Three sent to trial on felony fraud charges

Police: Gas purchased with stolen credit cards

By Matt Jachman
 Staff Writer

Three men linked by police to stolen credit card numbers that were used to buy hundreds of gallons of gasoline in Plymouth Township one night last month will face felony fraud charges in Wayne County Circuit Court. Judge Mike Gerou of 35th District Court bound over Mohamed I. Saab, 26, Mouhamad A. Bazzi, 25, and Ali H. Jaghbir, 31, to circuit court Tuesday on 10 charges each of conspiracy to possess a fraudulent financial transaction device. Bazzi faces an additional charge of witness intimidation over a reported encounter with the gas station station clerk in a courthouse elevator following the clerk's testimony during the trio's preliminary hearing. Bazzi and Saab were stopped by police around 3 a.m. May 10 at the Speedway station on Ann Arbor Road at Sheldon, according to court testimony. The gas station clerk had called police after seeing the men at the gas pumps, with a Ford Econoline van and a Ford F-150 pickup, making multiple gasoline purchases for about an hour, police said.

Each vehicle, Officer Michael Fritz testified June 13, had an extra fuel filler door and a makeshift storage tank into which the gas was being pumped. The gasoline purchases, all around $100 each, had been made with MasterCard, Fritz testified, but Bazzi could only show police two Visa cards he said had been used. Police said gas station receipts showed about 900 gallons of gasoline, totaling around $3,300, had been pumped. Jaghbir was stopped by police a short distance away in a black pickup truck after Bazzi told police the man with the credit cards had just left. Police seized all three vehicles and, with warrants, searched them later, finding one Visa card in the pickup Jaghbir was driving and 10

Officials urge water restrictions

By Matt Jachman
 Staff Writer

Plymouth officials are asking residents and businesses to restrict outdoor water use this summer and schedule high-volume use for off-peak hours, in an effort to limit low-pressure incidents and hold down future rate increases.

High water usage during times of peak demand on the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department's system can result in higher rates, as water is more costly to deliver during the peaks. Outdoor water use — for tasks like watering the lawn, filling a pool or washing a car — “would significantly contribute to an increase in the maximum day demand, as well as the peak hour demand,” said Chris Porman, director of Plymouth's Department of Municipal Services.

The city for several years has asked water customers to adopt an odd/even schedule for outdoor water use: Homes and businesses with addresses ending in odd numbers should use water outside only on odd-numbered dates, while those with addresses ending in even numbers should use water

DOUBLE the DONATIONS

Relay for Life easily tops last year's totals

By Brad Kadrich
 Staff Writer

After last year's less-than-robust turnout for the Plymouth Relay for Life at West Middle School, organizers decided this year's event was going to be better.

With a new partner in the American Cancer Society and more stable membership on the local committee, organizers went into Saturday's relay much more confident of a good performance.

Turns out they were justified. When the numbers were counted, total contributions nearly doubled. With 21 teams and 252 registered participants braving temperatures at times in the 90s, this year's Plymouth Relay for Life raised some $73,000.

“We had a great day,” said Larry Johnson, who chaired the relay committee. “It was a little hot, but that's better than being too cold. It was a beautiful day.”

Last year's event was plagued by a lot of turnover on the organizing committee, while the location at West Middle School didn't seem to draw many teams or walkers. The committee this year decided to move the event back to its original home at Central Middle School and the community responded.

Of the 21 registered teams, 15 were new. One team in particular, Johnson Controls, led the way, raising $19,621, helped out by its team captain, Ratnam Jeedigunta, who raised more than $9,800 alone.

The Plymouth-Canton Jaycees raised $3,441, the highest among the 15 new teams.

“I am incredibly proud of every committee member, team captain and participant who dedicated their time and energy to help double the life-saving dollars our event collected this year and make our event a fun place to be,” said Abigail Stonerook, the community representative for ACS. “Together, we are truly an army of volunteers making noise, which is the only way we will finish this fight.”

Cindy Ash urges walkers in Saturday's Plymouth Relay for Life to “make a pledge” to do something to fight cancer.

July 4 parade soars with balloons, ex-astronaut

Returning favorites such as Steve King and the Dittilies and the Martin Luther King High School marching band will join colorful new entries — 30-foot character balloons, for example — Thursday, July 4, for Plymouth's Good Morning USA Parade.

The parade begins at 9 a.m. on Main Street at Theodore and travels through downtown Plymouth, ending at Hartough. It was thought to be the earliest Fourth of July parade in the country until its starting time was changed a couple of years ago.

The theme this year is “Salute the Troops” and veterans of several wars, from World War II and Korea to more recent conflicts, will partici-

Pro-am helps fund operating room

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

Much of the work was already done Monday when golfers took to Pheasant Run Golf Club in Canton for the 16th annual St. Joe's Pro-Am, what with some $140,000 of the $150,000 goal already having been reached.

But that didn't stop more than 200 golfers on 54 teams, including more than 50 professionals, from finishing the job, helping to raise money to benefit the new St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor Outpatient Surgery Center the hospital is building. Hospital officials said the state-of-the-art hybrid operating room will allow cardiologists, radiologists and cardiac, cardiothoracic and vascular surgeons to coordinate procedures for patients who need intensive heart and vascular interventions.

And the pro-am is a big part of making it happen, according to St. Joseph Mercy Ann Arbor CEO Rob Casalou, who said the tournament will raise "about 10 percent" of the funding needed.

"It's the leading edge of heart treatment. ... We can do surgery and interventional care in the same room," Casalou said. "This tournament has funded a lot of benefits to patients in Ann Arbor and Canton over the years."

The celebrity pro-am drew stars from a variety of areas, most notably hockey players. Detroit Red Wings legend Ted Lindsay serves as the tournament's chair emeritus, while former Red Wings Stanley Cup champion Joe Kocur was among Monday's celebrity players, as was defenseman James Wisniewski of the Columbus Blue Jackets.

Brian Cheesman, of Canton, swings on the tee for the 18th hole. He's watched by Chuck Duckwall, of Battle Creek.

Other celebrities supporting the cause were 2010 Olympic ice dancing champions Tessa Virtue and Scott Moir, sports radio personality Jeff Lesson and health reporter Lila Lazarus.

Lazarus, a television personality who has formed Orchard Lake-based Lila Productions, does health documentaries with St. Joseph Mercy. She said the tournament is a "great cause" and it gives her a chance to see the doctors with whom she works on-camera in a different setting.

"It's a great chance to see the doctors I work with outside the operating room," said Lazarus, who won a local Emmy for her documentary on the meningitis outbreak. "And it's a great cause. In life, you're giving two hands - one to help yourself and one to help others."

Casalou said the hospital holds its annual fundraiser at Pheasant Run because Canton is a big part of the community the hospital serves, being home to the outpatient facility St. Joseph Mercy Canton.

"We consider Canton our community," Casalou said. "Pheasant Run has been so supportive of us. I can't imagine having the tournament anywhere else."

Canton Chamber of Commerce President Thomas Paden acknowledged St. Joseph Mercy as a "good partner" and said the relationship between event and course is a natural.

"St. Joe's is a huge supporter of the Canton community and Pheasant Run is a terrific golf course," Paden said. "Anytime we can get this crowd of people into our community, it's a plus."

more in the Econoline. Those cards, plus the two that Bazzi had showed police, all turned out to have been altered, police said, with information on the cards' magnetic strips taken from MasterCard that had been stolen.

Jaghbir was arrested after charges were approved by the county prosecutor's office, while Saab and Bazzi turned themselves in through their lawyer, Cyril Hall. The three are currently free on bond.

The defendants are to be arraigned on the charges in circuit court next month.

Their preliminary hearing in district court began May 24 and concluded June 13, but Gerou postponed a decision until he was able to watch security video from the Speedway that reportedly showed the defendants' interactions that night.

The intimidation charge against Bazzi, Gerou's opinion says, stems from an encounter on a courthouse elevator with the Speedway clerk, William Watkins, who had just testified. All three defendants were on the elevator with Watkins when Bazzi said, "Snitches man. Nothing but a bunch of rats," Gerou's opinion says.

The statement was overheard by a witness on the elevator, who then told Bazzi he could be charged with witness intimidation, Gerou's opinion says.

Charity helps women return to workforce

Scholarship money helps pay for tuition

By Darrell Clem

A Canton-area charity has helped a Plymouth woman achieve her dream of earning her degree as a registered nurse from Schoolcraft College.

Chicks 4 Charity awarded a $1,000 scholarship to Margaret Rocker, who graduated in May after she spent five years earning a two-year degree.

"That $1,000 helped with my tuition," Rocker said. "Otherwise, it would have been going on a credit card."

a nursing job after she'd taken years off to raise her two children while they were young.

"I always wanted to go into nursing," she said.

Stacey Sherman, a member of Chicks 4 Charity Woman's Life Chapter 827, said the organization offers $1,000 scholarships to women who are full-time students and $500 to part-time students.

Sherman said the scholarships are for women "residing in Canton and the surrounding areas that are looking to transition back into the workforce."

The new round of scholarships are for women who are attending an accredited Michigan college, university or trade school this coming fall.

Sherman said preference will be given to women who demonstrate financial need, educational or training needs and those who are involved in the community.

Sherman said more information about the scholarships may be obtained by sending an email to Zlatina Dimova at dimova.zlatina@gmail.com.

Applications must be post-marked by July 15; winners will be notified by Aug. 1.

Rocker said the $1,000 scholarship helped her pay for much of her tuition last fall. She said such assistance is often hard to find.

"It was a huge help to me," she said.

outside only on even-numbered dates. In addition, Porman said, lawn watering should be done between the off-peak hours of 10 p.m. and 5 a.m.

Plus, Porman said, other tasks that tend to use a lot of water, such as running the dishwasher or the washing machine, should be done outside of the peak morning hours of 5 a.m. to 10 a.m. Time-delay features on such appliances can be set to avoid the peaks.

The city has seen results from such voluntary restrictions in the past, Porman said.

"While DWSD increased its rates to the city of Plymouth, as they did to many other communities, our increase was modest compared to others," Porman wrote in an email. "Having the residents participate in this program was a huge factor in controlling those costs."

Porman said the city's email information system sends out periodic reminders about the restrictions and that a postcard mailer about them is also sent to water customers.

Officials have talked about making the restrictions mandatory, Porman said, but customers support the voluntary guidelines and rates have not risen to a point at which officials felt the need for a mandatory program.

Anyone with questions about the restriction recommendations can call DMS at 734-453-7737.

The city's latest request for limits on water use comes just before a higher retail water and sewer rate, $10.89 per thousand gallons of water used, kicks in next month. The retail increase is less than 2 percent from the current rate.

pate, some riding the parade route in military Jeeps. A U.S. Marine Corps color guard will lead the parade.

"It's just a strong parade, the strongest one, I would say, ever," said longtime organizer Fred Hill, who is assisted by Pam Kosteva.

Retired NASA astronaut and Marine Col. Jack Lousma, who flew missions aboard both Skylab and the space shuttle Columbia, will be the parade's grand marshal. Lousma, a Michigan native, recently spoke in April to the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth, the parade's sponsoring organization.

Steve King and his band, the MLK marchers, Mark

Randisi and the Sounds of Sinatra and an Andrews Sisters act will perform during the parade, along with the Plymouth Fire & Drum Corps and, of course, Hill's own Fred Hill Briefcase Drill team. There will also be fire engines, clowns, stilt walkers, marchers on spring-loaded stilts and the Dogmatics doggie drill team among the more than 85 entries.

Hill, who took the drill team to New York City last November for a repeat performance at Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, promised "the same old tried-and-true, crowd-pleasing routines," like the Businessman's Shuffle and Boom-Chucka-Lucka.

New this year will be giant parade balloons, including one depicting Uncle Sam and another of Kermit the Frog from Sesame Street.

"It's going to be interesting to see a 30-foot Uncle Sam coming down the street," Hill said, adding that the balloons will have to be maneuvered under the traffic-light mast arms on Main Street.

Parade goers can start the morning with a pancake breakfast at The Gathering, across Penniman from Kellogg Park, sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Music Boosters. The group will be serving pancakes and sausage and juice and coffee for $7 each, free for children under age 5.

The breakfast is a fundraiser for the award-winning Plymouth-Canton Marching Band, made up of students from Plymouth, Canton and Salem high schools.

Car keys are stolen in home invasion while couple sleeps

By Matt Jachman
Staff Writer

A car was stolen from a Plymouth couple early June 11 after the keys were stolen from their bedroom while they slept, and surveillance video from a nearby gas station has given police a fresh lead in the case.

The home invasion occurred on Ross Street near Sheldon Road and was discovered around 5 a.m. June 11, said Lt. Jamie Grabowski, a Plymouth Police Department detective. The house was apparently entered through an unlocked ground-floor window, Grawbowski said.

The burglar or burglars went into the master bedroom and took a pair of shorts that contained the keys to a 2013

Honda Civic, plus a wallet with credit cards and cash in it, Grabowski said. The couple did not wake up during the burglary, he said.

Stolen was a charcoal gray four-door Civic with a license plate number of CNK 5731.

Police later learned a debit card stolen in the incident had been used at a nearby gas station, the Speedway station at Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon, just after 3 a.m. A security video from the station shows the man who used the card and police are seeking him for questioning.

Anyone with information about the incident or the man shown in the video can call Grabowski at 734-453-1234, ext. 272.

Police are seeking this man, shown at a Speedway station in Plymouth Township, for questioning in the June 11 burglary of a house in Plymouth. The man used a debit card that had been stolen in the burglary, Plymouth Lt. Jamie Grabowski said.

PLYMOUTH CRIME WATCH

Account hacked

A Plymouth Township man recently reported the fraudulent withdrawal of $17,000 from his savings account, according to a Plymouth Township Police Department report.

The man told police he was reviewing the transactions on his account when he noticed a $6,500 June 13 withdrawal at a branch in Royal Oak, a $7,000 withdrawal later the same day at a branch in Southfield and a $3,500 withdrawal the next day at a branch in Grosse Pointe, none of which he had made.

The victim told police he was unsure how his account information had been compromised, as he was not missing any identification or bank paperwork. The bank, he said, closed his account and said it would reimburse him.

Fraud

More than $1,000 in unauthorized purchases were reportedly made with a township man's debit card recently at stores in Redford Township, Dearborn Heights and Taylor, a police report said.

The fraudulent purchases included two charges for $439.90 each from a My Wireless store in Taylor, the report said. The bank account linked to the card was closed.

Vehicle burglary

An iPod and a small amount of cash were reported stolen from a car parked outside a house on Turtlehead Drive, in the area of Ann Arbor Road and McLumpha, late June 18 or early the next morning. The Mercedes Benz had been left unlocked, a police report said.

CANTON CRIME WATCH

Money scam

A 38-year-old man accused of a money scam that began in Canton was arrested after he was apprehended in Novi, a police report said.

The incident unfolded last Thursday, starting at the PNC branch at Canton Center and Warren, a police report said. The suspect, from New York, produced another man's credit card, pretended to be him and withdrew $5,235 from an account, the report said. The suspect then obtained a $4,000 cashier's check and had it made out in yet another name.

A teller became suspicious after the man left and contacted loss prevention. A decision was made to stop payment on the cashier's check.

Meanwhile, the suspect had gone into another bank branch in Novi and, when he tried to cash the check, was arrested by Novi police, the report said.

Novi authorities notified Canton police, who were investigating the incident of alleged fraud.

Money returned

Canton police were investigating an incident after a customer allegedly stole — and later returned — $5,000 from a Brinks security bag that had been placed inside a vestibule of the Checksmart store in the 46000 block of Michigan Avenue, west of Canton Center, a police report said.

Police received notice of the incident about 4 p.m. Friday. A Checksmart district manager told police that Brinks had delivered $24,000 to what was described in the report as a "safe room" area, or vestibule, of the store. An employee, distracted by customers at the front counter, allowed another customer into the vestibule area to cash a check.

According to a police report, the Brinks bag had been left unsecured in the vestibule and it was later learned that $5,000 was missing. The store used records it had on file to track down the suspect, who returned the $5,000. It wasn't clear what charges the suspect might be facing.

Break-in

A 70-year-old woman notified police after she said someone forced their way into the sun room of her home in the 45100 block of Geddes, near Canton Center.

The incident happened between 3 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, June 18.

The woman called police after she noticed the side entry door was ajar and slightly damaged, though no items appeared to be missing from the sun room. Officers noticed a small amount of damage had been done to the lock.

Hit and run

Canton police issued a citation to a local teen driver accused of hitting another car and leaving the scene near DSU, or Designer Shoe Warehouse, about 2:45 p.m. Saturday, a police report said.

Police located the driver after a witness jotted down the license plate of a 2003 Pontiac Grand Prix that was seen leaving the scene after striking a 2011 Buick in the parking lot. The Buick belonged to a 55-year-old Canton woman.

A witness saw a blonde, teenage female take a wide turn in the Grand Prix, striking the Buick on the left rear bumper. Using information provided by the witness, police went to the suspect's house.

The teen told police she didn't know what to do after she struck the car, so she left, the police report said. She was issued a citation for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

No trespassing

Canton police issued a trespassing citation to a 19-year-old man following an incident that occurred in the Sherwood Village mobile home community, southeast of Michigan Avenue and Haggerty on the township's southeast side.

Police went to the neighborhood amid reports that people had been jumping a resident's fence into his backyard. The man told police he confronted a suspect and warned him to stop jumping the fence into his yard.

Police found the suspect by a swimming pool and issued a trespassing ticket to him.

Westland resident Ray Schulholz is a peer mentor at Community Living Services in Wayne. STEPHEN CANTRELL STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

A man with a mission

Cause: Ray Schulholz advocates for disabled people

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

To regular viewers of Westland City Council meetings, Ray Schulholz is a familiar face at the podium bringing a positive message about respect, advocating for the disabled or giving someone a pat on the back.

"Label cans, not people. I treat people equally. I'm people-driven first," said Schulholz. "It doesn't matter if you walk into City Hall or a restaurant. I'm a customer."

Being an advocate for the disabled is a mission for Schulholz, 47. A member of Westland's Disabilities Concerns Commission since 2005, Schulholz is currently the chairman and also works 24 hours a week as a peer mentor advocate at Community Living Services in Wayne.

Born with a developmental disability, Schulholz was 2 years old when his father left and his mother subsequently had a difficult time caring for him.

"The system says you can't take care of your kid and they put you into an institution," said Schulholz, who was placed in the now-closed Plymouth Center when he was 6 years old. "I was fortunate when I got out after four years. That is no place for no one to live. It was like being behind walls - things went on that shouldn't have."

The change came one day after Schulholz met a woman named Alice Saules, who had a son at the Plymouth Center.

"I patted her on the shoulder. I said I wanted to get out of there, that I wanted a home," said Schulholz. "She said she'd see what she could do. A month goes by and then she said I was going to a home. She got me to a foster family. I was so happy."

Schulholz lived with his foster family - an elderly couple who are now deceased - in Farmington Hills for 15 years. As time passed, he said, he was able to get more into the community and rehabilitated himself from the time spent institutionalized, becoming a special education student and graduating from North Farmington High School.

"Some foster families collect their checks and keep you locked in the home. They believed in me," said Schulholz. "They had an adopted son and other foster kids. They cared about kids. They were retired and this was a second career for them. I was very lucky to have a foster family."

There are things people can overcome in life, he said, although their disability doesn't go away.

Over the years, Schulholz became more independent and today lives in a Westland apartment. He's certified as a peer mentor.

"Through an assisted program, I live on my own. I live a self-directed life. I have freedom. I only have support - an assistance buddy, who helps me," said Schulholz. "I work as a peer mentor and share my experience with the system. There is a lot they don't know about Social Security and Medicaid. I help them understand."

Schulholz was originally appointed to the Disabilities Concern Commission by then-Mayor Sandra Cicirelli. He's been reappointed by Mayor William Wild.

"Ray is continuing to be a positive influence, he's a strong advocate for all disabilities," said Wild. "He advocates for everybody - that's the thing about Ray."

When he speaks at council meetings, Schulholz makes a point to praise the efforts of city officials usually including Wild, Police Chief Jeff Jedrusik and Fire Chief Michael Reddy.

"I think the mayor is a good guy - he has an open door policy for people," said Schulholz. "I picked Westland to live in. I like it. It's a nice city, it's a safe environment. I love Westland. It's the All-American City."

Going forward, Schulholz plans to continue his efforts advocating for disabled people and hopes to work full time as a peer advocate.

Canton library hosts naturalization workshop

The Canton Public Library hosts a naturalization workshop July 7, and is also offering a pre-workshop information session to help those who want to attend the workshop.

The naturalization re-workshop information session takes place 1:30-3:30 p.m. Sunday, June 30, in the library's Community Room.

The session is designed to help folks get their paperwork in order prior to the workshop. Ruby Robinson of the Michigan Immigration Center will tell attendees which papers they'll need for the workshop and what questions they'll need to have answered.

No registration is required. For more information, visit www.cantonpl.org/blog/post/pre-naturalization-workshop-info-session.

Then comes the workshop, scheduled for 1-5 p.m. Sunday, July 7, in the Community Room.

Attorney Ruby Robinson of the Michigan Immigrant Rights Center will work with immigrants to help them on the path to becoming naturalized citizens. The workshop will provide help with paperwork via work stations manned by law students.

Attendees will be required to register for this workshop and bring various documents. Do that by visiting www.cantonpl.org/blog/post/naturalization-workshop.

The Canton Public Library is located at 1200 N. Canton Center. For more information, call the library at 734-397-0999.

KILLING CANCER

Relay walkers devoted to wiping out disease

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

Kathy Ritchey of Plymouth is on sort of a first-name basis with cancer, and it's a relationship she'd love to see kicked to the curb.

Ritchey, a member of the Best Friends for Life team that took to the track Saturday for the 24-hour Plymouth Relay for Life, beat thyroid cancer in November 2010. After losing her husband in July 2011, Ritchey was diagnosed with breast cancer in August that same year. While fighting her breast cancer, Ritchey lost her best friend.

One of 48 cancer survivors to take part in the 2013 Relay, Ritchey has seen enough of the disease to last a lifetime.

"Everything from that year is really foggy," Ritchey said. "I would just like to get rid of cancer. I hope nobody else ever has to have it."

Kim Lawrentz is thinking the same thing. Her mother-in-law Tony Lawrentz died of cancer a little more than a year ago. Before she passed away, she was "one of the most giving people" Kim Lawrentz said she ever knew.

On Saturday, Kim Lawrentz tried to match that giving spirit, walking in honor of her mother-in-law, whom she called "the greatest mother-in-law anyone could ever have."

Lawrentz was one of more than 250 registered participants from 21 teams taking part in the 2013 Plymouth Relay for Life, the American Cancer Society's annual fundraiser to raise money and awareness in the fight against cancers of all kinds. The event raised some $73,000, nearly double its 2012 total and far over the event's $45,000 goal.

"She was always giving," Lawrentz said of her mother-in-law. "No matter what, where, when or why, she was the most giving person ever."

Lawrentz was part of Kickin' Cancer, a team of friends and colleagues – largely employees of various McDonald's restaurants – who banded together to walk the relay. Alex Duda of Plymouth, who works at the Plymouth McDonald's on Ann Arbor Road, walked the event in honor of his grandmother, Joan Hetkowsky, who died of cancer six months ago.

"The first 12 years of my life, she lived two doors down from us," Duda said. "I was always over there. She was like a second mother to me."

Peggy Sikora of Belleville, who manages the Ann Arbor Road McDonald's, worked with Lawrentz to co-captain Kickin' Cancer. Sikora lost her mom in June 2012 to colon cancer. Like many people, Sikora used to view cancer as something that "happens to other people." This year, she decided not to stand on the sidelines.

"We wanted to help spread the word," Sikora said. "You never know when you're going to be that person who loses a loved one. Then it happened to me."

It happened in Alison Duda's family, too. Cancer claimed three of Alison's grandparents – Frank and Shirley Duda and Josef Goecke. Shirley died in 1996, Josef in 1999 and Frank most recently in 2012. Alison, 15, wore their names lovingly on a tattoo just below her neck in Saturday's Relay.

"It was very rough for me when Grandpa Frank died," Alison said. "I was very close to him. I decided we should do something more."

PRO Martial Arts hosts karate, character camps

School's out for summer and one local business has the cure for the summertime blues.

PRO Martial Arts is hosting a series of martial arts-focused summer camps. Organizers said the camps are a "great way for kids to stay active while learning how to defend themselves without harming their peers" with martial arts techniques.

Officials said the camps will place an emphasis on activities that build character along with the standard fun camp staples like movies and arts and crafts.

PRO Martial Arts founder Grand Master Ed Samane said he was bullied as a child so he believes in the importance of self esteem and the positive impact interaction with peers can have.

"Whether trying out karate for the first time or building on their existing skill set, our camps are a great opportunity for children to interact with their peers in a setting that encourages respect, discipline and fun," Samane said. "We want them to head back to school with great memories, new skills and friends."

Organizers said martial arts camps are a "great way for kids to stay active while learning how to defend themselves without harming their peers" with martial arts techniques.

PRO Martial Arts offers three camp options varying in duration and activities.

In the Kidz Camp, campers spend three hours a day learning basic martial arts techniques, playing games, and learning to work together as a team.

The Character Camp is an all day camp where participants will learn about character education, along with martial arts activities, movies and games. This camp also gives campers a unique cultural experience by teaching them Korean characters.

The Advanced Camp is designed for existing PRO martial arts students who are looking to focus on their karate advancement. Fox Hills honor

Fox Hills Golf Course and Banquet Center was recently recognized by the Huron River Watershed Council for its dedication to limiting pollutants coming off of its property. Taking to the sky

Signal Seekers introduce aviation to newcomers

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

A late afternoon shower may have brought an abrupt end to the Michigan Signal Seekers RC Club's fourth annual open house Saturday, but not before Alex Parkyn showed what it takes to be No. 1 in the nation in discus, or hand-launched, remote-controlled gliders.

A member of the U.S. F3K junior team, Parkyn stopped by to demonstrate the sport he took up three years ago. Displaying the grace of a discus thrower, Parkyn spun around several times before sending his carbon fiber and Kevlar glider skyward. It's no simple feat, considering the plane has a six-foot wing span.

"It took a lot of practice and learning about how the atmosphere works," Parkyn said. "The goal is to find a good thermal and stay up an hour."

A.J. Jaffe of Westland also used his hands to man the controls of his Thunder Tiger Rapture E720 helicopter that zipped around the Signal Seekers airfield off Henry Ruff in Westland.

Jaffe moved here from Pennsylvania for his dream job, working at Experience RC in Livonia. His passion is RC helicopters and competing in aerobatics.

"It's challenging and difficult," said Jaffe, who put his helicopter through its paces for spectators. It did barrel rolls and loops, buzzed around the airfield on its side and hovered inches from the ground upside down.

"My father had a helicopter. We're a helicopter family," Jaffe said.

Jaffe got into the hobby when he was 10 years old. Now in his 20s, he admits the technology has had a huge impact on RC flying and that there's no mastering an RC helicopter.

"I do fairly well," he said. "I can't imagine having something like this when I started flying. Technology has just accelerated development so much. There's no ceiling with these things. They go further than you can see it."

In attendance

The fourth annual Friends and Field Day attracted several groups of Cub Scout packs, who came out to try their hand at the controls of an RC airplane with a buddy pilot. The youngsters flew the planes, but when it appeared they were having difficulty and might crash, their buddy pilot, a Signal Seekers Club member, took control. The Scouts earned an aviation patch for participating in the field day.

"We had close to 15 Cub Scouts here," said club president Scott Pastchen of Livonia. "We had Pack 440 from Canton and Pack 865 out of Westland. They came to visit and helped out."

"Once I went straight down, one time it went up and down and up and down," said Grant Pierfelice of Canton, who enjoyed his second experience flying a remote-controlled plane. "The hardest part was figuring out the controls - turn this way, turn that way, what to do."

"I think it was really fun. There was a lot of open space to fly the planes," he added.

"This is something we do every year," said Bob Shuler of Canton, club treasurer. "We bring people out and give them an introduction to aviation. The whole purpose is to get a younger crowd into remote-controlled aviation."

The club got its start in the early 1960s as a nonprofit organization with the purpose of building, instructing, promoting, advancing and, ultimately, flying model aircraft. It's chartered by the Academy of Model Aeronautics and currently has about 80 members.

Its airfield is located in what had been the gardens for Wayne County Hospital-Eloise. Ford Motor Co. bought the land in 1995 and lets the club use space for its airfield. The club has a 400-foot landing strip and a half-mile of clear airspace in all directions. Club members, including instructors, are usually at the field around 5-5:30 p.m. each Wednesday through September.

Headed to Denmark

Parkyn's father Chris, a former Signal Seekers member, watched his son send his glider aloft. The teen will be headed to Herning, Denmark, in mid-July for the 2103 FAI World Championship for Hand-Launched Gliders after taking the top spot in juniors competition in Denver.

"He did two preliminaries and a tryout in Denver," Chris Parkyn said. "You have to be one of the top three juniors in the country to make the team. He was first place."

Although relatively new to discus gliders, Parkyn has flown various types of powered and glider free flight and radio-controlled aircraft most of his life. He's a member of the Detroit Balsa Bugs free flight club. He has competed as a junior in free flight at the national competitions held in Muncie, Ind.

For more information about the Michigan Signal Seekers RC Club, visit its website at www.michigansignalseekers.org.

OUR VIEWS

Play it safe

Fireworks can hurt, if not used properly

Fireworks are synonymous with the Fourth of July, and with the holiday just a week away, it is a good time to remind people about fireworks safety.

With Michigan now allowing the sale and use of consumer fireworks like Roman candles, bottle rockets, sky lanterns and other items that leave the ground, more people than ever are putting on their own backyard shows. As a result, safety is critically important.

Fireworks can cause blindness, third-degree burns, permanent scarring and even death. According to the National Council on Firework Safety, 9,300 people suffer serious injuries due to fireworks every year, with 400 losing sight in one or both eyes. Forty percent of injuries are caused by illegal fireworks, and 45 of injuries sustained by children are to those under age 14.

Even fireworks that are labeled as safe can cause injuries. As children, we've all enjoyed waving sparklers, but they have caused more injuries to youngsters under age 5 than any other type of fireworks. Sparklers burn at temperatures of about 2,000 degrees. They're hot enough to melt some metals; imagine what they can do to a child.

The Office of the Michigan State Fire Marshal has some tips to help make Fourth of July fireworks safe. Some are common sense, but still worth repeating.

» Buy ready-made fireworks rather than making your own, even from a kit.

» Make sure an adult is present at all times.

» Don't allow children to operate fireworks, even sparklers.

» Buy only legal fireworks that have a label with instructions for proper use. If your fireworks don't have an instruction label, they're probably illegal to use.

» Choose fireworks that are appropriate for the area you'll be using them in. For example, avoid using rockets or other aerial fireworks in the backyard or a busy street.

» Follow all the directions on the label closely.

» Always use fireworks outside with a bucket of water or hose nearby. Keep fireworks away from dry leaves or other materials that can easily catch on fire.

» Point fireworks away from people. If you're lighting a firework, wear eye protection and don't lean over the firework.

» If a firework doesn't seem to work, do not go over to it or attempt to relight it. If you can reach it with a hose or bucket without getting too close, douse it with water.

» Soak all fireworks in a bucket of water before throwing them away.

» If someone gets an eye injury from fireworks, don't rub the eye or attempt to wash it out. Call 9-1-1 or go to the nearest emergency room. It could make the difference between saving a person's sight, permanent blindness, or significant burns.

Another bit of advice: Avoid buying fireworks in brown paper packaging. That's often a sign that the fireworks were made for professional shows and could pose a danger to consumers.

And if you're planning on putting on your own fireworks show be considerate of your neighbors. While you might consider it OK to do your fireworks show at 2 a.m., your neighbors may not appreciate the noise.

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley last week signed into law what he called a "common sense bill" that allows local governments to prohibit the use of consumer fireworks between midnight and 8 a.m. on the day before, day of, and day after national holidays. People who ignore the rules, could face fines of up to $500.

Dr. John Hall, manager of the National Fire Protection Association's Fire Analysis and Research, may have said it correctly: "Safe and sane fireworks don't exist. When things go wrong with fireworks, they go very wrong, very fast, far faster than any fire protection provisions can reliably respond."

This Fourth of July play it safe. Leave the pyrotechnics to the professionals. It's better to be safe than sorry.

Have fireworks in your neighborhood bothered you since the state loosened the regulations on them?

We asked this question outside the U.S. Postal Service station on Penniman in downtown Plymouth.

"Late at night, yes. When you hear them at 12 o'clock at night. I'm not too happy about that. ... If they can do it they will."

"Yes. I just don't like them. We've been sitting outside, and one went by my mom's face. Three inches."

Sherry Wicker

"No. They just don't bother me."

Alarm expensive

I am in Boy Scouts and am working on my communications merit badge. A requirement I have is to write to a local newspaper discussing my opinion on an article.

I read the article entitled "All Saints alarm blazes trail" from the June 16 Canton Observer. I think that they should invest the money for other purposes instead of paying 30 grand a year for a security system. I think that they should have some type of security so random strangers are not able to just walk into the school with a gun.

Also, I think that a lot of schools won't be able to afford a security system that pricey. I am hoping that schools will have more options when it comes to protecting their students. Thanks for listening to my opinion.

Communist threat?

While riding through downtown Plymouth last week, I noticed painted on the inside window of a Main Street business establishment a dire warning imploring Americans to wake up to the impending threat of communism. Having not seen such warnings before the election of Barack Obama and taking into account past ridiculous scribbling on that same window, I took it that the fear-mongering was likely aimed at the current occupant of the White House.

My thought is that if Obama is a communist he is the world's worst of all time. Why? Corporate profits as a share of GDP are at record levels. Hence, confiscatory taxes and mythical "job killing" regulations must not be creating any drag at all on profitability. In fact corporate taxes as a share of GDP are at post-World War II lows.

The stock market has risen over 60 percent from January 2009 and over 100 percent from the point in March 2009 when the market bottomed out from the Bush crash. Wealthy capitalists, the top 3-5 percent, have claimed nearly all of income gains since Obama has been in office. During the same time frame, wealth has continued to be redistributed upward, a 30-plus year trend.

Obama has cut the deficit, an issue near and dear to capitalists, at a faster pace than any of his post-World War II predecessors, from nearly $1.4 trillion in fiscal 2009 to around $650 billion for fiscal 2013 and into the $300 billions by 2015, according to the CBO. Obama has increased new government spending at a slower rate than any post-World War II president as noted in Market Watch, WSJ. Total individual tax burdens from all sources (state, federal, local including all fees, use taxes and payroll levies) are at or near modern lows.

Federal programs like the suppressed minimum wage, SNAP, Medicaid, the EITC, extended patents and copyrights along with lax monopoly and labor protection enforcement and free trade policies subsidize a low wage, high profit economy by increasing revenues while externalizing what should be corporate and business costs to all tax payers. All of this taken into account, a statue of President Obama should be erected on Wall Street to commemorate all that has been done during his administration to bolster capitalism.

I sent an anonymous letter to the Main Street proprietor that included the above facts and a challenge for him to provide rationale on his window for his baseless warning about the onset of communism. I also pointed out that aside from alienating at least half of his potential customer base with his extreme views, he may also have damaged his credibility in that his claim was so easily debunked that some may consider him lazy or gullible or even dishonest, all bad for business. All I got on the window was about what I expected; some nonsense about cowardice and anonymity.

There you go again

During a presidential debate, Ronald Reagan used the phrase "there you go again" to his opponent. I would like to reuse this quip and address it to Sen. Patrick Colbeck, R-Canton.

During the debate in the Michigan Senate June 20, on the bill to expand Medicaid to the poor, the senator joined forces with the Americans for Prosperity (i.e., tea party, i.e., Prosperity for the Rich) to kill the bill.

There you go again, senator!

This so-called public servant has repeatedly stated our state cannot pay for the Affordable Care Act. But he had no problem giving his corporate backers over $4 billion in tax money so far. According to published reports, Sen. Colbeck's allies threatened fellow Republicans that if they voted for the bill, they would lose the Tea Party support and not get re-elected.

I would like to tell these Republican politicians that getting re-elected is not up to the Tea Party, but is in the hands of our people, the same people who have seen their taxes raised, schools and local governments short-changed just to make sure the rich get richer.

We have a number of moderate political men and women waiting on the sidelines to give the Tea Party a well-deserved pass into oblivion.

Help save historic bomber plant at Willow Run Airport

The Yankee Air Museum and its partner, the Michigan Aerospace Foundation, are on a mission to save a cornerstone of the Arsenal of Democracy.

The historic bomber plant at Willow Run Airport, which turned out more than 8,700 B-24 Liberator heavy bombers in World War II, is headed for demolition. The legacy of this factory goes well beyond building armaments. This complex helped build a nation in every way imaginable.

My good friend, the great broadcaster and meteorologist Sonny Eliot, passed to a better place, Nov. 16, 2012. Sonny was a pilot and combat veteran of the U.S. Army Air Forces in World War II. He commanded a B-24 Liberator in the strategic air war against Nazi Germany. His B-24 was shot down, but he survived. For 18 months, he was a prisoner of war. Sonny was also a life member of the Yankee Air Museum.

If he were here, I'm sure he would be working to save the bomber plant. Now my friend is forecasting with his inimitable charm, perpetually happy atmospheres in his heavenly realm. Sonny's brilliance could shed light on light. So I'll take a cue from his style manual and keep this message simple, direct and true.

We need help to save the bomber plant.

The opportunity to save a critical portion of the plant arose just recently. More importantly, we have only until Aug. 1 to raise the needed funds. At present, we need to raise more than $5 million. We've raised $3 million so far.

The Yankee Air Museum and Michigan Aerospace Foundation need media champions. We simply do not have the wherewithal to conduct the kind of mass communications necessary to be successful. We need to get the word out, tell our story and ask for help far and wide to achieve our mission.

We need audience participation now. Yes, that means you. Visit www.savethebomberplant.org for the whole story. Everything you need to know is there. Please donate and help spread the word.

For me, it's about my friend Sonny Eliot. For you, it may be about Rosie the Riveter. For all of us, it's about preserving tangible evidence ... we were here and, because of that, democracy prevailed.

Martin gets his shot at pro ball

Farmington High grad was NCAA Division II Pitcher of the Year at Minnesota State

By Dan O'Meara
Staff Writer

As an athlete and pitcher, Harvey Martin is accustomed to challenges and having to prove his ability and worthiness. His experience at that has prepared him for the next rung on the ladder of his baseball career.

Martin, who starred at Far-

ington High School and Minnesota State University, is starting that process all over again with the Milwaukee Brewers farm team in Helena, Mont.

He had hoped to be drafted after being named an NCAA Division II All-America and national Pitcher of the Year. He was

Bucks stop Rovers, 4-1

The Michigan Bucks avenged their lone setback this summer in the Premier Development League with a 4-1 win Saturday over the host River City Rovers (Ky.) in a match played at the Shelby County Athletic Complex.

Gerald Ben and Drew Ruggles each collected a goal and assist as the first-place Bucks improved to 7-1-0 (21 points) in the Great Lakes Division of the PDL's Central Conference.

Dion Peters and Nathan Steinwascher also scored for the Bucks, while brothers Matt and Nick Walker drew assists.

Bucks goalkeeper Adam Grinwis made three saves.

The Bucks will go after their seventh consecutive win beginning at 7:30 p.m. Thursday when they face the Toronto Lynx at Pontiac's Ultimate Soccer Arenas.

Tickets, available at the gate, are half-priced at $5. For more information, visit www.bucksoccer.com.

Miss Softball: Ladywood's Fidge sings a happy tune

By Brad Emons
Observer Staff Writer

Celeste Fidge admits she wasn't a born hitter.

But the way the Livonia Ladywood third baseman crushed the ball during her senior year was a far cry from her days with the 12-and-under summer league team Livonia Storm.

"Actually it's a funny story," said the newly crowned Miss Softball. "When I was younger I was used to be at the end of the batting lineup. I really didn't have much interest in the sport of softball until I had this one coach (Jeremy Avery), who gave me a bunch of instructions to become a better hitter. And finally, one time when I made contact with the ball, it went right over the outfielder's head, and I said, 'I think I'm going to give this sport a try.'"

Fidge, who has signed with the University of Toledo, was named the Field Player of the Year by the Michigan High School Softball Coaches Association, while Sterling Heights Stevenson's Alyssa Huntley earned Pitcher of the Year honors by the MHSSCA.

Fidge, who hit .500 this season with five homers, 18 doubles and 35 RBI, became the second straight Ladywood player to earn the Miss Softball award joining former teammate Briana Combs, who was the 2012 MHSSCA Pitcher of the Year.

"I was very much shell-shocked," Fidge said of the honor. "I was not expecting to get it at all, but very happy. My teammates were really supportive of me getting it, too. I think it that was the best part of it was everyone else's reaction. It was a good feeling."

Ladywood coach Scott Combs informed Fidge of the honor last Monday, but made the announcement a little suspenseful.

"It was funny the way he presented it," Fidge said. "Early on that day he said, 'I have a secret to tell you.' I said, 'Oh, really, this should be great.' Then he calls me up later that evening and said, 'Go get your mom and your dad.' I was like, 'OK,' and he told me I was Miss Softball."

Fidge, who lives in Westland, attended Nankin Mills Elementary in grades K-four before going to Livonia St. Michael's School for grades five-eight.

She began playing organized softball at age 9 starting with the Storm's 10- through 14-and-under teams before moving over to Compuware's 16- and 18-and-under squads.

Meanwhile, she landed at Ladywood as a ninth-grader where she started four straight seasons earning Division 2 first-team All-State honors three straight years helping the Blazers to an MHSAA state title in 2012 and a Final Four berth in 2013 as the Blazers finished 32-10 overall.

"She came in at a time four years ago when there were some veterans on the team and some people that had played heavy travel ball," Scott Combs recalled. "As a freshman, she was a totally different person. I don't think she said three words her freshman year around the team. I'd see her walking around the infield or the outfield singing to herself, so it got to be a joke

"I was very much shell-shocked. I was not expecting to get it at all, but very happy."

terribly disappointed when that didn't happen, but the Brewers called shortly after the draft ended to offer him a free-agent contract.

That was late in the day Saturday, June 8. He packed his belongings on Sunday and was on a plane Monday for Montana and the Advanced Rookie League.

"It's kind of a blessing in disguise," Martin said, adding he begins the next phase of his career with an inner chip on his shoulder. "I knew I would play professional baseball at some point from all the feedback I was getting, but free agency wasn't the first priority on my list."

"It's a motivating factor for me. I've always had to prove myself, at Central (Michigan) and Minnesota State. It won't be easy here and I don't expect it to be. Going through the things I did in college - the surgery, the transfer, the ups and downs during my career - put me in a good mindset to handle the free agency deal."

Regardless of how he got there, Martin has his foot in the door. He plans to make the most of his opportunity and, hopefully, move up the chain of minor league teams.

"I can't change the fact of free agency," he said. "I told the Brewers, 'I promise I will not take a day off all the time I'm here. I'll keep working and getting my nose dirty.'"

"I don't have the luxury of being an 18-year-old who signed for a lot of money. It's great playing here, but my goal is to be in the big leagues."

The season just started last week for the Helena Brewers, who were 1-3 in the Pioneer League standings at the ARL level. Martin's first appearance went well, however.

He pitched two scoreless innings of late-game relief Friday against the Missoula (Mont.) Osprey in the team's lone win.

"I struck out the side in the first inning, which was kinda awesome to start my career," Martin said. "The next inning was a real quick inning with a couple pop-ups and a ground ball."

"There were a lot of nerves in that first inning, but I got it out of the way. When you have a successful first inning, you feel like you belong a little bit. Obviously, it's something to build on."

Big sky country

In the short time he's been there, Martin is enjoying the experience in Helena and reveling in the knowledge he's actually playing professional baseball.

"It's pretty awesome," he said. "Every now and then, I sit back during practice and realize where I'm at and kinda living my dream. We wear Brewers across our chests and it's a cool feeling every day to realize I'm employed by a Major League baseball team. It's been a great time so far."

The 6-foot-1, 195-pound Martin transferred two years ago from Central Michigan to MSU. He played two of four seasons at CMU where his mound time was limited to spot appearances in relief. He was redshirted in 2008 and had Tommy John surgery on his pitching arm in 2010.

He took a chance and left for Mankato, Minn., with something to prove as a potential starting pitcher. He was 10-0 and was named the Newcomer of the Year in the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference last year.

"I definitely did what I set out to do by leaving and getting the opportunity to pitch," Martin said. "I was given the opportunity to do something that wasn't going to be given at Central Michigan. I had the opportunity to do that at Minnesota State and it worked out. I'm very thankful for that."

Repeat performance

The challenge facing Martin at the start of the 2013 season was to prove the previous one was not a fluke, that he could back it up by having another great year. He did that and more.

The right-handed Martin posted a 9-1 record with a 2.06 earned run average and was nationally ranked in several categories. He was second in strikeout-to-walk ratio with 91 and seven, respectively, in 78.2 innings.

He helped lead the 42-9 Mavericks to a second straight NSIC championship and consecutive runner-up finishes in the NCAA Division II College World Series. Martin's only loss in his two years at MSU occurred in the final game of this year's CWS. Top-ranked Tampa won, 8-6.

"I don't regret going to Central at all," he said. "I earned a degree there and made a ton of great friends. In going to Minnesota, I thought it was kinda crazy, going to a Division II school where it was colder than Michigan. My decision to leave was probably the toughest I had to make, but it was the best decision I've made in my baseball career."

And the 2013 accolades piled up for Martin, who was named to the All-America first team and was selected the national Pitcher of the Year by Rawlings/ABCA, Daktronics and the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association. He also was the NSIC's Pitcher of the Year and one of eight finalists for the Tino Martinez Award as the top player in Division II.

"If I had been told all of this was going to happen to me when I left (CMU), I probably would have laughed about it," Martin said. "Awards come with team success. If a team is going to the national championship, you're going to have some All-Americans on it. I was just fortunate to be one of those guys."

"Award-wise, that was never the goal of leaving. The goal was to pitch and try to get into professional baseball. Anything else was an added bonus. I'm where I wanted to be."

Place in history

Martin ends his college career as the most decorated player in MSU baseball history and the first to win the Pitcher of the Year honor.

"His accolades on the field won't overshadow the impact he left off the field," MSU coach Matt Magers said, regarding Martin's ability to motivate his teammates. "His mental approach and passion for the game enabled him to compete at a level most players never attain. Despite only playing here for two seasons, Harvey will go down as one of the best to ever wear the Maverick uniform."

Martin's most memorable game was this year's regional final in which MSU defeated Missouri Western, one of the best hitting teams in the country, according to Martin. He pitched a complete, 10-inning game and the Mavericks won, 4-1.

"Obviously, that catapulted me into a lot of the awards I got at the end of the season," Martin said. "To help lead the team into the College World Series was a lot of fun. I loved playing those guys at Minnesota State. We were fortunate to host the regional two years in a row and play in the (CWS) twice."

Moving forward

Not only has the 24-year-old Martin moved on from a good memory like that, he has put the disappointment of not being drafted behind him, too. The bottom line is he's playing pro ball now.

"I thought I was going to get drafted last year and it didn't work out, which made me a stronger person - to keep chasing it, developing patience and working toward what you want," Martin said. "A lot of people wanted to see more strikeouts out of me. I think that's why I was national Pitcher of the Year, because my strikeout-to-walk ratio was up there."

"One thing that hurt me in the draft was that I was older and had arm surgery. Teams aren't interested in older guys who've had arm surgery. I thought, with the season I put up there, I couldn't be denied the chance. I thought 250 innings was enough to show what I could do."

"If I never played in the Major Leagues, I wanted to leave with people saying, 'Harvey Martin was the best pitcher I've seen all season.' If I did that and made sure Year 2 wasn't a fluke, I thought I'd get a shot to be where I am. It's still sinking in. I haven't taken a day for granted and don't plan to do that."

between me and her. But that made her relax. She was a little bit scared and intimidated by the rest of the team as a freshman, but we threw her right into the fire and we said, 'You're going to have to hit.' She was designated hitter the first year. I said, 'You're going to have to improve your arm and you're going to play third base, so stop being afraid of the ball.'

"She took all those things and worked on them day-after, day-after, day, and I think she has one of the best arms in the state of Michigan. I really do."

Fidge proved to be a sponge, soaking up all the instruction she could gather.

"I told her, 'You're arm gets stronger by throwing hard,'" Combs said. "You're going to be a little sore, but work at it." She took it to heart and turned out to be one of the best third basemen I've seen in a long time. She's extremely dependable. In fact, I had to rein her in many, many times. She'd run into fences, ran into bad lips of grass ... roll her ankle a few times. She did it by pure work and saw the other kids around her and said, 'I want to play, I want to excel. I gotta up my work ethic.'"

Fidge will be honored July 24 in the Softball Coaches Association All-Star game at Michigan State University.

She'll be playing summer softball for Finesse before enrolling at Toledo where she plans to study marketing. She also considered Madonna University, but fell in love with the surroundings and the academic support offered at Toledo.

"It touched my heart, I said, 'This is where I want to go,'" Fidge said. "I hope to make my way there. I'm going to have to open a couple of doors to get there, but hopefully I'll make my way there."

Fidge's development during her four years at Ladywood has been remarkable and a joy for Combs to see.

"Her personality has been an absolute pleasure to see develop," the Ladywood coach said. "Coming from a 14-year-old, little snot-nose kid as a freshman, thrown into the fire, wide-eyed and not knowing what's going on around her, too. ... She's an extremely mature young lady now, a pleasure to talk to and has her goals in her sights and didn't let anybody deter her from it."

"She wanted to play Division I ball and worked her way into that mix. It's been a great four years. It went by very fast, but her maturity has been off the scale this year and it's been great."

And Fidge will cherish each and every moment playing for the Blazers.

"I would definitely say it's been the best times I've ever had was at Ladywood," she said. "There were such great memories, especially the team."

"All four years everybody was great and supportive. That's really what made Ladywood the best four years."

Fidge enjoys music and art when she's not playing softball. She even bills herself the team's undisputed "Adele."

"She's the team singer although there's a couple other people coming up underneath her that think they can challenge her," Combs said. "We have a little ritual where we put the headphones on at that start of each practice where we walk four or five minutes away from everybody. Everybody goes there own separate way. I'll be raking the field and I can hear her singing over everybody with the earphones on. I can tell that she enjoys it. I would imagine she's in the shower at home singing pretty much all the time."

And while Fidge won't admit to being a born hitter or singer, she can definitely hold her own.

"I do like singing and I'm comfortable singing even though I might not be best at it," said the newly crowned Miss Softball.

All-Area baseball talent tears up basepaths

Dan Cameron, sr., Liv. Churchill: The senior catcher, bound for Henry Ford Community College, batted .442 with 26 RBI, 22 runs scored and 13 extra base hits, while striking out just three times.

"Dan was the leader of our team," Churchill coach Ron Targosz said of the all-district and all-KLAA selection. "Offensively and defensively he was one of the best around. He led our team in most offensive categories and was stellar behind the plate. Dan was four-year varsity player that will be extremely hard to replace next season."

David Lett, jr., N. Farmington: The junior shortstop made the coaches association's Division 1 all-state second team after hitting .453 with a team-best 62 hits.

The leadoff batter also drove in 29 runs, was hit by a pitch 16 times, had seven walks and led the Raiders in runs scored with 56. Lett's (combined) on-base and slugging percentage is 1.049. He had a .960 fielding percentage and helped turned 16 doubles plays.

"David is the best baseball player on my team," coach Mike O'Connell said. "He's tremendous in every aspect. He's the real deal. If you transposed his numbers into the big leagues, he'd be making $10 million a year. He's a complete baseball player."

"His baseball IQ is over 200. He scored from second on a ground ball hit to first base to give you an example of his speed and smarts."

Travis Harvey, sr., Liv. Stevenson: The senior third baseman hit .406 with 31 RBI en route to second-team Division 1 all-state, all-region, all-district and all-KLAA honors.

Harvey, headed to Henry Ford CC, collected 18 extra base hits including 15 doubles. He also had a team-best 14 stolen bases.

"Once again Travis had a second good year for us," Stevenson coach Rick Berryman said. "He played a spectacular third base for us and was instrumental in us going to the regionals again. He's probably the fastest player on our team."

Brian Schmid, sr., Plymouth: The senior batted .389, smacking five homers and 28 RBI while being named to the All-District team.

Interim coach Mike George, who took over the Wildcats late in the season, said Schmid was a solid, consistent performer both at third base and pitcher and was the unofficial team MVP.

"Brian was a kid that was a definite leader," George said. "He was the kid that everybody turned to. He hit four home runs for us in the seven games that I was there. (He) has an opportunity to play at the next level."

Eric Stanis, sr., N. Farmington: As he did in hockey, Stanis played bigger than his size and was deceptively talented. The 145-pound senior is also a versatile player, making the all-district team as a second baseman and the all-league team as a catcher.

He played in every game and helped the Raiders (30-9) to an outstanding season. Stanis batted .415, led the team with 31 RBI, was second in hits (44) and was named the co-MVP. As a catcher, he threw out 18 runners trying to steal, and he was involved in 14 double plays as a second baseman. His fielding percentage was .985.

"Eric is just a complete player," O'Connell said. "He's probably the best small baseball player I've ever seen. He batted in the four spot and, when he came up to bat, other teams called in the outfield because they thought he couldn't hit the ball. And then he'd hit it down the left-field line."

"He has great baseball smarts. I can't say enough about him. He was a shortstop when he came to high school. We needed a catcher when he was a sophomore and he volunteered."

Chase Bovia, sr., John Glenn: The senior shortstop, who will attend the University of Michigan-Dearborn in the fall, helped spark the Rockets' first 20-win season since 2002 by hitting .360 with 16 RBI while earning team MVP and all-district honors.

"Chase played in every game for us," Glenn coach Lawrence Scheffer said. "He carried a 3.7 grade point average and he led our team by example on-and-off the field."

"What made him a good player is that he just kept working hard in practice. He knew he had to get better at certain skill levels. He hit No. 2 in the lineup and set the table for us."

Zak Kmet, sr., Garden City: Kmet was a hitting and pitching force for the Cougars. A four-year starter at shortstop, he hit .420 this past spring with eight doubles, three triples, two home runs, 27 runs scored and 23 RBI. He struck out just six times in 86 plate appearances. An all-league and all-district performer, Kmet capped his career at Garden City as the school's all-time leader in runs scored (89) and hits (109), and he is second on the RBI list with 77. Kmet will play college baseball at Concordia University.

"Zak Kmet is one of the best players that has ever played at Garden City High School," said Garden City coach Steve Herman. "He has led us at shortstop for four years and very few can say that at any school. His career numbers speak for themselves. But what they don't tell is the kind of person and leader that he has been. Not loud, Zak has led by example for four years, working harder than anyone despite being one of our best players year after year. Zak is also a great student and an even better young man. Zak is a great role model for all future Garden City High School players."

Josh Gorman, sr., Liv. Franklin: The senior infielder and pitcher, bound for Indiana Tech, earned all-KLAA and all-district honors while hitting .340 with 16 RBI.

Gorman, a first-team all-Observer pick last year, also went 4-2 on the mound for the Patriots.

"Josh was a third baseman by trade, but because of team needs, he played shortstop and second base for us," Franklin coach Matt Fournier said. "He was willing to give up his position for the betterment of the team. He's a four-year varsity player who progressed nicely through the program and has a good future ahead of him."

Connor Mohr, sr., Farmington: The senior center fielder was selected for the All-Observer first team a second time after another outstanding season for the Falcons. He hit .479 with 13 doubles, five triples, seven home runs and 23 RBI from the leadoff position.

Mohr, who has a scholarship to Michigan State, had 56 hits, was successful stealing a base 10 of 14 times and scored a team-high 49 runs. His slugging percentage was .855 and on-base average .519.

He fielded .968 with 51 putouts and nine assists. He pitched the second-most innings on the team (37 2/3) and had a 4-3 record.

Mohr also earned an all-state, first-team accolade from the coaches association and will play in the East-West All-Star game at Comerica Park on Monday, July 1.

In his prep career, Mohr batted .408 with 145 hits, which included 32 doubles, 13 triples and 11 home runs. He had 59 RBI and 53 stolen bases.

Demetrius Dunlap, sr., Salem: As smooth and talented a center-fielder as you will find at the prep level, Dunlap once again was an all-around standout for the Rocks.

Awarded Salem's Defensive Player of the Year award, Dunlap posted a perfect 1.000 fielding percentage, handling 83 putouts. Over his three-year varsity career, he made just seven errors while making 230 putouts.

At the plate he was a force, too, batting .339 with five homers, 31 RBI and a .414 on-base percentage.

Dunlap, who will play college baseball at Saginaw Valley State University, was named to the all-conference and all-district teams.

"Demetrius is an outstanding player, a great teammate and is a better person than he is a player," coach Dale Rumberger said.

Nick Andrzejewski, sr., Luth. Westland: The senior outfielder posted a .523 batting average for the MIAC Red Division champions, who finished 21-5 this season.

He scored a school record 56 runs and has the Warriors' career mark with 144. Andrzejewski also posted 46 hits, including 11 doubles, with 29 RBI. He also walked 21 times and had 25 stolen bases.

"Nick has been a four-year starter, won two division titles, three district titles, one regional and has been to the quarter-finals," Lutheran Westland coach Kevin Wade said of the all-MIAC and all-district pick.

"He is a great leader for our young guys and he'll be greatly missed."

Daniel Jipping, jr., Ply. Christian: The junior catcher pretty much was a one-man wrecking crew in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Jipping batted .685 (54-for-80) with 24 extra-base hits (including seven homers), driving in 40 and scoring 36. His slugging percentage was 1.556 and his power hitting helped him win all-district, all-MIAC first-team and MIAC Red Division MVP honors.

He also was a strong pitcher for the Eagles, posting a 5-1 record and 2.97 ERA. He struck out 60 in 35 1/3 innings.

In addition to his on-the-field prowess, he carried a 3.97 grade-point average and earned all-district academic kudos.

"Players like Daniel don't come along very often," assistant coach Joe Bottorff said. "And I feel very fortunate to have had the opportunity to coach him. I can't wait to see what he does next year as a senior."

Nick Hazergian, jr., Canton: A bulldog who will do whatever is necessary for the Chiefs to have success, Hazergian batted .375 with 47 RBI while playing solid first base.

And whenever coach Mark Blomshield needed him to dazzle on the mound he did just that, going 6-1, striking out 61 in 43 innings and fashioning a nifty 1.90 earned run average.

The junior earned all-district and all-conference honors for the second season in a row.

"Nick had a great junior year for the Chiefs on the mound and at the plate," Blomshield said. "Nick's RBI production was impressive with runners in scoring position indicating the type of clutch player he has been this season."

Mike Kanitra, sr., Stevenson: The senior first baseman and pitcher, who signed with Madonna University, led the Spartans with a .422 batting average, including 14 doubles with a team-high 37 RBI and a .635 slugging percentage.

Kanitra, a right-hander, also excelled on the mound as Stevenson's ace going 6-4 with a 2.08 earned run average with 43 strikeouts in 61 2/3 innings of work.

The team MVP earned first-team Division 1 all-state, along with all-region, all-district and all-KLAA honors.

"Mike was an unbelievable pleasant surprise," Berryman said. "Not only did he lead us in hitting, he pitched in all the big games and that's why he was our MVP."

Mike Stafford, sr., Canton: The senior lefthander finished a dominant, four-year prep career with a flourish, going 7-3 and striking out 93 in 56 innings. His ERA was an impressive 1.00 and he fired a no-hitter against Livonia Stevenson.

For his Canton career, he collected 247 strikeouts and will take that pitching talent to Liberty University (Va.) next year.

Stafford also earned all-district and all-conference selections for the third consecutive season.

"Mike was a standout because he is a three-pitch pitcher who can run his fastball into the 90s with good movement," Blomshield said. "He had great mound presence and is a leader both on and off the field. Because he is a four-year letter winner and three-year starter, he's pitched in a lot of big games."

"Mike was able to learn from these experiences and continue to improve each year, both physically and mentally therefore becoming the blue chip ball player he is today."

Patrick Wierimaa, jr., Redford Union: Wierimaa's right arm and lead-off skills helped lead the Panthers to a 14-7 record in head coach Bob Miller's first year at the helm. Serving as the Panthers' ace, Wierimaa carved out a 10-4 record with a 1.50 earned run average. He struck out 105 batters in 64 innings while yielding just 15 walks. At the dish, the junior hit .535 with 15 RBI and seven doubles.

"Not only was Pat our best pitcher, but he was a great hitter for us this season," said Miller. "He's one of those kids who just loves to play the game and he puts a lot of time into his craft. I'm looking forward to coaching him again next season."

Sterling Sharp, sr., N. Farmington: The senior ace posted a 24-5 record during a four-year varsity career, which included a 5-3 slate the past season. The 6-foot-4 righthander, who will play at Eastern Michigan next year, also had two saves, including one against Catholic Central in the district tournament.

Sharp, a repeat member of the all-area first team, pitched fewer innings (50) this year due to the poor weather in April, striking out 41 and walking 12. He also played some shortstop and hit .368 with 18 RBI. Sharp was an All-Observer basketball player this year, too.

"His potential is so great," O'Connell said. "Major League and college scouts look at him and go, 'Wow!' Everybody thinks, if they could put 30 pounds of muscle on him, he'd be throwing 94 (mph)."

"He tried to be a complete pitcher this year instead of just throwing hard and blowing everybody away. He worked on his changeup and offspeed stuff. His four-year high school career was exemplary."

COACH OF THE YEAR

Mike O'Connell, N. Farmington: In O'Connell's third season as varsity head coach, the Raiders (30-9) set a record for single-season victories, captured the Oakland Activities Association White Division crown and won their first district championship in nine years.

O'Connell, who has coached at North since 1997, has been an assistant coach at the jay-vee and varsity levels and the jay-vee head coach. His three-year varsity record is 64-37, and his jay-vee teams were 140-46 during a span of nine seasons (2002-10).

"I can't say enough about the kids," O'Connell said. "I've had more talented teams and better athletes, but I haven't had this many kids who were as dedicated to baseball."

"What made us 30-9 was our depth. Everybody has a great pitcher, a leadoff guy and a No. 4 hitter. What really makes the difference is the last three our four guys in the lineup."

"We won 25 games with other guys on the mound (besides ace Sterling Sharp). It was the depth of the pitching staff that really made the difference."

O'Connell added longtime assistant coach Kurt Yockey played a major role for the Raiders, too.

"We would not have had the success we did without him," O'Connell said.

Metro West hockey team wins gold medal

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

Silver is nice, but it wouldn't suffice for the 2013 Metro West high school hockey team heading into last weekend's talent-rich Meijer State Games tournament in Grand Rapids.

The squad of Observ-erland-area icers met its gold standard on Sunday when it skated away with the top prize at the four-day competition after laying a thorough thumping on Team South, 10-0, in the title tilt.

Metro West was the runner-up in the 2012 tournament, which features a vast majority of Michigan's elite prep hockey talent.

"The key to our success was that everybody bought into the system," said Metro West head coach Ryan Ossenmach-er, who was orchestrating the team for the fourth time. "Most of these players are top-line guys on their high school teams, but some were asked to play on the third or fourth lines because we're so deep. Everybody accepted his role, which is why we were able to win the gold."

Metro West was so dominant in the championship game that the contest was halted after two periods when the mercy rule kicked in.

"We just came out flying and we never let up," Ossenmacher said, referring to the gold medal game.

Ossenmacher's skaters advanced to the final after smothering Team West, 3-0, on Saturday.

The champions opened with a 4-1 victory over Team Central on Thursday, one day before rocking Team South, 5-1.

Metro West's lone loss was a 5-4 overtime setback to Metro East.

"We had five or six guys back who played on the 2012 team, so they were extremely motivated to improve on the silver we won last year," Ossenmacher said.

"Our expectations were to win this tournament. Our goal was to have fun, obviously, but the boys knew they'd have the most fun if they won it."

Familiarity bred success for the team's top three lines. One line consisted of Division 2 state champion Livonia Stevenson's No. 1 line, while another was made up of quarterfinalist Plymouth's best three skaters. The other top line included two NHL draftees.

"It would be really hard to single anyone out because everybody played well," Ossenmacher said.

Sharing the goal-tending duties were Salem's Parker Godfrey, Livonia Churchill's David Turel and Novi's Austin Petty.

New Lady Ocelots coach signs recruits

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

New Schoolcraft College women's basketball coach Kara Kinzer has entertained thoughts of putting a "Help Wanted" message on the electronic marquee off Haggerty Road heading into the 2013-14 season.

"It's been a struggle, but we'll get there," said Kinzer, who replaced Kevin Brathwaite, who posted a 33-26 record in his two seasons with the Lady Ocelots. "We're always looking for players, but I'm very excited."

The 27-year-old Kinzer signed her first two recruits last week landing Victoria Fletcher, a 5-foot-9 guard from Dansville High School, along with Teniece Roberts, a 6-foot center who graduated from Windsor (Ontario) Assumption in 2010.

Fletcher was a four-year all-league and all-conference starter in basketball and soccer. "I'm looking for Victoria to be an aggressive player," said Kinzer, who spent two seasons as an assistant at Oakland Community College. "I would like for her to be able to play the shooting guard and the small forward position."

Roberts, who attended a full semester at Schoolcraft, has not played competitive basketball since graduating from high school.

She will graduate next May with a science degree.

"Teniece is a very quick learner on and off the court," Kinzer said. "She's a little raw, but she's really working hard on her fundamentals during the summer workouts."

She also has secured two more verbal commitments from a pair of 5-6 point guards - Sara Gammons from Flint Atherton and Chelsea Wesley from Morrice.

Among the four players scheduled to return off last year's 8-20 squad, which finished 5-13 in the MCAA's Eastern Conference, include Bri Berbert (Salem), Alexis Smith (Livonia Franklin), Marwa Sayed and Taylor Bunyak.

"I'm expecting a lot from our incoming freshmen with only four returning players," Kinzer said. "The incoming freshmen will have a lot of responsibility on-and-off the court."

Kinzer, who lives in Ferndale and works in her family collision shop business in Mount Clemens, played high school basketball at Utica Eisenhower before going on to four-year career at Saginaw Valley State.

This is her first head coaching gig after spending the last two seasons as an assistant.

Kinzer said she plans on holding summer workouts and open gyms with the hope of landing a few more players.

And the door remains open. Any players interested in a look should email the first-year Schoolcraft coach at kkinzer@schoolcraft.edu.

Rams feel the Sting in trio of setbacks

Danny Essian collected five hits on Sunday leading the Michigan Sting to a double-header sweep of the Michigan Rams in Livonia Collegiate Baseball League action at Bicentennial Park.

The Troy High grad, a catcher at Alderson-Broaddus College (W.Va.) and son of former Major Leaguer Jim Essian, went 2-for-3 with a run scored as the Sting took the opener, 3-1, followed by a 3-for-3 effort with two runs scored in the nightcap in a 4-3 victory.

The Sting improved to 9-7 in league play, while the Rams fall to 7-8-1.

Sting starter Kevin Marnon went all seven innings to win Game One allowing just one run on five hits and two walks. He struck out seven.

The Rams' Spencer Goebel, who took the loss, allowed two runs (one earned) in five innings. He allowed two hits, walked three and struck out four. Reliever Donnie Eaton gave up one run on two hits in two innings.

Taylor Grezslakowski, Kyle Juscak and Dylan Ahern each knocked in a run for the Sting, while Justin Sherman went 2-for-3 with a double and Trent Drumheller added two hits and one RBI for the Rams.

In Game Two, Nathan Weiss pitched all seven innings scattering six hits and a walk to go along with six strikeouts as the Sting rallied from a 3-0 deficit by scoring three times in the sixth and one in the seventh for the one-run victory.

Juscak also went 2-for-4 with a double, while J.P. Maracani went 2-for-3 with a double and two RBI for the Rams. Matt Avromov also added two hits in the loss.

Rams starter Evan Piechota (Livonia Stevenson/Madonna University) went 5½ innings, allowing three runs, all unearned, on six hits. He struck out four, walked one and hit a batter.

Reliever Jake Gardner, who came on for the final 1½ innings, gave up the game-winning run and took the loss.

STING 3, RAMS 2: On Monday, A.J. Jusick pitched a four-hit complete game leading the Michigan Sting (10-7) to an LCBL victory over the Michigan Rams (7-9-1) at Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School.

Jusick struck out five, walked one and hit three batters. Rams starter Jake Balicki, who took the loss, went five innings allowing two earned runs on five hits and two walks. He struck out four before Chris McDonald (Livonia Stevenson/Hillsdale College) pitched as scoreless sixth.

Jeff Segal went 2-for-3 with a run scored, while Danny Essian added two RBI. Trent Drumheller hit a 2-run homer in the fifth for the Rams.

RAMS 11, LIGHTNING 6: Brett Ramirez (Salem/MU) knocked in three runs while Miles Sorise went 2-for-3 and scored twice as the Michigan Rams (7-6-1) downed the Michigan Lightning (1-13) in a game called after 6½ innings due to a 2½ time limit Friday at Bicentennial Park.

Ben Yax, Tyler Baker and Brandon Katta also knocked in runs for the Rams, who erased a 4-2 deficit with nine runs in the fourth inning.

Kirk Stambaugh, in relief of starter Jeff Sorenson (Stevenson/Wayne State), pitched the final 3½ innings to pick up the victory. Brent Marzion (Livonia Franklin) took the loss for the Lightning.

Willard Brown went 3-for-4 with two RBI in a losing cause.

German, American dancers share stage at Livonia Spree

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

Debbie Felton's Academy of Dance will add a little German flair to its annual appearance on the main stage Saturday at Livonia Spree.

The Academy's competitive dance team will share performance time with Ballettschule Feibicke, a group of dancers from Berlin, Germany.

"At Spree we'll do jazz, contemporary, tap — we're bringing a little of everything," said Janet Coppola, the Academy's office manager. She suspects the German troupe will perform ballet and contemporary dances.

"Their ballet is more contemporary. Their pieces may have a more modern look. People love to watch other people express themselves. I don't think it matters if it's jazz, ballet or tap. Having these young ladies from Germany will be an experience for people in Livonia."

Ballettschule Feibicke is in Michigan this week through an 18-year-old exchange program with Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, which is located in Twin Lake north of Muskegon. The German and American dancers take turns visiting each others' countries every other year. The German dancers have toured Michigan nine times since the program began.

Sarah Jozwiak, a dancer at Debbie Felton's Academy of Dance, attended Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp last summer and performed in four European countries through the exchange program. She and other troupe members stayed with Ballettschule Feibicke host families while in Berlin. Her mother, Terri, arranged for Ballettschule Feibicke to participate in Livonia Spree while it's visiting Michigan this month. She also sought host families from the Livonia area.

"I'll have five (dancers) at my house," Terri Jozwiak said. "Part of the exchange program is to live with an American family. We do have a few activities planned while they are here. We'll have a picnic and a pool party and after the performance we'll stay at Spree so they can ride the rides. On Friday we're going downtown to tour the Opera House, see Campus Martius, the DIA, the river front."

Ballettschule Feibicke leaves Livonia on Sunday and heads to Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp and then Ann Arbor for performances.

The German group and the Academy's competitive dance team each will perform for 30 minutes from 2:30-3:30 p.m. on the main stage at Spree, which is held at Ford Field, located at the corner of Farmington Road and Lyndon, in Livonia.

Dancers from Debbie Felton's Academy of Dance have performed at Livonia Spree since 2009.

Coppola said the event, which celebrates Livonia's founding, gives the dance team "great exposure" in the community.

"Eighty percent of our students are from the Livonia area," Coppola noted. "It gives them a chance to showcase what they do."

She said Livonia Spree also gives dancers an opportunity to "give back" to the community.

OUTSHINE THE FIREWORKS

Cool Watermelon Cheesecake, Sweet Sliders and Red, White and Blue Treat Pops

SPARKLING SWEETS ON JULY 4TH

Fireworks don't have to be the only party element that makes guests ooh and ah during Fourth of July festivities. With colorful sweets that sparkle and a themed tablescape exploding with red, white and blue, your party is sure to be the best on the block.

"Adding patriotic flair to your Independence Day celebration is easy with the right recipes and decorating accents," said Nancy Siler, vice president of consumer affairs at Wilton. "Put your personal John Hancock on the party by turning traditional summertime foods into amazing sweet treats."

Try these dessert ideas from the Wilton test kitchen for a celebration that ends with a bang:

» Burgers with a sweet bite: Traditional burgers are a staple for summer parties; switch things up with Sweet Sliders and build your burgers with unexpected ingredients. Start with whoopie pies for the buns, add a brownie "patty," roll yellow fruit candies into thin layers for cheese, and top it off with red and yellow Sparkle Gel for ketchup and mustard.

» Playful twist on summer fruit: Make mouths water by serving up slices of delicious watermelon ... cheesecake! Strawberry cheesecake dotted with mini chocolate chips imitates the center of the fruit, and a pistachio and coconut crumble crust mimics the watermelon rind.

» Patriotic treat pops: For the grand finale, nestle Red, White and Blue Treat Pops in a bowl of red Cinnamon Drops. Layer on the festive colors with vanilla cake, colored icing and star-shaped sprinkles. Finish with stars and stripes Rocket Treat Pops Toppers or red, white and blue pinwheels.

Arteva Homes for Callaway Idea ShowHouse won in the homes priced as shown over $650,000 category.

Award-winning homes highlight local lifestyles

The Home Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan announced the winners in its 24th annual Parade of Homes architectural judging. Parade of Homes is an exhibition of 43 new model, under construction and pre-construction homes and condominiums located throughout southeastern Michigan. The showcase takes place June 1-30. All 43 homes are featured at www.ParadeHBA.com. HBA and Bank of America Home Loans sponsor the event.

In this year's architectural judging, blue ribbons were awarded to the model homes in six categories. Winning homes were selected based on the following criteria: best value for the price, best use of space, most innovative design and aesthetic appeal. Before being judged in these categories, participating homes were divided into categories by price, with a separate category for attached condominiums.

The blue ribbon homes are:

» Attached condominiums - Mocerri Companies for Claremont

» Home base priced under $200,000 - Infinity Homes & Soave Homes for Columbia

» Homes base priced $250,000 TO $325,000 - Mark Adler Homes for Packard

» Homes base priced over $325,000 TO $400,000 - Tall Oaks Ventures for St. Andrew IV

» Homes base priced over $400,000 TO $500,000 - MJC Oakland Hunt for The Logan

» Homes priced as shown over $650,000 - Arteva Homes for Callaway Idea ShowHouse

A panel of local architects and industry experts judged the homes. Participating judges were Lonny S. Zimmerman, AIA, NCARB of Siegal/Tuomaala Associates; Benedetto Tiseo, FAIA, NCARB of Tiseo Architects, Inc.; Michael J. Gordon, RA of Moiseev/Gordon Associates and Paul Salloum of Bank of America Home Loans. The Parade of Homes models are located throughout southeastern Michigan and can be viewed via open house tours, or online at www.ParadeHBA.com.

Free Parade of Homes magazines are available at area Bank of America Home Loans locations and Kroger stores. Addresses for those locations are at www.ParadeHBA.com. For additional information on the Parade of Homes, call (248) 862-1016.

Headquartered in West Bloomfield, HBA is a trade association representing over 600 builders, remodelers, multi-family property owners, developers and suppliers to the single family and multifamily residential construction industry. HBA is affiliated with the Home Builders Association of Michigan in Lansing and the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D.C.

Check with lawyer on project

Q: Our developer has a portion of the property that he has labeled must be built, but has not completed the construction of the entire project and there are a couple of acres that lay dormant within the condominium. It has been seven and a half years since the project was established and I am curious as to how long the developer has.

A: You are best to call an experienced condominium attorney to speak with you about Section 67 of the Condominium Act which may have given you, already, the right as an association to claim the portion of the property that was not identified as must be built as a common element of the condominium having reverted to the co-owners since the developer may not have complied with his obligations to build within a six-year period from the time the developer exercised its rights with respect to either expansion, contraction, or rights of convertibility; which could be as early as the recording of the master deed or, depending on the circumstances, the date of commencement of construction of the project. The facts are very important in determining whether or not your developer has lost his right to build on this area which could result in potentially a substantial windfall to the association if it plays its cards right.

Q: I am the owner of an apartment co-op who entered into an exclusive agency agreement with my broker and accepted an offer, subject to approval by the co-op board. Meanwhile, the broker met with other prospective buyers at an open house and showed them other apartments, including another in the same building as mine. The deal with my first buyer fell through, and the prospective buyer saw my apartment again, making an offer for slightly less than the asking price, with the Broker reducing her commission to 5 percent. I accepted the offer, but I don't think I should be paying any commission because by showing the buyers other properties, the broker acted as a dual agent without having made full disclosure in obtaining consent of both the buyer and me. Do you think I have any recourse?

A: I think you should speak to an attorney, but if your only concern is with the broker showing other properties, then it is not likely that you have any recourse. In a recent case out of New York, on similar facts, the court held as a matter of law that the broker did not act as a dual agent. The court said that absent an agreement with the seller to the contrary, a broker has no duty to refrain from showing prospective buyers other properties. The court in that case thought that any other holding would unreasonably restrain a broker from cultivating potential clients at open houses for their principals. If, however, the broker represented the prospective buyer in making the offer on your apartment, then you probably would have a cause of action.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
