Colbeck targeted in latest recall drive

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Add freshman Sen. Patrick Colbeck's name to the list of Michigan legislators being targeted in recall efforts. A petition aimed at removing Colbeck, a Canton Township Republican, from office was filed Tuesday with Wayne County Clerk Cathy Garrett's office, and a county Elections Commission hearing, to determine whether the language is clear enough to go before voters, was scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 10. Colbeck's District 7 includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township as well as Canton. The petition simply cites Colbeck's vote in favor of Public Act 4 of 2011 as the reason for the proposed recall. Public Act 4, approved by the Legislature and signed into law by Gov. Rick Snyder, also the target of a recall attempt, gives new powers to emergency financial managers to run communities and school districts the state deems to be in poor financial health. "We all know it's an uphill battle, but (recall proponents) are very, very angry, and there's a determined group of citizens," said Mary Kelley of Northville Township, who filed the petition. Kelley, who described herself as a retired school administrator, represents Citizens to Recall Patrick Colbeck, which, she said, is loosely affiliated with the Snyder recall effort. Kelley said she herself has been gathering signatures on petitions aimed at recalling Snyder. Colbeck could not immediately be reached Wednesday afternoon, but spokeswoman Jennifer Murray e-mailed a one-sentence response from the senator regarding the recall effort. "It's part of the process, but my focus will remain on doing what I was elected to do,

Plymouth ready for display of 'Elegance'

A car is only as good as the worst part on it. That sums up Gerald Szostak's perfectionist philosophy when it comes to restoring antique cars. And Szostak knows what he's talking about: He currently has 14 antique and rare cars, and estimates he's owned three dozen or so in the 40 years he's been tinkering with old cars. "It's the pride of finishing something, you know?" said Szostak after describing the many parts, down to the trim on the instrument panel, that he repleted on his restored 1926 Willys Knight, which will appear in the Concours d'Elegance in Plymouth Township on Sunday. "Most people don't do that. It's hard to take off and plate." Szostak was standing in a large complex of garages outside his home in Salem Township on a hot afternoon last week. In the building were many cars in various stages of restoration: a 1906 Holsman, with a rope drive; a 1919 Stearns Knight, made in Cleveland; a 1929 Overland he's had since 1979; and a 1912 Overland, one of his favorites. Some of the cars are his, while others he's restoring for friends. "Since I retired, everybody wants me to help 'em out," Szostak said.

which is to represent the interests of all of the people in my district in Lansing," Colbeck said.
 If petition language is approved Aug. 10, Kelley's group would have 90 days, within a 120-day period, to collect enough signatures from voters in Colbeck's district to put a recall question on the ballot. "We will begin immediately upon approval of the clarity of the language," and will aim for a February 2012 special election, Kelley said.
 Kelley said the county clerk's office is determining exactly how many signatures would be needed to put a recall question to voters, and that the number has been estimated at around 26,500.
 The recall committee, Kelley said, is nonpartisan, and members seem to come from a cross-section of professions.

"We have teachers, we have retirees, we have public servants. No particular political persuasion," she said.
 With state budget cuts forcing local school districts to cut budgets and increase class sizes, Kelley said, voters with children affected by such cuts will be more sympathetic toward a recall when schools resume in September.

Confectioner realizes sweet dream with Plymouth shop

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The stars are aligned for JoAnne McGinn and her new venture in Plymouth's Old Village.

McGinn, who has for decades baked cakes and cupcakes and made candies for family and friends and, later, for sales, has opened a sweet shop, JoJo's Treats 'n' Sweets, the fulfillment of a longtime dream.

"It was an opportunity that couldn't be passed," said McGinn in her shop on North Mill on Tuesday.

McGinn, of Livonia, makes candy and custom-bakes cakes at her shop; all cakes are made to order and can be shaped and decorated to buyers' specifications.

"The price is dictated by what they want on it," she said. "You don't see a cake unless there's an order."

Photos of some of her work tell that story: there's a guitar-shaped cake, another made to look like a wrapped gift, and another that looks like a ladybug. Her specialty candies include caramels, "tortoisés" (chocolate, caramel and nuts), flavored truffles, peanut butter cups and peanut butter bonbons.

"Everything is made here. Nothing is pre-made (and) shipped in," McGinn said.

"For some, people is cake, until they taste something that is really high quality," said McGinn's husband, Tim, who helps her around the shop.

JoAnne McGinn took a circuitous route to her present career, working as a custodian for the Plymouth Canton Community Schools beginning in the 1970s and then spending 20-plus years in residential real estate as a Realtor and mortgage broker.

"When the market fell apart, started dropping, they closed our branch, so I went back to candy," she said. She launched a website and began shipping draw visitors, and people in town are engaged in the community. Since opening JoJo's in June, she said, the community's response has left her even more impressed with Plymouth.

McGinn said her baking and candy-making skills stem from a talent for art. Ideas for new confections seem to come to her easily, she said.

"I like to experiment" with new flavors and new blends, she said. "To me, it's a challenge."

JoJo's Treats 'n' Sweets is at 985 N. Mill. The phone number is (734) 788-5453.

CRIME WATCH

Uniforms purloined

Military uniforms and gear, including a grenade pouch, a holster, a parachute bag and manuals, were recently reported stolen from a storage unit at an apartment building in Plymouth Township.

The victim reported the theft from his storage unit at the apartment on Heritage Drive, in the area of North Territorial and Sheldon roads, on Friday, according to a Plymouth Township Police Department report. The theft had occurred since mid-June, the victim told police.

The police report indicated the storage area appeared to be locked, and it was unclear how it had been accessed.

Vehicle burglaries

Valuables were reportedly stolen from at least three parked vehicles in Plymouth Township late last week. All three vehicles were parked in home driveways, and all three had been left unlocked, according to police reports.

The incidents were:

- On Plymouth Lake Circle, where cash stored in a center console was reported stolen from a Ford F-250 pickup truck. The theft occurred between 10 p.m. July 21 and 6 a.m. the next day, police said.

- On Plymouth Ridge Drive, where two cell phone chargers, an iPod and a pair of sunglasses were reported stolen from the center console of a 2011 Ford Explorer. The theft occurred between 9 p.m. July 21 and 9 a.m. the next day, police said.

Deck invasion

A patio umbrella was reported stolen July 21 from the rear deck of a house on White Tail Court, in the area of North Territorial and Ridge roads.

The victim reported that she last saw the umbrella at about 1 p.m. the day before, police said.

Victim remembered as loving mother, friend

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Though family and friends bid her a tearful farewell Wednesday during a memorial Mass, Canton mother of four Elizabeth Maupin will be remembered as a loving and kind parent, wife, sister and friend who, on the day she was fatally struck by a Jeep, had baked cookies she took to firefighters at station No. 1, off Canton Center south of Cherry Hill.

Beth Maupin, here in one of her favorite wedding photos, is being remembered as a loving wife, mother and friend.

Beth Maupin, 27, died from injuries she suffered just before 8:20 p.m. last Thursday, when police say a Jeep driven by a 49-year-old Canton woman accidentally struck her while she was walking her bike across Haggerty Road north of Michigan Avenue.

No charges have yet been filed. The investigation is continuing, though police have ruled out alcohol as a factor. Mrs. Maupin's brother, Stephen Graham, said he hopes her tragic death "has some impact on motorists' attention to pedestrians."

Brent Maupin, 28, said his wife "was the mother of four beautiful children" — Connor, who had turned 4 just two days before his mother's death, Katelyn, 3, Christian, 2, and Carter, just 4 months old.

"She was definitely a stay-at-home mom. Those children were everything to her," Brent Maupin, a self-employed painting contractor, said. "She was a wonderful mother and a wonderful wife. She was my rock."

Mrs. Maupin was a Canton High School graduate who played percussion in the Plymouth-Canton Marching Band and who became a section leader. Her brother said she was a member in 1999 when the band won a national championship in the Bands of America contest.

Known simply as Beth by those who loved her, she was remembered as a loyal, dependable friend by Kristen Cardwell, a Canton mother to son Cameron, 2, and Carly, 1.

"This is so hard," Cardwell said, breaking into tears as she spoke of her friend. "She was the most amazing woman. I don't think she ever had an enemy. She was the type of person who would bend over backwards for anybody."

Cardwell recalled coming home from the hospital after she had given birth to Cameron.

"Beth had baked a big cake that said, 'Welcome home, Cameron.' She was just the sweetest person out there," Cardwell said. "It's devastating to think she's not going to be there for her children, because those four children were her life."

Brent Maupin said his wife took their children to parks, fairs — just about any family outdoor activity she could find. "She was the perfect mother," he said.

Beth Maupin, killed in an accident at Haggerty and Michigan Ave., last week, doing what friends and family say she loved doing: Being a mom.

Mrs. Maupin made those around her feel appreciated and loved.

"Beth loved family get-togethers," brother Stephen Graham said, and Mrs. Maupin and her mother, Jane Graham, "shared a big desk calendar of events to do every weekend."

Cardwell recalled that Mrs. Maupin "lit up the room" when she walked in. "She was that person you strive to be. She was Superwoman in my eyes because she had these four children, and she would take them everywhere."

On a lighter note, Mrs. Maupin and her mother loved clipping coupons, her brother said, and "she couldn't wait to show me what she had gotten for such a great deal." Mrs. Maupin also enjoyed attending art fairs with her younger sister, Shelby Graham.

Brent Maupin said he and his wife met through MySpace, a social networking site. They had been together for five years, married for four.

"We got engaged just a few weeks after we met," he said. "It was one of those love-at-first-sight deals."

Mrs. Maupin enjoyed exercising, and she was walking her bike from the northwest corner of Haggerty to the east side of the road when police say the driver, who had stopped for a red light on southbound Haggerty, made a right turn onto Michigan Avenue without seeing Mrs. Maupin.

Canton Detective Tim Wright described the driver as distraught over the accident, saying "it's a sad situation" for everyone involved as Mrs. Maupin's family tries to cope with their loss.

Mrs. Maupin ran her first 5K marathon in Plymouth on Father's Day, and she was training to race in a triathlon with her brother and their father, Dennis Graham.

Mrs. Maupin often baked for those she loved and those she respected, such as Canton firefighters. Cardwell went with her on occasion.

"I remember how Connor would look at the fire trucks when she would take the cookies. It's a memory I will always have," Cardwell said. "I am going to keep that tradition (of delivering cookies) going for her."

Brent Maupin this week was in the process of setting up The Maupin Family Fund through the Chase Bank branch southeast of Ford and Canton Center roads. Once the trust has been established, donations for the family may be made at any Chase branch, a bank employee said.

Brent Maupin said he will get by "day-to-day with a lot of family support" as he faces a difficult future with four motherless children.

Cardwell, meanwhile, hopes to collect diapers, gift cards for children's clothing, juice, children's snacks and other items to help the Maupin family. She said she can be reached by e-mail at kcardwel@emich.edu.

Memorial visitation for Mrs. Maupin was Tuesday at McCabe Funeral Home in Canton. A memorial Mass was Wednesday at St. Thomas a'Beckett Catholic Church, where Mrs. Maupin's brother said she had been involved in activities such as the funeral luncheon ministry.

Other than her husband, her children, her brother, her sister and her parents, Mrs. Maupin also is survived by her grandmother, Ann Wiesemann, and many cousins, aunts and uncles.

Free shuttle invites Concours visitors to explore Plymouth

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Downtown Plymouth and the city's Old Village neighborhood are rolling out the welcome mat for visitors to this weekend's Concours d'Elegance of America, a show of more than 300 rare, vintage and luxury cars that draws exhibitors from around the country.

The Downtown Development Authority and the Old Village Association have teamed up with businesses to provide free shuttle service between the city, a hotel where many exhibitors will be staying, and the Inn at St. John's in Plymouth Township, where Sunday's Concours and several related events will be held.

The shuttle, which will run Saturday and Sunday, is for local Concours fans as well as car exhibitors, and their family members and friends, visiting the area. The DDA's John Buzuvis said the idea is to provide people with an easy way to get to the city in order to explore downtown or Old Village while they're attending the Concours and related events.

"We want to make sure they feel welcome in our community," Buzuvis said.

The plan should ease the parking situation for Concours visitors, too, as space at St. John's is limited and general-admission visitors have to park away from the site.

"We're trying to make it easier for people to get there," Buzuvis said. (Official Concours parking, included with the ticket price, is at the Automotive Components Holdings plant on Sheldon Road at M-14, which will have a separate shuttle service).

The DDA-Old Village shuttle stops are Station 885 restaurant in Old Village (885 Starkweather), the Ironwood Grill downtown (840 W. Ann Arbor Trail), the Hilton Garden Inn (14600 N. Sheldon Road) and the Inn at St. John's. Riders should have to wait no more than about 20 minutes for a bus, Buzuvis said.

Shuttle hours will be 10 a.m. to midnight on Saturday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. On Saturday evening, Buzuvis said, shuttles will feature tour guides who will provide information about local history, landmarks, and attractions.

The shuttle's business sponsors are Station 885 and the Ironwood, plus Dearborn Jewelers and Hermann's Olde Towne Grille.

In addition, Concours tickets are available in advance at Station 885, Dearborn Jewelers (805 W. Ann Arbor Trail), Hermann's (195 W. Liberty) and Nico & Vali (744 Wing). Tickets are $25 each, cash only.

The Concours itself is 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday at the golf course at the Inn at St. John's; related events include a Friday motoring tour for exhibitors and their cars, a Saturday auction of classic cars, and a Saturday evening gala at St. John's.

Downtown Plymouth will be the site Friday evening of a sort of miniature Concours, as the owners of a 1936 Ford two-door, a 1939 Cadillac, a 1999 Plymouth Prowler and a 1934 Morgan three-wheeler will display their cars on Penniman near Kellogg Park, during a free concert by the Bluescasters. The cars are scheduled to arrive at 6:15 p.m.

ATTENTION TO DETAIL

His 1926 Willys Knight, made in Toledo, is a six-cylinder, four-passenger convertible with a rumble seat and a leather-bound trunk — a real trunk — luggage compartment — strapped on the rear. Szostak's had it for about a dozen years, buying it from a man whose family had owned it since 1927.

Szostak finished the restoration the previous owner had started; tasks included rebuilding the engine, repairing the transmission, rewiring the entire car, replating many parts and repainting others.

But the 85-year-old Knight retains some original features, including, pasted inside the lid of a storage bin behind the front seat, the original instructions on operating the car windows and the retractable top.

The engine features a sleeve-valve system patented by Charles Knight, which was used in the Willys Knight cars and a number of luxury models, including Daimler, Mercedes-Benz and Minerva, whose makers paid royalties for it.

Because they required more precise machining, Szostak said, cars with sleeve-valve engines were nearly twice the price of those with the more common poppet (or "mushroom") valves. They also got more efficient with increased mileage, as carbon buildup provided better seals for the valve ports.

The porting appeals to Szostak.

"It's sort of unique," he said. "You can imagine the tolerances on those sleeves. ... It was made for luxury cars."

RESTORING HISTORY

Szostak, who recently retired from his own heating, ventilation and air conditioning contracting firm, has a long history in the automobile repair and restoration.

His father was a mechanic and a service manager at Pontiac dealerships, and he started working in the garage during summer breaks and on weekends while in college. After graduating, he was a manufacturing engineer for Detroit Diesel, when it was owned by General Motors Corp., for about 20 years. Later, he went into business for himself.

He bought his first antique car, a 1928 Willys Knight, in 1971. "I just wanted an old car to play with," he said.

Szostak has had several cars in previous Concours events, and likes showing them off, talking shop with visitors and other antique car owners.

He especially likes talking about the Willys-Overland Motor Co. (later bought by Kaiser Motors, which was sold to American Motors Corp.), whose most famous product was probably the World War II-era Jeep. Visitors are struck by the Willys story, he said.

"It's interesting" to see people react to hearing Willys history, Szostak said. "They thought Jeep came out of nowhere."

The cost of education

Foundation scholarships help students with college expense

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Patrick Durocher had a connection with Dustin Piepsney when he was a member of the Canton High School wrestling team and he'd stay after practice to work out with kids wrestling in the Canton Wrestling Club, a group that included Piepsney.

Their connection on the mat is now going to help Durocher, now a student at Eastern Michigan University, make a connection with other students in the classroom.

Durocher, a Canton resident studying elementary education at Eastern, was awarded the $750 Dustin Piepsney Memorial Scholarship when the Canton Community Foundation handed out nearly $30,000 in scholarships in its 2011-2012 scholarship program.

With the one-year anniversary of his death quickly approaching, the family of Dustin Piepsney has been busy making sure his name will never be forgotten.

The scholarship was established by Piepsney's parents, Bill and Amy, two years ago on the first anniversary of the death of their son, who was found dead behind their Canton home in December 2008.

"This scholarship means a great deal to me," Durocher said. "It is so much more than just the money. It is helping me to become a teacher so that I can help kids like (Piepsney) do what they wish in life. I feel that because I have received this scholarship it is a great way to honor his name as well as his family from my academic success."

Durocher, now the wrestling coach at Pioneer Middle School, said he's got a "great passion" for the sport and would "love nothing more than to teach kids before high school so that they can accomplish the highest goals in high school."

More than that, Durocher figures the scholarship will help him reach his own goal: Becoming a teacher.

The foundation's scholarship program has been helping students reach similar goals since its inception in 1990.

This year's nearly $30,000 brings the total into the $500,000 ballpark in terms of funds handed out to students. Foundation President Joan Noricks said the joy comes for foundation members when students who thought, "Oh, a $500 scholarship isn't really going to make a difference," find out it does.

"In the last few years, we're hearing a lot of input back that it helped spur students

Beware: Flimflam artists come in many forms

BY RICK BLOOM
GUEST COLUMNIST

I recently read a news story where a Christian-radio talk-show host, who hosted a money show, has been indicted for a Ponzi scheme involving 700 investors and over $190 million.

Allegedly double-digit returns promised by investors, were told they could never lose money and could withdraw their money at any time. The host of the show claims he did nothing wrong because all he did was read from a script.

As a former radio talk-show host of a money show, I believe there are many issues about this that are important to examine.

The first is shame on the host. Whether he knew that he was promoting a scam or not, is not the issue. The issue is that before any personality promotes an item they need to do their homework. Unfortunately in too many cases, celebrities and personalities give endorsements not because they actually think the product is good but rather because they are paid to make an endorsement. It is something consumers always need to be aware of.

Money Matters

When I hosted a talk show, I always made sure I checked the product out from top to bottom before I ever agreed to an endorsement. Most people don't do this. Their only concern is how much they are going to be paid for the endorsement.

The lesson consumers must learn is that a great majority of celebrity endorsements are meaningless.

Another lesson to be learned is about what you hear on the radio. When I first started on the radio over 20 years ago, I was told not to worry about advertisers, do the best show you can and let everything else fall into place. Today, it is the exact opposite. Unfortunately, today most of the money shows are nothing more than infomercials used to promote whatever an advertiser wants. For most of the hosts, personal integrity is not an issue.

The only important issue is what the advertiser wants.

Another lesson to be learned from this situation is that investors have responsibilities. Anyone who guarantees double-digit returns without risks is either a liar or clueless. Either way don't deal with them. I don't care if they belong to your church or synagogue or whether they're in the same sorority or fraternity — it doesn't matter. Affinity scams have become so common these days that I'm surprised so many people still fall for them.

When we deal with people with similar backgrounds, we tend to let our guard down. We all like to think that if we have something in common with someone they won't rip us off. Unfortunately, that's not the case.

Therefore, no matter what the situation is, never be afraid to ask questions, check things out independently and always take your time. Never let anyone pressure you into something that you don't feel comfortable with.

Good luck!

Bank of Ann Arbor is moving its Wholesale Mortgage Lending Division from Madison Heights to its Plymouth location.

Bank of Ann Arbor expands Plymouth office

In conjunction with Richard M. Reaume, Plymouth Township supervisor, Bank of Ann Arbor's President and CEO Timothy G. Marshall announced the expansion of its Plymouth Office by 25 full-time employees.

The bank will be relocating its Wholesale Mortgage Lending Division from its current offices in Madison Heights to the Bank of Ann Arbor office located at 1333 W. Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township.

"The reception we have received from the Plymouth community since our acquisition of the former New Liberty Bank in May 2010 has been exceptional," Marshall said. "I can't think of a better way to show our appreciation and commitment to Plymouth than to move jobs into this community. With this move, we will be well-positioned to add more jobs to support the anticipated growth of our Plymouth banking office."

"The Bank of Ann Arbor is a terrific example of a home-grown bank expanding in our Plymouth community," Reaume said. "The Bank continues to demonstrate its commitment to this community and a desire to be a leading corporate citizen as is evident by this relocation of jobs into Plymouth Township."

The Bank of Ann Arbor Wholesale Mortgage Division provides access to competitively priced mortgages for lenders across the Midwest. The operations and administrative functions will be moving to the second floor of the Bank of Ann Arbor offices at 1333 West Ann Arbor Road by the end of August.

On a combined basis, the bank closed over $600 million in wholesale and retail mortgage loans in 2010. The mortgage banking group is an important and strategic revenue producing area for the bank which is reflected by the growth in our mortgage lending efforts over the past few years during a time when many banks were curtailing lending.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Federal reserve appointment

Bank of Ann Arbor announced its president and CEO, Timothy G. Marshall, has been appointed to the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago's 2011 Community Depository Institution Advisory Council. Marshall will serve as the sole community banker representing the State of Michigan.

The CDIAC provides an avenue for the Federal Reserve Bank to learn more about specific financial sectors throughout the Seventh Federal Reserve District, which encompasses Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa. Further, CDIAC meetings are intended to provide an opportunity for council members to discuss their concerns and views on economic, financial, and regulatory matters with key decision makers.

"It's an honor to be asked by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago to serve in this capacity as a representative for all of the Michigan-based community banks," explained Tim Marshall. "It's a positive reflection on the strong financial performance of Bank of Ann Arbor during the most recent economic downturn as well as the importance of the region to the economic vitality of our state."

Council members serve staggered terms lasting up to three years and meet twice annually to provide their views on current business and economic conditions to Chicago Fed President Charles Evans and other senior officials of the Federal Reserve Bank. Input from Council members on regional banking conditions helps contribute to the Federal Reserve System's formulation of national supervisory and monetary policy.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago is one of 12 regional Reserve Banks across the United States that, together with the Board of Governors in Washington, D.C., serves as the central bank for the United States.

Kroger stores throughout the state will be selling famous A & W Root Beer floats on the week-ends during these dates for $1, with 96 cents from each float sale applied directly to Easter Seals' programs and therapies for people with disabilities, mental illness and other special needs.

This year Kroger has decided to extend the program for an additional week with a goal to raise $100,000 for Easter Seals, nearly doubling the amount raised in 2010.

How to avoid phishing scams

BY JON GUNNELLS
GUEST COLUMNIST

The other day I received an e-mail from a company called Lead Net Ultra Pro claiming they had great international investment opportunities for me. What a great deal. Out of all of the people they could have e-mailed for this moneymaking opportunity in Korea, they chose me.

Obviously I'm being sarcastic as this e-mail was surely a scam. The sender on the other end blindly e-mailed myself and who knows how many others in order to "fish" out information and score some money.

Just like the e-mails about inheriting millions from a Nigerian King, this scam was easy to spot. But not all scams are that obvious. Follow these tips to protect yourself on the Internet to avoid phishing scams and avoid compromising your confidential information.

1. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is. This holds true for e-mails, voice mails, Facebook messages, Twitter messages and more. There is no way to lose 27 pounds of belly fat with one simple trick and there is no way to win a free vacation or other prize. If something on the Internet looks too good to be true: it is. Ignore it, or if it is an e-mail or message, delete it and report it as spam.

2. Avoid responding to

Tech Savvy

voice mails or e-mails from financial institutions. Even if you do your banking online, your bank won't send an e-mail asking for information and won't leave a voice mail asking that you call them immediately. If your financial institution needs to tell you something they will call you to their office location or send you a message on their secure site.

While this may seem obvious, some time the signs aren't so clear. Scammers use professionally sounding voice mail messages and have elaborate systems set in place to fool you into thinking they are the real deal. These scammers are after your account numbers or anything else they can use to get to your accounts. Online scammers create professionally looking e-mails that are also designed to fool consumers.

3. Pay attention to URLs. There is a big difference between a URL that starts with the characters HTTP and the characters HTTPS. HTTP stands for hyper text transport protocol. To most people that's not important. What is important is the letter "s" which in this case, stands for "secure."

So if a website begins with HTTP with no "s" it means it is not a secure site. You should never trust financial information (credit card or debit card info) on unsecure sites.

4. Always be on alert. Scammers will often pose as friends, looking to fill jobs or real estate agents looking to sell houses. Scammers will hijack legitimate accounts and message contacts so their phishing attacks appear more credible. So if you ever receive a fishy e-mail from a friend or colleague make sure to confirm their identity before giving out any personal information.

Of course, these are just a few ways you can avoid phishing scams on the Internet. For a more comprehensive list on how to stay away from scams visit <http://www.fraud.org>. No there's no "s" in that URL to make the site "secure" but don't worry — they won't be asking for your financial information. And if they do, you'll already know what to do.

Rotary Club looks for student hosts

The Canton Rotary Club is sponsoring a Youth Exchange student from South Korea this upcoming school year.

Rotary officials say they've been participating in International Exchanges for Youth for more than 75 years. The Canton Club has hosted many inbound students from various countries in the local community overseas to a variety of countries since it was chartered in 1977, according to Canton Rotary officials.

Students between the ages of 16 and 18 are selected by local Rotary Clubs around the world, and spend a year living and attending school in a foreign country.

The Rotary Club of Canton welcomes families in the Plymouth-Canton school district to apply to host the incoming student. Major requirements of host families are a willingness to share your culture with the student, a willingness to learn the student's culture, and a desire to welcome a new son or daughter into your home and your family. The student can share a room with a sibling of the same sex but must have their own bed, officials said.

The Canton Rotary Club provides a monthly stipend to the student, the student is covered by health insurance, and Rotary personnel are always available to help and counsel host families.

Rotary Exchange students are generally hosted by up to three families during their year in the community.

The club is interested in sponsoring one or more students from the Plymouth-Canton community who would like to spend a year studying abroad. Age requirements for this program are 16 to 18 when the student begins their year of exchange. Applications for the 2012/2013 year abroad will be considered this fall and students will be chosen by Dec. 1 to leave on their exchange in August 2012.

Riding on a 'Wish'

Cyclists take 300-mile trip to make dreams come true

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Bob Polzin's daughter, Theresa, was diagnosed with leukemia when she was 15 years old and benefitted from a young organization called "Make A Wish Foundation of Michigan" to get a new bedroom set from F&M of Canton.

A couple of years later, Polzin, looking for a way to give back, got involved in one of MAW's biggest fundraisers, Wish-A-Mile, a 300-mile bicycle trek from Traverse City to Chelsea.

And he's been riding ever since. Polzin — and the other two dozen members of his team, Team Header — are in Traverse City for Friday's start of the 2011 WAM, Polzin's 17th ride.

His reason for riding is pretty simple. "To give back to the kids," Polzin said. "(Make A Wish) is an opportunity to give families a day or a week to forget about the illness. They do a good job for the whole family, not just the child with the illness. It's all about the kids. It's a tough ride, but it's all worthwhile."

Team Header, which has raised some $40,000 this year, features some 25 riders from divergent backgrounds. The team includes Theresa's sister, Christina Adkins, and her father-in-law, John Henning.

And Lisa Rozum of Canton said Polzin "sucked me in three years ago" and will once again join Team Header. The girl to whom Team Header is dedicating the three-day ride, Kelsie Cullen, is the niece of one of Rozum's good friends. That makes the ride even more special to Rozum.

"It gives it more of a personal touch," Rozum said. "We've made some wristbands with Kelsie's name on them. We want to show our support and remember why we're riding."

The grueling, 300-mile ride — the Make A Wish Foundation's largest fundraiser — takes a commitment on a couple of different levels for the riders. First, they're required to commit to a minimum of $900 in donations to get into the ride. Secondly, it's a 300-mile ride, requiring training and perseverance.

Team Header trains locally, Polzin said, using local trails and Hines Park as riding grounds. It doesn't necessarily prepare riders for what lies ahead — "It's not a walk in the park," Rozum said — particularly at the northern end, which is far more hilly.

But sticking to it isn't that tough, Rozum noted, taking into consideration some of the illnesses the kids suffer. For instance, Kelsie Cullen, now 11, was born with Congenital Disorders of Glycosylation, a rare genetic disorder of which only 500 cases have been reported worldwide.

"You remind yourself walk yourself through it," she said. "You remind yourself if you can go through what they're going through, you can do this. You realize what they're going through and you just suck it up."

The three-day ride comes to an end at the Chelsea Fairgrounds, at the annual "Heroes Hurrah," when some 800 riders cross the finish line between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

That's the point where Rozum first got attracted to the ride several years ago. And it's what keeps her coming back.

"It's so awesome to see them coming in, and the kids get so excited," Rozum said. "Watching that, you just want to be a part of it. You want to come back every year and raise more money and help more kids. You want to put more smiles on their faces."

Township Supervisor Richard Reaume welcomes the Concours d'Elegance to Plymouth Township. In the foreground is a 1965 Watson Indy Car.

Rave reviews

Visitors can expect to be wowed at Concours

Plymouth Township officials have done a pretty good job of attracting business to the township over the last several years, even as the economy continues to struggle.

Now the move to Plymouth Township by one of the top car exhibitions in the country will put the area on the map for the owners of classic, antique and rare vehicles.

The Concours d'Elegance of America, which includes a car show, an auction, a motoring tour and other car-related events, is moving to the Inn at St. John's, a hotel-conference facility and golf course on Five Mile. The event takes place 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Until Sunday, the annual Concours had been at Meadow Brook Hall, on the campus of Oakland University in Rochester, for 32 years. When the move was announced, the event's executive director, James McCarter, called it "huge for us" and said he hoped to "forge a great relationship with the Plymouth area."

Unlike the City of Plymouth, which hosts a variety of fairs and festivals throughout the year, this becomes the first major event to come to Plymouth Township. Until now, township officials have had to be satisfied with doing a great job on the annual Fourth of July fireworks display and Good Old Fashioned Picnic.

Township Supervisor Richard Reaume, who helped secure the event by ironing out logistical issues such as parking for transport trailers and a shuttle service for visitors, said the Concours will boost local businesses and draw international attention to Plymouth Township. "This is truly a prestigious event," Reaume said.

When the move was announced shortly after last year's event, Paul Wegert, the general manager at the Inn at St. John's, said hotel staffers were "very excited about it" and hoped the deal would turn into a "long-term relationship with them and we feel it'll be a great partnership."

It's not the only partnership forming here. Competing hotels — the Inn at St. John's and neighboring Hilton Garden Inn, located about a mile down the road — are working together to make sure there are enough rooms for everyone. It is, after all, one of the main reasons, according to McCarter, Concours chose Plymouth Township. With no hotel at OU, he said, Concours participants were scattered among several Oakland County hotels, and it was difficult to bring them together for group events such as the motoring tour or a visit, for example, to The Henry Ford.

The new venue is drawing rave reviews from car enthusiasts and show organizers. By the time residents and visitors get done viewing the event, we believe they'll be raving, too.

Find a spine

As a representative of a donor organization, I have been privileged to enjoy up-close viewing of the Plymouth Community Fourth of July Fireworks.

The fireworks display is spearheaded by Township Treasurer Ron Edwards and Supervisor Richard Reaume. In a July 14 letter to the editor, one "Joe Naerts" wrote that Mr. Edwards blew up over a past pizza delivery ordered by Mr. Edwards for fireworks donors.

The letter was written in an apparent attempt to discredit Mr. Edwards. Dear Mr. Joe Naerts: I allege that your description of the purported episode is false. Your "facts" simply do not hold water. In fact, I allege that you fabricated the story about the purported incident to cause harm to Mr. Edwards and his reputation.

And, I assert that you don't even exist. Next time you write the editor, find a spine and use your real name.

Regarding the call made by Ron Edwards about the traffic issue exiting the Plymouth Township Fireworks, if the individual calling ABC-TV and providing them the recording of Mr. Edwards' call (even if it may be public knowledge) was an employee of the township, he or she should be fired immediately.

If that person worked for my company and publicly did anything to harm the image of my company, he would be dismissed for lack of moral integrity and lack of good judgment. The situation is made worse by the fact that the person is a township employee and his or her salary and handsome benefits are paid by the citizens of this fine community.

Furthermore, I hope Lt. Antal, who was responsible for traffic flow that evening, or Police Chief Tiderington has the moral courage to state that "things could have been done differently and we will make improvements for next year's event."

Water savings

I have a suggestion for the Plymouth Township community and its leaders as to how we might get more attention from everyone in using our water more efficiently and effectively. The leadership did a great job in negotiating with the Detroit Water bureaucracy and minimizing the impact financially on all of us. Now we need to implement a strategy to capitalize on their efforts.

I am surprised at how many of my neighbors and friends, and especially the business community, seem unaware of the need to alter our watering habits. In many messages from the township we are told that switching to nonpeak hours will save everyone money, but that message is not heard by very many of us.

Using some sort of sanctions approach would not work. It would be difficult to define how to do it. It would strain township resources in trying to enforce whatever rules were created. And it would create a negative PR backlash.

I suggest that we try a relatively simple nonmonetary rewards approach.

Beginning with commercial and cluster residential water users (e.g. apartment and condo complexes) we direct mail information about water usage and ask them to alter watering hours. Most use professional services to maintain their sprinklers, timers, etc. The users would be asked to have their servicers reset the timers or clocks.

The township would make some visible statement about these good, green citizens with thanks at township meetings and some sort of inexpensive item for them to display at their offices and places of business. (Plymouth is Green - water friendly and dollar-friendly.) The local papers could help get out the word.

We then follow this work with the many homeowner associations who would be asked to remind their members of the better watering times. This effort would slowly trickle down (pun intended) to individual homeowners whether association members or not. I wouldn't object to a "We Save Water" sticker in our window.

The Water Department and township leaders can work out the details. (Window stickers might be the most costly part of this idea.)

In the running

I am running for the Plymouth-Canton Community school board because I want to do what is right for the district as a whole.

It is not about picking sides when dealing with this fiscal crisis. Difficult financial decisions have been delayed and the current budget was balanced by depleting the district's savings. The board needs to come to grips with the fact that funding has decreased while spending had dramatically increased.

There are always solutions, but we need people on the board who will make common-sense decisions that will positively impact the district now and set the PCCS up for a solid future.

We must not let the discussion about money overshadow the district's true purpose. The PCCS is in business to educate our students and prepare them to achieve personal excellence and become productive citizens. We must have the best educators to facilitate the essential duty of providing our kids with a superior educational experience. We must not undermine this important task by letting the financial structure get so unbalanced that the district will not be able to function at its highest levels.

We must be progressive and open to new ideas in guiding the PCCS through this temporary turbulence and to the heights that our students deserve.

Good first step

My thoughts, good first step to rein in district costs ("District privatizes bus drivers," Observer, Thursday, July 21).

Curious, you did not report the vote except to say 5-2. Why? Would not be complete reported story unless we know how each board member voted. Seems that this is reported majority of time on other important votes.

This was not a closed door vote, was it? Would be surprised if so. Could you let the citizens know, please.

Annual Highland Games set for Aug. 6 at Greenmead

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A little Scottish heritage makes its annual trek into Livonia next weekend.

The St. Andrew's Society of Detroit presents the 162nd Annual Highland Games starting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 6, at Greenmead Historical Park on the southwest corner of Newburgh and Eight Mile in Livonia.

The games feature heavy athletics, highland dancing with 250 dancers, tug o'war, vendors, entertainment tents and the Wee Bairn's Games for children.

The Highland Games kick off the prior evening on Aug. 5, with the Ceilidh (pronounced "Kay-lee"), a Scottish party.

Cathy Hasse, a chair of the Highland Games and representative of the St. Andrew's Society of Detroit, points out that the 162-year-old games are older than the Civil War. The games have been presented over the years at venues ranging from historic Fort Wayne and Boblo Island to today's Greenmead, which has been the games' site for the past several years in the Detroit area.

Hasse said the games are popular and have continued through the years because several family-oriented activities are scheduled at the games. Hasse expects 1,000 children at the Wee Bairns area.

"They enjoy it," Hasse said. "It's a learning lesson without them even knowing it's a lesson. They learn a little bit about their Scottish heritage and decorate their shield."

The games open and close in dramatic fashion with 15 bagpipe groups and drumming during the opening and closing ceremonies. "It is an impressive site," Hasse said.

CABER TOSS IS POPULAR

According to the Highland Games website, Scottish heavy athletics began with the Highland warriors who would keep in shape between battles by competing with one another using everyday implements. A stone, a blacksmith's hammer, a tree trunk (caber) used in competition also built strength

Fox Hills golf pro Cairns thrilled to step into PGA spotlight

Don't blame Brian Cairns if he still can't believe he'll finally be teeing it up with the big boys.

Cairns will compete Aug. 8-14 at the 93rd PGA Championship to take place at Atlanta Athletic Club in Johns Creek, Ga.

"It's a thrill. You always wonder how you're going to do when you get to a major," said Cairns, a 47-year-old from Walled Lake. "But you've got to realize at some point in time you might land there. I'm sure I'll look around and see (Phil) Mickelson, see those guys and go 'What the heck am I doing there?'"

"But it's been a long time coming. I've definitely prepared myself for this."

Cairns last week traveled to the Georgia course to get in a practice round and described it as "Oakland Hills on steroids."

"I'm a little bit more nervous now than I was before I saw it," he said with a laugh. "It's different, there's a lot of elevation change and definitely the length is an issue."

"But I think when you get there, and you get into things and you're swinging ... things will come to me a little more naturally. Just going out there and playing it cold was a little bit of a shock."

Man on the move: Keshawn revs it up for senior year

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Once Michigan State's Keshawn Martin gets his hands on the football, it's a good bet Spartans fans will more than likely get out of their seats.

That's because there's nobody more exciting on the Big Ten gridiron than the fourth-year wide receiver and return specialist from Westland John Glenn High, who is determined to go out his senior season with a bang.

The Inkster native ranks eighth in kick returns (1,070 yards), 12th in punt returns (385 yards) and 18th in all-purpose yards (2,819) on MSU's all-time list.

In 34 games at MSU, he has a total of 61 catches for 937 yards (15.4-yard average) and has rushed for 427 yards (9.5-yard average).

The 5-foot-11, 185-pound Martin has scored 10 career TDs, including six by receiving and one each via passing, rushing, kickoff and punt return.

Last season, Martin ranked 11th nationally in punt returns and enjoyed his best pass catching season with 32 for 394 yards.

"Our main goal is to get back to where we were last year," said Martin, who helped the Spartans to an 11-2 record and a share of the Big Ten title. "I like the way our team works and we have the talent to get back. To get back, we have to do a little bit more."

MU's Haeger recruits locals

Fresh off of the program's fourth straight Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference championship, Madonna University baseball coach Greg Haeger announced the start of his 2011 recruiting class which includes Livonia Churchill grad Tyler Cotter and Livonia Stevenson's Evan Piechota.

The beginning of the class also includes junior college transfers Cotter (Lake Michigan CC), Logan Curtis (Jackson CC) and Jake Richardson (Flint Mott CC), along with true freshmen Justin Hicks (Fowlerville), Ian Nolan (Waterford Kettering) and Evan Piechota.

"We did a very good job with all of our recruits that we've signed and we are bringing in a lot of them," said Haeger, who guided MU to a 32-14 record. "We brought in a good mix of transfers and incoming freshmen for a balanced recruiting class. These players along with our returning roster from last season should make us successful. I need to thank my staff - Stu Rose, Mike George and Chris Collias - for their assistance in the recruiting process. Their help is invaluable."

Cotter hit .280 with seven doubles, two home runs and 23 walks while going a perfect 8-for-8 in stolen bases for Lake Michigan after batting .377 with 14 doubles and earning Offensive Player of the Year as a freshman at Henry Ford CC.

Cotter earned All-Kensington Lakes Activities Association honors in both baseball and hockey dur-

Plymouth Whalers' summer clinics for all ages

The annual Plymouth Whalers hockey schools start next week and run through Aug. 19, with clinics for all age groups and skill levels. Staffing the clinics are Whalers players and associate coach Joe Stefan.

Over the past few seasons, several young players and their parents come back, year after year. Over the past few seasons, Here's what one parent said after the Whalers' Mid-Winter Break clinic last February:

"I have to say this is one of my son's favorites," said Skye Jendrell of Milford as she watched her 8-year-old son Tor. "Not only because of the skill levels. The drills that are done are really well-planned and are well-timed — they aren't too long. I think it's great that the Whalers are out on the ice with the kids. It's inspiring and makes it exciting."

Garrett Meurs of the Plymouth Whalers welcomes students at one of the team's recent clinics.

Jendrell watched the clinic closely and was impressed. "This is fun for the kids," she said. "It's not just drills. The one thing that impresses me about this, in a lot of the camps that you go to, the coaches are there (at the other camps) and they're making money, but they're not really doing things to develop the kids"

Following is the schedule for the summer hockey schools:

- Aug. 1-5, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, five-day camp ($225).
- Aug. 1-3, 1-4 p.m., three-day camp ($135).
- Aug. 8-12, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., all-day camp ($375).
- Aug. 15-19, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, five-day camp ($225).

Michigan Bucks net PDL's best record

The Michigan Bucks trounced the visiting Toronto Lynx 4-0 on Saturday, finishing with the best record in the Premier Development League's (PDL) Great Lakes Division and Central Conference.

With the win, Michigan (12-2-2, 38 points) was given hosting duties for the Conference semifinals and championship on Friday and Saturday, respectively.

"The incentive tonight was to get the win so that we could host the conference tournament... so I think there was plenty of motivation to play," Bucks head coach Gary Parsons said. "I don't think we were coming into this game lackluster; I think we were coming into this game to get a job done."

"Everyone in that locker room knows we haven't been scored on in this building this year and our only hiccup has come on the road."

After some back-and-forth play early against Toronto, including a few quality chances by the Lynx, the Bucks struck for their first goal of the game.

"Toronto is always going to come in hard, no matter what, and they proved that by pressing. I thought they did a good job of putting us back on our heels until we really figured them out and opened up the game," Bucks goalkeeper Mitch Hildebrandt said.

In the 21st minute, midfielder Luke Holmes looped the ball over to forward Stefan St. Louis, who was making a run up the right side of Toronto's box. St. Louis drilled the ball to the far post, giving Michigan the 1-0 lead.

"Latif (Alashe) slipped me the ball, and I just looked up and saw Stefan making that run off the shoulder of the defender," Holmes said. "He took a good touch and finished it well. It was a great finish."

Fourteen minutes later, the Bucks struck again. Joey Dillon sent a long cross to midfielder Tommy Catalano, who ripped a wicked shot into the side netting from eight yards out for a 2-0 lead.

The goal was Catalano's team leading ninth of the season, and he later added No. 10 in the 70th minute.

"Tommy has really come along this season.... He's got a nose for the goal now and he's turning into a very good finisher as well as a good player all over the field," Parsons said.

Michigan pounded goalkeeper Mike Watkins with 11 shots in the first period alone and out-shot the Lynx 21-to-6 in total. Meanwhile, Bucks goal keeper Mitch Hildebrandt had a huge night while not breaking much of a sweat.

TOP HONOR

After recording his 12th win of the season and his PDL leading 12th shutout, Hildebrandt received the 2011 Paul R. Scicluna Award, given each year to the player that best represents the organization both on and off the field.

"It's a tremendous honor and I just hope that it's not the only honor that we get this year," Hildebrandt said. "Hopefully we can raise a bigger trophy on August 6th," referring to the PDL championship.

As the top seed in the Central Conference, the Bucks earned the right to host the Central Conference playoffs next weekend and will be joined by the Thunder Bay Chill (top seed in the Heartland Division) and either the Chicago Fire Premier or FC London from the Great Lakes division and the Real Colorado Foxes or Des Moines Menace as the second seed from the Heartland.

The Bucks will take on either the Foxes or Menace on Friday night (8 p.m., immediately following the opening game between the No. 2 seed from the Great Lakes and Thunder Bay (5:30 p.m.).

Tickets for the Central Conference Final Four at Ultimate Soccer Arenas are half price this week during presale and are available either on line or at Ultimate Soccer. All play-off tickets are $10 at the door on Friday and Saturday, but can be purchased for only $5 at

Meier sisters pace MWGA tourney at Hawk Hollow

Rochester Hills sisters Amy and Christine Meier went head-to-head last weekend in the 25th annual Michigan Women's Golf Association state championship held last weekend at Hawk Hollow Golf Course in Bath.

Amy, a standout at Oakland University, emerged the winner by shooting a two-day total of 73-70-143 to capture first flight low gross honors.

Christine, who attends

Michigan State, was six strokes off the pace with a 74-75 followed by Joan Garety (Ada), who finished 78-75-152.

Low net honors went to Holt's Maddi Massa, another MSU student, who shot 145 to edge Southfield's Shelly Weiss by a stroke. Flint's Darci Stocker was third with a 151.

In the second flight, the top three low gross finishers included Cindy Hill (Ypsilanti), 80-79-159; Jean Murray (Mount Pleasant), 89-82-171; and Sonia Pysh (Henrico, Va.), 85-90-175.

The top three low net scores were turned in by Theresa MacPherson (Royal Oak), 142; Diane Kurtz (Metamora), 143; and Yvette Gagnon (Bloomfield Hills), 145.

In the third flight, Francine Pegues (Grosse Pointe Park) was the low gross winner with an 88-98-186 followed by Kathy Brennan (Livonia), 95-106-201; and Paye Bessette (Hartland), 105-100-205.

Low net honors went to Denise Buechel (Walled Lake), 145. Corrinne Worden (Grosse Ile) and Monica Oliver (Farmington Hills) placed second and third, respectively, with 151 and 154.

Marisha Murphy, up-and-coming junior golfer, also played amongst the field of 37.

He's tops in treys

Jackson Sartain is knocking down treys and drinking in the praise.

Jackson, of the 6th Grade Plymouth Canton Force, did more than help his team go 5-2 the weekend of July 16 at the American Youth Basketball Tour National Tournament in Fort Wayne, Ind.

He won the tournament's 3-Point Shootout with a dazzling display of dead-eye shooting.

The youngster sank 12 three-pointers in one minute in the first round to tie another competitor and advanced to the finals after sinking 10 more triples.

Then Jackson's next feat was to beat the winner from the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th grade boys and girls divisions. In the finals Jackson made 15 out of 17 triple tries to win the competition.

"Jackson moved to Canton last year from Ohio and has been a great player for the Plymouth Canton Force," said coach Ed Gruczelak. "He is a knock-down shooter and the team knew he would do well in the competition."

penny stock who suddenly became a blue chip recruit midway through his senior year at John Glenn.

The quarterback had a penchant for making something out of nothing and caught the eye of college coaches once his game tapes were sent out by former Glenn athletic director Brian Swinehart.

"Coming out of high school, I really did not envision it," Martin said of his Division I career. "Nobody was really recruiting me until after my (senior) season. To go to a big university like Michigan State was a blessing and I'm real thankful."

Four years later, Martin has taken on more responsibilities and now lends a veteran presence.

"I feel I can play a bigger role, especially my senior season," he said. "The coaches have talked to me about the season. I'll still be a playmaker, catch the deep ball. Run the reverse, be on punt returns and kick returns. I just want to go out there and do what I have to do."

"I just try to work on my routes, receiving stuff because on kickoff and punt returns

— that's where I've always had the attention and focus. I've always had the confidence there and I was born to do it. I just have to fine-tune that for my last year."

Even though offensive coordinator Don Treadwell left during the off-season to take the head coaching position at Miami (Ohio), MSU's offensive philosophy will remain virtually the same with the exception of a few new tweaks under new coordinator Dan Roushar.

"I don't think our offense will be much different," Martin said. "Maybe a little bit of different play calling. Every time I get the call to pass, or make a reverse, I get excited to make a big play."

"I feel I've gotten a little faster and stronger. When you get stronger, you get more durable."

With the return of third-year starter Kirk Cousins at quarterback, Martin believes he'll remain a vital part of MSU's offensive scheme.

"Being a quarterback in high school, I kind of know what the quarterback expects and he (Cousins) has helped me a lot," Martin said. "Kirk and I hook up sometimes with the other receivers. Kirk is an intelligent guy who knows what he's doing. He's pretty laid back, but he's a spark for the team. If he gets going, we get going."

LEADS BY EXAMPLE

Martin is quiet by nature, often deferring to others, but over the years has come out of his shell.

"I'm still myself, but I've taken more of a leadership for the team," he said. "I lead by example because I'm not a big 'rah-rah' guy. But if something is not going right, I'll say something."

Martin is majoring in sociology and hopes to get his degree by the end of next year.

"Football is something I love to do, it's fun," he said. "Studying and stuff sometimes gets tiresome, but my mom (Tracy) tells me every time when I'm home to get my degree."

In the eyes of NFL scouts, Martin might be an undervalued commodity. He kick and punt return skills may land him a job.

"I think about it a lot if, especially if I do well my senior season and how it's going to affect me. But I really just think about the work to get to that level."

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

A relaxed Brian Cairns is looking forward to golfing at the 93rd PGA Championship near Atlanta, Ga. next month. Cairns, the teaching pro at Fox Hills Golf and Banquet Center in Plymouth, said the phones have been ringing off the hook there since he qualified for the major tournament.

GOLF PRO

looking in as a result.

"I made a triple (bogey) the last hole, just not knowing," he said. "I thought I had to make birdie, so I took a couple risks and ended up taking a triple and missing it by a shot. I ended up finishing 35th that year."

Fast forward 11 years to the PGA national championship in late June and Cairns brought a different mindset and approach to the stretch drive.

"I was 20th going into the (final) day and then made a few birdies on the front nine," Cairns said. "I got to a couple under through 13 holes and knowing the last four holes at Hershey are probably the hardest holes on the golf course."

"So I got by 15, I made birdie on 15 to go back to a couple under and once I got there I was like, 'All right, I think I got a chance of getting through this.'"

He said knowing he merely needed to shoot par and not try to do too much "was peace of mind. If I stayed where I was, the worst-case scenario was I'm going to be where I am right now, 20th place. Just make the cut and move on."

POSITIVE CHANGES

According to Cairns, divorced with two children, he had to move on in other areas of his life to get to where he is in 2011.

"My style of golf I think has kind of followed my lifestyle," he said. "I used to lead a kind of reckless, fun lifestyle and it wasn't very conducive to a good marriage."

"So obviously the marriage didn't last, unfortunately. But I have settled down, both in my golf game and my lifestyle."

On the course, he is calmer and better able to deal with adversity as it comes his way.

"Everything, I think I've got a better point of view now than I ever have," Cairns said with a nod. "Unfortunately, I'm 47, not 27. But it's never too late."

During Michigan tournaments this year, he is averaging just under 71 with his no-nonsense approach.

"My strength now is driving the golf ball straight, and my short game," he said.

Changes in his life include landing his teaching gig at Fox Hills, where he works with "anyone that wants to learn" the game.

"A lot of people helped me make good decisions the last three or four years of my life, that's what it is," Cairns said. "My golf game hasn't gotten any better, it's my life that's gotten better."

"Coming here (Fox Hills), great place to teach. Jordan Young is the director of instruction. Jordan gave me a great opportunity. He just said, 'Hey dude, it's all yours, have at it. Just go do what you got to do.'"

STILL LEARNING

One reason Cairns is able to teach the game at the Fox Hills Learning Center is because he knows what makes a golf student tick. In fact, he still considers himself a student.

"I think I've learned a lot more in the game the last five years," he said. "I sat back, did a lot of reading, did a lot of watching. Studied a lot of different techniques."

"It helped me as a player take a broader look at the game instead of going 'OK, there's only one way, I listened to one instructor and that's the way I play.'"

Cairns said the elite pros are smart enough to not be too rigid when trying to figure out their next shot.

"If you have opened up your mind to the possibility there's more than one way to do something, I think you have a better chance at succeeding," Cairns said. "You look at a guy like Mickelson again, he's flipping through a Rolodex when he's looking at a shot."

"He's got a variety of different shots. I don't think you're going to get that from one person."

WORDS OF WISDOM

Sage guidance and support from friends such as Young and Ian Harris in recent years have helped Cairns evolve as a person and golfer.

But he could also tap into what he learned as a youngster and novice golfer back in the day.

From the beginning of his career, he's had expert advice to guide him. There were sound tips from his first coach, former PGA pro Eddie Furgol (the 1954 U.S. Open champion).

"He said, 'Show up and play better and they'll knock your door down,'" Cairns said, adding with a wry smile, "He's right. You wouldn't be here if I was shooting in the 80s."

Before that, when he played golf at Red Run Golf Club in Royal Oak with his dad, he got to meet "a lot of the greats, (Michigan amateurs) Chuck Kocis, Tom Draper, a lot of good people. I got a lot of good knowledge."

They all have helped Cairns evolve into the hard-working man who intends to not be one-and-done when it comes to majors.

"I hope this (PGA Championship) will be the first rail on the ladder," he said, before hammering another golf ball into the sun-splashed skies above Fox Hills.

After all, he'll surely want another chance to run into Mickelson — and maybe compare Rolodexes.

Rams' offense ends year on high note

The final weekend of the 2011 regular season was a successful one for the Michigan Rams, who swung some big bats while winning two out of three games Friday and Saturday against Chief Pontiac's 22-under team at Ford Field in Livonia.

After a 12-0 romp over Chief Pontiac on Friday, the 20U Rams split a twin bill Saturday to finish the regular slate with a record of 18-16-1. Chief Pontiac finished 13-22 for the year in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League.

In Game 1, Chief Pontiac broke open a close game with four runs in the fifth and went on to claim a 5-0 victory. Steve Doty gave up just six hits while tossing a complete game shutout.

Six Rams players chipped in with one hit each, unable to get much going against Doty. Taking the loss was Greg Spiess, who pitched the first five innings.

The teams were tied 2-2 after four innings of the nightcap before the Rams' offense finally got untracked, sparking a 9-4 victory.

Mark West went 3-for-4, scored twice and drove in three to key the attack while Jeff Sorenson went 2-for-3 and scored a run. Jake Moore stroked a 400-foot home run to drive in two runs.

Going the distance for the win was Colin Gerish, who scattered seven hits (two each by Kyle Rosen and Eric Ramaekers) and struck out seven.

In the 12-0 series opener on Friday (a mercy-rule shortened game), the Rams' Mike Schypinski threw a perfect five innings, facing the minimum 15 batters.

Weist (2-for-3, two RBI) and Caleb Wick (2-for-3, three RBI) sparked an eight-hit attack against Chief Pontiac (who finished with a 13-22 record for the season).

ing his prep days at Churchill.

"Tyler is a Livonia kid who went away to junior college, but we got him back here," Haeger said. "We were looking to add a speed component to the lineup and Tyler does that. He's a left-handed hitter who will compete at second base for us this year."

Piechota, a shortstop, batted .360 with 11 doubles, 28 RBI while scoring 26 runs. On the mound he was 8-1 with a 0.72 earned run average in 58 innings, striking out 66 while walking just 12.

Piechota was named the Spartans' MVP, while also earning All-KLAA, All-Observer, All-District and All-Region honors.

He capped his career by playing in the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association All-Star game for the East squad last month at Comerica Park.

PERFECT FIT

"Evan had a stellar career for one of my former assistants, Rick Berryman," said Haeger. "He earned a ton of accolades this season at Stevenson, including being named an All-American (by Collegiate Baseball). Evan is an interesting kid who had just an incredible year on the mound. He throws hard, throws strikes and has the ability to change speeds. He's a hard working kid and is the kind of person you want in your program."

Curtis played two seasons at Jackson CC and led the Jets with a team-best 31 RBI with a .304 average with 11 doubles and three homers.

"Logan is a very talented left side of the infield type of player," added Haeger. "He had signed originally with Cleveland State, an NCAA Division I program, but became available again when CSU dropped its program this spring. Logan swings the bat very well and comes in with the opportunity to play one of the spots on the left side of the infield."

Hicks earned three letters in baseball at Fowlerville playing along side current Crusader Victor Barron for two seasons.

Hicks went 8-0 with a 1.01 earned run average while leading the Gladiators to a Capital Area Athletics Conference (CAAC) title as a junior, earning All-CAAC honors twice and All-District as a senior.

"Justin is a good right-handed pitcher," Haeger said. "He had above average high school velocity and has pitch-ability. He's got a good arm and throws strikes. The arm and his control will give Justin an opportunity right way to be a part of the staff."

PUNCH AT THE PLATE

Nolan, the team MVP at Kettering, earned a pair of letters on the diamond in addition to three in hockey and two more on the soccer pitch.

As a senior he hit .463 with a .500 on-base percentage, driving in 36 runs with 10 doubles and four home runs en route to All-KLAA, and All-District honors.

He also earned the Coaches Award and was selected as the Kettering U.S. Marine Corps Distinctive Athlete in a vote of all the Kettering coaches.

"Ian is a left-handed hitter who plays the infield and his bat will get him an opportunity," added Haeger. "We were looking to add left handed bats this year and he is a strong, solidly built kid who can swing it from the left side."

Rounding out the first group of signings is Richardson, a Flat Rock native who hit .276 at Mott with 31 RBI, 22 runs and 11 doubles.

This season, Richardson hit .275 with five homers, 31 RBI, 22 runs and eight doubles.

"Jake is a big, strong kid who will provide presence in our lineup with the loss of Matt Kay," Haeger said. "He is a first baseman who can also play the outfield and runs well for his size."

Triumphant Wildcards

The 10U Farmington Wildcards went undefeated in the Frankenmuth Invitational Softball Tournament, beating the Northville Broncos by a score of 12-8 in the championship game on July 24. They also captured 2nd place in the Jeannine M. Dufault Fast Pitch Softball Tournament in Brighton on July 17. Here, the Wildcards celebrate after winning the Frankenmuth tourney. Members of the team include: (in front) Kelsey Center; (first row, from left) Amelia Carlson, Kenzie D'Ascenzo, Ivory Mamo, Hanna Velzy and Robyn Banks; (second row, from left) Jordan Lewis, Lauren Johnson, Samantha Cherney, Danielle DiGiovine and Anna Francione; (back row, from left) coaches Jeff Velzy and Andi Meyers. Bible study on wheels mixes prayer, exercise, fellowship

BY SHARON DARGAY
 OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Rev. Mark McGilvrey likes to bike ride. "It started nine years ago. I got an SUV and a hitch that hauls bikes and thought it would be fun to take on Hines Drive and maybe someone could go with me." That "someone" turned into a whole lot of biking pals when McGilvrey, pastor of Memorial Church of Christ in Livonia, founded Bike, Bible & Prayer, a mix of Bible study, fellowship and pedaling. "I thought I might as well do what I like with brothers and sisters in the Lord. We alternate the Old and New Testament. This year we're doing the New Testament." The weekly summer ride is open to anyone interested in biking an hour along Hines Drive and stopping afterward in the park for prayer and an informal Bible discussion. This summer, the group is discussing the book of Romans. "The theme of Romans is grace. Last year we did Proverbs. We started with Luke," McGilvrey said. "I give them a schedule at the beginning of summer. The idea is to read during the week. It's not a deep discussion, but we talk about what strikes them about the passage." The group generally finishes the session with prayer around 9 p.m. — sooner if the mosquitoes are biting. "We get a lot of prayers for the beauty of creation. Hines Park can be nice on a summer evening. I think the prettiest areas are Newburgh Point and the Henry Ford Estate."

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Bicyclists can mix exercise and faith at Rev. Mark McGilvrey's weekly Bike, Bible & Prayer sessions along Hines Drive.

For the first few years the group, which has fluctuated in both size and age range, started and stopped at the same location each week. This summer it started along Hines Drive in Northville and moves east a bit each week. The gathering location is posted on the church website at www.5milechurch.org. The group meets at 7 p.m. on Thursday and pedals along Hines Drive for a half hour before turning to make the half-hour trip back to its starting point. Participants may travel alone or with others in the group. McGilvrey said he usually bikes about five miles round trip. "We work our way toward Michigan Avenue and wind up going through the Henry Ford Estate." As a finale, McGilvrey will buy the bicyclists ice cream on the last day of the program. For more information about Bike, Bible & Prayer, call McGilvrey at (734) 464-6722.

Car talk

Concours d'Elegance of America brings classic autos and their stories to Plymouth

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

You'll hear facts and figures, stats and stories from classic car owners Sunday, July 31 at Concours d'Elegance of America on the grounds of The Inn at St. John in Plymouth.

But Margaret Dunning may be the only exhibitor who can tell you firsthand experiences about driving a classic car back in the day.

"I had a 1930 Packard. Mine was a sedan. When I thought of wanting a show car, I said it's going to be a Packard," said Dunning, 101, explaining why she bought the cream-colored 1930 Packard 740 roadster that she'll show at the elite auto show this weekend. "I love Packards. I'm a staunch supporter of them. It's the fine mechanical engineering of it and the excellent quality material it's made from. They only used superior parts."

The Plymouth resident will show her 1930 convertible classic Packard at the elite auto show, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. In addition to the Packard, which she bought about 60 years ago from a family in New Jersey, Dunning owns a 1966 Cadillac DeVille, which she drives in the Woodward Dream Cruise every year, a 1975 Cadillac Eldorado and a 1931 Ford Model A.

She belongs to the Classic Car Club of America, which defines classic cars as fine or distinctive autos produced between 1925 and 1948.

"It's a pretty big tub, I'll tell you. It's a very nice ride," Dunning said Monday, as her friends and fellow vintage car owners, Dan Clements of South Lyon and Lloyd Leach of Northville helped to prep and polish the vehicle. "Nice appointments. That's what makes it different, nice appointments."

The emblem affixed to Margaret Dunning's 1930 Packard indicates it was a first prize winner in classic car competition. "Those are handed out very gingerly," Dunning says.

INTERIOR

Behind the red leather seats, which were re-upholstered four times before Dunning owned the car, is a storage compartment that locks. The dashboard includes a clock, map light and glove compartments. Knobs, including the handle of the four-speed transmission stick shift, are fashioned in an ivory finish. "These were all things when you bought the car. You had to dish out a little more. This is ivory, too, but I've had my fingers on them so many times they've turned black," she said, indicating to a pair of knobs on the steering wheel. One regulates the gas in lieu of using the food pedal and the other turns on lights. "All the cars had spotlights at the time, although you paid dearly for them."

Jewels on top of the headlights glow green when the lights are turned on. A locking side compartment on the exterior of the car is perfect for golf clubs, Dunning said. A red leather covered rumble seat accommodates two additional passengers.

The driver can grease the suspension components from inside the car by pulling a handle to activate the Bijur lubricating system. "Today they have neoprene bushings and stuff like that and they go on forever," Clements explained. "Back then, you couldn't just change those. So you had to put grease in all the fittings."

The "straight-eight" (cylinder) engine gave it power that many other cars of its day didn't have, Dunning said, adding that she was able to get "a little better than 90" miles per hour out of her own Packard 80 years ago.

YOUNG MOTORIST

Dunning began "driving" from atop her father's lap, helping him steer the wheel as they travelled the dirt roads around the family's farm at Plymouth Road and Telegraph in Redford. She was eight years old when she first drove on her own.

"I put it into the side of the barn once. I wasn't tall enough to get myself down to the brakes. It wasn't a real disaster. I My dad never said anything about it," she recalled the accident.

At 12, she started driving on a regular basis in a Model T Ford. Her mother was in the passenger seat the first time she took the car for a trip to the Upper Peninsula and around Lake Michigan to Chicago, Ill.

Although families often took their touring cars out for summer evenings to cool off before retiring for the night, youngsters preferred to race on the area's gravel roads. In winter they'd spin their cars on icy Phoenix Lake near Five Mile and Northville Road.

"You were hoping nobody told on you while you were out," Dunning said, with a laugh. "Mostly we raced. When you took Beck Road across and got to the railroad tracks, they were up quite high. The grading went up, very abrupt. We'd get up there at the top of that thing and shoot right off. We'd come down on all four wheels and we'd see how far we could go."

"Sometimes cars would tip over. Some got killed. It was kid stuff, but it was bad, bad business."

Dunning encourages car show visitors to ask about her car, its history and her driving experiences. She enjoys sharing stories, but asks that adults and children keep fingers off the vehicle. Fingerprints leave salt which eventually can lead to rust.

"I like to look at the other cars. I'm always exhilarated to see something new. The people are very interesting and they are very nice most of the time."

Audition to dance for the Detroit Pistons

Automation, the Detroit Pistons dance team, will hold auditions to select team members for the 2011-12 season at 3:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 1 at The Palace of Auburn Hills. Finalists will be announced at the end of the night and call-backs will take place Aug. 2-3.

As part of the audition process, a live performance will be held Aug. 4 at the Crofoot Ballroom in downtown Pontiac.

All finalists are required to participate in rehearsals and perform in the live Automation audition finals show in order to be considered for the team. Pistons legends Rick Mahorn and James "Buddha" Edwards as well as CBS Detroit news anchor Syma Chowdhry and WRIF personality Meltdown will entertain the audience during the show and sit on a celebrity judging panel that will choose the final team. Other performers will include the Pistons Drumline, Spare Tires dance team and DJ Prevu. The Automation finals live event is free and open to the public with doors opening at 6:30 p.m. The show will start at 7:30 p.m.

To audition, female candidates must be 19 or older by Oct. 1 and are required to show proof of ID along with their registration. There is a $25 registration fee. The fee includes the auditions and a ticket to a select Pistons game during the 2011-12 season. Candidates are required to bring a recent photo and are encouraged to bring a business/entertainment resume. Dancers should wear dance tops, shorts and tights and be dressed to impress with performance-ready hair and makeup.

Automation members serve as ambassadors of the Detroit Pistons and will represent the organization both on and off the court during the 2011-12 season. The group dances during every Pistons home game and represents the organization throughout the year at various team and charity functions. A flexible schedule is a must for selected dancers.

For pre-audition details and information the Automation tryouts call (248) 377-0100 or log onto http://www.nba.com/pistons/automation_auditions.html to register for the auditions.

Creative KIDS

..... in the KITCHEN

Young chefs give PB&J a makeover

Everyone loves a classic PB&J sandwich. Now, with a little culinary creativity, your family can live up lunch and win money for college.

Over the past 10 years, Jif Peanut Butter has inspired thousands of kid chefs to reinvent the peanut butter sandwich for the chance of earning a fund for college. This year, in the 10th Annual Jif Most Creative Peanut Butter Sandwich Contest, families can foster creativity in the kitchen for a chance to win a $25,000 college fund, along with $10,000 to purchase educational products.

— Sandwiches will be judged on creativity, taste, nutritional balance, appearance and ease of preparation.

— 10 semifinalists will be selected to compete in a national online vote in January.

— Five finalists will be selected to compete at a live judging event in March in New York, N.Y.

— Four runners up will each receive $2,500 college funds.

Visit www.jif.com and www.jifenespanol.com between July 28 and Oct. 12 for Official Rules and the entry form. Open to legal residents of the 50 United States and D.C., between 6 and 12 years of age by Oct. 12, 2011. Contests void where prohibited. See Official Rules for complete details.

The 2011 winner was 8-year-old Margalit M. of Raleigh, N.C. for her Wushu Chicken Tacos, pairing Jif Creamy Peanut Butter with chicken, asparagus and squash, all wrapped in a tortilla. Check out these other winning recipes for inspiration.

WUSHU CHICKEN TACOS — 2011 WINNER

Margalit M., Raleigh, N.C.

Serves: 1

1/2 cup diced rotisserie chicken
1/4 cup asparagus pieces, about 1 inch long
1/4 cup yellow squash pieces
2 fajita-size flour tortillas (6-inch)
2 lime wedges, optional
Sauce:
Fresh ginger slice, 1/8 inch thick, peeled and cut in half
2 cloves garlic, peeled
2 tablespoons Jif Creamy Peanut Butter
1 tablespoon soy sauce
3/8 teaspoon chili paste with garlic
2 1/2 teaspoons sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 1/4 teaspoons sesame oil
3 1/2 teaspoons water

Chop ginger and garlic in food processor as finely as possible. Add next seven ingredients and process until sauce is completely smooth. If sauce is too thick, add more water. If sauce is too thin, add more peanut butter.

Toss about half the sauce with chicken and put aside in a covered bowl.

Boil about 1 inch of water in a large skillet and add asparagus. Cover skillet and turn off heat. In 1 to 3 minutes, lift off cover and remove asparagus using tongs.

Cut off ends of squash and cut into half-moon pieces. Put 1/4 cup squash pieces into microwave-safe bowl and add a little water. Cover with plastic wrap and microwave about 2 to 3 minutes. Let cool slightly and carefully drain off water.

Place tortillas in microwave and cook about 15 seconds, or until warm and bend easily.

Put chicken in tortillas, top with asparagus and squash and drizzle with additional peanut butter sauce. Serve with optional lime wedges.

1/2 cup chopped cooked chicken breast
3 tablespoons chopped Fuji apple
2 tablespoons chopped black or red grapes
2 tablespoons Jif Extra Crunchy Peanut Butter
1 tablespoon lite mayonnaise
2 teaspoons honey
Iceberg lettuce

Chop chicken meat and fruit, mix in bowl. Mix in peanut butter, mayonnaise and honey. Spoon into open lettuce leaf, roll and serve.

PO' BOY PEANUT BUTTER CHICKEN CHEESESTEAK — 2009 WINNER

Jordyn B., Lebanon, Pa.

Serves: 1

Sandwich
1/2 red pepper
1/2 yellow pepper
1 small onion
1/2 apple (any variety)
2 tablespoons olive oil
4 chicken breast slices or any deli lunch meat chicken
Hoagie/sub roll
1/4 cup mozzarella cheese, shredded
Sauce:
3 tablespoons Jif Creamy Peanut Butter
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon honey mustard
2 teaspoons honey
1/2 cup water

Cut peppers into strips; cut onions into rings and slice apples into strips. Put into sauce pan with olive oil and cook on medium heat until soft.

Cook chicken breast slices and add to the pepper/onion/apple mix. If you are using deli chicken, cut into strips and add it to the pepper/onion/apple mix. The deli chicken is already cooked and just needs to be warmed.

For the sauce, heat a sauce pan on medium heat and add peanut butter, Worcestershire sauce, honey mustard, honey and water. Cook until creamy and soft.

Add three tablespoons sauce to chicken/pepper/onion/apple mix. Stir together.

Put chicken mixture on hoagie/sub roll and sprinkle with mozzarella cheese.

Cut remaining half of apple and place it on a plate with left over peanut butter sauce for dipping.

Survey: Ann Arbor tops in places to live, Detroit lags behind

BY JULIE BROWN
O&E STAFF WRITER

Ann Arbor was ranked No. 6 in a recent MSN survey of most livable bargain real estate markets nationwide. The survey noted, "It's hard to believe that Ann Arbor is just about 30 miles outside of Detroit. Its quality of life and economy seem worlds away."

The survey was done by MSN Real Estate and Bert Sperling of Sperling's Best Places, evaluating the most affordable markets within the nation's 100 largest metropolitan areas and identified livable areas; places where unemployment is lower than the national average, where commute times are short and where there are cultural and recreational diversions.

The survey also notes the University of Michigan's presence and well-paying research and development jobs in the car business. There are life-sciences jobs along with a growing information technology sector. About 70 percent of Ann Arbor residents hold a bachelor's degree or higher, and median income tops out at $60,700.

The survey cites cultural amenities related to U-M, along with the Michigan football team. Cons listed for relocation are "brutally cold winters, higher taxes, may be too liberal for some."

Alex Milshteyn, associate broker/Realtor with Edward Surovell Realtors on Stadium Boulevard in Ann Arbor, had some thoughts on the survey cons.

"Ann Arbor has the most conservative liberals I've ever met," he said. "We don't have the left, left wing ones."

"I grew up in this area." Winters are OK, Milshteyn said, as are taxes for all. "The city has over 150 parks. I don't think taxes are high at all. For the environment you live in, I think they're extremely reasonable."

He noted the cultural amenities and diversity including such events as a Native American powwow. "We have a huge Asian population that brings so much culture into Ann Arbor. Whatever cultural experience you want to have, you can have in Ann Arbor."

The Washtenaw County city's becoming home to a lot of retirees, said Milshteyn, who's working with couple right now relocating from Rochester, N.Y. Their son went to U-M 10 years ago.

"When he was here, they said 'We are going to retire to Ann Arbor.'" Milshteyn didn't agree with the survey's negative views of Ann Arbor being 30 minutes from Detroit. "I always say 'I wish we were left.' He has some friends who've left Ann Arbor for Detroit, where it costs less to live.

"It's a great amenity to have so close to Ann Arbor. I think it's a big plus having it so close."

He lives in Ann Arbor, is 28 and was recently honored as a "30 Under 30" winner for Realtor magazine of the National Association of Realtors. He served as president last year of the Ann Arbor Area Board of Realtors.

"It's good news for Ann Arbor and I think it's good news for Michigan," he said of Ann Arbor's ranking. "We're a diversified economy and we're going to get Michigan out of the recession."

Dale E. Smith, CEO of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors, said "It certainly is" a plus, being close to Detroit. "The whole area that we're residing in is here because of Detroit. The fact that they're having problems doesn't diminish its value."

Detroit remains a major transportation hub, Smith said. "It still plays a major role. It is pretty short-sighted if people don't support it and get Detroit back on its feet."

Chinese provinces have some autonomy

BY ROBERT MEISNER
GUEST COLUMNIST

Q: I understand that there are some provinces in China where a company can invest in residential property without any limitations imposed by the government, besides Hong Kong. Do you have any information?

A: There are several provinces in China, particularly in the Southwest area, which are basically autonomous in regard to government intervention because of their relatively rural nature. There is no limitation by the government on the owning the residential properties or the time during which the properties can be owned by an individual which gives you much more flexibility in terms of purchasing real estate. Indeed, in Hong Kong, which is almost totally autonomous from China, real estate can be purchased easily and there are many American real estate companies offering services. Indeed, there is an opportunity for speculation on the best of residential properties although there is a tremendous amount of construction going on, both privately and by the Government throughout China in regard to residential housing, particularly high rises.

Q: I am going to be spending some time in China, particularly Beijing, for business, and I am wondering whether you have any knowledge of the apartment/condo structure there.

A: Fortunately, I can tell you that I have done an extensive investigation of the residential opportunities in a good part of China having recently visited there. In Beijing, the capital of China, the government has a real rein on the residential real estate market. Indeed, all of the land in residential situations is owned by the government and although there are magnificent high rises, the limitation imposes a 70-year limitation on the ownership of what we would call a condominium unit. However, you can purchase your interest in the condominium unit and transfer it to someone else subject to the Government's approval. You can also seek any extension of the 70-year limit if the time period is running out from the initial time of construction or conversion in order to secure your position. It is unbelievable the amount of high rises which engross Beijing. Of course, the price of the units depends upon the location to the center of the City as well as, of course, certain amenities. I am advised that government officials, unfortunately, seem to get the better apartments, but there are real estate agents that you can deal with in order to find a place suitable for you. The public transportation is excellent including subways and now, high speed rail.

Designation

Brian Parks of RE/MAX Classic

in Canton has earned the prestigious Certified Distressed Property Expert (CDPE) designation, having completed extensive training in foreclosure avoidance and short sales. This is invaluable expertise to offer at a time when residential homeowners prepare for the next step of a possible short sale in lieu of the foreclosure process. Parks specializes in residential home sales in Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties.

"As a Certified Distressed Property Expert, I specialize in working with homeowners who are facing or are in the process of foreclosure. I am an advocate for families in need of a professional, knowledgeable Realtor to help them through the issues they are facing," Parks said.

Short sales allow the cash-strapped seller to repay the mortgage at the price that the home sells for, even though it is lower than what is owed on the property.
