Time banking

Plymouth-Canton Citizens for Diversity and Inclusion has initiated an effort to combat an economic slump by pooling resources of disabled people, local businesses, at-risk youth, retirees, food pantries, religious leaders and others willing to give help to get it.

PCCDI has announced plans to bring Time Banking - a social change movement found in 22 countries on six continents - to western Wayne County, starting in Plymouth and Canton.

PCCDI has scheduled four informational meetings where people can sign up, ask questions or learn how they can help its planned Time Banking program:

· Pioneer Middle School: 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 13, 46081 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth.

· Big Boy Restaurant: 9-11:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, at 45250 Ford Road, Canton.

· Karma Coffee Shop: 6:30-8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 1, 3015 S. Wayne Road, Wayne. Panera Bread: 9:30-11:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 3, 400 S. Main, Plymouth.

Potential members also may send an e-mail to PCCDI at plycancdi@gmail

Giving Hope

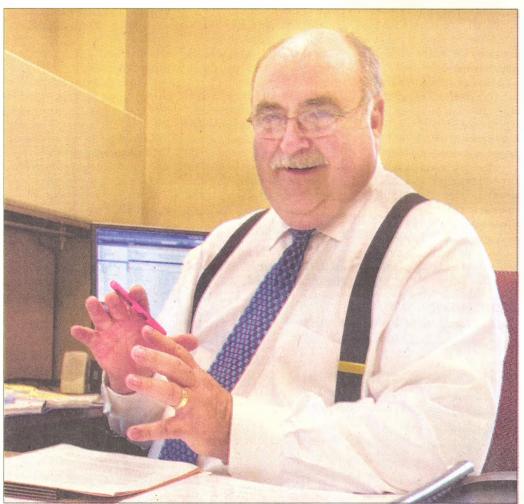

Dr. Jody Jones, a physician from IHA-Canton, will talk about menopause management and hormone replacement therapy at Giving Hope Women's Giving Circle annual meeting Wednesday, Oct. 13, at The Village Theatre at Cherry Hill, in Canton.

The Giving Hope program also will include reports from local nonprofits that have received grants from the organization, an update on current grant requests, a short business meeting and a social hour. A reception will kick off the evening at 6:30 p.m., with the program starting at 7:15 p.m. Light appetizers and desserts will be served. The theater is located at 50400 Cherry Hill.

Formed in 2006, the Giving Hope Women's Giving Circle provides grant-making initiatives that address the needs of families in Canton and Plymouth, creates an endowment fund for the future and building a community of women philanthropists. By pooling their charitable dollars, the 68 members of the organization are able to make a greater philanthropic impact. To date more than $20,000 has been distributed through the fund which is held at the Canton Community Foundation.

The Plymouth and Canton Observer newspapers and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are sponsors of the program Oct. 13. Admission is $10. Call the Canton Community Foundation at (734) 495-1200 or e-mail givinghopewgc@gmail.com.

Jim Anulewicz felt it was "time to turn over the baton." His retirement is effective Friday.

Developing a new plan

Planner takes lasting legacy into retirement

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Iim Anulewicz remembers the days when there was virtually nothing west of Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township, and people wanted it to stay that way.

He can remember the planning commission meetings back then and the ones since, including meetings that would last into the wee hours of the morning.

"People would storm those meetings and they'd be screaming, 'If you allow (development past Sheldon), it'll be the death of this community," Anulewicz recalls with something of a wry smile. "What they really wanted was to preserve the vegetation. They didn't want to have house after house after house. So we allowed the development, but you have to keep all of that in mind, too."

Needless to say, development west of Sheldon Road wasn't the death of Plymouth Township, and now the man responsible since the mid-1970s for how that all happened is headed into retirement, happy and satisfied he was able to help his township grow.

James Anulewicz started consulting with Plymouth Township in the 1970s, then joined the township's planning department in 1984.

Anulewicz, 66, walks out the door for the last time Monday after serving for so long as Plymouth Township's director of public services. He started consulting with the township in the 1970s, signed on in the planning

Crime moves up, but township still safer than most

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Crime ticked upward in Plymouth Township last year, with the number of reported larcenies up significantly over 2008 and the number of robberies, burglaries and vehicle thefts up slightly, according to the latest numbers from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Still, the township remained much safer than most U.S. communities of its size, with the per-capita crime rates in all nine major categories, from murder to burglary to motor vehicle theft, substantially below national averages for communities of between 25,000 and 50,000 people. (There were no murders in the township in 2008.)

The FBI's Uniform Crime Reports for 2009, listing crimes across the country by region, state and municipality, were released last month. The numbers are complied based on reported crimes in the local jurisdictions, which generate reports that are sent to the FBI. The complete reports are available at www. fbi.gov.

Police Chief Tom Tiderington blamed a weak economy, high unemployment and dwindling resources for the rising numbers.

"It's a very difficult time for law enforcement and communities," the chief said. He said he expects the numbers to remain higher as long as the labor market is slow.

"We've got to get the economy turned around, and then I think we'll see less crime," township Supervisor Richard Reaume said.

Larcenies in the township were up by 26 percent, from 272 reported in 2008 to 344 reported last year. The township in 2008 saw a spike in thefts from parked vehicles, which would be included in the larceny category. The vast majority of those vehicles had been left unlocked.

The number of robberies, defined as a forcible theft, went from six to nine, the number of burglaries went from 62 to 77, and the number of vehicle thefts went from 20 to 24.

Tiderington pointed out that with low numbers to begin with in many categories, such as robbery, any increase is going to look like a large one, percentage-wise, but might not reflect a serious problem.

"Of course, if you're the victim, it's a huge increase,' he said. "None of the robberies are good."

Tiderington said residents play a big role in keeping neighborhoods safe by watching out for each other and reporting suspicious

"They're certainly the eyes and ears of the police department," he said. "It's essential that they look out for their neighbors."

Educational programs, such as having officers speak occasionally to schoolchildren or a department-sponsored citizens police academy, which offered residents a detailed look at what police do and information on how to keep themselves safe, are important, too. Such programs, however, have been curtailed in recent years because of falling revenue and tightening township budgets.

Fiegel won't get Walled Lake post

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Craig Fiegel will not be the new superintendent in the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools

Fiegel, Plymouth-Canton's superintendent the last two years, was notified Friday morning of the Walled Lake board's decision.

Fiegel had a pair of interviews with the Walled Lake board, which is looking for a replacement for William Hamilton, whose retirement is effective Dec. 1. Walled Lake officials want Hamilton's replacement in place by Nov. 1. Fiegel is one of three candidates called back for a second look.

Walled Lake board President Michael Karson notified Fiegel on Friday he wouldn't be brought back for a third. The other two finalists - current Lake Orion Supt. Kenneth Gutman and Paul DeAngelis, currently the deputy superintendent for education services in Birmingham — will be brought back.

Fiegel declined to comment. Fiegel applied for the Walled Lake position in the wake of uncertainty over whether his contract would be renewed. The board settled that issue last week, however, voting 4-3 not to renew Fiegel's deal. Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Treasurer Judy Mardigian and trustees Dianne Gonzalez, John Jackson and Adrienne Davis voted against renewal; board President Steven Sneideman, Vice President Barry Simescu and Secretary Nancy Eggenberger voted in favor of renewal.

Judy Evola, community relations director for Walled Lake Schools, said the board had "an amazing field of candidates, including Dr. Fiegel," and will move forward with Gutman and DeAngelis. Board members did site visits to Birmingham and Lake Orion schools Friday.

"The Walled Lake Board of Education had an incredible field of candidates and they were all very, very qualified," Evola said. "The board is still in the process of deliberating and doing their due diligence to make sure they've done a thorough job.

department in 1984 and has been the department chief since 1989. Anulewicz will continue running the planning consulting firm, James D. Anulewicz Associates, he started at the same time he began working with the township.

"I've had a minimum of two jobs since I was 28," Anulewicz said. "That's basically seven days a week for more than 30 years. It's time to hand over the baton."

HIS FINGERPRINTS

Much of the development in Plymouth Township, which most observers agree is built out, has Anulewicz's fingerprints on it. Anulewicz said the township was able to successfully develop because all the parties involved in the building were willing to keep the same goals in mind.

Developers wanted something, the township wanted something and residents wanted something, and Anulewicz said everyone was successful — relatively — in achieving most of that.

"I've always said, 'Why can't I look at my goals, you as the developer look at what you are looking to achieve, and then look at the common things," Anulewicz said. "That's how you get to what all parties are building for."

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, October 10, 2010

was a big part of that, according to Gary Roberts, the president of DeMattia Corp., the largest developer in the township. DeMattia built its Plymouth Township building in 1983, and Roberts, who was on the architectural staff back then, and Anulewicz have worked closely together ever since.

"I think the community owes Jim a great deal of gratitude for his efforts in making Plymouth Township what it is today," Roberts said. "You drive through the industrial park and see some of the vegetation ... it's one of the nicest industrial parks in the state, and a lot of those requirements and planning issues are all Jim."

Anulewicz remembers telling officials they needed a plan for Ann Arbor Road, which was then just a twolane road, because it was "going to be an important corridor." Not much was done in that regard until the late 1990s and into the early 2000s, when then township Supervisor Steve Mann, now a trustee on the township board, helped create the Ann Arbor Road corridor.

"You had to have the foresight to know it was going to go from two to four lanes," Anulewicz said. "That forward thinking has for some time now been the hallmark of this community. We've done a lot of things that are right."

FINALLY, FREEWAYS

When Anulewicz started, access to the township was more limited without expressways like I-275 and M-14, and roads like Sheldon and Beck were crowded. Those expressways not only have made getting around easier, Anulewicz said, but they've made the township attractive to businesses.

"Instead of looking at the freeways as a negative, we looked at them as a positive," Anulewicz said. "We can have the high-tech corridor, but we can still keep it away from the residential. You couldn't ask for a better location. I believe that's why we're attracting so much business."

Anulewicz's ability to see planning from a look-to-the-future position has been his biggest asset, if you ask those who've served with him. Kay Arnold is a long-time member of the township planning commission, and she said Anulewicz knows things "never stay the same."

"You have to look forward, you can't just sit on your laurels," Arnold said. "He has been a saint as far as planning."

INTO THE FUTURE

Now he's ready to take his act into retirement, focusing on his private business and his family, although he won't have to worry about a lengthy list of projects waiting at home from his wife of three years, Kelly McCarty.

"No 'honey-do' list for him," said McCarty, who said she and Anulewicz have been together since 1997. "I really just want him to relax for a bit. He's worked extremely hard his entire life and he truly deserves a few months to catch his breath. Then we'll travel — Ireland, Poland, Alaska."

There were some raised eyebrows when he announced his retirement — "There were people who thought they'd have to drag me out of here kicking and screaming," he said with a laugh — but Anulewicz is happy to be going at what he feels is at the right time, and on his own terms.

What he wants most is to be remembered as someone dedicated to his craft who left behind a solid legacy.

"I'd like to be remembered as someone who was honest and capable at working with people to arrive at a common goal beneficial to all parties," he said before chuckling at his own cliche. "Every decision I've ever made was based on the best interest of the community. I want people to remember that."

O&E, Hometown to offer advertising on Yahoo! sites

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Hometown Weeklies is partnering with Yahoo! to offer local advertisers more opportunities for digital advertising.

Announced last week, the partnership that begins in 2011 allows the O&E and Hometown group to offer advertisers digital ad space not only on hometownlife. com but also on Yahoo! sites as part of their local advertising solutions. As a result, local advertisers will benefit from expanded digital reach and enhanced audience targeting capabilities based on geography, user demographics, interests and more against that expanded audience.

The alliance combines the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Hometown Weeklies credible local brands and multimedia sales and marketing expertise with the powerful digital brand credibility and audience of Yahoo!

The new relationship will enhance the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Hometown Weeklies' audience solutions capabilities by increasing total digital audience reach 80.7 percent of local internet users.

"The Observer & Eccentric and Hometown local audience solutions, combined with Yahoo! provides powerful and effective reach, targeting, and results that deliver the right audience at the right time with the right solution," said Susan Rosiek, O&E/Hometown publisher and executive editor.

"Local advertising continues to be an important area of focus for us, and Yahoo! is committed to helping local businesses reach high quality target audiences," said Hilary Schneider, executive vice president, Yahoo! Americas. "This relationship significantly expands our local offerings and gives advertisers the technology and scale they need to reach their consumers online."

The Observer & Eccentric
Newspapers and Hometown
Weeklies services western Wayne and Oakland counties, reaching over 1 million readers with 13 local community newspapers and on www.hometownlife.com monthly.

The new digital venture with Yahoo! enhances advertising solutions and is a strategic evolution for the suburban Observer & Eccentric/
Hometown media group, which was recently recognized with awards by the Michigan Press Association for Best Ad Idea and Best ROP Auto Ad, among others.

Wadsworth meets

Joan Wadsworth, Democratic candidate for the Michigan House of Representatives 20th District, will host two more Community Conversations in October to share her vision for revitalizing Michigan with voters in Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Wayne.

Wadsworth will detail her plans for creating jobs, strengthening education and supporting community services. Wadsworth also will be available to discuss any other issues on the minds of voters and answer questions.

The remaining Community Conversations will take place the following dates, times and

• Tuesday, Oct. 19, 9:30-10:30 a.m., at Karma Coffee Shop, 3015 South Wayne Road, Wayne.

• Thursday, Oct. 21, 9:30-10:30 a.m., at the Coffee Bean, 884 Penniman Avenue, Plymouth.

"If we want to leave a vibrant Michigan for our children, we must work quickly; we must make tough decisions; and we must work together," Wadsworth said. "Leaders have spent too much time delaying hard decisions and pointing fingers. I believe we can create a consensus around key priorities - reviving the economy, focusing on jobs, and strengthening education — and move our state forward."

The 20th District comprises the City and Township of Plymouth, Northville Township and the City of Northville south of Eight Mile/Baseline Road, a portion of Canton Township and the City of Wayne.

Teachers go theatrical in production

BY MAGGIE WUNDERLICH CORRESPONDENT

"Good teaching is onefourth preparation and threefourths theatre." This famous quote by author Gail Godwin resonates with the members of Barefoot Productions, many of whom are teachers.

Barefoot Productions,
Plymouth's only live theatrical company, was founded in 2006
by Artistic Director Craig Hane and recently opened its fifth season with the psychological thriller "Mindgame" by Anthony Horowitz. The cast (on and off stage) includes teachers David Alexander of Redford, Brian
Cahalan of Flat Rock, David
Fedewa of Northville, Betty
Berryman of Canton and Steven White of Plymouth.

David Fedewa, a gym teacher at Dodson Elementary in Canton and Smith Elementary in Plymouth, believes his teaching background helps with acting because he speaks in front of students on a daily basis. Fedewa grew up in Plymouth and took up acting about five years ago after family members coaxed him into it. His favorite role so far is Andrew Rally in I Hate Hamlet, a dramatic comedy by Paul Rudnik.

"Being a teacher makes you come up with creative ideas and you need this creativity as an actor," Fedewa said.

Another teacher involved in

the theatre is Betty Berryman of Canton, who substitutes in the Plymouth/Canton district. Berryman is the production director for Barefoot and also loves to act. She became involved in acting and back stage productions about 14 years ago.

"Teaching is like being on stage and your students are your audience who you need to keep engaged," Berryman said. Because she spends so much time in front of children, she believes it helps her act for any age. Her favorite role so far is Doris in Same Time, Next Year, a romantic comedy by Bernard Slade.

Steven White of Plymouth shares this love for acting. He teaches art at Lady of Victory in Northville and is the property master and recording secretary for Barefoot. He has an extensive background on and off the stage, which expands thirty years. White enjoys working with the props, but his real passion is for acting.

He said, "It's nice to draw from my experience at this age and see what it can do for a part," said White, who acknowledged he enjoys working with younger people and passing on his knowledge and experience. "I guess that's the teacher in me."

David Alexander believes his teaching background helps with the theatre and vice-versa. He teaches AP Literature at Fordson High School in Dearborn.

"A teacher has to improvise and get feedback from the students," Alexander said. "I do anything at all to keep it visually interesting." His first degree was in music and he discovered it was easy to transfer performance dynamics of music to theatre. He studied theatre and literature and, after directing numerous productions, decided to give acting a try.

Brian Cahalan teaches at Farmington Elementary in Garden City and is in charge of set construction. Hane said Cahalan's talent of putting the stage together is "invaluable to every production."

"Mindgame" returns to the stage with performances Oct. 15-16, Oct. 22-23 at 8 p.m., with 2 p.m. matinees Oct. 17 and Oct. 24. Theatre location is at 240 N. Main in Plymouth (the former Walker-Buzenberg building). Tickets are $16 for general admission; $14 for students/seniors; $14 for groups of 10 or more. Individual tickets can be purchased online at www.justgobarefoot.com or by phone: (734) 560-1493.

Barefoot Productions graciously welcomes tax-deductible donations.

Spirit of America

Army Staff Sgt. Lindsay M. Natiw is one of more than 300 Army soldiers who will participate in the "Spirit of America 2010" as the Army celebrates its 235th birthday. The show is one of the Army's largest community outreach events presented by the U.S. Army Military District of Washington, D.C. The event celebrates the spirit, strength, and history of the nation with Spirit of America. Performers pay tribute to the selfless service, resilience, sacrifices and triumphs of the American Soldier.

During the event, soldiers bring history to life with the Spirit of America performance by capturing true stories of those who have answered the call to duty for our nation. The soldiers dress in historical uniforms to re-enact key moments in the U.S. Army and American history. The re-enactments include battle scenes with short periods of simulated gunfire, and performances by the Army's elite ceremonial units.

The show featured the U.S. Army Band "Pershing's Own," and soldiers of the 3rd U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard) — the Army's oldest active-duty infantry unit. Elements of the Old Guard include the Fife and Drum Corps, the Caisson Platoon, the Commander-in-Chief's Guard, the Continental Color Guard and the U.S. Army Drill Team.

Natiw, a fife instrumentalist, is assigned to The Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps, Fort Myer, Arlington, Va. She has served in the military for five years.

IHA, Saint Joseph Mercy Health System to merge

Saint Joseph Mercy Health System and IHA, a leading physician group practice, both of Ann Arbor, plan to merge by the end of the year.

Announced last week, the merger creates one of the largest integrated health networks in Michigan.

The merger is expected to be effective on or before Dec. 31, at which time IHA will be a member of SJMHS and will initially serve as the integrated physician enterprise for St. Joseph Mercy hospitals in Washtenaw, Livingston and portions of western Wayne and southwestern Oakland counties.

IHA is the largest, fully integrated physician group practice in southeast Michigan with more than 150 doctors and 40 nurse practitioners, physician assistants and nurse midwives in 32 practices in 47 locations, including Canton and Plymouth.

IHA provides medical care to more than 250,000 patients. IHA's employed physician, nursing and support staff totals 950 professionals.

Patients with IHA doctors will see little change. They can continue to visit their doctors, St. Joe hospitals and the University of Michigan Hospital.

SJMHS is one of the largest health care delivery systems in Michigan comprised of seven hospitals in six southeast Michigan counties. SJMHS is licensed for 1,726 beds, has five outpatient health centers, five urgent care facilities and more than 25 specialty centers. It employs more than 14,000 individuals and has a medical staff of nearly 2,700 physicians.

"Our merger with IHA will create an integrated organization that will proactively advance clinical integration, patient-centered care, and community health. It will provide the framework and structure to increase the role of physicians in SJMHS leadership and operations," said Rob Casalou, President and CEO of St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor, Livingston and Saline.

"The merger will enable us to better prepare for rapid changes in health care delivery and financing stimulated by national health reform and lead to better coordinated care for our patients," added Casalou.

IHA President and CEO Bill Fileti said the merger "is in the best interest of our patients, providers and staff, and the communities we serve."

St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor's Chief of Staff Rosalie Tocco-Bradley, MD, Ph.D, supports the planned merger, "This will distinguish St. Joe's as a premier patient-centered care management organization that is closely aligned with physicians."

At the same time, IHA, SJMHS and its parent organization, Trinity Health, based in Novi, are accelerating affiliations and joint ventures with the University of Michigan Health System.

Trinity Health, a not-for-profit health system, is one of the state's largest employers with 14 hospitals, nine nursing homes, 19 senior housing facilities, eight home health care agencies and four hospices serving 35 counties. More than 25,000 associates provide care to one in 11 Michigan residents. With a national headquarters in Novi, Trinity Health has a nearly $1.1 billion payroll.

Nationally, Trinity Health is the fourth-largest Catholic health care system.

Decade of elegance

Showroom celebrates 10 years of happy events

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Linda Robin knows the Canton community has been good to her in the 10 years since she opened Showroom of Elegance on Canton Center Road.

That's why Robin, who owns the showroom with her brothers (though they're more in the manufacturing end of the family business) has been so intent on giving back to the community, sponsoring a variety events and earning such a stellar reputation among her retail colleagues she was voted the Canton Chamber of Commerce's Business Person of the Year in 2006.

"I've always believed you have to give to get," said Robin, who opened Showroom of Elegance in October 2000. "You have to show people you care (about the community). The fact we can help in some small way is a good feeling and a positive for us."

Robin will celebrate the 10th anniversary by throwing the store its own birthday bash, though it's her customers who will get the presents. Partnering with 336 Main in Plymouth, and Canton's Crow's Nest and Bailey's Pub, Showroom will give out hundreds of cubic zirconia with each martini ordered in those three establishments. One of those CZ's will be specially encrypted.

Then, at Thursday's Diamond Decade Birthday Bash, the encrypted CZ will be revealed, and its owner will win a one-carat diamond valued at $5,000.

It's all designed to celebrate the success of Showroom, which since it opened has bought and sold jewelry, done custom design and repair work, and offered independent appraisals of customers' jewelry.

It's the retail end of the business to which Robin has always aspired, since beginning at the manufacturing end years ago.

"I've always wanted to own a store, and I chose a jewelry store because jewelry is what I know," said Robin. "I'm a people person. I like to deal with people, and I like to share in their moments."

Robin especially likes seeing people in their "happy" moments, such as anniversaries and engagements. That's why Showroom offers engaged couples a free limo ride and a bottle of bubbly when they purchase their ring at Showroom.

"Selling jewelry is a happy thing," Robin said. "You're helping people celebrate events that are significant in their lives. It's fun."

Museum lands 1860 Lincoln campaign banner

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Score another one for the Abraham Lincoln collection at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

The museum on Main Street recently began displaying a homemade cloth banner from the 1860 - you read that right U.S. presidential race.

The "Lincoln - Hamlin" banner (Lincoln's first vice president was Hannibal Hamlin) hung during that campaign outside the home of George Starkweather, a member one of Plymouth's founding families. The house still stands in what is now the area of Mill and Farmer streets.

The banner, about 6 feet by 2 feet, was donated by a Starkweather descendent from Holt, Mich., said Liz Kerstens, the museum's executive director.

"It's in fabulous condition," Kerstens said. "There're a few little spots on it, but it's 140 years old."

After the donation, a museum volunteer with a background in textiles researched fabric conservation and was able to give it a preservative treatment, Kerstens said. "It looks awesome," she said.

The museum had it professionally appraised, Kerstens said, and it turned out to not be worth much. "Of course, to

George Starkweather (1826-1907) was the first non-American Indian to be born in the area and was a lawyer, banker, teacher and farmer. He served in the Michigan Legislature, was a Village of Plymouth president and a Plymouth

Tea Party groups, Dems to hold rallies in Livonia

A Tea Party rally featuring conservative candidates for statewide offices will be held 4-6 p.m. Saturday at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

A crowd of 1,200 to 1,400 is expected to attend the "Save Our State" rally. The event is being sponsored by six area Tea Party groups, including Rattle With Us of Plymouth.

Organizer Larry Recca, who lives in Troy but graduated from Clarenceville High School in 1976, said one reason Livonia was chosen for the event is because the city has no Tea Party organization of its own.

All Tea Party groups share the same three goals: constitutionally limited government, fiscal responsibility and free markets, Recca said. Currently, the closest Tea Party group to Livonia is Rattle With Us.

Candidates expected to attend include Republicans Ruth Johnson, who is running for secretary of state; Bill Schuette, who is running for attorney general; and Supreme Court candidates Justice Robert Young and Judge Mary Beth Kelly.

Speakers include Tea Party favorite Jim Keena, author of We've Been Had: How Obama and the Radicals Conned Middle Class America, and Thayrone X from WAAM radio, host of "On the Edge with Thayrone."

DEMS MEETING TOO

In the meantime, an old-fashioned Democratic Campaign Rally will be held 6-9 p.m. Monday, also at Schoolcraft College.

Democrats up and down the ticket, including gubernatorial candidate Virg Bernero, have been invited to attend. The public may come to meet the candidates, learn more about them, and pick up yard signs and literature.

The rally is being organized by the Livonia Democratic Club and five other western Wayne and Oakland county Democratic clubs.

Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty Road.

Attendance up at Senior Celebration Day

Seniors gather at Laurel Manor for the Western Wayne County Senior Celebration Day, sponsored by State Rep. John Walsh and the non-profit organization Senior Citizen Achievement Needs.

Several hundred seniors attended the 16th annual Western Wayne County Senior Celebration Day, Oct. 1 at Laurel Manor Banquet Conference Center,

The event was hosted by state Rep. John Walsh and Senior Citizen Achievement Needs, a local nonprofit organization for seniors.

"I was really pleased with the turnout," Walsh said, adding attendance was higher than in recent years. "It was just a really nice day in large part because of all the sponsors; they respond every year."

The sponsors, or vendors, offset the costs of the event. Seniors pay just $5 each to attend.

The seniors receive a hot meal, play bingo, enjoy music by Mike Wolverton, visit vendors' booths featuring products and services for seniors, play games for prizes and have a chance to win raffle

This year, there were 36 vendors. The event, which is both educational and fun, was started and then continued by Walsh's predecessors in the state House. He said he is glad to carry on the tradition. "This is just one way to thank the seniors for their many contributions over the years to build this great community," he said.

Nadia Xhakollari of Henry Ford Health Systems tells Dorothy Thrasher of Livonia that her blood pressure is just fine.

This year's event included more games the seniors are familiar with and enjoy, including Wheel of Fortune, puttputt golf and bean bag toss. Prizes for those games were useful items such as pads of paper and pens.

Raffles prizes included gift baskets valued at $75 and gift certificates to restaurants, florists and Kroger valued at $10 to $20 each.

"I had very nice compliments from the people who attended," Walsh said. "Everybody seemed to have a good time."

Visiting a local jeweler is safer way to sell gold

Q: Dear Rick: Money has been tight lately and I have seen ads where these companies will buy gold. I have some old jewelry and I decided to sell it. I sent the pieces of jewelry and I did get a check. After cashing the check and thinking about it I believe I should have received more for the gold. I contacted the company and was told my jewelry was not of the right purity. That's why I received less. I know I made a mistake by selling the jewelry the way I did. Do I have any recourse?

A: Unfortunately, I do not believe that you have much

After all, there

company, what

On the other hand, if it's not a reputable company, the fact remains you still have little to no recourse.

In order to bring an action against the company, you need the burden of proof. You would have to prove your jewelry was improperly weighed or that the company intentionally attempted to defraud you. You have no documentation. It's your word against the company.

However, if you wish to pursue, there are a couple of different options. The first is to contact the Attorney General's Office in Michigan which goes to bat for consumers if it suspects fraud. In addition, you can contact the Better Business Bureau and file a complaint or if the company is a member, you may be able to take advantage of the arbitration process. Nevertheless, you have a difficult case because you have no underlying documentation.

The question that many people have is whether they should take advantage of high gold prices and sell their jewelry. As far as I'm concerned, I have no problem with that strategy. If you have jewelry that you very rarely use it can be reduced to cash to help pay bills and make life easier for you.

That being said, I think the last place you should choose to sell your jewelry is a mail order company. Not that I think that every mail order gold company is crooked because I don't. However, by using these companies you are certainly increasing your risk of being taken advantage of.

If I had excess jewelry that I didn't need and that I wanted to sell, the first place that I would go would be to a local jeweler. Many local jewelers purchase jewelry and they have been known to give fair rates. The advantage of dealing with a local jeweler is that you know what the rate is going to be before selling it and you can even get competitive prices. It is very hard to get competitive bids when you deal with these mail order companies.

Whether you use a local jeweler or mail order company, I recommend that you document what you have before you submit your jewelry. Taking pictures and weighing the items that you are selling can be important documentation.

I've heard lots of ads on TV and radio offering to buy your jewelry. Although some of these ads have very wellknown spokespersons, let's not forget that they are paid spokespersons. I don't know how much if any, due diligence these people do. In fact, I feel confident saving they do very little. Just because some national celebrity who you may respect promotes a company, that doesn't mean you should rush out and deal with them.

My advice is go through a local jeweler. Good luck!

Understanding the IEP process can be difficult and intimidating for both parents and education professionals, but all agree that the IEP is a critical element in the special needs student's success story. HLC and Bockmann have come together to give parents a specialized training on how to approach this very important topic. Bockmann will provide insight to help parents navigate the unknown world of IEP meetings. She also offers tactics that encourage educators and parents to become true partners with a common goal.

The workshop takes place at the Huntington Learning Center, 44630 Ford Road in Canton 7:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 11. The session will last for approximately 1 hour. All interested parents are invited to attend. Admission is $10 per person/family. All proceeds will go to the Liberty Kids charity. Liberty

Adventure guides

The Plymouth YMCA is offering a chance for parents looking for a great opportunity to spend quality time with their children, ages 5-12, while doing some fun activities and getting to know other families.

The Plymouth YMCA Adventure Guides program is a parent-child program designed to help foster a lifetime of understanding and friendship and to strengthen the relationship between children and parents.

According to Josh Landefeld, executive director of the Plymouth Family YMCA, Adventure Guides have the opportunity to develop a stronger relationship with their children by joining a unique "Circle" with whom they'll participate in activities like games, camping trips, ceremonies and family adventures.

"You and your child will take a journey of discovery and learning," Landefeld said. "Throughout this journey the Adventure Guide compass points - family, nature, community, fun and the YMCA character development values - will provide a sense of direction and inspiration for activities. As a member, you will be able to participate in larger scale activities such as weekend campouts, parties or parades. Conducting group exercises in the Circle fosters leadership, problem-solving, group work skills.

Landefeld said there will be a greater focus placed on the community component of the program as an emphasis will be placed on community service and charitable giving - all of which reinforce the YMCA's pledge to build strong kids, strong families and strong communities.

There are two events coming up in October and November. On Oct. 23, the group heads to Three Cedars Farm to do the corn maze, visit the animal farm, and enjoy dinner around a bon fire. The cost is $10 per person. On Nov. 6, the Guides will have a family fun night at the Livonia Family YMCA. The Y will open up its doors for the Guides so they can swim, play tennis, play basketball and spend time with friends and family. The fun night is only $5 per person.

People interested in finding out more about the Adventure Guides program or register for the upcoming year or events can contact the YMCA at (734) 453-2904 or e-mail jlandefeld@ymcametrodetroit.org.

11TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT CANDIDATES

Republican Thaddeus McCotter, Democrat Natalie Mosher and Libertarian John J. Tatar are running for a two-year term for the 11th Congressional District of Michigan, which includes the western Wayne and western Oakland County communities of Canton, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Milford, Redford Township, South Lyon and Westland, as well as other communi-ties. McCotter is the incumbent. Members of Congress receive an annual salary of $174,000.

The election is Nov. 2.

WHAT WE ASKED.

1. What is your position on the U.S. role in Afghanistan? How long should combat troops remain?

WHAT THEY ANSWERED.

2. Do you support making investments in alternative energy sources? Why? Why not?

3. What can you do in Washington, D.C., that would directly help Michigan's jobless rate? Be specific.

4. Does the United States need immigration reform? If so, what measures do you support to address the issue?

1. Following the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks, America commenced Operation Enduring Freedom to depose the Taliban and destroy al-Qaeda's base of operations. Today, in Afghanistan America and her allies are leading a counterinsurgency operation to secure Afghans' freedom and prevent their nation's reversion into a terrorist safe haven. Arbitrary timelines divorced from the reality of counter-insurgency efforts on the ground are injurious to the Afghan and American people. The decision of how long combat troops remain ultimately rests with the commanderin-chief of our armed forces, President Obama, and at any time the sovereign government of Afghanistan can refuse our assistance.

2. Government does not "invest" your money; government spends your money typically where you wouldn't, including Washington's politically favored individuals, entities and causes. Regarding energy, a sound policy to lower energy costs requires maximizing American production, promoting common sense, community-based conservation and encouraging free-market innovations in alternative fuels through the use of tax credits. Thus, we must oppose big government tax-and-spend approaches, most notably the House-passed "cap and tax" proposal that will raise energy costs on Americans and kill jobs, especially the manufacturing jobs powering our Michigan economy.

3. Our prosperity and recovery will come from the industriousness and ingenuity of the American people not from more trillion-dollar tax-andspend, big-government schemes out of Washington. Higher taxes, spending, deficits and debt will only worsen this recession. To create the conditions for a sustainable economic recovery requires ensuring people keep their hard-earned money through tax relief; reducing government spending; cutting bureaucratic red tape; ending unfair trade practices - especially from communist China; and by breaking up the "too big" insolvent banks that, unfortunately, are now statutorily protected by the recently passed financial "reform" bill.

4. We must never blame the illegal immigrants who have been enticed to America and exploited by big business and big government. Fixing the broken immigration system to protect the sovereignty, jobs, wages and tax dollars of citizens necessitates increasing border security; eliminating taxpayer benefits to illegal immigrants; punishing business that "cheat to compete"; affirming there will be no amnesty; reforming the legal immigration system by emphasizing the asylum and assimilation; and providing localized, sustainable economic development to under-developed nations. Importantly, we must never cheapen the hard-earned citizenship of those immigrants who followed the law.

1. It's time for us to hand over the reins to the people of Afghanistan themselves. We've already spent $1.1 trillion fighting two wars in the Middle East. Now let's spend that money on building our economy, creating jobs and investing in infrastructure instead. I support a timeline that would begin the process of pulling troops out of Afghanistan within the next 10 months. Our troops have distinquished themselves with their brave service in Afghanistan and Iraq. Now it's time for them to come home.

2. Investing in alternative energy helped bring North America's largest lithiumion auto battery plant to Livonia. The plant will employ 3,000 workers to create advanced batteries for the electric cars of the 21st century. Not only does investing in alternative energy create jobs, it sets us on the road to energy independence. Reducing our dependence on foreign oil will make us more secure. For these reasons, I strongly support investing in alternative energy. Unfortunately, Thaddeus McCotter has voted time and again against alternative energy and in favor of big oil. See H.R. 2454, 6/26/09; H.R. 7060, 9/25/08; H.R. 6049, 5/21/08.

3. First, I will support loans and tax credits for our small businesses so that they can grow and hire new workers. My opponent, Thaddeus McCotter, voted against plans to support small businesses during the economic crisis (see H.R. 5486, 6/15/10). Second, I will support investments in job-creating alternative energy technologies (see above), and in the research institutions that drive innovation. Third, I would fight tirelessly for funds to repair and maintain Michigan's roads, bridges and other infrastructure. To read my detailed jobs plan, visit www.mosherforcongress. com. The citizens of the 11th District deserve a representative who takes job creation seriously.

4. Yes. Frankly, our current system is broken. As part of the solution, I support passage of the DREAM Act. Once they graduate from college or serve in the U.S. military, this bill would grant legal status to those who came to the United States as minors. I support the creation of a guest worker system, which will reduce the incentive for immigrants to cross the border in the first place. Immigrants who learn English, who have not committed a crime, and who have paid their taxes should have a path to legal status.

1. Prosecution of the Afghanistan war was/is a mistake. We need to protect America from enemies at our own shores, not half way around the world. We must bring the troops home as soon as possible. The Middle Eastern countries are rife with tribalism and war lords. This mentality does not lend itself to a democratic form of government. We should realize the longer we stay, the results will be greater expenditures of money and men with no positive results. We can no longer be the policemen of the world. It has bankrupted the American way of life.

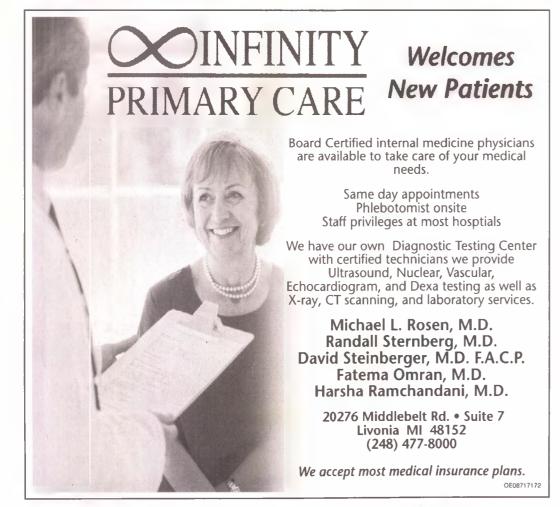

2. Government should get out of the private sector. Government's nothing but a hindrance to man's abilities to develop new technology. Let the free market determine when and what new technology should be developed. Government does not have the authority to regulate, nor aid one company over another, based on which lobbyist has the greater sphere of influence over the elected officials. Government is an unequal power that must relinquish the control it exerts on our free-enterprise system because government has only the Constitutional authority to protect Americans' life, liberty and property, and not to meddle in our affairs.

3. Taxes need to be cut permanently as President Kennedy did in the early '60s which not only stimulated the economy, but increased government revenues and reduced joblessness. The U.S. finan cial system is based on "fiat" money and must be corrected by Congress to get back to an honest money system. This mistake was implemented by the Federal Reserve and FDR and has led to our present economic condition over the past 100 years. If the government cuts spending, then allows the people to keep their hard-earned money, the American people will spend money and stimulate the economy by itself.

4. I believe that the United States needs no new immigration reforms. The problem of illegal immigration can be dealt with on case-by-case bases, with no amnesty. I also believe that state law supersedes federal law regarding these issues and therefore no amnesty can be given by the federal government. The challenge, for example, by Obama on the Arizona law was totally misguided and misplaced. Arizona law mirrors the federal statute that has been in place for decades but has never been enforced.

Wildcats qualify for D1 state meet

Before heading out to Washtenaw Country Club's first tee Thursday at the Division 1 girls golf regionals, Plymouth head coach Chris Moore and his team got together for a pep talk.

"We knew it was going to be a battle between Ann Arbor Pioneer and us to determine the last spot for the state tournament," Moore said. "The girls huddled together this morning just before tee time and had one goal in mind — qualify for states."

Plymouth needed to be one of the top three squads to earn a trip to Ypsilanti's Eagle Crest on Oct. 15-16 and they did thanks to a round of 385 (edging fourthplace Ann Arbor Pioneer, 388).

As a result, the Wildcats qualified for the D1 state tournament for the first time in school history.

"I was tremendously proud of the entire team for the perseverance all day," Moore said.

It was "mission accomplished" in large part due to Plymouth's 1-2 punch of sophomore Kelsey Murphy and freshman Sarah Thompson.

On Friday night, Merillat - on more than one occasion — kept his feet moving. He eventually broke through Plymouth's defensive wall to turn a short run into another big gainer.

The Chiefs got it done Friday, shrugging off an early bump in the road - a rare three-and-out on the first series and a Plymouth scoring chance.

Baechler added that his team clicked the rest of the night, shutting down one of the top teams in the KLAA.

Chiefs nab KLAA South

First-half goals by Bobby Budlong and Phil Baciak carried the state-ranked Chiefs (14-2-2, 8-1-1) to the KLAA South Division boys soccer title Thursday with a 2-0 victory over host Livonia Churchill (9-7-2, 6-3-1).

Senior Brandon Laabs got the shutout in goal for Canton.

Spartans nip Rocks in defensive struggle

Battling for possession of a 50-50 ball Thursday are Salem's Jake Genrich (No. 9) and Livonia Stevenson's Alexander Prokop.

BY TIM SMITH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There weren't many grade-A scoring opportunities Thursday night for Salem or Livonia Stevenson.

But all it took was a blistering kick by Spartans senior forward Pat Smith to decide the KLAA Central varsity boys soccer match at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park.

Smith's drive from the left flank with 18:42 remaining in the second half bounced off a Salem defender into the far right corner past sophomore goalkeeper Erick Beas (seven saves) and that stood up in Stevenson's 1-0 victory.

They drove a good ball in and there was a lot of traffic," Salem head coach Ed McCarthy said. "It's one of those unfortunate things and it found its way

"Other than that we played very, very well tonight, one of our best games of

Stevenson head coach Lars Richter said Smith aggressively turned the corner and "just whipped the ball behind the defense" and it managed to find the back of the goal.

Over the final 18-plus minutes of the contest, the Spartans' defense didn't yield much to the Rocks in bend-butdon't-break fashion.

Salem senior midfielder/defender Brandon Barfuss and senior midfielder Dan Martin worked a nice play up the left side of the pitch, but could not finish with well-positioned Stevenson players in their path.

Martin did rip a shot behind Stevenson junior goalkeeper John Boudreau (who split duties with sophomore Zachary Verant), but the play was ruled offsides.

"Certainly late in the game they were defending and had lots of numbers back," McCarthy said. "But overall I'm satisfied with the number of scoring opportunities we got today.

"If we get a similar number of scoring opportunities, we'll get a goal or two."

The Rocks very nearly did score in the opening 10 minutes of the game. but Verant (three saves) got in front of the point-blank bid.

Churchill 'D' stops Plymouth in three games

A slow start hurt Plymouth Thursday night, as the host Wildcats fell in three games to KLAA South leader Livonia Churchill.

Plymouth (11-6-1, 3-3) lost 13-25, 19-25, 21-25. Churchill upped its mark to 26-6-2 overall and 6-0 in the division.

"We came out a little timid in Game 1 but we played a tough second and third game against one of the best defensive teams in the league," said Plymouth head coach Kelly McCausland.

The Salem Rocks defeated

South Lyon 25-13, 25-21, 25-20 on Thursday night behind from Kerstin Johnson, who led Nicole Merget (10 kills, 3 blocks), Jillian Sommerville (7 kills) and Kerry MacDonald (28 assists, 7 digs, 4 aces) also had solid games.

The Rocks improved to 11-6

Central with the victory. PCA prevails

Kristin Malcolm (20 kills, 10 digs) and Briana Harris (21 assists) were the big guns as Plymouth Christian got past host Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest Thursday night.

The Eagles (16-6-1, 4-0 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference) won 25-15 in the opener and followed up with 25-13 and 29-27 wins to clinch the match.

After Saturday's tournament at University of Michigan-Dearborn, the Eagles will host Oakland Christian on Thursday.

ally, but Thompson really was the story with her round of 83 good for second place. Moore said Thompson turned in an "awesome" performance.

"She had struggles earlier in the week with her putting on some aerated greens at the conference tournament, which hurt her confidence," Moore said. "But she had some great practices since that day and the hard work paid off."

Also chipping in were Plymouth's 3-5 golfers: Danielle Allen (24th, 107), Mandy Kirsch (29th, 111) and Carly Curvin (35th, 116).

Moore said Allen and Curvin are starting to get rewarded for their excellent dedication and commitment this season, while Kirsch "had some great shots throughout her round." Finishing ahead of the Wildcats were first-place Saline and Bedford, with 343 and 359 strokes, respectively.

The Chiefs' scorecard included Paige Osler (20th, 102), Kelsey McDougall (26th, 108), Mary Elizabeth Winther (33rd, 114), Chloe Luyat (36th, 117) and Kaylie Lobb (38th, Salem had a difficult day, with Katie Veno placing 42nd (129) and Christine Li placing 46th (136).

Other teams included Ann Arbor Pioneer (fourth, 388), Ann Arbor Huron (fifth, 409), Monroe (sixth, 435), Belleville (eighth, 477), Jackson (ninth, 485), Southgate Anderson (10th, 550) and Westland John Glenn (11th, 564).

A bright spot for the Rockets was Michelle Bishop, whose 102 score tied her for 20th place with Canton's Osler.

Typical of Thursday's hard-fought KLAA Central boys soccer match, Livonia Stevenson's Charles Swingle (No. 17) and Salem's Chris Dierker (No. 21) vie for the ball.

"Verant had to make a very, very important save early in the game which played a major factor in the outcome," Richters said. "And Boudreau (three saves) was solid when they made their late push."

DEFENSIVE TEST

Both coaches said their teams played well from a defensive standpoint.

"That (defense) was a focus for us going into this game, because of the big tournament (districts) starting a week from Monday," McCarthy said. "So we really wanted to improve defensively and I think we did that. We defended well against a good Stevenson team."

McCarthy said junior defender Jake Genrich "was fantastic and Brandon Barfuss was also very strong. Those two were the key to our back line today."

According to Richters, the hard-fought game was typical of the longtime Stevenson-Salem rivalry.

"It's one of the things you Salem, it's going to be difficult today."

Both teams still have KLAA conference and association tournament matches next week, followed by Division 1 districts beginning Monday, Oct. 8.

The Rocks (7-8-3, 5-5-1 in the Central) will face district host Novi.

quarterback Ben Merbler lofted a perfect pass to Powell deep in the far right corner with five seconds left. The Chiefs outgained Plymouth by roughly 270-15 in the first half, and finished the game with a 430-61 margin. Midway through the third quarter, it was Buford's time to get in on the act. He zig-zagged his way to a 59-yard touchdown, sprinting past the last Plymouth defender down the right sideline. A Plymouth fumble, caused by Powell's crunching hit, set After Merillat's touchdown, a up the final scoring — a 35yard TD run by Stackhouse. The fourth extra point by Connor Shennan made it 36-0, with 10:35 remaining. The Wildcats tried to get some points on the board in the final minute, with a running clock.

Donte Fox scampered for a 15-yard gain and Austin completed a 26-yard pass to senior Jake Morris at Canton's 25.

But Morris was injured on the play, as he was driven hard into the turf and Plymouth fumbled the next snap.

"Jake made a great job on that ball," Austin said. "I just threw it up and hoped he could make a play and he did.

"I hope he's all right, he was shaken up."

Rocks pummeled

Visiting Salem pulled to within 14-7 in the closing seconds of the first half Friday against Livonia Stevenson, thanks to a 40-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Drew Thompson to wide-out Ethan Walsh.

But the Spartans didn't let the Rocks get any closer in the second half, earning a 21-7 KLAA Central Division football victory. Salem head coach Kurt Britnell said his team turned in another "uninspired" effort, falling to 0-7 overall and 0-5 in the Central. Stevenson improved to 3-4, 2-3.

There were a few bright spots. Although Thompson connected on just 7-of-22 passes for 167 yards, he found Walsh and Brian Aquier twice each (for 46 and 40 yards, respectively). On defense, Walsh picked off a pass and tallied six tackles, while Omar Kandah had seven tackles. Alex Brown registered a quarterback sack.

Area youngsters seek big year with Royals

Jon Clark (front) of Plymouth gets in some skating drills with his teammates in preparation for the upcoming hockey season skating for the 96 Redford Royals.

BY JIM TOTH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There is a group of young hockey players who have joined forces this season with hopes of advancing and achieving greatness in their future.

And with the help of Matt Blair, likely will succeed.

The Redford Royals '96 Bantam AA hockey team is set to drop the puck on an exciting season of hockey designed to lift the spirits and increase the talent levels of those involved. Eighteen skaters, comprised mainly of 13- and 14-year-olds (some from Canton and Plymouth), and a trio of coaches are preparing to embark on a 40-game schedule that will pit the Royals against top opponents vying for supremacy in the Little Caesars Hockey League.

"We're a purely developing program," explained Blair, who heads the Royals program behind the bench. "We have kids skating for us who maybe don't have hockey offered at their school, or are still a step or two away from making their varsity teams. We are out here working with them wanting them to advance to the next level.

"We don't have one player out there who is dominant, but we do have a lot of players trying to get better and wanting to be successful with hockey."

In Blair, the Royals, have a young and energetic coach determined to improve the talents of players and provide leadership pertaining to activities outside the sport as well.

"I always wanted to give back to a game that has given so much to me," said Blair, 26, whose playing days included suiting up for the Davenport and Eastern Michigan collegiate programs, along with the Helena Big Horns of the North American Hockey League. "I work hard to push my players to the next level."

AN ARRAY OF TALENT

A vast level of talent can be found among the 18 players on the Royals' roster, but there aren't many differences when it comes to determination to succeed.

Blair says every player is greeted with compiling a list of individual and team goals at the outset of the season and is personally responsible toward reaching them.

"When you are coaching players this young you have to sort of mesh your style of coaching," Blair explained. "You have some players you need to ride a little more to get them going and others who may be a little soft. Every player has different styles and it's the job of the coach to get the best out of them." The current Royals roster is laden with talented skaters representing such areas as Redford, Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, Farmington Hills, Westland, Novi and Northville. Included on this year's team are Paolo Bernola (Canton), Alex Caprara (Novi), Jon Clark (Plymouth), Brent Gaddy, Paul Hildebrandt (Westland), Matthew Hobbs (Novi), Parker Hodges (Livonia), Derek Klisz (Livonia), Michael Kolodin, Nick Misiak (Livonia), Steven Pino (Walled Lake), Christian Schneider (Novi), Lyle Soucey (Redford), Alex Sprindys, Christopher Tripi (Northville), Alex Trouba (Auburn Hills), Sean Wigler (West Bloomfield) and Brian Zalupski (Northville).

Caprara is the captain of the squad and Misiak and Hildebrandt serve as assistants

"We're a solid team on both sides of the fence," said Blair, who is assisted on the bench by 26-year-old Joakim Nilsson and 19-year-old Clayton Hodges. "I would say our overall strength is team chemistry and a lot of hard working players who want to get

GOALS TO GET BETTER

Blair knows every player on the roster probably isn't destined for greatness on the next level, but that shouldn't hinder their ability to improve their play to some degree.

"Every kid has a separate goal in mind and no matter what level they want to go we will guide them to it," said Blair, a native of Taylor who currently resides in Manchester. "We want to look at all the options for them. We don't want them to be blindsided by anything. We want them to be fully prepared."

Blair refers to Soucey as a "very strong skater and really smart defenseman," while Misiak is described as "very talented offensively and defensively and a great kid who will go far in hockey.'

Whalers get offense untracked, 7-0

Six players scored a goal and goaltender Scott Wedgewood turned aside all 34 shots he saw Thursday night to lift the visiting Plymouth Whalers to a 7-0 victory against Peterborough.

The win snapped Plymouth's two-game losing streak and improved the Ontario Hockey League team's record to 2-3-0-1 while the Petes dropped to 1-5-0-0.

Plymouth jumped out to an early lead, with captain Tyler Brown scoring at the 24-second mark. Before the game was three-minutes old, the Whalers had a 2-0 edge thanks to a power play tally by center Jamie Devane, his first of two in the game.

Also finding the range behind Petes starting netminder Andrew D'Agostini during the first period was Stefan Noesen.

Both teams had plenty of scoring chances in the middle frame, with the Whalers outshooting Peterborough 15-13. But while Wedgewood kept everything out at his end, Plymouth scored four more times — two each against D'Agostini and Keinan Brown.

The lamp-lighters were Farmington Hills' Alex Aleardi (his 8th), Devane, RJ Mahalak and Peter Neal, the latter with Plymouth short-

Nine Whalers collected assists, with defenseman Beau Schmitz picking up three of them and Aleardi and Mahalak each registering two.

Plymouth played two more road games over the weekend, at Ottawa and Kingston. The team returns to Compuware Arena to face Windsor at 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 16 in the third annual "Pink Out!" for breast cancer awareness.

Redford fund-raiser combines fashion, boutique, lunch

O&E STAFF WRITER

Reva Wujcik isn't sure how the rumor — that Redford Suburban League had dumped its annual fashion show — took flight earlier this year.

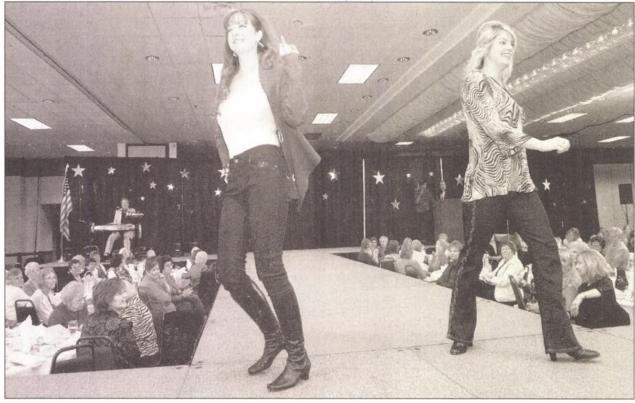

But the Redford resident assures patrons the 37th annual show, luncheon and boutique is very much alive and heading into its final planning stretch this week. The event is Wednesday, Oct. 20, at Burton Manor, 27777 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

"We've had a couple of people tell us that," said Wujcik, League president, commenting on the rumor. "Every year we have a discussion about continuing with whatever fund-raising we do. If it came to the point where it was impossible to do that, we'd have another big fund-raiser of some kind. But right now, this show is our venue. People look forward to it and it has been successful."

Since 1983 the show has raised $571,475 for Burger School for Students with Autism in Garden City. Suzanna Kain, show chair, said the League donated $12,000 to Burger last year even though it experienced its "smallest crowd ever" at the fashion show.

The 116-member organization, now in its 55th year, has helped a variety of charities in the past but a few years ago decided to focus efforts on just one recipient.

"In the last few years autism has become a disability that people are very aware of. A lot of research is going on with autism. A lot of families are affected by autism," Wujcik said. "Everyone in our organization has a family member who has dealt with autism in some way.

"We've seen results of what the money does. It has done a lot with the speech department at Burger. They bought equipment they could not have otherwise bought."

Several staff members and some students from the school will model in the fashion show this year as they did last year. They'll wear fall and winter fashions from Dress Barn in Farmington, Men's Wearhouse in Novi and Parisian at Laurel Park in Livonia.

CASUAL TO DRESSY

Kain, of Madison Heights, oversees the mix of fashion and works with the stores. She aims for variety on the runway.

"We want the casual and the let's go out for dinner and the theater and for the holidays," Kain said. "With models from Burger School we're talking a younger age there and we'll show clothing for the mature woman also."

Presenting fashions for every age group can inspire ideas for holiday gift shopping, Kain noted.

"There might be people in the audience who say 'that would look good on my daughter or granddaughter.' I want to keep that aspect of the show, with an eye toward holiday shopping."

Kain attended a fashion show at Longacre House in Farmington last week to check out and compare clothing. She saw "a lot of purple" in the crowd. She hopes to see her models in a variety of colors and textures beyond "so much black" that's also seen in the fall.

"I'm looking at a beautiful grey herringbone suit with a ruffled blouse. I want to see someone steer toward that," she added, while browsing through clothing at Dress Barn.

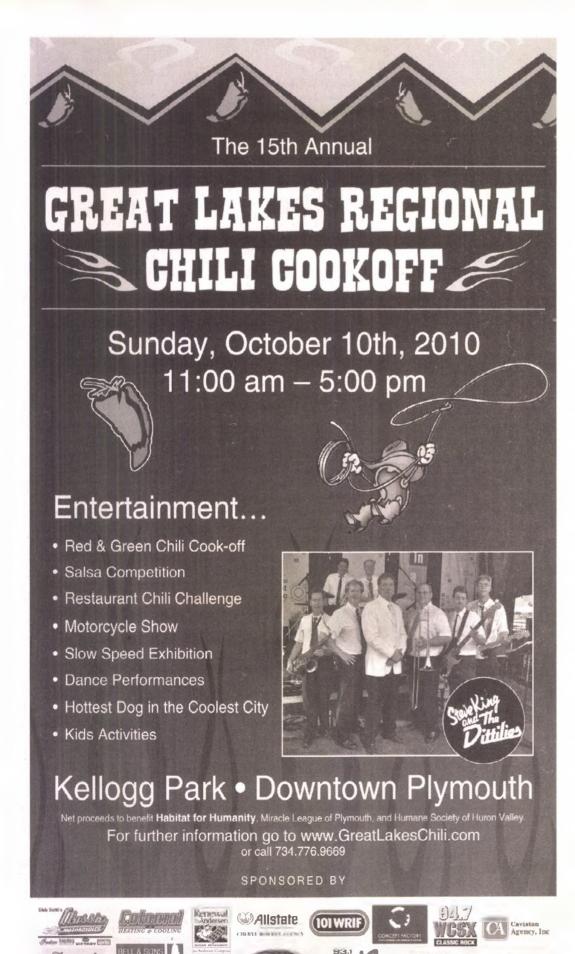

DOZENS OF PRIZES

In addition to the fashion show, which starts after the luncheon at noon, Fall Festival of Fashion includes a boutique of approximately 25 craft vendors that opens at 9 a.m.

A popular raffle will return this year with more than 80 prizes. Tickets are $1 each or six for $5. A ruby and diamond ring, cherry wood and marble sink and vanity, four-day stay at a Harbor Springs condo and Detroit Red Wing tickets are among the prizes.

"You don't have to be present to win, "Wujcik noted. "We sell a lot of tickets. They are easy to sell. As soon as you say the profits go to Burger School for Children with Autism... almost everyone knows someone with autism. I took 100 to my bowling league and sold every single one of them."

Raffle tickets are available at the Fall Festival of Fashion and from League members. Tickets for the boutique, luncheon and fashion show are $45. Call Miriam Skinner at (734) 981-6003. If you're interested in joining the Redford Suburban League, call Janisse Quill at (734) 595-1403.

of families in Canton and Plymouth, creates an endowment fund for the future and building a community of women philanthropists.

By pooling their charitable dollars, the 68 members of the organization are able to make a greater philanthropic impact. To date more than $20,000 has been distributed through the fund which is held at the Canton Community Foundation.

The Observer ℧ Eccentric and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are sponsors of the program on Oct. 13. Admission is $10. Call the Canton Community Foundation at (734) 495-1200 or e-mail givinghopewgc@ gmail.com.

E-mails add up to a ton of savings

nome 20 years ago when I started writing this column the editors of this paper thought it important that you could contact me direct and I think that I can correctly say that a few thousand readers have done just that. I would like to thank all of you as there were many times when you gave me food for thought with your questions and kept the column going.

Today I would like to give you just one example of a reader who takes full advantage of the knowledge available to him and has proven to put it to good use. His name is Mike and he writes: "Joe, you have helped me on five different occasions, all successful. I have an Amana fridge model SXD22S2W. The ice dispenser works but the water side does not. I was told there is a reservoir behind the crisper that may freeze up. Can you please help? Please mail me back. Thank you."

My first reply, done immediately because I know that Mike is demanding and understands the word urgent: "Hi Mike, thanks for your note. Remove the crisper drawer in the bottom of the refrigerator section. Check out the tank and see if you can observe any ice in it. Let me know. Regards Joe Gagnon."

Mike's second e-mail arrived the next morning: "Joe, thanks for getting back with me last night. I took the crisper

Appliance Doctor

drawer off. The tank you're talking about is almost an S shape with two plastic lines going to it. I removed the one screw that holds it to the back wall. I'm not sure if there is supposed to be water in it. It appears to be heavier than it should and the plastic tank seems to be really hard/rigid as if it is filled with water and frozen inside. I can't press the plastic in at all. There is no give at all. I turned and rotated the tank to see if I could hear any water in there and could not. If you think it is frozen would I pull the two plastic lines off the tank and take a blow dryer to thaw or keep it attached and try to thaw it out in the fridge. I don't know if those plastic lines are compressed in the tank. Or maybe you think it is something else. Please mail me back."

Mike's third e-mail arrived midafternoon of the next day: "Hi Joe, I was wondering if you got my e-mail this morning?

My second reply: "Hi Mike, thanks for your three e-mails which I receive as quickly as you send them. Trust me Mike, I'm trying very hard to be prompt. Now, in regard to your efforts so far, you are not getting a passing grade. You have got to be able to figure out if the reservoir tank is full of ice or water although I don't think it's frozen or you would have complained about food freezing in the refrigerator section. That is not the case. In 99 percent of cases where the water dispenser is not pouring out water the cause is usually a defective water valve on the back of the refrigerator, or problems with water pressure from the supply line, many times caused by a water filter that has not been replaced on a regular

Yes Mike, it has been my pleasure helping you several times in the past. It took your perseverance to get the job done and I made note from past communications that you would rather I email you than call you on the telephone. This is no problem and I await your next e-mail.

For those of you readers who would prefer a phone call from me, rather than an e-mail response, please say so and I will be glad to do so during the hours you wish. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600 and at 2 p.m. Sundays on WDTK 1400. You can e-mail your problems and questions on appliances to appldr@twmi.rr.com

YOUR OWN PROGRAM One will find little difference in the advice physicians give the individual over age 65: First exercise. Treat exercise as if it were the most important medicine you take

After that point, the advice becomes muddy. How much should the person exercise, for how long, and how hard? What is the best exercise? Not only does no one answer exist, the answer to these questions will never be the same twice

What is appropriate exercise for each person depends on the total health of the individual, the neighborhood in which he or she lives, the extent to which the person has money to spend, and the demands on that person's time because of the need to care for others or work for a living.

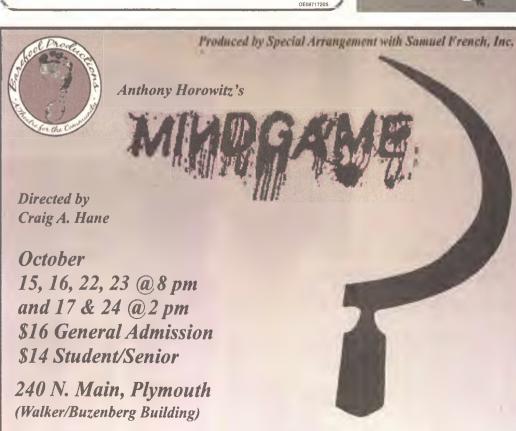

Finally the choice of exercise must take into account what the person is capable of undertaking and enjoys doing.

One person with sufficient funds may find joining a health club and developing an exercise program with the help of a trainer may be a fine solution. Another individual in a quiet neighborhood and good sidewalks may find walking the best way to exercise daily. Because of the need to keep close attention to a sick husband or wife another person may consider a treadmill in the home the best way to exercise.

Even a house bound person can find a way to being a program that increases strength and stamina; it is never too late to begin or too impossible to start. Each exercise program should be unique to the person's needs and setting.

Girl Scout Junior Troop # 41214, from All Saints Catholic School in Canton, shows off some of the 3,645 stuffed animals it collected for Stuffed Animals for Emergencies (S.A.F.E.). The girls' community service will qualify the troop for the Girl Scout Bronze Award, the highest award for Girl Scouts at the Junior level. Roberta Rybicki, troop leader, said the girls made posters and collection boxes, spoke at school and advertised their project in church bulletins and the school newsletter. S.A.F.E. will distribute the toys to Detroit area hospitals and shelters. Pictured are Alexa Rybicki, (left) of Plymouth; Madison Burk, Canton; Anna Costley, Plymouth; Anna Napiewocki, Plymouth; Erin Montgomery, Canton; Evelyn Kasperek, Belleville; Kaleigh Webber, Canton; Meghan Sullivan, Plymouth; and Samantha Horn, Plymouth.

RODA BAKER

Age 95, passed away in Arizona on 2010, formerly of Plymouth, MI. Funeral services are pending. Arrangements entrusted to Schrader Funeral Home, Plymouth.

ALBERT G. BALLERT

Age 95, passed away on October 5, 2010 at St. Mary Mercy Hospital in Livonia. Mr. Ballert received his Bachleor of Education at the University of Toledo, his Masters of Science in Geography at Syracuse University and his Doctorate in Geography from the University of Chicago. Dr. Ballert found his true calling in life through his research with the Great Lakes Commission, beginning during it's inception in 1956 and continuing as Director of Research "emeritus" through 2006. He authored numerous publications, newsletters and checklists relating to the ships and their cargo, water levels and precipitation. His work became his mission, his passion, his hobby. Dr. Ballert visited every port and community along the entire Great Lakes and Seaway coastline, accumulating an extensive body of photographs from his visits. Many a person heard him declare he was " the luckiest man in the world " to have such an interesting vocation. Although Dr. Ballert's (Al's) roots were from Ohio, he was an avid University of Michigan football fan. A favorite past time was to cheer his beloved Wolverines with his wife at his side at home games. Their maize and blue banner was ready to hang at the many bowl games they attended. He leaves his beloved wife I. Josephine Ballert and his 'children Colby (Carol) Ballert amd Josette (David) Koets. Also surviving are his grandchildren, Steven (Katie) and Sara Koets and Brendan (Janie), Cassandra and Zachery Ballert and great-grandson Connor Koets. He was preceded in death by his son Albert Jr. Visitation will be Friday, 1:30pm until time of funeral service at 3pm at Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, 9601 Hubbard, Livonia. In lieu of flowers, memorials can be given to the church or to the donor's choice of organization in his name. Share your special thoughts and memories at www.schrader-howell.com

GERALDINE QUINN BRIGGS

View Passages Online: www.hometownlife.com

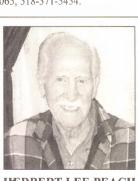

Age 94, passed away October 4, 2010. He was born in Royal Oak Twp., MI on March 14, 1916 to Otto and Lydia (Platt) Lindbert. Mr. Lindbert was the Mayor of Farmington from 1953-1965 and was a key person to the city's development. He'd started his own company, L & H Wood Manufacturing Co., from the ground up and had also dabbled in the steel strapping industry. He helped others start their own lumber mills and resourced out a lot of work in further support of those he'd helped. He retired when he was 52. The family had a summer cabin on Big Bear Lake since 1948 and he spent his winters in Florida from 1950-2005. He was a remarkable musician and played the tenor saxophone. He enjoyed performing at various local clubs, including Tally's Bar and Hidden Valley Resort. He'd always had an ear for music and was awarded the Most Talented High School Musician at the Chicago World's Fair in the 1930's. His grandson now plays his same instrument. A true philanthropist, he was involved in various organizations throughout his lifetime, was a member of the Jaycees, Goodfellows, and had served as President of the Huron River Hunting and Fishing Club. He was also very instrumental in fundraising efforts for the construction of St. Francis of Assisi Church in Lewiston. Mr. Lindbert was brilliant, inquisitive man who loved to learn, as well as being clever, kind, and giving. He was one to be mindful of the needs of others and sought to lend a hand whenever he could. He was a good cook and loved to travel. An adventurous and athletic person, he enjoyed downhill skiing, boating, fishing excursions, and all types of hunting, with a true passion for the outdoors. He'll also be remembered by his family as a flamboyant dresser, never one to shy away from bright plaid pants. Mr. Lindbert is survived by his daughters, B.J. Mares and Judy Godmar, both of Florida; nine grandchildren' 19 great-grandchildren; and one great-great grandson. He was preceded in death by his son, Thomas Lindbert. A MEMORIAL MASS will take place on Friday, October 8, 2010 at 2:30 p.m. from St. Francis of Assisi Church in Lewiston. The family will receive friends at the church on Friday beginning at 1:30 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to Aspen Ridge Retirement Village, through the Nelson Funeral Home, P.O. Reasons why mammograms still matter

Breast cancer is the most frequently diagnosed cancer in women, and is the second leading cause of cancerrelated death for women in the United States, according to the American Cancer Society.

The organization expects 7,340 new cases of breast cancer will be diagnosed this year in Michigan.

The American Cancer Society supports research that has found annual mammograms, beginning at age 40, are still a woman's best defense against breast cancer death. Finding breast cancer early is the best way to control it, and the evidence supporting annual mammograms as an effective detection strategy is stronger than ever, according to the organization.

Here's a list of the American Cancer Society's reasons why mammograms are worth receiving:

• Early detection is the best defense – When breast cancer is detected early, at a localized stage, the survival rate is 98 percent. Once breast cancer has metastasized and spread throughout the body, the five-year survival rate drops to 27 percent.

• Mammography works

- Mammography can detect breast cancer an average of 1.7 years before it can be felt by a clinical breast exam. Although mammography is not perfect, the imaging technique does detect the majority of breast cancers and can provide women with an important lead in treating the disease.

• Risk increases with age

- That means there is no safe age to stop having a yearly mammogram.

• Once a year is enough

- On average, a mammogram appointment takes about 20 minutes from start to finish. While you may be hesitant to have your yearly mammogram, that is less time than your favorite half-hour weekly television program - and it could save your life.

• Lead by example –
Encourage the women in your life to get their annual mammogram by having yours. Peer counseling is especially effective and provides an added emotional support network.

• Lower health care costs

- While mammograms range in cost from $75 to $600, early detection testing for breast cancer saves as much as $20,000 in initial treatment costs for each breast cancer case that is detected early.

• Financial support is available – Women without health insurance are eligible to receive their annual mammogram for little or no cost. The National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program (NBCCEDP) is a federal program that makes breast cancer early detection testing more available to medically underserved women.

• The exposure to radiation is minimal – The risk of harm from radiation exposure during a mammogram is extremely small and cannot cause cancer. In fact, the level of radiation, during a mammogram, is comparable to the level of radiation exposure from a dental exam.

• Mammography is safe and reliable – The Mammography Quality Standards Act (MQSA) is the federal law that ensures mammography is safe. All mammography personnel and facilities in the United States have met stringent standards, must be accredited, FDA-certified, and must pass annual inspections.

Pinking out

The Plymouth Whalers hockey team wear pink for breast cancer awareness in a special game last year. They'll do it again at a game against Windsor, 7:05 p.m., Saturday Oct. 16 at Compuware Arena, 14900 Beck, Plymouth. The pink jerseys that team members wear for the annual "Pink Out!" game will be auctioned off for the cause. Players will get their hair dyed pink Oct. 13 at Lucky Hair Company in Canton and will work the "Tip-A-Whalers" event Oct. 14 at CJ's Brewing Company at Compuware Arena. All tips from the night will be donated to the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute. The team hopes to raise $10,000 in donations before the Pink Out! game. If they do, Whalers general manager and head coach Mike Vellucci and associate coach Joe Stefan will sport pink hair, too. To donate, call Lucky Hair Company at (734) 844-8166. Donations also can be dropped off at Compuware Arena; (734) 453-8400.

How Colors You Hate Can Lead to a Job You Love

Dewey Sadka, Career Expert

Did you know that the colors you like and dislike indicate your "Career Enjoyment Factor," or your personality's best career path? Consider these sometimes overlooked facts:

- 1. When you love what you do, you do a better job and get promoted.
- 2. Employers hire those who they believe will enjoy the day-to-day tasks. Don't forget, their goal is to reduce expensive turnover and improve quality.

Get A Success Attitude

Right before an interview or presentation, isn't your mind flooded with a power-surge of things you should and shouldn't do? Pay attention to those signals and let them be your guide. Allow your memories of success to boost your confidence and keep you on-

See yourself as an evolving individual moving towards success. Remember: Yes, you've made mistakes. Own them; and you can manage them.

Yes, you've had successes. Be proud of them. Discuss them openly as facts, not feelings and you will be in command. No, you're not there yet. So what? Move over world; you're charging ahead.

No More Job Fit Guessing

Guessing how your personality traits fit with an actual job posting is history. The Dewey Color System now predicts your "Top 50 Most Enjoyable Careers" with scientifically valid, record-breaking accuracy. Try it now

www.careerpath.com/career-tests/colortest-jobs

Which color do you like the least: Yellow, blue or red?

You Like Yellow The Least

What it means: You're exceptionally goal-oriented and clearly grasp the objective at hand with determination and Success tip: Rushing a project with a "now or never" push can create a crisis. Slow down or later on an apology or redoing something will be your reward. Interview power: Never wing it on an interview. Research before you go. Avoid co-worker clash: Always start conversations from their point of view,

Best jobs for you: Wherever deadlines are essential; such as operations manager or medical doctor.

You Like Blue The Least

Your never-ending concerns about quality tweak things to a higher standard.

Projects and goals become a rousing success.

Success tip:

Challenge others to envision and discuss considerations in detail. Otherwise, your questions can be seen as disapproval or that you're not a team player.

Interview power: Plan ahead. Create "why they need you" bullet points.

Avoid co-worker clash: Remember they want confirmation, not honest critiques. Best jobs for you: Unbiased, objectively works; such as editor, event planner, or quality control.

You Like Red The Least

Your natural curiosity reveals profound facts that bring forth invaluable, more thorough information. Keep your power and gain more contemplation time by not giving an immediate yes or no.

Success tip: Tell others you need to give the issue some thought and you will get back to him later with the specifics, a bystep action plan.

Interview power: Speak-up, be assertive, but not pushy. Tell them what vou do well.

Avoid co-worker clash: When they bark orders, don't be rebellious. Write it down.

Best jobs for you: Wherever thorough info is needed; such as researcher or computer technician.

Which color do you like the least: green, purple or orange? You Like Green The Least

Your independent, responsible nature allows you to work for long periods of time without any support. You know how to build a strong team, even adopt co-workers as if they were your family.

Success tip: Pay attention to others' dilemmas, especially when they don't measureup. Chances are they just can't do it. Interview power:

Listen, what's important to them? Discuss what they want to hear.

Avoid co-worker clash: Ask for support or don't expect it. Otherwise, you'll later

Best jobs for you: Wherever follow-up is essential; such as business owner or

You Like Purple The Least

Your methodical approach quickly, without any emotion, puts an end to assumptions or exaggerated facts.

Success tip: Don't avoid brainstorming your true career potential. No it's not venturing into uncharted waters or a waste of time and money.

Interview power: Open your mind to possibilities, even if it feels uncomfortable.

Avoid co-worker clash: Don't reject new ideas until you've calculated risk and long-term income.

Best jobs for you: Methodical, logicbased careers such as accounting or finance.

You Like Orange The Least

Your concerned, considerate persona makes you the ultimate pleaser. When the going gets tough, you work harder and harder.

Success tip: Under promise and over deliver by critically evaluating a project, in conjunction with other deadlines, before you commit.

Interview power: Don't overreach. Focus on a "right now" job that will later deliver a "dream" career.

Avoid co-worker clash: Others only do well what they enjoy. Don't expect otherwise.

Best jobs for you: Consider pleasing occupations like customer service or PR.

SUDOKU

Numbers Like puzzles?

Fun By The

Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have vou hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvv to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

3500 HD. A heavy truck for heavy use.

2011 Gmc Sierra Hd 3500 Crew: A True Heavy-Duty Truck

Advertising Feature

CAReport

By Dave Menard For Avanti NewsFeatures

If you've done any shopping for trucks, you know the marketplace is full of different shapes and sizes. You can find small trucks for small jobs, and large trucks for large jobs.

Then there are the real workhorses, the heavy-duty segment of trucks. These are the trucks with most towing power, the biggest payloads and the most room to take a work crew, if you need to.

If you're looking for one of those heavyduty trucks, the GMC Sierra 3500 HD Crew Cab SLE might be the one you're looking for.

There's certainly no doubt that this is a heavy-duty truck. It's certainly big; with an overall length of 20 feet for the standard box (more than 21 feet for the long box), a width of more than six feet (standard box, almost eight feet for the long box) and more than 77 inches in height, the Sierra HD is an imposing figure in your driveway.

You also know it's heavy-duty when you see the numbers for its towing and payload capacity -- 17,000 lbs. with conventional towing and more than 6600 lbs of payload, both of which are topranked in its class.

The Sierra HD comes with chrome rear bumpers, 18-inch aluminum wheels, front recovery hooks, camper-style mirrors, chrome grille surround, and cargo box illumination. For some reason fog lamps are standard. You'll have to spring for the SLE Preferred Package to get those and a locking tailgate. You might want to get the optional Chrome Assist Steps (($689); getting in and out of the 3500 can be a challenge without

The Sierra HD is powered by a standard Vortec 6.0-liter V8 engine. If you're looking for something even bigger, you can opt for the Duramax 6.6-liter V8 turbo diesel ($7,195). Rated at 397 horsepower and 765 lb.-ft. of torque, this engine gives you the most power in its class.

The other half of the diesel powertrain consists of an Allison 1000 six-speed automatic transmission ($1,200). The transmission features tap up/tap down shifting and a tow/haul mode that reduces shift cycling for improved cooling when towing heavy loads. Even moving this large frame, the diesel powertrain provides surprisingly good acceleration and the shifting is fairly GMC has given the Sierra HD a new fully-boxed steel frame. The driving experience is pretty good for a heavyduty truck.

The suspension is a redesigned shortarm independent front torsion-bar system, which has a front axle weight rating of up to 6,000 pounds, enough to attach a snow plow.

The new asymmetrical leaf-spring rear suspension handles larger loads than the previous version.

The steering system is new; it includes a new, larger steering gear, power steering pumps and linkages. The Sierra handles well for a large truck. It's a challenge to maneuver in tight spaces and park but large trucks usually are.

Inside, the Sierra 3500 Crew Cab is roomy and comfortable. Instrumentation is complete with a voltmeter and an oil pressure gauge. The seats provide good support. There's plenty of room inside, even in the rear seating area, and the rear seats fold down for even more cargo area.

The 3500 comes with a leatherwrapped steering wheel, air conditioning, power widows and locks, tilt-steering wheel, and cruise control. A "convenience package" gives you adjustable power pedals, a universal home remote, remote vehicle starter system (nice in winter weather), and rear window defogger ($860).

The SLE packaged referenced earlier also gives you automatic dual-zone air conditioning, Bluetooth phone capability, a USB port, and a six-way power driver's seat adjuster ($980).

The standard audio system is an AM/ FM/CD system with six speakers that includes three months of satellite radio service. A rear vision camera system is available ($450), but for some reason a navigation system isn't. As with all General Motors vehicles, one year of OnStar is standard with the Sierra 3500.

With OnStar, you can make and receive calls hands-free, get updated vehicle diagnostics, ask for directions or restaurant recommendations, or summon emergency help at the touch of a button. The system also automatically calls for assistance in the event airbags are deployed.

The Sierra 3500 Crew cab starts at a little over $40,000. With the convenience package, the SLE preferred package, the diesel engine and Allison transmission powertrain, the trailering package including the integrated trailer brake controller, the rear vision camera system and the chrome assist steps and you're looking at a total of almost $52,500.

That's a good chunk of change, but this is a true heavy-duty truck.

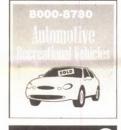

You'll have to decide if it's too heavyduty for your wallet.
