away all of those bad treats? Let's face it, the adults will probably eat as much candy as the kids

this Halloween Nitzkin looks forward to raiding the candy of his children, Jacob, 7, and Ari, 4, after they go to bed He suggests if a toothbrush isn't available to eat vegetables such carrots as a way of removing caramel or sticky candy But nothing beats brushing He recommends that everyone use a two-minute timer to brush morning and night to remove plaque

'Rinse your mouth with water Swish it around the mouth to dilute the acid,' said Nitzkin "Chewing sugarless gum helps promote salıva which dilutes the acid That's why four out of five dentists recommend chewing gum like Trident I don't know what happened to the fifth dentist"

Nıtzkın doesn't lose his sense of humor at this time of year because he knows the holiday is short-lived. He s more concerned about teens drinking too much soda

I see teens coming in with terrible cavities, fillings destroyed," said Nitzkin "I'd rather see them drink bottled water with caffeine Even juice is really bad for the teeth There are two problems with soda It's very acidic Mountain Dew and Coke not only have the sugar mixing with plaque causing acid, but the acid mixing with acid'

Parents need to check their children's teeth from time to time no matter what their age Every so often, Nıtzkın has his 7-year old use disclosing tablets that turn red to reveal plaque Available in dentists' office, Nıtzkın also carnes the disclosing tablets and can be reached at (734) 427-7555

"Parents need to look at their kıds' teeth, saıd Nıtzkın "If they see light or dark brown spots, they should contact their dentist If there are cavities it's better to have them taken care of earlier They especially occur on the chewing surfaces of the back teeth Its sometimes difficult to remove plaque out of the back teeth

Northville Hills Golf Club East offers room to play

Wineman & Komer Building Co, Curtis Building Co (2004 Builder of the Year), and MillCreek Building Co, three of Michigan's top builders and developers of residential and commercial properties, present their new model homes at the Northville Hills Golf Club East

Prospective homeowners are presented with numerous options plus the opportunity to make modifications during the design process

Within the gently rolling hills and wooded park preserves of Northville Hills are nestled an 18-hole championship golf course designed by Arnold Palmer and an extensive Community Building featuring a swimming pool and fitness center Dense stands of trees and nature trails throughout the community are visited often by a variety of wildlife. including deer The community is also home to Millennium Park, a public park donated by the developers, which features tennis courts and a sports field

The east phase in particular offers magnificent single-family homes nestled in a serene setting, with many wooded, walkouts and cul-de-sac homesites surrounded by manicured open space and natural woodlands

"Northville Hills continues to attract families and others seeking a community with outstanding golf and recreational opportunities, quality housing and the excellent Northville school system," said Richard Komer of Wineman & Komer Building Co

Perfectly positioned between Northville and Plymouth, Northville Hills Golf Club offers close proximity to two of southeast Michigan's most enchanting downtown areas, each featuring an array of unique dining, shopping and cultural attractions Nearby M-14, I-96 and I-275 provide easy access to Ann Arbor, Detroit and the region's most important commercial and employment centers Children attend Northville schools, including the neighboring brand new state-of-the-art high school

A variety of home plans are available including one-and-a-half story models with the master suite on the main floor Three bedrooms, and two-and-a-half baths is included on most plans with optional fourth bedroom and third full bath available Soaring ceilings, large windows, fireplace, spacious kitchens with breakfast nooks and a three car side entry garage is always included

Elegant four bedroom colonial plans combine traditional features with innovative, contemporary design for today's lifestyle Most homes feature three-and-

Tips for buying a home in a golf course community

Want to find a home on a golf course? Check out Golf Course www.golfcoursehome.net You'll find information on amenities, golf courses, homes, golf home and lot prices, along with photos and hotlinks to the commu-

Here are some tips for buying a home in a golf course community from Florida Realtor Steve Schoepfer

Know your reason for buying - There are many reasons to buy in a golf course community Whether you're an avid or occasional golfer, looking for investment property or simply a home with great views and resale potential knowing your motivation will help narrow the

■ Know the type of golf membership you want – Different communities offer different types of golf memberships To find one that fits your needs, ask yourself what kind of golf you like to play and be hon-

■ Know the style of home you want Most of the golf communities offer a variety of home styles estate homes, detached villas, attached villas, coach/carriage homes or condo-

Know your lifestyle amenities What amenities besides golf interest you? Golf commu nities offer a wide assortment including lighted tennis courts Olympic-sized, heated swimming pools, exercise and fitness centers, spas with fitness training, massage, etc., social activities

Here's more advice on Golf Home Buying from David Lott, editor/publisher, GolfCourseHome net

Create your best-case scenario - Draft in your mind and on paper the ideal home, including the locale, amenities, golf course quality and difficulty, location, weather, atmos phere, social programs, and anything else that you think would affect your happiness at your new community Then go out and look for it

■ Use the inside sales team -Why? Because you get in on all the deals

Consider the resale value -Don't go for the best deal, go for the home or lot that will sell quickly when it comes time to either move up or out Basically, on the green means in the

■ Eliminate the ultimate surprise - 'You have to take a close look at the dues structure," said Mike Norton, marketing director at Uwharne Point, a golf community 60 minutes west of Pinehurst, NC "Ask the developer, Are these realistic numbers? Are they going to support the club when the developer sells out and the members become responsible for running the club? Norton also says you should look into the developer's

background Examine track record and reputation as well as the continuing health of other communities after he or she has sold out and moved on to other projects

Ask about the Homeowners' Association - If you're looking at an equity club, find out if the developer is propping up the HOA financially Some developers support the HOA while in selling mode, then pull the plug when they leave The result? Huge and unexpected increases in HOA fees And if you're the last in, the financial squeeze could threaten your financial stability

■ How private is it really? -Outside play" is often a nebu lous term that needs clarification

Porch, colonial-style arch give Reed true curb appeal

A colonial styled arch with pillars form the covered porch of the Reed It is a focal point for the facade of this beautiful home Brick trim as well as an octagonal window add accents to the look and make the Reed prominent from the

Two long windows flank the front door as one enters the Reed. To the right of the entry is an alcove and to the left is a hallway that leads to the bedrooms. The enormous great room spreads itself surrounded with windows and a sliding glass door off the dining area. The openness of this room invites guests and family alike to enter and relax.

The kitchen, in the shape a large "C' is open to the great room with an eating bar facing the dining room A corner walk-in pantry adds definition to the open room Along the kitchen wall in the hall is a long linen closet. Opposite the linen closet is the utility room with its washer/dryer, sink, and a freezer tucked back out of the way. A door opens into the two-car garage where the forced air unit and water heater are located.

Bedrooms two and three both have wall closets and windows that brighten the rooms with sunlight The full bathroom adjacent to bedroom 2 has a tub and a single sink

On the right side of the Reed is the master suite It has sliding glass doors that open onto a deck that step down to the patio The panhandle-shaped room has two long wall closets side-by-side

with 'his and her' sinks opposite Behind a pocket door is the tub, linen closet, and the toilet. If the long wall closet does not appeal to you, there is an alternate bathroom layout. It would have the dual sinks on the right side, a walk-in closed on the left and the balance of the bathroom the same.

Convenient to the master suite is the den, which could be used as an office, if one needed one, or even another bedroom or nursery

Thomas Ervin Let's Talk About Real Estate

"ROLES OF THE ATTORNEY AND REALTOR"

Attorneys and realtors may play important roles in your next real estate transaction I am a firm believer that you should use the services of a professional when entering into a large financial obligation We live in a much more complicated world today when compared to the simple times of the past Real estate purchases have also become more complex

The typical sale requires marketing of the property and negotiation of an agreement of sale, mortgage financing requirements and documents, a home inspection and/or a home warranty a survey title insurance, and closing papers that include a legally executed deed which conveys ownership from seller to buyer Some of these functions should be handled by a Realtor® while other areas are the rightful domain of an attorney When using both of these professionals, be sure to seek their advice on the issues that are their particular specialty. Here are some specifics

SERVICES OF AN ATTORNEY

As you would expect an attorney should be consulted for legal matters. One of the typical services provided by an attorney includes examining a written offer to purchase real estate. Don't however ask the attorney to give you advice regarding the amount of the offer This is a common error made by buyers who seek legal advice Your Realtor® is the person who has the facts regarding current values and recent sale prices You may also want to have your attorney present at the closing to check the title insurance commitment mortgage documents and the deed

SERVICES OF A REALTOR®

Although not a legal expert, your Realtor® does know how to price your home market it to the buying public and negotiate the eventual selling price After terms are agreed upon you should also be able to rely on assistance from your Realtor® when selecting a mortgage lender and following up on all the details of the closing

ADVICE: Don't buy or sell real estate without the advice and guidance of a professional Be sure, however, to use their services properly Seek legal advice from an attorney and real estate advice from a Realtor®

The Ethics Of Ghostwriting And Its Alternative

Mildred L.

About a year ago, I called a prominent, nope, famous author of a business book that has been discussed in every column about 10b hunting except mine You have heard of it and may have read one of its many editions I was stunned to hear that he wanted me to interview someone else, a man whose name never appeared on the cover of his acclaimed book "He knows the book inside and out," the supposed author

"But I wanted to interview the author," I responded Then I realized the book was ghostwritten

'FĂLSE ADVERTISING'

Is this an unusual case? One long-time publicist was telling me about another famous businessperson, whose name you also know and whose books make him appear prolific That publicist knows the name of the ghostwriter No author there,

A former employee of a large publishing house who requested anonymity reports that she worked on a book involving multiple freelance writers or editors The book went to schoolboards, appearing to be "written by two highly acclaimed academics While they supplied broad oversight, they did not write any parts of the book
"Isn't that false advertising?" she asks

"It's a huge disservice to the freelancers who write for these programs, their hard work goes completely unrecognized "She also points out that many write incomplete, inaccurate books because of weaknesses in subject matter

'NO PROBLEM'

Many ghostwriters view the situation differently To them, there's no ethical dılemma They're enthused about their

Dawn Josephson of Cameo Publications LLC, in Hilton Head Island, SC, says that approximately half of the 20 largely business books she's ghostwritten have been published by leading publishing houses She's been hired by "high-ranking political attorneys, professors from 'top ten' universities and colleges, CEOs and executives of major corporations and (credentialed) professional speakers Josephson maintains that, typically, difficulties organizing and expressing ideas in book form prevent some experts from creating the product they want "Since all (of) the ideas presented in the book are indeed those of the bylined author," she adds, "it is completely ethical for this process to occur'

David Kohn of Deerfield Beach, Fla., explains that experts without ghostwriters wouldn't be heard "Many of them can't write," he states, "but they have a point of view to express, a story to tell, or information to share of what I do and I feel privileged to do it " He's ghostwritten four books in as many fields memoir, medicine, money and business Three were published by adjudicated (not vanity) publishers

ın Los Angeles has ghostwritten one book and written 10 others, the latter published at prominent houses The "ghostbook" was self-published by the CEO who hired her She equates the process with "politicians and executives having professional speech writers craft their speeches, corporate managers asking underlings to write memos and reports for them, and professors asking graduate students to do research and write papers under the professor's name " The problem here is that professors are now beginning to give credit to their students in papers to which they've contributed There is growing recognition that the person who does the work, even if only some of it, deserves

Gallagher justifies the practice this way "The writer gets paid, and the expert gets acclaim (and money) for his or her thoughts and concepts. As long as both parties enter into such an agreement willingly, and the writer understands that he/she will not receive public credit (but will receive some form of compensation), then it seems just like any other hired labor Writing is a technical skill and there are many terrific writers out there ready, willing, and eager to earn a living helping others look good by doing their writing for them As long as there is no deception or fraud concerning compensation or credit, then ghostwriting is just fine "

The point remains that writing is not simply a technical exercise of collecting ideas in written form It's a performance, also Lip-synching to another's voice is considered fraud Receiving applause for someone else's words is not?

What about co-authoring? People do that every day It's honest It's real The book gets out People get paid Everyone avoids misimpressions and misrepresentation No one has to explain, justify or defend, because, truthfully, the book has an author -- the team Coauthoring doesn't put anyone out of business while it keeps everything on the up-and-up

2005 Crossfire creates a buzz

Advertising Featuré

Anne Fracassa

Avanti NewsFeatures

Every automaker seeks an image, a reputation, a way to market itself DaimlerChrysler, these days, is becoming the home of the "buzz" cars - cars that create a splash and lots of street buzz The PT Cruiser and the Sebring started things, and the buzz really picked up with the introduction of the Crossfire for the 2004 model year

For 2005, Chrysler has added a few more versions of the Crossfire, including the Crossfire Coupe Limited How much of a market is there for twoseater sports cars? Chrysler is betting that the buzz on the Crossfire (which is also available as a roadster and a convertible) turns into sales at the dealerships, and there's certainly a lot to get excited about

More macho-looking than the Mazda Miata (which was quite the hot item when it debuted several years ago), the Crossfire should appeal to more serious two-seater fans than the Miata It reminds me more of the old Datsun Z-Cars, but with tougher and more modern lines The Crossfire comes with fog lamps, power heated-foldaway mirrors, rear active spoiler, 18" front and 19" rear aluminum wheel and performance tires

The Crossfire Limited Coupe is powered by a 3 2liter SOHC V-6 that's rated at 215 hp and 229 lb -ft of torque at 3000 rpm A six-speed manual transmission is standard, but you can get a five-speed "auto-stick" transmission which allows you to shift through the gears yourself

As you would expect, that many horses on a car this size means the car really jumps when you push the accelerator Left to its own devices, the autostick performs very well, although I can see how some car enthusiasts might want to take a little more control of the shift points

Of course, if you really want that kind of control, you might want to stay with the six-speed manual And in this age of high gas prices, keep in mind that the Crossfire runs on premium unleaded

The Crossfire handles very well, with the kind of road feel and control you'd expect on from a twoseater In fact, the Crossfire features a body struc ture that's twice as stiff as a Porsche Boxster The touring suspension assures a ride that is smooth and controlled Anti-lock four-wheel brakes and traction control are standard

My one complaint about the Crossfire is one that Chrysler can't really do much about – getting in and out of this car, like all low, small two-seaters, is tough for taller drivers Watch your head getting in Leg room is a bit tight, and headroom is at a premium (driving the convertible version with the top down would help here, I guess) Once in the car, the heated, power leather-trimmed seats are comfortable and provide good support

Even without a rear seating area, the Crossfire has some room in the back for some packages I wouldn't necessarily do the weekly grocery shopping in the Crossfire, but there is room for some items, and the hatchback closes to automatically cover your cargo

The Crossfire Coupe Limited comes with dual zone air conditioning (with filtration), leatherwrapped steering wheel, power windows, doors and mirrors, rear window defogger, universal garage door opener, security system, cruise control and tilt steering column

You can't go crusin' in a car like the Crossfire without some tunes The standard audio system is an AM/FM/CD system with a 24-watt amplifier and six-speakers and subwoofers It's a great system, and you can add a GPS navigation system to it, too

The 2005 Chrysler Crossfire Coupe Limited starts at about $34,000 Add the auto-stick, and the GPS system, and you're at about $37,000 That's the going rate for "buzz" these days

Beverly Hills Plastic Surgeon

- What About Bob?

Dear What About

Nationally, 13% of people who undergo cosmetic plastic surgery are men However, it is important to understand how facial aging in men is treated differently than

ın women The forehead is often best treated in men with Botox or a mild forehead lift This can get rid of lines and improve a stern look men can get as they get older Endoscopic techniques used today are very effective in men This can prevent visible scarring which can be seen with traditional forehead lifts However, it's important that a surgeon not overdo a forehead lift and pull the brows too high This can create a more feminine look, as can be seen in Burt Reynolds today He appears to have had a orehead lift which was

Ask the Dentist

Dr. Zarou, I am a senior citizen and have noticed recently that my gums bleed occasionally. Is this normal at my age?

Bleeding gums is never normal, no matter one's age It could likely be a sign of a serious problem Gum disease (gingivitis) also called periodontal disease. is a bacterial infection of the tissues supporting the teeth Periodontal disease is a major cause of tooth loss in adults At the onset of this problem, gums become irritated and inflamed and they begin to bleed at the slightest touch This can cause even more bacteria to go deeper under the gum line where the infection can get much worse As gingivitis progresses surrounding bone demineralizes and dissolves The teeth having lost the support of bone, become loose and vulnerable to abscesses and falling out My advice is get to a dentist immediately Believe me, your god given teeth are a much better alternative than anything a dentist can put in to replace them For those in need, we have a periodontal specialist available at our office in Southfield

When you call our office, we'll be happy to describe other advances in dental care that are unique

Celebrate Jazzercise milestone with free classes

LIVONIA - In honor of Jazzercise, Inc's 35th anniversary, local Jazzercise instructor Danielle Piergentili is offering free classes for new customers Oct 25-30 at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, 34567 W Seven Mile, Livonia

Piergentili has been a Jazzercise instructor for four years and opened the Livonia location at the start of 2004

"Lots of fitness programs come and go, but Jazzercise has been around for 35 years and is still going strong," says Piergentili "We're excited to offer a free week of classes and hope this will entice people who are not currently exercising to give it a try"

Founded in 1969 by professional dancer Judi Sheppard Missett, the Jazzercise dance fitness program has grown from a one-woman operation to an international franchise business with 5,800 instruc tors teaching 20,000 classes weekly in the US and more than 30 countries

"It's important to make the effort to include some kind of physical exercise into our daily lives - and so we encourage those who are already active to stay active, and invite those who aren't to start today," Missett says

Jazzercise is the world's leading dance-fitness program, designed to enhance cardiovascular endurance, strength and flexibility For more information about the free classes, contact Danielle Piergentili at 734-762 1662 For worldwide class information, go to www jazzercise com or call 1-800 FIT IS IT

Simply Shopping makes browsing a blast

TROY - Spending a day at the mall is simply divine during "Simply Shopping," an annual event organized by the Troy Chamber and sponsored by Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, PLC, and Standard Federal Bank

Professional businesswomen and self-professed shopaholics will charge the

Somerset Collection 8 30 a m -6 p m Thursday, Nov 4 for a full day of fun and networking

Attendees can start the day by donating used business attire to 'Dress for Success," a program that provides inter view appropriate suits to low-income women seeking employment, 8-9 a.m in the Saks Fifth Avenue north parking lot

After donating, it's time to replenish the wardrobe, and shopping is made scrumptious with free valet and breakfast from Saks, coffee and chocolates at Godiva Chocolatier, lunch at the Nordstrom Cafe and a wrap-up party at McCormick &Schmick's Seafood Restaurant with prizes & hors d'oeuvres Other treats include a free gift and e-bar drink from Nordstrom, a complimentary Simply Shopping bag, free giftwrapping courtesy of Somerset Collection, well-guarded purchase retrieval, and plenty of special discounts and presentations throughout the day

As a special bonus, guests will also enjoy an exclusive presen tation by Laura Mercier National Makeup Artist Tabaya Jafri, featuring the newest in makeup and skincare, fragrance, and bath and body products, with tips on holiday gift ideas

Renowned celebrity makeup artist Laura Mercier will also make a rare personal appearance at Saks Fifth Avenue For an additional $50 pre-payment, completely redeemable in Laura Mercier products, shoppers can enjoy a professional makeup application by a National Makeup Artist, followed by a personal consultation with Laura Mercier

Cost for the event is $50 per shopper for Troy Chamber members and guests To register, call Sandy Bera at 248 641-0031 or e-mail sandy@troychamber com by Nov 2 Call 248 614-3364 to book an appointment with Laura Mercier

40x40 exhibit features women artists

DETROIT - We missed the grand opening of the 40x40 exhibit on Oct 15, but there's still plenty of time to catch the artwork The exhibit features mixed-media selfportraits by Detroit vomen artists over 40, and will be on display at the Historic Gem and Century Theatres in Detroit through Feb 15

Proceeds from sales of the pieces benefit the artists and the Women4Women Foundation

Key to the Cure' Kick-off at the Corner

TROY - This past weekend, you probably saw some women wearing Marc Jacobs' fabulously comfy pink ribbon T-shirt around town No doubt they were involved in the Saks Fifth Avenue Key to the Cure Charity Shopping Weekend

For the fifth year in a row, Saks Fifth Avenue Somerset donated 2 percent of an entire weekend's sales to the Josephine Ford Cancer Center From Oct 13-17, Key to the Cure events also included a kick off party at the Corner Bar featuring the debut of Yves Saint Laurent's "Cinema" fragrance, a book signing by Linda Solomon and Jill Rappaport for People We Know, Horses They Love, and a Beauty Breakfast full of pampering and treats If you missed the fun, you can still pick up one of the adorable, long sleeved Marc Jacobs event Ts for $35

So far, Key to the Cure has raised more than $220,000 for the JFCC and all of its cancer care sites, including the future West Bloomfield Breast Care and Wellness Center

Purchasing Power

... The modern woman is able to purchase many luxuries for herself Never assume a nice car, jewelry or home was purchased for her

When offering a compliment on an item, do not follow up by asking how much it cost. This holds true even with the closest of friends

 \Box It is never appropriate to boast about how much — nor is it recommended to divulge how little — something cost you

It is not becoming to volunteer that you purchased something used, on sale, second hand or bargain basement. Keep everyone wondering how you manage to stay so fabulous fall, there's more room than ever to incorporate vintage into your wardrobe Fashion enthusiasts won't want to miss the Antique Jewelry & Vintage Apparel Show on Saturday for a one-stop shopping trip through the ages

Lucy Ortiz is among the dozens of clothing and jewelry vendors from Michigan, Ohio and Illinois exhibiting at the event Ortiz said vintage is back for the future, and best worn mixed into modern outfits one or two pieces at a time

"Vintage is hot right now All the movie stars are wearing it," she said

According to show organizer Larry Barnett, jewelry will include turn-of-the century necklaces to 1940's style brooches—and, of course, tons of rhinestones

Vintage apparel will span the decades — black and lace ensembles of the Victorian age, Titanic styles from the Edwardian epoch, flapper creations laden with fringe and pearls, satin, biascut dresses representing Hollywood glamour of the '30 s, doll hats and big-shouldered suits of the 1940's, picture hats and cinch-waisted fashions of the 1950's, go-go boots, hot pants and Pucci prints from the '60's, and the flower child garb and disco apparel of the '70's

"The earlier you arrive, the better the selection," Barnett said
In anticipation of the show, PINK interpreted some vintage

The Next Generation of Ford Is Here

Power up for 2005!

By Wheelbase Communications

ear-wheel drive, all wheel drive, Hemi power, wagon mania, displacement on demand, hybrids and higher gas prices What a difference a year makes Twelve months ago we thought life revolved around front wheel drive, "Cab Forward" and technology that seemed as though it was at the limit Because, really, if a vehicle's job is to get you from one place to another, how much engineering is too much?

Of course, the modern automobile has come to represent much more It's our home and our office away from home. We don't just travel in it we do our living in it And, like it or not vanity plays a big role. We have to look good while we re living in it, after all

As long as buyers demand more from their vehicles and are willing to pay for it, manufacturers, it would seem, will go the extra mile to design and build it

If there's one thing we ve learned it's that there might only be one limit to progress 12 volts

Incredible, isn't it? Twelve volts to run complex navigation gear, anti skid software, drive by wire throttle electrically adjusted suspensions sensors for practically every engine function 1000 watt audio systems with DVD players and TVs, and, of course, enough juice leftover to actually power the engine the high intensity discharge headlamps and recharge the cell phone

But there are obvious limits So, with more than 12 volts to play with, what could man ufacturers be truly capable of? We might not have to wait much longer to find out Today's hybrid gas/electric vehicles began with the notion of reducing around town fuel consump tion. But believe it or not, the higher price of gas still hasn't convinced many of us to do much more than complain

No matter This year the extra thrust of the "helper" electric motor is being used to appeal to our primal need for more horsepower. For example, the Lexus RX 400h, basical ly an RX 330 sport utility vehicle with the same V6 and an electric motor, not only gets better fuel economy, but has 40 more horsepower (thanks to the electric motor) and is much quicker to 60 mph More interesting is the abundance of power stored in the hybrid's batteries. Buried in the rear floor is a constant supply of 200 300 volts (depending on the manufacturer) that instantly makes obsolete the 12 volt system found in most vehicles. Whether hybrid technology truly takes off, what engineers have learned about gener ating electricity and lots of it is invaluable. Imagine, no more boosting on cold winter mornings. Accidently leave the lights on? No problem. Need to run a space heater during a power outage at home? All it needs is a three prong outlet. Fantasy? The 2005 Chevrolet Silverado Hybrid has four of 'em.

Power is everything

It supports the kind of technology that allows you to cruise your Hemi V8-powered Chrysler 300C or V6 Honda Odyssey minivan on half its cylinders, without you ever knowing it And why not? It takes so little horsepower to chug along at highway speeds that it makes no sense to keep all the cylinders running. Think of it as a three or four cylinder engine that turns into a V6 or V8 when you really need it

From a safety system that can "see" when you're about to whack a lamp post and then tells the vehicle to tighten the seafbelts and pre loads the brakes (Lexus), to an AWD sys tem that overdrives the rear outside wheel in a corner to reduce steering effort and provide maximum stability (Acura), there's no shortage of imagination. There are cameras that alert you when someone is driving in your blind spot (Volvo) and there are systems that let you know when you re veering out of your lane (Nissan). There are systems that allow a 6.0 liter V8 to make 400 horsepower and still return 30 m p g on the highway (Chevy) and systems that attempt to keep a sport-utility vehicle from rolling over during emergency manoeuvres (Ford). Wrap it all with style we've never seen before (Chrysler) or that we have seen before (Mustang) dear manufacturer, and we'll kneel at your feet with open wellets.

With such an incredible year unfolding, you have to wonder what we'll be saying 12 months from now Our eyes are open to the future

How to use this guide

- Prices reflect the entry level model in a given line. That is to say the price provided is the starting point. In most cases, prices have been provided by the manufacturer and then rounded up or down to the nearest $100 to reflect small changes that inevitably occur from time to time. It is also because the prices are provided here as a gauge of affordability and are not today is sale price, so do not quote these prices to your dealer. Prices do not include the tax, you Il pay, nor the delivery charges (unless otherwise indicated) which run from about $500.$1,000.
- The information in this guide is accurate to the best of our ability and knowledge at the time it was written. We say this because manufacturers are completely entitled to make changes after this writing and often do. Therefore, you can expect something to have changed from the time we've written it to the time you've read it. Once again, don't panic if you find something is different, just take it in stride.
- Most importantly, some very few, actually manufacturers haven't finalized their lineups/options, etc as of this writing which means that we might include carryover pricing, features, etc., in some cases, and indicate it as such

(NEW FOR 2005!)

Impressions: The big news in Pontiac stores for 2005 is the arrival of replacements for the Montana minivan and the Grand Am coupe/sedan. The G6 is the name given to the Grand Am replacement as Pontiac wanted to make sure there was nothing carried over from the old model. The new car is based on the global Epsilon architecture that serves beneath a number of European General Motors products as well as the Chevrolet Matibu, Malibu Maxx wagon and Saturn Vue sport utility vehicle on these shores. As the replacement for the aging Grand Am the G6 is a totally modern exercise that will initially be available as a four door sedan and then followed by coupe and convert.

tollowed by coupe and convert tollowed by coupe and convert tollowed by coupe and convert tollowed by a Pontiac, but with a decidedly more modern and crisp edge to it. The overall goal and impression is one of a more upscale vehicle with extensive attention to interior appoint ments, fit and finish. The G6 features a long wheelbase that allows plenty of room for seats.

and people between the front and rear tires. The rear doors are wide and square allowing the windows to be rolled all the way down (instead of part way in vehicles with smaller doors). Pontiac claims the G6 offers more rear-seat legroom than anything in its class. Whether in base or GT format, power comes from a 200 horsepower version of GM s 3.5-liter V6 driving the front wheels through a four speed automatic transmission. A four cylinder as well as a 3.9-liter V6 will arrive after the initial launch this fall. The G6 marks the North American introduction of a panoramic glass sunroof with a trio of sliding panels. With an all-independent suspension and a range of 16 and 17-inch wheels and tires, the G6 continues Pontiac's Wide Track theme that began way back in 1959.

DURANGO

Impressions: The Durango was all new last year, so Dodge is in gloat mode and has merely added minor trim and made some option changes for 2005. This big sport utility vehicle approaching full-size status - can be equipped with V6 or V8 power, including the 5.7-liter "Hemi", and comes in ST, SXT, SLT, Limited and a new-for-2005. Adventurer model aimed at the outdoor enthusiast. It includes a Thule-brand roof rack with a choice of six storage systems as well as unique frim, paint, wheels and side steps. It also boasts reversible slush mats and a rubbenized and washable cargo liner with built in

Impressions: In the first two years of production, Saturn has built and sold an astounding 250 000 five-passenger Vue compact sport utility vehicles Offering smart looks and a wide variety of hardware, it really shouldn't come as a surprise to anyone Look closely and you libe able to distinguish a 2005 Vue by its chrome headlight bezels an extension for the driver's side sun visor and new trim on the shifter plate However the only major change for 2005 is beneath the skin the continuously variable transmission has been replaced by a conventional four speed automatic on the 143 horsepower 2 2 liter four cylinder models. A five speed automatic continues to be the only choice with the optional Honda sourced 250 horsepower 3 5-liter V6. Regardless of engine, you can specify all wheel drive instead of front wheel drive. The hot Red Line model, introduced in the middle of the 2004 model year spices up the standard Vue with unique body cladding, a lowered stance sport tuned suspension and 18-inch wheels wrapped in performance rubber. It's available in front or all wheel drive with the V6. A number of entertainment choices are available and include XM satellite radio a DVD entertainment system and MP3 computer file capability.

AVEO

Impressions Chevy has made only subtle changes to its least expensive and most economical car for 2005. A Special Value Model (SVM) has been introduced (a mid-04 addition actually) to undercut the LS and LT trim levels and keep the price below 10 grand. Other changes include blacked-out door pillar trim, Aqua and Red metallic added to the color chart new bolt on sport wheel covers for the SVM and LS and alloy wheels for the LT Available as a four-sedan or five door hatchback, the Italian-designed runabout comes with tilt steering dual airbags electric rear defrost, height adjustable drivers seat and 60/40 split folding rear bench with integral headrests on the sedan and separated headrests on the hatchback. The LS adds air conditioning with cabin filtration. The LT comes with a CD/MP3 player power door locks and windows remote keyless entry and heated outside mirrors. LT options include security and sound system upgrades and a power sunroof. Powering all Aveos is a 103 horsepower 1.6 liter four cylinder driving the front wheels through a five speed manual transmission. A four speed automatic is optional.

CTS

Impressions: Cadillac's stylish CTS is the recipient of a new 210-horsepower 2.8-liter V6 to replace last year's base 220-horse 3.2 That change, as well as others in the base equipment level, is aimed at bringing in new younger buyers. Since production is not scheduled to get under way untif late October, the $31,700 base price about $1 000 more than last year's base reflects that of the better-equipped 255-horsepower 3 6-liter-engined CTS We're waiting to see where the 2.8 lands, but expect it to be in the $30,000 range. The rear-drive CTS is based on GMs global. Sigma platform (shared with the SRX sport utility vehicle and new STS sedan) and was developed to go head to head with European sport sedans. To that end, the CTS can be equipped with a Sport Package that includes automatic load leveling beefier suspension variable-assist power steering stability control heavy-duty brake linings and big 17 inch machined face alloy wheels Atop the line rests the CTS V that's equipped with a 2004 Corvette sourced 5.7 liter V8 belting out 400 horsepower It also gets 14 inch brake rotors upgraded suspension a six speed manual gearbox special ground effects and 18-inch wheels Small changes to CTS for 2005 include a new instrument cluster and 12 months of OnStar help desk access. Included is Cadillac virtual advisor which provides three-day weather forecasts and traffic reports. Interestingly, both the 2.8 and the 3 6 can be ordered with a five speed automatic transmission or six-speed manual

CIVIC

Impressions. The Honda Civic lineup has so much depth and variety, it could very well stand alone as its own car company The Civic stable consists of a two door coupe, four door sedan and a two-door hatchback. The coupe was developed in the United States and the sedan in Japan to keep the designs as distinctive as possible For 2005 both are available in DX LX and EX versions. In addition, there is a fuel-thrifty HX coupe and a natural gas-powered GX sedan to choose from Honda's green machine, the gas/electric Hybrid sedan is back with its 48/51 m p.g., city/highway. The hatchback body is saved for the British-built Si sport package and its 160 horsepower 2.0 liter four-cylinder 'Regular' Civics arrive with a 1.7 liter four-cylinder that puts out 115 horsepower in the DX and LX cars and 117 horsepower in the HX coupe. The Civic EX which adds VTEC delivers 127 horsepower. The price leader DX cars are under standably light on content, while the mid range LX comes with air conditioning power windows and locks cruise control and AM/FM/cassette stereo. F-150

Impressions: The new F-150 got off to a great start last year, winning just about every award in sight. And why not? It's handsome tough and has all kinds of features and power. And it's large Really large However, a few pieces of the puzzle were missing when it was rolled out last fall Changes for 2005 are thus designed to fill in a few spots at either end of the model/price lineup For cost-conscious fleets and others a 4 2-liter V6 with a manual transmission (4x2 only) is available and there's now a "work truck" package for no-frills commercial applications At the other end of the scale, the King Ranch Crew Cab edition reappears complete with special badging and trim, running boards, heated side mirrors that fold in and unique innards appointed in heavy-duty leather The term variety is stretched to new limits with the 2005 F150 There are three cab choices three box lengths, two box styles and six unique trim levels (XL, STX, XLT, FX4 Lariat and King Ranch) Added to that selection is the availability of the 202horsepower 4.2 liter V6 and 4.6 and 5.4-liter V8s producing 231 and 300 horsepower respectively Four-speed automatics mesh with all (the V6 can be ordered with a five-speed manual) For 2005, the interiors are more refined and quieter If towing or hauling are purchase parameters, the F 150 can be equipped to suit almost any requirement with payloads up to 3,020 pounds and towing capacities up to 9 900 pounds

Impressions. After years maintaining the same basic low-key look the Nissan Pathfinder gets big ger goes quicker and looks tougher than it has in its entire 19 year life span. Formerly of unitized construction the third-generation model is reverting to its original truck like heritage featuring bodyon frame construction and an appearance that mimics the Frontier pickup which is also new The Tennessee-built Pathfnder has also adopted many of the anvil tough exterior details that have made its beefier cousins such visual stand-outs, including bulging fender flares, distinctive grille and an upright squared-off stance that clearly conveys a don't-mess with me muscular posture. Since it's bigger there's a standard third-row seat. When not needed, either or both split folding rear benches as well as the passenger-side bucket can be folded flat to accommodate lengthy/bulky cargo A 4 0 liter version of Nissan's award-winning 3 5-liter V6 makes 265 horsepower and 284 lb ft of torque a gain of 25 horses and 19 lb -ft. of torque A five speed automatic transmis sion replaces last vear's five-speed manual and four speed automatic Although base models come with rear wheel-drive only automatic four wheel drive is a mere option tick away Other add-ons includes dual zone climate control leather interior with heated front seats, power-adjustable foot pedals a DVD-based navigation system with seven inch screen a rear seat DVD entertainment unit wood trimmed interior satellite radio and MP3 compatible Bose audio system with six disc CD changer Anti lock brakes are standard while side-impact airbags and ceiling mounted side impact airbags are extra cost options impressions introduced for 2002 amid some surprise from the competition, the seven-passenger Sedona people-mover continues as a solid package for a solid price for 2005 You'll get a 195-horsepower 3 5-liter V6 mated to a five-speed automatic transmission. Standard features include dual sliding doors, sofa-swallowing rear liftgate and protective side molding running the length of the vehicle On the inside, there are two generous glove compartments, a locking stor impressions: The Canyon replaced the aging Sonoma last year as the compact pickup in the GMC camp Bigger more powerful and available in a lot more varieties it has been a hit from the get go Changes for 2005 include the availability of a leather interior package with cloth door inserts when the extended cab model is specified a sunroof MP3 computer file capability with the sound system box side steps on regular and extended cab models and traction control with a locking differ ential on two wheel-drive versions Otherwise the Chevrolet Colorado's twin contin ues to be much the same with a wide variety of cab styles (regular, extended and crew), box sizes (five-foot and six-foot), drive systems (rear or 4x4) suspension setups (heavy-duty and off-road) and engines (four and five cylinders) Both engines are based on the in-line six introduced in the Envoy The 2.8-liter four-cylinder produces 175 horsepower while the in-line five cylinder makes 220 horses from its 3 5 liters Connected to either is a choice of a five speed manual transmission or optional four speed automatic originally designed for the full size Sierra pickup. LIBERTY

Impressions: The Liberty was Jeep's 2002 response to the growing number of competing small sport-utility vehicles available to buyers. Liberty's advantage was that it could go where many others only dreamt of treading. Three years out, this Cherokee replacement has been given an even greater degree of separation from the pack thanks to the availability of a 2 8-liter turbo-diesel engine that promises a marked improvement in fuel economy Other changes for

2005 include interior and exterior styling updates, new grilles and front bumpers and greater differentiation between the Sport Limited and Renegade trim levels, the latter of which receives its own special (flatter) hood, grille, driving lights wheels and fender extensions Inside, all models benefit from redesigned seats While the Renegade with its tail-lamp guards and skid plates, makes its intentions obvious so does the Limited with its upscale appointments, special wheels and body-colored fender flares. The base

150 horsepower 2 4 liter four-cylinder and the 210-horsepower 3 7-liter V6 carry over but are joined by a 160-horsepower turbo diesel with a whopping 295 lb ft of torque at only 1,800 r p m. It's the obvious choice for serious off roading, especially with the obligatory five-speed automatic transmission. A-six speed manual transmission replaces the five-speed unit in two and four wheel drive Sport and Renegade models The 3.7 is paired with a four speed auto matic in rear-drive versions but mates up with a five speed automatic when four-wheel-drive is

Impressions Out of several mid-size General Motors sport-utility vehicles built on the same platform, the year old Buick Rainier rides a cut above with more standard features and power train versatility Granted, the Trailblazer and GMC Envoy are available in both regular- and extended-length formats (the Buick comes in regular wheelbase only) but the Rainier is the only regular-wheelbase model that GM is willing to stuff a 290-horsepower 5.3-liter V8 into Regardless of whether you choose the CXL or CXL Plus the standard powerplant continues to be the 275-horsepower 4 2-liter in-line six-cylinder Small changes greet the 2005 Rainier including upgraded tires a genuine mahogany wood/leather-wrapped steering wheel, burled walnut wood-grain shift knob and more chrome-trim accents on all models. That's in addition to the Rainier's already standard electronically controlled rear air suspension four-wheel disc brakes with anti-lock, dual-zone climate control and leather-covered power seats with memory function Rear-drive models come with traction control, while all wheel-drive models feature a slip and-grip system that diverts some power to the front wheels when the going gets rough

Impressions The most aggressive new vehicle launch in Ford's 100-year history takes place for 2005 and the Five Hundred leads the parade Built in Chicago III alongside its new Freestyle wagon and Mercury Montego siblings the Five Hundred is a clear departure from the norm with a boxy upright body providing a commanding seating position and loads of headroom Power comes from the familiar 3 0-liter V6 but from there things get a little more interesting with a choice of two automatic transmissions a standard six speed or continuously variable unit (CVT) driving the front or all four wheels. The latter is borrowed from Volvo. The six speed is offered on one trim level only with front wheel drive while all others get the CVT For compari son sake, the Five Hundred is about three-inches longer than a Taurus and a foot shorter than a Crown Vic The rear seat and back of the front passenger seat fold flat, allowing items up to eight feet long to be put inside Trunk space which rivals that of the Crown Vic is plentiful and can handle eight full size sets of golf clubs Available in three trim levels SE SEL and Limited

even the base model boasts a full array of standard equipment You'll get four wheel disc brakes with anti-lock traction control six-way power driver seat air conditioning, tilt wheel, speed control remote entry keypad power windows and locks and 17 inch alloy wheels (18 inch on the Limited) An optional safety package includes side impact air bags and Ford's "safety canopy' for protection in the event of a rollover

ESCAPE

Impressions Perhaps the biggest news in the Escape family if not the whole sport-utility industry is the introduction of the Escape Hybrid a vehicle that combines a four-cylinder gas engine and an electric motor to dramatically improve around town fuel economy Costing only about $2 000 more than a similarly equipped V6-powered Escape (once you factor in the feder al tax credits), which Ford says offers about the same performance the Hybrid gets a reported 35 40 m p g in city driving. At rest, the Hybrid's 133 horsepower 2 3-liter four-cylinder is shut down When it's time to leave the stop light the 94-horsepower electric motor takes over until the Escape reaches about 25 m p h. At that point, the gas motor is seamlessly called into action (Both run at the same time when full acceleration is required) The juice comes from 200 pounds (and 330-volts) worth of batteries built into the rear load floor which are recharged when the orakes are applied The best part of the Hybrid is that it's still an Escape sport ute that can be equipped with four wheel drive and tow 1 000 pounds Base non-Hybrid Escapes receive a new 153 horsepower 2 3-liter Mazda-derived four-cylinder (Ford owns Mazda) to replace last year s 127 horse unit With the increased power comes an automatic transmission that's available as an option to the five-speed manual. The 200 horsepower 3 0 liter V6 remains on the menu. Other changes for 05 include a new intelligent' 4x4 system for improved traction, a heavily reworked interior and an updated exterior with new front/rear fascia and wheels XLS SLT and Limited trim levels remain, anti-lock brakes become standard and a new "safety canopy airbag becomes an available option Base price $19 300

Impressions: With wagons popping up all over the place it's really no surprise that Ford has created a wagon version of the new Five Hundred sedan called the Freestyle Several inches longer than a Taurus wagon a foot shorter than a Crown Victoria and much taller than both the Freestyle provides a tremendous amount of interior space for up to seven people across three rows that can also be reworked to create a large flat load floor innovative storage solutions abound and there are a trio of 12 volt power outlets Freestyle is available in SE SEL or Limited models with the extensive standard equipment list including air conditioning speed control tilt steering, power windows and locks, six-way power driver's seat anti-lock brakes traction control, remote keyless entry and a fold flat front passenger seat. Large 17 inch wheels and tires are standard on SE and SEL models with 18-inch rolling stock arriving on the Limited The powertrain consists of Ford's 203 horse 3 0 liter DOHC V6 coupled to a continuously vari able automatic transmission driving either the front or all four wheels. The AWD system comes from Volvo while the transmission provides nearly infinite gearing to keep the engine revving close to where it makes peak torque. In terms of safety, the Freestyle can be optioned with side impact airbags and a safety canopy that deploys in the event of a rollover

Impressions History is about to repeat itself. As was the case 40 years ago. Ford has a brand-new Mustang for 2005 and a wide-open playing field without a competitor in sight. Still rear-drive and powered by a V6 or V8 this iconic Ford has been thoroughly redesigned with lots of reminders of the past mixed with lots of new stuff. Not only does the new Mustang pay tribute to the past with its exterior styling cues, but the interior, right down to the gauges smacks of the mid 1960s. The best improvement might just be in the wheelbase, which grows by six inches compared to that of the '04 Mustang According to Ford this yields improved stance bal ance and increased interior space Although equipped with an oldschool solid rear axle Ford claims the new Mustang delivers a vastly superior combination of ride and handling The base 4 0 liter V6 pumps out a healthy 210 horses

23 more than before while the optional 300 horsepower 4 6-liter aluminum V8 makes 40 more ponies than the 04 V8 which is also 75 pounds heavier Both are backed by five-speed manual transmissions or optional five speed automatics. Standard features include power windows and locks remote keyless entry four wheel disc brakes and air conditioning. The new Stang owes its whoa to 12.4 inch front brake rotors on GT models while V6 versions get 11.4-inchers Standard wheels are 16 inches in diameter while V8 models get 17 inchers. From the why-didn't we think-of-that first category comes a color-configurable instrument panel that allows the owner to mix and match the lighting from a choice of 125 backgrounds

EXPLORER SPORT TRAC

Impressions in that great gray area between trucks and sport-utility vehicles lives the Ford Explorer Sport Trac It can be looked at either way, but since its shares its platform with the Ford Ranger pickup, we're going to call it a truck There is little in the way of change for 2005 beyond a couple of new exterior color choices wider availability of a moonroof and a sound system with Sirius Satellite radio and MP3 capability for all models Versatility is the name of this game as the Sport Trac combines the interior features of the Explorer sport-ute with the cargo-carrying abilities of a compact pickup thanks to a four-foot long, 20-inch-deep cargo bed The Sport Trac is available in XLS and XLT trim levels for 2005 with a Premium package available for the latter The Adrenaline package makes its return with a 510-watt Pioneer audio system, built-in subwoofer and all sorts of exterior trim bits. Motivation for all comes from a 205-horsepower 4 0-liter V6 coupled to a four-speed automatic transmission. The Sport Trac is available in two or four-wheel-drive variations and can tow up to 5,300 pounds Among the myriad of safety features is the availability of Ford's Safety Canopy airbag system that provides added protection in the event of side impact or roll over

AVIATOR

Impressions: Based on the platform used for the country's most popular sport-utility vehicle, the Ford Explorer, the Lincoln Aviator obviously has a reputable, not to mention secure, foundation But since it wears a Lincoln badge, it takes an extended trip through the tailor's shop before hitting the streets loaded with luxury and 302-horsepower 4 6-liter V8 driving the rear or all four wheels The Aviator comes in one model with four new option packages for 2005 Regardless, there's no shortage of standard equipment. The Aviator includes anti-lock brakes, running boards power heated signal mirrors with memory and downward-firing puddle lamps, remote keyless entry, dual-zone climate control, premium audio system and automatic headlamps That's in addition to power locks and windows, power adjustable pedals, power lumbar support leather interior trim and Ford's "safety canopy" system that protects in the event of side impact or rollover Electronic stability control is standard on all models as are 17 inch, seven spoke machined aluminum wheels. Interior luxury is top-of mind with satin nickel accents, wood trim, premium leather and white light-emitting-diode (LED) instrument lighting. Like all Lincolns, the Aviator comes with free maintenance for the first year or 12 000 miles. Other changes for 2005 are limited to a new grille and color choices. CROSSFIRE

Impressions: One of the first and most tangible offspring of the Mercedes/Chrysler marriage is the Crossfire. The sleek little two-seater is based on the last-generation Mercedes SLK sports car and also uses the baby Merc's 215-horsepower V6 engine, transmission and suspension. Put the two side by side and you'd never believe it, though, since the styling is completely and utterly unique to each.

For 2005, Chrysler has spiced up the Crossfire line with the addition of a roadster model as well as high-performance variants wearing the in-house SRT (Street and Racing Technology) label. The Crossfire is available in base, Limited and SRT-6 trim levels all in either coupe or convertible The stunning exterior is echoed inside with a wide center console that connects a prominent feature line from the hood through to the tail where a spoiler automatically raises and lowers based on speed The SRT-6 models come with a hand built, 330 horsepower supercharged 3 2 A six-speed manual transmission is standard and a five-speed automatic optional in naturally aspirated models. The SRT-6 versions get an upgraded high torque automatic. In all cases, Crossfire has enormous brakes and a mix of 18- and 19 inch wheels (unique alloys for the SRT 6). Standard equipment includes air conditioning, stability control, power windows and locks dual-zone climate control and anti-lock brakes.

impressions. General Motors' Saturn division has long promised to make leading-edge - if not ground-breaking - vehicles. With a new sports car in the works, disbanding of the L. Series sedans and wagons, and the addition of a new minivan, the little company that prided itself on dent-resistant door panels might just be on the brink of truly making a name for itself. For 2005, both the sedan and the Quad coupe, with its rear-hinged swing-out doorlets, receive a laundry list of refinements aimed at addressing customer feedback. Aside from interior upgrades to reduce noise, the steering calibra tions and suspension bushings have been changed Of the three trim levels offered the up-level ION 2 and ION 3 get new alloy wheels and seats with larger bolsters All sedans get a revised front fascia/grille this year interestingly a four-speed automatic transmission replaces the continuously variable unit as well as the optional five speed automatic A five-speed manual continues to be available as standard gear Under the

GRAND MARQUIS

Impressions. The 2005 Grand Marquis is one of the last bastions of traditional American full-size rear-wheel-drive transportation. Typically the choice of older drivers, the Grand Marquis has always been geared to an audience that's not into trendy gimmicks. Always a favorite of those traveling long distances, the G-M is desired because of its body-on-frame construction, 224-horse 4.6-liter-V8 powertrain, six-passenger seating, massive trunk and its ability to tow up to 1,500 pounds. For 2005, the hot-rod Marauder and its 302-horsepower 4.6-liter V8 are gone. That leaves the GS, GS Convenience, LS and LS Ultimate as the surviving kin. Upgrades and refinements for this year include a new wood-grain appliqué for the instrument cluster, new wheel choices and the availability of two-tone paint. A handling package brings unique wheels, a lower final drive ratio rear stabilizer bar, rear air suspension and dual exhausts that release an additional 15 ponies. Buyers looking for a smooth ride plenty of room and a taste of luxury will continue to look toward to this big Merc. Look for a major revamp for 2006.

Impressions: Out with the old and in with the new The Tracker and the four-door Blazer are gone, and the Equinox has arrived for 2005 as the entry-level Chevrolet sport-utility vehicle Even with an extensive array of standard equipment, including a 185-horsepower V6, five-speed automatic transmission air conditioning power locks windows and mir rors height adjustable driver's seat and 16 inch wheels, the Equinox is priced below even the least expensive Blazer Finally, a small Chevy sport ute that will give Honda and Toyota a run for their money To do so the Equinox features a 60/40 split rear seat that slides fore and aft through a range of eight inches, allowing you to choose between more leg room or cargo space, depending on what's needed at the time. Other innovations include an electric power steering system and a rear cargo-compartment cover that's carpeted on one side and has a washable plastic surface on the other so you can choose between appearance and ruggedness. The tray also fits into a trio of slots set at different heights so it can be used as a picnic table, work station or for multi-level storage. The front passenger seatback also folds flat, just in case you need to transport long building materials or a stepladder. The Equinox is a front driver unless equipped with the on demand, all wheel drive system that diverts some power to the rear when slippage is detected. Primarily an on road system, this slip-and-grip setup still allows off-road mobility to get you home when the going gets rough.

CAMRY SOLARA

Impressions: Even as the most flamboyant pair of Toyotas in the entire lineup, the Camry Solara coupe and convertible would still have to be considered conservative in the grand scheme of things. That's not a knock against them by any stretch of the imagination, it just means that these sleek Toyotas, which are based on the Camry sedan platform (hence the name), still mesh with a lineup full of well-built and technically sophisticated vehicles. A 157-horsepower 2 4-liter four-cylinder is standard on coupe models, while Toyota has deemed that top-down convertible driving requires the 225-horsepower supplied by a 3 3-liter V6, which is also optional in the coupe. That just happens to be the same engine that's in the Lexus ES 330 sedan. A new five-speed automatic transmission backs up the V6, while a five speed manual transmission or optional four-speed automatic is bolted to the 2.4. Pick a coupe and you have your choice of three trim levels, try on a convertible and you'll have a choice of two. Even base models receive anti-lock brakes, side-impact airbags, tire-pressure monitoring, air conditioning and all the power fixin's you can handle
