Plymouth-Canton board hires interim chief

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education Wednesday voted unanimously to offer a contract to Dr. Jeremy Hughes, the former deputy superintendent of the Michigan Department of Education, to be the district's interim superintendent.

The unanimous vote came at the end of a four-plus hour interview session during which the board heard from four different candidates. The offer to Hughes is contingent on the sides being able to work out a contract.

Board members, who were impressed with Hughes' resume and reputation, hope to have details worked out in time to vote at their meeting Tuesday evening.

"We're very fortunate (Hughes) applied," said board Treasurer Judy Mardigian. "He's an all-star, and he really likes our district. We have four really good candidates ... if we have a superstar, we have to find a way to move past this."

Hughes served as the Department of Education's deputy superintendent from October 2002 through August 2007, including six months as the interim superintendent of public instruction.

During his time in Lansing, Hughes helped write much of the curriculum criteria now placed on Michigan's public schools. He also spent 13 years as the superintendent in the 18,000-student Dearborn Public Schools, and 10 years before that as the superintendent of the much-smaller (2,500 students) Haslett Public Schools.

But it was his work in Lansing, and the contacts he still has, that had Plymouth-Canton board members excited about hiring him.

"What I think we need is a connection to Lansing, and I think that was an asterisk in my thinking on (Hughes)," said Trustee Barry Simescu. "He would give us that power. I thought that was kind of a tie-breaker. When I went through the biographical information, I felt comfortable, and (Wednesday's interviews) reinforced that."

Hughes, the only candidate from outside the district interviewed by the board, beat out three internal candidates: Assistant Superintendent for Business Services James Larson-Shidler, interim Director

Decision delayed on charges 5 against teacher 8

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Ray Schepansky will have to wait until the end of the month to find out whether he will have to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on charges stemming from his April 14 arrest on the driveway leading to Plymouth High School.

Judge Michael Gerou Friday gave attorneys an additional two weeks to prepare briefs detailing whether felony firearms charges can be attached to two of the three charges currently in place against Schepansky, the 52-year-old Plymouth High School social studies teacher arrested after allegedly making threats against school administrators.

Schepansky, who has taught in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for more than a decade, is charged with carrying a concealed weapon, having a gun in a weapons-free zone and using a gun during a felony. Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Robert Donaldson also asked Gerou to reinstate a fourth charge, carrying a weapon with unlawful intent, which was dismissed at arraignment.

Schepansky, who has been placed on administrative leave without pay by the district, remained free on $100,000 bond, with stipulations that he can't have unwanted contact with school officials, can't be in possession of any firearms and can't be on the premises of any school or facility within the district.

Gerou gave attorneys two weeks to submit their briefs, and scheduled a hearing for 2 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, at which time he expects to make a decision on whether Schepansky will have to stand trial and, if so, on which of the four charges.

During testimony on Friday's preliminary exam, prosecutors revealed it was Plymouth High School Associate Principal Erin MacGregor whom Schepansky allegedly said he "wanted to kill."

Plymouth High School teacher Lisa Benages testified she heard Schepansky make the threat during a social gathering at the Canton Max & Erma's on Friday, April 1. The alleged threat came during a general discussion about teachers' frustrations with the state of education in general and at the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park specifically.

"(Schepansky) said he wanted to kill Mr. MacGregor," Benages testified. "It was not in the context of our conversation. It was just said."

Benages testified that, while she was "bothered" by the comment, she didn't take it seriously enough to report it either to school officials or the Canton Police Department. In fact, she testified under cross examination, she didn't talk to anyone about it until after the April 13 incident that triggered the events leading to Schepansky's arrest.

On April 13, Benages testified, she entered Schepansky's classroom and Schepansky began "slamming things around" and cursing. She said Schepansky repeated the word "suicide" during what she described as his ranting. She said she backed out of the classroom and, several hours later, reported the incident to MacGregor.

On cross examination, Benages testified she did not hear Schepansky use MacGregor's name, nor the name of any other person, during the April 13 incident.

MacGregor then took the stand and detailed a meeting he conducted with Schepansky, his union representative Mary Lou Nagy and Assistant Principal Cheri Steckle. At the conclusion of the meeting, MacGregor testified he gave Schepansky materials including contact information for "professional help," which MacGregor said he thought Schepansky needed, then told Schepansky to take the next day off.

On cross examination, Convertino asked MacGregor why no police contact had been made, other than a cursory call to the school resource officer.

"It was my judgment (Schepansky) needed professional help ... he wasn't an imminent threat, but he needed help," MacGregor testified.

Canton police arrested Schepansky the next day, after receiving information that Schepansky was planning on coming to the school that day and that he might have a gun, according to testimony from Canton Plymouth High School Assistant Principal Erin MacGregor testifies during the preliminary hearing for teacher Ray Schepansky at 35th District Court Friday.

Police Officer Michael Kirby, who arrested Schepansky. No testimony was offered about where that information originated.

Kirby testified when he arrived at Plymouth High School around 6:45 a.m., Schepansky's Kia Optima was stopped alongside the long driveway leading from Beck Road to the school, some 100-200 feet off of Beck Road. A Plymouth Township police vehicle was behind Schepansky's car, Kirby testified, with its spotlight, though no flashing lights, trained on the car.

Kirby testified he approached Schepansky, who was holding what turned out to be a lesson plan in his hand. Kirby testified Schepansky told him there was a gun in the car. Kirby said he later found a 9mm Beretta in a holster, with two ammunition clips containing six bullets each, beneath the driver's seat of the car. He testified that Schepansky does not have a permit to carry a concealed weapon.

At the conclusion of testimony, Donaldson asked Gerou to reinstate the intent charge and to bind Schepansky over on all four charges. Convertino argued nothing presented Friday in court indicated there was a specific threat against an individual.

"There is no specific threat that rises to the level that would bind this over," Convertino said. "The evidence is speculative at best. No action was taken (about the April 1 threat) because no one considered it serious enough to do anything about it."

"I don't think, even in the light most favorable to the prosecution, this case should be bound over."

Some city restaurants to get shot at new liquor licenses

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Plymouth officials are expected to relax the city's year-old liquor downtown cap — for establishments outside downtown only — with a Plymouth City Commission vote next month.

The commission on Monday postponed the final vote on a measure that would allow for two additional licenses, at bars and restaurants outside the Downtown Development Authority boundaries, to sell beer, wine or liquor by the glass. The postponement of the vote, said Mayor Dan Dwyer, was designed to allow time to add a clause to the ordinance that would give preference in the licensing process to existing restaurants.

"We need to find a way to word that appropriately and legally," Dwyer said.

The ordinance now caps the number of liquor licenses in the city at the current 22. Fourteen of those existing licenses are at downtown bars and restaurants, and eight are outside downtown.

The revised ordinance, a first reading of which was approved in April, would create a two-tiered cap system, keeping the number of licenses allowed for downtown at 14 and adding two licenses to the eight currently held at businesses outside downtown.

"I think we're all a little cautious about it. That's why we're only allowing two," said Dwyer.

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has the final say on issuing licenses to sell alcohol, but it generally defers to local rules, and Plymouth has a liquor license control ordinance that is considered a model in the state.

Jeff Lindsey, co-owner with brother Jay of Amici Italian Bistro, said they'll be following the outcome. Amici, on Mill Street in Old Village, opened about a year and a half ago.

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Jay Lindsey and his brother, Jeff, said they're following the city's decision on a cap on liquor licenses.

"We'd definitely be interested" in getting a license, Lindsey said. "All we need is to be able to sell wine."

The final vote on the ordinance amendment is expected at the commission's Monday, June 6, evening meeting.

The commission also on Monday unanimously approved a resolution putting new restrictions on new downtown places that serve alcohol. The measure limits a bar to 10 seats, limits a bar's standing area to 150 square feet, and prohibits the serving of alcohol to patrons outside that designated area. Dance floors are also not allowed.

Dwyer said the intent is to favor food service over places that are primarily for drinking. The resolution, moot until a license becomes available under the downtown license cap, would apply to new construction and to remodeled places, he mayor said.

"We don't want it to have a huge bar and four tables," he said. "We want it to have a smaller bar and a lot of tables."

Band Boosters holding top spot in bank's charity drive

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth Canton Music Boosters are in the running for a big, well, boost as a local bank's Web-based charity drive winds up this week.

The group, which raises money to support the marching band made up of students from the three Plymouth-Canton Education Park high schools, was the top-ranked organization Friday in the Bank of Ann Arbor's Sweet 15 event, which marks the bank's 15th anniversary. Bank of Ann Arbor has a branch on Plymouth Road in Plymouth Township.

If the Boosters can hold the top spot, or even place among the top five when voting ends at 10:15 p.m. Thursday, they'll win $10,000 from Bank of Ann Arbor, which is dividing $75,000 among the 15 groups that made it through the first round of Sweet 15.

"We're very excited," said Erin Babcock of Coasters Township, the Boosters' president. She attributed the success to marching band members and their loyal fans. "We have a very, very active booster organization," she said.

Fans of the Boosters, or of any of the 14 other non-profits that made it through the first round out of about 400 groups, can vote by "liking" Bank of Ann Arbor on Facebook, then casting electronic ballots, which are limited to one a day per computer. The Boosters had 3,250 round-two votes at about 1 p.m. Friday, more than 500 ahead of the second-place Michigan Interscholastic Forensic Association.

Voters in Sweet 15 during its final week also can give a shout-out to their favorite nonprofit.

Babcock, whose son Alex plays marimbas in the marching band, said the Boosters have slated their Sweet 15 grant for the band's November trip to New York City, where it will march in Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade. The six-day trip is about $1,000 per student, she said, and the Boosters are planning to subsidize the cost.

"We're actively trying to raise funds so it's more affordable," she said. A daughter, Katie Babcock, was in the marching band's color guard for three years.

The band and Boosters are planned to send about 180 members, plus some 140 parents and adult chaperones, to New York, Babcock said. The appearance in Macy's parade is possibly the first by a high school band from Michigan.

"Macy's hasn't seen any records from Michigan in over 40 years," Babcock said.

Sweet 15's second round, which began April 15, was intended to last 15 weeks but was cut short because of the big response, said Timothy G. Marshall, the bank president. Each vote in the second round earned $5.15 to the Sweet 15 kitty, and the maximum of $75,000 was reached with more than 15,000 votes in 11 days.

After final results in round two are tallied, the top five organizations will receive $10,000 each. Those in positions six through ten will get $3,500 each, and those placing 11 through 15 will receive $1,500 each.

Author's 'non-bully' book a hit for bully lessons

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Gwenn Marchesano read a lot of books about bullying when she was looking for the right fit for the Pioneer Middle School Book Club.

One book, "Scrawl" by New York author Mark Shulman, touched her the most.

"It's written from the perspective of the bully," said Marchesano, the media specialist at Pioneer. "A lot of what we read is from the perspective of the victim. This gets you into the head of the bully. You learn there's more to this guy."

The funny thing about the book: Shulman, the author of some 100 books, never intended "Scrawl" to be a book about bullying. It's a book about Tod, who has had a hard life, he's been bullied himself and he has used bullying tactics almost as a defense mechanism.

It is about, Shulman said, how Tod's life evolves and the lessons he learns when he himself gets treated the way he treats others.

New York author Mark Shulman said his book, 'Scrawl,' didn't start out to be a book about bullying, although the main character does some of that.

"I didn't write a 'bully book,' I wrote a book about a kid," Shulman said. "Tod's not a mean person, per se. I wasn't looking to tell a bully's story. I was looking to tell Tod's story. It's the strangest thing."

Shulman agreed to travel to Plymouth to talk to Pioneer's 294 eighth-graders after meeting them during their class trip to New York last month. Marchesano had already called him to arrange the trip, but Shulman dropped in on them unexpectedly during their New York visit and sealed the deal.

After reading "Scrawl," Marchesano decided to make it a unit of instruction for the Book Club. In addition to reading the book, students created multi-media projects out of it. They built scenes from the book out of materials such as popsicle sticks and Styrofoam, they made signs and wrote letters, and they made public-service announcement posters.

The six-week unit started in March. Aside from learning about bullying, the lesson brought students into direct contact with an author, something Marchesano said doesn't happen often enough.

"Any time our kids have a chance to interact with an author, that's an enriching experience for them," she said. "They don't get that experience very often."

That was a big part of the attraction of the assignment for 13-year-old eighth-grader Brianna Coleman of Canton, who said she's a big reader and knows the power of the written word.

"I want to try to meet as many authors as I can, because I read a lot," Brianna said. "I thought the book had a good story. I liked how Tod ended up changing."

Shulman said he was surprised to see the extent to which the students had reacted to his book.

"I'm proud I've been able to touch someone," Shulman said. "It's given them entree to a conversation they wouldn't have otherwise."

Canton wraps up cultural events

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Amid an upbeat, weeklong celebration of Canton-area cultural arts, an overriding theme emerged: The work of musicians, actors, dancers, writers, painters and other artists can survive a brutal economy and become the catalyst to unite a culturally, ethnically diverse community.

It's a message, a lifestyle, that arts professionals say already has begun to take root locally as Canton marked its inaugural Canton Acts of Culture Week, which ended Saturday.

"It has been tremendously received in our community," said ReGina Shamberger, who chairs the Canton Commission for Culture, Arts and Heritage, which spearheaded the effort and its theme, "It Takes a Village."

Canton Acts of Culture involved numerous activities including small, intimate exhibits of paintings and photography; a tour of the Hindu Temple of Canton; a Salem High School-based historical exhibit exploring the Detroit area's racial segregation; and a sold-out, week-capping Bollywood concert featuring Michigan Philharmonic and Indian performers — which was set for Friday evening at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill.

In another highlight, the Canton Community Foundation hosted an esteemed panel of arts professionals and an audience of 60 people who gathered Thursday afternoon inside the Canton Human Services Center for a lively forum titled "Cultural Arts: The Bridge to Building Better Communities."

The two-hour forum featured a diverse group of arts professionals united by a desire to use the arts as a springboard for improving communities.

Oliver Ragsdale, president

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

ReGina Shamberger, Herb Scott and Anthony Davis listen to the panel discussion.

of the Detroit-based Arts League of Michigan, recalled how the Canton Commission for Culture, Arts and Heritage was a fledgling group in 2004 when the Village Theater at Cherry Hill — the community's 400-seat artistic hub — was being built.

"I see the child has grown up," Ragsdale said, lauding Shamberger and the commission for Canton Acts of Culture.

Ragsdale said Canton can only benefit as its culture and arts become woven together to create a local lifestyle that celebrates artistry and diversity.

Panel members said the arts not only contribute to a community's image, but also to its economy.

Jennifer Tobin, Canton arts coordinator, said the Village Theater marked last year with 222 performances; 787 other events, classes and rehearsals; 6,867 performers on-stage; 40,000 audience members; 11 arts exhibitions; and 175 usher volunteers who gave 5,500 hours of their time.

"The arts are not only important to our soul, but also to our economy," she said, adding later, "I believe no matter what, the arts and culture will survive and even thrive in the worst of times."

Even an economic downturn cannot keep artists from expressing themselves, Tobin said.

Tobin said the Village Theater hosted celebrations honoring civil rights icons Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Mahatma Gandhi, yet it also rolled out numerous stage performances and hosted events such as State of the Township and Canton Public Safety Department awards.

Jill Engel, executive director of the local Partnership for the Arts and Humanities, recalled how the partnership raised over $5 million for the Village Theater. She said those who give to the arts leave a legacy.

"It makes a difference for a lifetime," Engel said.

Don Soenen, Michigan Philharmonic president, said a tough economy forced the organization to accept pay cuts, reduce the number of performances and trim a few musicians.

"But, we weathered it ... without gutting the things we do," he said.

Narendra Sheth, who hosts an Indian program on WPON (1640-AM) and who serves on the Michigan Philharmonic's board of directors, said Canton and other communities should continue to honor differences in culture and tradition, yet use those differences to create a better whole, a better community.

James Kuhl, artistic director for Tipping Point Theater in Northville, agreed and said the arts play a crucial role by allowing people to "communicate through all languages."

Susan Froelich, director of the Arts Alliance of Ann Arbor, commended the first Canton Acts of Culture Week.

"I think I'm going to steal your idea of Culture Week and take it back to Ann Arbor," she said.

Donnie Milan, owner of Canton-based Curtain Call Dance Studio and a creative industries associate with Art Serve Michigan, an arts advocacy organization, said events such as Canton Acts of Culture can only elevate the community and its image.

"The arts bring communities together," she said.

Moms to be celebrated with FAIR Green Street Fair parade

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There's still time to get in on downtown Plymouth's fourth annual Green Street Fair, which continues 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today (Sunday) in Kellogg Park and surrounding streets.

The fair features hundreds of vendors, artisans and organizations offering products, artwork, information and services with the common theme of improving the environment. There are also refreshments, hands-on activities for children and free entertainment.

Sunday's Green Street highlights include a Mother's Day parade at noon. Parade participants are invited to bring noisemakers such as pots, pans, bells and drums; decorated tricycles and bikes are welcome.

Children can also attend a workshop between 10 a.m. and 11:45 a.m. Sunday at which they can use recyclable materials to make a kazoo, a "canjo" or maracas, then join the parade with their new musical instruments. The workshop will be led by members of the Deep Fried Pickle Project, a "junk band" that plays in a variety of styles. The Deep Fried Pickle Project will also perform at about 12:30 p.m., following the parade.

Other Sunday fair events include:

- The chance to safely dispose of electronic waste — everything from old computers to car batteries and vacuum cleaners — during fair hours at Penniman and Harvey.

Statewide Recycling is handling the material, and proceeds from its resale will benefit the scholarship fund for pediatric speech and language disorders at Beaumont Children's Hospital.

Attendees can also bring their old cellular phones and out-of-date or unneeded medications (no controlled substances) to the fair and safely dispose of them at separate booths.

- A set by the duo Gemini, which offers acoustic music for children and families, 2-3 p.m. Sunday.

- An appearance by jazz performer Tracy Kash Thomas, 3:15-4:15 p.m. Sunday.

All concerts will take place at the Eco-Beats Stage at Union and Penniman.

The Green Street Fair's Sunday hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. For more information, visit the fair's website, www.greenstreetfair.com.

employed by Detroit's Cass Community Social Services, where Hingelberg, a Plymouth City Commission member, is operations director, collect the tires from where they've been dumped in the city, cut them into strips and weave them together to form the mats, signing each one like a work of art.

"They're so proud of putting out this product," Hingelberg said. Many of the men have mental challenges that set them apart from mainstream society, he said, and the work gives them a sense of fulfillment as well as a paycheck.

At Kellogg Park, Brugman was hoping for the return of sunshine so she and other volunteers could again set out the popular Fort Box.

This year's Fort Box has a theme of international landmarks and features replicas, made from recyclables, of three bridges:

Detroit's Ambassador Bridge, the Hohenzollern Bridge in Germany and the Pont Neuf in Paris.

New Morning student Alex Crum said he had fun putting together the Pont Neuf; students stuffed old plastic shopping bags with newspaper and used tape to attach each "block" to others to form the bridge.

"It was really fun. It was difficult, though, working with recycled materials," Alex said.

Brugman said Fort Box has other landmarks this year, too, including a pastry shop for Paris and, for Detroit, the Renaissance Center and a Coney Island restaurant.

New Morning students collected the materials for Fort Box over a period of months and also worked on the project ahead of the fair.

"The kids just go crazy over it," Brugman said.

of Student Services Kurt Tyszkiewicz; and Pioneer Middle School Principal Phil Freeman.

Assuming contract terms can be worked out, Hughes will take over day-to-day operations of the district from current chief operating officer Ken Jacobs, who has held that responsibility since November. Jacobs, board President John Jackson announced Wednesday, will be out of work on a medical issue after Friday.

Hughes, who retired in 2007, said he wanted the Plymouth-Canton position because he's "been unable to stay away from education."

"I want to keep active in education," Hughes said. "I know this district, I've come to really admire the work being done here. I like the things you've got, as well as what you're coming to."

Postal carriers drive to stamp out hunger set for May 14

The National Association of Letter Carriers will again participate in the 19th annual campaign to "Stamp Out Hunger" on Saturday, May 14, to collect nonperishable and non-expired food and toiletry items.

This year, the postal carriers from Belleville, Canton, Plymouth and Northville will collaborate with The Salvation Army Plymouth Corps, BEACON (Belleville Ecumenical Area Outreach Network) and Northville Civic Concern to be ensure that families and individuals have food on the table over the coming months.

"The importance of food assistance is that many seniors are on very low, fixed incomes, they make cuts to their weekly or monthly food allowance in order to be able to manage other living expenses such as rent, utilities, medical, etc.," said Bobbie Pummill, director of the Plymouth Community Council on Aging. "The food banks and food pantries are a means of supplementing their diets; it's a way of allowing them to have a well balanced meal which helps them maintain good health."

Laurie Aren, director of family and community ministries for the Plymouth Salvation Army, said letter carriers "know their routes, they know the people and they see the need - and they respond by hosting this drive."

"Our neighbors will need this food to help them through the lean times," Aren said. "By accessing our food pantry, families can divert funds to rent, utilities and transportation costs."

Capt. Dan Hull, Corps Officer and pastor of the Plymouth Corps, said while the postal workers are "stepping up" to collect the food, the real success of the drive depends on community participation to fill the bags with non-expired food.

"Please join with the letter carriers, your neighbors and The Salvation Army in helping to 'stamp out hunger in our community,'" Hull said.

Residents throughout the communities of Belleville,

Plymouth and Canton are encouraged to place non-expired, non-perishable food and toiletry items in a bag by their mailboxes, allowing neighborhood letter carriers to collect the donations. The donated items will be brought to The Salvation Army, where volunteers will process the food for distribution to families in northern Wayne County.

Donations may also be dropped off at the post office or at The Salvation Army church at 9451 S. Main on May 14 from noon to 4 p.m. Food collected in Northville will be accepted by Northville Civic Concern for sorting and distributions in Northville.

Township hazardous waste disposal is Saturday

The township's annual household hazardous waste collection will take place from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, May 14, in the parking lot at Compuware Arena, which is at 14900 Beck Road, just north of M-14.

Not accepted are television sets, videocassette recorders, smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, tires, radioactive materials, polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), ammunition, fireworks or medical waste.

The seven vocal ensembles, including beginning choirs Park Singers and Parksmen, intermediate choirs Allegro and Dulcissima, and advanced choirs Madrigal Singers, Chamber Choir, and Festival Singers, earned an invitation to State Choral Festival through their high performance and sight-reading scores at District Choral Festival which was held in March 2011 at Northville High School.

Choir program earns honors at State Choral Festival

The Plymouth-Canton Educational Park choir program earned top ratings at the Michigan School Vocal Music Association District 12 State Choral Festival in Holt on Friday, April 29.

The P-CEP Choir program took all six curricular vocal ensembles and one extra-curricular ensemble to State Choral Festival. These seven ensembles are comprised of almost 300 students from Plymouth, Salem, and Canton High Schools. P-CEP is one of only a few schools in the state to bring this many ensembles to a State Choral Festival, said choir director Jennifer Kopp.

The seven vocal ensembles, including beginning choirs Park Singers and Parksmen, intermediate choirs Allegro and Dulcissima, and advanced choirs Madrigal Singers, Chamber Choir, and Festival Singers, earned an invitation to State Choral Festival through their high performance and sight-reading scores at District Choral Festival which was held in March 2011 at Northville High School.

While all seven ensembles earned a top "1" rating, Festival Singers and Madrigal Singers were rated "Superior" while the remaining five ensembles all received a rating of "Excellent." The choirs were judged by professionals in the vocal music field, including many university professors from across the United States including Pennsylvania, Ohio, Florida, Kansas, Wisconsin, and New Jersey. Judges use a rubric developed by MSVMA that assesses the choirs' Tone Quality, Pitch Elements, Rhythm Elements, Diction, Interpretation, and overall Presentation.

The P-CEP Choirs are under the direction of Kopp, assistant director Valerie I. Said, and are accompanied by Carole Dehart.

Schoolcraft College celebrates 46th commencement

Elizabeth Cizek of Plymouth is all smiles as she goes to receive her arts degree.

Schoolcraft College celebrated its 46th annual Commencement Ceremony on Saturday, April 30, at Compuware Arena in Plymouth. Of the 1,711 students eligible to participate (those earning an associate degree or certificate), 470 graduates donned their caps and gowns and invited friends and family to celebrate their accomplishments.

Todd Goodman, a resident of Northville and president of Phi Theta Kappa, the honor society for community colleges, presented the Student Reflection for the Class of 2011.

Dr. Conway Jeffress made a special announcement that Matthew Cornett, a resident of Wayne, was the recipient of the prestigious Jack Kent Cooke Foundation Undergraduate Transfer Scholarship. Only 60 students of the 785 from throughout the United States who applied were awarded this $30,000-per-year scholarship. The scholarship is intended to cover a significant share of the student's educational expenses - including tuition, living expenses, books and required fees - for the final two to three years necessary to achieve a bachelor's degree. Cornett is only one of four students from Michigan to be named a Jack Kent Cooke Scholar.

Stephnie Bergeron, president of Walsh College, was the keynote speaker and also received an Honorary Associate in Arts and Sciences degree. An associate degree is the highest degree a student can earn at Schoolcraft College.

Dr. Rebecca Himm was presented the Distinguished Alumni Award for 2011. Dr. Himm, whose dental practice is in Livonia, graduated in 1999 with an associate degree in science from Schoolcraft College and was a member of Phi Theta Kappa. She went on to Eastern Michigan University, where she earned a Bachelor of Science degree and graduated magna cum laude. She graduated in the top of her class from the University of Detroit Mercy School of Dentistry, where she was accepted into the Nu Nu Chapter of Omega Kappa Upsilon, the dental national honor society. She credits her strong academic performance to the solid foundation for learning and studying she received at Schoolcraft College.

The general Commencement Ceremony held April 30 is one of several ceremonies celebrating the achievements of Schoolcraft College's graduates. Last week the Culinary Arts program held its ceremony, along with the Nursing program's annual Pinning Ceremony, which featured the graduation of more than 70 nursing students. On Wednesday, members of the Police Reserve Officer Training program graduated at the Radcliff Center in Garden City, followed by the Fire Academy graduation on Thursday, and the Police Academy graduation on Friday.

Schoolcraft College is a public two-year college, offering classes at the Livonia campus, at the Radcliff Center in Garden City and online at schoolcraft.edu.

Phi Theta Kappa President Todd Goodman of Northville reflects on college life with the graduates.

Stay away from stocks for short-term investing

Q: Dear Rick: I am recently divorced and was forced to sell my home. After paying off my ex-spouse, I was left with about $75,000. I'm not sure how to invest this money. I'm currently living in an apartment and eventually would like to buy a home. The problem is, I'm not sure I'm going to stay in the area or move out of state. The $75,000 will eventually be used for a down payment on a new home. I figure if I don't move out of state, I'll buy a new home probably before the end of this year or early next year. I consider myself a somewhat aggressive investor. I'm not afraid to take risks. My initial inclination is to invest the money. I've done very well in an emerging market fund and I'm thinking about adding the money to that fund. What do you think?

A: I like emerging market funds and believe they belong in just about everyone's portfolio as part of the growth side. However, acknowledging the fact that you are an aggressive investor, in your situation an emerging market fund would be the wrong investment. Not because emerging market funds are not good, but rather, they are not good for your situation.

I have always been a believer that successful investors invest based upon individual goals and objectives. Your goal is to use this money to buy a new home within a relatively short time frame. Because of that, an emerging market fund is not something to consider.

Money Matters

I believe your goals dictate how you invest money. It's like planning a vacation. You decide to bring shorts on a vacation, not necessarily because you like shorts, but because you'll have the opportunity to wear them. The investment must fit the objective.

In your situation, you have a short-term time frame as to when the money will be used. Because of that time frame, market-based investments that can be very volatile over a short period of time are inappropriate. My advice, and I know you're going to hate to hear this, is to invest in a certificate of deposit.

I recognize that CDs are paying very little, however, for the time frame involved, they are the best investment.

They will protect the principal, which must be a primary consideration in your particular situation.

Not all CDs are the same. You can get better rates of return by shopping around. In addition to our local banks, a good website to use is www.bankrate.com. I also encourage you to check with a credit union.

As an investment adviser, the most important thing to know before you invest someone's money is their main goal and the time frame they have to achieve it. When an investor has a time frame in terms of months, you automatically know that you have to avoid the stock market. For long-term investors, the stock market is a great investment. For short-term investors, it's a gamble and something that I do not recommend.

Good luck!
I would like to wish all moms a very happy Mothers Day! Especially mine — Hilda Bloom! I love you mom.

Ladywood principal honored

Sr. Mary Ann Smith, principal of Ladywood High School, will be honored with the Helen Kern Morris Award at the 28th Anniversary Father Kern Dinner on Wednesday, May 11 at Mario's in Detroit.

The Dinner pays tribute to the memory and legacy of the late Father Clement Kern. The archdiocese assigned Kern to The Most Holy Trinity Church during the 1960s. The Helen Kern Morris award recognizes an individual who has demonstrated a deep commitment in the Catholic faith.

Sr. Mary Ann Smith is described by those who know her as a generous, kindhearted and compassionate woman who spends countless hours volunteering in addition to serving as the principal at Ladywood High School. At the age of 14, Sr. Mary Ann responded to the call to be a religious sister and entered the Aspirancy of the Felician Sisters. After graduating from Ladywood High School, she entered the congregation of the Sisters of St. Felix of Cantalice, Felician Sisters and has served her community for over four decades.

Monsignor Charles Kosanke, president of the Father Kern Foundation, said that Sr. Mary Ann Smith's profound dedication and commitment to her community epitomizes the memory of Helen Kern Morris.

Jones best at football combine, wants more

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

For Canton's Ryan Jones, it's one football showcase down and two to go and he's relishing every moment.

The 17-year-old junior excelled with his explosive speed, agility and strength at the recent Michigan Preps Football Combine — where chiseled, supremely motivated athletes put on a show for college recruiters and coaches.

Jones — a hard-to-bring-down running back and free safety for the 2010 Chiefs' varsity football team — led the charge at Total Sports in Wixom with the No. 1 rating out of 610 participants.

And he's not done, with his outstanding performance March 20 earning him a ticket to the May 15 Midwest Elite Football Exposure Camp (also at Total Sports).

Then on May 21, the 5-foot-10, 190-pound Jones will attend a first-come, first-served combine at the Ultimate Soccer Arena in Pontiac.

Former Detroit Lions receiver Herman Moore is extending the free opportunity to the first 350 athletes who show up for the Battle of the Gridiron combine.

"The early bid gets the worm," said Jones, grinning. "I'll be there early to get ready."

GETTING NOTICED

Why so many extracurriculars for someone who also is currently racking up points in various sprint events for Canton's varsity boys track and field team?

"A lot of people were telling me that I had a lot of talent," Jones said. "And nowadays, because there's so much competition out here, that I should start getting my name out there by going to camps and combines."

"And going to actual universities so more coaches can see me and more people talk about you."

His participation at the Michigan Preps combine March 20 came with the blessing of Canton head football coach Tim Baechler.

"Coach Baechler told me it would be a good idea by getting my name out there by going to combines," Jones said.

At the March 20 combine, Jones did it all, earning selection to the All-Combine Team.

He ran a 40-yard dash in 4.48 seconds, did 12 repetitions of 225 pounds on the bench press and tallied a vertical jump of 33-feet, five-inches.

"We had to run 40s, 40-yard sprints," he said. "We had to test our vertical jump which is standing flat on your feet and jumping to the highest point. And we had to do a lateral drill (shuttles), side-to-side."

RAISING THE BAR

According to his dad, Roy Jones of Canton, Ryan's top ranking led to a quick football scholarship offer from Central Michigan University (which was politely turned down).

It also underscored just how driven to excel Ryan Jones is, whether as a football

Eagles' power display ruffles Roughriders, 17-12

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Oh mercy, Thursday's baseball game between Plymouth Christian Academy and Birmingham Roper turned out to be much more of a nail-biter for Joe Bottorff than it should have been.

Bottorff's Eagles built a 15-

6 lead and had the bases loaded in the bottom of the fifth.

A walk to senior Matt Dodson would have forced in the run that would have invoked the 10-run mercy rule. But Dodson flew out on a 3-1 pitch and the visiting Roughriders scored six runs in the sixth to slice their deficit to 15-12.

PCA, however, hung on for the 17-12 Michigan Independent Athletics Conference victory and Bottorff finally exhaled.

"It got a little hairy at the end," he said.

The Eagles, who lost for the first time Tuesday against Washtenaw Christian Academy, fell behind 2-0 in the first against Roper and 3-0 one inning later when catcher Sam Hess tripled off the fence in center.

But PCA (10-1, 2-1 in the MIAC) sent 11 batters to the plate in the third against Roper, starting pitcher Kyle Vens, scoring eight runs after two were out.

Churchill defense stops Rocks' last-inning rally

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

After trailing since the first inning of Friday's KLAAs crossover softball game at Salem, Livonia Churchill finally took the lead with a four-run rally in the sixth.

But that 7-5 edge proved precarious and the visiting Chargers had to hang on for a 7-6 victory. It took a perfect relay throw from second baseman Julia Cavagnini to sophomore catcher Casie Bias to nail Salem's Alexis Powell with what would have been the equalizer.

"The last play of the game was huge," Churchill head coach Steve Gentilia said. "Julia Cavagnini was in the right place at the right time, (she) makes the cutoff and makes the throw."

Bias quickly applied the tag on Powell to keep Salem from at least forcing extra innings.

"The game shouldn't have come down to that anyway," Salem head coach Bonnie Southerland said. "We had other opportunities in the game.

We had four innings where we went down 1-2-3, which kind of hurt us."

Salem's last-ditch rally against Chargers starting pitcher Missy Sidor charged after the first two batters were retired.

Senior catcher Kelli Janiczek singled and Powell — who smoked a two-run homer over the center-field fence in the sixth to bring the Rocks to within 7-5 — was walked on four intentionally wide pitches from Sidor.

"I told Missy not to give her (Powell) anything to hit," Gentilia said. "We made sure she wasn't going to beat us in the last inning."

OH, SO CLOSE

That brought up freshman left fielder Emily Marcero, whose hit to right-center scored Janiczek. But thanks to the Cavagnini throw, Powell wasn't as lucky with her bid to tie the contest.

"I was keeping (pitches) outside because they're all good hitters," Sidor said. "I stayed away from the

Who: John Slater, senior co-captain of Plymouth Christian Academy's varsity baseball team.

Miscellany: The 18-year-old carries a 3.93 grade-point average and is a member of the National Honor Society (with high honors). His parents are Dale and Dianne Slater. Baseball awards include being named team MVP in 2010 and being selected to the all-MIAC and all-district teams in 2009 and 2010.

Captain's job: "The job of the captain is to be a leader and an example. A captain should have good work habits and be at every practice. The captain is very much the public face of the team in terms of being a focal representative of the team and of the school sports program."

Leadership style: "I prefer to lead by example, but there is a time when you need to encourage or perhaps settle down a teammate with a word or two at the right time."

Why him? "I think it may have something to do with experience. This is my fourth year as a varsity baseball starter. I have a pretty good idea of what to expect on a game by game basis."

UP TO THE CHALLENGE

"We had a disappointing game on Tuesday and we started a little flat today," Bortorff said. "I was kind of worried that we wouldn't snap out of it."

"But I challenged the guys to do what they know how to do. And they obviously came through."

Roeper scored three runs in the fourth to trail 8-6, but the Eagles added three of their own in the bottom half on a wild pitch and two-run single by senior first baseman Matt Hagelin (3-for-5, three runs, four RBI).

PCA's extra-base barrage continued in the fifth with Jipping hitting his second of three doubles to bring home another tally. He went 3-for-4 with four runs and four RBI.

Chipping in with a two-run single was sophomore third baseman Matt Read (3-for-5), giving the Eagles a 15-6 advantage.

Other PCA batters with multiple hits were senior starting pitcher Matt Dodson (2-for-5), senior first baseman John Slater (2-for-4) and freshman designated hitter Ben Cochrum (2-for-4).

Plymouth Christian will have a very busy week, starting with Monday's non-conference tilt at Livonia Clarenceville and a Tuesday doubleheader against West Bloomfield Frankel Jewish Academy.

On Thursday, the Eagles will visit Lutheran High South for a MIAC twinbill.

Opportunistic Canton came from behind for a 4-2 win over campus rival Plymouth in the sloppy opener of Wednesday's KLAA South Division baseball doubleheader.

The visiting Chiefs then won 6-0 in the nightcap with winning starting pitcher Ryan Bazner giving up just three hits in the first four innings.

In Game 1, Canton parlayed two Plymouth throwing errors into three late runs to bounce back from a 2-1 deficit in the matchup of division leaders.

As a result, it was a hard-luck loss for Wildcats senior pitcher Harrison Michels, who went the distance, scattering one earned run and seven hits.

"We have to make plays and they know that," said Plymouth head coach Bryan Boyd, whose team fell to 9-4 overall and 4-3 in the division with the doubleheader loss. "They want to beat these guys as much as I do, probably more. We got to make a couple more plays and we win that game."

Canton head coach Mark Blomshield, whose team dropped a 2-0 game Monday to Northville, called the lidlifter "a nerve-wracking game."

EKING ONE OUT

But Blomshield wiped off his brow, happy that his team managed to get the win (Canton improved to 11-2, 6-1 with the sweep).

"We got shut out Monday and it's been at least 40 games since we didn't score a run," Blomshield said. "We barely squeaked out runs today. The good news is we still scratched out a win and the better news is gonna be when we get hot."

Canton pushed across the first run of the game in the second, when senior catcher Robby Golematis ripped a double to right that scored Garrett Bryden.

That slim lead held for a while as Chiefs sophomore left-hander Mike Stafford impressed with three scoreless innings, striking out four and only giving up singles to shortstop Ben Wohl and catcher Rich Guglielmi (both in the third).

In the third, a heads-up play by Canton center fielder Braden Price helped keep the Wildcats from scoring. Price cut off Wohl's shot to right-center, keeping the Plymouth senior from stretching the hit into a double.

That play kept Wohl from scoring on Guglielmi's subsequent single.

But Stafford ran into trouble — and some bad luck — and wasn't able to escape the fourth.

With one out, he walked Jamarl Eiland and the Plymouth runner then got picked off between first and second. But instead of being tagged out, Eiland was awarded second because of obstruction on the basepaths.

Michels walked and John Etienne singled to load the bases, prompting Blomshield to bring senior Bazner in to take over on the mound.

Brendan Swanson then drove in a Plymouth run with a fielder's choice and Bazner's wild pitch scored Michels for the second run of the inning — putting the Wildcats up 2-1.

But the Chiefs came right back with two runs to regain the lead.

The "rally" had a little bit of everything, starting with a single to left by Golematis (2-for-2, one run, one RBI), a sacrifice by Evan Rinke and Price's bunt single.

The latter was a perfectly placed push bunt to the left of the mound to give Canton runners on first and third.

Price then stole second and shortstop Chris Perkovich (2-for-3, one RBI) scored Golematis with a single deep into the hole at shortstop. The tie-breaking run (Price) came in when Plymouth shortstop Wohl's throw eluded first baseman Tyler Goble.

"We kept at it," Price said. "We weren't playing that good in the first couple innings, but we just got runners on base however we could."

The Chiefs added a run without the benefit of a hit in the seventh, on another throwing error (on a potential inning-ending double-play).

Bazner earned the win in relief, giving up just a base hit to Eiland in the sixth.

Meanwhile, Boyd said Michels deserved better. "Harrison pitched out of his mind... He did everything we could have asked."

In the nightcap, Bazner, Tschetter and Golematis each had two hits to pace the shutout victory.

Canton broke a scoreless tie with a run in the fourth and scored in every subsequent frame to break the game open.

Nick Sandberg collected two of Plymouth's four hits.

inside on all of them. But that (last inning) was scary."

So was the first inning, when Salem (2-7 overall) scored three times on an assortment of mostly infield hits and some indecisive fielding by Churchill (11-5 overall).

After senior second baseman Lizzy Mazorowicz led off with a walk (and Churchill leading 1-0 on an RBI single by Bias), senior shortstop Heidi Schmidt and Janiczek were safe on infield singles to load the bases.

Powell's sacrifice fly to right tied the game at 1-1 and Marcelo's bunt single brought in Schmidt. Following an error, freshman center fielder Kristine Zink singled to center for the third run of the inning.

Churchill trimmed the score to 3-2 on a home run to center field by Abby Jewell and the Chargers pulled even in the fifth when Bias (3-for-4, two runs, one RBI) tripled and scored on a suicide squeeze bunt from Mackenzie Everson.

BREAKING THE TIE

The 3-3 tie lasted until Churchill's four-run rally in the sixth, which knocked out Salem junior pitcher

Alyssa Meagher.

Getting it started with a walk was junior Rachel Jason (2-for-3). Jewell singled up the middle, with both runners moving up on an error.

Following with a smash right down the third-base line was senior Natalie Hiser (2-for-5) to drive in two runs.

Another single by Bias kept the surge going and with Zink on the mound in relief, Everson drove in two more with a single.

Salem didn't give up, however. Janiczek (2-for-3, three runs) singled to open the home half of the sixth and Powell then launched her home run.

In Powell's previous at bat, she hit a foul ball over the fence and then lined out to the center fielder.

"That's what I've been trying to do, hit the ball as hard and as well as I can," Powell said.

But Sidor — who retired 14 batters in a row from the first until the sixth — had enough left in the tank to finish off the Rocks in the seventh for the victory.

Despite the tough loss, Southerland was optimistic about how her young team played.

"My pitchers (Meagher and Zink) did great today, I can't complain," Southerland said. "We're improving in every part of our game and that's what's important."

Chiefs lose on walk-off grand slam

Talk about a flair for the dramatic. Josh DeYonker's walk-off grand slam proved to be the difference Friday as host Livonia Stevenson stunned Canton, 6-2, in a battle of Kensington Conference baseball divisional leaders.

Stevenson, atop the KLAA Central, improved to 14-5 overall and 9-1.

Canton, which was leading the KLAA South, falls to 11-3 and 6-2.

DeYonker's homer came off Canton reliever Chris Perkovich, who came on in the seventh inning. Vaughn Birchler started for the Chiefs, allowing one run on two hits and three walks in four innings.

Stevenson starter Chris McDonald went the first 6.1 innings, but got no decision. He allowed two earned runs (one earned) on five hits and five walks while striking out nine. Jake Semak came on to get the final two outs and record the victory.

Tyler Lynch went 2-for-2 with a pair of walks and scored one run, while Evan Piechota also had an RBI for the Spartans, who are ranked No. 8 in the last Division 1 statewide coaches poll.

Seth Tschetter went 2-for-3 with an RBI for the Canton.

Salem routed

On Friday at Salem, home runs by Ben Matigian and Mike Rybinski and the pitching of Brent Ochodnicki enabled Livonia Churchill to post an 11-1 KLAA crossover baseball game.

Also having a big day for the Chargers (12-3, 8-2) was Troy Bogenschutz (2-for-3, four RBI).

Ochodnicki went six innings, giving up five hits and two walks.

Tallying two hits for the Rocks (6-4, 4-3) was Brett Ramirez while other hits were collected by Devin Price and Demetrius Dunlap.

Campus softball rivals split pair

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Canton softball coach Jim Arnold spent Thursday evening finalizing preparations for Saturday's annual Canton Classic, which will feature eight very competitive squads.

Two of those eight got together Wednesday, and it was a worthy precursor to the tournament. The host Plymouth Wildcats won the first of two games by a 2-1 score before Canton junior pitcher Alyssa Boucher threw a 1-0 shutout in Game 2.

"Both teams' defenses really played outstanding," Arnold said. "There were some remarkable catches in the outfield by both teams."

Infielders also were routinely popping first basemen's gloves with their hard throws.

Plymouth head coach Val Canfield said her team played with intensity in the doubleheader. "They came ready to pound the ball and make the plays."

In the opener, Plymouth scored in the first against Canton freshman starter Hannah Warren when Bri Giordano singled to score Jessica Bondy (who singled).

The Wildcats tacked on an unearned run on a wild pitch to go up 2-0 and that lead held.

The Chiefs — who loaded the bases twice without scoring against Plymouth sophomore pitcher Elaine Gerou — did score in the seventh to make it close but ultimately lost for the first time this season.

For Plymouth, Bondy went 2-for-3 with a run while Lindsay Lutton doubled and singled in three at-bats and scored a run.

In the second game, Boucher scattered eight hits in a complete game effort. She outdueled Gerou, who allowed nine safeties.

The only run came in the fourth when senior Lauren Leskovitz doubled home Boucher, who reached on a single.

Bondy and Giordano each collected two hits in Game 2 for Plymouth.

"We ... stranded eight runners on the bases," Canfield said. "With that being said, this game could have had a different outcome if we would have scored those runs."

With the split, Canton's record moved to 10-1 overall and 3-1 in the KLAA South Division. Plymouth is 9-3, 5-1 entering the weekend.

Eagles coach Jennifer Lemieux said personal bests were tallied by Trevor Baloga in the mile run (5:07.84) and two-mile run (11:18.33) and Jimmy Parks in the two-miler (11:29.69).

Mousa Farroj and Justin Allen also scored personal bests in the discus and shot put, respectively.

"To be rated No. 1 at the combine I think that's a great achievement," Roy Jones said. "It shows his overall ability, that he likes to compete in everything he does."

To gear up for the combine, Ryan said he hit the weights during and after school days while getting in some extra reps on weekends.

His outrageous work ethic is nothing new to Baechler, who advises players and their parents to be a bit cautious about going the combine route. (YouTube is another worthwhile way for college coaches to see prospective recruits, he said.)

"My personal feeling is that we all love our kids," Baechler said. "And we will try to do anything that will help them be successful including spending money on all these combines."

"I don't think they are a negative thing. It really shows the athlete where he ranks with other players athletically, which for some of them, is an eye-opening experience."

STAYING SHARP

Of course, the only wide eyes at Total Sports were fixed on Jones — steam-rolling the competition the same way he does an enemy linebacker.

"When I get in the open field I don't feel I can be caught," Jones said.

Now, he is following track practice with impromptu football pitch-and-catch sessions to get ready for the upcoming events.

After finishing practice with Canton's varsity track and field team, Ryan Jones works on catching footballs in preparation for two upcoming combine events. Throwing passes to him is Canton teammate Demetre Lopez.

Demetre Lopez, a transfer from Detroit Cass Tech who also will participate at Moore's Battle of the Gridiron. Lopez looks to be Jones' teammate with the Chiefs next fall.

"We're pushing each other to become better as individuals so we can become better as a team, also," Lopez said.

And that is yet another motivating factor for Jones.

"We have some unfinished business with the competition across the Park," said Jones, referring to Plymouth, the team that knocked the Chiefs out of the 2010 state playoffs.

Meanwhile, the young man has a pretty sharp mind, too.

"We beat them (the Wildcats) the first time," Jones added. "But we didn't have our head in the game where it should have been, we were looking past them."

Now, the big lesson is no matter what team you're going against, the worst team or the best team, don't look ahead."

He doesn't have that problem on the combine circuit. Simply because he's the one others are trying to catch.

Canton junior Demetre Lopez, who transferred this year from Detroit Cass Tech, also will be attending an upcoming combine. "We're pushing each other to become better," he said.

GIRLS SOCCER

Salem's varsity girls soccer team continues to play strong defense, blanking KLA Central Division rival South Lyon East 3-0 on Friday night.

The Rocks led 1-0 at half-time and that was plenty for the goalkeeping tandem of Jamie Hunley and Ali Eggenberger, who shared the shutout.

Getting Salem on the board was Mackenzie Rogers, who took a feed from Kristina Klusek and made a strong run that ended up in the goal.

In the second half, Nancy Krutty sent a nifty cross to Claire Huddas and she made no mistake, upping Salem's lead to 2-0.

To ice the victory, Jenna Coon stormed the South Lyon East goal and headed the ball into the cage. Gusty Kummer sent in a nice cross and Coon used her "ups" to knock it in, said Salem head coach Joe Nora.

"I thought we played with good composure trying to break down their defense," Nora said. "They play in a very defensive posture and it's tough to get through."

"When we did, their keeper made some outstanding saves. But it was a good result tonight, I'm very proud of our team."

The win improved Salem's record to 5-4-2 overall and 3-2-1 in the division while the Cougars dropped to 6-5-0 and 1-5-0.

Salem girls 2nd at Stafford Relays, then win big over South Lyon East

After finishing second on April 30 at the Stafford Relays, Salem's varsity girls track and field team scored a 105-32 victory over South Lyon East on Tuesday.

At the Stafford Relays, the Rocks finished second only to Walled Lake Central with firsts in the pole vault, 1600-meter relay and 3200-meter relay.

"The field events were set up relay style," Salem head coach Dale Maskill said.

"Heights and distances were added to be scored as a team event. This played to our strengths in the field events."

Salem earned second places in the discus, shot put, high jump and long jump.

The Salem varsity girls track and field team celebrates finishing second at the Stafford Relays.

freshman Kayla Kavulich missed setting a Salem school record in the two-mile run with a mark of 11-minutes, 23.1-seconds. Kavulich set the record in the one-mile run the previous week.

Megan Paruta cleared 10-feet in the pole vault, Khylie Ray broke 13.0 in the 100 dash (12.7) and Alejandra Beltra won the 800 run (2:42.4).

Ashley Kretschmer (high jump, 4-4) and Morgan Soper (long jump, 12-10.25) won those events.

Meanwhile, one of the best races was the 400 run. Kathryn Binsfeld won the event for the Rocks with a 1:04.8 — nipping Salem teammate Nancy Krutty's 1:04.9 finish.

Canton kickers stopped by Chargers

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Livonia Churchill girls soccer team appears to be coming of age, but at the expense of KLA South Division leader Canton.

The Chargers scored their most impressive result of the season Thursday by knocking off the Chiefs, 1-0.

Kayla Szado tallied the game-winning goal at the 60-minute mark when she toe-poked a shot past the Canton goalkeeper.

The play was set up when teammate Kelsey Rothermel won a 50-50 ball and lofted a ball over the Canton defense and into Szado.

Churchill goalkeeper Kaylie Secord made four key saves as the Chargers improved to 5-3-2 overall and 4-1-1 in the KLA South.

"For 60-to-65 minutes, Canton chased us around," said Churchill coach Dave Hebestreit, whose team avenged a 3-0 setback to the Chiefs on April 12. "I was so happy with our play in the first half."

Conversely, first-year Chiefs coach Jeannine Reddy wasn't so pleased.

"We had a few chances in the first half, but Churchill possessed the ball and kept our mids from penetrating through their back line," Reddy explained. "We had a few chances in the second half. Mel Pickert was dangerous in the air off two corners, but we were unlucky."

The Chargers also held Canton's dangerous scoring threat Ally Krause in check.

"We had a game plan for her," Hebestreit said. "Their game plan was trying to play into her and get the ball over our heads. Things got a little hairy at the end. They (Canton) put the ball into the box and hit a post."

The loss drops state-ranked Canton to 5-3-1 overall and 5-1 in the KLA South and the Chiefs will now face Plymouth on Tuesday.

PLYMOUTH 5, FRANKLIN 0: On Thursday, Jennifer Babcock's two goals paced the Wildcats to this KLA South Division win.

Also scoring for Plymouth were Alyssa Dillon, Stephanie Sheridan and Morgan Klabunde.

Meanwhile, McKenzie Hengesh's two goals lifted Plymouth to a 6-0 win on Tuesday against Westland John Glenn.

Adding single tallies were Dillon, Sheridan, Maria Farmer and Abby Livingston.

With the victories, the Wildcats improved to 4-2-3 overall and 3-1-2 in the division.

SALEM 2, STEVENSON 0: On Wednesday, Emily Barfus and Emma Tardiff scored five minutes apart to give the host Rocks (5-4-2, 3-2-1) a KLA Central Division triumph over (3-4-2, 1-3-2).

Barfus scored after accepting a cross from Kristina Klusek while Nancy Krutty sent the ball to Tardiff for a header to tally the second goal.

Making five saves for the shutout was Jamie Hunley.

"Salem was all over us for most of the game," Stevenson coach Chris Grodzicki said. "Our legs looked tired, and our focus was lacking."

NORTHVILLE 2, SALEM 1: In a KLA Central match Monday, the Rocks fell behind 2-0 to the Mustangs and could not come all the way back.

Klusek scored in the second half (from Megan McCormack) and goalie Ali Eggenberger played well in defeat with nine stops.

"Overall, I thought we gave a strong effort," Salem coach Joe Nora said. "Northville jumped on a few loose balls and made us pay. It was a good learning experience for us."

PLY. CHRISTIAN 7, LUTHERAN N'WEST 0: In a Tuesday matchup of MIAC teams, Martha Mullet's two goals sparked the Eagles (5-0-1, 2-0-1).

Also scoring were Rachel Zandee, freshman Katelynn Barkell, Annette Somercik, Emily Gerulis and Jessica Rich.

Gerulis and Lauren Paulson each added two assists while Jenna Abraham had the helper on another.

Goalkeeper Brianna Harris made seven saves for the shutout.

The Eagles rolled to a 10-0 victory on April 29 over Summit Home Academy, behind a three-goal effort from Barkell and two tallies by Zandee.

Hospitals aim to reduce obesity with better food

The Michigan Health & Hospital Association (MHA) aims to improve the nutrition of food served at hospitals throughout the state.

The organization launched a program last week that gives hospitals the tools to improve food served to staff, visitors and patients. It consists of four "stars" that address healthy eating and weight management. To earn stars, hospitals must improve the nutritional value of menus for food and beverages, add nutritional content labels to cafeteria and menu items, and commit to buying more Michigan grown and produced food products. The goal is to reduce obesity.

"The goals of Healthy Food Hospitals are to improve the nutritional value of food served to everyone who walks through the doors of Michigan hospitals, and help people continue to make healthier food choices after they leave the hospital," said Spencer Johnson, MHA president. "The national obesity crisis is reflected here in Michigan and there is a tremendous cost that being dangerously overweight adds to the health care system. With Healthy Food Hospitals, Michigan hospitals are demonstrating community leadership in helping people live healthier lifestyles, one of the key actions necessary to improve quality of life and reduce health care costs over generations."

More than 50 Michigan hospitals across the state signed up for the program.

Healthy Food Hospitals was created after the success of two previous MHA-launched health and wellness initiatives that resulted in 93 percent of Michigan's community hospitals voluntarily adopting smoke-free campus policies, and 89 percent of Michigan hospitals voluntarily eliminating foods containing trans fats from their cafeteria, vending machines and patient nutrition.

"Our goal is for all community hospitals in Michigan to become Healthy Food Hospitals," Johnson said. "This is another way that Michigan hospitals — as major employers and prevention and wellness advocates — can lead by example."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Childhood obesity is among the nation's most costly and complex public health threats. Michigan is the 10th most overweight state in the country, with 29.4 percent of adults and 12.4 percent of children ages 10 to 17 obese. According to the Healthy Kids, Healthy Michigan initiative, Michigan's annual medical costs associated with obesity total more than $3 billion.

The Healthy Food Hospitals program focuses on improving hospital menus for children and adults. Hospitals accomplish the first two stars when they adopt pediatric patient default menus for children ages 2 to 18 meet American Heart Association guidelines, and for serving milk without the recombinant bovine growth hormone. The third star goes to hospitals that label food nutritional content in their cafeterias. Hospitals complete the fourth star by committing to buy at least 20 percent Michigan-grown, produced and processed foods.

The Ecology Center, based in Ann Arbor, and the MHA worked together to create the four-star approach. The Healthy Food Work Group — consisting of dietitians from MHA-member hospitals — polished the campaign.

Local participating hospitals include Beaumont Hospital - Royal Oak, Botsford Hospital in Farmington, Henry Ford Hospitals, Oakwood Hospitals, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, and the University of Michigan Hospitals and Health Centers.

Diabetes and Erectile Dysfunction: Take Control

Erectile dysfunction (ED) may be the most important diagnostic tool when it comes to general health in the baby-boomer population! Often times, it's the first symptom that men may notice and the one that leads them to the doctor. If a man is experiencing E.D., it is suggested that he be screened for more serious health conditions such as heart disease, hypertension, and diabetes.

Erectile dysfunction is a common complication of diabetes. Up to 85 percent of men who have diabetes may experience E.D. The longer you've had diabetes and the more severe it is, the more likely you are to have trouble with erections. High blood sugar can permanently damage the nerves and blood vessels responsible for erections.

Recent advances and treatment methods have changed the way both diabetes and E.D. are now treated. With regard to E.D., some treatments offer a temporary solution; others provide a more permanent way to resolve the problem. As a urologist specializing in the treatment of E.D., my goal is to provide men with the information they need to find the solution that's most satisfying for them—and their partner!

RNs talk old times, plan for nursing school reunion

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Back in the day, Marilyn Kramer deciphered doctors' handwritten orders, administered breathing treatments and sharpened injection needles.

Marge Becker made infant formula from scratch, scrubbed tracheal tubes by hand, and got to know her patients well because they often stayed at least a week.

"It took longer to do everything back then," said Becker, an RN who works in pre-anesthesia testing at St. Mary Mercy Hospital, in Livonia. "You had to sterilize everything."

Today, 50 years after the pair graduated from nursing school, physician orders are printed by computer; disposable "sharps" and tubing have become the norm and many patients leave the hospital a day or two after a surgical procedure.

"There's more responsibility, more technical care," said Kramer, an RN in the Medical Cardiology Unit at St. Mary Mercy. "We're using technical equipment and we have to know how it all works and we document everything. There is a whole lot more to everything. The whole scope of caring is more specific and there are protocols to follow."

"When I started in nursing school the basic comfort and care of the patient was not as technical as it is now."

She and Becker, along with their classmates from the Providence Hospital School of Nursing, will have plenty of time to reminisce about the old days during their 50-year reunion, May 13-15 in Southfield. The event, which coincides with National Hospital Week, includes a stop on West Grand Boulevard in Detroit, where the school operated until 1975, along with a visit to Providence Hospital in Southfield.

Marilyn Kramer nursed at Oakwood Hospital before starting her career at St. Mary Mercy Hospital in Livonia.

Marge Becker at the start of her 50-year nursing career.

A STRONG BOND

Both Becker and Kramer have kept in touch with many of the class of 1961's 55 graduates. Less than a dozen of them are still nursing, but they all share in a kind of sisterhood that started at Providence, where students lived in hospital dorms during their three-year training.

"What was wonderful was if you had a bad day in the hospital, you could share your woes with friends because they were probably experiencing the same thing," Kramer said. "Today, students sit in classes and go on site to the hospital and then go home to their families and no one understands what they went through."

"We lived together for three years and were like sisters. We were there all the time and we became good friends. Everyone went their own way after graduation, but when we get together, it's like old times."

Kramer worked on a "difficult" surgical floor at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn after she obtained her nursing certificate and before she moved to Charlotte near Lansing, where she assisted at a private medical practice where she did everything from getting patients ready for exams to sterilizing equipment.

By the time she took on a midnight job at St. Mary Mercy, she had married and her husband was teaching at Schoolcraft College. She quit two years later to teach the nurses aid program in Livonia schools and rejoined St. Mary Mercy Hospital in 1989. In the meantime, she also raised a son and daughter.

"I was anxious to get back to regular nursing," she said, explaining why she quit teaching. "It's just something you want to do when you're a nurse. Everyday is different in nursing ... it's a challenge and it's exciting."

She's considering retirement within the next year or two and looking forward to travelling with her husband.

MOM AND SON

Becker trained in the operating room at Jennings Memorial Hospital in Detroit after her graduation. She stayed there for six years and then moved to St. Mary Mercy Hospital in 1968.

"We were one building back then. I worked the emergency room for 18 years," Becker said. Now she talks with patients primarily by phone, obtaining medical history and medication dosage as they prepare for surgery. In her spare time she takes Irish dance classes.

One of her two sons is a nurse who works at Angela Hospice in Livonia. Her daughter works as a dietary aide at St. Mary Mercy.

She was surprised when her son decided to become a nurse, but also recognized that the career offers many perks.

"It's a wonderful profession. There are so many variables. You can work in different shifts and areas. You can always find a job," she said.

Kramer has worked with several women who raised families and then went to nursing school. She said mothers often do well nursing because of their caregiver roles.

"It just fits. They're (moms) always taking care of someone."

Dishwasher problem almost stumps the 'doctor'

BY JOE GAGNON
GUEST COLUMNIST

When you are married to a retired school principal there is no slacking off on the job.

Appliance Doctor

Joe Gagnon

Around our house she figures that the Appliance Doctor can fix anything which is truly not the case, so once in a while I hire someone. She will not spend money to fix an appliance because she has me for free and I also must maintain a sense of pride.

Several months ago after she ran out of dishwasher powdered detergent purchased last year, she filed the complaints on an almost daily basis. "My glasses are coming out all foggy and they look terrible." When she started so did the readers of this column, along with the same comments coming from consumers calling my radio show. "My dishwasher does a terrible job" became a constant echo between my ears and it was time to make some inquires.

Some people went out and purchased a brand new dishwasher only to find out that was not a solution. Many individuals spent money for a service call which resulted in wasted dollars. Many homeowners changed the brand of dishwasher detergent they had been using for years to no avail. My standard answer has been, don't blame the dishwasher, and blame the detergent. The soap companies have removed the phosphates!

In our house I was under strict supervision to solve this dilemma. I was told that my tenure was under a dark cloud and my doctoring days could suffer an image black-out so I got on the case full time.

I went to my all knowing computer and folks, I want to tell you that you should not believe everything you read on the Internet.

REMEDIES

I tell my darling Valorie to try mixing a spoonful of Tang with the powdered detergent in the soap container. That doesn't work! I suggest she mix a spoonful of Kool-Aid and that doesn't work! Even with more emphasis I inform her that a spoonful of lime or lemon juice will take care of it and that doesn't work! I stop by an old friend's appliance store in Chelsea and I tell Mark Heydlauff that my marriage is about to go on the rocks and he hands me this container of a product called Lemi-Shine and guarantees it will take care of all the problems.

He was absolutely correct and now the principal's dishwasher is working just beautifully and she begun to call me by my first name again.

HELPFUL PRODUCT

There are 16 states in this country that have a ban on using phosphate in dishwasher detergent and Michigan is now one of them. That means 36 states don't seem to be overly concerned about it. This new product called Lemi-Shine has not hit the grocery store market full bore yet but your request for it might make them act in a full speed manner. I can now guarantee it will take care of the problems with wash ability in your dishwasher.

Another suggestion might be applicable if you are traveling to another state this year. I am going to North Dakota in a few days and I am stopping by a grocery store and will purchase a few boxes of powdered dishwasher detergent. These are the states that currently have banned the use of phosphates: Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin. If you are going to one of the other 36 states please be careful crossing the borders. There may be border inspections to check your vehicle for illegal dishwasher detergent. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600. You can e-mail your problems and questions on appliances to appldr@twmi.rr.com.

ARTHRITIS IN THE SPRING

After this long Michigan winter with its unending cold and gloom, we feel the warmth and light of spring. However, spring brings a mixed message to people with arthritis.

If one has psoriatic arthritis then spring brings relief. The ultra violet rays that help clear psoriasis exert a good effect on psoriatic arthritic joints. But patients with Lupus arthritis find that the same ultraviolet light exerts an aggravating effect on the skin, joints, and kidneys. For Lupus patients, spring with its warmth and light creates a risk.

For individuals with arthritis of the knees and shoulders, spring is both a help and hazard. The return of good weather means the chance to walk and play tennis or engage in golf. But a slip or fall, playing too long or too hard bring on wear to the joints and the risk of strain to supporting tendons and ligaments.

For patients with fibromyalgia, spring is a pure blessing. Many medications are available to treat fibromyalgia, but none of them are as effective as exercise. In turn, the best exercise is walking done early in the morning. When a person with fibromyalgia exercises early he or she is giving movement to muscles before those muscles can stiffen and ache through the day.

Spring brings warmth, light and a fresh feel to the air best experienced in the morning, a fine incentive to joints with fibromyalgia to arise and join the clarity of the early hours.

Heron Days event combines, birds, books, clowns

See majestic great blue herons on their nests at "Heron Days," noon to 4 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, May 21-22 at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford.

Visitors can observe the great blue herons at the rookery through spotting scopes on the 800-foot boardwalk on Wildwing Lake. The birds are typically taking care of their young, and may be seen flying to and from their nests.

Representatives from Six Rivers Regional Land Conservancy, Livingston Land Conservancy, Sierra Club, Wilderrest, Friends of the Detroit River, and The Michigan Archeology Society will be on hand at the Nature Center to meet visitors and answer questions about their organizations.

An Ohio State University crew that studies Emerald Ash Borers in the Nature Area will discuss the next threat — Asian long-horned beetles. Heavner's Canoe Livery will promote its No Child Left Inside programs, and photographer Ted Nelson will sell copies of his book, Nature of Kensington.

Rosco the Clown will keep kids laughing at the Nature Center, while gardeners browse native plants from Wildtype Nursery of Mason. Live insects also will be on display.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

Attorney J.B. Bieske can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And, if an appeal is necessary Bieske has won several hundred cases before a court date is even set.

Those denied can appeal on their own but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

Attorney Bieske has represented only Social Security Disability clients for over 27 years. That is the only type of law he practices. And, he personally meets with all clients and appears himself at all court hearings. Many large firms assign clients to young associate attorneys with much less experience; and often these firms aren't even based in Michigan.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law Bieske has written a book for attorneys about the subject. He also has been interviewed on various radio and television programs and has given speeches to many groups.

Bieske's office staff consists of paralegals and secretaries who are extremely helpful in answering questions with regard to the status of client's cases and administrative procedure.

Attorney Bieske welcomes you to call him to determine if you may be eligible for these benefits. He offers a free phone or office consultation. If Bieske represents you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

In a recent radio interview attorney Bieske explained that many people are not even aware that they are eligible for Social Security Disability benefits. You may be eligible even if you have retired and are receiving a pension. If you have an illness or injury (whether or not related to your work), are under 65 and unable to work full-time you may be eligible. Social Security Disability benefits are based on your work record or your deceased spouse's work record (Widow's/ Widower's benefits).

Call attorney J.B. Bieske at 1-800-331-3530 for a FREE consultation if you are considering applying for Social Security Disability Benefits or if you have been denied. His Livonia office is located on Six Mile Road just West of I-275 and his Novi office is on Haggerty just North of 12 Mile Road.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mike Accettura and Pat (Rutledge) Accettura celebrated their 50-year wedding anniversary Feb. 4 with friends and family at the Italian-American Banquet Center. The couple met on a blind date and married in 1961 in Detroit. They raised four children — Mike (Mary) of Berkley, Tony (Julie) of Farmington Hills, AnnaRita (Jeff) Schultz of Farmington Hills, Philip of Taylor — in Redford Township, then moved to Farmington Hills approximately 18 years ago. Mike, a retired carpenter, and Pat have nine grandchildren and are avid mall walkers. They enjoy spending time with their friends who also mall walk.

They also maintain a special tradition that started more than 40 years ago. Every Thursday is Spaghetti Day at their house. Mike used to make the homemade spaghetti sauce, but he has since taught Pat to make it, too. All the kids and grandkids are invited to their house on Thursdays for spaghetti dinner.

10 Jobs Of The Future

Rachel farrell,
 Special to CareerBuilder

We know where the jobs are today -- and we definitely know where they aren't. But what about in 10 or even 20 years?

As things like technology, medicine, science and environmentalism continue to advance in the coming years, several occupations are bound to emerge. By understanding these trends, job seekers can play a more active role in planning for their careers.

Some are speculative, some are definitive -- but here are 10 potential jobs of the near or distant future, based on the trends:

1. Cyber security specialist - Cyber security is a growing industry. Knowledgeable professionals who can protect websites and expose hackers will be a hot commodity in the coming years.

2. Genetic counselor - Genetics are advancing at a rapid rate. Doctors can now run tests that will predict genetic conditions, and soon, parents may be able to choose the sex of their unborn children. With the help of genetic counselors, families can educate themselves on available genetic technologies and options.

3. Organic food farmer - Organic food currently occupies about 10 percent of the food and beverage market -- and it's only going to increase. As a result, more organic farmers and producers will need to improve organic farming techniques and grow the food.

4. Medical records administrator - Medical records are at the forefront of innovative technology, with a strong push to digitize medical records. An increased number of medical researchers will be needed to help transition records from paper to digital, and to be able to navigate records quickly for patients.

5. Mobile application developer - Remember cell phones? You know, the equivalent of a cell phone, except that you could only use it in the car and it was the size of a brick? With the development of phones like the BlackBerry, Android and iPhone, the mobile media industry is continually progressing. An increased number of developers will be needed to help develop applications, in addition to combating security and compatibility issues.

6. Robotics technician - Robots are becoming more commonplace and they don't run on their own. Technicians will be needed to build robots, maintain them and keep them from malfunctioning.

7. Simulation engineer - There's a simulator for nearly everything these days, from surgeries to flying to drinking and driving. As more simulation-based technologies follow suit, engineers will be required to help out.

8. Social media manager - Social media is the new "it" profession. It started with Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn and has expanded to many other platforms. Organizations are now employing social media managers to oversee their online communities and enhance/protect the company brand.

9. Stem cell researcher - Although it's a controversial topic, stem cell research is gaining ground. If this continues, more researchers will be needed to develop cures for diseases, genetic enhancements, and the other information these cells may potentially hold.

10. Sustainability officer - Sustainability has become a concern around the world and also among businesses. Since the executive suite may not have time to learn all there is to know, organizations are hiring eco-savvy individuals as "sustainability officers." These folks will find, research, and implement eco-friendly policies to benefit the organization.

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

E350 Attacks The Road With Vigor

AdvertisingFeature

CAReport

AVANTI NEWSFEATURES

Mercedes-Benz has done a masterful job of making its E350 look fresh and vigorous.

The face of the car that was redesigned in 2010 is angular and slick. The E350's coefficient of drag is 0.25 for the European model and 0.27 for the U.S. version because of wider tires.

The lower the number, the easier the car slides through the air, and the easier it slides through the air, the quieter it is and the less fuel it uses. With gasoline in greater Detroit priced at more than $4 per gallon now and rising, that's important, no matter what your income is.

Prices begin at $48,600 for the E350 with the 268-horsepower V6. The 4Matic, with all-wheel drive, begins at $51,100. The E550, with a 382-horsepower V-8, begins at $56,300. The E550 4Matic starts at $58,800.

The E350 Bluetec turbodiesel engine gets well over 30 miles per gallon on the highway, and there's a station wagon and coupe, too.

On the highway, the E350 glides softly. Not so soft that the car feels disconnected from the road -- quite the opposite -- but rather as if it were riding on perfectly smooth pavement.

It was impressively smooth on a bumpy gravel road, which is a testament to the shock absorbers that use an internal bypass to soften the ride on normal roads but firm up at higher speeds on twisty roads.

The 3.5-liter engine makes more than enough horsepower (168) for all but those who want maximum performance.

The transmission is a 7-speed automatic that can be shifted manually with paddles on the steering wheel.

A luxury sedan needs to be luxurious inside, and the E350 certainly is.

The front seats are deep and supportive.

The car Avanti reviewers drove was equipped with the optional multi-contour seats that have a series of air bladders and mechanical bolsters that can be changed to suit the driver.

The seat also offers massage to lessen fatigue on long drives.

The instrument panel has five gauges grouped in front of the driver.

The steering wheel has controls for hands-free cell phone use and audio adjustments.

LEDs highlight the lower portions of the door panels and instrument panel.

This soft lighting not only looks cool, but also gives just enough light to see handles and switches.

Mercedes' COMAND system for operating the navigation and audio systems is controlled by a knob on the center console.

The operation is reasonably easy to learn but could be more intuitive.

The optional Harmon Kardon surround-sound stereo has inputs for an iPod or an MP3 player and it can hold 6 gigabytes of music.

The navigation system has real-time traffic reports.

A driver-drowsiness monitor uses a steering sensor that is coupled to smart software that uses 70 parameters to establish a unique driver profile during the first 20 minutes of driving.

If the system identifies the erratic steering corrections that drivers make as they begin to get drowsy, it triggers an audible warning and a "Time for a Rest?" message with a coffee cup icon in the instrument cluster.

Mercedes-Benz's driver-assistance package is a set of options that notify the driver through a shudder in the steering wheel if the car deviates from its lane, that lights a triangle in the outside mirror when a vehicle is in the blind spot and alerts the driver when the system senses an impending collision.

If the driver fails to react, the system applies maximum braking about a half of a second before the collision.

This reduces the impact and creates what Mercedes calls an electronic crumple zone. Up to 11 airbags are used throughout the interior, including one for the driver's knees and a pelvic side bag that works with the existing side-curtain airbag to help prevent injuries in side impacts.

The Mercedes-Benz E350 is sporty, smooth and luxurious. It is equipped with high-tech features that alert the driver when road conditions have the potential to become unsafe.

The Mercedes we drove had a base price of $48,600. Options included metallic paint, leather upholstery, parking sensors, split-folding rear seats, the COMAND system with navigation and upgraded audio, 18-inch wheels, sport suspension, perforated front brake discs, rearview camera, Distronic cruise control, lane-keeping assist and blind-spot assist. The sticker price was $60,665.

The car's warranty is for four years or 50,000 miles.

NEW DEALERSHIP: Porsche has opened a new showroom to serve Metropolitan Detroit. Porsche is now on the same campus as the Bavarian Motor Village BMW Center on the west side of Gratiot Avenue in Eastpointe. John Wilson is the service manager for both dealerships at 24717 Gratiot and from personal experience we at Avanti NewsFeatures can tell you John and his people in the back shop do a fine job of getting vehicles in and out of the dealership in a timely fashion. When cars owned by Avanti staff have been brought in for maintenance and repair, John Wilson and his people have done the job right the first time, every time. Find out for yourself how great these guys are. Get in touch with John yourself by emailing him at john.wilson@bavarianmotorvillage.com <mailto:atjohn.wilson@bavarianmotorvillage.com> or call him at (586) 435-8350. Even if it's just to say "hi."

BIG ENGINE: Porsche will make 600 units of its 6-speed 911 GT3 RS 4.0 for sale worldwide. The Carrara White sports car's engine has the highest displacement 911 engine of all time and delivers 125 horsepower per liter with its naturally aspirated flat six. At its peak, the GT3 cranks out 500 horsepower at 8250 rpm. Torque is 339 foot pounds, achieved at 5750 rpm. The GT3 goes from 0-60 in under 4 seconds and hits 124 mph in 12 seconds or less. Top speed is ... whoah! ... 193 mph. Um, we'd love to see if we can get the GT3 up to that speed on I-696 when we get the car. Price tag: Only ... $185,000. The cars will be delivered to buyers in the fall. What kind of gas mileage does it get? Who cares!

MADE IN MICHIGAN: Spartan Motors, a manufacturer of specialty chassis and vehicles, has begun assembling 2012 gas-powered Isuzu N-Series trucks at its plant in Charlotte. Units will arrive at Isuzu dealerships this month. Spartan will produce 18 units per day and produce about 4,000 units for the model year. The N-Series had been assembled by General Motors workers in Wisconsin until GM shut the plant in 2009.
