Residents want church to park expansion plan

BY BRAD KADRICH

While NorthRidge Church officials await a federal court ruling on the fate of the 1996 consent judgment that allowed the church to move to Plymouth Township in the first place, residents in neighboring subdivisions are anxious about why the church wants the judgment struck down.

Back in October, NorthRidge Church representatives asked Federal Court Judge Denise Page Hood to throw out an agreement reached between then-Temple

Baptist Church and Plymouth Township. The agreement limits the amount of growth the church, located at North Territorial and Ridge, is allowed.

In its motion, the church argues the township's lack of willingness to amend the judgment unfairly inhibits the church's growth and violates the Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act of 2000.

'The consent judgment is void and it is no longer equitable (and) ... violates RLUIPA. NorthRidge Church requests the court reopen the case and set aside the consent judgment," the church's motion reads.

Plymouth Township officials like the consent judgment just the way it is, and feel church officials signed it in good faith and should abide by it.

"The township is saying per the laws regarding consent judgments, they entered into agreement on their own volition, therefore you can't overturn this," said Jim Anulewicz, the township's director of municipal services. "After listening to both parties, (Page Hood) decided ... if the church wished to modify consent judgment, it should formally submit a plan. I haven't heard from them, nor has the court reached a final conclusion."

NorthRidge Church Senior Pastor Kevin McKenna said until Page Hood reaches a decision, church officials wouldn't have anything to say.

We have no comment at this point," McKenna said. "We're awaiting a ruling by the federal court, and we won't have a comment until after that ruling.'

City OKs camera bid

BY TONY BRUSCATO

All eyes will soon be on downtown Plymouth after the city commission approved the purchase of 13 security cameras that will focus on Kellogg Park, The Gathering and public rest room entrances, as well as portions of Penniman Avenue, Main Street, Ann Arbor Trail and Union Street.

"This is purely preventative and pre-emptive," City Manager Paul Sincock said. "When you have the number of events and number of people that visit our downtown, you have to have tools available in case you need them.

"It's the standard of first-line security that is virtually everywhere today," Sincock added. "You can't go to a convenience store, fast food restaurant, anywhere where you're not going to be on video. We're moving into the 21st century."

Security Designs of Livonia was awarded the $30,476 bid for the cameras.

Sincock said the camera images will be digitally recorded, with the images available through a secure Web connection to the Plymouth Township police dispatch and the police officer's report area at City

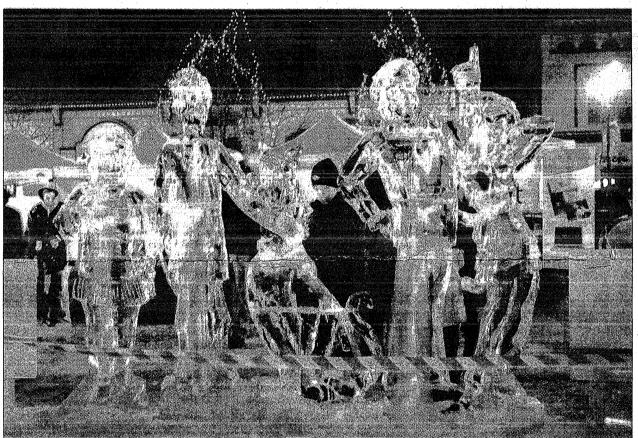

"When it's snowing, the DMS (Department of Municipal Services) supervisor could be at home, call up through a secured Web site and look at Main Street and decide if he needs more road salt or additional crews," Sincock said.

Sincock said there are already 22 security cameras in place, 14 at the Cultural Center and eight at the

The Downtown Development Authority is expected to discuss spending nearly the same amount for security cameras at the parking deck at its Feb. 14 meeting.

Meanwhile, the city commission has extended the original 90-day downtown liquor license moratorium to its March 3 meeting. Commissioners are expected to discuss the affect additional liquor licenses have on downtown parking.

Sculptures, attractions wow ice fest spectators

It's not that the sculptures crafted by the professional and amateur carvers at the 2008 Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular weren't gorgeous, as always. They were.

Board brings pair back for 3 second talk og

BY TONY BRUSCATO

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is a step closer to finding a successor to Supt. Jim Ryan after deciding Tuesday night to bring back two of three candidates next week for a second interview and tour of the district.

The two finalists are Paul Kadri, 42, the superintendent of the Neshaminy school district in Langhorne, Pa., which consists of 9,200 students; and Craig Fiegel, 52, the superintendent of Evergreen Park Elementary School District 124 in Evergreen Park, Ill., which has 1,900 students.

Fiegel will spend Monday in the district, with Kadri returning Tuesday.

"I still have more questions for both of them," Trustee Steven Sneideman said. "But from what I know at this point, they have the potential to do a great job here."

Board President Judy Mardigian cautioned there's still a lot left in the interview process.

'We'll have a chance to know them better, but we still have a lot to do," Mardigian said. "We've got second interviews, reference checks to do and watch how they interact with the staff and public. It's an exciting process and I'm looking forward to it."

Kadri calls himself the "hybrid" candidate because - unlike most superintendents — his background is mainly in finance, with virtually none in curriculum, making him more like the CEO of the district.

"That's probably a positive and a negative," Trustee Nancy Eggenberger said. "I can imagine there's some staff that's saying this guy has never been in the classroom, does he really under-the area has already increased at an alarming rate as the church has expanded.

According to the church's master plan, church officials want to triple the 1,167 spaces now available. To help reach that goal, the church acquired some 25 acres of property adjacent to the church that church officials don't believe are covered by the consent judgment. If the church gets what it wants, there would be nearly 3,300 parking spaces.

"It's tough to get out of here now," said Diane Harrison, a Plymouth Commons resident. "If they triple the parking spaces, it's going to be impossible. If the footprint they're proposing goes through, it'll be bigger than Laurel Park Place (mall in Livonia)."

In court documents, church officials point out they've done what they can, including shuttling worshippers in from the Johnson Controls parking lot, at a cost of some $300,000 per year to the church.

"Too many times we hear from someone their first impression is they must not be welcome if they can't get in or find a place to park," officials wrote. "To allow the consent judgment to continue to shackle NorthRidge would be a direct and clear aberration of our vision and faith.'

Kimberly Baker and her husband bought their Plymouth Commons home in 1995, believing the consent judgment would limit NorthRidge to its size at the time (the church recently opened an 85,000-square-foot addition). Her daughters used to participate in NorthRidge activities.

But the church has grown too big for her tastes.

"We believed NorthRidge would remain as it existed then," Baker said. "We purchased our home expecting many years of quiet enjoyment in this semi-rural community.'

The church, which sits on some 55 acres, currently has more than 14,000 members and averages some 9,000 worshipers for weekend services. The church's master plan talks about growing to some

If church officials want to talk about amending the consent judgment, the township is willing to listen, as long as the church is willing to do it out in the open.

"If the church wants to modify the consent judgment, the township's position is they would make a formal submission and the township would consider that in an open, public forum with input from the public," Anulewicz said. "So far, we haven't heard from stand what's going on." "He probably wouldn't have any prejudices on which way we should be educating our children, working with our experts to make sure we're doing it the right way," Sneideman said. "I felt he knew his stuff in terms of what's going on in the world of education today. I think he would be the most out-of-thebox thinker and innovator." Board members expressed concerns Kadri might "make change for the sake of change' and want to know more about how he would control the budget. They also plan to ask Kadri to elaborate about problems with his current school board, which led both sides to conclude Kadri should seek another position; as well as Kadri's failure to disclose the lawsuit by a female student with an immune deficiency who won the right to become valedictorian while he was superintendent in Moorestown, N.J., in 2003. Trustees agreed Fiegel came to the interview well prepared with knowledge of Plymouth-Canton.

"I liked his financial background ... the meticulous way he talked about dealing with his board you can tell he communicates well with them," Trustee Dianne Gonzalez said. "It sounds like the students in his district had a higher level of achievement after he went there."

Among the concerns the board is expected to discuss with Fiegel include his superintendent experience in a smaller, elementary-only school district and how that will translate to success in Plymouth-Canton; his lack of experience in strategic planning; and development initiatives.

Both candidates will spend a full day in the district meeting with administrators, principals and union leaders and visiting schools and teachers.

The public is invited to meet with the candidates at 4 p.m. both Monday and Tuesday at Plymouth High School. The second interview has been scheduled for 7 p.m. each evening at the E.I. Educational Center, 454 S. Harvey, in Plymouth. If either or both candidates remain as finalists after next week's visits, the board plans to make a hiring decision at a Feb. 19 meeting. That will be followed by a visit to the finalist's current district by school board members.

Granholm: Residents are angry, want action

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER

In her sixth annual State of the State address Tuesday. Gov. Jennifer Granholm told state legislators it was time to end the bipartisan bickering that "angered" Michigan residents during last year's bitter budget debates and to focus on four key areas: jobs, health care, public safety and educa-

"Last year, people wanted decisive action on jobs, on health care, on schools. What they got was partisan rancor over a budget," she said. "So when we listen to the people of Michigan, we'll hear their anger. But we will also hear their hopes for this great

Granholm offered some ambitious ideas in these areas and emphasized her continued support for making Michigan a leader in alternative energy. She said bills were already in the process that show strong bipartisan support and she specifically named legislators from both parties who are working together toward common goals.

Key proposals included: ■ The Michigan Job Creation Tax Credit, a onetime offer for businesses in the 50 fastest growing industries in the country to cut or eliminate their taxes for coming to or staying in Michigan.

■ A Michigan Invests Fund, a fund of about $300 million from the Michigan pension fund and other funds to invest in young businesses.

A 21st Century Schools Fund to support up to 100 smaller high schools emphasizing rigor, relevance and relationships.

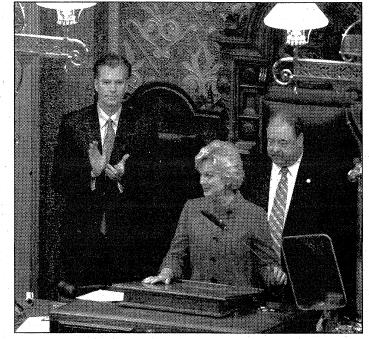

A bill to raise the school dropout age to 18.

■ Full-day kindergarten ■ Increased funding for K-12 and early childhood educa-

Expanding the No Worker Left Behind Program to provide college educations to up to 100,000 displaced workers.

The governor announced that Consumers Energy and DTE were committed to jointly investing up to $6 billion in Michigan, much of it to build wind turbines and wind farms on the passage of a comprehensive energy bill. She said this would create 17,000 jobs in the state.

THINKING ABOUT...

Gov. Jennifer Granholm outlined initiatives for Michigan during her sixth State of the State Address Tuesday night. Applauding in the background is House Speaker Andy Dillon, D-Redford, and standing in the center background is Lt. Gov. John Cherry.

"Alternative energy companies have watched closely as 25 other states have set aggressive goals for their alternative energy use," she said. "We have to meet and beat other states' goals here in Michigan if we are going to attract those companies here."

Granholm said she is asking the Legislature to set a goal of 10 percent renewable electric energy by 2015 and 25 percent

The governor said the budget she will submit to the Legislature next month will contain $200 million in additional cuts and reforms, a $100 million deposit in the state's rainy day fund and, she promised, to rousing applause, "every new initiative I'm proposing will be paid for, no new fees and no new

She said her economic stimulus package would be "made possible by refinancing and lower interest rates — not new taxes."

The governor suggested reforms in the Corrections Department and streamlining dealings with the business community to cut through red

Speaker of the House Andy Dillon, D-Redford, said the governor "hit all the right themes" in her speech. "It set the right tone for Michigan," Dillon said at a brief press conference following the speech. He said he supported the call for bipartisan action.

"The biggest challenge in the state is diversifying the state's economy," he said. "It's not going to happen without capital, without a good educational system and it's not going to happen without a government that works well with business."

State Sen. Bruce Patterson, R-Canton, chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, received a word of praise from the governor for his work on an energy bill making its way through the Senate.

"I knew it was coming. It wasn't necessary, it was gracious and it was appreciated," Patterson said.

He said the speech set the right tone to move the energy bill forward, although there are still differences of opinion on renewable energy. He said he would like to have the bill completed by March. He said he was surprised by the commitment from the two energy giants, but welcomed the

"The governor made a good speech. It was gracious, inclusive," Patterson said. "There were a couple points where I wasn't standing and cheering, but as she went up on the rostrum I was the last senator there and I said good luck and when she came back I said good job."

State Rep. Marc Corriveau, D-Northville, said following the speech that the state couldn't go back to the residents of Michigan for more

"I hope we can get down to business and address some of the things she talked about and put what happened last year behind us," he said.

Corriveau said he was intrigued by Granholm's focus on alternative energy.

'That's something I've learned quite a bit about in the last 13 months and as she said we are in a unique position to benefit on that," he said. "But we have to get out in front. If at some point all those jobs aren't in the state of Michigan, we're going to regret the opportunity we had. That excites me."

State Rep. Phil LaJoy, R-Canton, said the focus was lost last year in the debates over tax increases and budget debates.

"It is a new year and I look forward to working together in a bipartisan fashion for the best interests of the people of Michigan," LaJoy said in a press release. "There is hope for 2008 - I applaud the creation of the government reform commissions to improve and fix the inefficiencies in government, hopefully saving the state billions of dollars in the long

State Rep. Paul Condino, D-Southfield, said he thought the speech was Granholm's best State of the State.

"She is a visionary and has some good ideas, especially in alternative energy, which will take off in a bipartisan fashion," he said.

Condino said the residents of Michigan want government officials to work together.

"The governor said it, the electorate is mad, mad as hell and they don't want to take it anymore," he said. "It's a challenge to all of us to work together. If we get a third done of what the governor asked us to do tonight, it will go a lot farther than we did last year, so I'm hopeful."

Insurers battle over bills to reform individual insurance market

STAFF WRITER

Legislation to reform medical insurance laws in Michigan has set off a fierce battle between Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and commercial insurance carriers.

Hearings began last week in the Michigan Senate on four bills that were quickly approved in October in the state House (HBs 5282-5285) by a biparti-

The four bills are designed to reduce risk on individual health care policies for the nonprofit, state-regulated Blue Cross/Blue Shield.

- The bills would: ■ Create a high-risk pool or guaranteed-access plan for those denied coverage, to spread some of the losses across all health care insurers in the state. Blue Cross is mandated by law to be an insurer of last resort.
- Allow Blue Cross to replace "community rating" with rate bands, which would allow the insurer to set different rates based on age, place of residence and other factors.
- Set a loss ratio of 70 percent, meaning an insurer must spend 70 cents of each dollar collected on health care.
- Set limits on renewal rate increases.
- Allow Blue Cross Blue Shield for-profit subsidiaries to sell other kinds of insurance (their largest subsidiary, The Accident Fund of America is restricted to selling worker's compensation insurance).

STRONG OPPOSITION

The bills have drawn strong opposition from commercial carriers, Michigan Attorney General Mike Cox, the UAW, AARP, the Consumer's Union and others. Commercial carriers have organized the Coalition for Access and Affordability in Michigan to lobby against the legislation.

Mark Cook, Blue Cross Blue Shield vice president of governmental affairs, argues that the nonprofit Blue Cross is at a severe disadvantage as an insurer of last resort at a time when the individual insurance market is growing. The individual insurance market represents 6 percent of those insured in Michigan but is expected to grow as more employers drop insurance benefits and more people retire without company insurance.

"It's a small but growing part of the marketplace and there are some regulatory challenges to that marketplace," Cook said at a meeting last week with Observer ಟ Eccentric editors. "Right now we have Blue Cross, who is a community-rated carrier predominantly, alongside commercial carriers who are virtually unregulated in the commercial marketplace."

He said commercial insurers are able to "cherry-pick" healthy customers by having potential customers fill out health questionnaires to find out if they're healthy. Commercial insurers can deny coverage but Blue Cross must accept anyone who is willing to pay their rates, which are regulated by the state's insurance commissioner. Cook said the law requires insurers to renew anyone who develops a condition but doesn't limit rate increases. He said that often drives customers to Blue Cross.

"We lose money in that marketplace," Cook said. "We've been able to sustain those losses. It could grow to 15-25 percent of the marketplace. We lost $145 million last year in the individual market for those types of policies."

IN THE HIGH-RISK POOL

Blue Cross, which issues 60-70 percent of all health insurance policies in the state, is supporting a high-risk pool model used in 34 other states.

"What happens is someone applies for insurance and they are rejected by another carrier. They would qualify under the high-risk pool," Cook said. "Premiums are capped for those folks. The high-risk pool is a money loser.

Insurance carriers are assessed for the loss based on their market share. Cook said under the proposed legislation, Blue Cross would assume administrative cost and up to 35 percent of claims losses above the minimum 70 percent loss

Attorney General Cox has opposed the legislation for several reasons.

According to Cox, the legislation would:

- Force seniors and sicker citizens to pay more than current law by eliminating the community rating.
- Allow Blue Cross to charge new customers with serious illnesses up to 250 percent more, without challenge.
- ■ Double the time available to deny coverage for pre-existing illnesses, up to 12 months from the current six months.
- Triple the margins Blue Cross can keep from every premium dollar.
- Enable Blue Cross to raise rates without consideration of their surplus.
- Allow Blue Cross to charge individuals more for where they live. ■ Eliminate the role of the health insurance based on attorney general to argue against rate hikes and eliminate the ability of the Office of Financial and Insurance Services to set rates.

"Every change in this package of bills in aimed at increasing profits for a benevolent charity that is already making record profits now," Cox said in a press release issued in December. "And the people, especially the old, sick and most vulnerable, will pay more or lose insurance coverage. This is not about improving the quality of health care. These changes promote profits over people."

Buying a house quality of life issue, not an investment decision was recently approached by a couple thinking about buying their first house. They live in an apartment and are looking in the $200,000-$250,000 price range.

Rick Bloom

They can put 20 percent down. They wanted to know if this was a good is it a good investment time to buy, and what type of mortgage do I recommend?

I believe homes are not necessarily great investments. My view has nothing to do with what has happened with the home market over the last couple of years, although it does confirm some of my beliefs. When you look at an investment you look at real return and houses. when you consider all the factors, have never been a great investment.

There is no house in America that doesn't require maintenance, and eventually, updating to keep the house in good shape. In addition, even in more normal times when

Business tax seminar set

The Michigan Manufacturers Association (MMA) will offer a seminar, "The Michigan Business Tax - A Work in Progress," 10 a.m. to noon Friday, Feb. 8, at Madonna University. Chuck Hadden, vice president of government affairs for MMA, and tax professionals from the law firm Varnum, Riddering, Schmidt & Howlett LLP will present.

The seminar will be held at Madonna University at 36600 Schoolcraft in Livonia.

The cost is $85 for MMA members and $175 for nonmembers. To register or for more information go to www. mma-net.org or e-mail LeAnn Hicks at hicks@mma-net.org or call (517) 487-8557.

that all insurers are required to keep a reserve and that Blue Cross's $2.6 billion in reserve is in keeping with industry standards and appropriate for a company paying out $1.5 billion a month in benefits. He said the reserve was to keep the company's revenue margin at one-tenth of 1 percent.

Cook also defended corporate salaries. Cox was especially critical of the compensation package of more than $4.2 million paid to former Blue Cross President and CEO Richard Whitmer in 2006. Cook said that figure reflected more than 20 years of deferred payments for the outgoing executive.

Cook said the legislation changes the role of the attorney general but does not eliminate his "Right now what he can is call a hearing, object to a rate. What we want to do is supplant that existing system with what we call a true up," Cook said.

Under this system, Blue Cross would file rates for review by the insurance commissioner, the company would also file results and the commissioner would review results to make sure rates are not excessive relative to claims payouts.

Opponents of the legislation have also argued that Blue Cross receives $112 million a year in tax breaks. Cook said that estimate is wrong and that the Blues receive about $80 million in tax breaks because of its nonprofit status.

"For that $80 million benefit, we return more than $300 million in doing things like subsidizing senior rates, group conversions and money we pay to hospitals for charity care, subsidizing the MiChild program for Michigan, a total that adds up to multiples of that tax. We think it's a good return," Cook said.

A study by the Anderson Economic Group, commissioned by the Coalition for Access and Affordability, disputes Cook's figures. It estimates its total burden at $129 million.

Hearings on the legislation are under way in the Michigan Senate's health policy committee. a house increase in value it's mostly an inflationary gain.

That doesn't mean people shouldn't buy a home. While houses may not be good investments, they offer a great quality of life. As to the current market, there is no doubt that home prices have tumbled here and throughout the country. Houses are much more affordable than they were a few years ago. However, I do not believe we have seen the bottom of the market. Home prices will continue to decline but that doesn't mean I wouldn't purchase a home now.

The most important aspect of buying a home is the quality of life issue. If you find a house that fits your needs and will increase your quality of life, buy it. Even though I think that housing prices will continue to decline over the short term, it is very difficult to try to time the housing market.

When it comes to financing a new home, there is no one good mortgage for everyone. If you are purchasing a home and will live in it long term, I would recommend a 30-year fixed-rate mortgage. The rates are near historic lows.

I only recommend adjustable rate mortgages for someone who is going to live in the house for only a few years. This loan is fine for the first few years, but when the rate starts adjusting upward some individuals find they have trouble making their mortgage payment because they never understood or planned for the potential of a higher monthly payment.

Beside the right type of mortgage, it is important to deal with the right mortgage person. When you obtain a mortgage, a good mortgage professional will present a variety of options and explain all the costs and fees. For a referral for any professional, e-mail Rick@bloomassetmanagement.com.

Response a tribute to will to help

Nobody knows exactly what it is that sparks precisely enough sympathy in a human being to cause that person to move from the "awww-that's-too-bad" feeling to an

"I'm-going-to-do-something" action.

Whatever ignites that spark was provided in vast quantities when the Observer published the story of the hard times that had befallen Deborah Rush and her three children, Sean, 13, Chris, 8, and Angela, 10, who were living in a Wayne County homeless shelter when we first talked to them in mid-December.

We're proud to have been a part of what followed the story, since it provides the people who write or photograph stories here a degree of satisfaction in helping connect those in need with those who'll help. It's the kind of compassionate response to that story that proves that there are plenty of good people out there in our communities.

Good people like the potential employers who started calling Rush with job offers the very same day the story was published, which was the day before New Year's Eve.

Good people like the anonymous family who, stationed in the U.S. Navy in Virginia, read the story and offered their vacant, for-sale home to the Rush family in exchange for them paying the utilities.

Good people like the limousine company that picked up the family, took them out to dinner and took them to see the holiday lights show in Hines Park. Then, they took other residents from the shelter to the show, too.

Such acts of generosity restore one's faith in humanity. "My only wish," Deborah Rush told our reporter doing the follow-up story, "is that this goodness continues for the other residents (at the shelter).

That shelter is one place to start, if anyone is feeling the spark after reading this. In Plymouth, of course, there's the Plymouth Salvation Army, which sponsors a food pantry and family adoption programs. There are civic groups such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Goodfellows, all of which do good deeds, and there's the Plymouth Community United Way. Your church is another good place to start.

We know there are plenty of good people around here; this follow-up story offers proof.

Lengthen your life don't drive distracted

It's the last day of January. By now, many - if not most - of us have failed to keep our well-intentioned New Year's resolutions to take better care of our health.

We have not followed through with our diets, exercise routines or promises to quit smoking.

But there's still something we can chances of living longer: stop driving distracted.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that 25 percent of all traffic crashes are caused by driver distraction. That includes talking on a cell phone, even hands-free; eat-For males, traffic ing; continuously operating a crashes were the sixth CD player; reading; applying makeup; shaving; and brushing ranked cause of death,

Traffic accidents remain a leading cause of death, according to National Center for Health Statistics. About one out of every 55 deaths that occurred in 2002 was in a motor vehicle traffic crash. For males, traffic crashes were the sixth ranked cause of death, accounting for one out of every 40 deaths. For females, they were the 10th ranked cause of death, or one out of every 88 deaths that

But why wait until it's against the law to stop driving distracted?

A ticket shouldn't be the main motivator here.

Think about the family you would leave behind if you were killed in an accident and ask yourself if the few minutes of time you save using your cell phone, putting on your mascara or eating in the car are worth it.

Resolve today to give driving your full attention when you're behind the wheel. Set an example for others especially teens, who are just learning to drive.

It may require some sacrifice, but the health benefits are immediate.

Recall foolishness

It's unbelievable that someone who doesn't even live in our community is trying to get our state representative, Marc Corriveau, recalled from office.

A man from Macomb County is heading the recall efforts of several of our representatives. He's trying to dictate what happens in our little corner of Wayne County, and that is simply unacceptable.

What does he know about my local representative? Marc Corriveau has been a true asset to our district. He votes his conscience, he is accessible to the voters by conducting office hours and coffees in the local community, and he works in the best interest of the people he represents.

Let's put an end to the foolishness of a recall and let our lawmakers work for us. Please do not sign a recall petition.

Martha Guenett Simmons

Waste of time

Marc Corriveau has shown nothing but courage and integrity as our elected representative, and yet there is a former lawmaker from Macomb County who is trying to have him recalled. Marc has voted his conscience and has never missed a vote since he was elected — what more could we want from our state representative?

I know I want someone who is willing to be an independent voice and vote how he believes. I want someone who works in the best interest of his constituents and that person is Marc Corriveau.

This recall effort will do nothing but waste time and taxpayer money. I encourage everyone to say NO to anyone who asks you to sign a recall petition for a recall. Tell them that you think Marc Corriveau is doing a great job.

Proposal 'gobbledygook'

Upon reading the "Proposed Ballot Language" the Michigan Health Care Campaign wants on a ballot, I was flabbergasted at the incredible subjectivity of the language. Examples:

■ Who is "every Michigan resident?" How about E.T. or an alien who just breached U.S. borders?

■ What's "affordable and comprehensive?" According to Bill Gates or some transient living under an overpass? ■ What's "fair and cost-effective?"

Think Bush's military misadventures.

And on and on and on ... Gawd! Will Lansing's Solomons define the terms or will outside legals be engaged? Lawyers (inhouse or outhouse) will run up exorbitant fees analyzing terms employing the logic of Charles Lutwidge Dodgson (better known as Lewis Carroll of Alice in Wonderland fame) who brilliantly said, "A word means whatever I want it to mean." Real reform needed istration is no more!

Expanding term limits completely misses the point. We need real election reform, and that means it is imperative that we adapt public financed elections! Let's get lobbyists out of this "game" of politics all together. It is time we ended the corporate purchase of elections/politicians.

On the national level that means per person we would spend only $6 a year to publicly fund each and every election for the House, the Senate and the White House. It's not only practical but far more fiscally responsible to have the public fund elections (politicians can still collect small donations from supporters).

Yes, decreasing term limits will lead to more experienced congressmen. But look where that's gotten us — on a death track in Iraq! We don't need "experience," if it's going to blow our country straight to hell. We need fresh faces and open access for everyday folks to be able to run for office.

Expanding term limits is a joke. If we want representatives who actually represent us (and not the lobbyists and corporate powers that be) then we need to publicly fund elections. Let's start thinking about some real electoral reforms here.

Inhumane law needs change

As a social worker, I have worked on juvenile justice issues for five years. I have researched many policies that impact the lives of youth involved in the juvenile and criminal justice systems. But even through my extensive work, I was not aware that children are sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole until two years ago. Since then, I have met with more than 100 families who are affected by this law. These families represent victims. and incarcerated individuals from all races and backgrounds from northern Michigan, southern Michigan, and all areas in between.

Michigan's policies of locking up children for life are some of the worst in the country. There are 306 individuals serving life without parole in Michigan for crimes they committed as children. Nearly half of the individuals affected by this law were sentenced for crimes committed when they were 16 years old or younger. It is the harshest sentence available in Michigan for any crime and we dish it out to children with little discussion about maturity or culpability.

All the research says that children can be rehabilitated. On Wednesday, Jan. 23, the House Judiciary Committee was expected to hold a hearing on a package of bills to eliminate this inhumane practice. I for one will be calling my legislator to support these bills and I urge you to do the same.

Real estate trust could help school districts meet costs

f you can understand the language of accountants, you'll often find that their dry words all too often mask a rotting cesspool of financial trouble lurking beneath the surface.

sounds pretty tame ... that is, unless you just got a note from your friendly mortgage company saying your house is about to be repossessed.

Here's another and even scarier case: A 2004 report from the nonpartisan Citizens Research Council found "unfunded pension and health liabilities" for Michigan school employees now amount to around $19.3 billion.

For example: "Restrictions in credit

In this case, a "liability" means money legally owed to pensioners who have retired, confidently faithful their pensions would take care of them after their years of service. "Unfunded" means just that. There are no assets on the books allocated to cover the $19.3 billion in pension and health care liabilities promised by the School districts make annual contributions to cover pension and health care obligations for their employees, both active and retired. These contributions today consume around 23 percent of all local school budgets. And they're rising fast. Estimates by Citizens Research Council economists predict their contribution rate will increase to around 32 percent in about a decade.

And that means that school districts, already hit hard by inflation and the funding rigidities imposed by Proposal A, risk being eaten alive by their fixed costs. Even then, what the school districts are paying in isn't going to be enough to cover their obligations.

Think of it as the world's biggest elephant in the room. Those $19.3 billion in pension and health care obligations are long term, legally binding and — duh! - very important to the nearly 410,000 active employees in the system and the 157,000 pensioners. The number of pensioners, by the way, will soon dramatically increase.

Sooner or later, Peter is going to have to pay Paul, and we might as well start thinking hard about how to do it. Most people I talked with don't have the beginnings of a clue. They throw up their arms when pressed for a solution. So here's one possible approach:

Pick up on the idea the auto companies and the United Auto Workers union just adopted to meet their health care obligations. Take all the school buildings and real estate in the entire school system. Sell them to, say, a real estate trust. Lease back the buildings needed for school purposes. Take the excess and use it to fund the unfunded pension and health care liability. Bingo! You've resolved the problem by, in the language of the accountants, "securitizing the asset value." Want evidence that this idea might work? Here are current capital assets shows a slightly lower number — $27.1 billion.

A 2005 report from the Education Policy Center at Michigan State University and the Citizens Research Council puts total depreciated book value of buildings and infrastructure of Michigan schools at $32.6

So let's take $30 billion as a reasonable estimate. Now suppose that school buildings and land could be sold for $30 billion, once the dismal real estate market

From that, you take $19.3 billion to fund the entire unfunded pension and health care liability. That leaves

(Maybe you use some of that money to fund the $8.7 billion that the Education Policy Center estimates is needed to fix the building and infrastructure needs of Michigan's poorer school districts.)

Naturally, the schools will have to pay rent on the buildings they've leased. If the trust needs to get a 5percent return on its $30 billion investment to buy the buildings, that's $1.5 billion a year.

But consider that the real estate trust would without doubt manage and maintain the buildings far more efficiently than school districts do. Department of Education figures for 2006 show a $1.8 billion cost for building operations and maintenance.

Could that be halved?

Possibly. What seems certain is that the figure could be greatly reduced. So even without counting building maintenance savings, there's enough money to provide a return for investors in the trust.

Here's another advantage. Selling school buildings to a real estate trust makes it possible for the trust to dispose of obsolete and unoccupied buildings on the School districts are typically hobbled by local politics and neighborhood pride that interfere with the need to close and sell old schools to match population changes. Allowing the trust to take on this cumbersome task spreads fixed assets to match school needs better than

Moreover, there's a lot of evidence that school districts don't do a very good job in managing the costs of new construction. A new high school in Ann Arbor, for example, is going to come in more than double the original estimated cost. A competent real estate trust could make a big difference in holding construction

Naturally, there are all kinds of serious objections to this proposal. The biggest is that school districts and their citizens own the buildings in their district. That means they'd have to be persuaded that it's in their advantage to sell and lease back.

But if a consequence of the deal was to shed their rising pension and health care payments, they might be very interested.

The point here is that our state is in a financial bind, big time. And the best method of getting out of tight binds is to think outside the box. This proposal does that. It may well need tweaking.

But it would make a lot of sense for the school system, the Legislature and the governor to take a careful look.

I was stunned, and speechless. So stunned, in fact, that I almost missed what he said next.

While waiting to order, I noticed a front page story on U.S. Sen. Hillary Clinton. So we have a woman running for president, the ultimate glass ceiling for women seeking elective office, I thought. But I wondered how far we really have come.

According to the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame Web site, women who were taxpayers won the right to vote in school elections in 1867, but it would be 1917 before we won the right to vote in presidential elections, and the right to vote in statewide elections in 1919. The 19th Amendment gave the right to vote to all women in 1920.

It wasn't long after that women sought leadership positions. In 1919, Phoebe Ely Patterson of Plymouth was the first to be a justice of the peace. Eva McCall Hamilton of Grand Rapids was the first to serve in the state Senate in 1925, while Cora Reynolds Anderson of L'Anse was the first woman in the state House.

Eighty-three years later, we have women serving as governor, secretary of state and on circuit court. But for Clinton to break that ceiling, it will take a groundswell of support. That groundswell is unlikely to come unless both genders have gotten used to voting for women on a local level and seeing them in positions of lead-

Other examples of women leaders include those as mayor in Troy, Southfield, Bloomfield Hills and Farmington.

A number of women enjoy positions as county commissioners, and municipal clerks and treasurers, but a quick survey of areas served by Observer & Eccentric Newspapers shows that the most popular avenue of leadership for women is on the school board.

Library set to observe 'Hockey Day'

In conjunction with Hockey Day in Michigan, the Plymouth District Library will host a special speaker presentation on Saturday, Feb. 16, at 2 p.m.

Located at 223 S. Main St., the library is proud to showcase three pioneers of hockey: Al Renfrew, Tom Mustonen and Raymond Rolak. The trio will share tales of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University hockey rivalry, old-time Detroit hockey and never-before-heard stories of the early days of international hockey.

Renfrew had a storied career as a player, coach and administrator at the University of Michigan, including NCAA championships as both a player and coach.

Native Detroiter Mustonen came from a hockey family, starred at Michigan State University and played for the USA National Team in the 1963 World Tournament in Sweden, continuing on to a career as educator and coach.

Broadcaster and author Rolak has been involved with hockey as a player, administrator and coach, and with international aspects of the sport.

COULD GO ALL THE...WAIT! He's doing a U-turn at the 2yard line! He's at the 5, the 10, the 15..."

Anyone who's ever experienced the buzz that accompanies playing electric football can relate to the unpredictability factor involved with the alltime favorite game of my youth.

The vibrating players would

The guys with their arms spread wide would grab hands and do a series of spins that would

And the kickers must have been made of some kind of performance-enhancing plastic because more often than not they booted the felt ball so far it'd clear the uprights by 60 yards and get lost in our inch-thick shag carpeting.

The game was far from perfect, but my friends and I still loved it — from the down-to-the-slightest-detail-painted NFL players to the cardboard grandstands that made it look as if there were 50,000 screaming fans at every game.

Until a few days ago, I assumed electric football had followed Jarts, BAS-KET and Sizzler race cars down the path to toyland oblivion.

And almost all of the gamers shared the unbridled enthusiasm of Waterford's Steve Martin, who's been flipping the on and off switch on the electric board games since the

Players are not only painted to the smallest detail in their NFL and college uniforms, they even come with attachable face masks and chin straps.

The most notable enhancement is that, unlike the scatterbrained ways of the mini-players in the '70s, today's electric gladiators can actually be controlled to some extent.

"The development of the equipment is almost a science in itself," said Martin, who coaches the Cleveland Browns in a flourishing metropolitan Detroit electric football league. "The No. 1 thing is that the bases have gotten better. There are dials on the bases now that allow you to control the direction the players go. They'll move laterally or stay in one place so that your defensive backs and linebackers can actually play a zone.

"Unlike the early days of the hobby, the players don't just spin around uncontrollably any more."

A starter set that includes two teams, a field and a scoreboard costs around $70 — not a bad price considering the memories it could generate are priceless.

last won the Observerland title in 2001. "It's a tough tourney and great tourney to win. It's great for our boys."

Canton's individual champions included 135-pounder Steve Cox and 140-pounder Brent Winekoff.

Waleed Faraj (103), Carl Lucke (119) and Donnie Watkins (125) also reached the finals.

"Having five in the finals helped us pull away," said Randolph, whose team carried a 24.5-point advantage heading into the finals. "We placed 11 kids and we might have placed a couple more. All the kids wrestled well and a couple placed higher than their seeding.'

Randolph was referring to the third place by Rodger Kropp (171); a fifth by Keith Zech (152); and a sixth by heavyweight Luke Konsitzke.

'Keith Zech taking a fifth when he was unseeded was tremendous," Randolph said. "That was big, that was great. It showed guts and toughness the way he battled.

"Kropp is our senior captain and he was seeded fifth and took a third. And Konsitzke placed for us when he was seeded ninth." Winekoff, third a year ago, captured his first Observerland title while raising his overall record to 27-4 with a 9-3 decision over Belleville's Jacob Losen.

"This is pretty important because it gives us an idea of who wrestles what and who for the districts," said Winekoff, a sophomore. "It's more or less the postseason. Our team is improving their technique and intensity in practice. We have a great coaching staff and we're starting to peak."

Meanwhile, Lutheran Westland's Stephen Kemp (152) and Salem's Jeremy Epley (160) cruised to titles.

Kemp's older brother Neal was Observerland champ at 152 four years ago before going on to wrestle for Triton (Ill.) Junior College where he took seventh in the NCJAA Nationals. (Neal recently helped Lindenwood, Mo. University capture the NAIA National Championship.)

Epley was named upper weights MVP. His father Randy wrestled for Franklin and later was a standout linebacker at Wayne State.

In one of the closest matches of the night, Franklin's Dan Woodall nipped Vince Darolfi in a seesaw battle for the 189 crown, 9-8.

quarter and early in the second to stake the winners to a 13-9 advantage they would never relinguish.

Senior forward Garrett Rebain contributed 11 points and six boards for Plymouth while senior guard Brandon Roberts came off the bench to twine nine.

On "Senior Night," the Chiefs played without their top upperclassman, Neil Sharma, who suffered a leg injury in Friday night's game against Livonia Franklin.

Senior forward Chris Bailey helped pick up the slack by contributing 14 points and 11 rebounds.

Plymouth broke open a close game by outscoring the Chiefs 17-7 in the second period to take a 26-16 advantage into the half. Canton narrowed its deficit to 36-28 with eight minutes to go, but the Chiefs never got closer than seven down the stretch.

"I thought the kids played with a lot of heart tonight," said Plymouth coach Tom Van Wagoner. "Obviously, they were down a little without Sharma, but we beat the kids they put out there.

"It was a good win for us because we had never beaten them before. We've been playing a lot better defense lately which has led to some success."

Canton coach Dan Colligan said he was proud of his team's effort in a short-handed situation.

"I thought they rallied together well in an effort to try to win it without Neil," said Colligan. "Chris Bailey stepped up and did a great job on the defensive boards.

"Offensively — especially in the second half — it seemed like every time we make a little run, we follow it up with a turnover or a missed shot. Plymouth did a good job of keeping us at arm's length."

Plymouth's defense forced the Chiefs to commit 21 turnovers. The Wildcats had 10 miscues.

Neither team shot particularly well. The Wildcats buried 20-of-54 field goals (37 percent) and 7-of-14 free throws. Canton connected on one-third of its field goals (18-for-54) and 60 percent of its freebies (3for-5).

SALEM 57, W.L. NORTHERN 43: On Tuesday at Salem, the Rocks used a balanced attack to defeat the visiting Knights.

Junior forward Courtney Frazier led the winners with 12 points and six rebounds. Senior Grant Stone and junior Jimmy Dexter both added 11 points.

Junior Joe Posler chipped in with six points, nine rebounds, seven assists and four steals. Posler also sparkled on the defensive end, holding Northern leading scorer Tim Ferenc scoreless.

Leroy Jackson paced the Knights with 15 points.

The victory improved Salem's record to 7-8 overall and 5-4 in the WLAA's Lakes Division. Northern tumbled to 1-14 and 1-8, respectively.

Northern led 26-23 at the half before Salem seized a 36-35 edge after three quarters.

Dexter and Stone keyed the winners' decisive 21-8 run in the final period as they netted six and five points, respectively. Salem hit 10-of-15 free throws (67 percent) while Northern went just 5-of-14 (35 percent) from the charity stripe.

AGAPE 62, PCA 49: On Tuesday, four Wolverines scored in double-figures to pace the victory over the Eagles.

Mark Mullett led the winners with 16 points. Jared Miller (12 points and seven rebounds), Joel Ruffin (10 points and 12 rebounds), Ty Majeski (10 points) and Brandon Pierson (nine points) also played well for the Wolverines, who improved to 9-5 overall.

Senior guard Trevor Zinn led PCA with 20 points. Brent Zinn and Spencer Wiard both added seven.

agency and presumably the attorney who may be backing the agency. The attorney should be turning over the files to you when they are requested without delay and should be providing you with a monthly status report, if you request it, concerning the status of the delinquencies. You may have a cause of action against the collection agency for malfeasance and perhaps an additional grievance against the attorney. Get your new attorney to take the appropriate action.

Q. I have heard that Austin, Texas, is a very exciting city and I'm thinking about either renting or buving in that area. Do you have any information concerning the downtown Austin real estate market?

A. Austin is a very dynamic city, being the state capital of Texas and the home of the University of Texas, among other things. There is considerable development in the downtown area by way of condos and apartment rentals. High rises are being developed, but one should keep in mind that there may be an overflow of condominiums in the downtown area which may not be able to be absorbed by the influx of people from the suburbs and/or other cities. Condos are selling at approximately $625 a square foot with price ranges from $229,000 for a studio to as much as $1.7 million for a penthouse in a downtown condominium over looking the river. Also, if you are interested in leasing, keep in mind that a certain percentage of apartments must be "for affordable housing" to provide living quarters for the musicians to stay, since Austin is the "live music capital of the world."

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Honda's New Pilot Will Strike a Design Balance

Advertising Feature

CAReport

By Dale Buss

If the next-generation Pilot that Honda actually produces looks pretty much like the prototype the company was displaying at the North American International Auto Show in Detroit last week, the new version will put Honda right in the middle of an interesting experiment in the future of vehicle

The reason: In a styling-conscious market where sleek crossovers rank as some of the hottest vehicles, the chock-a-block 2009 Pilot might fit like a square peg into a round hole. Or, it might strike just the design balance that Honda says its audiences will demand.

Honda's design dilemma with the new Pilot is that one of the vehicle's biggest attributes has been its ability to accommodate as many as eight adults in reasonable comfort -- a true differentiator in a market where third-row seating even in larger SUVs typically means discomfort for adult passengers. 'We didn't want to sacrifice passenger or cargo

"We didn't want to sacrifice passenger or cargo space for the sake of styling, or have canted rear glass or a sweeping roofline," said Rob Keough, a senior product planner for Honda. "Of utmost importance for Pilot is to maintain functionality, and packaging space. That's the starting point."

And indeed, the Pilot prototype emphasizes what Honda spokesman Chuck Schifsky called "authentic SUV styling" and actually increases "key dimensions" for legroom, cargo and occupant space.

But if Honda seeks to continue to market the

But if Honda seeks to continue to market the new Pilot -- with its car-like unibody structure - as a true crossover, the make is likely to run head-on into the prevailing winds in the segment, presaging a continued struggle to attract customers. Pilot was introduced in 2002, and sales climbed steadily, to 152,000 units in 2006; then they dropped precipitously last year, by 23%, to 117,000, according to data compiled by Edmunds.com.

While it isn't clear exactly what mix of factors was dragging down Pilot sales last year, it's very likely that both high gasoline prices and Pilot's traditional-ŠUV appearance were significant hindrances. Of course, so was the fact that competition in the crossover market proliferated.

The prototype 2009 Pilot was a centerpiece for Honda at last week's Detroit auto show.

Cues from the CR-V?

Consider the contrasting 2007 sales performance of another of Honda's own vehicles, the smaller and more aerodynamically styled CR-V crossover. After averaging sales of just under 150,000 from its 2003 introduction through 2005, CR-V volumes leapt to 170,000 units in 2006 and even more, to 219,000, last year. In 2007, CR-V outsold Pilot by more than 100,000 units after outselling its larger sibling by only 7,000 vehicles in 2005, according to analysis by Edmunds.com.

And overall, crossover design is reveling in an aero-influenced school that suggests the appearance of less is actually more. The hot GMC Acadia and Buick Enclave, as well as the Ford Edge and Lincoln MKX, are primary examples. "All the designs are going in that direction, counter to what Honda is showing with the Pilot prototype," said Jessica Caldwell, an analyst for Edmunds.com. "It looks more like a Jeep or a [Nissan] Exterra than what you would expect next from Honda.

Already, some objective feedback has raised questions about the prototype Pilot design. It scored lousy" with consumers who were surveyed in mid-January by CNW Research, said Art Garner, president of the Bandon, Ore.-based automotiveresearch concern. Pilot garnered "about 7.5 on our 12-point scale for exterior styling, which stinks for a new vehicle," he said. Typical such scores are 8.7 to 9." CNW surveyed several hundred consumers in Detroit, Los Angeles and Chicago using Honda press materials from the Detroit show and video of the Pilot prototype that was obtained from Honda,

Indeed, the aspect of the prototype Pilot design that may stand out most compared with the existing Pilot is body lines around and underneath the windows and along the fenders that sharpen those components and actually amplify the blockishness of the design.

Method to Honda's Madness?

Schifsky called "more accommodating interior packaging and advanced technologies for safety, fuel efficiency and convenience."

But Keough said the styling of the 2009 Pilot might advance just far enough, thank you -- for certain important groups of target consumers. "We wanted to give the car a bit more emotional styling and some character both for current Pilot customers – who love their vehicle – as well as people leaving the truck-based SUV segment who might want something just a little more boldly styled," he said. "Someone coming out of a Grand Cherokee or an Explorer isn't going to be ready to huve a Margal CV or Acadia on a station waren buy a [Mazda] CX-9 or Acadia or a station wagon, which are really more on-road vehicles with car-like cater to those segments also. We wanted Pilot to continue to represents its unique positioning: the best of both worlds.'

How to satisfy Super Bowl fans without missing a play with the Super Bowl XLII just around the corner, your mind might be set on football stats or catching the commercials. But if you're inviting your fellow sports fans over to see the big game, it's time to consider the cardinal rules of serving up Super Bowl foods.

According to restaurateur Matt Prentice, of the Bingham Farms-based Matt Prentice Restaurant Group, there are just five ingredients to a successful menu on Sunday - it's got to be simple, spicy, plentiful, fun-to-eat and served up family-style.

Prentice starts the party with four varieties of chicken wings, ranging from the traditional, like fiery hot wings or sweet honey barbecue, to the positively mouth-watering like the Asian-flavored Korean barbecue made with brown sugar and soy sauce, and locally-inspired Michigan cherry barbecue, crafted from pureed

Mardi Gras Menu

Local chef explores two approaches to Fat Tuesday food

BY WENSDY VON BUSKIRK
STAFF WRITER

Mardi Gras literally means "Fat Tuesday," so what better way to celebrate than with food?

food?
Chef Mary Brady, owner of Diamond Jim
Brady's Bistro in Novi, is preparing for the holiday with dishes inspired by two locales famous for Mardi Gras revelry.

In preparation for catering the upcoming Venetian Carnivale in Northville, Brady has researched cuisine that arose out of the famous masked balls of Venice, Italy.

For her restaurant, she's planning menu specials inspired by New Orleans.

Mardi Gras is the day before Ash Wednesday, the start of Lent. During Lent, the six weeks preceding Easter, many Christians give up something they love — but not before one last feast. Whether you're eating the traditional foods of New Orleans, Venice, Italy or Metro Detroit (think Paczkis), one thing that ties Mardi Gras celebrations together is overindulgence.

NORTHVILLE'S VENETIAN CARNIVALE

When: 7 p.m. to midnight, Saturday, Feb. 2 Where: Historic 1929 English Tudor home at 800 Griswold

What: A masked ball, with strolling dinner by Chef Mary Brady of Diamond Jim Brady's; music, entertainment, and an auction of Italian-inspired art, vintage jewelry and martini glasses decorated by local artists. Attire: Formal or Venetian costume

She was inspired by chiceti (small portions) traders would eat when they rented rooms or beds in large warehouses during their stay in Venice.

"They would serve little bites of food instead of big meals. These little portions of food were so that they could eat with their hands and continue on with their business. They could trade their wares and wouldn't have to sit down for a meal," she said. "Chiceti facilitates this

Mushroom Bruscetta with Garlic Croutes and Pickled Red Onion Confit

1 pound mushrooms (Brady likes to use a mix of domestic, portabella and shiitake mushrooms.)

½ pound butter

½ onion, chopped 2/cloves garlic, chopped

1 small French roll

1 pound cream cheese
2 tablespoons freshly chopped parsley

Melt the butter in a heavy skillet. Sweat (saute over very low heat) mushrooms, onions and garlic. Add the roll torn into small pieces. Cool mixture. Blend with cream cheese and parsley. Season.

Yield: About 2 pounds.

Michigan cherries. (Prentice said he's not a fan of hot wings. They trade in complexity of flavor for heat, he said.)

From there his menu goes traditional, with cheesy jalepenotopped nachos and two kinds of hearty chili. A can't-miss meaty variety packed with beans is thick enough to scoop up with a tortilla chip. And the slow-cooked, rootvegetable-based vegetarian chili packs just as much flavor. Prentice called it "friendly spicy." Skip the sour cream and cheese topping and it's fit for vegans.

Chili might be the perfect Super Bowl fare. "It's cold outside," said Prentice. "Chili warms the soul. It's good with beer."

Bartender Matt Ervin, who works at Tavern on 13 in Beverly Hills, can vouch for that. "You can't go wrong with chili," he said. Ervin's ideal Super Bowl foods range from wings to burgers, though he's the first to admit he won't be manning the grill once the game starts.

According to Tavern's Head Chef John Arnold, it's ground porterhouse, a mixture of black beans and red kidney beans, and seven herbs that makes these chili recipes stand out from the pack. "It's hearty, it's filling, it tastes good," said Arnold. Among his favorite party foods this time of year, Arnold listed wings, ribs and spinach and artichoke dip.

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, January 31, 2008

Another item sure to be a hit with guests, Prentice's mini Reuben sandwiches are made with all the traditional ingredients - corned beef, tangy sauerkraut, mild swiss cheese and Russian dressing tucked inside crust-free crunchy rye toast triangles. They're easy to grab and completely delicious to eat. Prentice shared a few of these prized recipes, promising they're simple enough for the home cook. "I wanted it to be something people could make at home," he said. Multi-taskers could whip up this entire feast in about two hours. But most of it — from the wing sauces to the chili — could also be made ahead of time.

Party hosts who'd rather go for a guick and easy catered affair can call Matt Prentice Restaurant Group at (248) 646-0370, Ext. 402. For more information, www.mattprenticerg.com.

Royal Oak rocker mom pens memoir knew the first time I saw the Mydols, the band was a story.

I never realized their story would someday be a book, (or that I would be in it!)

Mydols guitarist Judy Davids, 47, recently wrapped up her memoir Rock Star

Wensdy Von Buskirk

Mommy: My Life as a Rocker Mom (Citadel Press, $12.95, 208 pages).

Her book will hit stores in April, but I got my review copy in the mail a few weeks ago and devoured it cover to cover. I was delighted to find

Judy included me as the 'young reporter' who did one of the first articles on her band.

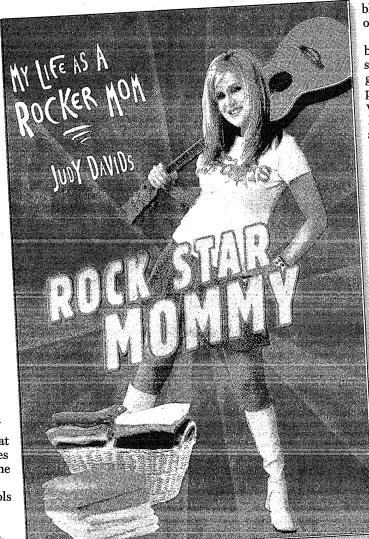

If you've had anything to do with the Detroit music scene in the past few years (or the Longfellow Elementary PTA for that matter), don't be surprised if you're mentioned too. The fact that Judy includes so many local names and faces is part of what makes the book such a fun read.

The first time I heard the Mydols was at Lily's Seafood Diner in downtown Royal Oak. I had just finished practicing with my fledgling band, the Basements, and we decided to check out the self-proclaimed soccer moms turned rock stars.

The Moms Night Out at Lify's was among the Mydols' first gigs, but the place was packed, mostly with well-dressed, middle-aged women, sipping Mother's Little Helper martinis and dancing to songs like "The Mydol Twist" and "Soccer Mom Stomp."

There's no doubt the Mydols had struck a chord.

Judy, Kara, Paige and Pat were unpolished, unpracticed, and slightly unsure of themselves, but they looked great, and the show was a blast. I went back to work the next day at The Daily Tribune, and told our features editor she simply had to cover these girls.

Royal Oak author Judy Davids' book "Rock Star Mommy," which recounts her experience in the

The subsequent article, "Rock On, Soccer Moms," paled in comparison with the flurry of press that would follow. When a reporter at the Wall Street Journal picked up the story, the Mydols found themselves at the center of a national mom-band phenomenon.

Within the next few years, they would play virtually every venue in Detroit, and go on to such big gigs as the Mamapalooza Festival in New York City and North by Northwest in Toronto. Not bad for four women who formed the band over beers at a neighborhood block party, before any of them owned musical instruments.

As Judy recounts in her book, the Mydols followed the same path every new band goes through in Detroit. They played successively larger venues, from End of the Park to the Magic Stick, and shmoozed music industry insiders from Gusoline Alley to 54 Sound.

Yet as bands like the Basements struggled to stand out in the competitive local music scene, the Mydols took off in a league of their own.

It helped that they were all adorable, self-deprecating, and passed out lots of free swag at their shows.

With a wonderful family and full life outside of music, Judy had nothing to prove except that you can get your first guitar and pull off pink go-go boots after 40. The rest - doing laundry for Blood Hag, becoming BFFs with Kathy Valentine of the Go-Gos, appearing on The Today Show and recording several CDs — was gravy.

In the end, Judy writes that the big gimmick of being a mom band eventually became their dilemma. As the Mydols grew more successful, she found it harder and harder to balance a full-time job, family and rock stardom. When the band's bassist moved to Seattle, it seemed like the right time to take a break.

In Judy's terms, that meant writing a

Now she's back on tour, promoting Rock Star Mommy.

The Mydols still play gigs, but Judy now seems more focused on chasing her new dream of being a nationally-known writer.

Once you've read the story of the Mydols, you just know she'll succeed.

That's the true inspiration behind "Rock Star Mommy."

Judy proves it's never too late to rock, even if you don't really know how.

Bloomfield Hills native John Bloom spent his life collecting art deco and modernist works spanning the 20th century. Upon his death in 2006, Bloom bequeathed that expansive collection, encompassing early works by Frank Lloyd Wright and contemporary furniture by George Nakashima, to Cranbrook Art Museum.

Museum director Gregory Wittkopp met the avid collector and former Fanclub Art Foundation executive director some 20 years ago, and was regularly kept apprised of Bloom's growing collection. Bloom had long intended to give several objects to Cranbrook. A collections fellow began the daunting task of researching each piece. Then, Bloom was diagnosed with cancer. He chose to will the collection, in its entirety, to the museum, where his mother had served on the board of governors. "He created a new model for patronage," said Wittkopp.

Bloom granted Cranbrook the option of keeping the pieces of museum quality, and selling the others at public auction. With those proceeds, Cranbrook will establish the John Bloom Decorative Arts & Design Fund in his honor. About 100 pieces from Bloom's collection will be on display through March. During the exhibition the museum will host a lecture by current collections fellow Emily Zilber revealing connections between Bloom's collection and the museum, and a lecture by Sotheby's head of design James Zemaitis, Bloom's longtime friend.

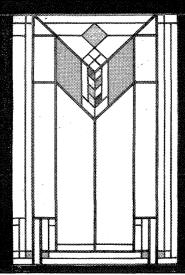

"John Bloom wasn't collecting paintings and sculpture," said Wittkopp. His pieces included furnishings, from seven stained glass Frank Lloyd Wright windows to rare French art deco vases dating back to the 1920s. He lived with the items daily, Wittkopp said, and appreciated them for their history, tradition and function.

"The collection of windows is really spectacular," said Zilber.
"To have seven of them come into the museum is phenomenal."
They range from early residential works like Oak Park, Ill. to commercial projects like the Lake Geneva Inn in Wisconsin.

Walter Von Nessen designed this lamp, manufactured by Pattyn Products Company of Detroit. It dates back to 1935 and can be seen at Cranbrook Art Museum, courtesy of the estate of John Bloom.

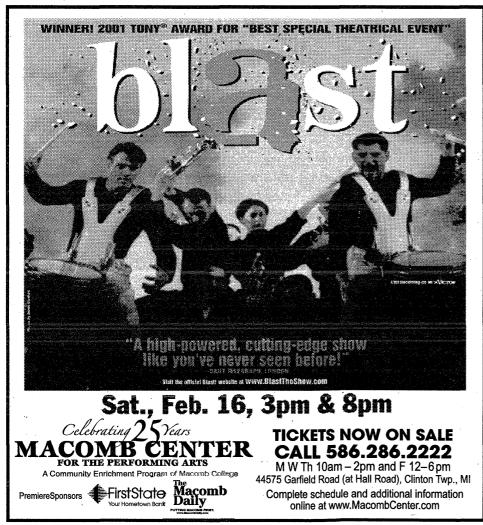

Zilber compared her task of documenting Bloom's collection to a sort of detective work. She noted how well many of the items fit into Cranbrook's collection. Works by Cranbrook graduates, including Florence Knoll and Charles and Ray Eames, former Detroiter Myron Barlow and a drawing of the Ford Motor Co.

And then there's Deneen, 35, who would never dare to consider himself a new hero to comics. But in recent months his accomplishments prove otherwise

He is the man who was recently awarded the job as the writer of a new monthly series of Flash Gordon - not a small task. His stories help make comics more accessible.

"I was a huge fan of Flash Gordon in my youth, especially after seeing the feature film in 1980, when I was 8 years old," Deneen said. "I think I was the perfect age to see the movie because I was blown away by it. I've kept an eye on the iterations throughout the years...collected the DC comic in the late Deneen is also the author of the upcoming new "Flash Gordon" monthly comic series.

1980s and watch the recent Sci-Fi Network TV show. But the chance to work on a new version of the character, rebooting the franchise, is a dream come true."

And, he's set to release a colorful new book about two kids who refuse to believe their boring parents aren't actually involved in top secret plots that could save the entire world. That story, called Portal Wars is illustrated by noted artist Alexander Landish and co-created by Deneen and writing partner Rich Emms.

Deneen and writing partner Rich Emms.

In between that, Deneen, of New York, released a graphic novel called Scatterbrain (Markosia Comics), illustrated by artist Szymon Kudranski. It's the story of disgraced cop Jack Anderson who, in a battle to fight his own internal war, becomes a vigilante to take down the mysterious criminal, Scatterbrain. The series has taken on a cult following that's easily traceable on the net.

Years ago, comic series like The Sandman, The Crow and Sin City helped expand the comic audience. Adult, gothic, characters of heroes and villains who were tormented, dangerous and sexy made comic books less geeky.

Deneen's Scatterbrain - aimed at adults - contains serious elements plus muted and darkly colored illustrations mixed with moments of humor. On a completely lighter side, his Portal Wars, bursts with colors like grape-purple and citrus-orange and is fast-paced and fun.

What makes Deneen so cool?

Perhaps his well-honed imagination, a lifelong love of comics plus his day job in the film industry help him understand what audiences enjoy. Deneen was a producer with The Weinstein Co., Dimension and Miramax films and a talent agent with the prestigious William Morris Agency. Today, he is senior vice president at the newly launched talent company Objective Entertainment in New York that deals with film and literature. He's produced films like The Outlander (James Caviezel) slated for release next year.

It's writers like him who are helping to expand the comic book market.

American Mars show off its 'Western Sides'

BY STEPHANIE ANGELYN CASOLA STAFF WRITER

It's been five years since Detroit-based alt-country darlings American Mars released its acclaimed No City Fun, solidifying a reputation among the most engaging live performers around.
So when it came time to share that pedal-steel plucking, storydriven aesthetic in the form of the band's latest Gangplank Records release, Western Sides, the band had to pull out all the stops.

According to singer-songwriter Thomas Trimble, American Mars plans to transform Detroit's Magic Stick into a traveling desert roadshow in honor of the CD's release. The big-top inspired production promises Vaudevillian flare topped with cotton candy and popcorn.

"For better or worse, we've always been a small band that thinks big," said Trimble in a recent e-mail interview. "We had been talking about ways to visually present the record live and then I started watching the show Carnivale on HBO. That's really where the whole circus in and Friendly Foes.

When: 9 p.m. Friday, Feb. 1.

the desert thing came from - but we think it really works well with the theme of the record, the cover art, and some of the ideas we're playing with."

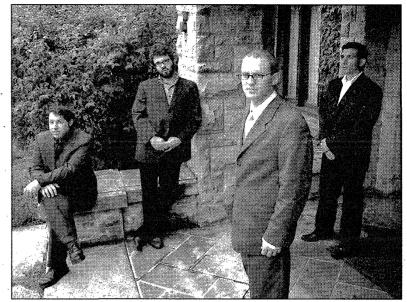

Those themes, Trimble said, are rooted in the idea of relationships, in loyalty and commitment, and "maybe even more importantly, about what happens when those things break down." It's evident in the ghostly sway of album opener Long Walk Home, the classic Mars sounds of Who Here? and the downright feverish Democracity. Trimble's vocals reveal a touch of Tom Petty, while the songs remain as heartfelt as ever. "It is as much about what happens between two people as it is about what happens between people in a band, in a family, or in a country that seems to have lost its way," he said.

The record marks the band's return following a hiatus taken when bassist Garth Girard was diagnosed with colon cancer in 2004.

As his health improved,
American Mars returned to writing and recording new material.
Pedal steel player David Feeny doubled as producer for Western Sides, which was recorded at his Tempermill Studio in Ferndale.
"One of David's major strengths is his ability to get good performances out of the people he's working with and I'd say that's one of the big things he brings to the table with Mars," said Trimble.

"His pedal steel work is obviously another huge element but there's also lots of more subtle touches in terms of sounds and rhythms that I think help make the record more than just a collection of songs. That's all David."

American Mars, in the form of pedal steeler Dave Feeny, drummer Charles Koltak, upright bassist Garth Girard and singer-songwriter Thomas Trimble crafted "Western Sides."

Joining American Mars on its roadshow will be Dan John Miller, Darling Imperial and Friendly Foes.

Trimble said he's looking forward to touring and performing again. "It has been a long time so we're curious, and a bit anxious, about whether or not we still have an audience," he said.

With songs like these, it seems an audience is inevitable. Visit www.americanmars.com

Dancer hopes to win competition

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Capsule reviews of films at local theaters:

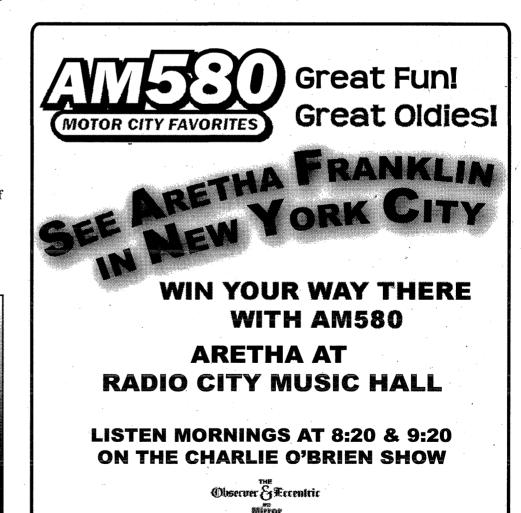

"HOW SHE MOVE"

Heroine Raya Green (played by engaging newcomer Rutina Wesley) is an underdog trying to transcend her upbringing in a poor section of Toronto, and winning a step dance competition will help her earn the money to get there. She initially aligns with one crew (led by the smooth-talking Dwain Murphy) then gets lured into another (led by the duplicitous Cle Bennett). And so you know those two teams will end up facing each other in the finals — just in time for Raya's disapproving mom (Melanie Nicholls-King) to show up. PG-13 for some drug content, suggestive material and language. 98 minutes. Two and a half stars out of four.

Bistro fare tweaked at Pine Tree Grill

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK

Penny White describes Pine Tree Grill like a Gordon Ramsay-style bistro/gastro pub.

You won't see Gordon Ramsay screaming at chefs like he does in Hell's Kitchen, but you will see prepared dishes created bistro-style at the restaurant, located at the Farmington Hills Golf Course on 11 Mile just west of Halstead.

White, who also owns The Breakfast Club in Madison Heights and co-owns The Breakfast Club in Farmington Hills and Pine Tree with business partner Jill Scarborough, opened Pine Tree last year. They expanded the restaurant to include seating for 120 and created a "Lake Tahoe" lodge theme, with beautiful views of the golf course at the former San Marino Club.

"We wanted to have good bar food, with a little nicer offerings of a Winter hours: 11 a.m. - 8 p.m. (last seating at 8 p.m.) Monday-Saturday; 9 a.m. -8 p.m. Sunday.

Menu: Gastro pub/bistro style foods with breakfast and lunch specialties, dinners feature seafood (arctic char), risotto, shephard's pie, burgers made with certified Angus beef. Restaurant has nice views of city's golf course.

Prices: Breakfast, $6-$10 (averages about $7), Lunch $5-$10 (averages about $8); and dinner $8.50-$23 (averages $12).

bistro," White said. "We put a nicer twist on those foods."

That means the breakfast menu is highlighted by Oven Baked Creme Brule French toast topped with Bourbon Sauce, Orange Ginger Pancakes, and Breakfast Bowls, a strata of homefries, cheeses, eggs and other ingredients with fruit or toast for $7.50, along with other items.

Lunch features a crab melt sandwich with swiss cheese and avocado, Cuban sandwich with slow-cooked smoked pork. Soup and sandwich, and soup and salad combos are available, along with "sandwiches only," featuring the golf club sandwich, turkey and classic reuben and chicken salad. Pizza is also on the lunch menu.

"Bistro-style" means the restaurant serves hamburgers, but they are certified Angus beef.

Dinner serves up Arctic char, which has a similar taste to salmon, only milder, served with a maple glaze, mango salsa, rice and vegetable.

Other fish selections include Pan Seared Sea Bass with a ginger drizzle, Parmesan Crusted Whitefish, and Caramalized Sea Scallops. There's Chicken Mushroom Risotto and Bistro Roasted Chicken with a spice rub.

Shephard's pie is another menu highlight.

With beef tenderloin fillets, 1/2 portions (4-ounce size) for a lighter meal also are offered. "We're just trying to give options of ordering lighter portions," White

Hot pot dishes, which change daily, may feature prime rib beef stew one night and homemade chicken pot pie the next.

Daily specials sometimes include Korean ribs or beef stroganoff. Fridays offer up a fish fry.

The Pine Tree Grill represents a step away from traditional bar food, yet retains some of familiarity to fit a variety of tastes.

We want the golfers to be happy, and we want to attract the public to something nicer than bar food," White said.

Songwriter group performs in Livonia

BY LANA MINI STAFF WRITER

Members of Songwriters Anonymous trade marketing ideas, help each other organize concerts, bounce lyrics off each other and, of course, play music.

The group of Michigan-based songwriters and singers — professionals, semi-professionals and amateurs — are also coming together for a unique performance at the Trinity House Theater in Livonia to raise money for the same theatre during the Songwriters Anonymous of Michigan Showcase at 8 p.m., Friday, Feb. 1. The evening is also a CD release party for the group.

"The Trinity House Theater graciously allows us to use their facility for our meetings," said Ben Hassenger, SA member. "We meet once a month to offer support, learn methods to further our craft and have fun." Hassenger plays in the rock/reggae/rhythm band Mystic Shake; and in the singer/songwriter duo Blue Tello

Performing that night are several

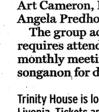

John Finan, of Plymouth, is one of the performers.

The group accepts new members and requires attendance of the majority of the monthly meetings. (Visit myspace.com/songanon for details.)

Trinity House is located at 38840 West Six Mile, Livonia. Tickets are $12. Check out www.trinity-house.org.

"RAMBO"

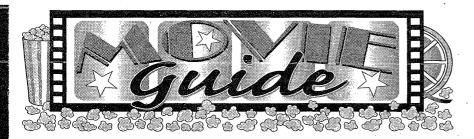

Sylvester Stallone's Chapter 4 in his franchise about the Vietnam vet turned one-man army is about the condition of humans — after they've been blown apart by bombs, land mines and projectiles fired from the biggest, loudest firearms you may ever encounter on screen. Co-written and directed by Stallone, the movie is almost degenerate in its savagery. The movie might satisfy bloodthirsty action fans, but for most people, this is one Stallone do-over we could have done without. R for strong graphic bloody violence, sexual assaults, grisly images and language. 93 minutes. One and a half stars out of four.

COMICS

Currently, an exhibit featuring the artwork of local illustrators has been attracting heavy crowds to the Creative Arts Center in Pontiac. The American Comic Book - A Detroit Perspective, features original comic book art and paintings by local artists like Sean Bieri, Keith Pollard, Suzanne Baumann and Matt Feazell - artists who aren't afraid to be daring.

An expanding market has benefitted Detroit's strong comic book scene. Stores, like the Green Brain in Dearborn, are always crowded on Saturday afternoons. Ferndale's new Detroit Comics is frequently packed with hipsters, kids, stay-at-home moms and high powered executives — all seeking comics for the pure joy of a good story.

Deneen's take on the Flash character should be interesting. It will stay true to the roots of the mythos, drawing largely from the original 1930s comic strip, while modernizing certain elements, he said.

Flash is now a former Olympic athlete turned Yale professor, while Dale Arden is a CIA agent. They still have their romantic relationship but it's complicated and will evolve. "I'm able to use a lot of characters and settings from the original comic strip that weren't seen in the 1980 feature film."

The monsters of Portal Wars - like the creature of Cloverfield - are exciting enough to attract a new audience to fantasy stories.

The new comic is not related to the television show currently on Sci-Fi Network because that character is owned by King Features.

As for Deneen, he said: "I'm one of those people who like to hang at the comic book stores - when I have time. I love them as much as any other fan, so to have the privilege to write them...it's a huge honor for me."
