OLGC pastor remembers papal visit

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

The Rev John Sullivan, pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Plymouth Township, spent most of Friday afternoon in the rectory, watching the Fox News Channel, getting as much information as he could about Pope John Paul II

"He'll always be known as the Pilgrim Pope' because of his travels around the world," Sullivan said of the pope, whose health was deteriorating rapidly at press time "He's like a big rock star because of the huge numbers of people who follow him the people's Pope"

John Paul II took his name from Pope John XXIII and Pope Paul IV

"John XXIII was pastoral, while Paul IV was intellectual," said Sullivan "He's a great blend of pastoral and intellectual, so beautifully well-balanced"

Sullivan remembers fondly shaking the hand of the pontiff at Blessed Sacrament Cathedral in Detroit when John Paul visited in 1987

"As tough as he looks, his hands are so soft,' said Sullivan "He can be very direct, but very gentle"

At the time, Sullivan was serving St Anne's Parish in Ortonville He was elected a Vicar in the Detroit Archdiocese, representing more than two dozen churches in the Oakland County area in affairs dealing with the archdiocese

Not only did Sullivan meet John Paul II, he also concelebrated Mass with the pontiff at the Pontiac Silverdome, where more than 100,000 people witnessed the leader of the Catholic church pray

"It was an incredible experience,' said Sullivan 'I couldn't believe we were up there with the pope, and the place was so jammed '

Sullivan said John Paul II brought the world church together with his travels And, his connection to youth is unmatched

"Years from now, we will look back at the World Youth Days and how he attracted thousands of youth throughout the world," Sullivan predicted "He loved to be with them, and the kids knew he believed in them

"He'll be a hard act to follow, added Sullivan "He was the right man for the right time"

Our Lady of Good Counsel held a Mass Friday evening to pray for Pope John Paul II Sullivan said it was fitting all the attention around the pontiff comes during Easter season

"He's telling us that while we may get old, feeble and are falling apart, don't give up," Sullivan said "The church is proud and rejoicing, and John Paul will have peace The Lord is saying 'Come, you've done your job'

"We're going to miss him"

Retiring postal worker Al Prince sorts mail on his last day after having worked for the United States post office for nearly 41 years

Postal vet puts final stamp on career

After more than 40 years, mail clerk eyes retirement

BY BRAD KADRICH

Postal workers, according to legend, are slowed neither by rain, sleet, snow nor dark of night

On Friday, veteran postal clerk Al Prince added another April Fool's Day

Prince, born and raised in Plymouth, shrugged off a fairly obvious joke played on him by loving co workers at the Plymouth Township branch of the U S post office on Clipper and retired after nearly 41 years on the job

Even a fake e-mail purporting to delay all retirements 30 days" failed to shake Prince's desire to step into his retirement years

"Yeah, right," the veteran distribution clerk said when customer service supervisor Marge Rigley read the e-mail Prince, who started at the Penniman Street post office just three weeks before his 19th birthday, then accepted hugs, a couple of kisses and the undying gratitude of his co-workers in brief ceremony in his honor

The event brought to an end a career that started in August 1964, a little more than a year after Prince was graduated from the old Plymouth High School (now Central Middle School) He worked a series of odd jobs after graduation, then heard from a friend's father that the post office had openings

"I filled out the application and started a few days after I took the test," said Prince "I was interested in journalism, but there's no money in it. Then this just happened"

Not that 'this" has been such a bad thing Prince never really thought he'd spend an entire career in the post office, but he's happy with how things turned out He started out making not much money ($2 60 per hour at the time)

"But the benefits were great," Prince said "Eventually, the money caught up with the benefits

Party hearty for tsunami victims

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

Despite her young age, 7-year-old Katy Ufford of Plymouth Township realizes the effect the tsunami has had on people who live on the other side of the world

"There was a big wave and lots of people died," explained Katy, who celebrated a birthday March 15, "and a lot of people are very, very sick and don't have a lot of stuff

So, when it came time to plan her birthday party, Katy decided – with the help of her mom, Rebecca, and her aunt – to ask for gifts that could be sent to the boys and girls who were affected by the tsunami

'It makes me feel sad because they don't have all the things we have," Katy said "The tsunami children don't have parents because they died"

On March 26, Katy and her 17 guests played musical chairs Each time the music stopped, gifts were deposited inside each of 24 shoe boxes which will be sent to Samaritan's Purse International Relief in Boone, N C It's an organization Katy and her family have become familiar with through her school, Plymouth Christian Academy, and their place of worship, NorthRidge Church in Plymouth Township

Katy and her friends filled the shoe boxes with Play Doh, crayons, coloring books, toothbrushes, sunglasses, wash clothes and toys

"I thought it would be a lot of fun and everybody would still be able to shop for presents, but they aren't exactly shopping for presents for me," said Katy

"People really got excited about it," said Rebecca Ufford "Everybody was really generous, and the boxes are packed full Katy had the joy of having people over, and the added joy of 24 little kids who have a special joy they might not have otherwise had

"Katy was going through Bible study lessons talking about generosity, and it seemed like a good way to put that principal that Christ taught us into practice '

Katy said she had a lot of fun packing the shoe boxes of toys and necessities, and hopes the children around the world will like what they receive, too

"I hope they will feel better and think that somebody loves them, and that somebody cares that they aren't doing very well," she said

Katy Ufford, 7, of Plymouth Township shows off some of the items collected at her birthday party to be donated to tsunami victims

Sale begins new era for O&E papers

On Thursday, March 31, I sold the assets of my company, HomeTown Communications Network, Inc , to the Gannett Co

Gannett is one of the largest newspaper companies in the world, with a demonstrated track record of capable management, great financial stability and responsible journalistic ethics I wanted the fine newspapers, telephone directories and other publications that I built during my career to wind up in good hands after I left I believe Gannett's hands are the best available

That was important to me I got into the newspaper business nearly 40 years ago when I started my company It's been a long run and a good one But I turned 65 a couple of years ago a symbolic anniversary that helped my wife, Kathy, and me focus on our personal plans and on the future of the company Neither of our children is interested in following our careers in the newspaper field So we decided it was a good time sell the business, move on to new things and find other ways to contribute to our state and our society

I had four goals when I first bought six struggling Observer Newspapers in December 1965

■ I wanted to publish quality hometown newspapers, ones that truly enhanced the lives of their readers and nurtured the communities they served Taken together and over the years, my newspapers won more state and national awards for excellence than any other group of community newspapers in the country I believe we've consistently set a high standard for our readers, for ourselves and for our industry

■ I hoped to build a solid and ethical company over the long haul, one that would grow and innovate, contribute to our advertisers' business success, provide fulfilling careers for its staffers and earn a fair profit What started out as an entrepreneurial effort long ago gradually evolved into a professionally managed corporation, while at the same time remaining a family company

Today, HomeTown Communications Network is widely regarded as among the very best outfits of its sort in the nation We publish one daily newspaper, 62 weekly or twice-weekly newspapers, 24 telephone directories and numerous shopping guides and specialty publications Our operations cover three states,

Schools benefit from foundation grants

From anti-bullying programs in the Plymouth and Canton schools to senior safety education, the Canton Community Foundation is granting more than $40,000 to community projects The checks add up to the foundation's largest-ever grant cycle

"We feel this year we had an especially wide range of requests," said Foundation President Joan Noricks, of the grant requests for the money which is distributed through the foundation as part of the state of Michigan's class action lawsuit against tobacco companies

Grants will help fund several programs for young people including a school district-wide anti-drug program field trip for all Plymouth and Canton fourth- and fifth-graders, who will visit St Joseph Mercy s Health Exploration Station, a healthy dating program for teenagers, an anti-bullying resource center, and a middle-school aggression management program

The libraries in Plymouth and Canto will also benefit, and the foundation approved a $4,000 grant to help implement reading incentive pro grams in the two communities Other grants include

- $4,000 for production and costuming at Canton High School s DuBois Theater
- $2,500 to help support the Celebration Youth Orchestra
- $4,500 for United Health Services Inc , to help fund a program to evaluate living conditions for local seniors, and to provide supplies and services where applicable

"It s exciting that we are able to meet so many needs right here in our community,' Noricks said This is the most amount of money we've ever been able to grant in one funding cycle You start adding it all up and pretty soon, there's $40,000 going back into our community"

Besides the most recent grants, the foundation will award 33 scholarships to Canton and Plymouth students this spring The scholarships total more than $30,000 In all, the foundation distributed more than $90,000 into the community last year

Every year we are able to give a little more in terms of grant money as our endowment grows," Noricks said 'It is great to see money from residents go back to support other residents

His latest benefit is his marriage to his wife, Linda, who also works at the post office The pair met as bowling partners Prince had already been married once, and had 15 children — two of his own and 13 that he and his first wife had adopted

Linda must have needed the bowling partner pretty badly

"I was a single woman with two cats, said a laughing Linda, who married her 'Prince in 1988 "Suddenly I m the mother of nine (six kids had already grown up and moved on) and a dog

"(But) I was fully aware when I walked in It was a little scary, but he s been worth it

Four of the 13 children Prince adopted were either mentally or physically handicapped, a burden he and his first wife didn t mind taking on

After 41 years with the Plymouth post office Al Prince received many heartfelt thanks and a service award during a ceremony on his last day of work

'We had a big house," Prince said We had the room, and it seemed like the right thing to do at the time

That s part of what makes Prince who he is, according to Dennis Wieczorek, the Plymouth postmaster

He s just a great guy," Wieczorek said He s got a great personality and a great spirit of cooperation He's always willing to help, and he s never had a mean word for anyone in 41 years I m happy for him

That spirit of cooperation paid off for Prince, who started as a clerk He said he s done a little of everything" in the post office, including a few turns as a postal carrier I didn't like the weather, he said with a smile

Al Prince knows what he ll be doing with his retirement — 'He s go a lot of stuff to do at the house, his wife, Linda, laughed — and he s looking forward to getting started

I ve got a lot of projects around the house,' he said 'I'll finally have the time to do it right

Hockey has Heart

Fund-raising group helps 'hockey families' in need

BY PAUL R PACE
STAFF WRITER

Hockey may be known as a sport where only the tough survive, but there's a dedicated group of volunteers that meets in Farmington Hills who show it's also a sport with a lot of heart

Starting out as a single fund raiser in 2002, the organization Hockey has Heart has grown by leaps and bounds in helping folks who are, in some way, connected to hockey It doesn't matter how they re related to the sport, as long as there's an affiliation, said HHH President Lucy Oakleaf of Farmington Hills

Simply put, the group hosts fund-raisers and donates the money to hockey families in need In a short time, they've helped several hockey families across the state

Livonia resident Susan McCoy is one of the groups benefactors

She said she used to get a lit tle jealous when her husband, Rick, kept playing in the Livonia Over 30 hockey league, but his interest in hockey is now helping the family through a very difficult time

Rick, 54, suffered a massive stroke last summer and now needs constant care Because he was self-employed, his medical insurance was limited

Susan, a teacher, had to go back to work, but there is still the issue of having to pay $600 a week for Ricks professional care When someone mentioned the situation to the volunteers at Hockey has Heart, the board decided to donate money that would cover three months of care for Rick

The gift is a godsend, said Susan

"I can't say enough about them," she said "They're just a wonderful organization

Oakleaf said the hockey community is a tight-knit bunch So, it's no surprise that there are 250 volunteers who host several fund-raisers throughout the year to keep a pool of funds for those families that need help

'We get calls from people or a family member or other times, we ll hear about something and contact them," Oakleaf said about how benefactors are found

"We've helped families from Livonia, Plymouth, Grand Rapids to Traverse City," she said "Our charter is the state of Michigan'

Since forming, the organization has raised more than $230,000 through its annual gala

Friday, April 8, is the next gala for Hockey has Heart It takes place at the Laurel Manor Banquet facility in Livonia

Guests will enjoy cocktails, appetizers, multi-course dinner, open bar, dancing and music The ticket price is $225 per couple and includes two raffle tickets There will also be a silent auction and basket raffles To purchase tickets, call (248) 476-9127

As far as the future is concerned, Oakleaf said members are discussing the possibility of expanding outside of Michigan

"And we're always looking for new people who want to come on board and help," she said

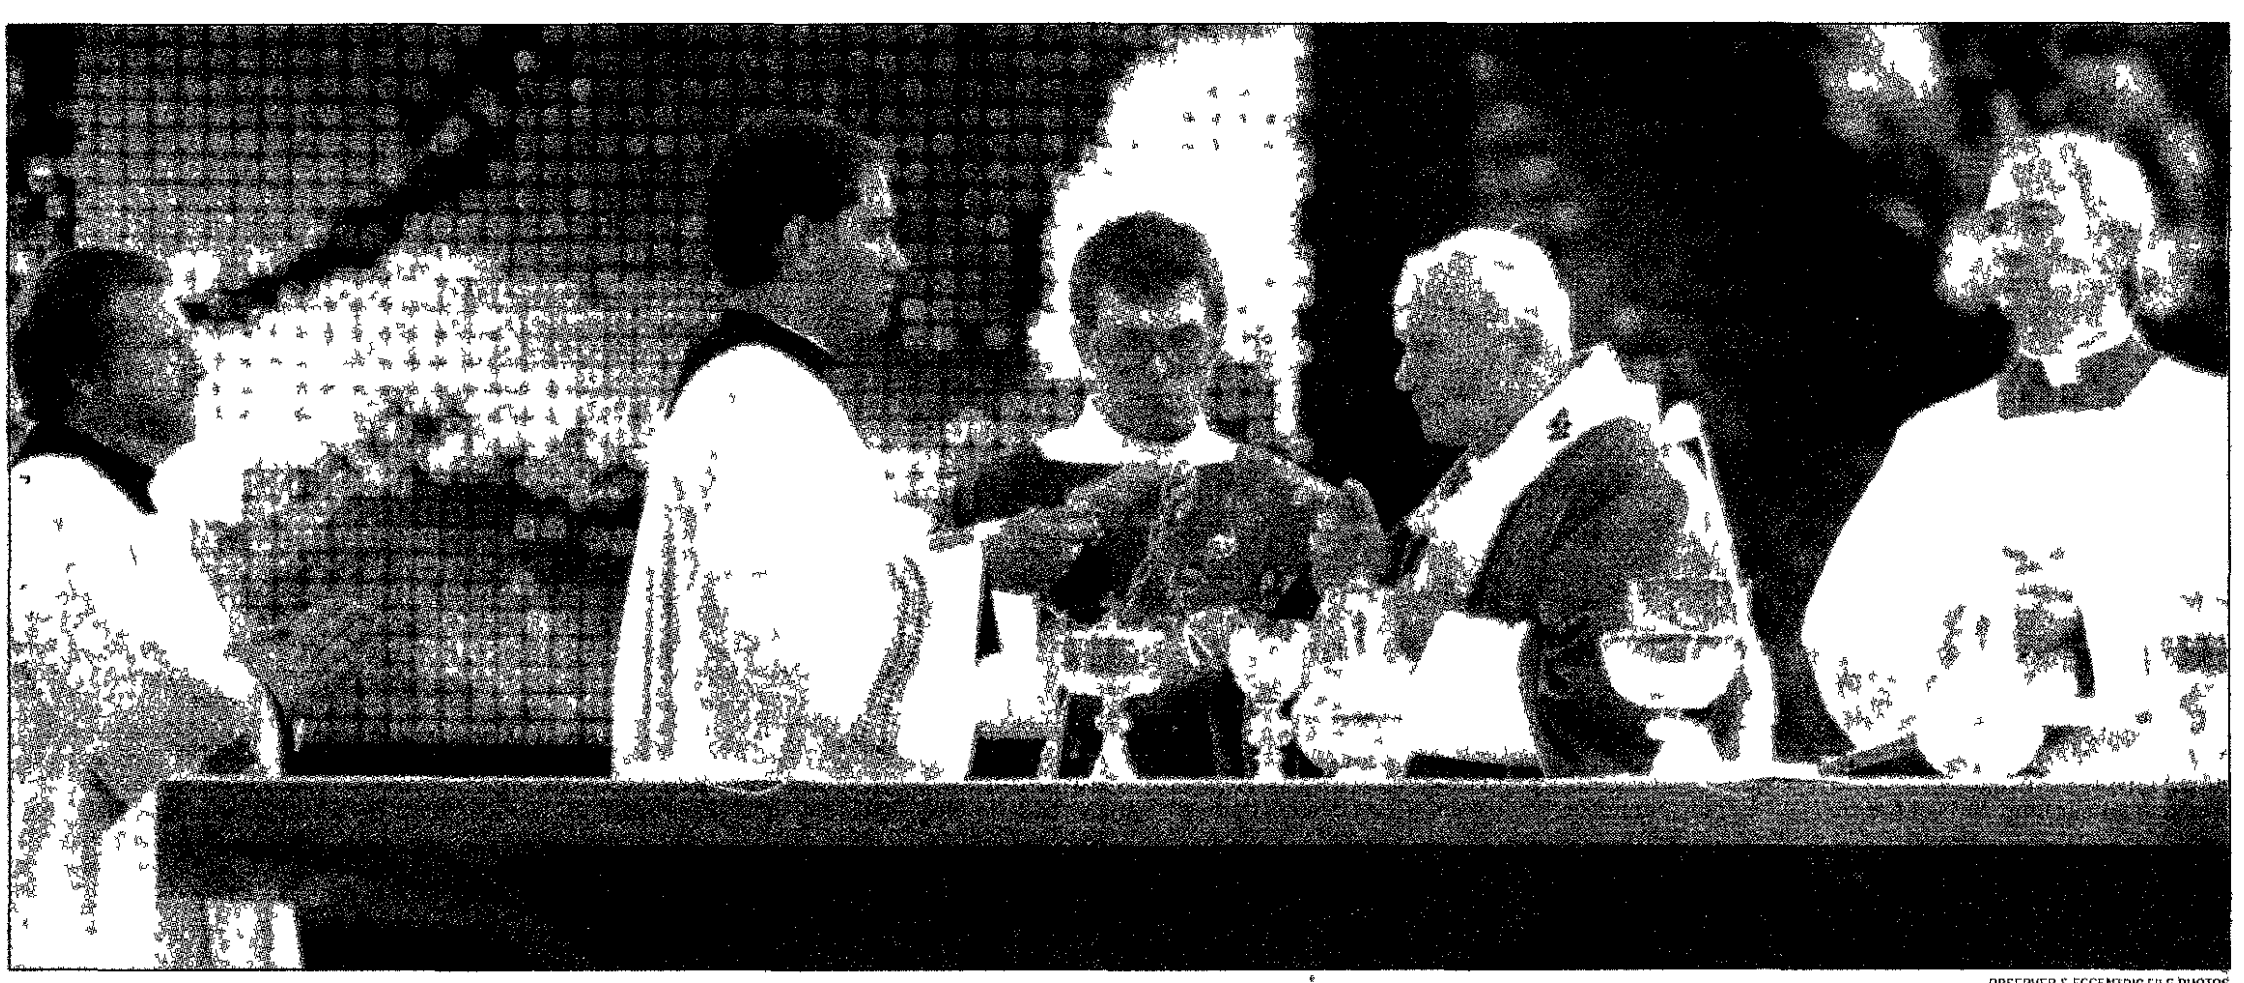
Faithful reflect on John Paul II's papal legacy



OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC FILE PHOTOS

Pope John Paul II and concelebrants prepare to consecrate the bread and wine at the high Mass Sept 19, 1987 in the Pontiac Silverdome Pope John Paul II visited Detroit Hamtramck and Pontiac in a 23 hour visit to the metro area

'He raised the bar for what it means to be the pope of the Catholic Church'

BY ALEX LUNDBERG
STAFF WR TER

After a long battle with Parkinsons dis ease and months of fighting infeetions, Pope John Paul II, one of the longest serving heads of the worldwide Roman Catholic Church, died Saturday at the age of 84

On Friday, the pope had refused to be taken to a hospital and had received the sacrament for the sick and dying His health had been a concern for some time, with the situation becoming more troublesome after suffering heart failure following treatment for an infection Thursday

Around the Detroit area, the Catholic faithful and religious people of all faiths had been watching and listening to the Vatican cautiously as reports of the pontiff s declining health continued to cast a dark shadow over the Holy See

Archdiocese of Detroit theologian the Rev John West, also the pastor of Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church in Farmington, said Pope John Paul II had forever changed the job description for the Bishop of Rome

PAPACY TRANSFORMED

"He has visited more than 100 coun tries, the pope usually never left the Vatican, he said He has transformed the papacy from the one-dimensional Bishop of Rome to the pilgrim pope to the world '

Using a "great natural gift for language John Paul II traveled the world, switching between major languages easily to connect with the people he visited His travels brought him to the Detroit area twice in his capacity as the Bishop of Krakow in both 1969 and 1976 and once as the pope in 1987

Having been in the position as the leader of the church for 27 years, he was the third-longest serving pontiff and, for more than half the world s population, the only pope they have ever known

His global mission over the 27 years of his papacy means future popes will not be able to stay ensconced within the Vatican

"He raised the bar for what it means to be the pope of the Catholic Church," West said ' He had a great skill with languages, he knew the power of media and was very vigorous "

Madonna University President Sister Rose Marie Kujawa said John Paul II was the pope of the people and made himself accessible to people who, historically, would never lay eyes on someone of his stature He also made inroads to people of other faiths without compromising the standards of his own

He opened the door to ecumenism within the church without sacrificing the dogma of the church," she said "The dogma of the Eucharist

A great deal of his legacy, she said Friday, will be his impact with the youth of the world, his ability to make connections with young people as a 'great and holy leader'

He had a link with the youth in ways many other popes did not, Sister Kujawa said Most other popes were quite distant to the average person, much more to youth It was his love of sports, of theater, that made them feel he was active and interested in their lives "

She said that, unlike many popes in the past, John Paul II wrote almost all of the works attributed to his name and was a very prolific thinker and writer

PARTNERSHIP

Rabbi Dan Syme of Temple Beth El in Bloomfield Hills said Friday that his congregation had enjoyed a long partnership with the Archdiocese of Detroit and appreciated the popes outlook on cooperation between faiths

'We have been the beneficiary of the popes wisdom and vision of a different kind of world, he said 'A world where people are more respectful of each other He has been a courageous and wise leader

John Paul II was the first pope to admit the church had made mistakes in dealing with the Holocaust during World War II and lauded the Jewish faith as the older brother ' of Christianity

Syme said there have been disagreements between the two faiths, but those pale in comparison to the partnerships that have underscored the last 60 years

I hope whoever follows him will have the same ecumenical sensibility that he does

Mary Beth Widak of Northville is hard at work at Hart Plaza selling programs She was a student at Mercy High School in Farmington Hills in 1987

Then Vice President George Bush and his wife Barbara meet Pope John Paul II during the pontiff s departure ceremony at Metro Airport on Saturday, Sept 19, 1987

The pope greets well-wishers at Blessed Sacrament Cathedral Following behind is then Archbishop Edmund Szoka the leader of metro Detroit s Roman Catholic community While in Detroit the pope stayed at the archbishop s residence on Boston Boulevard in Detroit

Witness to history: A man of peace visits the White House

I had traveled to the McNamara Airport terminal to board a plane to Washington D C countless times before, but this time my trip felt different I had been invited by the ambassador to the embassy of Lebanon many times before, but this time something about my visit was different I had met His Eminence Patriarch Nasrallah Peter Sfeir numerous times before, but this time our talks were different

For three days last week, I was one of the lucky ones, granted a rare opportunity to witness an historic occasion in our nation's capital For me, the culmination of this moment in time started long ago

The year was 1982 and I was just a teenager concerned with all the nuances and joys of shedding adolescence and welcoming the pre-adulthood status that awaited me in the early part of that decade Though with the excitement that surrounded the end of another school year and the beginning of summer came a black cloud that loomed overhead, as I could not escape the daily grim radio and television reports of what was to become a besieged Beirut

John Akouri

Since 1975, Lebanon had been embroiled in a bloody civil war — one that had extracted thousands of lives and forced the exodus of those who could to European, American and other foreign lands By the early summer of 1982, the war had intensified and seemed to headline every major news network, magazine, and newspaper

Beirut had been divided by what was known as the "Green Line" and for years the Lebanese capital had withstood the constant bombardment of daily artillery shells, tanks, bombs, sniper fire and more As if the presence of Lebanon's warring factions was not enough, more than 30,000 Syrian troops had earlier entered their tiny neighborhood and were stationed in and around parts of the city

Beirut, once known as the Paris of the Middle East, had become a city of blood And, for the first time in history, the armies of the state of Israel would invade an Arab capital As the convoy of Israeli armies and tanks headed northward toward Beirut, people across the world witnessed firsthand the invasion of Israeli troops moving along the highways, streets and villages on their television screens Beirut lay under siege experiencing its darkest days

Three and a half years later, the prayers of many were answered On April 19, 1986, His Beatitude Mar Nasrallah Boutrous Cardinal Sfeir was elected Maronite Patriarch for Antioch and all the East A small yet gentle man, he began his reign during the midst of a war that had been ongoing for 11 years

Fast-forward to last week's significantly momentous and notable meeting between the patriarch and U S President George W Bush A meeting borne out of mass rallies all over Lebanon and the international calling for the withdrawal of Syria's remaining troops and intelligence security forces

Pleas like that of Druze leader Walid Jumblat who was quoted as saying, "Unchain us, leave us, you made us hate Syria," sprouted freely following the gruesome and horrific assassination of former Prime Minister Rafik Hariri, the architect of the rebuilding of post-war Lebanon, along with 18 other innocents A Cedar Revolution had begun and took wing from Lebanon's youth to bring freedom, democracy and independence to the nation and to find out the truth behind the shocking and ghastly killing of Hariri As the patriarch was in the air throughout most of the Beirut rally, he was sure to be briefed on all that transpired once he reached American soil.

Accompanied by an entourage of nearly a hundred priests, monsignors and bishops from around the country, personal security and bodyguards, an advance team, secret service agents, a motorcade, global media coverage, well wishers and paparazzi, the now 85-year-old Patriarch made his way around Washington D C

Throughout it all, this kind and calm man of peace managed to keep a twinkle in his eye, a smile on his face and the future of millions of Lebanese in his heart and soul

As he walked into the embassy, his eyes fixated on me and I could tell he was eager to embrace an old friend I welcomed him back to the U S , and asked God to grant him rest from his tireless work on Lebanon's behalf and to lengthen his life here on earth

His words that night to the distinguished guests assembled, the Diplomatic Corps and his old friends were simple, "Lebanon has gone through difficult times in the past and it was able to overcome them At this time, Lebanon is at crossroads that could lead it in various directions Only our unity and cooperation could bring Lebanon to the harbor of safety and could ensure its prosperity and growth Therefore, let us put our own personal differences aside and join our efforts for the sake of the free, sovereign and democratic Lebanon"

Today, when I am asked about that encounter along with the situation in Lebanon and the fact that images are being revealed in real time across television stations throughout the world, I must admit that at times it seems as though I am hearing and watching a rerun that mirrors a grim, not too distant past But this time, however, there is something different — the stark difference is that I am witnessing these historic images live and in person before my very own eyes and that this time it's clearly peace all sides seek, not war

Farmington Hills City Councilman John Akouri an American of Lebanese descent was Washington D C press secretary and senior advisor to U S Rep Joe Knollenberg (R Birmingham)

Pope John Paul II touched many lives in his travels

There's no experience quite like seeing the pope in person

Even non-Catholics — or non-Christians, for that matter — would find it intriguing if only because the pope is a recognized world leader with tremendous presence wherever he goes

Pope John Paul II is the most-traveled pontiff in history In his early years, especially, he visited countries around the world, keeping a dizzying schedule by traveling more than all the previous popes combined

In September 1987, he came to Detroit and made a special stop in Hamtramck, where I had the opportunity to see and hear him up close

Greg Kowalski

John Paul II has had a special affection for Hamtramck, and it for him He had visited the city in 1969 when he was a cardinal His cousin was a former city councilman And Hamtramck was still primarily a Polish-American town

The Poles in general have a deep love of John Paul II, not only because Karol Wojtyla — his birth name — was from Poland, but also because of the work he did behind the scenes to support the Solidarity movement, which brought down the hated Communist Party and forced the Russians to withdraw from their country

Preparation for the pope's visit had begun weeks before when a gigantic stage was constructed on the site of a shopping center that was being built. A tradition had developed in the shipping town of Gdansk, Poland, to build huge ship-like stages for the pope to address the multitudes

The Friday night before his visit saw the town filled with activity all night Jos Campau, the main street, was packed with people shopping and socializing Stores carried all manner of souvenirs ranging from pope sun visors to pope soap-on-a-rope

Saturday morning dawned gloomy and rainy — and eerily quiet The police and security officers had moved in the night before and virtually sealed off the city There was basically no traffic as the flow of cars was tightly controlled. Residents were given security passes to allow free movement.

At around 9 30 a m the pope's entourage was spotted driving south on Jos Campau in his famous "Popemobile" The city had hoped he would stop at the huge statue of his figure at 'Pope Park," along the route, but there was a five-story building across the street and the police said it was too hard to secure

So he drove on to the massive gathering place at the south end of town Two blocks north stood the majestic steeple of St Florian, one the largest Polish parishes in the Detroit area, and where he had stayed during his earlier visit

Pope John Paul II won the hearts of Hamtramckans when he visited in 1987

The crowd actually was smaller than expected — only about 30,000 There had been so many cautions given on the news about expected traffic jams and tight security as well as the poor weather that many people opted to see the pope at his other stops on his visit in Detroit and at the Pontiac Silverdome

But that was OK. I was able to get within just a few dozen feet of the pope He spoke clearly, in perfect English I still have a copy of his speech

But the words hardly mattered Here was a chance to see the pope — our pope — who by even then had made a major impact on the world.

For some people, it was a deeply religious experience For others, it was a chance to see a world figure But judging from the silence among the crowd as the pope spoke, all appreciated the historic importance of the moment, regardless of their faith

I don't remember exactly how long the speech lasted It seems that it was about a half-hour, and then he was gone

Today, there is a small but elegant monument commemorating the pope's visit, standing almost exactly where the pope stood

But the greatest monument for us who were there are the memories Pope John Paul II will live on for us as a man of epic proportions use three printing plants and employ around 900 staffers

■ I aimed to put community journalism on the map and to contribute some new thinking to the field. I helped found Suburban Newspapers of America, the leading trade association for our industry. Today there is no question that community newspapers have established a solid niche in American journalism.

In 2000, we started the Livingston County Daily Press & Argus, first new daily newspaper to be published in Michigan in nearly 50 years – a paper that is now the fastest-growing daily in the state. And today we are working on groundbreaking ways to link together our newspapers, our telephone directories and our Internet presence to add value for our readers and our advertisers.

■ And I hoped my weekly column would contribute perspective and insight to readers and to the ongoing public policy dialogue in Michigan. Judging from the many responses – pro and con – I've received over the years, it's fair to say at the very least that lots of people are reading the column.

None of this would have been possible without the hard and capable work of countless HomeTown Communications staffers, past and present. Nor would it have been possible without the active commentary, both encouraging and critical, from readers, advertisers, journalistic colleagues and HCN staffers. Somebody once said that the only way you learn is by listening to others. Over the years, I have learned a whale of a lot and I am very grateful.

So, what's next?

First, the word "retire" is not in my vocabulary. I certainly do not intend to withdraw from active engagement in our communities, our state and our society. Maybe the best way to express what's going on is that I am pivoting from one career to another. However, I will continue writing my regular column in this newspaper. I believe I offer a distinctive point of view and, besides, it's far too much fun for me to quit just now.

On a personal level, Kathy and I expect to be proud grandparents later this spring. And we're looking forward to a little black Labrador puppy joining our household at the end of April. (His name? "HomeTown," of course!) Having a little more time for family and friends is a wholly unmixed blessing.

The only thing that is constant in our lives is change. This particular change is a big one for me and Kathy, one that stirs strong and mixed emotions. At the top of the list is the appreciation and gratitude I have for so many people who helped make this portion of my life so rewarding and so satisfying – not least, you, the readers. So onward and upward, and best wishes to you all.

Sale to Gannett completed; Aginian heads new group

McLEAN, Va. — Gannett Co., Inc. Thursday completed the acquisition of the assets of HomeTown Communications Network, Inc., a community publishing company with publications in Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky.

Richard Aginian has been named president and publisher of the Observer & Eccentric and the Mirror newspaper groups in suburban Detroit. Aginian also will serve as a consultant to Gannett to assist in the transition of the new acquisitions. Aginian previously was president and CEO of HomeTown Communications Network.

"We're excited the former HomeTown publications are officially joining Gannett," said Gary L. Watson, president of the Newspaper Division. "And I'm even more pleased that Dick Aginian has agreed to stay on with Gannett. His experience and knowledge will be a great help with the transition and with running the two Detroit suburban newspaper groups."

Aginian

Aginian joined HomeTown in 1977. He is a graduate of Rutgers University and Wayne State University. He is active in numerous civic and charitable organizations in the Detroit area.

Watson said the various former HomeTown publications will be assimilated into the Newspaper Division on a geographic basis with the goal of increasing the synergies and service for readers and advertisers in the daily and non-daily newspaper markets.

In a letter to HomeTown staffers, chairman and longtime owner Phil Power said: "After nearly 40 years, it's been a long run — and a good one. Power said he and his wife Kathy decided it was a good time to sell the business, move on to new things and find other ways to contribute to our state and our society."

The acquisition includes one daily and 62 weekly and twice-weekly community newspapers, 24 community telephone directories, one shopping guide, other specialty and niche publications, as well as Web sites and commercial printing at four plants.

The newspaper group includes the recently launched Daily Press & Argus in fast-growing Livingston County and non-daily groups in the suburban areas near Detroit, Cincinnati/northern Kentucky and Lansing.

Gannett announced the acquisition, which was reviewed by the U.S. Department of Justice, in November. Terms were not disclosed.

Gannett Co., Inc. is a leading international news and information company that publishes 102 daily newspapers in the U.S., including USA TODAY, the nation's largest-selling daily newspaper. The company also owns more than 800 non-daily publications in the U.S. and USA WEEKEND, a weekly newspaper magazine. Gannett subsidiary Newsquest is the United Kingdom's second largest regional newspaper company. Newsquest publishes more than 300 titles, including 17 daily newspapers and a network of prize-winning Web sites. Gannett also operates 21 television stations in the U.S. and is an Internet leader with sites sponsored by its TV stations and newspapers including USATODAY.com, one of the most popular news sites on the Web.

Attack sweeps Whalers out of playoffs

What can Brown do for you?

If you're the Owen Sound Attack, he can deliver you to the second round of the 2005 Ontario Hockey League playoffs Not overnight, but within a week

Led by goalie Mike Brown, the Attack swept the Plymouth Whalers out of the OHL post-season Thursday night with a convincing 7-2 Game 4 victory, which was played before a crowd of 3,378 at the Compuware Sports Arena

The only things brighter than Brown's construction cone-colored goalie pads were his goal-tending skills The Boston Bruins draftee recorded two shutouts and yielded just three Plymouth goals in the four games

"Owen Sound won 40 games this season, so they re a very good hockey team,' said Plymouth coach Mike Vellucci "They were second only to London in our conference as far as points, but the biggest difference in the series was their goalie He played extremely well

"I thought the effort from

The only things gusting harder than the wind Thursday afternoon at Pioneer Middle School were the lacrosse balls fired by the Plymouth-Canton-Salem Warriors past Ypsilanti goalie James Litini

Playing in their first official Michigan High School Athletic Association varsity game, the Warriors white-washed the Braves, 17-0 PCS, which consists of students from all three P-CEP schools, controlled the ball 90 percent of the time against Ypsi, which was playing in not just its first varsity game, but its first game ever

A brutally cold wind gusted up to 40 miles per hour for most of the contest, but the conditions didn't faze the Warriors, who never looked back after scoring their first goal just two minutes into the game

"Jumping out to an early lead gave us a chance to play a lot of people and work on our fundamentals," said Warriors coach Mike Costello 'I was happy with our intensity and our ball movement, but we still have a lot to work on"

PCS led 9-0 after the first quarter and 15-0 at the half The Warriors unleashed 40 shots at Litini and proved their dominance by winning 20 of the 21 face-offs

Sophomore Jared Ruark was the offensive star for PCS, recording four goals Mike Bahrou (two), Ryan Gubert (two) and Brad Obuchowski (two) also recorded multi-goal games for the winners, who received single goals from John Groat, Nick Cote, Derek Edelen, Austin Gubert, Mitch French, Jeff Rork and Devin Murphy

Groat (three), Murphy (two), Cote (two) and Rork all notched assists for the Warriors

Defensively, Chris Sorensen chalked up a shutout for PCS

The MHSAA 10-goal mercy-rule kicked in at halftime, so the entire second half was played with a running clock

The unbeaten Warriors will host a pair of games next week Tuesday they will take on Hartland before meeting Novi on Thursday Both games are set for 3 p m at Pioneer Middle School

Schoolcraft basketball coach Briggs will coach Ocelots one more season

BY BRAD EMONS AND ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITERS

Speculation ended Friday afternoon about the job status of Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach Carlos Briggs, who told the Observer that he will return for one final season

Briggs, who is 226-36 in eight years, including three trips to the NJCAA Division I national tournament, met Friday afternoon with school President Dr Conway Jeffress And after that meeting, Briggs confirmed an agreement was reached between the two sides for the state's most successful junior college coach to return to the bench for his final season in 2005-06

The meeting came after approximately 25 to 30 current and former players, coaches and friends of the men's basketball program rallied Thursday afternoon at the Grote Administration Building in a show of support for the coach, who was rumored to be on his way out

Because of a pair of off-season NJCAA rules violations, Schoolcraft was banned from NJCAA and Michigan Community College Athletic Association postseason playoffs, as well as being ineligible for the Eastern Conference championship

The school administration chose not to appeal the one-year probation, which followed the use of a school van and the purchase of a meal while transporting nine Schoolcraft players to the JUCO All-American Challenge, a showcase for Division I college scouts, last July in Indianapolis, Ind

Despite the sanctions and a limited roster, Schoolcraft finished 27-3 overall

"I'm glad both parties sat down and worked it out that I'm going to coach one more year, and I appreciate the opportunity again, I give Dr Jeffress credit," Briggs said "They've evaluated what I've done and I appreciate what the college has done for me I thank everybody who has supported me, but I've decided next year will be my final year"

The Observer reported in its Sunday, March 27, edition that Briggs was asked to resign and accept a severance deal, rumored to be anywhere from six months to a year s salary with the deadline to accept the package on Thursday

That's when players, coaches and supporters of the men's basketball program mobilized Thursday afternoon in front of the Grote Building carrying signs and wanting answers

Salem grad Roth joins golf Hall of Fame

BY MIKE ROSENBAUM
STAFF WRITER

Anyone who wonders whether Plymouth Salem graduate Jeff Roth will rest on his laurels, following his selection for the Michigan Golf Hall of Fame, need only look back to last summer to receive an answer

Roth, the head pro at Knollwood Country Club in West Bloomfield, played eight straight days of tournament golf — four days at the National Club Pro Championships and four at the Michigan Open — and ended his marathon by shooting a four-under-par 68 to win his second Open championship

Roth admits that when he received word of his selection to the Hall, "I kind of kiddingly said to my wife 'Now I'm officially on the back nine of my career' I got elected to the University of Arizona Golf Hall of Fame last fall, and now this."

But he also believes there's plenty of golf ahead of me I'm not calling it a career, by any means"

Roth and three others will be officially inducted into the Hall on May 15, at the Indianwood Golf & Country Club in Lake Orion

Roth calls his induction 'a culmination of achievements throughout the years that I'm being recognized for That's very satisfying and very humbling It gives me a chance to acknowledge all the family and friends that I have who have helped my career move along"

Among those family and friends are his wife, Maureen, and their four children, who are 'my biggest support group,' Roth says

Maureen, in particular, has offered tangible assistance to Roth's career, in addition to moral support

'I've always said the best caddy I've ever had was my wife, Roth explains She caddied for me as far back as 1988 on the South African tour She got to the point where she would just be able to put clubs in my hand, in terms of yardages Maureen's a nice golfer, but not an expert by any means But she s got a very keen sense for competing and athletics So we actually work very well together on the golf course She's kind of a calming influence, too"

Roth has earned the Michigan PGA Player of the Year title four times He's won the Michigan PGA championship four times, the state Tournament of Champions three times, plus his two Open titles

He lists three victories as career highlights The first was his 1993 victory at the National Club Professional Championships Roth was also runner-up in that event in 1987

His second highlight came in 1996 when Roth helped the U S team win the PGA Cup title Roth has played in the event – which is the club professionals' equivalent of the Ryder Cup – three times In 1996, he recalls, "my singles match was the last match of the entire competition, and I was two-down with four to go and had to at least tie my match for us to retain the Cup And I ended up winning the last four holes of the match, to win"

The third highlight was his Open victory last summer, which he won with a 12-under-par 276

Roth lists this victory among his highlights because, at age 46 he beat "a bunch of 20-year-olds, plus guys who are playing the Hooters Tour or the Nationwide Tour Tom Gillis was in the field, who's in the PGA Tour It was just a very strong, young field, and to come back and win this event, shooting the golf that I shot, has to rank right up there as one of my top highlights"

Roth grew up in Plymouth and was the top golfer on Plymouth Salem's 1973 Class A state championship team He earned a golf scholarship to the University of Arizona and took a swing at the pro tour before returning to Michigan He's been an assistant club professional at the Birmingham, Tam O'Shanter and Wabeek clubs, and was head pro at Flint Golf Club for 11 years before taking his current position at Knollwood

"I've got an outstanding situation here at Knollwood Country Club, being the head pro, and I love doing what I do,' he says

Asked what he enjoys the most about his job, Roth replies, without hesitation, 'The people That's why I got into the business Because of all the different personalities you get to deal with every day You get different situations that arise, you get different fires to put out You get to hear about the ups and downs of people's golf rounds and golf lives A lot of us golf pros could right books off of some of the stories we hear It's interesting to come to work every single day"

Roth says his life revolves around his three main interests "Playing golf, working at Knollwood, and my family interests In some respects my life is very simple And I like it that way I don't need to have all kinds of hobbies to make my life interesting because I find those three things occupy all my time"

Roth expects to play some senior events when he becomes eligible, at age 50

Until then, however, he hopes 'to stay competitive and try to stay healthy and just try to keep my game in the most competitive shape that I possibly can"

Judging by his recent success, that should be good enough to keep Roth among the state's top golfers for awhile longer

from Jeffress's office about Briggs' status as coach

"Carlos was kind of a wild player, always throwing up 'threes' – of course, he'd make a lot of them – but when I went to see him coach a game, I was impressed by how organized his team was,' said Chauncey Blackwell, who has known Briggs for 30 years "Why would they let go a coach with such a positive influence? They won, his kids got their degrees"

Calls and letters were also sent out earlier in the week to Jeffress's office and to Schoolcraft trustees

'I started going to Schoolcraft games five years ago, and I was so impressed with their teamwork," said one of the rally organizers, Keith Emerson, a former high school coach and athletic director "He never did anything wrong as far as I could find out, and if he did, he should get a chance to rectify the problem"

Also at the rally was former Schoolcraft assistant coach Howard Golding, now the boys basketball coach at Bloomfield Hills Andover

"He's given second chances to so many kids," said Golding "When I was at Oak Park I had a kid, Robert Brown, and without Carlos's guidance, Robert – and a lot of kids like him – probably never would have earned their college degrees"

When Executive Vice President John Tomey, who is retiring in June, made the decision not to appeal the off-season violations, relations between Briggs and the current administration, which also included Dean of Student Services Cheryl Wright and ex-interim athletic director Bill Tolstedt, became even more strained (Tolstedt, the women's soccer coach, has since been replaced on a permanent basis by Sid Fox.)

When questioned last week by the Observer about Briggs job security, Tomey said "We do not discuss personnel issues"

Briggs also lost two of his biggest supporters over the summer murdered Schoolcraft trustee Richard DeVries and athletic director Ed Kavanaugh, who resigned in June

Kavanaugh hired Briggs, the former Schoolcraft College All-America who played at Baylor University, when he was an assistant high school coach in Waxahachie, Texas

Briggs then transformed the Ocelots from a cellar-dwelling program into a national power During the 2001-02 season, No 1-ranked Schoolcraft finished 35-1 overall and earned a third-place finish in NJCAA Division I Tourney in Hutchinson, Kan

During his eight-year stint, Briggs has sent over 35 players to the NCAA Division I and II ranks including Derrick Bird (Auburn), Sam Hoskin (DePaul), Mike Williams (Western Michigan) and Gary Johnson (Central Florida), while maintaining a minority student-athlete graduation rate of over 70 percent

"It wasn't just about basketball, it was about school, too, with Carlos," said former Ocelot player Nick Evola, who played two seasons at Western Michigan University "If you wanted to move on to Division I or II school, he'd do everything he could to help you do that our guys was there right until the end We just didn't get many bounces"

Brown, who was acquired by the Attack in a mid-season trade with Saginaw, had never played in an OHL playoff game prior to Game 1 last week

"I don't think you necessarily have to have experience in the playoffs to do well,' said Brown, stating what he had proved over the previous week "I have an outstanding team playing in front of me, that s what's important Most of the shots I see are from the outside, so they're easier to stop Plus, we had the lead in every game in this series, which meant I could relax a little more than if we had been behind"

While Brown was instrumental in sending the Whalers to their premature post-season demise, the guys wearing the black-and-white stripes also had a hand in the sweep, according to Vellucci

"The officiating was horrible in all four games," he emphasized "Tonight, they had 10 power-play opportunities, we had four For the series, they had 30, and we had 12 After the first two games, Owen Sound only scored two even-strength goals It's difficult to win when you're constantly playing short-handed'

Vellucci said his team took the early exit hard

"There's a lot of emotion in there right now," said Vellucci, as he gestured toward the Whalers' locker room "They all still have their pads on For some of them — like Tim Sestito, John Mitchell, Mike Knight and Jonas Fiedler — tonight's game was probably their last with the Whalers, so it's tough

"We started the season with 10 rookies, so we knew it was going to be a learning year We were starting to get better about half-way through the season, but I think we got tired Obviously, we didn't go as far as we wanted to this year, but it was a good learning experience for the young guys'

With a 3-0 series deficit weighing on them, the last thing the young Whalers needed was to fall behind early Thursday night, but that's exactly what happened when Brad Richardson scored a power-play goal 3 46 into the game to put the Attack up 1-0 The assist was credited to Andrej Sekera, who broke his stick while firing a slap-shot The slow-moving puck trickled to the right slot, where Richardson pounced on it and banged it past Whalers goalie Ryan Nie Owen Sound's Robin Big Snake contributed a big goal four minutes later to make it 2-0

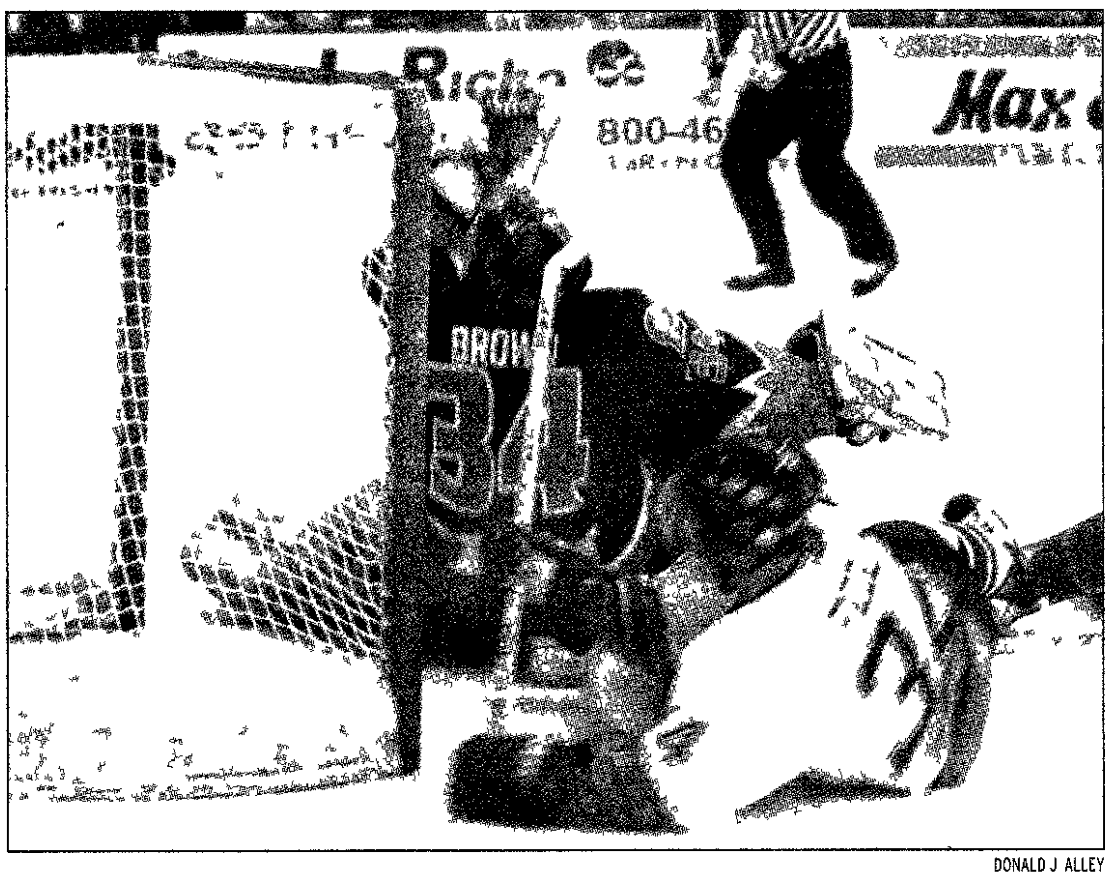
Plymouth's James Neal converted a power-play goal with 4 30 remaining in the first period to cut the hosts' deficit in half, 2-1, however, Owen Sound responded quickly when Patrick Jarrett scored with just over three minutes left in the first period to put the Attack ahead 3-1

The sellout crowd was brought to its feet 6 12 into the second period when Fiedler lifted a short-handed goal past a sprawling Brown to bring the Whalers to within 3-2 However, five minutes later, Sekera intercepted a pass in the Whalers' zone, carried the puck just past center ice before threading a pass to a wide-open Richardson, who lit the red light with a back-hander to cushion the lead to 4-2

Owen Sound s Bobby Ryan contributed the series' clincher when he tallied a power-play goal with just 10 seconds left in the second period

Jeff Kurzakos and Stefan Ruzicka added third-period goals for the winners, who will battle Sault Ste Marie in round 2 of the OHL playoffs

Owen Sound outshot the Whalers, 40-15 Gino Pisellini made sure Plymouth didn't go down without a fight Eight minutes into the contest, Pisellini squared off against Big Snake in a center-ice tussle Not many punches were landed by either player, but the confrontation fired up the fans



DONALD J ALLEY

Whalers right wing Jonas Fiedler scored the Whalers first goal Thursday night when he beat Owen Sound goalie Mike Brown on this short-handed effort

Success has come early for Wildcats

BY ED WRIGHT

SOFTBALL PREVIEW

Winning has come at a fast and furious pace for the upstart Plymouth High School softball team

The Wildcats rolled to a 30-5 record in 2004, when the team's roster consisted of sophomores and freshmen Approximately three-quarters of Plymouth's regular-season schedule was played against junior-varsity competition last year, but the Wildcats proved they were the real deal when they won a Division 2 district title and narrowly lost to powerful Chelsea in their regional opener

Plymouth's freshmen team finished 17-9 two years ago, setting the stage for last season's success

"I knew we had a lot of talented players coming in, said third-year coach Val Canfield 'We had some heavy hitters last year, our defense was sound and our pitching was strong

'Our goal is to eventually win a state championship We're all going to keep working hard until we reach that goal

There's a good news/bad news scenario facing the Wildcats this season The good news is that none of their top players graduated The bad new They have no seniors

I'm very optimistic heading into this season," Canfield said "Our biggest strength is going to be our defense, that's what keeps us in games But it's our offense that will win games for us Both of them — along with our pitching — are equally important

Sophomore Claire Ostrowski returns as the Wildcats No 1 pitcher The right-hander pitched in all 35 games last season Also seeing time on the mound will be freshman Ally Ciotti, who velocity matches that of her hard-throwing colleague

Claire will start probably 70 percent of the games this season with Ally getting most of the rest of the starts," Canfield said

Sophomore Melissa Butzow will also pitch, mostly in a relief role

Sophomore Madison Dresser starts the season as the team's top catcher

The infield will be filled out by first baseman Melissa Butzow, second baseman Lauren Stemberger, shortstop Kim Klonowski and third baseman Kim Olech

"Kim Klonowski has a great arm at short," Canfield said 'She can throw 63 miles per hour overhand Kim Olech missed last season due to an injury, but she was one of our best hitters as a freshman"

Juniors Danielle Bondy and Rachel Juco have sewn two of the three starting outfield slots A pair of freshmen — Gina Giordano and Amy Bondy — are battling for the final opening

Juniors Megan Tkachuk and Erin Ondusky will provide depth for the Wildcats, who open their season Tuesday at Ann Arbor Huron

Dealing with borderline personality

In last month's article, a particular personality disorder known as borderline was outlined

As described by Mason and Kreger in their book Stop Walking on Eggshells, they highlight several distinctive factors that exemplify the borderline personality Five or more of these characteristics may suggest that a person has borderline personality tendencies

1) frantic efforts to avoid real or imagined rejection and abandonment

2) involved in unstable and intense interpersonal relationships characterized by either idealizing or devaluing others

3) persistently unstable self-image

4) impulsivity toward self-damage in two areas spending, sex, substance abuse, shoplifting, binge eating, reckless driving

5) talks about suicide and/or self-mutilates, ex cutting, pulling

6) moody — mixing depression, anxiety, rage and despair (a few hours to a few days)

7) feels chronically empty

Don't take it personally - they see the world as black and white.

8) responds with intense anger, which may manifest in physical fights

9) detaches from stressful situations, not remembering them later

These people function wonderfully well in the workplace and can be extremely bright In Stop Walking on Eggshells, two borderlines summed up their struggles by saying, "Ignoring and denying my problems was a coping mechanism that enabled me to keep the fear and pain under control Don't underestimate the borderline's pain or fear The more we fear, the more we deny Until I really understood personal responsibility, I believed that everything that happened to me was someone else's fault While I was pushing the limits of appropriateness at every turn, I felt annihilated when people tried to convince me that I had control over my crazy behavior I resisted the thought and become enraged In therapy, I realized that I hated and judged other people because that s how I felt about myself"

For those who are in close proximity to this type of personality, you must remember several salient points

1) Don't take it personally — they see the world as black and white and assume you do, too

2) Don't take responsibility for their feelings Though their threats are admittedly scary and a stressful conversation or situation will set them off, their goal is to throw the focus back on to you because it is too scary for them to look at themselves

3) Keep a sense of humor because your reaction (i e , fear, anxiety, anger, confusion) can intensify their control over the situation

4) Detach with love Detaching from a person does not mean judging them or condemning them

5) Take your life back

6) Be responsible for your own behavior and set limits around bad behavior

7) Face your own issues about being needed Do you suppose your unconscious side wanted this relationship so that you could rescue this person?

Paws with a Cause dogs save lives

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Jane MacFarland never got a good night's sleep until last September when Yukon, a Paws with a Cause dog, moved into her Canton home

Sandy Collins credits her PAWS dog, Beacon, with saving her life after she stopped breathing in her sleep in the Garden City home where she lives with her mother and stepfather, Ken and Maxine Bondie

Yukon and Beacon are just two of the everyday heroes from PAWS, the nonprofit organization which trains dogs to assist people with disabilities Several working dogs from all over Michigan, including Beacon, will receive awards from PAWS on May 1 for going above and beyond the call of duty

Yukon isn't receiving an award, but he's still a hero to MacFarland whose fear of fire and burglars kept her tossing and turning because she couldn't hear if the smoke alarm went off or someone broke into her home Then Yukon came into her life Even though he s still a puppy at 2 years old, Yukon has given MacFarland the independence she lost over the years Born with a hearing impairment that s grown progressively worse, MacFarland has not only been able to return to school but accomplish chores around the house without the assistance of her husband, Kevin Welker

HELPING PAWS

Yukon loves doing laundry One by one, he pulls pieces of clothing from the dryer Next, it's on to the kitchen where he retrieves the soup can she dropped The two are still in training, rather MacFarland is still learning how to work Yukon Three times a week, a PAWS field instructor teaches her to implement the training he received in Wayland near Grand Rapids after being raised by a foster family MacFarland's hearing impairment keeps her off balance so Yukon steadies her as they walk up and down stairs Until Yukon, she wasn't able to walk without tripping and couldn't take classes at Henry Ford Community College for fear she might be hit by a car in the parking lot Today, both wear pins saying they're members of the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society One of Yukon's most accomplished tasks is retrieving the phone

Before Yukon, communication was harder between family and friends but now he's actually hearing the phone," said MacFarland, who demonstrated Yukon's talents at the Detroit Kennel Club Dog Show March 19-20 at Cobo Center Yukon and MacFarland regularly display their team work for PAWS On Wednesday, they visited the Canton Township Administration Building to raise awareness about PAWS and an upcoming jeans day to benefit the nonprofit that provides dogs to disabled people without charge MacFarland's nearing the end of her training, made possible in part by a Paws to Read fund-raiser at Emerson School in Livonia.

A PAWS dog costs about $20,000 to train Thanks to the Plymouth-Canton Civitans Club, Plymouth Lions, United Way Community Services and United Way of Plymouth, Yukon is helping MacFarland not only to study health information technology but volunteer for the Michigan Commission on Disabilities and Concerns to which she was appointed by Gov Jennifer Granholm

"Yukon is really a special dog because he's doing the job of a hearing and a service dog," said MacFarland, who grew up in Bloomfield Hills where on Easter Sunday she took Yukon to church at Kirk in the Hills

TOM HAWLEY | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Beacon, an assistance dog trained by Paws with a Cause, sits by owner Sandy Johnson in Garden City

"Yukon will pick up any items I drop, my keys, money I'm always dropping things and don't hear them"

LIFE SAVER

Beacon's already certified as a PAWS dog but that didn't prepare him to save Sandy Johnson's life last September He jumped up on her chest and got her breathing again when he sensed something was wrong Johnson has sleep apnea and uses a breathing machine at night During sleep, she frequently takes her mask off but Beacon wakes her up to put it back on Funding for the training was provided by United Way, Garden City Lions, Trenton Lions, Stofer Trust, and students at Johnson Elementary in Westland who held a Paws to Read fund-raiser where they collected pledges for the minutes they read

KEEPING ACTIVE

But Beacon doesn't just assist Johnson at night In 2001, a stroke left her with a neurological disor-

Before purchasing PSP, check out games on PDA

Game Savvy

Rick Broida

Unless you've been hiding under a Game Boy, you've no doubt heard about Sony's spiffy new PlayStation Portable (PSP)

For a mere $250, plus about $40 per game, it delivers on-the-go entertainment nerdvana — sorry, nirvana

I don't know about you, but I'm pretty happy with my current portable-gaming system — my PDA

It has a big, colorful screen It plays music and movies And I can choose from literally thousands of games to install on it, most of which cost $20 or less

Make no mistake — I think the PSP is pretty cool, and I'll review some of the newer games in a future column (see the end of this column for a few tidbits to tide you over) In the meantime, let s take a look at what's available for Palm OS and Pocket PC PDAs and smartphones You'll be amazed

Fans of the desktop classic Age of Empires, for instance, should check out the Pocket PC version (www gomdm com) It's a dead ringer for the original and provides hours of real-time strategy fun

The same company also sells Madden NFL 2005 for both Palm OS and Pocket PC handhelds This one derives from the console classic, which most football fans regard as the all-time best pigskin simulator Thankfully, all the teams and players have been updated to reflect the 2004-05 season

If you're into adventure games, you'll be blown away by Gilbert Goodmate PDA for Pocket PC (www z-logics com) It's reminiscent of the great LucasArts adventures (the Monkey Island series comes to mind), with a hilarious plot and graphics you have to see to believe

Like board games? Handmark (www handmark com) offers licensed versions of Battleship, Monopoly, Scrabble, Trivial Pursuit and Yahtzee While you're there, check out Lemonade Tycoon, a great little lemonade-stand simulator that secretly teaches business basics

The latest PSP games? Think again These are a few of the many outstanding games available for your PDA

Some of the best puzzle games on the planet can be found at Astraware (www astraware com) In addition to new classics like Bejeweled and Zuma, the site offers a few of my all-time favorites Bookworm, Text Twist and Zap!2016 (an arcade-style shooter)

Believe it or not, PDAs are an ideal place to do crossword puzzles I'm a fan of the Merriam-Webster Crossword Challenge (www jamdat.com), which includes several hundred puzzles, in-game hints and even feedback on your performance That's a pretty great deal for $14 95

OK, I can't resist mentioning a few PSP goodies The Intec PSP Pro Gamer's Kit packs a wealth of useful accessories — everything from retractable earbud headphones to car and wall chargers You can find this sweet bundle at the X10 online store (www x10 com) for $24 99

If you're a Mac user, be sure to check out PSPWare (www nullriver com) and PocketMac for PSP (www pocketmac net), two programs that enable you to sync with your PSP

Finally, movie fans should grab PSP Video 9 (www pspvideo9 com), a freeware utility for converting PC video files to a PSP-compatible format

(April 3 April 6)
By Dennis Fairchild

ARIES (March 21-April 20)

The shuttle of life certainly seems to be weaving a very peculiar pattern at the mo and in spite of your concern over finances what transpires as the Sun leaves your sign on the 19th should find you traveling in a new direction with your monies or totally preoccupied with a major alteration in your day to day

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)

It looks like a creative project or domestic liai son has come full circle and the next step is up to you Bull A New Moon on Friday will open your eyes to something which you should have already noticed Do not worry kiddo There is still time– and time is everything

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)

It's difficult for your sign to weigh out proper action Twin You may be taking so long to make a decision about a business or personal issue that you risk losing the understanding and sup port of those concerned There are situations when any resolution is better than none This is one

CANCER (June 22-July 23)

Yeah It was a cranky March right MoonKid? Don t let someone who knows you well interfere with what is essentially your baby or livelihood Friday's New Moon may encourage you to give others the benefit of the doubt but that is no reason to let anyone else take control Keeping the peace is not as vital as maintaining your independence kid

LEO (July 24-Aug 23)

Hey Lion You ve held a difference of opinion with a loved one and biz associate for long enough Now a midweek planetary change means that it's best to speak– even though you may not get satisfaction until later this month Remember – not everyone sees life with your vision or from your viewpoint

VIRGO (Aug 24-Sept 23)

Are you frustrated over recent developments on the money landscape Virgo? Well major celes trial forces affecting your ruler Mercury planet of the mind spell success for a new endeavor at home or work Just don't rush matters now con fidence and experience are the products of patience and hard work

LIBRA (Sept 24-Oct 23)

Believe it or not Balancer the good times are about to get better! This week s Solar Eclipse into the most dynamic area of your chart will boost your confidence to such an extent that for once you won t be scared to take the kinds of risks that make things happen

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)

The Sun's transit of the well being area of your chart will bring health issues to the force and compel you to do something about them No matter how strong you are you must learn to treat your body with more respect Scorp Take a break don t work yourself into the ground

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21)

Your best bet this week seems to be in allowing partners or close companions to air their opin ions and feel important kiddo Otherwise the Solar Eclipse in your element on Friday could create all kinds of arguments and conflicts What really matters is that is that there is about to be an upsurge in your financial fortunes

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 21)

To imply that there are those who are hoping that you will take a tumble may sound rather far fetched However with the Sun in your most sensitive area of your solar chart this month signifies that this is very much a time of power struggles and you simply cannot afford to miss a trick Cap

AQUARIUS (Jan 22-Feb 19)

No matter how stressed out you feel on no account create a commotion now WaterBearer Friday s Solar Eclipse will force loved ones to make amends or alter their ways In fact your time and energy must concentrate on financial affairs– otherwise difficulties could soon become disputes

PISCES (Feb 20-March 20)

It's time to slow down and count your blessings Fish You've been moving so fast that you may have overlooked just how lucky you are to have people around you who are always to be count ed on to look out for your interests it would be nice to something for them too

"I would never have made it without him," said Johnson, 43 "He counter balances me to help me walk. I drop a lot of things because of neuropa thy He's my co-designer He helped to pick up everything"

Lessons we've learned from Red Lake school tragedy

The tragedy at the Red Lake Reservation is the deadliest school rampage since the shootings at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo

What have we learned

■ The Red Lake Band of 5,000 Chippewa Indians live on the Red Lake Reservation in Minnesota about 120 miles from the Canadian border

■ The reservation has a fishery, a casino, a law enforcement center, and 40 percent unemployment, and a high school

■ One of its young citizens was Jeff Weise, 16-years-old, who suffered serious misfortune in his family his father committed suicide, his mother is in a nursing home following an accident He was repeatedly beaten by his mother before her accident

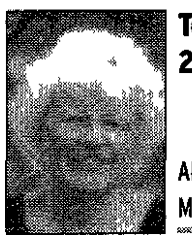
■ Last year, Jeff attempted suicide and was admitted to a hospital for psychiatric help His latest dose of Prozac was 60 milligrams

■ Jeff wore black clothing, espoused Nazi philosophy, and depended on the Internet to help him with his loneliness and abuse He was bullied, shunned, teased, and considered weird and anti-social by peers

■ On March 21 Jeff killed his grandfather, his grandfather s companion, then drove to Red Lake High School and killed a security guard, a teacher, five students, injured seven others, and killed himself He used his grandfather s gun

READ THE ABOVE LIST AGAIN, TAKE YOUR PICK: WHY DID THIS ADOLESCENT KILL?

Glenn Stutzky, an instructor at the Michigan State University School of Social Work, and an expert on bullies and violence in schools, writes in the Detroit Free Press, "We have allowed a culture of abuse and meanness to exist in our schools and it is in the soil of meanness that the seeds of violence and revenge take root and grow



Teens in 2005

Alice McCarthy

Last year, Jeff attempted suicide and was admitted to a hospital for psychiatric help. His latest dose of Prozac was 60 milligrams.

James Garbarino, professor at Cornell University and author of Lost Boys Why Our Sons Turn Violent and How We Can Save Them (Anchor, 2000, $14), reminds us that many boys are immersed in the violent images of the media

He also indicates that probably Jeff s classmates knew how troubled he was – and that the school must gain the confidence of students to prevent 'these terrible losses It is a matter of seeking change in the climate of school environment, he says Both Garbarino and Stutzky commend the value of police officers in schools who act as conduits to school authorities about brewing trouble The latest twist in the Red Lake Reservation tragedy is the possible involvement of a second adolescent, the son of the tribal leader

As Stutzky explains, 'The varying factors that culminated in the deaths at Red Lake School, factors that include harassment, intimidation, bullying, and isolation, exist in schools across the nation Even now, other situations are brewing'

Readers of your columnist's Healthy Newsletters know of the emphasis we place on urging parents to check in their schools conflict-resolution and bullying prevention programs

You may recall our January article for this column, A safe school safe for all students In that article, we urged educating teachers about how to address bullying Your columnist again asks parents to learn what school programs are available to students related to conflict-resolution and bullying prevention This effort on your part may save lives at your adolescent's school

Peter's Principles

Peter Nielsen

Exercise keeps mind sharp

Question· Frank from Southfield is getting on in years and needs tips on staying mentally sharp
Answer Two new studies could provide just the answer you're looking for, Frank In Europe, test subjects between the ages of 70 and 90 were questioned about their levels of physical activity back in the year 1990 A decade later, research found that less active men scored two and a half times worse on mental ability tests than their more active counterparts' The study shows a direct link between inactivity and declining mental ability as we age A test done at Harvard showed similar results, though there were differences in kind of physical activities involved In that study, American men tended to walk more and the European men did a lot of bicycling There were other differences in the two studies, but both reached essentially the same conclusion As we age, exercise is just as good for your brain as it is for your body

Question: Randy from Birmingham e-mails for tips on lowering blood pressure through exercise.
Answer Randy, in this case, just a little sweat equity can make a world of difference More than 50 million Americans are affected by hypertension, which can lead to a laundry list of dangerous health conditions including heart disease and stroke The good news is that you can usually take care of the problem with the right diet and just a little bit of exercise Cut down on simple carbohydrates and be sure to reduce your sodium intake Also, exercising as little as 60 to 90 minutes a week can do a lot more than you think A new eight-week study shows that patients working out as little as an hour to an hour and a half a week cut their systolic blood pressure by as much as 12 points and their diastolic blood pressure dropped by as much as eight points Those test subjects getting less than 60 minutes a week of exercise showed no reduction in blood pressure That's a big health payoff for just a little bit of effort on your part

BMT update

Forum to provide information on bone marrow transplants

STAFF WR TER

Marla Murphy is living proof that bone marrow transplants give cancer patients a second chance, but 14 years later information is still scarce about the procedure Diagnosed with CMML chronic myelomonocytic leukemia, in 1990, Murphy was lucky to have nurses for friends to research medical arti cles

In November of 1991 at age 51, she left for the Seattle Cancer Care Alliance/Fred Hutchinson center and an allogeneic BMT from a donor Six years later, little progress had been made in informing the public so she began chairing the National Bone Marrow Transplant Link (nbmtLink) Forum to educate patients families caregivers and the health community about bone marrow and stem cell transplants

Today 18,000 Americans annually undergo a bone marrow or stem cell transplant to treat cancer aplastic anemia and other life threatening diseases This year s forum from 8 30 a m to 3 p m Saturday, April 16, in the Livonia Civic Center Library, celebrates the survivors and updates potential candidates on the latest trends in transplants For more information about the free forum call (800) 546-5268 or visit www nbmtlink org

"What we re trying to do with the forum is to present speakers on the various stages of transplantation by featuring BMT coordinators co-presenting with doctors Patients have the most contact with coordinators They ll tell what will happen even before entering the hospital," said Murphy of Livonia In the afternoon we ll address the caregiver's role which is critically important because no one can go through the transplant process without someone there for support My entire family came out and friends, even my ex-husband It takes a whole village to get a person through this'

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Marla Murphy is chair of the bone marrow transplant forum for an eighth year. The photo is of Dr Donnal Thomas, winner of the Nobel Prize for Medicine in 1990, and transplant survivors who returned to Seattle for a patient reunion in 2000

BACK TO WORK

It took Murphy over a year to 'bounce back and return to teaching at Wayne Westland Schools

It s like a transfusion so you think the transplant s nothing, said Murphy, who retired in 1994 after teaching for 29 years The part that becomes long and arduous is where doctors are managing and anticipating problems like rejection even though marrow is a perfect match Caregivers can expect to take the patient back and forth to a medical facility for many doctors visits My rejection manifested itself in my eyes I couldn t tell, but the doctors could Post transplant is where the caregiver becomes key

Later in remission detection of secondary cancers such as breast, throat mouth and ovarian became a priority for Murphy who s at increased risk Today she is doing everything possible to avoid these dreaded diseases by eating cancer-fighting fruits and vegetables in addition to doing Pilates and aerobics three days a week in a Livonia continuing education class

Nutrition for BMT patients is among the topics to be discussed at the forum by registered dietitians Jessica Little of the BMT Unit at University of Michigan Hospital, and Katie Haraminac of the U-M Comprehensive Cancer Center BMT survivor Stewart Francke, a local musician, will reveal his experiences and talk about managing emotions as will Patricia Miller, a nurse practitioner in the psychoncology clinic at U M Comprehensive Cancer Center Two of the most common reasons patients and family members visit the psychoncology clinic is because of depression and anxiety

There s so much stigma to seeing anybody in psychiatry we want to break that right down, said Miller "We want for them to see in many ways that depression and anxiety are buddies of cancer I'll be there the entire day if people have any questions afterwards"

For the last two years, patients and families have come to Dr Adil Akhtar after his talk. Akhtar and another physician established the BMT program at Oakwood Hospital before he became director of oncology services at William Beaumont Hospital, Troy The West Bloomfield resident has been interested in bone marrow transplants since he was on the faculty at Karmanos Cancer Institute from 1996-98 At this time, transplants are only being done at Karmanos, Oakwood, U-M and Henry Ford hospitals Akhtar eventually hopes to establish a BMT program at Beaumont

Local pre-nursing student an advocate for stem cell research

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Many patients like Katherine Hammons turn to bone marrow or stem cell transplants when other treatments fail. From the time Hammons was diagnosed with systemic lupus at age 19 until her 30s, the disease progressively ravaged her body, causing two strokes and a number of complications including pancreatitis.

After 17 monthly treatments of intravenous chemotherapy and then oral chemotherapy at University of Michigan Hospital, she'd had enough. Hammons began searching the Internet for treatment options and found doctors doing stem cell transplant research at Northwestern Medical Center in Chicago. She became the fifth patient in the world to receive an autologous transplant using her own cells to treat systemic lupus.

Hammons' experience will be featured in a story on stem cell research in the June issue of National Geographic. Since the transplant in 1998, she has become somewhat of a celebrity. People magazine did a story on her three years ago.

"Initially I went to Chicago for an evaluation to see if I was a candidate for the research," said Hammons, who today is a pre-nursing student at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. "After I was approved, I had to petition my insurance company and was rejected. Family and friends raised $175,000. I returned to Chicago for four months but wasn't in the hospital all of the time. They attempted to harvest my stem cells through the veins and port. Because of the chemo there weren't enough stem cells to continue the transplant so they harvested the stem cells through the hip bones then froze those and gave me drugs to kill my immune system."

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Katherine Hammons is studying to work in nursing research. She underwent a stem cell transplant for systemic lupus in 1998.

Hammons was put in a sterile controlled room in the hospital and the stem cells defrosted and returned to her via an IV. Then the waiting began for the stem cells to graft. During this time she had no immunity.

"After returning home, I was confined and had to wear a mask in public," said Hammons. "I wasn't allowed to clean or do laundry. When someone was cleaning, I had to be in another room. It was a very controlled environment. There were some complications with a reaction to one of the drugs along the way."

Nevertheless, Hammons is glad she decided to undergo the transplant. Today she's supporting other patients who choose to make the decision by volunteering her time to tell them about the procedure.

"I was in Chicago a couple of weeks ago for an annual checkup and everything was good," said Hammons, 45. They've now done 50 transplants so far and stem cell research shows it is not just going to treat cancer but may also be used in treating multiple sclerosis, Crohn's, scleroderma, and rheumatoid arthritis."

UPDATE

said Akhtar who practices oncology at the Cancer and Leukemia Center in Rochester Hills and will talk about autologous (patient as donor) transplants. Dr. Joseph Uberti, co-director of the Karmanos stem cell transplant program, speaks about allogeneic (related or unrelated donor) transplants. "In 2005, patients don't have a place to go for credible information. They go online but don't know who to believe. These kind of forums provide patients with an opportunity to come and understand the process in layman's terms. When we do bone marrow transplants, we're basically trying to eliminate the disease by giving patients high doses of chemo so it will eliminate the lymphoma, leukemia or cancer. That high of a dose will eliminate normal bone marrow also so the transplant is done.

"We used to only do transplants for cancerous diseases. Now we're trying to test the transplant in non-cancerous disorders where there's an abnormality of our immune system. We're still in the experimental stage but preliminary data is very exciting. Centers are performing autologous transplants for lupus and multiple sclerosis. In the future as more gene therapy is established we may be able to use gene manipulation through the stem cells – to take a patient's stem cells, fix an abnormal gene or introduce new genes to treat the disease."

LIVING LONGER

Myra Jacobs, like Akhtar, thinks it's an exciting time for BMT transplants. The reason she founded the National Bone Marrow Transplant Link in 1992 was because she remembers the 1980s when the procedure wasn't available in Michigan. NBMT Link provides information and support services from its Southfield office although its Web site is visited by people from as far away as Asia and Africa.

"They've been able to reduce the rigorous regimen of the transplant and find supportive medicines after transplant that are more useful," said Jacobs, nbmtLink executive director and a West Bloomfield resident. "But often people feel isolated and need support. Our 10th annual forum will recognize survivorship. We have people living longer because of transplants."

ANKLE EFFUSION

You know that fluid can occur in the knee, shoulder or wrist. However the same can happen in your ankle. We are accustomed to thinking that ankle swelling and pain comes from a sprain, that is from an injury or tear to a ligament on the side of the joint. It is easy to assume that any time the joint gives you pain, that you must have twisted or hurt a ligament in some way. But injury can result in fluid accumulating in the ankle joint itself.

A number of other causes can do the same. Inflammatory conditions such as rheumatoid arthritis or gout can cause swelling around the ankle and fluid within the joint. In contrast, if you have bad leg veins or some forms of congestive heart failure, you will experience swelling around the ankle, but it will not be painful. The absence of pain helps your doctor distinguish between a problem going on in the ankle as compared to some other condition that is settling around the ankle and foot area.

If you have fluid in the ankle joint either from injury or inflammation, then the best treatment, just as with knee effusion, is removal of that fluid. The ankle joint is as accessible as the knee or shoulder, but it requires experience to develop a reliable technique.

At times an ankle joint is enlarged in a way that makes it difficult to distinguish swelling around it from fluid within it. In such instances, imagining the ankle with ultrasound provides the answer.

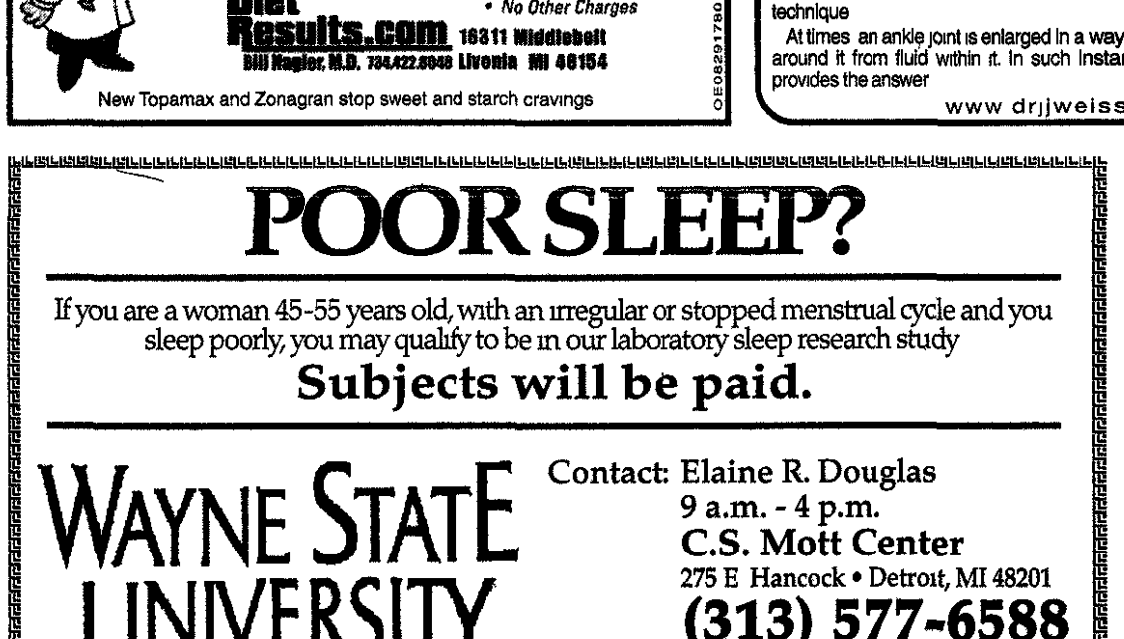
WORRIED ABOUT OSTEOPOROSIS?



Osteoporosis is a gradual thinning and weakening of bones, which can lead to bone fractures. Over 28 million Americans, 80% of whom are women, have or are at risk of developing this condition. Since osteoporosis is often referred to as a "silent disease", many are less likely to find out they have it until they suffer a painful bone fracture.

WENSDY WHITE EDITOR (734) 953 2019 WWHITE@HOMECOMM NET

Local beauty queen vies for national crown

BY WENSDY WHITE

This year, one of the gorgeous contestants in the Miss USA pageant is the girl next door — literally Northville's own Crystal Hayes, 20, currently holds the title of Miss Michigan USA 2005, and will compete for the coveted Miss USA tiara in Baltimore on April 11 You can help the 5' 8" blue-eyed beauty get a long leg up on the competition by casting a vote for her at www covergirl.com through April 6 Hayes grew up on her family farm in Rock, Michigan and aspires to be a fashion photographer She currently works as a stylist at Salon Marzejon in Northville Hayes agreed to chat with PINK about her upcoming competition

How did you get started in pageants?

I've known since I was 5 years old that I was going to be on the Miss USA stage It was something that God put in my heart

And you were lucky enough to grow up thin and beautiful ...

I was actually the ugly ducking and I was very depressed in school Nobody talked to me for quite a few years and then I started taking control of myself and telling myself I could do anything I want and I'm beautiful even though I wasn't at the time A lot of it was mental and going for the gold I also had weight problems – I was 30 pounds overweight

How did you get in shape?

I can eat one bad thing and it shows It's frustrating It's the hardest thing for me to maintain my figure I work out really really hard at least six days a week for competition especially Eating right is another thing as well as getting good sleep and taking vitamins The pageant forces you to stay physically fit

What are the perks of being Miss Michigan?

Ford sponsored me with a Ford Escape and I will trade it in for a convertible GT Mustang even if I don't win Instead of getting one car for the year I get one for winter and one for summer I've had dermatologists doctors dentists physical fitness trainers offer to help me and I've taken advantage of a lot of those things I have a beautiful dress for this competition partly sponsored by a dress shop in Kentucky It was a blessing The dresses alone are extremely costly

How much was it?

Let's just say it was under $4 000 but I don't want to stress that because it's not the dress that wins the pageant I have always found my dresses on sale I was second runner up in a $15 dress

Have you met "The Donald"? (Trump owns the Miss USA pageant)

I will be shortly I'm a fan I think he's a very intelligent guy and he knows what he's doing I admire that My brother is reading Trump's book right now and he told me I want you to ask him if he wants to be my apprentice My boss Charles Marzejon said When you meet him tell him he's gotta come here and we'll give him a haircut

What do you speak about as Miss Michigan USA?

Anything but I'm going to really start focusing on my personal platform which is abstinence education at the junior high level I also try to raise money for breast and ovarian cancer

ASK THE BEVERLY HILLS PLASTIC SURGEON

Q Dear Dr. Youn: As I get older, my eyebrows seem to look more and more grumpy. What can I do about them?
– Not as Mad as I Look

A Dear Not as Mad as I Look, Many people's eyebrows descend with age In addition to making you look more grumpy, they can also give you a tired look If you are not interested in surgery, Botox treatments can be very helpful in improving the wrinkles in your forehead or between your eyes I often perform this on Saturday mornings The best treatment, however, is a brow lift
I perform this surgery using endoscopic techniques (small incisions and fiberoptic scopes), to minimize discomfort and scarring It's designed to produce a refreshed and pleasant look, not a surprised or "Marie Osmond' appearance When combined with facial fat grafting, you can get a really natural rejuvenated look with minimal visible scars

BIRMINGHAM MENOPAUSE

Q I am having hot flashes and night sweats on and off but I am still having occasional menstrual periods. Am I menopausal? Should I be on hormones?

A The time between onset of menopausal symptoms and cessation of menses is termed "perimenopause' and can be just as troublesome as menopause, in terms of disruption of daily activities and affecting one's quality of life Many perimenopausal women are helped greatly by bio identical hormones, which are natural substances, derived from soy and yams, which are chemically identical to the hormones your ovaries manufacture

ASK THE STRAITH CLINIC
Cosmetic Surgery Since 1936

Q What are some of the new trends is cosmetic surgery?

A Cosmetic surgery has become very mainstream partly because of media exposure and because people are realizing that it is affordable There is also a general trend towards the less is more philosophy smaller procedures with less down time non invasive treatments and fillers and injectables such as Restylane® and Botox® In relation to this trend people are adopting a maintenance oriented approach to fight the appearance of aging Th s approach involves having several smaller surgeries as you age instead of waiting for the appearance of aging to become severe A patient may want to start with a procedure around the eyes then perhaps some time later the cheeks or neck can be enhanced Keep in mind that the aging process continues after any surgery and that there may be a limit to how many times a procedure can be repeated before an unnatural look occurs A crucial point is to select an appropriate procedure to correct a certain problem Some patients will not obtain good results with a less invasive procedure and should consider a slightly more invasive but more age appropriate surgery At your consultation your board certified plastic surgeon can guide you with what procedure surgery will give you the most improvement

To determine the best surgery for your particular needs set up a consultation with a surgeon who is certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery (www plastsurgery org)

All Seasons developed with the active senior in mind

BY ALICIA DORSET
STAFF WRITER

All Seasons of Rochester Hills is working hard to change public perspective of "senior housing"

In an attempt to make the switch from traditional retirement homes to housing designed for today's changing senior, All Seasons is a unique community designed with something for everyone, no matter what age or living needs

"Our goal was to create an 'alive building' that would become home to an active adult community,' Maurice Jerry Beznos, partner of Beztak Properties, All Season's developer, said 'The emerging retirement generation derives from a population of people who enjoy travel, fine hotels and resort living"

The development opened six weeks ago in Rochester Hills Originally, Beznos found a desire to live a more active, engaging lifestyle later in life wasn't being met by current senior-living facilities and decided to make All Seasons the answer to that problem

ACTIVE LIFESTYLE

"We found that people wanted stimulation in their environments that could take many, many forms," said Beznos "I think people are looking for stimulated living

The development is composed of 140 one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments that offer either patios or balconies All Seasons offers both independent living facilities and options for those require additional assistance

Amenities such as linen services, 30 meals a month, housekeeping, 24-hour emergency services, an on-staff nurse, on-site management and even limousine transportation are just a few of the options that make up the customized lifestyle at All Seasons

"Life expectancy is longer today and yesterday's 80s are today's 60s," Mary Jane Willamson, development designer, said "People are more active and involved in life We wanted to create spaces that are more modern, aesthetic and energetic

Willamson's firm, Ford & Earl Associates, Inc , designed All Seasons The design team selected many of the complex's decorating ideas from colors and tones found in nature to create a relaxing atmosphere Nature play an important role at All Seasons as the property is surrounded by wetlands

ENVIRONMENT

The common areas inside All Seasons were created to provide a warm, comforting environment for residents and their guests A large component to the design scheme was ample lighting An abundance of windows and skylights allow residents to enjoy the outdoor surroundings while complementing the furniture and accessories inside All Seasons

"Lighting is one of the most critical aspects of a residential living space," John Boday, director of design for Ford and Earl, said "When you light from above it can be very depressing and it can create unpleasant features on most people because you're casting shadows on their faces We use 'up' lighting to warm the room and bring the upper wall surfaces to life"

Animated walls and LED programmable lighting allow the building to change its appearance throughout the day or as the need arises Room dividers can project images of waterfalls that may turn into pictures of a salt-water aquarium

All Seasons has not one but five different dining areas for residents to enjoy not only with other community members but with their families as well Some of the smaller rooms can be used for private gatherings

'We created all these venues to get a diverse experience," Beznos said

The living areas of All Seasons offer senior residents a multitude of leisure options

The dining areas were created to resemble intimate restaurants rather than cafeterias The grand dining room features a fireplace in addition to the daily-cut flowers and hand-selected table accessories

With its large size, Beznos wanted All Seasons to feel like a small community Residents are encouraged to bring in their own family photos to put on display in the common areas

"As you move throughout the building, you feel like you're in someone s house," Beznos said

Artwork from local landmarks, including the Detroit Institute of Arts, the former J L Hudson's building and Cranbrook are featured throughout All Seasons to show the community's changing landscape

On-site activities allow residents to enjoy the most of the resources around them, such as regular concerts All Seasons benefits from its close location to Oakland University and the programs it offers to area residents

All Seasons even features an on-site social director to meet the needs of residents

Home sales volume tops revenues of many Fortune 500 companies

(PR Newswire) The value of new homes sold across the state last year totaled $7 4 billion, according to the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan (BIA)

The sales value exceeded the revenue of some of the world's largest companies based in Michigan and, unlike those companies, it is all part of Michigan's economy

"The combined average sale price of new homes built and sold last year is more than the most recent reported annual revenue of CMS Energy Corporation, Federal-Mogul Corporation, Kelly Services and 18 other major corporations based in Michigan," said Dominic J Moceri, 2005 president of BIA and principal in Moceri Companies of Auburn Hills

"In addition, the home sales all occur in and benefit our state, while sales by these companies based in Michigan are made locally, nationally and, sometimes, internationally This is more proof that the building industry — particularly new home construction — is a key driving force in Michigan's economy"

U S Census Bureau statistics show 52,800 new housing permits were issued statewide in 2004, with a sales value of $7 4 billion before land costs, estimated at $2 2 billion Michigan ranks eighth in number of permits issued for states in the United States

According to the latest report by Housing Consultants, Inc , a Clarkston-based housing permit survey firm, 24,000 of those new housing permits were issued in nine southeast Michigan counties in 2004, generating an estimated $6 6 billion in sales volume, including land

These figures are only part of the positive impact that housing has on Michigan's economy According to the National Association of Home Builders, housing's economic impact doesn t end when the home is sold and the new owners move in In the first 12 months after purchasing a newly built home, owners spend an average of $8,905 to furnish, decorate and improve their homes In Michigan during 2004, these expenditures further boosted the economy by another $470 million

Windows make traditional home design truly unique

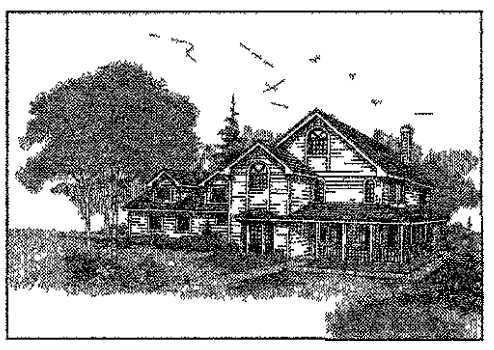
This very traditional home of brick and stucco has a great classic look The Marcell (D4133) has numerous windows, all shaped different which adds uniqueness to the façade

There are the triple arched windows on right, the door with windows on each side and a slight arch over, the square windows to the left of the door with a basement window down below These are very eye-catching from the street making the home extremely attractive

A covered porch with large pillars surrounds the door Entering inside a closet with a large planter shelf over is directly in front of the door On the right side is the great room, open and spacious with 10-foot ceilings, and on the right is the staircase to upstairs and the optional basement

The family room has large windows in the front as well as in the rear This provides a great amount of sunlight for this large room A fireplace is on the right wall, bringing warmth to the room in the winter

Behind the closet in the entry are a half bath and the pantry and a built-in desk adjacent to the kitchen The angular kitchen runs around the wall in a "c" shape, open to the nook and great room There is a window over the dual sink in the rear, plenty of counter space and an island in the center The nook has bay windows and a door that opens onto the deck or patio in the back



The master suite is a nice size and has many amenities that help relieve the stress of the day There is a large spa tub, great for soaking away the cares, an oversized shower, as well as two sinks

The large walk-in closet makes finding something to wear easier Between the staircase and the master suite is the utility room, which also opens into the two-car garage

Upstairs are two large bedrooms, each with a wall closet and windows that overlook the backyard The bathroom has a single sink and a linen closet in outside area while the stool and tub are in a secondary private area.

What will my next house be like?

It is challenging to say what the new homes of tomorrow will be like Homeowners are a diverse group and residential architects and builders will design and construct homes that meet their many preferences

Buyers will continue to specify homes that use energy efficiently and are easy to maintain More and more new homes will come with flat ceilings to reduce the amount of air space that must be heated or cooled

Living space will feature strategically placed windows to enhance natural lighting and reduce glare Advanced materials, including windows and roofing, will add to the home's efficiency as well as its lower maintenance

As more of us join the ranks of telecommuters, we'll create dedicated office space in our homes With less rigid lines between professional and personal lives, our family dynamics will change, further affecting home space

One of the biggest factors already impacting design, is how technology impacts space needs More new homes will have media rooms with sophisticated sound and video systems built-in to make the home a center for entertainment

Adorno Piccinini

Life cycle housing is another trend in home design Many people are moving less, and want their homes to grow and change with them as they go through different stages in their lives

Attics will be designed to be finished if and when the owner needs added space, to accommodate a new child or a parent, for instance, that comes to live with the family

Homes will be situated on lots specifically to allow room for an addition if and when the time comes Such flexibility in planning will also help when it is time to sell the home

Homes will be situated on lots specifically to allow room for an addition if and when the time comes. Such flexibility in planning will also help when it is time to sell the home.

Garages are increasing in size to an average of three berths to accommodate more vehicles and to provide more storage space Increasingly, garages are likely to be set back from the street —often as a detached structure —and feature flex space above for an in-law suite or home office

Health-conscious buyers will increasingly call for exercise spaces and all-season rooms for projects and hobbies Floors in special purpose rooms will be designed to cushion an exerciser's feet, or provide specialized storage for tools and hobby supplies

Where this space is provided in a finished lower-level, light shafts will be used to introduce natural lighting

With the world seemingly spinning faster, the home will increasingly be a spot for casual gathering as we look for a greater connection with family and friends Look for more front porches, expanded kitchens and large family rooms while formal areas become multi-purpose rooms with built-in bookshelves in the dining room, for example, so the area can be used as a study when not needed for formal entertaining

What will your future new home be like? You tell me

WHY SOME COMPANIES AREN'T FINDING APPLICANTS

WORKWISE

by Mildred L. Culp

The continuing labor shortage keenly affects companies with jobs they can't fill and employees who are covering more than one position What causes the disconnect? Although people are proud of their ability to multi-task, job seekers and employers are over-relying upon technology, to the virtual exclusion of other vehicles and tools This imbalance gums up the process on both sides of the hiring desk

Companies are using job boards with unprecedented frenzy, as if they offer something 22(nd)-century-ish -- technology that will do all of the sorting Applicants still scan newspaper ads, but they live for updates on job boards Finding good companies and good people requires a multi-faceted effort

For example, St Louis resident Erika Whitfield comments that the job market seems hidden I see nothing online for writing We have a lot of smaller papers here, but you never really see anything posted ' Similarly, Mark Fetters isn't having much luck finding inventory management listings in the same area 'There's definitely a job market (here) in general, ' he observes "There are lots of IT jobs and financial jobs

It seemed to be a little slow tow- end of the year, he continues ' I can t find anything new in my field I guess those positions are filled He was hoping for an upturn in February, which didn t materialize

Seven years ago, Fetters temped every day while job hunting That increased his opportunities to submit his resume Today, temp jobs in his field seem to have vanished ' It seems to me that there are fewer jobs, he states Whitfield describes the market as ' challenging, which makes me more ambitious I'll write for free to show I m a quality writer I ll try any type of writing once to see if I'm good at it She says that the market is very much like it was during college, when she also worked full-time and did internships

Across the country in San Francisco, Barb Roy is looking for a senior position in marketing communications or public relations, for which she considers her writing skill her point of difference Alternatively, she expresses interest in writing or editing positions

Fetters' point of difference is adaptability based upon experience in developing planograms, which can be used outside of his specialty Whitfield says that her combined writing, broadcasting and promotional experience comprise her point of difference She wants to find a position in a non-profit that needs a person in promotion and fundraising Fetters has been looking since October 1, Roy somewhat casually in September, "and taking interviews in November "Whitfield has been looking in her field since college graduation (almost three years)

KNOWING THEIR MARKETS

How well do they know their markets? Roy has really studied her area In San Francisco, she says, I d say that there are more positions than within other parts of the Bay area (San Jose, for example) While there appear to be many marketing opportunities, a closer look at the details reveals the following about the positions being offered

- The larger companies are hiring on short-term contracts, with an option for full-time,
- At least a third of the offerings are in start-ups, and
- Positions offered are, generally speaking, not senior-mid level but more entry-level while requiring more mid-level experience She perceives a great number of openings, but of lesser quality and salary, probably indicative of a need for staff but an absence of supportive budget '

All three are finding their markets challenging Interviewers tend to be asking themselves, Roy notes, not whether their candidates are creative and enthusiastic enough to bring something original to this position, but ' how many years has this person spent in a corporate structure exactly like ours, performing this same task, for our competitors? '

That see to be the key She needs to market to n ntil they drop Some employers play on the expectations of many women, that they must know a job before they start (Men don t seem to have the same expectation) Roy has three alternatives

- keep hunting for a better company,
- accept a less challenging position and prepare for a promotion, and
- open her own business

Fetters and Whitfield need to redirect their searches to include appealing organizations

Job boards are not the answer to finding a job, they are only one piece of the puzzle and you must use other means, also

These can be found directly and indirectly, at professional associations or in directories

Perhaps if companies were more willing to speak with applicants, and if applicants were more willing to approach them directly, the problem they both have would be solved The boards" aren t the answer They re simply one piece of the puzzle Expecting them to be more productive than they are keeps the door closed to other means of finding matches

The Jaguar X-Type 3.0 Vehicle class: Luxury compact passenger car. Power: 3.0-liter 227-horsepower engine. Mileage: 18 city / 28 highway. Price: $29,995. Where built: Merseyside, England.

Avanti NewsFeatures

The moment I first set my eyes on the new Jaguar X-Type, thoughts ran through my mind that it was a work of art A fine work of art to be looked at -- at different angles, different ways, up and down, all around

Beautiful Just, beautiful From the tip of the jaguar's nose flying out of the hood to the rear tail pipe, this Jaguar X-Type is just plain beautiful in every way and at every angle

But it wasn't the looks alone that impressed me about this vehicle It wasn't even the great performance, the awesome comfort, the great mileage or the fabulous ride and handling characteristics of this Jaguar that did it for me

It was the price

So much so that it is on the top of my new-car buying list right now Give up my huge sport ute? Sure For this, would do it in a heartbeat

Consider that it takes just a hair under $29,000 for the opportunity to put a Jaguar in your drive way and nestle it in your garage every night And then to have the awesome opportunity to drive this vehicle every single day that you own or lease it

Cool!

Value Man alive, the value you get for your money in this Jaguar X Type Most of the stuff that you would really expect in a fine luxury automobile is right there, where it should be From the heated leather seats to the all-wheel drive capabilities, the Jaguar is packed to the max with value

The X Type driven this week was the one outfitted in the 3 0 liter engine, which actually stickers at just under $34,000 Still, it's a value, considering most people spend that much -- or more -- on their sport utility vehicles

Let s slip inside the Jag Its seats envelope around you like a little baby swaddled in warm flannel Wood veneer is tastefully done and placed in logical areas

There are so many places to store stuff, it's incredible Every nook and cranny of the X-Type is used to be able to store your car phone, cassettes, CDs, maps, Tim Hortons Ice Cap and just about anything else you can think of I didn't personally count each and every one, but Jaguar documents say there are 29 separate, individual storage com partments - 30 if you include the trunk

On the glove box you'll find a cool little hook that allows you to place your purse or a small shopping bag suspended and off the passenger's-side floor where it may spill all over Don't you just hate it when your purse topples over, the phone slips out into the wheel well and then starts ringing? Won't happen again with that little retractable hook

There's a lot of space all the way around for your comfort and the comfort of your passengers Nobody complained all week about comfort The X Type had enough room for everyone and everything I hauled around Jaguar calls it a "compact sized Jaguar" Let them talk like that We know better

Let's go back outside for a moment The lines, the shapes, the way it all flows together is a piece of harmony All of the work on the exterior lends the X-Type to a huge cargo area under the rear deck lid

If you want safety, you've got safety All-wheel drive we mentioned already Then you've got your basic anti-lock brakes, front seat side-impact airbags, side curtain airbags both front and rear, three-point belts all around and a collapsible brake pedal

Jaguar has incorporated its very own Dynamic Stability Control system as part of the "sport" package, but it's an option on the 3 0-liter model It uses sensors like steering angle, lateral-G and yaw and can minimize under- and oversteer conditions that could result in a skid It corrects all that and keeps you safe

You haven't experienced ride and handling like this in any other vehicle, let me tell you Agility should be its middle name, thanks to its super-stiff body structure, four-wheel independent suspension and top-mounted struts Variable speed-sensitive steering rounds out the package by giving you fabulous response at every speed and turn of the wheel

Sounds like I fell in love with a vehicle I really didn t think I would? You bet Would I buy it? Sure would Now go get yourself one Now
