Cheer Club

The holiday season is here and so is the Plymouth-Canton Observer Cheer Club. Please join us by bringing donations of new toys and canned or boxed food to our office at 794 S. Main in Plymouth, during business hours 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday-Friday. The items will be collected until Friday Dec. 10, when we'll turn them over to the good folks at the Plymouth Salvation Army. They'll distribute the donations to needy people in Plymouth, Canton, Northville and Belleville. When you bring your donations to the office, we'll ask you to leave your name and hometown, so we can recognize your generosity in the paper. Of course, you're perfectly able to remain anonymous if you prefer. For more information, give us a call at (734) 459-2700. Happy holidays, and please keep our Cheer club in mind!

Santa's arrival

After making his list and checking it twice, Santa is due to hit Plymouth on his regular scheduled stop at 5:45 p.m. Friday, Nov. 26. Santa and Mrs. Claus will be presented with the key to good boys and girls' hearts, and will join the crowd in singing Christmas carols. Santa will then retire to his house on Main Street, where he will visit with children that night, and each weekend through Christmas. The Plymouth Salvation Army will provide free hot chocolate, and Christmas carols will be sung. Santa's house is open weekends through Dec. 19 from 6-8 p.m. Fridays and noon to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Summit spawns ideas, 2nd meeting

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

Wednesday's Partnership Summit featuring representatives of several local municipalities produced exactly what some had hoped: a commitment by multiple government jurisdictions to move ahead toward collaboration of services. More than 60 representatives of several communities - mainly Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville, Northville Township and Plymouth-Canton Schools - met to bounce ideas off on each other on how to forge partnerships, to improve services and conserve money. At the end of the night, the Plymouths, Canton and P-CCS committed resources to meet after the first of the year and discuss ways to share in the cost and deliverance of recreational services. "It only makes sense that the communities that are touched by the schools, and the schools themselves, come together," said

Richard Reaume, Plymouth Township supervisor-elect. "The schools have facilities that are often not used at night, and definitely not used during the summertime. Many of the outdoor fields are scheduled for use, but maybe we could do a better job of utilization and maintenance," added Reaume. "We certainly would look at indoor facilities, like gymnasiums and pools. That would take long range planning and require larger dollars, whether they be state grants or millages." Ann Conklin, leisure services director for Canton Township, said recreation has long been recognized as a priority. "We recognize that not every community can have every facility and they can be very expensive to operate," said Conklin. "If one community has facilities and services, and they can be utilized by other communities through partnerships, then let's do it. We need each other to survive." The summit was co-sponsored by Plymouth-Canton Schools and the City of Plymouth. P-CCS Superintendent Jim Ryan said the large turnout suggested interest in partnering of services. "I hope it sends a message that people are interested in partnerships," said Ryan. "It's the wave of the future." Currently, the city and schools partner in the purchase of gasoline and road salt. Plymouth and Plymouth Township share the costs of the

Delaney Diggs and her mom Renee LaForest, watch a video about Delaney's battle with cancer

Keeping up the fight

Canton girl, mom battle cancer on different fronts

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

The words were always familiar to Renee LaForest: Cancer. Tumor. Malignant. What she never really registered, and what was hammered home to her with startling ferocity in the spring of 2002 when doctors told her about the tumor they found in the skull of her then-6-year-old daughter, Delaney Diggs, was that the words were synonymous. "They called us in, and then they told 'Laney, 'Why don't you go in this room and color,'" recalled LaForest, now a Canton resident and the mother of three. "When they told me to call my pediatrician, I knew something was wrong. It was right then I learned tumors and cancer were the same thing.

Renee LaForest, posing with daughter Delaney Diggs, brought the family to Canton in part to take advantage of the Plymouth Canton school district

"First I found out it was a brain tumor, then I found out it was malignant," she added. "There is no feeling like being told your child has a tumor, and five minutes later being told, 'Oh, yeah, it's malignant, too.'" For the first few months after Delaney started showing symptoms, doctors couldn't figure out what was wrong. That might not be surprising when you consider this particular cancer, Ewing's Sarcoma, is, generally speaking, found in boys, and the peak age is 10-20.

STATISTICAL ANOMALY

Further confounding doctors was the cancer is usually found in the trunk of the body. Delaney's was found in her frontal lobe, wrapped around her optic chiasm. "Her chances of having this were minimal," said LaForest, who lived at the time with her family in Ohio. But she did have it, and the statistics meant nothing. The cancer made life for a family already going through personal problems because of a divorce that much harder. First and foremost, obviously, was getting Delaney started on treatment.

Army kicks off kettle campaign

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

Despite the loss of one of its biggest supporters, the Plymouth Salvation Army kicked off its annual Red Kettle campaign with lots of music and a healthy dose of optimism that overcame even the rain. Mother Nature dumped on the ceremony Friday. Canton's Target store, like Target stores all over the country, won't be a kettle location this year, eliminating some $15,000 in kettle revenue collected there last year. Target's corporate officials decided this year to ban the Salvation Army from its storefront while enforcing corporate policy to prevent solicitation. However, the new Michaels store in Canton and Parkside Gallery in Plymouth have stepped up to join some 25 kettle locations, leaving Kettle Campaign Coordinator Kelly Zmudzynski hopeful. "You can't replace Target, because it was a favorite spot," she said. "I am optimistic the addition of Michaels, along with the tremendous support we get from everyone else, will allow us to meet our goal." Last year's campaign drew some $158,000, but Zmudzynski said she left her 2004 goal at $140,000 in an effort to be conservative in the face of the loss of Target. The campaign also lost a popular Plymouth location when the Little Book Shoppe on the Park closed earlier this year, but Parkside Gallery owner Kal Jabara immediately offered his store, at the high-traffic corner of Main and Ann Arbor Trail, to replace the bookstore. In addition to the bell-ringers, there are two other ways for businesses to get involved in the campaign, which starts in earnest Monday and runs through Dec. 24.

Businesses can sponsor a kettle for a day for $100. The donation buys them a sign on the kettle at the location of their choice and is "a great way to support the community," Zmudzynski said. Put up a counter kettle. These smaller versions of the regular kettles are small enough to place on countertops near cash registers. Zmudzynski said businesses can call her when these kettles fill and she'll get them replaced. The campaign's 25 locations in Plymouth, Canton, Northville and Belleville are manned largely by bell-ringers, 97 percent of whom are volunteers. Kettle locations are manned from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Saturday. "There is absolutely no way I could do this without my volunteers," Zmudzynski said. "We are absolutely blessed to have the volunteers we have."

There are still plenty of time slots available for volunteers to ring bells. To volunteer or for more information about the campaign itself, call Zmudzynski at (734) 453-5464 ext. 32.

Major Kathy Hogg leads the crowd in a few holiday tunes during the Red Kettle Campaign kickoff Friday. Major Bill Hogg and Captain Curtis Windham add brass backup.

Plymouth gets into holiday giving spirit

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

It started out as a way to give a little something to those in need during the holidays

Little did Mel Bobcean of Plymouth realize it would grow to such magnitude for a quarter of a century

Bobcean, owner of Mel's Golden Razor barber shop on Forest in downtown Plymouth, decided he wanted to help a school for the blind in Allen Park 25 years ago, and started collecting toys from his customers and friends

"The first year I collected about 500 toys," remembered Bobcean "The second year, there were about 2,000 toys It filled my shop"

Ever since, come the Christmas season, Bobcean puts a sign in his shop announcing the collection of toys for kids in need

"People have been calling to make sure I'm collecting toys again this year," said Bobcean "If all goes well, the shop will be loaded, again A lot of people I don't even know stop by to bring toys"

Bobcean has been a barber in Plymouth for 45 years And ever since he's started collecting toys, he's also picked up cash from customers to help families during the holidays, and puts together a handful of food baskets for families that have been referred to him by area clergy

"I deliver those myself," said Bobcean, 69 "There are certificates for hams and turkeys, and all the food they need to have a nice Christmas meal"

Bobcean said he just likes to make sure families in the Plymouth area have a holiday with nice memories

"People enjoy getting the toys and food, and I enjoy giving it to them," he said "I get tons of letters and cards signed by people we've helped, thanking me I've got a big notebook filled with them"

Last Monday, Julie VanAmejde of Spa Juhanna in Plymouth was scheduled to be a guest bartender at E G Nick's restaurant

"I don't mix drinks very well, so I decided to turn it into a fund-raiser for Toys for Tots," said VanAmejde

VanAmejde called her friend, Linda Lanci of WMGC Radio—which conducts promotions with the Plymouth Downtown Development Authority, and supports Toys for Tots—to be a special guest at the restaurant

And, E G Nick's owner Tony Bell gave a 20 percent discount to those who brought in a toy

"Now, I have a room full of toys, more than 200," said VanAmejde

"Kids should have a Christmas," she said "It upsets me that so many go without during the holidays This was a fun way to get toys into their hands"

"This was beyond any of our expectations," said Bell "We're already talking about doing it again next year"

WMGC will be doing its morning program on Friday, Nov 26, from the new Compass Cafe in the old bank building at Main Street and Penniman Avenue, and will collect more Toys for Tots

Meanwhile, the Canton Youth Advisory Council and the Plymouth-Canton high school radio station, WSDP, will hold a Toys for Tots fundraiser at the Canton Summit on the Park on Wednesday, Nov 24

Admission will be $5 or a new toy to hear bands play on two stages, beginning at 6 p m

"It's such a great cause," said Bill Keith, station manager "Anytime you can help those less fortunate, especially children, it's a really good thing"

The Plymouth and Canton Observer newspapers are conducting its Cheer Club, collecting new toys and non-perishable foods for the Salvation Army at its editorial offices, located at 794 S Main, in Plymouth

Rotary Club honors top cops, firefighter

BY TONY BRUSCATO

Plymouth Township Police Chief Tom Tiderrington told the Rotary Club of Plymouth Friday that for the most part, a police officer's day is filled with somewhat routine tasks — responding to the scene of an accident, domestic calls or a homeowner angry over his neighbor's dog barking at 4 a m

Tiderrington said the so-called routine day changed for Officer Scott Linton on July 23, shortly after 8 a m, when Linton responded to a 9-1-1 call at the Church of the Nazarene Day Care Center A frantic employee told the dispatch center an intruder had forced his way into the building and was headed to the classroom filled with children The suspect was shot and killed in the exchange

"With exemplary courage, and with great risk to his personal safety, Officer Linton placed himself in harm's way by confronting the intruder," said Tiderrington "As Officer Linton attempted to take the intruder into custody, a fight and struggle ensued and the subject began assaulting the officer"

"Officer Linton's response and action prevented any of the children from being harmed," added Tiderrington "His decision to immediately intervene and place himself as a barrier between himself and the children was a selfless act of heroism"

Tiderrington presented Linton the Rotary Club of Plymouth's Officer of the Year Award for Plymouth Township

Plymouth Police Chief Wayne Carroll introduced three-year veteran Officer Matt Stoops as his department's Officer of the Year

"We wish to recognize a newer officer who showed the kind of leadership and devotion to duty, usually found in much more seasoned officers," said Carroll, who outlined Stoops' efforts in apprehending a breaking-and-entering suspect "Had it not been for Officer Stoops take-charge attitude, devotion to duty, knowledge of his territory and this perpetrator's method, incarceration would have been delayed We would have surely had more innocent victims in the meantime"

Stoops, 27, said it was a great honor to receive the Rotary Club award

"It's always great to be honored by your peers for doing a good job," he said "I work for a great department and have a great support staff"

"It's been a team effort, added Stoops "I wanted a more family oriented kind of department, and we know everything about everybody in the department and their families, and it makes us a close-knit group

While introducing Pat Conely as Firefighter of the Year, Plymouth Community Fire Chief Randy Maycock not only complimented the 3-year veteran's experience and education, but his enthusiasm for organizing the Plymouth Community Fire Department's Fire Safety Open House during Fire Prevention Week in October

"This event is a huge undertaking, and Pat was up to the task," said Maycock All of the behind the scenes preparations — from collecting donations, recruiting volunteers and arranging for a helicopter landing — helped to make sure that everything ran smoothly on the day of the event"

Conely said his success is a by-product of his love for the job

"I love my job It's the best job in the world," said Conely, 34, who lives in Plymouth Township "I really enjoy serving the community, and the hands-on aspect of the job I'm very honored and overwhelmed"

The paramedic of the year award went to Jeff Hannah, a 14-year veteran of Huron Valley Ambulance

"Jeff was chosen for his leadership in the HVA new employee training program, his organizational skills as well as his dedication to making HVA a high-quality, nationally recognized leader in pre-hospital care," said Paul Hood, vice president of eastern operations

"Being able to help people is a very rewarding job" said Hannah, 35 "Sometimes just listening is enough to help patients get through their experiences"

Located where it was attached to her frontal lobe, the tumor was inoperable, leaving radiation as the only viable means of reducing it. Doctors put Delaney on a course of 28 radiation treatments, 21 of which were administered through the little girl's eyes. Complicating matters was the damage done to her sinus cavity and her ability to ward off illness. "The tumor was shrinking, but at a terrible price," said Dr. Mark Ranalli, a doctor at Columbus (Ohio) Children's Hospital, who made a public service announcement video about Delaney's illness. "It destroyed her ability to fight even the most common infections."

SCARED, BUT BRAVE

Painful blood-glucose shots and numerous surgical procedures to clean out her sinuses followed, but through it all, the 6-year-old Delaney rarely wavered. She took the chemotherapy and the shots and the illnesses, determined to beat the disease. "I was scared, Delaney said. But I was brave. She had to be, as did her mother. LaForest lost one job while doctors were still trying to figure out what was wrong with Delaney, then lost a second job because she had to be in the hospital so much with her daughter once the cancer was diagnosed.

LaForest, experienced in program management, corporate training and information technology, hasn't worked since. With Delaney's father having moved to Texas, LaForest has been the sole source of support for Delaney. The amount of time her daughter has spent in the hospital "has totally incapacitated me from working," LaForest said.

The family — including 10-year-old Emilee and 6-year-old Josh — has lived largely on money LaForest had originally planned on putting into a house and the generosity of the people in their church, St. Joan of Arc in Powell, Ohio.

They sent out meals when I couldn't cook for the kids, they did penny wars for us, LaForest said. They were always there, not just with monetary help, but with their prayers.

Family brought LaForest and her children to Canton. She's got a sister who lives in Canton and her former in-laws, who live in Redford and with whom she's still close, helped her get into the Canton house she's renting.

MOVING ON

The kids' godmother, Carol Sutherland, who recently moved to Cleveland after 14 years in Plymouth, put LaForest in touch with a Realtor.

"I think Renee is doing an outstanding job, bearing in mind she's doing it alone," Sutherland said. "She has a terrific head on her shoulders. She has done a good job keeping them together. It's been difficult for her, but she's terrific at persevering."

Officials in Plymouth-Canton Schools — all three kids are at Field Elementary — have put together a specialized learning program for Delaney, something the school district in Ohio refused to do and one of the reasons LaForest chose Plymouth-Canton.

Unfortunately, things aren't getting any easier. LaForest is trapped in an employment Catch-22, unable to get jobs for which she's qualified because she's been out of the workforce for two years, and unable to get lower-paying jobs because she's over-qualified.

With Delaney's tumor shrunk, all three children are in school full-time now, leaving LaForest with plenty of time — if not opportunity — to go back to work.

A job would pretty much solve everything," LaForest laments. "If I could find a job, everything would be much better."

Meanwhile, pennies are being pinched. It got so bad at one point she sought the help of the Plymouth Salvation Army, which allowed her to come in and stock her pantry when it had about hit bare.

"I was down to no food at all," LaForest said. "(The Salvation Army) let me get the canned fruit and vegetables, the cereals and other things I needed."

The family, meanwhile, has persevered. Delaney just found out she'll need another surgery next week to clean up a sinus infection, but it hasn't dampened her spirits any. She's been sick, but it hasn't stopped her.

ZEST FOR LIFE

For instance, she has dropped the puck at a minor league hockey game, sung the National Anthem and, last year, got a chance to record music with her favorite singer, Carole King.

"You would never know what's going on with her," said Sutherland, the kids' godmother. "You'd never have any idea what she's been through. She has not one time dwelled on the fact she is ill or that she is challenged in any way. She has a great zest for life."

That zest has even helped her mother get through the tough times. When she was at her sickest, Delaney found a way to boost LaForest's spirits. She asked her mom if she was going to die, and LaForest assured her she wouldn't die unless her body just couldn't fight any more.

"I told her if her body couldn't fight anymore, Jesus would come and take her to Heaven," LaForest recalled. "Ever since, when she's been sick, she'd take my hand and say, 'Don't worry, Mom, I still have lots of fight.'"

AYP designed to identify groups with problems

Several area high schools failed to make adequate yearly progress this year despite receiving passing grades in the annual report card released by the Michigan State Department of Education Nov 4

Last year several schools failed to make AYP because less than 95 percent of their students took the MEAP test This year many schools failed because identifiable subgroups within the school did not improve

That's what was intended when the No Child Left Behind Act was approved by Congress "It's not OK to leave a child behind," said Tom Watkins, state superintendent of public education, Nov 12 "The essence of the law was to take a look at subgroups to see that they were making progress How are you doing for African-American students or economically disadvantaged. We're trying to provide support and help on the law"

Subgroups identified in the law include minority students, students with disabilities, economically disadvantaged students and students with limited English proficiency

Letter grades for Michigan's Education YES! program are based on a combination of points awarded for academic achievement, school performance standards and AYP Several area schools made good overall scores but still failed to make AYP, including

Schools receiving Title I federal funding that do not make AYP for two years are subject to penalties The penalties become more severe each year a school fails to make AYP Penalties range from professional development programs and allowing student transfers to staff and administrative changes Failure to make AYP after five years would lead to restructuring of the school

None of the area high schools are Title I schools

Watkins said the state has been trying to work with the federal government to change some aspects of NCLB, particularly relating to students with limited English proficiency

"A student could come into the country, enroll in a school on Monday and take the MEAP on Tuesday We said that's absurd, Watkins said

As a demonstration, Watkins asked state board of education members to take a second grade math test He sat them down and asked them to turn the tests over and begin The tests were in Russian

"We asked that students be given three years before they had to take the test We got some relief, they gave students a year, Watkins said "We're trying to work with them to bring about changes"

Watkins is critical of many aspects of NCLB He said it didn't make sense that a high school with high academic standards where only 94 percent of the students took the MEAP, instead of the the required 95 percent, would be marked failing while another school with lower academic achievement but 98 percent participation in MEAP could be marked passing

Watkins also questions the remedies for Title I failing schools

"The law is 1,100 pages long and uses the phrase scientifically based research," Watkins said

In a meeting of educators with President George Bush earlier this year, Watkins said he questioned the president about what scientifically based research supported the prescribed remedies, which include charter schools, take over by management companies or the state, changes in leadership and 'innovative programs'

Last week, the state Senate approved substituting the high school MEAP with a college test such as the ACT or SAT Watkins said he would like to see a test that combined the best of the MEAP and college entrance tests

The MEAP was intended to look at how well school districts were keeping up to state standards The ACT and other college entrance tests are designed to predict how a student will perform at the college level

"Why not take the best of both?" he said

Watkins said designing a test that could do both was a subject discussed last week by the Cherry Commission, a panel chaired by Lt Gov John Cherry to develop ways to encourage more young people to pursue a fire department and police dispatch It hasn't always been a harmonious relationship

Fire, police and emergency services are emotional issues," said Lynn Harvey, associate director and professor at Michigan State University, who moderated the discussion

People identify their sense of community with police and fire, and it takes a lot more prodding than such issues as public works, which deals with water and sewer"

Plymouth Mayor Pro Tem Dan Dwyer, who sat in on a discussion of public works partnerships, agreed with the assessment

"People aren't going to be worked up like they would for police and fire," said Dwyer "You could probably do a lot of this - lawn mowing contracts, concrete work, vehicle maintenance, purchase of vehicles - because they know they get the service, but not how they get them

Jim Casteel, director of integrated technology systems for Plymouth-Canton Schools, suggested a wide area network connecting all the communities

If the school district was to put up a fiber network, it would have to pass through all five communities, he said "They could share in the connectivity, and also provide some of the costs, and we'd all benefit by it"

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack said he sees possibilities for partnerships in areas such as recreation and the arts But, he cautions that Monday's summit has been done several times previously during his 16-year tenure, with little results

"We couldn't see any benefits for us (at the time)," said Yack I think you have to go to the next level to see if there's a connection

"Identity is so important, and these communities are rich in it," said Yack "To get them to do serious reconstruction could be tough"

AYP isn't about personal failure, it's about identifying problems

The Education YES! high school report cards released earlier this month weren't met with open arms by local educators or the public.

Many area schools failed to make adequate yearly progress under the No Child Left Behind requirements despite receiving passing grades for overall academic achievement and other state standards.

Tom Watkins, state superintendent for public instruction, says AYP reminds him of the Paul Simon song 50 Ways to Leave Your Lover. He said there are 50 ways for a school to fail to make AYP.

This year, the primary reason for our area schools was the failure of identifiable subgroups within the schools to improve their academic performance. These groups include minority students, students with disabilities, economically disadvantaged students and students with limited English proficiency.

While parents, advocacy groups and local educators have said it is unfair to single out these groups in evaluating the high schools — and, in a sense, "blaming" them for the school's "failure" — Watkins said that attention to those groups is exactly what was intended by the No Child Left Behind act.

The word "failure" is always a problem. Nobody wants to be called a failure and no group wants to be singled out as "the group" that caused the school as a whole to be labeled a failure.

Semantics aside, it is important for the school districts and the state and federal governments to know whether or not these groups are progressing as they should. The onus isn't on the "failing" group, but on the system that isn't addressing their particular needs.

"The essence of the law was to take a look at subgroups to see that they were making progress," Watkins said. "How are you doing for African-American students or economically disadvantaged? We're trying to provide support and help on the law."

Of course, the measurement being used to ascertain progress might be questionable. Can we expect that students with disabilities, even when mainstreamed, will be able to perform at the same level as other students? Some can, some can not. Is it right to have new immigrant children taking the same test as native-born students when they have little or no command of the English language?

But some measurement is necessary and some standard for progress is needed. The details of how to do a proper evaluation are almost as complicated as trying to figure out how to remedy the problems your evaluation has uncovered.

While our suburban schools have subgroups that are not keeping up in generally successful secondary programs, every high school in the city of Detroit failed to make AYP on general academic performance, most failing in both the math and language requirements. Soon after the state announced the scores, Detroit schools announced more cuts in staff and programs. Don't expect those scores to improve anytime soon or those schools to make AYP.

Failure to make AYP under the federal government's program leads to consequences for schools that take federal money through Title I (which includes several suburban elementary and alternative schools and most Detroit schools). After two years, schools must begin evaluating how to change their schools. After five years of not making AYP, a school must be restructured — turned into a charter school, turned over to a management company or taken over by the state. It isn't clear that any of these "remedies" will improve the schools and raise the test scores.

Many students in Detroit don't make it to graduation, which also affects a school's AYP.

In a story in the Detroit Free Press, David Plank, co-director of the Education Policy Center at Michigan State University, expressed some of the frustration that must be felt by Detroit educators. "You can't assign all the blame to the schools. It's that these kids don't see education paying off. They don't see it worthwhile to stick around, obviously."

The conditions of home and neighborhood, job prospects, the lure of easy money through crime and much more need to be addressed. Many talented young people and their families look to charter schools or private schools to have some magic answer. But the evidence seems to show only limited success and, in some cases, worse results.

Our schools in suburban Detroit are in general doing a fine job of educating our children. But they and we need to know where they could do better. That's what NCLB is about at its best. Some of the details, some of the language, need to be tweaked, changed, given a more positive face. But the need to evaluate is absolutely necessary in order to improve.

Simon the right person to lead MSU into the future

Lou Anna Simon often rides the campus bus around Michigan State University, where most students seem to regard her as "some old person with a briefcase." She says she isn't much of a cook, and she and her husband, Roy, frequently eat lunch or dinner in one of the dorms.

However, she has other talents. On New Year's Day, the longtime provost will become president of Michigan State University, succeeding M. Peter McPherson, who has led the school and its 44,836 students for more than a decade.

Short, modest and self-effacing, Simon is eager to get to work, and seemingly just as eager to try to direct attention away from herself. "It really is not about me," she said. "I'm just here for a little bit in the whole scheme of things. And it's my responsibility to do whatever I can to make sure Michigan State has the ability to be even greater in the future than it is today."

News media accounts have focused on the fact that she is the first woman to head

Michigan State since it was founded as a school of applied agriculture for farmers in 1855. But what is more remarkable is that she has spent her entire adult life at the institution. A native of small-town Indiana, she arrived as a 23-year-old Ph.D. student from Indiana in 1970, and just stayed.

Remarkably, she nearly became MSU's president a dozen years ago. But the board deadlocked over her appointment, and McPherson, then a Bank of America official and former Reagan treasury undersecretary, was brought in as a dark horse candidate.

In most cases, that would have led to Simon's leaving the university. But the two forged a good relationship. Last spring, McPherson, widely regarded as the school's strongest and most effective president in decades, announced he was stepping down to look for a new challenge.

That normally would have led to a nationwide search. Not this time, he unhesitatingly recommended to the MSU board that it choose Simon as his successor, and the board unanimously agreed. "She will be an outstanding choice," he told me. "She is superbly equipped to lead this institution."

Lou Anna Simon knows that means a lot more than showing up for commencement. She takes office in a year that will be loaded with celebrations of the school's 150th anniversary, culminating in a three-day on-campus bash in September. She sees the most important part of her job as keeping what she calls "the land-grant ideal" alive and relevant for the next century.

The school — once known as the Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science — was founded, she notes, as part of an experiment to take knowledge beyond the ivory tower and make it relevant to citizens and the state as a whole, and to pioneer new discoveries for the public good.

"Not many people know that the process to pasteurize milk was invented here, that the drug that saved Lance Armstrong from cancer came from here," she said. When MSU was founded, "the visionaries of the time wanted a different kind of place, one that would move society forward with its democratic ideals. And they wanted a place that would position America to become a real economic player, as well as a champion of the people in the society who had talent, but who were underserved by the institutions at hand."

Today, she said with a smile, those same problems still exist, if in a slightly different form. "In order for us to be competitive in Michigan, we have to find a way to shift out of this manufacturing mentality, and that's going to require an educated citizenry of a different kind and becoming an engaged partner with other institutions in order that we can meet the needs of society."

Nobody questions her intellect. However, some have wondered whether the self-effacing Simon, who occasionally lapses into educational policy-speak language, can be an effective advocate for MSU in the broader political arena, where universities go toe-to-toe with each other in the battle for recognition and funding from the state legislature.

Bruce McCristal of Bloomfield Hills, a 1954 graduate who just wrote an excellent new history of the school, The Spirit of Michigan State (MSU Press, 2004), says he knows her well and isn't worried at all. "She is such an effective and articulate speaker. She won't have any problems."

In an era of pinched budgets and funding cuts, that may not be quite true. But a century and a half after MSU was founded, the university's 20th president is eager to show what she can do.

Police charge man in purse snatchings

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

Wallace

Garden City Police are investigating a number of thefts in neighboring communities, including Plymouth, and two incidents in Garden City believed committed by a Detroit man with charge of unarmed robbery related to a purse snatching incident outside a Garden City home.

John Wallace III, 38, also is facing two counts of the same charge over incidents in Dearborn Heights. He is being held in lieu of $25,000 cash bond in Garden City and $100,000 cash bond on the Dearborn Heights charges.

Wallace, who has pleaded not guilty to the charges, 15-year felonies, is scheduled for preliminary examination in 21st District Court Monday. "We anticipate additional charges will be forthcoming. We put out a teletype to other communities," said Garden City Police Lt. David White. "We're putting out a picture of the suspect and his vehicle. If any witnesses saw him cruising around the area, they might have some helpful information."

White added that witnesses described a suspect with his hair tied back under a head scarf and wearing sunglasses. The scenario was the same in each case. The suspect followed an older woman home, came up to ask for directions, grabbed her purse and drove off. The robberies all occurred between noon and 4 p.m.

"I think everyone does what they can with the suspect information. If you don't have much information, you don't do much," said White. "We got lucky because the first victim got partial license plate information. The second victim got more information, so we ended up with all but two letters of the license plate."

After police were able to identify a license plate number and vehicle, White said they were able to identify a suspect. Wallace is currently on probation from Ohio on a charge of unarmed robbery, according to police.

Farmington Hills' Tyndale College closing its doors

BY PAUL R. PAGE
STAFF WRITER

William Tyndale College, based in Farmington Hills, plans to cease operations after the fall semester concludes next month.

Although the small, Christian-based college teamed up with the mammoth Regent University in Virginia Beach, Va., in spring 2003, efforts to boost a declining enrollment locally never materialized, said college spokeswoman Karen Mulligan.

Students and staff were told of the plans to dissolve the college late Thursday.

Student Nicole DeQuis, 20, said there was no warning about the school still being in financial trouble.

It was like we were in class

one day and then suddenly we find out the school was closing," she said Friday. "It hit us like a ton of bricks."

DeQuis, of Detroit, said she chose the college to obtain her associate's degree because of its family-like atmosphere. Though DeQuis will graduate with an associate's degree next month from Tyndale, she noted some of her friends at the college are set to graduate with only one or two semesters left to go.

Now those students need to find new schools.

Mulligan said Tyndale will assist students in establishing themselves at other colleges and universities by January to continue their education.

Regent University has offered current Tyndale students classes at the present Tyndale tuition rate. Current students are encouraged to contact Regent at

SPOTLIGHT ON: Long Term Care Insurance

As you age, your health changes... What is your plan? IGR Presented by Renee Merckx CLTC, CSA IGR

"SO YOUR FINANCIAL PLANNERS SAYS TO SELF-INSURE"

In the Long Term Care world of denial, the worst excuse I hear from an individual is that my CPA or financial advisor insists or assures me that I can self insure. WRONG! When it comes to money in the real world, be it upon death or in this case, risking the loss of an entire retirement portfolio (that they saved), we have all heard the stories of that family who turns evil because of one greedy word: money. People turn into someone else. I know when a planner doesn't understand the need for Long Term insurance because they just say "Oh you are okay, don't worry about it, you have plenty of money to self insure!"

Well folks in America the label of USA. Sue me please!

I will show you what's in store for that advice. First, if you do not have a waiver signed that you met with a Specialist, as myself, and you were fully instructed of all your options to choosing the proper Long Term Care coverage, or you personally chose to decline the coverage, that planner is risking their careers to being sued. It is happening in America folks, and it is just the beginning. What do you think the penalty should be for someone who saves your money and then risks it to be all lost because a simple policy was overlooked? You have nothing protecting your retirement nest egg. With the care in the price range of approximately $60,000 a year in Michigan, are you really willing to take that chance to not protect your hard earned dollars? Between the ages of 18-40 you have a 40% change of needing some form of Long Term Care, if you live to 85 years old your odds now change to 1 in 3!

All you need to do is ask your financial advisor this one question: You told me I can self insure my Long Term Care when I will need it right? Advisor: Of course you have enough assets to pay on your own if you will need care. Well then, will you be willing to sign a statement saying that after my entire portfolio is exhausted by the privacy pay sector that you and your family are going to take me in your home care for me on a daily basis so I don't burden my children and PAY for my continued care expenses? Everyone with common sense knows the answer will be: Yeah Right. Keep Dreaming. Have your CPA or Advisor contact me NOW!

My name is Renee Merckx and I am a Long Term Care Insurance Specialist (CLTC) granted by the Corporation for Long Term Care Certification and a Certified Senior Advisor (CSA) granted by the Society of Certified Senior Advisors. Both designations are recognized by the Michigan Insurance Commissioner's Office and are editorially and financially independent of the long term care insurance industry.

Balanced Salem captures district title

Rock seniors lead the way

Members of the Salem girls basketball team carried the Class A district championship trophy off Canton's court Friday night the same way they won the prize minutes earlier — together.

The balanced, all-for-one Rocks neutralized Canton's biggest threat — senior center Katie Cezat — with a Velcro-like defensive scheme and hit clutch shots on offense in a 41-34 victory in the Canton High School Phase III gymnasium.

The Rocks will deposit the hardware in their trophy case before heading to Monday's 8 p.m. regional semi-final showdown against Birmingham Marian (17-4). The game will be played at West Bloomfield High School.

Monday night's opening game at 6 p.m. will pit the host Lakers against Pontiac Northern. The regional final is set for Wednesday at 7 p.m. at West Bloomfield.

Cezat, who was blanketed most of the night by a combination of sophomores Teresa Coppelle, Lauren Kurtz and junior Carly Sommers, finished with a hard-earned 12 points before fouling out with 2:22 left in the game. When Cezat walked off the floor for the last time, the Chiefs' all-time leader in points, rebounds and blocked shots was greeted by a rousing standing ovation by fans from both teams.

'Katie was my idol when we played for Our Lady of Good Counsel,' said Coppelle, who spent a good chunk of Friday's game shadowing Cezat. 'She's so good, it takes more than one player to stop her, but we did a good job tonight. We have a very balanced team, but it's our three seniors who carry us.'

The seniors Coppelle referred to — Alyssa Guern, Ellen Canale and Kathryn Wheatley — all played pivotal roles in the victory. Guern contributed a team-high 12 points and five rebounds, Canale netted 11 points and nine boards and Wheatley scored seven with three steals.

Most importantly, all three provided the team with an unwavering poise that elevated the Rocks to a championship-caliber level.

Molly Conlon and Becci Houdek both twined 10 points for the Chiefs.

'The key to beating Canton is defending Cezat and I thought we did a nice job of that tonight,' said Salem coach Fred Thomann. 'All three girls that covered her did an excellent job. We also did a nice job with our perimeter defense. We didn't give them many open shots out-

Salem seniors Kathryn Wheatley, Ellen Canale and Alyssa Guern celebrate after the Rocks' 41-34 victory over Canton in the Class A district championship game Friday night

Multi-dimensional Rocks could be regional threat

I have two words of advice for the Birmingham Marian girls basketball coaching staff as they prepare to play Salem in Monday night's Class A regional semi-final game: Good luck.

Salem isn't extremely tall, incredibly explosive or unbelievably athletic. But, together, the Rocks make up the most balanced, cohesive team I've seen play this year.

In my book, that makes them dangerous.

One-dimensional teams are relatively easy to prepare for. Shut down the primary threat, and let the other four less-talented players try to beat you.

Five-dimensional teams like Salem, on the other hand, are the source of coaching nightmares.

Super-smooth senior point guard Ellen Canale is the team's leading scorer, but if you give her extra attention, you've opened things up for her backcourt mate, Alyssa Guern, who can make even the quickest defensive wizards look silly with her assortment of cross-overs and spin dribbles.

And you're ill-advised to double-up Guern, because Canale doesn't need much more than a few feet to bury you with her pin-point perimeter game or her off-the-dribble driving skills.

The Rocks' third senior — Kathryn Wheatley — is best known for her suffocating defense, but if you leave her open inside 18 feet, she will make you pay.

The biggest mistake opposing coaches can make before playing the Rocks is looking at the underclass status of their primary frontcourt players and assuming sophomores Teresa Coppelle and Lauren Kurtz and junior Carly Sommers will be overwhelmed by the big-game atmosphere Monday night.

Friday night's district championship game against Canton was a pretty big game and those three couldn't have played with more poise.

The Rocks have some talented reserve players, too, in sharp-shooting guards Keyana Arnold and Becky Ward. During one 15-second span in Salem's district semi-final win against Novi Wednesday night, Arnold checked in at the scorer's table, ran over to the left wing area on the Rocks' offense set, caught a pass, squared up and burned a three.

Combined with Ward's ability to come off the bench and heat up quickly, they should be known as the Microwave-ettes.

Defensively, the Rocks are solid, smart and aggressive. They help each other, they box out and they scrap.

Marian will provide Salem with one of its toughest tests this season, but the way the Rocks are playing, it's one they can definitely pass.

Worley honored as top golf coach

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Paul Worley knew he was walking into a good situation when he took the Livonia Churchill varsity boys golf job.

The longtime pro for the City of Livonia guided the Chargers to a 10-1 dual-meet season and a runner-up finish in the Western Lakes Activities Association tournament, second only to state qualifier Walled Lake Western.

At the tough Division I regional at Oak Pointe, Churchill finished just two strokes out of the third with Howell (299), Brighton and 2003 state champion Redford Catholic Central (302 each) take the team qualifying berths.

'We just ran into a regional where there were three better teams than us, said Worley, who was named Observerland Coach of the Year. 'But I couldn't be prouder of the way our guys played. I had an idea what we needed to shoot and our goal was to shoot under 310. Any other season I'd take a 304. Ninety-nine out of 100 times we'd be going to the state tourney.'

Churchill, led by individual state qualifier Tommy Lucko, a sophomore, had six players who played consistently all season. Two earned first-team All-Observer honors, while three made the second-team and another was placed on the third team.

'For the first year I enjoyed it,' said Worley. 'But there was a lot more to it than I anticipated, not from a coaching standpoint, but from an administrative standpoint.'

The 42-year-old Worley, a 1980 Livonia Bentley graduate, played high school golf under Ken Tummons. He is a 1984 graduate of Michigan State and has been employed by the City of Livonia's Golf Division for 26 years.

He is currently the head pro at Whispering Willows. 'My dad Paul was a good player, a 6-to-7 handicapper, he got me interested in the game,' Paul Jr. said. 'With him being a good player, I always wanted to beat my dad.'

And although Churchill loses three of its top six players to graduation, Worley is already looking forward to next year.

'Things look pretty good,' he said. 'With three returning we have a pretty good nucleus. I don't know if we'll be as deep, but a lot more guys will get a chance to play next year.'

Chief icers win

Canton's boys hockey team opened its season with a 5-1 victory over Utica Stevenson Friday night at the Arctic Edge Ice Arena in Canton.

Michael Kondratek shined for the Chiefs, netting a goal and two assists. Garrett Hyman, Reese McCabe, Ben Laurin and Ryan Mooradian scored single goals for the winners. Pat Davison, Nick Ledford, Mooradian, McCall and John Sudia recorded assists.

Senior Tony Hylko was solid between the pipes for Canton, stopping 21 shots. Stevenson's lone goal came late in the second period with Canton ahead 5-0.

'We came out with a lot of energy, jumped out ahead early and played well,' said Canton coach Mike Behen. 'The game got a little sloppy after we went up 5-0, but both teams kept playing hard.'

Canton will return to the ice on Dec. 1 when it travels to Livonia Churchill to take on the Chargers.

MU women falter

Indiana Wesleyan shot 54 percent from the floor Friday night to earn a 64-53 women's basketball win at Madonna University.

The loss drops the Crusaders to 1-5 overall, while Indiana Wesleyan improves to 7-1.

Liz Howarth led Indiana Wesleyan with 20 points. Katrina Spitzer added 10. Wesleyan shot 24-of-44 from the field. The Crusaders got 20 points and 12 rebounds from Sarah Thomson, while Martina Franklin (Redford Union), Jackie Pingston and Stephanie Childs each contributed eight points.

The Crusaders shot only 35.7 percent from the floor (20-of-56).

Crusader men lose

Noel Emenhiser returned to his home turf Wednesday night, but the 6-foot-5 forward's game-high 26 points were not enough as host St. Francis (Ind.) turned back the Crusaders in a men's basketball game, 93-76.

Emenhiser, a senior from Woodland (Ind.) High School near Fort Wayne, connected on 10-of-19 shots from the floor, including 4-of-6 from three-point range.

"Offensively we made some key shots when we needed to. We didn't make a lot of shots, but we made them when we needed to."
Salem hit 14-of-35 shots from the field (40 percent) while Canton connected on just 9-of-33 field goals (27 percent). The Rocks outrebounded the Chiefs, 28-18.
Canton coach Bob Blohm said he sensed early on that his team was off its game.
"It seemed like we were out of synch right away," Blohm said. "We don't have the kind of team that can come back from a big deficit. Salem has a very good team. They bust their butts and work hard."
Following the game, Blohm said he commended his team for its outstanding effort this season. Canton won 15 of its final 17 games.
"First of all, I told them they should be proud because they had a great season and they made it to the district championship game where they got beat by a very good team," Blohm said.

"We just couldn't make shots and we didn't get many points off offensive rebounds like we normally do."
Canton's only lead in the game came with 4:11 left in the opening quarter when Lisa Ealy's lay-up put the Chiefs ahead 4-2.
Salem led 6-4 after one quarter and 21-14 at the half. Canale scored seven points in the final 2:12 of the second quarter after Cezat was removed from the game after getting whistled for her third foul.
The Rocks stormed out of the lockerroom at halftime, outscoring Canton 5-1 to take a 26-15 lead. Salem secured a 33-19 lead after three quarters.
But anyone who has witnessed a Canton-Salem game in the past, knew there would be at least one more run left by the Chiefs. This rivalry game is rarely settled with a lopsided score.

Led by the long-range shooting of guards Molly Conlon and Becci Houdek, Canton made a dramatic late charge outscoring Salem 12-2 over the first 6:09 of the fourth quarter. Houdek buried two long three-pointers during the stretch while Conlon swished a three from the left wing and a driving lay-up following a steal.
The comeback came to a screeching halt when Cezat committed her fourth foul with 2:27 left and her fifth five seconds later.
To make matters worse for Canton, Lisa Ealy, its second biggest offensive threat this season, fouled out 21 seconds later.
Wheatley sank three free throws and Guern added a fast-break lay-up to seal the win, the trophy and the trip to West Bloomfield.
"We talked before the game about how hard we've worked since the summer to get to this point, and how we didn't want our season to end tonight," Coppellie said.

Eagles clip short-handed Borgess

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

It's hard to say which obstacle was more difficult for Redford Bishop Borgess to overcome Thursday night: the fact that only five Spartans dressed for the game, or the 33 turnovers they committed against Plymouth Christian Academy.
Both obstacles had a bearing in PCA's 73-15 triumph in the Class D district basketball game played at Detroit Urban Lutheran High School. The victory vaulted the Eagles into Friday's game against Michigan Independent Athletic Conference rival Canton Agape Christian (please see page B1 for details on that game).

"My hat is off to the Redford Bishop Borgess players and their coaches," said PCA coach Harvey Jennings. "It takes a lot of guts to play with only five players, especially when one of them was hurt. I'm not sure it was a good game for us to get prepared for Canton Agape, but a lot of our players got to play a lot of minutes, so that was good."
When the Spartans' Evette Lang swished a jump shot three minutes into the game, Borgess trailed just 7-4 and threatened to make things interesting.
However, the Eagles dashed any hopes of a major upset by scoring the next 30 points. PCA led 45-7 at the half.
Every player on the roster scored for PCA, which was led by sophomore point guard Joi Jennings' 19 points. Lauren Soblesky was next with 14 and Holly Johnson netted 12. Lauren Beckett and Kelsie Tietjen had six a piece for the winners.

Lang, who hustled the entire game despite the lopsided score, led the Spartans with nine points and nine rebounds. Freshman Crystal Combs scored six points and pulled down three boards.
The overmatched Spartans committed 17 turnovers in the first quarter alone against PCA's stifling press.
Beckett, Jennings and Carissa Elenbaas each pulled down a team-high six rebounds for the Eagles.

Inside-outside duo lifts Agape to win in semi finals

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

When Canton Agape's duo of A J Creps and Danielle Henry are clicking inside (Creps) and outside (Henry), the Wolverines usually turn their opponents inside-out.
That's exactly what happened Thursday night in the Wolverines' 46-33 victory over Westland Huron Lutheran Valley in their Class D district semi-final game played at Detroit Urban Lutheran High School.
Creps and Henry combined for 40 points to sideline the Hawks, who finished the season 13-7.
The win advanced the Wolverines into Friday night's district final against Michigan Independent Athletic Conference rival Plymouth Christian Academy (please see page B1 for results).
"We had a nice inside-outside thing going tonight with A J and Danielle, Agape coach Chuck Henry said.

'We had a nice inside-outside thing going tonight with A.J. (Creps) and Danielle (Henry).'

Chuck Henry
Agape coach

"Danielle was hitting her jump shots and A J was dominating inside. She is very strong and she works real hard."
Hawks coach Kris Ruth said the Wolverines' dominance in the paint was too much for her team to overcome.
"Rebounding was the name of the game tonight," Ruth said. "A J Creps is very tough to stop inside. Agape played a solid game defensively against us as well."
"I thought we had a great season, though. We won 13 games and we only lose two seniors, so I'm looking forward to next season."

Huron Lutheran trailed just 9-4 after one quarter despite turning the ball over 13 times. Amazingly, Agape led by five even though it canned just 3-of-20 shots from the field.
Both teams discarded their opening-game jitters in the second quarter, which ended with Agape in front 27-16. The decisive quarter turned out to be third when the Wolves amped up their defensive pressure and shutout the Hawks, 13-0.
Creps contributed a team-high 17 rebounds. Teammate Brianna Chrenko chipped in with nine boards.
Huron Valley was paced by junior center Brittany Hickman who had 12 points and 10 rebounds. Freshman Lauren Adlof had six points and Edna Turk netted five. Rebekah Schultz failed to score for the Hawks, but she did yank down seven rebounds.

PCA captures district hoop crown

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Christian Academy's girls basketball team is peaking at the right time.
The Eagles won their first Class D district title since 2000 Friday night by knocking off long-time nemesis Canton Agape Christian, 34-31, at Detroit Urban Lutheran High School.
PCA will take its 11-11 record to the regional semifinals Monday night at 7:45 p.m. at Whitmore Lake High School. They will play the winner of the Adrian Lenawee Christian district tournament. A victory Monday night will propel the Eagles into Tuesday's 7 p.m. regional final.
The Wolverines finished their season at 10-12.
Lauren Soblesky paced the winner with 15 points. Joi Jennings, the Eagles' leading scorer this season, finished with 10 while Lauren Beckett contributed eight rebounds and three blocks.

Lindsay Gant's 10 points led the Wolverines, who played half of the game without leading scorer A J Creps, who suffered an ankle injury. Creps finished with five points.
"Agape came out with an agenda to stop Joi, and they did," PCA coach Harvey Jennings said. "We wanted to try to slow down Danielle Henry and A J Creps, and we did a good job of that."
"As a fan of basketball, I thought it was a great game. It was back-and-forth action. I told a couple of the Agape girls after the game that they didn't lose, they just ran out of time. They're a classy team and they have a classy coach."

The Wolverines led most of the game until Soblesky buried a short jump shot with 35 seconds to play to put PCA ahead 32-31. Agape had an opportunity to regain the lead on its next possession, but the Wolverines missed two free throws.
Sara Ross was fouled with a few seconds remaining, and she sank both her free attempts to ice the win.
"Any time you lose a game in which you led most of the way it's disappointing," said Agape coach Chuck Henry.
The Eagles led 12-11 after one quarter, but Agape surged back to seize a 20-14 halftime advantage.
The Wolves secured a 25-19 lead after three quarters before PCA outscored their rivals 15-6 over the final eight minutes.

Adam Hogue Jr Redford CC The hard working focused Hogue had an amazing season for the Shamrocks. He averaged 35.1 per nine holes 71.8 per 18 set two school and course records within a five day period (31s at Cattails and Plum Brook) and finished strong by winning the Division I state regional at Oak Pointe with a 68.

Hogue medaled eight times earned selection to the All Catholic squad after shooting a 70 at St. Johns and shot a 79 at the DI state final at East Lansing.

According to Catholic Central head coach Bill Hayes the tri captain not only hits the ball 300 yards or more off the tee he knows his way around the rest of the course.

I think his course management is better he has a better understanding of that. Hayes said. Bad shots bad holes don't upset him. He just puts it out of his mind and goes on.

That can only mean trouble for Catholic Central opponents next season.

Tommy Lucko Soph Liv Churchill The two year letterwinner earned a trip to the Division I state meet as an individual qualifier by shooting at 71 (tied for second) at the Oak Pointe regional in Brighton.

Lucko averaged 76.6 for 18 holes and 38.22 for nine.

He earned a top ten finish at the Western Lakes Activities Association meet (tied for seventh with a 78) en route to All Division honors. Lucko shot a 75 to finish 16th and added a 77 at the Pinckney Invitational.

Lucko was also medalist three times in dual matches.

Tommy was our MVP this year. Churchill coach Paul Worley said. Usually he's at the course or playing golf. He takes his game very seriously just a nice kid to have.

Dave Denyer Jr Redford CC Despite some inconsistency the Shamrocks junior tri captain sparked the team with averages of 38.2 per nine and 76.7 per 18 holes.

Denyer medaled four times and capped off the season with impressive outings - he shot a 76 at the Oak Pointe state regional and 79 at the DI state final at East Lansing.

Coach Hayes said Denyer a 41 student and National Honor Society member has a good chance to take his game to another level.

As good of a year as he had he's better than he showed during the year. Hayes said. He just needs to play more and work on his short game from 150 to 160 yards in.

Mike Dolmetsch Sr Liv Churchill The senior co captain had Churchill's lowest scoring average for both 18 holes (76.25) and nine (38.3).

He tied for seventh in the WLAA tourney shooting 78 making All Division. He tied for 12th at the regional with a 75 and tied for eighth in the Pinckney Invitational with a 75. He also shot 77 at Brighton and was medalist in three dual matches.

Mike's the grinder a competitor and he was probably the heart of our team. Worley said. When I couldn't get guys motivated he stepped in. Mike's a good team leader.

Paul Seguin Sr Liv Franklin The senior carried a 37.5 nine hole stroke average including a season low 32 on Franklin's home course (Idyl Wyld).

Seguin took medalist honors nine different times this fall.

He shot a 73 just missing the cut to earn a bid to the state meet at the Oak Pointe regional. Seguin also earned All Division honors in the WLAA with a 79.

Seguin also shot a 79 at the Fellows Creek Cup and was Western Wayne Invitational medalist with a 78.

I've been coaching 10 or 11 years and Paul is one of the top three players I've ever had. Franklin's Steve Mato said. He was good as a junior and even better as a senior. He played well and had a lot of pressure. He had a tremendous season.

Brian King Jr Redford CC King made it a Shamrocks trifecta. The junior averaged 39.3

per nine with solid 18 hole outings at the University of Detroit invitational (74) Catholic League meet (77 at St. Johns) and DI state regional (81 at Oak Pointe). He shot 36 at a couple dual matches.

Catholic Central coach Hayes liked the combination of talent and leadership displayed by King who will be a tri captain next season.

His overall demeanor is (very) attuned to the game. Hayes said. He's very intense.

King medaled three times in part by his ability to drive the ball (280 yards) and sink putts from anywhere on the green.

SECOND TEAM

Mark Umerlik Soph Liv Churchill The sophomore and first year letterwinner earned a top ten finish in the WLAA tourney with a 78 (tied for seventh) en route to All Division honors.

His averaged as 39.22 for nine holes and 80.33 for 18.

Voted Churchill's Most Improved Player Umerlik was also co medalist with a 38 against John Glenn.

Mark was probably the biggest surprise of the team. Worley said. I didn't know much about him other than that he was on the team last year as a freshman. His golf game was a pleasant surprise. We were wondering how who our sixth guy was going to be and Mark got it done.

Mike Lawton Jr. Liv Churchill The junior and two year letterwinner was co medalist in the Walled Lake Western dual match with a 35.

Lawton averaged 39.11 for nine holes and 79 for 18. He shot a 78 at the regional and added an 82 at the WLAA tourney along with a 77 at the Pinckney invitational.

Mike's a very emotional player. Worley said. When he's going good he's on a roll. We try and keep him in that frame of mind all the time. He has the ability to be a really good golfer.

Cory VanDiver Sr Belleville A four year letter winner who makes his own golf clubs Vandiver was the top golfer for three straight years in the Mega White. He averaged 38.5 per nine holes this past season and was awarded the team's first ever Most Valuable Player award.

Cory has been the leader of this team throughout his career here and he's tied us to three consecutive league championships said Belleville coach John Gochis. He's very deserving of all the honors he has received during his career at Belleville High School.

Eric Frankowicz Jr Garden City Consistency and efficiency were hallmarks of the junior Cougar's season - where he averaged 38.75 for nine holes and earned selection to the All Mega White team for a second consecutive season. Other achievements included medaling three times winning one match with a one under par 33.

His game is down the middle on the green and in the cup. said Cougars head coach Ron Pummill. He's real consistent. His ball doesn't go flying onto different fairways. He keeps it in play.

Pummill said Frankowicz also placed second overall for the entire Mega Conference.

Whalers upend Erie Otters, 3-1

A sellout crowd of 3,701 went home happy Friday as the Plymouth Whalers left their Compuware Arena building on Elvis Night with a 3-1 Ontario Hockey League victory over the Erie Otters.

The Whalers, who moved within one point of second-place Windsor and just three behind first place Sault Ste. Marie in the OHL's West Division, improved to 7-9-4-2. Erie drops to 11-7-1-2.

Goalie Ryan Nie stopped 27 of 28 shots to earn first star honors as the Whalers played to their third sellout in 10 games.

Andrew Fournier and John Vigilante each notched their fourth goals of the season in the victory, while Dan Collins contributed his team-leading eighth. John Mitchell chipped in with two assists.

After a scoreless opening period, Fournier and Vigilante scored at 5:36 and 6:59 of the second period to give the Whalers a 2-0 lead before Erie's Ryan O'Marra countered at 12:21 of the same period to cut the deficit to 2-1.

Collins finished the scoring at 55 seconds of the final period from Mitchell and Tim Sestito. Plymouth outshot Erie, 31-28.

On Wednesday, Plymouth and the host Owen Sound attack battled to a 2-2 draw before 2,021 fans at the Harry Lumley Bayshore Community Centre.

Brad Richardson's power-play goal with 10 seconds left in the second period tied the game at 2-2 after Plymouth veteran Jonas Fiedler was assessed a slashing penalty.

Mitchell and Vigilante scored for the Whalers, while Bobby Ryan had the other goal for Owen Sound, which stood 12-6-2-1 after the deadlock. Owen sound outshot the Whalers, 33-29. In a scoreless third period, Fiedler, a native of the Czech Republic, was assessed a gross misconduct for directing a racial comment toward Attack forward Stefan Ruzicka, a native of Slovakia. Ironically, Whalers captain James Wisniewski (Canton) was given a five-game suspension last season in a similar incident with Ruzicka.

Romulus takes district basketball crown

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Romulus has a rich history in boys basketball and now the girls are taking center stage under fourth-year coach Rhonda Henry

The Eagles earned their first Class A district title since 1984 with a 52-35 victory over Wayne Memorial in the finals Friday at Garden City

Romulus, 21-2 overall, used a 10-3 run to start the third quarter to subdue stubborn Wayne, which finished the year 4-17 under first year coach Richard Rashad

The Eagles, who average 66 points per game, led by only two at half-time 20-18, before outscoring the

Zebras 17-7 in the third quarter to take command

It was more than coincidental that Romulus took advantage of Wayne point-guard LaDwan Jones absence. The Zebras' chief ball-handler went to the bench early in the second half after picking up her fourth foul

"That took us out of sync," Rashad said of Jones' exit. "When she's in the game she spearheads the whole thing. We had to sit her out the whole third quarter and that's when they made their run."

Senior forward Ashley Sibey led Romulus with 15 points, while senior guard Janice Armstrong added 11

The Eagles, who had trouble finishing shots around the basket, won despite hitting only 21-of-68 shots from the floor (30.8 percent) and 9-of-22 from the free throw line (40.9 percent)

"I just told our girls you've got to relax, control the tempo and let the game come to us," said Henry, whose sister Andrea Gorski of Livonia Ladywood also captured a district (Class B) on Friday night against Bloomfield Hills Kingswood. "We just had to quit forcing. We were pressing."

Wayne's game plan was to force the Eagles to take mid-range jump shots

"My whole philosophy was to not let them get any uncontested layups or uncontested three-pointers," Rashad said. "We wanted the score to be in the low 40s and limit our turnovers. We felt we had a real good chance if we could do that."

Wayne had a total of 26 turnovers to 14 for Romulus. The Zebra made just 12-of-54 shots from the field (22.2 percent)

Carrie Laubernds scored a team-high nine points for Wayne, while Jennifer Anderson, who also picked up three first-half fouls, added eight. Jones finished with six Romulus now moves on to the Tecumseh regional to face the Southgate Anderson district champion. "I'm not really happy with the whole game, but I'll take it," Henry said. "We were not making shots. Our field goal percentage was way down. It was not us, but maybe it was because we played back-to-back games."

It was only the night before that Romulus beat Belleville, 53-36, while Wayne beat rival Westland John Glenn, 50-35

"I'm just going to try and enjoy it," Henry said. "It's been 20 years."

Lady Ocelots drop ball in national semis

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

The Schoolcraft College women's soccer team proved it is human after all

After starting the season a machine-like 23-0, the Lady Ocelots dropped a 2-0 decision to top-ranked Monroe (N.Y.) Community College Friday night in the semi-final game of the National Junior College Athletic Association Division 1 National Championships, played at Paradise Valley Community College in Phoenix, AZ

The Ocelots will play for third place in a consolation game Sunday afternoon

Monroe's Jamie Dougherty scored on a penalty kick at the 26-minute mark of the first half to give her team all the offense it would need. Dougherty scored again with two minutes left in the game to ice the win

WOMEN'S SOCCER

"Whenever you put in as much time and effort as we've put in this season, it's pretty disheartening when it ends," said SC coach Bill Tolstedt. "The girls have a right to be disappointed, but I'm sure when the disappointment fades they'll realize what a great achievement it is to go 41-2 over two seasons."

"It would have been unsettling to lose on a penalty kick, but that last goal was a great shot, our goalie, Andrea Dunn, didn't have a chance."

SC advanced to the semi-final round on Thursday with an impressive 3-1 victory over Mesa Community College. Nicole Saigh was the star for the Ocelots, scoring the first two SC goals. Lindsey Stiver assisted on the first goal, the second was unassisted

Mesa's Ashley Hale converted a penalty kick seven minutes before the halftime intermission to make things interesting. However, Kyle LaPorte re-established SC's two-goal advantage with a goal at the 33-minute mark of the second half

A Mesa player was ejected in the second half after she injured SC's Rachel Myers with an elbow to the face. Myers was transported to the hospital with a cut at the base of her nose, but she returned to play in the semi-final game

"Mesa was a very fast, very aggressive team," Tolstedt said. "They were able to pass the ball long distances with accuracy. They had three or four good, solid chances to score, but Andrea Dunn and Meaghan Farrell made some great saves for us."

NCAA men's College Cup tourney has local flavor

BY DAN STICKRADT
STAFF WRITER

Kellen Kalso and Jordan Gruber have been friends for many years. Now, the duo will close out their college soccer careers on a high note.

In a banner season of men's soccer within the Big Ten Conference, one state school will be leading the pack — Michigan State, where Kalso and Gruber are key players. Six of the league's seven varsity teams qualified for the NCAA Division I men's soccer tournament, where first-round games will be held on Nov. 19-21 around the country.

Even as the No. 5 seed in the Big Ten Conference tournament, Michigan State won the tourney championship Nov. 14 with a 1-0 victory over Northwestern in the finals played at Michigan. Penn State, Michigan, Indiana, Northwestern and Ohio State also qualified for the NCAA with at-large bids, while Wisconsin was left on the outside looking in.

It was the first conference tournament championship in school history for MSU, who is guided by 28th-year head coach Joe Baum. MSU had lost 14 times in the tournament under Baum, the last coming in 2001 finals, when the Spartans lost to Indiana, 2-0. "It's a great way to go out," said Gruber about winning the Big Ten and qualifying for the NCAA College Cup. "This is what you shoot for."

Michigan State is led by six players from the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers' coverage area, including Gruber (Birmingham Groves), a senior forward, and Kalso (Oxford), a senior sweeper. Gruber and Kalso, along with sophomore midfielder Ryan Dick (Rochester), are all starters. Freshman midfielder Ben Pirmann (Lake Orion/Auburn Hills/Oakland Christian), junior midfielder John Kaczmarek (Plymouth/Canton) and freshman goalkeeper Chris Austin (Livonia/Franklin) come off the bench.

A seventh player, freshman midfielder Ryan Gochneaur of Medina, Ohio, actually played for two high school seasons at Rochester Adams before transferring down to Medina.

"We knew we had to win our last four or five games to get in, and at least one (win) in the Big Ten tournament," added Gruber. "We beat Indiana in the semifinals and they were the top seed. And we beat Northwestern in the finals, and they are a very good team. It wasn't an easy road."

Kalso, a former ODP national team player in high school, anchors the Spartans' backfield which has picked up six shutouts, while Gruber leads MSU with 11 goals and eight assists for 30 points, with six game-winning goals this year. Dick, who played on Rochester's Division I state championship team in 2002, is an outside midfielder who has one assist this season.

Kalso, a four-year starter after transferring from Indiana (he was a redshirt at IU in 2000), was named to the All-Big 10 Second Team after missing just one game in four years. Gruber is also one of the all-time leading scorers in Michigan prep history and three-year starter at MSU. Both played on MSU's NCAA team in 2001 that beat Butler (2-1) in the first round, but was eliminated by Indiana in the second round (1-0).

"We feel like we can go out and do well in the tournament this year," said Kalso. "We beat some pretty good teams to get here."

"Playing in the NCAA tournament as a senior, you can't ask for anything more," he added. "We hope to go out and have a good showing and make a run."

Off the bench, Pirmann, a four-time All State First-team selection during his prep days, has three assists. Kaczmarek has two goals and two assists, and Austin has a 1.52 goals-against-average, playing in six games with one start as the Spartans' No. 2 goalkeeper on the depth chart.

Elsewhere, Penn State (10-4-7), the No. 10 seed in the 46th annual College Cup — the top 16 schools in the 48-school field were seeded — is led by sophomore forward Simon Omekanda (Rochester Adams), Michigan's Mr. Soccer in 2002, and junior fullback Paul Omekanda (Rochester Adams), who has been injured most of the season. The Nittany Lions received a first-round bye and will play the winner of MSU and Tulsa. Michigan (10-7-4) will play at Akron, and defending national champion Indiana (14-4-1) is the No. 2 seed and awaits the winner of that contest in the second round. All second round games are Nov. 23-24.

Freshman midfielder Billy Weaver (Lake Orion) is on the Indiana roster, and junior midfielder Alexander Renzi (Rochester Adams) comes off the bench for Northwestern, which is making its first-ever NCAA appearance and is just four years removed from a winless season in 2000.

Michigan has four O&E players on its roster — senior forward Karl Lopata (Farmington) sophomore fullback Kevin Savitskie (Plymouth/Salem), sophomore midfielder Brian Popeney (Plymouth/Salem) and senior goalkeeper Joe Zawacki (Livonia/Stevenson).

Ohio State (10-6-2) played at Memphis in its first-round game.

Outside of the Big Ten, the Ohio State/Memphis winner will play at fifth-seeded Notre Dame (13-2-3) in the second round. Sophomore midfielder Nate Norman (Rochester Adams) has played in all 17 games for the Fighting Irish, collecting two goals and three assists on 24 shots on goal.

Minus goalie, SC men kickers fall in opener, 5-4

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

What could have been for the Schoolcraft College men's soccer team.

Forced to go without starting goalkeeper Liam Curran in Thursday's opener of the National Junior College Athletic Association Division I tournament in Tyler, Texas, the Ocelots were felled by Mercer County Community College (N.J.), 5-4.

On Friday, Schoolcraft bounced back with a 3-2 overtime win over Community College of Baltimore County-Catonsville.

The Ocelots (11-9) will face defending champion NJCAA Yavapai (Ariz.), 22-2 overall and the top seed, for fourth place this morning. (Georgia Perimeter upset Yavapai in first round, 3-2.)

Curran had to sit out after being red-carded for a dangerous tackle in a 2-1 overtime victory over host Lewis & Clark (Ill.) in the Central District championship last Sunday. That forced Lew Trapp (Plymouth Christian Academy), normally SC's starting midfielder to go into net.

"It was tough to get them going, they were crushed," said SC coach Dominic Scicluna of the quarterfinal loss. "We lost to them barely with Liam out of net. But we still have that invisible bond."

Rod Aslam figured in all three Schoolcraft goals in the win over Catonsville.

He set up Danny Dragoi (Westland/John Glenn) to make it 1-1 in the second half and then scored unassisted in regulation to give the Ocelots a 2-1 lead before Catonsville tied it with 20 minutes left in regulation.

Richard Godfrey then scored the game-winner with four minutes to go in the first 10-minute OT.

Against Mercer on a soggy and slippery field, Rob Marinkoski scored a pair of goals, while Godfrey added one goal and one assist. Jamie Miller (Livonia/Stevenson) had the other Schoolcraft goal. Other assists went to Shannon Cole, Dragoi and Brian Stephens.

Mercer's Roy Sharaby scored the game-winner with only 12 minutes remaining in regulation from his twin brother Shay as Mercer improved to 18-1-1 overall.

Travis McKoy and Marcus Price each scored two goals for Mercer, who trailed 3-2 at halftime.

U.S. Bowling Congress ready for action

On Jan. 1, the United States Bowling Congress will become a reality

Through a gradual transition, the new organization will replace the American Bowling Congress, the Women's International Bowling Congress, the Young American Bowling Alliance and USA Bowling

The former organizations will retain some of their previous identities in tournaments, awards and certain events. Of more importance is the local effect on our leagues and houses.

There will be mergers among the local organizations which have been providing service and information to the bowlers. Some meetings have already taken place to plan for such mergers even though there appears to be some question as to how this will all shake out.

There will be a whole lot of press ink coming up in the next several months on the merger subject. One of the reasons for the unification was for more operating efficiency and cost savings, another is to strengthen the ongoing efforts to get ten-pin bowling into the Olympics.

The problem with getting bowling accepted into the Olympics is that this sport is much too honest. Either the pin fell down or it didn't. There is no judgment call, there are no referees and no umpires or judges as in most other sports. Was it fair or foul? Who hit the other guy illegally? Did the race have a false start? Who had the best form, as one judge had a 6-3 and another had awarded a 9-7 for the same person? And then there are performance enhancing drugs.

Maybe that's just what bowling needs to make it into the Olympics. Bowlers don't just score, but they're judged on form as well. How about the correct armswing, steps, release and follow through.

Then there is the after-delivery form to be considered. Can you spin twice without crossing the foul line? How about a raised fist for making a good shot? There are all kinds of things a bowler could do to embellish his or her score after the ball has been released.

We have all seen bowlers who can 'run-out' their shot, crossing over the next five lanes, and let's just see what that could add to those style points.

Marshall Holman and Pete Weber come to mind when it involves style after the shot. Compared to other sports, yes, bowling should be in the Olympics. It is played in almost every country and under standard rules, equipment and conditions.

It is not necessary to be bigger than your opponent. Size offers virtually no advantage in bowling as compared to most other sports. Bowling success depends mostly on an individual's skill, dedication, training, ability to focus and a strong determination to win. Okay, everybody, start working on that form. ■ Last Sunday's Greater

Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame Dinner was a huge success with the induction of Jeanne Gebbia, Troy resident Tony DaDeppo, Ray Williams who is now a Californian and came back to receive his honors, Detroit's Myrtha Cooper and Ferndale's Paul Stuart, who received the Bowling Centers Industry Award. He is the proprietor of Luxury Lanes.

Dorothy Thompson added to her many laurels by receiving the Judge John D. Watts Award for her many years of service and promotion of the sport of bowling.

The Thomas McKay Award had two recipients, George Zamea and the late Dan Ottman of Troy who passed away a few months ago. Ottman's mother was present to accept the award and to say some very heartfelt words about this man, whose entire life was dedicated to bowling and who left his mark in so many ways.

Al Harrison is a resident of Livonia and a director of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association. He can be reached at (248) 477-1839.

Charities give thanks for help

Making the rounds of nonprofit organizations this holiday season, I expected to hear the need is great. What came as a surprise was the gratefulness for donations from residents in the community.

While Audrey Mattson of Ja Noah House in Livonia was quick to mention the poor and homeless need gloves, hats and scarves, she just as quickly gave thanks for blankets and socks donated last year. This year many organizations are asking for clothes, food, disposable diapers, toys.

Mattson together with husband Carl will serve 120 turkey dinners out of their motor home on Thursday. As yet they do not have any donations. Once Thanksgiving is over they'll rush to fill wish lists for kids in the Brewster projects, Brightmoor, Cass Corridor, and Norwayne area in Westland. To help, call (734) 522-5077.

We're just so thankful for anything, said Mattson. We've been doing this 15 years in May. People keep giving and people keep needing.

FIRST STEP

Now more than ever women and children are fleeing abusive homes, according to Judy Ellis, director of First Step based in Plymouth. Associate director Mary Jane Hood is setting aside that fact for the moment to enjoy a season when people open their hearts. For their wish list, call (734) 416 1111.

It's really exciting to see everybody getting on the band wagon. People saying I have enough and want to share, said Mary Jane Hood, who's currently accepting donations for Thanksgiving and signing up those who'd like to adopt a family.

COTS

Thanks to the generosity of sponsors last year, 60 families were adopted through COTS, a temporary shelter for homeless in the Cass Corridor. The nonprofit provides sponsors with ages of children and a wish list. If you don't have time to shop for an entire family, how about one child? The Santa Shop needs new toys. To help, call Robyn Smith at (313) 831-3777, ext 223.

CAPUCHIN SOUP KITCHEN

Brother Vincent Reyes will feed more families at the Capuchin Soup Kitchen this Thanksgiving than last. Not something he expected as the soup kitchen is about to celebrate the 75th anniversary of its founding in 1929 at the beginning of the Great Depression.

For those who'd like to find out more about what the soup kitchen does, the Conner kitchen will have an open house 1-4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5. It's a busy time at both soup kitchens. In addition to feeding and clothing the hungry, Reyes and volunteers will soon pass out over 17,000 new toys, as yet to be donated. To help, call (313) 579 2100 ext 203.

We're not seeing any less children, said Brother Vincent Reyes, the pastoral director who works out of the Meldrum kitchen. Sister Nancyann Turner has a few ideas of her own on ways people can help. The Livonia nun runs tutoring and art programs at the Conner kitchen. To help, call (313) 822 8606 ext 210.

Make the holiday season a little brighter for someone else by purchasing greeting cards or gift items to help your favorite charities. Several of the organizations such as Seedlings Braille Books For Children offer a special way to show you care. For a $10 tax deductible donation, a family member or friend will receive a card saying a book will be inscribed in their name. According to community outreach director Susan Bresler, less than 1 percent of books available for children in print are available for children in Braille.

"We could not do what we do without our books being subsidized," said Bresler. "If blind children do not have access to popular books, they can't read. We increase literacy for blind children by making low cost books available."

"Blind parents also appreciate our books - Brown Bear, Brown Bear and Goodnight Moon, The Little Engine That Could is having a comeback. For children any books they can touch and feel are popular because they have other things to touch besides the Braille."

The Alzheimer's Association has nine holiday cards available. Forty percent of the sale of cards goes directly to the association.

The cards are in boxed sets of 25 and priced between $30 and $37.50, and can be viewed and ordered on the Web site at www.alzgm.org. The Greater Michigan Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association is based locally in Southfield. For more information, call Marilyn Jacobson at (248) 351-0280, ext 259.

The Rochester Hills organization, dedicated to children with Down syndrome, offers a package of 15 cards. Each package contains three cards each of four different images, as well as three bonus cards of the limited edition "Baby boy with candy cane." Images are in the style of hand-painted photographs. A pack costs $15. To order, visit www.bandofangels.com on the Internet or call (800) 963-2237.

The Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan offers eight cards featuring designs from CLF patients. Cards are in packages of 20 for $20.

They can be imprinted with a personal message for an additional charge.

Cards can be bought via phone (800) 825-2536, fax, online or at the CLF office, 29777 Telegraph Road, Suite 1651, Southfield, MI 48034. Visit leukemiamichigan.org.

CLF is an independent statewide organization providing information, financial assistance and emotional support to adults and children affected by leukemia, lymphoma and related blood disorders.

Offers two card designs to help orphans in Africa. Cost is $5 for pack of four cards with two of each design, 100 percent of proceeds go directly to the children.

Global Hope Project runs a village in Malawi that feeds, clothes, shelters, educates and takes care of the health of children orphaned by the AIDS epidemic.

Call (248) 722-4186 or send e-mail to globalhopecards@umich.edu. For more information, visit www.the-globalhopeproject.com.

Green

Cards feature a photograph of the Shaw House Doör by Livonia lensman Larry Diggs (20 for $16), or a painting of Hill House in the Snow by Livonia artist Bob Perrish (10 for $10). Proceeds from card sales are used to continue the work of preserving historic Greenmead. Call (248) 477 7375.

Offers 12 cards in four designs created by young people affiliated with LSSM. Proceeds support services for children and families, senior adults and persons with disabilities throughout Lower Michigan. $12 per package. Call (313) 823-7700 or order on the Web site, www.LSSM.org.

The nonprofit organization offers an array of greeting cards (some designed by children who are Make-A-Wish recipients) and keepsake memorabilia including giving certificates available for $5 each or 12 for $50. 10 cards cost $10.

or for $20 give a Send a Wish card that helps grant a child's wish. Make-A-Wish makes wishes come true for children with life-threatening conditions. Call (800) 622-WISH or visit the Web site at www.wishmich.org.

Star Struck

(Nov 21-Nov 24)
By Dennis Fairchild

ARIES (March 21-April 20)

With so many irons in the fire, Ram, it's a pity to give to caution you that the financial outlook is anything but rosy right now. On the other hand, you'll have everything you could possibly need once you tell certain individuals to grow up and fend for themselves - sooner not later!

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)

The Sun now passing through your opposite sign may be bringing problems of an intensely personal nature to a head. However, after countless unproductive discussions over finances, you are finally holding an unusual number of trump cards and are in a position to speed things along.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)

You're unlikely to see to eye with colleagues while the dynamic planet Uranus is crossing an important angle of your solar chart. However, stick to the course you've chosen and stay true to your principles, because it won't be long before you get a chance to turn the tables.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)

Each stage of life confronts one with new challenges. And if you're typical of your birth sign, then you now realize that the kind of personal satisfaction or professional recognition you seek can only be found in a different environment or people. Switch gears, MoonKid!

LEO (July 24-Aug 23)

Having streamlined your affairs and put relationships on a firmer footing, long standing arrangements can now be tackled with confidence. A decisive aspect between the Moon and Sun this week will be all it takes to get you thinking and moving in a new direction.

VIRGO (Aug 24-Sept 23)

Adapting to change is seldom easy for a Virgo - there simply has to be order. However, planetary activity now through Thanksgiving signifies you will come to realize that changes are gifts announcing your willingness to give others the chance to provide what you seek.

LIBRA (Sept 24-Oct 23)

Good gosh - is it holiday time already? Something at home will demand all your attention this week, and if you're wise, you'll not try to wiggle out of what is expected of you. Your freedom may be precious to you, but you also have obligations to others.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)

Although recent developments have left many Scorpios bewildered, don't lament what might have been. After the Sun changes signs on the 21st, you'll no longer feel quite so neglected. New opportunities are about to arrive, and you must be ready to take advantage of them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21)

To be born under the sign of Archer is to be as straight as an arrow and brutally honest. Therefore, in spite of current emotional difficulties, you must make a number of decisive moves this week and set the record straight. For a while now, you've been moving in the wrong direction. "Fess up, kiddo!"

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 21)

A series of spectacular planetary aspects now urges you to back your own instincts to the limit and not allow others' mood swings to make you go against your better judgment. If you've decided to move on, then it can only be because the time is right for you to broaden your horizons.

AQUARIUS (Jan 22-Feb 19)

Since late summer you've been urged to find the speck of gold in the sand (as tedious as it's been). Now, it should be staring you in the face. In fact, the Moon in your sign next weekend says that the time has come to concentrate only on what affects your long term happiness.

PISCES (Feb 20-March 20)

You seem to be smarting from last week's put downs, and unfortunately, this coming days with the Moon and ruling planet aspects signify that a make or break situation in one very special tie is about to take place. However, the ball is no longer in your court, and you must learn to accept the things you simply cannot change.

Giving and receiving equally is important

Q I have been in a relationship for three years. I know this may sound strange, but I am getting more from my partner than I am giving to him or the relationship and it makes me feel uncomfortable. Is this normal?

Relationship reciprocity is when emotions and behaviors are exchanged relatively equally in a relationship. Reciprocity is very important to how satisfied people are in their relationships. Studies show that we look for reciprocity in four areas of our relationship. We value equal exchange in communication, time spent thinking about the relationship, self-disclosure and time spent with the partner. All relationships have ebbs and flows where one partner is more involved or invested than the other, but in general we evaluate this balance over the long haul.

We may think that it would be nice to be in a relationship where our partner is more invested in the relationship (emotionally and behaviorally) than we are, but studies find that it is actually very uncomfortable to get more than we give to our partners on a regular consistent basis. Psychologists have argued for quite some time that we like balance in our relationships, so when we think we are over benefited (we receive more than we give to the relationship) we feel guilty, and when we think we are under benefited (we give more than we get out of the relationship) we feel sadness or anger. Both are unpleasant feelings. Thus, the uncomfortable feeling in your three-year relationship is not uncommon at all.

If you would like to continue the relationship, you need to

All relationships have ebbs and flows where one partner is more involved or invested than the other, but in general we evaluate this balance over the long haul.

think about areas where you can become more involved and invested in your relationship.

1. Make a note to think or call your partner on a regular daily basis.
2. Be sure to communicate or talk to your partner in relationship terms (use terms such as "we" and "us" rather than "I").
3. Share more about what you think about and do during your day with your partner. When you have a problem at work, home or with family, let your partner know.
4. Make an effort to spend more time with your partner.

There are two questions you can ask yourself to find out whether there is reciprocity in your relationship.

1. On a scale from 0-10, where 10=a lot and 0=not at all, how much time and effort do you put into your relationship?
2. On a scale from 0-10, where 10=a lot and 0=not at all, how much time does your partner put into your relationship?

To find your score, subtract your answers from each other. Scores can range from 0-10. The lower the score, the greater reciprocity in your relationship.

Twins, triplets and quadruplets sought for fun activities

The New Detroit Science Center and Pfizer will host Multiples Day on Sunday, Nov. 21. All twins, triplets and quadruple siblings are invited to attend a day of fun activities and give-aways, just for multiples. All multiples visiting the Science Center on multiple day will receive "buy one get one free" general admission and special exhibit admission to "Genome: The Secret of How Life Works."

Special activities for multiples will take place 2-6 p.m. and will include A Tree of Genetic Traits, where you can test your traits and see how you compare to your sibling and other multiples, free puzzles, courtesy of Pfizer, free cookies and more. Visitors can also enjoy daily science shows with brilliant demonstrations and devices, four lively laboratories with hands-on exhibits, SBC Children's gallery where small hands can discover science, Dassault Systemes Planetarium that lets you travel the universe, and IMAX® Dome Theatre taking you to places only imagined. "Genome: The Secret of How Life Works," made possible by Pfizer Inc., explores the nature, history of discovery, and impact of genes through interactive, family-oriented hands-on exhibits. Visitors will uncover some of the mysteries of genes, why the human genome (a person's entire set of genes) was mapped, and the potential benefits of gene research, including preventing and curing diseases, living longer, solving crimes, and producing better food and drugs. Visitors to the exhibit can explore a 25-foot-long model of a double helix while gaining a quick understanding of the basics of DNA.

Genome: The Secret of How Life Works will be on display through Dec. 23 at the center, 5020 John R. just down the street from the Detroit Institute of Arts in the University Cultural Center. Admission to the exhibit is free for Science Center members, 3$ for adults and 2$ for children 2 and up and seniors. “At Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, we’re committed to helping our members live longer and live better. As the Blues’ Health and Fitness Advocate, I enjoy the chance to tell you about the many programs and services the Blues offer that can help us get healthy and stay healthy, and help keep quality health care affordable.”

When it comes to your health, it’s good to have connections.

When a medical condition suddenly changes your life, sometimes it’s hard to know just where to turn or what to do. That’s why we introduced BlueHealthConnection®—our personalized health management program that offers a variety of ways to help our members take charge of their health care

It offers a wealth of resources they need to navigate through health problems and lead better lives. Including access to professional nurses who can offer health education, tips, and hope. With BlueHealthConnection, you’re always just a phone call away from sound information, the kind you can use to make the best health care decisions for you and your family.

Saving money with generic drugs is an easy pill to swallow.

One of the ways Blue Cross is helping our members save out-of-pocket expenses is by urging everyone to get the facts about generic drugs. The FDA requires generic drugs to meet the same standards for strength, purity and quality, and to contain the same active ingredients as the brand-name drugs

Which means that generics give you the same therapeutic effects—for less. To date, Blues members have saved more than $15 million in out-of-pocket costs due to lower copays for generics. There are times when a generic equivalent is not available. But choosing a generic when possible can help hold down rising health care costs—and can add up to extra money in your pocket. To learn more about what generics can do for you, visit our Web site at www.theunadvertisedbrand.com

WalkingWorksSM for us all.

Walking is the simple way to improve your health. Just three to five times a week for 30 minutes can make a big difference in your overall fitness and well-being. With the Blues’ WalkingWorks program, we give our members a simple, easy and fun way to get the aerobic exercise needed for good health, with little risk of injury. It’s a step we’re glad to take to help folks live better—and help keep health care affordable for us all.

Think of it as play-by-play for healthier living.

Look for Ernie’s column each week in this newspaper.

For easy-to-follow advice on staying healthy, look for “Take It From Ernie.” This column, sponsored by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, brings you words of wisdom from Hall of Fame broadcaster Ernie Harwell.

Each week, Ernie highlights simple steps we can all take to improve our health and our quality of life. You’ll find entertaining information on the benefits of walking, the value of using less expensive generic drugs and simple ways to stay healthy and fit. And nobody’s a better example than Ernie himself, Blue Cross Blue Shield’s Health and Fitness Advocate, who makes healthy choices and exercises every day at 86 years of age.

So read “Take It From Ernie,” and as Ernie says, “Take care of your health before it’s longgggg gone.”

The truth about regular physical activity – at any age.

By Ernie Harwell

While it’s not uncommon for some adults to think they’re either too old or too frail to exercise, nothing could be further from the truth. Regular physical activity brings health benefits and greater well-being at any age.

Regular physical activity helps improve muscle strength, stamina, balance, joint mobility, flexibility, agility, overall physical coordination, metabolism, blood pressure, weight control, even the treatment and prevention of heart disease. It also helps slow bone loss and lowers the risk of developing adult onset diabetes. It even improves your mood.

Of course, I recommend three simple rules for regular physical activity in life’s later innings. Have a physician on your team, take a lot of intentional walks and remember that, as Yogi Berra is fond of saying, “It ain’t over ‘til it’s over.”

And please remember to take care of your health before it’s longgggg gone!

Ernie Harwell, “the voice of the Detroit Tigers” for more than four decades, retired after 54 years behind a major league microphone. Today, at age 86, Ernie’s days are filled with serving as a health and fitness advocate for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, public appearances, writing, traveling and taking long walks with “Miss Lulu,” his wife of more than 60 years. His latest book, a collection of his baseball columns titled “Life After Baseball,” is available at bookstores or by calling 1-800-245-5082.

Smoking: Try to quit

When I was an announcer for the New York Giants baseball team in the early 1950s, we did three live commercials for a cigarette sponsor per game. We'd memorize the commercials while the game was going on. Then they'd turn the camera on us and we'd hold up a pack of cigarettes and tell people how good they were. In fact, they even sent me around to the hospitals. I'd go to a cancer unit and give the guys cigarettes! Can you imagine that?

We've certainly come a long way in our understanding of smoking and the danger it poses to our health. Of course, we now know that smoking is linked to cancer, heart disease and a host of other serious health problems.

Fortunately, we also know that no matter how long you've been smoking, stopping has immediate positive health effects. For instance, did you know that within 24 hours of not smoking, a person's blood pressure is lower, oxygen in the blood is increased, and that person's risk of heart attack is decreased? Not to mention the long-term benefits of quitting.

If you're one of those people who hasn't been able to kick the smoking habit, I want to encourage you to keep trying. The stakes are high and it's never too late.

And remember to take care of your health before it's lonnnnggg gone!

Nuts more than a tasty snack alternative

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Instead of eating chips at this year's holiday gathering, it might be better for your heart to reach for the almonds, pistachios and walnuts. Darlene Zimmerman believes in the benefits of eating nuts. A registered dietitian for Henry Ford Hospital's Heart Smart nutrition education program, Zimmerman teaches cardiac rehab patients about healthy eating once a week at the Henry Ford Heart and Vascular Institute in Livonia. "The 1997 study of Seventh Day Adventists found people who ate nuts five times a week cut their risk of heart attack in half compared to those who ate nuts less than once a week," said Zimmerman. "I later saw studies with large groups of people that showed benefits of eating nuts. The heart benefits they're finding are kind of amazing

"Then in July 2003, the FDA approved a health claim for most nuts - an almond seller could put scientific evidence suggests but does not prove that eating 1 1/2 ounces per day of most nuts as part of a diet low in saturated fat and cholesterol may reduce the risk of heart disease." It takes a lot for the FDA to approve a health claim but the only nuts that can make that claim are almonds, hazelnuts, pecans, pistachios, walnuts and peanuts."

AMINO ACID

So what makes nuts heart healthy? One of the reasons is thought to be the presence of arginine, the amino acid needed to make a molecule in the body that relaxes constricted blood vessels, eases the flow of blood, and makes blood platelets less sticky and less likely to form clots. Nuts also contain vitamin E, potassium and fiber, all necessary to a healthy heart. Peanuts contain the phytochemical resveratrol that studies show may promote healthy cholesterol levels, shield cells from damage and curb tumor growth

"Maybe it isn't just one thing but a combination that work together to help," said Zimmerman.

"I do recommend nuts as part of a Heart Smart program. It can be one small piece in the fight against heart disease. I tell them to enjoy a little handful, 1/3 cup or 1 1/2 ounces. Where they might get into trouble is if we think about adding it to the diet without subtracting something else. It's a great alternative. Yes, there is fat but it's a healthy fat."

Nuts offer a satiety factor as well. Zimmerman plans to fill bowls with nuts in and out of the shell for the family Christmas gathering this year.

"They may be more satisfying than pretzels or chips," said Zimmerman. "In potato chips you're not going to find fiber to do that. Nuts are nutrient dense for the calories you're eating as opposed to a candy bar or potato chips and if you get them in the shell you may not eat as many."

Nick Nicolay's philosophy is, "If God made the nut it can't be all bad," and probably is more good, but then as owner of Kar's Nuts in Ferndale he definitely is an advocate of the tasty treat.

"People have been eating nuts for thousands of years, before they were eating meat," said Nicolay, a Birmingham resident who's worked at Kar's since his father bought the busi-

from the Karpe family in 1967. Today, he's president and CEO. In the early days through 1990 nuts were a four-letter word because of the fat content then the almond and pistachio growers and peanut shellers in the mid- to late '90s started to employ universities to do studies."

Nicolay suggests visiting almond-sarein.org and peanut-institute.org to read summaries of research that's been done to date.

"Roasted and salted pistachios are very popular at this time of year and good from a nutritional standpoint," said Nicolay. "We put out pistachios, cashews and mixed nuts. A two-ounce serving of nuts will fill you up and help you avoid eating a lot of high carb snacks that don't have the same nutritional value attached to it. If you look at nutritional charts there's not a lot of nutritional difference in an oil roasted or dry roasted nut that's

STRESS FRACTURES
When a physician tells you that your pain comes from a stress fracture what he is saying is a small crack has occurred in your bone. The term stress means that the bone gave way to a point where the force on the bone was greater than the bone could take.
The most common place for a stress fracture to occur is in the low back at the 5th lumbar vertebrae. That is where the weight of the body comes to rest on the pelvis. The forces on the 5th vertebrae being multiplied by any turning or bending of the body.
The pain of a stress fracture is intense though the fracture itself is small. It is so slight that x-rays of the back will not reveal the break. Your doctor must order a MRI or CT scan to obtain imaging proof of the fracture that is rarely needed. The sudden and intense pain, made worse by sitting and standing, not radiating and relieved by lying down, identifies that you experienced a stress fracture.
Your doctor can do little to treat the fracture. Time is the only healer. You can take medication for pain, but narcotics tend to cause dizziness and loss of equilibrium more than stop pain. To prevent further stress fractures, your doctor will prescribe calcium and a bisphosphonate such as Actonel or Fosamax, which halts bone loss. Presently a new medication, Forteo, which you need to inject daily, holds promise of being an effective drug. Forteo helps the body grow new bone that ultimately is the best way to prevent future stress fractures.

assuming it's not cooked in a hydrogenated oil. We use a peanut oil and eliminate the whole trans fat issue.

"But it's everything in moderation. It's pretty hard not to eat nuts around here. That's been a change for me. I've gone to a low carb, high protein diet and my cholesterol has gone down. I replaced refined carbohydrates with nuts."

Peanuts, cashews and almonds are top choices for Nicolay, his wife, Dana, and children Sarah, 19, and Peter, 16, who eat a lot of nuts and snack mixes on a regular basis.

DOC'S A FAN

Cardiologist Stephen Smith prefers peanuts for lunch just because he likes them. Dr. Smith encourages his patients at Henry Ford Hospital to eat a healthful diet that may or may not include nuts. He says it's more important to control body weight and exercise.

"You can find various food advocates but exercise, diet is most important to achieving ideal body weight," said Smith, who lives in Birmingham. "The focus is on calories and exercise. People who regularly exercise have a longer life and more quality of life. You want to live well for as long as you can." A runner, Smith recently suffered a knee injury but continues working out on elliptical machines, cross training and lifting weights.

"Staying fit is something that pays off every day you do it and in the long run," said Smith. "As far as restricting calories for me it's all about numbers - calories in, calories out. Keep your diet balanced and eat throughout the day, and exercise. There are very few people, even those with heart conditions, who couldn't benefit from physical conditioning."

As back yards become a focal point for relaxing and entertaining, homeowners are enhancing the back of their home with shutters, headers and other exterior decorative trim products

Decorative trim enhances outdoor living

(MS) - When it comes to enhancing their homes exterior, homeowners are putting their best face backward. Back yards have become the newest focal point of the home, meeting a range of needs from entertaining to recreation and personal relaxation. Improved outdoor spaces serve as a canvas for personal expression on a home. Features like ponds, pools, fountains, fireplaces, grilling centers and hot tubs have become the hallmark of today's well appointed yard.

It's no wonder that homeowners are dressing up the back of their home with architectural details formerly reserved for the front. Features such as shutters, window headers, door surrounds and dentil trim give residents and guests an aesthetically pleasing perspective from all vantage points.

According to Roan DeVero of Mid-America Building Products, decorative exterior trim use is growing as people strive to distinguish their home from their neighbors. Especially in newer developments with similar-style homes, using color with trim can make one house distinct from another, he says.

Decorative exterior trim products are available in a range of colors, styles and sizes. Popular options in decorative exterior trim include:

■ Windows - At one time, shutters served two primary functional roles - to provide security and reduce the effects of inclement weather. Today, shutters have a primarily decorative role. Different styles convey contemporary, traditional or rustic feels. Want to add a splash of color? Shutters can help do that also. Shutters can match house trim, add a complementary color or go wild with a paintable surface. For that final architectural detail, finish off windows with window headers or sunbursts.

■ Doors - The door to the back yard may be the most-used entrance. That's why it should look as warm and welcoming as the front door. If the door to the deck or patio looks like an afterthought, consider a door surround. A door surround 'frames' a door, with pilasters that run vertically on each side and a header that runs horizontally along the top of the door.

■ Walls - Custom opportunities don't stop with windows and doors. Dentil trim adds architectural interest to rooflines. Square-tooth or scalloped profiles are among the most popular options.

Mid-America's products are available through local remodeling contractors and builders.

Avoid costly repairs with routine home maintenance

BY JOHN F. MALONEY
CORRESPONDENT

Like many other professional remodelers, I'm very familiar with what happens over time when routine maintenance is not performed by homeowners. While lots of people rely on remodelers to update a home's features, many remodeling projects are also undertaken to fix problems that could have been minimized or prevented through proper routine home care. Whether you just moved into a brand new home, or have lived in your home for years, these routine maintenance tips might save off costly repairs down the road.

New homeowners generally receive a warranty from their builder on workmanship and materials. This warranty applies to problems related to the construction of the home, but it does not apply to problems that arise because of failure to perform routine maintenance. For example, if your Maloney a problem because water backed up in clogged gutters that you should have cleaned, the builder is not responsible for repairs. You should fully familiarize yourself with the terms of your warranty soon after you move into your new home. Some items, such as appliances, may be covered by manufacturers' warranties and are not the responsibility of the builder. Observe the recommended cleaning and maintenance schedules that are found in your appliance manuals. A warranty may be void if you don't follow these recommendations.

On the outside of your home, keep gutters and downspouts free of leaves and other objects. Make sure your downspouts are always turned away from your home's foundation to insure proper drainage. Altering the grade on your landscaping can also impede drainage. When you install trees, shrubs and other landscape features, always double check that the grade slopes away from your home's foundation.

EXTERIOR

The exterior of your house is built to withstand exposure to the elements, but a periodic cleaning will improve the appearance, and in many instances, prolong the life of siding and other exterior products such as decks and shutters. Check the caulking around windows and doors, and re-caulk if you note any voids or shrinkage.

If you have an asphalt driveway, remove oil, gasoline and similar substances immediately with soapy water. To avoid depressions in your asphalt driveway, refrain from resting sharp objects on it in warm weather. In the winter, use salt sparingly as it can damage concrete driveway surfaces and landscaping. Never burn anything on an asphalt driveway, and make sure that barbecues and portable wood burners are high enough off the ground to prevent heat buildup that can cause your asphalt sealer to melt.

Important preventative maintenance is also necessary on the inside of your home. For example, you should inspect your home's heating and cooling systems at least annually. Late summer and early fall are ideal times for an inspection. Change the filters on these systems as recommended. Vacuum your air ducts periodically to prevent buildup of dust and debris and make sure that you do not obstruct heat supplies or cold air returns by placing objects in front of, or over them.

Test smoke detectors, carbon monoxide detectors, and fire extinguishers periodically. Fire extinguishers do lose their effectiveness over time and must be recharged or replaced.

Know where utility shut-offs (gas, water and electric) for your home are located. Items such as sinks, washing machines, and toilets also have shut-off valves. In case of a leak, when you need to act quickly, knowing where shut-offs are located can be critical. If any of your sinks leak, inspect your drain trap. A partially clogged drain can cause overflow. Use a plunger, plumber's snake, or boiling water to unclog drains.

Preventative maintenance can save you time and money and protect your investment. For more information about taking care of your new home, visit the Web site of the National Association of Home Builders at www.NAHB.org

Repair cracked walls in a few hours

(NAPSI) - There are easy ways to repair the cracks that can form in a home's plaster and drywall. In fact, the typical repair project requires only a few hours to complete using inexpensive materials.

Try these tips for patching small to medium-sized cracks in plaster and drywall. They come from experts at United States Gypsum Company, a leading manufacturer of gypsum board and plaster products.

■ Prep the area - For plaster walls, begin by pushing against the crack to determine how soft the surrounding wall area is. Remove any loose material with a screwdriver and then clean the area with a slightly dampened paintbrush or sponge.

■ Gather materials - You'll need a utility knife, two drywall knives - one that's four to six inches wide and one that's eight to 10 inches wide, paper joint tape for wider cracks, a ready-mixed or powdered joint compound, safety goggles and a dust mask, and either a fine, 150-grade sandpaper or a sponge.

■ First coat - Fine to small drywall and plaster cracks require only one application of joint compound, while deeper cracks require two or more coats of compound. Using the four- to six-inch-wide putty knife, apply a generous amount of joint compound over the crack. Angle the knife to force compound into the crack and then smooth it out. Let the compound dry completely before sanding or applying additional coats (for deeper cracks).

Smooth the surface once the wall is completely dry. Lightly smooth the edges of the repaired area with fine sandpaper or a damp sponge.

■ Reinforce - Deeper or wider cracks need to be reinforced with paper joint tape.

Apply a thin coat of compound over the crack. Then embed a strip of paper joint tape into the compound to bridge the crack. Draw a knife firmly over the crack to tightly embed the tape. Let the coat dry completely.

■ More compound - Apply a coat of joint compound over the tape to level the repair. Then apply a generous amount of compound with a drywall knife and smooth and feather the compound out along the edges of the repaired area. Let the repair harden and apply another coat of compound, if necessary.

■ Finish - Smooth the surface once the wall is completely dry. Lightly smooth the edges of the repaired area with fine sandpaper or a damp sponge.

Prime the patched area with a high-quality primer or a flat wall paint. Wait until the primer dries completely before applying a new coat of paint.

To obtain a free step-by-step guide detailing how to install, finish and repair drywall, contact United States Gypsum Company, 125 S. Franklin St., Chicago, IL 60606-4678, call (800) USG-4YOU or visit www.usg.com and request installation guide J371.

Thomas Ervin
Let's Talk About Real Estate

"THE INVISIBLE SELLER"
 If you want to maximize the chances to sell your home, you must become the invisible seller. Over the past twenty years, I have witnessed many showings that have been sabotaged by an overanxious seller. When you have your home listed with a Realtor®, you should allow the agent to conduct the tour while you remain available for any questions that may be directed your way. Sellers often feel that their home will not get a thorough review unless the buyers are personally escorted by the seller. As understandable as that is, it should be avoided for the following reasons:

TOO MUCH INTIMIDATION
 Most buyers don't feel comfortable with a tour of the house that is personally conducted by the owner. Because the seller obviously takes pride in the house, the buyer is hesitant to criticize or communicate openly. Buyers like to stroll around the house at their own pace rather than being dragged along by an aggressive seller. Because of this pressurized uncomfortable atmosphere, the average buyer will want to escape as soon as possible, thus resulting in a failed showing.

ALL BUYERS ARE DIFFERENT
 Although the sellers know all the features of their homes, they don't know the approach that is best with each buyer. The Realtor®, who has been working with the buyers for a while, better understands the personalities of the buyers. Some buyers want to hear all the reasons why they should consider a certain home while others prefer to make their own analysis. This fact is often confusing to a seller who watches buyers walk through their home without hearing the Realtor® give a lot of descriptive information. As frustrating as this may be for the seller, the Realtor® knows how to best relate to the buyers.

There is also another danger. The personality of the buyers and sellers may conflict with each other. Many sales have been lost over the years because of the emotions of both parties. A Realtor® serve as a buffer who can keep the sale moving in the right direction.
ADVICE: Let the Realtor® conduct the showing. Become the invisible seller.

Town & Country Cedar Homes nails awards at dinner

Town & Country Cedar Homes won two top prizes in a recent Detroit Home Design Award competition. First-place honors for Best Michigan Vacation Log Home, and Best Deck, Patio and Outdoor Architectural Elements were accepted by Michael and Beverly Moceris of Michael Moceris Design Build, on behalf of Town & Country Cedar Homes.

these awards represent the quality and dedication of our Town & Country Cedar Homes family nationwide. HGTV personality Joan Kohn emceed the dinner, and contest judging was done by a broad range of panelists from throughout the country. They included design critics, professors, magazine editors, HGTV hosts and executive producers.

The Moceris, well-known Novi-based builders, have a Town & Country Cedar Homes Region Design Studio, and represented the company at the awards dinner held at the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham.

The best log home award was for a home built for Jim and Darlyn Daratony of Dexter along Lake Michigan on Michigan's Leelanau Peninsula. The Daratony's use the home as a vacation getaway and it's snugly situated adjacent to an area rife with that coastlines fabled sand dunes.

The event recognized metro Detroit's outstanding architects, designers, builders and artisans.

In the best outdoor architectural elements category, the winning home was the residence of J.B. and Allison Davies of Birmingham. The Davies' home is on Walloon Lake, between Boyne City and Petoskey. One of its unusual features is an outdoor great room in the form of a covered porch that has a truss and purlin roof system and field-stone fireplace.

Over 50 awards were presented to the award dinner's 325 attendees, and were selected from some 400 entrants in a variety of categories. "We're honored by these awards," said Stephen Biggs, company president. "Being recognized by your professional peers is the highest praise and

Spacious Elmwood invites gracious living

The Elmwood, a ranch styled home, has broken with tradition and has brick on the outside. There's a large dormer over the den and a half-moon window. To accent this half-moon window, a half-moon louver has been placed over the two garage doors.

Entering the Elmwood treats one to the feeling of open spaces and gracious living. The kitchen and nook are in the front corner, and the balance of the area is the long and wide-vaulted living room. A corner gas fireplace is in the rear. The only other outstanding part to the living room is the half-wall capped with wood trim that protects the stairs to the unfinished basement of 2,154 square feet.

The kitchen is to the right of the front door with the eating bar sticking out from the walk in corner pantry. The microwave and refrigerator run parallel to the range and oven and dishwasher. At an angle are the dual sinks with a large window over providing a view of the front yard and bathing the room in light. The nook is across the space with a door that opens into the two-car garage.

Behind a pocket door is the utility room with the washer/dryer on the left and the sink on the right. Conveniently adjacent are the two bedrooms and the full bath. Each bedroom has a wall closet and windows to bring the sunshine inside. The bath has a tub and single sink.

On the left side of the front door is a vaulted den. This vaulted room has a series of bay windows and also has the dormer overhead. There is a slope to the ceiling that adds a special touch and feel to the room.

The balance of the left side of the Elmwood is the master suite. The main suite is almost as deep as the living room and nearly as wide. It is spacious and open and would be a pleasure to decorate. It has a long walk-in closet with a full bath beside. The dual sinks and the oversized tub are open to the main suite while the shower and toilet are behind a pocket door.

This home is open and inviting. The 2,363 square feet of living space is dedicated to making a family feel there is plenty of space for everyone.

Deck your garage for holidays

(NAPSI) - One of the home's untapped areas could provide a terrific solution to the inevitable crowds and clutter that can come in with the holidays. Home organization experts offer these tips to use your garage to create a calm retreat.

Do it when decorating. Pulling out the holiday decorations can create a great time to get the garage in order. The act of digging through items accumulated over the past 12 months for holiday lights might be just the push needed to get organized. Better yet since it's the season of giving, this is a great opportunity to donate unwanted items to charity.

Look up. You may not find flying reindeer but you'll find new storage opportunities. Think vertical when storing items for maximum space. Several manufacturers offer products to create storage space on the walls.

Chill out when finding extra food storage. A great solution is adding a refrigerator to your garage. Groceries go from the car to proper storage in a snap.

The countdown is on...for the BIGGEST SAVINGS OF 2004 on select immediate move-in homes closing by December 31st... maximize your purchase power today.

ACT NOW. TIME IS RUNNING OUT.

Exuberant Leading From Where You Stand

by Mildred L. Culp

Difficult times inspire unexpected actions, often carried out with unaccustomed exuberance, writes best-selling author Kay Redfield Jamison, in "Exuberance The Passion for Life" (Knopf, $24.95) This may mean becoming inspired to lead in unaccustomed territory

"In times of adversity," Jamison writes, "inspired leadership offers energy and hope where little or none exist(s), gives a belief in the future to those who have lost it and provides a unifying spirit to a splintered populace." The exuberance behind it "carries us to places we would not otherwise go," she adds Passion drives exuberance, which is essential to leadership "Exuberant people take in the world and act upon it differently than those who are less lively and less energetically engaged." They may not already be leaders in a certain area. Jamison mentions a speech given by Theodore Roosevelt at the Sorbonne in 1910 when he was en route to Norway to receive his Nobel Peace Prize: "The credit belongs to the man in the arena, whose face is marked by dust and sweat and blood, who strives valiantly who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions who at best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly."

CHALLENGE

Leading is much more than out-performing yourself and others, much more than tossing thoughtful ideas into a hat. Personality may be extremely important in keeping a suggestion or idea alive and on track, according to John Koivisto, Army LTC at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. When an idea fully engages you, others recognize your commitment, even as you attempt to work through or overturn a roadblock. This passion -- or exuberance in Jamison's worldview -- engages others and draws them in.

Senior leaders may not always reward exuberance or passionate leading among employees. Even if your company discourages employees from becoming leaders, understanding the company's vision may well make leadership possible. For example, Koivisto says that "a factory worker driven to being a leader through process improvement (can still lead) even if his supervisor doesn't want to change things, because he's committed to building the best Chevy, Ford, Dodge that he can, and that is consistent with the intent of the bigger organization."

Existing leaders may also be threatened, regardless of age or gender (theirs or yours). Your vision of the company may be limited by where you stand in it, Koivisto says.

"I see this as a real issue in large organizations," he remarks. "For argument's sake, let's take a look at a suggestion that Private Jones submits via the Army Suggestion Program. He suggests using a spring clip instead of a cotter pin to secure the wheel hub on a 2.5-ton truck. He can get them cheaper at Bill's Hardware shop. The suggestion goes from him to the program office. From there it's routed to the supply center, then the Ordnance Center for evaluation. Well, by the time it's 'approved,' Private Jones is a Sergeant!"

CIRCUMSTANCE

Clearly, our imagined Private Jones kept on leading, even as his role was changing in the organization. When no company is as profitable as it might be, when no one is as fully engaged in the workplace as is humanly possible, when the economy twists and turns, you might ask what more you can do. Proximity to problems often foments leadership.

Koivisto suggests that you consider the direction of communication at work to determine whether self-propelled leading is welcomed. If communication "flows freely up, down and across the organization," he states, "leaders are mature and confident in themselves and their mission."

Koivisto points out that being motivated isn't enough in and of itself. That motivation must reflect the organization's deepest objectives. "Since the Army went all-volunteer in the 1970s," he notes, "we've been even more clear in communicating our mission and purpose. Today, the vast majority of young men and women who enlist 'buy in' to what our military does and the values we promote."

2005 Hummer H2 SUT: it's an absolute dream car

Advertising Feature

CA Report

Avanti NewsFeatures

Still there, in the same place I really, really, really want one of these in my driveway Now all I need to do is win the Michigan Lottery Or the Mega Millions Or something like that I wonder if I have a rich uncle somewhere that I don't know about

It's wonderful to dream, right? Still, this 2005 Hummer H2 SUT, even with its limitations because of the shorted pick-up capabilities, is an absolute dream car I would give my right arm to own one

This is a vehicle for the ages Not only is it the most commanding vehicle on the road today, it's actually fun to drive Honest. It's really fun to drive

You would think its lumbering, too big, just difficult in every sense of the word, from parking to getting it into your garage Well, it is a little challenging on the garage side

But this puppy has a ride and drive characteristic of a luxury automobile, with absolutely no awkwardness at all

Even my daughters commented on the difference Although the Hummer H2 SUT is absolutely huge, it doesn't assault your body as you drive it The ride and drive is smooth, the handling as nimble as a sports car and the comfort involved is more like a fine-tuned ultra luxury vehicle as any other around

But at $58,475, this beauty is affordable by only a chosen few

I took the Hummer up north with me, only to find that I wanted it even more Its got a nearly 10-inch ground clearance, can ford 20 inches of water in the 4 lo locked position, can tow 6,700 pounds by using the transfer case to send power to the front and rear in tough tow situation and can clear a 60 percent slope, 40-percent side slope and climb a 16-inch vertical wall Capability that isn't present in any other vehicle that can come alive with the quick flick of the wrist any where on this planet

Lets talk about power Try on a Vortec 6000 6.0-liter cast iron block engine with cast aluminum cylinder heads and sequential fuel injection mated to a 4-speed automatic that handles just about any situation without blinking a headlamp Were talking a respectable 325 horses under this hood that's more than adequate to service any need imaginable Without a groan or whimper

Anne Fracassa

Let's talk about the outside for a moment. Its distinct, yes, like no other vehicle on the road today You approach one from the opposite side of the road, and you know right away what this vehicle is all about No mistaking the styling, aggressive stance or imposition of a Hummer Its all about muscle

Its got that unique ladder type frame, box section side rails and front and rear treatment that you can't mistake The mid-section is fabricated and welded, stamped-steel and segmented to help minimize vibration for a smooth — and I mean absolutely smooth — ride This entire package screams strong, solid and totally indestructible

Yet, it's really well balanced. It doesn't overwhelm you in any way You feel one with the road, the surfaces that aren't road surfaces can actually feel like paved ones There's no difference between the two It can handle anything you throw it with ease

On the inside everything is larger than life Knobs are big enough for the largest hands — like mine — and everything is within reach of the driver The passenger can fool around with the controls, however, because they're straight on in the center instrumentation stack From the heating and cooling to the stereo options, it's easy for the front passenger to fool around with everything

You just have to slap that hand. Takes just a second to put you back into control

All the luxuries of a fine luxury vehicle are here, from leather seating surfaces that envelope your body in comfort to the mere fact that you feel so very safe and secure in every way, the Hummer H2 SUT can be all that you want it to be. And more

The starting price is around $52,000, and accessories are cheap On the standard list, you'll find all that you really need, including dual front airbags (that you can shut off the passenger side), remote key fobs with a panic button (tell me who in their right mind would mess with someone in a Hummer, thank you very much), daytime running lamps (that aren't really intrusive but very, very subtle), pass lock them deterrent system, battery rundown protection, foldable madgate, heated front seats (that are great for arthritic bones like mine), flock-flat second row seats, rear seat audio controls (that make the kids happy to control what the heck you listen to, unfortunately), leather-wrapped steering wheel that tilts to where you want it, power sliding sunroof, rear spare tire carrier, heated folding mirrors, front winch, 17-inch cast aluminum wheels and all-terrain tires

Onstar is also standard equipment, with its controls at the most bottom part of the center stack console. I think it should be a lot more up top After all, when you're in trouble, the last thing you need to do is reach around the shifter to press Onstar for help Even if it was mounted on the headliner's instrumentation area, it would help

There are a ton of accessories you can add to the Hummer H2 SUT that can make you call it your own These include a locking hard tonneau cover, an SUT bed mat, grille guard, chrome roof-rack crossbars, chrome door handles, chrome mirror caps, chrome license plate holder, mudder seat covers, custom floor mats, soft cargo carrier, portable freezer/fridge, portable DBD player and a first aid and tool kit

I don't often mention stuff like this because most manufacturers are just about the same, but the warranty information is important here. You've got a total warranty of 36,000 miles (exception is normal maintenance), which covers everything from corrosion to normal repairs And the warrantee transfers if you have the heart to sell this puppy to someone else

The Hummer H2 SUT I tested had a few options like chrome door handles and mirror caps, up level interior trim, AM/FM 6 disc CD changer, XM radio, Chrome aluminum hood handles, hood latches and fuel door with locking gas cap (what a pain to open, by the way), rubber bed mat for the rear and 17 inch chrome wheels (that are sharper than sharp could be)

You know that commereal for the diamond anniversary ring, that has a guy who screams in the middle of a European square filled with pigeons, "I love this woman!"

Well, "I love this vehicle!" No other has ever made me feel so secure, so safe, so in power of what's around me than this Hummer People on the interstate move over when I'm coming That's how commanding this vehicle is

If you can afford it, please get one. Your driving experience will never be the same No matter what.

You can reach Anne Fracassa at afracassa@aol.com

Q My sister is super stylish and also has an insatiable sweet tooth. I'm looking for a gift for the holidays that might combine the two. Am I dreaming?

KELLY'S KLICKS

Eye Candy

A Not at all and props to you for being such a thoughtful sis! Like with beauty products, half the fun of sweets is the packaging. And these days there are lots of stylish edible delights, you just have to know where to look.

One of my all time faves. The chocolate handbags created by chocochocohouse.com. Little chocolates fashioned in handbag shapes are as fun to look at as they are to eat. A great choice for the holidays is Choco's Choice, which includes two Winter Mint handbags, two Mayan handbags, two Choco's Dark Classic handbags, two Grand Marnier handbags, two Champagne handbags and two Cappuccino handbags for $35.95.

Choco's Choice delectables $35.95 @ chocochocohouse.com

Equally irresistible are the confections cooked up at bsweets.com. The company is run by four cousins, two sets of sisters, so their design palate is just as fine-tuned as their tasting palate. Their philosophy? "Any self-diagnosed problem can be treated the right way sweetly." I'll eat to that.

Chocolate Rx $24.95 @ bsweets.com

Inside of the signature pink, brown and blue-striped box you'll find chocolate-covered graham crackers, chocolate-covered pretzels, chocolate-bathed marshmallows and chocolate-covered peanut butter crunch bars. Indulge in the 12 oz. box containing 15 yummy treats for $24.95.

Next up on your trip to sugary heaven hamptonpopcorn.com. If salty sweet is your game, prepare to go into overtime. Housed in white tins with baby blue stripes (oh so very Hamptons) are kernels that will knock your argyle socks off. Choose from Caramel Corn, Chocolate Caramel Crunch, Chocolate Peanut Butter Crunch, White Chocolate Peanut Butter, Black and White Corn or Naked Chocolate. Popped to perfection, you can pick up a 1-gallon tin for $20, a 3.5-gallon tin for $45 or a 6.5-gallon tin for $65.

You'll need something to wash all of that down with and there's no better way to do that than with Serendipity 3's Frozen Hot Chocolate. You needn't be in Manhattan to enjoy this world famous treat, just head to newyorkfirst.com.

Frozen hot chocolate $26 @ newyorkfirst.com

Here you can scoop up a Frozen Hot Chocolate Gift Box, complete with two pouches (four servings) of the chocolate-cocoa blend, the restaurant's signature goblet, a souvenir spoon and straws for $26.

style scope

Aries: (March 21-April 20)

An aura of mystery surrounds Aries this week. Throw on a luxe jacket to fight the chill and maintain that saucy persona.

Taurus: (April 21-May 21)

This week is the perfect time for Taurus to team up on a project. Power it up with a tailored wool jacket that will keep you warm on those late nights on the job.

Gemini: (May 22-June 21)

Take advantage of the Arctic nights ahead and curl up with the one you love. A cozy blanket (think down or cashmere) will bring you closer while fighting the winter chill.

Cancer: (June 22-July 23)

Bundle up in a down jacket or vest, perfect for long walks, ice skating or sporting events. You'll find your match in no time. The Gap makes adorable (and affordable!) versions of both.

Leo: (July 24-Aug 23)

Before you take a single step out your door, make sure your winter footwear is up to par. Shearling and fur boots are warm, comfortable and oh-so-stylish this season.

Virgo: (Aug 24-Sept 23)

Something is missing. Perhaps you've left out a winter essential such as a glove or a chic hat? Make sure your life and winter wardrobe are complete by the end of the week.

By K at

Winter Warmth

Libra: (Sept 24-Oct 23)

Glamorous and beautiful, you are the epitome of confidence and class. Break out your finest wear at any opportunity and enjoy this heightened sense of beauty. A sequined scarf offers allure and sheen.

Scorpio: (Oct 24-Nov 22)

Energy emerges this week and allows you to follow through with exercise goals and important tasks. Bundle up in toasty fleece workout wear to carry you the extra distance.

Sagittarius: (Nov 23-Dec 21)

Don't be afraid to layer when it comes to your wardrobe this week. Practical and incredibly chic, throw wool over silk, cashmere over cotton, or fur over chiffon.

Capricorn: (Dec 22-Jan 20)

The change of the season certainly does not mean you have to change your style. Coats come in every texture, cut and color this season, so hit the stores and find exactly what your heart desires.

Aquarius: (Jan 21-Feb 19)

Why not spread some of the wealth and help make this season a little brighter for someone else? Donate coats, hats, scarves, and gloves to a local shelter or charity.

Pisces: (Feb 20-March 20)

Naturally lighthearted and laid-back, a bohemian poncho will carry you from work to play in style and warmth. Check out the Uggs Australia version in suede and shearling.

Get Arresting Eyes Easy

A true lady will flawlessly hide certain looks — those of disgust, confusion and anger. But, she will unabashedly flaunt those of the make-up kind that can turn a black V-neck into a sweltering vision of pure glamour, or a walk down the red carpet with a handsome Brit the talk of the town.

I am speaking, of course, of the smoldering dark shadow-rimmed eye, a.k.a. the Gucci-eye, or maybe now the 'Jude-Law's-new-girl-friend look.'

The trick to getting this look is all in the products. First, never choose black liners and shadows. Always go for chocolate brown or smoke grey or even deep purple or emerald — black will just never blend or wear as easily as the colors. Next, pick up Stila's Smudge Pots ($16) and a good, flat eyeliner brush to apply it.

This unique gel eyeliner and shadow in one, is an innovative alternative to traditional powder and liquid formulas.

The product can be applied with a liner brush for precision or smudged with your fingers for more complete coverage and that desirable smoky look.

Either way, once the gel sets, the soft modern finish of this product won't crack or crease. To get the Sienna Miller movie premiere look, carefully dab color around eyes prepped with a light layer of concealer, and blend to blur any defined edge of the color.

Sweep a deep metallic shimmer shadow in a coordinating tone (bronze looks great with the chocolate) over the softened edges of the Smudge Pot color, then apply another sheer layer of concealer around your work.

Finish with luxe layers of black mascara, a soft caramel glossy lip, and with a sweep of bronzer you're good to go with the modern smoky-eyed look that may just break the Law! purrrrrrrr.

Stila is available at Nordstrom and Sephora.

Costumes complete the magic of the Thanksgiving Parade

By Wensdy White ■ PINK

Entering The Parade Company in downtown Detroit is like walking straight into wonderland. As headquarters for America's Thanksgiving Day Parade, the warehouse is jam-packed with color, energy and the larger-than-life-size floats that usher holiday spirit into town each year.

And you can't miss the dreamy dress-up closet.

Each year, 1,200 volunteers march, dance, or carry balloons in America's Thanksgiving Day Parade, and each of them needs a custom made costume.

As head seamstress, Arlene King works in the garment shop keeping the collection of 5,000 existing Parade costumes organized — hats, gloves, wigs, dresses, pants, feather boas and all. She also arranges to make up to 300 new costumes each year for first time floats and balloons. When parade preparation heats up, she brings on a small staff to help.

Working within a budget of about $10,000, the skilled seamstresses modify patterns or make them from scratch.

"They just make them up. It blows me away," said Jennifer Wells, spokesperson for The Parade Company.

Then, they start construction on over-the-top outfits for fairy tale characters, dancing strawberries and, of course, Santa's entourage.

"The philosophy is the more sequins, jewels, gold rick rack, shimmer, fringe and sequins the better. It makes the movement more noticeable and the whole experience more memorable," Wells said.

Every participant visits The Parade Company for a personal fitting, but that doesn't mean costumes are made to size. Instead, they're cut extra roomy so winter coats can be worn underneath.

The day of the parade, organizers box up each costume and truck them all to the New Center building, where volunteers start arriving to get dressed and made up as early as 5:30 a.m.

By the time the parade steps off the curb at 10 a.m., all 1,200 participants are fully transformed and the illusion of wonderland is complete — down to the fur-trimmed hats and pointed shoes of Santa's elves.

The Twelve Dancing Princesses Float sponsored by Art Van is decorated with 37 pairs of designer shoes that would be a size 59 super wide if they were real. Parade Company Intern Victoria O Kane models one of the princess costumes created for the float.

Ruby slippers wait to carry Dorothy — and paradegoers — straight into the magical world of Oz.

Head Seamstress Arlene King, who oversees creation of up to 300 costumes each year, irons a costume behind a field of hats for Santa's elves.

Assistant Seamstress Protiene Morson sews sparkly patriot fabric as she works on a costume for GM's new Let Freedom Ring float.

Ask the Beverly Hills Plastic Surgeon

Dear Dr. Youn: As I get older my eyebrows seem to look more and more grumpy. What can I do about them? — Not as Mad as I Look

Dear Not as Mad as I Look,

Many people's eyebrows descend with age. In addition to making you look more grumpy, they can also give you a tired look. If you are not interested in surgery, Botox treatments can be very helpful in improving the wrinkles in your forehead or between your eyes. I often perform this on Saturday mornings. The best treatment, however, is a brow lift. I perform this surgery using endoscopic techniques (small incisions and fiberoptic scopes), to minimize discomfort and scarring. It's designed to produce a refreshed and pleasant look, not a surprised or 'Marie Osmond' appearance. When combined with facial fat grafting, you can get a really natural rejuvenated look with minimal visible scars.

For additional information, visit Dr. Youn's website at www.beverlyhillsbeauty.com or call (248) 650-1900.

Dr. Youn's office is located in Rochester Hills, and he can be seen on selected episodes of "Dr. 90210 on E!"

Laser Eye Institute

Q I am forty something old and wear bifocals. Can I have Lasik?

A As we age our ability to focus close up becomes more difficult. If our glasses correct the vision for distance then the near vision needs a different correction in the form of magnification, thus the bifocals. Since we don't as yet have bifocal Lasik, Dr. Haddad, director of the Laser Eye Institute, offers his patients a modified form of Mono vision or Menu vision™. Mono vision is where one eye usually the dominant eye is corrected for distance and the other eye is corrected to focus for near. A full mono vision is not well tolerated by most patients due to a large difference between eyes causing an imbalance. Menu vision™ is a gentler type of adjustment leaving the eyes more balanced but it involves a careful and thorough evaluation of each patient by the doctor in order to determine what the optimal amount of correction based on each person's individual occupational and lifestyle needs. Most patients end up being able to see well enough to drive, read newsprint, work on computers, and only need reading glasses for small print, thus being free from glasses 90% of the time. Dr. Haddad has been offering this treatment successfully for over 10 years by careful assessment of each and every patient on two separate visits before any procedures are done, ensuring that his patient ends up with great results.

Ask the Dentist

Q Dr. Levi, lately whenever I sip a cold drink my teeth ache. My neighbor experiences the same kind of pain when she drinks hot coffee. What's going on here?

A Chances are you are both suffering from "dentin hypersensitivity", or sensitive teeth. Hot and cold temperatures cause teeth to expand and contract. Over time, this movement can produce microscopic cracks that can expose nerve endings, resulting in sensitivity.

At least 45 million adults in the U.S. suffer from sensitive teeth. In some cases, sensitive teeth are the result of gum disease, years of clenching and grinding of teeth, or improper or too vigorous brushing.

Abrasive toothpastes and those with whitening properties may increase tooth sensitivity. Also, the diet may be affecting your problem as highly acidic foods can contribute.

To help ease your pain, there are desensitizing toothpastes, tooth sealants, desensitizing ionization filling materials, and other remedies that can help. In any case, contact your dentist if you notice any change in your teeth's sensitivity to temperature. You don't have to live with this uncomfortable pain.

Ask the Jeweler

Q I purchased most of my jewelry when my taste was for yellow gold. Now I am in love with white. What can I do?

A It wasn't that long ago that your only option was to remount your jewelry in one of several white metals. However, with today's improved plating technology, it is possible to rhodium plate your jewelry to obtain a white look and at a fraction of the price of remounting. Certain pieces such as earrings and pendants, the finish will last quite a long time depending on the amount of wear and your body chemistry. Rings and bracelets will need to be recoated on a regular basis (sometimes yearly) but the cost always works out to be far less than a remounting. The nice thing about this procedure is that estimates on durability can be given before the work is done.

Q I had a recent bone mineral densitometry test. My doctor said I have osteopenia. Is it serious? What can I do about it?

A It is not serious and may not need treatment. A woman's highest bone density is around age 30. After that, your bones become slightly thinner each year until menopause, when the thinning speeds up slightly. This increases a woman's risk of fracture. The most severe type of thinning is called osteoporosis and can be easily treated with a variety of hormonal and non-hormonal products. The less severe form of bone thinning is called osteopenia. Depending on several factors, you and your doctor may choose to treat osteopenia or simply follow the process with bone mineral densitometry tests, looking for worsening, which then may be treated.
