Heise, Price spent nearly $115,000

Two candidates for Plymouth Township supervisor both exceeded $50,000 in primary campaign

Matt Jachman
hometownlife.com

Rival candidate committees spent nearly $115,000 during the primary campaign to get their man elected Plymouth Township supervisor.

And that may be the tip of the iceberg, as groups not subject to reporting requirements also spent money on behalf of Kurt Heise and Shannon Price — mainly by attacking the other guy.

Heise, a Michigan House of Representatives member in his third and final term, won the Aug. 2 Republican primary with an unlikely write-in campaign, beating Price, who had been appointed supervisor in April 2015 and was seeking a full four-year term.

Heise has no Democratic opposition in the November general election.

His campaign committee, Kurt Heise for Supervisor, spent $54,856.79 so far in the election cycle, a report filed last week with Wayne County Clerk Cathy Garrett's office shows. The committee ended the reporting period with $8168.21 on hand and nearly half of the money raised in the cycle — $27,000 — came in the form of a loan from the candidate, the report shows. Of that, the committee still owes Heise $19,000, the report says.

Heise

Price's group, the Committee to Elect Shannon Price, spent $59,963.28 in a losing effort. The committee ended the reporting period with just $91.75 on hand, but had no outstanding debt, the report shows.

Heise said Tuesday that his committee's campaign spending was needed, especially since his name was not on the ballot. Heise was taken off the ballot by a Michigan Court of Appeals decision due to an oversight on a form filed for his candidacy.

"Funding for the campaign was necessary in order to both convey my political objectives to the public and also to educate the public on the write-in campaign effort," Heise said.

Price said he's glad he was able to end his campaign without debt.

"I was proud of how much I raised. We worked really hard and I got a lot of support," he said.

An independent political action committee, Progress Plymouth, may also have spent money on Heise's behalf during the primary race, but that was not clear on its most recent quarterly report.

Progress Plymouth's treasurer, Paul Garon, was a Heise supporter and Heise contributed $5,000 to the PAC on May 10, the report shows. Progress Plymouth's most recent expen-

A large crowd gathered to see Steve King and the Dittilies in the final 2016 Music in the Air concert at Kellogg Park. King and his band are Plymouth regulars and their appearances in town typically draw thousands.

STEVE KING & THE DITTILIES CAP 2016 CONCERT SERIES

Perennial Plymouth favorites Steve King and the Dittilies wrapped up Plymouth's 2016 Music in the Air concert series Friday with a show at Kellogg Park.

King and his band, always a big draw in Plymouth with a mix of classic rock and danceable tunes, capped a 14-week Music in the Air season that also included performers like the Randy Brock Group, Lady Sunshine and the X Band, Social Bones and Motor City Soul. The typical Friday evening concert brings several thousand people to the park.

The concerts are presented by the Downtown Development Authority; major sponsors are Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, Hines Park Lincoln and Johnson Controls.

The Steve King and Dittilies concert was sponsored by the Downtown Plymouth Restaurant Association.

Vorva spent $32K in clerk race

Finance report will be late

Matt Jachman

He hasn't filed his official report yet, but Jerry Vorva appears to have outspent his opponent — by a more than 3:1 margin — in the Republican primary battle for the job of Plymouth Township clerk.

Vorva, who outpolled incumbent Clerk Nancy Conzelman in the Aug. 2 primary and has no Democratic opponent in the November general election, said Wednesday that his candidate committee spent about $32,000 in the race. Vorva said he's been out of town dealing with a family issue since shortly after the election and hadn't had a chance to file a post-primary campaign finance report, which was due Sept. 1.

"I know I'm a few days late, but I spent about thirty-two grand," Vorva said. Vorva said he would file his committee's report as soon as he can.

Vorva didn't do any fundraising for his campaign, but instead loaned his committee $75,000, a pre-primary report

So-called "dark money" groups, generally nonprofits organized in order to educate the public on candidates and issues, also weighed in on the contest, typically by sponsoring fliers or robo-calls critical of a candidate or a group of candidates. Such groups are not subject to campaign finance reporting requirements.

Heise, for example, was attacked in fliers purportedly paid for by the Michigan chapter of the Faith and Freedom Coalition and by Involve America, national conservative nonprofit groups. Price was criticized in a robo-call sponsored by Southeast Michigan First, a nonprofit with a Lansing address.

Canton home destroyed after second fire in two days

A Canton house was destroyed by fire early Sept. 1, one day after firefighters doused a garage fire at the same residence, an official said.

"Nobody was injured," Deputy Fire Chief Christopher Stoocklein said.

Officials hadn't pinpointed the exact cause of either blaze. Stoocklein said later Thursday morning the fires remained under investigation.

The latest fire at the two-story colonial home was reported shortly after 5:30 a.m. Sept. 1 in the 700 block of Merrimac, near Cherry Hill and Lotz. Firefighters arrived to find the house and attached garage fully engulfed in flames.

"It's a total loss," Stoocklein said.

The family that lives in the house already had gone to a hotel room because of another fire that started in the garage about noon Aug. 31, causing what was initially described as smoke damage to the house. The garage had been boarded up when the second blaze was reported.

Flames could be seen coming from the home's roof when firefighters arrived early Sept. 1. One next-door house sustained minor damage to the siding, Stoocklein said.

Firefighters from all three Canton fire stations fought the blaze.

filed with Wayne County Clerk Cathy Garrett's office shows.

Neither did Conzelman, who was seeking a second term, ask for campaign donations, instead loaning her committee, Citizens for Nancy Conzelman, $10,000 in the election cycle. Her committee's post-primary finance statement shows the committee owes $15,205 to the candidate, some of that left over from the 2012 election.

Conzelman's committee spent $7,446.03 on her behalf in the primary, the report shows.

Mark Clinton, who won the Republican primary in the race for township treasurer, beating five-term incumbent Treasurer Ron Edwards, also did not take outside donations for the primary campaign, his committee's report shows. Clinton himself is the only donor listed on the report, having contributed a total of $12,000. The money is listed as a donation rather than a loan from the candidate.

Clinton spent nearly the entire sum, $11,309.51, in his primary effort, the report says. Clinton faces Democrat Mary Siefert, who had no primary opponent, in the November general election.

Edwards spent slightly more than Clinton, totaling $13,516.55 in the election cycle. Edwards raised nearly $14,600 for the campaign; the post-primary report from his committee, Taxpayers for Ron Edwards, shows it owes the candidate $2,900, with only $100 of that dating back to the previous election cycle.

Vorva's campaign committee is subject to a maximum fine of $1,000 for missing the reporting deadline. Fines start at $25 for each day the report is late, through the third day, $50 a day for days four through 10, $100 a day for days 11 through 15, and the maximum of $1,000 on the 16th day.

Bounty hunter recovers missing Northville children

Joanne Maliszewski
hometownlife.com

Within hours of hearing from the Northville Township father whose ex-wife allegedly kidnapped their daughters, Kelly Masters, a Macomb County bounty hunter, was on the road to Jacksonville, Fla., where he recovered Caitlin, 8, and Charlotte, 5.

Northville Township police confirmed that father James Peck was reunited with his daughters Saturday following the arrest of his ex-wife Courtney by the Duval County Sheriff's Department in Florida.

"They were a little shaken at first," Masters said of the two girls. "But they really didn't know what was happening. The kids were not traumatized."

Masters worked with AAA Bail Bonds Agency of Michigan in Clinton Township, which had bond on Courtney Peck on previous charges. She failed to appear on her scheduled court date.

Peck contacted the Northville Township police and media last week after his ex-wife failed to return the girls at 4 p.m. Aug. 21. Courtney Peck was, as planned, supposed to drop off the children at Ford Field in Northville. "When she didn't show up, he was concerned, based on some previous behaviors and came looking for our assistance," said Todd Mutchler, deputy director of Northville Township Police Services.

"The dad called me and said, 'You are my last hope.' After hearing his desperation, I dropped what I was doing. I felt the guy's pain," Masters said, adding he, too, had been involved in his own custody battles.

That's one of the reasons - following the girls' recovery - Masters and his team refused to accept payment for their work. "I did it for the right reasons," Masters said.

Armed with information provided by a private investigator he contacted, Masters arrived at what at first glance appeared to be a vacant vacation home in Jacksonville. "We had the address. I knew it just wasn't a vacation home," said Masters, who Friday left Michigan.

As Masters and the private investigator made their way around the area where the house was located, the garage door opened with Courtney Peck and the children, including her one-month-old baby, in the car. "We weren't there more than five minutes before she had cuffs on," said Masters, who contacted the police.

Masters also contacted the girls' father, James Peck, a phone call that Masters said helped keep the children calm. While Peck caught a plane for Jacksonville, Masters and his team members remained with the girls for about 12 hours. When Peck arrived, the girls were handed to him, while Courtney Peck's baby was taken by Child Protective Services, Masters said.

While Masters, according to Northville Township police, worked on his own, the department also "was very active in the investigation," Mutchler said. "We used the resources and technology available to us. It was good, old-fashioned police work."

Meanwhile, Northville Township police are working with the Wayne County Prosecutor's office and its extradition team to return Courtney Peck to Michigan to face charges. "There are a lot of moving parts in this," Mutchler said.

Courtney Peck was arrested last month after fleeing Grosse Pointe Farms police with her one-month-old baby in the car after being discovered in a no-trespassing zone at 3 a.m., according to WXYZ-TV (Channel 7). She was charged with fleeing and eluding police, fourth-degree child abuse and reckless driving.

A court order Wednesday, Aug. 24, granted James Peck full custody of the girls, at least temporarily. Northville Township police Lt. Mike Burrough said last Friday that police were actively investigating the kidnapping case to restore Peck's custodial rights. Peck did not respond to a request for comment from the Northville Record. According to Burrough, Peck last saw his daughters Aug. 13, when they left with their mom on what they collectively referred to as a road trip. Peck's last contact with them was Aug. 19, on a phone call with Caitlin.

Peck told police that when he was helping his daughters pack, their mother "told them to bring all sorts of special stuff, which was a special request," Mutchler said last week. "He's been really struggling with that realization."

The case was handled as a parental kidnapping, something Mutchler says he doesn't see very often. "We do, from time to time, have parents over-extend the stay or have some communication breakdowns over when the children should return," he said.

Any time there's a parental kidnapping, Mutchler said it's treated seriously. In this case, though, police did not believe the girls, or Courtney's baby, were in immediate danger.

Correspondent Maria Taylor contributed to this report.

Canton is among ITT campuses shut down by federal agency

David Jesse
Detroit Free Press

Facing heavy sanctions from the U.S. Department of Education, ITT Technical Institute has announced it will shut down, affecting five campuses in Michigan.

"Please know we worked diligently to identify alternatives that would have allowed you to start or continue your education at ITT Tech, and earn your degree," the school wrote in an email to students. "But the Department of Education's actions have forced us to cease operations at the ITT Technical Institutes. We are truly sorry to have to make this decision."

The Michigan campuses are in Canton, Dearborn, Grand Rapids, Swartz Creek and Troy.

The department had no choice but to take the action, Education Secretary John King Jr. wrote in a letter to students Monday.

"The school's decisions have put its students and millions of dollars in taxpayer-funded federal student aid at risk. Last week, the Department of Education took oversight actions to prevent ITT from continuing to add to that risk. When we made that decision, we did not take it lightly. One possible outcome of oversight actions is that a school may choose to close rather than take corrective actions, which can cause disruption and disappointment for current students.

Ultimately, we made a difficult choice to pursue additional oversight in order to protect you, other students, and taxpayers from potentially worse educational and financial damage in the future if ITT was allowed to continue operating."

The result is that students are left with questions. Here are some:

1. I have federal student loans that I took to pay for my education at ITT. What happens to them?

"If you are currently or were recently enrolled at ITT, you may be eligible to have your federal student loans for your program at ITT discharged," the U.S. Department of Education wrote in its letter. "Your federal loan debt will be wiped away and you will have the option of re-starting your education somewhere new. We will post and update information about how to receive a discharge at our ITT announcements page."

2. I still want to pursue a college degree. What are my options?

"If you wish to continue and complete your program at a different school - especially if you are close to graduating - you may be able to transfer your credits," the federal letter to students read. "It is important to note that transferring your credits may limit your ability to have your federal loans discharged. Closed school discharge may be an option if you enroll in a different program that does not accept your ITT credits."

3. How do I see my grades?

"You may access your academic record via the Student Portal by clicking this link," the letter from ITT read. "Please use your student email and network password to log in. We expect to have all grades for the June 2016 quarter updated by Friday, Sept. 9."

In his letter, King urged students to keep pursuing their studies.

"Whatever you choose to do, do not give up on your education. Higher education remains the clearest path to economic opportunity and security. Restarting or continuing your education at a high-quality, reputable institution may feel like a setback today, but odds are it will pay off in the long run."

Driver arrested after two crashes with motorcycles

hometownlife.com

A 49-year-old Ypsilanti man was arraigned on seven charges, including three felonies, after his ninth drunken-driving arrest Saturday.

David Berjewski's arrest came shortly after 8 p.m. Saturday at Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon following separate crashes between a car and two motorcycles on Ann Arbor Trail. One motorcyclist was thrown off his motorcycle when he was struck while stopped for a red light at Ann Arbor Trail and Mill Street, but no injuries were reported in either crash, said Lt. Jamie Grabowski, who is in charge of the Plymouth Police Department's detective bureau.

After that crash, in which the motorcycle was lodged underneath the car, the car's driver backed up to dislodge it, then continued west on Ann Arbor Trail, followed by another motorcyclist, Grabowski said. The car's driver braked suddenly, causing the second motorcyclist to crash into the rear of the car and the driver also attempted to run the motorcyclist off the road, Grabowski said. The car continued through downtown Plymouth until the driver was stopped and arrested by Sgt. Justin Bulmer, the lieutenant said.

The driver refused breath and chemical tests for alcohol and, after a search warrant for his blood was obtained, Plymouth and Canton Township officers had to restrain the man at a Canton medical facility in order for a blood draw to be completed, Grabowski said.

Berjewski was arraigned in out-county weekend court on charges of felonious assault, resisting and obstructing a police officer and felony driving while intoxicated, plus driving with a suspended license, reckless driving and two counts of leaving the scene of a property-damage accident. Not-guilty pleas were entered for him.

Berjewski was being held Wednesday in the Wayne County Jail on a $5,000 bond. He is due Friday, Sept. 16, in 35th District Court for a probable cause hearing.

Police seek suspect in assault at park

David Veselenak
hometownlife.com

Livonia police are asking for the public's help locating a man they say sexually assaulted a runner in Edward Hines Park.

According to police, a 28-year-old woman was running eastbound at about 7:25 p.m. Sunday along the Hines Drive bicycle path, west of Levan in Livonia. She told police she came across the suspect, who was walking westbound along the road. She told police the man wrapped his arm around her neck and struck on the side of her face when she tried to pass him, struggling with her and trying to drag her toward the Rouge River.

Police say he also attempted to remove the woman's clothing and told her he wanted to have sex with her. She was able to fight off the suspect, who then ran eastbound on foot.

After flagging down a motorist along the road, she was able to use his cellphone to call authorities and report the incident, police said. Police arrived, but were unable to locate the suspect.

Capt. Robert Nenciarini of the Livonia Police Department said the woman did not require any hospitalization after the incident.

Livonia police say the suspect is described as a black male between 28-30 years old, about 5 feet, 10 inches and 180 pounds. He's also described as having a muscular build with short, dark hair and clean shaven.

Anyone with information regarding the incident is encouraged to call Livonia police at 734-466-2470.

Troopers find meth lab in Westland

Diane Gale Andreassi
hometownlife.com

State Police said they found a methamphetamine lab in a home on the 3500 block of Manila Street, near Palmer and Wayne, in Westland during a raid Aug. 31.

Nine people were in the house and police said six of them had outstanding felony warrants. A 10th person, who came to the scene to see what was happening after police arrived, had a felony warrant out for his arrest from Westland police, Michigan State Police spokesman 1st Lt. Michael Shaw said. That man was arrested along with the other six.

Two houses — one on each side of the house that was raided — were evacuated "while the teams were removing the items in case there was an explosion," Shaw said. "We did air quality tests inside the home and around the home, and there's no danger to the community."

Michigan State Police Fugitive Team members initially entered the home looking for an individual wanted on a felony parole absconder warrant.

Troopers were concerned about a possible explosion that could have been caused by mixing chemicals and sealing them up in weakened containers. The chemicals used to make methamphetamine are also very toxic, he added.

Shaw said police found a gram of meth, other narcotics, cash and a large amount of guns. Three Wayne County Sheriff's Department badges were also found.

An investigation continues on who owns the property, he added. A placard was placed on the house declaring it a hazardous waste site "and it's up to the owner to go in and clean up the chemical waste that is always found on these methamphetamine sites," Shaw said.

Birmingham to get Michigan's first Starbucks Reserve shop

 hometownlife.com

Starbucks Reserve coffee is coming to Michigan. A Starbucks spokesperson confirmed the company plans to open a Starbucks at 101 N. Old Woodward that will be the first in Michigan to offer Starbucks Reserve coffee. The new store is more than twice the size of the existing Starbucks across the street on Old Woodward and will offer customers plenty of premium coffee choices. "It's going to be a larger store with more space and it's at better location," said Karleigh Wolber, a supervisor at the Birmingham Starbucks. "We're going to have more food options and we're going to have a clover machine that will provide our customers with more coffee choices. We'll also have more space for laptops." The new store opens in the spring. The first Starbucks Roastery Reserve and Tasting Room opened in Seattle in 2014, offering customers more space, a larger breakfast and lunch menu, more baked goods, a line of premium coffee choices and its own roastery. "This location will have our full Starbucks menu of handcrafted beverages and food and will not be a Reserve-only store," the spokesperson said. "Additionally, this store will offer an exceptional collection of exclusive, small-batch arabica coffees available in select Starbucks stores around the world, roasted at our Starbucks Roastery Reserve and Tasting Room in Seattle." Because of the premium selections, customers can expect to pay more for their coffee. A 12-ounce cup of coffee at the Starbucks Reserve in Manhattan sells for $4. The new store will occupy the former Cosi space at the northwest corner of Maple and Old Woodward, right in the heart of downtown Birmingham. Landlord Brian Najor said he expects the store to be a popular draw. "It's kind of a unique use for that space and it's a perfect location," Najor said. "We're adding a premium retailer to a prominent space and I really think it will be a nice addition for Birmingham. And besides, I'm a big Starbucks fan, so I plan on spending a lot of time there." jgrossman@hometownlife.com

Job Search Seminar a boon to job seekers

A JVS Job Search Seminar, Taking Your Job Search by Storm, will be offered from 10 a.m. to noon Thursday, Sept. 15, at the Southfield Public Library Auditorium, 26300 Evergreen Road. Pre-registration is not required.

Join Abby Kohut - known as Absolutely Abby - to learn the steps to launch a successful job search. Admission is free.

Kohut is an author and expert on effective job search strategies. She is president of Staffing Symphony, LLC and author of "Absolutely Abby's 101 Job Search Secrets." She has held corporate recruiting positions in a variety of industries and is responsible for helping 10,000 people get hired.

The workshop is sponsored by JVS and the Southfield Public Library. Kohut will stress the five Ps - be prepared, persistent, patient, positive and prudent.

Southfield-based JVS, a nonprofit, also has other extensive resources for job seekers. The JVS Women to Work program helps women find employment after being out of the workforce for a substantial period of time. The program is designed to guide participants through the latest job search strategies while providing emotional support to make the process easier.

For additional information on Women to Work, contact Judy Richmond at jrighmond@jvsdet.org.

JVS also has some words of wisdom for job seekers:

» Climb the totem pole. Young job seekers have tons to offer, but they usually end up in entry-level positions. This is for one simple reason: They lack experience. So as a young employee, be willing to climb the totem pole. Make certain beneficiaries make sense to you

I had a recent meeting with a client regarding their estate plan that I thought I would share with you. The client is divorced and in his mid-70s. He was married for more than 30 years and has three children. According to him, the divorce was very nasty and changed his relationship with his children. As he describes it, before the divorce he had a wonderful relationship with his children and, since the divorce, which is more than five years ago, he no longer has any relationship with two of them. In fact, as he describes it, he has grandchildren that he has never seen. He says he's tried to reach out to the two kids, but his efforts have been unsuccessful. As we sat down to discuss his estate plan, the one question he asked me was what I thought the right thing would be with what he should do with his money.

The way I interpreted the question was, despite having no relationship with the two children whatsoever, should he still leave them part of his estate upon his death? As I explained to the client, I don't believe that as a matter of right people are entitled to an inheritance. In most cases, inheritances are earned by the love and devotion that someone has demonstrated. I also explained that many situations are based upon the needs of the beneficiary. For example, I have drafted many estate plans where parents treat their children differently, not for a lack of love and devotion, but because of financial concerns. In other words, one child's financial situation may be such that a larger inheritance is called for. There are no hard and fast rules when it comes to inheritances and people shouldn't try to do what everyone else is doing, but should do what makes sense for their individual situation.

Rick Bloom

After the discussion with the client, he did decide to totally disinherit the two children and leave the money to the child who has been very good to him. At the beginning of the meeting the client was tense, but by the end of the meeting he was relaxed and relieved. Relieved in the fact that, from the beginning, he knew that he didn't want to leave money to the two children, but he needed the assurance that he was doing the right thing.

When it comes to choosing beneficiaries, people generally name all their children as their alternate beneficiaries. You should never do what the majority does, but you should do what makes sense for your individual circumstances. There is nothing to say that all children should be treated equally. You may love them equally; that doesn't mean from a financial standpoint their needs are the same. After all, when the kids were growing up, if one of your children needed braces, you didn't say I know I have to spend an equal amount on my other children. More likely than not, you treated them each according to their individual needs. The same thing should apply when it comes to estate planning.

I recognize when you don't treat children equally, there could be some hard feelings. If you think there would be hard feelings, you can either explain to your children ahead of time why you're doing what you're doing or you can add something to your estate planning documents that explains your reasoning. You're under no obligation to do so, but if it would make you feel better, you should.

It's also important to remember when you do estate planning that what you do today doesn't mean it's set in stone. In the situation at hand, if down the road my client's relationships with his two children changes, he can always change his estate planning documents. That is why it's important that every year or so you review your estate planning documents to make sure they still reflect your wishes.

When it comes to deciding beneficiaries, don't let anyone tell you what you should do. You should do what you believe is right for your individual situation. If you do that, then you will make the right decision. Good luck!

Woman stumping for Trump in Oakland County

Terry Jacoby
Correspondent

Nothing ignites one's passion and excitement like something you strongly believe in.

And when Donald Trump decided to run for president of the United States, it lit the match for Meshawn Maddock to not only support the controversial candidate, but to get involved in what she says is an "uprising" against the establishment in Washington, D.C.

Maddock, 49, of Milford said it was an "honor" to be named the first co-chair for the Oakland County team for the Donald J. Trump for President campaign.

"We know that if Trump wins southeast Michigan in November and especially if he wins Oakland County, he will be our next president," Maddock said. "I'm really excited about working for this campaign. I've been working really close with Scott and C.J. for months leading up to the primary and they have been helping us prepare our grassroots office."

Scott Hagerstrom is the Michigan state director for the Trump campaign; C.J. Galdes is the deputy state director for the Trump campaign.

Maddock and her team didn't waste any time getting the Oakland County office up and running. The headquarters, at 500 N. Pontiac Trail (second floor) in Walled Lake, is "stocked and fully staffed." "We worked hard to open a grassroots office," she said. "While we wait from the RNC for official Trump office status, we press on to organize rallies, knock on doors, distribute signs and meet with volunteers. We have signs, stickers and volunteers ready to go door to door. People are stopping in every day eager to help in any way they can. It's pretty exciting."

The Oakland County team for the Donald J. Trump for President campaign was organized in part by the Michigan Conservative Coalition, of which Maddock is a member.

"We are an activist group that wants to steer our party back to the right and back to the platform principles," Maddock said. "That's how I got involved with this. And as of (Tuesday) we already fully staffed with 16 volunteers."

She is well aware that Michigan hasn't voted "red" since 1988.

In 2016, Michigan has 16 electoral votes, which is 3 percent of the 538 electoral votes up for grabs and 6 percent of the 270 electoral votes needed to win the general election. Many experts believe that Michigan is a lock to remain a Democratic state and support Hillary Clinton, but Maddock is convinced Trump has the support to take those 16 electoral votes.

"We need to get out there and get people to go

vote and help turn Michigan red," Maddock said. "Donald Trump is a fantastic candidate for all the people."

"We are ready for a change and we feel it's here. I believe he will fight for me. I know he can win Oakland County and I know he can win Michigan."

And remember, Clinton didn't even win Michigan's primary. Bernie Sanders won the Democratic primary with 49.7 percent of the vote.

Trump won the Michigan Republican primary with 37 percent of the state campaigns, Maddock has never been "all in" like she is with Trump and the 2016 election.

"I've never felt so close to overturning the monopoly of control you see in both parties," she said. "Donald Trump represents an uprising for people who are sick and tired of big money, lobbyists and special interest money and most of these politicians we have now are out to protect themselves and their paychecks. Donald Trump represents what we've been fighting for in Michigan for a long time."

Maddock was as a Trump-bound delegate to the recently completed Republican National Convention in Cleveland. "I was honored to be voted as the national delegate for Trump in the 11th Congressional District and was one of four national delegates and I also was elected to be one of two people from Michigan to represent the state's Republican Platform Committee for the RNC," she said.

She called the trip to Cleveland a "once-in-a-lifetime experience."

"It was amazing just to see how the process works," she said. "I got to be a big part of it. While I felt a little intimidated, I stood up and spoke. I felt God had me there for a reason. It was even on C-Span. It was just incredible."

Maddock is equally as proud of being a Milford resident, where she has lived the past 17 years, as she is as being a conservative.

"My husband Matt and I have raised our three children in Milford," she said. "We run our business (A1 Bail Bonds Agency). Matt has been in the bail bonds business for over 30 years and I went to work with him about 10 years ago after raising our then young children."

Maddock now wears many titles with pride, including wife, mother, small-business owner and community leader, to name a few. She admits not everyone is as vocal as she is in her support for the outspoken GOP candidate — and that only fuels her belief that he can win the White House in November.

"It's a silent majority out there who are supporting Donald Trump," she said. "I am on the ground out there and I can hear it and feel it. There are a lot of people who don't respond to polls or who aren't out there speaking, but they are going to show up in November and vote for Trump because they are sick and tired of the way things are."

The Michigan Conservative Coalition is "committed to our founding fathers' principles and to the Republican Party platform."

Canton woman helps fight hunger with food drive

Katrina Knott of Canton is partnering with Move For Hunger, a national nonprofit organization, to host a food drive Sept. 9-24.

September is Hunger Action Month, when Feeding America and its member food banks ask everyone to take action to fight hunger in their community, all month long. Members of the community are encouraged to drop off non-perishable food items at the clubhouse of the Wagon Wheel mobile home park, 51000 Mott Road, Canton to help support the cause.

There are more than 1.5 million people in Michigan, including almost 437,000 children, who face hunger. Through the support of local organizations and community members like Knott, Move For Hunger can continue to help the nearly 50 million Americans struggling to find their next meal.

The local effort involves Knott, Wagon Wheel mobile home park, DMS Moving Systems of Canton, Gleaners Community Food Bank of Southeastern Michigan and Move For Hunger.

What's Trump hiding by not releasing tax returns?

For 20 years, I worked as an investment adviser, helping families save for a home, pay for their kids' college and plan for retirement. I know Michigan families work hard to secure the building blocks for a strong financial future and they should be able to trust that their president can do the same with their tax dollars.

Over the last 40 years, nearly every major party presidential nominee, Democrat and Republican alike, has released his or her tax returns so the American people can better understand how these candidates manage their own finances — before deciding who should manage our nation's finances.

Gary Peters

Unfortunately, Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump has made clear that he believes he can play by a different set of rules. When asked about his tax rate, he said, "It's none of your business." But before Michiganders can ever trust Donald Trump to lead our country, they deserve to know: what exactly is he trying to hide?

A column in the New York Times raises the question of whether Trump is using a bevy of loopholes in the tax code, many of them available to developers, to pay zero taxes.

Is he exaggerating how much money he's contributed to charities? Is he taking advantage of the tax code by promising not to build luxury homes on his own golf course? Or perhaps he does not want to admit that he may not be as rich as he claims to be?

We now know Trump's tax plan, outlined at the Detroit Economic Club, would cut taxes for the wealthy. But the American people will never know just how much Trump stands to gain from his tax plan unless he stops stonewalling voters and releases his tax returns.

Trump has insisted that he cannot reveal his tax information because he is under an IRS audit. This is simply not true. He has previously handed over his tax returns in the midst of an audit when one of his casinos was at stake and it was in his personal interest. And, as the IRS confirmed, there are no restrictions to making tax returns public during an audit.

What we do know about Trump's business record, however, is deeply troubling. He talks tough on trade, but as a businessman Trump makes his own Trump-branded products overseas instead of here at home.

With the release of her 2015 tax information last week, Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton has now revealed 38 years of tax returns. Additionally, Democratic vice presidential nominee Tim Kaine just released a decade's worth of his and his wife's tax returns. In fact, you can see their tax returns online.

Mitt Romney said that it is "disqualifying" for any modern-day presidential nominee to refuse to release tax returns. I couldn't agree more.

Gary Peters, a Democrat from Bloomfield Township, represents Michigan in the U.S. Senate.

Grateful for support

The Canton Public Library has concluded another successful summer program. Patrons read books, completed activities, enjoyed programs and had a summer full of great experiences and we'd like to thank our community for making this summer so much fun.

Several community partners were instrumental in providing the means to present this program. Our thanks go to the Friends of the Canton Public Library, Vibe Credit Union, Zap Zone, Tony Sacco's, Super Bowl Canton, Ann Arbor Hands On Museum, Holiday Market, Henry Ford Museum, Detroit Zoological Society, High Velocity Sports, Arctic Edge, Michigan Sea Life Aquarium, Rusty Nail, Skatin' Station, Menchies, Emagine Canton, Twisted Rooster-Belleville, Einstein Bagels, Sweetwaters Coffee and Tea and Canton Leisure Services. We are grateful for their contributions to this summer's program, and their ongoing support.

Canton should follow ordinances

Is the township of Canton the employer of the four or more pan-handlers that beg on the exit ramps of Ford Road and Michigan Avenue, off I-275? If any of the panhandlers are injured as they dart out to vehicles to collect "donations," will Canton be responsible for workman's comp, since they're working in the city?

I know we live in a generous community. We want to help those in need. Those drivers actually should donate the money to a shelter or local charity or even a religious organization that works with the indigent or truly impoverished — then you will know exactly where your funds are going.

Keep your change and help with the bigger problem of substance abuse. If you believe you need to give the beggars something — a sandwich or some type of food should curb their hunger. Offer them a job application, something that could last them a lifetime if they're truly interested in maintaining an occupation and off the streets. See how long they'll continue to beg once the supply is turned off.

Did you ever notice it seems these "homeless or jobless" solicitors are swapping places with each other so each north and southbound ramps are covered? These four or more panhandlers know the pose and demeanor to work the corners, if not, it wouldn't be a lucrative job for them. Homeless, hungry, lost job, etc. If, in fact, these people are without jobs and no money, how is it they have enough money for cigarettes?

The municipality needs to post "do not feed 'wildlife'" signs, just as in the parks to deter them from becoming dependent or maybe the township ought to enforce or change their code of ordinances. Maybe the Code of Ordinances is just for show? The following excerpts would pertain to the panhandlers.

The Canton Charter

Township municode specifically states: Sec. 46-298. — Begging and soliciting alms. Ask, beg and solicit mean and include, without limitation, the spoken, written or printed word or such other acts as are conducted in furtherance of the purpose of obtaining alms. (b) It shall be unlawful for any person to solicit money or other things of value: (6) From any operator of a motor vehicle that is in traffic on a public street; provided, however, that this subsection shall not apply to services rendered in connection with emergency repairs requested by the owner or passengers of such vehicle.

Let's use more coal

Our current administration's agenda to protect the environment is superseding the needs of the people. We have been burdened with overzealous regulations by the Environmental Protection Agency, and this has forced many of our coal-fired power plants to be shut down and ruined the majority of the industry. We have made extensive strides to reduce the emissions from coal and our air quality is at some of the best levels we have seen. Yet, our administration still wants to destroy one of our most reliable sources of energy.

Michigan faces energy prices that are at least 20 percent higher than in other parts of the country. Eliminating the use of coal-fired power plants in our state is narrowing our options for energy considerably. However, supporting our fossil fuels would not only create many new jobs, but it would also provide all of us with more affordable energy while helping to secure our energy independence as a state. It seems to me like a win-win.

Plymouth museum offers free family day

Stop by the Plymouth Historical Museum 6-8 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 14, for a free family visit.

The museum will open its doors to the public free of charge so that everyone can enjoy an evening of history. Come and see the "First Ladies - Fashion Setters" exhibit with historical re-enactors portraying presidents and first ladies of the past.

This exhibit, open to all ages, is sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

The "First Ladies - Fashion Setters" exhibit features 15 dresses of the first ladies throughout history. Each dress in this exhibit has been recreated based on careful research by museum volunteer and past president Pam Yockey, who is also a costume historian and seamstress.

The 26,000-square-foot Plymouth Historical Museum features a late 19th century Victorian recreation of Main Street, tracing the growth of the small town from the railroad depot to the general store. The largest Lincoln collection in the state of Michigan is housed in a separate room off Main Street. And a Timeline of Plymouth is the newest permanent exhibit featuring displays on the Daisy Air Rifle, Ford Village Industries, the Alter Motor Car, World War II, communication history and much more.

The museum is at 155 S. Main Street. Hours of operation are 1-4 p.m. Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

For more information, contact the Plymouth Historical Museum at 734-455-8940 or go to www.plymouthhistory.org.

Rotary donates backpacks, money to Salvation Army

Area students will have a better back-to-school experience after the Canton Rotary has donated backpacks, school supplies and money for shoes to The Salvation Army Plymouth Corps.

The Rotary club has been participating in the school supply program for years. It also has made a $500 donation to The Salvation Army for a shoe fund.

It all happened during a recent Canton Rotary meeting featuring speaker Laurie Aren, director of family and community services for the Plymouth-based Salvation Army. She accepted the check from the club.

Anyone interested in Rotary Club membership or community and world projects may contact club president John Kowalski at 734-578-8090.

The club meets for lunch at 12:05 p.m. each Monday at Antonio's Cucina Italiana in Canton.

Canton Rotary president John Kowalski and Laurie Aren of The Salvation Army Plymouth Corps hold a symbolic copy of the check Rotary donated. They are accompanied by other club members.

YMCA to offer blood pressure program

The Plymouth Family YMCA will begin offering a blood pressure self-monitoring program, designed to help people with hypertension lower their blood pressure, this month.

The YMCA developed the evidence-based program, which combines blood pressure monitoring, nutrition education and personalized support, to help people better manage hypertension and improve overall health. According to the American Heart Association, more than 80 million Americans have high blood pressure, but less than half have it under control. Research shows that the simple process of checking and recording blood pressure at least twice a month over four months may lower blood pressure in some people with hypertension. In addition, evidence shows that proper nutrition, particularly with a reduction in sodium intake, may help reduce both systolic and diastolic blood pressures.

As part of the program, participants will measure their blood pressure at least two times a month for four consecutive months — a minimum of eight times — and record their readings in a self-selected tracking tool. A nutrition education component will encourage participants to practice healthier eating habits, including reducing sodium.

The program is facilitated by "Healthy Heart Ambassadors," appointed and trained by the YMCA, who will show participants how to use a blood pressure cuff, encourage self-monitoring and facilitate monthly nutrition education seminars.

The Plymouth Family YMCA is looking for adults with high blood pressure to take part in the program. For a small investment of time, participants receive:

- » A simple, evidence-based program that may lower blood pressure.
- » Personalized support from a Healthy Heart Ambassador.

» Tips for maintaining cardiovascular health.

» An easy-to-use, portable self-tracking tool.

» Heart-healthy nutrition education seminars.

Participants must be at least 18, be diagnosed with high blood pressure, have had no recent cardiac events, have no atrial fibrillation or other arrhythmias and not be at risk for lymphedema.

For more information, contact Plymouth Family YMCA executive director Sage Hegdal at 734-453-2904 or by email at shegdal@ymcadeloit.org.

Bark for Life this weekend at Milford park

Bark For Life is a celebration of four-legged loved ones.

It is an opportunity to recognize canine caregivers, canine survivors, service dogs and K-9 police dogs. It is taking place Sunday, Sept. 11, at Milford's Central Park LaFontaine Family Amphitheater.

Many survivors have canine caregivers who have helped them get through their initial diagnosis, chemo, radiation and looking forward to a cancer-free future.

Just like humans, dogs get cancer, too. Funds raised year-round go toward research and that research benefits dogs and other animals in their fight against cancer, too.

Registration is $20 for the first dog, $5 each additional dog. Registration is at 10 a.m., followed by an opening ceremony and walk through park. Each registered dog will receive a Bark For Life bandana and a goody bag. Participants without a dog can register for $10, which will provide a Bark T-shirt. There will be additional T-shirts for $10.

There will be several dog rescues on site with adoptable dogs who are looking for a "forever" home. After the walk, there will be a simple obstacle course, contests, hot dogs for humans. Each dog will receive homemade cookies as a treat.

The event is being sponsored by Pet Supplies Plus in Milford, Purina and Pet People. Veterinary Care Specialists is also a sponsor and has provided a vet tech for the event. Merrill, owner and dog trainer from Bark Busters, will be on-site giving free advice to anyone who needs help with their four-legged buddy.

Entertainment will be provided by DJ Wayne.

CROSS COUNTRY PREVIEW

'Cats' young nucleus keeps improving

Tim Smith
hometownlife.com

On the surface, the 2015 season wasn't a great one for Plymouth's varsity boys cross country team. But dig a bit deeper and one will find it was an invaluable year -- simply because a group of athletes grew together and became bona fide varsity standouts by the time the season concluded, even with the Wildcats finishing 2-3 in the KLAA South Division.

"Last year was a rebuilding season for us," veteran Plymouth coach Jon Mikosz said. "A lot of the guys had a chance to get some great experience and run some good times. They really came on at the end of the season and were chomping at the bit to keep running."

"They all ran a lot more than they had in the past, so they are coming in at a higher level than last year."

At the top of the list are junior Ethan Byrnes and sophomore Brandon Boyd.

"Ethan is our top returning guy," Mikosz said. "He had a great sophomore season, ending in qualifying for the state meet."

"Brandon had a great freshman year last season. He broke the Plymouth freshman record."

Mikosz knows he has a pretty deep supporting cast this time around, too.

Back from a year ago are Jarrett Warner, Adam Stepek, Bassil Syed and Timothy Hoang and "all made great improvement from last season. They all put in a ton of miles over the off-season and are all looking to make an impact."

Looking to do the same are three young newcomers, who very well could push their way into the top seven by the time all is said and done.

Sophomore Jacob Steward did not run cross country last fall, but did have a standout season with the Plymouth boys track and field team.

CANTON STEAMROLLER

Churchill unable to stop wave after wave of Chiefs' pressure

Tim Smith

In the opening moments Tuesday night, Livonia Churchill had a glorious chance to get on the scoreboard first against Canton.

But Chiefs senior goalkeeper Steven Page dove to rob the Chargers' early attempt and that seemed to awaken a sleeping giant. Pretty much the rest of the night at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park's varsity soccer field, the host Chiefs ran past Churchill players en route to a convincing 5-1 victory.

"It's always important to make a big save like that, because it gets us even more motivated," Canton senior defender and co-captain Matt Rockefeller said, with a glint in his eye.

Not much needs to be said or done for Canton to turn on the jets; Tuesday's lopsided win in the KLAA South Division opener for both teams upped the Chiefs' record to 7-0-1 overall. Churchill dropped to 3-2 with the loss.

"We always give them games; Churchill kids are tough and we play hard," Chargers head varsity boys soccer coach Matthew Grodzicki said. "It's just tough, you got to score the first goal. You can't spot two or three and expect to come back and get a result."

"We work hard, there's no doubt, and we'll compete and I'm sure Mark (Zemanski) will tell you the same thing. But that team's deep."

Zemanski already had a pretty good team returning from 2015, when the Chiefs lost in the Division 1 state finals. The 2016 squad looks to be even better and deeper, what with the return of senior forward Mohamad Miri from a major knee injury that knocked him out almost all of last season.

Bigger and better

"We're bigger than we were last year, which has helped us," Zemanski said. "We have a lot of guys back. Mo coming back from an injury is huge. I like our team; we're playing well."

Miri had a goal and two assists and was rewarded by sitting out the final 26 minutes of the second half to enable a talented bunch of reserve players to trot out onto the pitch.

According to Miri, who looks as though he'd fit right in with a college team, he came into this season on a mission to make up for last year's lost

Hey USA Hockey fans, come one, come all Friday night and watch the National Team Development Program Under-17 team take a swing at the Muskegon Lumberjacks.

Tickets are free for the 7 p.m. pre-season match-up at USA Hockey Arena, the first of several tuneups as the NTDP U17s gear up for the 2016-17 regular season, which begins Sept. 23.

Fans from last season will notice a familiar face behind the Team USA bench as Danton Cole — who was head coach of the 2015-16 Under-18 squad — now takes the reins of the younger group.

While the new U17s represent the entire country (Erik Middendorf from Scottsdale, Ariz.; Tyler Weiss, from Raleigh, N.C., etc.), there's plenty of Michigan representation for fans to cheer on, including Plymouth native Will MacKinnon, Birmingham's Bode Wilde, Blaine Jenkins of Jackson and Jack DeBoer, who grew up in New Jersey but was born in Plymouth when his father Peter DeBoer was general

CC defense suffocates Whitmer

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

Novi Detroit Catholic Central's defense turned in another performance Friday night that would make Pittsburgh's "Steel Curtain" and Buddy Ryan's "46" Chicago Bears defenses envious.

The Shamrocks, who improved to 2-0, crossed the Ohio border and returned home with a convincing 29-7 win at Toledo Whitmer, which had won three of the previous four meetings between the schools.

CC's defense, coming off a 42-0 shut-out the previous week in Ann Arbor against Sterling Heights Stevenson in the Battle of the Big House, dominated the defensive side of the ball once again, limiting the Panthers' offense to 59 total yards.

"Overall, I'm really happy with the performance," CC coach Tom Mach said. "It's really hard to come all this way, especially down in Ohio. We know what we're going to get when we get here. They always play great football in Ohio and you have to up your game. I think our kids did that today."

One player who upped his game was senior defensive end and tight end Jack Morris, 6-foot-3, 225-pound senior who played like he was Richard Dent and "Mean" Joe Green all wrapped into one as he helped disrupt the Panthers' offense.

"We watched film all week on them, every day," said Morris, who was in on seven tackles, including a sack. "And we knew exactly what they were running. I was able to hear what the quarterback was saying and able to tell where they were going and I told my linebackers where they were going. They caught me on one play when I was cheating a little bit, but for the most part, we did really well reading them and reading their blocks."

Morris also did his part offensively, catching a 34-yard TD pass from sophomore quarterback Austin Brown on the final play of the third quarter to make it 27-7.

"It was a designed play, but I was just wide open," Morris said. "My coach, I could hear on the sideline and it was, like, 'Yes.' And as soon as he saw me wide open, my quarterback was able to get me the ball."

Whitmer (1-1) managed just 9 total yards in the first half. The Panthers' lone scoring threat came when they were helped by a pair of 15-yard CC personal fouls, putting them at the Shamrocks' 6, but kicker Eric Filby missed a 32-yard field goal try as the first half ended.

"Anytime you have that (9 total yards) it's not good and we were probably fortunate as it turned out only to be down 7-0 at half," first-year Whitmer coach Ken Winters said. "We had some momentum and a chance to execute a few things and we didn't."

CC took a 7-0 advantage with 7:02 left in the second quarter on Brown's 17-yard TD pass to Chris Jakubik. The play came on third-and-11.

With 8:52 left in the third quarter, CC committed its only turnover of the night, when Whitmer's Kaleb Breitner pounced on a fumble at the CC 48.

But the Shamrocks responded with a big stop on fourth-and-two, when Morris tackled Whitmer running back Larry Patterson for a 2-yard loss.

Catholic Central then made it 14-0 with 6:32 remaining in the third on Cameron Ryan's 4-yard TD run, set up by Brown's 48-yard pass to Jakubik down to the Panthers' 10.

But CC's lead was sliced in half in just an instant, when Malik Moore busted loose for a 95-yard kickoff return to give Whitmer its only points of the night.

But that seven-point Shamrock advantage mushroomed back to 14 when CC drove 69 yards on just four plays, capped by a 9-yard TD run by Tyler Morland, followed by Brown's scoring pass to Morris.

CC allowed just five first downs, two of which were by penalty.

"We never stopped with our momentum," Morris said. "We came out on defense, shut them out, except on the kickoff return. The defense did a really good job and our DBs had really great coverage, so I was able to get my sacks."

Our D-line was able to get in there and get pressure on the quarterback and they were making mistakes. We made some mental errors, but not as many as them and that's why we won the football game."

CC ran 58 plays to Whitmer's 40, while finishing with 314 yards total offense, including 214 on the ground.

The rushing wealth was spread around for the Shamrocks, led by Capatina (15 carries, 63 yards), Ryan (18 carries, 55 yards) and Brown (11 carries, 46 yards).

"I thought offensively we kept the ball away from them a lot," Mach said. "We kept them off the field. We kept them from doing what they wanted to do. And then we scored when we had the opportunities."

Brown, in his second year of starting at QB for CC, was an efficient 3-of-3 passing for an even 100 yards.

"He's got a lot of poise and does a great job of running the team," Mach said of the sophomore. "As time goes on, he's getting a little bit better every week and I think he's going to end up being a very good quarterback for us."

But it's the play of the Shamrocks' defense that has people taking notice early in the season. Whitmer had just 38 net yards rushing on 29 attempts and quarterback Riley Keller was just 4-of-12 passing for 20 yards.

Linebacker Isaac Darkangelo led CC with 13 tackles, including two solo and 11 assists. Other leaders included Jackson Ross (six assists), Morland (one sack, five assists) and Matt Young (one solo, four assists).

"They were physical and they matched our physicality and they actually wore us down just a little bit," Winters said. "Offensively, we left our defense on the field a little bit too much. (CC) executed their plays and we didn't execute ours."

CC and its defense will try to keep yet another opponent under the 100-yard total offense mark Friday, when it travels to Ontario to face Toronto St. Michael's College School.

"I thought we played well in all three phases of the game, except the one mistake we made on the kickoff," Mach said. "Other than that, I thought the defense played great. I think they had a great attitude. They shut down a lot of things that they wanted to do and we were happy with the play of them."

Warriors nearly unstoppable in opening win

Ed Wright
hometownlife.com

The Lutheran Westland football team's D.J. wasn't spinning any records Aug. 27, but he sure was breaking them.

D.J. Nykiel, the Warriors' senior running back, maximized his 5-foot-7, 160-pound frame by piling up 327 yards and seven touchdowns (both school records) on just 15 carries to lead Lutheran Westland to a 60-28 victory over Marine City Cardinal Mooney.

Nykiel's seven touchdowns ranged in distance from 4 to 93 yards, with 70-and 58-yarders mixed in for good measure.

"D.J. is very Barry Sanders-esque; he's not real big, but he's very fast and he's elusive," LW head coach Paul Guse said.

As a team, LW rushed for 557 yards on 48 attempts.

The titans in the trenches who paved the way for the explosive ground game were center John Davenport, guards Nick Glynn and Camden Hess, tackles Jeremy Orm and Brendan Downer and tight end Ben Brown.

"Our fullback, Andy Faith, was also the lead blocker on a lot of our big runs," Guse said.

Senior quarterback Luke Smith completed 1-of-5 passes for 3 yards.

Faith churned out 53 yards on 10 carries, while Nate Ivey dashed for 68 (including a 60-yard sprint to the house) and Layne Priess ran for 60 yards and a 37-yard TD on six runs.

"I like our front line," Guse said. "We're more experienced than we were last year; more mature as a group. We have two seniors, two juniors and a sophomore. With D.J.'s speed, he doesn't need a lot of space."

Brown and Davenport both recovered a fumble for the Warriors' defense, which was spearheaded by Christian Zimmerman's 12 tackles. Faith and Downer both added eight tackles.

Nate Green was Cardinal Mooney's star, gaining 275 yards on 35 carries. He scored all four of his team's TDs.

"We didn't see film on Cardinal Mooney coming into the game, but I knew they were young; they had a good senior class last year," Guse said. "On the other hand, we were pretty young last year and more experienced this season."

opportunity.

"I just had to work twice as hard, because I was so far behind," Miri said. "Even when I came back (from nearly eight months on the sidelines), I had four or five months I was trying to rebuild myself because I was so slow."

"I had to make sure I was working harder than everyone on the field. I made sure I was at the gym after practice every single day. I put in the best effort I could and it's starting to pay off now."

Teaming up

Another player not around for the Chiefs' 2015 state tourney run, former Michigan Wolves Academy player Alex Spratte, teamed with Miri to open the scoring at 6:20 of the first half.

Canton senior midfielder Ryan O'Meara chipped the ball along the right side to Miri, who dashed deep into the Churchill zone before serving a feed into the box, where Spratte made good with a header.

With less than 26 minutes left in the opening half, Rockafellow doubled the lead to 2-0.

nudged a rebound out to Rockafellow, located a few yards above the top of the box, and he blasted a laser inside the

"(Chung) just sent me a great ball right outside the box and I nailed it," Rockafellow said. "I put my head down, moved my foot and rocketed it right in the corner."

Lubonja denied the Chiefs on a few top-notch chances in subsequent minutes, diving to deny a scoring attempt by junior midfielder Luke Kurili.

That only delayed Canton's third goal of the half, scored with about 7:45 remaining to make it a 3-0 spread.

Junior midfielder Avery Olson floated the ball into the middle of the box and Kurili headed it up and over the Churchill goalkeeper.

Shutout spoiled

The Chargers got on the board with 1:37 left before intermission. Senior Uthman Babatunde's low drive from inside the box whizzed past Page (junior David McGrath played the second half).

In the second half, Canton upped its edge to 4-1 with 34:30 remaining. Rockafellow delivered a crisp pass from the right side of the box right in front to Miri for the slam-dunk goal.

Closing out the scoring at 13:48 was O'Meara, who blasted a shot off the left post and in. Assisting on the play was Miri, who then took the rest of the night off.

Under that set-up, players receive consistent training and coaching for the duration of their two-year tenure with the program instead of dealing with a new coach at the mid-point.

USPBL BASEBALL

Birmingham Bloomfield's triple crown candidate Nic Wilson (right) offers a bit of advice to much improved infielder Austin Leyritz.

MARTY BUDNER

Beavers motoring toward first league championship

Marty Budner
hometownlife.com

It's an hour before game time one recent Wednesday evening. Black clouds blanket the sky and the smell of rain is in the air.

Underneath the stands at Jimmy John's Field in Utica, Chris Newell is sitting comfortably inside the locker room. The effervescent Birmingham Bloomfield Beavers manager is feeling good about his team, which sits atop the United Shore Professional Baseball League standings with just under a handful of games left to play in its inaugural regular season.

The playoffs are set to begin in just two weeks.

Newell is asked how good it would feel to win the first USPBL championship.

He pauses for a second, then throws the question to the players preparing for that night's game against the Utica Unicorns.

"Hey fellas," he calls out to them "Who's going to win the championship this year?"

In unison, the team gives a hearty response: "The Beavers, baby! The Beavers!"

"See, just ask them," Newell said. "They'll tell you how much they want it. We absolutely talk about winning the championship. It's a goal and something that we are working for."

Birmingham Bloomfield has been leading the three-team league for most of the summer.

The streaky Beavers started the season in early June with three straight losses, then strung together six straight victories to jump into first place. They've been there ever since.

Newell's squad had a superb month of June with a 9-4 record and continued its winning ways through July, when it went 10-6. The Beavers have struggled a bit in August, with a 4-8 record through 12 games.

Birmingham Bloomfield (23-19) held a 1½-game lead over the Eastside Diamond Hoppers (21-20) through the first 42 games of the 48-game regular season.

Despite the recent slump, Newell said his team is still playing the right way and, without question, will take a positive frame of mind into the playoffs.

"Yeah, we were on the struggle train through the first three games, but like I said then, it was a matter of letting the guys play and see where we were at and work from there," Newell said. "From then on we went on a nice little roll and it's a testament to the guys for preparing to win every day."

"This last little six-game stretch has been a positive for me. We needed to go through that stretch, but they prepared every day and stayed positive. I told them how we deal with failure is ultimately how we are going to be successful. The thing is, during that stretch, other than one bad game, we didn't play bad baseball. We weren't scoring a lot of runs, but we still had a chance to win some games.

"To me, that's the testament of a good team, that when you're not scoring runs, you still have a chance to win. These guys deserve all the credit. They didn't hang their heads, they didn't waver in confidence. You wouldn't know if we were on a 20-game winning streak or a 20-game losing streak.

"And that just shows me how they're wired, because it's business as usual," he added. "They never lost confidence and you can see how loose they are. They are a pretty special group."

The Beavers, according to Newell, have excelled in all phases of the game — pitching, hitting, defense and running the bases — through most of the season.

The offense has been led by Georgia State University product Nic Wilson, who is having a monster season. The towering 6-foot-6, 240-pound first baseman is threatening to make USPBL history by winning the triple crown.

Wilson leads the league in home runs with 14 — he blasted the league's first home run opening day May 30 — and average at .372. The powerful right-handed batter has 34 RBIs in 40 games, nine behind league-leading Kentucky-bred outfielder Austin Crutcher of the Utica Unicorns.

"Nic's season speaks for itself," Newell said. "He's a quiet guy. He's a leader and everyone knows what he stands for. As the manager, I know what I'm going to get every day from Nic. He's all business. He comes in and does his job and is a great teammate."

Birmingham Bloomfield infielders D.J. Martinez (.292) and Dan Kennon (.291), and catcher Ray Ortega (.290), a leader who is like a coach out there, also sport healthy batting averages. Outfielder Miles Williams and infielder Kevin Wirth have sparked the lineup with home run power with seven and five, respectively. Williams (27), Kennon (18) and Martinez (18) are the other leading run producers.

The pitching staff is led by right-handers Forrest Koumas from South Carolina and Randy Wynne from San Diego, with four wins apiece. Kent State University product Nick Jensen-Clagg is second in the league with 47 strikeouts and Koumas is third in earned-run average at 2.32.

Newell said one of the team's most improved players is infielder Austin Leyritz, a 21-year-old Florida native whose father Jim played professionally with the New York Yankees.

"At the end of the day, the backbone of this club is hitting and playing defense," Newell said. "Our pitchers know that all they have to do is get ahead and throw strikes and the defense will bail them out. When we get down five runs with two outs in the ninth, our guys feel they can still win the ball game."

Newell

"Collectively, what I love is that the position guys support the pitchers and vice versa," he added. "I've been around a lot of clubhouses and this is the most special one I've had, I promise you that. It's a beautiful feeling. When they walk in, the love and support that they show each other is outstanding. There is no jealousy, no envy. They are all just here to get the job done."

Newell, who helped lead Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes to the MHSAA state championship in 1991, said the team is right where he wanted to be at this point of the season.

"We are in a great position. We want to finish strong," he said. "This team is confident. I trust each one of them in a tight spot. If you had told me we'd been in this position back in May when the season started, I would have told you you're right. This is where we wanted to be."

"It's been fantastic," he said. "I couldn't have a better group of guys and I couldn't have drawn it up any better. If we win, it will be everything I would have imagined."

Ethan Byrnes (right), shown from last season, will be one of Plymouth's key performers this year.

Mikosz is confident Steward's athletic ability can be put to good use on the course.

"If he can mirror what he did in track last season, he will be a huge help to the (cross country) team this season," Mikosz said.

The coach also has two talented ninth-graders entering the fold in Tyler Mussen and Carter Solomon.

"Both Carter and Tyler are incoming freshmen and both had great middle school races," Mikosz said. "Carter has looked great so far this season and, once he gets his feet wet, he could easily get Brandon's freshman record from last season."

"Tyler should be running varsity for most, if not all, of the season. He has a huge upside to him and should only get better as the season goes on."

Wiley's dramatic putt clinches O&E tourney

Ed Wright
hometownlife.com

The drama was so thick Monday afternoon on the 18th green at Whispering Willows Golf Course that the willows weren't even whispering.

They were dead silent — just like everyone else who watched Westland resident Matt Wiley drain a pressure-packed, 35-foot putt from the green's fringe to earn a one-shot victory on the 36th and final hole of the two-day Observer & Eccentric Men's Golf Tournament.

Wiley edged Jordan Andrus, a Pinckney native and red-shirt senior on the Wayne State University golf team, who nearly sank a 30-footer on the 18th that would have extended the tourney into extra holes.

Wiley, who finished runner-up in the tournament the past three years to Roz Boghikian, last won the O&E title in 1981.

Just a few days removed from winning the Michigan Senior Publinx championship at Polo Grounds in Washtenaw County, Wiley carded a 36-hole score of 143, one shot lower than Andrus.

Boghikian came in third at 145.

Wiley admitted that his prime objective when lining up the final putt was to "just get it close."

"Very rarely do I putt off the fringe, but I was taking a little gas and I figured the putter was the safe club," Wiley said. "I hit it at the perfect speed and it just broke into the hole."

Wiley delivered a Tiger Woods-esque fist pump.

"When I was younger, sometimes I'd let the pressure of a big putt like this get to me, but now I know how to have fun with it," Wiley said. "I really thought Jordan and I would be going to a playoff. I just tried to get it close and it happened to go in."

"Jordan is a fine young player. He hit a great drive on 15, but he doesn't know the course as well as Roz and I and his ball went too far right and out-of-bounds. I thought he was two up on us at that point, so I told Roz, 'The game's on for sure now.'"

Andrus, who was an all-state golfer at Pinckney High School, said he's already looking forward to next year's O&E tournament.

"I hit the ball well today, but I had the one bad tee shot on 15 that cost me," Andrus said. "The pin placements were tough today; I'm usually a decent putter, but I couldn't get anything going."

"I tip my hat to Matt. That was a great putt. My goal coming in was to win, but it is what it is."

Wiley bogeyed the par-3 16th hole, but finished strong with a par on 17 before notching a birdie on 18.

"Honestly, I don't look at the scorecard anymore late in tournaments because it consumes my mind," said Wiley, who admitted he wasn't certain who was leading heading into the 17th. "But before we took our second shots on the 17th fairway, Roz asked me, 'Where are we at here?' and that's when we figured out how tight things were."

"It means a lot to win this, especially since I haven't won it since 1981."

Wiley earned a $350 gift certificate and a trophy for his efforts. Andrus pocketed a $180 gift certificate for his runner-up showing, while Boghikian won a $170 gift card for placing first in the net standings.

Westland residents Alex Kolpacke (156) and Jeff Orzel (160) finished first and second in the first flight standings.

Livonia's Bill Himm successfully defended his senior flight title with 156, eight shots better than runner-up Keith Girard, also of Livonia.

Sunday's first round was played at Fox Creek Golf Course in Livonia.

HBA OF SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN

Homearama highlights local lifestyles; charity preview Sept. 21

The eight custom-built new homes showcased in Homearama 2016 at Christenbury Creek in Macomb Township will be unveiled Wednesday, Sept. 21, at a charity preview party to benefit the Children's Hospital of Michigan Foundation. Homearama 2016 is presented by the Home Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

The charity gala will be held from 6-10 p.m. at Christenbury Creek, 49758 Card Road. Guests will enjoy extensive hors d'oeuvres and cocktails presented by Andiamo and Nino Salvaggio then will have the opportunity to stroll through the fully decorated, furnished and landscaped homes built by four of the region's custom home builders.

The homes feature the latest in building trends, technology and interior design. Preview party guests will be among the first to tour the homes and will have the opportunity to speak to the builders, interior designers and various other professionals who were a part of creating these showcase homes.

"Bringing the Dream Home" is the theme of Homearama 2016 and visitors will experience many affordable ideas that can be incorporated into their own homes. Guests will receive a Homearama Plan Book at the event featuring floor plans and other information on the homes.

Christenbury Creek was developed by Arveva Homes. The developer is also the builder of two of the Homearama showcase homes. Other builders, each featuring two homes, include Lassale Homes, Sunset Homes and Vitale Companies. The homes range in price from $449,000 to $749,500.

Tickets for the charity preview party cost $100 per person and include a "come back" ticket for use once during the run of the public event beginning on Sept. 23. For the charity preview party, there will be a complimentary on-site executive shuttle service. Dress for the evening is casual-chic. Limited tickets are available at www.HomearamaHBA.com.

Following the charity preview, Homearama 2016 will be open to the public from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekends, Friday, Sept. 23, through Sunday, Sept. 25, Thursday, Sept. 29, through Sunday, Oct. 2, and Thursday, Oct. 6, through Sunday, Oct. 9. The event features free on-site parking. Advance tickets for use on one day during the run of the program may be purchased online for $10 per person or at the gate for $12 per person. There is no charge for children 15 and under when accompanied by an adult. A portion of the proceeds from the public event will benefit HBA's Charitable & Educational Foundation, the American Red Cross and the Chippewa Valley Educational Foundation.

For more information, visit www.HomearamaHBA.com or call 248-737-4477.

Headquartered in West Bloomfield, Home Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (HBA) is a trade association representing over 800 builders, remodelers, multi-family property owners, developers and suppliers to the single family and multi-family residential construction industry. HBA is affiliated with the Home Builders Association of Michigan in Lansing and the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D.C. Membership nationwide includes more than 175,000 individuals and companies.

Recent residential construction data shows that the size and costs of new homes have moved downward over the past year, notes the National Association of Realtors which cites affordability concerns.

JULIE BROWN

Industry report cites need for more housing for middle-income, lower-income buyers

Pending home sales expanded in most of the country in July and reached their second highest reading in over a decade, according to the National Association of Realtors. Only the Midwest saw a dip in contract activity for July.

The Pending Home Sales Index, a forward-looking indicator based on contract signings, rose 1.3 percent to 111.3 in July from a downwardly revised 109.9 in June and is now 1.4 percent higher than July 2015 (109.8). The index is now at its second highest reading this year after April (115.0).

Lawrence Yun, NAR chief economist, says a sizable jump in the West lifted pending home sales higher in July. "Amidst tight inventory conditions that have lingered the entire summer, contract activity last month was able to pick up at least modestly in a majority of areas," he said. "More home shoppers having success is good news for the housing market heading into the fall, but buyers still have few choices and little time before deciding to make an offer on a home available for sale. There's little doubt there'd be more sales activity right now if there were more affordable listings on the market."

Added Yun, "The index in the West last month was the highest in over three years largely because of stronger labor market conditions. If home building increases in the region to tame price growth and alleviate the ongoing affordability concerns, the healthy rate of job gains should support more sales."

Recent residential construction data shows that the size and costs of new homes has moved downward over the past year. According to Yun, this is an early indication that home builders are beginning to shift away from building larger, more expensive homes for the upper end of the market to focusing more on properties geared for buyers in the middle and lower price tiers.

"Realtors in several high-cost areas have been saying for quite a while that there is robust demand for single-family starter homes and townhomes at an affordable price point for young buyers," added Yun. "The homeownership rate won't move up from its over 50-year low without a meaningful boost from first-time buyers, whose participation has yet to noticeably increase so far this year despite mortgage rates near all-time lows."

Existing-home sales this year are forecast to be around

5.38 million, a 2.8-percent increase from 2015 and the highest annual pace since 2006 (6.48 million). After accelerating to 6.8 percent a year ago, national median existing-home price growth is forecast to slightly moderate to around 4 percent.

Regional breakdown

The PHSI in the Northeast moved up 0.8 percent to 96.8 in July, and is now 1.1 percent above a year ago. In the Midwest the index decreased 2.9 percent to 105.8 in July, and is now 1.1 percent lower than July 2015.

Pending home sales in the South inched higher (0.8 percent) to an index of 123.9 in July and are now 0.4 percent higher than last July. The index in the West surged 7.3 percent in July to 108.7, and is now 6.2 percent above a year ago.

'Reasonable repair' standard applied by court on property

Q: I own an apartment complex. Sometimes, I'm not sure whether I should make certain repairs to the common area. What are my legal responsibilities?

A: It would be best to consult with your attorney regarding specific questions concerning repair requirements. However, a recent unpublished Michigan appellate court decision is instructive in this regard — Tremper vs. Westland Colonial Village Apartments (MilW No. 08-92024). The decision confirmed that the applicable statute, MCL 554.139, only requires that common area be "fit for the use intended" in contrast with the responsibilities in connection with "the premises," i.e., the separately leased residence, where the lessor has a higher obligation to keep the premises "in reasonable repair" and in compliance with applicable health and safety laws. In this case, a common area sidewalk had a section of pavement that was one inch higher than another section, which allegedly caused a trip and fall accident. The court ruled in favor of the defendant apartment complex owner, stating that there was no question that the sidewalk was fit for its intended purpose; however, it is interesting to note that a dissent was filed by one judge stating that this question was for a jury to decide, not the court.

Q: We purchased a home inclusive of sod and underground sprinkler system which was in place along the boundary line with an adjacent vacant lot. We have maintained that sprinkler system and continuously mowed, fertilized and watered the sod for over 16 years. Now our lot neighbor is beginning to construct a home on the adjacent lot and a survey revealed that a section of land consisting of portions of the sod and sprinkler system were part of his lot. Do we have any rights in terms of adverse possession?

A: Probably not. In a similar case out of Nebraska, the court held that although the possession of the adjacent lot owner was actual, continuous, exclusive and under a claim of ownership for the statutory period, it was not "notorious." In effect, neither the underground sprinkler system nor its sprinkler were visible and therefore did not satisfy the requirement of being "notorious" in order to establish adverse possession. Of course each case is factually intensive. In effect, the court in that case was saying that something more than a neighbor watering and mowing over the property line is needed to alert a reasonable owner that his title is in danger and he must take steps to protect his interest, i.e., to be "notorious."

REAL ESTATE BRIEFS

Benefit Estate Sale

Hall & Hunter Realtors will hold its 13th annual Estate Sale of Antiques, Collectibles and Treasures to benefit Habitat for Humanity of Oakland County.

It will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, at Hall & Hunter Realtors, 442 S. Old Woodward Ave. in Birmingham.

Since Hall & Hunter started this tradition 11 years ago, the firm has donated $250,000 to Habitat for Humanity of Oakland County. For more information, go to HollandHunter.com or call 248-644-3500.
