PIPELINE

Living in infamy

People in the Plymouth and Canton area are invited to the Pearl Harbor Day remembrance ceremony on Tuesday, Dec. 7, 1 p.m. at the Plymouth Veterans' Memorial Park, on Main Street in front of Central Middle School, in downtown Plymouth.

The event commemorates the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor.

Code of Conduct

The 2010-11 Student Code of Conduct has finally been approved, some three months after the beginning of school.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Tuesday got a final look at the code that will be used for the rest of this school year. The biggest issue was settled — the range of consequences for drug offenses will include everything from in-school suspension up to, and including, possible expulsion. The drug policy had been the biggest hang-up among board members.

Under the code, penalties for all offenses related to illicit substances — drugs or alcohol — would "start with at least a suspension," Supt. Craig Fiegel told board members.

Trustee Dianne Gonzalez, who was among board members who questioned whether the original draft of the code was too easy on drug offenses, was satisfied.

"To me, this is more succinct," she said. The district's policy committee will take another look at the code's provisions for the governance of student publications and the district's cell phone policy, though the current code will remain in effect for this year.

Bar closed

According to sources in the Plymouth Downtown Development Authority, 1999 Tavern closed its doors last week.

In the DDA's weekly update, officials said there's no official word if it will reopen or be sold.

1999 Tavern was located at 447 Forest Ave., in downtown Plymouth.

Symphony programs

The Plymouth Canton Symphony Orchestras present two upcoming programs.

The first is a Backstage Pass 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2, at the Liberty Street Brewing Company in Plymouth's Old Village.

It's a free evening open to the public featuring the orchestra musicians in a fun, informal evening to learn more about the "people behind the music."

The second is "The Nutcracker," 6:30 p.m. Dec. 4 and 2 p.m. Dec. 5 in the auditorium at Salem High School.

For tickets and information call (734) 451-2112 or (734) 676-7233, or order online at <http://www.plymouthcantonalballet.org>.

Not so frightful

Cold weather can't freeze out Santa spirit

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The cold outside was frightful, but the arrival of Santa Claus was delightful for dozens of children who greeted him Friday in Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

Santa (Eric Stopa of Westland) arrived precisely at 6 p.m. on a Plymouth Community Fire Department truck, the siren and lights substituting for sleigh bells and Rudolph's red nose. A cold snap had replaced recent warm temperatures, but that didn't stop many children and their parents from gathering in anticipation of Santa's appearance.

Even the North Pole-dweller mentioned the weather when asked about his voyage by magician Gordon Russ, who had warmed up the crowd.

"It was fantastic," Santa said. "We ran into a little updrafts on the way down, but we are OK."

Santa told the crowd that Plymouth is a favorite stop for he and Mrs. Claus (Amy Brace of Plymouth) during their Christmastime journeys. He was given the key to the hearts of area children by Plymouth City Commissioner Ed Hingelberg and Plymouth Township Supervisor Richard Reaume.

With the crowd providing a countdown, Santa and his entourage threw the switch to light up the city's Christmas tree. Russ, who had entertained the children with a half-hour holiday-themed show, then led a cheer for Santa, who headed to his small house at Kellogg Park to begin hearing children's wish lists.

Six-year-old Alexandra Simpson of Orlando, Fla., liked seeing Santa Claus. The cold she could do without.

"I don't really like it," said Alexandra, who added she had dressed in six layers of clothing.

Alexandra was in the park with cousins Jordan and Lindsay Schamp of Plymouth Township, her mother, AnnMarie Simpson, and her aunt, Leigh Schamp. Witnessing Santa's arrival has become a family tradition that's in its fifth year.

"I like to see him," Alexandra said. "I like his laugh," she added when asked about Santa's attributes.

Alexandra said she was hoping for Pillow Pets (stuffed animal toys that double as pillows) from Santa, while Jordan,

Plan sets 'Dynamic' goals for district

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Members of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education have long clamored for a long-range, dynamic planning strategy for the future of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Now they have one.

After five meetings, several focus groups and intense discussions about what should be included, the Dynamic Planning Committee made its presentation to the school board Tuesday, providing board members with goals in four different areas, along with new mission and vision statements designed to take the district into the future.

"I think what is critical is this gives us something we haven't had before," Supt. Dr. Craig Fiegel told board members. "This answers, 'What do we believe?'"

The final report talks about overall goals in four different areas — Community engagement, finance, operations and curriculum, technology and student achievement — and offered potential strategies to achieve the goals, though the report does not discuss implementation.

Implementation of the plan will be left up to the district's leadership team.

The committee was made up of some 60 volunteers from various business, technical and educational backgrounds from around the community.

"I have never worked with a committee like this one," said Kay Cornell, the consultant the district hired to shepherd the process. "They represented you with such dignity and intelligence. To watch them work was really a pleasure."

The committee came up with these goals:

- Community Engagement — Promote community engagement by developing and maintaining productive, collaborative relationships with all stakeholders. Included among subgoals are promoting the district to internal and external markets, engaging families and students in the educational process, find ways for students and the school community to contribute to the community and expanding opportunities for community involvement.

Music, bargains greet Black Friday shoppers

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The weather was chilly, but the atmosphere was warm Friday on the streets of downtown Plymouth.

A dip in temperatures and occasional high winds on Black Friday, one of the busiest shopping days of the year, didn't stop Christmas-shopping bargain-hunters, nor the musicians who, protected by tents, serenaded the shoppers on downtown streets.

Trio Organic was performing jazz, funk and soul on Forest, a student choir from Plymouth Canton Educational Park was singing Christmas carols on Ann Arbor Trail and country-pop artist Justine Blazer was onstage on Penniman. The Downtown Development Authority-sponsored concerts were part of the buildup to the arrival of Santa Claus in Kellogg Park at 6 p.m.

Merchants reported decent Friday traffic.

"We've had a good crowd come through," said Emily Kenny, an associate at Sun & Snow on Main Street.

goods, including boots, ski bindings and snowboards, at 20 percent off.

As Sun & Snow just opened this year, Kenny said, many shoppers were taking time to explore the store. Sun & Snow is also seeing an influx of young families, she said.

"There are a lot of young families in the area who want to get their kids into the snow," she said.

At Genuine Toy Co. on Forest, the day started slow, but had picked up by mid-afternoon, said Charles Dare, who owns the business with wife Elle.

"It's steady and it's improving, I would say," Dare said.

Popular this year are Calico Critters, which are small animal figurines aimed at girls, and Rokenbok building sets, which include snap-together parts, moveable cranes and ramps and remote-control toy loaders and bulldozers.

But more traditional toys, puzzles and board games, are the top sellers at Genuine Toy.

"Games and puzzles are by far number one, continue to be," Dare said. The store even recently expanded its shelf space for them, he said.

A Rokenbok display captured the attention of Nolan Costanza, 5, of Plymouth.

"He's looking for something that uses his ingenuity," grandmother Joyce Costanza of Canton said.

Costanza, with her family, owns Station 885 in Old Village. She said she makes it a point to do Christmas shopping in Plymouth.

"I keep as many dollars in Plymouth," she said. "I always have."

Station 885 was open Thanksgiving, and Costanza said about 1,000 people were served there.

"Lots of families and lots of fun," she said.

One Plymouth store closed Black Friday was Blue Fish Music, where owner Paul Murphy opted for a long weekend.

"Black Friday is just not green enough," Murphy said.

Blue Fish, on Starkweather in Old Village, hasn't been open Black Friday for several years.

"People would come in, but it's not a sales thing at all," Murphy said Wednesday. "I think they're looking for more of the Walmarts and the mall stores."

He added: "I might try it again next year."

Finance — productively, efficiently and transparently manage the district's short- and long-term finances by establishing priorities within a responsible budget that supports the Mission and Vision and enhances the quality of the district.

Gary Sands, who said he's had at least one child in the district since 1973, said while the report was presented as goals in four separate areas, it really isn't.

"For instance, finance lies under everything," Sands said. "It's got to be transparent. Everyone has to understand why you're making the decisions you do."

Operations — Provide the physical and human resources in an innovative, flexible and fiscally responsible manner to support and elevate the educational experience for each student. Among the subgoals were providing safe, efficient transportation, nutritious meals and optimizing the use of facilities and technology.

Curriculum, technology and student achievement

While the overriding goal is to graduate all students with the knowledge, skills and integrity critical to achieve success, both individually and collectively, in a competitive and rapidly changing, global society, there were other goals, including making sure students are technologically literate, effective communicators and inventive thinkers.

Klotylda Phillippi, a retired teacher who now teaches at the University of Michigan, said the committee focused on student achievement may have had the toughest job.

"This is a world-class district, and student achievement is already high," Phillippi said. "We were really challenged by how we were going to go even higher. We asked ourselves, 'How are we going to reach beyond that?'"

Cornell pointed out now that the plan exists, it's a living plan, subject to change when board members and district officials see the need.

"One of the things about a dynamic plan is you can turn it quickly," Cornell said. "If you find something isn't working, you can shift it to find something that does work."

Growth Works gets $25K county grant

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-based Growth Works Inc., which provides treatment services to people addicted to drugs and alcohol and support to their families, has won a $25,000 Wayne County Prevention Action Services System grant.

The PASS grants go to organizations that provide diversion and early intervention programs for young people who are in danger of contact with the criminal justice system, or who are experiencing academic trouble in school. Growth Works, founded in 1971, contracts with the county to provide counseling and other services to young offenders.

County Commissioner Laura Cox, who represents Plymouth, said she was impressed with Growth Works "history of designing current, relevant and successful programming to meet the needs of individuals struggling with chemical dependency and delinquent behavior."

The Community Opportunity Center in Livonia and Northville Youth Assistance in Northville also were awarded PASS grants of $25,000 each.

Growth Works is a member of Plymouth Community United Way.

About the body Starkweather students get lesson in genetics

SCHOOL BRIEFS

Old tale, new twist

The Park Players Theatre Company presents a one-act version of "A Christmas Carol" at the DuBois Little Theatre in Canton Dec. 10-11.

What makes this production newsworthy is the fact that the cast and director, David Krzysnik, are adapting their own version from Dickens' original work. Krzysnik recruited the knowledge of English teacher Kelly Mandeville, who gave the cast a tutorial in Dickens, his life and background so the students are now experts on the subject.

The production is currently a work in progress.

Plymouth All-American

Kicker Kyle Brindza, a senior at Plymouth High School who plans to play football at Notre Dame, has been invited to play in the Offense-Defense All-America Bowl, to be held in Myrtle Beach, S.C. Dec. 31.

The national telecast will be on VERSUS, with kickoff set for 4 p.m. The Offense-Defense All-American Bowl is an annual high school football all-star game that features the best student-athletes from around the country.

Cyber safety

Parents of middle-school-aged children are invited to participate in an assembly on cyber safety presented by the Michigan Attorney General's Office at 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, at West Middle School.

The 45-minute presentation will focus on cyber-bullying, protecting their children on-line, how to avoid on-line predators, protecting personal information on social networking websites and cyber-harassment. The Michigan Cyber Safety Initiative is an Internet safety education program with customized presentations for kindergarten through eighth-grade students and their parents. The program was initiated by Michigan Attorney General Mike Cox.

TAG screening

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is screening students for admission to its talented and gifted program for the 2011-12 school year.

To apply for admission to the program, a student must reside within the P-CCS District boundaries and be in grades two to seven. Nomination forms are available in all P-CCS elementary and middle schools. Completed nomination forms must be submitted to school principals or counselors by Dec. 15. Nomination forms are also available online web.pccs.k12.mi.us/tag Nominations for non-public school students should be returned to the TAG Office at: Miller Elementary School, 43721 Hanford Road, Canton, Michigan 48187, or by fax at (734) 416-4801. Screening for the program involves two phases of standardized testing, including the Iowa Test and the Cognitive Abilities Test.

Dr. Melody Hobig had a difficult time looking her patient in the eye and saying the patient's baby was, in all likelihood, going to be born with a condition that would cause developmental delays, a disease for which there is no cure.

It didn't matter that Hobig isn't really a doctor. She's a 17-year-old student in Tracy Gibbons' biology class at the Starkweather, Plymouth-Canton's Alternative Education Center.

It also didn't matter that the patient was Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education trustee John Jackson, who clearly wasn't pregnant to begin with.

All that mattered to Hobig was the stark reality of the lesson learned in Gibbons' lesson about genetic diseases. The disease she studied — Angelman Syndrome — occurs in 1 in 15,000 live births and is characterized by developmental delay, lack of speech, seizures, and walking and balance disorders, according to the Angelman Syndrome Foundation website.

"You find out what it's like to live in the shoes of a doctor, and tell the patient there's something wrong with their baby," said Hobig, who lives in Plymouth. "You feel the emotions with the patient. It's hard to tell someone their child is going to have a disease there's no cure for."

Dr. Colton Jahoda, a 17-year-old Starkweather student from Canton, didn't have to diagnose anything quite as complicated — or life-changing — as Angelman Syndrome, but said he still learned a lot. Jahoda studied Polydactylism, a condition where the patient has an extra digit on his hands and/or feet. The only real treatment for the condition is to have the extra digit(s) surgically removed.

'Doctor' Josh Herig consults a patient during the genetics portion of Tracy Gibbons' biology class at Starkweather School.

"It's not a deadly disease, it's not life or death," Jahoda said. "It was interesting doing the research and finding out what (web) sites said what things about it."

That's the point of Gibbons' instruction: To teach students about genetic disorders, how to diagnose them and then how to deal with telling patients what's wrong.

Gibbons produces a list of diseases and students decide which one they'll tackle. They do the research, learn the symptoms, and diagnose the "patients" — volunteers who included Jackson, Supt. Dr. Craig Fiegel, Starkweather Principal Kevin Lane, teachers and other students.

"They were given a scenario that they didn't know about until today," Gibbons said Tuesday, the day of the diagnosing. "(Students) have to learn about genetics as part of the Michigan framework. I like to have them do a real-life scenario. If they can see how it relates to real life, they're more likely to learn from it."

11, wanted a RipStik (a sort of skateboard) and Lindsay, 8, wanted chapter books.

It was Stopa's 18th year playing Santa in Plymouth. It is his only Santa gig of the season.

"He's really good at what he does," said Mike Brace of Plymouth, whose wife was making her debut as Mrs.

Claus. "Very serious." Santa's visit was sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce and Bank of Ann Arbor. Russ' magic show, and Friday afternoon downtown concerts by Trio Organic, a student choir from Plymouth-Canton Education Park and country singer Justine Blazer were sponsored by the Downtown Development Authority.

Families talk about the quality of care at Four Seasons

Genevieve Nehring with Certified Nurse Assistant Elena Horne

Carol Henry rests easy knowing her 94-year old mother Genevieve Nehring is receiving the best care at Four Seasons. Genevieve arrived at Four Seasons with congestive heart failure complicated by COPD.

"It gives me relief to know she has medical care and is not just languishing. In nice weather we go out and sit on the patio," said Carol Henry who works in a lab hospital near her home in Howell. "They've been very accommodating. Mom likes it that they all say 'Hi Genevieve' when they see her." "They all know me," added Genevieve Nehring.

"My mother is active at Four Seasons... she plays bingo five days a week, enjoys the live entertainment and looks forward to getting her nails done."

Socialization motivates patient recovery

Dr. Keith Tobin, Attending Physician

Dr. Keith Tobin, an attending physician at Four Seasons Rehabilitation and Nursing, recognizes the need for socialization to stimulate residents and patients. "Here at Four Seasons nursing center, we believe in the importance of social interaction," said Dr. Tobin. "Studies show that social stimulation helps to maintain and, in many instances, actually improves cognition in patients with neurological deficits. Interacting with others requires the utilization of many parts of the brain."

Dr. Tobin is certified in family medicine and geriatrics, practices at Livonia Family Medical, and on staff at Botsford, Garden City, St. Mary Mercy and Oakwood hospitals.

Recent renovations to Four Seasons include a state-of-the-art activities center which encourages and facilitates resident-to-resident and resident-to-staff interaction. Rooms with two, three, or four residents are favored to foster a sense of community within each resident and minimize social isolation.

"Residents are encouraged to take their meals in the dining room and participate in group facility activities," said Dr. Tobin. "Residents who share semi-private rooms often bond to the point of encouraging one another during their physical therapy sessions."

Roadshow Comes to Livonia!

By Jason Delong
Treasure Hunters Roadshow
STAFF WRITER

Clean out your attics, closets and lock boxes, because the Roadshow is coming to Livonia. Roadshow experts are in town examining antiques, collectibles, gold and silver.

While the Roadshow will accept anything that's old, they will be focusing on gold and silver coins made before 1964, military items, toys and trains, musical instruments, pocket and wrist watches. Scrap gold is expected to be a popular category this week due to soaring gold prices.

"U.S. coins made before 1964 are most sought after by collectors. Coins made before 1964 are 90% silver and valuable because of the silver content or could be worth even more if one happens to be a rare date."

Expert buyers for the Roadshow have noticed a tremendous increase in the amount of gold coming to the Roadshow and for good reason. Record gold prices have Roadshow guests cashing in on broken jewelry or jewelry they don't wear anymore with our "fair and honest" purchase offers.

Got Gold? This week, visitors can cash in on antiques, collectibles, gold, silver, coins or just about anything that is old.

The Roadshow encourages anyone planning a visit to take a minute and examine their jewelry box or their lock box at the bank and gather anything that's gold. If a guest is not sure if something is gold, bring it anyway and the Roadshow staff will test it for free. Other gold items of interest include gold coins, gold ounces, gold proof sets and dental gold.

Other types of items Roadshow experts hope to see include old toys and train sets. Archie Davis, roadshow toy expert spoke about some of the top toys getting great offers. "Old tin windup toys from the late 1800's through the 1960's are in great demand now," said Davis, "Especially those that are character related. Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, the Flintstones or any character toys are sought. Old Buddy L toys from the 1920's to 1960's are in demand." Basically any toys made before 1965 are wanted. Train sets made by Lionel, American Flyer, Marklin and others have the potential to fetch high prices. Davis also stressed, "Toys with boxes and in mint condition bring sensational prices. Most of the toys that come to the Roadshow are not in perfect shape but can still bring good prices from collectors."

When expert Tom Fuller was asked what he enjoyed most about working at the Roadshow, he was quick to answer "Old coins and paper currency. For as long as I can remember I have been fascinated with collecting coins. I would go through the change in my parents grocery store looking for rare dates and errors. Once, I found a silver quarter that I sold for $300.00. Not bad for an 8 year old."

Fuller went on to explain that any U.S. coins made before 1964 are most sought after by collectors. Coins made before 1964 are 90% silver and valuable because of the silver content or could be worth even more if one happens to be a rare date. "We help people sort through their coins for unique dates. We buy all types of coins at the Roadshow from wheat pennies to buffalo nickels, which are valuable from one coin to an entire truckload. See you at the Roadshow." said Fuller.

Roush Performance moves into its new headquarters in a building on Schoolcraft in Plymouth Township.

Roush opens Plymouth Township facility

For the first time in the history of Roush Performance, the company will have its own dedicated headquarters after moving into a new building in Plymouth Township.

The 65,000 square-foot facility will be known as Building 79 in company nomenclature (each Roush building is assigned a unique sequential number as they are added to the corporate footprint).

"Moving into Roush Building 79 is an exciting step in the evolution of Roush Performance as our business continues to grow and thrive," said Gary Jurick, Roush Performance vice-president and general manager. "It allows us to consolidate our vehicle build, warehousing, and offices together in a manner that gains workflow efficiencies and helps to further set the company up for additional growth opportunities."

Jurick said the new building, located at 39555 Schoolcraft, allows Roush to further expand their growing Install Center for customer-owned vehicle modifications; any of the Roush Performance parts, such as a Roushcharger, suspension, brake, and exhaust upgrades can be installed by the trained technicians who are involved in the Roush specialty vehicle builds.

Since being established in 1995, Roush Performance has built more than 18,000 specialty vehicles. Today, Jurick said, their lineup of upfitted Roush Ford Mustangs "challenges the notion that a high-performance sports car needs to come from Europe as the 525-horsepower and more than 1G skid pad rating are superior to many of today's exotic supercars."

Based in Plymouth Township, "The Art of Performance Engineering" takes place at Roush Performance. To get a look behind the scenes at what goes on at Roush and how the vehicles are designed, manufactured and produced log on to www.Roushtv.com. ## Former church bookkeeper won't face charges

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A former Canton church bookkeeper charged with embezzling more than $25,000 by paying herself inflated wages over four years will not face trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Rather, 63-year-old Michalene Peters has been placed in the county's diversion program, allowing her to avoid trial if she follows certain court orders, stays out of trouble and appears in front of Judge David Groner next August for a review.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Maria Miller confirmed the settlement that could allow Peters to avoid a potential 15-year prison term on charges of embezzling $20,000 to $50,000 as a longtime bookkeeper for Resurrection Parish in Canton.

Peters had been ordered to stand trial in October after an audit by the Archdiocese of Detroit allegedly uncovered financial discrepancies earlier in the year.

However, defense attorney Raymond Cassar has said Peters made an ongoing payroll mistake during a four-year period ending last Dec. 31 and that she repaid $25,022 after it was revealed that she had inadvertently paid herself too much.

"This is a good woman," Cassar has said.

The diversion program is intended to ensure prompt disposition of low-level felony cases while minimizing use of taxpayer dollars. It also encourages restitution and distinguishes between offenders who merit criminal sanctions and those who deserve a second chance.

Peters could potentially get the criminal charges expunged from her record if she obeys the court orders.

Peters had remained free on a personal bond as she awaited the outcome of the case.

Canton police have said the charges arose from allegations Peters gave herself unauthorized hourly wage increases between Jan. 1, 2007, and last Dec. 31, while she was a church bookkeeper.

However, authorities said Peters had denied any attempts to defraud the church.

Cassar has described Peters as a loyal church employee who was asked to retire last July, ending what Cassar called an unblemished work record during 24 years she worked alongside the church's former pastor, the Rev. Richard Peretto.

Cassar had called Peters' actions "a payroll mistake," though a criminal investigation indicated otherwise.

Without citing Peters by name, the Rev. Kenneth Chase in October had aired the issue with the parish, calling it "a serious matter when parish funds are unaccounted for" and asking parishioners to "keep everyone involved in your prayers."

Plymouth Kiwanis Club goes crazy for nuts

What if you couldn't feed your family ... or yourself? What if a child in your life needed medical care and the expenses could not be afforded? What if you were elderly and needed a "helping hand" ... or just a hand to hold? Where would you turn?

Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth supports the agencies and organizations that provide assistance to many people in need as well as helping folks directly. To be able to fund these various projects, the club has many fund-raising activities, including the annual Gourmet Nut fund-raiser being held now.

The sale features three-pound cans of gourmet nuts for purchase by the can, case and pallet.

"These are great gifts for family, employees and clients," said Mark Hutchins, publicity chair for the club. "Please consider the Kiwanis Gourmet Nuts as your gift of choice this year and assist in allowing Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth to continue serving those in need in our community and around the world."

The gourmet nuts can be purchased by the can at Papa Romano's, 555 W. Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, (734) 459-2930; or by the case or pallet at Fitness Things, 1160 W. Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, (734) 455-8790.

According to Hutchins, many other Plymouth businesses will also have the Kiwanis Gourmet Nuts available for purchase at their location. Businesses wishing to participate should contact Gary Walley at (734) 455-8790.

The 100 members of the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth, founded in 1967, take great pride in assisting the community in a number of programs, anything from building a wheelchair ramp for a resident's home, to helping with the Salvation Army Red Kettle Campaign, to assisting in the purchase and packaging of over 1 million meals for food banks, disaster relief and malnourished areas throughout the world, to supporting U of M's Children's Mott Hospital, to replacing a roof for a family in need, to assisting at Tonquish Manor.

"The members of the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth are committed to serving and building a stronger community," Hutchins said. "It is only with the support of generous community friends that we can continue to build strong programs for young people, safe homes for residents in need and a strong community for all."

Shoppers help brighten Christmas for troops

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Terri and Amanda Dewyer had been on the hunt for bargains at Westland Shopping Center and found one they couldn't refuse — sending a Christmas card, free of charge, to U.S. troops overseas.

"We just had to let them know we're thinking of them and appreciate what they're doing for us," said Terri Dewyer.

The Canton residents were among shoppers who helped the Westland Jaycees in their mission to collect signed 3,000 Christmas cards to military personnel in Iraq and Afghanistan this holiday season. This is the fifth year the Jaycees have been at the mall the day after Thanksgiving to ask shoppers to stop and fill out one of the cards.

"We do it every Fourth of July and Christmas," said Bob Carty, an associate member of the organization. "We do anything we can do to help the community and help our soldiers."

The Dewyers, a mother-daughter team, were on the downslide of their shopping when they stopped by the Jaycees table to sign the cards. They had a "small game plan" and had started out at 5 a.m. had been to Radio Shack, Target, Sam's Club and Best Buy before stopping at the mall and at the card table.

"We knew what we wanted and knew what to look for," said Terri Dewyer, adding that "we're out here Christmas shopping and they're out there. It doesn't seem fair."

Also stopping to sign cards were Canton residents Lina Kapadia and Alexander Clark.

"We never really get to say thank you and one of the easiest ways is to fill out a card and thank them for what they do for us," said Kapadia.

"I can only imagine what they're going through with the rough terrain and being away from their families," added Clark. "The least we can do is sign a card and make their day a little bit better."

The Jaycees got help with the project from Men on the Move, Uht Funeral Home and Dr. Amanda Apfelblat and Michigan Chiropractic Specialists. The group is partnering with the Westland Veterans Association and the John Glenn Alumni Association which will include the cards in care packages they will be mailing out to the troops next week.

"That will save them the cost of postage," said Kenneth Mehl of the veterans association who was on hand to help at the booth.

Terri and Amanda Dewyer, both of Canton, fill out a holiday greeting card for soldiers serving overseas.

Alexander Clark of Canton paused during a shopping trip to Westland Shopping Center Friday to fill out a holiday greeting card for soldiers serving overseas.

Susan and John Suboch of Garden City also stopped by to sign cards.

"We try to support the troops and try to thank them," said Susan Suboch. "We have a son-in-law in the military, stationed in Georgia."

"I have two close friends over there," said John Suboch. "This hits close to home."

Carty was looking for ways to call attention to the table. Last year, the Jaycees were along the main east-west corridor of the mall. His plan was to have two members walk around with signs to attract attention.

"I'm making them the ring girls, they can walk around with the signs," he said. "Our response hasn't been too bad and it should pick up as the day goes on."

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

The tragedy is that less than half of those persons who are denied benefits file an appeal. Thus, many thousands of people who deserve benefits never receive them.

Those denied can appeal on their own, but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

Attorney J.B. Bieske has represented only Social Security Disability clients for over 20 years. That is the only type of law he practices. And, he personally meets with all clients and appears himself at all court hearings. Many large firms assign attorneys to young associate attorneys with much less experience.

In addition to practicing only Social Security Disability law Bieske has written a book for attorneys about the subject. He also has been interviewed on various radio and television programs and has given speeches to many groups.

Bieske's office staff consists of paralegals and secretaries who are also highly experienced in assisting him with Social Security Disability cases. And they are extremely helpful in answering questions with regard to the status of clients' cases and administrative procedure.

Attorney Bieske welcomes you to call him to determine if you may be eligible for these benefits. He offers free phone or office consultations. If Bieske represents you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

In a recent radio interview attorney Bieske explained that many people are not even aware that they are eligible for Social Security Disability benefits. These are not the same as Workers' Compensation benefits. It is possible to receive both benefits at the same time. If you have an illness or injury (whether or not related to your work), are under 65 and unable to work full-time you may be eligible. Social Security Disability benefits are based on your work record or your deceased spouse's work record (Widow's/Widower's benefits).

Bieske represents clients from all over the state of Michigan. Call him at 1-800-331-3530 for a FREE consultation if you have been denied. Or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social Security benefits call him for FREE advice.

Toy safety advice makes holidays happier for families

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Toy safety matters at the Doll Hospital & Toy Soldier Shop in Berkley. "We carry toys that are tried and true," said Jack Zagrodzki, vice president of marketing, of the store on 12 Mile, which has been in business 62 years. "It's been awhile," he added with pride. Lego and Playmobil toys remain popular with parents and grandparents who shop at the Doll Hospital, who often seek toys they played with as children, Zagrodzki said. "Kids love to build," he said. "They love to play. Our toys stand the test of time." The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reminds that safeguards put in place in recent years are making an impact and helping to restore confidence in the safety of toys in the marketplace. The new toy safeguards include: establishing the lowest lead content and lead paint limits in the world; setting limits on the use of certain phthalates; converting the voluntary toy standard into a mandatory standard; and working with Customs and Border Protection data systems to track shipments as they are in transit from other countries, increasing effectiveness in discovering dangerous products coming into U.S. ports. These safeguards, along with safety-conscious steps taken by many toy makers and sellers, have contributed to a decline in toy recalls since 2008. There were 44 toy recalls in fiscal year 2010. This is down from 50 recalls in 2009 and 172 recalls in 2008. Toy recalls related to lead in 2010 were down to three, which is far fewer than nine in 2009 and 19 in 2008. In addition to a decline in recalls, toy-related fatalities decreased in 2009. A new report released by CPSC notes that for 2009 CPSC received reports of 12 deaths to children under the age of 15, which is down from 24 toy-related fatalities in 2007 and 2008. Riding toys were associated with almost 60 percent of the reported deaths in 2009: three with tricycles, two with powered riding toys, and two with nonmotorized riding toys or unspecified riding toys. Most deaths were from drowning, motor vehicle accidents, or airway obstruction from a small toy or small part of a toy. While recalls and deaths have declined, new statistics from the CPSC show that toy-related injuries are increasing. In 2009, there were an estimated 186,000 emergency room-treated injuries related to toys with children younger than 15, which is up from 152,000 injuries in 2005. Frequently these injuries involved lacerations, contusions, and abrasions that most often occurred to a child's face and head. Many of the incidents were associated with, but not necessarily caused by, a toy. The Doll Hospital's Zagrodzki noted age-appropriate labeling for toys is now mandatory. "Parents, grandparents are a very good judge of what's appropriate" for the child, he said. His store is different from a big store like ToysRUs, including different manufacturers often based in Europe.

"Good quality, fun toys with an emphasis on child-powered," Zagrodzki said. It's not the toy playing the child, he said, but more what the child can do with the toy using his or her imagination. The CPSC recommends toy buyers:

- Always choose age appropriate toys. Zagrodzki noted there may be younger children in the home, something to watch for.
- Include safety gear whenever shopping for sports-related gifts or ride-on toys, including bicycles, skates, and scooters.
- Be aware of your child's surroundings during play. Young children should avoid playing with ride-on toys near automobile traffic, pools or ponds. They also should avoid playing in indoor areas associated with hazards such as kitchens and bathrooms and in rooms with corded window blinds.

Long-term care purchase calls for caution

Q: Dear Rick: I just read that MetLife is getting out of the long-term care area. I've had a MetLife policy for 10 years and I'm sure I cannot qualify for a policy with a different company. Do I have any options and what do you think I should do? I paid for 10 years under this policy.

A: MetLife did announce it would stop selling long-term care policies. However, the company also stated it will continue to service existing policies. MetLife has been one of the largest long-term care companies and it has over 500,000 policies in effect. As long as you continue to pay your premiums you will be covered.

I've done some research regarding the MetLife situation. At this point in time it does not appear that MetLife has any plans to sell its long-term care business. However, company assumes the original insurance company's obligations and there is very little effect to the policy holders.

Money Matters

One question many people may be asking is why MetLife and other companies have left the long-term care business. I think the simple answer to that is economics. People are living longer and these insurance companies are finding that more people are collecting on their policies. Therefore, these types of policies are not as profitable as they used to be. This is one of the reasons that many of the long-term care companies have asked for substantial premium increases. In fact, over the last few years some companies have increased premiums by as much as 40 percent.

I anticipate that many long-term care insurance companies are going to re-evaluate their policies and the business of long-term care in the near future. How many more companies decide to leave the long-term care business, I don't know, but I do know that premiums will rise in the near future.

I know that many people are sold long-term care policies with the idea that premiums cannot increase. Unfortunately, when agents tell you that, they are being less than honest with you. As far as I know there are only two types of long-term care policies where premiums cannot increase. These types of policies are a single-pay long-term care policy or a limited-pay long-term care policy with a rate guarantee.

A single-pay long-term care policy requires that you make one premium payment and that is it. As long as you live you are covered by that policy. Since you are only making one premium payment, there cannot be a rate increase.

The second type of policy that does not have a rate increase is a limited-pay long-term care policy. If these types of policies have a rate guarantee, then the premium cannot go up. Typically, in these types of policies, the policy holder pays a fixed premium for a fixed number of years. For example, a limited-pay long-term care policy with a rate guarantee ensures that if you pay the premium for five years, the policy is paid up and cannot have additional fees. Of course, in reality most people cannot afford a single premium long-term care policy or even a limited-pay long-term care policy. Most people that have long-term care policies have a standard pay policy where premiums can be increased.

For those who have had MetLife for a number of years, there are limited options at this point in time. However, for those who recently purchased a MetLife policy, it may make sense to shop around for a new company dedicated to the long-term care market place.

The long-term care insurance industry is going through a restructuring. How it will settle, I don't know. If you are thinking about purchasing a long-term care policy, proceed with caution.

Good luck!

SS. Simon and Jude Church hosts 2010 AIDS Day Prayer Service

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Being a welcoming community is something that parishioners at SS. Simon and Jude Catholic Church take pride in.

So when parishioner Henry Johnson suggested that the Westland church join with the Archdiocese of Detroit to host the 2010 AIDS Day Prayer Service on Wednesday, Dec. 1, the parish agreed.

"The reception from the parish has been very warm, I'm very proud of that," said Johnson.

The ecumenical prayer service has been held for about 15 years at various locations in the metro Detroit area but this is the first time it has been held at a western Wayne County church, said Michael Harning, director of the archdiocese department of parish life and services and the office for Catholic charities.

"I think it's to remember back to the days when people died so quickly of AIDS, to remember the loss to their family and friends and also the loss it has been to the community," said Harning. "A lot of family members come to this — it's a way to remember a loved one."

The prayer services will

SS. Simon and Jude parishioners Sharron Sedlarik (left), Alice Namovich, Henry Johnson, the Rev. Gerard Bechard and Michael Harning of the Archdiocese of Detroit hold a panel of the quilt remembering people who have died of AIDS. The Westland church is hosting the annual AIDS prayer day Dec. 1.

be held at 6:30 p.m. for all affected directly or indirectly by HIV/AIDS. The names of more than 420 Metro Detroit residents and others who have died of AIDS will be read as the tower bells ring every 11 seconds to represent the fact that someone in the world dies every 11 seconds from AIDS.

Three panels from the Michigan NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt will be on display for the prayer service and remain at the church through Dec. 5. The panels, each with a Michigan connection, have individual squares remembering someone who died of AIDS. The panels range from skillfully crafted with photographs and precise embroidery to simple but no less heartfelt messages written on white material with a black marker.

"I went to Washington, D.C., when the NAMES Project panels were on display. It's so large that it can no longer be displayed in one location," said Johnson. "Three or four years ago, I went to the prayer service at Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak."

Next year will mark 30 years since the first case of HIV/AIDS was diagnosed. In the early years, Johnson recalls patients often had a life expectancy of nine months after diagnosis.

"People are living longer now — people look at it as a chronic illness rather than a death sentence," said Johnson. "People are living with it and taking medications but it's not an easy path. It takes a great deal of commitment."

Along with the spiritual aspect of prayer and compassion, Johnson said he wanted the parish to make a strong statement on social justice for those who have HIV/AIDS.

"I felt strongly that people living with HIV/AIDS are discriminated against. They can lose their jobs — it carries a stigma," said Johnson. "This was an opportunity for a parish-wide event to educate on HIV/AIDS. It's a social justice issue that so many people don't have access to universal health care and access to the retroviral medications. They aren't available or they can't afford them."

Following the prayer service, the church will hold a reception with time for reflection. The 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4, Mass will include prayers acknowledging those who have died of HIV/AIDS and those living with the disease, along with their families and caregivers.

GIRLS BASKETBALL PREVIEW – PART 1

Chiefs won't rest on Final 4 laurels

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Breslin Center is still on their minds. But for those talented returnees from Canton's trip to the 2010 Class A girls basketball semifinals, there's a lot they'll have to plow through first for a return engagement next March.

Canton head coach Brian Samulski's Chiefs ran the table for the most part, with a 24-2 record. Most of the nucleus is back, including senior forwards Kari Schmitt, Kayla Bridges, guards Sara Schmitt, Melanie Pickert, CarolAnn Sexauer and sophomore point guard Robyn Mack.

"Getting back there (Breslin Center), we're far away from that right now," Samulski said. "It's a whole new year, it's a whole new team. You still got to take one day at a time, get better and compete every day."

Beginning with Tuesday's 7 p.m. game at Farmington Hills Mercy, the Chiefs will wind the season clock and hope it continues ticking right into March. Of course, a tough non-conference schedule and the competitive KLAA South won't make it a slam-dunk sequel.

"We expect each game to be competitive, that's what we hope for," Samulski said. "We want to be challenged and we want to be able to challenge people."

Opponents can expect that the Chiefs will play tough defense and play fundamentally sound basketball — the program's calling card going back to when Samulski was an assistant to longtime coach Bob Blohm.

"It's been the same philosophy ever since I've been here 10 years ago with Bob (Blohm)," Samulski said. "We want to defend, we want to rebound, we want to move the ball to the open player."

THE CAST RETURNS

The Chiefs have plenty of key returnees, such as forward Kari Schmitt (14 points, nine rebounds per game).

"She's such a worker, a grinder, and she leads by doing that on the floor," Samulski

PCS Penguins prevail

Alissa Novak scored two goals and assisted on another Tuesday as the Plymouth-Canton-Salem girls hockey team blanked the Walled Lake Wild, 5-0 at Canton Arctic Edge. The win upped PCS' record to 2-0-0.

Other Penguins to score included Amanda Heisler, Sarah Coleman and Jennifer Fedon, with Heisler Ellexus Montoya, Tory Campbell, Emily Bullock and shut-out-pitching goalie Cortny McAdoo also garnering assists.

Charity pucks

The sixth annual Canton Fire Fighters vs. Canton Coaches Charity Hockey Game is slated for 6 p.m. Dec. 4 at Arctic Edge Arena in Canton (located on Michigan Avenue). Fans will be asked to donate an unwrapped toy in addition to the $3 game admission.

The game is in memory of Joe Goebel, head coach of the 2001 Canton Crush who died in 2010. All funds raised at the game will be go to a scholarship fund for his sons, Logan and Brayden Goebel, while toys will be distributed to local charities via the Canton Firefighter Association No. 2289, a non-profit organization.

There also will be raffle gift baskets displayed all day and night at Arctic Edge, plus a 50/50 raffle and Chuck-a-Puck for Detroit Red Wings tickets.

Wildcats to have new look along with new coach

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Plymouth's new girls basketball coach, Bob deBear, is getting in on the ground floor and he likes the possibilities of moving on up along with his very inexperienced team.

"It's a huge challenge, but I'm excited about it," the 53-year-old deBear said Friday. "It's something I've always wanted to do. The timing is right, the place is right and they've got a good crop of girls coming in."

A coaching veteran who in recent years helmed the junior varsity boys team at Salem, deBear is welcoming several freshmen players with poten-increasing work duties).

"I think Plymouth was mostly a zone team last year and I'm a man-to-man guy," he said. "So right now I'm teaching these kids how to play man-to-man and it's taking a while."

"It's just going to be a slow process, but hopefully midway through the season everything's going to click."

UP FOR GRABS

Of the freshman quartet, Dillon might make the biggest impact simply because she can play point guard.

"This kid is lighting fast and loves to play defense," the coach said. "She loves to play the passing lanes, and if she gets the ball for a breakaway layup, she's going to finish it."

Robb is a 1-2 combo guard with excellent basketball savvy, while Woody is "a slasher and a scorer" who can take the ball inside or hit an outside jumper. "She's a pretty darn good player."

Cheston "can rebound without even jumping," but is still working on refining her still-raw skills.

There are so-called veterans who won't want to give up their court time, however.

Senior forward Taylor Birman, senior guard Alex Roberts, junior guards Alyssa Burris and Kate Watson and 6-0 junior forward Isis Haywood intend to make it tough for deBear to write out his lineup.

"I really haven't figured that out yet," deBear said about how he plans to start. "I'm going to make it competitive at practice every week, and whoever has the best week at practice is going to find themselves in the starting lineup."

Haywood already has made a positive impression.

"She's really stepped up her game," he said. "I'm very impressed, she's been in the gym all summer for her AAU team."

TIME WAS RIGHT

This is the first varsity head coaching job for deBear,

But the game only gets things going. The Stingrays, led by head coach and former U.S. Marine Dave Brass, will drop off presents and join the fun at Hermann's (in Plymouth) before getting involved in a Christmas auction.

Another hockey game for a good cause is 4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 11, at Arctic Edge between the Detroit Red Wings Alumni and Canton-based Detroit Moose. Proceeds from $10 tickets and $50 dinner/ticket packages will go to the Epilepsy Foundation of Michigan. For those choosing the dinner-with-a-game option, the dinner will be at Kickers, located across the parking lot from the rink.

MU teams top 25

Both the Madonna University men's baseball and women's softball teams are ranked in the top 25 in the 2011 NAIA Preseason Coaches' Poll.

Coach Greg Haeger's baseball squad, which returns 22 lettermen from a team that posted 46 wins, debuts at No. 11.

The Lady Crusaders, 43-12 a year ago and winners of three straight Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference regular season and tournament titles, area ranked No. 17.

Change of plans

What do high school hockey teams do when games are postponed? In the case of the Plymouth Wildcats Tuesday, they make good use of scheduled ice time at Compuware Arena by lacing them up for an impromptu practice. Here, the Wildcats huddle around head coach Paul Fassbender to go over some breakout plays. The postponed contest with Monroe St. Marys has been moved to Jan. 17.

BOYS BASKETBALL PREVIEW – PART 1

Even when you've been coaching for around three decades, as Salem varsity boys basketball coach Bob Brodie has, there's always something new coming down the pike to deal with.

Brodie, beginning his 27th season at the Salem helm, not only lost one player from the 2009-10 team to graduation (center Jake Peterson) but also lost five others who transferred out of the district.

No problem, just bring in a handful of players with plenty of potential and the Rocks could again be at least as competitive as they were last season (10-11).

"(We) have to mesh the new players with the returning players who saw a lot of game time last season," noted Brodie, whose team hosts Dexter on Tuesday in one final preseason tuneup before opening the 2010-11 season. "We had a good summer and I have seen improvement in strength, size and ability since last season."

Brodie has a nice core group back, led by 6-3 junior guard/forward Tyler Stewart, an all-conference performer in '09-10 who averaged 10 points per contest.

Another important piece of the Salem puzzle is 6-3 senior center Ethan Walsh. He will take over from Peterson and look to improve on last year's averages of eight points and seven rebounds per game.

He'll have help in the low post from 6-4 senior forward Zinovy Pelekh and 6-4 junior forward Chris Dierker, the latter who played well last year as a swing man.

Senior guards Josh Perrin and Jeff Cantin will likely start in the backcourt.

said. "As she does those kinds of things, the kids follow her. "She's shooting the ball better from the perimeter, she's harder to guard and she's quicker and stronger."

Another important player in the low post will be the 5-11 Bridges, who averaged nine points and six boards in '09-10.

"We're looking for her to continue to do the things she did last year," he said. "She can score inside, she's got great touch around the rim, great feel for what to do around the basket and she's a great rebounder."

More of a forward-guard is Sara Schmitt, another tireless worker who gets it done on defense while chipping in on offense when needed.

"Like her sister, she's a tremendous worker," Samulski said. "She's going to play more on the perimeter this year."

"She always guards the best player on the other team, the best inside player."

Pickert is a key player from defensive and leadership standpoints.

"Mel's our leader defensively, she guards the best players," he said. "She really gets after the ball and makes things hard on the other teams."

Third-year starter Mack (five points, three rebounds) brings it all together with supreme playmaking ability coupled with her aggressiveness and no-holds-barred style of play.

"She has just absolutely great vision, sees everything, makes unbelievable passes and she's picked up her ability to score, which is going to help her game," Samulski said. "And she's a solid defender. ... She makes plays for other people and does all the little things."

Canton's sixth player is Sexauer, a shooting guard who averaged six points per game last season. She will be called on to drain treys to jump-start the offense when points are hard to come by.

"CarolAnn gives us a great touch from the perimeter," he said. "Probably her best attribute is her ability to knock down the open shot."

"We'll look for her to do that, come in and screen, step to the open area and score from the perimeter for us."

Competing in practice to earn playing time are freshmen guards Rachel Winters and Paige Aresco and junior guards Jesse Lerner and Gabby Malec.

Samulski said sophomore center Kiara Schneider and freshman forward Shannon Perry will be dividing time between the junior varsity and varsity squads.

who also has been a coach in various roles with Canton and South Lyon, along with Central Middle School's girls team.

Circumstances, both with his family and Plymouth's coaching situation, opened up the possibility for deBear to finally take a head coaching job.

First, his daughter, Brett, graduated from Salem (where she had a sterling career with the Rocks girls basketball team).

"It was one of those deals where," he said, "when Brett was playing I just had to be a JV coach (at Salem) and then I could get out of the gym and go watch her play."

Then came word about Sturdivant's job promotion and deBear decided the time was right to move across campus. It didn't bother him to go from Salem to Plymouth.

"It's like everybody's family, Canton, Salem, Plymouth," deBear said. "I just think it's one big family and especially with basketball."

The Wildcats open with a game at 7 p.m. Tuesday at West Bloomfield and follow up with a home game at 7 p.m. Friday against Dexter.

Rocks dump Novi in opener

BY CHRIS JACKETT
CORRESPONDENT

Those who came out to Novi Ice Arena on Thanksgiving Eve saw Salem rally for a 5-4 win over the host Wildcats in a high-octane KLAAs opener.

"I knew that our guys have the capability," Salem head coach Ryan Ossenmacher said. "We work hard and never give up. Whether it was one shift or 30 shifts, everyone gave their all."

"It was as complete a win as we've had."

A three-goal surge in just 88 seconds turned the game around for Salem (1-0-0 entering Saturday night's game against Canton).

The start of the end for Novi came when sophomore center Jon Mencer was put in the penalty box for holding with 5:51 remaining.

Salem senior Michael Hochkins ripped a long shot and junior Austin Sartorius put in the rebound, cutting Novi's lead to 4-3 with 5:07 to go.

Then during a collision in front of the Novi goal 56 seconds later, Salem senior Connor Berlin managed to slip the puck into the net to tie the game 4-4 in an unassisted effort.

After another 34 seconds, with 3:39 to go in the game, Salem senior Ryan Quigley got a breakaway up the left side from the halfline and deked right across the goalmouth for a backhanded goal to give the Rocks a 5-4 lead.

"I think Salem did a great job working. We turned the puck over. In general, it was turnovers," Novi head coach Todd Krygier said. "Two of their last three goals were defensive turnovers at the blue line."

Novi's Zach Mohr crushed Salem junior Mark McGee into the glass next to the Salem bench with 90 seconds to go, but the display of power did nothing to even the score on the board, as the Rocks started their season off with a one-goal victory.

Salem turned it on at the end of the game, but Novi started stronger out of the gate — although Salem struck first when McGee slapped home a power play goal with 6:23 remaining in the first period.

Rocks' senior netminder Brandon Price (33 saves) came up big with 3:35 remaining in the first period when Novi senior Nolan Valleau glided in uncontested and deked to the side, but Price covered the puck up.

"He was outstanding. He kept us in the game. He made some really spectacular saves," Ossenmacher said.

Price wasn't fast enough with 42 seconds to go when Mohr got two chances at the top of the crease and put the puck in the back of the net after senior Michael Kruse moved it around behind the goal for a centering pass. Senior Joey Ferriss was also credited with an assist.

Novi took their first lead of the night (2-1) with 14 minutes to go in the second period when Ferriss put a rebound in from the left side following a save by Price on a shot by Mohr. Junior Kent Burnett set up Mohr's shot and was credited with an assist.

QUICK ANSWER

It only took Salem 41 seconds to tie the game 2-2. Sartorius took the puck up the left side on a shorthanded two-on-one 11 seconds into a penalty kill and ripped a shot wide left of the goal from the left circle.

Sartorius followed his shot as it bounced off the back boards, the left outside of the net and into the left edge of the crease for a tap shot into the goal before Novi senior netminder Michael Pesendorfer (25 saves) could backpedal from the top of the crease.

Price came up time after time to keep Salem in the game, but was called for delay of game with 4:47 remaining when he knocked the net out of place during a Novi shot attempt.

During the ensuing penalty play, Price nearly got the Rocks through unscathed.

But then Novi junior Curtis Herzog skated across the middle to screen Price during a shot by junior Dylan Shepard, and the rebound came right to Herzog, who put it in the back of the net from the right side of the crease with 2:57 to go in the period to restore Novi's lead at 3-2.

Ferriss and Novi sophomore Jon Mencer had two quality chances apiece, but Price continued coming up huge for Salem until Valleau got what appeared to be the insurance goal with 14:26 to go in the game.

Sixteen seconds into a power play, Valleau slid a one-timed slap shot between Price's left foot and the right goal post for a 4-2 lead when he received a long pass from the far faceoff circle.

"You score three to four goals and should win hockey games," Krygier said. "Sometimes you win games and you take it for granted."

Hawks rally for 13th crown

BY DAN O'MEARA
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

FOOTBALL FINALS

Farmington Harrison is once again the place where champions are made and success is traditional.

The Hawks were just what their team motto claims Friday afternoon when they rallied to defeat Lowell and win the Division 2 football crown at Ford Field, 38-28.

Harrison added to its great tradition by capturing a record 13th state championship — the first since 2001 — while making its 17th final-game appearance.

"I really wanted these kids to get one because they've been such a joy to coach," John Herrington, the only head football coach the Hawks have had in their 41-year history, said. "They're hard workers, but a lot of teams work hard and don't get here. They just have great chemistry and love to play football — and I'm very happy for them. As far as the 13th, that's nice; that's good for us."

The Hawks (14-0) converted turnovers on four consecutive Lowell possessions into 28 unanswered points to overcome a 21-10 deficit in the second half.

The comeback started with an interception by Lamarr Marshall at the Lowell 45-yard line. With the help of 20 yards in penalties against the Red Arrows, the Hawks got back in the game with Tommy Vento's 10-yard touchdown pass to Aaron Burbridge.

Senior linebacker Derek Head hit Lowell quarterback Gabe Dean and caused a fumble that was recovered by senior Mike Race at midfield.

"I don't remember knocking it out," said Head, who also made a big interception later. "All I remember is not giving up. Since the first interception, this was meant to be. We can't give up; we have to keep going — whatever it takes."

"We came this far; we're not turning back. We need to step it up right now and do what we need to do to win," so the defense was a big aspect of winning."

Vento scored on a 1-yard sneak seven plays later and passed to Burbridge for the two-point conversion to give Harrison a 24-21 lead.

The Hawks got another break when the kickoff hit a Lowell player and Ken Russ recovered the loose ball at the Harrison 49.

"I had just said to (assistant coach) Mill (Coleman), 'We need a fumble here and they fumbled; I couldn't believe it,'" Herrington said. "We got it and took it in."

"The offense stepped up at the end to make the plays. In the first half, we were pretty much stymied. We were having trouble getting the ball out. We got it out too soon and dropped a couple (passes). Then, we started to play better after that."

Vento's last touchdown pass of his high school career was a 56-yard strike to his brother, junior Jake Vento, who caught the pass on the run as he sprinted down the left sideline.

HAWKS SHOW RESOLVE

"I didn't know when we were going to pick it up," Tommy Vento, who was 19-of-32 passing for 310 yards, said. "This team has a lot of heart, and it was just a matter of time before we did. I was hoping it wouldn't be too late. Obviously, it wasn't."

Head intercepted a Dean pass on second down, and the Hawks, protecting a 31-21 lead and now working the clock, had Austin Hunter carry the ball five plays in a row, taking a 17-point lead with his 11-yard run and Brandon Buckner's last PAT with 7:31 remaining.

"They pounded us pretty good in the first half," Head said. "We knew what we had to do. We had to step it up. We've been working for this all winter, since last year when we lost to Southfield. So we just stepped it up and did what we had to do."

The Red Arrows (11-3), who were the defending champions seeking their fourth state title since 2002, added a late score (27-yard pass to Blake Lyman) against a Harrison defense in a prevent mode, but the Hawks were able to run out the clock and seal the victory.

Harrison scored off the opening kickoff with Tommy Vento passing 26 yards to Burbridge on a fade route to the back corner of the end zone for a quick, 7-0 lead.

RED ARROWS TAKE CHARGE

Lowell was in control the rest of the half, making big plays on third and fourth downs and containing the Harrison offense with a six- and sometimes seven-man rush.

Following a 55-yard pass from Dean to Jacob Meyer to the Harrison 3, the Red Arrows tied the score and later took the lead with a pair of 3-yard runs by Dean.

Buckner, who missed from 42 yards between the Lowell touchdowns, boosted a 22-yard field goal to put Harrison within four at halftime, 14-10.

The Red Arrows scored again in six plays after taking the second-half kickoff. After a 32-yard run by Leighton Watson to the Harrison 22 on a fourth-and-inches play, Dean scored again on a 15-yard option keep.

"That was probably the first time this year I looked into my players' eyes and they were a little bit stunned, because they've been so confident all year," Herrington said. "When the game changed, it came right back to them."

Whalers hit the spot with 3-0 triumph

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Just like Thanksgiving dinner, a lot of ingredients came together Wednesday night to produce a tasty Plymouth Whalers' victory at Compuware Arena.

The Whalers made it three straight victories with their 3-0 victory on Thanksgiving Eve over first-place Saginaw, featuring the 37-save performance by goalie Scott Wedgewood as the main course.

But don't forget about everything else dished out by Plymouth, now 12-9-1-1 and starting to jell. There were OHL HOCKEY side dishes a plenty — relentless checking, crisp passing, strong transitional play, spiced up by creativity around the Spirit goal.

"We came out with a good attitude, coming off two big wins last weekend," said Wedgewood, who made 17 saves in the third period to complete his second career shutout. "We wanted to keep it rolling. And beating Saginaw ... it definitely means we can play with anyone in this league."

Wedgewood credited his defense for opening up the lanes so he could track shots.

Blueliners Austin Levi (Farmington Hills) and Beau Schmitz also helped him out by successfully shadowing Saginaw's high-scoring Brandon Saad (whose 10-game scoring streak ended).

But Wedgewood also withstood a barrage of shots as Saginaw (17-5-2-1) tried to chip away at deficits of 2-0 after two periods and 3-0 with 11:37 remaining — the lead padded on a highlight-reel goal by center and Farmington Hills native Alex Alcardi.

In one shift, the goalie stoned defenseman and Canton native Joe Underwood on a 2-on-1 rush and then turned aside an in-close bid by winger Josh Shalla.

"He made all the big saves when he needed to," said Whalers' head coach Mike Vellucci. "In the third period, when we got up we kind of sat back a little bit and sat on our heels. We've got to keep being aggressive. But yeah, he played very good."

GETTING BETTER

So did the rest of the team in fighting off the Spirit, second in the entire Ontario Hockey League in points.

"I thought we played well and I think it's starting to come together for us a little bit," Vellucci said. "We had so many new guys this year and it takes a while to get our system in place and then (to) understand it."

"We had a lot of returning guys that already know the system. Our goal is to get better every game and every practice. It looks like we're doing that right now."

After a hard-fought, scoreless first period before the Compuware crowd of 2,435, Plymouth took over in the second (when they outshot Saginaw 18-10).

The Whalers needed just 2:26 to get a puck behind goalie Mavric Parks, who made several spectacular stops among his 34 saves.

FIRST-TEAM

Connor Furgason, Canton: Whenever the state-ranked Canton soccer team needed a big play on the defensive end of the pitch, more often than not it was Furgason right in the middle of it.

For example, the junior defender made a goal-saving play at the beginning of the Division 1 state semifinal against East Kentwood, clearing the ball from the goal line to keep the contest scoreless.

"Connor was a crucial part to our team this year," coach George Tomasso said. "He performed above what I would ask of a player like him the whole season. And he came up huge through playoffs."

Furgason blocked 25 shots combined in the regional semifinals and finals and scored the game-winning goal in the semis. "He was everywhere," Tomasso said.

Furgason, who chipped in offensively with five goals and seven assists, earned all-KLAA, all-district and all-state (second team) accolades.

"He shows every game that he can play at the next level," Tomasso said. "I'm really fortunate to have him coming back for one more year."

Zack Cooney, Stevenson: The senior captain, who recorded three goals and three assists, made all-KLAA, all-district, all-region, all-state for the Spartans. The central defender also plays for the Michigan Wolves Academy, which captured a national club championship title in 2009. He is a two-time All-Observer selection.

"Zack is an outstanding all-around player, and he will be sorely missed by the Stevenson program," coach Lars Richters said. "He offers a blend of ability, intelligence, and 'old-school' work ethic. He was the team's leader by example and often vocally."

"He will play in college, but has not made a commitment yet," Charlie Swingle, Stevenson: The senior made all-KLAA and all-district for the Spartans while chipping in with one goal and three assists.

"Charlie was our hardest tackler, and for two years now, he has been a back line anchor for the team," Richters said. "He is a fierce competitor who never backs down from a challenge and who is often dominant in the air."

"We will miss Charlie a great deal — for his consistency, for his competitiveness, and for his ability to make game-changing plays."

Alex Clisham, N. Farmington: The senior defender was a leader on the North Farmington defense that allowed only 16 goals in 20 games for an average of 0.8. Clisham also participated in the attack and all set pieces, scoring four goals and having two assists.

"Alex anchored the center of our back line and ran the defense that (performed so well) against quality opposition," coach Mike Horner said. "Alex is extremely strong in the air and won balls all season with his attacking header play."

"He is a 4.0 student and demonstrated his savvy and smarts against all of our opponents. Alex was one of our captains and a member of the all-district and all-division teams. He is also an OAA scholar-athlete and an all-state academic team member."

Eric Weberman, N. Farmington: A senior and two-year captain, Weberman led the Raiders to the OAA White Division championship — their first of any sort in the 31-year history of the program. The Raiders, who were 10-1-1 in the division, set a school record for single-season victories with a 15-4-1 record, which included a district win over Northville.

Weberman, who anchored the center of the North formation, is adept at scoring as well as setting up teammates to score. He had 14 goals and seven assists this year. Weberman, who earned a full scholarship to Northwestern University, made the Division 1 all-state first team this year and the second team last year.

"Eric was our go-to player all season," coach Mike Horner said. "He is a dedicated and humble player who is willing to play anywhere and do anything for the good of the team."

Bobby Budlong, Canton: The Chiefs as a team could bring it on offense as well as defense. And nobody could bring it better or more often than Budlong, a gifted playmaker and scorer who played with the poise of a senior.

"Bobby is a lethal goal scorer," Tomasso said. "He scored some huge goals over the season and he's a tremendous playmaker. He creates a lot of opportunities for others."

Budlong led the state-ranked Chiefs with 17 goals and 17 assists. He was named to the all-KLAA and all-district teams and was selected to the all-state second team.

He also came through in the clutch for the Chiefs. In the KLAA Kensington Championship game against Novi, he scored twice and assisted on two others in a 5-1 rout.

Stephen Foster, Churchill: The senior captain finished the year with six goals and nine assists as primarily an outside midfielder.

"Stephen was our best player and leader," Churchill coach Reid Friedrichs said of the all-KLAA selection. "He only came off the field once the entire season for a total of about 15 minutes — unreal. A machine he was and extremely athletic and hard-working."

Andrew Yoder, Plymouth: The senior midfielder played well enough to receive all-state honorable mention honors along with making the all-KLAA team, with nine goals and eight assists while leading the Wildcats to a strong 8-2-0 record in the KLAA South.

The co-captain tallied two goals against cross-campus Salem and helped Plymouth defeat division winner Canton by a 3-0 score.

"Andrew's been a four-year varsity player for us and he really had a great senior year," noted coach Jeff Neschich. "He was our most consistent and most dangerous player all season."

Neschich added that Yoder's leadership played a key role in the team's excellent season.

Dan Martin, Salem: The Rocks had a bit of a down year, but not Martin, who parlayed speed and creativity to score a team-leading 10 goals.

Martin earned third-team all-state and all-KLAA honors for his play this season. "Dan is one of the fastest players in the state and is a stand-out track star," said coach Ed McCarthy. "He has a great combination of speed and toughness."

Martin wrapped up an outstanding prep soccer career, of which the high point was being "instrumental in our run to the state semifinals in 2009 as a key starter."

Zach Schulz, Farmington: A senior captain and three-year varsity player, Schulz led his team to a 13-7-1 record. He played every position but goalie for the Falcons, who were 7-4-1 in the OAA White Division.

"He was the top player on our team this year," coach Luke Juncaj said. "He had played well in the past, but he played especially well this year and was the key player for us in a lot of close games.

"In the Churchill game, Zach was able to beat a few defenders and score a tremendous goal. In the Andover game, Zach went back and played defense, and we were able to stop them and win the game, 1-0.

"He was one of the most consistent players on the team. He showed up each and every game. Without him, we would not have been the team we were."

Nick Russ, Plymouth: Injuries didn't slow the senior co-captain. He led the Wildcats with 12 goals and six assists and was named to the all-KLAA team.

His contributions were one of the main reasons for what was, according to Neschich, the best season in the history of Plymouth boys soccer.

"Nick's been our top forward for the past two years," Neschich said. "He scored a lot of big goals over the past two seasons. He battled through a lot of injuries this year, he probably would have put up twice as many (goals) as he did."

Ardit Dushkaj, Clarenceville: The senior led the area in scoring with 33 goals and nine assists in just 15 matches. Six times he notched hat tricks.

In just two seasons at Clarenceville after transferring in his junior year, Dushkaj racked up 59 goals and 15 assists in 59 appearances.

"It is hard to get players like Ardit the accolades they deserve when we have no conference affiliation, but he is an extremely talented player who will play at the next level," Clarenceville coach Trevor Johnson said. "In fact, I have been told by many opposing coaches that they game-plan primarily around him and that he is the finest all-around player they had seen all year."

Frances Mensah, Redford Union: The Panthers senior forward took a different path toward achieving success this season, spreading the wealth a little more by getting teammates involved in the offense. Always a prolific goalscorer, Mensah followed up his 30-goal, 19-assist junior campaign with 25 goals and 20 assists this season for the 8-7-4 Panthers.

"In the past he was our go-to guy, but I wanted him to distribute the ball more this year," RU head coach Jim Gibbs said of his four-year varsity performer. "He was a little apprehensive at first being the goalscorer all this time, but once he figured out we had other guys who could score goals it worked out pretty well."

Mitch Posuniak, Canton: The hard-nosed junior provided a prime example of how persistent and relentless he can be when he scored the tying goal for the Chiefs in the D1 state semifinal against East Kentwood.

Posuniak, who scored 11 goals and assisted on five this year, hit the post but stayed with it to jam the rebound into the goal.

There were plenty of other plays just like that during the 2010 season as Posuniak captured all-KLAA and all-district honors (and all-state honorable mention) for his excellent all-around performance.

"Mitch overcame adversity this year," Tomasso said. "He got injured, sat out a few games, and still managed to score 11 goals on the season."

"He's just a blue-collar athlete and he has very good skills. He runs hard, he runs fast and he's very solid on the ball. He never quits."

COACH OF THE YEAR

George Tomasso, Canton: Under the guidance of the veteran coach, who was goalkeeper for Canton's 1994 state championship team, this year's Chiefs were one overtime goal away from reaching the D1 finals.

Tomasso piloted the squad to a big season, including a 20-4-2 record, featuring titles in the KLAA South Division and Kensington Conference.

But in the playoffs, the Chiefs really made some noise. They took care of districts and regionals before falling 1-0 to eventual state champ East Kentwood in the semifinals.

"I have to give a lot of credit to my coaching staff and the players on the field," said Tomasso about the major team success enjoyed in 2010. "Without them, I wouldn't have been able to receive this honor."

"And I feel an honor like this goes to the whole team, not just one coach."

According to Tomasso, the team's excellent attitude augmented on-field abilities to yield such a memorable season. "I felt we were in a good place every game and that we stayed positive," he said. "That contributed a lot to our success."

Following the season-ending loss to East Kentwood, Tomasso said the Chiefs "haven't had a run like this since '98. Last year, when they were freshmen, sophomores and juniors they got to the regional final and they got one step further."

"Our seniors had a great run this year, and this is great experience" for those players who will be back in 2011.

PC Steelers win Super Bowl games

There's no denying that the Plymouth-Canton Steelers youth football program has enjoyed a banner season.

In the recent WSJFL Junior Varsity Super Bowl, the Steelers earned a 21-19 victory over the Ypsilanti Braves. The freshmen Steelers also won their title showdown, 33-13 over the Canton Lions.

In the JV contest, the Steelers did not give up when trailing against the Braves and it paid off. The two teams played a hard-hitting game, but PCS turned out to play just a tad better at the line of scrimmage.

The freshmen Steelers finished 10-0 after taking down the Lions, piloted by quarterback Ryan Young. Big guns included Lou Baechler — who scored on TD runs of 60 and two yards — Rashawn Allen (1 TD, extra point), Ben Wright (1 TD) and Mason Phillips (1 TD). Also, defensive lineman Danny Lanava made several crucial tackles and recovered a fumble that helped the Steelers prevail.

The Steelers' Super Bowl triumphs followed winning the coveted "Black & Blue Trophy" thanks to defeating the Canton Lions on Oct. 31. The freshmen and junior varsity teams carried the day, as the best 2 of 3 in the Steelers-Lions tripleheader brought home the hardware. (It was incorrectly reported in the Nov. 11 Observer that the Lions won the trophy. The Lions did win the varsity game, however.)

To your health: Year-round sun protection safeguards skin

The temperatures have dropped and clouds have hidden the sun, but that doesn't mean it's safe to forego skin protection regimens during the winter. The amount of ultraviolet (UV) solar radiation that reaches earth remains very strong, even during cooler weather.

Although ultraviolet B (UVB) rays, the main cause of sunburn, are the strongest in the summer, ultraviolet A (UVA) rays remain constant throughout the year. UVA rays account for up to 95 percent of the UV radiation reaching the Earth's surface. Although they are less intense than UVB, UVA rays are 30 to 50 times more prevalent, and go through glass, making sun protection necessary indoors as well as out.

"Our knowledge of the dangers associated with the sun's longer-wave UVA rays has grown significantly over the last few decades," said Dr. Perry Robins, president of The Skin Cancer Foundation. "We now know that UVA radiation can penetrate windows to reach the skin, accelerating skin aging."

The need for sun protection indoors was reinforced in a recent report published in Clinical Interventions in Aging. Eight women and two men had significantly more wrinkles, brown spots, and sagging skin on one side of the face, even though they worked indoors. The side of the subjects' faces that was regularly closer to a window exhibited more signs of sun damage ("asymmetrical facial damage"), and UVA rays are believed to be the culprit. While both UVA and UVB rays can harm the skin and lead to skin cancers, UVB is blocked by glass. However, at least 50 percent of UVA radiation can pass through windows. Using a broad-spectrum sunscreen with an SPF of 15 or higher and one or more of these UVA-protective ingredients — avobenzone, ecamsule, oxybenzone, titanium dioxide, and zinc oxide — along with window film, which can be applied to home, office and car windows, blocks almost all UVA and UVB radiation.

The Skin Cancer Foundation offers

these tips for safeguarding skin during winter:

- Use a broad-spectrum sunscreen with an SPF of 30 when spending extended time outdoors, and don't forget areas such as underneath the nose and chin. Snow reflects up to 80 percent of the sun's UV light, so the rays hit you twice, further increasing your risk of skin cancer and premature aging.

- Wear protective clothing such as a broad-brimmed hat, gloves and UV-blocking sunglasses with wrap-around or large frames.

- Reapply sunscreen every two hours, and immediately after sweating or significant exposure to wind and snow which can wear away sunscreen. Activities such as skiing and snowboarding call for just as much sunscreen as you would use at the beach, since UV exposure increases 8 to 10 percent with every 1,000 feet above sea level.

- Remember to be mindful of time spent in the sun, regardless of the season. Sun protection is a part of a healthy lifestyle.

The Skin Cancer Foundation is the only global organization solely devoted to the prevention, detection and treatment of skin cancer. The mission of the Foundation is to decrease the incidence of skin cancer through public and professional education and research. ## See warm decor, 'Up North' setting at Christmas walk

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

The first time Wendy and Ed Crowley's home was on the Livonia Christmas Walk, it not only drew ticket-holders, but homeowners as well. "Eddy said a lady told him her house was on the walk, but 'everyone is coming in and telling me to go to yours,'" Wendy recalled, adding that the woman had to see what all the fuss was about.

"It's a very different kind of house. A lot of people are surprised there's a house like this in Livonia. You don't even know it's here in the summer."

Designed as a solar structure, set amid woods teaming with wildlife, next to a creek, the 22-year-old house is of post and beam construction and has a tongue and groove fir ceiling. It's the kind of framing found often in a log cabin.

The public will get another chance to see inside the home during this year's walk on Saturday, Dec. 4. It's one of several that will be decorated for Christmas, along with the Hill House at Greenmead's Historic Village. Proceeds go to Friends of Greenmead for the restoration and preservation of the structures on the corner of Newburgh and Eight Mile.

Wendy Crowley hopes the walk not only draws ticket-holders but a few prospective buyers, as well.

"I thought it would be good advertising," she said, explaining that she volunteered to participate this year. The couple plans to sell the house and move closer to their daughter and her family in Washington because Ed has Parkinson's disease.

The stockings are hung on the balcony.

Santas decorate the kitchen.

They also have a son and grandchildren in Alaska.

LEAVING THE STATE

"I'm going to miss this area very much," Wendy said, adding that they also will sell property they own in Saugatuck. "I'm going to miss Michigan because I like the seasons and I like Lake Michigan. But it will be better weather and we have three grandchildren out there."

Wendy, who works as a dental hygienist, is originally from Grand Rapids and Ed is from Jackson. They lived in Detroit after they were married and moved to a small bungalow in Livonia. When they decided to build the house of their dreams it was easy for them to serve as general contractors. Ed is a former construction field supervisor for Skanska who had a part in building the Livonia Recreational Center, the Ford Community and Performing Arts Center in Dearborn and other local buildings.

Wendy identified the layout of the house as an "envelope" design with no major living area on an outside wall. Large windows on the south side of the house, which also includes a sun-room where she stations the family Christmas tree, brings in heat and light, creating a passive solar environment.

The walk-out basement includes a woodburning stove, living area and basement with a bedroom set from Wendy's great-great grandmother.

throughout the house as "country," with build-in shelves and some furniture handcrafted by her husband. He culled some pieces from job sites and renovated them, sometimes adding twigs and branches.

"On the stairwell we have a shelf with a duck collection on it. It's actually a printer's box that used to have type in it. I think it was from one of Ed's jobs," Wendy said.

A pewter nativity scene stands on furniture that was used to hold mail at Wayne State University.

"When Eddy renovated the chemistry building at Wayne State, it was going to be thrown out. I liked it and said why not use it for magazines."

And old kitchen hutch from her family's centennial farm displays a "hodge podge" collection of Santas. One is made from a screwdriver; another is of green glass.

Visitors will see one of Wendy's handmade stained glass sun catchers hanging from a hutch on the sun porch. She crafted the stained glass panels hanging at the south windows, too.

A collection of snowmen decorate tables in the living room and perch along beams near the ceiling. Hand-knitted stockings also decorate a deck on the second floor.

"I hope people look up,"

Wendy said "You have to look up to see them."

Both Wendy and Ed will be at home during the walk. She missed the event in 1994 because she had to work. She's looking forward to it this time.

"I want to be there. And Eddy enjoyed it last year. He loves to talk about the house."

Shop safely on 'Cyber Monday,' watch for Internet predators

Cyber Monday — the Monday after Thanksgiving — means avoiding the crowds, but it also opens the buyer up to attacks from scammers and hackers.

"The convenience and ease of shopping online has replaced the hassle of going to the store for many people, but online shopping has its own set of risks," said Patrick Bennett, Director of Community Relations with the Better Business Bureau (BBB) Serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

"Taking steps to avoid the fraud online will result in a much happier holiday for everyone — except, of course, for scammers and hackers."

Following are the top 10 tips to help holiday shoppers fight unscrupulous online retailers, scammers and hackers:

1. Protect your computer — A computer should always have the most recent updates installed for spam filters, anti-virus and anti-spyware software and a secure firewall.

2. Shop on trustworthy Web sites — Shoppers should start with Better Business Bureau to check on the seller's reputation and record for customer satisfaction. Always look for the BBB seal and other widely-recognized "Trustmark's" on retailer Web sites and click on the seals to confirm that they are valid.

3. Protect your personal information — The Better Business Bureau recommends taking the time to read the site's privacy policy and understand what personal information is being requested and how it will be used. If there isn't one posted, it should be taken as a red flag that personal information may be sold to others without permission.

4. Beware of deals that sound too good to be true — Offers on Web sites and in unsolicited e-mails can often sound too good to be true, especially extremely low prices on hard-to-get items. Consumers should always go with their instincts and not be afraid to pass up a "deal" that might cost them dearly in the end.

5. Beware of phishing — Legitimate businesses do not send e-mails claiming problems with an order or an account to lure the "buyer" into revealing financial information. If a consumer receives such an e-mail, BBB recommends picking up the phone and calling the contact number on the Web site where the purchase was made to confirm that there really is a problem with the transaction.

6. Confirm your online purchase is secure — Shoppers should always look in the address box for the "s" in https:// and in the lower-right corner for the "lock" symbol before paying. If there are any doubts about a site, BBB recommends right-clicking anywhere on the page and select "Properties." This will let you see the real URL (Web site address) and the dialog box will reveal if the site is not encrypted.

7. Pay with a credit card — It's best to use a credit card, because under federal law, the shopper can dispute the charges if he or she doesn't receive the item. Shoppers also have dispute rights if there are unauthorized charges on their credit card, and many card issuers have "zero liability" policies under which the card holder pays nothing if someone steals the credit card number and uses it. Never wire money.

8. Keep documentation of your order — After completing the online order process, there may be a final confirmation page or the shopper might receive confirmation by e-mail. BBB recommends saving a copy of the Web page and any e-mails for future reference and as a record of the purchase.

9. Check your credit card statements often — Don't wait for paper statements; BBB recommends consumers check their credit card statements for suspicious activity by either calling credit card companies or by checking statements online regularly.

10. Know your rights — Federal law requires that orders made by mail, phone or online be shipped by the date promised or, if no delivery time was stated, within 30 days. If the goods aren't shipped on time, the shopper can cancel and demand a refund. There is no general three-day cancellation right, but consumers do have the right to reject merchandise if it's defective or was misrepresented. Otherwise, it's the company's policies that determine if the shopper can cancel the purchase and receive a refund or credit.

For more advice on staying safe online this holiday season, and to see reports on thousands of online retailers, go to <http://easternmichigan.bbb.org/Consumer-Tips/>.

INFLAMMATION OR IMPAIRMENT

A patient with rheumatoid arthritis may have gnarled and deformed hands. A person talking to the patient may be startled that the patient takes on no medication to treat those hands. A physician would not be so surprised.

The reason is that a doctor caring for a patient with rheumatoid arthritis makes a distinction between joint inflammation and impairment.

If joint deformity comes from inflammation, then adding medication to the patient's regimen is in order. If the hand's appearance results from changes caused by weakened ligaments, lost muscle and destroyed cartilage, then no medication will reverse the hand deformities.

No laboratory test can determine if the hands are inflamed or irreversibly deformed. The doctor must examine the hands with the aim of finding which joints are enlarged from swelling and which joints are off their proper position because of changes in alignment.

X-rays of the hands may help. Even though x-rays cannot show tendons or ligaments, the way the bones line up on the joints give an indication of the extent to which these supporting structures are functioning properly.

Once the doctor determines that the pain and hand deformities come from the effect of wear and strain, then he needs to explain to the patient that more medication will not help the hands. Further medication only runs the risk of unwanted side effects and the expense of co-pays and deductibles.

Instead of medication, the patient needs moderation, that is, using the hands only for what the hands can bear to do. Also, the patient needs to see an occupational therapist at least once to learn what aids for daily living would give assistance.

Loving local hands give warm quilts to Detroit mission

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Women at Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton were glad to make quilts for the Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries.

"We started in January with the women's Bible study for their mission project," said Charlene Jones of Canton, who headed up the first-time project with fellow church member Cheryl Caldwell.

The women worked sporadically on the colorful quilts, all the same size, and began weekly sessions in June, said Jones, a registered nurse with Primary Pediatrics in Ann Arbor.

"We gained friendship and fellowship," Jones said. "People said it's been healing."

The 40 quilts went to the Genesis portion of the Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries, which serves women and children.

"Winter is here," said Karen Love, vice president of public relations for the Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries. "You can't be warm enough. We're very grateful for the donation. I think that's a wonderful outreach for that church," the Downriver resident and retired Michigan Chronicle staffer added.

Genesis has a program for teen moms, she said, including expectant moms, with a goal of finishing school. There's also Genesis House II and III for women and children.

Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries gets year-round donations of clothing, furniture, food and other items, said Love. You can find out more at www.drmm.org or by calling (313) 993-4700. There are opportunities for youth groups and others to volunteer year-round, she added.

The women at Geneva have 20 additional quilt kits to finish. "We'll start those in the new year," Jones said.

MANY HANDS

Some Geneva women sewed at home, others cut fabric at the church on Sheldon. Plymouth YMCA youth volunteers helped, as did Sunday schoolers in elementary grades who helped to tie knots.

The knots are tied three times to represent the Trinity of Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

Jones said about 50 people helped "that have had their hands touching the quilts." The core group of women was about 10.

Jones' home church in Toledo, where she grew up, had a woman start a similar project in memory of her mother who had a lot of fabric to use. The Geneva women remembered their mothers while working on the quilts, made to be washable, durable and warm.

WORKING TOGETHER

Geneva member Angie Stark of Canton was able to help one evening. "It was nice working with the other women, the fellowship," said Stark, a Ford employee in Dearborn and mom to three. "Plus knowing you were making something for someone who was homeless."

Stark helped with pinning, tying of knots and matching colors.

The quilts were displayed in the Geneva sanctuary for Sunday, Nov. 21, worship. "I thought it was great," said the Rev. Bryan Smith of Canton, Geneva pastor. He noted missions don't often get new items.

"It hopefully conveys a sense of people being valued and cared about," Smith said.

The DRMM's Love said they serve 3,500 meals a day, touching over 1,400 people Linda Prince (from left), Charlene Jones, Cheryl Caldwell and Marilyn Horen are proud of the quilts they created for Detroit Rescue Mission use. The women of Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton enjoyed both the Christian service aspect and the friendship.

daily. "There is a great need," she said, not only in Detroit but also in the suburbs. "The people of the Detroit area are very generous even in these economic times."

"It couldn't come at a better time," Love said of the church donation. "The need in the city of Detroit is high."

Helen Livingston of Farmington Hills will celebrate her 100th birthday next month.

Farmington Hills resident celebrates 100 years

Helen Livingston, currently a resident of Baptist Manor in Farmington Hills, will celebrate her 100th birthday on Dec. 27, 2010.

Family and friends will gather with her for a celebration at Family Buggy Restaurant in Farmington Hills.

Helen Kerruish was born in 1910 in Webster Groves, Miss. With her parents and two brothers, she moved to Michigan where she graduated from Northwestern High School in Detroit and attended the University of Michigan.

She met her husband, Norman Livingston, through her good friend and future cousin, Doris Fedus. Helen and Norman were married in 1937 and eventually had five sons: Kenneth (Mary Sue) of Troy; Robert (Peggy) of Houston, Texas; the late James Livingston; John (Christine) of West Bloomfield; and William (Carol) of Farmington Hills.

Sadly, Norman died before their youngest son, William, was born. As a widow, Helen raised the five boys on her own, working as a school secretary in Detroit. Middle son, James, died in the Vietnam War, but the other sons went on to earn graduate college degrees.

Helen is the proud grandmother of David, Megan, Eric, Joel, Ian, Kim, and Jennifer. She also has five great-grandchildren: Chase, Adam, Elijah, Jonah, and Joshua.

With so many athletic males in the family, she always has been an avid sports fan. A "night owl," she also enjoys playing card games, especially in the evenings. After retirement, she had the luxury of time to volunteer and to travel extensively, both domestically and abroad.

She continues to be an avid reader of the New York Times and library books, works crossword puzzles daily and enjoys socializing with friends over cards and games.

The secret to her longevity? Helen jokingly says it's dark chocolate and potato chips.

9 Interview Questions You Should Be Asking

Selena Dehne, JIST Publishing

Did you know that the colors you like and dislike indicate your "Career Enjoyment Factor," or your personality's best career path? Consider these sometimes overlooked facts:

1. When you love what you do, you do a better job and get promoted.
2. Employers hire those who they believe will enjoy the day-to-day tasks. Don't forget, their goal is to reduce expensive turnover and improve quality.

1. "What Are You Seeking In The Ideal Candidate For This Position?"

This question allows you to counter by adding any particular skills or qualities you have left out in the interview, but which the employer thinks are important.

2. "How Would You Describe Your Management Style?"

When you are being interviewed by a hiring manager to whom you would report, this is a great question for gathering insight into whether you might get along.

3. "Can You Give Me Some Examples Of The Types Of Projects I May Be Working On?"

If the job description was a bit vague on the types of assignments you would be doing or if you are otherwise unclear on this point, this question is essential to ask.

4. "What Do You Like Best About Working For This Organization?"

This question not only gives great insight into the culture of the organization, it also makes the person answering the question feel good. In addition, if the person answering can't come up with something good to say, this is a red flag about the place you might be working!

5. "How Did This Position Become Available?"

This question is a bit pushy, but it is quite important if you do not know how the position opened. Is the organization expanding? Or did the last person leave, and can you subtly find out why?

6. "What Would You Like To See Happen Six-to-12 Months After You Hire A New Person For This Position?"

This question is akin to "How will I be evaluated?" or "How do you measure success in this role?" It can also clue you in on whether the expectations for the job are realistic.

7. "What Resources Are Available For This Position?"

This question addresses the technology, staff or budget resources you will have and gives many insights into whether the organization is being realistic about what you can accomplish given the resources available.

8. "Is There Anything You Are Still Wondering About My Candidacy That Might Keep You From Offering Me The Position? Is There Anything Further I Should Clarify?"

This question shows you are open to feedback or critique and also tells the employer you want every opportunity to reassure him or her that you would be a great employee.

9. "What Is The Next Step In The Process? May I Have Your Business Card?"

The final question can help relieve your anxiety after the interview because you at least have some clue about how long it will be before the employer gets back to you. Ask for business cards from each person interviewing you so you can send thank-you notes.

Krasna adds that there are also questions candidates should steer clear of asking during the interview. According to her, questions not to ask include inquiries about salary, scandals and office politics, and personal questions about the interviewer.

Here's How It Works:
 Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
