Putting some 'new' in Old Village

Historic section of city seeks rebirth

BY TONY BRUSCATO

Tony Sebastian has lived in Plymouth's Old Village for nearly 17 years. And, as far as he's concerned there's almost no need to go anywhere else.

"All of Old Village is a walking community, you can virtually take care of 90 percent of your tasks without a car," said Sebastian, 47, who lives on Starkweather. "You can find milk and eggs without getting in your car, you're within walking distance of eight-10 restaurants and you can walk to the library.

"Personally, I'm of the opinion it's the kind of community we all need to live in," he said. "Come home at 5 p.m. on a Friday and not even have to get in your car until you go back to work Monday morn-

Renovations to give Forest a new look

The Village Shopkeeper on Forest Avenue is being renovated to accommodate expansions for existing businesses and a voga studio.

BY TONY BRUSCATO OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Forest Street entrance of E.G. Nicks restaurant will have a new look as the front portion of the former Village Shopkeeper furniture store has been torn down to build an outside seating area for the restaurant.

"We're carving out a space we call the Grotto Room that will have three walls and a roof which will open to the patio," owner Frank Agostini said. "We'll have radiant heat in the ceilings in both areas to extend the time we can use the deck. There will be a fireplace, soft lighting and TVs ... it will be kind of cozy. The outside will have a whole new look and we'll also do some renovations inside."

Another business, Vic's Mart-All Things Purses, will expand nearly four times its current 351 square feet when renovations are completed.

"Welcome to purse heaven," said Martin Caruana of Plymouth Township, who owns the business with his wife, Vicki. "When it's complete we'll have between 300 and 400 styles of purses, 100 different wallets and 50 different accessories. And the expansion will allow us to bring in a complimentary product when we open the new store."

Caruana declined, at this time, to name the new prod-

A new yoga studio and fourth business are also part of the plan.

Renovations are being completed by building owner John Thomas, who said the project should be completed by December.

Sun sets on plan for McCool property

BY TONY BRUSCATO OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Officials at Sunrise Senior Living confirm they no longer plan to build a 78-unit assisted living community on the former McCool Apartments property on the northwest corner of Sheldon and North Territorial roads.

The announcement comes nearly eight months after Sunrise forced more than a dozen tenants to vacate their apartments and find new housing because the company planned to demolish the McCool apartment complex in favor of the senior living project.

We are not moving forward with the Plymouth development," said Sara Krueger, a Sunrise spokeswoman in McLean, Va. "We have a number of communities in the Michigan area and we are looking forward to serving them." Sunrise has 16 properties in southeastern Michigan, including one in Northville Township on Haggerty Road north of Five Mile. The Plymouth project had, until recently, been listed on the Sunrise Web site as "in progress." "I was told the investors pulled their money out," said Plymouth Building Official Jim Penn. "They paid $1.7 million for the property, and paid the city about $15,000 for approvals and reviews.

They didn't pay for their building permit, which would have been $120,000 based on the $12 million construction costs.

"They haven't said if they still plan to take down the buildings," he said. "They do have a property maintenance company to mow the lawn, shovel the snow and take care of the property. The electricity has already been cut."

Krueger would not comment on information that Sunrise is closing its development office and pulling out of Michigan.

"We've made no announcements about closures," said Krueger.

Friends offer last chance of season to tour Miller Woods

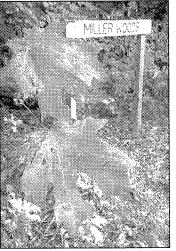

BY TONY BRUSCATO
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Shirley Thayer of Ann Arbor has taken the nature tour at Miller Woods in Plymouth Township several times.

However, the visits weren't her first connection to the beech-maple climax forest located on Powell Road, between Beck and Ridge.

Thayer — who grew up as Shirley Miller — lived on the 120-acre farm owned by her grandfather, Norman Miller, from the time she was 3 years old until she graduated from the old Plymouth High School, which is now Central Middle School.

"(The woods) was our big treat, every Sunday grandpa would take us down to look at the trees and we would pick the wild flowers," said Thayer, 80. "I always had a fall leaf project at school and I could get plenty of leaves from the woods.

"Grandpa helped me carve 'Shirley Miller 12-years-old' in one of the trees, and we'd go every year and see it," said Thayer. "Now, I can't find it. It wasn't until I took one of the tours that I found out you never carve in the trees because it harms them."

The school district purchased 40 acres of the farm, which includes the 10-acre Miller Woods plot. University of Michigan students in the "Woody Plants" course visit Miller Woods to study the trees, a tradition for more than 40 years. And, Scout troops visit regularly to work on various badges.

The Friends of Miller Woods will hold the last of its guided walks for the season Sunday at 2, 2:30 and 3 p.m. The woods has a dozen different species of shade tolerant trees, most of them sugar maple and beech trees, of which some which are nearly 400 years old.

"We want to raise awareness and get people to come and see the history of Miller Woods," said Cheryl Bord, president of the Friends of Miller Woods.

Commission moves closer to altering parks millage

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Wayne County Commission moved closer Tuesday to passing an ordinance that will take a portion of the county's parks millage and dedicate it back to local communities for recreation

Meeting in Canton, the Commission's Ways and Means Committee voted in favor of altering the 0.25-mill tax, which county voters first authorized in 1996 and have renewed twice since. It generated more than $13 million for the county parks system

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, October 23, 2008

If it ultimately passes, the ordinance - proposed by Commissioners Kevin McNamara of Canton, Laura Cox of Livonia and Bernard Parker of Detroit - would transfer 25 percent of the annual millage back to cities, townships and villages to use on local parks projects.

Tuesday's public hearing attracted a large audience, including Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey and Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, two of the millage's biggest critics. Both expressed support for the proposed ordinance.

"Livonia puts in about $1.25 million each year. In return, we've received pennies on the dollar," Kirksey said. "This (the ordinance) is a bright spot, to say to local communities we want to partner with you in these difficult economic times."

Yack said the ordinance would take the politics out of where the millage money is spent.

However, Wayne County Assistant Executive Alan Helmkamp warned the commissioners that the ordinance was illegal, because it would "constitute a different purpose" than what voters approved.

This is a very tantalizing proposal, especially at this time of year," Helmkamp said, referring to the upcoming election.

Commissioner Cox said the ordinance was about making sure there was an equitable distribution of funds from the parks millage.

"Every community will see this," she said. "We need to level the playing field."

The proposed ordinance now moves to the full commission. However, many of the details still have to be worked out on how local communities will be able to use the money, such as for capital improvements or maintenance, or both, and if the county must first approve the projects. Several commissioners, including Phil Cavanagh of Redford, said they were in favor of simply providing the communities with a check for 25 percent of what they contribute to the millage.

Only Commissioner Keith D. Williams of Detroit voted against the measure.

'I think we're going down a slippery slope. We're going to start pitting communities against one another," he said.

Helmkamp said the measure could end up in court, but he is hoping the ordinance can be killed in the legislative process.

McNamara said he is not worried about Ficano vetoing the measure.

'We are going to succeed with this ordinance, and we have the votes to pass it," he institutions with

be valuable to you and me. In the legislation that creates TARP, there are a number of tax law changes that potentially can affect you and me. One of these provides some planning opportunities with regard to charitable contributions. For the last couple of years, individuals who were over age 70½ and required to take minimum required distributions from their IRA had the option to have the distribution donated to a charity. This provided a great planning opportunity for people who do not itemize their deductions.

The law that allowed this tax treatment expired and was not valid in 2008. However, with the new plan this has changed and you now can, if you are over 701/2, contribute your required minimum distribution to a charity and avoid having to report the distribution on your income tax return. For individuals who are charitable in nature and who do not itemize their deductions, this is a great planning opportunity.

The legislation also contains temporary relief from the alternative minimum tax. Under the new law, the alternative minimum tax exemption for a single individual has been raised to $46,200 and for a married couple, $69,950. Without this temporary fix, millions of Americans would have been subject to the alternative minimum tax. The tax was established in the 1960s to tax the very wealthy that were using certain shelters to avoid taxes. Because Congress never indexed the exemption to inflation, many middleincome people are now subject to the tax. The temporary fix will spare millions of this additional tax burden.

The education deduction that had expired has been extended for 2008-09. This deduction allows you to deduct $4,000 in education expense for a child, spouse or even yourself, whether or not you itemize your deductions. To qualify for this, if you're single, your adjusted gross income must be $80,000 or less, and if you're married, $160,000 or less.

Another important temporary tax break extended to 2012 deals with forgiven mortgage debt. Under previous law, if a mortgage company forgave your mortgage debt, such as in a short sale, the debt was taxed as ordinary income. As foreclosures started to mount, Congress passed a temporary fix and this has been extended to 2012. Basically, for the majority of people, if your mortgage debt is forgiven, the money will not be

Other tax law changes included in the recent legislation include energy tax credits for home improvements and the extension of the sales tax deduction. The sales tax deduction had expired in 2007 but now has been extended to 2008 and 2009. The $500 property tax deduction for non-itemizers has also been extended to 2008.

I always tell individuals their goal is never to lower taxes but rather have more money in their pocket. In other words, don't let the tax tail wag the dog and don't do anything for tax reasons alone. However, that does not mean we do not want to take advantage of the laws available to us.

Most importantly, the center's program teaches patients how to maintain their weight loss permanently.

Vote for Corriveau

State Rep. Marc Corriveau has proven that he can make tough decisions and stand by them, and I applaud that kind of integrity in an elected official.

Marc has worked tirelessly, meeting with the people in this community and listening to their concerns and suggestions. He has made difficult decisions, using sensible review and consideration of all aspects of the impact of the decisions.

He takes his responsibility to this community seriously, and it shows in his results. Marc showed courage and tenacity in representing the Northville residents in the Livonia annexation situation. He demonstrated reason, sensibility and true collaboration and cooperation in aligning his colleagues to enhance Marc listens to my concerns about health care issues and he always researches the issues that he addresses. He consistently demonstrates his interest to make sure that WE THE PEOPLE always come first.

Vote for a real leader on Nov. 4 vote for Marc Corriveau.

Joanne Lamar Plymouth Township

Supports Reaume

I have met or listened to most of the candidates for Plymouth Township offices, which has reinforced my support for the reelection of Richard Reaume for Plymouth Township supervisor.

The township needs his experience and demonstrated progress as well as his professionalism and fulltime attention as it continues to move forward, completing the Ann Arbor Road commercial development despite real estate market difficulties. Richard is aware that with a maturing area with decreasing room for new development, prudent redevelopment that is synergistic with the City of Plymouth will be the most beneficial for Plymouth Township.

I have lived in Plymouth Township for 25 years, and urge the re-election of Richard Reaume as supervisor.

Vote for Plakas

The reader who wrote that Joe Barone has more local support than Jim Plakas forgot to mention that Plakas is endorsed by none other than Judge John McDonald, the 35th District judge whose seat the candidates are competing to fill.

This endorsement says more to me than all the others combined.

Because, according to the reader who wrote that letter, Barone has appeared in the 35th District Court "4.5 times more than Plakas," yet McDonald, who has seen them both more than any other judge on the court, has made it clear he wants Plakas, not Barone, to take his seat. It doesn't get more local than

> Larry Leo Plymouth

Plakas the choice

I read with interest a recent letter to the editor suggesting that Joe Barone is more "local" than Jim Plakas.

Not only is this inaccurate, but it's also a poor attempt to draw attention away from the fact that Plakas is clearly the more qualified candidate.

Plakas has 13 years of experience on both sides of the aisle. He's been a prosecutor and a criminal defense attorney, and his track record shows that he is strong and fair.

Barone, on the other hand, has only seen things from the criminal defendant's side. What will he do when faced with punishing someone who has committed a crime in our district? Nobody knows because he's never had to do it. And I, for one, don't want him figuring it out as he goes.

Plymouth Supports Corriveau

As founder and co-chair of the Michigan Alliance for Special Education, I have to second and third the Plymouth Observer's endorsement of first-term Rep. Marc Corriveau, D-Northville, for the Michigan House of Representatives.

Marc not only represents his district, but has shown a keen understanding of his elected authority as a bipartisan legislator and "vote" to represent the entire state of Michigan. Marc Corriveau is also unusually passionate about not only public education in Michigan, but also our 250,000 students with dis-

Marc was among the earliest supporters of H.B. 5323 that passed the House 88-20 in June (now sitting with Sen. Kuipers, Senate Education Committee), a bill that if passed will restore the state Board of Education's elected authority over the Michigan laws that guide and govern our Michigan Special Education Administrative Rules.

Marc Corriveau is willing and ready to meet with not only his constituent, but with concerned and caring Michiganders across the state and that is clearly not the position of all 110 members of the House.

Everyone in District 20 should vote to re-elect Marc Corriveau and with only one concern in mind: When elected to his second term, Marc will have only one term remaining, due to the regressive and restrictive term limits that have crippled Michigan since 1992. This writer and Michigander can only hope we will finally have a ballot initiative in 2010 to eliminate term limits and allow dedicated, bright and passionate legislators like Marc Corriveau to serve at our will, by our vote and not by a constitutional amendment drowning Michigan in our own Great Lakes.

OUR VIEWS

Edwards our pick for treasurer

Ron Edwards is a polarizing figure in Plymouth Township politics, the consummate politician who engenders either love or loathing, and not much in the middle.

But Edwards, the incumbent township treasurer seeking a fourth term in the Nov. 4 general election, is also skilled at the crux of what he does. We believe voters should indeed give him

From a professional standpoint, Edwards obviously gets the job done. He has earned several municipal finance awards in recent years, this year became a certified public finance officer, he has streamlined the office, including reorganizing in 1999 to get rid of the finance department, and the township audit comes out clean every year. His critics would point out lead auditor Joe Heffernan contributes to Edwards' (and others) campaign, but there's never been any evidence Plante & Moran's audits are anything but above-board.

Edwards keeps a close eye on interest rates, Edwards

the stock market and anything else that affects the township's investments, which have earned some $12 million in interest during Edwards' tenure.

He pushed some years ago to get Plymouth Community firefighters trained in Advanced Life Support, worked to get the sprayscape built in the township park and to get Lake Pointe Soccer Park finished. He runs the Good Ol' Fashioned Picnic every year, and this year brought fireworks back to the area for the first time in a decade, a display that drew rave reviews.

Of course, that's the professional side of Edwards. There's also the political side, which draws much more angst from people. Edwards is perceived as too involved in other areas of the township. He should work to dispel that notion by returning to the clerk's office any accounting functions he's been performing for the current clerk and by withdrawing himself from anything but the treasurer's statutory role in the budget development process.

Edwards also needs to realize the word "city" isn't a four-letter word. With shrinking budgets and a burgeoning need to do things smarter, it doesn't help to antagonize City of Plymouth officials. Most of the residents of this community think of it as one Plymouth; its elected officials must take the same tone.

Edwards' opponent, independent candidate Richard Sharland, is a Plymouth native who obviously cares deeply about his community. There's no other explanation for his willingness to sit at township board meetings or travel to Lansing to watch State Tax Commission and State Assessors Board meetings. Sharland's plan to trim the treasurer and supervisor's jobs to part time and hire a professional manager might draw some interest on a new Board of Trustees, but it's unlikely to fly unless economic times improve.

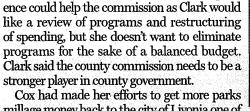

While Sharland's down-home charm and love of community are refreshing, we don't think it's wise, in these economic times, to move away from a treasurer who has — love him or loathe him — produced results.

We believe voters should return Ron Edwards to his job in the Nov. 4 election.

10th District: Cox gets nod for county commission

The 10th District county commission race features incumbent Republican Laura Cox facing Democrat Susan Clark to represent Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township.

Clark, a certified public accountant, points out that none of the 15 commissioners is a CPA. That experience could help the commission as Clark would like a review of programs and restructuring of spending, but she doesn't want to eliminate programs for the sake of a balanced budget.

millage money back to the city of Livonia one of Cox the foundations of her campaign. Cox wants to secure parks millage funding for a pedestrian walkway in Hines Park along Sheldon Road which will connect Northville Township and the City of Northville. The Livonia Veterans Memorial Park was one project for which she helped secure parks funds, along with the Waterford Bend Comfort Station preservation, a community portable stage, and pool enhancements for the public outdoor facilities in Livonia.

Cox believes difficult decisions will need to be made on county services for the $2.2 billion budget. Her public safety background makes her a strong advocate for budget requests from the sheriff and prosecutor. Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano's call for a 10 percent reduction in county departments was a good starting point in cutting the budget, Cox said, but she believes more money should have been given to the sheriff's department to forestall a deficit.

She supports economic growth through reducing taxes, employing smart growth patterns, and providing economic incentives.

Cox has shown that she has an understanding of the importance of bringing tax dollars back to the five communities she represents. We believe Cox deserves another term as the 10th District county commissioner.

"Growth you can absorb within your current facilities and absorb within current staffing means you have scale of economy, which is good ... Right now we can absorb that, but you can't continue to grow without expanding facilities. At the middle school level, we're pretty tight in a couple of buildings – Discovery is pretty full – so how much more growth can you absorb in a facility? Then you have to start talking about additional facilities, and that can become expensive. Or add on to current facilities, but that's hard to do because maybe the infrastructure – the hallways, cafeterias and gyms – can't support it."

Hopefuls square off in treasurer's race

Incumbent: 'Look at my record' | Challenger: Township 'needs change'

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Ron Edwards is seeking his fourth term as Plymouth Township's treasurer and, like many long-term politicians, he points to the one reason he believes he should be returned to office:

His record. Edwards, first elected in 1996, believes he has helped the township on several fronts and he wants to keep working to continue the progress.

"I've brought a lot of integrity to the financial accounting of Plymouth Township," Edwards said. "I like what I do, I enjoy the people of this community and I want to continue to help it grow."

Programs and projects he says he's helped hone include an automatic water bill payment plan ("We're one of only seven communities in the state who do it"); improvements, including the popular Sprayscape, at Plymouth Township Park; building Lakepoint Soccer Park; the building of the new township hall, including new homes for the police and fire departments; and connecting the community through sidewalks.

"That's a huge thing now, connecting neighborhoods. and we were doing it 12 years ago," Edwards said. "With higher energy costs, more people are walking or bicycling.' Edwards points to financial gains the township has made in his tenure. In 1999, he reorganized the township's financial structure, getting rid of the old finance director and consolidating those duties. He's also helped rewrite the township investment policy. In his 12 years, Edwards said, township investments have earned some $12.2 million in interest income.

"It's about earning interest and saving the taxpayers taxes," Edwards said. "Financially, if you look at what we have today, we've done a great job."

Edwards offered opinions on other township issues:

Recreation - "I don't want to get rid of the (Hilltop) golf course, but I would like to change it. Maybe a recreation center, with an outdoor pool, with a quality restaurant that would make it a good place to go. That would expand the park (Plymouth Township park, which is adjacent to the course) a little bit."

■ Streamlining -"Reorganizing in 2000 eliminated three jobs and saved the township $1.2 million. We've streamlined all over the township. Everything is off, and when business falls off, you have to do it with fewer people. Look at the finances of the township. Who's doing better? Other communities have had to make drastic cuts. We're down people, but we haven't had to make drastic cuts."

■ City vs. township - "I think the relationship works, but I'm looking to build Plymouth Township. I'm looking out for Plymouth Township. We're bringing events to the township, like the Fourth of July fireworks, which wouldn't have been possible, by the way, without the Wilcox Foundation."

Edwards said if voters look at his tenure, the decision to return him to office should be an easy one.

"Look at my record, look what I've done," he said. "I've been very involved in this community. My record speaks for itself."

The last time Richard Sharland ran for political office - for Plymouth Township constable in 1964 - he lost by a single vote when the wife of his opponent cast her ballot for her husband.

Sharland, a native of Plymouth who first moved into the house in which he now lives in 1943, hopes to do a little better in his second goaround.

Sharland is on the Nov. 4 general election ballot challenging incumbent Republican treasurer Ron Edwards, who was first elected in 1996. Sharland, who passed up a chance to get into the Republican primary, decided to try it this way for one simple reason.

"No one was running against (Edwards)," said Sharland, who has been a regular at township board meetings for the bulk of the last five years. "I thought he needed a challenge, and I figure I know as much about what's going on in the township as anyone."

Sharland believes he has the experience to fill the job based on his career owning and running a turkey farm, Gottschalk Turkey Farm in Plymouth. And, while he's never held elected office, he's been involved in government in one aspect or another for years. He served on the Matteson (Mich.) Township planning commission and Zoning Board of Appeals, he's been on the Branch County Farm Bureau and was the Wayne County Farm Bureau president for four years. In addition to attending Plymouth Township board meetings, Sharland travels to Lansing for State Tax Commission and State Assessors Board meetings.

"I had to manage the money on my farm," said Sharland. "Farmers use a lot of capital, we have to budget for our expenses. We probably handle just as much actual cash as the township treasurer does."

Sharland targeted Edwards because, he says, "(Edwards) runs the township" from the treasurer's office.

"He does the supervisor's job, and I think he's doing much of the accounting the clerk is supposed to do," Sharland said.
"I think (Edwards) accounts for the (township's) money, but I think there's secrecy in the township. I think we need some change.

If Sharland gets elected, and if he can get the votes to support his idea, he may not have the job long. Sharland believes both the supervisor and treasurer positions should be cut to part-time, and the township should hire a professional manager.

"It might be better to have a professional office," Sharland said. "(But) I think the financial situation is serious enough we might not be able to afford to do that."

Sharland offered opinions on other issues:

Recreation - "The (township-owned Hilltop) golf course has become a burden. I don't like to see government in private enterprise. I think we could convert the golf course into a bigger park. I'd like to see part of it converted to a cemetery. The township doesn't have a cemetery."

■ The audit - "I'd like to bring in an outside auditor. The state does it. Our current lead auditor makes political contributions to (Edwards)."

Sharland said he plans to make the government something he doesn't think it is now: Open to the people.

There's a vibe about Old Village, it's unpretentious," said Murphy. "Although you prefer a location like downtown, once you're established people seek you out.

"Business in Old Village is much more stable than when I first opened," he said. "It used to be we'd have a cycle of old antique shops that didn't have longevity to them. Crawford's Kitchen, Heidi's Flowers and Station 885 have been here a long time. And, businesses moving in (Sweet Street confectionary and Liberty Street Brewery) seem to be lasting and that's a good sign of a more stable community."

Restaurateur Rob Costanza, owner of Station 885 on Starkweather, said the OVA was recently rekindled to help the neighborhood survive current economic times with events like this weekend's Halloween party, the classic car show and fun festival in the summer and Old Village-wide yard sale which help raise a few dollars for OVA projects.

"We want to give back to the community with functions like this Sunday, which are mainly free events with nominal charges for kids to play games," said Costanza. "It's a nice way to get the business owners involved with the community, a winwin for both parties.

"We make a couple hundred dollars and use it for beautification of the area. like planting trees in the boulevard, planting flowers and pulling weeds," he said. "It's all we have to work with for a few months, so we stretch it as far as we can."

Costanza admits he'd like to see the city administration give as much attention to Old Village as it does to Kellogg Park and downtown Plymouth.

"It would be nicer if they showed the same type of care they do in the downtown area; we pay city taxes, too," said Costanza. "I know Main Street and downtown wouldn't have weeds growing

We know the Downtown Development Authority allocates money and takes a lot of care, that's why great things are happening downtown," he said. "We want to follow suit and make historic Old Village a destination place like downtown Plymouth and compete for that same kind of visitor."

Salem dominates Dearborn to advance to Regional final

BY ED WRIGHT OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Playing against the No. 1-ranked Salem boys soccer team these days is like swimming with sharks.

Once the Rocks taste blood, opponents are usually cooked.

The trend continued Tuesday night in Saline when Salem inflicted its first wound - a Scott O'Connor goal — just over 10 minutes into its Division 1 Regional semifinal against Dearborn and never looked back on the way to a 4-0 triumph.

The win improved Salem's record to 22-0-4 heading into Saturday's 7 p.m. Regional final against host

The shutout was the 11th of the season for Salem goalkeeper Sasa Miskovic, who said he considers himself lucky to be wearing royal blue and white.

"I'm thankful I'm playing on this team and not playing against it, that's for sure," a smiling Miskovic said a few moments after Tuesday night's game concluded. "I play club soccer on the Wolves with Kevin Cope, so we're comfortable with how each other plays.

"It's a great team to play for and Ed's a great coach."

Even though Dearborn came in with a lesser record (17-4-1) and plays in a less-renowned league (Mega Red), Miskovic said he and his teammates' intensity level remained high.

"Our coach always talks about being prepared all the time because you never know," the junior said. "We never back down or let up."

A day without running isn't necessarily like a day without sunshine for four-year Plymouth cross country standouts Beth Heldmeyer and Molly Slavens, but it's close. "People will ask me. 'How can you run so much?" said Heldmeyer, who excels in softball for the Wildcats in the spring. "I'm like, 'How can you not?' During softball season, I don't get to run much, and I feel awful. I'm so much more awake and alert during cross-country season."

"Running has become like breathing to me," Slavens concurred. "I can't imagine a day without it."

The duo's passion for running is reflected in their stellar accomplishments over the past four years. At Saturday's Division 1 Regional meet, Heldmeyer will be gunning for her third straight trip to the D1 state meet at Michigan International Speedway and Slavens will be chasing her second consecutive state-meet

Slavens and Heldmeyer finished seventh and 12th, respectively, at last weekend's 12-team Kensington Conference meet.

Ideally, they'll be making the trek to MIS with all of their teammates. The Wildcats are one of the favorites to advance as a team, but first they have to place in the top three at Saturday's Regional — a feat they missed achieving by an agonizingly close margin last fall.

"Last year, I was happy in a way because I qualified for the state meet for the first time, but I was sad at the same time because the team didn't make it," said Slavens. "We had worked so hard and we were so close (the Wildcats placed fourth).

Multi-talented Parling: solid as a Rock

BY ED WRIGHT OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Heath Parling took three long strides then launched $\ \ \, \text{his body Superman-like} - \text{horizontal with arms} \,$ extended —into the path of Livonia Churchill's potential game-clinching field goal attempt Friday night.

The ball slammed into Parling's body before bouncing harmlessly away, keeping Salem's football team within six points with just over five minutes to play.

Not a bad play for a quarterback.

"I blocked it with my head, so it didn't hurt," Parling said, smiling, while recalling the play Monday afternoon. "I'm usually not out there on field goal block, but coach Murray told me to stay out there for that play. It's the first time I've blocked a kick since I started playing football as a little kid."

Parling has been a jack-of-all-trades — and a master of most of them - for the Rocks this season. Along with handling the QB duties, he's a starting outside linebacker and, yes, part-time special-teams standout.

"Heath is the kind of prototypical player that you want to build a program around," said Salem coach Parker Salowich. "It's been fun to watch him mature into a leader the past three years. He's just a quality young man who has really stepped up for us this season, playing offense and defense.

"After he blocked the field goal, he got up and ran over to me to get the next play for the offense. To have the mental toughness to do something like

JACE THE ACE

Bearden spearheads Salem kickers' District title effort

BY ED WRIGHT
OBSERVER STAFF WRITE

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Most teams rely on their ace during crunch time of do-ordie showdowns.

During Saturday's Division 1 District final soccer game at the PCEP stadium, Salem turned to its Jace.

Senior captain Jace Bearden, who has been slowed most of the season by a nagging knee injury, knocked home the clinching goal in a tension-packed shoot-out to give the No. 1-ranked Rocks a 2-1 victory over a determined Livonia Churchill contingent.

Bearden also assisted on the Rocks' lone regulation goal, handled most of his team's pivotal throw-ins and provided stellar defensive support in a game played under Salem blue skies.

"Honestly, I was pretty nervous," Bearden said, recalling his emotions seconds before his shoot-out kick. "But I knew I had to do it. It's my senior year and I didn't want this to be my last game."

Salem will take its 21-0-4 record into Tuesday's 5 p.m. Regional semifinal contest at Saline High School. Churchill finished 16-4-1. The five-shots-per-team

The five-shots-per-team shoot-out became necessary when the two teams were deadlocked at 1-all following 80 minutes of regulation play and two sudden-victory 15minute overtimes.

The Rocks nearly won in regulation, however, Charger senior forward Andrew Sieber steered in a sliding rebound shot from the doorstep with nine seconds left in the second half to keep his team alive.

Salem buried its first four shoot-out shots while Churchill canned three of four, putting the Rocks' No. 5 shooter — Bearden — in the position to be the hero.

When his shot found the top right corner of the net past the diving fingertips of Churchill keeper Christian Adams, a smiling Bearden sprinted away from the goal, raising a No. 1 sign with his right hand, before getting engulfed by his ecstatic teammates.

"If it wasn't for Jace, we probably don't win today," said Salem coach Ed McCarthy.
"No. 1, his throw-ins were very, very dangerous today and he created a lot of opportunities for us. Having him back in the line-up changed the game completely."

After Salem carried the play for a good chunk of the first half, Churchill turned the tables during the second 40 minutes and the overtimes.

The Rocks seized a 1-0 lead with 3:59 left in the first half when Bearden fired a perfect throw-in from the east sideline that bounced once off a Salem player's chest before Lachlan Savage controlled the ball and rifled a low sizzler past Charger net-keeper Adrian Charger net-keeper Adrian Motta.

The Chargers applied relentless pressure throughout the second half. It finally paid off with nine ticks left when Sieber finished in front.

"The fact that we got to go in the locker room not long after they scored was good because it allowed for their momentum to die down," said McCarthy. "The message we gave the guys was simple: 'If we would have told you early this week that you'd be going into overtime in the District final you'd take it, right?' Everybody would have taken it.

"We prepared all season for those overtimes with all the fitness work we do at practice. You never like to give up a goal with nine seconds left, but fortunately everything worked out well for us."

Matt Regan nearly won the game in the first OT for Churchill, but his hard, hooking shot from 25 yards out was deflected away at the last millisecond with a diving save by Salem keeper Sasa Miskovic.

Charger junior defender Adam Bedell played well throughout the contest as did Salem back-liners Kevin Cope and Matt Calupina.

the air, and Jace did a great job of finishing," said McCarthy.

"That goal was like a dagger because I was confident we weren't going to give up two tonight. Plus, because it was such a great goal, I think it stung Dearborn a little more."

Bearden struck again just over two minutes later when his low scorcher found the lower frontleft corner of the net to make it Dearborn mounted a pair of threats over the next six minutes, but couldn't finish. With 16:35 to play in the first half, Hamoody

Saad hit the cross-bar with a laser.

Saad nearly struck again, but his uncontested shot from 14 yards out was snuffed out by a diving Miskovic.

"Dearborn was a dangerous team," McCarthy stressed. "They hit the post a couple of times. If one of those goes in, it could have changed the game completely." Alex Tramel deposited a frosting-on-the-cake goal past Pioneer back-up goalie Bilal Jawad at the 31:47 mark of the second half.

The Rocks played without senior mid-fielder Jeremy Stoychoff, who suffered a leg injury with four minutes left in Saturday's District final victory over Livonia Churchill. Stoychoff's availability for Saturday's Regional final is questionable.

A victory on Saturday would propel Salem into the Oct. 29 semifinal round.

BY ED WRIGHT OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

From off the radar to all over the map — that's the course the Plymouth boys cross country team has followed this season.

The once-unheralded and now-surging Wildcats' latest accomplishment came Saturday when they captured the inaugural Kensington Conference Championships at Kensington Metropark.

Led by first-place finisher Elmar Engholm, Plymouth posted 54 points, just three fewer than runner-up Canton. Novi (72), Northville (93) and Salem (133) rounded out the top five places.

"To go from a team that wasn't on anybody's radar at the beginning of the season to one of the top teams in the area, well, it means a lot to us,' said first-year Plymouth coach Jon Mikosz. "I knew the guys had a lot of potential heading into the season, but I'm not sure I expected this."

Plymouth was led by Engholm, a Swedish exchange student, who broke the tape first with a time of 16:21. Warren Buzzard and Derk Lax finished 11th and 12th, respectively, just ahead of 14th-place teammate Joe Porcari.

Matt Neumann rounded out the Wildcats' scorers, placing 16th in 17:19.

"The keys were Elmar winning it and Joe stepping up like he did," said Mikosz. "It was an off-day for a few of our guys, but Elmar and Joe finishing where they did was the difference.

"After our division race last week, I knew Canton was going to be right there with us. I thought Novi would be tougher than they were."

The Chiefs were bolstered by three top-10 finishes: Duncan Spitz crossed third in 16:55, Kyle Clinton was fifth in 16:58 and Zach Spreitzer was ninth in 17:13.

The Wildcats will carry their momentum into Saturday's Division 1 Regional meet at Willow Metro Park. A topthree finish will earn the 'Cats a berth in the following weekend's Division 1 state meet at Michigan International Speedway in Brooklyn.

"Whichever team makes the least number of mistakes will qualify for the state meet," Mikosz predicted. "Ann Arbor Pioneer will be the No. 1 team there, by far. After that, it should be between us, Canton and Ann Arbor Huron, which is ranked ninth in the state."

Plymouth garnered a 10thplace state ranking in one of the two weekly polls compiled by coaches across the state.

"Falling short last year has been a big motivating factor for us this year. Plus, we don't want to let coach Mary down." The past four years without Slavens and Heldmeyer on her team would be like, well,

Plymouth coach Mary Kerwin

would rather not think about it. "I can't imagine," she said. "Beth, Molly and our third senior captain, Lizzie Bartek, have been the cornerstone of the program. They were here during the tough times when we were a very young team. They're going to be very hard to replace next year.

"I'm going to miss them next year as runners, but I'm going to miss them more as people. They're fun to have around and they're goto-type leaders."

Slavens got a taste of high school cross country long before she attended her first freshman class.

"Molly's older brother, Pat, ran for Plymouth, so she'd come to a lot of our meets when she was in middle school," Kerwin recalled.

"I'd say, 'Molly, why don't you go run a warm-up lap with the girls,' and she'd say, 'Sure.' A lot of younger girls wouldn't have done that, but she jumped right in there."

Along with collecting four varsity letters, Slavens holds the school record. "I've come a long way since my freshman year," she admitted. "My best time in ninth grade was 20:10 and now I'm down to around 19:11.

"When I get to the tough part of the race, I keep thinking that this is going to make me better. This is what separates the weak from the strong.

Amazingly, Heldmeyer recorded her best 5,000-meter time – 19:31 – her freshman year. She's stayed consistently strong since and hopes to peak over the next couple of weeks.

"I love cross country because it's a self-motivating sport," she said. "It makes me push myself."

Given their admirable dedication to the sport, Heldmeyer and Slavens may help push Plymouth into the state meet as a team on Saturday.

And wouldn't that be a ray of sunshine in their final season?

Whalers topple Generals in shootout, 4-3

Ryan Hayes and A.J. Jenks scored shootout goals and goaltender Matt Hackett stopped the two shootout attempts he faced as the Plymouth Whalers defeated the Oshawa Generals, 4-3, in an Ontario Hockey League game played Saturday night at

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, October 23, 2008

Compuware Arena. With the win, Plymouth gets to the .500 mark at 5-5-1-0. Oshawa is now

The game featured no more than a one-goal differential the entire way. Monroe-native R.J. Mahalak (5th), Jordon O'Neill (2) and Kaine Geldart

(2) scored for Plymouth, while Jenks (Wolverine Lake), Leo Jenner and Patrick Lee contributed two assists apiece. League leading scorer John Tavares (14), Michael Del Zotto (2) and Brett Parnham (7) replied for Oshawa, with Del Zotto adding two assists.

After Mahalak (2:30) and Parnham (shorthanded at 17:05) traded first period goals, the Whalers took their first lead at 2-1 at 2:57 of the second period on O'Neill's point shot at 2:57. Del Zotto tied the game at 2-2 at 10:26 with a snap shot from the slot and Geldart gave the Whalers a 3-2 lead when he tipped Leo Jenner's point shot at 15:28. But Tavares scored at 16:55 to tie the game at 3-3 when he scored from the right wing with an accurate snap shot inside the far post.

After a scoreless third period and overtime, the Whalers won the game in the shootout when Hayes scored on a back hand stuff, top shelf under the cross bar and Jenks scored with a snap shot from the left hashmark that Oshawa goaltender Darvl Borden got a piece of, but the puck trickled over the line. Hackett stopped Del Zotto and Tavares on their shots.

"I saw his five-hole open up for a second and I went for it," Jenks said of his shootout goal. "I saw the puck trickling around in there. I didn't know if it was going to stop or keep going. I just kept watching it (the puck) and it slid over (the line)."

Plymouth outshot Oshawa, 35-31. The Whalers are off until next Saturday night when they host the top-ranked Windsor Spitfires at 7:05

Tickets are available by calling the Compuware Arena box office at (734) 453-8400.

Grid season flies by way too fast for some teams an it really be the final week of the 2008 high school football regular

Tim Smith

Two-a-day workouts in humid August heat don't seem that long ago. But all but a handful of teams will finish the year Friday or Saturday, as the calendar pages of the '08 football season peeled off faster than October

Already assured of playoff spots are six-win teams Livonia Stevenson, Canton, Redford Thurston and Livonia Clarenceville, while Livonia Franklin will need a victory Friday to join the club.

The others will be butting helmets for pride and to perhaps send a message that 2009 might be different.

Certainly, next season will be different for no other reason than the expected demise of the Mega Conference.

Talks are continuing that would form a circuit including teams from the northwest portion of the sprawling Mega, such as Thurston, Redford Union and Garden City.

Clarenceville will return in 09 for one more season of play in the Metro Conference, but the Trojans' long-term future also is to be determined.

Needless to say, prep football and autumn have a lot in common. Change happens.

As for the game of "Grid Picks" at the Observer, change must happen in Week 9 if the front-runner is to be knocked off his perch.

Yes, it will take a meltdown by the leader, Plymouth-Canton Sports Editor Ed Wright, to enable yours truly or Livonia-Westland Sports Editor Brad Emons to capture the championship.

Although all of us are coming off solid 9-3 weeks, Wright didn't lose any of his substantial lead. He takes a commanding 70-21 record into the finale — five games up on my 65-26 mark and six games better than Emons' 64-27 ledger. So without further ado, let's take a glance at this week's slate of games

FRIDAY'S GAMES (ALL START AT 7 P.M. UNLESS OTHERWISE

LIVONIA STEVENSON (6-2) AT LIVONIA CHURCHILL (3-5): The high-octane Spartans invade Churchill having scored 302 points this season. That doesn't bode well for the Chargers, who have had a tough time keeping other teams out of their end zone.

PICKS: Wright (Stevenson); Emons (Stevenson); Smith (Stevenson).

HARTLAND (6-2) AT LIVONIA FRANKLIN (5-3): Although Livonia Franklin is riding the crest of Friday's 17-10 victory over Northville, the visiting Eagles have smoked their last two opponents by a combined score of 61-18. The Pats need a win to qualify for the playoffs.

PICKS: Wright (Franklin); Emons (Franklin); Smith (Hartland).

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN (3-5) AT WALLED LAKE WESTERN (6-2): It's been an up-anddown season for the Rockets, who lost 22-7 to South Lyon last week. It won't be easy to have an "up" in the finale against the host Warriors, a dominant force in the KLAA-North.

PICKS: Wright (Western); Emons (Western); Smith (Western).

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL (2-6) AT WAYNE (1-7):

This KLAA crossover features two teams having disappointing seasons. Only one of them will end the year enjoying the sweet taste of success. PICKS: Wright (Central); Emons (Central); Smith (Central).

CANTON (7-1) AT SALEM (1-7): Plymouth-Canton Educational Park should be rocking Friday as these two rivals go head-to-head. Although the teams are going in opposite directions in the standings, the intensity level alone should make it at least a competitive contest. PICKS: Wright (Canton); Emons (Canton); Smith (Canton).

PLYMOUTH (6-2) AT ROMULUS (3-5): Both teams are coming off lopsided defeats. Romulus, a member of the Mega Blue, fell to 7-1 Inkster, 55-15, while Plymouth was torched by Austin White and Stevenson, 46-18. PICKS: Wright (Plymouth); Emons (Plymouth); Smith (Plymouth).

GRID PICKS

THURSTON (6-2, 6-0) AT REDFORD UNION (3-5, 2-4): This annual battle for Redford Township bragging rights — and a trophy — will pit the playoff-bound Eagles against RU, playing for nothing but pride. Thurston will try to stay hot entering the postseason. Meanwhile, the host Panthers should be pumped to try and take a bite out of their rivals.

PICKS: Wright (Thurston); Emons (Thurston); Smith (RU). WOODHAVEN (5-3) AT GARDEN CITY (2-6):

Another Mega Conference crossover tilt, with the host Cougars eager to end a disappointing season on a high note. It won't be easy, since Woodhaven has racked up 270 points this sea-

PICKS: Wright (Woodhaven); Emons (Woodhaven); Smith (Woodhaven).

NOTRE DAME PREP (3-5) AT LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE (7-1) - 7:30 P.M.: The coming off a 54-7 shellacking of Romulus Summit Academy and brings plenty of confidence to PICKS: Wright (C'ville); Emons (Prep); Smith (C'ville).

ECORSE (0-8) AT RÉDFORD COVENANT (4-4), 4 P.M.: Ecorse will be glad to get the season over with, for sure. But the Red Raiders will try to sneak

one into the victory column

host Trojans will be geared up to stay fine-tuned for the playoffs, but Pontiac Notre Dame Prep is Hollowell will need to stay of Jamonne Chester and Dajuan healthy in order for the Spartans to finish with a winning record.

PICKS: Wright (Covenant); Emons (Covenant): Smith (Covenant).

SATURDAY'S GAME

DETROIT URBAN (0-8) AT LUTHERAN WESTLAND (3-5), 2 P.M.: Coming off a 34-18 win over Detroit University Prep, the host Warriors and junior quarterback Ethan Haller are starting to click on offense. A two-game winning streak to end the season would give Lutheran Westland something to bank on PICKS: Wright (Westland); Emons (Westland); Smith (Westland).

Steelers sweep Lions to earn Black & Blue trophy

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers captured the 2008 Black & Blue trophy Saturday by sweeping the Canton Lions' freshmen, junior varsity and varsity squads.

The Steelers' varsity overcame a 14-0 halftime deficit to post a thrilling 24-22 victory. The win clinched a division championship for the victors, who improved to 7-1.

Lowell Wade displayed his versatility for the Steelers' offense, completing 2-of-3 passes for 103 yards while rushing for 51 yards on 11 carries. Kendall Scott also had a big day, picking up 146 total yards, and scoring the gametying touchdown late in the contest. Jonathan Malone delivered the game-winning two-point kick. Other key contributors to the Steelers' victory were Cameron Dillard, Austin Sylvester and Michael Kennedy.

The Lions were led by stalwarts Jamarl Eiland, Malcolm Hollingsworth, Nate Emminger and Danny Stropes. Lucas Bunting, Travis McCall, Alex Smith, Ian Apostle and Luke Denzer also played well.

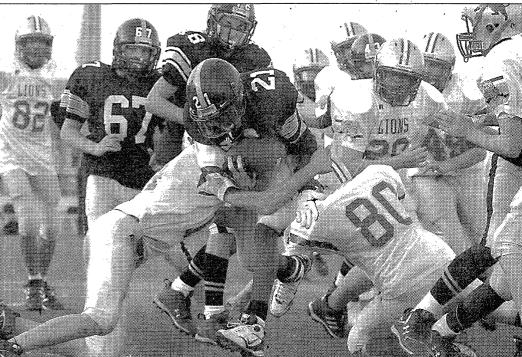

The junior varsity Steelers doubled-up the Lions, 34-18, thanks in large part to Gregory Williams, who threw two touchdown passes, and Matthew McKoy, who added three rushing TD's. Defensively, the Steelers were spear-headed by Jacob Marsh, who had three sacks,; Kevin Justice, Vincent Crespi (fumble recovery) and Rodney Allen, Jr.

The Lions' points came on touchdowns from Daniel Jipping (48-yard kick-off return), James Hall (38-yard run) and Kenny Arnold (2-yard TD run). Defensively, Jipping contributed 10 tackles and two fumble recoveries while Hall, Arnold and Lucas Scott also shined.

The Steelers' freshmen captured a 31-13 victory thanks in large part to the strong blocking of Scott Gregor, who opened holes for Jacob Stephan. Kyle Burnette chipped in with a TD reception and an interception while Zach Davenport paced the defense. McKenzie Marco and Luke Walkley also excelled for the Steelers' defense.

The Lions' offense was sparked by the running of Victor Abraham and Jake Miller, with strong blocking from Eric Daniels, Spence Vantiem and Ethan Balogh. The Lions' touchdowns game that is unbelievable." Two-way standout

Parling lobbied his coaches to play defense prior to this season, but they steadfastly refused, not wanting their quarterback to risk getting hurt on the other side of the ball.

But Salowich and his staff relented following the Rocks' Week 1 loss to Plymouth.

"We were a little apprehensive at first, absolutely, because we didn't want him getting injured," Salowich said. "But we realized he's tough enough to where we knew he was not only going to survive, but play well."

And he has played well, both while stopping the run and defending the pass. During Friday's 35-21 to the Chargers, he defended Churchill's fastest player - Jeff Ricketts - in the Chargers' spread offense.

"Last year, I begged the coaches to let me play defense, but it was happening," he said. "I was really happy when they put me in there after the first game this year.

"It's nice to be able to hit instead of being hit for a change. It's also fun to sack the quarterback instead of the other way around."

The Rocks have struggled to find the win column in Parling's three-year varsity career, registering a 2-24 record heading into Friday night's season finale against Canton.

Turning the corner

Unlike the previous two seasons, however, Salem (1-7) has been in practically every game until the waning moments.

"It's definitely been frustrating, losing like we have," Parling said, "but I've never even thought about quitting or giving up. It's still fun. We all still want to win very badly.

"Of the four teams I've played on at Salem, this one is definitely my favorite. In the past, we've had some players that, let's just say, shouldn't have been here. This year, everybody is working hard. We don't have any bad seeds, I guess you can say."

The adversity Parling has faced has a silver lining, he said.

"It's actually helped me a lot, teaching me to never give up," he said. "If we lose a game on a Friday night, I've forgotten about it by Monday morning. I'm just thinking about playing Canton now."

Athlete for all seasons

Parling is a member of a dying fraternity: three-sport high school athletes. Once football season ends, he'll take a week off to chill before firing up jumpers in the Salem gym to prepare for hoop season. In the spring, he'll begin his third season on the Rocks' varsity baseball team.

When he graduates in June, he'll have accumulated eight varsity letters, a feat rarely accomplished in this age of specializa-

"Before I started high school, I thought about just playing two sports, but I couldn't do it; I love playing all three," he said. "Football is my favorite probably because I've played it the longest."

There's a good chance Parling will be taking his considerable quarterbacking talents to the next level.

"I was invited to go to Butler (Ind.) University this weekend to watch a football game and I've heard from Duquesne in Pittsburgh," he said. "Or I may try to walk on to a bigger school like Western Michigan."

Banyai tapped as state Realtor of the Year

BY JULIE BROWN O&E STAFF WRITER

The Michigan Association of Realtors has named Joseph Banyai as its 2008 Realtor of the Year. The award is given in recognition of outstanding leadership and service for the association, the community and the real estate industry.

Banyai, a 20-year Beverly Hills resident, was chosen by a selection committee comprised of his peers and was recognized at the annual Michigan Association of Realtors' Convention & Expo held in the Detroit Marriott at the Renaissance Center, Sept. 17-19.

"I was completely surprised," said Banyai, who had earlier been tapped as Commercial Board of Realtors Realtor of the Year. "It was a humbling feeling. All my friends and family are happy for me."

Nominees are evaluated on their community service, education and business accomplishments and service to the Realtor organization at the local, state and national levels. The state top Realtor is chosen from those tapped by individual associations.

Banyai is a founding partner of Signature Associates in Southfield, which is now in its 20th year of business. He stresses the importance of Realtors to get involved with their Realtor organizations.

"You will develop life-changing relationships and also be exposed to quality mentors who are inspirations," said Banyai.

Banyai, a Michigan State University graduate with a bachelor's degree in psychology, is associate broker/principal for the Industrial Division of Signature Associates.

"I wanted the opportunity afforded to entrepreneurs," he said of his decision to pursue a career in real estate rather than psychology. "The sky was the limit." He appreciates being rewarded for hard work.

"I've been able to do some things for my family that are beyond my imagination." Building Signature into the largest commercial company in Michigan as a founding partner has been rewarding.

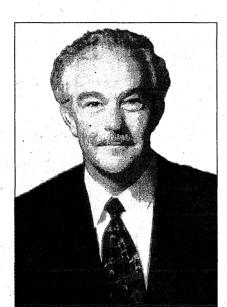

Banyai acknowledged the challenging economy.

The economy has also impacted my world. I've turned into a real problem-solver for my clients." That's what they need now more than ever, he has "The real question is jobs. When we get jobs returning, I think the economy will turn around," he said.

His career takes a lot of support from his family to work more than 60 hours a week. Wife Georgia, son Andrew, 28, an attorney in Florida, and daughter Margaret, 23, a case worker in a probation department in Detroit, are all helpful to Banyai. The couple's daughter is an Eastern Michigan University grad, their son from Michigan State University, including law school.

Work keeps Joseph Banyai busy but doesn't take all his time.

Joseph Banyai Realtor of the Year

"I'm an avid martial artist. I have a fourth-degree black belt in karate," he said. "It's really an art. It's learning about yourself."

The Michigan Association of Realtors designation last month is a proud one for the real estate pro.

"This is a very memorable moment in my real estate career." Banyai also teaches a commercial real estate course, at some eight different meetings around the state. That covers the top 10 traits of successful commercial real estate brokers.

"I have a lot of fun doing that. I feel blessed to be able to give something back," he said.

After 30 years in the industry, Banyai has become one of the state's top commercial real estate brokers. He specializes in industrial and high tech brokerage in the I-75 corridor and is a vacant land/build-to-suit expert. Many local business owners and municipalities use his expertise as a real estate consultant. His expertise also includes sale-lease backs, investment sales and sophisticated multiproperty transactions for tax-deferred exchanges.

In addition to 2008 Michigan Association of Realtors – Realtor of the Year and 2008 Michigan Commercial Broker of the Year, he was also named 1992 Michigan Commercial Realtor of the Year, 1991 Local Realtor of the Year and was named the Top Salesperson in 2006 for Signature's Industrial Division. Signature Associates is a Cushman & Wakefield Affiliate.

The Michigan Association of Realtors (MAR) is a 26,000-plus member trade association serving as the primary source for Michigan housing and real estate data. MAR is comprised of 45 local Realtor associations, which adhere to a strict Code of Ethics, established by the National Association of Realtors.

The Michigan Association of Realtors and Signature Associates Web sites contributed to this report.

Web site could create legal woes

Q: Some board members of our association are concerned that a committee chair has taken it upon herself to set up an interactive Web site using the association's name on the home page. The Web site offers a calendar of association events and a downloadable architectural request form. Neighbors are having conversations on the Web site and I as a board member wish to have her take the site down because the association attorney is worried about the association's potential liability for what residents might say. She has apparently refused to

A: It depends on who owns the Web site and whether the association's name is being used without do so. What can we do?

Robert Meisner

I would suggest that if in fact the Web site purports to claim that it is an association Web site, that the association board may its permission.

to pursue the termination of the Web site as we have done in various instances on behalf of association clients. The association attorney should be consulted as to what actions he or she would recommend with regard to terminating the Web site.

Q: We purchased a home which we later found contained black toxic mold. We think the sellers failed to disclose it. The sellers claim that they had a new roof placed on the home and fully disclosed that mold had previously been found on the roof that was corrected. However, we found mold in another room and that mold had been there prior to the sale. Do we have a case?

A: If there was an affirmative representation you probably have a good case and would be awarded damages for property loss and personal injuries. You should consult with an attorney. It would be important to get good expert testimony in connection with your matter. It is also important to note that under the Seller's Disclosure Statement, they are required to disclose whether the roof leaked and the Seller's Disclosure Statement statute places no limitation on disclosures of leaks.

Helping hands: Round up utility bill, keep others warm

With the overall cost of energy on the rise and this extra burden weighing heavily on Michigan families as winter approaches, DTE Energy and The Heat And Warmth Fund (THAW) announced recently the creation of Cents for Energy, a voluntary new energy assistance program allowing DTE Energy customers to round up their utility bills to the nearest dollar to help those in need.

"Cents for Energy gives our customers a simple, automated way to provide energy assistance to households facing utility service shutoff," said Joyce Hayes-Giles, senior vice president of customer service for DTE Energy. "The money collected through this program will help a growing segment of our population — working individuals and families who struggle to make ends meet, but may not qualify for other assistance programs."

As Cents for Energy participants, DTE Energy customers have three donation options, including to: n round up their utility bill to the nearest dollar;

n round up their utility bill to the nearest dollar and add up to $10:

n make a one-time donation directly to THAW.

All funds raised through the Cents for Energy program will be administered by THAW, an independent Michigan nonprofit that has provided emergency energy assistance throughout Michigan since 1986.

"As our economy continues to slow, it becomes more important than ever for us to assist as many people as possible," said John X. Miller, CEO of THAW. "We commend DTE Energy for its creation of this accessible, easy-to-use program, and we are proud to be their partners in helping our community."

Money collected through the Cents for Energy program will be targeted to DTE Energy customers who are experiencing severe difficulty paying their utility bills, and who have a gross household income that is between 201 percent and 250 percent of federal poverty guidelines. For a family four, this equates to an annual income of approximately $40,000 to $50,000.

"With Michigan's difficult economy, there are a growing number of working families that struggle to meet basic financial obligations — but don't meet guidelines for most assistance programs," Miller said. "By targeting customers at a slightly higher income level than THAW normally assists, DTE Energy is providing a safety net to individuals and families that might otherwise fall through the cracks."

DTE Energy customers can self-enroll in Cents for Energy by clicking on the program icon at www.my.dteenergy. com or www.thawfund.org. Customers also can enroll by calling DTE Energy customer service at (800) 477-4747. Customers who choose to participate in the Cents for Energy program can modify their donation amount or cancel participation at any time.

October has been designated as Energy Awareness month by the Coalition to Keep Michigan Warm. For more information on the activities surrounding this designation, visit the THAW Web site at www.thawfund. org.

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

KIA RIO REWARDS BUDGET-MINDED BUYERS

Advertising Feature

CAReport

Since being redesigned for 2006, Kia's Rio sedan and Rio5 five-door have garnered a lot of attention from the press. It was considered "Most Fun to Drive" by the Wall Street Journal in 2006 and voted a "Most Wanted" sedan and wagon by Edmunds.com new car owners' feedback.

Proof of its good build are evidenced in its back-to-back "Highest Ranking" finishes in J.D. Power and Associates' Initial Quality Study in 2006 and 2007. The study is based on new car owners' feedback.

Kia believes the 2008 Rio and Rio will continue receiving these praises by offering the same sporty finesse, top-of-the-line quality and high fuel economy.

To offer more options, the Rio5 LX has been added to the lineup and provides yet another affordable option to those preferring the sporty styling cues and interior flexibility of a five-door.

The Kia Rio comes in base, LX and SX trim levels, while the five-door Rio5 hatchback trim levels, while the five-door Rio5 hatchback comes in the SX and LX trims. You get what you pay for in the $10,890-priced base sedan, it has manual steering and no air conditioning.

conditioning.
Ordering the LX gets you airconditioning, a CD player, power steering, a 60/40-split folding rear seat, a tilt steering wheel and bigger tires.

The sporty SX versions add foglights, 15-inch alloy wheels, a rear spoiler, metallic interior trim, metal pedals, leather-wrapped steering wheel and a black-with-red-accents cabin theme.

Options include the Power Package, which adds full power features, keyless entry and tweeter speakers and 16-inch alloy wheels for the SX.

A 1.6-liter 4-cylinder engine puts out 110 horsepower and powers every 2008 Kia Rio. All trims come standard with a five-speed manual transmission, while a four-speed automatic is optional on all but the base sedan.

Starting off at just $10,890, the 2008 Kia Rio may be the smallest car Kia sells but it is definitely its biggest bargain. The hatchback version, the Rio5, is also a steal at $13,765.

Manual Rios get 27 miles per gallon in the city and 32 mpg on the highway. Although compact cars aren't known for their room, the Rio offers ample amount of space for passengers and cargo. Its 98.4-inch wheelbase and 57.9-inch

Its 98.4-inch wheelbase and 57.9-inch height is similar to segment competitors, yet through smart design the Rio provides 92.2 cubic feet of passenger volume, which is more room than larger sedans such as the Honda Civic and Toyota Corolla.

Trunk space is also generous with the Rio offering a deep and spacious 11.9 cubic feet while the Rio5 offers 15.8 cubic feet of rear storage.

In addition, when the standard 60/40-split fold-flat rear seats are folded down, cargo volume in the five-door increases to 49.6 cubic feet.

Every inch of the Rio's interior is utilized as evident in the form of numerous storage areas, a center stack tray, a front passenger luggage hook and a rear mesh seatback pocket.

On the outside, the Rio reflects its European-inspired exterior, featuring a black mesh grille and swept-back headlights. The bumpers contain black inserts, and black bodyside moldings.

The Rio comes standard with front-seat side airbags and full-length side curtain airbags. Antilock disc brakes are optional on the higher trim levels.

In National Highway Traffic and Safety

NEW CHEVROLET

Administration frontal-impact crash testing, the Rio scored four out of five stars for driver protection and five stars for passenger protection. In the side-impact test, the Rio earned four stars for front-occupant protection and three stars for the rear.

To complement these high safety rating, all Rios are backed by Kia's comprehensive warranty program, which offers a 10-year/100,000-mile limited powertrain warranty, a five-year/60,000-mile limited basic warranty, a five-year/100,000 mile limited anti-perforation warranty and a five-year/60,000-mile 24-hour roadside assistance plan.

The Kia Rio may be the least expensive model offered by a company that prides itself on being a budget brand, but it doesn't necessarily reflect that.

necessarily reflect that.

It looks stylish and is renowned for its high quality build in an economy car class littered with cheap plastic-filled interiors.

Last year, filmmaker Alex Grossfeld attended the Detroit Docs documentary film festival for the first time. Flash forward one year, and three of his films have been accepted for screening at the event. The international documentary celebration is set for Oct. 29 to Nov. 2 in Detroit.

The Huntington Woods resident traces his interest in film back to his days at Berkley High School. During his freshman year, he was involved in creating video announcements. He took his first class in video production the following year and has been making movies and working in the medium ever since.

Currently a student at Detroit's College for Creative Studies, he's become entrenched in documentary filmmaking and regularly works as a freelancer for Troy-based Media Arts. His assignments there have run the gamut from Web-isodes featuring an organic Michigan farm to shooting overseas in Switzerland. It was the latter trip that led to his documentary When I Went to Europe, an experimental doc that flashes back and forth in time and evokes a dream-like feeling.

With footage shot on Super 8 - using cameras he uncovered in his late uncle's basement - Grossfeld labored over the editing. "I had no idea how I was going to piece it together," he said.

Festival Director David Gazdowicz said it paid off. "He made something really exciting to watch."

Grossfeld also will present his works Highland Park Police Headquarters and Michigan Central Station, both of which explore abandoned properties. In the latter, he follows photog-

Grand Slam, a brand new Andy Warhol exhibition at Bloomfield Hills' Cranbrook Art Museum, came together thanks to a single portrait depicting Brazilian Soccer great Pelé. That portrait, one of 10 in Warhol's Athletes Series, was gifted to the museum in 2001 by collectors John and Rose M. Shuey.

Gregory Wittkopp, director of Cranbrook Art Museum and a Pleasant Ridge resident, sought to reunite Pelé with his nine counterparts, all created by Warhol between 1977 and 1979. In doing so he contacted Seattle art collector Richard Weisman, a longtime friend of Warhol's who initially commissioned the project. Weisman agreed to show the series at Cranbrook shortly after its return from a Beijing gallery where it was presented to coincide with Summer Olympic Games in China. At Cranbrook, it serves as the centerpiece to an original show.

"We have put this together ourselves," said Emily Zilber, co-curator shot at Warhol's infamous Factory and Bloomfield Hills resident. "It's not part of a tour."

GRAND SLAM: ANDY WARHOL What: More than 200 works spanning the celebrated pop art founder's career from 1960 to his death in 1987, highlighting "The Athletes Series," which will only be part of the exhibition through Jan. 4, 2009. When: The show runs through Jan. 11, 2009. Museum hours: 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday; and 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the fourth Friday of each month. Where: Cranbrook Academy of Art and Art Museum, 39221 Woodward Ave.,

Bloomfield Hills. Tickets: $10 adults; $5 teens, students; children 12 and under are admitted free with adult admission; members admitted free. More information: Call (877) GO-CRANBrook or visit www.cranbrook.edu.

Grand Slam showcases Warhol's work in four forms. In addition to his paintings and photography, films will be shown continuously, including Mrs. Warhol, Sunset, and Paul Swan, as well as screen tests of Salvador Dali and of Lou Reed,

See custom bikes and more at swap meet

Like Bikes? We're talking motorcycles.

Thousands of bikers and wannabes will mingle at the Giant Motorcycle Swap Meet on Sunday, Oct. 26 at Rock Financial Showplace to browse, buy, sell and swap motorcycles, parts and accessories.

"With nearly one out of every four bikers in the U.S. living in Michigan and its four border states, the nine swap meets we sponsor give bikers the chance to be around other bikers and to support the economic interests that are vital to keeping the industry strong," stated event director Chad Dutmers. "A lot of bikers started coming with their dads when they were kids. Now those bikers are bringing their own kids."

The swap meet will feature '08 and '09 bikes as well as used bikes - street, dirt, metric, touring, cruising, trikes, choppers, custom bikes, and trailers.

The Giant Motorcycle Swap Meet for the past 33 years, has offered "everything for rider or machine." And you will see interesting vehicles such as:

■ Dan & Kelly Dwyer of Michigan Memorial Gardens will showcase the Tombstone Hearse, which will be pulled by a chromed-out Harley Davidson Trike.

Many bikers have hired the 1800s replica hearse for funerals, calling it "the last ride" for loved ones. Visit http://www. michmempark.com/unique_ hearse.htm

■ Also on display will be the "U of M" Chopper built by Orange County Choppers. The bike is scheduled to be auctioned at the 18th annual Antique and Special Interest Motorcycle Auction in Las Vegas next year. Proceeds will go to benefit C.S. Mott Children's Hospital and The University of Michigan.

Hours are 11 a.m.-4 p.m. Admission is $10 for adults and $3 for ages 6-12. Rock Financial Showplace is located at 46100 Grand River Avenue, Novi, (248) 662-0104.

First Impressions

The DIA shows off modern masters in 'Monet to Dali'

BY STEPHANIE ANGELYN CASOLA

Patrons of the Detroit Institute of Arts may recognize that within the museum's extensive collection is a wealth of post-modern Impressionist works. This month, with the addition of the exhibition Monet to Dali: Modern Masters from the Cleveland Museum of Art, a collection of 75 earlier paintings and sculptures by the likes of these masters as well as Renoir, Picasso, Rodin, and Matisse to name a few, depict city life, landscapes and turn-of-the-century times sure to awe visitors throughout its run.

Once it closes, on Jan. 18, the works will return home to The Cleveland Art Museum, which has been undergoing an expansion. During construction, the museum's collection has been shown across the globe, as far away as China. Detroit marks its last stop. Curator William R. Robertson, of the Cleveland Museum of Art, said he doesn't expect they will be again because "we've missed them too much." The collection—one which he said would be "impossible to assemble" today—demonstrates the museum's strength in the area of modern art.

MaryAnn Wilkinson, curator of European Modern Art for the DIA, said "We were trying to get away from the art historical chronology" when organizing this exhibition. Visitors will notice that the paintings and sculptures are rather loosely grouped by themes. Those include: The inspiration of landscapes; anxiety at the turn of the century; the spirit of experimentation; an emphasis on psychology; and the exuberance of life in the city.

Nature is reflected first, in works like a peaceful scene by Pierre-Auguste Renoir titled The Apple Seller.

The children's fresh faces blush with tones that mimic the changing trees. Camille Pissarro's Edge of the Woods gives a doe's-eye-view of a forest clearing.

The Age of Anxiety comes across in large scale through Pablo Picasso's long-suffering Blue Period subjects of La Vie, while Vincent Van Gogh's The Poplars of Saint-Remy shows a breathtaking use of light and shadow, along with those trademark swirling skies.

Salvador Dali's The Dream is highlighted for its Freudian connection to psychology, almost an Oedipal complex played out in dreams. It is one of the pieces Graham W.J. Beale, director of the DIA, was most excited to present, along with the exhibit's multiple works by Claude Monet.

"The DIA only has one Monet," he said, adding that Monet to Dali allows visitors to take a deeper look at the artist. Monet's The Red Kerchief, with its muted tones, voyeristic viewpoint and drops of delicate snow, practically serves as the exhibition's equivalent of an encore.

MONET TO DALI: MODERN MASTERS FROM THE CLEVELAND MUSEUM OF ART

What: A collection of 75 works of art assembled from a who's who of Modern art masters including Monet, Dali, van Gogh, Renoir, Degas, Matisse, Picasso and Rodin, to name a few. When: Running through Jan. 18, 2009

Where: The Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit

Tickets: $8-$18, call (313) 833-4005 or visit www.dia.org.

The artwork is presented in a very clean, purposeful manner that makes the overall experience of wandering through these galleries an engaging one. The works are displayed with vivid descriptions penned by DIA staff members, and nearby diagrams that highlight various portions of a painting and shed light on the background and history of the artist, as well as those elements that inspired them. Lighted phrases are projected onto walls denoting a new group of paintings and sculpture. It fits right into the DIA's overall approach to organization, unveiled last year once its own renovation was complete.

"We're very excited about what we're doing here," said Wilkinson. "We think it's kind of a fresh look."

raphers who seek beauty in pure urban decay. "I wanted to document these guys doing what they do," said Grossfeld. He admits a fascination in the rotting environs and said "it's sad no one wants to do anything about it or they can't do it," said Grossfeld. "It was just something I wanted to be a part of."

All three films are part of the Made in Michigan series and will be shown between 1-3 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 1, at the Detroit Film Theatre.

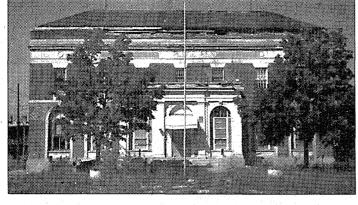

Grossfeld is looking forward to the screening — though he admits when When I Went to Europe was recently included in the Ann Arbor Film Festival his attention wasn't on the screen. "You end up watching the audience to see what their reaction will be," he said.

Gazdowicz noted that 87 film submissions came in over the course of a year. He has screened every one. And through a committee process, about 48 were chosen for the festival. This year, the festival will honor filmmaker Les Blank, whose works include Burdon of Dreams, which chronicles German director Werner Herzog's work filming the epic feature Fitz carraldoin the Amazon. The movie will be shown, along with Werner Herzog Eats His Shoe, Garlic is as Good as Ten Mothers, and a Q&A session, all on Oct. 30 at the Detroit Film Theatre.

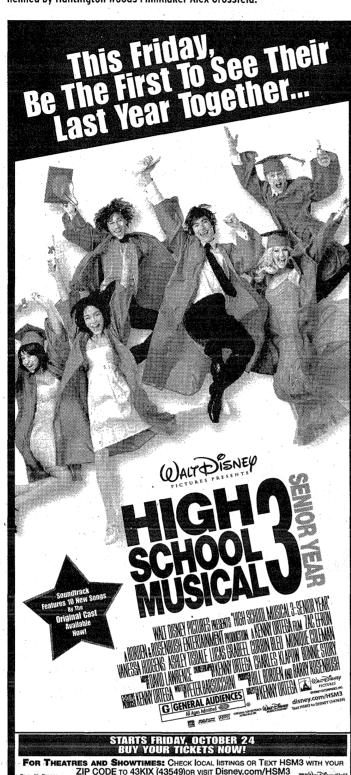

"His style is just amazing," said Gazdowicz of Blank. "He's been an award-winning filmmaker for years and years. He's one of those filmmakers that, if you're interested in documentary films, you know who he is.

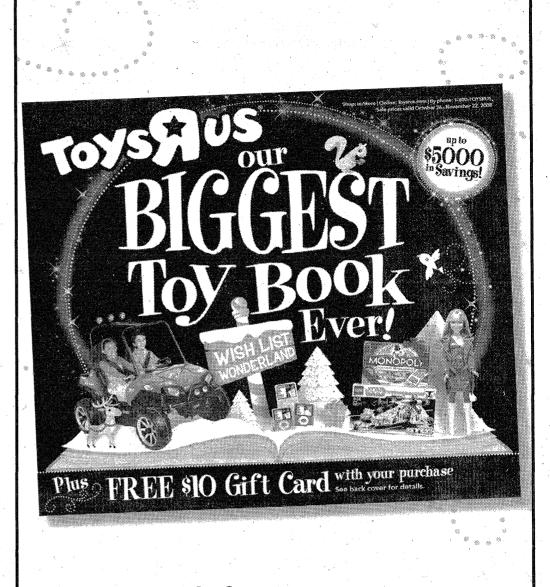

The festival highlight will spotlight local works in the Made In Michigan series Nov. 1-2 at the Detroit Film Theatre. Much of the Detroit Docs programming will be housed at 1515 Broadway — including Patrick Creadon's ode to the country's growing debt in I.O.U.S.A.; a 15-hour movie marathon; and, wrapping up the event, six additional shorts by Blank. Nearby restaurants like Small Plates and The Detroit Beer Co. will offer film fest patron discounts.

This is going to be a great weekend in Detroit," said Gazdowicz.

Arab women create visions of utopia

Utopian Visions is the name of an interesting exhibit at the Arab American National Museum created by four women artists.

The works created by Rima Al-Awar, Rana Chalabi, Roula Ayoub and Emna Zghal are inspired by poetry, spiritual belief and nature.

"This exhibit is a remarkable medley of color, texture and imagery that evokes our universal yearning for a more perfect world," AANM Curator of Collections Suzy Adra Mazloum said on the museum's Web site. Mazloum led the exhibit's development.

"It also encourages our viewers to reflect on their own personal visions of utopia and share them with their fellow visitors — in a very real way, our viewers will enhance this exhibit as it continues to evolve over the next six months."

The artists hail from Toronto, Cairo, Beirut and you are seeking a change-of-pace white wine, reminiscent of viognier, with notes of peach, apricot, tropical fruit, plus an intriguing minerality that pairs well with fish and seafood, this wine is it. Heald Since 1988, when the Denominacion de Origen Rias Baixas was created, the region of Galicia has come alive with production of fresh, aromatic, lively, well-balanced white wines, with great flavor intensity.

It was once thought that albarino was brought to Galicia by German monks, but Martin Codax winemaker Luciano Amoedo confirmed that the grape is indigenous to Galicia. When young, it has an appealing bright apple aroma, similar to that of riesling.

David Landin, enologist at Condes de Albarei, producer of the first white wine from Spain to be awarded a Gold Medal at VINEXPO in Bordeaux, noted that "acidity is the most important factor determining whether albarino undergoes malolactic fermentation or not." Condes de Albarei makes three styles of albarino, but only the stainless steel fermented wine is exported to the U.S.

The issue of oak aging is purely a matter of personal taste, but in all cases, we prefer the bright, crisp, fruity nature of the stainless steel versions over those aged in

In the late 1990s, albarino began to gain traction in U.S. vineyards, particularly on the west coast in Oregon's Umpqua Valley and several California AVAs, (American Viticultural Areas).

Michael Havens, an independent wine consultant, planted albarino in 1997 in the Los Carneros AVA. He believes floral and tropical fruits are the best aroma descriptors with firm, lively stone fruits, bracing acidity, great length and an almost marine minerality as its finest flavors. He prefers albarino with any seafood, raw, sauced or simply cooked. He also likes it with curries or other spicy dishes, whether of Asian or Latino influence.

At Abacela, Earl Jones planted albarino in 2000 in Oregon's Umpqua Valley.

He likes the bright fruit and sharp acidity that make albarino a refreshing, food-friendly wine. Albarino is best enjoyed young and fresh, within a year of harvest. So check the vintage on the label when purchasing.

studio. Warhol's prints also are highlighted and they range from the familiarity of his Campbell's Soup I, a collection made in 1968, to later works like Endangered Species (1983), which is on loan from the Grand Rapids Art Museum, to his 1980 series titled Ten Jews of the Twentieth Century.

GREAT SPORTS

"I like to take them to places that are smaller, places that don't get a chance to see an original Warhol," he said during an Oct. 10 visit to Cranbrook, just prior to the exhibit's public opening.

Weisman initially suggested Warhol paint this series as a way to link "the two most popular leisure time activities," namely art and sports. "People who are interested in art are not too much into the sports world," he said. "And people who are interested in sports are not too interested in art. Of course, there are excep-

By suggesting Warhol paint

the series, Weisman knew it had the potential to draw these groups together. "People will come into this museum who have never been here before," he said, standing in the gallery where his own portrait, a gift from Warhol made in vibrant blues, is placed on a wall opposite the 10 sports figures.

Weisman chose the subjects for the series because, as he said, "Andy didn't know the difference between a golf ball and a football." He began approaching sports figures for the series by asking those he knew personally, like hockey's Rod Gilbert, pitcher Tom Seaver, and jockey Willie Shoemaker. Then came Ali. After he signed on, Weisman said, it was easy to nail down the rest of the athletes, like football's OJ Simpson and skater Dorothy Hamill. "These people were very sought-after," Weisman said.

He grew up surrounded by art. His mother, the late Marcia Weisman, was a founder of the Contemporary Art Museum of Los Angeles. Ultimately he began collecting art when he purchased a painting titled Early Urge by Matta, a Brazilian painter. It cost $1,000.

"The art that I have is what I like," Weisman told a packed room at Cranbrook. "I'm the one who wakes up with it and goes to bed with it. I think anyone who is interested in collecting should keep that in

WITH WARHOL

Weisman was already quite familiar with Warhol when he met him — in the 1960s- as they ran in similar social circles in New York City. "We would say Andy would have gone to the opening of an envelope," joked Weisman. "He was nonstop. His energy was incredible."

He called Warhol a "groupie" who loved to be surrounded by celebrities. "He'd be at a party and he'd see someone who was on their own, not mixing. Andy would go up — wherever he went a crowd would collect around him," said Weisman.

After a few introductions by Warhol even the quietest wallflower would become the center of the party, Weisman explained.

Those parties were captured by Warhol's lens. He was constantly snapping pictures with his Big Shot Polaroid camera, said Weisman.

And more than 150 of those images are also part of the Grand Slam exhibit. Following. the artist's death in 1987, the Andy Warhol Foundation had compiled 60,000 of his photographs, Wittkopp said. The Andy Warhol Photograph Legacy Program deemed the collection much too large to show and so it has been divided and gifted to museums. In order to receive the photographs, museums had to meet two criteria, Wittkopp said. They had to be connected to universities, and they had to already own a significant collection of Warhol's work. Cranbrook qualified on both counts, having already held the Pele portrait and one screenprint from the Electric Chair series.

LOCAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Birmingham art collector Marc A. Schwartz contributed his collection, a series of 10 screenprints of the Electric Chair for this show. And Susu Sosnick, also of Birmingham, contributed two additional works to the show. She had commissioned Warhol to paint her portrait in 1981. The exhibit includes those works as well as a slideshow of photographs, taken by her late husband, Robert, which were shot when Sosnick was asked to visit Warhol's Paris studio. He shot Polaroids of her before narrowing down an image to work from for the portraits. Two of those original photographs are also part of the display. Wittkopp said those elements help put the entire exhibit in context as they "show the whole process" of how Warhol worked.

More than a collector of important works, Weisman chooses to share art he has purchased over the years both in exhibiting them as he does with The Athletes Series - and in his book, Picasso to Pop: The Richard Weisman Collection. It is available for sale at the museum.

SISTER MARY SIMONE COURTADE, RSM Sister of Mercy, Nurse, Advocate for the Poor Sister of Mercy for 46 years, died on October 18, 2008 at McAuley Center. She was 64. Of Farmington Hills, MI. She was born to Henry and Johanna (VanOeffelen) Courtade in Grand Haven, Michigan on May 26, 1944 and named Agnes Rose at her baptism. She joined the Sisters of Mercy in 1962, receiving the name Sister Mary Simone in 1963, and made perpetual vows in 1970. Sister Simone earned a bachelor's degree in nursing from Mercy College of Detroit and a mas-ter's from Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. During her 33 years of direct hospital service, she served as a staff nurse at St Mary's Hospital, Grand Rapids; staff nurse, head nurse and director of clinical nursing at St. Joseph Mercy lospital/ Samaritan Health Center, Detroit; and gerontological clinical nurse specialist and vice president for mission services at Mercy Hospital, Muskegon. Sister Simone served on the boards of St. Mary's Hospital, Grand Rapids, MI; St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland, Pontiac, MI; and Battle Creek Health System. She was an active member of the Gerontological linical Nurse Specialist Group, Sigma Theta Tau nursing honor socieand other organizations, and published a number of articles in professional journals. One of Sister Simone's experiences during a sabbatical year in 2000 was immersion in the work of the Sisters of Mercy in Belize. Although she had spent 15 years at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Detroit and was aware of the needs of an impoverished, aging, inner city population, she said it was in Belize that she lived and worked with the poorest of the poor. She returned from her sabbatical determined to do whatever she could to help, but soon discovered a recurrence of the cancer for which she had been treated six years earlier. Despite her deteriorating health, Sister Simone developed a way to help persons in Caribbean and Latin American countries who were suffering poverty. Using the interest from her inheritance and donations from friends and colleagues, she established the Courtade Latin American-Caribbean Fund in 2004 in memory of her parents. The first grants were awarded in 2005 to Mercy ministries in Latin American and Caribbean countries. Although annual requests for funds far exceeded the ability to respond, she continued to work toward the fund's growth until shortly before her death. Sister Simone is remembered for her practical wisdom, her optimism, her gentle sense of humor and her faith as she battled cancer for fourteen years. She underwent several series of chemotherapy and radiation treatments and continued to hope for a cure, but knew that it might not be possible. She often said she would live one day at a time and enjoy

it as much as possible and so attended concerts, took vacations, advocated for peace and justice and continued an active interest in community affairs.

Sister Simone is survived by her sisters Margaret Junio of Nunica, MI, and Elizabeth Basket of Bristol, IN; her brother Joseph of Grand Rapids,

MI; several nieces and nephews; many friends; and by the members of her

Mercy community. A welcoming service was held on October 20, 2008 at McAuley Center, 28750 Eleven Mile Jewish and Muslim traditions at the Marriott Pontiac Centerpoint. Michigan Roundtable (www.miroundtable.org) is a nonprofit human relations organization trying to eliminate discrimination.

"We're working with students in middle school in Plymouth-Canton to learn about diversity and we're working in communities, said Spreitzer. "We're working with the Catholic Youth Organization with youth ministers who are Jewish. Muslim and Christian It's challenge to deal with differences.'

Troubled by unrest in the Middle East and the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001, Brenda Naomi Rosenberg, Imam Abdullah El Amin and Rev. Dan Buttry, created The Children of Abraham Project, a dramatic interpretation of the legacy of Abraham whose life was the inspiration for Judaism, Islam and Christianity. Produced by Rosenberg and Julie Fisher Cummings through their Pathways to Peace Foundation, the play was written by Rachel Urist in collaboration with youth from the three Abrahamic faiths, and Brenda and Rick Sperling, founder of Mosaic Youth Theatre.

Rosenberg will present Reuniting the Children of Abraham: Tool Kit for Peace from 5-9 p.m. Monday, Nov. 10 and will speak on reconciliation from 10:15-11:45 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 11. She believes every conflict can be resolved if people are ready to engage in courageous conversations using formats of nonviolent communication.

"It's an opportunity to not only show the movie and have a discussion but one of the keys is having the experience of stepping into the other's shoes and being the other to tell your story about how you've been hurt by prejudices. The real healing takes place when you have to play the other person until the other person says you really understand my story," said Rosenberg of Bloomfield Hills. "Imagine if we were able to do this in India between Hindu and Christian, between the Israelis and Arabs, in our own communities to have the opportunity to hear each other's stories."

ISLAMIC VIEW Dawud Walid couldn't agree more with Rosenberg.

Buy a pumpkin and help youth ministry

Students involved in the youth ministry program at Orchard United Methodist Church in Farmington Hills are selling pumpkins to earn money for mission work in 2009.

Each year they go to a different community in need, such as a Native American town in Minnesota, an Appalachian town in rural Tennessee, or an urban community such as the Binghampton area of Memphis, to help repair or replace roofing, paint, build decks or porches, replace insulation, and help with yard clean-up and landscaping.

For these students, service is not limited to one week in the summer. In order to qualify for the trip, the students must participate in local service projects all during the year. The approximately 40 students raise money and make lunches for the homeless through the NOAH Project, bake Christmas cookies for elderly shut-ins, and participate many other activities.

Deb Hobson, a church spokeswoman, said students won't travel far from home for their mission trip in summer

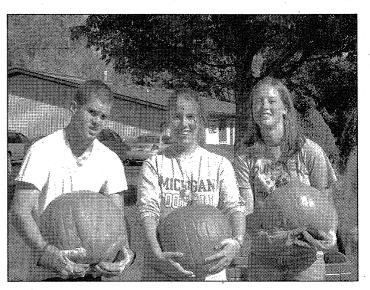

"It's all local this year," she said. "There is a mission in Detroit they'll be working

The Pumpkin Patch, which has been the group's primary fundraiser for 12 years faced a challenge this year when Farmington Road closed to through-traffic because of construction at 14 Mile Road. In the inter-faith spirit of hospitality, Church of Today West agreed to host the Pumpkin Patch to allow the youth visibility and access to traffic. Students are selling pumpkins from 11 a.m.-8 p.m., through Oct. 31, at Church of Today West, 32500 W. 13 Mile, just east of North Farmington High School.

"They do a great job," Hobson complimented stu-

He is speaking on the Islamic perspective of justice from 3:15 to 4:20 p.m. Nov. 10. Walid is executive director of the Michigan branch of the Council on American-Islamic Relations, the advocacy and civil liberties organization for Muslims based in Southfield. Walid deals daily with complaints ranging from hate speech to discrimination in the workplace and school.

"It's the Muslim responsibility to be just even it it's against our individual selves, parents, a close loved one, according to the mandate of the Qur'an. God instructs the Muslim to seek to institute social justice for all people including freedom of religion as well as the right to have dignity through economic stability," said Walid. "Two summers ago I was at an Interfaith Partners event praying for peace. There was some rhetoric and signs being held by a Palestinian Christian the Jewish community took exception to. I spoke out. It had a Star of David and a Nazi sign on the other side. Not only was the sign an attack on Jewish faith but Islamic, because David is a prominent prophet mentioned in the Qur'an. When we see discrimination against others we speak out against discrimination and hate crimes against Muslims, but in those cases where people discriminate or incite religious tension in America we're mandated to speak out as well. If anyone's religious freedoms are being violated it jeopardizes

our ability to practice our bona fide beliefs."

CHRISTIAN PERSPECTIVE

Rev. Jeff Nelson also will talk about justice from 3:15-4:20 p.m. Nov. 10. Nelson is associate pastor of mission and outreach programs at First United Methodist Church of Birmingham.

He'll share what he has learned as a youth leader.

About four years ago the teens at First United wanted to do something about the HIV/AIDS epidemic in Africa so they set out to collect a single penny for every person infected in Africa - 23 million. So far they've raised just under $230,000 which has gone to direct relief to Africa.

"It all led from kids' passion. They just didn't want to be silent on this. I'm going to talk about allowing young people to have a voice," said Nelson.

"The conference is a great opportunity to bring together metro Detroit, such a diverse area religiously with more kids going to school where it's more diverse and worshipping in places where that diversity isn't talked about. Youth leaders can come together and talk about how they live with their neighbors. We have to learn to listen better, learn from our religious neighbors, We're not the only ball game in town. We're right; they're wrong. We have to reach a point where we can work together."

Imam Achmat Salie speaks on the topic of peace from 10-11:45 a.m. Nov. 10. Salie founded the Islamic studies program at Oakland University where he lectures and directs the program.

Wearable Art

Sharon Meyer celebrates 25 Years of distinction

BY WENSDY VON BUSKIRK O&E STAFF WRITER

Over her 25-year career, Sharon Meyer's jewelry has become collectible art.

The Troy resident said her clients have necklaces, bracelets, rings and earrings purchased in 1983 that they are still wearing today. One had her necklace mounted in a

Meyer shadowbox so she could hang it on the wall. Another invested in a beautiful bowl so she could display her piece when she didn't have it on.

Their stories inspired Meyer to create the coffee table book 25 Years of Distinctive Jewelry, to document her work past and present.

"The book is actually being delivered today from the publisher," Meyer said during a recent interview with PINK from her private jewelry studio in Troy. "What I wanted to do is create an art book, because my work is so full of color and every piece is so different." Meyer, also a photographer, shot the book's photos herself, rounding up classic pieces from clients, as well as capturing her newest collections. For the elegant cover photo, she shipped in a live albino peacock to represent the ornate illustrated bird that has always been her logo. Meyer said she has enjoyed working with her hands since she was a child. High school metalsmithing classes set her on the path to jewelry-making.

The passion just grew," she began working with beads, stones and pearls as well, combining them with the metalwork, which really gives you a much broader fashion base to work with."

In 1983, she began selling Sharon Meyer Distinct Jewelry Amalgamations Ltd. at Jacobson's, the Detroit Institute of Arts Museum Shop, and the Charles Warren fine jewelry store at Somerset.

Her work was an instant hit, picked up nationally that same year by the Charles Warren chain, as well as museum shops across the country. For eight years her sterling silver line was sold at Neiman Marcus. Later, Saks Fifth Avenue began carrying her 18k gold couture

She also exhibits about 150 pieces each year at the Sculpture Objects & Functional Art expos in New York and Chicago.

Each piece starts with a sketch and no two are exactly alike. They include luxurious lariats capped with beaded tassels, multiple strand bracelets, exquisite carved jade pendants, and semi-precious stones strung on hand-knotted silk.

When you hold up a strand they cascade. I have 40 different colors and sizes of silk," she said. "My studio is like an artist's palette. Instead of paint I have all different color stones.'

Meyer always wears her own jewelry, and makes changes if it doesn't feel right.

You need to be comfortable in it," she said. "I want you to feel like you just put on a silk blouse.'

A long-time member of Fashion Group International, Meyer was named "member of the month" for October.

Saks Fifth Avenue Somerset will honor her with a private luncheon on Saturday, Oct. 25.

Also, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 24 and noon-6 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 25, Meyer will host a public appearance at Saks - complete with champagne, sweets and informal modeling to sign books and display latest collection.

Her son Lewis' band Trio will entertain, while her other son, 19-year-old Nicholas, and husband, Kurt, show their support.

Cheryl Hall Lindsay, director of fashion for Saks Somerset, met Meyer through FGI at the start of her career and is excited to help her celebrate her 25th year in business.

"Sharon's jewelry is very special," Lindsay said. "Her pieces are eye-catching and entry-making, and they can turn a great little black dress into an outstanding ensemble."

Sharon Meyer Distinctive Jewelry is available at Saks Fifth Avenue; and at Spiralz Studio of Contemporary Jewelry Design, 230 Merrill, in Birmingham. Visit her website at www.sharonmeyerjeweiry.com.
